Family Sewing Machine

Where rushing waters split on hostile rocks,
Spouting aloft the foaming spray,
Differs but in degree from the wide sea, so the years of youth. Our ripper is like the broad river of life's march.
Whose current steers, yet admits no pause,
And whose fold and toppling tower and town,
Not wholly weeping from deluging floods,
Yet tolling on undimmed, Adorn
The path of life's journey, and Mark the progress of its quiet haste.
'Till, faster rushing to its end,
It sweeps us onward in restless course,
Tossing the form that remembers
The plucking down of the cat's paw,
We slide into a vast and unknown space—
The boundless ocean of eternity.

—Walker W. Skat in London Academy.

IT WON'T TALK

It will ruffle, tuck, hem, darn, embroider and make buttonholes. But its latest accomplishment is the

CHAIN STITCH

by inserting a little attachment, only one thread is used in stitching, which may be easily ravelled, this is useful for basting or sewing garments that will need to be "let down" or made over.

gives the sufferer a new lease of life.

THE STREAM OF LIFE.

Like a small stream on a mountain side,
Lightly down leaping with a joyous spring,
It flows on through the life of man,
Till it reaches the sea of death.
Next, through green dells and "oath" o'erflows,
It flows on through the life of man,
Till it reaches the sea of death.

A FORTUNATE THEFT.

It was a very good thing, as you see,
"I am eating my shoes, as you see,"

Why She Reads the Last Chapter First.

"Of course I always read the last chapter of a novel first," admitted a young girl, who had just finished the story.
"I read the last chapter first," she said, "because I want to know how it ends before I begin to read it."

Why It is Deterred.

A petition written to parliament in 1643 has, it is said, been discovered in Maine. It is written in ink on handmade paper, and the sheets are fastened together with a lead pin. The paper is thick and has a mottled appearance.
It has been found in a chest of old papers, and is believed to be one of the earliest petitions ever presented to parliament.

PAYING A DEBT OF KINDNESS.

An Indian Brave Who Never Forgot the debt of kindness that he owed to a white man, died recently in the Yucatan. For a time he was able to work vengeance on his enemies, and his ferocity and cruelty were famous. Even so, a page of history as this, however, is not without its story of kindness and mercy between enemies.

SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1888.

—Last Saturday Grover Cleveland took the oath of office for the second time as President of the United States amid the shouts and plaudits of a great multitude who went to witness the inaugural ceremonies.

The day was decidedly unpropitious; a blinding snow storm prevailed all the forenoon and cold blustered rather in the afternoon.

The parade which was expected to number forty-five thousand, contained about thirty-five thousand, many of whom will sadly regret participating on account of exposure.

One of the victims, our own Governor, Hon. Frank Brown, is now critically ill at his hotel in Baltimore with grave apprehension as to his recovery.

The details of the inauguration and a short biographical sketch of the cabinet will be found on our first page.

The government is for the first time since the War in the hands of the democratic party—that same democratic party as it existed in the days of Buchanan, and whose cardinal principles are Economy in the administration of the government and a Tariff that's not prohibitory.

We have every reason to believe that the party will measure up to the people's reasonable expectations.

Mr. Cleveland has expressed an intention to appoint to office men noted for their efficiency, rather than their partisan seal and party fealty.

It is safe to conclude that the selection of his cabinet indicates the policy that he will pursue in making appointments to office. He is determined to bring to the front new men, men of integrity and business capacity.

The selection of Mr. Walter Q. Gresham as his premier has been condemned by some. Those who condemn the appointment forget the fact that Judge Gresham represents a distinct element in the Northwest not represented by any other statesman in this country—an element that carried the states of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, and thereby released the State of New York and Tennessee of the responsibility of electing a president of the United States every four years.

Mr. Gresham is reported to have said, after taking the oath of office, that he had decided to cast his lot with the Democrats.

—The Marylander of Princess Anne in his issue of March 7th, gave three fourths of a column to the discussion of the Chief Judgeship of this Circuit, nomination for which was made this year. The purported interview of the Hon. Joshua W. Miles published in the Baltimore Sun, and the comment of the Advertiser upon it, February 25th, is first repeated. Then follows this inquiry:

"Well, now really, does our neighbor mean to say that all that is said in this interview is the work of 'imagination,' that has been allowed too much play?"

Putting aside the statement that the Attorney would be called upon to make appointments again on account of a failure of the Department to nominate a Chief Justice, we are sure Mr. Miles did not make) let us ask the Advertiser what it has to say about the more material facts of the interview? Will the Advertiser say there is nothing in the talk of Judge Holland's candidacy? Are Judge Holland's friends not discussing his chances, and has not the statement been made, time and again, that he would be a candidate? Has any body, anywhere, ever denied the statements? If the Advertiser will say that there is nothing in the "rumor of a combination," that there is no likelihood that Judge Page will be opposed by Judge Holland, that Wisconsin county's delegation will not be behind the latter gentleman, when the judicial convention meets, then we will be prepared to say that lots of people have been giving vent to their imaginations. Come now, neighbor, no dodging the question. Let us be frank with each other and, if it turns out that there is nothing in the talk of a judicial fight, then we will exclaim with you, "Here's riches"—a richness that promotes harmony in the Democratic party and peace, instead of war, among people who ought to be neighbors and friends. Our fellow-countryman said nothing harsh in his interview and, unless it can be said that what he said to this same person is not true, no one should take exception to the fact, that, as a party man, he is disposed to treat the judicial question as a serious and regrettable fact, worthy the consideration of all well wishers of the Bench and the Democratic party."

Our Somerset friends are evidently much concerned about Wisconsin's political welfare. We can only say in reply that Wisconsin never crossed a bridge before she reached it; neither does she build it in advance of those who go to build it. This much we can promise our neighbors, that should we cross in front of them we will not "burn the bridge behind us." As the primaries and county convention have not yet been held, we are not prepared to say whether we do or not that Wisconsin county's delegation will not be behind the latter gentleman (Judge Holland), when the judicial convention meets." We have already found it safest up here to let people decide their matters. The Advertiser is not Judge Holland's spokesman. We suggest that if Judge Page's friends desire to know Judge Holland's position, that they interview him.

GOVERNOR BROWN'S ILL.

Gov. Brown is seriously ill as a result of exposure in Washington on inauguration day. He contracted a severe cold which settled in his stomach and has developed into peritonitis, from which he is now suffering. He is attended by Dr. Cary B. Gamble, his family physician, and by Dr. L. McLane Tiffany who was called for a consultation, which took place in the Governor's room last night. At its conclusion Dr. Gamble said he regarded Governor Brown's condition as more favorable than it had been during the day. His pulse at the last examination was 100, and his temperature 99. Both had been higher during the day, the temperature at one time going up to 103.

Dr. Gamble says he is not disturbed at the condition of the patient's pulse if the temperature can be checked. He says the operation should be performed as soon as possible, and under the most favorable circumstances he will be unable to leave his bed for many days. When asked if an operation will be necessary to relieve the patient, the doctor replied that it was impossible to say at this time and that the conditions may develop which will make an operation necessary. It is said that Dr. Tiffany was called in as consulting physician to be prepared to assist in the operation should the emergency requiring it arise.

The Governor is attended by his mother, who came to Baltimore on Monday to assist in nursing him, and by a professional nurse. One or the other will constantly attend at his bedside. Governor Brown is perfectly conscious, and fully appreciates his condition.

The Governor went to Washington last Friday with his staff to participate in the inaugural ceremonies. He and his staff took their position in line at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning as part of the escort which accompanied the retiring President to the Capitol. From the time he mounted his horse until 7 o'clock in the evening he was constantly in the saddle.

Those who were with him say that during these nine continuous hours Governor Brown was exposed to all the blustering storm that prevailed on that incident day, while others of the party dismounted and succeeded in getting up a circulation of the blood by exercise on foot. The Governor could not be prevailed upon to follow their example. In addition he rode the inaugural parade that night in evening dress, and in the ride that night and from the ball room he was again subject to the severe cold.

He reached home Sunday afternoon, went at once to his room at the Hotel Marlborough and retired to bed. The cold had already attacked him and had settled in his stomach and bowels. Dr. Gamble was at once summoned and has since been in constant attendance. Dr. Tiffany was called on Tuesday. He has made two visits and held two consultations.

During his ride up Pennsylvania avenue at the head of the Maryland troops in the inaugural parade Gov. Brown was repeatedly cheered by the masses collected all along the route. In acknowledging this ovation, he uncovered his head and rode nearly the whole distance with his hat in his hand. This, it is thought, contributed to the attack from which he is now suffering.—Baltimore Sun.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS.

The American Farmer and Farm News very truly say:

A country without roads will remain undeveloped, its hidden treasures stored away.

Where poor roads prevail everything else is very apt to be poor, the horse farmer that prevailed on the coast collected all along the route. In acknowledging this ovation, he uncovered his head and rode nearly the whole distance with his hat in his hand. This, it is thought, contributed to the attack from which he is now suffering.—Baltimore Sun.

Deputy at Crisfield, John E. Sterling, Crisfield, $75 a month.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT N. Y. SUN

Washington correspondent N. Y. Sun of Wednesday says:

It is difficult to those unacquainted with the facts to realize that there has long been a custom of the Senate for the Senators to speak in advance for desired seats which may be vacated by death, resignation or the accident of politics. The history of time makes many changes in the United States Senate, and men who a few years ago were unheard of were today seen sitting in the places long occupied by Republicans and Democrats.

It is interesting to see how the Senate has kept up in its private desk a little book in which the Senators record their applications for desired seats when vacant, and these applications are honored according to priority. A study of this little book shows that certain Senators discounted the defeat and in some cases the death of their colleagues. It also shows that a few of them had tips of the retirement of those who voluntarily left the Senate, and they benefited by this knowledge.

For instance, the little book shows that Senator Dolph, who tried to look important to-day in the very prominent seat of Mr. Dawes, spoke for that chair in January last, though he had not yet been elected. In 1891, when Wisconsin showed signs of becoming afflicted with the Democratic fever, Senator Carey of Wyoming spoke for a few seats of Senator Sawyer, and got it. A few years ago Mr. Carey never dreamed of being Senator, but now he looks up in Uncle Sawyer's seat, and the latter has retired to Oakbrook. Senator Higgins of Delaware took advantage of his knowledge of politics in New York state in the same month in April, 1891, when Frank Hancock's seat, and there he sat this morning.

In December last Mr. Mills must have had the information that Mr. Gray was slated for the Treasury, for on the 31st of January last, though he had not yet been elected, he took the seat of the Kentucky Senator's seat, which is one of the best in the chamber, and he sat in it today while Mr. Carlisle was being confirmed. Mr. Gibson of Maryland, in January last, though he had not yet been elected, he took the seat of the Kentucky Senator's seat, which is one of the best in the chamber, and he sat in it today while Mr. Carlisle was being confirmed. Mr. Gibson of Maryland, in January last, though he had not yet been elected, he took the seat of the Kentucky Senator's seat, which is one of the best in the chamber, and he sat in it today while Mr. Carlisle was being confirmed.

From Africa for the Fair.

The Cape colonies of Africa are making great efforts for a good representation at the World's Fair, and as the country yields many curious objects the exhibition of these will no doubt be interesting.

Not the least interesting feature will be a collection of stuffed animals and birds.

The skins arrived last week and are now being prepared for mounting by a taxidermist from New York.

Only animals and birds having a commercial value will be represented.

One group will consist of two old and four young ostriches.

The young birds are about as large as those of the first year.

Another group consists of a male and female of the species known as a goshawk.

These are remarkably large, their wings being as big around as those of a man.

Their plumage is magnificent, the male being thickly plumed with white and black and the female with rich, rusty brown and white feathers.

Three groups of African fabled sheep will be exhibited, two groups having a male and female each and the third a male and female and their young.

The tails of these animals weigh from two to four pounds apiece.

A few of these sheep were imported by the Agricultural Department some months ago, and are doing well in the West.

A Cape goat will also be shown. This animal is the counterpart of the familiar Himalian species, except that it is much larger, standing four feet high.

An exceptionally fine Angora goat is in the collection. Its fleece is about a foot long and of very delicate texture.

Another handsome animal is a small gazelle, scarcely larger than an Italian greyhound.

There are to be more than a hundred, and fifty African birds in one group.

No Monkeys, But Men.

There is still some chance for the folk who do not believe that the monkey and men are second cousins.

Dr. Darwin's assertions were like a thunderbolt, for they half stunned the world, but here and there some scientific man has lifted his voice in protest.

Professor Virchow, whose words are as heavy as gold, has always opposed Darwin, and now in his old age his voice is strong and his mind is clear.

In his recent address delivered in Moscow he made a bold attack, declaring that the evolution of the human race from bestial beginnings by no means proven; that the arguments in its favor are far outnumbered by the arguments against it; that the fact which has been most carefully investigated shows that Darwin's theory is untenable.

As translated by the Popular Science Monthly, he says:

"Thus we are repulsed at every line of the small and the human question. All the researches undertaken with the aim of finding continuity in progressive development have been without result.

There exists no proanthropus, no man-monkey, and no 'connecting link' between the two.

Of course, if it shall turn out that we are really superior simians, or that the simians are inferior men, we shall accept the news with good grace. In the meantime, I do not agree to hear Professor Virchow assume as we need blush with shame whenever we pass the monkeys cage in the Park—New York Herald.

General News.

The postoffice at Cranbury, N. J., was entered by burglars Sunday night.

The safe was blown open and $100 in money and stamps taken.

The warlike Crow Indians have looted a number of deserted ranches in Yellowstone county, Montana.

Lito Fata, an Indian, was killed.

Snow covered St. Paul and much of Minnesota Monday morning.

It blew considerable during the night, drifted badly and interfered greatly with traffic.

Ex-President Harrison passed through St. Louis Monday over the Vanderbilt Road in the private car of George W. Boyd, of the Pennsylvania Road, bound for Havana, Ill., to shoot ducks.

Disturbances in the Massachusetts State prison at Boston have been renewed, the convicts making night hideouts with knives. Forty of the ringleaders were placed in solitary confinement.

A Mail Steamer on the Coast.

CHESAPEAKE, Md., March 13.—People from Smith's Island who have been in town today confirm the report in regard to the steamer that is to run between Tangier Island, Smith's Island, Holland's Island and Crisfield.

The vessel which has been purchased is the one that was used by General Grant in his excursion on the Potomac. The owners are making a fight to get the mail, and if they secure this contract it will defray all running expenses. The vessel is not now in very good condition, but parties have gone to Washington to have her thoroughly repaired.

Business on these islands has been greatly retarded by the poor communication with the mainland. Their development in the future will be certain and rapid if good communication is provided.—Exchange.

Island Selected.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Hog Island, opposite the mouth of the Patuxent river, where Mr. Cleveland passed a duck-hunting vacation after the campaign, is to be taken possession of by the government as a quarantine station.

This conclusion has just been reached at a conference between Surgeon-General Wm. C. Wood, of the Marine Hospital, and Secretary Carlisle. Dr. Wood was authorized to take the necessary steps to secure possession of the island and to establish the station. The present quarantine stations at the mouth of the Chesapeake have been found to be inadequate for the purpose.

The steamship owners and others interested in ocean traffic to and from Baltimore as to far from the city.

The Romance of a Novel.

Mr. Howell's latest novel, 'The Coast of Bohemia,' now running through the pages of The Ladies Home Journal, was written in four different states. Mr. Howell began the novel at his father's home in Ohio last May, continued it in a rooming house in New York, and finished it in New Hampshire during the summer and worked at it; brought it to New York and wrote a number of chapters there in October; took it back again to his father's home in Ohio in November, and it is in New York last December. And yet, despite all these changes of place of writing, the novel turns out really to be the brightest piece of work that Howell has done so far.

Black Diamonds.

The sale of several thousand acres of canal land in the Kanawha Valley, W. Va., for the magnificent sum of $349,500 reported, or at the rate of about $125 per acre, was the subject of a meeting held on Tuesday at this city for the purpose of raising money for the construction of railroads in that section. It is doubtful whether this land could have been sold for $3 an acre. West Virginia is rich in iron, lumber, oil, and gas, and with the rapid construction of railroads now in progress in various directions promises to increase greatly in wealth and population.

A Famous Fire Escape.

In the forenoon of Jan. 8, 1887, the old building at Park row and Beaman street caught fire. The factory building had only one stairway and was filled with people. The building being old and dry, the flames spread rapidly, and many people found a terrible death. Just as it seemed that no human being could escape death three men were seen to slip out of the window. They were quickly brought ladders, but the longest reached only half the distance. In the crowd a colored bootblack, Charles Wright, who had fastened to the roof of the building, just above the window where the men were, was a telegraph wire, and he was able to throw a rope to the top of a telegraph pole in City Hall park.

He saw that if the wire was cut in the place it was fastened to, the window would fall, and that the men could descend by it. In an instant he seized a fireman's wrench, cut the wire, and the window fell and began to climb the wall, smooth telegraph pole. It was not easy in the wind and snow, but by hard climbing Wright soon reached the roof. Quickly he twisted the wire rope off. Down it fell, right across the window! The crowd shrank back in amazement. Another three men came down in safety. For a moment only the boy was forgotten. It was not long before every one was safe. Wright's heroism was rewarded by the fact that he saved three lives.—Cor. New York Press.

Greeting a Bunko Steerer.

Sometimes the Bunko steerer meets his match. Recently ex-judge Thomas Lawrence, who has been a practicing lawyer in this city for many years, but now resides in his beautiful home in Nyack, had an encounter with one of Hungary's crafty fellows which the latter acknowledged defeat. The ex-judge is a Quaker and wears a slouch hat and Joshua Whitcomb's clothes. Passing through city hall park an elegantly dressed young man said: 'What do you eyes deceive me? You are—' But Mr. Lawrence's eyes followed the man and broke in: 'Why, I am glad to see thee, friend! Thou hast changed thy clothes since we last met on Blackwell's island.' Slapping Mr. Lawrence on the back, the would-be swindler laughed and said: 'That will do, old Quaker! I see you are on to my game.'—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Woman and Petticoat.

According to the story of a man from Wyoming, woman suffrage has not materially changed the nature of woman.

She has brought up to the threshold of a neighbor to kill her husband's vote by another. Straightway the woman said: 'I will put on her hat and go to the polls. Every woman, however, takes pains to register to be prepared for any emergency. She will be able to check off the sewing box, church circles and afternoon teas. The women had some trouble with the Australian ballot, and private subscribers were held in very honor.'—New York Evening Sun.

Advertisement of Mustard.

Mustard, especially that which has been adulterated with four—which, in consequence, would look sickly pale—has brought up to the original color of genuine mustard by the addition of tumeric, and a similar practice is beginning to be adopted in the pepper trade.—Food, Drug and Drink.

ROLLA MOORE, Postmaster.

SATURDAY, MARCH 25, 1888.

The Emperor William of Germany has limited the Court, so far as the ceremony is concerned, to a few cases.

While discussing politics in Baltimore recently, State Senator John Walter Smith said: "We have a candidate for judge and we think we are entitled to one. We are not fighting any one, but are looking out for Mr. Clayton J. Furnell."

Gov. Reynolds, of Delaware, has appointed Hon. Charles B. Lore Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Delaware, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Chief Justice Alfred P. Robinson.

Hon. Eli Salisbury died at his home in Dover, Del., Wednesday noon, aged 75 years.

Mr. Salisbury was the last of a family of distinguished brothers, who have been prominent in the politics of Delaware for the last half century.

Mr. Salisbury began the practice of law at the age of forty. In the year 1864 Mr. Salisbury was one of the delegates to the Democratic national convention which nominated General George B. McClellan for President.

He held no public position for several years after this date, but practiced his profession in Dover with considerable success until the Legislature in January, 1871, elected him to the United States Senate as a Democrat to succeed his brother, the late Chancellor Salisbury.

He served in this position with such credit to himself and State that his constituents asked that the Legislature elect him to a second and third term, the latter expiring March 3, 1880.

While in the Senate he served on a number of important committees, being chairman of several—including that of privileges and elections—when his party was in power and also under Republican rule.

Mr. Salisbury was never married.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate has confirmed the following nominations:

Joseph Quincy, of Massachusetts, to be assistant Secretary of State.

Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Mexico.

James B. Easton, of Louisiana, to be minister to France.

Patrick A. Collins, of Massachusetts, to be consul of the United States to London.

Robert A. Maxwell, of New York, to be fourth assistant Postmaster-General.

Walter Hampton, of South Carolina, to be commissioner of railroads.

William McAdoo, of New Jersey, to be assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Theodore Runyon, of New Jersey, to be minister of the United States to Germany.

Walter D. Debevoise, of Virginia, to be solicitor for the department of State.

Edward B. Whitney, of New York, to be assistant attorney-general.

James G. Jenkins, of Wisconsin, to be United States circuit judge for the Seventh judicial circuit.

Chas. B. Stuart, of Texas, to be judge of the United States court for the Indian Territory.

Abner Gaines, of Arkansas, to be marshal of the United States for the Eastern district of Arkansas.

Joseph House, of Arkansas, to be attorney of the United States for the Eastern district of Arkansas.

Clifford L. Jackson, of the Indian Territory, to be attorney of the United States for the Indian Territory.

Ernest P. Baldwin, of Maryland, to be first auditor of the treasury.

Thomas Holcomb, of Delaware, to be fifth auditor of the treasury.

Salisbury Cures.

The Salisbury Manufacturing Company has recently succeeded in securing the rights to the famous "Salisbury Cures" which have long been known and valued for their efficacy in curing various ailments.

Acting on the advice of a prominent commission merchant who wrote them saying: "The growers will be looking for the cheapest price that will bring the berries here in good order."

The growers in money will not be the one decided on if it will not bring the fruit here in good condition. It will not be the cheapest price that will bring the berries here in good order.

An attempt was made last Monday night by unknown persons to burn a block of buildings on Maryland Avenue. Machinery was suspended and thrown on the building and on fire. Fortunately it was discovered and extinguished before much damage was done.

The British colonies are asserting their feelings of independence of English legislation in various ways. The premier of New South Wales has declined to assent to the nomination of the officer in London for the position of commander of the military forces of the colony, pointing out in his protest that a younger man and one more in touch with military science than the person proposed, is needed.

Representative Bratton said in our hearing, since his return from Washington last week, that he desires all persons who are in positions for appointments to postmasterhips, to forward them to him at once at Prince Anne. And, when thus received, he will present, or forward them to the proper official in Washington. He desires to dispose of all these matters as speedily as the appointing machinery at headquarters will permit.

"The Word is Life." Messrs. J. E. Holland, Millford, Del. says: "Your simple cure received we find it a desirable medicine, will you kindly give us the full particulars." Messrs. A. S. Cook & Co. of New York say: "It meets our approval."

Messrs. J. B. Downes & Co. of New York say: "Your berry cure came to hand this morning and we have examined it and show it to several of our friends. The opinion of all is very favorable, etc."

Among other things we have written to Messrs. J. E. Holland, Millford, Del. and Messrs. Bennett, Rand & Co. of Boston, all well known to our shippers, besides others to numerous to quote.

Organized Charity. Among the many beneficent institutions that bless our country, the institution of life insurance occupies a prominent position. It does so because it is good and does it constantly. The life insurance companies of the United States distribute annually over $100,000,000 to widows and orphans in this country.

Think of the homes thus saved and of the children fed, clothed and educated. On thousands of desolate heartstones has it lighted the waning fire. Its benefits have been felt in every town and school district, from Maine to the golden Gate, and from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

No better protection for your loved one, nor a more safe investment of money can be found than in a policy of insurance in a good life insurance company. Such a company is the "Zion Life" Hartford, Conn. It is one of the strongest and best managed companies in the country. Its 43rd annual statement which appears in another column must be very gratifying reading to the friends and relatives of those who have insured with it.

The annual meeting of the directors and stockholders of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk railroad was held in the superintendent's office, in Cape Charles City, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

As a token of respect and regard of the members of Wicomico Lodge No. 91 A. F. & M. E. Mr. E. L. Waller, the oldest member thereof, was on Tuesday evening last presented with a handsome Past Master's jewel made of 14k gold, studded with two diamonds and a sapphire, done in exquisite workmanship.

The presentation was made in behalf of the lodge by Past Master E. E. Williams in a brief but choice and appropriate address, to which Mr. Waller made a feeling reply.

The whole affair was arranged and carried out as a complete surprise to Mr. Waller—Wicomico News.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Salisbury Permanent Building and Loan Association was held in the court house last Monday evening.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Tilghman, but on account of the session not being able to get out the annual report in time to submit to the stockholders, no business was transacted except the election of a Board of Directors.

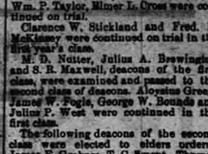

The old board, consisting of W. H. Tilghman, A. G. Toombs, L. E. Williams, E. L. Waller, Dr. Simon, Thos. H. Williams and Thos. Perry, were unanimously re-elected.

If You Want One Cheap!

Winter goods can always be bought cheapest after the winter is gone. We must have room for our Spring and Summer Stock.

That is just the reason why we are selling many things in our store for less than they cost.

Winter is coming again, though, and your dollars now will buy more Cold Weather Goods than they will when the frosts fall again.

Some bargains for the ladies in Winter Wraps.

J. R. T. LAWS, Salisbury, Md., Main Street, Hardware & Store.
