THOS. W. H. WHITE,

WILLIAM L. LATT,

Democratic State Central Committee of Wicomico County.

—Cardinal Newman died at Birmingham, England, Monday night in his ninetieth year. He is said to have been one of the greatest men of his time. His early life was devoted to service in the church of England. Later he identified himself with the Catholic church, and soon became known as a mighty controversialist. His talent and piety eventually raised him from the position of a priest to that of Cardinal.

He led a pure and blameless life, and greatly advanced the cause of his church. As an author he produced some very able works, besides a number of devotional ones. "Lead Kindly Light," that gem of the Episcopal hymnal, was composed by Newman.

—The Democratic nominating convention for Delaware was held last Tuesday at Dover. Robert J. Reynolds of Kent county was nominated for Governor, and ex-Congressman John W. Causey, of Millford for Congressman. Mr. Causey seems to have been the undoubted choice of the party, but Mr. Reynolds was bitterly opposed by the Salisbury boys who bitterly enemy he was. A notable feature of the fight was the downfall of the Salisbury boys who have been prominent in the state for forty years.

The Walcott-Bayard faction defeated the Salisbury FRUMS, and so connected them they went over to the camp of the enemy, and succeeded in electing a republican legislature which sent Anthony Higgins, republican, to the U. S. Senate. There was never a baser act of political ingratitude than this. Two of the Salisbury brothers had successfully sat in the U. S. Senate, one in the Governors chair, and one (formerly Senator) is now Chancellor of the State.

The results of last Saturday's primaries were intended as a rebuke for this act of ingratitude. Now the question comes, Will the ticket be elected? Two years ago the democrats were taken unawares. They knew that there was opposition, but they did not properly estimate it. In previous years they had had spirited campaigns which resulted in failures and they supposed it would be the fate of this republican effort. The democrats are now thoroughly aroused and feel the necessity of making a vigorous campaign. They will have all the muniments of war necessary for such occasions.

The Every Evening of Wednesday says: "From a consensus of opinion freely expressed after the adjournment of the convention, the prevailing idea is that the Delaware Democrats have named a 'flicking ticket.'" Robert J. Reynolds is regarded as one of the strongest political workers in the State and John W. Causey is held up as the hero of many a hard-fought political battle. It is expected that they will make an aggressive campaign and there is a feeling of entire confidence in their election.

Hon. Edward L. Martin of Seaford, said he was satisfied with the ticket and would do all in his power to secure its election.

Issue N. Fooks heartily endorsed the ticket and said he believed it would win. Attorney-general John Biggs said he believed the ticket was the best that could be nominated and predicted its election.

Willard Salisbury, Jr., Esq., said after the manner in which the ticket had been nominated he could not see how any demagogue could refuse to support it. John F. Sibley said that he would support the ticket.

N. H. Hutchins, an active Salisbury Democrat, said the ticket would receive his vote and support. Ex-Representative John A. Jones is also in line for the ticket.

Ex-Senator Bayard was a prominent figure in the convention. He was chairman of the committee on resolutions and submitted the report, and supported it with an able address. It is said that Mr. Bayard desires to return to public life, and took this occasion of showing his interest in the public affairs.

Delaware Democrats.

Mr. Caleb S. Pennwell, also of Kent, was the only nominee against Mr. Reynolds, and an offer was made to withdraw him, but a ballot was taken and out of the 183 votes in the convention, Mr. Reynolds polled 130, Mr. Pennwell 14, Dr. Black 10, Reynolds and Black 1, and ex-Congressman Williams 3. Three blank votes were cast, and two delegates did not vote. Mr. Reynolds accepted the nomination in a speech at the close of the convention. Mr. Causey was nominated for Congress by acclamation.

The success of Mr. Reynolds means the defeat of the Salisbury, which was in reality accomplished at the primary election in Kent county on Saturday, for in that county was concentrated the contest of the entire State. By an inviolable rule of rotation in Delaware democratic politics it was Kent's turn to name the Governor, and Newcastle and Sussex were willing to abide by the result of Kent's choice. No nomination more distasteful to the Salisbury could have been made than that of Mr. Reynolds. Against him is concentrated all the bitterness of their hatred. It was he who in 1853 first opposed the continuance of the rule of the Salisbury, after an uninterrupted supremacy of a generation in the democratic politics of Kent and Sussex counties, and while that opposition was hardly felt by Mr. Salisbury in his successful contest for re-election to the United States Senate, yet it was not crushed, but grew with each succeeding year, and two years ago it was so formidable that the Salisbury lost control of the machinery of the party in Kent county. This opposition had in the meantime been concentrated in Mr. James L. Wolcott, a Dover lawyer who aspired to succeed Mr. Salisbury in the State. By the enforcement of the unit rule in the memorable Kent county convention in 1883, Mr. Salisbury lost his county entirely. His friends were indifferent to the polls, and Sussex, by a liberal use of money, was captured, along with Kent, by the republicans. The Salisbury charge Mr. Reynolds with the enforcement of the unit rule and the consequent democratic defeat at the polls. Against Mr. Causey the Salisbury have not a word to say.

While peace reigns within our borders the people groan under a burden of taxation greater than that which supplied the useful necessities of the civil war; while in the great cities poverty congregates and labor languishes, while in the broad land, farms are mortgaged and crops are pledged before they ripen to the harvest, an ill-begotten unnecessary surplus drawn from the arteries of trade, is squandered, under the guise of patriotism, to purchase and reward the mercenaries of the Republican party. This party in 1888 bought the suffrages of the people in "Blocks of Five," with money taken from monopolies fostered by tariff privileges.

Without the semblance or ruse, or the excuse of precedent, in spite of the opposition of the press, ignoring all protest, refusing all appeal, false counting majorities and arbitrarily creating quorums, and by methods hitherto unknown in the history of legislative bodies, this party has deposed democratic representatives and seated Republican constants, to the end that they might perpetuate their party's supremacy, regardless of the liberties, privileges and immunities of the citizens of the United States; and today under the specious pretense of constitutional right, this party, having thus acquired political power, proposes to repeat this history of "carpet-bag" rule in the Southern States, by the passage of a law, operating only by the petition of private citizens, which supersedes State registration, dominates State elections, prosecutes State officials in Federal Courts, and surrounds the polls with the military.

We deplore and condemn this course of political action, and partisan legislation as calculated to unsettle business, to produce sectional strife and to rekindle animosities and prejudices which are dying.

Against this party and its methods we do most solemnly protest. In the words of the Democratic platform, adopted by the national convention at Chicago, July 10th, 1884, and reaffirmed at St. Louis, June 7th, 1888, we say that the fundamental principles of Democracy, approved by the united voice of the people, remain and will ever remain, as the best and only security for the continuance of free government.

"The preservation of personal rights, the equality of all citizens before the law, the reserved rights of the States and the supremacy of the Federal Government within the limits of the Constitution, will ever form the basis of our liberties, and can never be surrendered without destroying that balance of rights and powers which enables a compact to be developed in peace and social order, and be maintained by means of local self-government."

The preservation of these "fundamental principles of Democracy" against the assaults of the Republican party is the issue today. We are confronted by a malignant and well-dressed foe. No training principle hinders him in the pursuit of his object. To control the machinery of the people's government to the use and interest of his party is the one purpose in view, and with him minorities have no rights. It is necessary to respect. To oppose this well-disciplined foe, supplied with those munitions of Republican warfare so effectively used in the late Presidential campaign, it is important that every means should be taken to perfect the organization of the Democratic party throughout the State. In view of the important results which this election may determine in the future history of the country, mere local and personal considerations should give place to the broader and more liberal conception of duty to citizenship, and individual interests should be merged in public necessities.

Conscious of their untenable and indefensible position and record involved in the present contest, Republican leaders will seek to divert your attention from the issues in controversy. Be not deceived or led away by any such attempt on the part of the Republican press or partisans to conceal this real issue in this campaign. We are concerned in the election, with questions pertaining to our general government, with which only Representatives in Congress are called upon to deal. The issues involved are broad and fundamental. The course of the present Republican administration has made so plain and so pronounced that no man can fail to see and appreciate their force and effect. It is increased tariff taxation versus tariff reduction. It is government in the interest of monopoly versus government in the interest of the people. It is continued concession to subsidized railroad corporations and alien ownership of the public lands versus restoration to the people of all unceded land grants and the prohibition of the purchase of vast tracts of the public domain by residents of other countries. It is an extravagant versus an economical administration of the government. It is an ultra partisan and corrupt administration of the civil service of the government versus a free reform and honest administration of that service. It is usurpation of the rights reserved to the States and to the people by the Constitution versus the maintenance of home rule. It is the perpetration of the policy which has piled up colossal wealth in the hands of a favored class versus relief by proper legislation to the despoiled and centralization versus the preservation of the rights and liberties of the people. Grave as are the subjects of Taxation and Finance and Reform in the Civil Service, important as all these reforms are to the people, allow them in

THE ISSUES OF THE HOUR.

The Democratic State Central Committee's Address.

The Democratic State Central Committee, at its last meeting, instructed a committee consisting of William I. Hill, of Prince Georges; Henry D. Fernandes, of Harford; and Col. Albert Ritchie, of Baltimore city, to draw up an address to the democratic electors of Maryland, presenting the issues of the approaching campaign. The address was drafted by Chairman Compton and approved by the committee practically in its original form and is now issued to the voters of the State. Its full text is as follows:

To the Democratic Electors of the State of Maryland:

The time is at hand, when, in the exercise of his constitutional right, it becomes the duty of every citizen to prepare himself for intelligent participation in the selection of a representative to the Congress of the United States; and it is under a profound sense of the importance of the election that we address you. We shall refrain from a detailed and analytical discussion of the questions at issue, and content ourselves with a general statement of the case as we understand it.

We live at a period in American history when minorities are denied recognition in one House of the Congress; when debate is strangled by the arbitrary rule of the majority; when wrong laws are enacted with indignant haste, and when the right of the American people to local self-government is endangered by the partisan rule of the Republican party in the House of Representatives.

While peace reigns within our borders the people groan under a burden of taxation greater than that which supplied the useful necessities of the civil war; while in the great cities poverty congregates and labor languishes, while in the broad land, farms are mortgaged and crops are pledged before they ripen to the harvest, an ill-begotten unnecessary surplus drawn from the arteries of trade, is squandered, under the guise of patriotism, to purchase and reward the mercenaries of the Republican party. This party in 1888 bought the suffrages of the people in "Blocks of Five," with money taken from monopolies fostered by tariff privileges.

To control the machinery of the people's government to the use and interest of his party is the one purpose in view, and with him minorities have no rights. It is necessary to respect. To oppose this well-disciplined foe, supplied with those munitions of Republican warfare so effectively used in the late Presidential campaign, it is important that every means should be taken to perfect the organization of the Democratic party throughout the State. In view of the important results which this election may determine in the future history of the country, mere local and personal considerations should give place to the broader and more liberal conception of duty to citizenship, and individual interests should be merged in public necessities.

Conscious of their untenable and indefensible position and record involved in the present contest, Republican leaders will seek to divert your attention from the issues in controversy. Be not deceived or led away by any such attempt on the part of the Republican press or partisans to conceal this real issue in this campaign. We are concerned in the election, with questions pertaining to our general government, with which only Representatives in Congress are called upon to deal. The issues involved are broad and fundamental. The course of the present Republican administration has made so plain and so pronounced that no man can fail to see and appreciate their force and effect. It is increased tariff taxation versus tariff reduction. It is government in the interest of monopoly versus government in the interest of the people. It is continued concession to subsidized railroad corporations and alien ownership of the public lands versus restoration to the people of all unceded land grants and the prohibition of the purchase of vast tracts of the public domain by residents of other countries. It is an extravagant versus an economical administration of the government. It is an ultra partisan and corrupt administration of the civil service of the government versus a free reform and honest administration of that service. It is usurpation of the rights reserved to the States and to the people by the Constitution versus the maintenance of home rule. It is the perpetration of the policy which has piled up colossal wealth in the hands of a favored class versus relief by proper legislation to the despoiled and centralization versus the preservation of the rights and liberties of the people. Grave as are the subjects of Taxation and Finance and Reform in the Civil Service, important as all these reforms are to the people, allow them in

To Reach Politics.

FRANK BERRY, ARK., Aug. 11.—Why does a man without a doubt in one of the colored citizens in this place. He is the owner of the city's street railway system, and through industry and good judgment has since his freedom amassed a fortune according to common report, upward of $200,000. When asked his opinion about the Force bill he expressed himself as follows:

"Being neither a politician nor an educated man I do not consider myself good authority on the question contained in the Lodge Bill. Some of them are altogether too large for my understanding. However, I will say, since freedom I have endeavored to be a practical man, striving to improve in every way. I am a republican, as every one knows, and in our country, which has four thousand republican majority, we divide the offices high and low, strong and feeble, about peace and harmony. This plan seems to work well, hence I am in favor of a policy of compromise, as in our local affairs."

"I had my way, however, I would see that every colored voter would pledge himself to refrain from voting at any election for five years at least. If our people could be induced to do so I sincerely believe that our conditions would be improved in every way. Too much politics has been the ruin of most of our best prepared young men. We need more industrial schools, more mechanics, more landowners and fewer political aspirants."

Harrison received 3,350 majority in this county. We must have had a free ballot and a fair count here. The bill is unnecessary. The effect of the Federal election bill will be nothing. It will cut a figure neither one way nor the other in the property of the South. As for myself, I shall continue to purchase goods in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other Northern cities as heretofore."

Answers to a Baltimore Polemic.

Acting Mayor Morse last Monday received an offer contained in the appended letter from a resident of New Jersey to join the police force of Baltimore. The offer was made at West Chester, Pa., by Mayor of Baltimore, Maryland, Dear Sir: I write to you these remarks. I am a temperance democrat and a member of the M. E. church of this place of your place, and I keep cover on my part of the offer. I am very glad to hear that you are a good recommendation if you want me. I will come emulsi if you want me. Will you please send this letter soon, Mr. Hon. Mayor?"

"The Imperial Blue."

The long-promised "Imperial blue trains" have been put on the B. & O. railroad between New York and Washington. The trains are fast and have attracted marked attention and admiration all along the line. These cars form the first instalment of a complete new equipment of this line north of Washington. An American Florence Nightingale.

At the recent G. A. R. reunion services at New Orleans, La., marked tributes of respect were paid the memory of the late Dr. Hettie K. Palmer. Mrs. Manchester said: "Right here allow me to refer to one of these women of devotion to humanity, her selflessness and benefits awarded to the suffering. I firmly believe was never excelled and rarely, if ever, equaled. In past years I had the honor to know her, and have attracted marked attention and admiration all along the line. The Rev. Dr. Beecher's Gas.

Y. tells the following story on himself: "Some years ago a young man named Plympton came to Elmira to take charge of a paper. I was at the time engaged in publishing my church notes in the paper, and one Saturday night the gas gave out and gave promise of staying out for a day or two. So I ran over to Plympton and said: 'Just say, 'Somebody's coming to my house.' 'I'll publish it just that way,' said Plympton. 'Certainly,' said I, and I left him. He did nothing that way, and on the following day narrowly escaped a serious accident. A committee of my deacons who thought he was ridiculing me."

Had Flight of a Missionary.

Missionary E. B. Van Derhagen, of New Brunswick, N. J., was just arrived home from a trip along the canal. While at Trenton he requested some men not to swear and was set upon and beaten. Dirty water was thrown upon him and all his papers destroyed. Among them were a number of tracts, a Bible, and a copy of the "Liberator." The man who did this was named "Tony" and was a member of the "Liberator" party. The man who did this was named "Tony" and was a member of the "Liberator" party. The Continental Powder Company has been chartered, with $1,000,000 capital stock, to erect a smokeless powder factory on the line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, near Certero, W. Va. The Phoenix Powder Company of New York is the principal stockholder in the enterprise. The company controls the formula for the manufacturing of smokeless powder in this country, and an effort will be made to give the government a monopoly of it. If successful the largest powder works in the United States will be erected.

A few days ago a gentleman killed a large bald eagle, near Bereford, that had a brass tag attached to a copper wire soldered around his neck. On one side of the tag was the inscription: "Sapelo High Point, May 31, 1877." On the reverse side was stamped: "Magnolia House, No. 14." The first inscription looked as though it had been cut with a pointed steel or a knife.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT

The Sons of Temperance will meet at their room next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, sharp. List all members at hand.

Mr. A. W. Woodcock lost a valuable thoroughbred Alderney cow last Wednesday from fever. She was said to be worth $100.

Mr. John P. Parks and Miss Bettie Thomas were married Wednesday afternoon at the M. P. Parsons. Rev. Mr. Arnett united the couple.

The members and friends of Siloam Church will hold a festival in the grove near the church on next Wednesday, August 20th. Proceeds for benefit of the church.

The Sharpshoot Camp, which has been in progress this week, has been largely attended. The managers have decided to hold it over till Monday of next week.

Mr. W. U. Turpin of Kansas, accompanied by his wife, is visiting his father, Thos. J. Turpin, Esq. of Quantico. Mr. Turpin has a lucrative position with a western railroad.

Mr. Maurice L. Robertson of this county, who had charge last year of the Pittsville graded school, will probably accept a position in Harford county for the coming school year.

Trinity M. E. Church, South, gave its Sunday school an excursion to Ocean City last Tuesday. About twenty members went. It was a very enjoyable outing to those who went.

Harry L. D. Stafford, Esq., who has lately been admitted to the Somerset bar, has decided to open a law office in Salisbury. He was up last Wednesday making arrangements for an office.

Mr. George Wallis is preparing to enter the theological department of Princeton this autumn. He is at present reviewing his Latin and Greek. The session begins September 16th.

Mr. W. F. Allen, Jr., the strawberry specialist, is agent for the Dennis & Milligan fish mixture which is highly recommended for grain and berry plants. His advertisement appears in this issue.

Messrs. Page & Miles and Palmer G. Snelling, trustees, sold Tuesday last week, the real estate located in Somerset county near Ellen Station, of the late Richard Snelling. The property sold for $7,500.

A Dorchester young man in applying to President Seth for employment on the B. & E. S. railroad, sent his photograph along with the application. It is scarcely necessary to add that he did not get the position.

The Methodist Protestant Sunday-school excursion of this city to Ocean City last Thursday Aug. 7th, was a success and of financial profit to the school. It was the best attended and most profitable of any excursion of the season from Salisbury.

The republicans of Wicomico county will hold their primaries on Saturday August 23rd. Their county convention will be held at the Court House in Salisbury on Tuesday, September 2nd, when delegates will be chosen to the congressional convention at Cambridge on Thursday, September 4th.

Not a single serious accident has occurred in the surf at Ocean City this season. Thursday of this week one lady bather became exhausted and had to be rolled in the sand before she came around to consciousness again. Another had a struggle with the waves but reappeared the shore without serious mishap.

Mr. Dean W. Barlow Thursday dealt with Messrs. Sirman & Love for the trotting horse, "John Green." If he could secure Mr. Collier's steed and a few others in town he would have a monopoly on the speedy horseflesh of Salisbury. Messrs. Sirman & Love now own the fine saddle pony formerly the property of W. D. Smith.

Visitors continue to arrive at Ocean City in large numbers. A more prosperous season was never enjoyed by the hotel companies. The Atlantic, Seaside, and Congress Hall have all been well filled the entire season. The Atlantic, which is the most commodious, has been obliged on several occasions to turn away guests for lack of suitable accommodations.

The melon crop of this county will be finished up this week. The quantity shipped was much larger than usual although the yield per acre was only average. The prices obtained, were exceptionally good. This we attribute to the scarcity of fruit, especially peaches. The shipments from Salisbury station will aggregate between 75 and 100 car loads. There were probably as many more shipped from the balance of the county, making an aggregate of at least 150 car loads of melons. The quality of the melons has been exceptionally good.

B. & E. S. Railroad.

The B. & E. S. railroad Co. have purchased of the Washington D. C. a portion of the property lying north of the track and extending from Division St. to the N. Y. P. & N. railroad.

The railroad company purchased a strip 150 feet wide extending along the track from Division street to the N. Y. P. & N. containing 3 1/2 acres. The passenger depot will be located at the intersection of the railroad with division street.

The proposition we understand, is to put a new building for the general office of the company as well as for local business. Beyond the passenger depot will be the freight buildings and side tracks, where there is ample room, between this company and Mr. Cannon will be opened a street extending from Division St. to intersect with Railroad St. extended, up the track from the N. Y. P. & N. depot. The railroad company will also open a street on the south side of their tracks. The property will all be graded and shelled.

Mr. Cannon will lay off the balance of the 12 acre lot into building lots, after laying out several streets through it. SOMETHINGS WHICH AFFECT US

"GATE AND EFFECT" Will (Del.) Evening Journal.

Will the candidate for Congress receive the united support of his party? Of "Cansey" will.

AN APPEAL FROM DELAWARE. Success Candidates. We hope all papers receiving the Sussex Constitution will favor us with an exchange. We have laid in a supply of mudlugs and a new pair of shoes and are now ready for business.

LIGHTNING STRIKES THIRTEEN TIMES. Success Times. John Hubbard, an old resident of Brandywine hundred, says that the thunderstorm of Friday, Aug. 1st, was the worst in his recollection. It seemed to come directly in the vicinity of his farm and though the lightning did no damage to him, it struck thirteen times within a radius of half a mile of his house.

DON'T TEMPT HIM AGAIN. Chesterton Transcript. We were made the recipients last week of a basket of the most delicious peaches of the season. The fruit was large, beautifully colored and rich, and insouciantly of flavor, in short, the peaches were delicate poems of temptings and beauty. Thos. D. Franco, our genial country friend, gathered them from his orchard on Chester river.

BROTHERS HADDAWAY'S BELIEF. Boston Ledger. We believe, and the belief is not blind faith but is based on the knowledge that comes through investigation, that the Maryland democrats will elect all their candidates this year, and the States will have six democrats in the next congress instead of three as in this congress. We also believe that six will be Gibson, Stamp, Rusk, Rayner, Compton and McKaig.

A 'CATSTROPHY' IN DELAWARE. Success Times. The cat that keeps C. E. Foul's store in Middletown clear of mice and rats recently increased the family by three. Two of the young ones bear a striking resemblance to a rabbit, while the third favors its mother. The two rabbit kittens have the same hop as a rabbit and a short stubby tail. They do not mew like their mother, but the noise they make is exactly like that of a rabbit. They are very wild.

HONEY BEES IN A HOLE. Boston Ledger. For a number of years a swarm of bees has been infesting the eaves of brick house on Washington street owned and occupied by Mrs. Josephine Hayward. It is estimated that a swarm of bees the size of the one in the house will make nearly eighty pounds of honey each year. If such be the case, at the least calculation three hundred pounds of honey are being made under the eaves and between the plastering and walls of the house.

ICE FAMINE IN DORCHESTER. Cambridge Era. Every rose has its thorn. One of the results of the formation of an ice company here has been the creation of an ice famine in town just at the time when that luxury was most needed. The new company came into existence within a few days when the old firm's ice supply would be exhausted. Neither would incur the risk of buying a fresh cargo for immediate use, hence the famine. Mr. Geo. Woolford has come to the rescue, and furnishes ice daily at 2 cts. per lb. He is entitled to the thanks of the community for everything excepting the price, and this we feel sure he cannot avoid.

CATCH A MEN. Middletown Transcript. Two of our young fishermen were out for a few hours' sport with hook and line the first of the week, and going away for a few minutes left the baited hook lying on the bank. When they returned imagine their surprise to find that during their absence a neighbor's old hen had come across the bait and swallowed it, hook and all. One of the boys was in favor of running away, but the other wanted to face the hen, if possible. After several minutes hard work the unfortunate fowl was released, and we hardly think she will swallow a fish bait again. At any rate the boys won't leave their fish hooks lying where a neighbor's hen can get hold of them in the future.

Delmar Items. The camp at Melon's has been well attended. Presiding Elder, T. O. Ayres, Rev. T. E. Martindale, A. D. Davis, Prof. W. L. Gooding, Andrew Dollow and others have participated in the meeting.

Miss Rosa German in entering the house of Wm. Thomson Friday last to give a music lesson, was bitten by a large dog belonging to Mr. Thomson.

Joseph W. Robertson formerly of this town, but for several months past a resident of the Eastern Shore of Virginia, died there Saturday morning last. He was the son of the late Thomas Robertson of Quantico, Md. The remains were interred in Virginia.

A tent meeting under the auspices of the M. E. Church will be here, beginning Sunday, Aug. 24th.

LADIES' LAST—Miss Margaret Morris, Mrs. Sallie Parker, Miss Emma Oblinger, Miss Sarah Jenkins, Mrs. Annie Snyder, Miss Sallie Jones, Mrs. Martha Davis, Gertie Lee—Joey and Stan John Tyler. Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

ROLAND MOORE, Postmaster.

It is reported that Jennie Williams, an American subrette, who is now singing at the Alhambra, Pavilion, and Tivoli music halls in London, is to be married in September to Laurence Joseph Petro, of Copthall Hill, Islington, in Essex.

Miss Williams is a pretty blonde girl, 21 years old. She went on the stage in San Francisco at the age of 10. Mr. Petro is a near relative of the present Baron Petro. Mrs. Petro will retire from the stage.

The steamer Teutonic, of the White Star Line, has smashed all records. The vessel made the run in 5 days, 19 hours and 8 minutes. The best record of the City of Paris was made last year when that vessel made the run in 5 days 19 hours and 18 minutes.

A Furniture Trade Sale.

Furniture will be higher, especially such pieces as have Mirrors. A combine of glass importers has advanced the price of mirror plates 20 per cent.

Our Furniture Trade Sale

is therefore a complete reversal of natural conditions. A strong and rising market, and yet lower retail prices on a great stock of new, elegant, fine honest Furniture than have ever been named.

The natural conditions are reversed in respect to the season.

Did you ever hear before of a great Retail Trade Movement in August? We think not. And yet here is one involving some hundreds of thousands of dollars in articles of bulk and value that is a stupendous success from the first hour—and the thermometer climbs to the nineties.

Remember every room in the house, hall bedroom, dining room, parlor has a share either in full sets of Furniture or single pieces.

Out-of-town people, even 300 miles or more away, can pay for the purchase of a Suit of Furniture for a bedroom, library or dining room.

A feature which divides the occasion from all others is that it is not based upon a few marked down goods but covers a proper, fresh and complete stock of Furniture at prices that are only half or two-thirds present retail values.

Remember especially that the life of this sale will expire with this month. Begun, continued and ended in August is the decree.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

"Hounding" Deer.

"Hounding" deer has none of the manly interest to recommend it. The hounds are set on a deer's track by the guides, while the "sportsman" leisurely awaits the result on the shore of some lake, with his cane at his feet, ready to take him out as soon as the deer is driven to the water.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Dr. White's Dispensary as their giving away to their customers so many free bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption.

William Hamilton Gibson's.

William Hamilton Gibson's series of illustrated articles on natural history, now being published in Harper's Young People, is attracting very general attention as a novel feature in juvenile literature.

The Forest and Best.

Articles known to medical science are used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every ingredient is carefully selected, properly examined, and only the best retained.

Not Wholly Ornamental.

Every set in the North State Street car was taken and four or five persons were standing. One of the latter was a young woman, who stood near the middle of the car.

Beck's Astoria Balm.

The best Balm in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. White.

Young Smallpore.

"Young Smallpore" says, will you write an editorial on the terrible effects of poison in ice-cream? Editor: "I suppose it could be done at our regular rates for moulding public opinion and guiding the affairs of the nation, a dollar a line. What is your object?"

Quill toothpicks come from France.

The largest factory in the world is near Paris, where there is an annual product of 30,000,000 quills. The factory was started to make quill pens, but when they went out of general use, it was converted into a toothpick mill.

The Secretary of the Navy has ordered that the new war ship, Baltimore, shall be commissioned to convey the remains of the late John Edgerton to Sweden, his native country.

The manufacture of cotton goods in Ceylon has for the last few years made remarkable progress. The island province is becoming as dangerous a rival to India in that industry as in the cultivation of tea.

Japan's literary welfare is looked after by 475 newspapers, magazines, etc.

To know more of the progress of the Japanese people, it is imperative that each officer should subscribe to the Japanese Standard.

ARABIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Aug 11, 1890.

Across the Red Sea.

An arid terror and the dread of man, the Red Sea has been the scene of the most daring exploits of a great caravan.

More about these poor wanderers.

There is no doubt that the Red Sea is dotted with the faintest traces to bleaching. The road is long, and no refreshing bath. The Red Sea is dotted with the faintest traces to bleaching.

Shrinking to heathen Allah, were afraid.

By acts of unbelief, great host were perished. In various instances of loss and defeat; while others perished and withered bodies, strewn in desolate and deserted lands.

Expensive Watch Winding.

Senator Farwell had a little joke put on him not long ago, and though it cost him a $2 bill he smiled grimly and took it all in good part. The senator has for years employed a certain jeweler to clean and repair his watch.

Its possessor never comes up to our standard of a true gentleman or gentlewoman, although, possibly, well born and well educated. The sensation of insecurity and of being on the lookout for some ill judged speech that might be construed as an insult to his honor, is a constant one.

Her Knowledge of Hans.

A London woman married a farmer in Fife, and was much interested in everything about the farm. One day, having come into the kitchen quite early, she said to the kitchen maid, "What are you doing?"

Scotland's Old War Song.

At a meeting of the town council of Edinburgh the lord provost said that in presenting there for sale the original manuscript of 'Scots Wha Hae,' and it is a matter of going away one of the country, but the council should purchase it for £70, and he thought it would be a great pity that it should be lost to Edinburgh.

Gen. Dumont Asks an Investigation.

The American Brotherhood of Steamboat Pilots recently adopted resolutions, which were signed by C. H. Brinkerhoff, captain, requesting the House of Representatives at Washington to appoint a committee to investigate the office of the supervising inspector-general of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

A Million Dollars Involved.

The case of Edward Moon vs. the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company in the Circuit Court at Palmyra, Fluvanna county, Va., just called up, is a suit of considerable importance. When the old James River and Kanawha Canal Company was chartered about 1833, the right of way was granted to the company for the purpose of a canal only.

Hits of News About Town, Gathered by the "Advertiser" Reporters.

Two cows were killed by an engine on the B. & E. S. railroad last Friday afternoon between Harlock's and Preston stations.

Rev. Wm. Mumford asks us to say that he recently lost his umbrella, some where in Salisbury. The finder will confer a favor by returning it to him.

The personal property of the late Robert Laird Collier will be sold next Monday by the administrator, J. W. Wilcox, on the premises.

The Criminals' League claims that in the matter of Public Schools, Crisfield district is discriminated against. It publishes figures to sustain its charge.

The Presbyterian Mite Society will meet next Tuesday evening, Aug. 24th, at the residence of Mr. Robert Grier. All are very cordially invited to be present.

Mr. C. W. Bradley, who has been dangerously ill at her home on Bush street, is now convalescent, and her friends hope for her complete recovery in the near future.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant church of Salisbury, will give a lawn party on Thursday evening, August 26th at the residence of Mr. Ward on Park avenue.

The River and Harbor bill passed the Senate last Monday. The house bill provided for a $5,000 appropriation for the river but the bill was amended in the Senate to a $10,000 appropriation.

The congregation of St. Paul's, Spring Hill church propose to hold a picnic on the church grounds next Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 27th. All are cordially invited to attend. Proceeds for benefit of church.

Governor Jackson has promised to attend the Harford Agricultural Fair on August 29th and 30th, and Secretary of Agriculture, J. H. Rusk has promised to be present. The fair will begin September 10th, one week earlier than usual, and continue four days.

Vanugh S. Hayman, a merchant of West P. O., Somerset county, was tried before Justice McMaster of Princess Anne county Monday morning for assault, with intent to rape, Mr. George V. McAllen. He was convicted of simple assault and fine $50 and costs.

Mr. Whitefield S. Lowe represents the H. S. Miller & Co., fertilizer manufacturers of Baltimore, in this county. His advertisement appears in our columns. These counts are popular among a large number of our farmers who have used it a spring crop and for wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Morris entertained a few evenings ago several of their friends, on which occasion they opened melon grown on their farm, which might want up into the sixties. The remembrance of the melon was three feet and nine inches. The flavor was excellent.

Our harbor has again been active this week. Small craft have come and are bringing various kinds of merchandise, and taking away such as fertilizer, etc. Larger vessels have come laden with ties for the B. & E. S. railroad, each year our river's traffic grows more important, hence the demand for liberal appropriations by the government for improvement.

The Eastern Star says: "The Eastern society is making 1,000 cones of a day and finds ready sale for the cones." Something was said of a creamery to be started here in connection with the ice factory, but it has not yet been started. A creamery in Salisbury would hardly fail to yield good returns. We hope some of our successful business men will consider the matter.

On and after the first of September, until further notice, the following residents will close their stores at 6 o'clock, p. m. Saturdays excepted: C. E. Harkness & Carey, Fowler and Gibson, R. E. Powell & Co., Lucy Longmire, Jessie D. Price, Laws & Russell, J. H. Harkness, J. Manko, Dorris & Smyth, James Cannon, A. W. Anderson, H. J. Harkness, L. W. Gunby, C. M. Brownington.

The Baltimore American said Thursday that Mr. Foley of the firm of Swinton, Baltimore & Co., tin manufacturers of Baltimore, had been arrested on the charge of having tried to bribe a juror in the case in which the firm is doing business in South Baltimore. The senior member of the firm, Mr. H. S. Brownington, well-known in Salisbury where he was residing, is at the depot with the firm.

Mr. Alan Benjamin, manager of the Baltimore & Eastern railroad, which office he has managed for many years, is at the depot with the firm.

How the Blending of Beauty was Spoiled.

Frank Williams, who was some time ago a festive sport and horseman of Salisbury, is now operating in Delaware with Sanford for headquarters.

Last Saturday morning he revisited his old haunts and proceeded to put on a three-pronged vermilion; having previously mixed his oils while en route he only needed a little blotting matter on his arrival here. This he quickly procured and at once sallied forth, stopping at frequent intervals at the various supply houses to replenish his stock. A brilliant, gaudy carmine was the immediate result of the mixture, but, alas! by the introduction of some foreign matter into the formula the whole thing changed to a contemptible Shockley-ate hue which spoiled every thing. It took just three dollars to correct this objectionable mixture, and the feature, but that was not all, while Williams was hurrying to the depot for supplies he came in contact with Dr. Fulton's carriage and the paint can was upset. In his collision with Dr. Fulton's big Frank returned to the depot with a very much improved with the plot attending the painting of Maryland towns.

When Mr. W. B. Parsons, who was appointed enumerator for Salisbury by district supervisor J. P. Owens, made his report last June to the supervisor, there was a desire of course on the part of our people to know what the result was. Mr. Parsons stated that the population of Salisbury would exceed three thousand. He had but the faintest idea of the work. Shortly afterward district supervisor Owens reported that the official census of the town was 2,777. This was of course a great surprise to the people and they immediately set to work to find out the cause of the discrepancy. Mr. Parsons was immediately set to work to take another census. The result of this work shows our population to be 3,164. Captain Porter submitted his report to the Board of Trade at a meeting held last Tuesday, through Mr. Walter C. Humphreys who took an active interest in the matter. Mr. Porter stated before the Board that he was willing to make affidavit to the correctness of the list he submitted.

District supervisor Owens was invited to come before the Board, which he did, but said he could not account for the discrepancy of 387, that he had employed a man to take the official census, whom the people recommended and had every reason to believe that he would do the work correctly. From statements made by Mr. Parsons after he had completed the work, and from his thorough knowledge of the territory we can explain the discrepancy in no other way than that some of Mr. Parsons' agents got misplaced in the district supervisors office, not intentionally of course. There never could be a discrepancy of 387 in the work.

The people have confidence in Capt. Porter's work and therefore desire an investigation of the matter. The following resolutions containing the facts were passed by the Board and ordered forwarded to the Superintendent of Census at Washington.

WHEREAS, The Board of Trade of Salisbury, Md., apprehending that the official list does not represent the entire population of Salisbury, employed Captain McKim Porter, a highly respected and thoroughly reliable citizen of Salisbury who is willing to make affidavit to the same, and

WHEREAS, This enumeration shows the population of Salisbury, Md., to be 3,164, while the official census is 2,777, showing a difference of 387, at a meeting of the Board of Trade of Salisbury, August 19, it was unanimously

Resolved, That James E. Ellegood and Walter C. Humphreys be a committee to present these facts to the Hon. R. B. Porter, Superintendent of the Census, and request a copy of the official list to be compared under the supervision of the census agent of the first district, with the list taken by Captain Porter.

An Appeal from Rockawalking.

ROCKAWALKING, Aug. 20, 1920.

To the Advertiser:—The people of Rockawalking are very anxious to know whether or not a station is to be placed in their midst on the new road as a friend and they are enthusiastic in their reception of the road, if a station is placed here they will do everything in their power to further the interests of the road. This is a pushing, thrifty community, containing many well-to-do farmers, and these, to a man, will throw all the trade they can into the hands of the railroad, if this boon they are granted.

They all feel that they are entitled to a station and will work with renewed energy when they get it. The old Delaware road has been so unreasonable in its charges that the farmers in this section have no special fondness for it. All along it has pursued a stupid, unbusinesslike policy by its monstrous and highly unreasonable charges. The people have felt they were wronged, but they have been powerless because they knew they were dealing with a selfish and unscrupulous monopoly. Now they cordially welcome the new road as a friend and they will help their new friend in every possible way if they get what they think they have a right to expect from it.

An Electric Storm.

A violent electric storm visited this community Monday evening attended by considerable rain. The peals of thunder were terrific and the lightning was intensely vivid and blinding. Many carbons were burned out of the electric lights in private residences, and electricity ceased to be supplied about, around and above our citizens in such a manner that many of the more timid trembled with fear.

An electric current entered Dr. Todd's building and ran down a wire which suspended a diploma hanging from the washstand searching the parchment and shivering the frame. Without doing further damage than picking a small triangular hole in the wall, it escaped.

Preaching and Lecture by a Stanness.

At the Ashbury M. E. Church Rev. Hans Adameson, M. D., a converted Stanness, will preach at 11 a. m. and at 5 p. m. He will lecture on the people's manners, customs and religion of his native land, Siam. He will appear in the royal costume and sing some of his national songs. A collection at the close.

Dr. Adameson has spent fourteen years in this country seeking an education. He obtained his collegiate course at Bucknell University, at Lewisburg, Pa., and his medical course at the Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia, Pa. He intends to return next fall to his native land and spend there the remainder of his life as a medical missionary.

George Leonard, a young buck from Jersey, had a difficulty with another colored man, John Bailey, last Sunday at the depot which resulted in the arrest and imprisonment of Leonard. Monday morning he appeared before Justice Traider and pleaded guilty. The Justice imposed a fine which, together with the costs amounted to $125. This was too much for the sports' purse and he was remanded to the Bed-Bird.

A Dangerous Custom.

Typoid fever has proven fatal in several cases in Vienna, Dorchester county. Besides those who have died from the disease a number of others are stricken and are not expected to live.

Among the many useless customs which survive in spite of all that can be justly alleged against them, one may be mentioned in this connection. We mean the practice of opening coffins at the grave side.

One may feel a very pardonable reluctance to leave forever into the dark the form of a lower one without a last look, but it must be a very sickly sentimentality, indeed, which can overcome the experience of a single funeral where this formality is observed.

The disappointment which invariably meets the eye one would think sufficient to prevent such a procedure from ever becoming a custom.

Certainly what is seen through the glass plate can serve to those who mourn no purpose of affection, and if the glass is drawn we have a ghastly revelation of such things as bear no longer a possible relation to the life, reason, beauty, love, once enshrined in flesh. There can be no gratification in such a spectacle except to a curiosity, which is in itself like to the living and the dead.

As opposed to good sense, as this practice appears on the ground of taste, when viewed from a sanitary standpoint, it is found wholly indispensable. When a case of small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet fever, or other such virulent, contagious disease, is to be buried, the sense of danger is lively enough to secure a very private interment. But, unfortunately, even such unquestionably contagious diseases are not always recognized, and it is but a few years since a number of persons, in a neighboring county, contracted small-pox at a funeral, as a direct result of the very foolish custom which we are attacking. Let it be known that, as our knowledge of pathology increases, the class of contagious diseases grows.

Typoid fever will surely take its place in this class; a form of pneumonia has been recognized as of this class, and consumption, which annually slays more thousands than war and pestilence together, is now proven to be communicable through the agency of a micro-organism which only seeks a favorable soil in which to renew its deadly work. And when to the self-multiplying microbes we add the subtle poisons, those lethal alkaloids which are generated in the process of putrefaction, and the various gases which may convey through the lungs to the blood the ferment of death, it is astounding that rational men should willingly open the smallest port to the common enemy.

Happily this hideous custom is falling out of vogue, but instances are still frequent enough to justify a word or two of warning.

OUR CENSUS.

The Baltimore Sun's Washington correspondent last Monday captured the following, which is the "Census News" very candidly named "Census Lie."

Washington, Aug. 24.—"The result of the census taken by the citizens of Salisbury, Md., has developed into a protest against the work of the census office in that town, and the citizens are now anxious for a recount of their population."

On Saturday Chief of Surveyors Hyde received a letter from the Board of Trade complaining that the entire population of Salisbury had not been taken by the enumerators, and asking not only for a recount, but also for the enumeration schedules or copies of them.

Mr. Hyde as yet has not replied to the communication, but from his statements to a Sun representative it would seem that he does not regard the matter as one requiring any special consideration.

"The trouble," he said, "is due to the fact that railroad construction shops have been established at Salisbury since the census was taken there and they have brought several hundred people to the town. Of course it is natural that the citizens should wish to have credit for this large increase, but the census office cannot be blamed because the people were not there when the count was made."

"So far as the charges against the census office are concerned," continued Mr. Hyde, "they bear their reputation on their face, but we will give the matter an investigation, as we do all complaints, in order to ascertain whether or not there are any just grounds for dissatisfaction."

Regarding the request that the schedules be sent, Mr. Hyde says it will be impossible to comply with it. Copies can, however, be sent after the work of tabulating the returns is completed, if in compliance with the law, the people of Salisbury pay for the copy.

This could not be done, however, in time to allow any revision of the schedules which would have in view the securing of a recount of the population."

The Board of Trade immediately took action in the case to correct the false statement by showing that this enormous horde of railroad employes consisted of about ninety persons who were making their home here at the time the official census was taken.

The census department has declined to make any corrections in the official census, but the facts and figures—3164—stand just the same. No explaining or stretching of statements can reconcile the discrepancy of nearly 400. One of the things that our people just now are interested in, is who gave the department all this valuable information that there were so many hundred railroad employes temporarily encamped here. The semi-plausibility of the thing warrants every one in believing that it was someone from this place. We are equally warranted in believing that it was someone interested in the so-called official census, because no one else in the town could have been found to make such a statement. Who did it, that's the question?

A Prize of $100,000 is a good thing to get, and the man who wins it by superior skill, or by an unexpected turn of Fortune's wheel, catches that of dread monster, Consumption, wins back health and happiness, is far more fortunate. The chances of winning $100,000 are small, but every consumption is absolutely sure of recovery, if he takes Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in time. For all scrofulous diseases Consumption is one of them, it is an unfailing remedy. It is guaranteed to cure in all cases of disease for which it is recommended, or money refunded.

The case of the Money five gold excitement, thought property in Wyoming, and a mine on Montana's border, and many a story which is told in the West. The excitement is used in the West. The excitement is used in the West. The excitement is used in the West.

THE SIWAH AND HIS CANOE.

TACOMA, WASH., Aug. 18.—By the time this reaches you the romantic season of this section will have begun. The hops will be ripening, and the Coast Indians from far and near will be coming to pick them. Puget Sound will be covered with their curious canoes, and so will the hills along the coast.

The Siwah Indian and his canoe are inseparable. He and his ancestors have lived in it for so many generations that the canoe has become a part of his nature, and away from the water he is practically helpless. To understand him and what he is you must first study the canoe. It is fashioned from a singular light and graceful pattern. People who know all about boats say it is built on the most accurate model, both for speed and safety, and there is evidence that it has been built on this model for many, many generations.

There is nothing a Siwah is more abundantly supplied with than time and therefore he can and does devote plenty of it to the manufacture of one of these canoes. He never needs to make more than one as they last more than a lifetime, generally, and descend from father to son as an ancestral heirloom of the family possession. When, however, a new one is needed a tree is selected with great care, and cedar is usually preferred to fir. Among trees from 200 to 300 feet high and all straight as arrows, with no limbs to get in the way, are the most suitable one is not hard to find. It is then felled, generally by the aid of fire, then hewed to the model of a perfect boat. Then the slow process of hollowing out the interior begins. A long trench is chopped out of the middle, and this is filled with water and stones are heated and thrown into it until the sides are thoroughly soaked and steamed. Then they are spread apart by a slow and tedious process of tapping and more is hewed out of the interior, and the process of steaming and spreading is repeated. When at last it is hewed to an even thickness, steamed and spread to the proper width and finished up as neatly as an accomplished cabinet maker could make it, a long fore peak or prow is cut and a few round braces about an inch and a half in diameter are put across near the top to keep it spread to proper shape, the whole is painted black with some native paint that seems never to change color, and the boat is ready to be launched. The launching process is sometimes difficult because the best tree is taken where found, without reference to the water, and sometimes the boat has to be carried a long distance through the tangled wood, but as it is so light, no pains of this kind is avoided. Once the boat is in the water the owner's work is accomplished. He has in it a home, a means of travel and subsistence combined, since by means of it all his wants are supplied. Such a thing as a seat in it was never thought of. An Indian has no use for such a convenience. He simply squats tail-fashion near the stern when he is rowing, or when he is to be called upon, the Eastern Indian, takes a similar comfortable position near the prow, and each with a short, sharp paddle furnishes a share of the motive power that drives it through the water with a light and easy grace and swiftness. If a long journey is to be made, as in the hop-picking season, the entire household effects, tepee, blankets, kettles, papooses and dogs are taken aboard. The boat then becomes the family home for the rest of the trip. He counted thirteen persons in one of these canoes at one time and there seemed to be at least one dog to each person. The older persons ply the paddles while the children and dogs look on. Sometimes the children are so restless that they get out of the prow, and each with a short, sharp paddle furnishes a share of the motive power that drives it through the water with a light and easy grace and swiftness.

On account of an unforeseen delay in the presentation of "Across the Andes"—the first of an important series of papers on South America—the publication of Harper's Magazine for September has been postponed to August 28th. The South-American note recently made by Theodore Child, under the auspices of Harper's Magazine, may be regarded as one of the most important journalistic enterprises of the present year. The series of articles resulting from this tour will embody Mr. Child's personal experiences and observations, and will contain many and numerous illustrations by the best American artists.

In sharp contrast to many essays on religious subjects by writers who undertake to show that more or less revolutionary methods are demanded to reach the Christian to modern conditions of life, Prof. John Stuart Blackie, of Scotland, in an essay in the Forum for September makes an historical review of the development of Christianity, pointing out some of its obvious errors, such as monasticism, ritualism, and too literal an interpretation of doctrine.

With this review as a starting point he sketches what he conceives to be the necessary development of Christianity in the future, along lines that are entirely orthodox and in a spirit of profound reverence.

In the August number of the Forum Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, wrote an argument in favor of a law for the national control of elections, directing his attention chiefly to political affairs in the Southern States. In the September number of the Forum Senator Moran, of Alabama, replies to Senator Chandler. After pointing out what he conceives to be the revolutionary character of the proposed law, Senator Moran presents a mass of facts and opinions to prove that the federal control of elections is not desired in any section of the country by the masses of the people. He defends the method of the States and manufacturers of the border States against the accusation of Senator Chandler that their trade relations with the South have made them cowardly.

Luminous Paint for Keyholes. The Chicago Tribune is authority for the following: Said a Madison street druggist: "I am selling a good deal of luminous paint lately. Such a thing used to be unheard of. Why? Why is it now so common? I'll tell you. It is the electric light of the street is the cause of it. In the good old days—more correctly speaking, in the good old nights—men who went home late at night had no difficulty in finding the keys for the reason that there was a gaslight in the middle of the block, and it showed the hole. Now this electric light of the street is on the corner, and if your keyhole is in the middle of the block you have to fumble to find it. Somebody I don't know who, painted his with luminous paint, and the result traveled like a piece of gossip. From that time the demand for luminous paint has been on the increase. When a man comes in here and asks for a sort of a sneaking way for 10 cents' worth of luminous paint I know he is a late stayer down town and that he is going to paint his keyhole."

One Hundred Dollars. FRANK J. CHENEY, of Toledo, Ohio, writes: "I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your kind letter of the 15th inst. in relation to the case of my partner, F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, Ohio, and State of Ohio, and that said firm will pay you the sum of One Hundred Dollars for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure."

SOME THINGS WHICH AFFECT US.

MARYLAND'S SENATORS. Maryland has two Senators in Congress of whom she may be justly proud.

Now, however, the news is of a different kind. The Baltimore Evening News says that the principal town on the line of the Baltimore & Eastern Shore railroad; and the largest town on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

White Swallows. Two snow white swallows were observed by several gentlemen who were standing on the bridge and wharf, last Sunday afternoon. One of them was secured by Mr. A. F. Shockley, who sent it to a friend in Philadelphia, who is interested in Taxidermy.

Some malicious persons are playing havoc with the canals of this town. Not less than a dozen valenced bird and rabbit dogs have been poisoned within the past two weeks. If they would use better judgment and poison some of the worthless dogs they would be doing a kindness to this community.

ONE OF THE BLUE HEN'S CHICKENS. John F. Salisbury is editor of The Delawarean, controls its policy, writes its editorials, publishes what he chooses, and rejects that which he does not wish to publish, and will continue to do so through this campaign without asking permission of any or any one else, and without any disagreement with his relatives about the policy of the paper or anything else.

FUNNY THINGS ONE HEARS. He has had funny things discussed on the streets and in the stores, during the evening. For instance, last Saturday night, a man came in and told of a coal mine he had visited up in Pennsylvania. To reach it you go down a 900-foot shaft, in an elevator. The speed is so great, in the descent of this elevator, that cleats are affixed to the sides of the shaft to prevent the cage from falling. The elevator would drop away from them, leaving them to follow more leisurely. The young citizen contributed this statement as an actual fact, a result of his personal experience and observation, and we are bound to believe him; only that he confuses our ideas of the laws of gravitation.
