DRESS GOODS—High Novelties. Many of the rich new stuffs in our Dress Goods were not seen in Paris by any American wholesaler...

The highest novelties, the $3, $4 and $5 stuffs, were in special quantities and great variety.

Elegance coupled with economy pervades the stock. Richness roams through the grades from 25c to $1.

Do not forget that our distributing power is always a bargain winner.

Just a few points selected at random from hundreds:

At 25c the yard. Black and blue, navy blue and black all-wool, and sold in the usual way at 50c.

At 35c the yard. Silk mixed Fancy Cheviot that would be considered cheap at 50c.

At 50c the yard. Storm Serge, all-wool, in navy blue and black, that was made to sell at $1.25.

At 75c the yard. Fancy Cheviot, medium, rough, all the manufacturer had, and was surprised to see it sell for less than $1.25.

At 75c the yard. Fancy Cheviot, another make of all-wool stuff, is selling in some places at $1.25.

At 75c the yard. 40-inch French Boucle, six colors; 40-inch regular $1.25.

Sewing Machines. There is a new era in the Sewing Machine business.

It is similar to the long discussion as to whether goods should be sold as merchandise or by false systems that imposed fictitious values upon retail buyers.

The Quaker City Sewing Machines sold by us are peers of the best.

from a similar make and those of the Quaker City together.

The comparison is fair, the Machines similar, the finish fully equal.

Cabinet Case, xxx make, $90.00. Cabinet Case, Quaker City, $85.00.

Saving, $50.00. Drop Head, xxx make, $40.00. Drop Head, Quaker City, $35.00.

Saving, $50.00. Ornamented Stand, xxx make, $45.00. Ornamented Stand, Quaker City, $40.00.

Saving, $50.00. Ornamented Stand, xxx make, $45.00. Ornamented Stand, Quaker City, $40.00.

Saving, $50.00. Plain Stand, xxx make, $40.00. Plain Stand, Quaker City, $35.00.

Within a few months we have placed six hundred of these machines in this city.

Bed Blankets. The four sorts we tell of give the measure of maybe forty sorts that get no word in the papers.

We never before sold Blankets of equal quality for so little money.

At $2 the pair. Heavy, good size, 70x90 in., cotton warp Blankets, 70x90 in., strictly pure wool Blankets, 70x90 in., army, strong, slightly.

At $3 the pair. Large, 82x96 in., clean, long staple, covered wool filling on light cotton warp; weight 7 lbs.

Three Reference Books. The Book Store bristles with bargains as big.

Chambers' Encyclopaedia. Rewritten and enlarged by American and English editors, 17,500 columns of reading matter, 1,000,000 words, 3,000 illustrations, 22 two-page colored maps, 70 plain maps, 100 half-tone engravings, in handsome half leather binding, $25 the set.

The American Encyclopaedia Dictionary. Originally published in England. Now revised by American editors, particularly as to spelling and peculiarities of expression. To be completed in four volumes, in handsome half leather binding, $25 the volume.

The Wanamaker Family Atlas of the World. Accurate maps, countries and plans of cities—140 maps and plans. With useful information, maps also—101 by 15 inches. Equal to $5 Atlas—$10.00.

The editor said he thought some one would go with my story. He had covered myself with gold. When I for the pictures looked next day to see how they had done, I found that the editor had made the story with a flourish.

SHE MARRIED BOTH.

Mr. Willibrodus Trost, lawyer, of the firm of Leukemittel & Trost, was the picture of prosperity and contentment sitting in his office in the most luxuriously appointed office building in town.

Mr. Trost had not tasted a dish of corned beef and cabbage since. The odor of that barbarous mixture used to offend him to make him both sick at the stomach and sick at heart.

He had married her that fall, but Mr. Trost had never called upon them since that time.

Suddenly he threw his cigar from him and exclaimed: "Hang it, what a man! I'll have her up and call for the sole purpose of showing her that!"

His rosiest came to an abrupt stop. He started right and listened like a man transfixed to the sound of a soft, angelic voice in the other office that was ringing.

"Is this a lawyer's office?" "Yes, madam," returned Mr. Trost's partner affably. "What can we do for you?"

"I wish to get a divorce," said a voice, more sweetly still, and resembling that of the very of tears. "My husband is a wretch!"

Mr. Trost interrupted the speech, raising his voice, his voice vibrating with indignation. "Allice!" he cried as he opened the door with a rattle.

The young lady rose in astonishment at the figure before her. "Allice!" he cried as he opened the door with a rattle.

"What has he been doing to you, Allice?" cried Mr. Trost, holding her hand and looking as vindictive as a Cardinal.

"He has been deserting me," she said. "What harmless looking, moon-faced fellow!"

"What a horrid, despicable scoundrel!" returned Mr. Trost, with appropriate fast.

And then, while Mr. Trost listened and held her hand, she poured forth a tale of such heartrending cruelty that he wept also.

"Did you ever hear anything like it, Wilber?" she asked appealingly, contracting his name as she used to do when he had pleased her.

Mr. Trost replied with an impulsive exclamation and an unexpected look.

"But I am Mrs. Messerschmidt!" she exclaimed in demure alarm, drawing from him.

"What a girl!" said Mr. Trost soberly. "The disability will have to be removed before a prior courtship can be reinstated—ahem! by the way, Allice, have you seen my lawyer?"

"I don't look as palatable as the old one, Wilber," she said, laughing and drying her tears.

"But it isn't nearly as embarrassing," he returned. "Your petition for absolute divorce shall be prepared upon me without attorney—for I wouldn't touch a cent of his obnoxious money, confound him!"

"Just as you say, Wilber," she said, resignedly, dropping her eyes, with a blush.

And Mr. Trost's partner in the outer office took his eyes from the keyhole and observed contentedly:

"Business is booming!"—Julius Weidman in Pittsburg Dispatch.

APPER MAKING LORE.

EGYPTIANS WERE FIRST TO DISCOVER THE GREAT ART.

From Verbal Message Brought to Inscriptions Upon Stones and Then Upon Metals. Making Egyptian Paper—The Invention of the Chinese.

In all ages people have been compelled to communicate with each other. At a very early period they began to use some material on which to inscribe any information which they wished to convey to others.

Secrets had often to be transmitted, and it was necessary to have some material on which to inscribe signs which could be understood at a distance.

As people grew more civilized, a demand arose for a material on which to inscribe signs which could be understood at a distance.

Stones were probably the earliest form of writing material. Even at the present day in many parts of the world stones are found bearing inscriptions.

It would seem that among the earliest records of mankind were the inscriptions on stones. These were generally engraved upon stone, as being the more likely to be permanent.

The same feeling may be traced in the present day, when records of public buildings and monuments.

Stones not being convenient for the inscribing of letters, men naturally turned to other materials intended to outlast decay, other materials were tried. Lead, brass and iron were all used as materials on which to inscribe signs which could be understood at a distance.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Complete returns received up to midnight from all but a dozen of the sixty-seven counties in this state give a plurality of 23,378, a gain of 10,631 over 1892, when Harrison's plurality was 63,747. The counties in which the count has not yet been completed may add 2,000 or 3,000 to Harrison's plurality. The vote was Democratic in all but four counties, while the Republicans gained in every county, ranging from 36 votes in Wyoming to 62,380 in Philadelphia.

The Republicans have elected twenty-eight of the thirty congresses in this state. Retman, dem., is elected in the Ninth district by less than 2,000 majority. The result in the Eighth district is yet in doubt. The vote in Philadelphia and official returns from Del., has defeated Kirkpatrick, rep., by a very small majority.

Bellefonte, Pa., Nov. 7.—General Hastings has been receiving messages of congratulation from all quarters while resting quietly at home, and he is much pleased with his handsome majority in the state, especially in his own town and county. He will remain here for ten days, resting from the labors of the campaign, and then will go to Philadelphia to prepare his business, so as to be able to start time promptly to his office. A large number of his friends will accompany him.

Pennsylvania Majority.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Complete returns received up to midnight from all but a dozen of the sixty-seven counties in this state give a plurality of 23,378, a gain of 10,631 over 1892, when Harrison's plurality was 63,747. The counties in which the count has not yet been completed may add 2,000 or 3,000 to Harrison's plurality. The vote was Democratic in all but four counties, while the Republicans gained in every county, ranging from 36 votes in Wyoming to 62,380 in Philadelphia.

Chairman Babcock's Claims of Republican Gains.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Chairman Babcock of the Republican congressional committee today issued a statement claiming a Republican gain of 230 seats in the next Congress.

He said that the Republican majority in the House of Representatives would be 230 to 106, a gain of 10 seats over the present majority.

He also stated that the Republican majority in the Senate would be 52 to 44, a gain of 8 seats over the present majority.

Stevenson Gives a Reason.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—Hon. Adlai Stevenson, vice president, sent today a quiet note in the election of the Hon. John H. Stevenson, rep., to the House of Representatives.

Stevenson said that he was not a candidate for the position, but that he was glad to see Stevenson elected.

Another great battle has been decided by the American people. Just what political question, however, has been decided, is difficult to figure out. Certainly not the tariff question.

In 1890, after the enactment of the McKinley law, when the country was prosperous, business was in a flourishing condition, the people passed a vote of censure upon the republican party for its conduct. In 1892 the people followed up that censure by sweeping the party from power and inviting the democratic party to take charge of affairs, upon the issue of Tariff Reform and the universal belief in the honesty, sincerity and the accepted ability of Grover-Cleveland.

Upon his accession to power Mr. Cleveland began at once the work which he had promised. The task was to restore to the country the lost confidence in the republican party.

So great was the crisis that Mr. Cleveland was compelled to call Congress in extra session to repeal the Sherman Silver Bill. Many became impatient at the conduct of the Senate in delaying action in the matter for months and months, while the country was in dire straits.

Finally a proper measure was passed and confidence in the currency was restored. Then came the struggle for a revision of the tariff. The House of Representatives, with promptness and decision, passed a bill known as the Wilson Bill, furnishing all the relief promised, and sent it to the Senate the first day of February, 1894. This bill, the Senate wrangled over seven months, and the people were clamoring for relief. We all know the history of that struggle.

The people last Tuesday showed what they thought of it. Had the bill passed six months earlier than it did there is every reason to believe that the result would have been different.

The vote cannot be construed to mean that the country repudiates Tariff Reform, because, practically, there has as yet been no tariff reform; that is, we have as yet seen no effect of it. The country will vote on Tariff Reform in 1896, after it has given it a trial, just as it did on McKinleyism in 1892, after three years' trial.

The results in some of the States are the outcome of local difficulties. This is especially true of New York, where the party organization committed the unpardonable blunder of placing Senator Hill at the head of the ticket, when it was so well known that he was obnoxious to a great body of voters. It was a literal defiance of half of the people whose votes were necessary for the success of the ticket. Then there was a firm determination on all sides in the city of New York to crush Tammany at any expense. The party could not have nominated a weaker candidate than Senator Hill, not even excepting the no-name man.

The Democrats were the republicans remained that they could purchase a United States Senatorship cheaper than anywhere else. It was worth an effort, desperate as it seemed. They fought, they fought, they won.

No one doubts that the conduct of Maryland's Senators did much to produce the results in this State.

Notwithstanding the fact that the congressional conventions on the Western Shore condemned their action on the tariff question, yet there was apprehension on account of the personal relations existing between the nominees and the Senators, especially in the Second, Third and Fifth Districts. Our candidates on the Eastern Shore succeeded in overcoming this in a great measure, in the campaign, by pronounced positions. They impressed the people with their earnestness and sincerity in the matter of Tariff Reform.

In New Jersey, conditions similar to those in Maryland existed. Her senators were at variance with her people.

The vote cannot be looked upon as a condemnation of Tariff Reform, but a vote of censure upon the Senate for its criminal delay of seven months.

It is to be hoped that when Congress convenes in December it will not act promptly on the supplemental bill left, especially, the free Sugar Bill. No party that makes a difference of two cents a pound in sugar, and the consumer can long retain control of this government.

The Eastern Ledger was twenty years old Thursday. The Ledger ranks with the foremost of its kind, and deserves all the popularity it enjoys.

Director Miller, of the Maryland Experiment Station, reports the experiment of feeding birds in four separate lots. To one he fed ground corn, one ground rye, another ground wheat, and another mixed ground wheat and ground rye. He found the best result from feeding ground wheat. In view of the low price of wheat and the proportionate higher price of corn, it is important information for the farmers, nearly all of whom are now feeding and fattening

Enforcing the Game Law.

The first conviction under the new game law secured last Monday in Queen Anne's County, was that of Albert E. Edwards and Lewis Bradley for coon hunting on his land without permission.

Judge Turpin fined the Messrs. Bradley five dollars each, which was paid. Mr. Taylor then made application to the Law Protective Association for the reward offered, $10, which will be paid.

The Wicomico Game Protective Association are making every effort to protect our game against illegal hunters. Mr. W. B. Miller, Secretary of the Association, has secured the co-operation of all the transportation companies operating in the county to carry out section 7 of chapter 81 laws of 1894, which makes it unlawful to ship game out of the county for sale.

Following is the correspondence from the various companies.

YORK, Pa., Nov. 2, 1894. Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your favor of Oct. 20, enclosing a copy of the Constitution of the Wicomico Game Protective Association. I thank you very much for your attention to the law regarding the transportation of game and I will be pleased to co-operate with you in the work. I will notify our agents in Wicomico and Worcester counties not to accept any packages of quail, for shipment to points beyond the limits of Wicomico and Worcester counties.

Yours truly, Geo. C. Hilor, Asst. Sup't.

Also the following from Mr. R. B. Cook, general passenger agent of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad:

NORFOLK, Nov. 2, 1894. Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your circular letter Oct. 20, enclosing Constitution of the Wicomico Game Protective Association, etc. I will give you pleasure to assist in the enforcement of the law, relative to the protection of game, and I would be glad if you will send me about twenty-five copies of your Constitution, which I will issue in advance and encourage laws in carrying out its purposes. Very truly,

R. B. COOK, G. A.

Also the following from Mr. A. J. Benjamin, superintendent of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore railroad:

SALISBURY, Md., Oct. 31, 1894. Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 30th, last, duly received, and beg to advise that we will gladly give all the assistance in our power to help your Association in carrying out and enforcing laws passed by the legislature in this interest.

We have sent copy of Section 7 and penalty to each of our Agents in Wicomico and Worcester counties, and instructed them, that they must look out for themselves and allow any shipments to be made from their Stations of quail or quail, and if so, they will be held to personal responsibility as to the law in the matter. Yours truly,

A. J. BENJAMIN, Supt.

Also the following from Mr. James E. Byrd, secretary and treasurer of the Maryland Steamboat Company:

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31, 1894. Dear Sir:—I have your letter of yesterday and it will give me pleasure to do what I can to carry out the very laudable efforts of your Association for the preservation of wild game in your county. Very truly,

JAMES E. BYRD, Sec. & Treas.

Severe Headache Cured.

"Formerly it would seem natural for me to have a headache after dinner every day and I would not be able to do any more work. I would have to lie down and could only lie awake and moan. I tried all kinds of stimulants, but they did me no good. I would feel better for a little while but then it would be as bad as before. My husband who always used Hood's Pills told me to try them. I took three of them before going to bed and the next day was bright and happy, and I can say they are the only thing that cured me of a severe headache. I think Hood's Pills is the best medicine in the world. We have covered all kinds of ailments, and would not be without it." Mrs. Mary Bricker, 636 N. Central Ave., Baltimore, Md.

Deaths of Snakes.

A snake story comes from Kingston as follows: "About one year ago the wife of John Atkinson, a colored man living in the town of Kingston, put a china egg in a hen's nest for a nest egg. In a few days the egg disappeared. Last week one of the Hayman boys killed a large snake in Kingston Swamp, and noticing a big lump in the snake, cut it open, and out rolled the china egg, which had been missing for over a year."—Crisfield Times

Summer School.

For those wishing employment, the months of June and July are the most desirable of the whole year to enter Palm's Business College, 1708 10th Street, N. Philadelphia, as they will graduate in the Fall when business is at its best and situations the most plentiful. Palm's College gives a complete business education at the minimum of cost and time, and assists its graduates in securing situations. Handsome circulars can be had for the asking.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Welshon, Florida, says he cured a case in diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by R. K. Trout & Sons, Droghda, Ireland.

Diagnoses in the Mezzos.

Professor Berthelot has pointed out that in the writings of Aristotle there is mention of a metallic residue which fell in Egeon in central Asia, in the eighth century which could neither be burned nor worked up into arms or tools. One of the blocks of native iron found at Oyat in Greenland, in 1870, is so hard that it can neither be scratched nor cut, and Professor Nordenskiöld suggests that it may be due to the presence of black diamonds disseminated through the iron.

HYATTVILLE, Nov. 6.—Plagman Sabrey, stationed at Centerville, Prince George's county, was killed by a passing train leaving Washington at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The occurrence happened at Branchville on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Both legs were cut off and the body horribly mangled. Sabrey was returning from a freight train in charge of conductor Chapman, and stopped off this train at Branchville in front of the station and was instantly killed. He was returning from visiting his wife at Centerville. He had been employed by the B. & O. R. R. for several years.

MATTERS IN MARYLAND.

LA PLATA, Nov. 2.—Dr. Congressman Sidney E. Mudd is dangerously ill at his home near Hyattsville. Dr. Hammond, of Washington, has been at his bedside for two days.

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—The trustees of the Anne Arundel county almshouse say the institution is in no good condition as it has been for years. They express surprise at the report of its condition made by the recent board of directors.

UPPER MERRITT, Nov. 2.—Ann H. Tucker, who was last week convicted for the murder of a boy by a condition, was today sentenced to the Maryland penitentiary for nine years and six months. The motion for a new trial was withdrawn.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 2.—The boys who were prominently connected with the raising of Edward Goddard, son of Mr. Edwin Goddard, of the executive department, Annapolis, at the Maryland Agricultural College on Tuesday night, have been expelled from the institution.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—Edward J. Clark and Joseph W. Britton, prominent lawyers, this morning were each sentenced Both Houses of Congress will be Republican After March 4th, 1895.

MARYLAND GOES REPUBLICAN AND ELECTS THREE CONGRESSMEN. COWEN, THE TARIFF REFORMER, ELECTED.

WICOMICO OFFICIAL RETURNS.

Table with columns: District, Total, Rep., Dem., Pro., and other categories. Lists districts like Barton Creek, Quantico, Tyaskin, etc.

GENERAL RESULTS. The people of the country have again registered their will at the ballot box. The result has been a great surprise to many.

The vote in Wicomico was much smaller than usual. The majority for the democratic ticket in percentage of the majority party is rather smaller than usual, and some 200 votes short of the usual majority.

The state loses three of the six congressmen, having elected in the First, Third and Fourth Districts, and lost in the Second, Fifth and Sixth Districts.

Delaware has gone Republican for the first time in many years, a living legend turned down Tammany by a landslide.

The charge is as base a slander against the people of Somerset as was ever uttered, even in certain wild talk, in which the Republican candidate for Congress indulged before the election.

The vote in the First Congressional District by counties is as follows: Worcester, Somerset, Wicomico, Dorchester, Talbot, Queen Anne's, Kent, Sussex, and other counties.

THE NEXT CONGRESS. The table below shows the relative strength of the democrats, republicans and populists in the next House of Representatives, as indicated by the election returns.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. Randolph Humphreys is visiting his sister in North Carolina. Judge Lloyd has recently moved into his handsome new residence in Cambridge.

A COLOSSAL & UNPRECEDENTED SALE

There is nothing wrong about this business. We are not overladen.

Are not cramped by unwise manufacturing. Always altering and rebuilding, but never affect prices thereby.

Over Four Million Dollars of Fresh Merchandise.

selected wholly for Philadelphia retail.

So new that half the amount of stock was received in the sixty-one days of October and September—almost all the foreign stocks arriving since the new tariff.

Great quantities of spot cash things bought from domestic manufacturers, crippled by tariff shifting.

We are steady going merchants, going along a straight road day by day, drawing in every lot of good merchandise as low as cash will take it and putting it out as fast as we can by low and fair prices on everything to everybody alike, in order to keep a running stream of fresh, bright, new things—always so greatly to our customers' advantage.

Long ago we got through with narrowing ourselves by manufacturing, preferring to give to our customers the choice of a hundred sets of brains rather than to confine to one. We might just as well attempt to make Silks or Dress Goods as to make Cloaks.

Nearly five years ago we dropped wholesaling, not caring to force on our retail customers what had been selected to sell by the box to western trade.

Anything can be put on customers by eager salesmen, paid special premiums for pushing off old or badly selected or surplus stocks.

We have nothing to do with manufacturing, wholesaling or salesmen's extras.

We keep close to our customers' interest, protecting them at every point because if, for no other reason, it is to our business advantage to do so.

By steady sales (far the largest at retail in the United States) we are compelled to replenish daily and systematically and thus we maintain a constantly fresh, new, complete stock.

It is possible for a store to outlive its value to a community—by its conceits, its ruts, its independence, its assumptions—but this store is only a child learning how to do its work.

The present season has overwhelmed us, especially in our Carpet Furniture departments and work rooms, which have been too small to get our work through promptly. We have pulled out of the downpour and do not expect to be overborne again, however great the business comes to be.

We have no idea of running off or running down our stocks.

We have no object to gain thereby, but on the contrary, our stocks must all be kept up to the full and kept fresh by a perpetual inflow of the latest productions.

THIS STORE IS MORE THAN A STORE, it is an educator. The store has certainly been the step-mother to a new order of relating which we are glad to see adopted in some part or another by business men all over the world.

There are still new ideas left which are appearing from time to time in our business. While our stocks in the main are different from the ordinary, and we have many articles and makes of goods not found in other stores, we assure protection to all buyers on everything sold under our roof.

By no possibility shall any person buying of us have it to say that he paid more than the same quality is sold for elsewhere, but, on the contrary, as often as possible the people shall buy here for less than anywhere else.

By a combination of circumstances this Autumn and Winter Sale will exceed in interest anything that we have ever done. It grows out of recent purchases of sacrificed manufacturers. Recent purchases of over importers.

Let the news spread far and wide and let customers show their purchases to their neighbors and let everybody look over our house, whether they think of buying or not.

JOHN WANAMAKER.

MY BROWN ROSE

Oh, my Rose! Oh, my Rose! Oh, my Rose!

But she lives in a castle, and she is rich and noble, and she is the daughter of a king.

And she is so beautiful, and she is so kind, and she is so true, and she is so brave.

And she is so brave, and she is so true, and she is so kind, and she is so beautiful.

And she is so beautiful, and she is so kind, and she is so true, and she is so brave.

And she is so brave, and she is so true, and she is so kind, and she is so beautiful.

HOW SHE WAS CURED

Working throughout the year among the vines, he had acquired the wine color of an ox.

She laughed and bled her hand over her brow as if to banish some important dream, and then as her dim eyes opened was stepped to see the good face and smiling lips of Paolo Laurent and to hear the worthy man say:

"I have come, Rosetta, to give your parents hope. They are connected with several physicians' comprehend nothing of what ails you. I therefore have taken the liberty of sending to Paris for a doctor, a young man who is well known and who is worth a guinea."

He was not able to say more just then—the words died in his throat—but, thrusting forward his hand, he said:

"Come, doctor, take her again—cure her!"

Rosetta lifted her same eyes to the doctor and Paolo Laurent, the son of a rich dealer in Ligny. The brown hair, large dark eyes, regular profile and caressing voice of Paolo had produced upon Rosetta an ineffable impression.

His gentle and affable manners contrasted especially with the roughness of the youths of Revery. Having received from Rosetta an ineffable impression, he was not slow in listening to him.

On the evening of the festival this town of Ligny, he had seen her, and he had voluntarily in the crowd, returned to Revery on Paolo's arm. They were at least two hours on the way, walking, talking, and laughing from time to time to pause when the wind blew too strongly beneath the great poplars which lined the avenue. They arrived at the village, which was deserted, and under the field of arms studied with stars exchanged their first kiss.

Very frequently after this Rosetta had met Paolo. Then his father had sent him to Paris to study medicine, and the young man, exchanging views of mutual fealty, sadly separated, and this was why Rosetta had not seen him since.

For the first months after his departure he wrote regularly to Rosetta. Then the letters became more rare, with intervals of a month. Gradually they ceased to come, and Rosetta, in haste at the corner of a table in a cafe and in the street, grew growingly indifferent. At last they ceased entirely. Paolo had forgotten her.

It was an old story. At first Paolo had refused to take part in the diversions of his fellow students, the balls and brewery meetings. Then they teased him and accused him of having left a love in the country. This made him angry, but, being fond of pleasure, he soon decided to take his part in the play.

"After all," he said to himself, "they have reason to expect. Why quarrel with pleasure? Leave sadness to the gray beards and profit by the present."

"But Rosetta?" his conscience murmured.

"Bah!" he thought. "She will console herself. Let her go. Perhaps she has already forgotten me. 'Lovers' oaths are like the wind, they are blown away, and why should I care?"

On the contrary, as not to be consoled, Paolo had suffered terribly at this abandonment and many times turned his mournful eyes toward Paris.

"Boys," said the captain, "I have not been to a Gamma Beta dinner for 40 years. The last time I went I was a boy in college. As I look around me I am glad I am not the first Gamma Beta here. I feel as young as any freshman. But I am here tonight to tell you a story, and if you have patience to hear me I may as well begin. Remember, we old ones are garrulous at times and stop me when you have had enough."

"This audience was all attention, and the captain lighted a fresh cigar, blew out a puff of smoke and began.

"I was the first freshman man to plant cotton in Arkansas after the war. The first year I planted it was in 1864, but there was plenty of lawless secessionism about, and a northern life and property were none too safe. Before I had been long at my plantation I got a notice from some of my planting friends that I must stop operations or leave the district if I was to save my life. In short, they gave me to understand that if they caught me there they would string me up to the next tree as sure as my name was on the ground. Now, I didn't intend to stop planting, and I didn't intend to be hanged, so I went ahead and told them they could hang me—if they could catch me."

"About a month after that I was riding across country one afternoon to get a little business done in the nearest town. As I entered a lonely piece of road, a dozen men jumped out of the woods, pointed their guns at my head and ordered me to halt and surrender. I saw I could do nothing but surrender at discretion, so I came down from my horse and was marched off in silence. In a few minutes we were all lined up, and that deeper into the woods and kept on until we came to a little clearing. One of my friends brought out a rope, along one end of it the lead of a mule, and you can't appreciate the state of my feelings at that time. I felt pretty serious and thought my life had run out for good. But a man coming to life at such time, and all at once I had a happy thought. I remembered that I had a package of excellent cigars in my pocket, and I drew out a few. 'Gentlemen,' I said, 'with as much coolness as I could muster, I know that I have but a few minutes more to live. I want to ask you favor. Give me time to smoke out a cigar before you swing me into eternity. Will you join me?' They found them most excellent."

"My captors finally assented, and we lighted our 'weeds' together. No one said a word. Well, boys, I made that cigar hold out for me. I was sure it would burn. Little by little the men began to get longer and drop off until there was just to reach left. And the captain held up his smoking pipe, measuring its small remainder critically by his finger.

"Well," thought I to myself, 'there goes for a few more puffs anyway,' and I was just getting the very last of them when we heard a horse coming through the trees. A man leading a mule, who seemed to be a sort of commander of the company. 'Hello, boys!' he called out, 'who've you got here?' 'We've got Roberts, and we're going to hang him,' said they. 'All right,' said the officer and came over to have a look at me.

"I found on my watch chain this little badge here," said the captain, 'and I think it is a very good one. It says, 'I have a horse and a mule, and I am a good man.' Well, boys, I have a horse and a mule, and I am a good man. My coat was open, and as the sun
