A REMARKABLE JUNE.

Coldest On Record. Beginning in Drouth, Followed By An Excess of Rain And Cloudiness. Three Clear Days.

The mercury during the last two days has been registering almost torrid and the sudden rise has been attended with most depressing effects, particularly in the larger cities. Yesterday the temperature registered close to 100 in local thermometers.

July comes in with hot blasts, evidently determined to make up for lack of heat during June. The past 30 days marked the coldest June on record, there being a total deficiency of 189 degrees from the average of 83 years. This means that every day in June was nearly 6 1/3 degrees colder than the average. The mean temperature for the month was only 67 2/3 degrees, while the next lowest mean for any June on record was 73 degrees.

Along with this surfeit of coolness there was an excess of rain during the June just ended, but it was by no means the wettest June on record. This month belongs to June 1883, during the 30 days of which just 8.08 inches of rain fell. There have been four other Junes during which more rain fell than during the past 30 days. The total amount of rainfall during this past June was 5.05 inches, which is just a fraction under 1 inch above the normal for the month.

There was, however, more cloudiness during the past month than is usual, the month, in fact, establishing a new record in this respect. There were just three clear days out of the 30, while there were 16 cloudy days and 11 partly cloudy days. On 14 days more or less rain fell, and on 9 other days there was a trace of rain. The highest temperature during the month was 88 degrees Tuesday, and the lowest was 83 degrees on June 13.

According to the weekly crop bulletin issued by the Maryland State Weather Service, all crops are in need of warmth and sunshine in order that harvesting operations may be carried on with success. The cool and wet weather of June was very unfavorable. According to the bulletin, the wheat harvest has been delayed by repeated showers, and very little advantage could be made of the dry intervals on account of the soil being too soft for the reapers to run. In the southern and southeastern counties, however, most of the crop has been saved, and some has been threshed, with light yields of an inferior quality of grain. In the northern-central counties the crop is not generally in need of special attention, though some good fields are found scattered throughout the entire district.

Of fruit the bulletin says: "Cherries have given very light yields. Peaches and plums are generally short in prospect, while peaches are somewhat more promising in some localities. As a rule, apples promise fair to good yields. Early apples and peaches are just beginning to turn in color in the southern counties." In reference to garden products the bulletin, in part, says: "The early potato crop is being up in the south and southeast, where poor to fair yields have been obtained; generally throughout the interior and western counties the patches promise well. Sweet potato vines look well in all districts. Peas are being picked in Garrett county, where a good crop is reported."

SUMMER COLDS Produce Chronic Catarrh.

Madame Isabella Ellen Baynes, Life Governor Grand Lodge of Free Masons of England, in a letter from Hotel Sarratoga, Chicago, Ill., says:

"This summer while traveling I contracted a most persistent and annoying cold. My head ached, my eyes and nose seemed constantly running, my lungs were sore and I lost my appetite, health and good spirits. Doctors prescribed for me all manner of pills and powders, but all to no purpose."

"I advised with a druggist and he spoke so highly of a medicine called Peruna, that he induced me to try my first bottle of patent medicine. However, it proved such a help to me that I soon purchased another bottle and kept on until I was entirely well."

Madame Isabella Ellen Baynes. Summer colds require prompt treatment. They are always grave, and sometimes dangerous. The promptness and surety with which Peruna acts in these cases has saved many lives. A large dose of Peruna should be taken at the first appearance of a cold in summer, followed by small and oft-repeated doses. There is no other remedy that medical science can furnish, so reliable and quick in its action as Peruna. Address: The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio, for a free book entitled "Summer Catarrh," which treats of the catarrhal diseases peculiar to summer.

TEACHERS OF MARYLAND

Meet At Ocean City Three Days of This Week. Gov. Smith and Hon. Edwin Warfield Make Addresses. Examiners Bounded, of Wicomico, Elected President

The thirty-sixth annual convention of the State Teachers' Association, which has been in a session at the Casino Ocean City, since Monday evening, was concluded Thursday night after the election of officers, who are: President—H. Crawford Bounds, Wicomico county; First Vice-President—L. D. Rohrer, Allegany county; Second Vice-President—Miss Minnie Murphy, Howard county; Recording Secretary—A. G. Harley, Rockville; Corresponding Secretary—Miss Susan Brumbaugh, St. Mary's county; Treasurer—John E. McCahan, Baltimore.

Executive Committee—Arthur F. Smith, Allegany county; J. Newton Wicks, Baltimore; Irving L. Twilley, Annapolis; J. W. Cain, Chestertown; Miss Edna Marsh, Calvert county. Resolutions were passed endorsing the suggestion of A. C. Willison in his address on Tuesday, namely that the teaching force of the State organize to secure the passage of a law providing for a minimum salary for teachers and approving of recommendations made by State Superintendent Stephens in his address on school legislation.

About 100 members of the association will attend the meeting of the National Educational Association in Boston next week. The association enjoyed the privilege of having as its guests of honor during its meeting both the Governor of the State and a leading aspirant to succeed him—the Hon. Edwin Warfield, Governor Smith came down from Snow Hill Tuesday morning and made one of the principal addresses at Tuesday's session of the convention. He attended the meeting of the State Board of Education afterward, and remained over at the Atlantic until Wednesday, when he went back to his home. Governor Smith's strong address Tuesday was received with enthusiasm, and on every side were to be heard expressions of appreciation from the teaching staff, because of his recognition of the worth of the teachers and his attitude on matters connected with the educational interests of the State.

Hon. Edwin Warfield came down from Baltimore on the late train Tuesday night and was a central figure at Wednesday morning's session. He was called on for an address, which he delivered with grace and telling effect. At the conclusion he was made an honorary member of the association. HON. EDWIN WARFIELD. A feature of Wednesday morning's session was the reception given Mr. Edwin Warfield, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Warfield, who was also a teacher himself and who is once a member of the Teachers' Association, was called on by President Joseph Blair to address the convention on "Experiences of the Past."

"Half of you were not born when I taught," said Mr. Warfield, "but I wish time would roll back again to that happy time of long ago. I read your my commission to teach the young, which I received in 1868." In this commission Mr. Warfield was spoken of as "Eddie" Warfield and permission granted him to teach for 18 months. Continuing, Mr. Warfield said:

MR. WARFIELD'S EXPERIENCES. "My school was situated on the edge of a forest in a large sedge field, which made a very good play ground. I began teaching in 1867 and taught one year on a permit. In 1868 I received my first commission, my second in 1870 and third in 1872. In the early fall I had only the smaller children to teach, but later in the winter the older children came. I often show my children a man who studied under me for a whole year without learning his letters. Let me give you a piece of advice. Never work out a problem for a scholar before him. Take it home and if you cannot do it yourself get some one else to do it, then call him up the next day and work it out before him. Otherwise he is sure to catch you. By following the above rule I got a great reputation as a mathematician.

MAGNIFICENT WORK BEING DONE. "I am not going to tell you what magnificent work you are doing, but I want to say that I am anxious for Maryland to take a leading part in educational work. All positions of honor in our educational system, such as county school examiners and their assistants and secretaries, should be filled from the ranks of the teachers. Unless an opportunity to advance is given we cannot expect to find a proper spirit in the teachers. Even the women should be appointed to these positions. I was greatly surprised to learn from your superintendent, Dr. M. Bates Stephens, that your average pay is less today than in 1867. If this keeps up we will have to go back to the old method of 'board ing round.' In some counties in Pennsylvania the school teacher gets $4 less than is allowed for the support of a pauper. I hope there will be a change in the State of Maryland, and that the Legislature will grant what you wish."

EDUCATIONAL FRATERNITY

Of Wicomico Take An Important Part in The Teachers' Program At Ocean City, and Return With Distinguished Honors.

With the advent of the Maryland teachers in attendance upon the thirty-sixth annual session of the State Teachers' Association at Ocean City this week, this city by the sea waked into life and put on its wonted air of summer gaiety; and as if in recognition of the warmth of heart and the earnestness of endeavor required of the noble devotees of the teaching profession, the ragged, raw, and reckless weather which has characterized the month of June changed to balmy breezes and cheerful sunshine.

This session of the Association was pronounced by many the most pleasant and profitable ever held. The attendance was the largest in the history of the Association. Allegany, with a delegation of twenty-seven headed by Mr. A. C. Willison, President of the Board of School Commissioners was the banner county. A good representation was present from Wicomico and our teachers report a delightful visit.

Three short sessions with ample time for recreation were held daily, the evening session being given up to entertainment. The first session was held Monday evening. Prof. John I. Coulbourn, Principal of the Snow Hill High School, delivered the address of welcome, an able address well received, to which response was made by Mr. J. Newton Wicks of Baltimore. President Blair then read the annual address of the president. Reports from the various standing committees took the form largely of illustrative work and discussions by various teachers.

The Association had the honor of being addressed by His Excellency, Gov. John Walter Smith, who made a splendid address eulogizing the teachers' work, and recording himself as decidedly in favor of increasing salaries. Hon. Edw. Warfield, who is a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket, reached Ocean City Tuesday night, and by invitation addressed the teachers Wednesday morning. Mr. Warfield recited his experiences as a teacher, spoke of the advanced work now being done in this state, and also made a strong plea for adequate pay for a fearfully underpaid body of workers. State Superintendent M. Bates Stephens, read the report of the committee on legislation, administration, and supervision, of which he was chairman. This report was pronounced the best discussion of matters pertaining to the work of this committee ever given.

Mr. A. C. Willison, chairman of the committee of seven on organization of teachers for their mutual advantage, of which Mr. W. J. Holloway of Salisbury is a member, in his report of the work of that committee made an excellent address, urging the teachers to stand up for their rights, and to work together to secure the nomination of men for the legislature who will vote for what is now recognized as a necessity in this State—a uniform school year throughout the state, a minimum salary for teachers paid by the State, and remuneration for their services commensurate with the importance and exactness of their labors. Teachers should demand at least as much pay as an ordinary day laborer receives.

As a part of the report of the committee on natural science, Prof. P. O'Rourke exhibited specimens of rock formations and fossils of Allegany county, and Principal Holloway of the Salisbury High School discussed the importance of science teaching in all the grades, and gave practical illustrations with apparatus from the High School laboratory of the possibilities of the subject.

The report of the committee on Aesthetics, Prof. W. S. Crouse, chairman, included several lantern views, with the use of the Salisbury High School lantern, of school houses and interior decorations. This was an interesting feature of the report, and Prof. Crouse expressed the hope that more schools would furnish slides next year.

One of the most instructive and interesting features of the meeting was the exhibit of manual training and drawing from various schools of the state. Again Salisbury came to the front with a display of work in crayon and water colors, wood-work, plain and decorated, which elicited much praise, being declared by many the leading exhibit of the Association. Wicomico was honored with some of the most important offices in the gift of the Association. Mr. H. Crawford Bounds, Superintendent of the Wicomico schools, was unanimously elected President, in recognition of his faithful and unflinching efforts as chairman of the executive committee to further the interests of the Association; Mr. W. J. Holloway was appointed Chairman of the committee on Natural Science; and Miss Ada Louise Scott of the Salisbury schools was made a member of the committee on Geography.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Union Meeting For Explaining The Work To Be Held In The Presbyterian Church Monday Evening July 6th at 8 O'clock.

The Executive Committee of the Maryland Division Y. M. C. A. realizing the great need of extending this work in this part of the State, have employed two young college men, Messrs. L. B. Smith and E. F. Hitch, of Washington College, as special secretaries to introduce the Associations work in the cities and towns of the Eastern Shore.

These young men will begin their work in our city next Monday, July 6th. A union meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church at 8 P. M. At this meeting a general outline of the Y. M. C. A. work will be given by the secretaries, after which the reorganization of a branch of the Association for Salisbury will be discussed.

It is the purpose at this time not to open rooms or to raise money for a building, but to lay a firm foundation on which finally to establish a permanent organization, which will be of inestimable value to the young men and boys of our city, socially, physically, intellectually and spiritually.

The plan that they are undertaking has proved to be very successful in Cambridge, where a strong Y. M. C. A. has been organized with the following men constituting the Board of Directors: Dr. B. W. Goldsborough, Pres. Mr. L. K. Warren, Vice-Pres. Mr. J. Frank Bowen, Jr. Sec'y. Mr. Phillip Googhan, Treas. Mr. Edgar B. Simmons, Mr. Thos. Maguire, Dr. Chas. M. Hanby, Mr. W. Irvin Bowdler, Mr. A. Of The Eastern District in Session at Eastern. Work of Anti-Saloon Association Endorsed.

The annual convention of the Eastern District Baptist Association, comprising the Eastern Shore of Maryland and five of the Baptist churches of Baltimore city, viz., Second, Fourth, Grace, Immanuel and German Baptist, was called to order in the First Baptist Church of Eastern at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning by Rev. D. M. Lennox, of Salisbury, moderator of the association. The secretary is Mr. John A. Sims, of Baltimore. Delegates from all the churches responded to their names and handed in their reports.

Edward Ross, of Pocomoke City was elected moderator and Mr. John W. Sims, of Baltimore, secretary and treasurer for the third successive time. The reports of the different churches showing the number of Sunday School scholars and the amount of money contributed for the various church benevolences were read.

The Anti-Saloon Association and its work was endorsed by a rising vote. The afternoon session was devoted to the Baptist Young People's Union and was addressed by Rev. W. N. Parker, of East New Market. After the meeting the convention was entertained by the Young People's Union of the Eastern Church and invited to a reception at the residence of Col. A. B. Hardcastle.

The association sermon was preached at 8 P. M. to a crowded congregation by Rev. Curtis Lee Laws, of Baltimore.

Out On The Deep.

Shrouded in mist, enveloped in fog, without water, food, but scant raiment, minus anchor and with only a five-foot pole to tie to, or steer with, was the sad plight of the party belonging to the launch Sarah Chaney that left Hager landing wharf Friday afternoon.

Capt. Tom Franklin, Commodore Ned Williams, Pilot Henry Mitchell, first and second mates Keas and Henry, also two of our most noted and celebrated engineers, Peters and Baker, composed the crew, who started down the old Synepzext with the brightest prospects, leaving engagements which were expected to be filled that evening, but alas such was not to be.

The little piece of machinery that worked so very beautifully and took them over the water so gracefully, as Pilot Mitchell said after giving his orders for a much faster stroke: "Boys, by George she is doing the sick thing and cutting the water like a cyclone." The pleasure though was only of short duration.

They succeeded in rounding South Point and started for North Beach, when the lighter flickered gave one little gasp and died. The Capt. at once ordered Peters the engineer to get a hustle on him but after repeated efforts of all the skill at their command it proved of no avail and the little lady launch was allowed to use her own sweet will and drift where and as she pleased.

At daybreak Saturday morning they were found on the coast of Cropper's Island, miles out of their course. After a long and continued rest of wakefulness, Capt. Franklin then got his bearings and concluded that his almost famished crew needed something for the inner man. Finding a cook he at once ordered fried chicken and waffles which he was having prepared some distance from his crew. In the meantime his engineers had not allowed themselves to remain idle and after repeated efforts at last succeeded in connecting the much desired spark.

Now was the critical moment and being too much afraid to trifle or delay farther ordered the captain at once aboard to take charge. All hands though loath to part with such a meal in prospect, I sided the righted craft up the bay and started on their return voyage.

They succeeded in reaching their respective homes for a quiet mid-day meal. A petition has already been sent to the authorities at Washington to have a high grade light house erected at some favorable place on the coast between South point and Hager landing, and we see no reason why the crew should not be accommodated irrespective of cost.

The Philadelphia Record.

"The Philadelphia Record," which recently observed its twenty-sixth anniversary as the pioneer one-cent newspaper of America, claims the largest circulation of any paper published in Pennsylvania, and its claim is without doubt a just one.

There is a vast deal of difference between conservatism and old-foginess. "The Record" is always keen, alert and up to date, and never allows itself to become hysterical. The metropolitan journals of to-day may be enterprising to the point of sensationalism, and in the existing spirit of rivalry may often overstep the bounds of decorum and good taste; but in this respect "The Philadelphia Record" is not a slinger.

It is always sane, always temperate, always satisfying. Without half the fuss and feathers of some of its contemporaries, it is not to be gainsaid. It is this authoritative confidence in itself that has wrought confidence in the general public and has been instrumental in establishing its prestige.

Let us be what "The Record" says about it, it is a remark of frequent occurrence; and what "The Record" says is generally regarded as final and incontrovertible.

The newspaper is still largely a moulder of public opinion, in spite of the theorists, and while the confidence of the public may be shaken in some phases of modern journalism, that class of which "The Philadelphia Record" is a fine type still survives, and will continue to survive for good.

We could ill afford to spare any of them, least of all "The Record." A long and prosperous life to Pennsylvania's leading newspaper.

In Memoriam.

Fred, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lowe, died at his home in this town, June 15, 1908, age 10 months 23 days.

His remains were laid to rest near Delmar, Del., on Friday, June 19. The services were conducted by Rev. Z. H. Webster.

A precious one from home is gone, A voice they loved is stilled; A place is vacant in that home Which never can be filled.

They miss him from that home so dear, They miss him from his place, A shadow o'er their lives is cast, They miss the sunshine of his face.

Farewell, dear Fred, but not forever, There will be a glorious dawn We shall meet to part, no never, On the resurrection morn.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Some Christians, who formerly shouted, no longer do so. Some never shouted. Some do not approve of it; others are never well, never in buoyant, hopeful spirits, so don't feel like it.

BELONGED TO CHARLES I.

A Watch Now Owned by the British Crown at Philadelphia. After his victory over Charles II. Oliver Cromwell wrote exultantly to England's parliament telling how the watch was taken from the hands of the king's watchmaker. There were 7,000 prisoners among the spoils of that fight. THE WOOD RAT'S INDUSTRY

Overgrown and abandoned woodlands are the source of a new industry. In the national history coming under my observation I have not seen anything concerning the wood rat. It may be that the rodent is too common, but I am inclined to believe that it is widely distributed, but is rarely observed. About two years ago I became interested in a pair of wood rats that acted upon and possessed themselves of my woodhouse for a habitation. The house is thirty feet long, and one end of it is used for a workshop, repair shop and storehouse. The other end is used mainly for storing dry kindling wood and small stove wood. The rats moved in when I was away for a period, and the pair found a good supply of dry pine sticks a foot to sixteen inches in length split from each board. These were of various widths, from one to five inches, and there were a number of heavy sticks of wood in a corner. With the industry the rats had piled the small sticks into a fairly regular pyramid, using the heavy pieces they could not move for foundation and frame, adapting their architecture to the conditions of the location with remarkable ingenuity.

Why Japs Are Small.

Recently the editor of Chouo-Koron, a journal published at Tokyo, determined to find out why the Japanese, as a rule, are of lower stature than the natives of other countries, and after spending considerable time at the task he arrived at the conclusion that the reason is because from time immemorial they have been accustomed to squat on mats in Turkish fashion instead of sitting down on chairs, as the Americans and Europeans do. The Japanese method of sitting, he says, interferes with the free circulation of the blood and naturally prevents the limbs from becoming thoroughly developed.

Out of Door Education.

We are glad to see that out of door schools are multiplying. The summer school is a late invention, but it fits itself well to our new social moods and needs. It takes us out of doors, either to leave our books behind or to make them interpreters of things. It is a happy fact that education is at last swinging about to the conviction that to fill a mind with facts is not the end of study, says the Independent. A school must concern itself not only with what a boy is getting, but what he can do with it. So the summer school takes in application as well as acquisition and undertakes to show that there is no benefit of study, certainly not one of the modern sciences, which cannot be directly applied to the great out of doors. It is teaching us to make use of the building and more of nature. Pupils are entering the conviction that the study of books is only supplementary to the study of objects. Learning is the ideal life because everything on the farm, if rightly done, is applied science. Let us become an out of doors people.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, if it is afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonials letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

AN EXTRAORDINARY JUNE. The memorial of the past June will have some of the most prominent headlines of any month in history.

Early in June the spring drouth had assumed such stupendous proportions as to threaten serious disaster to almost every kind of crop.

With this abnormal weather came great destruction by floods in several portions of the West, notably on the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers.

The greatest tragedy of the month from a world view was that of Belgrade, which brought to an end the checked lives of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

In this country the month has also its brutal tragedies, the worst among them being the murder of a young girl by a negro near Wilmington, Del.

sorts. Of course, there is another and a better side to the June picture, but its fires and cloudbursts and tornadoes, its tragedies abroad and at home, stand out so prominent as almost to hide the good deeds which form a part of this remarkable month.

Weather bureau statistics will place June on record as the coolest June in the history of the bureau; that is for about 82 years, averaging something like 6 degrees lower temperature.

OUT OF TUNE.

This is a world of melodies. Music of breaking ocean waves. Music of cataract's fall upon the rocks.

But amid the varied sounds that freight the air by day and night, as if the world were one great temple in which an anthem is unceasingly rendered, there are many discordant notes.

Nothing so distresses the delicate ear of one versed in harmony as to have his hearing pounded with jangling rhords, whether from a chorus of voices or the keys or strings or pipes of instruments.

Did you ever stop to think how much grumbling goes up into the air of earth? Take, for instance, the single subject of the weather.

This fact of finding fault with the weather is often one of habit. We begin by exalting the weather, giving it undue prominence in our thoughts, crowning it with kingship.

From being dissatisfied with the weather it is easy to step over into a worse state, that of chronic grumbling in regard to all of life.

Such persons go to church. The sermon is poor. The singing is below par. The people are unasciabic.

The great trouble with habitual grumblers is that they are themselves wrong and do not know the fact.

Regarding David simply as the rival of his throne, Saul sought David's life, Israel's king was out of tune.

Looking at Christ through prejudiced eyes, they declared that the purest man that ever lived was possessed of Satan.

This subject of being out of tune is one that needs to be carefully studied. Especially ought we to be on our guard in those times when the health is awry.

Another cause of loss of tune is the disposition with which we take the providences of life.

I once read of a widow who went West to better her condition, taking her little daughter with her.

Many persons are doing that very thing, chasing the dead-dead loved ones, dead hopes, dead fortunes, a dead past.

FRANKLIN B. ADKINS, Rector. After a delay and many discussions lasting over a period of several years, arrangements have been completed and a definite plan settled upon by the officials of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Wilmington Railroad Company for the construction of a new bridge to take the place of the Susquehanna bridge at Havre de Grace. The new bridge will be about 3,300 feet in length and will be built about 75 feet south of the present structure. It will be of a tensile strength capable of carrying any train that is now in existence, and it is to be constructed strong enough to withstand any weight that shall be run upon it for many years to come, being built according to ideas calling for stronger and stouter bridge work to stand the strain incident to heavy locomotives and trains. The draw of the old bridge is 72 feet and the new bridge will be far enough to clear the bridge as the draw is swung open. Easton is having trouble with its electric lighting system. The company which lights the town recently made a proposition to the town commissioners that if they would consent to the shutting off the lights at midnight, instead of at daybreak as heretofore, the company would make a reduction of $500 in the cost of lighting the town. The commissioners accepted and the town will now be in darkness. The action has created much dissatisfaction. There will be an all day's meeting, D. V., at Reawastic, Wednesday July 8th. I expect Elder H. Claude Ker, to be with me at that time. All invited. Also, Lord willing, I expect to fill my stated appointments at Forest Grove Saturday and Sunday, July 11th. and 12th. and Salisbury Sunday 12th. 3 p. m. A. B. FRANCIS. Letter to Alex. Murrell. Dear Sir; Everybody considers painting a necessary nuisance, and you are probably no exception. You can't abolish it altogether; but you can make it come half as often, and cost only two-thirds as much each time, and have your house look better all the time. Everybody knows that the seashore is hard on paint. The Farrington residence at Rockland, Maine, a sea-coast town, was painted with Devco seventeen years ago. The house has never been repainted, and seems to be well painted yet. If you want to take the trouble to be convinced, we can send you a hundred other instances; but none so striking as this. This is not all. Devco lead and Zinc not only wears longer, but it paints more square feet to the gallon than any other paint—especially mixed paints. It is the "Fewer gallons; wear longer" paint. F. W. Devco & Co., New York. P. S.—L. W. Gunby sells our paint.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D., Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Chicago, June 28.—In this sermon the preacher, choosing a patriotic theme for the nation's anniversary, shows some of the lessons to be drawn from the Declaration of Independence and their application to the later conditions of our own times.

When a child is born the attending physician makes out a birth certificate. This important document is sent to the freehold building where are preserved the county records.

But though the birth certificate of an individual may be vigilantly guarded it is not so carefully preserved as is the birth certificate of a nation.

The Declaration of Independence as a document is our theme today. I am going to lay down upon my pulpit desk a facsimile of this immortal paper.

The Declaration of Independence was the crystallization of sentiments the results of which but few men could foresee.

It have sent his son across the sea to be educated under the domination and influence of the English throne.

Standing here, in this year of grace 1903, with our hands upon this venerable and sacred scroll, we may learn the mighty lesson that the really true, the great, the omnipotent and enduring government is not that which rules by the force of arms.

The Declaration of Independence is an encouraging assurance that in every crisis of our country's history God, if we trust him, will always raise up the right men for the right place.

The strength of our present government is due to the fact that it tries to be just to all its people, irrespective of class.

Trust in God. I repeat, in the great crisis of national affairs God, if we only trust him, will give us the right men for the right place.

The signers pledged their fortunes as well as their lives. Had the inscription been a failure their personal properties would have been confiscated.

It is not as difficult for him to be good or great as it was for a nobody, the grandson and the great-grandson of nobodies.

Most of the members of that congress came from praying Christian homes. They assembled in the spring and summer of 1776 to take the most momentous step which the citizens of any country can take.

Nelaton's Remedy - CURES - RHEUMATISM - OR - Money Refunded.

Berlin, Md., March 9, 1908. I have used Nelaton's Rheumatic and Gout remedy for many years both upon myself for Gout and in my practice for both Gout and Rheumatism, and have found it to be all they claim for it, a sovereign remedy; have never met with a case of either Rheumatism or Gout that it did not give speedy relief, and often times cured permanently.

Record of the Past - No Stronger Evidence Can Be Produced.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Any one with a bad back, any reader suffering from any kidney ailment, will find in the following evidence proof that relief and cure is near at hand.

Mr. G. M. Myers, the well-known shoemaker of Winchester avenue and 14th street, Ashland, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are like true friends, the longer you know them the better they are appreciated. I can add nothing to the statement I first made in 1894 after I procured the remedy at the Ventura Drug Co. and took a course of the treatment, which cured me. I was absolutely free from all backache for nearly three years, then I noticed a slight ache, as the result of a cold, in my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills disposed of it. I have recommended this remedy to many, and have never heard of one who did not endorse the claims made for it."

Letter To Alex. Marcell.

Dear Sir: Everybody considers painting a necessary nuisance, and you are probably no exception. You can't abolish it altogether; but you can make it come half as often, and cost only two thirds as much each time, and have your things look better all the time.

Everybody knows that the seashore is hard on paint. The Farrington residence at Rockland, Maine, a sea coast town, was painted with Devco seventeen years ago. The house has never been repainted, and seems to be well painted yet.

If you want to take the trouble to be convinced, we can send you a hundred other instances; but none so striking as this.

This is not all. Devco lead and Zinc not only wears longer, but it paints more square feet to the gallon than any other paint—especially mixed paints. It is the "fewest gallons wears longer" paint.

Yours truly, F. W. DEVCO & Co., New York.

F. S.—L. W. Gunby tells our patent.

A new town, Jennings, recently started by the lumbering firm of Jennings Brothers, near Grantville, Garret county, has a store, hotel, railroad station and a busy sawmill. The Farmer's Wife is very careful about her churn. She scales it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it; the stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive foods are performed processes which are exactly akin to the churning of butter. In it is not apparent that if this stomach churn is "sour" it sours all which is put into it? The evil of a foul stomach is not the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of the blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant and no narcotic.

While John Knott and Charles N. Tippet, of Medleys Neck, St. Marys county, were out in the woods looking for boat timber they were attacked by three bald eagles, one of which they killed with clubs. The dead bird measured 6 feet 7 inches from tip to tip.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tidale, Summertown, S. C. For Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.

No False Claims.

The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a "sure cure for consumption." Foley's Honey and Tar is without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy. Refuse substitutes. Sold at Dirickson's Pharmacy.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by all dealers.

Saved From Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt of Bartons, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, until consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c. and $1.00. Trial Bottles Free at all Drug Stores.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from these. Use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters, and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble in some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea, and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the harvest fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork, and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia. To the thousands of run down, sickly, and half dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic tortures; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

A Good Business Proposition is something that everybody who looks out for their own interest will take time to consider. We have to make you, and Here's the Point

Several Good Business Propositions

We do business on business principles. When we sell you a pair of shoes they are as good as can be manufactured for the money. People spend most of their time in their shoes, and this fact makes the quality of footwear a question of prime importance. Our proposition is to sell you good honest shoes at a price as low as is consistent with good values. We make this proposition to all prospective shoe buyers, fully believing that it is to your interest to do business with us. We have many advantages to offer you as a reason why you should do your shoe buying of us, the first of which is, we are exclusive Shoe dealers and also the largest buyers of Shoes on the Peninsula. We can offer you the largest and most complete stock to select from. We do not have to give you one size when your foot needs another. Our large stock enables us to carry all sizes and widths in stock. We take pains to see that every foot is properly fitted and also to select the proper kind of Shoe to meet the requirement for which it is intended. We have the exclusive sale in this city of all the best known and most popular makes of Shoes.

A person is often judged by the company they keep, so is a merchant by the merchandise he handles, and while we stand behind every pair of fair priced Shoes we sell, whether made under some pet name or not. To those who want special lines we can offer such well known ones as the following:

FOR MEN: The Walk-Over, W. L. Douglas, Crossett's Long Life.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS: The Rice & Hutchins, Burley Stevens & Co., Excelsior.

FOR LADIES: Queen Quality, Zeigler Bros., Cinderella, Allnut Moody, Drew, Selby & Co.

All of these are good ones in their class and have reputations established on merit, but the burden of our story is simply Shoes, and not the maker—trust us for that and we will always give you full value for your money or cheerfully refund you the same. Think over our proposition, come and see us and let us more fully explain and show you that we mean business and we feel sure that you will find that our interests are mutual. Yours for Shoes,

FIRE AT SHARPTOWN

Burns Large Warehouse of Mr. Wm. H. Knowles. New Cans and Canned Goods Destroyed. Splendid Work Done.

The large warehouse belonging to W. H. Knowles situated on his wharf at the southern part of the town, near his cannery, was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday night, together with several hundred cases of canned pears, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, etc., and several thousand new cans and cases. The origin of the fire is unknown. The fire engine on this occasion demonstrated its value in saving adjoining property.

It was discovered about 8 o'clock and was in the upper part of the building. A few cases of canned goods were gotten out, but the fire soon grew so hot that it was impossible to go near, and all attention was then turned toward saving the cannery; and a large force of men, with the aid of a large hand fire engine, did splendid work and saved the cannery. Mr. Knowles' loss is from five to six thousand dollars, only partly covered by insurance.

The town turned out in full force and did all in their power to save the goods and the adjoining property. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Knowles. The cannery business was started by him last year, and he put down a new cannery and warehouse and had only run one season, and the fire, destroying a part of his first output, falls heavy. Only a few days ago he put in several thousand new cans, and the schooner Salisbury was at the wharf with cans when fire broke out, some of which had been taken off during the day.

Deceased was 23 years of age and is survived by his parents, one brother and three sisters: Mr. W. F. Evans of Norfolk, Mrs. Charles E. Bennett, Misses Ella and Lilly Evans of Salisbury. ## SALISBURY BOYS OFF.

Company L. 1st., Maryland Regiment Now At State Encampment, Belair. Clear Weather Makes Attractive A Beautiful Location.

With a flurry of brass buttons, blue uniforms and all the apparel that goes with military appointments Maryland's gallant troops have possessed themselves of Belair, where they are in encampment.

The weather though sultry and hot has been, so far in beautiful contrast with last year.

Two years ago the opening of Camp Smith, at Queenstown was marred by the heaviest of hard rains and the men marched into camp drenched to the skin.

The camp itself is beautifully located in an immense field, with the brigade headquarters commanding all the tents and the parade grounds from a slight eminence. The whole camp ground is situated about three quarters of a mile from Belair, towards the northeast, on the property occupied by J. Lawrence McCormick. Looking from brigade headquarters the Fourth Regiment is encamped to the front and left, about 200 yards away. The First's camp is located directly in front of headquarters, close to the Fourth and somewhat farther away. The Fifth is to the right of headquarters, in front and a little distance from the First, and divided from it by a fence, so that the three regiments form part of the circumference of a circle, with the brigade headquarters at the center. The cavalry are camped beyond the Fourth Regiment, and the colored troops immediately to the right of headquarters. The whole makes a beautiful and inspiring sight, as many have remarked.

A special report to the ADVERTISER gives the correct list of Salisbury lads in Camp as follows:

L. P. Coulbourn, Capt.; L. Atwood Bennett, 1st Lt.; H. Winter Owens 2nd Lt.; S. R. Douglas, 1st Ser.; James Chatham, 2nd Ser.; B. W. Turner, 3rd Ser.; Oliver Jones 1 Corp.; Archibald Fleming, 2nd Corp.; Walter Dove 3rd Corp.

Privates—C. E. Bennett, J. M. Bosman, Levin Disharoon, E. B. Ennis, H. G. Farlow, Joseph Farlow, C. W. Farlow, E. W. Hillman, S. E. Holt, H. P. Hammond, G. R. Humphreys, Oscar Moore, W. J. Moore, Jr., W. S. Moore, Chas. McGrath, A. H. Perry, W. K. Brewington, L. S. Humphreys, J. L. Collins, S. P. Hayman, H. H. Twilley, L. A. Hastings, S. Ruark, W. B. Ward, P. E. Mitchell, C. E. ## LAWYERS AT OCEAN CITY

Conclude Annual Convention With Banquet At The Beach Thursday. Chief Judge McSherry Honored. Officers Elected.

The State Bar Association wound up the annual meeting with a banquet Thursday night at the Atlantic Hotel. Judge Ashley M. Gould read a paper on "Some Incidents in the Life of Luther Martin."

Delegates to the American Bar Association were elected as follows: M. E. Walter; Charles Fink; Walter A. Dawkins.

The following officers were elected the ensuing year: President—George Whitlock, of Baltimore. Vice-Presidents—Henry J. Waters, William H. Adkins, John S. Young, William E. Walsh, James A. C. Bond, Frank L. Stoner, James C. Rodgers, Alfred S. Niles, Richard Bernard.

Secretary—James U. Dennis. Treasurer—Frank G. Turner. Executive Council—Conway W. Same, L. Allison Wilmer, Charles W. Heuveler, J. H. C. Legg.

Resolutions, offered by Hon. John P. Poe and seconded by Mr. George Whitlock, were unanimously adopted by a rising vote. "This association, recognizing the distinguished judicial services of its first president, Hon. James McSherry, during his term of nearly 16 years, feels that it ought to express the earnest desire of its members without regard to their political affiliations, that the voters of his judicial circuit, at the coming election, will give him their generous and undivided support, and by his re-election secure to the people of the whole State the great benefit of his ripe learning and experience, universally acknowledged ability and absolute impartiality as the Chief Judge of our Court of Appeals."

Mr. Whitlock offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the committee on legal reform to consider with Judge Charles W. Heuveler such supplemental legislation as may be required for the Court for Juvenile offenders and secure the passage of the same.

At the suggestion of Mr. Charles F. Herzog the committee on legal amendments and reform was instructed to take into consideration the matter of simplifying methods of condemning land for municipal purposes.

He mentioned a recent experience in Baltimore county, where the expenses of the jury for 14 days footed up $1,200, and feasting and champagne, excursions in the nature of pleasure parties, and even the circus, were included in the bill.

The sessions were pleasant throughout. Toward the close the question was raised of the regularity of the method of selecting officers of the association through the agency of a nominating committee, but it was stated by the Chair and others that this had been uniformly the practice, and on motion of Judge Bond the committee's report was laid before the meeting and Secretary Sams was directed to cast the ratifying vote for the association.

At the banquet Judge Ferdinand Williams was the toastmaster, and performed the duty with wit and elegance. Among the speakers were: Judge J. A. C. Bond, Mr. Henry Budd, of Philadelphia; John S. Wirt, Mr. Mas and others.

The menu card was in the form of a deed of conveyance, duly signed and sealed by the banquet committee—Messrs. Frank G. Turner, Peter J. Campbell and Thomas W. Simmons—and duly attested by Judge McSherry and adorned with his picture.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

By GEORGE ROBERT COOPER.

Recess of childhood lit before me
As I sit in my easy chair—
Recess of pranks, full of laughter,
That were played away back there,
Then comes vision of field and meadow,
Or waters rivaling Lake Loonard—
Shores studded o'er with stately pines,
On that dear old spot called Humphrey's pond.

Overhead are skies—cerulean blue,
Beneath, waters pure as Letha's kid,
While its banks are pine and laurel lost—
Those scenes my memory has never mist—
The footway 'cross the lumbering dam,
The roar of waters seething beyond,
Make me now wish for one long hour
Near that dear old spot called Humphrey's pond.

The tickety, wooden swimming stand,
With its quaintly built old springing board,
The view from there of the whitewashed mill,
Are memories that I'll ever hold.
The emerald green of the opposite banks—
To dream of these I'm ever fond,
And my thoughts go back to days gone
To that dear old spot called Humphrey's pond.

When night's shadows enshrouded another earth,
And stars scintillated in the sky—
"Thy then whispered near this spot
And I was there of the bye-and-bye,
The water sparkled and glistened then,
As the twain would talk of their wedding
And, for many's the maid, been wooed and wooed
Near that dear old spot called Humphrey's pond.

—Uiman Sons will celebrate their 2nd, Annual Anniversary from July 6th to July 15th.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Materials: Styles For Country Wear: Out Door-Sporting: Millinery: Seasonable Designs For The Present Days: Answers.

The prestige of linen as a dress material, is now fully established and when embroidered, sets a seal of fashionable endorsement that none may gainsay. A pure white linen gown with blouse waist embroidered and the same finish on skirt, brings pride to the wearer and approval to an onlooker, and equal emotions attended the exhibition of ecru, blue, pink or red dresses in the above mentioned material. This, the unsophisticated might presume to be in rare quality, befitting fastidious women, but in this case "fine feathers do not make fine birds" and the coarser the linen, the more stylish. Pongee chiefly in ecru, competes strongly, having the advantage of not necessitating laundry bills: entire suits of the same material with fluttering coat skirts, proclaim the wearer afar, as being fashionable and when the skirt is of some other material, a flapping ecru coat tends down the scale of approbation on the side of the wearer. Some new outfits of this character, show however, a skirt laid in box plaits all around and in even length, the blouse and coat skirts similarly finished and in this case, drapery is of course kept within bounds.

FOR COUNTRY WEAR. The outfit is proportionately adapted more to outdoor than indoor wear. Lydia Langshill styles may obtain for the evening, yet even here at times, the fair one may retain her short skirts occasionally, when coming in to a late supper, after some drive, boating, yachting or sporting experience. Such facts have had no small influence in the retention both of independent waists and abbreviated skirts, nor have improved facilities in traveling and traveling conveniences, been without great influence. In summing up what must be taken and what left behind, attention too is useful as to what may best refresh after open air exertion. Thus as the time comes round when we pack our trunks and satchels and start for the country, we sit down to go over the little list of things we must have for our comfort and among the first few items jot down as usual, a supply of Murray & Lanman's Florida water. Strange isn't it, we never tire of it. And yet it is not strange after all, for has not the whole world been using it constantly for nearly a hundred years and it is this season. In MILLINERY the use of lace as a factor, becomes more prominent. Sometimes heavy lace is laid flat and united with straw or again are seen examples made largely in dotted silk lace shirred over a frame which shows plainly through the thin covering. Such foundations likewise are combined with straw. In the world of millinery however, the "go as you please" is rampant and hardly a rule can be laid down that is not broken. Antomobile hats are a style peculiar to themselves, being in turban shape, much smaller than what is generally noticeable and quite enveloping the head in hood fashion, is a silk extension fastened under the chin by a large ribbon bow. Colors are in unison except a pompon on the left side that is usually either black or white.

"Eleanor." While the greater proportion of sleeves show pronounced and really misplaced fullness below the elbow, (sometimes from above the elbow) yet new examples are in very much modified proportions, so that a sleeve fashionable last summer, will pass muster this season for persons not extremists.

"Jane." (Gloves are in with conservative people, but fashionists will often choose new ones showing bright embroidery on a firm silk foundation. These come in all lengths, with or without fingers and the greater number white. Gun metal shades are very stylish and ecru is of some importance. Net gloves or mitts are in all lengths and with or without fingers.

FOR SYSTEMIC CATARRH Peculiar to Summer Pe-ru-na Gives Prompt and Permanent Relief.

C. S. Rhoads, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "For the past two years I have hardly known what it was to have a sweet, restful night's sleep. Cares and overwork seemed to weigh me down more than it should or would had I been able to get my proper rest. My doctor was unable to help me and ordered me South for a complete rest and change. As this was simply out of the question, and as I had heard several of the men under me speak of how much Peruna had helped them, I decided to try it and am glad indeed that I did. Six bottles made a new man of me. I eat well, sleep well and get up feeling refreshed and rested. "My official duties are not half so hard and I certainly have good reasons to heartily endorse Peruna."—C. S. Rhoads.

A Prominent Business Man of Indianapolis Restored to Health and Vigor by Pe-ru-na. He says: "Pe-ru-na made a New Man of Me."

Judge Wm. T. Zener, of Washington, D. C., writes from 213 N. Capital Street, Washington, D. C.: "I take pleasure in saying that I can cheerfully recommend the use of Peruna as a remedy for catarrhal troubles and a most excellent tonic for general conditions."—Wm. T. Zener

Mrs. Amanda Morrill, 180 Reid Street, Elizabeth, N. J., writes: "I have been sick over two years with nervous prostration and general debility, and heart trouble. I have had four doctors; all said that I could not get well. I had not walked a step in nine months, suffering with partial paralysis and palpitation of the heart every other day, and had become so reduced in flesh as to be a mere skeleton, weighing only 85 pounds. "Up to this date I have taken Peruna for seven months. It has saved my life as I can safely testify. I have not felt so well in five years, having walked over one mile without ill result, and have also gained thirty pounds since commencing to take Peruna. In fact, I cannot praise it too highly."—Mrs. Amanda Morrill.

Peruna never fails to prevent systemic catarrh or nervous prostration if taken in time. Peruna is the most prompt and permanent cure for all cases of nervous prostration caused by systemic catarrh known to the medical profession. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A CARD. To the Voters of Worcester County: At the earnest solicitation of my friends, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer for Worcester County, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention. It will be remembered that ten years ago I had the nomination for County Treasurer practically assured, but two certain delegates kept their promise; but they did not, and by giving their support to Dr. Todd nominated him by only two plurality over myself. If there is a man in Worcester County more deserving the office from a political standpoint, or more worthy of the same than I am, let him come forward and prove the same, and I will withdraw from the field.

CAUSES OF INDIGESTION.

How Certain It Is Which Affects the Stomach Becomes Chronic. The causes of chronic indigestion are manifold, but usually and almost always in the beginning, even when the stomach finally becomes actually diseased, the condition is due to improper eating. It may not be that the sufferer eats too much, although very many people who are not gluttonous do that, but he eats improperly. One who suffers from dyspepsia or who wishes to avoid such suffering should remember that the stomach cannot do all the work of digestion. Before it enters the stomach the food must be finely divided and mixed with the saliva, which is an certainly a digestive fluid as is the gastric juice. Gladstone, it is said, used to chew every mouthful of food thirty-two times, one for each tooth, before he swallowed it.

Long mastication of the food is useful in many ways. In the first place, it should appeal to all who delight in the pleasures of the table, for if the food is savory it is tasted longer and better when well chewed. Again, long mastication mixes the food well with the saliva and begins its digestion, and this sweetens the starchy food and improves its taste. Finally, if one eats slowly, he will have less time to eat much, and hunger is appeased and a feeling of satiety is attained before the stomach can become overloaded.

While one is chewing, the food should be moved from side to side of the mouth that the admixture with the saliva may be more thorough. Too much food should not be taken with the meal, but it is not a wise plan to take none, as is sometimes recommended. The gastric juice should not be too much diluted, but if the food is well moistened the juice acts better and more rapidly. One glass of water with a meal is about the right amount. Cool water, however, in moderate quantity stimulates the secretion of gastric juice, and a wineglassful of ice water taken before the meal gives a fillip to the appetite without any of the drawbacks of liquor.

If in spite of all precautions chronic indigestion persists, one should try the experiment of eating only one kind of food at a meal—meat, fish or eggs, without bread and potatoes, or bread and butter without animal food. The stomach which works at a mixed meal will often do its work satisfactorily if offered only one article of food at a time.—Youth's Companion.

The Autocrat of All the Russias. No one can grasp the fundamental state of things in Russia without realizing that there the will of the czar is as the will of God. His land and his subjects are his, to dispose of as he may. In a Russian battle no soldier goes to the front, imperatively needed in front, was stopped by a deep ditch. The soldiers dug themselves in until the ditch was full, and the artillery galloped over their bodies.

In the world of business it is quite the same. A Russian administrator was discussing with Sir Henry Norman the military capabilities of the Transiberian railway, and Norman said: "There wouldn't be rolling stock enough to convey masses of troops in a short time."

"Every engine and carriage in Russia would be put there if necessary," was the answer. "But that would disorganize the whole commerce of the country and bring tens of thousands to ruin."

"You don't understand," said the official. "If the czar gave the word to take every railway carriage in Russia and run it across the Siberian railway and throw it into the China sea at the end, who should prevent him?"

A Cent a Year Salary. The government pays the magnificent salary of 1 cent a year to Maurice Proctor for carrying the mail between Dodgeville and Mineral Point. Mr. Proctor operates a stage line between the two cities, and he makes a good income from the passenger service.

Recently he closed a contract with the government for three years, agreeing to carry the mail one way each day, and his bid was 3 cents for that period of time. He is to receive his salary in three installments of 1 cent each. He recently received his check for his salary last year, but he is not going to cash it until he is in need of money.

The Senate Roll. The suitability of the United States senate is well illustrated by a musty roll of names discovered last week. It was used Jan. 31, 1877, some twenty-five years ago. The roll shows seventy-five names. Of these but five are now members of the senate—Allison, Cockrell, Jones of Nevada, Mitchell and Teller. Allison and Cockrell are the only ones who have served continuously since that date. On the roll call are the names of Bayard, Blaine, Burnside, Conkling, Frelinghuysen, Hamlin, Ingalls, Logan, McDonald, Morrill, Oglesby, Salisbury, Sharon, Sherman, Thurman and Windom.

Dr. Parker's Rejoinder. A gentleman who was discussing with the late Dr. Parker the problem of a future existence exclaimed: "The fact is, sir, I am an annihilationalist. I believe that when I die that will be the end of me."

DEAD CITIES.

Many American Towns, Once Prosperous, Are Now Abandoned. Not in the old world alone is to be found the "silent Amyclae" over which Virgil's two words have kept scholars puzzling for nearly 2,000 years. In this United States, which we are wont to think so new, there are scores of "dead cities." Nor are they prehistoric. Many of them rose, flourished, declined and died within the memory of living men, and most of them the spade of the excavator will never dig up. They have vanished completely. In this era are published some rambling notes of a score of these dead cities. Naturally most of them were mining towns, and when the mines, producing a crop that cannot be renewed, were exhausted they died. Some of them, such as Hancock and Virginia City, in Montana, were even political capitals. Now there are fewer than fifty people in Hancock and fewer than 100 in Virginia City. Then there was Bodie, Cal., which less than fifteen years ago had 10,000 people and whose mines had paid in five years $22,000,000 in dividends. The mines failed, the town was deserted, and a few years ago fire swept the site bare.

But the failure of mines does not account for the death of all these dead towns. Springfield, Kan., was once large enough to build a $20,000 school-house and to put in waterworks. At last accounts there were 200 houses and fewer than 100 people in the town, and the hydrants were hidden in the prairie grass. At Saratoga a $30,000 theater stands some to treat its boards save the wandering tramp. At Fargo Springs the $20,000 schoolhouse bell rings when the wind is strong, but no children come. These dead Kansas towns are the fading monuments of an error of observation as to the normal rainfall of the western part of the state.

Ancient Troy was found to be buried in its own rubbish. That also was the fate of Yam Hill. In the latter fifties it was a prosperous gold camp. The placers there were exhausted, but new ones were found farther up the stream. The impatient gold seekers deserted the old town and built a new one. The earth and gravel from the new placers were washed down upon the old town and covered its buildings. Now only the gable of a large livery barn emerges from the soil to show where Yam Hill was. Perhaps when Macaulay's New Zealander comes to sketch the ruins of London bridge an antiquarian colleague may dig up Yam Hill and draw all sorts of conclusions as to the civilization of prehistoric America.

Nor are these dead towns to be found in the mining and semiarid regions only. At the junction of the Savannah and Broad rivers in Georgia are now only fields of grain and grazing sheep. Yet there once stood Petersburg, a regularly laid out and prosperous town of the days before the railroads came. Now there is not a single house upon the site, and the wheat grows where was the public square. The railroad-unmade Petersburg, as it has unmade dozens of other towns after first making them.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Minister's Story. Senator Turner of the Alaskan boundary commission said the other day: "When I go to church I am as silent as a mouse from the moment I enter till I leave. But I was not always so. In the little Missouri town of Edna, where I was brought up, I was a pretty disorderly churchgoer. One Sunday, when I was about thirteen, we had a strange minister to preach. I sat with four or five other lads, and we made a great deal of noise. The stranger put up with us for a long time. Then he looked at us. 'I hate,' he said, 'to reprove any disorderly person from the pulpit—in fact, I make it a rule never to do this. Let me tell you why. Once a young man behaved very badly while I was preaching. I spoke to him, and his conduct became worse. Again I spoke to him, and again his conduct became worse. Four or five times I paused to rebuke this young man, and each time he carried on in a more heathenish manner than before. At the end of the service they told me of the mistake I had made. The young man was a lunatic!'"

The Healer of Four Years in Congress. To sum it all up, I received $20,000 in salary, $4,800 for clerk hire, $400 for mileage and $500 for stationery, or $25,700. I am now referred to in the newspapers, as the Hon. Blank, ex-member of congress. I lost the greater part of my law practice, but I can get that back and some more with it, for my reputation in the district has been increased, as a whole, by my service at Washington. Financially I am several thousand dollars worse off than I was before I was elected. I can get that back, too. The feature that bothers most is that both my wife and myself, after our experience at Washington, are dissatisfied with the humdrum life in our country town. We had things and saw things at Washington that are beyond our reach here. It is hard to settle down.—Everybody's Magazine.

A Feast of Death With a Bible. One of a native Hawaiian who was beaten to death with a Bible in the hands of a kahuna, or native sorcerer, is reported from the island of Hawaii. The victim was ill in bed, and after being treated by a regular physician, sent for a kahuna, having more faith in the native "medicine man." The kahuna declared that the patient was possessed by devils and proceeded to cast them out by beating him over the head with a Bible. The wife of the sick man was also induced to do some beating, and then the kahuna resumed operations. The man died as a result of the beating. The kahuna has been held for manslaughter.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The uniform success of this remedy has made it the most popular preparation in use for bowel complaints. It is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take. It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year. For sale by all dealers.

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—compared with it, all other medicines for women are experiments. Why has it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing women's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse."

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City."

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Prahl's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, and nervous prostration; remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5000 REFUND if you cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

ONE MAN'S CAREER.

Result of Making Himself Office Boy at Nothing a Week.

"The good of the office boy" is a moral taught by the career of William Alden Smith of Michigan. He had saved a little money and wanted a place to study Blackstone. This was in 1879. He thought first of Chicago and even went so far as to go to that city and apply for a place as office boy in the firm of Walker & Dexter. But it was in the summer, and the heads were all out of town, and he ended by returning to Grand Rapids. Here he selected the firm of Burch & Montgomery. He had suggested this before, but they had not needed him. He was this time confronted by a closed office and a card tacked on the door saying they were out of town and would not be back for several weeks. But this did not daunt Smith, who looked up Mr. Pierce, the owner of the building and a man of some prominence in the town. He told Pierce what he wanted and finally persuaded him to give him a pass key to the office. And so it happened when Judge Burch returned he found his offices swept and garnished and a brisk young clerk diligently reading at one of the desks. The inquiries of the judge the young fellow replied that he had come to stay; that he was the office boy at nothing a week. All he wanted, he said, was a chance to make himself useful and incidentally to read a little law. Things were kept so clean and the young man was so respectfully determined to remain that Judge Burch good naturedly acquiesced.

In seven years Smith was a member of the firm. In seven years more he was part owner in the principal newspaper in the place and proprietor of a branch railroad. In another seven years he had added two more railroads to his assets and was in congress. Meantime the wheel of fortune has been turning. Montgomery is on the bench of the Michigan supreme court; Judge Burch through the influence of his former office boy has been appointed assistant to the United States attorney general and resides in Washington, while Pierce, who had met with financial reverses, was rewarded for the pass key which he had given Smith by an appointment as assistant sergeant at arms of the United States house of representatives.—Washington Letter in Boston Transcript.

Lloyd's in Time of Anxiety. Only recently a great Atlantic liner was announced to be three days overdue. On the third day there was no noticeable advance in the rate charged for those who had neglected to insure property shipped upon it, but on the fourth day, when anxiety as to both the passengers and the property on board had increased, it was ominously announced from Lloyd's that the rate of insurance upon that particular vessel had been advanced to $10 in $500. This was on Tuesday. On Wednesday, when no further news had been heard, the rate had jumped to $25 in the $500. On Thursday it reached $50, and by Friday the enormous sum of $100 in $500 was declared to be the rate in any and all manner of insurance upon the missing vessel. It is needless to say how horribly these announcements confirmed the anxious fears of those most deeply concerned in the arrival of the vessel, for all the world knows that if there is any hope it will be longest found at Lloyd's. It is also needless to say that when the great liner in question finally reached her dock in New York nowhere was there greater rejoicing at the announcement than in the room where it was told out by the bell of the Lutine and read by the crier to the assembled crowd at Lloyd's.—Chalmers Roberts in World's Work.

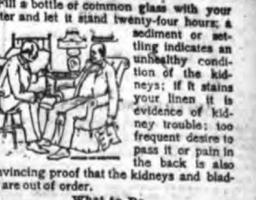

Webster Didn't Need the Warmth. Contrary to a popular belief, Edward Everett Hale now comes forward with a positive statement that Daniel Webster was not a drunkard, and a large crowd had gathered about an inert stove. The landlord was delighted at having so distinguished a man as a guest. Handing Mr. Webster a glass of whisky, he said graciously: "Take it, sir. It will warm you up."

"Thank you," said Webster. He tasted the liquor, made a wry face, pondered a moment and then opened the stove's door, throwing the whisky into the fire, saying as he did so, "This stove keeps the heat more than I do."

Five Cents' Worth of Sermon. An amusing story is told of the Rev. H. S. Thrall, one of the pioneers of Methodism in Texas. In company with a number of itinerants who were on their way to conference Dr. Thrall stopped to spend the night with an old farmer. It was the custom then to settle the bill at night, so that they might rise about 3 o'clock in the morning and ride a good way before breakfast and be in the heart of the day. Dr. Thrall, acting as spokesman of the party, said to the old farmer after supper: "We are a company of Methodist preachers going to conference. If you will get the family together, we will have prayers with you." After prayers one by one settled his bill. Dr. Thrall's turn came, and he asked for his bill. The old farmer replied, "Well, parson, I charged the rest 25 cents; but, being as you prayed for us so good, I won't charge you but 20 cents." The brethren had the laugh on Dr. Thrall.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How to Find Out. Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four or sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County.

NOTICE is hereby given to the Democratic voters of Wicomico county to hold Primary Elections to elect three delegates to each district of said county, at the usual places for holding such elections, on SATURDAY, AUGUST 8th, 1903, said delegates to meet in convention at Salisbury, Md.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 4th, 1903.

At 11 o'clock A. M., to elect four delegates to the Democratic State Convention, which meets at a place and at a date hereafter to be named, to nominate a Candidate for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General.

Also to nominate a Ticket to be composed of one State Senator, three delegates to the General Assembly, Clerk of the Circuit Court, Register of Wills, three County Commissioners, a County Treasurer, Sheriff, three Judges of the Orphan's Court and County Surveyor, to be voted for next November.

Registered voters, and those entitled to register and vote at the next election, in November, will be entitled to participate in these primaries, in case of contest the polls will be kept open in the different districts from 2 until 4 o'clock.

The election will be held under the rules and regulations governing primaries, as passed by the State Central Committee at Baltimore, May 29th, 1902.

The following Executive Committees for each district were appointed to have charge of the Primaries and to appoint Judges and Clerks in accordance with the laws adopted by the State Central Committee:

Barren Creek, J. A. Waller, J. T. Hopkins, Quantico, Wm. B. Phillips, A. J. Jones, Tynkin, L. J. Dushell, Geo. M. Catlin, Pittsburg, E. G. Davis, Howell T. Parlow, Parsons, J. L. Wallis, J. W. Gandy, Jr., Dennis, L. S. Williams, L. B. Brittingham, Trappe, Wm. S. Moore, J. W. Dushell, Muller, Willie F. Ward, Henry D. Powell, Salisbury, Wm. K. Shepard, J. R. T. Laws, Northport, A. W. Robinson, G. Mann, Delmar, C. H. Wood, L. R. Ker, Nantuxton, H. J. Messico, Wm. J. Wallis, Wm. L. JACKSON, Wm. L. LAURENCE, JAMES E. TRUITT, State Central Committee for Wicomico Co.

STATE LEGISLATURE OF 1904.

In the present Legislature there are 17 Democrats and 9 Republicans in the Senate and 31 Democrats and 44 Republicans in the House of Delegates. In the next General Assembly, another legislative district having been created in Baltimore City, there will be 27 Senators and 101 members of the House.

Of the 12 hold-over Senators, 7 are Democrats and 5 are Republicans. To have a majority in the next Senate the Democrats must elect 7 and the Republicans will need 9. If Lewis Putzel, Republican of Baltimore, was legislated out of office in the arrangement of districts to provide for a new one, the Republicans will have to elect 10 Senators to control the Senate.

In Baltimore City in the present Legislature the Democrats have 3 Senators and the Republicans 1, while the Republicans have 15 members of the House and the Democrats 8. In the next election the Democrats should hold their own in the Senate and elect 12 members of the House, a gain of 9. If the Democrats of Baltimore do their duty, they should gain one member of the Senate and elect 18 members of the House.

Senators are to be chosen in the counties as follows: Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Washington and Wicomico. Of these twelve counties the Democrats have Senators from eight. In the next election they are liable to lose in Frederick and Washington counties, leaving them six. These with the 7 hold-over Senators and at least 2 from Baltimore City, the Democrats will have 10 members in the next Senate to 12 Republicans. The Republican Senator from Kent had but 2 majority in 1899, and that county is debatable. Washington county is also a close county, and the normal Democratic majority in Carroll does not exceed 140 in a registered vote of over 8000.

In Dorchester and Montgomery counties the hold-over Democratic Senators have aspirations for places on the State ticket. Should these counties be called upon to elect Senators for the unexpired terms of the present-Senators the party would have to risk two more seats this year and two years hence would again have two seats in the balance.

In the House the Democrats are likely to lose a member in Allegany, 2 in Cecil, 1 in Somerset and 2 in St. Mary's—a total of 6. They will gain 9 in Baltimore City and 1 each in Prince George's and Talbot—a total of 11. The Carroll delegation stands 2 Democrats and 2 Republicans. The Democrats should gain 2, having the advantage of a small normal majority in the county. But leaving Carroll out of the calculation, the indications are for a Democratic majority in the House of 17. If the Democrats gain 2 in Carroll and carry three of the Baltimore City districts, they will have 27 majority in the House. Kent is a debatable ground and Washington, St. Mary's and Cecil are also, while Caroline and Dorchester, which are counted for the Democrats in the above calculation, are close.

BARNYARD PROSE.

This world is a great library. In that library are many volumes. There are books of sky, often illustrated with sunrise and sunset, often with stars, sometimes with black clouds of rain, sometimes with arching iris bow. There are books of mountains and forests, plains and valleys, fields and streams, all illustrated with varying colors, and bound in many styles. There are books of creature life, these also illustrated, for God, the Author of all these multiform volumes, is a lover of pictures. Every page of His writings has a picture on it.

What God writes I like to read. I have seen enough poetry in the moss gathered upon the trunk of a tree to awaken in me life-long admiration. So with the dust on a butterfly's wing. So with the gleam of a glow-worm in the grass. There is not a dull line in any of God's compositions. The lightning is the flash of His genius. The long roll of distant thunder is a periodic sentence flowing from His pen of storm. The ocean is majestic blank verse.

But there are times when I am interested in studying some of God's humbler literary work. It is occasionally a relief to turn from the sublime to the prose of the barnyard. Since boyhood days I have delighted in watching animals, especially chickens. From the moment that they break out of the shell, appearing like polished gold in a jeweler's window, until they lie upon the carving board of the kitchen, stripped of their feathers, ready for culinary dissection and the cook's pot, chickens afford me pleasure. For some persons the pleasure comes afterwards, when the chicken graces a dish on the dining-room table, in its nakedness blushing a beautiful brown, and sending forth the savory steam of its juices, or else forming a group of islands among a sea of flaky crust. Be that as it may, it is not my intention to tell about the pleasure of eating chickens, though it is commonly thought that ministers have a distinctive fondness for that kind of food! But I am not sure that they stand alone in that characteristic!

These two-legged animals, however, have given me many lessons. The devotion of a mother-hen, for instance, is untiring. That is suggestive of motherliness among mankind. Christ once used it as a picture of the motherliness of His divine nature. God is often spoken of in the Bible as father. That brings Him close to human hearts. But God set forth as the Mother of men takes Him into the heart itself. Alas! how many refuse to be mothered by Him!

But the little chickens soon get to be independent. In a remarkably short time they do not need larger feet to scratch them a living, they learn to scratch for themselves. So goes the world. The children of a household are not long in growing up into adult life. Then they are married, leaving the parental wings. Often are tears shed at weddings that are not all tears of joy. But the older folk cannot expect anything else than that their offspring should follow their example. While for them it is near the hour of evening twilight, sunset hues in the sky, for these it is about nine o'clock in the morning, the dew not entirely gone from the grass. Let them smile, if they will, in spite of your heartache. Their eventide is on the way.

I have often noticed the seeming selfishness of chickens. At feeding time each one is intent on filling his own crop. A picture of the world. Stand in the front of a crowd to view a passing parade. If you do not hold your place with firmness, you will be pushed aside. There are many who want your ground. You are jostled and elbowed and punched by the eager selfishness that is behind you. Chickens scrambling for corn.

One of my pastimes with little chickens is throwing them worms, one at each throw, and watching them at what seems like a game of "tag." One gets the worm. All the others want it. So they chase the fortunate one, around and around, up and down, everywhere. There he goes into a corner! Now they have him! But he dodges, and runs on as before, trying to gulp the worm during the race, at last succeeding in finishing the morsel, and stretching his narrow neck from side to side, as though the worm were wriggling in his throat, but leaving off the performance as soon as another piece of live meat is thrown.

There is a coveted position somewhere. The applicants for it are numerous. Only one can get it. But what a run there is for it! He who obtains it quietly smiles with satisfaction over the discomfiture of the unsuccessful. A chicken swallowing a worm. It is amusing to watch chickens at roosting time. How they try to get the best perches! What a shuffling there is! It is wing against wing; then bill against bill, one chicken, or several, getting the worst of the fight, and falling to the ground with a squawk of humiliation and a cackle of defeat that set the whole chicken-house in an uproar.

I have witnessed similar sights in places of entertainment. When the doors are opened there is a rush for the front seats. Those with the strongest pushing powers and the nimblest feet reach there first. In church, however, this chicken characteristic is reversed. Then humility is often the rule. The desire for being high up melts away like a snowdrift under a February sun. The tendency of many becomes cow-like, biding in the woods of the rear pews. Strange thing is human nature!

A good place to study human nature in mood of selfishness is on a railroad train. No matter how cool the day, there is always some one who is too warm. Without considering the comfort of the passengers behind him, this person at once throws up the window at which he is sitting, his rear neighbors receiving the benefit of all the dust raised by the rattling coaches and all the smoke and cinders that pour from the iron chimney of the engine. He is impune. It would take more than dust or smoke and cinders to penetrate the feathers that protect his skin. Or I have frequently seen men sprawl over an entire seat, while others were looking for a sitting place. One might suppose that they are directors or stockholders of the road. False supposition. Such specimens of humanity are parodies of gentlemen. They ought to be sent to their destination as live freight in a chicken coop!

But perhaps I slander chickens by terming them selfish. Their selfishness is only seeming. It is in reality the expression of instinct. But in addition to instinct, human beings are gifted with a moral sense. In times of danger it is natural to look after the preservation of one's own life. At other times self should have regard for others. The one who risks his personal safety to rescue another from peril is termed a hero. But there is plenty of room for exercising heroism when no catastrophe threatens. The good Samaritan of the parable is a shining example of usefulness. Those who passed the wounded man without either sympathy or help had not learned how to crawl out of their animal skins!

Takes Two From Fulton Athletics.

The Salisbury baseball warriors twice defeated the Fulton Athletic Club, of Baltimore Saturday.

The morning game was 4 to 2, features of the game being the battery performance of Roth and Bouse, the batting and running of Ward who made a splendid throw to home plate in the ninth inning, which prevented a tie.

Seven innings decided the afternoon contest by a score of 11 to 1. The visitors couldn't hit Truitt. That tells the tale. Only one hit was made off him while he struck out ten men.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler, of Yoiga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, liver, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' It felt like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.,
Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Chicago, July 5.—Under the homely and familiar similitude of the barnyard fowl the preacher illustrates the divine love and protecting care that encircle all who give to the Heavenly Father a childlike trust and confidence. The text is Matthew xxiii, 27, "As a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings."

This commercial age is brutally unpoetic. It has even carried its shocking innovations into the barnyard. We are now trying to hatch our eggs not into broods, but into the wholesale. We would change a hen's nest into a big, square wooden box and call it an incubator. We would have the old lamp of the incubator do the work of the feathered breast and the outstretched wing. We would have the wire screen displace the sharp pointed bill of the barnyard mistress vehemently plunging right and left in defense of her young. We would do this in spite of the inalienable rights of the hens, whose maternal affections are crushed by this modern custom. The man, eager above all things to make money, has not the patience to listen to protest, from man or bird against his methods. As John Ruskin, in some respects the most aesthetic mind England ever produced, wrote page after page in denunciation of the conscienceless vandalism of the mere money maker who would plaster over the beautiful palisades of nature with hideous advertisements and with the manufacturer's wheel churn a rippling, singing, laughing stream tumbling out of the green reservoir of the woods into a mudhole, so everywhere the established would be sitting hens are clucking their indignation. They practically say to the robbers of their eggs, which had been carefully hidden away in the hay-loft or under the manger of the empty stall, "You have no right to place this indignity upon us." But in reply avaricious commercialism says: "O hen, we can make more money by hatching out 300 eggs at a time than by fooling with your small nest! You provide us with the eggs, and our incubators will do the rest."

This controversy, however, does not concern us in dealing with the similitude Christ used in our text. At the time Christ uttered those words the barnyard knew nothing of this modern innovation of the incubator. Chickens still found their natural shelter under the wings of the hen, and our Lord's hearers perfectly understood the meaning of his illustration. So common was the sight of a hen gathering her chickens under her wings that every one would recognize the truth Christ meant to teach when he used the hen's wing as a symbol of divine love. Thus, as Jesus veiled over the sinful inhabitants of Jerusalem, in the words of my text I would try to interpret that divine love in the language of the barnyard. I realize its force and beauty all the more because I am preparing this sermon within the echoing sound of the barnyard king calling to his harem to awaken at the first peep of the day, also within the sound of the voice of the hen clucking to her little ones to get under the protection of their mother's wing.

A Life Giving Wing.
God's wing is a spiritual life giving wing. The warm feathers of the mother bird are absolutely essential for the development of the lives of her young. If it were not for the old hen's wing her chickens would freeze to death during the spring nights. They would sometimes be drowned unless her wing, as a waterproof covering, was placed over them. They would die for lack of warmth, even as a little baby would die unless the mother every night tucked him up in his crib or suggested him up by her warm side in bed. Heat is life. Cold is death. The hen's wing is something more than a mere poetic figure. It means that its warmth not only hatches out the eggs, but also by its heat develops the little chickens after they are hatched. Postnatal care for the child in the making of a man is just as important as right prenatal conditions.

God's wing is absolutely essential for the development of a spiritual child. The Bible distinctly says, "Ye must be born again." That means, "Ye must be a God production as well as a man production." I am the physical child of my earthly parents. That does not necessarily imply that I am a spiritual child of God. But some day out in the cold, damp, destroying storm of sin I determine to creep under God's spiritual life giving wing. As soon as I am under that shelter I feel the divine life begin to creep into my life. I learn to love my Heavenly Father and see him as he is. I hear him telling me what I ought to do and say. As a human being by placing his hand upon an electric battery immediately feels a thrill as the galvanic currents circulate through his body, the physical body and the mind and the dormant spirit all feel the warmth and the glow and the creative and developing power of God's wing as soon as we place ourselves in the receptive mood within the radius of the divine touch.

Work Alone.
Let me illustrate this thought by a simple story: Many years ago a party of rolicking sailors left Charleston's navy yard for a day's dissipation. They tramped along toward Boston, stopping first at one saloon, then another, until all were hilarious with drink. Finally one of the party turned and said, "Come, boys, let us have some fun and go to Father Taylor's home and get some of his 'Bible'." "Great sport!" they cried. "Let us go." They approached the good man's house in a spirit of ridicule and blasphemy. Father Taylor, the good old Christian preacher, entered the room. When he was told by the joking men what they wanted tears of holy joy ran down his cheeks. The good man's emotion at the spectacle of sailors seeking religion was so true, so genuine, that the rickled men were touched. They listened to his earnest words, and as they listened the Holy Spirit worked on their hearts. Before they left three of the company were completely broken down and were led to seek shelter under God's wing. That new creation, that new spiritual birth, was not man's work, but God's alone.

Oh, the creative and the creating spiritual power of God's wing! We cannot afford to be one moment without it. Sir Henry Havelock, the most famous Christian soldier, at the time of his death, in the British army, so felt his spiritual dependence upon God that he dare not and would not let any day pass without at least two hours spent in closest contact with God's wing. If the army was to march at 6 in the morning then Havelock arose at 4 and spent the intervening time in prayer and Bible reading, in talking with God and in having his wings about him. "I can afford to neglect every thing but preparation," once wrote the great Robert Hall, "rather than neglect my private devotions and sacred solitary communion with Christ." Oh, my brother and sister, are we trying to get divine life by merely coming into touch with man? Are we trying to be gospel evangelists, known and read of all men, without having our penitent hearts beating against the great pardoning, spiritual, life giving heart of God? Come under God's wing today. Come, that we may have life and have it more abundantly. Listen to the divine call, and come to the divine shelter, and as the chickens find under the hen's wing comfort and safety and peace, so shall you find rest and peace for your souls.

A Symbol of True Love.
God's wing is a protecting wing. There are two kinds of hens. The one is a chickenless hen, which is an arrogant coward. She will run at every strange sight and knock down. If she could fly, she would. When the little boy throws a stone at her she will run to the opposite side of the yard just as fast as she can go, keeping her wings flapping to help along in the retreat. But how different is the behavior of one who has the wings of the hen. There is no coward's heart beating within the mother's breast. Then there is no danger she will not face for her young.

The protecting care of a hen's wing is one of the sweetest symbols of all true love. "What is the matter with that old hen?" says the farmer's wife to her husband. "For the last five minutes she has been frantic—clucking and calling to her chickens! She has now gathered them all together under her wing. She is hiding behind the wing-barrier. The business says nothing until he goes out upon the porch. He uses his hand for a shade and casts his eyes over the heavens. 'Yes, wife,' he answers, 'I thought as much. Do you see that black speck in the heavens? Well, I think that is the old hawk who stole so many of our chickens last summer, and that old hen remembers him. I guess I will help Biddy out and try to kill Mr. Hawk and help save her chickens. However, now those chickens are all safe. They are under the hen's wings. The hen's wings in times of danger are always protecting wings. The other day I was walking about a farm and examining the horses in the stalls and the cattle in the fields, while a pet dog was running at my heels. During my explorations I heard an excited clucking, but thought nothing of it. As I stepped into the barnyard proper I saw a hen lying under a board. I called to her, but she moved not. I called again and again, and then tried to shoo her off what I thought to be a stolen nest. Then she took a step and gave her a peck. Instead of a frightened hen flying away for her life I found a vindictive and outraged mother stying at me and my dog. The dog ran in one direction, I in the other. Then the hen called again to her young and gathered her chickens under her wing, while she still eyed my four legged companion as she would eye the would be murderer of her children. Oh, my friends, in the beautiful symbol of my text, did you ever stop to think that God's care could be a protecting wing?

God's Physical Protection.
God protects us in a physical sense. Some time ago a gentleman, with his family, wished to make a journey to Boston. He hurried through his work that his vacation might be one of complete rest; but, try as hard as he could, he lost the desired train. A short time after the gentleman read the telegraphic reports that the train upon which he hoped to travel was wrecked in a collision and scores and scores of people were killed. He immediately gathered his family together and returned thanks to God for his and his loved ones had been saved from this calamity. But why ought that man especially to have thanked God that day? Ought he not rather to be grateful to his Heavenly Father for caring for him and his loved ones every day? I never take a trip in my life, and I have traveled thousands and tens of thousands of miles, but I realize the innumerable dangers which everywhere beset me. One intoxicated engineer, one drunken switchman, one failure of the signal lights to work, and Death is ready to reach out her bony arms and hug the breath out of me. If you do not believe what I say, some night when traveling lie awake in your berth. Then listen to the rumbling in the distance coming nearer and nearer until, with one wild shriek, the thunder shoots past, and then realize the prevalent dangers. Then thank God that he cared for and protected you in a physical sense. The breaking of one wheel, the twisting of one rail, the sagging of one bridge girder, and your train would be derailed and all its occupants would be buried into eternity. God's wing in a physical sense is over us. It is a protecting wing. It covers us as a hen shields her chickens from the threatening hawk.

Power to Resist.
God protects us in a spiritual sense. The Bible says, "God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted beyond that ye are able, but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." What does that statement mean? Simply this: Here is a man whose whole nature is excited and excited by sin. He is by a corrupt past a drunkard, a libertine, a thief. He wants to get under the protecting shadow of God's wing. When he arises in the morning in a mood of his bed and says, "O God, I am awfully weak. I know not which way to turn unless I look to thee. Save me this day from the wine cup. Save me from the fatal pitfalls which are yawning at my feet. Save me, O God, save me, save me!" Will God answer such a pleading prayer as that? Oh, yes. God says to this mortal cripple: "Come, my child, come I will surround thee with holy companionship. I will shut out from thy sight the buzzards and the hawks and the serpents and the rats of sin which would destroy your life! Come, my child, come. Come under the shadow of my spiritually protecting wing." My friends, some of us have been trying to resist temptation in our own strength. Will you not depend upon the strength of God? Some of us are trying to do the will of the Lord. Tom Marshall, a Kentucky did, who one day stood up in Broadway Tabernacle and said: "Were this great globe one crystalline and I offered the possession if I would drink one glass of brandy I would refuse it with scorn. And I would not religion. I want the temperance pledge alone." But, alas! Poor Tom Marshall, depending upon his own strength, was at last shovelled into a drunkard's grave. Will you today, as a Christian, accept of the protecting shadow of God's wing? That God will not allow your temptation to be stronger than you shall have power given to resist.

God's protecting wing is one of Christian fellowship. An old home proverb says, "A hen, will make just as much noise and scratch just as hard for one chicken as she will for ten." That may be true. Such actions upon the part of the feathered bird might be very exemplary. But one of the most ridiculous sights to me is a great, big fat hen strutting through the barnyard followed by one wee, little chirping chicken. Better for that little chicken to be killed and the hen to go about her legitimate business of laying eggs for the breakfast than for the mother bird to continue to waste her energies upon that one offspring. The natural brood for a hen is not one or two chickens, but eight, nine or ten or even thirteen chickens. Every would be sitting hen if left alone nearly always lays thirteen eggs for her nest. She wants a large family. A large family is good for the hen. It is good for the chickens.

A Practical Application.
What is the practical application of this simile? Why, God's wing is a place under which not only one Christian can find rest, but many Christians. God's children are going to find safety and protection under God's wing because they will work together and live together and have their hearts beating together and, as it were, snuggie up to gether and keep each other spiritually warm. They will be together as close as the flocks as the chickens are close together under their mother's wing. If you lift up a hen who is covering her little ones at night you will be surprised how many chickens her small area is able to shelter. The reason each chicken is pressing close against the other chickens as well as against its mother's breast.

What today is the Christian fellowship of our daily life? Remember the records are being kept in reference to this matter which shall decide your spiritual welfare for time and for eternity. A lady once came to the Rev. John Newton and asked him how a friend of hers who was a member of Mr. Newton's congregation had died. "Ah, my lady," answered the venerable preacher, "that is not the important question you ought to have asked. You should have asked not how she died, but how she lived." Are you living in fellowship with Christ's children? Are you living in close communion with the members of your church? Are you living in prayerful love with all men and women who are trying to bring the name of Jesus before a sinful race? Are you being with Christ's followers as closely as chickens gather under the wing of a mother hen?

God's wing often protects his children best when they themselves are enveloped by total darkness. The little chickens, running to the warning call of the clucking hen, answer for the most part to the blind obedience of faith and love. When they crawl under the overshadowing and enveloping covering of that wing they can see nothing. Under that wing is total darkness. One in a while a chicken's curiosity will impel her to poke her little head out of the mother's feathers to see what is going on. But when the chickens are truly under that wing they leave all and trust all to their mother's care. It is because those chickens stay in total darkness under that wing that they often escape the searching eye of an advancing foe.

In Darkness as In Light.
My dear hearer, are you ready to trust God in darkness as well as in the light? You came to me the other day and said, "I cannot understand why this trouble was laid at my door." Neither can I, my brother. I do not understand why God should have taken away from your side that young man just five months after he was graduated from the bar. He was a bright fellow. He was a pure boy. He was the child upon whom you set your heart to take your own place. You are in total darkness about this matter. So am I. But I do know God is good. I do know that God loves your boy. I do know that God loves you. Though under God's wing it may be dark—dark at times as a disbeliever yet I do know that above God's wing is God's all seeing eye. What God did he did for a good purpose. Trust him, then, my brother. Trust him and have faith as a chicken under the darkness of the hen's wing trusts a mother's love.

I do not know why in your old age you should have lost your money, and now in your physical weakness you must work as dependent upon others. From my standpoint you always seem to have been a faithful and conscientious Christian. I do not know why Ira D. Sankey, who has sung thousands upon thousands into the light of the kingdom of God, should in the evening time of his life sit in total darkness and as a blind man have to be led around, helpless as the child. But I do know that "all things work together for good to them that love God." I do know his care will give us a peace that passeth all understanding during the days of our ambitions. I do know that some day all inexplicables will be explained, when God lifts his wing and the good lights of heaven roll in. I do know that under such conditions you and I, my brother, my sister, can afford to wait and trust Christ just a little while longer. We can trust in and believe in him though we sit in the darkness of the shadows of God's encircling but loving wing.

When the sky is black and lowering. When thy path in life is drear, Upward lift thy steadfast glance Mid the mass of sorrow here. For the Lord will hear and answer When in faith his people pray, Whatsoever he hath appointed Shall best work for thee always.

But though God's wing is a spiritual developing and protecting wing it only spiritually develops and protects his own children. A hen knows her own brood. She will do everything in her power to care for and protect them. If a farmer takes some ducks' eggs and places them in the nest of a sitting hen she cares for those ducks after they are hatched. If there be 2 pond near and the little ducks enter the water the old hen upon the shore will be frantic. She will run round and round, trying to call them out. But a hen, as a rule—sometimes there are exceptions—will only care for her own brood. The average hen will not allow her brood to be mixed up with other broods. She will drive the strange chickens away from her young. She tries to keep the family intact.

Protection to All Who Seek It.
The hen's chickens know their mother's voice. At her call they leave whatever they are doing and go to her. My brother, have you heard God's voice calling you? Have you responded or have you stayed in your sin, heedless of his call? Remember, the protection of the divine wings is over none but those who seek it. God's wing is big enough to cover all who repent of their sins and come to him in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. But though God's wing is big enough to shelter the Mary Magdalenes and the poor publicans and the Peters and the Johns, though they may come by the millions, there are some who miss its protection. What is the reason? Jesus tells us in this very passage: "How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!" That is the reason. God forces no man to come. He invites, he pleads with them, but if they will not come, even he can do no more. The awful storms of the godless eternally beat upon them, and they have no shelter. What the terrors and the misery of that time will be we cannot conceive. They are but dimly outlined in the Bible, but the images used are terrifying enough to blanch the bravest cheek, and through it all memory and conscience will reproach the sinner with those sad words, "Ye would not." Shelter was offered to all who would come, but "Ye would not." Self excluded, self destroyed; that will be the most terrible part of that awful fate.

Obedience and disobedience to God are the two great factors of my text. It was said that during a famous naval battle the sailors of an American ship were almost ready to surrender when suddenly a fowl escaped from the hen-coop and perched herself on the rigging. There she defied the shot and shell and inspired the sailors to fight on to victory. May this sermon, founded upon the barnyard symbol, inspire some sinner to seek his way to time and eternity under the shadow of God's loving and protecting wing.

Doctor

Tried but Could Not Relieve Me

Of Headache, Dizziness, Twitching.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Did Relieve and Cure.

"The doctor tried but couldn't relieve me" is a phrase commonly met with in the letters of a busy and grateful patient. The reason is plain. The doctor tries to cure the symptom and neglects the disease. In all cases of chronic headache, nervousness, spasms, general debility, dizziness, loss of appetite, inability to sleep, lack of energy, loss of flesh, lack of interest, morbid tendencies, hysteria, the disease is a nervous disorder and some means must be taken to strengthen and restore the nervous system. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is performing wonders every day and will cure you as it has thousands of others. Read how quickly it acted in the following case:

"A few years ago I was greatly troubled with nervousness and indigestion. While at work a dizzy spell would come over me and I would be forced to stop and rest. I suffered terribly from headaches and my nervousness was so marked as to cause almost constant twitching of the muscles. My doctor tried but could not relieve me. I finally began the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and continued until I have used four bottles, although I have not had a dizzy spell since taking the first dose. I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and shall take pleasure in recommending it whenever I can."—FRANK P. BENTLEY, Middlebury, Vt.

THE DRAUGHT

BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A yellow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, sick liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. The original Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to cleanse off the excess of liver and bile. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by Theodor's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than Theodor's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Hollins, S. C., March 10, 1901. I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to see a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me and is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

A Carrier Pigeon Visits The Tangier.

On Monday night a beautiful carrier pigeon alighted upon the steamer Tangier, of the B. C. & A. Ry. Co., while she was coming down the bay, not far from Cove Point. It was about 10.30 when this blue winged visitor boarded the steamer, and at once became the recipient of the hospitality and kindness of the entire crew. The little white billed stranger was first received by Second Officer J. H. Lyons, but later became the company of Thomas G. Whedon, first officer. There are three marks on the wings, but cannot be deciphered. This visitor, whose home is unknown, was fortunate in straying aboard the Tangier, where it will be well cared for.

We have Several Good Business Propositions to make you, and Here's the Point We do business on business principles. When we sell you a pair of shoes they are as good as can be manufactured for the money. People spend most of their time in their shoes, and this fact makes the quality of footwear a question of prime importance. Our proposition to you is to sell you good honest shoes at a price as low as is consistent with good values. We make this proposition to all prospective shoe buyers, fully believing that it is to your interest to do business with us. We have many advantages to offer you as a reason why you should do your shoe buying of us, the first of which is, we are exclusive Shoe dealers and also the largest buyers of Shoes on the Peninsula. We can offer you the largest and most complete stock to select from. We do not have to give you one size when your foot needs another. Our large stock enables us to carry all sizes and widths in stock. We take pains to see that every foot is properly fitted and also to select the proper kind of Shoe to meet the requirement for which it is intended. We have the exclusive sale in this city of all the best known and most popular makes of Shoes. A person is often judged by the company they keep, so is a merchant by the merchandise he handles, and while we stand behind every pair of fair priced Shoes we sell, whether made under some pet name or not. To those who want special lines we can offer such well known ones as the following: FOR MEN: The Walk-Over, W. L. Douglas, Crossett's Long Life. FOR BOYS AND GIRLS: The Rice & Hutchins, Burley Stevens & Co., Excelsior. FOR LADIES: Queen Quality, Zeigler Bros., Cinderella, Allnut Moody, Drew, Selby & Co. All of these are good ones in their class and have reputations established on merit, but the burden of our story is simply Shoes, and not the maker—trust us for that and we will always give you full value for your money or cheerfully refund you the same. Think over our proposition, come and see us and let us more fully explain and show you that we mean business and we feel sure that you will find that our interests are mutual. Yours for Shoes, R. ## BORELLI COMET VISIBLE.

Can Be Seen At Night Just Overhead.
Growing Brighter And Will Be Visible
For A Month Yet.

Astronomers are just now absorbed by the visitation in the high aerial of a new comet which promises to be the brightest for 10 years. It is termed the Borelli comet, having been discovered by Borelli at Marsilles about four weeks ago, and is now visible to the naked eye.

The orbit of the comet has been computed by Professor Perrine. It is now in a parabola in such a way that its nearest approach to the sun will occur on August 27 at a distance of about 31,- 000,000 miles. Its present distance from the sun is about 100,000,000 miles, and from the earth about 20,000,000.

To the unassisted eye the comet will appear as a hazy patch of light. An acute eye should be able to detect a short tail projecting away from the sun.

DIRECTLY OVERHEAD.

At 9 o'clock in the evening the comet is directly overhead, moving in a south westerly direction, and looks like a round, blurred star of about the fifth magnitude. Even with the naked eye it is easily distinguishable from bright stars in the same vicinity, but the tail is not visible except through an opera glass. Through the telescope it presents a large amount of thin, hazy coma and has a narrow tail, two degrees in length. The peculiarity of the comet is a brilliant minute stellar nucleus.

WILL GET BRIGHTER

Mr. Hooper of the Maryland Academy of Science, says that the comet will be in sight, moving toward the sun, for a month to come, and although constantly getting away from the earth will brighten considerably.

IN THE LONG AGO.

In former times the appearance of a comet, especially one of fiery aspect and with a long tail, created consternation in the world. They were supposed to be harbingers of evil, and endeavor has been made to trace a coincidence between these apparitions and important public events. They were often regarded as precursors of the downfall or the death of kings. There was a great comet before the assassination of Julius Caesar, and another before the invasion of Russia by Napoleon, which brought about his ruin.
There was also a remarkable one before the murder of President Garfield.

Scores of similar coincidences might be traced, especially in ancient times. Shakespeare alludes constantly to the belief in the significance of comets.
Modern opinion, however, is skeptical, especially as science has made pretty clearly the nature, composition and peculiarities of comets, and has been able to predict their movements. At present they come and go without exciting alarm or more than passing remark.

professional standing combine to is the finest tonic any man or woman can use who is weak from the after-effects of any serious illness.

"I have seen it used in a number of convalescent cases, and have seen several other tonics used, but I found that those who used Peruna had the quickest relief.

"Peruna seems to restore vitality, increase bodily vigor and renew health

PHARMACISTS' SESSION.

In 21st. Annual Convention at Ocean City, 31 New Members. $300 Balance in Treasury. Code of Ethics.

The second session of the twenty first annual meeting of the Maryland Pharmacological Association was in session at the Plimhinon Casino, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

The secretary's and the treasurer's reports were read and showed the growth of the association and its greater usefulness. The finances are in a more encouraging condition, and there will be a balance of over $300 in the treasurer's hands after all bills have been paid.
Twenty members were dropped during the year for non-payment of dues; 31 new members have been elected since the last annual meeting.

It was plainly shown that the association was strongly in favor of regular colleges of pharmacy, with laboratory schools, over the correspondence schools. This was ably supported in a paper by Prof. Daniel Base.

The association put itself on record as favoring a bronze statue at Washington as a memorial to the late William Proctor, the father of pharmacy, who was a native of Maryland.

PHARMACISTS AND PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Henry P. Hynon, chairman, made the report of the committee to confer with medical societies, and its recommendations were accepted by the association of the State Organization. He said:

This association has done valuable service to the State and has accomplished much for the betterment and advancement of pharmacy—at least, an auxiliary to medicine. Single-handed, against prejudice, narrowmindedness and selfish opposition, it has at last secured for the people of Maryland the legal protection from incompetents, which all other States and Territories had for a longer or shorter time already enjoyed.

The passage of a law in 1868 to regulate the practice of pharmacy in Baltimore City was promoted by the association known as the Maryland College of Pharmacy, but a general law for the State was not enacted until at the last session of our Legislature, after years of persistent fighting by the body we represent.

"Among the more important matters
recently transacted by the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association was the unanimous adoption of a code of ethics in which appears the following:

RESPECTING PHYSICIANS.

First—The pharmacist should positively refuse to prescribe for customers except in cases of urgent emergency.

Second—The substitution of one article for another, or one make of one article for another, in a physician's prescription, without the physician's consent, is condemned as a most reprehensible practice.

Third—The pharmacist should refuse to refill prescriptions or give copies of them when instructed to do so by the physician.

Fourth—Copies should not be placed upon containers unless ordered to be placed thereon by the prescriber, even though the patient should request it.
Nor should any word or label, like "For External Use," "Poison," "Caution," etc., be used without due regard for the wishes of the prescriber, provided the safety of the patient and family is not jeopardized.

Fifth—Whenever there is a doubt in the mind of the pharmacist as to the correctness of the physician's prescription or direction, he should invariably confer with the physician in order to avoid possible mistakes or unpleasantness and he should not attempt to make any change without such conference.

Sixth—Pharmacists should never discuss physicians' prescriptions with customers, nor disclose to them their composition.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
President—W. E. Brown, of Baltimore.

Vice Presidents—Owen C. Smith, of Baltimore; Albert Lopotville, of Baltimore; H. Howard, of Brookville.
Secretary—Louis Schuler, of Baltimore.

Treasurer—H. E. Rody, of Hagerstown.

Executive Committee—H. Lionel Meredith, of Hagerstown; Charles Morgan, of Baltimore; Thomas Holland, of Centrerville.

Members, J. E. Hengst, J. E. Bond,
Charles I. Baker and George A. Solt were recommended for appointment on the social committee.

—Among recent important real estate sales in Talbot county are these: Col.
Richard W. Bayley, Monastrevon Manor, on Miles river, in Miles River Neck, 260 acres, to Mr. Clifton Wharton, of New Haven, Pa., for $88,000—$108 an acre; the farm of the late Jonathan H.
Leonard, on Island creek, 208 acres, to J. Harry Leonard, of Talbot county, for $7,500—$36 an acre; Wm. Marchow's farm on Plaindealing creek, near Royal Oak, known as the Korb farm, 97 acres, to John F. George, of Talbot county, for $8,500—$81 an acre; Robert L.
Kamp, Kincaid, on Peach Blossom creek, near Llandoff, 77 acres, to Ray E. Middleagh and William E. Shannon, of Washington, for $4,500—$59 an acre.

SALISBURY ELKS GOING

To Be Represented At Annual Reunion in Baltimore Next Week. Extensive Entertaining Preparations.
Big Crab Feast.

A number of members of the Salisbury Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks have arranged to attend the annual reunion, beginning next Tuesday, in Baltimore, and will be in for the Monumental City Monday, to be present for the opening exercises. Among them are:

Messrs. James L. Powell, Exalted Ruler; G. Vickers White, Harry Ruark,
Charles E. Harper, Arthur Leonard,
D. C. Cannon, David S. Mumford, W.
Stoney Gordy, M. V. Brewington, Chas.
Bowen, Charles E. Disharoon, D. Lee Bergen, M. A. Humphreys, J. Cleveland White, Ernest A. Toadvine, Capt.
Leatherbury, Donald Graham, Dr. E. W.
Smith, Alan F. Benjamin, H. Winter
Owens, A. A. Gillie.

This will be the second of the great national gatherings which have selected Baltimore this summer. A vast number of the members of this order from all over the United States will go to Baltimore, and she has made arrangements to give the visit a most hospitable reception. The local lodge of Baltimore has been very active in making preparations for the entertainment of the order, in which they have had the hearty and enthusiastic co-operation of the entire people. As the visitors arrive, if they get there in the evening, they will see a brilliant and most artistic illumination of the city. They will be welcomed to the town by the Mayor, and on Thursday the entertainment will consist in part of a trip down the bay to a crab feast. It will be a sad but glorious day for the Chesapeake crabs, for over 50,000 of them will be boiled alive, butchered for this holiday. They will be prepared for the table by an array of colored cooks, with whom cooking is an instinct; and who have made the Eastern Shore famous.

It is believed that the number of visitors who will be attracted to Baltimore by this reunion will be very large, some estimating the number as high as 20, 000.

Next Tuesday night, at 11 o'clock, the hour of supreme moment to Elk-don, the great scheme of electrical illumination, upon which the Baltimore Elks have been working for weeks, will be seen in all its brilliancy and scope.

A SECRET OF THE ORDER.

The real significance of the hour of 11 to the Elk is one of the secrets of the order, but the feature connected with it that is known is that whenever two or more Elks meet at 11 o'clock they drink a toast to their "absent brothers." The ceremony is almost religiously observed, and it is the aim of the local Elks to make 11 o'clock of each night of next week during the stay of the Elks in Baltimore the most memorable hour of the day.

ELABORATE MARYLAND FLOAT.

One of the features of the parade will be a handsome float to represent "Our Country's Progress," donated to the parade committee by Mrs. Thekla Re-chner, 713 Portland street. It will be drawn by six white horses, and twenty-four persons will take part in the tableau.

HISTORY OF ELKDON.

The Order of Elks is a comparatively young organization, but its objects have so commended themselves that it has grown rapidly, and is now among the most numerous and powerful in the country. The order had its origin in 1868 and grew out of a convivial company known as the "Jolly Corks," which had weekly meetings in New York. It was modeled somewhat upon the plan of the "Buffaloes," an English benevolent order. The name "Elk" was selected because one of the originators of the order was born on Elk street in Buffalo. One of the rules of the order is that it shall be the duty of every member of this order to attend the funeral of a deceased brother on receiving notice to that effect, the relatives of the deceased sanctioning the same. One of the most interesting customs of the Elks is the annual service in memory of deceased brothers.

County Commissioners' Proceedings.

The County Commissioners of Wi-comico County were in session last Tuesday with the exception of Commissioner Jones who was indisposed.

The next meeting of the Board will be Tuesday, July 21.

Commissioner Adkins reported the sale of Upper Ferry for 1904 to Ernest Bounds, at $100.

Dr. Todd reported sale of Wicomico Ferry, across Wicomico Creek, to Charles Cottman, colored, for $130.00.

Sheriff county pays one half the cost of operating this ferry.

The Commissioners authorized Surveyor Shockley to survey the proposed road between the lands of E. J. Pacey and Alpheus Humphreys, starting at Rockwalking Church and connecting with the road leading from the Jess Davis farm to Upper Ferry.

STORMS NEAR HOME.

High Winds And Heavy Rains Cause Heavy Loss Of Property in Maryland. Baltimore Severely Hit. Condition Of Our Farmers' Crops, Etc.

The large storm disasters which have lately visited various parts of our country included Baltimore and counties of Western Maryland last Saturday and Sunday.

On Sunday thunderstorms were especially severe over many areas.
Heavy rains caused considerable damage in parts of Washington and Protessaw counties and over much of the interior districts. In the city of Baltimore heavy wind and rain accompanied the thunder, and during the height of the storm tornado conditions developed affecting an area of about five blocks in length and from one to two blocks in width; within this area several hundred houses were unroofed or otherwise badly damaged. The greatest loss occurred shortly after noon, and took place within an incredibly short space of time, only a few seconds elapsing between the lowering of a distinct fun-

AN IMPOSING CAVALCADE.

The Sultan of Morocco in Journey.

In the morning at 4 o'clock the bugle sounded to break camp. The foot soldiers arose, pulled up their tents and were away in the darkness. Gradually the remaining tents came down and the throng of Arabs were on the move. The sultan's tent remained. A little to one side his ministers and khalids patiently waited, the latter forming a large, hollow square, at one end of which stood the ministers, while in front of them a spacious blue and gold chair awaited its sacred occupant.

Presently the wall opened and he appeared, his masklike visage turning neither right nor left. With garments swaying rhythmically he walked to the chair and seated himself. A slave at his side fanned him with a white silken cloth to defend his sacred master from imaginary insects. He whispered to the slave, who called to one of the ministers. Hurriedly he appeared, lowering his hood; then, after removing his slippers just back of his majesty, presented himself and, after a short conversation, was dismissed.

Presently five gorgeously saddled horses were brought before their royal master, who, with a motion of his hand, chose one, the others being taken away, while he rose with great solemnity and mounting, rode to all sides of the square, to be thrice saluted by each body of soldiers. This ceremony completed, the musicians, armed with oboes and tom-toms, disturbed the atmosphere with a doleful, prehistoric dirge, and the procession was under way.

It was nothing but an entanglement of artillery, infantry, flags, horsemen and court officers in a mad spot, but an early morning machine tearing its insides furiously, the wheat, straw and chaff found their channels at once and left the ignorant beholder spell-bound. Behold! They were moving with military precision, a brother of the sultan at the head, followed by an extremely wide row of mounted soldiers carrying silken standards of all colors.

Then came the artillery, rattling and bumping, and coming to grief often where the roads were bad. Next followed mounted soldiers and a score of government officers, a sort of police. After a short space, riding alone, came the khalid of the malikwa (master of ceremonies), very straight and very black, picturesquely hugging his gun close to him.

After him followed four led horses abreast, all richly saddled, for the sultan's use should be tire of his mount. Then, with some distance intervening, came the sultan, alone save for six black slaves who kept up a continual waffling of white cloths in the direction of his face.

A palanquin containing the blue chair then appeared, carried between two mules just in front of another row of mounted standard bearers, followed by the minister of war and the important members of the court. All were obliged to turn aside and make way for the sultan, alone save for six black slaves who kept up a continual waffling of white cloths in the direction of his face.

How Ruskin Subscribed. At the dedication of the Jacob Tower Institute of Port Deposit, Md., Leighton Coleman, the bishop of Delaware, said:

"No doubt you are all aware that John Ruskin was opposed to the profligate erection of new churches. Begging for building funds for churches he especially abhorred. He claimed that unless there was a claimant need for a church, unless the people desired, it passionately, unless there was on hand an abundance of money for its building, it would be a failure—a failure in point of beauty and in point of usefulness."

"A friend of mine, ignorant of this prejudice, once wrote and asked him to subscribe for the building of a certain church. The letter that Ruskin sent in reply was a masterpiece. It was long, it contained with the most burning and vehement eloquence the church's erection. But my friend took the letter to an autograph dealer and sold it readily for $30, putting Ruskin down for that amount on his subscription list."

Seeing Things as They Are. A dull boy came to the Adelphi Art school in Brooklyn. His train of thought was so peculiar that Professor John Whitaker, who for more than a quarter of a century has been engaged in developing Brooklynites to be artists, gave up all hope with that boy.

"Did you ever see a man's foot with six toes?" said Professor Whitaker, irritably glancing at the drawing board on which the young man had been trying to draw a foot.

"Don't know as I did," drawled the boy.

"Then why do you draw that foot with six toes?" said the professor, more irritated than ever.

"Because your old cast of a foot has six toes," said the boy. An examination proved this to be a fact.

"That boy is a successful artist now," said Professor Whitaker, and his success in life came from drawing just what he saw. If I could get boys who would draw six toes on a foot if six toes showed on the cast I would turn out more artists."—New York Times.

Postal Statistics. There are over 75,000 post offices in the United States. Next to Great Britain with 22,400, France with 11,000. No other country has as many as 10,000. In the number of letter boxes Germany leads with 123,000, followed by the United States with 118,000. Germany also has more postal officials than the United States—253,170, as against 226,625.

"I take pleasure in recommending Victor Infant Relief, for it helped our baby very much—brought health and then kept her well. When only eleven months old she weighed 21 pounds. Victor Infant Relief alone, I think, has made her so hearty. It is a remedy that deserves much praise and is invaluable to the mother." 25 cents will buy this wonderful baby medicine from you through...

Her Life Night Have Been Saved

Two-thirds of the inmates of our hospitals are women. They are in most cases either for treatment or for an operation, made necessary by advanced stages of female troubles which have resulted in ovaritis, tumor, or displacement of the womb.

"AN OPERATION NECESSARY."

How these words after the examination strike terror to a woman's soul, and with what regrets she hears them, when she considers that the operation has become necessary through her own neglect. Female derangements cannot cure themselves, and neglecting the warnings of nature only means putting it off until there is no cure. The woman who lets her trouble make headway pays the penalty of a dangerous operation and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at the best, and the operation often proves fatal when her life might have been saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration; or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, and the blues, they should remember that there is one tried and never-failing remedy; Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound at once removes such troubles.

READ THE FOLLOWING LETTERS.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you how much good you have done me and how thankful I am to you for it. For five years I have not been free from pain for a day. I have had backaches, headaches, and those awful dragging sensations with leucorrhoea, and when menstruation appeared I was in such a condition I could hardly sit up. I doctored all the time, but nothing helped me, and I was told that an operation was necessary."

"Two months ago a friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No one knows what it has done for me and how thankful I am for it. It brought me the first well days I have had for five years. It did for me what doctors could not do, and I want every suffering woman to know about it."—LOUISE NAUER, 751 E. 166th St., New York City.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had terrible hemorrhages, being lacerated from the birth of my child. The doctor told me that if I would have an operation I could be well and strong. I submitted to it, but was worse than before; no one knows what I suffered. Finally a friend advised me to try your Vegetable Compound; I did so, and commenced to feel better; I continued its use, and it has done for me what doctors could not do. I am strong and well. If women with any kind of female troubles would only consult you before submitting to an operation they would be spared many hours of pain and suffering. I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me."—ANNA KUMCHORF, 153 E. 100th St., New York City.

WISE IS THE WOMAN WHO HAS FAITH IN Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Had a Large Family.

It is said that a farmer living near Fulton was standing in his barnyard a few days ago when a well dressed stranger leaned against the fence and inquired how much he would take for one of the cows in the lot.

"One hundred dollars," was the reply. "I'll take her," said the man. "Can you give me two more like her?"

"The farmer drove two more out of the barn and offered the three to the stranger for $300."

"All right," said the stranger, beginning to climb the fence. "I want them to furnish milk for my children."

"How many children have you?" asked the farmer in some astonishment.

"Ninety-three," was the calm reply. The farmer was just getting ready to take the man his name, with the purpose of sending an account of his life and public services to President Roosevelt, when two guards from the Fulton insane asylum appeared and led the stranger gently away.—Kansas City Journal.

Lord Lovat's Collapse.

An interesting feature of the recent army debate in the house of lords was the collapse of Lord Lovat, who, on rising to make his maiden speech, said, "My lords, I venture to think this army corps system, by producing a definite scheme"—and then sat down, unable to utter another word. His failure in the house of lords was such a contrast to Lord Lovat's gallant work in the South African war, during which he raised and commanded a corps of scouts and was the distinguished service order, that it has produced much good natured comment in the English papers. One writer points out that Lord Lovat can console himself with the reflection that only a short time ago the Duke of Devonshire rose from his seat in the house of lords, looked slowly around, intending to speak, and then sat down without uttering a word.

Bishop Elliott.

The most venerable among the prelates of England is now the Bishop of Gloucester, the Right Rev. Charles Elliott, D. D. He is nearly eighty-four and recently celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his consecration as a bishop. His lordship, whom the Earl of Beaconsfield once wished to make archbishop of Canterbury, enjoys the singular privilege, accorded to him after a serious accident in which he was involved in early life, of traveling free when he chooses over any of the railways in the United Kingdom.

Another Way of Hanging It.

When Mr. ... was poor, they used to say she was a great talker, but since she became rich it is different. "Indeed! What do they say now?" "They say she is a brilliant conversationalist."

THE PRICE OF VICTORY.

Undaunted Courage to Fight the Battle to the End.

If you are seeking to accomplish any great serious purpose that your mind and your heart tell you is right, you must have the courage to face trial, sorrow and disappointment; to meet them squarely and to move forward unscathed and undaunted. In the sublimity of your perfect faith in the outcome you can make them as powerless to harm you as a dewdrop falling on the pyramids.

Truth, with time as its ally, always wins in the end. The knowledge of the inappreciation, the goldness and the indifference of the world should never make you pessimistic. They should inspire you with that large, broad optimism that sees that all the opposition of the world can never keep back the triumph of truth; that your work is so great that the petty jealousies, misrepresentations and hardships caused by those around you dwindle into nothingness. What cares the messenger of the king for his trials and sufferings if he know that he has delivered his message? Large movements, great plans, always take time for development. If you want great things, pay the price like a man.

Any one can plant radishes. It takes courage to plant acorns and to wait for the oaks. Learn to look not merely at the clouds, but through them to the sun shining behind them. When things look darkest grasp your weapon firmer and fight harder. There is always more progress than you can perceive, and it is really only the outcome of the battle that counts.

And when it is all over and the victory is yours, and the smoke clears away and the dust of the powder is dissipated, and you bury the friendships that died because they could not stand the strain, and you nurse back the wounded and faint hearted who loyally stood by you, even when doubting, then the hard years of fighting will seem but a dream. You will stand brave, heartened, strengthened by the struggle, recreated to a new, better and stronger life by a noble battle nobly waged in a noble cause. And the price will then seem to you—nothing.—From "The Power of Truth," by William George Jordan. Published by Brentano's.

Memory in Children. An investigation into the power of memory in children was recently made by the director of the department of child study for the Chicago public schools. It was found, among other interesting results, that there is no "memory period," no period in early school life when the memory is stronger than it is at any later portion of the child's life, a period especially adapted for learning to spell. While there are no memory stages there are undoubtedly periods of interest that are especially favorable for the child's learning to spell, times when the child is aroused from indifference or from a feeling that spelling is a small part of life to a recognition that it is important. It has been pointed out that during early school life the auditory memory is the stronger and later that the visual memory is stronger. During the whole of school life the audio visual memory is stronger than either the auditory or visual. It is a stimulating appeal to both sight and hearing produces a richer and more usable image than is brought about by an appeal to either sense alone. It would seem from this that the more senses we can appeal to the deeper will be the impression.—Harper's Weekly.

Reparée in Church. The friendly and familiar atmosphere of the average small rural western church sometimes gives rise to embarrassing incidents. Dr. David is a prominent man in a little rural western church, and he generally takes a quiet little dose during the sermon. Sister Sarah is an elderly, long winded woman, who likes to "exhort" after the preacher has concluded his remarks. Not long ago at a night service Sister Sarah arose and discoursed at great length. The listeners became visibly restive. Dr. David also arose and said bluntly:

"Sister Sarah, it would be an imposition to detain this congregation any longer."

With flashing eyes Sister Sarah retorted: "Tain't no imposition on you, doctor; you're tuck your nap."

Then the clergyman, with uplifted hands, said benignly, "Let us be dismissed."—Indianapolis Journal.

Air Ships as a Possibility. The subject of aerial navigation is one of never falling interest, particularly at this time, when many engineers agree that the problem is one whose solution may be expected in the near future. Almost all engineers, however, further agree that the solution will never come along the lines of the dirigible balloon; that the many interesting experiments with so called air ships, which rely upon the gas bag to overcome the attraction of gravitation, while drawing popular interest to the subject of air navigation, do nothing toward advancing the time when real air ships will become a possibility.—Aeronautical World.

Slave Markets in Morocco. The larger cities of Morocco still have slave markets, at which auctions are held twice a week. Girls fetch from $25 to $250, according to their beauty, which is practically synonymous with weight. Most of them come from the Sudan. The lot of a Moroccan slave is better than that of many servants in Europe. Few care to gain their freedom. Christians are not allowed to buy slaves. In the eyes of the Mohammedans they rank far below the slaves.

Hicks For Last Of July.

A regular storm period is central on the 20th, extending its influence from about the 18th to 28th, normally. But we find that the Moon is both new and in perigee on the 24th, which fact will greatly tend to increase and prolong very high temperature, very probably diverting actual storms from the period, 18th and 28th, and drawing them forward into the reactionary period central on the 25th, 26th and 27th. One of the warmest waves in July may reasonably be counted from about Friday the 24th to Monday the 27th. On and touching the 27th, many active electrical storms are more than probable. The equinoctial period of the planet Mars begins about the 20th. Its influence will be added to other disturbing causes the last ten days of July, and the general tone of character of the storms and weather prevailing the last half of July will indicate to a large degree the character of storm and weather through August and much of September. The month comes to its close in the first stage of a regular storm period, the culmination of which will fall in the opening days of August. As to the general outlook for July, we do not forecast a superabundance of rainfall. The drought conditions which have prevailed in the New England section and part of Canada, we fear will work by long strides into the interior parts of the continent; but it will take two to three years for it to reach a maximum and run its course in its country. Some eastern to northern parts of our great agricultural regions will feel a pinch of dryness in July and August, the most other sections will have little moisture to waste. We will venture to say that the autumn will be favorable to late planted crops.

Unclaimed Letters.

Shouting Christians.

Some Christians, who formerly shouted, no longer do so. Some never shouted. Some do not approve of it; others see never will, never in buoyant, hopeful spirits, so don't feel like it. Rev. Jas. S. Bush, Yellow Creek, Pa., says: "Victor Liver Syrup is still healing the sick. It seems as if God's blessing is upon it. Listen, women that have been sick for years are now at work and singing God's praise, and men are living a new and happier life. Good reports from the Victor Remedies everywhere." All the Druggists and Merchants carry them.

Tom calls them a good healthy pair of calves, and hopes to live to see them fully developed. Miss Beale Gordy, of Chincoteague Island, has been a guest this week of Miss Beale Hanley on the farm. Miss Gordy is not only a pianist but a violinist also. Since her arrival one of our young gentlemen has purchased and insists upon the young lady giving him lessons upon the latter instrument. So far he has been unable to gain her consent, but still hopes to do so.

Mr. Eugene Marshall, of Orville, Alabama gave his Berlin friends a most delightful surprise by dropping down suddenly in their midst last Friday night on the B. & O. train. His last visit, 19 years ago, makes Berlin a changed town to him, though he thinks it very greatly improved. He is quartered at the Atlantic pro team, and then on to Ocean City, stopping at the Atlantic also, will remain about a month. Mr. Marshall left the country in 1869 going West as far as Illinois and from there to Alabama where he married and has been located ever since. ORDER PUBLICATION.

James Elliott, et al., Plaintiffs, vs. Zenobia Howard, et al., Defendants. In the Circuit Court of Wicomico County, No. 1424 Chancery.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Wicomico County, in the State of Maryland, of which John W. Brown, late of said County deceased, died seized and possessed, for the purpose of partition among the parties entitled thereto. The Bill states that the said John W. Brown was in full lifetime, and at the time of his death seized and possessed of certain real estate which is particularly described in said bill; that being so seized, he departed this life intestate about the year 1881, leaving surviving him a widow, who has since died, and certain heirs at law, and the descendants of whom, are living at the present time, to wit:

1. The heirs of Sallie Horseman, deceased, who was a daughter of the said John W. Brown, as follows: Lottie Phillips, who is married to William S. Phillips, Maggie Cox, who is married to George Cox, Bertie Lloyd, who is married to William Lloyd, Georgie Evans, who is married to Hampton Evans, Katie V. Bailey, who is married to Charles L. Bailey, and Zenobia Howard, who is married to Frederick W. Howard, all of whom are daughters of the said Sallie Horseman, adults, residing in said Wicomico County, also Clara Bedworth, who is married to John Bedworth, and is a daughter of the said Sallie Horseman, an adult, residing in Worcester County, in said State, also Rodney A. Horseman, an infant son of the said Sallie Horseman residing in said Wicomico County.

2. The heirs of Margaret E. Elliott, a deceased daughter, said John W. Brown, as follows: James Elliott, a son who is of full age, unmarried and resides in said Wicomico County, Isaac Elliott, a son who is married to Augusta Elliott, both of full age and residing in said Wicomico County, Isaac Talbot County, in said State, and Glen Howard, an infant grandson of the said Margaret E. Elliott, residing in said Wicomico County.

3. The heirs of Melissa Bradley, deceased, who was a daughter of the said John W. Brown, and left surviving her, her husband, George F. Breyer, who is of full age, residing in said Wicomico County, as follows: John Bradley, a son who is of full age, Lorenzo Bradley and Myrtle Bradley, a son and daughter respectively who are infants, all residing in said Wicomico County, Eula Bradley, an infant daughter, who is the non resident of this State, residing in the State of Delaware, Lizzie Corran, a daughter who is married to William Corran, both of full age, non-residents of the State, residing in the State of Delaware, Eazel Maggie Jackson, an infant granddaughter, the daughter of Maggie Jackson, who was a daughter of the said Melissa Bradley, and was married to Lewis Jackson who still survives her, is of full age, and with Eazel Maggie Jackson is a non-resident, residing in the State of Delaware.

4. Clara Jackson, a daughter of the said John W. Brown, who is married to John Jackson, both of full age and residing in said Wicomico County. 5. Albert Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Sarah Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia. 6. George Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Annie Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia. 7. P. F. Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Mamie Taylor Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia. The Bill states further that the said real estate is not susceptible of partition among the parties entitled thereto with out mutual consent and order of the court, and in order to make partition thereof it will be necessary that the said real estate be sold and the proceeds thereof distributed among the parties according to their several rights and interests, and pray for a decree for a sale of said real estate for that purpose. It is thereupon, this 14th day of July, in the year 1903, ordered by the Circuit Court of Wicomico in Equity, that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be printed in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County once in each of four successive weeks, before the 9th day of August, in the year 1903, give notice to the said non-resident defendants of the object and substance of this bill, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 25th day of August next, to show cause if any they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed. REALITY vs. WOULD-BE REPUTATION. Some very shrewd, if unscrupulous, newspaper work is being done by the press agents who are booming President Roosevelt for the 1904 republican nomination.

Let us see what kind of fights the President has been making against the criminal trusts of the country and in the interest of the "plain people."

Consumers of Coal to Bear the Burden. Among the highly interesting readings to householders on the first of each month says the Philadelphia Ledger is the announcement that another 10 cents has been added to the price of anthracite coal for domestic use.

mal price at that time of year, and by this system of advances of 10 cents a month the price of coal is steadily maintained with beautiful regularity during the whole year, just 60 cents above the very high prices which prevailed before the strike.

The annual production and consumption of anthracite coal has ranged in the past from 55,000,000 to 60,000,000 tons, and we learn from the testimony of Mr. Bar at the interstate commerce hearing that the demand and consumption are steadily increasing.

The increase of wages to the miners is another charge on the operators. The wages increase to contract miners was 10 per cent flat and certain increases under the sliding scale.

Assuming that, on account of other wage increases the operator will pay 15 per cent more for the mining of coal, or 15 cents a ton, it still appears that a permanent charge of about $30,000,000 a year has been fixed upon the shoulders of the consumer over and above the previous unreasonably high prices.

Memorable among recent delightful events in younger society was a party given by Mrs. Margaret Cooper, Monday evening, in honor of her nephew, Mr. Howard Ruark, of Georgetown, N. C. Games were enjoyed until late, when refreshments were served.

Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, discoverer of the parasite Uncinaria Americana, generally known as the hook worm, or "germ of laziness," has made another discovery in the parasite world, which is considered by the Government savants as of the greatest importance.

Two live bridges over Frederick County streams have been washed away by floods in that county during the past six weeks, including three iron structures.

AT OLD GAMES.

With the lawn full of children, and entering heartily into their sports, we forgot our ministerial dignity, and gave ourselves to the good cheer of the hour. We were a boy again.

There is nothing like growing old gracefully, an approaching birthday anniversary reminding us that we are traveling towards sundown. Because one's hair is getting thin on top of the head and a few wrinkles have been stretched along the brow is no reason why life should be sour.

With the passing on of the years, of course, trouble comes. That is to be expected. Every human life is a volume of grief and disappointment, punctuated here and there with the exclamation mark of a grave.

But at the time of which we write the children were playing a game of hide-and-seek. It was fun for them and fun for us. They liked especially to have the minister be "it."

There is nothing like growing old gracefully, an approaching birthday anniversary reminding us that we are traveling towards sundown. Because one's hair is getting thin on top of the head and a few wrinkles have been stretched along the brow is no reason why life should be sour.

seek, of leap frog or blind-man's buff, or hunt-the-thimble. In those wider games may they be honest and true and faithful!

But it is time for the youngsters to go to bed. Come, boys and girls; upstairs with you. It is nine o'clock. Go to sleep and get ready for another day of fun. We want you to awake fresh and bright on the morrow.

So will come the evening of life to the larger boys and girls of the home, the pulpit, the bank, the school, the store and the shop. May it be that the shadows then deepened around us shall be startled with the promises of Him whom the Christian calls Father, the hand that tucks in the covers of the couch of death charged with his love who is also a Comforter like a mother, and a kind voice saying, "Good night! Fear no evil. Awake in the morning into a glorious immortality."

The base ball patrons of Salisbury effected permanent organization Thursday evening by electing Mr. Gro. V. Bell, Manager; Mr. Harry C. Fooks, Treasurer and Mr. Augustus Toadine, Secretary. Steps are being taken to sign what new players that may be necessary to give proper strength to the home team. Other towns are being corresponded with, and it is desired to arrange such a schedule as will give two games on home grounds each week. It is hoped by the management to arrange the first games by the middle of next week.

F. A. Grier & Son, proprietors of the Salisbury Foundry and Machine Co., will furnish two 10-horse coal oil engines which will drive twin screws to equip the 60 foot launch which Mr. Otis Lloyd is having constructed by Messrs. Pusey, Holland and Austin, of Holland's Island. The engine of the International Power Co., of Stamford, Conn., for whom Messrs. F. A. Grier & Son are Pennsylvania representatives made so favorable an impression on Mr. Lloyd's other launch mentioned last week, as to create a demand for more of like design.

The trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will in a short time be running on the elevated railroad structure through Wilmington. Of course it will be some time before the permanent elevated railroad is completed, but the company will run cars over a temporary trestle work at the upper end.

SAY, YOU! DOES DIS JOINT GIVE UP DOUGH FER PLUNDER DEY SELLS IF DE PLUNDER DON'T KETCH ON?

You can imagine the surprise that came to Lacy Thoroughgood July 8th when a neatly dressed, curly headed youngster walked up to him and fired this question at him point blank. He was informed that Lacy Thoroughgood cheerfully refunds money for goods that do not prove satisfactory, that "a pleased patron is a good advertiser". "that Thoroughgood prefers to satisfy a customer to making a small profit at the expense of his happiness" when his "SHIRTLETS broke in" OH, cheer it, give up 50 cents and take a vacation, and he handed Thoroughgood a straw hat. He got back his 50 cents and started toward the door, dived under a counter as a woman came in, but he was too late, for she dived after him, dragged him and shook him and said, aren't you ashamed? After I trotted all over town to get you a Straw Hat for you to sneak it out and bring it back to get 50 cents to buy fire crackers for 4th of July, I'll make it warm for you when I get you home—She bought the hat over again, and the youngster remarked I won't be able to sit down for a week after this—Lacy Thoroughgood is buying new Straw Hats every day and putting them in his up town Hat Store, Thoroughgood never intends for anybody to go to the Hat Store without finding just the Hat they want, consequently he's adding new Straw Hats every day, you know how it's always been before in Salisbury late in the season, about camp meeting time you couldn't buy a decent Straw Hat in town, but you can this season, you can get all you want of them at Lacy Thoroughgood's and James Thoroughgood's Hat Store.

The Crow That Wears a Fool's Cap.
The following clever way of keeping crows away from a grainfield is used by the farmer of Holland:
He makes some small caps of stout paper and smears around the inner side of the mouth of each some bird lime or other sticky stuff. In these he puts some grains of corn and stands them about his fields by pressing their points into soft earth.
When the crow finds one of these paper caps, he thinks himself in great luck until he attempts to peck at the tempting grain, when, to his astonishment, he finds the cap attached to his head—a regular fool's cap—which will not even allow him to see what course to take if he flies up.
However, he succeeds in reaching some coarse grass or bushes and after much bewildered scrambling and flopping about gets his head out of this undesirable cap and ever afterward avoids the field where there are more of them.

Adam's Birthday.
Formerly Oct. 23 was regarded as Adam's birthday. Theologians of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries wasted much scholarship in efforts to settle both the manner and the date of creation. Dr. John Lightfoot, vice chancellor of Cambridge, a Hebrew scholar of European reputation, published a statement to the effect that, after years of research, he had succeeded in discovering the precise moment when the earth "rose out of chaos" and man made his appearance upon it. This learned divine declared that "heaven and earth, center and circumference, were created all together in the same instant and clouds full of water," and that "his work took place and man was created by the Trinity on Oct. 23, 4004 B. C., at 9 o'clock in the morning."

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D., Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Chicago, July 12.—In view of the startling increase in the crime of self-destruction, as shown by the latest statistics, the subject chosen by Dr. Talmage for his discourse today is a most timely one. His text is Job 11, 9, "Curse God and die."

Two incitements—desperate, fierce, definite, outrageous! The one urges the broken hearted father, the financial bankrupt, the physically tormented man, to grit his teeth and, with flashing eyes and uplifted hand, hurl a futile malediction at the Almighty, to curse God with an eternal blasphemy. What a shocking, appalling suggestion! Enough to make all heavens stand aghast in horror and to render even the demon infested caverns of a hopeless inferno silent with fear and to turn the flushed cheeks aflame with the fire of eternal wrath with terror. Curse God! Who could do that but a human being crazed and desperate and reckless under intolerable anguish?

The second incitement puts in the hands of the sufferer the suicide's knife, the hangman's noose or the vial labeled with the two fatal words, "Deadly Poison." To how many in every age has that insidious temptation come? In the United States alone more than 30,000 persons yielded to it during the past four years. In Chicago alone 1,294 persons passed out of life by the suicide's gate in three years—nine victims on a single Sabbath.

In two months of the present year seventy-five lives have ended in self-immolation. How long will the human race listen to that hideous voice which bids Job seek in death escape from his misery? That tempter's voice is sounding louder and louder every day. Shall the crime of self-murder be allowed longer to spread the pernicious doctrine that with one stroke of the razor across the jugular vein or with one plunge in front of a flying locomotive or with one leap from high building or lofty palace the would-be suicide can find rest, eternal rest, God given, blissful oblivion for all who are weary of life and peace for souls sick of the results of sin?

The increasing suicidal epidemic of the present generation should be halted in its onward march of destruction. I lift my voice today in warning against this evil. It cannot be stayed by upbraiding a mangled corpse or by calling a dead man a coward. I would prayfully and earnestly try to indicate some of the causes which produce it. Then, in guarding you against the incipient evil, I might perhaps by the grace of God keep some from ever tottering and swaying on the verge of the precipice or tumbling into a suicide's grave. The gunpowder magazine can be exploded by a spark. We would deal this morning with primal causes rather than with resultant configurations.

Atheism Responsible. First, I charge atheism with the chief responsibility for the crime. Self-murder is the hideous black venged executioner of the mercless monster we call atheism, agnosticism, infidelity. It is the old, slimy serpent coiled up under the overshadowing branches of the gnarled and worm eaten tree of unbelief, at the foot of which sits the grinning, bleared eyed hag misery crooning a dirge for humanity. It is the death rattle of a human being whose parched lips have been set to the rim of the chalice filled with the scorching, poisonous concoction of blasphemy and falsehood compounded by a Voltaire, a Rousseau, a Thomas Paine or a Robert G. Ingersoll. It is the whetstone, wet with human blood, upon which the moral sensibilities can be blunted and at the same time the suicide's knife sharpened, for it teaches immortal man to be responsible for the crime. Ingersoll. Source of True Happiness. Now, my friends, the human being who commits suicide murders himself because the golden breast of fortune of wealth has plumed her wings and disappeared from sight because the iconoclast of trouble has shattered the idol of fame in doing a fool's business. Happiness, true happiness, the happiness for which we all long and for which some of us are seeking, is not dependent upon outside surroundings, but upon the condition of the heart. Some of the most unhappy human beings I have known were the so-called worldly successful men. Did all the unlimited financial wealth of Nathan Rothschild make him happy? For many years he was the universally recognized financial king of Europe. In a single day he made over $9,000,000. At the battle of Waterloo he was an anxious spectator. As soon as that battle was decided he put spurs to his horse and rode like a madman toward London. He had a relay of horses and with a him and a special bat chartered to take him across the channel. Then, next morning, he appeared upon the London Exchange and devaluated the report that Wellington was defeated. Securities tumbled. His brokers bought them up by the millions of dollars. "The London Times" dispatches from Wellington announced that Napoleon's army was annihilated. Securities at once jumped upward. Nathan Rothschild pocketed his millions of profit. But though Nathan Rothschild was the wealthiest financier in all Europe, he was one of the most unhappy of men. When a friend visited him one day and said, "You ought to be a happy man with all this wealth," Nathan turned and with a look of scorn, answered: "Happy! Happy! I happy! Hosh! Let us change the subject."

If wealth does not in itself produce happiness neither does worldly fame nor honor. Men strive for place and power as if with them they were sure of happiness. They plot and conspire and murder that they may, mount the steps of a throne, and when they succeed they find that they have gained nothing but anxiety and worry. When the Serbian king and queen, Alexander and Draga, were assassinated Pope Leo XIII. was heard to exclaim in the Vatican, "Oh, when will the people learn that thrones stained with blood are not worth having? And yet for financial wealth and worldly honor thousands of men will survive their all. They will follow Rome with a will, though for all that Rome is a great snare. His idealism would do for his fellow men as did the millionaire capitalist recently did for his friends. He provided, by last will and testament, that "no survivor of a religious character be held at his grave; that a special train of Pullman be chartered to take his remains from Louisville to Cincinnati to be cremated; that the buffet cars be well stocked with good things to eat and drink; that while his remains are being cremated an orchestra render a programme of popular and select music; and that when an intermission is reached the friends ask the members of the orchestra to drink to the dead man's memory." That is the consistent outcome of the total annihilation belief. The earnest Christian disciple says, "Life is not a joke; death is not a snare." Life is an opportunity for doing good and for struggling against evil. Because the good as well as the evil lives on for ever and ever we ought to put ourselves in the hands of the Almighty, who arranges our lot for us, and say, as did Job, "All the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change come."

The unbeliever in the gospel says: "If there is a hell it is to be found this side and not the other side of the grave. When things go wrong the best way to escape suffering is to snap the silver cord of human life and silence the beating heart." The Christian disciple says: "Sanctified troubles are a spiritual means by the grace of God for raising an immortal soul on and up. Unsanctified troubles are the inexcusable means of dragging a sinful, defiant soul on and forever down. 'It is that unjust let him be unjust still, and he which is filthy let him be filthy still, and he that is righteous let him be righteous still, and he that is holy let him be holy still.'" Such are the two extremes—the fetters of the believers in total annihilation at the brink of the grave and those of the earnest disciple of Jesus Christ. Do you wonder that I charge the hideous monster atheism, agnosticism and infidelity with being the chief causes of this accursed suicidal epidemic? Do you wonder that I look to the gospel of Jesus Christ to stay the hand of self-immolation? Will you not, by bucking on the gospel armor, prepare to wage incessant war against the insidious demons who blight the lives of your fellow men by robbing them of peace, joy and faith and leaving them so despoiled and embittered that they prefer death to life?

False Standards of Happiness. False standards for happiness can be catalogued among the frequent, prolific causes of the suicidal sin. They are the deceiving mirages which tempt the weary life traveler to lose himself in the midst of a Sahara of sand. They are the deceitful stars, twinkling their benedictions over altars of silver and gold and of fame, which suddenly go out and leave the devotees worshipping in total darkness. They are the musical voices of the sirens singing their sweetest songs when luring their victims on to fatal shipwreck.

In the false standards of happiness can be found the origin of the disappointments which so often end in suicide. Men do not first seek wealth or fame to possess those treasures, as a miser might hoard up his gold. They desire the merchant prince's palace and the king's throne because they foolishly think that happiness is a coy maiden who loves to robe herself in silks and to have her throat and fingers glitter with precious jewels, and therefore they can the more readily find her in the rich man's mansion than in the poor man's hut. If they cannot have wealth or fame or worldly honor is about to be taken away from them, then they feel they cannot be happy. Then, with one pull of the pistol's trigger, they fling away their blighted lives, as did the late "cotton king" of Louisiana, who lost his fortune in Wall street, or as did the late Sir Hector Macdonald of the British army, who killed himself to avoid facing the publicity of a court martial and a disgraceful dismissal from the king's service.

Source of True Happiness. Now, my friends, the human being who commits suicide murders himself because the golden breast of fortune of wealth has plumed her wings and disappeared from sight because the iconoclast of trouble has shattered the idol of fame in doing a fool's business. Happiness, true happiness, the happiness for which we all long and for which some of us are seeking, is not dependent upon outside surroundings, but upon the condition of the heart. Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and health, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I feel like a different person. I can do any work I care to do."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

Tried but Could Not Relieve Me Of Headache, Dizziness, Twitching.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Did Relieve and Cure.

"The doctor tried but couldn't relieve me" is a phrase commonly met with in the letters we receive from grateful patients. The reason is plain. The doctor tries to cure the symptom and neglects the disease. In all cases of chronic headache, nervousness, weakness, general debility, dizziness, loss of appetite, inability to sleep, lack of energy, loss of flesh, lack of interest, morbid tendencies, hysteria, the disease is a nervous disorder and some means must be taken to strengthen and restore the nervous system. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is performing wonders every day and curing thousands of cases of the above named ailments. Read how quickly it acted in the following case:

"A few years ago I was greatly troubled with nervousness and indigestion. While at work a dizzy spell would come over me and I would be forced to stop and rest. I suffered terribly from headaches and my nervousness was so marked as to cause almost constant twitching of the muscles. My doctor tried but could not relieve me. I finally began the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and continued until I have used four bottles, although I have not had a dizzy spell since taking the first dose. I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and I will take pleasure in recommending it whenever I can."—FRANK P. BENTLEY, Middlebury, Vt.

Netalon's Remedy CURES RHEUMATISM OR Money Refunded.

Berlin, Md., March 9, 1903. I have used Netalon's Rheumatism and Gout Remedy for many years both upon myself for Gout and in my practice for both Gout and Rheumatism, and have found it to be all they claim for it, a sovereign remedy for rheumatism with a case of either Rheumatism or Gout that it did not give speedy relief, and often times cured permanently.

Mr. G. M. Myers, the well-known shoemaker of Winchester avenue and 14th street, Ashland, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are like true friends, the longer you know them the better they are appreciated. I can add nothing to the statement I first made in 1896 after I procured the remedy at the Ventura Drug Co. and took a course of the treatment, which cured me. I was absolutely free from all backache for nearly three years, then I noticed a slight ache, as the result of a cold, in my back. A box of Doan's Kidney Pills dissolved it. I have recommended this remedy to many, and have never heard of one who did not endorse the claims made for it."

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea. "About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescription and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured me. For sale by all dealers.

One of the features of the Fourth of July celebration at Park, Baltimore county, was the unfurling at the residence of Mr. George M. Halle of a handsome silk United States flag, which had been presented by the ladies of Long Green to the Long Green Riflemen on July 4, 1847. The flag was worked on one side an American eagle and on the other the inscription: "Presented by the Ladies of Long Green to the Long Green Riflemen, July 4, 1847." The late Charles T. Halle, father of Mr. George M. Halle, was captain of the riflemen, and the late George H. Carman was first lieutenant. There were 60 members and the survivors are Messrs. Samuel M. Raskin, Ellingworth C. Carman and William Fullen. The riflemen were organized on the eve of the Mexican War and disbanded at the outbreak of the Civil War.

Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tidale, Summerton, S. C. Catarrh of the Stomach. When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it, that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerve, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell, Tex.

Rescued from Suffering and Death by PAINE'S Celery Compound THE GREAT MEDICINE.

MR. ALFRED BROWN, A Prominent and Popular Citizen, Says: "After the Use of Paine's Celery Compound, I Am Now in the Best of Health."

The greatest of modern physicians, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., L. D., after years of long practice and close scientific study, gave to suffering and diseased men and women his marvelous, life giving prescription, with the conviction and positive knowledge that it had peculiar virtues and ample powers to cure. Thousands of the strongest testimonials from the best known and most reliable men and women of our country fully sustain the claims made by Dr. Phelps before his unrivaled Paine's Celery Compound. One of the most convincing proofs furnished, comes recently from a gentleman widely known in the capital city of the Dominion of Canada. We refer to Mr. Alfred Brown, 91 O'Connor St., Ottawa, Ont. Mr. Brown's letter fully demonstrates the fact that the greatest sufferer may cast off his or her burden of disease and become well, strong and happy. It proves, too, that the great medicine magnifies more fully than ever before its unrivaled place in the estimation of people of wealth and social standing as well as with the masses. Mr. Brown says: "I acknowledge with thankfulness and pleasure the fact that I have been cured of my very painful illness of eight years' standing by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. I had, during the years of my illness, tried almost all the advertised medicines without deriving any good results. I was also treated by several of the best doctors of this city, hoping to find that one of them, at least, would understand my case. "I was getting worse, and was told I was incurable. I was indeed in a critical condition. I could not get from the house, as I was liable to sudden collapse. I tried hospital treatment, but no relief or good results came to me. I could not sleep; anything that I ate increased my agonies; I was extremely weak, restless, tired, and dependent; I was obliged to walk about with my hands pressed firmly into my left side to ease my pains; my feet and hands were cold continually; had inclination to vomit, had profuse, cold sweats, quick breathing, and would be racked with pain for hours at a time. "After the regular use of Paine's Celery Compound for a time, I am now in the best of health, have good appetite, and can use any kind of food. Thank God I am my old self again. All through the use of Paine's Celery Compound."

HUMPHREYS' INSTITUTE

Now in Operation. Established For The Special Treatment of Chronic Diseases Through Electricity. 20th Century Equipments.
Another proof of Salisbury enterprise and twentieth century methods is the establishment of a new medical institution to be known as The Humphreys Therapeutic Institute at 105 Broad Street, to be devoted to the special treatment of chronic diseases by means of electricity, the X Ray's, hot air baths and vapor baths, Massage and the Swedish movements, with drugs and medicines as supplementary and subsidiary means. We have learned that this new enterprise has been contemplated for the past year and recently the plans for its inception have been perfected. Dr. E. W. Humphreys is physician in charge and he expects to have associates later on. Dr. Humphreys has for sometime past made a special study of Electro-therapeutics and kindred, subjects culminating in a post-graduate course last spring in Cincinnati. The apparatus and appointments occupying several rooms are of the very latest invention and the very finest construction and material, much of it being imported. The larger and more conspicuous objects noted are a Static Electrical machine, a Galvano-Faradic Battery of forty odd giant cells, apparatus of several sorts for hot air baths and vapor baths for the local treatment of different parts of the body for rheumatism, gout, sprains and other diseases of the joints, also the back, hips, abdomen, etc., An X Ray's apparatus, ozone generator, compressed air atomizer and nebulizer for throat affections and various and varied minor instruments to be employed in the treatment of many diseases. The Static machine has revolutionized the practice of medicine, the many kinds of currents and treatments afforded by this instrument are greatly valued by the profession generally, but the most important feature of it is the production of the Roentgen or X Rays by means of which nearly every nook and corner of the human anatomy may be explored. The heart is distinctly outlined and its movements clearly seen, bullets and other foreign objects embedded in muscles or bones can be located, and broken bones exposed to view and stones in kidneys & liver discovered. Cancer in several varieties is now successfully treated by means of the wonderful X-Rays. The Static machine produces also that element of the atmosphere known as ozone now so much used by inhalation by patients having consumption. Static electricity is a powerful tonic and stimulant for the entire system.

The Galvano-Faradic apparatus is used mainly in all forms of paralysis, the removal of tumors and diseased growths, rheumatism and diseases peculiar to women. It is employed by European and American specialists of world wide repute. We could not begin to enumerate the various uses to which these currents are put and the excellent results obtained.

This Institute has as fine an equipment in the lines described as may be found in the largest and best hospitals. It is all very interesting and our readers will find when they call and have Dr. Humphreys explain all the details of his work.

Mr. Wm. P. Jackson loses Valuable Stable And Contents.

Friday morning the stable and contents, including 8 tons of hay of Mr. W. P. Jackson were burned to the ground. The alarm was turned in about 10.30, the fire department responding as promptly as possible under the circumstances having just returned from the morning drill. When they did reach the scene of action they were handicapped because of the small amount of water in the stand pipe, and the great heat. The fire started in the second story among the baled hay, at the northeast end and from there spread all over the second story. There was a strong northeast wind blowing which greatly aided the fire. The Department reached the scene of action in a short time but the water did not commence to play until some time after 11 o'clock the great iron tower which surmounted the building fell and several minutes afterward the roof also fell in. The origin of the fire is unknown as the hired man was away at the time it was discovered by a man who is employed on the place who as he was passing the stable saw smoke curling out of one of the upper windows and promptly turned in the alarm.

The vehicles consisting of one runabout, one cab, one dog cart and three carriages were saved as was the harness and the five horses. 5 tons of baled hay, 25 bushels of oats, 10 bushels of corn and 4 suits of clothing belonging to the hired man, who roomed in the building, were burned.
Mr. Jackson's loss is estimated at between $4000 and $5000. His insurance was $3000, $1000 each in Norwich Union and London & Lancashire for which companies White & Waller are agents.

THE STRONG RECORD OF EX-GOVERNOR JACKSON

During His Four-Year-Term In The Executive Chair.—Deeds Which Have Proved Accumulative Benefits To Our State.—Strong Reasons For His Nomination This Fall.

Mr. Editor:—Much discussion has of late been going on in the democratic press of the State as to who shall be nominated for the office of Governor by the Democratic party in the coming canvass.
Mr. Warfield, Mr. Jones, Mr. Baughman, Dr. Herring and others, each has his advocates, and not without good cause, for they are, each and all of them, worthy and well qualified to fill this distinguished station with credit to themselves and to the satisfaction of the people.
But there are others from whom the democratic party could choose a standard bearer the equal, if not the peer, of any of those I have named, and whose services to the State and position and standing in the party will always make them, while they remain active and take an interest in the welfare of the State, worthy to be considered.

Among these, there is one gentleman who has already served a term as Governor and while he may not desire to repeat the arduous duties which such a position necessarily imposes, yet it is by reason of the services which he rendered the people of the State while Governor, by giving them an efficient administration, that should make his name particularly attractive to those who desire to see the Democratic party elect its candidates in the coming election. I will not undertake to state all the services which this distinguished gentleman rendered the people while in the office of Governor. But the memory of man is so treacherous and the people have so many cares of their own to think about that however great and important an act a man may perform is soon forgotten.

It would not then be amiss at this time to call the attention of democrats to the fact that we have here on the Eastern Shore in the person of the Hon. Elihu E. Jackson of Wicomico County, a gentleman who has a record such as no man in the State possesses and such as no Governor of Maryland has made in the past quarter of a century. A brief review of some of the more prominent acts of his administration will suffice.

In his first message to the Legislature he declared "that the requirement of the Constitution of the State for the Legislature to provide by law for State municipal taxation upon the revenues accruing from business done in the State by all foreign corporations was absolutely imperative," and he recommended that a general law be passed providing for a tax on the gross receipts of every such corporation doing business in this State and in pressing this matter upon the attention of the Legislature he used this forcible language: "Judging from the amounts received by other States from taxes on Corporations of this sort this State has lost very much by the neglect of the Legislature to exact revenue from this source and I think that every available means should be used to lighten the burden upon the real property of this State."

And in response to this appeal, the Legislature of 1890 awoke to its obligations to the people, and passed Chapter 345, Acts 1890, relating to Insurance Companies and which yielded to the State Treasury an increase of revenue of over Forty thousand dollars the first year it went into effect. To see the full effect of this legislation you have but to compare the receipts from these corporations doing business in this State prior to 1890 with what the receipts from the same source have been since that date. Prior to that time forty-five thousand dollars was the maximum amount received, and often times the receipts fell below thirty five thousand dollars. But from the time that bill became a law down to the present, a period of twelve years, the average annual receipts from these Corporations doing business in this State have been one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars and making a clear gain to the State during that period of over one million of dollars. This is only accounting a gain of ninety thousand dollars a year. But the total receipts last year as shown by the Comptroller's Report under this Act, were nearly one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,084 48), and the receipts will continue to increase as the years pass on, and other Insurance Companies extend their business within the limits of our State.

But it does not stop here. Upon his recommendation the Legislature doubled the tax upon Railroads and transportation companies, making them pay as he demanded in his message, "a just and equal share of the public burdens," as will be seen by reference to Chapters 345, 509 and 608 of the Acts of 1890.

He also recommended that every newly created corporation in the State should pay a bonus on its Capital Stock for the use of the State, which the Legislature embodied in Chapter 585, 1890, and under which considerable money has been paid.

The effect of all these laws upon the Treasury was immediate, as will be seen by comparing the Comptroller's Reports for 1889 and 1891:

Receipts from Railroads and foreign Corporations doing business in this State in 1889 amounted to only $104,009 61.
While after the laws of the session of 1890 were put into operation the receipts from these sources were $308,228 88.
Thus making a net gain to the Treasury the first year of their operation the sum of $104,229 07.
Dr. Frank T. Shaw in his Report as Tax Commissioner in 1891, shows an increase in receipts from Railroad Companies alone for that year over 1890 of $49,414.00, which he declared "was entirely due to the legislation of 1890 by which the gross receipts and bonus taxes are imposed." This legislation which was passed as I have shown, upon the recommendation of Governor Jackson, was virtually the beginning of corporate taxation in this State. Prior to that time the Corporations doing business in Maryland had paid comparatively little of the public burdens and nothing like their share when placed beside the taxes paid by real property.
While these laws have been changed by the Assessment Act of 1895, yet they set the pace for other Legislatures to follow, and many of the features of these laws have been retained and simply additions have been made to them. Chapters 559 and 608 of 1890, with the amendment of 1895, returned to the Treasury for the year ending 30th September, 1902, the sum of $185,000 69.
And the gross receipt tax on Railroads and other corporations, enlarged upon by the General Assessment Act, yielded for the same year the sum of $397,466 94.
Making the receipts for one year the sum of $482,473 03.
But this is not all. While Governor Jackson was devising plans by which the revenues of the State have been increased to the extent of millions of dollars he was also at the same time not unmindful of the leaks and drains upon the State's resources, and we find him equally successful in reducing several items in the State's annual expenditures. It will be remembered that the Tobacco Warehouse of the State had been for many years prior to Governor Jackson's election an annual drain upon the State Treasury:
Thousands of dollars had been expended in the payment of Inspectors' salaries and employees' wages. From 1870 to 1890 the system had been a tax upon the Treasury to the amount of $128,491 48. But upon the recommendation of Governor Jackson the Legislature passed the Act of 1890, Chapter 262. Now note the changes.
In the two years following the passage of this Act and during the Governor's term of office, these inspections, which had been an annual drain upon the resources of the State to the extent of six or seven thousand dollars paid into the State Treasury the large surplus of $30,828 88 after paying every expense connected with the system. The two years just prior to the passage of the Act the warehouses cost the Treasury $13,367 24, a change, therefore, in favor of the State effected by this legislation and on the Governor's recommendation of over thirty thousand dollars in two years, and in the ten years following the passage of the Act has affected a change in favor of the State of over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The fruits of this legislation are still being annually gathered into the Treasury, and up to the year of 1900, a period of ten years from the passage of the Act of Assembly, the large sum of Sixty-nine thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight dollars had been paid in as the net earnings of Tobacco inspections in this State. So that instead of being a burden upon the taxpayers, as they formerly were, at the rate of six or seven thousand dollars a year, these inspections under Governor Jackson's administration and recommendation become a source of revenue to the State and make a saving to the Treasury in the ten years I have named of over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. And yet this bill, so wise and beneficent in its provisions and just to the taxpayers of the State, was bitterly opposed by men of influence and its passage was only secured by the active solicitation and determination of Governor Jackson.

It was during his term of office that the Treasury officials exchanged the Sterling debt of the State, amounting to over four millions of dollars, bearing five per cent. interest per annum, for a new loan bearing only three per cent interest per annum, thereby saving annually to the Treasury over eighty thousand dollars. Perhaps some will say "that was easy," but I notice that a few years after this time, when Governor Lowndes was in the Executive Chair and it became necessary to raise a half million of dollars for the additions to the Penitentiary and Insane Asylum the State was required to pay interest at the rate of three and one half per cent. per annum. This difference is noted on page two.

THE SALOON QUESTION.

Anti-Saloon League Reviews Court's Opinion, Presents Situation, and Makes A Strong And Earnest Appeal To Preserve Improved Conditions.

There can be no doubt that the temperance question is one of burning interest at this time. The people of Salisbury and Wicomico county are asked to weigh the following considerations:
The honorable Court was recently petitioned by the liquor men to issue a mandamus requiring the County Commissioners to grant licenses to certain applicants. The Court took the matter under consideration, and after deliberating for two weeks came to the unanimous conclusion not to grant the mandamus. We understand the question before the Court was the granting or not granting that mandamus—and who would have objected or complained if the Court had confined its decision to this question and the reasons therefor? But the Court has seen fit to express itself upon a variety of matters bearing upon the temperance agitation. Certainly the Court is at liberty to dilate upon any subject it sees proper. We do not undertake to fathom its aim or purpose in expressing opinions upon so many points. Motives we do not impugn. But opinions, which are only opinions, we are not bound to blindly accept; and the opinions of the Court in regard to the scope of the law, apart from the mandamus, we feel not to be binding. The decision we cheerfully accept, but the opinions will be dealt with as they may commend themselves to deliberate judgment. We submit that the law under which the County Commissioners are working has not changed one iota by the action of the Court, and, though the Commissioners may give respectful attention to the opinions of the Judges upon the meaning of the law and its scope, the Court has told them, in effect, that they are not bound by it, as the Court has declined to issue a mandamus. So the question comes back, after all, to the honest discretion and enlightened conscience of the Commissioners, guided by their own opinions of the purpose, scope and spirit of the law.

Our law, not unwisely, we think, provides that the Commissioners shall reckon with public opinion or public sentiment, as among the circumstances determining the question of granting or not granting liquor licenses. General circumstances are only public opinion or sentiment formulated and properly presented.
We believe that we represent law and sobriety and morality and business prosperity. We are sure that drunkenness is a scourge to the State, and that the delinquencies may be prolonged. There are mothers and wives who have said: "Our homes have seemed like heaven since the saloons have been closed." There are men who have gotten on their feet during these months. We affirm that a drinking habit is becoming a curiosity in Salisbury—that ladies may walk our streets with safety, without hearing profanity or obscenity. We implore all concerned to let us alone in the possession of our inheritance of peace and sobriety.

We cannot think that the Commissioners will undertake to reverse the wise and sensible decision to which they came two months ago. They have been reaping the gratitude of multitudes of men, women and children. They know that the law does not require them to grant licenses to anybody—much less when hundreds implore them not to do so. The situation is the same now as it was then, except that intelligent sentiment against the saloon has been intensified.

The Commissioners have been our benefactors in their representative and official position. Will not the men who have signed applications for licenses think of the weapon they are putting in the hands of men whose trade is death in every direction? You have the legal right to sign, but you have the right to withdraw your name. Look at our peaceful streets, look at our boys being saved, look at the starving children and weeping mothers whom you help to crush, and order the removal of your name.

Let the men and women of Salisbury and other districts stand shoulder to shoulder in their antagonism to the mighty evil that threatens us. You need not fear, for God is on our side.

We call upon all Christians and praying men and women and children to pray that God may avert the calamity which some men would bring upon us. We do not indulge in bitterness and vituperation. But we are hereby in earnest. We are patriots. We love our fellow-men, and we would save them from the wreck and ruin which rum works.

Now we call upon all the pastors in the city and county to present the matter to their respective congregations and induce them to cry mightily to God to save our city from the saloon.

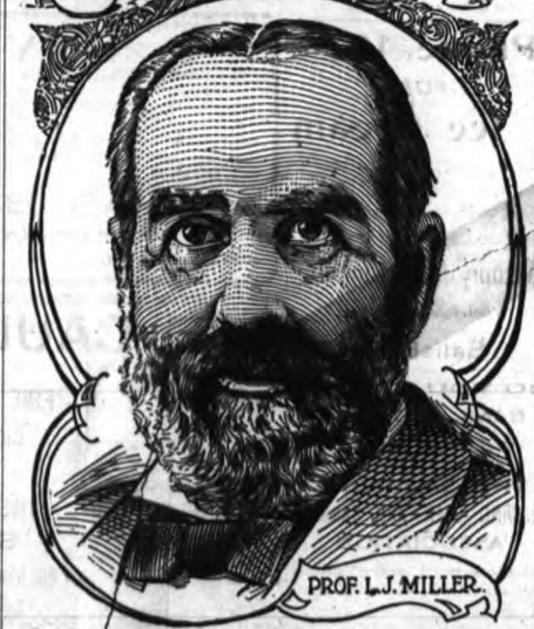

We make these supplementary observations:
No one ever contended that the vote last fall, under a law which was declared unconstitutional, should control in the execution of another law. But, as a reason for refusing to grant licenses, it should have as much weight with men who are set to protect the community, as though that law were on the statute books. It is one of the circumstances, and only one, which cannot be ignored in making up a judgment upon the propriety of granting or refusing licenses.

There are other exceptions to the expressions of the Court, such as that "there was no objection to the petition," etc. as improper persons to sell liquor, etc. but we submit the whole matter to the judgment of the Commissioners, believing that they will seek to do what is for the highest welfare of the community under the law.
Let it be remembered that the Anti-Saloon League is not a partisan movement. Our name indicates the object we have in view—ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:
"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly in light of my own knowledge."
"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health."
"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Tone up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system."
"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than For Five Years."
Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."
Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna."

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

To the Voters of Wicomico County:

At the earnest solicitation of many friends, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer for Wicomico county, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention. It will be remembered that four years ago I had the nomination for County Treasurer, and I was elected, but I did not, and by giving my support to Dr. Todd nominated him by only two plurality over myself. If there is a man in Wicomico county more deserving the office from a political standpoint, or more needy of the same than I am, let him come forward and prove the same, and I will withdraw from the field.

RECORD OF EX-GOVERNOR JACKSON

ference in interest on four millions of dollars is twenty thousand dollars a year, and in fifteen years, the time for which the loan was issued, make the sum of three hundred thousand dollars saved to the State Treasury. No man who knows Governor Jackson will for one moment doubt that had he been Governor in the place of Mr. Lowndes when these last mentioned loans were made, that they too, like the Exchange loan of 1899, would have borne interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum. In making this Exchange of the Sterling Debt of the State the Treasury officials at the same time exchanged the preferred stock of the B. & O. R. R. Co., to the amount of $968,000 at $125 per share, for which the State received $1,277,780. This same stock was purchased by the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University, supposing that they had secured a permanent paying 6% investment, but in a few years the dividends were stopped, and after long litigation the University was compelled to accept $75 per share, a loss of $450,000 besides the cost of the litigation and interest. While this was the work of the Board of Public Works of which he was the Official head, it is well known that this action was in harmony with his views and the recommendations in relation to the amendments of the Constitution spoken of hereafter and along the lines advocated by him for years, that the State should not hold doubtful investments while she was owing money.

We find the legislative expenses of the State in the session of 1888 was only $110,000 and in 1890, $111,430, making a total of $221,430, while the legislative expenses under Governor Lowndes for 1896 was $127,500 and in 1898, $125,000, a total of $252,500, a saving to the State of over $60,000 for the two sessions. And yet no one can truly say he was parsimonious. He supported all of the Institutions of the State with a liberal hand. No genuine charity ever appealed to him in vain, but he simply applied in his conduct and management of the State Government those same business principles which he has uniformly practiced in the management of his private affairs. I doubt if there is a man in our whole State that can show a more successful business career than can Governor Jackson, conducting a business for years whose annual volume must run into millions, the necessity depends in a large measure upon the skill and fidelity of others, and it is this one thing among other features that distinctly marked his administration of public affairs. A vacancy occurs in the Chief Judgeship of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. He appoints from the thousand of young and untried lawyers of the State a man totally unknown to a large majority of the profession of that City, and who had not distinguished himself at the trial table. Yet all will agree that the appointment of Henry D. Harlan to this high office could scarcely have been improved upon.

A vacancy also occurs in the office of State Treasurer, and he places in this responsible office the Hon. Edwin H. Brown now Judge in the Second Judicial Circuit, than whom no better man could be found within the limits of our State.

He seemed to know his men in making his appointments. He not only suited himself, but gave satisfaction to all concerned. No appointment of his was ever turned down by the Senate, while it will be remembered that Governor Lowndes' appointments were thrown out by the dozen.

While Governor Jackson was successful in his appointments to office, he was also fair and considerate to all the members of his party. He was not a factionist, but a democrat in the broadest sense in the conduct of his office. Any man, however humble and obscure, could always gain an audience with him at the Executive Department or at the Mansion if he so desired.

No department of the State Government escaped his attention. During my four years experience as Comptroller and many years of study of the finances of the State, I feel that I do know something about them. But I have never met a man who seemed to master the whole question of State finances so easily and in so short a time as did Governor Jackson. He had scarcely been in office a month when he had every detail at his fingers ends, and could give the dates of the various loans and their amounts as though he had been familiar with them for many years. And even upon that perplexing question, the oyster, he saw far in advance of those who had been dealing with the question for years, and advocated the enactment of a stringent Cull Law, providing for their propagation and protection, which had been passed as he proposed, with all the safeguards thrown around it which he recommended and then enforced, it is believed would have abundantly replenished the natural bars of the waters of this State with oysters almost indefinitely.

Although not versed in the law, defects in the Constitution of the State which experience had proven and pointed out, did not escape his vigilant eyes, and upon his recommendation this instrument was amended in several important particulars. In his first message to the General Assembly he recommended an amendment to the Constitution so as to render the acceptance of any further legislation by any Railroad Company or Corporation then claiming immunity from taxation, a waiver in express terms of the claim of Irrepealability of their former charters.

Another very important amendment was also proposed by him giving to the Executives of the State the power to veto any special item or items in any appropriation bill when he may believe such items to be unwise or unjust with out invalidating the other items in such appropriation bill. Both of these amendments have been since adopted and are now a part of the Constitution of the State. And strange as it may appear, this last provision, so wise and necessary for the protection of the taxpayers of the State, and which has been a part of the Organic Law since 1893, no Governor so far has seen proper to exercise the authority thereby conferred by retreating any portion or item of any general appropriation bill that has been passed since its adoption.

He also recommended an Amendment to article 12, Section 8, of the Constitution, which denied to the Legislature the power to authorize the sale of the State's stock in the Washington Branch of the B. & O. R. R. Company and which also prescribed such conditions to the sale of the State's interests in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, and the Susquehanna and Tidewater Canal Companies, as were calculated as he claimed, and justly too, to defeat the power to make a sale most advantageous to the State. And this Amendment was also adopted by the people of the State, and under its authority the Treasury officials can now act for the best interests of the State, free and untrammelled by Constitutional restrictions.

And thus I could go on and recite many other acts of Governor Jackson's which he has performed in the interest of the people and for the benefit and advantage of the State, but I think I have said enough to convince any man that he should have a strong hold upon the affections, confidence and support of the people of Maryland.

In view of all these laws which were passed upon his recommendation and at his solicitation, so wise and fair to every interest, placing the citizens and the corporations upon an equal footing by requiring each to bear a just share of the public burdens; in view of his zealous and watchful care over every interest of the people while occupying the office of Governor and also the great benefits which have flowed therefrom and which the people will continue to receive through the coming years, who will deny that this gentleman is not to day the most available man to be chosen as the Standard Bearer of the Democratic party in the coming election.

Other gentlemen who preceded him in the office made good Governors. They executed the laws fairly and justly, but no man who has filled this station in the past quarter of a century has left the impress of his personality behind him as did this plain, unassuming business man of the Eastern Shore, to remind the people for coming generations that he had been Chief Executive of our State.

I do not know that he would accept the nomination if offered to him, but this I feel assured, that were he a candidate he would not only receive the vote of every democrat in Maryland, but men of every political persuasion would rally to his standard.

This is no ordinary contest in which we are now about to engage. It means the very life of the Democratic party in Maryland. Defeat here now will make the future dark and ominous, while victory will bring so much to our people and to the State.

His nomination will bring together all the factions of his party, and it will mean a solid democratic delegation from the Eastern Shore at Annapolis next Winter. It will insure the election of a Democrat to the United States Senate in the place of Mr. McComas.

Nominate him and it will be in an inspiration to the Democracy of the whole State and it will do more than anything that can be done to convince the people that the democrats of Maryland are determined to win. Aye, it will do more than this. The eyes of the whole country are upon Maryland. The democrats of other states are watching with intense interest our movements. They know as we know that if Maryland should falter at this time, when so much is expected of her, that it will be not only fatal to our hopes but will also be destruction to the interests and aspirations of the Democracy of the nation.

Here we have a man with a record such as any man might well be proud of. And on that record he can go before the people of this State, and without making any other appeal to them, can with pardonable pride point to them, and confidently solicit Republicans as well as Democrats to give him their support and I believe he would receive, as he so richly deserves if nominated, a triumphant election at the hands of the people.

If this then be true, and who can doubt it, why not nominate him? I am sure his love for his party and the great interest which he has always manifested in the welfare of the State and its citizens will require and move him, however great the sacrifice, to speedily acceptance of this high honor.

Mouse Churns Milk To Butter.

A farmer residing near Downs Chapel, says the Dover News, has a cow that gives very rich milk. On Sunday evening after milking, the farmer filled all the milk crocks in the milk house and having some left over put the remainder of the milk in a preserving kettle. During the night a mouse fell in the kettle. It was either a case of swim or be drowned. The mouse continued to swim and the next morning the farmer found that the milk in the kettle had been churned to butter and the mouse had escaped after drinking all the butter milk.

ORDER PUBLICATION.

James Elliott, et al., Plaintiffs, vs. Zenobia Howard, et al., Defendants.

In the Circuit Court of Wicomico County, No. 1494 Chancery.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Wicomico County, in the State of Maryland, of which John W. Brown, late of said County deceased, died seized and possessed, for the purpose of partition among the parties entitled thereto.

The Bill states that the said John W. Brown was in his lifetime, and at the time of his death seized and possessed of certain real estate which is particularly described in said bill; that being so seized, he departed this life intestate about the year 1881, leaving surviving him a widow, who has since died, and certain heirs at law who, and the descendants of whom, are living at the present time, to wit:

1. The heirs of Sallie Horseman, deceased, who was a daughter of the said John W. Brown, as follows: Lottie Phillips, who is married to William S. Phillips, Maggie Cox, who is married to George Cox, Bertie Lloyd, who is married to Laneaster Lloyd, Georgie Evans, who is married to Hampton Evans, Katie V. Bailey, who is married to Charles L. Bailey, and Zenobia Howard, who is married to Frederick W. Low and all of whom are daughters of the said Sallie Horseman, adults, residing in said Wicomico County, also Clara Bedworth, who is married to John Bedworth and is a daughter of the said Sallie Horseman, an adult, residing in Worcester County, in said State, also Rodney A. Horseman, an infant son of the said Sallie Horseman residing in said Wicomico County.

2. The heirs of Margaret E. Elliott, a deceased daughter of said John W. Brown, as follows: James Elliott, a son who is of full age, unmarried and resides in said Wicomico County, Isaac Elliott, a son who is married to Augusta Elliott, both of full age and residing in Talbot County, in said State, and Glen Howard, an infant grandson of the said Margaret E. Elliott, residing in said Wicomico County.

3. The heirs of Melissa Bradley, deceased, who was a daughter of the said John W. Brown, and left surviving her, her husband, George P. Bradley, who is of full age, residing in said Wicomico County, as follows: John Bradley, a son who is of full age, Lorenzo Bradley and Myrtle Bradley, a son and daughter respectively who are infants, all residing in said Wicomico County, Eula Bradley, an infant daughter, who is a non-resident of this State, residing in the State of Delaware, Lizette Corran, a daughter who is married to William Corran, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Delaware, Etzel Maggie Jackson, an infant granddaughter, the daughter of Maggie Jackson, a daughter of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Lewis Jackson who still survives her, is of full age, and with Etzel Maggie Jackson is a non-resident residing in the State of Delaware.

4. Clara Jackson, a daughter of the said John W. Brown, who is married to John Jackson, both of full age and residing in said Wicomico County.

5. Albert Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Sarah Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia.

6. George Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Annie Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia.

7. Perry Brown, a son of the said John W. Brown, who is married to Mamie Taylor Brown, both of full age, non-residents of this State, residing in the State of Virginia.

The Bill states further that the said real estate is net susceptible of partition among the parties entitled thereto without material loss and injury to them, and in order to make partition thereof it will be necessary that the said real estate be sold and the proceeds thereof distributed among the parties according to their several rights and interests, and prays for a decree for a sale of said real estate for that purpose.

It is thereupon, this 14th day of July, in the year 1903, ordered by the Circuit Court of Wicomico in Equity, that the complaint be, and a copy of this order be printed in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County once in each of four successive weeks, before the 9th day of August, in the year 1903, give notice to the said non-resident defendants of the object and substance of this bill, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 25th day of August next, to show cause if any they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County.

NOTICE is hereby given to the Democratic voters of Wicomico County to hold Primary Elections to elect three delegates in each district of said county, at the following places for holding such elections, on

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1st, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. in convention at Salisbury, on TUESDAY, AUGUST 4th, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m., to elect four delegates to the Democratic State Convention, which meets at a place and at a date hereafter to be named.

The following Executive Committees for each district were appointed to have charge of the Primaries and to appoint Judges and Clerks in accordance with the rules adopted by the State Central Committee:

Barren Creek, J. A. Waller, J. T. Hopkins, Quantico, Wm. S. Phillips, A. L. Jones, Franklin, L. J. Beall, Geo. C. O'Neil, Pittsburg, E. T. Davis, Sewell T. Parlow, Parsons, F. W. Waller, Wm. B. Robinson, W. C. Mann, Delmar, C. H. Wood, L. E. Keane, Nantuxee, H. J. Messick, Wm. J. Wallis, Wm. J. Jackson, Wm. J. Jackson, JAMES T. TRUITT, State Central Committee for Wicomico Co.

JACKSON'S AVAILABILITY FOR GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND.

Much has been said of acceptable Democratic timber for the gubernatorial chair of Maryland, commencing with the expiration of Governor Smith's term.

But could the citizens of our State be more properly proud of any one than the distinguished gentleman, business man and financier who matured in Wicomico County, and for four years occupied the executive chair of our own State, with such commendable credit to himself and such worthy zeal in the people's welfare, as to insure an ever increasing accumulative income to the State Treasury to lighten and facilitate the burdens of tax on the shoulders of the laboring classes.

Mr. Jackson's record as partially reviewed by former Comptroller Turner, in this week's ADVERTISER is in many respects a remarkable one, and full of achievements which only a person of his type could have effected.

Mr. Turner, who occupied a position to know was intimately acquainted with the affairs of his chief's administration and the article referred to again brings to light what was well known, though probably not fully appreciated when occurring, but which the wheel of time had turned into the shade of forgetfulness, now to be reviewed, and reproduced in a stronger light than ever before, by whose reflection the Ex-Governor stands pre-eminently as one who has served his State with characteristic ability, attentive fidelity and extraordinary wisdom and foresight.

To day the State of Maryland is reaping annually thousands of dollars made possible through the business tact and splendid financing of Mr. Jackson, whose recommendations to the Legislature were followed by such enactments as made an increased and ever expanding channel of incoming revenue to the State Treasury. We point the Democrats of Maryland with pardonable pride to his four year term as Governor.

Today Mr. Jackson is in the full vigor of ripe intellect, judgement and experience, and is in a position if placed in nomination by the Democratic State Convention, to present to the voters of Maryland a candidate whose large experience and record is his strength, and whose great personal business success since his guarantee of the future. We can state authoritatively that Mr. Jackson will not hunt the nomination but if the Democratic State Convention in its discretion be disposed to make him the standard bearer this fall, we feel sure that his action would be ratified for years to come in the big majority with which his election would sweep the counties of our glorious Commonwealth.

NEXT SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES SHOULD SELECT MEN OF CHARACTER.

On next Saturday the democrats of the county are called upon to elect delegates to represent them at the county convention to be held in Salisbury the following Tuesday.

It is hardly necessary to call the attention of the democratic voters to the importance of these primaries. There has been a time in the history of the party when it could be lax in the selection of its candidates.

We then had no united enemy to fight, and a nomination was equivalent to an election. Owing partly to our mistakes, the selfish desire of a few to hold office, and to the growth of the opposition, both in numbers and the means of making an aggressive fight, this condition no longer exists.

A nomination on the democratic ticket is not today equivalent to an election, but our success or failure at the polls next fall will depend largely upon the makeup of the ticket.

We must not forget that we have an enemy to fight, flushed with success at the Congressional election of last year, well supplied with all the essentials of making an active, aggressive fight—an enemy who, no matter what has happened in the past, always presents a united front to our party.

The democratic voters who are interested in the success of the party next fall cannot fail to see the necessity of selecting the best men from their district to represent them in the convention.

He who is a true democrat will bury factional feeling if any exist. He who is a man worthy of the confidence of his party and fellow-citizens will bury his private ambitions so deep they will never come before the public gaze unless called forth by the wishes of the people and the true interest of his party.

We call upon every democrat to go into the primaries next Saturday and see that the most representative men of their district, irrespective of their support of this or that candidate, be sent to the county convention.

We call upon every true democrat to throw aside his selfish, personal ambition, but leave his case in the hands of the convention, and let it decide, without wire-pulling or private maneuvering, who is the best man to help the party to win this fall.

If we do not do this, if we allow men whose only qualification to fill the office they aspire to is political pull, if we do not recognize all factions and all classes, and if in such recognition we do not select men qualified in every respect to fill the various offices, and then, do not win this fall, let the blame fall upon ourselves—or upon the heads of those who are directly responsible for the personnel of the ticket.

Each district should send men to the convention who will not trade support with those who are unworthy of support. Do not send men to represent you who will say to anyone, regardless of his qualifications to fill the office aspired to, "Give me your votes and I will give you ours."

We want thinking men—men of good judgment and men thoroughly familiar with the situation in this county—at our convention. We need not fear the republican party at the fall election if good judgment and proper discretion are used in selecting our ticket.

Let all democrats get together now. Do not wait until after the ticket is made up to harmonize and bring together the different elements. Select the right delegates and let them nominate a ticket that every good citizen can support, not alone on party grounds, but on the ground of good citizenship as well; and old Wicomico will roll up for the party that has so successfully managed its affairs ever since it was a county, an old-time majority that will make the heart proud.

The Court Refuses Mandamus. Summing up a lengthy review of the liquor license question, citations of authorities, comments, etc., the Court concludes: We think it has been made clear. First: That the County Commissioners had authority to render the judgment complained of, that is, to endorse on the application their "disapproval" of it. Second: That the power to do this rested exclusively in their discretion. Third: That whether this judgment be a correct decision, is not now open for review, and could not be, even on appeal, no such right having been conferred by Statute. Fourth: Their judgment is therefore final. Fifth: Mandamus will not lie.

The mandamus prayed for cannot therefore be allowed, and the petition must be dismissed.

We are, however, prepared to give better service than ever before in furnishing the public with ice cream, loaves, etc. Give us a call or ring us up. SALISBURY ICE CREAM CO., Phone 197.

When Marconigrams Fill The Air.

Thousands of people now mourn the lost opportunity of Bell Telephone investment. Scarce a man lives who does not know some one that was made rich by a small investment in telephone stock.

Now a new opportunity is offered to those who are forehanded enough to grasp it in the Marconi Wireless Telegraph securities. When Marconigrams fill the air, flying back and forth over ocean, between continents, and over mountains, rivers and plains, between oceans, it will be too late, and another opportunity will have passed.

The financial representatives of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co., of America, Messrs Munroe & Munroe, of 44 60 Exchange Place, New York City, state that the demand for the $5.00 certificates of the company's stock, which they are selling at $4.00, is so great that the limited amount at their disposal will soon be exhausted.

When they are gone the price will necessarily be advanced, and those who want to buy will be compelled to pay a higher price for them.

Law Bearing On Liquor License Question.

Apropos the vital interest now manifested in the question of liquor license or no license now before the Commissioners of Wicomico County, the ADVANTISER publishes below the law bearing on the subject. After the opinion of the Court was received and read, the County Commissioners at their session last Tuesday by a vote of 3 to 2 rescinded their former action and appointed next Tuesday for reconsideration of the applications on file.

Section 65, Art. 23, Public Local Laws, title, "Wicomico County," as amended by Chapter 136 of the Acts of 1896;

On the day appointed, as aforesaid, after duly examining and considering the application and certificate of recommendation accompanying the same, the County Commissioners may or not, in their discretion, approve such application, and in order to satisfy themselves of the propriety of approving the same, the said County Commissioners shall receive, summon witnesses, and hear evidence and arguments for and against the same, and if, under all the circumstances of the case, the said Commissioners shall deem it improper to approve such application, then it shall be the duty of said Commissioners to refuse the license applied for; if any application shall be approved by a majority of the members of said Board of County Commissioners, then those approving the same shall endorse thereon the word "Approved," and shall sign the same with their proper signatures, with the date of such approval; and the said Clerk to the said Commissioners shall issue the license to the applicant, and to no other person, which license shall expire with the thirtieth day of April, next succeeding the granting thereof; but if such application shall not be approved by a majority of the members of the said Board of County Commissioners, then the Commissioners not approving said application, shall endorse on the same the words "Not approved," and shall sign the same, and also the date of each endorsement.

Sudden Death of Mr. J. J. Morris.

Jeremiah J. Morris died suddenly Thursday afternoon at the boarding house of Mrs. Sydney White on Main Street. His death is supposed to have been caused by heart failure. Although he had been ailing since Sunday he was not seriously ill and ate his dinner as usual Thursday. After he went to his room Mrs. White heard him fall and ran to his assistance, but finding the door locked, summoned Dr. James H. Truitt who burst the door in. Mr. Morris was already dead. A jury of inquest found that he died from natural causes. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Anna T. Morris, and one son, Mr. Harry Byrd Morris, and a brother, Mr. Hope Morris of near Delmar.

Mr. Morris was about 60 years old, and a few years ago was quite prominent in democratic political circles.

He was elected County Commissioner of Wicomico County in 1893, and served two years. He was re-elected in 1895, and served four years as president of the board. It was under his term in office that many of the shell roads in the county were built.

He was formerly engaged extensively in the lumber business in Baltimore with the firm of L. J. Cathell & Co.

The interment will take place today in Delaware.

Rural mail carriers have been instructed to encourage as far as possible the use among farmers of the stamp book. These books contain twelve, two cents stamps and sell for twenty-five cents each. They remain intact for an indefinite time. Their use would save the carriers much annoyance in making change when the farmers wish to buy a stamp or two.

Justice of the Peace Way, of Camden, N. J., is not inattentive to shabbily dressed couples asking him to tie them up in matrimony. Two years ago while in Alto, he married a couple of tramps and received nothing for his services. A few days ago a well dressed couple drove up to his office and after telling him that they were tramps of two years ago, presented him with $10. and invited him to visit them on their farm, at Dover, Del. He paid the couple a visit and was presented with $65. more.

SAY, YOU! DOES DIS JOINT GIVE UP DOUGH FER PLUNDER DEY SELLS IF DE PLUNDER DON'T KETCH ON?

You can imagine the surprise that came to Lacy Thoroughgood July 3rd when a neatly dressed, curly headed youngster walked up to him and fired this question at him point blank. He was informed that Lacy Thoroughgood cheerfully refunds money for goods that do not prove satisfactory, that "a pleased patron is a good advertiser!" "that Thoroughgood prefers to satisfy a customer to making a small profit at the expense of his happiness" when his "SHURTLETS broke in" OH, choose it, give up 50 cents and take a vacation, and he handed Thoroughgood a straw hat. He got back his 50 cents and started toward the door, dived under a counter as a woman came in, but he was too late, for she dived after him, dragged him and shook him and said, are you ashamed? After I trotted all over town to get you a Straw Hat for you to sneak it out and bring it back to get 50 cents to buy fire crackers for 4th of July, I'll make it warm for you when I get you home—She bought the hat over again, and the youngster remarked I wont be able to sit down for a week after this—Lacy Thoroughgood is buying new Straw Hats every week and putting them in his up town Hat Store, Thoroughgood never intends for anybody to go to that Hat Store without finding just the Hat they want, consequently he's adding new Straw Hats every day, you know how it's always been before in Salisbury late in the season, about camp meeting time you couldn't buy a decent Straw Hat in town, but you can this season, you can get all you want of them at Lacy Thoroughgood's and James Thoroughgood's Hat Store.

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D., Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Chicago, July 19.—The glories of the sea and its moving panorama of white sails furnish a theme for the preacher at this season, when the multitudes are leaving the heated cities for seashore and lake.

Fascinating is the seashore on account of its endless variety. The ocean's beauty is never twice the same. Sometimes its colors are a white foam or a light green or a dark emerald or blue or black.

Sometimes the sea becomes as wrathful as the wild beasts in the Spanish arena, stung with sharp darts, before which the attendants wave the red garments. It rears. It plunges. It lashes itself into fury until at last it is crimsoned with its own blood.

But, after all, one of the most absorbing diversions of the summer tourists living by the seashore is to watch the passing of the ships. For over a quarter of a century my privilege was to spend every summer by the Atlantic coast.

Every human vessel should be distinguished by some flag. Going down to New York harbor and examining the shipping, you will find the name of each vessel clearly marked upon the stern.

The Flag of Protection. Many a war has been started because the sacredness of a ship's deck has been violated. The war of 1812 with England really had its origin in the English claim that she could stop any American vessel at sea.

Each human vessel always carries a valuable cargo. Have you stopped to consider why a great Cunard or White Star or transatlantic steamer spends so much time by her dock as in traveling the high seas?

war, they would certainly have involved this country in a war with England which would have destroyed the unity of our government.

Now, my brother, as a human vessel, to what overlying power have you rendered your allegiance? To what power do you look for protection?

Each human vessel always carries a valuable cargo. Have you stopped to consider why a great Cunard or White Star or transatlantic steamer spends so much time by her dock as in traveling the high seas?

Then food must be provided for the passengers and the crew and huge cargoes of coal to keep the engines in motion. One is amazed at the thousands of tons of coal which a ship like the Kaiser Wilhelm III. carries at the Atlantic.

Does not each human craft carry a valuable cargo? What about the money which is entrusted to a man's care? If the cashier of a bank absconds and the bank has to close its doors who suffers?

The Signal of Distress. The human vessels should be willing to stop and help those sister crafts which are firing their signals of distress. Why? Because distress and need give a man an inalienable claim on the help of his brother.

Oh, my dear friends, why is not a human being upon the land ready to answer signals of distress raised by his fallen brethren, as the sailors upon the sea try to help those who are in distress?

The harbor of peace will be entered gladly as soon as the earthly journey is ended. Have you ever taken a long trip away from home? Have you been gone three, five, ten months or a year?

Then, after a long journey of many months, have you ever felt in head and heart, in all parts of your being, mental, physical and spiritual, the exultant joy of heading toward home?

Thus, my dear friends, as voyagers upon the great sea of life, today I greet you. I signal you with the warmest feelings of Christian joy stirring my heart.

Similarly in reference to its loneliness. When we start out we have plenty of friends. But if we determine to do right, if we are set in our purpose to follow the course which Christ has laid out for us, we shall find that our friends will often leave us, one by one.

Similarly in reference to the head winds and side currents which have to be fought against. It would not be so bad if in the voyage of life the human vessel had to make its journey alone, and that was all.

The passing ship is like the Christian's life in the close of its voyage. It is a vessel which has made its journey and is now heading for the harbor of peace.

Weak

Heart From Attack of LaGrippe. Palpitation, Smothering, Short Breath.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The terrible after effects of LaGrippe are most dangerous when they attack the heart, the engine of life. Weak hearts are as common as weak stomachs and when an attack is made upon the weak heart, that organ soon becomes a diseased heart and the patient will unless promptly treated, suffer long and eventually die of heart disease.

MRS. L. S. ADAMS.

Of Galveston, Texas. "Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me."

By "Tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menues, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of those ailments that women have.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D., Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Chicago, July 19.—The glories of the sea and its moving panorama of white sails furnish a theme for the preacher at this season, when the multitudes are leaving the heated cities for seashore and lake.

Fascinating is the seashore on account of its endless variety. The ocean's beauty is never twice the same. Sometimes its colors are a white foam or a light green or a dark emerald or blue or black.

Sometimes the sea becomes as wrathful as the wild beasts in the Spanish arena, stung with sharp darts, before which the attendants wave the red garments. It rears. It plunges. It lashes itself into fury until at last it is crimsoned with its own blood.

But after all, one of the most absorbing diversions of the summer tourists passing by the seashore is to watch the passing of the ships.

Does not each human craft carry a valuable cargo? What about the merchant who is entrusted to a man's care? If the cashier of a bank abandons his duty, the bank is ruined.

Every human vessel should be distinguished by some flag. Going down to New York harbor and examining the shipping, you will find the name of each vessel clearly marked upon the stern.

The Flag of Protection. Many a war has been started because the sacredness of a ship's deck has been violated. The war of 1812 with England really had its origin in the English claim that she could stop any American vessel and take off her decks.

But do you good. This preparation contains all the ingredients and digests all kinds of food. It gives instant relief and never fails to cure.

ever signals of distress raised by the sea try to help those who are in distress? Do not the whirlwinds of disaster shriek and howl and sweep up the streets of a great city as well as among the archipelagoes of a Mediterranean?

Now, my brother, as a human vessel, to what overruling power have you rendered your allegiance? To what power do you look for protection? "Oh," you answer, "I claim the protection of the English or the American flag. I am a native of London or of New York."

A Valuable Cargo. Every human vessel always carries a very valuable cargo. Have you stopped to consider why a great Commodore or White Star transatlantic steamer spends so much time by her dock as in traveling the high seas?

Then food must be provided for the passengers and the crew and huge cargoes of coal to keep the engines in motion. One is amazed at the thousands of tons of coal which a ship like the Kaiser Wilhelm II. carries at the beginning of its passage across the Atlantic.

Does not each human craft carry a valuable cargo? What about the merchant who is entrusted to a man's care? If the cashier of a bank abandons his duty, the bank is ruined.

Similarly in reference to its solitariness. When we start out we have plenty of friends. But if we determine to do right, if we are set in our purpose to follow the course which Christ has laid out for us, we shall find that our friends will often leave us, one by one.

The Lone Navigator's Friend. Similarly in reference to its solitariness. When we start out we have plenty of friends. But if we determine to do right, if we are set in our purpose to follow the course which Christ has laid out for us, we shall find that our friends will often leave us, one by one.

But do you good. This preparation contains all the ingredients and digests all kinds of food. It gives instant relief and never fails to cure.

The harbor of peace will be entered gladly as soon as the earthly journey is ended. Have you ever taken a long trip away from home? Have you been gone three, five, ten months or a year? Have you ever been so far away that if a cablegram was sent you that one of your loved ones was dying you knew that you could not reach the bedside of the sufferer, or even see her face again after she was dead? Well, I have. I pray God you may never know what such separation means.

De not afraid, my brother, that you will never have an opportunity to save men and women upon the land who are flying signals of distress. If you will once consecrate your lives to his service God will reveal them to you.

The human vessel, in order to reach the harbor of which Christ intended him to sail, must be able in one sense to make the voyage of life alone.

Does not each human craft carry a valuable cargo? What about the merchant who is entrusted to a man's care? If the cashier of a bank abandons his duty, the bank is ruined.

Similarly in reference to its solitariness. When we start out we have plenty of friends. But if we determine to do right, if we are set in our purpose to follow the course which Christ has laid out for us, we shall find that our friends will often leave us, one by one.

Heart From Attack of LaGrippe. Palpitation, Smothering, Short Breath. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The terrible after effects of LaGrippe are most dangerous when they attack the heart, the engine of life. Weak hearts are as common as weak stomachs and when an attack is made upon the weak heart, that organ soon becomes a diseased heart and the patient will unless promptly treated, suffer long and eventually die of heart disease, the dread of millions.

Some years ago I had an attack of the grip, and it left me with a very weak heart. Palpitation, shortness of breath and smothering spells that made me sit up in bed to breathe, robbing me of sleep, made me most miserable. I would become fatigued and exhausted from the least exertion and was in such a critical condition that I could not attend to my business. My physician seemed unable to control my case, and instead of getting better I was gradually growing weaker every day.

As my shop has been closed for the past two weeks on account of sickness, I am again open and ready to serve the trade; beside my line of BICYCLES, I am prepared to put on BABY COACH TIRES at a reasonable rate.

A Good Business Proposition is something that everybody who looks out for their own interest will take time to consider. We have Several Good Business Propositions to make you, and Here's the Point We do business on business principles. When we sell you a pair of shoes they are as good as can be manufactured for the money. People spend most of their time in their shoes, and this fact makes the quality of footwear a question of prime importance. Our proposition to you is to sell you good honest shoes at a price as low as is consistent with good values. We make this proposition to all prospective shoe buyers, fully believing that it is to your interest to do business with us. We have many advantages to offer you as a reason why you should do your shoe buying of us, the first of which is, we are exclusive Shoe dealers and also the largest buyers of Shoes on the Peninsula. We can offer you the largest and most complete stock to select from. We do not have to give you one size when your foot needs another. Our large stock enables us to carry all sizes and widths in stock. We take pains to see that every foot is properly fitted and also to select the proper kind of Shoe to meet the requirement for which it is intended. We have the exclusive sale in this city of all the best known and most popular makes of Shoes. A person is often judged by the company they keep, so is a merchant by the merchandise he handles, and while we stand behind every pair of fair priced Shoes we sell, whether made under some pet name or not. To those who want special lines we can offer such well known ones as the following: FOR MEN: The Walk-Over, W. L. Douglas, Crossett's Long Life. FOR BOYS AND GIRLS: The Rice & Hutchins, Burley Stevens & Co., Excelsior. FOR LADIES: Queen Quality, Zeitler Bros., Cinderella, Allnut Moody, Drew, Selby & Co. All of these are good ones in their class and have reputations established on merit, but the burden of our story is simply Shoes, and not the maker—trust us for that and we will always give you full value for your money or cheerfully refund you the same. Think over our proposition, come and see us and let us more fully explain and show you that we mean business and we feel sure that you will find that our interests are mutual. Yours for Shoes, R.
