BALTIMORE'S GREAT MEETING.

Music Hall Crowded to its Utmost Capacity. Gov. Smith, Ex-Senator Gorman and Mr. Bernard Carter Make Lengthy Addresses to An Enthusiastic Audience.

The largest political meeting of the present campaign was held in Baltimore at Music Hall on Wednesday evening.

Every seat was taken, every aisle was crowded and hundreds stood up along the walls. The stage overflowed with Democrats, the boxes and galleries were filled with ladies and their escorts and many persons were unable to get in at all.

The speeches and the speakers were greeted with enthusiasm, and the demonstration accorded ex-Senator Gorman, who made his first political speech for some years, lasted for minutes. Three times he started to speak, but could not check the cheering. At one time the entire house was on its feet, waving hats and handkerchiefs and yelling.

The speakers of the meeting were, ex-Senator Gorman, Governor John Walter Smith and Mr. Bernard Carter. Mr. Gorman said in part as follows:

"Fellow Anglo Saxons: [Applause and laughter.] Your presence here to-night purges this hall and relieves it from the diadem which was cast upon it within the last 24 hours. Your presence here tonight in such great numbers, supported as you are by the beautiful women, means, as it has meant, that our race from the beginning to the government under which we live, the government that administers your affairs and furnishes protection to the weak, shall be conducted by the Anglo-Saxon. [Applause.]

"Well, now, what is this contest? An ordinary contest for office? If it were only a question of which of those tickets should be elected how narrow the circle would be; how insignificant the result; merely to hold an office. Compare the tickets, compare the promises of the tickets of the two parties, and the Democratic party will stand before the people of Maryland, having nominated the best ticket that we have had in the field for the last five or six years. [Applause.]

"But it is not the office; it is not whether Dr. Hering or some other man shall be Comptroller; it goes beyond that; it goes to the control of the State at every branch, and extends beyond that, and places Maryland on one side or the other of the great conflict that is being going on for 33 years in this country—whether the white man shall rule or whether the colored man shall rule in this country. [Applause.]

"Now the Republican party is a great national party. I respect them as a party and I know that if you are to have good government there must be two great parties in this country; the weaker equally divided the better it is for the administration of the governmental affairs. I know that they are a patriotic and as loyal to the institutions of the country as you and I, but I know more than that; that, as sometimes occurs, it has been the radical element which has especially dominated that party, as it shapes and controls in Maryland today.

In speaking of McComas Senator Gorman said:

"When a United States Senator, holding a commission from the State of Maryland, in his speech denouncing the Governor of the State as an instrument, weak, ambitious and a man in the hands of demagogues, I say to the Governor, as all honest men will say to him, that his life as a private citizen, his conduct as an official, stamps the statement as a malicious falsehood, and he need not take further notice of it or its author. [Applause.]

"An apt instrument, says this Senator. This audience will bear witness that when Mr. McComas succeeded me, for the day he succeeded me in the Senate of the United States, I have never discussed him or his public acts referred to him, except on one occasion in reference to a miserable statement which he had then uttered in the State of Maryland. Delicacy prevented. If he had had the instincts that are apposed to belong to a United States Senator and an accomplished, thorough gentleman, he would not have slandered or abused the Governor of the State or used my name over and over again, as he has. [Applause.]

"He says the Governor of Maryland an apt instrument in the hands of signing men. Those instruments are men who have political preference as a rule struggle for it and fight for the party; they fight to obtain honor for the party and then place for. When the accidents of 1895 and 97 occurred, who led the Republican party, who was in the lead to defeat the Democratic party? No man ever heard of McComas. He was a judge on the Federal bench in Washington, with his head sealed, enjoying the may that he had received as a reward for his hostility to Maryland and the South in 1890. [Applause.] Republicans of Maryland fought that battle against us, with their allies, and succeeded in defeating were all set aside, and this man was elected to go to the Senate, not because of some power which it is not necessary for me now to describe. If public testimony can be believed—I believe it can—he was a more man and a more useful man to the great interests than any other publican in the State. [Applause.]

THE DELMAR FIRE.

Heavy Losses to the Property Owners Unsecured by Insurance.

The fire which swept all the Delaware side of the town of Delmar last Saturday afternoon, leaves many of the losers in distressing circumstances. One of the heaviest losers is Mr. Wm. L. Sirman, in whose barn the fire started, who in his old age is reduced from wealth to almost poverty. In the last fifteen years he has lost by fire a neat little fortune.

Fifty houses were destroyed. Many of them were new houses, built after the fire of August, 1899, which destroyed 45 buildings. The loss is over $200,000.00. The principal losers are: W. L. Sirman, factory, residence and other dwelling houses, loss $20,000; insurance $4,000; Miss Emily Freney, millinery, $500; J. M. Hearn, barber, $300; W. S. Marvel, blacksmith, $300; M. E. Hitchens, millinery, $2,000; Delmar Union Store, $7,500; Irving Culver, hardware, $3,000; W. B. Elliott, residence, store and stock, $6,000; James G. Elliott, residence, clothing, $5,500; F. G. Elliott, residence, hardware store and warehouse, $11,500; W. T. Hastings, residence and store, $3,000; J. W. Hastings, residence and contents, $4,500; W. S. Marvel's residence, $3,200; Post-office building, $800; Hastings & Co., store, contents and fixtures, $11,000; Levin Hastings, residence and store houses, $25,000; Solomon Stephens, residence, $3,500; Stephen T. Waller, residence, $1,200; Mrs. Waller, house, $1,200; Dr. Ellegood's office, store, residence and contents, $3,000; Handy Culver, residence, $2,000; J. L. Ellis, residence and contents, $2,000; M. M. Ellis, residence, $1,000; J. J. Culver, residence, $1,800; Mrs. Johnson Ellis, house, $3,200; Dr. James Brayshaw, pharmacy and residence, $2,500; insurance, $1,000; John J. Culver, residence, $3,000; John W. Melsom, residence, $3,000; Delaware school-house, $800; Hayman's blacksmithy, $300; H. J. Jones, residence, $900; Mrs. L. A. Kerr, residence, $700.

J. L. Ellis, S. N. Culver and G. L. Hastings lost merchandise by water which they had saved from the fire.

Salisbury and Wilmington were telegraphed for aid. Salisbury's special made the trip of 8-10 miles in five minutes, and when it arrived, it was greeted at the station by a large crowd. Men, women and children helped the firemen drag their steamer and hose cars from the cars and then came a halt, because there was no water.

Necessity aided the frantic citizens to devise a clever scheme to get water. Two locomotives ran to the Delaware railroad pumping station, filled their tanks with water and returned to a point where they could be connected with the fire engine. A traction engine was also utilized in this way, and this work resulted in the saving of the Delaware railroad station, the bank, the Methodist Episcopal church and the business block of Elijah Freney. The call for help from Wilmington was countermanded.

For the hundreds of homeless who were in the streets Saturday night there was practically no food. In the two stores that escaped the groceries are so badly smoked that they are unfit for use.

A special engine was started from Salisbury with a carload of provisions, consisting of staple groceries, fresh pork and other meats. The train arrived at Delmar shortly before noon Sunday and the Salisbury relief committee, consisting of Mayor Disharoon, O. J. Schneek, R. D. Grier, William F. Jackson, A. A. Gillis and Senator M. V. Brewington, at once communicated with the town authorities. The latter appointed another relief committee, consisting of B. F. Barker, Llewellyn Kerr, Harry Hill, Harry T. Hickie and James H. Tyre, to take charge of the provisions and distribute them.

The car contained about $400 worth of food. The Council had recently contracted for the furnishing of electric lights for the streets, the power to come from Laurel, but it is now probable that this order will be rescinded and the first question taken up will be that of providing the town with water works. It is estimated that a plant can be put in which will give adequate protection for $20,000.

Among the heaviest losers by the fire were the Hon. William L. Sirman and Levin Hastings. Mr. Sirman lost four dwellings, two of which cost $6,000 each, also his large mill and manufacturing plant, in all about $35,000, on which he had very little insurance. He was burned out in 1892, entailing a loss of about $30,000, with only $800 insurance. A year previous to that he had been burned out and lost $10,000. So within the last 10 years he has lost about $65,000 by fires in Delmar. He was at one time the wealthiest man in the place, but his entire fortune has been eaten by fire. Levin Hastings, another prominent resident, has lost heavily. He had seven stores, four dwellings and a stock of goods destroyed Saturday, in all about $35,000, on which he has an insurance of only $2,900. Like Mr. Sirman, he was a large loser at the preceding fire and will be severely crippled financially by this second great loss.

The unfortunate ones who lost their homes were provided with shelter by neighbors Saturday night.

But five small stores are left in the place—those of W. J. Donaway, Hastings & Fleetwood, E. H. Lowe & Co., J. H. Sturges and W. S. Parker & Co. An idea of the great heat of the fire can be estimated by looking down the streets and see dogs, cats, and rats which were roasted to death in the middle of the street while trying to escape from the houses. It looked as if the town were burning from four quarters at the same time.

The fire made rapid progress. In less than two hours and a half after the alarm was given, practically the entire Delaware side of the town was in ashes. Only a few houses remained, and about two hundred people found themselves homeless, and without food. The fire spread so rapidly that it was impossible for the occupants to save much of their household furniture or clothing, thus leaving those unfortunate people in a very deplorable condition.

The section burned covers about three acres of ground, extending from the M. E. Church on State Street to Rail Road Avenue, up Rail Road Avenue to Jewel Street, covering the entire intervening section back to the O. S. Baptist Church excepting two buildings, the North side of Jewel street, and up the street leading out to the Laurel road to the residence of Mr. Clarence Ellis. This section contained the handsomest residence in Delmar.

A particularly sad case is that of Miss Alice Hastings, daughter of Mr. Levin Hastings, who is to be married November 5th. A pretty home wedding had been planned, and after a short trip, the young couple were going housekeeping in a home which Miss Hastings' father had presented her. This and much of the furniture which had been recently purchased was swept away by the fire. She saved most of her trousseau.

SMALL POX ON THE PENINSULA.

Moving Down Toward Wicomico.

The upper end of the Peninsula has numerous well-defined cases of smallpox and within the last ten days new cases have been reported in Sussex county. A dispatch from Laurel, Delaware, says:

"This community was thrown into a state of intense excitement when State Senator Farlow reported to the Board of Health, this morning that one of his patients had virulent smallpox.

The patient is Mrs. Joseph Cross, wife of the well-known Wilmington barber and sporting man. Mrs. Cross came to Laurel 10 days ago to visit the home of George W. Hitch, on the outskirts of town.

The Board of Health will meet this afternoon to adopt measures to prevent the spread of the malady. Laurel has been most fortunate. While other nearby towns have on various occasions had smallpox there has never been a case reported here. Owing to the drastic measures adopted last year, when there were scores of cases in other places, not one was here."

It would be entirely too much to hope for to expect Wicomico county to escape the presence of this loathsome malady. Almost every day the colored people of Sussex and Wicomico are intermingling by the exchange of social visits. The trains almost invariably have among the passengers several colored men and women. Some going to the Seaford oyster-packing houses and some coming from the Seaford canneries, while still others are going and coming for the fun of the ride and the joy of spending their small earnings. This is the class of people who make it so difficult for the authorities to prevent the spreading of the disease. The cases in Salisbury last Spring were introduced in this way, and the taxpayers of the county had to meet the heavy expense incident to the treatment of the cases and the protection of the public. Although the disease was confined to the colored population the taxpayers of the county were really the victims for they had to bear the burden of expense.

Democrats of Wicomico go to the polls early on next Tuesday and cast your ballots. Then see that your democratic neighbor votes. If the democrats of Wicomico register their votes on next Tuesday the county will surely go democratic by a good majority.

The Norma.

Captain Otis S. Lloyd's ship yard in Salisbury was a scene of much activity last Tuesday afternoon, when Captain F. B. Culver's oyster boat, the Norma, was launched.

The boat had been on the ways since some time in the summer. Every part was built of the best material and put together in the best possible manner. The launching was witnessed by a goodly number of people, including her owner, Captain Culver.

She will be put into the oyster trade at once. This is the second vessel Captain Lloyd has built at his yard on the same model. The first one was launched the past summer and is giving very great satisfaction to her owner. Captain Lloyd is now engaged in doing some repair work. He expects orders for other boats in the near future.

Oysters in all Styles.

During the winter, beginning with next week, oysters in all styles will be served Wednesday and Saturday evenings in each week from 8 to 11 o'clock at Mrs. Bradley's boarding house, 220 Main Street. On election night (next Tuesday) oysters will be served until 12 o'clock.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

Largely Attended in all Parts of the County.

THE MASS MEETINGS IN SALISBURY LAST SATURDAY.

The meetings held in all parts of the county by the democrats during this campaign have been attended by the best people and largest tax-payers of the community in which each meeting was held. The speakers have received the most cordial and respectful attention. The meetings have been made, in many cases, occasions of social and business intercourse. In several instances oyster roasts have been adjuncts of the meetings. No drunkenness, disorder or lawlessness have been reported as taking place at any democratic gathering. The issues have been discussed in a calm, intelligent and capable manner, and ugly personal attacks have been avoided.

The meetings at Nutter's voting place, and at Mardela Springs were notably large and enthusiastic. At Mardela today (Friday) several hundred people gathered. Among the speakers were Hon. E. E. Jackson, Mr. Thos. Ferry, Mr. J. D. Price, Mr. L. Atwood Bennett, besides the candidates. Dry steamed oysters were served from 11 o'clock a. m. through the remainder of the day.

The mass meeting held in Salisbury last Saturday was a success despite a number of incidents which operated against it. The fire at Delmar turned many people back who had started. The Delmar Band, which had already reached here was hastily disbanded and the members returned home with all possible speed.

Hon. J. Frank Turner, clerk of the Court of Appeals and candidate for election to that office, and Col. Kilgore of Montgomery county, were the speakers in the afternoon. Ex-Governor Jackson presided at the afternoon meeting. He addressed the audience, very forcibly expressing the deep interest he feels in the democratic party and its success this fall.

He said the Democratic party had never presented to the people of Wicomico a better ticket than the one now before the people, and that every man on it is entitled to the hearty support of those who desire capable and honest men in public office. The ex-Governor promised his hearty co-operation with the Democrats of the county in the election of the entire ticket. He remarks the ex-Governor referred to the failure of the Republicans to hold a political meeting in Salisbury during the campaign. By their action it would seem they were afraid to meet the issues of the campaign in an open discussion before an intelligent people. He warned Democrats not to lose sight of the vital issues involved in this contest, and not to give countenance to the underhand work of the Republicans in this contest. The remarks of ex-Governor Jackson were loudly applauded.

Ex-Governor Jackson was followed by Hon. J. Frank Turner, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and Col. William Kilgore of Western Maryland. Mr. Turner made an earnest appeal for the continuance of the Democratic party in power; and asked that the State ticket receive the same support accorded the county ticket. Mr. Turner discussed the election law with its bug aboo stories of the wrongs against the white voter.

Col. Kilgore made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the party. He was frequently applauded.

The night meeting had its drawback in the fact that Dr. Hering, comptroller and candidate for re-election and Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson who were to be the speakers, did not arrive at the opera house until 9 o'clock owing to the delay of their train from Easton where they spoke in the afternoon. Mr. L. Atwood Bennett, happily came to the rescue and from a quarter after eight until the other speakers arrived entertained the audience with a vivid presentation of the issues of the campaign. Col. Malone presided over the meeting.

Dr. Hering spoke at some length on the financial condition of the State and compared the costs of the Democratic Legislature of 1900 with that of the republican Legislature of 1898. He explained to the people several discrepancies in the financial statements of Mr. Goldsborough and other Republican leaders, and showed beyond all peradventure that the Democratic party could always be trusted to give to the State a good, honest, clean administration. He spoke of the political campaigns in Maryland since 1864, when there was a wholesale disfranchisement of the Southern cause. During these years the people bore their political burdens with fortitude. That a great debt was laid upon the people of Maryland when the Democratic party took charge of the State, which debt had been reduced by over five millions of dollars during the Democratic regime, although every department of the State government and institutions had been properly cared for.

Hon. Lloyd Wilkinson, ex-speaker of the House of Delegates, closed with a few remarks in reference to the work of the extra session. Mr. Wilkinson, owing to the late hour, was obliged to be brief, but he presented in a concise and telling manner the vital issues of this campaign.

Gross Misrepresentation Put Out By Republican Campaign Committee.

Col. Kilgour, Under Oath, Denounces As False The Statements Made By Isaac H. White And Jesse H. Brattan.

My attention has just been called to a letter given to the public over the signatures of Isaac H. White and Jesse H. Brattan, in which occurs the following statement:

"William Kilgour, who is stumping the State in the interest of the Democratic party, and who is the mouthpiece of the Bosses, in a conversation with Isaac H. White, in the presence of Jesse H. Brattan at the Peninsula Hotel, Sunday morning, October 27th, before eight o'clock, said the following is the intention of the Democrats, if they are successful in winning the election this fall: 'It is our intention,' said Mr. Kilgour, 'if successful, to further fix the qualifications to entitle a man to vote, and make it more difficult by adding a property qualification to the already educational qualification, and I assure you that we will place it sufficiently high and strong to get rid of this Rabble and negro vote. We must get rid of them, and if we are successful this fall, we will so thoroughly intrench ourselves that they will never again be able to get us out. We must win. It is very essential that we should have the legislative part of the ticket.'"

This is a deliberate, wilful and criminal misrepresentation of the subject matter of the moment's conversation.

I was sitting in the reading room of the hotel and having just finished a letter to my daughter, I turned to two gentlemen who were seated at the stove and asked "how far it was to White Haven?" One answered that it was 26 miles and wanted to know if I intended to speak at that point. I replied no, as my engagement in Harford County on the day of meeting would prevent my being present. This question was followed by another wishing to know if I was not one of the speakers on the previous afternoon. Having replied in the affirmative, they wanted to know "what I thought of the prospects or outlook in Maryland?" I said "substantially, DEMOCRATIC!" Further remarking, "the white people of the State had become alarmed at the significance and proportions the campaign had assumed. That there was but one issue in the campaign and that was the race issue which had become more pronounced since Mr. Roosevelt had entertained the negro Washington. That it had aroused the indignation of the Democracy throughout the country—that it was a blow at the popular sentiment of the South and that it 'had made Virginia more solidly Democratic than ever before. That prior to 1857 the State of VIRGINIA had had a property qualification and it had been stated that on the re-convening of the Constitutional Convention in that State, it was thought it would be embodied in the new Constitution. To this remark, the smaller of the two gentlemen, who I am informed was Mr. I. H. WHITE, the republican nominee, replied, 'THIS IS WHAT OUGHT TO BE.' I never uttered such a declaration as 'White Rabble.' It is an expression entirely foreign and out of harmony with my taste. This ended our conversation."

The question of "property qualification" so far as Maryland is concerned, was never mentioned.

It would have been an insult to any intelligent man in the State, from the fact that it would require the adoption of a Constitutional Amendment to this effect, ratified at the polls. I left the parties with the belief from their manner and their concurrence in my views, that they were democrats, not thinking for a moment that they were SPIES, or that a gentleman's and a stranger's private conversation would be so grossly twisted and misrepresented.

 I hereby certify that on this 29th day of October, in the year of 1901, before me, the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland, in and for Wicomico County, personally appeared William Kilgour and made oath in due form of law that the facts as above stated are true and correct.

BALTIMORE'S GREAT MEETING.

Governor Smith in concluding an hour and a half speech said:
 "The election of a Legislature on November 5th naturally has made the record of the Democratic Legislature, as compared with the record of the previous Republican body, an issue of this campaign, and while this is not a gubernatorial election, the Republican managers have evidently determined on making the Executive of the State also an issue."
 "We accept the challenge."
 "In the light of the experience of the past 21 months to guide me, I stand here tonight with no apologies to make for any action I have taken in regard to public measures, nor any regrets or misgivings. I have endeavored to do my duty, and I feel that I have done it."
 "Whilst I am a Democrat from conviction, and love my party and desire its success, I love my State more. I am not a partisan to the extent that I would prefer to sacrifice a single interest of my State for the sake of the party to which I pay allegiance. I love my State, and I love her people. I glory in her past history and in her advancement, and realizing as I do my official responsibility, I diligently strive to give my best judgment and effort to the public business. I am proud of the high office to which you have elevated me and I cheerfully dedicate the best that is in me to the proper performance of its responsible and wearisome duties."
 "I pledge you anew, so far as I am able to accomplish it, a fair, honest and economical administration of State affairs."
 "We ask your support in the coming election. The gentlemen who are candidates for the office of Comptroller of the Treasury and the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals are not unknown or untried. No man could be found anywhere, in this or any other State, better equipped by experience, by honesty or by intelligence, for the office for which he is a candidate than Dr. Joshua W. Hering."
 "The Court of Appeals of Maryland has passed upon the qualifications of Mr. Turner for the office for which he has been nominated. Nothing that I could say in his behalf, no matter how elogetic, could add anything to a recommendation of such high character."
 "If these gentlemen are elected you may depend upon them to do their duty. I feel confident they will add their efforts to those of other public officials to a continuation of that honest and capable administration of public affairs which has heretofore made conspicuous the Democratic party of Maryland."
 Mr. Carter in speaking of Southern Maryland's danger said: "Now let me apply what I have said to our Election law. Knowing as Democrats what an incubus the negro vote is in this State; knowing in how many counties by the addition of a very small number of whites to the solid negro vote the counties are made Republican; knowing that in those counties you have negro officeholders and negro bailiffs in court and you have negro supervisors of roads and other officials, you realize how demoralized is the whole of Southern Maryland. You know in what condition the people in those counties are where there is this immense negro vote, and the large mass of that vote is cast because they are able only to put the mark opposite the rose of Mr. Lincoln. You know how many negroes have been imported into this State to carry elections. These negroes have come from Southern States where they have been deprived of the right of suffrage and are brought here for no other purpose than to control elections and with a knowledge that they need do more than to see Mr. Lincoln's face on the paper and put their mark there. It is for these reasons that the Democrats in the last Legislature at Annapolis acted wisely when they said: 'We cannot under the Constitution of the United States make any difference in the right of voting the tickets and the right of voting between the white man and the colored man; we are obliged to make the tickets the same for all; but in view of the fact that this mass of ignorance votes under the whip and spur of the Republican bosses in the counties and in the city of Baltimore we will so arrange the ticket that while any person who values the franchise enough to take merely the trouble which I have heretofore indicated, which requires only to learn how to vote that ballot, we will so fix it that those who will not take that trouble—and we believe there would be a large portion of those ignorant masses of negroes who will not take the trouble—may vote the ticket readily. It is worth the trial at least to endeavor to lift the burden which weighs down the counties of Maryland. It is worth the trouble if we can get rid of this incubus of negro domination even if it does disfranchise some of our white citizens who do not care to take the trouble to learn to mark the ballot.' It was thought wise to put the ballot in the possession of those who could exercise some intelligence and who would take the trouble to understand the matter, and thereby bring about a condition which will obliterate the masses of ignorant negroes whose votes control the State of Maryland. [Applause.]

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by R. K. Truitt druggist.

JOYFUL MATERNITY.

Hopeful Words to Childless Women. Two Grateful Women Tell How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How shall a mother who is weak and sick with some female trouble bear healthy children?
How anxious women ought to be to give their children the blessing of a good constitution!
Many women long for a child to bless their home, but because of some debility or displacement of the female organs, they are barren.
Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the parts, curing all displacements and inflammation.
Actual sterility in women is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all expectant or would-be mothers.

5000 REWARD
Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonials letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the following testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

The Story of Mrs. De Bett and Her Baby Girl.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I took your medicine I suffered for years. Life to me was a torture. I often wished I were dead. I had no children, and the doctor said I never could have. Menstruation was very painful, also suffered with severe pains in left ovary, and pains in my back and heart, terrible headaches, and weakness of the kidneys. I tried everything, had womb dilated twice but that did no good. I got discouraged and concluded to let the doctors go and try your medicine. After writing to you explaining my case, I followed your advice carefully and with the result that I never felt so well in all my life. I am indeed a new woman and have a loving little baby girl which is the happiness of my home. I feel that I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine, and feel very proud to recommend it to others. I hope that many others will follow my example and that homes may be brightened as mine has."—Mrs. Lucy De Bett, 80 1/2 S. Halstead St., Chicago, Ill. (March 1, 1901.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must write and tell you what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before taking your medicine I was unable to carry a babe to maturity, having lost two—one at six months and one at seven. The doctor said next time I would die, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I did not die, but am the proud mother of a six-months old girl baby. She weighs nineteen pounds and has never seen a sick day in her life. She is the delight of our home."—Mrs. A. D. JARRET, Belmont, Ohio.

Get Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.

It is free as the air. She has been the means of making many a miserable life turn into one of joy—no other living person has such wide experience with woman's ills. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

"I did," answered the cheerful liar, "and I was pained to note the incompleteness of the story. Now, I happen to know of a case that is really remarkable. The lightning entered a barber's shop and not only undertook the task of singeing a man's hair, but it rung up the proper amount on the cash register."—Chicago Post.

NEGRO EQUALITY IMPOSSIBLE.

An Independent Citizen Declares Against Amalgamation of Races.

MRS. EDITORS:—That I am a prohibitionist, in sympathy with the cause of temperance wherever it may manifest itself, and in whatever form, and the avowed enemy of the liquor traffic, is too well known, perhaps, to require any further utterances from me as to my attitude. But while that is true, my prohibition sentiments do not blind me to the existence of other issues, negro supremacy with what it implies, and bribery, constituting at this time the chief and most important pressing for consideration. Bribery is an ominous and growing evil that has already attained gigantic and appalling proportions, and is not receiving the attention that it merits. But it is not of bribery I would write at this time. Nay; the negro issue, involving as it does, negro supremacy, social equality, mixed schools and amalgamation, constitute, to my mind, the paramount issue of the hour.

Speakers and writers may prate about evolution; survival of the fittest; natural selection, etc., etc., but until it can be shown that union of the white and black races evolve a superior race to either, should the white man countenance such proposition. Nay; nor tolerate it. Combining gold with a baser metal may enhance the value of the baser, but how about the alloy?
There is much in the policy of the Republican party I accept and heartily endorse. The party represents brains, foresight and integrity, and is a progressive party, and has abundant cause to be proud of achievements. The party has been a history making party. But until it can be shown that social equality, mixed schools, and amalgamation, will promote the happiness and welfare of the human family, the party need not exp of the support of the people.

That the leaders of the party, by their cause and utterances, are helping to advance the colored race towards social equality and intermarriage, can no longer be doubted. The indications have become too positive.
I am opposed to appearing in the attitude of the alarmist or obstructionist, and have too much confidence in the good sense and foresight of the Republican party to believe that the leaders and ruling spirits favored the elevation of the colored race at the expense and by the sacrifice of the white. But if their course doesn't mean this, pray what does it mean? We call upon them to come out of the bushes and explain. Recent events and moves on their part, it appears to me, remove all doubt as to their disposition relative to the matters here discussed.

It is no longer any use to try to conceal the fact or persuade oneself that there is nothing in it. It is now too apparent that the pro of the Republican party is leaning towards the city of amalgamation. There is trouble ahead.
I am opposed to the elevation of the colored race at the expense and by the sacrifice of the white. The colored race should be content to occupy a subordinate position in this country, and so long as they confine themselves to their natural and legitimate sphere, I shall be their friend, but when it comes to the questions of social equality, mixed schools and intermarriage, I shall be found arrayed against them and in active earnestness. The colored race has here a chance to grow and prosper and be happy in their natural sphere and to live in peace and harmony with the white man, and as it cannot be shown that union of the races would promote the welfare and happiness of the human family, I fail to see a good and substantial reason for encouraging such aspiration. Neither can we find about the negro's person any physical, spiritual, or God impressed indication that God intended social equality and amalgamation. I fail to hear a call from heaven to assist him to attain such position. On the contrary, there are many discoverable—apparent—reasons and indications for the belief that non-union should be maintained.

I am opposed to social equality; I am opposed to mixed schools; I am opposed to intermarriage, and I am opposed to the party that favors these conditions; and, if the Republican party doesn't favor them, I mean the rulers and leaders—their compass is badly out of order. And I call upon my fellow citizens irrespective of party affiliation to join hands with those who pledge themselves to resist such advances to the last ditch. Party ties should not deter one from assuming a bold stand against these encroachments; these presumptuous aims and aspirations—grave and far-reaching in import as they are. Party fealty, party success, party existence, dwindle into insignificance, when compared with the matter under consideration, and there should be no hesitation as to what course should be adopted.
It is my hope that the revelations of the ballot box of the near future will leave no doubt as to the attitude of the people in regard to these matters.

Prohibitionist, Republican, Democrat, and all, should join hands and pull together for the success of that banner that bears upon its face, interwoven in its texture the motto: Caucasian first, last and all the time.
What I have here written, I have written with the purest motives, best intentions, and with the sincere belief that the position I have assumed relative to the matter under consideration, is right, just, altruistic and for the best.

A mongrel race is certainly not desirable, in any sense, and that the Republican leaders and rulers are encouraging the colored race along these lines is too palpable a fact to be longer ignored. There is but one way to check it and that is to vote it down.

DRIZZINESS.

A great many women are subject to spells of drizziness, spots before the eyes, and a ringing noise in the head. These symptoms are commonly associated with liver "trouble" as the result of a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote from that organ, but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. Hence, cures of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, and other organs are constantly effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.
Some dealers may offer a substitute as "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There's more profit in substitutes for the dealer. There's more health in the "Discovery" for you. Don't be imposed on.
"It is with the greatest pleasure I write you the benefit my mother has received from your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" says Miss Carrie Johnson, of Lovesville, Amherst Co., Virginia. She suffered untold misery with uterine disease and nervousness, and had a constant ringing and ringing noise in her head. After taking six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery she was entirely cured."
When a laxative is required use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

VOTE THE TICKET.

With this issue the ADVERTISER closes its campaign for 1901. Every effort has been made to make it clear to the voters of the county what the issue is in the campaign. The special session of the Legislature was made the issue by the republicans, and the session itself contained the issue for every white voter. By the republicans the campaign has been conducted more or less covertly. Their campaign has not been conducted in the open. It is reported that they have worked among certain classes to create the impression that if the democratic party wins in the State this year they will enact a law at the coming session requiring a property qualification for voters. Such a thing has never been dreamed of. They do not tell these people that the constitution absolutely forbids this. Under the constitution every man in the State of Maryland is entitled to vote, who has not been convicted of a felony. The party as every intelligent man in the county and State knows has always been the champion of the poor man's political rights. This was the very issue of the campaign of last year, when William Jennings Bryan was the standard bearer, and the republican party on the other hand has been the champion of the capitalist.

What the party has advocated in this campaign and what the ADVERTISER will ever be found advocating so long as its present editors control its columns is government by the intelligent class. Not a kid-gloved or moneyed class but a government by the substantial citizens of the county; to be plain, a white man's government. This is the ADVERTISER's position. As we stated before we believe this issue has been drawn so sharply that to lose would jeopardize our material interests in the county. Everybody knows how southern Maryland has suffered under negro domination the last few years. When the republicans came in power in '93 the Hon. Sidney E. Mudd took care of his colored friends. They were put into the tobacco ware house; into the capital building and other places, acknowledging recognition for a price. It would be the same in every county of the State. The present leaders of the Republican party in the county might not pursue this course in the county, but the negroes would soon set up leaders of their own who would do just as they have done in Southern Maryland, because they can control the party primaries if directed by leaders.

The Special session of the Legislature was called primarily to occur of a fraudulent census, which the Republican party was responsible for—not the national administration—but the leaders of the party in this State, the same leaders who are now conducting the campaign and yet the special session seems to be the issue with that party. At that session a ballot law was enacted which provides for a restrictive ballot to prevent the hordes of ignorant and vicious negroes imported from the South, from controlling our elections. What white can object to this? Are not the white voters of the county as capable of handling a restrictive ballot as the negroes?

The Republicans have raised the cry of "Gormanism." This does not scare any Democrat in Wicomico County. Mr. Gorman has stated emphatically that he is not the issue but that Democratic success is the issue. You will make no mistake Democrats to vote the ticket from top to bottom.

THE RACE QUESTION.

When a circular is sent broadcast and individually to each colored man in the State of Maryland with the endorsement of the Republican Party Committee, advising all colored men to register, and then by their votes "sweep off the face of the earth the enemies of their race," the race problem is no longer one of small proportions. It is the solidification of a large class of voters in solid array against the government and legislation of the predominant, intelligent and property holding class of the people of Maryland, whether that government or legislation is right or wrong. The colored people will not or are not allowed to think and decide for themselves on political questions. Such being the case, they need not feel hurt or aggrieved if the antagonism and resentment of the white people increases and becomes more bitter. It has been the earnest and sincere desire of the true friends of the colored race, to see that race break the shackles that bind it to one political party. Schools and colleges are open to them in Maryland as well as other Southern States, and some of the colored people claim to have acquired an education and some reasoning power. If so they fail to show it in their votes.

Who ever heard of a prohibition negro? The German, the Irish, the Italian and all other foreign born citizens of this country split their votes with the different political parties, voting as their conscience and reason dictate, therefore there is no class hatred or enmity. Mr. Lincoln's nose is no longer on the ballot as indicating a party shibboleth—names and the individual candidates of party conventions, represent the platform of their own party and their own fitness and capability for office. It seems that the colored voters in this county are expected to vote for every nominee of the republican convention, whether those nominees are old stagers or sudden converts, without any inquiry into such a candidate's ability or fitness for the office, or how sincere and lasting the sudden conversion or flop may be.

Under the conditions existing in the State of Maryland by reason of the change in the mode of voting, the success or defeat of either party cannot be absolutely predicted, but whichever party may win at the election, it behooves the colored race to take a different position politically to assist themselves by acting independently and voting as they please. Their intolerance and opposition even extends to personal injury to any of their race who shows independence enough to vote different from the solid mass of their race, must cease, or the results may be very disastrous to their future progress and advancement.

—Democrats of Wicomico go to the polls early on next Tuesday and cast your ballots. Then see that your democratic neighbor votes. If the democrats of Wicomico register their votes on next Tuesday the county will surely go democratic by a good majority.

WHAT LINCOLN SAID OF THE NEGRO.

But perhaps there may be those who believe in negro rule; perhaps there may be in Maryland white men who believe that the negro race is equal to the white. If such persons there be—and the casting of a vote for the Republican platform demonstrates the fact that they exist—then their opinion is in direct opposition to that of the greatest leader whom the Republican party has ever known, Abraham Lincoln. This 'dole of the colored race says: "I will say that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social, political equality of the white and black races; that I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor intermarry with white people; and I will say, in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality. And inasmuch as they cannot so live while they do remain together, there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I, as much as any other man am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race."

Abraham Lincoln was not alone among Republicans in that opinion. Theodore Parker, than whom no stauncher friend of the negro ever lived, said:

"They are inferior races, which have always borne the same ignoble relation to the rest of mankind, and always will. In twenty generations the negro will stand just where he is now, that is, if he will not have disappeared."

Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Parker spoke truly, and so did that carpet-bagger and Republican Governor Chamberlayne, when a decade later, speaking of the effect of the control of the negro over the Southern States, he said: "The civilization of the Puritan and Cavalier and Roundhead and Huguenot is in peril."—Observer.

MCCOMAS' TO BLAME.

All is not serene among the Republicans of Baltimore city. Levi Thompson was a leading Malster Republican. He was very prominent in the management of the Malster forces. Here is what he said in a public speech in Baltimore on Thursday night:

"They may paint as roseate a picture as they please at headquarters of a Republican clean sweep this coming election, but, gentlemen, do you know that in 1897, when the State administration was with us and the majority of Supervisors of Elections were with us, and the committing magistrates were with us, and the Police Commissioners were with us—that is, we thought they were with us—and we had an election law of our own making—do you know, I say, that 89 votes, properly distributed, would have given the State to the Democrats? What, then, are our prospects now, when all these things are against us? But if we are defeated this year we know where to place the blame—upon Senator McComas' shoulders. If we are licked and I have a spark of vitality left I shall make it my duty to go to him and say: 'You, sir, are responsible for our defeat.'"

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are: uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

The X Mark.

Some folks make their mark this way and some make their mark in the world in other ways—politically, religiously, crankily or any other way, so they make it. This X mark is on a great big, long, warm, all-wool Overcoat. Its "hot stuff." This Overcoat is grey Oxford, although he's next to the blues just like him. He's one of several hundred. Some of them are made up with full, wide collars, wide enough to tip your hat off if you wear a hat instead of a cap. The sleeves are lined with slippery lining. The Coats are lined with good strong lining. Remember, I said there were several hundred of these Overcoats, and there are. Now to further claim your attention—there's a small chain at the back of the neck to hang these Overcoats up in the hall on. These Overcoats are good coats, a good deal gooder than any Thoroughgood ever sold before, and a good deal gooder than a good many good men think they are who don't buy their good goods of Thoroughgood—good. You lose money every time you buy Overcoats anywhere else and so does Thoroughgood.

Who's to be the Judge.

whether or not these Overcoats are as good as Thoroughgood claims them to be? Our next Judge don't have to judge these Overcoats for you, come and judge them yourselves before the next Judge is elected. No store in the world, anywhere, big or little, comes nearer to fair dealing with its customer than Thoroughgood does, and its that very fact that is bringing to Thoroughgood customers from everywhere, they want to trade in a store where there is no uncertainty about its goods or its prices. Everybody everywhere says Thoroughgood sells good Hats, for men. Well now, Thoroughgood sells good Hats, why shouldn't he sell good Clothes? Thoroughgood's customers all say that Thoroughgood sells good Clothing and Hats, but Thoroughgood's competitors say "nit." "Nit" means no nowadays. In the beginning "nit" was a word used to describe the sort of underwear used in the "early fall," when Eve said to Adam, "I don't care A—dam, I must have some "nit" underwear or a heavier sweater." Lacy Thoroughgood has the finest assortment of "nit" Underwear in Salisbury.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage demonstrates that we are affected by forces that we seldom recognize and enlarges upon human accountability; the text is Job xxxviii, 31, "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of Pleiades?"

What is the meaning of that question that God put to Job? Have we all our lives been reading it and are most of us ignorant of its beauty and power and practical suggestiveness? A meaningless passage of Scripture may mean it to be. But the telescopes were busy after age and astronomical observations kept on questioning the skies until the meaning of my text comes out lustroly.

The navigation of the Mediterranean was from May to November—the rising and the setting of the Pleiades. The priests of Belus noticed that rising and setting 2,000 years before Christ.

Now, the glorious meaning of my text is plain as well as radiant. To give Job the beautiful grace of humility God asked him, "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of the Pleiades?" Have you any power over the laws of gravitation? Can you modify or change an influence wielded by a star more than 400,000 miles away? Can you control the winds of the springtime? Can you call out the flowers and genial warmth and good weather.

Armed with interrogations. Called upon, as we all are at times, to defend our holy religion, instead of argument that can always be answered by argument let us try the power of interrogation. We ought to be loaded with at least half a dozen questions and always ready, and when Christianity is assailed and we are told, "There is nothing in it, and there is no God," we should be ready to answer.

After awhile there will be a man who will do for churches and missionary societies and Bible distribution what Andrew Carnegie has done for libraries, and then the millennium will be here. The millennium is here! The shower of uncounted millions of dollars for good purposes I think is the first step of the golden thousand years of peace and holiness which have been predicted and for which the world has so long waited.

Notice also in my text the influence of other worlds upon this world. We all regard the stars as mere points of light upon other continents or on some hemisphere upon the other hemisphere. Great harvest or drought on one side of our world affects the other side of our world.

God's omnipotence and man's limitations would not have had such an effect upon Job as the interrogation of the text, "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of Pleiades?"

These words also recognize far-reaching influences. Job probably had no adequate idea of the distance of the worlds mentioned from our world, but he knew that the all-gracious influences from the other world rise all satanic and diabolic influences. From that world of moral night rose the power that wrecked our poor world 6,000 years ago, and all the good work done since then has not been able to get our world out of the breakers.

God's omnipotence and man's limitations would not have had such an effect upon Job as the interrogation of the text, "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of Pleiades?"

These words also recognize far-reaching influences. Job probably had no adequate idea of the distance of the worlds mentioned from our world, but he knew that the all-gracious influences from the other world rise all satanic and diabolic influences.

What is the meaning of that question that God put to Job? Have we all our lives been reading it and are most of us ignorant of its beauty and power and practical suggestiveness? A meaningless passage of Scripture may mean it to be. But the telescopes were busy after age and astronomical observations kept on questioning the skies until the meaning of my text comes out lustroly.

The navigation of the Mediterranean was from May to November—the rising and the setting of the Pleiades. The priests of Belus noticed that rising and setting 2,000 years before Christ.

Now, the glorious meaning of my text is plain as well as radiant. To give Job the beautiful grace of humility God asked him, "Canst thou bind the sweet influences of the Pleiades?" Have you any power over the laws of gravitation? Can you modify or change an influence wielded by a star more than 400,000 miles away? Can you control the winds of the springtime? Can you call out the flowers and genial warmth and good weather.

Armed with interrogations. Called upon, as we all are at times, to defend our holy religion, instead of argument that can always be answered by argument let us try the power of interrogation. We ought to be loaded with at least half a dozen questions and always ready, and when Christianity is assailed and we are told, "There is nothing in it, and there is no God," we should be ready to answer.

After awhile there will be a man who will do for churches and missionary societies and Bible distribution what Andrew Carnegie has done for libraries, and then the millennium will be here. The millennium is here! The shower of uncounted millions of dollars for good purposes I think is the first step of the golden thousand years of peace and holiness which have been predicted and for which the world has so long waited.

Notice also in my text the influence of other worlds upon this world. We all regard the stars as mere points of light upon other continents or on some hemisphere upon the other hemisphere. Great harvest or drought on one side of our world affects the other side of our world.

There are some women who seem to be perennially youthful. The grown daughters are companions as well as children, and the color in the mother's cheeks, the brightness in her eyes, the roundness of her form, all speak of abounding health. What is her secret? She is at the middle age of life when so many women are worn, wasted and faded, and yet time has only ripened her charms. The secret of this marvellous health and beauty may be told in the brief phrase, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The general health of woman is so intimately related to the local health of the delicate womanly organs, that where these are diseased, the whole body must suffer. "Favorite Prescription" dries the debilitating drains, heals ulceration and inflammation, cures female weakness and imparts to the delicate female organs natural vigor and vitality. Women who have lost their health and their beauty have been made "robust and rosy checked" by the use of this marvelous medicine.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle.

It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup. Dr. L. D. Collier.

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did," says County Physician Geo. W. Soroggs of Hall County, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. A Great Man.

I count him a great man who inhabits a higher sphere of thought, into which other men rise with labor and difficulty. He has but to open his eyes to see things in a true light and in large relations, while they must make painful corrections and keep a vigilant eye on many sources of error. * * * He is a great man who is what he is from nature and who never reminds us of others.—Emerson.

IN THE WINTER.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

For coughs and colds Benson's Porous Plasters are an incomparably better remedy than any other—external or internal. Their medicinal properties enter the skin and go straight to the seat of the disease. They relieve and cure a "seated" cold without disturbing the system or upsetting the stomach. Cough mixtures often nauseate. Benson's Plasters are medicinal in the highest degree, and quickest to act. Placed on the chest or back or on both at once in serious cases, the good effect is felt immediately. The congestion yields, the cough abates and the breathing improves. Lung or bronchial affections or kidney disease, are cured with the least possible suffering and loss of time. Benson's Plasters are immeasurably superior to Belladonna, Strengthening, Capsicum or any other combination in plaster form. They are also preferable to ointments, liniments and salves. Benson's Plasters have received fifty-five highest awards over all competitors; and more than 5,000 physicians and druggists have declared them to be one of the few trustworthy household remedies. For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each. Be sure you get the genuine. Accept no imitation or substitute. MR. KNOWLES OBJECTS.

Asks Court to Rescind Order Making Mr. A. W. Robinson Receiver of Partnership Business.

Mr. Wm. H. Knowles who is made the defendant in a bill asking the court to dissolve the partnership business of A. W. Robinson & Co. as told in last week's ADVERTISER, has, through his attorneys, Messrs. Graham & Fitch, filed an answer.

The answer admits the partnership relations existing between the two—and that the business is now stopped, but says that the stoppage is the result of desire and effort of the complainants to freeze out the defendant and to acquire sole control of the business. That owing to his unwillingness to sacrifice his interest in the business and to surrender it and its good will to them upon the terms dictated by them, it is true that he and his partners have been unable to make a satisfactory settlement of the affairs of said business, notwithstanding the willingness of the defendant at all times to submit all questions in dispute to arbitration, and to agree to any just or equitable settlement of the same. He denies any necessity for a receiver but says that the complainants have had one of their number appointed receiver by an ex parte order of court which order he is informed and believes was improvidently and unadvisedly issued in the absence of information as to the circumstances and facts in the premises, and that to continue said receiver would naturally assist and further the purpose of the complainants to oust the defendant from all interest in the settlement of said co partnership affairs. That the circumstances surrounding the business are such that by an improper advertisement and sale of the property the receiver would be able to place the defendant at great disadvantage which he believes is the purpose and design of said receiver and the complainants to do. The defendant therefore prays that the bill be dismissed and the order appointing receiver be rescinded.

As soon as Judge Holland returns from Snow Hill where he is conducting the autumn term of the Worcester county court the answer will be considered.

Sale of a Farm.

On Friday last Dr. Edward E. Tull, a prominent surgeon of New York City, purchased through Mr. S. P. Woodcock, a real estate broker of Salisbury, 600 acres of the farm known as the James Fairfax Dashiell place. The residence portion of said place, containing 500 acres, was recently sold to Rev. A. H. Holloway. The entire farm was the property of Judge Charles B. Lore, of Delaware. The portion purchased by Dr. Tull lies on the Wicomico creek, in Somerset county, about four miles from Princess Anne. It contains three good sized dwelling houses and a small tenant house. The creek is navigable for large boats right up to the wharf on the farm. We understand that Dr. Tull will remodel one of the dwellings and put in all modern improvements and make a summer residence of it. The doctor is a native of this county, and a son of the late Dr. J. Emory Tull, whose widow is the wife of Mr. R. H. Jones, of Fairmount. Dr. Tull has a hospital of his own in New York City, and has a wide and extensive practice. —Marylander and Herald.

Resolutions.

At a regular communication of Temple Lodge No. 170, A. F. & A. M., the following resolutions were adopted in memory of our deceased brother, Thos. B. Taylor.

WHEREAS: It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the Universe to remove from our midst one of our beloved Brothers,
Be it resolved that, in the memory of the life of Brother Taylor we found a faithful character, whose hopes were centered in a higher life, made manifest by his always cheerful and ever patient spirit, as one who was placing his confidence in things beyond the enjoyment of a life below; rather to be a living stone in that Temple not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be kept on our records as a memento of his faithfulness, until they are translated to the Lodge Celestial.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the County papers for publication.

Willie Bradley, aged eighteen years, died near here on Sunday afternoon of typhoid fever. He was the son of J. A. D. Bradley. His remains were interred on Monday afternoon at Mardela, after funeral service in M. P. Church, at Mardela by Rev. A. W. Mather. The sad death of this young man recalls a very impressive dream his father had about the time the young man was taken sick. The doctor in visiting the young man on his first visit, met a man near the residence of the young man's grandfather, with whom he had lived since he was a small boy. The doctor inquired the way and soon learned he had met Mr. Bradley the father of the young man. Said he, that is my son and his being sick reminds me of a dream I had last night. Said he, last night I dreamed I was living at the old homestead, our former home, and that I was struggling to keep some one from entering the room from up stairs, and my wife, who had been dead seven years appeared to me dressed in white and told me I was going to have a death in my family and point-d toward where the young man lived. It made a strong impression upon the doctor.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

County Commissioners Wilson, Weatherly and Adams were down here last Monday to meet the citizens of the district, who are interested in building the proposed road from this place to Athel, that is clay the sandy portion of it. It was decided to open a new section about one hundred yards extending from the bridge to Venables Mill, down through a hill of clay and to use the clay for building the road beyond. The road which it is proposed to build is from the bridge to the Albert Acworth farm, a distance of about one and a half miles. It is proposed to straighten the road where needed and cover with clay to the depth of about 12 inches. The commissioners have agreed to pay one half the cost and the citizens of the district the other half. The people here are thoroughly convinced from tests which they have made that it is a thoroughly practical thing to build roads in sand by this method and are ready to show their faith by their works. The road to be rebuilt is one of the worst pieces of road in the county and a good one to make the test on. We are sure the readers of the ADVERTISER will look forward with a great deal of interest to the experiment. The road is one very much used. All the fruits and vegetables grown in that section for yearly market must be hauled over it and all the travel from Mardela to the steamboat wharf is by this route. Work we understand will begin as soon as the money matters can be arranged.

The young gentlemen of this place gave a dance Halloween night at Wilson's hotel. Visitors from Salisbury, Hebron and Delmar were present. Refreshments were served at 11.30.

Philadelphia Election Frauds.

Some idea of the extent of the frauds committed at the general elections may be gathered from the bare statement that the Committee of the Allied Organizations for Good Government (representing the Municipal League, the Trades League, and similar bodies), which committee I have the honor to serve as counsel, is now preparing up-ward of 500 election cases, involving nearly that number of election officers and at least 8,000 illegal votes. One reason of Mr. Rothermel's unpopularity with the machine is the persistence and skill with which he has prosecuted election officers guilty of election frauds. One man he has convicted admitted voting 23 times at one election; another that he had voted 23 times. There are cases now pending in which two men are charged with having "run in" 26 votes, and so it goes. What with police interference and brutality, the acceptance of illegal votes and repeating, and the stuffing of ballot boxes (one set of officers are now fugitives from justice because they started to receive votes with 200 marked ballots already in box, elections in some parts of the city are a travesty on democratic government.)—From "The Philadelphia Campaign," by Clinton Rogers Woodruff, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for November.

DEMOCRATS CARRY MARYLAND

Dr. Hering Receives a Plurality of 500, but Mr. Turner Runs Behind His Ticket and is Defeated By Mr. Parran. Both Senate and House of Delegates Democratic.

WICOMICO ELECTS THE ENTIRE DEMOCRATIC TICKET BY OVER 300.

The election in Maryland passed off quietly on Tuesday. Owing to the new election law the voting in many places was very slow but in some few instances it was remarkably rapid. In Salisbury district the wonderful record was made of voting four hundred and nineteen votes in three hours and three quarters.

So close was the result in the State that it was not until Friday that it was definitely settled which party had elected its State ticket. Dr. Joshua W. Hering, Democratic candidate for Comptroller, carried the State by about 500 plurality, but J. Frank Turner, Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals is defeated by 700 plurality. The Legislature is Democratic in both branches but is extremely close in the House where the majority will be somewhere from one to seven. In the Senate the Democrats have seventeen members and the Republicans nine.

The Republicans carried Baltimore City by three thousand but the Democratic nominee for sheriff wins by a small margin.

The result of the election in Wicomico was about as the Democrats had claimed, every candidate on the ticket being elected by pluralities ranging from 300 to 400. Judge Chas. F. Holland was re-elected by 800 majority, carrying Wicomico by 300, Worcester by 1200 and Dorchester by 900. In Somerset Robt. P. Graham, Republican nominee for Judge carried the county by one majority. The Republicans in Wicomico made a most determined fight and never ceased their untiring efforts until the polls were closed. It was of no avail, however, as the great majority of the white voters of the county were thoroughly aroused and gave their hearty support to the Democratic ticket. The colored voters as usual marched to the polls in unbroken ranks and cast a solid vote for the Republican nominees.

Intense interest was manifested in the workings of the new election law as no one could prophesy with any degree of certainty which party would suffer most from defective ballots. Six hundred and fifty ballots were thrown out owing to being improperly marked or because they had some mark of identification placed upon them. Both sides claim to have suffered from this cause but the better opinion seems to be that it hurt both parties about the same.

The Prohibition vote of the county was less than two hundred, being twenty five less than in 1900.

The Democrats had a street parade in Salisbury Wednesday night in honor of their victory in carrying the county.

So close was the vote in Somerset that parts of both tickets were elected. The Democrats secured one member of the Legislature, county commissioner, sheriff and surveyor while the Republicans win the clerk and two members of the Legislature.

In Virginia the latest returns show that the Democratic State ticket is elected by over 25,000 majority. The Republicans will have at least 20 members of the House of Delegates. In the last House the Republicans had but five members.

Seth Ldw, for Mayor, carried Greater New York by 29,564 plurality. The Republican plurality for the State ticket in Pennsylvania is about 50,000. John Weaver (Rep) defeats P. F. Rothermel (Fns.) for District Attorney of Philadelphia by 43,667.

The Republican victory in New Jersey exceeds even the anti-election predictions of the party leaders. The plurality of Franklin Murphy for Governor is estimated at more than 17,500.

In Ohio the Republican plurality is estimated at 87,661. It was the biggest off-year record ever made by the Republican party in that State.

Estimates of the Republican plurality in Nebraska vary from 3,000 to 12,000.

The plurality of W. Murray Crane (Rep.) for Governor of Massachusetts is 70,304.

Judge Page's Daughter Weds.

At 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Manokin Presbyterian Church, at Princess Anne, Miss Louisa Page, daughter of Judge Heary Page, of Princess Anne was married to Dr. Hubert Ashby Royster, of Raleigh, N. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard A. Robinson, pastor of the church. The edifice was beautifully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. The bride wore a princess gown of white Piva gauze, trimmed with old lace. Her veil was of tulle and she carried Bride roses.

The bridesmaids were her two sisters, Miss Page and Miss Anne Page. Their gowns were of white crepe, trimmed with lace and touches of pink panne velvet. Their bouquets were pink chrysanthemums.

The bride entered the church with her father, Judge Page, preceded by the bridesmaids and six ushers. She was met at the pulpit by the groom and his best man, Mr. Victor Boyden, of Raleigh, N. C. The ushers were Dr. Henry Page, United States Army, and Mr. John Page, brothers of the bride. Mr. James U. Dennis and Samuel K. Dennis, of Baltimore; Mr. W. W. Voss, and Mr. W. J. Andrews, of Raleigh, N. C.

The wedding music was rendered by Miss Fontaine, of Princess Anne.

After the ceremony at the church a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents. The bride and groom left on the Philadelphia express for an extended trip North, after which they will take up their residence at Raleigh, N. C.

Miss Dora Toadvine of this city was present.

Mr. Carroll Resigns.

We clip the following from the Virginia Pilot.

"Mr. J. W. Carroll, who for twenty-five years has been in the employ of the N. Y., P. & N. R. R. has resigned. Mr. Carroll has always been considered one of the best equipped men in the different departments of the railroad service. For twelve years he held the position of passenger and freight agent, after which he filled the position of traveling agent for the Company. The past ten years he has been the chief clerk to the different superintendents, giving entire satisfaction in all the positions to which he had been called. Mr. Carroll was well equipped for any position in which he was called to fill, being a first class telegraph operator and stenographer. He has always been popular with all the employees of the system, and all with whom he came in contact. There is a universal regret expressed on all sides at the retirement of Mr. Carroll. He will devote his time for the present in conducting the Cape Charles Light, of which he is owner. He has the best wishes of the people of the Eastern Shore."

WILMINGTON CONFERENCE.

No Place Selected for Annual Meeting Next March.

It is stated that no place has yet been selected for the 34th Annual session of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference, which meets each year in March in some town on the Peninsula. Wilmington was the last conference seat, and Conference adjourned without selecting the next meeting place, which was contrary to the usual custom, the selection of a meeting place being one of the last acts, ordinarily, of an adjourning conference.

At last conference the presiding elders were delegated to choose the next seat of the conference, and they, together with the layman of the church, are more or less exercised over the matter, as no town has been definitely fixed upon, there being some interposing difficulties in the case of most of the places large enough to entertain so large a body of visitors.

The last session was to have been held at Seaford, but, in consequence of the prevalence of smallpox there, the conference thought it would be dangerous to convene in that town, and met in Wilmington. It was then supposed that Seaford might request the privilege of entertaining the conference in 1902, but it did not, and will not. Seaford made elaborate preparations last March, and was keenly disappointed by the conference not assembling there, and during the last seven months the disappointment has turned to disgust.

It was also imagined that an invitation would be received from Snow Hill. In fact, it was hinted that a member of the conference had in his pocket an invitation from that place, but for some reason, presumably as an act of courtesy to Seaford, he did not present it to the conference then, and it has not been submitted to the presiding elders since.

St. Michaels desired to entertain the conference last March, but was disappointed, and it was thought it might extend an invitation for the session of 1902, but St. Michaels is silent.

Easton wished the last session to be held there, but when the question was put to a vote Seaford won. It was then suggested that Easton issue an invitation for 1902, but the reply was that the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church would meet there last spring, and the town could not stand the expense of entertaining conference two years in succession. Since then there has been considerable talk of an invitation coming from Easton, but as yet it has not materialized.

Easton wished the last session to be held there, but when the question was put to a vote Seaford won. It was then suggested that Easton issue an invitation for 1902, but the reply was that the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church would meet there last spring, and the town could not stand the expense of entertaining conference two years in succession. Since then there has been considerable talk of an invitation coming from Easton, but as yet it has not materialized.

Crisfield and Denton have been mentioned as possible conference seats. The former could pleasantly entertain the conference, but the latter would be taxed to the utmost. If the conference were to go to Denton, four or six ministers would have to be entertained by one family.

The official board of Wesley Church, Dover, has discussed the question of inviting the conference to meet in that church, but as yet a formal invitation has not been issued. It is understood that Dover prefers to entertain the conference in 1904, when the laymen, as well as the ministers, will convene, but Wilmington will insist on entertaining the conference then. Easton and Dover are decidedly the best places mentioned for the conference session of 1902. Dover would be benefited by the reason being held there. The Wilmington Conference Academy, which is located in that town, desires to liquidate its indebtedness next March, and the presence of the conference would aid the effort. Wesley Church has invited the Rev. L. W. Barrett, D. D., who is finishing his first year at Middletown, to become its pastor next conference year, and he has accepted the invitation provided the presiding bishop acquiesces. If the conference meets at Dover, Dr. Barrett will undoubtedly be assigned to the pastorate of Wesley Church, because the bishops, through courtesy, always grant the requests of churches which are conference seats. They also are especially kind to the retiring pastors of such churches, and the Rev. Alfred Smith, D. D., who is finishing his fifth year at Wesley Church, would receive a fine appointment.

Despite the rumors to the contrary, the conference has not been invited to meet anywhere next March. It will convene then, however, and the presiding elders will select a good place, even though no invitation is forthcoming and the ministers have to pay the cost of their entertainment, which most of them prefer to do. Two-thirds of the ministers receive larger salaries than the laymen who entertain them at the conference sessions, and many laymen spend for the entertainment of the ministers more than they contribute to church benevolence in a whole year.

As yet only one pastoral invitation has been extended, that of Wesley Church, Dover, to Dr. Barrett. In choosing Dr. Barrett's successor, the Middletown church has under consideration the Rev. T. E. Terry of Abury Church, near Crisfield, and the Rev. E. C. Maucholik, D. D., of Cambridge.

HAMS AND OTHER THINGS

About Curing Hams—Sausage—Scrapple Good Old-fashioned Ways.

As we are often asked for information about curing hams, etc., when too late to reply through the paper, we will give now what we believe the best rules for pork, and later, when beef is in best condition, directions for curing and pickling it.

CURING HAMS AND SHOULDERS.
Hams and shoulders should be cured as soon as possible after the meat is cold all through. Place them on a board or table in the cellar, skin side down. Make a mixture in this proportion: For every hundred pounds of meat take four pounds of the best fine salt, two ounces of powdered saltpeter and four ounces of brown sugar. Rub this well into the hams all over and push some into the hook end around the bone. Rub until they will take no more; let them lie on the board and in a week rub in the rest. Let them lie for about sixteen days altogether, then hang them up by a string through the hook, in a cool, dark smoke house.

Keep up a good smoke from hickory chips, smothered with sawdust, during the day, for two or three days. Keep in a cool place and before spring examine to see that no insects have deposited eggs. Dust a little cayenne pepper, then with coarse muslin to fit the ham exactly and stitch tightly. Give a coat of whitewash or chrome yellow and hang in a cool, dark, dry place.

For curing them in pickle, which some prefer, though we do not, to one gallon of water take one and a half pounds of salt, half a pound of sugar, half an ounce each of saltpeter and potash. In this ratio the pickle can be increased to enough to cover any amount of pork. Boil together until all dirt rises to the top and is skimmed off. When sold pour it over the hams or pork, which may be pickled in this way. The meat must be well covered by it and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with saltpeter, which removes all the surface blood, leaving the meat fresh and clean.

SAUSAGE.
To make sausage: For every fifty-five pounds of lean and fat pork chopped very fine mix together one pound of salt, six ounces of good black pepper, a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper and a handful powdered dried sage. Mix these thoroughly through the meat. If you wish to stuff it in skins, clean them thus: Empty the intestines of the pig, turn them inside out and wash well. Soak them in salt water a day or more. Wash again, cut into convenient lengths and scrape them on a board with a blunt knife, first on one side, then on the other till they are clean and clear. Throw them in clean water and rinse. Tie up one end of each length, put a quill in the other end and blow them up. If whole and clear they are clean, but if there are thick spots they should be scraped off. Throw in clean, cold salt water till wanted. To use put one end over the nozzle of the sausage stuffer and force the meat into them. This can be better done if the meat is first lightly sprinkled with cold water which is worked through it.

Pack the sausage to keep for winter use in stone crocks and run two inches of hot lard over it. That for summer use may be canned. Make into small cakes and cook about two thirds enough for the table, or until all the water is out. Pack while still cooking in the cans, fill them full of hot lard and seal at once. When cooked next summer it will be more delicate if you pour off all fat after it is fried, pour in a little cream, boil it and pour over the sausage.

SCRAPPLE.
Scrapple is made of rather the waste pieces of meat, the trimmings of the hams and shoulders, the head, the heart, a small piece of the liver, and the skins from the lard and sausage meat. The ears carefully cleaned and the cartilage removed may be used. The head is split between the jaws, and after the tongue is taken out is split the other way. Cut off the snout, remove the jaw and nasal cavities. Put the head meat and skins into the boiler with water to cover them; the rest of the meat fifteen minutes later. Boil until the meat leaves the bones, then chop it fine, strain the liquor and add to it enough water to make five parts liquid to three of meat. Set the liquid to boiling, stirring in corn meal to make a moderately thick mush and stirring all the time. Then put in the meat, mixing thoroughly and season to taste with salt, black and red pepper, and either sage, sweet marjoram, thyme, or pennyroyal, whichever flavor you prefer. The corn-meal should be fine, made of new corn, well dried before grinding, and there should be about as much of it as of the meat. Put the scrapple away in pans in a cold place. To use, cut into slices, lay in a very hot pan and fry quickly till brown.

Loneliness and Health.
A medical journal has of late been discouraging on the indigestion of loneliness. By this title is meant to be indicated the disorders of digestion which are believed to follow the practice of taking one's meals in solitary state. The topic is by no means an uninteresting one. Thousands of men and women living alone are compelled to take their meals for the most part without company. Week in and week out they feed themselves without a soul to talk to, and the medical journal devotes its energies to showing that the practice is not one that is likely to be conducive to digestion, to proper bodily nourishment or to health. The solitary man soon tires by merely eating, and, if he is not of a literary turn of mind, his tendency is to hurry through his meals to escape from his loneliness into the society of his fellow men. Hence, it is held, lies a danger to health.

H. L. ARTHUR.

Mrs. L. A. Harris, a Prominent Member of a Chicago Woman's Political Club, tells how Ovarian Troubles may be Cured without a Surgical Operation. She says:

"Doctors have a perfect craze for operations. The minute there is any trouble, nothing but an operation will do them; one hundred dollars and costs, and included in the costs are pain, and agony, and often death.

"I suffered for eight years with ovarian troubles; spent hundreds of dollars for relief, until two doctors agreed that an operation was my only chance of life. My sister had been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her troubles, and been cured, and she strongly urged me to let the doctors go and try the Compound. I did so as a last resort; used it faithfully with the Sanative Wash for five months, and was rejoiced to find that my troubles were over and my health restored. If women would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound first, fewer surgical operations would occur."

TUESDAY'S ELECTION.

The result of the election in Wicomico County can be but gratifying to friends of the Democratic party. The contest was waged quietly but with determination and we imagine the result is a surprise to some few people who at one time thought "they" were the Democratic party and which ever way "they" went so went the county.

The ADVERTISER has endeavored to conduct a clean campaign, free from personal abuse and from misrepresentation.

We were thoroughly convinced the county would go Democratic if the Democrats could be aroused to the true situation of affairs. The support given the Republican ticket by various elements in the county, consisting of the regular Republicans, the solid negro vote of the county, renegade Democrats and a band of mercenaries who have flocked to the Republican camp was the one thing that aroused the great majority of the white voters of the county to the danger of allowing such a combination to carry Wicomico. It is to be regretted that the Republican leaders of the county are resting their case upon these pillars.

With this aggregation as their support they can no longer hope to merit in the community the support of the thoughtful, conservative voters. Such an aggregation simply adds to the well-founded apprehension that the people of the State have enough of negro domination. Negro domination is no bugaboo. It was a threatened reality this year and when reinforced by the element that was found in the Republican ranks, the people were justly apprehensive of the negro's power and voted accordingly.

The result in the State at large, while not all that could be desired, is still very gratifying. Both branches of the Legislature are Democratic, which will insure the returns to the United States Senate of some able Democrat to fill the seat now occupied by Senator Geo. L. Wellington.

The election is over and the community will soon settle down to normal business and social conditions.

THE NEW BALLOT LAW.

The election Tuesday was held under the new ballot law of 1901. While it is objectionable in some respects, in the main it has proven a good law. There must be some method of counting the vote in a shorter time. The strong feature of the law is that it guarantees an absolutely secret ballot and requires a fair degree of intelligence to handle it. While there were six hundred and fifty ballots thrown out for defects, it is believed that many of these mistakes were made by people who never examined the ballot till they went into the booths and could on further examination have recorded their sentiments correctly. A supreme effort was made by the republicans to teach the colored voter, and what was lacking at this election will be lacking in the future. So long as there are people willing to put up money on elections and there are those willing to say they will sell bribery will exist, but it is evident that it is less effective under this law than any form of the Australian ballot heretofore furnished by the State. The taking away of the ballot clerk is a milestone on the road to purer elections and whatever can be added to what we now have will be welcomed by all friends of ballot reform. The ballot for Wicomico county was printed in the plainest type possible and every assistance was given voters in the way of clear print, large type, etc. that the law allows. Democrats generally commend the law. In the main it is all right but there must be some provision for obtaining the results earlier and one of these methods is to start the voting earlier in the day, say six o'clock and close the polls at four. It is believed that the people of this State have fully determined to retain the feature which provides for an absolutely secret ballot. This law guarantees it.

VOTING MACHINES A SUCCESS.

A feature of the election in New York, on Tuesday, was the successful use, in a number of places, of voting machines. One of the machines was used in a New York City district, and of the result the New York Evening Post says:

"The first trial of the voting machine in New York City was an unqualified success. The experiment was made in the Eighteenth Election district of the First Assembly district of Brooklyn. The unfamiliar manner of voting gave no trouble to the voters, and the recording function was so successfully accomplished that the vote on the mayorality could be announced within two minutes of the closing of the polls. Since the computation is mechanical, the saving of clerical labor and the obviating of error in the count are the most striking advantages of the innovation. More important, perhaps, is the fact that the voting machine secures absolute secrecy of the ballot, and does away with the various tissue paper and transfer paper vouchers which under the present system may be returned to vote buyers. The strong practical sense of the community will not long put up with our singularly inconvenient ballot and all who are interested in safeguarding elections and securing prompt and accurate returns, should work for the adoption of the voting machine."

While the result of the election in New York City is a severe blow to Tammany Hall, it is not expected to cause the dissolution of that remarkably virile political organization. It will, however, lead to determined efforts to reorganize Tammany under a more able and less offensive leadership than Richard Croker's has been. And in the work of reorganization it is probable that the band of ex-Senator David B. Hill will be seen. Hill was politically extinguished by Croker, but probably he now sees his opportunity for revenge and possibly his restoration to Democratic leadership in New York.

Some Coming Books.

Marion Crawford's next book is to be called 'A Maid of Venice.' A collection of Katherine Tynan's poems, dedicated to George Wyndham, M. P. is to be published soon.

Capt. A. T. Mahan's next book will be entitled 'Types of Naval Officers; with some remarks on the Development of Naval Warfare During the Eighteenth Century.' The officers referred to are six in number—Hawke, Rodney, Howe, St. Vincent, Saumarez and Exmouth, all of whom represent different types of men.

A London publisher is preparing for immediate publication a first edition of 120,000 copies of F. A. Mackenzie's 'The American Invaders'. In this work Mr. Mackenzie shows the industrial advance of the United States and comment upon the competition of Americans with British commercial men. He mentions, for example, that American tools are being sold in Sheffield, and he believes that American coal will before long be imported to Newcastle.

Whipping in School.

A case of interest to parents and teachers throughout Maryland was tried at this session of the court in Kent county, involving the right of a teacher to punish by whipping a child who disobeys the rules of the public school as laid down by the teacher. Miss Nettie Dean was fined for whipping a pupil and took an appeal from the justice of the peace who imposed a fine. The case was submitted to the court and the magistrate's decision reversed.

A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by R. K. Truitt.

GUN FOR OLD GLORY.

The First Foreign Salute Given to the American Flag.

The little Ranger ran slowly between the frowning French frigates, looking as warlike as they. Her men swarmed like bees into the rigging, and her colors ran up to salute the flag of his most Christian majesty of France, and she fired one by one her salute of 13 guns, says Sarah Orne Jewett in The Atlantic.

There was a moment of suspense. The wind was very light now. The powder smoke drifted away, and the flapping sails sounded loud overhead. Would the admiral answer back or would he treat this bold challenge like a handkerchief waved at him from a pleasure boat? Some of the officers on the Ranger looked incredulous, but Paul Jones still held his letter in his hand. There was a puff of white smoke, and the great guns of the French flagship began to shake the air—one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine—and then were still save for their echoes from the low hills about Carnac and the great Druid Mount of St. Michael.

"Henry Gardner, you may tell the men that this was the salute of the king of France to our republic and the first high honor to our flag," said the captain proudly to his steersman, but they were all buzzing now along the Ranger's decks, that little ship whose name shall never be forgotten while her country lives.

The captain lifted his hat and stood looking up at the flag.

"We hardly know what this day means, gentlemen," he said soberly to his officers, who came about him. "I believe we are at the christening of the greatest nation that was ever born into the world. The day shall come when America, republic though she may be, will salute no foreign flag without receiving gun for gun!"

Elephant Training by Machinery.

Dangling at the end of a huge derrick, the elephant is placed in any position desired. Once in this position, his education is commenced from that point. The new method of training is an experiment as yet, but its success is assured, at least so far as young elephants are concerned. Recently a circus received a consignment of a dozen or more pachyderms from Ceylon, Sumatra and India. Their ages ranged from eight to twelve years and their weight between 1,500 pounds and a ton.

Coming fresh from the jungles of their native country, the young elephants possessed anything but a docile nature. Hence their training was accomplished only with difficulty.

The beginner was taken into a ring in the circus training barn and heavy harness attached to a strong crane or derrick placed around the beast's body. The instructor then gave the command, "Stand on head and foremost." This would be Greek, of course, to the pupil, but the meaning of the command gradually dawned upon the animal's instinct after being lifted into the air and tilted forward on his head and trunk several times.

Thus in due course of time the youthful pachyderm is taught successfully all the acts known to elephantine wisdom.—St. Louis Republic.

Stop the Blight

It is a sad thing to see fine fruit trees spoiled by the blight. You can always tell them from the rest. They never do well afterwards but stay small and sickly.

It is worse to see a blight strike children. Good health is the natural right of children. But some of them don't get their rights. While the rest grow big and strong one stays small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion can stop that blight. There is no reason why such a child should stay small. Scott's Emulsion is a medicine with lots of strength in it—the kind of strength that makes things grow.

Scott's Emulsion makes children grow, makes them cat, makes them sleep, makes them play. Give the weak child a chance. Scott's Emulsion will make it catch up with the rest.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Who Can Answer This Riddle?

"When a man has a family of growing children he learns lots of things that, while they may be old, are new to him," said a prominent member of the Produce Exchange yesterday morning. "One of my youngest sprang a riddle on me last night which runs this way: 'Who was a well known Biblical character never named in the bible, whose death was the most peculiar in history, whose shroud is a part of every household, and the cause of whose death was the subject of a widely read novel?' I'll wager none of you fellows can give me the answer." Not being close students of biblical lore, they all gave it up. "Lot's wife is the character," went on the proud parent. "That's the only name by which she is known in the bible. She was turned into a pillar of salt, consequently her shroud is in every household. Her death resulted from looking backward, the title of Bellamy's famous book. Rather ingenious, don't you think?"

Mice May Cause Baldness.

A barber had been giving the writer much information about the hair, and then remarked that not long since quite a young man had come into his shop who had lost all his hair. It had come off very suddenly and for no apparent reason.

The barber said, "You have a cat?" "No," he replied. "We have not a cat in the house."

"Then you have a terrier that catches mice, and it comes in contact with your head?"

"Yes," said the man, "I have, and its favorite seat is on the top of my arm-chair close to my head."

The old barber then explained that his sudden baldness was a disease belonging to mice, that could be passed on to human beings by contact with an animal that touched them. Whether there is anything in this or not I can not say.—Spectator

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly bear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

SINGLE-BREADED-REVERSIBLE VESTS

Go with the Suits Thoroughgood Sells. Both Sides of the Vest are Perfect.

Then I guess I'll go out and see if there's another side to this hall. I've been on the inside of it till I'm sorry I found it, and now I'm going out to find the other side. If you don't see me back it'll be a sign I've found it, and he sauntered down the stairs. There are two sides to every vest that Thoroughgood sells, one side is like the suit, and the other side is a beautiful silk vest, you can wear either side out side. There has never been a time in the history of the world, since the days Adam picked his suit "FOR THE FALL" from a tree, when clothes were as beautiful and as cheap as they are now at Lacy Thoroughgood's and just think of it each vest has two sides to it; one like the suit and the other like a beautiful silk vest. You didn't always have a store in Salisbury like Thoroughgood's where every customer gets the worth of his money and the very latest novelties in wearing apparel. Every time you buy clothing or hats any where else you lose money, so does Thoroughgood.

Lacy Thoroughgood has secured the greatest novelty ever shown. It consists of young men's suits, with reversible vests. One side of the vest is like the suit and the other side is a beautiful fancy silk vest. This novelty suit is manufactured by only one firm in the United States, and is protected by patent, and they place them on sale with only one firm in each city, and Lacy Thoroughgood is their agent for Salisbury, consequently these suits can only be had at Lacy Thoroughgood's store. Look in Thoroughgood's Main St. window for them.

"All right," said the editor, "Now let me see, what are your... initials?" "Good heavens," said the fellow, "You are not going to sign my name to it!" "Why not?" asked... the editor. "I would not have anyone... known that I had anything to do with... that for the world. I can't afford to get... a fray with my neighbors." "Why should I... shoulder the responsibility for a matter... that does not concern me in the least, and... to which you are afraid to sign your name?"... HOUSEWORK Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. The constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Drenched, messy, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition. WINE OF CARDUI is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cures Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glendane, Ky., Feb. 10, 1901. I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and washed one bit of my clothes. The wine is doing me good. I am getting fatter than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day. MRS. RICHARD JONES.

TO HATCH OYSTERS.

A Professor of Johns Hopkins University and Other Scientists Experimenting.
Science is about to take a hand in preventing the extermination of the Chesapeake oyster and will shortly begin a series of experiments, with a view to propagating and increasing the present depleted stock in the bay and tributaries.

Chicken incubators have become an old story but oyster incubators are certainly something new and the old fact that even the oyster beds of the Chesapeake which furnish twice as many oysters as all foreign countries combined, are becoming alarmingly depleted, regards the idea of a new means of restoration exceedingly interesting.

With this aim Prof. John A. Rider, of Johns Hopkins University and other scientists have been making some remarkable experiments. It is said that the method employed is so simple that anyone, after instruction from an expert, may practice it for himself, which may or may not, mean an unlimited supply of the delicious bivalve, according whether or not the amateur makes a success of his attempt at oyster incubating.

Under natural conditions the eggs and milk of the spawning oysters are simply set free in the waters of the bay or river and allowed to take their chances. Under these conditions, according to men of science, not more than one egg in a million ever fertilizes and it will readily be seen that every time one solitary oyster is hatched 999,999 of his brothers and sisters, that should have, are lost to the world and to some epicurean's palate.

But under the present system it is asserted that 90 per cent of the eggs will become fruitful and hatch out oysters more or less luscious. The baby bivalves having been brought into the world by means of the new fangled process, it only remains to liberate them under circumstances conducive to their safety. The possibilities in this method are almost unlimited, for an ordinary female oyster will produce 16,000,000 eggs in a single season, while a large and healthy one will lay something like thirty or forty millions.

When one considers that so many good oysters are lost when perhaps they might just as well be preserved for a better fate, that is, from the view point of the oyster eater, it is no wonder that scientists have tried their hands at rescuing the perishing.

The way to do it is this: Open an oyster so that the animal will lie in the deep shell. Then with an ordinary glass "eye dropper" strop its upper surfaces gently, away from the hinges.

If the mollusk is ready to spawn the fluid which contains the eggs will flow out and may be captured by the little glass instrument and put into a tumbler of sea water. Continuing this process from oysters both male and female, fertilization of the eggs is at once accomplished and a couple of hours later all the eggs will be hatched and, behold in the tumbler, instead of one or two baby oysters, you have many thousands ready to grow and thrive almost anywhere. For a couple of days after hatching the oysters are free, swimming animals, paddling about with the help of their sharp-like appendages, known as "gills". After this space of travel through the watery world they are ready to settle down for life and soon attach themselves to some kind of solid object, almost anything that happened to come their way. It is only necessary to turn the spawn loose in waters where there are favorable bottoms and currents.

Demand For Good Needlewomen.

Stitchery long has been praised as the very proper occupation for women. With fashion demanding needlework, the highways and byways are scoured for women who can do it. Dressmakers are so harassed to find those who can do handsome embroidery and workmanlike ornamental stitches that under some circumstances they are willing to let fine garments be taken to private houses for embellishing. Never was there such opportunity for the woman who wanted to earn pin money. Better yet, for those who wish to make a serious work of stitchery. Of course, much better prices may be had by sewing directly with the woman who will wear the dresses.

Amazing Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger. "For three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at R. K. Truitt's Trial bottle free.

NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS OF MICHIGAN SENT IN BY THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVES.

DELMAR

One of the first social events of the season, was the turning out of society en masse to the obitimes of wedding bells Tuesday at high noon from the O. S. Baptist church for the marriage of Miss Alice Hastings, daughter of Mr. Levin Hastings a member of the firm of Hastings & Co. one of the victims of the recent fire, to Mr. John S. Jones, the well known and popular messenger of the Adams Express Company.

Long before the time for the ceremony the guests assembled while the sweet strains from Schumann's floated from the church, which was changed to Lohengrin's wedding march beautifully rendered by Miss Rosella Henderson of Towson, Md., as the bridal couple promptly at the appointed hour entered the edifice, proceeded by the ushers Messrs. W. T. Sirman and Arthur German.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white dotted silk mousseline de soie, over white taffets, trimmed with heavy silk applique and satin ribbon. She carried a large bouquet of bride roses. Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levin Hastings, to which only a few of the friends and relatives were present.

The happy couple took the New York express for a trip to Boston and up the Hudson. They will reside in Delmar. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

Our enterprising merchants have been hard at work for the past week and "The Union Store Co.," Irving Calver, F. G. Elliott, and Hastings & Co., have erected temporary places of business and are rapidly replacing their original large stock of goods. Mr. W. S. Marvil has also replaced his blacksmith and wheelwright shop and is ready for business. The work of clearing up the rubbish will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible and the rebuilding of former homes and places of business will necessarily consume sometime. But with the grim determination that our people possessed before, we expect in a few years to see another enterprising town arise from the ashes and ruins. Already the sound of saw and hammer is heard almost everywhere and it seems that every cobble here-tofore, is a carpenter's now.

Mr. Chas. Hutchinson, accompanied by his wife is away on his annual two weeks vacation. His position as operator is being filled by Mr. O. M. Stevenson from Onley, Va.

A daily request from almost every person you meet is "Don't touch my arm."

Our old friend, George C. R. Ellis was away a few days last week again on a search for Bunny.

Miss Nettie Holloway of Salisbury and Miss Rosella Henderson of Towson, Md. were the guests of Miss Susie Hastings this week.

Mr. I. L. Barker has returned from a ten days' vacation.

A shipment of beautiful scenery was received this week for the Opera House which is being placed in position by Mr. Arthur German, our skilled carpenter and workman.

JESTERVILLE.

Mr. George W. Heath is building a two story addition to his dwelling. Not many years ago there were only a few dwellings on the Cove road. Now there are quite a number of modern dwellings, several of which have been but recently built. The Cove is keeping pace with other parts of the district in building improvements and is favorably situated to become the hub of Nanticoke yet.

Misses Irene and Lottie Robertson gave a Halloween party at which were present Misses Annie Insley, Lucy Walter, Pearl Young, and Susie Walter. They got up an impromptu reance and promptly called up "Aunt Sally," who seemed to enter in to the spirit of their merriment and rapped satisfactory as well as wonderful answers to their questions. The balance of the evening was spent in preparing for and enjoying the dumb supper. Unhappily, their intended did not appear, from the fact that the girls could not remain dumb during the repast.

Mr. Luther A. Robertson, has accepted a position in Washington D. C.

Mr. J. S. Robertson who moved to Cambridge some time ago, will come back to his place very soon.

Mr. Edward J. Stewart will open a grocery store.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Mr. Norris Downing to Miss Emma Jackson, to take place at Nanticoke M. E. Church on 18th instant.

Election time is the date for the home coming of the long absent voters. The franchise and free rides are boons highly prized, hoodles the highest.

Whooping cough still rages. Mr. J. W. Meslak lost his youngest daughter from the disease.

Oyster business dull owing to the warm weather.

SHARPTOWN

The M. P. Church of this town, which has been closed for improvements for several weeks, will be re opened on Sunday next. Rev. C. S. Arnett of Baltimore will preach at 10 o'clock a. m. In the afternoon a platform service will be held conducted by Rev. B. F. Jester and assisted by Rev. E. H. Miller, Rev. Geo. R. McCready and Dr. W. R. Lewis. There will be preaching at night.

An opossum entered the chicken yard of Jas. W. Phillips on Main St. Tuesday night and killed four chickens before he could be captured.

Mrs. Celia Windsor is visiting her children in Baltimore.

Miss Lavinia J. Bennett is visiting her sister in Camden, N. J.

The election on Tuesday brought many absent residents home. Every feature of the election passed off pleasantly.

Mrs. Grace Brody arrived home this week from several months travel north and west accompanying her husband. She will open her millinery store this week in Phillips building.

NUTTERS.

Mr. N. M. Riffin of Wilmington, Del., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Riffin, this week.

Mrs. Wm. T. Riffin, who has been very ill for several weeks at the Peninsula Hospital with typhoid fever we are glad to report slowly improving.

There was a social gathering at Mr. Wesley Chatham's last Tuesday evening in honor of their guests Mr. and Mrs. Boyd of Baltimore. Those present were Misses Mary Johnson, Ruth Sirman, Hannah Matthews, Martha Riffin, Bertie Sirman, Edna Leonard, Nettie Chatham, Messrs. Kinser Dryden, Clarence Johnson, Charlie Riffin, Ulys Wimbrow, Coral Twilley, Elmer Johnson, Cleveland Carey, Johnnie Johnson, Herbert Chatham. All report a fine time.

WEDDING BELLS.

One of Salisbury's most Popular Young Ladies Wed Two of Her Prospective Young Business Men.

The marriage of Mr. Wm. M. Cooper to Miss Elizabeth J. Dorman took place Tuesday November 12th, at twelve o'clock, noon, in Wicomico Presbyterian Church of this city.

Although no invitations had been issued, there was a large congregation present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. S. W. Sigart, pastor of the church.

Previous to the entrance of the bridal party, Miss Mary Reigart rendered the following programme on the organ: Wedding March, Valentini, Angels' Coronado, Braga, Bridal Chorus, Rose Tadden, The Holy City, Adams, Professional, Verne.

The church was decorated with evergreen and a variety of plants and palms were arranged about the pulpit. In front of the pulpit stood a high arch entwined with evergreen, from which was suspended a large bell of white chrysanthemums. Under this the marriage vows were said.

The ushers were Mr. Charles S. Cooper of Mardela Springs, the groom's brother, Mr. Alexander D. Toadvine, Mr. Vickers White and Mr. F. Leonard Waller. Miss Elizabeth Johnson was bridesmaid and entered the church alone preceded by the ushers. The ride followed, the picture of ease and gracefulness, and was joined, beneath the floral bell, by the groom who had entered from the rear with his best man, Mr. J. Cleveland White. The bride wore a lovely gown of white crepe de chine trimmed in Duchesse lace and made with all train, and carried Bride roses. The long bridal veil was secured at the crown with a pin of pearls and diamonds. Miss Johnson's gown was pink crepe de chine trimmed with tiny ruffles of gauze ribbon. She carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses. The groom and best man wore gray trousers and frock coats, gray kid gloves and white bow ties, also a white rose bud in the lapel of the coat. The ushers were dressed in the same fashion with boutonnieres of white carnations. The gentlemen attendants each wore pearl stick pins in the shape of an autumn leaf, presented by the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Richard M. Johnson, on Isabella Street, at which a number of guests were present, including the bridal party and a few relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Davis and Mrs. S. E. Truitt, of Milford, Del.; Mrs. H. L. Wolcott of Harrington, Del.; Mrs. J. L. Wolcott of Dover, Del.; Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Cooper, Miss Phyllis Cooper, Mr. Mark R. Cooper and Miss Bettis Wilson of Mardela Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left on the two o'clock express, amid showers of rice and old shoes, for an extended trip through the north. On their return they will occupy rooms at the Peninsula Hotel, until the first of the year when they expect to begin housekeeping.

The bride and groom are both well known, being prominent in social circles of this city and have a score of friends. Miss Dorman is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Johnson, who have reared her from babyhood, her mother having died when she was quite young. She is an active member of Wicomico Presbyterian Church. Mr. Cooper is a son of Mr. L. H. Cooper of Mardela Springs, but has resided in Salisbury for several years. He is the Secretary of the Wicomico Building and Loan Association and one of the editors of the Salisbury Advertiser.

GORDY—WHITE

Miss Clara White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. White, and granddaughter of the late United States Senator George Vickers from Maryland, and Mr. William Sydney Gordy, Jr. were married at one o'clock Thursday, November the fourteenth, at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church. The Rev. A. J. Vanderborght performed the ceremony.

The bride entered with her father who gave her away and was preceded by the ushers to the foot of the chancel steps, where she was met by the groom and his best man. The best man was Mr. J. Cleveland White, brother of the bride. The ushers were Mr. Samuel E. Gordy and Senator M. V. Brewington, uncles of the groom, Mr. Donald Graham, and Mr. George Vickers White, brother of the bride.

Miss White was gowned in a handsome tailor-made suit of castor broadcloth, with hat to match and carried a white prayer book. The groom, best man and ushers wore striped trousers, black cutaway coats, white ties and gray gloves, with medallion pins, presented by the groom. Their boutonnieres were large white chrysanthemums.

Before the ceremony the "Wedding March," Mendelssohn, "Traumerel, Schumann, "Bridal Morn," Calbulka, and the "Holy City," Adams, were most beautifully rendered by Mrs. M. V. Brewington. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played as the bridal party entered and continued during the ceremony. The recreational march was "Mendelssohn."

The church was artistically decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gordy were driven to the station where they took the two o'clock express for a northern trip. A number of friends and relatives accompanied them to the station.

The bride who has always resided in Salisbury is a great favorite among her numerous friends here.

Mr. Gordy, the groom, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sydney Gordy of this city. He is Assistant Cashier of the Salisbury National Bank and is General Agent of the Equitable Life Insurance of New York. He has always been one of the popular young business men of Salisbury.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. John H. White entertained the wedding party and relatives of the bride and groom at their home on Camden Avenue. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. D. Stanford, and Mrs. Cassius M. Dashiell of Princess Anne, Mr. C. C. Waller, Jr., of Queenstown; Miss Alice Warren of Onancock, Va.; and Dr. and Mrs. George E. Hardy, of Baltimore.

The house was decorated for the occasion, the colorscheme in the dining-room being pink, pink chrysanthemums and shaded lights having been artistically arranged on the table. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock.

Big Production Coming.

Probably no play has been received with such universal commendation as "A Romance of Coon Hollow," now in its eighth successful season. On its original production in Chicago the critics of that city were a unit in predicting its success. The New York "Press" was equally unanimous in commenting on the piece during its run at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, and from Boston to New Orleans and San Francisco there has not been a dissenting opinion upon the merits of the play. The "soft Southern drawl" which permeates some of the characters has a particular charm, and the thorough human nature embodied in some of the personages of the play appeals to the very best taste. Joined to this "A Romance of Coon Hollow" reveals magnificent scenic effects, novel and unique electrical features, and carries a "red hot" troupe of singing and dancing specialties, male and female. "A Romance of Coon Hollow" is announced for Thursday, Nov. 21st, at Ulman's Grand Opera House. Seats will be on sale at the Box Office, Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Oliphant—Nichols.

A pretty wedding took place last Wednesday evening at Zion church, Farnsburg charge, when Mr. James S. Oliphant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliphant, and Miss Mattie C. Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. Nichols, were united in marriage. The ushers who preceded the couple to the altar were Messrs. Marion and John Oliphant, Lloyd Hearn and Ira Parker. Miss Oliphant and Miss Nichols, sisters of the bride and groom, acted as bridesmaids; and Miss Ira Brown was maid of honor. Miss Amelia Parker presided at the organ, and the pastor, Rev. D. F. McFaul, officiated.

A largely attended reception was given at the home of the groom.

Quick Work.

After the destruction of his big kindling mill in South Salisbury, on October 19th, Mr. W. B. Miller lost no time in commencing the work of rebuilding. In this short time a new mill has been erected, machinery shipped from the city and put in place, and Mr. Miller expects to be ready to commence operation Tuesday of next week.

The new mill is removed from the site of the old structure about 200 feet to the west side of the railroad, putting it now 400 feet from Jackson's No. 3 Mill. It is 24x74 feet surrounded by a 15 foot single story shed. The storage bin in the centre will be about 70 feet high.

SALISBURY TELEPHONE CO.

Absorbed by the Eastern Shore Telephone Company. Long Distance Service Soon to be a Reality. Better Service Promised.

The deal which has been agitated and pending for the past several months has at last been consummated. The Salisbury Telephone Company has disposed of its charter franchises and properties to the Eastern Shore Telephone Co. which is strictly speaking but the Maryland Corporation and a branch line of the Diamond State Telephone Company, having as they do the same President and other officers in command and being controlled in certain capacities of an inferior responsibility by different local officers.

The sale was practically made by the stockholders of the Salisbury Telephone Company on Monday but was actually consummated Monday night by the Mayor and City Council at a special meeting when they agreed to the transfer of the franchises owned by the home company which assignment is provided for in the case of telephone and telegraph companies under the Code of Public General Laws.

The sale includes all the lines within the corporate limits of Salisbury, also the line extending from Salisbury to the corporate limits of Berlin, Md., and all the interests of the Salisbury Telephone Company in the Wicomico Telephone Company which extends from Salisbury to Nanticoke point. The price paid for the property was $30,000.

The stockholders of the home company by this deal exemplified the fact that they have the public interest first in their considerations and self interest was subordinate and practically lost sight of. We do not mean to say that the stockholders of the Salisbury Telephone Company are public philanthropists but they were martyrs for the public good; parting with their property with a great deal of reluctance because they recognized their inability to give to the community the service of the long distance telephone which the progress of our city demanded. They sacrificed a good investment for the public good. The home company made many unsuccessful efforts to effect a connection with the Diamond State Telephone Company on a percentage basis but all these propositions were absolutely refused by the latter Company; they refusing to make connection with any independent line. The limit in this direction having been reached without a solution of the problem, there was no other alternative, to gratify the desires of the business men of the town and keep abreast of the times in the way of such improvements than to sell to those who could give the people the service desired.

A PUBLIC QUESTION.

The stockholders considered the interest of the public of such moment that they cast aside self-interest in the matter and called together at a special meeting the business men of the town and stated to them the condition of affairs, and the terms under which the Diamond State Telephone Co. would purchase the line, the rates which would be charged, the service which would be given and the other matters effecting the public by the sale after the case had been clearly stated by the stockholders of the home company and the opinions of the business men of the town having been received it was decided by the home company to consummate the sale if the business men of the town were willing to accept the conditions and terms of the Diamond State; the opinions of those present showed that they were willing to the conditions and terms as offered by the Diamond State and that the public would stand by them as they have stood by the home company so long as they adhered to the terms set forth.

IMPROVEMENTS PROMISED.

Mr. Harry A. Richardson of Dover, president of the Diamond State and Eastern Shore Telephone Companies who was the prime factor in consummating the deal assured the people of Salisbury that he would give them more efficient service than they now receive and the rates would remain practically the same.

He offered to enter into a contract for a term of 15 or 25 years with the City Council to furnish long distance phones in business houses not exceeding $25 per year. This proposition was not accepted by the City Council as they think there should be no limit as to the term of the contract and the maximum price charged at any time for long distance phones should be $25 per year and the rates decrease as the company's income increased.

The rates for home phones will remain the same as at present except where parties desire the long distance phones in their private residences.

The entire system is to be improved. The metallic circuit will supplant the system which is now in use and will be a great improvement over it. The latest Bell instrument will take the place of those now in use. A continuous service will be given the public without extra charge and the central office will be open all day and all night for the service of its patrons. On account of its limited field, and income, the home company were not able to supply these various advantages, improvements and wants. With the acquisition of the Salisbury Telephone Company the Diamond State through its sister corporation, The Eastern Shore Telephone Company, owns and controls all the lines on the Peninsula except Berlin, Pocomoke City and two lines on the Eastern Shore of Virginia and it is but safe to predict that our neighboring towns will soon realize the necessity of being in closer contact with the outside world and cast its lot with that of Salisbury and many other companies and finally all be absorbed by the Diamond State which on account of its facilities can meet the demands and necessities of the public.

HISTORY OF COMPANY.

The Salisbury Telephone Company was chartered May the first, 1894 and on June 4th, 1894 a franchise was granted it by the City Council of Salisbury. On January 15, 1895 the Company opened business with 55 phones in operation. Although an infant in swaddling clothes it was destined under its proficient management to become giant in the county and at the time it passed under the control of the Diamond State it had more than 200 phones in operation. The Company since its inception has been noted for its enterprise and conservatism, always as far as possible complying with the growing demands of the public. It was largely instrumental in establishing the Wicomico Telephone Company, which by its connections placed the town of Salisbury in communication with nearly every town and village in the county.

We lament the fact that the Salisbury Telephone Company as an independent corporation is no more, but appreciate the thrifty and progressive spirit with which it conducted its affairs always having in mind the public interest. We trust that we will receive the same consideration and good treatment at the hands of the Diamond State both as to service and rates and the people of Salisbury will still perpetuate the maxim "The survival of the fittest."

All Quiet in Wicomico.

Messrs. Editors: Allow me a little of your valuable space for just a word on the recent election in Wicomico.

While there are contentions and some legal proceedings in many counties in the State over the result of the election, the people of Wicomico are quiet and have accepted the voting as an evidence of the people's own expressions, and no charges are made against the successful candidates or those who aided in bringing about their success. This is as it should be. Good conservative men are elected and they are fully competent to do the work assigned them in the offices to which they are elected and there are no apprehensions or suspicions. The affairs are safe in their hands.

The elections in this county are conducted by men of unquestionable character, men upon whom there is no suspicion, and the recent election was perhaps as fairly and honestly conducted as it was possible to do it. The officers carried out the law as they understood it and so far as we know there has been no criticisms. The excluding of ballots improperly marked, in the counting, was but a duty in fulfilling their official obligations. The law prescribed the things to do and the officials did them, as they interpreted the law. In throwing out inadmissible ballots, there was no discrimination and the relative losses did not materially effect results.

REPUBLICAN.

Has Aspirations Still.

Mr. J. Frank Turner, who failed of election as clerk of the Court of Appeals, has announced that he will be a candidate for Chief Clerk of the House of Delegates. He will probably have the support generally of the Democratic leaders of Talbot county. Much sympathy is felt for him and general regret expressed at his defeat, as he is so eminently qualified by training and experience to perform the practical duties of the office and had the unanimous endorsement of the Judges of the Court of Appeals. He also made a very industrious canvass throughout the State. Mr. Turner, however, takes his defeat very philosophically, as he does all the ups and downs of life.

BEGINNING OF THE FIRE.

About 1:30 o'clock the alarm was sounded for a fire in the kitchen of the home of Mr. Henry E. Bell, on Main street. The fire had gained such head way before it was discovered that it was seen in a few minutes that unless extraordinary good was done the main portion of the town was doomed to destruction. The fire began just where the large fire of a few years ago was stopped and finished the work which the fire of 1896 nearly accomplished. From the residence of Mr. Bell the flames spread to an office adjoining, and then to the office of Calvin B. Taylor, then to the large building known as the Odd Fellows' Hall, in which was the town hall and the store of C. W. Purnell & Bro. From this building the flames attacked two stores on Main street, belonging to Emery Bell in which C. W. Warrington kept a store, the other being vacant. Mr. Warrington's family lived above his store. Thence the fire spread to Emery Bell's residence, on Mill street. By this time the wind was blowing a hurricane and small buildings all over the town were catching fire from sparks, and for a while it looked as if the entire town was doomed. But the wind changed here and carried the blaze across to the east side of Main street and set fire to the Exchange and Savings Bank and the banking house of the Calvin B. Taylor Banking Company, both of which were of brick.

THE HOTELS SAVED.

Now came the fight to save Park Hotel of T. T. Savage and the Atlantic Hotel of W. J. Harman. The Atlantic Hotel, which is a three-story brick building, was on fire near the roof, and as there were no ladders it seemed a hopeless task to try to save it, but by heroic efforts both the hotels were saved. John C. Ayres' storehouse, occupied by John D. Ayres as a grocery, was next burned, as was the dwelling owned by Ayres and occupied by W. F. Porter. The large stables attached to the Park Hotel caught fire and for a while it was thought the hotel could not be saved. Buildings were on fire in front and in the rear of it. Jerry Campbell succeeded in saving all of his horses and vehicles from the stables. From this point the fire leaped across Pitt street to a house owned by Mrs. Hattie Dirrickson, a distance of over 400 yards, and thence communicated to the barn, outbuildings and residence of Mrs. Mary E. Davis.

The fire was now in the most thickly settled part of the town and among the frame buildings, and but for the most heroic work the town would certainly have been wiped out. The fire fighters tore down some small buildings and thus stayed the flames. The stable of J. D. Quillen & Bro., was then discovered on fire and was burned to the ground. By this time the people were becoming exhausted, having been fighting the fire for about five hours, but it was finally gotten under control.

BANK VAULTS SAFE.

The Calvin B. Taylor Banking Company will open headquarters in the Lane building at once. The bank vault seems to be in good condition. The Exchange Bank will open for business in the Hammond building across the street. The books of the bank were saved and the vault is believed to be uninjured. It will be opened tomorrow. The Berlin Building and Loan Association, which was burned out, will also commence business Wednesday. The family of Mr. Bell, where the fire broke out, had a narrow escape from being burned, the house falling in before the family escaped.

Mrs. Rose Bane had her arm broken in two places and had a rib broken in getting out of her house.

The citizens are loud in their praise of the magnificent work done by Mr. Greening, a nurseryman from Michigan.

By his efforts several houses were saved. The population of Berlin by the census of 1900 is 1,244.

Berlin, like Delmar, has no means of fighting fire except the bucket, and it is a great wonder that the town has not been destroyed before. The Town Council will now take immediate action in regard to putting in waterworks, and at the same time will issue enough bonds to put in a first-class electric light plant.

THE FIRE OF 1893.

Sunday night, August 4, 1893, fire swept over about eight acres of territory in the heart of Berlin and destroyed pretty nearly all the business houses in the place. More than 60 buildings were destroyed, and the total loss was upward of $85,000, offset by only about $30,000 insurance. The fire started in the hayloft of a livery stable at 8 o'clock p. m., and by 1 o'clock next morning the destruction was complete. Many of the residents were absent at Ocean City when the fire occurred in 1893.

Berlin also experienced a disastrous fire March 21, 1895.

Notable conflagrations in towns of Worcester county occurred as follows: Pocomoke City, November 23, 1888, 57 houses.

Pocomoke City, July 6, 1892, 20 houses.

Snow Hill, August 7, 1893, 76 houses.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been married for nearly two years, and so far have not been blessed with a child. I have, however, suffered with a complication of female troubles and painful menstruation, until very recently.

HERE AND THERE.

Humorous Bits Gleaned By A Gloomy Man—Laugh And The World Laughs With You.

A DEFINITION First Boarder—What is the exact meaning of viands? Second Boarder—'Oh! Things you get to eat when you don't board.'—Puck.

NOT NECESSARY. "When you're at loss for a suitable word do you ever apply to your wife?" "No," replied the writer, "I don't have to. Her entire vocabulary is coming my way most of the time."—Chicago Post.

DISTRESSING. Nurris—"That dog of Naylor's will be the death of me yet! There's never a day passes that he doesn't run out and bark at me." Purvis—"Why, a barking dog seldom bites."

Nurris—"That's just it. I wouldn't mind being bitten and have it over with. It's the suspense that's killing me."—Catholic Standard and Times.

THE DEAR THINGS Uncle George—"Hannah, why is it you always keep that parlor curtain down?" Hannah—"To keep the sun from fading the carpet, of course."

Uncle George—"But you keep the carpet covered with matting?" Hannah—"Oh, well, that is only to prevent the carpet from being worn threadbare."—Boston Transcript.

THE CODICIL The Judge's Wife—"I always said she'd look perfectly lovely in black. And he left a large estate, of course?" The Doctor's Wife—"But my dear, she has only put on half mourning. She hasn't shown him the respect of a veil even."

The Judge's Wife—"Dear me, you don't say so! I wonder if the codicil didn't read aright?"—New York Sun.

THE CHARM OF IT. "I'm goin' to school, now," said Willie. "Oh, are you? Do you like it?" "Yes."

"That's good. That's a sure sign that you'll learn fast. I suppose your teacher is a very pleasant lady, isn't she?" "Naw, I don't like her very well. But there's a boy in our class that can make his ears go up and down and wiggle the top of his head."—Chicago Record-Herald.

HE HAD PROOF. "Say, ma," "Well?" "There are seven liars in our class at school."

"Oh, I wouldn't say that, dear. You might be mistaken."

"No I ain't. Yesterday the teacher said all of us that never told a lie should hold up our hands."

"And were there seven there who didn't hold up their hands?" "No. There were seven that did."—Chicago Record-Herald.

IN THE DISPENSARY. Ear Doctor—"I think I can find the trouble in your ear in a very short time. Now, then, do you hear this watch tick?"

Woman Patient—"No, doctor." Doctor (holding the watch closer to her ear)—"Now do you hear it tick?" Patient—"Not yet, doctor."

Doctor—"Why, then you must be stone deaf and can't understand a word I'm saying—(looking at the watch)—Thunder—I beg your pardon—I forgot to wind it!"—New York Times.

DELIGHTED HER, OF COURSE. It is her first year teaching school, and with an assignment to a class not far from Brooklyn Bridge this dainty young woman has been introduced to a class of boys from the poorest of the tenements.

The occasional gifts of over ripe apples or somewhat faded flowers have, however, been received with due enthusiasm.

"Say, teacher, here's a tuberose I brought you," said a smudged face youngster the other day. And, beaming her thanks, she asked him where he got it.

"Oh! say, dat was easy," he replied. "I got it off'n a dead lady."—New York Times.

TROUBLE AHEAD IF MAMMA KNOWS. Dorothy is a little over two years old, but she has apparently acquired a pretty fair understanding of the meaning of parental authority. One of the last mosquitoes of summer perched upon the child for a moment the other day and left the usual trademark.

"Mamma," she said after the conflict, "a skeeter bit me."

"That was a naughty, bad mosquito to bite my little girl," was the sympathetic reply.

After thinking it over for a moment Dorothy said: "I wonder if that bad skeeter's mamma knows she bit me?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Bridal Gowns; Styles in Making; Veils; Flowers; Furs; Separate Skirts And Waists.

Youthful brides are partial to gowns of satin face or pe de Chine that quite equals satin in best quality as to expense. The latter material leads, however. Another fashionable selection is chiffon over taffeta silk or satin and a few wedding dresses have been made wholly in chiffon. Yokes in front are somewhat of a feature and sleeves, though chiefly long, may reach to the elbows, with completion of undersleeves. Trains vary much in length, of course, according to fancy and are out either round or square, but the former style is by far most frequent. In view, moreover, of present close fitting outlines, princess gowns are more in vogue than formerly. Chiffon is much used in trimming; fine tucks harmonize with the present rage for tuckings; passementerie comes not amiss on satin and choicest of all, is fine lace.

BRIDAL VEILS As hitherto, are oftentimes of tulle and may or may not be worn over the face, till after the ceremony, but rare lace, particularly if an heirloom, must have a prestige all its own. Orange buds and blossoms are extremely popular, yet for the sake of variety, some brides select jasmine and for bridesmaids, a choice is given among roses, hawthorn, violets or orchids which are in special requisition this season.

FURS are a subject of unusual interest, because they will be so much worn, not only in the way of garments, but as trimmings on material, whether jackets or dresses. C. C. Shayne's representative display, has therefore awakened even more attention than usual among fashionable buyers, both those who can afford any expense and the very large class, who, wishing to be well dressed, consider economy and in fur, of all things, reliability in the dealer ensures satisfaction. City belles are rapidly purchasing jaunty little Etons, tight fitting, with Juno front, high collars rounded at corners and revers of contrasting fur. Another style is longer, with a point at the back and Juno front and both are made in Persian lamb, seal, otter or broadtail. Three quarter or long coats in seal, otter or Persian lamb are stylish, with greater demand, of course, for the former, because less expensive.

LONG COATS are very fashionable in black or brown bear, Alaska sable, stone marten, black or colored lynx, but collarless are preferred by some, because managed more easily. Mink, Hudson Bay or Alaska sable, chinchilla or Ermine for evening are used and ermine capes also for evening or rich brocade lined with ermine are a choice among the fastidious. Thibet capes are popular for young girls' evening wear and for use at any time conservative ladies may select cloth capes lined with squirrel fur. Other capes also for wear at any time, are seen in Mink, Persian lamb or most elegant of all, Hudson Bay or Alaska sable with tails. Muffs are large and in box shape.

SEPARATE SKIRTS AND WAISTS are firmly established in favor and the very close outlines and inconvenient length in dressy skirts, have equally established in favor, a large supply of walking skirts in wool, the perfection of neatness and well clearing the ground. In skirt bindings, the S. H. & M. continues to lead and is especially valuable because protecting the material and experience proves also that for walking skirts, its smooth surface prevents the hem from wearing. It is quite common at Church, on the street or informally at home, to see dressy waists in pale or bright colored silk, worn with these utility skirts, but wool waists are often now in such pretty figured or striped material in light weight manufactured expressly for them that they closely rival silk. Light weight velvet is also shown for waists and charming examples are in panne velvet or silk.

A Physician Testifies. "I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did," says County Physician Geo. W. Scroggs of Hall County, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. You can prevent this by dieting but that means starvation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer from neither dyspepsia nor starvation. The worst cases quickly cured. Never fails. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Rev. Curtis Lee Laws, of Baltimore, who has been secured by the Cumberland Young Men's Christian Association to conduct the week of prayer services, addressed a mass-meeting of men in Cumberland yesterday afternoon that filled the Academy of Music. He addressed another meeting of men and women at night.

Six Million Boxes a Year. In 1895, none; in 1900, 6,000,000 boxes; that's Cascarets Candy Cathartic's jump into popularity. The people have cast their verdict. Best medicine for the bowels in the world. All druggists, roc.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.

President Remond of Johns Hopkins Gives His Views.

Asked for his views for a symposium, President Remond of the Johns Hopkins University dictated the following: Nature will be the chief factor in the solution of the negro problem.

This, I know, is a vague phrase, but the world has wrestled with racial problems before, and the first great force working to their solution has been nature.

Leave the negro to nature and the Southern people and the problem will eventually be solved. How long this will take, of course we do not know.

When I say leave the negro to the Southern people I mean, of course, leave his education and his elevation to them.

I have never lived in those sections of the South where the race problem is most serious Maryland is a Southern State, but the conditions here are not what they are in the cotton belt.

My life, until I became president of the Johns Hopkins University this fall, has been devoted to scientific studies. My studies have not been economical, political or historical except in a general way. Therefore, such views as I express regarding the negro comes from me as they would from any civilian interested in the welfare of all who make up this cosmopolitan country.

Will moral education do more for the negro than industrial education? That depends on what you mean by the vague term moral education. If you mean to teach colored men what is right and what is wrong, to do right things and not to do wrong things, of course conditions will be improved.

But I must look at this problem as I would look at a chemical problem. Consider first the facts. Not from a distance.

That will never do. Go where the worst conditions exist and make a study of all the environments, the tendencies and the traits of the community.

You cannot correct the negro situation in the South from the North. Of course, the Southern people will receive, and gladly receive, such suggestions and advice as may be given in a friendly spirit from the Northern States. Those in the North who seek to remedy those conditions which they say are to be corrected must go themselves where the negro population is the thickest, where the question can be viewed at its worst. They must make a constant study of conditions and then set to work to right them as they would an evil in their own midst. This is the only way in which the North could practically aid in solving the problem.

Then, considering the question from a scientific viewpoint, we must weigh the forces at work, the methods and the result of nature. We must consider the history of the negro; we must study his hereditary tendencies; we must weigh the effect of climatic, political and religious influences.

All these must be considered. I, as a chemist, would consider them as I would the effect produced by various acids. After it is seen which influence working toward the negro's elevation is the most potent, foster and nurse that influence. And the opposite conditions, by a gradual process of elimination, should be eradicated and finally removed.

Of course, my views are theoretical. I have never made a practical study of the negro problem. The University has departments at work investigating the conditions, suggesting remedies at hand, and from the Johns Hopkins press are issued papers embodying the views of the investigators.

As to Booker Washington, I only have a general knowledge. From what I have been told and from what he has read it appears to me that he is working along the right lines.

I have never been at Tuskegee, but from what I know of the work there and at the Hampton (Va.) Institute I believe both of these institutions are giving the negro the education that he needs.—N. Y. Journal.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and acts in the blood. Sold by Dr. F. J. Cheney & Co., Testimonials free.

Muscle

Does not make the man. "The blood is the life," the vital force of the body. So it not infrequently happens that the man who looks to be a picture of physical strength falls a sudden victim to disease.

A proper care for the blood would prevent many a serious sickness. The cleansing of the blood is perfectly accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It drives out the impurities and poisons of the blood which corrupt the blood and breed disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of pure blood. It builds up the entire body with good sound flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" does so to gain the little more profit paid by inferior medicines. There is nothing "just as good" for the blood as "Golden Medical Discovery" therefore accept no substitute.

"I took five bottles of Golden Medical Discovery for my blood," writes Mr. William D. Shambly, of Remy, Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. "I had 'ring worms' on me and I would burn them off and they would come right back, and they were on me when I commenced using 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and they went away and I haven't been bothered any more."

THAT CRY OF FRAUD.

The cry of fraud that has been raised by the Republicans in the State of Maryland is entirely groundless and hardly worthy of notice. This is made plain on its face by two facts. First, it was openly stated by prominent Republicans on the streets of Salisbury, in Baltimore City and elsewhere throughout the State before the election that "no matter how the State goes we are going to contest the election." The cry of fraud was all premeditated and is being made with the hope that it will have some effect upon the seating of the next United States Senator from Maryland. Second, because it is absurd to think the Democratic judges could have thrown out ballots when the Republicans had an equal number of judges and it requires a majority of the judges to reject a ballot.

As far as Wicomico is concerned, a letter by a prominent Republican in this county, which appears in another column of the paper under the head "All quiet in Wicomico," states the case plainly and impartially.

The Malster Republicans also give a plausible reason for this cry of fraud in the following statement.

"The real reason of Senator McComas' charge of fraud and trickery is not so much of ousting Democratic county officials, to pile up campaign material or even to contest Mr. Gorman's seat in the Senate as it is to disarm criticism of himself for losing a fight which national leaders of the Republican party had every reason to expect would be won. The real kernel in the nut, the Malster people claim is that Mr. McComas practically promised President Roosevelt a Republican Senator from Maryland to succeed Senator Wellington. His failure to accomplish this performance, it is urged, is calculated to shake the confidence of the Administration in his ability as a party leader and may have its effect on the reappointment of the Federal office holders in Maryland. Therefore, it is claimed Senator McComas, to justify himself, is using every effort to show fraud, and would go so far as to bring the matter before the Senate itself."

ADMIRAL SCHLEY'S VINDICATION.

In his speech before the Schley court of inquiry last week Captain Lemly abandoned the charge of cowardice against Admiral Schley. The investigation which started out so bravely on many charges has simmered down to a charge of negligence and disobedience of orders.

Capt. Lemly claims that the battle of Santiago was a captains' fight, though he admits that the Brooklyn bore the brunt of the engagement.

If the charges at the start had been narrowed to those now insisted on, it is not probable that Admiral Schley would have demanded an investigation, and it is certain that if he had little interest would have been taken in it. He did everything that could be done, and he did it almost without cost. He destroyed or captured the Spanish fleet with a trival loss, and the people feel little interest in whether someone else wished it done in another way. The result speaks for itself, and it could not speak better.

The claim that the battle of Santiago was a captains' fight, even if conceded, would take little from Admiral Schley's fame, when we consider the fact that it is admitted that his flagship took a far more important part in the fight than any other vessel. If he could whip the whole Spanish fleet with one ship who could find fault with him for doing it. The evidence, however, shows that the Brooklyn signaled orders to the fleet. Admiral Schley could not be expected to have had a plan of battle arranged beforehand, for he had not been in command.

The concessions of the judge advocate general constitute a substantial vindication of Admiral Schley and a condemnation of the laborer, Macleay, who slanderously charged him with cowardice, and the men who indorsed his book. Admiral Schley's fame is untarnished, and it may be added that even Captain Lemly has not been able to find any other hero for Santiago. The battle was not fought under Admiral Sampson's command, nor by his plan. In fact, it is not proved that he ever had a plan.

IN THE INTEREST OF GOOD ROADS.

The question of good roads is such a practical one and the economy of improved highways has been so unquestionably demonstrated wherever they have been constructed that citizens of a State like Maryland, which has done so little to secure them, may be excused a feeling of impatience on the subject, says the Baltimore News. The Good Roads Congress, recently in session at Winston Salem, North Carolina, called renewed attention to this very important matter. The fact that in our State the average horse-load is from one half to two-thirds of a ton, whereas on an improved roadbed it would be from four to six tons; that it costs now, on an average, about twenty-five cents to haul a ton a mile, whereas it should not cost more than ten, and that some of our roads are wholly impassible in winter ought to appeal to our legislators, irrespective of party.

North Carolina, considering its size and wealth, is one of the States which have been quite active in the matter of securing good roads, and the convening of this congress there shows the interest which obtains. Two of the most prominent points dealt with in the addresses were the lessons to be learned from the example of railroads and the value of convict labor on roadways. One of the most striking features of modern railway practice is the expenditure of great sums of money in lowering grades and abolishing curves in order to increase the hauling capacity of locomotives, the economy thus effected having been found to be far in excess of the cost of improvement. The same thing applies to improved highways. The use of jail labor in the betterment of public roads is a project that is growing in public favor, and it will be recalled that the Highway Division of our Maryland Geological Survey has spoken approvingly of the possibility of some day thus utilizing the labor of our jail prisoners.

The work of the Survey has been a good start to the realization of good roads in this State; but it is only a start. We hope that it will be followed up vigorously in the next Legislature.

A WORD FROM VIRGINIA.

The result of the election in Virginia is highly gratifying to the Democrats of the State and ought to be to every patriotic citizen within her limits, who believes in a clean and efficient administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth and who would select the best men to discharge that duty. The fact that Montague and his associates won by a majority of thirty thousand or more seems to indicate that he was satisfactory to most of them and we do not doubt that they will justify the confidence thus placed in them. Elated though as we are, by the success of the Democratic ticket in Virginia our reason for rejoicing does not end here. The victory won by the Democratic party in Maryland and the hope thus held out, that the South is to have a representative in the United States Senate again like Mr. Gorman to look after her interests, cannot fail to be gratifying to most democrats not only in the two States but throughout the country.—Peninsula Enterprise.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty. If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

Capt. William John Jackson.

Capt. William J. Jackson died early Tuesday morning at his home in Sharptown district, near Riverton, after several months affliction, and after having suffered considerably from a complication of diseases.

The subject of this sketch was born in Baron Creek district near Mardela, on May 27, 1833, and was sixty-nine years old. In boyhood he developed a fondness for sailing, became a young sailor with his father and he and three other brothers formed the father's crew for several years. Young William having a natural disposition to learn the art of sailing, developed rapidly in his experience and at the age of twenty years became Captain and with this responsibility began the development of his business tact, that served him so well all along life, and by which he accumulated considerable property leaving an estate consisting of a farm; his home residence, a large tract of timber land nearby, oyster beds in the Nanticoke, interests in the Sharptown Marine Railway Co., and interest in several vessels, and other investments.

In early life he married Miss Louisa Bradley, daughter of Clement Bradley and she, with seven grown daughters, five of whom are married, survive him. He leaves also two brothers, Capt. Lambert Jackson of Hurlock and Capt. Samuel Jackson of White Haven and one sister, Mrs. Margaret Goslee, of Delmar.

Religiously he was a devoted member of the Methodist Protestant Church and dearly loved to attend the services. He was an official and always gave the closest attention to all his church duties. His religion was shown at home, at church, or wherever he went. He had a great gift in prayer and exhortation and was quite a power in devotional services.

He was a member of the Improved Order Odd Fellows at Mardela and a member of the American Mechanics at Riverton. He was buried with the honors of both orders.

His funeral services were held in Stethen M. P. Church, of which he was a member for several years, on Thursday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Johnson of Milton, Del., a former pastor of Mardela, assisted by Revs. Simpson and Mather. After the services at the church his remains were taken to Mardela and interred, followed by a large company of mourning relatives and friends. The American Mechanics and Odd Fellows performed their sad rites and gave him the high tribute of their fraternal obligations.

At the time of his death he was one of the Judges of the Orphans Court of this county, having been elected to that office two years ago by a large democratic majority. He never sought office, but this came to him as an evidence of the high regard in which he was held by the party of his choice. He made a good official.

When the Legislature Convenes

When the next Legislature convenes there will be a bill introduced to compel every man and woman in the State of Maryland to read an up-to-date newspaper. A man that don't read a newspaper wouldn't know a clothing fakir when he saw one. A man that don't read a newspaper would buy a piano by photograph on the instalment plan and expect to have the beautiful young woman shown seated at the piano playing "Chopping of the Hash," thrown in to play the piano for country dances. The man who don't read a newspaper would send to New York for a gold brick and when he got it he'd be so afraid someone would get it that he'd bury it in the cellar and not find out where it was for two years. But why don't the Legislature go further and try to protect the people from woolless clothes, buzz-saw cut pants and fear-sun colors? Well, to tell the truth, the average Marylander don't need much protection by law from the Clothing fakirs, he's pretty apt to take care of himself anywhere. But wouldn't it be a good idea if every piece of goods should have to be branded just what it is? Would'n't the fur fly—Would'n't lots of those so-called worsteds look cheap branded "most all cotton"—Do you ever stop to consider that money is never saved in buying common clothing—Have you been buying carelessly? You can't match Lacy Thoroughgood's line of Clothing for Men and Boys anywhere in Salisbury. All Thoroughgood's Clothing, whether Men's or Boys', goes out with a full guarantee of dependability in make and material, for fit and wear, always ready to refund money when there's any dissatisfaction. Every Suit and Overcoat Thoroughgood sells has a Thoroughgood label sewed into it. That's a guarantee for its goodness. Thoroughgood's Men's Suits sell for $6.50, $8.00, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00. Men's Overcoats $5.00 to $18.50. How old is your boy? In short trousers yet? Thoroughgood has hundreds of Boys' Suits, all colors at $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50 to $6.00. Thoroughgood's Clothes will make it warm for you and your boys.

God does not understand my case, I am going back to my old habits.

For does not understand my case, I am going back to my old habits. And he returns. Everything assumes its usual course. His business seems to brighten. The world becomes an attractive place to live in.

The fact is, we all know in our own experience that habit is a taskmaster. As long as we obey it it does not chastise us; but let us resist, and we find that we are lashed with scorpions' whips and thrown into the track of horse breaking juggernauts.

Suppose a man of five or ten or twenty years of evildoing resolves to do right, why are all the forces of darkness allied against him? He gets down on his knees in the midnight and cries, "God help me!" He bites his lip. He grinds his teeth. He clenches his fist in a determination to keep to his purpose.

With an insight into human nature such as no other man ever had Solomon in these words is sketching the mental processes of a man who has stepped aside from the path of rectitude and would like to return. "When shall I awake? When shall I get over this horrible nightmare of iniquity?" But, seized upon by unmediated appetite and pushed down hill by his passions, he cries out: "I will seek it yet again. I will try it once more!"

About a mile from Princeton, N. J., there is a skating pond. One winter day, when the ice was very thin, a farmer living near by warned the young men of the danger of skating at that time. They all took the warning, except one young man. He, in the spirit of bravado, said, "Boys, one round more." He struck out on his skates, the ice broke, and his lifeless body was brought up. And to all matters of temptation and allurements it is not a prolongation that is proposed, but only just one more indulgence, just one more sin. Then comes the fatality. Alas, for the one round more! "I will seek it yet again."

Our libraries are adorned with elegant literature addressed to young men pointing out to them all the dangers and perils of life—complete maps of the voyage of life—the shoals, the rocks, the quicksands. But suppose a young man is already shipwrecked, suppose he is already off the track, suppose he has already gone astray, how can he get back? That is a question that remains unanswered, and amid all the books of the libraries I find not one word on that subject. To that class of persons I this day address myself.

You compare what you are now with what you were three or four years ago, and you are greatly disheartened. You are ready with every passion of your soul to listen to a discussion like this. Be of good cheer! Your best days are yet to come. I offer you the hand of welcome and rescue. I put the silver trumpet of the gospel to my lips and blow one long, loud blast, saying, "Whoever will, let him come, and let him come now." The church of God is ready to spread a banquet upon your return, and all the hierarchs of heaven fall into line of bantered procession over your redemption.

Years ago, and while yet Albert Barnes was living, I preached in his pulpit one night to the young men of Philadelphia. In the opening of my discourse I said, "O Lord, give me one soul tonight!" At the close of the service Mr. Barnes introduced a young man, saying, "This is the young man you prayed for. But I see you are a too limited prayer. I offer no such prayer today. It must take in a wider sweep. 'Lord, give us all these souls today for happiness and heaven!'"

So far as God may help me I propose to show what are the obstacles to your return and then how you are to surmount those obstacles. The first difficulty in the way of your return is the force of moral gravitation. Just as there is a natural law which brings down to earth anything you throw into the air, so there is a corresponding moral gravitation. I never let him forget a prayerful man. I never let him forget a prayerful man. I never let him forget a prayerful man.

Why, it reminds me of a man drowning in the sea, and a lifeboat puts out for him, and the man in the boat says to the man in the water, "Now, if I get you ashore, are you going to live in my street?" First get him ashore, and then talk to him about the nonessentials of religion. Who cares what church he joins if he only joins Christ and starts for heaven? Oh, you, my brother of blinding face and a hearty grip for every one that tries to turn from his evil way, take hold of the same by-neck-and-groove, remembering that he that "converts" a sinner from the error of his ways shall save a soul from death and hide a multitude of sins."

Now, I have shown you these obstacles because I want you to understand I know all the difficulties in the way. But I am now going to tell you how Hannibal may scale the Alps and how the shiekies may be unriveted and how the paths of virtue may be regained. First of all, throw yourself on God. Go to him frankly and earnestly and tell him these habits you have and ask him, if there is any help in all the resources of omnipotent love, to give it to you. Do not go on with a long litany, which some people call prayer, made up of ohs and ahs and forever and forever amen! Go to God and cry for help.

I remember that in the civil war I was at Antietam, with other members of the Christian commission, to look after the wounded. I went into the hospital after the battle, and I said to a man, "Where are you hurt?" He made no answer, but held up his arm, swollen and splintered. I saw where he was hurt. The simple fact is, when a man has a wounded soul all he has to do is to hold it up before a sympathetic Lord and get it healed. It does not take any long prayer. Just hold up the wound. It is a small thing when a man is depressed and weak and exhausted, coming from his evil ways, to feel

God puts two omnipotent arms about him and says:

"Young man, I will stand by you. The mountains may depart and the hills be removed, but I will never fail you." And then, as the soul thinks the news is too good to be true and cannot believe it and looks up in God's face, God lifts his right hand and takes an affidavit, makes an oath, saying, "As I live," saith the Lord God, "I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked." Blessed be God for such gospel as this! "Cut the slices thin," says the wife to the husband, "for there will not be enough to go around for all the children. Cut the slices thin." Blessed be God, there is a full loaf for every one that wants it. Bread and enough to spare! No thin slices on the Lord's table!

Remember that while living in Philadelphia, at the time I spoke of a minute ago, the Master Street hospital was opened and a telegram was received, saying: "There will be 300 wounded men tonight. Please take care of them." From my church there went out twenty or thirty men and women. As the poor wounded men were brought in no one asked them from what state they came or what was their parentage. There was a wounded soldier, and the only question was how to take off the rags most gently and put on the cool bandage and administer the cordial. And when a soul comes to God he does not ask where you came from or what your ancestry was. Healing balm for all your wounds; pardon for all your guilt; comfort for all your troubles!

Then, also, I counsel you, if you want to get back, quit all your bad associates. One unholiness will fill your soul with moral distemper. In all the ages of the church there has not been an instance where a man kept one evil associate and was reformed—among the 1,600,000,000 of the race, not one instance. (Give up your bad companions or give up heaven. It is not ten bad companions that destroy a man nor five bad companions nor three, but one.)

What chance is there for the young man I saw along the street, four or five young men with him, in front of a grogshop, urging him to go in, he resisting, violently resisting, until after awhile they forced him to go in? It was a summer night, and the door was left open, and I saw the process. They held him fast, and they put the cup to his lips, and they forced down the strong drink. What chance is there for such a young man?

I counsel you also to seek Christian advice. Every Christian man is bound to help you. If he declines to help you, he is not a Christian. Now gather up all your energies of body, mind and soul and, appealing to God for success, declare this day everlasting war against all evil influences. A man will not work unless he is set on fire by the Holy Spirit. Shrink back now and you are lost. Push on and you are saved. A Spartan general fell at the very moment of victory, but he dipped his finger in his own blood and wrote on a rock near which he was dying, "Sparta has conquered." Through your struggle to get rid of sin may seem to be almost a death struggle, you can dip your finger in your own blood and write on the Rock of Ages, "Victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Remembering to God. Some of you, like myself, were born in the country. And what glorious news might these young men send home to their parents that this afternoon they had surrendered themselves to God and started a new life! I know how it is in the country. The night comes on, the cattle stand under the rack, through which burst the trusses of hay. The horses have just frisked up from the meadow brook at the nightfall and stand knee deep in the bright straw that is left from the day's mowing. The perch of the hotel is full of fowl, their feet warm under their feathers. When the night gets cold, the flames clap their hands above the great backlog and shake the shadow of the group up and down the wall. Father and mother sit there for half an hour saying nothing. I wonder what they are thinking of? After awhile the father breaks the silence and says, "Well, I wonder where our boy is in town tonight? And the mother answers, "He no had place, I warrant you. We always could trust him when he was at home, and since he has been away there have been so many prayers offered for him we can trust him still." Then at 8 or 9 o'clock, just before they retire, for they go early to bed, they kneel down and commend you to that God who watches in country and in town, on the land and on the sea.

Some one said to a Grecian general, "What was the proudest moment of your life?" He thought a moment and said, "The proudest moment was when I sent word home to my parents that I had gained the victory." And the gladdest and most brilliant moment in your life will be the moment when you can send word to your parents that you have conquered the evil habits by the grace of God and become eternal victor.

Oh, despite not parental anxiety! The time will come when you will have neither father nor mother, and you will go around the place where they used to watch you and find them gone from the house and gone from the field and gone from the neighborhood. Cry as loud for forgiveness as you may, over the mound in the churchyard, they cannot answer. Dead! Dead! And then you will take out the white lock of hair that was cut from mother's brow just before they were laid in the grave, and you will take the case with which your father used to walk, and you will think and think and wish that you had done just as they wanted you and would give the world if you had never thrust a pang through their dear old hearts.

Honor to Parents. At the corner of a street I saw a tragedy. A young man evidently doubted as to which direction he had better take. His hat was lifted high enough so you could see he had an intelligent forehead. He had a broad chest and a robust development. Splendid young man! Cultured young man! Honored young man! Why did he stop there while so many were going up and down? The fact is that every young man has a good angel and a bad angel contending for the mastery of his spirit, and there were a good angel and a bad angel struggling with that young man's soul at the corner of the street. "Come with me," said the good angel, "I will take you home. I will spread my wings over your pillow. I will lovingly escort you all through life under supernatural protection. I will bless every cup you drink out of, every couch you rest on, every doorway you enter. I will consecrate your tears when you weep, your sweat when you toil, and at the last I will hand over your grave into the hand of the bright angel of a Christian resurrection. Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have been cured by druggists at 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

BISHOP I. W. JOYCE ASSIGNED

To Preside at the Wilmington Conference Session.

The annual session of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference will be held at Crisfield, Md., beginning March 19th, Bishop Isaac W. Joyce presiding. The conference has met at Crisfield but once, in 1887, when Bishop Henry W. Warren presided. The coming session will be the occasion of Bishop Joyce's first visit to the conference.

Isaac W. Joyce, D. D., LL. D., was born in Hamilton county, Ohio, October 11th, 1836. At the age of 14 he removed with his parents to Tippecanoe county, Indiana. He was graduated at Hartsville University and joined the Northwest Indiana Conference in 1859. He served in the pastorate from that time until 1888, except four years spent as presiding elder. In 1880 he was transferred to the Cincinnati Conference and appointed to St. Paul's Church and subsequently to Trinity, in Cincinnati. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1880 and 1888, and at the latter session was elected bishop. He possesses considerable executive ability, and is one of the hardest workers in the Board of Bishops. He generally holds revival services at conference sessions. He resides in Minneapolis, Minn.

The annual session of the Delaware Conference (colored) will be held at Salisbury, Md., beginning April 9th, Bishop Stephen M. Merrill presiding. Stephen M. Merrill, D. D., LL. D., was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, September 16th, 1825. He joined the Ohio Conference in 1864, became editor of the Western Christian Advocate in 1868, and was elected bishop in 1872. Ohio Wesleyan University gave him the degree of D. D. in 1868, and Northwestern University that of LL. D. in 1888. He is the author of many religious books. He resides in Chicago. A Violent Attack of Croup Cured.

"Last winter an infant child of mine had croup in a violent form," says Elder John W. Rogers, a Christian Evangelist, of Filley, Mo. "I gave her a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in a short time all danger was past and the child recovered." This remedy not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the first symptoms appear, will prevent the attack. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by R. K. Truitt.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood,—by the use of the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant.

Great Luck of an Editor.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a splendid cure for piles, giving relief instantly and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." Surgery is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure any case. Cuts, burns, bruises and all other wounds are also quickly cured by it. Beware of counterfeits. Dr. L. D. Collier.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by R. K. Truitt.

An English Author Wrote.

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves,—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh and taken in time prevents consumption. We can not see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

Eli Beard, aged 55 years, was accidentally shot by a companion while turkey hunting Thursday last in Little Cove, Pa., 12 miles northwest of Hancock, Md. A load of shot passed through his right arm and lodged in the muscles of his back.

The Children's Friend.

You'll have a cold this winter. Maybe you have one now. Your children will suffer too. For coughs, croup, bronchitis, grip and other winter complaints One Minute Cough Cure never fails. Acts promptly. It is very pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. C. B. George, Winchester, Ky., writes "Our little girl was attacked with croup late one night and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few drops of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup. Dr. L. D. Collier.

The property of the Blue Mountain Iron and Steel Company, owners of the Catoctin Furnace, near Thurmont, is to be sold. It includes over 10,000 acres of land, and the furnace has been turning out about 35 tons of iron daily. It was organized in 1899.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by R. K. Truitt druggist.

Reliable and Gentle.

"A pill's a pill" says the saw. But there are pills and pills. You want a pill which is certain, thorough and gentle. Mostan's grippe, Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers fill the bill. Purely vegetable. Do not force but assist the bowels to act. Strengthen and invigorate. Small and easy to take. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials flatly deny that there is any intention of tunneling under the mountains for seven miles and abandoning the famous Horseshoe Curve. The story probably arose from the projected tunnel to be built through the crest of the Alleghenies at Gallitzin.

The Fate of Locomotive No. 999.

Among the most attractive mechanical exhibits of the World's Fair at Chicago, eight years ago, was locomotive No. 999 of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad. It was the latest product of the company's shops, and was considered a marvel in the science of locomotive building. Its large dimensions, splendid proportions and evident strength and speed were accentuated by contrast with the diminutive "John Bull," the first locomotive used on the Pennsylvania railroad, which held a position on the track next adjoining.

Afterwards locomotive No. 999 was used in drawing the fast train known as the Empire Express, which ran daily between New York and Buffalo. In this service the huge motor made phenomenal records, once running nine miles at the rate of 103 miles per hour. For several years locomotive No. 999 was looked upon as the best machine of its kind in the world.

And now the announcement is made that locomotive No. 999 is doing the humble service of drawing a milk train. Next we may expect to hear of its reassignment to shifting service—and then the scrapheap.

SHARPTOWN

Mrs. Alverta Brown the wife of Levi L. Brown colored, living in Sharptown district has lost her reason and left home on two occasions last week, causing considerable excitement in that community. On Sunday she left and was found after several hours diligent search. Dr. F. J. Townsend of Sharptown was called to see her and succeeded in quieting her for a short time only. Her mind seemed to be unbalanced on account of reading the bible which is her subject of conversation constantly. For several months she has been a constant reader of the bible, often to the neglect of her domestic duties. She is the daughter of Rev. Timothy Kaine, a former pastor in the community and is about 23 years old. Brown is a cultured young man and taught school with much success in this county for several years, until his health failed, and since then he has engaged in farming. He has two children.

The disagreement existing between A. W. Robinson and W. H. Knowles, members of the firm of A. W. Robinson & Co. of Sharptown and for an adjustment of which Mr. Robinson asked the court to appoint a receiver and to which application Mr. Knowles filed objections has been amicably settled. On Friday afternoon of last week all the members of the firm met at the Peninsula Hotel Salisbury and entered into a private agreement to settle the matter by bidding for it and whoever would give the highest price for the one third, that Knowles' third or Robinson's third should have the property, the bidding to be only by Robinson and Knowles, the other two members, J. D. and H. F. Marvel of Laurel agreeing to bid by the result. The bidding continued about four hours and resulted in the purchase of Mr. Knowles' third by Mr. Robinson and the opposition is at a very high figure though this was not given to the public. It was generally believed that both wanted to remain in the business and knew well its value. The members of the new firm are A. W. Robinson, J. D. and H. F. Marvel. The new firm resumed work on Tuesday the plant having been closed for two months. The men and women of Sharptown are again busy.

The Methodist Protestant church at Sharptown was re-opened on Sunday last after having been closed for five weeks for improvements. The improvements consist of painting the entire interior, graining the pews and chancel and putting down a handsome new carpet. The total cost amounting to $135.00. This was the work of the Aid Society, the following ladies constituting the committee: Mrs. Flora Collison, Mrs. M. V. Cooper, Mrs. Margie Cooper, Mrs. Gertrude Phillips and Miss Lena Cooper. The committee arranged for special services during last Sunday. The morning sermon was preached by Rev. C. S. Arnett, a former pastor. In the afternoon a platform service was held by Rev. B. F. Jester also a former pastor. In this service Revs. E. H. Miller and C. S. Arnett and the pastor took part. At night Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of Western Maryland College gave a lecture on education. One very pleasant feature of this re-opening was that there was no begging. The ladies provide the funds and then aid the work. The congregation was given an opportunity morning and night to contribute and the plates were passed around and $27 realized.

The Marine Railway Co., of which Capt. Wm. J. Jackson was a member, closed down on Thursday afternoon, during his funeral services out of respect to him.

Schooner, Pearl Cullen, Capt. J. B. Cullen, of Crisfield is at the marine alleyway here undergoing repairs.

James Vincent of Christiane Dal. and Mrs. Rachel Chriss of New Castle, who have been visiting Mrs. Ida Eaton returned home on Thursday.

Oscar J. Russell's new residence is nearing completion.

Wilber Taylor has material in place for a new residence on Main Street.

Capt. L. A. Collison is having a new building put up adjoining his residence on Ferry Street.

The crate and basket factory of A. W. Robinson & Co. resumed work on Tuesday, after having been idle for two months.

The M. E. Church doors were closed all day on Sunday last and the congregation attended the re-opening at the M. P. Church.

D. B. Cannon of Salisbury purchased two fine rabbit hunting dogs of John Walker, Jr. The prices paid was $10.00. They are well trained and if any rabbits are to be found they will send them out.

Capt. J. R. Higgins made a trip from here to Baltimore last week with Schooner Salisbury, leaving on Tuesday and returning on Sunday. He carried a cargo of wood.

Dr. T. E. Marindale, P. E. will hold 3rd. quarterly conference in M. E. Church here on Monday night next.

Capt. John W. Hurt of Steamer Nanticoke is still confined to his bed, from an attack of La Grippe.

ALLEN.

Allen's donkey has not brayed himself to death and if it will please Fruitland's monkey, it shall hear the donkey bray as before.

Election is over and everything and everybody is quite.

Judge and Mrs. George W. Cathell spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Cathell.

Mr. F. F. Price and family, late of Philadelphia, are now residents of Allen. They moved in our midst Tuesday of this week and will reside at the home of Mr. Price's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Price. Mr. Price expects to engage in farming.

The young ladies of Allen will hold a bazaar next Friday evening, November 23rd., at the Porter house, opposite the residence of B. F. Messick, Esq. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Come everybody, There will also be held at the church here on Thanksgiving evening a missionary entertainment. This also is for a good cause and we hope the attendance may be large.

Mrs. Annie Jones of Mt. Vernon is visiting friends in Allen.

Miss Emma Murrell of Philadelphia is the guest of Mrs. O. P. Jones.

Miss Annie Bennett of Salisbury is spending sometime with her cousin, Mrs. B. F. Messick.

Rev. J. Edward Brooks left Tuesday for Newport News, Va., to attend the annual conference of the M. E. Church South which convenes in that city. His family are visiting friends in Annapolis during his absence.

Our esteemed friend, Mr. William Samuel Williams has met with several mishaps since the ADVERTISER last heard from him. He has lost his faithful dog "Punch", his John Thomas cat "Gray", and was kicked by his horse into 1902 last Saturday. Fortunately for him the horse kicked like a cow and landed on his shin instead of his stomach. Sammy says trouble never comes single handed, but by the barrel. He says he can bear trouble on his shoulders much easier than on his shin. He would not have met with this latter mishap had he not wanted to show off the good qualities of his "cretur." You know when you want a horse to show off at his best, then is the very time that he takes to cut capers and prove you a liar. Such a horse is old "Dickery". In enumerating the many good qualities of "Dickery" Sammy added the old "no kick" story. "Oh no", said he, "there is not a kick in this cretur", and to prove the truth of his assertion he gave the peaceful old animal a couple of gouges amidsthips when "Sjang" went "Dickery's left below Sammy's belt and landed on his shin. Sammy cried "foul" and gasped for breath or something else.

When he did get whatever he was after he executed a war dance that would have thrown a savage in the shade. He rubbed his shin and yelled "Fire". He hopped and walked on one heel and wriggled himself into complete exhaustion. After Sammy became calm some was asked him if "Dickery" would kick. His answer was that "Dickery's" foot slipped, and it was over next supper time, so he guessed he'd go. He seemed to be drawing a little as he asked if the Democratic candidate for Congress won out. When seen the next day Sammy said that if the Republican party was as sore as his shin he was sure it was in no humor for foolishness. The fat on the front of his pedal extremity says he is mashed to a pulp and the bone busted.

JESTERVILLE.

Forest fires have been burning in the woods owned by Mr. Thos. S. Roberts and Mr. Theodore Jones for the greater part of the week and it has been a difficult matter to stay their progress. The rain which fell on Tuesday extinguished them, however.

Mr. Robert Horman, one of our oldest citizens, died on Tuesday. He leaves a widow and several children, all grown. Deceased was about eighty years of age.

A boy scrap was adjudicated at the magistrate's office last Saturday night. The one who would not take a dare has probably learned that under some circumstances it is costly to touch a fellow. The better way to avoid so much cost is to bristle up and look fierce, stand up to him cheek by jowl, with withering glance, the right eye sighting at right angles across the bridge of the nose, and left eye accordingly, thus looking cross eyed, and in proper attitude to deliver the knock-out blow, but ever being careful not to touch, one would gain the confidence of his friends as being a successful pugilist and beat the officials out of their fees. We do not know whom to blame.

Mr. E. Humphreys and his sister, Miss Augusta of Rockwalking are the guests of Miss Lucy Walter this week.

Mr. Norris Downing and Miss Emma Jackson were married at Nanticoke M. E. Church Wednesday in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. T. C. Smoot performed the ceremony. WHAT IS BEST TO DO.

Some Suggestions to the School Board on the Crowded Condition of Our Schools.

A BOND ISSUE FOR A LARGE BRICK BUILDING IS POPULAR.

Messrs. Editors:—I was requested some weeks ago in company with Mr. W. B. Tilghman to inspect the condition and capacity of the school buildings in this city. To my surprise we found the rooms entirely too small, some of the rooms taxed to seventy in a room, the rooms poorly ventilated and improperly heated, the halls cold. The buildings are intolerably cold in winter and intensely hot in summer. These frame buildings are thinly built, without trees around them, without any protection from the winter blast or the scorching suns of summer. The moral and physical effect of the plumbing and sanitary arrangement are not of the character that should exist. This crowded and unsatisfactory condition of things must be speedily relieved, else we are unfaithful to our children, town and county. The imperative demand to keep in pace with the rapid growth of our town is to have more commodious, more comfortable, more convenient, more healthy school buildings in our town, the immediate needs demand it. The continual onward march and rapid growth of our town demand it.

It will be a profitable investment to parents and citizens, town and county, to buy "Lemon Hill" and erect all necessary school buildings on this reservation. I would suggest the erection of commodious brick buildings which are warmer in winter and cooler in summer. That great care be taken with the heating, ventilating, plumbing, sanitary arrangements, and beautifying the campus. I do not know of any business proposition that would tend more to the development of our town in population, families moving here, building homes, investing their money here; consequently increasing the taxable revenue of the city, than the purchase of this most eligible site, "Lemon Hill," and speedily erecting the necessary large brick school buildings well equipped with all modern school equipments. I would suggest the sale of the two old school buildings and lots. They could be readily converted into store rooms and residences as will be seen by the purchaser. The proceeds from the sale of the two buildings and lots with a loan of $18,000 will meet the requirements, I think.

The school board can borrow the money at 4 per cent. on long time, thus the pressing necessity can be met without being burdensome to any one. I trust our honorable school board may receive general encouragement and the moral support of all the citizens, warranting them in going ahead in their good judgment, to relieve the crowded condition, etc. of our present school buildings. Yours truly,

L. W. GURBY
Salisbury, Md., Nov. 22, 1901.

Messrs. Editors:—What remedy would I suggest to the school board to relieve the present crowded condition of the schools in Salisbury?

Looking at the situation from a business standpoint, there is only one sensible thing to do and that is to erect a modern school building of sufficient capacity not only to meet our present requirements but designed to accommodate our future demands for a considerable period. I was always opposed to wasting money on temporary things and I am no less opposed to this practice in public expenditures than in my own personal affairs.

To spend four or five thousand dollars now to build a temporary structure to meet our present demands which we would again outgrow in a half dozen years would, to my mind, be a waste of public money and in the near future would reflect the incompetence of the promoters of such a scheme.

The sensible thing to do is to erect the best building that we can get for say $25,000 on a suitable location, issue bonds for the payment, which can easily be floated at 4% which would make only $1000 a year interest to start with, and by paying off $1000 every year on the principal for 25 years the building would be paid for at an average of only $40 a year and nobody would ever feel it.

I never was in a town of equal size and importance of Salisbury that was so poorly equipped with school buildings. Can we afford to have this condition exist? I think not, especially when it can be so easily remedied.

W. F. ALLEN.

Messrs. Editors: We can not hope for the best results from our school system so long as our schools are allowed to remain in their present crowded condition.

When we reflect that many of the scholars are not even provided with desk room, it becomes apparent that some action will have to be taken by our school officials without unnecessary delay. It seems to me that it will be necessary to erect a building of some kind to accommodate the scholars, and while building I think that it will be well to build for the future as well as for the present. I see no good reason why Salisbury should not continue to grow, and if such be the case, the school system will also grow.

I am not in a position to know what funds are available for the purpose of erecting a school building, but feel that the building, if erected, should be such as to meet our needs for some years.

I have no desire to see our county bonded, and yet if that is necessary to give us the necessary buildings for the proper carrying on of our educational work, I say let the bonds be issued.

Too much stress can not be placed upon the public school system, and I am anxious that the schools of Wicomico County shall be second to none in the State of Maryland. F. L. WALLIS.

Messrs. Editors:—The question has been asked me, what remedy could be suggested to the School Board to relieve the crowded conditions of the schools. I must admit that I am not posted as to just how fully they are crowded. The population of Salisbury is increasing very rapidly and with an increase of population, there is necessarily an increase of school children to be educated. And I think there should also be a corresponding increase of school facilities and school buildings and teachers. If necessary I would suggest an annex to be built upon the public school grounds, or an additional building to be erected with the employment of additional teachers necessary to properly instruct and care for the pupils when attending our schools. I do not think one teacher ought to have control and government of more than forty or fifty pupils, and in the higher grades, a fewer number.

Public instruction is a very important factor in our rapidly advancing civilization. The children of to-day are the men and women of to-morrow and too much care cannot be taken in seeing that they are properly trained and educated.

JAY WILLIAMS.

Messrs. Editors.—In answer to your inquiry relative to the proper means to relieve the crowded schools in Salisbury, I beg to suggest if the present buildings and grounds can be disposed of, to purchase a proper site, that bonds be issued for the necessary amount, and to build such a building that would be adequate for 20 or 25 years hence, or in other words meet the growth based on the last 10 years. Or if any parcel of ground adjoining the present buildings could be acquired even at a price slightly above its value to purchase same and connect the present buildings with another one. This would also seem to be a proper move. A. A. GILLIS.

Messrs. Editors.—In response to your inquiry regarding the overcrowded conditions of our schools, I would say, that, it seems to me under existing circumstances, the best thing to do, is to purchase a lot in a suitable location as possible, and erect on it such a house as will suit the demands of our city for many years, large enough, in connection with the two buildings now in existence, to accommodate our growing population for the next decade or more, and if necessary issue bonds to procure the money to carry out this object. F. M. SIMONS.

A SUGGESTION ABOUT OYSTERS.

Mr. McGrath of Baltimore Thinks The Industry is in a Bad Way And Suggests Remedy.

Mr. H. J. McGrath, a large oyster and fruit packer, in discussing the condition of the oyster industry at the present time and what the Legislature should do to aid it, said:

"Something has to be done, and that very shortly, if the people of Maryland wish to keep up the revenue which is secured from the oyster industry in this State. The condition of affairs at the present time is alarming. In the last five years a great deal of the trade which formerly belonged to Baltimore has gone to other points. This has been the result of several causes. In the first place the supply has, year by year, been growing less, and it takes a great deal longer for the oystermen to secure a cargo than it formerly did.

"As the supply decreased the price went up and we are paying 65 cents to $1 per bushel for the same grade of oysters that we formerly secured for from 40 to 60 cents. This necessitated our charging more for the shucked oysters, which, naturally, did not suit the Northern and Western buyers. These began to look elsewhere for their goods.

"The Northern trade is now held by the New England States, particularly Connecticut, the waters of which were planted with seed oysters obtained from the Chesapeake. The output there is just about enough to supply that section. The Western buyers now get their oysters from Southern waters, Mississippi sound furnishing most of them. Its a physical impossibility as matters now stand for packers in Baltimore to compete with the Northern and Southern people. What has been the result? A number of firms which used to do business here have left and opened plants down South. A number of others will have to leave if present conditions continue.

"It is a well known fact that spawn of oysters must adhere to some hard surface or they will be carried off by the currents and die. Now some portions of the Chesapeake have been worked so much that there is absolutely nothing left on the bottom. If this barren ground should be cultivated it would not be long before the place would show a growth of oysters.

"Here is an illustration. Look at this old rubber boat. It was probably thrown overboard by some dredger as useless. There are nearly a dozen and a half of small oysters clinging to it.

"A few years ago I invested $2,000 in developing an experiment, I leased 15 acres of water property and took the oyster shells from the packing house here and had them thrown overboard at this 15 acre bed. I did this following out my idea that the spawn must have a rough, hard surface to cling to. The result far exceeded my expectations. This one bed has yielded as my share over $7,500 worth of oysters. As I gave one-half the profits to the party who worked the bed, you can see that the output of that one place has been $15,000.

"If this is so, in a small way, I say let the oyster shells be deposited in the bay, either by the State appropriating sufficient money to have the work done, or give the right to individuals to lease certain portions of the Chesapeake and let them do so.

"Other States have done this and the supply has been kept up. It would not cost much more than 2 cents a bushel to do this work, and the results would be something enormous. Another thing that I believe should be done is to shorten the season. September should be taken out. This would give the growing oyster a chance and prevent the beds from becoming exhausted so rapidly."

Dr. Fulton's Pet Snake.

Our old friend, Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the State Board of Health, recently caught a black snake six feet long which has since its capture been doing duty as mascot for the Health Department in Baltimore City. It has been allowed to go free in one of the rooms of the City Hall annex and was made quite a pet. On Wednesday of this week, however, it lost its temper and twice bit its keeper, Mr. John H. Campbell. This brought on a strike by some of the workmen around the building who refused to work if Mr. Snake was permitted to roam around at his own free will. At last report, it was stated that the Doctor's pet must take a short vacation to the country.

—Mr. W. Trickett Giles of Princess Anne, recently elected to the House of Delegates from Somerset County, spent several days in Salisbury during the week.

DR. DICK'S MARRIAGE.

Wedded to Miss Louise Sudler of Fairmount in St. Stephens P. E. Church Wednesday of this Week.

The marriage ceremony of Dr. J. McFadden Dick of this city and Miss Louise Uphur Sudler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sudler of Somerset County, was solemnized last Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Stephens Church, Fairmount, the Rev. F. B. Adkins officiating. The church was elaborately decorated with palms, ferns, and chrysanthemums.

While the many relatives and friends were assembling a program of organ music was rendered by Mrs. Granville Dickinson of Fairmount. Promptly at eleven o'clock, while a chorus of lady voices rendered the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the wedding party entered. The ushers, Dr. W. G. Smith and Mr. E. C. Fulton of Salisbury, and Messrs. Charles and Samuel Sudler of Princess Anne, were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Sudler, sister of the bride. The bride entered with her brother, Mr. T. Howard Sudler, by whom she was given away, and was met at the foot of the chancel steps by the groom and his best man, Mr. W. P. Jackson of Salisbury. At the conclusion of the ceremony the minister presented the bride a beautiful Knight Templar pin studded with brilliants.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a tailor-made suit of blue broad cloth with hat to match and carried a white prayer book. She wore the gift of the groom, a handsome diamond brooch. The maid of honor wore a suit of cloth and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The groom, best man and ushers wore grey trousers, frock coats, grey gloves and white Ascot ties and boutonnières of white carnations. The gift of the groom to each of his attendants was a mistletoe pin set with a pearl.

Dr. and Mrs. Dick took the express at King's Creek for the north.

On Tuesday evening a large number of relatives were entertained at the hospitable home of the Misses Curtis, suits of the bride, when a genuine Eastern Shore supper was served at ten o'clock. In addition to the relatives, the following guests from Salisbury were present: Miss Emma Powell, Mr. W. P. Jackson, Dr. W. G. Smith and Mr. E. C. Fulton.

NEW TELEPHONE COMPANY

Organized in Salisbury on Thursday—
Mr. Walter B. Miller a Director.

The Maryland and Delaware Telegraph and Telephone Company of Wicomico County has been organized by the following persons: J. Kemp Stephens, Geo. L. Wallace, Charles E. Stevens, William H. Dewees and Fred R. Owens. The home office of the company will be at Salisbury. The capital stock is $100,000, divided into 4,000 shares. The directors are John Walter Smith, Thomas H. Bock, Walter B. Miller, Harry A. Richardson, William H. Baker, DuPont Walker and Fred R. Owens. The persons interested in this corporation now own the Salisbury Telephone Company, the Crisfield Company and controlling interest in the Snow Hill Telephone Company, whose lines extend over the State of Delaware, and with the Eastern Shore Telegraph and Telephone Company, which embraces Caroline, Dorchester, Talbot, Queen Anne's, Kent and Cecil counties, thus connecting the entire Peninsula except the two Eastern Shore counties of Virginia. There was a meeting of the directors in Salisbury Thursday for the purpose of electing officers.

At this meeting the entire capital stock was taken and there is none now on the open market. The following officials were elected: President, Harry A. Richardson, of Dover, Vice President, Gov. John Walter Smith, Secretary, Fred R. Owens and Manager, Wm. H. Baker.

Wicomico will be the home county of the company and its charter will be secured through the courts of this county.

The purpose of this new enterprise is to develop the long distance telephone system in Worcester, Somerset and Wicomico. It is the present intention, after this undertaking is accomplished, to finally merge the new organization into the Diamond State Telephone Company of Delaware. Many improvements are promised the public by this new combination.

—State Auditor, George R. Ash, who recently examined the books in both the Clerk's and Register's offices, states that they were in splendid condition. He complimented the officers very highly on their improved methods of keeping the records.

OUR FOREIGN POLICY.

Secretary of State, John Hay, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce in New York on Tuesday night. His remarks on that occasion are of unusual interest as he made public our future foreign policy under President Roosevelt. The gist of Mr. Hay's speech is as follows:
"The briefest expression of our rule of conduct is, perhaps, the Monroe Doctrine and the Golden Rule. With this simple chart we can hardly go far wrong."

I think that I may say that our sister Republics to the south of us are perfectly convinced of the sincerity of our attitude. We no more want their territory than we covet the Mountains of the Moon.

We have striven, on the lines laid down by Washington, to cultivate friendly relations with all powers, but not to take part in the formation of groups or combinations among them.

We have kept always in view the fact that we are pre-eminently a peace-loving people; that our normal activities are in the direction of trade and commerce. We believe that a fair field and no favor is all we require.

We consider our interests in the Pacific Ocean as great now as those of any other power and destined to indefinite expansion. Next in order will come a Pacific cable and an Isthmian canal.

The President to whom you have given your invaluable trust and confidence, like his now immortal predecessor, is as incapable of bullying a strong power as he is of wronging a weak one.

It is to be hoped that President Roosevelt will adhere to so plain and simple a chart as the Monroe Doctrine and the Golden Rule.

The Monroe Doctrine simply declares that any attempt by any European Power to oppress or control the destinies of any existing government on this side of the Atlantic Ocean would be regarded as a manifestation of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States. The Golden Rule says, "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you."

If the foreign Powers shall continue to respect the Monroe Doctrine and the Administration will follow the precept of the Golden Rule, we need have no fear of any serious breach in the pleasant relations that now exist between the United States and the rest of the world.

HOW ABOUT THE EASTERN SHORE.

We hear much these days from Baltimore City and Western Maryland papers about the next President of the Senate and Speaker of the House. Would it not be wise for these papers to take into their calculations a little more the part the Eastern Shore will play in choosing the Speaker at the coming session of the Legislature? When we glance at the returns, we find eighteen Democratic members of the House elected from the First Congressional District. This is equal to the delegation from Baltimore City. Here we find fifteen Republican members and three Democratic representatives, one of whom is being boomed for Speaker.

From the above figures it would seem that the Eastern Shore has a just claim for recognition, and we think when the smoke of the battle has cleared away, it will be found that her voice was the potent factor in the selection of a Speaker of the House for 1902.

HOWARD COUNTY WANTS SPEAKER-SHIP.

To those who are familiar with the qualifications of the members of the House of Delegates for Speaker there can be but one opinion.

The honor ought to go to John G. Rogers, of Howard county, an able man, a conservative man, and a man who sacrifices private interests to serve party.—Westminster Advocate.

Mostly Scissors And Paste.

A correspondent writing from the West says that the ranchman and cowboys never spoke of the President in former days as "Teddy," but always as "Mr. Roosevelt." The nick name has been bestowed upon him by the East.

It is delightful to be able to quote what is perhaps a new fish story from the New York Times Saturday Review. It is one which Mr. Frank Stockton tried on "John Paul."

A gentleman asked a question of a boy who was fishing. The boy mumbled an indistinct response.

"Why can't you speak plainer?" said the gentleman. "What have you in your mouth?"

"Wams, wams, fur bait," answered the boy.

"That was the first instance I ever knew," remarked Mr. Stockton in telling the story. "of anybody's really speaking with baited breath."

Scores of old barns in Ohio have floors and mangers of black walnut, put in 50 or 75 years ago, when the chief endeavor of the pioneer was to clear the dense forests for crops. So popular is black walnut furniture abroad that English and French agents buy even old barn timbers and fence rails. One of the few walnut groves left in Ohio was sold last month for export as lumber. The largest tree, eight feet in diameter at the stump, brought $1,300. In view of this fact Arbor Day suggests more than sentiment; it hints also at a financial investment. Young people who plant walnut groves or avenues may live to reap substantial profits from the timber thereof.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however, you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl Street, New York. 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

A NEW THING
The Elmardo Cigar

A rich mellow smoke and absolutely free from the injurious quality that causes so many physicians to forbid their patients from smoking the heavy nerve racking imported cigars. Each cigar contains a hundred and one puffs, the last one better than the first. Not one of those kind that you would take a few puffs and throw it away, but one that you would burn your fingers in order to get the last puff. It's a sure winner. Try it. They are 5 cents, 5 for a quarter, $1.50 a hundred at

THE NEGRO IN POLITICS.

Two Leaders Who Died in Poverty On The Eastern Shore.

The following article is from the pen of the talented correspondent of the Baltimore Sun at Easton, Md. Easton, Md., Nov. 18—Joseph H. Gray, a negro politician and stump speaker of Easton, was buried yesterday. His career, coupled with that of his sometime political colleague, the late Nace Hopkins, of Trappe, illustrates the fateful disappointments and failures of the smart country negro Republican politician.

The commencement of the Civil War found Joe Gray a trusted young slave on one of Dr. I. L. Adkins' plantations in Talbot county. He carried the keys, and not a bushel of corn ever disappeared from the granaries nor even a chicken from the poultry house. Gray enlisted in the Union army. Nothing definite is known of his military career, but he returned to his native country a freeman, of course. He was quick-witted, glib tongued and ready of speech. He was affable in manners, generous to his own people and never lost that politeness which one of the best of masters had carefully instilled into him.

When enfranchisement of the negroes came Gray went into politics, as a leader of his race; he also became a pension agent and had the ear of the Pension Bureau respecting war pensions to negroes in Talbot. This gave him great power among them. He took in charge for the white Republican leaders their campaigns for the colored voters. He was the best negro political stump speaker in Maryland; and but few of the white stump speakers in Talbot, if any, could equal him. Time and again he solidified the negroes against the Democrats and won victories for the white Republican leaders. In whatever way the Democrats thought they had caught some of the negro vote Joe Gray and Nace Hopkins would get up an emancipation celebration every November 1, and on election day there would be a solid negro Republican phalanx at the polls.

Two years ago Nace Hopkins died a pauper. Last Friday Joe Gray died in poverty and obscurity. The white Republicans whose chestnuts these two smart negroes pulled from the fire are enjoying such affluence and honors as successful politics make. When Nace Hopkins' little farm in Trappe, the pride of his heart, got into the hands of the Sheriff none of those for whom he had neglected his legitimate business to help in politics raised a finger nor jingled a dollar to save him. Joe Gray was arrested by a special agent of the Pension Bureau on a charge of fraud. It turned out there was nothing in the case. One of his own race, jealous of him, trumped up a charge, and when he could be heard he was promptly acquitted; but not one of the white Republicans for whom he had worked without reward would go bail for him for 24 hours, and Joe Gray had to spend a night in Easton jail. This broke the old man's heart. Some debts he had incurred in his campaigning for his white Republican brethren that they might, and did, get offices became liens on his comfortable home in Easton, and it went to the Sheriff. When this occurred there were white Talbot Republicans in office getting aggregate salaries of at least $10,000 a year, largely and mostly through the work of Joseph H. Gray and Nace Hopkins.

—The Harrington shirt factory that has been idle for some time, having proved a losing investment to the citizens of that town, has been leased to two ladies who re-opened it and will soon have forty machines running.

—Invitations have been sent out to the marriage of Miss Ella Wheatley and Mr. Glen Perdue. The ceremony will take place at Asbury M. E. Church Wednesday, November 27th at half after one o'clock.

—Captain Luther Phillips of Cambridge was seriously shot at Hoopers' Island last Saturday afternoon. Harry Ashley, the man who did the shooting and two other men identified with him were captured in the woods near Cambridge on Monday.

—Dogs are playing havoc with sheep in the upper part of Queen Anne county. W. Harrison Newman had four sheep killed one night recently. Since then Col. John H. Evans has lost two and Harry Tucker five fine sheep. The worthless dog is the greatest menace to the sheep interests of Maryland.

—Dr. Harry Wallis of this city left Wednesday for Cumberland where he has formed a partnership with Dr. Claybrook for the practice of medicine. Dr. Wallis took his examination last week before the State Board of Medical Examiners and has received his certificate.

—There will be a special meeting of the City Council on next Monday evening. The object of the meeting is to give the citizens of the town an opportunity to express their views as to the advisability of the Council appropriating about $2000 for the repairing of one of the fire engines which, in its present condition, is useless. The Board is desirous of knowing the sentiment of the community on this important matter.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not do without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." Miss Ada Dorr, Sidney, Iowa.

Does it Pay To Be Honest?

Does it pay to be honest? It does. No beating about the bush—when you ask Lacy Thoroughgood for facts about this Suit, that Overcoat, or those Trousers, you are told facts. Thoroughgood tells you exactly what a piece of goods is, how it will wear, how it will hold color. Thoroughgood may tell you that some cotton in certain cloths will give them better looks and longer wear. You are told that "shoddy," although all wool is bad for service as a spoiled egg—that no matter how nice the outside is the inside part is what counts. Does all this honestly pay? It does. People have confidence in what Thoroughgood tells them—the stranger of today is the old customer of the future. That is why Thoroughgood does three times as much business as any other store in the Clothing and Hat business in Salisbury. Do you know the Secret? The secret of it is plain as the nose on your face—Honest Clothing, Honest Hats, all of them, honest prices, all of them. These two things are the pepper and salt of Thoroughgood's business:—Quality and Price. Please understand that Thoroughgood never loses sight of Quality no matter how low the price. By the way, there's only one right size for you and Lacy Thoroughgood has it. Listen, Men's Stylish Suits, $8.50, $8.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and up. THE ANGEL OF HOPE

Washington, Nov. 17.-In this discourse Dr. Talmage would lift people out of despondency and bring something of future joy into earthly depression. The text is Hebrews vi, 19, "Which hope."

There is an Atlantic ocean of depth and fullness in the verse from which my text is taken; and I only wade into the wave at the beach and take two words: "We all have favorite words expressive of delight or abhorrence, words that easily find their way into our hearts and minds, and words that are dearer to us than diamonds. In all the lexicons and vocabularies there are few words that have for me the attractions of the last word of my text, "Which hope."

There have in the course of our life been many angels of God that have looked over our shoulders, or met us on the way, when Christian hope is born. There will be chanting in the skies and a star pointing to the Nativity. I will not bother you with the hulk of a definition and tell you what hope is. When we sit down hungry at a table, we do not want an analytical discourse as to what bread it is. Hand it out; pass it round; give us a slice of it. John speaks of hope as a "pure hope." Peter calls it a "lively hope." Paul styles it a "good hope," a "sure hope," "rejoicing hope." All up and down the Bible it is spoken of as an anchor, as a harbor, as a helmet, as a door.

An Ample Deposit. When we draw a check on a bank, we must have reference to the amount of money we have deposited; but Hope makes a draft on a bank to which her benefit all heaven has been deposited. Hope! May it light up every dungeon, stand by every sickbed, lend a helping hand to every orphanage, loosen every chain, careen every forlorn-soul and turn the unnumbered rooms of the almshouse into the vestibule of heaven! How suggestive that mythology declares that when all other deities fled the earth the goddess Hope remained!

It was hope that revived John Knox when on shipboard near the coast of Scotland he was fearfully ill, and he was requested to look shoreward and asked if he knew the village near the coast, and the answer was "No, but I know the people of that place where God first opened my mouth in public to his glory, and I am fully persuaded how weak that ever I now appear I shall not depart this life till my tongue shall glorify his holy name in the same place." His hope was rewarded, and for twenty-five more years he preached. That is the hope which sustained Mr. Morrell of Norwich when departing this life at seventy-two years of age he declared of the angels that he desired the secrets of eternity before tomorrow morning. That was the kind of hope that the corporal had in the battle when, after several standard-bearers had fallen, he seized the flag and turned to a lieutenant colonel and said, "If I fall, my dear wife, that I die with a good hope in Christ and that I am glad to give my life for my country." That was the hope that sustained Dr. Goodwin when his last hour when he said: "Ah, in this death how have I dreaded as an enemy this smiling friend!"

Philippe de Mornay, prime minister of Henry IV, when asked in his last hours whether he was certain of eternal felicity, replied: "I am so confident of it from the incalculability of the spirit of God as never to be an unmathematical truth from all the demonstrations of Euclid." That was the hope that cheered the converted native of the island of Aimepe, when he said in his last moment: "The cause is on the side; sails are spread; all is ready for the gale. I have a good pilot to guide me and a good haven to receive me."

No better medicine did a man ever take than hope. It is a stimulant, a febrifuge, a tonic, a cathartic. Those who feel poor by long-continued sorrow will find it is being lifted today but for the reason they let hope slip their grasp. I have known people live on hope after one lung was gone and disease had seemed to lay hold of every nerve and muscle and artery and bone.

Alexander the Great, starting for the wars in Persia, divided his property among the Macedonians. He gave a wife to one, a port to another, a field to another and all his estate to his friends. Then Perdiccas asked, "What have you kept for yourself?" He answered triumphantly, "Hope." And whatever else you give away, we must keep for ourselves hope—all comforting, all cheering hope. It is the heart of every man, woman and child that beats of with this season may God implant this principle right now.

Assurance of Heaven. "Many have full assurance that all is right with the soul. They are as free of heaven as if they had passed the pearly panels of the gate, as though they were already seated in the temple of God, calling the libretto of the heavenly chorister. I congratulate all such. I wish I had full assurance; but with me it is hope. "Which hope." Sinful it expects forgiveness; troubled, it expects relief; bereft, it expects remedy; deep down, it expects wings to lift; shipwrecked, it expects lifeboats; bankrupt, it expects riches; a prodigal, it expects the wide open door of the father's farmhouse. It does not wait itself out by looking backward; it always looks forward. What is the use of giving so much time to the rehearsal of the past? Your mistakes are not corrected by a review. Your losses cannot be brooding over them, be turned into gains. It is the future that has the most for us, and hope cheers us on. We have all committed blunders, but does the calling of the roll of them make them any the less blunders? Look ahead in all matters of usefulness. However much you may have accomplished for God and the world's betterment, your greatest usefulness is to come. "No," says some one, "my health is gone." "No," says another, "my money is gone." "No," says some one, "the most of my years are gone and therefore my usefulness." Why, you talk like an infidel. Do you suppose that all your capacity to do good is fenced in by this life? Are you going to be a loner and do nothing after you have quit this world? It is my business to tell you that your faculties are to be enlarged and identified and your qualifications for usefulness multiplied tenfold, a hundredfold, a thousandfold.

Do you see health? There is a sign that you are to enjoy a celestial health compared with which the most joyous and hilarious vitality of earth is invalid. Are your fortunes spent? Remember you are to be kings and queens unto God and how much more wealth you will have when you reign forever and ever. I want to see you when you get your "morning work done." This little bit of a speck of a world we call earth is only the place where we get ready to work. We are only journeymen here, but will be master workmen there. Heaven will have no loafers hanging around. The book says of the inhabitants, "They rest not day nor night." Why rest when they work without fatigue? Why seek a pillow when there is no night there? I want to see you after the pedestal of earth has been exchanged for power of flight and velocities infinite and enterprises interstellar, interworld.

I suspect that the telescope of that observatory brings in sight constellations that may comprise ruined worlds which need looking after and need help saintly and missionary. There may be worlds that, like ours, have sinned and need to be rescued, perhaps saved by our Christ or by some plan that God has thought out for other worlds as wise, as potent, as lovely, as the atonement is for our world. The business which has cursed us in this world will not gain the land of eternal activities—so much tonic in the air, so much inspiration in the society, so much achievement after we get the shackles of the flesh forever off. Do not dwell so much on opportunities past, but put your emphasis on opportunities to come. Do not count the battles lost, but secure your market victories to come.

Free From Limitations. Am I not right in saying that eternity can do more for us than earth time? What if we were not able to do when our powers of locomotion shall be quickened into the immortal spirit's speed? Why should a bird have a swiftness of wing when it is of so importance how long it shall take to make its aerial way from forest to forest and we, who have so much more important errand in the world, get on so slowly? The sockbock outruns us, the hounds are quicker in the chase, the new inventions are swifter in their work, the limitations and hindrances. Then we will fairly begin. The starting post will be the tombstone. Leaving the world will be graduation day before the chief work of our mental and spiritual career. Hope sees the doors opening, the victor's foot in stirrup for the mounting. The day breaks—first flush of the horizon. The mission of hope will be an everlasting success, as much of it in the here as in the hereafter as in the earth as in the heaven. Shall we have gained all as soon as we enter realms celestial—nothing more to learn, no other heights to climb, no new anthems to raise, a monotony of existence, the same thing over and over again, for endless years? No! More progress in that world than we ever made in this. Hope will stand on the hills of heaven and look for ever-brightening landscapes, other transmutations of color, new inventions of the new, new celebrations of victories in other worlds, heaven rising into grander heavens, seas of glass mingled with fire, becoming a more brilliant glass mingled with a more flaming fire. "Which hope."

Now let me introduce this feeling into the lives of some who are at times hopeless. There is a family whose son has gone wrong. Father and mother have about given him up, his room is empty, and the old folks do not know what the story of moral precipitation. He has ceased writing home, but they hear of him through people who like to carry bad news, and every time the report is more deplorable. He swears, he gambles, he drinks, he goes into all the shambles of sin. His former employer says there is no hope for him, and all outside the family agree. Some day or some night he will walk back to his infamous practices. Something will happen to him, as happened in a New York hotel to a son of one of the most distinguished clergymen of Scotland and one of the queen's chaplains. "When can I see you?" said a distinguished looking young man at the close of one of my services in Brooklyn tabernacle. "No," I said, "I can see you now." He said, "No; I want a private conversation with you at your own house. When can I come?" I said, "Tomorrow night." "Your name?" I asked. He gave me his name, the exact name of his father, whose name was known and is known through the Christian world, though years ago he departed this life. Returning home, I took up a book of which his father was the author, and in the picture at the opening of the book I found that the young man had most markedly his father's features. So I was sure there was no deception.

Return of Lost Sheep. On the following evening he came. He said that he was the black sheep of the family flock. He had wandered the world over and been in all kinds of wickedness, but a few nights before, after reading a letter from his mother in Scotland, he had retired for sleep, but in the adjoining room he heard some young men in such horrible conversation he could not sleep. He was shocked as had never before been by the talk of bad men. He arose, struck a light, took out the letter from his mother and read it by his bedside and said, "O Lord, God of my mother, have mercy on me!" He said that since that prayer he was entirely changed and loved what he before hated and hated what he before loved and asked what I thought it all meant. I replied, "You have become a Christian." He said he might be called at any time to leave the city. I never saw him again, but it seemed to me that he had turned his back upon his wicked past and had started in the right direction. And it may be so with your boy, Write him often. Tell him how you are all thinking of him at home, and it may be, your letter in hand, he may call upon his mother's God to help and save him. Hope, you of the gray hairs and wrinkles! Heaven has its thousands of souls who were once as thoroughly wrong as your boy is. They repented, and they are with the old folks in the healthy air of the young hills, where they may become young again. Hope on, and, though you may never hear of your son's reformation and others may think he has left this life hopeless, who knows but that in the last moment, after he has ceased to speak and before his soul launches away, your prayer may have been answered and he be one of the first to meet you at the shining gate. The prodigal in the parable that had sat down at the feast, the older brother, who never left the old place, stood putting at the back door and did not go in at all.

God's Instruments. Those pessimists do not realize that two inventions of our times are going to make it possible unto God to bring this whole world into salvable and millennial condition within a few weeks after those two inventions shall be turned into the service of God and righteousness as they will be. I refer to the telegraph and the telephone. If you think that God allowed those two inventions to be made merely to get rapid information concerning the price of railroad stocks or to call up a friend and make with him a business engagement, you have a very abbreviated idea of what can be done and will be done with those two instruments. The intelligence of the world is to be expanded, and civilization will overcome barbarism, and illiteracy will be extirpated, and the promise will be literally fulfilled, "A nation born in a day."

Let Hope be to the foreboding: Do all you can with Bible and spelling book and philosophic apparatus, but toll with the sunlight in your faces or your efforts will be a failure. The pallor in the sky is not another phase of the night, but the first sign of approaching day, which is to come as tonight will be followed with tomorrow. Things are not going to ruin. The Lord's hosts are not going to be drowned in the Red sea of trouble. Miriam's timbrel will play on the high banks "Israel Delivered." High hope for the home! High hope for the church! High hope for the world!

I introduce the angel of Hope to those who have through devious lost Christian friends, "How could I find them?" says a bereft soul, "up there in the land of the multitudinous?" You may find them by inquiry, by heavenly escort and by un-failing memory of the guard at the gate. "And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, having the glory of God, and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper stone, clear as crystal, and had a wall great and high and had twelve gates and at the gates twelve angels. So you see, there will be an angel guarding each gate. As you go in ask the armed guard. He saw your loved one pass through and will know the direction to take and by what fountain or in what street of gold is the mansion prepared. The blessed Christ knows where your departed loved one is, and he will tell you if no one else will. Fifty ways of finding out the whereabouts of your ascended one. "But will I surely know him when I get there, for he will be so changed?" Yes, for you will be just as much changed, and the old affinity will assert itself. The soul will be as easily distinguished by soul there as on earth the body is distinguished by the body.

Angel of Hope is Near. Open that closed instrument of music in your parlor that has not been played on since the hand of the departed player forgot its cunning. Put up before you on the music board the notes of the hymn of Isaac Watts and sing "There is a Land of Pure Delight" or James Montgomery's hymn, "Who Are These in Bright Array" or Florence Bennett's "Sweet Bye and Bye" or "Jerusalem the Golden City" or "Mount Pisgah." While you play and sing the angel of Hope will stand by you and turn the leaves and join in the rapturous rendering. Reunion with the loved and lost! Everlasting reunion! No farewell at the door of any mansion! No goodbye at any of the twelve gates! No more dark apparel of mourning, but white robe of exaltation! Hope now is on its knees, with face uplifted, but Hope there will be on tiptoe or beckoning you to follow, saying: "Come and hear the choir sing! Come and see the procession march! Come and see the river of life roll! Come with me over the hills that rise into everlasting heights." Celestial Alps and Himalayas hoisted into other Alps and Himalayas!

From this hour cultivate hope. Do so by reading all the Scriptural promises of the world's coming Eden, and more particularly if you dare the veracity of the Almighty when he says he will make the desert blossom, and the leopard and the kid will lie down in the same pasture field, and the lion, ceasing to be carnivorous, will become graminivorous, eating "straw like an ox," and reptilian venom shall change into harmlessness, so that the "weaned child shall put his hand on the cooekster's den, and there shall be nothing to hurt or destroy in all God's holy mountain, for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." So much for the world at large.

Then cultivate hope in regard to your own health, your own financial prosperity, your own longevity, by seeing how in other people God mercifully reverses things and brings to pass the unexpected, remembering that Washington lost more battles than he gained, but triumphed at the last, and, further, by making sure of your eternal safety through Christ Jesus, understand that you are on the way to palaces and thrones. This life is a span long, ending in durations of bliss that cannot be measured or estimated—redolence of a springtime that never ends and fountains toasting in the light of a sun that never sets. May God thrill us with anticipation of this immortal life! "Which hope."

I said in the opening of this subject that my text was only the wave on the beach, while the whole sea from which it is taken is an ocean. But the ocean tides are coming in, and the sea is getting so deep I must fall back, wading out as I waded in, for what mortal can stand before the mighty surges of the full tide of eternal gladness? "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard; neither hath entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits.

It is used by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free! also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women.

The freshness, the charms, the brilliancy which in youth are so much to be desired, are in a shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect.

Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its firmness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Peyton Brown, the Johnsonville arsenic well borer, is now boring for copper at various places on Elder, S. F. Repp's farm, near Johnsville. Mr. Brown has been at work there for the past year or more, and the company has gotten Mr. Brown to prospect with his augers, and it is said that he has struck copper, in every hole made.

The Children's Friend.

You'll have a cold this winter. Maybe you have one now. Your children will suffer too. For coughs, croup, bronchitis, grip, whooping, winter complaints, One Minute Cough Cure never fails. Acts promptly. It is very pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. C. B. George Winchester, Ky., writes "Our little girl was attacked with croup late one night and was so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately and she went to sleep. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup." Dr. L. D. Collier.

The Washington Marble Company, which has leased the Shipler quarries at Eagle's Mills, Washington county, is making extensive preparations to operate the quarries on a large scale. Marble from these quarries will be used in the construction of the new mansion to be erected by Senator Clark.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best sellers." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudinous maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Albert Lotman, of Elkton, about to go after rabbits early in the morning, went to sleep with the gun by his bed side. During his slumber he dreamed of plenty of game and took up his gun and fired at his feet, thinking them a rabbit. The shot entered his right foot, which will have to be amputated.

"Some years ago while at Martinsburg, W. Va., I was taken with cholera morbus, which was followed by diarrhoea. The doctor's medicine did me no good. I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I did, and it cured me sound and well.—G. A. MORGAN, Embreeville, Pa. Sold by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Great Luck of an Editor.

"For two years all efforts to cure Eczema in the palms of my hands failed," writes Editor H. N. Lister, of Syracuse, Kan., "then I was wholly cured by Buchen's Arnica Salve." It's the world's best for Eruptions, Sores and all skin diseases. Only 25c at R. K. Truitt's.

Modern Surgery Surpassed.

"While suffering from a bad case of piles I consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve," says G. F. Carter, Atlanta, Ga. "I procured a box and was entirely cured. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a splendid cure for piles, giving relief instantly and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." Surgery is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure any case. Cuts, burns, bruises and all other wounds are also quickly cured by it. Beware of counterfeits. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Three masked men broke into the residence of David Wagner, a bachelor farmer, near Meyerdale, Tuesday night, and after beating him and his sister stole $300. The robbers said they had been told that Wagner had just received $5,000 for the sale of coal lands.

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did," says County Physician Geo. W. Scroggs of Hall County, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. You can prevent this by dieting but that means starvation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer from neither dyspepsia nor starvation. The worst cases quickly cured. Never fails. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Washington county has not had rain for six weeks, and complaints are heard on all sides of the dryness of the ground and the short supply of water. The Potomac in places is so low that one can walk on the stones in its bed from one shore to the other.

To The Public.

Allow me to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I can recommend it with the utmost confidence. It has done good work for me and will do the same for others. I had a very severe cough and cold and feared I would get pneumonia, but after taking the second dose of this medicine I felt better, three bottles of it cured my cold and the pains in my chest disappeared entirely. I am most respectfully yours for health. RALPH S. MEYERS, 64 Thirtieth St., Wheeling, W. Va. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

THE GUNNING SEASON.

Birds are Plentiful But Rabbits are Scarce. Mr. Fox to Blame.

For some days past our local sportsmen have been having a royal good time dealing death and destruction to game in Wicomico. Mr. and Mrs. Bob White seem to be entertaining more this year in this county than their friends Mr. and Mrs. Cotton-tail. While the former are furnishing great amusement and sport to those who enjoy it they are getting decidedly the worst end of the entertainment. Judging from the number of partridges hanging about the stores and proudly exhibited by our gunners their host and hostess must be left in tears.

It has been a long time since our sportsmen have enjoyed the luxury of so big a partridge season. It was feared that the snow storm of two years ago, which caused the death of entire coveys in a bunch, would result almost in a death of birds for a few years. That severe storm was followed, however, by two good breeding seasons and the lovers of birds helped them spend a comfortable winter last year by clearing away the snow and scattering food to them, where they otherwise would have starved. Now, our grateful feathered friends have returned the kindness by following the dictates of the scriptures—multiply and replenish the earth—disregarding the other text—"eat drink and be merry for tomorrow thou shalt die."

Rabbits are not so plentiful. In fact, those wishing a good rabbit hunt have been compelled to visit Dorchester. It is quite a common occurrence for rabbit hunters in Wicomico to spend half a day roving our fields and through forests and return hot and hungry without getting a shot. This scarcity is attributed to several causes, but the one most popular among sportsmen is foxes. Some go so far as to say we will never have another good rabbit season if something is not done with the foxes.

Salisbury Light, Heat and Power Company, Incorporated—History of Wicomico Falls Electric Light Plant.

The Salisbury Light, Heat and Power Co., which has purchased from R. M. and W. T. Johnson the Wicomico Electric light plant, was incorporated by Bennett & Douglass at their office on Tuesday last. The gentlemen comprising the corporation are Louis Dalmas, a Philadelphia capitalist, Benj. C. Warnick of the firm of Benj. C. Warnick & Co., Bond dealers of Philadelphia, William J. Robinson, General Manager of The Provident Realty Co., Philadelphia, Felix Dalmas, an electric engineer, formerly Manager of the Electric Light & Traction Co. at San Jose, Costa Rica, C. A., Samuel R. Douglas, of the firm of Bennett & Douglass and Senator M. V. Brewington, both of the city of Salisbury.

In an interview these gentlemen said, "We know of no town with more natural advantages than Salisbury. Nature has certainly done everything to make this location an ideal one for a large and progressive city. The Railroad connections are all that could be desired and the water facilities in view of the equalization of freight rates, and ready access to the large markets of the Atlantic Seaboard, present an opportunity for large and healthy development which is not presented by many cities of much larger population. Manufacturers are getting away from crowded, congested centers, thereby escaping high rents, excessive taxation, and labor disturbances. If Salisbury were to call attention to her natural advantages through the Metropolitan press, and personal interview, without question there would flock to her gates numbers of manufacturers who are today seeking exactly what this city has to offer."

The gentlemen who have bought the electric light plant promise to bring the light plant up to a high state of efficiency and give both day and night service in power and light if sufficient demand will warrant doing so.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000, and there will be an issue of 5% 20 year gold bonds placed to develop the plant and put in a heating system, as well as to light some adjacent territory. These bonds are a first mortgage on all this property, real, personal and mixed, at present owned or hereafter to be acquired. With so much capital seeking investment at four and four and one half per cent., it would seem that an investment in these securities on a home industry would be very attractive to local capital.

Mr. Felix Dalmas will take entire charge of the plant and will move his family to town in the near future. We bespeak for these enterprising gentlemen the heartiest co-operation of the citizens of Salisbury.

HISTORY OF ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

The introduction of electricity in our city for lighting purposes was in the year 1887 by the incorporation of the "Salisbury Electric Light & Power Company" by Preston Lee and other Wilmington capitalists. The location of the plant at that time was on mill street near the site where the water works are now located. This modern improvement was ushered into our midst just as Salisbury was emerging from the disastrous conflagration which swept the business portion as well as a large residential portion of our town in 1886, and the spirit of progress and enterprise not having engrafted itself as thoroughly into our system as it has today, the territory and opportunities were not as great as they are at present but nevertheless this original company supplied our needs and planted the seed of progress in this line under difficulties and handicaps, but as the needs of the town required and public opinion exacted it has extended its branches until today it is among the largest private industries of our city. This corporation operated the electric light plant exclusively by steam power from its formation until the early part of 1893 when it met the same fate as had our city just before it was established in our midst, and the corporation after their disaster by the fire deemed it advisable to dispose of their interest in the pole and wire line which interspersed our city and also their rights, privileges and franchises. The property with all its rights, etc. were acquired by Richard M. Johnson and William T. Johnson of Milford and Dover, Del., respectively. These gentlemen were among the earliest successful pioneers of electric lighting on the Peninsula having established the Edison plant at Milford in 1887 and operated the same until the year 1891 and at this time they also made arrangements to put in first-class water works and made the City Council the unprecedented offer of fire plugs at $10 per year per piece but the city not desiring to establish water works under private ownership and also desiring that all these public benefits and utilities should be owned and controlled by the town, purchased the electric light plant of the Messrs. Johnson and combined the water and lighting in one system. These gentlemen's attention was called to our city after the destruction of the old electric light plant and upon investigation of our natural resources and the excellent opportunities which were presented for wide-awake men and recognizing the intrinsic worth of the magnificent water power at the famous Wicomico Falls which is second only to the Brandywine on the Peninsula, they purchased the same of the trustees of Gordon H. Toadvine and after making extensive improvements established the Electric Light Plant at the Falls. These practical changes destroyed forever the beauty and romance of the famous Wicomico Falls and cast a shadow of gloom over the hearts of the many young lovers who resorted thither at shades of twilight. But cold, heartless business having no respect for our romantic ideas saw in these Falls a great motive power which could be utilized to advantage both for its owners and to the city. By its natural resources and power they could give to the citizens of Salisbury efficient lighting at a far cheaper rate than they could otherwise. It is a demonstrated fact that these gentlemen have served us well and have given us efficient lighting in harmony with the progress of the town at as cheap a rate as any other plant on the peninsula.

In handing over the business and affairs of the plant into the hands of its present owners, we feel sure that the same regard for public advancement and public wishes will be the dominant principle of the new corporation. It is the intention of its new owners to make extensive improvements in the facilities for lighting and also along other lines. We hope that the efforts of these gentlemen will meet the hearty co-operation of the citizens of the town.

This is the largest deal of a private character that has been made on the peninsula for some time, the consideration being $41,000. The law firm of Bennett and Douglass of our city engineered the deal and prepared the necessary legal papers in the case. The sale was made through the real-estate agency of Mr. Samuel P. Woodcock. We understand from Mr. Bennett that he encountered some very interesting experiences in securing an abstract of the title from the records of Somerset County. The property is composed of parts of several tracts of land which was patented by different persons. The first tract that was taken up was known as "Corkland" and was granted to Richard Jefferson by patent dated June 1st, 1683. Other tracts were added from time to time by the names of "Pemberton's Good Will," "Partners Good Luck," "Eiba," "John's Chance" and "New Haven."

Parts of the land adjacent to the mills under the above named patents passed through the hands of the Vinton's (now Vincent), Dennis's, Polk's, Handys, Winders, Haynes, Baylys (hence the name of Baylys Mills, which it bears to this date) all of which are familiar family names of Somerset and Dorchester. When in 1845 it was devised by Josiah Bayly and afterward conveyed by Josiah Bayly, Jr., to Humphrey Humphreys and Cathell Humphreys and the former purchasing the right, title and interest of the latter in said Mills held the same until his death when it was devised by his will to Randolph Humphreys and Gordon H. Toadvine. Gordon H. Toadvine having become owner in fee by a deed of the moiety from Randolph Humphreys, the same was sold to R. M. and W. T. Johnson by the trustees of Gordon H. Toadvine. No property in the county has a better chain of titles than the above mentioned.

We hope that the achievements and success of its past illustrious owners will be perpetuated in the management of its present incumbents and that they will branch out and make it a system of lighting and motive power unequalled by our larger cities.

The Maryland State Horticultural Society will hold its Annual Meeting at DuShane Hall, Baltimore, December 15th and 16th. It is expected that the exhibit of fresh fruit will form one of the leading features of the meeting. Further information concerning matters relating to the Society may be obtained by addressing H. P. PERDUE—WHEATLEY.

A Pretty Marriage Solemnized at Asbury M. E. Church Wednesday.

Mr. Glen Perdue and Miss Ella Wheatley were married Wednesday Nov. 27th, at half after one o'clock at Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, the pastor Rev. Chas. A. Hill, officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with potted plants and palms, being arranged about the pulpit and altar.

The ushers were Mr. Charles King of Laurel, Mr. L. Atwood Bennett, Mr. Alexander D. Toadvine, and Mr. Harvey B. Morris. The bride entered, following the ushers, with her bridesmaid, Miss Mollie Laws, and was met at the altar by the groom, who had entered from the side door with his best man, Ernest C. Turner. Miss Clara C. Waiton played the wedding march.

The bride was gowned in a handsome traveling suit of blue broad cloth, hat to match, and carried bride roses. Miss Laws wore green and carried a lovely bouquet of pink roses. The groom and other gentlemen of the party wore striped trousers, black cutaway coats, white ties and gray gloves. Their boutonnières were white carnations. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Perdue left on the two o'clock express for a short bridal trip north. On their return they will begin housekeeping in the house recently vacated by Mr. V. Perry, on High Street.

Mr. Perdue is manager of the Farmers and Planters Co., this city. The bride has been a successful teacher in the public schools of the county for several years.

Thanksgiving Services.

Union Thanksgiving Services were held Thursday morning at eleven o'clock in Wicomico Presbyterian Church, this city.

Rev. Mr. Lennox, pastor of Division Street Baptist Church was preacher of the occasion and delivered a very interesting sermon from the text, "For even Christ our pasover, is sacrificed for us," being a part of seventh verse of the fifth chapter of first Corinthians. Quite a large congregation was present to join in praises and thanksgiving to our Creator for the many benefits which we receive at His hand. Other ministers present and who assisted in the services were, Dr. T. E. Martindale, Rev. S. J. Smith, Rev. Chas. A. Hill, Dr. Judkins and Dr. S. W. Reigart.

The music was very fine. Mrs. J. D. Wallop was organist, and the choir rendered two beautiful anthems. Those who composed the choir were, Dr. Spring, Prof. W. T. Dashiell, Mr. Fred Adkins, Mr. V. S. Gordy, Mr. A. J. Benjamin, Mrs. Spring, Mrs. J. D. Williams, Mrs. W. S. Gordy, and Miss Nancy Gordy.

The services closed with the singing of our National Anthem, "My Country 'Tis of Thee," in which all the congregation heartily joined.

Bonds—Trait.

Miss Beale Truitt, daughter of the late Zedekiah Truitt of Snow Hill, and Mr. Wm. F. Bounds, were married Thursday morning at seven o'clock in the O. S. Baptist Meeting House of this city, Elder A. B. Francis officiating.

The ushers were Mr. Augustus Toadvine and Mr. Frank Holloway. Miss Truitt's mother having died only a few weeks ago, the wedding was a quiet one and there were no other attendants. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of blue broadcloth and carried white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bounds left on the early train for Baltimore, and from there went on a trip to Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Bounds is a well known contractor and builder of this community, and is a member of our City Council.

CORN SELLING HIGH.

More Than an Average Crop in Wicomico But not Much Coming to Market.

Now that the farmers of the county have housed the greater part of their corn crop estimates of this year's yield may be closely approximated. Figures are not available just now, but it is agreed on all sides that the 1901 crop is unusually large and of the finest quality. A few fields were injured during the growing season by excessive rains, but the extent of the damage is insignificant and does not affect materially the total yield for the county.

The acreage in Wicomico this year was not larger than in former years, but there are so many acres of Wicomico land which yields more of all crops now than ever before. This is especially true of the high light lands west of Salisbury where the growing of the legumes—scarlet clover and cow peas, is established and revolutionizing agriculture. Where these crops are now grown the corn yield following is increased all the way from one third to two thirds over the yield under the old conditions, and in some instances the crop has doubled as a result of one preceding crop of the legumes. Though the farmers of the county have grown this year more of the great staple, corn, than is necessary for their requirements and the prices are better than in any season for the last ten years, they are not bringing much to the market, the dealers say. Messrs. B. L. Gillis & Son of this city, large buyers, say this is due to the easy and comfortable circumstances of the farmers, who got good prices last season for their fruits and vegetables thus enabling them to pay off old accounts and still have a balance. Being so favorably fixed they are able to hold their surplus crop for the top of the market. Just at what figure will be best to sell cannot now be stated. New corn started this season at 80 cents, the highest for years. The merchants are now paying 55 cents per bushel. It is retailing at 60 cents. It may rise higher, but this is only problematical. However, as the drought in the great corn belt of the west last summer ruined the crop there the reasonable view is that the eastern farmer may expect even higher prices than the present market.

Not Endorsed by The Service.

Mr. N. B. Rich, Superintendent of the Life Saving Service, of the 6th district, with headquarters at Daugherty, Va., has sent out the following letter:

A concern calling itself the "Ex-U. S. Life Savers National Benefit Association" has been incorporated under the laws of Maine for the alleged purpose of publishing and selling a history of the United States Life Saving Service.

It has been learned that agents sent out by this concern are soliciting subscriptions in various parts of the country, professing that the money obtained is to be used for the benefit of ex-life-savers of the United States Life Saving Service and their families.

Neither the Life-Saving Service nor any of its officers has any thing to do with the project or any connection whatever with it. Such being the case it is hardly possible that this alleged history can be authentic or of any value as nearly all the material for work of the kind is in the possession of the service.

The whole affair seems to be a money making scheme for the promoters.

Eggs Becoming Scarce.

"What will you think, in a few days you may be asked 45 cents per dozen for eggs?" was the question of a farmer in King street market on Saturday to a customer, says the Wilmington Evening News. He explained that the chickens were not laying many eggs and that agents were canvassing through the country and purchasing all the stock they could find, and paying good prices, ranging from 25 to 30 cents per dozen, and carting them off with no loss or breakage to the farmer. The feeding of corn at present prices makes the cost of eggs much greater than for several years, but the real cause of the advance is the demand and scarcity.

DO YOU KNOW THE SECRET?

THREE TIMES the busiest store in Salisbury. The secret of it is as plain as the nose on your face—honest Clothing—all of it; honest Hats, all of them; honest Prices, all of them. These two things are the pepper and salt of this business—quality and price. Please understand that Lacy Thoroughgood never loses sight of the quality, no matter how low the price.

LACY Thoroughgood never forgets that the best business policy is the policy that gives you a full money's worth. It is well worth your while coming, if only to learn why so many men in and out of Salisbury put such absolute faith in Thoroughgood's Clothing. By the way, there is only one right size for you, and Lacy Thoroughgood has it.

Men's Stylish Suits, $10.

Can't make much money on these suits at $10,—but they are too good to keep quiet about. Lacy Thoroughgood picked out the best cloths and patterns he could find—fancy mixed cheviots in black, blue, brown and olive green, and had them made up into the smartest suits of the year. The coat is a four-buttoned sack with round corners, double stitched quarter inch lapped seam, and is lined with double warp serge. The vest is high cut and six buttoned, with or without collar. The trousers are cut medium style in legs, with quarter inch welted side seams. Buy one, take it around town, compare it—material, make and finish, bring it back any day and get your money—unless you'd rather have the suit.

Men's Swagger Overcoats, $12.50

Did you ever see such long swell Overcoats in your life? Did you ever see such excellent Coats for the money? and the style of them! Big, and roomy, and cut long with no seam in the back. Some with peak lapels, vertical pockets, raw edges double stitched, lined with substantial Italian cloth silk velvet collar. Men of conservative ideas, shorter coats for the same money are here. Overcoats, hundreds of them, any length, any color, any price, any quality except common, are for sale at Lacy Thoroughgood's store. Those men who don't see Thoroughgood's Overcoats are apt to think he exaggerates when he says that he will sell overcoats this winter for less money than he ever did. Thoroughgood has Men's and Boy's Overcoats at every price from $5 to $18.50

Men's Stylish Suits $15

These $15.00 suits from every view point are worth $20.00 and that is not saying more than Thoroughgood is absolutely sure of. Prove it. How? By comparison. Comparison is the surest test of value. Four button round corner coat, cut military style and made with stationary front—the stationary front keeps the coat in shape when unbuttoned, won't let it wrinkle or sag. The vest is the greatest novelty you ever saw, one side of it is like the coat and pants and the other side is a beautiful silk vest. The trousers are made with quarter inch side, welted seams. The result is the best ready-to-wear twenty dollar suit that can be produced—with a large variety of patterns and cloths to humor particular men. The price of these suits is $15.00 but they are $20.00 values. Haven't said a word about that stylish two buttoned double breasted coat with pants and vest to match. There'll be a big demand for them. Lacy Thoroughgood has them right now.

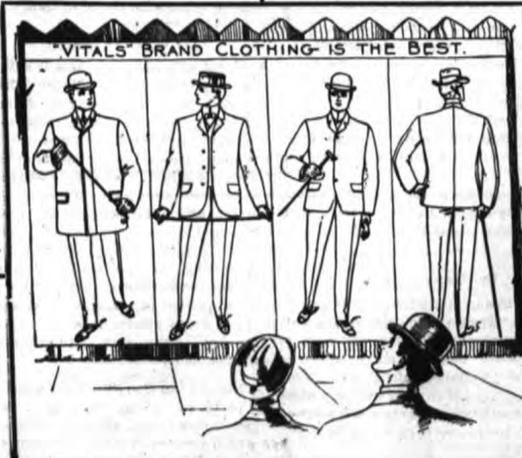

CLOTHES AND THE BOY

Do you forever want to be sewing seams? Do you want to always be putting on buttons? Don't you want to buy Boy's Clothing that is made properly? Did you ever buy a Boy's Suit from Thoroughgood that ever ripped? Did the buttons ever come off? Well now such good clothes as Thoroughgood sells are not sold everywhere. Thoroughgood's prices on Boy's Suits and Boy's Overcoats are as reasonable as anybody's but the suits are better for the same money. Thoroughgood has Children's Suits for $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $5 and higher. Buy your next Boy's Suit or Boy's Overcoat at Thoroughgood's.

Men's Stylish Suits, $12.50.

Here is the best $12.50 suit Thoroughgood has ever had, and that means better than you can get anywhere else for $12.50. No bother over the tailor or the style, you can put it right on, see how it looks and Thoroughgood guarantees the fit. Fancy unfinished worsteds, brown effect with the faintest kind of a white or black stripe running through. It is the very latest. But Thoroughgood doesn't confine you to one pattern, OH, NO—there are suits after suits, hundreds of them. Four buttoned sack coats, stationary stiff front, canvas all well shrunken, all seams stayed with Irish linen. High cut six buttoned vest with notched collar. Trousers fashionable, almost forgot to say all seams have quarter inch stitching. It's a rattling good value and Lacy Thoroughgood stands to the back of these suits.

Nobody Can Beat Us in Quality or Price in Clothes.

MEN'S AND BOY'S HATS

Get them good—Get them from Thoroughgood. It pays to buy good hats because they last so much longer, and the kind that lasts costs very little more than the kind that doesn't. Thoroughgood has every new style in Men's and Boys' Hats that is out this season but the prices are not high, 50c., 75c., $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50 up to $3.50 for a Stetson Hat.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Secretary Bounds Submits a Letter of Review to the Board of Commissioners.

The School Board was in session on Tuesday. Mr. H. Crawford Bounds, secretary and treasurer, presented his annual report. The report was accepted and ordered published in the three county papers.

Miss Coran Bailey who was awarded a free scholarship to Washington College, tendered her resignation. Her health has broken down and she was obliged to return home.

The Board confirmed the appointment of Miss Mary J. Brewington to succeed Miss Ella Wheatley, resigned, as teacher of School No. 4, district No. 7.

The Secretary submitted to the Commissioners a letter reviewing the operations of the School Board for the past year, and suggested the desirability of an increase of teachers' salaries.

The letter is as follows: "I beg respectfully to hand you herewith a statement of the receipts and disbursements of the county public school funds for the year ending July 31st, 1901.

In submitting this report permit me to say that substantial frame buildings were erected during the year to accommodate the following schools; Charity school on Spring Hill road, Williams' school and colored school at Clara. Modern furniture was placed in two of these houses, also in two rooms of the Delmar school. Needed out-buildings and repairs were liberally granted throughout the county, the total cost of all being nearly $3,000. The actual necessities have not yet been provided for. The County Commissioners' liberality in granting us the ensuing year an extra appropriation for building purposes is a welcome relief and will enable the School Board to meet, in a measure, the demands for better facilities in the administration of school affairs.

The teaching force was increased from 108 to 111 teachers, additional teachers being given Delmar, Rivivalve, Riverton, Spring Hill and Charity schools. This increase added to our expenses over $1000, in salaries alone. The demand for additional teachers the coming year will be still greater.

The attendance during the year was greatly interfered with by the presence in nearly every part of the county of some one of the following complaints: small pox, whooping cough, measles, chicken pox, scarlet fever, vaccination, etc., and while the total enrollment shows an appreciable increase, the average attendance for the reason stated, is about the same as the previous year.

The Teachers' Institute in January, ably presided over by State Superintendent Stevens, was attended by every teacher in the county but one, an absence caused by sickness. By the aid of teachers and instructors a very helpful program was carried out. As a result of the evening lectures, the teachers have in the office of the School Board a Teachers' Professional Library numbering nearly 100 volumes, the first of its kind in the State. Its influence in aiding the teachers to better and more professional work is being seen every day.

Worthy of special mention and commendation is the work done by the teachers during the past year in the formation of school libraries, school-room decorations, and the increased attention given the subject of drawing. During the year 19 libraries were established with a total number of over 900 volumes. Fully 80 per cent of the different school rooms are tastefully decorated, some going so far as to introduce growing plants. 698 pupils are reported studying drawing; previous year 47. A flattering increase of pupils in all the upper grade studies is noted.

It is a pleasing duty to report that Wicomico has an active, earnest, enthusiastic body of teachers who, I believe, are making every possible effort for the material advancement of our schools; and while I know the School Board is giving in salaries every cent the present appropriation will justify, I would respectfully suggest that an effort be made either to lengthen the school year or to increase the teachers' pay. This increased expense would in either event be a first class investment of the people's money.

Thanking you for the interest you have always manifested in the welfare of our schools, for your hearty co-operation and for your many courtesies, I remain,

Your, for better public schools,
H. CRAWFORD BOUNDS,
Secretary.

MR. PERRY'S VIEWS.

He Discusses at Length the Vexing Question of Public School Accommodations in Salisbury.

Editors Advertiser:—You ask me to give my views on the question of providing increased school facilities for Salisbury, a question that is now claiming the attention of the School Board and of the public. There are now in the public schools of Salisbury enrolled about 700 pupils and only seating capacity in the buildings owned by the county for about 500. This capacity has been increased by renting two rooms. Even with these rooms the accommodations are not sufficient. More facilities must be furnished in the near future; just how to proceed is the question which the Board must decide.

I wish to state right at the start that I am opposed to any immense bonding scheme to build school houses. I believe that school facilities ought to be provided for out of the annual levies as far as it is possible to do it. I am certainly opposed to using money that has been appropriated for improving the public roads as has been suggested by some and I assure the people of the county feel the same way about the matter. If I understand the matter the County Commissioners decided last June to use the $5000 which the B. C. & A. Ry. Co. has paid the county on back taxes, for improving our public roads. I am opposed to turning it over to the School Board to build school houses.

As I stated before I am opposed to any bonding schemes to build school houses unless the question first be submitted to the people. Whatever is done should be provided for by levy. Now as to what the School Board should do. I do not suppose that the Board would for a moment consider the absurd proposition that has been made to sell the buildings now owned and put up one immense building to accommodate from 700 to 1000 pupils of all ages and grades. In the first place there is almost $10,000 worth of buildings that would not bring $3,000, for the present reason that they are not suited for any other purpose. And then it would not be wise to have all the school children of the town and many from the county outside, aggregated in one building and on one lot. I think too much time would be wasted in disciplining them. We of course need discipline in school but a school should be disciplined with as little expense of time as possible. I see only two propositions for the Board to consider. One to increase our primary school facilities, the other to use all the buildings we now have for primary schools and erect a high school building. In the first five grades there are in round numbers 450 pupils, one third south of Camden bridge and Humphreys mill; or what is known as South Salisbury, including Camden has about 150 pupils in the lower grades. These could be accommodated by putting over there a four room building such as the building now occupied on this side, at a cost of $2500. This would relieve the whole situation for some years to come and prevent this large aggregation on the North side. Such a building could be provided for out of the annual levy. The other proposition and the one that most people would be likely to favor would be the erection of a high school building in some other part of the city and use the present buildings for primary schools. I am opposed to all this lavish expenditure for show. If we erect a building for the high school it should be a good substantial brick structure, without any useless expenditures, and built in such a way that it could be added to by extending out wings as our requirements demand, and if we never need add more we would never build. I wish to emphasize the fact that I am opposed to using the money that has been appropriated for improving our public roads, for this purpose. I am satisfied too that it would be unwise to bring together any larger aggregation of pupils under one head or principal, thus increasing the time necessary for discipline. THOS. PERRY.

Clarence Hodson Assigns.

A deed of trust for the benefit of creditors from Clarence Hodson to Thomas S. Hodson was filed last Tuesday in the Superior Court of Baltimore and the trustee gave bond for $5,000.

Mr. Clarence Hodson, who is a son of Col. Thomas S. Hodson, said to a Baltimore reporter.

"The embarrassment arose through the indorsement of notes for the Warner & Brown Company and the Tiger cigar store of this city, both of which recently failed. The owners of certain notes being about to proceed against me and I being unable to pay them as they mature, I have made an assignment for the protection of all creditors without preference."

Mr. Hodson, whose office was at 729 East Pratt street, is a banker.

Mr. Hodson said that he was unable to state the exact amount of his liabilities, but did not think they would exceed $10,000. He also said that no one would lose any money in consequence of his embarrassment.

HOW CATTLE MULTIPLY.

There is No Business as Profitable as the Systematic Raising of Good Stock.

There is money in raising cattle and no one who has ever kept them and cared for them in a business way has ever made a statement to the contrary, says the Texas Stockman and Farmer. A young man cannot invest $50 in a safer or more certain business than to buy a good cow and take care of her progeny for a period of five or ten years. In ten years $50 at ten per cent will double itself, but where can a young man loan $50 at such a rate of interest? Anyway at the end of ten years he will only have $100 for his investment. If he will invest $50 in one good prolific cow and take care of her and her offspring for ten years, his $50 will not only double but create more than 1,000 per cent of the first principle. As an example of what can be done in this line a case is given by the Hoxie Sentinel.

"Ten years ago," says the Sentinel, "John Sims presented his two sons, Willie and Robert, with a cow each and put them in Willis Johnson's herd to pasture, instructing Mr. Johnson to sell or trade the steer calves for heifers and also sell enough of the increase to pay the herd bills, which he has done. Mr. Sims and family returned home from Colorado, where they had been seven years, and the boys found that each had a nice little herd of cattle. One had rather bad luck, however, and only found 12, while the other found that he was the possessor of 28, making a total of 40 for the two cows, after deducting all loss and expenses."

If the young men in question had worked and cared for their respective stock and with the proceeds of matured animals added more breeding animals to their herds, it is plain that the above figures could easily have been doubted.

A London Gentleman.

A London gentleman, who had a beautiful collie, provided him with a collar on which the owners name and address were engraved. On being asked whether this had ever served to bring the dog back to him, he told the following interesting incident.

"On one occasion I lost Scott in Piccadilly. You know how much I rush about in hansom cabs, and Scott always goes with me—we travel many miles in a week together in this way; but on this occasion I was walking and missed him. Search was in vain. The crowd was great, traffic drowned the sound of my whistle; and after waiting awhile and looking elsewhere, I returned to my suburban home without my companion, and sorrowful, yet hoping that he might find his way back."

"In about two hours after my arrival a hansom cab drove up to the door, and out jumped Scott. The cabman rang for his fare, and thinking he had somehow captured the runaway, I inquired how and where he found him. 'Oh, sir,' said the cabby, 'I didn't hail him at all. He hailed me. I was a-standing close by St. James' Church, a looking out for a fare, when in jumps the dog. 'Like his impudence,' says I. So I shouts through the window; but he wouldn't stir. So I gets down and tries to pull him out, and shows him my whip; but he sits still and barks, as much as to say, 'Go on old man.' As I seizes him by the collar I reads the name and address. 'All right, my fine gentleman,' says I, 'I'll drive you where you're wanted, I dare say.' So I shuts to the door, and my gentleman settles himself with his head just looking out, and I drives on till I stops at this here gate, when out jumps my passenger, a-clearing the door, and walks in as balmly as though he'd been a reg'lar fare'. I gave my friend the cabman a liberal fare, and congratulated Scott on his intelligence—be it instinct, or reason, or whatever it may be—that told him that hansom cabs had often taken him safely home, and therefore a hansom cab would probably do so again, now that he could not find his way and had lost his master.'"—Boston Herald.

"I did," answered the cheerful liar, "and I was pained to note the incompleteness of the story. Now, I happen to know of a case that is really remarkable. The lightning entered a barber's shop and not only undertook the task of singeing a man's hair, but it rung up the proper amount on the cash register."—Chicago Post.

I said I would not be married to the particular young man to whom I was reported engaged, which is quite a different matter."—Chicago

"MISS BOB WHITE."

The Light Opera Success of The Year.

The forthcoming presentation of Willard Spenser's latest and greatest opera at the Academy, Baltimore, next week will undoubtedly prove to be the event of the season in that city. Coming as it does with its phenomenal record of a hundred consecutive performances in Philadelphia at the very close of the last theatrical season and with its great cast and production to say nothing of the immense ensemble made up of its great chorus and enlarged orchestra it certainly marks an important epoch in Balto. theatricals. The success attained by Mr. Spenser with his two former operas, "The Little Teacup" and "The Princess Bonnie" was such as to encourage him to better things and in "Miss Bob White" he has fairly "outperformed" Spenser. People who have heard "Miss Bob White" are invariably worshippers at its shrine and its composer is likely to be looked upon as a continuation parallel of Gilbert and Sullivan, being both librettist and composer, a distinction hitherto unaccomplished by any other writer. The musical score is remarkable for the succession of melodic phrases which follow each other unceasingly until it becomes a source of wonder that its writer did not exhaust his resources, but it appears that he has no limit. The book is as quaintly interesting and funny as the score is melodious, and each seems to dovetail into the other with geometrical precision, assuring a smoothness that cannot be reached by collaboration. The production from a scenic and costume standpoint is superb, Messrs. Nixon and Zimmerman, its producers and managers having shovelled out money with prodigal liberality. The result is palpable to the most biased spectator. The cast includes Ethel Jackson, Richard F. Carroll, Frank Deshon, Thomas Whiffen, Wm. E. Philp, Nicholas Burnham, Mathilde Preville and Alice Campbell. The organization numbers eighty persons and the local orchestra will be augmented by the company's one, the music being directed by Clarence West and the whole insuring a completeness hitherto not seen here. The sale of seats points to an overwhelming gathering of theatre-goers.

LONDON'S RAGE FOR RED.

Fashions Has The Scarlet Fever, Now That Mourning's Over.

London fashion has the scarlet fever, and red is all the rage. There are red hats, red coats, red gowns and no end of red accessories in the way of trimmings, ties, ornaments and ribbons. Mourning is over, although one still sees many black and white, mauve and gray gowns. Black and red is popular combination. Sometimes it takes the shape of a neat tailor made suit with strapped skirt, buttoned at the top and bottom of the front breadth. The refreshment coat has double revers of cloth and black velvet, and two rows of black pekin velvet on white satin; this for a coat which may be worn with either a red or black skirt, as one likes. Or there may be a bolero of red cloth with quaint sleeves banded to the wrists and a machine-stitched collar of red over a blouse of black and white striped silk.

All shades of red, and there are many, are used. In the new materials the preference is for wine-red shades. Then there are all the cardinals, the garnets, scarlets, rose reds, brickdust, oxbloods and others, according to the wearer's taste.

Almost any other color goes well with red, gray, brown, and the biscuit tones especially. This year there is a strong fancy for red and green, grass green and dark spinach green in particular. Velvet is remarkably good in the darker red tones, and is much in favor for evening gowns. One new model in wine-red velvet has a ribbon of old rose point lace over the shoulders and a front of creamy plaited chiffon over a foundation of mauve satin. The sleeves are of velvet tucked to the elbow, and then falling loose over a puffing of lace over mauve. It is surprising to see some of the color combinations which are sent out by the great dressmakers. For example, a gown of red velvet, in a bright hue has a pale blue swathed belt under a white chiffon vest, the velvet coat is out away just above the hips at the sides, and has director's tails in the back, these tails being visibly lined with pale blue. A chou of narrow black velvet ribbon is placed at the right side of the throat, and another at the left side of the waist, to relieve this daring combination.

Walking gowns will be much made in red and with these gold and blue are combined. White also is introduced, and brown fur is largely used. A cherry colored cloth is banded with three rows of brown fur, and the bodice turns back with narrow revers edged with the same fur; disclosing a collar and cravat of heavy lace laid over creamy satin.

—We carry the largest line of lace curtains on the shore. Prices 50c to $10.00 per window. R. E. Fowell & Co.

MASON AND DIXON LINE.

Work of Re-Establishing Famous Imaginary Line Nearly Completed.

While the Spanish war and some other events of recent years have tended to obliterate the imaginary line of demarcation between North and South, and to consolidate the United States into one nation, a restoration of the actual Mason and Dixon's line is in progress. The work is in charge of a joint commission appointed by the States of Maryland and Pennsylvania, and the commission have the valuable aid of United States coast and geodetic survey. The appropriations made by the two States to pay for the work, with the aid given by the federal government, are said to be ample. Reports that the commissioners have been able to gather up many of the boundary stones and to restore those which have been broken. They have been reset in solid cement bases. Many of them are in good condition. When one has been lost totally an iron post is substituted as a marker. The boundary stones are a mile apart. They have "M" on the Maryland side and "P" on the Pennsylvania side. The five-mile stones are larger than the others and have the coat-of-arms of the Calverts and the Penns.

Many of the original stones have been lost. It is said in a history of Maryland that a number of boundary stones which had been carved in England, were abandoned, and had been used by a farmer of that neighborhood in the construction of an out house. If anybody knows where these stones are, no doubt the commission would be glad to receive information and restore them to their former use.

Story of Old St. Paul's.

St. Paul's, which is at present exciting attention, has had a checkered story. Threemile fire has brought it to the ground, and the cracks in the walls which are just now being talked about bring to mind the sight which good Samuel Pepys saw as he walked up Ludgate Hill 250 years ago. "I stopped at St. Paul's," he says in his diary, "and did see a hideous sight of the walls of the church ready to fall, that I was in fear as long as I was in it." The "very sight of the stones falling from the top of the steeple do make me seasick," the famous diarist wrote again. We are not likely to see St. Paul's as Pepys saw it, but any peril in its condition is a legitimate cause of national anxiety.

Those who know their London can find few places so inspiring that carry the mind back so far in history as underneath the great dome. Christianity has been represented by a church on this site since Augustine brought the Gospel to England and all through the centuries a national interest has been taken in the Cathedral of St. Paul's. After the destruction by fire in the reign of the Conqueror, the new St. Paul's was built from the offerings of thousands of people, to whom the Bishop granted special indulgence in return for their subscriptions. Then the spire was struck by lightning in the middle of the fifteenth century, and a hundred years later—in 1561—the tall steeple became a ruin. "Divers persons, in time of the tempest, being in the fields near adjoining to the city, affirmed that they saw a long and spear pointed flame of fire run through the top of the shaft of St. Paul's steeple," and it was natural that the journalists of that day should set down the calamity to be believed, however, a plumber afterward confessed that the destruction was caused through his careless neglect in leaving a pan of burning coal in the steeple while he went to dinner.

A hundred thousand pounds were spent in restoring the Cathedral, and the work was finished in time to allow the great Oliver to stable his horses there in comfort. Twenty years after, the great fire burned St. Peter's once more to ashes. The ground was so hot, says Evelyn, that it burned the soles of his shoes. Half London had schemes for rebuilding the famous church. St. Paul's was still smoldering when Wren submitted his idea to the King, within two days of the conflagration. He had little hope. The cost, he said, "would frighten the age." But at last the work was begun, and the pulling down of the ruin was for days one of the sights of the metropolis. The heaps of rubbish were so great that scaffolds had to be erected over them to save day while the men were clearing it away, and when it became necessary to remove the high tower the workman quailed before the task of mounting 200 feet to cast it down, and gunpowder was resorted to.

A box containing eighteen pounds of powder was placed in a hole under the pier, and the explosion caused the tower to rise visibly in the mass, for quite nine inches before it fell. By an accident, a piece of stone was shot into a room in which two women were at work, and this led to the prohibition of the use of powder. Wren provided an ingenious substitute in the form of an ancient battering ram, with which he kept thirty men beating against the same part of one of the great walls for a whole day. On the second day the wall trembled at the top, and in a few hours the last ruin of old St. Paul fell with a crash like an earthquake.—St. James' Gazette.

News for Barbers.

A barber in Cambridge, Mass., was yesterday fined $90 for discrimination on account of color in refusing to shave a colored student at Harvard, Thomas S. Bruce, son of ex-Senator Branch K. Bruce of Mississippi. Now, if this barber is compelled to shave colored men, and his white customers leave him in consequence, will he be able to secure redress from the latter?—Every Evening.

BATTLE WITH LIBERALS

Revolutionists Are Forced to Retreat From Culebra.

BATTLE RESUMED AT SAN PABLO

Over 150 Killed, and Wounded Men Could Be Seen Along Railroad Track—Wounded Lack Care—300 of Iowa's Marines Landed.

Colon, Nov. 26.—On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the schooner Claret and a railroad barge returned to Panama, bringing 350 men from Chorrera, being the remainder of General Alban's expedition. Great crowds gathered at the wharf to witness the landing of the soldiers. They were received with bands of music, but the music sounded mournful, and the air seemed more like a funeral march than the joyful strains of welcome to a victorious army. General Alban looked his usual and calm self and acted more like a man on whose hands time hangs heavily for want of something to do than one coping with grave responsibilities under trying circumstances.

On Sunday afternoon at 3.30, at the head of 700 men, General Alban left Panama by train for Empire Station, where the Liberals were reported to be in fairly strong numbers. His purpose was to surprise and rout them. The train bearing these troops was held up just before it arrived at Culebra Station, owing to the Liberals opening fire on Alban's advance guard. Alban disembarked his men from the train, which returned to Panama. The fighting at Culebra lasted from 4.30 until 9 p. m.

The government troops advanced, and the fighting was stubborn all along the railroad line until Empire Station, a mile and a half distant, was reached. The Liberals retreated slowly, Alban's men following them until the latter eventually reached Matachin Station. Here General Alban met and conferred with Captain Perry, of the Iowa, who was returning from Colon on an armored train. It is understood that Captain Perry will not allow the railroad to transport troops, consequently General Alban and his men were forced to push ahead on foot. It is said here that they thus reached San Pablo, where the Liberals are in force, and that fighting took place there. The Liberals are under the command of General Lugo.

Between the stations of Culebra and Empire over 150 killed and wounded men could be seen along the track. The sight was gruesome. There is no proper Red Cross organization, and the wounded lack care.

Three hundred of the Iowa's marines were landed at 4.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon at Panama to protect the property of the railroad and to insure the continuance of transit across the Isthmus.

The breakwaters on the railroad bridge that leads into Panama, as well as those erected inside the city, have been demolished by the government.

SEMIPLE JURY DISAGREED

Stood Eight For Conviction and Four For Acquittal.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—After being out 29 hours and five minutes, the jury in the case of John L. One of the jurors stated that at first the ballots had stood seven for conviction to five for acquittal. New York, Nov. 26.—Two women lost their lives in the burning of a frame dwelling in Brooklyn last night. A BRAVE LIEUTENANT

Engaged in Hand-to-Hand Fight With Filipino Insurgents.

THEY SACK TOWN NEAR CAVITE

Lieutenant Was in Advance of Men and Attacked Enemy, Receiving Two Serious Wounds—Leader Samson On Bohol Island Will Surrender.

Manila, Nov. 26.—Second Lieutenant Louis J. Vanschaik, of the Fourth Infantry, while scouting with a few men of that regiment, met 150 insurgents, who had attacked and sacked the hamlet of Siarababa, near Cavite. Upon seeing the Filipinos, Vanschaik ordered his men to charge them. The command was obeyed and Vanschaik, being mounted, reached the insurgents 60 yards in advance of his men. He killed three of them with his revolver. An insurgent fired his rifle point-blank at Vanschaik at four paces, but missed. Lieutenant Vanschaik was then knocked from his horse. He jumped to his feet and engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict with the enemy, using the butt of his revolver. He sustained two severe wounds, one of which nearly severed his wrist. At this point the lieutenant's men arrived, rescued him and put the insurgents to flight. Vanschaik is in the military hospital at Manila and is doing well. He has already been recommended for a medal of honor for bravery in a previous engagement.

General Hughes, commander of the department of the Visayas, reports that negotiations are about completed for the surrender of the insurgent leader Samson on Bohol Island. This surrender will doubtless end the revolt against the American authority in Bohol, as Samson is acknowledged to be the chief insurgent leader there.

THAT PENSION ROLL.

The annual report of the Commissioner of Pensions draws our attention once more to the terrible abuse of the government's beneficence and the thousands of frauds that are year after year being allowed in the Pension department.

According to this report there are now 997,785 names on our national pension roll, a number much larger than the armies that actually fought in our Civil War, the cause of the great bulk of these beneficiaries of the nation. It is true that some pensions are paid on account of the war with Mexico, 1845-8, and a few on account of the Wars of 1811, but the fact that it is now more than thirty six years since the close of the great conflict between the States of this Union, would seem to indicate that pensions on account of that war should begin to show a material decrease, but they do not.

On the contrary, they are constantly increasing, and thousands of new applications are on file and steadily being received. The pending claims at the time the report for the past year was issued numbered 408,569, and additional claims arrive daily by the bushel. Of course, our recent war with Spain gives occasion for a material portion of the later claims, but the great bulk of them are on the account of the Civil War, which came to a close in April, 1865.

That thousands of fraudulent claims have been allowed and are still being paid, and that thousands of the pending claims have no more real foundation than the greedy insistence of the pension sharks who make money from all kinds of claimants is a fact that will not admit of dispute.

It is to be hoped that at the coming session of Congress both parties will unite and have sufficient courage to face the situation in its true light. If this is done the Pension Roll will receive a purging of dishonest pensioners that has been badly needed for many years and the government's pay roll will be lessened many millions of dollars.

A GOOD-ROADS TRAIN.

Much interest is excited, according to the Railway and Engineering Review, by "the good roads train" now working along the line of the Southern Railway. The train consists of nine flat cars, two commissary cars, one gondola car and one officer's car, and carries a full equipment of road-making machinery and a party of 18 persons. It is manned by experts in road-making and has been equipped by the leading road machine manufacturing companies of the United States. Among these are road-grading machines, rock-crushers, road rollers, spreading-wagons, elevating graders, dump wagons, road and street sprinklers, drag scrapers, road plows and steam rollers. The companies furnish skilled men to operate their machines, and the Southern Railway, being anxious to stimulate road improvement, conveys the road-making plant from point to point. While the train was at Greenville, Tenn., a good-roads congress was held and a mile of good road was made by way of sample and good example. Chattanooga, Birmingham and Mobile are to be visited, after which a circuit will be made through Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. The agricultural and mechanical colleges of the States visited take a large interest in the enterprise, recognizing good roads as the first condition of a flourishing agriculture. Education is needed. It is a literal fact that most of the country people throughout the greater part of the United States do not know what a good road is or how to make it. If they are shown the plans and machinery for making good roads they will want them and no longer be content to make repairs by shoveling a little dirt into the deeper ruts. A great deal is spent yearly by our people for roads, but the money is wasted by reason of the ignorance or "politics" of the men put in charge of the work. The common assumption is that every body knows how to make a road, whereas it is an art that requires special training.—Balto. Sun.

DISAPPEARANCE OF TIMBER.

Secretary Hitchcock, of the Interior Department, in his annual report, says: That the act of June 8, 1887, known as the Timber and Stone act, if not repealed or radically amended, will result in the complete destruction of the timber on the unappropriated and unreserved public lands.

The time has arrived, according to the Secretary, when reservoirs must be built and managed as a part of a national system of forest and water conservation. They cannot be successful if maintained, however, without a thorough system of forest protection. The introduction of practical forestry on the forest reserves has now begun. The general policy announced in an outline memorandum to the Commissioner of the Land Office is that additional forest reserves, with boundaries drawn to liberate the smallest amount of script, should be created during this winter, the good-will of residents in or near the reserves should be gained, forest fires guarded against and the resources of the reserves should be available for the conservative use of the people. Systematic investigation designed to make them accessible and useful should be undertaken and each forest reserve and part thereof should be dealt with on its own merits.

What Can Be Done In Any Town.

There is a little town in New Jersey where an improvement league has done more to cleanse and beautify the place, at an expense of less than $100, than the town council has accomplished by expending thousands of dollars in the ordinary way. The league began by offering prizes for clean back yards and alleys, and then for the prettiest vine-covered fence, the finest vegetable plot and the most beautiful flowering plant. It enlisted the active interest of the boys and girls, and got them to pick up waste paper and such things from the streets, to keep the school yard neat, and also the vacant lots. In six months time the town became particularly attractive and clean, and the death rate has perceptibly decreased. The improvement league idea is open to any town where this paragraph may be read.—Exchange.

Become Blind at Night.

A St. Petersburg dispatch relative to night blindness in south Russia says: "This is one of the queerest diseases known to medical science, and is one of the camp followers of the famine." Night blindness, however, is no new disease. It has always been more or less common in armies where men have been forced to sleep without cover. The cause is usually referred to the moon and the sufferer is said to be moonstruck, although it has been supposed that the glare of the sunlight upon sand beaches is sometimes the cause of it. As is said of the disease in Russia, the sufferer can see nothing after twilight, even though the moon is at full and the sky clear, but it is somewhat remarkable that he can see by candlelight. It is not unlikely that the Russian night blindness is directly traceable to exposure in the open air and that it is only indirectly due to the famine.—London Mail.

Admiral Schley Refuses Aid.

Knoxville, Tenn., November 20.—Following the report that the court of inquiry would cost Admiral Schley $20,000, the Knoxville Sentinel on November 18 sent the Admiral a dispatch asking if he would consent to public subscriptions to pay the amount. Today the Sentinel received a personal letter from Admiral Schley, the purport of which was that he cannot accept the offer. He says the report as to the cost is a mistake, and the amount is not so great. He suggests the matter is "too delicate to discuss" and trusts that his friends will "appreciate his position and respect it."

Attempts to Define News.

News is anything that the general public ought to know.

News consists of events that are either very useful or very unusual.

News is the panorama of the world every twenty four hours in embryo.

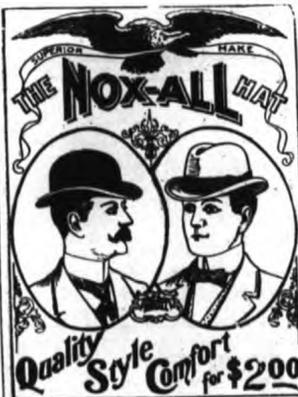

News is whatever the public will read and pay for.

News is anything from Jones' arrival in town to the fall of an empire.

News is the truth concerning men, nations and things. That is, truth concerning them which is helpful, or pleasant, or useful, or necessary for a reader to know.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from overwork, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1.00 all druggists.

A NEW THING The Elmardo Cigar

A rich mellow smoke, and absolutely free from the injurious quality that causes so many physicians to forbid their patients from smoking the heavy nerve racking imported cigars. Each cigar contains a hundred and one puff, the last one better than the first. Not one of those kind that you would take a few puffs and throw it away, but one that you would burn your fingers in order to get the last puff. It's a sure winner. Try it. They are 5 cents, 5 for a quarter, $1.50 a hundred at

They are certainly the most STRIKING things we have. Don't let them escape your attention. We have't the space here to explain more fully, but we have the time at our store to show and explain everything that interests you.

Remember

until Nov. 16 ONLY will you have a chance at our hollow ware, lamps and jardiniers which we carried over from last year. These are bargains well worth your consideration.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs.

They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. J. N. PERRY, care H. S. BRANCH ROADS. Leave Portmouth (arr.) 7:35 p. m.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—This discourse of Dr. Talmage is a national congratulation on the achievements of brain and land during the past twelve months.

The text is: I Corinthians ix, 10, "He that ploweth should plow in hope." Isaiah xli, 7, "He that smoothech with the hammer." Judges v, 14, "They that handle the pen of the writer."

There is a table being spread across the top of the two great ranges of mountains which ridge this continent, a table which reaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific sea. It is the Thanksgiving table of the nation.

Within our time the presidential cabinet has added a secretaryship of agriculture. Societies are constantly being established for the education of the plow.

Parts of our country, under industrial tillage, have become an arena of the tree of life and educational advantages as the tree of knowledge of good and evil, not one of them forbidden.

Religion is the Tree of Life. Although most of us have thought directly to do with the tillage of the soil, yet in all our occupations we feel the effect of successful or blighted industry.

Most of the implements of husbandry have been superseded by modern inventions, but the plow has never lost its reign. It has furrowed its way through all the ages.

population to digging in the mines. Tillage was neglected, and there came a great famine. One day the wife of the king invited him to a great banquet, and he came in with a great banquet, and he came in with a great banquet, and he came in with a great banquet.

Some Marvellous Changes. How things have marvelously changed! We used to cry because we had to go to school. Now children cry before they have seen a ballot box or, teased by some poetic muse, can compose articles for the newspapers.

Who these many years hath turned back from our land the violent plagues which have swept with their train of terrors through our country? Who hath grown in our fields harvests richer than Sicilian or Russian grainfields?

The Glorious Prospects. The grainfields have passed their harvests above the veto of drought and deluge. The freight cars are not large enough to bring down the grain to the seaboard.

Unappreciated. Last winter Mrs. Patti was staying for a few days in an isolated village at the extreme end of Yorkshire. To kill the monotony of the place the prima donna went one night to a concert given in aid of a certain village institution.

A Sympathetic Strike. The talk of sympathetic strikes reminds Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of one that he conducted when only a boy working on a farm.

ALLEN.

The first snow of the season fell on Thanksgiving.

"Where are my skates?" the small boy of Allen is asking his mother. Miss Lottie Huffington of New York is visiting relatives at this place.

Rev. W. J. Twilley and wife of Temperranceville, Va., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Malone.

Our new pastor, Rev. J. E. White is expected to preach for us next Sunday morning and evening, December, 1st.

Mr. F. M. Gunby and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams near Salisbury.

Mr. Elihu Phippin, has been quite sick for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Annie Mumford and little daughter of Baltimore are the guests of Mrs. George T. Malone.

Mrs. Rita Whayland who has been visiting friends in the Monumental City, arrived home today (Friday) via Steamer Tivoli.

There are several of the faithful in Trappe district who would like to spend the coming winter at Annapolis. Set the hair boys. The chap who has the longest po'e will be the one most likely to get the permissum.

There is a "yaller coon" in this town hunting trouble. He is not a native of this place. "Folk's Road," of camping fame is the town in which he first saw the light of day, and it will not be awhile to say right here that if he is in no particular hurry to get through life he had better give Allen a wide berth, else it might possibly be the town in which he last saw the light of day. This fellow apparently belongs to the light fingered gentry, and heavy too, as we will see further on. Last Monday night he relieved Mr. George Phillips of a ten cent carriage whip and corn-house key. Not satisfied with these valuables (?) he sauntered up the village to see what he could see. When opposite the residence of Mr. P. A. Malone, he spied Mr. E. P. Huffington's horse and buggy standing there with nothing to do. He concluded at once to have a little outing all to himself. He unhitched the horse and put him "bows on" for Salisbury. He did not reach that town however (as Mr. Huffington learned upon his arrival there sometime during the night), he only had a little spin through Trappe district after which he left the horse to wend its way homeward as best it could. It arrived home about 3 a. m. little the worse for wear, and found Mr. Huffington Sr. awaiting it and in a very happy frame of mind. The horse seemed happy too. If any of this man's friends should see this they would be doing him a great favor if they would convince him that Allen is not the healthiest place in the world for a man of his standing. "Keep way fum leab, nig-gah."

"Hog killing" commenced in earnest this week. Mr. W. H. Carey slaughtered the two heaviest porkers so far this season, one weighing 487 and the other 380 lbs. For the present Mr. Carey is the leader in heavy weight hogs around here, while our old friend Charlie Bosman of Eden is the leader in light weights. Charlie killed two last Monday about the size of Belgian buck rabbits, age and stock unknown. He purchased these porkers last December when they were wee-wee things and they remained wee-wee until their sudden demise Monday morning last. Charlie fed them well and gave them shelter from the storm, hoping to get a thousand pounds of good solid meat from the pair. But kind treatment and full stomachs would not make them expand. They were regular Tom Thumb pigs and couldn't do what Nature had never intended they should do. Finally Charlie got tired of fooling with his little pets, so he arose at break of day Monday, with blood in his eye. He filled two tea kettles with water and got ready for murder. When everything was in readiness he slipped to the pig sty, grabbed the nearest porker to him and held him firmly with one hand using the other for his bloody work. The weapon used was a darned needle, a knife would have severed the head from the body, Porker No. 2 was served likewise, the same weapon being used. By the time life was extinct the water was ready to take the hair off, so Charlie proceeded to shroud them in a galvanized water bucket. He soon had them cleaned and ready for the scales. To be brief he weighed them on a pair of "draw out" hand scales, one showing up twenty pounds and the other seventeen and a quarter. Charlie swears that he will never raise another pig, as those cost him about fifty dollars, all told, and an unusual amount of cousin'. He also says that those pigs were born and bred in the Dismal Swamp about the time of the Rebellion as they had horns on their heads.

SHARPTOWN

The marriage of Oscar J. Robinson of this town and Miss Alda Lee Bailey, of Sussex county, Delaware will be solemnized in the M. E. Church here on Wednesday evening, December, 4th, at 8 o'clock. The fender mill is now turning out about 800 fenders daily. The new machinery recently put in works well and turns out some very fine moulding.

Work at the railway has diminished some, but more is expected soon. At present two separate forces are being worked and Secretary Cault is kept busy at his desk.

Charlie Robinson, the four year old son of Wm. R. Robinson and wife broke his leg last week. It was immediately set, but after this had been done for nearly one week, he got restless and it had to be reset. At present the little fellow is doing fairly well.

Willie E. Walker, who left here a few weeks ago for Philadelphia has accepted a position as salesman, in the wholesale meat department of Swift & Co. of Philadelphia.

A great many hogs have recently been killed here and in vicinity. They are unusually large.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Dennis of St. Martins and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Timmons spent last Sunday with the Misses Holloway near Whitesville, Del.

Miss Rebecca Shockley of Wetpquin is visiting her mother, Mrs. Amanda Shockley at this place.

Mr. George Parker and daughter Miss Mamie of Berlin, spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Amanda E. Truitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morris entertained quite a number of relatives Thanksgiving. About thirty grandchildren were present and all spent a most enjoyable day. The house was very prettily decorated with evergreen.

Mrs. Nancy Dennis' new residence will soon be completed ready for occupancy.

Mrs. Amanda E. Truitt is visiting friends in Frankford.

Mr. Willie Timmons formerly of Clayborne has moved in this vicinity and has given his little son to his sister, Mrs. Gertie Farlow.

Mr. George W. Parker is on the sick list this week.

Some of the people in this vicinity are busily engaged in the evergreen business and will soon begin shipping it for the holidays.

WHITE HAVEN.

White Haven had a big scare on Tuesday of this week. The large mill shed of Granlie M. Catlin caught fire from sparks from the mill and was burned to the ground. For a while it looked as if the major part of our village was doomed by the most desperate efforts of men, women and children the fire was confined to the shed.

Never did the good citizens of any town work harder to save their homes and property than those of White Haven on Tuesday. Women stood in water half way to their waists supplying the bucket brigade with water. Children and old men carried buckets and the entire village enlisted itself in an amateur fire department.

While the town was saved yet it is not thought that this would have been possible had a strong wind been blowing. So great is this belief that the citizens on Tuesday night decided to purchase a large force Pump with sufficient hose to reach any part of the town. As White Haven is located directly on the river this will afford good protection against any serious damage in the future. Now lets see if the other small towns in Wicomico will not take similar steps for protection against the fire fiend.

JESTERVILLE.

The Anniversary of the dedication of Oak Grove M. P. Church was held last Sunday. There was a good congregation in attendance at each service. Rev. Mr. Gibson preached in the morning, Rev. T. C. Smoot in the afternoon, and Rev. Mr. Truitt in the evening.

A collection taken to pay off the indebtedness against the building amounted to about $250. This greatly reduces the amount owing to a small sum, and the congregation is in a fair way to be free of debt, all brought about by the energetic efforts of the membership, and they should be congratulated on the measure of success so far attained. There were many visitors present from other neighborhoods. The choir rendered special music for the occasion.

DELMAR

Revival services continue at the M. P. Church in Delmar with unabated interest. Souls are seeking Christ every night and the power of God is greatly felt. About 75 souls have been converted up to date. The pastor, Rev. L. A. Bennett is conducting the meeting alone save some help he has received from Rev. Mr. Sharp. Services will continue next week if interest continues good. Thanksgiving services were held in the M. P. Church Thursday morning. Rev. W. W. Sharp of the M. E. Church preached the sermon.

FOOT BALL

Salisbury High School vs. Princess Anne High School.

The return game between the football teams of the Salisbury High School and Princess Anne High School was played on the afternoon of Thanksgiving on the "Hospital Lot" in south Salisbury resulting in a tie for the two teams, the score being five—and five.

The game was an exceedingly fine one, being played with much snap and vigor from start to finish and was witnessed by five hundred persons from Salisbury and vicinity.

The average weight of the Princess Anne boys was greater than that of the home team yet our boys held their opponents down, made frequent gains and did not lose the ball on downs.

Worthy of especial mention was the thirty yard run by Price, the fifteen yard gain by Dougherty and the twelve yard break by Fontaine. Each team made its touch down in the first half but owing to the wind each missed goal in the kick for it.

At the conclusion of the game the visiting team was entertained at supper at the Peninsula House, by the Salisbury boys.

Willie Taylor, capt., and his school mates deserve much credit for the organization of their team and especially so, since their school hours are so late that they have had little time for practice.

The composition of teams was as follows:

A Sinner Lost in the Wilderness.

A Kansas editor who has contracted the habit of occasionally attending church, has this to say: "Ladies should take off their hats in church. No preacher can inspire a man who is looking into a top sided aggregation of dead birds, stuffed weasels, chameleon skins, ribbons, beads, jets, sticks, straw flowers, corn tassels and thistle down. It makes a sinner feel lost in the wilderness." There is a heap of gospel in the above piece of brilliancy, too.

LOSS OF SOIL FERTILITY

Certain Plant Foods Are Retained Near the Surface.

The loss of fertility from the soil occurs in various ways, but the characteristic of wells have much influence on the loss, and something also depends upon the kind of manure or fertilizer used at the Rothamsted experiment farms, in England, is to show, that neither potash nor phosphoric acid, when present in excess of immediate requirements, is liable to escape from the soil or to sink to a depth beyond the reach of plant roots, and that if such should happen the quantity would be very small.

NORTHERN TOBACCO.

In Cigars It Has Color, Burn, and Texture, But Is Lacking in Good Flavor.

Color, burn and texture are the three things which the grower has chiefly to consider. At present the trade calls for a very light cinnamon brown shade, which must be uniform, not mottled, says Harper's Weekly.

Flavor is not wanted in Connecticut tobacco, for if there be much of it it is sure to be bad. Perfect burn, color and texture can be gotten in the northern climate, but a delicate and agreeable flavor has not yet been obtained.
