A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to wash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with overwork. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretion of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or ravenous appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent headaches, pain or distress "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "water-brash," "rising" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or fully than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a pure, natural, vegetable preparation, and a pair of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is a non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wraper and allowed under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine of known composition.

Behind the Rock.

By Thomas Foye.
Major Davis had the reputation of being a martinet, and whenever a private soldier found himself before a court-martial he would make up his mind that if the major had a voice in the matter he was as good as convicted.

There were those who excused the officer's harshness on the ground that he belonged to the old school—the school that looked upon the rank and file as dogs—but the fact remained that he was not popular with either his officers or his men.

Affairs in the Indian country were at peace when the post commander at Fort Brown left of absence and Major Davis was ordered to take charge in his place. In less than an hour later he began to issue general orders, and a groan of discontent was heard throughout the garrison.

Then began what was characterized as "a hum-diddle time." The lines of discipline were rigidly drawn and the drills were frequent and exacting. The finger of the martinet pointed in many directions, and the men who growled went to the guard-house on a trot.

At all military posts there are a number of men—men who suffer from old wounds or have performed brave deeds, and are usually allowed to take things easy. Such a man was private Tom Gorman at Fort Brown. Two bullets had been fired into him as he rode with despatches across the plains one night, and though not incapacitated, as a soldier he was given light duty and coddled up a bit.

The coddling ceased soon after the major's arrival. He was on the look-out for such men. They were returned to duty, and even given extra duty, and the mild protests of captains and lieutenants were met with the formal reply:

"This is a military post, not a hospital, and no man, unless excused by the doctor at sick-call, will be exempt from duty."
Private Gorman returned to duty with a complaint, and subsequent events proved that the martinet had a special eye on him. He was twice reprimanded during company drill one day, and following that he was placed on sentry duty and took his post at midnight in a rainstorm.

It was an inside post and of no consequence. The wounded man took the chance of getting under shelter for a short time. The major went the round that night, caught him feigning and was sent back off to the guard-house.

Private Gorman did not serve out his sentence of 30 days in the guard-house. When he had served five days he was assisted to escape. He was furnished with a carbine and food, and he went into hiding within three miles of the fort.

ROOSEVELT-HARRIMAN EPISODE—ITS MORAL.

The unauthorized (?) publication of a letter of Mr. E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate written to a friend sometime back has again precipitated a deluge of denials—and uglier words from the White House.

In this letter Mr. Harriman charged President Roosevelt with taking an active part in raising the campaign fund for the last Presidential election, and further with asking him to aid in raising this fund. Mr. Harriman in his letter says that he did raise a fund of $250,000 contributing $50,000 of this sum individually.

President Roosevelt denies that he asked Mr. Harriman to raise money for his campaign and says he is stating—to put it mildly—an untruth. Whichever is right in their contention, it at least brings to light the fact that a large campaign fund was raised, and thus proves the general belief existing in the minds of many at the time that such was the case.

But outside of the general denial, the President makes to Mr. Harriman in a letter to Mr. Sherman, chairman of the Republican Congressional committee a much more serious charge against Mr. Harriman. According to this letter Mr. Harriman is quoted as saying that he did not care if his men were elected as they were all crooks and he could buy them, and further that it was necessary that if he needed any legislation in any state he could buy the legislature and if that was not sufficient he could buy Congress and if that would not answer his purpose he could buy the Judiciary itself.

If Mr. Harriman ever made any such statement as this, which the President of the United States attributes to him he is indeed a dangerous man and Senator Cullom's reported statement that he ought to be in the penitentiary is done too strong.

But be it this, it is enough to make the country sit up and you will see assuming that Mr. Harriman did make this boast, he is above all a practical man, and one who has been dealing in public franchises a good many years and in that time has undoubtedly had much dealing with public men, and judging from what he said he had not much faith in them. Was it then an idle boast or was it founded on his own experience.

We must believe that if Mr. Harriman made any such boast, he must have known something about what he was talking about.

While no one will believe that all of our public men are corrupt—especially our judiciary, yet it is undoubtedly a fact that many of our public men can be influenced. The entire system of American politics seems to have been permeated in the last few years with graft. We believe the cause of this is at the bottom and originated from the despicable and criminal practice of bribery at the polls. By this means unprincipled men are put in places of trust by the people, and the people get what they might expect from such a system—incompetent and dishonest service. It has long been said that "He who associates with crime can not long keep his own self pure." Can it be expected that those who in their very first attempts in politics must make criminals of themselves by buying, or contributing to others to buy the royal vote, will continue for long with the same high ideals that they started out with? Is it not rather to be expected that those who buy will come to think there is no crime in doing so, and how many steps is it to think there is as little harm in selling?

If a man has trained his conscience up to believe buying is right he need not be trained at the same time to believe that selling is also right? Can one believe that buying is right without believing the converse of the proposition, that there is no harm in selling. It would seem that both must be accepted or both rejected. If both are accepted and practiced then it is only a question of price. Perhaps the logical man that is accustomed only to the voice of conscience will not accept such a proposition. It is when it grows. Our money is making your money grow. If you wish to inquire here.

A NEW PRESIDENT

For The Maryland Conference. Other News of The Session.

The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church began its annual session today at the Rhode Island Avenue Church, a handsome edifice at the corner of Rhode Island Avenue and First Street Northwest, Washington. Rev. Dr. F. T. Little presided.

The election of the new president was taken up almost immediately after the devotional exercises at the opening of the afternoon session. The contest was practically between Rev. J. M. Sheridan, of Kent county, and Rev. Dr. W. R. Graham, of Eastern, Md. Mr. Sheridan received 110 votes, and Mr. Graham 86 votes. Other votes cast were as follows: Rev. A. W. Mather, of Leemont, Va., 1 vote; D. L. Greenfield, of Chestertown, Md., 1 vote; J. M. Holmes, of West Baltimore Church, 2 votes; J. D. Kinz, of East Baltimore Church, 1 vote; S. J. Smith, of Stewartstown, Pa., 4 votes, and J. M. Gill, of Rhode Island Avenue Church, 12 votes.

Rev. Phillips Re-elected.

Mr. Sheridan, when elected, was escorted to the chair by Revs. Louis Randall, J. E. Nicholson and G. W. Hines. Dr. Little, in turning over to him the gavel, congratulated him on his election to preside over "the most true hearted, the most self-sacrificing and the most straightforward body of men in the world." The Conference then proceeded to the election of other officers. Rev. W. S. Phillips, the efficient secretary, was re-elected unanimously, and he is appointed Revs. J. H. S. Ewell, J. H. Straughn and G. I. Humphrey his assistants. The following board of stewards for 1908 was then elected.

School Will Close Early This Year.

The School Board at a special meeting held Thursday decided to close all district schools and small rooms in the central schools at the end of the Spring term, April 26th, and the remaining schools on May 24th. The reason given for this action is lack of sufficient funds. We very much regret that such action is necessary and hope that before another session funds will be found whereby the schools will be kept open for the usual period.

Notice.

There will be services in Spring Hill Church next Sunday (tomorrow) at 10:00 o'clock and at Quantic Sunday evening 7:30.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

THE HEAVENLY TURNPIKE.

April 7, '07.—(Gen. 22: 1-3; 10-32.)

Luxurious surroundings and a soft pillow do not assure pleasant dreams. Neither does barren surroundings and a hard pillow prevent them.

Many a soldier coming back from the wars where he has been accustomed to sleep on the ground, finds it almost impossible to sleep in bed.

Do not waste any sympathy on Jacob because of his rude bedroom; most any of us would be glad of such accommodations if we could see what he saw.

Perhaps if we lived as near to nature's heart as he did, we too, might behold ladders reaching to heaven, rather than channelling the other way.

Late hours and hot banquets will not save a saint from nightmares, though he repeats all the petitions in the prayer-book before going to bed.

CURES AFTER THE DOCTORS HAVE FAILED.

RHEUMACIDE has cured thousands of cases of Rheumatism after all the doctors and all other means had failed. Rheumacide cured John F. Elme and others of Baltimore, after the famous specialists of Johns Hopkins Hospital, the greatest hospital in the world, had failed.

Almost a Miracle in This Case. Dillion, S. C., Aug. 14. Bobbitt Chemical Company: Gentlemen—In September, 1906, I took rheumatism in a very bad form (inflammatory). In a month the disease was so bad that I had to give up my work and go to bed. I continued to grow worse until my arms and hands were badly drawn so much so that I could not use them.

Rheumacide cured Mrs. Mary Welborn, of High Point, N. C. of rheumatism she had endured for 20 years. Rheumacide cured W. R. Hughes, of Atkins, Va., after the most famous New York specialists failed.

A purely vegetable remedy that goes right to the seat of the disease and cures by removing the cause. Your druggist sells and recommends Rheumacide. Sample bottle and booklet free if you send five cents for postage to BOBBITT CHEMICAL COMPANY, Proprietors, Baltimore.

are out of style. Of course, they estimate nothing of this to her, for fear of the shock it might give her.—Puck.

His Sincere. The Farmer—My son Reuben, who's in New York, tells me there's a bank down there that keeps open day and night.

Get Busy, Young Man. Miss Yerner—Mr. Husel was going to call on me this evening, but he heard you were to be here.

Inclusive. Miss Coldart—No, I can never marry you. All our family is opposed to you.

Expert Testimony. Bottle—I wonder if a blonde is more attractive to men than a brunette.

Cause for Rivalry. Beggar (to lady)—Ah, but your husband is a kind gentleman. He promised me his old overcoat, as he is going to buy a new one.

He Couldn't Wait. When All Mudville played Little Sinton, both elevens were doing level best for their respective managers.

A Happy Home. To have a happy home you should have children. They are great happy-home-makers.

WINE OF CARDUI. A Tonic for Women. It will ease all your pain, reduce inflammation, cure indigestion, (colic), falling womb, ovarian trouble, disordered menses, headache, neuritis, etc., and make childbirth natural and easy.

"Standard" Marine Engine

Was the first gasoline engine to cross the Atlantic under its own power and did it in mid-winter.

Was the first to be installed in a coasting schooner. The four-master "Northland" has a 500 H. P. "STANDARD" and has doubled her number of trips made when under sail alone.

Has been adopted by U. S. Government for the boats of the Life Saving Service, by the Russian Government for their submarine and other torpedo boats, and the Government of Santo Domingo for their coast guard vessels.

In every direction and in all kinds of service "STANDARD" has been a leader and has established a record of performances and achievements which others are struggling to follow.

"STANDARD" costs no more than any other high-grade engine, and is guaranteed to develop 25 per cent more power than catalogue rating.

—Fanny J. Crosby, the blind hymn writer, celebrated her eighty seventh birthday recently in Bridgeport, Conn. Miss Crosby received many presents and congratulatory messages from all parts of the country. She says that the way to keep young is to be cheerful, keep working and love mankind. She declares that she does not feel much above 40 and that she has not missed her dinner in a year.

Dr. John S. Fulton, who has been secretary and executive officer of the State Board of Health for over 10 years has resigned that position to accept the offer to become organizer of the International Congress on Tuberculosis, which will meet in Washington next year. The resignation will become effective on May 1, when the vacancy will be called by the State Board. It is believed that Dr. Fulton's assistant, Dr. L. Marshall Price, of Baltimore county, will be promoted to fill the vacancy. The board consists of Dr. H. H. Welch, president; Dr. James Bosley, health commissioner for Baltimore; Dr. Eugene Jones, of Kensington; Dr. Louis A. Griffith, of Upper Marlboro; Attorney General Bryan; Dr. John S. Fulton and Mr. Douglas H. Thomas, Jr.
The offer to Dr. Fulton to become the organizer of the International Congress on tuberculosis came to him last December. The offer was coupled with the request that he devote only one half of his time to his new duties, the remaining half to be devoted to his duties as secretary of the Maryland Board. This suggestion was not favorably considered, because Dr. Fulton realized that a division of his duties and time was impossible if the work of either position was to be performed satisfactorily. The salary attached to the new position was alluring. Recently the offer was renewed in another form, and Dr. Fulton concluded to accept it.
The offer came to Dr. Fulton from the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. While Dr. Fulton does not say so, it is thought that Dr. Welch is due the suggestion of the selection for the important position. The suggestion carried immediate action, as Dr. Fulton has won a national reputation as an executive official by efficient discharge of his duties as secretary of the Maryland Board. He has already engaged a suite of rooms in the Colorado Building, in Washington. He is given full authority to engage his office force and to carry through his own plans for holding the congress. His work will be worldwide, as every civilized nation will send representatives to the congress.
Dr. Fulton was elected secretary of the State Board of Health in 1906. His qualifications were so generally recognized that he was elected by a board, the majority of whom were Republicans, although Dr. Fulton is a Democrat. For a time he maintained an extensive private practice, but he was compelled to give his entire time to the duties of his position.
Dr. Fulton is 48 years of age and was born in Ohio. When a mere youth his father, the late Rev. Dr. Fulton, who was an Episcopal clergyman, received a call to become rector of the church at Snow Hill. Later he received a call to the rectorship of the Episcopal church in Salisbury, where he remained until his death.
Dr. J. S. Fulton was educated at the Salisbury High School, at St. John's College, Annapolis, and at the University of Maryland. Upon receiving his degree he located in Dorchester county, where he practiced his profession seven years. He removed from Dorchester to Salisbury, Md., where he continued in active practice for seven years. During his occupancy of the office of secretary of the State Board he has introduced many reforms, and has been instrumental in stamping out contagious and infectious diseases. Dr. Fulton resides at 221 St. Paul Street. He is married and has several children.
Dr. Fulton does not know what he will do after the adjournment of the coming Congress. He will continue to make his home in Baltimore.
Dr. Fulton was reared in Salisbury and practiced his profession here for several years. Mrs. M. V. Brewington is a sister, while Mr. E. C. Fulton of The Farmers & Merchants Bank, is a brother.

The Future Battleship.
 London March 23.—The battleship of the future is to be a strangely weird-looking craft if the designs which have been worked out prove practicable. The Institution of Naval Architects has been holding a conference in London this week and an important paper read and discussed was one which dealt with "The Influence of Machinery on the Gun Power of the Modern Warship." This showed that if a large number of guns are to be effectively mounted they must all be placed so as to fire on either broadside. In the Dreadnought out of ten 12-inch guns only eight fire on either broadside. To enable all ten to fire with the utmost effect it was shown that funnels must be abolished and also all deck erections. But if funnels are to be eliminated steam can no longer be used and the boiler must go. The great firm of Vickers has faced this fact and after three years of almost continuous research work has now perfected a system of gas machinery for propelling a ship.
 An explosive engine in a word is to displace the steam engine. The design for such a vessel has been worked out. She has no funnels and is thus an extraordinary looking craft. Her speed will be higher than that of any existing battleship. Her dimensions are moderate, but carries batteries more powerful than even the Dreadnought, since all ten guns can fire on either beam, and six ahead or astern. This is to be the ship of the future.

Admiral Sir E. Fitzgerald who opened the discussion deprecated the adoption of too hasty generalization from the result of battle, meaning that of the Sea of Japan. He remembered the battle of Lissa, and because one vessel was rammed and sunk there every warship for 30 years was fitted with a monotrocity on the bows, called a ram, which in these years had sunk many friends, but never a foe.
 With regard to the adoption of oil as fuel he wondered what would happen if a shell came in the oil reservoir. The oil would all run out, if it did not explode, and the ship would be left without fuel, or, if the oil in one set of tanks escaped, with a heavy list to one side.

Admiral Sir G. Noel said that if the marine gas engine forehanded could be produced there was no doubt that they would give ships higher speed and a much wider radius of action.
 Admiral Sir E. Fremantle remarked that there could be no question of advantages which would ensue if a battleship's decks could be cleared of the lumberance of the funnels, uptakes and similar appliances necessary with steam engines. One of the things which would result would be that ships would not be liable to sudden reduction of speed from the destruction of her funnels.

Internal combustion engines would get rid of that, but it was usually found that with all the improvements introduced there was generally an increased possibility of damage and disaster.
 Sir William White pointed out that in attempting to reduce the diameter and, therefore, the weight of torrets the exposed portion of the guns was liable to destruction. At the battle of Tsushima this portion, some cases, had been shot entirely away. With regard to oil or gas engine, he believed that their day was coming.

Lieut. A. T. Dawson believed that the advent of gas engines for marine use was nearer than Sir William White and many more appeared to realize.—The Baltimore Sun.

Good Roads And Automobiles At The Jamestown Exposition.
 Norfolk, Va.—When for greater speed and heavier hauling the present mammoth locomotives, with their greater traction power became a necessity to meet the requirements of land traffic road beds, rails and bridges were renewed to meet the new demands upon them. When horse-car gave place to trolley and the trolleys branched out into the open country, not only new mechanical devices were essential but laws were required to give this class of public carrier the rights and privileges necessary to their profitable operation.
 The most material factor that transportation will next have to deal with, and certain it is that before this new self-propelling machine can be brought to its full usefulness it must be provided with suitable roads. The bicycle and the automobile have brought about a propaganda for good roads which the farmer with his old-fashioned vehicle ought to have insisted on having long ago. His awakening to the material advantages of good roads promises now, indeed, to be the principal influence that will give to the automobile its opportunity.
 The Jamestown Exposition is going to do something for the farmer; the roads and the automobile. The auto can push itself but it doesn't lay its own track though a self-track-laying machine was invented once and described and illustrated in the papers. The exposition is going to show what a good road is—many kinds of good roads—how they are made and what an automobile can do on them. A very fine boulevard is being laid and drawing nearing completion, between Norfolk and the Exposition grounds at Sewell's Point and a regular automobile service is to be maintained. The War Department and the Post Office Department are to experiment on this road, for purposes each relating to its own service.
 New Jersey is to have among other exhibits, a specimen bit of road such as has been built in that state under state aid and has been found to be an economical construction, while in so far as good road building has advanced, it has fully realized all promises of great benefit, increasing the value of country lands, drawing population from city into suburb and making a material saving in the cost of agricultural draying.
 Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York with New Jersey have taken the lead in state aid and in the last ten years their efforts have resulted in proving not only the value of good roads, but the expediency of State appropriations, and in other states in which the movement has made any headway, the results have justified the inauguration of the state aid idea and proved an incentive to further effort.
 The south is awake to the needs of good roads and some of her senators have been among the leaders in advocating national appropriations for good roads, urging that it is a question of expediency and as much a function of the general government as is the dredging of channels and creeks and the giving of public lands to encourage railroad building in the west.
 Pittsburg got the Good Roads convention this year but its members are invited to the Jamestown Exposition and the question will find full discussion among experts and the prediction is made that the Exposition will give promulgation to some advanced ideas as to the place of the automobile in the transportation world of the not distant future.
 The automobile in all its shapes—as roadster, racer, delivery wagon and heavy dray will be shown at the Exposition—and its full development will be found to await only the day of the Good Roads. Cor.

I am a chef for a large café on Broadway, and I had to stay at home several times because of this affliction. Diet And Digestion.
 Wheat bread requires three and one half hours for perfect digestion. Alexis St. Martin digested broiled venison steak in one and one half hours.
 Oyster soup requires from three to four hours for proper digestion. Vinegar taken with food greatly delays and sometimes entirely prevents proper digestion.
 Cocoa is believed to have no effect either in promoting or retarding the digestion of other foods.
 Condiments and stimulants are not really foods. They are simply whips to appetite or digestion.
 Raw apples, sour and hard, may be digested in a little less than three hours; when mellow, the time is reduced to two.
 Kneading the stomach was once a favorite treatment for indigestion and dyspepsia. An attempt was made in this way to imitate the natural motion of the stomach.
 Recruits in the British army are often attacked by what is called "meat fever," a complaint caused by a change from meager and unwholesome diet to the strong ration of the army.
 Is a marvelous provision of nature that digestion is an involuntary operation. If a man had to think over his digestion whenever he ate a meal, nobody would have time to do any work.
 Dry bread is much easier of digestion than fresh. It is estimated by physiologists that over ten per cent of dry bread undergoes salivary digestion while being masticated, while of fresh bread less than two per cent is thus changed.
 It has been proved by actual experiment that tea retards digestion. An infusion of one per cent of tea causes a visible delay; a three per cent infusion will delay digestion sometimes twelve times the normal period; a ten per cent decoction arrests the digestion of all starchy foods.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

BACKACHE AND DESPONDENCY
 Are both symptoms of organic derangement, and nature's warning to women of trouble which will sooner or later declare itself.
 How often do we hear women say, "It seems as though my back would break." Yet they continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, dragging sensations, nervousness and no ambition.
 They do not realize that the back is the main spring of woman's organization and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the feminine organs or kidneys, and that aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs has been for many years the most successful remedy in such cases. No other medicine has such a record of cures of feminine ills.
 Miss Lena Nagel, of 117 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—"I was completely worn out and on the verge of nervous prostration. My back ached all the time. I had dreadful periods of pain, was subject to fits of crying and extreme nervousness, and was always weak and tired."
 Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me completely. It cured my Backache, Falling and Displacement, and all Organic Diseases. Dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. It strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache and Indigestion and invigorates the whole feminine system.

A Mecca For Shad.

Hail to the bay shad! Even now it has commenced its welcome annual invasion of the Baltimore market.

Every year about the first of March good Maryland housewives who know a toothsome dish when they see it begin to get out their pine planks and to fix their culinary apparatus for the bay shad's coming.

Most Baltimoreans know that the trade in bay shad in this city is large. Few, however, have ever given the subject sufficient thought to find out for themselves just what are its real proportions.

There is a legend among the fish dealers that the Fish Commission in Washington, in that officiously paternal way the Government bureaus have sent a representative here to discover how great the trade was.

"How many bay shad do you ship?" he would ask with pad in hand. "How many?" they'd say, looking quickly up from their work of crating.

It is also said that the expert dreamed of fish tails for many nights after his return to the restful white city. There are variations to the story. The fish merchants, when they have time, delight in telling it artistically to the easy looking stranger.

One factor that adds to the difficulty of estimating the size of the industry is the fact that the seasons differ markedly in gross catch. Some years there will be good weather and plenty of shad in the rivers.

There is very little fishing done in the open bay itself. After the spawning season the fish become soft and rather without taste. Also, they go back to the ocean again, which would effectually close the season even if they were just as delectable then as at any other time.

There are three months in this period and one may count on an average of 60 days fit for fishing. Shad cannot be caught on rainy, cloudy days, or when there is a heavy wind off shore. It is only on clear, fair days, when here is little breeze, that they attempt to enter the rivers and find spawning beds.

Now the average export of an average house here in Baltimore on a fair day is 25 barrels, and there are just about 30 average fish exporting houses. In a barrel of fish there are either 90 roe shad or 90 buck, approximately, depending of course, upon the weight of the fish. Now then, recalling the factor found above of 60 fair days throughout a season, one has a basis for a rough approximation of Baltimore's bay shad shipments.

If 30 houses in Baltimore export 25 barrels a day for 60 days there will be 45,000 barrels exported in that time. Thirty times 25 is 750 and this multiplied by 60 gives 45,000.

Now, in a barrel there are either 90 or 90 fish. The number of books and roe caught is about even, so a compromise between the two can be effected, and one can say that in the average barrel for export there are 75 fish.

Finally, now, if there are 75 fish to a barrel and 45,000 barrels, how many fish are exported? The answer is easy. Multiply 75 by 45,000 and one gets 3,375,000. This enormous number of fish is annually shipped from Baltimore.

Farm For Rent.

Two-horse farm near Salisbury furnish team and implements. Renters can furnish same if preferred.

North as New York simply to taste shad planked in its home town. The fish does not taste right without the local color.

Many private individuals in the city are also large customers of the fish, and the retail trade in the market is naturally very large.

Considering, now that the local trade is one third that of the export, what does it amount to? One third of 3,375,000 is 1,125,000. This number of bay shad is sold in Baltimore alone every year.

The gross proportions of Baltimore's bay shad commerce can be found by adding together the two figures just obtained. Three million three hundred and seventy five thousand plus 1,125,000 gives a result of 4,500,000. This enormous figure is a fair approximation of the average number of bay shad handled by Baltimore merchants annually.

It is interesting to consider what economic value this calculation has. The average selling price of a shad is 60 cents. This is a very reasonable estimate. How much is the industry worth to Baltimore in a pecuniary way, then? This is found by multiplying 4,500,000 by 60. The result is $2,700,000.

The average weight of a shad is about four pounds. In the beginning of the season the best are caught in the Rappahannock and the York and James rivers. Later on, as the fish go farther north, the finest specimens come from the neighborhood of Rockhall and the Chester river, on the Eastern Shore.

In general the best varieties of the fish are caught in the saltiest water. Those thus captured keep longer and have firmer meat and better taste. The York and the Rappahannock rivers at the fishing grounds, are both salty. Probably this is because of the extensive marshes around them. The same reasoning holds for the Rockhall region.

The last specimens of the fish are caught in the head waters of the bay around the Susquehanna, after which having made their pilgrimages, they seemingly fold their tents, and, like the Arabs, silently steal away.

Baltimore's export business reaches many places, going so far north as the New-England States and in the West even to Idaho and Iowa. For shipment the fish are packed in ice.

60 times 6,000 is 360,000. Now, 360,000 pounds of ice is equivalent to 180 tons, and the average price is $5 a ton. Thus the income to Baltimore fishermen from this source is 180 multiplied by $5, or $900—not a great deal.

Baltimore seems to be the distributing point for the entire eastern and western shores of the Chesapeake, even so far down as Norfolk. At each of the little towns in the water counties the fish are collected and brought on to this city by steamers.

There are many who think that mental dyspepsia should be ranked among the recognized diseases. It is characterized by a sour visage, inability to see the good side of anything and a general disposition to make other people miserable. Not infrequently it is a direct outgrowth of the other sort of dyspepsia and disappears when the other yields to treatment. In this treatment well known medical men are now using with much success a prescription compound of one quarter oz of Fluid Extract of Buchu, one oz. of Buiso Mixture, one quarter oz. Fluid Extract Gentian Compound and 15 ozs. water. If the stomach is sour, two tablespoonfuls of baking soda are added to the above. The dose is a tablespoonful three times a day, to be taken before meals. The material for this prescription may be purchased at any reliable pharmacy at small cost.

FAIR PRIMARIES—THE ONLY WAY.

Ex-Gov. Frank Brown's masterful handling of the organization's side of the late primary fight in Baltimore City has caused much of favorable comment throughout the state.

Ex-Gov. Brown's dictation of the kind that the Ex-Gov. used is not open to much criticism. That all parties in order to meet success at the polls must have a strong and efficient organization behind it, has long been recognized.

Ex-Gov. Brown's dictation, if it can be so termed, of this kind loses many of its objectionable features, and as long as the honesty of the party or parties is not open to question will on the whole prove satisfactory to the majority of voters.

Then good men will be selected to represent the people and those men will realize that no one man nor any set of men made them, and that therefore their chief duty will be to please the masses—and the old system of obligation to a political boss will be forever done away with.

Will Take Off Trains.

Announcement made that the Pennsylvania Railroad plans to reduce its expenditures to a minimum because of the increased cost of operation did not come as a surprise to railroad interests.

Asserting that the passage of the two-cent fare bill will cut down materially the earnings from the passenger business of the company, it is the plan of the officers of the Pennsylvania to cut down as far as possible any further improvements along this line, so that the "decrease" in earnings that is expected this year can be made up to some extent.

Change in Train Service. On Sunday, April 21st, new trains will be put on the N. Y. P. and N. and P. B. and W. R. R., for the purpose of carrying passengers to and from Jamestown Exposition.

The train arriving here at 11.45 a. m., and running to Pocomoke, will run to Cape Charles instead.

A new train will arrive here at about midnight, northbound. This will be in addition to the present train at 1.00 a. m.

Train No. 47, will be run every day. A new southbound week-day train to arrive here at about 5.00 a. m., will be put on.

Train No. 46, northbound, and now starting from Pocomoke, will start from Cape Charles.

Railroad News. R. V. Massey, formerly of Dover, for some time supervisor of Division No. 2, P. B. and W. Railroad, later supervisor of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Pittsburg, has been appointed assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania system at Reading and assumed his new charge April 1. He is a son of George V. Massey, formerly of Dover, general counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

People who "take notice" must have observed a growing sentiment in this country in favor of using not only put-up foods and medicines of known composition.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription stands alone as the only ready put-up medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments that bears on the wrapper a full list of the ingredients composing it, printed in plain English.

It is the "Favorite Prescription" of a Specialist in woman's diseases and not a "patent medicine." Made of the roots of native, medicinal plants without alcohol or other harmful ingredients, Dr. Pierce's "Prescription" has been the favorite cure for the weaknesses, pains, drains and disorders of the womanly system which has stood the test for forty years of experience.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet giving ingredients and what well recognized authorities of all schools of medicine say of them.

The Kidneys. The kidneys must be numbered among the most vitally important organs of the body, as upon their proper action depends in large measure the general health.

TO TEACH MUSIC.

Mrs. Shenk To Receive Pupils At Her Home In Salisbury.

Kunkel's graded course of studies and pieces for the piano which was prepared by Mr. Charles Kunkel, assisted by Paderewski, Rosenthal, Moszkowski and Leschetizky, contains a selection of Mrs. J. J. Shenk entitled "Memory's Dreams," under her maiden name of Ahalt. Mrs. Shenk, it is understood, will open up a class of music in Salisbury. Prof. and Mrs. Shenk, who have recently moved to town from their farm near here, conducted a seminary in Brunswick for over fifteen years, when on account of the failing of Mrs. Shenk's health, due to the great mental strain she had been under for so many years, they decided to try the country for a while, purchasing a farm of W. J. Ward in Nutter's District about four miles from here. Mrs. Shenk's health has improved very much and she is now able to continue in her chosen musical work.

The Brunswick Md., Herald had the following to say about Prof. and Mrs. Shenk when they left that place: "Prof. and Mrs. J. J. Shenk, accompanied by Miss Lottie Harbaugh, left last week for their future home on the Eastern Shore of Maryland much to the regret of their host of friends here. Prof. Shenk conducted a seminary in Brunswick for about fifteen years, having removed that institution from Burkittsville, this valley, in 1901. By their kind acts and nobleness of heart this family won the respect and esteem of the people of this town, and they go to their new home bearing the best wishes for future welfare of everybody who knew them. Prof. and Mrs. Shenk and Miss Harbaugh were great workers in both Sunday School and church and were devout Lutherans. They were largely instrumental in building up the church in this town, and their efforts were appreciated by the members of that congregation. Mrs. Shenk and Miss Harbaugh are accomplished musicians. The Herald wishes them a prosperous future."

—The membership of the Methodist Protestant Church here, in company with many outside friends welcome the return of their pastor for another conference year. Mr. Phillips had several calls, but considered this his real call.

Young Men, There Is No Clothing For Sale In Salisbury Like Thoroughgood's.

Lacy Thoroughgood went into the market early this fall with the cash to buy his Spring and Summer goods. He examined the offerings of all the notable makers. After careful comparison Lacy Thoroughgood bought $20,000 worth of the finest Clothing, Hats, Shirts, Neckwear, Underwear, Hosiery, Suspenders, that could be found. There's no "IFS," no "BUTS" about it; Thoroughgood's got the best clothing that was on the market, and the best this season is way ahead of the best a year ago. It means that Thoroughgood can show you more style, better fabrics, better wearing suits, better fitting suits than any merchant who had to take one of the lines that Thoroughgood refused to buy; and, as Thoroughgood said, he took a long, careful look at practically everything that was offered. Come and try on a suit that was made to fit a man of your size. Lacy Thoroughgood SALISBURY, MD. James Thoroughgood.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a wasteful thing to treat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to load it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active.

THE FIRST WRESTLING MATCH.

April 14, '07--(Gen. 32:9-12; 22 30.)

Jacob, who had a vision of angels at Bethel, thirty years afterward had an awful nightmare at Peniel. He had gone smoothly for months and years, oblivious of his mistreatment of his brother Esau, fondly fancying that his fault was forgotten, prosperous and contented with his family and great possessions around him. The shrewd, prosperous, influential man, now is returning to the home he had left to escape his brother's wrath, and suddenly he is brought face to face with the whole shameful transaction. The ghost of yesterday's sin stands before him in the midnight. He is alone by the brook Jabbok. The cold perpiration starts out upon him, and he trembles in view of the approaching Nemesis.

What was it that so frightened this man into such desperate attempts to buy off his adversary and blunt the edge of the spear of vengeance with gifts and offerings? Word had been brought to him that his wronged and outraged brother was riding down upon him at the head of a troop of 400 retainers, his vengeance whetted by the sight of his enemy, his lust for plunder by the swarming herds and slaves in full view. Esau's purpose has hardened into steel. With eyes and weapon unswerving he is rushing upon the unarmed herdman.

And now at last the poor, chattering, cheating, hypocritical Jacob, sees himself as others see him, and he flings himself upon the ground by the brook Jabbok, one of the most penitent sinners the world has ever seen. It was midnight in the natural world, but there was a darker midnight in Jacob's soul. The prick of Esau's sword would have brought blood, but the sting of his awakened conscience inflicted a deeper wound. The spear-point would have pricked his body, conscience thrust a dart through his soul.

The stairway that Jacob saw was pressed only by the unsubstantial feet of angels. He saw no earth-born pilgrims toiling up that steep. It was enough for him to realize that communication was open between the two worlds. Some people are content to go no further. They are constantly on the lookout for visitors to come tripping down those stairs with spirit messages. But to the enlightened, that stairway is a turnpike to be pressed by human feet. It is not so much a question of returning spirits as it is of departing souls. Will that ladder soar up the weight of human beings who tread the rungs, in their exit from this world of trouble? Does it span the chasm? Are these permanent abodes on the farther side. Just beyond the reach of human vision? Those are the questions with which we are most concerned.

But Jacob is not the only man who has had a midnight wrestle with a mysterious enemy. Every man sooner or later camps by the brook Jabbok. Sometimes it is a swarthy habit with which he wrestles. The evil passion has dogged his steps for years, until at last in an agony of soul a Waterloo combat has been waged. There are writhings, and distortions and groanings that cannot be uttered. But at last, in the dawning of the morning, the giant falls, and the triumphant wrestler breaks into a victorious cry.

Happy is that man who can look back over a long life without arousing thoughts that trouble him. Happy is he who can pass the night in solitude by the brook Jabbok without being gripped by the ghost of bygone days. To be alone with one's conscience may be the greatest trial. Solitary confinement to a sensitive soul must be more demoralizing than hard labor. No wonder that some midnight experiences cause the hair to turn white in a single night. Jacob wrestling with the unknown antagonist who seems determined to take his life is a type of millions who have faced, and faced alone, gigantic influences striving for the mastery.

And from that hour Jacob bore the marks of the conflict. He became a victor, but only after he had exhausted all his human strength. When he found that he had at last met his master, he fell prostrate, and clinging and beseeching and praying was fully answered. But he was a marked man ever after. He could not conceal his limp. His whole character was changed by the brook Jabbok. Reconciliation with his brother, and a long and peaceful life was the result of that night of agony. So there are millions of men and women who bear the marks of conflict. There is something in the glance of the eye, in the tones of the voice, in the color of the hair which speaks of the midnight wrestle. The calm has followed the storm, the bitter fruit has come to sweetness, the fragrance of a full-blown flower is in the air.

The Purple Poppy

By Grace R. Dwellley.

One doesn't expect a man to butt in where women tread with dainty feet, nor does one look for such interest to be displayed by a man as Roger Camp showed that raw November night when he followed the Purple Poppy up the avenue. But the interest developed when it first passed by, flaunting in incomprehensible pride from a fur hat, black like the hair it sought to cover, but which Roger saw the soft wave just back of one pink ear.

"It was on a black fur hat with a Purple Poppy on it," he said dramatically to his friend later in the evening. But the friend merely laughed and asked how long poppies had been purple and invited him to take something to brace himself up with. So he accepted the invitation and tried to forget it all, beginning with the sound of the quick, firm step behind him, the sudden glimpse of her face, the glory of the Purple Poppy that nodded a signal to him.

He had followed a long way, lost it, welcomed it again among a queer bobbing ocean of heads, had striven to catch up with it, and watched it disappear with a queer, sinking sensation. It flew up the steps of the English tea room. Probably she was hungry or thirsty, or whatever women are when frequent tea rooms.

He reached that conclusion while he stood watching the soft glow that marked the windows where she must be. But it suddenly came to him that he could not reasonably expect such luck as that, and knew that if he were to come face to face with the Purple Poppy and learn just why that enigmatical thing had beckoned to him down the street, it would be through his own endeavors. Then through a window got in his work, and without letting go its grip, sent him up the steps that had stood the shock of the Purple Poppy's passage.

"Yes, sah," said the little brass-buttoned dandy at the door. "She just went in; yes, sah," and the girl enveloped him as Roger slipped a coin in the willing palm. The light dazzled him so that he couldn't have told the Purple Poppy had he seen it. A bright-faced girl caught his eye and he followed her white cap to an obscure corner.

Then an unheard of thing happened. The Purple Poppy came and sat down directly opposite him, glanced at him seriously and said in a voice of molten sweetness and strangeness in his ears afterwards, "I was so afraid you wouldn't come. I hurried, but I meant that you should come just the same."

DON'T GO AROUND GROANING.

It Is Your Own Fault If You Continue To Suffer.

Why do you go around the house complaining, making yourself and everybody else miserable. It is your own fault if you suffer from Rheumatism, Scurvy, Gout, or other painful troubles that come from bad blood. Science has at last found a complete and palatable cure for all these diseases.

After years of careful study of the cause and cure of such diseases, Rheumatism was discovered. Rheumatism has been used in thousands of cases that were deemed incurable and has performed complete cures. Rheumatism has cured after famous specialists have failed, and has cured a number of sufferers who spent months at the noted John Hopkins Hospital in vain.

The reason Rheumatism cures when liniments, oils and all other remedies have failed is that it goes right to the seat of disease, sweeps out the poisonous germs and acids out of the blood, and removes the cause. It "gets at the joints from the inside." Rheumatism builds up the entire system, and "makes you well all over."

Mrs. Laura D. Gardner, of 1301 James street, Baltimore, was cured after she had suffered the most terrible torture for sixteen years. She writes: "People in my neighborhood where I have lived for more than twenty years, will testify as to my condition before being cured by Rheumatism. At times my suffering was so great it could not be torn from me. I write you this letter because I feel so grateful for the benefit I have received, and am daily recommending the medicine to my friends."

The Pope, when recently asked about his health, said: "I need have no fear, for I know I have yet six years to live." When some astonishment was expressed as to such a positive prediction he is said to have explained: "I was vicar at Tombolo nine years, head priest nine years at Solano, nine years canon at Treviso and bishop of Mantua and patriarch of Venice for the same length of time. I have been Pope for three years, so you see I have six years left to me in which to accomplish my task."

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Salisbury Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work. If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys. "Twould save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, Salisbury people endorse this: Mrs. G. W. Fooks, wife of G. W. Fooks, County Sheriff, of the Court House says: "I have suffered off and on with kidney complaint for the last eight years. It came on me gradually and continued to get worse. I felt tired and weak, was short of breath. One doctor told me I had kidney disease and it would finally result in Bright's disease. I was laid up at one time for three weeks. I was feeling very miserable when I went to White & Leonard's drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills. I had not taken them more than three days when the distressing aching across my back disappeared. I have great faith in this remedy and I know if anyone will take the remedy as directed they will receive beneficial results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, are sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

—Martinsville, Ill.—Douglas township, in Clarke county, probably is the proud holder of a unique distinction. It is the only township in the State without a church, lawyer, doctor, preacher, justice of the peace, constable or pauper. There is not even an oil well in the place, although there are many wells in the surrounding territory.

CURES ALL SKIN TROUBLES.

Sulphur the Accepted Remedy For A Hundred Years. Sulphur is one of the greatest remedies nature ever gave to man. Every physician knows it cures skin and blood troubles. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur enables you to get the full benefit in most convenient form. Don't take sulphur "tablets" or "wafers," or powdered sulphur in molasses. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur is pleasant to take and perfect in its action. Druggists sell it.

—A well known citizen of Danville, Pa., writes: "I have had an aggravated case of Bozema for over twenty five years. I have used seven 50 cent bottles of the Liquid, and one jar of your Hancock's Liquid Sulphur Ointment and now I feel as though I had a brand new pair of hands. It has cured me and I am certain it will cure anyone if they persist in using Hancock's Liquid Sulphur according to directions." —Butler Edgar.

—"Elsie," said the little girl's mother, who was tidying up their cabin as the big ocean liner started down the bay, "where's your father?" "Why," replied the little girl, "I think he's upstairs on the side porch." Philadelphia Press.

IF I SHOULD DIE TONIGHT.

If I should die to-night, My friends would look upon my quiet face. Before they laid it in its resting place, And deem that death hath left it almost fair, And laying snow white flowers against my hair, And smoothing it down with tearful tenderness, And fold my hands with lingering caresses, Foot hands so empty and so cold to-night.

If I should die to-night, My friends would call to mind with loving thought Some gentle word the frozen lips hath said, Some kindly deed the icy hands had wrought, Errands on which my willing feet had sped, The memory of my selfishness and pride.

My happy words would all be cast aside, And so I should be loved and mourned to-night.

If I should die to-night, Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me, Recalling the days remorsefully: The eyes that look upon me with averted glance Would look upon me as of yore, perchance, And often in the old familiar way, For who could quarrel with dumb, unconscious clay? So I rest forgiven of all tonight.

Oh, friends, I pray to-night, Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow: The way is lonely—let me feel them now: Think gently of me; I am travel worn, My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn; Forgive, O hearts estranged, forgive, I plead; When dreamless rest is mine I shall not need The tenderness for which I long to-night. —Evelyn M. Lande.

The Human Body.

It is worth while to remember that the human body has the most perfect sewerage system that has ever been devised. Just as in that of a great city, the sewerage system of the individual is designed to carry away the waste, which, allowed to collect, would cause discomfort in all probability, followed by serious disease. Hence the sewers of the body must not be allowed to become clogged. Yet that is just what is the matter with the man or woman who suffers from constipation. And when constipation becomes chronic, more is required for its permanent relief than a mere passage of the bowels. Governing muscles must be strengthened and restored to their natural condition of elasticity. Many physicians of repute find that this can be done by the use of the following prescription: one half oz. Fluid Extract of Senna, one half oz. Rochelle Salts, one oz. Ar. Sargada, 30 grains Bicarbonate of Soda, one half oz. Water and one and one half ozs. of Glycerine. A teaspoonful of this is given at bed time and before each meal, and this is continued until there is free movement of the bowels. The ingredients indicated are obtainable at any first class pharmacy.

AMERICAN OFFICERS OF HIGH RANK AND OTHERS ENDORSE PE-RU-NA.

Prominent People Recommend the Remedy Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Hartman's World Renowned Catarrh Medicine.

A Remedy for the Grip.
Gen. W. H. Parsons, 925 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes as follows: "Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials to the efficacy of Peru-na in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula."

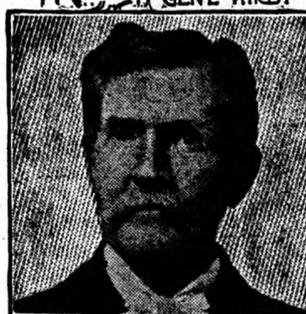

"I feel a decided change for the better by its use for one week only, especially in toning up the stomach, and a consequent decided effect upon my appetite. "I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration."

Peru-na a Good Tonic.
Gen. M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, writes from Washington, D. C., as follows: "I can recommend Peru-na for dyspepsia and stomach trouble. "I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved. "It is indeed a wonderful medicine, and besides a good tonic."

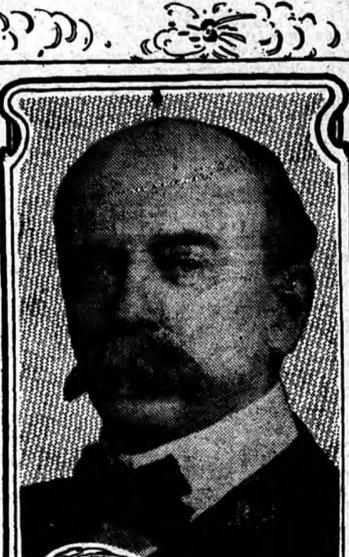

Colds in the Head and Throat.
Olas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adj. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows: "Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peru-na. "I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat. "I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions. "I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack. "Members of my family also use it for like ailments. "We are recommending it to our friends."

An Invigorating Tonic.
Rear-Admiral Highborn, U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., writes: "After the use of Peru-na for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."

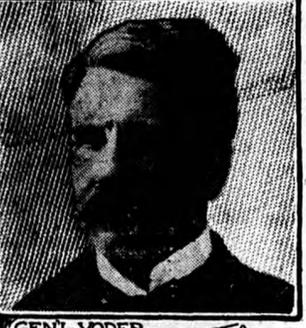

For Catarrh of the Stomach.
Gen. W. W. Duffield, Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used Peru-na in my family and have found it a valuable medicine and take pleasure in recommending it to all who suffer from catarrh of the stomach or who require a tonic of prompt efficacy."

Recommends Pe-ru-na to the Afflicted.
Brig. Gen. D. T. Kirby, Washington, D. C., writes concerning Peru-na, as follows: "Friends of mine having used your Peru-na catarrh cure with good results, I am impressed with its curative qualities, and can recommend it to those who are afflicted."

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH—RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.
Gen. A. M. Legg, writes from the Savings Bank Building, Washington, D. C., as follows: "I take pleasure in endorsing the many recommendations I have heard and read of Peru-na, because of having had knowledge of the truth of so many of them. "We always tell our sick and ailing friends of the remedies that we have learned, from experience, were good for us when ailing in the same way, and we do it as a duty we feel that we owe them. "Why is it any the less our duty to advise all the people we can when we know of a good and comparatively inexpensive remedy that makes many cures, and benefits in almost all cases? "My own little personal experience of being relieved of deafness, caused by a stage of catarrh, warrants me in advising all the afflicted to just try Peru-na."

Used Pe-ru-na—Satisfied As to Its Merits—Recommends It to All Sufferers.
Gen. S. S. Yoder, 208 Md. Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I desire to say that I have found Peru-na to be a wonderful remedy. I only used it for a short time and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits. I shall gladly recommend it to all sufferers."

When Other Remedies Failed Pe-ru-na Proved Efficacious.

Hon. Geo. W. Honey, National Chaplain U. V. U., Ex-Chaplain 4th Wisconsin Cavalry, Ex-Treas. State of Wisconsin and Ex-Q. Master General State of Texas, G. A. R., writes from 1700 First street, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows: "I cannot too highly recommend your preparation for the relief of catarrhal troubles in their various forms. "Some members of my own family have used it with most gratifying results. "When other remedies failed, Peru-na proved most efficacious and I cheerfully certify to its curative excellence."

Peru-na, a Standard Treatment For Catarrhal Diseases.

Mr. John C. Nelson, Dayton, Tenn., geologist and mining engineer, while a Captain in the Federal Army during the Civil War, contracted a case of rheumatism. This malady was constant and persistent, inducing the development of other ailments, which also became chronic. After taking a course of Peru-na, Capt. Nelson writes: "Having been painfully afflicted with chronic rheumatism and the adjunctive complications for many years, and after having received many general and special treatments with only temporary relief, I read your scientific treatise on catarrhal diseases. "At my request you prescribed a special course of the Peru-na remedy, which I closely followed, and am happy to report that my rheumatism and complicated ailments are subdued, and I feel young again at the age of 69 years. "Reason will accept your classification of catarrhal diseases as scientific and true, and the Peru-na remedies as a standard treatment for them. I thank you heartily for your skill and logical advice."

Enjoy's Renewed Health and Strength.

James J. Osborn, 628 Wahatch Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., has filled all the positions in Knight Templars Masonic Order, was a Mason since 1866, Judge of County Court, Clinton, Mo., and also County Collector of Clinton, He writes: "A sluggish liver which I had been troubled with for two years made life miserable and I was unable to attend to my business half the time. I lacked energy, had headache most of the time, and my food distressed me and did not seem to do me a particle of good. "Reading of the many cures performed by Peru-na, I decided to try a bottle. Before I had taken many doses I felt better. "I took it as directed for two months when I was a well man."

For Kidney Trouble, Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

Gen. A. T. Hawley, 1536 25th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used Peru-na and find it very beneficial for kidney trouble, and especially good for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."

Convinced of Peru-na's Merit.
Brig. Gen. J. Floyd King, Washington, D. C., writes: "I unhesitatingly state that I am convinced Peru-na is a medicine which will effect all that is claimed for its use. "Those desirous of obtaining special directions with regard to the use of Peru-na should write to Dr. S. H. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio."

Plan to Fight Against "License."

Dover, April 9.—The temperance campaigners have entirely changed their program for fighting liquor and, according to the new plan, instead of wasting their energy, after the coming Kent term, in court, will concentrate on their strength and use it all for "no license" at the State election. If they beat a liquor applicant in court, another turns up and beats them.

All day yesterday the Revs. Robert Watt, of Smyrna; Alfred Smith of Wyoming, A. W. Lightbourne and Joseph Brown Turner of Dover; and Laymen Alexander M. Daly of Dover; and others, comprising the executive committee of the local option league held an enthusiastic campaign meeting for organization plans.

The call issued by the State convention by the combined sub-committees which met here all day yesterday, was as follows:
"Fellow Workers: A convention under the auspices of the Delaware State Temperance Alliance, will be held in Dover, Monday, April 22, at 10 a. m., to close with a public mass meeting at night in Wesley M. E. Church to be addressed by eminent speakers. It is important that the entire State be organized, and that there be uniformity of action.

"All ministers of the gospel, representatives of Young Peoples' Societies, of the W. O. T. U., Anti-Saloon League and all organizations that are against the saloon are urged to attend. A special invitation is extended to the political workers of all parties, who are favorable to local option. We desire their influence and advice both at the convention and during the campaign. Let us get together to perfect a plan of campaign.

Remember the time and place, Dover, Delaware, Monday, April 22. Let us make a sacrifice to be present. Do not fail. The hour has struck, let us seize the opportunity.

H. M. Waller's Residence Burned.

About seven o'clock last Friday evening the residence of Mr. H. M. Waller on North Second Street took fire from the overturning of a lamp. In her efforts to extinguish the flames, the clothing of Mrs. Waller was ignited. She and an invalid sister, Miss Richards, were the only persons in the house, and escaped without injury. The house and contents were totally destroyed. The volunteer Fire Department and the bucket brigade did valiant and effective service in saving the houses of P. S. Shockley and F. E. Lynch. The latter was on fire several times. Fortunately it was calm, or a more disastrous conflagration would have resulted.

To prevent danger from falling live electric light wires the current was turned off.
The loss is estimated at $3500. Insurance $1800.
Mr. W. O. Stephens extended the hospitality of his home to the family. Since then Mr. Waller has rented the house of Daniel E. Culver. He will rebuild in a short time.

Railroad Protection for Waists.
Because many women had complained that their shirtwaists and dresses of white material had been soiled by the hands of trainmen who had assisted them to board and alight from trains, the Pennsylvania Railroad has issued an order that hereafter conductors and brakemen shall refrain from the gallantry unless their services are requested or found to be necessary for the aged.

The order meets with the approval of the younger women who take pride in their immaculate attire but some of the elderly women may give the trainmen occasion to forget it.

POULTRY

SUCCESS WITH AN INCUBATOR.

Buy Only the Best and Study It Thoroughly.

Talk with some one who has used incubators; find out from him how much time he has given to operating his machine, and what per cent. of chicks he has hatched and raised on the average. He will probably overstate the results if he has been successful and this must be taken into account in your estimate of the machine, says Indiana Farmer.

Next to the choice of the machine in time and in importance comes the choice of a place to run it. You should select the room which shows least variation of temperature and is dry and well ventilated. A good color answers the purpose better than overground rooms. It has the additional advantage of a solid floor, which is worth taking into account. Some people make the mistake of choosing a room that is heated in the winter, but unless the heat is kept very even the whole twenty-four hours this is unwise. A cold room is no disadvantage, as a good incubator will keep up its temperature in spite of the cold outside.

The incubator should be set up solid and level, carrying out to the minutest detail the instructions of the maker. Heat the incubator several days before you are ready to put in the eggs so that it will run steadily at the desired temperature—102 1/2 or 103 degrees—for at least twenty-four hours before you risk your eggs in it. There is no space in this article to enter into details as to the previous care of the eggs. It is enough to say here that they should be fresh, clean and of similar character of shell to secure a good hatch.

Temperature.
Follow the directions that come with your machine, but remember that it is important to keep the temperature even. There will be a tendency to rise as the chicks develop in the shell, but this can be met by the regulating device on any good machine. If your temperature should go too high don't try to regulate by opening the machine, especially in the early stages of the hatch.

Turning the Eggs.
After the third day the eggs should be turned twice a day. A good way to turn them in such trays as have no division is to remove the inner row and then, with the palms of the hand, roll the eggs toward the center. Be sure your hands are free from grease when you handle the eggs. The eggs should be turned up to the nineteenth day, after which the machine should be kept absolutely closed till the hatch is over. Remember the machine should be closed from the first to the third and from the nineteenth to the twenty-second day.

Cooling.
Beginning with the fifth day the eggs should be cooled for a few minutes each day. Up to the twelfth day this cooling should not exceed five to ten minutes. From the thirteenth to the seventeenth day the period should be much longer and vary according to the outside temperature. In warm weather two hours is none too much for the seventeenth day. Too much cooling in the early part of the hatch is thought to cause death in the shell and should be avoided.

Ventilation.
The amount of air admitted should be gradually increased. It is probably wise to keep ventilators closed till twelfth day, then open gradually till on the seventeenth day when they are wide open—unless the weather is quite cold. When the eggs begin to pip, close ventilators and keep closed till the hatch is over.

The Lamp.
The care of the lamp is one of the important matters connected with the incubator. It should be filled with first class oil once a day. The wick should be trimmed, and the burner cleaned twice a day. The flame should be kept at medium height so that in case of a cold snap it can be raised or if the outside temperature should rise it can be lowered. The care of the lamp is half the battle.

Testing.
It is wise to test your eggs, as it gives more room in the machine, removes spoiled eggs, keeping the air sweet, and helps you in regulating the air supply. About the seventh day test the eggs. Those that are fertile will show the embryo clearly developed. The air cell will also begin to show clearly.

Test again the fourteenth day, when the entire egg should be opaque, except the air cell, which occupies somewhere near one-third of the egg.
Success in testing will require some practice and experience. It is best to go slow the first hatch you try. But you will soon have no doubt about the chances of an egg at a single glance.

Don'ts of Poultry Raising.
Don't forget to feed regularly.
Don't disturb a sitting hen or an incubator when the chicks are hatching, wait twenty-four hours.
Don't put too many chicks in a brooder.

RUSSIAN DANGER SIGNALS.

Bells Tell of Trouble on Railroads in Czar's Empire.

At every distance of one verst, or two-thirds of a mile, along every Russian railway, there is a bell, which is connected with the others by an electric wire. These bells, or gongs, were put up for the purpose of giving two signals of distress in winter; one signal was that of "snowed up," and the other was "help," "help!" During the summer this signaling apparatus has not been used much, and now they are to give only one signal, namely, "burglars." When this signal is given, owing to the many attacks being made on Russian railways and railway stations, the nearest telegraph office has to give the alarm to the two nearest stations, so that for a distance of a few miles the entire neighborhood can be surrounded by troops and local policemen.

Work of Book Restorers.
Book restorers, as a rule, are most ingenious artists, and they can produce an imitation of a page of a rare book which will deceive hundreds of collectors. One particular restorer is known to have "doctored" over a thousand old books during the last two years, producing pages in facsimile and supplying colophons or decorated capitals. There is not a thing wanting to make a book complete, but this man cannot skillfully "fake," and the market is now being fairly flooded with his productions.

Moving a Lighthouse.
The feat of moving a lighthouse without taking it apart or dismantling it in any way has recently been accomplished at Ashtabula. The range light, weighing 65 tons and standing 65 feet high, was placed on a lighter and towed along the river a distance of 750 feet, and then successfully placed on a new site. It was raised by the use of jacks and moved on rollers to and from the lighter. Guy ropes held it in position while moving.

Demand for Good Sight.
The spectacle of youth of poor physique is becoming a great deal too common at Sandhurst. It has always been a mystery that the standard required for eyesight is not in these days of very long-range firing, invisible uniforms and visual signalling, good eyesight is of the utmost importance to a good officer, and the lack of it may risk his men's lives.—London Truth.

Home of the Peanut.
Botanists have placed the home of the peanut in Africa, but some authorities think it native to Brazil. Louisiana finds the Spanish variety—a small, but fine nut—best adapted to the climate of that State. The "goober grabbers" of Georgia and South Carolina like the small white and red peanut of Tennessee, and each year shows an increasing cultivation in those states of that variety.

Florida's Pestiferous Ants.
Anyone who is acquainted with the insect life of Florida will remember the ubiquitous ant; and now comes the alarm sounded in the Entomological News that several varieties of tropical ants have been discovered in Florida and Alabama, being recent introductions. One of these, which is an especially destructive pest, feeds on either vegetable or animal substances.

Japanese "Incense Parties."
"Incense parties" were a common feature of old Japan. Each of the guests had a little furnace, a small wooden box, packed with sand. On the top of this a small charcoal fire. Each woman in turn burned some incense and the others had to guess what it was. After every burning the windows were thrown open the room was cleared for the next experiment.

Saving a Coal Bill.
Paris pays to foreign countries $25,000,000 a year for coal. There is a project on foot of saving at least $4,000,000 of this by conveying electric power for light, heat and motor purposes from the River Rhone, by damming it near the falls of Bellegrave, and thus securing a fall 55 meters high, which would mean 100,000 horse power.

Losing His Nationality.
The London Mail mentions a fact that even a good many Germans do not know, viz., that the German emigrant keeps his German nationality for only ten years; after that, unless he has registered himself at a German consulate or embassy in the country to which he has emigrated, he automatically ceases to belong to the Fatherland.

Mechanical Stokers.
A machine that will hurl coal into the firebox of a locomotive at the rate of 200 shovelfuls a minute, if necessary, will lighten the labor of the fireman on many of the engines of the Northwestern road. An order has been placed for 700 of these mechanical stokers, at a cost of $250,000.

Weight Carried by Camels.
A camel can easily carry a weight of 1,000 pounds on its back. It can also carry as much as 2,000 pounds on its back. The camel is a very useful animal in the desert.

BEEES AND BEE KEEPING

BEEES ACTION ON GRAPE.

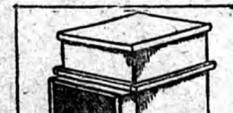

Experiments Show They Do Not Injure Some Fruit.

A writer in the American Bee Journal is of the opinion that bees never injure sound grapes and says: If we will watch and note that the bees are working in full force on the grapes or other fruit, and then select a cluster of grapes, remove all that are not perfectly sound, and hang the cluster where the bees may gain ready access to it, we will find that they leave the grapes entirely unharmed. If now we prick half of those grapes with a pin or needle, so that the juice exudes, and mark those punctured by tying a thread about the stem, we will find that while the bees will suck the pierced grapes entirely dry, they will leave all the others entirely unharmed.

We may even make a more crucial test. Shut the bees in the hive, ventilating them so they will not suffer, and take all food away from them. When their fasting has reached the danger limit, take a bunch of grapes, all of which are sound, and puncture and mark half of them as before. Now place this cluster in the hive, and we will find that only the punctured grapes will be sucked free of their juice. It is true that if wasp, bird or over-ripeness cause the juice to exude ever so little, then the bees will, at once come to save the wasting liquid. I have observed that when the grapes get very ripe, this escape of juice is not uncommon, and it often explains how it is that the bees may come in full force, and seem to attack the grapes without provocation.

I would not say that bees could not puncture grapes and other fruit. I have seen them cut wood with their strong jaws in a way that makes it seem to me possible that they might, if they only knew, cut into sound fruit; but it is not their way of doing. They only seek out the nectar when it is exposed, so that the odor may attract them. I have no idea that the bees ever search out sweets except as exposure gives them hint of their presence.

Screen to Confine Bees.
I have a plan for confining bees when stored which will interest beekeepers, says a writer in Field and Farmer. The general plan is brought out in the accompanying sketch. It consists of a wire screen fitted over the front of the hive so that the bees can crawl out if they desire, but can not fly away. This plan is particularly valuable in storing bees, as it allows the beekeeper to keep his bees in almost any place suitable for them. Four slats can be nailed to the front of the sides to attach the screen after the manner illustrated.

In Favor of Basswood Trees.
Every man who has anything to do with bees, and especially those who are enthusiastic in the matter of bee culture, should be interested in growing basswood trees—first, because it is, so far as we know, the greatest honey plant or tree in this whole country, says Gleanings in Bee Culture. While we say not that basswood honey is the best honey produced in the world, yet when thoroughly ripened (as it always should be) it comes pretty near being first class. Secondly, it looks just now as if the best and cheapest material for making sections to hold the honey is this same basswood. We have tested quite a good many kinds of lumber as a substitute, but do not find anything so good as white basswood. It is true some preparation of manufactured paper or pasteboard might answer; but it would cost a great deal more, and we doubt whether it would be any handsomer in appearance than our nicely polished basswood lumber.

In planting the basswood it is best to use one-year-old seedlings, which should be set out as soon as the frost is out of the ground and before the leaves unfold. As a rule it is advisable to space the trees about five feet apart each way.

Basswood does well when planted in pure stands, but it is also of value in mixture with white or red pine (on good soil), or with white elm, white oak, red oak, maple, or hickory.

In most situations to which basswood is adapted little cultivation is needed, since the heavy crown and rapid growth of the young trees will soon form dense cover, which will exclude grass and weeds, and furnish the proper soil conditions. Where the undergrowth is very rank, however, it is necessary to clear out the woods in order to give the trees a fair start.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (INCORPORATED)

ROMANTIC BUT DISPUTABLE.

Mr. Henry James asserts that the opinion of the American woman is generally: that her tastes are those of a man or white, which is undignified and offensive. Professor J. Laurence Laughlin of Chicago University denounces her slouchiness in dress and her glide and wriggle on the streets as ungraceful and undignified, says the New York Tribune.

This is brutally severe on either the American woman or Messrs. James and Laughlin. There has been a firm article of faith among American men—and we have not heard that the women dispute the view—that the American woman is the complete and perfect product of the land of freedom; that her speech is silver; and that in the matter of enduring herself in fine raiment she has all the rest of the Nations relegated to the back benches. Those infallible critics, Henry James and Laurence Laughlin, dogmatically declare that this article of faith is all wrong. If so, the foundations of social efforts are annihilated, since the real basic purpose of all our plots for the capture and subjugation of the elusive dollar is that our femininity may shine as the peaches and cream of humanity.

WARMS THAT NEVER HAPPEN.

They are at it again. Those profoundly wise experts who have the war map of the future plotted out in their imaginations conclude that nothing can save the United States from war with Japan—some say within thirty-five years and other within five years. Among European military men, it is said, this war is being freely discussed. They foresee even the course of the struggle. Japan would at once occupy the Philippines, and thus compel the United States to conduct campaigns across the wide ocean under immense disadvantages. The sorry plight of America may be already a source of enjoyment in European capitals. The experts who predict future wars, however, are old acquaintances. Their military records as forecasters throw all the village weather prophets into the deep, deep shade. It is true that they predicted every war that ever happened. But imagine, if you can, the number of wars they predicted that never did happen. The year does not pass in which they do not have some nation preparing to let loose the war dogs. No little unpleasantness can arise anywhere under the blue skies that they do not immediately set the drums to beating.—Springfield Republican.

THE NEW MEDIUMS.

Prof. Hyslop's discovery of a crop of new mediums came just in the nick of time, says the New York Mail. Pretty much all the old popular favorites had been discredited or were dead, and communication with the superworld, at least through the recognized channels, was becoming desultory and unsatisfactory. With seven new and competent interpreters the business is certain to pick up at once, and the professor will soon be "up to his neck" in psychic work—in untangling messages from Julius Caesar, Ignatius Loyola, George Washington, and the other disconcerted shades who usually monopolize the attention of the medium. While, therefore, Prof. Hyslop's announcement is of interest and result in new information regarding such subjects, for instance, as Julius Caesar's views on modern theories of government, it is not likely to put a dollar in anybody's pocket outside the profession, and hence, in this eminently mercenary age is a matter of little real consequence.

Behind the Rock.
By Thomas Fore.
Major Davis had the reputation of being a martinet, and whenever a private soldier found himself before a court-martial he would make up his mind that if the major had a voice in the matter he was as good as convicted.
There were those who excused the officer's harshness on the ground that he belonged to the old school—the school that looked upon the rank and file as dogs—but the fact remained that he was not popular with either his officers or his men.
Affairs in the Indian country were at peace when the post commander at Fort Brown applied for and secured a long leave of absence, and Major Davis was ordered to take charge in his place. In less than an hour later he began to issue general orders, and a groan of discontent was heard throughout the garrison.
Then began what was characterized as "a fun-a-diddle time." The lines of discipline were rigidly drawn and the drills were frequent and exacting. The finger of the martinet pointed in many directions, and the men who growled went to the guardhouse on a trot.
At all military posts there are a few favored men—who suffer now and then from old wounds or have performed brave deeds, and are tacitly allowed to take things easy.
Such a man was private Tom Gorman at Fort Brown. Two bullets had been fired into him as he rode with despatches across the plains one night, and though not incapacitated as a soldier he was given light duty and coddled up a bit.
The coddling ceased soon after the major's arrival. He was on the lookout for such men. They were returned to duty, and even given extra duty, and the mild protests of captains and lieutenants were met with the formal reply:
"This is a military post, not a hospital, and no man, unless excused by the doctor at sick-call, will be exempt from duty."
Private Gorman returned to duty with a complaint, and subsequent events proved that the martinet had a special eye on him. He was twice reprimanded during his company drill one day, and following that he was placed on sentry duty and took his post at midnight in a rainstorm.
It was an inside post and of no consequence. The wounded man took the chance of getting under shelter for a short time. The major went the round that night, caught him sleeping and saw him hurried off to the guardhouse.
Private Gorman did not serve out his sentence of 30 days in the guardhouse. When he had served five days he was assisted to escape. He was furnished with a carbine and food, and he went into hiding within three miles of the fort.
He felt that he had been unjustly treated and that he had been disgraced without cause, and he calmly and deliberately made up his mind to kill the man responsible. It was for this reason that he lingered near the fort.
Almost every morning the major rode down to the boiling spring, three miles down the rough trail, and there were 50 places where he could be ambushed. The spot selected was a big rock alongside the trail, and Tom was on watch there the morning after his escape.
It was seven o'clock before the echoes of the iron-shod hoofs of the major's horse reached his ears, and an instant later he was peering out from behind the rock.
It was the major, alone on the trail. No one was in sight in either direction.
As the soldier made ready with his carbine the major fell full his reins and drew a letter from his pocket. As he did so a photograph fell from the letter to the stony highway unnoticed by him. Queer as it may seem, curiosity about that photograph overbalanced Tom Gorman's thirst for revenge for the moment, and he let the officer pass.
A minute later he had the card in his hand. It was the picture of a little girl not over five years old—a sweet faced little thing—and underneath was written "From Elsie to Papa."
No soldier at Fort Brown had asked or could know whether their martinet was a married man or not. They had not discussed his home ties—only his discipline. Here was a new factor in the case. Gorman crept back to his ambush with his eyes fixed on the face, and his own features began to soften.
"From Elsie to Papa," he repeated over and over again.
Private Gorman found his heart in his throat. He was not a father, but he was a lover of children. He'd have given three months' pay to pick Elsie up in his arms and give her a kiss.
"You ain't to blame for it, little one. Whatever he is to us, and badly as he's used me, he loves you and you him, and I can't break your heart trying to get even. I'm here to kill him, and I was going to do it when he came back, but you're too sweet a thing to be left fatherless."
The major came riding back, his eyes on the ground as if looking for some lost object. At the rock he halted.
"If you hadn't lost it you would have been lying out there with a bullet through your heart!" whispered Gorman as he rose and looked after the disappearing major.
And then, thrusting the photograph into his breast pocket, he shouldered his carbine, gave himself a shake, and headed for the land of the outlaw and the deserter.

IN FAVOR OF APPLES.
"Apples breed optimism, energy, cheerfulness and ambition," says Charles Edmund Tomlinson, of Chicago, founder of the Apple Club of America. He is worthy successor and complement of "Applesauce Johnny." The latter traveled about the country half a century ago planting apple seeds wherever he went. Now Mr. Tomlinson is going about urging people to eat the fruit of the tree thus propagated, or any other tree, at the rate of at least one apple a day.
Life would be but a sorry proposition, especially on shipboard and in the arctic regions, were it not for the gift of the apple. It is the most universal of fruits, and the cheapest. North America produces annually about a hundred million barrels. Every week this country sends to Europe 250,000 barrels. The apple is decorative in color and outline, delicious to the palate, salubrious to the liver. Its juices prolong youth and retard the onset of the elder years by dissolving the mineral deposits that form along the blood channels. An apple will often cure the internal uneasiness caused by a strong cigar. It is the best "keeper" among fruits, and at winter's end the sole pledge of summer in the bins of most families.

THE FRENCH TAX ON TITLES.
It is proposed in France, where ingenuity in devising new sources of revenue has been raised to a fine art, to impose a tax on titles of nobility.
In a nation which has taxed windows and doors the proposal will not seem extraordinary. The odd thing is that the republic which has declared such titles fictitious should now recognize them as a means of national income. A point of interest for the outer world is that only genuine titles will be taxed. Their legitimacy will thus be guaranteed by Government stamp, and fathers of heiresses contemplating an investment may pay down the purchase money with the same assurance of validity which safeguard real-estate transactions, says the Denver Post.
The tax should be welcomed by the old nobles, whose rank it establishes beyond impeachment. They may yet, indeed, come to take a pride in their framed certificates of inspection only less than that in the original patent.
It will bear hardest on those not required to pay it—the holders of titles for whose authenticity the state will not vouch. Henceforth they will be classed as irregular issuers and dealt in only on the curb.

TRANSPLANTATION OF EYES.
A new surgical miracle is reported from Vienna, where Dr. Strom is stated to have successfully effected the partial reconstruction of the human eye. This is done by transplanting the sound cornea of one person to the optic of the patient. As an example of surgical skill it is remarkable; but its benefit to humanity is decidedly lessened by the fact that the gain to the patient is at the cost of the one who furnishes the sound cornea. Even though there should be such self-sacrifice the surgical science would not diminish the misfortune but would simply transfer it from one to the other.
There seems to be an idea in this connection that poor people will be found to sell sound eyes to people rich enough to pay high prices for them. Besides the odious imputation of the raison d'etre of the poor to sell essential parts of their lives to the rich this raises the question of appraisal. What sum will recompense a poor man for the loss of sight? What will pay him for half of it? We should say that anyone who undertakes to bargain with a poor man for one of his eyes would enter upon a very delicate and questionable negotiation.

WHAT CAN'T WE RAISE.
The announcement recently made that the marketing of the first crop of American tea grown on a commercial scale had begun at Charleston, S. C. What a wonderful country we have when we come to think of its unexampled variety of climate and temperature. We raise teabergs in the north and oranges, lemons and tropical fruit in the south, and in the golden west California has even adopted the fig tree, while the ostrich struts with as brilliant feathers as graced its wings on the torrid sands of Africa. We can raise all sorts of weather, all kinds of fruit, all kinds of men and women, all kinds of statesmen, but only one kind of loyalty thrives on this soil—reverence for the flag and devotion to the republic. Tea is something new, but still the possibilities of the country preface something greater still. It is a great communion of states, most happily described, "Many as the billows but one as the sea."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

NERVES IN GOOD ORDER.
In New York some 2,300 school boys and girls sat for fifteen minutes in quiet and order while smoke and flames were pouring from the front windows of the adjoining building and the fire-engines were at work in the street, says the New York World. Then they marched out exactly as usual. Yet a nerve specialist in Chicago declares we are moving swiftly and inevitably toward nervous prostration as a national malady and in two generations "we are doomed." It must be Chicago nerve in which he is a specialist.

REV. J. W. BAKER DEAD.

Prominent Member of The Virginia Conference At Allen Dies Of Erysipelas.
In the death of Rev. J. W. Baker, the Southern Methodist Church at Allen and the Virginia Conference loses a highly respected and rising member. Mr. Baker was sick only for a short time and hopes for his recovery were entertained until the last. The deceased was about 40 years of age and was serving his second year at Allen and had greatly endeared himself to the people.

He was an eloquent and forcible preacher, a gentleman of polish and was rapidly rising in prominence in his conference. Mr. Baker regarded his work in the ministry as something more than the getting of a large salary and was not influenced in his calling by mercenary motives. At the last annual Conference he was offered a much better charge financially but chose to continue his work in this county in which he was meeting with marked success.

Mr. Baker was twice married and arrived by his second wife and three children. Mrs. Baker was a Miss Asher and is connected with the prominent Virginia family of that name. Funeral services were held at Allen Tuesday morning conducted by Presiding Elder Gayle and Rev. Dr. Potts. The remains were taken to Virginia and interred in the old Asher homestead, near Lynchburg.

Session of the New Castle Presbytery Missionary Societies.

The annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the New Castle Presbytery, which includes the State of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland which convened in the Manokin Presbyterian Church, at Phipps Anne, on Tuesday last, adjourned Friday.

About 55 delegates representing 23 churches were in attendance. Mrs. J. B. North, of Snow Hill, was re-elected president of the Home Society for the ensuing year, and Mrs. Eva B. Taylor, of Wilmington, Del., was re-elected president of the Foreign Society. Three missionaries located in Korea and India are supported annually by the Foreign Society, and the Home Society supports teachers in Porto Rico, Alaska, New Mexico and Arizona.

FUTURE OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN MARYLAND.

In A Late Editorial The Baltimore Sun Comprehensively Details Present And Past Conditions. A New Order Of Methods Needed. Principles Of Integrity And Patriotism Should Rule.

The approaching conference in Baltimore of Democratic State and city leaders is suggestive and significant. It will be generally conceded that the Democratic party in Baltimore and in the State at large is confronted with a condition in which its vitality, its capacity and its practical wisdom may be demonstrated more completely than ever before. The party is about to add a new chapter to its history. It is about to begin a new era of activity under circumstances in which the best judgment and the disinterested efforts of its most patriotic and enlightened members are essential to its establishment on a firm foundation.

The situation presents a great opportunity, and it involves a no less great responsibility, as well as obvious dangers. With the end of the leadership of Senator Gorman and Mr. Basin new and important questions of party management and party policy, imperatively demand consideration and settlement; all friends of Democracy in Maryland will be glad to see that the importance of those questions is recognized and that there is to be a full and free consultation with regard to them by representatives of all factions of the party. Unfortunately there have been too many factions in the party of late years, and thoughtful and patriotic Democrats have fully realized that if the party is to regain its former place in the public confidence and popularity in this State, its leaders and representatives must learn to put the welfare of the public and the welfare of the party above individual aspirations or personal ambitions. Above all, it must in its general management, as it is now doing in this city, return to that fundamental principle of Democracy—the rule of the people, the supremacy of the people, and recognize in deed, as well as in word, that the voters of the party are its supreme court of appeals, to whom all disputed questions of importance should be referred.

The inspiring effect of such a policy has been most signally demonstrated in the recent primary contest in this city, and the open door of the temple of Democracy can never again be closed upon the manhood and aspirations of its members with safety to the party. The chief glory of Democracy is in the unfettered opportunity which it offers to individual opinion and action in the discussion and decision of public and party questions, and in the loyalty with which it bows to the will of the majority when fairly expressed. If the Democratic party in Maryland is to be united upon a solid and enduring basis, its representatives in the approaching conference must come together in a spirit of conciliation and fraternity, prepare to bury the dead past and to sacrifice, or at least hold subject to the popular will, merely personal ambitions and factional views. The practical problem which demands immediate attention is that of reorganizing the party along the lines of the new conditions which it faces, so providing for the details of its practical conduct and management as to promote the greatest political efficiency without encroaching upon individual freedom or interfering with the supreme prerogatives of the voters.

The party should undertake this reorganization in a spirit of absolute candor, honor and fearlessness. It should frankly recognize the fact that conditions have changed since the death of the two men who, for a period of between 30 and 40 years, virtually controlled the Democratic administration in both city and state. It should be understood in all the steps which are to be taken for the reorganization of the Democratic party in Maryland that the people, while realizing the necessity for party machinery, are more exacting and more fastidious in respect to the personnel of party leaders and the characters of the machinery than ever before. Hence it would be a grievous mistake, in reorganizing the Democracy of this city and this State, not to take into consideration the change which has come over public sentiment.

It must be clear to all thoughtful students of Maryland politics that the old order cannot be perpetuated. The new order of political management must be in touch and in harmony with the best sentiment of his

For The Open Door Front Entrance Policy. Expresses Himself Strongly In The Promises.

Ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson was at his office in the Law Building Thursday for the first time since his return from Watkins Glen, N. Y. He has been spending the interval at his home in Salisbury, where he went with the hope that a little time spent there might drive away an attack of rheumatism which has been troubling him for sometime. He is somewhat better, but is not free from the pains and stiffness that accompany these attacks.

Settle the City Fight First.

The Governor's trip to town was the signal for some activity among those aspiring to political honors and others who wish to hold on to those already in hand. Mr. Jackson does not take kindly, however, to State politics at his time. He said:

"The party now has a city ticket in the field. All of us should be willing to do all in our power to promote favorable conditions, and this cannot be done by complicating the situation here with the politics of the State. As soon as this election is out of the way those who desire the Democratic nomination for Governor and those aspiring to a seat in the United States Senate can look over the field and discuss their chances with their friends."

Advocates A Free And Open Fight.

"What, Governor, should be the issue in the State campaign?" he was asked.

"It is too early," said the Ex-Governor, "to talk about issues, just as it is too early to talk about candidates. I believe the Democrats in the State are in pretty good shape for the fall fight, and I hope the primary contests will be waged everywhere in such a way that the whole party will be united for the ticket when it is finally nominated."

"Democrats can have it this way if they are willing to take a little trouble. The primaries should be open to everybody, just as they were in the city. Everyone aspiring to political honors should be encouraged to submit his claims to the people and he should be given every opportunity to make his fight. When the result has been honestly ascertained the defeated candidates will be willing to fall in behind the victorious one and the party will be united for the general fight."

Wants No Cut-And-Dried Conventions.

"Candidates for the gubernatorial nomination will probably spring up in all parts of the State. Let them come to the convention with their friends, and there the matter can be settled. It should be no cut-and-dried affair. If the convention wants to sit for a week in an effort to settle upon the candidate all the better. The man should be named who is most likely to get the most votes and to give the State the best administration."

Legislators Should Be Unpledged.

"How about the Senatorial fight, Governor? It is more than likely that the candidates for the Senatorship will try to pledge the candidates to the Legislature."

"I don't think that any Legislative candidate will be dumb enough to permit himself to be pledged through thick and thin to anybody. In some of the counties some popular Democrat may announce his candidacy for the Senate and the Legislators in this particular county, in response to public sentiment, may promise to support this Democrat for the United States Senate. Many of the counties will have no candidate. These men will go to the Legislature prepared to consider the Senatorship with an open hand and settle upon the best man. Even in those counties which have a candidate the Legislators should not, under any consideration, permit themselves to be committed to a second choice, man, for, after all there is only one long term, Senatorship. Let the Senatorship be settled just as the gubernatorial nomination should be settled, after a free, good-natured fight. The best man is likely to win out in a contest of that kind, and the State, and the Democratic party need the best man they can get in the United States Senate."

All Anxious To Know How Wind Blows.

Governor Jackson's efforts to keep State politics in the background for the present will not, in all probability, prevent the politicians from dropping in to talk over the situation with him. State politics is in such a chaotic condition, as far as alignments are concerned, and the field offers such unbounded possibilities that everyone is anxious to find out just how the wind seems to blow. Mr. Jackson is expected to return to Salisbury on Saturday afternoon.—Interview published in Thursday's Baltimore News.

Williams for whom he clerked for a period of about five years, after which time he branched out in business for himself acquiring an interest in the mercantile business conducted by Gun Humphrey Humphreys and Dr. Cathel Humphreys, which then became the well known firm of Humphreys and Tilghman, prominent in the business affairs of Salisbury for many years being largely engaged in the lumber milling and fertilizer business. JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT Suffered Four Months From the After-Effects of the Grip—Relieved By Pe-ru-na.

The grip more than any other disease in the world leaves the system in a run-down, nervous, bloodless condition. Pe-ru-na has become famous in relieving the deplorable condition which the grip produces.

HON. W. H. PARSONS,
925 H. ST., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Catarth Victims Susceptible.
People who have had catarth of the head, throat, nose or lungs are much more liable to catch the grip than other people.

The reason for this is that the mucous membranes of the head, nose, throat or lungs are injured by the catarth and the germs which cause the grip find easy entrance into the system.

It is a well established fact that perfectly sound mucous membranes constitute a barrier to the entrance of disease germs.

The best precaution any one can have against the grip is to be perfectly free from catarth.

Pe-ru-na a Preventive.
As a preventive of grip, Pe-ru-na has done a great deal of good in the world by its beneficial effect upon the mucous membranes.

Catarth has another untoward influence to be noticed in connection with the grip.

W. H. Parsons is Ex-Senate Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a letter from 925 H. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Pe-ru-na in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration."

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Pe-ru-na as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."—W. H. Parsons.

It is no longer merely a theory of an assertion that Pe-ru-na is applicable to such cases.

Prompt Relief.
In all of the after-effects of the grip, Pe-ru-na gives prompt relief. This has been the experience of such a great multitude of people that Pe-ru-na has come to be a standard remedy for these cases.

If a person has not used Pe-ru-na to prevent the grip, the next best thing is to use Pe-ru-na to remove the after-effects of the grip.

A Most Effective Medicine For La Grippe.

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Oulowhee High School, Painter, N. C., is chairman of the Jackson County Board of Education. He is a writer of occasional verse and has contributed to a number of leading papers and magazines.

In speaking of Pe-ru-na, Mr. Madison says: "I recently used Pe-ru-na in a case of La Grippe. It was most effective and relieved me in a few days."

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup contains essential oil of eucalyptus and other

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?
 Kilmsey Trouble Makes You Miserable.
 Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmsey's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.
 It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmsey, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney-catastrophes of the bladder and kidney disease, which is the worst of kidney trouble.
 Kilmsey's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have liver or bladder trouble it will be just the remedy you need. It has been used in so many ways, in hospital and in private practice, and has been so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmsey & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmsey's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THREE WAYS TO FASTEN GATE.

 The Queensland of Australia suggests three new methods of fastening farm gates. In the upper device in the illustration a plan is shown that is made of iron one inch broad and one-quarter inch thick. The part that goes over the gate-head bolts much longer than that on the other side of the bolt will keep it down.
 When a horse attempts to lift the loop the pendant piece of iron plate one-eighth inch thick, on the other side, coming down on the top rail effectively prevents the loop from being raised over the gate-head. The center bolt should have plenty of play, also the pendant piece of plate.
 Some useful gate fasteners.
 The latter should hang loosely, so as to be always in place.
 When one wishes to open the gate the piece of plate is raised outward, when the loop can easily be raised over the gate-head.
 The gate fastener, shown in the figure at the lower left hand corner, is one frequently seen on the farms in South Australia. It is preferred to all others, as no farm animal can open it, and even workmen who see it for the first time find a difficulty in opening and fastening it. It is, however, extremely simple, and consists of a staple on the gate and one on the post. To the latter staple is attached a ring which connects with the larger link that passes through the staple. The link is slightly turned so as to allow the pin to hang downward. Raising this pin allows it to pass through the staple, providing the link is free, which follows when there is no strain between gate and post. This link cannot slip through the gate accidentally, since a strain necessarily pulls the pin firmly against the staple.
 Stable Room for Harnesses.
 A writer in the Indiana Farmer, says:
 The old way of hanging harnesses behind the horses on high pegs is not only laborious, but is accompanied with some danger. The customer should be out of date.
 My plan is to have a small room inside of the horse stable for hanging harnesses. By this plan if a horse happens to get loose he will not injure the harness by getting them down. More than this the alley be-

FOR THE CAREFUL CARVER.
 His Success Largely Aided by Careful Trussing.
 It must be acknowledged that in many cases the lack of intelligent trussing is largely responsible for careless carving.
 Unless the cook does her part we must not blame the carver if she misses the direction of the grain, and tender meat becomes tough.
 Meat and poultry retain the shape after cooking if properly and correctly trussed, whereas it is impossible to shape meat after it is cooked.
 To truss a turkey put the skin of the breast down toward the back, making a plump breast, then fold back the wings, taking a stitch through one wing, then through the skin of the back, and through the other wing, making a single tie.
 In this way the wings are thrown back, giving the carver an opportunity to easily strike the joint. Put a single stitch through the body between the ribs, then back through the leg joint, and tie it on one side to hold the legs in position.
 Now run the needle through the skin at the end of the legs, take a stitch through the rump of the turkey tie at the side, holding the legs close to the breast. Three stitches in all and the turkey is ready for cooking.
 The principal part in carving a turkey is with a goose, lies in the number of slices that may be taken from the breast.
 A skillful carver will cut twice as many slices of smooth meat as a novice. When carving a turkey place the breast so that it will be on the left side of the carver.
 Elaborate garnishing, such as high skewers, and masses of green, must be removed before the carving as they interfere with the movements of the carver.
 Insert the carving fork in the small end of the breastbone, plunging it down so as to gain good command.
 Pass the knife first around the leg and remove it, then the wing, first on one side, and then on the other.
 Carve the slices from each side of the breast using the knife flat against the breast and cutting from the wither lift, press it backward and remove it. Turn the turkey slightly so that you may cut the shoulder blades from the under side of the carcass and from each side of the backbone without removing the carving-fork.
 Then cut directly through the ribs up to the breastbone joint and turn the turkey first one side and then the other, separating the back of the carcass from the breast.
 Then, for the first time, remove the fork. Divide the upper from the lower part of the back; cut down the backbone and divide the lower portion of the back into two pieces.
 Then separate the second joint from the leg and cut it into three slices, for serving. Give a portion of the white meat, with a small amount of the filling to each person.
 A boiled turkey is carved in precisely the same manner as when roasted.
 Chicken, capon and wild turkey are all carved in the same way. A boned turkey, or a boned chicken, in fact, any boned fowl, is simply cut in thin slices, beginning at the neck.

GOOD FRIENDS.
 "Jim is going instead of Herman," announced Mrs. Day.
 "But I don't know Jim," objected Lois.
 "And that's the reason," answered Mrs. Day, "that I want to tell you about him. The fact is, Jim was fitted last spring. She was one of the most beautiful girls I have ever seen." Mrs. Day talked rapidly, "but none of us wanted her. She was selfish and thoughtless and exacting, but Jim never saw it. He just adored her and followed her about, and gloried in being her slave, until we were all in despair." Jim was the brother of Mrs. Day's husband, but it was her way to take all the responsibility, even of her husband's family. "So we were all very much relieved when she fitted Jim."
 Lois was listening quietly, somewhat at a loss to get the trend of these confidences.
 "We were all rather glad, as I said, except—here Mrs. Day paused, then plunged ahead—except for the dramatic effect it has had upon Jim. He was heart-broken; he's young, you know." This in apology for Lois' smile.
 "And since" then he has been perfectly reckless."
 Mrs. Day stopped for breath. It was hard to say, what she meant to say. "Lois, my dear," she finally continued, "don't let Jim make love to you at camp. He has vowed to be revenged on the whole race of women, and that is the way he has taken to do it."
 The first night at camp Lois had cause to remember Mrs. Day's warning. It was a party of lovers, all young married couples, or engaged, all except Lois and Jim, the young set. These two started up the lake in a canoe, just as the others did; but when Jim suggested that they drift, Lois felt a misgiving. Jim must be made to understand. She stopped his half-tender compliments with a warning hand.
 "Listen, Jim," she said, slowly and earnestly, "your sister has told me about your trouble. I'm not going to talk about that," she added hastily as Jim frowned, "but I want to tell you this. Somewhere there is a man that I love as dearly as you love this girl. For his sake and for hers, let me and I help each other. I want to be true—diffidently, it was hard to say—and so, I know, do you. Let us here and now promise to be just good comrades. Nothing more."
 She looked at the boy with a bright smile and held out her hand. He hesitated a minute, then grasped her hand. "It's a go, Lois," he said.
 It was the last night. Mrs. Day looked about the table and sighed. "This is the first year we haven't had an engagement to announce," she said. "And it was proof of the success of Lois' plan that not one of them thought to joke about the 'young fellows.'" There was no question of sentimentality with them.
 Lois and Jim were forbidden to give a concert to spoil the last evening, so they paddled wittily along the south shore. At length Jim broke the unusual silence. "This has been the best summer of my life," he said, "and it has all been due to you, Lois."
 The girl looked up, startled at this sudden transition from bonhomie to something very like sentiment.
 "I'm not going to break our promise," Jim said answer to the look. "I want you to be as true as ever to that man. But I'm going to tell you this, that other girl was a dream."
 They both laughed.
 "I mean she wasn't real, like you. I understand now that she never could have been a wife to me. Why, we would've friends."
 "Lois was silent."
 "Lois (Jim's voice faltered, so tentatively were his feelings), would it be unfair to the other man, or to you if I tell you that you are truly the only woman I love; the only one I could possibly marry? A man ought to spend his life with a girl who is his friend," he added wistfully. "I never knew that before."
 "Somewhere," remarked Lois inconsequently, "is a very indefinite place, and you remember that's where I said 'that man was.'"
 Jim was quick witted, and association with Lois had sharpened his perceptions. "Where is he now?" he asked eagerly. "Was he a dream, too?"
 "No," Lois laughed, "he's no dream, Jim; he's—well he's in love, and," she drawled to keep up the suspense as long as possible, "he's in love, and so am I. We're both in the same boat you see."

COMING HOME FROM TOWN

"We dined in some of the finest hotels and restaurants, but did not find any coffee to excel in quality Arbuckles' ARIOSA."
 That is what one lady writes and millions of others prove they believe, by using more Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee than all the other packaged coffees in the United States put together.
 The fact that Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee costs less and has suited the health and taste of most American people for over 37 years, ought to induce everybody to at least sample it.
 The cities hide many country girls and boys who secretly sigh for a cup of good coffee like "mother" made. "Mother" probably used the old original "Arbuckles" the first roasted packaged coffee.
 See that you get the sealed package, one pound full weight, bearing the name ARBUCKLES' ARIOSA COFFEE and the signature of Arbuckle Brothers, which entitles you to presents.
 That is the genuine article, no matter where you buy it or what price you pay for it.
 Same old Coffee, same old firm.
 If your grocer won't supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., NEW YORK CITY.

MARYLAND FARMS.
 Fifteen farms at a sacrifice. Buildings on all. Plenty of wood and timber supports them. Good water, fine soil, two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for horticulture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate moist, all we ask. Farms of 100 to 1,000 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the Northern and Eastern cities; so these prices are only temporary.
 Why go to the wilds and spend your money making a farm and a home, when you can make money, in a better climate and nearer the markets, you can immediately have what you want? Yours truly,

THE WAY TO CUT UP A BEEF.
 In cutting the fore quarter the neck part is taken off and used for mince meat. Then proceed by cutting two ribs and backbones at a time until the shoulder blade is reached, when the brisket is taken off and cut into square pieces. Now while the piece is yet of considerable height and easily held the soup bone, which includes the leg to the shoulder bone is cut in four-inch lengths. After this the remainder of the rib and back bone is taken off. This leaves what is called the fore-quarter steak which can be sliced and the bone sawed in each piece, or it can be taken from the bone and the bone sawed and placed with boiling meat.
 In cutting the quarter the flank is first taken off and cut in six-inch strips which can be rolled and filled with dressing to make a very nice roast. The sirloin steak is then sliced off and with the front quarter steak may be packed in four gal on jars seasoned with salt and pepper to taste. By placing in a cool room and using from the top of jar at least once a week it will keep during the winter months and be equal to fresh steak. The rump roast may be placed with the drying meat with the bone removed which leaves a good sized piece of choice meat. The bone may then be taken from the round steak, leaving that part which usually goes with soup bone. This may be cut and placed with boiling meat and can be had for soup at any time. The round may then be cut lengthwise into pieces. It divided with seams the pieces become too small for good drying.—Field and Farm.

Producing Early Tomatoes.
 To produce early tomatoes a grower must aim to secure a maximum of heat with the minimum of moisture. Sandy soil absorbs and retains heat better than the heavier ones, but the main dependence must be put in frequent cultivation. Fortunately the tomato is a plant that requires less irrigation than most garden plants, but many people use entirely too much water. It has been noticed that the most prolific and early ones are those that are watered least.

DAIRY AND CREAMERY
 CAUSE OF SPECKS IN BUTTER.
 Not Due as Formerly Thought to Salt Granules.
 The New York Experiment Station gives the following answer as a result of experiments conducted along this line. The uneven distribution of salt has been the theory of this trouble, but this is a mistake, as mottles do not occur in a pure butter-fat whether the salt is well distributed or not. Salt does not change the color of butter-fat. Mottles do not occur in unsalted butter. Again, mottles may occur in butter that has been treated just right as to salting and working. So there it is—quite a riddle.
 Mottles are caused by salt acting upon the casein lactate in the buttermilk that remains in the butter. This casein lactate is a cheesy gathering that is just soft enough to be spread into streaks or mottles when the butter is worked. It may not show right after working, but will later. This may be prevented, however, but it will be soiled, it does not collect and is therefore invisible.
 So, then, the cause is butter-milk in the butter and salt that draws it into pockets and hardens this casein lactate.
 The remedy is to stop churning when the butter has gathered in granules the size of wheat. Draw off the buttermilk and wash thoroughly.
 The butter that is gathered into large lumps contains some butter-milk in these lumps, and no amount of washing will get it all. This is the butter that usually has mottles. Get rid of buttermilk and you will get rid of mottles.
 Keeping Up the Flow.
 The serious question of keeping up the flow of milk with high priced feeds often confronts the owner of dairy cows, but it does not pay to allow the flow to diminish. A test was made at the Kansas station to determine the feeding value of wheat straw, ground wheat and cottonseed meal. As the cows had been previously fed alfalfa hay they did not take readily to wheat straw. During the period of the test which covered thirty days, three cows consumed $5.95 worth of feed and produced $9.55 worth of butter fat. The total profit was $3.59, or $1.19 for each cow. This experiment represents an extreme case as nearly every farmer has some alfalfa, fodder, kaffir corn, millo, sorghum, oats, hay or even oats straw which he can use in place of wheat straw with much better results. Any of these rough feeds will enable a dairyman to reduce the amount of grain needed. When alfalfa is available no cottonseed meal is required.

POULTRY
VARIETIES IN CHICKENS.
As They Are Sold Here and Abroad—The Kind to Keep.
To the ordinary buyer there are only three grades of chickens—spring, hens and old roosters. It may surprise some people to know that the trade recognizes forty-six grades of spring chickens, says Field and Farm. They are graded according to size and color. Retailers in the eastern States and Europe sell them at so much a piece and not by the pound, so that all chickens in a crate must weigh the same. Americans take broilers and the heavier chickens, while Europeans choose the medium weights, or those that weigh about two and one-half pounds. Chickens killed in the fall will be placed on the market in Europe next February and in eastern States in April and May. A commission man said a law ought to be passed to make every farmer raise barred Plymouth Rock chickens. They are the best breed brought to the market in every respect. They mature quickly, are always plump, look well undressed and are tender and fine flavored until they weigh four pounds. Some houses pay a half cent a pound more for pure barred Plymouth Rocks.

Physical Culture for Fowls.
Physical culture has been extended to include chickens, hens and other fowls by a recent issue of a Pennsylvania man. As man undoubtedly benefits by exercise, it follows that fowls should do likewise. This device is so constructed that the fowl, in order to secure food, is compelled to undergo increased exercise, as compared with the ordinary manner of feeding.

To carry the plan into effect a circular plate about two feet in diameter is made to revolve on a wooden support, the circular plate being at an angle from the ground. Adjacent to the edge of the plate is a feeding-box, open only at the side next to the plate. Fowls desiring food jump on the plate which sets the spring in motion and they are forced to hold themselves on it at the same time feed.

Self Feeder for Poultry.
The accompanying sketch illustrates the method of making the feeder from an old tin pail. In one side about an inch from the bottom of the pail is cut a round slit about three inches long. The upper portion of the tin is pressed up, leaving an opening from which the chickens can easily feed will. The tin can be filled full of feed, shells or grit and the fowls can get at it without trouble.

Dead Turkeys.
Much complaint is heard that turkeys live and thrive to the age of four or five weeks and then die, even when they are fed "according to the book" and kept dry, says the Indiana Farmer.
Turkeys to thrive need green feed, almost as bad as they need grit. Many a turkey that is fed four weeks, as one woman told the writer, was, on chopped egg, if it were fed green feed and bread chopped up with the egg and the whole well sprinkled with fine gravel, would live to a marketable age, strong and thrifty.

Get Growing Chickens to Roost.
When the chickens get to be half grown they should be taught to go to roost. If the brood coops be large so that the birds do not have to be moved, this is a very simple operation. Simply put roosts in the brood coop and the chicks take to them, on the same principle that a duck takes to water. First, they try them in the day time and then they try them at night. It is very much easier to keep down the coop lice on the roosts.

THE FLOATING MINE.
The announcement was made a short time ago that one of the floating mines which are the heritage of the Russo-Japanese war was struck by the Russian steamer Varyagon, off Cape Manchuria, the result being the destruction of the vessel. Later details showed that at least 200 lives were lost.
It is one of the anomalies of modern civilization, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, that no incident like this could occur on the high seas. It emphasizes the fact that the rest of the world has no rights which countries engaged in war are bound to respect. To be sure, the principle is not distinctly formulated in international law, but the practical result works out that way. It seems not to have been charged that either the Russians or the Japanese intentionally placed free floating mines in the sea. What was actually done was to plant them in home waters without sufficient precautions against their being ultimately cast adrift to menace the commerce of the sea.
A combination of civilized powers to prevent these flagrant outrages on commerce should not be difficult. In case half-civilized powers should decline to join in the convention, it would be the clear and unmistakable right and duty of other nations to force compliance. Floating mines constitute an unjustifiable aftermath of international warfare, and offending nations might well be forced to comply with proper restrictions, in this regard, or foreign operations of war on the high seas.

THE AMERICAN DREADNOUGHT.
The plans for the two new 20,000-ton battleships recommended by Secretary Bonaparte for the 1906-7 naval programme were sent to Congress. They will be approximately the same speed and length as the Dreadnought, carry the same heavy battery of ten 12-inch guns, but slightly broader in beam and 2,000 tons greater in displacement than the British Leviathan, says the Denver Post. The policy of neglecting secondary armament inaugurated by the British admiralty in the Dreadnought has been followed in the new vessels, their only guns besides the 12-inch rifles being small caliber rapid fire arms for repelling torpedo boat attacks. They will have two torpedo tubes against the Dreadnought's five.
The obvious purpose of the heavier armor is to enable the new battleships to stand punishment better than such rivals as the Dreadnought. With equal offensive power and better protection of the ship's vitals there should be no question as to the result of such an encounter. Japan's recently launched Satsuma apparently comes in between the British and American ships in size, being reported as of 19,000 tons displacement.

JAPOPHOBIA.
Orientals are not credited with a lively sense of humor, yet doubtless Ambassador Aoki could not suppress an inner smile at the apparent need of assuring the American people that Japan meditates no aggression on America, says the St. Louis Republic. If politeness and the amenities of the occasion had not required him to use the smooth phrase of diplomacy he might well have said a few words on the theme, "American Silliness That I Have Met."
Japan is forty millions and we are eighty millions, and within two decades we shall be a hundred and twenty millions and Japan perhaps sixty millions, says the St. Louis Republic. It is likely that the smaller and infinitely poorer nation will want to challenge the larger and richer? Is not the debt under which Japan is staggering, even though her intentions were bad a sufficient peace bond. War with Great Britain is more probable than war with Japan.

THE PRICE OF ERROR.
"Death wipes out disgrace" is the European doctrine. Disgrace is repaired and character redeemed only by devoted service in later years, in the American idea. That is the lesson of the suicide of Capt. Brunswig in the cabin of his stranded steamship.
Deep-rooted in the American's character is the determination not to accept defeat. Beaten, broken, deservingly disgraced, he starts life anew. He is willing to pay the price. But he does it by new achievement, says the New York Herald. One man in New York, a bankrupt ten years ago for more than $10,000,000, paid the last penny with interest during the present year. We acknowledge that an element of courage exists in the suicide. But we claim a better sort of heroism than that. Self-slaughter at best is an evasion of the obligation incurred by any man whose error injures others.

PASSING OF THE OLD MAID.
Old maids are dying out. In a few years time the typical old maid of our youth will rarely be seen, and a hundred years hence she will probably be dead altogether. The term "old maid" is no seldom or never heard; the expression "bachelor girl" has taken its place, and many and happy are the bachelor girls in Britain to-day, with their independence and their little homes, and their own well arranged lives.—London Times.

British Dividend Paying.
In paying dividends on Government stocks the British Government takes no account of fractions of a penny. In this way it makes about $7,500 a year out of the investors in public funds.
Ambulance Service in Vienna.
Twenty-five years ago a Voluntary Street Ambulance Association was formed in Vienna. That year its services were required 1,000 times; last year nearly 10,000 times.

OUR MANY ENTERPRISES
We Make $500,000,000 a Year Out of Nothing.
TO ACCOMPLISH THIS
We Turn Sawdust into Sugar and Alcohol—We Make Clothing From Pine Needles—Derive Perfumery From Street Offal and a Heavenly Azure From Old Hoofs.

The value of products annually manufactured out of materials which thirty years ago were thrown away as waste today amounts to fully $500,000,000—a sum equal to nearly seven times the annual production of gold in the United States.
Sawdust was for years looked upon as an absolute waste material, says Moody's Magazine, and was either dumped into a stream if flowing water or thrown into a heap where it could be conveniently disposed of. During the last few years a process has been discovered which has given sawdust a value greater than that of soft lumber.
By the use of hydraulic pressure and intense heat the particles are formed into a solid mass capable of being moulded into any shape and of receiving a brilliant polish. The only materials used are sawdust, alum and glue.
Imitation marble can be manufactured from a mixture of sawdust with ivory waste, waterglass and glue. In Norway acetic acid, wood naphtha, tar and alcohol are produced on a commercial scale out of sawdust.
Factories have been erected in this country and in Europe for converting pine needles into forest wool. This is used for mattresses and furniture, for manufacture in hygienic articles and for such things as underverts and chest protectors.
The principal use of sawdust seems destined to be in the production of sugar and of alcohol. It is practically pure cellulose and easily convertible into those products.
For many years bituminous coal operators threw away slack as waste. Later it sold for five cents a ton. Today it commands at the mine 75 cents a ton, or within five cents a ton of the price of run up mine coal.
The increase is due to demand coming from makers of cement. Formerly they bought lump coal and pulverized it. Finally one of them experimented with slack and found it satisfactory and cheaper. He is said to use 140 tons of slack daily.
Each large packing establishment now has its long list of by-products. The products of the gray brain matter of calves are employed in affections of the nervous system, such as nervous debility, nervous exhaustion, St. Vitus' dance, mental disorder and insanity.
The blood of the slaughtered animals is coagulated and manufactured into buttons and is also utilized in the production of albumen for the use of the calico printer, the sugar refiner, the tanner and others.
The bones are used for a score of different purposes, being manufactured into knife and toothbrush handles, chessmen, combs, backs of brushes, mouthpieces of pipes and various other articles. Black hoofs are used in the manufacture of cyanide of potassium for gold extraction, and are also ground up to make fertilizer for forists, grape growers and others.
Among the other articles manufactured out of the former waste products of the abattoir are glue, fly-paper, sandpaper, gelatine, fishglue, curled hair, bristles, wool felt, hair felt, laundry soap, soap powders, glycerine, ammonia, bone meal, pepton, poultry food, seal's foot oil and a score of other products. The annual value of the by-products of the packing industry, all of which are manufactured out of what was considered a waste material thirty years ago, is approximately $200,000,000.
Prior to 1850 cottonseed was usually hauled to a remote place to rot or dumped into a stream of flowing water. Out of this product, then deemed a nuisance, there was manufactured in 1906 by-products having a value of more than $42,000,000.
More than a score of products are today manufactured out of cottonseed, including butter, paper, fertilizer, cotton batting, cattle feed, soap, lard, cottonlens, crude oil and salad oils.
John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil company, is authority for the statement that for the last ten years more than one-half of the profits of the company have been made out of the manufacture of by-products. The company could throw into the ocean every drop of refined oil as fast as it was manufactured, and would still be able to pay handsome dividends to its stockholders simply through the sale of its by-products.
The choicest perfumes which are placed upon the market are obtained from oils and others extracted from flowers, but there are many other oils which are artificially made out of bad smelling elements. Oil of pineapple is best made by the action of putrid cheese or sugar or by distilling rancid butter with alcohol and sulphuric acid. The essential favoring substance of the vanilla bean as well as other essences are manufactured out of coal tar and the oil of cloves.

The greatest lengths in miles of the Great Lakes in the United States are: Lake Superior, 350 miles; Lake Michigan, 345 miles; Lake Huron, 270 miles; Lake Erie, 250 miles; and Lake Ontario, 190 miles.
Tree Planting in Germany.
In Germany it is still customary to plant fruit trees along highways. In the province of Hanover there are 1,976 miles of such roads, along which there are 118,184 fruit trees.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE of what plant foods can do for farmers. The picture on the right shows plant development and potato (yield 55.8 lbs.) of a small patch, treated with
POTASH
On the left, a patch of same size (yield 1 lb.) planted at same time, in same soil, but untreated. These pictures are taken from an experiment station bulletin, compiled in which gives authentic and authoritative accounts of experiments and actual results of practical and scientific farming. It is invaluable to the farmer who is anxious to improve his products and who is working for a wider margin of profit. Send for it to-day.
Our Free Book, "Profitable Farming"

A Word of Advice to the Man who Intends Buying Spring Clothes. Above everything be sure you get the style that is latest and right, for instance, your coat lapels must be more graceful and roll lower than last season: the collar must be rounded at the corners; the buttons on the front and sleeves placed just so. The shoulders should be wide but not extreme. The back should suggest the figure line, but not be too close. Your vest may be either with or without collar, higher out than ever before and have flaps at pockets with buttons. Your trousers may be either with or without cuff buttons, an open welt up the side seam side buckles at waist and straps for belts. All these features are in Thoroughgood's suit. There is no question about getting the right thing from T. Thoroughgood's store. There are plenty of cheap stores all over Salisbury but not one of them carries the dependable goods that Lacy Thoroughgood does and Thoroughgood's prices are not a cent higher than other people. Just come look. Lacy Thoroughgood, SALISBURY, MD. James Thoroughgood.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By F. E. Davison, Rutland Vt. DREAMS THAT COME TRUE. April 21, '07—(Gen. 87:5-28.)

Childhood lives in a world of fancy. Ignorant of the realities of life the child creates explanations of its own, and peoples the world with fairies, and is led about by the enchantment of its own delusions.

PAYING UP.

Three evenings ago Baron and his wife attended a meeting of their summer whist club.

Childhood lives in a world of fancy. Ignorant of the realities of life the child creates explanations of its own, and peoples the world with fairies, and is led about by the enchantment of its own delusions.

back the check that accompanied them. "No good!" he said, cheerfully. "I always take two. Wait till I'm done ordering."

The druggist smiled and waited. By and by Baron called for another phosphate and got it. He finished the second glass as his wife slipped the last drops of her first one.

His hand went into his pocket for the 15 cents due, and fished up a few pennies. He drew out his pocket book and found one lonely $50 bill. He put it back and hunted through his pockets again.

"Well, confound it, maybe you'd like to see it printed," said Baron testily, and he drew out the pocket book again. He went through its several compartments, and Mrs. Baron and the druggist gazed with various feelings as Baron's search revealed no card.

"Well," said Baron furiously, "we don't seem to be able to settle things up tonight, but I'll be on hand in the morning."

"That's what they all say," observed the druggist, practically rather than cynically. They were half through dinner the next evening when Mrs. Baron suddenly giggled. Baron moved uneasily and frowned slightly.

Nevertheless, the dreamer is assured of this: while men can slay the dreamer they cannot touch the dreamer.

A pernicious practice among horse-shoers is that of opening the heels, which weakens the hoof and sometimes causes heel cracks, which are even more obstinate to treat than ordinary cracks.

DON'T GO AROUND GROANING.

It is Your Own Fault If You Continue To Suffer.

Why do you go around the house complaining, making yourself and everybody else miserable. It is your own fault if you suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, or other painful troubles that come from bad blood. Science has at last found a complete and palatable cure for all these diseases.

After years of careful study of the cause and cure of such diseases, Rheumacide was discovered. Rheumacide has been used in thousands of cases that were deemed incurable and has performed complete cures. Rheumacide has cured after famous specialists have failed, and has cured a number of sufferers who spent months at the noted John Hopkins Hospital in vain.

The reason Rheumacide cures when liniments, oils and all other remedies have failed is that it goes right to the seat of disease, sweeps the poisonous germs and acids out of the blood, and removes the cause. It "gets at the joints from the inside."

Rheumacide builds up the entire system, and "makes you well all over."

Mrs. Laura D. Gardner, of 1801 James street, Baltimore, was cured after she had suffered the most terrible torture for sixteen years. She writes:

"People in my neighborhood where I have lived for more than twenty years, will testify as to my condition before being cured by Rheumacide. At times my suffering was so great it could not be torn from me. I write you this letter because I feel so grateful for the benefit I have received, and am daily recommending the medicine to my friends."

—A Scotch minister and his friend coming home from a wedding began to consider the state in which their potations at the feast had left them. "Sandy," said the minister, "just stop a minute till I go ahead. Perhaps I don't walk steady and the guide wife might remark something not just right."

He walked ahead for a short distance, and then called out:

"How is it? Am I walking straight?"

"Oh, aye," answered Sandy, thickly, "ye're a' reekt—but who's that with ye?"—From the Electric Magazine.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Hoop of Happiness It Would Bring to Salisbury Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

"I would save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, Salisbury people endorse this; Mrs. G. W. Fooks, wife of G. W. Fooks, County Sheriff, of the Court House says: 'I have suffered off and on with kidney complaint for the last eight years. It came on me gradually and continued to get worse. I felt tired and weak, was short of breath. One doctor told me I had kidney disease and it would finally result in Bright's disease. I was laid up at one time for three weeks. I was feeling very miserable when I went to White & Leonard's drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills. I had not taken them more than three days when the distressing aching across my back disappeared. I have great faith in this remedy and I know if anyone will take the remedy as directed they will receive beneficial results.'

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, are sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

—The South is a new playground, in the first stages of its evolution. The places you visit are still determined too much by the man that writes the whole pamphlet. Our nation of workers is new to winter recreation; we still go at it a little gully, not understanding quite what we want or the resources of the Southern country. It is not a natural recreation ground, like the northern coast and mountains in summer, Colorado or California. The climate is tricky; the landscape is not naturally beautiful. So our taste for it has developed late in our civilization, along with its luxuries and perversities. Maybe to take an outing is degenerate anyway, though pleasure in the open air, like all kinds of sin, is surely only a relative vice.

Stop Suffering.

A very large percentage of the prescriptions druggists are called upon to compound are intended to relieve cases in which rheumatism figures and the physician who is successful in the treatment of such cases is assured a comfortable practice. A treatment which is a result of careful study of rheumatism, and which has been found eminently successful in the practice of capable medical men, consists of tablets compounded of 3 1/2 grains Sodium Bicarbonate, 3 grains Salicylic Acid and 1 minim Wine of Colchicum. One of these should be taken before each meal, followed at once by a glass of water. After each meal is taken a tablespoonful of a mixture of 1/2 oz. Fluid Extract of Buchu, 1 dram Fluid Extract of Horse Nettle, 1 oz. Amel Cordial, 1/2 oz. Fluid Extract of Liverwort and 14 oz. water. Faithful trial of this treatment for one month is said to give really remarkable results. Any good drug store can put up these prescriptions.

OPENING OF EXPOSITION

At Sunrise, Next Friday, April 26. Program Of Events In Celebration Of Jamestown Ter-Centennial.

The ceremonies incident to the formal opening of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition on April 26th, 1907, will be under the direction of Mr. G. T. Sheppard, Secretary of the Jamestown Exposition Company, assisted by Lieutenant P. H. Hagby, 6th United States Infantry, Military Attached to the Department of the Secretary.

At sunrise on April 26th, the Norfolk Light Artillery Band, stationed at the Exposition Grounds, will fire a salute of three hundred guns to usher in the commencement of the day opening the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition in commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the first English settlement in America.

Upon the arrival of President Roosevelt, on the Mayflower, in Hampton Roads, a salute will be fired by the United States and foreign war ships there assembled.

When the President arrives at the Exposition Grounds he will be met at the end of the Pier by a military escort and will be saluted by the United States Artillery, stationed on the Exposition Grounds. Promptly at the hour of 11.30 the President will be escorted to the Reviewing Stand, on Lee's Parade, in the rear of the Auditorium Building, where the following exercises will take place.

1. Opening Prayer by the Right Reverend Alfred Magill Randolph, Bishop of the diocese of Southern Virginia.

2. Address and introduction of the President of the United States by the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, President of the Jamestown Exposition Company.

3. Address by the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States.

4. Opening of the Exposition by the President of the United States.

When the President presses the gold button, starting the machinery of the Exposition in motion, it will, at the same time, be the signal for the unfurling of more than one thousand flags on the various buildings of the Exposition. The pressing of this button will also be the signal for a salute to the Union by the United States and foreign ships assembled in Hampton Roads and by the garrison at Fort Monroe. At the conclusion of the salute all of the bands on the Exposition Grounds will play the "Star Spangled Banner," at which time all troops will salute the national anthem by presenting arms and the entire concourse will be expected to uncover during the rendition of this ceremonial.

Immediately thereafter the President of the United States will review the parade, of which Major-General Frederick D. Grant, of the United States Army, will be the Grand Marshal, which will be participated in by the soldiers and sailors of the United States and foreign governments and the National Guard. The governors of the different states of the Union having military representation in the parade will participate in the parade.

On the Reviewing Stand, besides the President of the United States and his Cabinet will be the Diplomatic Corps, officers of Congress, the General Assembly of Virginia, United States and State Commissioners to the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition, official representatives from the different states of the Union, officers of the various historical societies and the Mayors and municipal officers of the cities surrounding Hampton Roads.

"Should the weather be unfavorable these opening exercises will be held in the Auditorium Building, to which invitation cards will be issued to the distinguished guests.

From five to six p. m. a reception will be tendered the President of the United States by the officers and directors of the Jamestown Exposition Company in the rotunda of the Auditorium Building. At this reception the President will receive the Diplomatic Corps, the Governors of the different States and the official representatives to the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition.

Admission to the ceremonies in the Auditorium and on the Reviewing Stand and to the President's reception will be by card.

The Governors of the following states will be present: Maryland, Mississippi, Connecticut, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana, Delaware, New Hampshire, Florida, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Alabama, Indiana and several other states.

The following historical societies will be officially represented: Some of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Society of the Cincinnati, Society of Colonial War, United Confederate Veterans, Grand Army of the Republic and many other patriotic organizations.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

In Salisbury. Prominent Citizens Will Hold Meeting To Discuss Plan.

There is a movement on foot to establish a free public library in this city. Mr. Ross Miles Diggs, the field secretary of the Maryland State Library Commission has been in town several days for the purpose of consulting with the leading citizens in regard to the establishment of such a library. A meeting will be held in a few days at which plans will be discussed and an organization effected.

That there is a crying need for a library here, no intelligent person will deny. Have we not neglected too long furnishing the means to our citizens of intellectual development? While it is quite true that in the homes of a few of the rich are to be found excellent libraries, yet the great mass of the people are almost wholly deprived of such advantages. What have we here for the entertainment of our young people? What means of elevating them, stimulating their ambitions, training their minds, furnishing them with means of becoming reliable, trustworthy and valuable citizens? A library and reading room in connection with a Y. M. C. A. club house would meet these needs admirably. In our absorption in business and in building the material progress of the city, we should not neglect to build also foundations for a sound social structure by developing the highest facilities of our people. Indeed, the two things would go together, or too late it will be discovered that affairs left to untrammelled minds do not prosper.

The great number of libraries throughout the country given to the public by wealthy men attests how best fitting a memorial of a man's love for his community such a gift is. However, should no one man feel disposed to found a library here, there are many men of wealth who could easily raise sufficient funds to provide for a library which the town should maintain. "This a consummation most devoutly to be wished."

We wish great success for this project, and trust that within a short time Salisbury will take its proper place in regard to furnishing the intellectual advantages which a free public library affords.

DECISION SUSTAINED

Court of Appeals Upholds Decision in Wicomico Court Case.

A decision was handed down by Judge Briscoe in the Court of Appeals on Wednesday of this week which upholds the decision given in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Frank Smith and Robert Taylor against the State of Maryland and Frank Matthews and James Hawkins against the State of Maryland were the appellants in this case and were indicted with one, John Avery and convicted before the Circuit Court for Wicomico county of burglariously entering the depot of the Baltimore Chesapeake and Atlantic Railways depot at Salisbury May, 1906, and opening a safe by the use of explosives. Avery pleaded guilty and all were convicted and sentenced to a term of 15 years in the penitentiary. It was contended on the part of the appellants that the lower Court erred in overruling the demurrer. The validity of chapter 476, Acts of 1906 was attacked. The Court of Appeals affirms the lower court and holds that it was the legislative intent to impose a maximum penalty of 30 years in the penitentiary upon persons convicted of burglary with explosive, and not merely to create a new law.

BERRY FREIGHT LOWER

A Reduction Of Ten Cents On The One Hundred Pounds.

Officials of the freight department of the Pennsylvania Railroad have completed their schedule of rates for the shipment of berries from the Peninsula to the markets of New England States. The new schedule shows a reduction of ten cents on the hundred pounds, in a majority of cases, on car load lots of 15,000 pounds minimum weight to those points.

In the matter of shipment to points in Pennsylvania and New York it is the intention of the company to adopt the same basis as the competitive lines from Baltimore, and it is trying to put the cost of shipments of berries all on the same basis and put to the geographical location of the shipper as to who has the advantage.

The reduction in freight rates also affects shipments from points on the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad and the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway.

PRESIDING ELDERS

Manner Of Selection To Be Taken Up Next Conference In Baltimore.

Ministers in the Methodist Episcopal Church are already planning to secure action by the General Conference, which is to meet in Baltimore in the spring of 1908, which will change the manner of selecting presiding elders in all the Methodist conferences. Under the present rules the presiding elders, who are superintendents of districts within the conferences, are appointed by the bishops who preside at the annual conference. It is stated by Methodist leaders that there would be no objection to this method of appointment, were it not for the fact that the presiding elders are very powerful in the matter of the appointment of Methodist pastors to churches, and the present agitation has arisen from a desire on the part of the rank and file of the Methodist ministry that it have a ruling voice in the choosing of these men to whom is delegated so much responsibility.

In theory, the bishop who presides at an annual conference in the Methodist Church makes all appointments of preachers to churches. As a matter of fact, it is alleged, the bishop presiding at an annual conference is assigned to that duty, and frequently he has no knowledge of the conditions of churches within the conference bounds, other than that which he may gain during the session of the conference or by advice of the presiding elders. At these annual conferences the presiding bishop and the presiding elders constitute what is known as the "cabinet," and by this small body, seldom consisting of more than four or five men, the appointment of pastors to churches is decided.

Methodist preachers are not objecting to this method of appointing them to churches, but they do say that they should have a controlling voice in the selection of the presiding elders, the men who have so much power in the matter. Therefore, the General Conference is to be asked to change the rules and permit every annual conference to elect its presiding elders, taking from the presiding bishops the power of appointment. The conference in this city has adopted a memorial to that effect, and other conferences to meet this spring are expected to do the same and when the fall conferences meet it is believed that the agitation will have grown still more.

There are some Methodist leaders who assert that their church has grown beyond the need for any presiding elders at all. These contend that the church will be greatly helped and its influence extended, if provision is made for a sufficient number of bishops to visit all the churches annually or oftener, letting these higher ecclesiastical officers do the work now committed to the presiding elders. There are about five hundred presiding elders in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and it is stated that they cost the church about $1,000,000 annually, beside the expense of maintaining residences for them. The same amount of money these leaders state would make it possible to add to the number of active bishops, so that the congregation might be stimulated, as those of the Protestant Episcopal Church, by the periodical visit of the man who, locally, stands at the forefront of the Methodist system.

Some leaders are not sanguine that the general Conference of 1908 will make the desired change, either in the method of the election of presiding elders or in their abolition from the system, but they believe that the agitation of the subject will bring about a change, even if it does not come until the conference of 1919.

County Commissioners to Make Improvement in River Road.

We understand that the long talked of question, of putting a bridge across Tony Tank Creek is in a fair way of being settled satisfactorily to all parties concerned. A former board of County Commissioners had this matter under advisement and doubtless would have completed the project, but for the fact there was a question to settle with the War Department as to the kind of bridge to build. The owners of the Tony Tank property, Messrs. Clyde and Prosser, objected to the placing of a stationary bridge over the creek, and the Commissioners did not feel that the County could study the expense of a drawbridge.

Mr. P. Leonard Wallis, attorney for Messrs. Clyde and Prosser, has made arrangements whereby these gentlemen agree that the old pivot bridge now at the foot of Main Street, may be temporarily put across the creek as a stationary bridge with the understanding that whenever these gentlemen desire the bridge shall be made a swinging bridge.

This arrangement seems to solve the proposition very satisfactorily and we presume is the method that will be adopted by the Commissioners, who have been confronted with the proposition of building a new bridge to take the place of the old one now across the Wicomico River at the foot of Main Street.

Fruit Growers Hold Meeting.

The farmers and fruit growers of Delaware assembled at Dover Tuesday in the Dover County Club rooms and discussed the best means of meeting the situation brought about by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's order that no freight cars for the shipment of fruit will be supplied with shelves this year.

Phillip L. Cannon, of Bridgeville, George M. Fisher, of Wyoming, Riley Melvin, of Felton, James H. Hughes and Henry Ridgely, of Dover, were appointed a committee to urge the Railroad company to shelve its cars, at least this year.

The railroad company's order represented much to the fruit growers and really meant that the shipment and packing of fruit this year will be revolutionized—that the famous Delaware peach baskets, or five eight baskets cannot be used in the shipment of peaches, pears and tomatoes this year, as without shelves they cannot pack row after row and tier after tier, in big cars.

Charles E. Kingston, representing the Pennsylvania Railroad, was present and addressed the meeting and conferred with the growers present but made it clear that it would be impossible for the company to rescind its order, owing to the tremendous traffic expected on account of the Jamestown Exposition.

The meeting expressed a preference for the use of the improved crate shipping package, provided an arrangement can be made with the consignees, as is expected, to provide the necessary crates.

Riggin—Morris.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Riggin was the scene of a very pretty, but quiet wedding last Wednesday at 12.30, when their daughter, Martha, became the bride of Mr. L. Merrill Morris, of Chester, Pa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Beale, of Presbyterian Church, only the immediate families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a blue tailor made suit, with white net waist, wearing a beautiful champagne hat with gloves to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor, Miss Annie Riggin, sister of the bride wore a very pretty suit of brown with hat and gloves to match. The groom wore the conventional black and the best man, Mr. Uphur Morris, brother of the groom was similarly attired.

After the ceremony they were driven to the N. Y. P. & N. depot where Mr. and Mrs. Morris took the two o'clock express for Chester, Pa., where they will make their future home.

Appreciation.

I wish in this public manner to express my appreciation of the kindness of the people of Salisbury to my wife in her recent illness and death at the Peninsula General Hospital. To the doctors and nurses of that institution for their efficient and faithful administrations to her, and to the numerous friends and acquaintances in the city for their words of sympathy and acts of kindness.

TO LIMIT EXPENSES

Of Political Campaigning And Give Publicity To Each Item Thereof In New York.

Governor Edwin Warfield attended the meeting of the National Publicity Organization which was held in New York this week.

The Governor realizes the importance of legislation which will prohibit corporations from contributing to campaign funds, and limit the amount of the contributions by candidates for political purposes. He regards the corrupt use of money in politics as the greatest danger now threatening the republic, and from this time until the next session of Congress intends to give his best efforts to the creation of a sentiment in favor of such legislation.

He recommended the enactment of a corrupt practices act in his inaugural address and in his last message to the Legislature. He hopes that the sentiment in Maryland will increase to such an extent between now and the next meeting of the Legislature that there will not be a man in the General Assembly who will dare to vote against the passage of a bill which will provide for the limitation of the expenditures by candidates or their friends for campaign purposes.

The Governor has watched with interest the legislation in New York, and expressed himself as much gratified at the probable action by the Legislature of that State in passing a measure which will fix the maximum amount that any party may legally expend for the election of any of its candidates. In the pending bill parties are prohibited from expending more than $10,000 in the election for a Governor, and smaller amounts for the other State and local offices, naming the maximum sum that can be used in any particular case.

WRECK ON N.Y.P. & N.R.R.

One Man Killed And Two Others Badly Hurt.

Owing to the increased traffic occasioned by the Jamestown Exposition, which opened Friday, Conductor J. Sturgis, of Delmar had orders to go to Pocomoke Friday morning to help out the regular morning train which leaves Salisbury at 8.01. Taking engine No. 80 with engineerman John C. Phillips and fireman Frank Bennett they proceeded down the road and ran head on into north bound freight train No. 24 which was taking siding at Eden. The accident in part seems to be due to the high winds, which prevailed at the time, causing the smoke to blind Engineer Phillips who evidently thought the freight had made her siding and kept his go. He was running about 25 miles an hour when the collision occurred. He just had time enough to shut his engine off and call to his fireman to jump which they both did.

Phillips was instantly killed, his head striking against an iron frog. Bennett, his fireman, was more fortunate, but received several severe scalp wounds and dislocated his shoulder. Conductor Sturgis, who was riding on the tender, held his post and escaped without any serious injury. The tender was turned over and Mr. Sturgis was caught under some falling coal, but soon succeeded in extricating himself and rendering assistance to the others. Outside of a few cuts about the head and strained legs Mr. Sturgis is not much the worse for his shaking up. He with his fireman was brought to the Peninsula General Hospital where medical assistance was rendered by Dr. Dick. The entire crew of the north bound train escaped unhurt, but the engine was badly damaged. The southbound engine was almost completely demolished. Traffic was interrupted for several hours.

ROYAL Baking Powder is indispensable to the preparation of the finest cake, hot-breads, rolls and muffins.

Housekeepers are sometimes importuned to buy other powders because they are "cheap." Housekeepers should stop and think. If such powders are lower priced, are they inferior? Is it economy to spoil your digestion?

Alum is used in some baking powders and in most of the so-called phosphate powders, because it is cheap, and makes a cheaper powder. But alum is a corrosive which, taken in food, acts injuriously upon the stomach, liver and kidneys.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from derangement of the kidneys and it is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeble you can make no mistake by using Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being called to go often through the day, and get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized, and the highest for its wonderful effects in the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

POULTRY

SITE FOR A POULTRY HOUSE.

Should be Located to Afford a Southern Exposure.

It must be located upon slightly elevated ground to afford perfect drainage. The building itself must be spacious, affording plenty of room on the floor for each individual fowl. It should be located to afford a southern exposure, so that during the winter months plenty of warm sunlight can be reflected into the building. The structure itself should be so designed to eliminate as much exposure to cold winds as possible so that the temperature can be maintained as even as practicable.

The plans herewith show one of the poultry houses I have had in use for a number of years, says a poultry farmer, in Prairie Farmer. It was one of the first buildings I constructed.

Comfortable Hen House.

ed and I have been so well pleased with this design that I have constructed others on the same principle. One of the great features in favor of this plan of a poultry house is that it affords a large amount of floor space at reasonable cost, and at the same time supplies all the requirements necessary for the comfort of the fowls.

The building herewith shown is 18x30, with 7-foot posts in front, and 3-foot posts in the rear. Before the construction of the building was begun, a foundation was laid by excavating a small trench 18 inches wide and 20 inches deep. This trench was filled with small cobble stone for the foundation for the building. Upon this foundation a concrete wall was constructed 10 inches high and 8 inches wide.

The main frame work was constructed of 2x4 material with the exception of the sills which were of 2x8 stuff. For siding, matched pine was used of excellent quality as it was desirable to make the building warm as possible. The roofing is shingles laid five inches to the weather. Two large windows were put on the south side to give plenty of sunlight. The inside of the building was sealed with matched material with felt paper between. This building is so well constructed that the weather must get pretty low in order to freeze water during the night.

Fig. 2 shows the ground plan which are partitioned off from the rest of the building. The roosts are constructed about 3 feet up from the floor. Along the south side under the windows is a dusting place where the sunlight falls directly upon the floor. Nests are provided to accommodate about 100 fowls. F is a drinking fountain. B B are feed bins where sufficient feed is kept at hand to eliminate labor in caring for the fowls.

To Prevent Poultry Mites.

For mites paint inside of hen house with Portland cement and skim milk, fill all crevices in wall and ceiling. The worst places may be daubed full of pine or gas tar. Destroy their breeding and hiding retreats. Fill a groove on upper side of perch with coal oil just before fowls go to roost. If perches are removable pour oil over them and touch a match. Spray during the day with some preparation like zenolene or a good proprietary lice killer. Cleanse the floor often and saturate that also.—Exchange.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

All fruit trees should be sprayed without regard to whether they have been attacked by insects or disease or escaped, as it is less labor to prevent attacks than to remedy the evil after it appears. It costs more to repair damage than to ward off danger. In some states, such as California, spraying the trees and vines is enforced by law. If the grower neglects his duty he is considered as one maintaining a public nuisance, and some official is ordered to spray the orchard, and add the cost to the tax bill of the negligent owner.

Parish an Exercise Yard.

Attached to the cow house should be an exercise yard for daily use of cows during the stabling season. Roost, open sheds should form a part of this inclosure, and the whole may well be roofed over, if arranged for the free circulation of air and for admitting sunshine to a large share of it, while excluding wind and storm.

Concentrates Sun's Rays.

There is an apparatus which concentrates the rays of the sun from more than 5,000 small mirrors on a spot about seven inches in diameter. The heat generated is about 7,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Iron can be melted in less than a minute and fire clay fused in about three minutes by this method. The inventor, one of the hardest of the world, requires that a person who wishes to use the apparatus should be a member of the Society of the United States.

MOST REMARKABLE STREETS.

Europe Has Most Aristocratic; United States Most Wealthy.

The highest street in the world is Main Street, in Denver; the richest is Fifth Avenue, in New York City; the widest is Market Street, in Philadelphia; and the shortest is the Rue Ble, in Paris.

The dirtiest street is that of Tchongant, in Nankin; the cleanest is the Via Castle, in Seville, Spain; the most aristocratic one is Grosvenor Place, in London; the most beautiful is the Avenue des Champs Elysees, in Paris. The narrowest street is the Via Sol, Havana, Cuba, which has a width of only forty-two inches.

Wearing Teeth for Charms.

Big Mascagni and his wife wear watch fobs alike and these have been the occasion of much curious comment. They are common Italian coins, each punctured with six holes, in which are set bits of some white substance, the nature of which is not apparent except on close examination. These are, in reality, the teeth of the first two Mascagni children, the teeth of the mother's charm being the first of her little daughter, while the proud father wears in his charm the milk teeth of his first born son.

First Cable to America.

On July 27, 1866, the laying of the first working electric cable between Europe and America was completed at Heart's Content, Trinity Bay, Newfoundland. A cable had been laid in 1858 and messages were said to have been exchanged between the Queen and the President. That cable failed immediately afterward and it is now generally believed that it never worked, and that the messages were "faked."—Fall Mail Gazette.

Shortest Name for a Street.

The thoroughfare which can boast the shortest name of any in London is D Mews, in the locality of Regent's Park. It is the only surviving alphabet street—i. e., streets whose names were simply a letter of the alphabet. Some years ago nearly every letter in the alphabet gave its name to a thoroughfare, but D Mews is the only one which has not had its name lengthened.—Tit-Bits.

India's Sacred Fires.

The sacred fires of India have not all been extinguished. The most ancient which still exists was consecrated twelve centuries ago, in commemoration of the voyage made by the Parsees when they emigrated from Persia to India. The fire is fed five times every twenty-four hours with sandalwood and other fragrant material, combined with very dry fuel.

Insurance President's Salary.

The salary paid the head of one of the insurance companies in Greater London is the combined salaries of the presidents of the fourteen leading universities in the United States.

His Wish Granted.

When Lord Curzon was appointed Viceroy of India, he completed one of the dreams of his school days. From the time he first knew that "Government house," Calcutta, was a facsimile of his ancestral home, Kedleston Hall, near Derby, he desired to occupy it as a Governor General of India.

Wear Glass Bracelets.

According to a recent report by the German Consul General at Calcutta, glass bracelets, which are imported exclusively from Austria, form an important article of trade in India, and are brought in large quantities by the natives, who are, as a rule, too poor to afford gold or silver bracelets.

Inspectors in England.

The City Council of Birmingham, England, has increased the number of women health inspectors from four to twenty, because of the excellent results achieved in the homes of the poor and in the factories. In the same city the policeman have been taught the principles of "first aid."

Widened Kiel Canal.

The ever-increasing dimensions of war vessels has led the German Government to conclude to widen the Kiel canal from 40 to 120 feet, and the width at the surface from 130 feet to 350 feet. The proposed improvements, it is estimated, will cost nearly $50,000,000.

Stratford's on Avon's Gain.

It has been reckoned by an ingenious handler of figures that Stratford on Avon gains $10,000 a year by Shakespeare. Every year from 20,000 to 30,000 people go to Stratford from all parts of the world, and a trifling average expenditure from each makes up $10,000.

An Australian Custom.

One of the most peculiar customs still retained by Australia aborigines is the mutilation teeth. The boy who wants to be thought a man will often break one of his front teeth.

Renting a Fire Bell.

The fire commission of New Britain, Conn., have decided to continue to rent a church bell rather than buy one, on account of the exceedingly high price of bell metal at present.

Standing Armies.

The first standing army of modern times was established by Charles VII. of France in 1445. In England the first standing army was organized in 1485.

Penman's Speed.

A fast penman will write at the rate of thirty words a minute, which means that in an hour's steady writing he has drawn his pen a space of 300 yards.

Female Characters were First Played.

Female characters were first played by women in 1492.

LARGEST OF PIPE ORGANS.

Hugo Instrument Made for a German Prince.

Size in organs is not for the non-musical to judge, enough, perhaps, that their ears should be made to ache. But a step now being taken in Germany should serve as an object lesson to experts. According to the London Globe, Prince Donatmarck recently placed in one of the new Berlin churches an organ of dimensions so large as to entitle the instrument to be deemed one of the largest in the world. It has cost about $20,000. The "blowing" is done by an electric motor of 10 horse power, which is embedded in a thick wall and isolated by iron doors so that the noise of its working shall not be heard. There are four clavers and 6,000 stops, of which the most noteworthy are the "angelic chorus," the "heavenly voice," "murmuring breakers," sea waves" and the "human voice."

Vegetables Under Glass.

There are more than 10,000 establishments in the country for raising early vegetable plants under glass. Within a radius of 15 miles of Boston there are nearly 3,000,000 square feet of glass used in forcing vegetables. Near Providence, R. I., are fully 10 acres of glass for the same purpose. The suburbs of New York, Chicago and other big cities use nearly 5,000,000 square feet of glass for strictly vegetable and early fruit culture, and the glass alone used in this forcing nature is worth millions.—Leslie's Weekly.

Wealth of France.

The population of France is about 40,000,000 people; the wealth of France is nearly $45,000,000,000. The United States Consul at Marseilles, in some recent statistics, shows how evenly this wealth is distributed. The number of estates administered in 1904 was 394,787, and of these one-half were for values ranging from less than $10,000 to a little under $100,000. Only three were over $1,000,000.

A Snail's Pace.

A snail's rate of travel was ascertained by experiments in Florence. Half a dozen snails were permitted to crawl between two points ten feet apart. Exact time was kept from the start to the finish, and thus the average pace was learned. The figures were then put into tables of feet, yards and furlongs, and it was found that it would take a snail exactly fourteen days to travel a mile.

Negroes Speak Irish Language.

The Irish language is spoken in the Bahamas among the mixed descendants of the Iberian pirates banished long ago by Cromwell to the West Indies. One can occasionally hear negro sailors in the East End of London who cannot speak a word of English talking Irish to the old Irish apple women who gather round the docks.

MANY CANDIDATES SHOW HEALTHINESS.
Although the Democratic primaries are several months off, the political pot is showing signs of life, and if the heat engendered thus early in the season grows with the usual degree of intensity as the time approaches, it bid fair to boil right this year.

Good-natured rivalry will be a benefit to the party instead of a detriment, and an old-fashioned convention, with the result in doubt, will be welcomed by the great mass of voters in the Democratic party, who do not want to see an old out-and-dried affair, with all the offices portioned out by a few before the delegates even meet.

The Democratic party has put itself on record as being opposed to bribery at the polls, and it will be well for all aspirants to political honors in the county to remember this on the day the primaries are held; in case of a contest in their district and the temptation to carry their point by the use of money should be strong.

Loud and deep were the cries that went up last year at the treachery and the corrupt use of money by the Republicans. If sincerity was at the bottom of this—and there is no reason to suppose otherwise—they will as quickly condemn corruption and the use of like methods in a member of their own party.

Let us have this year a continuation of the fight for clean elections, and in order to be entirely consistent we must have clean primaries. And if any man, in his zeal and desire to carry his district, should resort to questionable tactics, then that man should have no consideration when he reaches the convention, but should be boldly told that, if in the future he wants any consideration at the hands of the Democratic party, then he must come before it with hands that have not been soiled with bribery at the primaries.

What the Democratic party in Wicomico county needs to put it in a good, healthy condition and to keep it there, is plenty of candidates for the offices to be filled, a fair and clean primary throughout the county, and a convention that is free and unmanipulated. Give us a ticket that is nominated this way, and the bruises left by disappointment of some not to get the prize they wanted will heal up of themselves, and all will turn in with a vim for the successful ones, and victory in the Fall will be a foregone conclusion.

BLAMING OUR ANCESTORS.
Great in science as handed out by the American Association for the Advancement of Science. There is absolutely nothing new about these experts, who at times become almost mystic in their perplexity.

He said that the twelve children of Jonathan Edwards and their seventy-five descendants had all been of upright character, except Aaron Burr. For the reason of Burr's actions he went back to Jonathan Edwards' grandmother, who was shown to be an extremely clever woman of a most erratic temperament.

SURGERY ON THE STAGE.
Playwrights have made long excursions into the realm of metaphysics for the purpose of illustrating their themes. The idea of dual personality, as seen in Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde suggested a score of plays dealing with subjects in the field of the alienist.

BEES AND BLUE FLOWERS.
Darwin's theory of "bees and blue flowers," or the evolution of "the largest and most brilliant flowers" by the preference for these of pollen-distributing bees, is challenged by Mr. G. W. Bulman in the Nineteenth Century.

BULLETS AND PRIZE MONEY.
A seaman was found on his knees praying after the captain of the man-of-war had issued the order to clear the deck for action.

SEARCHING THE TITLE.
It can readily be understood that it is necessary for any one taking a divorced man or woman as a husband or wife (in the United States) to have his or her right to remarry examined into by a lawyer.

IN OUR INFANCY.
Sir Oliver Lodge says that the human race is in its infancy. Many people had inferred as much from the political logic of professional politicians and the sociological lore of trust magnates.

A Strange Gift.
During his political missions in Bhutan and Tibet Mr. Claude White, the British political agent at Sikim, was presented with a takin, an animal half ox and half antelope.

Mr. Hall Caine makes a practice of visiting every place he intends to describe in a novel. When engaged on a story he writes on an average, 1,500 words a day.

The Public School Teachers' Association of Maryland has put itself on record as favoring a finer memorial to Edgar Allan Poe. The movement to erect a monument to this great poet was originally launched by this association.

Mr. Frank Dennis, the well-known commission merchant, of New York, and who was recently elected president of a New York City bank, passed through Salisbury with his family one day last week, en route to Ocean City. Mr. Dennis has taken a cottage at Ocean City for the summer.

The timber on the "Carey Farm," near Fruitland, was sold last Saturday at the Court House. This sale attracted quite a crowd of people. The bidding was quite spirited.

Mr. J. C. Kelly gave a surprise party at her home on Division St., last Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Lucy Wayland. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock. All present reported spending a very pleasant evening.

New Automobile Route.
For the benefit of many northern automobilists who plan touring trips to the Jamestown Exposition at Norfolk, Va., a new route has been discovered and mapped out by P. H. Johnson treasurer of the New York Motor Club.

A Word of Advice to the Man who Intends Buying Spring Clothes

Above everything be sure you get the style that is latest and right, for instance, your coat lapels must be more graceful and roll lower than last season; the collar must be rounded at the corners; the buttons on the front and sleeves placed just so. The shoulders should be wide but not extreme. The back should suggest the figure line, but not be too close. Your vest may be either with or without collar, higher cut than ever before and have flaps at pockets with buttons. Your trousers may be either with or without cut buttons, an open welt up the side seam side buckles at waist and straps for belts. All these features are in Thoroughgood's suit. There is no question about getting the right thing from Thoroughgood's store. There are plenty of cheap stores all over Salisbury but not one of them carries the dependable goods that Lacy Thoroughgood's does and Thoroughgood's prices are not a cent higher than other people. Just come look.

MRS. M.M. MARSHALL

Catarrh of Digestive Organs and Bowels.
MRS. MARY M. MARSHALL, Tip-ton, Mo., writes:

"I suffered three years with catarrh of the digestive organs and bowels. I was unable to find relief, until as a last resort I was induced to try Peruna."

"I began the use of Peruna when I was confined to the bed and can say that I experienced benefit from the first dose."

"I have taken five bottles in all and believe that I am cured of my trouble."

"I am enjoying as good health as an old lady of my age could expect. My age is 77."

"I recommend your medicines to sufferers whenever I meet them, and some of my friends are using them with great success."

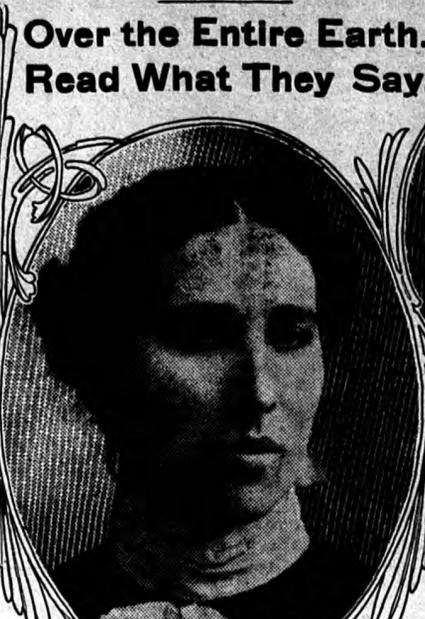

"I will always feel grateful to you for your grand medicine and kind advice and trust that many others may be as greatly benefited as I have been."

Pe-ru-na For Bowel Trouble.
Mrs. L. S. Tinker, 852 Second street, Mason, Ga., writes:

"Two years ago my grandson suffered with hemorrhages of the bowels and he was treated by different doctors, but without cure."

"We quit all other treatment, and began the use of Peruna, and after the use of three bottles he seemed to be quite well. He is able now to walk six miles to school every day."

"Peruna has certainly worked wonders for him, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it."

MISS ANNA CARSTEN

Miss Anna Carsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

"Your medicine, Peruna, did me so much good. I believe I should have been dead by this time if I had not used it."

"I am feeling so well now and have no trouble with my stomach. I have not taken any medicine for four or five months."

"If I am ever troubled with anything of the kind again, I shall take nothing but Peruna. I can cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

A Severe Cough.
Mrs. Emma Martin, Odeesa, Mo., writes:

"I cannot thank you enough for curing me. For two years I doctored my cough which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep."

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. I took it according to directions, and in a short while I felt better, and after I had taken a second bottle I felt entirely well."

"After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured, and therefore recommend this grand medicine to all who suffer with a cough as I did."

MISS EVA SCHELLE

Miss Eva Schelle, 127 N. Quincy St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

"I unhesitatingly recommend Peruna as a splendid specific for catarrhal affections. I was a sufferer with this trouble off and on for a number of years and each fresh cold added to the difficulty."

"Finally I began taking Peruna for a cold and was glad to note that it was ridding me of the catarrh also."

"I continued to use it faithfully and the result was a complete cure in a very few months."

MRS. CHRISTINA CLOW

Mrs. Christina Clow, 411 E. Platte Ave., Colorado Springs, Col., writes:

"I have taken Peruna off and on for six years and have found it very beneficial in a great many ways."

"I took it for a cough and a cold, also for catarrh of the head, and it cured me. I took it for a tonic and it gave me strength. I have every reason to speak well of your medicine."

FAITH THAT CANNOT BE SHAKEN.

Despite everything that sensational magazines may say, the women of the United States continue to have faith in Peruna.

"These women know a great deal more about Peruna than the editors who have, for selfish purposes, written against it. These women have tried Peruna in their families. They have taken it themselves. They know it will help them."

"They have suffered from various ailments, and Peruna has come to their relief, even when the doctors failed to cure them."

Such women cannot be convinced by any editorial spam that their favorite household remedy is a humbug. Peruna goes right on in its conquest over disease. Its fame is spreading all over the earth.

Especially among American women is Peruna a beloved household remedy. It is entirely useless for anyone to try to dissuade them from the results of their own experience.

Peruna is a remedy for the mucous membranes. It therefore has a beneficial effect upon the internal organs of the body that are lined by mucous membranes.

For various chronic climatic diseases Peruna is a reliable remedy.

The testimonials concerning Peruna are given in the language of the people. We do not change or add to anything they may say concerning it.

The evidence is overwhelming that Peruna is a safe, reliable, invaluable remedy for the household.

Headache and Backache.
Mrs. Franziska Gaengel, Dominion 1, Old Bridgeport Mines, C. B., Canada, writes:

"I thank you for the benefit which I derived from Peruna. There may be many who are suffering from the same disease that I had, for which they have not yet been able to find the correct remedy."

"For the benefit of such persons I wish to say that I suffered with headache and backache and had a severe cough. I was in bed several weeks and could not do my work. I tried many remedies in vain."

"Then I consulted Dr. Hartman, who advised me to take Peruna and gave me further instructions, which I carefully observed."

"I felt better after taking the first bottle. I have taken several bottles now and am feeling so well that I can do all my work."

"I will never be without Peruna again, and recommend it to all."

Catarrh of the Stomach.
Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 6, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, and am sincerely thankful to you for your advice."

"If it had not been for Peruna I would never have been well. I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me."

"I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it. I can eat and walk and work."

"Everybody says I look as well as I ever did. Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you! I have got several other people to take Peruna. I prize it to every body's."

In Memoriam.
In loving remembrance of my mother, Mrs. Sophronia E. Bennett, who departed this life Wednesday, April 26, 1905. While she is gone she is still remembered as a kind loving mother.

Two sad years since mother died, since she crossed the river's tide. Death has parted us, mother dear yet absent, mother seems near.

The parting hour was sad I know, it is our portion here below. But when we meet again some day, grief and sadness will flee away.

"Till then with patience we will wait the opening of the Golden Gate. Enter with mother near the throne, when tears and parting are not known. —Lillian.

IN QUEST OF COPY

By Helen Brandon.

MARTIN VOSSICKER beheld a slender, girlish figure and a gentle, tender, girlish face, with fair hair and the softest eyes conceivable. A pathetic air of helplessness seemed to envelop her, and this was the magnet that first attracted Martin, being himself an athletic animal of something over six feet, and as little like the popular notion of the popular novelist as possible.

She was idling away a summer month with her aunt, Mrs. Randall, at the Manor, where Martin, who lived in an ivy-clad house in Boston, was a frequent and ever-welcome visitor. Thus they met.

When he came to talk to her, he found her less helpless than at first she had conveyed the impression of being—which is often the way with women. Nor were her eyes always as soft and gentle as the first glance from them had seemed to him—which, again, is often the way with women. Those eyes were of a deep brown, widely set and thoughtful, and they had a disconcerting trick of riveting themselves upon you until their glance appeared to penetrate into the privacy of your inmost thoughts.

Charmed at first, Martin was dazzled presently. He found her bright and witty, with a subtle, scholarly wit which would have pleasantly surprised him in a man, but which he found inexplicable in a woman, for he was one of those who—frequently to their undoing—have a rather low estimate of the intellectuality of the so-called weaker sex.

He went home inspired by a profound admiration for Rose Gerard, and promising himself that, so long as she remained at the Manor, he would find his way there even more often than usual.

He kept that promise so very well that from a frequent he became a daily visitor. He was busy at the time upon one of those anemic novels which had brought him a fair measure of fame with a decadent public, and each afternoon, when his "four hours' work" Martin only worked four hours a day—was done, he would stroll over to the Manor for tea.

Saxton waited on tiptoe for the announcement of the engagement of its popular novelist to Mrs. Randall's charming niece. But Saxton was disappointed. Martin Vossicker was certainly making love to Rose, but the love was purely artistic—without yet being that art which conceals art. For the first time in his career he had come upon an opportunity of making copy out of a real, live person.

He set himself to make it, and she appeared to be assisting him with a degree of verve, sympathy, and understanding which, while it amazed him considerably, pleased him still more. His favorite pose was that of a victim of unrequited love. This the exigencies of his case demanded, for such were the circumstances under which the hero of his anemic novel was laboring. Never for a moment had he permitted himself a hopeful tone.

Rose had fallen a victim to his mental suggestion, and she accepted the situation, which characterized—if hardly feminine—readiness. She seemed to play the part he had assigned to her just as he—half consciously only—was playing the part he had assigned to himself. She was capricious, petulant, arch and mocking by turns, but rarely tender, and then it was a tenderness that faded almost as soon as it took shape.

But it was affording Martin something more than amusement. It was equipping him with much rich material. The mental notes he made while in her company he transferred to paper each evening, to be anon molded into his novel. And so his book grew apace, and the frothy brilliancy which his readers had come to look for in his work was reaching in "The Futile Quest" a height to which it had never soared before.

At last the time drew near for Rose's departure from Saxton. The hero of "A Futile Quest" had come to the stage of proposing to the heroine, and Martin had been unable to decide whether to rely purely upon his imagination for that which should be the culminating scene of his book, or whether to avail himself once more of Rose Gerard and to first live through the scene.

He feared this might be driving his copy hunting a little too far; but, on the other hand, the benefits his work might derive from it were—judged by the past—likely to be considerable. He was tempted very sorely.

At last he took his resolve. He would propose to her. He was assured that she was no more in love with him than he was with her. She would be amused by this consummation of all the poses they had hitherto assumed, and he never doubted that she would rise to the occasion. He made up his mind on his way home—certainly came to

"It is not a question of politeness," he answered, lugubriously. "Why are you glad that I am going?" she said. "For my own part, I am sorry."

His hand fastened instantly upon her arm. "Do you really mean it?" he asked, with sudden fierceness.

"Why, of course!" she laughed. "I am very sorry to leave Auntie; she has been so very kind."

He removed his hand from her arm. "Oh! Mrs. Randall!" he complained. "You can think of everybody but me."

"Why should I think of you, since you confess yourself glad that I am going? Why are you glad?"

He hesitated. For a moment he sat thinking. Then, looking up and encountering the steady gaze of her brown eyes—

"I am glad because"—his voice trembled—"because it is better so; better that I should see no more of you." He dropped his glance. "My lot does not lie in the smooth places of the world," he continued, tragically. "It is not such an existence as I could ask any woman to share."

That is why I rejoice that, in a couple of days, we shall have passed out of each other's way of life."

He paused. Somehow, he was not doing at all well. He was beginning to feel ashamed of himself. But it was her hand that now fell upon his sleeve, and her voice quivered slightly.

"Do you mean that you care?" she asked. Inwardly he groaned. He was not to be allowed to retreat, after all. As he was a gentleman, he could not do so now.

He had overreached himself in his internal copy hunting, and he must go on although a church and a nuptial service should be at the end of the road he was following.

"That," he faltered, "is what I mean."

There was a pause, during which her soft eyes were lowered and his furtive glance could make nothing of her expression.

"But if that is so," she murmured. "Why should you rejoice at my going?"

"Have I not said that it is because my road through life is one which I cannot ask a woman to tread?"

"But if—if she cared?" The brown eyes flashed him a glance that were veiled again.

He trembled. The artistic re-searches that had lured him into this situation were all forgotten. He felt like one who had trembled into a trap, and his only thought was how he might extricate himself.

"If she cared," he replied, unsteadily, "that would be all the more reason why I should go."

"There speaks no lover," said she, quietly. "It is too cold and calculating. If you really cared, you would make a bid for her, and ask her, at least, whether she were not willing to risk the future with you, whatever it might be. No, Martin, my friend, you have deluded yourself. You do not care; you only fancy that you do."

"You have no feelings!" he exclaimed at last. "I can say of you, as Carlyle said of Ruskin, you are like a beautiful bottle of soda water."

That was their last interview before she left Saxton. His work absorbed him, and he pursued it feverishly until his novel was finished. Then his thoughts reverted to Rose, and the sense of injury returned.

Next the explanation of it came home to him little by little. He was in love with her. It occurred to him to obtain her address from Mrs. Randall, and to follow her. But when he recalled their last words that day at the Manor, he lacked the courage.

"The Futile Quest," by Martin Vossicker, was published in the autumn. A week after its appearance, Martin was in town, and one afternoon at his club an acquaintance thrust a paper under his nose and pointed to a review-article headed, "A Literary Coincidence."

"Have you seen that, Vossicker? You are in good company, anyhow."

Martin, glancing at the article, saw his name coupled with that of Sebastian Rule, an author who had leaped into fame a year ago and whose work was being everywhere discussed. In gathering surprise he perused the article, which ran—

"We have lighted upon what we think our readers will agree is the most astounding literary coincidence that has ever been recorded. Last week saw the appearance of 'The Idealist,' by Sebastian Rule, and 'The Futile Quest,' by Martin Vossicker. Each of these novels is remarkable for vigor, power, and insight, but more remarkable still for the amazing resemblance that exists between them. It is true that in the matters of plot and mise-en-scene these two works have, perhaps, not much in common; but the characters of the hero and heroine are not only almost identical in each case, but they utter identical sentiments, frequently in identical words, and a striking climax to this astounding coincidence of thought and expression is afforded by the parting sentence which the hero addresses to the heroine. In both novels we find him taking his leave of her with the words: 'You have no feelings! I can say of you—as Carlyle said of Ruskin—you are like a beautiful bottle of soda water.'"

This was followed by the reviewer's theories and speculations in explanation of this remarkable fact. But Vossicker didn't trouble to read what the reviewer thought. His own thoughts were more than enough for him.

him just then. He let the paper fall, and reclining in his chair, he gave himself up to the luxury of conjecture. But it proved for once rather more of a torture than a luxury.

He was quick to evolve a theory of his own. Rose must be very intimate with Sebastian Rule, and must have confided in him touching the curiously conducted wooing of his at Saxton.

Having reached that conclusion, Martin rose. He must see Rule at once, and they must discuss what attitude they were to take towards the subject, particularly if the seemingly inevitable imputation came to be cast upon their work of having been plagiarized from a common source.

To this end he repaired there and then to Brett and Hackett, Sebastian Rule's publisher's, to ascertain Mr. Rule's address.

"Mr. Rule," said the publisher, "chooses to maintain the strictest incognito, and I am under promise not to divulge his address to anybody. But if you care to write to him, I will see that your letter is forwarded."

Martin, however, did not care to write. He insisted upon seeing the author of "The Idealist," and in the end he won his way.

Half an hour later saw him on the door step of a pretty villa in St. John's Wood, asking to see Mr. Rule. For some moments he was kept waiting. At last Martin gazed to behold Rose Gerard herself standing before him.

"How do you do?" came her pleasant greeting. "What are you doing here?" he blurted out.

"I live here with my mother. This is my house."

"But Mr. Rule?" he asked. "I am Mr. Rule," she answered, with a quiet, half-wistful smile.

"You?" he cried, in unbelief, "you?" and his fine eyes were opened very wide. "You are Sebastian Rule?"

"Yes," she reassured him, "I am the man." Then, with a laugh, "Don't look so shocked, Martin," she continued. "I know that you find it hard to credit—you, whose opinion of woman's intellectuality is so unflattering to us. But if you will think for yourself, you will see that it could not be otherwise. You have, of course, seen what the 'Daily Wire' says about this literary coincidence. At least, I assume that that is the explanation of your presence here."

Then Martin understood. He understood the verve and sympathy with which she had entered upon those make believe conversations at Saxton. Whilst he was making copy of her, she was making copy of him. Each had been posing unconsciously for the other's benefit.

"We have," said he, "made a very charming mess of it."

"Hardly so bad as that," she laughed. "People will wonder and the wonder will advertise our books."

"I was an ass," he acknowledged, with melancholy conviction, and for the moment—as he met her brown eyes—he forgot the literary coincidence. "I was an ass," he repeated.

"No, no," she answered, with soothing politeness. "But I was," he insisted. "You don't know the worst."

"Tell me," she begged. She was standing close to him. The proximity seemed to affect him. His hand fell upon her arms as it had done that day at Saxton.

"By dint of posing as a lover I became a lover," he blurted out, "and without knowing it. But I found it out after you had gone away, Rose, and I so wanted to come after you. But I didn't dare. I don't suppose that you'll ever forgive me. I'm sure I don't deserve that you should."

"Silly boy, you forget that I was just as bad. If you talk of forgiving you have quite as much to forgive me. And, oh, Martin, I have been punished!"

"Just as you have been punished. I acted a part until it ceased to be acting, and—"

"Rose!" he exclaimed, and at that moment the literary coincidence was completely forgotten.

He took her by the shoulders and held her at arm's length, solemnly regarding her.

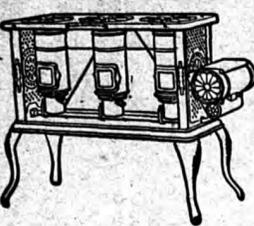

"It's true, Rose," said she. "And I think that in future we might collaborate very satisfactorily—don't you?"—London Answers.

Politics Told by Glasses. A Berlin Journalist has just been taking a census of the shortsighted members of the Reichstag and he finds that out of 397 Deputies 105 use glasses. Party politics may be determined, according to the German statistician, by the kind of glasses affected. The eyesman, he declares, marks the Anglophile and is rarely seen. Spectacles are very popular and are generally worn by the party of the center. The pince nez seem to indicate socialism and revolutionary tendencies.

Justifiable Whipping. Professor Barnes returns from 3,000 California children indicated overwhelmingly that they did not resent whipping as such; any punishment was resented if the child thought he had not had due notice of the consequence or that his excuse had not been sufficiently considered, or other children had been let off more easily; but a scolding that did not satisfy those requirements left more bitterness than a whipping that did.

INDICATES SPEED OF TRAINS. Railroad Device Invented and Used in France.

One of the French railroads uses a novel form of speed indicator on its locomotives in cases where on account of repairs, defective structure, or lack of attendance the speed is to be kept within a certain limit. It not only shows the speed, but when this rises above the required point it acts automatically to throw on the air brakes. One of the locomotive axles drives a small centrifugal pump which sends water from the tender against the compression of a spring, and moves up and down according to the speed of the pump or of the locomotive. The piston is connected with a registered apparatus which thus traces a speed curve. When the speed rises above the limit the piston acts upon a device which is connected with the air brake pipes, and a certain quantity of air is allowed to escape, thus throwing on the brakes.

Safe Gasoline Stove. A Texas man has devised a gasoline stove which he claims is absolutely non-explosive.

The reservoir may be covered with oil and set afloat with impunity. The stove is constructed with two tanks, one to hold water, the other gasoline. The piping is so arranged that the gasoline reservoir is always full, the pressure beneath the water forcing the oil to the top and thence into the burner. So long as the air is thus excluded from the gasoline reservoir the tank cannot explode.

Lakes of Borax. Near Ashcroft, in British Columbia, are a number of small lakes, whose shores and bottoms are covered with a crust containing borax and soda in such quantities and proportions that when cut out it serves as a washing compound.

The crust is cut into blocks and handled in the same manner as ice, and it is estimated that one of the lakes contains 20,000 tons of this material.

Great Candy Eaters. There are no greater candy eaters in the world than the very poor of New York City.

Keapers of the almost innumerable little shops in their neighborhoods say that thousands of them will go without proper food to buy sweets, and that they spend ten times as much for sugars and chocolates, in proportion to their means, as do those who can well afford such luxuries.

Washed and Unwashed Coal. In preparing coal for use in a boiler it has been proved by experiment that the quantity of extremely fine dust through a 100-mesh screen is almost three times as much in unwashed as with the washed coal.

This fact is of much importance, as the presence of fine dust has a great influence on the burning of the fuel.

Hard to Get Safety Coupling. In 1901 the Russian railways offered prizes for an international competition for the best automatic coupling device for railway wagons, but the Bulletin Commercial reports that not a single apparatus has been judged to be in accordance with all the conditions laid down in the competition.

readiness. She
part he had assign-

the part he had

She was capricious, petulant, arch and

but rarely tender, and then it was a

But it was afford-

with much rich

book grew apace,
and the frothy

it had never
