CONVENTION ASIDES

After The Day Was Over, Democrats Ready For The Fray.

Side Lights on the convention.

Nothing pleases Democrats like Democracy. Tuesday's convention was democratic.

The democrats of Wicomico county are now wearing the smile that went come off.

So much for Harmony.—Harmony talk. Harmonious action. Harmonious Convention. Harmonious ticket. Everything harmonious, great harmony.

Lost, On Tuesday last at the Court House, all opportunity for Wicomico county to elect a Republican to the State Senate.

From now on there will be no scramble in the Republican ranks as to who shall go on the ticket.

Give us all conventions like Tuesday's and there will be no need of vote buying, people don't have to be bought to vote the way they want to.

Only one little ripple in the convention and that over such a little thing as States Attorneyship whose chief duty it is to set the law on criminals. Well there is not going to be any criminals where everybody votes the Democratic ticket.

Several of our prominent Republicans were very interested spectators at Tuesday's convention. It was no doubt quite an interesting sight to see forty two free white citizens making out a ticket for the white people to vote free and untrammelled from any boss domination.

Shades of the mighty. But how interesting it would be to have a snap shot of those two old war horses, J. T. Truitt and Levin J. Gale, while engaged in a controversy over the respective claims to recognition of their districts. By many Mr. Truitt was considered the more eloquent of the two, and tears could be seen glistening in the eyes of many of the county delegates while they listened to the flood gates of oratory as let loose by Mr. Truitt in the plea he made in the interest of the "bloody fifth" and her candidate for States Attorney. He graphically told of her importance as a vote producer and depicted her poverty as compared with other districts in securing recognition on the ticket. Evidently for getting for the moment in the person of the present President of the Board of County Commissioners. Mr. Truitt is himself the present deputy clerk and Mr. Perry was given a delegation to the State Convention in the interest of his candidacy for the Comptrollership. But what Mr. Gale lacked in eloquence of speech he made up in down right earnestness and graceful gestures.

"When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug of war."

No better man could have been chosen to place in nomination Wicomico's most honored citizen than was done Tuesday when Mr. J. H. Hayman was selected to place before the convention the name of the Hon. E. E. Jackson as a candidate for State Senator. While the day was an eventful one and many graceful things were done the speech made by Mr. Hayman in his presentation will rank with the best of them and while the subject was no doubt of great aid to the substance all who heard him admit that Mr. Hayman performed his part in a masterly manner.

The administration of the affairs of the State of Maryland under Democratic control has resulted in the reduction of the State tax to the lowest in the memory of the present generation, all the income from which goes to the Public School Funds of the State, and we confidently believe that with a continuance of the party in power for four more years will result in again reducing this tax without detriment to our school system, caused by the greatly increased revenue arising from legislation passed by the last Democratic assembly, wherein the corporations of the State are now paying their more equal share of taxation.

We are not unmindful that a new oyster law has been enacted for the promotion of the oyster culture in the State, and that a commission is now engaged in making a survey of the land covered with water so as to separate the barren ground from the natural oyster bars. While we shall watch with interest this work, we hereby renew our pledge to our fellow citizens to protect them in the free and ancient rights of fishery which they and their fathers have enjoyed, so that right shall be preserved absolutely unimpaired for all future generations.

The Democratic party of Wicomico county wishes to express its confidence and esteem for Thomas Perry, Esq., one of our worthy citizens, who is a candidate for the nomination of Comptroller of the State, and the delegation to the State Convention hereafter to be named, is hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Mr. Perry for the high position, as we believe his nomination would add strength, not only to the local ticket in this county, but to the State ticket as well.

The following gentlemen were also nominated by a rising vote: For House of Delegates—John W. Willing, of Nanticoke; Ernest B. Timmons, of Pittsburg; and Roscoe Jones, of Trappe.

For County Treasurer—Jesse D. Price, of Salisbury District.

For Sheriff—William W. Larmora, of Tyaskin District.

The names of C. Gus Messick, of Nanticoke; Wesley D. Truitt, of Willards, John P. Wright, of Barren Creek; L. B. Brittingham and Napoleon Dennis, of Dennis District, were placed in nomination for County Commissioners, the first three being nominated by a rising vote.

The nomination for State's Attorney was the most hotly contested, it taking two ballots to settle the result. The names of George W. Bell, L. A. Wood Bennett and Jos. L. Bailey were placed in nomination. On the first ballot Mr. Bell received seven votes, Mr. Bennett 18 votes and Mr. Bailey 17 votes. On the second ballot Mr. Bell received two votes, Mr. Bailey 28, and Mr. Bennett 13 votes.

The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the State Convention; Hon. E. E. Jackson, Hon. M. V. Brewington, Hon. E. Stanley Truitt, Lev in J. Gale, James T. Truitt, Hon. Ebenezer G. Davis, Charles R. Cooper and Captain James A. Turner.

The entire convention was an open one and it was early manifested that the spirit of independence prevailed and that only men who were satisfactory not only to the leaders or organization, but to the voters as well would be named. All efforts to make deals or combinations whereby the People's choice for any office would be subverted to the use of any one man were discontenanced both by the organization and the people. A sane solution of the political problem was made, a clear course was taken, and the congratulations of the county are due to those whose political acumen and sane judgement was of such calibre as to see the true situation, and to take that course which would save and sacrifice their party. That the convention was not a cut-and-dried affair, was apparent to any one, nor was it dominated by any influence of a sinister or selfish character, was equally as plain. Those who were mighty, made themselves meek. Those who had much were willing to share with those who had little. It was a "banquet" to which all good democrats were invited to be present and to participate in the Councils of their party with the full assurance that nothing but the maintenance of the might and majesty of that party would be allowed to prevail and that all personal place seeking would be relegated to their rightful realms and give place to the principles of the party.

Harmony and fitness. Harmony and fitness for office were recognized; not how much does the party owe me but how much do I owe my party, was made the slogan and the stepping stone to the glorious results which were accomplished. The action of certain individuals who were candidates for the honor of representing their county in the Senate of their State cannot be too highly commended. They deserve collectively and individually that endorsement that every fair minded citizen feels is justly due to those who in the interest of their party were broadminded enough to see the situation as it was and were ready to make such personal sacrifices as would for the time being eliminate them from any charge of trying to perpetuate personal politics. No matter who are the men who are benefited and whose interest served instead of individuals, those who participate in and lend their support to the bringing about of peace and harmony, where discord and chaos before prevailed, are justly entitled and bound to receive that commendation which is their due. That the ticket nominated Tuesday is a good one and will receive the united support of the party is the general opinion expressed by Democrats and many who are not. That its election in November by a large majority is equally as sure is beyond question of a doubt. To argue that under normal conditions Wicomico is not safely Democratic is to open the door of doubt as to one's sanity and at no time in the history of the party have conditions been more favorable than they are since the convention Tuesday made it possible for all Democrats to vote the Democratic ticket.

Sacrifices For Party. That sacrifices were made by others than those who were candidates before the convention must be evident to any one who will for one moment take the time to do a little thinking for themselves. No one doubts for a moment that the reasons which led that sterling Democrat, Ex-Governor Jackson, to allow the use of his name in connection with the nomination for State Senator were brought about by none other than deep devotion to the interest of that party in whose councils he has wielded such potent influence and in whose service he has rendered such conspicuous aid. That he honors the office instead of the office honoring him is no derogation either of the office or the man. To say that Ex-Governor Jackson made a great personal sacrifice, in the interest of the people and his party is but stating the case mildly. And that the people will not fail to remember this sacrifice on his part will be shown when the proper time arrives and they have opportunity of casting their ballots, not only for him, but for the entire ticket as well. For while the prestige of the Ex-Governor's name will be a tower of strength to the Democracy in the coming campaign, there is not a single name on the entire ticket that will not individually stand the right test and most minute examination of discriminating democrats who desire to vote for democrats to represent democracy.

This is one of the campaigns in which the democrats can afford to enter the contest before them with clean hands and a clear conscience and to keep unsullied their honor as men and do their duties as good citizens in placing Wicomico where she rightly belongs, among the banner counties of triumphant Democracy.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION COMES UP TO REQUIREMENTS.

Notable Gathering Of Democrats And Independence Of Expression. Good Counsel Prevailed And Good Ticket Was Nominated. Large Majority Pleased, And Democrats Feel Sure Of Success. Large Sentiment Was For Harmony. Thos. Perry Endorsed For Comptroller. His Chances Are Good.

The gentlemen named below who composed the convention which met here Tuesday to nominate a county ticket for the Democratic party to be voted for in November perhaps came nearer discharging their duties satisfactorily than any similar convention of recent years. Every man selected to represent the different districts, seemed imbued with the idea and dominated by nothing save that which was for the best interest of their party, regardless of whether this action ran counter to the ambition of individuals or not. And, further, it must be said, that the spirit of magnanimity and unselfishness prevailed the ranks of those who had it in their power to make or mar this convention, and there is no doubt that it was in the power of a few men to do either. But be it said to their credit that they took hold of the situation in that spirit of open fair mindedness, together with that entire subversion of selfish interest, for the benefit of the people upon whom the bed-rock principles of Democracy are founded.

Delegates And Organization.

The Convention was called to order by Mr. James T. Truitt, as a member of the State Central Committee, and he was chosen chairman. Messrs. Granville M. Castlin and William T. Vincent were the secretaries. On motion of Mr. Jerome T. Hayman the Committee on Credentials was dispensed with and the roll of the districts called, all answering to their names. Every district was fully represented, the following delegates constituting the Convention:

- Barren Creek—Charles E. Cooper, Isaac J. Wright, Eugene Elliott.
- Quantico—Levin J. Gale, William Gilie, William H. Phillips.
- Tyaskin—Granville M. Castlin, Ware Hopkins, H. Wesley Smith.
- Pittsburg—George Adkins, H. James Truitt, N. B. Ward.
- Parsons—James T. Truitt, Elmer E. Bradley, Jason P. Tughman.
- Dennis—Lee Laws, I. S. Williams, Rufus Johnson.
- Trappe—B. F. Messick, Wm. T. Vincent, Jesse F. Waller.
- Nutter—Louis Buswell, John E. Johnson, Alfred Reddish.
- Salisbury—J. T. Hayman, James I. Taylor, E. B. Hitch.
- Sharptown—J. O. Adams, B. T. Gravenor, John A. Wright.
- Delmar—Charles E. Williams, Edwin Freeny, J. W. Hastings.
- Nanticoke—Wade H. Inley, Charles R. Vickers, Harry Roberts.
- Camden—Wm. T. Banks, Marion E. Tindle, Charles Guthrie.
- Willard—J. J. Jones, J. M. Dennis, E. G. Davis.

The chair appointed the following gentlemen as a Committee on Resolutions: J. T. Hayman, E. G. Davis, William T. Banks, J. O. Adams and L. J. Gale. The following resolutions were reported and adopted:

Good Results Of Democratic Government.

The Democratic party of Wicomico county, in convention assembled, points with pride to the administration of local affairs by the Democratic party in Wicomico county. The efficient and careful handling of the finances of the county, and the honest and progressive policy of all the Democratic officers of Wicomico county for the past forty years, have added much to the peace and advancement of this section of Maryland. The reduction of the county tax rate, made possible by the careful management of our county treasurer and commissioners, is an index of what the taxpayers may expect for the future by continuing the Democratic party in control of the county. Wicomico county has no floating debt, and only a small bonded debt, and the county is practically on a cash basis, all due to competent Democratic management.

We recognize that the public road question is one in which the people of the county are vitally interested, and we point to the fact that within the past two years the county commissioners have met the demands of our people in this respect and have improved many miles of our public highways with shells, and while we believe at all times in a conservative public policy, and one which will not make the burden of taxation too onerous, yet we recognize that there is a demand in this county for more permanent improvements of the county roads along the lines of the State road law, and looking to this end we unqualifiedly favor making the county roads as good as it is possible to make them, consistent with the resources and wealth of the county, recognizing that the building of good roads always enhances the value of real estate, and that the county is amply paid for the expenditures in the increased taxable basis.

The Democrats of Wicomico county desire to express their appreciation and endorse the able, wise and business-like administration of the affairs of the State for the last four years under Governor Warfield, Comptroller Atkinson and Treasurer Vandiver, and believe that under their administration the business interests of the people have been wisely managed and the financial affairs of the State economically administered.

The administration of the affairs of the State of Maryland under Democratic control has resulted in the reduction of the State tax to the lowest in the memory of the present generation, all the income from which goes to the Public School Funds of the State, and we confidently believe that with a continuance of the party in power for four more years will result in again reducing this tax without detriment to our school system, caused by the greatly increased revenue arising from legislation passed by the last Democratic assembly, wherein the corporations of the State are now paying their more equal share of taxation.

We are not unmindful that a new oyster law has been enacted for the promotion of the oyster culture in the State, and that a commission is now engaged in making a survey of the land covered with water so as to separate the barren ground from the natural oyster bars. While we shall watch with interest this work, we hereby renew our pledge to our fellow citizens to protect them in the free and ancient rights of fishery which they and their fathers have enjoyed, so that right shall be preserved absolutely unimpaired for all future generations.

The Democratic party of Wicomico county wishes to express its confidence and esteem for Thomas Perry, Esq., one of our worthy citizens, who is a candidate for the nomination of Comptroller of the State, and the delegation to the State Convention hereafter to be named, is hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Mr. Perry for the high position, as we believe his nomination would add strength, not only to the local ticket in this county, but to the State ticket as well.

The Nominations.

Mr. J. T. Hayman, delegate from Salisbury District in an eloquent speech placed the name of Governor E. E. Jackson in nomination for Senator. Mr. Hayman spoke of the fact that Hon. Charles R. Disharoon and Senator M. Brewington also had a number of Delegates in the Convention, but that both gentlemen, for the sake of harmony, and in the interest of making up a ticket which would from the start insure victory, had gracefully retired and requested the ex-Governor to accept the nomination. Mr. J. O. Adams in seconding the nomination withdrew the name of Mr. Albert W. Robinson, who had also requested the ex-Governor to accept the place. The nomination of ex-Governor Jackson was made by a rising vote, much applause.

The following gentlemen were also nominated by a rising vote: For House of Delegates—John W. Willing, of Nanticoke; Ernest B. Timmons, of Pittsburg; and Roscoe Jones, of Trappe.

For County Treasurer—Jesse D. Price, of Salisbury District.

For Sheriff—William W. Larmora, of Tyaskin District.

The names of C. Gus Messick, of Nanticoke; Wesley D. Truitt, of Willards, John P. Wright, of Barren Creek; L. B. Brittingham and Napoleon Dennis, of Dennis District, were placed in nomination for County Commissioners, the first three being nominated by a rising vote.

The nomination for State's Attorney was the most hotly contested, it taking two ballots to settle the result. The names of George W. Bell, L. A. Wood Bennett and Jos. L. Bailey were placed in nomination. On the first ballot Mr. Bell received seven votes, Mr. Bennett 18 votes and Mr. Bailey 17 votes. On the second ballot Mr. Bell received two votes, Mr. Bailey 28, and Mr. Bennett 13 votes.

The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the State Convention; Hon. E. E. Jackson, Hon. M. V. Brewington, Hon. E. Stanley Truitt, Lev in J. Gale, James T. Truitt, Hon. Ebenezer G. Davis, Charles R. Cooper and Captain James A. Turner.

Open Door Convention.

The entire convention was an open one and it was early manifested that the spirit of independence prevailed and that only men who were satisfactory not only to the leaders or organization, but to the voters as well would be

NEGRO KILLS OFFICER.

Policeman Dougherty Of Crisfield Killed While Arresting Violator Of The Law. Negro Beaten To Death.

Somerset County in particular and the Eastern Shore in general was thrown into a state of intense excitement when it became known that policeman, John H. Dougherty, of Crisfield had been shot and instantly killed last Saturday night by a negro named Jas. H. Reed.

Crisfield, like most of the towns on the Peninsula has a large population of negroes and when kept away from whiskey and a certain class of white people are usually well behaved and it is generally safe to say that in nine tenths of the cases of negro disturbances, the cause can be directly traced to one or both of these causes. Such was the case in this instance. Some worthless negro's of which unfortunately there are always some in any community, where there are any—and the same applies to the whites—were peddling whiskey with the usual result, disorder. Whiskey and negro make a bad mixture and is sure to result in "bad nigger". An everlasting disgrace to himself and race and a scourge to any community he happens to be in line.

Officer Dougherty had just succeeded in arresting one of a group of negro's, who had become disorderly on Maryland Avenue and the one arrested was accused of contributing towards this disorder and also of selling the other negro's whiskey and while on his way to look his prisoner up Reed, who had in the meantime borrowed a pistol from a nearby negro pool room slipped up behind the officer, and when within about ten feet of him deliberately shot him through the head, killing him almost instantly. What made the tragedy much more harrowing was the fact that the wife and two children, the youngest of five left by the officer were just coming out of a store as they were taking the husband and father by on their way to his home. The sight of her dead husband completely unnerved Mrs. Dougherty and the uncontrollable grief of mother and children added fierce fuel to the already overwrought feelings of the people.

The negro, after a futile attempt to escape was captured and brought back to Crisfield, where he was at once set upon by an angry mob and beat to death. The scene which attended this carnival of crime are too sickening to go into the details of. The whole affair is of such a deplorable nature that none who are in the least interested in the maintenance of law and order can not but deplore that such scenes should occur.

DR. ATKINSON WITHDRAWS

Begs Somerset Convention Not To Consider His Name For Comptroller.

Reports from the Somerset county convention are to the effect that Dr. Atkinson in a very neat speech requested the delegates not to take into consideration the further use of his name in naming their delegates to the State Convention. This was indeed a very graceful act on the part of Dr. Atkinson, whose administration of the Comptrollers office has been such as to secure for himself the endorsement of the leading citizens of the State regardless of party affiliation. In his official position as a member of the Board of Public Works Mr. Atkinson has been brought in direct contact with all sorts and conditions of men, and his contact has invariably resulted in the making of warm friendship or him of more than a transient nature.

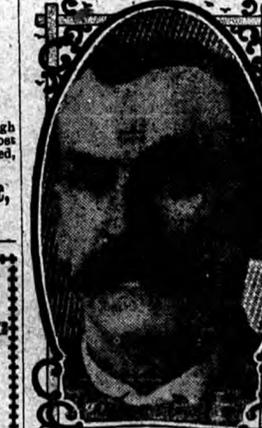

In taking this course Mr. Atkinson was following the course so vigorously pointed out by our able Governor in his speech before the Democratic Conference held recently in Baltimore and no doubt the dictates of his own good judgement and common sense as well. With this good example which has been set on the Eastern Shore in such a notable instance there is no doubt where Maryland will be found on the day of election in November. There is no disposition on the part of anyone to intimate that the candidacy of Mr. Atkinson at this time would have embarrassed the party but there is no doubt that the long tenure of office does and has in many instances operated detrimental to the party's interest.

Wicomico, this year is preparing to bend every energy to secure the Comptrollership for one of her own citizens and the withdrawal at this time of one in whose power it was to seal make vigorous claims or reelection is a source of much satisfaction to the Democrats of Wicomico, who are to a man behind Mr. Thos. Perry, in his campaign for this office and it is generally conceded that this action on the part of Somerset will greatly strengthen the hand of Wicomico in landing Mr. Perry.

WORKINGMEN EVERYWHERE USE PE-RU-NA.

The Average Household Finds Pe-ru-na Not Only a Friend in Time of Need, But a Saving of Doctor Bills.

Pe-ru-na is to Be Found in Thousands of Homes of the Working Men.

Mr. Victor Patneade, 228 Madison street, Topka, Kas., a well-known carpenter and member of Knights and Ladies of Security, writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of grippe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work. "Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again."

A workingman's home is usually one with a large family. Children of all ages and both sexes are being reared. They are subject to slight ailments, winter and summer. A doctor is sent for every time a petty sickness occurs. The expense will keep the family poor.

In such a household Peruna becomes a real blessing. It promptly meets the most common ailments due to the cold of winter or the heat of summer. A stitch in time saves nine. A dose or two of Peruna prevents serious and extended illness many a time.

The workingman everywhere have come to realize that Peruna is the workingman's friend and saves him not only sickness, but a great many dollars every year.

Rev. J. G. Duke, Pastor of the Unitarian Church of Pinetown, N. C., writes:

"My wife has been in a very bad state of health for several years, and nothing seemed to do her any good until she began to use Peruna. Since then the color has returned to her face, and she is gaining in flesh every day, and I have never seen her so well as today. We always keep a bottle in the house, and Mrs. Duke thinks it has done her more good than anything she has ever taken.

"My little boy ten years old, was pale and had but little life. He began to use Peruna the day his mother began. Today his face is rosy, and he is out in the yard running and jumping with the rest of the children."

The Jamestown Fair.
This is the time of year for people to seek watering places and seaside resorts of the country. To get away from the hot cities and loose themselves from the business cares and worries of home, is evidenced by the greatly increased traveling population.
Owing to the fact that the Jamestown Exposition is the first celebration ever held in this country on deep water, a visit will combine the pleasure of the Summer vacation, as well as an opportunity to take advantage of the educational and historic features of this great international fair.

Buttermilk's Beginning.
Long before Fairbanks learned to milk a cow the buttermilk cocktail was invented. As a blood cooler in hot weather it has no equal. As a tonic it is superior to everything alcoholic. As an alternative it is without a rival. A glass. A cube of dill pickle. A lump of ice. Buttermilk to the brim. Quaff and rejoice. Such a drink would not hurt the chances of any prospective candidate for President, says the New York Press.

Ocean Ornamentation.
A glance at the map of Florida will show how the long line of islands, called keys, which are mainly of coral formation, extends from the Dry Tortugas on the west coast and around the tip of the bowery peninsula, turning northward up the east coast toward Miami.

If The Baby is Getting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Gold Fish For Jamestown Exposition.
Eight cases of rare and costly gold fish have arrived in Seattle on the Shinano Maru, says the P. I., bound for the Jamestown exposition. Some of them are of species never before seen in America. They have side fins and tails of tissue as delicate as gauze, and the fins are often much longer than the bodies. The fish are now at the office of the Oriental Express Company awaiting shipment to the East.

DANDRUFF KILLS HAIR
Cuticura Soap Kills Dandruff
I was troubled with dandruff on my head ever since I was twelve years old. I had beautiful hair up to that time. The dandruff destroyed my hair. I tried everything I could hear of. I had no doctor, but I went into a drug store where I was well acquainted and asked the druggist if he knew of anything that would be good for me. He said that Cuticura Soap, I got it, and it did my hair good the first time I used it. My sister-in-law couldn't keep the dandruff off the top of her baby's head, and the hair wouldn't grow. I was there, had a cake of Cuticura Soap with me, told her about it, and gave her the Cuticura Soap, and in about three months it went there again, the child's head was covered with hair and had a sign of dandruff. My sister said it was the Cuticura Soap. The child is now past three years old and has a lovely head of hair. Mrs. E. W. Shibley, Columbus, Kan., Oct. 25, 1905.

MARYLAND FARMS.
Fifteen farms at a sacrifice. Buildings on all. Plenty of wood and timber to support them. Good water, fine climate, two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for horticulture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate moderated by coast and bay. Commodious and all we ask. Farms of 150 to 4,000 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the Northern and Eastern cities; so these prices are only temporary.
Why go to the wilds and spend your life making a farm and a home, when for less money, in a better climate and nearer the markets, you can immediately have what you want?

THE GOLDEN CALF.

July 28, '07—(Ex. 22:1-8, 30-35.

The lapse of the Israelites into the worship of the golden calf is not so remarkable when we consider that there was not one among them who had not been familiar with the worship of Aulis in Egypt all his life.
They had all been born in that land, where the worship of animals was the national religion, and it took centuries of isolation and training to get that poison out of their blood.
Small wonder then that with their great leader strangely absent from the camp, they reverted to the worship of their recent masters.

Modern society, even in christian lands, cannot afford to throw stones at those undeveloped pilgrims, who were emphatically the "children" of Israel. For when it comes to worshipping the golden calf we Americans beat the world in our devotion.
It would be a strain on our mathematics to name all the calves which we have set up in this unholy catalogue which be found in Pride, Fashion, Gluttony, Intemperance, Indulgence, Wealth, Station, Indu-ence, Appearances,—all calves of our own making, calves of gold.
Thomas Hood's well-known poem has daily illustration. The crass for gold runs all the way up the social scale from the gutter-snipe to the bank president, from the burglar who rifles the bank safe to the cashier who absconds with other people's money.

Gold! gold! gold! gold!
Bright and yellow, hard and cold, Molten, graven, hammered and rolled;
Heavy to get, and hard to hold;
Hoarded, bartered, bought and sold.
Stolen, borrowed, squandered,
doled;
Spurned by the young, but hugged by the old
To the very verge of the churchyard mould;

Price of many a crime untold,
Gold! gold! gold! gold!
In spite of the fact that bank presidents, insurance officials, land thieves and grafters generally are getting exceedingly numerous in the penitentiaries of the country, there seems to be a never-ending supply of officials headed in the same direction. What must be the feelings of those high-toned robbers who are yet at large as they read the daily accounts of other rascals who have been caught bowing the knee to the golden calf?

Society is money-mad. If a man is rich his fellows grovel before him.
The poor are thrilled with pride if he condescends to notice them. No one contradicts Moneybags. Everyone defers to an animated check-book. Hats come off to him, sun-kisses rush to flick the dust off his sacred person. Not because he is anything, but because he has what everybody wants—gold. The indecent scramble of American mothers to fling their daughters at the heads of the ripe and rotten plutocrats of the old world and the new, is enough to nauseate all sensible people.
Character goes for nothing, it is a mere matter of barter and sale.
Hence, broken hearts, scandalous private detectives, bribery, perjury, hell on earth, the divorce court, suicide.

The golden calf is the explanation of the race track for which the competition of splendid horses is but a thin excuse. The golden calf is hoisted over every gaming table, the desire to get rich quick, being the real secret of its fascination. Even the national game-baseball, a magnificent exhibition of skill is becoming a national vice as it plays into the hands of the gamblers. In all our places of business and employment today bets are regularly being made on the outcome of the game. The golden calf is responsible for the house of shame, for the complexity of the police with crime, for the theft and highway robber. If it were not for the golden calf every saloon would shut up shop; the liquor seller has no use for the man who has no money.
Mercantile frauds, oppressive corporations, adulterators of food and drink and medicine, frauds of all descriptions and rascals of every degree are such because the golden calf has bewitched them.

The golden calf has thrust his hateful muzzle into the sacred predicaments of the house of God, and devout congregations lift to fit their adorations of praise. Those ancient sacred edifices were religious all the while they danced about their idols.
"Up, make us Gods," they said, and what they did was to substitute a golden calf for Moses, the man of God. So, when fashion, pride, man or woman-worship, music, oratory, decorations, forms and ceremonies, take the place of "pure and undelivered religion," every act of that congregation is but the worship of the golden calf. Over how many a modern service might the words of Aaron to Moses appropriately be uttered,
"What the gold into the fire, and there came out this calf." The formal services of such a congregation must be as odious to the God in Heaven as was the idol worship long ago.

A Faithful Friend.
"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1878, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this faithful friend," says
H. S. Nichol of Oakland, Ind. Ter.
When a man has used a remedy for thirty-five years he knows its value and is competent to speak of it. For sale at Tolson Drug Store.

PRACTICAL WARDROBE HANGER

Practical Wardrobe Hanger Collapses
When Not in Use.

Garment holders and similar wardrobe accessories are so numerous that a novelty in this line immediately attracts attention. In the illustration is shown one which, though exceedingly simple, is, nevertheless, as near the ideal in wardrobe hangers as seems possible to make out of a bracket of the extreme end of which is an extension carry-

OCCUPIES LITTLE SPACE.

ing a half-dozen hooks. An additional hook is also attached to the bottom of each point of the lazy hook. The hanger is supported by means of a bracket of a closet or wardrobe, or to a corner of the wall if desired. Being collapsible, the hanger can be shoved within the closet after garments have been hung on the hooks; where it occupies but a small space.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.

Tomatoes are most hygienic when not cooked.

Too rapid boiling makes most vegetables tough.

All vegetables should be put into boiling water.

Fruit stains upon the hands may be removed by rubbing with the juice of ripe tomatoes.

Bananas should not be put into a refrigerator—in fact, they should never be allowed to get colder than 80 degrees. A chill turns bananas black, prevents them from ripening properly and renders them unfit for use.

To keep an ice chest in good condition, wash thoroughly once a week with cold or lukewarm water in which washing soda has been dissolved. If by chance anything is left in the ice chest it should be wiped off at once. Milk and butter very quickly absorb odor, and if in ice chest with other foods should be kept closely covered.

A Spinster's Consolation.

One spinster has set forth with her pen the following reasons why she rather enjoys spinsterhood. She does not have one man to love and cherish her; but she may have the friendship, the cordial esteem and interest of half a dozen. She does not have one to pay her dressmaker, her hatter, her shoemaker, and the rest; but she may have half a score for less serviceable uses—half a score who send her books, flowers, tickets, who walk, play golf, drive, skate, talk with her. One man does not come to her for deep understanding of his needs; many may come with their quite serious interests.
Her sincere, enjoyable, stimulating, friendly relations with men, as with women, are limited only by her own power of intellectual sympathy—at any rate, in those circles which admit any basis of companionship between men and women beyond the emotional.

Care of Umbrellas.

It is at the joints that umbrellas break first, and it is scarcely surprising, for they are never oiled, and yet are expected to work smoothly and respond to the most sudden act of opening.

Most people after using an umbrella on a wet day, even if they do carefully dry it, regard any further process as needless; but there are other means of lengthening their term of usefulness.

To preserve an umbrella and obtain the best possible use out of it, the joints should be carefully oiled with paraffine or kerosene oil, to clean off any possible rust just as in the case of a bicycle, and then be "touched with lubricating oil to make them work easily. Thus cared for the framework will last in excellent order with ordinary use almost indefinitely.

The Selfish Spotted Woman.

The "spotted woman is never youthful. She is invariably selfish, and selfishness is ever aging. Sometimes it is wondered why so many old persons become disagreeable.
Folks forget that it is ill nature that has made them old, writes a beauty expert. They have allowed certain things to dominate them. If you would keep young at heart, and that means young outside in spite of the years, banish petulant moods, conbit irritability. Cultivate kindness and the habit of courtesy and thoughtfulness until it becomes a part of your character, for this part will tend to the eternal youthful spirit if the cares and the troubles of life are met in the right way.

IN APPRECIATION. The publishers of the Salisbury Advertiser keenly feel and appreciate the many recent expressions of honest approval they have received from the people in all parts of Wicomico County and outside.

MR. PERRY FOR COMPTROLLER. The delegates from Wicomico which were selected last Tuesday to go to the State Convention which meets in Baltimore Thursday of next week, have been honored by their party in this section and instructed to work for the nomination of Mr. Thos. Perry for Comptroller.

TUESDAY'S CONVENTION. The convention which met here on Tuesday seemed to be actuated by but one motive—the best interests of the Democratic party.

It is a well known fact that Hon. E. E. Jackson the nominee for State Senator was in no way a candidate for the office, and it was only due to the fact that all were agreed that his nomination was the best thing for the party that his consent to the nomination was obtained.

a division in its own ranks. If selfish politics, and using the party to further personal ambitions had been the result of Tuesday's convention, the dissatisfaction that would have resulted throughout the county would undoubtedly have been strong enough to place in jeopardy the success of the entire ticket.

COMMON SENSE

Let's meet intelligent people to use only good medicine of known composition. There are (1) Dr. Pierce's medicines, the makers of which print every ingredient entering into them upon the bottle wrapper and attach its correctness under oath, are daily trying in favor. The composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines is open to everybody. Dr. Pierce being desirous of having the search light of investigation turned fully upon his formulae, being confident that the better the composition of his medicines is known the more will their medicinal qualities be recognized. Being wholly made of the active medicinal principles extracted from native forest roots, by exact processes original with Dr. Pierce, and without the use of a drop of alcohol, triple-refined and chemically pure glycerine being used instead in extracting and preserving the curative virtues residing in the roots employed, these medicines are entirely free from the objection of doing harm by creating an appetite for either alcoholic beverages or habit-forming drugs. Examine the formula on their bottle wrappers—the same as sworn to by Dr. Pierce, and you will find that his "Golden Medical Discovery," the great blood-purifier, stomach tonic and bowel regulator—the medicine which, while not recommended to cure consumption in its advanced stages (no medicine will do that) yet does cure all those catarrhal conditions of head and throat, weak stomach, torpid liver and bronchial troubles, weak lungs and hang-over-coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to and finally terminate in consumption. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery" in time and it is no more than to say that you if only you give it a thorough and fair trial. Don't expect miracles. It won't do supernatural things. You must exercise your patience and persevere in its use for a reasonable length of time to get its full benefits. The ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed have the unqualified endorsement of scores of medical leaders—better than any amount of lay, or non-professional, testimonials. They are not given away to be experimented with but are sold by all dealers in medicines at reasonable prices.

INDIANS ARE GROWING

Uncle Sam's Wards Prospering In Many Ways.

SUCCESSFUL RED MEN

Nearly 300,000 Now in the United States and More Than Half Dress Like Ordinary Americans—Senate and House Both Have Indian Representatives.

It has never been definitely determined just what was the greatest number of Indians in America when they were unmolested. Some authorities say that the number could not have exceeded a million, others assert that it would not have been more than 800,000, and still others contend that there were never more than 500,000. At the present time there are about 284,000 members of the red race in the United States, and statisticians say they are on the increase at the present time. Nearly all the tribes are west of the Mississippi, in fact most of them are beyond the Missouri. There are 156 reservations in all. In the northwestern part of New York there are 5,000 descendants of the great warrior tribes living on eight reservations.

Today there are 159,000 Indians who wear citizens' dress in whole or in part, and 50,000 who can read and speak English. There are 28,000 Indian families now living in comfortable modern dwellings.

The Cherokees are the most advanced in civilization and the most eager for education, spending $200,000 a year on their schools and colleges. The Chickasaws have 400 colleges with 400 students, maintained at a yearly cost of $47,000. They also have thirteen district schools, costing $16,000. The Choctaws have 150 schools, in some of which the higher branches are taught. The Seminoles, one of the smallest tribes, have two schools. The Creeks have ten colleges and sixty-five common schools, with a total attendance of 2,500.

Charles Curtis, the new United States senator from Kansas is the first representative of the American Indian in that body. Mr. Curtis is not of pure Indian lineage, but his mother belonged to the Kaw tribe. He and his five children have received allotments of Shawnee county land in settlement of what Uncle Sam thinks he owes to the race. Mr. Curtis has already served fourteen years in the House.

The foremost Indian in public life today is Quonah Parker, chief of the Comanches, and a political power in the new State of Oklahoma. Chief Parker is a Democrat and there are many who say he will come to the Senate from the newly admitted Commonwealth. He was opposed to the union of Indian Territory with Oklahoma and was the leading spirit in the convention which met to frame a constitution for the proposed State of Sequoyah. Chief Parker's mother was a white woman, Clindy Parker, who was captured by the Indians when a girl, and later became the wife of Quonah, a Comanche warrior.

The main effort of Indian education today is to make him competent to earn a white man's wages. The agent at the Pine Ridge Agency in South Dakota advertises to supply Indian laborers for work on railroads and irrigation ditches. Employers of labor who are using or intending to use grading say they are reliable and steady. Many Indians are making their mark as business men. Col. Sol McLisk, a rich Chickasaw, and a number of his wealthy tribesmen, have established a banking and real estate firm in Oklahoma near the Chickasaw boundary in order to handle the affairs of their people.

The Indian has already attracted considerable attention in athletics. The Carlisle football team ranks with the best. The various Indian baseball teams that always give a good account of themselves when matched against high class amateur and semi-professional teams. In Canada there is an Indian boy named Thomas Longboat who is hailed as the greatest long distance runner living today. He is only 19 years old, and has not had much experience, but Sherring, who is the world's champion since the Olympic games, says the Indian lad will eventually beat the world. Red Cloud, a full blooded Cheyenne Indian, is a promising pugilist.

Degeneration of "Idiot." "Idiot" is a word with a curious history. In Greek Idotes began by meaning a private individual, as opposed to the state or to a state official; then it meant a non-expert or layman, and, finally, an ignorant man or an awkward fellow. It was left for English to carry the meaning further to mental deficiency. "Pliny the Elder" says that the word "idiot" is an ignorant person, and as late as 1691 it could mean a person who knew only one language. Wycliff and Jeremy Taylor used it in the sense of "layman" and the latter also in that of "private person." And a professional "fool" or jester was at one time an "idiot," too.

Diarrhea Cured. "My father has for years been troubled with diarrhea, and tried every means possible to cure it, without avail," writes John H. Zirkle of Phillips, W. Va. "He saw Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy advertised in the Phillips Republican and decided to try it. The result is one bottle cured him and he has not suffered with the disease for eighteen months. Before taking this remedy he was a constant sufferer. He is now sound and well, and although sixty years old, can do as much work as a young man." Sold at Toulson's Drug Store.

PARIS FASHION SCHOOLS

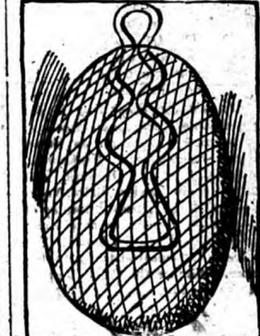

Three Years Course to Prepare Girls For Work in Great Houses.

With an eye to preserving the supremacy of the city as the fashion center of the world the municipality of Paris has opened in six schools training departments for girls in the manufacture of women's wearing apparel. The courses embrace plain sewing, embroidery, corset making and dressmaking; the teachers are all retired workwomen from the leading establishments of the city, and each branch is under the direction of a commission made up of representatives of the famous houses of the city in its line.

In a seventh school a course has been opened in the preparation of ostrich feathers. The courses are arranged to cover three years. In the first and second the pupils give only three hours a day to their professional studies, but in the third year they devote seven hours a day to them. Thirteen years is the youngest age at which a girl is allowed to take up the professional course.

The average age of graduates, it is intended will range from 16 to 17 years, so that in spite of their training they will begin their actual employment as apprentices. Diplomas will be given to all who complete the course satisfactorily, and the great houses which assume to dictate the fashions of the world promise preference to graduates in taking on new hands.

Soap on a Hook. No matter how carefully the soap tray is drained a certain amount of water manages to adhere to the top, which tends to soften the soap and cause wastefulness. This wastefulness is impossible with the device shown in the accompanying illustration—a holder for the cake of soap.

SOAP HANGS ON NAIL.

It is the purpose of the inventor to have each cake of soap contain one of these hangers, the latter being imbedded during the process of manufacture. The hanger is of wire, bent in the form of three loops and a hook, the outer loop entering outside the cake of soap. Obviously, the loop is employed to attach the cake of soap when not in use to a nail or loop.

HOME COOKING.

Moulded Ham and Eggs. One cup boiled ham chopped fine, mix with 1/2 cup cream sauce and white of 1 egg beaten frothy; line buttered individual timbale moulds with a mixture, break a raw egg in center of each one and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven.

Nut Sandwiches. Mix equal parts of grated Swiss cheese and chopped English walnut meat. Season with salt and cayenne. Spread between thin slices of bread, slightly buttered, and cut in fancy shapes.

Meat Balls. Allow to each pound of finely-ground beef three-fourths of a cupful (coffee) of grated bread crumbs, one egg, saltspoonful of salt, tablespoonful of minced parsley, half a spoonful of white pepper; beat in a bowl and drop from spoon into the boiling fat.

Mushrooms With White Sauce. Take five fresh hardtack crackers, butter and arrange in baking dish; on each cracker lay a large peeled mushroom, cover with white sauce, put lid on dish and cook half an hour.

Where Women Wear Trousers. There is a point on the coast of France where not only the men but the women and donkeys, too wear trousers. At Ile Re the peasant women work in the salt and the oyster beds, catch shrimps and take their turns in the fields. They don't draggle around in petticoats, however, but wear baggy knee breeches, loose waists and light-colored sunbonnets. The sabots of the winter have been put aside and the feet are left bare, although the legs of old stockings are often drawn up as far as the knee as a protection from the heat and insects. It is, indeed, a country of trousers. Nor does it stop with humanity for many of the donkeys, as well, wear long striped coverings on their legs, which look very much like the remnants of Uncle Sam's wardrobe. These are put on the stubborn little animals to keep off the flies and mosquitoes, so they will be less liable to kick.

Rheumacide advertisement featuring a bottle illustration and text: 'THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. A SURE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM. Also a Specific for all other Diseases arising from Impurities of the Blood. DIRECTIONS: Add a teaspoonful to a glass of water, after meals and at bedtime. BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A. SHAKE THE BOTTLE.'

"THERE'S A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM!"

Not the mere temporary relief that the old "remedies" gave, not the little help that the doctor's prescriptions give; but ABSOLUTE AND COMPLETE CURE. That is what Rheumacide does. Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood. It is an internal disease and requires a strong and vigorous internal remedy that will cleanse the blood of all its germs and yet act through such natural methods that it builds up the entire system. SWEEPS ALL POISONS OUT OF THE BLOOD.

CURES TO STAY CURED.

Different from any other remedy. The result of the latest scientific discoveries. At the same time it cures Rheumatism it sweeps out of the blood the germs of all other blood diseases, and cures Indigestion, Constipation, Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Troubles, La Grippe and Contagious Blood Poisons. CURED AFTER 16 YEARS. Baltimore, Dec. 10th. For 16 years I have suffered terribly with Rheumatism. I was treated by leading physicians but got no relief. Long since I despaired of ever being well again. But hearing of RHEUMACIDE, I decided to give it a trial. I have taken two bottles, and, thanks to this wonderful medicine, I now feel that I have gotten a "new lease on life." Every vestige of the disease has been driven from my system. MRS. LAURA D. GARDNER, 1301 James St., Baltimore. YOUR DRUGGIST SELLS IT. BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, BALTIMORE, MD. Sample bottle and booklet FREE if you send five cents for postage.

Man Wanted!

An energetic, sober white man for gardening, attending lawn and helping to care for horses on Delight Farm, Spring Hill. Must be unmarried. Address M. M. DICK, Farm Delight, Salisbury, Md.

The Reason. A teacher in a public school of Boston once had great difficulty in imparting to a boy pupil of ten certain elementary principles of grammar. In class one day the instructor experienced more than the usual amount of trouble with the lad. In desperation, the teacher finally blurted out the question: "At least, you can tell me why we study grammar?" "Yes, ma'am," returned the pupil, "we study grammar so that we can laugh at the mistakes of others."—Harper's Weekly.

Tip on Politics. The young man who had just been elected to office was boasting of his prowess as a politician.

"After the swelling in your head goes down," observed the home-grown philosopher, "you may be able to see that your election didn't happen because the people were anxious to get you in, but because of their anxiety to get the other fellow out."

The Opinion That Counted. They had a dispute, and agreed to leave it to the military expert. "What bullet," they asked, "do you consider the deadliest?" For several minutes he remained in a brown study. Then he looked up with the air of one who had settled the matter finally and definitely. "The one that hits," he said.

His Analysis. Stern Parent—So you want more money, do you? Why don't you go to work and earn it? His Son—Well, if trying to get a few pennies out of you doesn't come under the head of work, then I've looked up the wrong definition in the dictionary.

By Her Brother. The girl on the sofa sighed a soulful sigh. "Nobody seems to understand me," she said, sadly. "How can they," queried her big brother, "when you spend two-thirds of your time in front of a mirror trying to make yourself less plain?"

Far From The Facts. "What do you think of my historical novel?" asked the author. "It is an achievement," answered the chitly critic. "You have at last succeeded in showing that your fiction may be stronger than truth."

Safe Roofing. If you should want a Slate Roof, would you go to a Blacksmith for it? If not, H. K. Nissley, of Mt. Joy, Pa., a Roofer of experience would be glad to give estimates on best qualities of Slate. HIS ROOFS ARE KEPT IN REPAIR FOR TEN YEARS AND FULLY GUARANTEED.

MINISTER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Personal Experience Of Aged and Well-Beloved Proseur. No other man in the community is so well beloved or whose words have such weight as the minister who has devoted his life to the service of mankind.

He found no relief until a friend recommended RHEUMACIDE. He was so delighted with the results that he begged of other sufferers, as a duty to mankind, to tell his experience in the following letter.

"Beltsford, Md., February 27th. 'I was taken with Inflammatory Rheumatism in my left hand and foot in the beginning of this winter and suffered greatly. A gentleman in Baltimore who had tried RHEUMACIDE for Rheumatism recommended it to me. I secured three bottles and took it in smaller doses than prescribed, and am now entirely cured. Can use both hand and foot without the least inconvenience.

"Yours respectfully, 'J. R. Wheeler, Pastor, Beltsford, Md. E. Church. 'Your druggist sells and recommends RHEUMACIDE.

A Swiss physician says the most effective remedies to relieve the irritation of mosquito bites are bicarbonate of soda and thymol. Soda is either applied directly to the bite, moistened with enough water to form a paste or is painted on in the form of a saturated watery solution. The thymol is applied to the face, neck and hands in a fifty per cent alcoholic solution, and is very useful in keeping the mosquitoes away.

For An Impaired Appetite.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Done Again.

"When we reached Ceylon," said a man who had gone around the world on a $600 tourist ticket, "I thought that we had struck at last a primitive and outlandish place, unswayed by civilization's hand.

"Strange outrigger boats filled the blue water, and men dressed like women, in bright silks, with long-plaited hair and soft voices, offered us strange fruits, flowers, and carvings in ivory and dragon wood.

"I bought for a rupee an uncut ruby that the vendor had first asked eighty rupees for. Ceylon is the land of jewels. They get there superb emeralds, rubies, amethysts and pearls. It seemed to me that I had gotten a bargain.

"But the American consul said with a grin, harsh laugh when I showed him my ruby: 'A piece of colored glass. German ships here tone of this glass every winter, made up to resemble the precious stones that Ceylon yields.

These glass stones sell readily to tourists. The poor fools think they are buying gems swiped by the native miners from the mines.'

A Wonderful Record.

As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tender ness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patients into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is advised.

We heard recently a wise and experienced pastor say that in his judgment the great evil in our churches the explanation of the spiritual death over which we mourn is the decline of household piety. The family altar is neglected no blessing is asked upon food the religious education of the children is relegated to other than parental hands. This is no unfair characterization of many nominally Christian families.

We fear that this portrayal is a true one. But without troubling ourselves to decide whether it is true or not as concerns the community in general we certainly can say how it is as regards our own family. 'Is mine a pious household?' Each one can ask himself that question. If we must sadly confess that it is not then let us see to it at once that the right change can be made. If we can honestly say that it is nevertheless true is much that may be done to increase its holiness. 'As for me and my house we will serve the Lord.'—Selected.

Eczema.

For the good of those suffering with eczema or other such trouble, I wish to say, my wife had something of that kind and after using the doctors remedies for some time concluded to try Chamberlain's Salve and it proved to be better than anything she had tried. For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

THE PSALM OF MARRIAGE.

Tell me not in thine 'jingle' Marriage is an empty dream, For the girl is dead that's single, And things are not as they seem.

Life is real, life is earnest, Single blessedness a fad, Man then act, to man returneth, I was not spoken of the rib.

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow, Is our destined lot or way, But to act that each tomorrow Finds us nearer marriage day.

Life is short and time is fleeting, And our hearts light and gay, Still like pleasant dreams are beating Wedding marches all the way.

In the world's broad field of action, In the bivouac of life, Be not like dumb driven cattle, Be a hero and a wife.

Lives of married folks remind us We can make our lives as well, And departing, leave behind us, Such examples as shall tell.

Such examples that another Wasting life in idle sport, A forlorn, unmarried brother, Seeing, shall take heart and court.

Let us then be up and doing, With a heart on triumph set; Still contriving, still pursuing, And each one a husband get.

—Alice Carey.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with 'uric acid solvents.' You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury testimony to prove it.

Thomas Clark Salisbury Md. says: 'I was confined to the house under the doctor's treatment who pronounced my trouble rheumatism and said that my cold had settled in my kidneys. My back ached continually, no position I assumed was comfortable and I could not turn in bed without sharp shooting pains. I was all broken up and even the doctor's treatment did not seem to benefit me. Finally a friend, noticing my condition advised me to get Doan's Kidney Pills saying they had cured him of rheumatism and backache. I sent for them at White and Leonard's drug store and began their use. The very first dose seemed to help me and in a short time I was able to walk around and after taking the contents of two boxes all the trouble was banished and I was able to work again. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others.'

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster, Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

London Two archaeological discoveries in Egypt of exceptional interest have become known here. They consist of two new sayings of Christ and of extremely ancient crude manufactures collectively a hundred thousand years old.

The sayings of Christ were found near an old Coptic monastery at Sofn. They were found by natives who sold them for a few dozen rolls of sixth century Greek papyrus. They include twenty five leaves of apocryphal sayings of Christ in a Coptic translation of a lost Greek original of which previously only thirteen leaves were known twelve of them being in the national gallery at Paris and one at Berlin. The discovery also includes parts of the Gospels of St. Matthew St. Mark and St. Luke in Greek.

Chronic Diarrhoea Relieved. Mr. Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co. Chicago writes 'Our General Superintendent Mr. Quick handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack on the old chronic diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many on our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 22d Ohio Regiment and have no ailment except chronic diarrhoea which this remedy stops at once.' For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

—King Canute had ordered the waves to cease. Continuing to roll, however, they wet his ankles. "I perceive," said the court jester, "that Your Majesty is beginning to get cold feet."

Thus was born the popular phrase. Heavy impure blood makes a muddy, pimple complexion, headaches, nausea, indigestion. Thin blood makes you weak, pale, sickly. Burdock Blood Bitters makes the blood rich, red, pure—restores perfect health.

Master Geo. Benson, of this place, met with an accident last Friday afternoon while carelessly handling a revolver which contained one loaded cartridge which he thought was no good. Like other boys, seeing no danger, he must pull the trigger until the bullet sprang entering the left thigh at a depth of about three inches. Dr. James, the attending physician, says it will not be necessary to remove the bullet unless farther cause. My advice to all young boys who deal in such trifles is to dispose of such a habit, as there is nothing more discrediting to a young man than indulging in such habits.

Ten officers of the Eleventh Maryland Semi-State Regiment under command of Col. H. B. Little visited our town on Thursday enroute to Seaford, Del., where they will encamp for two weeks.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

In sad but loving remembrance of Mrs. Laura Sewell, beloved wife of G. P. Sewell, who departed this life July 28, 1907.

Through the pearly gates of Heaven, Passed the one we loved so dear, God thought it best to take her from us.

Though she left our home so dear, Oh, how hard we tried to save her, Prayers and tears were all in vain, Happy angels came and bore her From this world of toil and pain.

Had he asked us well we know, We should have said, "Oh, spare the blow!" Yet when streaming eyes we'd see, "Lord, we love her, let her go!" In love she lived, the Kingdom stay, Her life was sacred but God denied, "She's waiting by the river, Just across the silver stream, Where sweet flowers are ever blooming."

And the banks are ever green, Where no cold chill blasts of winter, Turn the roses blossoms fair, And where all is love and sunshine, She is waiting for us there. —By her husband and children.

In loving remembrance of Florence May, daughter of Laura and G. P. Sewell, who departed this life August 1, 1897.

Years may pass and others forget The lovely babe who died, But ever a spirit form will seem To linger by our side.

And at night when the holy angels come They will whisper of us to you As the stars smile, sweetly, calmly down From the arching Heaven blue where Florence sleeps. —By brother and sister.

ATHOL.

Mrs. Annie Windsor and daughters, Misses Eva and Dora, are spending this week with Miss Lula Hatton, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson and Mrs. Jennie Graham spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Evans.

Miss Daisy E. Hurley gave a party at her home Saturday evening. Among those present were Miss Celia Hess, of Baltimore, Misses Carrie and Katie Evans, Sadie Taylor, Lillian Bailey, of Mardele, Lula and Esther Taylor, of this place, Messrs Orland Wilkinson, Willard Donoho, Dal Bacon, Homer Bailey, of Mardele, Markus Acworth, Claude Phillips, Talbot Truitt, of Quantico, George Riggin, Harry and Randolph Greene, of this place. Many interesting games were indulged in. And a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. Homer Bailey was the guest of Mr. Howard Hatton Sunday.

Mrs. Grace Calloway is very sick at this writing.

Miss Celia Hess, of Baltimore, after spending her vacation with Miss Daisy Hurley, returned home Sunday.

Purifies The Blood And Clears Up The Complexion.

Everybody needs to take Sulphur at this season. Nothing like it to purify the blood, clear up the complexion and remove "that tired feeling." But the only way to take it is in liquid form. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur taken internally is the best Spring tonic. Applied externally Hancock's Liquid Sulphur quickly cures Eosema, Tetter, and all Skin Diseases. Hancock's the only Liquid Sulphur Ointment, removes pimples, Blackheads and Sores and gives a beautiful, soft, velvet skin. Your druggist sells it. It cured Edward D. Hoering, of Frederick, Md., of a bad case of Eosema and he writes: "My face is as smooth as an infant's."

KELLY.

Mr. Lee Beak had a bad misfortune last Friday afternoon. His house and all its contents were burned, except three feather beds and one suit of clothes, which were his son's. All the rest of the family had all of their clothes burned.

Mrs. Mumford, of Baltimore, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Bailey.

Miss Lottie Kelley and Miss May Shookley spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. John Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Collins and daughter Emma, spent Wednesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Collins.

Corn is looking well for the season.

ROADS AND ROAD MAKING GRADING EARTH ROADS.

Do Not Depend Upon Drag Alone to Give Best Results.

The first essential of proper earth road construction is the grading of the same; a flat road, or as you mostly see them, with shoulders higher than the center of the road, is not improved by the use of the King drag or any other drag, says a writer in Rural New Yorker. Produce a condition that will drain water from your roadbed in the shortest time possible, and you have solved a perplexing road problem. Two years ago I graded a section of road about 1 1/2 miles; when complete it looked about like diagram:

I made a drag, using two oak sticks 6x6 inches, 8 feet long, set them on edge about 16 inches apart, a strip of wagon-tire spiked to cutting edge; drag was bolted together somewhat like the following diagram:

I can hitch team to any link of chain, thus producing an angle of the drag most suitable. The best time to drag is after a rain, and in winter when thawing in daytime and freezing at night. No, this road is not the equal of a macadamized road, but there is as much difference between it now and as it was formerly as there is between day and night. The freezing and thawing affects it like any other earth road. It, however, dries off so much quicker than the bad condition road, not just so long, and I believe in time if the work is kept up I will have it in condition that the nightmare of going through mud hub deep six months of the year will be reduced very much.

Farmers Interest in Good Roads.
In a discussion of the improvement of country roads the Kansas City Star comments as follows: "There is an idea prevalent among many people that the present movement for good roads is mainly furthered by automobile owners who are scheming to have the farmers pay for speedways for their machines. For the mistake involved in this idea the 'fool' of the city who runs an automobile out into the country in such a way as to render travel by other legitimate methods unsafe, is to blame. The trouble on the highways between horses and automobiles is not because of the machine, but because of the man who operates it. It is the manner in which the machine is handled and not the machine that makes the automobile an obstacle to good roads and causes drastic and really unfair legislation against those who use the machine properly and considerately.

The horse has grown accustomed to the locomotive, the various forms of street cars and traction engines. The last named were worse horse scarers originally than automobiles. It remains for the man to give the horse the best as to automobiles that has been given to him by the other horseless devices.

Owners of motor cars want good roads, as a matter of course, but their incentives are feeble as compared with those of the farmer, whose property values as well as his pleasures are involved in keeping his farm accessible to the markets at all seasons of the year by means of good highways. The time will come when all the country will have good roads and when it does come, the farmers will look back gratefully to every agency that helped to promote them. And if the horses could speak, they would be even more thankful."

Dealing With Surplus Sections.
Contract your surplus capacity near the close of the honey season, and if you are not an expert in guessing when the close will likely be, you will soon learn by noting closely year after year the season your principal crop of blossoms open and close, the conditions of the weather, the effect it will have, etc. Condense everything down to single crates, and get as nearly all sections completed as possible. If you are not careful about this, you will end up with a large number of half-filled sections. It is not a loss by any means to have some partly filled sections on hand, providing you carry them safely over until the next season, for you can use them for bait sections in getting an early start the next season.

Relative Value.
"He's a valuable man, Bob."
"Very literally so."
"I have money enough to pay for repairs."
"Even Michael's repairs?" teased Bob.
"But he picks up things so reasonably."
"He seems to have to pick something up nearly every day."
"Robert, if you are going to make fun of me and my car, I wish you would take me back. Michael is as honest as can be."
"Superb!" continued Bob.
Robert Armstrong had come upon Miss Ireton standing on the steps of her country home, while the humble and apologetic chauffeur Michael, was explaining a broken chain and disabled crank as the reasons for Miss Ireton's car being out of commission. It was not by any means the first time an inconvenient break had disappointed, and the faithful Bob had constantly remonstrated with her to investigate his doings, but the chauffeur, Michael, had come well recommended, was fine looking, and could manage Miss Ireton's car with a dash and skill that was positively charming.

Bob had urged a ride with himself in a red Paris car as substitute and Miss Ireton had accepted readily, while the humble Michael had bowed himself out of her presence.

"Where are you taking me?" she asked, as they swung around a corner and Bob slackened speed.
"To Cornwell on business." And his tone did not invite further questioning as to the nature of the business.
Gertrude Ireton and Bob were sitting on a shaded porch in front of an inn having refreshments when a motor car came rattling and groaning into the yard. Dusk was coming on and Bob watched the girl's face as she leaned forward to get a better view of the outfit. A vague smile floated over her features as he watched the anger gather in her face. "Bob! Somebody has got my car!"

The girl rose and went over to where she could see them plainer. "It is Michael! And four girls!" "Listen!" softly cautioned Bob as voices came from an inner room a moment later. "Order just what you please." It was a man's voice.
"How did you get so car for so night?" asked a shrill voice which Gertrude knew belonged to her French maid.
"By havin' the chain broke right sudden."
"And how did you manage to get it mended?" asked another.
"I got it mended all right enough, and a tidy little bill there'll be for gettin' a second-hand one, into the bargain."
"Sure I've got a brother that's runnin' Van Tassel's machine what's the same make as mine, an' we break the same parts at the same time, an' then we swap them, an' charges up a neat little bill to both parties."
"Making so money on both sides," said Marie.
"That's it, Marie; have another round of ice cream on the Lady Gertrude's bill what she'll be gettin' in the mornin'."
"Bob," said Gertrude, "let's us go home."
"Don't you want to hear Michael talk some more?"
"Michael is a beast! Can't we tow my car home?"

No, the devoted Bob would have done much more for Miss Ireton than to tow her car home, and he readily consented. Bob skillfully managed his wheels and handles and they presently found themselves within sight of the lights of the Ireton mansion.
"If you would come over in the morning and discharge Michael? Dad is away."
Her words were a suggestion rather than a request.
"You want him to go? Remember how handsome he does things?"
"Will you come over and discharge him? I never, never, want to set eyes on him again."
Bob slowed his car down until it scarcely moved along the private avenue that led to the house. He was trying to count on his chance of success if he once more asked Miss Ireton to marry him, as he had many times before.

"Certainly I will come over; but I shall make a little plea in my own behalf, too Gertrude, won't you listen to me this time?"
As she was mounting the steps of the house a little later she turned. "You forgot your business in Cornwell, Bob."
"On the contrary, my business in Cornwell succeeded splendidly. I overheard Michael conversing this morning."
"Come early in the morning," she commanded. From which it may be guessed that Gertrude had listened to all Bob wanted to say.
And even then Michael was conveying his party home via an overcrowded livery team, and silently cursing the luck that had blasted his present prospects.

AN OLD FLAME

By F. Harris Deane.

I had not seen Kitty for nearly a year until she passed me in the reception hall at Lady Troutbeck's, and her surprised look had the added fascination of novelty. I made it my business to see her later in the evening.

"By jove," said I.

We shook hands gravely, and she laughed. The last time we had met it had been to stop, but the motor had broken down, and it had rained, and—well, we met again, as I say, at Lady Troutbeck's dance.

"No," she said, interpreting my glance, "not for five dances."

"That is absurd," said I, firmly, "besides it is the duty of your partner to find you."

"My partner will need to have a strong sense of duty," suggested Kitty when she eventually shook her skirts out.

"I doubt if he will search for you a year," said I meaningly.

"A weary, heartbreaking year," I did not intend to be done out of my commission.

"You look older," she said sympathetically.

"You are older, too," said I firmly, "a year."

"Do, I look it?" she cried in alarm.

"Yes, I said regretfully, "I am afraid you do."

Kitty looked at me with wide-eyed reproach. Then she smiled with relief.

"Oh, well, twenty-one is not so very old," she reflected.

"You are not past yet," I was forced to confess.

She clasped her hands joyously. "Have you any regrets?" I demanded again. "Are you sorry it rained that night?"

"I got very wet," she murmured, looking at me over her fan. "Fancy, not even an umbrella!"

"If we had had one!" I asked.

"Kitty looked at me from the corner of her eyes.

"Well, we shouldn't have got wet, should we?" she remarked.

"And I should not want to kiss you," I said deliberately.

"Why not?" she cried.

"We should have been married a year," I reminded her.

"Absence makes—," she began.

"Don't be quite so obvious," I protested. "Besides I am not any fonder. That would be an impossibility."

"I wonder," she cried suddenly, "if my partner is looking for me."

"Don't worry," I added, "he won't find you."

"But I want him too," she protested.

"Who is he?" I asked.

"I don't know," she rejoined.

I looked at her reproachfully. Had I become so familiar that the unknown was preferable?

"Ah, well," I reflected, "doubtless this is a very humiliating position for you."

"Humiliating!" she flashed. But she resumed her seat.

"Surely," I said, addressing a large palm which stood near—a most respectable and stolid palm, "it must be humiliating to have to confess to an error of judgment; to have said that one loves a man; to discover, but a mere three hundred odd days later, that one was mistaken. But perhaps," I added, turning to Kitty, "it was not a mistake."

"Well, it was not," said she.

"Then! But, of course, I had to see it through."

"Darling!" I cried, seizing her hand.

"I mean I did not love you in the first place," she explained, trying to draw her hand away. "It was only a young girl's foolish fancy."

"And I have matured," I said dolefully, "from a foolish fancy to a mischievous reminiscence."

"Hardly that," she said at length, "may an amusing error."

"Oh," I said. "And really there was not much else I could have said. You took it all so seriously, too," she said amusedly.

"While all the time you were laughing up your sleeves," I suggested.

She nodded brightly.

"That," I said bitingly, "was why you carried a heavy portmanteau for half a mile, and left a note on your dressing table, was it?"

She flushed.

"When you got back they had discovered the note," I continued, "and you were sent to an aunt in Yorkshire. By jove, you have a strong sense of humor."

"I think," she said, "that you have grown from a silly boy to an unpleasant young man."

"You had a lucky escape, then," said I.

"So had I, Vixen!"

"You," I continued, "have grown from a girlish girl into a womanly woman."

Kitty turned her back to me.

"That," she said, over her shoulder, as she walked away, "is meant to be nasty, I suppose?"

"No," I murmured. "It is meant to be a truthful appreciation."

That is the worst of trying to rekindle a dying fire. It generally smokes.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the ting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and pleasant effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Book of Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper, and make no mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What Does It Mean

to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policy-holders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best.

GOLD STORAGE OF FOODS

Pure Food Expert Tells of Experiments.

DETERIORATION OF MEAT

Milk and Eggs Begin to Deteriorate Immediately When Placed in Cold Storage—Should not Freeze Oysters. Nor Ship Them After Opening.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Chief of the Chemistry Bureau of the Department of Agriculture and the Government's pure food expert, has made some extensive experiments with the deterioration of foodstuffs in cold storage, at two cold storage warehouses which are at his disposal at Washington.

"Milk begins to deteriorate right away, and so does cream," he says. "Eggs also begin to deteriorate immediately. Fruit is improved, and sometimes continues to improve for three months in cold storage. Meat improves up to six or eight weeks. But after three months for meat you can see that it has reached the maximum, and then it begins to go down. I do not care how hard it is frozen."

When asked for a further explanation of the deterioration of meat frozen in cold storage, Dr. Wiley said: "We find that meats do not taste as well and they do not smell as well, and every time a jury can pick that which has been kept more than three months. Take a quail a year old and a fresh quail cooked at the same time. We cook them just alike, and you can distinguish between them; first by their looks and then by smell and taste. Every time a jury can pick them out blindfolded."

Dr. Wiley was asked many questions about oysters, and said that the oysters opened and shipped in buckets should be prevented from entering into interstate commerce, as they are dead. "An oyster is dead an hour after it is opened," said Dr. Wiley, "and is not good. It loses its flavor."

In response to inquiries from Representative Hastings as to the advisability of freezing oysters for shipment, Dr. Wiley said: "Oh, they ought not to be frozen. That ruins them and as soon as they thaw they are dangerous." He then urged that oysters should be shipped alive and in the shell and said that the greatest outrage of the oyster trade is to soak oysters with fresh water and swell them up, making them look fat.

Dr. Wiley said the oysters sent out in tin cans are all right, but in further denunciation of bulk oysters shipped in tubs and buckets, said: "They are either preserved with some preservative or are dangerously near the ptomaine line, one of the two." Gelatine of certain kinds was denounced by Dr. Wiley, who said of it: "It is made out of hides of the scrapings from hides. These hides go into the tanners' vats and these hides that smell to heaven are treated and trimmed, and these trimmings are used to make gelatine. The Marine Hospital Service found the tanners' germs in gelatine."

Dr. Wiley said such gelatine factories are the dirtiest in the world; that the hides used are treated with alkali, which is rubbed into them for shipment. The hides are scraped and trimmed and are then put into the tanners' vats and the residue used for gelatine. He said that this gelatine is sometimes made in glue factories and that what is not fit for glue is made into gelatine.

It is used for putting into ice cream and candies and for making capsules that you take your medicine in."

He added that there is an objection to gelatine if properly made and that there is plenty of wholesome raw material to make it of. As to the proportion of gelatine made from material containing live germs, Dr. Wiley said: "No one wants to run the risk of getting lockjaw by taking a powder or a pill or eating ice cream."

The Earliest Men.

Recent studies by Professor Penck in the Alps, combined with those of Mr. Hugo Obermaier, a distinguished pupil of Penck, in the Pyrenees, have had the effect of considerably shortening the estimate of the length of time that has elapsed since prehistoric man left the marks of his presence in Europe. It now appears that both in the Alps and the Pyrenees there exist contemporary geological records showing four successive periods of alternate advance and retreat of glaciation. Heretofore it has been considered probable that prehistoric men dwelt in the neighborhood of these mountains during the last two invasions of the ice but the new evidence is regarded as proving that it was only of the last, or fourth, glacial advance that man was a living witness.

Waging War on Hares.

Belgian hares imported into the Argentine Republic have multiplied at an astonishing rate. Some fifty of these hares were introduced into the country and they have now spread to such an extent as to be found at a distance of 500 miles from the spot where they were first turned out and have increased so prodigiously that thousands have been known to kill 1,000 in a day. Their ravages on some proprietors have gone to the extent of fencing in extensive ranches with wire netting in order to exclude them. Some attempt has been made to turn their flesh into a source of profit by sending them to Europe and other markets in a frozen state.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN

September 9th, Except A Few District Schools in The County.

The School Board for Wicomico county decided at its last meeting to open the public schools of this county on Sept. 9th. At the request of several trustees and patrons of a few of the district schools, some of these schools will not open until Oct. 1st. The schools asking to open Oct. 1st failed to make the required legal average last September, and, owing to the lateness of the crops this season, parents say they will be unable to let their children attend school until Oct. 1st. Acting on the requests from trustees and parents, the Board decided that all district schools which did not make the required average of fifteen pupils last September will not open for the fall term until Oct. 1st. This will not, however, affect more than twelve to fifteen schools.

It is expected by the School Board that the attendance generally in the county schools will be light during September on account of the lateness of farm work. The corn crop is about three weeks late, and fodder-saving will come on in September; the watermelon and cantaloupe crops are two to three weeks late, and as farm help is scarce, many farmers will be compelled to utilize their children in the harvesting of crops, thus keeping them from school until in October.

At the last meeting of the Board Mr. Norman Smith, one of the graduates of the Wicomico High School, class of 1907, was granted a permit to teach Truitt's School, in Pittsburg district, the trustees having asked for his services.

The School Board still has at its disposal a scholarship in the Maryland Institute of Art and Design, in Baltimore. It is to be hoped that some one in this county will apply for this scholarship. There are some applicants for it outside of Wicomico Co., and if no one in this county makes application, the Board will award the scholarship to one of the outside applicants.

Session Of County Commissioners Tuesday.

Commissioner Johnson reported to the Board, Tuesday, no sale of Wicomico Creek Ferry, as he had not heard from the Somerset Commissioners. He also reported the examination of the walls of Shoemaker milldam and thought them satisfactory.

A delegation composed of George Mills and son, George Walston and others, was before the Board asking that the Jones or Hastings bridge be condemned, on account of the dangerous condition of the bridges.

Capt. Samuel Jackson, of Barren Creek district, was before the Board and paid the taxes on Sankey's Island marsh, and had it assessed to him.

The Board agreed to pay R. P. Bailey $125 to repair the Shoemaker milldam, to be paid when same is completed and accepted.

The Board contracted with Otis S. Lloyd to build the bridge over Tony Tank creek for $950, the work to begin at once. The report of the commission to lay out and condemn the Connolly milldam was filed.

I WANT to say a word for Peruna for systemic catarrh and trust others who read this may try it and receive the same good from it that I did. I had been ailing for a long time and nothing seemed to do me any good, although I tried many doctors and many medicines. I had become so bad that there was no pleasure in living. I was finally asked by a friend to try Peruna, which I did, with many misgivings. What was my delight, after taking the first bottle, to see a great change for the better and I kept on improving until completely recovered. I now feel like a new woman. It has done wonders for me and I gladly recommend it to others. — Rose Hurst. No ailing woman can fail to be interested in the above testimonial. STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION NAMES WINNERS.

Strong Ticket Named And Sections Well Represented. Democratic Platform That Should Appeal To Every Voter. For Election Of United States Senators By Direct Vote.

The Democratic State Convention nominated the following ticket at the Maryland Theatre Thursday night:
For Governor—Judge Austin L. Crothers, of Cecil county.
Comptroller—Dr. Joshua W. Hering, of Carroll county.
Attorney-General—Mr. Isaac Lobe Straus, of Baltimore City.
Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Mr. C. C. Magruder, of Prince George's county.
Only one ballot was cast for the Governorship, Judge Crothers receiving 118 1/2 votes and Mr. Baker 14 votes. The nomination was then made unanimous.
Mr. Henry Williams, who had been mentioned as a candidate, was not placed in nomination.

Before the convention assembled at noon it was declared that a combination had been effected in the interest of Mr. Williams. The combination included Congressman Talbot, ex-Congressman Miles, State Senator Gorman, ex-Governor Jackson and the city organization headed by Mr. John J. Mahon.

Six of the Eastern Shore counties, under the leadership of ex-Governor Smith were for Judge Crothers.

Ex-Governor Brown advised the city delegation that he regarded Judge Crothers as the strongest candidate, but the delegation refused for a time to take his advice.

After the convention met, ex-Governor Jackson sent a note from the Hotel Remont to Mr. John Hannibal, chairman of the city delegation, urging the nomination of Judge Crothers. The convention adjourned until 8 p. m., and in the meantime the city delegation changed to Crothers. The tide then turned strongly.

Strong Platform To Fight From.

The platform as adopted by the State Convention is as follows:
"In entering upon the present campaign, we, the representatives of the Democratic party in Maryland, in convention assembled, submit for the consideration of our fellow-citizens a plain statement of the reasons upon which we confidently ask from them a continuance of our political control of the State.

"Since the adoption of our existing Constitution in 1867, our party, representing the great majority of our white people, has been successful in every general State election except that of 1895.

"In 1899 we recovered our temporarily-lost supremacy, and in 1903 we retained it by an increased and gratifying popular majority.

"Upon a review of the management of our State affairs during the last eight years, under the successive administrations of Gov. John Walter Smith and Gov. Edwin Warfield, we perceive no reason for a withdrawal by the people of their generous and triumphant support, but, on the contrary, every reason for such support in more abundant measure.

Claims Of The Party.

"Peace and tranquility prevail everywhere.

"The alarming turbulence and disorder among our colored population, so painfully and suggestively exhibited under the Republican administration from 1896 to 1900, have been checked.

"The tax rate has been largely reduced without impairing the vigor and efficiency of our State administration.

"Our public schools, under liberal provision, are more and more meeting public expectation.

"Our public institutions of every sort are honestly and admirably managed.

"Our finances are in a healthy and prosperous condition, and receive from our treasury officers skillful, intelligent and faithful administration.

"Our public debt is practically extinguished.

"The laws are justly and impartially enforced, and the blessings of good State government are fully and freely enjoyed by our people.

Grounds For Confidence.

"Under these gratifying conditions we have a right to feel that the State ticket which this convention will put into the field will be elected without serious difficulty, and that we shall have a good Democratic majority in the Senate and House of Delegates, thus insuring Democrats and United States Senators for both the short and long terms and a Democratic State Treasurer.

"Our Democratic record during these eight years ought to be enough of itself to entitle our candidates to the vote of every Maryland Democrat, and with such a vote duly cast for them our party's renewed lease of political power is undoubtedly assured.

"But our appeal to the people to support our ticket rests also on additional grounds.

Corrupt Practices Act.

"Fully realizing the necessity of putting a stop to the intolerable evils of bribery and corruption in our elections, we favor the passage of a corrupt practices act that shall apply to primary and general elections, and which will go to the very root of this frightful menace to our free institutions and by adequate provisions and penalties which elsewhere have proved to be effective will make the buying of votes too odious and dangerous to be hereafter attempted.

Nominations By Direct Vote.

"Recognizing that the system of nominations by direct vote has proved satisfactory in the Democratic States of the South, and realizing that there is an increased sentiment and demand among the Democrats of Maryland for a primary election law which will insure honest and fair elections and afford the fullest and freest opportunity to the people to express their choice in the selection of candidates, we favor the passage of a primary election law for the whole State which shall provide that aspirants for State offices shall have the right to submit their candidacy to a direct vote of the people, and that candidates for the United States may submit their candidacies to the people of the State at a primary election.

Oyster Culture.

"After a discussion extending over many years and resulting in a reasonably thorough understanding of the subject by the people, the Legislature of 1906, responding to a popular demand that could no longer be resisted, passed a carefully considered oyster culture law. We favor the fullest opportunity for the putting of this law into complete practical operation, and we are opposed to all attempts to annul it by repeal or to modify it by amendments that will destroy or weaken its efficiency.

"Beating in mind, however, that the object of the law is not only to open barren bottoms to cultivation with a view to their profitable use by private owners under just and equitable contract with the State, but also to ascertain and permanently locate the natural beds and bars of the State and to secure to the people their use in the same manner as heretofore enjoyed by them, we favor such additional legislation as may be needed to preserve from private ownership such natural oyster bars and to replenish them wherever this can be accomplished.

No Constitutional Convention.

"We believe that it is inexpedient at this time to call a convention to frame a new Constitution for the State.

"Such changes in our present Constitution as experience has shown to be desirable can, in our judgment, be better made by constitutional amendments submitted by the General Assembly to the people than by a convention called to frame an entirely new Constitution, and we therefore appeal to the people to vote against the proposed call.

To Promote Immigration.

"Maryland offers many and great attractions to worthy and industrious foreigners who desire to become American citizens, and we favor energetic measures to encourage and promote the introduction into our State of bodies of immigrants of good character who will actively contribute by their diligence and industry to the improvement and development of our agricultural resources.

For Improved Public Roads.

"The work of construction and improvement of our public roads already so well begun should be steadily kept up until, as the result of regular and judicious expenditure, there shall exist in Maryland a system of public roads as good as that to be found in any of our sister States.

State Issues In This Campaign.

"In this campaign State issues are more particularly involved, and we therefore refrain from formulating any full declaration of Democratic principle and policy applicable to the Federal Government, believing that this can be more appropriately done by the national convention of 1908.

"But nevertheless we feel that the present political situation in our national issues demands from us an emphatic reaffirmance of the time-honored article of Democratic faith again and again declared in our platform, that our Federal Government is a government of limited and carefully enumerated powers derived solely from the Constitution, and that the powers not therein granted or necessarily limited are reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people, and we maintain that the surest means for the preservation of the reserve rights of the State is in the active exercise of the power of the States in the protection of their citizens and business interests from all forms of discrimination and monopoly.

For Revision Of The Tariff.

"We feel that it is incumbent on us now to declare that no taxation can be justified or excused which takes from the pockets of the people more than is reasonably required to defray the costs of an economical and frugal administration of the government in all its departments, and we therefore favor such a revision of our existing tariff as will relieve the great masses of the people from its oppressive inequalities, discriminations and burdens and put an end to the intolerable wrong that extorts from them an annual excess of revenue of $900,000,000 withdrawn from circulation and piled up in the Treasury as a constant temptation to demoralizing extravagance.

Supremacy Of White People.

"This Democratic convention, representing more than two-thirds of the white people of the State, reaffirms the declaration contained in our party platform of 1903 upon the question of negro suffrage, and proclaims a new that it is the resolute purpose of the Democracy by all lawful and constitutional means to maintain the political supremacy of our race.

"The Democratic party stands steadfast in its determination to eliminate the illiterate negro voter and thereby insure white manhood suffrage, and to this end we will at the earliest possible time submit a constitutional amendment which, while entirely within the provisions of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution of the United States, will apply protect the right to vote of our native-born and naturalized citizens and be so phrased as to meet all the objections raised by Democrats who opposed the amendment submitted in 1904 and rejected in 1905.

"Upon this declaration of our purposes and policy we earnestly appeal to the people to support our candidates, whose election will insure a continuance of the good, strong and clean government which we have enjoyed.

"We believe that it is incumbent on us now to declare that no taxation can be justified or excused which takes from the pockets of the people more than is reasonably required to defray the costs of an economical and frugal administration of the government in all its departments, and we therefore favor such a revision of our existing tariff as will relieve the great masses of the people from its oppressive inequalities, discriminations and burdens and put an end to the intolerable wrong that extorts from them an annual excess of revenue of $900,000,000 withdrawn from circulation and piled up in the Treasury as a constant temptation to demoralizing extravagance.

THE OLD GUARD

Gives Way. A Convention That Was Not Cut And Dried, Says Balto, Sun.

After three days of strenuous battling of swiftly changing situations and cracked slates the Democratic State convention Thursday night nominated the ticket given elsewhere.

Whatever else may be said of the convention there was nothing out and dried about it. Tumultuous, enthusiastic, bitter at times, but harmonious in the end, the Democratic party has seen no such convention in years. No one man or two men ran it. Time and again the efforts of the old organization leaders to concentrate and put through a slate were frustrated, and the ticket as nominated is not the unanimous choice of the men who have been identified and known as the old guard.

The man around whom most of them centered—Mr. Henry Williams—at one time seemed sure of the nomination, and a slate settled upon by the State managers appeared to be a certainty. Twice it was smashed. The leaders had no one to hold them together. They split, changed and shifted. Finally the controlling influences centered behind Judge Crothers and nominated him.

It was a wide open convention. Some blows straight from the shoulder were exchanged. Governor Warfield expressed his views with frankness and fullness both on the floor of the convention and in the committee on resolutions. There were some spirited tilts. Senator Gorman and the Governor looked horns over the platform, the Governor and Colonel Schley exchanged compliments of a tart nature and at times the whole convention was in an uproar. Some rather open threats were made on the floor, and the game played was a fierce one, in which knocks were given and taken.

When the nominations were all closed there were but two men before the convention—Crothers and Baker. On the first ballot the vote was:
Crothers, 118 1/2
Baker, 14

BIG FIRE IN SALISBURY

Capl. L. P. Coulbourne Again Suffers Loss. Dwelling And Place Of Business Both Destroyed.

The large armory building, situated on the corner of East Church and William streets, and the residence adjoining, both owned by Captain Louis P. Coulbourne, were destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. The blaze started in the kitchen from the careless handling of a gasoline stove by the colored cook. In some manner the flames communicated to the oil reservoir, and in less time than it takes to tell it, the kitchen was ablaze from end to end. The flames spread rapidly and before the fire department could reach the scene the fire was raging fiercely in the dwelling and soon communicated to the big armory building, a frame structure, adjoining. It was soon seen that both buildings were doomed, and the fire department devoted its attention to preventing the spread of the flames to property near by.

Just across William street is the large three-story brick storehouse of the Salisbury Hardware Co., and their large warehouse, and next to these the residence of William E. Booth, neither more than thirty feet away. Directly opposite to the Coulbourne property, across Church street, is the large three-story storehouse owned by E. Dale Adkins, the barber shop of Geo. Tyndall and the grocery store of Billy Farlow. These are not more than twenty-five feet distant from the burnt buildings, but with two engines at work throwing water from four sets of hose, the fire department confined the flames to the two Coulbourne buildings, and not the slightest damage was done to any other property.

In the armory building Capt. Coulbourne conducted the meat business and had a large refrigerating plant in operation. In the cold storage room were stored a great quantity of meat, lard, butter and eggs. A great deal of this was saved, as was a portion of the furniture in the dwelling. Capt. Coulbourne's loss will, it is estimated, amount to nearly $10,000.

The insurance on the property destroyed amounts to $7,800.00, as follows:
Dwelling and furniture—Commercial Union of London, $1,200.00; Cecil Mutual, of Elkton, $1,200.00; Phoenix, of Hartford, $500.00.

LIFE'S LADDER.
Only in dreams is a ladder thrown From the weary earth to the sapphire wells;
But the dreamer awakes, and the vision falls,
And the sleeper wakes on his pillow of stone.

The Best Day of the Week.

English Christians are making a vigorous effort to protect Sunday from being secularized. There has long been a recognized difference between the English and the Continental observance of Sunday, but it has been gradually disappearing. It is significant that France, after living for years practically without a Day of Rest, has now reestablished one by law.

An appeal was sent out on New Year's day to the English people, as The Companion noted at the time, signed by the Archbishop of Westminster, and the president of the National Council of the Evangelical Free Churches, entreating them to protect their lives that on Sundays all shall have opportunity "to escape from the grip of ordinary cares and occupations into regions of higher thought and nobler aspiration."

"We are convinced," the appeal concluded, "that on adequate and reasonable Sunday observance depends in no small measure the possibility of promoting in England the deeper, the more sacred and the more enduring interests of our common life."

A pledge is now being circulated in the United Kingdom which is wisely phrased that it might be adopted for our American children and for their elders. It runs thus:
Believing as I do, that the great principles which underlie the due observance of Sunday are public worship and rest, I resolve to do all that I can to discourage, as far as possible, such employment on Sundays as would prevent either myself, my servants, or others for whom I am responsible, from being able to carry out these principles."—Youths Companion.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Derelicts On The Diplomatic Sea.
The strangest thing I know is that Morocco, the world's richest prize, should have remained intact unto this day. Thirteen legations and consulates-general, costly out of all proportion to immediate needs, watch the staggering derelict on the spot in Tangier. And have we not seen the two greatest military powers on earth at daggers drawn over the soil, and a terrible crisis averted only by the backing down of France at Von Bulow's will, followed by the "breaking" of Theophile Delcasse, the strongest Foreign Minister France ever had?

Now people are asking: "Why all this excitement over a semi-savage State which many of us picture as a worthless desert, peopled only by blacks?" Because, from the view points of strategy, climate and mineral and agricultural wealth, Morocco stands unique, with a potential trade—a given couple of decades of development—of $500,000,000 a year.

Looking round we see all the nations struggling for existence, for new markets, for new outlets for their people. Germany took the Duchies from Denmark, Alsace-Lorraine from France, and Kiaochan from China. France, in her turn, seized Algeria from the Deys, the Savoy from Italy, and Tunis from its bey—of course to keep order and suppress piracy in the Mediterranean! Great Britain seized the "Transvaal and the Orange Free State"; Italy covets Tripoli; Russia laid hands on Manchuria.

Yet none dared touch Morocco; for Tangier and Ceuta are the keys of the world's highway; so that invasion of the Moorish Empire would have raised Armageddon. And the troubled seas of diplomacy surely never beheld so rich a "derelict." Three hundred thousand square miles of earth's most fertile land lying at Europe's very door, and with 1,300 miles of coast line—a perpetual Riviera—on two of the world's most important waterways, the Mediterranean and the Atlantic. A prize indeed.

"A granary that would feed an empire. Limitless fisheries, especially below Agadir, where the Germans are now making rich hauls. Copper mines richer than the fabulously rich Rio Tinto property, just across the Strait. And ten millions of a hardy fighting race that might well yield a superb army of half a million troops, such as could be swiftly disposed in European fields should occasion arise.
A recruiting ground of this kind may well counter balance the rapid increase of Germany's population over that of her rival.

How few of us realize that only nine miles separate Morocco from Europe, at the narrowest point of the Straits of Gibraltar? And who shall say in these days of daring engineering that this span may not soon be bridged, and Europe united with Africa by rail?

A prize, indeed, this Morocco—one even remotely comparable to it does not exist. The climate is the lovely climate of Southern Spain; the richness of the soil would make our farmers' mouths water, or it will grow and grow with phenomenal luxuriance everything from wheat and barley to oranges, sugar, tea, coffee, cotton, corn, and wine. If Algeria, with half the area and population, and no rivers worthy the name, has a trade of $125,000,000 a year, what would that of Morocco be worth if properly developed?—William G. Fitz-Gerald, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews.

Big Tomato Crop.
A big crop of tomatoes and a small crop of peaches are indicated for Delaware this year. From present prospects and with continued good weather the tomato crop will be the largest in years and in every way satisfactory. On the other hand, not more than a third of a crop of peaches is in sight. There has been a big increase in the acreage of tomatoes this season.
The increase in the planting of the crop in Delaware amounts to between 15 and 25 per cent, as compared with last year. Last year the tomato crop was below the average season, and in consequence the peak of this year's crop was short and prices for canned goods were relatively high during the entire winter and spring. This season there is every indication of a big pack.
During the latter part of May and early June there was much concern regarding the outcome of the crop because of the unusual cold and wet weather. While the crop this year will be about two weeks late, it will probably be large. For weeks past the weather has been most favorable and both growers and packers are now hopeful that frost will not come early late in the fall.

MARYLAND FARMS.
Fifteen farms at a sacrifice. Buildings on all. Plenty of wood and timber to support them. Good water, fine soil, two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for agriculture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate mild by ocean and bay. Come and see is all we ask. Farms of 150 to 1,500 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the Northern and Eastern cities; so these prices are only temporary.
Why go to the wilds and spend your life making a farm and a home, when for less money, in a better climate and nearer the markets, you can immediately have what you want? Yours truly,

SOME MODERN MIRACLES

Science Mystified by Many of These Marvels.

ESCAPES FROM DEATH

A Stab Wound or Bullet in the Heart. No Longer Means Certain Death—A Man With a Bullet in His Heart Still Alive.

It has been said often since Matthew Arnold's day, that miracles do not happen. Whether that is so or not in strict sense, is certainly not so in the popular sense. There are men and women going about their work today who are living miracles—men and women who seem to have been snatched from death by providential hands, says London Answers.

Not so long ago a Surrey man was picked up alive after having rolled hundreds of feet down the side of Welsh mountains and there is a schoolmaster in Edinburgh still living to tell the story of a sudden descent of a thousand feet down Ben Nevis. These are miracles, indeed!

But even more miraculous—if comparison in such cases be possible—was the escape of a lad who was driving a horse and cart when the animal bolted toward the Clifton suspension bridge and jumped into a gully 200 feet deep. The horse was killed, and the cart smashed to atoms, but the boy dropped into the branches of a tree and was rescued, the worse only for a few scratches.

Another remarkable case is that of a man named Wells. This man has had every rib broken and every finger broken. He has been buried under a heavy fall of rock and almost suffocated by the heavy fall of gravel. His skull has been split open by a blasting accident, and he has been struck on the head with a pick. He has fallen 37 feet, and fractured his skull, and has been crushed between loaded trucks. He is now in a casualty ward as the result of another accident, but still happy, confident that he was born for a long life and a natural death.

Of consider the thrilling, vivid narrative of a boy-named Russian soldier in one of the Manchurian field hospitals. "I should have had the little Jap done for if I had not slipped and dropped by rifle," he told the doctor.

"It seemed hours before he probed me, and I watched the bayonet sweeping down to me inch by inch—down, down, down. I remember nothing but the mark on the beast's chin. Then came the prod, and I screamed. My whole body from throat to hips felt stinging with molten metal. That lasted for hours. Then the bayonet gave a wriggle, and I felt it was alive and biting me on the other side of my body. Yet I could not keep my eyes off the Jap's birthmark. It suddenly seemed to swell out of his face, and look like a balloon. It seemed years before he took the bayonet out of me. When he did I could feel the blood gushing out of me, and I knew it was a dead man."

But he was not a dead man. The bayonet had not touched a single vital spot, and he recovered. A fracture of the spine kills most people but here, as in other cases, miracles sometimes happen, as in the case of a Whitby railroad worker, who was received into the hospital after a severe fall, his spine being so fractured that the surgeons regarded his condition as hopeless. A surgical operation was impossible. Nature, however, did the mysterious work which baffled science, and a few months afterward the man left the ward cured, the only sign of his calamity being that he carried his head stiffly, and bent somewhat forward.

The heart is a vital organ. A few years ago a stab or bullet in the heart would have meant death. Today surgery tells a different story. Some months ago a young girl was accidentally shot in the heart. Dr. Mantoufel chloroformed his patient, and after a marvelous surgical operation he forced out the bullet, with his fingers and sewed up the wound, and the girl left the hospital cured.

A similar shooting accident happened to a man named Meyer, who is a marvel of vitality to most of the clinics of Europe. The bullet lodged in the man's heart and he walks about London with it there yet, after an interval of two and a half years. "There was no bleeding after I was shot," he tells his friends. "It is a riddle. The doctors cannot tell why I did not die."

Another personified miracle makes his home at Guisborough in Yorkshire, at the foot of the Cleveland hills. For upward of 30 years he has been the victim of the terrible disease known as lupus. He has suffered 84 operations of one sort or another, and is still cheerful, tramping before five o'clock every morning several miles to his work in the ironstone mines, for which the Cleveland district is famous, and taking an active part in his "off" hours in religious and political work of the town in which he lives. "I'll never say die," he is fond of saying to his sympathizers. "White there's life there's hope."

Destroying Fleas.
A leaflet issued by the imperial entomologist of India says that the best manner of destroying fleas, with special reference to checking the ravages of plague, is free use of crude oil emulsion, which consists of 80 per cent of crude petroleum mixed with 20 per cent of white oil soap. This combination makes a jelly which mixes freely with water and is generally used at 8 per cent solution. At 10 per cent it destroys fleas with perfect certainty.

A Faithful Friend.
"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1875, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this faithful friend," says E. S. Nichol of Oakland, Ind. Tr. When a man has used a remedy for thirty-five years he knows its value and is competent to speak of it. For sale at Quaker Drug Store.

A Tale of the Sea.

"It was in the year '98, as near as I can remember," said Frontollet, better known as Sawdust Jim, as we lay under the equator, homeward bound, "that I shipped in Charlestown, Boston, in the bark Barleduc. A neat critter she was, little too broad in the bows and a bit cranky at beating, but weatherly, take her all in all, and a good sea boat. I never see the skipper till after we left Trinidad, West Indies, and if I had, may I be hung if I'd ever 'a' shipped with him. A dead face and a living body, mates; the face of a man that had done some dreadful deed and was followed by a ghost he couldn't lay, nohow. It were awful to see him mates; an old sea dog, tall and slim, with the breath of the salt sea about him, but that pale, ghastly face, and that look over his shoulders when no sound could be heard. The first officer sent me down to ask for a sextant, below Martinique, and when I see'd that face I'd have given my chances of whiskey, stumgullion, beans and hard tack for life to be out of that Barleduc. He see'd the look in my face and snatched up a hammer and made a stroke at me.

"You are like the rest, you useless tramp!" he howled. "What the deuce do you all see in my face that you must start when you see me, as if you had seen a ghost? A ghost—ha!"

"He looked over his shoulder again in that quick, startled way, and dropped the hammer. Something I could not see scared him and drove the little color out of his face.

"Keep off," he hissed. "Stand by me, Frontollet, it'll be your friend for life. Strike at it; beat it to the earth, and tread it under foot! See how pale and hollow he looks, and how ghastly that mark is—the mark of Cain, the slayer. Ha, he's gone! Now, Frontollet, what do you want?"

"I told him, and got the sextant, but made up my mind I wasn't going into that cabin again if I could help it. I thought he had snakes, but it turned out worse than that—a blamed sight worse. I didn't see him again for three days, and the first officer seemed to sail the ship.

"Going to have a dirty time soon, Frontollet," he said, glancing at the sky; "we'll have to take in our kites before three hours."

"Mr. North was a good officer, and we respected him as such. I give him my manners—I always do when an officer uses me as a man, and I said, 'It ain't many could make bad weather out of that sky, Mr. North, but you're right, all the same. We'll have a blowout. It will be likely to bring the skipper on deck.'

"I went away from him. Before the first watch was over I heard the first mate at the foreculet: 'Hi, you, timberless—Rouse and shake yourselves. Tumble up, tumble up, there! All hands on deck, ahoy!'

"'Away, you sea draft!' roared the mate. 'Lay out there, lively. Strip her, strip her, my sons! She don't want as much clothes as a South Sea woman.'

"We didn't need much ordering, for we saw the danger, and in a few minutes the Barleduc was ready for business. I was standing by the rail, holding on to a line, when I heard such a cry as I never want to hear again, and there was the skipper, holding a lantern in his hand.

"'Hi, there, Mr. North! what are you doing, you lubber? Do you dare strip the Barleuc without asking me?'

"'Mr. Whitmore—captain,' replied the mate, turning white as a ghost. 'I did not like to disturb you.'

"'Cowards!' yelled the skipper, jumping on the quarter-deck with his gray hair floating in the wind. 'Lay her a course; keep her to it. Do you hear, there at the wheel?'

"'Aye, aye, sir.'

"'But, captain,' gasped the mate, 'for the love of heaven, don't cast away the ship.'

"'Mutiny by ———,' screamed the skipper. 'Ha, ha, ha! here is more work for me to do. Wait till I lay her course, and then I'll make you sweat blood. Aloft there, and shake out everything that will draw.'

"'Boys,' cried the mate, jumping up on the deck, 'this man is mad. Secure him and take your orders from me.'

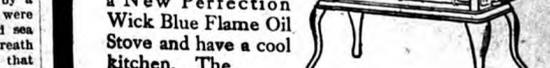

"'E-fore we could stop him the mad skipper drew a pistol and fired at the mate, who dropped on the quarter-deck. We ran in to seize the mad man, who was making for the wheel, but he skipped by us and jumped on the lee rail.

"'Ha! curse your white face. I have done it again,' he cried. 'Do you think I will live with two such faces on my track? Hurrah for a grave in the sea!'

"'He flung his lantern upon the water, threw up his hands and plunged head first into the boiling surge, and we were half a mile away in four minutes. At the same time the mate rose upon his elbow and stood up staggering. So Mr. North was skipper of the Barleduc, and a good one, too. He told me that the captain struck his third mate with a marlin spike in the Pacific, and the man died from the blow. Brooding over it, he got the idea that the white face of the dead man was always looking at him, and was getting madder every day. Mr. North knew, after we left Trinidad, that the case was hopeless, but if he had thought that the captain would take his own life would have secured him long before. The skipper's body was never found. Sing Sing Prison Star of Hope.

WIGOMICO LOOSSES

Teacher. Prof. Goslee Goes To Preston High School.

Mr. F. G. Goslee former teacher of mathematics in Wicomico High school has accepted the principalship of the High School at Preston, Caroline County. It is much to be regretted that a teacher of Mr. Goslee's recognized ability should be allowed to leave his native county where he had given entire satisfaction to the patrons as a teacher and go to another county in order to secure employment for which he is so eminently fitted. If all newspaper accounts be true there has been offered made to one other person identified with the management of Wicomico's Public Schools which would have been well received by the people had the offer been accepted and Talbot county would then have been taught how to run their schools in the interest of the Superintendent and not the people.

The people of Preston are to be congratulated on being fortunate enough to secure one of Wicomico's best teachers and there is no doubt they will learn to appreciate Mr. Goslee for what he really is one of the best teachers in his class there is in the State today and what has been Wicomico's loss will be Caroline's gain.

Death of James F. Rider.

James F. Rider, of this city died at his home on Riverview road Wednesday of this week after a lingering illness, aged 63 years. Deceased is survived by a widow and several children. Funeral services were held Friday morning in Wicomico Presbyterian Church conducted by Rev. Dr. Reigart assisted by Rev. Dr. Martindale. Interment was made in Parsons Cemetery.

—Ex Governor Jackson has been the most remarkable figure of this convention. Those who have seen him in his rooms at the hotel marvel at his ability in his enfeebled condition to stand the strain of a political fight such as has been waged for three days and to bear up under the pulling and hauling of the different delegations that come to see him.—Baltimore. [Sun item from Democratic State Convention.

—Misses Alma and Nellie Lankford, of Salisbury, will occupy positions as teachers in Blackstone Female Institute Backstone, Va., during the next scholastic year. This school, under the principalship of Rev. James Cannon, is making rapid strides, and will this fall open with the largest enrollment in its history. In the opening year 1894, there were 29 boarders, 4 officers and teachers, a campus of six acres, and a school valued at $25,000. In 1907 there are 308 boarders, and 90 day pupils, 31 officers and teachers, a campus of 34 acres and a school plant valued at $130,000. This continuous, extraordinary growth is the strongest proof that the work commends itself to parents and pupils.

—The Eastern Shore College of business and English of this city are issuing a monthly publication under the name of "Modern Education" which contains much interesting reading matter.

—Mayor C. E. Harper went to Jamestown Thursday to be present at the exercises which took place on that day in observance of Eastern Shore Day. The Peninsula of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia was well represented.

WIGOMICO LOOSSES

Teacher. Prof. Goslee Goes To Preston High School.

Mr. F. G. Goslee former teacher of mathematics in Wicomico High school has accepted the principalship of the High School at Preston, Caroline County. It is much to be regretted that a teacher of Mr. Goslee's recognized ability should be allowed to leave his native county where he had given entire satisfaction to the patrons as a teacher and go to another county in order to secure employment for which he is so eminently fitted. If all newspaper accounts be true there has been offered made to one other person identified with the management of Wicomico's Public Schools which would have been well received by the people had the offer been accepted and Talbot county would then have been taught how to run their schools in the interest of the Superintendent and not the people.

The people of Preston are to be congratulated on being fortunate enough to secure one of Wicomico's best teachers and there is no doubt they will learn to appreciate Mr. Goslee for what he really is one of the best teachers in his class there is in the State today and what has been Wicomico's loss will be Caroline's gain.

Death of James F. Rider.

James F. Rider, of this city died at his home on Riverview road Wednesday of this week after a lingering illness, aged 63 years. Deceased is survived by a widow and several children. Funeral services were held Friday morning in Wicomico Presbyterian Church conducted by Rev. Dr. Reigart assisted by Rev. Dr. Martindale. Interment was made in Parsons Cemetery.

—Ex Governor Jackson has been the most remarkable figure of this convention. Those who have seen him in his rooms at the hotel marvel at his ability in his enfeebled condition to stand the strain of a political fight such as has been waged for three days and to bear up under the pulling and hauling of the different delegations that come to see him.—Baltimore. Collar Facts Worth Knowing

It is easy to make claims, and we admit that we are likely to be prejudiced in favor of our own goods, but we do not ask you to take our word for everything we say. We do believe that Arrow brand Collars excel in the three essentials—Style, Fit and Wear. But we want you to investigate, to compare, and to find out these things for yourselves.

We know our collars and we know just as well how other collars are made, so we don't hesitate to rest our case with you. Collar making is no secret process. Anyone can take a collar apart and see how it is constructed. Machinery has been designed to take care of certain simple processes—the rest is done by hand. Ordinary collars almost invariably go to pieces at the ends of the fold. In all of Thoroughgood's fold collars interlinings are removed at this point, gaining flexibility where most collars break at the second or third laundering. There's no use talking, the collars that Lacy Thoroughgood or James Thoroughgood sells are the very best collars that can be made, they are the Arrow Brand, made by Cluett, Peabody & Co., Troy, N. Y. We carry constantly in stock at least one thousand dollars worth of linen collars and have every good style made. Lacy Thoroughgood has two stores selling these collars. When you want collars be sure and come to

WHAT THE CHURCH IS FOR.

Aug. 4, '07.-(Ex. 40:1-13, 34-35.)
The Tabernacle was the Hebrew meeting house. Before they had a schoolhouse, or a court house, or even a dwelling house for themselves, they erected the most beautiful, costly and pretentious house of worship, that money could provide, or ingenuity devise.

CHINESE PHRENOLOGY.
Some of the Points They Regard as Important.
Phrenology, as a science, has been familiar to the Chinese for many centuries past, and it is worth remarking that the earliest notice of it in Chinese literature—by a famous philosopher known as Hsin Tsu, of the third century B. C.—is a denunciation of its principles and practice as charlatanry and humbug.

MINSTER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Personal Experience of Aged and Well Beloved Froeder.
No other man in the community is so well beloved or whose words have such weight as this minister who has devoted his life to the service of mankind. In Maryland one of the most noted Methodist ministers in the State suffered severely with rheumatism. He found no relief until a friend recommended RHEUMACIDE. He was so delighted with the results that for the benefit of other sufferers, as a duty to mankind, he tells his experience in the following letter.

"Reisterstown, Md., February 27th.
"I was taken with Inflammatory Rheumatism in my left hand and foot in the beginning of this winter and suffered greatly. A gentleman in Baltimore who had tried RHEUMACIDE for Rheumatism recommended it to me. I secured three bottles and took it in smaller doses than prescribed, and am now entirely cured. Can use both hand and foot without the least inconvenience.

"Yours respectfully,
"J. R. Wheeler,
Pastor, Reisterstown M. E. Church.

"Your druggist sells and recommends RHEUMACIDE.
"Turn that wrapping paper the other side out," said a lady in a dry good store yesterday morning as the clerk was putting up her purchase in a printed wrapping paper. "I don't want to be a walking advertisement to your store. I read the newspapers as all intelligent people ought to do, and I think in this is the place to advertise your business. Instead of asking for customers to carry your sign around with each purchase of goods, go and tell the people through the papers what you have to sell and how you sell it."

For An Impaired Appetite.
To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Seitz, of Detroit, Mich., says: "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved me of a bloating feeling and caused a pleasant and satisfactory movement of bowels." Price, 25 cents. Samples free.—Toulson's Drug Store.

A Wonderful Record.
As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the headache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drains, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

The Church of Holy Rood.

A sum of $40,000 or about $300,000 is said to have been guaranteed for the purpose of restoring the venerable pile of the Abbey Church of the Holy Rood, adjoining the royal palace of the same name, a little outside Edinburgh.

Holy Rood dates from the 13th century. The exact year is uncertain, but 1198 is generally accepted as approximate. According to the legend King David I, who was hunting in the neighboring forest, was attacked by a stag, which had been brought to bay by the hunting party. He was thrown to the ground by the ferocious animal and was in imminent danger of death. Suddenly, says the History Magazine, a cross arose from the ground between the feet of the beast and the monarch; and the stag, startled, fled. The cross remained on the spot its material substance was a mystery to those who examined it. The occurrence was looked upon as miraculous. It is gratified to Heaven the King ordained that a shrine should arise on the ground adjacent. He decreed that it be called the Church of the Holy Rood, and gave it in the care of the Canons Regular of St. Augustine.

What remains of the abbey is called the Chapel Royal. It is only a fragment of the old building, but is yet considerable. The portion formed the nave of the great abbey. Its walls are lofty, its windows tall, and its western door of generous proportions. The carving is rich, though not florid. The tombs within the abbey walls include those of King David I, King James II, of Scotland, King James V and his Queen, Magdalen, Henry, Lord Darnley, and many other members of the Scottish nobility. The grave of Rocio is not within the abbey enclosure, but in a passage leading to the quadrangle of the palace.

A Wonderful Record.
As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the headache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drains, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which print their formula on the bottle-wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is advised.

Fruit Growers Get A Day.
The Maryland State Horticultural Society will hold its summer meeting at the Jamestown Exposition, September 24th. Arrangements have been made through the department of special events to have this date known as the Maryland Society Day. At the Exposition every effort will be made to have a full attendance of the association from all parts of the State. It is thought that the reduced rates from all parts of the State together with the date, as well as the fact that the American Pomological Society, the Nutgrowers' Association, and the Society for Horticultural Science, which will be meeting at the Exposition during that week will be inducements that the members of the Maryland Association cannot afford to miss.

Eczema.
For the good of those suffering with eczema or other such trouble, I wish to say, my wife had something of that kind and after using the doctors remedies for some time concluded to try Chamberlain's Salve and it proved to be better than anything she had tried. For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

—Spokane, Wash.—Leaders in the "Apostolic Light" mission in this city have announced the names of thirty residents of Spokane and vicinity who have declared their intention to go as missionaries to China, India, Africa and other foreign lands. No provision is to be made for their support, and they are expected to take little or no money except that required to pay their passage on the ships. Neither are they to study the languages of the countries to which they go. The claim is that they have received the miraculous gift of tongues and will be enabled to speak without study. One missionary has already started to South America.

JUST ONCE IN A WHILE.

Just once in a while if we'd think to convey to those who walk with us life's devious way. In glances or words, half the joys that abide. In our hearts because loved ones are close by our side. If we'd think but to "gamb in words" and "dwell in dress." A phrase that were sweet as a mother's caress. Ours' road would be shortened by many a mile. If we'd think to be thankful just once in a while.

Just once in a while if we'd lay down our load. Of worry and work by the side of the road. And a bit of the love that we're feeling expand. On sister or brother, on parent or friend. In words that would tell them their nearest makes light. The path which alone we would grope through the night. How oft we'd be blessed with an answering smile. If we'd think to be thankful just once in a while.

Just once in a while if a hand were but pressed, A shoulder but patted, a word but addressed. That would thankfulness speak to the ones by our side. Would not joy spur the feet to a magical stride. As they wended their way down life's main-traveled road? Would not griefs slip away and thus lighten the load? For ourselves and for others we'd shorten each mile, If we'd think to be thankful just once in a while. —Roy F. Green in Leslie's Weekly.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?
Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury testimony to prove it.

Thomas Clark Salisbury Md. says: "I was confined to the house under the doctor's treatment who pronounced my trouble rheumatism and said that my cold had settled in my kidneys. My back ached continually, no position I assumed was comfortable and I could not turn in bed without sharp shooting pains. I was all broken up and even the doctor's treatment did not seem to benefit me. Finally a friend noticing my condition advised me to get Doan's Kidney Pills saying they had cured him of rheumatism and backache. I sent for them at White and Leonard's drug store and began their use. The very first dose seemed to help me and in a short time I was able to walk around and after taking the contents of two boxes all the trouble was banished and I was able to work again. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster, McBurn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

A preacher in Syracuse, N. Y., has put a soda fountain into his church, where the saints may slake their thirst while engaged in worship. We are told that the fountain will be placed in the lobby and the soda will be drawn and served to the people in their seats. Chronic Diarrhoea Relieved.

Mr. Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co. Chicago writes "Our General Superintendent Mr. Quick handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack on the old chronic diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many on our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 22d Ohio Regiment and have no ailment except chronic diarrhoea which this remedy stops at once." For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

THE NEGRO'S PLAGE

Says Ex-Governor Northen, Of Georgia, Is That Of Dependence.

Former Governor W. J. Northen, of Georgia, was the orator at a recent celebration in Montclair, N. J., speaking to a large audience on the relation of the races in the South.

"It is a great mistake," he said, "to believe that there is no kind of harmony between the better elements of the races in Georgia and in the South. Quite the contrary is true. The good class of negroes is intelligent, progressive and resourceful. Its religion is not a sham; its education has not spoiled it, and its devotion to duty is not inspired by the 'loaves and fishes.' Its ideals are good, its social standards high and its life wholesome and elevating. If all American negroes were of this class, there would be no 'negro problem.'"

"It will be best for all parties if the white man, strong and dominant, will look seriously and sympathetically at the weaker and the dependent race, and, seeing him just as he is, intelligently set about to aid him. This is just what we have begun to do in Georgia upon a plan based entirely upon our local conditions, as, in my judgment, all other people must be allowed to do. Before we enter upon that plan, however, there were some things fundamental that had to be settled between the races.

"All history shows that no two races approaching in any degree equality in numbers can live peaceably together unless intermarriage takes place or the one becomes dependent upon the other. Miscegenation by law will never take place in the South. That may be accepted as an established fact and settled beyond question, and for all time to come. Intermarriage in the South need not be argued a moment. Unless the South breaks the record of all history, there is only one alternative left, and that is that the negro must be dependent, in a measure at least, upon the white man, as he cannot hope to dominate him.

"The negro in Georgia has now put himself as a dependent upon the superior race by his own public, general and voluntary statement. The white people of Georgia would be grossly recreant to this acknowledged confidence and this trust if they did not give the assurance that every individual black man, with his family, shall be absolutely sure that he will receive justice not only in his civil rights, but in his industrial relations, his educational opportunities, and his moral and spiritual interests. This the people in Georgia have publicly proclaimed. All that we now need, in order to work out our problem slowly and surely, is the sympathy and not the criticism of those who do not act still understand the great hindrances that are yet in our way.

"While we deny and disallow social equality, we are quite as free to grant and to defend the negro's fullest rights in industrial privileges and business opportunities. If the negro is made industrially capable and industrially reliable, the people of the South would rather have his service than such as could be rendered by any other people upon the earth. But it is possible that the kind of education to which he has been encouraged in some quarters has given him a feeling of self-sufficiency that has lifted him entirely out of his place among the people who would be more than glad to use him, with profit to himself, if he were willing to serve."

In conclusion, Mr. Northen said: "While the negro is in no way responsible for the beginning of the problem, he is most criminally responsible for its wicked continuance. This responsibility is upon them and upon them solely. We expect to hold them until they are controlled, properly punished and made obedient to law. In this effort the better negroes are now rendering most helpful service and counsel."

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian most suitable to the taste and health of American people. By the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

A ROMAN URN.

When the wife of Durande captain in the 112th Cuirassiers of the line, died, he was sorely stricken with sorrow, and would not be comforted. In fact, he had hardly had time to enjoy his happiness or appreciate his treasure, for they had been married only a month, when she was taken from him in the midst of their wedding tour in Italy.

Just about returning to Paris, she fell ill in Rome and died of fever. In spite of the many physicians called to attend her and the devoted care of her husband, who never left her side till she breathed her last.

Conscious to the end, she bravely sought to console him.

"It was not given to mortals," she said, "to be happy for long. Our joy has been too great; it could not last. Do not weep, dearest," she cried; "let me pass away in peace, without the memory of your distressed face. Smile, do not look so sad!" and she raised her trembling hand and caressingly laid it on his cheek.

"You are a soldier," pursued she; "death should have no terrors for you. I have loved you only; do me, then, one last little favor. I wish to be near you always, even in death. I beseech you, create me, then, reduce me to a little heap of ashes that you can always carry with you. * * * I shall never disturb you—now strange it seems to call a little heap of ashes 'I'—yet so it will be. You will sometimes glance at me, then, and can never entirely forget me!"

Nevertheless when Durande returned to Paris he was a changed man. He was thin and haggard; his eyes had lost their luster, his step its elastic spring and confidence.

"Courage, courage, my boy!" his colonel would say to him.

"Be brave my friend!" repeated his brother officers.

But joy and brightness had gone out of Durande's life; the once brilliant soldier was a broken man.

No one, no arrival, was allowed to touch his luggage, and he himself with care and weeping drew from his satchel an artistic little vase that he solemnly charged his brosseur never on any account to lay hands upon.

"A token of poor madame?" the man ventured to ask.

"Yes, a token," Durande responded; before which, the slim Roman urn that held all that was left of his poor wife's remains, he knelt and wept bitterly when alone again. At night it stood in full view upon a cabinet beside his bed, that his eyes might rest upon it when not closed in sleep; and by day, when his leave had expired and he had returned to duty, he was distrustful, a stranger to his comrades, joining in none of their pleasures or amusements, seeming to live only in the memory of his lost wife and that urn—which might be knocked over.

He had placed her portrait in every room in his house, and by a strange paradox of sentiment it was here, among all these tender recollections, that he passed his least miserable hours.

By degrees, through steady contemplation, perhaps, the sight of the Roman urn produced a less painful effort upon the disconsolate widower, and no longer caused him the cruel heart pangs of the first days of his bereavement.

He was now able to picture his darling as she had been in the zenith of strength and beauty, gay, smiling, charming, again the momentary joy of his life. Again and again he recalled that honeymoon journey, and grew happy himself in this sweet, posthumous revival of radiant hours.

When at work, the urn stood on his writing table, and he thought how in life and in that bygone time he had written and pondered and she had sat quietly beside him, reading or sewing tranquilly, silently, without disturbing him.

Six months passed, lengthened to a year, and now and then it happened that Durande forgot the urn, and left it on his table at night instead of carrying it to his bedroom. Finally he enshrined it for good on his office table. Not that the memory of his wife was less than at first, but because, in time, it was borne in upon him that a funeral deposit like this was unsanitary, unhealthy, in a sleeping room.

Nevertheless, every day it was surrounded, as usual, with lilies and roses, his wife's favorite flowers.

The one year lengthened to two, and Durande had returned to his bachelor life.

"'Tis wrong to bury yourself alive thus," said his friends and his wife's relations; "begin, go into the world again."

Durande yielded, once more went out, frequented the quarters of his brother-officers, joined in their jollifying, and actually one evening carried them all home with him to a banquet in his own apartments. The wine was good, the champagne sparkling, laughter, songs, uproar, the order of the night; when, the supper ended, they all adjourned to the private office, where the mortuary shrine stood alone upon the table, severe and mournful.

Revelry ran riot, in the midst of which Durande suddenly recalled the "presence of the dead," as he was wont to call the urn, caught it up hurriedly, darted from the room, and deposited it in an upper chamber, gilded with a bachelor's litter of old books, boots and firearms.

Next morning, determined that profanation like that of the previous night should not happen again, he resolved to turn this lumber room, where he had temporarily deposited the precious remains, into a mortuary chapel, and gave instant orders for a cathedral window and a niche and altar to be placed beneath it.

There the urn was again enshrined, but the lilies and roses had given place to immortelles. Some days later perceiving that these had lost color from lack of air and light, Durande had them exchanged for garlands of Cereus and bisque of the costliest character, and thus the urn stood peacefully in this calm retreat.

Two years of widowhood lengthened to three, and Durande took unto himself a second wife. Why, he couldn't have told you. Certainly it was not a case of desperate love, though the new Mme. Durande was a charming woman.

No, he had but one excuse for refilling the empty niche in his life—Mme. Durande the second wife was exceedingly like Mme. Durande, the first, with one exception—she was jealous.

A jealousy that caused her to look with suspicion on every one, word, or gesture; and the knowledge that he still retained tender memories of the dead would have caused her tempestuous anger.

Durande no longer dared to keep the urn in a conspicuous place. It was quietly and secretly a third time removed from its quarters and reverently stored in a square room in the mansarde. Matters grew better as time wore on; peace and happiness reigned with the young couple, and more than once Durande in this atmosphere of renewed content, was on the verge of unbosoming himself and confiding in his wife the mystery of the urn. Alas! his courage always failed him.

In due time a son was born to the house of Durande, and Mme. Durande found it necessary to clear out and use the room where the urn lay forgotten. As for Durande himself, the joy of a new-made father dispelled all remorse in his heart, and, to celebrate the christening with due pomp and splendor, invitations were sent far and wide for a magnificent dinner.

"But, my dear," said his wife, as he came in from the barracks the day of the great event, "don't go to your dressing room till you have seen the table, the flowers arranged with my own hands."

Arranged! A great, heaping cluster of blood-red roses—a antique, strangely familiar Roman urn, which held the place of honor on the sumptuous board!

Durand bent closer. His wife saw him start.

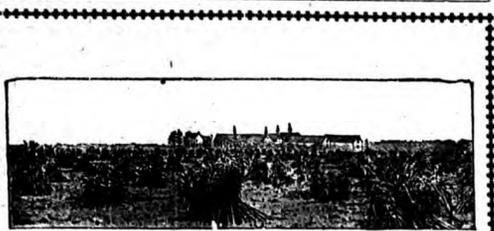

"Yes," said she, complacently, "'tis yours, and dear old stupid! to throw away as you have done, the handsomest thing collected in your trip to Italy! It was up in the garret, filled with dust; heaven knows how long it has been there!"

"With dust!" stammered Durande, white as death, "and—what did you do with it, the—the dust?"

"Threw it on the rose pots, dearest, that is, what the wind didn't scatter. But the effect—wasn't it lovely?"

"Very, very lovely!" murmured the soldier, with a strangled sigh. And in the fresh, fragrant flowers, whose petals parted softly like the lips of a young girl to the first kiss of love, Durande believed that he saw the tender smiles and blushes of his dear, dead wife.—Translated from the French by E. C. Waggener.

A phonographic device that will call the police by telephone adds a new hazard to the ever increasing dangers of the burglar's profession. When an attempt is made to force a window or door with which the proper connections have been made an electric current operates a phonograph in the garret. The machine calls up central and asks for the police station. The phonograph then informs the officers of the robbery, giving the street and number, and repeats this information as long as the receiver is down. Meantime, the intruder, all unconscious that an alarm has been rung in, virtually walks into a trap, and if the call is promptly responded to is soon in the lock-up.

A GIRL, A MAN AND A STORM.

It was the last car through, and she was nearly half an hour late. Standing about the streets on a snowy, windy night is not inductive to good nature, consequently it is not to be wondered that when at last the belated car crawled into sight the girl waiting alone in the deserted square wore a look of impatience—a look which changed to one of intense discomfort and annoyance when, upon entering the car, she found every seat occupied.

"Pardon, miss, you may have my place," began a dapper little man, rising quickly at sight of a pretty face. She was about to accept the courtesy thankfully when her eyes fell upon the other occupant of the seat, then her figure heightened perceptibly and the haughty look on her face caused the polite little man to wonder inwardly as she replied:

"Thank you, but do not trouble. I don't mind standing in the least."

"No trouble at all. I assure you; this is my stop," he answered, moving to the door at the car camp to a flow halt.

The girl's cheeks reddened and she tapped her foot with annoyance as the man withdrew, leaving her tired and cold, the only vacant seat in the car at her side, but one she would not accept under any circumstances as she told herself surlily. The idea of alighting and walking presented itself, but she knew that would be impossible, so she clung to the back of the seat in front, as the car lurched and creaked, and started painfully on. She glanced at him after a few moments, and could not prevent a little thrill of delight as she noticed a worn look about the eyes which had not been there before—before—well, anyway, he was to blame and she didn't care a bit.

A queer little smile stole into his eyes as he noted the surreptitious glance cast at him, and he settled back behind his paper as if no such thing as a girl ever crossed his mind.

At last he could stand the look of utter weariness on her face no longer, and rising, he touched her politely on the arm, saying:

"I am better able to stand than you, if you really prefer the whole seat alone."

She glanced at him with no recognition in her eyes, only the look of wild surprise he had seen there when something had displeased her.

"Indeed, no—I could not think of permitting a stranger to so inconvenience himself for me."

With all the ceremony possible he presented his card, with the words: "Permit me to introduce myself. I should have done so at first. I merely made the suggestion as I observed the people about us were beginning to notice—and wonder."

Without a word she dropped into the seat, and shrank as far as possible into the corner as she made the slightest motion in the world for fear to be seated also. Again she smiled. That was a lucky thought—remembering the abhorrence of being conspicuous.

The white world outside looked cold and dreary as the car moved slower and slower over the ice-covered rails, fighting its way almost ineffectively through the storm. Only another quarter of a mile and this strained, silent ride would be over, she thought, just as the lights in the car darkened and it came to an abrupt halt.

"Impossible to go any further to-night," shouted the conductor, as several false starts were made.

Slowly the crowd made its way from the car, vowing all sorts of vengeance against such a poorly managed line, and apotroplizing such abominable weather.

With a brave little sigh, she rose and made her way to the street with the rest. Not a soul going in her direction—not a person on the car with whom she had even a bowing acquaintance, except—Another deep sigh, and she started off. Once she glanced back to see if he had by any chance followed, but no, there he was, talking and laughing with the conductor! In spite of all she could do a tear rolled down her cheek. She had never felt so forlorn in her life before; never had so longed for him, that is, never had admitted it. The wind blew the storm in her face, and she was nearly exhausted—every step grew more difficult. The tears fell faster now, and she dabbed at them piteously with a snow sodden little handkerchief. Suddenly a particularly strong gust of wind swept by, and she clutched at a fence while a mournful little sob broke from her lips just as a pair of strong arms folded her tightly to a rough snowy coat!

"O, Jack," she cried, without even glancing at the face above her. He drew her arm through his and led her to her door. Nothing but those two words had been spoken, but there are times when a few moments of silence expresses more than whole hours of conversation.

"Come in, Jack," she whispered. "I want you to."

"Forgive me, dear," he answered while they were waiting for the door to open. "I was wholly to blame—it was my fault."

HABITS OF THE OSTRICH.

A Model of Monogamous Fidelity. Their Morning Exercise.

There are three ostrich farms in southern California, one in Arizona, one in Kansas and one in Florida; and there are not less than six thousand of the gigantic birds in this country growing plumes for my lady's headgear.

The original ostrich farm in South Pasadena is annually visited by thousands of tourists. The big birds are kept in fields enclosed with high fences. They appear to be as tame as domestic fowl; but it is not safe for strangers to take too much for granted, as the male bird is often ill tempered, and his kick is worse than that of a mule.

Early morning visitors witness the most interesting performance of the birds, the matinal waltz. When the sun's first rays strike across the field, the birds take their morning exercise to stretch their muscles, and banish the chill of the night. The larger ones begin the performance with a slow, stately dance, something like a minuet. Presently the whole flock joins in the measure, stepping, high and weaving in and out in what seems to be a set though complicated figure. As the dance proceeds the speed of the movement increases; then the birds begin to whirl about and presently the quadrille merges into a waltz. The dancers, holding their heads high, raise their wings and spread their pinions in the sunshine, and in pairs waltz solemnly, strenuously for a quarter of an hour.

Viewed from a distance, a band of waltzing ostriches—when the birds are in full feather—is a beautiful picture. At close range the preternatural gravity of the bird engaged in the seemingly frivolous pastime of the waltz makes him an irresistibly comic figure.

Ostrich farms are most attractive to visitors at plucking time, once in nine months. To one never having witnessed the operation it seems quite a formidable task to capture and hold a 500 pound bird and relieve it of its plumage.

But the farmer has devised a way that makes it a very simple process. Selecting a bird whose plumage is ready to pluck, he is enticed with sugar beets into a triangular enclosure, then to the narrow end, and there imprisoned with bars. The ostrich is enraged when he finds that he is imprisoned, but in a moment his head is enveloped in a sack, and being blinded, he becomes quiet and submissive. The plucking is painless. Only the smaller feathers are pulled as the larger plumes are cut with care to preserve the sockets of the quill from injury.

Natural white or rare black plumes require only washing and curling, but most of the plumes are gray and must be dyed for the market. The raw feathers are sold in San Francisco and New York, where they are prepared for the trade by being washed, dyed, starched, curled and plucked. The ostrich plume on a lady's hat is no more like the feather worn by the bird than a sealskin jacket is like the natural fur of his original wearer.

When the ostrich is three or four years old he chooses a mate for life. The usual span of ostrich life is about 80 years. It will be seen, therefore, that this singular bird is a model of monogamous fidelity.

Also, he is a model husband, for he does more than half of the family work. The male partner makes the nest by kicking a hole in the ground a foot deep and three feet across, and when the 12 or 15 eggs are laid, he takes his turn at hatching, dividing the time with his partner in even watches. Forty days are required to hatch the eggs, which are in proportion to the size of the bird.

Often there is a surplus of eggs on the ostrich farm, and hotels in the vicinity are supplied with the material for omelets at fancy prices. Curiosity induces tourists to pay these prices, and they have been known to affirm a liking for ostrich egg omelets. The shell of an ostrich egg is so thick that even the hard kicking bird could use one as a football without damaging it.

The experience of California ostrich farmers is that about thirty per cent of the eggs deposited in the nest are not fertile. Several days after the hatching process has begun the eggs are tested by placing them, one at a time in a funnel and raising it toward the sun.

If a dark spot shows in the egg it is probably fertile. If not it is thrown out of the clutch. The incubator has been successfully used after the eggs have been a couple of weeks under the birds. In about six weeks the baby ostrich may be heard inside the shell and then it is in order to crack the horny case and let the little chap out into the air.—Rosary Magazine.

Twenty thousand railway ties for the Simpson tunnel have been treated with coal tar by a method similar to that used with zinc chloride or croco-tite. The ties are heated in a receptacle from which the air is afterward exhausted and then hot coal tar is introduced. By means of steam coils the temperature is maintained at 100 degrees C. for four hours, after which an air pressure of about 30 pounds per square inch is applied.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lumbago, backache, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What Does It Mean

to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policyholders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best.

MUSIC FOR CHARITIES

Benefit Performances Which Are Bought.

MANAGERS RUN RISKS

Less Benevolence in Certain Operatic Benefits Than is Commonly Supposed—New Methods in Giving Concerts Out of Town—Women Managers and Agents.

This introduction of businesslike methods into musical management has been productive of much good. Artists who have not the monetary value they claim for their services are compelled to take what they are really worth as the returns of the box office show it.

The fact that the German Press Club of New York, decided to give an annual benefit performance under the management of Oscar Hammerstein rather than at the Metropolitan Opera House called attention to this manner of raising money for benevolent purposes. The Germans made their choice purely for business reasons.

Mr. Corried wanted $500 more for "Lohengrin" than Mr. Hammerstein asked for Carmen. As the club has to sell the tickets and wants to make as much money as possible, it was better business to take the cheaper show.

There is little benevolence in many of these operatic benefits so far as the opera house is concerned. They are just as commercial as the ordinary performance. The French Benevolent Society paid $6,500 for a production of "Lakme" and managed to clear more than $4,000.

The singers and players are paid just as they usually are and do not abate one cent of their fees. The management of the opera house counts on a certain number of these performances every year to use up the number of appearances guaranteed to the singers.

There are other features of the musical business of which the public knows very little. One hears for instance that Smith or Brown, one of the well known musical managers has given a concert in this or that city outside of New York. As a matter of fact the concert has been given so far as the financial responsibility is concerned by some manager of club local to the city in which it takes place.

The local manager of a club, usually composed of women hires a pianist or a violinist to play for a certain sum. The burden of raising this money is not shared by the New York impresario, who never leaves his office and merely arranges for his artist to be on hand at a certain date.

The clubs are the salvation of the musical managers. It is rarely possible for them to engage the very expensive artists, those that demand from $1,500 to $2,000 a concert, but they are easily able to engage in a season three or four musicians for amounts ranging from $200 to $500. Throughout the West and South it is principally to the efforts of these clubs that the cities owe the possibility of hearing the more or less well known artists.

The managers of these artists who are yearly brought from Europe and it much easier to handle with profit the business of a player or singer satisfied with $300 or $400 a concert and able to appear frequently. One popular contralto is able to sing seven times a week and travel between concerts. She has been known to give two song recitals in one day and to make a short trip to the second city between the matinee and the evening performances.

The singers in the $2,000 class, of whom there are very few today, are rarely able to sing more than twice or three times a week. The manager who works on a percentage of the sums paid to the singer is generally able to earn more from seven concerts a week at moderate fees than from three at much higher prices.

A popular singer who is willing to give concerts at from $300 to $400 is profitable to a manager. There is much less difficulty in placing him or her. To mention the sum of $2,000 to one of these organizations, however, is to precipitate a virulent attack of cold feet.

There are every year fewer managers in the smaller cities willing to guarantee a certain large sum for a concert. That fashion of doing business was popular several years ago, but there were too many unsuccessful outcomes of this kind of business daring.

The prima donna came, had a good house due to the hard work of the manager and went away with a fat fee guaranteed to her. Then the manager wailed fit to try to make up all the expenses and came out at the little end of the horn usually.

Rich men and women used to go to the rescue of the manager, but they grew weary, after a few years. The result of these losses has been to make the managers careful to the point of cynicism when it comes to a matter of guarantees.

FIRE IN PRINCESS ANNE.

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Valuable Property in Somerset Town.

The fire which occurred in Princess Anne last Tuesday morning did damage which is variously estimated at from $20,000 to $40,000, the most conservative estimate being about $18,000, with insurance of about half that amount. The fire was first discovered in the large frame building, at the corner of Main and Prince William streets, which belongs to Mrs. William H. Ross. The property was occupied by Oscar F. Jones, grocer; T. J. Smith & Co., druggists; A. J. Huffington & Son, grocers, and H. C. Waller, hardware.

The flames soon caught to two frame buildings, adjoining, belonging to Mrs. Mary E. Pitta, of Philadelphia, and they were soon in ashes. By heroic efforts on the part of the fire department, the Peoples Bank and W. O. Lankford's department store were saved. The loss is as follows:

The Ross property, $4,000; insurance, $2,500.

T. J. Smith & Co., loss, $4,000; insurance, $2,700.

Oscar F. Jones, loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,000.

H. C. Waller, loss, $800.

A. J. Huffington & Son, loss, $400; insurance, $200.

The Pitta buildings were occupied by J. S. Leary & Son on the first floor, whose loss is $2,000, with an insurance of $1,100, and on the third floor by Manokin Lodge, No. 100, A. F. & A. M., whose loss is $800, with an insurance of $250.

The house was occupied also by Mrs. Jennie R. Jones as a dwelling and millinery store, whose loss is $500, with no insurance.

Assistance was asked for from Salisbury, and the fire department quickly responded to an alarm which was turned in shortly after 4 o'clock; and one of the engines, with the necessary equipment of hose, reels, etc., was loaded on a special train sent down from Delmar, but before the train started advice were received that the fire was under control.

The Ladies Orchestra of Boston, who have been engaged for this season by the management of the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City, will give a benefit concert Thursday evening, August 22. The musical renditions of this Orchestra have been highly complimented and this will furnish a good opportunity for Salisburyans to hear some good music. Admission 50 cents.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

To Be Opened Here. Eastern Shore College To Afford Facilities For Those Who Desire Professional Training.

It has been the object of the Eastern Shore College from the first, to ultimately urge upon the people of our Shore the necessity of a State Normal Department in Salisbury the same as at Washington College. The management said "make good in other lines and then ask the reasoning and progressive citizens for a long and strong pull for a Normal Department."

The hour has come when, in the judgment of the leading people, it is best to begin the agitation of the subject which means so much to the city, its tributary country, and especially to its young people and its schools.

The question is often asked "would a State Normal Department in connection with the Eastern Shore College be patronized? Is there sufficient demand for same? Is it feasible or practical?"

In answer to the above questions we might state that within the last three years over one hundred applicants for enrollment in such departments have been made at the above institution without soliciting and no advertising along that line. We believe that the College will be able to show a petition signed by at least five hundred active and prospective teachers requesting the establishment of such a department.

The greatest object for its establishment would be its accessibility. Now, those who desire a professional training must journey a considerable distance, which means heavy expense for travel and higher prices for board. These are the heaviest items of the expense bill incidental to obtaining an education, and as teachers are in moderate circumstances, some concession along this line is due them. Then, by having a Normal Department in Salisbury, teachers or prospective teachers, could drop in during their vacations and thus be enabled to obtain advance credits on their course.

"We should have, eventually," says Prof. Skinner, "an annual enrollment of one hundred and fifty to two hundred from our Eastern shore alone. This number of teachers should at least, attend some professional school each year, and as this is naturally the

ACCIDENT AVERTED

Officer James Crouch Saves South Bound Express By His Timely Aid.

James Crouch, Salisbury's efficient night watchman, was the means of averting what in all probability would have been another railroad horror but for his timely assistance. While patrolling his beat early Sunday morning near the head of Main street he heard cries of distress coming across Humphreys Lake. Officer Crouch realizing at once what the trouble was lost no time in reaching the scene where he found a horse and wagon with their owner Mr. Lemuel Brittingham securely fastened between the ties of the railroad bridge. In some unaccountable manner the horse had managed to safely walk the bridge for a distance of about 10 feet before it fell through. The struggle of the horse to extricate itself awoke Mr. Brittingham who had evidently been asleep. Officer Crouch knew it was about time for the south bound express and rushing up the track he flagged the train which was just bearing down on them from the station.

With the assistance of the railroad men, the horse was finally gotten from between the ties, and the wagon pushed out on the track, not, however, until after the train was delayed for nearly an hour. The train men were of the opinion if the engine had struck the horse and wagon jammed in between the ties that the whole train would probably have been wrecked and thrown into the Lake. There were quite a large number of passengers on the train and in the sleepers, and the presence of mind of the night watchman probably saved several human lives.

school they should attend, it will be the pleasure of the management to place such men on the Faculty as shall command the respect and confidence of the educators and the teachers. We already have men on the Faculty who have had years of professional training and active teaching experience in professional schools.

The Salisbury schools would furnish admirable "Model Schools," and would, we are assured, be thrown open for such a purpose. Of course the management would naturally keep in mind the old adage that "Talk comes from little acorns grow," and be content to have all other Normal schools, with a small beginning and a healthy growth.

The Eastern Shore College will open for the Fall Term on September 9. Prof. Skinner states that the enrollment will be larger than last year.

COUNTY CONVENTION

Of Republicans. No County Ticket Named. Ratify Names Of Those Selected For State Convention.

The Republicans of Wicomico held their County Convention in the Court House here Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Elmer H. Walton was chosen chairman, and Messrs. W. B. Tilghman and W. Bomberger secretaries. There being no opposing delegations, the Committee on Credentials was dispensed with. A Committee on Resolutions was named, which consisted of one delegate from each district. This committee also proved to be superfluous, as they were informed that no resolutions were wanted, and that the only purpose for which the delegates were assembled was to ratify the names of the persons who had already been selected to go to the State Convention. Whereupon the following names were presented to the delegates for their ratification: W. H. Jackson, E. S. Adkins, Wm. M. Day, John H. Tomlinson, W. B. Miller, Elmer H. Walton, Alan F. Benjamin, John W. Kelley, H. James Bounds, S. H. Larmore, W. B. Tilghman, Isaac H. White and M. A. Humphreys. After declaring these gentlemen elected as delegates to the State Convention, the convention adjourned until Tuesday, Sept. 3d, unless sooner called by the chairman. This action was decided upon Thursday last week at a caucus held in the office of Congressman W. H. Jackson.

If the reports are true which were given out by some of those who were present at this caucus, Mr. Jackson was not over-enthusiastic nor profuse in his offers to furnish the necessary campaign "literature," and some pretty plain talk was indulged in. Whether this be true or not, Mr. Jackson being the "whole show," so far as the Republican party in Wicomico is concerned, what he says goes, and the convention adjourned until after the meeting of the State Convention, which would enable him to "size up" the situation, see the drift of things in the State, and whether the proper "hymn" would be given out or not.

Now that the State Convention has met and the "hymn" been given out and tune selected—different from the one supposed to have been advocated by Mr. Jackson—there is no longer any doubt but his voice will now be heard, in harmonious strain, singing with other Republican singers the latest Republican song, entitled "Get There, Gaither!"

It is pretty generally recognized that Mr. Jackson's voice, like his pocketbook, has had much care and training, and will stand a pretty high pitch and considerable strain; and, while the "tune" was changed by "Band-master" Mudd at the last moment, there is no doubt that Mr. Jackson had the "music sheets" furnished him in advance and had already done a little preliminary practice. Mr. Jackson has gained quite a reputation as a singer in the Republican choir on the Eastern Shore, and it remains to be seen how his voice will train with other singers of reputation throughout the State.

Mr. Jackson's taste for music runs to the rag-time and camp-meeting variety, and was perhaps gained by his close contact with that class of our citizens who are known to be partial to this kind of music, are highly "colored" in every way, and constitute the Congressman's principal political asset.

When "Uncle Bill" begins to sing the vernal voter begins to dance, and then is seen the reversal of that old adage, "Those who dance must pay the piper," and it is made to read, "Those who pipe must pay the dancers." This is his "strangle hold," and it is always conceded that he will be willing to pay the dancers and furnish the campaign "literature" whenever his own image is reflected in Republican party politics.

Miss Wisele Adkins Entertains Number Of Young Friends.

Miss Wisele Adkins gave a reception Thursday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Adkins, North Division street, in honor of the young lady visitors to Salisbury. Vocal and piano solos, reading and recitations and other amusements were indulged in.

Vocal solos were sung by Miss Laura Elliott, Miss Nora Stoll and Mr. William Sheppard. Piano solos rendered by Miss Ethel Stouffer, Miss Wisele Adkins and Miss Nina Venables. Several readings were given by Miss Taylor, Mr. Short and Mr. Lewis.

A "musical romance" was next indulged in and furnished much entertainment. Prizes were awarded Miss Lotta Smith and Mr. Claude Dorman; after which refreshments, consisting of ices, cakes and other confections, were served in the spacious dining-room, which was tastefully decorated in yellow. Miss Addie Waller and Miss Nina Venables assisted the Misses Adkins in the dining-room.

Following were the guests present: Misses Ethel Stouffer, Walkersville, Md.; Mildred Hudson, Clayton, Del.; Lotta Smith, Cambridge, Md.; Mary Osborne, Nora Stoll, Rowe, Galbreath, Mary Foster, of Baltimore; Rebecca Smith, Margaret Todd, Laura Elliott, Alice Waller, Addie Waller, Lillian Mitchell, Nina Venables, Alice Hill, May Powell and Jessie Rae Taylor; Messrs. Walter Short, Georgetown, Del.; Ward Lewis, Westminster, Md.; Vickery, William Sheppard, George Hill, Frank Adams, Ralph Gjer, Charles Bethie, Howard Runk, Claude Dorman, Wallace White, George Stokes and Homer White.

STREAM CAN RISE NO HIGHER THAN SOURCE

Says The Sun Of Baltimore, Editorially. Who Is Behind The Republican State Nominees? Who Flagrantly Boasted How He Won The Eastern Shore Last Year? Gaither's Nomination Characterized As Putting Clean Collar On A Dirty Shirt. Republican Platform A Failure.

The Republican State Convention gave an excellent illustration Wednesday of the ease and celerity with which a State ticket may be nominated when party leaders select the nominees and delegates unhesitatingly ratify the choice of the managers. Representatives Mudd and Jackson, who dominated the convention, have cause to congratulate themselves upon the deference which the delegates accorded to their judgment. It was flattering in the extreme and in striking contrast to the spirit of individualism and independence which pervaded the Democratic convention last week. The delegates to the Democratic convention smashed more than one slate before they made a nomination. They insisted upon a searching examination into the qualifications and availability of the several excellent gentlemen whose claims to the nomination were presented to them. They exercised their own judgment and reached their own conclusions independently of dictation or advance selections by their leaders. Our Republican friends have had the guidance of Representatives Mudd and Jackson, who thoughtfully mapped out the work of the convention and saved the delegates the labor and worry of making their own choice. Thus their convention did its work without friction and without delay, just as a well oiled and properly adjusted mechanism turns with smoothness and precision.

The convention nominated Mr. George R. Gaither, of Baltimore, for Governor. Mr. Gaither is a man of many fine qualities. In Baltimore he is held in high esteem and throughout the State he is recognized as an earnest, able man, one of the type of men whose identification with the Republican party in Maryland gives it a standing which it would not possess if it were judged by the self-appointed leaders in control of that party. But, unless all signs fail, the people of Maryland are no longer content to support a party because one man on its ticket may be objectionable. Capability and integrity should be essential qualities, of course, in every aspirant for public office. But there is another and equally important consideration; namely, what are the influences behind the candidacy of aspirants? What are the influences which will surround them if they should be elected to office?

With the State tickets of the Democratic and Republican parties presenting for the suffrage of the voters of Maryland men of the type of Judge Crothers and Mr. Gaither, the issue will turn largely upon the question of the forces and influences affecting each of the candidates for Governor and the environment of the man who will be elected Governor. Men of all parties and of no party, independents as well as partisans, will analyze the situation not only as it is today, but as it will be when a new State administration is installed. It is a time-honored maxim that a stream can rise no higher than its source. The Republican convention nominated Mr. Gaither and the candidates for the other State offices. But who shaped the course of the convention? Who determined the action? This is a vital issue. If Representative Mudd and Representative Jackson controlled the convention, as appearances and developments clearly indicate, then the people will assume, rightly or wrongly it need not be discussed now, that these leaders will be the dominant influence with the Republican administration if the Republican party should triumph at the polls next November. One of the most important questions, therefore, for the consideration of voters is whether the interests of Maryland will be served best by a ticket which, if elected, Representatives Mudd and Jackson were chiefly instrumental in putting into power.

Mr. Gaither enjoys the respect of the people of Baltimore, irrespective of party. He is a good citizen. He has served the people acceptably in public office. Mr. Mudd and Mr. Jackson have manifested little sagacity in securing his nomination for Governor. But this is an old device in Maryland politics. In other days the late Colonel Marshall characterized such tactics, when employed by politicians of another party—practical politicians of the school of Representatives Mudd and Jackson—as putting "the clean collar on the dirty shirt." With all respect for Mr. Gaither, it may be said that the Republican leaders who are responsible for his nomination are not above using his name for the purpose of diverting public attention from the soiled political garments of their party. Messrs. Mudd and Jackson are not known to the people of Maryland as though of spotless integrity personally and politically, can be associated intimately in a party way with them or be under political obligations to them without raising a doubt as to the character of the influence which they will exert.

The Republican platform sounds well, with its declaration against debauching the electorate. But as with the nominees, so also with the platform; the chief consideration is the source from which these declarations emanate. Who are the men under the platform and behind it? One of the political partners who nominated Mr. Gaither and subscribes, of course, to the party's formal declaration of principles, and indorses opposition to the purchase of votes, boasted openly not long ago of the success with which he won the Eastern Shore from the Democrats. Naturally the methods by which he overcame Democratic opposition will be an issue in the campaign, and he will be pressed to explain how he achieved his victory. That his explanation will add strength to the platform declaration in favor of a corrupt practices act, is open to question. And as the stream can rise no higher than its source, the people of Maryland may even feel skeptical whether a declaration from this quarter can be genuine. Whether or not this is a case of real reform—whether the two most "practical" Republican politicians in Maryland are sincere or only posing in their declaration for pure elections—the people of Maryland should see to it that they live up to that declaration. It may be assumed, in the light of very impressive statements made by Governor Warfield, that he will use the whole power of the State to guard the ballot box from corrupt influences from any and every quarter.

The plank on a primary election law for the whole State is worse than a disappointment. It is a weak and insincere piece of political bluffing that cannot be expected to deceive any intelligent voter. It does not possess even the strength of a long-distance promise, for it does not promise anything in point of fact. Its vague, evasive and dull generalities is in striking contrast with the direct language of the Democratic platform, which "instructs and commands" the State Central Committee to provide for holding popular primaries for candidates for the United States Senate on or before the State election of this year. This command will put this great reform in operation at once, and it is the most notable and important political achievement and performance in Maryland in the present generation. For that, if nothing else, the Democratic party deserves well of the people of this State. In the face of this performance, the criticism made by the Republican platform is weak and patently insincere. If there is any "false pretense and fraud," it is clearly in the Republican platform, which does not dare to match the Democratic declaration, but simply talks indefinitely about what it "favors" in the dim and distant future. Why didn't they do something better or even equally good, instead of merely attempting to belittle what the Democrats did? There are probably two reasons why they did not. One is that they really do not desire popular nominations at all, because they are afraid of complications with the negro voters, who constitute the bulk of the Republican party strength in Maryland. Another reason is that if they had followed the Democratic example, their Senatorial candidates would have been unmasked, and if Messrs. Mudd and Jackson had been forced into the open, the State ticket would have been still more handicapped by the burden of carrying them along with it.

To sum up: The Republican State Convention has nominated for Governor a man whose ability and integrity are recognized by the people of Maryland, without respect to party. This nomination was made by a convention dominated by influences which the people may have abundant reason to fear and distrust. This convention, in respect to the ticket it has placed in the field and the platform which it adopted, was controlled autocratically by Representatives Mudd and Jackson. There was a time when the Democratic party was under the sway of bosses, who ruled it with a rod of iron. The Republican party has that unenviable distinction today. In fact, the two parties seem to have reversed their former positions. The Democratic party, as its State Convention demonstrated conclusively, is absolutely unbosomed and free. The Republican party is under the domination of two men who dictate what its members and conventions shall do. To this dictatorship all Republicans, high and low, influential or obscure—from the Attorney-General of the United States to the humblest ward worker—are forced to bow.

Judge Crothers was the choice of a convention of Democrats who nominated him after free and full discussion, without dictation from any source. He was the choice of the Democratic party and was selected by methods which the people approve. If he is elected, the only influence which has a claim on him will be the people.

After a full consideration of the different methods by which the candidates of the two conventions were nominated, the men and influences behind them, and the claims which can be made upon them by reason of these influences, it remains for thoughtful citizens, at this, the first stage of the campaign, to use their own best judgment as to which ticket would best promote the interests of the State.

National Commander Army and Navy Union

Says: "I Have No Hesitation In Endorsing Peruna As An Efficient Remedy For Catarrh."

J. EDWIN BROWNE.

J. Edwin Browne, National Commander Army and Navy Union of U.S.A., 410 11th street, N.E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I have no hesitation in endorsing your Peruna as a most efficient cure for catarrh. My own experience and that of many friends who have been benefited by its use recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

Says Peruna Saved His Life.
"Peruna has cured me of catarrh. I can work all day, eat hearty, sleep well, and my digestion is all right. I was not able to do a day's work last year. I candidly feel that using your medicine was the means of saving my life. I find it is just what it is recommended to be, and I speak in highest praise of Peruna. I shall recommend it to all my friends."—Alvis A. Nelson, Virginia, Va.

When any one has catarrh of the head or throat they know it. Snuffing, sneezing, coughing, spitting, gagging, choking—these are some of the symptoms. When any one has catarrh of the bronchial tubes they are not quite so apt to recognize their trouble as catarrh, although there are a great many people who begin to appreciate the fact that catarrh of the bronchial tubes is sure to create a cough. Catarrh produces symptoms according to the place in the body where the catarrh is located. Catarrh deranges the function of any organ. If the catarrh be in the stomach it produces dyspepsia.

The Family Relies on Peruna.
A. Howitt Nickerson, Capt. U. S. Army, Adjutant General on General McCook's staff, writes from the Census Building, Washington, D. C., as follows: "It affords me great pleasure to recommend Peruna as a most excellent tonic with many medicinal qualities which assist nature in overcoming the various ills with which the human family is often afflicted, and is always in danger."

Relieves Mind and Body.
Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basketball Team, writes: "When body and mind alike were weary and refused to work, a few doses of Peruna restored lost strength and invigorated quicker and more permanently than anything I know."

"As a general thing, I have been opposed to what are known as patent medicines, but Peruna has long since overcome this feeling. It is now, as it has been for a long time, a well established family medicine with us, upon which we rely to give tired nature substantial restoration."

Terrific Case of Indigestion.
Mr. Donald Robb, Jr., 16 Wrights Ave., Halifax, Nova Scotia, Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger, Independent Order of Foresters, writes: "While on a visit to Boston I must have eaten something that did not agree with my stomach, as a terrible case of indigestion followed. Peruna was recommended to me, and after using three bottles I was entirely cured. I thereupon recommended Peruna to any one suffering with stomach trouble."

Every Trace of Catarrh Gone.
Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City, for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 10th Ave. He is Past Deputy of Grand Knights of Regina Cella Council, Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows: "For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh, that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was ruined. Peruna not only relieved my food, indigestion bothered me at times also. I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Agreeable and Effective Tonic.
General John Finn, Washington, D. C., veteran soldier of the civil war, a prominent Grand Army man and commander of the oldest post in the United States, John A. Rawlins Post No. 1, department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, writes: "Peruna was recommended to me by many of my associates and I have given it a fair trial. Have found it a most agreeable and effective tonic, pleasant soothing, and leaves one free from the deleterious effects produced by the many nostrums now on the market. I have suffered from catarrhal affections the past winter and have found Peruna most beneficial and commend it for what it has done for me."

St. Helena.

Charles Quincy Tarrar, writing in the Outing Magazine for July, gives a very remarkable example of how a desert island may be transformed into a veritable paradise. He cites the island of St. Helena, which was a barren volcanic waste at the time Napoleon was sent there. The following paragraph shows what a remarkable change came over the island at the arrival of the English:

"The Englishmen were there, however, to stay and for duty, and though they had to tend to St. Helena for every drop of water they used, they set about a beginning of making something grow toward sustaining life, or at least modifying its conditions. Gradually, by slow degrees but surely, their efforts were successful. Kindly nature requires but little encouragement, and the dews fell and crystallized and the herbage and shrubbery spread, and little trees took root and shed their seed, and the mountain in the long course of years, became largely covered, until at last this one-time waterless heap of waste products of a lifeless volcano became able to provide millions upon millions of gallons of water, which is stored in its caverns for the ships that pass to and from the Cape of Good Hope and to Australia, and beneath the shades of unobtrusive terraces, high up in the cool air, the inviolated soldier from tropical Africa and India and the Orient finds a restoring sanatorium which has brought back to health and life many a weary soul and stricken body. Truly there is magic in the rain and healing in the forest!"

TERRIBLE ITCHING AND SCRATCHING

On Hands, Feet and Face—Caused by Poison Oak and Ivy—Was Unable to Rest Night or Day—Developed into Eczema, which Affected Whole of System—Suffered 4 Years Without Relief.

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"A healthy person does not heed statements made by sick people, but if such persons suffer from poisonous weeds, a remedy is anxiously desired. I suffered severely for four years from poison oak and ivy. My condition was serious. I could not rest night or day and was free from a terrible itching sensation from scratching on my hands between the fingers, my feet and face. I got the best of advice and treatment from six different doctors who were anxious to cure me. One of the doctors told me that when the poison was cured, eczema (a worse disease) would follow, which became true. My eyesight was affected, and I went to a hospital especially for the eyes and got relief, but eczema got a terrible hold on my system. "I was about to give up all hope of ever being cured, yet I could not be reconciled to such a result, as my health had been good and free from any disease all my life. My age is seventy-three years. In my extremity I happened to read of Cuticura Remedies for skin diseases, and wrote you to please send me a supply of the Cuticura Remedies. I was anxious about my condition and desired to evade any spurious imitation. This was in July, 1905, and I was instructed to call on a certain druggist for the Cuticura Remedies. I brought five boxes Cuticura Ointment; also some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Pills as I required them. In four weeks' treatment my face was smooth, and the itching gradually left my hands and feet, and I could rest comfortably, for which I am grateful and happy. W. Field Cowen, Justice of the Peace and Notary Public, Hardy, Del., May 15, 1906."

Weather At Long Range.

New discoveries in meteorology, helped by telegraphic facilities as yet nonexistent, but soon promised, are likely before long to render it possible to make reasonably accurate weather forecasts for a week or even a fortnight ahead.

There are, it is found, certain centers of action, as the experts call them, which in a geographical sense govern the weather of the world. One of these centers is in the Azores, for example, and another is in the neighborhood of Iceland. When the barometer falls in Iceland, there is warmer weather over Central and Northwestern Europe; whereas a rising barometer in Iceland is followed by falling temperature in Europe. When the barometer rises in the Azores it falls in Iceland, and vice versa. These, then, are centers of action reciprocally related. In like manner a center over Siberia and another in the Bering Sea appear to interact. A low barometer in the region of the Bering Sea means a warm winter in the United States, such as the winter of 1905-06, causing southern winds to prevail, and preventing the formation of cold waves. On the other hand, a high barometer in Bering Sea brings cold.

Barometric changes in these centers of action are always very slow; so they can be followed from day to day by the telegraph. Cablegrams from the Siberian center and from the Azores are received daily at the Weather Bureau in Washington; and in the near future they will be obtained also from Iceland and from the Alaska coast. In addition, meteorological observations will be transmitted by wireless from the islands of the Aleutian chain, and from vessels following the Great Circle route across the Pacific. With this information regularly supplied, forecasts can be made at least a week in advance, telling whether it is too warm or cold, wet or dry, and indicating the probable duration of periods of abnormal weather.—Sel.

Good Roads.

It has been said that the roads of the neighborhood indicate the character of the farmers living near them.

If they are good and are kept in passable condition, they show plainly that the farmers have a spirit of enterprise which insures prosperity to the neighborhood. If they are never worked, the chances are that the inhabitants of the neighborhood are not prospering as they should or else are all renters and have no interest in the community other than the number of bushels of grain the different farms are capable of producing.

With the introduction of the road drag, it is an easy matter to keep the public highways in a good condition with a very little expense. In most sections of the country, each farmer agrees to keep the road along his farm dragged after each rain. Generally each farmer has a drag and it is a very easy task to keep the roads in first class condition. In other sections a man is hired by each township to keep the roads dragged and is paid for his services out of a fund provided for by taxation.

The newest method of keeping the road in condition is that adopted by the merchants in several different towns in Iowa. They employ a man and team to keep the principal roads leading to the town dragged for ten miles every direction. The result is, farmers will trade in the town to which there is a good road. In one case, farmers within three miles of one town drive eight miles to the other town to do their trading because the roads are good all the way.—Journal of Agriculture.

SULPHUR BRINGS HEALTH.

Purifies The Blood And Clears Up The Complexion.

Everybody needs to take Sulphur at this season. Nothing like it to purify the blood, clear up the complexion and remove "that tired feeling." But the only way to take it is in liquid form. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur taken internally is the best Spring tonic. Applied externally Hancock's Liquid Sulphur quickly cures Eczema, Tetter, and all Skin Diseases. Hancock's the only Liquid Sulphur Ointment, removes pimples, Blackheads and Sores and gives a beautiful, soft, velvet skin. Your druggist sells it. It cured Edward D. Herring, of Frederick, Md., of a bad case of Eczema and he writes: "My face is as smooth as an infant's."

Senator Platt, on his seventy-third birthday, was being congratulated by some reporters at the Oriental Hotel at Manhattan Beach.

"Life," said the Senator, "is a fleeting thing. The longest life passes like a dream. Nothing is so amazing, so bewildering, as time's swift flight."

He smiled. "Imagine," he said, "how impressed with time's flight old Henry Skerrett, of Oswego, was. Henry ran away from his family a year after his marriage. That was about 1850, and a few months ago, taking up a local paper in Chicago, the deserter read in the personal column.

"If Henry Skerrett, who twenty-three years ago deserted his poor wife and babe, will return home said babe will be glad to knock the stuffing out of him."—New York Tribune.

The Nations Nursery.

Once a year many state and government fish hatcheries release hundreds of thousands of little fishes which they have carefully bred and tenderly reared until, in the opinion of the superintendents, they are old enough to care for themselves.

A certain number of them are tagged, so that when, later on, they are taken in the toils, it may be seen how they have fared, and whether or not they have developed as they should.

Once year, also, some hundreds of colleges release some thousands of their "fr" after four years of training intended to fit them to fight the battle of life successfully. The date of graduation is the tag by which they are identified; and both to classmates and outsiders no feature of college re-union is more interesting—or more pathetic, at times—than the progress, or lack of it, which "the boys" have made. Some who gave great promise are still "small fry"; others have become "whales."

It is not the fault of the colleges that all do not become "whales," and certainly the students enjoy advantages over their funny brothers in having no end of good advice thrust upon them, and the highest ideals held constantly before their eyes. A brief glimpse at some of the characterizations of college aims by college presidents will show how true this is.

President Elliott of Harvard wants men "who aspire through efficiency to serve well their fellow men."

President Finley of the College of the City of New York says "the college is under obligation to make men who will, so far as their abilities allow, embody and express the best aspirations of the race."

President Hadley of Yale seeks to make "men who will use their brains for the benefit of the public."

President Jordan of Leland Stanford urges the training which will give the greatest abundance of life and the greatest individual and social efficiency.

These are broad and noble aims, and it is peculiarly significant that so many college presidents should have touched upon this same point—the value of public service as contrasted with merely selfish achievement.—Ex.

India's sacred fires have not all been extinguished. The most ancient which still exists was consecrated twelve centuries ago, in commemoration of the voyage made by the Parsees when they emigrated from Persia to India. The fire is fed five times every two hours with sandalwood and other fragrant materials combined with very dry fuel.

THE CALL OF THE SEA.

"The water is fine; come in!"

This is the call of the sea, the generous invitation of Old Neptune to partake of the delights of his realm, and it sounds distinct from each of the points in the greatest chain of seashore resorts in the world—the wave-washed New Jersey coast.

Gay Atlantic City; witching Wildwood; New Cape May, in the first flush of its rejuvenation; Sea Isle City, Ocean City, with their smaller sister-resorts nearby; Asbury Park and Long Branch, where sylvan shades meet incoming billows—each echo the call to young and old: "Come one, come all!"

These great resorts are within easy access of every section of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware by the fine service of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Its many through express trains to Philadelphia from North, South, East and West land passengers in Philadelphia, whence Atlantic City is but one hour by steam trains from Market Street Wharf; an hour and a-half by electric trains, and only eighty minutes from Broad Street Station via the Delaware River Bridge all-rail route. Cape May and Wildwood are only about one hundred minutes from Market Street Wharf or two hours from Broad Street Station.

The fine service of express trains maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad between Philadelphia and Long Branch, Elberon, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Spring Lake, Sea Girt and Beach Haven not only serves the convenience of the casual but meets the requirements of the daily traveler.

Excursion tickets, with liberal return limits, may be obtained to any of these popular summering places at reasonably low rates, enabling all who feel the need of a change an opportunity for recreation by the ocean-side.

Full details of rates and time of trains may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

A SPANISH THEATRE

Customs that Seem Odd to the Foreigner.

ABSENCE OF GALLERIES

Winter is the Open Coughing Season and Actors Have to Scream Above the Voices of the Storm—The Vaudeville Houses—"La Machichia" in Madrid.

Theatre going in Spain is attended in the winter season by slight physical discomforts. The result is a strain on both audience and actors.

The habit of going muffled to the eyes as soon as the winter mounas come on, even if the weather is not at all cold, has a bad effect on the nose too strong lungs of the Spanish people. The result is that they all cough a great deal. The theatres are not heated, and once inside the audience begins a coughing chorus, says the New York Times.

The theatre buildings, as a rule, are built like bleak places, the sole exceptions being the homes of Italian opera, such as the Teatro Real in Madrid. Shows begin late and wind up late, too. For instance, in the Teatro de San Fernando in Seville, the best of the show houses of the place, the show begins a little after 9 o'clock.

They gave a piece one night they called "Marie Antoinette." It started out at the customary hour. At 12 o'clock the fourth act of six had been finished, and the two to come were longer than any of the others.

Tickets are sold on the sidewalk from a window in the front wall, the prospective audience gathering out there. No line is formed. It is a case of first to the window first served.

Speculators are there, too, but just why is not clear. They sell tickets just as cheap as the theatre, but like their American brethren they manage to get the best in the house.

Seville is not so large a place that it gets the best shows, but the company that did "Marie Antoinette" was a very fair stock company from Madrid. The worst feature was a young woman who took the part of the Dauphin. She was so ungraceful in knee skirts and had so homely a face that the audience laughed even in the saddest parts when she swung around suddenly on them.

In passing it may be mentioned that a butaca or orchestra circle seat in Seville costs something like two puestas seventy-five centimos, of fifty cents, more or less, American. That includes the tax, which has to be paid everywhere. The Government gets ten centimos.

The vaudeville houses in Madrid are many and the shows are very good and very cheap. A hard worked comic opera company gives playlets of one act, filled with dancing and singing specialties.

There are matinees starting sometimes at four o'clock in the afternoon; sometimes at 6 o'clock. They last an hour.

The same company starts in at 9:15 in the evening customarily and gives three one hour pieces. That is, they are designed to last that long, but with encores they ordinarily go fifteen minutes longer. That brings it well up to 1:30 in the morning when the theatre gets out.

Tickets for good seats are very cheap. A butaca in the Teatro da Price, one of the best in Madrid, costs 1 peseta for a single section, less than 20 cents. The first show attracts very few, the house being almost empty. There is therefore very little coughing done.

Some persons buy tickets for the three sections at once. Between the acts the ushers take tickets for the next show.

For the first two sections, the play, let and the inevitable cinematograph are the attractions. The star feature is kept for the final section, because Madrid is a late to bed town and the final instalment is always played to a crowded house.

The calm rudeness of staring one another out of countenance differs from the American variety in that the men crowd into the aisles and get short range views by opera glass of those near by.

The custom of standing up between acts is general in Spain. The theatregoers stay with their backs to the stage until the curtain is fairly up. Then there is crowding, discomfort and confusion.

The Spanish theatre ticket is a queer slip of flimsy paper. One end has a check for entering the theatre, the other end one that is to be taken off when one gets to his seat. The rest is the property of the holder.

The original ticket is sometimes eight inches long. Even in the Royal Theatre the tickets are like that.

The inevitable vender of lottery tickets parades the aisles between the acts crying his wares. Newspapers are hawked in the theatres too, as well as magazines and candies.

The theatres mostly have no galleries. There are many seats on the floor. Then there is a horseshoe ring a few feet above these, on the outside of them, where seats are more expensive, costing about 75 cents each. Away in back, and in the rear of the nearer seats, too, are the private seats. But all are on the same floor. There are few theatres except the very best which have galleries.

A Faithful Friend.
"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1873, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this faithful friend," says E. S. Nichols of Oakland, Ind. The same man has used a remedy for thirty-five years he knows its value and is competent to speak of it. For sale at Toulson Drug Store.

THE VIRTUE OF LEANNESS.

A Parisian Writer Regards Short People With Suspicion.

"Let me have men about me that are fat," Shakespeare makes Caesar say to Marc Anthony, when confiding to him his mistrust of the "lean and hungry" Cassius. But, according to a Parisian writer, it is the fat people who should be regarded with most suspicion. He has just written a book to prove that an abundance of adipose tissue in man or woman, far from indicating a frankly less generous disposition, often serves as a mask for rascality and cunning. He cites numerous examples from contemporary French criminal annals to support his contention that the most successful swindlers are generally fat people, and that their victims among the lean are legion.

Mme. Guerin Casbron, the heroine of the fraudulent matrimonial agency which furnished Parisian sensation, is as rotund as a beer barrel. Mme. Therese Humbert, whose phantom millions long enabled her to revel in the most costly luxuries, is another of his examples of embonpoint, combined with dishonesty.

Houliaine, the banker, who was gifted with such rare talents for transferring money from other people's pockets into his own, was a man of aldermanic proportions.

According to the French author, not only are fat folk more likely to be dishonest than thin ones, but their obesity renders it easier for them to perpetrate frauds. This, he says, is because of the mistaken notion that rotundity of figure is an indication that its possessor has a clear conscience; whereas in most cases, it is the result of dealing dishonestly with one's stomach.

On the other hand, the lean person, he contends, is naturally less disposed to be dishonest, and because of the suspicion which his slim figure arouses, finds it harder to carry out financial swindles on a large scale.

Garment Supporter. Inventors seem especially anxious to produce trouser hangers, coat hangers, clothes presser, etc., for the benefit of the fastidious member of the male sex, but they have utterly forgotten to attempt anything in this line for the fairer sex. Women are more careful with their clothes than men, and are equally anxious to procure devices which will keep their garments in shape when not in use. A resident of Leipzig, Germany has observed this and has designed the one shown in the illustration. It consists of an arm pivoted in a bracket on the wall or door. Suspended by a hook on the free end of the arm is a foldable ring, from which skirts and petticoats can be supported and prevented from creasing, as they invariably do when placed in chests or bureau drawers.

Vulgarity and Sex. Vulgarity, again, is certainly commoner among men than women; and indeed when a woman is vulgar, she is apt to display the quality in high perfection. The reason why it is rare among women is that the emotional nature is stronger among women than among men; and thus, where men are ambitious, fond of displaying power, of recognition, women are sympathetic, tender, affectionate subtle; they value relations with others more than performance; they encourage an equality, because they are interested in the person who desires sympathy more than in the aims which he nourishes.

If one's main interest in life is in the personalities that surround one, one is not likely to be tempted by vulgarity; because the essence, again, of vulgarity is that it tends to smother altogether selfless value to material things. A man who pursues wealth, comfort, power, position, is always in danger of vulgarity.—Atlantic Monthly.

Home Remedies. Severe sore throat is often relieved by sipping sweetened water in which there is a pinch of cayenne pepper. Witch hazel is excellent for the eyes, though one should be certain the liquid is absolutely pure before using.

Do not overlook the value of proper and rational exercise. All the muscles of the body must be used to be of value to one.

To Keep Paint White. The best way to clean white paint is to take a soft flannel cloth, dip in warm water, wring out and then dip in a solution of clean bran. The friction of the bran will remove any stain without injuring the paint.

There was a time when dogs did the roasting—at least they kept the meat turning, so it would not burn. "Spit dogs" they were called, and their descendants are called "spits" to this day. Spit dogs were trained to turn the spits on which roasted chickens, beef, ducks and turkeys. The little fellows did their work well. They were never known to let a fowl burn or to snatch a morsel or two from it. As late as 1833 spit dogs were employed.

POPULAR AND PROGRESSIVE PLANK IN DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Chairman Murray Vandiver, of the Democratic State Central Committee, will shortly issue a call for a meeting of the committee for the purpose of making arrangements for holding the Senatorial primaries to which the party is pledged in the platform adopted by the State convention last week. Exactly what plans will be decided upon by the committee are uncertain, but the purpose is declared to be to interpret the resolution in its broadest sense and to arrange the primaries so as to insure as nearly as possible the selection of the Senatorial candidates by the direct vote of the people. Most of the party leaders recognize that this plank of their platform contains the most powerful appeal to the people and presents to the party an issue well calculated to arouse enthusiasm throughout the State. It is contended, therefore, that it will not do to attempt to place upon the language of the resolution any technical construction by which the manifest purpose with which it was drawn and adopted would be defeated. It has been determined that as nearly as possible the primaries shall comply with the spirit of the resolution and that the moral obligation which Governor Warfield says will rest upon the party to elect to the Senate the man securing in the primaries the indorsement of the people shall be recognized. As, however, these primaries are an entirely new proposition, the details of which have not been worked out, it will require considerable thought and consideration to properly make the arrangements for an adequate expression of the voters. The resolution as adopted by the convention "directs and commands" the State Central Committee to take "immediate" steps to arrange for these primaries. It is understood that a call for the meeting will be sent out within the next ten days.

THE INCONSISTENCY OF THE BALTIMORE NEWS.

If there can be anything anywhere more utterly inconsistent than the course of the Baltimore News, in its Editorials of Thursday and Friday of this week, it remains for some other republican, sometime masquerading as a Democrat, to bring the same to light. It will be remembered, by both Democrats and Republicans that in the recent spirited contest for the mayorship in Baltimore City, the News, to the great surprise of everyone, sided with Mahool, the Democratic nominee, as against Timanus, the Republican, and gave as its reason for doing so that the platform and people behind Mahool were preferable to

STRANGE OR CONSUMING FIRE.

Aug. 11, '07. (Lev. 10:1-11.)

Nadab and Abihu were the sons of Aaron, and the nephews of Moses. They had been honored with the priestly office, and performed the functions of the priesthood. On one occasion, while engaged in the service of the sanctuary, they failed to obey the proper order. The Scripture says that they "offered strange fire before the Lord." Whatever that may mean, it was so displeasing to the Almighty that, as the Bible puts it, "there came forth fire from before the Lord, and devoured them, and they died before the Lord." Their "strange fire" was instantly neutralized by "consuming fire" and they fell at the altar as though struck by lightning.

We need not fritter away our time trying to find out what the "strange fire" was. A good many people think on account of what follows, it was intoxication on their part which caused them to take the fire for their offering from some unallowed or common source, rather than from the appointed place, the altar of sacrifice. Whatever it was, it rendered them objects of wrath, and the punishment was instantaneously inflicted. It is for us rather to get the modern lesson and the application to the times in which we live.

And the first lesson is this: The Enemies of the Church are Within Rather than Without.

Nadab and Abihu were priests in good and regular standing when they committed this apparently unpardonable sin. The trouble was conceived and born in the very highest rank of ecclesiastical life. The church is in more danger from its internal foes than from the world outside. The days of persecution, of prison and fagot have gone by, and it is no longer true that the church needs to stand upon the defensive against those who would seek her life. She is in greater danger of fatty degeneration of the heart than of being shot to death by guerrillas. The infidels and unbelievers are not outside they are inside. They bear social positions, and carry the vessels of the Lord. Today, as in Christ's time, if he were to utter his message, it would be one of invitation to the outsiders and of fiery rebuke to the insiders.

The world, the flesh, and the devil are all supposed to be prowling around the gates of Zion seeking to affect an entrance within the borders, and while the membership are straining their eyes at every loophole to discern their approach, lo! the enemy is within the fold, masquerading in the livery of heaven and posing as a messenger. Blasphemers are not as deadly as traitors. Those who make long prayers merely for effect are greater enemies than those who curse the sanctuary. Every mean, underhanded, scheming pretender who is actuated by the motive that the end justifies the means, and carries the practices of the spy, and the slanderer, and the garrulous to the church, is guilty of high treason against the majesty of heaven no matter how necessary may be the object he wishes to obtain. It is Nadab and Abihu over again, desecrating the house of God with strange fire, taken not from the altar of heaven but from the furnace of hell.

And the next lesson is the tendency to substitute strange fire for holy fire. In the case of Nadab and Abihu there was no excuse. The fire was ready, the ritual was simple. When they substituted their own ideas for God's they were guilty of sacrilege and were as quickly punished as if by accident they had touched a live wire.

When conditions are imposed upon the consciences of men that are contrary to the spirit of the Scriptures it is "strange fire." When men read into the Word of God their own imaginings and unchurch all those who will not utter their shibboleth, it is "strange fire." When men assume prerogatives that belong only to the supernatural, and crowning themselves up for church bosses it is "strange fire." When men change their life-long convictions as one changes a garment, and for the love of money or social position espouse the cause they have always antagonized it is "strange fire." When men bow at the altar of the church and with closed eyes repeating "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors" rise up and go forth to take their debtors by the throat, demanding the uttermost farthing, that is to wear a muzzle, and chloroform their principles in order to hold their job that is "strange fire." When women turn the serving circle into school for scandal and roast the absent ones over the slow fires of little tattling, that is "strange fire." When the cooking stove postcity gets full possession of all the faculties of the sisterhood, so that its odors permeate the prayer meeting, and its jealousies and heart burnings are constantly flashing out in snapping eyes and sharp retorts that is "strange fire."

Diarrhoea Cured.
"My father has for years been troubled with diarrhoea, and tried every means possible to effect a cure, without avail," writes John H. Zirkle of Philippi, W. Va.
"He saw Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy advertised in the Philippi Republican and decided to try it. The result is one bottle cured him and he has not suffered with the disease for eighteen months. Before taking this remedy he was a constant sufferer. He is now sound and well, and although sixty years old, can do as much work as a young man." Sold at Toulson's Drug Store.

UNCONVENTIONAL BARBERS.

Men Have Shaved Themselves With Pens, Nails and Pieces of Tin.

An amusing story has been told by a convict, lately released from Parkhurst prison, of how he managed to have a clean shave every day, in the astonishment of the governor and warders, says London Tit-Bits. When employed in the tinsmith's shop of the jail he secreted an ordinary steel pen nib, flattened the nib out, and put on a double edge equal to the best of razors. In the cell he hid the pen on the wall by covering it with a flattened out piece of soap, which happened to be of the same curious drab color as the wall, and when his tin of water came round he reserved a portion for shaving purposes.

The ingenuity of this man calls to mind that of some of our soldiers during the South African war, who, having lost their razors resorted to all sorts of expedients in order to get rid of the stubble which covered their chins, strips of bully-beef tins, rubbed to an edge on stones, were the favorite substitutes for razors, although some of the men had a preference for a bit of glass.

As a matter of fact, the latter is excellent for shaving purposes, provided it is used with care and patience. The writer's barber, an old soldier, demonstrated the capabilities of a piece of ordinary sheet glass by shaving himself with it in ten minutes.

"I offer used such a razor in barracks," he said, "and I might mention that in the military prisons glass razors are very largely used by the prisoners in lieu of the better article."

Impossible though it may sound, the writer has also heard of a man shaving himself with a nail. It was of the ordinary wire pattern about one-eighth of an inch in thickness. With a hammer he flattened it out sufficiently to put an edge on it with a fine file, and added a keenness to his unique razor by rubbing it on a stone. In order to make the job complete he then fixed the "blade" in a small wooden handle, and declared the implement to be equal to the costliest razor.

Probably the most curious shaving competition which ever took place was that conducted at a local hall in the north of London two years ago. The skill of a certain barber having been disputed, he offered to shave ten men with ten penknives in quicker time than any other theatrical artist could perform the same feat with razors.

The challenge was taken up, and on the night of the contest ten men, each with a three day's growth of beard, were arranged down either side of the platform. Assistants inlathed each man in turn, while the barbers performed the shaving operations. The man with the penknife proved so dexterous that he finished his ten men, with but three cuts among them, in six and a half minutes, the other man not only taking half a minute longer, but also cutting five of his victims.

Appropos, by the by, of the Japanese "dry" shaving process, which is being introduced into this country, one of the virtues of which is that after three months only one shave a fortnight is necessary, it might be mentioned that a shave which will last a lifetime is procurable by those who are prepared to pay the price.

It is done by the same kind of electric needle machine as that which removes moles and other blemishes from the face. The operation is a costly one, the fee asked being usually 100 guineas, and is in addition lengthy as well as painful. The use of the machine entirely destroys the roots of the hair, so that the individual who has once submitted to the process is precluded from ever growing a beard again.

Horses' Snowshoes in Dakota.

Horses wear snowshoes in Dakota in winter. Thus equipped, they trot lightly over drifts wherein they would otherwise sink out of sight. In some parts of Dakota the snow lies all winter long eight or ten feet deep. But a crust forms on it, and with snowshoes men skim over it easily. Lately their snowshoes have also skinned over it.

The equine snowshoes are made of boards 20 inches long and 14 inches wide. An indentation to fit the foot is branded on each board with a hot iron shoe, and the contrivance is fastened on to the hoof with an iron clamp and a bolt.

After a day or two of practice a Dakota horse becomes an expert snowshoer.

Valuable Conch Shell.

There are evidently a number of mysterious properties about the conch shell in its relation to Indian religious rites and ceremonies that require investigation.

For instance, a conch with its spirals twisting to the right instead of to the left is supposed to be worth its weight in gold. Some years ago a conch of that description was offered for sale in Calcutta with a reserve price of a lakh of rupees placed on it. It was eventually bought in for $4,000.

Charging the Jury.

At one time the bailiff in charge of an English jury was sworn to keep them "without meat, drink or fire." Justice Maule once gave the classic reply to the bailiff who inquired whether he might grant a jurymen's request for a glass of water. "Well! it is not meat, and I should not call it drink. Yes, you may."

CURES AFTER THE DOCTORS HAVE FAILED.

RHEUMACIDE has cured thousands of cases of Rheumatism after all the doctors and all other means had failed. Rheumacide cured John F. Eline and others, of Baltimore, after the famous specialists of Johns Hopkins Hospital, the greatest hospital in the world, had failed. Rheumacide cured Austin Porcello, of Salem, Va., and D. H. Olmstead, the Norfolk, Va., contractor, after they had spent large sums on other remedies and the doctors had given up hope. Rheumacide cured Mrs. Mary Weiborn, of High Point, N. C., of rheumatism she had endured for 20 years. Rheumacide cured W. R. Hughes, of Atkins, Va., after the most famous New York specialists failed. There is a reason why it cures: Rheumacide is the latest discovery of medical science, and while powerful enough to sweep all germs and poisons out of the blood, it operates by purely natural methods, does not injure the most delicate stomach, and builds up the entire system.

A Square Deal

Remember you can buy Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the original wrapper and their formulas are printed on the wrapper and are complete and correct. You know just what you are getting for and that the ingredients are prepared from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests, while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman's system. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A pure vegetable remedy, which has cured thousands of cases of indigestion, biliousness, and other ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs, and its curative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if it will be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in cases of chronic, hacking coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure advanced cases of advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption. It is the best medicine that can be taken.

Canning California Breezes.

California air condensed into liquid state and packed for export is the latest product of the Golden State to appear up in the market," writes Wilbur Bassett, in Technical World Magazine for July. It is now possible to eat California oranges which have never left California air in their long journey across the continent, and indeed they may be served at one's table with a sauce of the breezes which blow over their native groves.

A comprehensive plant for the manufacture of liquid air and of oxygen has been erected in the city of Los Angeles, which is the only plant in the country manufacturing these products on a commercial scale, with the exception of a New York plant, whose output is confined to surgical and metallurgical uses.

Situated in the heart of a warm, fruit growing country, without natural ice, and separated from its chief markets by tremendous stretches of hot country, the question of refrigeration of fruit cars is one of the most important which the Californian has to consider. If, as is hoped, the product of the Los Angeles factory can be used as a successful substitute for manufactured ice, the market is at hand, and the new industry is ideally located.

Fruit growers, car builders, merchants, shipping agents and packers await with interest the extended trials which are now being instituted. Nasal Catarrh, an inflammation of the delicate membrane lining the air passages, is not cured by any mixtures taken into the stomach. Don's Cream Balm on the nostrils, so that the fevered, swollen tissues are reached at once. Swimming.

Swimming is one of the best of exercises, when practiced in moderation. It calls into play all the muscles of the body, including those of the abdomen, which are often neglected, much to the individual's detriment.

It is, or at least should be, of brief duration, a rule which is essential in the case of all violent exercises.

The action of the water on the skin has a tonic effect, especially in sea-bathing, and with it is combined an air-bath which is of almost equal value. The air bath, it is important to note, should be taken before the water bath and not after it. A gentle run or walk of half a mile or so on the beach or along the shore of the river—with the hand covered if the sun is shining—is a good preliminary to the plunge; but on coming out of the water the bather should at once return to the bath-house and remove the wet clothes and take a vigorous rub with a coarse towel. The habit of sitting on the sand on coming out of the water, which is so common, is wrong and is responsible for many of the bad feelings which batheers experience, and which makes them believe that swimming does not agree with them.

Any form of swimming is good, but the best is the usual way of swimming on the abdomen, making vigorous movements with the legs, and using the arms chiefly to keep the body level and the head above the water.

Swimming for a long stretch in a straight course is less useful as an all-round muscle exercise than making frequent turns. By the plan of turning frequently, the swimmer remains near his companions and is in less danger if taken with a cramp.

Some bathers, especially early in the season, suffer from a chill on coming out of the water, or sometimes an hour or two after. This can usually be prevented by a hot drink—hot milk or clam broth or beef tea—the effect of which is to equalize the circulation.

Bathers who cannot swim—all should learn to swim as speedily as possible—should exercise energetically while in the water, splashing about and making swimming motions.

The superiority of swimming over other forms of exercises, such as running or jumping, has been proved scientifically. Examinations of the blood demonstrates that the number of red corpuscles is markedly increased thereby.—Youth's Companion.

MINISTER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Personal Experience of Aged and Well Beloved Preacher.

No other man in the community is so well beloved or whose words have such weight as the minister who has devoted his life to the service of mankind. In Maryland one of the most noted Methodist ministers in the State suffered severely with rheumatism. He found no relief until a friend recommended RHEUMACIDE. He was so delighted with the results that for the benefit of other sufferers, as a duty to mankind, he tells his experience in the following letter.

"Reisterstown, Md., February 27th. "I was taken with Inflammatory Rheumatism in my left hand and foot in the beginning of this winter and suffered greatly. A gentleman in Baltimore who had tried RHEUMACIDE to me. I secured three bottles and took it in smaller doses than prescribed, and am now entirely cured. Can use both hand and foot without the least inconvenience.

"Yours respectfully, "J. R. Wheeler, Pastor, Reisterstown M. E. Church.

—There is a prescription in use in England for the cure of drunkenness by which thousands are said to have been enabled to recover themselves. The recipe came into notoriety by the efforts of Mr. John Vine Hall, commander of the Great Eastern steamship. He had fallen into such habitual drunkenness that his most earnest efforts to reclaim himself proved unavailing. At last he sought the advice of an eminent physician, which he followed faithfully for several months, and at the end of that time he had lost all desire for liquor, although he had been for many years led captive by a most debasing appetite. The recipe, which he afterward published, and by which so many other drunkards have been assisted to reform, is as follows: Sulphate of iron, 20 grains; magnesia, 40 grains; peppermint 44, drams; spirits of nutmeg, 4 drams. Dose, one tablespoonful twice a day.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid" solvents. You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury testimony to prove it.

Thomas Clark Salisbury Md. says: "I was confined to the house under the doctor's treatment who pronounced my trouble rheumatism and said that my cold had settled in my kidneys. My back ached continually, no position I assumed was comfortable and I could not turn in bed without sharp shooting pains. I was all broken up and even the doctor's treatment did not seem to benefit me. Finally a friend noticing my condition advised me to get Doan's Kidney Pills saying they had cured him of rheumatism and backache. I sent for them at White and Leonard's drug store and began their use. The very first dose seemed to help me and in a short time I was able to walk around and after taking the contents of two boxes all the trouble was banished and I was able to work again. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

"You mothers have the silliest superstitions about babies," said the college girl. "For my graduating thesis I am compiling the baby superstitions of the world's mothers. They're the most ludicrous things. "In Russia they think a baby and a kitten can't thrive in the same house. They kill the kitten as soon as the baby comes. "In Spain they won't let a baby under three see its reflection in a mirror. Otherwise they think it will grow up vain, proud and cruel. "In Romania babies all wear blue ribbons around the left ankle to ward off evil spirits. "In Hungary they think that if you dress a girl baby in red she will turn out bad. "In India it is good luck for a baby to fall out of bed. "Irish babies keep strands of woman's hair in their cradles to protect them from sickness."

Chronic Diarrhoea Relieved.

Mr. Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co. Chicago writes "Our General Superintendent Mr. Quirk handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack on the old chronic diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many on our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 22d Ohio Regiment and have no ailment except chronic diarrhoea which this remedy stops at once." For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

"My husband has give me the $50 bonnet I wanted."

"The idea!" exclaimed Mrs. Chelms. He's awfully indulgent.

A WESTERN ROMANCE.

"Good-bye, Len."
"Take good care of yourself."
"Let's hear from you when you get home."
"Don't forget us."

"No danger of that, boys, and if any of you ever come to old Richmond, remember I live there, and my mother will be as glad to see you as I shall." The speaker is a young man, hardly thirty, and as he sits in the buckboard, taking leave of the little crowd of men who have assembled to bid him good-bye, his handsome face and well knit form are such as to attract attention at once. After an absence of years, Len Hawley is going home. To him, as well as to the men who surround him, the parting means a great deal, though they strive to conceal their adieu under the air of every-day concern. Out of the little frontier mining town many another comrade has gone just as he is going—never to return.

"Well, everything is on board, Jose, and you can drive around and pick up Mr. Dunsmer and his wife, and then turn yourself loose." It is the stage agent giving his last commands to the driver.
As the team of four half-broken bronches swing into the street, the young man's face smart and burns at the words he has just heard, and he almost forgets to respond to the farewell shouted after him. He has hardly recovered his self-possession as Jose stops his team at a house in front of which are already waiting, a man of his own age and a woman some years younger. The man, with much domineering, and, with the lady, takes the rear of the two seats. With a crack of the whip, Jose turns his team into the road, and the weekly mail has begun its miles of travel over mountains and across deserts.

Each of the men had prepared for possible Indian attacks by arming himself. Len Hawley and Mrs. Dunsmer were thinking how unfortunate the coincidence that had thrown them together to make this long trip in company. As for Mr. Dunsmer, he merely thought how unfortunate he was to be forced to make it at all. In the past, when Mrs. Dunsmer was simply Mamie Manning, the admitted belle of the little frontier settlement, she and Len Hawley had been lovers. That was before the man who sat beside her had come into her life, and as she and the man she had discarded sat together for the first time in months, neither could refrain from thinking of the past—of the quarrel, so trivial in its beginning, that had caused them to drift apart.

Some said that when Mr. Dunsmer, the rich mine owner, had first exhibited an interest in her, she had sought the opportunity to discard Hawley. Much as the latter may have felt his loss, outwardly he appeared indifferent. He could not believe that she had simply cast him aside for money.

As for Dunsmer himself, he had never liked him. In fact, there were very few who did. Selfish, overbearing and unscrupulous, Dunsmer loved money as he loved nothing else on earth.

The mountains have been left behind and the road is now in the valleys, where the Spanish bayonet the flat green leaves of the prickly pear, and the sagebrush have taken the place of the pines and the oaks of the higher latitudes. The travelers have stopped only twice—to change horses and to eat the noonday lunch. The sun has passed the meridian and is beginning to sink toward the west.

The three passengers sit in silence, longing for the next station, Camp Date Creek, ten miles away. Suddenly Jose rises in his seat and looks earnestly off to the left where half a dozen clouds of dust are rising in the air. He looks again—all are looking in the same direction—and he says, simply, "Indians," all know that he is confirming their worst fears.

He tops the horses, and handing the lines to Hawley, jumps from the wagon. Drawing his knife, he steps to the rear where the heavy trunk placed there in the morning by Dunsmer, is lashed. As he starts to cut the ropes Dunsmer turns on him fiercely.

"No, no, you mustn't throw that off! There's bullion in it," he says.
"Los Indios son Apaches!" (The Indians are Apaches), says Jose, his face growing paler as he notes how rapidly they approach while the buckboard delays.

"I can't help it; but you mustn't lose my trunk," says Dunsmer. His wife looks at him as if to urge him to cut loose the trunk, but remains silent.

"He would sacrifice even her to save his gold," Hawley thinks bitterly. No one speaks. They are almost at a point where the narrow road begins to climb the mountain pass. Behind them, less than a mile away, come the Apaches, their horses flecked with foam. Once the buckboard begins to ascend the mountains, it will be madness to drive as they have driven on the plains. To do so might throw them into the canyon hundreds of feet below, or break their vehicle against bowlders.

Here the Indians have the advantage, and their mustangs, unimpeded by harness and wagons, will soon overtake the buckboard. There is a chance though, and, facing Dunsmer and his wife, Hawley, whose face is white and stern, says:

"Dunsmer, from the top of the mountain it is hardly three miles into the next station, Camp Date Creek, and you and I, by getting out here, can stand off the Apaches until the wagon gets away. If we only hold them back for ten minutes it will be enough, for by that time the wagon can reach the top of the mountains, and there will be no chance for the Indians to overtake it."

"Can't we escape without?" asks Dunsmer, his lips ashen with fear.
"No," answers Hawley, with bitter contempt, and a new hatred, born of the man's cowardice, in his heart; "it is the only chance for your wife, and we had better do it right ahead, where the climbing begins and where we can get in among the bowlders."

"Could one do it? I will be willing to pay anything if—" began Dunsmer, only to stop abruptly as he caught the stern looks in Hawley's eyes.

"You coward! Are you going to come with me or not?" asked Hawley, as he rises in his seat, rifle in hand.

"Yes, yes, of course I will go with you," comes from the white lips of Dunsmer, as he sees Hawley preparing to spring into the road. Hawley reaches within his breast, and, taking from it a purse, hands it to the woman.

"Mamie, this is all I have," he says, simply; "see that my mother gets it. You know her address."

Mrs. Dunsmer reaches out her hand as if to prevent him from leaving the buckboard. There are tears in her eyes as she meets his, and her voice trembles as she implores him not to throw his life away for her sake. Almost before she can frame the words he leaps from the wagon into the road.

Dunsmer is still seated in it, holding his wife as if to prevent her jumping from it. A wave of exultation passes over Hawley as he sees this man, who was to have stood by him facing the Apaches while his wife escapes thus leaving him to his fate.

Hawley smiles to himself bitterly. He can yet overtake the buckboard, or, easier still, he can hide among the bowlders that line the canyon from the Apaches, and, after they have passed, easily make his escape. No; better to let all end here than to let her know he had played the coward. She would escape and would know that it was to him she owed her life.

He took off his hat and threw it into the air as a signal for Jose to drive on. He will never need it again, he thinks, as he crouches behind the bowlder.

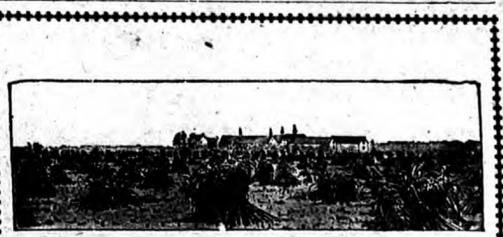

He raises his rifle and fires at the foremost of the Indians who are galloping into the canyon. In an instant they slip from their horses, and, after firing a few shots at him, begin to climb the mountain side and probably shoot him in the back from above; but, before they can do so and remount their horses, the buckboard and its passengers will be beyond pursuit. He had feared that they would rush in on him, and after a few shots his life would have been thrown away in vain. It was for this he had wanted Dunsmer to come with him. Two might do what one could not.

Enraged at the escape of the buckboard through the delay he has caused them, the Indians fire volley after volley at him until the canyon echoes. He looks up toward the summit and catches a glimpse of the buckboard, with a woman's white face looking backward. An instant and it is gone. Thank God! He knows they are on the mesa now and she is safe.

As the buckboard passes the sentinel, a few words explain all; a troop of cavalrymen dashes to the rescue of the man facing such odds in the canyon.

The woman who has come in with the buckboard watches the blue-coated men with staring eyes. The husband places his hand upon her arm, as if to lead her out of the sun. She shakes his hand off without looking at him. The few women in the post urge her to compose herself, but she does not heed them. She can only stand and catch and watch the cloud of dust which marks the progress of the cavalry. They have crossed the mesa, and, as they disappear, all know that if the Indians are still there the canyon will soon be filled with smoke and fire.

An ambulance approaches where she is standing, to receive orders. Despite all that can be done she takes a seat in it, and when it returns she is clasping to her breast the form of the man who had stayed behind. He had been shot to pieces.—San Francisco.

THE RIGHT MEDICINE FOR PELVIC TROUBLES FOUND IN PE-RU-NA.

MRS. CAROLINE KRAMER, Fort Collins, Col., writes:
"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other pelvic troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver or stomach troubles until they become completely discouraged and their money is gone."

"This was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years when my attention was called to Peru-na."
"I hardly dared believe that at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured, I could only thank God and take courage."

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have advised dozens of women who were suffering with woman's ills to use Peru-na and let the doctors alone."

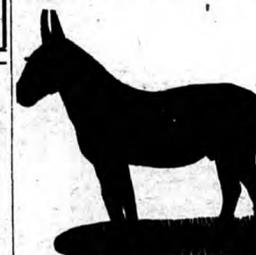

"Those who followed my advice are better today and many are fully restored to health."

Mrs. Wilda Mooers, R. F. D., No. 1, Leno, Ore., writes:
"For the past four years I was a wretched woman, suffering with severe backaches and other pains, leaving me so weak and weary that it was only with difficulty that I was able to attend to my household duties."

"I used different remedies, but found no relief until I had tried Peru-na." Within two weeks there was change for the better and in less than three months I was a well and happy woman. "All the praise is due to Peru-na."

UZZELL IN NORFOLK JAIL

The Negro Editor Who Started Race Riot Gave Himself Up.

J. D. Uzzell, the negro editor accused of shooting Garland Belmont and with firing on the Onancock stage, which precipitated the race riot at Onancock on August 16 and caused Governor Swanson to hasten to the scene and order State troops there, is now out of harm's way in the Norfolk city jail.

He voluntarily gave himself up to Colonel Nottingham commanding the troops at Onancock, and was carried there for safe keeping under a guard composed of Colonel Nottingham, Capt. N. L. Warwick, Sergeants Dosier, Rapps and Darden and Private Schwink. Uzzell is closely confined in jail, and no one is allowed to see him.

He walked into the barracks at 4 o'clock Monday morning and asked the protection of the law. He begged that his presence be kept quiet and that he be brought to Norfolk. The man was taken from the barracks early this morning and was walked with the guard two miles and a half to the railroad station at Olney. The express train was stopped and the prisoner placed aboard.

Uzzell sent for Attorney Harry K. Wolcott as soon as he got there and engaged the lawyer to defend him.

Colonel Nottingham said today that Uzzell was slightly nervous and apparently agitated when he surrendered himself at the barracks yesterday morning, and that he appeared glad when he knew he was under the protection of the militia.

"He would not talk," said Colonel Nottingham, "and he let no word drop that would throw any light on the situation. He is quiet and calm now, although he shows the strain of the ten days in which he has been in hiding from the crowds."

Colonel Nottingham said the situation on the Eastern Shore is quiet and that no further trouble is anticipated. S. Wilkins Matthews, secretary of the State Board of Fisheries, who is in Norfolk today, said that the trouble at Onancock has been greatly exaggerated.

"It was originally intended by the whites that they would not allow the negroes to hold their fair, which begins next week," said Mr. Matthews, "but the feeling has quieted down and they have agreed to allow the fair to proceed and the negroes have been promised protection by the troops. We fear no further trouble."

Uzzell is a bacon-colored man about five feet six inches in height and of slender build. He is apparently 25 years old and is neat in his dress.

What disposition will be made of Uzzell could not be learned. Mr. Wolcott declared he had not considered the matter yet and that he was simply keeping his client in jail as a matter of protection. "I don't know when or where he will be tried," said Mr. Wolcott.

The negro storekeeper, Burton, is still at large.

Pearry's Polar Voyage has been postponed. This must be a keen disappointment to this intrepid explorer, but this is a case in which it takes money to make the mare go, and the money was not forthcoming in sufficient quantities to insure the success of the undertaking. But suppose he or someone else does discover the North Pole? What will be done with it? It seems to be too far away from civilization to be of any immediate use except for cold storage for fish and oysters, in the Summer season.

CRABS IN THE SHELLS.
Remove the meat and clean the shells; cut the meat up small or shred it, and to six ounces add one ounce bread crumbs rolled very fine, two hard boiled eggs chopped fine; a tablespoonful of lemon juice, salt and paprika to season; stir all together and blend thoroughly, adding a little white sauce to moisten the mixture, put into the shells, dot with pieces of butter and sprinkle with oyster dust, then bake till golden brown in a quick oven. Crab meat salad may also be served in the shell, omitting the lettuce leaves.

AN APPEAL TO INDEPENDENT VOTERS OF THE STATE

An Able Analysis Of The Political Situation Made By The Baltimore Sun, Showing The Relative Merits Of The Two Parties. A Striking Comparison Made.

Mr. Lincoln's famous phrase that "while you can fool part of the people all the time, and all of the people sometimes, you cannot fool all the people all the time," is a phrase that is especially worth remembering in political campaigns, particularly at the present day, when the average newspaper reader has a mind of his own and accepts no dictum from any quarter as gospel, but weighs all utterances in the scales of reason and common sense. The average reader cannot be fooled by special pleading nor blinded by specious reasoning, and, while willing to make proper allowance for honest differences of opinion and mistakes of judgment, is quick to detect insincerity and false logic and considers an effort to mislead him as an insult to his intelligence.

The present political campaign gives point and emphasis to these reflections, which do not apply as forcibly to the accredited organs of Republican sentiment, that are expected to turn out partisan grit for partisan consumption, as to organs of alleged independent thought and leading. There is no reason why an independent paper should not always say what it thinks, but there is every reason why it should have good reason for what it says; it should, assuredly, always have the courage of its convictions, but should, just as assuredly, not be open to the suspicion of really having no convictions at all. The bearing of these remarks, as Captain Bunsby says, lies in the application of them. We put this cap on nobody's head. The person whom it fits will probably put it on himself.

Here persons of real political independence view the Democratic and Republican tickets and platforms and the recent conventions of the two parties, is admirably and tersely expressed in the interview in Monday's Sun with Mr. Randolph Barton. His view is based on the survey of the whole field and is free from exaggeration or prejudice and will carry conviction because of its judicial tone and evident sincerity. This sort of independent outgiving is in marked contrast to that which, while professing independence, studiously minimizes or ignores all that is good in the Democratic ticket, platform and convention, and bases its support of the Republican party in this campaign upon one thing only—the personal qualities of Mr. Gaither, the Republican nominee for Governor. This advocacy admits that the Republican party is no better than it should be; that its convention was dominated by two men wholly out of touch with the principles and practices of civic righteousness, and that the ticket and platform were made by them, but asserts that Mr. Gaither is a paragon of political and public goodness and that his virtues will leave the whole bad loaf, converting the heavy and dangerous compound into a sort of political angel's cake, fit for the most fastidious independent stomach.

There is no Democrat in Baltimore who will not cheerfully concede that Mr. Gaither is an amiable gentleman, a good citizen, an excellent lawyer and a clean public man. It will be readily conceded also that his public spirit and intelligence have been of service to the city during the last few years, and that he is one of the best representatives of his party. But Mr. Gaither himself must blush at the exaggerated strain of eulogy which is employed in his behalf, and as a man of common sense he will, doubtless, wish to be delivered from injudicious friends. There is such a thing as damning a man with too much as well as with faint praise. It is written somewhere that it is impossible for any man being to be as good as a certain character looked. So it is impossible for Mr. Gaither or any other son of Adam to measure up to the extraordinary panegyrics that have been showered upon him from certain quarters. He is made too good for human nature's daily food—too omnisciently good for common sense to swallow. The weakness of the Republican case makes it necessary to exaggerate the personal claims of Mr. Gaither and what he could accomplish if elected, but, unfortunately, this very exaggeration defeats its object by rendering the argument ridiculous. This contest is not a bragging match nor a holiness campaign, nor is it likely the public can be induced to believe that political miracles are to be wrought by the personal influence of one man, arrayed against the leaders of his party. It is a contest to be decided by the cold steel of logical analysis. The people in elections favor the side with the heaviest battalions of facts and arguments. In this case the voters of Maryland are asked to believe that Mr. Gaither, if elected, will be able to lift all the heavy weight of corrupt bossism, of a weak platform and of a party whose political composition makes it always more or less an object of suspicion in a State like Maryland, and fly with it from the Muddy flats on which the ticket was born to the Delectable Mountains of good government. But if the wings of his ill-advised champions are endeavoring to put on him were a hundred times bigger and stronger than they are painted, he would be unequal to such a task, for the reason that even if he could fly with such a load he could not change the nature and the logical tendencies of his political associates and backers.

Admitting all that can legitimately be said in praise of Mr. Gaither, the Democratic party can truthfully claim that their candidate is in every respect his equal in all things human. The Democrats, however, only claim that their candidate is a plain man, with no preternatural qualifications. Republicans who know Mr. Crothers admit that intellectually and professionally he is the equal of Mr. Gaither, while those who know him intimately in his home county—men of all parties and creeds—declare that he has all the personal qualities which form a strong and admirable character, one in which firmness, manliness and aggressiveness are tempered by kindness of heart and a well-balanced mind. In his way he has rendered, in his sphere of public life, as good public service as has Mr. Gaither, who, in common with Mr. Bruce, Mayor Mahool, George Stewart Brown and many others who might be mentioned, has labored with zeal and loyalty for the city since the fire. In a word, the point which we wish to make is this: That Mr. Gaither is no better personally or in any other way than Mr. Crothers (nor any better, for that matter, than Mr. Stevenson Williams, the Republican candidate who was defeated by 13,000 majority by Governor Warfield), and that, therefore, the proposition that his perfection would enable him to accomplish the impossible—to convert his party and his creators from what they are to agencies for ideal government—falls to the ground with the "dull, sickening thud" customary to knocked-out arguments.

In the last analysis the Republican situation and claims resolve themselves into a species of political bookkeeping something like this:

CREDIT.
A personally good candidate for Governor.

DEBIT.
1. A party of dangerous composition, with a bad past, a worse present and at the best a suspicious future.
2. A platform with planks in it that suggest weakness, if not insincerity and double-dealing.
3. Two bosses, reputed to be without political principle, who ran the recent Republican convention as a horseman rides a docile and well-trained horse, and who nominated the Republican ticket and made the platform at their own will and pleasure, with not a delegate in the whole assemblage to raise a single banner of manhood and independence, or who had courage enough even to hint that his soul was his own—an object lesson in political despotism, simple, if not pure, and reaching so completely the very apex of personal absolutism that Gorman and Basin at the zenith of their glory were never arrayed in public convention in such habitations of autocratic power.

It takes no expert political bookkeeper or financier to see that one man, no matter how good he may be personally, could do little or nothing against such a tremendous debit account as this—would find it impossible to strike a balance favorable to the public as it would be for the most expert bookkeeper to do so when he had but $1 on the credit side and $1,000,000 on the debit.

The practical question, therefore, for the voter to decide is this: If I invest in the political stock of the Mudd-Jackson Company, Unlimited, what return can I expect for my investment when the assets of the concern consist of only one figure and the liabilities run into the millions? Most practical men are apt to come to the conclusion that the stock is too heavily watered—and with dirty water at that—and that the Mudd-Jackson underwriters will be about the only ones that will benefit by the success of the corporation on election day.

NEW BOAT LINE MERGED.

The Maryland Storage Company Causes Surprise By New Deal. To Fight Pennsylvania.

A merger of the Maryland Steamboat Company, which was planned to operate independently between Baltimore, Crisfield and other parts of the Eastern Shore, by the Maryland Storage Company was effected Thursday. It was announced that the latter company will carry out the plans under way without material change.

The culmination of the deal was after an all day conference attended by Mr. S. Proctor Brady, vice-president and manager of the Maryland Storage Company; Mr. W. P. Lawson, of Crisfield, who was the prime mover in the new Maryland Steamboat Company, and Mr. Thomas G. Boggs, of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, which organization is taking a lively interest in increasing facilities to regain the lost trade on the Chesapeake bay for Baltimore.

Several conferences have been held by Messrs. Brady and Boggs, and the latter was instructed to do everything in his power to relieve the situation in the interests of both the Baltimore merchants and the shippers of the Eastern Shore, who now hope to have their products shipped to various parts of the country without delay.

After the conference one said: "This is the climax of the beginning." The speaker meant that since the first step had been taken, every effort would be made to have vessels of the Maryland Storage Company touch every point of importance on both shores of the Chesapeake bay. The charter of the Maryland Storage Company grants it the right to run a steamboat line, and the officials believe a competing line with the Pennsylvania Railroad is practicable and will be profitable.

The Maryland Steamboat Company, of which Mr. Lawson was the prime mover, had been organized by a number of Norfolk financiers, but had not yet secured its charter. Arrangements were completed at the conference whereby the members of the company will retain their interests in the line. Mr. Lawson will be manager of the Eastern Shore division of the company.

Work on the new wharves of the storage company, at York and Johnson streets, will be hastened and there will be no unnecessary delay in starting the new line. The steamers Queen Anne and Montank, the latter formerly the Queen Caroline, which were to have made their first trip September 1, are included in the merger.

Negotiations are to be immediately entered into to purchase more boats, and contracts will be given for the building of new ones. Mr. Boggs, in speaking of the conference, said it was decided by the storage company to not only enter at all important points now touched by the Pennsylvania Railroad's steamers, but to open new fields and increase trade. Mr. Brady authorized the statement that the new six story warehouse now being erected by the company near the new wharves will be placed at the disposal of shippers for the storage of their freight free of charge.

The wharf at the foot of Broadway, also owned by the Maryland Storage Company, is to be immediately improved and some of the vessels will land there. While attention at first will be devoted to the regaining of lost trade and opening new fields, the company will also look into the Western Shore question. Upon the return of Mr. Brady, he and Secretary Boggs will visit both shores, stopping at every wharf now touched by the Pennsylvania boats. They will endeavor to induce shippers to use the boats of the new line.

The Maryland Storage Company is capitalized at $250,000, but it is probable this amount will be increased. Ex-Mayor E. Olney Timanus is the president.

Object To Negro Excursions.

The people of Cambridge are threatening to raise a row about the number of negro excursions being run to that city. The steamer Jane Mosey brought a crowd from Baltimore Monday afternoon; another Tuesday, and it is said that there were to be two or three more this week and one on Sunday.

The crowd which came down Monday contained several disorderly characters who got into a fight, which was only quelled when Bailiff Pritchett and Policeman Shorter hauled five of them to the lockup. One of the men resisted and was badly hammered before he would submit. Tuesday morning four of the five were given a hearing before Justice W. B. Shenton. Two were sent to jail in default of fines, and two—John Fisher and John L. Tony—were sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The latter was given the option of paying a fine of $50 and costs.

REV. VANDERBORG DEAD

Was Formerly Rector Of St. Peter's, Dies At Saranac. Others Pass Away.

Rev. A. J. Vanderborg late rector of East New Market and Vienna, Dorchester county parishes, died at Saranac Lake, New York, Tuesday of this week. Mr. Vanderborg was taken to Saranac last Saturday from Ocean City where he had been sick since last spring.

Mr. Vanderborg was a native of Troy, N. Y., and his parents now live there. He leaves a widow, who is the oldest daughter of ex-Governor Jackson and three children. His body was brought to Salisbury Friday evening on the 7 o'clock train and will be buried in the Cemetery of the parish he served as rector for seven years from 1895 to 1902. Deceased was about 42 years old.

Mrs. Toadvine.

Mrs. Mary Francis Toadvine widow of Matthias Toadvine, who at one time was a prominent undertaker in Salisbury died at her home on Water Street Tuesday of this week of paralysis aged seventy years. Deceased is survived by one daughter, Miss Annie Toadvine, also three brothers and one sister. The brothers are Messrs. Henry T. Levin A. and William E. Parsons, the sister is Miss Ann J. Parsons. Mrs. Toadvine had made her home since the death of her husband which occurred more than twenty years ago with her sister, Miss Ann and brother, Henry T. Parsons and had always enjoyed excellent health up until about five weeks ago when she was stricken with paralysis. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the M. E. Church, conducted by Rev. Charles A. Hill, assisted by the Rev. David Howard. Interment was made in Parsons Cemetery beside those of her husband.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Jas. E. Ellegood, Béaj. H. Parker, Wm. E. Downing, Dr. E. W. Humphreys, Vandalia Perry and E. E. Twilley.

Mrs. Workman.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Workman died at her home near town Sunday last of a complication of diseases aged 73 years. Funeral services were held in the M. E. Church of which the deceased was a member, conducted by the Rev. Chas. A. Hill in the absence of Rev. Dr. Martindale. Interment was made in the churchyard.

Mrs. Locates.

Mrs. Elizabeth Locates, one of the oldest ladies in this section died at the home of her grand son, William Locates in South Salisbury Tuesday of this week aged 83 years. Funeral services were held at her late home Wednesday morning conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hardesty.

Governor Candidate for U. S. Senate.

Governor Warfield, in response to an inquiry at Charlestown, W. Va., whether he would enter the field as a candidate for the United States Senate under the primary plan of popular nomination provided for by the Democratic State Convention, said that he was giving the subject careful consideration and that it was not improbable that he would be a candidate.

Since the convention he has been urged by many Democrats in all parts of the State to become a candidate and has been told that he is the logical candidate as well as the strongest. There is every indication that the Governor will yield to the popular demand and submit his claims to the people.

State To Make Good Showing.

The members of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America in Delaware have inaugurated the project for having the State well and creditably represented in the parade of the order in Philadelphia, on Aug. 29th, which is to be a feature of the sixtieth anniversary and jubilee celebration in connection with the annual convention. A uniform branch of the order is to be formed from all of the twenty-three camps in Delaware. It is proposed to have all of the participants uniformed, and in order to get the plans in shape without delay all who are willing to participate are expected to report that fact at the next meeting of their camps. It is hoped to have a good representation from each of the camps of the State.

Numerous changes are scheduled to take place on the N. Y. P. & N. E. R. within the next few weeks. J. J. Restein, Assistant Train Master, has resigned, effective September 1st. It is rumored that other changes will occur shortly, but this rumor cannot be verified. Who will succeed Mr. Restein is not definitely decided. It is doubtful if the company has in its employ a man qualified for the position as well as Mr. Restein. While we have had occasion to criticize his official actions at various times, we know that he is primarily a company's man, and that is what they want. He thoroughly understood every branch of the business and was to be found at his post at all hours of the day or night. We wish him success in his new field.—Delmar News.

Often The Kidneys Are

Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

What Does It Mean to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give.

Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company.

A NATION'S SCAPEGOAT.

Aug. 18, '07.—(Lev. 16:5-22.)

One of the most dramatic spectacles in the ecclesiastical year of the Israelites was the great day of atonement. On that day a great religious assembly was held in which all the people of the twelve tribes participated.

Then, when every transgression had been laid upon the goat, a passageway was opened through the vast multitude of 2,000,000 people, and an appointed priest led the animal down through that lane, outside the camp, away into the desert.

That was a wonderful object lesson of the great doctrine of imputed sin referred to by the apostle when he said, "He made Him to sin for us, who knew no sin that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."

How few there are who have the moral courage to accept the full responsibility of all their actions. Men get into trouble, and it is always the other fellow that is to blame.

And, as a matter of fact, there is a good deal of truth in it. To be a scapegoat implies innocence on the part of the victim.

Trouble Ahead. Johnnie—Pa, I have an example for you to solve. Pa—What is it? Johnnie—If a small satchel made of elephant's skin cost a hundred dollars, what would a whole trunk cost?

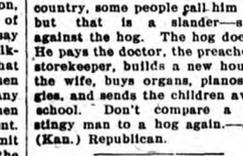

Now He Wishes She Didn't. Father-in-Law.—My daughter thinks a great deal of you. Son-in-Law.—Yes, it took her two hours to tell me that last night.

Don't Insult the Hog. When a man won't give his wife any money nor pay the preacher nor contribute to build up his town or country, some people call him a hog, but that is a slander—slander against the hog.

THE VULNERABLE BALTIMORE NEWS.

In our Editorial of last week, in which we attempted to point out what we considered the inconsistency of the Baltimore News in its present attitude of supporting the Republican Nominee on the State ticket in preference to the Democratic ones, we had no idea that our pen dipped in ink in Wicomico would go so far as to ever come under the notice of that esteemed journal.

late Mayor for re-election. Once again: It was not because "the platform and people behind Mr. Mahool were so far superior to those behind Mr. Timanus," but because the relation of Mr. Mahool to his party's organization and the nature of the man himself were 'so far superior' in point of independence and commitment to the best standards of government that The News supported Mr. Mahool as against Mr. Timanus.

Now who was the organization at this time? To use the expression of the News does not everybody know that "Uncle Bill" and "Cousin Sydney" were the chief corner stones in the late Mayoral Campaign. Was it not about this time that the partnership between these two "War-wicks" in the Republican Camp became thoroughly cemented? Were these two men not actively identified with the organization, "which acted in such manner as to put the continuance of Mr. Gaitther as President of the second branch of the City Council out of question" which action was so potent in determining the subsequent action of the News.

Does the News believe that a legislator elected in conformity with the views she now holds would consider the names of those she has at times professed to admire and one at least who is an avowed candidate for this exalted position our present Governor Warfield. There are many other prospective candidates in the Democratic ranks and no one professes to believe that there is any cut and dried candidate ready to be railroaded into this office but that some of the ablest men in the state will compete for this honor.

SOWING SEED.

In his speech at Provincetown, Mass., Tuesday of this week, President Roosevelt took occasion to place himself plainly and emphatically in the lime light and take a decided stand on questions of present public policy. And while it has not always been our pleasure to coincide with all the views held by our strenuous Executive, yet if one will take the time to read this latest speech of his, it will be found to contain nothing but what has always been held as good Democratic doctrine.

THE BALTIMORE SUN SHOULD BE TAKEN.

The attitude of the Baltimore Sun on the Democratic and Republican nominees should commend itself heartily to the citizens of this state. The Sun takes the broad ground that it requires more than a mere man to make a good ticket and points with telling force to the influences and "how" manipulations presumably of "Uncle Bill" Jackson and the "Honorable Sydney E." which dominated and dictated the state ticket placed in the field by the Republicans in Baltimore Wednesday.

stood by those whose business it is to plunder the people as it is by those whose interests are unselfish. This fact is as often made to serve the interest of the former class as it is the latter. The methods most commonly used by these Pirates to further their financial schemes is to befuddle the minds of the people, by specious pleadings and plausible statements making it appear that illegitimate business should have legitimate endorsement. Such treatment Mr. Roosevelt in his speech at Provincetown refuses to accord them and has this to say, "It may well be that the determination of the Government to punish certain malefactors of great wealth has been responsible for some of the troubles; at least to the extent of having caused these men to bring about as much financial stress as they possibly can in order to discredit the policy of the Government and thereby secure a reversal of that policy. Once for all let me say that as far as I am concerned, there will be no change in the policy we have steadily pursued. No individual, no corporation, obeying the law has anything to fear from this administration."

No one for a moment—except those who are blinded by party prejudice—will fail to admit that these sentiments will be endorsed by the great majority of the American people, no matter what their party affiliation. And this plain announcement comes with peculiar emphasis at this time, when that part of our press which is subsidized to the interest of these financial vultures have for some time been predicting a reversal of a policy which has struck terror in the ranks of corporate wrong doers. These panders to private monopolies and public plunderers have for some time been trying to create a sentiment in the minds of the public against any measures which would in any way curtail their opportunities to exploit the public. The methods adopted by these people has been to play upon the credulity and avarice of an over credulous public, who are ever-ready to listen to the siren of selfishness and are frightened at the "bugaboo" bad for business. These same persons have for the past few weeks been claiming with much persistency that the Government's policy of trust regulation would have to be reversed or that business would be irreparably injured if not brought to a stand still, backing up their assertions by quotations from the same source they got their instructions, viz., Wall Street, the Bunco-man's Barometer. Now that the President in his latest speech has made it plain that no business which is being conducted along honest lines need have any fear of Governmental interference, there is no reason why business conditions should not continue to be good but actually improve under a policy which promises to wisely weed out such as are unfit to survive. The only question that can possibly be raised in any quarter—except a selfish one—in reference to the President's statements might be the one of sincerity and this one we are sometimes in doubt about ourselves when we compare past voluminous utterances with the paucity of performance. But be this as it may, if the sentiments expressed in this speech are only the utterances of a popular politician nevertheless the words have been spoken, coming as they do from the highest authority in our land, it is to be hoped that the seeds thus sown, will not all fall in "stony places" nor many be "choked by briars," but that a goodly portion will fall upon good soil and bring forth fruit in the future.

The attitude of the Baltimore Sun on the Democratic and Republican nominees should commend itself heartily to the citizens of this state. The Sun takes the broad ground that it requires more than a mere man to make a good ticket and points with telling force to the influences and "how" manipulations presumably of "Uncle Bill" Jackson and the "Honorable Sydney E." which dominated and dictated the state ticket placed in the field by the Republicans in Baltimore Wednesday.

That no stream can rise above its source is a condition well raised and one that the voters should ponder well. How would the good people of the State stand for a gubernatorial candidate of the "Honorable Sydney E." or "Uncle Bill" calibre. Then as it is palpable that they are the source and influence of the Republican nominees how is the situation bestered? The Sun ably argues the people's cause, and voices the sentiment of the leading citizens of Maryland for good, clean, progressive Democratic government.

The Sun has fully seen the evils of Republican administration under bossism and boldly champions the Democratic Nominee and the vigorous democratic platform which definitely declares and means something.

The people of this county should read the Sun daily in this campaign and show their appreciation of its stand for them by extending its circulation into as many hands and homes as possible.

The reward of being right should not alone be the compensation of the virtuous inclined, but there should be other responses.

A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not in the comb!

—The committee which was appointed at the recent convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to raise a purse for the benefit of Bishop W. F. Adams, met at the Episcopal residence, in Easton Saturday evening of last week and as a token of their appreciation of his service of twenty years presented him with the results of their labors which has a purse containing $500.00.

—The accident which occurred at the corner of Main and Dock streets by the fire engine while being driven to the fire in Camden Tuesday of this week, in which a show case and window of the Messrs. Nock Bros. were broken, should in no way reflect upon the generally efficient service of our fire company, as the usual driver was out of town. But it might be wise to consider the seemingly senseless policy of trying to make racers out of cart horses. It is sometimes better to go slow.

Hard Crabs Abundant.

Hard crabs seem to be more plentiful than ever. Around Hampton Roads the trawl-lines keep the crabs in factories galled, and thousands of barrels are being shipped. On some days the fisher. It is stated, will make as much as $8 per man from his lines. The majority of summer crabbers are negroes. They get $1 per barrel and everything furnished.

While crabs are not so numerous in this section as lower down the bay we believe they are abundant enough to warrant the establishment of a crab canning factory here. We know of a good location where such an industry would thrive, and also bring many dollars in the pockets of our people.—Virginia Citizen.

Letter To S. P. Woodcock.

Dear Sir:—Take a two story house and reckon the costs with different paints; you will be surprised. Say the house has a total of 3210 square feet. Divide by 800; you buy 11 gallons. That's the rule; but it never comes out so.

Buy any other paint than Devco, you will have to buy more, up to possibly 22 gallons. Paint Devco, and you'll have a gallon or two to return. Here are some experiences.

N. R. Watkins, Lott, Texas, used 18 gallons on his house before; bought 18 gallons Devco for same house and had 6 left.

C. B. Edwards of Edwards, Bronghton, printers Raleigh, N. C., used 30 gallons paste paint on his house; bought 30 gallons Devco for same house and had 6 left. Go by the gallons.

Yours truly,

What To Eat.

At a recent convention of famous physicians in London the bigwigs urged upon rich and poor the advisability of a simple diet. It is useless, it was held to know how to make 214 kinds of soup or how to dress a chicken 530 ways. A plain, sensible way of preparing food is best and plain food is best. The poor, it was urged, too often get improper food at extravagant prices, paying 15 cents for what can be had in better form for 10 cents. They do not make wise selections, taking innutritious instead of nutritious articles. Sir James Orlinton Brown, an authority in hygienics deplored the disease of oatmeal in England, asserting that a small plate of porridge was equal in proteid value to two thick slices of a four pound loaf. The use of fancy cakes, candies, bonbons, etc., was condemned, and as for hot sauces—they were a danger to be avoided. On the other hand "whole meal" bread was praised. Other foods boomed by the learned speakers were lentils, cheap dripping, treacle and herring, the last being described as splendidly nutritious. Colonial meat was approved, but white bread received few good words. Eggs, from an economic viewpoint, were declared to be extravagant, costing far more than they were worth.—Baltimore Sun.

MINISTER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Personal Experience of Aged and Well Beloved Preacher.

No other man in the community is so well beloved or whose words have such weight as the minister who has devoted his life to the service of mankind. In Maryland one of the most noted Methodist ministers in the State suffered severely with rheumatism. He found no relief until a friend recommended RHEUMACIDE. He was so delighted with the results that for the benefit of other sufferers, as a duty to mankind, he tells his experience in the following letter.

Reisterstown, Md., February 27th. "I was taken with Inflammatory Rheumatism in my left hand and foot in the beginning of this winter and suffered greatly. A gentleman in Baltimore who had tried RHEUMACIDE for Rheumatism recommended it to me. I secured three bottles and took it in smaller doses than prescribed, and am now entirely cured. Can use both hand and foot without the least inconvenience.

"Yours respectfully,
"J. R. Wheeler,
Pastor, Reisterstown M. E. Church.

—There are not very many transparent animals, but recent studies of two larval eels which possess this peculiarity, and which belong to the National Museum, seem to show that among the possible advantages of being transparent is economy in personal decoration.

In ordinary opaque animals the color markings are symmetrical on the two sides of the body, but this is not the case with the transparent eels. Each of them, when looked at from one side, appears to have seven large black spots arranged at nearly regular intervals along the length of the body, but closer examination shows that in each case three of the spots are on the left side and four on the right, and irregularly spaced, but in such a manner that, on looking through the body, all seven appear in a symmetrical row.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Ocatarrh. Hall's Ocatarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Ocatarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Ocatarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DAYLIGHT UPON THE WATERS.

Morning dawn o'er the sea!
Gladness and beauty reigning.
Rooked on the ocean floor:
Glory beams greatly floating
In the deep billows' lane;
Morning upon the waters!
Daylight upon the wave!

Gladly the sailor hastens,
On for the shimmering white,
Evening was dark and bright,
Morning is fair and cloudy,
Past is the night of peril,
Storm clouds and terrors flee:
Daylight upon the ocean!
Morning upon the sea!

Just so, the light came to us,
When we were sore distressed,
And the wild waves were rocking,
Mocking our cry for rest;
Just so, the night clouds lifted,
Leaving a smiling sky:
Morning and peace and safety
Came with that "It is I."

For the dear Savior saw us,
When we were sore distressed,
Darkness and storm and peril,
Nothing could bid Him stay,
Over the raging waters,
Treading the cold sea wave,
Great in his human pity;
Strong in His power to save.

"Immanuel," Redeemer, Touched with our sin and need
Jesus, the world's true brother,
Mighty to save, indeed;
Thanks, for Thy timely coming,
Heart rest we find in Thee,
Morning upon the waters!
Daylight upon the sea!

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. Here is Salisbury testimony to prove it.

Thomas Clark Salisbury Md. says: "I was confined to the house under the doctor's treatment who pronounced my trouble rheumatism and said that my cold had settled in my kidneys. My back ached continually, no position I assumed was comfortable and I could not turn in bed without sharp shooting pains. I was all broken up and even the doctor's treatment did not seem to benefit me. Finally a friend noticing my condition advised me to get Doan's Kidney Pills saying they had cured him of rheumatism and backache. I sent for them at White and Leonard's drug store and began their use. The very first dose seemed to help me and in a short time I was able to walk around and after taking the contents of two boxes all the trouble was banished and I was able to work again. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster, Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

Chronic Diarrhoea Relieved.

Mr. Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co. Chicago writes "Our General Superintendent Mr. Quick handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack on the old chronic diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many on our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 29th Ohio Regiment and have no ailment except chronic diarrhoea which this remedy stops at once." For sale at Toulson's Drug Store.

THE GARY SISTERS

Had Strong Literary Taste. Alice Died in 1871.

For the benefit of some of the readers of the Advertiser who have charged me the writing of a poem which was printed in said paper, August 3rd, I copy the following from the "School World":

Prominent among the pilgrim fathers was John Cary, who taught the first Latin school in Plymouth. One of his descendants was Christopher Cary who in 1802 left New England and settled in Cincinnati, Ohio. One of his sons named Robert, (after Sir Robert Cary an ancestor who was conspicuous during the reign of Henry V.), settled on a farm eight miles from Cincinnati. Robert was the father of Alice Cary, who was born four years later. The country was new and the parents and children had to work very hard, which may account for the free independent character of these sisters. Their mother died in 1835 and the next year the father married again. The step mother had no patience with the literary taste of these sisters. When the day's work was over and they wished to study at night, she would get angry and say, "It was a waste to burn candles to read books when there were socks to knit." At the age of seventeen Alice began to write verses, that in spite of her unfavorable surroundings seemed to sing themselves as the outpouring of her poetic soul. The ballads and lyrics which are now being welcomed by the world of readers, were written by the light of a rag flame in a saucer of lard when others of the household were fast asleep.

Had her "Pictures of Memory" (which Edgar Allan Poe declared to be one of the most perfect lyrics in the English language) appeared in the Advertiser I should have kept very quiet.

When Alice was thirty years old she and her sister left the farm, "Clovernook," and went to New York and out to Amherst to see the bachelor poet, J. G. Whittier. He was at a loss what to do with these two song birds. He wished them great success in their work. But his dear old heart was not moved to more tender feeling, so the sisters returned to New York and made themselves a home which was one of the most charming literary resorts. Perhaps it was about this time that Alice wrote the parody on Mr. Longfellow's "Psalm of Life".

Alice died in New York February 13, 1871. At the funeral service the choir sang the beautiful hymn "Near Home" composed by her sister. Phoebe died at Newport in July of the same year. Her remains were conveyed to New York, then to Greenwood cemetery and laid by the side of her sister.

Alice Helen Carey N.E. As the elder Weller said, "I spell my name with an 'e'."

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses, "the eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease, which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." "Disease which originates in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood—by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition.

Not a secret or "patent medicine" because ingredients are printed on the label; contains no alcohol, is purely vegetable.

ORIGIN OF APPENDICITIS

Word Coined in 1888 By a Boston Physician.

The word appendicitis was coined in 1888 by Dr. Reginald F. Fitz, a Boston physician. He says he invented it to suit his purpose of calling attention to inflammation of the appendix as an object of direct treatment. Before that time the names used had not given the appendix its full share of attention as the actual cause of the trouble.

From the great mass of operations which have been performed since Fitz's article appeared it has been possible to make exhaustive studies of the disease. Even yet, however, the physicians say they don't know what is the function of the appendix. The causes are better understood.

For a time everybody was blaming grape seeds. That theory has been exploded. Foreign bodies, such as pins, seeds, stones, bullets and bones are not found in the great majority of cases.

In 1,000 cases at Johns Hopkins Hospital foreign bodies were found in only four. In many cases the contents of the appendix resemble fruit stones, but they are really organic matter and salts.

Violent exertion and blows are causes of the disease far more often than is generally supposed. A long bicycle ride, a leap from a street car, an hour of swimming, exposure to cold, a blow of the fist, a kick, a fall, a bruise or any one of a hundred other applications of force may bring about the disease.

According to the Boston Herald, pins are the most common and most dangerous of the foreign substances. For small, heavy objects, like bullets and for all pointed bodies the appendix is a sort of trap. These foreign bodies may be direct causes of the disease.

Of 4,928 autopsies performed at the Boston City, Johns Hopkins and Rhode Island hospitals there were 86 cases in which acute inflammatory disease of the vermiform appendix caused death, directly or indirectly. About 86 per cent. were males. About 48 per cent. of the deaths occurred in the second and third decades of life.

In some of the cases the symptoms of appendicitis were not discovered until after death. The larger percentage of cases among men and boys is explained plausibly as being due to the greater liability to exposure to injury and the greater tendency to errors in diet, and in part, perhaps, to the excessive use of tobacco and the consequent digestive disturbances.

"The explanation given for the relative exemption of negroes is that their diet is simple. They take a great deal of outdoor exercise, and they are free from digestive disturbances," says Kelly. In the Johns Hopkins Hospital where one negro is admitted for every four white men, only one negro is operated on for appendicitis to twelve white men.

Lennander has called appendicitis a family disease, and many other physicians have been struck by the occurrence of the disease in members of the same family. One has reported three cases in three successive generations of a family. A father, two sons and two daughters were affected in another family.

"Disorders of digestion have the most important influence in determining an acute attack of appendicitis," says Kelly.

The size of the appendix varies according to age and to persons. Its length averages from three to three and a half inches. The appendix of the man is slightly larger than that of the woman.

The growth is irregular and uncertain. There is a record of one appendix more than a foot long. Between the ages of 10 and 30 it reaches its largest size, though some observers make the period from 20 to 40. It usually decreases in size as a person grows old, but in some cases it has been found full sized in the aged.

The width of the appendix varies much less than the length, the common width being that of a goose quill. But there are abnormalities in width, as in length. It points in different directions at different times, and a chart of its various positions is a figure shaped approximately like a "daddy long legs" spider.

In some places, the hospital of the Johns Hopkins medical school, for instance, it is the custom to examine the appendix whenever the abdomen is opened, unless the condition of the patient is such that the inspection would be an added danger. Of seventy surgeons who were canvassed by Kelly on the question: "When the abdomen is opened for other causes and the perfectly normal appendix is easily accessible is it your rule to remove it?" forty-four replied against, and the rest in favor of doing so.

The result of a canvass among many physicians as to whether the appendix, while still in a normal condition, should be removed as a preventive measure was the almost unanimous conclusion that such a step is "absurd," "unjustifiable," or "without excuse."

If appendicitis should become more frequent than it is now the question may well be raised again. The mere entertainment of the suggestion of the removal as a prophylactic measure may possibly be taken as evidence among other things, of the immense strides which the attitude toward the disease and the knowledge of it have taken in the last hundred years.

Austria's great salt mine at Wieliczka has 600 miles of galleries and employs 9000 miners. It has been worked for over 16 centuries.

Asylum for Infirm Animals. There is an asylum for infirm animals and birds at Bodepur station, about ten miles from Calcutta, which at present houses 978 paupers, including cows, horses, buffalo, dogs, cats, chickens, monkeys, goats, etc.

Ownership in Japan. Government ownership of utilities pertains to a great extent in Japan, where the Government controls most of the railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, the salt works and tobacco monopoly.

GOOD DIGESTION

With Good Digestion a Man Can Overcome Every Obstacle, Conquer Every Difficulty.

MR. R. Y. LEOKIE.

MR. R. Y. LEOKIE, Keno, Miss., writes:
"I write to tell you of the great benefits that Peruna has accomplished for me. It has cured me of catarrh and seemingly all the other ills that I was subject to."
"I can eat anything before me and digest anything I eat. Physically I am a new man."
With weak or deranged digestion, the source of strength and vitality is impaired, the nerves are weak, the blood circulates feebly.
No man is capable of thinking accurately or doing anything vigorously while suffering with indigestion.
To rid the stomach of catarrh will produce clean, healthy mucous membranes and thus correct the digestion.
Peruna has the reputation of the world over for doing this very thing. A course of Peruna promptly and completely sets the digestive organs at their true function.

FARMERS PROSPEROUS.

Large Yields And Good Prices Being Realized in This County.

If conditions like the present were to continue with our farmers for a few years we might witness a recurrence of those times when people who wanted to borrow money hid themselves to the country and persuaded some farmer to bring out an old stocking and produce the desired amount. And probably this is the cause why we hear so much talk at present about the stringency of money among the city banks. Never in the memory of any one now living has so much money been brought to Wicomico County to pay for the farm products. Beginning with her strawberry crop, which was the best, both in yield and price ever before experienced, everything the farmers produced has continued to maintain this record breaking feature. Huckleberries and Blackberries were produced in abundance and good prices were realized. Then came cantaloupes; never before has Wicomico produced so many, nor prices been so good. Thousands of dollars have been realized from this crop and the end is not yet. And now comes the luscious watermelon. Buyers have simply tumbled over themselves in order to secure the melons on the large acreage grown by our farmers. The transaction in this crop reads like an advertisement in some Western Mining Journal. Mr. E. J. Adkins, one of our model farmers sold his patch of 8500 hills one day this week for $650.00 in delivering these melons. Mr. Adkins loaded two cars which averaged 35 pounds for each melon, which was said by the buyer to be an unusual average for this or any other section. Mr. W. S. Lowe, neighbor of Mr. Adkins, and another progressive farmer, sold his planting of 24000 hills for $1750 or an average of over seven cents per hill. Five cents per acre has always been considered heretofore a good price for melons. Mr. W. Frank Howard who lives near Hebron and is noted as one of Wicomico's best farmers, also sold his melon field for a fancy price and from every section comes the same reports; good yields and high prices realized. Mr. W. F. Allen shipped last week from his farm, which is one of Wicomico's show places, fourteen car loads of cantaloupes and has been shipping all this week and is not yet done. He has just begun to ship watermelons and expected to ship at least 18 car loads this week of as fine melons as were ever grown. These are just a few of the many cases of farm prosperity we have here in Wicomico and goes to show that there is no place where farming can be made to pay better when carried on properly than right here in Wicomico.

CAPT. LAYFIELD DEAD.

Highly Respected Citizen Dies At His Home Near Green Hill.

The neighborhood of Green Hill and vicinity was shocked Tuesday morning of this week to learn of the death of one of its most prominent and highly respected citizens, Captain Wm. J. Layfield.

Captain Layfield had been in his usual health and did a hard day's work on his farm the day previous to his death. During the night he was seized with an attack of acute indigestion and passed away the following day. Captain Layfield was well known in Salisbury and was highly thought of. He traded between this place and Baltimore and other points on the bay for many years and was considered very efficient and honorable in his calling, that of Master of sailing vessels, which calling he pursued for many years. About four years ago he sold his interest in the Green Hill, of which vessel he had long been Commander and retired to his farm near Green Hill and has made his home there ever since.

Captain Layfield was a very industrious man and after his retirement from the water, took up farming with much energy, and worked very hard, even against the remonstrance of his friends. He was 65 years old and leaves a widow and eight children; five girls and three boys.

The funeral was held Thursday at Green Hill M. P. Church, conducted by Rev. Mr. Blotwell. Interment was in the church yard.

DEMOCRACY'S WINNING TICKET.

Personal Sketches Of The Standard Bearers This Campaign. Men Who Are Strong In Their Fidelity To Principle, Capable In Trust And Popular With The Voters.

We take much pleasure in presenting our readers, in this issue, with the photographs and short biographies of the candidates nominated by the recent convention of the Democratic party. Each of the candidates is well known and prominent not only in their several localities, but throughout the county as well. But the manner in which these men were nominated, the good-will and spirit of independence which prevailed in the convention which nominated them, deserves special commendation; it is a good augury for the future of the Democratic party in this county and insures their triumphant election. The action of this convention was in direct contrast to the Republican one, which recently assembled and adjourned without adopting any resolutions or nominating a ticket, simply because one man did not know his mind. The history of the Democratic party in Wicomico county is the history of this county's progress, which today stands second to none in the State in her accomplishment of those material things which make for the peace, prosperity and happiness of her people. That the people of Wicomico are looking for any change politically, is not believed by anyone whose information is gained from association with her best white citizens; and that no change of parties will be made is fully guaranteed in the personal of the men who are now asking for the suffrage of the white voters of Wicomico county.

First on the ticket is the name of ex-Governor Eihu E. Jackson, nominee for the State Senate. It is unnecessary for us to publish any lengthy comment on the life of the ex-Governor. His name is a household word not only in Wicomico county but all over the State. He is one of, if not the foremost, Democrat in the State today, and his acceptance of the nomination for Senator was made at a great personal sacrifice to himself. He only allowed the use of his name because he believed it would be for the general good of the party in the county. His election is, of course, a foregone conclusion, and we bespeak for him the largest vote he ever received from the people of his native county, although when he was a candidate for Governor he received over a thousand majority.

Ex-Governor Jackson has twice served Wicomico county in the State Senate with ability and influence. He will be a potent factor in the next Senate in the shaping of legislation.

JOHN W. WILLING, who heads the nominees on the Democratic ticket for the House of Delegates, is one of the most widely known men in Wicomico county. He has for many years been one of the leading citizens of Nanticoke District. A man of fine appearance, eloquent address, and gentlemanly manners, he would be a credit to any county in Maryland in either branch of the General Assembly. Mr. Willing was born at Nanticoke in 1840, and succeeded his father, Wm. J. L. Willing, in the mercantile business at Nanticoke, where he has since been engaged in canning, farming and general merchandising. Mr. Willing is a man of legislative experience, having served in the Legislature in 1886 with credit to himself and the county. He has always been a consistent Democrat and an aggressive party worker. He is a member of the Improved Order of Heptasophs and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. He is vice president of the Security Loan & Trust Company of Nanticoke. Mr. Willing is a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

ROSCOE JONES, another nominee on the Democratic ticket for the House of Delegates, represents the younger element of the party on the ticket. He has never held public office, although he has been a worker in the party ranks for several years. Mr. Jones was born at Allen May 23, 1877, on the farm where he now lives. He is a son of John W. Jones, Esq., who was twice president of the Board of County Commissioners. He is engaged in farming and the growing of strawberry plants with his father, and conducts a large business in this line. Mr. Jones is a well educated young man, who makes a good campaign speech, and will make a hustling candidate. He attended lectures at the Baltimore University School of Law, and is well equipped for legislative duties.

ERNEST B. TIMMONS, nominee for the House of Delegates, hails from Pittsburg Election District. He was born near Berlin, Worcester county, September 12, 1872. He is a son of John W. and Martha J. Timmons and comes from a well-known Eastern Shore family. Mr. Timmons has been engaged for several years in trucking and fruit buying, and has been the means of bringing thousands of dollars to the berry growers of Pittsburg and Dennis Districts. He is a good business man. He attends the Methodist Protestant Church, and belongs to the Order of Red Men, Modern Woodmen, and American Mechanics. In politics Mr. Timmons has been prominent in his section for several years, and is an especially strong candidate on the east side of the county. He is progressive and can be depended upon to do his full duty at Annapolis.

WILLIAM W. LARMORE, candidate for Sheriff, is a well-known merchant of White Haven. He was born August 8, 1859, and is a son of James H. Larmore. He has for years been one of the most progressive citizens of Tuxedo District. He has never held public office, but has always been a consistent Democrat. Mr. Larmore is a member of the Knights of Pythias, Heptasophs, and American Mechanics. He is an attendant of the Methodist Episcopal Church. For 19 years he has conducted a large mercantile business at White Haven, where he stands high as an honorable and progressive business man. Mr. Larmore, if elected, will "make good" in the office.

JESSE D. PRICE, the Democratic nominee for County Treasurer, is one of the well-known young business men of Salisbury. He is General Manager of the Salisbury Ice Company, one of the largest concerns of this city. Mr. Price has been an active Democrat for many years and has always been in line with his party. He has held the office of County Treasurer for four years and during that time has conducted the business of the office in such a thoroughly satisfactory manner that it is said on good authority, there is not another County Treasurer's office in Maryland so well kept. Mr. Price is a Director of the Wicomico Building & Loan Association, the People's National Bank and of several other financial institutions. His training has peculiarly fitted him for this particular office, and by his business administration and wise management, he placed the county practically on a cash basis. He received a unanimous nomination by the Convention, and his election will be a fitting tribute to his popularity all over the County.

JOHN P. WATSON, nominee for County Commissioner, is a representative citizen of Barren Creek District. He was born in the District March 25th, 1866, and is a son of Jacob P. and Annie M. Wright. He attended the county schools and started life as a farmer. By persistent work and strict attention to business, he has reached a place of influence and affluence in his neighborhood, and stands for a progressive policy in county affairs. He has always been a hard worker in Democratic politics. He is a member of the Methodist Protestant Church, and belongs to the Order of Red Men and American Mechanics. His advice is often sought by the people of this neighborhood, and as a County Commissioner he has been a very valuable man. Mr. Wright is familiar with the needs and requirements of the entire county and is broad enough to act intelligently on all questions coming before the Board of Commissioners.

CONCLUDED ON EIGHTH PAGE.

HENRY J. BYRD DEAD

Was A Respected Citizen. Prominent Mason And Clerk To City Council.

Henry J. Byrd, a highly respected citizen of Salisbury, died at his home on Main street, Tuesday morning of this week, after an illness which began last April. Although it was generally known that his condition was serious when he was first stricken with paralysis in April of this year, his many friends were beginning to hope that he would gradually regain his health after he had sufficiently recovered from this attack to again visit the city hall and resume a portion of his work. This hope was shattered when he was again stricken last week, and no further hopes were entertained for his recovery. After remaining unconscious several days he quietly passed away.

Mr. Byrd was born at Dames Quarter, Somerset county, 57 years ago. His parents were John H. and Sarah E. Byrd. When a young man he engaged in seafaring life, which he followed several years, finally associating himself with Col. W. H. Stevens, of Seaford, Del., in the oyster packing business. More than 20 years ago Mr. Byrd came to Salisbury and conducted the oyster packing business for Col. Stevens. He made his home here the remainder of his life.

Mr. Byrd was highly esteemed by the people of Salisbury and he counted his friends by the score. In 1905 he was elected clerk to the city council and filled the duties with entire satisfaction until his death.

He was prominently identified with the Masonic fraternity. He was Past Master of Wicomico Lodge, No. 91; Past Commander of T. J. Shryock Commandery No. 11; Thrice Illustrious Master of Giblem Council; High Priest of Royal Arch Chapter No. 17; a member of Bount Temple of Baltimore; a member of the Seaford Lodge of Odd Fellows. He was also a member of the Improved Order of Heptasophs, and was insured in that order for $3,000.

He is survived by a widow, five brothers and one sister. The brothers are W. C. Byrd, of Wilmington, Del.; J. H. Byrd, Suffolk, Va.; F. A. Byrd, Camden, N. J.; Geo. W. Byrd, Colonial Beach, Va.; and D. T. Byrd, Chicago. Miss Sallie Byrd, the sister, is living in Philadelphia.

TROUBLE AT SEAFORD

Negro Shoots Officer While Trying To Make Arrest.

While trying to make an arrest Saturday night of last week at Seaford, Officer Curtis Steen was shot and probably fatally injured.

Steen, who was appointed constable Tuesday of last week, was trying to make his first arrest when shot. The firm of Greenbaum Brothers had been much annoyed by negro gamblers who play crap in a grove belonging to the firm, and it offered Steen $1 for every crap shooter he would arrest. He learned this morning that a number of negroes were gambling in the grove near the Standard Oil tank, and hurried to the scene.

On his approach several of the negroes fled, but two of them, said to have been Henry Pettit and Arch Miles, opened fire on him with revolvers. Steen fell, with three bullets in his body, but the negroes, not content, jumped on the man and stamped upon his head and beat him unmercifully with brass knuckles. When they were satisfied that he was dead they set off along the line of the Cambridge and Seaford railroad, making for the Maryland line.

Chief of Police Martin, with a large posse, was soon in pursuit, and late Sunday afternoon traced the negroes to a clump of woods near Chapel's creek. As he approached the trees one of the negroes broke from cover and fled. The officer fired both barrels of a shot gun at the fugitive, but the range was too great to do execution, and the fugitive soon disappeared in a heavier growth of woods.

State Detectives Hawkins and Gillis arrived Sunday night and divided their energies toward trying to locate the fugitives and placating the people of the town. A number of young men declare they will burn out the negro colony here, and many colored people are leaving.

Officer Steen's condition is still critical and grave fears are held as to his recovery. Excitement is high in Delaware and threats of lynching are openly made.

IN MEMORIAM.

BRYAN NOT AVAILABLE.

Rank And File Loyal But Opposed By The Organization Leaders.

Friends of Wm. J. Bryan in the east claim to have received letters from him which indicate that he has not thought of being the Democratic nominee for President next year. These letters are declared to intimate very broadly the belief of Mr. Bryan that, without a great change in the attitude of Democratic organization leaders of the country toward him, he would, if nominated for President next year, suffer a repetition of the fate that he met in 1896 and 1900.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bryan evidently does not underestimate the influence that he will have in the Democratic national convention, nor does he appear to believe that anybody strenuously opposed by him in the nomination could win in the convention. But Mr. Bryan's recognition of his own unavailability, as present, for the nomination, is the basis of expectation by friends with whom he has been in private communication, that he will select a candidate who, in his judgement, would make the best possible run if nominated, and will then turn in for him, heart and soul.

The substance of the Bryan letters referred to is that, in the two campaigns which resulted in his defeat, the rank and file were for him, but the leaders were against him. In his view, the only difference between conditions in those years and the present feeling of the party in relation to his candidacy is that the antagonism of "the leaders" against him is stronger than ever before, while the rank and file still stand by him.

In the light of the ample experience which he has had, Mr. Bryan wants to know why he should hope for election next year, if the foremost men of the party would exert themselves even more than they formerly did for the counteraction of whatever the rank and file would want to do for him.

But the friends to whom he has written, argue that no man can be nominated in the coming Democratic convention against the will of Bryan. He can make the nominee win, they say. If he shall turn in heartily for "somebody like Governor Johnson, of Minnesota," that candidate, in the forecast of these observers, "will not only be nominated with a grand hurrah, but in the running upon a platform of States' Rights, Constitutional Guarantees and Tariff Reform, could not be defeated even by Roosevelt himself as a candidate against him, and certainly not by Taft or any other candidate backed by the President."

Frequent Fires—Many Caused By Oil Stoves.

The alarm of fire has got to be quite a familiar sound to the citizens of Salisbury besides the many alarms of last week we have had three this week two of which occurred on Monday one at the home of Henry Townsend and the other at the Masonic Temple and one again Thursday morning at the colored church in Georgetown. Fortunately little damage was done in either case although the one which occurred at the Masonic Temple promised for a while to assume dangerous proportions. A coal oil stove in one of the toilet rooms on the second floor exploded and but for the timely action of Dr. Broetmankle, whose office is nearby, there would have been a serious fire. The Dr. with the assistance of Mr. B. Frank Kennerly succeeded in getting the stove out of the room and hauled it down stairs out into the street, after which the flames were put out. Most of the recent fires have been caused by the use of oil stoves and clearly demonstrates that while they may be cheaper and much more comfortable to use in hot weather than the ordinary cook stoves their use is attended by a great deal of danger unless unusual caution is taken in their care.

Prohibition County Convention.

The Prohibition County Convention for Wicomico county assembled in the Court House, Tuesday and elected the following delegates to the State Convention; L. P. Messick, J. G. Sheppard, Rev. B. G. Parker, J. H. Dulany, H. P. Eisey, James McLean, A. P. Toadvine, John Morris, U. C. Phillips, Covington Campbell, and G. W. Davis.

No county ticket was nominated because of no representatives from a majority of the districts. A resolution was passed that another convention be held on Tuesday, October 1, to nominate a county ticket.

Must Have Permit.

Writes have been sworn out and the arrest of several undertakers caused by the action of Dr. Marshall Price, secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. Price has given notice that he intends to keep the vital statistics of the State up to the standard and will investigate all cases of undertakers burying bodies without complying with the law which requires them to be buried before a body is buried. The law is very strict on this question and no undertaker has a right to bury a body without first obtaining a burial permit.

The Store That Does Things Best

This store is not satisfied to go along in a fairly good way. Whatever is done here must be done best—always.

It is this policy that makes Baltimore's Best Store the most satisfactory of all places to buy goods—for you are sure in advance of getting the best merchandise, the best store service and the most liberal treatment to be had anywhere.

And a sale here is never considered closed until you say you're satisfied.

These weeks are the weeks of clearance—summer goods must be gotten out before fall goods come. And we're getting them out just as thoroughly as we do everything else.

The lots are small—too small for detailed mention—but the savings are very, very big.

Our Mail Order Department is equipped to give prompt and accurate service. The McColl Base of Fashion will be mailed free every month on request. Samples of Silks, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics and so on, will be cheerfully sent on a full write for them.

A Lonely Post Office.

Two letters, deposited at one of the Galapagos islands in 1905, have just been delivered to their addressees...

It would be hard to find a lonelier spot for postal service than the Galapagos. Eight hundred miles west of the mainland of Ecuador lie fifteen mountainous, barren islands of volcanic origin.

The romance of the Galapagos lies in the fact of their having sometimes possessed a real Robinson Crusoe. A vessel anchoring at one of the islands sent a crew ashore.

A Beach Ablaze.

A Canadian botanist, Professor Penhallow, of McGill University, contributes to science the fruits of his investigation into a remarkable phenomenon, described as a "blazing beach," which was observed at Kittery Point, Me.

One evening in September, 1905, the guests in the hotel—the piazza of which may be seen on the extreme right of the photograph—were startled by the appearance of flames rising from the beach and from the water. The flames, which lasted for about three-quarters of an hour, were accompanied by a loud and continuous crackling noise, which could be heard 100 yards distant, due to the rapidly recurring explosions of bubbles of gas as they came to the surface of the sand or water.

At the same time there was a very strong liberation of sulphurous acid gas, which penetrated the hotel and caused great inconvenience to the guests. The sand was too hot to be held in the hand. When placed in a tumbler with water and stirred, bubbles of gas were liberated which ignited upon coming in contact with the air. The fire developed over that portion of the sand which had been exposed by the falling tide, and extended over the water for 30 or 40 feet.

About one month later the phenomenon was repeated, with identical features, except that instead of occupying the entire area between the rock formation on each side, it was restricted to the area where the two boats are lying. It is probable that in general the flames were not more than three or four inches high, although the maximum was greater. The general constitution of the shore along the river front is solid ledge, and this locality is a pocket which has become filled with sedimentary deposits of clay, sand and gravel, coarse gravel and finally large pebbles.

Over the outer portion of the sandy bottom there is an abundant growth of eel grass, which, together with other debris of a similar nature, is continually washed upon the beach, broken up by the combined action of the waves and sand and gradually buried in the latter.

Professor Penhallow concludes that the flames are to be considered as resulting directly from the spontaneous combustion of light carbonated and phosphureted hydrogen at the moment of their contact with the air, and these flaming gases in turn ignited the associated sulphureted hydrogen, which gas then gave rise to secondary features such as bluish, luminous flame and the sulphurous acid fumes.

This, however, does not account for the cause of the phenomenon. There are various theories, all embracing spontaneous combustion. A likely one is that beneath the beach there is an extensive sunken marsh, rich in gas.—Sci.

SULPHUR BRINGS HEALTH. Purifies The Blood and Clears Up The Complexion.

Everybody needs to take Sulphur at this season. Nothing like it to purify the blood, clear up the complexion and remove "that tired feeling." But the only way to take it is in liquid form. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur taken internally is the best Spring tonic. Applied externally Hancock's Liquid Sulphur quickly cures Eczema, Tetter, and all Skin Diseases. Hancock's the only Liquid Sulphur Ointment, removes pimples, Blackheads and Sores and gives a beautiful, soft, velvet skin. Your druggist sells it. It cured Edward D. Herring, of Frederick, Md., of a bad case of Eczema and he writes: "My face is as smooth as an infant's."

All about Sulphur, Booklet free, if you write Hancock Liquid Sulphur Co., Baltimore. I was told at 8:30 o'clock it was time for luncheon, writes an American tinsmith working in Leipzig. On starting, I did not care to eat, he told me it would be better if I did not work, so I sat down for half an hour and watched the others. At noon we had an hour and a half, and at 4 o'clock, fifteen minutes for lunch.

It may be of interest to some readers to know what the German sets. For his first breakfast he generally has a milk roll and a cup of coffee. The second breakfast is almost always a slice of bread with lard or goose oil, a piece of sausage or cheese and a bottle of beer. For dinner he has two slices of bread, as above, with a herring or large green pickle, cheese or sausage and another bottle of beer. For lunch another bottle of beer and a milk roll. For supper, soup and potatoes.

This is the general variety of foods we had for the four months I worked in that shop, and they had it day in and day out.—N. Y. World. —One more poor woman is lauded for her lack of banking knowledge. There is no denying it, however, she is funny when she gets tangled up in the paraphernalia of finance. The Denver Post tells this tale: The Denver National Bank, not long ago, received the following letter from a lady well known in social circles: "Gentlemen. Please stop payment on the check I wrote out today, as I accidentally burned it up. Yours, Mrs. Blank."

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness. Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life. Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect It. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

What Does It Mean

to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policyholders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best.

DECOYS OF FASHION

METHODS OF THE FASHIONABLE PARIS DRESSMAKERS.

Dates and Earnings of Mannequins and Saleswomen—The Master Stroke—Millions in the Trade With a Big Profit.

Fashionable dressmaking means a business of $30,000,000 a year in Paris. The receipts of one house amount up to about $1,200,000. The profits are about 20 per cent.

These figures are given by a French publication which has recently described the elaborate organization of the great maisons de modes and the lavish expenditures with which they are conducted. Rentals are paid ranging from $20,000 a year, and the show and sales-rooms are luxuriously furnished.

The manager of such an establishment must be at once an artist in his line and an organizer of consummate tact and vigor. He has not only a large staff to manage, but a capricious one; and then there are the customers.

Sometimes, when a sale is in doubt, it is up to him to give what they call the master stroke. He will burst into the room where a model is on exhibition.

"But," he exclaims, "you will lengthen this waist for madame."

"Oh, I don't know about this dress," falters the customer.

"Have no fear, madame," says the artist. "I am too proud of my art to let you take it except as a perfect adaptation to your genre, your style."

The customer is thrilled and the sale is made.

The sample costumes are all known by fancy names. The artist who makes the first sketch in water colors generally gives expression to his ideas, in a word: he will call it Carmen, the Victoria, the Alexandra, the Huntress, the Vintage Dress—anything that occurs to him to convey an idea of the style.

The name is often an attraction to the buyer and besides it has its business use. When a collection of silks and linings and braids and buttons is turned over to a cutter with instructions to prepare a Carmen according to certain measurements, he knows exactly what is wanted.

There is nothing easy about the post of a mannequin or model. Each one has twelve dresses made to fit her. In the busy season, or when called upon, she is expected to show each three times a day. She often has to do so, and these thirty-six changes of costume, coupled with the standing and posing for an inspection, involve such expenditure of muscular effort that only strong healthy girls can hold the places.

Sometimes, when customers linger over their choice and the girls are kept in statuesque positions for an hour at a time, they faint under the ordeal. When they do so, it is very much against them. Nothing unpleasant should ever happen at a fashionable dressmaker's.

For this trying work the models receive from $30 to $60 a month, depending on their attractiveness and the standing of the house. The saleswomen are much better paid. Their salaries run from $80 to $240 a month and they generally get a commission of from 3 to 5 per cent.

One case is quoted where a saleswoman in a great house made $15,000 a year. The saleswoman, however, takes the same risk as the house itself. Her commission is not paid when the sale is made, but when the bill is paid, and it is only allowed when the price secured for the dress exceeds a certain minimum set upon each sale.

Besides these a number of women are employed in the salesrooms as dressers. They get about $38 a month.

Over and above the regular employees many houses have on their staff certain women of some social position but limited means. These are called the laceuses. They draw no salaries, but get their dresses free or at reduced rate as an advertisement for the establishment, whose prizes they are expected to sing when they get the chance.

The winter models are shown in July and the summer ones in January. These are the months of greatest sales and it takes all the rest of the year to deliver the goods ordered at these periods.

FASHION'S MANDATE.

Painted chiffons with deep floral borders running up the skirt are really superb. If the empire dress is worn the coiffure should correspond in style or the charming effect is decidedly lessened.

Lovely novelties are the sheer batiste dechus, with embroidered scalloped edges and long, graceful flower designs in convent work.

A very pretty French bag is of soft gray suede, with a line of silver and green daisies embroidered along the top edge, instead of a stiff metal mounting.

Strapping, stitching and a bit of hand embroidery are used as trimming for many of the little girls' coats. Braiding is seen occasionally, but not upon the best models.

For the Little Ones. When bread is given to children under a year and a half old it should be sliced very thinly, buttered lightly and given in small quantities.

A MOVEMENT TO PREVENT BRIBERY AT ELECTIONS.

Leading Democrats and leading Republicans of Caroline county met together in Denton on Tuesday and agreed to take steps to prevent the bribery of voters in their county at the coming election. The Sun started a campaign against this great evil directly after last fall's election. Many of the best citizens of the Eastern Shore responded to our appeal. An anti-bribery movement was started in Talbot and other counties, and now the movement has taken practical form in Caroline. Indeed, vote buying has in recent years assumed such proportions on the Eastern Shore that in many instances there has been failure of popular government. Public officers have been shamelessly bought and voters became so familiar with debauchery and corruption that their moral sense has been blunted. The poison had spread to such an extent among the electorate that election to office in many instances became not a question of popular will and approval, but a matter of finance. Cardinal Gibbons declared in this connection during the Sun's anti-bribery agitation last fall that a man who takes an office to which he has been elected by purchased votes is taking what he is not justly entitled to, and is, therefore, no better than a thief and should be treated as such. The only way to put an end to this form of corruption is to stop buying votes. It is proposed in Caroline county that the committeemen and the candidates of each party shall enter into a compact not to spend money corruptly nor to countenance corruption. It is proposed that this agreement shall be rigidly adhered to by all concerned and enforced in letter and spirit. That will relieve candidates and party men of the large levies upon them which have been customary, and each candidate will stand upon his merits and that of his party. In gratifying a praiseworthy ambition to engage in the public service, the poor man, under this anti-bribery compact, will be at no disadvantage as compared with the rich man. And the public servants or the public agents will be selected by the free voters of a free people, and not by the corrupt ballots of voting cattle who have been bought up like so many chattels. The Caroline people are going about this business of purifying their politics in the right way, and other counties should follow their example. In order to achieve complete success, the anti-bribery compact must be maintained and enforced by public opinion. If any who are pledged to it are found to be false to their pledge, then public sentiment should strike them with an iron hand. And whether pledged or not, if this crime against the ballot and against public morals can be established by legal and sufficient evidence, no mercy should be shown the transgressors, but they should be locked up in the penitentiary. Honest men all over Maryland are observing with approval the Caroline movement. It is an example that should be adopted in every county in the State, for not one of them seems to be entirely free from the blight. In the city of Baltimore and in every county the candidates and committeemen of both parties should pledge themselves, as honest men, to discontinuance vote buying.—Baltimore Sun.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN HYMN.

We publish below by the courtesy of the Republican Campaign Committee its latest and what is thought will be one of their most popular songs that will be sung by that sweet singer, "Uncle Bill" Jackson in the coming campaign. The words will be recognized by Mr. Jackson and are supposed to be an elaboration of his own on that familiar expression: "I never sing until the hymn's given out". The music for this song was furnished by Bandmaster Mudd and is set to the tune, "I've money to burn," and was first hummed in a similar strain by Nero at the burning of Rome. Any one not having the music will be supplied by making application at the Salisbury Post Office, headquarters for the Republican Campaign Committee for Wicomico County. In the meantime each individual can select their own refrain.

As It Goes.

I never sing until the hymn is given out,
And then I take the lead,
I can make good "notes,"
When the cash gives out
And the "choir" begins to "bleed."
Chorus—
"Sydney and me,"
We did agree
To run this State together;
Sydney is to furnish the brain
While I put up the other.
I keep on hand some "literature"
Which is a potent aid
In getting worthless Democrats
To join in our parade.
I can blow a horn or beat a drum,
Or do most anything,
Just so I get my money's worth,
I dearly love to sing.
Chorus—"Sydney and me."
I dreamed a dream the other night,
It caused me agitation,
I dreamed that Sydney had forgot,
In his manipulation,
To get a promise iron clad,
From our good man, our Gaither;
When he becomes the Governor
We own the legislature—
Chorus—"Sydney and me."
Such dreams as these should not I know,
Raise in my mind the question
But really for a day or so.
I suffered indignation,
But Sydney sent me word which said,
That Gaither would be good,
And in our Senatorial fight,
Would help us all he could.
Chorus—"Sydney and me."
My troubles like a bubble burst,
And in my mind I saw,
Our well planned Senatorial schemes,
Go on without a flaw,
So now I'll get my check book out,
Begin to make some "figgers,"
To see how many whites I want,
To help out with my niggers.

Many Operations At The Hospital.

Last week Dr. J. McFadden Dick performed six major operations at the Hospital in three days, as follows: Walter Watson, of Drummondtown, Va., for appendicitis. Miss Betts, of Crisfield, for appendicitis. Hester Broughton, of Westover, for large tumor Mr. Feldman of this city, for hernia Mrs. Scott of Parkley, for abdominal abscess. Barbara Leind, Somerset county of blood poisoning, following pistol shot wound in the leg inflicted by her little brother. During the past six months Dr. Dick has performed more than a hundred major operations at the Hospital and in the homes of the patients.

Miss Marie Tainter Died At Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

Miss Marie Tainter aged twenty four years died at Blue Ridge Summit Pa., of hemorrhage of the brain. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tainter and sister of Miss Blanche Tainter, all of whom survive her. Her body was brought to Quantico Wednesday morning and interred in Quantico cemetery. Funeral services were conducted at Blue Ridge Summit by the Rev. Mr. Rich and concluded by Rev. F. B. Adkins at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Harold Boston, Daniel Collier, Harry Jones, Talbot Truitt, John Graham, and Clarence Bailey.

COMING TO MARYLAND.

Many Immigrants And Good Home Seekers Settling In This Prosperous State.

The excellent agricultural possibilities in the State of Maryland, the beautiful climate and the good social conditions have attracted the attention of people not only in the United States, but all over Europe. The State Bureau of immigration received yesterday a large number of inquiries from Holland, Switzerland, Austria and Germany for farms in Maryland, in addition to the usual daily number from Western States. Mr. A. F. Trappe, the secretary, is of the opinion that the near future will bring so many strangers into the State that the price of land will continue to advance. From letters received at the bureau it can be seen that the people in the West are compelled to fall back upon Maryland farms, as there are no more good homestead lands anywhere and the price in the valuable agricultural regions has reached such figures that it is far more advantageous for good farmers to look for an opening in the beautiful State of Maryland. One of the many visitors at the bureau, who came from Alberta, Canada, told Mr. Trappe that he had sold out because they had 63 days of snow and ice continuously, and that more families would come if they could sell the property. Among the prospective buyers of farms during the last week were: Messrs. William F. Lahner and wife, of Nebraska John Spiser, of Ledno, Canada; O. M. Spratt, of Pennsylvania; Prof. A. Pell, of Vermillion, S. D.; Arthur Martin, of Newark, N. J.; Charles Lohr, of Ohio; W. Prach, of South Carolina R. Ferrer, of New Jersey William Witt, of Minnesota William Flohr, of Delaware, Ohio; Clinton Reynolds, of Ohio; Arthur Hisman and Martin Kirchner, of Germany; J. A. Franz, of Bohemia, and Andrew Chmugowski, of Russia. Most of these visitors were furnished by the secretary with the information necessary in order to find suitable locations. From reports of real estate men in different sections of the State it can be stated that a number of farms changed hands and a goodly number of settlers took up land, thereby enhancing the value of land in the respective neighborhoods.

—Mrs. Jesse D. Price, and daughter, Miss Ruth and Miss Nancy Smith are visiting in Norfolk. —Miss Jesse Hamburger, of Washington, D.C., is visiting in Salisbury, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Grier. —Mr. Walter Powell left Thursday morning to visit relatives in Salisbury. He will also spend a few days in Ocean City before returning home. —Snow Hill Messenger. —Mrs. Harry L. Powell and little son, Henry Stewart, of Abington, Pa., are visiting his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Powell, North Division Street. —Miss Ora Belle Disharoon returned home from a month's visit in Tennessee today, she was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Lily Burbage, of Johnson city, Tenn. —Among the Exposition visitors to Jamestown this week were Mrs. John W. Dashiell and guests, Misses Grace and Gertrude Lindale, Miss Ora Disharoon, Miss Lily Burbage, and Messrs. Homer Dickerson, Joe and Purnell White.

—Rev. Theo. N. Potts, is home again, after a month's vacation spent with friends and relatives in Virginia and will conduct the usual services in Trinity M. E. Church tomorrow, Sunday, also preaching in South Salisbury at the afternoon. —St. Peter's Choir will leave today for their annual outing of one week at Ocean City. Besides the choir which will number about twenty five persons, several members of the congregation will go with them. The entire party will stop at the Plumblimmon. Rev. Mr. Howard will accompany the choir and will take his vacation with them. There will be no services at St. Peter's church tomorrow. —Mrs. Rev. Geo. W. Bonds and three children, of Harrington, Del., spent last Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. John H. Livingston, of near Salisbury. Mrs. Bonds has been spending sometime in Jamestown, and Cape Charles also. —F. E. Matthews, of Pocomoke city and Charles Barker of Millford have been appointed by W. F. Allen to represent Maryland and Delaware at the convention of the American Pomological Society which meets at Jamestown September 24 to 26th. Mr. Allen is President of the Peninsula Horticultural Society.

—Attorney A. M. Jackson went to Spring Lake, N. J., to represent Mrs. Emma Booth, at the sale of the property of the late Edward F. Sayre, of that place. Mr. Sayre came to Salisbury some time the first of this year for medical treatment and died at the residence of Mrs. Booth on Popular Hill Avenue. It was found after the death of Mr. Sayre that in consideration of care and attention given him during his illness he had made Mrs. Booth his beneficiary in a will made just previous to his death. The estate amounts to about $7,000.

—Women Who Wear Well. It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the firm of its firmness, so surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Flossie's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label.

The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the firm of its firmness, so surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Flossie's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label.

"Penny" Representative Visits Salisbury.

Mr. J. W. Lee, Jr., of Philadelphia, representing the Pennsylvania Railroad, is touring the Peninsula to ascertain the exact feeling existing between the people and the transportation companies with especial reference to the attitude Baltimore has taken. He called on several of our business men last week. Mr. Lee seems to be of the opinion that Baltimore has simply neglected her opportunities and allowed trade to drift away—that people go where they can be best served. He says the Railroad company is trying to locate serious complaints with a view to giving a remedy wherever it can be shown possible. To provide enough boats to take care of the freight during two or three congested months of business would mean a large amount of idle capital for the rest of the year, which would burden the Company, and in turn would have to be supported by those who patronized the boats running.

IN MEMORIAM.

A memorial anniversary of our darling little Mildred, the rose bud that was plucked a year ago from our home is mysteriously cherished in our memory as fresh as when the invisible hand wrote the sentence of death across the little forehead. Listen, can anyone tell us, Why the Good Master treated us so? Was it our disobedience to Him or not. Caused our darling to have to go. Why perhaps we're averse to God Walking the road the angels plod Or omitting duty we owe to Him Who has the power to cancel sin. Or making the child an idol of heart, For that cause we had to part, If so can't we repay, And meet her where the angels stay. Yes it was a year ago you know: That little Mildred was called to go: 'Twas an invisible sentence on the wall, But came to us to ask me a call. Conviction leads us to see, Where she is there we will be: The little form mouldering lies, But we will join her in the skies. It might be we idolized, Was why she left us for the skies, But all our tears will be wiped away, When we reach the land of eternal day. —Wilda and Lena E. Owens.

Mrs Sharpley Gives Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. Geo. F. Sharpley gave an afternoon tea at her residence on Broad Street Thursday of this week in honor of her guest, Miss Bailey of Kinton, Del. Those who assisted Mrs. Sharpley in receiving were Miss Bailey, Mrs. Colman and Mrs. Geo. R. Collier, Mrs. E. O. Fulton, Miss Collier, Miss Pauline Collier, Miss Nancy Gordy and Miss Elizabeth Johnson, assisted in the dining room. Punch was served in the hall by Mrs. Irving Powell, Miss Rebecca Smith, and Miss Margaret Smith. The dining room was prettily decorated with foliage and clusters of grapes. On the table was a beautiful centerpiece finished in yellow.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, gone!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way. The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years." Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of AYER'S PILLS, SASSAPARILLA, CHERRY PECTORAL.

A Representative of Isaac Hamburger & Sons, Tailors and Furnishers, Baltimore, Md.

Will be at the Peninsula Hotel on Sept. 16, 17, 18 and 19, with their new FALL LINE OF SUITINGS, OVERCOATINGS AND TROUSERS, and will be pleased to show them to anyone interested. The Messrs. Hamburger make their own selection of Cloths from the best mills here and abroad, and as they show many exclusive styles their display is well worth an inspection.

Facts and Figures

all argue in favor of our goods and our methods. What we say is substantiated by the evidence of our stock. The argument of careful selection is beyond dispute—it's here to be seen almost at a glance. For the person who studies his or her gain, there is nothing left to do but to visit this store at any time that there is a jewelry-buying trip contemplated. Always glad to show you—for seeing is believing. HARPER & TAYLOR, SALISBURY, MARYLAND.

MINISTER TELLS THE TRUTH.

Personal Experience Of Aged And Well Beloved Preacher.

No other man in the community is so well beloved or whose words have such weight as the minister who has devoted his life to the service of mankind.

Reisterstown, Md., February 27th. 'I was taken with Inflammatory Rheumatism in my left hand and foot in the beginning of this winter and suffered greatly.

Yours respectfully, J. R. Wheeler, Pastor, Reisterstown M. E. Church.

Your druggist sells and recommends RHEUMACIDE.

—Houseboating is gaining in popularity in this country. It long has been in great favor in England, and there isn't a stream in all the United Kingdom that can compare with the Hudson or placid Delaware.

Life on a houseboat is something of which any woman would become fond in a single season.

—An Italian priest who was well known for his missionary work among the Passamaquoddy Indians in eastern Maine was once urged by a young lady of his congregation at Eastport to have a "mission" there to rouse some of the lethargic members of the church whose spiritual condition, she earnestly declared, was really deplorable.

"No, no!" he replied. "I do not approve of missions. They make no excitement, but do effect is not lasting."

"Oh, yes, rather, indeed it is!" she insisted.

"In that case, denn, you do not need one," replied the good father, with a genial smile, "for you had one three years ago."—Ex.

Railroad Over The Sea.

Next to the building of the Panama Canal one of the most remarkable and important transportation enterprises under way is the extension of the Florida East Coast Railroad from Miami, Fla. to the tip of the Gulf at Key West.

A glance at the map showed a long string of islands leading off the southern point of Florida. Along these "keys" or islands Henry M. Flagler is now constructing a railway which will bring New York and Key West in direct rail communication.

From Key West a car ferry will transport a train of thirty cars to Havana, and the gulf and straits will be made a variable harbor of commerce.

Mr. Flagler turned in his office chair and handed me the memoranda of the work, and I saw that the distance from Miami to Key West is 154 miles, the railroad already extending twenty eight miles of this distance to Homestead.

Sixty miles of this road is on solid rock embankments through the water of the ocean, separating the mainland from Key West.

Largo is the largest of the keys and is forty miles in length, but the railroad only traverses fifteen miles of its area.

The water between the islands is shallow, being from ten to thirty feet deep, with a bottom of limestone.

Fish At The Port Of Peace.

London—The American government, which has taken the lead at the Hague Peace Conference in endeavoring to promote arbitration, will be responsible for giving the Hague tribunal the most important case yet submitted to it.

Both the Foreign Office and the embassy maintain diplomatic reserve, but it has been learned from unquestionable sources that the long correspondence between the two governments made it seem clear that their contentions could not be harmonized and had reached an impasse.

After a week or two of consideration the British government accepted the proposal, and then the American government proposed that for another year, while the matter was in process of arbitration, the fisheries should be conducted as they were last year, under the same modus vivendi.

There has been delay in concluding the arrangement. While the British government has secured the assent of Sir Robert Bond, the Newfoundland Premier, to the agreement, Sir Robert undoubtedly will be reluctant to accept the modus vivendi, which he opposed strongly last season.

However, there is little doubt that the agreement will be enforced and that the fisheries during the season beginning next week will be conducted on the same methods as the last.—Herald, N. Y.

CONNELIUS G. MESSICK, the second nominee on the ticket for County Commissioner, lives at Bivalve, in Nanticoke District. He is well and favorably known over the whole Western section of Wicomico County. His business connections have put him in close contact with people all over Tyaskin and Nanticoke Districts, and he bears a name for honesty and fidelity to principle seldom gained by men. He was born in Tyaskin District, February 9, 1864, and is a cabinet maker by trade, having built up a large business. He is the son of Alfred D. Messick, and has been a consistent Democrat all his life. He has never held public office except that of Justice of the Peace in 1892-3. He is a member of the I. O. Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Red Men and Heptasoph Lodges, and attends the Methodist (Protestant) Church, in which he takes a prominent part. Mr. Messick is a man of excellent judgment and will make a splendid man in the Commissioners' office.

WHEELER D. TRUITT, candidate for County Commissioner, is one of the younger Democrats on the East side of the County who has made good. He was born near Willard, November 11th, 1873, and received his education in the country school in his neighborhood. Mr. Truitt was Justice of the Peace for his District for eight years, and has had considerable business experience. At present he is engaged in the produce brokerage business, and has a large circle of business friends. He is a member of the M. E. Church, and stands high in the Order of the Shield of Honor, having been Master of his Lodge at one time. Mr. Truitt is a hustling young Democrat, who will look after the interests of his people on the East side of the County as a Commissioner. He is progressive, believes in making good roads, and if elected, will serve with honor to himself and the County.

KING V. WHITE, of Powellville, Dennis' District, is one of the leading citizens of Wicomico County, and a nominee on the Democratic ticket for Judge of the Orphans' Court. Judge White has been prominent in Democratic politics in this County for a number of years. In 1888 he was elected to the House of Delegates by a big majority and was one of the solid members of that session. Again in 1895 he was nominated on the ticket for Judge of the Orphans' Court, and as Chief Judge was instrumental in putting effect in several marked improvements in the manner of transacting the business of the Court. Mr. White was born near Powellville in January, 1841. He has been engaged in the mercantile and lumber business for many years, and has had much to do with the development of that section of the County. He is a member of the M. P. Church, and is an all-around respected and prominent citizen.

EDWARD MARSHALL SMITH, nominee for Judge of the Orphans' Court, is one of the substantial citizens of Delmar Election District. He comes of a long line of good Democratic stock, and cast his first vote for Grover Cleveland when he was a candidate for President the first time. Mr. Smith was born October 14, 1863, in Sussex county, Del., and is a son of Daniel and Sally Smith. He is engaged in farming and is a progressive citizen of his district. He attends the Methodist Protestant Church. Mr. Smith is amply qualified to fill the position to which he aspires.

ALONZO DYKES, of Nutter's District, candidate for Judge of the Orphans' Court, is a worthy son of a worthy father. He was born at the old Dykes homestead in Nutter's District, December 1, 1853. He is a son of the late James Dykes, at one time the "old war horse" of Democracy in Nutter's. Mr. Dykes is engaged in farming and trucking, and has made a success of both. He is a man of sound judgment and will make a very efficient and fair-minded Judge of the Orphans' Court. He stands well with his people at home, and should give considerable strength to the ticket.

JOSEPH L. BAILEY, nominee for State's Attorney, is one of the well-known lawyers of Salisbury. He hails from Quantico District, where he was born, and is a son of Levin Bailey, who for many years was one of the Democratic leaders of Quantico District. Mr. Bailey received his education at Washington College, Chestertown, and was admitted to the bar in 1889. In 1899 he was nominated on the Democratic ticket for State's Attorney and made a remarkable run in that memorable campaign. He filled the office for four years with such marked ability that he was re-nominated in 1903 and again elected by a good majority. Mr. Bailey has tried some very important cases since he came to Salisbury, and is always found on the firing line in political warfare.

PETER S. SHOCKLEY, Democratic nominee for County Surveyor, was born in Worcester county, near Snow Hill, 48 years ago. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of that county, but after leaving school continued his studies, and by his indomitable will and persistent efforts in search of knowledge, has succeeded in bringing his education to that point where he is now looked upon as being one of the best mathematicians and men of general information in this section, and is often referred to in matters which require more than the usual knowledge and research. Mr. Shockley came to Salisbury in 1888 and was made Surveyor in 1891, and has served in that capacity ever since. Although he has frequently expressed his inclination to further serve his party in this capacity, he has always yielded to the importunities of his friends, who recognized his signal ability for this position. His has been a case of the office seeking the man.

"We dined in some of the finest hotels and restaurants, but did not find any coffee to excel in quality Arbuckle's ARIOSA."
That is what one lady writes and millions of others prove they believe, by using more Arbuckle's ARIOSA Coffee than all the other packaged coffees in the United States put together.
The fact that Arbuckle's ARIOSA Coffee costs less and has suited the health and taste of most American people for over 37 years, ought to induce everybody to at least sample it.
The cities hide many country girls and boys who secretly sigh for a cup of good coffee like "mother" made. "Mother" probably used the old original "Arbuckle's" the first roasted packaged coffee.
See that you get the sealed package, one pound full weight, bearing the name ARBUCKLE'S ARIOSA COFFEE and the signature of Arbuckle Brothers, which entitles you to presents.
That is the genuine article, no matter where you buy it or what price you pay for it.
Same old Coffee, same old firm.
If your grocer won't supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., NEW YORK CITY.
