CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

President Twilley's Resignation Accepted. Mayor Recommends John T. Parsons As Clerk To Council.

At the Session of the City Council Monday night, the resignation of President Twilley, which was handed in some time ago was taken up. Each member of the council asked Mr. Twilley to reconsider his resignation and expressed their appreciation of his services on the Board.

Mr. Twilley still pressed for favorable action on his resignation, which was granted and resignation was accepted.

Mr. Twilley has given much time and attention to his duties as a Councilman and had come to be recognized as a valuable member of that important body and it is much to be regretted that his other duties would not permit him to continue his good work. The selection of another Councilman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Twilley is being well considered by the other members as it should be and several men, who are prominent in the business circles of the City are being approached along this line. After thoroughly going over the situation Monday the matter was laid over for further consideration.

Mayor Harper sent in the name of John T. Parsons, Esq., as City Collector to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry J. Byrd. The Council held the confirmation over until another meeting, hoping by that time to have a full Board to act on the appointment.

—Mr. George E. Renshaw, of Baltimore and Miss Nettie Goslee, daughter of Theodore Goslee, Camden Avenue were married at the Southern Methodist Parsonage Tuesday evening of this week by Rev. Dr. Post. Miss Goslee was very popular here and her many friends wish her much happiness.

—Mrs. Geo. B. Drummond, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Jessica and son, Master Hubert left Tuesday for Jamestown. Miss Jessica will leave Jamestown Friday for Washington where she will join her uncle who will accompany her on a month's trip through the West.

Maryland Day at Jamestown Exposition

SEPT. 12 IS ALSO DEFENDERS' DAY AND "STAR SPANGLED BANNER" DAY—HISTORIC ANNIVERSARIES.

Author of "Maryland, My Maryland," to Be a Guest at the State Building—Reproduction of Charles Carroll's Famous Home is Maryland's Edifice at the Fair. Rich Collection of Historical Paintings and Photographs Attractively Displayed.

MARYLAND DAY at the Jamestown exposition, Sept. 12, is also Defenders' day; the ninety-third anniversary of the bombardment of Fort Mifflin, Sept. 12, 1814. It was on Sunday, Sept. 11, that the British fleet of seventy ships entered the Patuxent river and the next morning landed 7,000 soldiers at North Point to attack Baltimore. The story of their defeat and the death of their commander, General Ross, are matters of history, as is also the recital of their later attempt by water and subsequent repulse by the gallant patriots of Maryland. It was while temporarily detained by the British on a vessel in the river that Francis Scott Key wrote "The Star Spangled Banner." Thus Maryland day is "Star Spangled Banner" day as well as Defenders' day.

Maryland Day Programme.

The officials of the exposition and the Maryland commission have arranged a most elaborate programme to include addresses by distinguished men and the participation of the army and navy. The details were completed by Major Malory and Lieutenant Bagby, in charge of military affairs at the exposition; Lynn R. Meekins and J. William Baughman of the Maryland commission and R. H. Sexton, director of special events.
On Maryland day, in connection with the celebration, exercises will be held in the Auditorium, at which time there will be addresses by Governor Warfield, James R. Randall of New Orleans, author of "Maryland, My Maryland," Governor Swanson of Virginia, President Tucker and Director General Barr of the exposition and Captain Frederick M. Colton, who will also be the presiding officer.
Senator William Pinkney Whyte and Attorney General Bonaparte are also expected to be present to make short addresses. Senator Whyte will make the speech introducing Mr. Randall. An effort is being made with some assurance of success to secure the presence on that day of Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, hero of the battle of Santiago. His old flagship, the Brooklyn, now lies at anchor off the exposition grounds.

The programme will include a number of special events for the day, including the presence of a larger number of bands than usual, a magnificent fireworks display in the evening and several free attractions on the War Path.
The railroad and steamship authorities are co-operating in arranging special rates and making preparations to handle the increased traffic.
Sept. 12 will be the biggest day at the exposition thus far.
Maryland may well be proud of having given to the nation the splendid "Star Spangled Banner," but her laurels as a song producing state do not rest upon this one grand national air alone. One of the sweetest carols of the present or past is "Maryland, My Maryland," and the whole world warbles it.

"Maryland, My Maryland."
Dear Mother, burst thy tyrant's chain,
Maryland! My Maryland!
Virginia should not call in vain,
Maryland! My Maryland!
She meets her sisters on the plain,
"Be temper!" 'tis the proud refrain,
That baffles millions back again,
Maryland! My Maryland!

The author, James R. Randall, who now lives in New Orleans, is to be the guest of the state of Maryland at the exposition for several weeks, including Old Home week and Maryland day.
Price, Jr., Centerville; Jacob Rohrbach, Frederick; John B. Shannon, Frostburg; John K. Shaw, Jr., Baltimore; T. Herbert Shriver, Union Mills; Palmer Tennant, Hagerstown; Douglas H. Thomas, Baltimore; George M. Thomas, Charlotte Hall; John Warfield, Baltimore; J. William Baughman, Frederick.
This list includes the names of men following the various pursuits of life, agriculture, business and the professions, and all are representative citizens of this great state.
There is an auxiliary committee of the Maryland commission composed of leading women of the state, some of them wives of former chief executives, and they have taken a deep and active interest in their state's participation at the exposition.
Mrs. John Ridgely of "Hampton," Towson, is the chairman; Mrs. Henry W. Rogers of 1416 Park avenue, Baltimore, is the secretary; Mrs. Jesse Tyson of Baltimore is the treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd Lowndes and Mrs. E. E. Jackson complete the list.
Charles Carroll's Mansion.
After Virginia no state plays a more important part at the exposition than Maryland, and no state building can surpass hers in the plentiful and accurate reminders contained therein of her history and traditions. Contrary to the general impression, it is not Douglass Manor, the home of the first Lord Baltimore, which is still in a splendid state of preservation near Ellicott City that is reproduced, but Homewood, the stately residence of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, built in 1803 on what is now Charles street, Baltimore, and belonging at present to Johns Hopkins university.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Names Ticket For Wicomico County After An Adjournment Of Several Weeks. Mr. Miller For State Senate.

After an adjournment of several weeks the Republican Convention was again called together Tuesday and nominated their county ticket. The convention was a very quiet and orderly one, and there was a complete absence of the objectionable features which have so often "colored" these meetings. That this is a step in the right direction and will meet with the approbation of the desirable element of both races, goes without saying.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Elmer H. Walton, who made quite an extended speech, in which he spoke of what he considered the bright prospects of the party's success in Wicomico this fall. Mr. Walton also highly eulogized President Roosevelt, and spoke in glowing terms of the entire administration; after which the following ticket was named:

State Senator—Walter B. Miller, Salisbury District.
House of Delegates—William M. Day, Parsons District, E. S. S. Turner, Nanticoke District, William B. Tilghman, Jr., Camden District.
County Treasurer—Samuel A. Graham Parsons District.
State's Attorney—Elmer H. Walton, Salisbury District.
Sheriff—Thomas M. Truitt, Pittsburg District.
County Commissioner—B. H. Cordrey, Barren Creek; Joseph B. Cooper, Sharptown; William G. Dennis, Willard.
Judges Orphans' Court—Charles F. Wimbrow, Dennis, Benjamin W. Parker, Delmar; W. A. Crew, Salisbury.
Surveyor—Thomas English, Barren Creek.

The convention passed the following resolutions, which were adopted:

The Resolutions.
"We, the Republicans of Wicomico County, in convention assembled, hereby renew our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party as laid down in the State and National platforms of 1907 and 1904, respectively.

"We endorse the administration of President Roosevelt, and the wise and patriotic course he has pursued in dealing with an unusually large number of momentous propositions which have confronted the nation during his tenure of office, a policy which has given to the farmers a market at all times for their products, at prices far in excess of those prevailing under Democratic Administrations, and one which has enhanced the property values from forty to two hundred per cent. over the values which prevailed prior to 1896, and at the same time has provided for every man who desired to work an opportunity to do so at prices which secure for him not only the necessities but many of the luxuries of life.

"We desire to place ourselves on record as favoring a broad and liberal policy with reference to the question of good roads. The building and maintenance of an up-to-date system of highways is one of the most progressive steps which can be taken by the local authorities, and does more to enhance the value of farm lands than any other method of public improvement. While this is true, we believe, however, that the improvement should be carried on with due regard to the revenues of the county so that its finances will always be in the best possible condition. In other words, we favor retrenchment along other lines whenever it can be done without detriment to the interests of the people.

"But we do not believe in a retrenchment which means the closing of a large number of district schools many weeks before the time for closing, nor in the wholesale reduction of the salaries of the teachers, such as has recently taken place; for this reason we are distinctly opposed to the present policy of the county authorities in this respect.
"The public-school system is one which touches more vitally than any other the general welfare of the entire people, and greater liberality and a broader spirit should characterize the officials in dealing with this question. We favor, therefore, at least a return to the old schedule of pay for teachers, and, if possible, an increase, and at the same time favor a continuance of all schools of the county for the full term, throughout the scholastic year. In connection with the public-road system, we desire to record ourselves as favoring a liberal National and State appropriation, and believe that greater benefit is secured to the people in general through a policy of this character than by any other form of public appropriations except for the direct maintenance of the Government itself.

"We are opposed to present Haman Oyster Law in the State, and challenge either the ability or the willingness of the Democratic party to deal with this question in the interest of those engaged in the oyster traffic. Without equivocation, we pledge ourselves to the enactment of such legislation as will be favorable to the oystermen and secure to them the full natural rights and privileges which they have ever enjoyed.
"We condemn the slow, hesitating, unfair and unjust policy of the County authorities in relation to the proposed river road from Salisbury to Shad Point. The road should have been completed years ago and the people who have invested their money in having the highway

MURDER IN SALISBURY.

Bruce Parnell Shot And Killed In Dispute Over Crap Game. Two Negroes Arrested. The One Supposed To Have Done The Shooting Escapes.

Bruce Parnell, a well known negro gambler of this city was shot and almost instantly killed last Saturday night on Delaware Street, in that part of town known as California. It seems from the best information obtainable that a crowd of young negroes had been engaged in their usual calling of "shooting craps" in the woods near Delaware street which is a rendezvous for games of this kind. Some dispute arose about the division of the money and in the argument, which followed, Parnell was shot. It has not yet been fully determined just who did the shooting as those who were connected with the game tell conflicting stories and evidently have a desire to shield the guilty party. It is generally believed that a negro who had recently come here and who fraternized exclusively with the "sporting" element of our colored population was the one who did the shooting. This negro went by the name of "Kid" Bluey and was looked upon by the best element of the colored race as a dangerous character. He claimed to have come from Tennessee and boasted of having killed two special officers in that State. Since coming here he had made his home with the one he is supposed to have killed. It seems from the testimony of those present that Bruce and the "Kid" were playing partners and had succeeded in "cleaning out" the entire crowd, and when it came time to divide, a dispute arose over the division, which ended in the shooting. As soon as the shooting occurred the negroes fled and made no attempt to detain the one who did the shooting. Some white men, who heard the cries of the wounded man went to the scene and found the body dead. They notified the officers, who at once responded, but too late to make any arrest. The body was removed to the negro's home. A jury of inquest was summoned Sunday morning by Justice Trader. After viewing the body they rendered a verdict which reads: That on August 31st, 1907, at Wicomico County aforesaid, Edward Dashiell, Ernest Robbins, or Dick Bluey, did feloniously and of malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Bruce Parnell by shooting him with a pistol in the right side of the back thereby inflicting a mortal wound, of which the said Bruce Parnell, then and there died the ones not firing the pistol being present aiding and abetting. Dashiell and Robbins were both arrested Sunday and are now in jail, held as accessories before and after the fact. Bluey has not been arrested although the officers are still working on the case and by some, it is thought that either of the two arrested, may have done the shooting.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

John W. Dorman A Prominent Citizen Of Quantico District Painfully Injured.

Mr. John W. Dorman, a prominent resident of Quantico District and merchant of Hebron met with a painful accident while out driving last Sunday. He was driving a new horse which became frightened and after running some distance became unmanageable and striking a tree threw Mr. Dorman out and broke his hip. The place where the accident occurred was in a large woods, some distance from where anyone lived and he was compelled to lie for several hours in his injured condition before any help reached him. He was finally found by some people who were passing and brought to the Hospital for treatment.

Dr. Dick was summoned to attend the injured man. He set the joint and the patient is now doing as well as could be hoped under the circumstances.
Mr. Dorman is quite well known in this community and much sympathy is expressed for him in his misfortune and it is hoped that his accident will result in no permanent disability. He is a very energetic man and has long been prominent in the business affairs of the county.

graded are entitled to more consideration than has been shown them by the County Commissioners. The people have long since carried out their part of the agreement while the Commissioners have constantly refused to build the necessary bridge and fulfill the solemn promise made years ago. We favor immediate completion of the road, and pledge the nominees of this convention for County Commissioners to take such official action in case of their election as will bring about the desired result promptly.
"Believing in the time-honored doctrine of majority rule, and the rights of the people themselves to select their own candidates for public office, we desire to place ourselves on record as favoring the Crawford County system of primary nominations. This is the most direct and efficient method of selecting for public office the choice of the people themselves, and has been peculiarly successful in every locality where it has been given a fair trial."

ORIGINALS NOW FIRST SHOWN

Precious Documents and Other Things Preserved From Colonial Days Make a Showing of Vivid Interest to All Maryland People.

When the officials of the Jamestown exposition announced that history would have first place at the Tercentennial celebration Governor Warfield recognized this as an opportunity to have Maryland's early history emphasized and full justice done her first settlers by exhibiting there the memorial collection which he was making for the statehouse at Annapolis.

Realizing that a collection of this kind could be made most quickly and satisfactorily by one thoroughly familiar with the original records of the state and one who had demonstrated a desire to bring to light all that would reflect honor on Maryland, Governor Warfield issued a commission to Mrs. Hester Dorsey Richardson as special Survivals of mills employed in colonial Maryland; also typical household implements used in early days in Maryland, photographed in Dorchester county by Miss Mary V. Dorsey of that county.

Photograph of superb communion service engraved with royal arms of England, presented to St. Anne's church, Annapolis, by King William III and inscribed with his initials, W. R.

Photograph of the memorial ring given by Queen Henrietta Maria to her maid of honor, wife of an early settler, Captain James Nolan, still owned by a descendant, Mrs. Clara Earle Tilghman of Maryland.

Shown through the courtesy of the land commissioner, Hon. E. Standley Toadvin, are the many facsimiles of rare state documents.

Mrs. Richardson collected the entire executive exhibit by glancing from original sources all that could link the individuality of the early settlers with their public acts and thus preserve to all times the names of those who braved dangers and hardships of pioneer life to help lay the cornerstone of this great nation.

executive historian to collect and put in shape Maryland's historic data and documents.

Mrs. Richardson has faithfully discharged this duty, and as a result the Maryland building at the exposition contains the most interesting and instructive demonstrations of Maryland history ever collected.

The exhibit includes the following object lessons in Maryland history and many others:

The names of 110 of those who came in the Ark and the Dove with Governor Leonard Calvert, nearly a hundred of which names have not been published in any history.

Facsimile of original letter sent back on the Ark's return trip to England giving an account of the voyage over; also one of the receipts for the two Indian arrows paid at Windor castle each Tuesday in Easter week by the proprietor as fealty to the king, illustrating Maryland's exemption from taxation by king or parliament as her charter right.

The part of the "act concerning religion," insuring freedom of conscience, passed by the assembly of Maryland in the year 1649, records the fact that Maryland was at that time the only place in the known world where persons of all faiths were at liberty to worship God according to their own consciences. The autographs of those who passed the act are attached to it and are shown for the first time.

Many names of the earliest settlers for whom lands were surveyed in the twelve oldest counties, giving the name of their first surveys. This roll of honor includes over a thousand names of the progenitors of Maryland's oldest families, in many of which the original lands have descended to the present generation.

Under the head "Lords of the Manor in Maryland" are given the names of forty-six to whom were granted manors, with all the privileges of lords of the manor in England, giving the names of the manors and the acreage. These have never before been collected.

The "act against the importation of convicted persons into this province," passed 1678, is displayed to prove that Maryland had no convicts among her first settlers, as this act imposes a heavy fine on "some captains of merchant vessels" who smuggled in "several" felons and sold them for their own profit.

The act for "the founding and erecting of a school or college within this province for the education of youth in learning and virtue," April, 1671, and the act establishing King William's school, 1696, are displayed to show that Maryland passed the first act for a free school in this country and perhaps in the world.

Washington's eulogy of his aid, Lieutenant Colonel Tench Tilghman of Maryland, who bore the official news of Cornwallis' surrender from Yorktown to the congress at Philadelphia, Oct. 10, 1781.

A curious document entitled "Jeremiah Riley's scheme for destroying ships of war," sent to the council of safety about 1776, the first plan for coast defense ever considered by the council in Revolutionary times.

Photograph of the patriot, Dr. Charles Alexander Warfield, with a correct account of the "burning of the Peggy Stewart," Oct. 19, 1774.

Facsimile of "The Star Spangled Banner" and also a photograph of one of the first printed copies distributed and sung in Baltimore the day after it was written off Fort M'Henry, Sept. 13, 1814. A photograph of Francis Scott Key, the author of this national song, and a St. Memin's engraving of Judge Joseph Hoppe Nicholas, brother-in-law of Key, who had the words printed and set to music Sept. 15, 1814.

Photographic facsimiles of the autographs and seals of about 600 early settlers and important colonial personages, taken from original wills and other legal documents in ancient court-books and the land office. Many show heraldic seals of interest.

EXHIBIT PALACE AT THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

Exhibit Palace at the Jamestown exposition, which Marylanders will see on Maryland day, Sept. 12, will long be remembered as the most carefully selected horticultural displays ever shown in this country, not for the number of specimens, but for the actual quality of the exhibits themselves.

Decorated profusely with the Maryland colors, old gold and black, the booth occupies just a thousand square feet of floor space. The ceiling and the pillars supporting the ceiling are likewise gold and black, while near the center of the booth are two large colored paintings of the oriole, the emblematic bird of the city of Baltimore. But the most pleasing and striking features of the decorations are the flowers. There are flowers everywhere. Roses, crotons and peonies in tall green vases adorn the tables and exhibit cases. Palms and boxwoods and arbutus plants border the exhibit, while within are dwarf cedars planted in large tubs.

In the center of the booth is the office of the superintendent, Professor Thomas B. Symons; Mrs. Symons, the hostess of the exhibit, with Mr. Symons' assistants, E. I. Oswall and E. W. Myers. This office is ten feet from the floor and is eighteen feet long by eight feet deep.

Along the front of the booth and in it are twenty-one extension tables, white with gold trimmings, on which are the Maryland apples, rated by horticulturists as among the finest in the world. Thirty-five varieties of this fruit are shown. To see these alone is well worth a visit to the building.

On each plate of fruit and, in fact, on every exhibit in the booth is a card on which is printed a map of Maryland and the variety of the exhibit, together with the name and address of the exhibitor. The locality from which the specimen was sent is designated on the top of the map by a red cross. Thus one is enabled to tell at a glance all about the specimen in question. In addition to their individual use, these cards constitute a valuable horticultural collection inasmuch as they assign to each section of the state the fruits for which it is best known.

State Agricultural College. At the right end of the booth is shown the exhibit from the Maryland Agricultural college. This consists of a large case containing about fifty specimens of steel, iron and wood-work, an equal number of original mechanical drawings and a large assortment of photographs showing the students, with their instructors, engaged in active experiment and test work in the laboratory and in the field.

Next there is an interesting entomology exhibit, consisting of about twenty-five specimens of the beneficial insects, with several large models devised for the study of the internal anatomy of the insects.

The college collection contains 20,000 specimens. Those sent to the exposition are to show the method of mounting and preserving the system of classification and arrangement.

Canning Industry. In the canning and preserving of tomatoes, pees and strawberries the state of Maryland leads the United States. In the canning of fruits and vegetables, all kinds being considered, it stands second. It packs 80 per cent of the tomatoes canned in the United States and 25 per cent of the total amount of peas.

In exploitation of this industry there are on exhibit in the Maryland booth two pyramids eight feet in diameter and fifteen feet high composed of thousands of cans of all kinds of vegetables and fruits. Then there are quantities of preserves and pickles, good to look upon and pleasant to the taste.

Professor Symons is a member of the faculty of the Maryland Agricultural college, being in charge of the department of entomology. He is the state entomologist and is secretary of the Maryland Horticultural society. Being thus versatile, he has known exactly how to arrange the various exhibits to the best advantage of the whole. He personally supervised the placing of everything in the booth and has greatly added to its beauty by weaving ropes of ivy around the windows, over the tables and through the balcony rails of the office.

Oyster Industry. The Maryland oyster industry is represented by an exhibit sent by the state shellfish commission. It consists of numerous specimens of oysters, the exhibits being arranged according to the ages of the specimens and again according to the variety and size.

The shellfish commission was organized by Dr. Caswell Graves about one year ago, but since that time it has been the means of developing oyster beds worth millions of dollars.

In addition to the specimen exhibits, a number of pictures and maps are displayed, showing how the beds are located and developed. The whole wall at the upper end of the booth is covered with these pictures and charts.

In a recent report of the Maryland State Horticultural society it is shown that the annual crop of potatoes in the state is worth about $1,500,000, some 33,000 acres being grown.

The exhibits of this vegetable occupy several large tables near the oyster display. These potatoes are unusually large and firm. Fifteen varieties of the Irish potato are represented and two varieties of sweet potatoes.

Pictures and Decorations. In addition to the pictures and charts mentioned above, there are a number of views taken in various sections of Maryland, notably in the famous Middletown valley and near Chesapeake bay, and several interesting photographs of exhibits made at different times by the State Horticultural society.

On the wall directly over the office are certificates for a gold medal awarded at St. Louis for the corn and canning displays and a St. Louis grand prize for tobacco.

Hanging from the front posts before the booth are six banners, won by the State Agricultural school in intercollegiate contests. In addition there are several photographs of the school with interior views.

The nut exhibit shown in this booth by W. McBrown of Oakland, Md., is one of the few displays of this kind at the exposition. It includes a number of very fine specimens of the English, black and Japanese walnut, the hickory nut, chestnut, beechnut and butternut. These are neatly arranged on tables, each plate being carefully labeled.

The Exposition Completed. Director General Barr of the Jamestown exposition has issued the following statement:

"The Jamestown Tercentennial exposition is completed. It fittingly commemorates the great historical event which it was designed to celebrate, and it reflects credit on the state of Virginia, the south and the nation. In the character of its buildings, the excellence of its exhibits and the beauty of location on historical Hampton Roads it compares favorably with any exposition held in this country and fully justifies its management in asking the united support of the people of the country."

THREE BOYS HAD ECZEMA OF HEAD

One Mother's Trials—Little Ones Treated at Dispensary for Three Months—Did Not Seem to Improve—Suffered Five Months.

ALL WERE PERFECTLY CURED BY CUTICURA

"My three children had eczema for five months. A little sore would appear on the head and neck, very itchy, increasing day after day. The baby had had it about a week when the second boy took the same and a few days later the third boy took it. For the first three months I took them to the Dispensary, and they told me that the children had ringworm, but they did not seem to improve. Then I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, and I thought I would write you about my case, and when I got the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment I bathed the children's heads with warm water and Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In a few weeks they had improved and when their heads were well you could see nothing of the sores. I should be very glad to let others know about the great Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Kate Murray, 513 West 29th St., New York, N. Y., Nov. 1, 5, and 7, 1906."

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. be sure and mention this paper. Do not make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What Does It Mean

to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policy-holders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best.

CHILDREN AS MODELS

THEIR BEAUTY MADE USE OF BY PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Children Able to Earn From $12 to 25 a Week by Posing—Little Girls With Chubby Faces and Curly Hair Sought Most.

So great has become the demand for child models in the last few years that according to a New York photographer almost any pretty child can command an engagement. It not infrequently happens, says he, that the support of families rests upon the small shoulders and ceases in which children earn sufficient not only for their maintenance and clothing but also for their education are plentiful.

It is perhaps in the line of commercial photography that the best field for child models lies. Commercial photography supplies pictures for advertising the product of business and manufacturing houses. Children who pose for these illustrated advertisements earn anywhere from $12 to 14 a week and sometimes, as in the case of Ruth Wells, $25.

While children from 2 to 4 years old are most in demand, those from 4 to 10 can be used in one way or another. Another branch of photography in which child models are used is that in which beautiful pictures, ideal heads and the like are sought. These are sold to art dealers for reproduction.

The demand for child models is not so great among artists as among photographers. It is somewhat difficult for the little ones to pose as steadily as is necessary for an artist, but before the camera they can be taken in a moment in all their simplicity and sweetness and they are not fatigued by the effort.

Girls are much more desirable than boys. Out of fifty best known models in the city not more than one-quarter are boys.

When asked what the requirements of a child model are a photographer said:

"Beauty is, of course, the primal requisite. While the infantile type preferred by many, the piquant child has many admirers. 'Girls, particularly blue-eyed tots with curly hair, snub noses, dimples and round chubby faces are eagerly sought as they make pretty angel heads and are particularly adapted for ideal pictures for art and commercial purposes. They must be plump.

'Little girls with straight locks haven't the same chance of getting employment as those with ringlets. To be a child model is as natural as breathing. They fall into graceful postures very easily. Others are naturally awkward despite their pretty faces and winning ways.

'As to the remuneration which these little artists receive it varies to no great extent from that received by their older sisters in the business. An hour's posing generally brings from $1.50 to $3 and after an hour's work the average child is generally too tired to sit longer, though Ruth Wells, one of the noted child models of the city, can pose for two hours steadily without getting weary.

'It is understood that the children shall furnish their own costumes, unless it is a character costume, in which case, perhaps, the professional costumer will be called in. Most of these children have good wardrobes of simple, dainty gowns used expressly for professional engagements. But only recently a dirty but undeniably pretty Italian child was brought in here by some one who picked her up in the street. 'A very soiled and ragged cotton dress barely covered the little one's nakedness, but there was a charm about the kid that was simply irresistible and so I took her just as she was. The picture will be used for a dyeing and cleaning establishment, and it will be a winner, if I mistake not. But that is the exception that proves the rule, of course.

Dise to Overwork.

More accidents involving loss of life have taken place on the railroads in the past year or two than in any previous period of equal duration. In this particular the United States has won a bad pre-eminence among the great countries of the world. There are several times more fatalities in this country on the railways every year than there are in England, Germany or France, in proportion to the number of persons traveling. Overwork on the part of employes has been the cause of many of these casualties. Physical torpor due to excessive hours of labor of railway workers is accountable for the failure, in many cases, to make use of the mechanical devices to prevent accidents.

What is a Tabby Cat Like?

The dog has had his day; is the day of the cat at hand? For some unexplained reason it seems to have become the vogue recently for writers of fiction to drag a cat upon the scene. The "plot of the piece" does not demand it, there seems to be no special reason for it; evidently it is just done to lend "atmosphere" to the surroundings.

For the Hair.

Mr. Boozely—"I should say it is, and I'm going to let it stopped. The kids always stop on the way to play and let the beer get stale."

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.
The Republican Convention which met here Tuesday was one of the most representative of its kind held here in recent years and while we, in no sense wish to be understood as endorsing their views on party measures, yet from a personal standpoint the ticket made out is one that should command the respect of both Democrats and Republicans, and any attempt to cast reflections of a personal character upon the nominees would be a short sighted policy and would only evidence a complete lack of sane judgement. No matter what the motive or the reasons, what is now before us is the result and these from a Republican standpoint are good. The men who make up the ticket are from the various walks of life and are thoroughly representative men of their party and are largely identified with the business interests of this county. We see no reason in this campaign, why any meddling or personalities should be indulged in. Both parties have met and nominated their standard bearers, and both parties have named good men and each are satisfied. The issues are not and should not be complicated. The coming fight should be a straight out one of Democrats vs. Republicans—Principles of one against Principles of the other.

A GOOD MOVE.
The meeting held by some of our colored people one night this week, account of which we print in another column is a move in the right direction and should receive that indorsement from all good citizens to which its importance entitles it. The frequency with which we are called upon to take notice of the crimes now being committed by colored people cannot help but bring forcibly to mind the necessity of some decided action which will do away with this spirit of lawlessness, and if the spirit cannot be done away with then the body can. There is no need for any hysterical outbreak on the part of our white people, neither is there any use to raise the senseless cry of negro domination, but to look at the matter in a sane and sensible way and co-operate with the best element of that race in ridding this community of these human fiends. The civilization of our own color, after hundreds of years of freedom and education has not yet reached that state where we can afford to assume a "holler than thou" position. For the criminal instinct in the white man is yet very frequently manifested. And even though it were, we cannot afford to sit complacently by and see the fruits of years of struggle ruthlessly trampled down by either black or white man. Every one who is fair minded is willing to admit that there are among our colored people many persons who are equally as anxious as we are to maintain cordial relations with the white people, who have a clear perception of right and wrong; a keen sense of justice and honor, and are fully conscious of the short comings of many of their race. It is only the extreme negro and the extreme white man that ever have any trouble, and the only hope there is for the bettering of conditions is for the best element of each race to work together in a spirit of mutual understanding. The action just taken on the part of some of our colored citizens shows that they are fully aware of the gravity of the situation and are prepared to help in every way to cast from off their race, the accusation of wholesale criminality, and to show the world that this lawlessness is the result of individual perversion and is not condoned by them.

It is to be hoped that the good work which was begun at the meeting held this week will not be allowed to fall through by lack of sympathy and encouragement from either race. It is decidedly the most sensible step taken by the colored people for some time, and they should certainly be sustained.

Coming to Salisbury.
Professor W. F. Massey, the well known lecturer on farming topics, and editor of the Practical Farmer, has severed his connection with that journal and will move his family to Salisbury. Mr. Massey was the guest of Hon. James E. Ellegood for several days last week. We are pleased to welcome Mr. Massey into this community. His presence here will be of great advantage to our farming interests. He is a member of the National Geographic Society, vice president of the North Carolina Horticultural Society, Professor of Horticulture and Vegetable Biology, North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanics Arts, Raleigh, N. C., and in fact is probably the best known lecturer on farm topics in this county. Mr. Massey is related to the Ellegood, Brewington and Leonard families of this city, and formerly lived in Salisbury.

Oyster Prospects Good.
The oyster season in Maryland opened Monday. Toning is permitted Sept. 1 in Kent, Queen Anne's Talbot, Somerset and Anne Arundel counties. It is permitted, beginning September 15, in Dorchester and Wicomico, and beginning October 1 in Calvert, St. Mary's and Charles.
Those acquainted with the oyster conditions report a comparatively plentiful supply of oysters in the Chesapeake and tributaries. While it is predicted there will be a fine catch of merchantable oysters, it is stated that Tangier Sound will fall short of previous seasons. On Tangier Sound and Potomac River dredging begins October 1, and in the open bay November 1.

Letter to H. C. Bonds.
Dear Sir: We should like to set your boys and girls at work on his question in arithmetic and oostuistry.
A farmer is fattening three hogs in three small pens; they have equal room and straw and care, and are fed in these three ways; first hog, on a certain proportion of milk and cooked cornmeal; second hog, on the same, half water; third hog, on the same, half water and sawdust. How long will it take, how much will they weigh, how much will they cost, and what'll the profit be on the three?
And a similar question in pigmentry. The same farmer is going to paint three barns same size; and he says to three painters; "what'll you take to paint that barn?" First painter scratches his head a few minutes and says; "I'll do it for $50."
Second painter; "$75."
Third painter; "$97 48."
Will they each get a barn to paint, or one get two, or one all three, or nobody any; and what they make on the job?
That's about how painting goes sometimes.
But there is a way to reckon; $5 a gallon. The difficulty is in knowing how many gallons to buy. There's a way of out that.
Buy the least gallons paint, Devos. No matter how much one buys; he returns what's left: costs nothing.
Yours truly,

Whisky Medicines.

The temperance press is emphasizing the danger to the home in the use of "medicines" which are loaded with whisky or alcohol. In this respect, as well as in the remarkable character of their cures, Dr. Pierce's medicines differ from other preparations. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness and bowel derangements, and "Favorite Prescription" for women's derangements and weaknesses, contain no alcohol. Their ingredients are printed on the bottle wrappers, therefore they are not secret or patent medicines. Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet giving list of medical roots from which these remedies are extracted by the use of triple refined glycerine; also the eminent medical writers who recommend their ingredients for the cure of the diseases for which these medicines are advised.

If The Baby Is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Cookery And Crime.

If any general credence be given to the declaration of the chief physician of the Louisiana Board of Health, that "90 per centum of the crime of the country is due to bad cookery," students of the phenomena of crimes will be forced to revise their assumptions and assertions. Prohibitionists will be dispirited in their broad claim of the universal debt of crime to indulgence in stimulants. Profound analysts of heredity may be driven from genealogy to the kitchen. Even the philosopher who simplifies the whole matter by saddling all the evil of the world upon Eve must engage in extreme revision; for no master was other than the universal mother may be accused of initiating it will be admitted that she was not half a bad cook. At least, there is no record of a complaint from Adam that Eve's bread and pies were not as good as "those that mother baked."

THE CHRISTIAN MARINER.

Editor—This poem is in memory of Rev. Joshua Thomas called "The Pastor of the Islands," a most remarkable man of God, who being dead yet speaketh," in the places where he wrought for God and the betterment of men. The beautiful M. E. Church on Tangier Island is one of the monuments of his unselfish work for the Islanders. R. E. Kemp is the author of this faithful tribute to a humble fisherman who was filled with the spirit of God and was "faithful unto death."

ACT QUICK.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Salisbury. Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing dangerous kidney ills. Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. G. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md. says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me, was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended so I got a box at White and Leonard's drug store used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1908 recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." SULPHUR BRINGS HEALTH.

Purifies The Blood and Clears Up The Complexion. Everybody needs to take Sulphur at this season. Nothing like it to purify the blood, clear up the complexion and remove "that tired feeling." But the only way to take it is in liquid form. Hancock's Liquid Sulphur taken internally is the best Spring tonic. Applied externally Hancock's Liquid Sulphur quickly cures Eczema, Tetter, and all Skin Diseases. Hancock's the only Liquid Sulphur Ointment, removes pimples, Blackheads and Sores and gives a beautiful, soft, velvet skin. Your druggist sells it. It cured Edward D. Herring, of Frederick, Md., of a bad case of Eczema and he writes: "My face is as smooth as an infant's."

Had Tetter For Thirty Years.

I have suffered with tetter for thirty years and have tried almost countless remedies with little, if any relief. Three boxes of Chamberlain's Salve cured me. It was a torture, it breaks out a little sometimes, but nothing to what it used to do.—D. H. Beach, Midland City, Ala. Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by Toulson's Drug Store, Salisbury, Md.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN

Monday, September 9th Beginning Of Fall Term. Many Improvements To School Buildings In The County.

Monday next, September 9th will usher in another school year, and to those who have children this means a great deal. There is no other public institution with which the people feel so near in touch with as that of our public schools. It is the nursery in which our future men and women are taught and are expected to gain that knowledge which will enable them to maintain their future independence and upon which much of our future progress depends. There is no class of public servants upon whom so much depends as that of our public school teachers and it is due the public that unusual care should be exercised in the selection of our teachers by those upon whom this duty devolves and it is equally as important that after their selection the teachers themselves should be well cared for.

There are 124 rooms occupied in this county for school purposes, giving employment to 124 teachers. These schools had last year an enrollment of 4,768 for the fall term, 5,389 for the winter term, 5,124 for the spring term. The average attendance was fall term 3,426; winter term, 3,694; spring term, 3,886.

THE EXPERIENCE OF MANY WOMEN

Chronic Nearsness.

Mrs. Della C. Cameron, Healdsburg, Cal., member Daughters of America, writes: "Having tried many remedies for chronic catarrh of the bronchial tubes, and not receiving any benefit, I began to think there was no help for me until I began to use Peruna.

"In a short time the bronchial tubes began to clear, I did not have that 'frog in my throat' continually, my voice was not nearly so husky, and the wheezing noise disappeared. "I was soon able to believe that I was entirely free from catarrh, and as this was several months ago, I do not believe that it will return."

A Wasting Disease.

Mrs. Roxa Tyler, 6218 Madison Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Vice President of the Illinois Woman's Alliance, writes: "During the past year I gradually lost flesh and strength until I was unable to perform my work properly. I tried different remedies, and finally Peruna was suggested to me. "It gave me new life and restored my strength. I cannot speak too highly of it."

Bronchial Catarrh.

Mrs. Wm. Hohmann, 509 N. Paulina St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. When a child it was supposed to be whooping cough or the croup, but as I got older it got worse.

"After a while it got so bad I had to cough both winter and summer. Finally I burst a blood vessel in my throat from the strain of coughing, next a blood vessel in my stomach, so I kept getting worse and doctoring, and even then could get no relief. "I went to a dispensary for treatment, but it all done me no good. At night I could never lie on my back. I would sit up until two or three o'clock in the morning before I could close my eyes. Then of course, I thought, and every body else that I had consumption. "Reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try it without the least hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never got discouraged. "Now I can lie on my back and sleep all night, and you may well think how thankful I am for Peruna."

MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

First Season of Pier At Ocean City Financial Success.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Ocean City Pier Company held last Monday it developed that the venture had been much more of a success from a financial standpoint than was anticipated for the first season as the Pier was not gotten in working order until late in the season and everything had to be learned from the start.

The gross receipts of the Company during the season were $4,145.00; expenses, $1,680.00, a dividend of 6 per cent. on the capital stock of $25,000.00 was declared, amounting to $1,500.00, leaving $995.00 which was carried to the construction account. This is considered a very good showing for the first year.

BIG FIRE AT CRISFIELD.

Whole Block Was Threatened. Broke Out in Drug Store.

Fire which broke out about 10 o'clock Wednesday night completely destroyed a large pharmacy and a bakery and threatened for a time to burn the Odd Fellow Temple and Opera House. Only good work on the part of the fire department and citizens saved the town. The flames started in the back of the drug store of C. C. Welsh and spread to Stebbins' bakery. They then passed to the opera house, which caught several times, and on to Webb & Co.'s grocery. This was damaged, but was saved by prompt work.

The total loss is estimated at about $8,000, with but little insurance. The blaze was got under control at midnight.

An Open Letter.

SALISBURY, MD., Sept. 11, 1907.

Editors Salisbury Advertiser, News, and Courier:

Having a practical as well as a sentimental turn of mind, I have the natural desire of mankind to see results. Last Fall, particularly after the "Jackson Interviews," much was said in and out of the press, of the disgrace of bribery, and that the public conscience demanded that it should be stopped. The Advertiser, News, and Courier, of this town, all expressed views of this kind and all pledged to aid in the work.

I assume that you still hold the same sentiments, but now is the time to do something practical.

What do you recommend shall be done to stop bribery at the coming election in November next? Do you not think a non-partisan organization would tend to improve conditions?

Yours very truly,

JAS. E. ELLEGOOD.

Hotel To Be More Modern.

Improvements on quite a large scale will soon begin on the Peninsula Hotel. An alleyway five feet wide will be made between the Hotel property and the Dry Goods store occupied by the Birchhead-Shookley company. This arrangement when completed will make all the rooms on that side of the house which are now inside rooms have light and ventilation from the outside. This proposed alleyway will only extend down to the dining room which will be left the same width as it now is. Several of the rooms will be made en suite and private baths added.

The kitchen will also be enlarged and made more up to date. Arrangements are also made for a ladies private entrance on St. Peter's Street.

In fact the plans as contemplated will thoroughly remodel the entire house and make it more in keeping with the progress of the town.

DEATH OF A NEGRO

Supposed To Be From Salisbury. At Bridgeton, N. J., September 3d.

The following letter which explains itself was received by us this week.

Messrs. White & White,
Editors, "Salisbury Advertiser".

We are in receipt this morning of a letter from Mr. G. W. Shoemaker, Treasurer of the Cumberland Glass Mfg. Co., Bridgeton; N. J., stating that one of their employees, a colored man named Garfield Miller, was struck by a fellow workman with a board the wound causing lockjaw from which he died Tuesday, September 3rd. Miller was hired by this company at Dover, Del., but they don't think his home was at Dover.

Mr. Shoemaker states that the nearest he could understand from what he said in his inarticulate manner that his home was in Salisbury. Mr. Shoemaker telegraphed the Chief of Police here the facts but they could not locate him. He now asks to have inserted in your paper the notice of his death so that it might be possible that his family could thereby find it out. Mr. Shoemaker states that he personally took him to the hospital and had him properly cared for.

Your attention to this matter will be very much appreciated by us.

Yours truly,
E. S. Adkins & Co.

STOP VOTE BUYING.

Agreement Reached By The Parties In Caroline County. How It Reads.

An anti bribery agreement was signed last week at Denton by the Committee of six appointed at a previous meeting of the representatives of both political parties in Caroline county. The terms of the agreement prohibit the expenditure of more than $1000 by each party in the county, and this is to be restricted to legitimate campaign expenses. The agreement reads:

First—That neither the Democratic nor the Republican party of Caroline county shall spend for all the purposes of the political campaign which will end on Tuesday November 5, 1907, an amount exceeding $1000, and that whatever part of the said sum is used shall be expended by the State Central Committee of the respective parties.

Second—That no part of the aforesaid sum shall be the contribution of any person who does not vote in Caroline county, nor shall any part of the same be the contribution of any company, concern or corporation anywhere, provided that no more than 25 per cent. of the aforesaid sum may be contributed by the State and judicial candidates. Third—That no one shall be employed for any purpose which has for its object the getting out of the vote, as we believe that members of the respective parties should do so much work without compensation; provided that it shall be legitimate to employ such office assistance as shall be deemed necessary for the distribution of literature, etc.

Fourth—That no part of the aforesaid sum shall be used to purchase or influence votes directly or indirectly either before or on election day; provided that the actual traveling expenses of the voters incurred in reaching the county or polls to vote on election day may be paid out of the fund of the political party or which said voters are members and provided also that it shall be legitimate for the aforesaid State Central Committee to expend a part of the aforesaid sum in such public treats as may be deemed expedient.

Fifth—That any individual is not by this agreement forbidden to do whatever private treating he may wish to do provided the same shall be confined within the ordinary and accepted limits allowed by an enlightened social intercourse.

Sixth—That it is strictly forbidden to sign any promissory note or enter into any monetary obligation for political purposes if being the intent of this agreement that no voter shall be influenced by any monetary consideration: that no money or property, personal or real nor expectation of money or property nor hope of financial assistance of any kind shall enter into the voter's consideration.

Seventh—That we pledge ourselves to cast our vote against and use every legitimate means to defeat any candidate on either side who we believe is violating the terms of this agreement either in letter or spirit or conniving at their violation or permitting the same to be violated when he can prevent it.

Eighth—That on or before November 16, 1907 the members of the two State Central Committees shall publish an itemized statement of all campaign expenses, together with contributions received from all sources and the names of the persons contributing all of which shall be sworn to.

THE MARYLAND DAY

At Jamestown A Great One. Large Crowds Attend And Event Is Fittingly Celebrated.

To the strains of "Maryland, My Maryland" and "The Star Spangled Banner" nearly 4,000 persons took part Thursday in an enthusiastic celebration of Maryland Day.

Never before in the history of the Exposition was the Auditorium, in which the exercises were held, so crowded and the sun shone brightly, adding glory to the occasion. It was a day of patriotism, and Maryland bestowed a high honor upon her son, who, years ago, wrote the stirring war song, "Maryland, My Maryland."

To the author, Col. James Ryder Randall, credit is due for a poem which will never die, and Maryland tried her best to show him that she could never forget his love and devotion.

Speeches were made by Governor Warfield, Governor Swanson, of Virginia; Senator Whyte and Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, and all paid glowing tributes to Maryland and her son, Colonel Randall. Senator Whyte in his address, declared that Maryland had given birth to the "noblest war songs in the English language," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Maryland, My Maryland."

Governor Warfield, in his speech on "Baltimore, the Gateway to the South," paid an eloquent tribute to the city and also warned "Southerners against antagonism to corporate capital.

PULLING IN THE SHARK

Lively Water Sport Off Chincoteague Island.

THEIR MEAT PALATABLE

It Takes a Long Haul to Conquer a Six-Footer, and the Man at the End of the Line Needs Muscle—Cotton Line Better than Any Wire.

Chincoteague is almost off the map. A more primitive and picturesque island is not to be found on the Southern coast. Situated at the southern outlet of Assateague Bay, it marks the extreme northeastern limit of Virginia. All around it are wonderful breeding and resting places for many sorts of wild fowl. Wild ponies may be glimpsed occasionally in its desert parts.

At half-past four o'clock before the night mist has fully cleared, the group of visitors embark in Charlie Mumford's sixteen-foot record breaking "sharp-sail" for the fishing grounds. Charlie is the man who shot one leg off while out duck shooting, and then sailed twelve miles to get patched up. Needless to state, he is the best man on the island, makes his own boat, and captures all the trophies for fast sailing on that part of the coast. He also plays a violin, the work of his own hands, and the cornet, makes his own decoys and his cork leg when the old one succumbs to the strain of his strenuous life. He has even painted his own portrait with some fidelity. His boat carries a staggering sail and with a fair wind will drive smartly twenty miles to sea, far outside of the line of coasters making their long turn around the shoals. Then it's out anchor, says a writer in the New York Post.

When the anchor is out, pipes are lighted. Balancing on the long green rollers, the fishermen prepare for the day's sport. It is well to restrain any tendency toward sea-sickness, for the day will be long.

As in drum fishing cotton lines are used. These and all other necessities can be obtained of the natives. One may try piano or copper wire leaders, if he likes. It doesn't matter. The sharks will snap them. But the double cotton lines seem to get between their teeth and can not be broken by their usual tactics of twisting some snags. Of course, long shanked shark hooks are indispensable.

Any sort of a small fish such as are caught on the spot, are good bait for the hungry shark. With a small supply as a beginning, enough are caught casually to replenish the bait basket. Crocodiles, king fish, fat backs and many a fish that nobody can identify are split, placed upon the huge hooks, and lowered to within a few inches of the bottom, where the lead-backed sharks are basking. Charlie will probably have the first strike.

Without a word, he hauls hand over hand with straining sinews, while the line cuts the water in vicious circles.

A flash of white gleams below! Even a four foot shark is no joke. As he reaches the surface, it is ten to one that he will dive under the boat, cut the snood, and depart, chewing the big hook with apparent enjoyment between his grinding teeth. But get a six footer on the line, and it takes "a long pull and a strong pull" merely to get him up to the surface. Perhaps all hands may have to "turn to" in order to save him (or the fisherman). And then it is a problem to get him into the boat. If any slack is given, he will take it and roll the line and all the other lines into a thousand snarls. Gaff him speedily, and have the club and the sharp knife ready to give the coups de grace quickly. Let no unskillful hands play off those snapping jaws, or the fisherman will wish he had never seen a shark.

This sort of fishing as, in fact, all sports, is full of surprises. There are other big fish to be caught besides sharks. The sharks themselves are of many varieties, but all of them are formed for swift swimming and voracious feeding. One peculiar kind has a fan shaped head with eyes projected to the ends of feelers four or five inches long. This one can easily study his own scalp or see down his own throat—the latter is of no small advantage to a fish that swallows hastily.

While one may not believe that sharks are dangerous to a swimmer, in spite of tropical tales to the contrary, the writer would prefer not to experiment fully in person along this line. He would much prefer to eat the shark. The colored folk, by the way, are fond of them. And why should not sharks as they call them, be good food? They are as clean or cleaner feeders than the crab or lobster, and when caught far off-shore in the green water from white sandy bottom, prolific of good life, they should make good flesh. Their meat is white and firm, better looking than that of the sturgeon, and as fine-grained as the famous "tonoro" of the Italians. If more of them were caught and eaten, other fish-life would be far more abundant.

It is idle to talk about work to a person who regards this world simply as a rest cure.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT PLAN

Will Have An "Opening Day" With Oyster And Ox Roast. Hebron Selected As Place To Hold The Meeting.

The Democratic Campaign Committee for Wicomico County has formulated a novel plan for their Campaign this year. Heretofore it has been customary to begin the Campaign by holding meetings at the numerous small voting places. It has been decided this year to do away with these small meetings and to adopt a more modern method and have an "Opening Day" in one big meeting. Hebron has been selected as the place to hold this "opening day" meeting and arrangements have been made with the camp ground officials for the use of the grounds. The present plan contemplates an oyster roast combined with an ox roast on a large scale, with plenty of music. All the County candidates will be on hand and the State nominees have also been asked to be present. Special trains will be run from all points on the road and everything done to arouse the enthusiasm of Wicomico's Democracy and also to get acquainted with our next State and County Officials. This meeting will be followed by other ones in different parts of the county when the Campaign will be closed by a monster meeting in Salisbury.

VALUABLE RUBBER SCRAPS.

Trade Which Has Become Important in Recent Years. The trade in rubber waste, which only 20 years ago was considered worthless, has assumed relative importance. Very essential is a careful and proper assortment of the material, whereby, only it receives its true value.

The scraps, assorted according to their composition, are first cleaned by boiling to remove the adhering dirt, absorbed and adhering acids, etc., as well as to eliminate the free sulphur. Attempts to desulphurize the vulcanized rubber, and to obtain the free rubber from it after removal of the admixed ingredients, have up to the present not been successful. Next, the waste is ground between rollers and reduced to powder in emery grinders with automatic feeding. In many cases the material obtained may be added at once dry to the mixture, but generally it first receives a chemical treatment. This is carried out by boiling in caustic soda solution or sulphuric or hydrochloric acid respectively and steaming for about 25 hours with four atmospheres pressure.

The finely-ground dry waste must not be stored for a long time in large quantities as it hardens very easily and takes fire.

The "Strength" of Flour.

Millers and bakers know that large differences exist among various sorts of wheat flour with regard to baking value, or strength but it appears that only recently have complete chemical tests been made to determine why a given quantity of flour of one brand will produce a loaf nearly one-third larger than the same quantity of another brand.

According to experiments by the Department of Agriculture at Cambridge, England, the value of a loaf of bread depends in the first instance upon the relative amount of sugar in the dough. The addition of sugar always increases the size of the loaf, or, as the baker says, makes the flour stronger. There are other differences affecting such things as texture and color of bread, the chemical bases of which are yet under examination.

Early Political Corruption.

Of the corrupt customs that marked English politics a writer in the London Chronicle says: "During the reign of George III, 355 peers were created, most of them for political jobs. The favorite type of jobbery was the manufacture of constituencies guaranteed to return faithful supporters of the Government. It was a common practice to carry an election by splitting up one freehold into ten, thus multiplying ten-fold the influence of a local magnate." Lord Melville, as late as the first quarter of the nineteenth century, was able to return thirty-four out of the forty-five members of Scotland.

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable. Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE DEVIL REAL TO THEM

Southern Negroes Who Battle Often With Satan.

METHODS OF DEFENCE

Experiences With the Evil One That Make Camp Meeting Frantic—Results in Everyday Life of Belief in the Personal Devil.

In parts of the South among some of the negroes the chief religious satisfaction is in the devil. Throughout the cotton fields of the "low ground" remote from all touch of progress, even the rural deacon man, there are negroes who have moulded to their own temperaments the Christian religion as adopted generations ago by their ancestors at the behest of their masters, grafting thereon relics of African devil worship handed down from parent to child by the dim light of many a slave cabin fire.

No kindler, gentler being exists than the Southern negro of the back blocks; but the beauties of the celestial abstractions in the Sermon on the Mount are as much over his head today as they were in the years of his imported forebears. Righteousness for righteousness sake is beyond his ken. He must have something tangible, something he can grasp and cling to emotionally, even if fearfully, much as those savage forefathers bowed down in an ecstasy of terror before the grinning image of Mumbo Jumbo, whose either hand dripped woes and disaster, the right to man, the left to women.

Like children these negroes delight in being frightened; the shudder of fear is as wine to them, the belief in an ever present fiend a tonic. It is a belief among them that "eve'y time yer opens er do, dar's de debble er standin' waitin' fer yer," thus bringing the terrible person into intimate association with their daily life. Like Black Care, he sits by him in the cart, behind him on the mule.

There are instances in every negro settlement—well authenticated among them—of unregenerate ones caught up in darkness and borne swiftly away to eternal flames by the balllike servants of the arch fiend. Among them Tom Walker's adventure is no mere legend.

Every darky before he can feel himself free from this imminent clutch—his form of the doctrine of original sin—must meet and personally "rasle wid" the great adversary. Not wrestle figuratively in mental conflict with his own weaknesses, but in fierce and actual struggle with the fiend incarnate.

These contests, in which the devil always goes to the mat, form the experience which the negro, new released by his own prowess from the thralldom of Satan, loves to recount at the "meetin'" amid sobs and ejaculations of admiration from the breathless congregation. Oftentimes when some imaginative negro has caught the fancy of his hearers with the tale of his uncanny duel the defeated devil refuses to stay put and returns again to the attack, thus affording new food for the victor's eloquence.

The weapon used for defeating the enemy of mankind is usually the implement of labor with which the battling party is most skillful. Copsa thump him into insensibility with a rolling pin, washerwomen testify how they "de mash his haid in wid er flatron," and Joe, an expert at hacking down cornstalks, told how "Ah met de debble one dark night down by de buryin' groun' an' ah cut his th'roat fum yeah ter yeah wif mah cohn' knife."

Minnis was a long armed negro whose cradle, of all the reapers in Bedford county, could cut the widest swath through the ripe wheat. After much manœuvring with the devil, who seemed loth to get into close proximity to the lusty laborer, Minnis one day inveigled him into a stable, cornered him in an empty stall, and, swinging wide with his favorite implement for the lower parts of his unsuspecting antagonist—"de debble didn' know Ah's sech er good man wif de cradle," Minnis explained—succeeded in amputating. Satan's legs or, as Minnis himself related, "Ah cut off bofe hin, tags an er big piece or de tail wid em."

The presiding elder of the meeting declared this encounter apocryphal and sent Minnis forth again to seek new adventures, not allowing him the glory of victory; which ruling was held to be severe by the rest of the church members, who believed in the truth of the statement as firmly as Minnis himself. And that he did believe it there can be no doubt.

They are an emotional race, these primitive negroes and, like all such, subject to illusions fostered on their conclusions by an unbridled imagination superheated by religious fervor. Nobody of Martin Luther's days doubted that the great reformer had assailed the devil with an ink bottle, much to the latter's astonishment and dismay; Luther believed it himself, and if Luther with his ink bottle why not Minnis with his disconcerting cradle—each expert with his own weapon—New York Sun.

SEATS OF THE MIGHTY

Thrones On Which Monarchs Sit Sometimes.

BORED BY CEREMONY

Not Often Occupied if Royalty Can Help it in These Days—King Edward Has Half a Dozen—Gorgeous Seat of the Czar—Simple Thrones in Belgium, Italy and Morocco.

dozen thrones, of which three are in Great Britain has at least half a London palaces, one in the House of Lords, one in Westminster Abbey, and a sixth at Windsor Castle.

This coronation chair, as it is called, is a massive high backed throne of oak. No fewer than seven Edwards have sat in it. Underneath the seat is a large block of rough sandstone.

In the House of Lords is the throne used by the king when opening or proroguing Parliament in state. It stands under a gilt canopy and is raised a few steps above the floor.

The throne in St. James's Palace is very large and imposing, with a canopy overlaid with crimson velvet and embellished with a bold relief of embroidered crowns, set with fine pearls and shimmering with brilliant fringe.

By far the most costly is the throne at Windsor Castle. It is composed entirely of carved ivory inlaid with precious stones, especially emeralds.

It was presented to Queen Victoria by the Maharajah of Travancore, and was one of the most sumptuous gifts which even India ever gave her Empress.

The throne room is a long narrow apartment near the Waterloo Chamber and so delicate is the rich blue spandrel of the jeweled ivory throne that it is usually kept covered with a great casing of plate glass.

The best known of the English thrones is the one at Buckingham Palace, where King Edward and the Queen hold their court today.

One of the noblest throne rooms in the world is in the Berlin Palace of the German Emperor. The throne is of silver, with a canopy ornamented with eagles and crowns.

Over the seat of the Emperor and Empress is an immense silver shield presented to Frederick William IV, by the people of Berlin, and just in front of the throne hangs the great rock crystal chandelier under which Luther himself once stood in the Reichstag at Worms.

It is hard to say offhand how many thrones the Russian Emperor has. The three chief ones are those at the Imperial Palace and the Winter Palace at St. Petersburg, and in the Kremlin at Moscow.

This last was a present to the Czar Alexis in 1660 from the Shah of Persia. It is entirely covered with thick plates of gold set with precious stones and alternating with plaques of ivory chiselled in high relief.

The fact and date of the presentation are recorded in an inscription on the back of the throne. Just above are glistening double headed eagles of Russia with angels on either side supporting the Imperial crown.

In the Imperial Palace at St. Petersburg the throne stands in an alcove of the marble throne room, with a wide stretching canopy with thick gold cords and deep fringes of gold embroidery.

Candy To Cure Fatigue.

If you get that tired feeling, eat a pound of candy or take a dose of cooking soda. This is what Prof. F. S. Lee advised in a lecture given to the biology section of the Academy of Sciences last night at the American Museum of Natural History.

Professor Lee said that there were three acids in the blood, which caused or influenced fatigue. He was sure of it, because he had taken those acids and injected them into the muscles of a frog, and those acidized muscles had tired much more rapidly than the normal muscles. He also said there was another acid which was conspicuous by its absence.

He was quite positive, however, that sugar or candy can help out this difficulty, and possibly cooking soda. "When one is very tired," he said, "a quantity of candy will, half an hour after eating, often make one feel very energetic."

CRAZE FOR ANTIQUE WATCHES.

Counterfeits Made So Ingeniously as to Deceive the Connoisseur. Considerable deception has been practiced on the unwary by the sale of so-called antique watches. It is a common thing for the expert horologist to find ordinary modern watches set in manufactured antique cases. Some of these counterfeits are so ingeniously made as to deceive even the watch connoisseur.

There are certain marks, however, which serve as a fair guide to the authenticity of an antique watch, and the following hints will be useful in determining the age and value of old watches: According to the authorities, the first watch was invented about the year 1500. The original pocket time-piece was cylindrical in shape and made entirely of iron, including the plates, pinions, wheels and pillars. Watches of oval form did not appear earlier than about 1550. Most of them date back to the period around 1600. It is probable that there were no watches decorated with enamel before 1632.

The balance spring was invented about the year 1658, but was not extensively employed until 1690. Repeating watches were not invented before 1678. Watches with alarm attachments were carried in the sixteenth century. The minute hand was introduced only with the use of the balance spring and consequently is not met with until the end of the seventeenth century. Notwithstanding the fact that the cylinder escapement was invented in 1710, it is found only in isolated cases in the eighteenth century.

Almost all timepieces until the beginning of the nineteenth century were vertical watches. Watches having chased cases did not make their appearance before the beginning of the eighteenth century. "Quatre couleurs" cases are not found before the year 1790, watches with gongs not before 1780. Watches with movable figures on the dial and musical watches occur only around the eighteenth century. Watches set with pearl came into vogue in about the same period.

More or less valuable are the so-called egg watches watches with but one hand, watches with fine openwork or exquisitely chased cases, gold enamelled watches which are enamelled both inside and outside, watches in general which are handsomely decorated in any respect.

Those of less value are: Chased watches whose figures are worn off, watches with painted tomback cases (copper enamels), watches with cases in "quatre couleurs" (the application of gold in four colors) unless they are beautifully executed and well preserved, watches with painted copper dials, enamelled watches which are devoid of any artistic decoration, which includes silver and gold watches with plain cases and unembellished dials, irrespective of the kind of works they may contain.

Magic in Medicine.

Charms, medals impregnated with virtue by ecclesiastical benediction, and so-called electric and galvanic belts, pads, rings, and other appliances are sold by thousands; and patent panaceas, compounded of drugs brought from strange lands or discovered in some unusual way, are bought and used by millions of credulous and afflicted persons in all parts of the world.

In view of these facts it is not remarkable that one occasionally finds in the United States, as well as in secluded spots in the Old World, a sort of sorcery for no one knows how many hundred years, not only survive, but also show an astonishing degree of vitality. Such a region, writes Dr. John Hawkins, in the Popular Science Monthly, occurs in the central part of South Carolina.

If the practice of the Carolina users of the present day could be witnessed by Egyptian physicians of four thousand years ago, by Druid priests from the Gaul described by Caesar, and by American Indian medicine men from the time of Columbus, it would appear to all of them a perfectly natural and philosophical method of treatment, however unintelligible the language of the formulas might be.

U. S. Champagne Production. The conclusion of the Bureau of Statistics from the study of the champagne production in the United States is that the quantity of genuine fermented in the bottle "champagne" wine produced in this country at present is nearly one half as great as the importation of wine of the same general class; or, in other words, that about one-third of the genuine champagne wine now consumed in this country is of domestic production and the proportion which the home product forms of the total is rapidly increasing.

Danger From Electricity.

If your dwelling is electrically lighted never place wood, clothes or other inflammable material against the wires meters or switches; never use an electric wire as a clothesline, and see to it that your dwelling is kept free from rats, as these pests often gnaw the insulation from the wires. The amount of loss from "electric fires" in the United States in one year, according to the Saturday Evening Post, is $16,000,000.

Round Backs Are Aging.

If you want to keep young looking do not allow yourself to fall into the habit of stooping. A round back, like wrinkles, once permanently acquired cannot be got rid of.

Candles Commonly Used.

The candle still holds its own, notwithstanding petroleum, gas and electricity. The production of candles in the United States during the fiscal year of 1905 amounted to $3,882,222.

THE COMPASS OF GOD.

In the stern of a sea going vessel. At morning, at noon and at night I saw there a sturdy old boatswain Who stood and uplifted his sight To the mast that was towering above him.

While pendulant hung from his lip The whistle whose shrill intonations Determined the course of the ship. And I wondered at what he was gazing Till, stepping behind him, I stood And followed his angle of vision High up on the pillar of wood; And there, far above the attraction Of body of iron or steel, Was fastened a compass whose needle Corrected the one at the wheel.

O, wonderful lesson of science, That crystallized in parable there And brought in its transparent vision The meaning and purpose of prayer! I, too, am adrift on the ocean. My compass, the spirit of man, And hand on the wheel of Life's rudder. I only can steer as I can.

But, praise to God's infinite goodness, Thy compass above I can see— The needle of truth that Thy spirit Holds true for the spirit of me. Unswerving by earth's baser attraction.

It points to the glories that shine; I read it at morning and evening, And reckon my bearings from Thine. —Sel.

ACT QUICK.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. G. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md. says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me, was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended so I got a box at White and Leonard's drug store used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and I've cured many completely and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903 recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The veteran naturalist, John Burroughs, comes out strongly in the August Atlantic Monthly against the idea of reasoning power in animals. His theory is that they are so apparently wise in the sphere of instinct that a close observer is surprised at their utter stupidity in facing a new problem.

The familiar phenomenon of birds dashing themselves against windows, thinking to destroy a reflected rival, he cites as an instance. What cleverness we see in the lower orders is merely the ignorant faculty gained from necessity if they are not clever they starve.

SULPHUR BRINGS HEALTH.

Applied externally Hancock's Liquid Sulphur quickly cures Eczema, Tetter, and all Skin Diseases. —You can never realize, says a well known balloonist, how much every sound on the surface of the earth goes to reverberation or echo until you have had an excursion some miles into the air in a balloon. At a height of two to three miles the silence is profound; there is reverberation, no reflection. The noise of the working of the valve is most peculiar—one single, clear sound, gone in a moment. And the same may be said of one's voice; its tone seems to have altered and one hardly recognizes that of one's companion.

THE CRAWFORD COUNTY

System Adopted By Progressive Democracy, Praised For Its Worth By A Present Hostile Organ.

The small vote cast in the Republican primaries yesterday showed that there was no public interest in them. It was recognized that the organization is in complete control of the situation, and there was no disposition manifested to contest its supremacy. Going to the polls evidently impressed the average Republican as being a waste of time, and hence only 6904 of them did it. Chief concern appeared to be over the important position of ward executive, the fight for this honor and a little interest in the Legislative contests being responsible for getting out even the small number of votes which appeared at the polls.

In the Democratic primaries there were several real tests of strength, and while the vote cast was very much smaller than that polled in the primaries last spring, the result was another proof of the value of the Crawford county system. Only a few more than 17,000 voters participated in the election, but it was again demonstrated that the direct primary can be made a very efficient check against boss domination and the nomination of unfit men. The victory of State's Attorney Owens will be generally regarded as satisfactory. Taken altogether, he has made a record which deserved Democratic endorsement. The narrow margin by which he came through, although he had ostensibly, at least, the support of the organization, shows how easy it would be to upset the machine if the public were really aroused over the outcome. The fact that opposition to him is generally understood to have been due to his antagonism of the liquor interests draws to him more of the better element of his party, and that it did not do so is probably to be attributed, first, to the fact that nomination by direct vote is still a new thing in Baltimore, and, second, the general expectation that having the organization back of him, he would win without much trouble.

On the whole, there is every reason to believe from Baltimore's experience thus far with the Crawford county system that it will gradually result in giving to the voters more and more control over the nominations and for e from the organizations, which, of course, will always have large influence in determining the result of the primaries, candidates of higher calibre.—Baltimore News Editorial of Wednesday.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Peruna Is a Good Medicine.

Hon. O. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and I have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. O. C. BROOKS.

Which are the direct result of the weather. This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowel complaint, whether the liver be affected or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

GREAT IS DEMOCRACY.

Demonstrated At Thursday Evening's Notification Assemblage in Baltimore. All Kinds On Hand.

With the leading men of every element of the Democratic party behind him and thousands of stalwart and enthusiastic Democrats in front, Judge Austin Lane Crothers, Thursday night at the Lyric, Baltimore, in response to the formal notification of his nomination for Governor, delivered a strong speech, in which he clearly set forth his position upon the issues of the campaign.

In a definite, straight forward statement of his attitude toward every plank in the Democratic platform, he let the people of Maryland know exactly what are his political principles and what will be his policy if elected. That this speech was not delivered in the powerful, clear voice and with the vigor and fire which are his characteristics as a speaker was due to the fact that he was ill and had attended the meeting against the advice of his physician, who told him that in his weakened condition it was unsafe to attempt to carry out his part in the gathering.

With a temperature of 102½ from malarial fever, and with his strength almost exhausted, Judge Crothers insisted upon going to the meeting and delivering his speech. The great hall rang with the cheers of the Democratic hosts as the distinguished men of the party gathered on the stage or in the boxes, or some telling point was scored against the Republicans. In the galleries and boxes were many ladies who took the keenest interest in the proceedings and helped "whoop things up" for the candidates.

That the Democratic party is united and harmonious was shown by the presence and enthusiasm of leaders of every faction. Men who had fought each other with the greatest bitterness in the past sat side by side and joined in the cheering. Democrats who had been out of harness for years sat in conspicuous places and gave unmistakable evidence of their interest in the success of the ticket this fall.

Regular Democrats and irregular, organization Democrats and anti-organization, Warfield Democrats and anti-Warfield were on hand, and if there was any element of the party unrepresented no one there suspected its existence.

Has Long Line of Ancestry.

At the christening of the young child of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Trader which took place one day this week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Williams, grand parents of Mr. Trader.

The peculiar fact was noted by those present that the young child was particularly blessed with the possession of many living fore fathers and mothers. On the father's side the father and mother, the grandfather and mother, the great grand father and mother, and the great, great grand mother, are all living. The great father and mother are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Trader, the great grand father and mother are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Williams and the great great grandmother Mrs. Mary A. Trader. On the mother's side the grand parents are both living, which makes particularly long and interesting line of ancestry. The great grand mother, who is 89 years of age enjoys good health and was present at the christening as were the great grand parents and grand parents.

The Commissioners rejected the report of R. J. Messick, I. W. Roberts and F. S. Shockey, commission to lay out new road in Nanticoke district, and appointed I. C. Jones and Wade Insley to lay out the road.

Clerk was instructed to notify Mr. O. S. Lloyd, contractor of the new bridge across Toby Tank Creek, to begin work at once.

Several accounts for roads, bridges, and other items were examined and approved.

SCHOOL BOARD DOINGS

Revised Course of Study By State Put in Operation. Opening of Colored Schools.

The School Board at its last session, considered at some length the revised course of study as prepared by the State Board of Education. The revised course affects only the High School grades, and is as follows: Standard 4 year academic course, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th grades. The last two years may be devoted, first, to an agricultural course; or second, to a commercial course, giving the students an option among the three courses.

The Wicomico Board decided upon the academic course alone for the present school year, as it would entail heavy expense in the employment of additional instructors in the agricultural and commercial courses.

The standard 4 years' academic course has been somewhat modified, as follows: History has been redistributed among grades, beginning with Ancient History in first year of High School grade; Mediaeval and Modern History (European) in second year High School grade; English History in third year High School grade; winding up with American History and Civics in the fourth year High School grade.

Into the old course comes the introduction of new science, viz: Botany in the first year High School course; Zoology in the second year; and Astronomy in fourth year.

Heretofore the course of study prescribed Latin and either French or German in the High School grades; the revised course prescribes only one of them, and the Wicomico Board has instructed the High School principals to take Latin.

The vacancy in the primary department of the Bivalve School, occasioned by the illness of Miss Nettie Huntington, was filled by the appointment of Miss Marion Inley. Miss Inley will serve until Miss Huntington is able to resume her work in the Bivalve school.

Colored Schools.

The Board at the meeting Friday decided to open the Colored Industrial School in Salisbury on October 1, and all other colored schools on October 15. The list of colored teachers appointed Friday is as follows: Mardela, Olive Crawford; Quantico, L. F. Holbrook, Mary A. Pol; Wetpique, Evelyn Pettyjohn, Clara Garrison; Head of Creek, Edith A. Roberts; Glass Hill, Estella T. Gordy; Salisbury, Phineas E. Gordy, Arie A. Plummer James L. Johnson, Mamie L. Houston; Allen, Mabel L. Morris and Frances E. Stephens, Fruitland; Rebecca C. ## In Tender Memoriam of Laura A. Dennis.

Mrs. Laura A. Dennis, beloved wife of Marcellus Dennis departed this life August 23, aged 61 years and 25 days.

In sad remembrance of our dear wife and mother loved in life and in death remembered.

Her busy hands are folded,
Her work on earth is done;
Her trials now are ended
And a Heavenly crown she won.

Have you a Mother love her well,
While she is spared on earth;
Wait not till death shall call her hence,
To know her precious worth.

Friends may think we'll soon forget
You and our wounded hearts be healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That's within our hearts concealed.

Farewell Dear Mother, a sad Farewell,
The loss to us no tongue can tell:
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

—Children.

On the memory of this morning,
As I stood with aching heart,
Seeing the one I loved so dearly,
Pierced by Death's most cruel dart.

Oh darling wife,
I could not my sorrow bear,
Had I not the golden promise,
One shall know each other there.

"Ashes to ashes," said the preacher divine,
His words out each tender of the clinging vine,
Alone; alone; rank in our ears;
Oiling to Christ; He will ally all fear.

He will not let e'en the poor sparrow die
Unheeded by His gracious eye.
—Husband.

—No one has even seen the sun. This is not an epigrammatic pleasantry, but the cheerless scientific truth. A series of concentric shells envelops a nucleus of which we know absolutely nothing, except that it must be almost infinitely hotter than the fiercest furnace, and that it must amount to more than nine tenths of the total solar mass. That nucleus is the real sun, forever hidden from us.—Fall Mail Gazette.

DEATH OF W. R. BACON.

Former Well-Known And Popular Young Man In This County Dies In Los Angeles, Cal.

A telegram was received here Tuesday of this week by Mr. A. Sydney Johnson, which announced the death of Mr. William R. Bacon, which occurred in Los Angeles, California, Monday evening. The telegram which gave no particulars came as quite a shock to the many friends and relatives of the deceased. Mr. Bacon was born in Mardela Springs 34 years ago and was the son of the late John H. Bacon, who in his day was the leading business man in his section. Mr. Bacon, Sr. died in 1864 and left a widow and six children the deceased being the eldest.

Attending the public schools of the County young Bacon gained a good education of a practical kind and early manifested his ability to make his way in the world. He came to Salisbury about 1898 and entered the employ of Harry Dennis as a shoe salesman in which capacity he was very popular and soon became prominent in business and social circles of the town.

In 1899 he left Salisbury and went to the Klondike which at that time was attracting many young men. The climate being very rigorous Mr. Bacon returned to California where he became connected with the Pinkerton Detective Agency, the foremost agency of this character in the world. Mr. Bacon's rise in this profession was very rapid and almost phenomenal, as at the time of his death he had risen to the superintendency of the western branch of this famous organization and was considered one of the brightest detectives in this county, having been engaged in many cases of international importance.

He is survived by two brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Mr. John R. Bacon, of Bakerford, Cal., and Mr. Elmer Bacon, of Annapolis, Md. The sisters are Mrs. Harlan Twilley, of Mardela Springs, Mrs. H. S. Parsons, of Watha, N. C., and Mrs. A. Sydney Johnson, of this city.

The body will be brought to this county for interment.

POINTED EXTRACTS

From Judge Crothers' Speech On Being Notified Of His Nomination For Governor.

"The Democratic party has reduced the State taxes to a minimum. It has cut the tax rate almost in half.

"I believe it is entirely practicable by wise economy and forethought and without increasing the burdens of the people to carry out a scheme of public improvements, consisting chiefly of the establishment of good roads through every section of the whole State, so that every class and community of our people may have an equal share of them.

"There is no advantage or interest of Baltimore city which shall not have my undivided support. Every impulse that the State government can give to promote the advancement of Baltimore in its course of civic and material greatness shall be heartily and abundantly given.

"If I am elected Governor I shall use all the influence that I possess to bring about the passage of the most effective anti bribery and corrupt practice legislation which experience and reflection have suggested up to the present time. The English corrupt practice acts are probably the most effective of any which are in existence. The State of Maryland should have similar statutes.

BURGAW CITIZEN

An Inventor. Mr. James A. Perry, Native Of That Section The Man.

Burgaw may justly feel proud of one of its citizens, Mr. James A. Perry. On Monday Mr. J. A. Perry, gave a test of his "Patent cart," in which he thoroughly demonstrated to the many onlookers the superiority of the "Perry Pat Log Cart."

We feel sure we are expressing the opinion of many when we say this cart has from fifty to seventy five per cent the advantage over all log carts now in use. As was shown this cart will haul about twice as many logs as other carts, when the distance is not over three hundred yards. By actual test this cart was placed over logs, and loaded in 33 seconds. This one point alone should appeal to every logger. The cart used Monday was one of The Pender Hardware Co's—Yender, N. C. Chronicle.

Mr. Perry is a brother of Mr. Vandalia Perry and Mr. Thomas Perry of Salisbury.

Death of W. W. Lowe.

William Wallace Lowe, a highly respected citizen and farmer of Quantico District died at his home near Hebron, Wednesday of this week, of Bright's disease, aged 72 years. He was noted for his genial disposition, general ability of temper and was a most excellent citizen.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamp to pay expense of mailing only. ## LAXITY OF WALL STREET

How a Clever Youth Stole a Million Dollars.

IMPROVED SAFEGUARD.

Spectacle of Bank Messengers Carrying Portfolios Has Become So Common As to Cease to Attract Notice—Carelessness Everywhere Evident During Banking Hours.

Things are constantly occurring in the financial world which furnish proof that Wall Street is far excellent the land of contradictions.

Recently a clerk walked out of the Trust Company of America running before noon with the last $1,000,000 of bonds that went to complete a million dollars' defalcation. He was a junior clerk, his escape was unimpeded as his stealings had been ever more than a year. On the following week the Chemical National Bank, taking formal possession of its building, came into the use of a vault that was a marvel of mechanical and electrical device and the latest thing in its line. It cost perhaps $75,000. When it closed that night, and on succeeding nights, nothing short of a young earthquake would have availed to open it.

The first incident was illustrative of Wall Street by day, the second of Wall Street by night. The common sight of a bank messenger running around the street without let or hindrance carrying perhaps hundreds of thousands of negotiable securities in his leather wallet, has ceased to attract attention. In the great institutions of finance the securities are passed around from clerk to clerk as if they were worth little more than the paper on which they are engraved. Once a year, to be sure, or perhaps semi-annually or quarterly, a committee of distinguished Directors sits gravely around a council table with gray-coated guards barring the entrance to the chamber, and counts the securities to see if in truth they are all there as the books have indicated. The rest of the time the certificates, worth a prince's ransom, are tossed around from counter to counter, from clerk to clerk, during the business day.

The clerks plan was very simple and easy one, given a clerk who was weak enough to be induced to handle the "inside" end and an accomplice skillful enough to negotiate the securities on the outside without attracting undue attention. Such is Wall Street's trust in human nature that a loan envelope with a list and specifications of securities on the outside, coming from a customer of known repute, is seldom opened for an examination of the collateral when presented at a bank. The specification on the outside is enough for the entries in the books, and Wall Street lets it go that.

To bring out this contrast more strongly, one might well take a look at the great vault of the Chemical National Bank.

It is a two-story affair; you enter through the massive steel portals, and may go downstairs if you wish into another compartment as large as the one on the ground floor, but the vault really begins some distance outside its two-foot steel casement. It sets in a wall of masonry in which is embedded an iron grille work with rods and cross-bars two inches thick. Below and above is railroad iron, so that when the outer gate is once closed, it would take a pretty fair burglar quite a little while before he worked his way through and got a glimpse of the gleaming steel sheathing with which the vault itself is encased.

There is not a case on record in which a burglar bumped up against this particular difficulty and got out successfully—to say nothing of entering the vault. For the minute he placed his drill or his electric burner roughly against the tin foil curtain so as to puncture it in any way a bell would ring in an office tucked away in the upper stories of a skyscraper near by, which would tell a man watching there that there was trouble.

One might go on describing what other troubles the burglar would have if, by any chance unrealized and unimagined thus far, he should get by the electric curtain and burrow into the layer of steel beyond. But that is hardly necessary for the contrast which was suggested at the outset. The securities which were available to the clerk by day were guarded by inches of steel and marvelous mechanism by night. Small wonder is it that the rapidly disappearing generation of old-time bank breakers, kings of their profession in their day, look with envious eyes upon the modern generation of bank looters.

Newfoundland
 Our treatment of Newfoundland is, and long has been characterized by marked deficiency of friendliness. Nature gave the people of that island a hard lot. The mountains, rocky land produce a scant supply of food. Their chief industry is fishing, a perilous business that is not productive of great profit, but seldom fails to produce a large increase of widows and orphans. Added to these hard conditions, the French hold fishing rights under a treaty with England which impairs the value of Newfoundland's rights. The Hay-Bond treaty, had it been ratified, would have settled pending grievances. It would have been ratified if Senator Lodge had not prevented that consummation. All of Massachusetts except Gloucester, all of the people of New England and the rest of the United States would have been glad to have had that amicable convention agreed to. But the position of the senior Senator from Massachusetts as a member of the Foreign Relations Committee enabled him to defeat an excellent piece of work planned by Secretary Hay, Newfoundland, instead of feeling unkindly toward the United States, should be influenced in the opposite direction. Being independent of the Dominion of Canada, she would naturally seek political union with the United States if kind treatment were substituted for that which we give her. An arrangement to this end could be effected with Great Britain. It is not improbable that the French treaty rights could be amicably extinguished. This conclusion is what we should have in view and work up to its ultimate consummation. The fish caught in Newfoundland by Newfoundland vessels are "barred from their natural market in this country by a 35 per cent tariff while fish caught by natives and sold to American vessels, or caught by natives in their hire enter our ports duty free. What Newfoundland would like would be to trade the freedom of its waters for the freedom of our ports." And that would be best for all interests. It is well, however that the old grievances to be sent to The Hague.

—She was a Roman Catholic and there was not a Catholic church within a distance of twenty or thirty miles.
 "That," said his grace, "need be no difficulty. My carriage and horses are at your disposal. Breakfast shall be ready a little before daybreak, and the thing can easily be done."
 The second Duke of Wellington, in telling the story to the author of "Society in the Country House," adds, "And she had to go."
 "Imagine," he exclaimed, "the impossibility of living up to such a father."—Sel.

DRINE OF PAINTING PORTRAITS.
 While not all millionaires are necessarily godlike in figure and not all millionairesses divinely tall and most divinely fair, they are likely to harbor prejudice which foreign portrait painters ought to respect. Herr Koppay, of Vienna, should have taken pains to remember that merely because a man splurges in uptown cafes and plunges in Wall Street and at the race track he may not care to be pictured for posterity precisely as he appears in flesh. "Beauty is art, art beauty," and no reputable artist need follow nature's faults when a fat face such as Herr Koppay commands stirs the imagination.
 Melsouler once committed a similar blunder in painting a rich American woman in Paris. When she discovered the likeness he destroyed the canvas in a fit of resentment.
 An artist with tact does things better. Pointing to his bust by Powers, Commodore Vanderbilt once proudly told Ward McAllister that the sculptor had said to him: "It is a finer head than Webster's." Is it likely that Powers found any difficulty in collecting his fee?
 Cromwell showed unpardonable ignorance when he ordered that a painter should show him "warts and all." If his idea had prevailed it would have ruined the portrait painter's industry.

HARD BLOW FOR EVOLUTION.
 Mr. Bryan takes a firm stand on the doctrine of evolution and declares that he will never, never, never accept it. He cannot believe, it seems, that any man came from monkeys and white he does not forbid others from subscribing to that belief, he will not let them graft him upon any such family tree. This is, of course, a highly important announcement, and it will also, of course, cause a good deal of excitement among the scientists and philosophers in this country and abroad. Most of them have been inclined for some years past to credit the late Mr. Darwin with having hit upon a pretty big idea—an idea that, at least had something in it and naturally, they will be much disturbed when they hear that Mr. Bryan has investigated evolution and rejected the theory as untenable. They will be more than disturbed, we fear; they have become of late so accustomed to think on every conceivable subject in the terms of evolution that now, possibly, they will not be able to think at all.

RACE SUICIDE.
 In his laudible endeavor to set every-critic right, President Roosevelt criticizes a recent magazine article in which the birth rate in American families was defended as being too small for the production of a healthy race. He says that the greatest product of civilization is to be found in the fact that the well-to-do families tend to die out. But is this a fact? Here in Massachusetts the persistence of the succession in the line of well to do families is conspicuously notable. A great deal depends upon what is meant by well to do. The generation of the descendants of the creators of excessive modern fortunes is notorious. There is hardly an exception in the whole list. But this cannot be said of the families of comfortable wealth, or even many of those whose riches may be called great.—Boston Post.

ACCIDENTS AND FATIGUE.
 American Medicine calls attention to the fact that the relation between fatigue and accidents is now receiving more attention in Europe, and less here, than for many years past. About the reality of the relation there is no doubt, for it has been noted at one time or another in practically all forms of human activity. Bank clerks make a majority of their mistakes late in the afternoon and that is said to have had something to do with the comparatively early closing of such institutions, for the mistakes of bank clerks are apt to be expensive to their employers. What happens when railway men work too many hours continuously is only too well known.

WHAT IS THE PROPER TIME.
 An interesting use of language is presented in a report of the bond theft in New York which states that it was intended to steal a million dollars' worth of bonds "at the proper time." What is the proper time to steal a million dollars? Gentlemen of the Harriman school, and also those of the Pennsylvania State Capitol type, might reply that it was any time when the thing could be gotten away with. But is public usage prepared to endorse that theory of prosperity?

MISSIONARIES NEEDED.
 The way in which fashionable weddings are mobbed in New York by curious women so lost to all sense of public decency as actually to snatch the flowers from a bride's hands and feel the texture of her dress go to show that some missionary work in the higher civilization is necessary in our crowded centers.

Little Son Had Eczema
 "My son when four years of age had eczema on his body and limbs and suffered badly. Cuticura Remedies were recommended to me and I gave the complete treatment a trial and at the end of the third month my son was cured. I cannot say too much in praise of Cuticura Remedies and am always ready to recommend them to others." Mrs. G. H. Conant, Box 811, Rockland, Mass., Dec. 14, 1905.

Helpless Infants cured of Torturing, Disfiguring Humors, Eczemas, Tetter, Rashes, Itchings and Irritations, owe more to Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment than to all other remedies combined. No others so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective. May be used from birth.

Growing Scarcity of Fish.
 Comparative statistics of the salt mackerel industry, compiled by the Boston Fish Bureau, show a steady and alarming decline in the catch in the past two decades. This explains why salt mackerel instead of being the staple breakfast dish of all classes, as it was a few years ago, has become so dear that it is almost beyond reach of the poor. And what is true of the mackerel is also true of the cod; in fact, food fishes in general command a much higher price in the market than they did a decade or more ago.
 The decline of the Atlantic fisheries is a serious matter, affecting as it does the prosperity of a great number of families dependent upon this industry for a livelihood. While the Federal government is doing good work in the line of fish propagation on the Atlantic seaboard, there is need of better co-operation by the seaboard States, not only in the enactment of laws for the regulation of the fishing industry, but also in the propagation of the species that are most valuable for food purposes.—Camden, Nod., Post Telegram.

A Traveling Man's Experience.
 "I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." The Established Church of England will use $1,350,000 for the pensioning of her aged and poor ministers, a step rendered necessary by the very inadequate stipends paid to her clergy even by that wealthy State endowed church. There are 1,400 regular clergymen in her communion, who receive only $344 a year, while half of the English clergy receive salaries less than $900 after all. State endowment is not a very brilliant success, even from this lower standpoint.

Letter To E. J. Adkins.
 Dear Sir—What will it cost to sow ten acres half wheat and half daisy mixed and what'll the crop be worth? We don't know what daisy seed costs, nor how bulky it is; we suspect half wheat and half daisy would make a big crop of daisies, and last a long time; the wheat might be short.
 The parable throws some light on the cost of a paint half whitewash. Whitewash, mixed half and half with paint, is all paint in look and feel; indeed nine tenths of the "paint" in the stores is part whitewash; some more, some less.
 Paint has to be spread with the brush, the surface prepared, the ladders, scaffolds, pulleys and ropes arranged and moved, there's a great deal of labor in putting paint on; it costs $2 to $4 a gallon to do it.
 What does it cost to paint whitewash. Just the same. It doesn't seem worth while, for the whitewash does harm, not good.
 Will the paint hold the whitewash fast or the whitewash hold fast or loosen the paint?
 Better paint pure paint, the least gallons paint, the least money paint, Devco. Yours truly,

Early Incandescent Lamps.
 The earliest incandescent electric light lamps contained 75 cents worth of platinum, and were blown by hand. At the present time the amount of this precious metal is reduced to a few cents' worth, and the bulbs are blown in large quantities by machinery at a cost of 2 cents each. The average cost of these lamps is now 18 cents, due to the fact that there are 100 different processes involved in the manufacture.

Runaway Couples From Germany Go There to Wed.

Except that it is a little more difficult or expensive to reach, the British Capital couples today precisely the same position in relation to the Fatherland as did Gretna Green to the regions this side of the Tweed in the days of our great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers.

There are in London a number of enterprising individuals of German nationality or birth whose principal, if not their only business is to entice Teutonic youths and maidens to this country and marry them off in accordance with the English law whenever "just cause or impediment" makes it difficult for them to get joined together in holy matrimony in their own country.

These agents advertise regularly in the German newspapers, calling the attention of the amorous Teuton to the facilities which exist in England for tying connubial knots expeditiously and on reasonable terms.

Some of them have their agents in Germany to push the business and catch customers on commission, much like the parties who "outed for licenses" at the entrance to Doctors' Commons in the days when Mr. Weller, senior, was captured for the second time.

They issue books, pamphlets and leaflets describing, more or less accurately, the English law, and explaining fully all the formalities in connection with an English marriage.

To show how carefully every detail is thought out, there is among the stock in trade of one of the most active of these firms a leaflet giving in English and German the fateful questions which the Book of Common Prayer requires the priest to put to the parties before joining their hands irrevocably together with the proper responses.

The reason of all this is easy to understand. The tying of the matrimonial knot in Germany is a much more lengthy and troublesome business than in England, and to do it surreptitiously is very much more difficult. I am told that from the first official notification to the completion of the ceremony the usual time consumed in going through the necessary legal formalities is about six weeks, and may be anything from that up to twelve. The mere statements of the parties are not sufficient but have to be supported by identification papers and other documents which are carefully looked into.

The only formality that presents any difficulty at all to a foreign bride and bridegroom coming to England to be married is a fifteen days residence in the district prior to the ceremony, but it is not much of a difficulty in reality, there being little risk in making a false statement on the point, while it can always be got over by a special license when the parties are anxious that everything shall be done regularly and do not grudge the necessary expenditure.

I am told that it is becoming a common occurrence for a pair of German lovers to disappear for a week and return to their delighted friends as married in a fifteen days residence in the district prior to the ceremony, but it is not much of a difficulty in reality, there being little risk in making a false statement on the point, while it can always be got over by a special license when the parties are anxious that everything shall be done regularly and do not grudge the necessary expenditure.

Why November is So Called. November was called by the ancient Saxons the wint monath, or wind month, on account of the gales then prevalent. It was also named the blot monath, or blood month, from the ancient practice of the winter slaughtering cattle for the winter provisions.

It is said that the Roman Senators wished to name the month after Tiberius, as months had already been named after Julius Caesar and Augustus, but the Emperor, like Cæsar, felt that it was possible to have too much fatness and refused, remarking, drily: "What will you do, conscript fathers, if you have 13 Caesars?"

Advertising Goethe's Works. Twenty years ago a German publisher began to issue a complete collection of Goethe's letters. Thirty-four volumes are now in type, and it is expected that the rest of the letters, which will fill 15 more volumes, will appear within four years.

"Oh, he meant the things which arms called by that name before?" "country," replied the older one.

"Well, Julia, I never heard men's arms called by that name before!"—To Stop.

The mere statements of the parties are not sufficient but have to be supported by identification papers and other documents which are carefully looked into.

I am told that it is becoming a common occurrence for a pair of German lovers to disappear for a week and return to their delighted friends as married in a fifteen days residence in the district prior to the ceremony, but it is not much of a difficulty in reality, there being little risk in making a false statement on the point, while it can always be got over by a special license when the parties are anxious that everything shall be done regularly and do not grudge the necessary expenditure.

Why November is So Called. November was called by the ancient Saxons the wint monath, or wind month, on account of the gales then prevalent. It was also named the blot monath, or blood month, from the ancient practice of the winter slaughtering cattle for the winter provisions.

It is said that the Roman Senators wished to name the month after Tiberius, as months had already been named after Julius Caesar and Augustus, but the Emperor, like Cæsar, felt that it was possible to have too much fatness and refused, remarking, drily: "What will you do, conscript fathers, if you have 13 Caesars?"

Advertising Goethe's Works. Twenty years ago a German publisher began to issue a complete collection of Goethe's letters. Thirty-four volumes are now in type, and it is expected that the rest of the letters, which will fill 15 more volumes, will appear within four years.

MARYLAND FARMS.

Fifteen farms at a sacrifice. Buildings on all. Plenty of wood and timber to support them. Good water, fine climate, two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for horticulture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate modified by ocean and bay. Come and look, is all we ask. Farms of 150 to 1,000 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the Northern and Eastern cities; so these prices are only temporary.

Why go to the wilds and spend your life making a farm and a home, when for less money, in a better climate and nearer the markets, you can immediately have what you want? Yours truly,

VOTE BUYING.

In reply to Mr. Ellegood's letter, published in our columns of last week's issue, we want in the first place to say that the policy of the Advertiser on the question of bribery has not changed in the slightest degree, and we are as much opposed to the pernicious system of debauching our electorate as we ever were.

This paper has for years consistently fought bribery and has never condoned it when practised by either the Democratic or the Republican Party, and is prepared to help carry through any good plan looking towards the eradication or the lessening in the slightest degree of this grievous sore of modern politics.

The question of bribery is not a party question and both Democrats and Republicans can join in striving to weed it out without for a moment having their party allegiance questioned.

There has undoubtedly been a great deal of cant and hypocrisy shown on this question by both parties. Each has pointed out the mote in his opponent's eye, and in some cases has either pretended to be ignorant of what exists in his own party or has ignored it altogether.

As to the best method to be adopted to eliminate the use of money in the election this fall, we are of the opinion that the best results can be obtained if the different parties can get together and make an agreement somewhat on the line laid out by our sister county, Caroline.

In our opinion such an agreement should be signed by the nominees on both tickets, the State Central Committee of both parties, and by the leaders and workers of both parties in every district of the county. By this means it would make it well nigh impossible for money to be used and render the breaking of the agreement less likely, by thus being able to fix the responsibility exactly and accurately where it belongs and let every man bear the shame and stigma of not only breaking other men's pledged word of honor but that of his own as well.

It is true in the past that both sides have claimed that agreements made have not been kept, and it would seem that some of these claims at least were well founded, but, it is conceded, that the men who are nominated on both tickets this year are men of exceptionally good character and high standing; and we believe that if men of the calibre of Ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson and Walter B. Miller, who respectively head the opposing tickets, should pledge their name and honor as either to use themselves or to allow others to use for them, any money for vote buying, they would live up to it; and that if any member of their respective party should use or cause to be used any money after they pledged themselves not to, then they would be the first to give information and demand that the man who attempted to make their plighted honor a by-word and laughing stock should be punished and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

If an agreement can be reached, it should be done early in the campaign, and not a few days before the election, when perhaps most of the mischief has been done. The people of this county regardless of party are thoroughly disgusted with bribery, and are insisting that something should be done to put an end to it.

Regardless of any arrangement the Democratic and Republican parties may come to it is the duty of the officers of the county to let it be known that it must stop, and that it is their intention to land behind the bars any man be he a democrat or republican who buys or attempts to buy a single vote.

An agreement this year will not finally settle the question, but a strict enforcement of the law will.

Largest Woman in Delaware Dead.

Unquestionably the largest woman in Delaware died at her country home near Clayton and was laid at rest on her last couch, Sunday afternoon. She was Mrs. Walter Short, wife of a prominent farmer, and she, although only 35 years old, weighed 735 pounds.

Over one thousand persons witnessed the interment, most of them attracted through curiosity, for it was the largest and heaviest corpse ever interred here. The deceased had been afflicted with tumors which grew to gigantic proportions, and the body weighed 735 pounds. She was short in stature, but her dimensions in girth may be the fact that her arm between elbow and shoulder measured 46 inches in circumference be estimated.

A Woman's Back
How many aches and pains caused by weakness and falling, or other displacement of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headaches, dizziness, imaginary spots, or dark spots floating before the eyes, gait, less energetic in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness. If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct. Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Through the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsement given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills. You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy of known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is his duty to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equalled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take at any time.

Saturday Night Talks

By F. E. DAVIDSON — RUTLAND Vt.

GARNERING THE WHEAT

Sep. 22, '07.—(Dont. 24:1-12). By Nebos lonely mountain, On this side Jordan's wave, In a vale in the land of Moab, There lies a lonely grave; But no man built that sepulchre And no man saw it e'er; For the angels of God upturned the sod, And laid the dead man there.

O lonely tomb in Moab's land! O dark Beth-peor's hill! Speak to these curious hearts of ours, And teach them to be still; God hath his mysteries of grace, Ways that we cannot tell, He hides them deep, like the secret sleep. Of him he loved so well.

That Moses was not permitted to enter into the Promised Land at the head of the nation which he had created during 40 years of ceaseless energy. In too many people a disappointment. There seems to be something wrong in the providence that holds to the lip a full cup of blessing only to snatch it away in the moment of expected realization. To miss the goal of one's ambition when the foot is upon the threshold is exceedingly disappointing. To see others, less worthy take possession of privileges from which we ourselves are excluded is a sore trial to most of us.

The people never would have reached the Promised Land had it not been for Moses. He was the organizer of the exodus, the leader through all the years of their wandering, the teacher, the guide, the statesman, the lawgiver. He took that company of raw recruits and emancipated slaves, and in less than half a century had developed them into a nation of freemen, a splendid military force, a devout and consecrated congregation of believers, worthy descendants of the patriarchs.

Moses prepared the people for colonization and national existence, and led them to the border line of their new home. Then a strange thing happened. He made these farewell addresses of Deuteronomy. And having pronounced his valedictory, he climbed the precipitous sides of Pisgah, and from its top-most peak looked out over the land which the 12 tribes were about to occupy. There was given to him prophetic vision to see that land as it was to be in the centuries to come. He saw, as if it already existed the glorious reality of his brightest dreams, and on that mountain top he wrote his last words. His career ended right there. The reaper made one sweep of his scythe and the ripest sheaf of wheat the world had ever known was garnered for eternity.

Would you call that a failure? Is that sort of coronation a disappointment? We say that Moses died there. That Hebrew lawgiver was never so much alive as he is today. A noted infidel of other years got a little cheap notoriety and considerable money—by publicly declaiming about the Mistake of Moses, but that lawyer never argued a case in court that was not based for its foundation of justice upon the laws of Moses. There is not a courtroom in the world where Moses does not stand at the head of all authority. The jurisprudence of Blackstone is vital with the life blood of Moses. The statute books of all civilized lands take their cue from the legislative enactments of the Hebrew statesman. And no law not founded upon the eternal principles of righteousness or revealed in the teachings of that ancient lawgiver, will stand the test of trial. The authority of Moses is unquestioned. There is a mighty stride between the Nile and Nebo, but Moses took it. And he lifted 2,000,000 bondmen with him.

Don't get an instant thing of this hero of the Ages as coming to an unworthy end. He passed away in most appropriate fashion. It was the exit of a king. That Moses did not go into the Promised Land is nothing. It was unworthy of him to go into so little a land, so lowly a home. Canaan was good enough and large enough for the pupils in the primary school, it would be a good enough school house for them. But for Moses, of the Sinai summit—Moses, of the 40 days communion on the Mount of God, Moses, of the shining face as one acquainted with eternal splendors, for him to go down to be cooped up in the narrow limits of Canaan would be utterly incongruous. He must dwell in broader territory, among intelligences of sublimer scope, in the eternal Canaan, the New Jerusalem, which is above, the mother of us all. What wonder that the Jewish commentators say that Deut. 34: 5, should read: "So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab, on the mouth of the Lord." That is to say, the Lord kissed his soul away. Kissed into rest—kissed into heaven! To have God's kiss, God's well-dove, God's smile, is not to die. It is but to "languish into life." Moses was unique; he stands alone; no man can approach him. And yet, he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

1907 1908 POULTRY

Do Not Overfeed and Always Give Fresh Water. Whatever grains are fed should be scattered in deep litter. Straw we find best. Not simply an inch or two; but a foot in depth so that it will mean abundant work for the hens. The food is often much too easy of access to the hens. Hens cannot gorge themselves if they have to work hard for their food, and every hen should be taught that it will not work neither shall she eat. In the matter of mash we have but to say that it appears most natural to feed it at noon then only in a limited measure. Fed in the morning birds are satisfied too quickly. Fed at night it is too quickly digested. Do not give the hens all they will eat. Let them always be hungry enough to scratch for an additional grain. If their hunger is appeased and they mope around there will be few eggs. Of greens we prefer whole cabbage, as our chief reliance. But here, too, variety is desirable. Bread is good for people but no person would like to be kept on a restricted diet of bread. Chopped apples, cut clover, beets, mangel-wurzels or turnips, in short any green food that is palatable and inviting, is good, but again do not surprise the fowls. Grt should be before them all the time. Even then we believe it beneficial to mix a limited amount in the mash a couple of times a week. Good grit contains essential materials for shells as well as for keeping up the healthy condition of the fowls' system. Ground oyster shells are useful. Ground-bone is a wonderful help to egg-production. The birds relish it amazingly and if fed a little every day they will thrive well on it. But do not feed stale or decayed meat. Let it be fresh, both for the quantity and quality of the eggs as well as the health of the fowls. Of course an unlimited supply of fresh water is indispensable. This plays a more important part than many think. At least once a day the water should be renewed, and if the weather is very cold it will pay to give warm or tepid water to this flock to drink. The summary of this is therefore: Supply your hens with food for the retention of their vitality and physical stamina. Then intelligently give them the necessary materials for eggs. Feed regularly but do not overfeed, make the fowls work hard for all they eat; let them never want for fresh water or grit and see how they will repay you.

Hold Up Solicitation.

The Fourth Estate tells a story of a Portland newspaper which failed to land the "ad" of a certain land sale promoter because he didn't believe that people who were interested in real estate read that publication. Forthwith the paper printed an editorial warning against the purchase of lots in the section which the operator was developing as likely to lead to loss, and the real estate man began to see things in a different light. Here in the East the standard of newspaper morality is happily such that we should call such an "ad" getting enterprise by its proper name; but the point of the tale is worthy of the consideration of non-advertisers who are uncertain whether favorable publicity would help them. Faving the question inversely, would unfavorable publicity hurt them? Is there room to doubt that any honest business whose existence depends upon the good will of newspaper readers can be most rapidly built up by interesting, candid appeals to newspaper readers? — Philadelphia Record.

USEFUL COFFEE POT FILTER.

Can be Cleaned With Facility and as Readily Replaced.
An improved coffee pot filter, which can be removed and cleaned with facility and as readily replaced, is shown in the accompanying illustration. This filter can be used in conjunction with any coffee pot. It consists of a tubular body, supported in an upright position on wire legs near the top of the pot. Secured to the tube is a cloth bag, which reaches near the bottom of the coffee pot when fixed in position. The bag is made from a thin textile, it being possible to open the upper end to receive the coffee. By pouring boiling water into the pot or filling the pot to any desired height with cold water and boiling it the water percolates through the bag and extracts the strength from the coffee in the well-known manner.

GUIDES TO HEALTH.

Application of zinc ointment will take away the scars and red spots left by severe pimples.
To clear and whiten the skin take the juice of a lemon and a dash of salt in a glass of cold water—every morning.
Either orange-flower water or rose water will take the place of elderflower water when it is impossible to obtain the latter.

For corns try the milky juice of the common dandelion, a single application of which will probably cause the corn to disappear as if by magic.
It is decidedly worth while to practice certain balancing exercises that will do much toward retaining elasticity of movement and giving the body perfect poise.

The Unattached Woman.

Nowhere else in the world is the woman who has chosen the single life so thoroughly her own mistress, so wholly the arbiter of her own destiny, so completely at liberty to create the atmosphere that shall make for her happiness as in New York.

In Paris she is declassé—an object of social suspicion—because she has not openly annexed a bread-winner.
In London she becomes the mother, by proxy, of her sister's children, or some distant relative's children. In the lesser cities of the United States, a writer in Woman believes, some of the old prejudice remains against the woman who has missed or declined matrimony. She is to a degree the superfluous woman, and as such is tolerated or pitied, but never approved.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

The chief things to remember in cutting a dress skirt are not to stretch gored edges and to allow enough length so that it can be lifted in the back without making it short at the sides.
Darning a tear in wool or silk or cotton material should always be done with ravelings, and where two kinds of thread are used in making the material it is well to use them in the same way in darning.

In cutting out, so some tailors say, it is better to cut with the nap up. Instead of down, as in cloth. This method is said to prevent rubbed spots, the material retaining its bloom a much longer period.
Trial of the Russian Bride.
A Russian bride has not to submit to the trying ordeal for her beauty of appearing in white attire in the cold light of day. The wedding takes place by candlelight in the drawing room of the bride's mother. After the ceremony there is a banquet, followed by a ball, and after that there is a supper, after which a new satin slipper is fitted with wine and passed round to the bridegroom's friends, who drink from it to the health of the bride.

How to Mend a Stay.

The nicest way to mend a broken corset or dress stay is to bind the top of the stay or where it is broken with a small piece of chamois silk. The end of the stay, it will be found, will not pierce through the chamois as it frequently does through cloth.

To Clean Agate Ware.

To clean agate ware that has become stained take 1 tablespoonful of chloride of lime and a small piece of soda, then fill with cold water and let come to a boil. Rinse well.
Round Backs Are Aging.
If you want to keep young looking do not allow yourself to fall into the habit of stooping. A round back, like wrinkles, once permanently acquired cannot be got rid of.

Candles Commonly Used.

The candle still holds its own notwithstanding petroleum, gas and electricity. The production of candles in the United States during the fiscal year of 1906 amounted to $4,889,891.

ROLL YOUR R'S.

This month is the month of the oyster. The first with a rolling "R." When the clam goes back to his cloister. And the oyster's the only star. When the restaurants all shall blossom Forth the alluring signs—"Here's where you get your oysters—" "Here's where your wise guy dines." Now shall the pious people Devise new ways to brew For "sociables" neath the steeples, Soup with "one in a stew." Now will the haggard husband, Cured with a wife who knocks, Homeward hike with "a peacemaker" Only "a fry in a box." Bivalve, dubbed the "Innocent—" Some country editor said it— If I am broke still this winter, May I eat you still on credit!

—S. B. R., in Hanover Herald.

ACT QUICK.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Salisbury.
Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing dangerous kidney ills.
Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. G. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md. says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me, was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended so I got a box at White and Leonard's drug store used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903 recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster Millburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A little town near Providence boasts a church whose pastor, besides being an eloquent preacher, is a man of stalwart proportions. At one of his evening prayer meetings the services were disturbed by two young men who audibly scoffed at everything they saw or heard. Finally the pastor remonstrated with them on their behavior, and asked them why they attended the meeting.
"We came expecting to see miracles performed," impudently replied one of the rascals. Leaving the desk and walking quietly down the aisle, the pastor seized one after the other by the collar and as they disappeared out of the door, remarked: "We don't perform miracles here, but we do cast out devils."—Boston Globe.

ENTERTAINMENT SERIES

Prepared By President Skinner Of The Eastern Shrop College For Pleased And Instruction.

There will be a series of entertainments presented to the people of Salisbury at the Masonic Temple during the coming season. The words "lecture course" seem to have a paralyzing effect upon many people's minds; so in place of lecturers, noted entertainers have been engaged.

The entire season will be devoted to entertainments of the highest character, consisting of cartoonists, male quartettes, illustrated lectures on travel, etc.

The first entertainment will be given by Captain Jack Crawford, the Post scout, at the Masonic Temple, October 24th. Elbert Hubbard classes Captain Jack Crawford with such men as Franklin, Lincoln, Ingersoll, Edison and James Whitcomb Riley. He looks like Buffalo Bill, but is not at all like him in character.

On the evening of November 21st, at the Masonic Temple, the great cartoonist, S. M. Spedon, the founder of "Lycium Journalism," will deliver his side-splitting entertainment, which will interest and entertain both old and young, in a talk called "Things We Laugh and Wonder at." The New York Sun says he has no superior.

December 6th the people of Salisbury will be given a rare treat in male quartette music, rendered by the Otterbine Male Quartette, assisted by Miss Jessie Rae Taylor in short impersonations. The Otterbine Male Quartette have been together for a number of years. They have sung in twenty-nine States and nearly all the principal cities in the country.

During the month of January there will be a special entertainment introduced, the name of which will not be announced until later.

The evening of February 7th will be the banner evening of the year. Prof. Paul M. Pearson, for six years Professor of Literature in the Chicago University for the past two years in the same chair at Swarthmore College, will give his famous recital, entitled "Plantation Days in Song and Story." Professor Pearson has been for many years instructor in the largest Chautauque in the United States, and is a gentleman of pleasing personality and wonderful talent.

March the 3d the people of Salisbury will be given the pleasure of listening at the celebrated R. G. Knowles, who has been called the American of America. Mr. Knowles has received as high as $3000 for one evening's entertainment, and this should be one of the most pleasant occasions of the year, as his subject will be "Old Worlds Through New Eyes." In his talk he will be assisted by the best class stereopticon and artistic hand-colored views of scenes which Mr. Knowles himself has taken in his many trips around the world.

This entertainment course has been arranged so that a season's ticket, good for the five entertainments, will cost but $2, including reserved seats.

A PELVIC DISEASE Of Which Peruna Cured Me In a Very Short Time WAS SAPPING MY LIFE.

Mrs. SOPHIA CALDWELL, 1122 McGavock St., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"After doctoring for a year and finding no relief from leucorrhoea resulting from prostatic ureter, and which was sapping my life force away, I finally tried Peruna, and when I found that it was helping me every day, it seemed almost too good to be true. But, it not only helped me, it cured me in a very short time. I am now enjoying the best of health. I am strong and free from pain, and I certainly feel that all praise and honor are due to Peruna." Thousands of women will read the testimonial of Mrs. Caldwell as above given. Thousands of them will be induced to try the remedy that saved her. Thousands of them will have the same experience she had. Peruna is the remedy such women need. Peruna comes like a boon to suffering womenkind. Mrs. John Hogg, Webster Ave., Glasgow, La., E. M. F. has also been relieved of her sufferings by Peruna.

COUNTY REPUBLICANS

Offer To Make Binding Agreement With The Democratic Party Not To Buy Votes.

To the State Central Committee of the Democratic party of Wicomico County, Maryland: Gentlemen—In addressing this communication to your honorable body, we are impelled and influenced by a earnest desire to undo, as far as possible, the harmful effects of the corrupt political methods employed in our elections for many years past, and we also have a hope that by establishing at the election to be held next November a precedent of purity and correctness, that we can insure an undebauched electorate for all times to come.

It is useless and unprofitable to further continue the policy of re-orientation, which has been so violently waged for the past twelve months, as we believe that if the advocates of the two large parties will exert one half of the energy so expended to produce these forms for which we are all so seriously suffering, the matter can and will be corrected permanently.

There is no argument that will appeal to honest men in favor of a continuance of the present method, as we all must be conscious that the baneful consequences which travel in the wake of such corruption, must and has distinctly lowered the moral standard of our citizenship.

The excuse most frequently given for this harmful practice is that one party claims that one party cannot trust the other, and it is for the purpose of meeting this apology that we make the following proposal:

We are willing to enter into an agreement with the Democratic party to limit the amount of the campaign fund for the election to be held in November, to a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars. This is to include contributions from the candidates and all other sources of revenue.

We are willing to publish a sworn statement of all moneys received, the sources from which they are derived, and the use to which they are employed, within six days after the election. We agree that a promise beforehand, a promise on the day of election, or a promise to be complied with after the election shall be a violation of this agreement. We promise that a further violation of this agreement will be an inducement to a man to stay at home, as of the same gravity as securing his vote for a consideration upon the day of election.

As a security and guarantee of the faithful performance of this agreement, we will give the sworn consent of the State Central Committee, the candidates on the Republican ticket and any Republican, or men working with the Republican party, that shall be named by your committee. With the understanding that you in turn will similarly pledge the members of your State Central Committee, your candidates and such Democrats and workers in your party as we may name. As an additional guarantee, we are agreeable to the organization of a vigilance committee, consisting of the members of the Democratic, Republican and Prohibition parties, to be present at the several polling districts upon the day of election, and to be diligent throughout the county from the time of its appointment before the election until it is regularly discharged at some date subsequent to the election.

If the guarantee which we have offered of good faith is not sufficient to inspire you with confidence we are willing to give you any additional security which you may name.

We have every confidence that you will appreciate the importance of this proposition and the necessity of replying to it as early in the week ending October 5th, 1907, as possible. We remain,

Yours very truly,
W. H. Jackson,
J. H. Tomlinson,
W. H. Knowles,
J. Wilson.

LIGHTS OF A BIG DEMOCRATIC YEAR.

Plain Signals That The Democratic Party Of Progress Will Win By Good Majority. Good Platform. Strong Candidates.

Baltimore, September 26, 1907. The campaign opened last week with a rousing reception to the Democratic candidates in Music Hall and not for a generation has the party presented a more thoroughly united and harmonious front at the beginning of the contest for supremacy in the State. Not a dissenting voice is heard among Democrats, and for the first time in a quarter of a century the Republicans will be without so-called independent allies in their efforts to attain control of the State government. Independents and mugwump allies are in line for the whole ticket, and the Republican press has not been able to secure one man of any influence whatever to come out in opposition to the nominees of the party to which he professes to belong. The usual criticism of candidates platform, and management, is absent and it looks as if the present contest would be a straight out party fight, with the Democrats unanimously on one side and the Republicans on the other. With such a condition there can be but one result, and that is an overwhelming Democratic victory. It seems to be in the air that this is a Democratic year in Maryland, and that the party which represents white supremacy will retain its ascendancy without the usual acrimonious and bitter contest which has signalized every campaign since that of 1897.

Immediately after the State Convention it was thought that the plan to hold primaries on election day to enable the Democratic voters to indicate their choice for United States Senator, would complicate matters and endanger the State ticket, but views on this subject have largely changed and now the plan is looked upon with much favor. The candidates for the succession to the Senate seem pleased with the program, and people generally are pleased with it. Mr. Talbot, Mr. Miles, Governor Warfield, and the other gentlemen who have indicated their desire to succeed the late Senator Gorman, have all expressed their approval of the action of the State Convention, and all are ready to abide by the result. Public sentiment seems to be so strongly in favor of giving the seat in the Senate to the man who gets the most votes at the primary, that there appears to be no doubt but that the popular choice will be the choice of the legislature, should the Democrats elect a majority of that body.

Strenuous efforts have been made by Republicans to create the impression that Democrats in Baltimore city are divided in two hostile camps, one led by Ex-Governor Brown and the other by Mr. John J. Malon. The city Democrats are too grateful to Governor Brown to forget his unselfish services since the death of Mr. Rasin, and are ready to do anything he may ask of them. He could have had the nomination for Governor, but he declined it. There is no doubt but that he could have the endorsement of the city for United States Senator but he does not want that. All that he desires is to aid in tidying over the crisis caused by Mr. Rasin's death, and then he is ready to retire. No one disputes his leadership, and none recognizes it more completely than Mr. Malon on whom the mantle of Mr. Rasin will by common consent fall, sooner or later. He and Governor Brown are in thorough accord, all efforts to cause a break between them having proved futile. Both are Democrats, and both are too anxious to have their party maintain its supremacy to allow mere difference of personal opinion to stand in the way of success. On every subject of importance they have agreed, and whatever differences they have had, have been trying in their character and have not caused either of them a moment's trouble.

All the present indications point to an overwhelming Democratic victory in the city and counties, and close observers of public affairs would not be surprised if the majority reached the proportions attained in the years before personal jealousies and the claims of rival leaders tore the party asunder and at times jeopardized its very existence. A thoroughly united Democratic party is bound to win in Maryland.

SALISBURY, MD., September 27, 1907.

To the Citizens of the Town of Salisbury:

WHEREAS, The "Every Evening," a daily newspaper of the city of Wilmington, Delaware, on September 18th, last, published what was purported to be an interview with several of our well-known citizens on the subject of Local Option in Salisbury, Maryland, under the headlines, "A MARYLAND COUNTY IN LEADING STRINGS—Hedged in as to Trade, Wide Open as to Drunkenness. ## HOME GAS COMPANY

Shows By Preparations And Actual Work That It Means Business.

The Home Gas Company have gotten down to business in good time, and the preliminary work of pipe laying is well under way. At a meeting of the Company held last week, it was decided to close the stock subscription books. To date, $81,000 has been subscribed of the $200,000 which was intended to be sold, but the Company has decided to sell only $40,000 of the stock, and the additional $90,000 will be taken by some of the present stockholders. As the plant will cost in the neighborhood of $60,000, the Company will sell about $20,000 bonds to complete the works.

From the present indications, the Home Gas Company will start off with a good business. It is not without the possibilities that the Company will have 800 or 400 customers when the plant is ready for operation. Several concerns in the city who are large users of gasolines for power and heating will make the change to gas just as soon as the Company is ready for customers.

A few years ago Mrs. Timmons sustained a stroke of paralysis, and also suffered a second stroke the middle of last week, which, in her weakened condition, hastened her death. ## DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Will Reassemble Wednesday, Oct. 2. To Nominate Candidate For State Senate. Ex-Gov. Jackson Resigns. Probably Candidate For United States Senate.

Salisbury, Md., Sept. 27, 1907. To the Chairman and Members of the Democratic County Convention of Wicomico County:

Dear Sirs:—Owing to the fact that I may be a candidate before the people of Maryland and Wicomico County in the primaries for the nomination of United States Senators, I deem it unwise to ask my friends in this county to vote for me twice the same day for different positions, therefore I most respectfully tender my resignation as the candidate for nomination of State Senator which you so kindly and generously bestowed upon me.

I am not ungrateful of the high honor which this nomination carries with it, but under the circumstances I believe it but justice both to the party and myself to resign from the county ticket. I also recognize the fact that the party has much good material from which to select my successor. I hope the Convention will accept my resignation with the full assurance of my hearty and active support not only to the gentleman selected to take my place, but for the entire Democratic ticket, and I take this occasion to call upon all the Democrats in the County to get actively into this campaign and help us roll up an old time Democratic majority in Wicomico County.

With kind regards to you all, I am,
Yours for Democratic success,
E. E. Jackson.

at the hour of 12.30 o'clock, p. m. in the Court room, for the purpose of filling any vacancy or vacancies which have or may occur on the Democratic ticket nominated on the above date, and to transact any other business which may arise.

To those of you who have admired our displays or previous years, we say: they are eclipsed, outclassed.

Trimmed Hats from $5.00 to $50.00, and all the in-between prices—fashionable copies and adaptations of imported designs—large hats for the women who can wear them, and smaller models for those who prefer them.

And every hat has that touch of originality, that air of "differentness" that distinguishes our productions from all others.

Should you prefer a hat trimmed to your special order, and desire suggestions, we have at your disposal model hats—both imported and of our own creation—in abundance. And millinery materials—shades in felt, velvet and silk, feathers, wings, aigrettes and flowers—at most moderate prices.

Suits for the Little Woman

The little woman has heretofore had two alternatives to face. Either she must wear a young girl's suit and look, perhaps, unduly youthful. Or she must have a larger suit altered—practically remade—which was not always satisfactory.

Now, we can fit the little woman perfectly—in suits that are women's suits—smaller replicas of the full size garments—perfectly proportioned, and needing, in most cases, no alteration whatever.

Our Tailor Order Department is equipped to give prompt and accurate service. The McCall Bureau of Fashions will be mailed free every month on request. Samples of Silks, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics and so on, will be cheerfully sent on all orders for them.

His Great Scheme.

If the scheme of Benjamin O. Fitch, a clerk at the Southern materializes, it is probable that the fame of Mulberry Sellers will be relegated to an obscure pigeon hole, while the inventive genius back of the Southern's front desk will have and hold for many years, title in fee simple to the new famous expression, "There's millions in it."

"Hotel keepers are ever easy victims," said Mr. Fitch, yesterday, "for those gentlemen who yearn for board and lodging free. A man enters a hotel, registers and goes to his room. First class hotelier can hardly ask a man for money in advance. They simply take a chance. Now, I have a scheme that will materially reduce the losses to hotels from this source. I got my inspiration from one of those while you wait photograph parlors on Market st. You know they have a bright, blinding light which enables them to take photographs instantaneously. You wait only a minute and you have your likeness on a souvenir postal card. My scheme is to place one of those piercing lights right over the hotel desk. Then, behind this screen to the right I will have a small hole, back of which will be the camera. As a guest registers I step back as though I were scanning the room file for a suitable chamber for him, incidentally pushing the magic button. I will have taken his photograph and he won't know it.

"By the time the guest has registered and has been assigned to his room I present him with a souvenir postal card with his likeness upon it, reserving a duplicate for our files. If he attempts to get away without paying his board we can have the postal card reproduced many times and copies sent to all police departments and detective agencies, also leading hotels. There would be little chance for him to get away.

"Another fine feature of the scheme is this: For American plan guests we will give him the souvenir postal card instead of a meal ticket. When he goes to the dining room he exhibits the postal card showing the imprint of his likeness. In that way we would defeat the time worn trick of one man registering and dividing his meals with a confederate. You know there is a great deal of that sort of thing done in American hotels."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G. suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost in a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some service to you in the future. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1906."

WORLD'S ENOLLIENT Is Cuticura Ointment.

For rashes, eczema, itching, irritations, scalds and chappings, for red, rough, and greasy complexion, for sore, itching, burning heads and feet, for baby rashes, itching and chappings, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery, Cuticura Ointment, made by Cuticura Soap is invaluable.

BURIAL OF DEAD LETTERS.

Large Sum Realized Annually Through Carelessness.

When one reads that within a fraction of twelve million pieces the whole number of letters of the Post Office Department at Washington, during the last fiscal year, it will be natural for him to indulge in an expression of surprise. The fact is that with the constant expansion of the postal service it is inevitable that the failures of delivery for various reasons should increase in like ratio, says a writer in the Pittsburg Gazette.

While this total seems to be very large, it is really small as compared with the enormous aggregate of mail matter entrusted to the postal service. The exact figures cannot be stated, but from a count recently taken, for a limited period, and a very careful estimate based thereon, there is reasonable certainty that the whole number of pieces transmitted through the mails for the year was more than 10,350,000,000. This shows that less than one article in a thousand failed to reach the persons for whom intended.

There is a general, but unsupported impression, that the great bulk of matter sent to the Division of Dead Letters is due to some fault of omission on the part of the senders, and, in a minor degree perhaps, to delinquencies on the part of the service. The truth is that a great preponderance of this matter reaches its intended destination as shown by the address; although many thousands of letters are, of course, improperly addressed or deposited for mailing without the necessary postage.

A curious circumstance is noted that more than fifty thousand letters are annually deposited for mailing without any address whatever. The natural presumption would be that these come from unattended or inexperienced persons, while experience in the Division of Dead Letters show, on the contrary, that the errors of omission are mainly on the part of business people, who are in too much of a hurry to take a second look at the envelopes before depositing them for transmission through the mails. Consequently a larger proportion of this class of letters is found to contain more valuable inclosures than any other.

Another singular feature is that notwithstanding the varied and continuous efforts of the postal authorities to induce patrons of the mails to place their names and addresses upon the envelopes of their letters they have very largely failed of success. The average American seems to be in too much of a hurry to avail himself of this privilege. If all were to do so, however, the Division of Dead Letters would be short of a very large part of its present duties, but as a compensation therefor, the patrons of the mails would have returned to them direct by postmasters their letters which had failed of delivery without the delay and other embarrassments incident upon the intervention of the Division of Dead Letters.

Of course, all sorts of inclosures are found in the matter which reaches the Division of Dead Letters. Many persons would be surprised to learn that in the neighborhood of $200 in actual money is found during every business day of the year while commercial paper, such as drafts, money orders, etc., as well as stamps, photographs, and articles of merchandise, is discovered in still greater proportion.

The remarkable aggregation of undelivered merchandise, matter annually assembled in the Division of Dead Letters is perhaps best illustrated by the quantity and variety which is subjected to annual auction sales. The gross proceeds of a recent sale amount to $9,211.66 and represented the final disposition of 124,000 original inclosures sent by mail as gifts, or in execution of orders therefor. The catalogue of this last sale included 6,531 miscellaneous, 1,293 book, and 439 jewelry parcels aggregating a total of 8,263.

Possibly the most interesting feature of the sales and the one which naturally excites the strongest competition in the jewelry department. Among the articles of this character are included numerous fountain pens, gold eye glasses, some in an indefinite condition of mutilation watches in great variety from the ingenious Waterbury, to the genuine golden article set with diamonds. There are also rings in bewildering variety and often of very considerable value.

To those who know about it, the Division of Dead Letters is one of the most interesting exhibits when Washington offers. The public appreciation of it is constantly growing, as is evidenced by the thousands of persons from the various parts of the country who visit it. There is something which appeals to them in the curious features which are constantly developed in the disposition of the tremendous volume of matter which pours into something like one hundred and fifty persons of both sexes are employed in this interesting work—that is, interesting to outsiders, but not so much so to those whose daily round of duties somewhat dulls their appreciation of the curious and the unique.

The business of the goldsmiths of Venice is being invaded by women. Men are organizing unions to drive them out.

Hero Of The Noblest Type.

The Chapter General of the Order of the Hospitaliers of St. John's of Jerusalem has awarded to Dr. Albert von Leoq, a German scientist, the medal of that order for "saying life on land at imminent personal risk."

According to the details published in the New York Tribune yesterday, Dr. Leoq's heroism and humanitarianism exalted him to a plan of nobility which few men ever attain. Dr. Leoq had spent two years in scientific work in the Himalayan Mountains. He was worn out by privation and illness and was returning home, traveling through one of the most inhospitable regions in the world, when he fell in with Captain J. D. Sherer, of the British army. They travelled together for a few days when Captain Sherer became ill with typhoid pneumonia. Dr. Leoq started out sick and weak, in search of aid. He crossed the Saaser Pass, 18,000 feet high, with three miles of continuous glacier climbing.

Then he crossed another pass scarcely less formidable, and finally reached a village where he secured a litter, some ponies and men. Then he made his way back to Captain Sherer. To save the life of a man whom he had known only a few days he put his own life in "imminent deadly peril."

The journey in search of relief and the return journey occupied nine consecutive days and nights. Dr. Leoq lived for that period on a little flour and a small cake of grease. He is a German, the man whom he saved is of an alien race, an Englishman. But the man truly noble knows no distinctions of nationality when human life is in jeopardy. Germany has produced many great men and many fierce soldiers. Dr. Leoq is altogether worthy of a place in the temple of Teutonic heroes. Humanity is proud of him. He has shown the world that man is yet able to rise to heights of sublimity.—Baltimore Sun.

A Travelling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' 'I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." Early Incandescent Lamps.

The earliest incandescent electric light lamps contained 15 cents worth of platinum, and were blown by hand. At the present time the amount of this precious metal is reduced to a few cents' worth, and the bulbs are blown in large quantities by machinery at a cost of 2 cents each. The average cost of the lamps is now 18 cents, despite the fact that there are fifty in the processes involved in their manufacture.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for the wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles.

You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SECRET OF GOOD HAIR

TOO MUCH CARE AS INJURIOUS AS NOT ENOUGH.

Continued Irritation of the Scalp Will Kill the Hair Follicles—Shampoo Once in Three Weeks Sufficient.

"Men get bald earlier than women for the simple reason that they take too much care of the hair," says a hair culturist.

But the truth is that the modern woman—especially the society woman—is beginning to get bald. Her temples are bare. And in fright she has fled to the hair specialist to find out the cause. The hair specialist, if conscientious, will tell her the truth.

"You are taking too much care of your hair," she will say. And when she has said that she has told every thing.

Hair is a hard thing to kill. Nothing will do it except continual irritation of the roots. "Moderation, madam," advised a hair-dresser, "and just care enough!"

The woman who is careful of her hair will be sure to observe certain rules regarding it. She will keep it clean. She will make it shine, and she will also, if very dainty, want to perfume her locks.

She will want to dress her hair becomingly. She will make it frame her face, for such is the rule of fashion. The fastidious woman will want to make her hair a becoming tint. Of course she will not want to color or bleach it, but she will tone it up by natural methods. She will make it bloom. If right in color she will perceive that it must be washed. Light hair looks better curly, and it will stand a good deal in the matter of curls, waves, undulations and kinkiness generally. Dark hair, on the contrary, should be worn straight, in all but exceptional cases.

The woman who is trying to make her hair becoming to her will soon realize that she must study her hair and her face. If her nose is long and fat she must not do her hair up in a short, fat bunch at the back of the neck. She must suit her coiffure to her face. But this brings one to a question of hair-dressing, which comes after that of the care of the hair.

Hair that is properly cared for has a very clean look, and it is always glossy. A woman should shampoo her hair once in three weeks, and she should do it in such a manner that the dust is removed from the hair without taking out the natural oils. If hair dries after it has been washed, it is a sure sign that the work has been done too thoroughly. Too much of the natural oil of the scalp was washed out.

It is important to find a good shampoo mixture.

There are many good ones to be purchased, but if a woman wants to make her own shampoo she can do so, but she must use a good soap.

It is a very economical plan to save the bits of soap that are left from the soap dish, and when enough of these have accumulated they can be dried and powdered.

This is placed in hot water, in the proportion of half a cup of the soap to a pint of water. Add a tablespoonful of borax powder. When the soap has melted, add three grains of quinine.

To shampoo wet the head with warm water. The shampoo mixture is rubbed into the hair and is allowed to remain there for five minutes. Rinsing should be done with a bath spray, and it should be very thorough. The hair should be washed until the water runs perfectly clear. If it is impossible to spray it, there should be nine rinsings of warm water, with a little borax powder added to the last rinsing.

Those who like an egg shampoo can take the yolks of two eggs and beat them up with half a cupful of soap jelly. Into this is put a little borax, and the whole is ready to be rubbed into the scalp. It makes a very soapy lather, and one which thoroughly removes any superfluous oil that may be in the hair. There should then be a thorough rinsing.

The Large Wardrobe.

It is not fashion to have a large stock of wearing apparel. Both time and labor are required to care for an extensive wardrobe, and expense is a matter to be reckoned with also. A few well-chosen garments worn while they are fresh and modish are infinitely better than a number of articles which must be carried over from season to season, till they have given their value in wear and modern homes have no surplus closets, modern women no time for unnecessary burdens. They have discovered that there must be a time for laying down all burdens if they are to remain young and healthy.

Queen Alexandra's Charm.

Queen Alexandra of England has lost little of her early vivacity and charm. Her laugh has the innocence of a young girl, and her frank enjoyment is a pleasure to look on. This is the more remarkable because her life has been by no means free from care or sorrow, but the true secret is she possesses one of those bright sunny natures on which shadows do not linger long. In this she is to be envied by her daughters not one of whom possesses it in the same degree.

POULTRY

BROODY HENS AS MOTHERS.

Preferable For Chickens Hatched in an Incubator.

Professor Graham of the Ontario Station considers that broody hens are preferable as mothers for chickens hatched in an incubator. "The best plan," he says, is to get the broody hen to take the chicks to give the hen two or three eggs out of the incubator on the eighteenth or nineteenth day and allow her to hatch them. When your incubator hatch is over take a dozen or fifteen chickens and put them under the hen after dark. Even if they happen to differ in color from those she has hatched she will mother them all the same. If you give them to her in the daytime she may not do so. Never neglect to give the hen a thorough dusting before giving her any eggs. If there is one thing more than another that requires careful attention in rearing young chickens, it is to keep them free from lice. If lice get upon them, from the hen or elsewhere, a large proportion of them will be almost sure to die."

Nest Box for Sitting Hens.

The nest box shown in the accompanying cut may be made to contain as many nests as desired, and be placed in the poultry house or any other convenient place. When a hen is set in one of the nests, and the end of the lever is slipped from under the catch on the top of the box and the door falls over the entrance to keep out other hens. They rarely molest a sitting hen after she has held exclusive possession three or four days, and the drop may be again raised. The box legs should not be over six inches in length. The top in front of the nests, 4 to 6 inches wide, is a continuation of the bottom of the box.—Prairie Farmer.

Utilize the Feathers.

Many a thrifty housewife, who dislikes to see small things go to waste, can put the feathers from dressed poultry to a variety of uses. Small, soft feathers may be used for making quilts and pillows, if stripped from the quills and cleaned. The cleaning process may be accomplished by putting the stripped feathers into a tub and covering them with cold water in which quicklime has been slacked, using a gallon of water to a pound of lime.

Keep the feathers in the tub for two or three days, and stir them occasionally. Squeeze them out, put in strong paper bags and place them in a warm place to dry.

If the feathers are to be used in quilts, they should be first put into heavy ticking, and the ticking covered with silk satinet, or whatever is to be used for the outside. If the ticking is rubbed thoroughly with a piece of soap that has been dipped in water often, the feathers will not be so apt to work out.

Turkey wings were an important factor in many old-fashioned southern homes, and in many localities of Virginia and Kentucky now, duster hearts has its special wing duster which is considered vastly superior to any machine made dust brush.—Farmers' Call.

Buy An Even 100.

Most poultry breeders who raise eggs in any quantity sell them at a discount in 100 lots. These are not very often from their very best hens, but that makes no matter, for they will hatch good pure blood chickens.

The farmer who wants pure bloods to improve the money-making qualities of his stock does not need 99 pointers. As to the hatching qualities of eggs that are shipped, the writer would say: At one time we had 108 eggs that were sent from Los Angeles and we got a hatch of 85 chicks. That number of chicks will give a person a fine start for the next year, and it is much better for the beginner to buy cheaper eggs by the hundred, where capital is limited, than to buy the $10 a setting kind.—Indiana Farmer.

Remedy For Egg Sucking Dog.

The following plan for curing a dog of the egg sucking habit is recommended by a writer in The Practical Farmer: "Boil an egg and while perfectly hot put it in his mouth and hold his jaws down on it until well burnt, and he will be afraid of eggs from that time on."

Duck Eggs for Incubator.

Use care in handling duck eggs intended for incubation. The sack containing the yolks is easily ruptured, allowing the growing germ to die between the second and seventh days. These are the decaying eggs which we find in a second test.

MARYLAND FARMS.

Fifteen farms at a sacrifice. Buildings on all. Plenty of wood and timber to support them. Good water, fine climate, two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for horticulture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate modified by ocean and bay. Come and look, is all we ask. Farms of 100 to 1,000 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the Northern and Eastern cities; so these prices are only temporary.

Why go to the wilds and spend your life making a farm and a home, when for less money, in a better climate and nearer the markets, you can immediately have what you want? Yours truly,

SALISBURY MISREPRESENTED.

The Every Evening of Wilmington Del., recently published what purported to be interviews with the business men of Salisbury, as to the effect the closing of the saloons had on business and morals. It would be hard to picture a more over-drawn and false statement of facts and inferences which the reporter of the Every Evening drew from some of those interviewed. As a matter of fact if an unbiased and truthful man was sent through our city to find out the situation as it exists today, he would find that the sentiment in favor of no whiskey is much stronger than ever before, after the good effects of doing away with it have been seen and recognized. We do not think it any exaggeration when we say that we believe 90 per cent of the business men in this town are opposed to its ever being sold here again, both from a business and a moral standpoint. As to there being more drunkennes here now than under the license system of selling intoxicants, the charge "is so absurd that if it had not been published in papers away from here and down broadcast in every paper in Delaware for the purpose of exerting an influence in favor of whiskey and its evils, it would not be worth noticing. Anybody at all, whiskey or temperance man, who has any regard for the truth, and any power of observation, will tell you that the sight of a drunken man on our streets is an unusual occurrence, while before it was almost impossible at times to get up and down them for "drunks." As to its injuring business, that charge is almost as absurd as the other, and by far the largest portion of our business men will so state. Many of them will tell you that more goods are bought and what is more, cash is forth coming from many who before were carried week by week on the books while a large per cent of their earnings went to the saloon keepers before. Of course some get whiskey here now, but the idea attempted to be instilled in the minds of the Delaware readers that nearly every corner contains a speakeasy is preposterous, and we believe the officers of this county and city have so well discharged their duty that the selling of whiskey has been so dangerous that few dare run the risk, and Salisbury is almost as free from speakeasies as it is from gambling dens.
Morally there can be no question of the improvement in our midst; in business sense we are at least as well off, and we extend the glad news to the temperance people in those towns who are putting up such a good fight, and to the doubtful ones who are hesitating for business reasons to espouse the cause of temperance, we point to our own city, where it has been tried and found successful. Come here or send responsible people here and find out the truth, and do not be misled by the slanderous article on Salisbury that is being spread broadcast throughout your state.

THE PROPOSITION ON BRIBERY.

We publish in this week's issue an open letter from the Republican State Central Committee to the Democratic State Central Committee, on the question of bribery. In this letter the Republican State Central Committee puts itself fairly and squarely on record as wanting to do away with corruption at the polls and invites the democrats to join in an agreement with them for this purpose. Of course only the outlines of a possible agreement could be given, but as far as we are able to judge an agreement on the lines laid out would be about as effective as any. It is understood however that they are willing to meet any conditions whatsoever the democrats may ask or insist upon that would tend in the slightest degree to make it more binding and more effective. The record of the democratic party in the past, together with the known views of some of the leaders in that party, makes it highly probable that the Republican party will be met half way at least, and that Democrats will do all in their power to break up vote buying.
This is no time for crimination and re-crimination. Let the dark past of broken promises and criminal operations be forgotten, and let both parties get together and stamp out the degrading system of bribery. As we stated last week the standing and high character of the candidates on both tickets, will give the people confidence in any pledges they may make. Let us have an agreement and then a campaign on the part of both parties that is above suspicion, and end it up by a clean election. If an agreement is made then it will become incumbent upon the part of both parties to the agreement that they so act as to be above suspicion themselves and their further duty to see that all their friends and agents do likewise, and if the finger of suspicion points to any man on account of his acts, he should be publicly exposed and if he can not satisfactorily explain his suspicious actions, publicly condemned.

A puny child is always an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nourishment from it. No benefit can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish foods, like cod liver oil or emulsion, in such a case, because these also have to be digested. Strength is what the stomach needs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and increases the action of the blood making glands. It is superior to every other preparation for children's use, on account of its body building qualities, and also because it is pleasant to the taste and contains no alcohol. The virtues of native medicinal roots are extracted and their value enhanced by the use of triple refined glycerine, which itself is a most valuable nutritive and promoter of digestion. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet.

That isn't all you save either. You know people who have drank Arbuckle's ARIOSA all their lives. Look at them. They like it and they haven't had to quit drinking it. Don't let any man sell you something instead, which may ruin your stomach and nerves.

SALISBURY REGRETS

The Coming Departure Of Mr. N. T. Fitch, Who Will Shortly Remove To Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. Nathan T. Fitch, one of the best-known attorneys of this city, has decided to leave Salisbury and take up his residence in Harrisburg, Pa. He will move his family to Harrisburg about the first of the month, but Mr. Fitch will not leave Salisbury permanently before December. Mr. Fitch came to Salisbury 18 years ago and started the manufacture of crates, baskets and barrels, under the charter granted the Salisbury Manufacturing Co. Later on he resumed the practice of law and at once took a prominent position at the bar. Since his residence here Mr. Fitch has been connected with the establishment of several of our prominent business enterprises. He was the organizer of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, which has grown to be one of the leading financial institutions on the Shore. He organized the Camden Realty Co., and put into active operation the big improvements made along Camden Boulevard. He also organized and built the Camden sewer, and has been connected with many other important enterprises.

While practicing here Mr. Fitch was recognized as one of the leading corporation lawyers on the Shore, and had a large clientele in organizing and systematizing corporations. His many friends here regret to know that he will soon sever his connections in this city. He is a man with a fine mind, highly cultured and has made a host of friends in this community.

Train Went Too Fast For Them.

Two boys giving the names of Paul Workman and Walter Baker and their home, Salisbury, Md., were prisoners in the City Court today charged with being runaways. They were turned over to Humane Agent Frank Stout who will communicate with their parents.

The boys said they left home last night intending to stop off at Laurel, where one of them has an uncle, but the freight train on which they were traveling was going so fast on reaching Laurel that they could not alight. They then came to Wilmington and were arrested in a freight yard—Wilmington Evening Journal.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foamy discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to cure. Sold by all druggists for 75c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Some Men Can Do Things Better Than Others Can Do Them

This is just as true of making clothes as it is of playing base ball or foot ball or billiards, or making watches or battleships, or needles, or anything else. When Lacy Thoroughgood went into the market this Fall to buy clothes, he went in determined to get garments that were made by the most skilled cutters and tailors in the country. Lacy Thoroughgood did it; there isn't any doubt about it; there are no "IFS" and "BUTS." I examined all the notable lines of clothing that were offered for sale. I looked at the clothes inside and out. I cut them to pieces and studied the construction of shoulders and collar and lapels; studied the making of the fronts of coats and all the different parts of vests and trousers. I'll give you my word for it, and I'll bank my reputation on the assertion that the clothes I bought will fit better, that they will keep their shape longer, that their wear will be more durable and more satisfactory than any line of Men's and Youths' Suits and Overcoats that were turned out by any manufacturer in the country this season. I have hundreds and hundreds of suits and just as many overcoats, and I do not charge a cent more for them than my competitors do for the kind they sell.

Saturday Night Talks

By F. E. DAVIDSON - RUTLAND VT. RELIGIOUS FAKERS. (Sept. 29, '07.)

We are hearing a great deal these days about nature fakery. The newspaper warfare has been fast and furious over real or supposed fake nature stories. But whatever may be the merits of the case, it is certain that in the religious world there has always been a vast amount of counterfeited piety. It may not be an unprofitable exercise to review some of the pious fakery of the ages.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Cricket's Sunbeam

Cricket's mamma was ill. At this thought the child often grew grave in the midst of her play and asked when mamma would be better. Dear Mrs. Fittner was well enough to go about freely again there came a week of sharp east winds and rain. She felt that every day indoors was a loss to her, and it was at least a loss of cheerfulness. She complained, perhaps too bitterly, of not having been able to drive out for so long a time, never guessing how her little child suffered in sympathy.

The statement is being given out in several of our exchanges that Governor James K. Vardaman openly declared his surrender to Jesus Christ in the recent Cotles meeting here.

This is not true. He accepted the invitation to go forward one night for prayer. After one of the ministers had talked with and prayed for him, he returned to his seat making no profession or declaration whatever. We were there.

The Trail of the Poppy.

It had been a hard day. Excitement had run high on the Stock Exchange, fortunes had been made and lost, and now, as he leaned wearily back in his chair and tried to find comfort in his after-dinner cigar, every overstrained nerve pulsed with fatigue and clamored loudly, insistently for relief.

A thousand little devils seemed to be pounding with heated hammers on his temples, and with a sigh of desperation he threw his half-smoked cigar in the grate, and rang the bell for his valet.

"Johnson," he said curly, as that long-suffering individual appeared, "if any one called to see me tonight, say I am not at home."

He waited impatiently while Johnson bowed and closed the door, then glancing around furtively, suspiciously, opened a drawer in his desk and drew forth a tiny hypodermic syringe. He looked at it thoughtfully, curiously, and muttered, "I wonder if I am getting to depend too much on this devilish thing. Anyway, I must have relief tonight, no matter what the price may be."

He frowned, hesitated, and then baring his strong, white arm, touched it gently with the needle, and throwing himself on the couch waited restlessly for the effect. He stretched his tired limbs luxuriously; already he felt himself a new man. The cares and anxieties of the day seemed mere child's play. What a fool he had been to get so worked up! Everything was all right.

Why was he moping in that dull room by himself? The night with all its attractions was still young. He would go and take Elsie to hear Melba in the famous "Jewel Song"; he was a fool not to have thought of it before. Elsie always rested him, anyway, with her gentle, soothing ways. Poor little girl, he had neglected her shamefully for that wretched deal he had been trying to make. Never mind! In a few weeks she would be his wife, and then he would make it up to her a thousand fold. He seized his coat and hat and hurried from the house.

The chill night air smote him pleasantly and he drew long breaths of enjoyment. He sprang lightly up the steps of her house and rang the bell. The maid seemed to hesitate to admit him, but he pushed a coin into her not unwilling hand, and putting her gently aside, darted laughingly up the stairs. He walked the way to her boudoir.

He knocked and called softly: "Elsie! Elsie! It is I." There was no answer, and, pushing the door open, he peered into the room.

Ah! there she was asleep by the fire. Well! He would kiss her into wakefulness. Her back was turned toward him. One slender arm hung limp and nerveless at her side. He tiptoed quietly across the room, and smiling happily, leaned over the chair.

The smile slowly faded from his face as he took a look of horror, disgust and loathing at his place. He turned this sudden, inauspicious thing the woman he had placed above all others? Had chosen for his life companion? His practiced eye had caught the meaning of those tiny scars on the naked arm. She, too! It was horrible.

He stumbled blindly from the room. The elation of an hour ago fell from him like a warm garment and left his naked soul bare to a thousand nameless fears and terrors. The noises of the night were maddening. The devils were beginning to pound on his temples again. He stumbled heavily along; each foot seemed a weight more than he could lift. His brain was in a whirl of confusion. One idea alone stood out prominently, and that was to find somewhere oblivion, relief from consciousness. He turned his bewildered steps toward the river. Its low, sullen murmur seemed to lull and soothe him, as he hung fascinated over its dark depths, too inert and nerveless to make a final effort. Then exerting all his strength he plunged forward. He felt himself falling, falling, and as he struck the icy water with a half suppressed scream he opened his eyes.

Johnson, with an expression full of anxiety, was dashing cold water on his face. The sun streamed warmly into the room, and through the closed window penetrated the shrill, cheery cry of "Mornin' paps." The dear old everyday world was waking into life again. He looked around bewildered, and then the blessed truth dawned upon him. "Thank God! Thank God!" he whispered brokenly. "It was only a dream born of that narcotic fiend." There was still time for redemption. Life, love, hope, were still within his grasp.

London Gabbler's Longevity.

What is the secret of the longevity of London cabbmen? One of them surprised the Westminster Magistrate by declaring that he had been picking up fares for the past half century in the metropolitan streets. A dip into an official return showed that there are 1,504 London cabbmen between the ages of 70 and 80, while seven return their age between 80 and 90! One almost suspects these seven old patriarchs of having carried sedan chairs in the pre-growler days. At all events, they are a living advertisement of London as a health resort, with beetsteak, overcast and mauler, - London Chronicle.

Round Backs Are Ageing.

If you want to keep young looking do not allow yourself to fall into the habit of stooping. A round back, like wrinkles, once permanently acquired cannot be got rid of.

FATE.

By Francis Bret Hart

The sky is clouded the rocks are bare; The spray of the tempest is white in the air;

The winds are out with the waves at play, And I shall not tempt the sea to-day

The trail is narrow, the wood is dim, The pathner eludes to the arching limb; And the lion's whelps are abroad at play, And I shall not join in the chase to-day

But the ship sailed safely over the sea, And the hunter came from the chase in glee; And the town that was built upon a rock Was swallowed up in the earthquake shock

AGT QUICK.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Salisbury. Do the right thing at the right time.

Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. G. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md. says: "I can recommend Doan's kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me, was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended so I got a box at White and Leonard's drug store used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1908 recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Millburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

—Victoria, B.C.—According to advances from Tokio, Japan claims the right to occupy Pratas Island, which was recently taken possession of on behalf of Japan on the ground that, as it lies between the twentieth and twenty first parallels, it was no man's land. A Japanese paper just received says: "When Japan took possession of Formosa she extended her dominion to the twenty first parallel of latitude and when America took possession of the Philippines she extended her dominion to the twentieth parallel; thus the space between the tenth and the twenty first parallels becomes a no man's land." —Philadelphia Bulletin.
