Drugs and Chemicals

ARE NEEDED EVERY DAY

In the Kitchen

VANILLA, for ice cream, for instance;
BAKING POWDER, for cakes.

One is a drug, of course; the other a "chemical"; and there are still others—SPICES of all kinds, cream of tartar, etc.

The best place to get drugs is at a DRUG STORE. The druggist knows more about them than other people.

We keep a good Drug Store. Come and ask us about Kitchen Drugs.

MARYLAND FARMS.

Planting farms at a sacrifice. Building on up. Plenty of wood and lumber to add. Good water. Fine climate. Two railroads, good schools and churches. Near the ocean, abundance of water products. Ideal for horticulture. Harrison's trees are a sample of what they will produce. Climate modified by ocean and bay. Come and look in all we ask. Farms of 150 to 1,000 acres. Six thousand acres at an average of $10 to $25 per acre. The Eastern Shore of Maryland, because of its position, is becoming the garden of the North and Eastern cities; so these farms go to the wilds and spend your money in making a farm and a home, when you have the money, in a better climate and more health than you can find elsewhere. You can't have what you want? Your money.

PROHIBITION CANDIDATE

For Congress Decries Detractors of Mr. Ellegood's Sincerity in His Efforts For Better Elections.

Editors Advertiser:— I want to express my disapproval of that part of a recent editorial in the "Advertiser" plainly referring to Mr. J. E. Ellegood. When I first read it, I said to my family "that is an outrage." It will, however, accomplish one good, namely, to have right thinking citizens on the bribery question express themselves to Mr. Ellegood and show him that their number is increasing.

While I had no confidence then in his party's endorsement of the anti-bribery plank when he ran for Congress in 1902 as a party, I now think his persistent advocacy of the same principle has borne fruit. I believe Mr. Ellegood is honest and sincere and that if he had been sent to Congress in Washington either to buy his vote or to come here to offer to buy another's.

The situation appears to me something like this. One of my neighbors formerly drank liquor and on this particular day he had imbibed too freely. When he awoke my father-in-law, in Salisbury saying "Mr. Tassell (Castell) is on (you) drunk?" "Why no Billy, why do you ask me that?" "I don't know, seems like everybody I see is drunk."

All honor to Mr. Ellegood for the rock like stand he is taking against the crime of bribery and if men guilty of this crime get in the way he may expect to hear harsh things. We love the men, but hate their sin.

SAND-CLAY ROADS.

Counties of Eastern Shore And Southern Maryland Are Advised To Try Them.

In order, if possible, to hasten the general improvement of the county roads of the State and to meet the desires of the many citizens of the Eastern Shore and southern counties, State Engineer W. W. Crosby has sent to the County Commissioners of these counties a letter calling their attention to the assistance that may be obtained by the counties from the State in the improvement of the county roads by what is known as the "sand clay" treatment. The letter is as follows:

"This commission, in order to determine the real value of sand clay roads in the eastern and southern parts of the State, where the conditions are most favorable for such construction, directs me to advise you that applications for State aid in the construction or improvement of roads by this method will be considered by it and such aid granted within reasonable limits and under the conditions of Chapter 225, Acts of 1904.

"This office would respectfully suggest that in order for the aid thus given your county to be of the utmost value to the county, not only in the actual resulting improvements thus made, but also in the way of informing your citizens as well as others, as to the actual value of such methods, under the conditions of travel, climate etc., existing in your locality, that in applying for this aid you select for the first operations one mile of road—not one of the most important and most traveled roads of the county, but what might be called, perhaps, a secondary road, which is practically a sand road, and one other mile of similar road, which, however, is practically wholly a clay road. Then the comparative values of the results of putting clay on sand and sand on clay could be clear and intelligently contrasted.

Fall and Winter Work.

We should be glad to have you consider this proposition immediately and if possible, attempt some of this work this fall and winter. You have some applications on file which are available and would simply require that you designate one or more of them for this purpose.

"Should the applications on file not cover those roads on which you desire to secure State aid in this manner, or should you desire to add to your list of applications now available, it would be advisable for you to submit new ones as promptly as possible. The necessary surveys, plans, etc., could then be completed and the work begun, and in many cases very likely finished before the opening of the farming season in the spring, provided there is no unnecessary delay in submitting these applications and in carrying out the subsequent details between this time and March, 1907.

Estimate Of Cost.

"In this connection it might be well enough to call your attention to a recent bulletin No. 27 of the United States Department of Agriculture on the construction of 'sand clay' roads. In this bulletin it is stated that, while, of course, it is impossible to state definitely the cost of this form of construction, as it will be found to vary in the price of labor, length of haul, width of roadway and depth and nature of material, the estimated cost per square yard of road surface would be about 8 cents, or about $580 a mile for a 12 foot road.

"This does not include the cost of any grading, bridges, culverts, etc., and is in the estimate above referred to, labor is figured at $1 a day and double teams at $3 a day, it is entirely possible that the figures are too low for your county, and that $800 to $1,000 a mile, exclusive of grading, bridges, etc., would be more nearly the actual cost.

"Should the additional work, grading, bridges etc., bring the total cost of these roads to $2,000 a mile on the average which would make a cost to the county of $1,000 a mile, under certain conditions the improvement of some roads in this manner might be very desirable, even though the cost of maintaining them in good condition might considerably exceed that of keeping in as good or better condition a road whose interest was somewhat greater."

Bennett-Walker.

There was a beautiful wedding near Mardela Springs on Wednesday night. The contracting parties were Mr. Wm. W. Bennett and Miss Minnie M. Walker. Rev. E. G. Parker was the officiating clergyman. Miss Edna Walker and Mr. Benjamin Graham were bridesmaids and groomsmen. The marriage took place in the home of the groom. Quite a large number of guests were present.

UTTER INCONSISTENCY

With Which Crimes Are Regarded Abjectly Exposed By A Baltimore Sun Editorial.

As has been announced in the news columns of The Sun, two reputable citizens of Dorchester county have been indicted upon the charge of bribing voters at the late election. Our Cambridge correspondent writes to The Sun, that, "despite a genuine sentiment here for sweeping reforms in the matter of buying votes, there is more sympathy than condemnation expressed for the two men, who are looked upon somewhat as victims of a vicious system with the inauguration of which they had little, if anything to do."

Both of the men who are indicted are business men of excellent reputation, and one of them is prominent as a church worker and superintendent of a Sunday school. In their private lives both of them are doubtless above reproach. The strange thing about it is that men should have a different moral code for their private and business affairs from which they have in political affairs. We see men sitting in the chief seats in church and carrying around the plate or putting in the largest contribution and two days later these pious citizens are debauching their fellow citizens, violating the law of the land, cheating their neighbors and endeavoring to steal, it may be, an office from a person who is justly entitled to it. And all the time they are doing this they may be, and probably are, entirely unconscious of any inconsistency in their conduct, not considering that they have committed a crime compared with which horse stealing or sheep-stealing is comparatively innocent.

The crime of bribery is a direct injury upon one person only while the crime of larceny inflicts a direct injury upon many persons. The crime of bribery is wholesale theft. It deprives people of the right of self government, steals an office away from the man to whom it justly belongs, degrades American citizenship and tempts honest men to be dishonest and to degrade their manhood. A few convictions of prominent, reputable citizens who violate the law and their punishment by imprisonment and perpetual disfranchisement and indignity to office would arrest public attention and convince men that prominent, reputable citizens are not to be permitted to violate the laws of the land and be considered merely victims of a vicious system, with the inauguration of which they have had little, if anything to do.

The same plea can be made in behalf of any other lawbreaker. The chicken thief did not invent stealing; people have stolen chickens ever since there have been chickens to steal. The poor fellow who is in the prisoner's dock under an indictment for larceny gets mighty little sympathy on the plea that he did not inaugurate stealing, but was merely a victim of a vicious practice.

The more reputable, the higher the position of a citizen in society and the church, the less excuse is their for their good citizens know that it is against the law to bribe voters; all know that the bribery of voters is one of the most detestable and dangerous crimes that can be committed, and when a man commits that crime he does it with his eyes open, and he cannot complain if the penalty is imposed. The fact that many others have committed the same crime and gone unpunished is no excuse. Thousands of men steal and go unpunished, but that has never been advanced as an argument for releasing the prisoner at the bar.

We do not mean to be understood as prejudging the cases of the two indicted citizens in Dorchester or as expressing any opinion as to their guilt. What we have said can only be considered applicable to them if they should be convicted, and they have the right to be regarded as innocent by the public as well as by the law until they have been proved guilty. We sincerely trust that they may be able to so clearly establish their innocence as to leave no shadow of a doubt in the public mind. Whether they are justly or unjustly accused, these cases strikingly illustrate the prevalent belief as to the widespread character of the moral disease which is sapping the political manhood not only of the Eastern Shore, but of other sections of the State, and the urgent necessity for such action as will create a healthy public sentiment and secure the passage of laws that will help to cure the evil.

A Card Of Thanks.

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends who by their most heroic efforts saved our home from being destroyed by fire on last Sunday, while the barns and other out buildings were burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. J. Owens, Columbia, Dal.

"THE SUN'S" OPINION

Of The Vote-Buyer, With Comments, Strange Ways That Similar Things Are Regarded.

Under the head of "Indictments" for Bribery in Dorchester County" the Baltimore Sun says "both of the men who are indicted are business men of excellent reputation and one of them is prominent as a church worker and superintendent of a Sunday School. In their private lives both of them are doubtless above reproach. The strange thing about it is that men should have a different moral code for their private and business affairs from which they have in political affairs. We see men sitting in the chief seats in church and carrying around the plate or putting in the largest contribution and two days later these pious citizens are debauching their fellow citizens, violating the law of the land, cheating their neighbors and endeavoring to steal, it may be, an office from a person who is justly entitled to it. And all the time they are doing this they may be, and probably are, entirely unconscious of any inconsistency, not considering that they have committed a crime compared with which horse stealing or sheep stealing is comparatively innocent."

This is not the perfunctory lecturing of a religious magazine nor the abusive vaporing of a yellow Journal "embittered with the spirit of insatiable revenge," but it is the deliberate utterance of one of the most conservative and influential dailies of the Country; and it demands serious thought—more than a reading as we run. It shocks every sense of religious propriety to think of a horse-thief or sheep-thief being the Superintendent of a Sunday School, or an elder, vestryman or class leader in the church. Yet there it stands in old print, that along side of the bribe giving church official, "the horse thief is comparatively innocent." Is this a just conclusion, or do the premises warrant it? The Sun answers this question "The crime of larceny inflicts a direct injury upon one person only, while the crime of bribery is wholesale theft. It deprives people of the right of self government, steals an office away from the man to whom it justly belongs, degrades American citizenship and tempts honest men to be dishonest and to degrade their manhood."

Every word of this is true. Test the crime by the penalties and we find disfranchisement, disqualification to hold office, fine and imprisonment, penalties that have the very essence of felony. Some few years since I remarked to a young man, a lawyer of good parts, that the people had become so accustomed to bribery that they seemed to look upon it as an act that might very properly be done if there were no statute against it, that is they did not regard it as essentially wrong and criminal. "What?" I replied, "you a lawyer and do not know that it is a crime against the common law of England, that it is forbidden by the Divine law and by every principle of good morals. What was Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold but bribe takers. Would you bribe a judge or jury to get a verdict even though you believed your cause to be just?"

When the people came to understand that the horse thief as a criminal is less harmful to the best interests of the people than the bribe giving church official, there will be, as there ought to be, a revision of feeling against the vote buyers themselves regardless of previous party or politics; and less of sitting down and deploring of corrupt conditions. Here is a specimen of apology for vote buying in the late election from one of the leading Republican Campaign Managers:

"I am not willing to admit nor do I know that a single vote was bought on November 6th of this year. If any money was used for [that purpose, it was not with the intent to corrupt the electorate or with the hope to secure any undue advantage by the Republican party, but solely for the purpose of neutralizing similar moneys used by the opposing or Democratic party."

Note the words, "if used for that purpose"—to buy votes—"it was solely for the purpose of neutralizing similar moneys"—to buy votes—"used by the Democratic party."

The argument runs thus; Democrats administered the fatal poison to the body politic, (and Democrats ought to admit they have heretofore done it) while Republicans gave more of the same poison in as large or larger doses to "neutralize its effect upon the Republican candidate. The body politic that can stand such political-medical treatment, has a vitality well nigh immortal, such as history has never shown us and such as the study of human nature prove to be improvable. It is a governmental structure built on quick sands of corruption. The remedy for poison is an antidote, and the antidote for the poison of bribery is as we had said, disfranchisement, disqualification to hold office, fine and imprisonment. Given a few doses of this with candidates deprived of their ill gotten office and we will soon see the body politic returned to its normal health and civic honesty restored and patriots as prompting the people to public action and self sacrifice; but with such moral stop and boneless logic dished out to the people by leading citizens and repeated in one form or another by prominent church members, comparative silent condemnation is it any wonder that there is almost a total moral paralysis in and out of the churches in political affairs?

Levin Handy The Alleged Colored Wife Murderer A Supposed Suicide.

The body of Levin Handy, colored, who was arrested about two weeks ago for the murder of his wife at Tyaskin, was discovered in the Anderson Mill Pond, about five miles from town, Sunday.

The body was found in a stooping posture, the feet resting upon the bottom of the pond and the body bent over so that the man's head was under water. It is said that the water where the man was found was not more than three feet deep.

When Handy escaped from the officer his hands were securely locked in heavy handcuffs. When the body was found the handcuffs were found in the pocket of his overcoat. Handy had been sought by the officers ever since his escape.

The body was brought to Salisbury and turned over to undertaker Holloway who prepared it for burial. A jury of inquest was summoned by Justice Trader Sunday evening. The verdict was suicide by drowning. Monday the body was taken to Tyaskin for interment.

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA DOES WONDERS

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year. This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent.

Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventative and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio.
Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd, Montreal, August 26, 1905.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1905.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.

Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system, it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate.

A systemic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who writes, as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 25 years old, Renout Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment I could not walk for a quarter of an hour without experiencing much fatigue. Now I can walk a mile easily.

"Through these three cases we desire to make known to the public the efficiency of your remedy."

Hospital St. John, of St. Johns, Province of Quebec.

A later letter received from the same institution reads as follows:

"Three weeks ago I wrote to tell you how satisfactory we found Peruna. We recommend it highly for colds, coughs, catarrh and neuralgia.

"I have used it myself as a tonic with the best results, taken as directed, half a teaspoonful every half hour."

Peruna not only promptly relieves cough and colds in their first stages, but is equally prompt and efficient for catarrhal diseases in the chronic stage.

Of course, it is only reasonable to suppose that a great deal less medicine will be necessary to cure a slight attack of catarrh than would be required to relieve the ailment after it had been allowed to become chronic.

Directions for taking the remedy will be found on each bottle, also in Dr. Hartman's book, called "The Ills of Life," which can be obtained from your druggist for the asking.

For special instructions write to Dr. Hartman, President of the Harrison Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Southern Prosperity.
 Few of us like statistics but when those statistics tell the gratifying and unchallenged story of Southern prosperity they become vastly more interesting. According to the Manufacturers' Record, the South now has just 5,000,000 less population than that of the whole country in 1880, but its real and personal property including 14 Southern States is $3,000,000,000 more than the real value of such property in the whole country in 1880. Conspicuous among the Southern States making vast material progress are Georgia and Alabama. In Georgia vast sums are being subscribed for the development of water power and the construction of new long distance lines of electric railway, new factories and buildings of every character. Alabama shows this year an increase in the assessments of taxable property over last year of $39,000,000 in round numbers. This year the total assessed valuation of property in 14 Southern States will probably be about $7,100,000,000, or an increase over last year's figures for these States of $450,000,000. Southern farm values have also increased between 1900 and 1905 36 to 40.5 per cent. Southern prosperity is increasing at a steadily advancing rate, and the movement of factories and mills from other parts of the country to this section will rapidly accelerate its advance. The showing made by the Manufacturers' Record is a gratifying one.

—In his home city, Springfield, Illinois, a story is told of Lincoln which has never appeared in print. His house had long needed a fresh coat of paint, but a political campaign was in progress and "Abe" had no time to look up painters. During his absence for six weeks of circuit riding in his one-horse stage, Mrs. Lincoln had the matter attended to, and on his return when he drove up to the little cottage on Eighth street he came out on the steps to welcome him. Paying not the slightest attention to her Lincoln surveyed the house from foundation to eaves in a dazed manner and then drove to the next door, and called to his neighbor. "Say! Can you tell me where Abe Lincoln lives?" "You old goose! come home and behave yourself," laughed Mrs. Lincoln.

 "I can truthfully say that just two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent surprised me, as the skin was peeling off my baby's hands and face, and he was suffering awfully. When the eczema first appeared he was very healthy, but as soon as he was covered with it, he lost flesh rapidly. But as soon as I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies he started to mend. I keep on using the Cuticura Soap, as I think it is an indispensable article around the house. As my baby weighs thirty-seven pounds and is only seventeen months old, you can imagine the torture he endured. My neighbors can vouch for this statement as being correct. I am, respectfully, Mrs. Alex. Weeks, Jr., 268 North Water St., Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 7, 1905."

 Harry Mills, telegraph operator at Greenwood, was home on a visit to his parents this week.
 Wm. Riggins, of Orisfield has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. John Carmon.
 Alvin A. Elliott, who has been attending Goldey College, has been compelled to return on account of illness.
 Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Lows, of Wilmington, have been visiting relatives here.
 Marion Henderson, who is employed in Cape Charles, spent Sunday with his parents here.
 Miss Emma Cabbage, who has been visiting relatives in Felton, Philadelphia and other points for some time, has returned to spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. T. J. Hastings.
 Mrs. Sallie W. Fockey was stricken with paralysis at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. O. Hearn, last Friday. At this writing her condition is but little improved.

Mr. John R. Carmon attended the funeral of her grandmother at Orisfield Friday.
 Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Waller and children have returned from a visit to Wilmington, Philadelphia and Baltimore.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hastings spent a few days in Philadelphia this week. They attended the Freeny-Hitchens marriage there Wednesday.
 Mrs. U. G. Melson has returned from the hospital at Salisbury, where she went to undergo an operation.
 James Long and son, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Mrs. Geo. Long.
 We are in receipt of a Delmar letter written on N. Y. P. & N. R. stationery with no name appended. We cannot publish letters unless we know the name of the writer.
 Mrs. J. G. W. Perdue has been visiting relatives in Moors, Pa.
 Miss Kemp spent Thanksgiving at her home in Talbot County, Md.
 Prof. F. R. Shingle went to Glenwood, Pa., for the Thanksgiving holiday.
 Mrs. Geo. Long and son have been visiting relatives in Kings Creek.
 Miss Eva Calhoun spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Laurel.

Miss Jennie Clayville made a visit to her home at Deals Island Thanksgiving. Miss Susie Hitch spent the holidays at her home in Vienna.
 Edwin E. Freeny and Miss Lelah Hitchens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hitchens, were married in Philadelphia Wednesday at high noon by the Rev. Z. H. Webster.
 Mrs. Fannie Gordy, widow of the late John E. Gordy, is seriously ill at the hospital at Salisbury, where she recently underwent an operation.
 Mrs. Louise Ker has been quite ill the past week.
 J. Frank Hastings spent Friday in Philadelphia.
 Mrs. John M. Elliott is visiting in Philadelphia.
 Arthur O. German spent Sunday with friends in Pocomoke.
 J. E. Cleary's new residence adjoining the P. E. Church is fast nearing completion.
 M. H. German is demolishing his old windmill, and will build a new one in its stead.
 The wage increase of the employees of the P. B. & W. R. R., goes into effect tomorrow.
 F. A. Robertson has made extensive alterations to his pigeon houses and is now fitted up in a first class manner.
 We notice the passing of the old style wooden fence in Delmar and the substitution of the much prettier privet hedge. The hedge is much more attractive and ornamental and we hope others will follow the lead that has been set.
 Chas. A. Vessey has moved here from Milton.
 M. H. German lost a valuable horse last week.
 Several marriages are also booked to occur in the near future.
 Many changes of residence will take place in Delmar in the near future.
 Several cows in and near town have died recently. Several more are sick.
 J. W. Beach has improved his residence by the addition of another room.

A Well-Known Remedy.
 One of the oldest, an old and most favorably known remedies in the world to-day is Brandreth's Pills—a blood purifier and laxative. Being purely vegetable they can be used by old or young with perfect safety and while other remedies require increased doses and finally cease acting altogether, with Brandreth's Pills the same dose always has the same effect no matter how long they are taken. One or two pills taken each night for a while is the best thing known for any one troubled with constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia or any trouble arising from an impure state of the blood. Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and are sold in every part of the world.

A Mahogany Bridge.
 As mahogany is among the most costly woods in the world says the American Inventor, it may well be inferred that this tropical material is not very extensively employed in the construction of buildings, etc. A bridge constructed of solid mahogany is certainly a rarity, a curiosity. There is one, claimed to be the only one in the world, built of that material. This structure is located in the Department of Paisaque, State of Chiapas, Republic of Mexico. This district lies in the extreme southwestern part of Mexico, near the boundary line of Guatemala.
 This mahogany bridge is constructed entirely of that valuable wood, except some iron supports, braces and nails that are necessary. The bridge spans the Rio Michol, and its total length, including approaches, exceeds 50 feet, while the width is 15 feet. It is used by both teams and pedestrians and though somewhat crude and primitive in construction, it is very substantial.
 None of the timbers of the flooring was sawed, for in that region there are no sawmills, but were hewn and split.
 In that section of old Mexico there are several very large rubber plantations and mahogany trees are quite common. In clearing away the tropical forests for setting out the young rubber trees the mahogany growths are also cut down and removed. As this wood is quite abundant, some of it was used in building the bridge.

—An old negro went to the bank in which he kept his hard earned savings and asked the paying teller to give him all the money he had deposited. He offered no explanation of his sudden desire to withdraw his funds and after vain argument with him the teller counted out the bills and delivered them to the old man. He eyed the paper money a moment then said: "Kin I get dat a silver boss?" The teller assured him he could, and forthwith made the exchange. The old negro retired to a neighboring desk, remained crouched over it for a long time, and then, to the teller's great surprise, returned to the window and gleefully thrust his money bag back through the pigeon hole. Before he could speak, the old man said, grinning widely: "Thanks, boss, you kin tak it back. I jes wanted 't see if it wuz all there."—Harper's Weekly.
 —Uncle Reuben was taking his first ocean voyage down to Florida. "Did you sleep well uncle?" they asked him after the first night out. "Not perticlar," he replied. "Them bustles yo hev't tie under yer arms kind a keep a feller from restin'."—Lida.

FEARFUL PAIN.
 SUGGESTIONS HOW WOMEN MAY FIND RELIEF.
 While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. This is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. When pain exists something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.
 Thousands of women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes woman's special pains and irregularities.
 It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.
 The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.
 Miss Nellie Holmes, of 540 N. Division Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
 "Your medicine is indeed an ideal medicine for women. I suffered misery for years with painful periods, headaches, and bearing-down pains. I consulted two different physicians but failed to get any relief. A friend from the east advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and no longer suffer as I did before. My periods are natural, every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who suffer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."
 Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., writes:
 Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
 "I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain had I only known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Nature's Way Is Best.
 The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.
 He uses natural remedies, that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.
 Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherry-bark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Sassafras, specially extract their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.
 The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named, but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.
 You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the medical profession. A request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicine, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if you need a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.
 Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.
 The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser." A splendid 1000-page work, with original engravings and colored plates. A copy paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps.

WRECKS AND SUN KINKS

Engineers Can Not Prevent Spreading Rails.

WATCH TRACKS CLOSE

Roads Working For a Device to Reduce Pressure—All Sections Carefully Examined Daily—Allowance Made For Work Done in Zero Weather.

According to railroad men whose business it is to look after the tracks, only about one in twenty of the wrecks are due to sun kinks, says the New York Press.

"It's like the doctor's heart failure," said one track engineer. "After the wreck the track is torn up and the cars lie in pieces. Then somebody asks the conductor or the engineer what did it. They don't know half the time. They couldn't know. Sometimes I am called upon to investigate the cause of a wreck, and, after the most exhaustive examination, I am forced to say that I cannot find out. But at the scene of the wreck, when the reporters come around and ask questions, there is always somebody with the easy answer—sun kinks."

"Of course wrecks are caused by the action of the sun's heat upon the rails," said another track engineer. "It is very hard to guard against them absolutely. If the rails are laid, say, in zero weather, about a half an inch is allowed between them. If they are laid when the mercury is at 40 or 50, approximately a quarter of an inch is allowed. If they are put down in the hottest part of the summer they are laid practically end to end."

"Maybe the calculation that fills the expansion of most of the rails will not fit three or four that happens to be near one another in a stretch of track. Then a hot summer comes, the track warms and section gangs do not see that the rails are getting too close together. It happens also that the ballasting is not quite as good as it ought to be at the point where there is the most strain. The rails get together and expand still more. Something has to go to give way, and the rails buckle outward. Maybe the track buckles so much that a train will run off. Maybe the next train is coming so fast that the engineer doesn't notice it in time. There are some other ways."

"There you have the circumstances of a wreck really due to sun kinks, as the newspapers call them. You see the number of things that coincided to bring about the wreck. You must understand why it is, too, that a real, dyed in the wool sun kink is a thing of rare occurrence."

"Several years ago I was riding on a freight train, and looking ahead, saw that the tracks had buckled outward. The train was stopped and I saw a real case of the sun kink. "I couldn't find anybody on whom the blame could be laid. The rails were spiked and bolted properly, the ballasting seemed to be fairly good, and the rails a little further down the line were properly spaced. It may have happened that somebody's miscalculation as to the expansiveness of one or two particular rails had caused the kink."

"The public doesn't know how closely the tracks of a railroad are watched. Even down South and out West, railroads have the walkers to inspect every foot of the tracks once a day. In addition to that, the section gangs are bound to go over almost every foot of the track each day in going to and from work on the handcars. The longest section is not more than six miles, and on a two or four track system the sections are very short and men are constantly going over them."

"Nevertheless, wrecks do sometimes result from the development of sun kinks and railroads are now experimenting with thirty or forty different types of anti-creeper. An anti-creeper is designed to reduce to the minimum the chance of a track buckling on a hot day. The tracks usually buckle outward, and the anti-creeper is designed to exert force, in a pinch, against that. The anti-creeper's heavy shoulders rest against the side of a tie and are nailed to the rail. When the tendency comes to buckle it is met by the combined strength of the anti-creeper, there being two or three to every rail."

"But even then," continued the track engineer, "the force of the buckling may be so enormous that it tears the anti-creeper loose and swings the track outward. No road that I know of has as yet decided that it may be of sufficient help to justify their adoption all along the line."

Monkey That Wears Glasses.
In the zoological gardens at Breslau, Germany, there is a spider monkey which was operated upon for cataract and now wears glasses, says Exchange. For more than a year after it was received at the zoo it was very healthy and lively; then it became very quiet, ceased to play, and crouched in a corner. It was examined and found to be suffering from cataract, so it was immediately taken to the eye hospital and operated upon. In less than a month it was fitted with a pair of spectacles, which it wears with becoming gravity.

Bilious Attack Quickly Cured.

A few weeks ago I had a bilious attack that was so severe I was not able to go to the office for two days. Failing to get relief from my family physician's treatment, I took three bottles of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the next day I felt like a new man.—H. C. Bailey, Editor of the News, Chapin, S. C. These tablets are for sale by C. I. Dickerson and G. H. Hearn.

SIMPLE WHITE HOUSE FARE.

By publishing an inaccurate report of the White House menus, the Washington Post has been able to get, in the form of a correction from the President himself, a most interesting account of the Roosevelt family's daily meals. It follows, the true account interwoven with the fanciful one:

Instead of a breakfast consisting of oranges, cantaloupes, cereals, eggs, bacon, lamb chops, hot cakes and waffles, President Roosevelt insists that the regular White House breakfast consists of hard-boiled eggs, rolls and coffee.

Instead of a luncheon made of such delicious viands as little neck clams, chicken, fish, olives, celery, consommé of chicken, fish saute, eggs a la turque, spring lamb, new string beans, asparagus, mashed potatoes, lettuce, tomatoes, strawberries and ice cream, President Roosevelt declares that when alone he always contents himself with a bowl of bread and milk.

Families in towns and small cities would do well to cut out some of the items in the heavy midday meals, and imitate White House simplicity, even if the husband should be tempted not to come home at noon for his cold meat, tea and bread.

LANGUAGE IN IRISH SCHOOLS.

The new scheme for promoting the teaching of Irish in Ireland will hardly satisfy those enthusiasts who think to correct the worst evils in that country by gradual elimination of the English tongue. Under the last Government the Treasury, after long consultation with the Irish Board of National Education, decided to withdraw an annual grant of about $60,000 formerly paid as extra fees to teachers of Irish in the primary schools. It was shown by the National Commissioners that in many districts Irish was an unknown tongue and that no precedent could be found for teaching a second language in elementary schools, a declaration which manifested enraged the Gaelic League and, according to Dr. Hyde, provoked the enmity and execration of three-fourths of the Irish people. The new scheme provides only about half the sum provided under the old scheme of fees; but, however, it is said to more encourage and much less wasteful.

THE WEST POINT STUDENT.

It takes a strong man, a man who is a good deal of a man, as well as a soldier, to exercise successful control over the rampant young Americans who are students at the West Point Military Academy, says the New York Sun. The length of General Mills' term as superintendent there bears testimony to the kind of man he is, as well as does the fact that that term has not been marred by evidence of his inability to exercise control over the embryo officers of the army. In the early years of his administration he had trouble enough with the vicious system of hazing which was a matter of memorial tradition at the Academy, but the fact that the kind of hazing that used to be in vogue has been practically stamped out owes more, perhaps, to General Mills' tactful and firm policies than to the army and Congressional inquiries and their issues in the way of orders and legislation.

BLUE EYES IN TURKESTAN.

Professor Gruenwedel, chief of a Prussian exploring expedition in Chinese Turkestan, has discovered in the Cave of the Temples, at Kumtura, in that far country, evidences that the land was anciently inhabited by a race with red hair and blue eyes, and that the temples themselves, which are prehistoric, were erected by a people of that description. Moreover, there are white "freaks" among every dark-skinned people. There is a tribe of perfectly white Indians on the Upper Amazon, and another in Mexico. There is a tribe of white Filipinos, absolutely savage, living in the interior of Luzon, and even a tribe of negroes in Central Africa who are certainly white in comparison with their neighbors. It may indeed be true that our whole race is but a perpetuated "sport," like wheat and the other grains, which are but cultivated grasses, liable to listen to the call of the wild under wild conditions.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Proceedings Of The Salisbury City Council At Last Meeting.

The City Council at the meeting Monday night decided to put down the William Street sewer, from Division street to the New York Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad at once. The sewer will be 18 inches all the way out William St. It was also decided to begin work at once on the Isabelle Street sewer. At present there is a small sewer on Isabelle Street which will be taken up and an eighteen inch sewer run from Division street to the front of the store of Mr. James K. Disharoon, where a well will be located to drain the water from that section of the city.

Mayor Harper sent the names of Messrs. W. E. Miller, Thomas Perry, Wm. M. Cooper, Wm. F. Bounds and Peter S. Shockley to the Council as the Commission to lay out, condemn and assess the benefits and damages on Division street, so as to establish the lines as laid out by the engineer for the paving of the street.

The Council also considered the purchase of a street sweeper to keep the new streets clean.

An order was passed to place stone or brick crossings at the corner of Elizabeth Street and Poplar Hill Avenue and on W. Church Street, near the Park Stables.

"It is the kale rift within the lute which ever widening, makes the music mute." It is just a little rift in the health of a woman often, which gradually takes the spring from her step, the light from her eyes, the rose from her cheek and the music from her voice. Perhaps the bug-bear which has frightened the woman from the timely help needed at the beginning, has been the dreaded questions, the obnoxious examination, the local treatment, of the home physician. There is no need for these. Not is there need for continued suffering. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription relied on by every woman, suffering from what are called "female troubles," to renew the health and cure the disease. Women are astonished at the result of the use of this medicine. It not only makes weak women "robust and rosy cheeked," but it gives them back the vigor and vitality of youth.

Pres. Dr. Pierce's People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of a one-cent stamp to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Everything in Women's Coats
From a collection that embraces not only a broad variety of popular-priced Coats, but also a lavish showing of the elaborate, exclusive creations and every midway wish, we choose these two for description because they are just the sort thousands of women are considering.

Military braided, full fitted Jackets, 24 inches long; handsomely trimmed and lined with Skinner's best guaranteed satin. Newest and smartest separate garments shown this season. Of Broadcloth, $25; of Cheviot, $20.

Black Broadcloth Coats, 42 inches long; trimmed with wrought designs of Black Silk Braid and lined throughout with heavy Silk Serge. A marvel of value at the price, $20.

Women's Gloves: Best Made
In the matter of Women's Gloves we throw down the gauntlet to everybody, for we are sole agents in Baltimore for Jouvin et Cie, the world's greatest glove-makers. And, in addition to a full and complete showing of these famous Gloves, our stock embraces a broad representation of numerous other makes which we thought worthy enough to be in company with our leading line.

Jouvin et Cie's Two-Clasp Gloves, Green or Suede, in all the leading shades, including Green, Wine and Blue. At $2 and $1.50.

Fowner's One-Clasp Silk-Lined "Dagmar" Gloves—very dressy—in Black, Tan and Gray. At $2.

Long Gloves, a broad line of 8, 12 and 16 button lengths, in Black, Tan, Gray, Wine, Green and White; also all Evening shades. From $4.50 down to $1.50.

Get All You Can For Your Money
It's your duty to do that, and it is a principle that we will always uphold. BUT—Spend that money as near your own home as you can; that is when there is nothing to be gained going farther. We don't know how it may be in other goods, but when it comes to Jewelry we are right up alongside the best that is shown in this country. To ignore our stock in favor of some other, may be hundreds of miles away, is to do us an injustice, and it does not give yourself the advantage of the right sort of an examination before you buy. In Jewelry you can't make your money go farther than by leaving it with us. Respectfully,

YOUR MONEY
Could not be invested to greater profit than in a good business education.
Good investments pay from 4 to 10 per cent. A business education makes it possible for you to increase your earning power from 50 per cent to many times that rate.
Knowledge in these days is power. It is knowledge that makes one man or woman more successful than another. You have brains, cultivate them. You have ambition, foster it. Take a course in the Eastern Shore College and the rest will be easy. We offer thorough instruction.

These Days Can Be Called Overcoat Days.

The man who fails to show up in the right kind of an overcoat should penalize himself by going without his dinner. Thoroughgood has the best assortment of Raincoats and Overcoats in Salisbury. You'll need one for these chilly days, and you'd better come to Thoroughgood because you won't find Thoroughgood values anywhere else in Salisbury. You'll certainly miss fire this season if you spend one penny on clothes before you call here. Raincoats, good for all kinds of weather and evening wear, in black, tints, unfinished worsteds and worsted fabrics. Thoroughgood's Overcoats are different from the ordinary, and Thoroughgood wishes he could say something to you that would make you look at this clothes question in a new way and look at our stock in the light that it deserves. We want you to give due consideration to the fit of your clothes as well as the fabric, fashion and price. We have been in business twenty years.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Salisbury People Have Found That This Is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench,
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.
Many Salisbury people rely on it.
Here is Salisbury proof.

J. T. Hayman, book keeper, residing at the corner of Chestnut and Park streets, Salisbury, Md., says: "Having been affected for some time with an aching in the small of my back and other troubles which indicated disordered kidneys, tried a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and finding that they gave me some relief I continued taking them and I consider my condition much improved."

—This is a peculiar world, says an exchange. One is struggling for justice and another is fleeing from it.
One man is saving to build a house and another is trying to sell his for less than cost to get rid of it. One man is spending all the money he can make taking a girl to the theater and sending her flowers, with the hope of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending what gold he has in getting a divorce. One man escapes all the diseases that flesh is heir to and gets killed on a railroad.
Another escapes with a scratch and dies with the whooping cough. One man stands off his creditors and goes traveling while another pays his debts and stays at home.

Catarrh And Catarrhal Headaches. are quickly relieved by Nosena. It soothes the congested membranes, allays inflammations and thoroughly cleans and cleanses. It keeps moist all the passages whose tendency is to thicken and become dry. Cures colds, throat troubles, hoarseness, hay fever,
"stopped up" nose, breathing through mouth while sleeping, offensive breath, etc. It is antiseptic and contains no chemicals or drugs having a narcotic effect, or that can cause the "drug habit."

WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION.
J. A. Brogdon, of the National Sign
Co. Dayton, Ohio, writes under date of Oct. 12, 1906: "Nosena is the only preparation I have ever used that relieves my affection so speedily and pleasantly. I am getting the real pleasure out of breathing that I have experienced since I contracted catarrh six years ago. Money would not buy

FALLEN ASLEEP.

Only a little dust—
So small that a rose might hide it;
And I trust in God—or I try to trust,
When I kneel in the dark beside it.

I kneel in the dark and say:
I only dream that I weep;
She would not leave me and go away—
She has only fallen asleep.

Fallen asleep, as oft,
She climbed to my heart to rest
Her white arms twining my neck,
As soft
As down on a dove's sweet breast.

Tenderly—unaware,
Sleep came in the waning light,
And kissed her there on the twilight stars.
That dead to the morning light.

And that she will wake I know,
And smile at a grief like this;
It could not be she would leave me so,
With never a good night kiss;

So I kneel in the dark and say:
I only dream that I weep;
She would not leave me and go away—
She has only fallen asleep.

—Frank L. Stanton.

—It looks as if the poor rabbits have little chance for life now-a-days, especially when you see the gangs, the crowds, the companies, the regiments, the battalions, and even the cavalry, after them. Of course, they retreat but they generally leave many dead behind them; although it is reported that some of the runners have not killed anything this season.

A Good Record.

Out of all the external remedies on the market we doubt if there is one that has the record of that world-renowned porous plaster—Allook's.
It has now been in use for sixty years, and still continues to be as popular as ever in doing its great work of relieving our pains and aches. It is the remedy we all need when suffering from any form of ache or pain resulting from taking cold or over-strain.

Allook's Plasters are sold by Druggists in every part of the civilized world.

A Man's House Is His Castle.

It should be fortified—protected with a house well painted, if the right kind of paint is used. The best painter in the world cannot do a good job with poor paint; but give a good painter pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, and you will surely get a job that will look well and wear well. They are econom-

SHARPTOWN

Sept. Wm. Martin, of New York and Capt. Edwin F. Nutall, of Solley Va., and families are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Oak.

Mr. E. P. Gravenor and family spent Thanksgiving in Philadelphia as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Zimmerman.

Mrs. H. G. Eisey is visiting in Camden and Philadelphia.

Rev. H. Wilson is visiting in Dorchester.

Rev. H. W. D. Johnson is visiting in Cecil.

Mr. John H. Smith who has been home for a few days has returned to his position in Farnhurst, Del.

The State Officers of the Red Men will visit the Order in this town next Tuesday night.

The donation sent over to the Hospital last week by the people of this town was the largest ever sent from here. Jars are now here for distribution.

Mrs. Bertha Cheeznum, of Maryland spent a part of last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Oak.

Dorothy Walker of Williams, Miss Blanche Eisey, of Athel and Miss Lillian Ellis, Fruitland, were home for Thanksgiving.

Revival services closed this week in the M. E. Church.

Mr. Geo. W. Bell, of Salisbury was the guest of W. O. Mann Tuesday.

Miss Eva Wilson of the Wilmington Conference Academy is visiting her parents.

ATHOL.

Mr. Benjamin Graham and Mr. Orland Wilkinson of Maryland, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thos. N. Evans Sunday.

Mrs. Ira Majors and Mrs. Margaret Cox of this place, are on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Donoho were the guests of Mrs. Oliver Jackson Sunday.

Most of our farmers are through hunking their corn, and the report is a very poor crop.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Elliott and family spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Edgar L. Venables, of Maryland.

Mr. Edward L. Austin who has recently purchased the hotel at Maryland, has moved in.

Hurrah for Thanksgiving Day, and as we say this is our mind not turned back to that little band of Pilgrims, who ate their wild turkey and venison. Though they have long departed their custom still remains with us.

NUTTERS.

The people around here have been making good use of the butcher's knife and hot water for the past few days.

Mr. G. M. Parsons was the first one to kill his pig, he had one pair 8 months old which tipped the scales at 636, the largest one 334. Mr. Lee Ruark was the next one to use the hot water. He had 4 which weighed 1120. The largest one was named Sampson. He tipped the scales at 460, good weight. Mr. W. P. Ward was the next man to use the knife he had one pair which weighed 790. On account of losing one of his hogs, it made his killing short. Mr. G. W. Causey was the next one to use the hot water, he had 4 head of hogs which tipped the scales at 1334 1/2, the largest one, 401 1/2, next one 360, 342, 240. He fed them on good solid corn and brick bats which made them weigh so well. Columbus Dykes is the next one to use the knife but he won't need any barrel to scald his in as a small sized wash basin will hold enough water to scald them both.

If The Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and see that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL BANK, SALISBURY, MD.

Virginia factory is The World's Best.

Few tobaccoists are acquainted with the process to which 'the weed' is subjected in the manufacture of the finished product.

The increased cultivation of tobacco in Virginia has caused the erection of numerous plants throughout the State. One of the best equipped of these factories is that of the B. A. Patterson tobacco company, manufacturers of the famous "Grape" chewing tobacco.

The plants are located at Richmond, Va., in the heart of the tobacco growing section and are afforded the advantage of selecting the best that grows. The Patterson company is interesting above most others because of their different method of curing and aging the leaf. In the finished product this is of almost as much importance as the selection of the leaf.

Most of the tobacco consumed is treated by a process of fermentation known as "flue-curing." This process sweats and dries out the original flavor and fragrance, giving place to a bitter taste and creosote odor; both of which must be supplied by artificial means.

It is in this particular department that the Patterson Company enjoys a marked distinction.

In the manufacture of their goods, the plants are topped off to 8 or 12 leaves; the lower leaves are pruned or picked off. When ripe, the stalks are split and cut lengthwise and laid on the ground to wilt. They are then strung on sticks, 4 or 6 to a stick so that the sap runs down from the stalk, and cured without artificial heat. The process is gradual, and produces a good and uniform color. The leaves are stripped off and tied into hands and bulked down for a short time, after which they are "prized" or pressed by power into boxes or hogheads, from which they are taken and graded.

The greatest care must be exercised during this process; and the skill with which the company handles this department, is evident in the superiority of their products; and also by the fact that they were offered $25,000 for the "Grape" formula.

Only the best skilled labor is employed in the manufacture of these goods; and that these factories promise to rank among the largest in the world, is evidenced by the enormous increase in their shipping trade; which extends throughout this country and Europe.

Christmas Burr McIntosh Monthly.

Those who have seen this magnificent holiday number of "the most beautiful magazine in the world" claim it is by far the most sumptuous and artistic periodical ever placed before the public. From cover to cover it is a work of art and, although, it is 50 cents a copy, double the price of regular monthly issues, it is worth many times the amount. The cover is in six colors and gold and there are several additional color pieces, many of them reproduced from paintings of the old masters. Publishers of this magazine excel in putting together odd and intensely artistic pictures in the master of embellishment and mounting. A very interesting sketch of the famous Leonardo da Vinci, together with reproduction of some of this famous work, form a charming portion of the publication. The superb portraits and the unusually attractive scenes and incidents go to complete a variety that is seldom attained in any publication. This Christmas number of the Burr McIntosh Monthly always makes a nice holiday gift. It can be found on all news stands throughout the country or obtained from the publishers, Burr Publishing Company, 4 W. 22nd St., New York.

Obituary.

Larrie, the beloved son of B. P. and Martha A. Livingston, departed this life on October 27, leaving father and mother, five brothers and five sisters to mourn their loss. He was stricken with typhoid fever and was patient sufferer for nine weeks, awaiting the end. At last it came and found him nothing but frame and soul, gone to try the realities of another world, where there is no more fever or pain. Larrie was twenty years old, a very bright and prosperous looking young man, and held a very important place in his father's business. And his cheerful and lively disposition made his home circle and friends feel greatly his loss. His remains were interred in the new cemetery, witnessed by the largest crowd ever assembled at this church. A friend, M.

Their Thunder
 It was on the 23d of a May, says the author of "My South Sea Log," an English man of war lay in Apia harbor, in the Samoan Islands, that a native came aboard with a note for the captain. It was from one of the district chiefs.
 "To the Captain of the English Man of War," it read: "I, Tule-tan, send you my greetings and love, and the love of my family, and send also my love to Queen Victoria. We Samoans have much love for England."
 "Most noble sir tomorrow will be the day of the Queen's birth, and I have learned that at the hour of noon all the great cannon on our ship will be fired and the earth will quake with the noise thereof."
 "Great sir, I cast myself at your feet. I have much love to you, but I beseech you not to fire great guns tomorrow. Do not fire them for two days more, and my heart will be big with gratitude, because my wife has a hen sitting on nine duck eggs and tomorrow is the day for them to break their shells."
 "Noble sir, if the great guns are fired they will all perish and grief will enter my house. But in three days it will not matter if they hear the guns. I beseech you to do me this favor."—Youth's Companion.

Awful Discharge From Eyes and Nose—Would Have Left Scars Except for Cuticura—Under Specialists' Care for Months—Grateful for Benefit Her Little Boy Received and

STRONGLY RECOMMENDS CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I used the Cuticura Remedies eight years ago for my little boy who had ulcers in the eyes, which resulted from vaccination. His face and nose were in a bad state also. At one time we thought he would lose his sight forever, and at that time he was in the hospital for seven or eight months and under specialists. The discharges from the eyes and nose were bad and would have left scars, if had it not been for the free use of the Cuticura Remedies. But through it all we used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and lots of it, and I feel grateful for the benefit he received from them. The Cuticura Resolvent seemed to mend the trouble out of the Ointment, besides it outwardly, and the Soap cleaned and healed both. He is entirely cured now; but since then I have bought the Cuticura Resolvent to cleanse and purify the blood, and the Soap I cannot speak too highly of as a cleansing and medicinal beautifier. I can truthfully say the Cuticura Remedies are all they are claimed to be."
 Mrs. Agnes Wright, Chestnut St., Irwin, Pa. Oct. 16, 1906.

FOR WOMEN

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in antiseptic cleansing, thus affording pure, sweet, and economical local and constitutional treatment for inflammations, itching, irritations, relaxations, displacements, pains, as well as such sympathetic affections as anemia, chlorosis, hysteria, nervousness and debility.

McClellan's Advice To Boys.
 George B. McClellan, Mayor of New York. In sending a message to the boys of Philadelphia, says that if he had a great many boys under his personal control he would tell them that the most important thing in life is the making of character. He gives two suggestions for boys to follow:—
 First. Be a friend of the truth and never tell a lie.
 Second. Work every working hour of the day with a clean purpose.
 Third. Have a religion, make God your companion.
 Fourth. Learn a trade or profession thoroughly.
 Fifth. Be manly with women of every character. Give a woman the protection of your strength always.
 Sixth. If you feel that you cannot be somebody try to be something. There is a great deal in that. Don't live as the butterfly does, strong in fair weather and dead in foul.
 Seventh. Study your government. Know how and why you are being governed, and why you should support it.
 Eighth. This is old advice but never try to appear what you are not. Stand on your own merits.
 Ninth. Work to protect the home of your parents, or to secure a home for yourself.
 Tenth. Be a man.

Keep in Good Health.
 There are many thousands of people all over the world who can attribute their good health to taking one or two Brandreth's Pills every night. These pills cleanse the stomach and bowels, stimulate the kidneys and liver and purify the blood. They are the same fine laxative pills your grand-parents used, and being purely vegetable they are adapted to children and old people, as well as to those in the vigor of manhood and womanhood. Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century and can be obtained in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

A Wonderful Record.
 As made up by improved and exact processes Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most valuable remedy for regulating the monthly periods and bringing about a perfect state of health. It cures the backache, periodical headaches, the dragging-down distress in the pelvic region, the pain and tenderness over the lower abdominal region, dries up the pelvic catarrhal drain, so disagreeable and weakening, and overcomes every form of weakness incident to the organs distinctly feminine.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, the makers of which are not afraid to print their formula on the bottle wrapper, thus taking their patrons into their full confidence. It is the only medicine for women, every ingredient of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the most eminent medical practitioners and writers of our day, recommending it for the diseases for which "Favorite Prescription" is used. It is the only put-up medicine for women, sold through druggists, which does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, so harmful in the long run, especially to delicate women. It is more genuine than any other medicine, and its ingredients are saved thousands of sufferers from the operating table and the surgeon's knife. It has restored delicate, weak women to strong and vigorous health and vitality, making motherhood possible, where there was barrenness before, thereby brightening and making happy many thousands of homes by the advent of little ones to strengthen the marital bonds and add sunshine to their glad and dependant hearts.

WRECKS AND SUN KINKS

Engineers Can Not Prevent Spreading Rails.

WATCH TRACKS CLOSE

Roads Working For a Device to Reduce Pressure—All Sections Carefully Examined Daily—Allowance Made For Work Done in Zero Weather.

According to railroad men whose business it is to look after the tracks, only about one in twenty of the wrecks are due to sun kinks, says the New York Press.

"It's like the doctor's heart failure," said one track engineer. "After the wreck the track is torn up and the cars lie in pieces. Then somebody asks the conductor or the engineer what did it. They don't know half the time. They couldn't know. Sometimes I am called upon to investigate the cause of a wreck, and, after the most exhaustive examination, I am forced to say that I cannot find out. But at the scene of the wreck, when the reporters come around and ask questions, there is always somebody with the easy answer—sun kinks."

"Of course wrecks are caused by the action of the sun's heat upon the rails," said another track engineer. "It is very hard to guard against them absolutely. If the rails are laid, say, in zero weather, about a half an inch is allowed between them. If they are laid when the mercury is at 40 or 50, approximately a quarter of an inch is allowed. If they are put down in the hottest part of the summer they are laid practically end to end."

"Maybe the calculation that fills the expansion of most of the rails will not fit three or four that happens to be near one another in a stretch of track. Then a hot summer day comes. The track walter and section gang do not see that the rails are getting too close together. It happens also that the ballast is not quite so good as it ought to be at the point where there is the most strain. The rails get together and expand still more. Something has to give way, and the rails buckle outward. Maybe the track buckles so much that a train will run off. Maybe the next train is coming so fast that the engineer doesn't notice it in time. There are some other ways."

"There you have the circumstances of a wreck really due to sun kinks, as the newspapers call them. You see the number of things that are needed to bring about the wreck. You must understand why it is, too, that a real, dyed in the wool sun kink is a thing of rare occurrence."

"Several years ago I was riding on a freight train, and looking ahead, saw that the tracks had buckled outward. The train was stopped and I saw a real case of the sun kinks."

"I couldn't find anybody on whom the blame could be laid. The rails were spiked and bolted properly, the ballasting seemed to be fairly good, and the rails a little further down the line were properly spaced. It may have happened that somebody's miscalculation as to the expansiveness of one or two particular rails had caused the kink."

"The public doesn't know how closely the tracks of a big railroad are watched. Even down South and out West, railroads have the walkers to inspect every foot of the tracks once a day. In addition to that, the section gangs are bound to go over almost every foot of the track each day in going to and from work on the handcars. The longest section is not more than six miles, and on a two or four track system the sections are very short and men are constantly going over them."

"Nevertheless wrecks do sometimes result from the development of sun kinks and railroads are now experimenting with thirty or forty different types of anti-creepers. An anti-creeper is designed to reduce to the minimum the chance of a track buckling on a hot day. The tracks usually buckle outward, and the anti-creepers are designed to exert force, in a pinch, against that. The anti-creeper's heavy shoulders rest against the side of a tie and are bolted to the rail. When the tendency comes to buckle it is met by the combined strength of the anti-creepers, there being two or three to every rail."

"But even then," continued the track engineer, "the force of the buckling may be so enormous that it will overcome the anti-creepers' force and swing the track outward. No road that I know of has as yet decided that they are of sufficient help to justify their adoption all along the line."

Monkey That Wears Glasses.

In the zoological gardens at Breslau, Germany, there is a spider monkey which was operated upon for cataract and now wears glasses, says Exchange. For more than a year after it was received at the zoo it was very healthy and lively; then it became very quiet, ceased to play, and crouched in a corner. It was examined and found to be suffering from cataract, so it was immediately taken to the eye hospital and operated upon. In less than a month it was fitted with a pair of spectacles, which it wears with becoming gravity.

King Of All Cough Medicines.

Mr. E. C. Case, Ga., a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. Service for about sixteen years says: "We have tried many cough medicines for croup, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is king of all and one to be relied upon every time. We also find it the best remedy for coughs and colds, giving certain results and leaving no bad after-effects." For sale by C. L. Dickerson and G. Beam.

CURIOUS TRAITS OF GENIUS

Their Possessors Show Extremes in Their Appearance and Talents. Under the title of "Curious Traits in Men of Genius," Professor Lombroso contributes some interesting facts.

It is pointed out that the great majority of men of genius are to be found in either of two classes—the tallest or the shortest. Among men of average mental attainments the greater number are of average height—of this class 16 per cent. are of high, 16 per cent. of low and 68 per cent. of medium stature. Turning to men of genius, 37 per cent. are low, 41 per cent. medium. Examples of short geniuses are Epictetus, George Eliot and A. C. Swinburne; of the tall variety are Petrarch, Goethe, Tennyson. An equally well defined statement may be made regarding thin and stout men. Of stout geniuses may be mentioned Victor Hugo, Renan, Leo, Rossini and Balzac; of thin are Pascal, Kepler, Voltaire, and Giotto.

Most men of genius have a high brain capacity. Lebon, on examining the skulls of twenty-six Frenchmen of genius, found that they yielded an average capacity of 1,732 cubic centimeters—a little more than 200 in excess of the average.

Of the brains of twelve famous Germans studied by Wagner and Buchhof, eight had either a decidedly low or a very high capacity; Dollinger, 1,207, and Leibniz, 1,352, for instance.

On the other hand, one had long believed that a great development of brain circumference, together with symmetrical beauty of the face, were general characteristics of the man of genius; but here also the exceptions are numerous, an extraordinary emaciation of the skull being frequently noticeable.

We have not dealt with inflammation of the brain membranes, shown in such a case as Donisetti's; and we may contrast with the facial beauty and harmonious skull form of Helmholtz, Dante and Schopenhauer the abnormally large features (hereditary) of such men as Skoda and Nobilis, who possessed almost idiotic looks. It is interesting to note that Clement VI. is said to have acquired genius as a result of a blow which his skull received in his childhood. (The Australian novelist Marcus Clarke had a similar experience.)

A common characteristic of the creative genius is contempt for the work of others. Napoleon would have nothing to do with steam, and Richelieu threw into a igneous asunder the man who discovered it; Voltaire denied the value of fossils to science. Darwin jeered at hypnotism, and Virchow absolutely denied Darwinism and criminal anthropology.

Absent-mindedness is very common with the man of genius. Newton one day rammed his niece's finger into his pipe. Tucherel once forgot his own name. The Archbishop of Munster, seeing on the door of his visitors' room a notice which read: "The master of this house is out," remained there awaiting his own return.

The gods must have an especial fondness for poets, for they have a decided way of dying young. Of forty-six cases, showing an average age of 56 years, nine poets died between the ages of 26 and 37—Byron, Shelley, Keats, Leopardi and Poe among them. Of thirty-nine artists and sculptors, the average age attained was 66. One, Portunus, dying young, aged 36. Of thirty musicians, with an average age of 52 years, Anber was 49 years old when he died, and Verdi 58; while four others died young—Bellini, Biset, Schubert, Mendelssohn.

Poets are often precocious. Dante wrote a sonnet to Beatrice when he was 9 years old. Mozart gave a concert at 6, Tasso wrote verses at 10, and Pascal at 13. It is, on the other hand, true that some men have been backward; Alfieri, Wren, Humboldt, Linnaeus, Flaubert, and Domenichino, for instance.

Hatred of music has been a characteristic of some persons of genius, especially in literature, philosophy and history—e.g., Johnson, Victor Hugo, Catherine II., Zola, Napoleon, Fontenelle, and Gautier. On the other hand, among ardent lovers of music have stood Aristotle, Daudet, Darwin, Goethe, Carlyle, Moore and Ruskin.

A genuine Cashmere shawl requires the fleece of ten goats and takes three men six months to make.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deep-seated and so insidious. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

A SHORT BUT IMPORTANT SESSION OF CONGRESS.

Monday the Fifty-ninth Congress of the United States convened for the second session, which will end on March 3 next.

Several treaties have been negotiated by the President and will come before the Senate for action.

Two new measures which will prove exceedingly troublesome are said to have been prepared.

Another measure, which if passed is of even greater potentiality for trouble, is the Japanese Exclusion bill.

The loss of this trade would be a great blow to the country, and the experience with Japan is that in order to gratify resentment they are ready to make sacrifices.

The Ship Subsidy bill will probably come up, but it will meet such strong opposition that final action at this session is not considered likely.

Perils of a Young Oyster.

As this article makes no pretention to being a scientific treatise, the writer is of opinion that the following bright little sketch concerning the perils of a young oyster...

Popular sets down the oyster as the emblem of crass witlessness and lumpy unprogression. Now, by rights, the wild oyster—for all his outward plainness—is the most picturesque of all the monsters of the deep.

Fate willing, it meets in the sea the vitalizing principle and develops with startling rapidity into a dancing almondrop, with distinct views of its own.

To avert this calamity nature makes life lively and strenuous for the young oyster. Most friendless of all the youngsters of the earth, he is an infant Ishmael from the very egg.

The oyster nurling whisks his way bravely through the sea of troubles. He is now a little two-walled vase of slime with an exciting stomach and little hair oars to drive him through the water.

"This final peril of his free-swimming youth evaded, a clean foundation secured, the little oyster utilizes a placid disposition and hardens his shell.

"But even inside crusted walls of lime he is not safe. The starfish, that baby innocent called 'devil's fingers' has a pull which avails much on the oyster beds.

TO RUN POSTOFFICE.

On Business Principles Is the Proposition Made To Uncle Sam By A Chicago Millionaire.

W. D. Boyce, of Chicago, publisher, man of big affairs and several times a millionaire, makes the proposition, on behalf of himself and associates, whom he did not name, to take over the postoffice business and run it on business principles.

The proposal includes the agreement to turn over the Postoffice business to a $50,000,000 private corporation under full Government regulation.

To pay the Government rental for postoffice quarters, and charge it regular rates for its postal business.

To place in charge a well known railroad traffic expert to whom the place has been offered at $30,000 annually.

To eliminate all sinecures, politics and the deficit.

To pay the Government all profits above seven per cent on capital.—Proposition of W. D. Boyce, of Chicago.

The Most Popular Sea Food.

The oyster is one of the gastronomic delights that points the procession of the seasons. Before September with its "R" the oyster plays second fiddle to the clam, but it then assumes the sceptre.

While everyone has her own true and tried ways of making the delectable oyster ste there are some comparatively new ways of preparing the inauspicious bivalve that may prove a culinary triumph when some social function is on foot.

Dr. Kitchener says: "Those who wish to enjoy this delicious restorative in its utmost perfection, must eat it the moment it is opened with its own gravy in the under shell, if not eaten while absolutely alive, its spirit and flavor are lost."

Tin cans and ancient rubber boots—it sounds like a feast for the roat, doesn't it?—cobble stones, oyster shells, anything that has a hard substance is the home of the oyster.

I have seen bushels of stones and other things sold for good amounts of money that to the casual observer were worth nothing.

The oyster man who buys them though will show you little specks on the debris. "Sets," oyster sets, are these and we send them to the Chesapeake Bay, Maurice River and as far West as the salt water flows—San Francisco, for instance.

These little oyster sets are the cleanest things in the world. Any one who knows anything about oysters will say that they cannot live in mud; they must have the clean, gravelly bottom, a flowing of water at each tide, to give them their sustenance, else the oyster dies. It is the cleanest food ever placed in the mouth.—Diana in Philadelphia Inquirer.

These Days Can Be Called Overcoat Days. The man who fails to show up in the right kind of an overcoat should penalize himself by going without his dinner. Thoroughgood has the best assortment of Raincoats and Overcoats in Salisbury. You'll need one for these chilly days, and you'd better come to Thoroughgood's because you won't find Thoroughgood values anywhere else in Salisbury. You'll certainly miss fire this season if you spend one penny on clothes before you call here. Raincoats, good for all kinds of weather and evening wear, in black tibets, unfinished worsteds and worsted fabrics. Thoroughgood's Overcoats are different from the ordinary, and Thoroughgood wishes he could say something to you that would make you look at this clothes question in a new way and look at our stock in the light that it deserves. We want you to give due consideration to the fit of your clothes as well as the fabric, fashion and price. We have been in business twenty years.

STEWART & Co. HOWARD & LEXINGTON STS. Baltimore, Md. We pay Freight Charges on purchases of Five Dollars or more. Mail Orders filled the day received. CHRISTMAS HANDKERCHIEFS. A blizzard has struck the Handkerchief store. At least, that's the impression the drifts and drifts of snowy white squares give. My, what quantities! The display is larger by thousands and thousands of dozens than any of the past. Had to be. People are rapidly learning that in Handkerchiefs this store excels, and these increasing demands must be met. But there's more than quantity. There's richness—airy, ethereal bits running 'way up in dollars. And variety. More than you could look at if you came every day for a week. Just a few hints.

Get All You Can For Your Money. It's your duty to do that, and it is a principle that we will always uphold. BUT—Spend that money as near home as you can; that is when there is nothing to be gained by going farther. We don't know how it may be in other goods, but when it comes to Jewelry we are right up alongside the best that is shown in this country. To ignore our stock in favor of some other, maybe hundreds of miles away, is to do us an injustice, and it does not give yourself the advantage of the right sort of an examination before you buy. In Jewelry you can't make your money go farther than by leaving it with us. Respectfully, G. M. FISHER, The New Jeweler Salisbury, Md.

Do Your Eyes Or Head Ache? The trouble is almost always caused by defective eyesight. Always consult an Eye Specialist when your eyes are sore and you cannot continue for any length of time to regard small objects. When the eyes smart or water; when the eyelids get inflamed often; or when you have pain in the eyeballs, orbit, temples or forehead, I correct all optical defects. HAROLD N. FITCH, Eye Specialist, P. O. Box "F," 120 Main St., Salisbury, Md. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Special appointments made by phone No. 231. Send for "The Eye and Its Care." Mailed Free.

IN HOC SIGNO VINCES.

Dec. 9, 06—(Luxe 23:33-46.)

When Constantine the Great was leading his forces against his enemies, he declares that he saw, outlined against the midnight heavens, a flaming cross, with the inscription, "In Hoc Signo Vinces."

Overwhelmed by the spectacle, and believing the portent to be a revelation from the skies, he made a solemn vow that if Providence crowned his arms with success he would make the Christian religion the religion of the State.

He trusted in the efficacy of the good omen, led his troops against his enemies, gained an overwhelming victory, and, true to his word, made Christianity, the religion of the Roman empire. By this sign he conquered.

The fact is, the cross, which to many is only a Roman gibbet, a gallows, an executioner's instrument of capital punishment, is the mightiest weapon of warfare the world has ever known.

It has rallied more soldiers, inspired more hearts, kindled more enthusiasm, nerved more arms, gained more victories, waved over more battlefields, comforted more dying soldiers, than any other weapon which was ever forged.

It is banner, bombardment and balm all in one. It is sometimes a rude rough-hewn timber, sometimes a polished bejeweled ornament; now it is lifted on the apex of some heaven-soaring spire like a star in the evening twilight, now it is traced upon the forehead of a dying saint, his last conscious appreciation of the things of earth. Vice uncovers in its presence and purity is thrilled when it is lifted up.

There are those who look upon the cross as they look upon the gullotine—an instrument of torture, an executioner's scaffold. But they are infinitely mistaken. The cross is rather an altar where an innocent victim consents to be bound and receive the death stroke that the real culprit may be set free. It means self-atonement, self-sacrifice, abandonment of life itself to prove its possession of infinite love for the object of its affection.

The mother who yields up her life that her child may live, knows something of it; the soldier who bares his bosom to receive the shot aimed at his country's flag, knows something of it; but its full measure was never realized in this universe but once, and that was when, on Calvary's summit, a victim was nailed to it, who cried with his expiring breath, "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do!"

Archimedes said if he could find a place for a fulcrum he could move the world. That place has been found it is the rock Calvary, and the cross is the long lever with which it is being done. The three highest mountains in the world, morally speaking, are Sinai, Calvary and Olivet. And of the three, Calvary is the Mt. Everest, towering above all others. Sinai spells law; Calvary spells love; Olivet spells home. Sinai thunders; Calvary weeps, Olivet beckons. Sinai repels, Calvary draws, Olivet lifts.

The first is condemnation, the second is reconciliation, the third is restoration.

The tradition is that the true cross was identified after discovery, by its power to restore the dead to life, to heal all diseases, and to cause wickedness to confess its crimes. That is a parable setting forth the fact that wherever the cross has away virtue revives and vice expires, a fact to which all history bears witness.

In Paris there is a cathedral, 333 feet high, having cost $2,000,000, dedicated to one dead man. Under its burnished dome is a concentration of wonders.

The embalmed and undecayed body of Napoleon, in military suit, in a red sarcophagus of Finlander quartzite, polished to the last perfection by skillful machinery, rests on a block of green granite, surrounded by twelve funeral lamps of bronze, and twelve marble statues of great size. One of them has a wreath as if to crown; another has a pen, as if to make eternal record; another has a key, as if to open the celestial gates; another has a trumpet, as if to announce the coming of a King. And on the pavement there is enamelled a crown of laurel, from which radiates on all sides a glittering star.

The great warrior who lies there said, "When I am dead, my spirit will return and throbb in countless revolutions!" But he lies there motionless, and the revolutions have long since died out, never to throbb again.

Out under the Judean skies there is another tomb—but it is empty. It is only a rock-hewn cave in the hillside, its heavy portal was shattered never to be restored. Its occupant long since burst from its confinement, for it was not possible that He could be hidden of it.

He holds in his own mighty hands the keys, the pen, coronets, the trumpets. And to every soul of man facing the problems of time and eternity, He hands the same mysterious, invincible cross which Constantine saw, uttered once more the inspiring message, "By this sign you shall conquer."

SPASMODIC RAIDS IN CITIES.

We are familiar with spasmodic raids in cities, says the New York Sun. The police magistrates have had to protest time and again against the making of wholesale arrests based on insufficient evidence or no evidence at all of the sort that could stand examination in court. In discharging a lot of prisoners taken in on general principles a Philadelphia judge said:

"Crime is not spasmodic, nor can order be restored by sensational, theatrical proceedings. It is the duty of the police to keep order during the entire year and to arrest violators of the law at all times, and not in sporadic instances. There are 365 days in a year to make arrests, and there is no need for nonsensical and theatrical shows with wagons and policemen on Saturday night. Such acts are spasmodic and do no real good in the work of reforming the people, and whoever is responsible is much to blame for a misuse of the police power."

THE INDIAN'S PREDICAMENT.
The Indian is impoverished by means of the advantage taken of his inexperience in the matter of debts and interest, says the Pittsburg Gazette. A thousand means exist of feeding him. It is notorious that he pays higher prices and higher interest than his white neighbor. If he and a white man both get drunk, the white man is privately taken home, while the Indian is arrested and fined. The Indians' ponies are conducted through an aperture in a fence into the white man's inclosure, and there impounded until the Indian pays a lawful release charge upon each of them. The Indian is made to sign all manner of obligations. At every turn he falls into a trap. When his land is once free, it will in some cases hardly pay his debts.

About his only chance in life is to marry his children to whites and thus acquire the keener qualities of that race for his offspring, even if these qualities are denied him.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE Town Property

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, passed in the case of Philip W. Wingate, et al., vs. George W. Wingate, et al., being No. 1682 Chancery in the said county, and decreed will sell at public auction at the Court House door, at Salisbury, Maryland, on Saturday, December 29th,

1906 at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. all the following property:

FIRST: All that valuable house and lot, situate in Parsons Election District, in Wicomico County, Maryland, in the town of Salisbury, beginning at the point of intersection of the southeast side of Baker Street with the southwest side of Barclay Street; thence in a southerly direction by and with the said side of the said Baker Street, forty six feet; thence in a southeasterly direction in a line parallel with the south west side of Barclay Street to the line of the land of Jackson Brothers Company; thence by and with the line of the land of the said company, to the south west side of Barclay Street; thence by and with the same ninety six feet to the place of the beginning. This property is improved by a good substantial dwelling house and out buildings, and is a fine opportunity to secure a home already completed.

SECOND: All that vacant lot of ground adjoining the above mentioned lot, in the said town, district, County and State, beginning for the same at a stob on the south east side of the said Baker Street at the end of the line of the above mentioned lot; thence by and with the said side of the said Baker Street in a southerly direction forty one feet to a stob; thence in a south easterly direction in a line parallel with the said Barclay Street to the line of the land of the aforesaid Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the same to the second line of the above mentioned lot; thence by and with the said second line reversed by the place of the beginning.

THIRD: All that vacant lot adjoining the last described lot, beginning at the end of the first line thereof on the said side of the said Baker Street; thence in a southerly direction, by and with the said side of the said Baker Street, forty one feet to the line of the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a southeasterly direction by and with the same to the line of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the line of the said Jackson Brothers Company to the second lot above described; thence by and with the same reversed to the place of the beginning.

The last mentioned lots are well located and offer admirable sites for building lots and should command a good price.

All the above land is the same which was conveyed to Lurania C. Hudson by William H. Jackson et al., by deed dated April 6th, 1884, and recorded in Liber: S. F. T. No. 6, Folio 368, and which has been subdivided into three parcels as above. They will first be offered separately and then as a whole, with the understanding that if the bids for the same as a whole exceeds the aggregate of the separate bids, the bid for the whole will be accepted; but if the aggregate of the separate bids equal to or exceed the bids for the same as a whole, then the separate bids will be accepted.

FOURTH: All that valuable store house and dwelling house and lot, situate on the north side of and bounded on East Church Street, bounded on the east by the lot of Henry Barnes bounded on the north by the property of Mrs. Willie B. Records, wife of the late John B. Records, and bounded on the south and southwest by East Elizabeth Street, being the same land which was conveyed to Lurania C. Hudson by Stephen Beauchamp, et al., by deed dated Nov. 23, 1887, and recorded in Liber F. M. S. No. 3, Folio 80, and to Lurania C. Hudson by Benjamin F. Ward et al., by deed dated April 28th, 1890, and recorded in F. M. S. No. 6, Folio 65, both the above parcels comprising one lot, and a part of it is now occupied by John Evans as a store house and a part by Henry Smith as a dwelling house. The above is a valuable piece of property, is well improved by buildings in good repair and must command a good price.

TERMS OF SALE.
35 per cent cash on day of sale; balance to be secured by note of purchaser with approved security, payable in equal installments of six and twelve months respectively.
Title Papers at the expense of purchaser.
J. E. FRENEY, Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE & TIMBER.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Md., passed on the third day of December, 1906, in a cause pending therein, being No. 1614, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale in front of the Court House, in Salisbury, on at 10 o'clock A. M. All that tract of land and timber at Pottsville, Wicomico County, Maryland on the north side of the B. O. and A. Railway, containing seventy five acres of land more or less, it being the same land that was devised by the last will and testament of Elias Fooks to Julia T. Marshall, and mentioned in the proceedings. The Trustee will offer this property first in parcels as follows:

FIRST: All that small parcel of said land being bounded on the north and east by the county road and on the south by the B. O. and A. Ry., containing one quarter acre, more or less.
SECOND: All the growing timber on the remaining land, with the right to the purchaser to cut and remove the same within two years from the ratification by the Court of the sale.
THIRD: All the remaining land, subject to the right of the purchaser of the timber to enter thereon and remove the timber under his purchase. The trustee reserves the right to then offer the whole property as an entirety; and if the same brings a higher price than the aggregate amount offered in parcels, then the parcel sales will be rejected and the sale as an entirety accepted and reported to the Court. Title papers at expense of purchaser.

TERMS OF SALE.
One third of purchase money will be required in cash on day of sale; and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months, the deferred payments to be secured by the bond of purchaser with sureties to be approved by trustees and to bear interest from day of sale; or all cash at option of purchaser. No timber to be cut or removed until the whole purchase money therefore is paid.
CHARLES O. MELVIN,
Trustee.

RIVERTON.

As it has been some time since our little town was represented we will send a few items.
Among those on the sick list this week are:—Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Jackson, Mr. Henry Cooper and Miss Lula Smith.

Mrs. W. T. English, who has been in the Peninsula Hospital for several weeks past returned home Saturday very much improved in health.
Misses Alice Bennett and Lula Willards both "school marm's" of near Willards spent the holidays with parents near here.

Mr. Wm T. Bennett, of Easton, Va., spent the past two weeks among friends and parents here.
Several meetings are in progress at Easton M. P. Church near here conducted by Rev. E. P. Perry, assisted by Revs. Dorsey Blake and H. J. McConical, the blind evangelist.

Miss Ruth Bennett who is attending the high school at Sharpton and Mr. Luther A. Bennett at W. H. S. Salisbury, visited their parents Thanksgiving.

Mr. Fred Taylor, of Washington College Chestertown spent the holidays at home.
Quite a number of friends gave Mr. Fred Taylor a surprise party Thursday evening. Refreshments were served at a late hour and all reported a pleasant time.

Mr. R. H. Bailey who has been absent from home for a long time is now entertaining among friends and relatives in and about town.

Transacted by County Commissioners and Orphans' Court, Tuesday. Plans for New First Bridge. Other Matters of Interest.

The following business was transacted at the session of the County Commissioners held Tuesday. Mr. James E. Ellegood refunded to the county $25.70 for costs paid in excess of the B. C. and A. tax case. R. G. Robertson was appointed in lieu of F. S. Shockey to act with H. J. Meestick and G. D. Insley in laying out a new road in Nanticoke District. Geo. W. Walston was before the Board and asked that a right of way be condemned from his house to the new Line Road. Mr. Harrison, of the New York Bridge Co., submitted plans for a new pivot bridge at the foot of Main Street. They were not just what the Board wanted, and Mr. Harrison will draft new plans. Commissioner Wright was authorized to have necessary repairs made on Vienna causeway. Commissioner Larmore was authorized to examine the road at Quantico and have necessary repairs made. Mr. W. E. Sweeten was before the Board and discussed the matter of building two miles of stone road on the Snow Hill Road. The Board held the matter under consideration. The plans submitted by Architect Thompson for changes in the County Commissioners' office were accepted, and the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids to do the work.

Hurlock, O. E. S. C. O.

The Eastern Shore College Football Team went to Hurlock Saturday and played a spirited team composed of Hurlock and Cambridge players, although the E. S. C. boys were outweighed by 15 pounds to the man, they played an excellent game and kept the ball in the opponents territory most of the time. The E. S. C. boys carried the ball back of the home team's goal twice but owing to the fact that the grounds were not properly marked off they called the ball out of bounds. The feature of the game was a 60 yard dash by Mitchell of the E. S. C. The line up was as follows:

CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS

As Given By The New York Evening Post. "The Twelfth Night" The Yule Log. Traditional Decorations.

The Christmas festival has not always been observed at the same time nor in the same present day manner, but like a nation or a person, has had its own individual history, its own experiences of elevation and humiliation. The customs of Christmas, aside from those directly bearing upon the birth of Christ, are like so many of our festivities, adapted from the pagans, for the pagans, when they were Christianized did not entirely abandon their former habits. When Pope Gregory sent St. Augustine to convert Saxon England, he told him to accommodate, as far as possible, Christian to heathen ceremonies, that the people might not be startled; and in particular he advised him to allow them on certain festivals to kill and eat "a great number of oxen, to the glory of God the Father," as they had done in honor of the devil. On the Christmas next after the arrival of St. Augustine he baptized many hundreds of converts, but permitted the usual celebration, only prohibiting the intermingling of Christians and pagans in the dances. Many of the Christian practices were taken from the Roman feast of Saturna. This feast was held in December and at first only one day was devoted to it, but later it occupied seven days of license. It was only natural and not at all detrimental to the Christian faith that some of the customs of Saturnalia should be transferred to the Christmas feast. The Saturnalia lasted seven days, the festivities of Christmas twelve. The "twelfth night" made famous by Shakespeare is January 6, which is the feast of Epiphany, or manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles. The traditional plants for Christmas are the box, fir, holly and mistletoe. There is a Saxon, proverb that runs thus: Whosoever against holly do cry In a rope shall be hung fall high—Alleluia.

The Ancient Druid went in solemn procession to the annual cutting of mistletoe on the sixth day of the moon nearest New Year's. The officiating priest, clad in white robes and carrying a golden sickle, cut the plant, which was received on a white cloth. To add to the impressiveness, bulls and even human victims were offered in its honor. The mistletoe was supposed to keep away evil. The Yule-log is a remnant of the Yule, when the Scandinavians used to kindle large fires in honor of their god, Thor. Today many people enjoy spending a part of Christmas Day at the theatre. This is by no means a new custom. Since the twelfth century, when miracle plays were introduced, people have found pleasure in this amusement. The miracle plays were the forerunners of the drama and our modern play. They were full of Anachronisms—Noah's wife would swear by St. John, and some historical Israelite would say mass—but they supplied a real want of the people. The pantomime has been called the legitimate drama of Christmas. It came from Italy, but tradition carries it back to pagan times. During the Middle Ages, when music, architecture, painting and poetry found expression in a religious way, the Christmas celebrations were beautiful and dignified. Later the festival degenerated into a mere occasion for lawlessness. The Norwegians make much of the virtue of hospitality, the first courtesy among them being to offer a pipe of tobacco. At their Christmas dinner, which is rather simple, their national hymns are sung between the courses. In Sweden much attention is paid to cleanliness. The houses are completely renovated before the Christmas festival. An almost universal custom is that of tying a sheaf of corn to a pole, which is placed in the garden for the birds' Christmas dinner. Our Santa Claus originated in Holland, the Christmas stocking in Belgium or France, while "Merric Christmas" was the Old English Christmas greeting.

CONSTRUCTION OF NURSES HOME BEING CONSIDERED.

Owing to the lack of rooms for patients, the Directors of the Peninsula General Hospital took up the question of building a Nurses' Home, at a meeting held Friday last. A committee composed of Messrs. W. E. Jackson, W. B. Miller, W. E. Sheppard and M. V. Brewington was appointed to take the matter under consideration, in reference to plans and the probable cost of such a building. The nurses now occupy the third floor of the institution and it is the purpose of the Directors to use these rooms for patients, and erect a suitable home for the nurses on the Hospital lot. Miss Wise, the Superintendent, reports that during the summer the wards and rooms were full to overflowing, and that patients had to be turned away on account of the lack of rooms. The new building is to conform to the architecture of the Hospital building and will be large enough to accommodate twelve graduate and pupil nurses.

ATTACKED BY NEGROES

Sunday Morning. Mr. Elsha Wells Fired On Along Road Going Home.

Perhaps the most atrocious attempt at cold blooded murder in the criminal history of lower Sussex county, Delaware was perpetrated early Sunday morning when Mr. Elsha Wells, a farmer living near Delmar was fired upon by a gang of four negroes. Three shots were fired, one passing through the body of Mr. Wells, another clipping his ear, and the third passing through his overcoat. According to the story of Mr. Wells, he was driving toward his home and when near the residence of Mr. Joseph Hastings, he saw a team across the road, and heard voices. He called out asking to be allowed to pass and received the response that if he made an attempt to pass he would get his head blown off. He then got out of his buggy and started to lead his horse by the other carriage and when opposite the vehicle the negroes opened fire upon him. Wells dropped in his tracks and the negroes drove off. He was later brought to the Peninsula General Hospital where it was found that his wounds were not of a serious nature. He left the Hospital for home Sunday. Word of the shooting was at once sent to Salisbury and the authorities, not knowing at that time that the crime was committed in Delaware detailed officers Cronk and Disharoon and Deputy Sheriff Waller on the case. The officers soon found a clue which implicated John Handy and John Long, two Salisbury negroes, and James Slaughter and Jesse Gibson, of Camden, N. J., who were employed by contractor Sweeten, working here on the streets. The home of John Long was watched and on Monday morning about six o'clock just as the four negroes were coming out on their way to take the early train, they were arrested and brought to the Salisbury jail to await a hearing. They were held until Wednesday afternoon, and as the Delaware authorities had made no move in the matter up to that time they were then given a hearing before Justice of the Peace, Trader. As the deed was not committed in this State, they were arraigned on a writ charging them with carrying concealed weapons. Long was discharged, as there was not sufficient evidence to hold him. Handy was allowed to go under bail, and Gibson and Slaughter were held for the action of the Grand Jury. On Thursday afternoon, however, on a writ of habeas corpus, heard before Judge Holland they were released on bail the amount being fixed at twenty five dollars each.

CHRISTMAS BUYING

Can Be More Satisfactorily Done in Salisbury. Special Efforts Made To Please The Trade Evidenced In The Advertiser.

As usual during the Christmas holiday season, especially the two weeks before Christmas, the merchants are making a special effort to cater to the particular wants of the numerous shoppers. The show windows about town are filled with many suggestions in the way of useful and ornamental gifts and in the advertising columns of this paper may be found many more helps to Christmas buyers. The display of holiday goods as seen in the stores and show windows suggest useful gifts for father, mother, brother and sister, and last but not least, toys for the children. The jewelry stores are showing many articles that would prove of great value as Christmas gifts. Watches, clocks, necklaces, rings, diamonds, silverware, etc., that surely would be acceptable to a dear friend. Toilet articles are greatly appreciated by the gentler sex, and these useful articles may be found in abundance in the different stores. What presents would be more appreciated by grand-mother or father than a single piece of furniture, such as a Morris chair or comfortable rocker; or would not the gentlemen be pleased with a shaving stand? There is a generous display of such as these in the furniture stores. Fancy articles, so dear to the women folks, may be seen in all designs. A present of this sort is always acceptable and is ever appreciated. Perhaps the most complete line of toys and Christmas tree decorations ever seen in Salisbury is being displayed and as the yuletide season is the event of all the year for the little folks, and as it is the delight of the parents to make the little ones happy the dealers in these goods have left nothing undone, toward making their toy departments complete. A strip through toyland would prove a wonderful help to parents, and a parental selection would cause the children many happy hours during the winter months when they are obliged to remain in doors. The clothing stores are making an unusual display of desirable presents, neckwear in fancy gift boxes, dress suit protectors, initial handkerchiefs, etc. Umbrellas, suit cases and traveling bags are useful and may make a friend happy at a small cost. Surely, the display of holiday goods as shown this season has never been equaled but it is always advisable to make purchases early. The merchants in many cases have arranged to hold all goods intended for presents until Christmas Eve, when they will be delivered at the home of the person for whom they are intended.

Cupid At His Tricks—A Surprise.

That Dan Cupid is an adept in affairs of the heart was demonstrated Sunday evening when Mr. Ralph Murphy, a former employe of the News Office and Miss Gertrude Fields, daughter of Capt. James Fields were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Potts, at the parsonage of the Trinity M. E. Church, South. The marriage was the consummation of a brief but ardent courtship and came as a surprise to the friends of the young couple. After a wedding supper which was served at the home of Mrs. Wm. Brewington, Isabella Street, the bride and groom left on the midnight express for Philadelphia, where Mr. Murphy has secured a position with a large printing concern.

250,000 AUTOS IN USE

In The United States Also Immense Growth Of The Horseless Over The Roads.

Those who are fond of figures and who are in a position to obtain data declare that if the present rate of increase in the number of automobiles continues there will be at the close of next year something more than 300,000 of the horseless vehicles in use in the United States. At the present time it is claimed that there are more than 250,000 in use in this country, and as the demand for cars of every kind is fast increasing the 300,000 mark will easily be passed before the new year is out. New York State still leads in the number in use, having a little in excess of 75,123 registered and licensed. New Jersey is second with 35,507, Massachusetts third with 17,200 and Pennsylvania fourth with a registration of 13,800. The month previous to the earthquake in California there were 300 cars sold. The month of the earthquake there were 270 machines sold and only 37 were sold their machines. Very few automobiles were destroyed by the earthquake. Since the earthquake 1,797 cars have been registered, showing practically no falling off in the actual automobile business for the State. Delaware has 1,000; Maryland has 3,611; District of Columbia, 1,579; Virginia, 624.

Mr. W. H. Jackson To Equip Cambridge Hospital With Electric Plant.

The following letter from Judge Henry Lloyd was published in the Cambridge Record Wednesday, December 10, 1906.

Mr. Editor:—I have been informed, through a reliable source that it is the intention of the Hon. Wm. H. Jackson, if he lives 'till spring, to put a complete electric light plant in our hospital at his own expense. The proposed gift is in cost, saving, benefit and convenience to the hospital, is such a substantial and acceptable contribution to the institution, that, not only as an item of news, but as a means of publicly expressing to the donor the thanks of the management, indeed of the public generally, I send this item to your paper for publication. Henry Lloyd, President, Hospital Board.

—A call meeting for the King's Daughters will be held Tuesday afternoon, December 18th, at the home of Mrs. L. D. Collier. Members are urged to be present.

CHIN OF OUR YOUTH

WARNING TO WOMEN TO STUDY THEMSELVES IN THE GLASS.

Double Chin an Affliction to Which They Are Liable—Exercises to Overcome This—Evil Effect of Tight Bands About the Neck.

"Double chin used to be a mark of great elegance in the women of forty, but that was long ago. A double chin meant good living, it meant that the world had dealt well with you and yours.

"Now it is different. There are no women of forty. The single chin is the mark of youth.

"Eating, tight collars and heredity are the three causes of the double chin. Then there are other things which are just as deadly.

"The woman who reads all day with her book in her lap is sure to have one. The woman who holds her head stiff and straight is sure to develop a double chin. The woman who looks down when she walks invariably has one, and the woman who holds her head on one side is always the possessor of this blemish.

"Girls of fourteen, no matter how fat they are, have but one chin. The reason is this: A fourteen-year-old girl exercises her neck and throat.

"She makes motions this way and that way. Note the number of times she turns her head. See how she twists and moves; how she makes gestures and how her head constantly revolves as upon a pivot.

"There are certain women who never have a double chin. These are women who work in a gymnasium; who walk a great deal with the head lifted; who play golf.

"To get rid of my double chin I am going to begin with the Swedish cure. It is the stroking system.

"With my right hand I shall hit my superfluous chin six quick strokes early in the morning. This must be done before breakfast in front of an open window. Then I must stop, stand still, put my hands on my hips, and take six deep breaths, filling my lungs right down into their very depths.

"Then I shall stop and with my left hand deal my chin six quick blows, hard enough to make the tears come in my eyes. That ends the first lesson for the day.

"I perform the heavy strokes night and morning. It actually takes off a fraction of an ounce a day, and where the chin is concerned an ounce is a great deal.

"The next move is the lifting one. I lift my chin as high as I can, and I lower it as low as I can. This is the finest thing ever for taking the fat off your chin. I do it for five minutes night and morning, and sometimes I work in an extra five in the middle of the day.

"My third double chin stunt is one advocated by the English. It is walking. Walk with your head up and your collar loose.

Baby Carrying Device. Nearly all the civilized nations as well as the savage tribes have some characteristic manner of carrying the infant which is far superior to that which is generally followed in this country, namely, of embracing the child in such a manner that its weight falls principally on the hands and arms of the nurse or parent. The Japanese woman makes a sort of sling, which is thrown over the back and supported from the shoulders, and, with this bit of apparatus tiny children are to be seen in the streets of the Japanese towns, trudging along, but little hampered by the baby which they are carrying along on their backs. The Indian has the papoose. The women of some of the Oriental tribes relieve themselves of a great deal of work by teaching their infant to cling to the neck of the mother. There are endless ways of transporting the baby, but that of holding it in the arms is the most uncomfortable of all. Often it is positively painful.

An assistant for the nurse in the shape of a mechanical device to distribute the weight of the infant in arms is shown in the accompanying cut. This carrier, it will be seen, distributes the weight between the shoulder and the hip of the nurse, and in summer time has the advantage of being much more comfortable for the infant in that it is not distressed by the heat from the nurse's body.

Built Addition For Servants. In this day of apartment living it is sometimes a question where to accommodate the servant contingent. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, it is said, has solved the problem to her own satisfaction in her town apartment, by having an addition built for their servants. Occupying an apartment of eleven rooms, the family employs also servants.

King Of All Cough Medicines.

Mr. E. C. Case, G. A., a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. Service for about sixteen years says: "We have tried many cough medicines for cough, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is king of all and one to be relied upon every time. We also find it the best remedy for colds and colds, giving relief for once and for all."

SIMPLE WHITE HOUSE FARE.

By publishing an inaccurate report of the White House menu, the Washington Post has been able to get in the form of a correction from the President himself, a most interesting account of the Roosevelt family's daily meals. It follows, the true account interwoven with the fanciful one:

Instead of a breakfast consisting of oranges, cantaloupes, cereals, eggs, bacon, lamb chops, hot cakes and waffles, President Roosevelt insists that the regular White House breakfast consists of hard-boiled eggs, rolls and coffee.

Instead of a luncheon made of such delicious viands as little neck clams, chicken, fish, olives, celery, consommé of chicken, fish saute, eggs a la turque, spring lamb, new string beans, asparagus, mashed potatoes, lettuce, tomatoes, strawberries and ice cream, President Roosevelt declares that when alone he always contents himself with a bowl of bread and milk.

Families in towns and small cities would do well to cut out some of the items in the heavy midday meals, and imitate White House simplicity, even if the husband should be tempted not to come home at noon for his cold meat, tea and bread.

LANGUAGE IN IRISH SCHOOLS.

The new scheme for promoting the teaching of Irish in Ireland will hardly satisfy those enthusiasts who think to correct the worst evils in that country by gradual elimination of the English tongue. Under the new plan, the language of the primary schools. It was shown by the National Commissioners that in many districts Irish was an unknown tongue and that no precedent could be found for teaching a second language in elementary schools, a declaration which manifestly enraged the Gaelic League and, according to Dr. Hyde, provoked the animosity and execration of three-fourths of the Irish people. The new scheme provides only about half the sum provided under the old scheme of fees; but, however, it is said to more efficacious and much less wasteful.

THE WEST POINT STUDENT.

It takes a strong man, a man who is a good deal of a man, as well as a soldier, to exercise successful control over the rampant young Americans who are students at the West Point Military Academy, says the New York Sun. The length of General Miller's term as superintendent there bears testimony to the kind of man he is, as well as does the fact that that term has not been marred by evidence of his inability to exercise control over the embryo officers of the army. In the early years of his administration he had trouble enough with the vicious system of hazing which was a matter of immemorial tradition at the Academy, but the fact that the kind of hazing that used to be in vogue has been practically stamped out owes more, perhaps, to General Miller's tactful but firm policies than to the army and Congressional inquiries and their issues in the way of orders and legislation.

BLUE EYES IN TURKISTAN.

Professor Gruenewald, chief of a Prussian exploring expedition in Chinese Turkestan, has discovered in the Cave of the Temples, at Kuntura, in that far country, evidences that the land was anciently inhabited by a race with red hair and blue eyes, and that the temples themselves, which are prehistoric, were erected by a people of that description. Moreover, there are white "freaks" among every dark-skinned people. There is a tribe of perfectly white Indians on the Upper Amazon, and another in Mexico. There is a tribe of white Filipinos, absolutely savage, living in the interior of Luzon, and even a tribe of negroes in Central Africa who are certainly white in comparison with their neighbors. It may indeed be true that our whole race is but a perpetuated "sport," like wheat and the other grains, which are but cultivated grasses, liable to listen to the call of the wild under wild conditions.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs. The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kimmel's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kimmel's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonder-cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle mailed free by mail from the publisher, Dr. Kimmel's Swamp-Root, 101 South Second Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Write for it today.

ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE—SCIENTIFIC—STRONG

The Reasons:

1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.

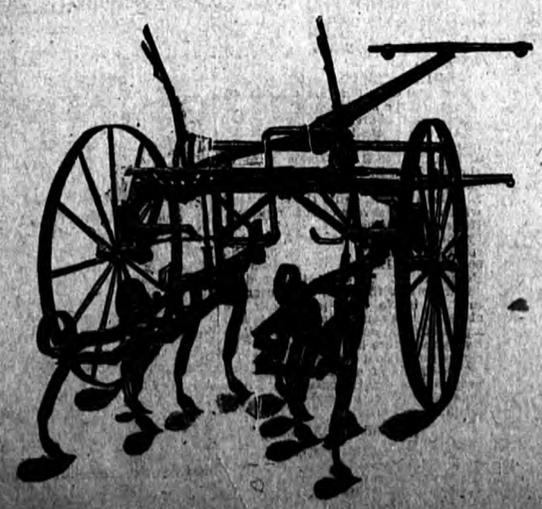

2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot untie it without breaking, it is so much weakened.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—

Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

The only way to do business is to let the public know you are in business. You cannot sell the goods you have, if no one knows you have them for sale. Markets are not the results of chance or accident. They are made by persistent, energetic work. The best goods in the wide, wide world will have but little sale if the prospective buyers are not made aware of their merits. They will not ask. You must tell them.

Don't scoff at the souvenir post card craze. It has been given the endorsement and hearty approval of Postmaster General Cortelyou and as a matter of fact it furnishes the government with a most profitable form of mail matter. In order to keep the profitable fad from dying out the postal service has issued an order providing that all such cards may bear written messages on the front, the right half of the card being reserved for the address and with sufficient postage they will be transmitted under the post card rates to foreign countries. The order goes into effect March 1st, 1907, and the post cards will be treated alike in both domestic and international mail.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Best You Ever Bought.

Mr. Samuel P. Woodcock, Real Estate Broker, reports the sale this week to J. Wm. Freany, of Delmar, part of the Col. Wm. J. Leonard land, belonging to Miss Mary Leonard. The tract sold contains nearly 400 acres and the purchase price was in round numbers, $12,000. This land is situated about two and a half miles north of Salisbury on the road to Delmar.

The obstructions on Main Street were removed Wednesday morning by contractor Sweeten & Co, and this important thoroughfare was thrown open to the public. The paving of the business section of the town is now completed and country people can once more drive up to the business places on Main Street. A large force of men are now at work on Church Street and the work will soon be completed if the weather permits.

Considerable excitement was caused in the Baptist Church at Cambridge, Sunday when Robert Hearn and his son, William, publicly denounced the pastor, Rev. Oscar Lee Owens. A letter was read recommending an increase in Mr. Owens' salary. During the discussion which followed, Mr. Robert Hearn used language reflecting upon the good name of the pastor and his words aroused the indignation of the entire congregation. Mr. Owens is serving his second year and there is much sympathy for him among the members of the church.

Forest Service Circular, No. 43, of the Department of Agriculture, states that the steam and electric railways in 1905 bought 91,600,000 cross-ties, of which number about 18 1/2 per cent were for new track, the rest for renewals. Oak ties were one third of the number used, and one fifth were of pine, cedar, chestnut, red fir, cypress, tamarack, hemlock, etc., were used in less quantities. Wooden ties are becoming scarce and expensive. About 10 per cent of the number used are now treated for prevention of decay. Steel ties are beginning to be used.

This Is The Time Of The Year We Measure Our Friends In $$ And Cents. This is the time of the year when we sit down and figure over to see how much money we can rake and scrape together, how much of it we owe, how much of it we must pay, how much we can borrow and how elastic our credit is. It's the time when everybody is wondering what to give everybody else and also wondering what everybody else is going to give them. Lacy Thoroughgood wants to tell a thing or two. I simply want to post you on what a few people will get so that you won't go and get the same things—but suppose you did happen to give a man or boy a necktie, a pair of gloves, a pair of suspenders, a new hat, a half dozen pair of hose, a muffler, a white vest, a few linen collars, a new cap, a suit of pajamas or a smoking coat, pair of hose supporters, arm bands, a new sweater, a pair of cuff buttons, a new overcoat, a rain coat, a new suit of clothes, would it make any difference if somebody else gave them the same thing. Why no. No man ever had enough ties or handkerchiefs, few men have enough gloves on hand and no man ever had umbrellas enough to last six months, if he had friends. Lacy Thoroughgood has two stores and has made extra preparations for everybody to get just what they want in the way of wearing apparel. There are no two stores anywhere that sell better goods than you can find right at James Thoroughgood's and Lacy Thoroughgoods. We have men and boys neckties from all parts of our fair land, our glass ones are loaded with Christmas Neckwear and Mufflers. Almost every coloring and design is here that the mind of man can think of or the taste of woman could desire. A little less than a carload of neckties arrived yesterday for Thoroughgood's holiday trade. Wonderful lines, ladies, of correct things to present gentlemen this year and you don't have to make a noise like a bank to get them, prices are not high. Suggestions here cost nothing, presents but little. Two Stores. Lacy Thoroughgood SALISBURY, MD. James Thoroughgood.

Get All You Can For Your Money. It's your duty to do that, and it is a principle that we will always uphold. BUT—Spend that money as near your own home as you can; that is when there is nothing to be gained by going farther. We don't know how it may be in other goods, but when it comes to Jewelry we are right up alongside the best. It is shown in this country. To ignore our stock in favor of other, maybe hundreds of miles away, is to do us an injustice and it does not give yourself the advantage of the right sort of an examination before you buy. In Jewelry you can't get your money any farther than by leaving it with us. Respectfully G. M. FISHER, The New Jeweler Salisbury, Md.

Do Your Eyes Or Head Ache? The trouble is almost always caused by defective eyesight. Always consult an Eye Specialist when your eyes tire and you cannot continue for any length of time to read small objects, when the eyes smart or water, when the eyelids get inflamed often, or when you have pain in the eyeball, orbit, temples or forehead. I correct all optical defects. HAROLD N. FITCH, Eye Specialist, P. O. Box "F," 129 Main St., Salisbury, Md. Office hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Special appointments made by phone 774. What Does It Mean to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policy-holders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the

THE HOLY SEPULCHRE.

Dec. 16, '06—(Matt. 28:1-15.)

The darkest day this world ever saw was that Friday, when the sun in heaven refused to look upon the crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth, and a horror of supernatural gloom overspread the earth. But the brightest day that ever dawned upon this planet began the following Sunday morning, when the Mighty Victor arose in triumph from the broken tomb in the Garden.

Do not waste valuable time attempting to prove the resurrection. You might as well occupy your ingenuity in proving that the sun shines, that water flows, that birds sing, that the seasons come and go. It would be possible perhaps to find skeptics who doubt that the Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock, but it is easy to see that such unbelievers must explain how the eighty millions of people of this country were deluded into the belief that they did land, and how it happens that traces of such an origin are found in our Constitution, in our religious and educational institutions, and in our annual festival—Thanksgiving. So he who doubts the resurrection of Jesus Christ must explain how more than 100 million of the noblest, most intelligent people were made to believe that He rose, and account for the origin of the strongest, purest and best civilization on the face of the earth. That will give scepticism a cud to chew on for quite an extended period.

Let us all avoid the error of the weeping women on the morning of resurrection day of seeking the living among the dead. We spend too much of our time going backward when we should be going forward, standing at the stern of the boat, watching our luminous track, instead of in the pilot house steering our craft into unknown seas. There are thousands of preachers who are fixing the eyes of their flocks upon the historic Christ, instead of inspiring them with the desire to go out and find Him in the person of His disciples, who need a cup of cold water.

That church which hugs to her heart a Holy Sepulchre, which persists in obsolete ceremonies and efforts at the stern of the boat, will have little influence upon the world of to-day. If Christ is anything at all He is a leader into the boundless future, not the custodian of ancient relics. The most abundant and glorious heritage of the church is in the present and the future, all new and good ideas, all novel but sacred impulses, all healthy civilizations are hers, a part of her unsearchable riches. The tomb is empty, never to be occupied again. Let it go. It needs no adornment of flowers, no decorations, no repairs, no lavish expenditure of affection. Christ, once out of, never went back to shed sentimental tears over the place where He rested for three days.

If you want to find Christ these days, look for him in orphan asylums, and homes for the unfortunate; see him accompanying the Red Cross nurses across bloody battlefields, binding up the wounds of friend and foe alike; find him in halls of legislation, inspiring enactments in behalf of the laborers and all who are oppressed; behold him knocking off the shackles of superstition from the nations who for ages have sat in the valley of the shadow of death. Christ is not in the cradle, neither is He on the cross, nor in the grave. There is no man living on this planet to-day, in any country under the sun, who is so much alive, who so persistently thrusts himself into society, law, politics, education, religion as He does. There are a multitude of things that could have been done once, that cannot be done now simply because Christ is alive. He has to be reckoned with. Men can sneer or snarl, blubber or blaspheme, vote or not vote, the thing fails, simply because Christ is alive. They tried to stop Him by killing Him. Then they tried to stop Him, by killing his disciples. But they failed both times.

"Thou fool," he said "that which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die." No seed ever went into the earth saying "Let me die, and be forgotten." The seed says, "Put me where you will, only connect me with the ministry of nature, and I will come back to you, and will do it a thousand-fold. Bury me that I may live." So when Christ broke out of that rock-hewn sepulchre in the garden, he filled the whole earth with his presence. He was gone from the tomb, but not destroyed. Into each century, he comes in a new form, but alive in all of them. There are people who would rather have a dead Christ in their own sect and ritual than a living Savior outside their own approved boundaries. At the very moment that Mary was complaining that they had taken away her Lord the Lord Himself was looking at her. Oh, dry up your tears, ye mourners, look for Christ in the church, in the school, in the library, in the law-courts, in the ruler's palace, in the poor man's house, on "Change, in halls of legislation. You may not know him at first, any more than weeping Mary did; but if you watch carefully you will, sooner or later, discover that the resurrection is an accomplished fact.

Planting in Matted Rows.

In order to maintain a belt of plants 12 to 15 inches wide, and still have a space between the belts for cultivation and the other operations necessary to the successful management of a plantation, the rows at planting time should be much farther apart than is necessary with the hill system. A common practice is to set the plants in single rows 4 feet apart, with the plants 12 inches apart in the row. The runners which develop from these plants are then allowed to take possession of the area for 6 or 8 inches on either side of the original plants, thus making a matted row 12 to 15 inches wide; the leaves 30 inches between the rows, which allows ample space for cultivation and gathering the fruit. This space can be reduced from 30 inches to as little as 18 inches where land is valuable and it is necessary to secure maximum returns; on this soil, however, the greater distance is most satisfactory. There is one advantage in the narrow cultivated space. After the second crop has been harvested the runners can be allowed to take possession of the cultivated middle, and when the young plant become thoroughly established the original rows can be broken up with a narrow turning plow or a sharp cultivator.

Wood ashes and charcoal, or burnt corn cobs are good bone builders for pigs, and fed with corn and bran makes strong bones and straight strong pig legs.

OUR WIDE AWAKE STUDENT.

Of all the students in the world the American shows the greatest energy and enthusiasm. This is due to the fact that American universities have had no courses corresponding to the exhausting Cambridge trip. The American student, therefore, keeps his freshness and enthusiasm while the Englishman is intellectually tired.—Prof. Thomas at Cambridge University.

Is "intellectual tiredness" the cause of what is known as the Oxford manner, the Oxford lisp and the Oxford lack of robustness?

WHAT WIRELESS MAY DO.

After it developed that wireless wire-tapping had added a new terror to the ocean voyages of those who could no longer get a complete rest at sea since the invention of wireless telegraphy, there is all the more reason for wishing that success may crown the efforts of the steamship companies to drive sharpers off the liners.

Government mortality report says fewer of us are dying nowadays of phthisis and more of heart disease. It's easier to spell.

Care For Sore Throats.

As soon as the child is done nursing apply Chamberlain's Salve. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the child to nurse. Many sore throats are cured with the best results. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. L. Dickerson and G. Heare.

MAIN STREET - - - SALISBURY, MD. - - - CHURCH STREET

Monstrous By The Automobile.
A cry of alarm comes from the country church concerning the automobile. For years an uphill proposition, the rural parish declares its fortune to be far worse than ever before. Through New England, and in some parts of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine, and in all parts of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia, and in the Middle West in the vicinity of the large cities, are reporting to their denominational headquarters the well nigh ruin of their work. Their troubles are due to the automobile entirely, they say, and in hundreds of cases they say that ruin of their life work and the end of their congregations are practically certain to be the outcome.

Another paper has the following to offer:
"In one of the Hudson river counties, not far from New York City, is a cluster of what were until recently prosperous churches. The State of New York has improved its country roads, and is about to spend several million of dollars to improve them more. There is a general cry that rural roads are bad. The automobile is prosperous and prominent and his voice is heard. Around Albany it is said there are the worst roads in the West, and millions are to be expended on them. The pastor of rural churches referred to is typical of many others. On the improved roads on Sundays are unnumbered automobiles. People who have been accustomed to drive to church, and put their horses under sheds, do not dare to do so now. Their horses are frightened by automobiles, a condition the owners of which take little care to avoid. The fact that the country people do not find service, unless near enough to walk. As few are, the churches are going to ruin. What is true of clusters is true of thousands. Over improved roads have come, in many localities where they do not come.

Old Age.
Old age as it comes in the orderly process of Nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. The very shadow of wrinkles which threatens it, makes it the more prized. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom and counsel. That is old age as it should be. But old age as it so often is, means nothing but a second childhood of mind and body. What makes the difference? Very largely the care of the stomach: In youth and the full strength of manhood it doesn't seem to matter how we treat the stomach. We abuse it, overwork it, injure it. We don't suffer from it much. But when comes the stomach is worn out. It can't prepare and distribute the needed nourishment to the body, and the body, unenriched, falls into senile decay. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful medicine for old people whose stomachs are "weak" and whose digestions are "poor". Its invigorating effects are felt by mind as well as body. It takes the sting from old age, and makes old people strong.

QUANTICO
Thanksgiving was enjoyed by the young people in and about town.
Miss Sallie Turpin, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Leslie Langdale.
Miss May Hill, of Salisbury, has taken the place of Miss Kate Darby as assistant teacher in the Quantico Grammar School. Miss Darby made many friends while here.

Mrs. Henry Brille, of Wilmington, is spending some time with her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Allison Gordy.
Mrs. A. L. Jones spent last week in Baltimore.
Miss Lulu Hearn is visiting relatives in Baltimore.
Dr. S. Howard Lynch spent Thanksgiving with his parents near Laurel, Delaware.
Mr. Thomas Turpin, formerly a resident of Quantico, died some time ago, at his late home in Salisbury. He will be sadly missed by his many friends here especially in the Episcopal Church of which he was a member. He was a man of honor and it can truly be said was just in all his dealings.

Mr. Daniel M. Collier spent last Saturday and Sunday with his sister in Laurel, Delaware.
There will be services in St. Philip's P. E. Church next Sunday evening, December 14.
Fowl are being shipped from this section and porkers are being killed in large numbers.
Messrs. Paul Robinson and Merrill Gravenor were in our town last Sunday.

MARDELA.
Mr. George N. Ultra, of Wipona, Md., registered at the Mardela Springs Hotel Tuesday.
Our bustling and energetic Hotel proprietor, Mr. Austin has erected a brilliant light in front of the Mardela Springs Hotel. This part of the town has in the past been in darkness. It is a great improvement.

Quite a large number of our people went to Salisbury on a shopping tour Saturday last.
Rev. Mr. Louis Bennett arrived on the morning train from Snow Hill, Md., Wednesday.
Rev. B. G. Parker will on Sunday night preach in the old Presbyterian Church of Mardela Springs.

Miss Mary A. Calloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Calloway our leading merchant and Mr. Rome Elliott, a prominent young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Elliott were united in holy matrimony here Wednesday morning by Rev. E. P. Perry at the M. P. Church. The bride was arrayed in blue silk. The reception was held at the groom's home. They will reside at Mardela Springs.

HEBRON.
An enjoyable party was given at the home of the Misses Truitt Saturday evening.
A play entitled "For Love or Money" will be rendered here in the evening of December 28th. Proceeds for the benefit of the Junior League.

Mrs. Clara Giles of Quantico is visiting relatives in this place.
Mr. W. Phillips and G. C. Rhoads are on a trip South.
Mr. T. L. Ruark of Salisbury made a visit to this place on Sunday last.

Mr. Charlie Elliot of near Mardela is expecting to move his family to this place next week.
Mr. C. Taylor of Jasons was here a portion of last week.

Invitations are out to the wedding of Miss Willie Belle Showard to Mr. W. A. C. Oliphant, Wednesday Dec. 19th at the M. E. Church 7.30 P. M.
We are sorry to report Mr. G. M. Phillip no better.

WILLARDS.
There will be an entertainment held at Quakason School house Friday and Saturday evenings, December 21st and 22nd. Two plays, Betsy Baker and Affection of the Heart will be tendered. Also dialogues, recitations, tableaux, etc. Admission, adults 10 cents. Children, 5 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of the school. Everybody welcome.

UNION.
There will be Sunday School at Union M. P. Church Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock preaching at 7.30 in the evening.
Mr. Fredie Brown has returned home from Philadelphia this week.

The children of this place are preparing for a Christmas entertainment.
Misses Grace Farlow, Alice Toadvine, Lena Toadvine, Mr. Moody Brown and Larry Toadvine visited Mr. A. P. Toadvine's last Sunday evening.

On Sunday last Rev. W. E. Elliott received seven more members on probation, making 21 this season. We pray that the good work may continue.
Mak' holly wreaths and hog killing are about to a close. Some are in grass, most up to their nose.

Mrs. Godfrey, daughter of B. P. Livingston celebrated her birthday Friday of last week, with a number of friends present and a quilting for occupation. To make the day a lively one the wind was raging. It blew so hard some were afraid to venture out and some were so nearly blown to pieces that they were afraid to start home and waited for some one to come and get them.

Extraordinary Growth Of Rural Delivery Service.

The annual report of Fourth Assistant Post Master DeGraw, shows a wonderful growth of the Rural Delivery. There are at present 35,666 routes in operation and it costs the Government $24,785,266 to operate them. In 1897 the report shows 88 routes in operation at a cost of $14,840. The number of carriers removed for cause during the year was 167. Of this number twenty five were removed for embezzlement and twenty five for the violations of the postal laws and regulations. In his report Mr. DeGraw recommends that the maximum salary of rural carriers be increased so that they may be paid not exceeding $900 per annum.

Miss Elizabeth Aikman Dead.
Miss Elizabeth Aikman, who died at the home of her brother, Mr. Alex. Aikman, was found dead in her bed Sunday morning. Miss Aikman had an attack of acute indigestion Saturday, but did not think her condition serious, and when her brother and sister called her Sunday morning they found her cold in death. She is survived by two brothers, Alex. and Wesley B. Aikman, and her sister, Sarah Jane. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

DAIRY AND CREAMERY

SWISS CHEESE PRODUCTION.

Becoming an Important Factor in the United States.

The manufacture of Swiss cheese is rapidly growing in the United States, and has already become an important factor in regions where special attention is given to cheese making, as in Wisconsin. The industry is handicapped, however, more or less by serious losses due to abnormal fermentation. These are, as a rule, a consequence of careless methods, and result in defective cheese.

In a bulletin of the Wisconsin Station H. L. Russell report the results of a study of the causes of an outbreak of gassy fermentation of an unusual nature in Swiss cheese, which was the cause of serious loss in a factory in that State, due to the defective cheese produced.

The defective condition referred to does not appear while the milk is being worked up into cheese, nor immediately after they are taken from the press. The first abnormal condition is generally noted in the brine tank. When placed therein the cheese does not seem to absorb salt in the usual way, this condition doubtless being due to the absence of those normal ripening changes which are associated with the breaking down of the casein. The first most evident symptom of trouble usually appears when the cheese have been on the shelves for a week or so. The edge of the cheese cracks or opens, generally near the junction of the top or bottom and the side. This split continues to increase in length, running around the circumference of the cheese, and in severe cases the interior of the curd may be forced out through this crack.

This is of course due to the pressure of gas within the cheese. Relief from this pressure occurs at this point because resistance is less here than elsewhere. Sometimes the cheese "huff" without splitting in this way, but generally they do not show marked evidence from the outside. Usually the cheese have a poor texture, remain tough and rubbery, even when of considerable age. When a plug is drawn or the cheese is cut, the gaseous fermentation is usually very evident. The texture shows abundant gas holes of varying size. These are always more numerous than are to be found in a normal No. 1 Swiss. Sometimes cheese are found that split open on the edge and still show a solid body. In all cases, however, the flavor is decidedly off, a disagreeable sweet taste being observed. The affected cheese are also usually off in color. Very gassy cheese are badly bleached. Neither do the cheese seem to have the usual degree of acidity.

Investigation showed that the abnormal fermentation was due to the presence of yeast cells which in some unknown way had gained access to the milk and had passed into the cheese.

The trouble appears to be largely due to the factory methods and especially to the way the whey is handled. Where the whey is held for twenty-four hours to allow it to sour, so as to permit the butter fat to be more thoroughly skimmed, yeast organisms of this type are almost sure to develop in greater or less numbers. If the butter fat left in the whey after the curd is taken out could be removed immediately or within a short time, no such development as this could take place. Such can be done by immediate separation of the whey in a cream separator. The quality of the whey is enough better and the quantity secured enough larger to warrant the installation of machinery which will do this work. Of course, the installation of steam to furnish power could not economically be made in the smaller factories, but such a course would doubtless prove advantageous in the long run in the factories where a larger amount of milk is handled. The present custom of souring the whey is not nearly as satisfactory from this point of view as the now pretty generally discarded method of scalding the whey to get the butter fat.

The practice of soaking whole rennets in whey without boiling or heating the latter is condemned. The use of commercial rennet extracts is considered preferable. If whole rennets are employed, heated whey should be used, and particular care should be given to the rennet jars, which should receive a thorough sterilization at frequent intervals.

Catching Cattle in Australia. On many big runs in the western part of Queensland, Australia, vast herds of wild and unbranded cattle run on the divisional ranges. In such cases men go out and camp among the mountains and attempts are made to drive them from their fastnesses. When success attends the venture, the young stock are brought into the home paddock, but the old cattle are shot down wherever sighted. The men are armed with Winchester, Colt revolver and sheath knives. Big cattle are often hand-thrown on horseback. The stockman catches the tail and with a sudden twist throws the animal. He then jumps off quickly and lies flat before it has time to recover from the shock of the bustle.

Indiana has now a complete true rural mail service, being the first State in the Union to secure that distinction.

MILES OF TIN STREETS.

Peculiar Architecture of the Kaffir Quarter of Johannesburg.

After struggling for half an hour through pungent brickfields of arid clay, cracked by the heat of the sun into a thousand fissures, dodging shunting trains and snorting engines on a massy goods siding, the inquisitive visitor to Johannesburg finds himself on the outskirts of "Tin Town."

Topographically, the district is Yvededorp; technically, it is the "expropriation area"; actually, it is the Kaffir quarter of the "Golden City." Here the black man foregoes with his wife and family, says the London Express, "Tin Town" is more than a mile in length and three-quarters of a mile in breadth. It is laid out with great regularity on the American block system.

The streets are unpaved, and the attempts at the construction of sidewalks are pitiful in their primitiveness. The roadways of red earth—dotted with crawling Kaffir babies—are marred by unpleasant undulations and hollows filled with stagnant rain water, near which myriads of pugnacious mosquitoes are forever buzzing.

The crowning feature of "Tin Town" is its architecture. Never were houses more strangely built nor the weird structures of night-mareland more accurately realized.

The principal materials from which this great living area has been constructed are petroleum tins, the tin or zinc linings of imported packing cases and large quantities of the lead used in the tea trade. From these limited means, with battens of wood for use as framework, are constructed dwelling places very similar to that made by Peter Pan and his youthful crew for the protection of Wendy.

Every man is his own architect and builder, and the work of erecting these twelve or fourteen feet high sties is simplicity itself. First the ground is marked out, generally exactly square, and at each of the four corners a sturdy stake, some ten feet in height, is driven in. These are strengthened and supported by cross pieces. Then the architect, his wife and eldest children wander abroad in search of tin.

In the colonies one seldom sees petroleum in a cask. It is generally sold in two, four or six gallon tins. The consumer purchases a specially manufactured pump and draws off the oil as he needs it. As the tins are not returnable, they are pressed into all sorts of strange services. Filled with earth they are used for building walls; painted green they are turned into flower boxes; they are in common use as pails, drinking troughs for cattle, boilers, cooking utensils, besides a thousand and one other familiar objects. Yet, despite this accommodativeness, many find their way to the rubbish heaps, and are eagerly pounced upon by the "homing" Kaffir.

The tins are cut open, hammered flat and nailed to the upright battens. In a couple of hours—given a sufficient supply of material—the citadel walls are complete, and this sound box of a house only requires the corrugated iron roof and a tin chimney—or, rather, smoke outlet—to finish it. The luxury of fire grates is unknown. The fire may be lighted anywhere, and the dense volumes of smoke are expected to ascend skyward in the manner provided.

Those of the 80,000 Kaffirs in "Joburg" who do not dwell in mining compounds reside, in one of the several miles of "Tin Town" streets. Seen from a distance in the strong glare of the African sun the bizarre collection of human dwellings looks like some enchanted dream city. The tin walls reflect back the sun's rays like walls of silver, and even the dull roofs of corrugated iron are transmuted into something "mythic, wonderful" by the philosopher's stone of the sun. At close quarters the scales fall from the eyes, and the awakening is rude indeed.

The Kaffir multiples prolifically, and these unsavory roads are always filled with their naked, copper skinned offspring. They crawl about the ant infested roadway and paddle or founder in the hollows of foul smelling water with evident enjoyment. They are plump little mites, these children. They are much more precocious and develop more rapidly than European infants, and they certainly take life much more good humoredly.

The male population of "Tin Town" does not arrive home until evening, but always before 9 o'clock, for by the law of "Joburg" no black, save those in charge of rickshaws, is allowed on the streets after this hour.

Then he can lope up against his tin walls—making them crackle and rattle like concentrated thunder—and smoke his clay pipe, while he discusses his short, but sedulous duty to freedom.

Banana Culture in Mexico.

The Mexican Government is seeking to develop the cultivation of bananas in that country. For several years experiments are said to have been successful, and it is intended to start two establishments on the Gulf coast in Mexico for the purpose of converting the bananas into a flour, and of shipping the product to the United States. As the flour is exceedingly nutritious it is anticipated that there will be no lack of demand for it.

Valenciennes lace is still made in Flanders, but this valuable industry has entirely died out in the town whose name it bears.

An Interrupted Meeting

"George," said Mrs. Merrill, "it's a year since Claire came to live with us. When I think that Eric Fenner is coming here to-night and that he will take her away from us forever so soon I feel positively jealous of him."

"I do myself," was the sympathetic answer. "I'm quite curious to see their morning that mite as she wren Eric she almost dreads his coming. A year is so long, you know, and it has come to seem the natural thing to have Eric's letters instead of Eric himself. I understand exactly how she feels."

"I don't," said Merrill, bluntly. "I thought she knew her own mind." "Oh, it isn't that! Men are so obtuse! Why, it's just like the Raymond baby. Bob Raymond has been in the Philippines a year, and the baby has been talking about her papa in Manila ever since; but now that Bob has come back she doesn't quite know him. They told me that when Bob came into the room where she was playing with a pencil and paper yesterday she looked up and said, 'Do 'way man! I'm with' a letter to my papa in Nila.'"

"H'm!" Merrill's tone was resentful. "For Fenner's sake, I hope Claire won't say anything like that to him. I know how he's going to feel when he gets here. Remember how it was when I came back to our wedding after a ten months' separation?"

"Do it!" She laughed gleefully. "Didn't you fancy? Why, you weren't even as bashful with me at the train, and you kissed Cousin Bertha, though you'd never seen her before. You were what Ted would call 'fused to death!'"

"Nonsense! I did 100 per cent better than young Fenner will when we meet him at the train to-night." "Don't flatter yourself! You have never seen Eric Fenner yet. He's a perfect prince of self-possession. I never saw the situation he wasn't master of. You'll see."

"Yes, I'll see," agreed Merrill, with a sudden and special gleam in his eyes.

The gleam was still there that evening when he stepped forward to greet an expectant-looking young man who was just descending from the overland train.

"Mr. Fenner, isn't it?" Merrill began, volubly. "Glad to welcome you. My wife, Mrs. Merrill, Fenner; I fancy you don't need an introduction to Miss Claire. Baggage all attended to? Good. We've just time to make our car. If you'll look after my wife, Miss Claire and I will lead the way."

The dazed young man, who had been dreaming all across the Continent in regard to Fenner's law practice in San Francisco. There and with no such questions. Merrill's wife stared and fidgeted. Claire's blue eyes were wide and surprised. But on went the questions.

Then, abruptly, as Fenner was still wearily answering endless questions, his host broke in with: "But what are we thinking of? You're tired out, of course! No, don't say a word! I know what that hot, dusty overland trip is, and especially when the train's as late as yours was. Here"—pulling out his watch—"it's 11 o'clock. I'll think for you to do to get into the bath that's waiting for you upstairs, and then turn in straight! Plenty of time for visiting to-morrow. Come along with me and I'll show you the ropes of the house. We'll say good night to the ladies, right here and now. They'll excuse us. Oh, yes, they will. This way, Fenner."

Still joyfully prattling, he led his spellbound victim up the stairs to the guest room, where, after a few civilities, he shut him safely in.

Down the hall he came then, grinning with satisfaction. But at the door of his wife's bedroom he met a reproachful face.

"What do you mean?" she demanded. "Do you mean any human feeling at all? Weren't you ever young yourself? Claire's too proud to let me see how she feels, but I know! She's gone to her room."

"Very good! So has the prince of self-possession," Merrill spoke airily. "But I'll bet 10 cents he's wondering, now, why he wasn't master of the situation enough to get a few minutes alone with his girl before I shoved him into that bath."

"George Merrill, you're wicked! Claire will cry all night!" "She'll appreciate Fenner all the more. I don't believe she'll be half as likely to say 'Do 'way man!' to Fenner to-morrow morning. 'Oh, I haven't been a bit selfish in this. I've been looking out a bit for Fenner's interests.'"

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE

Town Property

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, passed in the case of Philip W. Wingate, et al., vs. George W. Wingate, et al., civil No. 1638 Chancery in the said Court, the undersigned will sell at public auction at the Court House door, at Salisbury, Maryland, on Saturday, December 29th, 1906 at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. all the following property:

FIRST: All that valuable house and lot, situate in Parsons Election District, in Wicomico County, Maryland, in the town of Salisbury, beginning at the point of intersection of the southeast side of Baker Street with the southwest side of Barclay Street; thence in a southwesterly direction by and with the said side of the said Baker Street, forty six feet; thence in a southeasterly direction in a line parallel with the south west side of Barclay Street, to the line of the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence by and with the line of the land of the said company, to the south west side of Barclay Street; thence by and with the same ninety six feet to the place of the beginning. This property is improved by a good substantial dwelling house and out-buildings, and is a fine opportunity to secure a home already completed.

SECOND: All that vacant lot of ground adjoining the above mentioned lot, in the said town, district, County and State, beginning for the same at a stub on the south east side of the said Baker Street at the end of the first line of the above mentioned lot; thence by and with the said side of the said Baker Street in a southerly direction forty one feet to a stub; thence in a southerly direction in a line parallel with the said Barclay Street to the line of the land of the aforesaid Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the same to the second line of the above mentioned lot; thence by and with the said second line reversed by the place of the beginning.

THIRD: All that vacant lot adjoining the last described lot beginning at the end of the first line thereof on the said side of the said Baker Street; thence in a southerly direction, by and with the said side of the said Baker Street, forty one feet to the line of the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a south easterly direction by and with the same to the line of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company to the second line of the second lot above described; thence by and with the same reversed to the place of the beginning.

The last mentioned lots are well located and offer admirable sites for building lots and should command a good price.

All the above land is the same which was conveyed to Lurania O. Hudson by Stephen B. Hudson, et al., by deed dated April 5th, 1884, and recorded in Liber S. P. T. No. 6, Folio 363, and which has been subdivided into the three parcels as above.

They will first be offered separately and then as a whole, with the understanding that if the bids for the same as a whole exceeds the aggregate of the separate bids, the bid for the whole will be accepted; but if the aggregate of the separate bids equal to or exceeds the bids for the same as a whole, then the separate bids will be accepted.

FOURTH: All that valuable store house and dwelling house and lot, situate on the north side of and binding on East Church Street, bounded on the east by the lot of Henry Barnes bounded on the north by the property of Mrs. Willie R. Records, wife of the late John B. Records; and bounded on the south and southwest by East Elizabeth Street, being the same land which was conveyed to Lurania O. Hudson by Stephen B. Hudson, et al., by deed dated Nov. 23, 1887, and recorded in Liber F. M. S. No. 3, Folio 30; and to Lurania O. Hudson by Benjamin F. Ward, et al., by deed dated April 28th, 1890, and recorded in F. M. S. No. 4, Folio 55, both the above parcels comprising one lot, and a part of it is now occupied by John Evans as a store house and a part by Henry Smith as a dwelling house.

The above is a valuable piece of property, is well improved by buildings in good repair and must command a good price.

TERMS OF SALE.

25 per cent cash on day of sale; balance to be secured by note of purchaser with approved security, payable in equal installments of six and twelve months, respectively. Title Papers at the expense of purchaser.

H. B. FRENEY, Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE AND TIMBER.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Md., passed on the third day of December, 1906, in a cause pending therein, being No. 1614, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale in front of the Court House in Salisbury, on

at 10 o'clock A. M. All that tract of land and timber at Pittsville, Wicomico County, Maryland, on the north side of the B. O. and A. Railway, containing seventy five acres of land more or less, it being the same land that was devised by the last will and testament of Elias Fooks to Julia T. Marshall, and mentioned in the proceedings. The Trustee will offer this property first in parcels as follows:

FIRST: All that small parcel of land being bounded on the north east by the county road and on the south by the B. O. and A. R. Y., containing one quarter acre. SECOND: All the growing timber on the remaining land, with the right to the purchaser to cut and remove the same within two years from the ratification by the Court of the sale. THIRD: All the remaining land, subject to the right of the purchaser of the timber to enter thereon and remove the timber under his purchase. The trustee reserves the right to then offer the whole property as an entirety; and if the same brings a higher price than the aggregate amount offered in parcels, then the parcel sales will be rejected and the sale as an entirety accepted and reported to the Court. Title papers at expense of purchaser.

TERMS OF SALE. One third of purchase money will be required in cash on day of sale and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months, the deferred payments to be secured by the bond of purchaser with sureties to be approved by trustee and to bear interest from time of sale, or all cash at option of purchaser. No timber to be cut or removed until the whole purchase money therefore is paid.

CHARLES O. MELVIN, Trustee.

Road Examiners Notice.

The undersigned having been appointed and commissioned by the County Commissioners of Wicomico County, Maryland, to lay out a new road in Pittsburg Election District to begin at a line between Delaware and Maryland as the mouth of a road on the Jay Hall farm and to run thence across the lands of William Parsell, Mrs. Mat. ## ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE—SCIENTIFIC—STRONG

The Reasons:

1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires interwound.

2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—not tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot untie it without breaking. It is so much weakened.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—

Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or set. It indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

What Does It Mean

to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policyholders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the

THE INVISIBLE PRESENCE.

Dec. 23, '06—(Lute #4; 34-52.)

No sooner had the first disciples become satisfied that Christ had really risen from the dead, and were filled with joy inexpressible, than they were dumbfounded with the announcement that He was about to bid them farewell. They were thrown into consternation. Just at the supreme moment, when they needed Him the most as they supposed, they were to be left alone, to face an unfeeling world. And the strange thing about it was, He claimed it was the best thing for them. "It is expedient for you that I go away." For three years he had been their guide, teacher, comforter, and leader. He had straightened all their tangles, and settled all their difficulties. And now he was going away, and he had left no successor. When Elijah was translated Elisha took his place, but when Christ ascended He had no successor. Nothing but an indefinite promise of a coming Holy Spirit whose mission they could not comprehend.

And yet the event proved that the departure of the Christ was the very best thing for the church and the world. For it meant for one thing, omnipresence instead of presence. While Christ was in Palestine he was local, the moment he ascended he became universal. Then, he could be in only one place at a time. Now, there is no foot of the planet where he is not. Then only those in Bethlehem, Jerusalem, or Nazareth could touch Him. Now, "The healing of His seamless robe, Is by our beds of pain; We touch Him in life's throng and press, And are made whole again."

It is easy enough to see that a Presence, who can be seen by all disciples, always is infinitely to be preferred to one who is subject to the limitations of flesh and blood, and the laws of the material world, as we are. When those disciples were driven out of Jerusalem, and scattered as autumn leaves are scattered by every wind that blows to every quarter of the earth, what an inspiration it must have been to every feeling disciple, that he could leave his Master in the home of his friends, and find him waiting his arrival in the place of his exile.

After all, there is nothing strange about this. The artist who is to produce matchless works, must not always sit at the feet of the master. If he is ever to originate anything he must be thrown upon his own resources. The rudiments of an education may be taught, the application must be worked out by the pupil. The learners never amount to anything in this world, the lifters show the value of their training. Those apostles had been called for the express purpose of planting the banner of the cross on every hill top and in every valley of the earth, and not one of them had ever set foot outside the boundaries of little Palestine. It was time they were about it. They were to be teachers of men; it was time they began to speak. They were to be leaders of men; it was time they blew the trumpet of alarm. They were to be the antagonizers of hoary institutions; it was time they began to unlimber their batteries. They had been sheltered, protected, vouchered for long enough.

It is always a trying time when a man faces the world for the first time. Graduation day is to many the most serious day of life, for it pushes him over the threshold, to sink or swim, according to what he is. It seems rather a hardship when the old eagle tears its nest asunder, leaving the fledglings homeless, but without it, the eaglets would never learn to fly. The Ascension was the grandest thing that ever happened to the apostolic college. They straightened up and took the responsibility. The first time a young pilot is entrusted with the steering of a ship, laden with precious freight, he is not flippant, nor frivolous. When he was a mere assistant, he may have been careless, but he will not be careless now. He sees every signal, he feels every throbbing of the engine, responsibility wraps him as a cloak. The marvellous history of the church in those early years is to be attributed to the fact that every actor in that great world drama felt that there was an unseen Presence ever at his side, depending upon him to do his best under all circumstances.

It is not always wise to do things for others, that they can do themselves. They may not do it at first quite as well as you could, but they never will improve unless they get a chance to try. When Christ turned his disciples loose upon the world to preach, to teach, to witness, to baptize, to make others disciples, he multiplied himself a thousand fold, and the results demonstrated the wisdom of his plan. Endued with supernatural power they scattered the seed of the kingdom on every hillside and in every valley, the harvest of which is being gathered into the granary to-day. The Great Commander's Headquarters are in the skies, but He manages the campaign in person, and is every where present on the battlefield of life.

IN EDWARD'S VII'S KITCHEN.

Dishes Borne by Relays Through Mirror Lined Corridors.

A system unlike that to be found anywhere else prevails in the kitchen where the meals of King Edward are prepared.

The royal chef is a Frenchman, paid a liberal salary, and with free lodging near the royal palace. It is his business to superintend only the king's lunch and dinner. He has nothing whatever to do, says What to Eat, with the breakfast.

When the dinner is to be served the scene in the kitchen is one of perfect order and readiness. The cold dishes which were prepared during the morning stand on the table, surrounded if necessary by ice; the birds and other such dainties which are to be served, cooked to a second and are ready to hand.

Now the hor d'oeuvres are sent forward in an anteroom, which in the case of Buckingham Palace is nearly three hundred yards from the kitchen. The assistants are clad in spotless linen, they all work by the clock, and each dish is commenced and finished to within a minute of the appointed time.

The chef walks around and superintends, but his assistants are so well drilled in their respective duties that he seldom needs to give an order, though here and there he offers a suggestion for the further perfection of some little dainty. During this time he is himself thinking out the final details of the masterpiece of the table, which he takes particularly under his own care.

Just outside the door of the dining hall there is an apartment where the final touches are given to the delicate and costly preparations. At Buckingham Palace it contains a hot table, upon which the dishes rest in readiness for their distribution to the table attendants.

The man who wields authority here is clad in immaculate evening dress and wears white gloves, and in a voice which is raised above a whisper he gives the minutest directions as to what is to be done with each particular item on the menu from the moment when it leaves the anteroom and passes finally from his care. Relays of men and women bearers convey all these dishes from the kitchen to the anteroom.

The passages from the kitchen are long, with awkward corners in them here and there, and in order to prevent collisions in the hurry of the work an ingenious arrangement of mirrors has been effected at these corners, so that the bearers may see whether the road is clear for them.

Attendants are strictly forbidden to enter any other apartment, than that in which they are immediately concerned, and even the dish bearers are prohibited from passing down other corridors than those which are set apart for their special use.

A Chinese Pottery Town.

For at least 900 years the town Chingtechen, in China, has been devoted to the making of pottery. Walter Clennell, a British Consul, describes the place. He says that everything in Chingtechen belongs to the porcelain and earthenware industry.

The houses are for the most part built of fragments of fire clay that were at one time part either of old kilns or of the fire clay covers in which the porcelain is stacked during firing. The river bank is for miles covered with a deep stratum of broken china-ware and chips of fire clay, and the greater part of the town and several square miles of the surrounding country are built over or composed of a similar deposit.

Chingtechen is unlike anything else in China. The forms, the color, the materials used in the buildings, the atmosphere are reminiscent of the poorer parts of a civilized industrial center. There are 104 large pottery kilns in town. The greater part are in use only for a short season in the summer. During this busy season the population of Chingtechen rises to about 400,000 souls, but of this total nearly half are laborers drawn from a wide area of country, who come for the season, live in rows of barracklike sheds and do not bring their families with them.

Visitors to Chingtechen pass along street after street where every shop is occupied by men, women and children all engaged in the designing, moulding, painting or distributing of pottery. Potters' sheds, where the clay is mixed and moulded on the wheel, are innumerable. The river bank is crowded for three miles by junks either landing material and fuel or shipping the finished product.

Newspapers in Japan.

Some interesting statistics are published as to the number of Japanese newspapers. The total is about 4,000. The first newspaper was published in 1852. In 1879 there were 26 newspapers in the country; in 1888 there had increased to 2,000, and in the last eighteen years this number has doubled. To-day alone has 120 newspapers. The journal enjoying the largest circulation is stated to be the Dai-ichi Shimpo (New Times), which has 400,000 subscribers.

Corporal Punishment.

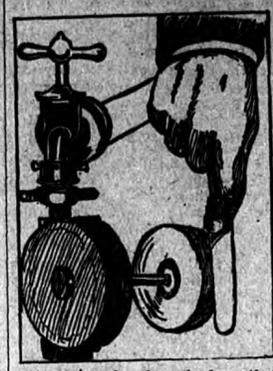

Speaking in Tokio recently the Rev. Dr. Weldon, an English school principal, said that in England corporal punishment was coming to be a thing of antiquity. The governing class of England, he said, felt that the humiliation was really only in the wrongdoing, not in the flogging.

Prevent Headache.

Force them! No—aid them. Bamon's treatment of Liver Pills and Tonic Pills strengthens the liver and digestive organs so that they do their own work and fortifies your constitution against future trouble. Entire treatment 25 cents. Sold by Dr. Elligood.

Faucet Motor Power.

Among the recent sensible novelties for the average household, and especially for the man who wants to do a little work in which a small amount of power is required, is the water motor, which can be attached to any faucet and will develop a surprising amount of power. For the angler and sportsman there are innumerable uses for such a contrivance. Tools can be sharpened, knives can be ground, angling spoons can be polished and little odds and ends of work done that could not be accomplished by any other contrivance. To the householder there are possibilities of using it for the wife's sewing machine, and it will even run a small dynamo for the young hopeful of the family. The motor attaches to the threaded end of the faucet, or if that is not employed a universal fastener is supplied. With the apparatus is wheel and pulley wheel, emery wheel and silver and steel polishing compounds.

SOLVING THE FOOD PROBLEM.

A Virginia farmer has a duck with four legs that lays five eggs a day. If someone could only find a way to cross the centipede with the duck the food problem might be solved.

The "new woman," who is several hundred years old by this time, is raising ructions even in the harems of Constantinople. But Salt Lake City keeps its habitual calm on the subject of the relation of the sexes.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper. An entire list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol in its makeup. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, such as dysmenstrua, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as rendered for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postage paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of these diseases, that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and weak, catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

The members and friends of Siloam M. E. Church will hold an oyster supper in Mr. Robert Chatham's store on next Thursday evening December 27. If that evening should be unfavorable it will be held the next evening. All cordially invited to assist and be present.

Shiloh M. P. Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday evening, December 12th, when Miss Annie Vanarah James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben James became the bride of Mr. Grover T. Elliott of near Delmar. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Yingling and witnessed by a large number of friends. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. M. Yingling. The bride wore a suit of white tulle and carried white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern.

Miss Minnie Disharoon of Laurel, was bride's maid and wore white brussels net over pink silk and carried pink chrysanthemums. Mr. Phillips James, brother of the bride was groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Willie Elliott and Joshua James. After the wedding the young couple were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott were the recipients of numerous presents.

The Evils Of Constipation.

are many; in fact almost every serious illness has its origin in constipation, and some medicine, instead of preventing constipation, add to it. This is true of most cathartics, which when first used, have a beneficial effect, but the dose has to be continually increased, and before long the remedy ceases to have the right effect. There's one preparation, however, that can be relied upon to produce the same results with the same dose, even after fifty years' daily use, and this is Brandereth's Pills, which has a record of over 100 years as the standard remedy for constipation and all troubles arising from an impure state of the blood.

Brandereth's Pills are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grandparents used and can be found in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

Cocaine which dulls the nerves never yet cured Nasal Catarrh. The heavy feeling in the forehead, the stuffed up sensation and the watery discharge from eyes and nose, along with all the other miseries attending the disease, are put to rest by Ely's Cream Balm. Smell, taste, and hearing are restored, breathing is normal. Until you try this remedy, you can form no idea of the good it will do you. It is applied directly to the sore spot. All druggists, 50. Mailed, by Mrs. Bro., 56 Warren Street, New York.

A SKATING RINK

To Accommodate Exercise Lovers And Pleasure Seekers.

Another place of amusement will be added to Salisbury in a few days, when the new "Auditorium" will be formally thrown open to the public. Mr. John D. Showell, formerly of Ocean City, has erected a large structure for the purpose of roller skating on West Church Street, and as a similar venture has proven successful in Easton, Maryland, and Quantock, Virginia, there appears to be good reason to believe the same result will be accomplished here.

The Auditorium is so constructed that 400 people may be comfortably seated around the four sides of the building, there being a double row of chairs on a raised platform. In front of the chairs a rail will prevent the skaters from running into the platform.

The building is to be well lighted and heated and Mr. Showell has arranged to have the street in front of the structure brilliantly lighted for the accommodation of visitors.

In the building are cloak rooms for ladies and gentlemen and these rooms will be in charge of attendants, who will look after the wants of skaters. It is Mr. Showell's intention to have a candy booth where light refreshments may be procured. Soft drinks will also be served.

The skating floor itself is 100 feet and is the finest grade of maple flooring, which was shipped here from Minnesota. There are no pillars to hinder the skaters, and no obstructions on the main floor of any kind.

The revival of roller skating has caused large rinks to be built all over the country, and as it is a healthful exercise as well as a source of amusement, the sport has evidently come to stay.

Home For Good Old Christmas Cheer.

Women's College Baltimore—Mary Colley.

—That Salisbury has not entirely passed out of the age of our forefathers was evidenced Friday morning when a team of oxen, drawing the old fashioned country cart was driven up the new brick pavement on Main Street. By way of comparison, however, side by side with this reminder of the times that were, was the new electric truck of the L. W. Gunby Co., showing the vast difference in the method of traffic in the span of a few years.

—Notice has been sent out by the postal authorities at Washington fixing a fine of $300 on persons taking mail out of the post office other than their own and not returning it at once. This also included newspapers. Postmasters are not held responsible for a mistake in distributing the mail, and the excuse that it is his fault will not be accepted. It would be well to be sure you have your own mail before leaving the post office in the future.

—A banquet is to be given on next Friday evening the 28th, by the members of the Thos. J. Shyrook Commandery No. 11, of this city. The committee in charge has made extensive preparations for the occasion and the affair promises to be a delightful social event. The banquet will be served in the banquet room of the Masonic Temple and members will be accompanied by their wives and sweethearts.

Humble Marriage.

On December 19th, at 11 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denard Q. Adkins, their daughter, Florence May, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Hamblin, son of R. Q. Hamblin of Wango. The ceremony was performed by Elder A. B. Francis. The bride was handsomely dressed in blue broadcloth, lace waist and carried bride's roses and fans. The groom wore the conventional black. There were no attendants. A wedding breakfast was served at 11 o'clock to about sixty of their relatives and friends. Then the happy couple were driven to the wharf where they took the steamer Virginia for an extended trip to Baltimore and Washington. On their return they will reside at Wango. They received many costly and useful presents.

—Mr. Edwin A. Brewington, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brewington died early Thursday morning, Dec. 20th, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brewington, of Main Street. Mr. Brewington's death came after a severe illness from typhoid fever. He had been ill about four weeks. Had he been spared he would have reached his 51st year in April of next year. Mr. Brewington had an amiable disposition and had a large circle of friends in Salisbury and vicinity. He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Walter, Nina, Virgie, Paul and Glenn Brewington and Harry Measick, of Allen. The funeral services were conducted Friday morning from the residence of Mrs. E. A. Brewington officiating. Burial was in the family burying ground.

If The Baby Is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

—Rev. T. C. Davis, President and editor of the "Oysterman," a weekly publication, in the interest of the oyster industry was in this city Friday en route for Crisfield. Mr. Davis states the paper is growing rapidly and this fact is signalized by making the Oysterman an eight page publication January first.

Raising A Beard.

It was partly owing to the fact that Chemorley's razors needed honing and partly the beautifully trimmed beard that Slever had raised during his year's absence abroad. Slever said that at least he had known something of the joy of living since he had acquired this hirsute adornment of his. "Some of the men let their hair grow long, too," he told Chemorley, "but I think that's carrying it too far. I can stand for a haircut once a month, but this thing of shaving every blessed day and wasting the precious hours of a man's life is too much."

Chemorley, having in mind his morning martyrdom of the past three weeks, was disposed to agree with his friend.

He talked it over with Mrs. Chemorley, as in duty bound. She did not seem to entertain the idea favorably.

"If it was too bad I could shave it off again," argued Chemorley. "You don't know what a bother it is, this shaving."

Accordingly he put in an appearance at breakfast the next morning unshaven. Mrs. Chemorley looked at

Mrs. Chemorley sniffed displeasure, him and sniffed: "I shouldn't think you would want to go downtown looking like that," she said.

"It does take a little strength of mind," admitted Chemorley. "But I'm going to do it, just the same." Nobody noticed him that day, but the day following when the stubble had attained a quite respectable length, comment began. It is not necessary to recount what was said. It was about the usual thing. By the end of the week Chemorley had a decidedly tramping appearance.

"Never mind," he said, "if it keeps growing at this rate it will be long enough to trim in a couple of weeks more."

The week following, however, the beard did not seem to progress at the same rate. The growth was almost imperceptible. Still, it was growing, and, in spite of the fears of his friends and business associates, Chemorley let it grow. At the week's end, though, Chemorley received a letter from an important business connection in San Francisco. The business connection, whose business was worth a great deal to Chemorley, was to arrive in Chicago, it appeared, and he wanted Chemorley to meet him. Chemorley talked it over with his wife.

"I shall entertain him in style, of course," he said, "I'm anxious to make a good impression on that man."

"You are sure to do that with a face bristling like a scrubbing brush," said Mrs. Chemorley, sarcastically. "It may seem a small thing, but there really is a good deal in first impressions," she continued. "If I were you I would shave."

Chemorley got to thinking it over, and he shaved—for that occasion only.

A week later, just as the stubble had attained the hesitating point, Melba came to town. Chemorley had been rather shaming society, but there was no getting out of taking Mrs. Chemorley to the Auditorium and—

"Well, would you be willing for me to go the way I am?" asked Chemorley.

"If you think you can stand it, I might," replied his wife. "But," she added, "it isn't so very far along now. Don't you think you might shave it this once and then take a fresh start?"

He was determined to have that beard, however. The week went by and he bristled out finely. Every morning he would remark to Mrs. Chemorley on the blissfulness of not having to strop a razor, lather and scrape for ten long, valuable minutes and then being under no necessity of washing out a shaving mug, cleaning, drying and lathering the razor.

The second week was passed. The growth did actually begin to look like a beard. Then: "My dear," said Mrs. Chemorley one morning. "Bertha writes me that she is going to make us a little visit and she is going to bring with her—whom do you think? Your old sweetheart, Ella Rogers. It seems that Ella is on her way to New York and Bertha and she will start East together. So Bertha thought we might like to entertain her for a few days. I'm sure I don't mind. You are beginning to look so nice and domestic with that beard. No, I shall not be uneasy."

Chemorley says that since of those days he will join a popular expedition and that he will raise that beard. For the present he has given up shaving.

REMOVE WRINKLES.

MASSAGING THE FEET WILL OBLITERATE LINES IN FACE.

These Highly Sensitive Centers Have Influence Upon Temperament Continued Pain Leaves Well Marked Signs.

"If women would have their feet massaged instead of their faces there would be fewer wrinkles," says a well known chiropodist. "For this treatment would relieve the cause of numerous worried lines that appear in the forehead and around the eyes and mouth, though few persons realize it. They do not know that the feet are the greatest nerve centers in the body, and that when they become irritated and hurt it shows plainly in the face. Nor are they aware that continued pains make wrinkles. For this reason I would advise women to make certain that their feet are well cared for before they begin to have their faces treated to remove lines, or the massage will be practically useless, for unless the cause of the wrinkles is first done away with the superficial patting and pinching of the seamed flesh will be of small consequence in making the skin look fresh and young again."

"I know, too, that many cases of stomach troubles are directly traceable to the irritated nerves in the feet and that, as a rule, all sorts of causes are suggested before this one is considered as even possible. Yet when women appreciate the sensitiveness of the nerve centers located in the feet they realize how important it is to have them properly treated and well cared for to secure comfort as well as good health."

By proper care of the feet I do not mean that one should have them regularly treated by a trained chiropodist unless there is actual need, but I do believe that a surgeon or some one who understands thoroughly anatomy should make an examination to be sure the instep has not dropped or sagged, and then should recommend a kind of shoe that would meet all the necessary requirements in shape, and width, and give the proper support to toes, arch and ankle. The rest, the selection of stockings and daily bathing, etc., can be easily attended to by each individual, and the natural law of hygiene, if followed, should be sufficient to keep them in condition. With hosiery that fits closely, yet does not bind or cramp the toes, and shoes that conform to the shape of the foot—women can well defy the marks of time.

Dainty Lingerie Hats.

There is a charm about the dainty lingerie hat that every woman feels and appreciates. Here is one which can quite easily and readily be made at home and that are suited to a number of materials.

The hat shown in the illustration is adapted to Irish lace, both the heavy and the baby sorts, and to heavy linen embroidered by hand. As shown, its edge also is finished with a narrow trim of lace, so giving a soft effect to the face. The trim is quite plain and the crown is separate, buttoned over the band and into place. Ribbon slipped under the straps and tied in a bow makes the trimming.

Tea Drinking.

How often may one take tea in the day without injury to health? Most persons can take tea twice a day, and feel the better for it. Curiously enough, it has been ascertained by experiment that the foods which digest most readily in the presence of tea are the usual breakfast foods, to wit: Eggs, bacon and fish. Tea does not appreciably retard the digestion of these; hence it may be taken with perfect physiological safety at breakfast, when it is peculiarly grateful after the long night's sleep, and is undoubtedly beneficial to the system in virtue of the comparative large quantity of hot water which is introduced into the tissues along with the thine proper.

When tea has been taken in the morning it should not be again taken until well on in the afternoon, when a cup or two will be found to be very welcome, expediting, as it so often does, the final stages of digestion of the midday meal, and reviving in an entirely wholesome way the vital energy which tends to flag toward 5 o'clock.

A Long Life.

To prolong life one should take plenty of sleep and remember to sleep lying on the right side, indulge in a morning bath in tepid water, keep the window of the sleeping room open all night, take frequent and short holidays, not be over-anxious, and hold one's temper.

INTERFERENCE.

"Yes," said my friend, sadly, "you may play poker with a stranger and an unlimited raise, and may come out all right; you may shoot lions and tigers and the Falls of Niagara, and never suffer in your health; you may play with fire, and take no harm. But never meddle in the least degree with any one else's love affair. For you will come out of it with the reputation of a fool, with foot stamped all over your back and front, and you will deserve it. A helpless, unendurable fool for all time—that is what you will be. If you see a pure minded, refined girl on the verge of marrying a coarse, vulgar brute, let her; don't stand in the way. Probably the brute will never forgive you, and it's absolutely certain the girl never will."

"You speak with some warmth and bitterness. You have some personal experience in your mind?"

"I have. As you know, I am not a married man. But at one time I was engaged. It was years and years ago, and I was never one of those men who are—well, silly about the girls they are going to marry. But speaking in sober fairness, I must say that Jessica was a really remarkable girl."

"Yes; engaged girls always are. Just say that you loved Jessica and Jessica loved you."

"Now that just shows where you are too hasty; for I'm by no means sure that Jessica did love me. I can't help thinking that if she had really loved me, things would have happened differently. Mind, I admit that I was wrong in interfering in any way with Ernest Budd."

"And who was Ernest Budd?"

"I think he was the most nauseous beast I ever met in my life. He was short, thick and ugly enough to stop the clocks. He was also a vain sentimentalist. He talked about women by the hour. He believed himself a woman killer. To listen to him made you feel sick and tired. I've heard him say that the beauty of women was practically the only thing he lived for—just that—in those words and the other man to whom he said it died a week later. Well, at this time Budd had come to an understanding with a washed out puss from Wimbledon, called Emily Chatter. I saw the girl, and I was sorry for her; I was very happy myself, and I wanted to save her from Ernest Budd and infinite sorrow in her after life. Knowing the rapid, miscellaneous and volcanic temperament of Ernest Budd, my task was easy; I had but to introduce him to a more attractive girl than Emily, and I introduced him to Jessica."

I introduced him to Jessica.

"I'd talked it over with her, and she'd agreed to it. She was so happy herself—we were both very happy in those days."

"But after she'd met Budd?"

"I own, she didn't like it. She said I might at least have told what an appalling boulder Ernest Budd was. Well, I'd told her what I have told you, and I think that ought to have been enough. I pointed out to her that within a very short time of Budd meeting her he would throw over Emily Chatter."

"And you were wrong?"

"I was absolutely right. And when Emily was saved by my intervention, then, so I told Jessica, she was perfectly free to drop Budd."

"Well, as I say, I pointed all this out to her, but she still was rather averse to it. She said the man's attentions were becoming perfectly insufferable, and that—knowing as he did that she was already engaged—he ought to be ashamed of himself. However, she kept on meeting him, and in a week he broke off his understanding with Emily Chatter."

"Well?" I asked. "What then? Did Emily commit suicide?"

"Not a bit of it. She must have known that Ernest Budd was no fit husband for a decent girl. No, she married a solicitor, and is very happy, they tell me."

"Apparently everything went right—just precisely as you wished and intended."

"Well, it didn't then."

"What was the matter? Did Jessica lose her exquisite tact, her ability for letting people see that she did not require them?"

Saturday, December 29th,

1906 at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. all the following property:

FIRST: All that valuable house and lot, situate in Parsons Election District, in Wicomico County, Maryland, in the town of Salisbury, beginning at the point of intersection of the southeast side of Baker Street with the southwest side of Barclay Street; thence in a southeasterly direction by and with the east side of the said Baker Street, forty six feet; thence in a southeasterly direction in a line parallel with the south side of Barclay Street to the line of the land of Jackson Brothers Company; thence by and with the line of the land of the said company, to the south west side of Barclay Street; thence by and with the same ninety six feet to the place of the beginning. This property is improved by a good substantial dwelling house and out-buildings, and is a fine opportunity to secure a home already completed.

SECOND: All that vacant lot of ground adjoining the above mentioned lot, in the said town of Salisbury, County and State, beginning for the same at a stob on the south east side of the said Baker Street at the end of the first line of the above mentioned lot; thence by and with the said side of the said Baker Street in a southerly direction forty one feet to a stob; thence in a south easterly direction in a line parallel with the said Barclay Street to the line of the land of the aforesaid Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the same to the second line of the above mentioned lot thence by and with the said second line reversed by the place of the beginning.

THIRD: All that vacant lot adjoining the last described lot beginning at the end of the first line thereof on the said side of the said Baker Street; thence in a southerly direction, by and with the said side of the said Baker Street, forty one feet to the line of the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a south easterly direction by and with the same to the line of the said Jackson Brothers Company; thence in a north easterly direction by and with the land of the said Jackson Brothers Company to the second line of the second lot above described; thence by and with the same reversed to the place of the beginning.

The last mentioned lots are well located and offer admirable sites for building lots and should command a good price.

All the above land is the same which was conveyed to Lurania O. Hudson by William H. Jackson et al., by deed dated April 5th, 1884, and recorded in Liber 3, S. P. T. No. 8, Folio 368, and which has been subdivided into the three parcels as above.

They will first be offered separately and then as a whole, with the understanding that if the bids for the same as a whole exceeds the aggregate of the separate bids, the bid for the whole will be accepted; but if the aggregate of the separate bids equal to or exceeds the bids for the same as a whole, then the separate bids will be accepted.

FOURTH: All that valuable store house and dwelling house and lot, situate on the north side of and binding on East Church Street, bounded on the east by the lot of Henry Barnes bounded on the north by the property of Mrs. Willie R. Records, wife of the late John B. Records; and bounded on the south and southwest by East Elizabeth Street, being the same land which was conveyed to Lurania O. Hudson by Stephen Beachamp, et al., by deed dated Nov. 23, 1887, and recorded in Liber F. M. S. No. 8, Folio 30; and to Lurania O. Hudson by Benjamin F. Ward, et al., by deed dated April 28th, 1890, and recorded in F. M. S. No. 6, Folio 65, both the above parcels comprising one lot, and a part of it is now occupied by John Evans as a store house and a part by Henry Smith as a dwelling house.

The above is a valuable piece of property, is well improved by buildings in good repair and must command a good price.

TERMS OF SALE.

25 per cent cash on day of sale; balance to be secured by note of purchaser with approved security, payable in equal installments of six and twelve months, respectively.

This is subject to the expense of purchase.

H. B. TRUITT, Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

TIMBER.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Md., passed on the third day of December, 1906, in a cause pending therein, being No. 1614, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale in front of the Court House in Salisbury, on

at 10 o'clock A. M. All that tract of land and timber at Pittsville, Wicomico County, Maryland on the north side of the B. O. and A. Railway, containing seventy five acres of more or less, it being the same land that was devised by the last will and testament of Eliza Fooks to Julia Q. Marshall, and mentioned in the proceedings. The Trustee will offer the property first in parcels as follows:

FIRST: All that small parcel of land being bounded on the east by the county road and on the south by the B. O. and A. Railway, containing one quarter acre, more or less.

SECOND: All the growing timber on the remaining land, with the rights to the purchaser to cut and remove the same within two years from the ratification by the Court of the sale.

THIRD: All the remaining land, subject to the right of the purchaser of the timber to enter thereon and remove the timber under his purchase. The trustee reserves the right to then offer the whole property as an entirety; and if the same brings a higher price than the aggregate amount offered in parcels, then the parcel sales will be rejected and the sale as an entirety accepted, and reported to the Court. Title papers at expense of purchaser.

TERMS OF SALE.

One third of purchase money will be required in cash on day of sale; and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months, the deferred payments to be secured by the bond of purchaser with sureties to be approved by trustee and to bear interest from day of sale, or all cash in option of purchaser. No timber to be cut or removed until the whole purchase money therefore is paid.

CHARLES O. MELVIN, Trustee.

Road Examiners Notice.

The undersigned having been appointed and commissioned by the County Commissioners of Wicomico County, Maryland, to lay out a new road in Pittsburg Election District to begin at a line between Delaware and Maryland at the mouth of a road on the Jay Hall farm and to run thence across the lands of William Furnell, Mrs. Mat. ## ELLWOOD FENCE

SIMPLE—SCIENTIFIC—STRONG

The Reasons!
1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.

2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—not tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; if you wire up in a hard knot and you connect it without breaking, it is so much weaker.)

THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—
Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mill and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

Religious Liberty
 A million of money for an inch of time! The nearer we get to eternity the more precious the moments become.—Rev. D. S. Mackay, Episcopalian, New York.

Patriotism.
 Patriotism, I believe, begins at home and spreads from there to the ends of the earth. Patriotism is to stay at home and not camp in your neighbor's back yard.—Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Slicer, Unitarian, New York.

Need of Self Affirmation.
 The most important thing for a man to learn, if he is going to realize his talents and powers in any adequate and compelling way, is the art of self affirmation.—Rev. Joseph A. Milburn, Congregationalist, Chicago.

Happy Teacher.
 Happy, thrice happy, the teacher who goes forth to her gracious tasks not only prepared by the study of the best methods of training, but bearing ever the believing spirit.—according to your faith shall be your patience, your growth in knowledge, your power.—Rev. J. K. Mason, Universalist, Chicago.

Holy Life.
 One can easily see the power of a holy life, for it is effective everywhere. The shams and dissimulations of society become vexatious and disgusting in time, the mockeries and hypocrites of the incense fall infinitely below the real, trifling renders work vain and unworthy, formally destroys religious power and peace, and so through to the end.—Rev. J. P. Mariatt, Methodist, Tacoma, Wash.

A Real Church.
 The real church is composed of all true believers. We are not to think that these words apply to those who profess faith without leaving words or to any who may be saying "Lord, Lord," and falling to do his bidding, but to those who are walking and living and doing for Christ, in full sympathy with him, bearing the cross and ever despaired, if need be, for his sake.—Rev. C. M. Rauch, Presbyterian, St. Louis.

Power Through Prayer.
 Prayer puts us into touch with the spiritual and the divine. No man can be really great who has not that touch. It is strength. It is life. Without it the best that is in us is not awakened. We can do nothing real and efficient. And you will notice that in prayer the power comes not in the granting of the petition, but in the touch with God. We have been in fellowship with him. After prayer we become able to fight the battle, to bear the disappointment, to suffer and to endure. God has made us mighty. He is with us. After prayer we can work. Prayer is not intended to make work unnecessary, but to give us strength and wisdom for work.—Rev. James S. Stone, Episcopalian, Chicago.

New Age of Womanhood.
 The business woman of today refuses to be a moon, revolving around a masculine earth. She will be a twin star or nothing. I believe her industrial training will make her a better wife, for she will know the value of a dollar and be able to sympathize with her husband in his daily toil. She will apply business methods to domestic economy. Should her husband attempt to maltreat her she has courage enough to separate from him and return to self support. What she has done once she can do again. Being fearless and decided, she will be respected and well treated. The broader outlook she has acquired in the business world will make her a superior wife and a more capable mother. The era of feminine imbecility and cowardice is fast passing away, and in its place we find the new age of well rounded, exalted womanhood.—Rev. John L. Scudder, Congregationalist, Jersey City.

Financial Fishing.
 Some churches are trying to be true to Christ's mission, but fall because of blunders. The church of Christ is often retarded in its work of saving men on account of financial fishing. Do not become vexed with the suggestion, for a good many regard financial fishing as pre-eminently successful work. To be able to interest wealthy families in the church and thereby increase the commercial standing of the congregation requires a man of peculiar executive ability, and for such multitudes of insolvent ecclesiastical corporations are looking today. But the man who believes that he has been sent of God to arouse consciences, to seek and save the lost, makes a lamentable blunder in spending his strength in soliciting coin. Hundreds of worldly men who attend divine services have come to imagine that their contributions in some way minimize their condemnation before God. But in their heart of hearts they brand the man who thus preaches for wealth rather than for their immediate surrender to Jesus Christ as a hireling. Wealth put at the disposal of a Christian spirit may be a valuable help to the cause of Christianity, but wealth in itself, detaching the policy of the church from a worldly standpoint, will betray it to the devil just as truly as did Judas his Master.—Rev. Dr. Robert M. Green, Baptist, Brooklyn.

Weak Legs.
 Weak legs, so often met, is the result of disorder of the kidneys. Due to a course of feeding with an unassailable diet. Give the child a rather large allowance of meat or some other animal matter, and sweet milk to drink; also some porridge made of middling and milk. All their diet should be highly nourishing and such as can be easily digested. It is also advisable to give them a bit of dry cod, and...

The Secret Of Preaching.
 The conclusion of the protracted meetings held in Boston by Gypsy Smith has led to a good deal of serious discussion of preaching in general and of his own methods in particular. On all hands it seems to be admitted that he has won general respect for the earnestness, elevation, purity and humanity alike of his doctrines and his spirit of appeal.

For a man living in such a perpetual whirlwind of daily and nightly excitement and subjected to such storm and stress of popular adulation, Gypsy Smith has preserved a wonderfully level head and given proof of reserves of simple and solid character few would have been capable of. Probably no form of temptation to which frail humanity can be exposed has toppled over more weak brains and turned their possessors into charlatans, applause seekers or fanatics than this to which, for now so many years, he has been subjected. Breathing the carbon laden air of nightly close packed audiences and drained to the dregs of his last reserves of spiritual vitality by the demands of thousands beseeching him for supplies of faith, courage and inspiration, it seems a miracle that he should not long since have reached the dead point of possible spontaneous interest, and have become a mere automatic mechanical repeater of phraseology dissociated of every trace of its original sap.

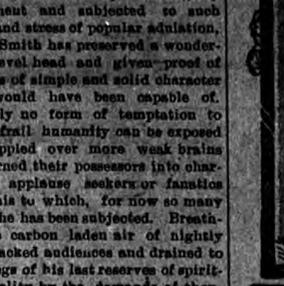

Never is it to be forgotten, however, in explanation of all this, that an itinerant preacher, perpetually changing his environment of scenes and audience, has signal advantages for keeping fresh and in fine fettle that are entirely denied the preacher settled year in and year out over a single congregation. No preacher has in reality more than a score or so of fresh sermons. The rest are simply variations on the regular theme. When he goes off on an exchange, and so has a fresh audience, the old sermon becomes brand new as when first written; for the "prosperity" of a sermon as well as of a jest, "lies in the ear of the hearer." If that ear is dull and jaded, the sermon is dull and jaded.

Now to apply this to Gypsy Smith. He, too, has not over a score of telling sermons. But he has hundreds of new audiences, and each one of them gives him a chance to improve the depth and reach of each sermon. And so that which Ben Franklin said of Whitefield—the most marvellous of all itinerant preachers—holds true of Gypsy Smith. "By hearing Whitefield often," declared Franklin, "I came to distinguish clearly between sermons newly composed and those he had often preached in the course of his travels. His delivery of the latter was so improved by frequent repetition that ever accent, every emphasis, every modulation of voice was so perfectly well earned and well placed as to give a pleasure of such the same kind which that received from an excellent piece of music." This sounds Ben Franklin, but it is true.—Boston Globe.

Any failure to pay on either of the above terms will result in forfeiture of the purchase money.

Treat Nervous
 Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

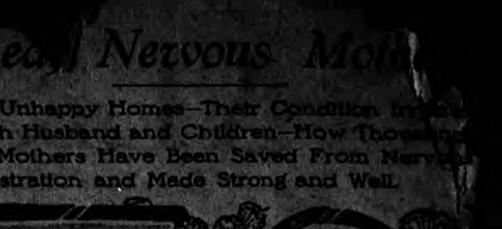

Mrs. Chester Curry

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

Do you experience fits of depression upon the nerves, consequently ninety per cent of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.
 Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?
 Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; tearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia and almost continually cross and snappy?
 If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact. Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Trouble.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 43 B Street, East Boston, 43 B Street, East Boston, Mass., writes: "For eight years I was troubled with nervousness and hysteria, brought by irregularities. I could neither sleep nor sleep nights; I was very irritable and dependent."
 "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound" was recommended and proved a remedy that helped me all over again, and all my troubles were cured."
 "I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and nervousness, until it seemed as though I had died. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful result derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I decided to try it. I did and at the end of three months I was a different woman. My nervousness was all gone, was no longer irritable, and my husband is in love with me all over again."
 Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute. Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., has all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to give you wisely, and she will also give you nothing for her advice.

You Look Yellow

The trouble is, your liver's sick. One of its products, "bile," is overflowing into your blood. You can't digest your food, your appetite is poor, you suffer dreadfully from headache, stomach ache, dizziness, malaria, constipation, etc. What you need is not a dose of salts, cathartic water or pills—but a liver tonic.

Theford's Black-Draught

This great medicine acts gently on the sick liver. It purifies the blood, renews the appetite, feeds the nerves, clears the brain and cures constipation. It is a true medicine for sick liver and kidneys, and regulates all the digestive functions. Try it. At all dealers in medicines in 25c packages.

ROADS AND ROAD MAKING

GOOD ROAD PROSPECT.

Effect of the Automobile in Furthering the Movement.

North Dakota, especially that portion lying west of the Red river valley, has a soil that is especially adapted by nature for good roads, says Dr. Dwight S. Moore of Jamestown, N. D., in Auto Advocate and Country Roads. As a general thing, very little attention is paid to the subject of good roads in North Dakota.

Only exceptionally in a wet season is there much necessity for the problem to be considered seriously from the standpoint of traffic and local transportation. The subjects of the advantage of wide tires, of the natural curves which the roads ought to take in order to facilitate the hauling of heavy loads and of a long even pull over comparatively level

Bad Roads Keep the Farmer Poor. In preference to short steep ascents in a straight direction toward the goal, are very little considered or thought of apparently by the farmers, the very class of people who should be most deeply interested in such questions.

Even on these prairies a slight impetus was given to the good road movement by the adoption of the bicycle. The use of the bicycle has somewhat died out as a recreation among people of wealth, culture and education, and as a consequence the use of it has ceased to be so much of a factor in the creation or preservation of good roads.

The automobile has been more than a substitute as an incentive to interest in the subject of good roads everywhere among that class of people who are known as "hustlers" and who make things "get along some" when they want to obtain any desired object. The probability is that a dozen automobile enthusiasts in any community will do more in accomplishing the creation and preservation of highways presenting a smooth, round, hard surface and few difficult grades at all seasons of the year than 500 farmers, although the latter should be more strictly interested in the same problem. But the farmers seem to lack organization and just how to go about it to obtain the objects desired, or else they really have not considered the subject enough to get enthusiastic over it. In other words, I think the diffusion of the automobile throughout the country is going to be the principal factor in the furtherance of the movement in favor of good highways.

Of course a campaign among the farmers ought never to be neglected. They use the roads more than any other class of people, and good roads are more vital problems with them than with any other class. Those interested in the subject of good roads, therefore, ought never to neglect an opportunity to hammer away at the mass of the people on the subject and convince them by every possible means that the problem of good highways for pedestrians, horsemen, bicycles and automobiles is one of the most essential factors in the upbuilding of the wealth and property of the country. I think instruction on the subject ought to be given in public schools, and especially in the country schools, so that every boy might understand how important, in a commercial way, this subject is and how to go about it to improve the local condition of the roads in his immediate neighborhood.

The demonstration by machinists, etc., of the making of good roads by special trains going through the country and stopping here and there in different localities is, of course, an excellent proposition, but it would take a century if this were the only means to accomplish anything in the way of results. The country is too vast.

The agricultural department puts out a large quantity of literature on that subject which is accessible to any one having interest in it and who will send for it, but very few of the class of people whom it is desired to reach know about it or will take the trouble to send to the department for literature. Instruction upon the subject ought to be forced upon them through the columns of the farmer's paper, periodicals and popular magazines which are everywhere reaching the homes of the western farmer at this time. No political speech, Fourth of July oration, Memorial day address or Thanksgiving sermon ought to be considered or allowed to be delivered unless it contained a good rousing paragraph or two on the right side of the good roads movement.

A dull, sunken eye in a fowl denotes defective nutritive power and lack of constitution and vigor.

King Of All Cough Medicines.

Mr. E. C. Case, Ga., a mail carrier of Canton Center, Conn., who has been in the U. S. Service for about sixteen years says: "We have tried many cough medicines for croup, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is king of all and one to be relied upon every time. We also find it the best remedy for coughs and colds, giving certain results and leaving no bad after-effects." For sale by C. I. Dickerson and Dr. Case.

Domestic Friction

A gentleman said to a lady friend, "According to Milton, Eve kept silence in Eden to hear her husband talk," and then added in a sarcastic tone, "Alas! there have been no Eves since." "Because," quickly replied the lady, "there have been no husbands worth listening to."

Many husbands and fathers who are the life of every company which they enter are silent in their own homes, and are uninteresting to their wives and among their children.

Don't reserve your social charms and your good stories for companions abroad and keep your dullness for home consumption.

Better to make your wife and children happy at home than charm strangers or amuse friends.

A woman makes a great mistake if she puts herself into a bad temper just to be petted into a good one again.

The husband may coax her back once or even twice, but he loses respect for her and respect lost brings on division, and she is no longer one with him in heart and life.

Make a man live in perpetual fear that one of your fits may be coming on and he will in self-defense hide everything that will be likely to bring it on, and so will begin that life of insincerity which is the death of love.

Domestic infelicity is mainly due to two causes. First, to thoughtlessness. The current conversation concerning marriage is frivolous, and the theme which should engage the most serious attention of the pulpit has been relegated to the light pleasantries of society.

Instead of proclaiming against divorce, let our preachers speak more frequently on subjects relating to marriage and the home, giving the young people loving counsel and practical advice and divorce will become less frequent, says the Rev. W. W. Peters.

The second great evil is in marrying for money—an evil peculiar to our time.

Many women have their price and often turning what is pure and noble away, wait for the man who is willing to pay for his victim.

"Better," says Solomon, "is a dinner of herbs, where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith."

Many a glorious mansion is only a glittering ice-cavern of fretfulness and discontent; halls of jangling discords and the constant flashing of evil tempers, whilst a chill of mutual distrust breathes through the sumptuous apartments. In rustling silks, over $10,000 rugs, you can hear the hiss of the adder, and through $20,000 tapestried walls come sobs like the simoon of the desert—a heartless show presides like a robed skeleton at the feast.

Boy's Russian Suit.

Nothing ever devised is more becoming to the small boy than just such a Russian suit as this one. It is exceedingly becoming and has enough of the skirt effect to do away with the absurdity of trousers on tiny legs while it is sufficiently masculine to satisfy his own ambitions. The suit consists of the blouse and knickerbockers. The blouse is made with a separate shield that is closed at the back and itself consists of the fronts and the back. It is finished with the big sailor collar and beneath this collar is buttoned to the shield, while the closing below the collar is made with buttons and buttonholes worked in a fly. The sleeves are the usual ones, but are tucked to give a box plaited effect at their lower edge.

Women Do Not Stammer.

"Did you ever see a woman who stammered?"

"No; now I come to think of it, I never did."

"They are very rare," said the physician. "I think it is safe to say that the average person passes through life without ever meeting a stammering woman."

A Poor Organ.

Dam(s) the bile. That's what your liver does if it's torpid. Then the bile overflows into the blood—poisons your system, causing sick headache, biliousness, sallow skin, coated tongue, sick stomach, dizziness, fainting spells, etc. Hamon's treatment of Liver Pills and Tonic Tablets strengthens the liver and makes it do its own work. Prevents and cures these troubles. It aids—doesn't force. See the treatment, 20 cents. Sold by Dr. J. C. Hamon, Baltimore.

"Greater Baltimore" Tomato.

MARYLAND AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION, COLLEGE PARK, MD.
We have just made up our reports on the Greater Baltimore tomato, and find that the "Greater Baltimore" tomato heads our list in this line this year. The three best stand:

|                        |   |
|------------------------|---|
| Greater Baltimore      | 52,940 lbs. per acre (about 17 1/2 bushels) |
| Stone                  | 51,300 lbs. per acre (about 17 1/2 bushels) |
| Beauty (a pink tomato) | 57,500 lbs. per acre (about 18 bushels)     |

The "Greater Baltimore" appears to be an excellent tomato, and its yield is very good.

YARDSTICK AND MAN'S.

Dec. 30, 1908.

have reached the apex of the hill. It is a hill top from which we look backward and forward. The path we have trod we can see; a path hangs over the route we are to take. It is a good time to stop and take account of the progress we have made during the last twelve months. And to help us in that decision let us meditate upon God's standard, and the standard of men.

The world says: What is his height; what is his hat measure; what are his manners; what is his age; what are his accomplishments; how much is he worth; who is his father; what street does he live on; what can he do; who are his backers; has he got a "pull?" The Almighty brushes all this aside, and puts up against men the yardstick of everlasting righteousness and says: "What is his character? What is his height when measured by the standards of eternity?"

And it often happens that the men who seem the tallest when estimated by the world's standards shrink to pigmies by the side of this inflexible rule, and the men who are dwarfs in the world's regard rise up like cedars of Lebanon when judged by heavenly standards.

Avardupolis, complexion, blue blood, financial ability, family, physique, culture, may be an advantage, and they may not, but character never yet handicapped a soul, and in the swift race of life always comes out ahead. In the dust and confusion of the arena, smartness, scheming, high-stepping policy may seem to lead old-fashioned honesty, but the showy prancing steed is wind-broken, and has no bottom, and though leading at the quarter is always left far behind on the home stretch.

The selection of the shepherd boy David as the King of Israel after the rejection of Saul is a practical and vivid illustration of these facts. Samuel was sent down to the house of Jesse to anoint one of his sons to be the future king. Coming there, his eyes fell upon the eldest son, Eliab, and he was such a fine, stalwart, perpendicular sort of a fellow that the prophet fell in love with him at first sight, and said: "Behold, the Lord's anointed!" But God said: "Not so! I am looking for another kind of king. I am looking for brain, not brawn; for quality, not quantity; for heart, not head; for character, not muscle." And Eliab was rejected. One by one, all the sons of Jesse passed before the prophet, and he got no message for any of them. Samuel knew that God makes no mistakes, and he inquired of the father if there were all his children. "Oh, no," said Jesse, "there is the youngest, little Samuel, who is tending the sheep." "Well," said the prophet, "send and fetch him." And when David came into his presence, the youngest of seven brothers, the Spirit of the Lord said to Samuel, "Arise and anoint him, for this is the heaven-selected king."

By means of the X-ray physicians are now able to look through the human body and locate disease. But long before the X-ray was dreamed of God was able to see the inside of a human heart, and diagnose the human soul. "I know what is in man." And as he understood fully man's life he proposed to select a man this time who had a heart in his breast instead of a gizzard, and who could respond to other influences beside those which were earthly, sensual, and devilish. Therefore he passed by all the others, and selected the untutored shepherd boy to sit upon the throne of Israel.

Never forget that true beauty is of the heart; true greatness is greatness of the mind; abiding majesty is moral majesty; what a man is in reality, he is in his soul. For the bloom will fade from the cheek, and the luster from the eye, and the bodily strength will break down—but moral elements, spiritual qualities, divine beauties, survive all wrecks, and will live forever. Samuel thought towering physical structure, sublime aspect, great breadth was necessary in a king, and so he was prejudiced in favor of the first-born son of Jesse. And the father, Jesse, was prejudiced against David because he was the youngest and only a keeper of sheep. To his mind it seemed impossible that a man should step from a shepherd's office to a royal position. Yet the Lord said of the stripling David, "Anoint him, this is he!"

How much of that there is in life! How prone we are to think that the boys of our native town can never amount to much. That the barefooted archers on our streets should ever become doctors, lawyers, ministers, managers of great concerns, public officials, is too ridiculous. And so we discount all they do, and look at them through the green goggles of our prejudice, and think placidly of our superiority, until we wake up some day to find that they have actually passed us on the road to fame.

By calling such men to do his work God humbles human judgment, and proves that those only are representatives of heaven who occupy their positions by purity of heart and consecration of life. That is the difference in measurement.

The Ambassadors.

By Hortense E. Wales.

AS Jack Starling walked in the parlor of the Keane residence he had time to complain with himself, as he had done continually on his way across the continent, for consenting to intercede in a love affair. "Here I am," he meditated, "forty miles out of my way to New York—all because that vacillating partner of mine hasn't the courage and decency to love his fiancée and tell her he has ceased to care for her." An entry scowl spread over his handsome face and his gray eyes looked gloomily at the carpet.

His reflections were interrupted by the entrance of a fair-haired girl, with trim little figure and features delicately cut. "The man's a fool," thought Starling. Her appealing look of uncertainty made his task seem harder than ever.

"Is this Miss Keane?" he asked, coming a step toward her.
"Yes," she answered, cordially extending her hand. "And you, so the maid told me, are a gentleman from Alaska," she continued, as she motioned him to a seat. "What an interesting life you must have had. I suppose I've no conception of it, though I've caught little glimpses from letters."

"Why won't she help me out by asking for Sam?" was his unspoken query, but as he looked across at the bright, girlish face he could not help postponing his disagreeable errand. Led on by her questions and evident interest, he yielded to the charm of talking again to a woman of his own class and told of the adventures, the joys, and the hardships of that northern life, till at last he found himself speaking of the more intimate experiences, the longing for home and friends and the refining influence of women's company became at times almost overpowering.

"But I've talked too much about myself already. I forgot we were perfect strangers," he added apologetically.
"We're not exactly strangers," she amended. "At least I used to hear a great deal about you."

"I suppose Sam hasn't written much to her lately," reflected Starling. "The scoundrel!"
"At any rate, I've been horribly slow in coming to the point," he said, determined to wait no longer.

That she was bravely struggling for composure he could see by her tightly closed lips and the nervous way in which she clasped her slender fingers. Her distress tore his sympathetic heart and he felt that he was absolutely inhuman to augment her suffering. "My dear girl," he said impulsively, coming to her side and resting his hand on her chair, "I'm here on the most unpleasant errand I ever undertook. My partner, as you know, planned to return from Alaska with me," he continued, looking down pityingly into the startled depths of her blue eyes, "but at the last moment he told me that he had changed his mind and wished to send a message by me."

"But who is your partner?" she asked in perplexity.
"How awkward I am!" Starling exclaimed. "I'm sorry to say my partner is Sam Lincoln."

He had often tried to decide, while on his long journey, just how the girl would bear the news. When he saw her he felt sure she would be "game"; that she would not weep hysterically nor fall fainting. He was, however, prepared for almost anything, but her next question, spoken in a tone of utter amazement: "Then you are not Mr. Lincoln?"

"Good heavens! We don't resemble each other in the least. Have you forgotten how your fiancée looks in these three years?"

As she rose and stood confronting him he saw that she was actually laughing. "I'm not his fiancée," she explained. "That's my sister Elizabeth. I'm Beatrice, and as I was abroad at the time they became engaged I've never seen the fickle gentleman."

The man groaned despite his relief at not hurting her as he had expected. "And must I go through all my agony again to tell your sister? Won't you do it for me?" His tongue was almost eloquent in its pleading.

She looked up with a most tantalizing smile at his distressed countenance. "Yes, I'll help you out. In fact, it won't be a very painful revelation, for Elizabeth sent me down as ambassador to-day because she is very much in love with a Philadelphia lawyer."

"The devil!" he commented.
"Aren't they a nice pair," she asked scornfully, "to make us go through this tragic scene for nothing? Here, I've been plying you so, and you're not the injured lover at all, but just—why, I don't know exactly who you are," she finished, laughing.

"Jack Starling," he replied, fumbling for his card. "And now," he added, slowly, "I'm afraid I've no excuse for staying longer, but I shall be in New York for several months, and forty miles isn't much in this part of the country, you know." He had taken her hand to say good-by, and he held it for a moment as he waited for her answer.

"Yes, you may come out and call. I shall be pleased to see you."
"Very soon?" he urged gently.
"Well—yes," she consented, drawing away her hand and dropping her eyes with a little blush before the earnestness of his gaze.

As he opened the door he said, with seeming irrelevancy, "I think I shall not return to Alaska."

Protection to the Knees While Scrubbing the Floors.

Most housekeepers know how hard it is to get down on the hands and knees and scrub. It is not only hard on the knees, but it causes the skirts to become wet and dirty, and is generally disagreeable. To aid scrub-women a Cleveland woman has designed the knee cushion shown in the illustration. To avoid the discomforts and disagreeable features incident to scrubbing floors, she provides a cushion on which the knees can rest. The cushion includes a wire frame, comprising two parallel bars connected at the ends by curved uprights. These uprights form convenient handles, and also act as guard to keep the skirts back. The pad extends around the bars, and is well stuffed. The outer covering is made of oilcloth or other waterproof cloth, so that the pad will not become soaked. The handles provide a convenient method of pushing or pulling the cushion back and forth across the floor.

Wisteria for the Veranda.

The Field and Farm always said that the wisteria is one of the most satisfactory vines for a veranda. It grows strong and high, makes a pretty, leafy screen and is loaded with blossoms in the early spring just when we need flowers the most.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., took strong measures to bring attention to this subject. He has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. He has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Dr. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson City, Mo.; Pillsbury, of St. Paul; and of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

Have You Seen Foxy Grandpa's Circus In Lacy Thoroughgood's Clothing Window? 2000 People Saw It Last Saturday

The stores that are doing the business in all cities and towns today are the stores that are doing straight business. Stores that avoid getting "ELEPHANTS" on the hands, who don't "MONKEY" with fakes, who don't do much "LION" in their business, and who don't try to do a "DOG" gone thing, but do the "CAMEL" act and "HUMP" themselves all the time to get business and keep it—that's us, James Thoroughgood and Lacy Thoroughgood. We've got two of the best stores in Salisbury, and we keep the very best goods kept in Salisbury. I mean we sell the best goods sold in Salisbury. We don't keep 'em—that's a mistake about keeping 'em. We can't keep 'em; people want 'em, and of course we let them have 'em. We want to do business with you. We don't want to humbug you, but want to do a few things to you. We want to sell you everything you wear. To show you that we appreciate what we have done for us this year, we have secured the greatest attraction that was ever put in a clothing store window, and was admired by two thousand people last Saturday. Everybody is invited to come to my store this Saturday night and enjoy the show, which will be free for everybody to see. Come everybody and bring the children.

Why Refer to Doctors

Because we make medicines for them. We tell them all about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and they prescribe it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. They trust it. Then you can afford to trust it. Ask your own doctor.

If we had but one style at each price, we could tell you of them all. But with a dozen or so of variations at each figure, how can we? It's for you to fix your price mark, then come here to be satisfied. If you want a shoe at $2.00, you won't need to look at a single shoe of a different price. Something in our $3.00 line will be sure to please you.

Three dollars is a favorite price with a good many women, but unless they have bought here they don't know the full possibilities of $3.00.

Our $3.50 shoes are smart enough and good enough for almost any foot.

But if you want positively the most elegant and luxurious footwear that can be built, the most exclusive styles, the finest leathers—why pay $4.00 or $4.50 and get it all.

We would like to have every lady in town and surrounding towns and counties bring her shoe ideas right in here.

Adirondack Guides Who Are Also Woodworkers. COMMANDS A BIG PRICE

Furniture Well Designed and Durable Turned Out by Them for Use in Camps—Rustic Chairs and Tables That Attract—All Handmade of Selected Timber.

When an Adirondack guide is really master of his craft he is also a great deal more. In particular he is a skilled, quick and ingenious carpenter and joiner, with an expert knowledge of local woods and a deftness in making articles of furniture from cedar and pine in the round that few urban craftsmen can equal.

For the bedrooms, they make bedsteads, usually of pine in the round with the bark removed for the sake of greater cleanliness, sometimes of planed planks. The washstand is made of tongued and grooved wood and shaped to go into a corner of a room or a tent. It is usually provided with ample shelves for storage. Sometimes the kneeling box is completely covered with small strips of some wood that tenaciously retains its bark. In such cases the coloring of the bark is carefully considered, and the box with its hinged lid is beautiful. Structurally also it is excellent, for it is neatly joined in every part.

It is the pride of the carpenter-guide to make use of simple materials ready at hand, and accordingly the hinges of such a box are often contrived of wrought nails cleverly twisted and turned so that they serve their purpose to perfection, and give a permanent and easy working hinge. Chairs for the bedroom, porch and living room are made in a great variety of shapes from cedar with the bark on. All the parts are fitted together so that the chair is at once strong, comfortable, neat in appearance and stable on its legs. Great arm chairs are made thus with seats of cedar in the round like a miniature corduroy road. The braces of the back are made with decorative intent, but structural qualities are rarely sacrificed for decoration.

In some parts of these big chairs the cedar is bent, with the result of decoration and structural excellence. Smaller chairs are made on the same plan, and some are of simpler design. Tables are made of all sizes and for many purposes. A dining table seating a dozen persons and made of cedar in the round, with planed pine top, has been used in one Adirondack camp for fifteen years. It is in every way admirably suited to its purpose, and the bark remains on the cedar just as when the table was made.

Smaller tables on the same plan are used for many purposes. More decorative tables are made of cedar some in hexagonal form, others round, with three legs, very tippy but not impracticable. Still others are made entirely of wood in the round with the bark on. The face of the table in such case is made of small pieces wrought into a pattern or rayed from the center.

It is an ambitious effort like these that the carpenter guide is apt to be betrayed into bad taste. As often as not, though, his aesthetic mistakes come from his effort to comply with the taste of his employers. Benches, settees, sewing tables, sofas and even sideboards are made of such rustic materials and upon simple lines. Plant baskets are covered with birch bark, and serviceable cups and pitchers are made of that material.

Excellent linen chests are made entirely of cedar in the round save for an interior lining of pine. Indeed it would be hard to name any article of household furniture which can be made of wood that the guides will not undertake to make from the native material.

Cedar is the favorite wood with the carpenter guides because it is durable and easily worked. Every camp should have some seasoned cedar in the round stored against need.

Wild cherry with the bark on is used for small decorative articles, and with good effect. White and yellow birch are also used, and less often beech. Alder is also used for small articles. The beautifully cylindrical form of the cedar recommends it for large articles. Pine is much used for large articles.

Nails are commonly used rather than wooden pegs for securing joints. For the more delicate work long slender brads are used. The carpenter guides would rather use copper fastenings, but these make articles of furniture rather expensive. For articles not to be exposed to weather iron nails serve very well. The work of the guides, made by hand in every part and of carefully selected timber by a highly paid mechanic who refuses to be hurried into anything even the smallest detail, can never be as cheap as furniture produced wholesale by machinery. Its virtue lies in its durability and its fitness for the place it is to fill. New York Sun.

Muscular Pains Cured. "During the summer of 1908 I was troubled with muscular pains in the instep of my feet," says Mr. S. Foley, of Toronto, Ont. "At times it was so painful I could hardly walk. Chamberlain's Pain Expeller was recommended to me. I tried it and was cured."

Miss Maria—I've got a new machine and I'm learning to run it. Miss Motor-mad—Oh, what kind is it? Miss Maria—Sewing machine! Fully Explained.

Stakes—That plug I bet on fell down and crossed the line tail first! Otherwise I had won a million! Touts—Well, you see, you bet on the wrong end of the horse!

Not Wasted. "I hear you kissed the wrong girl in the dark last night." "Nonsense! No girl can be wrong to kiss." "It merely happened that I didn't kiss the girl I had intended to kiss, that's all."

Inadequate to the Occasion. The Golf Girl—Dear me! How annoying! The Caddy—If that's all she's got to say when she breaks a club, it's hardly worth talking about it—Pick-me-up.

The Kind He Needed. "I think I shall have to grow a beard, Molly. How would you like me with a beard?" "Would one be enough, uncle?"

About Digestion. It is not the quantity of food taken but the amount digested and assimilated that counts. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and enable them to perform their functions. The result is better food, improved health, lighter, greater energy.

...know of any other cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for anything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What Does It Mean to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policy-holders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. contain special and peculiar advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Examine these advantages before placing your insurance. You owe it to your family to have the best:

WEALTH GOING TO WASTE New Cornstalks May Be Converted Into Alcohol. Professor Wiley of the Department of Agriculture says that inasmuch as every 100 pounds of cornstalks will yield 8 1/2 pounds of absolute alcohol, it is obvious that the ignorant agriculturist has been allowing an enormous amount of wealth to go to waste.

Say that one acre will yield from 10 to 12 tons of grain stalks, or about 20,000 pounds, and you have a quantity of raw material which will produce 1300 pounds of absolute alcohol, or 216 gallons. Alcohol at the present time is worth 40 cents a gallon. Ground in a wet condition and dried, cornstalks may be kept indefinitely, and are ready at any time for conversion into alcohol.

Majesty of the People. Queen Victoria had a doubtless some recollection of the theories of the divine-right of kings, so when Mr. Gladstone, then Prime Minister, brought her a paper to be signed, she said: "I cannot sign it. That does not represent my sentiments." "Madam," said the Premier, "you must sign it." "Do you say Must to me, Mr. Gladstone? I am the Queen of England." "Madam, I am the People of England. Sign." And she signed.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Age and Ability. Mrs. Eddy was 40 when she discovered Christian Science, just as Mrs. Stowe was 40 when she wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Scott began the Waverley novels when he was 43; Mohammed was 53 when the heghra marked the beginning of his great work; Swedenborg was 54 years old when what is called his illumination began, and if Newton and Darwin had regarded themselves as past their best at 40 there would now be neither the "Principia" nor "The Origin of Species."

The Dreadnought's Fault. The British battleship Dreadnought proved herself remarkable in many ways on her experimental cruise. She can maintain an economic speed of 17 knots without difficulty, and increase to full power with extraordinary promptitude. One unsuspected condition, however, has been revealed during her cruise in the Mediterranean. Being heavier than any war ship afloat, she retains her momentum longer. In carrying out evolutions, therefore, she is very sluggish.

Animals at Church Services. Animals attend a church service in Peru, Figs, goats, cattle and poultry are brought by their owners to be blessed on All Souls' Day, and the church is turned into a domestic menagerie. The seats are removed, and the animals can trot about or lie down where they will. After the ceremony the live stock is formally handed over to the monks, who receive little other payment for their services.—Tit-Bits.

Secrecy in Despatches. Secrecy in the transmission of telegraph despatches in China is to be insured in future by a provision for the decapsulation of all offenders revealing the contents of important messages of commerce thus revealed the penalty is to be years in prison. Five years' imprisonment is provided for persons who know of the revelation of such secrets and neglect to report the matter to the proper authorities.

Duchess Olga's Wealth. Whatever may be the fate of Russia's reigning family when the revolutionists get through with that country, one member of it will be beyond the reach of want—She is the Grand Duchess Olga, eldest of the Czar's daughters. Although still a child she has a fortune estimated at $10,000,000 in her own right. Moreover, her millions are invested abroad, where the terrorists cannot get them.

Novel Advertising. Japan as an advertiser has taken some billboard ideas from America. Worshipers at Buddhist temples invariably wash their hands in a fountain at the entrance before making their supplications. Formerly the priests hung towels there. Now the merchants of Tokio and other cities furnish the temples with free towels, reserving the privilege of printing their advertisements on them.

Prince Eugene An Artist. Prince Eugene of Sweden, one of the most democratic of the royal personages, studied art seriously in Paris, where he was known in the artistic and literary world as "E. Oscarson." He is fond of touring Italy and always has for a companion some painter or sculptor friend. He devotes most of his time to landscape work.

Telling a Horse's Traits. An officer of the British Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons says it is easy to tell a horse's character by the shape of his nose. If the profile has a gentle curve, and at the same time the ears are pointed and sensitive, the animal may be depended on as being gentle and at the same time high-spirited.

If The Baby Is Cutting Teeth. Be sure and use this old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the surest remedy for diarrhoea.
