MILLINERY OPENINGS

Of Lowenthal and Taylor Occupy Three Days This Week. Some Of Styles Displayed.

Lowenthal's display of ladies and children's hats, was the largest they have ever had and the style the most novel. The shapes are odd, but becoming. A beautiful hat was one of satin braid, with accordion plaited lace turned high in the back, and the entire back banded with shaded lilacs. A child's hat was of embroidered linen in the new effect, faced with net and lace and a large bow of blue ribbon.

A champagne braid and chiffon hat, banded high with panes and tea roses, and finished off with four shades of violet ribbon was another charming creation.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor's display of Spring millinery was much admired and the large number of pattern hats on exhibition showed the new high back turban the round crown, the "plaque" the "poke," "colonial," "Charlotte Corday" and the "Lingeria hat" for children and misses.

A very pretty hat for a child was an undressed leghorn in poke fashion, with white chiffon edge, chiffon plaiting on the crown and chiffon strings.

A red hat in the new satin braid with extremely high back, and shaded red chiffon facing trimmed in shaded geraniums and ribbon the same tint.

A white embroidered short back flat hat with a facing of narrow white valencien lace in ruffles and trimmed from the back with sprays of green and white clover.

A Charlotte Corday hat made in tuscany braid underneath, and a top of pink satin braid trimmed in olive velvet, white lilacs and magnolia leaves.

An entire hat made of lilacs in black, also one made in purple attracted much attention.

BIRCKHEAD-SHOCKLEY CO

New Style Of Old Firm Well Known On Main Street. Incorporation Includes Other Members.

The Birckhead-Shockley Company is the latest incorporated firm in Salisbury. The necessary papers in the case prepared by the law firm of Messrs. Ellegood, Freedy and Wailes were filed in the office of the Clerk of Court here Monday. The incorporators and directors named are: Charles J. Birckhead, J. Ernest Shockley, Saml. H. Carey, Arley Carey and William J. White, the officers chosen for the first year being: President, Charles J. Birckhead; Vice president, Wm. J. White; Secretary and Treasurer, J. Ernest Shockley; General Manager, Arley Carey.

The Birckhead-Shockley Company succeeds the firm of Birckhead and Shockley, and in its stockholders contains some of the most successful merchants on the peninsula. Mr. Birckhead succeeded his father, Wm. Birckhead, in business being associated with the late R. E. Powell for some time.

Mr. S. H. Carey was also associated in the same firm under the name of Powell, Birckhead & Carey. In 1881 these two withdrew and with Mr. J. R. T. Laws formed a partnership under the style of Birckhead, Laws & Carey. This partnership continued until 1887 when Mr. Laws withdrew. The business continued as Birckhead & Carey until 1901, when Mr. J. Ernest Shockley succeeded Mr. Samuel H. Carey. Now Mr. Carey again becomes interested. The new firm expects to add considerable stock to their present lines to meet additional trade requirements.

Progress Of The M. P. Church Of This City.

Another year of substantial progress has marked the history of the Methodist Protestant Church of this city. Notwithstanding severe afflictions in the pastor's family he has been able to fill his pulpit without any break. The various meetings of the church have been largely attended as a rule. It is believed that more money will be reported as raised this year than any other year in the history of the church with the exceptions of the years during which building operations have been carried on.

One fact will indicate the healthy growth of the Sunday School. At the Christmas Entertainment, 1903, 325 packages of candy were required. At the Christmas Entertainment of 1904, 375 packages were needed. Within a short time thereafter the Sunday School numbered a little over 400.

The Christian Endeavor Society has made a splendid record during the year.

A Junior Society with a membership of about 40 has been organized.

A Sunday afternoon testimony meeting under the leadership of W. A. Bell is proving a great means of grace, as well as an evangelistic agency.

The church has dealt with the problem of entertaining the Annual Conference and by the help of those from without has mastered it.

E. J. C. Parsons has been elected delegate to the Annual Conference which begins its regular sessions next Wednesday morning. Mr. Parsons has been instructed to ask for the return of the pastor for the sixth successive year.

Booker Washington in one of his recent addresses advised the negroes to raise more chickens. The farmers complain that already they raise too many for the good of the neighborhood.

CATARRH THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL CHRONIC DISEASES.

"Pe-ru-na is a Blessing to Those Troubled With Catarrh," Says United States Senator Corbin.

Ex. U.S. Senator D. Y. Corbin.

Gentlemen—"The use of Pe-ru-na has been a blessing to those troubled with catarrh. So many of my acquaintances have been cured and benefited by its use that its curative qualities should be generally known. I do not hesitate to recommend it as the best remedy yet discovered for that disease."—D. Y. Corbin, 916 Chicago Opera House, Chicago, Ill.

Colds Not Promptly Cured Are Sure to Cause Catarrh.

Catarrh Improperly Treated is Sure to Make Life Short and Miserable.

Many Wonderful Cures Are Made by Pe-ru-na.

CATARRH spreads no organ or function of the body. It is capable of destroying sight, taste, smell, hearing, digestion, secretion, assimilation and cannot help but add weight and importance to the thousands of testimonials from the humbler walks of life.

Catarrh is the cause of at least one-half of the ills to which the human family is subject. Is there no way to escape from it? There is.

Pe-ru-na never fails to cure a cold. Pe-ru-na never fails to cure catarrh in the first stage. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh in the second stage, nine cases out of ten. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh in its last and worst stages in the majority of cases, and never fails to benefit every case, however bad.

"My Life Hung by a Mere Thread, Pe-ru-na Cured Me."

Mrs. Sarah Smart, 279 Hayward St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I can't tell in words how low I was. My life hung by a mere thread. I was waiting for months to die."

"My trouble was consumption or bronchitis. I suffered no pain when I was low, but coughing and breathing kept sapping what little strength I had. I could not eat, sleep or even lean back on a chair. I was a mere skeleton. I said to my husband, 'I can't last much longer.' My neighbors say they do not know how I ever recovered. It was almost a miracle.

"I took your medicine but three months, when I could go my household and washing, and have been doing it ever since. Now I am able to do anything. You would never think I had been troubled with such a serious illness. I shall always keep your medicine in my house."—Mrs. Sarah Smart.

Despaired of Recovery.

Mrs. R. L. Aulich, Vice President American Genealogical Association, 609 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I know whereof I speak when I say that Pe-ru-na is a wonderful remedy for colds and catarrhal trouble. Last fall I was very much debilitated from the effect of a cold contracted early in the summer and which I neglected. I knew that my system was in need of medicine and rest, but to find the right thing was the problem. Happily I gave Pe-ru-na a trial first and have no reason to complain of the results. Within a month I had entirely recovered my strength and good health and really felt better and stronger than before."—Mrs. R. L. Aulich.

"If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis."

Dr. Wm. Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Milk Crust, Tetter, Ringworm, and Scalled Head, and Every Form of Torturing, Disfiguring Humors from Infancy to Age.

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

CAPT. GRAHAM'S CURE Of Distressing Humour.

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing under date of June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

For Love of Country

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY,
Author of "The Help of Heaven," "The Sinner's Story," "The Heavy Manna," "The Doctor of Philosophy," etc.

Copyright, 1898, by Charles Scribner's Sons

"But if I had not come back, Kate—how then?"
"It would have made no difference. I told him so."
Neither of them in their mutual absorption had noticed that a horse had stopped in the road opposite the boat-house and a horseman had walked to the door and had halted at the sight which met his eyes. Desborough recognized Seymour at once, and he had unwittingly heard the end of the conversation. He was the second. The man was back again. It was true. The gallant gentleman stood still a moment, making no sound, then turned back and mounted his horse and rode manly away with despair in his heart.

She was clasped to his heart.

"The more reason that in the future you should not go alone," she said softly, standing by his side.

"And with but one arm," he continued.

"No, three," she said again, "for here are two."

"Besides, my trading ships have been captured by the enemy, my private fortune has been spent for the cause. I am a poor man in every sense."

"Nay, John, you are a rich man," she said gaily.

"Oh, yes, rich in your love, Katharine."

"Yes, that of course. If that be riches, and richer in honor too; but that's not all."

"What else pray, dearest?"

"Did you know that Madam Talbot had died?" she answered, with apparent irrelevance.

"No, but I am not surprised at it. After her son's death I expected it, poor lady. He loved you too, Kate. We fought about you once," he said; and then he told her briefly of Talbot's end, his burial, the interview he had with Talbot's mother, and the letter.

"I have seen that letter since I returned," she said. "It is at Fairview Hall now awaiting you, awaiting its master like the other things there—and here. Shall we live there, think you, John?"

"Awaiting me! Its master! Live there! What mean you, Kate?" he cried in surprise.

"Yes, yes, it is all yours," she replied, laughing at his astonishment. "A codicil to her will, written and signed the day before she died, the day after you saw her, left it all to you. It was to have been her son's and then mine. And when she believed us dead, she left it to you, as I quote her own words—a true and noble gentleman who honors any cause, however mistaken, to which he may give his allegiance. I quote them, but they are my own words as well. You are a rich man, John, and the two estates will come together, as father and Madam Talbot had hoped, after all."

"I am glad, Kate, for your sake."

"It is nothing. I should have taken you if you had nothing at all."

A young man ran down the little pier and into the house at this moment.

"Kate," he cried, "where are you? It is so dark here I can hardly see. Ah, there you are!" He ran forward and kissed her boisterously. "You'll have to forgive me; I could not wait any longer. Captain Seymour. Father rode down the hill after Lord Desborough galloped by me and met me there, waiting. Oh, I was so glad to know you were alive again! We felt like a pair of murderers, didn't we, Captain Seymour? Father told me you were here, Kate, and then we waited until now to give you a little time, and then I couldn't stand it any longer; I had to see you. Father's coming, too, but I ran ahead."

"Why, Philip," cried Kate, as soon as he gave her an opportunity, "kiss me again and laughing light heartedly, as she has not done for days. 'How you have grown! You are quite a man now!'"

"It is entirely due to Philip, Katharine, that I am here," said Seymour. "He commanded the little brig which ran down to the Yarmouth at the risk of destruction and picked me up. Disobeyed orders, too, the young rascal. He brought me into Charleston, nursed me like a woman and then brought me here. I should have died without him."

"Oh, Philip," said the delighted girl, kissing the proud and happy young man with more warmth than he had ever known before, "promise me always to disobey your orders. How can I thank you?"

"Very bad advice that. Promise nothing of the kind, Philip. But what are you thanking him for, Kate?" said the cheery voice of the colonel as he came in the door.

"Thanking him for Seymour, father."

"Ah, my boy," said the colonel, grasping his hand, "you don't know how glad I am to see you. It is like one returning from the dead. But it is late, and cold, and quite dark. Supper is ready. Let us go up to the Hall. I shall see the naval commissioners in a few days, Seymour, and get you another and a better ship. The country is full of your action. They've struck a medal for you and voted you prize money and thanks and all that. I make no doubt I can get you the best ship there is on the ways or planned. 'Twas a most heroic action!"

"Why, you said, if my memory serves me, that you"— "Exactly, that I would see you after supper, and so I will. Come, children, let us go in; this time I warrant you there will be no interruptions."
The father and son turned considerably and walked away, leaving the lovers to follow.

"You won't leave me, John, will you, now that you have just come back?"

"No, Kate, not now; I am good for nothing until I get strong."

"Good for me, though; but when you do get strong?"

"Don't talk about it now, then, John. At least I shall have you for a long time. It will be long before you are well again, I should think."

"Yes, I fear so," he said with a sigh.

"Why do you sigh, dearest?"

"Because I want to stay with you, and I ought to welcome any opportunity to enter active service. Think what old Bentley would say."

"Old Bentley did not love you," she replied quickly, with a jealous pang.

"Ah, did he not?" said Seymour softly.

There was a long pause.

"Well," said Katharine at last, "I suppose nothing will move you if your duty calls you, but I warn you if you get killed again I shall die. I could not stand it another time!" she cried piteously.

"Well, dearest, I shall try to live for you. Now we must go to the Hall."

But, to anticipate, fate would be kinder toward Katharine in the future than she had been in the past, and it was many a day before her lover—her husband, rather—was able to get to sea, and, as if they had suffered enough, he went through the rest of the war on land and sea scathless and was one of those who stood beside the great commander before the trenches of Yorktown when the British soldiers laid down their arms. But this was all of the future, and now they turned quietly and somewhat sadly to follow the others.

This time it was Katharine who helped Seymour up the hill. Slowly, hand in hand, they walked across the lawn, up the steps of the porch and toward the door of the Hall. The night had fallen, and the house was filled with a soft light from the wax candles. They paused a moment on the threshold. Katharine resolutely mastered her fears and resolved to be happy in the present; then, besides of all who might see, she kissed him.

"Home at last, John," she said, beaming upon him.

And there, with the dark behind and the light before, we may say goodby to them.

THE END.

The Vacuum Cleaning Process.

A description of the vacuum cleaning process which has been installed in a new bank building sounds like a dream of Utopia and suggests all sorts of blessed possibilities to the martyrs of the dustpan and the broom, whose war against dirt is as weary as it is ineffectual. The center of the system is a tank in which a vacuum is maintained by means of an electric pump and from which pipes are conducted throughout the building. In the various rooms there are taps to which a flexible hose may be attached, and at the other end of the hose is a nozzle, through which the dust and dirt in a room are sucked in without contaminating the atmosphere. With this system the entire building can be cleaned in three hours at a cost of less than $100, the results being incomparably better than those which could be accomplished by hand. It will probably be a long time before such methods reach the homes of the people, but the housekeeper who is given to dreaming dreams will doubtless picture to herself a time when the city will bring vacuum pipes into the houses, just as it now puts in water pipes, and when the terrors of cleaning will be relegated to the remote past.

A Wonderful Old Lady.

On no one have heartier wishes been showered for her health and happiness in the new year than the Baroness Burdett-Coutts. That most wonderful of women, now soon to be ninety years of age. Lady Burdett-Coutts had her great wealth left her by her father, Sir Francis Burdett. Few women, as may well be imagined, refused more offers of marriage in her girlhood than Miss Angela Burdett-Coutts. Lord Howland once exclaimed, "Miss Coutts likes me, and that is because I never asked her to marry me." Mrs. Browne, the secretary and faithful friend of the baroness, always kept a watch over the suitors, and there are those who say that had it not been for her counsels Miss Angela might have given her hand away earlier in life than she did. The baroness has always known how to use her money wisely. Her charities have been munificent, but she has known just when to open her purse strings and when to refrain from doing

Musical Prodigies.

The accounts of Master Danewski, who at the mature age of eight has been conducting a full orchestra at Bournemouth in a military march of his own composition, casually remarking afterward that he had written it several years ago, "when he was quite young," suggest a question which is worthy of more attention than it has received, the London Chronicle says. Why are genuine musical prodigies comparatively common, whereas in other branches of art they are practically nonexistent? We say "genuine," the Chronicle adds, "because it is undoubtedly the case that while, of course, not every precocious musician is heard of in mature life, nearly every great musician has in his time been a prodigy. One need only instance Mozart, Schubert, Haydn, Chopin and among executives of today Joachim and Norman-Neruda to realize that this is so. Have psychologists explained why the genius of music should and does awake in the soul years before that of painting and the allied arts?"

Much in a Name.

The Rev. William Carter of the First Presbyterian church, who opened the prominent dealers' convention, said he heard some one complain of the long names given to implement associations.

"Our movement," said he, "has a long name. It is the interdenominational evangelistic campaign for the religious and spiritual advancement and upliftment of greater Kansas City."

THE SALISBURY ADVERTISER PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT LIBBURY, WICOMICO, CO., MD. OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE...

COURT IN SESSION

Busy Week's Work For Wicomico's Judiciary, Jurors and Many Witnesses Assembled. Early Adjournment Probable.

The March term of the Wicomico Court which convened here Monday with Judges Holland and Lloyd bids to be far shorter than anticipated owing to an unlooked for disposition of many of the cases docketed for trial.

Judge Holland in his charge to the Grand Jury called their attention to an apparent lack of strict compliance with the county Liquor Law, stating that although he knew of no violations yet from evidence, he believed the law is not being strictly obeyed.

He expressed his regret that the County Commissioners did not see fit to accept the state aid under the Shoemaker Road Law, and apologized for them as being hard-working and conservative farmers.

Whether the amendment is accepted or rejected will count for much and will indeed probably be one of the great basic foundations of future political conditions in Maryland.

PLEA FOR WAR SUFFERERS BEING MADE.

Touching appeals from Christian workers in the Far East have come to prominent citizens of the United States, imploring aid for the sick and wounded soldiers of both armies and the multitude of destitute widows and orphans of soldiers killed in the war.

Rev. Y. Honda, principal of the Aoyama Theological school at Tokio, Japan, in a recent letter says: 'How long this distressing condition of things will last we cannot say. The people are doing their best and every charitable agency is taxed to the utmost, but so numerous have the impoverished families become that our means of immediate relief are utterly inadequate.'

The Executive Committee, composed of Hon. Seth Low, Bishop Greer, Bishop Harris, Chas. Cuthbert Hall, D. D.; W. E. Huntington, D. D.; Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, George H. Southard, Dr. Wm. Elliott Griffin, and B. F. Buck, Secretary, request contributions, large or small, sent to the Franklin Trust Company, Treasurer, No. 140 Broadway, New York City.

About $18,000 has already been contributed for this purpose, $10,000 of which has been forwarded to Japan for distribution.

Reception To Pastor And Presiding Elder—At Asbury Church.

The members and friends of the Asbury M. E. Church were cordially invited to attend a reception given Friday evening in the lecture room of the church by the Mito Society in honor of Rev. Mr. Hill and Presiding Elder Stengle, who have been returned as pastor and presiding elder, respectively.

In part Mr. Walton said: Two years ago, in this room, on behalf of the ladies of this organization and of the members of the church, I had the pleasure of extending to Dr. Stengle and his family, at the beginning of his term as Presiding Elder of this District, and to you, Dr. Hill, and your family, at the beginning of the eighth year of your term as pastor of this church, a most cordial and hearty welcome to our midst; and tonight, we extend to you the same earnest, heartfelt and sincere welcome, strengthened, increased and intensified by the years that have since passed.

For nine years, Dr. Hill you have gone in and out among us, and now at the beginning of the tenth year of your pastorate, our welcome to you and your family, is stronger, deeper, more sincere and cordial than at any time in the past. You have been with us amid joyous scenes of life, when good cheer prevailed on every hand, and when joy and brightness were present in goodly measure; and you have been with us when the waves of sorrow have swept over our homes, and when the darker scenes of life have closed in around us.

Salisbury is peculiarly fortunate in the personnel of its ministers and we know of no body of men that can do more for this community in all that tends to elevate the general standard of living than the ministry of Christ's Church, a body before whom the grandest opportunities of life are open, and the most magnificent and superb possibilities. As Whittier has beautifully said:

The paths of pain are thine. Go forth With patience, trust and hope; The sufferings of a sin sick earth Shall give thee ample scope.

It is a pleasure to come thus in contact with those who are imbued with the spirit of Christ, and who are working in harmony with the great principles of the Christian religion, and whose great aim and object and purpose it is to make men and women holier, happier and better than they are. We welcome you then too, because we believe our interests are safe and sacred in your hands, and because of what you have done for us and been to us, in the years that are gone, and in the language of that old and homely, yet expressive toast, and perhaps one of the most popular of the last century we say:

When we and ours can do for you and yours What you and yours have done for us and ours. Then we and ours will do for you and yours What you and yours have done for us and ours.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Salisbury Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back. The pains of rheumatism. The tired-out feelings. You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

Mrs. L. T. Adams, of 801 Choptank Ave., Cambridge says: "I had my first experience with kidney complaint and rheumatism about 18 years ago. It came on me gradually and in about three months I got so bad that I was compelled to take my bed. I was up and down, now feeling better and now worse, for about a year and a half. No tongue can tell what misery and suffering I endured. I recovered some what, but was never wholly free from pain in my back and through my left hip and down my left limb. At this time I was taking this, and the other remedy was doctoring a great deal, but nothing brought me any relief. I had heavy dull headaches and terrible dizzy spells and giddiness. I was growing worse every day and during the last year I could scarcely drag myself about. I could not lift any thing, was unable to sleep will at night and, to sum up the whole thing, I was a physical wreck. I happened to see a pamphlet about Doan's Kidney Pills and read of cures in cases similar to mine; in fact they described my case better than I could myself. I made up my mind there must be some merit in them and got a box. They simply worked like magic. In two days I was relieved and when I had finished the box I felt better than I had any time during the past two years. They practically cured me, and I have recommended them to all my friends and acquaintances. I cannot say too much in their favor."

Plenty more proof like this from Salisbury people. Call at White & Leonard's drug store and ask what their customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Dr. Theodore A. Worrall, of North East, has been presented by Gen. Dr. Worrall was attached to the Ninety-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers, of which General Pennypacker was first major.

A Great Sensation. There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

Over 100,000 feet of logs are expected to come down the Susquehanna River with the ice from Williamsport. A salvage of 50 cents a log is placed on them, and their arrival is awaited at Perryville, Havre de Grace and other points.

Robbed The Grave. A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at all drug stores.

A jury at Elkton Friday gave Mrs. Margaret Smith, of Port Deposit, $7,000 damages against the Pennsylvania R Road for injuries received by falling down a cellarway at Havre de Grace.

There is no question but that this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Letter To E. S. Adkins & Co.

Dear Sirs:—The usual way to buy paint is to take the lowest price by the gallon. Mistake; the buyer loses by it; how much? Depends on the paint; it is so much a gallon, or so much a year. How much a gallon or year, do you think? As much perhaps as the total price of the paint. It may take twice the number of gallons.

N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., owns two houses, both exactly alike. He painted one with Devco and one with another paint Devco 6 gallons; the other 12.

Go by the name: Devco. There's nothing cheaper. Go by the price; there's nothing dearer, except not painting at all. Poor paint is better than none.

What does it cost not to paint at all? Can't figure it out exactly; say a tenth of the building a year, besides looks.

What is poor paint worth, then? Don't know and don't care; you don't want it. Go by the name.

Yours truly, F. W. DEVOE & Co. P. S The L. W. Gunby Co. sell our paint.

The Diamond State Telephone Company had a force of men at work last week replacing copper wire for iron wire on their line between Elkton and Rising Sun. The company has a complete system in Cecil county.

The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Troubles No Family Can Afford To Be Without It.

"I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as one of the very best remedies for bowel troubles," says Mr. J. W. Hanlon, editor of Despatch, Ocala, Georgia. "I make this statement after having used the medicine in my family for several years. I am never without it." No family can afford to be without a bottle of this remedy in the house. It is certain to be needed sooner or later. For sale by All Dealers.

One hundred talemans are to be summoned for the Constable murder trial, which opens at Elkton, Monday. John M. Simpers, of Philadelphia, is under indictment for the crime.

About Rheumatism. There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

Offering for sale a number of white perch under the legal size led to that arched Charles E. Tull, of Windy Hill, Friday morning. On Mr. Tull stating, however, that the fish were caught by Frederick Lyon, of Windy Hill, the game warden released him and swore out a writ for the arrest of Mr. Lyon. The fine for having under size fish is $5 for each fish, and it is probable that Mr. Lyon's fine will amount to $100 or more.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up hill? If he did, his sensible horses would probably balk. Many a man is in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him. When his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition impaired in their functions, a friction is set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of daily duties. A foul stomach makes a foggy brain, and the man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's business like a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem presented to his mind "wrong end to." This condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system into a condition of perfect health, and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties. When constipation clogs the channels of the body, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will work an effectual cure of that disastrous disease.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

It's the little colds that grow into big colds; the big colds that end in consumption and death. Watch the little colds. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Eczema, scald head, hives, itchininess of the skin of any sort, instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for ovarian or womb operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley of 375 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I lost of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhoea, don't neglect yourself! Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

IN MEMORIAM.

On the 23rd inst., at the dawn of day was approaching the Angel of Death made his way through the solitude of night into the lonely chamber of Mr. George Baker, of near Twilley's, and took his spirit away to dwell in an land of eternal habitation there to remain ever with the Redeemed Host of God leaving behind a lifeless corpse. Less than three weeks previous Mr. Baker was attacked with pneumonia causing medical treatment under the subjugation of Dr. Jones. He gradually grew worse until a few days before his death when a change of betterment was realized, but being conscious that the end was near called for one of his faithful classmates to comfort him through the dark shades of death until finally on the morn of the 23rd day of March 1905 his life on earth was no more. He was about 33 years of age, having married Miss Alice Burton, about twelve years ago, who with two children given to bless their happy union and look forward with blessed anticipation of meeting him again in that happy land where separation is unknown. Having a kindly, genial and cheerful disposition, he won the love and respect of all with whom he came in contact. By the honesty, uprightness and faithfulness of the departed he was found to be a man of unwavering faith in the Master, and of unwavering loyalty to the doctrines and principles of the church of his choice. His character was unswayed and his name the synonym for purity. He was an amiable, loving and lovable spirit. The Christian graces had large development and sway in his life. He was a member of Bethel M. E. Church and was largely identified in the Sunday School. Sincerely devoted, soundly devoted, he was complete in Christ. He had no little share in life's afflictions, but at no time was he of other than a cheerful and pleasing disposition. Wholeness to him was a good working definition of holiness. This standard he lifted up among the people. His soul was often vexed with Godly talk without Godly walk. The lips of holiness are controlled by the law of love rather than the fire of vitriol. Benedictions are more natural to the Christian than maledictions.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, stable dealers, liveries, carriage makers, harness makers and shoe makers are all receiving consignments from the breeders all over America. It is only one branch of this immense business. We carry in stock 100 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST HORSE, MULE, CARRIAGE, WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

MARYLAND ANNUAL CONFERENCE HEARTILY WELCOME

Addresses Of Good Fellowship By Salisbury. Conference Having An Important And Busy Session In The City Church. Large Gatherings To Hear Its Proceedings. First Wednesday In April Chosen For 1906 Meeting.

A very hearty reception was given to the members of the Maryland Annual Conference Tuesday evening. The Methodist Protestant church, on Broad street, was crowded to overflowing by the visitors and citizens of Salisbury.

Mr. E. S. Adkins presided and the introductory remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. Dr. S. J. Smith. The freedom of the city was tendered by Mayor Charles E. Harper, who assured the ministers and laymen of their cordial welcome and expressed the hope that the deliberations of the conference would be harmonious and profitable to all.

Addresses were made by Mr. F. Leonard Wailes, Rev. Dr. S. W. Reigart, pastor of Wicomico Presbyterian Church and Prof. J. Walter Huntington, principal of the Salisbury High School. Responses to the cordial words of welcome were made by Rev. Dr. Little, president of the conference and Dr. Joshua W. Hering, former Comptroller of Maryland. A fine musical program was rendered by the choir, Miss Edna Adkins presiding at the organ.

A special train over the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic railway from Baltimore brought over 100 delegates and ministers.

The faculty of instruction of the Maryland Annual Conference organized in Wicomico Presbyterian Church with Dr. S. B. Southerland as president, J. L. Mills as secretary and the following instructors: W. S. Hammond, J. T. Lessell, W. M. Strayer, T. H. Lewis, B. L. Greenfield, J. M. Holmes, J. W. Gray, H. C. Cushing, S. B. Treadway, J. E. Maloy, J. S. Bowers, A. W. Mather, H. L. Elderlice and J. J. Murray. In addition to the graduates of the conference seminary, numbering 24, who have to be examined only in a few special studies, the following were examined here Tuesday.

For Reception on Trial—John Thomas Bailey, Wilmot Stone, Noah Clough, Winfield Paulson Roberts and Carroll Maddux.

First Year Class—G. E. Brown, B. A. Bryan, F. M. Clift, W. B. Elliott, G. C. Humphries, J. E. Litsinger, G. E. Norris and E. E. Parsons.

Second Year Class—A. W. Crosby, D. M. Dibble, F. B. Krauss, J. J. Hoocker, Clayborne Phillips and R. L. Shipley.

Third Year Class—E. H. Jones and C. R. Strausberg.

Wednesday.

At the election of officers there was a spirited contest for president, but Dr. F. T. Little was re-elected. The following was the vote: F. T. Little, 131; W. R. Graham, of Easton, 37; J. M. Gill, 6; J. M. Shoydan, 4; J. L. Mills, 2; W. J. Neepier, 1; J. W. Balderson, 1.

The following were appointed: The board of conference, stewards, W. N. Sherman; church extension, E. S. Fooks, superannuates, C. P. Nowlin, W. S. Phillips; the present secretary of the conference was re-elected and he appointed as his assistants J. H. Sewell and J. H. Straughn. The conference then selected the following leaders for the different sessions: Thursday, J. L. Nichols; Friday, Thomas Wheeler; Saturday, D. M. Dibble; Monday, S. I. Humphreys; Tuesday, Clayborne Phillips.

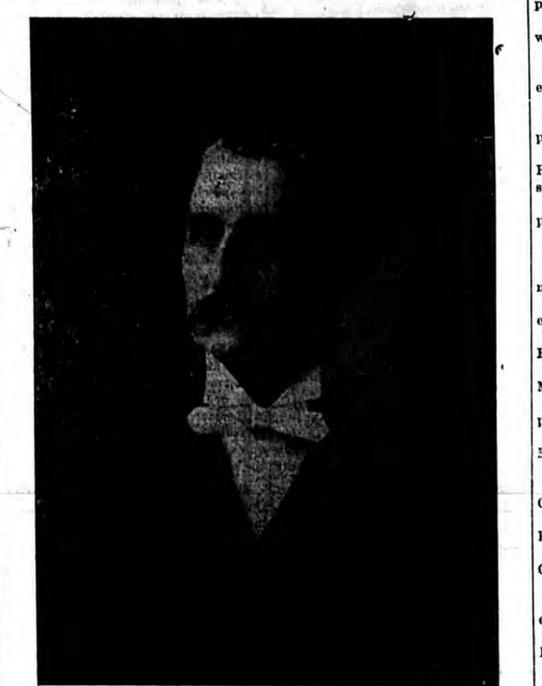

Dr. Little, president of the conference, read his report, which was considered very satisfactory. The bequests for the past three years footed up to $45,000. The condition of the Western Maryland College and Theological Seminary were shown to be in a prosperous condition and both demanding larger accommodations for students. The Church Home for the Aged is also doing well. Seven new churches were erected during the year, a large number improved, and preparations now in progress for the erection and improvement of others. The salaries had all been paid. There had been 2,295 converts during the year, almost all of whom had joined the church. The President reported the revival spirit throughout the work good. Rev. William R. Graham offered a resolution recognizing the great revival which has started in Wales, and setting apart 15 minutes each day for prayer that the spirit might extend to this country.

Rev. W. J. Balderson, of Seaford, Del., preached the conference sermon.

Thursdays.

Rev. T. H. Lewis read a paper on "Our Veterans," extending sympathy and affection to Dr. S. B. Southerland, J. J. Murray, David Wilson and W. S. Hammond in their afflictions. All these gentlemen are in declining health, and the paper expressed the sentiment of the conference for the deep feeling of regard in which the reverend gentlemen are held.

Quite a sensation was started Wednesday when Dr. Lewis handed his resignation as a member of the faculty to the board, which was occasioned by the large amount of work in connection with the Western Maryland College. He was prevailed upon to withdraw the resignation and did so. Thursday Dr. Lewis presented the conference with the bound volumes of the proceedings of every general conference and the Maryland conferences from the foundation of the church to the present time, which is said to be the only complete record in existence. The books also contain a complete history of the controversy which led up to and the formation of the Methodist Protestant Church.

Rev. F. T. Little, D.D., Maryland Conference President.

Rev. F. T. Little, the honored President of the Maryland Annual Conference, was born in Baltimore, Md. He has been in the ministry 33 years, and has served some of the best churches in the conference, notably that of Starr Church, in Baltimore, where he served a term of 10 consecutive years. He was elected President in the spring of 1902 and has finished his third year. He has also been elected a representative several times to the General Conference. Dr. Little is a man of commanding presence; a fine preacher; a good parliamentarian, and makes a model President.

A committee consisting of Revs. J. W. Balderson, J. E. Nicholson and Dr. Joshua W. Hering was formed to extend to Dr. Lewis the thanks of the conference for his invaluable gift.

Dr. T. H. Lewis was elected a commissioner, with Dr. Joshua W. Hering as alternate, to the general convention, which will probably meet in Washington to take up the question of organic union.

The report on the church extension, which was made by that organization, was a very flattering one.

The conference was addressed Thursday evening on the temperance question by Mr. V. B. Cushing of Maine. Mr. Daniel Baker, of Baltimore, presided.

Standing Committees.

Standing committees were appointed as follows:
Board of Finance—J. M. Sheridan, J. M. Gill, S. J. Smith, W. W. Smith, Sr., W. H. Thomas, Dr. A. B. Stille.

BY TUCKER'S WONDERFUL CURE

Covered from Head to Foot with Humours—Forty Boils on Head at One Time—Doctors and Drug Bills $100—Baby Grew Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA FOR FIVE DOLLARS

Mrs. George H. Tucker, Jr., 335
Greenfield Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., is a grateful mother. "When six months old," she says, "my little girl weighed a pound and a half less than at birth. When one month old a scab formed on her face, spreading until it completely covered her from head to foot, followed by boils, having forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. Then her skin started to dry up, and it became so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep. One month's treatment with Cuticura Soap and Ointment made a complete cure, and now my child is as large, strong,
and healthy as any child of her age.
The doctor's and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, and my baby grew worse all the time. Then we spent less than five dollars for Cuticure and cured her."

CUTICURA A BLESSING To Skin-Tortured Babies and Tired Mothers.

The suffering which Cuticura Soap and Ointment have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for birth humours, milk crust, scalled head, eczemas, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin, and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood. Guaranteed absolutely pure.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, are sold throughout the world. Peter Dink's Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Mfrs. Send for "How to Cure Baby Humours."

THINGS THAT NEVER DIE.

The pure, the bright, the beautiful,
That stirred our hearts in youth,
The impulses of wordless prayer,
The dreams of love and truth;
The longings after something low,
The spirit's yearning cry,
The striving after better hopes—
These things can never die.

The timid hand stretched forth to aid
A brother in his need,
A kindly word in grief's dark hour
That proves a friend indeed,
The lines that freely breathe,
When Justice threatens nigh,
The sorrow of a contrite heart—
These things shall never die.

The memory of a clapping hand,
The pressure of a kiss,
And all the trifles, sweet and frail,
That make up love's first bliss;
If with a firm, unshaking faith,
And holy trust and high,
Those hands have clasped, those lips have met
These things shall never die.

The cruel and the bitter word,
That wounded as it fell,
The chilling want of sympathy
We feel but never tell;
The hand that reaches to chill the heart,
Whose hopes were bounding high,
In an unfeeling record kept—
These things shall never die.

Let nothing pass, for every hand
Must do some work to do;
Lose not a chance to waken love—
Be firm, and true, and true,
So shall light that cannot fade
Beam on thee from on high,
And angel voices say to thee—
These things shall never die.

—Charles Dickens.

BERLIN.

Mrs. Edward Whaley and Miss Maud
Whaley of Blahopville were this week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whaley.

Members of the Dixie Society of Oregon were invited to attend a reception given by the Michigan Society.
No piece of music rendered was more heartily enjoyed than in Dixie's Land, we took our stand, and which we all remember so well.

Dr. Sidney Lane who has been the past fall and winter leading a life of ease and quietude in the country has taken rooms at the Park for a few weeks thinking the change might be a benefit.

Mrs. Chester Gunby and sister,
Miss Annie Purnell are visiting Salisbury. Ches. has now the opportunity of fully appreciating the luxurious attentions and comforts of a good wife being compelled to do his own cooking and washing of the dishes, two of the household accomplishments that but few husbands care to tackle. Judging from the length of contentment seen upon Gunby's face after his first experience this week he is one of them.

Misses Alma and Minnie Vincent, of Wicomico, are guests of their sister,
Mrs. Henry Davis in our city.

Since having noted the extreme illness of Mrs. Johnson Dennis later we are unfortunately compelled to report her death about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning to all appearance very much improved at an early hour that morning. Her husband who is still critically ill as yet knows nothing of the sad change the family being afraid to impart the intelligence. Mrs. Dennis was formerly a Miss Shookley and has a brother who has been notified living in Wicomico.

John Temple Graves tells us there is no use to get mad about it. There is no way to drive the Republican, Democrat, out of the party. The only thing is to commit the party to principle and platforms so essentially democratic that they will have no excuse or motive for remaining. We will never have a real Democratic party truly representing the majority of votes until they are gotten clear of and the sooner the better.

Franks Carnival of Novelties and Concert Co., played a week's engagement in this town to large and appreciative audiences each and every night with a matinee Saturday afternoon to a packed house. Each and every feature of Prof. Franks Concert is the best to date and I consider this the best pennsylvania show that I have had the pleasure of booking and introducing to the public since I have had the management of Adams Opera House which has been several years. I can recommend them to any manager to be strictly alright in every respect. R.
B. Adams, Manager of Adams Opera House, Berlin, Md.

Of our neighboring farmers from his poultry yard in one day gathered 30 dozen eggs. Eggs are always considered legal tender and a contribution to many comforts of the household.

Rockwalking also forces herself to the front as a claimant for honors due and reports a white leghorn hen owned by A. S. Taylor, which was said to have laid three eggs in one day, one the usual size, the others more the size of walnuts. Mr. Williams of the same place gathered two eggs on each of three successive days from one lone duck. Other sections of Wicomico and Worcester will kindly not forget to keep the Herald fully posted on such unparalleled productions of hen fruit. One of our columns is always open to herald the glad tidings. Now comes one of the other extremes. Port Demopolis has a live hen on exhibition that is said to weigh only four ounces.
The size, quality and quantity of eggs from a four ounce hen they have failed so far to let us know.

Miss Catherine Massey left Monday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Ludwig in Philadelphia. The responsibility of both schools have fallen upon the shoulders of Miss Virgalynd Trader during Miss Massey's absence who is both capable and willing to assume the extra duties.

Mrs. E. J. Dirckson left last Monday, intending a lengthy visit to Mr.
and Mrs. Alexander France in Baltimore. Mrs. Alex. France will likely return with her mother for a visit at Easton.

Miss Lee Burbage who has been one of D. J. Adkins & Co., most efficient office assistants for months has transferred her duties and now occupies stenographer's desk in H. D. Adams office on Main Street.

Bishop Adams will visit this parish and administer the holy rites of confirmation, April the 13th. One of the Bishop's able and instructive sermons will be presented to the congregation of St. Paul's as usual. All are invited to enjoy so able a discourse.

Mr. William J. Pitts has made a safe return from his southern two weeks' tour as an inspector of pine lumber for one of our large manufacturers.

Mrs. William A. Disharoon is reported among the list of persons that's most uncomfortably housed and sick from lagrippe.
Mr. Washington Dennis, with Mr.
Joseph Bunting was a guest Sunday and Monday of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Disharoon.
Mrs. Cyrus Dirckson had the pleasure of entertaining and enjoying the society of the Misses Edna and Julia Jones this week.
Mr. Wilmer Farnell this week joined the Army of Steadfast Fishermen at Green Run beach.

ginia coast.

Philadelphia early in the week.

daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hill in the Quaker City during the past few days.

Pleasing sermons were delivered by the new ministers, Willis and Farley at the M. E. and Baptist churches Sunday last.

M. Hurdle will sell a lot of third handed clothing Saturday next at 3 p. m.

Ed. Rowley and Clarence Wheaton spent their pre-Easter vacation here this week. They will return to Swarthmore College Monday next.

Schooners, Delan, Maggie Davis and DeCator arrived from the James River with plants Monday last.

Col. Selby of Stockton arrived in town Monday last with 200 fruit trees, a pony, two carriages, a dogwood man, five dozen electric bells, four suits of second hand harness, two Waterbury watches, and dress suit case of what not. He disposed of his cargo in three hours taking the 5.30 boat-home to fill a freight car of fresh orders for his many customers here. Col. Selby needs a clerk and a typewriter for his growing business.

Capt. Jones of Pope Island found the dainty things—the quaint things.

The dainty things—all appropriate to Easter.

So let this brief telling suffice—

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

Copyright 1904 by J. S. Olyffe Pub. Co. (New York.)

President Roosevelt says to the author of it
"I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

PREFACE.

The invalid, undermined by fever and devoured by thirst, dreams during his sleep of a cool brook where he bathes, or of a clear fountain where he drinks in great mouthfuls. So, in the complicated agitation of modern existence, our wearied souls dream of simplicity.

Is that which we call by that beautiful name a blessing disappeared forever? I do not think so. If simplicity had belonged to some exceptional circumstances, known only in rare epochs, we might renounce its realization for the present. We cannot lead civilization back to its origin any more than we can lead back the wide troubled rivers to the tranquil valley where the alder branches droop together over their source.

But simplicity does not depend upon any certain economic or social conditions. It is more of a spirit which can animate and modify lives of very different kinds. Far from being obliged to pursue it with impotent regrets we may, I affirm it, make of it the object of our resolutions and the aim of our practical energy.

To aspire to the simple life is to rightly aspire to the fulfillment of the highest human destiny. All the movements of humanity toward more justice and more light have been at the same time movements toward a more simple life. And the antique simplicity in arts, manners and ideas hold for us their incomparable value only because it has been able to give a powerful relief to some essential sentiments, to some fixed truths. We must love that simplicity and guard it jealously. But he will have gone but the hundredth part of his road who holds to exterior forms, and who does not seek to realize the spirit. In fact it is impossible for us to be simple in the same ways as were our forbears, and we can only remain so, or return to simplicity in the same spirit. We are walking in other paths, but the aim of humanity is fundamentally the same. It is always the polar star which directs the mariner, no matter whether he is embarked on a sailing ship or a steamer.

To advance toward this aim with all the means of which we can dispose is the most important thing, today as ever. And it is because we have often been drawn aside that we have confused and complicated our lives.

If I could succeed in causing others to accept with me that interior knowledge of simplicity, I shall not have made a vain effort. Some readers will think that such an idea should be incorporated in manners and education. They will begin by cultivating it in themselves, and will make the sacrifice of a few of the habits which hinder us from being men.

Too many encumbering utilities separate us from our ideal of truth, justice and kindness which should warm and revive our hearts. All that brushwood, under the pretext of furnishing us shelter, and our happiness, has ended by veiling our sunlight. When shall we have the courage to oppose the deceptive temptations of a life as complicated as unfruitful with the answer of the sage:
"Get out of my sunlight!"

CHAPTER I. THE COMPLEX LIFE.

At the home of the Blanchards everything is in confusion, and with good reason. Just think, Mademoiselle Yvonne is to be married Tuesday, and this is Friday!

There is an interminable line of visitors, loaded with presents, of furnishes bending under their loads. The servants are in a state of collapse. As to the parents, and the young couple, they do not exist, and they are no longer of any fixed habitation. During the day they are at the dressmakers', the milliners', the jewelers', or in the apartments, now delivered into the hands of painters and cabinet-makers. From there a rapid race to the offices of the business men, where they await their turn while watching clerks engrossing papers in the semi-darkness.

After that there scarcely remains time to hasten, each to his and her abode, to dress for the series of ceremonious dinners, dinners of betrothal, dinners of presentation, the dinner of the contract, receptions and balls. About midnight they return harassed, only to find the last arrivals of packages; a deluge of letters. Among them congratulations, compliments, acceptances and regrets of bridesmaids and ushers, and excuses from belated tradesmen. And then the annoyances of the last moments—a sudden death that disorganizes the bridal procession, a wretched cold which hinders an actress, a friendly star, from singing at the church service. It was all to do over again! Those poor Blanchards! They would never be ready—they who had thought they had foreseen everything.

This had been their existence during one long month. No means of stopping for breath, to have one hour's quiet for reposeful thought, nor to exchange a peaceful word. No, this is not living!

Fortunately there is the grandmother's room. Grandmother is nearly eighty years old. Having toiled and suffered much, she had reached a plane where she could look at things with that calm surety which comes to the lives of those who have high intelligence and loving hearts. Al-most always seated in her easy chair, she loved the long, silent hours of meditation. So the busy whirlwind which swept the rest of the house calmed itself respectfully at her door.

At the threshold of that retreat voices were softened and footfalls were mado light. And, when the young lovers felt the need of a quiet moment, they flew to the grandmother's room.

"Poor children!" she said then. "How unnerved you are! Repose here a little, and belong to each other. That is the principal thing. All the rest counts for nothing, and does not deserve that you should be so absorbed in it."

They knew it well, those young people. How many times in the last few weeks had their love not been obliged to cede before all sorts of conventionalities, exactions and fatalities. They suffered from that fatality, which at this declivity moment in their lives ceaselessly detached their minds from the only essential thing, thrust them against a multitude of secondary preoccupations. And willingly they approved of the grandmother when she said to them between a kiss and a smile:

"Decidedly, my children, the world is growing too complex, and it does not make people any happier—the contrary."

I am of the same opinion with grandma. From the cradle to the grave, in his needs as in his pleasures, in his conception of the world and himself, the modern man struggles through a maze of numberless complications. Nothing is simple now, neither thought nor action, amusement or even death. We have with our own hands added a train of difficulties to existence and cut off many pleasures. I am persuaded that at the present moment there are thousands of my fellow-beings who suffer from a too artificial life. They will be grateful to those who seek to give expression to their discomfort and encourage them in the regret for the simplicity which wags in their mind oppressing their vaguety.

Let us enumerate first a series of facts which put into relief the truth we wish to show.

The complexity of life appears in the multiplicity of our material needs. One of these universally conceded phenomena of this country is that our needs have kept pace with our resources. That is not itself an evil. The birth of certain needs marks a fact, a progress. It is a sign of superiority to feel the need of bathing, to wear fresh linen, to inhabit wholesome houses, to eat healthful food, and to cultivate the mind. But, if there are certain needs whose birth is desirable and which have a right to live, there are others which exercise a harmful influence, and exist at our expense, like parasites. It is the number and the imperious character of these which preoccupy our minds.

If our forefathers had been told that one day humanity would have at its disposal all the engines of which it is possessed to maintain and defend its material existence, they would have concluded at first that there would be augmentation of independence, and in consequence happiness. And, in the second place, a sensible decrease in the competition for the necessities of life. It would even have been permitted them to think that simplification of existence, resulting from these perfected means of action, would bring the realization of a higher morality.

Nothing of all this has come to pass. Neither happiness, social peace, nor power for good has been increased. In the first place, does it seem to you that your fellow-citizens, taken as a whole, are better contented than their ancestors, or surer of to-morrow?

I do not ask if they would be right to be so, but if they are. To see them as they live, it appears to me that the majority are discontented with their lot, before all being preoccupied with their material needs, and under the obsession of care, and the sorrow. Never has the question of food and shelter been sharper, or more absorbing than now, when we are better nourished, better clothed and better lodged than ever before. He deceives himself who believes that the question of, "What shall we eat, what shall we drink, and with what shall we be clothed?" is presented to the poor alone—those who are exposed to anguish to-morrow, without bread or shelter. With those it is natural, and yet it is just there that it presents itself most simply. One must go to the homes of those who have begun to enjoy a little prosperity, to learn how much the satisfaction with what they have is troubled by regret for that which they lack. And, if you would see the anxiety for the material future in all its luxurious development, observe the people of "comfortable means" and above all the rich. The women who have but one dress are not of those who ask to be dressed what they shall wear, nor is it those reduced to the strictest economy who ask the most frequently what they shall eat to-morrow. By a necessary consequence of the law that needs increase by their satisfaction: The more goods a man has the more he thinks he needs.

The more he is assured of to-morrow, according to the views of ordinary good sense, the more he concerns himself with the question of how he shall live, he and his children, how he will establish them and their descendants. Nothing can portray the fears of a man of means, their number, their reach and their redoubled shades. Of all this has resulted, across the different social orders, and according to the conditions, with a variable intensity, a general agitation, a state of mind most complex, which can but be compared to the humor of spoiled children, at once overwhelmed with gifts and still discontented.

If we have not become happier, neither have we grown more peaceable or brotherly. The spoiled children dispute often and violently. Their more needs and desires, a man has the more occasions he finds for conflicts with his fellow-men, and these conflicts are more bitter in proportion to the lack of justice in the cause. That they fight for bread, a necessity, is the law of nature. It may seem brutal, but has an excuse even for its harshness, and in general is limited to rudimentary civilities. All other is a battle for the superfluous: for ambition, privilege, caprice, and for material pleasure. Hunger alone never caused man to descend to the baseness which ambition will cause him to commit, or avarice, or thirst for unhealthy pleasures. Envy becomes more malicious as it becomes more refined. We have therefore, in these days beheld an aggravation of the spirit of hostility among our fellow-beings and our hearts are less at peace than ever.

It is useless to ask if we have become better. Does not the "nervous goodness" lie in the capacity of man to love something besides himself? And what place would be left to the neighbor in a life sacrificed to material cares, to needs mostly fictitious, to the satisfaction of ambitions, hatreds and fantasies? The man who gives himself up entirely to the service of his appetites makes them grow and multiply so rapidly that they become stronger than he. He is delirious in an internal anarchy, from which is born at last an outward and visible anarchy. Moral life consists in the government of one's self. Immorality consists in the government of ourselves by our needs and our passions. Thus, little by little, the basis of the moral life are displaced, and the rule of judgment is deviated from.

For a man, slave to numerous and exacting needs, to possess is the greatest good, source of all other good things. It is true that in the fierce struggle for possession, we come to hate those who possess, and deny the right of property when that right is in the hands of another, and not our own. But the feverish in attacking the possessions of others is a new proof of the extraordinary impetuosity which we attach to possession itself. Things and men end by being estimated at their selling price, and the profit to be made therefrom.

That which brings nothing is worth nothing, and he who has nothing is nothing. Honest poverty risks passing for shame, and even unclean money has little difficulty in passing for merit.

"Then," some one objects, "you condemn modern progress by wholesale, and you would lead us to the good old times, to asceticism, perhaps?" Not at all. It is the most sterile and dangerous of Utopias to wish to resuscitate the past, and the art of right living does not consist in withdrawing oneself from life. But, we are seeking to bring to light, with the aim of finding a remedy for it, one of those errors, which weigh heaviest on social progress, and that is, that man becomes happier and better by increase of his outward well-being. Nothing is false than this pretended social axiom. On the contrary. The diminishing of the capacity for being happy, and the debasement of characters by material well-being without counterweight, is a fact which a thousand examples are at hand to establish. A civilization is valued by what the man installed in its center is worth. When that man lacks moral direction, all progress but serves to make the evil worse and to further embroil problems.

C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champlagn, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; it cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.
The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

The Riggin will case, removed from Somerset county, and which involved a large estate was compromised. A. L. Miles and Toadvin & Bell for plaintiffs; Miles & Stanford for defendants.

The suit of Stephen A. Carter against the Diamond State Telephone Company, and that of Gertrude A. Carter against the same company, removed from Worcester county, were ordered to be continued.

The suit of Herbert Linton against J. W. P. Inley was compromised. Linton was caused to be arrested by Inley last summer on suspicion of being a murderer.

The suit of Perry and Bertha L. West against Perry L. Messick for $1,500 damages, removed from Dorchester county, was settled without trial.

The suit of Snow Hill was continued. Oliver D. Collins appeared for plaintiff; Robley D. Jones and Toadvin & Bell for defendants.

The various suits against Laws Bros. were settled without contest and judgments were entered up for full amounts and interest.

The Grier-Watt case, which had been on trial since last Friday went to the jury Tuesday afternoon, and after being out six hours returned a verdict for the plaintiffs for $311.00.

The Grand Jurors beg leave to submit their report on the condition of the public buildings of the County, such as they are required under the law to examine as follows:

Special committee appointed by your foreman to examine the Alms House, to ascertain the condition of the same and to learn whether or not the inmates have been properly treated, report that they found the premises in an entirely satisfactory condition, everything seemed to be properly cared for and the inmates were properly cared for.

The Grand Jury completed its investigations Saturday afternoon and adjourned about 3 o'clock after submitting the following report:

The Grand Jurors beg leave to submit their report on the condition of the public buildings of the County, such as they are required under the law to examine as follows:

mend that the County Commissioners send a competent plumber and have the property thoroughly examined and properly plumbed so as to make the rooms healthful and put them in a sanitary condition. There is an urgent need that necessary soil pipes be supplied for all the rooms and that the connection in the sewer at the rear of the building be made directly with the main sewer of the building, and that the waste pipe from the kitchen be connected with the same. That the Jury is decidedly of the opinion that iron bedsteads be furnished for the cells and no longer allow prisoners to be kept on mattresses on the floor. That we believe the keeper is doing all that conditions will permit, but we think these changes should be made.

"We desire especially to commend the County Commissioner for providing a fire proof vault for the Records of the Clerk's office. This improvement has been greatly needed for some time and we believe that the Commissioners were fully warranted in making the expenditure of $1,000 for this necessary security for the Public Records of the County and suggest that whatever additional furniture is needed for the vault be supplied.

"The Jury has examined very searching into all cases that have been presented to them and believe that they have well covered the period of time that the law requires of them. The New Anti-Saloon law which has been in force now about one year, the Jury believe, has been fairly well observed. There were vague evidences of some violations, but in most cases these evidences have not been of such a tangible character as to warrant the Jury in acting upon them. In the main, the law has been observed. While we do not pretend to say the drink habit has ceased entirely, but the liquor that has been secured by those who are still addicted to the habit has been procured principally through sources that the law permits.

"There have been no very serious infractions of the law in other directions within the past twelve months so far as the Jury have been able to learn. Most of those cases before it have been of a more or less petty character, but of course, requires the action of the Jury, all of which is respectfully submitted, together with the bills which we now present."

The Grand Jury which adjourned Saturday, found 94 indictments. Monday Deputy Sheriff Waller placed five persons under arrest to answer to some of the charges found against them by the Grand Jury. Jesse H. Brattan was arrested on the following charges: Assault, carrying concealed weapons, and assault with intent to murder.

Deputy Sheriff Waller apprehended Brattan in Salisbury Monday morning and he was put under bail, Capt. L. A. Parsons becoming his bondsman. The others arrested were four negroes: Lemuel Wilson for forgery; Levin Jones, Henry Jackson and Wm. Gattis for larceny.

Monday And Tuesday.

The suit of W. E. Holland against the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company for $10,000 was compromised. Holland claimed he was insulted on one of the Company's steamboats. The suit was instituted in Dorchester county, but was removed to Wicomico. The railroad company will pay all costs in the case. Thomas W. Simmons for plaintiff; Toadvin & Bell, Miles & Gorman for defendant.

The suit of Stephen A. Carter against the Diamond State Telephone Company, and that of Gertrude A. Carter against the same company, removed from Worcester county, were ordered to be continued.

The suit of Herbert Linton against J. W. P. Inley was compromised. Linton was caused to be arrested by Inley last summer on suspicion of being a murderer.

REV. L. A. BENNETT

A Native Of Wicomico County And Prominent Member Of The Maryland Annual Conference, Successful In Evangelizing.

The subject of this sketch was born in Wicomico County about twelve miles from this town and is the son of the late E. T. Bennett.

He was converted when fourteen years of age in Snetheon Chapel and being impressed with the duty of preaching the gospel he entered the Theological Seminary at Westminster, Md. for the purpose of making preparation for his life's work. Since his admission to the Maryland Conference in 1890, he has been very successful as a means of saving souls and constructing and improving church property. His first charge was that of the Frederick Circuit where his earthly efforts in the ministry met with great success, having for his hire the conversion of a hundred or more souls.

At the Conference in 1891 he was sent to Georgetown, Del., where he undertook the work of establishing a station and building a church. He was the first preacher of the M. P. Church that ever undertook this work and was compelled to rent a hall for the holding of service. There were only three members of the M. P. Church in that town at the beginning of his ministry and in less than three years he had built a beautiful edifice and his efforts had been wonderfully blessed by the accession of hundreds of souls. At the expiration of three years of this work he was sent to Waverly charge, Baltimore, Maryland where he was blessed with a good harvest of souls and the material prosperity of the church in the way of improvement.

From this charge after three years service he was sent to Mariner's, Crisfield, Maryland. The work at this point was greatly run down, but by faith and energy he soon brought about a great revival of religion in the church and 300 or more persons allied themselves with this church. During his ministry here the parsonage was repaired and a new church was built at Lawsonia which bears his name. At the beginning of his venture at Lawsonia there was not a member of the M. P. Church from whom to solicit contributions, but he conducted meetings in a rented house and was successful in having a great revival and establishing an organized body of Methodist Protestants through whom he built a magnificent church.

After a four years service at this charge he was removed to Delmar, Md., near the place of his birth and here God greatly blessed his efforts in soul saving and improving the church property. From Delmar he went to Fawn Grove, Pa. At this charge he has been fortunate enough to surpass his former achievements in religious work. He had 150 conversions the last year and has built up the work at Fawn Grove which now is in an excellent condition.

He has built a magnificent church of pressed brick and trimmed with brown stone. The steeple is eighty feet high and a beautiful piece of architecture. The church will be ready for dedication in May of this year and will cost over $12,000 when completed. There is connected with this charge two country churches which have both been repaired during the past year. There has been paid on this new church $10,000.00; besides all conference assessments have been paid in full for the first time. Pastor's salary has been increased and God's work moving along wonderfully.

We have been informed that every charge that Mr. Bennett has served since his admission to the ministry has increased his salary.

Mr. Bennett seems to be endowed with great ability as an evangelist and church builder, and Wicomico, his native county should be proud of the excellent work he has done in the advancement of God's work and the upbuilding of His kingdom on the earth.

Spring Opening Of R. E. Powell & Co. (Inc.)

Thursday and Friday of this week Dame Fashion held full sway at the large Emporium of R. E. Powell & Co. The event was their Spring Opening and the fair sex were out in great force to view the display which was the largest ever made by the firm.

On the first floor especial attention was given to the display of their large stock of woolen and silk dress goods. Fashion has decreed that silk shall be the leading material for dresses this season and they have laid in such a supply that they are prepared to please the most exacting. Plaids, stripes, dots, and plain effects are all shown in great profusion.

Great care has also been taken in selecting the line of trimming to be used this season with the result that they are better prepared than ever to fill the wants of their patrons.

On the second floor was a great centre of attraction, the Millinery Department. The effect was most pleasing, the room being profusely decorated with potted plants etc. Trimmed hats of all shades arranged around in a tasty manner gave this department an effect that was very pleasing. Among the hats that were so strongly praised were:

A tuscan turban, a band being the outer trimming, a braid top draped with ribbon and trimmed with pansy and tuscan ribbon.

A white chip trimmed in lavender green and pink, with pretty shaded buckle on side made a decidedly striking hat.

A pretty child's hat displayed was a tuacan with pink facing trimmed in new pompadour ribbon, design being large roses.

—The tomato pack this season in Kent and others of the great tomato growing counties on the Eastern Shore is expected to be the shortest in many years. In Kent county the packers and growers have, as a rule, failed to agree on prices, and as a result but few if any of the local canneries will be operated during the coming season. Packers, with practically no exception, are insisting upon $6 a ton, alleging that in the present state of the canned goods market they cannot afford to pay more. On the other hand, the growers contend that to grow tomatoes at the price named would mean a loss on every ton grown. In a few cases contracts have been closed at $6.50 a ton, but the acreage promises to be so small that it would be useless to open the canning establishments to handle the crop.

—Testimony to the Jackson-Smith contested Congressional election case was taken in Salisbury, before Notary Public G. Vickers White Thursday. Messrs. Miles and Gorman conducted the case for Hon. Thomas A. Smith and John C. Rose for Mr. Jackson. Mr. Jackson in his charges, omitted Wicomico county from the list of counties in which fraud was charged and claimed that he was treated fairly in the county and that the election was honestly conducted and counted. The testimony here was to show that the ticket used in Wicomico was not materially different from the ticket used in most of the other counties, and that in the county where Mr. Jackson claimed the election was so fairly conducted there were more ballots rejected or thrown out than in any other county in the district with the exception of Somerset. The question of bribery was not gone into at all in the investigation.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Salisbury Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back, The pain of rheumatism, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Mrs. L. T. Adams, of 801 Choptank Ave., Cambridge says: "I had my first experience with kidney complaint and rheumatism about 18 years ago. It came on me gradually and in about three months I got so bad that I was compelled to take my bed. I was up and down, now feeling better and now worse, for about a year and a half. No tougue can tell what misery and suffering I endured. I recovered some what, but was never wholly free from pain in my back and through my left hip and down my left limb. At this time I was taking this, that and the other remedy and was doctoring a great deal, but nothing brought me any relief. I had heavy dull-headaches and terrible dizzy spells and giddiness. I was growing worse every day and during the last year I could scarcely drag myself about. I could not lift anything, was unable to sleep well at night and, to sum up the whole thing, I was a physical wreck. I happened to see a pamphlet about Doan's Kidney Pills and read of cures in cases similar to mine; in fact they described my case better than I could myself. I made up my mind there must be some merit in them and got a box. They simply worked like magic. In two days I was relieved and when I had finished the box I felt better than I had any time during the past two years. They practically cured me, and I have recommended them to all my friends and acquaintances. I cannot say too much in their favor."

Plenty more proof like this from Salisbury people. Call at White & Leonard's drug store and ask what their customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Letter To John H. White. Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir:—Would you like to hear of a 20-year patient?

Mr. James H. O'Neill's house—Henderson, N. C., was pained 20 years ago with Devoe lead and zinc, and never painted again till last year; it then looked better than common paint in half the time.

The reason is: Devoe is all paint and true paint; while the common paints are part true and part false. Don't pay to monkey with paint.

And Devoe costs less than any of 'em; not by the gallon, of course; by the house and year. That's how to reckon it. Go by the name.

Yours truly, F. W. Devor & Co. L. W. Gunby Co., sells our paint.

The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Troubles No Family Can Afford To Be Without It.

"I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as one of the very best remedies for bowel trouble," says Mr. J. W. Hanlon, editor of Despatch, Ocala, Georgia. "I make this statement after having used the medicine in my family for several years. I am never without it." No family can afford to be without a bottle of this remedy in the house. It is certain to be needed sooner or later. For sale by all Dealers.

Convicted on the charge of robbing a store at Perryville, Chas. Saunders, after serving half of his four years' sentence, has been pardoned by Governor Warfield.

About Rheumatism. There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses. "The eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach. The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood, by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whisky or intoxicant.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. If it is painful or irregular something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organization.

More than fifty thousand women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes painful and irregular menstruation. It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Nellie Holmes of 540 N. Davidson Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Your medicine is indeed an ideal medicine for women. I suffered misery for years with painful periods, headaches, and bearing-down pains. I consulted two different physicians but failed to get any relief. A friend from the East advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and no longer suffer as I did before. My periods are natural; every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who suffer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain had I only known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have been suffering from general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy. Vegetable Compound sooner; for I have tried so many remedies without help. "I divided the approach of my menstrual period every month, as it was so much pain and suffering for me, but after I had used the Compound two months I became regular and natural and am now perfectly well and free from pain at my monthly periods. I am very grateful for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

Convicted on the charge of robbing a store at Perryville, Chas. Saunders, after serving half of his four years' sentence, has been pardoned by Governor Warfield.

About Rheumatism. There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

It's the little colds that grow into big colds; the big colds that end in consumption and death. Watch the little colds. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Eczema, roald head, hives, itchiness of the skin of any sort, instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

The Governor has issued his proclamation designating Friday, April 14, as Arbor Day. It will also be observed as Bird Day.

Garrahd And Hay Fever. Liquid Cream Balm is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream Balm solid. It is prepared by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such a treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm are contained in the Liquid form, which is 75 cts including a spraying tube. All druggists or by mail. Ely Brothers, 66 Warren Street, New York.

The work of building the Farmers' Telephone Company in Cecil county has been resumed. The town council of Elkton has refused the company a franchise.

Rheumatic Pains Quickly Relieved. The excruciating pains characteristic of rheumatism and sciatica are quickly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The great pain relieving power of the liniment has been the surprise and delight of thousands of sufferers. The quick relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all dealers.

The steamers on the Port Deposit and Havre de Grace Line commenced running Saturday, after being held up four months by the ice floes.

A Thoughtful Man. M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c at any Drug Store.

The Kent County School Board has appointed Prof. Milton Melvin, of Chestertown, superintendent of schools, at a salary of $1,300.

Take care of the stomach and the health will take care of itself. If people only realized the soundness of that statement the majority might live to a good old age like Moses. "The eye undimmed, the natural force unabated." It is in the stomach that the blood is made. It is from the stomach that nourishment is dispensed to nerve and muscle. If the stomach is "weak" it can't do its whole work for each part of the body. If it is diseased the disease will taint the nourishment which is distributed, and so spread disease throughout the body. It was the realization of the importance of the stomach as the very center of health and the common source of disease which led Dr. Pierce to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery." Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach. The soundness of this theory is proved every day by cures of diseased organs, heart, liver, lungs, blood, by the use of the "Discovery" which is solely and singly a medicine for the blood and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a temperance medicine containing no alcohol, whisky or intoxicant.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. If it is painful or irregular something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organization.

More than fifty thousand women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes painful and irregular menstruation. It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dangerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do for women, they cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.

Miss Nellie Holmes of 540 N. Davidson Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Your medicine is indeed an ideal medicine for women. I suffered misery for years with painful periods, headaches, and bearing-down pains. I consulted two different physicians but failed to get any relief. A friend from the East advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and no longer suffer as I did before. My periods are natural; every ache and pain is gone, and my general health is much improved. I advise all women who suffer to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I might have been spared many months of suffering and pain had I only known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have been suffering from general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy. They should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat you with kindness and her advice is free. No woman ever regretted writing her and she has helped thousands. Address Lynn, Mass.

Vegetable Compound sooner; for I have tried so many remedies without help. "I divided the approach of my menstrual period every month, as it was so much pain and suffering for me, but after I had used the Compound two months I became regular and natural and am now perfectly well and free from pain at my monthly periods. I am very grateful for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women.

FIFTY CENTS

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

Send for free sample Scott & Bowne, 409-415 Pearl St. New York. Chemists. 50c. and $1.00. All druggists.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. The reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City (stabling capacity 600 head and continuously receiving consignments from the breeders all over the State), it is only one branch of the immense business. We carry in stock 1000 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST COMBINED HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LIVELYMEN, CARRIAGE, WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

It's the volume of business we do where we get our results: meaning small profits.

The Feast of the Passover, one of the important Jewish festivals, will begin April 20. The feast lasts seven days with one holiday at the beginning and one at the end. According to the Jewish calendar it is the eve of the fifteenth day of Nisan, which is the first Spring month. The Passover commemorates the night when the Lord, smiting the first born of the houses of the Egyptians, passed over the children of Israel, whose houses were marked by the blood of the lamb.

MINISTERS ASSIGNED

To Their Various Charges For The Present Year. Impressive Silence Accompanies Reading Of Them. Less Than Usual Changes.

The Maryland Annual Conference closed its session at Salisbury on Tuesday evening, after the list of appointments were read. There were but few important changes. A number that were reported to change did not materialize, and thus we have less than the usual number of changes. It seems to be President Little's policy only to change a man after all the interests are considered, and he believes in a long pastorate. The most important changes were as follows: Rev. J. W. Balderson goes to Newark, N. J., Rev. B. W. Kindley succeeds him at Seaford, Del. Rev. E. D. Stone succeeds Mr. Kindley at Centerville. Rev. F. C. Klein goes to North Baltimore Station. Rev. Dorsey Blake goes to Cambridge, and Rev. C. K. McCaslin succeeds him at Belair. Rev. B. P. Traitt goes to First Church Washington, and Rev. D. M. Dibble succeeds him at Denton, Md. NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Spring Outdoor Coverings. Tan Jackets. New Etons. Garnitures. Tight Waists. Visiting Costumes. Colors.

The term redingote includes all long out door garments except the loose back, three quarter coat, which has its own distinctive style. Now, the fashionable redingote may be tight fitting, or so full that it admits of several rows of shirring, around the hips, and in many cases almost covers the entire skirt. The waist is laid in folds or maybe in gathers and the front is either in surplus style, or has revers, the size an optional matter. Of course there is a belt, which fastens closely around the waist.

The Original Shape

still retains favor among those who are able to stand its trying severity, and consequently the well shaped wear, or becomes somewhat conspicuous. The loose coat with yoke, shows no special change from those of last season, either in cut or material, light weight broad cloth or silk remaining popular for these convenient garments. The tan covered cloth jacket comes again with Spring exhibits, and also of three quarter length. To bring about novelty in the Eton and blouse is now the tailor's or dressmaker's task and has folds down the front edged by braid, very wide plain bands, falling a little below the edge of the Eton, and outlined by pipings or fancy braid, collars and waist edge, accomplish to a certain extent the desired result.

Tight-Fitting.

draped and pointed bodices are quite prominent among handsome costumes, and the new lines in this season's fashions, make special demands upon the corset. The best dressmaker will fall to secure a good fit, unless the corset is made and shaped in accordance with fashion's latest ideas. On the other hand, the simplest costume takes on an air of style, if it follows the lines of a thoroughly up to date corset. At the Louisiana Purchase Exhibition at St. Louis, the highest award given to any corset was taken by the "F. P. Pinchin Waist." This can be obtained at so moderate a price, that any woman willing to take the trouble to secure it, can be sure that her figure has the new lines so necessary for a fashionable appearance this season.

The Visiting Costume.

Of these, the skirts are slightly gathered at top, or laid in plaits that are caught at half length by some invisible means and from there fall in soft, deep folds. Fanciful little jackets of the Directorate or bolero type, accompany these skirts and the sleeves are almost invariably of half length, to be worn with long gloves. The Skirts are practically untrimmed, save for stitching in a simple design with coarse silk, or a drawing cord braid disposed in loops, scallops or Greek designs, just above the edge.

The Drop Skirt.

flare extensively at bottom, and are well furnished with ruffles of the silk, but have no stiffening. The bolero jackets are open at the neck, and are plaited or gathered at top and bottom, or have a draped effect with shaped girdle. The V shaped neck is popular, showing the blouse.

CONCLUDING EVENTS

Of The Maryland Annual Conference. The Guests Show Hearty Appreciation Of Salisbury's Entertainment. Some Of Last Day's Happenings.

After a most enjoyable and beneficial week's session here in which the ministers and delegates were loud in praise of Salisbury's good things, the Maryland Annual Conference voted adjournment late Tuesday night after reading the plan of appointments.

Concluding Items.

The proposition for union with the Primitive Methodist Church of the United States was discussed. It was discovered that this body of Christians, numbering about 7,000 and residing for the most part in Pennsylvania, were really ready to be absorbed by the Methodist Protestant Church, but they wanted to retain, was too congregational for the itinerary of the church and the matter was postponed until the next conference, so as to give time for more investigation.

Rev. James Earle Maloy raised a fund of over $100 to be presented to Dr. Southerland. The presentation was made by Dr. Hering and responded to by Dr. Southerland.

Resolutions were adopted levying $1,800 on the district for the conference seminary at Westminster and that Dr. H. L. Elderdice be assigned as president and that the pulpits be opened for the claims of the seminary. Dr. Lewis said that the college endowment fund had fallen off during the year. He had written to Andrew Carnegie asking for a donation for the college, but as yet he had received no reply.

The request of the First Methodist Protestant Church of Pittsburg for the loan for one year of Rev. Frank H. Lewis was adopted.

The next session of the conference will be held in West Baltimore Station Church.

E. S. Fooks, church extension steward, reported an assessment of $4,185 for the work and that $3,570 had been raised and the rest borrowed.

A resolution was adopted that the faculty of instruction request young men entering the ministry to refrain from manuscript sermons.

The committee on Mount Oliver Church claim reported that Congress has granted $3,400 and that $2,700 would be placed to the credit of the church.

Session Unsurpassed.

Dr. Joshua W. Hering, speaking for the conference Tuesday night, said he had been a member of almost every conference during the past 35 years, and that this session from a social standpoint is unsurpassed. Others spoke in like appreciation. The sessions were full of interest and there was nothing of a character approaching a trial or charge during the entire session.

At the morning session the committee on official character called attention to the necessity of incorporating churches. The whole question was taken up and discussed by items.

F. T. Benson announced that a telegram had been received that Rev. Dr. J. J. Murray had died at his home in Pittsburg, Pa., in the early morning. The announcement caused intense regret and Dr. Hering moved that a memorial service be held in the afternoon which was done. Dr. Murray was made

NEWS OF HOSPITAL

Directors Elect Another Member Of Medical Staff And Prepare For Further Attractiveness.

Dr. Harry Tull, of this city, was unanimously elected a member of the Medical Staff of the Hospital at a meeting of the Directors, Friday. Dr. Tull will take his place as physician in the Hospital for two months in regular turn with the other physicians of the city.

At the same meeting it was decided to make the improvements in the yard and grounds at the Hospital. A committee consisting of Hon. William H. Jackson, Wm. P. Jackson and Walter B. Miller, was appointed to carry forward the work. The grounds will be properly laid out by a landscape gardener, a stone coping build around it, proper pavements laid in front and side and driveways built. The yard will be planted in trees and shrubbery and made in proper accord with the handsome building.

The question of admitting free patients to the Hospital without permits was also taken up, and it was decided that in the future, except in urgent accident or emergency cases, no patients will be admitted to the free beds from the various counties unless they come with the proper permit from the County Commissioners of the counties.

Messick—Culver Marriage.

Miss Lydia Thompson Culver, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culver, and Mr. Paul Messick were united in marriage at "Idylwild," beautifully decorated, in a pretty ceremony Wednesday evening by Rev. G. E. Nisco of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Capitol.

The bride entered the hall on the arm of her father who gave her away. Miss Vivien Culver, sister of the bride was maid of honor, and Mr. Herman Messick, brother of the groom best man. Miss Virginia Sammers rendered the wedding march. The bride was gowned in white mousseline de sole with veil and orange blossoms and carried carnations. The maid of honor wore white crepe de chine, trimmed with real lace, and carried narcissus.

Fifty guests were entertained at the reception which followed. From Salisbury were Misses Mary Cooper Smith, Emma Wood and Nellie White.

Dr. Lewis Called To Pittsburg.

The Rev. Dr. F. H. Lewis, of Baltimore, has received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Methodist Protestant Church of Pittsburg, Alken avenue and Howe street. It is not yet known if he will accept. The church has been without a pastor for almost a year the Rev. Robert J. Young having resigned to accept another position. The church has a membership of about 300 and is one of the oldest churches of the Methodist Protestant denomination in Western Pennsylvania, as well as one of the wealthiest.

Good Health to the Children

Children especially are fond of dainties, and the housekeeper must look carefully to their food.

As good cake can be made only with good eggs, so also a cake that is healthful as well as dainty must be raised with a pure and perfect baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable in the preparation of the highest quality of food. It imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness and flavor noticed in the finest cake, biscuit, doughnuts, crusts, etc., and what is more important, renders the food wholesome and agreeable to young and old.

Illustration.

This charming dinner dress, the illustration of which is supplied by the Demorest Fashion Company, is of champagne colored crepe de Chine, with guimpes of all over lace of the same shade. The bodice has an elaborate effect achieved by means of ribbon ruchings of champagne messaline ribbon, shaded in the new champeleon tints. The skirt is gathered to a shirred yoke, and has a garniture of three deep tucks, each headed by a ruching of champagne champeleon ribbon.

All Colors Are Stylish.

and many shades of red are in great favor, particularly in millinery. The foremost color however in that department of fashion is green, ranging from the lightest to the darkest shade.

25 YEARS OF AGONY ENDED

Boston Business Man Cured By Cuticura of Awful Humour Covering Head, Neck, and Shoulders After Hospital and Doctors Failed.

Under date of September 9, 1904, Mr. S. P. Keyes, a well-known business man of No. 149 Congress Street, Boston, Mass., says: "Cuticura did wonders for me. For twenty-five years I suffered agony from a terrible humour, completely covering my head, neck and shoulders, discharging matter of such offensiveness to sight and smell, that to my friends, and even to my wife, I became an object of dread. At large expense I consulted the most able doctors far and near. Their treatment was of no avail, nor did six months' efforts. I suffered on and concluded there was no help for this side of the grave. Then I heard of some one who had been cured by Cuticura, and thought that a trial could do no harm. In a surprisingly short time I was completely cured."

Many dogs are noted for their sagacity and neat discrimination but the latest episode reported by odd takes the cake. This dog is said to have saved the lives of a dozen different men but refused point—to make the attempt when called upon to save a poor helpless woman. Why, she happened to be the mother in law of his master, and the pup evidently considered himself excusable.

Though unopposed and to all appearances everybody willing 73 year old Dr. Hiram Gunby and Mrs. Sallie Patterson, 65, both of Pocomoke City concluded to elope and were married in Philadelphia last Thursday afternoon. Our colored population here with but few exceptions are orderly and well behaved citizens, but last Saturday in the early part of the evening two of our ladies were not only halted but roughly handled on Main Street by some brute of a negro who most unfortunately neither of the ladies recognized. 'Tis sincerely to be hoped that a second attempt of the kind will be witnessed by some one perfectly capable of dealing with the case and administering to the party his just deserts. It might be wise for the better element of our colored race to manifest some little interest and look after such a person so inclined using such influence and advice necessary to cause one of their number to look well before he leaps.

Ambridge, Pa., experienced a day of excitement this week in which streams of water and trick bats largely figured. A Telephone Co., sought to lay poles along the Main Street and expected to finish the job before the arrival of an injunction which had to be obtained from a nearby town. The town fire department put in their appearance drenching the workmen with the aid of outsiders who were no novice in curving a brick bat necessitating a withdrawal of their forces and the loss of the day. This was kept up for hours and eventually succeeded.

Mr. Alfred C. Dukes, one of Bishopville's bright and representative young men both in a social and business future died last Saturday. A complication of diseases was the cause of his demise. He was a general favorite among both sexes and his funeral in Bishopville was more generally attended than one for years. The Rev. Mr. Henman Faslinker, Dirickson and Kenney of Roxanna officiated. Mr. Dukes married some seven years ago Miss Roxie Wilgus.

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

(Copyright 1904 by J. S. O'Brien Pub. Co. New York.)

President Roosevelt says to the author of it "I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

This principle may be verified in other domains than that of well-being. We will mention by those of instruction and liberty. We remember the time when prophets who were believed announced that to transform a barren land into an abode fit for the gods it would suffice to overthrow those colossal old powers: misery, ignorance and tyranny. Other prophets today repeat the same predictions. We have just seen that the evident decrease of misery has not made man better nor happier. Has this result been achieved in a certain measure by the present efforts of instruction?

It does not appear so at the present hour, and this is the anxiety—the despair of those who have consecrated themselves to our national education. Then we must brutify the people, suppress universal instruction—close the schools? By no means; but instruction, like the assemblage of the inventions of our civilization, is after all but a tool. All depends upon the workman who makes use of it.

It is the same with liberty. It is sinister or salutary, according to the manner in which it is employed. Does liberty still remain when it belongs to manufacturers or even to the capricious, the disreputable, or even the stupid blunderer? Liberty is an atmosphere of higher life that one grows capable of breathing only by slow and patient internal transformation.

There must be a law to all life; to that of man more necessarily than for inferior beings, for the life of man and his associates is more precious and more delicate than that of plants and animals. This law for man is at first an external one, but it may become an internal one.

As soon as a man has recognized this inner law and bowed before it, he is ripe for liberty, by respect and voluntary obedience. So long as he has not that inward law, strong and sovereign, he is incapable of breathing the air of liberty. This air will indicate him, madder than any other, morally. A man who guides his life by that inner law cannot longer live under that of external authority—more than a grown bird could live closed in the eggshell again; but the man who has not yet gained the moral point where he governs himself cannot live under the regime of liberty any more than could the embryo bird without the protection of his shell.

These things are terribly simple, and the series of their proofs, old and new, never ceases to grow under our eyes. And, yet, we are always unable to understand even the elements of so important a law. In our democracy, how many are there, great and small, who have understood, who know, from having verified it, lived and sometimes suffered it, this truth without which a people is incapable of governing itself? Liberty is respect. Liberty is obedience to the inward law, and this law is not the good pleasure of the powerful, nor the caprice of mobs, but the higher, impersonal rule, before which those who command bow the head first of all. Shall we say, then, that liberty must be suppressed? No, but we must make ourselves capable and worthy, otherwise public life becomes impossible, and a nation proceeds through license and lack of discipline to the inextinguishable complications of demagoguery.

When one passes in review the individual causes which trouble and complicate our social life, by whatever names they are designated—and the commonest would be long—they all lead back to one general cause, which is this: the confusion of the secondary with the essential. The material well-being, education, liberty, all the whole of civilization, form the frame of the picture, but the frame does not make the picture more than the frock makes the monk, or the uniform the soldiers. The picture here is the man with what he has, the most intimate of his possessions, his science, his character and his will. And while elaborating and embellishing the frame, they have forgotten, neglected and disfigured the picture. Thus we are surcharged with external goods, and miserable in spiritual life. We have in abundance things which we could, if needful, do without, and we are infinitely poor in the only thing necessary. And, when the depths of our being awaken, with its need of loving, of hoping for the realization of its destiny, it feels the anguish of a living being whom they have buried alive. He sits beneath the mass of secondary things which weigh upon him and deprive him of air and light.

We must seek out, set free, and restore to honor the real life assign all things to their proper places, and remember that the centre of human progress is in moral growth. What is a good lamp? It is not the one most ornamented, the best carved or that which is made of the most precious metal. A good lamp is the one that gives good light. And so, also, we are men and citizens not by the number of goods or pleasures that we procure for ourselves, not through our intellectual and artistic culture, nor by the honors or the independence we enjoy, but by the solidity of our moral fibre. And this, after all, is not a truth of today, but a truth of all times.

At no epoch have exterior conditions realized through his knowledge or industry, accepted man from care for the state of his inner life. The face of the world changes about us, the intellectual and material factors of existence are modified. No one can hinder these changes whose brusque characters are often not without peril. But the important thing is that man, in the center of these shifting circumstances, should remain man, live his life and march toward his goal. Now, whatever be the road he has to traverse towards his goal, the traveller must not lose himself in the cross-ways, nor load himself with useless burdens. Let him watch over his direction, over his forces, over his honor, and that he may better consecrate himself to the essential, which is to progress, he simplifies his baggage, even if it must be at the price of some sacrifices.

CHAPTER II. THE SPIRIT OF SIMPLICITY.

Before being able to show in what consists in practice the return to the simplicity to which we aspire, it is necessary to determine, first, in what consists the simplicity. For, in reality, to it, the same error is made that we have just denounced, and which consists in confounding the secondary with the essential, the substance with the form. They are tempted to believe that simplicity offers external characteristics by which it may be known and in which it consists. Simplicity and lowly station, modest garments, a plain house, mediocrity and poverty, these things seem to go together. This is not the case, however. Of three men whom I have just met on my road, one rode in a carriage, the other walked, while the third was barefooted. This last one is not necessarily the simplest of the three. It may be that the man in the carriage is simple, in spite of his grand position, and is not the slave of his wealth. It may be that the man with shoes does not envy him who passes in his carriage, and does not despise the man in rags, with his feet bare in the dust, and it is possible that the third man has a hatred of simplicity, labor and sobriety, and dreams only of an easy life, pleasures and idleness. Among the least simple of men we must count professional mendicants, knights of the road, parasites, and all that tribe of the obsequious and envious whose aspirations resolve themselves in the desire to secure the largest possible morsel of that prey which the fortunate ones of the earth consume. And in this same category, no matter what their station in life, belong the ambitious, the crafty, the effeminate, the misers, the haughty and the refined. The literary counts for nothing. We must see the heart. No class has the sole privilege of simplicity. No costume, however humble it may appear, is its assured badge. Its habitat is not necessarily the attic, neither the hut, nor the cell of the ascetic, nor the poorest fisherman's cabin. Under all forms that clothe life, in all social positions, at the lowest as well as its topmost rung of the ladder, there are beings who are simple and others who are not. We do not wish to claim by that that simplicity has no outward signs, that it has no habits, its own distinguishing tastes and manners, its constant, those forms which would in case of need be borrowed, with its own essence and its profound depths. This source is altogether interior.

Simplicity is a state of mind. It dwells in the main intention that animates us. A man is simple when his highest desire consists in wishing to be that which he should be; that is to say, a true and honest man. This is neither as easy nor as impossible as one might imagine. At the bottom of putting his aspirations and his acts in accord with the very law of our being, and in consequence with the Eternal intention which will ed that he should be that. Let a flower be a flower, a swallow a swallow, a rock a rock, and a man be a man, and not a fox, a hare, a bird of prey or a pig. All is summed up in that.

We are therefore here led to formulate the practical ideal of man. In all life we observe a certain quantity of force, and substances associated for the most part, more or less crude are there transformed, and carried to a higher degree of organism. It is not otherwise with the life of man. The human ideal will be the desire to transform life into something better and grander than itself. One could compare life to raw material, what it is matters less than what they make of it. As in a work of art, what should be appreciated is what the worker has known how to put in it.

We bring with our birth different gifts. One has received gold, another granite, a third one marble, and the most just wood or clay. Our task consists in fashioning these materials. All know that they can spoil the most precious substance, but also that they can wrest an immortal work from a valueless material. Art consists in realizing a permanent idea, in an ephemeral form. Real life consists in realization of the higher virtues, which are justice, love, truth, liberty, and moral energy which find their place in their exterior forms. And this life is possible in the most diverse social conditions, and with the most unequal natural gifts. It is not fortune, or personal advantages, but the turning of them to account which constitutes the value of life. Renown adds no more than does the length of days. The quality is the principle.

It is necessary to say that one does not reach this point of view without a struggle and some effort. The spirit of simplicity is not an inherited gift, but the result of laborious conquest. To live well, as to think well, is to simplify it. Every one knows that science consists in bringing some general rules out of a bunch of diverse things. But how many dark places and reachings out and touchings to finally discover those rules! Centuries of research are often consumed in a principle that is held in one line. Life, thus, is an analogy with scientific life. It, too, begins in some confusion, tries, seeks to know itself and is often deceived.

But by continual action, and rendering account to himself of all his action in strict sincerity man at last comes to understand life better. The law appears to him, and law is this, accomplish your mission. Whoever applies himself to other things than the realization of this aim loses in living the very reason of his being in life. Thus are egotists formed, the pleasure seekers, and the ambitious. They consume their existence as one might eat his grain still in the tender grass. They hinder it from its natural fruition. Their lives are lost lives. On the contrary, he who makes his life serve a good higher than itself, saves it in giving it. Moral precepts which seem arbitrary in the eyes of the superficial and made for the purpose of vexing us into spilling our zest for life, have but one object, after all, and that is to preserve us from having lived in vain. It is for that that they always lead us in the same direction and that they have the same sense, "Do not waste your life. Fructify it, make it bear fruit. Learn how to give it so that you may not lose it!"

In that is resumed the experience of humanity. This experience, which each man is obliged to have for himself, becomes more precious according to its cost to him. Illumined by his light, his moral advancement becomes surer. He has now his compass, which shows him to what he can lead everything that is uncertain, and all that is confused and complicated becomes simple. By the constant influence of that same law which expands within him and is proven every day in actions, a transformation in his judgment and habits is produced.

One captivated by the beauty and grandeur of the real life, by that which is holy and touching in that struggle of humanity for truth, justice, goodness, enfolds his fascination for it in his heart. And everything becomes subordinate quite naturally to that powerful and persistent preoccupation. The hierarchy of forces and powers organize themselves in him. The essential commands, the secondary obeys and order is born of simplicity. One might compare the mechanism of the interior or inner life to that of an army. An army is strong by its discipline, and discipline consists in the respect of the inferior for the superior and in the concentration of all the energies toward one single end. As soon as discipline relaxes the army suffers. The corporal must not command the general. Examine your life with care and those of others, and that of society. Every time that something rings or grinds, and complications or disorder follow, it is because the corporal has given orders to the general. There where the law of simplicity has penetrated in the heart disorder disappears.

I despair of ever describing simplicity in a manner worthy of it. All the strength of the world, and all its beauty, all its real joy, all that consoles and adds to hope, all that sheds light on obscure paths, all that shows us across our poor lives some sublime aim and some immense future comes to us from simple beings who have assigned to their desires another object than the passing satisfactions of egotism and vanity, and who have understood that the science of life consists in knowing how to give one's life.

Bags made of cheesecloth and filled with oatmeal are perfumed in the same manner and are particularly fine for the skin and complexion. Cornmeal, too, is highly recommended by physicians for whitening and softening the skin so many women have little bags of perfumed cornmeal made for face, neck and hands.

A POWERFUL NATIONAL ISSUE.

What may be one of the most powerful forces in future economic American politics was nurtured and successfully reared in the recent election of Judge Dunne as Mayor of great Chicago over his Republican opponent, John M. Harlan, a man all strong in the favor of mighty corporations and huge monied concerns.

Municipal ownership of the street railway system was the issue on which the two parties divided.—Democrat for, Republican against. A campaign of the most active kind was waged. Republican corporation cash flowed freely. There was plenty and to spare. The corporations had franchises worth $800,000,000 at stake and they were fighting for their life and an extended weary under a Republican city government. In the last few days each candidate made speeches every hour. Judge Dunne held squarely to the issue. Old party lines in many instances were broken and it was corporate ownership or city ownership. And yet in spite of the fiercest opposition, and a late Republican majority of about 100,000 for Roosevelt. Judge Dunne was elected Democratic Mayor by 25,000 majority.

It was one of the most remarkable campaigns ever fought in America and will have the most far reaching results. New York, next fall is now in prospect. Great English cities, with its native homes of Glasgow, Scotland, the model city of the world, have adopted the municipal ownership idea of public utilities with the best results. Why not make municipal ownership of public franchises a prominent plank in future Democratic platforms? This is a grave question that has much in its favor and should receive the deepest consideration from the Nation's thinkers and doers.

—The spring session of the Circuit Court adjourned Tuesday. Monday the Court was occupied with the case of John G. West against the County Commissioners of Wicomico County, suit for injury claimed to have sustained by breaking through a bridge. Verdict of jury was for the County. Toadvin & Bell and E. H. Walton for plaintiff; Joseph L. Bailey for County Commissioners. Tuesday the case of Wm. Gattis, colored, indicted for stealing a gun from Hiram F. Horseman, was tried before the court. The prisoner was found not guilty. Joseph L. Bailey for State. Toadvin & Bell for Traverser. The three cases against Jesse H. Bratton, were continued, after Bratton gave bond in each case.

If any of the fair sex have failed to adopt the S shape they are not in it, according to Mrs. A. C. White who poses as the latest authority on all such. What appliances she considers requisite and necessary to acquire the S style a bachelor editor is not supposed to know anything about or how much practice required. The old kangaroo shape one time all the go, has disappeared and the honors tossed to the coming S form now the thing.

Edward Dorsey, colored, who has just been admitted to the National Soldier's Home at Marion, Ind., is perhaps the oldest student of the alphabet in the world. He is 104 years of age and is now learning to read. Dorsey was born in Maryland and was a slave nearly three quarters of a century ago. Toward the close of the Civil War he enlisted with a colored regiment and fought to the end. Since then he has managed to accumulate considerable property, but it was always a source of regret that he could not read and write. At the age of 100 he started to study the alphabet. He is now mastering it and can form and read words of one syllable.

Thousands of People Have Been Delighted With Our Free Exhibition of Artist Astley D. M. Cooper's Famous $25,000 Painting
A Picture That Tells a Thrilling Tale, "The Story of the Evil Spirit."
It Is Simply Marvelous and Worth Coming Miles to See. It Is Something You Will Never Forget.

We have secured for a limited time for exhibition purposes Astley D. M. Cooper's famous $25,000 painting, "The Story of the Evil Spirit," the most sensational realistic picture in existence. You may see it free of charge on our Third Floor (near Art Department).
The subject presents in a vivid manner an incident of the recent Indian War. An Indian chief is reciting in a dramatic way the "Story of the Evil Spirit," and two white captives—slaves—guarded by a squaw, listen to him with intense fear, believing he is referring to their coming torture and death. Their faces betray their agitation. Various other strong features in the picture also appeal to the beholder.
There will also be exhibited a number of Mr. Cooper's other productions, among them "The Gold-Hunter's Fate," "An Old Warrior," "Buffalo and Indian Belles," "The Happy Hunting Grounds," "The Serenade," "The Coming of Spring," "The Pool of Love," "Evening," etc.

REACHING THE SPOT. It Can Be Done, So Scores of Salisbury Citizens Say. To cure an aching back. The pains of rheumatism. The tired-out feelings. You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys. Mrs. L. T. Adams, of 801 Choptank Ave., Cambridge says: "I had my first experience with kidney complaint and rheumatism about 18 years ago. It came on me gradually and in about three months I got so bad that I was compelled to take my bed. I was up and down, now feeling better and now worse, for about a year and a half. No tongue can tell what misery and suffering I endured. I recovered somewhat, but was never wholly free from pain in my back and through my left hip and down my left limb. At this time I was taking this, and after the other remedy and was doctoring a great deal, but nothing brought me any relief. I had heavy dull headaches and terrible dizzy spells and giddiness. I was growing worse every day and during the last year I could scarcely drag myself about. I could not lift anything, was unable to sleep well at night and, to sum up the whole thing, I was a physical wreck. I happened to see a pamphlet about Doan's Kidney Pills and read of cures in cases similar to mine; in fact they described my case better than I could myself. I made up my mind there must be some merit in them and got a box they simply worked like magic. In two days I was relieved and when I had finished the box I felt better than I had any time during the past two years. They practically cured me, and I have recommended them to all my friends and acquaintances. I cannot say too much in their favor."

Plenty more proof like this from Salisbury people. Call at White & Leonard's drug store and ask what their customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

A Great Sensation. There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

Robbed The Grave. A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at all drug stores.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy The Best And Most Popular. "Mothers buy it for croupy children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for la grippe," says Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but that this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all dealers.

Makes a Clean Sweep. There's nothing like doing a thing thoroughly. Of all the Salves you ever heard of, Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the best. It sweeps away and cures Burns, Sores, Bruises, Cuts, Blisters, Cuts, Skin Eruptions and Piles. It's only 25c, and guaranteed to give satisfaction by all druggists.

The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Troubles No Family Can Afford To Be Without It. "I regard Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as one of the very best remedies for bowel troubles," says Mr. J. W. Hanlon, editor of Despatch, Ocala, Florida. "I make this statement after having used the medicine in my family for several years. I am never without it." No family can afford to be without a bottle of this remedy in the house. It is certain to be needed sooner or later. For sale by all Dealers.

It's the little colds that grow into big colds; the big colds that end in consumption and death. Watch the little colds. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Eczema, cold head, hives, itchiness of the skin of any sort, instantly relieved, permanently cured. Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

Probably Found Indian Grave. The recent discovery of many skulls and other bones found at "Sandy Hill," doubtless of Indians, made by Mr. W. A. Wall, proprietor of the Hotel Dixon, of this town—many, however, having been unearthed before by others—has caused speculation as to the manner in which the bones were found, viz: Heaped together, skulls, etc., in fact all human bones, upon what appears to have been a pyre. The preservation and perfect condition of teeth found in the skulls is remarkable, and, according to the opinion of our physicians, many of the skulls not only indicate great age of some, but men of large size. The reason of their being found in large numbers was doubtless the custom of the Indians, particularly at that early day, (about 1742), when they were arranging to return to the Six Nations, allied Indian tribes.

The Indians in this (Dorchester) county were as a rule peaceable, yet there were occasionally small outbreaks, generally the result of imposition on the part of the whites, aggravated by the sale of intoxicating liquor to the Indians, in violation of an Act passed in 1715, which provided a penalty of 5,000 pounds of tobacco, though the quantity allowed to be sold to any Indian should not be above one gallon a day, a quantity sufficient to satisfy the appetite even of a number of Indians.

The Indians, doubtless, in preparing for their immigration north collected many of their dead and from the manner in which their bones have been discovered, attempted to burn them upon the pyre before leaving.

They had a peculiar and sacred respect for their dead. The corpse was buried for some months and then exhumed and the bones carefully cleaned and placed in an "ossuary" called Mantokump (Manito), with the locative termination or rather signification, "Place of the Mystery or Spirit."

They had frequent occasion to appeal to the council of the province for redress because of imposition by the English, and in many instances sold their lands in large areas for little—generally a few matchcoats, a matchcoat being an Indian blanket made of Duffield cloth, with the wool long upon the inside so as to remind the savages of their furs.

The principal tribes, the "Nanticoke" and "Choptank" occupied two reservations of about 4,000 acres of land each. The former located near the fork of the Nanticoke river and the Choptank Indians reservation was bounded on the west by the free-hold of William Dorrington, (which included what is now "Sandy Hill," "Clinton Place," "Clifton" and "Hambrooks"), and on the east by Secretary Sewall's creek, now known as Secretary creek, for a yearly rental of six beaver skins, and is confirmed among the perpetual laws of 1877, Chap. 2.

Where the skulls and bones referred to above were found was doubtless "Place of the Mystery or Spirit" of the dead of Choptank Indians. The name Nanticoke means tide water and Choptank means blue water. Much more of interest concerning Indian history and tradition can be found by reference to Dr. Elias Jones' History of Dorchester county.—Cam. Daily Banner.

I DO NOT ASK, O LORD. I do not ask, O Lord, that my life may be a pleasant road; I do not ask that thou wilt take from me aught of my bread.

I do not ask that flowers should always spring beneath my feet; I know too well the poison and sting of things too sweet. For one thing only, Lord, dear Lord, I plead: lead me aright; should falter and though through strength should falter and though heart should bleed; Through peace to light.

I do not ask, O Lord, that thou shouldst shed full radiance here; Give but a ray of peace that I may tread without a fear. I do not ask my cross to understand, my way to see; Better in darkness just to feel thy hand and follow, than to see the light and lose it.

Women Who Wear Well. It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom, from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the life in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

About Rheumatism. There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

Rheumatic Pains Quickly Relieved. The excruciating pains characteristic of rheumatism and sciatica are quickly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The great pain relieving power of the liniment has been the surprise and delight of thousands of sufferers. The quick relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all dealers.

A Thoughtful Man. M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c at any Drug Store.

Colds Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It aids expectorations, relieves the lungs and opens the secret passages, effecting a speedy and permanent cure. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. Price 25c, Large Size 50c.

mankind would have to invent milk. Milk is Nature's emulsion—butter put in shape for digestion. Cod liver oil is extremely nourishing, but it has to be emulsified before we can digest it.

combines the best oil with the valuable hypophosphites so that it is easy to digest and does far more good than the oil alone could. That makes Scott's Emulsion the most strengthening, nourishing food—medicine in the world.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, (stabling capacity 600 head and continuously receiving orders from the breeders all over America), it is only one branch of this immense business. We carry in stock 100 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST COMBINED HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LIVRETTMEN, CAR-RIAGES, WAGONS, AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS IN THE WORLD.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Miss Julia Marlowe of New York City, has the following to say of Peruna: "I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe. "Nervousness" is very common among women. This condition, due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition. This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves. This could be easily obviated by the use of Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion. Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers. Properly digested food furnishes these reservoirs of life with vitality which leads to strong, steady nerves, and thus nourishes life. Peruna is in great favor among women, especially those who have vocations that are trying to the nervous system. Peruna furnishes the lasting invigoration for the nerves that such people so much need. Thousands of testimonials from women in all parts of the United States are being received every year. Such unsolicited evidence surely proves that Peruna is without an equal as a nerve tonic and a vital invigorator. Buy a bottle of Peruna today. If you do not receive all the benefits from Peruna that you expected, write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio. $10,000 forfeit if we cannot produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial which well demonstrates its full genuineness.

EARLY SPRING WEDDING

Miss Emma M. Childs Now Mrs. Frank Evans. Pretty Afternoon Ceremony At The First M. E. Church—Beautiful Decorations.

The marriage of Miss Emma Maudo Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fennimore Childs, of this city, to Mr. Frank Williams Evans, of Elizabeth City, N. C., took place at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the First M. E. Church. It was one of the most attractive weddings that has ever taken place here, and certainly a very imposing ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated by Seidewitz. Garland of green and white graced the altar and beautiful palms and potted plants were used lavishly in the church decoration. An arch spanned the pulpit and under this the ceremony was performed. The organist, Mr. Daniel S. Spragle, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party entered, and the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin as a recessional. The ushers were all St. John's men, two of them were classmates of the groom—Ridgely P. Melvin, Esq., and John S. Strahorn, Esq., of Elkton, Md.

The other two were Mr. Harry Tarbert, class of 1904, St. John's College, and Cadet John Tarbert, class of 1905, St. John's College. The best man was Mr. George Roland Childs, the bride's brother, and the maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Minnie Childs. There were five bridesmaids: Miss Jennie Collinson, of South River; Miss Elva J. Evans of Salisbury, a sister of the groom; Misses Georgie and Esther White and Miss Florence Childs, a sister of the bride.

The bride entered the church with her father, by whom she was given away. She is a tall, graceful blonde and looked handsome in a beautiful gown of white chiffon cloth on train over taffeta, trimmed in Princess lace and white sweet peas. She wore a tulle veil, to the end of her train, caught in the hair with a diamond eunburst and sprigs of lilies of the valley. Her bouquet was lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern, tied with long streamers of soft satin ribbon.

Miss Minnie Childs, the best girl, wore an exquisite gown of white crepe de chine demi-train and carried white carnations and maiden hair fern. The five bridesmaids wore gowns of white tulle, three wore green girdles and two and the best girls wore white girdles. The bridesmaids carried bunches of maiden hair fern tied with long streamers of white tulle. The color scheme throughout the wedding was green and white and was carried out in all details. The groom is a graduate of St. John's College, class of 1899, and is now engaged as secretary to the Y. M. C. A. at Elizabeth City, N. C. The bride received a large number of handsome and beautiful presents, including cut glass, china, silver, pictures, linen, etc., and five checks for good sums of money. The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. of Elizabeth City presented the bride with a handsome Haviland dinner set and the Ladies' Auxiliary gave her a beautiful large gold clock. A silver loving cup, silver pitcher and silver tray were the gifts of the athletic team of Elizabeth City.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans left on the 6.25 train amid a shower of rice and old shoes, for a trip North. The bride's going away gown was a handsome golden brown tulle over taffeta. She wore a chic hat to match, trimmed in violets and green leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will, after their return from a wedding trip reside in Elizabeth City. Some of the wedding guests from out of town were: Major Swiggett, U. S. A.; and Mrs. Swiggett of Washington, uncle and aunt of the groom; Mrs. Lee, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Boswell, of Havre de Grace; Mr. Howard Garey, of Baltimore; Miss Eugenia Bell Barrick, of Baltimore; Mrs. Charles Hann, of Forest Park, Baltimore county; Misses Mamie and Annie Ryan, of Baltimore; Miss Elva Evans, of Salisbury; Mrs. C. W. Bennett, of Salisbury; Mr. Luckett Koche, of Baltimore.

A reception was held last night at the home of the bride's parents, 119 Charles street.—Annapolis, (Md.), Evening Capital.

The little thoroughbred race horse, Josslyn, a recent purchase and pet of Miss Alice Roosevelt is said to be as gentle as a kitten and as quick as a mole, and much attached to her mistress. She is however also said to be a constant beggar and dear lover of sugar. Miss Alice is also said to like such horse affection and a most liberal distributor of sweets, whether such a diet will be any advantage to endurance and speed remains to be proven.

It is announced that six of the White Star Liners will soon be equipped with the Moseley wireless telegraph apparatus, which indicates another change towards the bridging of boats across the broad Atlantic. This is a further advance in our system of Oceanic wireless telegraphic reports. They are the Oceanic, Baltic, Celtic, Cedric, Majestic and Teutonic—among the largest ships afloat.

SOUNDS A WARNING NOTE

To The Canning Interests. Aberdeen Writer Deprecates Possibility Of Over Production And Too Large A Pack.

Aberdeen, Md., April 18, 1905. Mr. Editor.—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to sound a note of warning to the canning interests in your county.

Having occasion to visit portions of your county recently, as well as the other counties of the Maryland and Delaware Peninsula, I was amazed at the extensive preparations being made by the tomato packers for another season's output, in the face of the hopeless condition of the canned goods situation at present. Never in the history of the business, has there been half so many canned tomatoes in the hands of the packers at this time of the year; never have tomatoes sold so far below the cost of production as they are today. The cause is easily accounted for—over production.

The largest pack ever made for the entire country, previous to three years ago was 7,400,000 cases, and this figure was reached in 1899, which caused a slump in the market for two years, notwithstanding the two succeeding years had small packs of less than 6,000,000 cases. But in the three years succeeding that, 1903, 1904 and 1905, new factories sprang up like mushrooms, both here and in the west and as a result, the aggregate pack of the whole country for those three years was 80,000,000 cases.

Now let us look at the consumption. Up until 1900 we estimated 6,000,000 cases as an annual demand; a pack in excess of that resulted in sales without profit, but allowing liberally, for increase in population, does any man dare say that 8,000,000 cases is not an ample annual supply for the present population? So you see with a pack of 30,000,000 a year, we will have used 24,000,000 of the 30,000,000 by August 1st of this year, thus leaving a surplus of 6,000,000 toward a supply for next year; consequently we only want 2,000,000 cases packed in 1905 to have an ample supply, but if the present preparations which are making all over this State and Delaware, materialize into anything like a fair crop, we be unto the packer who has no substantial bank account behind him!

What must be the condition of the average country packer today who has either sold his last years pack at 10 cents per dozen loss or is still holding and will eventually be compelled to sell at 15 cents per dozen, loss or more? Every case of No. 5 tomatoes on the Peninsula today cost the packer 70 to 75¢ of sales per dozen in factory. I know of sales made in New York the last few days at 59 cents delivered there or 64 cents, f. o. b. packer's station; 750 cases of goods packed in your county are now in New York and 60 less 1½ discount was best offer obtainable and when the seller tried to get the buyer to bid 60 cents net, he replied "No!" This condition of affairs will prevail until the packer regains his senses and either voluntarily locks up his house for a year or two or the Sheriff does it for him. "Nomad!"

Hymn 117, Kyrie, Gloria Tibi, same as early service. Offertory in B b Dunham, Op 14. Sanctus Agnus Dei, same as at early service. During Communion, Pastoral Gordigan. Recessional, Hymn 121. Organ Postlude, March Pontifical, Lemmens. 7.30 p. m. Carol and Choral Service. Organ Prelude. Offertoire in D Minor, Lott. Processional Carol, "Easter Bells." Anthem "Jesus lives" T. Herbert Spiney. Offertory, L'ange Gardien, Lott. Recessional Carol, "Day of life and Joy." Organ Postlude, Marchin D. Major Deshayes.

CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humour. Scratched Till Blood Ran. Wasted to Skeleton.

CURED BY CUTICURA

One Application Soothed Him to Sleep. Cure Speedy and Permanent.

"When my little boy was three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he came near dying. It itched so he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin. He got so weak he took fainting spells and we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was cured about eight months when he tried Cuticura. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time.

INSTANT RELIEF

"I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that I put him in the cradle. You don't know how glad I felt when he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment, pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap, and about half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, to cure. I think he would have died only for the Cuticura."

Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ont. (14 years). Mrs. Maitland writes, under date of Feb. 24, 1903: "It affords me pleasure to inform you that it is fourteen years since my boy was cured of the terrible skin disease. He has been permanently cured and is healthy and strong."

Head throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (The name of Cuticura Resolvent is on the wrapper.) Cuticura Ointment, 50c. (The name of Cuticura Ointment is on the wrapper.) Cuticura Soap, 50c. (The name of Cuticura Soap is on the wrapper.)

She has always borne an exemplary Christian character and the unbounded respect of the entire community. Mrs. William Hastings and Mr. Silas Davis survive her.

Jumping the rope is a juvenile pastime that school children take the greatest delight in. In moderation, it is a pleasant and healthy exercise, but carried to excess which has often been the case this spring, proves not only detrimental, but in more cases than one the cause of death.

RUSSIAN—JAPANESE WAR

Intense Suffering Among The Sick And Wounded. And The Families Of Deceased Soldiers.

Touching appeals from Christian workers in the Far East have come to prominent citizens of the United States, imploring aid for the sick and wounded soldiers of both armies and the multitude of destitute widows and orphans of soldiers killed in the war.

Rev. Y. Honda, principal of the Aoyama Theological School at Tokio, Japan in a recent letter says: "How long this distressing condition of things will last we cannot say. The people are doing their best and every charitable agency is taxed to the utmost, but so numerous have the impoverished families become that our means of immediate relief are utterly inadequate. Could some general fund be raised for this noble purpose, and missionaries on the ground be furnished with the means of distributing and alleviating the distress of these families, it would indeed be a precious gift, and I assure you never be forgotten."

We may not help belligerents, but we may help the suffering and distressed. The Red Cross of Pity is a neutral in every clime and the claims of helpless children are a challenge to Christian love and beneficence the world over.

In response to the moving appeals thus coming from Christian workers in Japan, the Japanese Relief Fund has been organized to obtain the help needed, and all funds contributed will be distributed through the Evangelical Alliance of Japan, under the oversight of Bishop Harris, who is now in this country.

The Executive committee composed of Hon. Seth Low, Bishop Greer, Bishop Harris, Chas. Cutbert Hall, D. D.; W. R. Huntington, D. D.; Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Geo. H. Southard, Dr. Wm. Elliott Griffin, and B. F. Buck, Secretary, request contributions, large or small be sent to the Franklin Trust Company, Treasurer, No. 140 Broadway, New York City.

About $18,000.00 has already been contributed for this purpose, $10,000.00 of which has been forwarded to Japan for distribution.

Pocahontas Movement To Have Re-interment At Jamestown.

Washington.—The Southern historical societies and women's organizations are finding strong support for a movement they have started to have the remains of Pocahontas brought back from England and reinterred at Jamestown. Virginia women in this city and Alexandria are supporting the movement, the plan for which has been approved by Old Dominion Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The plan was to have the reinterment take place at the Jamestown Exposition, but it is not thought this can be done. The women are trying to raise funds for the location of the grave of Pocahontas.

It is said that when Pocahontas was dying she expressed an earnest desire to be taken back to Virginia and buried there. It is proposed to have the reburial near the old Jamestown Church, where she was baptized. It was in old Burton Church at Williamsburg, a few miles away, that she married John Rolfe.

Everybody Happy.

During the Fall of 1902, I used Davis 100 per cent Pure Paint on my residence. I feared at the time it would not stand owing to its high gloss, but it affords me much pleasure to be able to say that it is as bright and beautiful today as when first applied. The paint on my residence has not only been a source of pride to myself and wife, but has been greatly admired and favorably commented upon by our friends. In years to come, when in need of paint, I shall certainly use Davis 100 per cent Pure Paint, and take pleasure in recommending it to all who are seeking a high gloss, combined with best spreading qualities.

Letter To Sam'l Maddox.

Dear Sir:—A painter complained that our cans are too full; unhandy; spill. It's a way we have; 'tis handier not to be full; but we have a weakness for full measure. Our gallon contains eight pints; the usual 'gallon' is seven. We'll think it over again; but we like a full can. How much short would you like a barrel? Seven gallons would be the proportion.

Short-measure suggests that the shortage is probably not in the cheap cost ingredient. Guess we'll stick to four quarts to a gallon, and fifty gallons a barrel. The name to go is Devoe lead-and-sinc. Yours truly, F. W. Devoe & Co. P. S. The L. W. Gunby Co. sell our paint.

I THANK THEE, LORD.

BY OLIVER MUCKEL.

I thank Thee, Lord, for mine unanswered prayers, Unanswered save Thy quiet, kindly "Nay;" Yet it seemed hard among my heavy cares That bitter day.

I wanted joy but Thou didst know for me That sorrow was the gift I needed most, And in its mystic depths I learned to see The Holy Ghost.

I wanted health; but Thou didst bid me sound The secret treasures of pain, And in the moans and groans my heart of fond Thy Chris again,

I wanted wealth; 'twas not the better part: There is a wealth with poverty oft given, And Thou didst teach me of the gold of heart, Best gift of heaven.

I thank Thee, Lord, for these unanswered prayers, And for Thy word, the quiet, kindly "Nay;" 'Twas Thy withholding lightened all my cares That blessed day.

The Return Of The Shad.

(From The New York World.) The migration of the shad are as regular as the coming of the robins. In January it appears in the Savannah River, late in February in the Potomac, a month later in the Delaware, and in the Hudson usually by the first of April. It is the most valuable river fish of the Atlantic coast. Next to the salmon of the Pacific coast it is the most important food fish frequenting our fresh waters. Of late years the shad catch of the Atlantic seaboard has averaged about 15,000,000 fish, weighing about 50,000,000 pounds. To fishermen it is worth from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 a year.

From a single cod weighing seventy five pounds 9,000,000 eggs have been taken, while the average shad yields hardly more than 30,000, though in exceptional cases 100,000 eggs are found. After the eggs have been artificially hatched the tiny fish, an inch long, are turned loose. How many survive it is impossible to guess. When they are young the bass and white perch prey on them in the rivers, and in the deep sea the horse-mackerel, shark and porpoise destroy the adults.

The Executive committee composed of Hon. Seth Low, Bishop Greer, Bishop Harris, Chas. Cutbert Hall, D. D.; W. R. Huntington, D. D.; Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Geo. H. Southard, Dr. Wm. Elliott Griffin, and B. F. Buck, Secretary, request contributions, large or small be sent to the Franklin Trust Company, Treasurer, No. 140 Broadway, New York City.

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.
[Copyright 1904 by J. S. Ostrick Pub. Co. (New York).]
President Roosevelt says to the author of it
"I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

CHAPTER III. SIMPLE THOUGHT.
It is not only in the practical manifestations of our life, but also in the domain of our ideas that there is a need of clearing. Anarchy reigns in human thought. We walk among the underbrush, without compass or sun, and without direction, lost in the infinity of detail.
As soon as man has recognized that he has an aim, and that this aim is to be a man, he organizes his thoughts accordingly. Every mode of thinking, to understand or to judge, which does not make him stronger or better, he throws aside as unwholesome. First of all, he avoids the too common plan of amusing himself with his own thought. Thought is a fool, having its own proper function in the whole. It is not a plaything. Let us take an example. Here is the studio of a painter. The implements are all in their places. Everything indicates that that assemblage of means is disposed in view of an aim to reach. Open the door to monkeys. They climb on the benches, hang to the cords, wrap themselves in the draperies, coil themselves with slippers, juggle with the brushes, taste the colors, and pierce the canvas to see what the portraits have inside their bodies. I do not doubt their pleasure. They must surely find this kind of exercise very interesting. But a studio is not made to let monkeys run loose in. Nor is thought a ground for acrobatic evolutions. A man worthy of the name thinks as he is and as his tastes are. He goes into everything with all his heart, and not with that fiftful and sterile curiosity, under pretext of wishing to see and know everything, and thereby exposing himself to the risk of never feeling one healthy or deep emotion, or doing one right act.

One other habit in urgent need of correction, ordinarily attendant on this fictitious life, is the mania for examining oneself and for analyzing oneself at all times. I do not advise man to neglect the introspective examination of his own conscience. To endeavor to see clearly into one's own mind and motives of conduct is an element essential to right living. But quite another is the vigilance, another thing the incessant endeavor to watch one's life and thought, and to demonstrate one's self like a piece of mechanism. It is to lose one's time and to lose one's way. The man who, to better prepare himself for a race, would first deliver himself to a minute anatomical examination regarding his powers of locomotion would risk having his members dislocated before he took one step. "You have all that you require to walk with, so go ahead. Take care not to fall and use your strength with discretion." Seekers for insignificant things and the merchants of scruples reduce themselves to inaction. It suffices to have but a glimmer of common sense to understand that man is not made to pass his life in a Buddhistic trance.

Common sense—do you not find what is designated by that name is becoming as rare as the sensible customs of other days? Common sense is an old story. We must have some thing new—something else—and we seek it in impossible places. It is a refinement that the vulgar would not understand how to procure, and it is so agreeable to distinguish oneself. Instead of conducting ourselves as a natural person would who uses the clearly indicated means at his disposal, we reach the most astonishing singularities by the force of genius. They would prefer to be off the track than follow the simple line. At the bodily defects and deformities treated by choppy, five but a feeble idea of the humps, the twistings, the dislocations we have inflicted upon ourselves in order to escape from the right of good sense. And we learn at our own cost that one does not deform oneself with impunity. Novelty is, after all, ephemeral. There is nothing durable but the eternal commonplace, and if one turns aside it is to seek the most dangerous adventures. Happy is he who is able to return to the simple common sense is not, as some think, the labor property of the first comer, a vulgar and trivial baggage which costs no labor to anyone. I compare it to those old popular songs, imperishable and anonymous, which seem to have come from the very hearts of the people. Good sense is the capital slowly and painfully accumulated by the labor of centuries. It is a pure treasure which only he understands the value of who has lost it or who sees people live after having it no longer. For my part, I think no pains too great to take to acquire and guard good sense, to maintain one's eyes clearseeing and one's judgment right. One takes great care of his sword, for fear it might be bent or rusted. How much more should he take care of his thought.

But let us understand this well. An appeal to good sense is not to such thought as grovels to the earth, to a narrow positivism which denies everything it cannot see or touch. For that is also a lack of good sense, to wish that man should be absorbed in his material sensation, and to forget the high realities of the inner life. Here we touch a painful subject, around which the greatest problems of humanity are being agitated. In fact we are striving to attain to a conception of life. We are seeking it amid a thousand obscurities and pains, and all that which touches upon the spiritual realities becomes daily more agonizing. In the midst of the grave perplexities and the momentary disorders which accompany great crises of thought, it seems more than ever difficult for man to free himself from the affair with a few simple principles. Yet necessity comes to our aid as it has done for the men of all times. The programs of life is terribly simple, after all, and in the fact that existence is so vast and that it is imposed on one, it gives us notice that it precedes the idea that we can form for ourselves, and that no one can wait to live until he has first understood. We are everywhere confronted by our philosophies, our explanations, our beliefs, and it is this actual accomplished fact, prodigious and irrefutable, which recalls us to order when we would deduct the life of our reasonings and wait to act until we shall have finished philosophizing. It is this fortunate necessity which hinders the world from stopping while man is in doubt as to his road. Travelers of a day, we are carried along in a vast movement to which we are called to contribute, but which we have not foreseen, nor embraced in its entirety, nor sounded to its deepest depths. Our part consists in filling faithfully the position of private soldier which has fallen to us, and our thought should adapt itself to the situation. Do not say that we live in more trying times than did our ancestors, for that seen from afar is often badly seen, and besides it is bad grace to complain of not having been born in one's grandfather's time. What one may think the least contestable on this subject is this: since the world began it is troublesome to see it clear. Everywhere and always to think justly has been difficult. The duties have no privilege in that above the moderns. And we may add that there is no difference between men when one reaches a point where they can be considered from that point of view. Whether a man obeys or commands, teaches or learns, holds a pen or a hammer, it costs him the same to fully discern the truth. The few lights that humanity acquires in its advancement are doubtless of great utility, but they also aggrandize the number and extent of the problems. The duties which are never removed, the intelligence always meets with the obstacle. The unknown dominates us and draws us to every side. But as one does not need to exhaust all the water of the springs to stanch one's thirst, one does not need to know everything to live. Humanity lives and has always lived on some elementary provisions.

We will try to indicate them. First of all, humanity lives by confidence. In doing that it reflects, commensurate with its conscious thought, which is the high foundation of all beings. An imperishable faith in the stability of the universe, and its intelligent ordering, sleeps in everything that exists. The flowers, the trees, the animals all live in calm strength and an entire security. There is confidence in the rain that falls in the morning, in the brook running to the sea. All that which is seems to say: "I am, therefore I should be. There are good reasons for that, let us be assured."

So, too, mankind lives by confidence. For the reason that it is he who in itself the reason sufficient for his being, a pledge of assurance. He rests in the power that has willed that he should be. It is to guard this confidence and not allow it to be shaken by anything, and on the contrary to cultivate it and render it more evident and personal that the first effort of our thought should tend. All which adds to our confidence is good. Because from that is born tranquil energy, reposeful action, love of life and fruitful labor. Deeply seated confidence is the mysterious spring which sets in motion the energy within us. It nourishes us. It is by this that man lives, much more than by the bread he eats. Thus, everything that shakes this confidence is evil-poison and not food.

Unhealthy is every system of thought that attacks the very fact of life to declare it an evil. Life has been too often wrongly estimated in this century. Is it surprising that the tree withers when you water the roots with corrosive substances? There is, however, a very simple reflection that might be made in face of all this philosophy of nothingness: you declare life evil. Very well. What remedy are you going to offer against it? Can you combat it, or suppress it? I do not ask you to suppress your own life, to commit suicide. Of what advantage would that be to us?—to suppress life, not only human life, but its obscure and inferior base or origin, all that growth of existence that reaches toward the light and according to you rolls toward mistiness; I ask you to suppress the will to live that quivers through immensity, to suppress, in short, the source of life. Can you do it? No. Then leave us in peace. Since no one can hold life in check, is it not better to learn to estimate it and employ it than to try to disgust others with it? When one knows that a certain food is dangerous to health one does not eat it. And, when a certain fashion of thinking takes away our confidence, our joy and our strength, we should reject it, certain that not only it is a detestable food for the mind, but that it is false. There is no truth for man but in humanizing thoughts, and pessimism is inhuman. Besides, it lacks modesty as well as logic. To dare to find that prodigious thing called life evil one must have seen the very foundation—almost to have made it. What a strange attitude is that of certain great thinkers of the times. In truth, they act as if they had created the world in their youth, a very long time ago, but now they are convinced that it was a decided mistake.

Let us nourish ourselves from other meat, fortify our souls by comforting thoughts. For man that which is truest is what strengthens him the most.

self, toward which it moves slowly, and that this dolorous power who is called man needs like all others to count on the morrow. The history of humanity is one of invincible hope. Otherwise it would have ended long since. To walk under his burdens, to guide himself in the night, to rise again from his falls and his ruins, not to abandon himself to death even, humanity needed to hope ever and sometimes even against all hope. That is the cordial that sustains us. If we had had but logic we should long since have drawn this conclusion: the last word is everywhere to death, and we would have died of that thought. But we have hope, and it is for that that we live and believe in life.

Suso, the great monk and mystic, one of the simplest and best men that ever lived, had a touching habit. Every time that he met a woman, the oldest and the poorest, he stopped respectfully aside, though to do that he thorns or in the muddy gutter. "I do that," he said, "to render homage to our holy lady, the Virgin Mary! Let us render to hope a like reverence. If we meet it under the form of a spear of wheat which pierces the furrow, the bird which broods and feeds her nestlings, of a poor wounded animal which gathers itself together, rises and continues its way, of a peasant who labors and sows a field ravaged by inundation or hail, of a nation which slowly repairs its losses and heals its wounds, under no matter what humble and suffering exterior, salute it. When we encounter it in the legends, the untutored songs, in the simple beliefs, salute it again. For it is the same always, the immortal, the indestructible daughter of God!"

Puff of Fame.
Justice Brewer is from Kansas, and his state is justly proud of him. Soon after his elevation to the supreme bench a cigar manufacturer in Topeka dedicated a 10-cent "domestic" cigar to the jurist, named it "Our Justice," and on the cover of each box pasted a portrait of Mr. Brewer.

A few years ago the justice was in Topeka on a business trip. The hotel clerk recognized him, and the negro bell boy, although he had no idea who the newcomer was, knew from the way he was ordered about that the patron was of some consequence. Going up in the elevator the negro stared constantly at the tall, dignified man. Suddenly the black face was wreathed in smiles, and the boy said: "Scuse me, boss, but ain't you de gemmon dat invented dem 'Ouah Jesic' cigars?" This reminds one of the man who was recalling famous persons who "parted their names in the middle." "And then," he said, "there is 'E. Phurbus Unum,' the man that makes the bass-drums."—Kansas City Journal

Call for Primary Meeting.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF SALISBURY, MARYLAND.

Monday Evening, April 24th.

In case of contest polls will be kept open from 7.30 to 9.30 o'clock.

N. Y. CORRUPT PRACTICES MEASURE.

We append Herrick's opinion of Brackett-Palmer Corrupt Practices bill, of which we will have something to say next Saturday.

Judge D-Cady Herrick, to his everlasting honor, said on Monday evening at the Cooper Union to the Citizens' Union meeting:

"I appeal to you to support the bill prohibiting the buying of votes, the purchase of official station, and I appeal in the name of decency. You do bad things here in New York, but they're worse up the State. So far as your election methods go they are clean compared to what they are up there."

"When a father sells his own vote and the votes of his sons it's time to stop it. You've heard a great deal of control by corporations: how do they do it? By the use of money at the polls and by paying election expenses of candidates for public office. If you pay the expenses of a man, he wants to show gratitude and do the decent thing when a little matter comes up that you're interested in."

"It's only a question, nowadays, who can raise the most money and spend it most skillfully. Our young men are thinking less of their righteous citizenship. When a man knows it can be offset by a $5 note, what's the use thinking much about it? Stop the people who offer the money. Make their expenditures useless. It's impossible to send them to State prison now. The Grand Jury refuses to indict. We're all in it, they say: or the petty jury disagrees because it's made up of Democrats and Republicans and they know it's the regular thing."

"We don't want New York degraded to the extent some of the other States are, but we're drifting fast toward it."

A large and enthusiastic meeting with a view of forming a strong Y. M. C. A., in Salisbury was held Friday night. Prof. M. T. Skinner was asked to be chairman and Prof. J. Walter Huffington, secretary.

One hundred and eight have pledged themselves to become members of an association here, we understand and with the impetus of a public sentiment and demand should become an assured branch.

Short addresses were made by Revs. Dr. Reigart and Smith and Messrs. W. B. Miller and E. S. Adkins, all of whom spoke of the need of such an organization and expressed an assurance of its becoming a factor for good in our city, as well as the belief that it could be made a success here.

The following were elected as a committee for provisional organization: Jas. E. Ellegood, E. S. Adkins, L. W. Gunby, Wm. B. Tilghman, Jr., J. Walter Huffington, M. T. Skinner and W. M. Cooper.

A committee composed of Messrs. Frank Gunby, Wm. B. Tilghman, Jr., and Carroll Phillips was elected to canvass the city for members.

The meeting adjourned to meet the first Friday evening in May. Much interest was manifested during the evening and it is believed if the work is properly pushed it will go in Salisbury. If successful the old Methodist Episcopal Church South building will possibly be used through the generosity of ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson.

Those who promised donations to the Masonic Bazaar please remember that it will open Tuesday and will kindly be ready with their donations.

PERIL IN THE HAND-SHAKE.

Not long ago Dr. J. N. Hirsch, of Chicago, said: "The most delicate perfume upon the hand is not a sign of freedom from germs and the most refined are not free from disease of lungs or throat, and the germs are rapidly spread by touching the hand that has handled the handkerchief of one afflicted with a cold, catarrh or consumption."

The breath one inhales from the lungs of another may contain germs of disease. You will not only be able to resist the germs of consumption, but many thousands of cases have been known where persons who were suffering from incipient phthisis, or the early stages of consumption were absolutely cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a powerful blood purifier and a powerful tonic. It cures all cases of consumption, phthisis, and all other diseases of the lungs.

MAN AS AN ENGINE.

He Runs With Less Waste Than Any Engine Yet Devised. "To test the efficiency of a man as an engine," says the Boston Herald, "Professor Atwater of Wesleyan University has been engaged recently in making some remarkable experiments, employing a stationary bicycle as a means of measuring the power developed by a muscular rider."

"By the simple expedient of making the tire of the rear wheel—the cycle has no front wheel—pass between two electro magnets which are connected with a dynamo all of the energy transmitted to the pedals is converted into a current of electricity. The current can be measured, and thus it is ascertained exactly how much power is employed."

"The rider operates his wheel inside of a great box of wood lined with metal. He is not permitted to leave the box for several days and nights, and all of his food and drink are carefully weighed. In this way the amounts of fuel and water supplied to the human engine are accurately ascertained, and the total energy which they represent can be easily figured out."

"As a result of the experiment it has been found that a man is a much better engine than a locomotive, yielding nearly twice as much power for a given amount of fuel. He is superior in this respect to the best and most economical pattern of automobile. In fact, no kind of engine as yet contrived—steam, gasoline or electric—is equal to him as a producer of energy."

"Professor Atwater says that the most economical engine built today utilizes, in the shape of work, only 15 per cent of the energy contained in the fuel supplied to it. The human power machine develops 20 per cent without counting what is required to keep the internal mechanism of the body running. Of course it takes considerable power to keep the heart pump going and the digestive apparatus in operation. To reckon the expenditure for these and other functions at an additional 20 per cent would not be over the mark."

"Thus it is seen that the human engine runs with much less waste than any mechanical contrivance yet devised. Man stands today the model machine, and, with all his vaunted ingenuity, he cannot construct an apparatus that comes near to equaling his own body as a work producer, nor, indeed, will any other kind of engine, though built of the best obtainable materials, run for anything like so long a period without wearing out, requiring in the same time so small an expenditure for repairs."

My Son Bill. The captain of a second class cruiser which has lately returned to Devonport from the North American station to pay off tells an amusing story against himself. The ship touched at one of the French Islands in the West Indies, and the captain went ashore in due course to return the visit of the British consul.

On his arrival, says the London Mail, he beheld one of the senior petty officers of his ship, to whom he had granted eight hours' leave, sprawling in a luxuriant chair on the veranda, puffing at a big Havana cigar. The captain asked him what he was doing there. The sailor, between the puffs of his big cigar, blandly retorted that he was there on a visit to Bill. "And who the deuce is Bill?" snapped the skipper. "Why, the consul here—him as I allow you've come to pay your respects to."

"How dare you speak with such familiarity of one of his majesty's consuls?" thundered the captain. "Oh, Bill's all right," explained the petty officer complacently. "He's my son." And as the captain fell back breathless with indignation and incredulity the consul himself came in and exclaimed, "Ah, captain, I'm glad my old man was here to receive you!"

How She Kept Her Servants. "I've found a solution of the servant problem in the learning of the Swedish language," said a housekeeper the other day. "I've taken to employing women of that nationality, and I've found that the best way to keep them is to know their tongue. You know, those women have a way of coming to you as green as grass. They really are of no use ordinarily until you explain them their duties and the English language. Then they go where they can get better wages. I went through that experience several times, and at last my husband asked me if it wouldn't be easier to learn Swedish than to run a continuous kindergarten for teaching English. I found it did not take long to pick up enough words to say all I needed. Then, when I got a cook and a maid who had just landed, I used no English with them. They have their Swedish friends and so have not tried to mix up our language. The result is I have had them three years and expect to keep them a long time—unless they should marry."—New York Tribune.

Monkey Bread Tree. The baobab tree, which has been transplanted from Africa to Asia and America, has a fruit whose pulp—"monkey bread"—is eaten by negroes and is said to be a powerful tonic. A French chemist has been investigating. He finds that the round seeds grow to a diameter of three-fourths of an inch, that their kernels contain 63 per cent of oil, with much nitrogenous matter, and that the Madagascarian oil is a white solid which begins to melt at about 25 degrees centigrade. The odor recalls Tunisian olive oil. The oil does not become rancid and is suggested as a valuable product in place of coconut oil and in fine soaps and unguents.

The Chapel at Annapolis. One of the most interesting buildings now under construction in this country is the chapel of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. In its general plan the building is something like a Greek cross. The main floor is a circle eighty-three feet four inches in diameter, with transepts increasing the clear width to the main axes of the building to 110 feet 8 inches. The outside diameter is 130 feet. The main building is sixty-four feet high and is crowned by a double dome supporting a lantern rising to a total height of 150 feet 8 inches above the ground.

No Canary Seeds Wanted. Delegate McGuire of Oklahoma has on his desk a unique request for seed. It comes from a resident of the territory, who writes in this wise: "My wife wants packages of flower seeds and packages of garden seeds. Please send the same to her. Don't send her any canary seed. That might make her want to sing, and the Lord knows I have trouble enough with her now as it is."—Willie of Wicomico County.

SAND OF THE DESERT.

The Wind Sports With It and Works Curious Effects. As mysterious, as uncontrollable, as treacherous and as entertaining as the vast ocean which lies only a few leagues west of its borders is the great sea of sand which forms a large portion of California's greatest desert, known, because of its proximity to the river of that name, as the Colorado desert.

This desert is the wind's favorite playground. He comes over the mountains from plying the mighty deep and works strange fancies in the pliable sands; he duplicates the great billows of the turbulent ocean; he imitates the rippling waves of the placid sea; he carves and builds and plays at artist, sculptor and geometriean. When he becomes weary of his sports he lashes himself to fury and tosses the sand a mile high in the air and flings it broadcast over all the plain, whirling and hurling the particles till he obscures the sun and brings a suffocating darkness to the land.

On the east side of the desert he is at present busy engulging a railroad. Already he has buried many of the telegraph poles which stand along the way, and he has invaded the right of way of the road, and the company is busily fighting to hold possession until a new line, which is being built around the intruding hills, shall be completed. Then the rolling billows of sand will be allowed to sweep on undisturbed.

In the southwest portion of the same desert is another range of treacherous hills. These are more wonderful, however, than the ones which are menacing the railroad, for upon these hills the wind has practiced his skill at carving geometrical figures. These hills are known as the Crescent hills. Each is the shape of a true crescent, the points of which are toward the east. A hill which is fifty feet high is found to be 100 feet thick at the base and 200 feet from point to point of the duplicate horns of the crescent. If a hill is twice that height its other dimensions will be found to have doubled also. Little and big, they keep their proportions as they move slowly across the plain.

In crossing the desert one frequently finds footprints of men and animals, not indented in the yielding sands, but standing above the level of the earth supported by tiny sand columns six inches to one foot in height. This phenomenon is easily accounted for. The so called sand of the Colorado desert is really fine particles of silt, for that region was at one time the bottom of the Gulf of California when that body of water extended north to the present position of the Colorado river. There are certain admirably adapted properties to this silt, and under the weight of man or beast the particles cling together and become stationary instead of continually drifting before the wind, which continues its work of erosion upon the unpressed soil about the tracks, soon leaving them stranded in the air. Thus the "footprints in the sands of time" become monuments of passing events.

In Death valley the phenomenon is reversed. There forty years after a wagon party went to its death in that valley the course of the track was finally traced by the tracks made forty years before. Here the peculiar nature of the soil was such as to prevent erosion of the earth about the tracks. The winds carried continually over the soil sand brought from another part of the valley, often filling the ruts and as often emptying them again. It was only a few years ago that the trail of "the Pathfinder," John C. Fremont, was easy to follow across a portion of the Mojave desert in a region possessed of a similar formation. Many and many a time the trail covered inches deep beneath drifting sands, only to be again rescued from submergence by the same fierce winds.

In many places in the desert has the wind left his autograph in sand ripples and sinuous, rippling waves, like the waves of a sheet of water when the playful breezes set them dancing in gentle mood or like the ripples upon the surface of a pebble fretted stream. —New York Tribune.

The Idol of the Japanese Army. General Nogi, idol of the Japanese army and the captor of Port Arthur, is of the ancient samurai fighting class of Japan, and for forty years he has served his country in various capacities in the field. Few great generals ever went through a sterner novitiate than this resolute, self contained, self mastered and ascetic Japanese general, who, when the war with Russia was declared, was given the post of honor, the command of the army for the conquest of Port Arthur. In the Chinese-Japanese war he captured the island of Port Arthur at a single assault, losing only eighteen killed and 262 wounded. His first success raised hope of perhaps a similar success the second time among the Japanese people, but Nogi himself realized the stupendous nature of his task and set himself resolutely to accomplish it. He succeeded, but at terrible cost, and his achievement has made his fame secure in military annals.

To Make War Impossible. In an article in the new French magazine, Je Sais Tout (I Know Everything), M. Santos Dumont says that the present generation will see a perfect flying machine which will make war impossible. There will also be transatlantic aerial express, with Paris as the great aerial station. And he adds: "What would you say if I told you that next summer I am confident of giving a new impulse to aerial navigation; that I myself hope to be able to make one expedition to cruise over Europe for a week at a time, without descending to earth, in a yacht that will be in itself a flying house?"

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It. How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmier's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and excels in relieving pain in passing it. Its effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

A Novel Kingdom.

Loudon papers report that Sir Charles A. J. Brooke, the Englishman who enjoys the unique distinction of being the ruler of half a million Malays, Chinese and Dyaks at Sarawak, in the island of Borneo, has just appointed his son to assist him in his royal duties. The rajah of Sarawak has taken this step in consequence of his growing infirmities. He is in his seventy-first year.

The story of how the rulership of Sarawak came into the hands of the Brooke family is a romantic one. It was brought about by the adventures of the uncle of the present rajah. In 1838 James Brooke, then thirty-five years of age, having retired wounded from military service in India, chartered a small yacht and with a crew of twenty men sailed away to the far east in search of adventures. It happened that he reached Sarawak while a big rebellion was on foot in his lot with the reigning sultan, he brought order out of chaos and was himself appointed rajah of the province he had rescued from anarchy.

After a successful rule his health gave way, and forty years ago his nephew succeeded him. The regent is thirty years of age and has resided in Sarawak on and off from boyhood.

An Alpine Bishop. The bishop of Bristol, England, who has just been elected president of the Alpine club, is not by any means the first prelate to be distinguished as a mountaineer. It was the bishop of Gurk who made the first ascent of Gross Glockner, in Tyrol, in 1800, and it was the bishop of Aire, in Gascony, who made the first attempt to climb the Pic du Midi, in the Pyrenees, in the sixteenth century.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmier's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and excels in relieving pain in passing it. Its effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

REACHING THE SPOT. It Can Be Done, So Scores of Salisbury Citizens Say. To cure an aching back, The pain of rheumatism, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys. Mrs. L. T. Adams, of 801 Choptank Ave., Cambridge says: "I had my first experience with kidney complaint and rheumatism about 18 years ago. It came on me gradually and in about three months I got so bad that I was compelled to take my bed. I was up and down, now feeling better and now worse, for about a year and a half. No tongue can tell what misery and suffering I endured. I recovered some what, but was never wholly free from pain in my back and through my left hip and down my left limb. At this time I was taking this, and the other remedy and was doctoring my great deal, but nothing brought me any relief. I had heavy dull headaches and terrible dizzy spells and giddiness. I was growing worse every day and during the last year I could scarcely drag myself about. I could not lift anything, was unable to sleep well at night and, to sum up the whole thing, I was a physical wreck. I happened to see a pamphlet about Doan's Kidney Pills and read of cures in cases similar to mine; in fact they described my case better than I could myself. I made up my mind there must be some merit in them and got a box. They simply worked like magic. In two days I was relieved and when I had finished the box I felt better than I had any time during the past two years. They practically cured me, and I have recommended them to all my friends and acquaintances. I cannot say too much in their favor." Plenty more proof like this from Salisbury people. About Rheumatism. There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless list of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all dealers. For the first time in twenty years Mrs. Woodruff Bendler, of Summit Bridge, has heard from her brother. He is a prosperous planter in Texas, and she had believed him dead. The Very Best Remedy for Bowel Troubles No Family Can Afford To Be Without It. "I make this statement after having used the medicine in my family for several years. I am never without it." No family can afford to be without a bottle of this remedy in the house. It is certain to be needed sooner or later. For sale by all Dealers. Rheumatic Pains Quickly Relieved. The excruciating pains characteristic of rheumatism and sciatica are quickly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The great pain relieving power of the liniment has been the surprise and delight of thousands of sufferers. The quick relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. APPRECIATION EXTENDED

To All Who Aided in Making Maryland Conference Here, Best Ever Held in Its History. Report Of Committee.

The Maryland Conference assembled in Salisbury and held its session in the church from April 5th to April 11th. The business of the conference was transacted with promptness and becoming dignity. The evening meetings were largely attended. The addresses were of a high order. The music was rendered in a manner inspiring to all. It is the deliberate judgment of men who have attended conference for many years that the 77th was the best ever held. If this be true, it is a source of joy and justifiable pride upon the part of the local church. It seems, therefore, fitting and due that some expression of appreciation and gratitude should be formulated.

The committee appointed for this purpose seeks as follows to set forth the sentiments of the church: While we recognize the services rendered by every member of the committee on conference entertainment, we make special mention of the official labors of the chairman, Brother W. E. Shepard. With hands upon the reins he guided the work to a successful culmination, thus bringing glory to the church and much satisfaction to the conference. We record our appreciation of the tendering of the Presbyterian Church for the use of the conference as a most suitable place for the meeting of committees. This church seemed indispensable for the prosecution of the conference work and we shall not forget the kindness shown.

Our President seemed thoroughly satisfied with his office provided by Mr. T. H. Mitchell. We sincerely thank Mr. Mitchell for his kindness in this regard.

We hereby express our indebtedness to the I. O. R. M., Messrs. L. P. Conbourn, Jesse T. Wilson and S. J. R. Holloway for the loan of chairs, thus enabling us to provide an increased seating capacity of about 150.

We have not words with which to voice our appreciation of the liberal and gracious response of the members of other churches and the citizens generally to the appeal for homes. We think the city of Salisbury has established a precedent along this line. We can but say to all the kind friends of our church, God bless you in your homes, and reward you both now and forever, for your unstinted hospitality.

We are not unmindful of the self-sacrificing, but eminently successful, services rendered by our choir. We think we are not saying too much when we declare that the conference will not forget either the singers or the songs. We wish you to sing on and we pray that the unction of the spirit may fall upon you. We are justly proud of you.

And we further wish to express our appreciation for the efficient way that the proprietor of our hotel and boarding houses entertained those that were placed under their care by the committee in charge of entertainment.

Visitors said, "You have splendid ushers here." An aged gentleman remarked, "I came in and the church was filled but they soon found me a seat," and he seemed so grateful. We thank the ushers most heartily.

We thank the press of the city for the assistance rendered. If any other agency took part in helping to provide for the entertainment of the largest and most successful annual session the Maryland Conference has ever held we hereby record our grateful appreciation.

We feel bound to affirm that the assembling of the conference in our city has been a blessing. The brethren have taken their departure to the mountains and vales; we follow you with our sincere prayers. We think of the time, which need not be far distant, when you will meet with us again. In the meantime put in the sickle and reap the golden grain.

Now, in conclusion, we give sincere and grateful thanks to the Great Head of the Church for His abundant grace which has enabled us to do all these things.

S. J. SMITH,
E. J. C. PARSONS,
U. W. DICKERSON, Committee.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; a deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them. You want something that will heal the inflamed membranes, enrich the blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion

is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor.

WHY IS IT?

You can buy horses, mares and mules at King's for less money than elsewhere. One reason is, he sells more horses than all the dealers in Baltimore combined. Another reason is, while our horse and mule business is the largest of any in Baltimore City, (stabling capacity 600 head and continuously receiving consignments from the breeders all over America), it is only one branch of this immense business. We carry in stock 1000 vehicles of every kind, of which a large selection is suitable for country use, at lowest factory prices. The final reason is, we are THE LARGEST DEALERS IN HORSE AND MULE DEALERS, LIVERYMEN, CARRIAGE, WAGON AND HARNESS MANUFACTURERS.

Fashionable Wedding At Vienna In The M. E. Church.

The Protestant Episcopal Church at Vienna was the scene of a very pretty wedding at noon on Wednesday, April 26th, when Miss Nellie Larrimore Higgins and Edward Flemming Webb, both of that town were married. Rev. Thos. B. Barlow of Christ Church, Cambridge, performed the ceremony and Miss Nina Webb presided at the organ. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Higgins, sister of the bride and the twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard H. Higgins, of Salisbury, acted as ribbon girls. Mr. Don. N. Higgins, brother of the bride, Alan Webb, cousin of the groom, W. F. Applegarth, Jr., of Baltimore and Calvin Harrington, of Cambridge, were the ushers. The church was decorated with apple blossoms, ferns and potted plants. P. Watson Webb, brother of the groom acted as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served to the relatives and a few intimate friends after the wedding, when the bride and groom were driven to Linkwood taking the train for Baltimore, thence taking an ocean steamer for Boston and other northern cities. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Jas. A. Higgins, of Vienna. He being quite a large real estate owner and a very prosperous business man.

Dryden—Sirman Marriage At Home Of Bride.

Mr. Marion Kinser Dryden, son of the late Joanna Dryden, of Nattlers district, and Miss Bertie Sirman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sirman, of this city, were united in holy matrimony at eight o'clock last Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride on Snow Hill Road, by Elder A. B. Francis, of the O. S. Baptist church.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a goodly number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was attired in a dainty gown of white silk mousseline and carried white carnations. The groom wore the conventional black and brown gloves. The only attendants were Miss Sallie Morris, of Laurel, Del., who wore light blue silk mulle and carried pink carnations, and Mr. John S. Sirman, brother of the bride, attired in black and wore brown kid gloves. Miss Olive Mitchell presided at the organ.

After the ceremony an elaborate reception was tendered the assembled guests, consisting of ices, cakes, bonbons and fruits. The floral decorations were carnations and ferns.

The congratulations and good wishes of the many friends were appropriately expressed by the many beautiful gifts to the contracting parties.

Mr. LeFevre Now A Lawyer—One Of This City.

Charles Howard LeFevre, one of the best known young men in Delaware, formerly principal of the public schools of Smyrna and later of the Salisbury public schools was Monday admitted to the bar of Kent county as a practicing attorney on motion of George M. Jones. He passed a high examination before Examiners Henry R. Johnson, Henry Ridgely, James H. Hughes and Richard R. Kenney.

The Ocean City fish ponds have been having a gala week. Capt. Ludlum shipped one hundred barrels Tuesday, leaving as many more in the same pond for the next shipment. In one of his nets, was caught among the balance, several barrels of fine mackerel, one of the finest of fish, commanding a price at any time. An extra car was he compelled too wire for which reached him yesterday. The old adage still remains good, the time to catch fish is when they are up.

W. E. Griffith, Concan, Texas, writes: "I suffered with chronic catarrh for many years. I took Peruna and it completely cured me. I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world for catarrh. My general health is much improved by its use, as I am much stronger than I have been for years."—W. E. Griffith.

A Congressman's Letter.

Congressman H. Bowen, Rusku, Texas, writes: "I can cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy, Peruna, to any one who is suffering with catarrh, and who is in need of a permanent and effective cure."—H. Bowen.

Mr. Fred. D. Scott, Laroo, Ohio, Right Guard of Hiram Foot Ball Team, writes: "As a specific for lung trouble I use Peruna at the head. I have used it myself for colds and catarrh of the bowels and it is a splendid remedy. It restores vitality, increases bodily strength and makes a sick person well in a short time. I give Peruna my hearty indorsement."—Fred. D. Scott.

Gen. Ira C. Abbott, 906 M street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I am fully convinced that your remedy is an excellent tonic. Many of my friends have used it with the most beneficial results for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."—Ira C. Abbott.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 298, Northwestern League of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2585 Polk street, N. E.: "I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Toiletman Sanitarium, Columbus, G.

REV. E. S. FOOKS,

who has been elected Church Extension Steward of the Maryland Conference for the eighth consecutive year.

BIOGRAPHY OF REV. ERNEST STRAYER FOOKS, OF WICOMICO COUNTY BY REV. S. B. TREDWAY, D. D.

Rev. Ernest Strayer Fooks, born April the 12th, 1868, is the only surviving son of George Washington and Mary Wesley Fooks, respectable people of Scotch descent and life long members of the Methodist Protestant Church. He came into the mysteries of life near the city of Salisbury, Md., sitting erect in the shadows of the neighboring groves of oak and pine, with the river Wicomico springing at its feet. The only surviving boy of five sons, he, like John Wesley, who was rescued from the burning Rectory of Epworth Church at six years of age, seems to have been providentially spared to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. Mary W. Fooks, his affectionate mother, laying down the burdens of life, caused a break in the home circle and the boy, deeply grieved at his mother's death soon struck out in the world for himself, beginning first as a clerk in a store and afterwards becoming Assistant Agent of the Adams Express Company at Salisbury, Md. The first time I saw him was in his father's house April 1st, 1884, when I assumed the pastorate of Salisbury Methodist Protestant Church. The spiritual entities being in the ascendancy, piety was a marked characteristic of his boyhood life. Religion was the power felt, the subject discussed, the object that appealed to all his inner forces in the early period of his Christian experience, and it is not to be wondered at that early manhood found him in the active ranks of an aggressive ministry, pushing with untiring zeal the interests of the kingdom of God.

In 1892 he filled the position of Assistant Pastor under the superintendency of the late Rev. W. J. Floyd, of Frederick Circuit, and the division of that circuit can be attributed to his agitation of the question. The following year the Conference sent him to Oak Grove Station, Va., where he labored earnestly for the salvation of souls and the glory of the Master. Sixty souls professed conversion; the parsonage was painted inside and out and newly furnished. The next two years—1894 and 1895—witnessed a successful pastorate on the charge at Marietta Springs, where a number of souls were gloriously converted to God. The following three years he spent as pastor of Kent Island charge where his ministry became eminently successful in the large and interesting congregations which gave close attention to his preaching, giving the church an ascendancy in the community. In 1899 he was sent to Conquest charge in Accomac county, Virginia.

September found our brother improved sufficiently from a long protracted fever, to carry to a successful issue one of the most prosperous camp meetings ever held in Virginia. Five thousand people were said to be present on Sundays to hear the Gospel message. At the close of the pastorate there had been two hundred and fifty souls saved, the charge enabled to pay a salary of $700, and the whole circuit put on a footing such as it had never experienced. The membership had caught the indefatigable spirit of the pastor, that gave the churches a new hold on life. In the spring of 1901 the president of the Conference, Rev. A. D. Melvin, D. D., in thinking over a suitable supply, appointed Rev. E. S. Fooks to South Baltimore. In three years there have been so far one hundred professions, the salary increased to $700, and the collections augmented by the untiring efforts of the pastor, under the divine approval of our Heavenly Father. Having known my friend so long and well I desire to submit this brief commendation of duty faithfully performed.

Since the above biography was written Rev. Mr. Fooks has been doing excellent and zealous work in the field around Delmar in the county of his nativity. Many conversions have resulted and the spiritual trend of the church further advanced. In addition to his pastoral work Mr. Fooks publishes the Church Herald of which he is the founder. Characteristic of its creator it is full of life and zeal.

BAZAAR'S SUCCESS

Pleases All Interested. About $1,500 Will Be Totalled Net. Fairy Scenes That Attracted Many Visitors. And Enticed Ready Buyers. The Committees.

Storm and rain have not prevented the gifted Masonic Bazaar from being a Salisbury success—all that could have been hoped—and to all the fair officials connected with it words of praise cannot measure the value of their services.

After two days of many sales, it was decided late Thursday to extend the Bazaar over Friday. The net receipts from this affair and private subscriptions may reach between $1500 and $2000.

With the tastefully decorated booths in Masonic colors and fancy articles of ware zealously and gracefully provided over, the Hall presented a scene of rare beauty and charm. Nearly 100 sixteen candle power electric lights in variegated colors used through the courtesy of Mr. Rhodes, of the Salisbury Light, Heat & Power Company, furnished a bright illumination.

Mr. Wm. P. Jackson materially aided in the decoration scheme by the loan of potted plants, palms and ferns which graced the front of the stage.

The beautiful music of the event was furnished by Prof. Kennerly's orchestra.

In the Chance Booth presided over by Miss Ola Day and Miss Hanna Ulman were Morris Chairs, easy rockers, rugs, fancy quilts, portieres, a valuable ring presented by Harper & Taylor, the jewelers, and a pretty silk quilt made by Mrs. Nancy Hitch who is now 86 years old.

DAN GROSVENOR SAYS:

"Pe-ru-na is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy—I am as Well as Ever."

HON. DAN A. GROSVENOR, OF THE FAMOUS OHIO FAMILY.

Hon. Dan A. Grosvenor, Deputy Auditor for the War Department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., writes:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy."—DAN A. GROSVENOR.

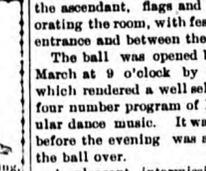

In a recent letter he says: "I consider Peruna really more meritorious than I did when I wrote you last. I receive numerous letters from acquaintances all over the country asking me if my certificate is genuine. I invariably answer, yes."—Dan A. Grosvenor.

A County Commissioner's Letter.

Hon. John Williams, County Commissioner, of 517 West Second street, Duluth, Minn., says the following in regard to Peruna: "As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."—John Williams.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. H. W. Ogden, Congressman from Louisiana, in a letter written at Washington, D. C., says the following of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy: "I can conscientiously recommend your Peruna as a fine tonic and all around good medicine to those who are in need of a catarrh remedy. It has been commended to me by people who have used it, as a remedy particularly effective in the cure of catarrh. For those who need a good catarrh medicine I know of nothing better."

FACE LIKE PIECE OF RAW BEEF

Scalp Covered With Sores, Hair and Eye-Brows Fell Out—Agony for Eight Long Years—Doctors Were Unable to Cure.

SPEEDILY CURED BY CUTICURA

"I had suffered terrible agony and pain for eight long years from a terrible eczema on the scalp and face. The best doctors were unable to help me, and I had spent a lot of money for many remedies without receiving any benefit. My scalp was covered with scabs, my face was like a piece of raw beef, my eyebrows and lashes were falling out, and sometimes I felt as if I was burning up from the terrible itching and pain. I then began treating myself at home, and now my head and face are clear and I am entirely well. I first bathed my face with Cuticura Soap, then applied Cuticura Ointment to the afflicted parts, and took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. I was greatly relieved after the first application, and continued use of Cuticura soon made a complete cure. Miss Mary F. Fay, Westboro, Mass."

AGONIZING ECZEMA And Itching, Burning Eruptions with Loss of Hair, Cured by Cuticura.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle; dry without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to apply itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal; and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent Pills to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure.

A little precaution and a 25 cent hitch strap instead of Husky, would obviate the difficulty.

Spectacular Ben Hur in Baltimore, During May.

Arrayed in all its splendor, "Ben Hur" will inaugurate an engagement of one week at the Academy of Music, Baltimore on Monday evening, May 8. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Of all the spectacular production of modern times, none has been credited with so long a run of prosperity as this great and popular dramatic romance. "Ben Hur" is today crowned with a record of nearly 1,900 performances in a little over five years, and has been seen by more than four million people. In all this period of marked prosperity a Sunday performance has never been given. No play in the history of the stage world admits of the massive scenic settings that "Ben Hur" does.

Reviewing "Ben-Hur" as a play, it is one of the most stirring and impressive stories ever given to the stage, and while the keenest admiration and astonishment have been manifested for the marvelous scenic and mechanical effects that are unfolded in its enactment the impression that lasts and lives, and that which has been responsible for the wonderful success scored, is the beautiful, fervent and highly dramatic story, so forcibly and truthfully told with its endowment of grand music supplied by Edgar Stillman Kelley.

The advance sale of seats opens Thursday morning, May 4th, at nine o'clock. M. J. Lehman Business Manager of the Academy of Music, announces that "out-of-town orders, if accompanied by remittance, will be filled in the order received."

How The Birds Saved Her.

A woman whose health was breaking from monotony, and who was resigning herself to the fatness and flavorless insipidity of a stagnant life, resolved to study some branch of the life about her. She chose the life of the birds. Patiently, minutely and lovingly, opera glass in hand, she watched the little creatures who make nests in the trees and sing about the eaves. She grew five years younger in a single season. She noted the comings and goings of the birds, when they arrived, and when they departed in the spring and autumn, and as she entered into their realm of wings and songs her life took on a new brightness and zest. People began to say, "What a charming woman is Mrs. — How much she knows! Why, she can tell me the most extraordinary things about the birds!"

Of course she could. She was using her eyes.—Margaret E. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion for May.

State Aid for Teachers.

According to a new Delaware law which has been signed by the Governor, young men and women throughout the State may now apply for State aid in equipping themselves for teachers in the public schools. The Legislature changed this law so that whenever there is a dearth of applicants in any one of the counties, the other counties may recommend certain of their daughters and sons to their sister county's school commissioners and the full State appropriation can thus be used.

Each county is allowed $1,000 a year for this purpose and the pupil may remain at the West Chester or Millersville, Pa., Normal Schools, or at any of the normal schools of high standing until he is graduated. The State's contribution to his or her education is $2 per week.

New Head For State Normal School.

It is reported that Dr. E. B. Prettyman, who has been principal of the State Normal School for the past fifteen years, will probable retire because of impaired health at an early date. The selection of his successor will be considered at the May meeting of the State Board of Education, in which is lodged authority to choose the principal of the school. There are already four applicants for the prospective vacancy in the field. They are Prof. Geo. W. Ward, of Western Maryland College; Prof. Rowland Watts, late of Western Maryland College; Richard H. Alvey, Jr., of Hagerstown, and Prof. John Montgomery Gambrell, assistant State superintendent of public education, and author of a history of Maryland. President James W. Cain, of Washington College, has also been mentioned as a probable successor.

THE Simple Life

BY CHARLES WAGNER.

(Copyright 1904 by J. S. O'Neil Pub. Co. New York.)

President Roosevelt says to the author of it "I AM PREACHING YOUR BOOK TO MY COUNTRYMEN."

We do not dare hope enough. The man of these days has become strangely timid. The fear that the sky may fall, that some absurdity of fear, believed in by our Galleian ancestors, has entered the hearts of our hearts. Does the drop of water doubt the ocean, the ray mistrust the sun? Our senile wisdom has realized that prodigy. It resembles those cross old pedagogues whose principal office consisted in railing at the playful mischief, or the juvenile enthusiasms of their young scholars. It is time to become little children once more, to relearn to join the hands, and open wide eyes before the mystery which wraps us around, to remember that in spite of our knowledge we know but little, that the world is larger than our brains, and that that is fortunate, for it is so prodigious it must hold unknown resources, and we can accord it some credit without accusing ourselves of improvidence. Let us not treat it as creditors do an insolvent debtor. We should reanimate its courage and re-light the holy flame of hope! Since the sun rises still, since the earth puts forth new blossoms, since the bird builds its nest, since the mother smiles at her child, let us have courage to be men, and leave the rest to him who numbers the stars! As to me, I wish I could find words of flame to say to whoever feels his heart bowed down in these times of disillusion, lift your courage, hope again; he is sure to deceive himself least who has the audacity to hope the most.

The most ingenious hope is nearer to the truth than the most rational despair. Another source of light on the path of humanity is goodness. I am not of those who believe in the natural perfection of man, and teach that society corrupts him. Of all the forms of evil it is, on the contrary, the hereditary form which disarms me most. But, I sometimes ask myself how it is that this old virus, empoisoned as it is with vile instincts, vices inoculated in the very blood, all that mass of slaveries—legacies of the past—has not overcome us. It is without doubt that there is something else. That other thing is kindness.

Given the unknown that hovers above our heads, our reason so limited, the agonizing and contradictory enigmas of our destinies, lies, hatred, corruption, suffering and death, what shall we think? What no? To all these questions a sublime and mysterious voice has answered: Be good. It must be, then, that kindness is Divine, like confidence, like hope, since it cannot die when so many powers are arrayed against it. It has again the native ferocity of what may be called the best in man. It has against it deception, force, interest, and above all ingratitude. Why does it pass white and intact in the midst of its dark enemies, like the prophet of the legend sacred among the roaring beasts?

It is because its enemies are things from beneath, while kindness is from above. The horns, the teeth, the claws, the eyes filled with murderous fire, can do nothing against the rapid wing which soars toward the heights and escapes them. Thus kindness escapes the machinations of its enemies. It has done still more, in that it has sometimes had the beautiful triumph of winning its persecutors. It has seen wild beasts grow tame, lie down at its feet and obey its law. At the very heart of the Christian faith the most sublime of its doctrines for him who can penetrate the profoundest sense and the most humane, is that: To save lost humans, the Invisible God came to dwell among us in the form of man, and He will be known by the sign—love.

Healing, consoling, sweet to the unhappy, to the wicked even, kindness engenders light beneath its steps. Kindness clarifies and simplifies. It has chosen the most modest part—to bind up wounds, wipe away tears, appease misery, soothe aching hearts, to pardon and conciliate. But it is of kindness that we have the greatest need. Therefore, since we are seeking the best way to render thought fruitful and simple, really conformable to our human destiny, we will sum up the method in these words: Have confidence, hope, and be kind.

I would not discourage lofty speculations, nor dissuade anyone whomsoever from leaning upon the problems of the unknown: the vast abysses of science or philosophy. But, we are always obliged to return from those distant voyages toward the point where we are and often even to the same place where we walk without apparent result. There are conditions in life and social complications where the savant, the thinker and the ignorant are equally unable to see clearly. The present epoch has often confronted us with such situations, and I guarantee to him who would follow our method that he will soon recognize that it is good.

As I have in all this sketched upon religious ground, let me in a general way, some one may ask me, perhaps, to say in a few simple words which is the best religion, and I hasten to explain myself on that subject. But, might it not, perhaps, be better to put this question as it is ordinarily put in asking which is the best religion? All religions have certain fixed characteristics, and the qualities or defects inherent to each. One could, then, compare them with each other if necessary, but with that comparison are always mingled fixed beliefs or involuntary partiality. It is better to put the question in another manner, and ask, "Is my religion good, and how shall I know that it is good? To that question here is the answer:

Your religion is good if it is vital and active; if it nourishes in you the sentiment of the infinite value of existence, confidence, hope and kindness; if it is allied with the best part of yourself against the worst, and shows ceaselessly the necessity of becoming a new man; if it makes you understand that pain is a liberator; if it increases your respect for the conscience of others; if it makes forgiveness easier to you, fortune less arrogant, duty dearer, the beyond less obscure. If so, your religion is good, no matter what its name. However rudimentary it may be, when it fills this office, it comes from the authentic source and binds you to man and God!

But will it, by chance, do you any good to believe yourself better than others, to frown, to dominate over another, to consider or to deliver you to slavery, to stifle your scruples, to practice a cult according to the mode or to do good for your own interest or through calculation of what may lie beyond the tomb? Oh, then, whether you claim to follow Buddha, Moses, Mahomet or Christ himself, your religion is worth nothing; it separates you from men and God.

Perhaps I have not the right to speak thus, but others have done so before me, notably He who answered the questioning scribes in the parable of the good Samaritan. I in trench myself behind His authority.

CHAPTER IV. THE SIMPLE WORD. Speech is the great organ which reforms the mind, the first visible form that it gives itself. As is the thought so is the speech. To reform one's life in the sense of simplicity one must watch over word and pen. Let the word be simple, like the thought, and that it may be sincere and that it may be sure, think justly; speak frankly.

Social relations have for their base mutual confidence and this confidence is nourished by the sincerity of each. As soon as sincerity diminishes, confidence changes, affluents suffer, and insecurity is born. This is true both in the domain of material and spiritual interests. With those whom we must ceaselessly distrust it is as difficult to carry on commerce and industry as to seek a scientific truth or pursue a religious understanding or to realize justice. When each one is obliged to control words and intentions and depart from the principle that all that is written and said has for aim to serve your illusion in place of truth, life becomes strangely complicated. It is so for all of us. There are too many malignant ones, diplomats who play an underhand game and apply themselves to deceive each other, and that is why each one takes so much pains to inform himself on the things the most simple, and yet which are of the greatest import to himself. Probably what I have just said will suffice to indicate my thought and the experience of each one can bring forth an ample commentary with illustrations to support it. But, I am no less anxious to insist on this point, and to surround myself with examples.

In other times men had but small and insufficient means of communication between them. It was legitimate to suppose that in perfecting and in multiplying the means of information they would add to their light. Nations learned to love each other in knowing each other better, the citizens of the same country felt themselves bound by a closer brotherhood, were better enlightened on all things touching their common life. When printed works were created they cried: "Flat lux," and with greater reason yet when the habit of reading and the taste for newspapers spread. Why did they not reason thus: two lights give more light than one, and several more than two? The more newspapers and books there are, the better one will know what is passing, and those who would write history after us will be fortunate—they will have their hands full of documents. Nothing seemed more evident. Alas, they based their reasoning on the tools and calculated without the human element which is everywhere the most important factor. So it happened that the sophists, the crafty, the calculators, all the men with the loquacious tongues who know how better than any one to juggle with words and pen profited largely by all these means of multiplying and spreading thought. What is the result? That our contemporaries have all the difficulties in the world to know the truth about their own personal affairs and their own times, or the few newspapers that cultivate international good feeling, by trying to teach their neighbors equitably and to study them without hidden thoughts, how many there are that sow distrust and calumny! How many fictitious and unhealthy currents are created in public opinion, with false stories, malevolent interpretations of facts or words! We are not much better instructed on our internal affairs than on foreign countries; nor on the interests of commerce, industry or agriculture, nor on the political parties, nor on the social tendencies, nor of persons occupied in public affairs. It is easy to obtain disinterested information! The more one reads the newspapers the less clearly one sees. There are days when after having read them and admitting that one believes their word, the reader will see himself obliged to draw this conclusion, "Decidedly there are none but tarnished men everywhere." There are no men of integrity but the chroniclers. But that last part of the conclusion will fall in its turn. The chroniclers, in fact, eat before they see. They would have so that represented in the caricature called the combat of the serpents. After having devoured everything around them the two reptiles attack each other and begin to swallow each other so that there remain on the battlefield but two tails.

And, it is not the man of the people alone who is thus embarrassed; there are the cultivated people, there are almost everybody. In politics, in finance, in business, even in science, the arts, literature and religion, there is everywhere underneath one or two and wire-pulling. Here is one truth for instance, another for the cultivated. It follows that all are deceived, for though one may be of one kitchen he is never of the 4th, and the very or as who deceives others will be the greatest address are deceived by their turn, when they have used to count upon the sincerity of another. The result of this kind of practice is the degradation of human speech. It is degraded first in the eyes of those who use it as a vile instrument. There is no speech respected for the debaters, the fault-finders, the sophists, and all those who are animated but by the rage of appearing to be in the right, or the pretention that their interests alone are respectable. Their chastisement is to be obliged to judge others by the rule they follow themselves, which is: To say that which profits and not that which is true.

They can no longer take any one seriously. A sad state of mind for such as write, speak and teach. How they must despise their hearers and their readers to go before them in such a state of mind! For one who has kept a foundation of honesty, nothing is more revolting than the irony fallen from one of these acrobats of the pen, or of speech, who tries to add to the number a few more good but too confiding people. On one hand resignation, sincerity, the desire for enlightenment, and on the other the profligacy that mocks the public. But he does not see to the liar, how far he deceives himself. The capital on which he lives is confidence, and nothing can equal the confidence of the people unless it is its distrust as these exploiters of simplicity. But soon as it feels that it is betrayed. The public may follow for a time after that its receptive humor changes to aversion; the doors that swung wide open now offer impenetrable wooden visages, and ears once open are now closed. Alas! they close not to the evil but to the good also. And it is then the crime of those who twist and degrade speech. They shake the general confidence. We consider the degradation of money as a calamity, the fall in stocks the ruin of credit, but a greater misfortune than that is the loss of confidence, of this moral credit which honest people accord each other, and which makes a word circulate like authentic money. Down with the counterfeiters, the speculators, the wormy financiers, for they make us suspect even the money of the realm! Down with the counterfeiters of the pen and speech, for they do what has destroyed confidence until no one believes anything or any one any more, and until the value of what they say or write resembles those bank notes of Saint Farc.

It can be seen how very urgent it is that each one should watch over himself, guard his tongue, chastise his pen and aspire toward simplicity. No more changed meanings, fewer circumlocutions, not so many reticences and tergiversations! They serve but to embroil us. Be men; have one word. One hour of sincerity does more for the welfare of the world than years of profligacy. (To be continued.)

LEAGUE OF THE GOLDEN PEN

Rev. E. H. Byington, its Founder, explains its object.

The object of the League of the Golden Pen, as explained by its founder, Rev. E. H. Byington of Beverly, Mass., is the writing of letters, not the business, social and personal correspondence sustained for our own advantage, but letters written in the spirit of Christ, to give gladness, comfort, counsel, inspiration, to others. When such are written the spirit of the pen writer transmits the steel of the pen into gold.

Rev. Mr. Byington says: "A letter is the only approach to people that is sure of a welcome. A call may be an interruption; a friendly letter, never. You may not listen to all the sermon, you may skip part of the book or skim the newspaper, but the personal letter you never fail to read to the end, devouring eagerly the crisscrossed and illegible postscript. It is the cup of cold water often to the thirsty soul, and blessed is he who gives it."

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice.

It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ill and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven all forms of Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhoea, that after curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $50 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

WOMEN AS WELL AS MEN ARE MADE MISERABLE BY KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy.

The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

has won its great popularity by its prompt cures of the most common ailment. It aids expectation, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, effecting a speedy and permanent cure. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

MARYLAND ITEMS.

Shad are becoming quite plentiful in the headwaters of the Chesapeake Bay.

William Taylor, of Rising Sun, is suffering with an injured foot, the result of being struck by a pick at Perryville.

Reports from the fruit-growing sections of the Eastern Shore indicate that the recent frost did less damage than was at first feared.

While operating a sewing machine at her home, in Perryville, Mrs. C. L. Cole was painfully injured by running a needle through her finger.

The Kent county grand jury yesterday brought in two indictments against Ernest Hill for selling whisky in violation of the local prohibition.

A breast wound that N. H. Paul, of Havre de Grace, received at the Battle of the Wilderness, in 1864; has broken out afresh, and a small piece of the bullet has been extracted.

Mr. James Gilmore, proprietor of Fairy Grove, situated on Middle River, Baltimore county, has lost by death an old horse known to everybody as War Horse Bill, at the age of 47 years. Mr. Gilmore says Bill was the oldest horse in the United States. He acquired his name from the fact that he had been in the artillery service during the Civil War. He was branded in many places, leaving no doubt about the correctness of his age.

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it issuing like "a bridegroom from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labor. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs, and gives that sense of strength and power which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feeling" which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation as it contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant. It does not brace up the body, but builds it up into a condition of sound health.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Salisbury Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back. The pains of rheumatism. The tired-out feelings. You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Mrs. L. T. Adams, of 801 Choptank Ave., Cambridge says: "I had my first experience with kidney complaint and rheumatism about 18 years ago. It came on me gradually and in about three months I got so bad that I was compelled to take my bed. I was up and down, now feeling better and now worse, for about a year and a half. No tongue can tell what misery and suffering I endured. I recovered some what, but was never wholly free from pain in my back and through my left hip and down my left limb. At this time I was taking this, and that the other remedy was doing a great deal, but nothing brought me any relief. I had heavy dull headaches and terrible dizzy spells and giddiness. I was growing worse every day and during the last year I could scarcely drag myself about. I could not lift anything, was unable to sleep well at night and, to sum up the whole thing, I was a physical wreck. I happened to see a pamphlet about Doan's Kidney Pills and read of cures in cases similar to mine; in fact they described my case better than I could myself. I made up my mind there must be some merit in them and got a box. They simply worked like magic. In two days I was relieved and when I had finished the box I felt better than I had any time during the past two years. They practically cured me, and I have recommended them to all my friends and acquaintances. I cannot say too much in their favor."

Plenty more proof like this from Salisbury people. Call at White & Leonard's drug store and ask what their customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

The contractors building the immense new pier in the Susquehanna River for the new Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad bridge have large gangs of men at work both night and day sinking two more caissons on either side of the river.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

Harry Evans, son of ex State's Attorney William S. Evans, of Elkton, now employed as a civil engineer by an Alabama railroad, has sent his aunt, Mrs. P. H. Cleaver, the skin of a Southern rattlesnake with 16 rattles, which he shot.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fall to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at all drug stores.

LETTER TO REV. A. J. VANDERBORGAT, SALISBURY, MD.

Dear Sir: In making pastoral visits, of course, you do not consider your pleasure or comfort or ease; you go where your people live. But you have two sets of feelings in going about—can't help it—we all have. But you especially have; for a part of your business is sympathy. Well kept lawns and well tilled fields, nice homes and nice people, are cheerful to you, as they are to everyone. Tumble-down buildings, poor fences, men harassed by burdens too heavy for them, overworked women, and dirty-faced children, you may be strong to get on with; but you would be more than human to find inspiration in misery.

Paint divides the two sorts of people: one paints, and the other don't. Or, perhaps, the thrifty paint well; the unthrifty paint ill.

To paint well is to keep paint sound. There are two ways to do it: one is bound to paint often; the other to use good paint.

It costs about half as much to paint Devos as to paint with any other paint; for Devos takes fewer gallons than mixed paints and wears twice as long as lead and oil.

The thrifty and comfortable have the art of using money more wisely. How lucky they are! How happy!

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOS & CO.

WILLARDS. There will be services at Eden M. E. Church Sunday as follows: Sunday School 10 a. m.; Class meeting 11 a. m.

The farmers seem to be the most industrious people in this section. Some are planting corn while others are preparing to do so as soon as time will permit.

The new factory will soon be completed. Miss Ida Lewis, of New Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis, made an elopement with Mr. Gordon Cooper last Sunday and was married. It displeased the parents greatly as they were opposed to the marriage.

Messrs. Lee Moore and Willis Dennis are the main visitors to our town as they are seen here every night or two.

A cottager's wife was once telling her neighbor friend about the "court-ing days" and said: "When my man an' me was engaged he insisted on tryin' me a present although I didn't want one. Says he, 'Let me buy ye a ring with a stone in it,' Says I, 'I have a ring and a bracelet, but if ye must buy anything buy me something for my neck.' An' he did too; he bought me a cake of soap."

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lewis spent Sunday with friends near Whaleyville.

The day's need is that a man should think for himself, decide for himself, and greater than all, be himself. The saddest people are the only ones who are always fleeing from sorrow is a maxim proven by some of our young men and maidens for the past week.

Quite a number of our young friends attended the Easter Service at Friendship last Sunday evening.

The baseball team has chosen the following members for this year and will begin to play next Saturday: Aubrey Truitt, P. 3rd b. Wesley Lewis, Mgr., C. Gordon Cooper, 1st b. Wesley Truitt, Capt., 2nd b. Safe Hall, 3rd b. Larry Patey, a. s., Kennedy Lewis, 1. f. P. Homer Rayne, c. f., Virgil Dennis, r. f. c. They hope after a while to accommodate visiting teams by giving them a hearty game of ball.

SHARP TOWN. On Sunday last the Methodist Protestant Sunday School gave each of its members a certificate of membership. The certificates are of a very pretty design and bear the number of the class, the signatures of the teacher, the pastor and the superintendent. On one corner appears the picture of the pastor Rev. H. W. D. Johnson and on another the picture of the superintendent, Wildy D. Gravenor. There were one hundred and fifty six certificates given out on Sunday and were very much appreciated. This is a new feature in Sunday work in this section and is a very commendable one. It is a progressive step and a laudable plan upon the part of its promoters.

Sunday last was the most interesting Easter occasion ever held in the M. E. Church. The offering was for the rebuilding fund of the church and every one took an interest in it and when the cash was footed up on Monday it was found that $400 had been raised toward the fund.

Elzey's, $6.50; Miss Maggie Wheatley's, $5.35; Mrs. Annie Knowles', $3.75; Miss Iva B. Bennett's, $2.00. Total, $380.12. The amount was raised during the night service to $400.

H. C. Bonds, superintendent of the schools of this county was in town Wednesday as the guest of L. T. Cooper. Mr. Bonds spent six hours with the school and made a thorough examination of the work done. In his report he stated that much advancement has been made since his last visit. Good order prevailed and his visit was one of much interest to the teachers. He complimented them on the work as well as the general condition of the school. He found a united force in educational work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Wilson assisted by some lady friends gave the Sunday School children of the M. E. Church an Easter egg rolling at the parsonage. Six dozen eggs were distributed to the children and about one hundred were treated to lemonade and cake. It was a lively time for the children.

The Easter collection has greatly increased the building fund of the M. E. Church and efforts are being made to get up plans for rebuilding. Chas. R. Jones, an architect of Georgetown, Delaware was here on Wednesday and made an examination of the old building and will make plans for rebuilding.
