FUSION INDEPENDENTS ELECT SALISBURY'S NEW MAYOR.

Old Council Re-Elected. Warm Fight On Tuesday, In Which There Were Many Issues and A Notable Spirit Of Political Independence.

Salisbury witnessed one of the hottest fights in its municipal history in the contest fought at the polls on Tuesday, when the regular nominated Democratic ticket waged a battle royal with the nominees of the Independent Citizens Ticket, backed by the solid vote of the Republican party. The battle of the ballots resulted in a draw as the nominees of the Citizens' ticket for Mayor, Mr. Wm. F. Bounds won, while the regular Democratic nominees for City Councilmen were elected.

The campaign leading up to this election was short but warm, starting out with the nomination of the Democratic ticket on Monday of the week preceding the election everything on the surface seemed to be quiet and settled for a few days, then news came that an independent Democratic ticket had been nominated. From that time on, the contest grew warmer and warmer.

At first the backers of the first ticket made light of the fight and said it was a mere soap bubble which would disappear on or before election day, many refusing to take any other view of the matter even after the votes were cast. To others, however, it soon became apparent that there was genuine opposition in the field and that the regular ticket would have all it could do to stem the tide, if it could be done at all. Issues of all kinds were brought up, and every soft spot of both sides was delicately but effectively touched. The Independents made their fight on a number of issues, among those being the swift-ness with which the primaries were closed on the night of the nominations. Those who were opposed to machine nominations were told that the regulars were forced through by a few men and the people were not given a chance to express themselves, although they turned out at the primaries in full force—and although the friends of the first ticket showed that this was not the case and explained that the only reason the polls were not held open longer was the lack of any other candidates for Mayor or Council.

The argument had its effect on many voters, who supported Mr. Bounds, because they looked upon his fight as made on independent lines. Another argument of the fusionists was directed against the Police Justice Trader, who in the nature of his business has made some enemies among those who have been brought before him either as offenders or on civil cases. The police department was also attacked by the fusionists, some on the grounds that partially was being shown in his arrest in gambling cases, claiming that while the crap shooters and speak eases were victoriously watched other larger games were allowed to exist without molestation.

Our public service corporations were another issue in the campaign and Mr. Kennerly was criticised on account of his directorship in the Salisbury Light Heat and Power Company. Mr. Kennerly met this issue in a fair and manly manner by stating his intention of resigning from the Company if elected Mayor. These are some of the main issues made by the fusionists, but where these would not answer others were brought out suitable to the occasion or that would appeal to the individual voter.

The regular democratic nominees attempted in their fight to draw the party lines and appealed to the voters on the ground that this was a republican move, and appealed to their party loyalty in order to get their support. The supporters of Mr. Bounds and the nominees for Councilmen refused to accept this argument and claimed that Mr. Bounds and the other nominees were good Democrats, and that politics on party lines should not be brought in the contest.

This was evidently the view of a large number of Democrats as evidenced by their votes.

Mr. Bounds won as Mayor and almost succeeded in electing his entire Councilmen ticket with him.

The defeat of Mr. Kennerly was simply the result of a number of things and was not directed against him personally, and he has no reason to feel badly about his defeat, which under the conditions would have resulted with any candidate in the field. The Council as well would have gone down with him if the fight had not been concentrated so strongly on the Mayorly contest, regardless of the good record made by these gentlemen and the absolute lack of opposition to their re-nomination.

Despite the hot contest there was the best of feeling at the polls all day. The automobiles were again brought into use by both parties, and voters were conveyed to and from the polls by workers on both sides.

Mr. Bounds, outside of the issues raised, is very popular—especially with the laborers of the city—and his personality brought to him a large number of voters.

One of the first to congratulate the new Mayor was Mr. Kennerly who wished him a successful administration. Mr. Bounds was back at his work at an early hour Wednesday and received the congratulations of his fellow citizens, who looked to offer him their felicitations and best wishes.

The New Mayor. Mayor-elect William F. Bounds was born January 8th, 1856, within eight of Princess Anne. He is a son of John S. Bounds and Laura Lankford. He attended school in Princess Anne and early in life learned the trade of brick mason under his uncle the late George Lankford. He came to Salisbury after the big fire of 1886, and with the late Albert W. Lankford, helped to rebuild Salisbury. He has lived here continuously ever since and has been associated with Mr. Thomas M. Stemons in the contracting and building business. He has been elected to the City Council three times, serving out two terms and resigning before the end of his third term. Mr. Bounds is married and has three children, his wife being a daughter of the late Zedekiah Traits, one of the staunchest democrats of Worcester county. He resides in his comfortable home on William Street. Mr. Bounds is a man of excellent judgment, a mechanic who has made a success of his business. He is a stock holder in several of the financial institutions of the city as well as one of the public service corporations—The Home Gas Company.

He Likes Such Surprises. It's an old saying; the best advertisement is a pleased customer. It happens to us continually in this way: A man buys Devoe for his house—he has painted it once in three years for a dog's age, and thinks he knows what he wants—buys 30 gallons, and has 10 left. He sees right off that 20 Devoe is as much as 30 of anything else. He likes that; it comes quick; it is a surprise; and he tells of it. The best advertisement is a pleased customer. Three years roll round. There isn't a sign that his house needs paint; he don't paint it. Next year he don't paint it. This comes slow; it is a surprise; but he has got used to it. Still the best advertisement is a pleased customer. L. W. Gandy Co.

ELECTRIC LIGHT IMPROVE-TO CHANNEL THROUGH ments To Be Started Soon—Will Be Prepared To Start Day Current.

Messrs. William J. Downing, Robt. D. Grier and Uriah Dickerson, the special committee appointed by the Directors of the Salisbury Light, Heat and Power Company, to purchase the additional equipment for the plant in this city, closed a contract with the Allis-Chalmers Company, of Detroit, to install one of their Corliss engines in the plants within the next seventy-five days. The committee was in Philadelphia this week to close the matter up. This engine when installed will add 20 horsepower to the plant and will be ample for several years to come.

The present engine and water power will not be disturbed, but another engine will be added in the centre of the plant and by some changes in the line shafts the plant will be so arranged that the load can be carried with the new equipment, with the present or with both combined. This will give the plant double power.

When this additional equipment is installed the Company will be in a position to start its day current if the demands of the customers are sufficient to warrant it. There have been many requests on the company recently from small manufacturing plants and grocery stores for electricity and the officials of the company are investigating the subject with a view of starting up a day current.

The company recently purchased the Naylor mill property with a view of putting back the waste gates and transforming the pond into a reserve reservoir. It is possible that this steam might be used to generate the power for a day current the company this means getting use of the water twice.

It is the intention of the management to make the plant one of the best in the State.

PRESIDENT OF BARACA

And Philathia Movement To Be In Salisbury Tomorrow.

Salisbury is to be honored by a visit from Marshall A. Hudson, of Syracuse, N. Y., Sunday, May 8th.

Mr. Hudson is President of the World Wide Baraca and Philathia Movement, and has not only a National, but an international reputation, and is the best known Sunday School man in the whole world.

The E. E. Jackson Baraca Class is to be congratulated upon securing the presence of such a man. He will address this class at Trinity M. E. Church South at 9:30 A. M., tomorrow, and an invitation is extended to all men to visit us that morning and hear and meet Mr. Hudson. He will also address the eleven o'clock service.

A meeting, for men only, will be held at three o'clock, which will be addressed by Mr. Hudson. Men are coming from many different towns to this meeting, even from way down in Virginia, hence the need of our town men being present.

The evening service will also be addressed by him and his subject will be "The Baraca and Philathia as Soul Winners." The organized classes will march in a body to seats which will be reserved for them at this service.

He will also address a public meeting Monday evening in the Trinity M. E. Church, South. Mr. Hudson will be entertained by Mr. G. Wm. Phillips, on Camden Avenue.

With the automobile season now well under way, persons using the public roads of the county should remember the following rule of the road: That when an automobile approaches a team from the rear the team should pull to the right of the road and allow the machine to pass on the left. The observation of this rule might at times save serious accidents.

From Camden Bridge To N. Y. P. & N. Railroad Tracks—Large Contract Closed.

The Salisbury Realty Company has closed a contract for the digging of the Channel from Camden Bridge through the Humphreys Dam to a point close to the crossing of the N. Y. P. & N. R. R., a total distance of 2800 feet. The channel is to be out 80 feet in width and have a depth of low water of 18 feet. Both banks of the channel are to be warped up. This is a part of a general plan to re-claim the low land around what is known as the "meadow" and fill up the bottom of the Humphreys pond so as to make the whole suitable for building purposes. This property will have both water and railroad facilities when reclaimed, will prove valuable for factory, residence and business sites.

The old mill properties are to be torn down, the present channel filled and the ground well graded around the old home property.

This is one of the biggest undertakings ever attempted in Salisbury and will require about $75,000 to put it through.

Salisbury is very much in need of space for its business enterprises to expand and this project when completed will prove a great boon to the entire city.

Results of City Election.

The size of the vote polled here in the City election was a surprise to all parties. Out of an estimated total vote of 1250 there were 1143 votes actually cast. The vote cast for each candidate was as follows:

B. Frank Kennerly	550
William F. Bounds	608
Bounds majority	75
Harry Dennis	565
Frederick L. Smith	570
Charles E. Bennett	597
William T. Banks	548
Winfield Corkran	523
Arthur R. Leonard	523
Bennett's majority	74
Smith's majority	23
Dennis' majority	3

Mr. Bounds, as Mayor, will have the appointment of the following officers:

City Collector.
City Solicitor.
Chief of Police.
Night Watchman.
Street Commissioner.
Chief Fire Department.

These appointments have to be confirmed by the Council. In case of non-confirmation of any of the appointments of the Mayor the old appointments continue in office until such agreement is reached. It is not believed that there will be any friction between the Mayor and the Council in regard to appointments, but in this, as in all other matters, the Mayor and Council will be in thorough accord.

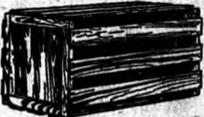

Large Strawberry Crop In Delaware.

The first strawberries of the season in lower Delaware were shipped north Tuesday from Seelyville, while around Georgetown many farmers are picking berries and selling them in town. The season will be the greatest in the history of berry culture in the state and John Townsend, of Seelyville, one of the largest shippers in the state, stated that the strawberry crop this year would be double that of last. By next week carload lots will be ready to ship.

Sussex county farmers say this is the largest strawberry center in the United States. Not only are the berry fields promising great returns, but the peach and pear orchards are heavily loaded with fruit. Many of the farmers are picking off the promising fruit and propping the branches to hold fruit that is rapidly ripening.

Airship Pin Cushion Surely May Be Described as Thoroughly Up to Date.

Whether for use at home or for sale in a bazaar, there is always something very attractive about a little novelty. In our sketch may be seen a really novel pin-cushion made to represent a miniature airship.

The cushion itself is in the shape of a rather fat cigar, and round either end bands of ribbon are tied, which are finished off with neat little bows, and there is a long loop of ribbon with a rosette bow at the top, by which the cushion may be hung up.

The "air" in the cushion consists of a strip of cardboard (covered with the same material that has been chosen for the cushion) scored down the center and bent into a V shape, and then suspended underneath the cushion with two straps of ribbon. The diagram on the right hand side illustrates the shape of the car, and in it happens may be placed in the way shown in the sketch.

USEFUL GIFT FOR INVALID

Book Rack About the Most Pleasing That Can Be Offered the Unfortunate "Shut-in."

The chronic invalid, as she is called now "the shut in" would often love to read, but is debarred by the difficulty of holding books. There is now a small wire rack, such as is used for music, but fastened to a stand with a projection at right angles, that can be regulated to any desired height. With the book fastened to this rest and the invalid propped on pillows, all that is necessary is the exertion of turning pages. Similar book racks can be fastened to a reclining or invalid's chair.

Better yet is the movement to supply reading matter for the sick in so light a form that reading is no trouble. Guilds are being formed in connection with hospitals, the members pledging themselves to supply suitable magazine literature, cut with wide margins so they can be arranged together in the lightest possible form.

Where it is too much trouble to cut out good stories, popular scientific or historical articles or reading for children, the members of the guild contribute a fixed sum a year for furthering the good work.

One young woman has a collection of witty clippings, or bright and helpful paragraphs and very short stories, which she sends to her invalid friends. Often when it is impossible to read lengthy articles these clippings will be enjoyed.

They are pasted neatly to small squares of cardboard, often half a dozen to the card. These are easily handled and are kept in an alphabetical portfolio, so that suitable subjects are easily found by the sender. She has one collection of bright pictures and stories especially for sick children. They are pasted on gay colored cards to prove more attractive.

Temperance Lesson

Sunday School Lesson for May 8, 1910
Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Proverbs 23:29-35. Memory verse, 31. GOLDEN TEXT.—"At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."—Prov. 23:32.

PLACE.—Solomon, who may have written this lesson, E. C. 982.

SUGGESTION AND PRACTICAL THOUGHT. Subject: The Victorious Drink Demon and How to Conquer Him.

The Passage Explained.—Vr. 29-35. Some Searching Questions.—Who hath woes? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contentions? Who hath babbling? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes?

The Answer.—30. "They that tarry long at the wine," beginning early in the day and carousing till late at night. "They that go to seek mixed wine."

The Only Safety.—31. "Look not thou upon the wine." Do not take the first glass. Do not even go where it is. Do not put yourself within reach of its insidious allurements. Says the Arab proverb, "The contemplation of vice is vice." "When it is red,"—as it usually was in Palestine, though white and golden wine were not unknown. "When it giveth his color in the cup." "When it moveth itself aright."

The Drunkard's Degradation. His Lust.—33. "Thine eyes shall behold strange women." "Thine heart shall utter perverse things."

His Insensibility to Peril.—34. "Thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea," like a floating, half-drowned body, or a helpless man cast adrift in a little, wave-tossed boat. "Or as he that lieth asleep upon the top of a mast," in the most imminent danger from the exaggerated pitching of the ship, yet stupidly insensible to the peril.

His Enslavement to the Habit.—"When shall I awake?" The drunkard is eager to shake off the stupefying effects of his orgies, that he may be at it again. "I will seek it yet again."

What the Drink Demon Does to the Drunkard's Body.—Vs. 29, 34, 35. Our passage pictures the exterior harm done by alcohol, the stammering speech and bleared eyes, and unsteady gait, the numbing of all the senses. Modern science has discovered reasons why strong drink produces these awful physical results.

Alcohol is a Poison.—"So is strychnine, so is arsenic, so is opium. It ranks with these agents. Health is always in some way or other injured by it; benefited by it—never."—Sir Andrew Clark, M. D.

Alcohol is Not a Food.—Experiments made upon a man kept in an air-tight glass cage and fed with two or three ounces of alcohol a day in addition to his other drink and his food have seemed to show that the alcohol did not reduce the system but yielded energy, acting as fat, sugar and starch would have acted. But the experiment proved nothing in favor of the use of alcohol as a beverage.

Alcohol Does Not Help Men Work.—"As a work-producer, alcohol is exceedingly extravagant, and, like other extravagant measures, it is apt to lead to a physical bankruptcy. It is well known that troops cannot march on alcohol."—Sir Frederick Treves.

What the Drink Demon Does to the Drunkard's Soul.—Vs. 29, 33, 35, 32. Our passage paints the passion which wine inflames, the lust to which it excites men, its terrible slavery, the awful wretchedness of the victim, and the final decay and death of all the spiritual powers that makes a man.

Alcohol and Crime.—The committee of fifty, eminent American scholars that undertook the scientific investigation of the liquor question a few years ago, examined into 13,402 cases of crime, and discovered intemperance to be the sole or predominating cause in 4,179 cases—nearly one-third—while intemperance was a contributing cause in 2,515 additional cases, making half of the whole number of cases in which intemperance appeared as a factor. Statistics of the arrests made in most of our large cities show half of them, or more than half, due to drunkenness. For instance, in 1909, out of 43,033 arrests 27,792 were for drunkenness.

Alcohol and Suicide.—Dr. W. Kurbitz has made investigations, extending over 2½ years, in the clinic for mental diseases in Koenigsberg concerning the history of patients who have committed suicide. Among 57 such patients there were 20 who were pronounced alcoholics.

Alcohol and Genius.—"Remember that liquor cost Scotland her greatest poet, Burns; cost England her greatest all-round man, Coleridge; made her two greatest orators gamblers and paupers and inmates of a jail; dimmed the glory of our Webster, quenched the torch committed to the hands of a man like Stephen A. Douglas."—Newell Dwight Hillis, D. D.

The greatest general of modern times, U. S. Grant, fought his greatest fight against the terrible appetite for strong drink that had seized upon him. His son, Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant, an outspoken abstainer, says: "Drink is the greatest curse of Christendom, because practically all crime and all disaster are the result of it. Ninety-five per cent—I will make it no less—of desertions and acts of lawlessness in the army is due to drink. Vice is simply drink in another form. Who ever heard of a saloon completely divorced from the 'white slave traffic,' or a house of infamy without a bar? You may tell the young men that Gen. Grant does not drink a drop of liquor he not for 18 years."

An Easy Prescription. Once a well-known citizen of Chelsea named Carr tried to call Dr. Bean to a sick member of his family in the middle of the night. Mrs. Bean answered the night bell and called from the tube: "What is it?" "The Mr. Carr." "Well, take the next one," quoth the lady, "they run every few minutes."—Boston Globe.

Scotland's population is estimated at close to 5,000,000.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...
PASTOR RUSSELL AT ROME

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Addresses Large Audience, Under Auspices of the International Bible Students Association, Using the Association's Interpreter—Reverent and Close Attention Given.

Text: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ" (Romans 1, 16).

Rome, May 1.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, preached here today to a large and attentive audience. Speaking through an interpreter, he was heard by all. His address was delivered under the auspices of the INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION. A profound impression was evidently made, and Bible study surely received a considerable impetus. Many inclined to scoff at religion and the Bible, as interpreted in the past, said reverently, "If this be the 'Gospel of Christ,' it is worthy of all acceptance." The speaker said:

We, dear friends, are living in a day, in which the leading minds of the world are rejecting the Bible and its message in all the great colleges of the world; yea, in the theological seminaries also, the Bible is classed as antique. Professed faith in the Bible, as the inspired Word of God, today calls forth sneers of ridicule and the comment that such believers are "unlearned." But, my hearers, I am before you today to contend that it is not the "Gospel of Christ" that is being rejected by the intelligence of the world, but another Gospel that came, not from Christ, neither from the Apostles, neither is it taught in the Bible. I am here to claim, and to endeavor to prove that the Bible is eminently logical, thoroughly reasonable, and that the message it bears to those who have "ears to hear," is the most wonderful message that could possibly be presented to human heads and hearts.

We are not here to claim a new revelation, making void the Word of God through Jesus and the Apostles; we are not here to twist and turn their words to make them appear to mean what they do not say. We are here to show that the Bible taken in its simplicity, and allowed to interpret itself, is the most wonderful book in the world, and that the Divine Plan of Salvation therein set forth is satisfactorily logical, and, as the Scriptures declare, sufficient, "that the man of God may be thoroughly furnished unto every good word and work."

Things at Which We Gagged.

Men and women do not find it difficult to believe in a wise, just, loving and powerful Creator; just such a God our hearts and heads tell us we should expect; just such a God rational people find no difficulty in worshipping. Indeed, while some of us in the past may have believed in the "total depravity" of the race, may we not realize that notwithstanding the fall of man, as still in the human mind and heart something which has "longings to please," something which cries out for the living God, and which commands our reverence and worship, in proportion as he is recognized?

Spiritually we gagged at the suggestion that a God of all wisdom, love, justice and power ever created our race with the foreknowledge and foreordination that practically all of these thousands of millions must suffer either purgatorial torture for several centuries, as our Catholic friends present the matter, or at the still more irrational theory of Protestants that eternal torture is to be the fate of all except the elect few, the saints, who now follow in the footsteps of Jesus—a course contrary to the world and all the tendencies of life around us. Well may we gag, and the sooner we reject and eject this entire mass of unscriptural dogmas, the better. As a whole it comes to us from our honest, but unenlightened forefathers, who verily thought they did God service in torturing one another, even to the extent of burning one another at the stake. Because of little differences along the lines of these "doctrines of devils" (1 Timothy 4, 1).

The rich spiritual food and the strong faith, which we, dear friends, as Bible students, should desire and seek for, are to be found only in the Bible itself. We should not spurn suggestions from one another, but we should receive such suggestions tentatively, and the Word of God should be searched, so that our faith should not stand in the teachings of men, but in the power of God, as set forth in the Word of God. From this quarter only can we expect information respecting

The "Gospel of Christ," of which St. Paul was not ashamed. That Gospel has two distinct features. Primarily it relates to the world of mankind, and instead of telling us that the penalty of sin is eternal torture, or a term of years in a prison, it tells us that the penalty of sin is death. It tells us that the penalty of sin is death, and that the penalty of sin is death, and that the penalty of sin is death. It tells us that the penalty of sin is death, and that the penalty of sin is death, and that the penalty of sin is death.

mentary to make us think for one moment that our God, instead of being gracious, loving, and kind, and helpful to his creatures, has, on the contrary, made provision for their eternal misery? Why have we allowed ourselves to believe from this standpoint that our Creator was the greatest demon of all demons—not only that he has power, but that he chooses to use that power for the eternal torture of his creatures, who were not even given a choice as respects their creation?

Ah, my dear friends, with tears and in sack-cloth, we should confess to our blindness in the past respecting the true character of God. Humbly should we beg forgiveness for having misperceived the Holy One of Israel. But he knows that we did this in ignorance, and he is both gracious and generous to forgive us our trespasses, and to cleanse us from all iniquity according to his gracious arrangement for us, which centers in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Why the Long Delay?

Some, perhaps, would answer, Surely, if the "Cross of Christ" means the blessing of all the families of the earth, the fact would have been demonstrated somehow during the nineteen centuries since. The fact that only a comparatively small number have accepted Christ and been blessed is therefore the ground for the belief that God is merely seeking out of the world an "elect" "little flock." Surely, if he had been seeking to convert the world, he could and would have made much more progress in that direction than has been made, in all this time.

We reply that this is no argument whatever. The same God delayed to send his Son, delayed the sacrifice on Calvary for more than four thousand years after sin had entered the world. And yet, according to the Scriptures, the merit of the sacrifice of Christ is not merely intended to bring blessing to those who have lived since Calvary, but also to all nations, kindreds, peoples and tongues from the day of Adam to the end of the Age.

According to the Scriptures, the death sentence was pronounced against Adam, and all of his children have shared in the blighting effect of that sentence through heredity. Not only has our race been growing weaker, mentally, morally, and physically, but by the thousands of millions, they have dropped into the tomb, the great prison-house of death, from which there is no escape, except by and through the Son of God. His sacrifice for the sins of the whole world secures to him the right to the control of Adam and his race. This control, the Scriptures assure us, Christ will assume and exercise during his Millennial reign. During that thousand years all the families of the earth will be blessed, as promised.

Meantime, in the grave (sheol, hades, the hell of the Bible, where the "dead know not anything," they merely wait or as the Scriptures declare, they "sleep in the dust of the earth." The Redeemer's authority over them is beautifully symbolized in his own words, "I am he that was dead, and behold, I am alive forevermore, and have the keys of death and of the grave" (Revelation 1, 18). He will exercise his keys of authority and deliver all of the prisoners from the power of the tomb, and additionally from all the weaknesses and imperfections incidental to the sentence. He will bring the willing and obedient back to full human perfection, and to all that was lost in Adam and redeemed by Jesus. This, we declare, according to the Scriptures, is the Gospel in its primary sense—a message of "good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people," that in the "Seed of Abraham, all the families of the earth shall be blessed"—not only the living at the time of the establishment of the Kingdom, but all that are in their graves who shall come forth "every man in his own order."

As I beheld in your city the great amphitheater which once witnessed the terrible sufferings of some of God's faithful ones in the past; and again, as I viewed the room once used as a torture-chamber, in the days of the Inquisition, I said, Thank God for the blessings of light and liberty, which belong to our day, and yet I reflected that even though they be different in form, there must needs be "fiery trials" for every true child of God, for it is the will of God that all should be thoroughly tested, as respects reverence, loyalty, and devotion to principle, that they may be counted worthy of a share with Immanuel in the glories of his Kingdom.

MR. BOUNDS AS MAYOR.

Mr. W. F. Bounds, the newly elected Mayor, is a man who has always stood high in this community. He has faithfully served the public for two terms as a member of the City Council, and this is not new in the business.

There is no sense in believing that Mr. Bounds is in any way responsible for the arguments, pledges or promises made or reported as being made by some of his partisans in the heat of a warm election. Nor is there any ground for the belief that he will be guided by some of those who were his staunch supporters in the past contest.

Among those who supported his opponent in the past fight he had many friends, who were sincerely sorry that they were compelled to oppose him in this case, nor was there any issue raised as to either his ability or integrity and we believe he will find all good citizens strongly behind him in every move for the progress and prosperity of the city.

The members of the council who were elected, are men who have been tried and whose value the people know, and who will be found working side by side of those who are interested in the prosperity of our City.

NOTES ON THE ELECTION.

The statement that the primaries nominating the Democratic City ticket was unfair and manipulated in the interests of the nominees, will hardly bear the test of a close scrutiny. After Mayor Harper's announcement of withdrawal, Mr. Kennerly was apparently without opposition and the nominees for council never had any known opposition.

Some of the attacks made on Police Justice Trader were for the most part based upon the fact that he believed in punishing those who broke the law, rather than dereliction of duty upon his part. If those who are guilty of crap shooting, running speakeasies, and other forms of law-breaking, are to be pleased in the administration of justice then our ideas of decency in government must undergo a radical change.

As far as the animosity of those are concerned, it is more to his credit than anything else. Criticism of our Justice of the Peace must be based upon better grounds than the punishment of law breakers.

Pollos Disharoon came in for some of the same class of criticism as was aimed at Mr. Trader. One of the complaints should be given attention, and that is that some of the large gambling dens were left unmolested while the comparatively small crap shooters had to suffer. If any gambling is allowed in town, and rumor has it so, then the police should exert every power to have it stopped.

Wherever else may be said about the City election, there will be no doubt that the people did not act upon their own initiative in the way they cast their votes. It is to be hoped, however, that the people will be wiser in the future.

wanted to do, and were independent enough to do it. It has always been our belief that every man should be his own master, do his own thinking and his own voting, there can be no criticism of the man who supported either ticket on the grounds of independence. While we may think some of them were mistaken in their judgment, yet we rejoice that they were men enough to back it at the polls.

The promptness with which Mr. Kennerly met the charge of being connected with the Electric Light Company can not be too highly commended, and we hope that it will set a precedent in Salisbury that no man ought to hold an office the very nature of which makes it necessary to have business connected with a corporation, and at the same time be identified with the corporation.

FARMING BOOM HIS AIM

Governor To Name Committee To Create Agricultural Interest—State To Benefit, He Says.

With the view of booming the agricultural interest of Maryland and making it one of the leading farm producing States in the country, Governor Crothers will in a few days appoint a special commission of successful farmers and farming experts to teach Maryland farmers the best and most scientific methods of cultivating their crops.

As is well known, the farming industry in Maryland is better developed in some sections of the State than in others, but the Governor believes that there is room for improvement in every county. Not only will he name the commission, but he will personally assist it in its work, which will be done without expense to the State or general public.

Efforts will be made to have experimental farming colonies established in different sections of the State and at these the farmers will be taught. The Pennsylvania Railroad and other railroad interests are establishing such colonies, and it is believed that they will be asked to assist the Governor's commission.

By increasing the productivity of the farms the railroads also increase their general freight business.

Governor Urges Encouragement.

In speaking about this plan, the Governor said: "In the immediate future great strides will be made in the development of the agricultural interests in Maryland and every State in the Union, and I think that some material encouragement should be given this industry. It behooves us to aid this development in some sections of the State. In Southern Maryland it has been held back through many circumstances. The soil in that section is good and fertile, and because of the ability and character of its people it should be one of the leading farming centers of the country.

"They could be taught that science has taken the place of muscle and hard labor in farming. We have in Maryland a number of successful farmers who would be glad to co-operate in any plan to improve the farming conditions. Then the Maryland Agricultural College can be called upon to help in the movement.

"An excellent plan would be the establishment of experimental farms in different sections of the State where farmers would be shown the results of scientific and practical farming. The railroad companies in order to further their own interests have taken up the work with a view to increasing the products of the farms, they being benefited by the increase of freight. The Pennsylvania Railroad is now engaged in this work and might establish one or more in Southern Maryland and perhaps on the Eastern Shore. For some weeks I have been preparing plans which would help along this line. On the commission which I propose to name will be a number of farmers from different sections of the State who are engaged in the regular business of the farm, such as trucking, fruit, dairy, vegetables, tobacco and the like, and representatives of the canning, packing and allied interests.

Meetings in Different Sections.

"The idea will be to have a series of meetings in different sections of the State. In addition to speeches by the farmers, experts from the United States Government and those of our own and other State agricultural colleges will be invited to speak. Thus the farmer will be taught both the practical and theoretical methods of farming.

The Bureau of Immigration will be called upon to assist in the work. It has much interest on the productivity of land throughout the State and is always in search of other valuable information which can be furnished to prospective purchasers of farms in Maryland. Such a series of work increase the number of students at the Maryland Agricultural College. All people will, I think, be interested in the movement because, in addition to developing the State, it would increase its revenues and contribute to our general progress.

"The State is now engaged in improving its public highways and it is the proper time for a movement on farming to be started. Roads and farms go hand in hand. The roads will offer the farmers better facilities for hauling their products to the regular outlets. I have no doubt that the railroads and other transportation companies would be glad to assist the movement by giving cheaper rates to the meeting places and providing extra accommodations."

House Destroyed By Fire.

The loud alarm of the firebell aroused the City Thursday morning, when the house of Mr. Charles Campbell, located on Barclay Street in the section known as the Y, was burned. The fire department are very prompt in responding to the alarm, and despite the fact that this section is thickly built kept the fire confined to the one house. They were aided in this by the direction of the wind. The fire had such a start in Mr. Campbell's house that it was impossible to save that. The property was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Campbell at the time and it is said that more than $150 in money was burned with the house, being the joint savings of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell. The loss on the property is estimated at about $1500, partially covered by insurance.

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR W'GUTCHERON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

The next morning Selim awoke from his fitful sleep, bringing the news that a strange vessel had arrived at Ararat. Chase rushed out upon his veranda, overlooking the little harbor. A long, white, graceful craft was lying in the harbor. He stared long and intently at the trim craft.

"Can I be dreaming?" he muttered, passing his hand over his eyes. "Don't lie to me, Selim! Is it really there?" Then he uttered a loud cry of joy and started off down the slope with the speed of a race horse, shouting in the frenzy of an uncontrollable glee.

It was the Marquis of B's white and blue yacht.

Three weeks later Hollingsworth Chase stepped from the deck of the yacht to the pier in Marseilles. The next day he was in Paris, attended by the bewildered and almost useless Selim. An old and valued friend, a campaigner of the wartime days, met him at the Gare de Lyon in response to a telegram.

"I'll tell you the whole story of Japat, Arch, but not until tomorrow," Chase said to him as they drove toward the Ritz. "I arrived yesterday on the Marquis of B's yacht, the Cricket. Do you know him? Of course you do. Everybody does. The Cricket was cruising down my way and picked me up—Bowles and me. The captain came a bit out of his way to call at Ararat, but he had orders of some sort from the marquis by cable, I fancy, to stop off for me."

He did not regard it as necessary to tell his correspondent friend that the Cricket had sailed from Marseilles with but one port in view—Ararat. He did not tell him that the Cricket had come with a message to him and that he was answering it in person, as it was intended that he should—a message written six weeks before his arrival in France. There were many things that Chase did not explain to Archibald James.

"You're looking fine, Chase, old man. Did you get a lot of good out there. You are as brown as that Arab in the taximeter back there. By Jove, old man, that Persian girl is ripping. You say she's his wife? She's"—Chase broke in upon this far from original estimate of the picturesque Neneah.

"I say, Arch, there's something I want to know before I go to the marquis' this evening. I'm due there with my thanks. He lives in the Boulevard St. Germain—I've got the number all right. Is one likely to find the house full of swells? I'm a bit of a savage just now, and I'm correspondingly timid."

His friend stared at him for a moment. "I can save you the trouble of going to the marquis," he said. "He and the marchioness are in London at present. Left Paris a month ago."

"What? The house is closed?" in deep anxiety.

"I think not. Servants are all there, I dare say. Their place adjoins the Brabets palace. The princess is his niece, you know."

"You say the Brabets palace is next door?" demanded Chase, steadying his voice with an effort.

"Yes—the old Flaubert mansion. The princess was to have been the social sensation of Paris this year. She's a wonderful beauty, you know."

"Was to have been?"

"She married that fotten Brabets last June, but of course you never heard of it out there in what's-the-name-of-it-place. You may have heard of his murders however. His mistress shot him in Brussels."

"Great God, man!" gasped Chase, clutching his arm in a grip of iron.

"The devil, Chase!" cried the other, amazed. "What's the matter?"

"He's dead? Murdered? How—when? Tell me about it!" cried Chase, his agitation so great that James looked at him in wonder.

"Gad, you seem to be interested!"

"I am! Where is she—I mean the princess and the other woman?"

"Cool off, old man. People are staring at you. Brabets was shot three weeks ago at a hotel in Brussels. He's been living there for two months, more or less, with the woman. In fact, he left Paris almost immediately after he was married to the Princess Geneva. The gossip is that she wouldn't live with him. She'd found out what sort of a dog he was. They didn't have a honeymoon, and they didn't attempt a bridal tour. Somehow they kept the scandal out of the papers. Well, he hiked out of Paris at the end of a week, just before the 14th. The police had asked the woman to leave town. He followed. Dope send, they say. The bride went into seclusion at once. She's never to be seen anywhere. The woman shot him through the head and then took a fine dose of poison. It was a ripping news story. The prominence of the—"

He was quite cool and composed when at last he turned to his friend.

"Arch, do me a great favor. Look out for Selim and Neneah. Take 'em to the hotel and see that they get settled. I'll join you this evening. Don't ask questions, but put me down here. I'll take another cab. There's a good fellow. I'll explain soon. I'm—I'm going somewhere, and I'm in a hurry."

The vulture drew up before the historic old palace in the Boulevard St. Germain. Chase's heart was beating furiously as he stepped to the curb. The cocher leaned forward for instructions. His fare hesitated for a moment, swayed by a momentary indecision.

"I want you for my husband, dearest."

"Attendez," he said finally. The driver adjusted his register and settled back to wait. Then Chase mounted the steps and lifted the knocker with trembling fingers. He was dizzy with eagerness, cold with uncertainty.

She had asked him to come to her, but conditions were not the same as when she sent the compelling message. There had come into her life a vital break, a change that altered everything. What was it to mean to him?

He stood a moment later in the salon of the old Flaubert palace, vaguely conscious that the room was darkened by the drawn blinds and that it was cool and sweet to his senses. He knew that she was coming down the broad hallway. He could hear the rustle of her gown.

Inconsequently he was wondering whether she would be dressed in black. Then, to his humiliation, he remembered that he was wearing uncooth, travel soiled garments.

She was dressed in white—a house gown, simple and alluring. There was no suggestion of the coronet, no shadow of grief in her manner, as she came swiftly toward him, her hands extended, a glad light in her eyes.

The tall man, voiceless with emotion, clasped her hands in his and looked down into the smiling, rapturous face. "You came!" she said, almost in a whisper.

"Yes. I could not have stayed away. I have just heard that you—you are free. You must not expect me to offer condolences. It would be sheer hypocrisy. I am glad—I am glad! You sent for me—you sent the yacht, Geneva, before—before you were free. I came knowing that you belonged to another. I find you the same as when I knew you first—when I held you in my arms and heard you say that you loved me. You do not grieve—you do not mourn. You are the same, my Geneva—the same that I have dreamed of and suffered for all these months. Something tells me that you have descended to my plane. I will not kiss you, Geneva, until you have promised to become my wife."

She had not taken her eyes from his white, intense face during this long summing up.

"Hollingsworth, I cannot, I will not blame you for thinking ill of me," she said. "Have I fallen in your eyes? I wanted you to be near me. I wanted you to know that when the courts came from me—that man I would be ready and happy to come to you as your wife. I am not in mourning to-day, you see. I knew you were coming. As God is my witness, I have no husband to mourn for. He was nothing to me. I want you for my husband, dearest. It was what I meant when I sent out there for you—that and nothing else."

[THIS END.]

"Drop in Any Time."

One of the pitfalls of friendship is the standing invitation. It is easy and pleasant to say: "Come whenever you like, my dear. We shall be delighted to see you at any time; don't stand on ceremony—come whenever you are this way." But let those who receive such invitations beware. It stands to reason that an unexpected visit cannot always be convenient—the hostess is in the midst of something or other and "not fit to be seen," or her husband has rushed home to take her out somewhere and she would rather go than stay at home and entertain her dearest friend, or the luncheon of the dinner is a makeshift—very nice, as far as the family is concerned, but not exactly suitable to set before visitors. The hostess tries to be nice, but can't help showing her vexation or embarrassment. The guest perceives something indefinable in the atmosphere and is accordingly constrained, and every one is uncomfortable. Yet people still go on giving and accepting standing invitations.—New York Tribune.

This Unromantic Age.

"It sholy do look," said Miss Miami Brown sadly, "like dar war no no romance case days."

"What's de trouble?" asked Erastus Pinsky.

"I takes notice dat when you asks gemman to a Christmas dinner he doesn't play, no interest in whether day's wine to be mistletoe in de party, but keeps blatin' aroun' to 'de how 'bout de turkey an' fixin' de dinner table."

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This In Salisbury.

Scores of Salisbury people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsements?

James K. Diharoon, 220 Isabella Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have never taken another remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills. I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaints that were brought on by a heavy cold. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the knife like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a mis-step, as this was sure to bring on a sharp twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until entirely cured and I had no further trouble until some years after when a cold affected my kidneys. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, however, the annoyance disappeared."

Spiritism Said To Be Demonism.

A most interesting little brochure has recently come off the press, setting forth with Bible proofs that the communications received by and through Spiritist Mediums is of Demon origin. The writer traces his subject through the Scriptures from the time when certain of the holy angels became disobedient. He proves from the Scriptures that these fallen spirits deal in personating the human dead, with whose past history, spirits, though invisible, are thoroughly acquainted. He shows that they also frequently personate the Creator and the Redeemer, commanding their deceived ones to pray, do penance, etc. This, however, is merely to lead them on and to bring them more thoroughly under demonic control. Sometimes by breaking down the natural barrier, the human will, they obsess their victim and rule him more or less to his ruin—frequently sending such to the mad-house. Numerous illustrations, Scriptural and otherwise, are given. The price of the little book is but ten cents; it should be in the hands of all interested in Spiritism or who have friends interested therein. Enclose five two-cent stamps to the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Ideal Husband.

is patient, even with a nagging wife, for he knows she needs help. She may be so nervous and run down in health that trifles annoy her. If she is melancholy, excitable, troubled with loss of appetite, headache, sleeplessness, constipation or fainting and dizzy spells. She needs Electric Bitters, the most wonderful remedy for ailing women. Thousands of sufferers from female troubles, nervous troubles, backache and weak kidneys have used them and become healthy and happy. Try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

Difficult Scriptures On Hell.

A little book selling at only ten cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the Tomb, the Grave, the State of Death. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures, proving that he was Redeemed from the Grave at the cost of his Redeemer's life, and that the Scriptural hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lion Fandles A Child.

In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough. They say thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of Croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hemorrhages, Weak Lungs. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Galena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after there was soreness in my right side. In a short time a bump came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. It kept growing larger and by fall it was as large as a hen's egg. I could not go to bed without a hot water bottle applied to that side. I had one of the best doctors in Kansas and he told my husband that I would have to be operated on as it was something like a tumor caused by a rupture. I wrote to you for advice and you told me not to get discouraged but to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did take it and soon the lump in my side broke and passed away."—Mrs. B. R. HUEY, 718 Mineral Ave., Galena, Kans. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, period pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women. If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

$100 Reward, $100. IN PAER NAPERY

PLEASEING DESIGNS ARE SHOWN IN PROFUSION. For Many Occasions These Articles Are Preferable to the More Formal Linen—May Be Arranged in Attractive Manner. For a child's party, the informal luncheon, the chafing dish supper, and other little feasts which do not require formal tables, there is nothing like the convenience of "paper napery." The table covers and napkins supplied may even express a considerable degree of smartness, for there are smart or vulgar paper fixings, just as there are smart or poor linen ones. There is a round table cover big enough for a table that would seat four people, this and the six napkins that go with it showing a charming border of bright red hearts connected at intervals with a glistening band that simulates a blue ribbon. For the season soon to follow there are other sets showing borders of crisp jonquilla, yellow tulips and very nice looking apple boughs in full bloom. These naturally appeal to young folks, so one is not surprised that such distinctive and pretty table capers often set off very nice boy and girl luncheons. From 25 to 50 cents is charged for the handsomer of these sets and the covers at least are stout enough to last several times with care. For the younger children, the paper napery takes on high jinks in the animal or Mother Goose way, and with some of the plain white things which are intended for the housekeeper of taste who must economize on her napery, there are some thin napkins, almost silky in finish and very prettily fringed. These are very often used with a linen cloth for Sunday night teas, and though afternoon tea does not call for a serviette, such kinds are perfectly in keeping with taste if linen ones are wanting. A pretty way to put the napkins on the afternoon tea table is to fold each one in a neat square, and then tie the bundle prettily with a narrow ribbon. The guest helps herself from the bundle, or leaves it alone as she wishes. The plain white paper napkin, or one lightly decorated, is never vulgar, and it comes from China or Japan but may even be a thing of beauty. Such tasteful and inexpensive serviettes indeed would help out a home limited in house linen tremendously, for they could be used when a linen one could not. Then there is the eternal comfort of their never needing to be washed, or counted, or mended! Twenty-five cents will buy a package of a hundred of the simpler sort of napkins. This little book is not for the ordinary readers, but most decidedly it is what every advanced Bible student and earnest Christian should possess and study thoroughly. Surely every earnest Christian should have this little book and find in it a mine of spiritual wealth, health and refreshment. DOING AWAY WITH WRINKLES Patches of White Tape the Method Employed by One School Teacher. A woman who teaches discovered that in the course of her work she had acquired a healthy crop of frowning wrinkles just above her nose. The effect was unpleasant, as the unconscious frowns seemed directed upon her pupils as well as adding apparent years to her age. Her discovery was that of using white passepartouting tape for the purpose of holding the wrinkles out. A whole roll of this tape costs but ten cents and from one roll an unlimited number of patches can be made. Those who find it impossible to cure these persistent frowning wrinkles by taking thought will find the patches put on before retiring extremely helpful. A little water removes the patch in an instant.

NEW IDEA IN TUNICS.
There is no end in the making of tunics, and a considerable amount of ingenuity is being expended upon the invention of new ways to arrange these graceful overdresses. Scarfs that are wide and long, made from mousseline or other soft materials, are treated as shown in the illustration, and are, indeed, beautiful. They are almost always bordered with satin bands and edged with silk fringe. The above model is ideal for a dinner gown.

More White Serges.
The spring models will answer perfectly for the white mohair or serge tailor-made, commonly regarded as a mid-summer costume, but none the less likely to prove a timely serviceable if included in the Easter wardrobe.

ADDITIONAL TRAINS GIVEN

N. Y. P. & N. Announce Schedule—Demands of Salisbury Met.

For some time our people have been demanding better train service over the N. Y. P. and N. R. R. but apparently without any effect, at the time, but the Railroad has now announced that it proposes to put into effect on May 29th, a schedule which should be very gratifying to all the people on the Peninsula as well as Salisbury.

Under the schedule which goes into effect on the 29th, the schedule which was in effect during the Exposition is practically restored. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company intends to make the two express trains North and South through trains, only stopping at the most important stations between Philadelphia and Cape Charles Salisbury, will of course, be a stopping point for all trains. Under this new schedule we will have five trains North and five South each day except Sunday.

The North-bound trains will be as follows: Train No. 43, mail, Philadelphia, leaving Salisbury at about 7.45 A. M.; No. 48, Portsmouth to Philadelphia, leaving Salisbury at 1.50 P. M.; No. 46, Cape Charles to Philadelphia, leaving Salisbury about 3.10 P. M.; No. 80, Cape Charles to Delmar, leaving Salisbury about 9.40 P. M.; No. 50, Portsmouth to Philadelphia, leaving Salisbury at 12.25 A. M.

South-bound trains will be as follows: Train No. 43, mail, Philadelphia to Cape Charles, leaving Salisbury about 11.25 A. M.; Train No. 47, through express, leaving Salisbury at 1.42 P. M.; Train No. 45, leaving Salisbury at 7.00 P. M., running all the way through to Tasley, Va.; Train No. 41, Philadelphia to Pocomoke City, leaving Salisbury about 10.00 P. M.; Train No. 49, New York to Portsmouth, leaving Salisbury at 8.00 A. M.

By this schedule one can leave Philadelphia for Salisbury as late as six o'clock in the evening and get here at 10.00 at night. The people from Delaware who wish to come to Salisbury to deal can get here at noon and leave about 3.00 P. M., thus giving them ample time to transact business. The Virginia people have three opportunities to reach Salisbury and get home in the same day.

EXTENSION OF WATER

Mains—City Council Takes Action—Water Company Notified To Act.

After trying in vain to get the Water Company to lay additional mains in this City, in order to give certain sections the protection they badly need, the City Council at its meeting on Monday night passed a resolution giving the Water Company formal notice to lay these mains on or before the first day of June, 1910.

It is generally understood that the majority of the stock of this Company is owned by Mr. Dalmas, of Philadelphia, who bought it at the time he was in control of the Salisbury Light & Heat Company, and for this reason the Attorney for the Council, Mr. Bennett has written him a letter calling his attention to the resolution.

There is no doubt but what the sections of the town referred to in the resolution are badly in need of better water protection and should have had it long ago—not only for their own protection but for the town itself as a dangerous conflagration in some sections might easily endanger the entire city. There will be no let up on the Water Company, according to the members of the council, but the Company will be compelled to extend these mains or forfeit their franchise and contract with the city. It is believed by quite a number of our citizens that the best policy for the city to pursue anyway would be to erect its own water plant so they could be entirely independent of a private corporation. In this way they would be in a position to protect all sections of the city from the dangers of a fire. The resolution and letter of Counsel are as follows:

Resolved, That the Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to notify and direct the Salisbury Water Company to extend its water mains in the city of Salisbury, as follows: From Camden Avenue up Maryland Avenue to Smith street, a distance of five hundred and twenty seven feet; from intersection of Maryland Ave. and Smith street down Smith Street to North Boulevard a distance of nine hundred and ninety four feet; from intersection of North Boulevard and Smith Street West on North Boulevard to Camden Avenue a distance of four hundred and fifty three feet; from Humphreys Mill Dam South on South Division Street to the intersection of South Division street with Snow Hill road, a distance of three thousand feet; from intersection of Philadelphia Avenue and North Division street to Corporate Limits, North, a distance of thirteen hundred and thirty feet; said water mains to be laid with four inch pipe, on all of said streets and avenues except S. Division street which is to be laid with six inch pipe. The city of Salisbury agreeing to place water plugs for fire protection along said streets and avenues in accordance with contract as set forth in the charter of the Salisbury Water Co., granted by the Mayor and Council of Salisbury. Said work to commence on or before the 1st day of June 1910, and to be completed as early as possible.

Here is the letter issued to Mr. Dalmas by the City Solicitor:

Salisbury Water Company,
Louis Dalmas, Treas., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:—The Council of Salisbury at a meeting held in the City Hall, Salisbury, Maryland, on May 9th, 1910, passed the following resolution, enclosed herewith.

The City of Salisbury in certain localities as set forth in said resolution is inadequately protected from fire. The Mayor and Council of Salisbury granted the Salisbury Water Company a charter, in which is embodied certain stipulations whereby the City of Salisbury may demand of the Salisbury Water Company the performance of certain duties in the laying of water mains under streets and avenues, upon the compliance of certain conditions as to paying for water plugs at stated distances by the Mayor and Council of Salisbury, at a stipulated sum or annum, erected and maintained by the said Water Company along any street or avenue under which said Mayor and Council of Salisbury may direct said Water Company to lay its mains. The Mayor and Council are ready to comply with the conditions as set forth in said charter for the extension of mains and erection and maintenance of fire plugs along and under the streets and avenues specified in said resolution. The Mayor and Council has on several occasions taken this matter up with your President Hon. M. V. Brewington, who informs the Council that he has taken the matter up with you a number of times, without any result. The Mayor and Council do not want to impose any unnecessary hardship on the Water Company, but as quasi public corporation for the benefit of the citizens of the City, and for the protection of their property, it is called upon in the protection of it and their interest to demand a compliance on the part of said Water Co., with the provisions of the resolution aforesaid.

THE KING'S CARNIVAL

A Notable Success in Salisbury—The City's Best Attend And Applaud Each Night.

The Society folk of Salisbury were out in full force on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, when "The King's Carnival," a clever musical comedy was produced at Ulman's Opera House for the sake of sweet charity. The play was staged by Miss Elizabeth McClokey, of Lock Haven, Pa., and given by local talent. Dr. John M. Toulson and Mrs. Walter S. Sheppard, the King and Queen, were exceedingly apropos and the play consisting of the strenuous efforts of the Court to amuse their majesties, abounded in humorous situations and bristled with fun and repartee. All of the parts were well cast.

The two minstrel end men, Messrs. A. M. Jackson and H. H. Kuark, were especially good. The dance and song by Miss Elliott and Mr. Truitt made quite a hit.

One of the most attractive features of the play was the children's part. About seventy five little folk had been trained, drilled in songs and warbles, which were enthusiastically applauded.

The solos by Mrs. E. C. Fulton, Miss Edwards and Miss Elliott were all artistically rendered. All of the court ladies were very handsomely gowned.

Those who took part were Mrs. W. S. Sheppard, Mrs. E. C. Fulton, Mrs. R. K. Truitt, Misses Frieder, Louise Gunby, Laura Wallis, Clara Tilghman, Mary Collier, Laura Elliott, Emma Day, Maria Ellegood, Margaret Woodcock, May Edwards, Annie Dabhiell, Sarah Phillips, Elizabeth Collier, Winnie Trader, Edith Short, Alice Johnson, Messrs. H. W. Owens, C. Edgar Laws, Ralph Williams, Carl Schuler, Harry W. Kuark, R. K. Truitt, Claude C. Dorman, Franklin Woodcock, Woolston, Horace C. Smith, A. M. Jackson, Robert N. McClokey.

The program in full was:—

PART ONE.
Opening Chorus, Mr. Woolston and company.
"My Dusky Rose," Mr. Truitt and company.
"Tinkletoes," Mr. Dorman and company.
"Garden of Roses," Miss Elliott and company.
"Solo," Mr. Jackson and company.
"Life is what we make it," Miss Edwards.
"I want to bring you a ring," Mrs. Fulton and company.
Closing Chorus, by the company.

PART TWO Scene two—King's Garden.
Grand March.
Kiddies Reception—Lady Mary, chaperon.
Monkey Honeymoon—Lady Rebecca, chaperon.
Slate Song—Introduced by Sir John.
Cake Walk—Reba Parsons and Roxie Mills.
Rose Scene—Lady Margaret, chaperon.
Character Song—by the Jester.
"A. B. C."—Lady Beatrice, chaperon.
Chinese Comedy—Lady Elizabeth, chaperon.

"I want some one to call me dear,"—Mr. Truitt and Miss Elliott.
Introduced by Sir Gilbert.
Swing Song—Finale.
Miss Nina Youables was accompanied. The King's Daughters realized about $140 from the production.
Miss McClokey was the modest recipient of many hearty congratulations on the fine outcome and artistic success of the play to which she, associated with her brother, Mr. Robert N. McClokey, had given constant attention for the preceding ten days. All the details were beautifully worked out and the rendition on both nights was a high compliment to all concerned. Seldom has a second night of any performance or production met with so large and so appreciative an audience as recalled and cheered the "Carnival" stars on Wednesday night.

From Salisbury, Miss McClokey goes to Pocomoke where Mr. McClokey will have supervision of the production. Crisfield will also probably be given an opportunity while Princess Anne, where Miss Mann is associated, will hold high Carnival Monday evening, May 16th.

Miss McClokey will leave for Pittsburg, Pa., early next week where she has arranged for a week's production for some charitable organization.

BUT A MERE MOCKERY

Says Gov. Hughes Of Political Conventions Favors Direct Primaries.

One of the reform bills which Governor Hughes has urged upon the Legislature of New York is the direct primary law. In his efforts for the enactment of this law he has been opposed by the politicians and the party organizations, by reactionaries and all who love or profit by the political machine. But, like Thomas Jefferson Governor Hughes trusts the people, and has an abiding faith and confidence in popular government. In a speech at Binghamton on Monday evening the Governor made a notable argument in favor of the direct, State wide primary, contending that the control of nominations of party candidates should be lodged directly with the party members. The bill he was advocating abolished party conventions. The Governor expressed his scorn for the ordinary political convention. As a means of choosing candidates it is often a mere farce. It cloaks the responsibility of the real nominators. "Instead of being a representative assembly it is in the main a mockery of representative institutions." There is but little interest in the selection of the delegates. Delegates are chosen, but the leaders decide and make the nominations. The convention affords no proper opportunity for registering the wishes of the party voters. The action of the convention is final, and if the party people are dissatisfied with it there is no recourse but to bolt their party ticket on election day.

The Governor did not confine himself to the demonstration of the faults of the convention. He argued that the direct primary affords the best opportunity to examine the genesis of candidates, to ascertain the influence that has brought them forward, to know who is behind them and for what they stand. The party voter at the direct primary has the opportunity to vote directly for something he understands. He will not have to vote for delegates in bunches about whom he may know little and whose final action he cannot control.

It has been objected here in Baltimore that the direct primary is expensive. So is the general election expensive. It would save a great sum in election expenses to have all public officials appointed by the Governor. But the people would not agree to that. It would save the expense of a primary to let the party boss name the candidates. But the people are getting beyond that point. The question in direct primaries resolves itself down to this simple proposition: It is better for the people to select their own candidates, and thus control the selection of the public officials or is it best to have this done for them? Everything that is worth while costs something—either in money or brains or grit. It costs much more in the long run to let the party boss name the candidates than to let the people do the work. A primary may cost thirty or forty thousand dollars, but the candidates of a boss like Tweed cost millions in money and infinitely more in the moral debasement of the community which complacently accepts them.—Baltimore Sun.

John Nelson.

Mr. John Nelson died suddenly of the Peninsula Hospital on Sunday morning about four o'clock of pleurisy pneumonia. He had been sick but a few days and his sudden death was a great shock to his many friends and acquaintances, who for the most part, were unaware of his sickness.

Mr. Nelson was 52 years of age, and was an expert painter and decorator. He was born in Philadelphia, but came to Salisbury about twenty five years ago and soon built up a large business in his line. He was a member of the Elks, Red Men and Royal Arcanum. He is survived by a widow and five children. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 at his late home on Camden Avenue, conducted by Rev. T. E. Martindale, after which interment was made in Parsons cemetery.

Was A Big Success.

"Amateur Night" at the Ulman Opera House, Monday evening, was a big success, more than a thousand people packing the house to witness the "vandyville" performance by home talent. Don Graham's Minstrel Troupe in their plantation scene and funny sayings took the house by storm and were repeatedly recalled by the footlights. The jig dancing by a small colored boy was marvellous. With such home talent, it is unnecessary to send to the cities for vandyville attractions for our moving picture patrons.

OLD HOME PRIZE ESSAY A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Jan. S. McMaster Endows Schools—Honor Of "Land Of Evergreens."

Mr. John S. McMaster, a native of the Eastern Shore, residing in Jersey City has given $100 to the schools of Pocomoke City, Onancock and Accomac Court House each, the income on same to be given as a prize to the pupil writing the best essay pertaining to the past, present or future of the Maryland, Delaware Virginia Peninsula. Mr. McMaster's idea in giving this fund is to cause the people of this peninsula to obtain a more thorough knowledge of this section. Mr. McMaster has been very active in having this section known as "The Land Of Evergreens" and suggests that this could be established by everyone carrying this title on their letterheads and envelopes. His idea of stimulating the interest of our people in the history of their own section is a very good one, and if like funds were set aside for the high schools throughout the "Land Of Evergreens" it would do a great deal towards making our people more familiar with our past and probably more enthusiastic towards the future of this section of America. The love of the Old Shore has always been strong with her children who have wandered away from the home of their youth and a better knowledge and understanding of its many advantages will make this tie still stronger to those of the coming generation.

L. M. Price's Automobile Turned Turtle And Hurt Four People.

Luther M. Price, of Smyrna, came here in his automobile, Saturday to participate in the automobile ride given to the Sons of Delaware, of Philadelphia, previous to their dinner at the Hotel Richardson. He took with him Prothonotary Charles H. LeFevre, John S. Wharton, Captain Lank, of Philadelphia, and Herman C. Taylor and joined the automobile procession up the State Road. After the bridge and causeway over Silver Lake had been passed, Mr. Price, who was at the wheel, was in the act of making a turn at an angle in the road, when, from some unknown cause, the machine ran full tilt into a ditch on the east side of the road, completely turning over, throwing all the occupants out, with Messrs. LeFevre and Taylor pinned under the machine. Mr. Wharton, Captain Lank and Mr. Price were able to extricate themselves, although all were injured. Captain Lank had sustained two severe cuts, one on the nose and the other on the lip. Mr. Price had a cut on the nose and Mr. Wharton was badly shaken up. The three men at once turned their attention to the release of Messrs. LeFevre and Taylor and by desperate endeavors succeeded in raising the 1,500 pound machine sufficiently to permit Mr. Taylor, who had been pinned to the ground, face downward, to release himself. He emerged with a few scratches and a strained back as his only injuries. Mr. LeFevre was in the most serious predicament. He had been thrown on his back and pinned to the ground with the full weight of the machine resting on his stomach. He, by the combined strength of the four liberated men, the machine was lifted from Mr. LeFevre, who was pulled out bleeding and faint. He had sustained severe cuts on the forehead, nose and lip, requiring several stitches, and his stomach was badly injured. Messrs. Wharton, Lank and Taylor assisted Mr. LeFevre into a team and hurried him to Dover to the home of his parents on South State Street, where Dr. L. A. H. Bishop rendered medical aid. Captain Lank was also taken care of at the LeFevre home and later returned to Smyrna.—Dover Delawarean.

School Board Proceedings At Last Session.

The School Board had a busy session last Friday. The following business was transacted: The Board reorganized by re-electing Mr. H. L. Brexington president and Mr. Wm. J. Holloway secretary treasurer and county superintendent. Mr. Isaac L. Price, the new member of the Board assumed the duties of office, having previously qualified before Clerk of the Court Ernest A. Toadvine. Mr. Price succeeds Mr. Levin T. Cooper, of Sharpstown. The session was principally taken up in the appointment of school trustees to serve for two years. There were but few changes in the present trustees.

A delegation was before the Board to urge the erection of a new school building at Jones' near Mt. Herman Church. This is one of the oldest school buildings in the county and is in bad condition. Accompanying the request for a new building was the request for a change in the location of the school. It was suggested that the present school lot be exchanged for a lot near the Mt. Herman Church, in an oak grove. Sentiment, however, was divided as to location, and the Board promised to visit the neighborhood next Thursday and inspect the sites suggested before reaching a conclusion. The Board decided upon June 14, 15, 16 as the dates for teachers examinations.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL,
Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

PASTOR RUSSELL IN LONDON

"HEREAFTER"

"There Shall Be No More Death, Neither Sorrow Nor Crying, Neither Shall There Be Any More Pain; For the Former Things Are Passed Away" (Revelation xxi, 4).

London, Eng., May 8.—Albert Memorial Hall, the largest and most renowned auditorium in the world, having a capacity of ten thousand, was crowded this evening to hear Pastor Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, who delivered an address on "HEREAFTER" under the auspices of the "International Bible Students Association." Taking the above text, he said:

Man kind instinctively look for and believe in a future life; to the majority of minds it does not seem logical that death ends all. So surely as we believe our Creator to be all-wise, we must assume that he has some purpose in connection with our race, not attained as yet, something beyond the capacity of attainment in the present life, under present conditions. Even without a Divine revelation, therefore, we would be justified in anticipating a life beyond the tomb, but speculation upon such an important subject, of such vital interest, is not necessary. We are glad that our Creator has given us in the Bible clear intimations respecting his purposes, in relation to mankind in the future. Nevertheless these purposes were kept secret, not revealed until the first advent of our Redeemer. Thus the Apostle declares that "Christ brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel." It was invisible before, not brought to light, and its terms and conditions could not be clearly discerned.

Without any Divine revelation, we see a sufficiency on every hand to cause astonishment and to call anxiously for explanations. We see the world of mankind weak and depraved, sighing, crying and dying. "Transitory" is written upon everything human. The Scriptures assert that we of today are living under "a reign of sin and death," and that this dominion has lasted for over six thousand years. Why are these things so? Is it not true that there is but one God? Is it not true that his creatures on the spirit plane are perfect, that in heaven there is neither sighing, nor crying, nor dying? There is no reign of sin and death there, no hospitals, no asylums, no jails, no penitentiaries—all is harmony, perfect, pure, in full accord with the Almighty. Why are conditions so different on this earth of ours?

Because One Man Disobeyed.

The Bible alone offers us an explanation of the situation. It tells us that God created our race as pure, as perfect, as holy, as happy as the angels, and that he placed our first parents in Eden, surrounded with everything beautiful and desirable. It explains that our fall from that perfection into mental, moral and physical depravity came as a result of disobedience to God. It explains that "the wages of sin is death," that "the soul that sinneth, it shall die," that all the souls produced by Father Adam and Mother Eve are dying souls, in consequence of our sin-inheritance. This is bad enough, sad enough; and, as was intended, our hearts cry out after the living God, for his mercy and compassion, that he would save us from death, save us from destruction. The answer of Divine Justice is, that we are unfit to live—that our Creator graciously designs that sinners shall not be immortal. But, hearkening, we hear a message assuring us that God has looked down in compassion and "heard the groanings of the prisoners." He foreknew our helplessness under the reign of sin and death, and in his Plan made provision for our case in advance—"before the foundation of the world."

After four thousand years of this reign of sin and death, exhibiting Divine Justice without mercy, our Creator revealed the wonderful features of his Program. He sent forth his Son, "that he, by the grace of God, might taste death for every man"—not for the Elect Church merely, but for all the families of the earth. Hence it is written that Jesus "gave himself a ransom for all;" and again, that "He is the propitiation (satisfaction) for our sins (the Church's) and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

So, then, the death penalty pronounced against our race, which would have reduced Adam and his posterity to the hopeless condition of beasts, as respects eternal life, God had already intended to set aside through the sacrifice of Christ. Nevertheless, he allowed sin and death to reign from Adam to Moses, and from Moses to the present. He has contented himself with laying the foundation for the world-wide blessing, in the death of the Redeemer. He intends ultimately, the Bible assures us, to offer complete deliverance from sin and death to Adam and all of his children. The arrangement is that, "since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as all in Adam die, even so all in Christ shall be made alive. But every man in his own order" (1 Corinthians vi, 21-23).

"Doctrines of Demons."

The truth about this matter is severe enough; it shows forth Divine Justice, intertwined with Divine Mercy and Love. We admit our present unworthiness of life eternal and feel grateful for proposed assistance through Christ, but our great adversary, operating through ignorance, and superstition and fear, seized the opportunity to deceive us and misrepresent our Creator by bringing in what St. Paul designated, "doctrines of demons" (1 Timothy iv, 1). These have been promulgated, not merely in heathen lands, but amongst the civilized. These false doctrines have tended to alienate the hearts and minds of humanity from God and his revelation; they have put a barrier between God and his creatures.

These "doctrines of demons" are presented from various standpoints, but they are alike in one respect; namely, they all teach that God deceived our first parents when he told them that the "wages of sin is death." These "doctrines of demons" assert, the contrary, that man cannot die, but must live somewhere all eternity. Thus on the basis of man's fears, this doctrine that God thrust immortality upon his creatures, the demons built up for us a theory so horrible as to be nauseating and terrifying to every sane and healthy mind. "Doctrines of demons" have been promulgated far and near, and with various colorings, but in essence they are all the same. They have come down from the "dark ages," represented in all our creeds, Catholic and Protestant.

Our Catholic friends have developed this thought to a nicety. They tell us that of those who die, only a mere handful are fit for heaven and go there immediately. They tell us that the most reprehensible class, heretical rejectors of Divine Truth, will be sent to a hell of eternal torture where they will never die. They assure us, however, that the number who will receive this extreme punishment is small in comparison with the race as a whole. They tell us that the majority, Catholics and Protestants, civilized and heathen, are unfit for heaven at death, and likewise not deserving of eternal torture, and that thus the great mass of mankind, nine out of every ten, go at death to Purgatory, there to suffer for centuries or for thousands of years in expiation of sins, and for purification of their souls, that they may be eventually fit for heaven and its blessings. Our hearts rebel at such a view of the "hereafter." While giving our Catholic friends, and our own forefathers who were Catholics, credit for being as sincere as ourselves, we conclude that the light of our day, and the light of our intelligence, will not permit us to believe and rejoice in such a view of the "hereafter" as this. We say to ourselves, Surely the Great God has something nobler than this in reservation for his creatures.

Protestant Views Worse.

What shall we say of the "Hereafter" from the standpoint of our Protestant creeds? How do these compare with the Catholic views foregoing—how much worse? When our forefathers thought they had found something erroneous in the teachings of Purgatory, when they concluded that Purgatory was not to be found in the Bible, they heroically determined to cast it out of their creeds. But alas! When discarding it, they did not realize that they were making a bad matter worse. They held on to the "doctrine of demons," that God had created man so that he could not die, and could not be destroyed, and so they proceeded to interpret matters along that line. Realizing the Scripturalness of the proposition that only the saints were fit for heaven, and rejecting the theory of Purgatory, they logically consigned all except the saints thereafter to eternal torture. Alas! How inconsistent it is; how strange that we've ever thought Divine Foreknowledge, Wisdom, Justice, Mercy, Love and Power should have created man to the number of thousands of millions, with the foreknowledge and fore-intentions and desire, that they should suffer an eternity of torture.

Parting of the Ways.

Thus, my dear hearers, you will myself and others of the intelligent people of the world, find ourselves today in a most trying position. Our hearts have repudiated the doctrine of eternal torture as being un-Christ-like, unworthy even of a devil. We can believe neither in a Purgatory of centuries, nor in eternal torture as a consequence or penalty for Adam's disobedience in eating of the forbidden fruit, nor as a penalty upon his children for not living perfect lives when they were "born in sin and shaped in iniquity" from the faith; few intelligent people any longer believe in the Bible. Our colleges and universities—and, to say, our theological seminaries—are busy turning out unbelievers—infidels. Nor are these people wicked or immoral in their unbelief; they are as well-meaning as ever, but have lost their way. They reject the Bible because they believe it to be the foundation of the various inconsistencies in their creeds; they are stumbling for lack of knowledge; they cannot believe that man's benefactor is one of centuries of suffering, or of eternal suffering.

Seeking the Old Paths.

The Lord, through the Prophet Jeremiah, tells his people to "Inquire for the old paths," and this is the appropriate lesson for each of us. We do, indeed, need to discard the creeds of the past, not because they contain nothing of truth, but because error commingles in them to such a degree as to make them perversions of truth as a whole. We need to take off the creedal spectacles with which we have hitherto been studying God's Word, and come to the Bible afresh, to hear its message. Thus coming, many of us have been surprised as we have found its purity and consistency and harmony with itself. We have already intimated the Bible view of man's death sentence, and the Bible presentation that Christ died for our redemption, and the Bible assurance that as a consequence, in "due time," "the knowledge of the glory of God shall fill the whole earth." We have also the Bible assurance that not merely the living will profit by the provision of God's grace, but that "all that are in their graves shall come forth" to share in and be blessed by the favorable conditions which God will by and by inaugurate.

The Bible declares that the penalty for sin is being experienced by humanity at the present time—the death penalty—and that the redemption price of Christ's death is sufficient for the sins of the whole world. It declares that on account of this redemption, ultimately the resurrection of the dead shall take place—"all that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and come forth." It is because of the Divine intention that there shall be a resurrection of the dead that the Bible everywhere, both in the Old and New Testaments, speaks of those who have died, both good and bad, as being "asleep," and the promise is that "They that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake."

Nor will they come forth to similar conditions of sorrow that now surround us all. On the contrary, the First Resurrection is to be composed of the holy, the saintly, and they are to be associated with their Redeemer as his Bride and Consort, to assist in delivering and restoring mankind. Later the imperfect, who have not had their full trial, the great mass of mankind, will be brought forth, that they may learn the ways of righteousness, that they may learn to know God, and Jesus Christ, and in due time be uplifted out of the conditions of sin and death. Then will come the time mentioned in our text, The Hereafter for the world. How joyful is the message. "There shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, nor dying; for the former things have passed away." Ah, how different is God's proposition of a general uplift of the worthy and their assistance back to perfection—to all that was lost in Adam. How different is this from the "doctrines of demons," which have perplexed us, which have divided the Church of Christ into numberless sects and parties, and which have almost driven us from Christ and the Bible.

Life, Not Immortality.

Thus we see that God's provision in Christ for mankind is that each individual member of our race may yet, if he will, attain to everlasting life through the merit of Christ's sacrifice, and through the operation of his Kingdom. Each may attain to all that was lost in Adam and redeemed at Calvary; namely, human perfection and Edenic blessedness. But additionally, note the blessings which God has provided for the Church—a spiritual blessing, a change of nature. These are called out now from amongst men, that they "might be a kind of first-fruits unto God of his creatures" (James i, 18). These are to be a "royal priesthood," associated with Christ, now in the priestly work of sanctifying, presenting their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God, which is their reasonable service. And when the sacrificing shall be finished, they are to be joined with Christ in the glories of his Kingdom, and share with him in the work of blessing mankind. These are the "elect" who, in God's providence, shall by and by be lifted and blessed the non-elect. These are the ones to whom will come the promised "glory, honor and immortality." Our Redeemer brought to light, life eternal for the world, and he also brought to light immortality for the Church.

Let us then be glad and rejoice in the "Hereafter" that God has provided, and let us search his Word diligently and more carefully than ever, that we may know the things which God has freely given to us. Thus we may avail ourselves of our present privileges and opportunities and by and by bear the Master's "Well done—enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.
What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Swamp-Root is sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

IS THE TERM POLITICIAN A DISGRACE? Mr. Jno. Hannibal, a prominent democratic lawyer of Baltimore City and for some time, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Baltimore, has resigned his connection with the organization.

Mr. Jno. Hannibal, a prominent democratic lawyer of Baltimore City and for some time, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Baltimore, has resigned his connection with the organization.

These remarks are full of suggestions and questions marks. Mr. Hannibal evidently does not regard the words, "politician" or "party organization" as words conveying to the minds of the "best people" ideas and methods having a tendency to elevate a man's reputation among those whose good opinion is most desirable.

Are not the politicians and party managers themselves to blame for this public conception of their character; and do they not furnish the justification for the people to so look upon them?

Often, even they themselves have no confidence in each other when it comes to contest between themselves. If they are discredited it is their own discreditable conduct that brings this judgment upon them.

While the people cannot be blamed for the beginning of a reign of misrule, they are to blame to let it continue; and they have quite made up their minds throughout the country that crookedness and robbery in the name of party shall cease; that honesty in government is better than party success coupled with graft and trickery.

The recent exposures in Albany, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and elsewhere have startled the people and produced a moral awakening among them: they are the rumblings of a seismic disturbance of bad politics.

Changes At N. Y. P. & N. Depot. Some important changes have been made in the working force at the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad in this city.

among politicians. Politics should be synonymous with state craft and the politician should be a statesman, then "politicians" would not be a word of reproach, but one of honor.

No reasonable man will object to the formation of party organizations; but it is their spirit and methods that beget so much opposition. They are entirely too secretive, selfish and sordid in spirit and therefore unfair and often corrupt in their conduct towards members of their own party.

Carey—Shirk Nuptials.

A fitting culmination to a pretty romance that had its origin in "Virginia" occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Shirk, on Main Street, of Lincoln, when Mr. Everett Rollins Carey was united in marriage to their daughter, Miss Evelyne Catharine Shirk, at 10:30 a. m., on Wednesday 7th inst.

The bride is the oldest and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shirk, and was formerly a well known teacher in Virginia. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carey of Salisbury, Md., and is employed by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, as operator, stationed at Orviana, Va., near Denbigh.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been afflicted with indigestion, have been sorry for it when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol. When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and mounting acid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it. Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know just as well as we do. Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Forest Experiment Stations

BED OF YELLOW PINE SEEDLINGS

THE government is now carrying on investigative work at regular forest experiment stations similar to the agricultural experiment stations in the different states. The first forest experiment station created in this country was the Coccinifera experiment station at Flagstaff, Ariz., established last summer. Investigations covering many phases of forestry in the southwest have already been undertaken at this station. The second forest experiment station has been established this year on Pike's Peak, Colorado.

The need for such stations becomes apparent when the long time necessary for handling forest experiments is considered. In agricultural experiments definite results can usually be obtained in one or at most a few years; in forestry, because of the long time required for trees to develop, scores of years are often required to complete a single experiment.

All experimental work is conducted under the direction of men who have had thorough training in technical and practical forestry. Every experiment has a direct bearing upon some problem which vitally concerns the management of the forest. Every experiment will be pursued until conclusive results are obtained, and every man conducting investigative work will be given an opportunity to put his recommendations to the test in actual field work. Under this system every new plan can be thoroughly tried before being put into practice on a large scale, and thus the injury resulting from mistaken practices can be minimized.

The greatest technical problem which now confronts the forester in handling the great pine forests of Arizona and New Mexico is that of establishing a new stand of trees to replace the old timber which is cut off. This was the first problem undertaken by the Coccinifera experiment station. Much valuable information regarding the factors influencing natural reproduction has already been secured, but many years of systematic study will be required to fully solve the problem. The feasibility of artificial regeneration by planting and sowing is also being tested. The latter experiment, for the sake of economy, are being conducted on the smallest scale, which will insure reliable results applicable to general conditions.

The plans for the near future provide for a detailed study of the problems concerning the natural and artificial regeneration of other commercial trees, such as Douglas fir, Engelmann spruce and the junipers.

Tests will be made of trees introduced from other regions, with the view of finding other species adapted to planting in this region, which are superior to the native trees. One important problem which will occupy much attention at the experiment station for a number of years is the determination of the rate of growth of immature trees left on an area after logging. In scientific forestry, as practiced in many European countries, every tract of timber is so handled as to yield a perpetual supply of material, harvested at regular intervals.

In order to establish such a system of management, it is necessary to know for each area logged how soon it is practicable to return for a second cut, and the yield which can be expected at that time; and in order to do this, it is necessary to determine how fast trees of different ages grow after the mature timber has been removed. These data will be secured by periodic measurements of all trees on typical over-wood areas on different forests in Arizona and New Mexico. During the Fluffing the Hair. To make the hair, which goes over the pompadour fluffy, some girls resort to the device of rough combing it underneath, which means running the comb backward over the hair, and then sprinkling powder over it underneath where it does not show when the hair is done up. Combing and powdering in this manner undeniably has a drying effect, which makes for fluffiness, but both are too disastrous to the hair to be indulged in, for the rough combing breaks it, while the powder badly clogs the pores.

GASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Salisbury.

Scores of Salisbury people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

James K. Disher, 290 Isabella Street, Salisbury, Md., says "I have never taken another remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills. I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint that was brought on by a heavy cold. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the knife like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a mis-step, as this was sure to bring on a sharp twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until entirely cured and I had no further trouble until some years later when a cold affected my kidneys. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, however, the annoyance disappeared."

Spiritism Said To Be Demonism.

A most interesting little brochure has recently come off the press, setting forth with Bible proofs that the communications received by and through Spiritist Mediums is of Demon origin. The writer traces his subject through the Scriptures from the time when certain of the holy angels became disobedient. He proves from the Scriptures that these fallen spirits deal in personating the human dead, with whose past history, spirits, though invisible, are thoroughly acquainted. He shows that they also frequently personate the Creator and the Redeemer, commanding their deceived ones to pray, do penance, etc. This, however, is merely to lead them on and to bring them more thoroughly under demoniacal control. Sometimes by breaking down the natural barrier, the human will, they obsess their victim and rule him more or less to his ruin—frequently sending such to the mad-house. Numerous illustrations, Scriptural and otherwise, are given. The price of the little book is but ten cents; it should be in the hands of all interested in Spiritism or who have friends interested therein. Difficult Scriptures On Hell.

A little book selling at only ten cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the Tomb, the Grave, the State of Death. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures, proving that he was redeemed from the Grave at the cost of his Redeemer's life, and that the Scriptural hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sudden Riches.

Is it possible, we ask ourselves, that if we were suddenly to attain great riches, we could throw aside all consideration for our fellow-beings in a mad rush to risk?

What is the height to which we would attain? If it be merely position—the top step of the ladder of social standing—the reaching of it will no doubt blind us to all else. It would seem that this is one height from which the aspiring human falls utterly to see the plane below.

Arrival on the top step of this new and ill-built ladder seems to blunt the sensitivities of the alimbers. Let us cry the last drop of the milk of human kindness.

If the comparative poverty of the present were to store up within us a lasting charity for our fellow-men and women, let us pray that our descent be somewhat long drawn out; that our arrival at the top be even longer delayed.

Growing Hatred To Jesus

Sunday School Lesson for May 15, 1910 Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Matthew 12:22-32, 38-42. Memory Verse, 41. GOLDEN TEXT.—"He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad."—Mark 12:30.

TIME.—Probably in the autumn of A. D. 33.

PLACE.—Some where in Galilee; very likely in Capernaum.

Suggestion and Practical Thought. A Wicked Charge Against Jesus.—Vs. 22-24. "What gave rise to this charge against Jesus?" The healing of "one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb." In the similar event recorded in Matt. 9:32-34 the demoniac was dumb only. This case, though described so briefly, was "a striking miracle; in truth, three miracles in one,"—Rev. David Smith.

Dumb Devils.—Many, even of Christians, are troubled with dumb devils without realizing it. Our speech is a Godlike faculty, given us to be used for God, in prayer, to him—private prayer, family prayer, public prayer—in telling others about his goodness, in kindly praise of what is worthy and in bold condemnation of all that is evil.

What was the result of the miracle? As always in such cases, it was a savor of death to death and of life to life. On the one hand, "all the people" (the scribes and Pharisees) were amazed, as well they might be, "and said, is not this the son of David?" But, on the other hand, the Pharisees had an unfavorable interpretation. In their hatred of Christ they had come all the way from Jerusalem (Mark) to get material for some charge against him. "He hath Beelzebub," they asserted shamelessly (Mark).

Why did the Pharisees make this shameful charge? They were jealous of Christ, and envious of his power over human hearts and lives. The Crushing Reply.—Vs. 25-30. "The way in which Jesus dealt with these men is among one of the most wonderful features of the Gospel. It sheds light upon many things, but it sheds a peculiar light upon him, and upon the spirit that was in him."—Horton.

What was Christ's first argument? The argument of the "divided house." "Every kingdom," said Christ, "divided against itself, in civil war, is brought to desolation;" and every city or house (household) divided against itself by quarreling factions and family strife, "shall not stand."

What was Christ's second argument? The argumentum ad hominem. "If I by Beelzebub cast out devils," urged Christ, "by whom do your children," the Jewish exorcists, "cast them out?"

What was Christ's third argument? The argument of the castle, or palace. "Now how," Christ asks, "could I enter the castle unless I were stronger than Satan? And how could I regain the spoil that Satan has stolen, the rich spoil of health and character and happiness, without proving myself the enemy of Satan?"

What was Christ's fourth argument? The argument of the two sides: "He that is not with me is against me." An Awful Warning.—Vs. 31-37. The foregoing was a terrible warning, but Christ did not deem it severe enough.

What was Christ's fifth argument? That there is an unpardonable sin; blasphemy against the Holy Ghost.

What, then, is this blasphemy against the spirit? "It is no sudden, angry blasphemy. Whoever fears that he has committed it and prays for pardon is worlds away from it."—W. Robertson Nicoll, LL. D.

How did Christ himself illustrate these truths? By three condensed parables (vs. 33-37). The parable of the tree and its fruit; the parable of the viper, and the parable of the treasure.

Christ's Sufficient Attestation.—Vs. 38-45. The scribes and Pharisees answered Christ's declaration that he was of God and they, in their wicked opposition, from the devil, by demanding a sign, that is, some miracle that would confirm these tremendous claims.

Why was this, as Christ called it, a "wicked demand? Because Christ had given them signs in great plenty. What was the sign of the prophet Jonas that Christ offered? Christ's resurrection. As Jonas was three days and three nights in the body of the sea monster (for the word translated "whale" means "sea monster" in general) so Christ would "be three days and three nights" in the grave and then would rise from the dead.

Why was this a sufficient sign? It was the greatest miracle possible—greater than to raise others from the grave. It was the crowning evidence that our Lord was the divine fountain of life.

How Men Reject Christ.—They do not reject him immediately and consciously. They draw away from him by degrees and without realizing what is happening in their lives. Like the Pharisees, they gradually form the habit of pride and selfishness. Like Judas, they come insensibly to love money more than God and right. Like Pilate, they grow away from the love of truth and become devotees of popularity and power. Like Herod, they lose their purity and manliness day by day, and sink inch by inch into the pit of sensuality. Like the demoniac of Christ's parable, they simply fall to all their lives full of what is noble and pure.

Still Engaged in Relief Work. Lieutenant Commander Balkus, the American naval attaché in Berlin, is still engaged in superintending the relief work on account of the earthquake at Reggio, Italy, carried on by the United States government.

Conclusion. "Ours, Joe Cannon says he is only the servant of the house of representativeness,"—Rev. J. C. Cannon, Salisbury, Md.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Galena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after there was soreness in my right side. In a short time a lump came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. It kept growing larger and by fall it was as large as a hen's egg. I could not go to bed without a hot water bottle applied to that side. I had one of the best doctors in Kansas and he told my husband that I would have to be operated on as it was something like a tumor caused by a rupture. I wrote to you for advice and you told me not to get discouraged but to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did take it and soon the lump in my side broke and passed away."—Mrs. E. E. HUEY, 718 Mineral Ave., Galena, Kans.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

SMALL BOYS RIDING

Horses 2000 Miles, Aged Ten And Six, Journeying To New York.

The two small sons of United States Marshal John Abernathy, who are making a 2000 mile horseback journey from Guthrie, Oklahoma, to New York, to meet Colonel Roosevelt, are now several days out of Cincinnati, Ohio. Despite bad weather they are making rapid progress, and expect to reach New York long before the ex-President arrives.

The boys are Temple, aged 6, and Louis, aged 10. They have journeyed over the whole South alone and are the pride of the Southwest. They left Oklahoma City April 15, arriving at St. Louis ten days later. They passed through Cincinnati in a happy mood. They had no maps and trust to people along the way to direct them properly.

Marshal Abernathy and Colonel Roosevelt are close friends, Abernathy won fame as a wolf catcher by "catching them alive." He has no fear of them, but they soon began to avoid him.

Abernathy intended going abroad with Roosevelt, but his plans were knocked away by a marriage. He wed an eighteen year old school girl of Guthrie in 1909, and secured a divorce last week. The marriage occurred about the time Roosevelt sailed.

The boys have been receiving royal welcomes at all points along the route. There will be a celebration of a large part of Oklahoma when they return to Guthrie. It is expected that the return trip will also be made on horse back.

RACE LINE CONFUSED

In Louisiana—"Jim Crow" Laws Muddled By Court Decision.

"There are no negroes who are not persons of color, but there are persons of color who are not negroes." This is a salient sentence in a decision that has thrown the race laws of Louisiana into a state of chaos. All statutes made and provided to keep separate and distinct whites and negroes practically are affected by the ruling of the Louisiana Supreme Court that outcroons, quadroons and mulattoes are not negroes.

The Court holds that where the text of the law merely says "negroes" it cannot be applied to outcroons or other persons of mixed blood. It defines the negro as a member of the black or African race, having in his veins no trace of Caucasian blood.

Persons of lighter or darker skins than mulattoes can evade the laws by demanding that the State prove they are negroes.

DRAGGED HALF MILE

With Foot In Reins—Farmer Falls Asleep On Wagon And Falls Off.

Frank Taylor, 55 years old, a truck farmer of near River View, is in a critical condition at his home as the result of being dragged half a mile by his team.

The man's experience was a thrilling one, and it is considered marvelous that he was not killed outright. While he was returning to his farm last Thursday he fell asleep on his wagon seat and fell. In falling one of his feet became ensnared in the running gear of the wagon. The horses frightened, started to a run and did not stop until they turned into the Taylor barnyard.

Mr. Taylor was horribly bruised and cut and was taken from his perilous position in an unconscious condition.

Died.

Mrs. Lou M. Marchant, on May 9th 1910, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Meeks, 1017 W. Barre Street, Baltimore, Md. Daughter of the late John E. and Margaret Harris, of Hebron. Beloved mother of Hugh H. Trader, Mrs. Lula Bonghman and Mrs. A. W. Meeks. Widow of the late Joe Trader. Interment in London Park Cemetery.

KELLY

Mr. Elijah Parsons has made quite an improvement to his dwelling by painting the roof.

There's no mistake about it. The people can get their corn planted this season, as there are three corn planters in the neighborhood. Mr. Glen Perdue sells them at Salisbury.

Some strawberries have been shipped, but only a few crates.

There seems to be quite a large quantity of whortleberries this season. Some people seem to be sorry because they have seen Halley's comet. They think something bad is going to happen.

SHARPTOWN.

The Sharptown High School will close with literary and musical exercises of much merit at 8 P. M., May 20th, 1910; or, if rainy, on the next evening at the Knights of Pythias Hall. We hope to welcome and interest a large audience of our friends and neighbors with a rich entertainment, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the increase of the present valuable library for the use of our children in the future. Have your dimes and put them to compound interest for your children's use and yourselves. Come one, come all. For order of High School Committee.

Talbot's Recovery

By Richard Barber Shelton

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

The trees in the little park just across the avenue were coming to leaf. Tireless robins fitted to and fro among the branches, piping blithely in the first mellow warmth of the coming spring. Up and down the asphalt rolled trim carriages, whizzing motors, and smart high-seated traps, and in the carriages and the motors and the traps care-free people laughed and chatted and drank in the glory of the perfect day.

And because of all this, Talbot, stretched on the couch by the window of his apartment was heavy of heart. He had the grace to be aware that he should be thankful just to recline there and watch the sunshine and the robins and the whirl of traffic on the pavements below. He had been very ill, and even now the doctor was cautioning the nurse to keep Talbot very quiet and to be sure he didn't over-exert himself now that he was convalescing.

But the splendor of the day without bred in the pale young man a decided sense of unrest. He turned away his head and made a very face as he listened to the doctor's instructions and the nurse's assurances that he would follow them out to the letter. Then Talbot glanced at the calendar on the desk in the corner, saw that the date, the seventh of April, had a circle about it, and his lips set stubbornly. He had been striving might and main to get on his feet by that date, and here was the doctor telling the nurse that the patient must be kept very quiet for another two weeks at least.

The young man's mouth widened in a certain grim smile; but out of the corner of his eye he watched the doctor take his departure, and listened anxiously until the elevator gate down the corridor clanged and the car went Talbot wobbled out of it toward the smilt street.

At the curb he summoned a hansom, climbed in and gave an address to the caddy. Then the equipage rattled off, and Talbot settled himself on the cushions with a long sigh of relief. His little ruse had worked; he had made his escape from Jim's watchful eyes.

At the first corner they turned, he saw on the sidewalk Jim himself, hurrying along with a huge bundle of magazines. Talbot leaned far back in the hansom and chuckled again.

Up town they whisked through the mellow sunlight of the spring afternoon and stopped finally before a certain house. Talbot alighted, paid the caddy, gave him instructions to wait, and then mounted the steps and rang the bell.

A few moments later Talbot, seated in a big, dim library, heard the swish of skirts and a little stifled cry. He got unsteadily to his feet, just as a girl came into the room.

"Ted!" she was saying, alarm, reproof, wonder, all in her tones at once. "What does this mean? What are you doing here?"

"Barbara," he replied, "what day is this?"

"What day is it? Why, it is the seventh of April, but—"

"I told you three years ago to-day," said Talbot quietly, "that on the seventh of every April I should come to you to renew my pleading. Just once every year I said I should come, and on the seventh of April, I always keep my word."

"But Ted, you crazy boy, you have been ill. They told me you wouldn't leave the house for another month yet."

"Did they, indeed?" said he calmly. "Well, very probably I shouldn't have done so, but you see, this very important date happened to arrive on schedule time, and so—"

"Where was Jim? How did you manage to bribe him?"

"I didn't bribe him," Talbot laughed. "There are no sins of corruption on my head. I sent him out to get some magazines, and when he went I—well, sneaked and seems to be the word best fitting my exit."

"I shall telephone Dr. Harper at once," she declared severely. "I shall tell him that you have disobeyed orders; that you are here and—"

"Are you going to tell him why?" Talbot suggested.

The girl's face reddened. "No, of course not," she said.

"Well, you might also inform him that so long as I am here I intend to stay here until—well, until a certain matter has been pending altogether too long, is settled up either one way or other," said he. "Barbara, I am going to ask that question once more, and I want a final answer."

"And you don't care what sort of an answer it is, so long as it is final?" she mocked.

"Don't I?" cried Talbot getting to his feet, with a suddenness that left him faint and giddy. The girl saw him awaying. She ran to his side.

"Ted, Ted, you foolish, foolish boy," she said, "you are still very ill and weak, and to think of your coming here to-day."

"You haven't given me the answer," he said, trying to keep his voice steady. She pushed him gently back to his chair.

"The answer?" she said softly. "Why, why if you must have it, if you must—"

She turned away her eyes. "Oh, Ted, I didn't know until you were ill and in danger and—"

He caught her hand and drew her to him. Talbot was asleep on the couch. The doctor, whom the nurse had hurriedly summoned, was frowning in puzzled fashion.

"Crazy idiot," he snapped, "going out like that. By good rights it should be the death of him. But somehow he seems rather better for it."

"Yes, he certainly does seem better," said the mystified nurse.

Plan for Road Building. Judge William E. Porter of Lawrence county, Pa., has a unique plan for improving the roads. His plan is a jail on wheels; that is, a place where prisoners can be locked up at night and transported from place to place and employed in road making during the day. During the last summer he put his idea to a test and the results were eminently satisfactory. The prisoners graded away a high hill on the West Pittsburg road near Castle and constructed a cement bridge over a culvert 80 feet long.

The only expenses to the county from this bridge that would ordinarily have cost thousands of dollars was for the material and the services of an engineer. The men employed were sentenced from ten to ninety days and were informed that the sentence would be materially lessened if they would work on the roads and not attempt to escape. During last summer the men were employed without any guard and none tried to get away.

Strength of Habit. The telephone girl had married, well, says Lippincott's, and was stopping at a hotel with her husband. Rising at ten a. m. she rang the bell for the maid.

"Why didn't you wake me up, as I instructed you?" she asked. "I did, ma'am," answered the young woman, "but when I said, 'Seventy-three,' you replied, 'Line busy. Will call you up.'" whirling down to the street floor. Then he yawned wearily.

"Jim," he said to the nurse, "what is there to read?"

Instantly the nurse collected a pile of books and magazines and bore them to the couch. Talbot sniffed.

"Those!" he said in fine disgust. "Read 'em all long ago. They're no good anyway."

He pulled a handful of silver from his pockets. "Go out and get me some fresh ones," he instructed. "All you can pick up. And say, don't come back without a copy of that English review, the what-it-is-name; you know the one I mean." He added with a chuckle, well knowing the nurse would have to travel to a certain little shop a half mile or more distant to procure it. "Be sure to get that."

"Yes, sir. You shall have it if there's one in town," the nurse declared, changing his white coat for one of tweed and picking up his hat.

No sooner had the nurse departed than Talbot was off the couch. He was still rather weak. His legs were wobbly beneath him, and his head was altogether too much inclined to lightness; but he set his teeth, glanced at that date on the calendar, threw off the gorgeous bathrobe which awaited his fall frame, and began to dress with a nervous haste. Whatever else happened, he must be out of the apartment before the nurse returned.

Dressing proved rather more of a task than he had anticipated, but for all that, he stuck to it doggedly, and when he stood finally before the long mirror, surveying himself in the dress, clothes which had been hanging on their forms in the closet for the past two months, he was aware of a decided glow of triumph. He caught a car from the well-filled vase on the center table and stuck it jauntily into his buttonhole. Then, walking rather unsteadily and with eyes preternaturally bright, he slipped into the hall, went down the corridor and rang for the elevator.

The elevator boy stared at him in disbelief, whereupon Talbot chuckled delightedly, dropped an eyelid, and thrust a hand into his pocket. A moment later a bit of gold found its way into the palm of the elevator boy.

"You haven't seen me, of course, Mike," he suggested. "Do you get the idea?"

"Sure, I get it," Mike chuckled as the car stopped at the street door and

INTEREST IN COMET

Growing—Now Visible In The West After Sunset.

Although the earth began to pass through the tail of Halley's comet at 11.30 o'clock Wednesday, night the savants say it was hard indeed for the sharpest eye to detect the passage.

Astronomers announced that a clear view, if the weather be favorable, could be had toward the west after the setting of the sun—7.15 P. M.
Friday.

Comet parties are being arranged for days ahead, however, for by the end of this month and into June there will be excellent night views of Mr.
Halley's attraction now playing the Zodiac circuit. There will be no return date for seventy five years, or thereabouts, and the appearance takes the nature of a farewell.

It was 18,000,000 miles away from the earth Friday, which is a neigh-borly condition compared with what it will be in the succeeding days. This nearest approach to "nothing set in the midst of naught" as Prof.
Perovral Lowell calls it, will be some 40,000,000 miles in the offing by the end of May and moving at top speed.

Prot. S. A. Mitchell, of the department of astronomy of Columbia University, has left for Chicago where he will assist Professor Barnard in making observations at the Yerkes Observatory to determine just what the comet is made of. It is generally accepted that it is composed of cyanogen gas, which is poisonous enough, but so tenuous that it is not likely to harm even the most susceptible and imaginative.

"This is the first opportunity," said he "that has been presented of using the spectroscope for the analysis of Halley's comet, as the devices for determining the constituents of these bodies were not invented at its last visit. The Yerkes Observatory is the best equipped in this country, and there the delicate observations required can be successfully conducted."

Third Officer John Rettburg, of the Hamburg-American steamship Alle-ghany, from South America, has brought to port a story of insanity and ingenuousness in Haiti. A prominent voodoo doctor there is becoming wealthy through the manufacture and distribution, at $1 a box, of large, bitter pills which are guaranteed to protect the user from danger from the comet.

The native blacks, who are terrified by the celestial visitor, have grasped eagerly at the doctor's remedy. The pills must be taken every hour to be effective.

Members of the Holiness sect in Seaford and vicinity are greatly excited.

These religionists who are numerous are importing their friends to give up all worldly pursuits and prepare for the destruction of the world by fire. The members themselves are making arrangements to this end. A number of farmers in lower Delaware have been impressed by the earnest entreaties of the sect and have quit work.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT

Salisbury Awakened To Interest—Many Watchers View The Sky.

Salisbury and the County have joined in with the world at large in the interest being shown to Halley's Comet. Night after night our citizens—or some of them—have been up in the early hours of morn, straining their eyes for a sight of the heavenly traveler. For the most part, their labor has been thrown away, and as far as Salisbury is concerned, the comet has proven a dismal failure for those who were looking for strange and sensational happenings—such as we are wont to hear described by our fathers when other comets passed the earth.

There were a number however who feel very much relieved that the world did not burn up on Wednesday night, when according to the learned men of sky lore, we were to pass through the tail of the comet. On Wednesday evening our streets looked like a general picnic was in progress—filled with the anxious and the curious—as well as those who did not care for the comet but "had business down town."
It is reported that as a result of the star-gazing a number of collisions took place, so besides sore necks and sleepy eyes, some slight pains were felt the next morning in other parts of the body.

And after it was all over and as we supposed the earth safe from any harm, came the startling word from our scientists that the tail had not reached us yet, leaving everything in the same old unsatisfactory, unexcited stage that existed before. But we presume it has now passed by and is zooming rapidly westward.

Struck by a terrific gust of wind as the train emerged from a cut two and a half miles east of Onyenne Wells, Cal., Sunday night, nine cars of a Union Pacific freight train were blown off the track. Four of the cars were heavily loaded, the other five running light.

J. D. GALLOWAY ARRESTED

Found In Pocomoke City—Held For Grand Jury.

Some time last week Mrs. Parker notified the authorities here that her daughter, Pauline, aged seventeen years, was missing and that she believed her to be with Mr. Galloway, who has been employed by the Mutual Aid Insurance Company.

It appeared that she had consented to the adoption of her daughter by Mr. Galloway and that he had told her he was going to take the girl to his home in Baltimore where he has a wife and three children. Not hearing anything of her daughter's whereabouts she became suspicious that all might not be as it should be. Mr.
Charles E. Colver, who makes his home with them, at her request, got into communication with that city and found that nothing was known of the girl there. Knowing that Mr.
Galloway was working down the road,
Mr. Colver called up a friend in Pocomoke City and had soon located the couple who were stopping at a hotel in Pocomoke City. Acting upon this information he found Justice of the Peace, W. A. Trader, and swore out a warrant for Galloway's arrest on the charge of enticing from home the girl. Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Smith, Mr. Colver went down to Pocomoke on Monday morning, where they were joined by the Sheriff of Worcester County. They then went to the hotel and calling the proprietor told him their errand and accompanied by him went up to the room occupied by Mr. Galloway. On obtaining an entrance they found Mr.
Galloway and the girl.

According to the testimony at the hearing Mr. Galloway had registered at the hotel as father and daughter, and had engaged two adjoining rooms Nos 16 and 18. He gave as the reason for her presence in Pocomoke instead of being in Baltimore, that he had left Salisbury with the understanding that he would come back as soon as his business would permit and take the girl to his home in Baltimore as soon as he could; that on or about the 29th of April he had received a letter from the girl saying that she was so unhappy in her home that she was going to Pocomoke with him. This letter was received at Carvers P. O., and he immediately walked to Pocomoke, a distance of ten miles, so as to be there when she arrived; that not being able to leave for Baltimore at the time he decided to make the best of the situation he could and engaged board for himself and daughter; that his relations had never been any other than that of protector. Her presence in his room on the morning of the arrest was explained by him as being due to the fact that he was going to leave that morning on the 5.45 train—the arrest was between 5 and 5.10 A. M.—and as his watch was out of order he had gone down to see the time. While he was gone the girl knowing he was to leave and wanting to see him first, had gone to his room for a moment. The girl corroborated him as to their relations and in other respects.

While the mother testified that she had consented to his adoption of her daughter, there were points about the case however that led the Justice to the opinion that Galloway should be held for Court. He was held accordingly and placed under bail for $800.
Mr. Galloway gave bail.

At a special meeting of the City Council held Monday night the newly elected Mayor—Mr. Wm. F. Bonds—was sworn in. The ceremony was attended by a few outside of the members of the Council. The retiring Mayor—Mr. Harper was present and took advantage of the occasion to review the work done during his administration. He pointed that within the six years the revenues of the city had increased from $8,000 per year to $25,000 per year; that six years ago the city had a floating indebtedness of $18,000; that all this has been wiped out, and at the present time the city has $11,000 in cash, bills receivable amounting to about $4,000, and no indebtedness save the $50,000 street improvement bonds, which will be paid off by deducting a certain percentage from the city's annual income.

During the six years several of our principal streets have been paved with brick and bitulithic; other streets have been curbed and shelled; ten miles of cement sidewalks have been put down, and the sewerage system has been extended by the city at an outlay of several thousand dollars. In addition to all these improvements, the city paid in cash $15,000 for the extension of the bitulithic street to the city limits on Camden Avenue.

It was pointed out by the retiring Mayor, with evident satisfaction, that while all these things had been accomplished by the Mayor and Council the tax rate had been increased but 5 cents on the $100 for the past year to provide a sinking fund to take care of the street improvement bonds as they mature. "Our steady increase in revenue during the past six years," said the ex-Mayor, "is due to a steady and substantial growth in manufacturing industries and increase in the number of buildings erected, an average of 150 building permits being issued each year during the past six years."

"The financial condition now attained by the city is attributable in a great measure to the untiring efforts and zeal of the Council in seeing that all properties in the city were equitably assessed."

Mayor Harper wished his successor a successful administration. The new Mayor praised the successful administration of his predecessor, and promised his hearty co-operation in any movement tending to benefit the city, and that the progressive policies of the retiring administration would be continued.

Mayor Bonds will send in his list of appointments on the first Monday night in June when the new Council will organize.

At Monday night's meeting the Council appropriated $50 towards defraying the expenses of the firemen to the Firemen's Convention, which meets in Baltimore.

Delaware Produce Exchange

The Exchange controls a large portion of the shipments going from the State and its local agents are now loading cars daily at the different stations.

All farm products, generally known as produce, with the exception of milk, butter, eggs, poultry and live stock will be handled in season. Contracting with local owning houses for tomatoes and other vegetables and fruit crops, or disposing of any produce for local consumption, will not conflict with the Constitution and By-laws of the Association.

The Exchange is a farmer's organization, and in order to make it as successful and strong as the Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce Exchange, and other organizations of its kind throughout the country, it is very necessary that the farmers give their support and patronage.

The farmer, in order to get his portion of the profits for his labor, must get closer to the consumer; he must get away with the middle man; he must have his produce handled direct from the farm to the dealer, who distributes it among the retail trade, and the only way in which this can be accomplished is by thorough organization, close co-operation, a combination of products for shipment, and a centralization of marketing facilities.

The Delaware Farmers are at the present time allowing from 300 to 400 buyers, brokers and solicitors handle their products—the expense is entirely too great, therefore, it would be well for each and every grower to co-operate with the officers, directors, agents and local inspectors of the Delaware Produce Exchange, Inc., in making it a great, strong, profitable and independent organization of farmers.

Leather Belt 240 Feet, Largest Ever Made.

The largest and most expensive leather belt ever made has been completed in New York for the Great Southern Lumber Company of Bogalusa, La. It is of three piles of leather, 240 feet long, six feet wide and it took the hides of 540 Texas steers to furnish the material. It has been shipped to the owners, the express charges being $348.07.

The belt is intended for driving the large band saw, such as is used in the big lumber mills of the South and West. Its extraordinary length is due to the fact that the ground conditions of the mill are such that the engine has to be a good distance away from the mill property. If a belt that long was made any thinner or narrower it would not stand the resistance it encounters.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...
PASTOR RUSSELL'S DISCOURSE ON PENTECOSTAL BLESSINGS
 Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.
 GREAT WHITSUNIDE SERMON AT ALBERT MEMORIAL HALL.

London, Eng., May 15th. — Albert Memorial Hall, recognized as the largest modern auditorium in the world, was crowded today to hear Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle, New York, on "Pentecostal Blessings." Many of the most prominent stalls and boxes are owned by the nobility, many of whom occupied them, while others, unable to attend, graciously granted permission for their occupancy by others; but hundreds were turned away. The meeting was held under the auspices of the "International Bible Students Association." The speaker said:—

It is appropriate that on this day, celebrated and recognized as the anniversary of Pentecost, we should consider the import, and have well-in mind what we celebrate. I therefore take as my text, the words of St. Peter explanatory of the occasion: "This is that which was spoken by the Prophet Joel; And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall have the vision which your ancients dreamed of; and on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days my Spirit, and they shall proclaim." (I give you a preferred translation.)—Acts ii, 16-18.

St. Peter declares that the outpouring of the holy Spirit upon the waiting believers at Pentecost was mentioned by Joel the Prophet, but he does not say that all of the prophecy was fulfilled there and then. As a matter of fact we know that the holy Spirit was not then poured out on all flesh; it was poured out merely upon God's servants and handmaidens. A careful inspection shows us that there are two parts to the prophecy—(1) All flesh, and (2) God's servants and handmaidens. The order of the blessing is also stated. It will come upon all flesh after those days, but upon the servants and handmaidens in those days. The days mentioned evidently refer to this Gospel age—from Pentecost to the second coming of Christ.

In this period, of now nearly nineteen centuries, God's holy Spirit has been granted to his faithful ones, and to these alone. Only the fully consecrated have been accepted of the Lord as living sacrifices, and only such have been begotten of the holy Spirit, that they may be "new creatures in Christ." During all this time, the world has been unrecognized so far as the holy Spirit is concerned. Indeed, the Apostle after Pentecost went still further and declared that "the whole world lieth in the Wicked One." The only action of the holy Spirit must be, as in the case of Felix, to "reprove the world of sin and righteousness, and of a coming judgment." Our text declares, however, that the time is coming when the world will receive a share of the great Divine blessing, which was fully assured by the death of Christ. But its time of favor will be "after those days"—after this Gospel Age shall have come to an end; after the New Dispensation, the Millennium Age, shall have come. Let us note first the blessings belonging to this Gospel Age, in which we are especially interested, and subsequently let us notice the blessings that God has promised shall come to all mankind.

ties, through faith in the precious blood. The doors thus thrown open are not yet closed; but, as we sometimes sing, "That gate was left ajar for me."
 I rejoice with you today, fellow-students of the Word of God, that this great gift of God is still obtainable, that the time has not yet fully come when the door of opportunity to this high-calling must close. Close it will so soon as the full number of the "elect" shall be completed. Thank God that another door will then open; the door of Restitution to human perfection and to earthly life, grand beyond the power of description.
 But the blessed opportunity of this Pentecostal favor is still granted. As St. Peter declares in his epistle, "Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature" (II Peter i, 4). The door to this divine nature is the one that will soon shut, as our Redeemer illustrated in the parable of the "Wise and Foolish Virgins." When a sufficient number of "wise virgins" shall have entered to complete the bride class, forthwith the door of opportunity to that station, to that honor, to that glory, to that life, will be closed, and the elect will be numbered one more nor one less than the number originally foreordained.

one thing to do mighty works through his spirit, or power, and another matter to possess that spirit inherently—not directly as agents of Divine favor, but indirectly, as it is in reality that after our Lord breathed upon them the holy Spirit, symbolically imparting his Spirit, and commissioning them as his representatives to preach the Gospel, he told them, nevertheless, to tarry at Jerusalem until they were endued with power—the holy Spirit—until the Father should recognize them directly as his ministers and ambassadors.
 From the standpoint of Divine Justice, the Apostles and believers were still under the sentence of death as sinners at the time of our Lord's death, at the time of his ascension. Then he said to them, "It is expedient for you that I go away, for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you" (John xvi, 7). After the forty days, invisibly present with his disciples, except on a few occasions for a few moments each, our Lord ascended, and after ten days the holy Spirit upon the Father came upon the waiting household of faith. It evidenced to them the fact that their sins had been forgiven for Christ's sake, that they were justified freely from all things through his sacrifice, and that their consecration to sacrifice themselves had been accepted of the Father, and that henceforth they might count themselves as "joint-sacrificers with Christ," "members of his Body," members of "the Church of the First-born," whose names are written in heaven, members of the "Seed of Abraham" (Galatians iii, 29).

Keys of the Kingdom.
 The Master in speaking to St. Peter assured him that to him were committed the Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven, which signified that the way into the Kingdom at that time had not yet been opened, and that Peter would be honored by being the Lord's servant to do the opening work. There were two of these "keys," and therefore there were two opening works to be accomplished.

The church, under Christ her Lord, is God's kingdom, not yet set up or established "in power and great glory," not yet finished or inaugurated. The work of this Gospel Age is to "call" or invite such as have a hearing ear to become joint-heirs in this Kingdom, for which he taught us to pray, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven." So many as genuinely accept this heavenly calling, this "high calling" to glory, honor, and immortality, are probationary members of the Kingdom of Heaven. Such are Scripturally exhorted to continue faithful to their vows of consecration, and thus make their calling and election sure to a place in this glorious Kingdom, which will be inaugurated at the second coming of Christ. But the Lord instructs all saying, "Sit down first and count the cost" (Luke xiv, 28); "but if any man draw back, my father will have no pleasure in him" (Hebrews x, 39).

All who are thus spirit-begotten by the holy Spirit, John i, 13 during this age are promised a spirit birth, to spirit-being in the resurrection. We read, "It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption; it is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory; it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power; it is sown an animal body; it is raised a spiritual body. . . . For this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit it" (I Corinthians xv, 42-44, 50). The entire period between the first advent and the second advent of our Redeemer is set apart in the Divine program for this great work of selecting from amongst men the "little flock," such as shall be counted worthy of these honors on the spirit plane, and the privilege of participating with Messiah in his great work of the next age.

To the Jew First.
 Only Jews received the Pentecostal blessing. The Gentiles were excluded for three and a half years thereafter, in harmony with a Divine promise made to the Jewish nation. Then came the time for a similar privilege to be extended to the Gentiles, and the record informs us that Cornelius was the first Gentile to be received into spiritual relationship with God. He was a good man, and had been a good man for years; he prayed often, and gave much alms to the people, but still then, the middle wall of partition separated between Jew and Gentile. Even then he could not be received of God because of his works, or prayers, or alms, but must first be instructed respecting Christ and his redemptive work, and must believe and accept the same. "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts iv, 12), either in this age or in any other.

Thus it was that, in harmony with our Redeemer's promise, St. Peter used the "key" which introduced the Gentiles to the Pentecostal blessings. As he used the first key on the Day of Pentecost in explaining to the multitude of Jews the meaning of the Pentecostal blessings, and the privilege that they had of entering into the Divine favor thereby, so, at this later date, the Lord directed Cornelius to send for Peter, saying, "Send therefore to Joppa, and call hither Simon, whose surname is Peter; he is lodging in the house of one Simon a tanner by the seaside; who, when he cometh, shall speak unto thee" (Acts x, 22-24, 25). Thus were the two "keys" used by St. Peter, and thus were the doors of the Gospel favor—the high-calling of joint-heirship with Jesus—thrown open, both to Jews and to Gen-

COMMENCEMENT TIME.

Father Time will usher in next week the hours when our boys and girls will crown their work at the public schools. The great event of their school life will then be here.

Long have they waited and eagerly have they anticipated Graduation Day. It has been the prize constantly held up to their view, helping them in their hard work and struggles during the years they have been striving to obtain knowledge and intelligence at school.

Yet in a few years, unless indeed they are exceptions, the past few years will linger in their memory as the happiest period of their lives.

Commencement, the end of the old; the beginning of the new; the giving up of the old happy life, free from real care and true sorrow and taking up the old burden of the world with its responsibilities and cares, its worries, its troubles, its pleasures and its joys.

But what is the use of calling their attention to the burdens about to be assumed, the worries that all must have, the sorrows all must pass through, experience alone will teach them how to meet them when they come, and why should they not be left to enjoy the present—the great living present?

Let them tell us how things ought to be done. Let us listen to their discourses on science, politics, ethics and love. Have not we too seen the day when the rest of mankind knew but little? Can we not look back on the days when all things must in the very nature of things, stand at our back and call? The days when we were sure to rise to heights never before even dreamed of by man, in whatever field we might decide to cast our lot; when we felt within ourselves an almost divine power and essence which never existed in mortal before and an ability to handle anything in any field where mankind is wont to play or work.

In those days Napoleon was a great general—but wait; J. Pierpont Morgan a great financier—but give me a chance; Shakespeare a great poet, but I feel within myself a greater; great artists, sculptors, poets, philosophers, statesmen, builders, warriors, there have been, but I am equal to any one of these, or all combined, I feel within myself a Divine essence which never existed in man before.

God bless them, happy egotists, that they are. May they never lose their optimism. May their ideals never be shattered, or their confidence in self be shaken. May the close contact with the world bring them increased stores of wisdom and knowledge, and if they find it impossible to conquer, may they be content to work in the ranks doing their duty to all, serving to the best of their ability, their God, their family, their country and themselves. No man that ever lived, or that ever will live, can or will do more.

THE TRAVELERS' CLUB

Go Afired Again And Dispense An Evening's Entertainment To Friends.

The Traveller's Club, a literary club of Salisbury, noted for the originality of its members and their interesting and clever entertainments sustained the reputation of the Club last night at the Advertisement Party given at the home of the Misses Houston, Camden Ave.

The scene was supposedly a street in Mexico, during "Pat", this idea was carried out in the house decorations. The Mexican colors, green, white and red were profusely used. American and Mexican flags were draped about the rooms, green, white and red Japanese lanterns were suspended from the ceilings and posters representing various advertisements decorated the walls.

The members of the Club dressed to represent different advertisements and the impersonations were very clever.

American Food Products were represented by Miss Elizabeth Johnson. Armour's Beef was represented by Mrs. L. E. Williams.

Gold Medal Flour was represented by Mrs. Victoria Wallis. Sapollo was represented by Mrs. T. E. Martindale, Mrs. W. M. Cooper. Grape Nuts was represented by Miss Mary Lee White.

Old Dutch Cleaners represented by Mrs. M. V. Brewington. Van Camp's Pork and Beans was represented by Mrs. W. S. Gordy. Sheppard's Best was represented by Miss Maria Ellegood.

Cambell's Soap was represented by a charade, scene in Africa. Roosevelt's Camp, Mr. Cooper, Roosevelt, W. C. Humphreys, Kermit. Misses Mary Houston, Emma Powell etc.

A very attractive feature of the program was several choruses by a minstrel band, dressed in minstrel costume, carrying mandolin and guitar. The minstrels were Miss Maria Ellegood, Mrs. F. P. Adkins, Mrs. M. A. Humphreys, Carmelita, Messrs. F. P. Adkins, O. Edgar Laws and W. A. Sheppard, Bandalew.

A very clever parlor play was the last feature of an unusually interesting program. It was an amusing comedy, entitled "The Burglar Alarm". The parts were taken by Mrs. A. D. Toadvine, Miss Katie Todd, Miss Letitia Houston and Miss Elizabeth Wallis.

The County Commissioners

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday and transacted the following business:

Mr. Samuel Hobbs was before the board and asked that the county provide him an outlet to the new Parkersburg road. The board appointed S. P. Parsons, John Lank and Engineer Clark examiners to lay out a right of way and provide for any drainage necessary both to the road and the abutting property.

Ernest Morris was granted a pension of $3 per month order to Merrill Morris.

Messrs Cooper, Perry and Robertson were appointed a committee to have a cement floor laid in one of the rooms in the basement of the Court House to be fitted up for storage of records.

John White.

Friends of Mr. John White were surprised to learn of his death on Wednesday of this week. He had been a sufferer for several years. He was the son of Mr. E. T. White, of Fowellsville and was about 35 years of age. The funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon. His remains were interred in the family burying ground.

TO REPLACE RUBBER

Tires—New Invention Will Reduce Prices Of Automobiles. A new invention which may rival in importance his air brake has just been completed by George Westinghouse, the famous inventor. It is known as the air spring, and by it Mr. Westinghouse claims, the expense of running all rubber-tired vehicles will be decreased at least 60 per cent, since the rubber tire may now be dispensed with. It is claimed for the new invention that it will ultimately reduce the price of automobiles one half. The patent right to the air spring invention has been sold to the Westinghouse Machine Company, recently incorporated, in which Mr. Westinghouse is the majority stockholder.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

NEW IN FLAVORING

SOMETHING A LITTLE OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Ideas Evolved Always Worth Remembering as a Change From Old-fashioned Servings—Chopped Walnuts Best for Salad.

Frequently in making some familiar dish a good cook will discover some clever little variation in the way of flavoring, new ingredients or serving which add to the appearance and taste of the dish and tune the palate for it anew.

Thus, one clever woman in preparing salads composed of celery and walnuts, or celery, nuts and apples, discovered that if the nuts were first passed through the meat chopper and reduced to the consistency of coarse meal the flavor was greatly improved and the mastication process made easy.

She shreds the celery rather fine and arranges the minced nuts into a little mound on each portion, finishing with a spoonful of thick mayonnaise.

Women who are on the alert for novelties now vary the crostons served with soup by making them of rye bread instead of from the wheaten loaf. The crusts are trimmed away from a thick slice of the bread, the surface of which is then rubbed ever so lightly with a clove of garlic cut in half. After being cut into the conventional squares or triangles they are transferred to a baking dish and browned delicately in a quick oven.

Others vary the grape fruit salad now and then by the addition of stuffed Malaga or bothsome grapes. To prepare it this way seed the grapes and in each, replacing the seeds, put a blanched hazel nut. Mix with the grape fruit and serve on white lettuce hearts with French dressing. The juice of the shaddock, by the way, should be used instead of vinegar in the French dressing. This makes a salad attractive to the eye as well as delicious.

When other ideas for sandwiches fail, try the unusual and tasty ones made of baked beans. The tinned beans can be used, although the home product is preferable. Mash the beans through a wire sieve and work into a soft paste, using a few drops of warm water if necessary. Spread on tiny oblongs of buttered white bread and press together.

Or press through the sieve in the same way and moisten a little with any favorite condiment, spread on small, thin slices of rye bread and form into sandwiches as before. The latter recipe makes a "hot" and substantial sandwich for buffets, stag functions, etc.

One woman who, her friends think, has inspirations for cookery, never makes stuffing for poultry without including in it a little chopped sausage. Usually the sausage is cooked, but of late she has discovered that the raw porcine product is even better. This makes a rich and very "filling" stuffing for either turkey or chicken, one which will meet with favor among folk of hearty appetite—and strong digestion.

For an old-fashioned treat which is so old that it will be new to many of the present generation, make five cornmeal griddle cakes the size of a breakfast plate and put one upon the other with shaved maple sugar and plenty of butter between. Cut in triangular shape like pie and serve thus.

When something out of the usual run is desired for a home luncheon try creamed hazelnuts. Shell the nuts, blanch and boil until soft, then cover with cream sauce flavored delicately with sherry. This dainty can be served in individual ramekins or in paper cases. The flavor is new and appetizing.

Serve pineapple ice cream or water or water ice in "surprise style" for the next guest luncheon, for which novel touches are in order. This is done by cutting the top carefully away, including the green spray itself, and scooping out the pulp with a spoon. Fill with water ice or frozen pineapple made from the pulp, replace the top and bring to table flaunting its green top as before.

Or, instead of the water ice for the filling, use a delicate cream made by this formula: Stew the pulp of the pineapple, sweeten well, strain through a press, add juice of one lemon and freeze. When partly frozen stir in a cup of whipped cream and freeze again until stiff.

Squash Biscuit.

One cup of sifted squash, one small half-cup of sugar, two tablespoons melted butter, one level teaspoon of salt, half cake compressed yeast, dissolved in one eighth cup warm water; knead in as much flour as the mixture will hold. No water required other than what the yeast cake is dissolved in; let rise till very light, then mould into small biscuits; let rise again, and bake in a rather slow oven.

Keeping Bread Board Clean.

The ideal meat and bread board is a marble slab, but when wood must be used care should be taken to keep it in a sanitary condition.

It should be scrubbed with hot water each time after using, and once a day should be rubbed off with the surface of a cut lemon, then rinsed thoroughly in cold water. This keeps the surface white and removes grease.

Scorched Linen.

For a scorch, wet the spot, rub with soap, and bleach in the sun.

Still Engaged in Relief Work.

Lieutenant Commander Belknap, the American naval attaché in Berlin, is still engaged in superintending the relief work on account of the earthquake at Reggio, Italy, carried on by the United States government.

Consistent.

"Well, he holds it over them as if he were their boss."

The Story of an Engagement Ring

By Ramy Nihlem

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Is this Mr. Howard?" Lawrence Howard looked up. Upon seeing a pretty young woman standing in the door, he arose.

"Yes," he answered. "Come in."

The girl came quietly forward and took the seat he offered her.

"I have come in answer to your advertisement for bookkeepers. I saw your father downstairs and he sent me to you."

"Do you want a place?"

"Yes," she answered, simply.

"Where were you last employed?"

At this the girl colored slightly and answered that she had no practical business experience; but that she had always kept the books at home, and that she really knew bookkeeping.

After some more talk, Howard agreed to take her name and address and to let her know if she were needed.

Julia, she said, was her name; and when he asked the very inquisitive and entirely unnecessary question as to her age, she said she was 21.

When Miss Burling left the office, young Howard went with her to the door and followed her with his eyes down the hall. She was an interesting girl, and Lawrence Howard was always looking out for interesting persons.

Although, after four years in college, he had been made junior partner in his father's business, he was still a student. He enjoyed the unusual in human nature. This Miss Burling seemed to him unusual. She was refined and gentle, and the changing color in her face made her pretty. She said that she had never been employed, and Howard could have guessed as much. "Likely," he thought, "she doesn't know a thing about it; but I'll try her."

So Miss Burling entered upon her duties at the office of Howard & Howard. From the first she showed that she understood the important points in her work, and the minor details she grasped readily under young Howard's terested in her. He knew as he walked home, happy in the memory of her smile, that that smile was to him more than beautiful.

Summer had come and gone. Miss Burling had returned to the office after a two weeks' holiday. Lawrence noticed that she still wore black, and that diamond solitaire. She had told him, he remembered, that first evening when he visited her little sitting room, that she had not had any company since she had been living there. He adopted the plan of calling to see her on Monday evening of one week, Tuesday of another, Wednesday of another, and so on, until he had assured himself that she had no regular and permanent visitor. He had sometimes visited her unexpectedly, and though he often found girls with her, never a trace of her lover could he find.

One evening when he called in the early spring she was dressed in a soft pink gown. Lawrence never had seen her in anything but black and he made no effort to conceal his admiration now.

"Oh," she said, coloring as she noticed his fixed gaze, "I felt so queer putting this on. But I thought that I just couldn't wear black clothes for another whole year, and I can't afford to buy any more new garments until next year. I know mother herself would want me to do just this way about it."

This was one of her occasional and charming bursts of confidence, and this time Lawrence found courage to take advantage of her mood.

"Was it for your mother?" he asked, tremulously.

"Yes, she died just two months before I came to the office. She had been ill for many years before she died, and that's why she could not save so that I might have something after she died. My mother's mother died when mother was just a little girl, and grandfather, when he was very old, after mother married, married a young widow with a little boy. When he died, left his property to be divided between his wife and my mother, with the provision that mother's portion should, at her death, go to this stepson and his heirs. This my grandfather did as a punishment for my mother. He had never wanted her to marry, and he thought that my father, a poor musician, wanted her only for her money. So he made this arrangement in order that he should not have the money after my mother's death. But father died long before mother—long before I was born, and his sudden and horrible death was what shocked mother so that she was always an invalid. So I have nothing; the money went to grandfather's stepson."

The girl paused a moment to collect herself, and Lawrence thought that her unusual mood of confidence was over. But after a little pause she began again:

"The night she died—I remember so well the scene—she called me to her bedside and wept bitterly, because she said I had to go out into the world alone and make my own way. She was always a shrinking woman, and she couldn't understand how I could get along."

Here Miss Burling raised her hand from the table and fingered her ring fondly.

"But she gave me this ring, her engagement ring, and told me always to wear it as some slight protection in the bustle of business life."

The girl turned her head away and dropped her face in her hands to hide her tears. Almost at the same instant she was aware of an arm around her, supporting her, and she heard: "Oh, Julia, then you are not engaged?"

The girl looked up with a startled expression. "Engaged? Why, no."

"Then, Julia, I love you. You are willing to wear another ring, a ring for my sake, Julia?"

"Yes, Lawrence, if you give me time to think," she said, smiling.

Matrimony and Money.

Can a man marry on an income of $6 a week? Of course he can. He can marry on $5 a week. That's what Horace Greeley did, and he got along pretty well. But the man who tries to keep a wife on a $6 income is apt to lay up trouble instead of treasure. Judge Foster of New York says it is a crime. A young man who arranges $1 a day got married. After a few weeks he found that $6 was not enough; his wife left him, returned to her parental home and demanded that he pay her two dollars a week, generously agreeing that he might take the remaining four dollars and indulge in riotous living with it if he liked, and that is how they got into court, where he refused to divide, and the judge refused to do anything but lecture them. He courted the lightning by saying: "This rushing into marriage may appeal to the president of the United States, but it does not appeal to any one who weighs the evidence and acts judicially."

How many marriages would there be if every man "weighed the evidence and acted judicially"? It is a lover's leap for most of them. Youth is confident and hopeful. It dares do anything. Love is not calculating or mercenary; it is not even prudent.—Nashville American.

An Off-Hand Archeologist.

"I wonder what these figures signify," said the professor.

"Those carved representations of fighting men."

"Yes."

"Oh, you've probably gotten hold of some prehistoric sport page."

Close Realism.

"I consider this graphophone singing just as realistic as the opera."

"There's a slight buzz."

"Yes; that reminds me of the talking in the boxes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

as cool and white as a dairy. No smell, no smoke, no heat, no dust. No old-fashioned contrivances. The is the latest practical, scientific cook-stove. It will cook the most elaborate dinner without heating the kitchen.

Boils, bakes, or roasts better than any range. Ready in a second. Extinguished in a second. Fitted with Cabinet Top, with collapsible rests, towel rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You want it, because it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no smell, no smoke; and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enameled chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM.

It is An Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy. The cause of Rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be removed from the system so regulated that no uric acid will be formed in excessive quantities. This is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with liniment will not cure, affords only momentary relief at best, causes you to delay your recovery, allows the malady to hold on for years. Liniments may ease your pain, but they will not cure Rheumatism. The only way to change the flow of uric acid is to discover a perfect and safe cure, which is called "Rheumoidin." In hundreds of cases, it has effected a permanent cure; we believe it will cure Rheumatism "gets at the source," sweeps the poisons out of the system, cleans up the stomach, regulates the bowels, and makes you well. All Rheumatism "strikes the root of the disease," removes its cause. This splendid medicine is sold by druggists and dealers in bottles and a bottle. In bottles and a bottle. Get a bottle from the source if you write to Hobbs & Co., Baltimore, Md. Trial bottle furnished.

HER KINDLY VERDICT

Naturally one would expect the Lakehurst Country club to be at Lakehurst. That was why, when the conductor of the suburban train shouted "Lakehurst!" Dilkins arose and got off. The sight of the station of stucco and the gravel walks was cheering, for somehow it seemed that with all this up-to-dateness for a start it promised well for a good dinner, and Dilkins was hungry.

When the Spaffords had invited him to dine with them Sunday at the Lakehurst club Spafford had said: "You know where it is, don't you?" Dilkins, well aware that for one to betray ignorance of the Lakehurst club was to announce one's self outside the social pale, had answered airily that of course he knew. He accepted the reminder that if he missed the 12:30 train he would be late for dinner with the air of being perfectly familiar with the train service in that direction. Spafford had added slyly that Miss Higgins, who was to make the fourth of the little party, was a mighty pretty girl.

Of course, if Dilkins had inquired of the station agent it would have been different, but spying what evidently was a large clubhouse a quarter of a mile away, he set out briskly in its direction. He was enjoying himself hugely. He could not have been doing it any better had he dined and golfed at the Lakehurst club for years.

The deferential man in buttons at the club door fitted into the picture and the man in the checkroom completed Dilkins' peace of mind. He liked things to be in keeping. The Spaffords were not in sight, but then their machine might have broken down.

Dilkins wandered back and forth uncomfortably. He noticed the clerk at the desk furtively discussing him with the man in buttons. Finally, as Dilkins passed the desk in his peregrinations, the clerk coughed.

"Er—were you expecting to meet some one?" he inquired.

"Yes," said Dilkins. "The Spaffords. I'm to dine with them."

"Spafford?" repeated the clerk slyly. "There isn't any Spafford belonging to the club!"

When Dilkins and the clerk came to understand each other Dilkins had learned that he was not in the Lakehurst club. He was in the Star Tennis and Golf club at Lakehurst—and the Lakehurst Country club was at the next station, Wilmore. Just why it was at Wilmore when it was named after Lakehurst the clerk could not tell the indignant Dilkins. He believed it had been built before the railroad station was established and somebody who thought the spot looked as though it ought to be named Wilmore was responsible for the complication.

Dilkins got his coat and hat and was respectfully bowed out, feeling like a horse thief. He walked very hurriedly to the stucco station to wait for the next train, a half-hour off. He felt very bitter. Still, maybe dinner would be late and he would not have to reveal his crude mistake. Since Miss Higgins was a very pretty girl, she was likely to be intolerant of mistakes, and he hated to be laughed at. Besides, it would show that he not only was ignorant of the Lakehurst club, but that he had been making a cheap blurt.

He was in a state of nervous tension when he finally alighted at Wilmore. He sighed with relief at the sight of a vehicle labeled "Clubhouse bus" and climbed in. This would expedite matters. If worst came to worst, he could tell the Spaffords that he had missed the 12:30 train and had to take the next one. Well, he had taken it, hadn't he?

Engaged in these reflections, Dilkins did not realize at first that the bus had really stopped.

Dilkins, speechless, looked. It was indeed the small hotel of Wilmore. There was no sign of its being even the remotest imitation of a clubhouse—and Dilkins was so hungry by this time that he could have eaten tin cans with a relish.

"I want the Lakehurst clubhouse," he explained, grimly.

"Oh," said the driver, "that's a mile down the other road—just three blocks the other side of the station!"

The driver took Dilkins to the clubhouse for $2. It was then 2:30 o'clock.

Dilkins found the Spaffords and Miss Higgins. They all wore the contented, complacent and tolerant look of those who have dined well, thus making Dilkins feel younger than ever.

Just as he had finished an elaborately varnished tale of missing the train, Churkotta, a mutual friend, stropped up. "Hello, Dilkins," he said. "Didn't I see you getting off the 12:30 at Lakehurst and heading toward the Star club? I didn't know you ever went there!"

Dilkins after one sly glance at the innocent Churkotta, turned humbly to the Spaffords. "Say," he murmured, "I'm not even a good liar. Anyhow, if I didn't know where your confounded old club was, you might forget it and take me out and feed me before I die at your feet!"

"I think the whole thing is deliciously funny, Mr. Dilkins!" cried Miss Higgins, who was indeed distractingly pretty.

"Do you?" asked Dilkins, thankfully. "Well, I feel better already!"

Society Notes. Reverend Fourthly seeks the seaside. Reverend Fifth the mountains crown. Reverend Tenthly goes to Europe. Only G. Nick stays in town.

IN SELF-DEFENSE.

What was that poor young man to do, beloved by all the fair ones—Pursued by Folly, Bessie, Sue, Such lovely girls and rare ones? Him wondrous Wanda wiled to win And Ida fondly eyed him; 'Mid Annie's animated dia Meek Molly mollified him.

Then saucy Sarah sallied out And Dolly dallied near him, And Rosie rose with smile and pout Intent to commandeer him; But Malissie grew amazing bold And Katie tried to catch him, While Tessie with her tresses gold And Madge were mad to match him.

Then Hattie set her cap at him And Amy aimed her glance, With Lucy's smiles let loose, while slim Sweet Ada made advances. The young man flew far away, Though Dora quite adored him. He went to darkest Africa, Because the women bored him.

HELPING HIM.

Percy Stutter—Miss Bub-bub-Brightly, will you bub-bub-me-m-m-my-wub-wub-er—that is, I-lul-lul-love—Dolly Brightly—You must give me time to consider, Mr. Stutter. In the meantime, perhaps, you will be able to say it.

His Version of It. My wife says her hat's a dream, I say so, too, for I've a habit of dreaming the night around. After dining on Welsh rabbit.

His Charity. He was poor, but otherwise honest, and he had just proposed to the heiress.

"Are you sure," she queried after the manner of her kind, "that you do not want to marry me for my money?" "Of course I don't," he replied. "I am anxious to marry you because I haven't the heart to let you become an old maid merely because you happen to have a paltry half million."

An Early Burial. Old Peter Minit was burying the island of Manhattan from the Indians for a few trinkets.

"Ah, boys," he said to his followers, with a significant wink, "this spot will some day be famous for skin games. I have started the ball rolling."

And then he cut down some trees and staked off Wall street.

English Joke. Londoner—Brah love, yes, over in our country the upper classes are much attached to a fish called the sole. Blooming fine fish, too.

American—How funny! That sounds like a shoemaker's report. Londoner—What, my dear man? American—Why, the upper are attached to the sole.

One Thing He Could Do. Green—I'm looking for a plumber to do some work for me. Do you happen to know of one that does satisfactory work?

Brown—I know of one that I can guarantee to fill the bill; but I don't know how satisfactory his work will be.—Yonkers Statesman.

ENCOURAGEMENT.

"Ah," she said, with a sigh, "I shall never marry."

"Oh, come," he answered, thinking to encourage her, "don't say that. I've seen plenty of plainer women who had husbands."

Always the Way. He worked for sixteen hours a day With perseverance plucky. And when at last he won success The world said he was lucky.

Unreasonable. "I see where a woman shot twice at her husband because he insisted on playing a graphophone when she wanted to sleep."

"Now, that's just like a woman! I'll bet when she has anything to say, she says it if it takes all night."

It is, indeed. Gunner—Nowadays when you are disappointed in love it is the fashion to become a mountain climber.

Guy—Well, that is better than becoming a porch climber.

The Way It Looked to Him. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge of the defendant in a case of assault and battery. "I think I must be guilty, your honor," answered the defendant. "You think so?" said the judge. "Don't you know?" "Well, your honor," answered the prisoner, "it's like this: The plain- and I was the only one in the room, and the first thing I knew was that I was standing up, and he was doubled up under the table. So I guess you'd better call it guilty."

CANDY FAVORS MUCH LIKED

Novelty Has Proved Itself Decidedly Popular for Entertainments of This Season.

Another novelty for the table is candy in the form of very realistic-looking bunches of grapes. The grapes, which are the edible part, are mounted upon an artificial stem, also very natural looking, with green grape leaves attached. Each candy grape is covered with waved paper, so thin that it is practically invisible. This keeps the soft candy dust-proof and otherwise intact until it is to be eaten. The grapes come in three shades, representing the malaga, concord and catwax varieties. Tied with ribbon in the appropriate shade a bunch would make a charming favor to lay at the cover of each guest, at a woman's luncheon, for instance.

Another popular new candy is known as "squares." This is in brightly colored transparent cubes about the size of a caramel, and comes in pink, yellow, violet or green. Arranged on a dainty bonbonniere dish the "squares" make a striking addition to the table scheme.

Delightful, too, for a children's party or for a luncheon where a marine motif is carried out are taffy candies shaped like tiny cockle shells in different pale shades.

In a Girl's Bedroom.

Extremely pretty cover draperies for girls' bedrooms can be made from flowered organdie combined with plain lawn or Swiss in the predominating color of the figured material. The plain goods is used for the borders or hems, the width depending upon the size of the article in trims. For instance, curtains should be finished with a wide, band-like hem, while the bedspread requires a border somewhat narrower. For pillow slips, chair cushions, bureau scarfs and small table covers a strip measuring about one to one and a half inches wide will answer.

To Clean Swanedown.

Swanedown can be cleaned in the following way: Tack the strips firmly to a piece of muslin or calico. Make a lather of soap jelly and water, just hot enough to bear the hand in comfortably, and add a teaspoonful of liquid ammonia. Place the swanedown in this, leave it for a few minutes, squeeze up and down, and without wringing, put it into another lot of suds prepared in the same way. If it still looks soiled, use a third lot of suds, then rinse in clear water and hang in the air to dry, giving it an occasional shake. When quite dry rip it from the muslin and rub the tack gently between the hands to soften it.

The New Vell.

It originated in Paris, but you need not wait upon the pleasure of the French or the amiability of the shipping clerk to adopt the very attractive and convenient vell for this spring.

The mesh should be of a coarse silk fillet, the threads of a gossamer-like texture. Beauty without the trip to the oculist is promised.

But let's go to Heccuba. The main point is that the vell is divided in front, falling from the turban in straight lines at each side and the back.

Training the Eyebrows.

For stubby eyebrows a formula for a handline is to dissolve two ounces of powdered gum arabic in a gill of rosewater; add a drop of aniline dye, and this may be kept on during the day, as well as at night until the hairs are properly trimmed.

SHE'S 100, BUT COOKS

Miss Nancy Kelley Astonishes Relatives On The Shore.

Few women in the country possess the strikingly remarkable qualities of Miss Nancy Kelley, the oldest woman on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, who only a few days ago on the occasion of her one hundredth birthday, prepared with her own hands a sumptuous dinner for a number of her friends and relatives who came to her home on Hog Island to spend the day with her.

According to the most authentic records Miss Kelley was born 100 years ago, May 14, on Hog Island, where her parents have since died.

Since the death of her brothers she has been doing the housekeeping, doing the chores about her little home "tending" a small crop of corn each year in fact living as up to date as many of her most prosperous neighbors. To plow, hoe corn, clean land in fact, do anything that the average farmer should do. Miss Kelley's memory is good, her five senses keen. She has never been seriously ill and has never taken medicine of any kind for sickness. She can relate with precision happenings of her early childhood.

She has never left Hog Island on any occasion, never attended a performance of any kind and has never seen a trolley or steam car. She is doubtless one of the most remarkable persons living today and in all probability will live many years longer.

Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs, for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas medicines made with mercury merely dry up the secretions and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real remedy, not a delusion. All druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 66 Warren Street, New York.

DEMOCRATS SURE

Of Congress. Leaders Confidently Predict Majority Of From Thirty To Forty After Fall Elections.

Democrats are enthusiastically hopeful; Republicans are desperately determined. This expresses briefly the situation in the opposing Congressional campaign committees in Washington. The fight for the control of the next House of Representatives is already under way, and from now until election day next November each side will strive to take advantage of every political situation.

"Millions of pages of campaign literature are being turned off the printing presses and distributed broadcast throughout the country. The Democrats are on the offensive and the Republicans frankly admitting that theirs is an educational campaign, are on the defensive.

The general situation throughout the country has not yet shaped itself sufficiently to permit an intelligent survey, or even to warrant a guess at the outcome of the election next November, according to prominent Republican leaders.

Democratic leaders, on the other hand, declare that the country has already given some very remarkable demonstrations of the State of mind of the voters, and they point to a significant of this contention in the results in the special elections in Missouri, Massachusetts and New York. The Sixth Missouri district, to be sure, is a strong Democratic district, but Democrats regard it as worthy of more than passing notice that Representative Dickinson was elected to succeed the late Judge De Armond by a majority twice as great as any majority given De Armond, popular as he was. The Fourteenth district in Massachusetts, where Eugene N. Foss established the precedent of being the only Democrat ever elected from that district, is another source of gratification to the Democrats and is being referred to as indicative of the state of mind of the country at large.

More minds of the Democrats was the election in the Thirty-second Congressional district of New York of James S. Havens to succeed the late James Brock Perkins, George Aldrich, Republican boss, was supposed to hold his district in the hollow of his hand, but the Democrats prevailed.

Each of these special elections is regarded by James T. Lloyd chairman, of the Democratic Congressional Committee as the forerunner of the success which he confidently believes will attend the Democratic party next fall. Mr. Lloyd is looking to the North, to the insurgent country in the Middle West and to the Far West for the gains which will give his party control of the House in the Sixty-second Congress.

"We expect to secure our gains," said Mr. Lloyd today, "in the next Congress from the following States: Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Montana and California.

"At the present time we expect a majority of between 30 and 40 members. The Republican majority at present is 43, and indications now are that this majority will be very nearly reversed."

While Mr. Lloyd's statement is far from specific as to the number of Representatives, he expects to gain in the States named and with regard to the Republicans now in the House whom he hopes to displace, the Republican Congressional Committee is, to say the least, extremely cautious.

"I believe," said Chairman McKinley, of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, "that the Republican majority in the next Congress will be 33 or 36. I do not think the conditions throughout the country have yet shaped themselves sufficiently to justify a more elaborate statement."

Red Men To Have Glass Adoption.

At a regular meeting of Modoc Tribe of Red Men, of this city, held last Monday night, a move was inaugurated to increase the membership to 300 by having a glass adoption on Monday night, June 6th. To this end there were two membership teams selected, consisting of ten each, and a prize offered by the Tribe to the team bringing in the greatest number of candidates for adoption. The captains of the teams are Mr. Charles Wilkins, who is Sachem of the Tribe and Mr. George Hill, Senior Sagamore. Both of these captains are very popular young men and a very interesting contest is anticipated. Modoc Tribe is a very progressive order and well fixed financially, their assets amounting to about $5000. The Tribe pays $4 per week sick benefits, $5 for nurse and $150 at death. The admission fee is $5, and the dues are $5 per year. Application for membership will be received for this class up to the evening of June 6th, at which time the whole number received will be taken into the Tribe.

BIG TOMATO DECREASE

In Canning—Baltimore Dealers Pleased But Eastern Shoremen Bemoan Fact.

Although tomato packers throughout the Eastern Shore of Maryland are bemoaning the fact that this season's pack will fall short of what has been the average for the last several years, Baltimore dealers in canned goods claim that this condition will have a good effect on the business for packer, dealer and grower.

Reports from the Eastern Shore are to the effect that the canners in that section of the State will pack only 40 per cent to 50 per cent of the amount of last year. The large crop for the last two years and the desire of farmers to receive high prices for the tomatoes at the canning houses are given as the reasons for the failure of many growers to figure on a large acreage this year.

Less Land For Tomatoes.

John W. P. Insley, of Baltimore and Bivalve, who has for some years been engaged in the packing business, says: "The lower counties of the Eastern Shore, which contribute so largely to the tomato pack of the country, show that the farmers have decided to give less land to the production of tomatoes and devote the space to the growing of something that will bring greater financial returns. Through Dorchester, Wicomico and Somerset counties the canners have contracted for only about one-half of an average crop, and the output will be extremely small from that section this year.

"Only a short time ago a prominent canner of Dorchester County who usually runs his several canning factories to their greatest capacity told me that he had not contracted for a single acre of tomatoes and doubted that he would open the doors of his factories for another year. It is not only in Dorchester county that this condition of affairs is prevalent, for I have noticed that the entire Eastern Shore seems to be willing to slow down on the tomato business, for this season, at least, and devote the land to raising some more profitable product.

"The failure of Maryland canners to pack their average output of tomatoes will make a serious deficit in the business carried on in this State. The counties of the Eastern Shore contribute a large part of the entire tomato pack of the country and the many hundreds of canning houses which run each year furnish employment to thousands of laborers, who depend almost entirely upon this employment for their sustenance during the summer months."

"Thos. J. Meehan, president of the Thos. J. Meehan & Co., Baltimore canned goods brokers, said that the decrease in acreage for the growing of tomatoes in the State this year had been advocated by the canned goods trade. "The two last seasons have been great ones," he said, "and the market has been well supplied with canned tomatoes. Last year the canners were obliged to pay $8 and $9 a ton for tomatoes, and with a full market, the profits to the packer were exceedingly small. This year the farmers and growers are looking for a continuance of this high price for tomatoes and the canners find that they cannot pay $9 a ton and make any money."

HAPPY COMMENCEMENT

Days Come To Their Conclusion For 1910 W. H. S. Graduates In Ulman's Opera House.

The exercises relating to the graduation of pupils from our High School passed off in a way to reflect general credit upon the participants and those who planned the entertainment. Class day exercises on Tuesday evening were pronounced a decided success, from the address of the President, Mr. Irving Phillips, the reading of the minutes by Miss Etha Measick, to those other time honored addresses relating to the past, present and future. Miss Ruth Kennerly gave the class a happy and amusing picture of their past, while Miss Ruby Hayman forecasted their future. Their last will and testament was drawn and read by Miss Ethel Day. Miss Dorothy Mitchell made each member of the class as well as others of the faculty a useful and some time much needed present. The evening's entertainment was wound up by the production of a farce entitled "The Real Thing," a very clever play which was skillfully and intelligently portrayed.

On Wednesday the real day arrived, the one looked forward to with joy and perhaps some trembling by the happy graduates. The day of the parents' pride and to all those fortunate enough to be present with pleasure.

The following programme was carried out, and the graduates in the subject matter of their essays and the manner of their delivery showed that they had well earned the diplomas which Prof. Holloway in few happy remarks handed around.

Benediction, Rev. Chas. Hewitt.

Selection, Orchestra.

The annual banquet was held on Thursday evening.

The address of Prof. Green is entitled to special mention, as it was one of the best ever delivered on an occasion of this kind. The scheme was quite original in carrying out the ideal of school and an arithmetic lesson. Mr. Green laid particular stress on these four things: Just to add to our store of knowledge, subtract our vices, multiply our virtues and divide our blessings and time with others. The class of 1910 will do well to follow the advice of Prof. Green.

Revelle Caught.

"Bob" Revelle, Jr., the party who was arrested several days ago on the charge of selling liquor and who made a sensational dash for liberty as the jail doors were opening to let him in, was arrested in Laurel, Delaware this week. Knowing that the officers here were so well known to Revelle that it would be a hard matter for them to catch him, it was decided to send some other to look for him. Mr. Jno. Darby, constable at Hebron went up to Laurel where it was understood he was hiding and finding him in the ivy stables placed him under arrest. Revelle first said he would resist being brought to Maryland unless requisition papers were first obtained, it is understood however that this would not be necessary.

Two Panics Created By "Crew" of Motorboat

A somewhat amusing incident, yet one which might have been fraught with serious consequences, occurred when Mr. Henry Lloyd, Jr., of Cambridge, took a few friends, including two young ladies, for a ride in his new motor boat. The crew of the vessel was Mr. Lloyd's setter dog. Off Cook's Point the canine got his caudal appendage caught in the machinery and its howls caused the impression that he had rabies until his plight was discovered, and the ladies were on the point of jumping overboard. To release him the engine had to be stopped, and the boat got in the trough of the waves, which were rolling high, and there was a second panic among the voyagers until the engine was started and the boat again answered her helm.

GET THE ESSENTIAL

FIRST THING TO BE CONSIDERED WHEN SHOPPING.

Certain Articles Must Be Provided and the Accessories Will Follow—Most Suitable Frocks for the Young Girl.

The young girl who cannot afford too many changes will be well supplied if she has a one-piece dress in a pretty fold of some sort, a pongee or tailored cotton dress, and a little top-coat in the new short length. Of course, there are other things to be desired—shirtwaists, hats, and the dainty neck fixings now so essential to a smart appearance—but, after all, if the big things are accomplished the little ones come somehow. So, in doing her buying, let the ambitious mother look first for the garment that cannot be done without, and then do her best to match it later on with the needed details. Often, in this way, the necessary fixings can be had cheaper, for prices drop when the season is on the wing, and there is always some chance of never having the needed garment of importance if the minor thing is bought first.

The little frocks of pongee or Rajah silk supplied for young girls lead themselves in combination with any and everything, but though colors may go with them according to Mme. Mode, the soft yellows of such materials respond most beautifully to black or cream. The one-piece frocks, which are really two pieces, a bodice and skirt joined with a stitched belt, are often made with a front fastening that goes from the neck or bust to the hem of the skirt, the waist opening over a removable chemise or a stitched yoke, and the sleeves are close mutton legs or bishop models. There is scarcely a drop at the front of any of the waists, though the old blousing fall over the belt is continually talked about and this tautness of the bodice, and the skimpiness of all the new skirts for young girls involves a very moderate amount of material for the average dress.

In coats there are lengths that vary from the hip to a drop that may distinctly be called three-quarter, but a long, narrow opening of the front of the coat is a feature everywhere, and so, if the collar is not shawl-shaped, the revers are of the smallest.

Without a doubt, wash materials make the prettiest frocks in all cases for little girls from the baby ages up to seven or eight, and into the new styles for these small persons there has crept a simplicity which is all but severe. There is not a flounce anywhere, unless it is one that forms the entire skirt, such as may be put at the bottom of a slip garment with long bodice cut; while the little Mother Hubbard dress and the killed Russian one, which are both so easy to make, are as much as ever to the fore for the tinier toddlers.

The neat semi-fitted coat shown is of a sort that would be needed in summer long if the garment were in a suitable lightweight material and not too darkly colored. Summer-weight covert in a very pale tan would be admirable for it, but such a coat could also form part of a suit of serge or wool canvass, which would be needed in the mountains or at the seashore. It could also be of any of the stout linens or duck or cotton suiting materials which are used for coat-suits, with the back of the collar and cuffs in a contrasting color, and round bone buttons to match the trimming.

For size 16 1/2 yards of material less to pin on for your morning cup of coffee before you are ceremoniously coiffed for the day.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL,
Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S DISCOURSE

The Overthrow of Satan's Empire

London, Eng., May 22.—Albert Memorial Hall was again crowded to hear Pastor Russell. The discourse, on "The Overthrow of Satan's Empire," was in the nature of a religious lecture. It was marked throughout by deepest reverence for the Bible, many of the passages of which shone out with a new meaning under the searchlight of his message. He asserted, and seemed to prove, the personality of Satan. But according to his showing it is a great mistake to suppose the Arch-enemy of mankind to be afar off stoking furnaces and torturing the dead. Instead, he is the cunning Deceiver who for centuries has been bewitching humanity, including the Church, putting darkness for light and light for darkness. God did not create him a devil. He became such by self-perversion through ambition. Originally his name was Lucifer—Morning Star. He befell our first parents in Eden, noted their power to produce a race in their own likeness and coveted an empire with them as his subjects.

For six thousand years God has permitted Satan to exercise a measure of deceptive power over the race and to display to both angels and men the terrible results of sin, as exemplified in what the Apostle terms the "reign of sin and death," and the mental, moral and physical degradation resulting.

Satan has not been alone. Nor only is he "the Prince of this world" or age, but additionally he is the "Prince of devils"—demons. The speaker showed from the Scriptures (Genesis vi; Jude 6) how these subordinate demons had once been holy angels, too—and when and where they sinned, and how.

"The Apostle Peter gives the key to the real solution of the matter when, in reciting the events connected with the flood, he tells us of the fall of the angels at that time, who 'in the days of Noah' kept not their first estate' (1 Peter iii, 19, 20). Those angels who were permitted to have a measure of control of the fallen race, with a view to helping them as much as they might be able, and who, for the purpose of rendering such assistance to mankind, were permitted to appear in human form, became enamored of the human form, and preferred the human form to their own state as spirit beings. They thus left their original estate, as Jude also explains (Jude 6). These angels are the ones designated 'the sons of God,' none of the human family being given that name after the fall. The angels who fell from their noble work and condition, and became groveling and sensual, manifested clearly in their own course the downward tendency of all transgressions of the divine law.

"The Apostles Peter and Jude clearly mark out the punishment visited upon those 'sons of God' who thus betrayed their trust and fell into sin, 'leaving their own habitation,' their own nature, and affiliating with the human nature. Their punishment has been their deprivation of all such rights, and their separation from God and from the holy angels; and this restraint is called, by the Apostle, 'chains of darkness,' while the restrained ones themselves, instead of being recognized as 'sons of God,' or angels of light, were thenceforth known as 'angels of darkness,' 'demons,' 'wicked spirits.' Incidentally we remark that these are the 'spirits in prison' mentioned by Peter (1 Peter iii, 19), and that although restricted as respects their powers of fellowship with the holy angels, and with mankind, being no longer privileged to appear as men, they still seek human fellowship, endeavoring to gain possession of human beings who yield up their wills and who are thus said to be possessed of devils or 'possessed.' It is but a preliminary step toward thus getting possession of the individual that these wicked spirits appeal to humanity to become their mediums (spirit mediums), through whom they to some extent communicate. And they personate dead human beings, because they know well that humanity would shun them and fear them if their real identity were discovered.

"Satan and his 'subordinates' have maintained a system of human deception," the speaker declared, and it must be confessed that he gave Biblical proofs for his every claim. He asserted that the communications believed by Spiritualists—Dr. Funk, Prof. Hyslop, Editor Sted and others—are really deceptive communications from these fallen angels. So far from claiming that these professors and mediums practice deception, his claim is that they themselves are deceived and are unintentionally leading others onward into a terrible Spiritualist maze, which, he declares, we are nearing, according to the Bible. He warned against hypnotism, mind cures, etc., practiced by well-meaning but deceived physicians, ministers and others. He declared that all these tended to break down the human will, the God-given barrier and defense of mankind against the encroachments of these fallen angels, who seek continually to intrude themselves into the mind, thoughts and will of men. He warned all against occult influences of every kind, arguing that the human will should be preserved and should be submitted only to the Almighty, and to his only—intelligently in accordance with his instructions in the Bible.

Overthrow of Satan's Empire. "Satan, through false doctrines—'doctrines of devils,' has entrenched himself in the superstitions and prejudices, not only of the heathen, but also of the civilized. The creeds of the Dark Ages evidenced the fact that he had much to do with their formulation. His false doctrines, antagonistic to the worthy of the great and honorable work. The qualification is that each must be a 'copy of God's dear Son'—so far as heart intention is concerned. Then these Missionaries will be glorified like their Lord, on the spirit plane and with him they will constitute the 'Kingdom of God's dear Son,' which for a thousand years will bless the world and bring to pass all that the Lord our God has spoken, and more than we could have asked or thought.

"Christian people have no need to upbraid themselves on the score that the missionary efforts of eighteen centuries have accomplished comparatively little. They have no need to be discouraged with the fact that the census returns show that in the past century of the greatest missionary endeavor the proportionate numbers of the heathen have doubled (six hundred million a century ago—twelve hundred million today). This is all as God foreknew and intended. God did not purpose the conversion of the heathen during this age, but commissioned his people to preach his Gospel to every nation for a witness, that the Elect Missionaries for the future work might be gathered from every country, people and tongue. God's will has been done. The adversary temporarily misled the Church into a misunderstanding of the tallow candle and quill pen of the past. 'Whatsoever doth make manifest is light,' and special light is due also at this time to God's consecrated people. The illumination now granted to the eyes of our understanding as Christians, through Bible study helps, is intended to be for the Christian what the arc-light is in nature.

"Man's subservility to Satan is an unwilling captivity. Even those who realize their bondage do not generally recognize by whom they have been enslaved. But gradually the bonds are breaking as we near the time of Satan's overthrow. According to the Bible our Lord at his Second Advent will bind the Adversary for a thousand years that he may deceive mankind no more. Meantime all the blessings of light and Truth and grace will be let loose in the world and as a result, 'the knowledge of the glory of God shall fill the whole earth.' Instead of the darkness of the night of sin and death there will be the 'morning of joy,' and gladness and restitution and blessing. The sun of righteousness will arise with healing in his beams." Of that glorious day Saint Peter spoke, saying, 'Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord, and he shall send Jesus Christ, who before was preached unto you, whom the heavens must retain until the Times of Restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began' (Acts iii, 19-21). Satan's destruction, according to the Bible, will not be consummated until after the MILLENNIAL KINGDOM OF CHRIST shall have accomplished its glorious work of uplifting humanity out of sin and death, and into the full human perfection and the image of God. All the unwilling and disobedient will be counted as servants of Satan and will, with him, be destroyed in the Second Death—extinction—from which there will be no redemption or recovery.

Great Missionary Work. "The missionary work of blessing and uplifting 'all the families of the earth' is appointed of God for the Millennial Kingdom—and thank God, the evidences are that it is very near, yea, in a sense, already beginning. Its blessings are intimated by the wonderful progress of our day. Everything waits until the predetermined number of Missionaries shall have been called and schooled and tested and found

"We cannot suppose that Satan's Empire is entirely satisfactory to himself. Undoubtedly his original thought was the organization of a realm resembling that of the Almighty. But the course of sin is ever downward. To obtain control of our first parents they were misled into steps of disobedience—'sin—and the Adversary himself, having started upon the wrong course, cannot maintain his own standing and kingdom only by determined opposition to Jehovah. This is the significance of the name given him in the Scriptures—'Adversary.' "The Scriptures set forth that all humanity must, either now or some time, come to the point of decision between obedience to God and disobedience. The obedient will be guided back to ultimate harmony with the Creator and obtain the reward of life eternal. On the contrary, the disobedient, the wilfully rebellious against God and his righteous arrangements, taking the course of sin, will ultimately share his fate—destruction. "Responsibility and the decision as to life eternal and death eternal, come to each member of Adam's race as soon as he is brought into a clear knowledge of the Truth. This privilege of coming to a knowledge of the Truth, the opportunity of eternal salvation, is secured to all the families of the earth, to Adam and every member of his race, through the great Redeemer's sacrifice finished at Calvary. While thanking God for the length and breadth and height and depth of his glorious provision for the world in general, we who now hear this message and heed it have the special blessing and opportunity of joint-heirship with Jesus the Redeemer in his great work of the Millennial Age. Let us not only accept the Divine favor, but let us run with patience the race set before us, looking unto Jesus, the Author and the one who shall be the Finisher of our faith, seeking for needed aid to make our calling and election sure!"

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. E. Sandborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?
For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.
Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has aided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., 1109 Broadway, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PRIMARY VOTE THIS YEAR.

Under the opinion of Attorney General Strauss, the Congressional Primaries this year will be held by the direct voting plan, as per the provisions of the Lee Primary Law. As this law further provides that those counties which are exempted under its provisions shall vote on the question whether or not they want future primaries in their respective county held by direct vote, it probably means that these counties will vote on this in the Congressional primaries this summer. Wicomico is one of the counties exempted, and if this is the case then the Democrats of this community will be called upon to decide this great question.

It is very unfortunate that we have to vote at all, but especially so in a primary of but little interest. At the present time it is believed that the only man whose name will be presented to the party on the Democratic side, is the present congressman, Hon. J. Harry Covington, of Talbot County. If this should prove to be the case, then the interest manifested during a not and aggressive campaign will be lacking with the probable result of but a small per cent of the voters attending at all. Either way the vote may go will leave room for doubt as to the real wish of the voters in the party on one of the most important party measures presented for a good many years.

As it seems certain that the vote must be taken this summer, it is full time that the voters should commence to talk and agitate the matter. In case of failure to get a majority of votes in favor of the direct plan the law provides that future nominations are to be made under the old discredited convention system—a system that has been fully discussed in this county and one that the party repudiated at the last primaries—an action which showed its wisdom in the general harmony which prevailed and the large vote cast for the nominees. There will of course be some open opposition on the part of some of our so-called leaders who want back their old privilege of dictating the policy of the party as well as selecting the candidates from their own followers and devoted admirers. There will probably be an even more dangerous opposition from others, who not having the nerve openly to class themselves as supporters of the convention system will try to defeat by underhand methods—these are the real "gum-shoers" of politics.

It is hard to see how any of the voters will allow their mark to be placed against the direct plan, for this is the only way by which they can become a force in politics, or have any say as to who they wish to be the standard bearers of their party.

The old theory that it was impossible to get a large number of voters to take an active part in the primaries was exploded last year, when it was shown that over 2000 Democrats came out to the polls and voted for the men of their choice. That the people of this county want the right to vote directly for the men is almost beyond the possibility of a doubt; and the only danger lies in the general apathy of the voters in a primary contest in which there is but one candidate. To show our voters the importance of going to the polls will be the duty of all those who are interested in the future of our great party.

Colored Thief Captured.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith made a very clever capture of a colored thief Monday last at Greenwood, Del. Saturday night last, Charles Williams, colored, who had been working for Mr. Leroy Wimbrow, left Salisbury with a suit of clothes and an entire new outfit of underwear belonging to Wm. Ernest Byrd, who works at the Wimbrow stables. The Deputy Sheriff received word that Williams had gone to Greenwood, Del and he went on Monday afternoon and captured the negro on the street, bringing him here on the night train and locking him up to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A REAL LIVE ISSUE

And One On Which Democrats Can Win—Down With The Tariff.

The Democratic party of Maryland goes into the Congressional campaign of 1910 with a real issue. That issue was set forth by the State Central Committee yesterday in a resolution, prepared by Senator Rayner, attacking the Republican party upon the Aldrich Payne tariff. Resolutions were also adopted assailing the Republican record on other important public questions. The resolution dealing with the tariff was drafted and submitted to the committee by Senator Rayner, who was in the thick of the tariff fight in the Senate and has made it the subject of careful study. No one understands better than he does the iniquities of the Payne-Aldrich law or its potential force as an issue. The Democratic party will go before the people this year upon the issue of the tariff. The resolution denounces the Payne Aldrich law as an unwarranted interference with the rights of the American people in the interest of monopoly; as a repudiation of the pledges of the Republican party by raising instead of lowering the duties and increasing the cost of living.

The other resolutions set forth the invasion of the reserved rights of the States by the Federal Government; denounces the land frauds and the Balinger scandals. These are strong points, and they will have their effect in the campaign, but the dominant issue will be the tariff and the high cost of living, for which it is responsible. On that issue the Democrats should sweep Maryland. They have not for many years had such an opportunity. The tide is running strongly in their favor. Almost every market basket has a vote in it for them. The campaign of 1892 was the last Cleveland Campaign. It was fought upon just such issues as are now presented. The Republican party attempted to pass the Force bill and had enacted the McKinley Tariff law. Upon the tariff issue Mr. Cleveland was elected, and the Democratic party triumphed all over the land. The main revolt against the Republican party was because of the McKinley law, which had put up the cost of living and was the highest tariff wall which up to that time had ever been built. But the Aldrich, Payne tariff is worse, and we can expect the popular revolt to be even more pronounced. The high tariff lords and the grants are more arrogant and defiant than ever, and the Republican party has identified itself with them. The time has now come for a reckoning, and the people are anxious to meet their enemies at the polls.—Editorial in Baltimore Sun.

To Improve Newton Street.

A delegation of the property owners have before the council asking that Newton Street be improved at the last meeting. The property owners were very much in earnest in this matter and the council decided to make the improvements asked for. An ordinance to this effect was prepared. The work will consist of grading the street, putting in sewers to take off the surface water with wells distributed at proper points and curbing the street on both sides from Camden Avenue up to East Vine Street. When completed it will be one of the prettiest streets in town. To make these improvements, which call for concrete gutters it will be necessary to take down all the trees in the street. There are several very large trees on Newton Street which will have to be removed. The street has been in bad condition for some time and is badly cut up from heavy hauling. The same kind of an ordinance has been passed for East William Street which is another street badly in need of repairs. This street will be graded under drains put in and curbed and crusted with cement from Park Street to Division Street. The brick pavement is showing wear in several places and needs repairs. Messrs Sweeten & Co. who built the brick streets in Salisbury, have been notified to repair several bad places in the streets. Mr. Orw, who has a contract for the curbing on the streets of Salisbury, also has the contract to repair all the corners of the curbing on the bitulistic streets from Warren & Company, the contractors. Mr. Orw will start at work very soon and the work will be completed in about a week and will also start on the work of curbing the two streets named above, as soon as he can get his force ready.

Given 70 Years. Long Sentence For Colored Man.

Judge Robley D. Jones, in the Circuit Court, Snow Hill, today sentenced Samuel Laws, colored, to the Maryland Penitentiary for 70 years. Laws entered a plea of guilty to the following offenses. Attempted felonious assault on Miss Mary Hayward; assault on George Hayward, with intent to kill; assault on Miss Mary Hayward with intent to kill, and assault on Miss Florence Hayward with intent to kill. The sentences possible under the law would aggregate 78 years.

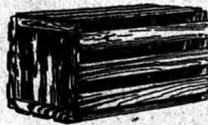

The three years' leniency, said Judge Jones, was a credit for the submission to the court. Judge Toddvin was also on the bench at the time and evidently the sentence met with his entire approval.

The case occurred some weeks ago and caused much indignation and excitement. The Misses Hayward were at their home near Snow Hill. Their father, George Hayward, who is an invalid and old, was the only person at home. Laws came to the house for an entrance, bombarded the young ladies and their father, violently with brickbats and other missiles, evidently trying to force them out of the house and thus effect a separation. Miss Florence Hayward finally escaped, and ran to the home of Harry Perdue, the nearest neighbor, nearly a mile away, and Mr. Perdue hurried to the scene arriving just in time to prevent a greater crime. During the struggle Laws announced his intention to marry Miss Hayward. When Mr. Perdue approached Laws fled and was captured later.

SOLVING A DIFFICULTY

"Yes, we've finished our housecleaning," said Mrs. Darby, with a sigh. "It was a great task and I'm glad it is over."

"We are waiting for the calculators," said the caller. "I certainly dread them."

"We didn't mind the decorators. It was our dining-room rug that gave us the most worry."

"Oh, did you get a new one? I knew you said you were planning to do so."

"Well, we did—several of them," laughed Mrs. Darby. "Through our old one was not actually in holes, the family felt that it was dingy and Louise said it was old fashioned."

"Gouse called my attention to the antiquated pattern of the center and Mame declared that it never had been a pretty rug. My husband said there was an indescribable something about it that made it look as if it had come out of the ark."

"I always liked it so much," remarked the caller. "So did we, at first. But you know how you get to feel about things you have had a long time. The family were united on the subject. Perhaps we should not have noticed it so much if we had not invested in new book-cases. New furniture always manages to make everything else one may have in the room look so shabby."

"Yes, doesn't it?" "Louis spoke of it first, for she believes in having things so new that the whole place smells of varnish."

"That's the way with young girls," said the caller. "She said so much about it that I finally consented to get a new rug. I intended, of course, to choose it myself, but before I got around to it Louise went down and selected one. She came home so tired out that she had to go to bed, but she took satisfaction in telling me that the rug would be up the next day."

"It came when she was over at Olive's, so I had the old rug taken up and the new one put down in order that she might get the effect as soon as she came in. There was a good deal of red in the border—that turkey red which is so very abominable—but I made no comment. Louise remarked so many times that the rug was a bargain that I began to suspect she was not satisfied, but, of course, she would not acknowledge it."

"As soon as it began to get dark she turned on the electric light, remarking that she had first seen the rug by artificial light. I could not see that it was improved by the change. When my husband came home he gave the rug one look and said it was atrocious, whereat Louise melted into tears."

"As a result we had the store send for the rug. My husband said he would stop in somewhere and choose one himself. He did, but he forgot to ask the price. I acknowledge that his taste was good, but I thought $300 was a little steep."

"Well, I should think so," said the caller. "Aunt Martha was so disturbed by all the rug controversy," Mrs. Darby went on, "that she selected a choice specimen in shades of brown. She made the salesman carry it from window to window to get the different lights on it before she had it sent out. It really was a handsome rug, but when it was laid down it clashed with everything. We couldn't make up our minds just what was wrong, but something jarred on all of us. Even Aunt Martha had to acknowledge that it wouldn't do. By this time all our relatives were interested in our search and so many persons sent up rugs for our approval that I am sure the stores grew suspicious of us. There are people who keep their floors covered with rugs sent up on approval, you know."

"I've heard so," said the caller. "I didn't mind the relatives so much," Mrs. Darby said, "but I was a little provoked when that Mrs. Kadew from across the street ran in and offered to sell me her dining room rug. She said they were breaking up house-keeping and would be glad to give me a bargain. I thought if my affairs were so much neighborhood property as all that something would have to be done."

"Oh, Mrs. Kadew always knows everything that's happening," said the caller. "So I made up my mind to take the matter into my own hands."

"I should think you would have done so at the beginning," said the caller. "I should have insisted on it."

"Yes, but when you have kept house as long as I have you won't," said Mrs. Darby. "When everybody is so sure that a thing is very simple the best way is just to let everybody try it."

"How did the affair come out?" asked the caller. "I see you have a very handsome new rug on the floor now."

"That was my choice," said Mrs. Darby. "I had it put down and let the family see it without their knowing where it came from. Every one of them was perfectly satisfied with my selection. I made sure of that before I told them the story of the rug."

"You always had exquisite taste," said the caller. "Thank you. But the point is that this isn't a new rug. It's just the old one cleaned."

Up to Date. Drummer—So the coal oil got near the butter and flavored it, eh? I suppose you'll lose it? Storekeeper Jason—Oh, no, stranger. I've just put a sign over it. "Try the New Fuel-oilum Butter," and it is going like hot cakes.

What's in a Name? "Folks in this city is very queer." "How so, Uncle Hiram?" "When I went to my nephew's, what lives in sick style, they gimme what they call a course dinner, but I thought it was mighty fine."

Up to Me. "Anyway," she said, "your heart is in the right place." "Well, I hope it is," he rejoined. "By the way, where did you put it?"

The Way It Looked to Him. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge of the defendant in a case of assault and battery. "I think I must be guilty, your honor," answered the defendant. "You think so?" said the judge. "Don't you know?" "Well, your honor," answered the prisoner, "I'm like this: The plaintiff and I were the only ones in the room, and the first thing I knew was that I was standing up, and he was doubled up under the table. So I guess you'd better call it murder."

Apprehensive. "Come on and take a ride in my monoplane," insisted the inventor. "Why, it has a speed of a mile a minute." "Indeed," said the cautious friend. "In what direction?" "In what direction to go with it?" "Why—?—I was thinking perhaps it made that speed coming down in ward the earth."

SET IN HER WAY.

Sweet Mary Jane sat fourteen days, and wouldn't deign to rise. Although her folks tried every way to make her realize that it was quite unladylike to sit all day and night. And never change her attitude or rouse her appetite. They coaxed and teased and threatened her, and still she would not stand. And when they tried to raise her up she bit them on the hand. They didn't want to do her harm, or call in the police. And yet they sorrowed at the thought of Mary Jane's decease. But Mary Jane knew what was best, she wisser was than men. She sat until she had her set, for Mary was a hen.

A Vain Threat. A group in the park attracted much attention the other day. It consisted of a languid-looking woman reading a novel with a flaming cover, a nursemaid, who was evidently new and green, and two troublesome little children.

The youngsters fought, screamed, and scratched, while the maid looked on helplessly. At last the novel reader closed her book and said, impatiently: "Hilda, if you can't keep them quiet, send them here to me, and I will sing to them."

"Oh, it won't do any good, ma'am," was the weepy reply. "I've threatened them with that twice already!"

Doubtful Compliment. "By the way," drawled Percy Pickle as he removed his hat with the rain-bow band and sought a shadowy spot on the front porch, "what has become of your father?"

"Oh, papa has invented an airship. And do you know, he actually named it after you!" "After me? Gracious! What a compliment!" "Yes; he said it was so flighty."

Another Theory. "Here is another diet theory," remarked the boarder who is always raking up odd items. "Let's have it," spoke up the comedian boarder as he chased a fly from his coffee. "Well, a foreign professor says we could live on onions and strong cheese and thrive. That would be cheap living."

"Exceedingly. It would only be two cents."

KISSES AT AUCTION

On Stock Exchange.—Brokers Bid As High As $5 Apiece And Girls Realize $121 For Charity.

"Kisses steady to strong, with a tendency to higher prices on account of a shortage in the supply" was the recent quotation on the bulletin board in the Live Stock Exchange trading room at South Omaha, Neb.

Buying kisses at auction is likely to become a legitimate occupation with the members of the Exchange. They have had a taste of it, and they like it, regardless of the price paid.

The marketing of kisses was begun when Miss Jeanette Childs and Miss May Morgan, chaperoning a party of young women, swooped down upon the Exchange soliciting subscriptions for a charity bazaar that was having a run in Omaha. They had tickets for sale but they did not appeal to the live stock men.

"Why don't you sell kisses?" asked Rudolph Franklin, a St. Louis horse buyer, who happened to be on the market.

"What will you give per kiss?" asked Miss Morgan, a refined and accomplished girl.

"We will put them up at auction and sell them to the highest bidder," answered Franklin.

"Agreed," was the response of Miss Morgan, "and the purchaser is to have his choice and as many as he wants, no reduction on account of number."

By this time the large Exchange room was full of brokers, cattle, hog and sheep buyers and office men.

Franklin mounted a chair and announced that he was about to sell kisses. Each kiss, he said, would be sold singly, but the kisser would be entitled to any number, each to be paid for at the same rate as the first.

The bidding was lively. Jay Laverty starting the bidding at $1, bids of 50 cents and $1 were made until $4.50 was reached when Auctioneer Franklin announced that he would pay $5 for the first kiss. This staggered the other bidders who dropped out of the game.

Getting down off his chair, Franklin inprinted a smacking kiss upon the mouth of Miss Childs and followed it up with three more after which he passed over a $30 bill.

The action of Franklin gave impetus to the game, and after that the sales were rapid, the highest price paid being $4 and the lowest $1.50. The session netted charity $121.

Edwin Malone and Mollie E. Malone, his wife, vs Alexander G. Malone, Granville Malone, Bessie Malone, et al.

In the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, No. 1846 in Chancery.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain property in Wicomico County, State of Maryland, of which Alexander P. Malone, late of Wicomico County, Maryland, deceased, was seized and possessed at the time of his death. The bill states that Alexander P. Malone, late of Wicomico County, Maryland, deceased, departed this life in the year 1900, intestate, and left surviving him as his only heirs at law Katherine Malone, his widow, Alexander G. Malone, his son, who married Belle Malone, and that Robert Malone, a son of Alexander P. Malone, died before the said Alexander P. Malone and left surviving Granville Malone, Bessie Malone, Ruby B. Malone and Nesto B. Malone, all children of the said Robert Malone, deceased, all of whom are unmarried, and that said Nesto B. Malone is an infant under the age of twenty-one years, and Edwin Malone, the plaintiff in this cause, is the son of the said Alexander P. Malone who married Mollie E. Malone, both of whom reside in Wicomico County and the following children of Ida Belle Malone who married one John Bradford and departed this life before the death of the said Alexander P. Malone, her father to wit: Ida May (Coots), who married John A. Coots, and Alexander E. Bradford and Quinoy L. Bradford, an infant, and Mary Edna Bradford, an infant, that the said Quinoy L. Bradford, John A. Coots, Granville Malone, Bessie Malone, Ruby B. Malone and Nesto B. Malone are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

That at the time of the death of the said Alexander P. Malone he was seized and possessed of valuable tract of land situate in Nantux Election District, Wicomico County, State of Maryland, lying on the North side of county road leading from Salisbury to Snow Hill, bounded on the west by a county road known as the "Farker Road," bounded on the east by the land of Clayton C. Parker, containing one hundred and twenty six acres of land, more or less; that the said tract of land is not susceptible of partition among the parties having an interest in the same, without loss and injury to the parties entitled to the same, and that to make a division of the same it will be necessary to well the said land and distribute such proceeds of sale to the several parties according to their respective interests.

It is thereupon this twenty first day of May in the year nineteen hundred and ten, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County in equity, that the plaintiffs by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper in said Wicomico County, Maryland, once in each of four consecutive weeks before the 27th day of June, 1910, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 13th day of July next, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

E. STANLEY TOADVIN, Associate Judge.

SOLVING A DIFFICULTY

"Yes, we've finished our housecleaning," said Mrs. Darby, with a sigh. "It was a great task and I'm glad it is over."

"We are waiting for the carpet-layers," said the caller. "I certainly dread them."

"We didn't mind the decorators. It was our dining-room rug that gave us the most worry."

"Well, we did—several of them," laughed Mrs. Darby. "Though our old one was not actually in holes, the family felt that it was old fashioned. Louise said it was old fashioned. George called my attention to the antiquated pattern of the center and Mame declared that it never had been a pretty rug. My husband said there was an indescribable something about it that made it look as if it had come out of the ark. I never knew my family to feel so strongly about anything before as they did about getting rid of that rug."

"I always liked it so much," remarked the caller.

"So did we, at first. But you know how you get to feel about things you have had a long time. The family were united on the subject. Perhaps we should not have noticed it so much if we had not invested in new book-cases. New furniture always manages to make everything else one may have in the room look so shabby."

"Yes, doesn't it?"

"Louise spoke of it first, for she believes in having things so new that the whole place smells of varnish."

"That's the way with young girls," said the caller.

"She said so much about it that I finally consented to get a new rug. I intended, of course, to choose it myself, but before I got around to it Louise went down and selected one. She came home so tired out that she had to go to bed, but she took satisfaction in telling me that the rug would be up the next day."

"It came when she was over at Olive's, so I had the old rug taken up and the new one put down in order that she might get the effect as soon as she came in. There was a good deal of red in the border—that turkey red which is so very abominable—but I made no comment. Louise remarked so many times that the rug was a bargain that I began to suspect she was not satisfied, but, of course, she would not acknowledge it."

"As soon as it began to get dark she turned on the electric light, remarking that she had first seen the rug by artificial light. I could not see that it was improved by the change. When my husband came home he gave the rug one look and said it was atrocious, whereas Louise melted into tears."

"As a result we had the store send for the rug. My husband said that he would stop in somewhere and choose one himself. He did, but he forgot to ask the price. I acknowledge that his taste was good, but I thought $300 was a little steep."

"Well, I should think so," said the caller.

"Aunt Martha was so disturbed by all the rug controversy," Mrs. Darby went on, "that she selected a choice specimen in shades of brown. She made the salesman carry it from window to window to get the different lights on it before she had it sent out. It really was a handsome rug, but when it was laid down it clashed with everything. We couldn't make up our minds just what was wrong, but something jarred on all of us. Even Aunt Martha had to acknowledge that it wouldn't do. By this time all our relatives were interested in our search and so many persons sent up rugs for our approval that I am sure the stores grew suspicious of us. There are people who keep their floors covered with rugs sent up on approval, you know."

"I've heard so," said the caller.

"I didn't mind the relatives so much," Mrs. Darby said, "but I was a little provoked when that Mrs. Kader from across the street ran in and offered to sell me her dining room rug. She said they were breaking up house-keeping and would be glad to give me a bargain. I thought if my affairs were so much neighborhood property as all that something would have to be done."

"Oh, Mrs. Kader always knows everything that's happening," said the caller.

"So I made up my mind to take the matter into my own hands."

"I should think you would have done so at the beginning," said the caller.

"Yes, but when you have kept house as long as I have you won't," said Mrs. Darby. "When everybody is so sure that a thing is very simple the best way is just to let everybody try it."

"How did the affair come out?" asked the caller. "I see you have a very handsome new rug on the floor now."

"That was my choice," said Mrs. Darby. "I had it put down and let the family see it without their knowing where it came from. Every one of them was perfectly satisfied with my selection. I made sure of that, for I told them the story of the rug."

"You always had exquisite taste," said the caller.

"Thank you. But the point is that this isn't a new rug. It's just the old one cleaned."

Apprehensive.
"Come on and take a ride in my monoplane," insisted the inventor. "Why, it has a speed of a mile a minute."

"Indeed," said the cautious friend. "In what direction?"

"What has direction to do with it?" "Why—so—I was thinking perhaps it made that speed—coming down in—toward the earth."

SET IN HER WAY.

Sweet Mary Jane sat fourteen days, and wouldn't deign to rise. Although her folks tried every way to make her realize that it was quite un ladylike to sit all day and night. And never change her attitude or rouse her appetite. They teased and threatened her, and still she would not stand. And when they tried to raise her up she bit then on the hand. They didn't want to do her harm, or call in the police. And yet they sorrowed at the thought of Mary Jane's decease. But Mary Jane knew what was best, she wiser was than men. She sat until she'd had her set, for Mary was a lion.

A Vain Threat.
A group in the park attracted much attention the other day. It consisted of a languid-looking woman reading a novel with a flaming cover, a nursemaid, who was evidently new and green, and two troublesome little children.

The youngsters fought, screamed, and scratched, while the maid looked on helplessly.

At last the novel reader closed her book and said, impatiently: "Hilda, if you can't keep them quiet, send them here to me, and I will sing to them."

"Oh, it won't do any good, ma'am," was the weary reply. "I've threatened them with that twice already!"

Doubtful Compliment.
"By the way," drawled Percy Pickle as he removed his hat with the spin-bow band and sought a shadowy spot on the front porch, "what has become of your father?"

"Papa?" laughed the pretty girl. "Oh, papa has invented an airship. And do you know, he actually named it after you!"

"After me? Gracious! What a compliment!"

"Yes; he said it was so flighty."

Another Theory.
"Here is another diet theory," remarked the boarder who is always raking up odd items.

"Let's have it," spoke up the comedian boarder as he chased a fly from his coffee.

"Well, a foreign professor says we could live on onions and strong cheese and thrive. That would be cheap living."

"Excuse me. It would only be two accents."

TOO BAD.

Prætoristic Fete—Great Scott! Why don't you get your hair cut?

Antediluvian Arthur—Well, I went to see the barber this afternoon, but do you know, old chap, he hasn't got a sharp rock in the place.

No Hot Air.
The deaf mutes have reunited And gone, each hearless here And talkless him, and none know who The banquet speakers were.

Her Idea of Farming.
Husband—Well, I went out to see that little country place we saw advertised and I've made up my mind to buy it.

Wife—Oh, then, we'll move away from the hateful city for good?

Husband—Yes. It's a fine place, but there's only 12 acres of ground, and half of that is covered by a pond of water.

Wife—Say, that will be nice. We can raise pond lilies and watermelons in it.

Why He Didn't.
Two gentlemen, shooting in Scotland, sat down to lunch. On taking a bottle of whisky out, one of them noticed that the cork had been tampered with, and, knowing the character of their bill, at once accused him of having been at the lunch basket.

"I fear that you have been drinking the whisky, Sandy."

"No, no, sir, I ha not, fur the cork wouldna coom out!"

Up to Date.
Drummer—So the coal oil got near the butter and flavored it, eh? I suppose you'll lose it?

Storekeeper Jason—Oh, no, stranger. I've just put a sign over it, "Try the New Petroleum Butter," and it is going like hot cakes.

What's in a Name?
"Folks in the city is very queer." "How so, Uncle Hiram?" "When I went to my nephew's, what lives in sich style, they gimme what they calls a course dinner, but I thought it was mighty fine."

Up to Her.
"Anyway," she said, "your heart is in the right place."

"Well, I hope it is," he rejoined. "By the way, where did you put it?"

The Way it Looked to Him.
"Are you guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge of the defendant in a case of assault and battery.

"I think I must be guilty, your honor," answered the defendant.

"You think so?" said the judge.

"Well, your honor," answered the prisoner, "I like this: The plaintiff and I were the only ones in the room, and the first thing I knew was that I was standing up, and he was doubled up under the table. So I guess your honor will call it guilty."

The Multitudes Fed

Sunday School Lesson for May 29, 1910
Specially Arranged for This Paper

LEBSON TEXT.—Matthew 14:13-21; 15:29-32. Memory verses, 15: 29.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Jesus said unto them, 'I am the bread of life.'"—John 6:35.

TIME.—The feeding of the 5,000 in the spring, A. D. 33; of the 4,000 a few weeks later, in the summer.

PLACE.—The first miracle at the northern end of the Sea of Galilee; the second further down on the east side, opposite Magdala (Magadan, Dalaulatha).

Suggestion and Practical Thought. The Multitudes.—Matt. 14:13, 14; 15:29-32. These two miracles, though plainly separate, yet have so many resemblances that they may best be considered together, as if in parallel columns; and we must combine the accounts of all the evangelists.

On what occasion were the five thousand fed? Our Lord had just heard of the tragic death of John the Baptist, and when he heard of it, he "departed thence" (the place in which the news reached him is not named) "by ship unto a desert place apart." He was filled with sadness at this murder of his cousin and herald. Moreover, the event was an indication of the perils amid which he himself walked, and he may have withdrawn to avoid them for his hour had not yet come.

What miracles preceded the two feedings of the multitude? In each case a great crowd gathered around Jesus. In these cases those thronging faces were particularly eloquent, for so many of them were suffering faces. There were the lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, all cast down at Jesus' feet.

What was the result of this healing? What it should be whenever Christ blesses men: "The multitude wondered, . . . and they glorified the God of Israel." They were ready to listen with all their hearts to Christ's teaching, and remained persistently, the five thousand all day and the four thousand for three days.

The Hungry Multitudes.—Matt. 14: 16; 15:32. Our Lord's compassion was moved by more than the sicknesses of the multitudes; by what? By their hunger. In the first instance the crowd were passover pilgrims, in large part (John 6:4), with no homes near-by to which to go. In the second case the multitude were in their own country, but the villages were few in the De-capolis.

The second miracle, with so many circumstances like the first, has been considered by certain critics to be only the first miracle disguised by a different tradition. But there are pointed differences that rule out the idea.

The Challenge to Faith.—Matt. 14: 16-18; 15:33, 34. Who suggested feeding the multitudes? Jesus, in each case. John tells of an earlier conversation with Philip, in which our Lord asked that disciple, whose faith seemingly had special need of strengthening (see John 14:8, 9), "Whence are we to buy bread, that these may eat?" But John, ever careful to guard his Master from misunderstanding, adds that Jesus said this merely to test Philip, since he himself knew well what miracle was to come.

What supplies were available for feeding these one thousand and more? In the first case, only a lad's simple luncheon, consisting of five loaves of (or rather, round flat cakes like large crackers) or coarse barley bread, together with two of the little dried or pickled fishes caught by millions in the lake and eaten along with the bread. In the second case seven "loaves" could be mustered and a few of these little fishes.

The Hungry Fed.—Matt. 14:19-21; 15:35-37. How did the Saviour arrange the multitude? In an orderly way on the grass, in "garden plots."

What was the first step in the miracle? In each case Christ asked a blessing, in accordance with his custom; thus instructing us not to touch a man's head until we have given thanks to him who giveth us this food."—Chrysostom.

What was the second step in the miracle? Christ broke off pieces of the bread and gave them to the disciples, for them to give to the multitude. This was the least ostentatious way of performing the wonder.

What was the third step in the miracle? The separate giving of the fishes (see Mark). "Some would give the poor only the barest necessities, bread only; our Lord adds fish."—Spurgeon.

What was the last step in the miracle? Preserving for future use, at Christ's command (John 6:12), the fragments of the feast.

Gather up the fragments of opportunity, as "Uncle John Yassar" did. One day, waiting for a friend in a Boston hotel, he determined not to waste the time and went right up to a fashionably dressed lady, beginning in spite of her haughty repulses, to speak with her about Christ and the new birth. He read the Bible to her and offered prayer. Later, with tears in her eyes, she told her husband about it. He asked, "Why didn't you tell him it was none of his business?" She replied, "Dear, if you had been there and heard him, you would have thought it was his business!"

Ginger Bread. Mix and sift together three cups of flour, one tablespoonful of ginger, one and a half teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, same amount of soda and one teaspoonful of cloves. Melt one-half cupful of butter or lard, add one cupful of New Orleans molasses and one-half cupful of sugar. When boiling take from the fire, add one cupful of sour milk, then pour this mixture into the flour mixture. Beat to a smooth batter, add two beaten eggs and bake in a moderate oven.—Housekeeper.

Plenty More Like This In Salisbury. Scores of Salisbury people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

James K. Disharoon, 220 Isabella Street, Salisbury, Md., says "I have never taken another remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills. I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint that was brought on by a heavy cold. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the knife like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a mis-step, as this was sure to bring on a sharp twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until entirely cured and I had no further trouble until some years later when a cold affected my kidneys. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, however, the annoyance disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Spiritism Said To Be Demonism. A most interesting little brochure has recently come out of the press, setting forth with Bible proofs that the communications received by and through Spiritist Mediums is of Demon origin. The writer traces his subject through the Scriptures from the time when certain of the holy angels became disobedient. He proves from the Scriptures that these fallen spirits deal in personating the human dead, with whose past history, spirits, though invisible, are thoroughly acquainted. He shows that they also frequently personate the Creator and the Redeemer, commanding their deceived ones to pray, do penance, etc. This, however, is merely to lead them on and to bring them more thoroughly under demoniacal control. Sometimes by breaking down the natural barrier, the human will, they obsess their victim and rule him more or less to his ruin—frequently sending such to the mad-house. Numerous illustrations, Scriptural and otherwise, are given. The price of the little book is but ten cents; it should be in the hands of all interested in Spiritism or who have friends interested therein. Enclose five two-cent stamps to the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Ideal Husband. is patient, even with a nagging wife, for he knows she needs help. She may be so nervous and run down in health that trifles annoy her. If she is melancholy, excitable, troubled with loss of appetite, headache, sleeplessness, constipation or fainting and dizzy spells, she needs Eleetrio Bitters, the most wonderful remedy for ailing women. Thousands of sufferers from female troubles, nervous troubles, backache and weak kidneys have used them and become healthy and happy. Try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

Difficult Scriptures On Hand. A little book selling at only ten cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the Tomb, the Grave, the State of Death. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures, proving that he was redeemed from the Grave at the cost of his Redeemer's life, and that the Scriptural hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lion Fendles A Child. In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of Croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hemorrhages, Weak Lungs. 50 cents and $1.00—Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

I guarantee to give you more for your money than any dealer in the United States. I haven't any opposition; I am in a class all myself. I buy direct from manufacturers—no middlemen to help me up.

Our Wrenn Buggies are $20 cheaper than any other make, same quality. I now have seventy-five doctored using them. Several carriages in stock to select from.

I have 150 Runabouts in stock. Rubber tires, high-arch axles, drop axles, straight axles, low wheels and high wheels. Prices from $30 up.

You can find 30 Surreys in our stock. I have the lightest manufacturers in the United States, and the prices are cheap. You can save enough to buy you a suit of good clothes on each purchase.

I have nearly five carloads of Farm and Duplex Berry Wagons in stock. Yes, "there are others" as good, but they are $10 to $20 higher in price. I am general agent for Auburn Wagons, also Columbia.

Did you say Harness? Yes, I have a carload. Prices from $4.50 a set up. Speed Sulkeys—rubber tires—at $60.

I have had a grand rush this Spring. We are selling more goods than ever before. Don't be deceived by others who try to imitate. Come see for yourself. Seeing is believing.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

"Tabernacle Shadows Of The Better Sacrifices."

This little book is not for the ordinary readers, but most decidedly it is what every advanced Bible student and earnest Christian should possess and study thoroughly. It costs but ten cents, is illustrated and draws its lessons on the higher life from the types and shadows of Israel's typical Atonement Day and other sacrifices. Surely every earnest Christian should have this little book and find in it a mine of spiritual wealth, health and refreshment. Order it now from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE GENTLE CYNIC.

Hope is about the cheapest thing in the world.

Stretching the truth won't make it last any longer.

The man who is his own worst enemy makes a poor friend.

Many a man catches on who doesn't know when to let go.

It is much easier to locate an enemy than to know who our friends are.

The liquid glance of the summer girl may have changed to an icy stare now.

The girl who is quick to see a man's faults is apt to remain an old maid.

It's the lightweight who always complains that the scales are out of order.

Many an actress who pays a press agent feels that she couldn't afford a husband.

A girl with a broken heart suffers almost as much as a man with a boil on his neck.

It takes a pretty big navy for a nation to demonstrate that it can paddle its own canoe.

A girl shouldn't marry a man till she knows all about him—and then she wouldn't want to.

FACT AND FANCY.

A friend in need is a friend to lodge.

It is better to get wisdom than gold. It is also easier.

In Puritan times it was against the law to kiss on Sunday.

Italy produces yearly 76,000,000 gallons of olive oil worth $120,000,000.

Keep your feet dry. The best chest protector is worn on the sole of the boot.

Many a man in love with a dimple makes the mistake of marrying the whole girl.

Meat is only three cents a pound in Australia, and a good workman's meal costs a dime.

Though courtship is the intoxication of life, it is not necessarily true that marriage is the sick headache.

A Manayunk druggist has invented a powder that robs a cat of its voice without harming it in any way. Six large toms were experimented on last week. One of the windiest nights, with signboards and tree limbs crashing down on every side, the animals sat on a fence and made frightful faces at one another for three hours without uttering a sound.

POT SHOTS.

When a man hunts trouble he bags it by shooting off his mouth.

The ties that bind are the ties that make us yearn for soft roll collars on flannel shirts.

Strange to relate, one of the easy ways of getting to the top is to get in on the ground floor.

A connoisseur is a man who can tell a good picture every time without first looking at the price mark.

Rich babies are no longer born with silver spoons in their mouths; they are born in 60-horse power automobiles.

After many years of investigation we have concluded that the word "delic" included in parenthesis in an article means: "Now what do you think of that?"—Cleveland Leader.

FOR MUSICIANS.

Melody is, and ever will be, the very flower of music—Ambrose.

They are never alone that are accompanied by noble thoughts.—Sir Philip Sidney.

It is by pictures and music, by art and song and symbolic representations, that all nations have been educated in their adolescence.—Charles Kingsley.

Art is a great fugue, into which the different individualities and nationalities step and become resolved, like the different subjects, one after another.—Schumann.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

When we ask the Lord to bless anybody we want him to have all the work there is about it.

A considerable part of a boy's college expenses is how often he has to telegraph home for money.

It's always a great shock to a girl to find that another can swim better than she even in an old bathing suit.

The more a man can run down his home town when he is there the more he can brag it up when he is away on a trip.—New York Press.

Still Engaged In Relief Work. Lieutenant-Commander Belknap, the American naval attaché in Berlin, is still engaged in superintending the relief work on account of the earthquake at Reggio, Italy, carried on by the United States government.

Conclusion. Uncle Joe Cannon says he is only the servant of the house of representatives. "Well, he lords it over them as if he were their cook."

Communication From Fruitland.

Fruitland, Md.
Messrs. Editors:—Well, well, if I am dead I don't know it. My bed seems to be just where it was, when I retired. Everything in the room seems to be in its usual place. I venture to raise the curtain and look outside. Well, Well, again, I see no difference. Trees and chimneys and smoke stacks seem to point in the same direction. The old earth seems as solid as ever. The comet didn't sweep off its mighty tail. Since my thinking apparatus has settled back somewhat into its condition before the great shake up, it comes to me that some one has been predicting the destruction of the earth ever since I have been a denizen of this part of the universe. Every generation brings its quota of prophets. It is well it is so. The old failures would lose their cheek and lie down in the sun to die, as did Jonah of old. But being a false prophet now a days, doesn't seem to hurt as it did in Jonah's time. Jonah was so mad he lay down in the hot sun to die.
It seems that man can think straighter on any subject than he can on religion. It shocks some persons terribly to tell them that man proves himself kinder to man, than does God, though it has been daily demonstrated for thousands of years.
Ha! ha! we wern't "scared a bit."
"We never thought that comet was going to upset the earth."
"The very law that moulds a tear, And bids it trickle from its source; That law preserves this world a sphere, And holds the planets in their course."
Ha! ha! we'll go on cheating and boasting and pretending and oppressing just the same. Isn't that brotherly love and christian charity? Oh, surely there is much loose-jointed logic and poorly constructed theology floating about these nihalous regions. Some moons, since Mohammed's coffin was suspended half way between heaven and earth, we heard the following remark from the pulpit. God informed the poor and distressed mother where the body of her daughter, who had been foully murdered was secreted.

Heed the position such assumption puts the God of Creation in.
"I the Creator and Preserver of the universe, am omnipotent, omniscient, omnipresent, and am of boundless goodness, love and mercy. I foresee and foreknow all things. I foresee that Mary G., a pure and virtuous girl, and daughter of Christian and devoted mother is going to be outraged and murdered. I foresee when and where the heinous crime is going to be committed. I could communicate these facts beforehand to her parents; I could warn her of the danger, and save her life and preserve her chastity. I am the watchful and loving Father of the Universe, protecting the innocent and preserving the righteous. All things are possible to me. But I won't forwarn Mary G., nor turn aside her slayer; neither will I communicate to her fond and unsuspecting parents these facts. But after the murderer has done his work and secreted her, deflowered, mangled and dead body, I the all seeing, all knowing and merciful Heavenly Father will reveal to her mother the whereabouts of her lifeless form.
Let the brute do his work; let the innocent and unsuspecting suffer. I will see that her lifeless body is found.
I fear the day when the Truth will shine in all its fullness, beauty and glory, and saving power, upon a dying world, is still far in the future.
Such theology, such logic as that which inspired these lines, drives me to the Church of the birds in the wildwoods. There we hear the Truth as full and as fresh as the guileless birds can express it. Preach and sing little birds with all the gladness and joy of thy guileless hearts. Through the God of Nature delivers to the nations of the earth a message of deathless and immeasurable import. Truth Seeker.

TO BENEFIT FARMERS

Superintendent Hines of Immigration Bureau Makes Report To Governor.
Acting on the request of Governor Crothers for suggestions to help him in his campaign to improve conditions for the farmers of the State, Dr. Frank K. Hines, Superintendent of the Bureau of Immigration, has filed with him a letter outlining a campaign. Dr. Hines thinks the first move should be the appointment in each county of a leading agriculturist, who in turn will name a sub-chairman for each county district. This sub-chairman should organize a county committee of farmers. With such an organization the work can, he thinks, progress.
Through this organization reports should be made of the farms for sale. One copy of the report should be sent to the Bureau of Immigration and another to the Experiment Station at College Park. Reports should also be prepared of the acreage devoted to each crop, and these reports should be sent to the Immigration Bureau, with indications of the probable yield when such a forecast is possible and also an estimate of the yield when the crop has been harvested.
District and county meetings should be frequent with a view of disseminating all the knowledge that can be procured. The county committees should be in touch with a State board organized for the purpose of receiving such reports and collecting useful information for transmission to the county committees.
Dr. Hines also suggests that the farmers after organizing devote their attention to the establishment of agencies, having as their purpose an investigation of the best markets at different times for different products of the farm.
He calls attention to the fact that the Bureau during the term of Governor Crothers has succeeded in settling 229 farmers in Maryland, most of whom are experienced men from the West. There are now 658 farms listed for sale with the Bureau.
In this letter the opinion is expressed that the day of the "red-shirt" farmer is past. Hard muscles are, he says, no longer the only requisite for success on the farm. The man of today must have some scientific knowledge of the job he undertakes if he wishes to make a success of it. He must also be something of a business man.
