FRANK A. ROBBINS' SHOW.

A Number Of Good Features in an Exceptionally Clean Show, Conducted Upon Lines That Merit Patronage.

Frank A. Robbins circus was here yesterday and it is among the very best small circuses and it is not so small at that. This is Mr. Robbins thirtieth annual season as proprietor of a show and his fortieth year in the show business.

The show has a number of good features, among them Prof. Carl Gerhart's eight performing stallions direct from the Circus Bush, Germany;
the Miles Orton six people acrobatic act and wire act; La Belle Clarke's dancing horse, Grand Duke—this is one of the prettiest acts of its kind ever seen in a circus. The horse is exceptionally well trained, Miss Clarke a good equestrian and the act is set off by the doves and the little dog which with Grand Duke and Miss Clarke makes a very pretty life picture. Prominent among the acts was the Dave Castello family of bare back riders. The music was good; in short the whole show was a clean, well featured and pleasing exhibition. The show in a few weeks will appear on the Eastern shore of Maryland, where it is sure to be favorably received, as it is an organization that merits patronage.—Mountville, W. Va., Daily Journal.

Aeroplane Industry.

The aeroplane industry has developed in France with as much rapidity
as did the manufacture of automobiles in the infancy of the land machine, and now there are in France a number of well equipped aeroplane factories, turning out machines to full capacity. A little over a year ago there were less than 100 aeroplanes in all Europe, principally in France, but statistics of constructors show that since the first cross channel flight Bleriot has built 250 duplicates of the monoplane with which he crossed from Calais to Dover, and Farman has manufactured at his works over a hundred biplanes. Other types bring the French production up to about 800, which have sold for something over $2,500,000.

The small Bleriot sold at first for $2,000, but after its success in crossing
the channel the price was raised,
and the latest type now costs from $3,100 to $5,100. The catalogue prices of other important makes are: For the Farman, $5,600; for the Voisin, $4,600
for the Antoinette, $5,000; for the Wright, which is manufactured under an arrangement with the inventor, $6,000, and for the Sommer machine, $5,000.

Farm Brought $12,000.

The home farm of the late Wm.
Howard, located in Barren Creek District, and containing 205 acres, was sold at public auction last Tuesday by the heirs. The purchasers were G.
A. Bounds and Co., Hebron, and the price paid was about $12,000. This farm contains a large amount of valuable timber.

AT OCEAN CITY.

The Atlantic Hotel Having One Of The Best Seasons in Many Years.

Ocean City has been rushed the past two weeks with visitors, and accommodations have been taxed their utmost to afford entertainment for them. At the Atlantic Hotel every spare room has been taken and any prospective guests necessarily turned away. Not for many years has the season been so good for this big hotel
as 1910. Considerably handicapped by an unpopular management preceding him, Dr. John G. Fuller, the resident director has made good in the face of unquestionable odds and to him is largely due the splendid results obtained for the American Resort Hotel Company of Philadelphia, which he represents at Maryland's only Ocean Resort. Dr. Fuller has been untiring in his efforts to give the best attention possible to his guests and improve the service of the Atlantic Hostelry. That his labor has met with marked success is the general opinion of the many guests who have registered there since June. Under the present favorable auspices and management next summer should be a banner year, and 1911 outdo all previous ones.

The American Resort Hotel Co., is offering an attractive Gold Note proposition on another page space of this paper and invite the careful investigation of prospective investors and capitalists of this and other interested communities. Further information can be secured from the Philadelphia executive office or of Dr. Fuller at Ocean City.

BOUGHT BY SALISBURIANS

Large Lumber Plant Of Hurley & Son, At Seaford, Delaware.

The Seaford planing mill, formerly owned and operated by L. W. Hurley and Son, has been purchased by Wm. M. Day, Whitefield S. Lowe,
Charles E. Day and Archibald Russell, all of Salisbury, who assumed control
last Monday.

The new Company has been incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware with a capital stock of $25,000.00. The officers are: President W. S. Lowe; Secretary and Treasurer, Charles E. Day, Superintendent,
A. Russell. The name of the new corporation is the Seaford Planing Mill Co.

This plant which is equipped to turn out all kinds of building material, is located directly on the Nanticoke River, with a water front of 500 feet, and has always enjoyed a fine trade. The new company proposes to add more machinery so as to greatly increase the output of the factory.

YOUNG MEN STAY HOME.

Becoming More Contented. Now They Make Their Farms Pay in Worcester Co.

Visitors to Snow Hill and Berlin remark frequently upon the purity of air and the fact that "it smells like the ocean". This is because the ocean is only a few miles away and its zone
is swept inland in refreshing quantity.

Residents claim that Worcester county is one of the healthiest sections in the world. It ought to be.
Its entire eastern boundary is the Atlantic Ocean, the atmospheric effect of which is felt far inland; as a rule
an excellent quality of drinking water is found, and the products of farm
and garden cannot be surpassed.

Land drainage is much better than in former years, cultivation is more extensive and thorough and malaria, that old-time bane of the Eastern Shore, is almost a thing unknown.
The people, too, are prosperous and contented. Agriculture, of course, is their principal occupation and the lot of the farmer has improved vastly in Worcester of recent years. He is making more money than ever before and is spending more for the comforts of life.

At the same time he is banking more. Existing mortgages are being paid off and few new ones are being placed, except to enable ambitious young men to purchase farms—and many are doing that right along.

Life On Farms Pleasant.

"In fact," says Mr. Horace F. Harmonson, State game warden, who lives at Berlin and is one of the most prominent and progressive residents
of this busy and attractive town,
"our young men are not leaving the county for the city, as they used to do in large numbers. Farming has become so much more profitable and life on the farm so much more attractive that they see readily the advantage of remaining in the country and devoting themselves to a business that presents more promises of realization each year.

"The young men are bringing Worcester county rapidly to the front;
they are employing advanced methods;
they watch the markets and secure
the best prices for their products;
they steadily and continually improve their land; they are going in for smaller cultivation tracts and intensive farming, with varied crops,
and in every way are demonstrating the pleasure and profit in scientific farming.

"Worcester offers many attractions
to the farmer. It has good facilities for marketing products and its soil is a kindly mother to all the fruits of the earth that may be grown in this climate. Especially is it adapted to trucking—in fact the people here are turning more to trucking every year
and are making money from it.

"A young man, working on his father's place, may cultivate three or four acres of potatoes, say for himself, and make a good thing of it. He may grow another and different crop on the same land a year. Soon he buys himself a team, and this tends to make him more contented at home.
There are scores of young men around here who own fine teams. Then he buys a piece of land for himself and maybe a farm, paying what cash he can command and placing a mortgage for the rest.

Youths Becoming Contented.

"This gives him the pride of possession. He has an ambition to pay on that mortgage and be known in the community as the owner of unencumbered land. Then he begins improving and fixing up his property, for,

perhaps, he may wish to bring a bride there. He finds farm work not the severe physical strain that his father and grandfather did because of the many different kind of labor saving machinery; he gets better prices for his products than they did and makes money faster. "All this makes him contented in his occupation and more loyal citizen of the country. As he progresses in material welfare the community and county are enriched
through this higher grade of citizenship and the increase he brings to the taxable basis. The general advance in the status of the farmer has been a wonderful thing for Worcester county, as I, suppose it has for every agricultural community of the State."

Telephone Is A Big Step.

Telephone service and rural mail delivery have done much to promote contentment on the farm and to induce young men to remain at home
instead of seeking positions in cities.
Timely delivery of daily papers keeps the farmer in touch with the markets and the news of the world, and the telephone is a great source of comfort to his wife, she can call the doctor if the baby is sick, can talk with her neighbors and order things from town.
The convenience banishes, to a great extent, the feeling of isolation she had formerly and causes her to be more content with life in the country.

Feeding Up Poor Soil.

Farmers of Worcester study soil needs much more than formerly and seek to supply those needs in the form of proper food. Land is like a work animal or a human being it is capable of doing an immense amount of productive work, but it gets hungry and must be fed, just as the horse or the human being. And the proper constituents for "muscle and bone" making must be given land as to living laborers. Failure to appreciate this fact was responsible for much of the severe lot and unremunerative occupation of farmers of past generations: it saw the occupation of "black eye"
and caused thousands of young men to desert the soil for labor of various kinds in the crowded cities, where they became consumers instead of producers and thus helped bring about the present era of high prices of living.

In the old days the boy raised on the farm had many prods to his determination to get away. He was compelled to soil early and late in the fields, had few educational advantages and not many holidays at least not at the time that he wanted them.
He followed, on foot, the plow or cultivator behind a straining team;
on every side were demands for exhausting manual labor and his amusements were almost nil.

Today he finds nearly all his work simplified and made easy, comparatively, by modern labor saving machinery. He may ride comfortably while plowing, cultivating and cutting his corn, almost all the work on a potato crop is done with machines—digging, weeding and planting—and so it goes. He can cultivate alone, and at much less expense, a larger piece of land than he could have done
a dozen or so years ago with the more or less efficient aid of several negro laborers. His crops bring handsome returns as a rule, and there is no reason why he should rail at the farmer's lot.

Dry feet and comfort are very essential to good health. The Yearling Calf Shoe for the Farmer is the shoe that will do it. Give them a trial, you can get same at the Big Shoe Store, E. Homer White Shoe Co.

READY FOR FARMERS

Meet At Salisbury All Day Wednesday.
Should Be Large Turn Out.

Everything is in readiness for the big Meet of the Farmers to be held on the Wicomico Fair Grounds next Wednesday September 7th, beginning at 10 o'clock. The necessary arrangements are in the hands of efficient committees and the day should be a most notable one in Agricultural progress and history on the Eastern Shore. The program appended below shows a list of attractive values such as is seldom seen at any all day meeting and every farmer should make an earnest effort to attend and share in the benefits of the discourse.

Stalls and driven wells are in the grounds for the use of horses, and there are plenty of booths and stands for spreading uncheon. The Reception Committee named for this occasion is: Walter B. Miller, Chairman,
Prof. W. F. Massey, C. R. Dusharson,
Thomas Perry, E. A. Tordvine, M.
V. Brewington, R. D. Grier, S. P.
Woodcock, and J. Koscoe White.

Prof. Thos. F. McNulty will sing a number of popular songs.
Opportunity will be given for questions and answers. Special trains and excursions rates. Everyone is invited.
Special provisions for the comfort of Ladies. Music furnished by the Band.

Train Schedule.

Steamer "Cambridge" will leave
Baltimore from Pier 4, Light Street,
at 6.30 a. m., on the morning of Wednesday, September 7th; arriving at Oalborne at 9.40 a. m. Special train will be there in waiting and leave 9:45 a. m., arriving at Byrd's Siding at 11.15 a. m. This train will make absolutely no stops.
Returning, will leave Byrd's Siding at 5.00 p. m., arriving at Oalborne at 6.45 p. m., steamer leaving Oalborne at 6.45 p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 10.00 p. m.
Tickets will be on sale the morning of September 7th, and the round trip will be $1.50, good for the day only.

A Good Position.

Can be had by ambitious young men
and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 3 hour law became effective and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country
there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati,
O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

IN MEMORIAM.

Rev. William H. Logan.

The death of Rev. Mr. Logan which occurred in Wilmington, Del., August 26th., following less than a month that of his wife, will cause a pang of sorrow in many hearts. No minister of the New Castle Presbytery was more widely known and esteemed for his sterling qualities and his services to the church. The equipoise of his mind the kindness of his heart, his tact in dealing with men, his devotion to the cause of Christ, and his interest in the material and spiritual progress of the church made him a model presbyter and pastor. Having known him intimately from his induction into the Ministry nearly forty years ago, and having been associated with him in Church work I desire to pay my tribute of love and esteem to his memory. In recognition of his worth as a minister and a man. I recall with pleasure the visit I made with him in the year 1875 to the little church of Millerstown, Pa., by appointment of the Presbytery of Carlisle, to seek to revive the church which having been for some time without a pastor, had greatly declined in numbers and strength, but sixty names remaining on the roll of Church membership. How earnestly he took hold of the work hunting up the scattered sheep and bringing them back to the fold. After preaching for a week or more in the old church, the Spirit of the Lord being manifestly present sixty were added to the membership of the church, mostly men, among them the leading citizens of the town. They at once made out a call for Mr. Logan, secured him a Manse and under his leadership, enlarged and refitted the church, which entered upon a new era of growth and prosperity. Here in connection with the church at Newport, Mr. Logan labored happily, until his appointment as Presbyterial Missionary by the Presbytery of Carlisle. This position he resigned about twenty years ago to accept a similar position in the Presbytery of New Castle which contained many small and weak churches. That these feeble churches might be aided in the support of their pastors, he secured the adoption by the Synod of Baltimore of the system of Ministerial Sustentation by which the small salaries paid by many churches to their ministers, could be supplemented and brought up to a living standard. For many years he secured the working of this plan. It was while acting as Presbyterial Missionary, that he was called upon to moderate a congregational meeting in the Manokin Church of Princess Anne, to call a pastor. A candidate having been nominated
when the votes were cast and counted,
to the great surprise of the presiding officer, the majority of the ballots were given to him instead of the proposed candidate. The choice of the people being so unmistakably expressed, Mr. Logan became the pastor of the church and devoted his energies to renovating the old church and to the improvement of the church property as well as the promotion of its spiritual interests. In all his work he was greatly aided by his wife who with wonderful tact gathered together
a Bible Class of men and took the lead in developing the Missionary spirit of the Church. Her zeal in this cause obtained the recognition of the church, and she was made the President of The Woman's Presbyterial Society of Foreign Missions, an office which she filled with remarkable success. About four months ago, on account of impaired health, Mr. Logan with his wife and daughter made a voyage to Europe. They had almost completed their tour, and had reached Dublin, expecting in a few days to sail for home, when Mrs. Logan was seized with pneumonia and in five days succumbed to the disease and her spirit entered the home eternal before the journey to the earthly home was completed. The shock was too great for Mr. Logan in his entebled state of health, he sank beneath the blow and after a few days of illness his spirit rejoined that of his loved companion in glory. "A Strange Providence" some may say, "A sad bereavement." Sad it may be to us and the dear children left behind, but God's doings, though they seem strange, are not unwise nor unjust.
He calls his laborers home at the right time and in the right way. When their work on earth is completed he calls them to their reward which is but some higher form of service, Oh!
the happiness of that servant to whom his Lord shall say, "Because thou has been faithful over a few things I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord!" S. W. R.

Mr. George Walker Phillips last week disposed of two more acres of the Better Farm in Parsons District.
He sold to Mr. Wm. Wilkins two acres, including the old red tenement house for $1,300. This piece amounted from the shell road to the railroad.
Ten acres in the rear of this farm
were sold to Dr. E. and Emma Fisher.
The price was not made public.

The New Fall Models of
The "Housewife" Corset
Are Ready - - - $1.00

Better than ever—we have learned to put into these corsets even more than the big dollar's worth which we have been giving. Housewife Corsets are the best all-round corsets made—equally adaptable for dress or working corsets.

The ordinary dress corset is not a good working corset—it is too stiff and it is very likely to bind under the arms. The "Housewife" is built to avoid this. It is firmly but flexibly boned—and it is cut low under the arms, giving absolute freedom while sweeping, dusting or performing other household duties. It requires no "breaking in"—from the first moment you put it on it is as comfortable as an old corset, and yet its lines are so graceful that your best suit or costume will look its best when worn over a "Housewife."

Fall models in fine coutil—white or drab—double boned—with hose supporters attached—all sizes from 18 to 30.

$1.00—and it will outwear two pairs of the average dollar corset.

WE Prepay freight on all orders of $5.00 or over, within a radius of 200 miles from Baltimore.

ON THE SEWING DA

DON'T WORK YOURSELF UP INTO A NERVOUS FRENZY.

See That the Machine is Carefully Cleaned, and Go About Your Work in a Hopeful Frame of Mind.

Do you begin feeling that you will go mad before the garment is completed? Do you tote your sewing from room to room, losing this, that and the other, and never knowing where needles and thread are? Do you wait till sewing day before cleaning the machine? If you do any one or all of these things you are wrong. The fates of the thread and needle must be coddled—and all the job begins with a hopeful frame of mind. You have made Jenny's dresses and your own before this; why should you fall now?

So first buckle on your armor of faith in yourself. Then, if you haven't done so already, the week before the important business begins try and turn a good part of a light, airy room into the sewing establishment. If a whole room can be given up to it and kept for the purpose all the better. Have the room cleaned before you begin on any important part of the feat, for cleanliness is a great rest to the spirit. Have a little crockery bowl or pretty pitcher somewhere with a bright flower that you can look at when your heart gets tired. Put the sewing machine near a window and arrange it and the chair so that the light will fall over your left shoulder. Clean it the day before the work is to begin, and if it seems dusty oil it thoroughly with kerosene oil, and after cleaning it well with this put on a fresh but light supply of machine oil. On the sewing day see to it that no particle of grease is left about the needle or foot to soil the dainty material that is to be made up by sewing a scrap over and over until the thread shows no oil.

For all the big chinking-out try and have a large table, for this is more convenient than the lap board, which is never long enough for some things. Put this table conveniently near the sewing machine, and have a smaller and lower one alongside it with all the sewing traps—shears, smaller scissors, a paper of needles, one of pins, hooks, eyes, button tapes and whatever linings or facings are to be used. But put the dress material on the big table on which it is to be cut out and have somewhere in the room a bit of muslin or dress lining which may be cut up to try effects with collars, cuffs, trimmings, etc. Then fasten the shears with a long braid to your belt, put the tape measure in the pocket of your sewing apron, and pin a small pin cushion to the left side of your dress waist, stabbing it first with several needles and pins.

With this get-up, which is, of course, for the actual sewing day, little more than ordinary good sense is essential. In using all flat-paper models it is necessary to read the directions on them and not go contrary to their rules. They should also be bought by exact bust or waist measurements, and with any change—increasing or decreasing the size—the alterations must not be made at the edges of the model, but midway in its length or breadth.

For the rest, be kind to yourself—and to the day. Eat a good luncheon and never put up work for the night without laying each band, gusset and seam, as you might say, where it surely can be found the next morning. Through all the sewing take the visitor and sit straight in your chair, never bending the chest or stomach.

Use basting thread—it saves making mistakes that take a long time to alter.

DISTRUST.

So many folks ambitious Have curious tricks to play! He looked on as suspicious To ask the time of day. Each generous invitation To gratitude or thanks Brings the interrogation: "I wonder what his game?" If some one gives us money Or merely good advice, We say: "It's rather funny, We'd best be thinking twice Before we help to win him. The praise he seeks to claim, It seems good-natured in him— I wonder what his game?"

USED TO HEAT.

Attendant—It's no use, your highness, can't get it hot enough for that fellow.
Satan—How's that?
Attendant—He was in the Turkish bath business before he came down.

New Ruler in a New Realm. The eagle seeks his abode. The condor screams "Beware!" The birds of prey all swoop away— The man-bird rules the air!

Just Like a Man. "This is an uncertain age," remarked the young woman with the intellectual brow as she read about what the comet might do if it struck the earth. "Yes," laughed the cynical old bachelor, "almost as uncertain as the age of woman."

A Sure Method. The town had been literally burning up for want of rain for two weeks. "Do you suppose that if we called a mass meeting and everyone prayed, it would rain?" asked the town selectman.

"Nay," responded the wisest man in the community, "let's arrange to have a picnic. That'll fix it."
Measure of Time. "Say," asked the first messenger boy, "got any novels ter swop?" "I got 'Big Foot Bill's Revenge,'" replied the other. "Is it a long story?" "Naw! Ye kin finish it easy in two messages."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Curing His Insomnia. "Well, how did you sleep last night?" "Like a top." "That sleeping powder fixed you up all right, did it?" "Doo, it was a wonder! Ten minutes after she had taken it she was dead to the world."

During the Third Degree. "So you are a professional burglar," said the policeman with the stubby mustache. "Well, I thought I was," replied the subject of the interview, "but the way you fellows got me makes me believe I'm only an amateur."

Suburban Strategy. Gunner—How in the world did you coax Gloseman to let you have the use of his new lawnmower? Guyer—it was easy. I started my old, squeaky mower about six a. m. and it aroused Gloseman from his morning nap.

VERY APPROPRIATE.

Mr. Jinks—Preacher preached a sermon on political grafting today, and the choir sang a selection that was very appropriate.
Mrs. Jinks—What was it?
Mr. Jinks—I have to steal a whole swag.

His Weakness. He pruned as well as he could. But he had about the fish he caught.

The Road to the Heart. "Is—Gay, Clarissa, it's a long road to your heart!"
"Yes, Clarissa—You can travel over a long road much faster in an auto—Tale Record."

Violating Professional Courtesy. First Tramp—What time is it? Second Tramp—Come off, I'm chief myself.—Flagging Blastet.

The General Tendency. What's the use of singing me that old "fish song" some? When nobody's listening I see it's just a waste of time. Do please sing something strong. Do please sing something strong. Do please sing something strong.

CASTORIA. The Kid You Have Always Bought. For Infants and Children.

Ice Cream Cakes.

Whites of five eggs, one and one-half cups fine granulated sugar, one-half cup of butter, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon soda, three cups sifted flour. Color one-half of the mixture pink with strawberry coloring and flavor with vanilla. Flavor the white part with lemon. Bake slowly in a brick loaf tin, putting the white dough in first and the pink dough on top. Forty minutes is about the right time. Try with a straw and take out as soon as done or the colors will not keep their color otherwise. Turn on a board and frost with a white icing. Color one-half of it pink. Spread the pink icing on the white part and then the white icing on the pink part and cover with a chocolate glass made by melting one and one-half squares unswetened chocolate. Do not stir, and when melted spread over frosting.

Surprise Cakes. Make a plain white cake of one cup of sugar, one-half of butter, two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, and add at last the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in flat pan. In each square press a chocolate cream before frosting with the yolks of two eggs beaten and stiffened with powdered sugar and flavored with vanilla.

Green Pea Salad. Boil green peas until tender; when done, drain on a sieve and let them get cold. Rub a salad bowl with a clove of garlic, arrange the peas with some cooked beans neatly in the bowl, garnish with rings of hard boiled eggs, rounds of cooked sliced beets, and parsley. If the flavor of onion is liked, one finely chopped shallot may be mixed with this salad. Serve with French dressing.

Oatmeal Cakes. Cupful of butter or one-half lard and one-half cup of sugar, one cupful of oatmeal, one cupful of flour, one cupful of milk, one level teaspoonful of soda, one egg, one cupful of raisins and mixed currants, two cupfuls of cracked oats, two cupfuls of flour. Drop on pans about size of walnut an inch apart. If sweet milk is used use two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. These have a nutty flavor.

Omelet With Cat's Brains. In serving an omelet with cat's brains parboil the latter in salted water, adding a clove, slice of onion and a bay leaf. Chill, cut into dice, dip in egg and crumbs, fry in deep fat and serve round the omelet.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swensen, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Buckle's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, foot sores, bunns, sores, cuts, and piles, 25 cents at All Druggists.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.
Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me for long time. The cure was permanent!—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta Me.

Regulates the bowels, promotes easy natural movements, cures constipation—Doan's Regulets. Ask your druggist for them. 35c a box.

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper stools to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives. The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past. To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Salisbury People Know How To Save It. Many Salisbury people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all disease and aches and pain due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Salisbury citizen recommendation.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 818 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy, bearing down sensation through my hips. No matter what I took this misery clung to me and was also bothered, when arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins, at last I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's Drug Store and in return for the benefit they brought me I consider them worthy of my endorsement."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Lash Of A Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper, of Oswego, N. Y., as a meretricious lung racking cough that defied all remedies or years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lung, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces—50c. $1. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by All Druggists.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs like strains on machinery, cause break down. You can't overtax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run down or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down while enduring a most severe strain, for three months is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at all Druggists.

A Man Of Iron Nerve.

Indomitable will and tremendous energy are found where stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring use Dr. King's New Life Pills, the matchless regulators, for keen brain and strong body. 35c at All Druggists.

Mothers!

Don't fail to procure Mrs. Winalow's Soothing Syrup for your children while cutting teeth. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, passed in the case of Edwin Malone vs. Mollie E. Malone vs. Alexander G. Malone, et al., being No. 184 Chancery in the said Court, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale at the front door of the Court House, in Salisbury, Maryland, on Saturday, Sept. 3rd., 1910

at the hour of two o'clock p. m. all that tract or parcel of land situated in Nanters Election District, Wicomico County, State of Maryland, on the North side of and binding upon the county road leading from Salisbury to Snow Hill bounded on the West by the county road known as the "Parker Road," bounded on the East by the land of Clayton O. Parker, formerly owned by Wm. F. Ward, and by the land of Robert Parsons; and bounded on the North by the land of Josiah J. Parsons, containing one hundred and twenty six acres, more or less; and being a part of the same land which was conveyed to Alexander P. Malone and Benjamin H. Parker by William P. Gausey, Executor, and John E. Parker by deed dated March 30th, 1888, and recorded among the Land Records of Wicomico County, Maryland, in Liber S. P. T. No. 3, Folio 335. This property is improved by a two story residence and necessary outbuildings.

Terms of Sale: 1/3 cash, 1/3 in six months and 1/3 in twelve months, or all cash at the option of the purchaser, the credit payments to be paid in full from the date of sale and to be secured by the note or notes of the purchaser or purchasers, endorsed to the satisfaction of the Trustee.
Title papers at expense of the purchaser.

The Toilet Table
An excellent remedy for bruises is a mixture made of equal parts of camphor, alcohol, water and ammonia. After a dusty trip the face should be carefully bathed in warm water and massaged with cold cream.
A simple remedy to cure a wart is to bathe it several times a day with a strong solution of bicarbonate of soda. Turpentine applied to a bruise will quickly relieve pain. Applications of hot witch hazel are also excellent.
An inexpensive disinfectant for a sick room can be made as follows: Put some ground coffee in a saucer and in the middle place a small piece of camphor gum. Light the gum with a match. As the gum allows the coffee to burn with it the smell is most refreshing.
If the diet is planned to meet the needs of the system in warm weather there will be little danger of disease and of the many indispositions which are caused by indigestion eating in the heated days. Remember that in summer we do not need the foods which give heat or the tissue-building foods, such as meat.
Beads for Applique. Beads are to the fore, wooden, satin and rubber, strung on metal thread on a gold gauze background.

BONNETS FOR TOTS

MAKE THE LITTLE WEARERS
LOOK LIKE FRENCH DOLLS.

In the Maze of Elaborate Hats for Tiny Maids, Mothers Are Reminded That Simplicity is Part of Childhood's Charm.

If there is anything that makes the mother of boys only, or the woman who has not enjoyed the noble privilege of having children at all, long for a girl of her own it is the sight of the ducky bonnets wherewith they crown small girls nowadays, making them
look like regular French dolls.

As a matter of record, the French have always put elaborately decorative hats on the heads of little girl bod-
dies, letting the golden locks or obon,
as the case may be, peek out through wreathings of roses or choux of rib-ben.

From the hour when her daughter emerges from babyhood the French mother puts her mind each season to exceeding the previous season's refreshment of a hat for her small daughter, and in accomplishing her end she seems to stop at nothing except what the old-fashioned call bugles, those faded ornaments which most decorate old ladies' headgear. Everything but these go to making Mrs. Pettie's bonnets it would seem.

We have fallen into the way of elaborate hats for small maidens, but we still observe, or try to observe,
something of that simplicity which is part of the charm of childhood. Our bonnets for our babies are confined largely to muslin, ribbon, soft-straw and tiny blooms.

Hats for small girls afford all the variety that could be asked in the way of a summer crown for little Sue or May. The one pictured, with wreathings of closely massed rosebuds, has full shirred crown of pink chiffon, from which falls softly over the curls of the little maiden a ruffle of pink chiffon. Very dainty, and a model that can be quickly and cheaply copied.

On many of the French bonnets for children, black is employed with prevailing, though barely visible. One shape that bears the name of a Paris firm is close fitting, blue straw, of a pale shade, supple enough to be pliated at the lower edge. A band of black velvet marks the line of junction of crown and brim, and on one side forms a bow with loops and ends.
Who but a French milliner would think of forming tiny white roses in rings and placing them at intervals on the velvet band? Then, as a final touch, a soft frill of valenciennes lace is attached to the under surface of the brim.

MANY HINTS ABOUT THE BABY

What to Do When the Little One Falls and is Injured—Refreshing Drink for Hot Weather.

When baby falls and bruises himself, provided the skin is not broken, apply a clean cloth wrung out of water as hot as can be borne. A little olive oil, butter or vasoline should then be rubbed in to prevent discoloration.

If the skin is broken, however,
bathe the place carefully with warm water, to which a little boracic acid
has been added, to remove the dirt.
Then apply some boracic ointment,
and the abrasion will very quickly
heal, says Home Chat.

Barley water makes a cooling and refreshing drink for the little ones
during the hot weather.
It should be prepared like this:
Well wash two tablespoonsful of pearl barley and simmer gently in a pint
and a half of water for two hours.
Then strain, add a little lemon juice
and sweeten very slightly.

In hot weather it should be made fresh every day, as it "turns" quickly.

Buttons on Summer Frocks.

When buttons are used as trimming
on summer frocks, instead of sewing them, they should be worked
and the shank of the button pushed through and caught on the wrong side
with patent fasteners or rings.

Be sure to remove these buttons before the frock is sent downstairs to the laundry, otherwise they may not all return. Not only is this method better for the buttons and prevents chipping and yellowing from hot soda,
but it simplifies ironing.

Iron Rust.

For iron rust, soak the stain with lemon juice, sprinkle with salt and bleach for several hours in the sun.

COME OUT TO WEDNESDAY'S PICNIC.
It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance of the farming fraternity of the Eastern Shore at the big Meet here on the Wicomico Fair Grounds, next Wednesday. Every preparation is being made to afford a day of pleasure and benefit while the buildings of the Fair Association afford ample facilities for the entertainment of all visitors.

A Picnic of so large a scope and with such prominent speakers has seldom been presented in this section, and it is urged that all farmers and those allied interests in the agricultural field make a hearty response by their presence. The program published in the ADVERTISER is full of subjects for valuable discussion and information.

POST OFFICE ECONOMIES.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has been vigorously economizing, so he tells us, but there are urgent complaints from the business men of Philadelphia and elsewhere that the delivery of their mail is greatly delayed.
It appears there has been no appropriation made to any substitute mail carriers, to take the place of the regular carriers when taking their vacation. Postmen whose regular work is the collection of mail have been shifted to the work of delivery and this delays the collection and delivery of mail. This curtailment of the collection and delivery service perhaps only affects the larger cities, but although everyone favors reasonable economy, no one asks for a restriction of the postal business. Some economies are the worst kind of extravagance.

REPUBLICAN SCAPEGOATS.

This seems to be the open season
for Republican scapegoats, and every G. O. P. patriot is gunning for one or more. In olden times scapegoats were driven into the wilderness and the weight of the sins they bore presumably caused them to perish. In these modern times our political scapegoats are driven into the political wilderness as a manifestation to the people of the virtue and integrity of the drivers, or as an example to others to keep in with the powers that be.

The open season for gunning for Republican scapegoats is always just before election—their hides have more political value at that time, especially if the portents of the election indicate that it will be close and doubtful.

The summer capital at Beverly seems to be the headquarters for the scapegoat hunters and such eminent statesmen as Cannon, Aldrich and Ballinger—and goodness knows who besides the dire exigencies and sins of the party may require—have been selected as the living sacrifice.

An evidently inspired dispatch from Beverly sent out by the Associated Press tells the tale of woe and the probable fate of the scapegoats. There is a striking similarity in the plans of the Administration to the Jewish ceremonial described in Leviticus. The scapegoat there described bears all the sins of the people and is sent by the hand of a "safe man" into the wilderness
where there is no people. Senator Oran seems to be the "safe man" in the ceremonial now under way, but there must be grave doubt whether those selected can bear a modicum of the sins of the Republican party. It will be necessary to hear from the Colonel and Pinchot and Garfield before deciding on the efficacy of the sacrificial rite.

Perhaps when it comes to the pinch
neither Cannon nor Aldrich nor Ballinger will want to be the goats.
They may suggest that other Republicans could play the part better. All of those selected as goats show signs of insubordination. Uncle Joe says he is "as fat as a fiddle," and expects the Republicans of this district to re-elect him; and the Republican caucus
and not the Administration will decide whether he shall be re-elected as Speaker. Senator Aldrich at the request of the "safe man" has made a statement that will bring on more controversy with Senator Bristow,
which indicates that this goat business may be carried too far and that he is still an alive political entity.
Ballinger—here may be found the real and only scapegoat will gladly leave the Cabinet after the majority of the committee of investigation has given him a coat of whitewash. The "safe man" will escort him to the wilderness in his whitened garb, after first parading him through the Western states as the real goat of the Administration.

These are the plans of the Administration, but perhaps the popular appetite for goats will not be appeased
by the Taft banquet and will demand
more scapegoats before election day.
It is quite within the realm of probabilities that in casting out these goats
to the ravens wolves, that are politically termed "insurgents," the demand for the play to be repeated will be so insistent that only President Taft and the "safe man" will be left to tell the tale.

Indian's Skeleton Dug Up.
Chief Buried Long Ago.

Workmen laying water pipes for Dr. H. E. Miller, at Elkton, Rockingham county Va., unearthed the bones of a supposed Indian chief who must have been buried centuries ago.
By the side of the dead chieftain
were found four tomahawks and 60 arrow heads that had been placed in the grave by his faithful followers
who desired their leader to be well prepared for the conflicts sure to follow in the Happy Hunting Grounds.
The bones of the redskin crumbled away to the touch but Dr. Miller was able to save the jawbone and several teeth.
Over the face of the chief was found
a thin mask of hammered copper,
which melted away into dust upon being touched. The remains of several Indian mounds are to be seen in Rockingham county. Near Broadway
some years ago Gerald Thorpe found a mound containing the skeletons of several hundred Indians, a number of which may now be seen in the Smithsonian Institute, Washington.

Celebrated Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Monday evening at their home in Wilmington, Del. The happy event brought together hosts of their friends who were handsomely entertained at the Robinson home.
Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are natives of Salisbury, where they were married August 29, 1860, and resided here for several years. They moved to Wilmington many years ago, and have since made their home in that city.
Mrs. Robinson is a sister of Col.
John P. Owens of Salisbury.

County Statement.

In our next issue we expect to publish the annual statement of the County Commissioners office, including the levy for 1910, statements of receipts and disbursements for the year ending May 31, 1909, and statements of the County's assets and liabilities. The Treasurer expected to have these statements ready for this week but has been confined to his home sick for the past two weeks.

Two Sorts Of Paint Makers.

Why don't Devoe make paint, as many others do, to go three quarters
as far, or two thirds, or half or a third, or a quarter?
Mr. Aron Higgins, Plainfield, N.
J., always used 15 gallons of paint
for his house; Devoe took 11.
There are two sorts of paint: all paint true paint, strong paint, full-measure; and part paint, false paint,
weak paint, short measure.
The paint manufacturers are two sort Devoe and the rest.

TIME
IS MORE VALUABLE
ALL THE WHILE

Employers demand promptness
and minutes are as valuable as hours
used to be. He is a wise man that appreciates that time is money.

This emphasizes the need of exact timepieces. No one these days can afford to carry a now fast now slow
time piece.

He might just as well guess the
time from the sun as his great grandfather used to do.

Please remember that we are time
specialists. We sell all the dependable clocks and watches. We match
the lowest of prices and we invite you to bother us all you like.

Following upon the announcement that the Delaware Railroad Company is to erect a handsome and modern station in Dover, comes the statement that Laurel is to get a new station too. The Dover station is to cost about $40,000. The new station at Laurel is to cost about $7,500, and the contract for it has been awarded to W. S. and A. M. Culp, of Chestertown.

In the civil service examination for stenographic positions in the Panama Zone, held July 26, J. Harper
Batt of Laurel, Delaware, stood first of the ninety seven candidates who took the examination in Washington.
Mr. Batt writes Gregg Shorthand, and is a graduate of the Beacom Business College in Wilmington. An appointment on the Isthmus carries with it a salary of $125 a month and quarters;
after six months satisfactory service,
this is increased to $1800 a year and quarters.

Mr. William F. Wiggins, a trucker and fruit grower, near Orampton in the upper part of Queen Anne's county, has for the past two week been supplying the market at Centerville
and Chestertown with strawberries.
The berries which are of fine size and quality, have found ready sale. The berries are known as the Superior variety. Mr. Wiggins attributes the late frost of last spring as the cause of the vines bearing at this particular time of the year. The berries will continue to grow until the vines are killed by frost.

Fairfield, the home of Miss Annie Peters, has been the scene of a very enjoyable house party for the past two weeks. Anting and numerous merry pranks have afforded the guests much amusement. Those enjoying the hospitality of Fairfield are:—Miss Maud Barnhart, of Baltimore, Miss Homer and Mr. Gregory, of Philadelphia, Miss Price, of Snow Hill, Miss Scarborough and Mr. Scarborough of Girdletree, Mr. Elliott, of Wilmington, Misses Wise and Hopkins, of Onancock, Va., and Mr. Peters, of Snow Hill.

Mr. W. H. McConkey received news last week of the death of his cousin, Senator E. K. McCoukey, at his home in York, Pa. His death was due to heart failure. He was 46 years old and was secretary and treasurer of the Farmer's Fire Insurance Company, of York, Pa. In 1902 he was elected State Senator from York County. He was interested in the York National Bank, being a director of that institution. He was a director of the York Water Company, The York Gas Co., and the Guardian Trust Company.

Ernest Bradler, an employe of the Adkins Co., Berlin, met with a painful accident one day last week.
He was walking beside a load of lumber, and in reaching for a piece of harness which was slipping from the load he tripped and fell. The wheels passed over both feet, crushing them
and bursting open the flesh so that five stitches were required to close the wound. No bones were broken and it is expected that there will be no permanent injury.

Mrs. Margaret E. Matthews, widow of the late Wm. H. Matthews, died at the home of her son in law,
Asst. Postmaster O. J. Lucas in Po-comoke City. Mrs. Matthews was the oldest resident of Pocomoke being 90 years and 8 months of age. She was Miss Margaret Ewell, of Accomac
County Va., before her marriage.
Two children—Mrs. O. J. Lucas, of Pocomoke, and J. G. Matthews, of Temperanceville, Va., survive her.
She is also survived by six grand children and five great grandchildren.

Prof. Thomas B. Symons, State Entomologist went to Preston recently to inspect some of the tomato fields where the plants are dying from an unknown disease. He carried specimens of the diseased plants to Professor Norton, State Pathologist, and the two scientists will endeavor to learn the cause and discover a remedy for what threatens to become a serious menace to the tomato packing industry. Growers and canning men are waiting anxiously the report of the scientists on this disease.

Work has begun on the Baptist church at Cambridge, which will replace the structure destroyed by fire last January. The new building will be of brick with a slate or asbestos roof. It will consist of the main auditorium and a Sunday school room
connected with it by folding doors.
The building will be heated by hot air or steam, and its estimated cost is $8,000 to $9,000. Plans for the church were drawn by E. D. and M.
C. Price, of Atlantic Highlands, N.
J. The building will be finished this fall.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Immortal Worms and Unquenchable Fire

"Where their worm dieth not and their fire is not quenched" (Mark ix, 44).

These words from the lips of our Master, the Great Teacher, have been grievously misunderstood. The teaching of our Protestant childhood was to the effect that only the saintly elect would go to heaven and that others would not only lose heaven, but gain an eternal life in torment. Thus our text was understood to portray what practically the whole world of mankind would be compelled to endure. This hell was pictured to our childhood minds from outside the Bible as heated to a white heat. If we expressed wonder or surprise that any human creature could endure such conditions so long the answer was that God would exercise his omnipotent power to make us fire-proof and pain-sensitive. Some theologians of the Thomas a Kempis school of thought went so far as to picture the poor creatures in their sufferings and to show that the heat would form a kind of an asbestos covering which would shield them from a measure of its intensity. But those deluded theologians proceeded to explain that these outer coverings would crack and shell off every little while, leaving the poor victim freshly tender that his suffering might be the more intense.

Of course, these theologians of the past had their difficulty in dealing with the worms. They could imagine devils who would oversee the torture as being made immune to pain by the chief torturer, the Almighty God. But just how to imagine the worm getting along in so great a heat and how they would in any wise increase the torture of the poor sufferer was to many a perplexity. But patient thoughtfulness along these cruel and devilish lines enabled some to formulate the theory that the worms would be very ones, living in fire, delighting in fire—worms that would bore through the incrustations and add still further to the horrible sufferings of the world of mankind.

Was This What Jesus Meant?

Did the Great Teacher intend that such conclusions should be drawn from his language? And did he stop short of the description from reasons of sympathy or modesty or shame? Is this the general teaching of God's Word or has a great and terrible mistake been made? And have we mistaken a figure of speech and treated it as literal? We speak. We misunderstand. The Great Teacher who rebuked his disciples, James and John, when they desired to call fire from heaven upon the City of Samaria, because the people thereof refused to sell them food for the Master—the sympathetic One who said to them, "Ye know of what manner of spirit ye are of; the Son of man came not to destroy men's lives, but to save them"—could that Son of man in any wise intend to tell us that our great Heavenly Father had less of the spirit of love and righteousness than the two important disciples? Did he mean to intimate that while the disciples impudently might have been willing to destroy the earthly life of the Samaritans, the Heavenly Father, of still more demagogical disposition, would treat practically all mankind ten million times worse than that and use Divine Power to all eternity to perpetuate the sufferings of his earthly creatures which his own Word declares were born in sin, whom in infancy, in sin did their mothers conceive them—earthly creatures, too, whose environment was unfavorable and whose adversary, the devil, God neither destroyed nor bound?

Such an interpretation, my dear hearers, is not supposable. We must look for some explanation of the Master's words more consistent with his own character and with the Heavenly Father's character, and more consistent with our conception of what Jesus, the Loving, Wise and Powerful Creator would do. It does not answer the purpose to say, as so many do, "Bosh, do not discuss such a matter. Nobody now believes such things!" This one Scripture repudiated would shake our confidence in the whole Bible. But rightly explained and understood it would settle and increase our faith in the Scriptures as a Divine message. This, then, must be our object—not merely to cast from us the devilish interpretation of the dark ages, but to ascertain the true interpretation—to get the true lesson from the words of the Great Teacher. Thousands are drifting off into more or less open infidelity simply because of the irrational interpretation given to this text and two or three others. And these errors have become so instilled in our minds from childhood days that they have become part and parcel of our very lives, so that many of us would have been inclined at one time to dispute the very existence of a God as much as to dispute such slanderous misrepresentations of his glorious character.

Entering Into Life.

Let us go back to Jesus' day and in mind place ourselves with those who heard him utter the words of our text and context. The Teacher had just said, "If thy hand offend thee, cut it off—it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than, having two hands, to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched, where their worm dieth not and their fire is not quenched." He said the same in the following verses respecting the foot and the eye. Was he speaking literally or figuratively? Does any sane person suppose today that Jesus advised a literal cutting off of a hand or a foot or the plucking out of an eye? Assuredly not. And the person who would follow his counsel in that way would be considered unbalanced in mind. We all recognize what he did mean, namely, that if any who desired to have eternal life found that they had hindrances of appetite or pleasure or what not, as dear to them as an eye, foot, hand, these precious, but disqualifying sins or wrong-doings, should be put away—no matter how precious they were—no matter how highly esteemed. By way of contrast, the Master suggested that if the retaining of these things would hinder them from entering into life they could not afford to retain them—that even if they were to carry the figure further and suppose that in the future life they would be deprived to the extent of being maimed to all eternity it still would be preferable to them to practice the self-denial now and to enter into life.

Be It Noted that the reward here indicated is in the entering into life, and the intimation is that those who fall will not have life at all—that they will fall to attain life; that they will have no eternal life, either in pain or in pleasure. Let us examine our text further and see this.

Gehenna Typed the Second Death.

The word hell in our text is from the Greek word gehenna, which, in turn, was a corruption of the Hebrew word gehinnon, which signifies valley of death. There are two other words in the New Testament Greek translated hell in our common version. One of these, tartarus, has no reference to humanity whatever, but merely signifies our earth's atmosphere—the place where Satan and the fallen angels are restrained in chains of darkness (11 Peter ii, 4). The other Greek word rendered hell in the New Testament is hades, which corresponds exactly to the word rendered hell in the Old Testament, namely sheol. And all scholars know that both of these words signify the same thing. They are used interchangeably in the Scriptures to designate the state or condition of death—the tomb. No person, of even slight education, would for a moment attempt to claim that eternal torment is taught by sheol, hades or tartarus. The great stress of all who teach eternal torment falls, therefore, upon the word hell found in our text—in the original Greek, gehenna.

What we have to say respecting it will undoubtedly be news to but few of this congregation. But since this sermon will be reported in more than seven hundred newspapers of the land, our explanation will probably eventually reach ten million people, to whom the Truth on the subject will be new. What we have to say is not new to educated ministers, however, and why, as pastors, they have kept the sheep of their flock in the dark on the subject is for them to explain. They certainly cannot plead ignorance. At very most they can apologize that they hoped that the misunderstanding would do more good than the truth. They seem to forget entirely that this terrible misunderstanding is not only wrecking the faith of thousands, but dishonoring our Creator—blaspheming his holy name, his holy character, by misrepresenting it and the Divine Plan.

A Valley Outside Jerusalem.

I wish that those of you who have modern Bibles with maps at the back would turn to the map of the City of Jerusalem and there notice on the Southwest side of the City, just outside the wall, the Valley of Hinnon. That is the Valley that in brief was called Gehinnon, the Greek of which is gehenna. All of our Lord's uses of the word gehenna stand related to that Valley. For the sake of my larger congregation it will be worth while for us to take a glance backward at the history of that Valley during many centuries before Jesus' day.

The first mention of this Valley in the Bible is found in Joshua (xv, 8), where it is given as one of the boundaries of the tribe of Judah, according to the lot cast by Joshua in the division of the land that had come into possession of the Israelites. It is again mentioned similarly in Joshua xviii, 16. The next reference to this Valley is found in II Kings xxiii, 10. There we read of how Josiah, the good King of Judah, instituted a great reform in the nation and abolished idolatry, one of the most heinous forms of the idolatry having been practised in this Valley of Hinnon, which had gotten a new name, namely Topheth. History tells us that the Israelites built in this Topheth, the Valley of Hinnon, a great brass image to the heathen god Moloch. In various places they had groves in which a heinous form of worship was enacted and then they resorted to this Valley of Hinnon to offer sacrifice of a most revolting kind to the heathen deity. Sometimes it was a boy and some times it was a girl that was placed naked in the arms of the great image after it had been fired to a red heat with fuel piled underneath the image and passing through it as a fire. The cries of these infants so horribly sacrificed were drowned by the cheers of the worshippers and various musical instruments.

All of this, indeed everything akin to suffering, was strictly forbidden by the Divine Law given to Israel. And they had been specially warned against this very form of idolatry (Leviticus xviii, 21; Deuteronomy xviii, 10). It is a gross mistake and slander of the Divine character and Law to suppose that it ever sanctioned torture. And it is a still worse slander upon God to suppose that he would himself do, and that for all eternity, what he condemned in his fallen creatures.

The Lord declares all this through the Prophet Jeremiah (vii, 31-34). Here God particularly forewarned the Israelites that their wrong course would eventually in the terrible time of trouble which came upon Jerusalem in the year A. D. 70, when it was estimated that over a million died at the siege of Jerusalem. In fulfillment of this prophecy the Jews cast the dead bodies over the wall of Jerusalem into this very Valley. Thus we read, "Behold, the day is come, saith the Lord, that I shall no more be called Topheth, nor, The Valley of the son of Hinnon, but, The Valley of Slaughter; for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place. And the carcases of this people shall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth."

After the reformation made by King Josiah the Valley of Hinnon was deserted to the intent that it might never afterward be considered fit for any kind of religious worship, sacrifice or ceremony. It became the valley of defilement. It was used at certain times for the burning of the offal and rubbish of the city. It became the dumping place of dead cats and dogs, etc. If any of these fell upon the ledges of the rock, no one thought worth while to interfere, and the maggot and worms destroyed them. Fires also were lighted occasionally to burn the combustible rubbish, and brimstone was added so that the fumes might destroy any malarial tendency, in the interest of the health of the city.

The Lesson Jesus Taught.

We have before our minds now the gehenna fire which no one ever attempted to quench, but which was designed to consume utterly everything cast into it. We have in mind also the worms of which the speck-worms which were permitted to feed on the carcases undisturbed until the carcases themselves died. Another item here should be noticed, namely, that a saying amongst the Jews was, Whosoever commits such a misdemeanor will be in danger of going from bad to worse until he will be burned before the tribunal of the Sanhedrin, a culprit. Jesus took the same line of proverbial and declared that anyone violating the Golden Rule to the extent of calling his brother a fool would be in danger eventually of such digression from righteousness as to bring him under the sentence of the great tribunal of Messiah's Kingdom, and, "Whosoever shall say unto his brother, Thou art a fool, shall be in danger of gehenna fire" (Matthew v, 22).

What the Great Teacher meant was that the earthly Jerusalem was a picture or type of the heavenly Jerusalem, which represents the Divine Government or Kingdom—the New Jerusalem which, by and by, will come down to earth—when God's will shall be done on earth as it is done in heaven.

As gehenna lay outside of the wall of Jerusalem, so our Lord intimated there would be an antitypical gehenna outside the New Jerusalem. As the trash and offal of the typical city were consumed in the Valley of Hinnon, so the offal and trash of humanity who will refuse all of God's favors, mercies, blessings and opportunities, will be treated as disgraceful wretches and be consumed, destroyed, in the antitypical gehenna—which is the Second Death. Concerning this antitypical gehenna, the Second Death, we are definitely informed of the characters which will there be destroyed utterly, as Peter says, "as natural brute beasts."

We have a description of this symbolic New Jerusalem or Divine Kingdom (Revelation xxi), composed primarily of all from the world who, during Messiah's reign, will enter in through the gates and enjoy the blessings of Divine favor and life eternal. And then we read, verse 8, "But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the Second Death." Note that this lake of fire and brimstone into which all the offscouring of humanity will be cast is a symbol, and the meaning of the symbol is plainly stated in the words, "Which is the Second Death." The first death passed to all mankind on account of father Adam's disobedience. Our Lord Jesus was appointed the Savior of Adam and his race and gave his life a ransom for all, to rescue all from death, to give to each and every member of Adam's race one full, fair opportunity for a test of loyalty to God and righteousness and to secure life eternal in the New Jerusalem. Contrariwise all who will reject that full opportunity will die the Second Death, from which there will be no redemption, no resurrection, no recovery of any kind.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be troubled from birth with bed-wetting, weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You can be afflicted with weak kidneys. If you have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, name of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

American Resort Hotel Co.

Ten-Year 6^{PER}_{CENT} Collateral Gold Notes

Secured By Real Estate And All Assets Of The Company.

THIS COMPANY was organized for the purpose of owning and operating a chain of first-class hotels, extending practically all over the United States, under one general management, and its directors have undertaken to place in operation not less than twenty hotels within the first three years. It is quite possible that in time this number will be materially increased.

The Company was incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, and this stock is issued fully paid and non-assessable, and without liability to the holders thereof. There is no bonded indebtedness, but an issue of $250,000, Ten-year 6 Per Cent Collateral Gold Notes, has been authorized.

These Gold Notes Take The Form Of Bonds, With Semi-Annual Coupons Attached.

They are secured by all of the assets of the Company, of whatsoever nature, their interest is provided for in advance, and a Sinking Fund is created to provide for redemption of the notes at or before maturity. They may be redeemed at any time at 110 per cent and accrued interest, and are all in denominations of $100 each.

With Each $100 Note $50 In Full-Paid Stock Of The American Resort Hotel Co. Is Given Free;

after which none of the stock can be sold below par. There is $500,000 of stock in the Company's treasury to be sold at par after the remaining notes have been issued.

The purpose for which the treasury stock is to be sold is to purchase additional hotel properties, to enlarge and improve the properties now owned by the Company, and for providing a large working capital.

Every New Property Acquired Becomes Additional Security For The Collateral Gold Notes, And Every New Operation Will Add To The Dividends Of The Stockholders Of The American Resort Hotel Company.

After these notes have been issued the holders have the right to cash them in at par value in exchange for accommodation at any of the hotels of the Company, or in exchange for lots or other property of the Company, at the regular selling price; or they may be drawn for redemption by the Company at any time prior to maturity;

In Which Case $110 And Interest Will Be Paid For Each $100 Note So Retired. In Any Event The Stock Bonus Will Still Belong To The Purchaser Of The Notes.

American Resort Hotel Company now owns the ATLANTIC and SEASIDE Hotels, at Ocean City, Md., together with the Electric Light Plant, Casino, Steam Laundry and about 3,300 lots. The Atlantic Hotel was taken over in a run-down condition. Reference to any guest of this season will tell you just what sort of management the hotel is now enjoying, and that its future success is assured.

It is the intention of the Company to make extensive improvements to the Ocean City Properties as soon as its collateral gold notes have been sold, and when these improvements are completed Maryland stockholders will feel proud of their beautiful property, and not ashamed to compare the Atlantic Hotel with any first-class resort hotel in the country.

OTHER HOTELS NOW IN OPERATION BY THE COMPANY ARE:

The Devon Inn,

at Devon, Chester County, Pennsylvania, which is one of the largest and most magnificent hotels in the State, and indeed one of the most sumptuous places of its kind in the world. This hotel enjoys a splendid clientele from among the very wealthy Philadelphia and New York families, and its rates run as high as $100 per week for a single person. The grounds of the Devon Inn cover 47 acres and every acre is worth $10,000. There is a splendid Golf Course, Tennis Courts, Polo Field, Horse Show grounds, and Stable and Garage, accommodating 200 horses and as many motor cars if necessary. The Floral Cafe is one of the most beautiful in the country. Devon Inn season extends from May to late November.

Red Swan Inn,

at Warwick, Orange County, New York, is a beautiful and high-class hotel, enjoying an excellent patronage; and in addition to its regular guests, who make the Inn their summer home, there is a very large automobile following, from whom a most profitable business is enjoyed from May to late in the fall each season. This hotel also is located in the midst of a 50-acre park, offering excellent facilities for golf, tennis, etc.

Sunset Park Inn,

in Sunset Park, Haines Falls, New York, is considered the most beautiful hotel in the Catskills. It is located in one of the finest parks in the whole Catskill district. The hotel is modern in every respect, having electric elevators, private phones in rooms, mail shutles, and every possible convenience of a city hotel in the heart of the Catskills and right at the famous Haines Falls. This hotel, during the five years that it has been in operation, has established a reputation as one of the finest resort houses in the State of New York.

A NUMBER OF OTHER LARGE HOTELS will be added in time for the season of 1911. The Company is already arranging for leases on several well-known hotels, including one in Atlantic City, one in Maine, and a magnificent hotel which is now under construction at Lake George, N. Y. It is intended to have twelve hotels in operation next summer, and by the winter of 1911-1912 it is expected that at least eight large Winter Hotels will be in operation. The Company has been offered one of the magnificent hotels of the Florida East Coast System (the Flagler System) in time for opening the winter season of this year, as well as a number of others, including Palm Beach, Miami and St. Augustine, Florida; Columbia, South Carolina; Aikin and Camden, S. C.; Hot Springs, N. C., and Asheville, N. C.; and it is intended to select three or four at least for the operations of the coming winter season.

As soon as the Resort chain is completed to the number of twenty hotels, it is the purpose of the Company to lease and operate at least one first-class hotel in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and possibly in other large cities.

This is simply a chain of first-class hotels under one general management. Do you think it a safe proposition? Do you know anything about the profits made by the corporations operating chains of Grocery Stores, Drug Stores, Cigar Stores, Shoe Stores, etc.? Did you ever hear of a failure among any of them? They can pay dividends on their economies alone. Why not a chain of hotels on a large scale? The man who gets in early will reap the harvest eventually.

We are not prepared to say what dividends the stock of the AMERICAN RESORT HOTEL COMPANY should pay when the Company has completed its chain. We may refer to one corporation recently organized and officered by well-known hotel men of New York and Philadelphia, capitalized about the same as the American Resort Hotel Company. This company will operate ONE hotel, and it predicts 25 per cent dividends on the same amount of capital stock as the American Resort Hotel Company is authorized to issue; and the American Resort Hotel Company intends to operate at least TWENTY hotels and very likely many more.

The total authorized indebtedness of the Company is $250,000, Ten-year Collateral Gold Notes, secured by all of the properties, franchises and other assets of the Company, which the Company now owns or may hereafter acquire. The proceeds from the sale of these gold notes, together with the proceeds from the sale of the $500,000 Treasury Stock (both classes of securities being sold strictly at par), will furnish ample working capital for an immense hotel system, as it must be remembered that in the hotel business money turns itself very quickly.

The Collateral Gold Notes are to be sold at par, $100 each, and with each $100 note $50 in full-paid stock will be issued (without drawing upon the treasury stock). With the first allotment of $35,000 of notes which may be sold IN MARYLAND ONLY, a bonus of 100 per cent in stock will be issued, or $100 in stock with each $100 note. This offer is made for the purpose of interesting Maryland people in the Company, and more especially in Ocean City, and after the first $35,000 has been sold the stock bonus will be reduced to 50 per cent.

This is an opportunity to get into a going concern on the most favorable terms and conditions, without risk, as the Company is already established and paying 6 per cent on its Gold Notes promptly. It will soon be ready to offer its stock for sale strictly at par—the very same stock which we are now giving as a bonus with the Gold Notes.

If this proposition interests you, we will gladly send specimen copy of Stock Certificate and Gold Note, and also furnish any other information desired.

This advertisement contains only material facts, and therefore we require no elaborate prospectus in offering you an interest in our Company. We want YOU, if you are satisfied, to join us, but we do not want you badly enough to dazzle you with magnificent literature. Consider the matter carefully, then come in and grow up with us.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this time. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R. E. D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for women's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, displacement, local weakness, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

MURDERED AT STOCKTON,

Worcester County. Silas Crippen Is Killed And Body Placed On The Rails.

A murder mystery occupies the thoughts of Stockton, and the State's Attorney's office has put its machinery in motion so that the murderer of Silas Crippen may be apprehended.

Crippen was murdered sometime Saturday night, or early Sunday morning. His body was found along the tracks of the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia Railroad, near Stockton. His head was split open. A bullet hole was through the skull, but did not show in the brain, which indicated that death was not due to the wound.

The body was evidently placed on the railroad track by the murderer in the hope that it would be so mutilated that identification would be impossible, and that all evidence of foul play might be hidden. A pocket knife, pistol and an ax were found a short distance away.

Suspicion points to a number of persons that live near Crippen.

City Council Proceedings Last Monday Evening.

The City Council was in session Monday evening and transacted the following business: Permits were granted as follows: to Elmer D. Bailey, residence on West William Street, adjoining the property of E. A. Toadvine; to Anstin J. Pusey, dwelling on Smith Street.

Clerk was instructed to send out bills to all property owners on Park street requesting them to pay their assessment for curbing and guttering said street.

The City Solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance for curbing and guttering Isabella Street from Division Street to West Railroad Avenue; also William Street from Division Street to Poplar Hill Avenue.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the property owners on Broad Street to lay cement sidewalks on both sides within 30 days from date of serving notice.

Tomato Pack Light On The Eastern Shore.

A traveling man who has been over considerable territory on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware says that not more than one half of the canning houses of the Peninsula have started operations, owing to the difficulty in securing raw material. In the neighborhood of Ridgely, a chief center of the packing industry, tomatoes are yielding poorly and the prospect is for a very light pack at the big canning houses there.

The peach season at Ridgely is drawing to a close, and at no time did it reach the proportions of the old days, nor were the prices at all good, except for a brief time. Many growers who had fair prospects early in the season now say they have made no money.

Proceedings Of The County Commissioners At Last Tuesday's Session.

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday and transacted the following business: Daniel Parker, G. E. Jackson and others were before the board to ask that the board furnish shells to extend the work on the road from Pittsville to Powellville. The board stated that they could not promise definitely what they could do, as they were not yet in a position to say what quantity of shells could be obtained.

The board took up the report of the commission appointed to widen and straighten the road from E. T. Jones to Whitton. Objection was made by Jno. T. Jones; action deferred.

The report of the commission on the section of road from Willard to J. J. Layton's property made by G. E. Jackson, Jno. L. Powell and Warner L. Baker, was ratified.

The board ordered ratification notice of report on tax ditch in Dennis District made by G. E. Jackson, G. W. Adkins and W. H. Brittingham.

ENGLISH EMIGRATION

CROSSING THE GULF OF ADEN, BRITISH EAST AFRICA

A MOST important letter has been drawn up and published by the Princess Christian and three of her colleagues. She herself is president of the South African Colonization society, Lady Bective is president of the Central Bureau for the Employment of Women, Lady Knightley is president of the British Women's Emigration association, and Lady Grosvenor is chairman of the committee of colonial intelligence for educated women. The theme on which they write is the advantages of the colonies for educated women. The ground fact of the situation is that in this country there is a surplus of females. Biologists tell us that a strong race always produces more females than males, and when males preponderate it is a sign of decay. So there is no reason for apprehension about the fact that the proportion of girl-babies that come into the world in England is greater than that of boy-babies. Further, the numerical difference between the sexes greatly increases as time goes on, probably because more men go abroad either to the colonies or to seek their fortune in some other way. It is too often thought that the colonies are only good for the women who are prepared to go to the backwoods and perform work compared to which the work of domestic service is light. This is not the case. There are as many openings for the younger daughter as there are for the younger son, and it is lamentable that she should be so often, in the words of the letter, "compelled to linger at home till her youth is past with no better prospect than a future of aimless and dreary spinsterhood." The educated gentlewoman, accustomed to country life, will find many openings in the colonies similar to those she has here, only the positions are better paid and less crowded. As she quotes the letter: "In nursing, in teaching, in clerical work and in a score of other capacities the colonists report that there is need of women's assistance." These educated women, many of whom possess a little capital that could be utilized to advantage in a new land, would be a decided acquisition to any colony they went to, as they are for the most part not only well educated, but beautiful and even athletic in body. They have every capacity for being useful members of a new community and, in the end, for becoming the mothers of a colonial race. Physiologists may perhaps explain why it is that in the colonies the proportion of sexes becomes changed and the boys predominate over the girls. Dr. Latham, whose dictionary is still in use, used to have a theory which he established by means of many facts and modern instances, that a race never succeeded in maintaining itself as a colony unless it intermingled with the indigenous people or was continually recruited with fresh blood. The colonies must certainly produce some effect on the sexes. The early colonies of Greece and Rome passed utterly out of existence. To keep our own a stream of fresh emigrant blood from England is absolutely necessary.

During the present year Rhodesia is likely to be much before the public eye, and the attention of the emigrant is being freshly directed towards it. This is, in a great measure, due to the advances made in the growing and drying of tobacco. Rhodesian tobacco has now secured a foothold in London, and speaking from personal experience, we are satisfied that it is a sound, clean, unadulterated tobacco, the recent samples showing a great improvement on those first sent to us. The cigarettes, too, seem to meet with general approval. One result of this is to attract a sort of man who does not generally emigrate. That is to say, one who has retired from business with a little capital, or who is in receipt of a government pension. We meet a man of the kind the other day. He made a small fortune in Canada in his early manhood, and came home to England, partly owing to a domestic bereavement and partly for the purpose of educating his children. Now that they are off his hands he has started for Rhodesia, because he thinks a colonial life the happiest possible, or, at any rate, the most suitable for a man of his temperament. He has never cultivated tobacco in his life, but prides himself on his ability to pick up any craft that is practised on the land. He timed his journey so as to be in the country of it to witness the process of drying, because the whole secret of tobacco culture lies not so much in growing as in preparing it for manufacture. Such a man is in every way likely to spend the later portion of his life pleasantly and happily. The labor will not be so crushing as to deprive him of the power of enjoyment, and in Rhodesia he will have the advantage of obtaining three thousand acres of land on what seems to us an extremely easy scheme of annual payment. Tobacco, as the early Virginians found out, is a crop on which fortunes may be founded, and if energetic measures are taken to propagate the merits of the plant in this country, so as to establish a trade of some magnitude, there is every possibility of the man establishing an estate. Perhaps some of his children when they grow elderly will go out to take up the work when he leaves it. But, of course, tobacco is not the only crop which can be grown to advantage in Rhodesia. Its cotton is rapidly coming before the public, and the general agricultural resources of the district are enormous. The drawbacks lie first in its remoteness from the coast and in the scarcity of railways. It will be necessary to strengthen the internal means of communication if Rhodesia is to be developed. At present it has, comparatively speaking, only a very small white population in comparison with the black. No towns of importance have yet arisen, so that the colonist has, so to speak, the world before him. The principal attraction so far has lain in the mines, which now, by the by, are in a very favorable condition for earning profits; but in the end it will probably be found that the cultivation of the soil is the mainstay of Rhodesia.

ISLAND HOME OF THE SERIS

Fierce inhabitants of Tiburon Have So Far Kept All Mankind at a Distance.

Less than 3,000 miles from the city of New York, and about a third of that distance from San Francisco, there is situated, in the upper reaches of the Gulf of California, a small island, worthless even for so mean a purpose as the raising of goats, but nevertheless a center of attraction for the ethnologists and archeologists of the old and new worlds for many generations.

This rocky peak, rising from the quiet waters of the gulf, is known as Tiburon Island. Tiburon is a Spanish word which, translated into English, means "shark." The waters around the islet are literally swarming with these tigers of the sea, and the inhabitants of the island are said to be no less ferocious than the sharks. Tiburon is peopled with a handful of Indians, the only aborigines of their kind in the world, known as Seris. They are reputed to be cannibals, to be so fierce that none of the mainland tribes of Mexico dares invade their shores, and to possess the secret of manufacture of a peculiarly deadly poison, with which they prepare their arrows before battle.—H. H. Dunn, in Wide World Magazine.

Artistic Deception.
"Yes, we used to be quite enthusiastic about art, but that was just after my husband had made his first million. We ain't gold' in much for it now."
"What has caused you to lose your enthusiasm?"
"You see them art dealers are such awful swindlers. Josiah got interested in a picture that they told him was a masterpiece of impressionism, and after a good deal of dickerin' he bought it for a big price and brought it home; but we found out after we'd got it hung in our gallery that it was nothing but an 'egg' somebody had threw against the canvas."

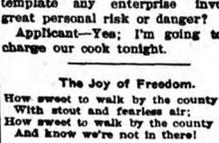

Justified Alarm.
"Very much excited and out of breath, a young man who could not have been married very long, rushed up to an attendant at one of the city hospitals and inquired after Mrs. Brown in the hospital.
"My God! Don't keep me waiting in this manner," said the excited young man. "I must know how she is."
"Well, she isn't here," again said the attendant.
"She must be," broke in the visitor, "for here is a note I found on the kitchen table when I came home from work."
The note read:
"Dear Jack: Have gone to have my kidneys set out. Annie."

THE TRIUMPH OF DISCORD.

Of Miss Katydid
A sittin' in de tree
Chance to hear a mookin' bird,
As sweet as it could be.
Miss Katydid discover
Dat her voice were big an' strong
So she decide dat she'll break in An' give 'em a song.

Pore of mookin' bird,
He listened as he flew,
De other Katydid flew in An' make a great to do!
An' now an' den dey'd chuckle
In de middle of de fuss
An' say: "I bet dat mookin' bird Wish he could sing like us!"

GREAT DANGER.

Life Insurance Doctor—Do you contemplate any enterprise involving great personal risk or danger?
Applaud—Yes; I'm going to discharge our cook tonight.

The Joy of Freedom.
How sweet to walk by the county jail,
With stout and fearless air;
How sweet to walk by the county jail
And know we're not in there!

Having Her Way.
"So you are going to housekeeping as soon as you're married? I thought you had made up your mind to board."
"Yes, but George is equally determined to have a house of our own."
"And so you are going to keep house in order to please George?"
"No, I'm going to keep house so that George will be glad to board."—Ideas.

A New Kind.
Magistrate—Officer, what is this man charged with?
Constable—He's a camera fiend of the worst kind, yer worship.
Magistrate—But this man shouldn't have been arrested simply because he has a mania for taking pictures.
Constable—It isn't that, yer worship; he takes the cameras.

An Advance Tip.
"Here's a communication from a lady who signs herself 'Nervous,'" said the answers-to-correspondents editor. "She wants to know how to get rid of organ grinders."
"Tell her to pay them before they begin," suggested the horse reporter. "Then they'll leave at the end of the first untune."

Frequent Passes.
"Town council met down in the hall last night," announced the old storekeeper at Bacon Ridge.
"That so?" rejoined the starch drummer. "Did they pass any measures?"
"Yes, a quart measure of cider was passing pretty lively all through the meeting."

Vain Regrets.
Rankin—Have you seen that estimate of what Chicago spends for cooling beverages on a hot day? It amounts to $500,000.
Fyle (doing a little figuring)—Gee! I ought to have spent twice as much as I did yesterday. I didn't get my share!

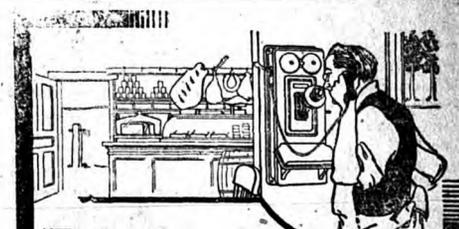

AS THEY SHOULD BE.
Ebenezer—I say, parson, I see thinkin' dat afore yo' gits froo wid yo' congregation yo'll have ter have ah piano-maker wid yo'.

Parson Jones—What yo' mean by dat?
Ebenezer—Cause he could make dem square an' upright.

The Fish.
"An' sleepin' to Venus"
Sounds good, but slack!
It's all right to go there—
But how to get back?

For Awfully.
"He vows he is tired of livin'—"
"Well!"
"I must restrain him from doing anything rash."
"Why restrain him? Let him go to boarding if he wants to."

"Bring me a nice roast tomorrow."

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have suffered with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol. When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (acid), dizziness, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it. Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you in sensitive ailments. Pepsin is only AT ALL DRUGGISTS

The Battle

By CLEVELAND MOFFETT

"I'd like to show you some statements," began Gentle, opening one of the scrap books, "that bear on the subject of safety devices and the accidents caused by lack of them. You're a great railroad magnate, one of seven men who own most of the railroads in the United States."

"I have some influence in railroad matters, but—"

"Yes, you have some influence," said Gentle dryly. "Do you know how many people your railroads kill and injure every year?"

"No," answered Haggleton. "I have the figures here," said Gentle, pointing to the scrap book, "and they show that in the year just past you and your fellow magnates killed over 10,000 persons on the railroads of the United States. You killed Jenny's husband. That's the truth, Mr. Haggleton. You may ask why I dwell on railroad accidents when our problem is poverty. Because there is a terrible relation between the two. You speak contemptuously of those who have fallen in life. You like to think that the million or more in this city who are in poverty are there by their own fault. I want you to know that thousands of them are there because your railway kings have failed to do your duty."

Haggleton made an angry gesture. Gentle lifted his hand.

"Let me finish. In the past year over 80,000 persons were injured by railway accidents in the United States, and most of them poor people, four-fifths of them your own employees. Think of that—80,000 crippled and maimed in one of your enterprises! There is part of your magnate handwork. You take these working men into your service, these passengers into your trains, you accept their toll or their money, and then, instead of protecting them by safety appliances that are perfectly well known and in constant use abroad, you torture them in criminal wrecks, you burn them, you scald them, you tear off their hands or feet, you crush their legs or arms, you wrench their backs, you fracture their skulls. You do this to little children, to loving mothers, to young men; you do it every day of the year to over 200 of your countrymen!"

Haggleton was silent.

"Why is it that in a given number of railway employees America kills nearly three times as many as England and injures five times as many?" asked Gentle.

"America is a bigger country, with ten miles of railroad where England has one mile."

Gentle shook his head.

"I made allowances for that. I said we killed more in proportion."

"Our people are in a hurry. They insist on going fast, and that increases the danger."

"Pardon me," replied Gentle. "The fastest trains in the world are in Europe."

"You talk like a child!" retorted Haggleton. "You know nothing about conditions."

"No? I know this—that for years you magnates fought against air brakes and automatic couplers, although you knew they would save thousands of lives. Now you're fighting the system of block signals that is used everywhere in England and that would save thousands of lives more."

"We have block signals on some railroads," insisted Haggleton.

"On very few, and where you have them you don't use them half the time. Your own engineers have admitted that when forced to testify about accidents."

"If we had to run freight trains under strict block signals we'd never get our business done," snorted the old man. "Think of the freight piling up all over this country, millions and millions of dollars' worth, far beyond what the roads can handle and much of it perishable. We've promised to move it, and we've got to move it, haven't we?"

"No, sir!" flashed Philip. "Not if it means destroying lives."

"Besides," resumed Gentle, "it's not only in railroad that you slaughter people. It's the same in mining and building and manufacturing. Here's an article"—he turned to another page—"that estimates at over half a million a year our casualties in various industries largely controlled by your trusts. Half a million killed and injured every year and the greater part needless! How? By dangerous machinery in your factories that might be protected by wheels and saws and flying belts that might be covered, by poisonous fumes and deadly dust that might be guarded against by explosions in your mines that might be avoided, by falls, by fires, by insidious disease, by a hundred perils that beset your toilers, all of which might be lessened or removed, but for one thing."

"What's that?" asked Haggleton. Gentle pointed to the scrap book. "This kind, thoughtful eyes were fixed on Philip as if speaking to the boy's soul. 'Half a million killed and injured every year!' he went on sadly. 'Nine times the total loss in the battle of Waterloo! Nearly all of them workmen in the prime of life, wage earners whose injury means distress or ruin to a family! Think of the poor wretches, the helpless children, more recruits for poverty, more torment misery, more wretches! More of the greater part of this immense, heart-breaking toll is averted but for one thing!'

"Yes?" said Philip eagerly. "What is that?" Gentle looked steadily at Haggleton. "You know what I mean?"

"No."

"Then slowly and impressively the old man spoke. 'I have studied this question. I have lived it, and I tell you, it is the only thing that can save us from this terrible fate is to have been taken for it to have been...'

might be avoided and all this wretchedness and pain be spared us and this enormous waste of human energy prevented if your great captains of industry had not made up your minds that it's cheaper to kill men than to protect them."

CHAPTER XV. CAPITAL AND LABOR.

THINGS were going well with the combination—two new bakers had been taken in, business was steadily increasing and, in view of substantial profits, they were already thinking of getting a second kneading machine and widening their field of operations. But Haggleton was not having all plain sailing with Gentle, Margaret and Philip. The old diver and the girl exerted their utmost efforts to keep Philip from consenting to the development of the business further in a field that would throw men with families to support out of work. At last they succeeded.

Gentle was so pleased with the progress of things that he could not refrain from pushing his advantage, and one evening he turned the talk upon a subject where he felt himself particularly strong and Haggleton indefeasibly weak—that is, the unfair division of the products of toil. What right had an employer, he asked, to keep a woman sewing carpets all day and then take half of what she earned? Suppose the woman did the work at a private house, as often happened. Then her employer charged the owner of the carpets, say, $3 a day for the woman's services and gave her a dollar and a half. That was not fair. The employer's part in this effort was too small to justify him in keeping so much of her earnings. It was the woman who did the work and breathed carpet dust and took chances of infection; the employer merely secured her the job and furnished needle and thread.

Gentle contended that this was precisely the situation between capital and labor all over the country, the capitalist taking about half of what the laborer earned, whereas a fair division

Margaret greeted her lover with happy animation. "Tell me, did Gentle talk to you about those bakeshops?" asked Philip. "Why—er—"

"Yes," answered Margaret, "but—how strange you are!" Philip brightened as his eyes rested on her. She was deliciously charming. He led her to the queer old lounge with its red rose pattern, and there they faced each other, half smiling, half serious.

But the growing difference that had sprung up between them insisted upon outraging itself.

"Why were you so serious when you came in?" Margaret asked.

"We have made a mistake, dear, in one thing," he said, "and I—I know you'll be sensible about it."

"You mean about the plan to take more bakeshops into the combination?"

"Yes."

"You're not going to do it?"

"Listen, Margaret," he reasoned; "if we don't take them in they will form a combination against us. That is certain. So the same number of bakers will be discharged either way, and if we force them to oppose us we shall suffer serious loss in our business."

Margaret did not see. She had contempt for Philip's insistence against this cruel combination, and now he was thinking only of the money.

"But, Margaret," he insisted, "we must have money, and surely you want me to think about the future."

"Not if it means harming poor people."

Philip frowned.

"The men discharged will soon find their work. Besides, think of the good we are doing. We're working a regular revolution in breadmaking. You may say what you please about it, Jackson, but I'm against this combination."

"I hate him!" interrupted Margaret. "Anyway he has changed these bakeshops so you would scarcely know them. He insists on absolute cleanliness—floors and walls must be scrubbed every day, windows must be kept open for proper ventilation, defective plumbing must be repaired, no sick man may be employed. It's a good thing. It may save hundreds of lives."

Margaret listened unconvinced.

"Don't do it, Philip," she begged. "Don't go into this new combination. Leave things as they are."

"But I explained that—"

"I know, only—Philip, you won't refuse me this—the first favor I have asked you!"

Philip hesitated.

"See here, Margaret, when a man and woman marry there are certain things that each one knows about, aren't there? A woman knows about the home and a man knows about business. And each must respect the other's judgment in those matters. Isn't that true?"

"Yes."

"Now, I'm the wage earner," he went on quickly. "I provide the money, and you must leave money matters to me."

Perhaps this was a decisive moment in Philip's life, the turning point where a last effort of hers might keep him right.

"I don't agree with you," she said. "I think a wife should know about her husband's work so that she can advise him and help him."

"The man must decide about business, and the woman must not interfere."

"Then," she murmured—"then you are not the Philip I thought you were."

"I'm sorry," he said.

"Philip," she said with a sudden dignity, "I ask you once more not to do this thing."

"And—if I refuse it?" he asked unsteadily.

"You won't refuse—you can't refuse," she pleaded. And then, as she saw his face still cold, "if you should refuse, then—then, Phil, I should say that—that you had changed somehow and were not the noble, high minded man to whom I gave my love."

Philip's lips tightened.

"Margaret," he said in a low tone, "we seem to have made something serious out of a little thing. But, since we have done it, let me say this: I love you with all my heart. I have asked you to be my wife. I will work for you gladly and do everything in my power to make you happy, but you may as well understand now, once for all, that as a man I claim the right of deciding what shall be done at important moments. I may make mistakes, although I shall try to decide wisely; but, whether I make mistakes or not, what I decide is the thing that shall be."

Cheerfulness. Obervolence is the great cure. If you are not cheerful already try to acquire the habit. It will not require much trying either. Accordingly as one likes or dislikes things and things he becomes cheerful or the opposite. The temptation to dislike animate or inanimate objects lies in wait for every eye. Be on your guard. You can drive it off by liking a bird or a flower.

Hate never made any man happy. But in order to be unhappy one does not need to be a hater. Simple dislike will sour all the milk in the coconut, won't you in your Socialist state, and pay for it?"

"I tell you we have paid for it over and over again."

"I know it. But will you pay for it in any other way?"

"No."

"And the great industries?"

"They will be of no use to you. Conditions will be so bad you will beg the people to take them."

"For nothing?"

"Yes."

"And if by any chance we don't beg you to take them—then you'll take them anyway?"

"Yes."

"Do you call that fair?" asked the old man, turning abruptly to Philip.

"No," said the latter. "I don't."

Philip said he was going out. He had an engagement with Margaret, and on his way to the boarding house he turned over in his mind what he should say to her. It had suddenly become clear to him that he could not trust Gentle's judgment beyond a certain point; also that Margaret's position about the bakeshops had been too strongly taken for it to have been possible

His Mysterious
Malady

Bobby sat up and threw off the afghan impatiently. "I feel fine now," he said. "I guess I'll go out for awhile."
His father shook his head. "Hold on a minute," he commanded. "Where are all those perfectly terrible sensations you had yesterday when you stayed home from school?"

"Oh, well, that was a whole day and a night ago," protested Bobby. "A fellow could get well of 'most anything in that time."
"Especially as this is Saturday afternoon," said his father, thoughtfully.
"You considered yourself a pretty sick boy yesterday."

"I was," said Bobby. "Gee, I felt something fierce! I never felt worse in my life."
"Then don't you think you ought to be very careful today?"

"If it was going to be anything it would have gone and done it by now," said Bobby. "Besides, I feel swell. I wouldn't a' laid down here, only mamma said I had to. I wish I knew what did it."

"What did you do on Thursday that was particularly festive?"
"Well, it was like this," Bobby began. "Nellie Foster she made fudge, and, of course, I got some of it. It was swell, all right, only Billy didn't get a big piece and he whispered that there was too much cho'cut in it. I didn't say a word, but teacher she heard somebody whisper and she said
for me to go out of the room and wait downstairs for her."

"I said I didn't whisper, and she said: 'What makes you always take that attitude, Robert?'"
"I said I wasn't taking any attitude
—all I had was fudge."
"Then she got mad and sent me
home, because she said I was imperinent."

"Out in the yard I saw Jimmy. His brother's got scarlet fever and he can't come to school, but he waits for us fellows outside. He had an apple and he gave it to me so's I'd tell him something Susie Herrick said. I had enough of Susie Herrick when she was in my room at school, but Jimmy likes her."

"Was it a good apple?"

"No," said Bobby. "But I wouldn't let on that I was stung, so I ate it."

"Did you go home then?"

"Sure not," acknowledged Bobby.

"There wasn't any hurry. Me and Jimmy went over to the park and I got some peanuts for the squirrels. We couldn't find any squirrels, so we ate the peanuts ourselves. I'm going to plant peanuts and see how they grow.
Billy he planted some last year and we watched for 'em to come up and then 'long about July he remembered
they were cooked."

"I thought Billy lived in a flat."

"He does, but he borrowed our yard to plant the peanuts. You know that big white house on the corner of aunt Mary's street?"

"Yes."

"Well, who do you s'pose is going to live there? Just Mamie Kelly!" said Bobby, triumphantly. "I 'most fell over when she told me. Gee, she'll be more conceited than ever when she's got three lilac bushes and a woodshed
in her yard."

"You were telling me what you did Thursday."

"Oh, so I was. Well, then I got some popcorn and we went home to lunch and I was awful hungry. I ate a lot and I took three bananas to school, so's I wouldn't be hungry in the afternoon. I was going to give one to Billy and one to Nellie Foster,
but first thing I knew I ate them all.
I was awful sorry I had when Nellie Foster gave me a big piece of cho'cut cake after school. It was some quashed from her carrying it in a bag,
but it was awful good. I got her a ice cream cone, but she didn't want it, and I had to eat 'em both myself. I never seen—saw—a girl that didn't like ice cream before."

"It is rather unusual."

"She felt awful bad about it; she was afraid I'd be mad, specially because they was nickel ones, but I didn't care much. Mamie Kelly gave me two big pickles, but the cones was gone by that time, so she didn't get any."

"But you ate the pickles?"

"Yep, I did," acknowledged Bobby, sheepishly. "But I said 'Thanks' just as Sam came along, and she gave him one, too. Then, of course, Sam he gave us some cho'cut cream. Say, there's a place he knows about where you can get lots of 'em for ten cents.
Gee, but they're swell!"

"Were they the best things you had that day?"

"I should say not!" cried Bobby, with enthusiasm. "Why, I had three pieces of strawberry shortcake for dinner."

"Well, perhaps it was the shortcake that saved your life."

"Mamma thinks it was the medicine," said Bobby. "I certainly feel fine now. If I stay here I'll get up, so I'd like to go outdoors. There's a ball game over in the big lot and I'm to pitch."

"Are you sure you ought to go?"

"Oh, yes. I can't see how it helps any to keep a feller in bed when he gets sick like that without any reason.
Anyhow, there's Billy whistling for me."

"All right," laughed his father. "Go ahead, but be careful not to eat any trash today."

Bobby paused a moment at the door.
"Honest, papa," he said, seriously.
"I'm awful careful what I eat, and I don't like trash. Honest, I don't."

water should be frequently scalded with boiling water, afterwards being thoroughly cleaned. Though a little extra work may be required, this cleaning up is a good preventive of many diseases and may save work and less later.

Good Profit in Orchard.

Many farmers consider their or-

would give the trees proper attention
they would derive a good profit.

At the Beautiful Gate

By REV. C. A. S. DWIGHT, Ph. D.
Toronto, Can.

The lame man of old was laid daily
at the gate of the temple which is called "Beautiful." The gate so described was probably the gate on the east which led from "the court of the women" to the inner court. While the other gates were overlaid with gold and silver this portal, according to Josephus, was made "of Corinthian bronze, and much surpassed in worth
those enriched with silver and gold."
The lame man was perhaps one of the most unfortunate individuals in Jerusalem, having no means of earning a livelihood, being quite friendless and certainly forlorn—yet he was well placed.

The situation at the door of the temple was both pathetic and promising. He could not walk in, but his thoughts could enter; he might not join in the praises of the worshippers hosts within, but he could catch something of the enthusiasm which brightened their faces as they came out.
While he was outside the circle of inner, intimate communion he was yet in the line of blessing and could make daily proof of the fact that it was better to be a lame doorkeeper
in the house of God than to dwell luxuriously in the court of a riotous Herod.

It is impossible to tell how pure were the motives of the lame man in habitually frequenting the door step of the Lord's house. He was certainly after money—but if all who are excluded from the sanctuary congregations today would be much thinner than in many communities they are.
To a degree the lame man needed coin, and to a certain extent every man needs it, but if his thoughts and desires had been wholly centered upon money it is not likely that Peter and John would ever have been attracted to him, or been empowered by the Lord to work in his case a miraculous cure. Let us suppose that the lame man had some sincere interest in the temple itself as well as in the toll which he collected from the charitable, and that while not indifferent to the silver and the gold, he cared most of all for the spiritual message which such men as Peter and John had to give.

It was a fine thing then that the lame man got as far as the Beautiful Gate. Rich or poor, men alike need in their lives the beautifying touch, and hard prosaic lives need it most of all. Even if the lame man could not enter the temple recesses he could look up and admire the architectural beauty about him, and the gleam of that Corinthian bronze brought a touch of brightness into his life. The geranium plant in the window of the city tenement, the tree struggling for stunted growth in a city street, all these are glimpses and gladdening of the esthetic sense—the sense for color, for proportion, for harmony,
which of course depends on a godless
"art," are yet susceptible to a beautifying touch when purified and idealized, the highest aims of the moral nature. The lame man was deformed in himself,
but he was transformed by his daily
look into the face of the beautiful above him.

All men, however athletic or vigorous or full of pride, are at some point weak—are somewhere in their being lame and impotent and in need of aim or a spiritual uplift, far better than aims. There are beautiful gates unto which we all alike need to come. God has made, not one nor two nor six, as in the temple of old,
but many such portals, in different parts of the pilgrim country of mortal souls, opening into fair reaches of truth and broad areas of higher experience.

There is first the Beautiful Gate of Faith. The lame man had not in some degree had faith, he would not have received from the miracle working apostles what was better than aims—new health and strength—and what was better than physical health and quickening—the recreating of his spiritual manhood, the renovation of his moral nature. Without faith it is impossible to please God, or to get anything worth while done. He who is not sincere in his faith he would not be much at the Gate of Faith.

There is secondly the Gate of Prayer. Prayer is faith's voice. Faith finds its expression through prayer. The prayerless man is always essentially a weak and resourceless man. The lame man was weak, but he knew how to use his voice in prayer, and so he did not remain weak.

There is the Beautiful Gate of Love.
The lame man appealed to the love of the Lord in Peter and John, and did not fail to receive a response. Love is the very atmosphere of that land
of delight into which the Gate Beautiful opens. When love dominates and permeates a human life heaven itself at once begins to be realized on earth. There is always in love an inherent beauty, an indescribable charm, and just because it is so the devil tries hard to disseminate the spirit of hate, which tends to pull down and destroy all Gates Beautiful everywhere.

Be sure to be often at the Beautiful Gate—not that which long ago fell into ruin at Jerusalem—but that which, even for the lowliest and lam-est, offers its invitation of spiritual blessing, and promises a hope and healing both heavenly and forever.

DROPPED IN AT RIGHT TIME

Burglar's Opportune Visit Enabled
Woman to Rid Herself of Much Undesirable "Trash."

The burglar hesitated. Back of him was a sheer drop of 25 feet to the ground. In front of him was a determined woman, grasping in her hand
a huge revolver. She covered him steadily.

"I won't shoot," she said, "if you will remain still."
She advanced upon him and poking
the muzzle of the gun in his face reached into his pocket and pulled out his revolver.

"Come in."
The burglar obediently stepped inside the room. All his courage was gone.

"Sit down," said the woman.
He sat down.
She got a huge ball of cord from her bureau and spent the next 20 minutes
in tying him up.

Then she pointed out of the window.
"Is that your wagon out there behind the barn?"

"Yes, ma'am."
The woman called her husband, who was hiding behind the baby's crib in the next room.

"Here, John," she said, "take some of this furniture out."
John came in and got to work. The burglar watched with curious eyes.

Suddenly his face blanched. He looked out of the window and saw in the light of the moon what John was carrying.

"What are you doing to me?" he asked.

The woman began cutting his cords.
"I'm going to load you up with all of the old eyecores that we have had in the house for these many years,"
she said, merrily—"all the furniture presented to us at Christmas by kind-hearted relatives, all the prizes we have taken at card parties, all the family portraits—everything that we have been simply dying to get rid of."

MURDERED IN STATE'S

Attorney's Office. Outraged Wife Shoots Husband. Deserted And Desperate Her Defense.

While the office of State's Attorney Joa. L. Bailey was engaged with clients Friday morning a shot was heard to ring out from one of the private offices in the suite. Mr. Bailey who was busy in one of the other offices rushed to the scene. On opening the door he saw Mrs. Tobias Hudson calmly sitting in a chair, and stretched on the floor, where he had fallen at the shot, lay her dying husband, one shot only had been fired.

It appears that Hudson had deserted his wife, who had been in Cambridge, about a year ago. After repeated appeals to him to come back
she decided this week to come over and investigate. Finding that he was living with Eva Workman here,
she swore a warrant for his arrest on the charge of desertion. On Thursday at a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. A. Trader he was placed under bail of $250, which he put up in cash. Mrs. Hudson expressed herself as satisfied with this and made preparations to return to her home in Cambridge for the present.

On Thursday evening Hudson made a pretense of going around and take her driving, giving an excuse however that he had to get a different team. Instead of coming back he took Miss Workman out driving, and it is supposed that the knowledge of this made Mrs. Hudson desperate again.

On Friday morning, after going to one of the hardware stores and purchasing a pistol, she went up to Mr.
Bailey's office and under the plea that she wanted a further talk with her husband asked that he be sent for.
On Hudson's appearance at the office
they at once went into one of the private offices to have a talk. They had been in there about half an hour
when the shot was fired. The bullet entered the brain from the front and it was seen at once that the man was mortally wounded. In a statement after the arrest of Mrs. Hudson, she stated that she had tried every way to get him to go back with her, but that he had refused and if she did not get out of town, he would, threatening and swearing at her at the time.
He arose from the chair and grasped
his stick and then she fired.

She didn't seem to regret the act afterwards and stated that she at least knew where he was now and that it was a question of killing herself or him. Hudson was an expert mechanic and was accredited with having considerable money which he had been spending. An examination after being taken to the Hospital showed that he had $303.30 in his pocket. In addition to this six bullets, No. 32. caliber were found.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson had been married 11 years, he was about 51 years of age, while she gives hers as 46. Mrs. Hudson was married twice before getting a divorce from her second husband. She has three children none of them by her last marriage.

Immediately after the shooting Dr.
Wallis was called in and the patient rushed to the Hospital where he died in a short time.

DEATH OF MRS. RIDER.

Expires After Two Years Of Intense Suffering. Funeral Services Held Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. M. Augusta Rider, who was one of the few remaining members of the older families of this county died Sunday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary D. Ellegood, with whom she has resided for a number of years, after an illness covering a period of nearly two years. She was the wife of Granville B. Rider who is one of Salisbury's oldest residents.

Mrs. Rider was a daughter of the late Charles Whitlock and was born in Baltimore in 1839. When a young girl, her father moved to this city, and Mrs. Rider has been a resident of Salisbury since early childhood. Mr.
and Mrs. Rider were married about forty years ago. Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary D. Ellegood, of this city, and one son, Chas. W. Rider, who holds a government position in Washington.

Although she was confined to her bed for more than a year, Mrs. Rider was a patient sufferer, and her death came without a struggle. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, of which she was a lifelong member and earnest worker. The services were conducted by Rev. David Howard, rector of St.
Peter's parish. The pallbearers all of whom are old friends of Mrs. and Mr.
Rider, were Messrs. Gustavus W.
White, Oscar Preedy, H. Lee Powell,
Jacob O. Phillips, James E. Ellegood and Judge E. Stanley Todd. Her remains were interred in the Rider
lot in Parsons Cemetery.

THE FARMERS MEET

A Success. A Very Instructive Programme Rendered. Governor
Crothers Makes An Address.

Although this is the time of the year when our farmers are usually busy with their crops, thousands turned out on Wednesday of this week to meet the Governor of the State and to hear addresses from those who have made farming the study of their life.

With clear skies and warm weather
our farmers with their wives and families commenced to gather on the Fair Grounds, where the meet was held, at an early hour Wednesday morning, and long before the meeting was over there were present close to 2500. The meeting which was scheduled to commence at ten in the morning was delayed until the arrival of the Governor and party who were met at Claiborne by Supt. Polk with a special train; and given a through run over the Baltimore Chesapeake and Atlantic R. R., to Byrd's Switch, where they were met at the station by the reception committee and a large number of leading citizens.

A large number of automobiles were
at hand to convey them to the Fair grounds. The meeting was called to order by Mr. W. F. Allen, the presiding officer, who opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks, and introduced Sen. Jesse D. Price, who welcomed the party to Salisbury and Wicomico County. Senator Price started some of his hearers with the announcement that he was a farmer or at least had been one, having spent the first ten years of his life on the old homestead. Considerable enthusiasm was aroused when he referred to the importance of improving our waterways and draining our swamps thus reclaiming thousands of acres of land
now useless and worse than useless.

From whatever standpoint viewed the meeting was a great success and all present had an instructive as well as an enjoyable day. The school children of the City, numbering about 1000 were marched out in a body, that they might have an opportunity of meeting the Governor of the State.

The great success of the meeting was due in a large measure to the efforts of Mr. W. M. Cooper, President of the Board of County Commissioners, Senator Jesse D. Price and Mr. W. F. Allen, and the members of the reception and entertainment committee of which Mr. Walter B. Miller was chairman. The other members of this committee were Hon. C. B.
Dieharoon, Hon. M. V. Browington,
Messrs. R. D. Grier, E. A. Toadvine,
Thos. Perry, J. Roscoe White, S. P.
Woodcock, Prof. W. F. Massey.
While here the Governor and party were entertained at luncheon at the Peninsula Hotel. After the meeting
Mr. W. B. Miller and Col. Chas. H.
Levinson took the Governor and a number of the guests over the new State Road to Mardela.

Proceedings of meeting:

"Paradise of America."

The meeting was called to order
at 1.30 by Charles A. Councilman, who introduced W. F. Allen who presided. Mr. Allen then introduced Senator Jesse D. Price, who delivered the address of welcome.

"The farmers of the Eastern Shore will eventually make that section the finest in the world," he said, "and it will not be long before it will be known as the 'paradise of America.'"
What we need is the proper encouragement from the State and it is a great fact that we are getting that help through our interested Chief Executive. We have sent some of the best blood that has helped to make the great city of Baltimore, but what we need is our boys to stay home and devoted their efforts to making the Eastern Shore the garden spot of America." The Governor who responded to the address of welcome, said, in part:

"There are a great many men down here who have been puzzling their heads over some of the bills passed by the last legislature, and I want to explain some of those things to you.
You all know my earnest advocacy of good roads. You know that there can be no real progress in any community without the proper highways. Now, the last legislature recognized that great principle and they cast about to find some means of securing funds to carry on the work. And they first decided on the collateral inheritance tax.
This tax provides that if some distinct relative should die and leave you a sum of money, the state will tax
you 5 per cent on the amount, one half of which will go to the good roads movement. After they passed that bill they devised a tax on automobile owners, who of all the people of the world are the ones who pray for good roads. If man can own an auto he can pay a tax on it, particularly when he receives such direct benefits from the tax as good roads on which to run his car. And then to secure further funds, they increased the liquor license in order to further their plan. Now, no one is injured by any one of those taxes, and yet their wonderful benefits have hardly begun

to be manifest as yet.

A Progressive County.
"There was more enthusiasm in Wicomico when I preached the good roads plans at the time of my inauguration than in any other county in Maryland. That was natural because your community is a progressive one and a sentiment for such measures had already existed. The strongest letters of encouragement which I received at that time came from men
in your county not only from members of my own party, but from Republicans as well as Democrats.

"The time has come for the farmers of the nation to organize. They must meet together, discuss their problems and take counsel with one another. The world must now focus its attention on the tillers of the soil.
Do you know why the boy leaves the farm? It is because he is possessed with the idea that there is no field for intellectual ability on the farm. That is a mistake and it must be corrected.
If we—you and I—had served the old farm as faithfully as we have served our taskmasters it would not leave us in gray hairs to the charity of the world. I repeat, that time has arrived for the farmers to organize to protect and improve all the interests that affect their occupation. That is the reason for the farmers' commission."

Thomas F. McNulty sang "Farmer Boys". The meeting was then adjourned until 2 o'clock and the party taken to the Peninsula Hotel, where dinner was served. An interesting incident occurred near the Governor
during the meal. The two incongruous candidates, Abraham Lincoln Dryden and Harry Covington, were dining in the room and the latter walked up to the table of his opponent and extending his hand, said, "Howdy," and the two chatted together for five minutes.

A Pleasant Surprise.

As the Governor ascended the speaking platform, after luncheon, a thousand school children of Wicomico county, bearing banners and shouting lustily, filed before him as he stood with bared head, bowing and smiling.
It was a little surprise prepared for him. The Governor made a neat little speech, in which he thanked the children for their reception, and invited them into the grandstand.
When he had finished, and when the long parade had filed past, he turned to a friend and said: "It's quite evident there is no race suicide here."

Mr. Hays' Address.

After a solo by Mr. McNulty, Secretary Willett Mr. Hays, of the United States Department of Agriculture, was introduced to speak on "The Promotion of Agriculture." His remarks were illustrated by large charts.
The principal theme of discussion by Mr. Hays was the establishment of a consolidated school system in Maryland. He showed charts of places where it had been introduced, and showed the good results that followed its adoption. Governor Crothers liked the idea and said that it ought to be investigated.

The Governor then made a little farewell address to the crowd, after which he left in his auto to inspect the new roads built by the state. He went as far as Mardela Springs,
where he rejoined the party on its return trip.

Others who spoke were Prof. L. O.
Corbett, United States Department of Agriculture, "Small Fruit and Truck Crops"; Prof. N. Schmitz,
Maryland Experiment Station,
"Growing Alfalfa on the Eastern Shore"; Prof. Sylvester, of the Maryland Agriculture College, "Agriculture"; and Richard Vincent Jr., president of the State Horticultural Society, who asked for co-operation in the exhibition to be held in the Fifth Regiment Armory in October.
The party returned to Baltimore at night.

On the return trip a meeting of the executive committee of the Farmers Commission was held at which four members were present. Resolutions commending the reception committee
at Salisbury for the arrangements provided for the entertaining of visitors and commending the speakers and
Mr. McNulty, were passed.

Cans Are Too Full.

A painter complained that Devoe cans are too full; unhandy; spill. It's a way we have; it's handier not to be full; but Devoe has a weakness for full measure. So have we. Our gallon contains eight pints; the usual "gallon" is seven.

We'll think it over again; but we like a full can. How much short would you like a barrel. Seven gallons would be the proportion.

Short measure suggests that the shortage is probably not in the cheapest ingredient.
Guess we'll stick to four quarts to a gallon, and fifty gallons a barrel.
The name to go by is Devoe lead
and zinc. L. W. Garby Co.

GREAT MATCH RACE.

Julia Marlowe And Hannis Boy. Salisbury.
September 15th, 1910. Other Leading Attractions.

A race that is attracting a great deal of interest among those who like to see a close match, will come off
on the Fair Grounds at Salisbury, Md., Sept. 15th., between Hannis Boy and Julia Marlowe. Both of these horses are well known all over the State and as both have the same mark, it is expected to prove a very exciting match. The race is for a side purse of $300 placed by the owners of the horses. Hannis Boy with a mark of 2:15 1/2 is owned by Mr.
Geo. W. Mesnick of Wicomico County and is under the management of Capt.
I. H. White; Julia Marlowe with a mark the same as Hannis Boy is owned and controlled by Collins and Co.

Both of the horses have enthusiastic supporters and it is stated that much money is being placed by people all through the section, no odds
being given or asked.
The Fair Association, under whose auspices the race will be given, has also arranged to give the Farmers race on the same day. There is much rivalry between the owners of fast horses in the County and much interest is being taken in this race. It was intended to pull this event off during the Fair this year, but owing to the bad weather conditions it was found to be impossible to arrange it.
At that time there were 13 entries
and an exciting time was looked for.
It is believed that practically all of these horses will be entered in the race
to be given on the 15th of this month and the question as to who owns the fastest horse will be settled. The purse is to be $50 divided as per the arrangement for the Fair.

In addition to these two races the Association is making arrangements for a good motorcycle race. In this race "Ohio" Thomas, Champion of Maryland is expected to compete. The Motorcycle race proved to be one of the greatest attractions at the Salisbury Fair, and as the track was very heavy at the time it is believed that much better time will be made at the coming race. At that time one mile was made in 1:30 and the five miles of the race was made in 7 minutes flat. Several second will be pulled off this record on the 5th and probably a State record for 1/2 mile track made.

PROPER PRECAUTIONS

Should Be Taken, Says Dr. Price, Of State Board of Health, Against Typhoid.

Dr. Marshall L. Price, secretary of the State Board of Health, has apprehensions that there may be a serious epidemic of typhoid fever in Baltimore and other towns unless the State assumes control of all sources of water supply. He believes that many streams from which the cities receive their water supply are polluted, as
are also the reservoirs.

"The remedy, says Dr. Price, lies in complete control of streams and reservoirs. I believe that in a few years the State Board of Health will be given complete control over water supplies and sewerage plants, as is now the case in Massachusetts, Ohio, Kansas, Montana, New York, Minnesota and a majority of other states throughout the Union. In these states
no municipality or corporation is allowed to install a system of public water supply or sewerage disposal unless the plans for the same have been previously submitted to the State Board of Health and approved. On the other hand no municipality or corporation is allowed to discharge its sewage into any stream until its plans and methods of purification
have been approved by the State Board of Health.

Mighty Haag Shows.

Although the weather was very unsettled yesterday, the Mighty Haag Shows gave two performances, afternoon and evening, and at each performance the shows received a large and well deserved patronage. The acrobatic performances were of high class, there being stunts not usually seen in these shows. The show also has a fine lot of ponies and monkeys to please the children, besides the herd of performing elephants, tigers, hyenas, bears and several other animals, including the horned horse. In fact the show is one of the cleanest
and best ever exhibiting here.

Mr. E. Haag, the owner of the show, is a very pleasant southern gentleman, his home being in Shreveport, La., and he is connected with several enterprises in this city.

If any show deserves patronage in the south it is one owned by southern people, and those visiting the Haag Shows may rest assured that they will receive fair treatment and get their money's worth.

The show leaves the city this morning for Mookville, where two performances will be given tomorrow.

GOING FISHING

"But I don't see the point," protested the summer resorter. The young man with his foot resting on the lower step and two fish-poles over his shoulder shook his head patiently.

"Haven't I just explained," he said, "that when one goes to the country one must indulge in outdoor sports, and that fishing is included in the category? Given a perfectly good lake full of trusting little fish, why not fish? If one does not fish why not stay in town where one can order fish planked and then complain to the waiter? Do try to be in keeping with your surroundings. Just at present you are, theoretically, surrounded by shiny bass begging to be caught."

"I'm not!" declared the summer resorter, flatly. "I'm surrounded by a gale of wind direct from the north pole and I'm freezing to death and I want to go back to the log fire inside the cottage from which you called me! You may think this is June, but I tell you it isn't—it's the middle of winter!"

"Oh, come on," begged the man on the lower step. "Honest, fishing isn't half bad. Besides, it's no fun to go alone!"

This is perfectly idiotic! grumbled the summer resorter ten minutes later as she tramped along in sweater and old coat, her nose pink and her eyes weeping from the wind. "I'm frozen clear through and I loathe fishing anyhow, and besides, any self-respecting fish would stay at home on a day like this! I'd have no regard, not the slightest, for a weak-minded fish that would go deliberately wandering around in the ice water looking for bait merely to be accommodated when it could just as well as not stay in the nice warm mud at the bottom of the lake! I shouldn't care to eat a fish like that, really! Don't you think it is going to snow?"

"It's really too cold to snow," admitted the young man. "If it could storm toberges I'd be willing to prophesy those, but not just plain ordinary snow. All the horses at our place are blooming out in winter coats of heavy fur. Still, the fish don't mind that, because you can cut holes in the ice in winter and get them, you know."

"B-r-r!" shivered the summer resorter as they rounded the outskirts of the woods and came out on the lake front. "I'm glad to discover what you call pleasure! Of course, if you had invited me to go on a merry little jaunt through a cold-storage plant or something like that I would have known what to expect. Fishing has always been represented to me as an agreeable way of killing time. I don't see anything agreeable about this. I wish I had brought my furs!"

"We aren't fishing yet!" said the young man, patiently. "We are merely on the way. The rest of the sport will—"

"Ow-w!" moaned the summer resorter. "How was I to know that horrid hook was swinging loose? If you tear my best puffs getting it off I'll never forgive you as long as I live!"

"Then you'll have to unpin them and let them dangle on the hook," said the young man, shortly. "They may attract the fish—"

"Thank it out!" commanded the summer resorter, fiercely. "I hate fish-hooks! I heard of a girl once who got a fishhook caught in her ear when she was a child and they couldn't get it out and she had to go through life that way."

"Too bad she couldn't unpin her ear as you can your puffs," said the young man, unapologetically. "Now, you sit on the box and I'll bait your hook."

"Ugh," said the summer resorter. "There must be something wrong with a human being who can handle angle worms and act as though he liked it! Doesn't it make creeps go down your spine?"

"No," said the young man, callously. "I'm just as wrong as they make 'em! Pardon me, but fish as a rule don't skate along the surface of the water—you'd better lower your line!"

"Truly," said the summer resorter through her chattering teeth, "are you having a good time?"

She stared questioningly at the young man who sat hunched up beside her wrapped in a disreputable heavy coat and with a pipe between his teeth.

"Yes, indeed," he declared, cheerfully. "Aren't you? This is great!"

"I'm not," said the summer resorter, uncompromisingly. "And the lake is getting rougher and rougher and pretty soon it will splash over this pier and wash our stiffened corpses away—oh, what's the matter?"

"Gotabit!" said the young man, running the words together. "What a nice bass! Put it into the basket!"

He rebaited his hook and then as the summer resorter didn't come back to her seat, he looked around. "What in creation are you doing?" he roared.

"Reading this poor little fish back home," she said, coolly, as she dropped it into the lake. "It-it looked so little and sort of lonesome. Can't you catch them bigger than that?"

"Dearst," cooed the young husband who had been on a pleasure trip and overstayed his time. "Did you get those letters I wrote you every day?"

"Yes, John," responded the young wife.

"The ones in which I told you that every minute while away I was thinking of you and only you?"

"Yes, John."

"Well—what did you do with them?"

"Why, I placed them between the leaves of that bogus arctic explorer's book."

"Arctic explorer's book! Gracious, did you think they were cold?"

"No, but I thought they would be at home among fictions."

And it was five minutes before he ventured to speak again.

Putting it off.

"Spoonamore," said his elderly friend, "why don't you marry?"

"Marry!" exclaimed Spoonamore. "No!"

"Yes, you. Why don't you?"

"I simply can't, Wiggins."

"You have a love affair with somebody or other on hand all the time. You ought to marry and settle down."

"Wiggins, I'm not in a position to marry."

"Fiddle! All you need to do in order to be in the proper position to marry, is to stand up with the girl before a preacher."

By the Sea Waves.

The beautiful girl was furious. "You base deceiver," she hissed as she emerged from the ocean, "you have been teaching some other girl to swim!"

"On my word, I have not," replied her fiancé.

"Then how did this blond hair get on your bathing suit?"

"Blond hair? Oh, that is easily explained. I guess it came out of the combers, my dear."

Jumbo Health Food.

"Maria," exclaimed Mr. Stubb, as he rushed down to breakfast, "bring me some health food. I have the appetite of an elephant."

And Mrs. Stubb placed a five-ounce bag of peanuts before his plate.

"Great Josephus!" roared Mr. Stubb in disgust, "do you call this health food?"

EXCELLENT BUTTER CAKES

Instructions That Will Enable the Cook to Prepare These the Most Appetizing Way.

Mix together three cups of flour, four and a half level teaspoons of baking powder and three-quarters of a level teaspoonful of salt. Rub into this two tablespoonfuls of butter until the four looks and feels mealy, then add one and one-half ounces of milk, and beat for a moment to a smooth dough. Have a coarse linen or canvas cover for your molding board and a woven cover for the rolling pin. Turn the dough out on a well-floured cloth and toss into a ball with a knife. Slip the cover over the pin and rub it full of flour, then roll out the dough with light pats.

This should be moist, so it will stick to anything but the well-floured canvas. It must not be touched with the hands except when the cakes are laid on the griddle. Roll the dough out into an even sheet, about three-quarters of an inch thick, cut out with a blount cutter and bake on a granite griddle, leaving them far enough apart so they will not stick. The fire should not be too hot.

When the cakes puff up to double their size, turn and bake on the other side. Have a second batch baking while the first is being eaten, like griddle cakes. Serve hot, so the butter will melt at once when the cakes are split and the butter is spread between them.

Dreams go by, contraries, they say, And, therefore, it would seem, It is not anything out of the way To call a woman a dream.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Man Of Iron Nerve.

Indomitable will and tremendous energy are found where stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring use Dr. King's New Life Pills, the matchless regulators, for keen brain and strong body. 25c at All Druggists.

Mothers!

Don't fail to procure Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for your Children while cutting teeth. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swensen, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Buckle's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, feet sores, bunions, scalds, cuts, and piles, 25 cents at All Druggists.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me for long time. The cure was permanent!—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta Me.

Regulates the bowels, promotes easy natural movements, cures constipation—Doan's Regulate. Ask your druggist for them, 25c a box.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Electro Oil at once. It acts like magic.

Mer Plot.

Mrs. Moschidis—Yes, dear, I was married last month. I'd like you to call on me and see the pretty little flat I have.

Miss Julius—I've seen him, my dear. —George Elmer Boyton.

You Inquisitive.

Visiting Relatives—If you don't mind, I'd like to see the inside workings of this big factory of yours.

Proprietor—The inside workings? My dear sir, this is a pill factory.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Salisbury People Know How To Save It.

Many Salisbury people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all disease and aches and pain due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Salisbury citizen recommendation.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 818 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy, bearing down sensation through my hips. No matter what I took this misery clung to me and was also bothered, when arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins, at last I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's Drug Store and in return for the benefit they brought me I consider them worthy of my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Lash Of A Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper, of Oswego, N. Y., as a lung racking cough that defied all remedies or years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lung, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces—50c. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by All Druggists.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs (the strains on machinery, cause break down. You can't overtax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run down or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine.

Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down while enduring a most severe strain, for three months is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at all Druggists.

Notice of Closed Road.

Notice is hereby given that the road leading from Salisbury to Tony Tank Mill and known as the "Tony Tank" Road, is closed for repairs from the corporate limits of Salisbury to Tony Tank Mill. The County Commissioners will not be responsible for damage sustained to persons using above road while repairs are in progress. Salisbury may be reached from below Fruitland by using the Oldburn Mill Road, at Dr. Long's store.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been afflicted with indigestion, have been sorry for it when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol. When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, dizziness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it. Ordinary peptic dyspepsia tablets, physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Peppin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do. Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee
Get your druggist today and get a glass test-tube. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has made much good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists will exchange guarantees in good faith. This offer applies to the large bottles only and to one in a family. The large bottles cost five times as much as the tiny ones.

CHAPTER XVI.
MORAN FINDS JENNY.

THE Moran apartment had undergone still another change. It was an office now, brilliant with light from Haggleton's suggestion that the two windows facing the East river should be joined into one large observation window had been carried out. Jenny's little room had been turned into a "private office." The hall door had been removed to make place for one of ground glass, on which was painted in large black letters, "East Side Associated Bakers' Shops." The flat across the hall had been rented for living purposes.

Joe Carey had learned typewriting with gratifying celerity and turned out to be most satisfactory speller. Moran alone remained unrecaptured, watching with growing hostility the phenomenal rise of this man Jackson. Jenny's disappearance had been a terrible blow to Moran. He had no delusion about the life to which she had returned and in his unreasoning hostility to society ascribed this, too, to the curse of capitalism. Philip, too, worried a great deal over Jenny.

One afternoon Moran, simply but neatly dressed, was working at his desk and grumbling at his work, as was his wont. Joe, seated at the typewriter, was ticking off letters.

"Say, Moran," he observed, "what's the use of being a kicker?"

"I'd rather be a kicker than a quitter," was the significant answer.

"Meaning me?"

"Yes, you. You used to call yourself a Socialist. Yah?"

"That was when I was broke. I wanted to divide. Now I've got something, and, say—no dividing for me!"

"Hello," Joe exclaimed as he glanced at the morning paper, "here is my old friend Haggleton again! His yacht has passed Gibraltar."

"Care him?" growled Moran. "I hate him!"

"Ah, shut off the hot air! What has John J. ever done to you?"

Moran wheeled around.

"What has he done to me?" he snarled. "He ruined my little business out west and made me a common laborer. He killed my wife in his rotten tenement with consumption, he killed Jenny's husband with his railroads, and he has sent Jenny out into the—"

"You make me tired, Moran. If a man has the colic in this tenement they blame it on Haggleton."

Haggleton entered, followed by Gentle.

The head of the east side bakery trust sat down at his desk, saying to Gentle:

"I will be with you in a moment. Go into the private office."

True to his resolution, the old diver kept in daily touch with Haggleton and his son. The millionaire understood his motive perfectly, but never betrayed the slightest impatience or irritation.

Haggleton glanced at the morning paper.

"Hello," he said, "another model tenement falls to pay expenses! Tenants store their coal in the porcelain bathtub. Here, Joe, show that to Mr. Gentle. No; wait. I'll do it myself."

He disappeared.

Moran closed his ledger, opened one of the drawers of his desk and took from it a revolver. Joe, looking over his shoulder, was taken aback.

"What have you got that gun for?" persisted Joe.

"Nothing."

Moran put the pistol back into the drawer.

"You have been playing with that gun for years, Moran," said Joe. "What's the use? You would never dare to use it. You are a milk and water anarchist. Why don't you get a bunch of freerackers? They make more noise for less money."

"I am a fool," Moran announced gloomily. "I had no business to take the job."

"Well, then, why did you take it?"

"I was out of work. I wanted to help Jenny. Never mind what she has been. She is my daughter. She's all I have got, and now she's gone. I have lost her."

Two tears rolled slowly down his flabby cheeks.

Joe was touched. He felt sincerely sorry, but, after the manner of his kind, ashamed of this "softness." So he replied airily:

"Jenny will turn up all right."

Despair distorted the old man's features.

"Where will she turn up?" he asked, in an agony of apprehension. "What is she doing now?"

"You've got a rank philosophy!" ejaculated Joe. "Whatever is wrong. That's the way you dope it out. Say, you'd better get busy and mail those letters Mr. Jackson has signed or you'll lose this job you are so ashamed of."

Moran obediently put on his coat and hat, took up a pile of correspondence which Joe had meanwhile stamped with lightning rapidity and walked toward the door.

Joe returned to his typewriting.

Moran, however, having reached the door, stopped, hesitated and turned back. He approached Joe's desk, leaned over it and looked him straight in the eyes. The grim determination of his face daunted Joe a little.

"Here, you," said the old man significantly, "I want to know something, and I mean to find out. Where is Jenny?"

Joe shifted his eyes from Moran's face to the wall behind it and wriggled uneasily in his chair.

"Why—er—be stammered.

"Answer my question," said the other man, with ominous calm.

"I don't know, Moran."

"I believe you are lying. You know where she is and what she is. Mark my words, I will find that girl! I will find her, I tell you!"

He continued to look at Joe in silence, with a new determination in his watery, wavering eyes. His flabby mouth was drawn in a tight line. Joe was startled again, but again mastered himself. He looked back boldly, steadfastly, resolved to keep to himself what he knew.

Moran's next action startled him still more. The old man took his keys out of his pocket, unlocked the drawer, took from it the revolver and slipped it into the pocket of his overcoat.

Then he left the office without a further word.

Joe got up and walked up and down. He was now deeply disturbed, far more so than he would admit even to himself. This sudden demonstration of firmness by the dabby, vacillating, mouthing Moran—well, he did not like it. No man is so dangerous, he knew, as a coward with a gun when he screws his cowardice up to the sticking point.

Joe whom was that revolver meant? He cast about in his mind, but could settle on no particular person. Moran's hat was so all inclusive, social and economic in the aggregate rather than particular.

Of course John J. Haggleton was to Moran the incarnation of all the evils of society, including the evil whose victim Jenny was. But then John J. was away on his yacht for a three months' cruise, and Moran could not reach him with a pistol across the Atlantic ocean at Gibraltar and the police justices on their benches and the settlement workers, whose social superiority Moran detested. He hated the czar of Russia and the president of the republic. He did not like Jackson. He merely tolerated Gentle. He had begun to sneer at Philip and his sudden business activity. He was rude to Margaret Lawrence. Jenny alone he loved.

Perhaps he hated Joe himself. He thought of the pistol again. It might be used by a Socialist. Joe stepped in his wake.

He remembered what he had heard the leader of the gang he had deserted in time say upon one occasion: "When a man threatens you with a gun, shoot first, and do it quick. But if you're unarmed grab hold of his windpipe and squeeze. No man who feels the life being strangled out of him ever has presence of mind enough left to shoot. Instinct tells him to tear those hands away from his throat—to get his hands off his throat. He'll drop his gun to do it before he'll fire."

Joe became calmer. He lighted a cigarette. After all, what was he thinking about? Such nonsense! He dismissed the subject from his mind.

"He's an awful bluff," he said, half aloud. "He's a wind anarchist! He couldn't blow up a red balloon!"

Moran had left the office a little before 5 in the afternoon. He stood a moment trying to decide what to do. It was no use to return to the office in his present state of mind, he concluded. Moreover, they would close in an hour. He entered a saloon and had a drink, then took another and still another with a couple of men who, he discovered, were fomenting trouble among the hands of the bakery combine.

He mechanically ate of a "free lunch" and emerged at 9 o'clock to take up his hunt for his daughter.

He walked the Bowery from Chinatown to the Bible House, back and forth. A fine drizzle was falling, but he did not feel it. He was thinking of Jenny. If he could only find her!

It was after 10 when he turned into Doyers street, where evil looking Chinamen were skulking under dark doorways. He recognized the smell of burning opium. He heard the harsh tomtom in the Chinese theater, and from the Doyers street mission just beyond came the fragment of a gospel hymn:

O depths of mercy! Can he be That sinner left afar for me? For a moment he stood irresolute, almost ready to go in, and throw himself on his knees and pray for help. If he could only find her!

He turned into a narrow street. They were making repairs here, and he sat down on the iron elbow of a sewer pipe. He sat in the rain and thought in a dull way for a long time. A woman approached.

"Feelin' blue, ain't ye? Same here," she said.

"What's the matter?"

"I'm all broke up," she said. "I'm takin' too much dope. Fifty pills a day is too much, ain't it? The missionary doctor says I can't live six months if I don't cut it out."

"Do you know Jenny Moran?"

"Jenny Moran? Sure! She ain't here. She's a good looker. She stayed down here one day. If you want to find her you must go uptown."

Moran rose. Within twenty minutes he was walking along Sixth avenue in the neighborhood of several second rate music halls. He arrived one and sat down at a table.

Suddenly he heard a voice beside him exclaim "Father!" and, looking up, he saw Jenny. She wore a large black hat with white ostrich plumes and a tan coat lined with silk.

She followed him without a word, pale and trembling. Into the street, across town and into a Fourth avenue car. Not a word passed between them. They sat side by side, her hand in his, the tears rolling unheeded down her cheeks, his face grim, a baleful light in his eyes.

MAKE FRIENDS WITH THE DOT

Those Who Embroider Will Find It More Useful Than Any Other Form of Fancy Work.

If you embroider even a little, make friends with the dot. You will find it more useful than any other form of fancy work, especially if you like to make your own designs.

Other styles of fancy work come and go, but the dot is always in favor for personal embroidery and household decoration. It is wonderful what you can do with dots. Each time you rearrange them you have a new motif.

Run them in a single line and you have a neat finish for a box plait or skirt. Put them in the curve of a scallop and at once a simple edging takes on an air of elaboration. Put them together and you have a trefort; run them on each side of a central stem; there is a vine-like foliage; arrange five around an imaginary center, you get a forget-me-not. A stem and one dot make a cherry; a stem with ten dots makes a bunch of grapes.

Make a circle of eight dots with three in the center, you have a good-looking motif for the end of a jabot. Make a larger circle and there is a medallion or frame for monogram or initials. Arrange dots to form diamond, or octagon, insert a bit of lace, and you have an intricate effect with little work and cost.

Not only can much be done with the single dot of a fixed size, but think of the possibilities of the graduated dot, rows of them decreasing from the outside in, and you realize what stylish borders can be made for parasol, ruffe to petticoat, or as stripes in a tailored blouse.

What is an eyelet but a hollowed dot? Include it in your dot embroidery and unlimited combinations are possible. Elongate your dots slightly and you have oval effects that add beauty and variety.

Embroidery of solid dots is much in favor this season. Whole yokes are made with only dots scattered over the entire surface. Coat sets in linen and pongee have a straight button-holed edge and the surface covered thickly with coin dots. Collars and tabs are smart with similar embroidery.

LARGE HATS AGAIN IN VOGUE

Merry Widow Left Far in the Background by Increased Size of Late Creations.

One discriminating mortal remarked that if the elasticity of woman's dress continued, the hat brim will measure more than the circumference of the skirt. It cannot be denied that hats are growing larger and larger, leaving the merry widow far in the background. Not only are the brims increasing, but the sizes are accentuated by huge crowns of tulle, roses or ribbon and by bunches of plumes or flowers.

The untrimmed shapes are appalling, but must not be taken in their pristine glory of size.

Sometimes the wide brim is turned completely up to the top of the crown; frequently the shape is changed by turning the brim up at both front and back and filling the top with maline or flowers.

The undeniable becomingness of the one side turned up under a simple slash of trimming is secured by many who aim at simplicity. In this case hatpins, quite large, are used on the expanse of straw at the side.

The huge frame for the face of the wearer does much to add picturesqueness to a costume, and does much to detract from the effective whole if the point of an extreme size be emphasized. There is a limitation for every wearer, determined by the face and height. Do not forget this fact in the enthusiastic adoption of the picture hat, which is always alluring—in the case!

RAZOR CASE.

This useful case for holding two razors is arranged in such a way that the razors may be slipped in or withdrawn with the least possible trouble, and the case may be folded at the joint of the two pockets and so entirely inclose the razors. Each pocket is seven inches in length, and an inch and a half in width, and made of soft wash-leather mounted upon a square of thick cloth into scallops that are pinked at the edges.

Furniture Covering.

If you do not wish to go to the expense of having covers for your furniture made by the upholsterer try the expedient of planing on summer covers.

Put pieces the exact size of chair or section of sofa, allowing enough to turn in a hem all round edge if it be not bound with wash braids.

Fasten the pieces in place with big-headed white pins placed as close as upholsterer's tacks. The pins are ornamental and form a trimming. If less contrast is desired get pins of gilt or color of braid.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

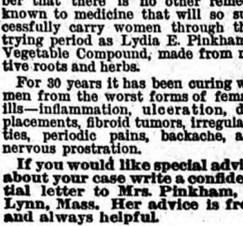

Brookfield, Mo.—"Two years ago I was unable to do any kind of work and only weighed 118 pounds. My trouble was due back to the time that women may expect nature to bring on the Change of Life. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me feel much better, and I have continued its use. I am very grateful to you for the good health I am now enjoying."—Mrs. SARAH LOUISIGNON, 414 S. Livingston Street, Brookfield, Mo.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

A FEW BARGAINS IN SOUTH SALISBURY

A few bargains in nice, large building lots in South Salisbury, also a few near E. Church St., extended. These lots will be sold cheap for quick sale; also on easy terms, to suit purchaser. If you want a home in Salisbury in the next two or three years, now is the time to buy. Remember, land values have nearly doubled this year and keep advancing. I will take Farm Land in exchange if the purchaser desires.

SCHOOL OPENS.

This week our streets have been filled with merry, happy children on their way to school to take up again the work interrupted by the long summer vacation.

No doubt but what the school will pull upon them before long, especially on those who find themselves left hopelessly behind by their more studious companions.

The value of an education can not be understood by our little tots and if no other incentive for study be given than the future benefits to be derived from a well stored and well trained mind.

The highest development mankind is capable of is attained by those who persevere wisdom from love of knowledge and it brings to its devotees true happiness and contentment.

For our children just starting along the paths of knowledge and wisdom encouragement must be given and incentives for study must be supplied.

Perhaps one of the best means to employ are the children's desire to excel and their love to please.

Let us make sure all of our teachers are of the right kind and then lend them help and encouragement in their grand and noble work.

"The Need of Patience" will be the subject of Rev. Mr. Beale's sermon at the Wicomico Presbyterian church tomorrow morning.

GAYNOR ADVISED TO

Dodge Governorship. Col. Watterson Says He Will Be Choice For President.

Destiny's Act.

"Refuse the nomination for Governor and continue making good for Mayor and you will be the choice of all Democratic factions for President in 1912."

"This is the advice of Henry Watterson to Mayor William J. Gaynor, of New York, Mr. Watterson added;

"The attempt on Gaynor's life makes him look like a man of destiny. It has certainly brought him to knowledge of hundreds of thousands of people who have only considered him as the shadow of a name.

"In my judgement, Gaynor will make a mistake if he accepts the nomination for Governor of New York. He will spread out much stronger from the City Hall than from the State House.

"Of course everything as to 1912 is way up in the air. Many things will have to be reckoned with, but no thoughtful or experienced observer of affairs can doubt that the events of the last six months have placed Judge Gaynor right in the forefront and the center of the line."

The statement that the Democratic factions may unite on Mayor Gaynor for President is of special significance, coming from a loyal Bryan supporter, who, nevertheless, has never felt or manifested any overwhelming affection for the Nebraskan.

City Council Proceedings.

The City Council was in session Monday evening and transacted the following business:

Applications for permits to build were granted as follows: To W. F. Fooks, dwelling on Newton Street; L. A. Parsons, dwelling on Cathel Street.

Bills amounting to $1,030.39 were approved and ordered paid.

The report of the examiners on Newton Street was approved, there being but one objection to the ratification of same.

The clerk was instructed to notify the property owners on both sides of Light Street that if benefits assessed to them by examiners are not paid within ten days after service of notice their property will be advertised and sold.

Clerk was instructed to tender to all property owners on Newton St., the amounts of damages awarded to them by the examiners.

Council adjourned to meet Monday evening, September 12

Twenty-four Pins Found In New Jersey Girl.

A human pin cushion exists at Patterson, N. J. The marvel is Adelina Wyckoff, daughter of Daniel Wyckoff.

Doctors are puzzled. Dr. George Balleray Flood has come to no definite conclusion unless it is that the girl swallowed the pins when young. But this the mother and daughter deny.

Dr. Flood took the pins from the girl's arm, the twenty fourth removed thus far. A year ago Miss Wyckoff complained of a pain in her arm. Her mother applied remedies for rheumatism, but the pain continued. Finally the physician found a pin.

That ended the pain, but a few weeks later it returned and the physician found another pin in the same spot. Then at intervals the pin returned and more pins were taken out.

Tax Collector's Notice.

During the month of August I sent out bills for all mortgage taxes then due and with these bills the following circular letter:

"I am inclosing you herewith a statement of amount due the County from you on Mortgage Tax. The legislature of 1910 repealed the law imposing this tax, but added a proviso that the County should collect all taxes accrued to the date of the passage of this law, April, 1910. Your bill is therefore rendered to that date.

The Treasurer has been instructed to collect these bills and close the accounts at once. You will therefore close the account, please, within the next 30 days.

No more statements of these accounts will be mailed. The Treasurer will begin at the end of the 30 days to advertise these mortgages for sale to pay these bills. Treasurer will also advertise without further notice all property for sale upon which taxes are due and in arrears.

DESSERTS FROM PINEAPPLE

Fritters, Souffle, Cream and Log Cabin Are Four Dainty Dishes Made From This Appetizing Fruit.

Pineapple Fritters.—Make a batter with one egg, beaten separately. To the yolk add one-half cup of milk, pinch of salt and enough flour to make a stiff batter, the beaten white and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Open a can of the best sliced pineapple. Cut each slice of pineapple in two, dip in the batter and fry in hot lard. Drain, sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve. Fresh fruit is much nicer if obtainable than the canned.

Pineapple Souffle.—Melt two ounces of butter in a stewpan, put in three ounces of fine flour, mix with half pint of milk, boil until it thickens; have ready three ounces of pineapple cut small, the same quantity of sugar; put with the cooked mixture, add one by one the yolks of three eggs, then the whites beaten to a stiff froth; make a sauce with one cup of pineapple juice, half cupful of cut pineapple. Cook the pudding three-quarters of an hour.

Pineapple Cream.—Select one ripe pineapple, pare, remove the "eyes," grate, add sugar (pound for pound, or a little less, but it must be sweet, as freezing destroys some of the effects of the sugar.) Allow one pint of cream to each pint of pulp and sugar, and freeze. Be sure and have all the ingredients icy cold before combining them.

Pineapple Log Cabin.—Select a large ripe pineapple, pare, eye and cut into slices about a fourth of an inch thick. Cut these across into half-inch strips. Sprinkle thickly with sugar and set in a cold place until time to serve. Then carefully drain off the sirup and arrange the strips six deep in log cabin fashion on small china plates. Sprinkle each strip with powdered sugar and freshly grated cocoanut. Fill the center with fine red raspberries and pour over them the sirup which has been drained from the pineapple.

To Roast a Leg of Veal.

Wash well and have leg of veal boned and filled with stuffing. Take a deep iron kettle and put layers of sliced onion, carrots and turnips; add one teaspoonful of salt, four round peppers, four cloves, four bay leaves, and on this lay the meat. Sprinkle three slices of salt pork on the meat and put wooden toothpicks to hold them in place; then add one pint of water, cover the kettle tight and put in a hot oven for three hours. When done, take out the roast and put on a platter with the vegetables around. Serve strained gravy separately.

Home-Made Cream Puffs.

Put a pint of water into a saucepan, bring to a boil, and stir into it a half-pound of butter. Bring again to the boiling-point and beat in it three-quarters of a pound of flour. Stir all the time, and boil until the mixture no longer sticks to the sides of the saucepan. This will take only a minute or two. Remove from the fire the moment this point is reached, and set away to cool. When cold, break into the mixture, one at a time, eight eggs, beating the batter for two minutes after each one is added. Set the batter on the ice until very cold, then drop by the great spoonful upon pans lined with waxed paper. Bake in a steady oven until puffed and colored a golden brown. When cold, cut a slit in the side of each puff, and fill with whipped cream flavored to suit the taste. Sprinkle with sugar and serve.

IN MEMORIAM.

At Salisbury Md., September 4th, 1910, entered into rest, Mrs. Augusta Rider, wife of Mr. Granville B. Rider.

Her beautiful life here has come to an end, she has left the Church militant, for the church triumphant. That she was eminently fitted to enter the mansions Christ has prepared for her, none can doubt. Her long weary days of suffering were patiently borne, and her testimony was perfect submission to her Father's will, and we can rejoice that the Heavenly heritage is hers. She has passed to meet again those of her family "loved long since, and lost awhile". Let us not sorrow when we think what a re-union is hers. As a lady, a Christian, and a sincere friend we will miss her sweet companionship, but we rejoice that she is safe among the saved.

Must we look in vain for thee oh loved one? For thy sweet smile? Must we always sorrow that of thee there is no trace? No, for Heaven, has need of thee, and we will wait awhile, In the bright beyond we shall meet thee in thy robes of spotless white, And shall look once more upon thy face.

Friend.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...
Messiah's Coming Kingdom Spiritual

Brooklyn, Sept. 4.—Pastor Russell preached today in the Academy of Music, our largest Auditorium, the "Tabernacle" being of insufficient capacity. He had a very attentive hearing. There were many Hebrews in the large audience. He said in part:—"Coming events cast their shadows before." Startling shadows are all about us. A great change in the affairs of men is indicated and acknowledged by all thoughtful, intelligent people. The world's pace during the past fifty years astonishes everybody. New conditions meet us on every hand. The majority of books written half a century ago along scientific lines are considered rubbish today. Rules and customs and theories of the past, supposed to be immutable and absolute, are abandoned as worthless—in chemistry, in manufactures, in art, in finance and commerce. All these changes necessitate a new view of social conditions and a re-examination of the relationship of religion and the Bible to man and his conditions, as seen from the present viewpoint. The business and social world have been compelled to keep pace with the steps of progress, some of them gladly and some of them reluctantly. But religionists have been placed in a most awkward position. Religion and moral sense constitute the backbone and fiber of the best progress in civilization. The perplexity of religious thought, and its manifest inability to adjust itself to the changed conditions, is working a serious disadvantage to all disposed to look to the Almighty for guidance in life's affairs.

of their civilized neighbors and friends and relatives have been decreed, sentenced, forfeited, to eternal torture because of ignorance, because of a misbelief in respect to which they were misled. Perplexed, the missionaries ask: What shall we preach? The message of damnation does not sound good to the heathen, and they do not run after it nor feast their souls upon it. The question comes to the ministers and professors of colleges throughout Christendom and they are perplexed what answer to give. The majority of them have become "higher critics" and no longer accept the Bible as the Word of God; they are Evolutionists and no longer believe the Gospel which the Missionary Societies were organized to proclaim. They are in perplexity. And many of them are prepared to abandon the former theory of missions and to continue their efforts, not merely along humanitarian lines. Indeed, within the last twenty-five years missionary effort has turned gradually to secular education and medical practice in the interests of the heathen, with little religious doctrine—and so much the better.

"The Hour of Temptation."
—Rev. J. R. —
The difficulty with the present situation is that we have stupidly and blunderingly misread the Bible. We have twisted what we did read and picked out certain portions which pleased our fancy and supported our best our various creeds. We have neglected the honest, truthful study which we should have given to our Heavenly Father's message. The confusion of Christendom is the result. That confusion and perplexity the Scriptures portray, assuring us that we are in the midst of a great falling away from faith in God and in his Revelation. We see fulfilled all about us the wonderful prophetic and symbolic picture of Psalm 91. A thousand fall at our side and ten thousand at our right hand. The "Isaiah" indeed, in whom there is no guile, will be kept from stumbling in this evil day. The chaos which we already see everywhere in evidence is only beginning.

God's Great Ransomed at Hand.
The faith of Christendom has been the rejection of the Bible. The Church was going to conquer the world—going to conquer the world for Jesus and present it to him as a trophy. Alas, we have not been able to convert ourselves, which is the particular work the Master gave us to do. Greater humility would have shown us our folly long ago.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?
Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.
Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root is a natural, healthful, and pleasant remedy for all ailments of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Children's Grip For Fletcher's CASORIA
Bible Students are more and more coming to see that this Gospel Age is the time in which Messiah is selecting from amongst men—of Jews and Gentiles—a saintly class and is testing and proving their loyalty to God and to righteousness. These are to be Messiah's assistants—the Bride, the Lamb's Wife. As Abraham typified the Heavenly Father, so the Messiah was typified by Isaac. And Messiah's Bride and joint-heir and co-laborer in his Kingdom was typified by Rebecca. Thus seen the great Plan of God has progressed well.

PUBLIC SALE
OF VALUABLE Farms and Timber

Under and by virtue of authority from the heirs of James H. West, the undersigned will sell by public auction in front of the store of Charles Bowden, in Pittsville, Maryland, on Saturday, September 24th., 1910. at two o'clock p. m., the real estate following:
(1) All that farm, together with the improvements thereon, situated partly in said Pittsburg Election District and partly in Sussex County, located about 300 yards easterly of the county road leading from Pittsville via the residence of the late James H. West to Gumboro, on the county road leading from the aforesaid county road to Cobbs Hill, adjoining the lands of J. Thomas West and others, being the farm upon which Charles E. Hudson now resides, containing 108 acres and 80 perches of land, more or less.
(2) All that farm, together with the improvements thereon, situated partly in said Pittsburg Election District and partly in said Sussex County, located on both sides of and upon the county road leading from Pittsville to Gumboro, adjoining the land of Alexander W. West, Joseph S. Carey and others, containing 20 1/2 acres of land, more or less, being the home farm of the late James H. West.
(3) One Erie Steam Saw Mill, with 30 horse power Ajax Engine, and 33 horse power boiler, complete now located on the home place.
(4) One traction Engine.
All the pine, oak and gum timber, not less than 10 inches in diameter at the stump, on lots nos. one and two will be offered separate from the land with the respective farms and are to be cut and removed, and the respective farms will be offered without the aforesaid timber. Afterwards, the farms with the timber will be offered, with the understanding that if the bids for the respective farms and the timber thereon shall be equal to or exceed the sum of the bid received for the farms and timber respectively, the bid for the respective farms with the timber thereon will be accepted, but if the bid for the farms and timber separately shall exceed, then the separate bids will be accepted.

TERMS OF SALE.
One third cash and balance in equal annual installments of one and two years, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers, credit portion to bear interest from date of sale and to be secured by the note or notes of the purchaser or purchasers with security to be approved by the undersigned.

The HONEST MAN

By Rev. David James Burrell, D. D.
Montreal, Can.

What do we mean by an honest man? We want a definition to begin with; and let it be as simple as possible. An honest man is one who pays his debts. That covers the whole case. It will be seen that this definition, so simple apparently, is quite comprehensive, and it cuts deeper than we think. For when the matter of life's assets and liabilities is fully canvassed, it will appear that it is no easy matter to live and die with a clean balance sheet.

The question at the outset touches
our relations with God. Are we debtors to God? Yes, by universal consent. In the bill our parents
there are three items, to-wit:

First: Creation. Is there any one who does not rejoice in the fact that he was made "but a little lower than the angels" and in the likeness of God? Is it nothing to stand erect, sensible of a divine birthright and of a divine inheritance? Is there no occasion for gratitude in the fact that I am able to dream dreams and see visions, and, as Kepler said, "think God's thoughts after him"? What do we owe in return for these? The least possible recognition of God's goodness, thus far, is in keeping ourselves on friendly terms with him.

The second item in the bill of particulars is Providence. In God we live and move and have our being. We slept in his arms last night, cared for
as tenderly as children in their mother's arms. He feeds us, clothes us, and continually cares for us.

What shall we render unto him for these loving kindnesses? Do they lay no obligation upon us? The least that we can do is to bend our knees in thanksgiving. To the beggar who stretches out his hand saying: "I am hungry," you gave enough to buy himself a breakfast and he says: "I thank you." Could he do less and bear the semblance of a man? What then of the man who never prays,
who takes God's gifts without a word
of recognition? Is he an honest man?

The third item in the bill of particulars is divine grace. It matters not,
so far as the question at issue is concerned, whether a man has accepted
the overtures of God's mercy or not;
it still remains that provision has been made for his deliverance from sin.
You may not have accepted Christ,
my friend; that does not affect the fact that God gave his only begotten Son to die in your behalf that you might be saved from sin. Here is an immeasurable obligation laid upon every man. How shall we pay it?
The answer is in the words of the familiar hymn: "Here, Lord, I give myself to thee, 'til all that I can do."
Would that we might sing it, but once with heart and understanding! For it contains the sum total of the philosophy of duty; that is, of what we owe to God.

It is a startling fact that men are so prone to overlook their obligations to God, for here is the very root of honesty. "Will a man rob God?" Shall we withhold from God that which is his honest due? Nay, that is clearly impossible if one would be an honest man.

But the question touches, secondly,
our relations with our fellow men. For no man liveth unto himself and no man dieth unto himself. It would appear that the angels were created one by one; but men are of one family,
and "blood is thicker than water."
We are mutually interdependent, as landlord and tenants; and each is bound, in honesty, to balance his account with his fellowmen.

I am debtor to society; that is, to my fellow men en masse. The liberties, immunities and sanctities of my daily life come to me through the social organism; and, so far forth, I am a debtor to the community in which I live. How shall I meet that obligation? To state it as briefly as possible, I am bound to put more into the common exchequer than I draw out of it.

There are two kinds of people, consumers and producers. The consumer says: "The world owes me a living,"
and proceeds to exact it. An idler,
rich or poor, living in parasitism, that detests a dishonest man. The producer, on the other hand, is one who adds to the common fund by making something. He earns a livelihood, and something more. And when he makes his exit, he leaves the community richer from his having lived in it.

What are you producing, my friend?
Make something, I pray you. Make a plow or a poem, make a house or a history, dig a well or build a stable;
produce something that will remain as your memorial, leaving the balance on the right side when you have gone
your way.

But my indebtedness is not merely to humanity en masse. "I am debtor to every man." The original break in the family circle was made when Cain asked: "Am I my brother's keeper?" I owe something to the next man. Get that in mind when you meet a drunkard reeling in the street, for he is a brother of yours. To such you are a debtor. What do you owe them?
All the category of kindnesses marked out in the Golden Rule: "Do unto them as you would be done by." Lend a hand. Do not an over-reacher. Like Jacob; buy no man's birthright for a mess of pottage.

I owe it to myself to be a clean
man.

My Experience.

TIME IS MORE VALUABLE ALL THE WHILE

Employers demand promptness
and minutes are as valuable as hours
used to be. He is a wise man that appreciates that time is money.

This emphasizes the need of exact
timepieces. No one these days can afford to carry a now fast now slow
time piece.

He might just as well guess the
time from the sun as his great grand-
father used to do.

Please remember that we are time
specialists. We sell all the dependable clocks and watches. We match
the lowest of prices and we invite
you to bother us all you like.

Buick! AND NOTHING BUT Buick!

From the INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY, July 2d:
"Cut this out and put it in your scrap book: Unless the Buick repeats itself, you will never see such a two days' racing record again.
No car ever has, no car except the Buick ever can, give such an astounding exhibition of efficiency. Indianapolis stands amazed tonight at the most impressive clean-sweep ever recorded on either side of the ocean."

5, 10, 15, 50 Miles. In Every Event, In Every Class Buick — Buick — Buick

FRIDAY'S NET RESULTS: In six events entered, BUICK showed five firsts, three seconds and one third; with phenomenal time recorded in eight different instances by Burman and Chevrolet.

SATURDAY'S showing even eclipsed the day before; one victory crowding hot, hard and fast on the heels of another, and culminating in the capture of the Remy Brassard and trophy by Burman, who defeated the Marmon, National, Great Western, Black Crow and Fal in this hundred-mile race.

PRACTICAL FLYING

Seems Only A Matter Of A Short Time. Wonderful Progress.

In the discussion of the future of the aeroplane the opinions of the men who are doing these wonderful stunts in the air are worth consideration. The fact that they believe so thoroughly in the commercial possibilities of aviation assures that they will continue their experiments and that there will be no let up in the eager search for power, stability and safety in the flying machine. In the light of what has been already accomplished, the prophecies of men like Clifford B. Harmon, chairman of the National Council of Aero Clubs and himself an aviator of skill and daring, cannot be lightly dismissed. In an article in the Boston Journal Mr. Harmon says: Air flying is much farther advanced than the majority of the people of the land imagine. The biggest problem today lies in the perfecting of the motor. When improvements have been made I believe that sky crafts will be run by motors in pairs or by triplexes. You see, in this way if one motor failed to work the other could be used immediately. The future has much in store from the aircraft standpoint, and I believe that in 10 years we shall see many aeroplanes traveling between Boston and New York by the way of Fall River and Long Island sound, all carrying passengers. The crafts will rise from and alight on the water. I look for 100 miles an hour with absolute safety.

A few years ago the idea that the aeroplane would be developed to any such extent in so short a time would have been regarded as the idle dream of a visionary. But when we hardly get over marveling at one accomplishment of the airmen before another claims attention and admiration, he is a brave man who sets a limit to what the future holds in store. The last year has witnessed so much that the skeptical said the year before was impossible that we are left to wonder if there is any such word in the lexicon of aviation.

What is a cold in the head? Nothing to worry about if you treat it with Ely's Cream Balm. Neglected, the cold may grow into catarrh, and the air passages be so inflamed that you have to fight for every breath. It is true that Ely's Cream Balm masters catarrh promptly. But you know the old saying about the ounce of prevention. Therefore use Cream Balm when the cold in the head shows itself. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 55 Warren Street, New York.

Died Homeless At Salisbury Hospital, Aged 75.

Mrs. Katherine Simonson, aged 75 years, died of general debility at the Peninsula General Hospital last week. Mrs. Simonson came to Salisbury a short while ago and was admitted to the hospital when she had no other place to go. After her death a trunk which she carried with her was opened and the contents examined by the officials of the hospital. In the trunk were letters from an attorney of Jersey City, N. J., showing that at one time Mrs. Simonson had been quite wealthy. There was also some valuable jewelry in the trunk.

Since she came to this section, Mrs. Simonson's life has been more or less mysterious. Her relatives seemed to take no interest in her, and a nephew who lived at Orisfield, Md., when notified of her death made the statement that he didn't care to have anything to do with her. Her remains were interred in this city.

MODERN IDEAS IN TURKEY

Medical Practitioners Are No Longer Rigorously Excluded from the Harem.

The attitude of the hanoums to medical practitioners has changed much of recent years. Twenty or 30 years ago no Turkish woman would ever have submitted to a physical examination by a doctor. All he could have persuaded her to do would be to show him her tongue through a rent in the yashmak or let him touch her pulse from behind a heavy curtain and in presence, of course, of an argus-eyed eunuch or old female slave.

Any attempt to apply a stethoscope to the chest would have been spurned as an impertinent presumption of western "barbarism." No matter how severe the illness the medical man could not go beyond certain strict limits of Islamic usage and traditional custom. Even in cases of imminent danger to life these scanty limits were never allowed to be overstepped, and the belief in the incantations of a priest and the house remedies of old, ignorant and superstitious women held unlimited sway and was always greater than the faith in the efficacy of medical skill and science.

This is now changing, and changing rapidly. There are of course still many exceptions where antiquated views and conceptions are fanatically adhered to and practised, but these become rarer and rarer with each advancing year. Many Turkish women will now when ill voluntarily call on a medical practitioner and never hesitate to submit themselves to a thorough physical examination.

The general public opinion on these matters among the Turks is fast altering for the better and only in very rare cases is there now any difficulty at all raised as to letting the hanoum submit to an examination with stethoscope or other instrument.

In the Chorus.

What's it like to be in the chorus? "Perfectly fascinating!" thinks the shopper as she measures off another yard of percale and pictures herself in pink tights.

"A wifit!" remarks the prima donna with a look of disgust that forbids all reference to her own days among the spear carriers.

"Rememberable," suggests the crowd, recalling the inexhaustible supply of Pittsburgh millionaires ready to thrust riches upon the airy little fairies of the ballet.

"Dangerous," urges the moralist, with his mind on stage entrances and champagne suppers.

"Impossible!" snaps the woman in society.

"A foothold on the ladder to fame," declares the manager, wisely.

"Great!" says the chorus girl. That is translating freshly into her own language.

It's great if she happens to be in right with an easy berth in a good company. But if she's lashed to a bum outfit where she has to hustle to cover three squares a day, it's rotten.

MILLIONS of feet of timber and their cost, as well as other data of value to the growers of timber and to the sellers and buyers of lumber. In making up the figures, lumber used as bridge timber, house frames, farm fences, trestles, board walks, walls and similar classes of structures, with only such cutting and fitting as is given it by carpenters, was classed as rough lumber; that made into flooring, finish, siding, sash, doors, frames, panels, stairs, boats, vehicles, boxes, baskets, turnery, wooden ware, cooperage, musical instruments, farm implements, furniture, spools, handles, and like forms, was placed in the class of finished lumber.

The present aggregate population of the four states is estimated by their respective state officials to be 9,165,975; the population of the United States in round figures is 90,000,000, according to recent estimates. The average lumber cut in the four states for 1907 and 1908—the one an active, the other a dull year—was 2,783,293,000 feet, and for the United States it was 36,740,261,000. Calculated on this basis, the per capita use of sawn lumber in the four states was 410 feet, and in the United States 408 feet. The per capita used in the four states of lumber further manufactured was 263 feet. These figures indicate a lavish use of lumber in the United States, for our per capita consumption is from three to ten times that of the leading nations of Europe.

Wood decay is caused by fungus, a vegetable growth sometimes so small that it can be seen only with the microscope. Its roots or branches, like minute hairs, force their way into the wood tissues and absorb or eat away the solid parts. The collapse which results is called decay. The United States department of agriculture in connection with a study of the wood-using industries of various states is learning what part of the rough lumber output of our American

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

Industry without judgment can beat a runaway automobile for smashups.

Women, like some of men's other misfortunes, are sometimes a blessing in disguise.

What is so fascinating to a girl about a romance is so little sense ever goes with it.

It takes a good many years to gain a reputation that you can lose in less than five minutes.

Some people are so naturally cranky they want you to have a bad temper so they can abuse you for it.

Imagination helps out a lot in an engagement, but it seems to go out of commission in matrimony.

A woman can make a mystery out of how it rained when the grocer's boy said it was going to be fair.

A man with money in his pocket goes into a restaurant and orders terrapin because he likes ham and eggs better.

If a man would wear a lock of his wife's hair over his heart he could steal her jewels and she would think it was tender sentiment.

When a bridegroom begins to estimate what the honeymoon is costing it's a sign the bride had better take him home and look after his coffee and eggs for breakfast.

ANVIL SPARKS

No harvest is reaped without hardship.

Worry gives the doctor half his work.

Wandering minds make small wages.

Stolen fruit may be sweet, but there is sorrow in its assimilation.

Most men are repentant soon after the green apples are eaten.

No solid work was ever done by a man looking for a soft place.

A change of character accomplishes more than a change of climate.

There is no better way of saving your meal than sharing your cake.

He gives the world no kindness who always carries a chip on his shoulder.

The strange thing is that a man who is satisfied with so little in himself demands so much in others.

Parents need to remember that children learn twice as much with their eyes as with their ears.

Many men are trying to straighten the universe with fingers that have done nothing else but get things into a tangle.—Christian Herald.

JUST THOUGHTS

A girl without an appetite can afford to marry a poet.

Even a weak woman may raise strong objections.

Much happiness is due to ability to forget unpleasant things.

It's too bad that a scolding woman never has a scolding husband.

Every spinster is willing to admit that she had at least one proposal.

Before going in for politics a physician should feel the public pulse.

Sometimes a deceitful woman pretends to be happy even when she is.

Many a man is unable to carry his head high because of the shortness of his legs.

Some brands of reform are not popular because of the promoters' back of them.

There is probably nothing more effective than the attempt of a fussy woman to be disagreeable.

A servant girl usually stays until she has a chance to look in the closets and size up the family skeletons.

It doesn't necessarily follow that man would rather fight than eat because he marries a cooking school graduate.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY

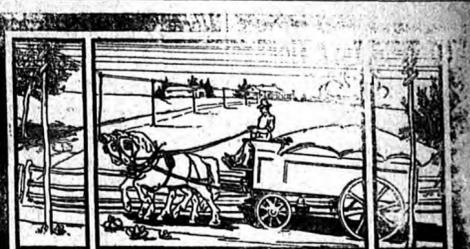

Men of real genius are so rare that many regard them as either fools or thieves.

When you abuse your opposition a good deal, people know your opposition is making headway.

Teach your children to be fair. There is nothing in this world more important than fairness.

Probably this expression is used oftener by people than any other: "Everything is blamed on me."

PROTECTED SEED DECS. PINE'S PEAK PLANTING STATION

sawmills passes through a second process of manufacture before it is ready for the consumer. The study is regarded as having an important bearing on the extent to which more economical use of our forest resources can be brought about. So far, the results obtained show that more than five-eighths of the rough lumber sawed is to be counted as the raw material for other industries which convert it into a more highly finished and more valuable product.

In the United States waste in the woods, the mill, and the factory is so great that two-thirds of what was in the tree is lost on the way to the consumer. The heaviest part of this loss takes place in the sawmills. Much of this mill waste is unavoidable under present conditions, but the greater the demand for the product and the higher its value, the better will economy pay. Waste in manufacture is very small compared with that at the sawmill. Study of the demands of the wood-using industries may be a means of finding out how the mill may profitably market a part of what now goes to the burner in sawdust, slabs and trimmings.

Statistics of the wood-using industries of Massachusetts, Maryland, North Carolina, and Wisconsin, lately gathered by the department of agriculture in co-operation with these states, show that of their total sawmill output 36 per cent is used in the form of output. If the same ratio holds for the entire country as for these states, about 13,000,000,000 feet of lumber is used yearly in rough form and 23,500,000 feet is further manufactured.

This is the first time that detailed figures have been obtained on this subject. The study which has yielded these figures has also a view to ascertain what commodities are made wholly or partly of wood, the various kinds of wood used, their origin, and States, for our per capita consumption is from three to ten times that of the leading nations of Europe.

MONARCH OF SMALL ISLAND
Englishman Owns and Rules the Comparatively Little Known Islet of Barbuda.

With islands in the West Indies bearing names, so similar as Bermuda, Barbados, and the Bahamas, it is not surprising that the little islet of Barbuda should be generally confused with its better known neighbors.

On the outer edge of the archipelago, the coconut-fringed beach of Barbuda faces the broad Atlantic. The entire island is owned by the wealthy and ancient Codrington family, who settled in Barbados in the days of Cromwell. They have a plantation house on Barbuda, which they rarely visit. Once in a while, however, the head of the family makes a trip of inspection, which becomes a regular march of triumph. To the simple fishermen and the few negroes who occupy his land rent free, he is "Mars" Codrington, governor, magistrate, and lawgiver, all in one. He sits down under a palm tree and decides of hand any disputes which may have arisen during his absence. He issues rules which his people never think of disobeying, and he accepts tribute in the shape of trifling gifts of fish and fruit.

A CORNER IN ANCESTORS

By FRANCIS COWLES

Dudley Family

(Copyright by McClure Syndicate)

The Dudleys of England, from whom the several families of the name in the United States claim descent, have been prominent for centuries. One of the earliest members was Sir Edmund, born about 1462, and executed in 1510, who gained the hatred of the people of England by his rigid adherence to the views of the king, Henry VII. His son John, duke of Northumberland, and his grandson, Guilford, were also both beheaded for treason. The duke had a good deal of influence with the young son of Henry VIII, King Edward, and he persuaded the boy king to exclude his sisters Mary and Elizabeth from their right of succession to the throne, and appoint in their stead as heir his young cousin, Lady Jane Grey. Then the duke brought about a marriage between Lady Jane and his son Guilford; and when Queen Mary proved her right to the throne and became queen, the duke and his son and Lady Jane were all beheaded.

The American Dudleys all claim descent from this very interesting house in England; in fact, the Kentucky branch claims descent from a brother of the earl of Leicester. But the connection between the families is not clear, although it is certain that such connection existed.

At the time of Robert, earl of Leicester, there lived in Northampton a certain Capt. Roger Dudley, who was killed in the battle of Ivry in France, in 1590. His son Thomas founded one of the most interesting of the branches of the family in America.

When Thomas was 21 years old, the queen, Elizabeth, asked for volunteers to go to France to help the Protestant king, Henry IV. of Navarre; and when she sent a commission as captain to young Dudley, he raised a volunteer company and started for France. After his work there was finished, he returned to England, and took up the study of law. But his life in France had made him dissatisfied with the life he saw before him as a young man of position and family in England, and the Puritanic training of his boyhood got the better of him. He decided to go to New England to "plant the Gospel."

Thomas Dudley joined the party of settlers that in 1628 secured a patent from King James to form a plantation; the settlers sent Mr. John Endicott, famed in the early history of New England, ahead to look the ground over. Later Mr. Winthrop joined the party and in 1629 Dudley and many others came over in the Arbella, and settled Massachusetts Bay. Winthrop was chosen governor, and Dudley deputy governor; and when Winthrop grew old, and the colonists were afraid they were infringing on their own democratic principles by not selecting a new governor, Winthrop retired, and Dudley became governor in his place.

Dudley

Gov. Thomas Dudley died in 1653. He had married three times, and he left many children. His family seems to have been a family of governors. Although this was the first branch of the family founded here, it was not necessarily the most interesting nor the most important. A little later Francis Dudley, from England, and probably originally from the same family there, landed at Concord, Mass. In 1637 William, also from England, landed at Guilford, Conn., and became the founder of a big family there. Several Dudleys have also settled here who came from Ireland, where the family had originally gone from England. And there is also the big family of Dudleys in the south.

One Robert of Virginia is called the founder of the Dudleys of the south. He lived at Fredericksburg, and had five sons. One of them, Col. William, was killed in the war of 1812, and one of them, Lieut. Robert, was killed at Brandywine.

The arms borne by the Dudleys are the same as those of the dukes of Northumberland, the earls of Warwick and Leicester, etc., and are blazoned: Or, a lion rampant, double queued azure. The crest is a lion's head erased. The motto is Nec Gladio, nec Arcu, that is to say, "Neither by the sword nor by the bow."

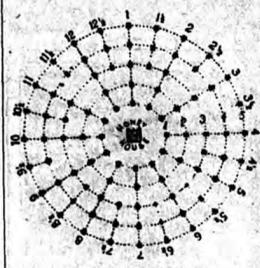

Scald the Water Utensils. Utensils and troughs for food and water should be frequently scalded with boiling water, afterwards being thoroughly cleaned. Though a little extra work may be required, this cleaning up is a good preventive of many diseases and may save work and loss later.

Good Profit in Orchard. Many farmers consider their orchards as strictly a side issue. If they would give the trees proper attention they would derive a good profit.

ARRANGEMENT OF AN APIARY

System of Locating Whereby There is Straight Line to Honey House From Each Hive.

My plan of locating hives is such that a hand-cart may be wheeled straight from any hive to the honey-house. The rows of hives extend in every direction from the honey-house, the plan being like a huge wheel with the rows of hives for the spokes and the honey-house for the hub. The diagram shows the system that I follow for numbering the stands, writes Carey W. Rees, in Gleanings in Bee Culture. Some object to the hives

being so far apart, for the reason that it takes too much time to go from one to another; but for convenience I like plenty of room. Of all unpleasant places to work it is an apiary where the hives are crowded together, or where they are under trees. If hives must be set under trees, the limbs should be trimmed high, so as to avoid catching the veil. Since I have no trees or bushes in my yard I use the ventilated covers and shade-boards over them. During the hottest weather I draw the hives back beyond the end of the bottom-board so as to give more air.

SPRAY FOR POTATO BEETLE

Most Growers Neglect Applying Poison Until Insects Have Obtained Start on Vines.

The chief difficulty in spraying for the potato beetle seems to be that most growers postpone applying the poison until the beetles have obtained a good start upon the vines. The best time to kill them is immediately, or soon after they hatch.

The destructive season of the beetles upon late potatoes lies between July 1 and August 10. The season of greatest destruction from blight upon late potatoes usually comes between August 15 and September 1.

Potato Spraying Machine.

Some farmers are deceived in thinking that they have the beetles under control when the large insects suddenly disappear. The fact is these beetles go into the ground to get their wings, and when the mature insect comes out they cause serious loss to the crop by chewing off the leaves and leaving the stems nearly stripped of foliage. They cannot be controlled at this stage.

EARLY NOTES

It is almost impossible to prevent swarming when producing comb honey.

The honey extractor saves the bees much time in comb building, and thus the beekeeper can secure more honey. Improve your bees by always rearing queens and increasing from colonies that have gathered the most honey.

Never mix sun-dried lime with manure, as it will cause the escape of the ammonia, one of its most valuable elements.

Salads is a common vegetable oyster and, properly prepared, it is one of the most delicious vegetables the garden produces.

Never extract honey before at least two-thirds of the comb is sealed or capped over. Otherwise the honey is not ripe enough and will ferment.

There is no month in the year when manure cannot be hauled and scattered on the fields to advantage. It is better on the land than in the stables and lots.

Plan to plant all the land to some crop. Green crops prevent the ground from burning out from the hot sun, and the roots of the plants help to loosen up the soil.

If a half barrel is sunk at one corner of the box and connected by a spout the liquid from the manure will in this manner all be saved and can be applied to the plants as needed.

The disk harrow is a good tool for loosening up packed plowed ground. Disking both ways will put the ground in the shape for seeding, the disk to be followed by a smoothing harrow.

Let the grass grow along fence rows. You do not need to make it grow, for it will come of itself and make a good sod if the other growth is cut off two or three times during the summer. Grass will not grow under dense shade or brush and weeds.

For the Housewife. Stuffed potatoes are made by mixing cheese and bread crumbs in with the contents.

When boiling fresh potatoes try putting a sprig of mint in the water to give a delicious flavor to the vegetables. Plaster figures in hard or alabaster finish are easily cleaned by dipping a stiff toothbrush in gasoline and scrubbing into all the crevices.

THE SPECTRAL GAMBLER

It was in February, 1881. I was spending the winter season at San Remo and lived in a fine room on the second floor of the Hotel Europe. I used to visit Monte Carlo repeatedly and to play roulette and usually with the same result. I returned to San Remo with empty pockets.

One evening I came back from such an excursion and went to bed with fixed conclusions never again to try the roulette.

Everything in my room was as usual. At the side of my bed stood a little table with a marble top and on this was a china candlestick. At the bottom of the candle and on the top of the candlestick was a round piece of glass through which the candle was stuck.

I noticed that it was in good shape and had no crack when I put a new candle in.

I had a peculiar feeling when I was about to blow the light out. I smelled the smoke of gunpowder and had the idea as if somebody was in the room.

I looked everywhere and could not find anything suspicious or a trace of smoke, and laughing about my own foolishness, I lay down to sleep. But although I was very tired I could not sleep, and half awake and half dreaming, I saw the roulette table before me and many players around it.

One individual, a man who looked like an army officer, attracted my attention. He was pale as a ghost and seemed to try hard to hide his nervousness. He continuously turned the ends of his mustache and when he made his play and placed his money, and the croupier had taken it away he smiled, grimly and finally having apparently lost his last five franc piece he rose and left the table.

Then I fell asleep. I dreamed that the man whom I had seen was in my room and looking at me sternly. I saw a little hole in his forehead and a drop of blood coming out of it.

Suddenly I woke up. I had heard the sound of falling glass. I made a light and found the glass piece which had been on the candlestick broken in two pieces on the marble plate of the little table. I wondered how this could have happened, as the candlestick was not thrown over by me while I was sleeping and the candle was still sticking in it.

On the next morning I met a friend, a German count, who had a nice villa in the outskirts of the city.

I told him my experience, and he found it very peculiar. Of course I did not tell him of my vision of the roulette table and about my dream.

In a joking kind of way he remarked: "Well, I think the Polish army officer who (committed) suicide in your room a fortnight ago is probably to blame for the broken glass. He went broke in Monte Carlo and probably wanted to break something in return."

I did not say anything further about the matter, but when I came to my room I investigated the little table carefully and lifted the marble plate. To my surprise I found eight numbers written upon the bottom of it.

Should the dream, the breaking of the glass and the finding of the numbers have a connection? I copied the numbers and went to Monte Carlo to play them.

But I was ashamed of myself, and did not put a silver piece on the table.

The croupier called out "No. 16." That was the first number on my paper slip. I smiled; an accident, I thought. Then came No. 2, the second number on my slip. I was surprised and became so nervous that I could not move. The third number of my slip came, and in succession the rest of the eight.

Now, I was overcome by the thought of having missed the chance to win a fortune.

When I slept in my room the following night I saw the Polish officer again in my dream, and, smilingly extending his hand to me, he said: "Well done, young man. Resist all temptation and let the game alone."

I could not touch a card any more, and once when I was to join in a poker game I felt a cold hand holding mine, and I excused myself. I hope the poor soul of the suicide may have found its rest.

Too Big.

Home-Seekers Take Notice!

I HAVE THE FOLLOWING VALUABLE REAL ESTATE WHICH I WILL SELL AT PRIVATE SALE:

- No. 1—Consists of 101 acres and buildings situated about half way between Salisbury and Delmar, at the intersection of the Delmar and the Dagoboro road, and about one mile from Williams siding on the N. Y., P. & N. railroad. Price $6,000.
- No. 2—Consists of 60 acres fronting on the Delmar road, which has lately been built under the Shoemaker law, and is directly south of the above-described property. This tract has no buildings and can be bought for $3,000.
- No. 3—Consists of 75 acres fronting on same road, directly south of No. 2. This is the old Leonard homestead. The dwelling is in good repair, and the outbuildings, with a little attention at slight cost, can be made to answer for several years. This is good land, as the crops now growing on the farm will show. The location is ideal and the price is $7,500.
- No. 4—Is directly south of No. 3, fronting on the same road, and contains 60 acres. This is an especially desirable tract of land, but contains no buildings. The price is $3,500.
- No. 5—Consists of a little over 75 acres, fronting on same road and directly south of No. 4. About 25 acres cleared, the balance in woodland, mostly cut over, but still containing a considerable amount of fire wood; also contains a small dwelling in fairly good repair. Although a little rough in its present condition, this can be made a very valuable farm, the quality of the land being exceptionally good. The price is $3,250.
- No. 6—Contains 3 acres adjoining the Salisbury Fair Grounds on the side and is opposite Sewell Richardson's. A very valuable lot. Price $1,000.
- No. 7—Immediately adjoins No. 6 and contains 4 1/2 acres. Price $1,200.
- No. 8—Lies west of No. 7 and contains 6 acres. Price $1,500.
- No. 9—Consists of 15 acres, dwelling and outbuildings, and lies directly in front of Mr. James E. Lowe's new residence, on Quantico road, and is very valuable property. Price $4,250.
- No. 10—Is west of No. 9, contains 5 acres and has already been sold to Mr. Woolford Johnson.
- No. 11—Is west of No. 10, contains 10 acres and is a very desirable tract. Price $2,500.
- No. 12—Is west of No. 11 and situated at the beginning of the Stone road leading to Quantico. This tract contains 10 acres and the price is $2,500.
- No. 13—Is directly in front of Mr. Stanford Culver's, on the Quantico road, and contains 8 and 48-100ths acres. Price $1,800.
- No. 14—Consists of 3 acres just outside the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying between South Division Street extended and the N. Y., P. & N. railroad. Price $750.
- No. 15—Consists of something over 3 acres immediately adjoining No. 14. Price $750.
- No. 16—Consists of 3 acres lying on the east side of South Division Street extended, about three-eighths of a mile from the corporate limits. Price $600.
- No. 17—Contains 10 acres and is immediately adjoining the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying along the N. Y., P. & N. railroad, and fronting on _____ street, directly south of Salisbury and in section commonly known as "Hastingstown." This tract will be sold in acre lots at $300 each, or will sell the entire piece to one party. Price on application.

All of the above properties were originally bought for their exceptionally good location. Each and every one of the above-named parcels of land, except No. 17, are fronting on prominent highways that have already been improved under the specifications of the Shoemaker law, and are especially desirable to progressive parties wishing to build homes in good neighborhoods.

RACING ON THURSDAY

A Success. Hannis Boy Wins Race. Other Exciting Races.

The big match race between Hannis Boy and Julia Marlowe came off as per schedule on Thursday afternoon on the Fair Grounds. Although the farmers were all busy in their crops a fair number attended the races and were hard to satisfy indeed if they did not feel fully repaid for their trouble. Prettier races were never had than some of the races given. Although Julia Marlowe made a game fight she was clearly outclassed by Hannis Boy. In each race the mare had a different driver and in the last heat the Judges thought it would give better satisfaction if they put another driver behind her, as some of the backers were grumbling and declaring that the mare was not being driven to win. Messrs. Collins were called up and told that there was a belief that the mare was not being driven to win and that the Judges had decided to put Asbury Perdue in as driver. But in spite of the severe punishment given her by her new driver, she was no match for Hannis Boy, who won the race in three straight heats.

Even more interesting than the advertised race was the special match race between Little George, owned by J. S. Duffy, and Little Jim, owned by Geo. R. Collier. Little George was driven by Mr. W. B. Miller, who showed that he was a past master in the business. Little Jim was driven by Sewell Hastings. Although Little George won the race in three straight heats every heat was a fight from the beginning, and in the last heat the horses were neck and neck for the entire mile, making a sensational finish with but little to spare for the winning horse.

As interesting as any was the Farmers Race which came last on the program. This, after the first heat settled down to a hard fight between Harry Redwood, owned by R. F. Walter, and Hannis K., owned by B. Frank Waller, of White Haven, and driven by E. W. Jones, and although it was won as had been the previous races in three straight heats yet it was anyone's race clear up to the wire. Ex Sheriff Geo. W. Fooks, behind his mare, Sadie Fooks, also made a good showing, as did V. H. Gordy, of Delmar, driving his spirited mare, Madel. County Commissioner, Orlando W. Taylor, driving his mare Polly Prim, lost second place in the second heat by a break at a critical time. Altogether this race proved to be quite an interesting event and showed that Wicomico farmers believed in having good horses in their stables. The fastest mile was made in 2:37.

The results of the race follow:
Harry Redwood, R. F. Walter, Nanticoke, 1st money.
Hannis K. B. Frank Waller, White Haven, 2nd.
Sadie Fooks, Geo. W. Fooks, Salisbury, 3rd.
MaDel, V. H. Gordy, Delmar, 4th.
Polly Prim, O. W. Taylor, Quantico, 5th.
Lady Belle, H. F. Powell, Salisbury, 6th.
2:45; 2:39 1/2; 2:39 1/2.

Match Races.
Hannis Boy, Geo. W. Messick, White Haven, 1st.
Julia Marlowe, 2nd.
2:21; 2:23 1/2; 2:30.
Little George, J. S. Duffy, 1st.
Little Jim, Geo. R. Collier, 2nd.
2:24 1/2; 2:28 1/2; 2:28 1/2.

Death Of Mr. Ellingsworth.

A telegram was received here from Baltimore yesterday morning announcing the sudden death of Mr. Hugh Ellingsworth in that city.

Mr. Ellingsworth was born February 8, 1846 and was 64 years of age. He was a son of the late Josiah and Maria Ellingsworth, prominent residents of this county. He was well known in this community where he had many friends, having resided here until about ten years ago when he moved to Baltimore, where he has since lived. Mr. Ellingsworth was a member of the Presbyterian Church from early boyhood and at one time had served in the eldership of that church.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Lucy Ellingsworth, who is a sister of Mr. Jay Williams of this city, six children, Messrs Walter Ellingsworth of Allen, Md., Maurice Ellingsworth of St. Louis, Mo., Mervin Ellingsworth of Baltimore, Mrs. F. B. Tingley, and Misses Margaret and Lela Ellingsworth all of Baltimore, and two grand children. He is also survived by one brother, Mr. Preston Ellingsworth, of this city, and a sister, Mrs. O. U. Fooks, of near here.

Funeral services will be conducted from his late home 2910 Clifton Ave., Walbrook, Sunday morning, September 18th, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be made in Baltimore.

TOB. HUDSON MYSTERY

Partly Cleared Up By Warden Weyler, Of State Penitentiary.

The mystery surrounding the early life of Tobias Hudson, the man who was murdered by his wife in the offices of State's Attorney Joseph L. Bailey in this city, Friday morning last, and which has baffled the local authorities for some days past, has finally been cleared up according to reports received here from Warden Weyler, of the Maryland Penitentiary.

According to his statement Hudson was well known in Washington County, Md., as a moonshiner and blockade runner during the Civil War. He was committed to the Maryland Penitentiary from Washington County in 1883, on the charge of stealing a pair of horses from one of the prominent families of that section. His term was 15 years. He was paralyzed in one arm and side, and could only work with one hand. By the officials of the institution, however, he was looked upon as a mechanical genius, having made several inventions, among which was a peculiar padlock.

He showed the drawings of the locks to Warden Weyler and told him that if given the proper tools he could turn out any amount of the locks, which were especially strong. He was given the use of a small machine shop, and turned out 60 of the finest padlocks that the warden had used on some of the buildings of the institution and were very satisfactory.

Starts Life Anew.

He was discharged from the institution in 1898, after serving thirteen years of his sentence. Upon leaving the institution he said he was afraid to go back to Washington County, and that he would begin life over in some other section. A few months later the warden received a letter from him stating that he had located in Cambridge Md., and that there was at that time a splendid opportunity for him if he could set up a machine shop to repair bicycles and the like. He requested that several articles be sent him from this city, and according to Warden Weyler about 800 worth of tools, etc., were shipped to him. He became a well known figure in Cambridge and lived there for about ten years. Upon the arrival at Cambridge he met Mrs. Hudson and they were married. In Mrs. Hudson's statement she said that he had told her on several occasions that he had killed a Sheriff somewhere in western Maryland, and it is now supposed that it was in Washington County. Efforts are being made to find other information from that county as to what charges may have been against him there.

Woman Closely Watched.

Mrs. Hudson is in the county jail here awaiting the September term of the Circuit Court. The coolness which was displayed by her after the shooting is slowly leaving her, and a nervous reaction is expected. Every precaution is being taken by the authorities to prevent her from doing herself bodily harm on account of her statement when directing the burial of her husband to make the oaks "big enough for two". It developed here today that Hudson had furnished the money to buy the pistol which was used to kill him. Hudson gave her a $5 bill on Thursday to pay her fare back to Cambridge, where she was to go that evening. Instead she used the money to purchase the pistol and cartridges.

This week W. Irving Mace, who was Hudson's personal counsel at Cambridge, accompanied by States Attorney Joseph L. Bailey, visited the house where Hudson had been living with the Workman woman, and made a thorough search of his trunks, etc., in an effort to find something pertaining to his past life. They found a number of watches, rings and other jewelry. Eva Workman gave Mace the information that Hudson had told her that in case anything happened to him his will could be located at a bank at Laurel, Del., and gave the location of the bank.

Mr. Mace says that he made a new will for Hudson about three months ago, and they are now trying to locate it. D. Calvin Trice, an attorney of Cambridge, has taken charge of the case for Mrs. Hudson and will try to secure her freedom through the "Unwritten Law."

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs like straining on machinery, cause break downs. You can't overtax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run down or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande of Kiskadee, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down while enduring a most severe strain, for three months in the wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. FRAUDS ON MARKET.

Dr. Gaspart, Of Pure Food Commission, Sounds Warning. "Beware Of Catsup."

With the return of the fried oyster and other fall and winter delicacies a warning from Dr. Charles Gaspart, Jr., of the Pure Food and Drugs Commission. "Be careful of the catsup you use," is his advice to the housewife and the hotel and lunchroom proprietors. "Behind this popular seasoning lurk dangers that are numerous."

Instead of being made out of good sound tomatoes, says Dr. Gaspart, much of the catsup on the market is made of nothing but refuse, thickened with starch and artificially colored. The Commissioner says that the public can aid in eliminating this counterfeit product by demanding goods put up in strict conformity with the Pure Food Laws.

Standards Of Quality.

Here is what he has to say about it: "At this season of the year the manufacture of catsup and pickles is at its height and the public should be informed as to the standards of quality demanded for both under the law. Catsup is the clean, sound product made from the properly prepared pulp of clean, sound, fresh, ripe tomatoes, with spices, and with or without sugar and vinegar. Mushroom catsup, walnut catsup and other catsups made as I have described and conform to the substances in their preparation. Pickles are clean, sound, immature cucumbers, properly prepared, without taking up any metallic compound other than salt and preserved in any kind of vinegar, with or without spices, pickled onions, pickled beets, pickled beans and other pickled vegetables are vegetables prescribed as I have described and conform in name to the vegetables used."

"Both catsup and pickles must then conform to the above requirements, and manufacturers, as well as dealers, should see to it that the goods offered for sale to the public are of standard quality."

Skins And Cores Used.

It has been learned that some of the catsup sold in this State is made from the skin and cores of tomatoes instead of the meat or pulp of sound, ripe fruit. The former are mere refuse or refuse, purchased from the canning establishments, and for use in making catsup are boiled with water and strained, the resulting liquid being somewhat concentrated and then thickened with starch or some other filler. The resulting preparation receives an addition of spices and is artificially colored, being finally preserved by means of sodium benzoate.

"Such so-called catsup possesses little or no value, and is offered for sale in direct violation of the law. People are grossly deceived and led to believe that the catsup has been made from ripe fruit, and that its consistency is due to the presence of ripe tomato pulp, which latter, as every housekeeper well knows, does not require the addition of starch or other artificial filler for thickening purposes."

Appearance Counts For Little.

"In the case of pickles, the standard of quality specifically demands the absence of all metallic compounds except table salt, and the use of alum or aluminum sulphate is therefore not permissible. The addition of the latter chemical is made for the purpose of improving the appearance of the pickles, and the public will, no doubt, soon learn to recognize the fact that the appearance alone counts for but little in the quality of food. Artificial coloring of pickles and other food products can be practiced only under certain restrictions and must invariably be disclosed on the label."

"The people can aid very materially in the proper enforcement of the Pure Food and Drugs law, and it is their duty to so assist by demanding that they be supplied with foods put up in conformity with the law, since the latter was enacted solely for their protection against fraud and imposition, and for the benefit of the health of the people at large."

Baltimorean Sues.

Charles L. Forbes, of Baltimore, through his counsel, Frank K. Meale and Anzo L. Miles, has filed a suit for $10,000 damages against the American Resort Hotel Company in the Circuit Court for Worcester County. Mr. Forbes alleges that while he was on a visit to a guest of the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City, on July 28th, he fell down an elevator shaft of the hotel because of the darkness, which prevented him from seeing that the elevator was not at the floor landing, although he was invited to enter the elevator by an employee of the Atlantic Hotel. In the fall, he declares his jaw bone was broken and he sustained other injuries. The Hotel is owned by the American Resort Hotel Company.

—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wimbrow, of Berlin, spent several days with relatives here.

NOTED FLIERS TO MEET.

Air-Men To Gather Near Baltimore In October.

Baltimore is to have an aero meet. Without any "ifs" or "buts" or "provided that," Col. Jerome H. Joyce, treasurer of the National Council of the Aero Club of America and president of the local Aero Club has made the announcement. The date is to be the week of October 31, immediately following the national meet at Belmont Park.

Some of the biggest and best known aviators in the country have signified their intention of participating. Glenn H. Curtiss, the of Albany-to-New York fame and various other scarcely less important feats has personally promised. Colonel Joyce says, to be on hand. Clifford B. Harmon, president of the National Aero Club and prominent in the Boston meet and Charles Foster Willard, pupil and follower of Curtiss, have also promised to help make the meet a success, and Claude Grahame White, who made his reputation in England, has said that if the prizes are sufficient inducement he, too will strive to win a share.

Back From Boston.

Colonel Joyce returned from Boston full of enthusiasm about the meet there and confident that Baltimore, aided by Washington, can make an equally brilliant showing.

"The meet in Boston," said Colonel Joyce, "was a success in every way. The average attendance last week was something like 40,000. While we can not perhaps reach that figure, we are sure of a sufficient crowd to insure a meet on a large scale. Other cities have done it, why not we? Of course, the prizes will have to be guaranteed, but they will not have to be as large as those offered in an international meet. In this we expect to have the assistance of the merchants of the city. In other cities, the newspapers, too, have done great things along this line."

"We plan to do as was done in Boston—to give the mornings of the days of the meet over to amateurs and the afternoons to the regular professional events. There, will, of course, be some feature event, possibly a race to the White House and back."

Colonel Joyce said that inasmuch as a number of foreign aviators would be in this country for the international meet, it would be almost surely possible to get a number of them to enter the meet here. He said that a special effort to get the winners of the international race would be made.

Place Not Yet Selected.

"The place has not yet been definitely decided on," continued the Colonel. "Possibly it will be College Park or possibly some place nearer this city. At any rate it will be between Baltimore and Washington. We are to have expert assistance in deciding this most important point. Glenn H. Curtiss will come to Baltimore next Sunday morning, and he and I and other members of the local club will inspect the various possible places. It is possible that we will make the final choice on that day."

Colonel Joyce is confident of the good to be derived from the meet by local business men. In Boston, he said, every hotel had so nearly reached its limit that it was difficult to get accommodations. Every hotel or store man he spoke to assured him that the affair was a great boom to business conditions.

BIG FIRE AT HURLOCK.

Thompson Box Plant Burned. Salisbury Goes To Rescue.

For the second time during the past few months Hurlock was visited with a disastrous fire on Thursday morning, when the entire mill plant and office, together with thousands of feet of lumber on the yard, both dressed and undressed, together with sashes, windows, doors, boxes and other finished supplies, belonging to G. A. Thompson and Sons, were destroyed. The loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000, partly covered with insurance. A nearby tin factory and roller mills were saved. It was found necessary to summon help from Salisbury, and the department here quickly responded to the call and undoubtedly prevented the fire from destroying the tin factory and the roller mills.

Before they arrived the water supply gave out and the Hurlock firemen were compelled to summon a railroad engine from Seaford to pump water into their stand pipes.

A few months ago this place suffered $25,000 loss from fire.

Cambridge failed to go because no flat car could be obtained to carry the engine.

Electing Cousin Fred

By Donald Allen

Copyright, 1920, by Associated Literary Press. Times, almost without number, beginning at the age of fourteen, Bessie Winwood's mother had warned her that she was too gushing. One of the things her mother meant by that was her readiness to confide in others, even on the slightest acquaintance.

On this occasion, however, even if she had resolved beforehand to be firm and silent and discreet and study the toes of her fellow passengers, all the way out to Belleville, it would have been hard to keep to her resolution.

When she drove up to the depot from her home the cabman tried to collect an exorbitant fare, and a gentleman came forward and read him a lecture. Then, as she was buying her railroad ticket, she left her purse on the shelf of the ticket window and the same gentleman brought it to her. Again, she was about to take the train for Albany instead of Belleville when he set her right. Then they had chairs seats side by side, both bound for the same place, and the gentleman had presented his card, as a gentleman should, and the conductor had smiled and nodded at him and had vouchered for his character. When all these things had been taken into consideration Miss Bessie felt it almost a duty to gush.

The good looking stranger had presented a card bearing the name of "Mr. Charles Burden." Miss Bessie was a bit near-sighted, and after she had made "Baden" of "Burden" she tucked the card away in her reticule to be forgotten for days and weeks. She gave her own name in return, and then gushingly added:

"I'm sure you can never guess why I'm going to Belleville, and so I'll tell you at once. It's on account of politics."

"So you are a suffragette?" smiled Mr. Burden.

"Oh, no, no, no! I'll tell you how it is. If you have heard of papa, you know that he is a politician."

"Yes; State Senator Winwood."

"I'm glad you've heard, for I think papa a great man. Well, I get my politics from him. I have made him tell me lots and lots of the tricks they resort to, and I think I am most as sharp as he is. My cousin Fred, at Belleville, is running for county supervisor on the Democratic ticket. You know what a supervisor is, don't you?"

"I have a dim idea, Miss Winwood."

"One of the bosses of the county, you know. Aunt Jane Grattan, who is a widow and Fred's mother, owns a nice country place, and she wants Fred elected supervisor to keep her taxes down and the roads in good repair. She thinks she can get her taxes reduced one-half and make the county build a bridge which maybe she ought to build."

"Let's see: is that what they call graft?" was asked.

"Oh, no, no! Graft is a different thing. This is just taking care of No. 1, you know."

"And what sort of a man is your cousin Fred?"

"He's awfully lazy, but awfully good. He says he won't hustle to get a single vote, and that's the reason I'm going down there. I'm going to electioneer for him. I shall make any speeches, of course, but I shall drive around asking everybody to vote for him. I shall begin with you right now."

"And I pledge you my vote. There must be some one running against him on the Republican ticket. Do you know him?"

"No, but Aunt Jane does. That is, she has seen him, and she writes me that if villain was ever printed on a man's face, it is on his. She says he must be guilty of many crimes, and that he ought to be snowed under, ten feet deep. I shall help to snow him under."

Mr. Burden laughed heartily and good naturedly and asked:

"So you are going to find out how many murders he has committed and bring him to justice? That's right. Let no guilty man escape. It's rather curious that he should have received the nomination."

"Oh, he was nominated by the machine. Papa says the machine can do anything. If the machine elects him he will be expected to divy, but he won't be elected. Fred says he won't raise a hand, but wait 'till Aunt Jane and I get to work."

"Well, if he is unworthy, I hope you will defeat him. At any rate, my vote is pledged to you."

A week later Mr. Burden met Miss Winwood on the highway as she was electioneering in her auto and halted her to say:

"I presume you are out after votes today?"

"Yes, I am seeing the farmers—one by one," was the reply.

"Then you are getting lots of votes for cousin Fred?"

"Well, I think so; but can't tell. When I tell people what a scoundrel Mr. Burden is and that the machine behind him intends to loot the county treasury lots of them smile and don't say anything. That is, some of them have just the same as said they couldn't believe it. If Fred would only hunt up the man's record and make some speeches and denounce him; but he won't do it."

"And have you met the villain yourself yet?"

"No. I think he has heard that I am on his trail and he is keeping dark. Aunt Jane heard last night that if he was elected he would try to raise her taxes 50 per cent. more, and she's got an awful headache today. Goodbye. I have won over three different men this afternoon. Please help me all you can."

The nominations had been made a full month in advance. The county papers were agreed that both tickets carried excellent men. Carrying out the policy of aunt Jane, Miss Bessie sat down and wrote a communication to the Democratic organ praising up Fred and giving his opponent fits, but it was not published. Fred was pitched into a dozen times a day for his lukewarmness, but he refused to hustle. He wouldn't even call the other chap a horse thief and a barn burner.

Three days before election, and while Miss Bessie was making what her father called a whirlwind tour of that part of the county, she ran across Mr. Burden again. He was Mr. Burden to her still. She was looking so elated that he felt compelled to ask:

"Well, is the machine-made villain to be snowed under?"

"Hurled into obscurity for all time to come!" was her proud answer.

"You don't mean it!"

"I do. We have what papa calls a cinch. His grave is already dug."

"And you are one of the diggers?"

"I've dug most of it. Fred hasn't stirred, and Aunt Jane won't kiss the farmers' young 'uns. Oh, when papa hears how I have electioneered and all about it, he'll say I'm fine."

There was to be one more meeting and then a long interval. It took place on the highway in the early evening. Miss Bessie had been carrying voters to the polls in her auto all day, and was now on her way home rejoicing. She waved her hand as she met Mr. Burden, and was about to tell him the good news when a man came along in a buggy and called out:

"Hello, Burden! They have finished the count, and you are elected by over 500 majority."

"Burden—Burden!" gasped the girl as she stared at the man.

"Yes, Burden; but I kept my pledge and voted for Fred."

It took Mr. Charles Burden just three months to get an interview with Miss Bessie Winwood, three months more to get her forgiveness, and six months in addition before he dared say:

"That little word has made me the happiest man in the whole world, and now to set the wedding day!"

Heart.

"I can't endure much exercise," sighs some poor fellow. "I have a weak heart. In fact I don't really exercise at all—I don't dare to." And the truth is that he does not do much of anything that enables him to taste the real pleasures of living. Too many men and women who believe that they have weak hearts lie on and on, always dreading to act as other and happier people do, always trying to stave off the death that they believe to be inevitable if anything like exertion is undertaken by them. Now, how do you go about strengthening the weak muscles of the arm and leg? You exercise them, and, from being soft, flabby and all but useless, they become hard, firm and enduring. The heart itself may be defined as one great muscle; it is one mass of muscular tissue; it is composed of a great number of constituent muscles, and every one of these is capable of being strengthened and hardened so as to resist all ordinary strains. Thus the organ may be made to do its work in the manner that nature intended it to.—Sunday Magazine of the Los Angeles Herald.

Telephone Girl Fears Electrocuting. Miss Myrtle Williams has fled in terror from her job as telephone operator because she fears electrocuting. Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been afflicted with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach arrangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, fullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. But what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary peptic "dyspepsia" tablets, physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Peppata is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all. Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

CHAPTER XVII.

THE BATTLE IS ON.

THE OFFICES of the East Side Associated Bakers had not closed that evening at the customary hour, however. The threatened strike had suddenly assumed ugly proportions. Haggleton secretly welcomed the trouble with the hands in the bakery shops. What he foresaw came to pass. Philip, face to face with the poor fellow in his new position as a business man, suddenly discovered their unreasonableness, their lack of foresight, their selfishness, which could not calculate future benefits, their disregard of the good of the money.

Without realizing it he ranged himself that evening on the side of capital. He stayed on alone in the office waiting for news, watching the telephone. Haggleton and Gentle returned, the former stopping a moment to ask for news, then went across the hall to the other apartment. At 9 o'clock Margaret suddenly appeared. Philip clasped her tumultuously.

He kissed her fondly again and again.

"Give me your left hand, so," he asked. "Now close your eyes."

She obeyed, with a smile. Philip took from his waistcoat pocket an engagement ring and slipped it on her finger.

"Now look," he commanded. Margaret gave a little cry of glad surprise.

She kissed the ring, then held up her lips to him.

They stood again a moment in blissful silence, but not for long. Margaret had come on a serious mission. She disengaged herself.

"Oh, Phil," she said pitifully, "I came to tell you about—You remember Emmy and Benny, the little children we sent to the hospital?"

"I know, dear. Their father hurt his hand the other day."

"Hurt his hand? It was crushed in your kneading machine, and now it has been amputated."

"It is his own fault. He was careless."

"His children were left unprotected," continued Margaret, looking at him reproachfully, "and now—little Benny is dead."

Philip looked concerned.

The telephone bell rang sharply, and he sprang up and ran to the instrument.

Margaret saw, with a pang, that little Benny and his maimed father were immediately forgotten. This was business! Her heart sank as she listened to her lover's side of the brisk conversation over the phone:

"Hello. The Wisconsin flour mills? Yes, this is the East Side Associated Bakers shop. What's that? Oh, that's all right. We have the articles pretty well in hand. Yes, the bills will be promptly met. No, no, Mr. Williams, we are taking fifty carloads a week now, and there's a Minneapolis concern that will do better by us. Yes, that's right; that's what we ask, 20 per cent off. I did catch what you said. Yes, I know that we must be making money; that's what we are here for. Oh, no, it's 20 off or nothing doing. All right. Goodbye."

He turned to Margaret.

"Phil, have you not noticed that I have been worried and unhappy lately?" she asked.

"Yes, I have, dear."

"It is what you said to me the other evening about business being the man's province, not the woman's. It is because I have seen you become entirely absorbed in business schemes and money making. Phil, you are forgetting your beautiful ideals."

The young man looked at her.

"It's true," he said at last thoughtfully. "Mr. Jackson has had an influence over me. It is as if he had waked up something in me that I did not know was there."

"Oh, Phil!" cried Margaret in dismay.

"I have forgotten my ideals, yes," continued Philip, "but I have not forgotten them. I have come to see that money is needed to carry them out. Money is needed to make you happy."

"I don't want money."

"Well, I do." He spoke with decision. "And I am going to have it. And that means an active business life for me."

"You have decided all this without telling me?" she asked.

"I am telling you now, dear. We can talk it over together."

"Phil," she said, "there's something that must be done at once before we settle this. I promised Emmy that I would see about little Benny's funeral. Will you come with me?"

She rose.

"Phil, too, got up.

"Why—? I don't see how I can," he replied, hesitating. "I'll gladly give money."

"Money?" she burst out. "You have always said that the only way to help the poor was to love them."

"But, you see, there's that baker's strike. I may be called up on the phone at any moment. I must stay here. Serious interests are at stake."

Margaret grew indignant. She stepped to the door, crossed the hall and knocked.

"Wait!" Philip said in astonishment, following her. "What are you going to do?"

"I am going to call Mr. Haggleton."

"You know who he is?"

"Yes."

She opened the door of the living apartment in answer to the call from within and said:

"Will you come out here a moment. Mr. Haggleton? You, too, Mr. Gentle, please?"

Haggleton and Gentle entered, an inquiry on their faces.

Margaret stepped between Haggleton and Philip, looking from one to the other.

"Phil," she said in a pleading voice, "for the last time choose between him and me!"

"An idea struck Gentle.

"The battle is on," he said.

"What battle, Gentle?" asked Philip, but it was Margaret who answered him.

"The battle for you, Philip—the battle between your better self and your baser nature. I want you to speak out, Phil, right from your soul and say what you think of—Mr. Haggleton's life."

Philip was puzzled. "What has Mr. Haggleton's life to do with us?"

"More than you dream of, Phil!" Her voice was steady.

"I like him."

"But what do you think of his business methods?"

"If you put it that way," he said—"why, I don't."

"Ah!"

Margaret's cry sounded glad.

Haggleton sat down at his desk and looked up at the young man.

"What is it you do not approve of in my business methods?"

"It's the old thing, monopoly and bribery and rebates. Why go into it all again?"

"Go on!" commanded Margaret.

Philip obeyed.

"You know very well, Mr. Haggleton," she continued, "that you and a dozen other men practically own this republic."

"No. Listen to me. My big work has ever been done in this world without leaders, and when a man delivers the goods he's entitled to the reward. Well, we have delivered the goods in this country."

Then, fixing his eyes on Philip, he resumed:

"Go over to Europe. They'll tell you that the United States is the greatest nation on earth. Why is it?"

"Because the men you call robbers and graders have organized things—railroads, industries, banks, everything."

"You have broken the law," said Gentle.

"You haven't been honest," added Margaret.

"Honest?" Haggleton smiled grimly. "We have kept to the standard of average honesty in this country, and no man can succeed in business who keeps above it. The faults of America's industrial leaders are the faults of the American people."

"You say we break the law, Mr. Gentle," he continued. "Well, we do. But who doesn't? Give the average American citizen an automobile and watch him break the speed law. Let a policeman stop him and see the flash of a ten dollar bill. That's bribery."

"Watch the average American woman back from Paris with a lot of new dresses. Does she smuggle them in? Well, watch her!"

"I tell you, the only law anybody respects is custom. What does the average American citizen do when he wants a drink in a prohibition state? He breaks the law and gets the drink. And the average American woman when she tells the conductor how old her little boy is? She's a good mother and all that, but she'd let Jimmy ride on a half fare ticket until he had whiskers if she could."

Haggleton rose. He was reaching the direct personal application of his argument, the real point toward which he had been working.

"When it comes to business," he summed up, "the average American citizen does in a small way exactly what we do in a big way. Give him a chance to crush a rival and see how quick he'll take it."

He turned suddenly on Philip.

"What have you been doing to those opposition bakers?"

Philip was taken aback.

"Why," he stammered, "—"

"You have done in a small way what I have done in a big way," said Haggleton to him. "There you are. You had to. And remember this, you reformers, the way to improve things is to raise the standard of honesty of the American people."

Gentle brought the conversation back to its immediate personal bearing.

"All that is not to the point," he asserted. "Would you do as Mr. Haggleton has done?"

"Certainly not," Philip's answer came promptly. "I won't lead that kind of life."

"But you say that you are going into business," argued Margaret.

"Yes, but I am not going to be a railroad president or a trust magnate."

"The situation was growing tense. Haggleton kept himself well in hand. "Suppose you were called upon to be the head of a great railroad or a trust?" asked Gentle.

Haggleton judged the moment ripe.

"If you had important interests in trust, Philip," he asked in his usual clear, incisive way, "would you protect them or would you sacrifice them?"

"I would protect them."

"Would you be dishonest?" persisted Gentle.

Haggleton reshaped the question. "Would you cripple your business by refusing to allow practices sanctioned by custom?"

"Dishonest practices," Margaret put in swiftly—"would you, Phil?"

"But Philip was bewildered now.

"I—I don't know," he stammered.

"It isn't fair to ask such questions," Margaret despaired.

"My poor boy," she said.

The turning to Gentle:

"I am not going to be silent any longer."

Gentle made as if to restrain Margaret, but Haggleton nodded. He was ready for the disclosure and its consequences.

"I am going to do the last thing I can to prove my love for you, Philip," she said. "I am going to see to it that you know the truth; then I am going back to my work."

"You are not going to marry me?"

"No, dear; I cannot."

"But why? There is some mystery here."

He glanced at Gentle, at Haggleton and Margaret.

"Tell me!" he pleaded. "What is it?"

She took a step forward, saying:

"Philip, Mr. Haggleton is your father."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, And Some Salisbury People Know How To Save It.

Many Salisbury people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all disease and aches and pain due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Salisbury citizen recommendation.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 318 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy, bearing down sensation through my hips. No matter what I took this misery clung to me and was also bothered, when arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins, at least I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White and Leonard's Drug Store and in return for the benefit they brought me I consider them worthy of my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Lash of A Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A Cooper, of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung racking cough that defied all remedies or years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never coughed at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lung, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hay fever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces—50c. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by All Druggists.

A Man Of Iron Nerve.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her

Knoxville, Iowa.—"I suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more and was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am glad to say that your medicines and kind letters of directions have done more for me than anything else and I had the best physicians here. I can do my work and rest well at night. I believe there is nothing like the Pinkham remedies."

Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. No. 3, Knoxville, Iowa.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

THE GARBAGE SYSTEM.

The Mayor and Council are to be congratulated as well as the City of Salisbury, on the establishment of a garbage system for the town.

This is something that has long been needed, and which the ADVERTISER, has long urged. Of course the financial end was one that it was entirely proper for the city authorities to look into, and we are glad they have been able to see their way to give it a trial.

The sanitary conditions of the town cannot be allowed to remain as they have been and if it costs some money to improve them it should be spent. The city can much better afford to spend money than it can stand the unhealthy conditions and epidemics of typhoid which have been the case this year.

Mrs. Levin D. Collier, whose work among all classes of people has given her a clear insight into the needs for greater cleanliness around the home premises has long recognized the advantages of an up-to-date garbage system.

INSURGENCY WINS.

If anything can be judged from the political news of the day, it would seem that insurgency is winning its battle and that the stand patter is doomed. There is no doubt but what Mr. Roosevelt's speeches have had a great deal to do with the results of the recent primary election.

The truth of the matter lies in the fact that a large part of the American people believe in his honesty and sincerity. As far as the accusations of inconsistency is concerned, that out little weight, different conditions and circumstances often alter cases, and the man who sticks to a thing this year because he believed it last, lacks common sense if he has sufficient reason to see that the other view, if right then, is wrong now.

Effective advertising has come to be as much of an art these days as painting pictures or forming traits. The merchant who pays only perfunctory attention to his advertising is in the class with him who permits his janitor or errand boy to decorate his show windows.

ON ADVERTISING. Effective advertising has come to be as much of an art these days as painting pictures or forming traits. The merchant who pays only perfunctory attention to his advertising is in the class with him who permits his janitor or errand boy to decorate his show windows.

"Do you read all these?" asked the friend. "I read what you write," responded the captain of industry, "and, of course, the leading news of the day, but outside these, I read principally, the advertisements. A man in my position cannot keep abreast of the times without reading the advertisements. They hold the news of the industrial world; they tell me the latest trend of inventive and advanced business thought. There is a guarantee, to my mind, in every advertisement; the man who has enough confidence in his goods to advertise them boldly is the man who appeals to me."

There seems to be so much logic in this brief argument that it is presented here without further comment.—Baltimore Sun.

School Board Proceedings.

The School Board had a busy session last Friday. The following business was transacted:

The date for opening the colored schools outside of Salisbury was fixed for October 17, and the date for closing March 3. The Colored Industrial School in Salisbury will open on October 3.

A large delegation of the patrons of English School, was before the Board and asked that the school be continued. The board had considered closing this school and sending the pupils to the new Maryland Graded School, but in view of the fact that most of the pupils of English School were too young to go the distance of 2 miles or more to Maryland, the board ordered the English School opened.

The following resignations of teachers were accepted: Miss Benah W. Nelson, assistant at Parsonsbury; Miss Barkley Wright, assistant at Maryland; Miss Martha Huffinton, assistant at Delmar. The County Superintendent was instructed to get in conference with several applicants for schools and fill these vacancies.

Enrollment in Salisbury.

County Superintendent Holloway reported to the board the enrollment in the schools of Salisbury the first week of opening was 869, divided in the various schools as follows:

- Wicomico High School—8th grade, 53; 9th grade, 46; 10th grade, 10; 11th grade, 18, total 127. Salisbury Grammar School, Bell Street—5th grade, 47; 6th grade, 90; 7th grade, 55; total 192. Central Primary School, W. Chestnut Street—5th grade, 47; 6th grade, 47; 3rd grade, 35; 2nd grade, 48; 1st grade, 43; total 319. East Salisbury Primary School—4th grade, 35; 3rd grade, 32; 2nd grade, 33; 1st grade, 42, total 142. Camden Primary School—4th grade 38; 3rd grade, 47; 2nd grade 48; 1st grade 66; total 199. The board decided this year to devote entirely to the high school grades 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th, the Wicomico High School Building, and to organize a Grammar School in the Bell Street building, housing nothing but the 5th, 6th, 7th grades in this building. Mr. A. Ellis Frampton, of Easton, was appointed teacher of the 7th grade.

Haag's Circus Coming Here Sept. 29th.

Lovers of the out-of-ordinary amusements will be interested in the announcement that the Mighty Haag shows are coming to Salisbury after noon and evening, September 29th presenting decidedly the largest and greatest program of original, unique and thrilling featured act known, today to the show world. This vast tented amusement enterprise is alone in a class by itself, without a rival. Nothing like the imperial performance provided by Ernest Haag was ever before dreamed or dared by the boldest managers.

Whatever your preference, you will find plenty to interest, astonish and edify you: there are thrilling aerial acts during every moment in which one expects to see the intrepid performers hurled into eternity, artistic and sensational equestrian, incredible and bewildering athletic and acrobatic numbers, blood chilling jockey, burlesque and chariot races, amazingly venturesome bicyclists, and phenomenal exhibitions by fierce wild beasts, in fact, so numerous and varied are the novelties offered in the rings and upon the elevated staves, and upon the mammoth hippodrome track by these shows, lack of space will not permit each of these to be mentioned. The quantity and quality of the features are such as to really stagger comprehension.

It matters not how big shows you have seen or how big the Mighty Haag shows have been in years gone by, this season they completely overwhelm all past efforts.—Adv.

WILL INSTALL GARBAGE System. The City Council To Take More Sanitary Precautions.

The Mayor and City Council at their meeting on Monday night decided to install a garbage system for Salisbury. This question has been debated for sometime and only the lack of sufficient funds have delayed the establishment of one here.

Mrs. L. D. Collier appeared before the Council and made an earnest plea for a garbage plant, showing the need from a sanitary standpoint for such a plan. The Council decided to try it and it will be put in operation next Monday. Everybody should provide themselves at once with garbage cans, or something similar and have them out along the streets on Monday so that it can be taken up by the garbage carts on that date.

Applications for building permits were granted as follows: To Olande Serman, barn on Jackson Avenue to Annie B. Burton, stables on Elizabeth Street, to S. E. Hayman, barn on Main Street extended; to Clarence West, dwelling on Booth Street, to Benjamin Davis, dwelling on East Locust Street.

The City Solicitor was authorized to prepare an ordinance regulating the removal of garbage from the streets and private residences by the city authorities. The assessors submitted their books containing the assessment of all new property to be taxed for corporation purposes for the year 1910. The return shows an increase of about $180,000 over 1909.

Tax Collector's Notice.

During the month of August I sent out bills for all mortgage taxes then due and with these bills the following circular letter:

"I am inclosing you herewith a statement of amount due the County from you on Mortgage Tax. The legislature of 1910 repealed the law imposing this tax, but added a proviso that the County should collect all taxes accrued to the date of the passage of this law, April, 1910. Your bill is therefore rendered to that date. The Treasurer has been instructed to collect these bills and close the accounts at once. You will therefore close the account, please, within the next 30 days."

No more statements of these accounts will be mailed. The Treasurer will begin at the end of the 30 days to advertise these mortgages for sale to pay these bills. Treasurer will also advertise without further notice all property for sale upon which taxes are due and in arrears. THOS. PERRY, Treasurer.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL,
Pastor Brooklyn
Tabernacle.

"WHICH IS THE TRUE GOSPEL?"

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ" (Romans 1:16).

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—The International Bible Students Convention is in session here with an excellent attendance and deep interest manifested. Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle delivered two addresses today, one being in Jefferson Theatre. We report one of them from the text foregoing:—
Three weeks ago today Christendom was startled by a communication which announced that the Christian Alliance had lifted a collection of $80,000 in a few minutes—$300 in cash, the balance in promises. Then followed the startling announcement of Brother Simpson, its President, that the collection lifted would probably be the last at Old Orchard, because the Camp Grounds' Directors had rented its Auditorium for three days for the use of our Association. He declared that he disagreed with our theology. This, of course, was a veiled threat that the Directors of the camp ground must break their contract with the Bible Students. This they promptly did, and we accepted back the money paid in advance, rather than to go to law. It is for this reason, dear friends, that we are having our Convention "outside the camp." We are glad that its fence does not separate us from our great Redeemer and Teacher, the joy of whose blessing I see in your faces.
Secular editors were astonished! They had been congratulating Christian people that the days of the rack, the thumb screw and the stake were past and that from every quarter were coming appeals for Christian Union which it was hoped, might even ultimately include all denominations of Catholics and Protestants. Yet here they had to listen to the contrary—a suggestion that Christian people in Alliance were so opposed to Bible Students that even a year would not be sufficient to purify the air of Old Orchard and to permit them to meet here next year to take up another collection. It seemed funny, too, to these editors, that anything could drive a Christian Alliance meeting away from a $80,000 collection!

Let the Truth Prevail.

If the intelligent men connected with the Alliance really believed the horrible nightmare of the Dark Ages with its noisome stench of the Gospel of Christ, then, of course, they are excusable for preaching it. It is not for others to judge of their honesty in this matter, but it is for others to decide that they will no longer assist or cooperate in the spread of such horrible travesties upon the Divine character—no longer assist financially or otherwise in binding upon the poor heathen at home and abroad increased ignorance and superstition.

Everybody knows that the word Gospel signifies "good tidings." And everybody ought to know that, as Christian people, we have for centuries misused the word, applying it to the bad tidings of great misery to all people, except the mere handful of the elect. We did this because it was handed down to us by our forefathers. What Jesus said to the Jews has been true of us as Christians. "Ye do make void the Law of God through your traditions." Thank God that, as in the natural world he is sending us now the electric light instead of the tallow candle, so through Bible study helps, concordances, etc., his Word (the Lamp to his people's footsteps until the day dawn, is now shining brighter than ever before.

Explanations Surely In Order.

Since Brother Simpson may not care to tell the whole truth about the matter and since the Christian public is interested and ought to know the facts, I must tell them. The unpleasant duty, however, will not necessitate my saying an unkind word concerning Mr. Simpson and the Christian friends who are in Alliance with him.

There are two reasons why Brother Simpson thought it doubtful if he could come next year following our three days of this year.

(1) He knew instinctively that his collections would be smaller, hardly worth coming for, if the people should begin to get the eyes of their understanding more widely opened respecting what really constitutes the Gospel of Christ.

(2) The $80,000 "raised" was not cash and a large proportion of it never will be. Some of it is promised over and over again and telegraphed over and over, as was the case with the young woman who in the spectacular manner offered her jewels from time to time and had it mentioned in the papers. Such repetitions of charitable work are considered entirely proper by many in connection with religious work in various denominations. "For the good of the cause." Subscriptions are given publicly without hope of payment, to influence others who are more sincere—some of whom in this excitement give more than they can afford.

Our Protestant Gospel.

Our Protestant Gospel, of which we are so proud that we want to thrust it upon Jews and Catholics and heathens everywhere, we should thoroughly understand, enjoy and appreciate before we waste good time and money giving it to others. Here it is: Four centuries ago our forefathers were not Protestants but Catholics and believed in Purgatory, etc., as a reward. Then what was known as the Reformation Movement set in. Catholics, Jews and heathens will admit with Protestants that a great blessing of enlightenment and civilization has come to the world in the train of the Reformation Movement. But none of us is prepared to admit that the Reformers were perfect, nor their work perfect.

The Reformers criticized the Catholic teachings which they had formerly believed. They examined their Bibles and found nothing there to the effect that Mary was the mother of God, nor that we should pray to saints, nor that we should use pictures or images in our worship, nor that his sacrifice of Christ in the mass was proper, nor that there was a Purgatory anywhere. The Reformers threw out these things as unscriptural. They completely demolished Purgatory in their minds, declaring that it had never been anything more than imagination. Then came another thought, viz: What must we do with the thousands of millions of mankind that we and our fathers for centuries supposed were in Purgatory, roasting, stewing, tortured, but hoping for heaven. They looked at one another in consternation. They had hearts and sympathies and felt that as it had devolved upon them to smash Purgatory, it must also devolve upon them to re-locate all those thousands of millions whom they had on their hands. They felt the weight of the responsibility. Could they demand of God that they should be put into heaven? Surely not! Surely only the saintly few are fit for heaven! They, as well as all, recognized that fact. Then, with blank consternation, they determined that they must crowd the entire mass into a hell of eternal torture and shut the gates upon them forever and write upon the gates, "Who enters here abandons hope."

"The Darkness Hath the Light."

Some one may inquire why the Christian Alliance should fear us and whether or not we have ever done them harm. We reply, Never have we injured them in the slightest degree, nor ever even publicly mentioned their name before. Their opposition to us is on the lines of general principles mentioned by the Great Teacher, "The darkness hath the light." "All things that are reprobated are made manifest by the light" (Ephesians v. 13). Our work is to proclaim the true Gospel—to incite Christian people to Bible study in the light of the Bible's own testimony and without sectarian spectacles, which, in the past, have so distorted the Word of God and set it forth in false colors.

As Christian people come to see the grossness of the errors by which they have been blinded, the light not only has a blessed and transforming effect upon their minds, but it influences their pocketbooks also. They no longer appreciate the "business" methods of the Alliance nor the brand of Gospel which it sets forth. The more God's people come to a correct understanding of the teachings of his Word, the smaller will be the collections of the Christian Alliance. That is the real secret of their opposition. I would that it were true that they would never take up another collection at Old Orchard! The heathen have already had too much of their Gospel of damnation. God's name has already been slandered and blasphemed enough by the false Gospel message—that nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand of humanity ever born are to suffer eternal roasting because of faith, Adam's sin and the ignorance, stupidity and meanness which have resulted.

Let the Truth Prevail.
If the intelligent men connected with the Alliance really believed the horrible nightmare of the Dark Ages with its noisome stench of the Gospel of Christ, then, of course, they are excusable for preaching it. It is not for others to judge of their honesty in this matter, but it is for others to decide that they will no longer assist or cooperate in the spread of such horrible travesties upon the Divine character—no longer assist financially or otherwise in binding upon the poor heathen at home and abroad increased ignorance and superstition.

them amazingly and took from them their burden. He told them that they should not worry, because it was all God's fault and not theirs. God had predestinated them to that awful future long before he created man. Now they should merely try to think of themselves as the "elect" and try to forget everybody else. Of course, it seemed horrible to charge all these things against the God of all Justice, Wisdom, Love and Power. But it was the only solution which occurred to them. John Calvin's theories were afterwards embodied in the "Westminster Confession of Faith," and that confession of faith became the foundation of nearly all Protestant creeds. Brother John Wesley after long and bitter struggle, and after being rebuffed, but admitted that only the saintly went to heaven and everybody else went to eternal torment. His protest was that, instead of this being by Divine foreordination and intention, it was, on the contrary, because of Divine unwisdom and incompetency.

"Good Tidings of Great Joy."

Surely no sane person can any longer defend any of the above "Gospels" as the true one, of which St. Paul was not ashamed! Surely St. Paul never preached any of those Gospels, nor did any of the Apostles—nor does the Bible support such theories, except by the turning and twisting of language, mis-statements of the original and misinterpretations of some parables. The plain statements of the Scriptures are all directly to the opposite.

The Bible teaches that "the wages of sin is death." Not Purgatory nor eternal torment. "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." Adam, the perfect, was placed on trial for life eternal or death eternal. He sinned and the sentence against him was, "Cursed is the earth for thy sake; thorns and thistles shall it bring forth unto thee. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread until thou return unto the ground whence thou wast taken." (Genesis 3:17-19). St. Paul declares the same: "By one man's disobedience sin entered into the world; and thus death passed upon all men, because all are sinners" (Romans v. 12).

Looking about us we find this true. Everybody who is not dead is dying. As the Bible says, we are living under a reign of Sin and Death. Nothing that man can do can either eradicate sin or lift us out of our dead and dying condition. God alone can help us! He proposes to help us and the message respecting that help is, in the Scriptures, called the Gospel. Its announcement by the angels on the night of Jesus' birth is full, complete, satisfactory, viz: "Behold, we bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people; for unto you is born this day in the City of David a Savior (life-giver) which is Christ the Lord" (Luke ii, 10).

Ah, now we have the Truth! The penalty of sin is death. And the "good tidings" is that God has provided for our recovery from sin and death. The Savior gave his life for the cancellation of our sin, for the satisfaction of Justice, that in due time Adam and all his condemned and imperfect race might be released from the condemnation, and be lifted out of the sin and death conditions which now prevail. That uplifting is Scripturally called the resurrection of the dead. Hence the preaching of the early Church was, "Jesus and the Resurrection"—the Redeemer and his work.

Still More Good Tidings.

The good tidings for the race in general is that the Redeemer in God's due time will become King of kings and Lord of lords—the Messiah of glory. God's glorious Representative. For a thousand years the regenerating work for Adam's race will progress (Matthew xix, 28; Acts iii, 19-23). God's Chosen People, Israel, will be the earthly agents of the heavenly and favorable King of glory. By the close of his reign the whole earth will have been transformed into the Paradise of God. "He will make the place of his feet glorious." And mankind will all be perfect again, in God's image. There will be no more sin, no more sickness, no more dying, because all the things of sin and death will have passed away and he who sits upon the Throne will have renewed all things (Revelation xxi, 5). All who, after coming to a full knowledge of the Truth of God's love and grace, will love sin and hate righteousness, will be destroyed in the Second Death, from which there will be no redemption, no resurrection, no recovery; as St. Peter says, "They shall perish like brute beasts."

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney trouble. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and restores normal strength, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day; and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Childrens Ory FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Buick! AND NOTHING BUT Buick!

From the INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY, July 2d:

"Cut this out and put it in your scrap book: Unless the Buick repeats itself, you will never see such a two days' racing record again. No car ever has, no car except the Buick ever can, give such an astounding exhibition of efficiency. Indianapolis stands amazed tonight at the most impressive clean-sweep ever recorded on either side of the ocean."

5, 10, 15, 50 Miles. In Every Event, In Every Class Buick — Buick — Buick

FRIDAY'S NET RESULTS: In six events entered, BUICK showed five firsts, three seconds and one third; with phenomenal time recorded in eight different instances by Burman and Chevrolet.

SATURDAY'S showing even eclipsed the day before; one victory crowding hot, hard and fast on the heels of another, and culminating in the capture of the Remy Brassard and trophy by Burman, who defeated the Marmon, National, Great Western, Black Crow and Fal in this hundred-mile race.

Read the Record and Mark the Time

FRIDAY'S SUMMARIES.

Five-mile, Class B; for Cars of 161-230 Displacement.—Won by Buick Model 10, driven by L. Chevrolet; Buick Model 10, driven by Burman, second. Note the Time: 4 minutes 40.08 seconds. Best previous Speedway time, 4 minutes 40.17 seconds.

Ten-mile, Class B; for Cars of 231-300 Displacement.—Won by Marquette-Buick 16 A, driven by Burman. Time, 8 minutes 14.46 seconds. Best previous Speedway time, 8 minutes 16.08 seconds.

Fifteen-mile, Class B; for Cars of 301-450 Displacement.—Won by Marquette-Buick 16 B, driven by Burman; A. Chevrolet, third. Time, 11 minutes 18.42 seconds. Note the Time.

Fifty-mile, Class B; for Cars of 231-300 Displacement; for G. & J. Trophy.—Won by Marquette-Buick 16 B, driven by Burman; A. Chevrolet, second. Time, 40 minutes 5.07 seconds. Note the Time. Chevrolet's time, same race (95 miles), 20 minutes 30.66 seconds; Burman's time (30 miles), 16 minutes 31.05 seconds; Chevrolet's time (5 miles), 4 minutes 14.82 seconds.

Record Trial (one-quarter mile to one kilometre).—

Buick Special 60 (Chevrolet), kilometre, 23.43 seconds; (Burman), quarter mile, 8.51.

SATURDAY'S SUMMARIES.

SET FUDGE ON HIGH

THE STANDARD OF CIVILIZATION HAS BEEN SET.

Femininity in Absolute Accord on the Subject—Inventor Merits More Approval Than She Has Yet Been Accorded.

At last a standard of civilization—of feminine civilization—has been set, according to the Cleveland Leader.

The masculine one has not as yet been reached, and the difficulty of arriving at a general standard is at once apparent.

With femininity, however, there was little or no trouble. The sex unites upon a single test. That made, the examination is passed with honors.

The case of the Misses Chang, whose father is the new Chinese minister to the United States, is a most pertinent illustration. According to their governess, who has had a wide experience with outside barbarians, these young Chinese girls are the most intelligent students of English she has ever known and are showing marvelous results. Most significant of all, they have not only fallen a victim to fudge, but they are experts in its manufacture.

Nothing more is needed to admit them to equality, social, moral, religious and intellectual, with the girls of this nation. They have become Americanized in the biggest sense of the word. And they will stand in the very first rank of feminine civilization, because the records show that they make fudge three times a day, and only heaven knows how often they nibble at it.

It doesn't need this celestial approval to show the heavenly qualities of fudge. It is the most popular course in every feminine boarding school or college, and while not officially recognized in the curricula of public schools, it is there just the same.

History knows that Dolly Madison invented ice cream, and a grateful world talks of raising a statue to her. But all that is known of the discoverer of fudge is the slight fact that she was a Vassar college girl and that she hit upon the delicious compound, like so many other inventions of great moment to the world have been made, in a casual way.

From another point of view her discovery is unique. Improvements have followed upon other inventions; the basic idea has been expanded and developed. But the original fudge is still the best of all, though there have been countless variants of it.

To a mere man it seems that there is an unconscious ingratitude on the part of fudge lovers, not at all consistent with the big-hearted appreciation we expect from the sex. If there should be concerted action to discover the girl who invented the delicacy, and to reward her as she deserves, it would be better than a number of the other plans which women are agitating.

And as a slight beginning, as an earnest of the reverence womankind should feel for fudge and its inventor, we would suggest that the exclamation: "Oh, fudge!" so common among co-ed, be dropped altogether or robbed of its sneering irreverence. After that, the pension for the discovery and then a statue.

Why Ruskin's Wife Left Him.

Here is an interesting glimpse of Ruskin's wife from Ada Garland's "Ruskin and His Circle."

A young, gay wife, fond of dress, excitement and social life, was no helpmeet for him. He went with her to court, taking pride in the compliments paid her, but society bored him. She often went out alone. Not a wise thing to do, perhaps, but she was very young, and the home must have been dull—her husband absorbed in architecture and his spare time claimed by the old people. Materially, young Mrs. Ruskin had all she could desire; was always well dressed, had splendid jewels and all the advantages of wealth. But her husband could do without her; Mrs. Ruskin, senior, would not abdicate; the wife's position in the household must have been that of a handsome figurehead.

She was conversing with some gentlemen, one of whom asked: "Where is Mr. Ruskin?" "Oh, Mr. Ruskin," she replied. "He is with his mother; he ought to have married his mother!"

Health Certificate for Hair.

Any woman who changes doctors no doubt has her own reasons for making the change. The woman in this case was threatened with fever. Her first question was: "Shall I lose my hair?" "Most likely," said the doctor.

The next day he found a man with a pair of shears standing at the bedside.

"Doctor," said the man, "I wish you would write out a certificate that this hair is healthy. The lady wants to sell it."

"She says if she's bound to lose it anyhow in this spell of sickness she is in for she might as well get rid of it now while it will bring a good price. If she waits till it falls out nobody will buy it. Women with nice hair and not much money are smart enough nowadays to sell their hair as soon as they fall ill. Most dealers take it and no questions asked, but I'm too conscientious. I want a doctor's certificate every time in a case like this. I hope you'll be obliging."

The doctor was not obliging, and the next day a new doctor was called in.

His Experience.

Peckem, who had loved and won. Once let this sentence fall: "This better to have loved and lost. This never to have lost at all."

Rubbing It In.

Supple—Yess, several years ago I fell in love with a girl, but she rejected me, deceiver know—made a regular fool of me.

Miss Knox—Now, that what I call a monthly shame. The other wondered how it happened.

TIME

IS MORE VALUABLE ALL THE WHILE

Employers demand promptness and minutes are as valuable as hours used to be. He is a wise man that appreciates that time is money.

This emphasizes the need of exact timepieces. No one these days can afford to carry a slow fast now slow time piece.

He might just as well guess the time from the sun as his great grandfather used to do.

Please remember that we are time specialists. We sell all the dependable clocks and watches. We match the lowest of prices and we invite you to bother us all you like.

Mistakes In Paint.

The usual way to buy paint is to take the lowest price by the gallon. Mistake: the buyer loses it; how much? Depends on the paint; it is so much a gallon, or so much a year. How much a gallon or year, do you think? As much perhaps, as the total price of the paint. It may take twice the number of gallons.

N. Avery Delhi, N. Y., owns two houses, both exactly alike. He painted one with Devco and one with another paint. Devco 5 gallons; the other 12.

What does it cost not to paint at all? Can't figure it out exactly; say a tenth of the building a year, besides looks.

REVISITING YOSEMITE

GREAT FALLS OF YELLOWSTONE

THE natural wonders of Yosemite have probably altered little since Adam and Eve walked in the garden, but the circumstances that owe their origin to the hand of man have changed much in the last ten years. To reach the valley, instead of the former long stage-ride through a Bret Harle country, with the exhilarating possibility of being held up by a bandit, a ride over roads half a foot deep in fine gray or red dust, with its stop at the end of the hot day at delightful Ahwahnee or Wawona, you now sit at the rear of an observation car, watch the Merced river canon slip behind, muse on the days of the Argonauts as deserted places digging and humming quartz mills glide by, contrasting the old method of gold hunting with the new; and in a few hours the train stops at El Portal, within a dozen miles of El Capitan.

According to Henry S. Vandyke the artistic appreciation of lofty heights is best gained by viewing them from the bottom, and the common practice of rushing to the top to look down is, from the artist's point of view, a mistake. As you look from a foreground of bright meadow and rapid river, to dark green pines standing out against marvelous gray cliffs, which sheer upward, height above height, into wonderful domes backed by the deep blue of the mountain sky, your artistic sense is indeed satisfied. And at night by moonlight, from the valley floor Yosemite is a glimpse of paradise. Whatever of sternness there be in the grandeur of its precipitous scene by day is dissolved in that soft, silvery radiance, until the gray cliffs become unreal, unsubstantial, luminous with the light that never was on land or sea. Yosemite falls lies a silver ribbon against a wall, slightly darker, but itself translucent. As well try to describe to the unlettered savage the beauty of poetry; to depict to the natural man the things of the spirit, which, being spiritually discerned, are foolishness to him, as attempt to show forth in words the miracles of Yosemite by moonlight. A number of people, after gazing long at the scene in silence, urged by the common emotion that so powerfully stirred them, raised their voices with one accord in the strains of "Nearer, My God to Thee."

But Yosemite has a universal appeal, and its downward vistas will stir the heart that beauty and sublimity may fall to touch. The terrific yet fascinating sensation in which the breath comes in gasps, the heart thumps in audible pulsations, and the body shrinks backward in shuddering recoil, can be experienced by any one who peers over the edge and down that vertical three-quarters of a mile at El Capitan or Glacier point. And the magnetic attraction of that frightful downward glance is fresh and undiminished at every point. Yosemite has thrills for all.

Glacier point becomes the objective after a day or two, since of the artistic and of those who merely desire to look down. The grandest view on earth is to be seen from the porch of the Glacier Point hotel, that never-to-be-forgotten scene embracing the Half-Dome, Vernal and Nevada Falls, Panorama cliffs and Mt. Starr King with the forest between, the smooth stone canon of the Merced above the falls, and the snowy jagged peaks of the high Sierras in the background. And barring flying machines, nothing outside Yosemite can compare with the Hanging Rock as a point from which to get a thrilling downward look.

A tramp through the woods to the fissures, coming back in time for the sunset from the top of Sentinel dome, is a trip that well repays its labor. Beyond the dome is a forest of fir, tamarack and the "little" sugar pine, with glades of the greenest velvety grass, on which the foot gives forth no sound. Under the pines the thick carpet of pine needles crackles beneath the step; the sunshine falls slantingly through the branches, making flecks and patches of dazling light on the white rocks and granite soil, which reflect the warmth with hardly diminished force; the odor of the pines, pervasive as light, sweet, pure, free, scents the air; the low, soft murmur of the wind in the trees is like distant surf, now faintly falling, now swelling in crescendo. California is, in such sights and sounds and smells, the California of romance; and the true sons of the golden west are they who, like the Bohemians, celebrate their mysteries in the depths of the forest, amid the majestic trees that are distinctive of the state.

Entirely new aspects of Yosemite are gathered in an evening walk down the short trail from Glacier point. As the sunlight withdraws, a light blue haze suddenly fills the valley. It looks like thin, diffused smoke; but it springs into existence everywhere, at once, and its effect is as if one should look at the landscape through a delicately colored blue glass. As the night falls, the lower parts of the valley, the shadowy woods, the canon mouths, darken to blackness; the gathering gloom blurs the details of the great cliffs, draws themselves, magnifies their vastness, until they seem to rise out of bottomless depths and to tower portentously overhead. The metallic gleam on their western edges, from the copper sky where the sun has set, only augments and renders sinister the mysterious effect of the deepening obscurity. Awesome, monstrous, titanic, the scene is a Dantesque dream, suggestive of the loneliness and the mystery of death, of the solitude of a lost soul wandering amid the frightful abysses of a chaotic universe, in maddening need of sympathetic touch and communion with some kindred being.

Yosemite speaks in its sublimity of the eternal; yet it ranges over a wide gamut of the human emotions, and single day's experiences may touch the numerous as well as the serious sentiments. Always there is something new, always something interesting. The mountains, the cliffs, the waterfalls, the animal and vegetable life, the weather, perfect but for the occasional thunder shower, the people, possessed by the holiday spirit, thoroughly democratic and thoroughly delightful—all combine to form a vacation environment unsurpassed and unsurpassable. Other places throughout the Sierras have individual features as remarkable as those of Yosemite; but none has so many and so striking exemplars of nature's beauty and grandeur within the radius of a day's walk, and none can ever compete with the place that "quite comes up to the brag."

JAMES M. REYNOLDS.

An Unintended Warning. Arrang—Have you any idea why Shadler's drummer left Buster's office without even showing him any goods? Warner—Yes; there's a motto hanging above Buster's desk that reads, "Try, try again," and the drummer took it as a warning.

Arnook—A warning of what? Warner—Why, you know Buster has failed several times and the drummer was afraid that he might be going to try to fail again.

THE DRUGGIST.

I am a druggist, born, and less, A being without guile. When strangers grab my telephone I merely smile.

A big directory I keep. And should, through any stream, You want my aid, I'll fit in it peep For an address.

I have on hand of gins and strings A large and free supply. I'll gladly get you anything You'd like to try.

At midnight I climb slowly to My little cot to camp. But I'll get up to furnish you A postage stamp.

Emotions I have learned to curb; I'm always helpful here. And naught that happens can disturb My gentle grin.

A RARA AVIS.

Chapple—I bought this green parrot lowest Fowler, and I'm teaching him to tut-tut, don't know.

Smiler—Gee, if you succeed in teaching him to talk as you do, he'll be a bird!

A Bluff. The comet came and went its way. It wasn't hard to handle. We've seen a far more fierce display From one small Roman candle.

Out of Season. "Dese pure-food guys make me tired," muttered Minky Jones, as he looked over the newspaper. "What's de trouble, kiddo?" asked his chum. "Why, in de winter months dey always get off dat gat about ice cream being adulterated an' unhealthy. Why don't dey spring it in de summer when de gods are nagging 'er every hour to treat?"

Crushing. Mars, on being introduced to Bologna, became very sentimental. "You look nice enough to eat!" he stammered. She regarded him severely. "You mistake the name, sir! Bologna, not Bologna!" quoth she with crushing freedom. Whereupon such of the gods as were within earshot gave way to Homeric laughter.—Puck.

Self-Consciousness. "Is this silk of the latest style?" asked the man who had been appointed on a reception committee. "The very latest," replied the obliging salesman. "Then I don't want it. What I'm after is something new enough not to be shabby and old enough to look as if I were used to wearing it."

She Could Spare One. "Scuse me, ma'am," said the hobo to the lady at the front door, "can you spare a pore beggar a copper?" "Certainly," answered the lady and, turning to a speaking tube, she called: "Jane, send that policeman you have in the kitchen up here at once." But the hobo was beating it up the nearest alley.

AMONG THE FOUR HUNDRED.

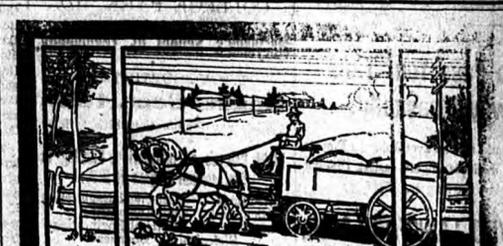

Swelling—I can't imagine what made the bridegroom so nervous. Wellington—I am. Swelling—What? Wellington—He didn't have time to get his prospective father-in-law's check certified before the ceremony.

Long After Langfellow. She sang a song into the air. It fell again—she knew not where; Later 'twas found where it had blown in a drop-a-penny graphophone.

Doing Her Best. "And will you love me always?" "With just an occasional intermission," explained the girl. "I have promised to be engaged to another fellow when I go to the beach."

Two Sides. Author—My books sell like hot cakes. Critic—Yes; and they are just about as hard to digest.—Judge.

above-described property. This tract has no buildings and can be bought for $3,000.

No. 3—Consists of 75 acres fronting on same road, directly south of No. 2. This is the old Leonard homestead. The dwelling is in good repair, and the outbuildings, with a little attention at slight cost, can be made to answer for several years. This is good land, as the crops now growing on the farm will show. The location is ideal and the price is $7,500.

No. 4—Is directly south of No. 3, fronting on the same road, and contains 80 acres. This is an especially desirable tract of land, but contains no buildings. The price is $3,500.

No. 5—Consists of a little over 75 acres, fronting on same road and directly south of No. 4. About 25 acres cleared, the balance in woodland, mostly cut over, but still containing a considerable amount of fire wood;
also contains a small dwelling in fairly good repair. Although a little rough in its present condition, this can be made a very valuable farm, the quality of the land being exceptionally good. The price is $3,250.

No. 6—Contains 3 acres adjoining the Salisbury Fair Grounds on the side and is opposite Sewell Richardson's. A very valuable lot. Price $1,000.

No. 7—Immediately adjoins No. 6 and contains 4 1/2 acres. Price
$1,200.

No. 8—Lies west of No. 7 and contains 6 acres. Price $1,500.

No. 9—Consists of 15 acres, dwelling and outbuildings, and lies directly in front of Mr. James E. Lowe's new residence, on Quantico road, and is very valuable property. Price $4,250.

No. 10—Is west of No. 9, contains 5 acres and has already been sold to Mr. Woolford Johnson.

No. 11—Is west of No. 10, contains 10 acres and is a very desirable tract. Price $2,500.

No. 12—Is west of No. 11 and situated at the beginning of the Stone road leading to Quantico. This tract contains 10 acres and the price is $2,500.

No. 13—Is directly in front of Mr. Stanford Culver's, on the Quantico road, and contains 8 and 48-100ths acres. Price $1,800.

No. 14—Consists of 3 acres just outside the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying between South Division Street extended and the N. Y., P. &
N. railroad. Price $750.

No. 15—Consists of something over 8 acres immediately adjoining
No. 14. Price $750.

No. 16—Consists of 3 acres lying on the east side of South Division Street extended, about three-eighths of a mile from the corporate limits.
Price $600.

No. 17—Contains 10 acres and is immediately adjoining the corporate limits of Salisbury, lying along the N. Y., P. & N. railroad, and fronting on _____ street, directly south of Salisbury and in section commonly known as "Hastings town." This tract will be sold in acre lots at $300 each, or will sell the entire piece to one party. Price on application.

All of the above properties were originally bought for their exceptionally good location. Each and every one of the above-named parcels of land, except No. 17, are fronting on prominent highways that have already been improved under the specifications of the Shoemaker law, and are especially desirable to progressive parties wishing to build homes in good neighborhoods.

OFFICERS DO NERVY DEED

Show That They Are Well Qualified For Upholding The Law.

Creek colored campmeeting was the start of an exciting and nervy roundup Sunday night by Sheriff Kelley and officers J. Frank Waller and Roy Smith.

Sunday morning Neil Pryor, who lives on Water Street, George A. Ennis, a desperate negro from Dover, Delaware, Emma Messick, a female offender and Perry Dorman, who lives in Jersey, with a double team and a surrey, loaded down with whiskey
made the trip to the colored campmeeting at the head of the Creek.
They proceeded to open up shop and were soon caught by the managers of the Camp who protested at the traffic and told the negroes they would have to stop selling whiskey. Pryor it is said struck the manager of the camp with a pair of brass knuckles, in the forehead and wounded him severely.
He then pointed his big Colt's revolver
at the manager and told him he would "blow his head off if he wuked his eye." By this time the Camp was in an uproar and it looked like a free fight would be indulged in when some of the campers slipped over to White Haven and telephoned here to officer Smith.

Smith, with Sheriff Kelley and officer Waller secured a double team and started to the scene of action prepared with a double barrel gun and a self acting rifle to take the desperate negroes at all hazards. After arriving at the camp they found, however, that the negroes had left the Camp and started for Salisbury. The officers doubled and came back to town, went out on Water Street to the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk depot and at East Isabella Street overtook the negroes. Pryor had his big Colt's revolver in his hand all ready for action when Deputy Sheriff Smith and officer Waller jumped from their carriage. Smith saw Pryor raise his pistol and at once covered him, with his gun and told him to put his hands up, which he did. About this time Ennis had his pistol out but was covered by officer Waller with a self acting rifle. The negroes, finding themselves covered, gave up and were brought down town to jail.

When the negroes were searched in jail they were found to have considerable money, two large Colt's Army revolvers fully loaded with extra shells, and the two salt cases they carried contained thirteen quarts of whiskey and a glass to deal out the drinks.

Pryor is an old offender it is said and a very desperate negro. Ennis is a desperado from Dover, Delaware,
and a stranger to the police here.
Dorman is a new hand at the business
so the police say, but they seem to know the Messick woman as a well-known character in the negro haunts of the city.

Democratic Campaign Book

The Democratic National Congressional Committee has issued its Campaign Book and is now distributing it.
The Committee has no funds save as it obtains them through contributions and is selling the book at $1 per copy or for 50 cents a copy in lots of ten or more.

The book is replete with valuable matter and is said to be the best Campaign Book ever issued. Every Democrat should have it and in this year of Democratic effort for supremacy
should gladly contribute to the Committee by purchasing the book. The Committee did valiant service in Maine with notable results, and if Democrats everywhere will rise to the occasion, by their dollar contributions
the Democratic 'sun will rise triumphantly—not to set for fifty years to come. Send your orders or contributions to F. P. Garret, Treasurer Democratic Campaign Committee, 821 15th

The Less They Know The Better—Business Not Conducted On Knowledge.

But few of the men who sell the hundred different paints in the market know much about them. All Devoe agents have a state chemist's certificate telling just what it's made of;
they know a good deal, not only about Devoe but the rest. Devoe buys every paint, that has any sale, and analyzes
it. Devoe agents find out all about it.
When we know what a paint is made of, we know how it will act; we know how far it goes, and how long it wears.

Devoe is the standard; call it 100.
The best of the rest is about 75; the worst about 25; the rest are between.
But the men, who sell them, don't know any better. They know what the maker tells them. That is: they know that he tells them. They don't know whether he tells them the truth or not.

The business is not conducted on knowledge; the less they know, the more comfortable they are. L. W.

DELLA DASHIELL DROWNED

Fatal Accident Occurs To Salisbury Girl
While Away.

News of another sad drowning of a
Salisbury girl reached here Thursday.
Miss Della Dashiell, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. W. T. Dashiell, in Camden, Salisbury, being the victim. Miss Dashiell had been on a visit of several weeks to her aunt's at Deals Island and Rook Creek and was to have returned home Wednesday.

Thursday afternoon she went out on the water near Deals Island wharf with some friends, Miss Mame Tyler and Mr. Aaron Tarlton. Not far from the wharf another friend invited her aboard his sail boat and here the accident occurred by which she lost her life. Barely seated and started out, the jib boom of the sail boat swung around in some manner and struck her, knocking her out and into the water apparently unconscious.

She was not seen again until about three quarters of an hour afterwards
when an anchor on one of the vessels of the searching parties hooked on to her body, which was carried ashore
and brought to Salisbury on the steamer Virginia yesterday morning.
There were no signs of life when the body was recovered.

Funeral services were held at the house at four o'clock by Rev. Dr.
Martindale. The remains were interred at Parsons Cemetery.

Miss Dashiell was a young lady of many admirable traits of character and will be much missed by her circle of friends here. Besides her parents, living, are three sisters, Misses Ennis and Eugenia and Mrs. Fred A.
Rochester, and one brother, Perry Dashiell.

RETURNS TO SALISBURY

For Visit And Business After Long Absence.
Likes State Of Washington.

The many friends of Mr. Elmer H.
Walton gave him a warm welcome on his return to Salisbury, Wednesday.
Mr. Walton has been away several months living at Spokane, Washington. He is engaged there with a partner, Mr. W. C. Carpenter, formerly in the Government Customs House in New York, in the growth of the noted large red apples for which that part of Washington is famous. They have fourteen acres out in three varieties planted in 1908, which will be marketable in two years. Mr. Walton speaks in glowing terms of his new home, which is in the dry season zone and 9000 feet above sea level, but of course, there isn't any place like his old home—Salisbury. He says they haven't had a rain of any consequence
there since April and land is only valuable and productive under the irrigation system—non-irrigated soil being worthless.

Mr. Walton left a lucrative law practice here to better his health in the northwest. He expects to be around his old home about a month before returning and is accompanied by his wife and baby. They are guests of Mr. Walton's brother, Mr. Morris A.
Walton.

Frank A. Robin's Big Circus

Frank A. Robin's Circus exhibited at Mifflintown on Tuesday, June 7th, 1910. They arrived here on scheduled time and quite a large crowd flocked to the railroad to witness the unloading of the circus from their own special cars. Promptly at 11 o'clock they formed in line and paraded the principal streets all of which were pretty well filled with people from country districts. The parade was fine and far more than expected by the people in this community. At 2 o'clock, p. m., when the performance began in the main show, the seats were all filled and many were compelled to stand but that made no difference as the performance was of such an up to date character that all were more than satisfied. The fine actors, the trained horses and other animals and the whole circus throughout was counted
to be the best that has pitched their tent in Juniata county for many years.
It is estimated that the attendance was between 5000 and 6000 people.— Juniata Herald Mifflintown. Will exhibit in Salisbury, Tuesday, October, 4th.

New Garbage System.

The new garbage system for Salisbury for the removal of dry garbage, was put into effect on Monday and the routes of the wagons are as follows:
Mondays—Newtown and B. C. and
A. Station and centre of town.
Tuesdays—Jersey and California.
Wednesdays—Camden and Oak Hill.
Thursdays—South Salisbury to the City Limits and Snow Hill Road.
Fridays—Georgetown and around the pond.
Saturdays—Over the N. Y. P. and N. Station and both sides of Church street and center of town.
All persons on these routes should have their garbage ready when the wagons come around so as not to delay the wagons in their work.

TAR BOUND ROAD

From Salisbury To Tontank—Progress
Of Wicomico Highway Work.

The first application of the tar
"binder" was made on the Tontank
section of the Salisbury-Allen
State Road on Tuesday September 18th. This is the first tar macadam work to be done in Wicomico County and on the Eastern Shore, south of Hurlock, and is being constructed by the County Roads Engineer Clark, being paid for out of Wicomico County's share of the State Road fund.
The State Roads Commission has taken up the matter of oiling the section of this Road from Tontank to Moore's Corner and it is hoped that same will be done this year. Plans are being prepared also for the construction of the Moore's Corner—
Allen section and there seems to be no doubt that work will be commenced
on this section in the Spring of 1911.
The County now has two complete outfits for the construction of permanent macadam roads, including the new tar heating and the spreading apparatus now being used on the Tontank Road. The County's contract of 5.6 miles from Salisbury towards Mardela is nearly completed and work has been started on the next section to Mardela Springs, which Engineer Clark expects to have completed by January 1st, 1910. Then work will start on the next section from Mar-dela to Riverton. The Caroline Construction Co., is now at work on the last section between Riverton and Sharptown.

S. S. Convention.

The Maryland State Sunday School
Convention will be held in Baltimore,
October, 20-21, at Harlem Park M. E.
Church, Gilmer St., and Harlem
Park. A strong team of specialists have been secured to assist in making the convention the best yet, such as Bishop Dubs, of Harrisburg, Pa. Mrs.
J. Woodbridge Barnes, of Newark, N.
J., Dr. Franklin McElfresh, of Ohio,
and Dr. Richard Morse Hodge of Columbia University, New York, together with a host of successful Sunday School workers of Maryland. The program will be arranged to cover all the practical and evangelist methods
now in use in scores of Sunday schools that are winning, using and keeping the children and young people in the pale of the Church. Every School in the State is urged to send its pastor, Superintendent, two delegates and as many others as can possibly come.
Board and lodging will be obtained at very reasonable rates for those who desire such accommodations. Write to Mr. Robt. L. Hooper, 121 W. Saratoga
St., Baltimore, who will cheerfully help you. We hope that every pastor and superintendent will announce the convention frequently to their congregations and Sunday Schools, and insist on every one attending.
We also ask that all pray most fervently that the convention may be one of great spiritual power.
Very Cordially Yours,
Charles W. Dorey, President.
B. W. Kindley, Secretary.

Death Of Mrs. Catlin.

Mrs. Elizabeth Catlin, widow of the late Wm. Catlin, died Thursday
September 15, at her home in White Haven of heart failure. Death came suddenly and unexpectedly while partaking of her evening meal.
Mrs. Catlin was born in Rockwalk-in, in the year of 1824, and had attained to the remarkable age of 86 years. She was the daughter of the late James and Sallie Moore.
She is survived by four children,
Dr. Wm. Catlin, Mr. Granville Cat-
lin, Mrs. A. G. Goodvine and Mrs.
T. A. Malson and one brother, Mr.
Wesley Mitchell.
She was a good, true and loving mother, kind and affectionate, and in her early life became a Christian and as her years multiplied her faith grew stronger until she reached that point,
where she often said, she was ready and willing to go whenever the Master should call. It was always refreshing to the Christian soul to be with her and hear her experience. She availed herself of all opportunities to speak to others about the welfare of their souls. While all of her children are not Christians she has bequeathed to them a good legacy—a character that had been whitened by the touch of the finger of Christ, which will be a guiding star to them through life.

Western Maryland Students

Wicomico County is well represented in the list of students attending Western Maryland College, Westminster, this year, among the number being Miss Margaret Simons, of Salisbury; Mr. Clifford Ryall, of Fruitland; Miss Wilson, of Mardela; Mr.
Perry White, of Powellville; Miss Laura Ruark, Messrs. Samuel Adkins, Louis Morris, Lester Hall, Paul O.
and Irving E. Phillips and Willie Ward, of Salisbury; and the two Misses Jester, of Jestersville.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or guarantee any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparation. Ely's Cream Balm, the well known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever, and nasal catarrh, does not contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it contains fully with all the requirements of the law.

Preparing for the Trip

"It is almost time for me to be going," said Mrs. Binxley's caller, "for George will be waiting for me and mademoiselle will be there to give us our French lesson."

"I didn't know you were studying French," remarked Mrs. Binxley. "Yes, we've been taking lessons for the last month. We sail July 1, you know."

"I should hardly think two months of French would benefit you perceptibly," observed Mrs. Binxley. "But we are getting on beautifully," returned her friend. "Mademoiselle is the dearest thing! How she does work with us! She will carry a chair out of the room, asking, in French of course, 'What am I doing now?' And we answer her, 'You take out the chair.' Then she will bring it back, inquiring, 'What am I doing now?' and we reply: 'You bring in the chair,' and so on. George says she has carried out and brought back everything in the room except the piano. It's a lovely way to learn a language, for we are not bothered with books."

"You are not going to engage in the business of moving furniture while you are abroad, are you?" asked Mrs. Binxley. "Of course not, but think of all the words we are adding to our French vocabulary."

"If you are anxious to study French in that way, it seems to me it would be practical to have your teacher represent a dressmaker who has spoiled a garment for you and learn to express in a few emphatic and incisive words your intention to throw the dress back on her hands unless suitable alterations are made."

"But French dressmakers—modistes I suppose I should call them—never make mistakes," suggested the caller. "Don't they?" exclaimed Mrs. Binxley. "If you could see a princess gown that I bought in Paris, with a back seam that started on the right path, but was lured to one side, you would think French modistes do make mistakes."

"Then I shall ask mademoiselle what to say when one wants changes made in a dress," said the caller. "My dear, if you had studied the language before you sailed you would have saved yourself both money and vexation."

"We had three months of French before we went over," replied Mrs. Binxley. "My husband had studied Latin in his youth, but he said was a great help to him in speaking French, and he was quite proud of his ability in that line—before he went to France. He hasn't mentioned it since."

"Didn't he know how to make use of his knowledge?" "He had a perfect genius for saying the wrong thing," declared Mrs. Binxley. "He got us into trouble more than once. One night when we were traveling through the south of France Mr. Binxley went to the ticket office to have our tickets vised when the train stopped at Narbonne, I believe it was. I never did learn what he said, but several of the officials came to the window of our compartment as angry as so many hornets and all talking at once. I thought of the way the French people acted during their revolution and my blood ran cold."

"How did it end?" asked the caller. "There was a little American woman asleep in one corner of our compartment who, awakened by the noise, spoke French so rapidly for a few minutes that she must have made even these natives dizzy. She seemed to have explained whatever it was and they slunk away without another word. I asked her what it was all about, but she was grumpy and sleepy and not inclined to conversation."

"Didn't you ask your husband what he had said to make those men so angry?" "Yes, but he did not seem to know. He evidently had used the wrong words."

"I will have mademoiselle arrange a hypothetical argument with railway officials," remarked the caller, thoughtfully.

"I would," advised Mrs. Binxley, "and be sure to have her explain the difference between a 'jupe' and a 'jupon,' for you will need the words in shopping."

"This conversation reminds me of a dream I had last night," said the caller. "I thought I was in Paris and that mademoiselle, dressed as a tight-roped walker, was tripping gayly over a wire that reached from the Louvre to the Place de la Concorde. When she caught sight of me she swung by one toe, calling out: 'What am I doing now?'"

"Thousands of people seemed to be waiting for my answer. As I did not know the French word for swinging and had forgotten the French word for 'toe,' I woke in great trepidation."

"It gets on one's nerves dreadfully to study a foreign language."

Chickens a La Mode. Freddie was visiting relatives in Canada and his mother constantly besought him to be on his good behavior and to avoid saying anything that might give offense, but one day when his aunt asked him at luncheon if he would have some chicken he could not help showing his surprise.

"Why, what's the matter, Freddie?" inquired the aunt; "don't you like curried chicken?" "Well, aunty, I can't really say," was the reply. "You see, down in the states we don't carry our chickens—we pick 'em."—Deltineator.

GREAT RARITY. She was young and romantic, and when she visited Arizona she was fascinated with the wild scenery.

"You have some wonderful sights out here," she remarked, as she stepped from the stage coach. "Yes, miss," drawled Amber Pets, the mayor of Eagle Eye settlement, "but you'll have to go on the other side of the town to see the rarest sight of all."

The eastern girl was all enthusiasm. "Ah, towering peaks scintillating in the last rays of the sun, or mighty cascades where rainbow waters gush all through the green rocks?" Amber Pets shook his head. "No, lady, that ain't nothing rare or wonderful in such sights as them. I was ailing to a Chinaman with whiskers. He runs a laundry down the way and he's the only Chinese with whiskers in seven states."

Frightened Off. A Washington car conductor, born in London and still a cockney, has succeeded in extracting thrills from the alphabet—imparting excitement to the names of the national capital's streets. On a recent Sunday morning he was calling the streets thus: "Hatch!" "High!" "Jay!" "Kay!" "Hell!"

That Kind of Mystery. "You need a big mystery in your play to make it go. The public demands it. Something that'll keep 'em guessing."

"What kind of mystery?" "Something deep and awful. Something as fascinating as the dramatic mystery that surrounds the pitcher and catcher when they meet on the field during the game and confer in awful whispers."

Falling Sight. "I guess that aw'ly nearsighted feller that calls on sis is getting worse," said Jimmie, aged twelve. "That's just enough from you, Jim," said the indignant girl. "What makes you think he is getting worse, James," inquired his father. "Cause I heard Sis ask him las' night if he thought she was the brony stone."

DISAPPOINTED. First Tramp—Bowery Stagers tell off de excursion boat—somebody threw him an empty beer keg. Second Tramp—Did he grab it? First Tramp—He did; but when he found dere was nothing in it to sustain him he let go and drowned.

Her Dearest Pets. "I have a heart-rending scene in my new drama." "How now?" "The heroine is in such reduced circumstances that she has to cook the canary."

Advertising. "Why do you persist on making speeches on the unpopular side of a subject?" "Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "the people see so many arguments on the right side of a question that the only way to get a reputation for sensational originality is to contradict them."

Another Theory. "How do you explain this charge that best maganotes sell their product abroad cheaper than at home?" "Patriotism," replied Mr. Dustin Star. "They believe that a nation of meat eaters is likely to be at a disadvantage in the event of any conflict."

The New Literary Field. "Who's that billionaire with the big touring car and the two extra throes?" "That's Tennyson Blinks. He's the fellow who invents the personal and private memoirs of the world's great feather weights."

In Doubt. "How's your garden getting along?" "I can't tell. If those green things that are up are radishes, it's great, but if they're woods it's going to be a failure."

The General Tendency. What's de use o' stalin' me Dat old 'get busy' song? What nearly everything see Is letter's along? De breeze dat blows de butterfly, De birds a-singing a-singing, De clouds up yonder in de sky Is letter's along.

Delicately Formed

and gently reared, women will find in all the seasons of their lives, as maidens, wives and mothers, that the one simple, wholesome laxative remedy, which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally and which may be taken at any time, when the system needs a laxative, with perfect safety and really beneficial effects, is Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

It has that true delicacy of flavor which is so refreshing to the taste, that warming and grateful toning to the stomach which responds so favorably to its action and the laxative effect which is so beneficial to the system when, occasionally, its gentle cleansing is required.

The genuine, always bearing the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., may be purchased from all leading druggists in original packages of one size only, price fifty cents per bottle.

For Sale. Good Work Horse. Would exchange for good cows or colts. A. J. DASHIELL, HEBRON, MD.

Tonic or Stimulant? There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic, a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so. He knows. Ask him. Do as he says. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Makes Your Baby Comfortable. Watch baby grow after a dose of Dr. FAHRNEY'S TEETHING SYRUP. You want no better recommendation. Other mothers tell the same tale. Have it handy if you want to prevent Cholera Infantum and cure all its first complaints. Best for bowel troubles. Can be given to babies one day old. Costs 25 cents. All druggists sell it. Trial bottle free if you mention this paper. Made only by DR. D. FAHRNEY & SON, HAGERSTOWN, Md.

DEMOCRATIC OUTLOOK

Roscoe Nationally, For Next House of Representatives Majority. G.O.P. Dazed.

That there will be a Democratic majority in the next House of Representatives is a safe prediction, if the present sentiment and feeling about the two national Congressional headquarters is any indication of the result in November.

In Chicago the two Congressional committees have their main headquarters, and it is from there that the fight is being directed and managed nationally, the literature sent out and the campaign orators assigned.

One Republican From Maryland.

As an instance of this, national Republican managers concede that the Third Maryland district—or, as they call it, the Krommiller district—will go Democratic, no do they count upon the Sixth, or Fearo district.

Rock Bottom Estimates.

At both headquarters these estimates as to Maryland and other States are based upon information not only by candidates, but by men in each district who know, and who can be absolutely relied upon to give "inside" facts and figures, to cut out all the color and submit their truthful, bedrock belief, secure in the knowledge that it is held as confidential and that without that sort of information the work of the committee would be worthless.

"Good As Democratic Already."

Now, as to the general Congressional situation. There are 391 members of the House of Representatives. The Republicans now have a majority of 54. To change the control, the Democrats must elect 28 members from districts now represented by Republicans.

Auditor's Notice.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against the estate of Georgia A. Adkins, deceased to file their claims properly proven, with me or the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, on or before the 28th day of October 1910, or they will be excluded from the Audit I will make at that time.

Republicans Expect Big Losses.

That was the way the Republican leaders looked at it the day before the election came in from Maine. After

Well Supplied With Funds.

As always, the Republican Congressional Committee will in this fight be well supplied with funds. It will have all the money it wants or can use to advantage, and no stone will be left unturned to pull victory out of the situation, which is admittedly bad.

Low Fares To The West.

Tax Collector's Notice.

During the month of August I sent out bills for all mortgage taxes then due and with these bills the following circular letter:

Auditor's Notice.

Notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against the estate of Georgia A. Adkins, deceased to file their claims properly proven, with me or the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, on or before the 28th day of October 1910, or they will be excluded from the Audit I will make at that time.

Canon Fated To Go.

That, if the next House is not Democratic, it will be insurgent through another Democratic-Insurgent pact, and that the re-election of Speaker Cannon as its presiding officer is an impossibility, is frankly admitted.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...
The Lord's House In the Top of the Mountains.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Detroit, Mich., September 13.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached twice here today to the local branch of the International Bible Students Association. He had an excellent hearing and large and intelligent audiences. One address was entitled "The Great Hereafter." The other was now reported. The speaker said:— "Our text has not yet been fulfilled, but we believe the beginning of its fulfillment to be near. It pictures Messiah's Kingdom, for which Christian people have long been waiting and praying. 'Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as in heaven'—the same Kingdom for which the Jews so long waited and are still waiting. Our text relates, not to the spiritual part of the Kingdom, which the Gospel Church is called to share, but to the earthly part of the Kingdom, which belongs to the natural seed of Abraham. A great mistake has been made by many of us in the past; we have not discerned and acknowledged the two Kingdoms, spiritual and natural, and the separate rewards and blessings apportioned to these by the Divine promises of the Scriptures. Both are to be used of God in fulfilling the promise made to Abraham—'I will bless all the families of the earth.' After the completion of Messiah, Head and Members, on the plane of glory, the New Covenant will be inaugurated with Israel, as the Scriptures distinctly teach (Jeremiah xxxi, 31-34). Our text, therefore, waits for its accomplishment until the last member of the elect Church of Christ shall have passed beyond the veil.

TIME IS MORE VALUABLE ALL THE WHILE

Employers demand promptness and minutes are as valuable as hours need to be. He is a wise man that appreciates that time is money.

This emphasizes the need of exact timepieces. No one these days can afford to carry a now fast now slow time piece.

He might just as well guess the time from the sun as his great grandfather used to do.

Please remember that we are time specialists. We sell all the dependable clocks and watches. We match the lowest of prices and we invite you to bother us all you like.

Israel the Earthly Representative.

In the symbolic language of the Scriptures a mountain is always symbolical of a Kingdom. Hence the mountain of the Lord's house means the Kingdom of God and that royal house or family recognized by him. For instance, we read that David sat upon the throne of the Kingdom of the Lord and that God made a Covenant with him, "even the sure mercies of David"—viz., that none but his Seed, his posterity, would ever be recognized as the Divinely appointed representatives of God in kingly authority and power. In other words, Messiah was to be the offspring of David, the great antitypical David (Beloved), who must "reign from sea to sea and from the river to the ends of the earth."

The Messiah-King on the spirit plane, the Son of God (and like God invisible to men, as are also the angels), is the antitypical David and the antitypical Solomon, the wise, the great, the rich. In the days of his flesh our Lord was the Son of David according to the flesh, though begotten of a divine life not tainted by any human imperfection. He was, therefore, holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners. His faithfulness to the will of the Father made him subject to all of the experiences of suffering and death, as expressed in his own words: "The cup which my Father hath poured for me, shall I refuse to drink? His obedience unto death, even the death of the cross, demonstrated his loyalty to the last degree and he received the high reward appropriated.

"Elm hath God also highly exalted and given a name that is above every name, that in the name of Jesus every knee should bow, both of things in heaven and things in earth."

Exalted to the right hand of Divine favor he waits only for the Father's time to take to himself his great power and reign (Revelation xi, 17). Meantime, in harmony with the Divine will, purposed before the foundation of the world, he acts as advocate for such as have the hearing ear and the obedient heart and will now respond to the special invitation of the Gospel Age. That call is to leave the world, its sins, its pleasures and its hopes, and to walk by faith in the exceeding great and precious promises of God—the things which eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man. These are the heavenly things promised them as the Bride and Joint-heir with their Redeemer in his glorious Kingdom to come and its blessed work of uplifting Israel and the world.

In the Top of the Mountains. We have before our minds the antitypical house of David, Messiah's kingly household, the royal priesthood, Divinely prepared. As a Kingdom it will be at the top, above all the kingdoms of earth. Not only will this be true of the spiritual Kingdom invisible to men as the angels are invisible, but it will include also an earthly Kingdom composed of "Israelites indeed." At their head as prince in all the earth will stand the resurrected Ancient Worthies, perfected as men and samples of what all mankind, by obedience to the laws of the Kingdom, may attain to, with eternal life. These Ancient Worthies are enumerated in the Scriptures—Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, the Prophets, etc., and described by St. Paul in Hebrews xi, 38-40. To these belong the earthly promises of the Old Testament. They never heard of the heavenly or spiritual promises. Their loyalty will find its reward in the fact that they will come forth from the tomb no longer blemished and imperfect, but fully, completely restored to the perfection originally enjoyed by father Adam. Additionally these will have the special guidance and instruction of Messiah (Head and Members) in all the affairs of mankind. Thus as the Master said, speaking of that time, "Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and the prophets in the Kingdom" (Luke xiii, 28).

God's Kingdom will be represented in the earth by Israel—especially by these thirty men of Israel, resurrected perfect, who will be the special representatives and representatives of the elect Messiahs' rule. As it is written, instead of thy fathers (the ancient saints) ones were styled "the fathers," as Jesus was styled the Son of Abraham and David shall be the children, whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth (Psalm xlv, 16). These princes, acting under and continually in contact with the spiritual Kingdom and rulers styled in the Scriptures "the royal priesthood," will, of course, be so superior in their wisdom and power as to command the obedience of the whole earth. The nation of Israel, with whom they are related, would naturally respond more quickly than others to the New order of things, which will be just that for which they have been waiting and praying for more than thirty centuries.

All Nations Flow unto It. In these words the Lord through the prophet assures us of the wonderful success which will attend the establishment of the New Empire of earth, the dominion of the Prince of light, which will supersede the dominion of the Prince of darkness, when Satan shall be bound for a thousand years, that he may deceive the peoples no more. Messiah's Kingdom will be high above all other Kingdoms, not only in its grandeur, majesty and authority, but also in the lofty principles which it will represent. Thus it is written, "He shall lay righteousness to the line and justice to the plummet and the hall (Truth) shall sweep away the refuge of lies" (Isaiah xxviii, 17). Nevertheless, as the world shall come to appreciate the new order of things all nations shall flow unto it. None up to it—contrary to the downwardness of fallen human nature. It will make manifest such wonderful rewards for righteousness and obedience to God and it will so make manifest the stripes, that men attend all willful disobedience to the Divine arrangement that the Scripture will be fulfilled which declares that when the judgments of the Lord are abroad in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness (Isaiah xlv, 9).

Humankind for six thousand years has been learning "the exceeding sinfulness of sin." Its downward tendency in every sense of the word. Every form of government has been tried in an endeavor to secure the greatest amount of blessing. But the uniform results have been that those exalted to place and influence and power have proved themselves unequal to the opportunities and temptations of the positions and have abused them selfishly. Whoever is acquainted with history realizes the truthfulness of all this. If some of us have hoped that the general education of the masses and the general enlightenment of the race would abolish sin and selfishness and demonstrate the truthfulness of the Proverb, "Honesty is the best policy," we are willing to confess that this has been a mistake. We perceive that the greater the wisdom and intelligence granted to a selfish mind and heart the greater will be its opportunities for evil and ineluctable thereto.

Every Man Against His Neighbor. As a consequence the world is losing confidence in itself. All, whether politicians, judges or governors, great or small, of one nation or another, are accused of being tarred with the same stick of selfishness. The Bible clearly indicates that this distrust is not without reason and that the great time of trouble soon to come upon every nation (Daniel xii, 1) will be the direct result of this loss of confidence. The Bible's description of the matter briefly summed up is, Every man's hand shall be against his neighbor (Zechariah viii, 10; xiv, 13). It will be after that great time of trouble shall have thoroughly sickened humanity as respects honesty and any hopes it might have had of bringing about a Millennium by its own efforts—that God will manifest his Kingdom in the top of the mountains—higher than all other Kingdoms every way, and all people shall flow toward it. As it is written, "The desire of all peoples shall come" (Haggai ii, 7).

This is described in the verse following our text which reads, "And many people shall go and say, Come ye, let us go up to the mountain (Kingdom) of the Lord, to the house (temple) of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his way, and we will walk in his paths; for out of Zion (the spiritual unseen Kingdom of Messiah) shall go forth the Law and the Word of the Lord from Jerusalem (the seat of earth's empire to be). And he shall judge among the nations (rewarding and punishing justly), and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." All Christians agree that these words apply to the Messiah's Kingdom. They tell us clearly and distinctly of how the judgments of the Lord will be abroad in the earth, causing wars to cease and the knowledge of the Lord to fill the whole earth as the waters cover the great deep (Isaiah xi, 9).

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

A CORNER IN ANCESTORS By FRANCIS COWLES Jenks Family

The Jenks family in America came from England; but the name came from Wales, so probably the first Jenkses in England came also from that country. Jenks is one of the scores or more names that are derived from John and is the Welsh form for the phrase, John's son. John has been a favorite name with English speaking peoples, as well as with all the rest of the world and from time immemorial there have been so many Johns that it has been necessary to qualify them in some way to distinguish them from each other. The many Kings who bore the name of John were surnamed "the Fearless," "the Bold," "the Constant," and so forth, according to their characteristics or appearance. And so it became necessary to give the Johns among the ordinary run of humanity their names. The little ones called Little Johns, those who owned big apples were called Applejohns and so on through the whole list—Upjohn, Michlejohn, Jennings, Janes, Jones, Joanes, Jenkyn, Jinkins, Jenkinson and half a dozen others. And the various sons of these various Johns, called Johnson, Jenson, Janson and in Wales Jenks. Just when the Jenckes or Jenks family was established in England nobody knows. Joseph Jenckes, who was born in 1603, established the family on this continent; but not very much is known of him before he came to America. He lived at Hamersmith, not very far from London and when he was 41 years old he took a ship to Massachusetts. This was in 1643; two years later he is first heard of in Lynn, working as a blacksmith in the iron works there. Joseph was married before he left England and had several children. The descendants of these children retained the spelling of the name which Joseph himself preferred—Jenckes. They settled in Rhode Island, where they are still flourishing. So really the Jenckes family and the Jenks family in the United States are descended from the same ancestor and are only two branches of the same family. Joseph was married a second time and when he and his wife, Elizabeth, died they left five children: Deborah, William, Samuel, John and Daniel. These children spelled their names Jenks. They all married and had children and all became valued and respected citizens in the regions where they settled down. Daniel, the youngest son, was the best known of the Jenks of his generation. John of the third generation held a captain's commission in the militia. He was the son of Joseph's son John; he was thrice married and was blessed with 19 children. One of these many children was named Samuel and was born in 1732. Samuel lived at different times at Lynn, Newton, Boston, Medford and Cambridge. Samuel's son William, who was born at Newton, Mass., and educated at Harvard college, became a minister. He began his work at Boston and in 1818 became the first seaman's preacher there and in connection with his work among the sailors became very well known. He was also editor of a comprehensive commentary and was one of the founders of the American Orphan Society. John Henry, a son of William, was for many years the editor of Thomas' Old Farmer's Almanac and also a well-known publisher of Boston. The Jenks family has intermarried with many of the prominent old families of the land. Some of the earlier generations married into the Hall, the Hayden, the Barry, the Allen, the Butler, the Freeman, the Sargent and the Pitman families. Some of the families with which the Jenckes have allied themselves more lately are the Merritts, the Papes, the Mankins, the Wrights and the Angiers. Abigail, Susanna, Hannah, Katherine, Nathaniel, Samuel, Richard, Frederick, Theodore and Henry are some of the names oftenest chosen by members of the Jenks family. The Jenks arms are blazoned: Vart, a griffin segreant or. The crest is: Out of a ducal coronet or, a griffin's head proper.

CLEANING OF BLACK GOODS How to Treat a Frock of This Color When Old or When Spotted and Dusty. Where black must be worn in summer, as for mourning, it is hard to keep it from getting gray and dusty looking. A frock must be well shaken as soon as it is taken off, and the hem of the skirt gone over with a stiff brush. Then dust carefully with a fine whisk, using a soft velvet brush or piece of black crepe for silk or not trimmings. This treatment should be insisted upon where a maid is kept, and otherwise should be done by the wearer. When the habit is once established it does not take long, and a frock is always ready when needed. If the material has grown gray or shiny it can be freshened by wiping off with alcohol. This is particularly good for black hats, and does not hurt crepe if carefully applied. Where black goods are much spotted they can be cleaned with common brown soap—such as is used in the kitchen. Sponge well with a thick suds of the soap, rinse and press on the wrong side or under a thick cloth to prevent shininess. When mud stains remain on a black skirt after careful brushing they can often be removed by rubbing with half a raw potato. Do not use ammonia to clean black goods. This is a common cleanser, but makes the material, especially woolens, rusty. Cottons or linsens are apt to turn gray unless carefully washed. Black starch should be used.

STYLES FOR THE LITTLE ONES Three Pretty Ideas That Are Not Beyond Skill of the Home Dressmaker. The little frock on left is in a delicate shade of mode silk, cashmere, trimmed with bands of brown satin, fastened to the material with brown silk. Brown satin-covered buttons trim the front box plait. In the center is a misses' modish coat suit of dark blue serge, with platings of black satin used on seams as indicated in cut. The deep shawl collar and turned cuffs are also of black satin. On the right is shown a little frock of checked gingham, a one-piece affair, with plaited front. Pulses on sides is confined with wide bands of plain material, matching that used on front and for shaped cuffs. Smoked pearl buttons furnish additional decoration.

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it? If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful. Hudson, Ohio.—"I suffered for a long time from weakness, inflammation, dreadful pains each month and suppression. I had been doctoring and receiving only temporary relief, when a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and wrote to you for advice. I have faithfully followed your directions and now, after taking only five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, I have every reason to believe I am a well woman. I give you full permission to use my testimonial." Mrs. Lena Carmoelino, Hudson, Ohio. R. F. D. No. 7. St. Regis Falls, N. Y.—"Two years ago I was so bad that I had to take to my bed every month, and it would last from two to three weeks. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am happy to say that I am cured, thanks to your medicine and good advice. You may use my letter for the good of others." Mrs. J. E. Breyere, St. Regis Falls, N. Y. There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical. For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

KELLY

Miss Hattie Matthews and Misses Leslie and Bertha Kelly and Mr. Leon Matthews spent Sunday with Miss Hattie Fooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Powell received a very nice present this week. It is a boy.

Mr. Cleveland Davis died Sunday night of typhoid fever and was buried at Mt. Olive Church, Monday. Aged about 24 years.

The farmers have their toder all saved now and in very fine condition.

It is a shame to think that our county roads are growing up in briars and weeds, so that the school children cannot go to school of mornings on account of getting wet.

OYSTERS IN WIGOMICO.

A Good Supply And Better Prices Expected. A New Packing House.

You can have oysters now until the R's drop off the calendar months again. The edible bivalves are in fair conditions with prospects good all around for a fine season. The oyster packing houses in this county which will operate this season include: W. J. Oatlin and Brother, at White Haven, and Capt. Wm. K. Leatherbury, who will open his fine new house in Salisbury. This will be the first time in many years that an oyster house has been operated here.

The opening of the oyster house here will give employment to a large number of people. Capt. Leatherbury will begin putting up oysters for shipment just as soon as he finishes packing tomatoes.

One of the largest shippers of shell oysters in the County is Capt. Robert F. Walter and he expects to do a large business this year. He has several hundred thousand bushels of oysters on his beds and he says they are in fine condition.

City Council Proceedings.

The City Council was in session Monday evening and transacted the following business:

The clerk was instructed to insert in the newspapers notices to the property owners on William and Isabella Streets that ordinances have been prepared for the grading, curbing and a draining of these streets. The work on William street will extend from the East side of North Division Street to Poplar Hill Avenue; and on Isabella St., from the tracks to the B. C. and A. Railway to Railroad Avenue. The said ordinances provides that the cost of the work on said streets is to be paid for by assessing one half of the expenses on the abutting property in proportion to the frontage of said property on said streets, and the other half of the cost, together with the total cost for street intersections, to be paid by the Mayor and Council of Salisbury. These ordinances are to be passed by the Council of Salisbury on Monday the 3rd day of October, 1910, at a special meeting called for that purpose at the City Hall, Salisbury, on the said date, convening at 7.30 o'clock, p. m. All persons in any way interested in the subject matter of said Ordinances are notified to appear before the Council. These advertisements will be found in this issue.

The clerk was instructed to notify the Salisbury Light, Heat and Power Co., and Diamond State Telephone Co., to remove their poles on Newton Street and relocate them as may be designated by P. S. Shockley, the engineer in charge of the work of improving Newton St.

A delegation of property owners on Main Street extended appeared before the Council and urged the building of a sewer for the use of the houses in that section. The Council instructed Engineer Shockley to examine the properties and report as to the best methods of providing the sections with sewers.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY CO., Toledo, O.

Features of Bournemouth Meet

DUROY FLYING OVER THE SEA AT NICK

ONE flying meeting is much like another in regard to the nature of the competitions for which prizes are offered. Of the seven events announced for the Bournemouth flying meeting in July, two only are at all out of the ordinary; but the achievement of that much originally is certainly something that reflects great credit on the organizers, for considerable sums of money are necessary not only for prize funds, but likewise for engaging flying-men; consequently one has not unlimited financial resources, and the public certainly is always interested to read about—though not necessarily to see—a monotonous long-distance competition, while it delights to behold the speed competition and the high flights, also the tests for the rising from the ground in the shortest distance and for weight-carrying. There are thus five events, which are almost inevitable in the case of any flying meeting held over a closed course, as distinct from any of a cross-country character. We come, therefore, to a consideration of the two points of novelty. In the first, one seems to see the hand of Mr. V. J. Casserly, for this is an alighting competition for aviators who come down nearest a given spot after having stopped the engine at a given height in the air. It will be seen at once that, if properly carried out, such a test as this has its usefulness as well as its sporting side. It makes for efficiency in pilotage; also the machine that can land nearest a given spot at any time must necessarily be one safer to handle than those that are not so readily manageable. The details of the manner in which this competition will be arranged are not published; but I learn that the scheme is to allow the pilots to approach the target, as it were, from any direction they desire. Observers will be stationed at positions where the motor must be completely shut off, so that the aeroplane becomes a glider and, in fact, in the same condition that it would be, if, for any reason, in the course of a cross-country flight the engine had suddenly failed to work. The space on which the machine is to alight will be marked out in a series of colors. Each flyer will have three tries a day, and the man who makes the best average will be adjudged the winner. Thus an aviator who comes third on the second performance, then one who comes on the center spot, once on the third innermost line, once on the outermost line, once, because the average of the former will be better. By this means, too, lucky "fukes" will be avoided.

There is another point about such a competition as this, namely, that it provides a type of event that can be conducted at periods when the flying-men do not feel disposed to go to the major events. The great difficulty in conducting flying meetings in the past has been that aeroplanists come out only when it suits them, and these hours are usually the most inopportune to the spectators. One of the chief points on which the organizers of the Bournemouth meeting are concentrating attention is the endeavoring to arrive at some means by which, provided the weather is fair, they may guarantee that the spectators shall always see flying of some sort. Another feature of the Bournemouth meeting that is not usual at flying competitions is the offering of a prize for the flyer who takes the longest time in making one lap of a course. This is really a most meritorious scheme, because anything of a fast nature can be sustained in the air if it is set at a slight and very fast enough through it, whereas, very few merit in the matter of efficiency is proved by the aeroplanist that can fly slowest. To say that, of course, is not necessarily to argue that such a competition as shall be provided at Bournemouth will necessarily bring out that machine on which the highest efficiency is best. For example, if a flyer comes forward with a machine of very large surface fitted with a comparatively light motor and ordinarily designed to carry great weight, and if he has only a few gallons of fuel in his machine and merely himself on board, it would be possible for that machine to lift in the air at comparatively a very slow speed, whereas a Santos-Dumont monoplane or a cross-channel type of biplane with small lifting surfaces must necessarily go fast through the air. Nevertheless, the fact that there is only one prize for this competition and that that is only £100, is a good guarantee that it will not be worth any one's while to build or to "take" a machine specially to win that money. On the contrary, we may expect a purely sporting competition, in which all the various flyers will take part in good-natured fashion. Those who are really concerned about Britain's position in this new science of aerial navigation will find the chief interest in the Bournemouth meeting attaching to the performance of British amateur flyers, of whom there are a sufficiently goodly number already to ensure that at least four, if not half a dozen, will make a big reputation and quite surprise the general public by their ability.

At the annual general meeting of the Aeronautical Society of Great Britain the members passed, by a very large majority, a resolution to the effect that an executive or general purpose committee be constituted to relieve the self-elected council of a portion of the routine work and details of management that should now be borne by the members of the society themselves, and that such a committee should be elected by the members, one-half of the committee to retire yearly. In other words, the members have resolved that it is time that the constitution of the society, which was quite adequate at the time of its inception about 40 years ago, should be adapted to modern requirements. This, of course, is cause for congratulation, for proud as we all are of possessing the oldest scientific aeronautical body in the world, none can have failed to notice the dire need that exists for galvanizing it into life by the adoption of such a forward movement as has been indicated. The duties of the society concern the pursuit of the strictly scientific side of aeronautics. The other major bodies concerned with the movement of aerial navigation support this that labor and acknowledge its right to that province.

H. MASSACHUSETT.

POOR SYSTEM OF FARMING

Agriculturists in Palestine Cling to Primitive and Highly Undesirable Custom.

Consul Wallace, at Jerusalem, writes as follows of agricultural methods of today in Palestine: "The land is rented and farmed in a primitive way, which is unprofitable to both landlord and tenant alike. The lands are rented for one-third of the crop produced. After the harvest the grain is immediately threshed. The tithes, which are one-fourth of the whole crop, and then the remainder is divided, the landlord receiving his one-third share.

"The farmer has generally pledged a good portion of the expected crop, actually selling it at a greatly reduced price for the purpose of securing money in advance for his necessities. If grain is one dollar a bushel, on an advance to him of $100 he will agree to deliver to the party who advances the money 130 or 140 bushels of grain after the harvest. Should the crop fall it is carried over to the next year, but under a new contract in which 50 per cent is added to the original amount.

"The native farmers of the plains live in villages and under a communal system calculated to destroy every incentive for the improvement of the land. It is apportioned by lot every three years, and each person is free to do as he pleases with his portion. In some of the communities each village or family owns a portion of the farm lands. The original farm is subdivided among the survivors in each succeeding generation until eventually it is in very small patches.

"The farmer classes have no realising sense of the injustice done them in matters of business. They are thus kept destitute and poor, and can hardly provide themselves with the common necessities of life. The tools and implements used by them are little different from those used by the patriarchs."

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE Farms and Timber

Under and by virtue of authority from the heirs of James H. West, the undersigned will sell by public auction in front of the store of Charles Bowden, in Pittsville, Maryland, on Saturday, September 24th., 1910.

at two o'clock p. m., the real estate following:

Who Failed

By Virginia Blair

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press

"It's all up with me," Safford said, dully. "I have lost my money and I have lost the girl."

Dunham smoked in sympathetic silence. "If she is worth her salt she won't let you give her up."

"I shan't leave the decision to her," Safford said, quickly. "I wrote her this morning that I couldn't drag her down to poverty. Besides she couldn't love a man who has failed."

"Oh, look here," Dunham expostulated. "You haven't failed in anything except an investment that has taken all your money. But you've got your profession."

"Yes," Safford laughed, bitterly, "and do you know what that means, Dunham? I have got to make a good appearance before the world. I have got to keep my office up, and my automobiles—although everything I have is mortgaged up to the limit. It's all very well for a man living alone to economize, but you can't ask a woman to do a thing like that."

"Then don't try to bluff me," Dunham advised, bluntly. "We'd up your affairs and start in a humble way in a different neighborhood."

"No," was the stubborn reply. "Do you think Margaret Dare would care to marry a man that the world called a failure? She is too proud for that."

"She is a loving woman before she is a proud one," was Dunham's shrewd estimate.

"She is loving," a light came into Safford's eyes, then flickered and died—"but I can't take advantage of her affection, Dunham."

"You have already taken advantage of it," Dunham said, quietly. "You won her love knowing that your investments were uncertain."

"But I was so sure," Safford said. "There was the doubt," Dunham insisted. "There is always a doubt when a man puts money into gold mines. And you were too busy looking after other people's illings to watch the men who were managing your affairs. It isn't your fault that you lost—but it is your money stand between us."

"It is not a little thing," "Oh," she flung out her hands. "Do you think I am made only for ease, for softness? Do you think that I am a woman who can't work by your side—who wouldn't be glad to show you how I can help?"

"But you don't know," he told her, "what it means. If I take you into my life the world must know that I have failed. But I could not let you suffer."

"Oh," her eyes blazed. "It is your pride, not your love for me, that stands between us."

"No," he said. "It is not that; but I have failed, Margaret."

She saw the pain in his eyes, the working of his strong features, and she gave a little cry. "Let me help, dear heart; let me help."

For just one moment he gathered her into his arms.

Then he said: "There is no other way, dearest. I must win the money back, and I can't ask you to spend all your youth in waiting."

"Why shouldn't I wait?" she asked quickly. "There never will be any other man, Philip."

He looked at her. "I am a man who has failed," he repeated bitterly. "She averted toward him a little. "Do you call it failure," she demanded, "simply because you have lost a little money? If you had failed to answer the call of those who suffer; if you had neglected the boy with the broken leg or the baby who is going blind—that would have been failure. If you had refused to go where there was contagion—that would have been failure."

He looked at her in amazement. Was this the gentle, little girl whom he had loved with a half-indulgent love—this wonder-woman with the inspired bearing?

"Margaret," he whispered, and his voice wavered.

"Your life and mine," she went on, "must be dedicated to those who need us. The poor need you more than the rich. Then let us go to them—we will live quietly in a downtown district. You shall grow old in service, and I will shine in your reflected light."

"Dreams," he murmured. She came and knelt beside him. "Aren't they dreams worth making true?" she said.

"There would be love and service in our home, and that would be success."

"Dearest," he said.

After that there wasn't much to say. But when a little later he left her, Margaret knew she had won.

The next morning he said to Dunham: "I shall marry Margaret. Maybe we are a pair of fools, but we are going to try living for humanity—I shall practise among the poor."

Dunham stared, then dropped his hands on the other's shoulders. "Old fellow," he said, and his voice deepened and broke; "old fellow, last night you said you were a man who had failed, but we would all court failure for a future like that—of love and service and happiness with Margaret Dare."

The grumbler is a very unwelcome person. He is in a constant state of displeasure with everything in general and with himself in particular; it is a reputation that few of us envy or covet, and one that if care be not used in the daily attitude toward life, will grow upon us until we are the slaves of a disagreeable habit.

Wise Little Miss.

Educated mice are not altogether uncommon about the cockpit and its office buildings, but Congressman Rodenberg of Illinois says that those that inhabit his room are more learned than any others. "You know my word is good?" said Rodenberg, indicating that the story he was about to tell was a bit fishy. "Well, when my secretary and I were looking over the seeds that came to us from the agricultural department, we were on the verge of doing some tall cussing at the mice that gnawed a hole in the corner of nearly every package. Now, you know, the large envelopes contain several smaller seed packages, and I want to tell you, our wrath gave place to admiration when, after opening several of the large packages, we found that none of the small packages in any of them had been touched except the packages of lettuce seed. I'll wager something pretty that there isn't another member of congress who has mice in his room that are trained as well as that."—Washington Correspondence St. Louis Star.

Saved by Father's Breath.

Extricated from beneath a load of hay, to all appearances dead, a 15-year-old boy, Fred Crockett of Potter's Bar, Middlesex, England, owes the preservation of his life to the breath which his father blew into his lungs. The boy was swinging on the end of a cart of hay standing unhorsed by the side of a rick, when it suddenly overturned, completely burying him. Some children gave the alarm, and the boy's father hurried to the rescue. Some time elapsed, however, before the boy was dragged from under the hay, apparently dead. The father adopted a method of revival which he had used on animals in extremis. "I drew his mouth into mine," he explained, "and blew with all my strength, getting my wind into the boy's lungs." A neighbor took turns when the father's breath was exhausted. After ten minutes they noticed a twitching of the muscles of the child's face, and the heart was felt to beat. For two days he remained unconscious at the cottage hospital.

"As if you could get rid of me," she said, and lifted her face for his kiss.

"Don't," he said hoarsely.

She turned very white. "Do you mean," she said slowly, "that you are going to let a little thing like losing
