MISS EDNA LAWS OF DISTRICT 3 LEADING IN TO-DAY'S STANDING

SMITH SEES VICTORY

Miss Edna Laws, of District No. 3, has jumped right into the field and in today's standing she is leading the list. Miss Edna Laws has the second highest number of votes, although she is second in her district. Miss Katherine Lucas has been leading around town this week among her friends, consequently she is the leader in her district. Miss Miriam Trader also has a large circle of friends who are going to assist her in her vote getting campaign. Miss Margaret Dickerson is still making good in her district and Miss Theresa Whyland has also made some rapid strides this week. The contest promises to be very exciting from now on and there will be some very close competition between the different contestants and between the parties.

MISS EDNA LAWS OF DISTRICT 3 LEADING IN TO-DAY'S STANDING

Several new contestants are going to enter this week and several nominations have come into the office which the contest manager will take care of as early as possible. It isn't too late to start now and new candidates will jump into the field all along. The contest manager will be glad to receive the names of all those who desire to be candidates at all times and will advise them in every way possible.

SMITH SEES VICTORY

There seem to be few about the outcome of this fight. The plan proposed with me; the independent are with me, and the party is called and solidly behind the ticket. And each day the Democratic ticket is gathering strength. I look for an overwhelming victory in November and I am not generally classed as a rainbow chaser nor do I usually indulge in political predictions.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ELECTION RETURN

STRONG POSITION TAKEN

Mr. L. W. Gandy, formerly Adjutant General of Democratic Ticket, has taken a strong position in the election return. Business Block All Rented

As a sign of the progress of Salisbury and as an evidence that Main Street is not the only place where business can be transacted is represented by the report that the three-story brick block on E. Church Street erected by Messrs. A. F. Fooks and J. W. Kelly is now rented from cellar to garret. On the Church street side the Messrs. Collins, milliners and D. J. Hastings, family groceries, occupy the two stories. On Broad street the two stories are occupied by M. Snyder, merchant tailor, and Mr. White family groceries.

STEEL TRUST BACK OF T. R. TRUST PLAN

Charge Challenged, Gov. Wilson Returns With Prompt and Convincing Answer.

COUNTRY WAITED FOR CLASH

Wondered if it was to produce a Parallel of Parker Episode—More Proof if it is Wanted.

When the country read on the morning of Oct. 8 the charge of Woodrow Wilson before his audiences in Colorado that the steel trust is back of the Roosevelt program of trust regulation and in the same papers Colonel Roosevelt's demand for proof of the assertion it set up and took notice. Would this produce a parallel of the famous episode of the 1904 campaign, when the colonel called Judge Parker a liar for asserting (what has been so recently proved) that the corporations were contributing to the Roosevelt campaign?

There was eager waiting for Governor Wilson's answer. It came promptly the next day in his speech at Kansas City. Concisely, convincingly and unambiguously Governor Wilson met the Roosevelt challenge, and should the controversy be pressed further the Democratic candidates will give the bull more all he wants, for the corroboration whereof he spoke is abundant.

Wilson's Charge.

At Pueblo, the center of the western steel industry, Governor Wilson said: "Evidence of what I am about to say comes to me by way of corroboration every day in forms that I cannot question. It is a very interesting circumstance that the United States Steel corporation is behind the third party program with regard to the regulation of the trusts."

"Now, I do not say that to prejudice you. I am perfectly ready to admit that the officers of that corporation may think that the third party is the best thing for the United States. That is not my point. My point is that these gentlemen have grown up in the atmosphere of the things they themselves have created and that the laws of the United States so far have attempted to destroy the things that they have created and that they now want a government which will perpetuate the things they have created."

"You therefore have to choose now a government such as the United States Steel corporation thinks the United States ought to have or a government such as we used to have before these gentlemen succeeded in setting up private monopoly."

Roosevelt's Challenge.

At Albany, N. Y., Roosevelt upon reading reports of Wilson's speech said: "I know the statement has no foundation in fact. It is no business to make a statement unless he has the proof. He has any proof I demand he make it public immediately. He has not let him retract as the only main thing to do."

Wilson's "Retort Courteous."

The next night Governor Wilson in his reply before the great audience that greeted him in Kansas City:

"I understand from the newspaper reports that Mr. Roosevelt was distressed by my suggestion the other day that the United States Steel corporation was back of his plan for controlling the trusts. He interpreted my remark to mean that they were supporting him with their money. I was not thinking about money."

"I do not know whether they are supporting him with their money or not. It does not make any difference. What I meant was that they are supporting him with their thought, and their thought is not our thought. I meant, and I say again, that the kind of control which he proposes is the kind of control that the United States Steel corporation wants."

"I am perfectly willing to admit that I think it is the best for the country. My point is that this is a method conceived from the point of view of the men who are to be controlled and that is just the wrong point of view from which to conceive it."

"Mr. Roosevelt is willing to have the trusts suggest how the corporation is to be regulated why will he not be willing to take suggestions from the same quarters as to the details of the regulation? Mark you, ladies and gentlemen, I am not discussing individuals. I know Mr. George Perkins. I have no quarrel with anything except his judgment. He does not look at these things in the way men who do not wish to accustom their minds to monopoly look at them."

There should be an immediate revision of the tariff downward. It should be with the schedules most obviously needed to kill competition and raise the standard of living. It should be extended to every item which affords an opportunity for monopoly and advantage until special favors have been absolutely withdrawn. The laws of taxation transformed into a system of just and reasonable charges which shall fall where they will create the least burden."

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Hall of the Chevaliers. The report of the capture of the Black Seigneur spread from Mount to town; from rock to shore. Pilgrims repeated, passants circulated it; many credited; a few disbelieved. Like shadows had his comrades and the escaped prisoners vanished, leaving no trace, save one—an over-crowded car and straggling rags at the foot of the postern, without the fortifications. And looking to that point, of greater interest than shrine or sanctuary, the pilgrims gazed around; down the rocks; up the almost perpendicular plank to what looked like a mere piece-hole in the side of the cliff. Then ominous grumblings escaped them; some shook their hats at the black wall; others scouted at distant sounds of grating ballistics. Had the soldiers that day appeared in the town or on the beach, serious trouble would have ensued. For the time, however, they remained discreetly housed, while supplies for pilgrims' needs were, by the commandant's orders, so curtailed, many of the indigent multitude, urged by pined stomachs, began, ere night, to weed their way from strand to shore. But as they left the vicinity of the Mount, they turned last looks of hatred toward the rock.

His Excellence, the Governor, wasted no time considering the humor of the masses; their excitement, or clamor, signified nothing; his only complimentary left little room for speculation on that score. He was undeniably satisfied; even the escape of the prisoners and the loss of the soldiers at the guard-house, or in the west-room, was overshadowed by the single capture. This achievement, however, he kept to himself; he issued a rigorous inquiry, and prepared to punish certain offenders. But the principal of these he could not reach; when released from the iron cage, the hunchback, knowing he would be called upon to answer for his part in the night's work, had made the best use of his short legs to place a long distance between himself and the Mount.

The sentinel that allowed the Black Seigneur to pass through the entrance near the barracks; the watchman encountered on the stairway; the soldier that had been overpowered in the stable, his Excellency could, however, lay hands on, and promptly ordered into custody to await his official attention. For this last culprit, the commandant—mindful, perhaps, of bolstering his own position—interested; pointing out that the man had to get the gag from his mouth and give the alarm; also, that the mountebank's appearance and acting had been calculated to deceive even one of the governor's discernment. Which remark his Excellency had received with sputter-like, and not altogether reassuring, gravity; had reserved his verdict, and continued, after his own fashion, to collect the details of the affair.

The searching process should have led him almost once to his daughter—a puzzling figure in the mass of events; but the Governor had exhibited no haste in approaching that important witness. Only when he had marshaled his other testimony and put it in order did the scope of his sifting extend to the girl. And then had his manner been strictly judicial; maintaining an imperturbable mask, he professed not to notice the pallor of her face, the unnatural brightness of her glance.

"When you sent for the mountebank to come to your apartments, did you know who he was?" the Governor asked.

"No."

"When did you find out?"

"When you entered the room."

"Why did you not give the alarm then?"

"Because," she hesitated; her face changed, "he would have killed you, if I think—I think he would have killed me!"

"Was the solicitude for me the only reason?"

"Why, what other could there be?"

"What other, truly? And after he left with the commandant—why did you not, then, inform me?"

"You remember you had something important, from the King, to consider," hastily.

"More important than this?"

"He was going to be locked up," was the best reply she could make. "And in the morning set free!"

She did not answer.

"And yet, you gave the word that enabled us to capture him at the wheel-house. How, by the way, came you there—in the wheel-house?"

"I saw him from the abbott's bridge; heard him tell the watchman he had a message to deliver at your palace, and followed."

"Again feeling solicitude for me?"

"I did not know—I would dare much; and what does it matter now?" almost wildly. "You have captured him, shut him up somewhere in some terrible, deep dungeon, where—"

"He is safe! True; that is the main consideration."

Thereafter had the subject of the Black Seigneur been dropped between them; the pilgrimage over, the Mount resumed its normal aspect, but only for a little while! One day about a week later, a bright cortege whose appearance was in marked contrast to that of the beggarly multitude, late visitors to the rock, came rattling down through the forest to the sea; at the verge of the sands, stopped for a first distant impression of the rock.

"Noble monument, I salute you!" Smiling, debonair, the Marquis de Beauvilliers removed his hat.

"And the noble mistress thereof suggested one of his trials."

Diagram, Please. A New York woman took her husband's clothes from him for the purpose of preventing him from "going out with the boys." He went, just the same. Is such a husband worth saving?

"Don't Ointment cured me of eye ma that had annoyed me for a long time. The result was lasting"—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, August, 1902.

And I have not opposed you—the King.

"Opposed? Not of course not!" "Then," those hurriedly, "must you do something in return for me? I do not want my—my wedding festivities—marred by anything unpleasant! Promise that nothing will happen to him the Black Seigneur, until after—"

"Impossible!" The sudden violence her unexpected request awoke could not be concealed.

"Very well!" Before the anger in his gaze, her own eyes flashed like steel. "In that case, you can send the Marquis back! For I will not see him—today, tomorrow or any other time again!"

Long he looked at her; the white face; the tightly compressed lips; the eyes that would not flinch! They reminded him of another's—were of the same hue—so like, and yet so different! Unlike, in bespeaking a will he could not break! What he said, matters not; his face wore an ashy shade. She did not answer in words; but he felt, with strange bitterness, a revolt; she seemed almost suddenly to have become hostile to him.

Gay voices sounded without; near at hand; she walked to a door opposite the entrance their visitors were approaching. An instant, and she would have passed out, when the Governor spoke.

But the Marquis, stepping quickly in a few moments later, noted nothing amiss between them. "Your Excellency!" With all respect he greeted the Governor. "My Lady!" Gaily, approvingly, his eye passed over her; then in that half-dedicated to diplomacy, a graceful figure, he sank to his knee; raised a small cold hand, and pressed it to his lips.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Under World. A cotillion of brilliant folk soon followed in the wake of my lord, the Marquis returned; half-day banners were succeeded by holiday ribbons; the misere of the multitude by beams of merriment. Hyman, le Hyman! In assuming the leading role to which circumstances now assigned her, the Governor's daughter brought to the task less energy than she had displayed on that other occasion when visitors had sojourned at the rock. Her manner was changed—first, lukewarm; then, almost indifferent; until, at length, one day she fairly waived the responsibility of planning amusements; laid before them the question: "What, now, would they like to do?"

"Deviser a play," said one.

"With shepherds and shepherdesses!"

The Marquis, however, qualified the suggestion. "A masque! that is very good; but for this morning—I have been talking with the commandant—and have another proposal—"

"What is it?"

"To visit the dungeons."

"The dungeons?" My lady's face changed.

"And incidentally inspect their latest guests! Some of you heard of him when we were here before—Le Seigneur Noir—the Black Seigneur!"

"Le Seigneur Noir!" They clapped their hands. "Yes, let us see him! Nothing could be better. What do you say, Elise?"

She started to speak, but for the instant her lips could form no answer; with a faint, strained smile, confronted him, when some one anticipated her reply.

"Did she not leave it to us? It is we who decide."

And a merry party they swept along, bearing her with them; up the broad stairway, cold, gray in the morn; beneath the abbott's bridge—black, spying spurs—to the church, and thence to the isolated space before the guard-house to the dungeons. Here, at the sound of their voices, a man, carrying a bunch of keys—but outwardly the antithesis to the hunchback—peered from the entrance.

"Unless I am mistaken, the new galler!" With a wave of his hand, the Marquis indicated this person.

"The commandant was telling me his Excellency had engaged one from Bloeste, or Fort l'Eveque, I believe?"

"Bloeste, my lord!" said the man gravely. "And before that, the Bastille."

"Ah!" laughed the nobleman. "That pretty place some of the foolish people are grumbling about! As if we could do without prisons any more than without palaces! But we have come, my good fellow, to inspect this lower world of yours."

The man's glance passed over the paper the Marquis handed him; then silently he moved aside, and unlocked the iron doors.

"Are you not coming?" At the threshold the Marquis looked back. When first they had approached the guard-house, involuntarily had the Governor's daughter drawn aside to the ramparts; now, with face half-averted, stood gazing on.

"Coming?" Surprised; the Marquis noted her expression; the fixed brightness of her eyes and her parted lips. "Oh, yes!" And turning abruptly, she hastened past him.

Would they have to be locked in?—the half-apprehensive query of one of the ladies caused the jailer at first to hesitate and then to answer in the negative. He would leave the doors from the outer room open, and himself await there the visitors' return. With which reassuring promise, he distributed lights; called a guardman, familiar with the intricate underground passages, and consigned them to his care.

One of the gay procession, the Lady Elise stepped slowly forward; the guide proved a talkative fellow, and seemed anxious to answer their many inquiries concerning the place. The sale de la question! Yes, it existed; but the ancient torture devices for the "interrogatory ordinary" and the "is-

"Deviser a play," said one.

"With shepherds and shepherdesses!"

The Marquis, however, qualified the suggestion. "A masque! that is very good; but for this morning—I have been talking with the commandant—and have another proposal—"

"What is it?"

"To visit the dungeons."

"The dungeons?" My lady's face changed.

"And incidentally inspect their latest guests! Some of you heard of him when we were here before—Le Seigneur Noir—the Black Seigneur!"

"Le Seigneur Noir!" They clapped their hands. "Yes, let us see him! Nothing could be better. What do you say, Elise?"

She started to speak, but for the instant her lips could form no answer; with a faint, strained smile, confronted him, when some one anticipated her reply.

"Did she not leave it to us? It is we who decide."

And a merry party they swept along, bearing her with them; up the broad stairway, cold, gray in the morn; beneath the abbott's bridge—black, spying spurs—to the church, and thence to the isolated space before the guard-house to the dungeons. Here, at the sound of their voices, a man, carrying a bunch of keys—but outwardly the antithesis to the hunchback—peered from the entrance.

"Unless I am mistaken, the new galler!" With a wave of his hand, the Marquis indicated this person.

"The commandant was telling me his Excellency had engaged one from Bloeste, or Fort l'Eveque, I believe?"

"Bloeste, my lord!" said the man gravely. "And before that, the Bastille."

"Ah!" laughed the nobleman. "That pretty place some of the foolish people are grumbling about! As if we could do without prisons any more than without palaces! But we have come, my good fellow, to inspect this lower world of yours."

The man's glance passed over the paper the Marquis handed him; then silently he moved aside, and unlocked the iron doors.

"Are you not coming?" At the threshold the Marquis looked back. When first they had approached the guard-house, involuntarily had the Governor's daughter drawn aside to the ramparts; now, with face half-averted, stood gazing on.

"Coming?" Surprised; the Marquis noted her expression; the fixed brightness of her eyes and her parted lips. "Oh, yes!" And turning abruptly, she hastened past him.

Would they have to be locked in?—the half-apprehensive query of one of the ladies caused the jailer at first to hesitate and then to answer in the negative. He would leave the doors from the outer room open, and himself await there the visitors' return. With which reassuring promise, he distributed lights; called a guardman, familiar with the intricate underground passages, and consigned them to his care.

THE CAMPAIGN.
Tuesday will mark the close of one of the most remarkable political battles this country has ever witnessed. An attempt has been made by each of the three leading parties to find an issue which the others would be compelled to face, but the end is like the beginning and sees no question big enough to be regarded as of paramount importance. The tariff will sway some, the initiative, referendum and recall others, but the fact will remain that most of the voters will cast their votes on Tuesday influenced by other things.

The main thing the people seem to consider is what may be termed the moral side of politics. During the past few years so much corruption in Public Affairs has been exposed, that the eyes of the country have become focused on this, and the other issues brought out are only important in their bearing on the betterment of this condition. Investigation after investigation has brought to light evidence of a working agreement between our Public men and selfish interests. This fact has been made known all over the land and driven home in every State of the Union. This condition has made the campaign turn more or less from a discussion of mere issues to one of men.

As a result we have witnessed a flood of oratory and an avalanche of written matter dealing chiefly with personalities. In this fight party lines have been broken, no paramours issue being found strong enough to weld them in a solid mass. The character and ability of the various candidates will probably be the strongest force behind the votes cast on Tuesday. As an indication that this is the true situation, the business of the country is not being disturbed by the political agitation, but is continuing along in the same prosperous manner as it would if no election were near. There is not the slightest sign of fear of a business depression resulting from the success or defeat of any of the parties. The people of the country this year want a man who is honest and sincere, capable and efficient, and most in addition to these be fearless in the battle now on between the people and those who seek to control public affairs in their own interest. A man who will aid the people in reclaiming their rights and privileges, now threatened by corrupt political machines allied with selfish men.

A man who believes the light of day should shine through all public transactions thus making impossible those secret understandings which can not stand the penetrating light of publicity. In a situation like this, it is but natural that the attention of the voter should be mainly turned upon the personality of the candidates, for they must determine which of the three is most likely to live up to the moral requirements of the time.

We place this question before the voters of this county, which of the three, Woodrow Wilson, Wm. H. Taft or Theodore Roosevelt, will they choose for their captain in this great contest?
Mr. Taft is given the credit for being honest and sincere, but has he the necessary backbone to fearlessly fight this battle? His past course would indicate that he is too prone to trust himself to others; too credulous to shut the gates in those seeking special favors; too sure that it is impossible to turn the cold shoulders to those who for selfish purposes seek his aid. Mr. Roosevelt has the ability and the courage, but is he sincere? Does his past record make one feel that he is not now talking of his love for the people only until after the election? Mr. Roosevelt may be a man to admire and even to love, but not one with whom it is safe to trust power again. His revolutionary ideas of government are sufficient in themselves to make a man who loves his country, tremble for the result if he should be again chosen President.

Mr. Wilson seems to be the man who most nearly represents the needs of the country today. His sincerity is unquestioned. His ability universally acknowledged, his courage unchallengeable. He is on the people's side of the fight. His course while Governor of New Jersey has demonstrated this. He stands for no policy which would for one moment endanger or embarrass the prosperity of the nation, but for many that will prove a blessing to the poor man. The only people who need fear him are the corrupt political machines and the big interests looking for special favors.

Vote for Mr. Wilson and elect a captain courageous and fearless, able and efficient, honest and sincere, to lead the people's fight for right and justice during the next four years.

SPIRIT OF FUN
Rales Supreme On Hallowe'en—City Streets Thronged With Merry Crowds Carrying Noise-Making Devices.
A spirit of carnival reigned Thursday night all over the city. Maskers by the hundreds in costumes ranging from the most fantastic to the most grotesque, thronged the streets both in the downtown section and along the principal highways, exchanging as they passed salutations of mock gravity, heroic scorn or amorous complaisance that was not entirely assumed.

A perfect October night made the festivities jollier than usual. It was the old time Hallowe'en, less the un-pleasant features which for a long time kept the holiday in disrepute. In spite of the enormous crowds which made the sidewalks well nigh impassible from an early hour, there was little disorder and serious trouble was practically absent.
The Eve of All Saints passed off as it should, in the spirit of merriment and pageant, in which everyone has a right to take part.
Of course, there was noise. Horns and rattles being an essential feature of the celebration from time immemorial, the night would hardly have been worth while without a goodly share of the customary tools. The "sticklers" were in evidence, but not used to excess, and fun in general was kept within the bonds of moderation.

In the Foreground of Successful Business

Why? Because it heads the list of business-getters; it wins and holds. Further, it multiplies customers, prospects and selling time; minimizes selling expense, and is "on the job" every minute of your working day. It is as great a factor as you make it. If you haven't a Bell Telephone, give immediate thought to this essential business requisite.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time."

terrogatory extraordinary were no longer pressed into service; the King had ordered them relegated to the shelves of the museum.

"And the Black Seigneur? How have you accommodated him?" "In the petit cell; just to the left of the main entrance."

"I prefer the sunlight," she said hurriedly in a low tone. "It is not cheerful down here! No; do not call the guide—or let the others know. I'll return alone, and—wait for you at the gate-house."

Despite, however, her avowed repugnance for that underworld, my lady showed now no haste to quit it; she merely had the others waiting for her way in the direction they had taken.

But, at length, they asked about the bottles, and, chatting gaily, left their garments almost touched the Governor's daughter; lights played about the gigantic pillars, and like will-o'-the-wisps whisked away.

How long she stood there in the faint suggestion of light, she did not realize; nor when she approached the iron-barred aperture, and what she first said!

"My father hates you, and you—"

"You thought me, then, but a common assassin?" a satirical voice interposed.

From behind the bars came a peevish laugh. "You don't believe me!" she caught her breath.

"Believe? Of course—" "You don't!" she said, and clung tighter to the iron grating.

"Why should your Ladyship want to? What does it matter?" "But it does matter!" wildly.

"Escape?" she cried. "It was death." "And the alternative? My lady preferred to see the outlaw taken—dis like a felon on the gallows!"

"No; so! It was not that." "What then?" His eyes gleamed bright; her own turned; shrunk from them.

"I spoke to my father to try to get your cell changed," she at last found herself irretrievably saying; "but could do nothing."

"I did not bring them—did not want them to come!" "No!"

Anty Drudge Invited to Take an Automobile Ride.

Miss Spic-a-span (Gaily)—"Hello, Anty Drudge! Come take a ride with me!" Anty Drudge—"My! An automobile! How extravagant!"

Miss Spic-a-span—"No, I earned this with my painting. And I do all my own housework. This is washday, but I was through by 12 o'clock. That Fels-Naptha you told me of is like sunshine on a rainy day. Why, the hanging out is the hardest part of my washing."

If time is money, Fels-Naptha will save you money and lots of it every washday. Perhaps you don't consider your time is worth money. But your coal is, and your clothes are, and you certainly value your health.

Fels-Naptha saves your coal or other fuel because it cleanses your clothes in cool or lukewarm water, with no need for a hot fire to heat water or boil your clothes, either in summer or winter.

It saves your clothes because there is no boiling to weaken their fibre and no hard rubbing to wear holes in them. It saves your health because it takes all the back-breaking work out of washday and removes the danger of catching cold from overheated room or steaming suds.

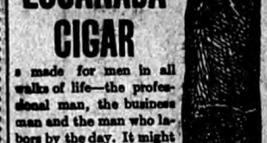

Aren't these things worth saving? If you think so, get Fels-Naptha and use it according to directions on the red and green wrapper.

Look! Look! Look! Why do you go to Philadelphia or New York to buy your Wall Paper or to have your Papering done when you can buy the same kind of Papers and have the same kind of Work done here in Salisbury a little cheaper?

SMOKE TALKS THE ESCANABA CIGAR

made for men in all walks of life—the professional man, the business man and the man who labors by the day. It might well have been named the EVERY MAN'S CIGAR for that is what it is.

Solidly built, fragrant and satisfying even to the most discriminating smoker, the Escanaba is a Cigar that will invariably bring you back and make you a permanent and satisfied customer.

It is sold by dealers everywhere, and in most cases is the biggest selling cigar sold over the counter. Certainly it is the best real value for the money. Try one the next time and satisfy yourself that all we claim for it is true—and then some.

Sold by dealers everywhere, 50¢ a box of 50.

CRY WOLF! WOLF! TO SCARE VOTERS

Smart Managers Depending on Prosperity Plan to Turn Tide to Left.

DEMOCRATS MUST BE ALERT.

National Chairman McCombs Calls Attention of Wilson Supporters to Necessity of Meeting This Unjust Attack.

Democratic National Committee, New York, Oct. 18, 1912.

My Dear Democratic Friend and Co-worker:

The success of the Democratic ticket on Nov. 6 is dependent wholly upon the activities of you loyal working Democrats. And we are depending upon you with absolute confidence. I know that the responsibilities are heavy, but I further know that the results will justify this confidence which we place in you. The way to attain the most effective results is to have each voting district so thoroughly organized that every Democratic voter will be brought to the polls on election day and will vote the Democratic ticket. When elections are lost to the Democrats it is generally because the Democratic vote has not been brought out. Will you surely see to it that all your Democrats vote this year?

Senator Gore, who is chairman of the organization bureau of the national committee, is delighted and enthusiastic about the way the real Democratic workers are getting into the harness, and he feels this same dependence and confidence in you.

"Well, Wolf!"

I take the liberty of calling your attention to a line of attack on us that is being used by the Republicans, and I urge you to guard against and to counteract in your district. They are raising the false and wholly unfounded charge that Democratic success will mean business depression. To show you one way in which they are attempting this line of footing the voters I quote a few sentences from a letter recently got out from their Chicago headquarters which they are now sending the business firms:

"The campaign now in progress has a direct personal interest for you. Upon its result depends the maintenance of the present business prosperity which the country is enjoying. Why sacrifice present prosperity for uncertainty and depression, which a tariff for revenue only would certainly bring?"

That these suggestions are wholly false and are wickedly made to fool the people is evidenced by the fact that with the election a very short time off and with almost every reader and thinker and political observer believing that Wilson and Marshall will be elected, yet practically every line of business is showing extremely marked activity. The railroads are placing heavy orders for new rails and equipment, and their earnings are running ahead of last year by many millions of dollars monthly, wholesale houses are having tremendous demands for goods, the steel mills and factories are full of orders, and bank clearings show heavy gains all over the country. This intense business activity is due to the fact that the business world knows Governor Wilson will do just what he says he will do. His record is one of complete fulfillment of his promises. All well posted business men know that Governor Wilson's election will help rather than disturb business, because they have absolute confidence that he means every word of it when he says:

"WE DON'T WANT TO DISTURB THE INDUSTRY OF THE COUNTRY. * * * THE CHANGES (IN THE TARIFF) WHICH WE MAKE SHOULD BE MADE ONLY AT SUCH A RATE AND IN SUCH A WAY AS WILL LEAST INTERFERE WITH THE NORMAL AND HEALTHFUL COURSE OF COMMERCE AND MANUFACTURE."

To Fool the Voter.

I call your special attention to the fact of these evident conditions of heavy business in the face of the very apparent election of Wilson and Marshall. What does this mean? Simply that the legitimate business world knows that the election of the Democratic ticket means continued and unprecedented prosperity, yet in spite of this the Republican managers make this wicked attack, which, if it has any effect at all, can be only to fool the voters and to create worry and hardship in the minds of some of the people where there is no basis for any feeling except that of happy anticipation of better things to come when our candidates are elected.

Give special attention to this line of attack in order that you may meet it and even go to the aid of the voters in writing these letters, putting their advertisements in the papers and magazines and on the billboards with the unholy purpose of falsely scaring people into voting the Republican ticket.

Please let me know at once if these attacks are having any influence among the people or in any of the communities where you have had occasion to observe.

I myself and the national committee want to co-operate with you, and we want you to help us bring about the greatest Democratic victory this country has ever seen. We do this with the full knowledge that Democratic victory will mean greater business prosperity, greater demands for wage earners and greater opportunities for every person in our nation, with the exception of those who are now enjoying special and unfair privileges under the law. Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM F. M'COMBS,
Chairman Democratic National Committee.

NUGGETS FROM WOODROW WILSON'S SPEECHES.

The Republican party doesn't propose to change any of the essential conditions which mark our present difficulties.

Mr. Roosevelt proposes in his platform not to abolish monopoly, but to take it under the legal protection of the government and to regulate it, to take the very men into partnership who have been making it impossible to carry out these great programs by which all of us wish to help the people.

We don't want to disturb the industry of the country, but to destroy the control over the industry of other people which these men have established and which makes it impossible that we should give ourselves a free field of service.

Tariff schedules have been made for the purpose of keeping as large a number as possible of the rich and influential manufacturers of the country in a good humor with the Republican party which desired their constant financial help.

The Republican party has practically fostered the trusts. The Democratic party proposes to prevent monopoly, and the third party proposes to take monopoly into partnership with the government by accepting it as an inevitable necessity and bringing it under the regulation of law, making it a legalized institution.

ROOSEVELT BAIT FOR SUFFRAGISTS

Third Term Candidate Was Consistently Their Enemy Till He Needed Their Votes.

COULD HAVE CARRIED OHIO.

But, Big Bull Moose Took to the Vermont Woods—Noted Woman Exposes His Change of Front.

BY IDA HUSTED HARPER.

The Progressive party had its first opportunity to show its loyalty to the woman suffrage plank in its platform when the vote was taken in Ohio on a new constitution. Forty-two amendments were on the ballot, and all were adopted except the one for woman suffrage!

Ohio is one of the "banner" Progressive states, and Mr. Roosevelt expects to secure its electoral vote. In order to do this a plurality of the electors must be Progressive, and they could therefore have easily carried the suffrage amendment if all the others had voted against it, as the vote on the constitution was very light, only a few hundred thousand out of more than a million who were eligible. Did he lose any orders to this effect? Did he say to his followers: "Now, here is our first chance to show the women that we mean business. Of course if we win in November we will give the franchise to all in the United States, but just now we can make good by giving it to those in Ohio, so let every Progressive vote for the woman suffrage amendment!" Did he do this? On the contrary, he completely ignored the matter, although he passed through Ohio the very day of the election.

A few days before, at St. Johnsburg, Va., Mr. Roosevelt had devoted a large part of his speech to showing how strongly he believed in the ballot for women and how anxious he was for them to get it. The question was not an issue there or likely to be, but it was a vital issue in Ohio, to be settled in four days, and yet not by spoken or written word did he show to the people of Ohio that he knew of its existence.

Two days after the Progressive party in Ohio permitted the defeat of this amendment its state convention met. If any women were elected delegates the press dispatches failed to mention it, and in the platform a woman suffrage plank was conspicuous by its absence. "The Progressive party pledges itself to the task of securing equal suffrage to men and women alike," says its national platform, and Ohio has just given the first example of the way it apparently means to keep that pledge.

In Mr. Roosevelt's second term the suffragists determined to make every possible effort to secure an indorsement from him. As Miss Susan B. Anthony's most eloquent letters to him received no answer, she went in person to see him in November, 1905, just four months before her death. With all her powers of persuasion she pleaded with him to recommend in his forthcoming message some recognition of woman's claim to a voice in the government. Laying her hand on his arm, she looked up into his face and said, "I beg of you to be the emancipator of woman as Lincoln was the emancipator of the slave." He was not resembling Lincoln so much in those days as he is at present, and he remained totally unmoved by her appeals.

Scant Courtesy at White House. Shortly before he left the White House several officers of the National Suffrage association, realising his great influence on public opinion, made one last effort to have him speak a favorable word. He came into the outside lobby of the executive office, required them to state their business before the crowd waiting to see him and would hardly give them a chance to speak, but kept saying, "Go and get another state." He shrugged his shoulders and turned on his heel, and then they said, "If we will get up a petition of a million names will that influence you?" "No," he replied, "not one particle."

That was in 1909. The next year a letter from him was read at an anti-suffrage meeting in the Berkeley theater, New York, in which he said: "I am very tepid on woman suffrage."

The cause of woman's enfranchisement has no more implacable enemy than the Outlook, and Mr. Roosevelt is on the editorial staff. Last February he had in that magazine a ten column article entitled "Woman's Rights," but the only right considered was that of the suffrage. The article was such an excellent exposition of the attitude of women who do not wish to vote that the Anti-suffrage association ordered copies for distribution. In this article he said again, "In our western states where the suffrage has been granted to women I am unable to see that any great difference has been caused as compared with neighboring states."

And yet just four months after this publication, when Mr. Roosevelt had definitely decided to make the content for the presidential nomination, all his scruples about forcing suffrage on a hostile and indifferent majority vanished in thin air because a million and a half already had votes and the colonel wanted them, and he knew they wouldn't stand for any nonsense about a referendum.

Purse of the Lectures.

The purpose of these lectures is to make known to our non-Catholic friends what the Catholic Church really believes and teaches and to prove to all earnest minded souls that the Catholic Church is the one divine teacher who can tell with absolute certainty the entire revelation of God. The doctrines and practices of the Catholic Church will be explained and proved, in all friendliness and charity. The subjects treated are undoubtedly of vital import to everyone who desires to know with certainty the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Come and hear them, what the old-time Church has to say for herself. Learn her doctrines at first hand. Do not condemn her unheard. If you come in the spirit of Christ you will find her a great upholder of the Rights of God and of man, the one divine teacher to lead your soul to Christ the Lord.

At The Academy of Music

Emma Trentini's new comedy opera, "The Piracy," will be the attraction next week at the New Academy of Music, Baltimore. In this new vehicle Arthur Hammerstein presents the gifted and tireless singer in the role of a street singer. While singing to pennies near a New York amusement pier, where a yacht party is about to sail for Bermuda, she attracts the attention of the guests among whom a young man becomes infatuated with her to such an extent that he offends the young woman to whom he is engaged. The playgoer can easily see why Trentini has been so frequently referred to as "the little devil of grand opera" while she is playing this part. She shows so much life and sings so sweetly in these opening scenes that an audience is willing to believe that the young man is foolish should he not admire her.

In the closing scenes Trentini is introduced to the audience as an opera singer who has returned from unusual success abroad. She is brought to the New York mansion to sing by the German musician, now a prominent impresario. She is recognized by the young man who had fallen in love with her a few years back and, since his engagement has been broken, he is free to return the love which the former street singer has held for him since he met her, dirty and ragged, on the streets of New York. Mildredine Bp. Reward if re-Advertisement.

SCHOOL BOARD

Proceedings—Business Transacted By The Board At Its Last Meeting.

The School Board held a special meeting Saturday evening to consider several important matters. A full Board was present.

County Superintendent Holloway, Commissioners Jones and Price reported having made a tour of inspection of several schools on the Western side of the County on Friday. They visited Westport, Traskin, Southport, Clara, White Haven and Collins' Wharf. Orders were given to trustees to make necessary improvements in the school properties. At Nantux the condition of the colored school building was looked into. This school is in very bad condition, and the Board recommends the sale of the building and the erection of a three-room building. The trustees of the colored school have agreed to donate half an acre of land on the camp grounds and permit the grounds to be used as play grounds for the school children.

The resignation of Miss Margaret Fulton as teacher of the first grade in the Delmar High School was laid before the Board to take effect November the first. Miss Fulton will return to her home in Wilmington. The Board regretted Miss Fulton's resignation, as she was a very efficient teacher.

The Board gave an order for the erection of two fire escapes on the Camden Primary School on Lanes Street.

County Superintendent Holloway reported to the Board that Columbia University, New York City, had conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts, which information is very gratifying to the Board. Mr. Holloway has, for the past few summers, been taking special courses at Columbia to better fit himself for the important work he is doing in the cause of education.

Mr. Edward Russell was appointed trustee of Riverton School to take the place of Mr. Bradley, resigned.

Horse Stolen on Street.

A horse belonging to L. J. Swartz was stolen or taken on Friday October 25th, while aloped in front of the residence of M. W. E. Phillips on South Division Street this city. The horse was a bay horse weighing about 1000 lbs. Bear on right front leg out with wire. He was attached to a cart with harness and Gentry's name on it. Any one who has seen horse and wagon answering above description should immediately call at once with Sheriff Ray E. Smith.

Progressive Nominee For Congress

Vote For Mr. Grier

The Progressive Party has nominated Mr. Robt. D. Grier as their candidate to represent the people of the first Congressional District in Congress. This gives the voters a chance to vote for a man who stands for a "Square Deal", and Equal Justice before the law to all men.

We appeal to the voters of Wicomico County to support him on Nov. 5th, because we know he has the interest of the Plain people at heart, and if elected he will give his undivided time to their cause. The Republican party has made no nominations in this District for this very important office as their reason for not so doing their belief that the majority of the Plain people have not sufficient intelligence to vote for more than one man. This statement is an insult to the intelligent free American Citizens who vote in this District, and should be resented by them on Nov. 5th.

Cast your vote for the entire Progressive ticket which believes every man can vote and that each voter should have a choice of candidate to vote for.

MONUMENTS
In erecting a monument, one should remember that it is not a mere mass of stone, but a memorial of honor that is to perpetuate the memory of the departed. Therefore, select the best to be had. Look to its beauty of design, and the quality of material. Many years in the monument business has taught us that good monuments cannot be made at cut prices, but it has also taught us how to make the best monument at the lowest possible price.
We have on hand a complete assortment of designs, which we place at your disposal. We are not looking for the best stone. Come in and look at our stock of monuments built of Wilmington Blue Granite, "The Best of the Trade." The ideal monumental granite.

LAKE OF THE DEAD.
An Uncanny, Mysterious Spot in the Oban Country, Nigeria.
It will be a long time before the shores of the Lake of the Dead, in the Oban country, Nigeria, become popular for summer resort purposes. An English traveler says: "When I believed I was in the neighborhood of this haunted spot and altered my course my carriers begged to be allowed not to proceed and were left behind. After a struggle through dense bush we could see the edge of a sheet of water, along the banks of which were the holes of crocodiles, whose tracks covered the shore. The scene was a weird one. The surface of the water was absolutely still, and round about were ten foot high bushes, with what were apparently great tufts of creamy flowers. These, however, proved to be nests of tree frogs."
"The place is a sanctuary for all wild things, for no hunter would dare to penetrate the bush to this dreaded spot. As we stood at the edge, gazing out over the water, its quiet was suddenly broken by a broad ripple, and little fish were seen to spring agitatedly above the surface. A great python shared with the crocodiles the guardianship of the sacred lake. Nothing we were informed, must be allowed to trouble the water or even to touch its outer edge or famine and pestilence would ensue."
"Here, according to popular belief, come by night the ghosts of long dead Ekoi to drift in sad companies hopeless and wailing over the surface of the water. Even in the bright sun light the place has an uncanny look, and one can easily imagine that at midnight, when the white mists shimmer ghostlike in the light of the moon, people with the terror and mystery of the 'bush' in their blood would rather sit chatting around the fire or dance by torchlight in the open spaces of the towns than seek out this uncanny spot."—Chicago News.

WAKENED BY A GHOST.
A Woman's Startling Experience in a Washington Hotel.
From his diary under date of October, 1890, Sir Henry Lucy quotes in the Cornhill Magazine a remarkable ghost story which was told to him by a "lady bearing a name highly honored in the United States." The incident happened some years previously. The lady was at Washington at a time when congress was sitting and all the hotels were full. On applying for a room at the hotel which she was accustomed to patronize with her husband she was told that the house was full. After some little hesitation the clerk, observing her distress, undertook that a room should be got ready for her. It was a small, plainly furnished room on the sixth floor.
She went to bed early and slept soundly until she was awakened by the sensation of a hand touching her face and a voice which cried with piteous accent, "Oh, mother, mother!" She was profoundly startled, but, arguing with herself that it was only a dream, went to sleep again. Again she was awakened by a hand that nervously stroked her face and the blood-curdling cry, "Oh, mother, mother!" She got up and lighted a candle. A chambermaid came with a startled look. The visitor related her experience.
"Yes, ma'am," said the chambermaid. "I told them they ought not to have put you in the room. He was only carried out an hour before you came."
"Who was carried out?" said the lady.
"Why, the young man who was lying here for a fortnight. William Freeman and died a couple of days ago. He was always stretching out his hands, feeling for something and crying, 'Oh, mother, mother!'"

GLASS SPOONS.
Most of the millions of spoons manufactured for many uses are made of some sort of metal, such as gold, silver, iron or tin, but there are also made and regularly sold spoons of glass. This might seem like an especially fragile material for such use, but these glass spoons while they are made of precisely the same shape and proportions as a metal spoon, are made thick so that they will stand any ordinary usage. They are made of pressed glass, though as they are finished they resemble cut glass. They are made in various spoon sizes. Glass spoons are used in the sickroom for administering medicines that would tarnish metal spoons.—New York Sun.

Her Encouragement.
Mollie—And so you proposed marriage to me? Chollie—Yes, Mollie—And did she give you any encouragement? Chollie—Oh, yes, Mollie—Congratulations in order? Chollie—No, she refused me. Mollie—But I thought you said she gave you encouragement? Chollie—She did. She looked at me twice before she refused me.—Yonkers Statesman.

STRONG PLAYS TO BE FEATURED
"The Pilgrimage" and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book" at Baltimore.

"The Pilgrimage," an Arabian play, and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," an American Indian drama, will be given in the Missionary Play Hall of "The World in Baltimore," to be held from October 25 to November 30, at the Lyric theatre, Baltimore. Both of these plays are unusual, demanding many participants, the requirement of people for both being three hundred and fifty.
Beautiful incidental music will accompany these plays, the weird strains of Indian lyrics being heard in one, and mystical Oriental strains supporting the other.
The scene of "The Pilgrimage" is laid at Jiddah, the port of Mecca, at the time when the whole Moslem World makes its annual pilgrimage to the tomb of Mohammed. The populace becomes aroused over the conversion to Christianity of several natives, especially that of a young Mohammedan student of high caste, which is the work of Missionaries who have been working in Jiddah. Several perilous situations are encountered through the attitude of the natives to the Missionaries and their friends. The acknowledgment of a gradual conversion to Christianity is made by an high caste Professor of Mohammedanism, whose wife, a prisoner of high degree, finally joins him in sacrificing all dear to tradition among their native people, as well as their riches, for the sake of The Christ.
The wonderful longing for the "White Man's Book of Heaven," the Bible, is demonstrated in the play "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," when, in 1828 a delegation of American Indians went from the Oregon country to St. Louis for "The Book," long before promised by the white men who had passed their way.
Several short plays, lasting some things less than an hour, will be given. In "Sun-Light or Candle-Light" the scene is laid in Japan; "Section Day" takes one to the moonshine district of our own country;

Terri and Temple, Japan Scene, "The World in Baltimore."
China is the scene of "School-Girl and Slave Girl;" "Kosiki" is located in Korea, and a fifth play has its scene in Africa. The best talent obtainable in Baltimore has been secured for these plays, which are short enough to be easy and interesting, yet intensely dramatic. Motion pictures, the best collection it has been possible to secure, will be shown. These rare pictures for the most part have been taken by special representatives for missionary societies especially to illustrate conditions in foreign lands.

BALTIMOREANS FINANCE MISSIONARY EXHIBITION
"The World in Baltimore" Exposition, which will be opened in the Lyric theatre and a specially constructed hall, Baltimore, from October 25 to November 30, is under the management of committees of Baltimore men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable all expenses to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of missionary education. The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

SPECIAL BUILDING ERECTED
No public hall in Baltimore was large enough for the Exposition, "The World in Baltimore," to be held there October 25-November 30, so a special hall was built for the purpose. This hall will be the Hall of Nations; the Lyric theatre will be used for the pageant, plays, etc.

A RESTAURANT FOR THE USE OF THE VISITORS.
A well equipped restaurant under the management of one of the best caterers in Baltimore, where meals and refreshments may be obtained by visitors at fair prices, will be maintained at "The World in Baltimore" Exposition, October 25 to November 30, and it is expected that this feature will add no little to the pleasure of those who attend.

Saves Leg Of Boy.
"It seemed that my 14-years old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed (in writing) Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles, 25c at all druggists.

Woman in Veil as Man Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.
Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.
Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root. Some of the testimonials received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed, in writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TWIN IN UNIFORM.
General Sherman...
"Well," he said, "who told you you could go in this car?"
"Nobody," said Clemens.
"Do you expect to pay extra fare?" asked Sherman.
"No," said Clemens; "I don't expect to pay any fare."
"Oh, you don't! Then you'll work your way."
Sherman took off his coat and military hat and made Clemens put them on.
"Now," said he, "whenever the train stops you get out on the platform and represent me and make a speech."
It was not long before the train stopped, and Clemens, according to orders, stepped out on the rear platform and bowed to the crowd. There was a cheer at the sight of his military uniform. "That's the cheer," he said, "because I represent my association," followed by a number of discussions. Presently somebody said:
"Hey, that ain't Sherman; that's Mark Twain," which brought another cheer.
Then Sherman had to come out, too, and the result was that both spoke. They kept this up at the different stations, and sometimes Robert Lincoln came out with them, and when there was time all three spoke, much to the satisfaction of their audiences.

MARIE ANTOINETTE.
Two Dramatic and Contrasting Episodes in Her Life.
Thelma Dyer, in her "Royalty in All Ages," describes two dramatic and tragically contrasted episodes in the life of Marie Antoinette, the lovely and ill-fated queen of France. Once, in the days of her greatest popularity, when she went to the opera of "Iphigenia," when Achilles came to the line, "Let us sing and celebrate the queen," he turned toward the radiant young sovereign and sang two additional impromptu lines of charming compliment. This graceful and unexpected homage so delighted the audience that "all was shouting and clapping of hands, and what never happened at the opera before—the queen was moved, and there were cries of 'Long live the queen!' at which expression of feeling her majesty was so affected that she shed tears."
On the next occasion, when Marie Antoinette's son of popular favor had set and she was nearing the tragic close of her life, one of the actresses in "Unfathomable Events" bowed to her as she sang the words, "Ah, how I love my mistress!" In a moment all was in uproar, and the theater was full of hoarse, angry cries of "No mistress! No master! Liberty!" and "No master! No queen!" and it was some minutes before the tumult quieted down and it was possible to proceed with the play.

Keeping Peace at Home.
How do they do it—the couples who win the Duomo fitches by going a whole year without a quarrel? That undoubtedly plays a part. One recalls the simple system of a Sussex couple to keep peace at home. When the wife came to a little ruffled she flung her shawl over her left shoulder, and the husband knew that silence was golden. If he came home with hat cocked for ward the wife knew that something was wrong, and she likewise lay low. It's the simplest but that keeps the peace at home, where you may never be at a loss for the quarrel you look for.—London Chronicle.

"It Suits to a T."
The clause "it suits to a T," means, as you know, that it is as good as the familiar instrument, the T square or T rule, for setting lines to a perpendicular. It is used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Howell as saying of Wharburton: "You see they'd have fitted him to a T."

Why the Coward?
"No, I didn't have a very good time," she said. "I wanted to talk, and there wasn't a man there."
"But there were plenty of other girls."
"Oh, of course, but that was no consolation, for they all wanted to talk too."

Rightly Named.
Hewitt—Why do you call this your grill room? Jewitt—This is where my wife corners me when I get in late at night.—New York Globe.

Beauty of Woodwork.
There is a friendly atmosphere in the presence of much woodwork—and painted wood, but wood finished to show the beauty of its natural growth—that is entirely lost in an expanse of smooth, hard paint. Its mellow lights and soft shadows form a far more pleasing background than any papered wall, and its strength and durability make it a most ideal for a home that is to endure the feeling of permanence and stability that belongs to the true home.—Suburban Life.

House Plans Important.
The care of food in the home and all other forms of household work are greatly facilitated by right planning and then the use of suitable materials for the construction and furnishing of the home. An adequate and convenient water supply and other conveniences are essential, not only for comfort and for saving labor, but also from the standpoint of home hygiene.

Fishing, Their Occupation.
Over 1,200 small boats are used along the north coast of New Brunswick in fishing. Nearly every resident is a fisherman during portions of the year, while a majority follow fishing as an occupation. The greater number of small fishermen are farmers who find small fishing a profitable side line during the winter months.

Share Your Good Times.
Share your good times if you can. It takes only a little while to read a story to a child, it takes only a little effort to draw the less popular girl into your own gay circle. You will be surprised to see what good the even quite elderly people can be under the stimulation of "being wanted by the crowd."

Record of Longevity.
A remarkable record of longevity is to be found in some of the rural parishes of France. In the village of St. Thomas de la Fliche there have been only 14 parish priests in 200 years, the fourteenth being still in possession. The parish of St. Germain du Val in Paris, has had only three pastors in 190 years, while that of Grey in Artois has had but five in 190 years.

Preserving Wood.
Instead of treating wood to preserve it from rot, an inventor of Budapest arrives at the same result by a reversal of the operation, for he treats the earth to surround the posts in such a manner as to destroy all germ and insect life. This process serves as a substitute where it is difficult to secure the treated lumber. It is called "parietalization."

Clothes.
He—"Did you ever observe difference clothes make mind? Now, when I am in togs, I'm all horse; when my business suit, my mind dresses my mind takes a turn." She—"And I when you take a bath, your mind is blank."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SHAVED BY FORCE

Peter the Great's Merry War on Beards in Russia.

RAZORS FOLLOWED THE TAX.

When Heavy Fines Failed to Produce the Desired Result the Czar Had Barbers Seize His Subjects in the Streets and Mow Their Whiskers.

Peter the Great on his return to Moscow in 1698, after traveling through Germany, Holland and England, determined to make his Russian subjects look like Europeans, for at that time, in both appearance and manners, they resembled the Asiatics.

Peter began his reforms by ordering all the boyars, or nobles, to appear at court in English dresses on pain of his displeasure, and patterns of English coats were hung up at the gates of the city, and all persons passing through the gates in their long habits had to pay a tax or else have their skirts cut round by the knees.

The poor peasants alone were exempted from this rule. On the wearing of long beards a tax was imposed, but this measure only increased the czar's revenue, for the people willingly paid the money that they might retain their cherished beards.

Those who adopted the English dress refused to submit to an act that they thought not only irreligious, but foolish, "for why," said they, "deprive the robe of its natural covering in a climate where the protection of fur collars was necessary during six months of the year?"

So, finding taxes and fines useless, the czar resolved to convert his subjects to the new fashions by force.

At the gates of the city barbers were stationed, and all, except the peasants, who were allowed to retain their beards, were obliged to submit to a rapid shaving, in spite of entreaties and the offer of large bribes.

And venerable gray beards might be seen scampering through the streets, pursued by the barbers, whom they fled from as they would from hangmen, and when caught the poor runaways frequently lost skin as well as hair in this rough way of shaving.

The barbers were most likely Germans or English and probably enjoyed the panic they caused among the Russians.

Shaving had at one time been denounced by the clergy, and a beard at that time was looked upon as a sign of orthodoxy, so that native barbers would have got but little custom.

Those Russians who persisted in wearing their long caftans were obliged to kneel down, and their garments were cut off at the knees. Peter sometimes invited the nobles to his table and had them shaved in his presence, a process that some of them resisted, their faces suffering in consequence.

One day when the czar was out walking he met an old man coming from the barber's. Peter spoke kindly to him, telling him that now he had lost his beard he looked like a young man. Upon this the old man put his hand into his bosom and, drawing forth the beard that had been cut off and showing it to the czar, told him that he should preserve it and have it placed in his coffin, that in the next world he might show it to St. Nicholas to prove that he was a true Russian.

Peter did not confine his reforms to the men's habits. He also changed the dress of the Russian ladies; but, though the new costume may have been more convenient, it was certainly not so quaint or picturesque as the old one.

The ladies of Russia lived in oriental seclusion, seldom appearing in public and having a separate part of the house appropriated to them, but the czar ordered that at all festivities or public entertainments women should be invited as well as men, but that they must all appear in English dresses.

Whether all of Peter's changes in costume were for the better may be doubted, for before his time stays were unknown in Russia, and when he first visited the German court and was dancing with the ladies he mistook their whale bone corsets for their bodies and complained that the German ladies had such hard bones!—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SOME BIRDS ARE FASTIDIOUS

Bathing in Clean, Cold Water Keeps Them in Health and is One of Their Summer Joys.

"Folly have bath! Folly have bath!"

The reiterated cry from a large green parrot, who stood in a tin bath full of water, occasionally tapping his scolding wings.

Some persons who keep bird pets know how to prevent them from looking grimacing in the summer heat. Little as they imagine that big and small birds are simply longing with all their tiny hearts for a cold bath. These owners, if it were possible, would supply their small pets with water in little glass vessels, but these are for drinking purposes and for the luxury of a respite from the hot sun.

But, for those who really love their feathered friends, providing little swimming tanks for the birds. They must, of course, vary according to the bird's size. Whereas a paddling basin would accommodate a canary, a parrot would require something more commodious.

Then place the bird in his cage where he can gambol unmolested. In the back yard, on the lawn, or on the sunny porch are equally good positions. Anyone who knows anything of birds knows that, although inarticulate, they appreciate comfort.

Many a man resembles a dog in the manger because he wants to have a finger in the pie simply to prevent others from eating it.

Hereditary and School Marks. A German educator has been making a statistical study of the relation between heredity and school marks, and from 314 cases in which he was able to get full school records, through three generations, he concludes that the connection is very close.

Sometimes Best to Be Patient. Frequently the worms that turn merely get their backs on the other side.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Loaf of Yeast. "Why did you jilt Percy?" "He is lacking in tact." "Why, I thought he always said nice things?" "He does, but not always the right things. He was preventing his love yesterday when we passed an old woman. I saw my eye and said: "Will you love me when I get old and look like that woman?" "Of course I will, darling!" he cried. "So I dismissed him. The idea of his consenting to think that I could ever get to look like that horrid old thing!" Women are so particular.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

That which is seen at a distance is most respected.—Tacitus.

Nautical Distinctions. "How do you tell the difference between a yacht and a sailboat?" said the girl with the inquiring mind. "By looking in the pantry," replied Captain Cleet. "If she carries plenty of refreshments and seagars, she's a yacht. If it's mostly plain victuals, she's a sailboat."—Exchange.

Warm Floors Insure Children's Health

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves.

The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor.

Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the best qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heat

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat through all the feet—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney.

The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. It must be the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the heater—only that quality gray cast iron is used.

Cast iron withstands the wear of the best fire brick construction better than any other material, and the legs, standpipes, sheet metal boiler and radiators all the heat into the room.

REPUBLICAN HOPE RESTS IN WILSON.

Gov. Burke Declares For Democrat and Gives His Reasons.

By JOHN BURKE, Governor of North Dakota.
The election of Governor Wilson is the only thing that can save the Republican party. Four years of President Taft has split it in two. We have no reason to believe that he will be any different or that his second administration, if he is re-elected, will be any more satisfactory to the people than his first. His re-election will mean the division of the Republican party into many warring factions, which can only result in final dissolution of all.

The end will come quicker and just as certain if Roosevelt is elected, for he is no longer a Republican, but is the leader of a new party, at war with the Republican party, as it is with the Democratic party. On the other hand, if Wilson is elected the Roosevelt party will perish; the Republicans will reorganize their party, purge it of the base influence of corporate power and greed and make it again the grand old party it was in the days of Lincoln.

Louis D. Brandeis performed a real public service when he quoted the records to show that George W. Perkins is and always has been an enemy of union labor.

Wonder if Emerson was gazing upon a moose calf when several decades ago he wrote:

I am the owner of the sphere.
Of the seven stars and the solar year.

A Colossal Scheme.

The great highway of the commerce of the future will be the Pacific ocean. Mighty capitalists throughout the world are putting their heads together to erect the most colossal system for wireless telegraphy in the world. The system contemplates the linking together of all points along the western coast of America from Bering sea to the Straits of Magellan, and spanning the isles of the ocean, to link with this chain the whole easterly shore of Asia, running on down to the Straits Settlements. The contemplated system will cost in the aggregate many millions of dollars.

THE PLAIN TRUTH.

What More Can Salisbury People Ask?

When well-known residents and highly respected people of Salisbury make such statements as the following, it must carry conviction to every reader:

Mrs. Jennie A. Collins, 313 Williams St., Salisbury, Md., says: "My former words of praise for Doan's kidney pills still hold good. Since I gave my statement in 1909 I have personally taken Doan's Kidney Pills and I cannot say enough in their praise. I know so much of the merits of this remedy that I willingly confirm my former endorsement." The labors was the substance of Mrs. Collins' conversation when she was interviewed on February 28, 1912. Her former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills was as follows: "Doan's kidney pills have done good work in my home in relieving kidney trouble and I do not think anyone would make a mistake in giving them a trial."

Great Missionary Exposition Is Soon to Open in Baltimore—Native Life of Distant Places To Be Pictured.

"The World in Baltimore" will be the third Missionary exposition on a world-wide scale to be held in the United States. From October 28 to November 30, 1912, it will occupy the Lyric Theatre and a specially constructed hall in Baltimore. Education and inspiration are the objects of the exposition. It has been organized and is under the management of committees of Baltimore men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition.

nanoe the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable expenses to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of missionary education. The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

The exposition will demonstrate to the eye, by providing beautiful, artistic things to see, the scenery of all lands where the work of Christian missions is being carried on. The visitors will first enter a large space where there will be represented the life of the American Indian and the Eskimo of Alaska and the results of Christian work among them. The scene will have all of the characteristics of a large encampment of Indians in the northwest. Another important department of Home Missions will be illustrated in the Frontier scene. Visitors will be surrounded by views of prairies and mountains.

One of the most interesting sections will be that devoted to work among immigrants at the Ellis Island Immigration Station, New York Harbor. Splendid results in the Philippines, and in Hawaii, Porto Rico and Cuba, of developing the religious life of the people, will also be illustrated in a most interesting way. Populating all the scenes, both of the foreign lands and the home land, impersonating the natives of every country, interpreting to visitors the meaning of everything they may see, will be an army of 5,000 stewards from churches of Baltimore. These will be prepared to answer the questions of visitors by weeks of study from appropriate textbooks. Nearly all will wear the costume of the scene to which they are assigned, and they will serve in relays, so that at all times there will be a sufficient number on duty to give life, character and color to the exposition.

SIXTY MISSIONARIES WILL PARTICIPATE

A large number of leading missionaries from all parts of the world are to be in Baltimore during "The World in Baltimore" Exposition, which will be held October 28 to November 30. They will take a prominent part in

Democratic Victory Greatest In History Of Party

Wilson Sweeps The Country From North To South And East To West, Getting Nearly Five Times As Many Electoral Votes As Taft And Roosevelt.

The election is over but not the rejoicing of the Democrats who have at last come into their own. A victory has been won which even exceeds the promises of the campaign prophets, and of course that means much. Locally, State and Nationally the victory swept on. District after District, County after County, and State after State, so that when the total is examined there is but little left for the other Parties.

Wilson carried all of the doubtful States and many which were generally conceded to one or the other of his opponents. California, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan all went over to the Democrats. All the other States in New England with the exception of Vermont and New Hampshire went the same way, as a matter of fact, South, North, East and West joined in giving their electoral vote to Mr. Wilson.

As had been stated by the Democrats the fight developed to be a fight within the Republican party between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt with the Democrats holding their forces together and gaining in many sections from the Republicans more than was lost to the Progressive.

Pennsylvania proved to be a doubtful State and it was several days before the returns justified the forces of Mr. Roosevelt claiming the State. California which was generally believed to be a Roosevelt State has apparently given Mr. Wilson a good majority. Governor Wilson's State, New Jersey, which was put in the doubtful column on the eve of the election proved to be steadfast for Mr. Wilson. The Democrats in addition to the electoral vote carried the legislature assuring the selection of a Democrat for Governor on the retirement of Mr. Wilson. Not only has Mr. Wilson been elected but the country has sent him in with Congress to back him and a Senate as well. In the State of Maryland, Wilson carried it by a plurality of over 50,000.

Wisconsin gave the largest plurality in its history—127. Every District, with the exception of two, brought in a Democratic plurality, and in every case this was an increase over any given in previous years.

The vote County, State and Nation are given below: Maryland elects all six of the Democratic Congressmen. Tom Parson of "Big" Mend's old District losing to Smith, Democrat. Lewis of the sixth wins by a large vote. Covington of the First wins by over 30,000.

BIG DEMOCRATIC CELEBRATION HERE

Arrangements Now Being Made. Held In Salisbury, November 21st.

The Democrats of this County are making arrangements to hold a big celebration in the city of Salisbury on Thursday, November the twenty first, to show their satisfaction in the election of a Democrat to the Presidential chair.

More than $500 is being made up to pay for the different forms of amusements to be presented on that day. It is proposed to have a big street parade with thousands of Democrats marching in line. A first class band is to be engaged for the occasion. Cannons will be fired and other fireworks shot off. Several prominent speakers will be here and address the Democrats.

Various committees have been appointed and voters in every District in the County will be asked to cooperate in this day of rejoicing. The Executive Committee consists of the following gentlemen: Mayor E. Frank Kennedy, M. E. Twilley, O. E. Harper, W. E. Mitchell, Fulton Allen.

Finance Committee: John Downing, M. E. Tindle, John M. Tomison.

Decoration Committee: A. M. Jackson, Harry Fooks, W. L. Tighman. Music and Speakers: Jas. T. Truitt, Sen. J. D. Price, Hon. M. V. Brewington.

Chief Marshal: Wm. M. Cooper.

Parade—Any one wishing to contribute, send check to J. M. Tomison, by November the 15th, and it will be greatly appreciated.

Order of Lectures.

Every Catholic is asked in the name of God to notify all careless Catholics of this Mission. The saving of their souls may depend on your zeal. Christ died for all. Bear in mind your responsibility. Do your best that every man, woman and child of this parish may with God's help make this Mission. Invite your non Catholic friends to come with you. They are cordially welcome. Give leaflets to them and to careless Catholics.

MRS. GERTRUDE RAYNE

Murdered—Body Found in Burning House—Open Verdict By Coroner.

News reached here on Friday morning of the murder of Mrs. Gertrude Rayne at her home in Powellville this county.

According to the accounts given it is alleged that Mrs. Rayne after a quarrel with her husband Mr. Leonard Rayne, went to the home of a neighbor, Mr. Lynn Davis and spent the night, returning to her home about five o'clock in the morning. Mr. Rayne having spent the night in his store.

Mr. Will Jones, on going to work, saw flames bursting from the house and rushed in, first discovering the murder. Mr. Rayne had seen smoke coming from his house and called Mr. Davis and rushed up to the house supposing it a fire. They assisted in drawing the body out. It is said that Mrs. Rayne was still alive when they got her out. It is presumed that her murderer after committing the crime attempted to hide it by setting the house on fire. The murder was done with some blunt instrument.

The State's Attorney, Mr. Bell, and Sheriff Roy Smith, rushed out to the scene as soon as the news reached this City. A coroner's inquest was called at once. It is not definitely known who committed the murder but it is understood that the authorities have good clues and may make an arrest at any time. Mrs. Rayne was formerly the wife of Mr. Noah Clark, of this City, from whom she was divorced. She was the daughter of Mr. James Patey, of this County.

The authorities have arrested Ben. T. Davis, of Powellville, on the suspicion of knowing something of the murder. It is stated that a boy saw Mr. Davis leaving the neighborhood and go in the woods. Mr. Davis was apprehended by Sheriff Smith on his way home from Willards where he had driven earlier in the day. The coroner's Jury which sat in the case brought in an open verdict.

FURNITURE TO IRELAND

Sent By Salisbury Wood Working Company. Mr. T. H. Mitchell, Proprietor.

Salisbury is not such a small spot on the map of the world, after all, when its factories can compete with all the world and can land contracts for its products to be shipped across the Atlantic. This is just what one of our factories has done, and one of the Protestant Episcopal Churches in Ireland will be equipped with furniture from the plant of the Salisbury Wood Working Co. T. H. Mitchell, proprietor.

Several months ago Mr. Mitchell received, very unexpectedly, plans and specifications from Rev. H. B. Henderson, of Rush Mills, Ireland, for new and other furniture for a new church he is erecting. The specifications called for quartered oak and Mr. Mitchell promptly sent in his bid, which was accepted and last week the shipment left Salisbury for Port Rush, Ireland, via Anchor Line from New York. Mr. Mitchell is naturally elated at receiving a contract for work from foreign shores.

Gas For Chincoteague.

A gas plant and ice plant is to be installed by the Lewis Gas Co. at Chincoteague, Va., some time within the next few weeks. The machinery for the plant, it is understood, has been ordered and work will be started within a very short time. The ice factory is to be fired up so that the owners can use gas from their plant to run it. We understand that Mr. D. J. Wheaton, of Salisbury is interested in the project.

INTEREST INCREASES DAILY IN THE SALISBURY ADVERTISER'S BIG VOTING CONTEST.

Special Prize Gold Piece On For Next Week. All Hustling

Miss Phipps Leading This Week, Closely Followed by Miss Edna Laws, Miss Hilda Bounds, And Miss Georgia Davis. New Contestants all Making a Fine Showing.

Interest is increasing daily in the Salisbury ADVERTISER'S Big Voting Contest and although one battle for votes has just been ended another is in full progress in Salisbury; several fair candidates are in the field and they are doing just as much hustling for votes as their stalwart brothers did before election. Miss Mamie Phipps decided to enter this week, saw a few of her friends and the result is that she is leading not only in her own district but in all three districts. She is closely followed by Miss Edna Laws and Miss Hilda Bounds of District No. 2 who are keeping up their reputation as hustlers. In fact the whole third District seems to have gotten to work in earnest during the past week as can be seen by the vote standing. Miss Georgia Davis, of Hebron, secured 3700 votes in just three days, an excellent record. As is likewise Miss Ethel Shockley of Pittsville and Miss Lulu Germans of Delmar, who obtained 2450 votes in two days. Miss Aworth is doing some splendid work among, not only her Friesland friends with whom she is very popular, but also over the entire county. As can be seen the vote in the third district nearly doubles the entire vote of the other two districts.

Miss Katharine Lucas is again in the lead in the first district. Miss Lucas has been ill during the past week and unable to do her usual amount of hustling still she has valiantly kept the lead in her district.

New Nominations.

The following new nominations have been sent into the office during the past week. It is not too late yet for others to start in this interesting contest and the Contest Manager will only be glad to help any of them new ones get started if they will only let her know. A great deal can be accomplished in a very short length of time as is demonstrated by the excellent standing of Miss Georgia Davis, of Hebron, Miss Aworth of Friesland, Miss Lulu German, of Delmar, Miss Ethel Shockley, of Pittsville, and the Misses Phipps, Whyland and Carey, of this city, who only started into work about the middle of the past week. It isn't too late to enter now by any means.

Mollie Pruitt.

Another sad death has come to our community. In the bloom of young womanhood, full of hope and ambition, Mrs. Mollie Gordy Pruitt is suddenly snatched from her loved ones and friends by a mysterious and unknown disease. All that medical science and skill could do was done, but the mystery is buried with her. Only 26 years old, married less than two years gone, from earth to be with God in heaven. How sad and desolate the home and hearts of the family, but how joyous her release from the terrible suffering which for six weeks she bore so patiently. The dead she still lives in the hearts of loved ones at home as well as in a large circle of friends who mourn her untimely departure. In disposition she was bright and sunny, full of optimism; a dutiful and affectionate daughter; a faithful, loyal wife; a true and tried friend.

An unusually large number attested her worth by their attendance at the funeral which was held in the Methodist Protestant Church on Monday, October 28th at three o'clock. Rev. L. F. Warner, assisted by Rev. E. S. Delany, officiated. The pall bearers were Messrs. A. Wilson Mattox, Byard Cooper, Ralph Evans, Thomas Parker, Howard Dryden and Harland Calloway.

Just as the sun was sinking in a cloudless sky the body was tenderly laid to rest in Parsons' Cemetery. The floral tributes were numerous and handsome. The Sunday School class of which she was a faithful member attended in a body. To her husband, always devoted and so faithful in her last illness and to the parents and sisters who are so crushed with grief, we would offer our sincere sympathy and point them to the Divine Saviour whom she delighted to serve and who can comfort them as no earthly friend can. S. V. W.

Church Notice.

Special evangelistic service will be given in St. Paul's M. E. Church at Mardela, Nov. 10. The services will open at 7:30 p. m. Bro. Luther Messick will have charge of these services and will remain with us for seven days. On Sunday the 17th, Rev. Liddell will be with us and continue for ten days. This will be an all day service on Sunday, to which a cordial invitation has been given to the pastors of the different churches and their people to join in this service. We want this to be the greatest day in the history of Mardela. Let everybody come.

Our third Quarterly Conference will meet in St. Paul's Church, Mardela, November 9th at 3 p. m. to which meeting each member of the Official Board is requested to be present. Rev. Geo. P. Jones will preach Sunday morning the 10th at Spring Grove and administer the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. He will also preach at 4 p. m. at Mills Chapel and all the members of the churches are invited to be present at these services. J. W. Hardesty, Pastor.

Thanksgiving, Nov. 28th.

President Taft has named Thursday, November the twenty eighth, as "Thanksgiving Day." His proclamation issued on Thursday of this week, is as follows:

By the President of the United States of America:—
"A God-fearing nation, like ours, owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of moral duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the National Executive to call upon his fellow-countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in earnest supplication for their continuance."

"The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other people, rich in harvests so abundant and in industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired but rather improved by good use, to our children and our children's children for all time to come, the people of this country have abundant cause for contented gratitude."

"Wherefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of long-established usage, and in response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen, wherever they may sojourn, on Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of this month of November, in appropriate recognition of praise and thanks to God for the good gifts that have been our portion and in humble prayer that His great mercies toward us may endure."

Arrangements For Diamonds And Watches.

The Salisbury ADVERTISER will make arrangements with some of the leading jewelry stores to exhibit the diamond rings which will be given as first prizes in all three districts. These rings will be given in place of the Florida tour, if the winners so prefer. They will be on exhibition some time next week and we will be glad to have the candidates and their friends inspect them.

—Dr. Thomas N. Potts, Presiding Elder of the Eastern Shore District will preach in Trinity M. E. Church South, Sunday morning and the pastor Rev. J. F. Carey will preach Sunday night. The closing services of the Conference year will be held Sunday night.

SUNDAY READING

No. 1—Living Too Far From God.

Under the heading, Sunday Reading, we propose from time to time to present some thoughts relating to the Bible, its author or some subject or character taken therefrom.

We are living in an age in which men's lives and men's thoughts are too far from God. Pleasure, pain and money confront us today as the chief assets of human life. Evolution, higher criticism and sentimentalism have been fostered and believed until every thing is doubted unless it is seen. Men's religious nature is becoming inactive and pleasure the object of human endeavor. Heaven and Heavenly things have become vague as compared with the present pleasures and anticipations. The struggle is fierce and men are getting farther from each other and the material dominates the spiritual. With all the protection and washfulness afforded us by the modern telegraph and telephone facilities those in authority say that they are often taxed to their utmost capacity and strength to preserve law and order.

Men seem to be forgetting God and their divine obligation to a greater being. In fact the modern idea of God is very erroneous. He is looked for only in the works of nature, but God himself resides in Heaven while His power and influence are everywhere. He told Moses on more than one occasion that he would come down and talk with him. God talked to Abraham hundreds of years before he spoke to Moses. The minds of men seem turned from the idea of a personal God. They say God is everywhere and in everything which teaches that nature is God, which is in error. God is everywhere only in power. His presence is represented by His power and intelligence which are seen everywhere. Nowhere could we go beyond his reach or beyond his knowledge. Let us have faith in a living and personal God, who knows about us, where we are and what we are; a being ready and willing to respond to our needs and aid us as he did Moses though not in such a direct way. He then appeared in person; now he moves by his Spirit, his power, upon the minds of the people, changes their plans by divine impressions, and using unseen forces for man's aid and His own glory. Velona Longboat.

The Salisbury Exchange.

The Telephone Company has issued a new directory, dated October 1912. It gives the number, name and address of every phone used on the Peninsula. On the Salisbury exchange there are connected 1069 phones, the largest number of any town on the Shore except Wilmington. Of these, 500 are town phones and 569 county phones. Cambridge exchange ranks second on the Shore, having 623 phones. Eastern exchange comes third, with 572 phones.

"Satisfaction Clothes"

That's the shortest and best way to describe our clothing. It really tells the whole story. It is not the lowness of our prices that make our clothes so popular. It's the high quality we give for the price.
Price sells; quality tells. Our prices are right hence the clothes sell readily. The quality right, hence, "Once a customer always a customer."
When you buy a suit here we guarantee you Maximum Satisfaction At A Minimum Cost.
Nowhere can you get better clothes than Schloss Bros. Clothes.

WILSON'S VICTORY.
The campaign The AD-VERTISER put out its claim for popularity in this County. This is more than justified by the results which show a plurality of 1100.

The Democrats of this County are to be congratulated upon the result, and should feel proud of the grand showing made. Wilson was the choice of this county in the primaries and election figures show that he has lost none of his popularity here.

DEMOCRATIC RESPONSIBILITY.

One of the biggest Juries that ever met in a case, consisting of close to sixteen million of voters, has brought in a verdict in favor of the Democratic Party. This conclusion throws upon the Party the great responsibility of conducting the affairs of the greatest nation in the world. That Mr.
Wilson recognizes this fact and feels the responsibility of guarding the welfare and protecting the prosperity of the millions of his countrymen is shown by his utterances since the election result became known.

Not a sound of triumph nor a note of personal gratification can be found, but a sober, thoughtful consideration of the great responsibility which he must now assume. This is as it should be and his party will be wise if they recognize the fact that they are on trial and must face the country four years from now with a record of achievements and not with unfulfilled promises.

The remarkable poll of Mr. Roosevelt shows that the people of this Country are tired of broken promises and propose to do away with the Furies that make and the leaders of those parties who show a greater desire to accommodate the wishes of the Big Interest than to work for the welfare of the people at large.

The whole political career of Mr.
Wilson goes far towards giving the people confidence that in his administration they will be given a fair deal.
The often promised and much needed social reforms have a fair chance of being put into actual practice than ever before in the history of the country. With Mr. Wilson devoting himself to the true interest of the people backed up by a Democratic House and Senate much should and will be accomplished unless the party lets itself fall to the low plain of what is termed practical politics, but what will prove under the present temper of the people the most foolish kind of politics.

Not only are the people confident of a "square deal" but the same confidence is expressed by the legitimate business interests of the country.
Evidence of this confidence could be seen throughout the campaign, when business absolutely refused to be scared by the bugaboo of business depression so strenuously advertised by the Republicans in every section of the nation. Business in the face of almost certain knowledge of Wilson's election kept on in the "even tenor of its way" and greeted his election with a rise in the value of stocks and bonds.

The Democratic Party is to be congratulated upon the great fight it made and the glorious victory it won, and now let it prove its claim and show it has the ability to properly administer the affairs of our land.

Salisbury vs Annapolis.

The Woodrow High School Foot Ball Team played with the Annapolis High School at Fair Grounds yesterday Friday, Nov. 8 at 3 p. m.
The management of the team was disappointed in not being able to give the town on last Wednesday what was advertised, but the fact that the team advertised failed to come, is no fault of ours and we did the only thing possible under the circumstances, that is we substituted the only team that could be had on short notice. The Annapolis boys have a fine team as is shown by their holding Baltimore City College to three knockdowns last Friday. Our team is in splendid shape and getting better all the time.

PAYS TO ADVERTISE

And Keep At It—Common Sense Business Talks With Business Men By "The Ad-Man" No. 3.

William Jennings Bryan the Great Commoner says that the man who tries to do business today without advertising is like the man who throws a kiss to the pretty girl in the dark—he knows what he is doing but no one else does.

The Honorable William Jennings knew whereof he spoke when he said this, and many merchants would discover the fact for themselves if they were but to try this popular method of bringing business to THEIR doors.

More and more, day by day, business men are awakening to the fact that they are NOT getting ALL out of their business that they SHOULD.
They are beginning to realize that there is something more to do than simply place in the wares in their stores and waiting for the people to buy. The merchant must have an initiative!

He must prove to the people that he has something better than the other fellow.

He must advertise—if not in one way, then in another.

And he must advertise what he has,
and have that he advertises. To advertise something that is not true; to exaggerate or to lose the confidence of the people through false statements, is worse than not advertising at all. Advertising must create confidence as well as business. Judicious advertising is a part of every business today, and, though a man may make a success without it, he could make even a greater success with it.
Don't be throwing kisses to pretty girls in the dark. In other words don't keep your business to yourself.
Let the people whom you expect to deal with you know what you are doing. Be progressive. Be up to the minute. Advertise.

Don't be making a bid for business in the dark. Newspaper advertising costs less and brings better results than any other method known today.

"Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

The story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Eugene Walter's great play, which comes to the New Academy of Music, Baltimore, the week starting November 11th is familiar to millions of book readers who love the romantic works of that vigorous writer of American fiction, John Fox, Jr. In his dramatization of the work, Eugene Walter has taken the atmosphere of the Virginia hills as well as the characters of Mr.
Fox's great story, blending them together with that consummate deftness of dramatic art and ability for which Mr. Walter is justly famed. The play opens with a scene in the Cumberland hills showing the trail around the lonesome pine, which, standing gaunt and rugged like a sentinel, is visible to all in the gap below. Hale and Herkley, a couple of eastern engineers, have come to the gap to develop the resources of coal, iron and limestone intending to start a town and establish a steel manufacturing city for which the place offers ideal inducements.
The new comers, especially Hale, have introduced into the town a reform element which is resented by the rough mountaineers, especially by young Dave Tolliver, who sees in the invasion of the gap the end of all he has been taught to regard as sacred, viz., the right to kill an enemy, the aver-sity of the leader of the tribe, the law of the hills. Dave has looked forward not only to being leader of the Tolliver clan but also to making his cousin, June, his wife—June, the primitive mountain girl, superstitious and imaginative, loving the lonesome pine which, when stirred by the signing of the wind, seems to take the voice of her dead sister urging her to go out into the world and learn. Here, beneath the pine, barefoot and clothed in her red homespun dress, Hale first meets June. Though laughing at first because of her silly replies and whimsical remarks, he wins her confidence and encourages her to reveal more of her thoughts and dreams. Finally through his influence, she goes to school, but gossip copies her name with Hale's and Dave Tolliver's jealous insinuations finally cause the girl to return to her home just as the bitter mountain feud reaches a climax.
It is quelled however, by the general-ship of Hale who at the close of the play, is once more seen beneath the pine with June where they await the old Justice of the Peace who is to marry them.

Rev. Elderdice Scores W.
H. Anderson.

In the speech at Main and Division Streets here last Thursday night, Rev.
Mr. Elderdice heavily scored William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti Saloon League of Maryland, for a statement of Mr. Anderson's which appeared in last Thursday's Sun, and challenged him to a debate at any time or place. Rev. Mr. Elderdice said:
"The position of Mr. Anderson seems to be that the people of Maryland are divisible into two classes—namely those who are with the Anti Saloon League and those who are with the liquor interests.
But Prohibitionists refuse to be thus classified. We certainly are not with the Anti Saloon League on the question of prohibition."

F. B. Allen Sells Farm.

Mr. F. B. Allen has sold his farm on the suburbs of Prince Georges, to Mr. H. D. Yates, of Wisconsin, consideration $10,000, possession to be given December 1st. Mr. Yates comes from the great dairy State and is well versed in dairy matters. He will have a herd of Guernsey cows with which to run the dairy business.
He expects other dairymen to follow and locate in this section. Mr. Yates and his wife made the trip in an automobile, camping out every night but one, accomplishing the trip in four weeks.

Result of Contest.

Mr. Marion H. Hearn, of Delmar,
Mr. H. D. Gillis, of Salisbury, Mr.
H. F. O'Neal, of Delmar, and Mr. T.
J. Culver, of Hebron, were the winners of the guessing contest held at the recent county fair by the L. W.
Gunby Co., Salisbury.
The guessing contest was based upon the total shipments of Universal Portland Cement from all plants of the Universal Portland Cement Co., during the month of September, 1912.
The records produced by the Cement
Co. show that the shipments in September aggregated 1,148,640 barrels.
The nearest guess was made by Mr.
Marion H. Hearn, the winner whose estimate was 1,353,095 barrels. The second closest guess was made by Mr.
H. D. Gillis, of Salisbury, and H. F.
O'Neal, of Delmar, whose estimates were 1,000,000 barrels, and the winner of the third prize was Mr. T. J. D.
Culver of Hebron, who placed his estimate at 987,500. The Universal Portland Cement Co., offered 45 sacks of cement as prizes to the successful contestants. Very wide interest in the contest and in the attractive exhibit of the L. W. Gunby Co. was shown.

We Challenge "Guess Work" Clothes

There are two things that make a success or a failure of a suit of clothes—
The cloth and the fit.
It's a farce to think that you can tell how a complete suit of clothes is going to look on you by simply looking at a piece of cloth.

We want any man in this city who has on a tailor suit, to come into our store and make a few direct comparisons between his investment and a suit of Adler-Rochester clothes.

Adler-Rochester fabrics are the finest that woolen experts can find and immense purchasing power can buy.

Find a man who has ever worn an Adler-Rochester suit or overcoat and see if you can sell him "guess work" clothes.

A Colonial Scheme.
The great highway of the commerce of the future will be the Pacific ocean. Mighty capitalists throughout the world are putting their heads together to erect the most colossal system for wireless telegraphy in the world. The system contemplates the linking together of all points along the western coast of America from Bering sea to the Straits of Magellan, and spanning the miles of the ocean, to link with this chain the whole easterly shore of Asia, running on down to the Straits Settlements. The contemplated system will cost in the aggregate many millions of dollars.

How Character is Formed.
Characters are achieved—not received. They grow out of the substance of a man's soul. They are not put on as a beggar might put on a stolen coat. They mature like fruit from the vital fluids of the tree. This is a sign of their genuineness; they grow with use. A false limb wears out, wastes with use. A natural limb grows stronger and better with use. Character is an achievement.

Why He Did It.
"So your oldest boy has joined the glee club?" "Yes." "What caused him to take that step?" "I don't know. But, judging by sound, I guess it must have been melancholia."

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not let it to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BERRANE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I decided that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 2, Murrayville, Ill.

Nanette's mind; far from the flames of the tree hand she held behind her, something fluttered to the beach. Learning to his implement, the man regarded the paper, but not until the girl's low laugh was heard, as she and Master Beppo vanished in the darkness, did he step forward and secure it.

"Bo! That was it!" Breathless, indignant, Marie, standing in the black shade of one of the Mount's projections, watched the fellow read and regard carefully the message in his hand; then tearing it, crumple the bits and thrust them toward his pocket as he walked off. "Brasen hussy! But her ladyship shall know; and if she doesn't pack you off, bag and baggage—Bo! What is that?" And springing forward, the woman pounced upon something that lay on the sand.

FORCE OF HABIT.

Two nice young girls, out for early bargains, met in front of a store on the avenue.

"I saw you in church yesterday, dear," gurgled one.

"Oh, were you in church?" gurgled the other.

"Yes, love. And I noticed that you had at last made your husband accompany you to divine worship."

"Of course he went with me. He'd rather go to the theater, but the theaters aren't showing anything on Sundays now. But he disgraced me."

"The pastor read four chapters from The Acts of the Apostles. And my husband insisted on getting up and going out after every act."

"It is our only chance." In her eyes a steady glow replaced the varying lights, and, getting up with a sudden air of determination, Nanette crossed the room to where, near the door, stood a small desk. Glancing quickly around, she seated herself and, reaching for paper and pen, wrote carefully and somewhat laboriously a few words. She had finished and was contemplating the result of her eager efforts when a hand at the door caused her to dash down the pen and spring to her feet. As her aunt entered, Nanette took a few steps forward, and, bending to pick up her work from the floor, turned partly away and thrust the paper into the bosom of her gown.

"I came to tell you supper is ready," said Marie quietly.

At the table with her aunt the girl's manner was subdued and deferential; she observed the nicest proprieties, and bestowed on the other's slightest word a need of attention calculated to soften the old woman's attitude and suspicions. And possibly succeeded; or, it may be, Marie's own conscience had begun to reproach her; for a number of days had passed and nothing had as yet occurred to justify the early apprehensions she had entertained. Under the circumstances the meal was a little prolonged; the first shafts of twilight had entered the courtyard and had begun to steal into the narrow chamber with darkening effect, ere of an accord the two women pushed back their chairs.

"It gets dark early," said the girl, "so time has passed quicker than I thought. Perhaps it was what you were telling me of the former lady of the Mount. She must have been very beautiful!"

"She was," answered the woman; "and as good as beautiful!"

"Heigh-ho!" Nanette sighed, through the window watched the shadows that like dark, trailing figures seemed creeping up the ancient wall to caress and linger on green leaves of vines, bright flowers and other living things. "But I suppose she had everything she wanted." The girl stirred restlessly. "What sort of a man is Monsieur Beppo, aunt?"

"Beppo?" Recalled as from a long train of recollections, the woman did not seem to notice the abruptness of the inquiry. "Oh, he is an old and faithful servant. For almost as many years as I have been here," with an accent of pride, "has he served at the Mount!"

"And his moral character, aunt?" demurely.

"Monsieur Beppo has a reputation for piety, no doubt deserved!" returned the woman, with an accent of surprise. "At any rate, he seldom misses a mass. But why do you ask?"

"Because I met him today and he invited me to walk with him this evening."

"He did?" Marie's mouth grew firmer. "And you?"

"I didn't exactly know how to refuse him—looked so old and respectable! I thought, too, you wouldn't mind and—I'm glad you think so well of him, aunt."

In the gathering gloom the listener's face seemed suddenly to grow graver; her eyes, which had returned to the girl's, expressed once more doubt and misgiving. With her glance lifted upward, however, Nanette did not seem to notice this quick change. A star-faint forerunner of a multitude of waiting orbs—peeping timorously down from above the gray, gaunt mass of stone, alone absorbed the girl's gaze and attention.

"Where were you thinking of going?" after a silence of some length the older woman asked.

"I don't recall," Monsieur Beppo mentioned, "was the low murmured response. "But, of course, aunt, if you object—"

"I do not know that I do," said the other slowly. "Only, as if the thought had suddenly come to her, "what were you writing at her ladyship's desk when I went to call you?"

"Writing?" Nanette regarded her blankly. "I don't understand you, aunt."

"Weren't you writing something that you hid in your dress when I came?"

"No!" The girl looked full at the other; denied point-blank the accusation. "Now that you speak of it, I believe I did step to the desk," she answered glibly, "to look at some ornament; but as for writing, or darning, I should not have presumed."

A low discreet rap at the door interrupted, and, with a whispered "There he is now!" Nanette cut short further argument by rising.

"She is not telling the truth!" For some time the woman stood looking down in gloomy thought after the two had gone. "What does it mean?" Moving to a peg, she took down a shawl. "What is it mean?" she asked herself again, and, wrapping the garment about her head and shoulders, left the room.

Half an hour later, at Beppo's side, on the beach, Nanette measured her steps to his; listened to the old man's platitudes, and even turned a not unwilling ear to sundry hints and innuendos of a tenderer nature. The girl was in her most complaisant mood, and, in his role of discreet gallant to young and blooming womanhood, the fat facetious strove to make the most of the opportunity. He sighed; bethought him of a sentimental tale, and carped of the beauty of the moon, then gliding the edge of the Mount's high towers! She answered; looked; but soon her eloquent glance averted to the sands, dotted by desultory seats of cockles, or belated stragglers from the shore, and fastened itself on a jutting point of the Mount.

Near it, before a large rock of peculiar shape, a man was engaged in that common nocturnal labor of the locality, digging! As the couple drew near, quickly he raised his gaze; almost at once let it fall; engrossed in his work, continued to toss the sand and stoned over it searchingly. But when they had gone by, once more he straightened, and, at the same time, the girl looked back. Stalwart, black-bearded, a sailor by his dress, the fellow made a sign, and, apparently any doubt as to who he was vanished from Anty Drudge.—"Why not make your essay about practical things: 'How Fels-Naptha Has Lightened Woman's Work.' After you are married, and have a house of your own, you will find that Fels-Naptha has done more to take the sting out of housework than anything ever invented."

The three great forward steps in woman's housework are:
The modern range in place of the old fireplace and kettle;
The sewing machine in place of laborious hand-sewing;
Fels-Naptha soap, which makes it easy to wash clothes in cool or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing.
Of these three, Fels-Naptha saves the woman more back-breaking labor, more time, more money, and does more to make life pleasanter than either of the others.

At the very first, you can see how it saves time and labor, but perhaps you'll wonder how Fels-Naptha saves money. In two ways: First it saves the cost of coal or gas to heat water and boil the clothes.

Then the clothes last longer when washed with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water.

Their fibre isn't weakened by boiling nor strained by hard rubbing. You can't realize just what a help Fels-Naptha is until you've tried it in your own washing.

Why not begin next washday? Fels-Naptha easy way of washing in place of the tiresome, tedious back-breaking method. Use it according to directions on the red and green wrapper, winter or summer.

Advertising Talks

RETAIL ADVERTISING

From the Viewpoint of the Country Merchant.

The following is a portion of an address delivered by David Oranahy, a well-known merchant and advertiser of Atlantic, Iowa, before the meeting of the Western Iowa Editorial Association at Council Bluffs:

It is a sad but too true fact that the country merchants as a rule are not extensive advertisers. I am convinced that they should advertise regularly and persistently. I believe not only because some people who are supposed to know say so, not only because my actual experience in connection with retail advertising in a small town has demonstrated to me the far-reaching benefits, both direct and indirect, to be derived from persistent advertising.

In this great period of advancement and progress, mere storekeepers can no longer succeed. It takes live, wide-awake, aggressive merchants to succeed today. The successful merchant of today, whether in the large city or the small town, must deal with modern conditions. One of the most important of these is the fact that this is a great age of publicity. Printer's ink is today selling more goods than ever before in the world's history and from present indications, its usefulness in this respect is only beginning.

People depend upon their newspapers and magazines for information as to what to buy and where to buy. If we would be successful we must tell the public what we have to offer. We must, through the judicious use of printer's ink, convince the people that our wares are desirable and that our values are consistent with the prices asked. The ultimate end of the non-advertising retailer is very propheticly depicted in a little book credited to Mark Twain. During Mark Twain's newspaper days, one of his readers found a spider in his copy of the paper and wrote Mark asking what it meant. The reply was that the spider was looking over the columns of the paper to ascertain who were the non-advertisers, so that he could weave his web over their doors.

So if the small town merchant does not advertise the people of his community are not advised of the fact that he has reliable and desirable goods, or that he offers excellent values. They read the announcements of the large city merchants; they are attracted to the cities or, in too many instances, they fall victim to the alluring literature of the mail order houses. Trade which rightfully belongs to them is leaving solely because of lack of publicity. For this reason it is obvious that extensive advertising is one of the strongest weapons that the country merchant possesses against the giant mail order houses.

But, if it is true that it pays the small town merchant to advertise extensively, if it is true that advertising is one of the merchant's most extensive means of combating the mighty mail order establishments, then, you ask, why is it that he advertises so little.

There appears to be two reasons. The first applies to, I hope, but a very small per cent. of the existing dealers. They are not progressive; they believe what was true ten or twenty years ago is true today; they forget that this is an age of publicity; they do not understand the mighty power of advertising; in short they are what we would term "old fogies." But, gentlemen, do not class all merchants who are not liberal users of printer's ink as back number.

Advertising is a difficult proposition and it is especially difficult for the small town merchant. I say, advertising pays, but that doesn't mean that if I buy large quantities of space and fill it full of type that I get results. The very fact that this is an age of publicity makes it all the more difficult to prepare winning advertisements. Hundreds of advertisements are being printed daily. The country merchant's printed announcements must compete with those of the city merchants' and mail order houses, which, by the way, are carefully prepared by advertising specialists. The advertiser must therefore make his advertisements attractive. He must study first of all the layout, he must carefully plan an arrangement so that he may obtain an effective appearance.

Even though the arrangement and layout should be the first consideration of the advertiser, it is evident from the appearance of most country merchants' ads that their first consideration is the text. Here again the merchant has some difficult work mapped out for him. He must first determine what to advertise, and then come the description and argument. Assuming that he has gained the attention of the reader, the success of the announcement now depends upon the ability of the advertiser.

The Simple Reason.
"Why are we so late?" asked the passenger, whose question is reported to the Boston Transcript. "Well," replied the conductor, "the train in front was behind, and the train was behind before, besides."

School shoes for children and teachers. Look well, wear well and comfortable.—E. Homer White Shoe Co.—Advertisement.

clear to create a strong desire for the offering.

The most profitable and most difficult method of advertising, and which method is seldom used by the small town merchant, is to exploit the quality, style, newness, worth and desirability of his merchandise with consistent price as a minor consideration. But can you imagine the country merchant with so many different lines of goods on his shelves attempting to determine the logical items to advertise, attempting to describe the features of his merchandise which will appeal to the public, attempting to choose or rather find the words, phrases and expressions which will suggest the desirability of his wares? Does not this suggest to your mind some of the problems of the country advertiser?

Or, if he chooses the less difficult but more frequently used method of appeal, he will talk price in his announcements. He will continually be holding "special sales," selling goods for cost and less. And if he gives values even half as great as his advertisements tell about, he will find himself conducting business at a loss or, after leading his customers to expect wonderful bargains, he attempts to obtain regular prices, he will soon discover that his ads have lost all effectiveness.

But in this age of publicity, the public looks to the merchant's announcements, not always for the story of a wonderful bargain event, but they are expecting to find information on what is good and what is bad, information to help them decide what they want, information concerning the most advantageous place to secure what they desire.

So the successful advertiser in city or village must choose for his subjects goods in which the public is interested; he must describe the goods in an interesting, truthful and forceful manner; he must advertise frequently and regularly, but most important and difficult of all, he must make his ads attractive, appealing and easily read.

It is my opinion that the newspaper can increase the pulling power of the ads 25 to 50 per cent. by a little effort along the lines of effective display.

So, gentlemen, I say again that advertising is a most difficult proposition for the country merchant. We merchants need your co-operation and help. You publishers need our support. Let us get closer together on the problem of publicity. It must be solved by both merchant and publisher alike before either of us can succeed in the fullest measure in our undertakings.

Waiting for business to get better doesn't help improve it to any noticeable extent.

ADVERTISING GETS RETURNS

No Other Legitimate Method Equal to Publicity, Intelligently Directed, for Selling Goods.

Effort intelligently directed through publicity brings larger returns than any other legitimate method. This is often demonstrated in business of many sorts and nowhere does it show up with such continuous activity as in newspaper advertising. Rightly placed an advertisement is an invitation to a possible customer that has a vital weight. The advertisement of a reputable business, in the pages of a reputable newspaper, illustrates the word honor of the man behind the publicity. A merchant tells through an advertisement what he wants the public to know. He states a fact. That fact, if he is the reputable man he should be, can be depended upon, day after day and issue after issue of the paper in which his publicity is gained. It is the trade mark of his calling, the guarantee of honest merchandising and the advertisement of these reputable dealers are readable.

And advertising brings in larger returns. It is impossible to find a method that will make more dollars, for the investment, as can be brought out in trade directed by intelligent advertising of honest merchandise or honest needs or wants. The money spent in this way reaches directly more people than could possibly be found by any other square method.

And there are countless illustrations where it has been shown that advertising pays. There is a recent case where a local man applied for the fulfillment of a desire through the classified columns of this paper. The cost, entirely, was less than a dollar, for four insertions. The first day's paper brought him thirty-eight replies and during the running of the advertisement there were fifty responses. It would have been impossible to have gained what was thus gained, in any other manner, than by the expenditure of a great many times this much money.

Advertising and Religion.
Advertising in some aspects is a good deal like religion. Those who "get religion" from an evangelistic burst of oratory are often disappointed in its effect upon their lives. Spasmodic advertisers are frequently the converts of an advertising enthusiast who predicts great and immediate results in the business.

There are backsliders in advertising as well as religion. The percentage is probably just as high and they all blame "the religion" instead of their understanding. Real advertising must be as much a part of the business itself as true religion is of right living.—Paul W. Minnik.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA
The Wine of Good Humor.
Honest good humor is the oil and wine of a merry meeting, and there is no jovial companionship equal to that where the jokes are rather small and the laughter abundant.—Washington Irving.

BOSSISM.

The boss merely as a political organizer is not dangerous; merely as a manager who commands the organization and gets out the vote on polling day he is not to be feared, and he is an almost necessary instrument of politics. But the man we call boss is the agent of those who wish to control politics for their own interest. I have known some of these gentlemen personally, and I know exactly how they work. They haven't any politics at all. That is the point, and there is no difference between a Democratic boss and a Republican boss, because neither of them is working for his party. They are both working for their clients, and their clients wish to see that man do not get into office who thwart them and that it is not passed that embarrass their business. And the chief supporters of the Democratic boss, if he happens to be in the majority, are often those most closely associated with the Republican boss, and vice versa.—Woodrow Wilson.

LOWLY PRAISE.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

The Panama canal is an important thing, not perhaps for the immediate present so much, but continually and in a growing degree. I don't look for great changes in commerce at once. Of course the canal will bring other cities closer to New York, which will be a great thing for bettering commercial relations. What one admires about the canal—at least, the way I look upon it—is the way it has been constructed. It is one of the finest exhibitions of the American thoroughness, administrative power, financial and industrial strength and skill. I think it is a wonderful monument to the American people, and I sincerely hope that this magnificent contribution made by the American people to the commerce of the world will never be allowed to become a source of ill feeling. We don't want to see another canal built in that part of the world. We want to see the United States reap the full fruits of its enterprise and expenditure, so far as this may be found consistent with her own obligations to the rest of the world.—Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for Australia.

ATHEISM.

God exists. We cannot doubt and we cannot prove it. God lives in our conscience, in the conscience of humanity, in the universe which surrounds us. The conscience feels him in its most solemn moments of sorrow and of joy. The universe manifests him in the order, harmony and intelligence of its motions. The first atheist was without any doubt a man who was concealing some crime from men and sought by denying God to free himself from the sole witness he could not escape and so to still his self torment.—Mazzini.

THE PRUDENT MAN.

The man who lives within his income is naturally contented with his situation, which by continual though small accumulations is growing better and better every day. He is enabled gradually to relax both in the rigor of his parsimony and in the severity of his application, and he feels with double satisfaction this gradual increase of ease and enjoyment, from which having felt before the hardship which attended the want of them. He has no anxiety to change so comfortable a situation and does not go in quest of new enterprises and adventures which might endanger but could not well increase the severe tranquility which he actually enjoys. If he enters into any new projects or enterprises they are likely to be well conceived and well prepared. He can never be hurried or driven into them by necessity, but has always time and leisure to deliberate soberly and coolly concerning what are likely to be the consequences.—Adam Smith.

PUBLIC SALE

Order of Publication
 Simons & Morris vs Emma Polk and others.
 No. 1888 Chancery, in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland.
 The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate situated in Trappe District of Wicomico County, Maryland, of which Isaac James Burris, late of Wicomico County, Maryland, deceased, was in his lifetime and at the time of his death seized and possessed in fee simple, for the payment of certain debts to the said Simons & Morris and various other creditors, and for distribution of the proceeds, if any, according to their respective rights under this Court.
 The bill alleges that the said Isaac Burris departed this life having real and personal estate leaving no widow, but leaving surviving him as his heirs at law: Emma Polk, who has intermarried with James Polk, Olivia Burris, who is unmarried, Milton Burris, who has since intermarried with Nettie Burris, and Fountain who has intermarried with Joshua Fountain, Addie Burris, who is unmarried, Carrie Burris, Willie Burris, Helena Burris and Isaac James Burris, who are infants under the age of twenty one years.
 That the said Milton Burris and Nettie Burris his wife, Addie Burris and Carrie Burris are non-residents of the State of Maryland.
 The bill further states that the personal estate left by the said Isaac Burris at the time of his death was very little and not sufficient to pay the debts of the said deceased, and prays that the real estate may be sold for the payment of his debts.
 It is thereupon this 7th day of November, 1912, ordered by the undersigned, the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, in equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of December, 1912, give notice to the said absent or non-resident defendants of the object and substance of said bill warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 8th day of December 1912, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed in said bill.
 ERNEST A. TOADVINE, Clerk Circuit Court, Wicomico County, Maryland.
 True Copy, ERNEST A. TOADVINE, Clerk.

HOW WOMEN WOULD RULE.

If women could vote for president of the United States they would choose a woman who had made good, and such a woman they would consider would be one who had reared her children well, for woman has the administrative power. She brings order out of chaos every day in the household. She makes things happen, and happens quickly. But I do not believe either her inclinations or the votes of other women would place a woman in the White House. I think her forte in politics will be municipal housekeeping. Cities need her. In every block there should be a voluntary woman health inspector who lives in the block and who will find out what evils menace the health of the dwellers in that block and remove them. This will be far better than the present system. Men make a mystery of politics. The members of a secret society used to pride on secrecy, but they have laid down in the matter since politicians began to teach things about mystery. Women wouldn't make a mystery of it. When their enthusiasm bubbled up they would tell what they knew, and there would be the action I have told you about. Women would choose for any sort of office a good man, for their interest in public affairs radiates to and from the home. They would choose a man who would act for the interests of the home. Their administrative ability would reach out and widen through municipal affairs into national—Miss Edith Ellis Furness.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

We are getting that sense of social responsibility without which no government is enlightened and no people free. It is the demand of our time that all private profit, in whatever business earned, should be linked with morals and with the interests of humanity. We intend not only to see that men are dealt with justly, but that they are helped humanely, that children are not suffered to stunt their growth by untimely labor, that women are shielded against carrying too long the cruel burden of modern industrial work, that women and men alike are restricted to reasonable hours of labor, that their strength is safeguarded by proper sanitation and that their lives are protected from injury by every device which can make their occupations safe.—Woodrow Wilson.

COUNSEL OF QUIETUDE.

There is peace in power. The men who speak
With loudest tongues do least.
And the surest sign of a mind that is weak
Is its want of the power to rest.

—John Boyle O'Reilly.

POWER FROM THE SUN.

Even making allowances for the absorption of heat on the part of the atmosphere and for other circumstances, we see that the solar energy that reaches a small tropical country is equal annually to the energy produced by the entire amount of coal mined in the world. The desert of Sahara, with its 6,000,000 square kilometers, receives daily solar energy equivalent to 6,000,000 tons of coal. On the arid lands there will spring up industrial colonies without smoke and without smokestacks. Forests of glass tubes will extend over the plains, and glass buildings will rise everywhere. Inside of these will take place the photochemical processes that hitherto have been the guarded secret of the plants, but that will have been mastered by human industry which will know how to make them bear even more abundant fruit than nature, for nature is not in a hurry and mankind is. And if in a distant future the supply of coal becomes completely exhausted civilization will not be checked by that, for life and civilization will continue as long as the sun shines. If our black and nervous civilization, based on coal, shall be followed by a quieter civilization based on the utilization of solar energy, that will not be harmful to progress and to human happiness.—Dr. Giacomo Ciamician.

UNREASONABLE EXPECTATIONS.

If it be asked, What is the improper expectation which is dangerous to indulge? Experience will quickly answer that it is the expectation as is dictated by reason, but by desire. Men think that requires the same general rules of conduct.—Dr. John

REMOVABLE YOKES ARE BEST

Decided Economy in the Matter of Laundry When There is a Baby in the House.

Yokes on baby's dresses soil more quickly than any other part of the little frocks; therefore a clever woman has introduced the idea of making detachable yokes that can be put over a plain slip, taken off and easily laundered when soiled.

These yokes are very much on the order of the lace and linen collars worn by baby's mother, but they button in the back with tiny washable buttons, either lace or plain linen.

One dainty yoke is made of alternate strips of fine tucking and narrow lace insertion. The pattern over which it is cut is exactly like a square sailor collar that opens in the back.

There is no seam on the shoulders; the strips of lace and tucking extend over the shoulders three inches back and front from that point. A narrow lace edge finishes the yoke on the outer edge and also at the neck and band. When worn, it is attached to the dress by two small gold pins, one on each shoulder.

Fine linen handkerchiefs, embroidered and edged with lace or a narrow hemstitch, can be made into the daintiest little yokes imaginable. Cut from the center a circle three inches in diameter, then fold the handkerchief over once and out through the fold on one side to the neck opening. Press the neck edge out edge with narrow strips of linen, sew small buttons and work buttonholes on the opening, then whip a narrow lace edge around the neck, and the yoke is ready to adorn the dress of your infant son or daughter.

PROPER CARE OF THE FEET

Time Spent in Bathing, the Use of Lotions and Kind Attention Well Repaid.

Women who spend hours caring for their hands pay little attention to their feet. They are such hard worked members of the body that they deserve better treatment.

Feet are best kept in condition by shoes that fit. Never economize shoe leather and do not yield to vanity and get footwear that is too small.

Frequent bathing keeps the feet from being tired and swollen, and it prevents roughness of the skin that leads to callous spots.

Water, in which a bit of washing soda has been dissolved, is restful. Hot salt water is equally refreshing, while a vigorous rubbing with alcohol will quickly relieve a burning sensation.

Pumice stone, used frequently, keeps the skin smooth. It is especially necessary upon the heel and on the ball of the foot, where the weight of the body rests in walking.

Never cut the nails too short, as they are more likely to become ingrown. And file them smooth with sandpaper, so they will not catch and pull the threads of your stockings.

Occasionally visit a chiropodist. He will detect any irregularity in the growth of nails, and money and pain are saved.

And remember that one's disposition is quickly affected by painful feet.

Fashion's Fancies

Brown and green are most harmoniously blended in a frock of green-shaded taffeta and brown chiffon. In no case must a costume be over-trimmed. We look now for the lines and fit, rather than the decoration.

Shadow lace, either in white, cream or dyed to match the gown, is much used on the soft, shimmering taffetas.

The touch of black in tulle, chiffon, net or lace or narrow velvet ribbon, or buttons are employed to give individuality.

All-white handbags and parasols and beads, buckles and rings are entirely new. There is a great vogue for this snowy effect.

Feathers are favored beyond all other trimmings for the dress hat. No price seems too extravagant to invest in these hat trimmings.

WHITE LACE WAIST

This attractive waist is of white lace with sleeves cut in one piece with the body of the waist. It is trimmed at the bottom in corset fashion with beautiful embroidered heads of gold galloons.

It has a monumental length of empire waist.

CARNEGIE PENSIONS CRITICIZED.

It is a serious question whether a pension is not an obstruction to the highest teaching efficiency. It is a serious thing to shift the teacher's goal from the making of men and women of great intellectual proficiency to a higgawag and a garden of rose trees.

The one class of men who should stand far and away from all such motives, upon whom there can be no possible purchase price, are the teachers in our colleges.

The ministers in the pulpits should not surpass them in this. There are not enough of them who starve or suffer for raiment to excite the sympathy of the people. When the rage for money, when the fever for a pension, when the vision of peaceful retirement, enter the veins of our professors, farewell to old time ideals. They are not paid adequately, but a thousand times better poverty and even distress and the passion that burns a living, inextinguishable fire on the altar of every classroom. The poverty of the college professor and the poverty of the student have a helpful, sympathetic relation to each other.

If great foundations, instead of attempting to exact regarding conditions for the reward of pensions, would permit colleges and universities to nominate candidates to travel for purposes of study in European libraries, museums and laboratories and to refresh their minds in lecture rooms of the masters of their respective sciences the professors would take care of their old age by being young in their work when they are old. Take the pensions away from before our professors and give them helps to more efficient work. My observation is that they do not ask for pensions. They desire the help to put their sabbatic years into the original foundations of learning.—Chancellor Day of Syracuse University.

Novel Mat for Hot Dishes.

Cut a piece of pasteboard the size and shape desired, round, square, or octagon, and sew on this felt or flannel. On the reverse side sew on flat bone, pearl, or china buttons, all of one size, putting them on in rings or other patterns. These will hold the hot dish up from the table.—National Magazine.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often throughout the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

TEA AND TOBACCO.

My pipe is food and drink at once, and I know no better example of nature's frugality than the fact that an ounce of tobacco provides me with a meal. Women delight in tea even as men prize tobacco. This difference in taste leads to friction of temper. Drinkers of tea inhale many a disagreeable whiff of tobacco, and lovers of tobacco are driven to accept many an unwelcome cup of tea. I as a sufferer would gladly set on foot a formal league which should compel an armed neutrality and protect the one belligerent from the odor of the delicious pipe and the other from the complacency of the tyrannous teacup.—Johann Jakob Bodmer.

FORMATION OF HABITS.

In the child instinct predominates; in the adult habit rules supreme. Up to a late period in life we are continually forming habits. Habits are either spontaneous or artificial. If we do not control and supervise our habits they will form themselves spontaneously through the mere repetition of acts and emotions.

On the other hand, nothing is more certain than that by going systematically to work with sufficient will power we may establish good habits and even substitute good habits for bad ones.

Arnold Bennett, the novelist, has put the matter better than any one else I know of. "There is not a man," he says, "who reads these lines but has in this detail or that proved in himself that the will forcing the brain to repeat the same action again and again can modify the shape of his character as a sculptor modifies the shape of damp clay."—W. H. Maxwell, Superintendent of New York Schools.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS CRITICISM.

Every country is responsible in the long run, somehow and at some time, for the windows broken by its press. The bill is presented some day or other in the ill humor of the other country. We can easily be influenced by love and good will—too easily perhaps—but most assuredly not by threats. We Germans fear God, but nothing else in the world, and it is a fear of God that makes us love and cherish peace.—Bismarck.

is bound to show whether the complexion is more or less a condition.

A skin that appears to be in perfect health and in perfect condition, is the result of a system and pure blood.

It is a serious question whether a pension is not an obstruction to the highest teaching efficiency. It is a serious thing to shift the teacher's goal from the making of men and women of great intellectual proficiency to a higgawag and a garden of rose trees.

The one class of men who should stand far and away from all such motives, upon whom there can be no possible purchase price, are the teachers in our colleges.

The ministers in the pulpits should not surpass them in this. There are not enough of them who starve or suffer for raiment to excite the sympathy of the people. When the rage for money, when the fever for a pension, when the vision of peaceful retirement, enter the veins of our professors, farewell to old time ideals. They are not paid adequately, but a thousand times better poverty and even distress and the passion that burns a living, inextinguishable fire on the altar of every classroom. The poverty of the college professor and the poverty of the student have a helpful, sympathetic relation to each other.

If great foundations, instead of attempting to exact regarding conditions for the reward of pensions, would permit colleges and universities to nominate candidates to travel for purposes of study in European libraries, museums and laboratories and to refresh their minds in lecture rooms of the masters of their respective sciences the professors would take care of their old age by being young in their work when they are old. Take the pensions away from before our professors and give them helps to more efficient work. My observation is that they do not ask for pensions. They desire the help to put their sabbatic years into the original foundations of learning.—Chancellor Day of Syracuse University.

Novel Mat for Hot Dishes.

Cut a piece of pasteboard the size and shape desired, round, square, or octagon, and sew on this felt or flannel. On the reverse side sew on flat bone, pearl, or china buttons, all of one size, putting them on in rings or other patterns. These will hold the hot dish up from the table.—National Magazine.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often throughout the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Dick—Insomnia, I suppose.
Tom—No; new baby.

A Tense Matter.
Millie—"Was that your intended with whom I saw you yesterday?"
Grace—"Yes, my present 'future' so to speak."

ASPIRATION.

Ah, when shall all men's good Be each man's rule, and universal peace Lie like a shaft of light across the land, And like a lane of beams athwart the sea Through all the circle of the golden year?
—Tennyson.

CONFESSION.

The impulse to confession almost always requires the presence of a fresh ear and a fresh heart, and in our moments of spiritual need the man to whom we have no tie but our common nature seems nearer to us than mother, brother or friend. Our daily familiar life is but a hiding of ourselves from each other behind a screen of trivial words and deeds, and those who sit with us at the same hearth are often the farthest off from the deep human soul within us, full of unspoken evil and unacted good.—George Elliot.

Any women with pimples, skin eruptions, sores or boils, does not appear attractive and cannot enjoy life. Bloodine Ointment cures them and makes the skin soft and velvety. Cures cold sores, cracked lips, chapped hands, sore eyes, itching and bleeding piles.

A MODERN VIEW OF MARRIAGE.

It is not necessary that the ideal wife should be a housekeeper. There is a too general confusion between the duties and obligations of marriage and the demands of household management. A woman may love a man enough to marry him, to make him her closest companion for life, without caring to become his cook. And I do not see that this reservation unites her for wifehood. In the unsystematized condition of home work at present the lowest position in an office offers higher development than the so called domestic duties. The trouble with household work is that we have no standards and no competition. A wife may be an excellent cook, or a second rate one, or a hopeless incompetent. She is what she is, and there exists no incentive to make her better. Her work is not judged by an ideal or by the work of another. Therefore household labor has fallen to a very low plane, and no married woman should be thrust back to it if she has made a success at something else. What constitutes the real marriage between a man and a woman is the love they bear each other, not the piano and dining room chairs which they share together.—Mrs. Edwin Bjorkman.

Hen's Ample Vocabulary.
It is claimed that the common hen is not far behind the turkey in her vocabulary. Furthermore, she is said to be a much more fluent "talker" than the rooster. Her cackle is used for three different purposes, and each cackle is different from the other cackles. One she uses when seeking a nest, or when calling for her mate; one when she is frightened; and another, of a triumphant sort, as she flies from or to the nest.

A LITTLE BIT HUMOROUS

Their Romance.

"He loves me, he loves me not," said Maud Muller, as she went through the garden picking potato bugs off the potato plants.

"He loves me."

She picked a potato bug.

"He loves me not."

She gathered another potato bug.

"A thrifty girl, forsooth," declared the judge. "Instead of playing that game with daisy petals, she plays it with potato bugs."

He proposed, they were married, and if the recall does not go into effect they will doubtless live happily.

Ambition.

"I wish I could get out of this town. It's no place for a fellow with any ambition."

"Why, I had an idea that it was a pretty good town. It has a higher average of successful men than almost any other place that I know of."

"Oh, that may be, but see how the poor devils have had to work for their success."

Well Worth Catching.

"Anything worth catching in that lake?" asked the young man who had just arrived.

The hotel proprietor matched his guest with another.

"See that girl in the red bathing suit?"

"Yes."

"She ought to be worth catching. They say she's worth 100,000 plunks."

THE BOTTOM DOG.

"So you want a position in my firm?" said the fat man with the thick gold chain. "Well, what were you in your last job?"

"A door, sir," answered the sad-eyed applicant.

"What's that?" asked the employer. "Well, sir," said the sad-eyed one, "I was the door, and the rest were the tellers. When my guv'nor wanted a thing done he would tell the cashier, the cashier would tell it to the bookkeeper, the bookkeeper would tell it to his assistant, his assistant would tell it to the chief clerk, and the chief clerk would tell it to me."

"And what would happen then?" "Well, sir," replied the sad-eyed applicant, "as I hadn't anyone to mention it to, I'd—do it."

Annoying Mishap. "A midnight revel was held in some private club rooms on the top floor of the Towers building last night. Jagworth was rather late in arriving and only one elevator was running. What do you suppose happened?"

"Something went wrong with the elevator."

"Right. It stuck between the first and second floors."

"And that, I presume, was one time when Jagworth couldn't rise to the occasion."

ENOUGH TO RATTLE ANYBODY.

"HEY?"

"I never really was rattled but once in my life."

"When was that?" "My wife's father was rather deaf, and I had to speak into an ear-trumpet when I asked him for her."

A Real Vacation. This year I shall not roam, I think it best. To stay right here at home and get a rest.

Nothing on Her. "She seems very happy."

"She is."

"Her husband had his salary raised?"

"No. She's been to every place she's getting souvenir postal cards from this summer."

Had a Sure Cure. "Are you aware of the fact that my daughter is very extravagant?" asked her father.

"Yes," replied the young man, "but I'll soon be able to cure her of that unless you wish to interfere."

Still at it. Satan—What are those two automobile fellows fighting about?"

Assistant—They've just got into an argument over whether this place ought to be air-cooled or water-cooled.—Puck.

For One Thing. "What," she asked with a haughty sneer, "would the garden of Eden have been without Eve?"

"Wall," he calmly replied, "it would probably have been quiet for one thing."

ONE LONG WAIT.

Hoax—My wife is going to wait for me at the gates of heaven, if she's the first to go.

Joss—You shouldn't be so mean as to make her wait through all eternity just because she made you wait occasionally.

Back From Vacation. The mountain view, I must admit, was grand to see. My still my little home looks prettier than ever.

Rather Mixed. "My wife's been attending last night."

"Dry bargains?" "Exactly, but he calls

PROFITS INCREASED BY SILO

Dairyman Should Be Ready to Take Advantage of Opportunities to Reduce His Expenses.

(By J. E. DORMAN.)

If a dairy farmer were told that he could roll silver dollars down a hill and then pick up two dollars for every one he rolled down, and this statement was verified by some of his neighbors and hundreds of other dairy farmers in the country, that farmer would stay up nights and roll the dollars. But when told that he could double the profits by the use of the silo he becomes very indifferent and leaps on in the same old rut, feeding dry feed, wasting nearly half of his corn crop and doing a lot of unnecessary work.

In these days of close competition, dairymen should be ready to take advantage of every opportunity to reduce the cost of production, and it will be found that it is easier, if the proper methods are used, to do that than to raise the selling price of the dairy products. The results are the same; a large net profit.

In the corn plant about 40 per cent. of the feeding value is in the stalk and 60 per cent. in the ear. When the ear alone is fed, nearly half of the corn crop is wasted.

Where the dry stalks are fed, at least half of them remain uneaten, while if stored in the silo the loss is almost nothing.

Modified Wisconsin Silo—Capacity 150 tons; size 18x30 feet; cost, $220, complete with roof and concrete floor.

stable and the conditions for a maximum milk flow are ideal. These conditions, however, do not last very long.

The silo comes as near to supplying the ideal conditions as anything that can be found, and it is available every day in the year. It provides a uniform feed for every one of the twelve months.

Highly sensitive dairy cows resent any sudden or violent change in feed, and will show it by a decreased milk flow. The change from fall pasture to dry feed is always followed by a shrinkage in the milk.

In changing from the pasture to the silage, the change is not so great, and often the cows increase the flow of milk when started on silage. Several dairymen have recently made the statement that the increased profits paid for the silo the first year.

DAIRY NOTES

Cows that are on pasture should have free access to salt.

Don't hesitate to increase the grain ration to keep up the milk flow.

The heifer whose first milk period is long, frequently develops the habit of long periods.

With soiling crops and some grain the dairy herd should maintain a profitable production.

Green feed fed to milk cows will insure larger profits, and as a good aid to this result is a silo.

When a dairymen learns to use the Babcock test he is started on the way to economic salvation.

One paper says: "Clean up frequently." It would be better for the dairy farmer to keep things clean all the time.

Phenomenally successful on the farm those who have followed dairying stand out pre-eminently.

If the calves that are in the pasture are expected to do well they should have plenty of shade and plenty of good clean water.

Vitality is a very important characteristic in the dairy cow or any other farm animal. If weak along this line the best returns cannot be expected.

WELL DESERVED

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Salisbury People. One kidney remedy has known merit. Salisbury people rely upon it.

When Mr. Lobner was interviewed on January 29, 1909, he said: "Anyone who takes Doan's Kidney Pills as directed will receive great results. I have never heard a word against this preparation and I consider it the best of all. I had trouble from my kidneys for thirty years and the nature of my work made the complaint worse. If I took cold it affected my kidneys, causing my back to become weak and lame. The kidney secretions were irregular and painful. Doan's Kidney Pills have always given me relief."

MADAME and her TOILET

Never allow either very hot or very cold food to come in contact with the teeth; the extremes in temperature will break the enamel and cause decay. When brushing the hair draw the brush firmly over the scalp and down the entire length of the hair in one stroke; the short stroke is liable to break the hair.

When the eyes ache they can be relieved by closing the lids for five minutes. If they have a burning sensation bathe them with hot water to which a dash of witch hazel has been added; if the whites are yellow and the pupils dull strict attention should be paid to the diet.

Soft Black Velvet Hats. According to the Dry Goods Economist soft black velvet hats are in excellent position, and the new showings include an extensive variety of such styles.

Questions of Value. The late Marshall Field stopped one of the smallest cash boys in his store and said: "My boy, how much do they pay you?" "Four dollars a week, sir," replied the boy. "That is more than twice as I got when I was your age," said the boy. "Well," said the boy, "I was not worth so much as I am to mine."

Advertising Talks

PROFESSIONAL ADVERTISING

BY BERT M. MOSES.

Everybody now recognizes advertising as something reputable; except the lawyers, dentists and doctors. Even the preachers of Dallas, Tex., gave up their pulpits on a recent Sunday to laymen, who talked on advertising.

When he seeks to turn that knowledge and skill into a livelihood, ethics and precedent limit him to a little tin sign tacked up beside the door. He is like the south pole—he must wait until somebody comes along and discovers him.

And in doing this I would have fully as much respect for myself as those misguided professional folks who do nearly every kind of advertising except the kind that costs money, and maybe I'd feel even superior to them.

ADVERTISING THAT PAID

John Arbuckle Declared He Spent Millions in Publicity, But It All Came Back.

John Arbuckle, the millionaire coffee man of New York, advertised in the want columns of the Sunday newspapers for two business assistants of high caliber. The number of replies he received astonished him and he sent a photograph of a pile of them three feet high and several feet in circumference to one of the New York newspapers with a letter, in which he said in part:

"Advertisement is the life of a newspaper—so I take the liberty of sending you a photograph of the answers I have received from the advertisement I put in last Sunday's newspapers. These answers come largely from men of large business caliber ($5,000 to $10,000 a year salary men). I have spent millions of dollars advertising, but it has all come back to me many times over. When you have a good honest thing advertise it freely and you will be amply repaid for the money you have spent in advertising."

Advertising cannot make a success of a poorly managed business, and most businesses which have succeeded through advertising had with them the capacity to succeed without advertising. Advertising simply shortens the time and emphasizes the success.

LOST

On Saturday night last Miss Rubie Owens lost from her buggy, either in Salisbury or on the road to Columbia, Del., a hand-bag containing a considerable amount of gold and bank notes. The bag was a Persian effect in brown and tan with long cords attached. Miss Owens will suitably reward the finder if notified either through The Advertiser office, or the County Commissioners Office.

Ready For Big Celebration

Every District To Be In Line. Horseback, Foot and A-Wheel.

If the activity of the managers in charge of the Monstrous Democratic Parade to celebrate the recent election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency comes for anything then the parade here next week promises to be a great success. Efforts are being made by each of the districts in the town to have a number in line so arranged and dressed as to impress all on lookers. Camden is preparing a number for horseback, foot and roller skates or bicycle, and the other districts do not intend to be a whit behind in the showing made. From the County districts comes reports of efforts being made to have a number of the democrats on hand. The parade is to start from the Fair grounds and then march in regular order through town. From the present outlook the demonstration will well be worth seeing and the music worth hearing, and the noise cheering, etc., will make a good old time in town.

ROUTE OF BIG PARADE

New The Big Procession Will March On Thursday Next.

Those who intend to take part in the big Democratic parade next Thursday will assemble at the Fair Grounds at 11 a. m. preparatory to starting at 12 noon. The route of the parade will be as follows: Byrd's Gate to Main street extended, to N. Division, to Church, to N. E. P. & N. depot, to Isabella, to N. Division, to Main, to Doer, to Camden Ave., to Middle Boulevard, to Smith, to Newton, to Locust, to S. Division, to E. C. & A. R. R. station. The parade will be followed by speaking in front of the Court House at 2 p. m. The torchlight procession will form at the steamboat wharf at 7 p. m. and the route of parade will be the same as, covered by the afternoon celebration. The citizens of Salisbury are respectfully requested to decorate their residences on November 21st along the route of the parade.

RAILROAD EQUIPMENT

N. Y. P. & N. Railroad Purchases 800 Box And 50 Gondola Cars.

To provide the highest class of ventilated equipment for perishable freight, the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad has just ordered the construction of 800 box cars. In addition to these 80 gondola cars will be built.

The New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad is a natural route to the North for the perishable vegetable and fruit grown in such abundance in Virginia, the Carolinas and other Southern States. In addition the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia Peninsula through 100 miles of which the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad runs, is one of the greatest truck-raising sections in the country. It is to provide equipment for any increase in this traffic that the Company is ordering new cars.

The box cars will be equipped with ventilation, making them suitable for handling potatoes and other produce shipments. These 800 will cost approximately $1,000,000. The contracts for the cars were awarded Monday as follows:

American Car and Foundry Company, 800 box cars; Ralston Steel Car Company, 50 gondola cars.

An Excellent Report.

Rev. J. F. Carey, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, South, at the evening service Sunday presented a fine report of the work done during the past Conference year. He said the membership had increased twenty, all the assessments had been met in full, and that the collections for home and foreign missions were the largest in the history of the Church. In addition to the regular collections for missions a special fund for Korea had been subscribed amounting to $1,000, of which $700 had been paid in.

He said the spiritual and financial condition of the Church was on a high plane and that there had been a general advance all along lines the past Conference year.

—Miss Irma Graham, Miss Louise Ganby and Miss Helen Graham are attending the foot ball game at Princeton today after which they will visit friends in New York.

Miss Mamie Phipps Wins $2.50 Gold Piece Miss Tresa Whyland Second Highest.

Miss Hilda Acworth Jumps to First and Miss Georgia Davis to The Second Place in Third District. New Places Included In District No. 1. All Contestants Hustling. Special Week Prizes. Contestants Sweeping the County.

Things are getting more lively each day in The ADVERTISER'S Big Contest and the contest spirit is prevalent all over the county and it doesn't even stop there as the surrounding counties are responding also. Some of the most popular young ladies in the County are candidates and are receiving votes from their friends all over the county. The run between Miss Phipps and Miss Whyland for the Gold piece has been very exciting all the past week and a spirit of keen but pleasant and friendly rivalry has been manifested by both young ladies.

Miss Katharine Lucas is still in the lead in the first district, notwithstanding the fact that she has been ill and is just getting about again. The ADVERTISER has decided to include the towns of Allen, White Haven, Bivalve, Tyankin, Nantuxook and Sharpnose in this first district. As this first district is the lowest of all the districts, it will give the new contestants in the towns which have been included about as good a chance of winning as the others and need not hinder those in that district who are already working.

Miss Hilda Acworth and Miss Georgia Davis have both been making rapid strides in securing votes during the past week. These young ladies are both very good campaign managers and have a number of friends lined up who are helping them. All of the girls in the third district are doing exceptionally well. Miss Edna Laws is still keeping up her good work. Miss Alice Laws withdrew from the field this week and is now assisting her cousin, Miss Edna Laws in securing votes. Miss Ethel Shockley is getting busy in her district and with her father and friends' assistance, is pulling in the votes. Miss Lulu German has fine prospects at Delmar. She writes the Contest Manager that although a great many votes have been promised her she hasn't been able to get around to collect yet. Miss Acworth is a very busy young lady. Miss Bounds is still getting them at Marlora, but her friends have been rather slow in responding during the past week. She is looking forward to strong support however, as Marlora is a very strong territory and Miss Bounds is one of the popular young ladies there.

SPECIAL PRIZES

The ADVERTISER offers two prizes this coming week, these offered to close Thursday night at ten o'clock.

FIRST.—A two dollar and a half gold piece to the contestant who secures the largest number of votes next week.
SECOND.—A two dollar and a half gold piece to the contestant who secures the largest number of new subscriptions, these two prizes not to go to the same contestant. If the one who has the largest number of votes, also secures the largest number of new subscriptions, the second gold piece will be given to the one securing the second largest number of new subscriptions. Please remember the time limit on both of these prizes is Thursday, November the twenty first, ten P. M.

CHANGE IN DATE

Owing to many new Contestants entering the field and to the inability of the Contest Manager to call on all of these sooner, The ADVERTISER has decided to extend the date of the closing of the contest until December twenty first. This will give all the girls a better chance to get over their territories and will allow some of the spirit of Christmas enthusiasm to enter into the Contest.

Death of G. E. Alexander.

The home of Mr. Sampson P. Downing, East Church Street was saddened yesterday, Friday morning by the death of Mr. Downing's son-in-law, Mr. Charles E. Alexander. Mr. Alexander had been a sufferer from heart trouble for about a year and was so affected that for the last six months he has been unable to attend to business. At the time of his death he was 80 years old. On October 13th, fourteen years ago he married Miss Rosie Wood Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Downing. While he was born and raised in Elkton Cecil County, much of his life had been spent in this city. He was a printer by trade and was for a number of years associated with The Courier. He had also held a responsible position in Elkton and Philadelphia.

He is survived by his widow and one half brother, Mr. John E. Alexander, who lives at Elkton. The funeral services will be conducted at the Downing home Sunday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. T. M. Martindale, D. D., officiating. The interment will be made in Parsons Cemetery.

Mr. Alexander was a consistent member of the Methodist Church and was also a member of the Odd Fellows, the Junior Order of American Mechanics and the Modern Woodmen of America.

NEW PENSION PLAN

Important Announcement Made At The Diamond State Office.

Manager Oarty of the Diamond State Telephone Co's headquarters in Salisbury, was officially notified last Monday by the headquarters of the Bell telephone system that an employee pension, disability, benefit and insurance plan is to be started. A fund of $10,000,000 for pensions, sick benefits and life insurance will be available on January 1st for the 175,000 employees of the Bell system and associated interests and their families and dependents. This fund will benefit more than a quarter of a million people, twice as many as are in the standing army of the United States. The Bell system includes the Diamond State Telephone Co., the Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Co. and a number of other concerns and the announcement of the plan will be of interest through the entire United States wherever the concern's telephone lines extend.

The employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and associated companies, the Western Union Telegraph Co., and the Western Electric Co., will also be benefited by the fund. The $10,000,000 fund will be made from year to year by annual appropriations on the part of the last named group of companies. The provision is made entirely at the expense of the various companies interested without contributions of any kind from the employees themselves. All employees of every rank will be benefited. The plan will provide for free change of employment from one company to another, with full credit for combined terms of service.

The committee from Powellville appeared before the board and asked for some repairs to the Pittsville-Powellville road. The board instructed Engineer Clark and Commissioner White to investigate the same and report. Engineer Clark and Commissioner White made a report on the Walston's Switch road, recommending that if the interested parties would abandon the old road without cost to the county they would recommend the new road, to which the commissioners agreed, and decided to contribute $75 on the bridge and dam.

SUNDAY READING

No. 2.—God Misrepresented.

Men misrepresent each other, some intentionally, some unintentionally, but the results are about the same. Men have had this evil to contend with and it has greatly retarded human effort. Men are often misunderstood by reason of their weaknesses or from their environments. Not only is man misrepresented but God himself is misrepresented and has been from the time Satan tempted man in the Garden of Eden down to the present. "And the woman said unto the serpent, 'We may eat of the fruits of the trees of the garden, but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, 'Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, 'ye shall not surely die.' Here in the very beginning of man's existence God was misrepresented and so he is today, not only by Satan but by man. Certainly a being who could and did create worlds, suns, moons, stars, man and angels in the display of his wisdom and power should be correctly represented, but such is not the case.

Again we find Satan misrepresenting God, in the case of Job whose life is an open discussion or the problem of human life generally. Satan told God Job was serving him for reward, out of the reward and Job's faithfulness would be gone, but this was not true as was proven by Job's fidelity in the days of poverty, bereavement and affliction. Again in the history of this same man Job we find man misrepresenting God. Job's three friends called to see Job in his affliction and the only consolation they offered was that he had displeased God and had been untrue to him and hence the trouble had come upon him. But said God to these friends of Job "Ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right." These friends of Job had to repent and get Job to aid by interceding for them before God would accept them.

In the Sunday School lesson of tomorrow we find a similar case of misrepresentation of God and his plan. After Christ had put the question to his disciples as to "who do men say that I am?" and received the answers he then put the question direct to Peter and his answer was satisfactory, but note what soon follows. Christ then began to explain to his disciples the experiences before him. How he would be rejected; how he would be killed and after three days arise again. He made this statement very emphatic and no doubt the disciples understood him. To be sure there was disappointment but only Peter dissented from the Master's views. He said "Be it far from Thee, Lord; this shall not happen." In his remarks Peter was opposing the divine will and his plan of which the death of Jesus was the center from which would come the fulfillment of the divine promise. Jesus perceived that Peter's words and influence would hinder the effect of the redemption of His sacrifice. He therefore said to Peter "Get thee behind me, Satan, thy words savor not of the things that be of God but of men." The expression of Peter in which he misrepresented God's plan brought down the disapproval of Christ and while he had but a short time before commended Peter for his correct

Waivace-Dorsey

Mr. John M. Waivace, of Helron and Mrs. Ethel Dorsey, of Marion, Md., were quietly married Thursday morning, November 14th, at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was attired in a traveling suit of dark blue broadcloth with hat to match. The groom wore conventional black. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on the North bound train for Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will reside at Helron.

3 Commissioners On Property Damages Assessed at $17,500

The third Commission which had been appointed on the proposed extension of Main Street through the property of Mr. Levin A. Parsons, Mrs. Annie T. Wailes and The Salisbury Realty Company from the head of Main Street to the N. Y. P. & N. R. R. tracks, handed in their report this week.

The Commission composed of Messrs. J. Cleveland White, Wm. F. Messick, and Wm. T. Phoebus and the damages and benefits as follows:

Name	Damages	Benefit
Levin A. Parsons	$16,000	$
Annie T. Wailes	500	3,000
Walter C. Humphreys	0	500
Wicomico County	0	2,000

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Public Business Transacted At The Court House Last Tuesday.

A committee from Powellville appeared before the board and asked for some repairs to the Pittsville-Powellville road. The board instructed Engineer Clark and Commissioner White to investigate the same and report. Engineer Clark and Commissioner White made a report on the Walston's Switch road, recommending that if the interested parties would abandon the old road without cost to the county they would recommend the new road, to which the commissioners agreed, and decided to contribute $75 on the bridge and dam.

Plat of the Waigo-Pittsville road was revised and E. W. Parsons and Covington Campbell objected to the road being built as per plat. The surveyor was requested to make another plat, showing alternative routes. Commissioner Ward asked permission to build a section of sand clay road leading from Salisbury to Powellville, the clay not to cost the county anything, and part of the hauling to be free, which the board agreed to. The board authorized Engineer Clark and Commissioner White to have concrete bulkheads constructed at the boiler outlet between Shad Point and Sharpe Point.

—Stansbury Matthews, a Fruitland farmer was seriously injured Saturday night, when a two horse team attached to a cart which he was driving became frightened and ran upon the tracks of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad in front of a Northbound freight train. Matthews was thrown from the cart and sustained a badly injured leg and lacerated breast, one horse was killed and the cart was demolished.

idea respecting who Christ was when Peter failed to correctly represent Him he was claimed with Satan and not recognized as a disciple.

These Scriptures reference prove that God does not credit a man for misrepresenting Him. God is grossly misrepresented in the pulpit, in our institutions of learning and in the various social and religious movements under the banner of Christ, but unless we represent God and His plan according to His Word we cannot hope to get the reward. A few examples only for the present, perhaps more later. God's Word says "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." We hear from the pulpit and read in our religious papers that the soul that sinneth shall live in eternal torment, burn forever. The Bible says, man die and a father knows not whether his children come to honor or dishonor. Modern ideas of the dead are that there is no death, Longfellow's idea, that what we call death is but transition is taken in preference. Yet men who get themselves up as teachers and preachers of the Word make these gross misrepresentations and expect to get their reward. God's ways are not man's ways says the Word, then if we expect God to reward us we must represent Him in His way. Velona Longhead.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

It goes without saying that there is something wrong in America. The farmer, although he has been blessed with most beautiful harvests and the highest prices for the products of his toil and industry, the merchant, the mechanic, the independent manufacturer, the clerk and the professional man, in the hour of peace and plenty, are to greater or less extent oppressed by the burdens of the high cost of living. What we all want is relief, and we want it now. The best that any of us can do is to take a chance. True it is that at the end of a life is judged by its works. But until then it is lived by faith. We must not only trust ourselves; we must also trust somebody else.—Thomas R. Marshall.

SUFFERING.

Suffering becomes beautiful when any one bears great calamities with cheerfulness, not through insensibility, but through greatness of mind.—Aristotle.

Night brings out stars as sorrow shows us truths.—Bailey.

MAETERLINCK MAXIMS.

The past is not unchangeable. It is contained in memory, and nothing is more impressionable, less independent, than memory, which is fed and molded ceaselessly by our mind and heart. As our present mental activity raises the things done in the past into the present, and we too to him who leaves the door of his heart open for the past to enter and dominate him! Man is alone, solitary upon this planet, and amid all the forms of life that surround him not one, except the dog, has made alliance with him. Some creatures fear us, most ignore us, not one loves us—except the dog.

OUR MODERN MINISTERS.

We hear nowadays a great deal about the lack of attendance at religious services, which some clergymen are pleased to attribute to a change in the beliefs of men. Yet this is by no means the whole, even if it is in any sense the correct, explanation. Men's minds have not changed about religion, though it is doubtless true that they have ceased to regard certain doubtful, debatable Scriptural incidents as a fundamental part of belief, but in all essential things the man of understanding more and more, as the mystery of life is borne in upon him, reverts to its religious interpretation. The trouble is that in our churches dogma is so frequently confused with belief, and the view seems to be entertained by many clergymen that in order to be assured of interested listeners, things merely ethical or which savor of the sensuous must be discussed. Too often for the fervent preacher of bygone days, with his quickening message, there is now the substitute of the prosaic lecturer upon very obvious themes, and the fires of aspiration are burning perilously low in many a sermon we hear in this generation. The pulpit in a very pronounced way has been transformed into the lecture platform, and one can see why the churches are not filled as of old with intellectual men and women is not because religious convictions have died out, but rather because the substance of what is heard from the preacher is no longer in the highest sense religious and the method of presentation of even worthy ideas no longer persuasive.—Joseph B. Auerbach.

TIME.

Do not waste time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Franklin.

God never imposes a duty without giving time to do it.—Ruskin.

Stay not until you are told of opportunities to do good. Inquire after them as a man.—Webster.

Idleness is costly without being a luxury. It is hard work for those who are not used to it and dull work for those who are.—Horace Smith.

APPEARANCES.

Appearances to the mind are of four kinds. Things either are what they appear to be or they neither are nor appear to be, or they are and do not appear to be, or they are not and yet appear to be. Rightly to aim in all these cases is the wise man's task.—Epictetus.

Time When She Would Be Seen.
At a long row of seaside bathing rooms, an important young man walked up to the door of one of the compartments, and knocking at the same, faintly inquired: "When in thunder are you going to get those trousers on?" There was a faint giggle, and a silver voice replied: "When I get married, I suppose." The young man smiled. He had mistaken the door.—Exchange.

The Lady of the Mount

by FREDERIC S. ISHAM
AUTHOR OF "THE STROLLER," "UNDER THE ROCK," ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The hesitation of the Marquis. The day of my lady's riding party dawned; in the east a tender flame burned, and, vanishing, left the heavens an unbroken blue. Shoreward the mists rolled up, until only in the neighborhood of the forts did the white soft vapor linger. On the Mount itself sunshine held sway; it radiated from the fortifications, "culiras of the rock," and gleamed on the church, "Urn of its majesty." It warmed a cold palace of marble; looked in at its windows, and threw bold shafts to lighten dark nooks and corners.

The Sound of Horns—

But my lady, mistress of the Mount, seemed to feel the beneficent touch; standing in the full glow and looking from her casement she shivered a little. Already she was dressed, and her habit of dark green, fitting close, served to accentuate the whiteness of her cheek which general absence of color, in turn, made the more manifest certain dark lines beneath the restless, bright eyes.

"Your Ladyship!" After knocking in vain, Marie had entered the room and set down the small tray she carried. "There is something your Ladyship ought to know!" with an air of excitement.

The Governor's daughter half turned. "What now, Marie?" she said sharply.

"It's about Nanette!" My lady made a quick movement of annoyance, impatience. "I did not tell your Ladyship, but I was averse to having her remain here. Your Ladyship does not understand, of course, and—"

"I do understand," said my lady unexpectedly. "And—you need not explain. I overheard you talking with her that night of the banquet!"

"Your Ladyship!" started.

"And I heard you speak of her father, Pierre Laroche, friend of the Black Selgneur."

"And engaged her—after that!"

"Why not I could watch—and I have! But you were wrong, Marie. My lady's manner was feverish. Your suspicions were ridiculous. There has been nothing—nothing! And day after tomorrow is the wedding celebration, and the next day, he, the Black Selgneur—"

She broke off abruptly.

Had Marie been less wrought up, less excited, less concerned with the information she had imparted, she could not have failed to notice the odd break in her young mistress' voice; something unusual, almost akin to despair, in her manner. As it was, that which weighed on the old nurse's mind precluded close observation of the other.

"But something has happened, my lady!" the woman half stammered.

"Comment! The girl turned to her sharply. "What? Explain, Marie!"

Disconnectedly, the woman launched into a narration of the events of the night before; my lady listened closely, with an interest and excitement she strove to conceal, half turning so that the other saw no longer her face.

"And here," ended Marie, extending a crumpled fragment of paper, "is a piece of the note she dropped on the beach. The up, but in thrusting the bits of paper into his pocket this fell out, and, after he walked away, I picked it up myself from the sand. I can't read, as your Ladyship knows, and there isn't much on it—only a word or two! But it may tell something."

My lady's face was now composed; the hand she extended, steady; for several moments she regarded the fragment.

"What does it say?" asked the woman anxiously. "Is it—of importance?"

Her mistress did not at once answer; twisting the bit of paper in her fingers, stood as if in thought, and the old nurse repeated her question.

"This note might have been intended for some admirer!" said, at length, the Governor's daughter slowly.

"He looked more like an old privateer!" murmured the woman. "And there may be some plot—some plan!"

"Privateer!" The girl's manner underwent a change; she shrugged her shoulders. "What could they hope to do at the Mount! You are imaginative, Marie!" lightly. "Nanette is good-looking, and what little is here would seem to signify a rendezvous. There may be no harm in that."

"I am sorry, my lady, to seem to think ill of my own kin," muttered the woman dejectedly, "but—"

"Think no more of it! You have done your duty. Now leave the matter to me, and—thank you, Marie!"

When, however, the old nurse had gone, all pretense of lightness faded from the face of the Governor's daughter, and, opening the bit of paper once more she scrutinized it swiftly, intently.

"Tomorrow—Monastery St. Ranu—" she read. "Yes! It must mean St. Ranu—where we are going. And where Beppo knew we were going! Beppo, she went down on the beach with!" Again she studied the fragment, striving to make out a word that had been blotted and was almost illegible. She frowned as she endeavored to decipher it. "Lady E." She gave an exclamation. "That refers, of course, to—but why?" She kept asking herself the question. "Why?" she repeated, when suddenly the brown eyes widened—changed; a new light shone in their depths. "It must be they intend to—what else?"

The sound of horns—signal for the party to gather—broke upon the air, and, nervously crushing in her palm the piece of the message, she stepped to the table, to the untasted breakfast. Like one in a dream, who yet feels the need for haste, she poured out the coffee; with unsteady hand raised the cup and drank; started to screw herself again; as if fearful of —a path that, springing from the roadside, seemed to plunge into the very heart of the labyrinth.

"Look! the short cut—that would bring us half an hour before them to the ruins! Let us take it!"

A light seemed suddenly to break on her companion, and he sprang lightly to his saddle. "As my lady will!" gallantly.

"Then call to the commandant, and tell him we'll meet them there!"

The Marquis obeyed, and, without awaiting answer, or demand from the officer in charge of the guard, the girl flicked her horse and sent him over a low bush into the narrow way.

Fairly in the path, she rode fast, and pressing hard behind, my lord soon found reason for doubt as to the advisability of that route, and a suspicion of regret at his own assent to the departure from the main thoroughfare. As the surroundings grew wilder and the slender green figure flitted more and more recklessly before him, he even ventured to voice his misgivings—advice greater care. A shake of the fair head was all he received for answer and, regardless of the increasing roughness of the way, she continued to sweep on, now uphill, then down, avoiding by a quick turn one obstacle here, leaping another there. From a black ambush, a branch like the arm of a Titan reached out to seize, but adroitly she swayed from its grasp and only the twigs and leaves touched lightly the best figure.

My lord, however, they struck sharply, and at the sudden smart and a quick realization of falling behind, bravely he drove his horse forward. The horse set to his natural speed, expected from her request to pursue the lonelier way promised now not to materialize; the idea that she was being pursued, possessed him. The forest, a tangle of shrubs and strange creepers, was the scene of the idyl; she, a sprite of the greenwood, danced illusively through the maze. At length when my lord had begun to grow weary of wearily underriding to overtake her, fate favored his efforts; brought to a standstill, at the edge of a torrent, the object of his pursuit.

"Are you mad, Elise?" A shadow on his brow, the Marquis rode down. She made no reply; regarded only the water.

"I hope it is not in your mind to attempt to cross," he went on, a shade of petulance in his accents.

She urged her horse forward; it stopped.

"Elise! I beg of you! It is dangerous; better go back, and around!"

But the girl set her red lips, raised her whip, and brought it down hard. The animal sprang into the foam; breasting the current, it slipped once or twice, recovered, and, after an effort, managed to reach the bank opposite. My Lord—less blithely than he had first embarked on the adventure—followed; the cold waters surged around, and he almost expected to be swept away. At length, however, chilled by the icy touch of the torrent and somewhat more out of humor, he found himself on the other side. Near the top of the bank, where the Governor's daughter had now the grace to await him, he reined his horse, disapproval on his face, reproach in his eyes. Yet still did the girl remain unconscious of her lover's wounded sensibilities; her own eyes, like stars beneath the flurry of hair, were turned, not to the young man, but away, toward a gaunt-looking ruin that had suddenly uplifted itself, as if by magic, through a rift in the forest. But a few hundred yards distant, the black crumbling walls bristled with rough, jagged edges—big, broken teeth that snarled at the rim of the ever-young wood. The very brightness of the day seemed only to emphasize the ominous aspect of the place; to reveal more plainly the solitary character of its wildness.

"The monastery, I suppose!" following the direction of her gaze, the Marquis, after a pause, gradingly pronounced.

"Yes," said the girl in a low tone; "yes!"

"Shall we go on?"

Her eyes, passing over a tangle of shrubs, bushes and thick, natural screens, slowly settled on a spot, not far away, where a wild bird, about to alight, fed of what it screened.

"Shall we go on?"

"With a start the girl turned; the clear-cut features were very grave; in her gaze shone sudden compunction. She raised her hand. "My veil!" she said quickly. "I—dropped it. Do you mind? You—you will find it on this side of the stream—a little way down."

"Mind?" He regarded her doubtfully a moment; then moved by the irresistible appeal in her eyes, rather abruptly he wheeled, and as he did so she gathered up the reins. Ere proceeding farther upon this errand of gallantry, my lord looked around.

"You seem to set great store on this veil," he observed suspiciously. "And I believe you were about to ride off!" he added, noting her expression, when, before she had time for pretext or answer, a heavy body stirred in the bushes, near at hand, and a gruff voice called out.

"Stand where you are!"

The man's face changed; his gaze, as if fascinated, now rested on a score of rough figures who, following the order, so unexpected and startling, sprang simultaneously from neighboring thicket or covert, and advanced to surround them. Held by their grim aspect—the desperate determined visages; the black, threatening looks—in the surprise of the moment, too late my lord's hand sought the sword at his side. Roughly plucked from his horse, he found himself flung to the sward; unconsciously plighted, and heard the voice of my lady raised in his behalf.

Anty Drudge helps Mrs. Bride dry Her Tears.

Anty Drudge—"What! Tears—so soon Mrs. Bride? Well, well, now tell me all about it. Did you and George quarrel?"

Mrs. Bride—"Oh! No, no, Anty. I am so discouraged. I tried to do the wash this morning and—the hard rubbing and hot water hurt and scalded my hands so I had to stop. I—I know I shall never be able to do it."

Anty Drudge—"There, there, dearie, of course your soft, little hands can't stand scalding water and hard rubbing. But you can do your wash—just as well as anybody—in cool or lukewarm water. Now dry your eyes, while I run over to the grocer and get a cake of Fels-Naptha, and show you how an up-to-date wife does her wash."

Is one soap as good as another?
Is one cook as good as another?
Is one doctor as good as another?

If you have never used Fels-Naptha soap as it should be used—in cool or lukewarm water—it will be a revelation in a easy way of washing.

All you have to do when you wash the Fels-Naptha way is soap the clothes well, soak them for about thirty minutes, rub lightly, rinse thoroughly and hang out on the line.

No soapy, smelly, nauseating steam.
No parboiling of hands and arms or ruining your complexion.
No back-breaking or rubbing.
And you are all through long before the usual hour.

Fels-Naptha saves the clothes—makes them wear longer. Use any time of the year. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

EXTRA SESSION.

Since the election, political circles have been actively discussing the advisability of calling an extra session of Congress.

It appears that a majority of the Democratic leaders at the present time are in favor of such a course, as are many of the large papers that gave Mr. Wilson hearty support during the past campaign.

These hold that conditions are not in such a bad shape as to absolutely demand immediate attention. They are unqualifiedly in favor of carrying out the promise of tariff reform but think it ought to be done in a quiet and regular way so that our business men will understand that nothing radical will be attempted.

There is much to be said on both sides. The Democratic Party must remember that it is on trial and if it wishes to continue as the dominant political party in this country, it must be constantly on guard.

Mr. Wilson is a safe and sane man and can be depended upon to handle this and all other questions in such a way as to bring about the desired reforms and at the same time keep the confidence of our business interests.

If an extra session is finally determined upon, then it should be made plain that while no surrender is to be made on a proper revision of the tariff, this task will be accomplished with the least possible disturbance of business and that the interests concerned will have ample time to readjust themselves to new conditions.

THE LADIES IN THE POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST—YOU CAN HELP. The contestants in the splendid offer of the SALISBURY ADVERTISER COMPANY, to give Florida or New England Tours, pure Diamond Rings and Gold Watches, seem to be enjoying their work all over the County.

Many new subscriptions are being added, and the busy workers have many a name on the list and lots of friends working in their behalf. The leading towns of the county are represented and the residents are fast lining up for their favorites. The rivalry while keen, is perfectly good natured and the girls are acquiring some wholesome and valuable experience.

Many of them are also proving to their friends that they are well worthy of the strongest encouragement and assistance. The valuable awards they are striving to win are well worth their best efforts and it is the first opportunity ever offered in Wicomico County for such desirable prizes.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Account of Meeting Last Monday Evening.

Building permits were granted as follows: To Hillary W. Davis, dwelling on Jenkins Alley; to J. Clayton Kelly, addition to dwelling on Poplar Hill Avenue; to Camden Improvement Company, apartment house on Camden Avenue.

Councilman Bradley was instructed to confer with R. Frank Williams in reference to purchasing thirty five feet of the latter's property on Upton Street for the purpose of opening a street running from Upton Street across the property of the Salisbury Realty company at the railroad bridge. Mr. Bradley was instructed not to exceed $250 as the price to be paid for the thirty five feet.

Councilmen Tilghman and Parker were appointed a committee to confer with the County Commissioners in reference to grading Brown Street, and ascertain what they propose to do, and make a report at the next meeting of the Council.

Councilmen Bradley and Toadvine were appointed a committee to wait on James S. Harvey and L. S. Short and notify them to lay cement sidewalk in front of their properties on Smith Street within ten days or the Council will have the same done at the expense of the property owners.

Mr. Wm. M. Cooper was before the Council and reported that he had put down his sidewalk on West Isabella Street to conform with the new grade recently established, and that he did not demand any damages or any part of the expense from the Mayor and Council for doing the same.

—Only five weeks left of the Popular Voting Contest of the Salisbury ADVERTISER. Positively close December the twenty-first. It won't be long.

—Grace M. E. Church reported 107 Epworth League members and 77 Junior Epworth League members at the District Convention held at Selbyville, this week.

—Mrs. A. M. Barclay's Sunday School Class of the Wincomer Presbyterian Church, will hold a cake sale at her home, 116 Main Street, Saturday afternoon, November 14.

—Everyone, nearly, is much interested in the ADVERTISER'S popular subscription contest. Help and encourage the girls. They will appreciate it. Just try them, if you doubt.

—The Silver Ulean Pan demonstration at Dorman & Smyth's will place at their store next Wednesday afternoon, November 22. They are specially invited to see the wonderful magic of this Silver Ulean Pan.

—Miss Jennie Riggin, superintendent of the primary department, Centenary Methodist Episcopal Sunday School died at her home on West Street, Laurel, at noon Saturday, following a few days' illness of pneumonia, superinduced by swallowing particles of glass several days ago. In opening a glass of jelly on October 23rd, Miss Riggin broke the glass and some of the particles fell into the jelly which she ate.

—Aroho B. Hill and Essie T. Hill both of Salisbury were married Thursday evening at 540 E. Division Street by the Rev. L. F. Warner.

—Mr. E. B. Adkins was very ill this week but is slightly better this morning. Mr. Samuel Adkins came home Thursday evening on account of his father's illness.

—Mrs. Leah J. Lord, of Clayton, Del., wife of Mr. Alexander Lord, will be brought here Saturday and be buried in Persons Cemetery. She was an aunt of Harriet B. and J. T. Ellis.

—An Old Folks Service will be held at the M. E. Church, of Hebron, this Sabbath afternoon at 3 o'clock. The address of the occasion will be made by Rev. W. T. M. Beale of the Presbyterian Church, of Salisbury.

—Henry Griffin, living between Eden and Fruitland, fell off a dredge Friday afternoon about six o'clock and was drowned before he could be rescued. He was twenty three years of age and unmarried.

—Rev. Paul Tyler, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, South at Baltimore will preach here Sunday morning and evening at Trinity M. E. Church, South, Special music. Miss Sheideker will sing a solo at the morning service.

—The local lodge of the Independent Order Mechanics will worship with the congregation of the Wincomer Presbyterian Church next Sabbath morning. The pastor Rev. Wilson T. M. Beale will take the subject of his sermon for the morning service, "Our Greatest National Asset."

—Miss Annie Dashiell had a very narrow escape Thursday afternoon, on Division Street, opposite Wilkins' Grocery Store. She was crossing the street, not noticing a team advancing. The horse ran into her, knocking her down and causing several bruises. She was picked up unconscious, but was much better yesterday morning, being able to resume her teaching.

—Have you helped any of the fair and deserving contestants in the Salisbury ADVERTISER'S popular plan? You will see full particulars and standing elsewhere. If you take the ADVERTISER yourself—you can help by sending it to a friend. A twenty five year subscription counts 60,000 votes. That would be helping some, wouldn't it? So would a lesser sum.

—Sunday will be "Harvest Home Day" at Ashbury M. E. Church. Rev. Adam Hingle, former Presiding Elder, will preach in the morning and make an address in the evening. The offerings of the day will be for the General Benevolent five different interests being cared for. The Church will be beautifully decorated with Autumn growths, and special music will be rendered.

—Decision Day at Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church Sunday. The pastor Rev. L. F. Warner will preach. Morning subject, "We Wait on His Way Rejoicing." Evening subject, "We Wait Aways Borrowed." Evangelistic services will continue each evening during the week. Rev. Louis Randall, of Orfield, will preach Monday and Tuesday nights. There has been a number of conversions during the past week. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

—Mrs. Isaac Gibbs, mother of Mrs. Milton Pope, of Salisbury, died last week at her home in Berlin, of cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Gibbs was a life-long resident of Berlin, her maiden name being Julia Davis. She leaves besides her husband, two sons, John and Alfred, of Berlin and one daughter, Mrs. Pope, of Salisbury, who was with her mother the most of the time during her illness. She is also survived by two brothers, William Davis, of Snow Hill, and Geo. Davis, near Whaleyville.

plemons & Morris vs Emma Folk and others.
No. 1938 Chancery, in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate situated in Trappe District of Wicomico County, Maryland, of which Isaac James Barris, late of Wicomico County, Maryland, deceased, was in his lifetime and at the time of his death seized and possessed in fee simple, for the payment of certain debts to the said Slemmons & Morris and various other creditors, and for distribution of the proceeds, if any, according to their respective rights under this Court.

The bill alleges that the said Isaac Barris departed this life having real and personal estate leaving no widow but leaving surviving him as his heirs at law: Emma Folk, who has intermarried with James Folk, Oliver Barris, who has since intermarried with Nettie Barris, Corn Fountain, who has intermarried with Joshua Fountain, Addie Barris, who is unmarried, Carrie Barris, Willie Barris, Helena Barris and Isaac James Barris, who are infants under the age of twenty-one years.

That the said Milton Barris and Nettie Barris his wife, Addie Barris and Carrie Barris are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

The bill further states that the personal estate left by the said Isaac Barris at the time of his death was very little and not sufficient to pay the debts of the said deceased, and prays that the real estate may be sold for the payment of his debts.

It is thereupon this 7th day of November, 1918, ordered by the subscriber, the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, in equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in said Wicomico County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 10th day of December, 1918, give notice to the said absent or non-resident defendants of the object and substance of said bill warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 30th day of December 1918, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed in said bill.

PATERNALISM AND SOCIALISM.

It is idle for a thoughtful man in America, whether millionaire or pauper, to longer play the ostrich. Safety does not consist in hiding one's head in the sands of either sentiment or hope. It is foolish for the vasty deep to keep on insisting that more and more shall be added to their riches through a specious system of special legislation, ostentatiously enacted to run the government, in reality enacted to loot the people. It is worse than ignorance for them to smile at the large body of intelligent Americans who regard themselves fortunate if the debit and credit accounts of life balance at the end of each year and to assume that the mighty many, who are becoming convinced that that social system which we call democracy is but a glittering generalization, will long endure the industrial slavery being produced. The hour has come when patriotism must consist in something more than eulogies upon the flag. Whether voting the ticket or not, men everywhere looking upon the awful injustice of this economic system are becoming socialistic in theory if not in conduct. And shall any fair minded man say that, if it redounds to the interest of the people of this country that a hundred men should control its business to the good of every one, there is anything fallacious in the theory that government instead of transferring business to a favored few for the benefit of all should itself discharge that business for the benefit of all? I have never been able to convince myself that either system would not cast a pall over human action and dull the motives which have heretofore moved mankind to the very loftiest endeavor. And yet I do not hesitate to say that if it is impossible to restore this republic to its ancient ideal, which I do not believe, and I must make the ultimate choice between the paternalism of the few and the socialism of the many, count me and my house with the throbbing heart of humanity.—Thomas R. Marshall.

VOX POPULI.

Whatever meaning men may choose, then, to give to vox populi vox Dei. In other spheres, or, if applied to the long tenor of the history of a people in active politics and in the province of practical liberty, it either implies political levity, which is one of the most mordant corrosives of liberty, or else it is a political heresy, as much so as vox regis vox Dei would be if it be meant to convey the idea that the people can do no wrong, it is as grievous an untruth as would be conveyed by the maxim, the king can do no wrong if it really were meant to be taken literally.—Francis Lieber.

SIMPLE PARTY FROCK

DAINTY COSTUME FOR YOUNG WOMAN OF TASTE.

Soft, Velled on Partly Velled With Chiffon, of Simplest Construction Makes This Model Most Effective for Party Wear.

The very simplest construction characterizes this party gown of ruffled satin velled, or partly velled, with chiffon. A little fine Chantilly lace and a beaded band are used in decorating the bodice. The elbow sleeves of chiffon are finished with narrow beaded edging. A glimpse of chiffon is scantily filled into a narrow border of bugle trimming which outlines the low Dutch neck.

The band of crystal beads on a black net foundation is set about the bodice on the satin, just below the swell of the bust. The chiffon overdress is set over this band and confined at the waist with narrow tucks. The chiffon opens at the left, hanging straight from the waist line in front and back. A silk cord with tasseled ends is tacked to the waist and ties at the left side.

This model, shown in pale green, has been very successfully developed in oyster-shell white, substituting colored embroidery for the beaded trimming. The embroidered band is covered with conventional figures, in light colors, pink, blue, lavender and pale green. A similar band about the bottom of the drapery, tacked to the under side, is very effective.

Soft Black Velvet Hats. According to the Dry Goods Economist soft black velvet hats are in excellent position, and the new showings include an extensive variety of such styles. White trimmings are the preferred decoration for black velvet models. White ostrich fancies, white wings and large flat bows of white grosgrain and faille ribbons are variously employed. White ribbon with black plait edge is another favorite. A four-cornered model on the order of the shape so popular during the past season has the brim outlined with this ribbon, ending in a small, flat tailored bow at the left side.

Cleaning Waste Pipes. Waste pipes may be cleaned of soap and slime by placing a handful of common salt in the bottom of the basin over night. The salt will gradually melt and the first flush of water in the morning will clear the pipe.

MADAME and her TOILET

Never allow either very hot or very cold food to come in contact with the teeth; the extremes in temperature will break the enamel and cause decay.

When brushing the hair draw the brush firmly over the scalp and down the entire length of the hair in one stroke; the short stroke is liable to break the hair.

Too much liquid should not be taken with the food at meals; it will dilute and weaken the gastric juice. Thorough mastication supplies the necessary gastric liquid.

The occasional use of gloves and cold cream is good for the hands, but if worn every night the hands will become yellow. It is best to perforate the gloves and cut off the finger tips.

The parentheses or lines around the corners of the mouth can be removed by massaging; they are caused by laughing and consequently the lines will constantly reappear and require daily treatment.

When the eyes ache they can be relieved by closing the lids for five minutes. If they have a burning sensation bathe them with hot water to which a dash of witch hazel has been added; if the whites are yellow and the pupils dull strict attention should be paid to the diet.

Sick Women

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured many cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are five letters from southern women which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LETTER FROM VIRGINIA. Elliston, Va.—"I feel it my duty to express my thanks to you and your great medicine. I was a sufferer from female troubles and had been confined in bed over one third of my time for ten months. I could not do my housework and had fainting spells so that my husband could not leave me alone for five minutes at a time. Now I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. Whenever I see a suffering woman I want to tell her what these medicines have done for me and I will always speak a good word for them."—Mrs. ROBERT BLANKENBERG, Elliston, Montgomery Co., Va.

LETTER FROM LOUISIANA. New Orleans, La.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with hot flashes, weak and dizzy feelings, backache and irregularities. I would get up in the morning feeling tired and not fit to do anything. Since I have been taking your Compound and Blood Purifier I feel all right. Your medicines are worth their weight in gold."—Mrs. GASTON BLONDEAU, 1541 Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA. Wauchula, Fla.—"Some time ago I wrote to you giving you my symptoms, headache, backache, bearing-down, and discomfort in walking, caused by female troubles. I got two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash and that was all I used to make me a well woman. I am satisfied that if I had done like a good many women, and had not taken your remedies, I would have been a great sufferer. But I started in time with the right medicine and got well. It did not cost very much either. I feel that you are a friend to all women and I would rather use your remedies than have a doctor."—Mrs. MARTIN HONOR, Box 406, Wauchula, Florida.

LETTER FROM WEST VIRGINIA. Martinsburg, W. Va.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for my mother, daughter and myself. I have told dozens of people about it and my daughter says that when she hears a girl complaining with cramps, she tells her to take your Compound."—Mrs. MARY A. HOCKENBERRY, 719 N. 3rd St., Martinsburg, W. Va.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM VIRGINIA. Newport News, Va.—"About five years ago I was troubled with such pains and bloating every month that I would have to go to bed. A friend told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. The medicine strengthened me in every way and my doctor approved of my taking it. I will be glad if my testimony will help some one who is suffering from female weakness."—Mrs. W. J. BRAYTON, 1099 Hampton Ave., Newport News, Va.

A Reliable Remedy FOR CATARRH

Ely's Cream Balm. It quickly soothes, gives relief at once. It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane resulting from Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 25 cts., at Druggists or by mail. Limited Quantity. Each box contains 100 applications.

A household remedy in America for 25 years—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. For rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, toothache, burn, scald, bruise, etc.

THE PEOPLE AND THE COURTS.

The American people and not the courts are to determine their own fundamental policies. The people should have power to deal with the effect of the acts of all their governmental agencies. This must be extended to include the effects of judicial acts as well as the acts of the executive and legislative representatives of the people.

RIGHT AND WRONG ACTIONS.

Of an action that is conformable to the principle of utility, one may always say either that it is one that ought to be done or at least that it is not one that ought not to be done.

A MAN'S LIFE.

The world was made when a man was born. He must taste for himself the forbidden springs. He must never take warning from old-fashioned things.

POPULAR PLEASURES.

Let there be no appearance of austerity in the laws against vice. Let cheerful and happy amusements be provided at the public expense. Let the youth be exercised in feats of agility and grace, in rowing and in spirited acts of horsemanship.

MORAL INDIFFERENCE.

If ignorance and passion are the foes of popular morality it must be confessed that moral indifference is the majesty of the cultivated classes. The modern separation of enlightenment and virtue, of thought and conscience, of the intellectual aristocracy from the honest and vulgar crowd, is the greatest danger that can threaten liberty.

THE TILLING OF THE SOIL.

That the ownership of land in the main by the cultivating class promotes frugality and a wiser application of the existing body of wealth is too manifest to require discussion. The true savings bank, says Simonds, is the soil. There is never a time when the owner of land is not painfully conscious of improvements which he desires to make upon his farm and of additions which he desires to make to his stock.

Only A Fire Here

Right also for boils, ulcers, sore, pimples, eczema, cuts, sprains, bruises, burn, scald, etc. It soothes inflammation, kills pain. Only 25 cents at all Druggists.—Advt.

A Great Building Falls

when its foundation is undermined and if the foundation of health—good digestion is attacked, quick collapse follows. On the first signs of indigestion Dr. King's New Life Pills should be taken to tone the stomach and regulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Pleasant, easy, safe and only 25 cents at All Druggists.—Advt.

THE SIMPLE LIFE.

"If you would live at your ease," says Democritus, "manage but a few things." I think it had been better if he had said, "Do nothing but what is necessary and what becomes the reason of a social being and in the order, too, it prescribes it." For by this rule a man has the double pleasure of making his actions good and few in the bargain.

BIRDS AND THE POET.

Birds are singing round my window. Tunes the sweetest ever heard, And I hang my cage there daily, But I never catch a bird. No with thoughts my brain is peopled, And they sing there all day long. But they will not fold their pinions in the little cage of song.

CAUSES OF POVERTY.

As with undeveloped intelligence, so the appetites of men and their passions are causes of poverty. Men who live from the basilar faculties will invariably live in inferior stations. The men who respect what are as a general fact at the bottom. They may say what they please, but it is the devil of laziness that is in them or of passion that comes out in eating, in gluttony, in drinking and drunkenness, in wastefulness on every side.

HOW TO REDUCE ARMAMENTS.

I cannot see any hope for the reduction of the naval armament by the various nations until such time as the doctrine which was proclaimed by the United States ten years ago is adopted into international law—that private property must be exempt from capture at sea during war. If this doctrine was adopted into international law, it would be no need for the tremendous armament which the nations have to support today.

TO INCREASE FARMERS' INCOMES.

So long as the farmer leaves cooperative activities, with their profit sharing, to the city man of business, so long will the foundations of wealth be undermined and the comforts of enlightenment be impossible in the country communities. In every respect this nation has to learn the lessons of efficiency in production and distribution and of avoidance of waste and destruction. We must develop and improve instead of exhausting our resources. It is entirely possible by improvements in production, in the avoidance of waste and in business methods on the part of the farmer to give him an increased income from his farm, while at the same time reducing to the consumer the price of the articles raised on the farm.—Theodore Roosevelt.

AGAINST TRUST RECOGNITION

The proposition that the government shall recognize and permit to exist trusts, monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade and that regulate them by legislative control is one calculated to suppress individual enterprise and destroy competition. It is conceded that such a policy would result necessarily in the fixing of prices of the products of such combinations by law. If government fixes the price of the finished product, must it not also fix the price of the raw material and of the labor that converts it? It is urged that large industrial combinations can produce more cheaply than small ones. This is a fundamental fallacy from which proceeds the paternalistic doctrine that government shall recognize and permit monopolistic combinations and fix the price of their product.—Representative John A. Sterling.

CARE OF THE SILK UMBRELLA

Usually Disappointing in its Wear Because It Has Not Received Proper Care. A silk umbrella seldom receives the proper care, and consequently is usually disappointing in its wear. A useful silk wears the best, with a carved or natural wood handle, although silver, gold, ivory, Dresden china, etc., are all used. A steel frame is lighter to carry, and admits of a closer roll. When carrying your umbrella on the street, not in use, keep it furled; if hanging in your closet keep its case on. In fact, it presents a very neat appearance if the case is on when it is carried. To fur, grasp the stick in the right hand, shake out the folds, wrap them closely around the stick, beginning at the lower end, and smooth as they are wrapped around the stick, then fasten with the silk band and slip on the silk cover.

NEW DEFINITION OF THEFT.

I steal from and rob my neighbor if I withhold from him that which is his rightful due, even though he may not technically ever have been the possessor thereof. A man may be guilty of theft though he does not abstract money from pay envelopes. To withhold from the pay envelope that which ought to be contained therein is theft, even though the crime be committed by a millionaire corporation head. Holding in my hand, as I do, fifty pay envelopes of the workers in the Lawrence mills before the recent strike, thirty-nine of which contain wages of less than $8 per week for fifty-four hours of work, I say that the American Wool company has been guilty of theft in its conduct toward its weak and heretofore almost defenseless workers. The underwage has resulted in social conditions in our land which are making it necessary for a whole family to become the wage earning unit. Men who are the leaders in the textile industries admit that in their companies the father of the family has ceased to be the unit of support, the father earning something, the wife a little less and the children still less. This means at one and the same time the breakdown of the home and finally the breakdown of democracy.—Rabbi Stephen Wise.

They would take heed to the moral condition in which they are living, to self denial in their passions and appetites and to increasing the amount of their knowledge and fidelity. Although moral conditions are not the sole causes, they are principal causes of the poverty of the working classes throughout the world. It is their misfortune as well as their fault, but it is the reason why they do not rise. Wealthness does not rise; strength does.—Henry Ward Beecher.

If this doctrine was adopted into international law, it would be no need for the tremendous armament which the nations have to support today. It must be borne in mind that England has food supply on the island. Japan is in somewhat similar condition. Italy has no coal, and there is scarcely a nation but what is dependent for some necessity upon outside sources. It is these facts, which are vital to the life of a nation, that compel the great armaments of today.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot.

LITTLE BIT HUMOROUS

Their Romance.
"He loves me, he loves me not," said Maud Miller, as she went through the garden picking potato bugs off the potato plants.
"He loves me," she picked a potato bug.
"He loves me not," she gathered another potato bug.
"A thrifty girl, forsooth," declared the judge. "Instead of playing that game with daisy petals, she plays it with potato bugs."

Well Worth Catching.
"Anything worth catching in that lake?" asked the young man who had just arrived.
The hotel proprietor matched his question with another.
"See that girl in the red bathing suit?"
"Yes."
"She ought to be worth catching. They say she's worth 150,000 pounds."

ECONOMY IN THE BEST FEED

Nothing Gained by Purchasing Supplies for the Poultry Because They Are Called Cheap.
(By A. G. SIMMONDS)
No matter what food is given the fowls be sure it is the very best that can be procured. It does not pay to buy poor grain or poultry food of any kind. Some people think it is economical to buy poultry supplies because they are cheap.

The best is none too good, is a rule as applicable here as anywhere else. Only the very best grains should be purchased. Only the choicest brands of best scraps, fine cut clover, alfalfa, and other foods of this sort should be used. There is nothing that will repay one better for good care and food given them than a flock of hens. See to it then that in the matter of foods given them only the best be procured and only the best be fed.

A Similar Tale.
"Uncle, tell me about All Baba and the forty thieves."
"I do not remember that story. But I will, if you like, tell you about my European trip and the forty hotel keepers."

Make Him Take It.
"What shall we do with a politician who refuses to take his medicine?"
"Guess we'd have to handle him like they do those English submarines. Hold his nose and pour it down his throat."

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED

"So you want a position in my firm?" said the fat man with the thick gold chain. "Well, what were you in your last job?"
"A door, sir," answered the sad-eyed applicant.
"What's that?" asked the employer.
"Well, sir," said the sad-eyed one. "I was the door, and the rest were the tellers. When my purser wanted a thing done he would tell the cashier, the cashier would tell it to the bookkeeper, the bookkeeper would tell it to his assistant, his assistant would tell it to the chief clerk, and the chief clerk would tell it to me."

City Visitor—My, how do you keep that hog so fat?
Farmer Perkins—Feed him on greens.
City Visitor—But don't that take a long time?
Farmer Perkins—Sure; but what's time to a hog?

Annoying Mishap.
"A midnight revel was held in some private club rooms on the top floor of the Rogers building last night. Jagworth was rather late in arriving and only one elevator was running. What do you suppose happened?"
"Something went wrong with the elevator."
"Right. It stuck between the first and second floors."

REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale in a mortgage dated July 25, 1908, from Grant W. Brewington and wife to Elmer H. Walton and assigned by the said Walton to the undersigned, and recorded in Liber J. T. T. 35 folio 288 of the Land Records of Wicomico County, Maryland, (the said mortgage being filed in No. 3023 Chancery in the Circuit Court for Wicomico County for foreclosure sale) I will offer for sale to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House in Salisbury, Maryland, on at two o'clock P. M., all those lots or parcels of land in Trappe Election District in said County and State: (1) All that parcel of land, about 70 yards S. W. of the County Road from Allen to the Upper Ferry, and bounded on the South by the land of Henry Tall, on the West and North by the land formerly belonging to Wesley Brewington containing 6 acres, more or less, being land conveyed to the said Grant Brewington by Capt. T. W. H. White. (2) All that lot on the S. W. side of and binding on the County Road from Allen to Upper Ferry, having a front on said road of about 140 yards and a depth of about 70 yards, containing 2 acres more or less, being the same land conveyed to the said Grant Brewington by Wesley Brewington. Reference is made to the said mortgage and deeds for further description of the said land. TERMS OF SALE:—Cash, Title papers at the expense of the purchaser. JAMES ELLEGOOD, Assignee of Said Mortgagee.

Notice to Creditors

This is to give notice that the subscriber has obtained from the Orphan's Court for Wicomico county letters of administration on the personal estate of Stephen T. Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA
Her Explanation.
Queen Elizabeth was very much provoked when she found that her cousin, Mary queen of Scots, had been put to death. "I can't help it if people will lose their heads at critical moments," her majesty pertinently explained. "As far as I am concerned, the occurrence was entirely accidental."

Hasty Ample Vocabulary.
It is claimed that the common hen is not far behind the turkey in her vocabulary. Furthermore, she is said to be a much more fluent "talker" than the rooster. Her cackle is used for three different purposes, and each cackle is different from the other cackles. One she uses when seeking a nest, or when calling for her mate; one when she is frightened; and another, of a triumphant sort, as she flies from or to the nest.
Eight Who Deserve Slaps.
Eight men who deserve to be slapped on the face: He who despises a man of power; he who enters a house uninvited and unwelcome; he who gives orders in a house not his own; he who takes a seat above his position; he who speaks to one who does not listen to him; he who intrudes on the conversation of others; he who seeks favors from the ungenerous; and he who expects love from his enemies.—From a Persian Saying.
Flirting With Fame.
"Why do you insist on nibbling around that hook?" said the wise friend. "You know the danger." "Yes," replied the little fellow; "but we all have a certain appetite for glory. I am willing to take a chance for the sake of being described to that man's friends as the big fish that got away."

KANSAS HAS GROCER-EDITORS

Merchants Are Printing Small Journals to Advertise Their Goods Among Customers.

The Kansas grocer is breaking into journalism. In a number of the small towns of the state, small two, four or eight page newspapers are being published by the men whose regular business it is to weigh out sugar and measure up the supplies for the kitchen tables of their customers. While he stacks the articles in the market basket of the housewife, the editor-grocer finds out who the newly arrived visitor in the community is, who was married during the week, and other items to fill up the local columns of his paper. At intervals of one, two or four weeks, the store newspaper makes its appearance.

The store paper is generally published in a town too small to support a regular weekly, and in such places meets a need of the storekeeper by advertising his place of business and at the same time with its news features fills a niche in the community that great it a welcome still other. In a town where no paper is published, effective advertising, which is just as essential to the success of the small storekeeper as to the owner of the city department store, becomes a problem. Window displays and hand bills left in bugles and autos reach only a part of the field.

Printers ink publicity of some kind is essential if the merchant wants to keep the people informed of what is going on in his store. It must be sent out at regular intervals. Probably not more than one-half of his customers take any newspaper. Those living on farms own no allegiance to any particular town. The county seat paper may appeal to some. Others will take the paper published in the town where they know the most people, while still others will take nothing but the city daily.

These conditions make a place for the store paper. No subscription fee is charged. The local news in the paper makes a demand for it and in this way the merchant keeps the name of his store before the people of his community and keeps them advised of bargains, changes and new goods.

Real advertising is only incidentally writing. It is salesmanship that simply happens to be talking per the printed page—happens to be because it found a magnificent big opportunity to talk thus through the eyes of 10,000 humans at once instead of through the ears of the 10,000 in succession.

GOOD DISPLAY IS VALUABLE

Goods of the Merchant, Attractively Shown, Helps Sales—Signs Draw Attention.

"Many stores are so prim and neat in the arrangement of goods that there is little or no inducement to buy," says a writer in the Dry Goods Economist. "This may read like a paradox, but the point is that, while neatness and cleanliness are to be commended, the goods must be so displayed and ticketed that they will induce purchases. When goods are on the shelves or under the counter, where they cannot be examined or seen, people will only buy what they come for."

"If displays cannot be made on the counter, then a table or some other stand should be set apart for making reasonable displays of goods, with

WELL DESERVED

The Praise That Comes From Thankful Salisbury People.

One kidney remedy has known merit. Salisbury people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Salisbury testimony proves it reliable. A. E. Lohner, 218 Willow St., Salisbury, Md., says: "You are at liberty to use the testimonial I gave in 1900 regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. I have had no further trouble from kidney trouble since my cure was made." (Statement given February 28, 1912.)

When Mr. Lohner was interviewed on January 26, 1900, he said: "Anyone who takes Doan's Kidney Pills as directed will receive great results. I have never heard a word against this preparation and I consider it the best of all. I had trouble from my kidneys for thirty years and the nature of my work made the complaint worse. If I took cold it affected my kidneys, causing my back to become weak and lame. The kidney secretions were irregular and painful. Doan's Kidney Pills have always given me the best of results when I have taken them."

SAFE AND GANE SYMPATHY.

"In this connection dealers will always do well to make use of the various signs and store displays provided them by the manufacturer. These things are always valuable in drawing attention.

"But pursuing this policy you will find that customers, as soon as they have made their regular purchases, will examine these displays to see what you have new to offer, and many sales will be made which otherwise would have been lost.

"The variety five-cent and ten-cent stores, especially those of the better sort, give lessons in the art of display that can be used with benefit by tradesmen in every line."

Big Advertising Waste. The business man's waste paper basket has increased 100 per cent in size during the last seven years. The fact leads to the inquiry, Why? The answer is to be found in the mass of ineffective and undigested circulars and other advertising matter that daily pours into the office of every active business man only to find a resting place in the waste basket. Some of these advertisements are so poor that their typographical appearance condemns them; some are so badly written that they create no desire to purchase; others have merit and carry a message, but the message has been sent to the wrong person. Much of the waste basket could be eliminated by the employment of more intelligence in the preparation and distribution of advertising matter.

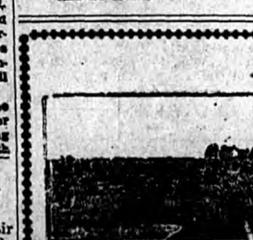

Why "Knocking" is Bad Business. If you knock your competitor you are told you are making a psychological error. True. But what does it mean? Simply this: that the normal mental tendency is fair-play. If your ad violates that standard in the buyer's mind, you will create a repulsion, thereby spoiling your chances for a sale.—A. T. Osborn.

WISDOM OF EXPERIENCE.

Hubby—But why do you insist that our daughter should marry old Goldberg when she hates the very sight of him? You married for love, didn't you?
Wife—Yes; but that's no reason why I should stand by and see our daughter make the same mistake.
