FOOLED ALL AROUND

On Thursday, Small Boys And Mischiefous Girls Have A Full Day. Few Sighted.

April Fool's day passed quietly in Salisbury, taking with it the usual number of devotees. There were those who forgot that they should beware of many things—such as fast pocket books, apparently lost on the sidewalk, with a string attached, an innocent looking hat or package of the kind and size to tempt one to kick—and also find a brick inside.

April Pools' pranks are not by any means confined to the youngsters, however. Their elders, many of them, take delight in practical joking, too. The gravest of men, wearing the primest of whiskers, is capable of any amount of untimely levity April 1st. He is the individual who takes keen pleasure in handing a business associate the cigar with the dynamite filler.

The encyclopedia says that for a long while in America and for a still greater period in Europe, the first of April has been a "day for mocking unwary persons by sending them on bootless errands or making them the victims of some other practical joke."

One authority declares that in comparatively recent times the custom was introduced into Germany by the French. It was contagious and quickly spread to other lands. How or when the French got hold of it is not known.

Of all the 365 days in the year, none appeals so much to the small boy as April 1, or April Fool's Day, as it is universally called in this country.

For then every small robin is privileged to be as mischievous as he pleases, and only ill-natured people mind his innocuous jokes, such as putting bricks in old hats for the unwary passer by to kick, or pinning scraps of paper on their backs, labelled "April Fool."

No one exactly knows when April Fool's Day originated, but reference to it is made in "The Spectator" and other English journals of about a hundred and fifty years ago. Others believe that the day sprang from the Hindu festival which from time immemorial, has been held on March 31. At this festival jests acquire almost a religious observance. Persia knows such a day, and in France the victims are called Polson d'Avril, or April fish and in Scotland they are called "Gowks."

A favorite trick in Scotland on April is called "Hunting the Gowk." This consists of sending a victim with a letter to deliver con-

SUICIDE IN RIVER

Body of Miss Crosetta McGrath Found Beneath The Wicomico.

After a long search the body of Miss Crosetta McGrath was found in the river, close to the plant of W. E. Tilghman Co., and just below the steamboat wharf. On Wednesday morning some men who were working along the river front found a lady's hat, gloves, hair combs and a small pill box. An investigation proved that the property found belonged to Miss McGrath. She had been in poor health for some time and had just returned from a visit to her brother, Mr. John W. McGrath, who is assistant warden at the Maryland Penitentiary. She was stopping at the time at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clarence Brewington, on Camden Ave. On Tuesday evening she left the house taking with her a pill box, which she stated that she was going to have Dr. Stemons and Morris to fill for her. This was the last seen of her until the body was found on Thursday morning.

Immediately after the finding of the apparel and pill box on the wharf, Chief of Police Woodland C. Disha-roon and Deputy Sheriff J. Frank Walter, proceeded to drag the river for the body, which they found on Thursday morning. Miss McGrath was 42 years old and it is said committed the suicide on her birthday.

As there were no signs of violence the body was taken to the undertaker shop of Mr. George C. Hill, where it was prepared for burial.

—Beacon Shoes for men. The most up-to-date line of Men's $3.00 and $4.00 shoes on the market. Sold exclusively by R. E. Powell & Co.

Containing some such couplet as this: "This is the first of April, Huns the Gowk another mile."

The person to whom the letter is delivered says that it is intended for somebody else, who lives a few miles further on and this one in turn plays the same game until the poor victim is ready to drop from fatigue.

It is not likely that anyone in this country would "blie" on such a trick as this, but each April thousands are fooled by the loaded cigars, pocket books stuffed with paper, and candy with pepper or cotton inside of it. Another favorite piece of tomfoolery is to tell some one that Mr. Wolf or Mr. Fox wants them on the phone. When the victim calls up the number given he finds that it is the Zoological Garden.

PRESGRAVE'S STRING

Now in Baltimore. 18 Fine Racers From Salisbury Occupy Best Quarters At Pimlico.

Capt. Fred Presgrave's string of 18 got in yesterday afternoon from Salisbury and is snugly quartered in the comfortable stables occupied by the Clyde contingent last season at Pimlico. The Captain believes in the best that money can buy or man and beast, and his stables are quite the show place of the track.

The big bunch of horses that Captain Presgrave brought up from Salisbury are all in splendid health and condition and ready for the course of sprouts to which each horse will be subjected under the vigorous hand of "Al" Weston, who will begin on them at once. The horses have been worked only on a straightaway course at the farm and are not so far advanced as the string which have wintered at Benning and Pimlico. They have had no workouts yet. In fact, Captain Presgrave said today he had not pulled his watch out of his pocket this season.

Some Fine Ones In The Bunch.

In the bunch are Silk Hose, the property of Sir Thomas Staughnessy of Canada; Ontario, Tasley, Pocomoke, Quantic, Rockawalkin, Hurlock, Ballet Girl and Transition, a 5-year old maiden by Atheling-Pilgrimage, a full sister to many fast ones which have carried the Goughaeres colors to victory. This one bred as a 2 year old and was not raced. These make up the older contingent.

Seven classy 3-year-olds were brought along with them. The pick of the bunch, in Captain Presgrave's opinion, is the colt by Star Ruby-Virginia Moore, which he has named Pimlico. All the youngsters have size and looks.

For riding talent Captain Presgrave has engaged Goldstein, who has just arrived from California, and little Hincheliffe.—Thursday's Baltimore News.

—Professor Candill, principal of the Sharptown High School, met with a painful and serious accident. While hitching up a fractious horse the animal became unmanageable and Professor Candill's feet were caught in the lines. He was dragged some distance, breaking his leg and dislocating his hip. The bone from the broken leg protruded through the flesh. Dr. Eldredge, of Vienna, dressed his wounds. Miss Alice Wallis is teaching for Mr. Candill this week.

THE PEOPLE'S PLAN

Of Crawford County Primaries. Would Avoid Use Of Expensive Harmony Medicine.

The moves and counter moves which are now being made with lightning-like rapidity in the political arena, keep the scribe who attempts anywhere near the firing line, especially on the move with pen and paper, extremely nervous. The development of "The People's Plan" under the sun" promptly to the heart of every dog politician and they always take care to live up to and verify its truth by never willingly giving the people anything new in candidates. New conditions may arise and old methods be deemed obsolete, but the same old men in their adaptiveness may be depended on as ever ready to trim their sails to catch any breeze. And how true the old adage "Politics make strange bed fellows," which when given its proper interpretation means how easy it is to fool some of the people all the time. Those who are wise today may be ignorant tomorrow. The cards may be shuffled over night, conferences held and new alignments made. Another kicking stool may have been found loose on the Prairie of politics and must be lassoed. Some one may have managed to get close to the hearts of the people and be in their minds as fit timber to represent them for some particular office. This may be contrary to the pre-arranged policies of the Ring then heroic measures must be resorted to. The plague spot must be pacified, compromise and cajolery resorted to and if this fails the big chiefs begin to mix "Medicine" and often their war paint. The mixing of this medicine can only be participated in by the big chiefs. Those who have proved their prowess and maintained their positions against all comers in several campaigns. Their medicine men of Wicomico enjoy quite a reputation and much medicine is made here for use throughout the State. The formulas used here are considered very valuable and on account of their skill and long practice the Medicine men of Wicomico have often been called on to mix medicine for other localities. At their dispensary here medicine is constantly kept in stock. This medicine is put up in large bottles and labelled "Harmony" and is said to be composed of the following ingredients:

To one pint of sweet spirits-ferment add three ounces of the best bluff, two ounces of don't bother my job, three ounces of don't interrupt the party, four ounces of bring me a delegation, six ounces of you wait a while, seven ounces of your time will come, add sufficient honey to sweeten to taste, shake well, put in quart bottles and keep in cool place until needed. A wine glass given at frequent intervals will sometimes cure a very obstinate case. If however this fails to reach the case the following should be given in large doses without delay. Take the mixture as above, go to the News Building and get some of their old papers tear out one dozen of their Editorials on negro domination together with white supremacy; they could probably also furnish you with a little lock of the negro's hair. Add these to the other mixtures and you will then have a medicine that is claimed has never been known to fail in bringing the desired result.

(The above is republished from the ADVERTISER, of July 12th, 1907, and in the present agitation of the voting people of this county for Crawford County Primaries is particularly opportune. There would be little need for medicine if the people selected their candidates by direct vote.)

WHO WILL BE OUR NEXT SHERIFF?

Among those whose names we have heard in connection with the office of Sheriff are the following gentlemen:—

- J. FRANK WALLER, Camden District, (Parsons.)
- G. ERNEST HEARN, Pittsville District.
- CLAYTON J. KELLEY, Salisbury District.
- W. C. BRADY, Quantico District.
- E. M. ELLIOTT, Parsons District.
- Ex-Sheriff GEO. W. FOOKS, Nattam District.

Under the Convention system the sheriff will be selected by those who have performed this office in the past. Which one will the few select, the others being left out in the cold?

How would you Mr. Democratic Voter like to have some say as to who will be the next Sheriff of Wicomico County?

Under the Crawford County plan you would be entitled to cast a vote for your choice. Do you want to help select the man?

THE NEWS OF COURT

For The Week. Dixon-Fletcher Case Of Cambridge Occupying Attention Now.

The second week of Court, commencing on Monday morning and several important cases were disposed of. On Saturday the Grand Jury made its report and was dismissed by the Court.

Among the cases tried and disposed of are the following:—

Joe. Nock, colored, indicted for stealing a cow, tried before a jury, found guilty and sentenced to seven years in the Maryland Penitentiary. This was the case in which Solomon Trader missed his cow and with the help of a very intelligent dog traced the cow for some twenty or thirty miles, finally arriving at some point in Delaware just in time to block the sale of the cow by John Neck. The account was given in the ADVERTISER at the time, and the testimony given at the trial was substantially as the account given.

On Saturday the case of James Denson, who was indicted for assault upon a white girl, was called for trial. The case was tried before the Court and on Monday Denson was acquitted of the charge.

On Monday afternoon the case of John W. Langdon vs. the B. C. and A. R. R. was called. Langdon sued the Company for injuries sustained on one of the Company's steamers while enroute from Baltimore to Finney's Wharf, Virginia. The trial was before jury and a verdict of $6000 was rendered. Mr. Langdon met his accident aboard the vessel by the falling of a heavy gang plank upon him which he alleged was due to negligence on the part of the Company. He sustained injuries of a compound fracture of the leg, and physicians in the case testified that Mr. Langdon's injuries were of a permanent character and would severely hamper him all through life. The case was stubbornly contested by both sides. The plaintiff was represented by Miles and Stanford, of Princess Anne, and Todvin and Bell, of Salisbury; the railroad by Robert P. Graham, of Baltimore. It is said that the Railroad will ask for a new trial.

The Dixon-Fletcher Damage Suit.

The case of Miss Nanette S. Dixon vs. William M. Fletcher, for $15,000 damages for injuries sustained when her horse became frightened at Mr. Fletcher's automobile and ran away, throwing the plaintiff from her carriage and severely injuring her came up for trial on Wednesday. Messrs. John R. Pattison and George H. Dawson and Todvin and Bell, are the attorneys for Miss Dixon and Messrs. Goldsborough and Fletcher, Ellegood, Freony and Waites, for Mr. Fletcher. The case has attracted much attention in Dorchester county on account of the prominence of the parties involved and the large number of witnesses on both sides. It was tried during the April term of 1907 of the Circuit Court of that county and a verdict was reached, giving Miss Dixon $5,000 damages and costs. The case was appealed, and during the January term of 1908 of the Court of Appeals the decision was reversed and a new trial awarded.

TO TEXAS IN WAGON

Special Touring Vehicle Being Built To Carry Family Across Country From Wicomico.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pollitt, and their one year old baby, expect to start for San Antonio, Texas, on Wednesday April 14th.

The trip is to be made in a covered wagon planned and built for the journey. Mr. Pollitt is building the wagon which is 10ft. long, 6 ft. high and 4 1/2 ft. in width, and is being built of poplar which they claim will give it strength as well as lightness. It has two windows, with double doors at each, while the front will have seating capacity to accommodate the family. Mr. Pollitt expects to work at his trade of blacksmith and wheelwright during the journey, plying his trade with the farmers as he goes through the country and canvassing the towns as he goes through. Matter advertising his business is printed in large type on both sides of the wagon and on first eight one is greeted with "Workshop on Wheels," Clippers, Scissors, Looks repaired" etc. The wagon is to serve both as a workshop and living quarters, and will carry a full equipment of cooking utensils and other household articles, including bedding. A hammock has been provided for use on Sundays when they expect to camp in some shady grove and enjoy the freedom of a "Gypsy" life.

Mrs. Pollitt in talking of the trip spoke enthusiastically of it and said that this way of making the journey would give them a chance to study the people and give them a good idea of the country they passed through. The healthfulness of an out of doors life also appealed to them. The trip will be made by easy stages of from 10 to 12 miles a day, and in this way they hope to become acclimated, gradually to the change of climate.

One horse is to pull the wagon from here to Texas, and as but a short distance is covered each day, this is not regarded as being especially hard on the horse. It was their intention to start on the 15th, but as some of their friends were superstitious about the 15th, the date of starting was fixed as that of the 14th instead. They will go from here to Baltimore, thence to Washington and leaving that city they make their route direct to the Southwest.

According to their calculation they will reach San Antonio about next Christmas, though no definite time has been fixed, and if they can not make Texas by that time they will winter in some town or village and start out again next spring. Mr. Pollitt has many relatives in Texas and expects to locate there if conditions are favorable. Mrs. Pollitt is the daughter of Mr. Joshua Parker, and although leaving all her friends and relatives here is very enthusiastic on the trip. When the baby was mentioned she seemed to show some anxiety as to the next summer will be her second summer, but thought the air would keep it in good health and hope beneficial to it as well as her parents. And the healthy condition of the infant when he left the opinion of the reporter, justifies the opinion that it was well advised to enjoy the trip.

GOSSIP FROM THE WORLD

Of Fashion. Easter Millinery: Quizzes Of Flowers: Bows In The Back Of Hats: Bridal Treasures: Summer Frocks.

Wherever two or three women chance to meet nowadays the all-absorbing topic is millinery. There has been such a very decided change in the shape of hats this year that it is extremely difficult at first to accept the new models without a great deal of hesitation and preliminary "looking around."

The Easter hats are very heavy looking but in reality the materials are light. Large turbans, mushroom shapes, bowl shapes and a large variety of curious models shapes of which beggar description. But the two things most noticeable in the new millinery are the pose of the hat upon the head and the complicated and top heavy character of the crowns. Every hat is worn low upon the head and whatever shape the crown is invariably wide, so that on a woman's head one of these models appears like a snuffer on a candle.

Roses, Tulips, and Wisteria. There never was quite such a season for artificial flowers. American Beauty and June roses are the most popular blossoms and then come tulips, poppies, wisteria, sweet peas, with of course the perennial violet and a quantity of fine flowers such as forget-me-nots, heliotrope, etc.

Fruit of all sorts is also a favored decoration. Many of the hats look like inverted salad bowls with perhaps a bunch of mixed fruits, most often grapes and cherries on one side, a narrow velvet ribbon of some bright color tied around it and the whole finished off with a bow in the back.

A Linen Season. To anyone in touch with the trend of present fashions it is evident that the Summer of 1909 will outdo any one previously known in linen makings and dress materials. Lord & Taylor is making a most enticing display of these in a wonderful range of plain colorings and in tints that rival the finest shades of the French dyes. All the fruit shades in pinks, oranges and the dull rich tones hitherto found only in more costly fabrics are here in textures that vary from the fine smooth weave of French linens to the heavier self stripes and crashes. Linen dress is very popular for suits of a strictly tailored order.

Collarless Frocks. Most of the fashionable dressmakers are making the summer frocks for young women without any standing collars at all, not a little rounded or pointed in the neck and finished simply with a band of insertion or in lieu of this with one of the flat Dutch collars that is so becoming to the possessor of a well rounded throat. A perfect host of separate lingerie collars indescribably fine and dainty and adapted to low neck effects are now being shown in the neckwear departments of all the shops.

Colored Embroidery. A special feature of this season's fashions are embroideries wrought in colors of the most varied shades on white cotton and linen materials. A charming summer frock of white lawn is made in the new princess effect and has the center front panel of fine tucking outlined down each side by wide bands of pale pink embroidery worked on the lawn. The same embroidery edges the round neck, trims the sleeves and hoods the flounce that starts from each side of the front panel.

Smart Shirt Waists. Cotton grenadine or as it is often called cotton Marquisette is a very smart material for the dressy summer shirt waist. These are elaborately trimmed with tiny lace and hand embroidery or they are braided in cotton arabesque or conventional bands and prettily trimmed with crushed buttons.

WICOMICO HIGH SCHOOL

March K. Turner Free Traveling Art Exhibit Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive, April 7 to 10.

The interest in art should be inculcated in the minds of the children in our schools at an early age, and it is necessary, for this purpose to have works of art in the school buildings. The children would then become familiar with the masterworks of Art of all ages and absorb, unconsciously, what is true and good and beautiful.

There will open at the Wicomico High School on April 17 and continuing through the week to April 19, inclusive, perhaps the most notable Art Exhibition of its size ever given in our vicinity.

It will attract every parent and child and all friends of the school and during the days of the entire week will tax the capacity of our school rooms.

The event will not only be a notable one among school entertainments but will be a revelation of the exceeding beauty and distinction of good pictures in the school room, for the High School has been able to secure 900 examples of the best school subjects in large reproductions, attractively arranged and catalogued to the end that every parent, child and friend of the High School may see and appreciate, now, the advantages to be derived from beautiful pictures in our school rooms.

The entire Wicomico High School wants everybody to attend this exhibit. Each friend can assist us by making a contribution of whatever amount the donor may desire to be applied to the picture fund. Local organization may assist us by making a donation of a picture of their selection. You are assured of our appreciation of your presence and any effort on your part to increase our funds. Signed, Wicomico High School Teachers, Committee on Raising Subscriptions.

SHAKE IN A BOTTLE.

Advice of Noted Authority, Also Gives A Simple Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney remedy, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

Druggists in this town and vicinity when shown the prescription stated that they can either supply these ingredients, or, if our readers prefer, they will compound the mixture for them.

If the farmers and the packers both stick to their decisions regarding the price of tomatoes, there will be but few grown in this section of Delaware; and even fewer packed this year. Most of the canneries have about three fourths of last year's pack yet on hand, and will not pay more than $7 a ton the coming season. On the other hand the farmers claim they will not contract for less than $10 a ton.—Georgetown Republican.

Says April Will Be Hot.

Mr. John Boligiano, 319 North Patterson Park Avenue, Baltimore, engaged in the seed business in the firm of that name, lays down the mantle to the United States Weather Bureau and challenges it—dares it—to forecast the weather that will prevail in the first ten days of the coming April.

Mr. Boligiano says he has been a weather specialist and a student of natural condition for the last 15 or 20 years, and that he is competent to give long distance forecasts, he says, is proven by the many testimonials which he declares he can produce at any time to any skeptic. He says he has made good as a forecaster and asserts that he starts where the Weather Bureau leaves and carries the good work farther on.

His forecast for the first ten days of April is as follows: "A phenomenal hot wave will predominate over the entire Middle Atlantic States, beginning with the 1st day of April and last until April 10, July and August temperatures will prevail."

To this he affixes his hand and seal, offers to bet real money that such weather conditions will obtain. He says he knows that such a wave will come, for he has been watching it sneak up the coast from the equator all along.

"I'll make you feel like 30 cents," remarked the bottle of champagne to the five dollar bill knowing full well that the waiter would set a generous tip.

Practical Dentists. 104 S. Main Street, Salisbury, Maryland.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to become advanced the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

OVERDONE AFFECTION.

The girl in the frilly white gown rearranged the flowers in the brass bowl because she realized that a charming picture of domesticity she made while doing so. "It is perfectly dreadful," she said, "the way Clara nags that poor man since they are married!"

"Does she?" asked the young man who was sitting admiring her graceful motions. "I thought she was uncommonly fond of Charlie."

The young woman in the frilly white gown paused abruptly with a room in one hand. "Oh, she is!" she cried. "That's just the trouble! She can't bear to have him out of her sight. If he is five minutes late to dinner she puts him through a regular catcham. I don't see how he stands it!"

"Maybe he doesn't mind," suggested the young man. The young woman cast a reproachful look at him. "Mind?" she cried. "Of course he minds! Wouldn't you mind if I fussed at you and waded you as a count for every breath you drew? Wouldn't you? And I'm only engaged to you!"

"It wouldn't be very nice," admitted the young man. "But then, you know, you are somewhat different from Clara."

"I should hope so," ejaculated the young woman, leaving the roses before they were quite out, and sitting down. "Why," she went on, "that's just the way to kill all love Clara's husband may have for her! Not to trust him! I should think he would feel actually indignant! He came home one night and found her in tears because she had been making a schedule of everything he had done the previous day, and 10 minutes were unaccounted for. She was certain he had been talking to some one whom he didn't want her to know about! Why, if I couldn't trust a man I couldn't care for him."

"Of course not," agreed the young man. "I'm mighty glad you don't try to keep track of me that way!" The young woman eyed him thoughtfully. "I don't like the heavy tone of voice in which you said that," she remarked. "It was just as though you were thankful you had escaped detection? Are you concealing something from me?"

"Nonsense!" laughed the young man. "But are you?" insisted the young woman. "Sometimes I wonder if it could be possible—not that I haven't perfect confidence in you, Arthur—but one does get to thinking occasionally, and sometimes I wonder if you tell me everything."

"Of course not," said the young man, placidly. "You'd be better to death, if I recounted all my business dealings, or if every time I met any one on the street."

"Girls, you mean?" "Sometimes," said the young man. "I suppose as long as the earth continues to be populated by men and women, I shall keep on seeing girls when I walk abroad."

"You ought to tell me when you do," said the young woman, decisively. "Whom did you meet yesterday?" The young man frowned. "How on earth can I remember?" he inquired. "How foolish!" said the young woman, indignantly. "The mere fact that you don't want to tell me shows—"

"I'm perfectly willing to tell you," interrupted the young man. "Only I can't remember."

"Arthur," said the young woman. "I never thought I should doubt your word! You might as well confess who it was. Tell me all about it!"

"There's nothing to tell!" "You may treat this flippantly if you wish," said the young woman, "but it is no trifling matter. What time were you on the street and—"

good health, with its blessings, most understood, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living right. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it.

Consequently, the Company's Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna gives general satisfaction. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

A QUESTION OF PREVENTION.

The Feminine Point of View Revealed to the Fullest. "The paper says," remarked Mr. Booth, one evening, after supper, "that the Saluria got in yesterday. The passage was calm, and every one on board was well." He paused and looked tentatively in his wife's direction. She kept on with her needlework.

"Don't you think that the Coopers were foolish, my dear?" he inquired. "No, I can't say that I do," she replied. "If Mrs. Cooper felt that the ship was going down, what could she do except refuse to go?"

"That's one way of putting it," admitted Mr. Booth, "but here is the situation: John and his wife and the two girls had all their luggage on board."

"Not all," interrupted his wife. "There was a big trunk which hadn't come. Be fair, James."

"All right, then: they had got themselves on board and most of their luggage. The ship was due to start half an hour. Suddenly Annie clutches John by the arm in that nervous way of hers, and says, 'John, I've just had a premonition that this ship is going down before it gets to Europe. Take me home, John, take me home!'"

"You are perfectly heartless," interposed his wife. "I don't think Annie was quite so foolish as that. She isn't well, you know, and she couldn't help feeling as she did!"

"But why didn't she tell the rest of the passengers, then?" inquired Mr. Booth. "That would have been the humane thing to do. Suppose I was in a theatre, and knew that it was about to burn down. Wouldn't it be my duty to inform the audience? I should rise, and say, 'Ladies and—'"

"James, don't treat such a subject in such a frivolous manner. You lack sympathy. You have no tact at all. I almost feel that you've said something like this to Annie already."

"No, not yet," he replied, "but I may. It strikes me that she was a very heartless woman. Very selfish, too, not to warn the others. I wonder that her husband gave in to her."

"What else could he do?" asked Mrs. Booth. "That's exactly the point—what? She was prepared to make a scene." Mrs. Booth nodded.

"You think that she would have made a scene? Then I am surprised at John—surprised and shocked. I did not realize that he, too, is so thoughtless. If a had let her make a scene, then the passengers would have known the impending danger, and no one would have gone, and the ship—"

"But the ship got in safety," said Mrs. Booth, carried away by the imaginary narrative. "So it did," agreed her husband. "But if that had happened, it mightn't have. You never can predict, you know!"

Mrs. Booth regarded him doubtfully, not quite knowing whether he was in earnest or not.

Alcohol to Children

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely. Children do not need stimulating." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young. Follow his advice. He knows. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

ROADS AND ROAD MAKING

PREVENTION OF DUST. Automobiles Make Problem Assume Urgent Form.

In recent years perhaps the most important and certainly the most difficult problem which has engaged the attention of highway engineers is the prevention of dust. Until the general introduction of motor vehicles dust was considered as neither more nor less than a nuisance. The problem has now, however, assumed a more serious aspect. The existence of our macadam roads depends upon the retention of the rock dust formed by the wearing of the surface. Under ordinary traffic conditions this dust remains on the road and consolidates to form a fresh wearing surface. But a heavy rubber-tired automobile moving at a high rate of speed produces a partial vacuum behind each wheel which sucks up the dirt from the road surface and throws it into the air to be carried off by the wind. This action soon strips the macadam road of all fine material, the result being that it soon disintegrates.

France, both by reason of her large mileage of macadam roads and the general use of automobiles, has given this subject the earliest and most thorough consideration. Investigations and experiments have also been conducted in England, and to some extent in this country. During the past year a thorough investigation was made of the systems in use both in France and England. Experiments with tar and oil were conducted during the past summer in Kentucky and Massachusetts with a number of materials and preparation designed to preserve macadam road surfaces.

This is a subject which should engage the earnest attention of the National Government at once. No matter how important we may deem the building of good roads, we can not but consider it even more important to preserve those which have already been constructed.

Roads are so closely related to the life of a community that they may be taken as an index of its ethical, financial and industrial condition. Good roads encourage immigration of the right sort. They attract capital and increase production and cheapen the cost of living. The prosperity of a community is in direct proportion to the condition of its roads. In a community with bad roads you will find dilapidated schools, broken-down vehicles and worn-out animals, and a people who, although they may toil from sun-up to sun-down, have but few of the comforts, luxuries and conveniences to which their labors entitle them. On the other hand, in a community where good roads abound, you will find, as a rule, a happy, prosperous and contented people, beautiful homes, with all modern conveniences, good schools, fine churches, blooded stock, rural free delivery, telephone and, best of all, money in the bank.

Increase Values. Good roads build up the value of real estate. Since $186,000 in bonds has been spent in Bradley county, Tenn., land has advanced in value from $8 to $10 per acre to $15 to $20 per acre. Jackson county, Ala., land valued from $6 to $15 per acre before 125 miles of macadam road were built, is now selling from $15 to $25 per acre, but in Mississippi, where less than one per cent. of the roads are improved, the average price is $15 per acre.

A Contrast. Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Ohio and Indiana have each over one-third of their roads improved in accordance with the best methods of highway construction in vogue in the United States. Tennessee has only about eight per cent. of improved highways, and most of this is in the middle and western divisions of the State.

A Unified System. The roads of a county should be built according to a predetermined and unified system, based upon a most careful investigation of materials, amount of traffic, revenue available, methods of construction adapted to local needs, organization and administration, and all factors entering directly or indirectly into the road work.

Use of Burnt Clay. Experiments in the use of burnt clay as a road material at various points in Mississippi give most favorable indications of success, and it seems quite probable that a long step forward has been taken in solving the road problem in the Mississippi Delta.

An Effective Method. The mixing of sand and clay has long been recognized as an effective method of road construction. The burning of clay for railroad ballast was begun some years ago, but its adaptability to road building has only been made known by this office in recent years.

SALISBURY ADVERTISER PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY SALISBURY, WICOMICO CO., MD. OFFICE OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE

THE ORGANIZATION AND DIRECT PRIMARIES.

The abuse by organizations of the power entrusted to them by the people—led, in the first place, those who were in sympathy with honest government in the interest of the people to seek some method by which the power usurped by certain men could be returned to its proper place—in the hands of the people.

It is generally acknowledged that politicians have used the power of nominations to promote their own political ambitions and to perpetuate themselves and their friends in office.

The fact that this abuse of the power of making nominations led in the first place to the advocacy of a direct system of making party nominations has led many into the belief that those who are in favor of a change are necessarily opposed to and fighting the organization of their party.

The history of those places where a direct system of nominations has been introduced shows that the organization has by no means lost its power or its influence, but that a wholesome check has been placed upon them which has resulted in better men being selected for office, and a strong tendency in the holders of office to show regard to public sentiment and wishes.

It is believed that this system will do away with the kind of men who have become familiar to the present day American man who stands on the jump—publicly—ethically satisfied as to which side he blows.

CAMPAIGN BRINGS RESULTS. At least two definite benefits have resulted from the Eastern Shore Trolley Campaign.

First and foremost, a practicable and well backed plan for the erection of a trans Peninsula trolley system, affording direct and quick communication with Baltimore has been formulated.

Both the Travelers and Merchants and Merchants and Manufacturers Association have awakened to a lively interest in the publicity campaign and its success in arousing action upon their part is another encouraging result.

One thing is certain, however, and that is if the Peninsula is to have soon a well equipped trolley system, its citizens must be ready to lend all the financial and commercial support to the enterprise within their power.

Let us then work hand in hand that our native health may, as a part of dear old Maryland, become closely connected with our metropolis.

TWO ELECTRICAL

Companies Investigating Peninsula Trolley System Connecting Leading Towns of the Eastern Shore.

Residents of the community in which they are working being in total ignorance of the fact, and each in turn being unaware of the presence of a rival in the field.

Obvious to this project also are the various other electric companies of the Shore and for the first time is the proposition made known today.

Everything worked smoothly until Tuesday of last week, and then a clash for the two corporations seemed inevitable.

The Capitalist Exchange Confidences. Both stopped at the same Hotel and naturally, being inquisitive, noticing that their outfits were the same, they exchanged confidences as to the purpose of their visit.

After this exchange, each felt relieved not desiring that, although the details of what had not commenced to discuss, they, as the rivals, were sitting in the shadow chatting quite intimately and incidentally preparing in no small degree.

MEN WANTED

Men Wanted, under 50 years of age, with team, to represent the J. R. Watkins Company, through the Eastern States.

Call for W. S. Cuffel at the Peninsula Hotel, Salisbury, Md., Monday and Tuesday April 5th and 6th.

The Work of The Corporation. The work of the corporation has so far been centered chiefly in Queen Anne's county, and they will endeavor to gain control of the water possibilities there for the Queen Anne's Kent county plant before beginning elsewhere.

The Towns Benefited. Although a number of towns on the shore are already supplied with electrical conveniences, this Peninsula concern, should the rivalry cease any agreement, claims to be able to give much more economical service.

The Streams and Their Power. All of the rivers that will be included in this harnessing plan are considered strong compared with waters in other level sections of the Shore.

LIME! LIME!

Farmers, beware of the low grade of lime that is now being sold and that runs as low as 30 per cent. carbonate of lime. The official State analysis gives our (the Le Ore) lime 98.89 per cent. carbonate of lime.

I wish to inform you that I have made several trips to Western Maryland to study the Agricultural Lime situation.

I know that I am in a position to furnish you with the best-acting lime in use. My ten years' experience in the lime business has taught me that there is a vast difference in limes, and in their action on soils and crops. I can furnish you with a complete combination of the salts of lime, and it will mean a great saving to all who use it—it brings results.

P. S.—Remember! I can furnish you the quickest and the best-acting crop-grower and land-improver on the market. I have the prepared soil lime also to offer you. By all means hold your order until I call on you, as it will be a mutual benefit and a special favor to me; or write me, or call me over the telephone.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.
Many from Your Starved Stomach Go in Five Minutes.
You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of a case of indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will occasionally take a little Diapensin after eating.
Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested, nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Heaving, Distress, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion, like a lump of lead in stomach. Billoosness, Heartburn, Water-brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.
Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapensin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. Each triangle will digest all the food you can eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour.
Get a large 50 cent box of Pape's Diapensin from your druggist and start taking today and by tomorrow you will actually brag about your healthy strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

SOMETHING OF WICOMICO
And What The County is Doing in Agriculture, Manufactures And Commerce.
The seventeenth annual report of the Bureau of Statistics and Information of Maryland has been received at this office. This important Bureau is under the charge of Hon. Ohas J. Fox, Chief Baltimore County, with Frank Armiger of Baltimore City as an assistant. The report just issued is filled with useful and valuable information.
Some of the statistics of Wicomico are given follow: Area is more than 965 sq. miles of which more than one-half or 122,458 acres was under cultivation in 1900. Population (1900) 22,823.
Berries.
In speaking of Agriculture the report says: "Wicomico is well adapted to the growing of small fruits and grapes, prominent among which are strawberries, blackberries, huckleberries, cantaloupes and watermelons, in addition to which there is a considerable amount of corn, wheat and tomatoes raised.
Within the past few years great strides have been made in the growing of grasses and grains and the land has been improved for cattle feeding.
There are upwards of 8000 acres set in strawberries, yielding about 3000 quarts to the acre. It is estimated that in a good year 8,000,000 quarts salable at an average price of 5 cents, net to the grower will yield in round numbers $400,000. It is estimated that there are 1000 acres set in blackberries, which yield about 3000 quarts to the acre, making a total crop of 3,000,000 quarts, which it would take at least 1,000 pickers to gather and means a net income to the growers of $150,000. The huckleberry grows wild in Wicomico and the fruit belongs to whoever will pick it. It is mostly found in the swampy and low lands of the county in large quantities, and as it costs nothing to cultivate, it is a net revenue to the pickers. The fruit is purchased by the country stores and shipped to Northern markets, where it brings good prices.
There is also a large acreage in raspberries and the wild asparagus crop brings considerable money in the county.
Manufacturing.
The number of manufacturing establishments in the county is given as 24 (cents 1905) capital invested in such plants as $1,570,878. The fertilizer factories situated in Salisbury are credited with "at least 12,000,000 tons per year." The average output of bricks is given as 8,000,000 per year. In speaking of the county at large the report says in regard to its manufactures: "In every town and hamlet in Wicomico there is some branch of manufacturing. All these establishments give employment to many people at an average salary of from $4 to $8 per week. The principal industries in the small places are the shirt factories, starting off with the one in Salisbury which employs 400 people. There is one at Herborn with 50 employees; Mardela Springs, 30 employees; Parsonsburg, 40 employees; Sharptown, 50 employees; White Haven 35 employees. Most of the employees in these factories are women and girls. Altogether there are about 600 people who find employment in the shirt factories of Wicomico, who will average a weekly pay roll of at least $3000."
Lumber, Etc.
Another lucrative employment for girls is the kindling wood mills, situated at Salisbury, Hebron, Delmar and Parsonsburg. This business is the bundling of wood for sale in the large cities. In these four factories about 300 girls find employment and they earn about $5 per week each. This work is light and very healthful. Speaking of the lumber business the report says "It is estimated that the different mills in Salisbury will cut and use 60,000,000 feet of lumber each year."
Miscellaneous.
The average pack of tomatoes is estimated at 350,000 cases or 3,400,000 cases, to which can be added 1,000 cases of corn, 5000 cases of peas and 1000 cases of pumpkins, making a grand total of about 10,000,000 cases of fruit packed in the county. In speaking of the oyster packing industry it says: "The oyster packing industry is not as large as formerly, and planting is now being entered by several of the largest packers. It is expected that within a few years most of the oyster bottoms along the rivers will be under artificial propagation."

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.
Plenty of evidence to prove this. James K. Disharoon, 230 Isabella Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have never taken a remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills and I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint which was brought on by a heavy cold I caught. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the traffic like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a misstep, as this was sore to bring on a severe twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I had lung trouble and was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a very poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until I was entirely cured and I had no further trouble until about ten years ago. About that time a cold affected my kidneys but after taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, the attack disappeared."

Celebrate Arbor Day.
It is high time to make preparations to celebrate Arbor Day in a practical manner. The planting of a tree or a shrub by school children is merely intended to be symbolic, and to impress upon the children through the accompanying exercises, the importance of forest preservation and the beauty of arboreal adornments, but these lessons ought to be showing some practical results by this time, for the children who first began to observe arbor day are now grown and many of them have land of their own and a definite stake in the welfare of the county. Many thousands of unproductive and acres of unused land would become quite valuable in a few years if planted in trees, and many a home might be made much more beautiful and pleasant by the judicious use of a few ornamental trees, vines, shrub and berries. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, noted for its wise business management is planting trees by the hundred thousand. Any one who owns a small piece of land may be wise also if he will.—Ex.

Words To Freeze The Soul.
"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. After three weeks' use "writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs and Colds. Its safest, surest cure of desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c and $1.00 at Toulson's Drug Store. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

You should not delay under any circumstances in cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble. You should take something promptly that you know is reliable, something like DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequalled for weak back, backache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, etc. When you ask for DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, be sure you get them. They are antiseptic. Accept no substitutes; insist upon getting the right kind. Sold by all druggists.
Many a man boasts that his wife made him when she doesn't seem to be particularly proud of the job.
Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the Catarrh powder and snuff, for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas medicines made with mercury merely dry up the secretions and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real remedy, not a delusion. All druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 68 Warren Street, New York.

Have you noticed that the oldest inhabitant is always a man, never a woman?
For a mild, easy action of the bowels, a single dose of Doan's Backache Remedy will cure you. It is a simple, safe, and sure remedy. It is a simple, safe, and sure remedy. It is a simple, safe, and sure remedy.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.
Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irregularities, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ERRA DONOVAN, Box 299, Willimantic, Conn.
The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

LYCEUM MUSICAL CLUB

At The Masonic Temple Monday Night Next. An Attractive Program To Be Rendered.

Don't miss the opportunity to hear the Lyceum Musical Club of Western Maryland College, at the Masonic Temple, Monday evening, April 12th, at 8.15. Last year the Club gave a very pleasing entertainment in this city and was highly appreciated by the audience. This year they have worked up a much better entertainment which should be thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Besides the Quartette numbers, there will be baritone solos, popular readings and recitations by the famous Callist, Mr. Achley, of New York, a graduate of the Seminary.

In presenting the Lyceum Musical Club, the management takes a pardonable pride in stating that it is a company of stars which have never yet failed to give satisfaction and which has been received with great enthusiasm.

The Club, without a doubt, stands among the very best that any college has produced.

The songs have been selected not only for their excellent entertaining qualities and refinement, but as well for that deep educating influence which comes through smiles and tears and makes humanity happier and better.

The Lyceum Musical Club, of Western Maryland College, is thoroughly capable of giving a first class evening's entertainment. On one occasion I heard this club, and was very much delighted. I gladly commend the club as worthy of your patronage.

WHO WILL REPRESENT WICOMICO IN THE COMING LEGISLATURE?

Among those names we have heard in connection with the Legislature are the following gentlemen:

JNO. L. POWELL, Dennis District.
E. T. SHOOKLEY, Pittsburg District.
GEO. A. SHOOKLEY, Pittsburg District.
TAYLOR BAKER, Pittsburg District.
JAMES PARKER, Pittsburg District.
JOHN F. PHILLIPS, Nantlooko District.
E. E. TWILLEY, Camden District.
A. M. JACKSON, Camden District.
ROSCOE JONES, Trapps District.
S. KER SLEMONS, Delmar District.
GEO. C. BOUNDS, Quantico District.
Some measures that will probably come before the next Legislature: State Local Option Bill.
Increased Representation for Baltimore City.
Creation of a Public Utility Commission.
Legalized Direct Primaries for the State.
Reduction of Legislative expenses by putting it on a business basis; dispensing with useless and un-needed employees whose only duty in the past has been to draw their pay.

Have you any convictions on any of these measures? If so how would you like to have a chance to help nominate men in whom you have full confidence that they will vote and work for the measures you are in favor of?

Under the Convention system the Representatives will be selected by those who have performed this office in the past. Which ones will the few select, the others being left out in the cold? How would you, Mr. Democratic Voter, like to have some say as to who will represent Wicomico County in the next Legislature? Under the Crawford County plan you would be entitled to cast your vote for the men whom you think best represent your sentiments in the coming Legislature. Do you want to help select the man?

RECITAL FOR GRAMMAR

School To Be Given At The Opera House April 27. High Class Entertainment Promised.

The Grammar School teachers and pupils of Salisbury have completed arrangements for a high class musical recital to be given in the Opera House on Tuesday evening, April 27th. It has been possible to secure three artists of national reputation, who would have been beyond the reach of the school but for the help received from a well known piano manufacturer, who will provide a new concert grand piano for use on this occasion.

The artists who will render the program are Miss Clara Aecherfeld, Pianiste, and Mr. Bart Wirtz, cellist, prominent members of the Peabody Conservatory of Baltimore, and Dr. B. Merrill Hopkinson, vocalist. Dr. Hopkinson, Baltimore's leading Baritone, is a member of the "Musical Art Club" in that city, and for several years has led the choir at Brown Memorial Church. He is prominent in musical circles, and has frequently appeared in concerts in Baltimore and other cities.

Mr. Wirtz has in the last few years gained an enviable reputation as a master of the "Cello." He is a native of Holland, and has been Professor of the Violoncello at the Peabody since 1906.

Miss Aecherfeld is one of the most successful pianists in Baltimore, and has gained wide popularity as an ensemble player, having concertized with such noted artists as Kreisler, Maude Powell, Petchinkoff and others.

The price for the tickets will not be advanced, notwithstanding the high character of the entertainment. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of some kind of a musical instrument for the school. Every school in town but this one has a piano, and it is hoped to provide the same facilities for musical instruction and enjoyment for the pupils of the fifth and sixth grades that all the other pupils enjoy. Every person will thus not only get his full money's worth, but will also help in the education of the children.

Government Leases San Clemente in Washington, D. C.—A lease of San Clemente Island, sixty miles off the coast of southern California, west of Dana Point, to the San Clemente Wool Company for a term of twenty-five years, at an annual rental of $1,500, has been authorized by Congress. The island contains about forty square miles, and is said to be of value only for sheep grazing, and then only by a constant fight against sand from the sea. To this end the lease is required to expend at least $1,000 a year during the life of the lease.

Gambling Girls in Ireland.
 Dublin, Ireland.—Commenting upon the disclosures as to gambling among girls, made at the quarter sessions at Nassau, Ireland, in the course of a lander case against a woman bookmaker, Judge Barry said that the vice of gambling had gone so far in many towns that women bookmakers did a large business with domestic servants, who thus frittered away their wages. He blamed bridge whist for fostering the love of gambling in the upper classes, characterizing it as a "moral pest." It was well known that the ready money bookmaker did a large business among the factory girls of London and all the large cities, going to meet them as they left their work on paydays. Women in the factory often act as their agents.

Accepts Bulldog as Alimony.
 Indianapolis, Ind.—A bulldog was accepted in part payment of alimony in a divorce case here by Mrs. Doris Kling. The divorced husband fell behind in his payments and was brought into court by his former wife. He said he had no property but a bulldog. The wife promptly said she would take the dog in payment.

Mrs. Passer—My poor man why do you go about the street begging? Mendicant—I has to, mum. All the regular stands is taken.

His View of Duty.
 "Pleasant duty!" snorted the Chronic Kicker. "There's another ridiculous expression."
 "Why so?" demanded the man who had used it.
 "Because no duty could really be pleasant if it's an actual duty."

Limitations.
 Mr. Scraggington (caustically).—As Lincoln said, a man may fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time—
 Mrs. Scraggington (briskly).—But you can't fool me, any of the time!

Agreeable Change.
 "Won't you take my seat?" said the man in the street-car, as he lifted his hat to the pretty girl.
 "No, thank you," she replied; "I've been skating all the afternoon and I'm tired of sitting down."

SAD DEATH AT MILFORD.

Not-Headedness Responsible For Unfortunate Accident. Small Pocket Knife Reached The Heart.

Walter Gillespie is dead from a stab wound, and Jester Gray is in custody at Milford as the result of a fight at midnight over Frances Bennett, a pretty eighteen year old high school girl.

The fatal wound was inflicted with a common pocket knife, the blade of which is less than three inches long. The tiny blade reached Gillespie's heart, however, at a single stroke and he died almost instantly.

Jester Gray is twenty one years old and the son of a horse dealer at Milford where Miss Bennett attends school. In company with W. W. Conwell, cashier of the Milford Bank, Gray went to Milford Wednesday to meet a drove of horses due from Philadelphia.

While there Gray was invited to a little evening party at the home of a friend. Miss Bennett also attended the party, and Gray escorted her home.

Meanwhile Gillespie, who had the reputation of being hot-headed, and who had been paying attention to Miss Bennett, learned that Gray was at the party with the girl. According to several persons, Gillespie had been drinking. He first appeared at the Hotel Windsor, where his uncle lives, and tried to borrow a revolver. He was denied admittance to the place and went away, accompanied by Marmon Windsor and William Gray, two friends.

Killed At Single Stroke.
 Going to the home of Miss Bennett, the three youths waited for Jester Gray to leave the house, after seeing the girl home. Totally unconscious of any danger Gray bade Miss Bennett good-night and left. He drew his pocket knife from his pocket as he descended the steps to cut-off the end of a cigar.

As he reached the front gate he was accosted by Gillespie, who demanded to know what he was doing in the girl's home. Gillespie then struck Gray, according to the testimony of Gillespie's friends. Gray threw up his arms to ward off the blow and the open pocket knife penetrated Gillespie's breast. Gillespie fell mortally wounded.

Gray helped carry the wounded man to the nearest doctor, but Gillespie died before he reached the physician's office.

Going to the Hotel Windsor, Gray gave himself up. He was kept in a room at the hotel all night. He grieved bitterly over the killing again and again repeated that he only meant to protect himself. "Bob" Small, a special detective, took charge of Gray and this morning arraigned him before Magistrate Fisher, who ordered him held pending the arrival of Coroner Griffin, of Seaford.

Little doubt is felt but that the Coroner's jury will exonerate Gray, Windsor and William Gray both admit that Gillespie provoked the fight and struck Gray first.

Mrs. Gillespie, mother of the dead youth, says that she does not wish to prosecute Gray.

Letter To B. Frank Messick,
 Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: Suppose you are feeding pigs milk; how much will you gain by watering milk a quarter? half? three quarters?
 100 quarts whole milk they sleep
 50 " " 50 " more squeal
 25 " " 75 " still squeal
 0 " " 100 " no squeal

Suppose you are painting a house; how much will you gain by paint adulterated a quarter? half? three quarters?
 10 gallons Devoe put on $80
 15 " " " 75
 30 " " " 100
 40 " " " 300

The cost of paint put-on is about $5 a gallon, no matter what paint you buy.
 But nobody really gets 40 gallons on a 10-gallon job; so nobody really pays $800 for painting a $80 job; he stops at about $100. Two coats of 1/2 paint and 1/3 trash doesn't make a good job; nor three; nor four.
 These lessons are useful.
 Yours truly,

Siberian Bread that Makes You Drunk
 Since you don't live in Siberia you need not be afraid, says M. Narrison, a Russian, to get drunk through eating ordinary bread. A hardened hobo would, on the other hand, think that Providence had played him a nasty trick in not allowing him first to see the light of day in Siberia.

In Far Eastern Russia, in that region which lies between the sea and the river called Masuri, the humidity of the climate, as well as of the soil, is remarkable. Vegetation is here distinguished for its wondrous exuberance, to such an extent that the soil never dries up. The result is that the inhabitants, in order to prevent putrefaction of the roots, sow their corn upon a series of layers of the soil.

Nevertheless, in certain districts, the humidity is so intense that there grows upon the ears of corn a kind of fungus-matter made up of microfungi.

As a result of this sporadic exuberance, the bread made from the corn in question gives all the results of an overdose of alcohol. In very humid climates the phenomenon is likewise known, though to nothing like the extent of Masuri, where whole districts are addicted by this strange kind of "alcoholized bread."

Steamer Nanticoke Sold.

If reports current here today are true an old Baltimore boat has been secured by admirals of former President Cleveland's fleet, and is now to be fitted out for use by the rebelling Venezuelans in reconquering his province in the land in which most members has turned against him.

The vessel is said to be the Nanticoke, a sidewheeler, which once plied the Chesapeake and its tributaries and was a familiar figure in this harbor.

A dispatch from New York says: "The steamer Nanticoke, lying at Franklin, Va., 40 miles west of Norfolk, where she is fitting out to start for Venezuela soon after April 1, has become the center of interest in connection with cable reports that Cipriano Castro, former President of Venezuela, had chartered a boat to resume operations for regaining his way in that country.

While various Government agents were searching the ports of Europe for a vessel said to have been chartered by Castro on the other side, the report became current that New York had bought the Nanticoke for Castro, and that it would carry him on his voyage against the Gomez Government.

"The Nanticoke is a side-wheel steamer, 160 feet over all and 450 tons burden. She has a steel hull and is especially adapted to use in Southern waters. Her former owners said she has been used only for pleasure purposes prior to this time. J. A. Nichols, a broker, is seeking a master for the vessel. When asked about his interest in the ship, Mr. Nichols said: "I have no connection with the Nanticoke except that her owners have asked me to get a master for her."

A representative of Kates and Bok said: "Yes, we own the Nanticoke. We bought her for commercial purposes. For a long time under the Castro regime the river trade of the country in Venezuela was closed. The Gomez Government has opened up this traffic and we have bought the Nanticoke to put her in this service. She will not stop at Trinidad, she will not take arms or ammunition as a part of her cargo, and she has no connection with any movement Castro may be contemplating."

Shipping people at Norfolk, Va., discount the idea of the steamer Nanticoke being used for a Venezuelan expedition. She is 84 years old having been built in Wilmington, Del., in 1875, and draws only eight feet of water. She is 160 feet long and 28 feet beam, with only 394 net tonnage.

The Nanticoke was owned originally by the Othman by the Seaboard Air Line. She was sold in Baltimore, rebuilt, and her name changed to the Nanticoke. The Albemarle Steam Navigation Company has owned her for a number of years, and has had her for sale for some time.

Norfolk shipping people of wide experience say a trip through the Gulf of Mexico would be a hazardous undertaking for the Nanticoke, and they do not believe she could make it at all.

The Nanticoke was for a number of years on the Nanticoke river before her name was changed from the Othman to the Nanticoke. She has also frequently made trips on the Choptank river route.

DIVORCE A REMEDY - NOT AN EVIL

Judge Declares Marriage is a Civil Institution and Divorce Often a Necessity

SAYS UNION IS NOT A SACRAMENT

Chief Judge of Maine Supreme Court Gives Utterance to Views that Have Created Much Comment and Discussion Among Clergy.

Bangor, Me.—In the course of an address before the Twentieth Century Club upon the subject of divorce Lucullus A. Emery, Chief Judge of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, gave utterance to some views that have created much comment and discussion among the clergy and others. Judge Emery said, in part:

"I have read a great deal and heard a great deal about the divorce evil. Now, in my opinion, divorce is not an evil. Like other remedies for evil, it may and does have attendant lesser evils, which we must seriously consider and eliminate if possible, but in itself divorce is not an evil—it is a remedy. The evil precedes divorce, but comes after marriage. I shall not consider the moral side of the question. I am speaking from the legal standpoint alone in considering this remedy for many of the evils of society.

"Marriage is a civil institution, established by statute for the benefit of man. It is not a sacrament. There is nothing divine about it, but it is a purely human institution. Law has established it, its rights and abuses are defined, not by the church, but by law. Having established marriage, the question is, Shall we perpetuate it?"

"I need not call witnesses nor give evidence of any kind to lead any of these here assembled to accept as fact the statement that much misery and anguish very often result from marriage. No part of this falls to the lot of the spinster or of the man who remains unmarried. Now, after a man decides to marry, in the event that he afterwards finds himself bound to a faithless woman, shall we not give him a release, or shall we order him to remain the husband of the woman, the tie of wedlock forever unbroken while they live? Shall we bind the good, whole hearted, faithful wife to the coarse, broken, drunken husband, or to the faithless husband, or not?"

"From the standpoint of the lawyer, and from my experience in law, I say, 'No; we shall not so bind the man or the woman found to be in an unfortunate position. Far better is it to give them separation, to free them once more, so that they may once more go on living a useful life. Otherwise, they will suffer, and society will suffer."

"To be sure, divorce may, in a sense, have an ill effect upon society. It would be better, of course, if all marriages were ideal, but they are not. We find these terrible conditions. The remedy may be a choice of two evils, but I say that in choosing divorce society has chosen the lesser. I have heard it said that divorce should not be granted because of the children, but I maintain that it is better for them—not only better, but less hurtful. And I say these things in the light of honest experience."

FORTUNES OF MUSICIANS.

$500,000 Left by Sarasate Compared with Other Estates.

London, England.—In the light of the estate, valued at over $500,000, left by Benar Sarasate, the celebrated violinist, who died the other day, it may be interesting to know of the estates of other famous people connected with music since Jenny Lind:

The estate of Signor Pohl, who died in October, 1899, was valued at $8,450; Thomas German Reed, who died at the age of 70 years, $10,250; Mrs. Goldschmidt, (Jenny Lind), who died in 1883, $93,150; Lewis Thomas, bass singer, who died in 1897, $327,220; Ernest Nicolson, (Diana), who died in 1888, $202,800; Frederick Burgess Moore & Burgess's Minstrels, who died at the age of 67 years, $64,470; Richard Corney Grin, who died in 1895, $94,750; Carlo Alfredo Piatti, violinist, who died at the age of 78 years, $83,160; Sir Arthur Sullivan, who died in 1901, $773,185; Sir John Stainer, whose death occurred also in 1901, $172,720; and Richard D'Oyly Carte, who died in April, 1901, at the age of 66 years, $1,204,885.

It may be remembered that the Boston Museum expected to get the estate of Sarasate's celebrated Stradivarius violin. Without any explanation, however, the musician added a codicil to his will whereby the promised instrument, which is valued at over $15,000, goes to Sarasate's native land, to which he has also willed most of his other violins and musical relics.

Being Frank

"I've got you now where you can't get away," said the ponderous person with the roushous cheeks, as he too the young man with the green cravat by the arm and playfully pushed him into a chair. "You've been dodging me for a month. Don't try to deny it, because I know what's the matter with you." He shook a fat forefinger at the young man and smiled benignly.

"There isn't anything the matter with me, Mr. Drilby," replied the young man, uneasily. "It must be your imagination."

"No imagination about it," said the ponderous person. "You can't fool me. You're miffed. You didn't like it because I told you what I thought of the way you were carrying on. I gave you a pill of plate talk without any sugar coating on it. I thought it would do you good and you've got your back up about it. That's what's the matter with you, young fellow. Don't deny it now."

"I won't if you insist on it," said the young man.

"That's right," said the ponderous person. "Now, we'll get right down to business and see where we stand and I suppose you think I ought to have considered your feelings. That isn't my way."

"It doesn't seem to be," said the young man.

"No, sir," said the ponderous person. "My idea is to do you good. That's the main object. If your feelings get in the way of your dignity or anything else, I can't help it. If I can put your conduct before you in such a light as to make you realize how foolish it is and resolve to do better, that's all I care about. I know you'll live to thank me for it some day if you don't now."

"You do, eh?" asked the young man. "Would you thank anybody for insulting you?"

"If you call the truth insult and plain facts—undeniable facts—insult, I would," replied the ponderous person. "I'd call the man my true friend who told me my faults. I'd thank him for it."

"All right," said the young man. "I'll consider that you've done me a good turn. I was a little sore about it, I admit, but since it's all for my own good I'll stand for it. Now, let me give you a pointer or two. I'm not the only one who dodges you. As a matter of fact, everybody I know considers you a windy old boy. You don't need to choke up and get purple in the face about that, because I'm telling it to you for your own good. You seem to have an idea that you know all that's worth knowing and that what everybody else knows is dead wrong. If their habits aren't the same as yours they're darned bad habits. That's what you think."

"Why, you impertinent young puppy!" exclaimed the ponderous person, rising from his chair.

"Sit down and keep cool," said the young man. "I'm talking to your own good now. I'm your true friend. If you think a bald head and a big paunch give you rights of plain speech above the rest of us, you're off. That's all! You eat more than's good for you and you sleep more than's good for you and your clothes don't fit you. I mention these points as you have thought fit to criticize my personal habits and dress. If my cigarettes are as offensive as the old ropes you smoke, I'll swear off right now."

"Is that all you have to say?" asked the ponderous person, breathing hard.

"Not quite," replied the young man. "You've got a way of poking your nose into other people's private business that you ought to try to correct. I don't know anything you've done except to hang on to the real estate your father left you and collect the interest on your mortgages besides making a nuisance of yourself wherever you happen to be. If you'd just— you aren't going already?"

The ponderous person waddled off without replying.—Chicago Daily News.

Veneration for Land.

The possession of land is regarded with almost superstitious veneration by the peasants of Russia. A parallel of this feeling is found in the Eastern tale of Nasir Eddin Hodja, who met a peasant one day with a donkey, over whose back hung two sacks, one filled with stones, the other with wheat, the stones having been added to balance the wheat. "Why not divide the wheat into two parts instead?" suggested Nasir Eddin Hodja. Delighted with the idea, the peasant did as he was advised, and hung the two sacks of wheat over the donkey's back. "And where are your lands, O wise stranger?" he asked, humbly. "I have no lands," answered the other. "Your estates, then, and your palaces?" inquired the peasant. "I have none," said the other. "Then your houses, your gardens, your orchards?" persisted the man, amazed. "I have none of these," smiled the sage. "What!" cried the outraged peasant. "Do you, who have no lands and no possessions, presume to give advice to me?" And he unloaded the donkey, rearranged the wheat and stones as before, and proceeded on his way.

NOMINATING THE LEGISLATURE.

In another part of this week's issue of the ADVERTISER will be found a list of men whose names have been used in connection with the legislature. It is not meant that all those whose names appear in the list are candidates for this office, but that in the instances where no candidacy has been announced, they have been spoken of in this connection. It must be apparent to those who have been closely following the trend of public events, that the coming legislature will have many important questions before it for solution; and that the conclusions finally arrived at by that body are to be for the best interests of the State, it is necessary that care and good judgment be used in selecting representatives who are competent to solve correctly the many intricate problems which will be laid before them.

While Wicomico has had a great many good men to represent her in the past Legislatures, it must be acknowledged, that many have been sent who, to say the least, were never meant for law-makers. As a matter of fact, the office of representative has been used more or less as a kind of football in the game of politics, and has been thrown around in the various districts as a sop to placate, soothe, or satisfy the abnormal cravings of some for office. The right of a district to name a legislative candidate in regular turn has also resulted at times in bad timber—and the necessity of making nominations in order to carry certain programs through the Convention has resulted in naming of men regardless of qualifications. There are probably men in every district who are qualified to fill any of the offices in the gift of the people, but this does not mean that every man who aspires to public office is fit for the job. Turn and turn about is all right provided when the turn comes the right man is in the field. (Has it ever been noticed, by the way, that the big paying offices never make the rounds?)

Were-Out Convention Plans and Results.

Has the result of naming men for the legislature by the Convention plan resulted in getting the best men? Has the result of so naming men proved those so selected to be influenced more by their constituency at large than by special interests and secret pulls?

Perhaps the history of the temperance movement in Wicomico County will furnish one of the best illustrations of the actions of the legislature when the sentiment at large was opposed to the sentiment of special interests.

Did Wicomico in this issue find her representatives always sincerely working and voting for the side approved by the majority of their constituents? Or were their votes marked by uncertainty in some cases and directly opposed in others? Was there a strong enough effort made by the liquor interests to make some falter in their course and others to fail entirely? Was this interest strong enough to cause some to violate the pledges given to the people on this question? Was it not apparent that there were influences behind the scenes more at times, than the wishes of the community? The temperance cause as far as Wicomico County concerned, has been settled by the members of the legislature will be called upon by the State Local Option voters in favor of or against the measure? Do they appear to be a majority of the voters in the last election? If in favor of provisions of the measure to voice your opinion by helping to elect a representative to vote on it.

State shall create a Public Service Commission.—Do the citizens of Wicomico County want protection from poor service and exorbitant rates imposed upon them at will by corporations trying to pay dividends on watered stock and highly inflated capital? Shall a Telephone Company, a Railroad, or other corporations be allowed to raise and keep raising their rates and the public have no redress? These are a few of the measures which are likely to occupy the attention of the next legislature. It has often happened in the past that Wicomico's vote settled the question, it may be the case in some of these measures next year.

Crawford County Plan Strong.

Are the voters enough interested in any of these or other matters, to want some say as to who will represent our County this time? By insisting upon a vote under the Crawford County plan you will have the right to cast your vote for the man whom you feel sure will represent your wishes in the coming legislature, and owing the nomination to you direct will be more apt to carry them out regardless of strong pressure from home or elsewhere to the contrary. The old convention—by a few system—has fallen into disrepute; it should go into decay beyond resurrection and nominations be made by the People; otherwise the People should not be asked to support a ticket made by a few, nor expected to vote for Party candidates or nominees, in whose selection they—the many—have no voice.

Joyce-Harrington Wedding.

Miss Nona Aurelia Harrington, the second daughter of Mr. William W. Harrington, of Madison, and Mr. Russell A. Joyce, Jr., one of the well known younger members of the Cambridge bar, were married Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the home of the bride, at Madison, the wedding being a very quiet one, only members of the immediate families and the attendants being present. The bride was dressed in a beautiful white satin Empire gown, trimmed with Princes lace and carried bride's roses. Her maid of honor was Miss Carrie Shepherd Bayly, of Cambridge, who wore a Princes gown of white French batiste, trimmed with Valenciennes insertion, a white Leghorn hat trimmed with small flowers in pastel shades, and carried bridesmaid's roses. The groom was attended by Mr. L. Phillip Skinner, of Cambridge. Rev. William Wallace Greene, the venerable rector of Old Trinity Church, Church Creek, performed the ceremony. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The bride received a large number of handsome wedding gifts, the groom's gift being a hoop ring of diamonds. The house was prettily decorated with evergreens, palms, and hydrangeas. After the breakfast the happy couple and their attendants were driven to Cambridge in a large touring car and caught the 3:31 train north, en route for Atlantic City. They will be at home at 300 Maryland Avenue after April 15th.

Elijah Ebenezer Holloway.

Elijah Ebenezer Holloway, a well known farmer of Wicomico County, died at his home on the Isaac Jackson farm where he resided. Mr. Holloway had been sick for some time with a complication of diseases, being a sufferer from Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Heart Trouble. The deceased was 68 years, 7 months, 7 days old, and leaves a wife and six children, three brothers and two sisters, and was the son of the late Elijah Holloway. The funeral services were held in the Episcopal Church at Delmar, and his remains interred in the cemetery there. —The Ladies Aid of St. Paul M. E. Church will hold an oyster supper in Grange Hall, Mardela Springs, on Friday and Saturday evenings, April 16th and 17th. Supper, 30 cents. Proceeds for benefit of church.

Another disastrous fire swept a considerable portion of the water front at Ocean View, near Norfolk, Thursday. C. White and E. W. Curdes the last being unoccupied. The fire started in the White cottage. The largest and most expensive of those burned was the Batchelder cottage. This was a large summer boarding house and had just been opened. The loss on that cottage alone is about $10,000, but few of the household effects in the burned cottages were saved.

The occupants of several of the cottages barely escaped with their lives, losing nearly all their effects. E. B. Malre was injured in getting his wife and children from their burning cottage. Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Also you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

CHAPTER XI:
THE LURE OF A WOMAN'S LOVE

CAROLINA had come to find out from Haines, if possible, how her father was going to vote on the naval base and to induce the secretary to persuade him to stand for Altacoola—if there seemed danger that he would vote for another site. That was her scheme, for Carolina had put $25,000 into Altacoola land, money left by her mother, Norton had persuaded Carolina to invest in the enterprise to defraud the government, promising her $50,000 clear profit. How much she could do in Washington society with that!

The continued uncertainty over her father's final attitude had strained her nerves almost to the breaking, for the success of the conspiracy depended on his vote. Not even the words of Norton, her future husband, could reassure her. Her worry was increased by the knowledge of Randolph's investment of her father's $50,000.

That Carolina must sacrifice Haines on the altar of her consuming desire for money for a higher worldly position, was an unimportant consideration. He stood in the way. Any moment he might discover the existence of the Altacoola scheme, he would immediately tell her father, and she knew her father would immediately decide against Altacoola—the bright hope of her future would turn to ashes. Norton's money as well as invested in Altacoola. He, too, would be ruined. She was sure that she loved Norton, but she could not marry a penniless man.

Carolina resumed the conversation. "It isn't anything so very important, Mr. Haines. It's about father."

Haines beamed. "I have the honor to report, Miss Langdon, he bowed, 'that your father is making the very best kind of a senator.'"

The girl hesitated. "Yes, he might if he had some ambition."

"Don't worry! If he comes down to that, I have ambition for two. You want him to be a success, don't you? Well, he is the biggest kind of a success."

"I never believed that he would be," confessed the daughter.

"Why, do you realize that today he is one of the most popular men in public life throughout the country; that 'What does Langdon think?' has become the watchword of the big body of independents who want honesty and decent government without graft?"

"I tell you that's a big thing, Miss Langdon. That's success—real success in politics, especially in Washington politics."

"Now, if there's anything else you want him to have, I'll see that he gets it. I'll try to get it for him"—he paused a moment, then added, with heartfelt meaning in his voice—"and for you, Miss Langdon."

Carolina played coquettishly with the secretary.

"For me, Mr. Haines?" she questioned archly, with an effective glance into his eyes.

Bud's pulses began to throb violently—to leap.

"Yes," he exclaimed unsteadily, "for you, and you know it. That's the inspiration now, my inspiration—the chance of winning your belief in me, of winning something more, the biggest thing I ever thought to win—because, Miss Langdon—Carolina—I love you."

She shook her head indignantly and in a moment drew her hand from his.

"You mustn't be so serious, Mr. Haines. You don't understand southern girls at all. We are not just like northern girls. We are used to being made love to from the time we are knee high. Sometimes I fear we dirt a little, but we don't mean any harm. All girls flirt a little."

"But somebody wins even the southern girls," declared Haines eagerly.

"The girl's face became serious, earnest, sincere.

"Yes, somebody does, always," she said. "And when a southern girl is who she stays with, Mr. Haines."

"And I have a chance to win?" questioned the determined young northerner.

Carolina smiled sweetly and expressively.

"Who knows? First make my father even a bigger success—that's first. Oh, I wonder if you can realize what all this life means to me! If you can realize what those years of stagnation on the plantation meant to me! No man would have endured it!" she exclaimed bitterly.

"I am more of a man than a woman in some ways, I'm ambitious. From the time I was a little girl I've wanted the world's power, fame, money, I want them still. I mean to get them."

"I want power, fame, somehow, my money, how? If I can't get them myself, some one must get them for me."

"And love?" suggested the man. "You are leaving love out. Suppose I get all these things for you?"

Bud's pounding heart almost stopped. He could scarcely gain his breath as he saw creep into Carolina's eyes what he believed to be the light of hope for him, the light even of a woman's promise.

"Who knows, Mr. Haines? There's no reward guaranteed. There may be others trying," she answered.

Haines laughed—the strong, hopeful, fighting laugh of the man who would combat the boss of the senate on the ground of the boss' own cheating.

"All right!" he cried. "If it's an open fight I'll enlist. I'll give them all a run. What are your orders?"

Carolina appeared indifferent. "I don't know that I have any particular orders, sir knight, except to see that my father does all he can for the Altacoola naval base."

Haines paused, seized by a sudden tremor.

"The Altacoola naval base?" he stammered. "Well, all I can say is that the senator will do what he thinks right. That might bring power and fame—a slight decision in this case—but it can't bring money."

Carolina shrugged her shoulders. "Money?" She laughed with affected carelessness. "Well, we'll have to let the money take care of itself for a time. But I do want him to vote for Altacoola, because I believe that will be the best for him. You believe in Altacoola, don't you?"

Haines hesitated, then answered: "Well, between the two sites merely as sites Altacoola seems to me rather better."

Miss Langdon held out her hand impulsively. "Then it will be Altacoola?" she cried. "Thank you, Mr. Haines. We are partners, then, for Altacoola."

The young man grasped her hand earnestly. "I'd like to be your partner for good, Carolina," he cried.

"They stood there close together, holding each other's hands, looking into each other's eyes, when the door opened and in came Charles Norton."

OBEYING ORDERS

Grouchy German's Frau Did What She Was Told to Do.

The manager of an electric-light construction concern in the West tells an amusing story in connection with the work of a new line in an Iowa town.

The workmen had begun to dig a post-hole in front of a house occupied by a grouchy German. Suddenly he appeared and forbade the men to go on with their work; hereupon they explained that they had authority from the proper officials, which explanation, however, did not pacify the indignant workman. After a good deal of wrangling, the men announced that they could not waste their time in talking, and so prepared to go to work again. At this juncture the German person called his wife, and with a dexterous and unexpected movement succeeded in flinging over the hole the men were digging a large flat piece of slate, upon which he established his Frau.

"Just you schtay here, and I go get my injunction!" he directed.

No sooner had the husband disappeared than the leader of the gang directed his men to take the slate with the Frau upon it and lift it from its place. After a severe tug this was accomplished, and with perfect politeness the corpulent lady was set to one side, just as if she had been a janimate object of some sort.

The work of digging then went merrily forward, and while the stolid wife held to the letter of her instructions with silent fidelity the men set up the poles for the light. This was well in place when the husband returned, waving in his hand the paper of injunction.

"When he saw what had been done the irate householder became beside himself with rage.

"'If you did not stand on der hole as I haf told you?' he demanded of his better half.

"It was on der stone you put me, not on der hole, she answered.

Overworked.

"Yes," said Mrs. Malaprop, "my boy is doing first rate at school. I sent him to one of them alimentary schools, and his teacher says he's doing fine. He's a first-class sculler; they tell me, and is head of a class in gastronomy. I knows his letters by sight, and can spell like one of these deformed spellers down to Washington."

"What's he going to be when he grows up?"

"He wants to be an undertaker, and I'm declined to humor him, so I've told the confessor to pay special attention to the dead languages."

—Harper's Weekly.

A Princeton Student's Wit.

An ingenious and amusing answer was recently given by a student in the natural philosophy class at Princeton University.

An instructor gave the question: "Define transparent, translucent, and opaque."

"I cannot, professor," answered the student, "precisely define these terms, but I can indicate their meaning in this way: the windows of this room were once transparent, they are now translucent, and if not cleaned very soon, they will be opaque."

New Kind of Grandfather.

Josiah Quincy, the prominent Boston politician, was walking near the City Hall, when he heard an Irish laborer accost another thus: "That's Josiah Quincy."

"An' who's Josiah Quincy?" the other asked.

"I never see such ignorance," rejoined the first. "He's the grandson of the statue you see in the yard."

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me what no other medicine has done for me. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weakness, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and as Mrs. Barclay says, it's "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

LIME! LIME!

Farmers, beware of the low grade of lime that is now being sold and that runs as low as 30 per cent. carbonate of lime. The official State analysis gives our (the Le Gore) lime 98.89 per cent. carbonate of lime.

I wish to inform you that I have made several trips to Western Maryland to study the Agricultural Lime situation.

I know that I am in a position to furnish you with the best-acting lime in use. My ten years' experience in the lime business has taught me that there is a vast difference in limes, and in their action on soils and crops. I can furnish you with a complete combination of the salts of lime, and it will mean a great saving to all who use it—it brings results.

P. S.—Remember! I can furnish you the quickest and the best-acting crop-grower and land-improver on the market. I have the prepared sack lime also to offer you. By all means hold your order until I call on you, as it will be a mutual benefit and a special favor to me; or write me, or call me over the telephone.

ACT QUICKLY.
Dolan Has Been Dangerous in Salisbury. Words To Freeze The Soul.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backbone is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills not quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. James K. Disharoon, 220 Isabelle Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have never taken a remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills and I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint which was brought on by a heavy cold I caught. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the knife like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a misstep, as this was sure to bring on a severe twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I had lung trouble and was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a very poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until I was entirely cured and I had no further trouble until about ten years ago. About that time a cold affected my kidneys but after taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, the attack disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Wife And Money Missing.
Hagerstown, Md. April 1.—William E. Phillips, a Norfolk and Western train man, reported to the police today that when he came in off his run this morning he discovered that his wife had mysteriously disappeared from home after drawing from the bank $1000 that he had deposited to her credit. He said the only things she had left him were two trunks, his clothing and $10, and that he had not the slightest idea where she had gone.

Words To Freeze The Soul.
"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. After three weeks' use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infalible for Coughs and Colds, its safest, surest cure of desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c and $1.00 at Toulson's Drug Store. (Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

—A Chinoteague grave digger had a surprise last week. While in the discharge of his duty he found more than a hundred snakes, from three to six feet long, in a stump in the cemetery.

"I'd rather die, doctor," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeville, Ill., "but you'll die from gangrene—which had eaten away eight toes—if you don't," said all doctors. Instead, he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Bolls, Burns and Piles astounded the world. 25c at Toulson's Drug Store.

Some fellows would be perfectly happy if they could borrow enough to pay their debts.

Children especially like Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup, as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. It not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it also moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. It contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, a single dose of Doan's Regulax is enough. Treatment cures habitual constipation. 25 cents a box. Ask your druggist for them.

We all have our ups and downs, and it's when we are hard up that we feel low down.

YOUNG MEN WANTED
United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerk $800 a Year to Start, and increases to $1200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Salisbury and throughout the United States on May 15th. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Positions Bureau, of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examining class, can fit any young man in a short time to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15th examination, and any reader of the Salisbury Advertiser can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Positions Bureau, 220 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

STOMACH DISTRESS.
And All Misery From Indigestion Vanishes Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapensin in the house as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50 cent case of Pape's Diapensin and take one triangle after supper tonight. There will be no spurrings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, Debilitating Headache, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapensin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief from all your stomach misery is at your pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

In Love Point's Place.
Capt. Willard Thompson, general manager of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic and Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company, announced Saturday that plans were being prepared for the construction of a new steamer to take the place of the steamer, Love Point, which was recently destroyed by fire while at Love Point, Kent County, Md. The plans for the new vessel are not ready for publication, he said, but as soon as the drawings are made estimates will be asked of the Maryland Steel Co., Harlan & Hollingworth Co., and the New York Shipbuilding Co., and the Newport News Shipbuilding Co. "All that I can say at present," said Captain Thomas, "is that the vessel will have a steel hull, will be of the side-wheel type and be fitted out for both passengers and freight. The steamer will be modern in every particular and will be designed to meet the requirements of the company."

Preparing To Take Care Of Large Future Business Between North And South.

In order that it may be prepared to handle with dispatch traffic offered to it to and from the Norfolk gateway, the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad Co. is making additions to its floating equipment and has undertaken gradually to double track its line between Cape Charles and Delmar.

A contract has been awarded for a steel car float with a capacity of 30 cars, and also for a sea-going steel hull tug boat. The present floating equipment of the N. Y. P. and N. B. R. consists of 11 floats and 7 tug boats.

The immediate double-tracking contemplated is that of the line from Salisbury to Fruitland, a distance of four miles, and from Keller to Onley, three and one-half miles. The work is now under way and will be completed within a few months. The tug boat and float are to be delivered within six months.

PARSONSBURG.

Parsonsburg is coming to the front and will soon rank first in several industries.

The strawberry growers are getting ready for a prosperous season, nearly two hundred acres already set and more plants being put out every day.

Plenty of high priced corn, of a very fine quality will be raised this year; one thousand acres will be a very low estimate of the land to be planted this spring.

Potatoes, both white and sweet will be planted in large quantities. The farmers and planters are all alive to the fact that lime is the main fertilizer for the land in this section and that Mr. Geo. E. Parsons is the agent for S. W. Barricks & Sons high grade lime.

Prompt delivery guaranteed. Mr. Parsons is also the leading dealer in all sorts of bee-keepers supplies and manufacturer of patent bee hives.

His factory here is turning out several dozen hives per day. He has agents in all the leading towns in this vicinity.

Mr. G. A. Parsons is very busy in his carriage and wagon repair shop, orders for new work being brought in every day. He keeps several hands busy most of the time during the year.

Mr. Geo. N. Adkins does the painting and trimming and is a first class hand in his line of business.

Mr. W. W. White is erecting a shop for the manufacture of lawn swings, horse carts, bodes and general wood repairs.

Mr. Geo. W. Parsons & Sons factory will soon be one of the busiest places of its kind in this section. The building of automobile wheels will be the leading feature of the business, although the manufacture of furniture, stair work, trawls, and building material of all kinds will keep several hands at work all summer.

The mechanics building is in course of erection; a large force of carpenters started the good work a going, on Monday April 5th, 1914. The building will have a good sized store room, 20x40 ft, with a back room 10x20 ft on the first floor. The second floor to be the mechanics hall. The whole building to be fitted up and finished in first class style.

Miss Layfield's overall factory is running full time and employs about forty hands.

The Adkins and Christopher Shirt Factory will soon start running full time and will give employment to a large number of hands.

The expectation is now that there will soon be a crate and basket factory running here as the owners of the old kindling mill have been repairing and cleaning up their building.

Several of our citizens contemplate building new residences here in the near future and carpenters, masons and painters will have a plenty of work until late in the fall.

The prospects are that labor of all kinds will be scarce here as soon as the spring and summer seasons open.

The dates for the annual Camp have been selected. It will be held August 8th to 6th.

SPECIAL! One-Week Demonstration In Our New Corset Parlor

From April 5th to 10th, MISS W. WOGAN, of New York, the well-known expert Corsetierre, will demonstrate and give fittings

OF THE FAMOUS LA VIDA, REDUSO, NUFORM

And Other W. B. Corsets.

LA VIDAS express advanced thought in modes and corsets. For instance, La Vidas were worn in Paris at the introduction of the Directoire vogue, and preceded the vogue in America by a full season. All the smooth, grace-giving lines of the new hip-subdued fashions are admirably attained by the wearing of the new LA VIDAS. Not only is grace and shapeliness obtained, but rare quality and durable wear as well. Each La Vida is carefully made by hand, boned with whalebone, and covered with the finest of the imported fabrics. Their economy is evident by service as well as the substantial price advantages over custom-made corsets of exclusive shape.

Prices Upwards From $3.00

Miss Wogan will give fittings in other W. B. Corsets, ranging in price from $1.00 to $8.00. This is a rare opportunity for the ladies of Salisbury and vicinity to get special values in Corsets; special fitting advice, etc., free of charge.

WHO WILL COMPOSE NEXT BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS?

Among those whose names we have heard in connection with County Commissioners are the following gentlemen:

WM. M. COOPER, the present President of the Board
ORLANDO W. TAYLOR, of Quantico District.
HENRY J. SEABREASE, of Mardela Springs.
MANLIUS K. MORRIS, of Pittsburg District.
LEMUEL B. BRITTINGHAM, of Donnis District.

The Board of County Commissioners annually disburses over $100,000, and whether or not the tax-payers get value received for their money depends upon the judgment of the men who compose the Board. Is every man qualified to handle properly and judiciously $100,000 a year? Would a corporation whose business was on as large a scale as is the business of the County pick up everybody to handle and manage it for them? Would you, Mr. Voter, if you had a business requiring the expenditure of $100,000 care in selecting the men put in complete control without instructions to expend this for you?

Under the Convention system the Commissioners will be selected by those who have performed this office in the past. How would you, Mr. Democratic Voter, like to have some say as to who will represent Wicomico County in the next Board of County Commissioners? Under the Crawford County plan you would be entitled to cast your vote for the men whom you think best represent your sentiments. Do you want to help select the men?

FINISHED ARTISTS

Will Render High Class Musical Entertainment At The Opera House April 27.

The recital to be given at Ulman's Opera House on the evening of April 27th, promises to be a musical treat for the people of Salisbury. Two of the most prominent members of the Peabody faculty will play the piano and the violin, and Baltimore's leading baritone will sing.

Of Miss Clara Ascherfeld, the pianist, the Baltimore News says:—"Miss Ascherfeld exhibits in her playing a vast amount of adaptability, as she seems to throw herself into the spirit of each different composition, whether it be the severe style of Bach, the more genial character of Mozart, or the romanticism of Chopin. Each in its turn received at her hands an artistic and intellectual interpretation."

Mr. Bart Wirtz, will play the violin. He is the most noted cellist in this country. "Mr. Bart Wirtz is a cellist who has few equals. His command of the cello, his absolutely perfect intonation, his fluency, his response, and above all, his exquisite tone, render him one of Baltimore's greatest acquisitions in the musical world."—Baltimore Sun.

Admission 15 and 25 cents. Come out and enjoy yourself."

THE SOUTH NEEDS PROTECTION SAYS SENATOR SMITH. FAVORS LOW RATES OF DUTY ON ARTICLES OF WOMEN'S WEAR.

On pleasure bent, but carrying a few cares of state besides his suitcase, United States Senator Smith while spending Easter in Atlantic City, N. J., outlined his position on the tariff bill, declaring that he believed a tariff for protection inevitable and that he intended to be a protectionist in a general way, for the South. He said also that he believed Congress would meet President Taft's ideas.

"I see no reason why a Southerner should be ashamed to be a protectionist in great many things," said Senator Smith. "A tariff for protection seems inevitable. The North, especially New England, is protectionist out and out, and is looking out for itself alone. It desires free trade if this can be obtained in raw materials but for the goods it manufactures it desires an almost prohibitive tariff.

The products of the South are for the most part this so-called raw material. I think it is time for the South to secure protection for itself. There is a portion of the country which represents one fourth of the wealth of the nation and has industries that are really entitled to the nursing treatment which the Northern industries, started many years ago, received from the nation.

Declares Free Trade Impossible.

"We must have revenue, and that means tariff. Free trade is impossible; it is not sensible to talk of such a thing, because if we did not get revenue from foreign trade we would have to get it within the nation. That is not desired.

"In Maryland and the remainder of the Southern States there are coal mines, cotton fields, grain, farms and other industries that represent what is known as 'raw material.' If the Southern Democrat who is for free trade will realize that if he stands on the old free trade policy and makes an effort to secure protection for the South it will be secured for the remainder of the country to the greater detriment of his section, I think a different spirit will be exhibited.

"I think, however, that the Southern people are realizing the change. With the Republicans controlling the situation in Congress and protection creeping into the tariff it is a duty which I for one feel that I owe to Maryland and the South to secure a share of the protection."

For Low Duty on Women's Finery.

The Senator is also opposed to the higher tariff on women's finery.

"How do you stand on the lingerie schedule?" the Senator was asked.

"In opposition to it, thoroughly," he replied. "I looked over the schedule, and have found that the duty now is quite sufficient to my mind, and I guess the women agree with me. The new schedule, if made effective, would not bring any revenue. It would be prohibitory.

"The women pay enough for their clothes now; most of the men know that. And the things which they want to tax—stockings and articles like that—are necessities. I have noticed also that it is not the finer grades that are taxed as much as are the middle grades, such as are worn by the general class of the people."

Asked if he thought Congress would carry out President Taft's view, the Senator said:

"Mr. Taft has expressed himself freely on the tariff question and will no doubt veto the bill if it does not conform to his idea. I believe the Republicans realize it and are making a strong effort to gradually shape things that way."

On Maryland Politics.

The Senator also talked of Maryland politics. Dismissing Governor Othro's statement that he would not accept a re-nomination, the Senator said Governor Othro had proved himself a wise and capable Executive, and had exhibited the right sort of common sense in the discharge of the duties of the office. "He is a valuable public citizen," was the concluding sentence.

Of the amendment Senator Smith said the pessimistic talk of some Democrats was due to the boasts of the Republicans.

"The Republicans always beat us until the election, I have noticed," he remarked.

WANT CRAWFORD COUNTY ANNUAL EASTER DANCE

Plan in Dorchester. Writer Says "Return To A Purer Democracy."

Editor Banner, Cambridge, Md.: It seems strange that it is necessary in a great republic like the one in which we live to ask the question so often heard in the last Presidential campaign, "Shall the people rule?" It would seem that this question was answered by the blood of the patriots who fell at Lexington, who suffered at Valley Forge, and who triumphed at Yorktown. But in spite of the blood that has been shed, the anguish that has been suffered and the declarations that have been promulgated, the people do not rule any more in this republic than they do in the aristocracies of Europe. The fact is the only difference between the monarchs of Europe and the oligarchy of America is that one is ruled by an aristocracy of birth, the other by an aristocracy of wealth.

For years the Federal structure has been drifting toward centralization, but this tendency has been retarded by a healthy Democratic sentiment which has ever stood in battle array to fight to the death any principle whose exercise would lessen the influence of the masses and elevate a few persons to positions, the possession of which would enable them to control government and wield it against the interests of the many. This healthy Democratic spirit, seems to have died, or, at least, it is slumbering in the bosoms of some in our country, who have for years been looked to as fountains of Democratic doctrine, and today, "wonderful to say," we have a strange spectacle before us: so-called Democrats desiring to hold conventions in which the nominations, will, as they have been in the past, be made by a few interested persons without reference to the wish of the Democratic voters.

Let the voice of the people be heard; let them say who shall be the nominees of the Democratic party; let us return to a purer Democracy, when each man may have a voice in the selection of the candidate. This will insure Democratic success, not only in this county but also in the whole State. This means the nomination of all candidates by the Crawford county system. Can there be any reason why this system of nominations shall not be used for the nomination of candidates for the election in November? The only answer I have ever heard to the question is that the "leaders" are afraid to trust the people. If this be the real cause will it not be in order for the people to select new leaders who are not so suspicious?

Let the people beware of any pretended leader who is afraid to trust his chances to their keeping, and let the Central Committee sound the people and they will find that there is a general demand for nominations by the Crawford county system.

J. Watson Thompson.

ANNUAL EASTER DANCE

Held in Company I Armory Largely Attended Affair.

The annual Easter Ball was given at the Skating Rink, which has been recently leased by Captain Owens for the use of Company I, and turned into an armory.

The armory with its large floor space and tasteful decorations was quite an innovation for Salisbury dancers, and it is thought will fill a long felt want for a place to hold the larger dances. While the floor, owing probably to the fact that this was the first time it had been used for dancing purposes, was not equal to the old dancing hall, yet it was very good and with some work will probably make an ideal one. The music, consisting of eight pieces, was furnished by Prof. Elliott, of Wilmington. The dance was largely attended and was one of the most successful given here for some time. Among those present were:

- S. P. Toadvine, Miss Agnes Hall, W. F. Fooks, Miss Helen Porter, John M. Tolson, Mrs. John M. Tolson, M. W. Bounds, Mrs. Nell Hopkins, H. W. Ruark, Miss Nellie Gowdy, Thomas White, Miss L. Leatherbury, C. E. Laws, Miss Florence Day, J. W. Cockran, Mrs. J. W. Cockran, R. K. Truitt, Miss Sara Cooke, Walter Disharoon, Miss Martha Toadvine, S. E. Smith, Jr., Miss Beesie Trader, Thomas Perry, Miss Eloise Ruggold, H. W. Owens, Miss Willie Lowe, E. N. Ellis, Mrs. E. C. Felson, E. N. Dorman, Miss Rebecca Smith, O. C. Dorman, Miss Louise Gunby, C. F. Schuler, Miss Mary Collier, Laird Todd, Miss Anne Dashiell, Frank Perry, Miss Margaret Tice, F. A. Grier, Mrs. F. A. Grier, G. Wm. Phillips, Miss C. Richards, H. M. Clark, Miss Winnie Trader, W. Rise in Daily Necessities.

In the last six days wholesale prices of flour have advanced from 30 to 60 cents on the barrel, following the steady rise in wheat, and the best grades are now selling at $1.40 to $1.75 a barrel higher than at the same time last year. With other necessities of life correspondingly enhanced in value, there is little reason to wonder at the anxiety of many a housewife as to future prices.

White potatoes are bringing wholesale $1.05 to $1.10 a bushel against 90 cents a bushel this time last year, while eggs are selling wholesale from 30 to 31 cents, an increase of 4 cents over last year with the value on April 15th, 1908.

State Road Building.

The State Road Commission Thursday completed the task of selecting the routes of the State roads which are to be built with the $5,000,000 loan.

Chief Engineer Crosby reported that the plans for Worcester, Tallot, Kent and Wicomico counties are ready, and Chairman Tucker, with Mr. Hutton, will start on a tour of inspection of these counties on Monday.

As a result of this last tour it is believed that when the commission next meets, on April 29th, it will be in a position to advertise at once for bids for the contracts for these counties.

The question of material promises to be the most important matter to be taken up at the next meeting, and the question of the cost of the roads per mile is also a matter upon which the commission is now working and which is apt to cause trouble. Some of the members of the commission believe a good road can be built for $4,000 a mile, while others think that good, stable roads cannot be built for anything like that price. The questions of durability and of cost will engage the attention of a commission at the next few meetings.

Notice.

There will be services (D. V.) in Spring Hill Parish, on Sunday next, April 18th, as follows:
Spring Hill Church, 3 P. M.

Husband and Wife Five Months Before Known.

Quite a surprise was created here last Monday when it was learned that Miss Minnie Coffin and Mr. Lewis Adkins, instead of looking forward to matrimony in the future, had been husband and wife for five months.

The event occurred while the bride, with her parents, were visiting in Baltimore last November and was intended to be kept a secret until they were in a position to keep house; but it somehow leaked out when the groom, who had finished his schooling in New York, came home for a visit. On Thursday Mr. Adkins took his bride to his mother's home temporarily.

Miss Coffin is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Coffin, now of Indian City, and has been for several years a member of the choir of Stevenson M. E. Church, Berlin, a teacher and organist in the Sunday School. Mr. Adkins is the youngest son of the late Dr. J. and Mrs. Adkins of Berlin. Both are popular young people and have the best wishes of many friends for a happy married life.—Berlin Advance.

METHODIST PROTESTANT

Ministers Assailed to Their Annual Charges. Deep Regret Here On Mr. Phillips' Leaving.

The Methodist Protestant Conference which was held in St. John's Church, Baltimore, closed its session on Tuesday evening.

Among the most important transfers is that of Rev. W. S. Phillips, the Conference secretary from Salisbury to the First Church, Newark, N. J., where he takes the place of Rev. Luther F. Warner, who was sent to Bookystown. The transfer of Mr. Phillips from Salisbury was received with surprise and regret here when he made himself popular with all who have come into contact with him, and many were the expressions of regret not only in his own church circles, but by the community at large when it was announced that he had been sent elsewhere. The church to which Mr. Phillips has been assigned is one of the largest and wealthiest churches in the Conference.

Rev. W. R. Graham who has been stationed at Pocomoke City for the past two years is assigned to the Salisbury Church.

Three Year Time Limit.

Considerable discussion was occasioned by a resolution presented by Dr. T. H. Lewis, to the effect that the conference express itself in favor of retaining to the three year time limit in so far as the term of the president of the conference is concerned. For two years this time limit was in force, but years ago five year terms were instituted. Several speakers objected to the motion on the ground that it would offend the present executive committee after one or two years were discussed one was adopted which advocated the three year limit, to begin when the incumbent's term of office expires.

Trenton Girl Wore Wonderfully Trimmed Waste Basket Easter

Miss Roberta Stover, the daughter of one of Trenton's, N. J. largest manufacturers, created a sensation by appearing on the fashionable thoroughfares of the city, Sunday, wearing a hat of her own creation. It was a waste paper basket elaborately trimmed with two feather dusters, an ear of corn, a miniature suit case, a squash, a pin cushion resembling a strawberry, a pin turkey and a lemon.

The streets were crowded and Miss Stover attracted a great deal of attention. She was escorted by her two brothers. During the afternoon she called on her Sunday school teacher and her mother, Rev. John D. Fee, who was taken aback at sight of the novel hat.

She realized the humor of it and walked her along with a laugh.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

MOTHER'S DAY. Planned to Let Apart One Sabbath in Each Year in Her Honor.

Communicated. In the pursuance of my work I have held wherever possible, Mothers' meetings. This is an informal affair for the consideration of the Mothers' relation to matters inside and outside the home. The family altar, for example, her relation to the Sunday School and the public school, child conversion and child nature are among the subjects discussed in a conversational way.

Without any thought of abandoning another's meeting it is now proposed that a Sabbath in each year be set apart as Mothers' Day. Without any explanation of the value and impressiveness of such an observance can be readily seen.

The power of the mother over a child's life, for good or evil, cannot be measured. It is her hand that first begins to shape the character of the child. It is her eye that first detects the budding thought. It is her love that radiates the dawn of the soul and keeps back the shadows until stern experience compels them to gather.

The statesman upon whose wisdom and patriotism the nation leans, the preacher of righteousness whose life and words enrich the world, the business man whose integrity is a greater asset than his wealth, the woman whose grace and purity uplifts society, are priceless products of maternal care.

The criminal in his cell, the dishonest business man, the political trickster, the loathsome tramp, the tottering drunkard, and the shameless courtesan, are the products of maternal neglect.

These things are true, and because they are true, the observance of a day that emphasizes the sacredness and power of motherhood is of vital importance. Such a day would awaken tender memories, evoke expressions of gratitude for self-sacrificing ministrations, and the exercises could be so arranged as to make it an occasion of great interest and profit to the home and community.

Every church and Sunday School is therefore urged to celebrate Mothers' Day. The second Sunday in May is recommended.

GEO. H. NOCK, State Supt. Maryland Evangelistic Association.

CURES INDIGESTION.

All Distress From Stomach And Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50 cent case of Fane's Diapensin and let you eat one 23-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Fermentation—Tood souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is tickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapensin.

Fond Parent—"I am sure little Waldo is studying too hard. I am afraid he is developing brain trouble." Doctor—"Nonsense. What makes you think so?" Fond Parent—"He says he likes to go to school."

The "pure food law" is designed by the Government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer. Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by the law to be mentioned on the label. Hence you can use it safely.

"Married life is one grand, sweet song," quoted the Wise Guy. "Yes, with the husband pumping the organ," added the Simple Meg.

You should not delay under any circumstances in cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble. You should take something promptly that you know is reliable, something like DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequalled for weak back, backache, inflammation of the bladder, rheumatic pains, etc. When you ask for DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills, be sure you get them. They are anti-septic. Accept no substitutes; insist upon getting the right kind. Sold

AMONG LOUISIANA INDIANS

Ancient Customs That Rapidly Vanish. The first tribe I succeeded in locating were the Chitimacha, as I write in the Southern Workman. The old Chitimacha language, which is still spoken, by a few, has a peculiar sound to the unaccustomed ear on account of the large number of "sh" sounds. It is especially interesting, however, because it has no known affluences, is like no other Indian language and so forms a linguistic stock all to itself. French is spoken by all the tribe now, as it has become the language of commerce and the Indian tongue will soon be lost forever. The old dances and customs have already become obsolete, although still remembered by the older people; and the Indians live as do their French neighbors.

One old art, and one only, is still kept up in something like its original purity, the art of making fine baskets of cane—baskets whose fadeless colors are a joy to all lovers of Indian handicraft. The Chitimacha are compelled nowadays to travel twenty or thirty miles to get their cane or baskets whose faded colors are a joy to all lovers of Indian handicraft. The Chitimacha are compelled to travel twenty or thirty miles to get their cane for basket making. Once gathered and brought home, it is carefully split and laboriously scraped until only the hard outer shell of the stalk is left, when it is ready for coloring and use. The black color seen in Chitimacha baskets is made with black walnut shells, which are boiled with the bundles of cane splints eight or ten days before the color is sufficiently set. The yellow is secured by soaking the cane splints eight days in lime water made with burned shell of the fresh water mussel; the red is produced by boiling the cane, already dyed yellow with lime, in a mash made of the roots of a wood called "po-ash." The baskets are made in many shapes and sizes, many of them double—two complete baskets, one inside the other, united at the edges. Many patterns are used, to which are given such names as "worm," "snake," "caterpillar," "parrot," "bee's humming," "blackbird's eye" and "muscadine piling." Blowguns, hand made pottery vessels and silver ornaments had been used within the memory of the older people, but none could be found at the time of my visit.

I found a fossil shell thought to have the power of making rain. The method of use was to place the "kash," as it was called, in a bowl of water, which would be promptly absorbed into the stone. A storm was supposed to be within a short time after this was done, the fury of which was bound to increase until the charm was removed from the water and an appropriate formula repeated. When I found the "rain-stone" it was swathed in a large white cloth to keep it dry, and I only succeeded in buying it by promising to keep it away from water.

The Houma tribe, near Houma, Terrebonne parish, is now nearly extinct, only two or three persons being found who claim pure Indian blood. The Houma language, which belongs to the Muskogean stock and is closely related to the Choctaw, is remembered to-day by two old women only and one of these has forgotten much of what she knew of the Indian tongue. Strange to say, this very woman remembers some characteristic Indian songs. French is the prevailing language to-day, and the Houma live like the white people about them. Even the art of basketry has been lost.

Machines with aims. Such marvels among present-day mechanical wonders as adding machines, magazine folders and the railway ticket printing machines may be described not inaptly as "machines with brains."

Every one is more or less familiar with the wonderful feats accomplished by the calculating machines. Ask one to divide 877,406 by 69, and by a manipulation which any child can perform it will give one the correct answer in a few moments. Indeed, this little machine will undertake almost any calculation, from additions running up to millions to an ascertainment of cube and square roots. One kind will solve the most laborious of arithmetical problems, another will work out results even to fifteen places of decimals.

At the mint are machines of almost human intelligence that weigh coins. In one of these machines there may be seen what resembles a small brass box no larger than the pendulum of an eight-day clock. The coins that are to be tested from a tub go on the balance, and according as the coin is full weight or light it is struck by one of two little hammers into its proper receiver, the coins being weighed and their rate of forty per minute. But the operation does not end here. With swift and infallible movements the machine consigns the coins each to one of three receptacles, for those too light, and the third for those of proper weight.

Grandma Was Remembered. It was a minister's small son, whose habit was to ask God to bless each member of the family after his prayer. Having been called one night in a hurry, he forgot one of them. Kneeling again with hands clasped and eyes closed, he addressed the Lord thus: "Oh, Lord, wouldn't that kill you? I forgot grandma! God bless grandma. Amen."

BOLGIANO'S RE-CLEANED COW PEAS Will Make You Rich

Sow them for hay crops—for forage crops after grain crops—on vacant land. Put Cow Peas in every available piece of land you have. They will wonderfully increase the value and productivity of your entire farm. We strongly recommend the sowing of Mixed Cow Peas. They are composed of Black, White, and Gray, etc. The upright growing varieties will hold up the vines, and will produce much better crops of vines and larger amount of forage.

Why Is It That Lacy Thoroughgood Makes More Suits To Order Than Every Tailor In Salisbury Put Together?

First—You are guaranteed that the cloth used is all pure wool.
Second—You are guaranteed that your clothes will hold their good style and fit until you have worn them out—a guarantee no other tailor in the world will give you. Do you see how much extra wear and hard service you will get from Lacy Thoroughgood?
Most men don't know it, but when they have trouble with clothes that get out of shape, the fault lies in the cloth itself. Tailors don't shrink their cloth. They shrink it, of course, but not quite enough. They leave a fraction of an inch of the shrinking to be done on your back.
Now you won't have any such trouble with Lacy Thoroughgood's clothes. His clothes can't shrink and lose their style. Lacy Thoroughgood guarantees them to hold style until worn out. Where can you get a written and signed guarantee like Thoroughgood's? Let us make you a suit for the summer. Lacy Thoroughgood's clothes very near one-half the men and boys in Salisbury, and there's a reason for it.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have been troubled with indigestion, have been cured by it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. The Kodol and prevent having dyspepsia. Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol. When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headache, fullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it. Ordinary peptic dyspepsia tablets, physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

A Gentleman From Mississippi

By Thomas A. Wise
Novelized from the Play by Frederick B. Toombs
Copyright, 1909, by Thomas A. Wise.

CHAPTER XIII.
AN OLD FASHIONED FATHER.
CONGRESSMAN NORTON was started visibly at the sight of Carolina and Haines apparently so wrapped up in each other. Perhaps she was getting interested in the handsome, interfering secretary. That a woman sometimes breaks her promise to wed he well knew. Plainly Carolina was carrying things too far for a girl who was the promised wife of another. Carolina and Haines showed surprise at Norton's entrance. The congressman advanced and spoke sneeringly, his demeanor marking him to be in a dangerous mood. "Do I intrude?" he drawled deliberately. Carolina drew away her hands from Haines and faced the newcomer. "Intrude!" she exclaimed contemptuously, a tone that Norton construed as in his favor and Haines in his own. "Intrude!" Haines laughed sarcastically, feeling that now he was leader in the race for love against this Mississippi representative, who was, he knew, a subversive tool and a taker of bribes. "You can surely do intrude, Norton. Wouldn't any man who had interrupted a tete-a-tete another man was having with Miss Langdon be intruding?" "I suppose I can't deny that," he replied. The secretary smiled again. "I'll match you to see who stays," he said. But Norton's turn to defeat his rival had come. He held out a paper to Haines. "Senator Langdon gave me this for you. I reckon I don't have to match." The secretary opened the note to read: "Where in thunder does that hydrate come from—South America or Russia? How much of it on the cartage to the creature do we want? Come over to the committee room, where I am, right away. Say it's an urgent message and get in with a tip." The secretary looked up, with a laugh. "You win, Norton. I'm off. Good-by." And he started on a run to the senator's room. Norton turned angrily on the girl as the door closed. "See here, Carolina," he cried, "what do you mean by letting that fellow make love to you?" Carolina Langdon would not permit rebuke, even from the man she cared for. She tossed back her head and said coolly: "Why shouldn't I let him make love to me if I choose?" "You know why," exclaimed Norton, his dark face flushing suddenly. "Because I love you and you love me!" And he seized her and pressed her to him. "That is why!" he cried, and he kissed her again and again. "Yes, I love you, Charlie; you know that," Carolina said simply. She was conquered by the southerner's masterfulness. "Then why do you stand for that whippersnapper's talk?" asked Norton perplexedly. Carolina laughed. "Don't you see, Charlie, I have to stand for it? I have to stand for it for your sake, for Randolph's sake, for my own sake, for all our sakes. You know the influence he has over father."

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N. J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and a complete loss of sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering. —Mrs. George J. Jones, Box 40, Marlton, N. J. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. If you would like special advice about your case, write a copy of this letter to Mrs. J. E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

"Why shouldn't I let him make love to me?" "Why, I wouldn't be surprised if he'd even let one of you girls marry him if he wanted to marry you." "We'd have something to say about that," Carolina laughed amusedly. "Do you think that Hope or I could ever care for a man like this fellow? Of course not. But do be careful, Charlie. This Altacoola business must go through right. It would be too cruel not to have it so. And then—" "And then you and I'll be married at once, Carolina, whether your father likes it or not," ended Norton for her. "With Altacoola safe, we can do as we please, as between us 'tis to be rich. What does it matter but to get the money, as long as we get it?"

HABITS OF HINDOO SERVANTS.

If Not Watched Will Sell Household Stores and Rent out Washing. Excellent servant as the Indian is in many respects, honesty is not one of his qualities, and he has to be strictly looked after when either money or goods are entrusted to him. A mistress cannot go into her kitchen, consult the cook as to what the meals should be and what should be ordered from the shops and leave the rest to him. She has to give him out from her locked up stores every spoonful of everything that is required for the day's cooking, else the goods would be sold outside. The duties, the name is India for every description of kitchen and pantry and stable towel, have to be doled out every day or every two days, the soiled ones being counted and locked up till they are given to the dhoobi (washerman), who must not be allowed to keep the clothes of the household longer than is absolutely necessary or he will let them out to his friends for small sums—silk handkerchiefs for feast days, stockings and woolen undergarments in the cold weather, so that holes appear in unaccounted places. A khitmatgar (table servant) will be observed to wear a pair of cotton socks one day, silk ones the next, woolen ones the next, not belonging to his master—detection would be too easy in that case—but hired from some one else's dhoobi at a piece (a farthing) a pair. As the houses of the rich are never well shod indoors the stockings suffer considerably.

You don't think there is, do you?" "Of course not, child. Stevens has got his money in, and Penbody. There are only five on the committee. It's bound to go through."

"Then why is father so important to them?" asked Carolina. "It's past my understanding, Carolina. I don't see how he's done it. But the whole country has come to believe whatever your father does is right, and they've got to have him."

"And father is completely under the domination of this secretary," murmured the girl thoughtfully. Norton nodded. "We've got to get rid of him, Carolina. That's all there is to it. He has to go. When it comes to boasting the senator and making love to you, too, he's getting too strong."

"How can you do it?" she asked. "You know when father likes any one he won't believe a thing against him. Norton agreed sorrowfully. "That's right. Seems like the senator's coming to think more of this fellow than he does of his own family."

Three Conference Position On Lighthouse Event.

In various communications from Dover to the public press of Wilmington, the recent action of the Wilmington Annual Conference in the case of A. W. Lightbourne, is referred to as the deposition of Mr. Lightbourne from membership "on account of an alleged irregularity in his credentials." This phrase is not in harmony with the truth; and with what purpose it has been so persistently used in these communications from Dover, need not here be set forth. The truth in relation to the Lightbourne credential is, it was not irregular but fraudulent and fictitious. It was proved to be so before two committees, each composed of as fair and judicially minded men as can be found on this Peninsula. The credential is proven to be fraudulent and fictitious by the three following facts, to wit:

At the time the credential is dated, January 1908, the Fairfield West Congregational Association, from which the credential was alleged to be issued, did not exist; that Association having passed out of existence years before A. W. Lightbourne's credential was issued.

The records of the Fairfield West Congregational Association show that while that Association was in existence, and years before it ceased to exist, the name of A. W. Lightbourne was, by vote of the Association, dropped from its roll of members. The reason why Mr. Lightbourne was thus deprived of his membership in that Association does not appear in the record. But the fact that he was deprived of membership in the Association, by vote of the Association, years before the credential to the Wilmington Conference was alleged to be issued, is a matter of record.

The name, A. S. Ross, which was signed to the credential as Registrar of the Association, was a pure invention. There never was a man named A. S. Ross, a member of the Fairfield West Congregational Association, nor of any other Congregational Association. It is also true that before neither of the Committees of the Wilmington Conference did either Mr. Lightbourne or his counsel make any defense of the credential whatever.

In the light of the three foregoing facts, established beyond all possibility of doubt before two Committees, the Wilmington Conference declared that membership secured by such a fraud is null and void. In the name of truth and righteousness, what else could it do?

(The above paper was unanimously adopted by the Ministerial Association of the Methodist Episcopal Presbytery of Wilmington and vicinity at their regular meeting April 12th. The secretary was instructed to give the same to the press of the city and peninsula.)

WELL ENTERTAINED

Western Maryland Quartette Well Received At Masonic Temple. Good Music.

The people of Salisbury who attended the entertainment given by the Lyceum Musical Club of Western Maryland College in the Masonic Temple Monday evening, were afforded a rare treat. The entertainment consisted of selections by a male quartette, cello solos, baritone solos and readings.

The four young men composing the quartette had rich, musical voices, and sang with that harmony which is essential to a good male quartette. The solos of Mr. Clark, the baritone, were well rendered. He has a well controlled voice with a great deal of quality. Mr. Coe, the reader, gave two selections which were favorably received, and showed his study of literature to good advantage. But among the most delightful numbers of the program were the cello solos of Mr. Ackerly. His excellent technique combined with good musical temperament made him an artist. His selections by Schumann and Handel were especially good.

These young men are to be congratulated on their excellent entertainment, and they reflect great credit upon the college they represent.

When a woman's age begins to tell her it is certainly base ingratitude.

ARBOR DAY, APRIL 30

To Be Occasion For Directing Public Attention To The School And Its Needs.

The Governor of Maryland has designated Friday, April 30th, 1909, as Arbor Day, and suggests that it also be known as Patrons' Organization Day, in compliance with the Commission on Country Life.

County Superintendent Holloway has received from Dr. W. Bates Stephens, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, a recommendation that school teachers and officers do all in their power to make the occasion memorable in directing public attention to the school and its needs. He says that patrons should turn out on that day and take steps toward making the school a larger factor in the widespread movement to better rural conditions; indeed the school house should become the recognized center of such activities. "If individual opinions," he continues, "are to be crystallized into definite judgments, we must have organized bodies in the several communities. The time is ripe to do something which will bring about such an organization of the people into whose hands the control and support of our public schools have been placed."

These organizations of parents and teachers can do untold good for the raising the general civic tone of the community, and for the betterment of the school and the teaching. By coming into closer relations with one another and with the teacher, a better understanding of school limitations and school needs may be had, resulting in a wider and deeper sympathy, and a stronger spirit of co-operation with all concerned in the work of educating the young.

The movement has already been started in this county, organizations already existing have been revived and strengthened, and new associations formed. It is the intention of the school authorities to continue the work until there shall exist in every community an actively interested body holding regular meetings and doing definite work in an effort to raise the standards of school instruction.

It is desired also that on Arbor Day a vote of the pupils be taken as to their preference for a State flower.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Of Maryland Gather in State Meeting At Call Of The Governor. Wicomico Fully Represented.

The meeting of the various County Commissioners of the State which was called by Gov. Crothers was held in Baltimore on Wednesday of this week. This meeting of those who administer the financial affairs of the counties was largely attended and starts a movement that will probably mean much to the State and counties.

Wicomico was represented by the entire Board, the Treasurer and the Road Engineer, Messrs. Columbus G. Messick, Wesley D. Traut, John P. Wright, William M. Cooper, H. M. Clark, J. E. Johnson, C. J. Messick and Thos. Perry.

It was proposed to make a permanent organization of the Commissioners.

Probable Topics for Legislation. Here are some of the matters which it is believed the organization will endorse and will be put up to the next Legislature.

A general reassessment of all real estate in the counties.

A bill to provide for the auditing of the books of all county officials who handle State money.

A bill providing that each county where saloons exist shall pay to the State a uniform proportion of the license fees.

Amendments to the Shoemaker Road law which will be in accord with county sentiment.

Bills to minimize election and court expenses in the several counties.

Road Question Uppermost.

The road question was really the keynote of the meeting. It was the subject which aroused a general recognition of the necessity of adopting modern methods in local road building and road repairing so that the taxpayers may get value received for every dollar and in order that the work being done by the State Roads Commission may be properly appreciated by the counties themselves.

When, at 10 o'clock, Governor Crothers, who originated the idea of bringing together the County Commissioners for the mutual benefit of the counties and for the State as a whole, called the meeting to order, there were present some 125 men, representing every county except Frederick.

Governor Crothers Speaks.

Governor Crothers then rose and was greeted with applause. He expressed his gratification that so many persons had responded to his request and his appreciation of the fact that their coming entailed a sacrifice and inconvenience to them. Their presence, he said, was an indication that they appreciated fully the responsibility of a public official and that they recognize that the people are entitled to more than a mere perfunctory performance of their duties and should have the benefit of their best and highest thought.

"We have met here," he said "to take counsel together as to what may lead to improvements in our local county government and in the State as well. I would be false to what some people consider my duty if I did not at this juncture bring to your attention the good roads plan. The people of the State have embarked on a project of building a system of good roads. No wiser step could be taken. It means much to the people. It will bring communities closer together; it will lessen the cost of transportation, and it will promote prosperity and add to the revenues of the State.

"Now, I ask you, what part are the counties to take in this work? The fact that the State has taken this advance step and is doing more along this line than any other in the Union does not lessen the necessity for action by the counties. It does not mean that the counties shall not build lateral roads or, what is even more vital, adopt modern business methods of repairing their roads. In this matter the people are vitally interested. It is no place for recklessness. It ought to be approached with the best judgment of the County Commissioners and of everyone else who has to do with it. I cannot help believing that the wisest policy is to leave the question in the counties in the hands of a nonpartisan board."

Advocates Economy.

The Governor then dwelt upon the necessity of rigid economy. "The first question of government," he said, "is economy. It makes no difference if the State were overflowing with dollars it would be equally vital to administer the government with the most rigid economy. It may be unpleasant and it may be difficult to enforce this idea, but these facts do not make it any the less our duty to try to do it.

"We have in the national Government an illustration of the other method. Money has been spent in every corner, until the great man who is now President finds himself facing a big deficit and is wisely and patriotically trying to adjust things. Congress says now that a direct tax is necessary to meet these expenses. That is

IS THE WISH OF THE PEOPLE

Less Strong Or Weighy To Produce An Office Holder Or Candidate Than The Selfish Desire Or Solicitation Of A Self-Set-Up Few? Good Men Should Be More Responsive To The Need Of The PEOPLE Than To Need Of Personal Seeking Politicians

It is argued that the Convention system is the best because it permits those who have assumed the power of making nominations to go out and select good men for office, who under no circumstances could be influenced to allow their names to go before the people under a system of direct voting.

Is it meant to imply by this that good men had rather take office at the request of a convention, than at the request and demand of the Public? Would not a man rather think the PEOPLE wanted him to serve them than have a few self constituted bosses of the parties do the soliciting? What are the objects of the bosses in asking good men to serve? Is it always a desire for good government and incorruptible office holders? Or is it the knowledge that the ticket is loaded down with worthless material as to make it wise to name some good men in order to lighten the whole? Why do they not go out in every case and seek men who will serve the people because they consider it their public duty to do so?

Take the list of office holders in Wicomico County for the past years and see whether or not men of this character have always been chosen. Why instead of pointing to a few good capable men who have served the people from a sense of public duty, are not the ones who have got in because they were useful to the men who had in charge of the nominations mentioned? Why not write the inside history of some of the conventions and lay bare the motives which led to some of the nominations? Why not recall a convention of the past few years when the vote was close and a man whose delegates were needed to control the convention, was nominated and as a result the others of the party had to hold their nose when they went in to cast their votes.

Should not the incompetents be pointed out as products of the convention system? Has not the convention driven many good men out of public life? Take away the implied as well as understood obligation to party leaders when a man accepts office at their hands and would not many good men come back and take part in public affairs which now they dread to touch on account of the bad repute into which public office holding has fallen?

In the early days of our country when the art of manipulating conventions had not been reduced to a science, was there any trouble in getting our best citizens to accept public office?

If the Crawford County system should be applied to the First Judicial District, would that deter Judge Henry, Judge Jones, Mr. Pattison or Mr. Fletcher from being candidates for this office? Would Mr. Cooper, Mr. Disharoon or Dr. Blomons hold back if they were convinced the public needed their services? We think too highly of these gentlemen to believe they would. If they are willing to make a sacrifice at the solicitation of a few, selfish, spoils-seeking politicians surely they would feel obligated to make this sacrifice if demanded by the people.

A motion was finally adopted authorizing the Governor to appoint a committee of seven, which will meet on May 20 for the purpose of determining upon a plan of organization.

This committee will also at its meeting assign to a number of subcommittees the different subjects considered Wednesday, such as uniform book-keeping, auditing accounts, reassessment of real estate, election expenses, schools, road repairs, etc.

The Governor named as a member of this committee the following: Mr. David L. Sloan, of Allegany county.

Mr. William M. Cooper, of Wicomico county.

Mr. James S. Smith, of Anne Arundel county.

Dr. Charles Matfield, of Baltimore county.

Mr. Alexander D. Hagner, of Washington county.

Mr. Joseph R. Harrington, of Talbot county.

Mr. Charles M. Williams, of Montgomery county.

Interest On County Deposits.

It was after the committee had been named that the Governor called the attention of the conference to certain other matters which he hoped the committee, as well as the others, would take up.

"Do counties," asked the Governor, "get interest on their local deposits?"

"No," came the answer from nearly all of those in the room.

"Ought the counties not to receive such interest?" asked the Governor.

"They should," was the unanimous answer.

Reassessment Of Real Estate.

"It has been some years," continued the Governor, "since we had in the counties' reassessment of real estate. Ought we not to have a new general reassessment?"

In answer to this question there came a thunderbolt of "Yes" and "vigorously" and long continued applause.

THE WIGOMICO FAIR.

Everything Progressing Handsomely. Building Going Up. Fine Race Track.

Work is rapidly progressing on the grounds of the Fair Association, and everything will be completed some time before the date set for this year's Fair.

The building of the track has been going on for several weeks and will be practically completed in a few days. This track has a covering of twelve inches of clay and will be perfectly level, and it is the intention of the Fair Association to spare neither time nor money in order to make it one of the best on the shore. A track expert will be employed to put on the finishing touches and keep in order by continually working until the races are held. Those who are familiar with tracks on the shore and elsewhere have expressed themselves very favorably on the way the track is being built and believe it will be the best and fastest course in this circuit.

The contract for the grandstand and other buildings has been given to Mr. John W. Windsor, and he has commenced work on the same. The fence around the grounds will soon be put up. Outside of the racing features a strong effort is being made to interest the farmers and stock men of this section, and it is expected that a good agricultural exhibit will be seen at this Fair. A feature that is arousing interest in school circles is the exhibit being arranged for various branches of school work.

The date set for the Fair is August 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th, but before the regular opening of the Fair, a race of intense interest to horsemen and lovers of racing between Drydock and General Mac, will be held here. These horses are considered as being very well matched and it is expected a very close and exciting race will result. There is perhaps more interest in this race than in any two horses that could be got together on the shore, and will draw crowds from all sections to witness it. The race is for a purse of $1000 a side, the money has been deposited in one of the banks. The race is scheduled to come off on the 21st of July.

AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM

For Tuesday Night's Entertainment At Uman's Opera House, Auspices Of The Grammar School.

A highly attractive program of first class music has been arranged for the recital to be given at Uman's Opera House Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Grammar School of this city. The advance sale of tickets has been gratifyingly large, indicating a successful affair financially. The people would do well to give it their liberal patronage, for besides helping the school in its effort to secure a piano, the entertainment will be worth more than it will cost. It is seldom that artists of the ability of those secured for this entertainment appear here, and there will be no advance in price.

Following is the program—
Miss Clara Ascherfeld, Pianist.
Dr. E. Merrill Hopkinson, Baritone.
Mr. Bart Wirtz, Cellist.
Beethoven—Sonata for Piano and Cello, 1st Movement, Miss Ascherfeld and Mr. Wirtz.

Haydn—She Never Told Her Love, Recitative and Aria from "The Seasons," Dr. Hopkinson.

Mendelssohn—On Wings of Song (Transcribed by Liszt.)

Wagner—Spinning Song from "The Flying Dutchman" (Transcribed by Liszt.) Miss Ascherfeld.

Mozart—Larghetto, Leclair—Aria, Martini—Grotto, Mr. Wirtz.

Marguerite Mass—When Thou Art Nigh, Clara Ascherfeld—Spring Night Harriet Ware—Boat Song, Somerville—Little Mary Cassidy, Danzoch—Danny Doever, Dr. Hopkinson.

Gring—Springtime, Moszkowski—Waltz in E, Miss Ascherfeld.

Bonmann—Andante, Fairchild—Pette Piece, Van Goens—Scherzo, Mr. Wirtz.

Kneeken—Heaven Hath Shed A Tear (With Cello Obligato) Dr. Hopkinson and Mr. Wirtz.

The Steiff piano will be used.

MISS GERTRUDE TEAL

Coming. The Gas Expert Will Visit Salisbury Next Week. One Of The United Gas Improvement Co.'s Best Demonstrators, Of Philadelphia.

Through the management of the Home Gas Co., Miss Gertrude Teal, of Philadelphia, will visit Salisbury next week and will show the people who are not familiar with the use of Gas how to use it and save expenses.

The great success that has crowned the efforts of the Home Gas Co., since its organization is so gratifying to the Company, that they secured the services of Miss Teal to further the work and to assure everyone who will use Gas this coming summer that it is far better to cook with Gas than either wood or coal. Miss Teal had several years training with the United Gas Improvement Co., who are the largest Gas people in this country, and probably in the world. This company inaugurated a system several years ago, that has revolutionized the Gas business to such an extent that it is today possible to do with Gas, what a few years ago would have been considered beyond the realms of possibility. So this is the reason the Home Gas Co., has been trying for so long a time to secure the services of this eminent demonstrator. The desire of the Home Gas Co., is to be able to place a Gas stove in every home in Salisbury, and looking to this end they are willing to spend many more thousands of dollars to make Salisbury the greatest Gas town in the country, to its size. And there is no reason why it should not be. Salisbury stands today the metropolis of the Eastern Shore, in various lines, and she will stand in a very short time, at the head in the Gas fraternity.

Now is the time to get your coal stove out, and get the Gas range in operation so you can keep your home nice, cool and clean. No home is complete now without a Gas range, and everybody will have one as soon as possible. It is a luxury that is within the reach of everybody. If you have not got a range, order now and avoid the rush.

Reports from the Nanticoke, the Wicomico, and in fact all the rivers of the Eastern Shore, and down the bay points are such, that this season's farm Wagons, lumber Wagons, and Wagons.

The prices of other new rock have been the best for several seasons past and the fishermen have received good returns. Around Deal's Island the catches have been very large and as many as 800 shad have been taken in a single day from some of the big pound nets. These fish were taken in deep water, ranging from 50 to 50 feet, and were of the finest size and quality. One fisherman is said to have taken enough rock fish from his pound net in two days to net him over $4500. The fishermen on the Wicomico, near Salisbury, are not getting very good returns as the fish cannot set up here on account of the big number of pound nets down the bay.

AN IMPORTANT OFFICE

County Commissioners, The Managers of Wicomico's Interests, Over $80,000

Talk Overhead.

As the time draws near when nominations are to be made for our Board of County Commissioners, it might be well for the taxpayers in the County to give some attention to the duties of County Commissioners in order that they might see the value of nominating men who either by training and experience or by natural ability in the particular lines called for are fitted to serve in this capacity. The assessed value of property in this County last year was in round numbers $8,300,000 at the tax rate of $1 this brought in an income of $83,000 and added to this the tax on foreign corporations of $3,000, makes the income of the County close to $86,000 from these two sources.

The expenditure of this large amount of money is practically in the hands of the Board of Commissioners. Take the one item of roads alone and it will be seen that the work is not of the kind that can be done by anyone. Since the present movement for good roads was inaugurated and during the term of the most of the present board the following roads have been built: Under the Shumaker Act six miles of road have been built as follows: Quantico Road, stone, three miles, Jersey Road, shell, one and one-half miles, Athol Road, shell, one and one-half miles. The cost of the stone road was about $5600 to the mile while that of the shell approximated $4,000—in round numbers something over $60,000 were spent on these six miles of road of which amount the County paid 40 per cent. In addition to these roads there have been about 20 miles of road built on the plan of the County paying for the shells the property owners hauling and spreading same. Among the roads built under this system may be mentioned the following:

Parsonsburg, two miles.
Fruitland Road three miles.
Spring Hill, five miles.
Conuborne Mill Road, two miles.
Quantico Road, Mt. Herman, etc., three miles.
Nanticoke District one mile.
Mardells Springs, one mile.
New Delmar, one mile.
Sharpsville, two miles.
Middle Neck Road, two miles.

There have been short pieces of roads in addition to the ones given above and other expenditures for general road purposes. It can easily be seen that in the campaign now going on all over the County for good roads makes it necessary for level headed men to have control of the public's pocketbook. While every one wants good roads and are willing to pay taxes for this purpose yet it is essential that no undue extravagance either in the building of the roads or for more mileage than can be paid without unduly burdening the taxpayers. Nor should favoritism or sectionalism be allowed to figure in the proper distribution of the mileage of roads to be improved. Besides the question of road building and road repairing many hard problems are put up to the Commissioners for solution and upon their proper solution depends whether or not the County's funds are put to a good purpose or wasted.

They are the financial agents of the county and disburse her large income in a large measure subject to their own judgment and wishes alone—upon them depends the tax rate of county and it would be an easy matter for an incompetent body to waste and misuse the funds of the people and by their extravagance and lack of business judgment materially increase our tax rate while at the same time giving to the people less for their money than other Boards and less rates have given.

TALK OF TROLLEYS.

Our is a Nation of Movers.

Until a dozen years ago the reason why so many families moved was that they might find a place in which to make a living of a better living, says William Westcott Chancellors in the April Delineator. But in the great and general prosperity of the nation that began to draw to a close a year or two ago, another reason became important—to find a place in which to spend to the best advantage the income from considerable property.

Any change in the dollars and cents of life means usually that the family will move. When we get rich, we move. When poverty threatens we move. When the land on which our house stands rises considerably in value, we move in order to invest the profits; and when it falls, we move because "the sons of the neighborhood is no longer what it was."

We move for many other reasons. When we marry, of course we move. Sometimes we marry in order to have a plausible reason for moving; and sometimes, when our children marry and go away from home, we move, "because the old home seems lonely." Nearly every divorce means that two must move. When the parents die, the children move. As the family grows in number, we move into a larger house in order to have more room; and when we can, we move into a better neighborhood in order to give the children social advantages. When unweelcome faces appear upon our street, we move; and when our friends move away we move. When the landlord raises the rent or refuses to make repairs, we move.

Almost any event is a good enough reason for an American family to move. Some of us own two or three different homes, in city, in country and by the sea; and thereby have an assurance of the delight of moving several times a year. And some of us live in hotels or in boarding houses in order to be "foot free" to come and go as we will.

Letter to Fred Phipps.

Dear Sir: North Dakota has a pure paint law and is branding the paint manufacturers. Here's how one of 'em got the hot iron:

"Almost half of his 'oil' is benzine and water; more than half of his 'pigment' is whitening bytes and soap.

"Benzine and water dry out in a few minutes and hours; they don't do any harm. These 'pigments' don't dry out; and perhaps they don't do much harm.

"Is that what paint is for; not to do much harm? Do you pay $5 a gallon for paint and putting it on, not to do much harm?

"The lead and oil in that 'paint' is a little less than half and the trash is a little more than half.

"How many gallons, half trash and half paint will it take to paint a 10 gallon job two coats? How many coats, half trash and half paint, will it take to cover? and what'll become of those pigments not paint?

"And reckon the costs: you can reckon. Half trash, 20 gallons, $5 a gallon, $100; 10 gallons Devco, $50. A gallon trash or paint put on is $5.

"There's one Devco; there are eight pure paints; and over 200 adulterated and 100 short measure.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVCO & CO.

THE REASON WHY

The failure of George Gebble & Co. of Philadelphia and the widespread depression among subscription book publishers are the lot of the De Luxe Editions of standard authors on the market at prices that had never been known before. Granting the opportunity that presented itself, we made enormous cash purchases, secured entire editions, and are therefore able to offer our public these magnificent De Luxe Editions at less than one quarter their value.

The Publishers

These elegant library editions, hitherto sold only by agents at high prices, comprise the well-known, high-class publications of John D. Hurd, George B. Putnam, The Century Company, The Doves Press, etc. Represented in the collection are the Great Classics and Historians as well as the works of the Great Masters of Romance.

The Character

The books, as you would expect in De Luxe editions, are bound either in three-quarters leather or full silk cloth, beautifully tooled and ornamented in gold. The paper is soft and lustrous to the touch, and of a quality that makes the biggest volume light in weight, and the pages from which they are printed are clear and clean out type, which it will be a pleasure to read.

The Ornatmentation

The illustrations are of the highest character, and some are generally illustrated. In single sets of certain works there are over one hundred colored maps. The title pages are limited and numbered. Some are the only complete works extant of certain authors.

Thousands Have Suffered
Trouble and Never Suspect It.
Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance, ten indices of unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.
You may get a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

WEARING ON THE NERVES

King Edward's Troubles in Travelling Through Germany—President of France in Luck—Many Rigs of the Kaiser and his Fondness For Changing Them.

When King Edward VII. was Prince of Wales it was said that the thing he most dreaded in the world was a journey across Germany. It was too hard work.

He didn't mind changing his clothes two or three times a day, but lightning changes of uniform for a whole day tired his nerves and his temper. There was no escape from it however.

When he travelled in State every petty principality through which he passed sent a deputation of Ministers and army officers to wait on him. Sometimes the reigning prince himself turned out to embrace his august cousin—princes and kings are all cousins officially. Of course the only regalia in which these attentions could be properly received was the full General's uniform of the principality, with its grand cross and a few English and German orders displayed upon the breast.

To meet the requirements of such a journey the Prince had to carry as many trunks with him as a grand opera tenor and his valet had to be an expert in geography as well as clothes. It would never do to make a mistake.

All the suits had to be laid out in accordance with the train schedule, with trousers to cocked hat, with sword and gloves to match. Some of these little German States are only a few miles across.

An express train can make the trip from capital to capital quicker than a careful man can lace himself up and strap himself down in a German uniform. So occasionally the engineer would have to get a tip to slow down a little so that the visitor might reach the next stop fully dressed for his new part.

When kings make foreign visits they usually present themselves in Admiralty rig if the official reception takes place afloat. They don the same uniform for visits to foreign warships in foreign waters, but they may wear the marine full dress of their own service if they visit foreign ships in ports of their realm.

When they are received abroad on dry land, they usually put on an army uniform of the country they are visiting. All the leading sovereigns hold honorary colonelcies of historic regiments in each other's services.

Only the President of France, Hohenzollern, escapes the uniform obligation. Like American Ambassadors, his costume of state is plain evening clothes with tall hat and white gloves. He adds to it, however, the tricolor scarf across one shoulder, which is a general badge of official position in France and the grand cross of the Legion of Honor.

For this he is said to have an absolute abhorrence, because with it it is impossible to conceal the lame, shrivelled left arm with which he has been afflicted since his birth. Wearing a uniform he can rest the helpless hand on his sword hilt and the mutilation is unnoticeable. But the arm is not long enough for him to put the hand in his trousers pocket when he wears civilian's dress.

There are occasions, however, when he wears a frock coat. The story is told of a visit to England in which he kept the officers who received him guessing by his lightning changes.

He spotted him by telescope on the bridge of the royal yacht, Hohenzollern, attired as a General in the German army, so, when they saw an English Admiral step ashore, they all but missed bestowing the proper honors on him. After they boarded the train for London they were invited to a reception in his private car, and found him in the uniform of the First Dragoons, his own regiment. Later they were amazed when he stepped on the platform in London in black frock coat and dark stuff trousers with tall hat and pearl gray gloves.

In Berlin he is indefatigable in changes of dress to suit all occasions. When he receives an army officer he puts on the uniform of his corps.

If the son of a dead man comes to do homage for royal condolences the Kaiser wears the uniform that the dead man was entitled to, whether civil or military.

The costume feature of his receptions is so important that appointments are always made at such intervals as to give him time to change and his attendants are furnished by his secretaries with details of the day's programme, with precise instructions as to the dress and orders that they must have ready at each hour.—New York Post.

THE POST-OFFICE PASSE

His Picture not Upon the New Special Delivery Stamp.
The historic post boy passed into history with the arrival of a new assortment of special delivery stamps, which bear designs minus the mythical youth on a bicycle. Post boys themselves were abolished from the service about two years ago, but the design of the boy riding a wheel was retained on the special delivery stamps. The new stamps are smaller than the old ones and are scarcely bigger than the new fifteen cent issues.

Since the beginning of the postal system there has been a place in its heart for the post boy. It was the post boy of our grandmothers and grandfathers who delivered the mail at all times of the year, and whose picture adorned the early issues of stamps. Through softness of heart the Government at Washington allowed his figure to be kept on the special delivery stamps, but now he has to go. The early stamps pictured him riding at breakneck speed on a horse; the later ones put him on a railroad train or mail cart, then he ran on foot for a while, and then he was given a bicycle.

When it came time for the new stamps the officials were confronted with the problem of a boyless mail service. All the post office clerks are men more than twenty-one years old, and even the substitutes who stay in the office during the summer have to pass civil service examinations. The boy has no place in the modern post office, although his elimination has been completed only within the last few years.

The new style stamp is much different from the old. It is much more conspicuous, being green in color, with glaring edges that catch the eye. Since the order was issued in Washington doing away with the necessity of purchasing special delivery stamps there has been a total falling off of about 2,000,000 special delivery stamps. It is advised by officials at the office that special delivery stamps be used on letters instead of using the ordinary ones, as they quickly catch the eye of the men handling them and are sure of being recognized.

A CYCLONE FREAK.

Surprising Trick Played by a Twister in Nebraska.
New York City.—On June 4 last the inhabitants of Buffalo county, Nebraska, and particularly of the town of Kearney, were besieged by no less than seven tornadoes. We are indebted to Edward C. Bricker for the accompanying photograph of one of the curious effects produced by one of these, and for the following brief information, says Scientific American.

That a number of houses should have been wholly and in part destroyed is naturally to be expected of any cyclone that is at all violent. But that it should pick up a caster from a table, twist off the handle and drive the spindle through the branch of a walnut tree is surely a common occurrence. Mr. Bricker assures us that before the storm the caster found a place on the table of Mr. G. F. Franks, that it was intact with the bottles in their intended positions; yet after the tornado the base was found in a walnut tree limb, exactly as it is shown in the accompanying photograph. The wind had uncrowded the top and taken off the turning cap. One of the bottles was found with twigs densely packed into its neck, without a leak struck. The bottle, however, was broken.

Tent Stove-pipe Opening.
If a stove is used in a tent there must be an opening for the stove pipe, and this should be lined with something which will not burn. An ordinary piece of tin sewed into a hole in the roof answers every purpose, except that on a windy day it is very noisy. For my last camping trip I made an arrangement which proved satisfactory. It can be duplicated as follows: First get the material, a piece of zinc 12x14 inches, a piece of asbestos cord two feet long, and a pair of leather shoe laces. In the center of the zinc cut an oval opening, 4 1/2 x 2 inches, and around it one-half inch from it, and three-fourths of an inch apart, punch a row of holes large enough to admit the asbestos cord. Next lace the cord through a hole over the edge of the zinc and through the next, and so on all the way around. This brings the cord against the pipe, making it noiseless, and being of asbestos, it will not burn. Now sew the zinc to the tent with the leather shoe laces, having the canvas over the zinc at the upper side and underneath the rest of the way. This makes it watertight.—Wm. D. White.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Elopes With Mother-in-Law.
D. W. Williams, a business man of Floyd county, Va., has the distinction of having married his mother-in-law. His bride occupies the dual relation of grandmother and step mother to his two children, a bright little boy and girl. Despite the time worn mother-in-law joke the bridegroom says he is very happy. Williams first married Miss Mary Sears, but after a few years the young wife died. He courted his mother-in-law, who was a widow and they applied to the clerk of the court who issued a marriage license. Later he concluded it was illegal to issue a license for a man to marry his mother-in-law and revoked it. The couple not to be outdone eloped to Tennessee, where they were again married.

The Best Clothing.

A knowledge of what men want in Clothing and the ability to produce it; a high standard of quality and the determination to maintain it; a reputation for excellence and the ambition to extend it—this is the course that A. L. Hardester has taken in the line of Made-to-order Clothing, made by one of the best concerns of the day—the Quality Tailoring Company. We have been ranked among the best of our kind this Spring. Let us add your order to our list.

WE ALSO HANDLE "REGAL" SHOES.

402 MAIN STREET, "IT" STORE GEORGE PATRICK, Manager, Salisbury, Md.

Why Is It That Lacy Thoroughgood Makes More Suits To Order Than Every Tailor In Salisbury Put Together?

First—You are guaranteed that the cloth used is all pure wool.

Second—You are guaranteed that your clothes will hold their good style and fit until you have worn them out—a guarantee no other tailor in the world will give you. Do you see how much extra wear and hard service you will get from Lacy Thoroughgood?

Most men don't know it, but when they have trouble with clothes that get out of shape, the fault lies in the cloth itself. Tailors don't shrink their cloth. They shrink it, of course, but not quite enough. They leave a fraction of an inch of the shrinking to be done on your back.

Now you won't have any such trouble with Lacy Thoroughgood's clothes. His clothes can't shrink and lose their style. Lacy Thoroughgood guarantees them to hold style until worn out. Where can you get a written and signed guarantee like Thoroughgood's? Let us make you a suit for the summer. Lacy Thoroughgood's clothes are very near one-half the men and boys in Salisbury, and there's a reason for it.

Eat What

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than you need to fully digest it.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

A WORD

To Those About To Buy Furniture, Or Carpets, Or Rugs.

Before you actually place your orders for anything for your home, you surely want to see just as many different styles at just as wide a price-range as possible, don't you?

Well, we can show you more styles than any other store in Baltimore.

Now, please don't think this is "just newspaper claim." We really can show you more different styles of furniture, carpets, rugs, etc., and at a wider price-range than any other local establishment.

Most newspaper advertising is, unfortunately, like campaign claims before an election—mere verbosity, to which no one pays much heed—but the FACTS in the present case are certainly of great importance and special interest to all who intend making any purchases for their home, and merit investigation.

And not only do we excel in the diversity of our stocks, but we give our customers the fullest protection in the matter of price, guaranteeing all our prices to be the lowest for which the same goods can be bought anywhere.

And further, we extend all who so desire the courtesy of a credit arrangement that is simple, dignified and convenient.

CHAPTER XIV

WHEN A DAUGHTER BETRAYS HER FATHER.

BUD returned to find Miss Langdon and Norton still in the room. New buoyancy, new courage, thrilled in his veins. He would give this congressman the battle of his life for this prize, of that he was confident.

"I have an engagement with Mrs. Holcomb, Senator Holcomb's wife," she said, "so I must hurry away, but I expect to be back to see father."

"I think I'll just wait," suggested Norton. "I have to see the senator as soon as possible, and he ought to return from that way and means committee meeting pretty soon."

When Carolina had gone a slight feeling of constraint settled over the two.

"The senator's pretty busy these days with his naval base matter coming up, isn't he?"

"Yes; keeps him pretty busy receiving delegations from Altoacola and Gulf City and patting them both on the back," said Haines. "Had a man from Gulf City in this morning with some pretty strong arguments."

"The secretary talked Norton keenly to note the effect of this hint in favor of Gulf City."

"Gulf City?" Norton sneered. "Shucks! Who'd put a naval base on a bunch of mud flats? I reckon those Gulf City fellows are wasting their time."

"Think so?" suggested Haines. "Are you absolutely sure?" Norton started.

"Why, you don't mean to tell me," he exclaimed, "that Senator Langdon would vote for Gulf City for the naval base?"

"I don't mean to tell you anything, congressman," was the cool rejoinder. "It's not my business. The senator's the one who does the talking."

An ugly sneer wrinkled the congressman's face.

"Well, I'm glad he attends to his own business and doesn't trust too many people," he said pointedly.

The secretary smiled in puzzling fashion.

"That's exactly why I don't talk, congressman," he said pleasantly. "The senator doesn't trust too many people. If he did, there might be too much money made out of land speculation. Senator Langdon doesn't happen to be one of those senators who care for that kind of thing."

"I suppose you think you're pretty strong with the senator," ventured the Mississippian.

"Tell you the truth, I haven't thought very much about it," replied Haines, "but, if you come right down to it, I guess I am pretty strong."

"Suppose you're influenced him in the usual base business then?"

Still the secretary smiled, keeping his temper under the adroit attack.

"Well, I think he'd listen to me with considerable interest."

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Paw Paw, Mich.—"I suffered terribly from female ill, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."

Another Operation Avoided. Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ill, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

It had started for the door when Carolina Langdon re-entered, followed by her brother, Randolph.

"Wait a minute," said Norton, with unexpected quickness. "I wouldn't do what you're about to do, Mr. Haines."

"Of course you wouldn't," sneered Haines.

"I mean that you will be making a mistake, Haines, to tell the senator that you can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon."

what you have learned," rejoined the southerner, struggling to keep calm at this critical moment when all was at stake. He realized, further, that now was the time to put Haines out of the way—if that were possible.

"A mistake, Mr. Haines," he continued, "because, you see, you don't know as much as you think. I wouldn't talk to Langdon if I were you. It will only embarrass him and do no good, because Langdon's money is in this scheme, too, and Langdon's in the same boat with the rest of us."

Haines stopped short at this astounding charge against his chief.

"Norton, you lie! I'll believe it of Langdon when he tells me so; not otherwise."

Norton turned to Randolph.

"Perhaps you'll believe Mr. Langdon's son, Mr. Haines?"

Randolph Langdon stepped forward.

"It's true, Haines," he said; "my father's money is in Altoacola lands."

Haines looked him up and down, with a sneer.

"Your money may be," he said. "I don't think you're a bit too good for it, but your father is a different kind."

"The collector, Langdon, stood at the back of the room, nervously awaiting the moment when, she knew, she would be forced into the unpleasant discussion."

"I reckon you can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon," drawled Norton, with aggravated deliberation.

"Of course," stammered Haines, "I'd believe it if Miss Langdon says it's so."

The congressman turned toward Carolina as she spoke and fixed on her a tense look which spelled as plainly as though spoken, "It's all in your hands, my fortune—yours."

Words To Freeze The Soul.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. James K. Disharoon, 290 Isabella Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "I have never taken a remedy of such wonderful curative powers as Doan's Kidney Pills and I know that my life has been saved by them. About fifteen years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint which was brought on by a heavy cold I caught. My back grew lame and painful and in about a week I was unable to get about without the aid of a cane. I could not sleep on account of the knife like pains in my loins, and when I walked, I had to go very slowly and be careful that I did not make a misstep, as this was sure to bring on a severe twinge. In the morning I had to be assisted out of bed and I was in a serious condition. I consulted two doctors who told me that I had lung trouble and was so badly run down that there was but little hope for me. I gradually lost weight, grew weak and languid and had a very poor appetite. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and I gave up hope of ever getting well. Finally some one told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began their use and to my great surprise, I soon found that they were helping me. I steadily improved until I was entirely cured and I had no further trouble until about ten years ago. About that time a cold affected my kidneys but after taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, the attack disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Wilburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A patriarch of modern days is reported from the town of Moira, N. Y., a resident of which announces, with no little pride, that he has just counted up and finds that he has 256 living descendants—18 children, 99 grand-children, 139 great-grand-children, and 5 great great-grand-children. This father of many living generations is Moses Russell.

STONE AND GRAVEL

Mr. Tucker, Chairman of the State Roads Commission, has returned to Baltimore this morning from an inspection trip through Kent, Talbot, Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties, which was made with F. A. Hutton, another member of the Commission, and Assistant Engineers Uhler and Diggs.

Routes had been surveyed in all these counties, and the object of the trip was to inspect them and make suggestions for changes that would improve the plans or economize the work.

Gravel Roads The Best.

"I am confident," said Mr. Tucker, "that stone or gravel roads are best suited to sandy soil. While traveling through the Eastern Shore counties we inspected carefully the different kinds of roads, including the experiments of rolling oil in with the sand and the marl roads. Only the stone and gravel roads stood up well. The others are failures. It may be that where the soil is different other materials could be used to advantage, but so far as the roads on the Eastern Shore are concerned the stone and gravel road is the only one of modern construction that is worth while."

Stone The Most Expensive.

Stone roads are regarded as the most expensive, so far as the first cost is concerned, and the wish has been general among all interested that some kind of road could be suggested in which the cost would be less. Stone roads on the Eastern Shore have cost about $7500 a mile, and on one road in the neighborhood of Berlin, one third of this sum was paid over to the railroads for bringing stone to the locality. Freight rates on stone have been reduced, so it is possible to get a ton of it delivered now for 85 cents where it formerly cost $1.15. Governor Crothers and Senator Smith propose, it is said, to call personally on the officials of the Pennsylvania road with a view to having them co-operate with the State in road building by assuming the freight charge.

It is understood that as the road from Sharpsboro to Mardela and thence on to Salisbury connects with the longest route mapped out on the shore, the first road to be built in Wicomico will be this road. The Commission will ask for bids in the next few weeks, and it is hoped that part of this road will be built this year.

Continental Life Insurance Co. Wilmington, Delaware

Table showing financial statements for January 1st, 1909, including Assets (Bonds at Market Value, Cash in Bank at Interest, etc.) and Liabilities (Reserve Required to Reinsure Outstanding Policies, etc.).

The Company

The Continental Life Insurance Company was organized after the close of the insurance investigations in response to the demand for safe life insurance in a home company managed and controlled by home people—by men known throughout the peninsula for their integrity and sound business judgement.

The Directors

At least one director was selected from every county in Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, whose very name should at once command the complete confidence in the proper administration of the company's affairs.

The Plan

In order to secure the interest and co-operation of as many as possible of the peninsula's leading citizens, it was determined to offer to each person who should insure in the company an opportunity to purchase a limited amount of its stock, five years after the company commenced business, and at a price considerably below what it would probably be worth at that time.

The Result

The plan met with immediate success. Upon its presentation to the sound business men in almost every community, they at once availed themselves of the opportunity to participate in the establishment on this peninsula of a life insurance company which should stand forever as a lasting monument to the sagacity, thrift and public spirit of those who, by their early patronage, made possible its establishment.

The Acid Test

Extravagance and graft go hand in hand. The investigations disclose the greatest abuses in the companies with the highest expense rates. Good or bad management first shows itself in the expense account.

Our Record

The administration of the Continental has drawn from competent critics, such comments as these: "I do not think it has been matched in the first year's experience of any other life insurance corporation."—Miles M. Dawson, Consulting Actuary, expert adviser of the Armstrong Investigating Committee. "A good showing, especially for a new company."—Best's Life Insurance Reports. "A remarkable record."—The Spectator (Insurance) New York. "An extraordinarily creditable record—probably unprecedented—evidence of the skill, enterprise, rigid economy and integrity of the management."—The Chronicle (Insurance) New York.

Success

At the close of March, just eighteen months after the company opened its doors, it had on its books no less than two and a quarter millions of insurance principally on the lives of citizens of this peninsula.

Security

The resources of the company now aggregate some $180,000, of which more than $100,000 is deposited with the State of Delaware for the protection of policy holders. Under the law, this deposit must be increased with the growth of the company's business, and in consequence thereof the Delaware Insurance Commissioner executes on each policy issued, the following certificate:

State of Delaware

Insurance Department. This policy is registered and secured by a deposit of approved securities with this Department as provided by law. (SEAL) Insurance Commissioner
