TREMENDOUS WORK OF THE NEWSPAPERS

WINNING OF THE WAR—MARYLAND COUNCIL OF DEFENSE RESOLVES HIGH APPRECIATION

 Editors of The Salisbury Advertiser:
 It gives me pleasure to enclose a copy of a Resolution that, at a meeting of the Women's Section of the Maryland Council of Defense, held in Baltimore, on Thursday, September 19, 1918, was introduced by Mrs. William Maloy, of Baltimore, seconded by Mrs. J. W. Everett Thomas, of Cumberland, Allegany County, and unanimously adopted by all the members present.

Yours very truly,
 Mrs. E. Stanley Toddvin.
 Chairman, Maryland Council of Defense, Wicomico County.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED:
 WHEREAS the members of the Women's Section of the Maryland Council of Defense realize that without the hearty co-operation of the publishers and editors, and particularly the generous assistance of the reporters of the press of Baltimore City and of the Counties of Maryland, which has been so fully given us, the war work which we have been doing under the direction of the Council of National Defense would have been impossible of accomplishment; and

MARYLAND TROOPS SMASH THROUGH FOE

Major Baker Sees One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry Surprise Enemy.

Under the eyes of Secretary of War Baker, who stood on an eminence nearby and watched them, Maryland soldiers in France flung themselves upon the enemy in the drive between the Meuse river and the Forest of Argonne, near Verdun, and upheld the tradition of Maryland that only "first line" troops come from this State. This was when the American forces made a surprise attack in which the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry, comprising men of the old First, Fourth and Fifth Maryland Regiments participated.

According to reports, towns, cannon and prisoners fell into the hands of the irresistible Yanks, who advanced in company with French troops under the single command of General Pershing. Although no single foot of the ground over which they advanced was left untouched by artillery fire, the Marylanders went into the battle with smiles on their faces. "They do not sing much," Raymond L. Ledger, writes, "but they do laugh considerably. Dead Man's Hill will ever stand for the sorrow of France and Germany. It is the mausoleum for 100,000 men.

"But to the American soldiers it is a sort of picnic ground where they may forget danger and prophesy 'Christmas dinner in Berlin.'"
 The Twenty-ninth Division comprises the One Hundred and Fifteenth Regiment, commanded by Col. Milton A. Reckord of Belair; the One Hundred and Twelfth Machine Gun Battalion, commanded by Maj. D. John Markey of Frederick; and the One Hundred and Tenth Field Artillery, under the command of Col. Washington Bowie, Jr., of Baltimore city. They were trained at Anniston, Ala., and latest dispatches state that they are helping smash the Hindenburg line.

No information as to the whereabouts of the Seventy-ninth Division, which includes the Three Hundred and Thirtieth ("Baltimore's Own") which trained at Camp Meade, but it is believed that they are not far behind the Twenty-ninth.

Our Infantrymen Shoot Down German Aviator

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 28.—A German aviator, with a morning grouch, flying over a town back of the American line, swooped down, sending sizzling machine-gun bursts along the streets. Flying 150 feet high, he had to rise sharply to avoid the steeple of the Hotel de Ville.

As he came downward beyond the steeple two American military policemen opened on him with their automatic pistols. Retaliating, he cut loose with his machine gun, wounding a civilian. Then with the military policemen still shooting, the German turned and started back toward the company of American infantrymen having heard the shots. He was watching, and as he got just over-head he decided to fire. The enemy's machine gun burst into flames and flames were visible in the distance.

It was a long duel, for one in the air, lasting fully two minutes. The combatants circled over and under one another, their machine guns continually sputtering, until finally the German shot toward the ground in a low plane that may have had a

U. S. PLANES FORM DEFENSIVE CURTAIN

Enemy Airmen Were Unable To Observe Concentration Of Americans.

With the American Army in Lorraine, Sept. 28.—Before our army broke through the St. Mihiel salient there was but one division in reserve behind the two German armies which held the line in this region. It has not since been used in the fighting. Since September 12 more divisions have arrived in the Woivre district, and of these several remain intact. They are stationed through German Lorraine.

In the Woivre district also there is a large force of German artillery, which has been available for the foe before Verdun. Only recently we transferred batteries there from the neighborhood of Dead Man's Hill.

Returned from the firing line Thursday, I was present at the interrogation of the first Prussian officer captured. He was a puny looking lieutenant who had commanded 80 men. It was quaint to see the little chap surrounded by half dozen American staff officers, every one of whom was many inches taller than Fritz. A veritable flood of other Boches came up while we stood there. I saw them at close view. There were 2000 in one lot. A Filipino attendant at a divisional officers' mess observed gravely: "Pretty soon there will be no more Germans left to fight, and then I lose my job."

Some of the prisoners were bagged in their undershirts. Such had been the swiftness of our advance that they were surrounded before they had an idea that the Americans were among them. Throughout the morning the enemy had been kept in the dark by an aerial defensive curtain that barred his planes from our lines. There were tiers of aerial patrols, extending seven to eight miles into the German territory. The machines furthest in advance flew very high, while those over the immediate front kept as close to the ground as possible. There had never been a better liaison between aviators and infantry.

News of the whereabouts of the assault waves was forthcoming with remarkable rapidity. Capture of Sept-sarges at noon was reported by a message dropped from the planes less than one hour later. In the afternoon some daring Boshe birdmen slipped through our air barrage; few of them got home again.

I saw one carry out the perilous feat of shooting down two of our balloons in the face of a storm of shrapnel which did not seem to bother him at all. He skimmed downward, set one balloon aflame with machine gun bullets, darted upward again and repeated the performance with another a quarter of a mile away, all in the space of one minute. This time the marauder failed to reach his prey soon enough. The balloon was troy rapidly eastward, while its protector plane hotly engaged the adversary.

It was a long duel, for one in the air, lasting fully two minutes. The combatants circled over and under one another, their machine guns continually sputtering, until finally the German shot toward the ground in a low plane that may have had a

LIBERTY LOAN ALLOTMENT

Made For Sections Of This County On Banking Basis.

The following apportionment of the Fourth Liberty Loan has been made for Wicomico County by Geo. J. Seay, Governor and Chairman Liberty Loan organization 5th Federal Reserve District:

Mr. Seay says:—
 We are today sending out our Apportionment Circular, giving the allotment in the Fourth Liberty Loan to banks, counties, cities and towns. The basis of this allotment has been very carefully considered, and tabulations and printing have been done under pressure within a very short time, since the information upon which they are based came into our hands only on the 25th. Any errors in computation or in printing will be cheerfully corrected.

If any bank has been omitted from the list it should advise us at once.

Now as to the basis of the allotment: The general basis, determined by the Treasury Department, and applied with modifications throughout the country, is bank resources. There are many localities in which there are no banks, and many in which the bank resources are very small in comparison with the population. In such cases, the minimum allotment has been fixed at $20 per capita on the total population as estimated locally, but in no case less than the census of 1910.

The money must be raised. The allotment must be upon the basis that will raise it.

THE PRESS A NECESSITY

To The Successful Conduct Of The War. Fills Vital Calls.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27th, 1918.

To the Editor:
 The service of the press in winning the war is a continuous one and without limit, so that, as director of publicity for the coming United War work campaign in Maryland, I make no apology for this and other requests which will be made and which will be no doubt fulfilled heartily before the state "goes over the top" on Nov. 20 with its $1,500,000 quota for amalgamated war service funds.

Maryland, of course, cannot raise this fund without the support of the press. This and subsequent news offerings and advertising programs will be sent to you, without much ceremony, under the assumption that your paper will do the very best it can for the campaign and make liberal use of our campaign announcements.

Yours sincerely,
 W. L. RADCLIFFE,
 Director of Publicity, United War Works Campaign, Radcliffe Chautauqua System, New Masonic Temple, Washington, D. C.

Don't Sell Wheat Below The Guaranteed Price

To All County Administrators and Press:

Reports reach the Food Administration that some farmers are selling their wheat at less than the guaranteed price because of the railway embargoes placed in parts of the country against wheat shipment. While the elevators are temporarily overstocked because seaborne movement has not kept pace with internal movement, this condition should be improved during the next thirty or sixty days. No farmer who will have patience until the situation improves need sell below the guaranteed price, for the Government will buy all wheat as fast as it can be moved.

Edward Layfield Dies At Camp Meade

Private Edward Layfield son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Layfield died at Camp Humphreys last week of the Spanish influenza. The body reached Salisbury Monday.

The funeral was preached in St. Andrews Church by Rev. H. W. Davis. Interment made in Parsons Cemetery. Mother and father survive him and a number of brothers and sisters.

BULGARIA SURRENDERS, TURKEY CRIPPLED, AUSTRIA IN TROUBLE.—GERMANS SLOWLY RETREAT

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To The Public Closing Public Assembly Places.

In view of the seriousness and rapidly increasing rate of influenza within the City of Salisbury late. The Mayor and Council of Salisbury, acting upon the advice of practically every physician within its borders, as well as upon the judgement of a very large number of Salisbury's foremost citizens, have decided that for the present the safety of the public demands that all schools, Sunday Schools, Churches, Theatres, moving picture establishments, pool and billiard rooms and Bowling alleys be closed.

It is therefore this third day of October, nineteen hundred and eighteen ordered by the Mayor and Council of Salisbury that from this date until further notice all schools (including Sunday Schools) Churches, Theatres, moving picture establishments, pool and Billiards rooms and Bowling alleys within the limits of the City of Salisbury be, and the same are hereby closed.

Parents and all others having charge of children are earnestly requested to see that such children stay off the streets at all times, save only in case of extreme necessity as Physicians assure us that in this manner the disease can easily be communicated.

All persons are warned for their own as well as for the public safety against loitering on the streets or in stores or congregating in any place whatever.

The reason for this order can at once be appreciated by anyone who stops to consider that within the past few days hundreds of cases have developed here and that several of them have already resulted in the death of the patients. We want the public to accept this order in the spirit in which it is passed and we believe they will do so.

The Police will take such action as is necessary to enforce the provisions of this order.

By order of the Mayor and City Council of Salisbury this third day of October, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

I. E. JONES,
 Mayor of Salisbury.
 E. L. WHITE,
 Presi. Coun. of Salisbury.

Eleanor Frances Adkins

Death has visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Adkins and taken from it their oldest daughter, Eleanor Frances, aged fourteen.

This came as a great shock to all, as she was seen in her accustomed place at the Sunday School Rally, last Sunday morning apparently as well as usual. Later in the day it is supposed she fell a victim to the Spanish Influenza which though not a violent attack she was not able to combat, and after a little over a day's illness, she passed quietly and peacefully away early Tuesday morning.

She was a loyal and faithful member of the Bethesda M. P. Church, and her sweet Christian example will be an inspiration to all who knew and loved her. She was thoughtful and considerate, beyond her years, and all who have known her will miss these little acts of kindness that spoke of a heart that thought of others first.

Although in delicate health for sometime, she bore it uncomplainingly, and occupied herself with her studies and the performance of her daily tasks with an industry that few years seldom attain.

She was far advanced at school, and would have graduated in another year.

Almost every task she undertook, she did with a conscientious exactness and thoroughness that was wonderful for one of her age.

And she found her chief pleasure in doing things well. Surely her life has been like a flower that has budded here and that will blossom and give forth its full fragrance in heaven.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the father and mother, and the sister, her childhood's companion in this their hour of bereavement.

LARGE SHIP CONTRACTS

By Emergency Fleet For Wicomico Builders.

Nearly $2,000,000 worth of boats are under contract in this County, by the Smith-Williams Company—Eastern Shore Shipbuilding Corporation, of Sharptown and White Haven Shipbuilding Company. Contracts have recently been signed with the two first named plants by the Emergency Fleet Corporation for 10 Ocean going tugs.

These tugs are of the ocean going type, 100 feet 8 inches long, strongly built to stand ocean traffic, and are for the Emergency Fleet Corporation. All of the boats are to be constructed on plans and specifications laid down by the Shipping Board and the contractors will be allowed to use as much native oak in their construction as can be secured. The boats are to be finished complete for the masters to start aboard and take charge. The boilers and engines will be furnished by the government and guaranteed to be delivered on time for installation by the builders.

JOHN REDDISH DYKES

Dies At Camp Meade—Son Of Mr. And Mrs. Alonza Dykes.

A telephone message was received by Mrs. William Twilley Wednesday night stating that her nephew Mr. John Reddish Dykes, had died at Camp Meade of the Spanish influenza. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Dykes, who had been notified of the serious condition of their son, and went up immediately, staying at his bed side until his death. His sudden death has caused the greatest sorrow to his family and relatives, with whom he was a great favorite, because of his sunny lovable disposition.

He was a graduate of the Wicomico High School, and a very promising young man, highly thought of in the community, making friends wherever he went. While connected with the office force of the Remington Arms Co., he gave great satisfaction and on leaving in the spring to help on the home farm he received the highest recommendation from Mr. C. May, Chief Foreman of the U. S. Ordnance Dept., Eddystone, Pa. He was a popular comrade at Camp Meade, and those who knew him, very much regret his sudden death.

The body is expected to arrive today, and arrangements have been made for the funeral, at the home, tomorrow, Sunday, and the interment in the home burying grounds.

Surviving him besides the father and mother are, own brothers two, I. Ralph Dykes, practicing law in Omaha, Nebraska, Alonza Dykes, Jr., and one own sister, Miss Mildred Virginia Dykes.

There are three half brothers and one sister, Hunphrey Dykes of Phila., Larry W. of Baltimore, S. Kent, of Salisbury, and Mrs. Richard Fife of Johnson City, Tennessee.

WAR MOTHERS

Of America, Maryland Division.—To Participate Oct. 5.

(Special To The Salisbury Advertiser) Baltimore, Md., September 30.—The executive committee of the War Mothers of America, Maryland division, has sent a call broadcast through the State for the participation on Saturday, October 5, of every War Mother in Maryland in the Liberty Loan drive in Baltimore.

FIGHT ABOARD CAMBRIDGE

A desperate fight between two colored men on the lower deck of the steamboat Cambridge on her trip from Baltimore to Claiborne, Friday, caused a panic on board and delayed the boat three hours.

A fireman and a coal passer got into a dispute, drew knives and slashed one another. The Cambridge then was well down the Bay. The combatants were so seriously cut up before the fight ceased that the Cambridge was run back to Baltimore and the men sent to a city hospital. It was feared one would die before Baltimore was reached.

AUSTRIA IN TROUBLE.—GERMANS SLOWLY RETREAT

With the unconditional surrender of Bulgaria and all the many possibilities following, such as the surrender of Turkey and later dropping out of Austria, with the steady progress of the Allies on the Western Front it has been the greatest week of the war in favor of the Allies.

Lens, the chief coal mining city of Northern France, has been evacuated by the Germans. In their widespread retirement movement near the Belgian border they also have abandoned Armentieres to the British.

By giving up Armentieres the Germans also have gone far toward laying open the great manufacturing town in the north of France, the city of Lille, to the Allies. Lille is less than seven miles east-south-east of Armentieres.

In Flanders the Belgians, British and French continue their pressure against the stiffened resistance of the enemy.

Generals Berthelot and Gouraud continue their attacks north of Rheims and in Champagne and have taken further ground from the enemy.

In withdrawing in the Lille salient the Germans are endeavoring to get out of the giant trap which Marshal Foch has constructed. While hammering the formidable Cambrai-Laon line, by thrusts in Flanders and from Rheims to the Meuse, he is bending back the German flanks. The German supply lines are menaced by the Allied advances on the flanks and should they be cut the German situation would be most desperate. It would seem, however, that the retreat, unless to a great depth, would be of little ultimate avail toward putting off a retreat all along the line from the North Sea to Alsace.

FOGH IS STEADILY FORGING FOE BACK TO GERMAN FRONTIER.—BRING WAR HOME TO THE HUNS

Washington, Oct. 1.—To drive the German armies from every inch of French soil, even though those armies cannot be immediately crushed, before winter renders large-scale operations difficult, is the fixed purpose of the Allied command, according to the best military judgment in Washington today.

This is the explanation of the deadly blows which Marshal Foch is raining upon the invading forces from the Swiss frontier to the Channel. This is why he is striking not at one, two or even three points along the line but at every strategic position occupied by the enemy. And this is why there has not been longer pauses between the assaults—pauses which might have given the ever-growing American Army a better opportunity to organize for major offensive action.

It is the firm belief of military observers here, moreover, that once the Hindenburg line is forced, that St. Quentin, Laon, Cambrai and Douar are surrendered that Allied headway will be swift. There are other defense lines behind that upon which the Germans have elected to make their stand, but they are not as formidable as that prepared by Field Marshal Hindenburg more than a year ago.

And it is the conviction of most officials of the Government that once the German armies are thrown back upon their own frontier; that as soon as the German people find that the remainder of the war is to be fought upon their own soil, and that when the last dream of conquest has vanished from before their eyes, it will be far easier to force an unconditional peace upon that nation than under prevailing circumstances.

Invaded Only Twice.

It must be remembered that the territory of Germany has been invaded but twice since the beginning of the war. At the very outset, French troops marched into Alsace and have held a small section of that province in their grip ever since. In 1915 the Russians debouched into East Prussia and for a time threatened a serious drive toward the heart of Germany. But the Russians were hurled back after a few weeks' fighting and never again touched foot on German domain.

This means that the German people as a whole do not know what it means to face an enemy upon their own threshold. They have undergone none of the harrowing experiences of the French or Belgian people, of the Serbians or even of the Russians. Their lands and firesides have been protected from hostile forces, except from the air, a fact which their Government has fully capitalized. To every murmurer, every protest and every cry for peace on the part of the German people, Berlin has pointed to the war map as the answer.

This map has shown Russia overrun with half a dozen of her richest provinces in the hands of German garrisons. It has shown all of Belgium except a narrow strip in possession of Germany. It has shown Serbia practically blotted from the face of the earth. It has shown France the great battle field of Europe and Roumania under a cloud. Even Italy north of the River Piave is held by Austrians. Nor is it any wonder that Berlin has use of these facts to strike down the insurgent and to calm every incipient panic.

All Changed Now.

But a few short weeks has wrought a great change upon the map of Europe. Bulgaria has just withdrawn from the war, evacuating Serbia and practically forcing the Austrian withdrawal from Albania and Montenegro. Roumania is showing a restlessness which may burst any minute into a flame. Russia is seething with revolt. Only today the State Department received information that a Ukrainian army had just killed 1,500 German men in battle. Livonia is appealing to the Allies for help and the Bolsheviks are running from the advancing Allied forces. Turkey has lost Palestine, and information came to the Government today that the Turks were burning Baku.

But more important than any of these facts is the steady forward sweep of the Allied armies in France and Belgium. Every square foot of territory taken by Germany in her spring offensive has been reclaimed. Other areas, such as the St. Mihiel salient, Cambrai and Roulers, which have been in enemy hands almost from the beginning of the war, are now occupied by the Allies. Moreover, Marshal Foch is hammering day and night at the remaining German strong-hold in France, and it is as certain as anything in this war can be that soon or late German resistance on the Hindenburg line will crumble.

Will Make Stand On Frontier.

Once the Germans begin their retreat from their positions, that retreat, American military authorities believe, will not end short of the German frontier. There the Germans will make another and a desperate stand. They will muster every ounce of their energy and will make every possible appeal to their people to rally to the defense of the fatherland. Whether it will be possible for the Allies to press them even beyond the frontier before winter sets in is a question that cannot be answered at this time. Certainly it is doubtful if the Rhine can be reached along any great stretch.

Already the Allies are almost within range of the upper reaches of the Rhine. And should Metz fall into their hands, it would be a simple matter to bombard a number of Rhine cities. But the British Army and some of the French forces are more than 50 miles from this stream, and even the German frontier is a considerable distance away from the larger munitions centers located in the Rhine country.

Climbs Out On Wing Of Burning Airplane

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN, Sept. 29. (By The Associated Press.)—Captain Charles T. Trickett of Sander, Texas, acting as an observer, today saved his own life and that of his pilot by a thrilling exploit in the air.

The gasoline tank of the airplane was set on fire by a German antiaircraft machine was fighting a thousand yards in the air in the region of Nantillois.

When the fire burst from the tank between the seats of the pilot and the observer efforts to extinguish the flames, which the wind was forcing in his direction, failed. To remain in his seat meant to be burned to death.

Captain Trickett's only resource was to climb out on the wing of the machine and cling to the structure.

SWEET TOOTH OF MANY WAS DIGGING THEIR GRAVE

"I think the sugar regulation is a godsend," fervently declared a leading medical officer of health. "We eat more or less sugar in almost everything we eat. The human family have cultivated an appetite for sugar, and are consuming much more than is needed. They could exist without the raw product and be better for it. It is not necessary for adults outside of what we get naturally. It is just like the use of salt; it becomes a habit, and we have gradually acquired the habit of using too much. Too much sugar for the growing boy and girl is also a very bad thing, as an excessive amount destroys the teeth. Corn syrup is perfectly wholesome, and can be used with decided advantage in the home. Rich pastries, in fact, all rich foods, which are made with a large quantity of sugar, are not only bad for the digestion, but are injurious to the general health, and it will be to the advantage of every woman to live up to the new rules. "As a doctor I know that a lot of people were practically digging their graves with what they called their sweet teeth. They wouldn't listen to my advice, but in the interests of the community, as well as of the national cause, I hope they will listen to Mr. Hoover's food rule."

Almost three-quarters of the American sugar supply used to go directly into the households for domestic consumption. That is why the bulk of the saving must come from the same place.

COCOANUT PUDDING. (Sugarless recipe.)

One pint milk, four teaspoons egg starch, one-half cup coconut, one-half cup corn syrup (white), one-half teaspoon vanilla. To cornstarch add one-quarter cup of milk (cold to make a smooth mixture), add the cornstarch mixture and corn syrup, stirring constantly. Add the coconut and cook in a double boiler for 40 minutes. The cooking mixture should be stirred until it thickens. When done, add the vanilla and pour into moulds which have been dipped into cold water. Chill.

The factories have to can for the troops. It is up to the housewives to can for the homes.

The United States is wasting millions of dollars annually by allowing garbage to be burned or destroyed. In days of peace that was reprehensible, in time of war it is unpardonable.

All over Maryland the men are swabbing out their guns, preparing to ram home another charge. They are putting in the fall wheat.

THE FOURTH LOAN IS THE FIGHTING LOAN. ARMS OUR SOLDIERS.

As the campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan approaches the American Army in France moves on toward Berlin. Under our own leaders the great American Army has won a notable victory.

The Fourth Loan must be a great success. The Fourth Liberty Loan is a fighting loan.

When our soldiers on the battle front are braving death, each one offering to make the supreme sacrifice for his country and the great cause, we who remain safely at home surely should give them every support, should make every sacrifice to strengthen them. If we can not fight ourselves we can make our dollars fight.

It is a great cause for which America is engaged in this war; it is a great struggle in which the very hope of the world is bound up that is being waged in Europe and on the high seas. It is an honor to have a part in it and all Americans, all of their lives, will be proud of the part they had in it or ashamed of their failure to do their part.

The Fourth Loan is a fighting loan. Every subscriber to the Loan strikes a blow for Liberty, for Victory.

The subscribers to the Liberty Loans have purchased for the War Department over $4,000,000,000 of ordnance—$1,000,000,000 was spent for artillery; $300,000,000 for automatic rifles; $100,000,000 for small arms; nearly $2,000,000,000 for artillery ammunition and $340,000,000 for small arms ammunition; $100,000,000 was spent for armored motor cars.

It is estimated that $7,000,000,000 will be spent by the Ordnance Department this current year.

Every American wishes to have a part in winning the war and supporting our soldiers who are fighting our battles in France. Every subscriber to the Fourth Liberty Loan will have a part in the great achievements that the American Army is accomplishing, and in the achievements which the greater American Army will accomplish next spring.

THE PEACE OUR SOLDIERS WANT—THE PEACE OUR WAR MOTHERS WANT.

The Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper published by the soldiers of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, says editorially about the enemy peace offensive:

"Let the weak hearted who are dreaming of a compromise; let the pacifists who are talking a peace by agreement; let the sideliners who have had enough of war; let the secretly inclined pro-Germans who think this war should end without a decision—let them one and all know once and for all that for the American Expeditionary Force there is no such word as 'Peace' with the Huns unbeaten. The man who talks of peace to-day, except through victory, is a traitor."

The enemy peace offensive is likened to the action of German machine-gun crews in the Vesle fighting, when they fought and killed Americans until they were surrounded, then shouted "Kamerad."

The mothers of the American soldiers in France want the same peace their sons demand. All the courage of the ancient Spartan mother is in the hearts of the women of America.

The object of the Fourth Liberty Loan is to bring that peace—a just peace a righteous peace, an American peace.

Everywhere We Hear Good Reports Of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Salisbury is no exception. Every section of the U. S. resounds with praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand persons are giving testimony in their home newspapers. The sincerity of these witnesses, the fact that they live so near, is the best proof of the merit of Doan's. Here's a Salisbury case.

Geo. T. Jenkins, policeman, 628 W. Main St., says: "About two years ago I was troubled with a lame back and my kidneys were out of order. The kidney secretions were scanty. When I did any work that obliged me to stoop, it seemed as if a knife had been stuck in my back and I was certainly in bad shape. One day I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some from White & Leonard's Drug Store. After using three boxes, I was cured."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Jenkins had Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Works Like a Hoe

Covers 8 Acres A Day
 It does as good work as you can do with a hoe—it cuts every weed—none can dodge it—Keeps the surface in condition to readily absorb rain and produces a mulch or dirt blanket of fine soil which prevents the escape of soil moisture. One trip to the row, whether narrow or wide.

With one mule The Fowler does as much work as you can do with a two horse cultivator—and better work—because it cultivates shallow—has no prongs or teeth to set rows or disturb the crop roots. You can work right up to the plant with the Fowler. By removing plow foot you can adjust it inside or outside row. You need this now.

Order direct or through your dealer. We give service that counts.

Hooray for Banana Peel "Gets-It"

Only Real Way to Get Rid of Corns.
 Which do you prefer—a corn that pulls or a corn that peels? Butchery or blessedness? Only "Gets-It" can get rid of your corn the peel-off way, the blessed way. You don't need a pull.

"Corns Never Trouble Me, I Use 'Gets-It'!"
 Why hump yourself up on the floor and with your jaws set and eyes popping from pain, jerk and gouge and out your corns? Why irritate your feet with some salve or wrap your toe into a big painful bundle with some sticky tape or plaster? Life is too short. Use "Gets-It"—it takes a few seconds to apply and there's no fuming. Corns pain goes. Wear new shoes if you want. Peel off the corn with your fingers—the whole thing, root and all, clear and clean, and it's gone! Only "Gets-It" can do this. Take no chances. "Gets-It" the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Miss Louise Dunn, of Georgia, after a pleasant visit to her cousins, the Misses Marion and Ruth Dobson, left Friday for Baltimore where she will spend a few days before returning South.

People from all parts of the county have been gathering here for the past several days getting their questionnaires filled, and the local board and advisory members have been busy working until 10.30 some nights. The rush has been so great some days that many people have been compelled to go home and return next day.

A fire broke out at the shipyard of Messrs. Williams Wednesday morning and caused considerable excitement. The blaze was in a storage house where oakum, cotton and other supplies for the Government are on storage. The firemen responded within a few minutes and succeeded in saving the surrounding property, but this building with its contents was destroyed.

For more than three months workmen have been engaged at the residence of former Senator Wm. P. Jackson, on Camden Avenue, decorating and rebuilding the interior of the residence. The wood work has been almost completely changed, some of the rooms being paneled in the handsomest grain of mahogany, with considerable hand carving, and the house completely redecorated, and when completed it will be one of, if not the most handsome private residence, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

E. S. Adkins & Company are the first large manufacturers in this city to try out women as workers in the lumber business. Because of the scarcity of men, this firm took on quite a number of young women last week in their plank mills, and the experience so far has proven quite satisfactory. It is found that these women are rather expert in the matter of bundling shocks, and resawing and doing other work where care is necessary to perform duty.

Ladies Strongly Co-Operating in 4th Liberty Loan

The Ladies of the Fourth Liberty Loan Committee met at the Business Men's Club last Friday afternoon at 2.30. Mrs. R. D. Grier the new chairman presided over the meeting.

Much enthusiasm was manifested and a most interested discussion carried on as to plans for carrying forward this greatest of all drives of the war. A motion was made and carried that they adopt for their slogan during the drive. "Yours For The Fourth Liberty Loan to be written on all correspondence by the ladies present.

Mr. Harry Ruark of the Building & Loan and Banking Association of the men's Committee, made a short and forceful address thanking the ladies, for their co-operation, and outlining some of the ways in which they could work together that would be productive of the most good.

Monday afternoon they advertised the drive and the Mass meeting, by a parade of automobiles, with flags flying, bells ringing, horns blowing and conspicuous Slogans displayed on the rear of the cars as they traversed all the streets, even to Fruitland, Maryland and the near by towns. They were right on the job Monday evening too at the Mass meeting held at the Armory and procured a large amount of the $210,000 worth of Liberty Bonds sold.

Mr. F. P. Adkins Heads Eastern Shore District Y.W.C.A.

Speaking, acting and serving together as allies at home, backing the allies in France, the representatives of the several great war work organizations, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Knights of Columbus (Catholic), the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Liberty Association and the Salvation Army, met in conference at Baltimore on Sept. 24th at the Southern Hotel and organized for the November drive for $1,500,000 from the generous hearts of Maryland. The better to mobilize the gifts of Maryland people to the soldiers in camp and trench, all creeds have united. They will pool their funds, each maintaining its separate work, and getting its quota from the general fund which will be raised in Maryland, as in other states, between Nov. 11 and 20.

Remarkable fellowship was exhibited at the conference, Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic out doing each other in zeal for the common welfare of the American soldier, and for the raising of the common fund. The following organization was effected for Maryland:

Chairman, Robert Garrett, Baltimore, Md.; honorary chairman, Gov. E. C. Harrington, Annapolis, Md.; vice chairman, Mrs. Donald Symington, Young Women's Christian Association; Thomas O'Neill, National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus); Julius Levy, Jewish Welfare Board; S. Davis Warfield, War Camp Community Service; Miss M. L. Titcomb, American Library Association; E. J. Bransfield, Salvation Army; Fred P. Adkins, Eastern Shore District; R. S. Shriver, Fredrick District, and Tasker G. Lowndes, Cumberland District; secretary, William H. Morris, and treasurer, John J. Nelligan.

"The Y. W. C. A., is the one organization composed entirely of women, working for women. We have tried, in the words of Gen. Funston, 'to put dignity and backbone into the woman behind the soldier.' The morale of the woman has a direct effect upon the morale of the man. Our task increases, as the new draft is about to add to the 2,000,000 women industrial workers. But it is not merely the Y. W. C. A., but the entire womanhood of America that is behind this drive to cheer the soldier on."

What Pride Brought

By EVELYN LEE

(Copyright, 1914, Western Newspaper Union.)
It was not for their final good that Mrs. Eben Hartley and Mrs. Victoria Dawes, sisters, found themselves heirs. The inheritance was small but magnified in their imaginations as positive wealth.

"Five thousand dollars!" exuberated Mrs. Hartley. "Why, we can afford a piano and an automobile. And we can send Lucia to the musical college."

Her sister, Victoria Dawes, had these attributes of luxury already, her husband being at the apex of a city brokerage career. He promised to double her fortune if she would place it in his hands to invest.

"I wouldn't go rash, Martha," plain-spoken, practical Eben Hartley had said. "Of course, it's your money, but the Warder farm is going to be put up for sale, and, added to ours, it would make us pretty nearly independent."

"We've got all the farm I want," observed his wife, quite snappily.

Mrs. Dawes came for a visit. She appeared all fuss and feathers and vanity, her head carried high among the more humble friends of earlier years.

So, from light suggestion the situation evolved suileness and complaints. Mrs. Dawes had the faculty of stirring up trouble. Martha flattered the fact in Eben's face constantly that she had money and that she was entitled to something better than "farm drudgery."

It was cherry time, and Mrs. Hartley was famous for her pies made out of that luscious fruit. It was about the middle of the afternoon when she and her sister came out to the orchard where Eben was at work.

"Put on your coat and go down to the village store and get some sugar," ordered Martha, and her tone was so mandatory and uncivil that a slight flush crossed Eben's sunburned face.

He started down the road, followed by the half audible remark of his sister-in-law that "he might be obliging once in a while," and consoling Martha because of the hardship of "living in the wilderness away from the store conveniences of the city."

Eben did not allow his temper to get the best of him, but he saw whither they were drifting. The influence of his sister-in-law over his wife was likely to lead to a disruption of hitherto undisturbed domestic harmony. He felt that it was either a compromise or a combat.

"I'll not leave the old homestead for any city experiments, nor will I ever sell it," he decided firmly. "I won't help waste Martha's money and cater to the whims that have spoiled her sister. Five pounds of sugar, I'll go through the switchyards to make a short cut of it."

As he walked between two lines of stationary freight cars, he never knew what struck him senseless. He could only surmise in future years the circumstances which landed him thousands of miles away from home. Two tramps had eyed him. One had seized a piece of railroad iron, had crept up behind him stealthily and had delivered a crushing blow on the head.

"Get him out of sight—quick! Into that empty," spoke one of the men, and Eben was despoiled of all he possessed, and closing the car door upon him, the tramps departed.

When, three years later, Eben came back to normal, he found himself in charge of a great ranch near to the Mexican line in Texas. That blow awarded him had blotted out memory. Those on the ranch had told him later how they found him wandering aimlessly across a prairie, starved looking and dazed. Apparently Eben had been shut up in the freight car long enough to traverse half the continent.

The man who came across him was one Ford, owner of immense herds of cattle. He had taken Eben to the home ranch. There, among farm surroundings, the refugee had brightened up. His practical inborn instinct of farming had aroused instantly. Mechanically, but effectively, he resumed the old farm functions. Dazed most of the time, he still carried out the duties assigned to him. He was given an interest in a herd by Ford. At the end of three years he was, comparatively speaking, a rich man, and one day the past all came back to him.

Meanwhile there had been a vast sensation at the farm over the disappearance of Eben. His wife had mourned and had set in action various agencies to disclose his fate, but unavailingly. She had left the farm, to take up her home with her sister and was induced, like Victoria, to invest her little fortune with Mr. Dawes. Within a year the latter committed suicide, leaving his wife and sister-in-law without a dollar of inheritance.

They were compelled to go back to the farm, upon which nothing could be borrowed except for its direct operation and taxes. Hard was the work of the two women, but at the least they had a shelter over their heads. One afternoon someone hustled in through the kitchen doorway.

"Martha," announced Eben Hartley, placing a package on the table, "there's the five pounds of sugar you sent me for."

And the contrite wife and the chastened sister-in-law greeted the returned wanderer with welcome and love.

When an electrician makes a mistake, he blames it on induction—no body knows what that is.

When a lawyer makes a mistake, it's just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

Children Ory FOR FLETCHER'S

The Unexpected

(Copyright, 1914, Western Newspaper Union.)
It was the happiest day of his life, and everybody about the great chemical works where Norman Wilde was a humble employee knew it, and with smiles and congratulations endeavored to express their honest friendliness. That evening he was to wed the woman of his choice, and he bustled about actively, aiming to leave everything appertaining to his work in ship-shape order while he enjoyed a week-of-honeymoon bliss.

He was a poor man, earned only fair wages and was marrying a poor girl—poor, indeed, in worldly goods, but instinctively rich in those sterling qualities of heart and mind that go for perfection. Norman had known Elsie Deane for nearly a year.

It was just after noon and Norman was passing through the stock room when his elbow tipped an upright frame holding a number of filled phials ready to be corked and labeled.

"Look out!" came the sharp warning from a worker nearby. "That's corrosive stuff, and dangerous."

Norman dodged, but not in time to avoid receiving across his eyes the contents of one of the bottles. He felt a glaze instantly come over his power of vision.

"Wait!" spoke the head chemist, going for some neutralizing acid and injecting it under the lids.

"How is it now?" he questioned.

"I can see all right now," said Norman. "Things are a little hazy, but that will soon pass away."

It did pass away, although the affected eyes showed red and swollen through the wedding ceremony. The next day, however, the wedding tour was interrupted by the discovery by Norman that any remote object presented an indistinguishable blur. They went to a hotel. Elsie was all alarm and solicitude. She summoned the house physician.

"You had better return home at once," he advised, "where you can have rest and care. I shall have to bandage your eyes."

Practically a blind man, Norman Wilde returned to the Deane home. He was agitated and anxious. Months of idleness! It seemed a lifetime! The tender, solacing ministrations of Elsie, however, made his affliction endurable. The sympathy and helpfulness of her parents showed the great depths of true nature.

A shaded room was awarded the newly married pair. There all through the long day Elsie read to her afflicted husband, conversed with him, attended to his every want.

"Father Deane doesn't seem to be around much," observed Norman one day.

"Oh, father was always that way," declared Elsie. "He has got some friends in the village who are great checker players, and it has been his delight for years to pass his time with them."

Then came glad news. At the end of two months the attending physician announced that all traces of permanent infection had disappeared from the eyes. The first day of restored sight Elsie led Norman into the garden. His rapt gaze never left her beloved face except when she brought him some pretty flower or buried her head upon his breast to weep out her rare gladness.

"A letter," she announced, the next morning. "Shall I open and read it to you, dear?"

"Let me see if I'm not far enough along to do so for myself," suggested Norman.

Just then Elsie went to the house to answer the call of the grocer. Norman opened the letter and trembled all over. He could scarcely realize its contents to be true. It inclosed a draft for twenty thousand dollars from a law firm who had for five years been attempting the collection of a claim preferred by his dead father against a great corporation. Long since Norman had given up all hope of ever recovering the claim. He tried to be calm and collected as Elsie reappeared. The next day he went to the plant, to arrange for resuming work, he told her.

It was in the village that Norman obtained a solution of the mystery of the daily absence of Mr. Deane. He learned that the old man had gone to work as a factory gatekeeper while his wife had secured occasional employment at the local knitting mill.

"Dear, grand people!" uttered Norman, overcome with fervid emotion. "Ah! has any man ever before been blessed with such unselfish love and sacrifice?"

It was after supper that evening when he confronted Mr. and Mrs. Deane with his knowledge of their kindly action.

"Had to keep the meal box full, Norman!" chuckled the old man.

"Why, you are our own son. Why wouldn't we value the privilege of showing you how much we love you?" challenged Mrs. Deane.

"All right," said Norman, gayly. "But we're going to make a new deal," and he told them about his unexpected fortune.

"Why, Norman! what are you going to do with all that money?" breathlessly propounded the dazzled Elsie.

"With half of it, you mean," smiled Norman. "I've placed the other half in the local bank, to the account of the dearest people I ever knew—Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Deane."

It's on strike. Now, it is plain that there are only two things to be done lay the old clock aside for good and all, or let us fix it for you. Of course, in some cases a new clock is preferable—but the right thing to do would be to let our repair department decide what is best to be done. We mean the best from your way of looking at it. WORDS OF WISE MEN The love principle is stronger than the force principle.—Dr. A. A. Hodge. True personal liberty can never interfere with the duties, rights and interests of others. There are a lot of people who never put off till tomorrow what they can get anybody else to do today. Modern thought is so vague, and its expression so inadequate, that terseness, clearness and accuracy of thought and expression will always command attention. Let us realize that the real aristocracy of this world is an aristocracy of service, and let us do what we can by word and by example to hasten the days when an aristocracy that seems to serve will be universally despised. Let us recognize that only those who labor, in the sense of performing some useful service, are possessed of real worth.

LOAN DRIVE TO START WITH RUSH Theodore Roosevelt to Open Maryland's Campaign in Baltimore ENORMOUS BAND TO PLAY

Observance Of The Day In The Counties Will Likewise Be On A Large Scale And Great Results Are Expected. The first day of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, September 28th, will be ushered in in Maryland with a great national holiday. In Baltimore and in the county seats factory whistles will be blown and bells will be rung at intervals from ten to twelve o'clock A. M. In Baltimore a fleet of airplanes between six and twelve in number, it is generally admitted, has great formation several times during the forenoon. Ex-President Roosevelt is expected to arrive at Union Station about one o'clock and will proceed thence to a hotel for luncheon escorted by soldiers, sailors and marines. After luncheon he will hold an informal reception until he leaves for Oriole Park, where he will make a vigorous talk for the Loan. A monster band of five hundred or more pieces will entertain the crowds at the park before the speeches commence. No previous number, it is generally admitted, has ever commenced under such propitious circumstances nor with such enthusiasm on the part of the army of workers who are preparing for the fray.

TEN USES FOR SALT

- Lemon juice and salt will clean copper and brass. Salt in water will take insects from vegetables. Tiles will look bright and clean if scrubbed with salt. Salt dissolved in a little ammonia will remove grease spots. To brighten carpets, wring a cloth out of salt water and rub the carpets well. A smoky or dull fire can be made clear by throwing a handful of salt over it. Ink stains that are freshly made can be removed from carpets by successive applications of dry salt. Nearly every kind of basket work, matting or china can be cleaned by washing with salt and water. Handfuls of salt will clean saucers and take away the unpleasant smell of onions if they have been cooked in them. Before adding vinegar to mint for sauce always add a pinch of salt. This prevents the mint from going brown and greatly improves the flavor.

EXERCISES IN THE COUNTIES. At many of the county seats patriotic meetings will be held in the afternoon of Saturday and there will be exercises of some sort in villages and towns throughout the State. The following day, Sunday, September 29th, Heroes Day—will be celebrated in the churches in city and country. On Tuesday, September 17th, a luncheon was given by the Publicity Committee of the Fourth Liberty Loan committee to the editors of county newspapers and the county chairmen, at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore. About seventy county men attended. General Winslow Williams was in charge of the arrangements and there was informal speaking and an across-the-table discussion of methods of pushing the Loan which will be very helpful in making a successful campaign.

To Record Subscription. The following letter has been sent to each county chairman by John F. Baer, chairman of the Committee on Accounting and Delivery. "As heretofore, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond will send to each banking institution or bank in the State postal cards upon which subscriptions are to be reported, both to the Federal Reserve Bank and to the Liberty Loan Committee for Maryland. In previous campaigns quite a number of the institutions have overlooked the importance of sending such reports to the State Committee in the coming campaign and they will be given each day to the subscriptions from the city and from each individual county and it is therefore necessary for each bank to send daily a report of its subscriptions as forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. If the institution fails to do this it naturally follows that the county or city will not be given its proper rating in the public press or wherever the figures may be displayed. As chairman of your county I would ask that you take this matter up with each banking institution of your district and impress upon them the importance of forwarding these duplicate cards to the Liberty Loan Committee of Maryland." There will be a general meeting of the county chairmen and district leaders of the Women's Packard Liberty Loan Committee on Friday, September 20th, at 10:30 A. M., at Council of Defense Headquarters, Saratoga street and Park avenue, at which plans for the coming campaign will be discussed. Ex-Governor Phillips Lee Goldsborough will address the meeting at 11 o'clock.

THE NAME BEHIND THE TIRE

THERE is one first great principle in buying tires. Choose a brand for known reliability. Buy tires that have a long-established reputation for first-rate quality and you are more than reasonably certain to get better than average mileage.

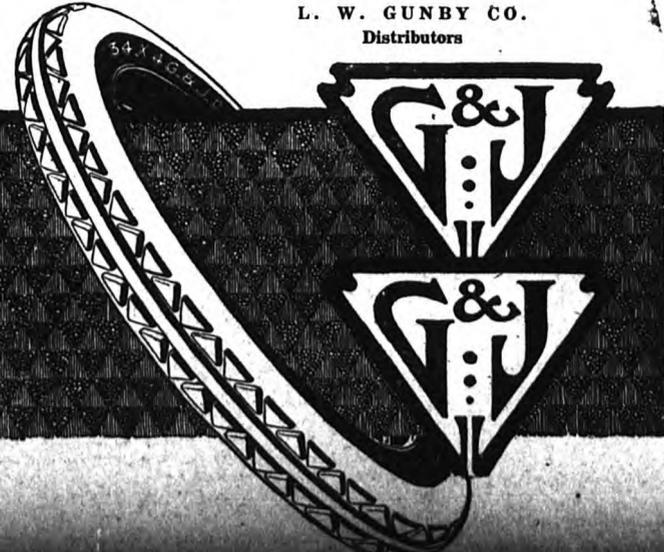

G & J Tires have had this kind of a reputation from the very beginning. The Name Behind the Tire guarantees their dependability. Tested out on thousands of cars on all kinds of roads, their performance has been consistently fine. They have made new mileage records. They have given a new meaning to long-run economy.

Mammoth Band To Play. The largest band ever assembled in the South will play at the great meeting, which, with former President Theodore Roosevelt as the principal speaker, will make Baltimore's observance of the opening of the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign one of the most notable in the country. It was recognized from the start that something unusual, something bigger than had ever before been attempted, in the way of music, would be necessary and in order to solve this particular problem members of the Musical Union of Baltimore were called upon for their assistance. They responded at once and held a meeting at which they pledged their hearty co-operation with the committee in its plans. This meeting resulted in the decision to assemble all of the instrumental players of the city into a great body constituting a band of hitherto undreamed of proportions. This monster massed band will number at least 500 men, all of them experienced professionals. They will be directed by Roscoe Packard, president of the Musical Union, and the program they will present at the Roosevelt meeting will comprise a number of the most popular war songs and patriotic airs. The meeting will be open to the general public with no reservations except for guests of honor; and the committee is particularly anxious that the counties of the State be largely represented. Volunteer Nurses Wanted For Emergency Cases

LADIES STARTED OUT ON THE WORK OF MERCY LAST SATURDAY.

Due to the great number of people stricken with the Spanish Influenza, more Volunteer Nurses are needed to help nurse emergency cases, and the many homes whose entire families are stricken and helpless. Not enough Doctors to visit a community of from 12,000 to 15,000 people. At one time there were only five Doctors, owing to the sickness of several of our physicians.

Seeing the need of quick action a number of ladies under Miss Maria Ellegood and Miss Ruth Powell with a number of young ladies, opened up the Domestic Science Department at the Wicomico High School and went to cooking.

Saturday and Sunday upwards of 50 homes were visited and served with chicken broths creamed chicken custards hot cocoa or baked apples according to the condition and needs of the different families.

Whoever the suggestion it has been heartily entered into by the Red Cross, the Daughters of Rebecca, and the Home Nursing Class under Mrs. Irwin, Superintendent of the Peninsula General Hospital, who has done much to contribute to this volunteer nursing, but as this institution is now over crowded with the sick, it is impossible to expect further assistance from that quarter.

A meeting was held at the City Hall Tuesday evening to which was invited a number of Red Cross executives for a conference with Mayor Jones and the City Council for the purpose of arranging more systematic relief work among those suffering with influenza. At this meeting it was brought out that in some sections of the city, whole families are stricken, and many cases had been discovered where as many as both parents and six or eight children are confined to their beds with no one to give them assistance or attention.

To relieve these distressing conditions it was decided to have the Red Cross ask for volunteer nurses who will be furnished gauze masks and who are urged to communicate over the telephone with Miss Ruth Powell, head of the Domestic Science Department of the Wicomico High School No. 288. Miss Powell's past experience in this Department, and her training in the Home Nursing Class fits her to take the lead in this work. She will be on duty every day at the High School, where she is engaged in making soup for free distribution to those families where there are so many cases as to make it impossible for the housewife to attend to her usual duties.

Already quite a number of our young women have given their services to this work of mercy and it is hoped that many others will volunteer at once in order to relieve the unfortunate victims of this epidemic. Volunteers need not be members of the Red Cross or experienced in nursing and with a little care and the use of the gauze mask there is little danger of infection.

THE DUTY OF ALL

People To Come Forward And Subscribe To Loan—Says Secretary Of Treasury.

"While enthusiastic reports of the progress of the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign are being received from many parts of the country, subscriptions filed with the incorporated banks and trust companies and reported to the Treasury Department for the first four business days of the campaign, totals only Six Hundred Twenty Six Million, Five Hundred and Six Thousand Dollars. In order that the full amount of Six Billion Dollars may be taken, subscriptions must be received at the average rate of over Three Hundred and Fifteen Million Dollars for each of the nineteen business days in the campaign, and yet up to date subscriptions are being received at only about one half this necessary rate.

While I am confident that the American People will in the end complete the enormous task now before them, I desire to urge every one not only to subscribe to the utmost of his ability, but to subscribe at the earliest possible moment in order that his subscription may serve as an inspiration to others.

The campaign is handicapped by two factors: the first being the unfortunate spread of influenza throughout many of the Eastern States, necessitating the cancellation of public meetings, parades and other demonstrations in half of the Loan. This condition makes it necessary for the people to come forward with their subscriptions without waiting to be called upon. The second unfavorable factor, and by far the most serious one, is the feeling which is prevalent in some communities that the glorious news from the battle fronts reflects a military situation which warrants a slackening of our efforts here at home. Nothing could be further from the truth and no more insidious propaganda than this could be circulated by the enemy.

The time is ripe for the final stroke which shall lead to complete victory and enduring peace, but that stroke cannot be delivered in a day or a week. Germany is not yet crushed. She has millions of strong fighting men still on the battle lines and with invasion of their own territory facing them they will fight even more desperately than heretofore. The strength of our military efforts must be multiplied. Our fighting forces must feel behind them the steady support of the American people. The supply of American arms and ammunition must not be interrupted or diminished. Now is the time for speed and the maximum of forces at the present time means an earlier return of our Boys from the bloody battle fields—means the saving of American lives and the winning of a glorious and conclusive victory."

Death Of Capt. Brohawn

Capt. John Raymond Brohawn of the old Fourth and Fifth Regiments died of pneumonia at the Maryland General Hospital Tuesday, Oct. 8th. He had been ill only a few days.

Capt. Brohawn was the grandson of Mr. John Brohawn a former merchant of Salisbury who passed away seven years ago on Oct. 10th.

Mr. Brohawn was honorably discharged from the army six months ago because of physical disability. At the time of his discharge he was captain of the One Hundred and Twelfth Machine Gun Company then at Annisston, Ala.

He served as captain of Co. A. of the Fourth Regiment for three months on Mexican border and at the outbreak of the war with Germany his company had charge of Union Station at Baltimore.

He is survived by a widow and one son John Raymond, Jr.

Death Of Morris Leaventon

Mr. Morris Leaventon, one of the progressive young men of this city succumbed to pneumonia following an attack of the grip. His death occurred Monday morning. Deceased was a member of the firm of M. Leaventon and Bro., clothing merchants, Main street. Morris was a progressive young business man. He is survived by his brother, who was associated with him in business.

The editor has his troubles; cost of paper is out of sight; if he wants a new press the steel for making it has gone into making cannon; the printer's devil was the first lad in town who volunteered; it costs the editor more in this year of grace 1918 to tell the truth, the whole truth, the magnificent truth about America than it ever did before. RAYMOND KING TRUITT Passes Away After Brief Illness Of Pneumonia.

Mr. Raymond King Truitt, one of Salisbury's most popular and useful young men, fell a victim this week to Spanish Influenza, that dread epidemic which has been raging in our midst for the past week. Mr. Truitt was attacked by Spanish Influenza followed by pneumonia of which he died at his home on Broad Street, early Tuesday morning. The news of his death spread quickly all over the city producing everywhere a feeling of sorrow and regret, and throwing a gloom over young and old; while to those who knew him best the news brought sadness and a strong sense of personal loss.

It is customary, in speaking of the dead, to say all the good one can think of and overlook, if there be any, the bad; but there occasionally arises a case where it is unnecessary to invoke this general rule because the plain and unvarnished truth about the deceased, when simply told is a stronger eulogy and a sincerer tribute to his virtues and worth while living, than could be penned by the trained and most gifted biographer. Such was the life of the late Raymond King Truitt. To those who knew him no eulogy is needed, his worth is known, his virtues appreciated; to them his memory will ever be held sacred, for the strength of his character, his consistent christianity, his willingness to help any just or righteous cause, his kindness of heart, his courteous and pleasing personality and for his loyalty, patriotism and love of his native land.

Though but thirty six years of age, Mr. Truitt had made for himself a high and important place in this community, where he had become an essential factor in every movement for the betterment of social conditions; and in the various fields of work made necessary by the conditions of war he had proved himself invaluable.

He was a whole-souled, whole-hearted American, loving his country and believing in the righteousness of her cause. From the beginning of the war he was at the front doing "his bit" for whatever cause came up, whether it was the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the selling of Liberty Bonds or something else. He never hesitated, he never held back, but gave freely, willingly and gladly his time and his talents. The united ministers of this city paid him a well deserved tribute recently at one of the Business Men's meetings held on Main St. when they publicly thanked him for the work he had done. This tribute was a beautiful testimony to his work, but it was more than that, it was a recognition of his sincerity and a proof that his whole heart was in the cause. In thanking him for his services particular stress was laid upon the meaning he had been able to put in his voice when singing the hymns and patriotic songs—a meaning which did not spring from any inflection of a trained and skilled voice but one that can only be given when the singer feels and lives the words and melodies to which he is giving voice.

The deceased was a son of the late James T. Truitt, for many years the Clerk of Court for this County and one of its most prominent and influential citizens.

He deceased was a member of the Asbury M. E. Church and took an active part in church work.

He married Miss May Serman, the daughter of Street Commissioner Serman, who with three children survive him.

His mother, Mrs. James T. Truitt, and one brother, Mr. Gordon Truitt, also survive the deceased.

The funeral services were held at his late home Friday afternoon at three o'clock and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Jas. T. Herson.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Henry W. Kuark, Walter S. Sheppard, John M. Toulson, G. Wm. Phillips, Bernard Ulman, and L. Atwood Bennett.

Interment was made in Parsons Cemetery.

Sad Death Of Miss Gladys Coursen

One of the saddest deaths in Salisbury occurred Monday night about ten o'clock when Gladys Coursen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Coursen, Ocean City Road, passed in to the Great Beyond at her apartment on Main Street.

Miss Coursen had been ill but little more than a week of Influenza in a very fatal form.

Altho not feeling well she had continued her duties at the Smith-Williams Shipyard office here, where she held a Government position, all day Saturday, September 28th, before giving up.

Hopes were brightly entertained all day Monday and as late as a very short while before her death, but in vain.

Miss Coursen had been in Salisbury for nearly two years and had made a great many friends by her bright and lovable disposition. These will deeply miss her. She was very ambitious to do her full share of life's work, and went about it with untiring zeal and hopeful optimism, cheerful and broad spirited in all her undertakings.

She was a talented violinist, and frequently helped make more attractive the program in many musical entertainments.

She is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen, one sister, Marian, and one brother, Ronald.

Funeral services were held at the Coursen home, conducted by Rev. Dr. Cone. Interment was made at Parsons Cemetery Friday afternoon.

ANSWER EXPECTED SOON

To Wilson's Reply To German Offer Of Armistice—Central Powers Disintegrating.

Washington, Oct. 9.—An early response to President Wilson's note of inquiry to the German Chancellor is expected by American officials. While realizing that an answer to the three pertinent questions put to the Prince of Baden will be very difficult if the original proposal of the German Government were not sincere, officials are confident that internal conditions in Germany and the tremendous exigencies of the military situation will force speedy action by the Chancellor if he hopes to prolong the existence of his Cabinet beyond a few days.

So far as the hold of the Government upon the people is concerned, conditions in Austria are even far worse than those in Germany. This fact is calculated to strongly affect the German Government, which is understood to entertain grave doubts of the strength of purpose of the Dual Monarchy and to fear that Austria, or perhaps Hungary, acting independently, will follow Bulgaria in seeking an unconditional peace. This would leave Germany to wage the war alone, for it is a foregone conclusion that Turkey already is lost to the Central Alliance.

Prince Max in a Quandary.

The pointed inquiry directed to Prince Max as to whether he is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the Empire who have so far conducted the war will, it is believed, be very embarrassing. If the response is in the affirmative, Germany's proposal will be rejected, as the President has already given notice that he will have no dealings with such authorities.

The powerful Socialist elements in the Reichstag also counted upon to present any such statements by the Chancellor as directly in conflict with the Reichstag resolution of July, 1917, and with the very recent pledges to make the cabinet a representative body, under which the Socialists were enticed to take part in the Government.

On the other hand, if Max attempts to repudiate the military party, he undoubtedly will bring about a demand from that still powerful organization for his retirement, and the adoption of a reactionary policy.

The general belief here is that the Chancellor will endeavor to find a middle course and confine himself in his reply to half-way admissions, hoping thus to begin a long diplomatic discussion which might develop differences between the Entente Allies and America as to war aims, and to lower the morale of the armies opposed to the Central Powers.

Any such move is certain of failure and in the meantime, the German armies in the west are being subjected to increasingly hard blows from Marshal Foch's forces—blows which are adding to the difficulties of

GREAT GENERAL RETREAT OF THE HUNS HAS STARTED

LONDON, OCT. 10th.—A quarter million Germans now are in full retreat between Cambrai and St. Quentin with the Allies hot at their heels, according to the battlefield reports that came in through the night. At some points the advance has exceeded fifteen miles in the last two days.

This forward movement of the Allies is regarded as the first step in the great general retreat of the Germans, which now seems inevitable, for it is doubtful whether General Ludendorff has such fortified positions on the Upper Oise and the Sambre Canal as to permit him effectively to resist the exploitation of the victory of the last two days on the Allied side.

British cavalry today reached the outskirts of Le Cateau, the railway junction southeast of Cambrai, which is the immediate British objective, the Exchange Telegraph Company says it learns.

Between Fresnoy and Bohain, where German machine gunners have concentrated in force there was the stiffest kind of fighting today. British tanks helped to clear the machine gunners.

Allied troops are in force a thousand yards south of the Le Cateau road and have captured the towns of Estommel and Igniel Frisettes on the highway. The British are still reported to be progressing. Six pontoon bridges and two infantry bridges over the Scheldt River have been blown up by the enemy.

British cavalry east of Cambrai seems to be working forward. Late last night they signalled from Beaumont and they were said to be making good progress.

Sallaumines and Noyelles have been captured. This represents a British advance in the district east of Lens.

Between Lens and the Scarpe the British also are advancing and are in touch with the Germans to the west of the line of Vitry-en-Artois, Azel-les-Equerchin and Rouvroy.

Warfare In Real Old Sense Of Term

British Headquarters in France, Oct. 8.—The attack begun this morning by British and American forces on the Cambrai-St. Quentin front has become warfare in the real old sense of the term—the developing of various carefully worked-out maneuvers into one great general scheme which is to combine in securing prearranged objectives and the rounding up of as many Germans as possible.

It had been necessary to assemble the assaulting waves to the east of the Hindenburg line and to get the masses of men in through the intricate and battered trench system in the dark. It was a task of extraordinary difficulty, but it was accomplished well before the zero hour.

Comparatively few tanks were employed. In fact, this was a night surprise and it must have minimized alike their opportunities and the necessity for their assistance. The Anglo-American attack was launched at 2.30 o'clock in the morning. In the darkness of the hour of a quiet, moonless night 20 miles of guns suddenly crashed forth in a hideous dissonance. The enemy's artillery response was weak. This confirmed the idea that the Germans were steadily withdrawing their guns.

Another phase of the battle commenced at 4.30 o'clock and yet another phase when the first gray of dawn was filtering into the dull sky which presently fulfilled its threat to rain.

The first reports were quite promising. A good deal of machine-gun resistance was encountered at various sectors of the Beaurvoir-Maunieres line. Here the Allies are getting forward but slowly.

More American Heroes

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 8, 11.15 A. M.—The American "lost" battalion in the Argonne forest was rescued at 6.40 o'clock yesterday. Though it has encountered terrific opposition, it was found to be virtually intact, few of its members being killed or wounded.

The lost battalion, whose whereabouts was a mystery for some time after its disappearance during the attack along the edge of the Argonne, comprised several hundred men under the command of Major Charles Whitely. Completely surrounded by the Germans, they made their stand with their pistols and rifles and a few machine guns as defensive weapons. When relief reached them their stock of cartridges was almost gone, and the men were in a weakened condition from lack of sustenance and the effects of the dampness of these fall days, from which the trapped infantrymen had no blankets to protect them.

The relief expedition encountered great difficulty in aiding the rescued men, some of whom were so weak they had to be carried. Medical supplies and food are being rushed to their aid.

5,000 Mexican Quail For Maryland

State Game Warden, E. Lee LeCompte announces the liberation of 5,000 Mexican quail in different sections of Maryland at an early date. The money is to be provided out of the gunners' license money and if there is enough of this the number may be increased to 10,000. The birds are to be supplied by a San Antonio man, who will have them trapped in the Mexican mountains some distance below the border. Under the laws of this country they will have to be kept in quarantine for a considerable time to prevent the spread of bird diseases.

Volunteer Nursing

The ladies of Salisbury are showing a very fine spirit in their willingness to relieve the suffering of the numberless stricken homes, caused by Spanish influenza.

In utter self-forgetfulness they are leaving their homes to seek those who are in need.

One woman, who has had one sick in the home, has been large enough to make regular visits to six different homes of her relatives, administering all the aid of which she is capable.

So it is with many, there is a willingness manifested by old and young to assist in this very necessary work.

LOAN CANNOT WIN AT PRESENT RATE

Time Half Gone And Only 30 Per Cent Reported.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Treasury Department today openly admitted that the slow progress of the fourth Liberty Loan toward its six billion dollar goal is a matter of serious concern. With the three weeks' subscription period half gone, the loan is only 30 per cent subscribed. The total reported to the Treasury up to tonight is $1,791,463,200.

There is no use in denying or attempting to camouflage the fact that the loan is confronted with a serious situation," said the Treasury statement reviewing the campaign reports. "If the loan is to be subscribed, a daily average of $467,000,000 must be raised between now and October 19.

"Comitant of the fact that the loan never can succeed at its present rate of speed, canvassers throughout the country are stating plainly to all citizens that they must buy bonds in larger amounts than heretofore. Wealthy persons particularly must go deeper into their capital or extend their credit and not depend upon their current income alone to pay for bonds. People of moderate and small means must pledge their future earnings in greater degree."

"Double the third" has been adopted as a slogan in many districts to stimulate subscribers to do twice as much as they did in the last loan.

SHIPYARDS MAKE RECORD

Delivered 74 Vessels Of 362,635 Tons In September.

American shipyards established another world's record in September by delivering 74 vessels of 362,635 dead-weight tons. In making this announcement the Shipping Board also disclosed that it received one vessel of 6,695 tons on the contract awarded to these yards.

September deliveries exceeded the previous high mark for American yards made in August, by 30,017 tons and compared with 231,635 dead-weight tons which the board was advised today by Consul General Skinner at London, British yards completed in that month.

September deliveries included 45 steel ships of 259,970 tons and 29 wooden and composite ships of 102,665.

American Troops Glad No Armistice Allowed

With the American Army in France, Oct. 9.—President Wilson's peace proposal has been greeted with a cheer from the rear lines of the American troops. It had been awaited, its possible character widely discussed. The news of the rank and file comes with a quiet satisfaction that could not be granted while the

HOME NEWSPAPER IN WAR TIME

The Chautauque Reading Hour.

Dr. William Byron Forbush, Editor

America home newspapers should be subsidized.

America at the present time owes its newspapers a deeper debt than any other single institution. They shaped the sentiment of the country so that when we entered the great war we were a united nation. They have been loyal whatever their politics, to the administration. They have supported every national sacrifice, they have never for a moment acknowledged the possibility of defeat, they have stood fast by every effort that works for an enduring peace.

The newspapers are being used in our schools as text-books as never before. The preceding paragraph explains why, because they are the mouthpieces of American ideals growing and becoming more clear from day to day; the up-to-date school master cannot teach science, history or English without them.

Folks Believe in the Home Paper.

This much has been said and said sincerely, applies not only to the metropolitan dailies, but also to the local weekly newspaper, and perhaps even more forcibly. The local paper reaches into the corners of the country where faith is slow in forming and where suspicion or disloyalty might lurk unchallenged. The country newspaper is the only thing written on earth of which the readers believe every word, with the possible exception of the Bible and the almanac.

It is the only place where the whole village meets. On weekdays we are divided by clans and political beliefs, on Sundays by our denominational fences. The circus and the October Fair do call us together physically, but upon such excited occasions there is no room for mental interchange. The home newspaper calls us together once a week as if it were around an invisible community fireside where we inquire into our neighbors' welfare and think over together matters of the common weal.

It Looks For Brightness.

The home newspaper is an optimist, it tells only the good news about the home folks, it suppresses more scandal in proportion to its size than any inveterate foe to gossip. What the city daily gloats over, the country editor forgivingly throws into the waste basket. The principal reason why we think so well of our neighbors is because our newspaper sets the example.

Our home paper also takes us out of the home town, it discusses politics passionately and, as half of us believe, long-headedly; it does us good to agree with our editor's convincing statements of the natural situation, it does us even more good when we get mad about it. The home newspaper interprets the nation's forward march, it rejoices in the country's growing muster-roll, it is the harbinger of the good days that are coming to us all. What is religion to the

Fur Trimmed Coats are Extremely Popular

In spite of the costliness of good furs, they have been extensively used as trimmings for the better fall and winter coats. We have many smart and becoming models, made of velours, bolivias, and silvertones, with fur collar and cuffs which add immeasurably to their distinctiveness. With most of these coats a fur scarf is unnecessary; thus they are really an economy.

A variety of styles from which any woman can make a satisfactory choice at a price that will please.

SEVEN WAR WORK RELIEF AGENCIES JOIN IN DRIVE

Recognized Great Organizations Representing All Creeds and Elements Welded Into One.

$170,500,000 IS THE GOAL

Plan of War Department to Avoid Waste of Energy and Duplication of Effort Enthusiastically Adopted and Unity is Achieved.

WHAT GENERAL PERSHING NEEDS

"Give me nine men who have a hut and I will have a more effective fighting force than if I had ten men without it."

—General Pershing.

On November 11 the American people will start a one week's drive to raise the largest amount of money ever given outright by any people in the history of the world. The drive will be a new thing under the sun. For the first time Protestants, Catholics and Jews, forgetting all their differences, will line up shoulder to shoulder, welding their individual organizations together in their common devotion to the boys in the front lines and over there. This unification of the seven great agencies engaged in war work is one of the most developments which have been brought about by the war and under the wise guidance of President Wilson. The seven organizations which together will raise the united appeal tional Catholic War Council and K. of C., the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association and the Salvation Army. Each of them will need funds this Fall; each had planned a separate campaign for support. Now, acting on the suggestion of the President's letter of September 5, the seven campaigns will be rolled into one. The American people will be spared the burden of seven separate appeals, and the nation will have an opportunity to demonstrate splendidly that men and women of all creeds at home can work together, as men of all creeds over there are fighting and dying together.

Dr. John R. Mott, whom President Wilson has spoken of as one of the ablest and most useful men of his generation, has been selected Director General of the drive. It is interesting to note that Dr. Mott's name was placed in nomination by John G. Agar of the National Catholic War Council and seconded by Mortimer L. Schiff of the Jewish Welfare Board. The general committee having the campaign in charge contains such well known names as Raymond B. Fosdick, Chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities; George W. Perkins, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the U. S. Steel Corporation; James F. Phelan of Hornblower and Weeks; Honorable Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France; Cleveland H. Dodge, George Gordon Battle, Mrs. Henry P. Davison and Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank.

In every city, county and town the campaign will be in charge of the biggest men of the community.

Together these seven organizations represent a work that is staggering in its proportions. They have more than 15,000 uniformed workers, standing shoulder to shoulder with the boys every step of the way from home to the front line trenches. They operate more than 8,000 buildings and ship 500 tons of supplies to the boys in France every week. Fifteen miles of film set sail for the other side each week under their direction, and the regular weekly attendance of soldiers and sailors at their motion picture shows is more than 2,000,000. The Bibles furnished to the boys since the war broke out would, if piled one on another, make a pile more than twenty miles high.

"Morale," said Napoleon, "is as other factors in war as three to one." By which he meant that one man who is kept contented and happy is better than three men who are discouraged and homesick. It is the business of these seven great agencies to help maintain morale. They are keeping up the fine fighting edge of our boys, and by their ministrations, helping to put added power into our army and navy and so hasten the hour of victory when they will bring our boys home again.

It is predicted by national leaders that this great victory drive will "go over the top" in a larger way than any campaign that has preceded it.

KEEP COOL—THE WORST IS OVER.

Salisbury has had one of the worst epidemics in its history, in the Spanish Influenza which has been raging in our midst for the past two weeks.

In many families the suffering has been extreme when whole families were sick with no one to look after them, no doctor or nurse available.

The epidemic has taken its toll of our people and we have lost many esteemed and valuable citizens.

It is good news to learn that the epidemic has now reached its height and is receding, by this time next week its strength will be gone at the present rate of decrease in cases.

There are still many seriously sick, among them being State's Attorney Curtis W. Long who is regarded as being in a very critical condition as this is being written.

The doctors have fought bravely and hard against the overwhelming odds and to these overworked men the heartfelt gratitude of the community is due.

The nurses and doctors have worked night and day, risking their lives in the fight; drug stores have had their hands full, and have done their best to keep in a supply of necessary drugs.

The mortality among those who have developed pneumonia has been very high, and many have died from this following the influenza.

The county has suffered with Salisbery and in some places the conditions have been, if possible, even worse.

This is no time for foolish hysterics, the worst danger seems to be now over, but while keeping cool let us not forget to exercise every possible precaution until the epidemic is entirely stamped out.

Remember that every cold is not influenza and that the main thing to do is to take care of oneself and use the proper preventatives. Don't make yourself sick by getting scared.

Remember that every cold is not influenza and that the main thing to do is to take care of oneself and use the proper preventatives.

TROOPS GOING OVER At Rate More Than 250,000 A Month, March Says.—Despite Flu Epidemic.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Despite the epidemic of Spanish influenza, embarkment of American troops is being continued at the rate of more than 250,000 per month.

The policy of the War Department in sending overseas only men who have not had the disease, and who have not been exposed to it, has necessitated material readjustments of the shipping schedule.

In Flanders the drive of the Allies has reconquered 75 square miles of Belgian territory and has formed a semicircular salient 10 miles deep.

FROM CHURCH AND GUARDHOUSE From church to guardhouse is logical when both happen to be Y. W. C. A. Hostess Houses.

The War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. has not taken generally to turning churches and guard houses into hostess houses but the demand is great with plans for an increased army.

Requests from Camp Commanders and authorizations from the War Department arrive at Y. W. C. A. headquarters, 600 Lexington Ave., New York, at the rate of one a day.

In one camp where a house was needed badly, a Methodist Church in the village was offered to the Hostess House Committee.

At Camp Lee, Va., the camp authorities requested further hostess service and are fixing up a guard house with veranda, small kitchen and rest room.

It is in the replacement camp, where the boys are in quarantine however, they will be allowed to visit the hostess house to see their families before they leave for "overseas."

Other Deaths

Mr. Paul Townsend, the well known pianist and organist for the Arcade Theatre, succumbed to pneumonia Tuesday night. He leaves a wife and six month baby to mourn their loss.

Another sad death was that of Miss Helen Truitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Truitt, of Pittsville, which occurred Wednesday of last week.

This young lady was only 17 years old and her death was caused by a relapse of influenza. Miss Truitt was one of the most popular employees of the big department store of R. E. Powell & Co., in this city.

Mr. Ernest Jones, dies of pneumonia, at the home of his parents, near Powellville.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, who are well known throughout the county. Deceased had just reached manhood, and this is the second tragical sorrow to visit this family, who lost their little boy by drowning during the year. They have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Addie Taylor, formerly Miss Addie Laws, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ernest Laws died at her home in Preston on Tuesday night from the effects of influenza. The deceased is survived by her husband and an infant of two months. Her funeral will be held at the home of her parents on East Church street.

Among the deaths reported at Camp Meade Tuesday was Herman Ballard, of Hebron, Md.

Mr. Alonza L. Causey died at his home near the depot, in Princess Anne, last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, of heart trouble, aged 46 years. Mr. Causey spent the last 22 years of his life as clerk in the store of Mr. W. O. Langford. He was of a genial and affable disposition, with a kind and cheering word for every one, and this, with other likable traits, brought to him a wide circle of warm friends. He is survived by his father Mr. Levin P. Causey, and two sisters, Mrs. Olivia Gross and Mrs. John Chatham, all of Salisbury.

Another very sad blow comes to the home of Mr. Harvey Elzey, in the death of his son, William, last Wednesday at 3 o'clock. The young boy was sixteen years old, dying of heart failure after an attack of influenza. There are surviving him his father and five brothers and sisters: Norman Elzey, in France; Miss Sallie Elzey and one brother sick in Allen, and two sick at home.

Another sad death occurred Thursday night when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wyatt lost their oldest son, Floyd Wyatt of pneumonia. Deceased had almost reached manhood, being nineteen years old. He was a boy of much promise, and had been associated with his father, a builder and contractor for two or more years, by whom he will be sorely missed as well as the mother who has been caring for five other children who are suffering with influenza.

Great sympathy is felt for the stricken family.

TURKISH PEACE PLEA EXPECTED WITHIN 48 HOUR

Peace Note Reported To Have Been Dispatched.

London, Oct. 9.—The surrender of Turkey within the next forty-eight hours will not surprise well-informed quarters in London, the "Evening Standard" says today. The British authorities, it adds are in possession of information showing that a process of disintegration exists in Constantinople.

London, Oct. 9.—The British Foreign Office has received indirect news of the fall of the Turkish Cabinet.

Tewfik Pasha, who it is reported, will be the new Grand Vizier, is understood to have pro-Ally, rather than pro-German sympathies.

According to advices, which are not official, however, the Cabinet had decided to take military measures against Bulgaria, but found that the opinion of the country was against them.

It is rumored that a Turkish peace note has been dispatched through the Spanish Government.

Talaat Pasha, the Turkish Premier has resigned and has been succeeded by Tewfik Pasha, former Premier and ex-Ambassador at London, according to advices received here. Enver Pasha, the Minister of War, also has resigned.

Special dispatches from Berne, Switzerland, last night carried reports that the entire Turkish Cabinet had resigned and added that great excitement prevailed in Constantinople.

Jackson Memorial Building Opened For Hospital

The Jackson Memorial Building was opened Thursday for emergency cases.

Owing to the crowded condition of the Hospital, and the number of nurses, who have fallen ill of the influenza, and the need for greater hospital facilities, the Business Men's Association called a meeting Monday to provide suitable quarters, where emergency cases could be properly treated.

They appealed to Mrs. Nannie R. Jackson for the use of the Jackson Memorial building who promptly acceded to their request, and the building is now open, and fitted up with regular hospital equipments.

Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. E. Stanley Toddvin, and Mrs. Westcott under the supervision of the Red Cross Organization are in charge, ready to give attention to cases brought.

The Ladies of the Red Cross have volunteered their services as long as they are on their feet.

The kindly donation of this building by Mrs. Jackson will be a great relief in this time of extreme emergency.

CAPT. WOODCOCK REFUSES PROMOTION TO SCHOOL

Offered Position With Line Officers' School, But Will Stay With Co. I.

Capt. Amos W. Woodcock of Co. I, 115th Inf., has just refused a very flattering offer of the commanding general of his battalion, to take another special course in the line-officers' training academy in France.

Had Capt. Woodcock accepted this offer it would have meant quite an advancement in grade but he felt that he owed his first duty to the mothers and fathers of this community who placed their boys in his keeping when Co. I was mustered in to the National Army. In writing to a friend here Capt. Woodcock expressed himself as believing that he owed his first duty to the boys of Co. I, and that he had rather forego the addition of bars and stars and remain faithful to the trust that was reposed in him by the parents of these boys and thus do everything in his power to protect them and bring back alive as many as possible.

In this letter, which was dated about the middle of September, Capt. Woodcock said that the men of his company had just returned from a fierce fight at the front and he had no casualties to report. His company was then occupying a rest station and would go back with the reserves in a few days, ready for another move to the front line when the order comes.

Another victim of the influenza was Mr. Vaughn Farlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Gibson Farlow East Church St. Young Farlow was a fine young man who had many friends. He attended Bethesda M. P. Church and was a member of The Young Men's Club, members of which acted as pallbearers. The funeral was conducted by Dr. A. N. Ward.

SELECTION OF ORCHARD SITE

Great importance is attached to favorable location—peaches favor light soils.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

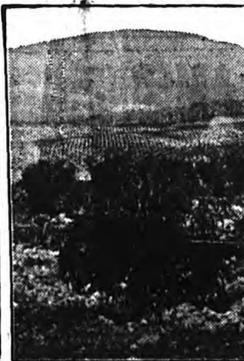

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon a suitable location and site of the peach orchard, because a faulty choice of either may be fatal to future financial success. Some mistakes in planning an orchard may be overcome as the trees develop, but a poor location or site cannot be changed.

It is the current opinion that the peach should be planted on sandy or some of the lighter types of soil. Excellent results may follow the planting of orchards on such soils, but peaches do well also on a wide range of soil types, including even some of the moderately heavy clay loams and clays. But, whatever the type, a soil must be thoroughly well drained. Peaches will not succeed on poorly drained soils. The heavy clay types which are so hard and impervious that water does not percolate through them readily are to be avoided. Moreover, the soil should be moderately fertile. One very rich in nitrogen is not desirable as a general rule, since it may induce an excessive growth of foliage.

Where alkali soils occur, they should be avoided. While the peach tree can be grown where there is a limited amount of the alkali salts, they cause disaster if present in large quantities. It is safer, therefore, to avoid them as far as possible.

Generally a site that is elevated considerably above the surrounding areas is to be preferred for a peach orchard. Cold air settles to the lower levels. For this reason it is often colder at the lower elevations than it is at higher points. The occurrence of frost in low places when there is none on elevated areas is thus explained. During the past few years the importance of selecting relatively high sites for peach orchards in order to avoid the effects of unfavorable temperatures has been emphatically demonstrated in many different parts of the country.

When an orchard has a site adjacent to a body of water of sufficient size and depth to have an appreciable influence on the local climate, the importance of a relatively high elevation largely disappears. Because water warms up in the spring more slowly than the atmosphere, it acts in effect as a refrigerator, making the temperature in its immediate vicinity colder than at points somewhat distant from it. Vegetation within the zone of this influence advances more slowly in the spring than it does outside of that zone. The tendency is for the blossoming of peach trees within the zone to be delayed until after the season of spring frosts is past.

In the fall, frosts are delayed. The water, having absorbed much heat during the summer, cools off in the fall more slowly than the atmosphere and tends to keep the temperature within its zone of influence warmer than it would otherwise be.

The slope factor is largely one of degree. Peach trees on a site having a very steep southern slope will usually blossom and the fruit will ripen somewhat earlier than on a corresponding northern slope, but where the differences in slope are only moderate their relative influence on the time of blossoming and ripening is not very marked.

Aside from economic factors, temperature probably is the most decisive limiting factor in the distribution of commercial peach growing. Usually the fruit buds are the first to suffer injury. No absolute minimum temperature which the peach is able to withstand without injury can be given. The condition of the buds with regard to their strength, vitality, and perfect dormancy, the duration of the critical temperature, the climatic conditions following the cold period, perhaps the amount of moisture in the air during the period, and other factors all have an influence.

FARM STOCK

INCREASED FLOCKS ON FARM

Ways Outlined of Hastening Development of Sheep Business—Source of Wool and Meat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Though much is yet to be done to improve the carrying capacity of the western range lands and to furnish facilities for increasing the production from those areas that should always be used for grazing, and though the possibilities of sheep raising on cut-over timber lands are very great, neither of these advances can be made to contribute so extensively and so quickly to market supplies as an increase of flocks on the farms of all parts of the country. Only one-tenth of all holdings now classed as farms maintain sheep. The establishment of flocks on as many as possible of the other farms that are suitable for sheep offers the greatest opportunity for quick results.

This is not wholly a war matter. When peace comes it will still be necessary for farmers to accord greater importance to live stock. The requirements of the country and the most economical use of farm crops and farm labor call for a much more general keeping of farm flocks of sheep, entirely aside from the war situation. The magnitude of such an undertaking argues against large results in a short time, but if the true facts and prospects can be adequately realized by farmers, within a space of two years it can be expected that the supply of both wool and meat will be increased materially.

An obstacle to any increase in the number and size of farm flocks is found in the prevalent idea that wool and meat prices, after the war, will recede quickly to low levels and cause a loss to those who have invested in higher-priced stock for breeding purposes. The statistics of the world supplies and requirements, however, and the trend of prices prior to the war indicate that we already had entered a new era with regard to the live stock industry. While it is not possible to give a guarantee as to future values, the great use of wool by all countries at war undoubtedly will deplete stocks rapidly, and this will tend to influence the market for some time to come.

The belief that sheep do not have a place upon high-priced, highly productive land also is inapplicable at present. It is true that the development of the sheep industry on the rougher, cheaper, or drier types of land has prevented and in some cases destroyed the business of sheep raising upon farms of high productive capacity. Conditions now are changed. The sheep today provides a profitable source of meat no less than an income from the sale of wool.

The large use of forage and pasturage and the small use of grain favor the keeping of a flock on the farm. Sheep are most profitable and most healthy when kept upon pasture lands or used for grazing off such forage crops as cereal mixtures, rape, cowpeas, etc. Where large grass pastures are available the forage crops may not be required, but under common farm conditions the forage crops will have a part in the best flock husbandry.

With good roughages, made up in part of leguminous hays, little grain is needed for wintering breeding stock, and if ewes do not lamb until they go to pasture grain may be wholly eliminated from winter rations. Lambs are most in demand and most profitably disposed of when weighing from 65 to 90 pounds.

Ordinarily the lower weight will be reached at from four to five months of age and without the use of grain if stock is of good breeding and kept upon good pasturage. The lamb carcass requires less fat to render it suitable for the table than is necessary in any other class of meat. This fact particularly adapts sheep raising to sections that are not adapted to production of grains but can furnish good pasturage and forage crops. It also enables the flock to produce a cash return from forage crops and other grazing included in a diversified plan of cropping. The rapidity with which lambs attain marketable weight insures very quick returns at a low cost.

The comparatively small amount of labor required in caring for sheep is another argument in favor of the farm flock.

REMINGTON UMC

Pistol and Revolver Cartridges for Shooting Right

FOR home defense, for hunting or for target shooting, buy the kind of cartridges the pistol and revolver experts demand and champions depend on to win—the Remington UMC "Red Ball" brand.

Knowing that a single "unaccountable" wild shot may cost him the match, one misfire in a hundred shots throws him out of his winning "form," the target champion chooses Remington UMC Cartridges.

He knows that over nine he looked down the sights of his first pistol, he has found Remington UMC Cartridges all right.

The old sentiment—"who's best a shooter will be his best"—and will delight in making up a "shooting" every time they shoot right.

2576 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Wicomico County. September Term, 1918.

Ordered, that the sale of the property mentioned in these proceedings be made and reported by Henry B. Freeny, Attorney, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 23rd day of October, Provided, a copy of this order be inserted in some weekly newspaper printed in Wicomico County, once in each of three successive weeks before the 21st day of October next.

The report states the amount of sales to be $783.00. JOSEPH L. BAILEY. True copy, test: J. CLAYTON KELLY, Clerk.

MULE FOR SALE 1 jack mule 9 years old, weighs about 850 lbs field broken, splendid puller, sound in every respect. Price $175., if taken at once. Trachler Farm, near Nassawango Church, or write Route 4, Box 77, Snow Hill, Md.

Word has just come from Paris to the National War Workers Council of the Y. W. C. A. that a new "Bomb Parlor" has just been added as the newest feature of the Hotel Petrograd. The Hotel Petrograd is run by the Y. W. C. A. for American women working in France.

The "Bomb Parlor" is a good size room at the bottom of the house and has no outside walls. When a series of unearthly walls from the streets announce air raids, the women assemble out of their beds and down into the "Bomb Parlor" in double quick time. Once there they report that they feel quite safe from harm. A report just cabled to the War Work Council in New York gives this very interesting information written by a woman now living at the Hotel Petrograd.

"Many times I have made the flight down to the "Bomb Parlor" twice in a night. It is in War and we soon get used to it. We get so that we can drop off to sleep again as soon as we get back to bed. We spend the time between "alarms" that turns us out of bed and "all clear" signal that tells us to go back with games, visiting and reading. I have seen Red Cross nurses on the floor fast asleep in spite of the awful din of the bombs.

Maryland To Aid Y. W. C. A. War Work

Five District Chairmen Named To Put State Over The Top In November Drive.

John R. Mott, president of the International Y. W. C. A. has been appointed generalissimo for the united war work campaign which will start November 11 and through which it is expected that $170,500,000 will be raised for war relief work by the Young Women's Christian Association and the six organizations joining with it in the drive.

A big setting-up meeting of the Eastern departments of the seven organizations was held Wednesday, September 12, in New York, at which time campaign plans were discussed. Department staff members, members of the state directors' committee and the state organizers of the association were present.

The sum of $170,500,000 is the largest gift ever asked of the nation and it has the endorsement of the War Department, the officials of which recall the need for raising this war relief fund. At the meeting Friday arrangements were made to send speakers throughout the country and Maryland will hear many noted persons.

That all Maryland may know what comfort and aid the workers of the Young Women's Christian Association are giving the soldier in France, and how The Girl Who Left Behind Him and The Girl Who Had to Take His Place are being cared for, virtually every preacher in Maryland on Sunday, September 22, will tell his congregation what is being done by the girls of the Blue Triangle.

That day has been christened Blue Triangle Sunday and letters requesting the pastors to help in its observance are being sent out this week by Miss Florence Wilbur, organizer for Maryland. Every Sunday School superintendent will also be asked to tell his school of the wonderful work being done by the devoted women of the state and country.

The Y. W. C. A. is one of the seven efficient organizations which has won the approval of the government and of the War Department because of the way it is handling its war relief work both in Europe and in this country. Its hostesses have proven to be one of the best forces for good and the way its organization has mobilized the women power of the country to take the places of men released for military duty has been highly commended.

WOMAN WORKS 15 HOURS A DAY

Marvelous Story of Woman's Change from Weakness to Strength by Taking Druggist's Advice.

Perry, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get up in the morning at 6 o'clock, do my housework, then go to factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Mrs. ANNE METERLAND, 36 West 10th St., Perry, Ind.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Victory which seemed to slip away with the months. Then always there was ever increasing the sight of mutilated men returned to their homes.

The tension of the women's nerves and the monotony of their lives. It was carefully planned. In spite of themselves the morale of the women of France was breaking under the terrible emotional strain.

For while it seemed as if everything tended toward breaking down the women will-to-fight in France—and the Germans knew it.

"It was just at this point that both the French and American Governments came to the Y. W. C. A. and asked for their help in bracing up the morale of the women of France.

"With a quick understanding of the situation, American Women went over to bring recreation and some degree of comfort to French women. The first thing the Y. W. C. A. women did was to strengthen the morale of the women in munitions factories and to inform them that the success of the War depended largely on them. The Governments of the Allied Nations knew as did the Y. W. C. A. did that these women must be kept at the highest point of efficiency if the Allies were to win.

"At the present time the Y. W. C. A. is offering such help to the women of France through its recreational centers and its entire devotion to France that it has already increased the military efficiency of the women.

NEW GIRLHOOD AFTER THE WAR

The Chautauqua Reading Hour. Dr. William Byron Forbush, Editor

The war is producing a new girlhood.

The most momentous changes have occurred in the spirit of England's womanhood. The services of English women in the war has been splendid. And yet observers who have been the first to applaud are uneasy. Women, no longer economically dependent upon husbands, fathers and brothers, have been frankly disposed to make their freedom permanent. They have, moreover, manifested a distinct repugnance to many of the familiar domestic responsibilities. In many cases they have refused longer to be the central and essential factor in a humble family. They rebel against its drudgery and most of its anxieties. They have tasted a new freedom. They will not return easily to the old order. And no one in England knows just what is to happen in the end, when the soldiers return seeking new places in society. Some signs of the outcome, however, is visible in the active part which the women workers of England are now taking in the affairs of the British Labor party, with a view to establishing firmly their rights as voting citizens upon an equal footing with men. Will We Imitate England or France? French women, so the Philadelphia Public Ledger tells us, are temperamentally different from their English sisters. They are more given to the conventional order of life, more at ease in a second place, less restless of spirit and, in material ways, less ambitious. The English and American characters run parallel in most instances. And it is natural to wonder at this moment whether, if women are to do all that the government expects of them, we shall have a problem similar to England's. In America women now provide 8 per cent of the energy required in the fields of commerce and industry. What sort of changes is this fact like to make in our community life? The tendency of girls toward business will for a time rapidly increase. They are already taking the places of the men in many positions that we once thought impossible. These positions will not be lightly relinquished. There will not be so many toy women. There will not be so much room for idle poets. There will be more competition among women themselves. The girl graduate will not think it safe to take so much time hereafter to "look around."

The trend will be to crush the fairy and exalt the shop-girl and citizen. The leadership of girls will pass from their mothers to the "forelady." It will be the heyday of the independent spinster.

Call of the Child. There will be a directly opposite tendency. Children will be worth more. They will be more esteemed. The nation will be furnished for babies. The tremendous loss of human life will bring a new watchfulness for the care of life. There will be a great cry for mothers, for nurses, for teachers.

Men will be scarcer, too, young men. In all wars woman has been man's reward. This will still be true. The men who are left will have wider choice. Will they accept the new girl who wears overalls? Will they prefer shop-girls to home-makers? Will they fall in love with "Madame Chairman?" Perhaps they will be harder to please.

Simple Housekeeping. It is impossible to foresee all the changes that may come to a world that is mad with change. One thing seems plain. There will be less demand for "fancy" cooking. Perhaps there will be no individual cooking at all. Food and physical luxury will be less esteemed. Girls who have engaged in self-support will find more worth-while ways to spend money. Returned campaigners will be content to live simply. There will be a new temperance, a new thrift. It looks as if there would be a reaction to domestic desires and the domestic virtue.

Homeward Tendencies. Much will be lost, something will be gained. Just how girls will adjust themselves to the complicated situation who can prophecy? My own forecast is that they will gradually withdraw from a disproportionate place in the business world. Their competition with each other will make it less lucrative. They have never been profiteers or fortune builders. I look for rather less interest in suffrage and "movements." The simplified home will become tempting. Conditions of marriage may be more reasonable.

The problem will be a real one. The sex that has been living a complicated life will have more complexities to solve. The sex that was, according to some, losing, and according to others, finding its soul, will be asked to save others. For we shall need a new world of poise. Happiness is going to become a more difficult, a more anxious science. Whatever woman can or cannot give, she is, so far as the world knows, the only one who holds the secret of heart's ease.

Man has been the fighter, the explorer, the inventor. Woman has been the conservator. While he has gone forth to new worlds and new conquests, she has stayed at home and tended the light on the altar.

OPEN AND CLOSE

Earlier—Dry Good Merchants Announce Changes.

On and after October 14th the firms whose names are printed below will not open their places of business until 9.00 in the morning and will close at 5.30 in the afternoon. This new order will be for the purpose of trying to save as much coal and electricity as possible and is being done at the request of the conservation section of the War Industries Board. The merchants feel that there will be but little business before 9.00 in the morning especially during the winter months and that because of the shortness of the days 5.30 brings on darkness in the afternoon and for the purpose of trying to aid the government in the conservation of fuel and power to the very limit, these firms have decided on this new arrangement.

It is hoped that their customers will take notice of these new opening and closing hours and that they will, to the best of their ability, adjust their trading to suit these new hours. These new opening and closing hours do not apply on Saturday. The names of the firms are as follows: J. E. SHOCKLEY CO. R. E. POWELL & CO. BENJAMIN'S. M. T. HECKROTH. LEEDS & TWILLEY.

TO ISSUE $100,000 OF SEVEN PER CENT PREFERRED STOCK Farmers & Planters Co., Of This City, Preparing For Increased Business.

The directors of the Farmers & Planters Company of this city have authorized the issuing of $100,000 of preferred capital stock of the par value of $100 each. This stock is accumulative and redeemable at the option of the company at any dividend period after twelve months after its issuance. The company has a common stock capital of $100,000 and the resolution to issue the $100,000 of preferred stock was to provide more working capital for the company.

Since its first organization under the present management business has grown to such large proportion and the cost of raw materials have so greatly advanced as to make it undesirable to try to continue business on the old capitalization. This preferred stock will be offered first to the common share holders and all that is not absorbed by them will be offered to farmers and others who might be interested in the success of the business. This concern has been carrying on an enormous business for the past several years and its sales of fertilizer and fertilizer material, as well as coal and farming implements, have grown month by month, until the business has increased many fold since the present owners took over the concern. The new stock will be seven per cent, accumulative, and is considered a very good investment for any one desiring this class of securities.

Mr. W. P. Ward, general manager, says that his corporation is contemplating making some improvements in the very near future which will increase the capacity of their business very much.

SENATOR MOORE DEAD

Served Sixteen Years in State Senate From Worcester.

Mr. John P. Moore, former State Senator from Worcester county, died at his home in Snow Hill about noon last Tuesday. He retired from business about four years ago when his health failed and his death is the culmination of a long illness from heart disease.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Mr. John P. Moore Jr., of Snow Hill and Mrs. William R. Bishop and Mrs. Samuel K. Dennis of Baltimore. Funeral services were held at his late home in Snow Hill Thursday afternoon.

For a long period John Purnell Moore was one of the most prominent men in the Democratic councils. As one of the closest friends of Senator John Walter Smith and his business partner he went through numerous heated campaigns on the Eastern Shore. When Senator Smith was elected to Congress in 1898, the seat he vacated in the State Senate from Worcester county was taken by Mr. Moore. He was renominated by acclamation in 1901 while abroad at the bedside of his son, John P. Moore, Jr., who was critically ill in Paris. He carried Worcester county by a plurality of more than 1100 over his opponent, who was endorsed by both the Republican and Prohibition parties. He served in the Senate as chairman of the Committee on Corporations, as chairman of the Committee on Executive Appointments during Governor Smith's administration, as well as serving on several other important committees. In 1893 he was elected the first Mayor of Snow Hill, which office he held for three successive terms. For a number of years he was chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Worcester county. He served on the staff of Governor Smith with the rank of colonel. He was born in Snow Hill 62 years ago.

TO-DAY IS LIBERTY DAY

Appropriate Observance Will Be To Buy Fifty Bonds. By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION: Every day the great principles for which we are fighting take fresh hold upon our thought and purpose and make it clearer what the end must be and what we must do to achieve it. We now know more certainly than we ever knew before why free men brought the great Nation and Government we love into existence, because it grows clearer and clearer what supreme service it is to be America's privilege to render to the world. The anniversary of the discovery of America must, therefore, have for us in this fateful year a peculiar and thrilling significance. We should make it a day of ardent re-dedication to the ideals upon which our Government is founded and by which our present heroic tasks are inspired.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, do appoint Saturday, the twelfth day of October, 1918, as Liberty Day. On that day I request the citizens of every community of the United States, city, town, and countryside, to celebrate the discovery of our country in order to stimulate a generous response to the Fourth Liberty Loan. Commemorative addresses, pageants, harvest home festivals, other demonstrations should be arranged for in every neighborhood under the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan Committee, in co-operation with the United States Bureau of Education and the public school authorities. Let the people's response to the Fourth Liberty Loan express the measure of their devotion to the ideals which have guided the country from its discovery until now, and of their determined purpose to defend them and guarantee their triumph.

For the purpose of participating in Liberty Day celebrations all employees of the Federal Government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused on Saturday, the twelfth day of October, the entire day.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done in the District of Columbia this 19th day of September, in the year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Eighteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the One Hundred and Forty-third.

(Seal) WOODROW WILSON. By the President, ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State.

As Light Goes Through Glass

Just as light rays penetrate through glass, so current passes freely through Threaded Rubber Insulation. Nearly 200,000 tiny threads in each insulator mark the path for the current flow. The hard rubber stands guard against the formation of short circuits between battery plates.

There's another reason why the Still Better Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation is worth so much more than its slightly higher cost. It's the one and only battery with the "Bone Dry" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC SITUATION BETTER

FEW NEW CASES BEING REPORTED.—CONDITIONS RETURNING TO NORMAL

The Spanish Influenza which has been raging in this city for the past two weeks has spent its forces and the situation here shows marked improvement. There are but a few new cases being reported, most of these among the colored population which was not struck at first as hard as was the white.

There are still a large number sick and some badly in need of the closest care and attention, but these are for the most part cases, which had been previously reported and who have not yet recovered from the disease.

The epidemic has exacted a heavy toll out of this community and has spared neither the rich or poor, strong or weak, and this community has been called upon for some of its best and most useful citizens.

Conditions here last week were such as the people here never had been called upon to meet before, and let it be hoped that they will never again have to face such again. With the sick numbering well up towards the thousand mark, the doctors had their hands full and though heroically giving all their time both night and day, were unable to see all who needed attention.

Nurses were scarce and many a family had to do the best it could without a doctor or nurse and many a time with every member of the household sick.

The ladies of the Red Cross and others nobly came to the rescue and did all they could to relieve the situation.

The news that the epidemic is under control and has now reached the point where it is no longer a menace to the community is happy news to all.

It is not to be forgotten however that our people must exercise the greatest care for a while yet, and those who are getting better of the disease should be careful not to go out too early.

WILSON MAKES IT CLEAR TO GERMANY

THAT COMPLETE AND UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER IS THE ONLY TERMS POSSIBLE

President Wilson in his last message to Germany makes it clear that if they want peace they can get it only by a full and complete compliance with the terms and conditions of the Allies.

He takes occasion to give them a scathing rebuke for their brutal and inhuman methods of warfare, and makes it plain that peace will never be declared as long as any one man has it in his power to again plunge the world into another bloody fight.

In other words the form of the government in Germany which now gives the Kaiser to decide for war and peace without consulting any body of men representing the people, must be changed.

There have been many rumors that Germany on the receipt of this message had decided to unconditionally surrender, but such rumors lack confirmation, and up to date there is nothing to evidence even the drafting of another note to the President from Germany.

Text Of President Wilson's Reply To German Autocracy

The text of America's answer follows:

"Sir: In reply to the communication of the German Government dated the 12th instant, which you handed me today, I have the honor to request you to transmit the following answer:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German Government and by a large majority of the Reichstag of the terms laid down by the President of the United States of America in his address to the Congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and in his subsequent addresses, justifies the President in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German Government of the 8th and 12th of October, 1918.

"It must be clearly understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the Government of the United States and the Allied Governments, and the President feels it his duty to say that no arrangement can be accepted by the Government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and guarantees of the maintenance of the present military supremacy of the armies of the United States and the Allies in the field.

MUST STOP CRIMES.

"He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgement and decision of the Allied Governments.

"The President feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the Government of the United States nor, he is quite sure, the Governments with which the Government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhumane practices which they still persist in.

"At the very time that the German Government approaches the Government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea and not the ships alone but the very boats in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety; and in their present enforced withdrawal from Flanders and France the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare. Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped not only of all they contain but often of their very inhabitants.

"The nations associated against Germany cannot be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity, spoliation and desolation are being continued which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

THE NATION'S CHOICE.

"It is necessary also in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding that the President should very solemnly call the attention of the Government of Germany to the language and plain intent of one of the terms of peace which the German Government has now accepted. It is contained in the address of the President delivered at Mount Vernon on the Fourth of July last.

"It is as follows:

"The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly, and of its single choice, disturb the peace of the world; or, if it cannot be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency."

"The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The President's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace, if peace is to come by the action of the German people themselves. The President feels bound to say that the whole process of peace will, in his judgement, depend upon the definiteness and the satisfactory character of the guarantee which can be given in this fundamental matter. It is indispensable that the Governments associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The President will make a separate reply to the royal and Imperial Government of Austria-Hungary.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration. (Signed) "ROBERT LANSING."

"Mr. Frederick Oederlin, Charge d'Affaires, ad interim, in charge of German interests in the United States."

YANKEE PRISONERS ESCAPE

A Number Break Out Of German Prison Camps.

Berne (via Paris), October 15.—A great concerted "breakout" of American prisoners from the German prison camp at Villingen occurred on Sunday. Altogether 70 American prisoners are reported to have escaped.

Three men have reached Switzerland. They are:

Harold Willis, an aviator, of Boston, Mass., captured at Verdun in August, 1917; Edouard Isaacs, of Portsmouth, Va., a lieutenant of the United States transport President Lincoln, torpedoed off the French Coast last May, and George Puryear, of Memphis, Tenn.

Willis and Isaacs escaped Sunday and Puryear got away Saturday.

A GERMAN PROPOSAL

Wants France To Refrain From Bombarding French Towns.

The German government has proposed to France that, in common with her Allies, France undertake to refrain from bombarding the large towns of Northern France and enter into an agreement with Germany to permit, at any rate, a portion of the population of Valenciennes to pass into the French lines, says an official statement from Berlin.

The Berlin government in making this proposal represented itself as unable to prevent the eastward flight of the population of Valenciennes, owing to their fears that the Allies would bombard the towns. The proposal was made through the Swiss government.

Allies Are Fighting Their Way To Victory

ENCOURAGING REPORTS

Of American-Built Machines At Front—Great Demand For Liberty Motors.

An agreement under which the aircraft resources of the Allied countries and the United States are to be developed in carrying out a joint program was arrived at during the visit to England and France of Assistant Secretary John D. Ryan, head of the army aircraft division. Details of the plan necessarily may not be disclosed, but Mr. Ryan said today it contemplated joint efforts both in aircraft production and in the operation of the machines in battle.

So far as the operation of the machines is concerned, he explained that the supreme commander, Marshal Foch, and the field commanders, Generals Pertain, Haig and Pershing, will continue to control the air fleets, as they controlled every other element of the armies under their command.

The agreement, in the form of an understanding reached in a series of conferences between Mr. Ryan and his aides and the French and British air ministers and directors of munitions, contemplates that each country shall use its production resources to the limit in the lines along which it is best equipped to work and that the fighting forces of all three air services shall be supplied out of this production, so that there will be no delay on the part of any one of the three in contributing its share to the building of a great air navy.

The air supremacy of the Allies is already unquestioned, Mr. Ryan said, but without co-ordinated efforts and co-ordinated command the centralized German air fleet might be concentrated against American, French or British squadrons in overwhelming numbers for any short period.

Mr. Ryan brought back encouraging reports as to the service of American-built aircraft at the front. He personally interviewed commanders of the American squadrons both before and after the battles of St. Mihiel and Argonne and also talked with the pilots. Without exception, he said, where several machines for transport are available the pilots select the De Havilland machine with the Liberty motor built in the United States, as the machine in which they prefer to fight. Its performance in action has been fully demonstrated.

As to the Liberty motors, Mr. Ryan said, his chief difficulty with the French and British air authorities was to keep their demands for these machines within the limits of the possibility of producing them. The British particularly have now a considerable number of machines of their own manufacture, equipped with American-made Liberty motors, in action at the front.

On The Western Front.—Not Waiting For Peace.

No matter what attention the people home have been giving to the rumors of peace, General Foch has not paid any attention to them. He has been sending his men against place after place, driving the enemy back and back until he has forced them out of their strongholds and made them take to the open.

There is no place for the Germans to stop and unless winter intervenes and forces a lull in the fighting, it looks as though France will be entirely clear of the Hun invaders.

In Flanders, in the section around Chamberai, Douai, and in the South around La Fere the Germans have been forced to give way, and all these strong places as well as Lille are now in the hands of the Allies. The American forces have been fighting side by side with the French and English, doing their full part towards forcing the Germans back. General Pershing Troops in the Metz sector have been steadily advancing, against the most determined opposition.

Everywhere from the North to the South the German army has been forced to give ground. General Foch and his armies are bringing peace nearer each day, and the time will come sooner or later when he can dictate his own terms to the military leaders of the Kaiser.

Our people should take a lesson from General Foch and the gallant men who are fighting in France. There has been no let up there. There has been no dodging of responsibility; no shirking of work; no attempt to escape personal danger. It is not a question of letting some one else do it. It is give me the chance. Every officer and every man is willing and eager to do his part though it cost him his life. They are heroes one and all—heroes and patriots.

Don't some of the people at home look little and mean when compared to these—the people at home who are not doing or even trying to do their part?

Those who to-day for instance, are holding back their subscriptions from the Liberty bond issue, or trying to find out how little they can get off with instead of how much they give:

gunners were doing much to break down the German resistance.

Washington, October 15.—American troops north of Verdun are operating against strong enemy positions and have passed the towns of Canel and Romagne, General Pershing reported today under date of yesterday. The dispatch follows:

"This morning American troops resumed the advance. North of Verdun they are now operating against positions of greatest strategic value and natural strength. Today we passed beyond the towns of Canel and Romagne. We have patrols in the Bois de Bantheville, and our attacking line has penetrated the positions of St. Georges and Landres-et-St. George. About 750 prisoners have been reported."

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Ostend, long a the effect that Zeebrugge, which is fourteen miles northeast of Ostend, already has been evacuated by the Germans.

The German second line in Belgium has been broken, according to dispatches from the front. Allied cavalry are reported to have advanced some nine miles thru the breach in this line.

Second American Army In The Game

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, October 15.—Units of the Second American Army, which began operations October 12 under command of Major General Robert L. Bullard, today repulsed a German raid on their positions.

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, October 15.—(Noon).—Tanks were brought into action by the Americans today to break a way through the enemy wire entanglements west of Romagne.

Despite German resistance the progress of the Americans' early reports said was satisfactory today.

The Germans apparently were ready to contest the ground as stubbornly as they did yesterday. The enemy artillery was being used freely to hold the Americans, but the Yankee

NORMAN C. WILLIAMS

Another Prominent Business Man Succumbs To Pneumonia.

The untimely death of another young business man, Norman C. Williams, has cast a gloom over the entire community.

Mr. Williams died Friday of pneumonia following an attack of "Flu," after an illness of only a few days. This death, too, has cast a gloom over this entire city, as Mr. Williams was one of our most progressive young business men and had before him a bright future.

About two years ago Mr. Williams and Mr. John Smith purchased the Salisbury Marine Railway, and at once began a rehabilitation of the property. The declaration of war, bringing with it a great government demand for boats, this firm secured a contract for the construction of 14 large floats and completed the contract within the specified time. So satisfactory was the work that, on the completion of this contract, the Smith & Williams Co. was awarded the contract for the construction of five large tugs for the government service amounting to about $500,000 and active preparations were being made to begin this work when Mr. Williams was stricken with a fatal illness. We are informed, however, that the death of the junior member of the firm will not interfere with the program of the work, which will be under the supervision of Mr. Smith, who is a practical shipbuilder.

Mr. Williams was about 32 years of age, a son of Mr. Alonzo L. Williams, one of the prominent farmers of Rockwalkin neighborhood. Surviving the deceased are his parents; and a widow. Deceased was a member of Asbury M. E. Church and was prominently identified with church affairs. There is universal sorrow at his death, as it means the taking away of one of our most progressive young business men and a very useful citizen.

Community Kitchen Closes Its Work At High School

As there are no new cases of Flu at present that need such strenuous work by the Ladies of the First Aid as they have been doing for nearly two weeks, in cooking and serving, practically helpless families, they have closed up the kitchen for the present.

All reported to be able to care for themselves.

In that time about one hundred homes, in some cases, whole families sick, have been visited, averaging twenty five families daily.

The Jackson Memorial Building has discharged all their cases but two, who are much improved, only one death reported.

The force of nurses at the Peninsula General Hospital, which was quite crippled from Flu, for a while, are recovering.

Of the ladies in the Nurses Training Class only two developed influenza, those are Mrs. Wm. Cooper who is much better, and Miss Louise Tilghman, who is critically ill with pneumonia at this time. She no doubt did not give up her work until compelled to, and lessens very much her chances of fighting this terrible disease.

Death Of Albert Asbell

Another death of a popular young man aged 26 years occurred in Salisbury last Saturday night, when Mr. Albert Asbell, died after several days sickness, first with the Influenza, which turned into pneumonia and hurriedly caused the young man's death. Mr. Asbell came to this city about two years ago, and since here married Miss Oda Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Purnell Ellis. The young man had identified himself with the I. O. F. Band of this City, with whom he was a drummer of fine ability; and the young man was always ready with the other members of that organization to furnish music to any worthy cause in this city for charity, and especially the Liberty Loan Committee, whenever called upon. "Al" as he was popularly known, was a first class young man, and liked by everybody. He was a member of the local Home Guard Company I. and was popular with all his comrades. He was also a member of the Modern Woodman. He leaves a wife, and a mother Mrs. Emma Asbell, who is a resident of New Hampshire.

The young man was buried in Parsons Cemetery on Monday afternoon.

Mr. Russell White who has been attending the Charlotte Hall School, St. Mary's County is home on a visit to his mother Mrs. K. V. White, of Powellville, all the opening up of the school.

Ethel Stauffer Sheppard

Some of our most useful and best loved men and women have fallen victims during the past few weeks to Spanish Influenza and its complications; Among those who will be sadly missed is Mrs. Ethel Stauffer Sheppard, the wife of Mr. Wm. A. Sheppard, who died at her home on bella St. Monday morning.

Mrs. Sheppard had not been in the most robust health for some time and was among the first to contract the Influenza here, which afterwards turned into pneumonia of which she died. Young and happy, the deceased had everything to live for and made a hard and gallant fight against the ravages of the dread disease which so quickly sapping her life away taking her from the arms of the one she loved so well; she was brave to the last and one hour before her death she was as cheerful and seemed so cheerful that physicians in attendance and her family felt hopeful of her recovery.

She was deceased was thirty four years of age and a member of a prominent Merick County family, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sheppard of Walkersville, Md.

Eight years ago, the deceased married Mr. Wm. A. Sheppard, a member of W. E. Sheppard & Co., of this city; after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard made their home here, where the bride soon made for herself a host of friends.

She was a member of the Bethesda M. E. Church, where she was active in Sunday School and other church work. Besides a general and patriotic interest, the war and all its activities in the field and at home had a direct and personal appeal to the deceased, as she had two brothers who are now serving with the A. E. F. in France.

Mrs. Sheppard was of a gentle and kindly disposition and was always ready to do her part in any cause that came up, and believed in lending a helping hand to others when in need of comfort or assistance.

She possessed in an unusual degree that highest gift of woman—highest because it confers the greatest happiness upon those she loves—the power to make the place she lived in a home. The family circle of which she was the central and leading spirit will sadly miss her.

Besides her immediate family, her mother Mrs. J. H. Stauffer and her sister Miss Helena Stauffer were with her at the time of her death.

The deceased is survived by her husband Mr. Wm. A. Sheppard, her little son "Billie" a lad of four years of age, her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Stauffer of Walkersville, Md., two sisters Miss Helena Stauffer of Walkersville, and Mrs. Price wife of Dr. Price, Washington, D. C., and four brothers Messrs. Nelson, Walter, Ward and John Stauffer, the last two named being with the A. E. F. forces in France.

The funeral services were held at her late home on Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ward.

The pall bearers Messrs. E. Dale Adkins, F. P. Adkins, Harry Adkins, Walter Sheppard, Walter Stauffer and Edgar Laws.

The remains were interred in Parsons Cemetery.

She came from Camp Meade on the death of Private Wm. Stauffer, of this city. Deceased was a member of Company I, 71st Infantry, and her body was brought here

WM. JACKSON HUSTON

Dies In France.—Son Of Mr. And Mrs. Geo. T. Huston.

Sad news reached the Huston home last Saturday afternoon, when a cablegram was received from France with the sad intelligence of the death of their oldest son William J. Huston, who died of pneumonia of Sept. 25th, somewhere in France.

William was the first of three sons to enter the service, leaving Salisbury last spring with a few others sent to special training schools.

From his letters, he has taken a very great interest and pleasure in every phase of soldiers life, and they were brimming over with things he would like to tell, but often checked himself by saying he would wait till he came home.

God has taken him across the "Great Divide," to await their coming.

He was a member of the Trinity M. E. Church, and lent his services to any department of church work wherever needed, he was especially faithful in singing and playing. And no doubt he carried this spirit of christian helpfulness into his duties for his country, for he spoke of the happiness and cheer the Y. M. C. A. brought to him, of which organization he had nothing but the highest praise.

Though like many others who were not at the battle's front he died at his post of duty for his country.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community, especially the devoted mother whose sweet motherly influence has held the love and respect of her children in a remarkable degree and kept them very closely around her, till their country called.

Besides the parents there are five brothers surviving. Marion A. Huston formerly City Clerk, and now in his country's service at Camp Humphreys, Va., Elmer T. Huston, at Ft. Benj. Harrison, Indiana. Robert F. Huston, Allen Huston and Reginald Huston, of Salisbury.

QUESTIONNAIRES FOR OLDER CLASS SOON

About Ready For Youths Of 18 Years, Too.

Classification by local boards of men of the new draft regulation has been so rapid that questionnaires soon will be sent to youths of 18 and men between 37 and 46 years of age.

Though required to register on September 13, no action has been taken as to these classes because of the intention to defer calling them for service until all other available material had been exhausted, and local boards were ordered not to send them questionnaires. With their enrollment, the work described by Provost Marshal General Crowder as "the classification of the United States" will be complete.

Wilie Freeny

Death has twice visited the home of Mr. A. F. Freeny, a well known farmer near Salisbury, taking his only son Wilie, Oct 11th, who dies from Spanish Influenza. He had just passed his twenty first birthday.

His death closely followed that of his sister Miss Pearl Freeny, which occurred a few weeks ago.

Besides the father, there is one sister surviving, Miss Annie May Freeny.

Stunning New Suits For Fall and Winter

This display of new fall and winter suits, appealing alike to your taste and to your purse, is by all odds one of the most interesting we have ever yet offered.

The most charming of the season's accepted styles are here. The best materials were used in their making, and they were made by expert tailors. Suits like these are sure to be popular, especially when their prices are so affordable.

$25.00 up to $85.00

Fur Trimmed Coats are Extremely Popular

In spite of the costliness of good furs, they have been extensively used as trimmings for the better fall and winter coats. We have many smart and becoming models, made of velours, bolivias, and silvertones, with fur collar and cuffs which add immeasurably to their distinctiveness. With most of these coats a fur scarf is unnecessary; thus they are really an economy.

A variety of styles from which any woman can make a satisfactory choice at a price that will please.

How You Can Shell the Huns

One of the worst of the Huns' devices was poison gas. Its first use was against French colonial troops at Langemark, and they fled shrieking that the devil was after them. Less superstitious Canadians peached the broken line, but as many fell victims to tuberculosis as the Hun bullets brought down. Quickly, Allied chemists got to work on an antidote and found it in nut shells.

From these and from fruit pits is manufactured the charcoal which is used in conjunction with gas masks. As long as the supply of these defensive shells keeps up the Hun is baffled.

For that reason, the Food Administration has issued a mobilization order for all the hickory, walnut and Brazil shells that America can provide. The hotels are showing the way, as in many other conservation schemes. Many are not only saving in their own kitchens, but are providing receptacles into which the general public are invited to deposit these contributions. Keep a box in your home and collect all the shells you can. Remove all the meat of the nut, see that the shell is dry and then when your box is full add its contents to the pile at the nearest "mobilization point."

Dates and figs are high in sugar value. Apricots, apples and peaches will not be so expensive, but they too are agreeably sugary.

POTATOES. The best part of the potato lies next to the skin, and even thin peeling wastes three to four ounces in every pound, declares the Potato Bulletin issued by the British Ministry of Food. Potatoes should therefore (except for such dishes as Irish stew) always be peeled in their skins. If baked in their jackets a layer of the best potato oil is to the skin and is usually wasted.

One idea of a model husband is one who would rather get his breakfast in the garden than try to coax his wife into the kitchen.

Maybe you also have wondered why the lawyers named it alimony when they had just as good a chance to call it punitive damages.

One reason why a girl can't rest peacefully in a hammock is because she is always wondering how she would look if it spilled her.

One observation is that after a woman has had a good shave it is almost impossible for her to single herself back into an area of the dress that Biliousness is a common form of indigestion. It is brought on by food-waste which the stomach, intestines and bowels fail to expel. Out in places two inches square, remove seeds and stringy portion, place in a dripping pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and allow each square one-half teaspoonful of molasses or sorghum and one-half teaspoonful of melted butter or butter substitute. Bake 30 minutes or until soft, in a moderate oven, keeping covered the first half-hour of cooking. Serve in the shell.

HOW TO SALT VEGETABLES.

The U. S. Food Administration is urging that vegetables be kept by the "salting" method. Here is the way to handle green tomatoes: Choose well developed green tomatoes, wash them, pack them in a container, cover them with a ten per cent brine, place a layer of sharp leaves on the top and weight the tomatoes down under the brine. Green tomatoes similarly prepared and packed in salt vinegar solution the same as that used for peppers are good for salads and relishes.

Cottontail oil or melted paraffine poured over the surface of the brine to form a layer sufficiently thick to make a seal will prevent the growth of mold, and aid in checking rapid evaporation of the liquid. The surface of the brine should not be covered, however, until a bubbling has ceased which may be a week after the vegetables are packed. The container should be stored in a cool place and examined once or twice a week for several weeks.

DO NOT GET FOOLED.

The week has been full of reports and rumors most of which indicated the crumbling of the power of the German Empire and some asserting that she had already collapsed and had unconditionally surrendered.

The Liberty Loan Campaign now going on must not be a failure. A failure now would bolster up Germany's hopes and make her determined to carry on the war, for such a failure would be attributed by her as a weakening on the part of America.

This is no time to hang back and await results, it is the time to come forward and do our part, and do it to the utmost limit. All of the Liberty Bond issues have been necessary and important, but upon this one depends the length and duration of the war.

Presidents Wilson's latest declaration that the war must go on until German autocracy is wiped from the earth has aroused renewed hopes among Rumanian leaders.

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince The Most Skeptical Salisbury Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action. The following case is typical. Salisbury residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. Mrs. Wm. E. Wells, 410 Martin St., Salisbury, gave the following statement in January 1909: "I was weak and everything I did was a burden."

On July 20, 1916, Mrs. Wells said: "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly as ever. Whenever I have the least trouble with my back, I take Doan's and get relief. I buy this medicine at White & Leonard's Drug Store and find no praise too strong for it."

RUMANIA WANTS TO FIGHT THE HUNS

Has No Love For Germany—Would Soon Bring Austria To Her Knees.

Rumania wishes to re-enter the war against Germany. She will do so if: 1. President Wilson declares for recovery of Transylvania and other unredeemed provinces peopled by Rumanians.

This is the situation as outlined to the United Press today by a well-informed authority.

Bulgaria's collapse, the virtual elimination of Turkey from the war and the weakening of Austria-Hungary have encouraged Rumania to renew the struggle which she was forced to cut short when the Germans pressed the Allies in the west and forced Russia out of the war.

ALLIED AID AVAILABLE. Allied military aid will be available through the advance in the Balkans toward the Danube, military experts say.

Anti-German demonstrations are breaking out everywhere in Queen Marie's kingdom, according to reports reaching here. German officers have been stoned on several occasions.

Under President Wilson's 14 principles millions of Rumanians now held in subjection by Austria-Hungary in Transylvania, Banat and Bukovina should be freed, diplomats here declare.

But Rumania is awaiting an open and specific declaration from the United States that her claims to these provinces are indorsed.

Rumania's resumption of the war against the Central Powers would facilitate the reconstruction of the eastern front. It would open the way for an Allied attack along the eastern frontier of Austria-Hungary and for penetration of Russia by the southern route.

The Black Sea operations would be aided with the Rumanian port of Constantza in Allied hands, and if the Dardanelles passes into Allied control soon, the enemy naval force here will be wiped out.

Speedy collapse of Austria would result from a united offensive conducted from Rumanian and Serbian soil diplomats believe.

A letter from Sergeant J. H. Robertson to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wirt Robertson, of Hazel Ave., this city, gives them the information that he received a promotion on his 19th birthday from corporal to sergeant. He is stationed at Tampa, Florida, and a member of Co. A, 17th Bat., U. S. A., and has won his two non-commissioned promotions by attending strictly to his duties and proving himself in every way a model soldier.

Postponed on account of the epidemic, the state Sunday school convention which was to have met in Roland Park on Tuesday, October 15, will instead be held on Wednesday and Thursday, November 6 and 7, if conditions by that time are substantially improved. Several hundred delegates from all parts of the state were expected, and a notable program had been prepared, part of which it is hoped to give at the later date named.

Death Of William Dorman

Another death that has caused general sorrow is that of William Dorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dorman, who died last Friday afternoon at their home on High Street.

The young man was only 26 years of age, was doing government work at Edgewood Arsenal, Magnolia, when he was stricken with spanish influenza. Coming home on Thursday of last week, he developed pneumonia and despite the very best nursing that skill and devoted relatives could give, he steadily grew worse, until the end came.

He had a large circle of friends who will miss him, and general sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dorman, and two brothers Claud C. Dorman of Baltimore and George Dorman of Salisbury.

Funeral services were held Monday morning, at 11 o'clock at the home, by Rev. Dr. Cone. Interment was made in Parsons Cemetery.

Beautiful flowers in every design were sent by loving friends, in testimony of their esteem.

Benj. Coulter Disharoon

The Evening Ledger of Philadelphia contained the notice of the death of Benjamin Coulter Disharoon, who died of influenza Wednesday of last week, and was brought to Salisbury for burial.

Young Disharoon was a senior in the University of Pennsylvania. Six of his friends, from the naval reserve, in which he enlisted last spring, accompanied their dead comrade as far as the station.

Owing to Dr. Drusen's orders there was no funeral services at the home 1249 S. 53d Street.

A brother is at an officers' training school in France. Disharoon was graduated from Central High School in 1915 with high honors, also winning the French prize given by that school. At the University his record was even more brilliant. Disharoon was president of the Alpha Phi Delta Fraternity and of the Naturalist Field Club of the University and a member of an informal club, the Inkspillers' Literary Society. He was prominent in the Masque of the American Drama and in the Cercle Francais.

(Deceased was a son of T. Lee Disharoon, who was born and reared near Allen, Wicomico county. The young man's mother was a daughter of the late John W. Laws of this county. He was a nephew of William Laws, a conductor on the B. C. & A. Railway, who was compelled to take a caasket from Salisbury to Philadelphia Sunday afternoon, because it was impossible to secure a caasket in that city. Mr. Laws returned to Salisbury with the remains on the express Monday afternoon, when the remains were taken to Parsons Cemetery and interred.—Editors News.)

One Of The Survivors Return To Verzeny, Scene Of Their First Battle.

With the the French Army in Champagne.—A survivor of the American contingent which joined the French Foreign Legion at the outbreak of the war, came back today to the village of Verzeny to pay his respects to the scene where the Americans received their baptism of fire more than three years ago. Verzeny lies among the vineyards on the western slope of the mountain of Rheims, and was destroyed by the Germans in rage after their defeat in the second battle of the Marne.

There were 16 of the American volunteers who first came under the enemy fire at Verzeny, and eight of them have since died for France. Most of the others have been wounded and some are still serving in the Flying Corps or as officers in the French and American armies.

The Americans who fought here long before their country entered the lists included Alan Seeger, of New York, the poet of the Foreign Legion, who was afterwards killed in battle; Edward Stone, the first American to meet death in battle with the Germans, also was here, as were the Rockwell brothers, of Ashville, N. C. Paul Rockwell was wounded at Berry au Bac, and Kiffin wounded at Arras, was transferred to the Flying Corps and was one of the best-known American aviators when he met his death in an aerial battle.

Others were Kenneth Weeks, of Cambridge, Mass., since killed; Dennis Dowd, of Brooklyn, also killed; Charles Trinkard, of New York, killed in an air battle Thanksgiving Day, 1917; Paul Pavelka, who won several air battles in France and was the first American killed on the Saloniki front; Russell Keely, of New York, killed at Arras, and Frederick Cadeville, of New York, recently killed while leading his company in a charge in Champagne.

Among the survivors of the contingent which fought at Verzeny are William Thaw, of Pittsburgh, now a major; Frederick Zinn, in charge of operations of an American aviation group; Lawrence Scanlan, of Cedarhurst, N. J., crippled at Arras; Jack Casey, of San Francisco, wounded in Champagne; Lincoln Chatkoff, of Brooklyn, since seriously wounded while flying for France, and Frank Musgrave, the first American to be taken prisoner by the Germans, having been captured at Verdun.

All but six of the 2,200 inhabitants of Verzeny were driven away by the furious bombardment, which commenced immediately after the French and Americans began their successful attack on the Chateau-Thierry sector. All the damage to the town was done after July 15. Before that the Germans had spared the town while shelling the vineyard workers who braved the enemy's shrapnel to cultivate their vines. The population of Verzeny tonight was increased to 36 by the return of 30 peasants to pick the grapes that grew on the shell-beaten slopes in spite of all.

The above poster, the first to reach this country, was brought back from Paris by Miss Irene H. Armes, who for the past six months, has been hostess at the Y. W. C. A. Hotel Petrograd in Paris. It is one of the thousands of posters used to announce the Allied Women's Congress held in Paris last month and has particular significance for Americans because of the "victory drive" in the St. Mihiel salient, which brought the Yankees to within a few miles of the German fortress of Metz.

American artist, set a new Yankee record for speed in designing this poster. She received the order on Friday. The posters began to appear on the boulevards of Paris on Monday. Twenty-five hundred women, every one in uniform, representing every Allied Nation now fighting, were present at this congress, the largest ever held by the women of the Warring Nations. One hundred and eighty organizations were represented. The Y. W. C. A. was the American Organization asked to underwrite the budget for the Congress.

MEDICINE OF THE LONG AGO

Ancient Papyrus Shows that the Art of Healing Has for Centuries Been Well Recognized.

The most ancient medical work now existing is the Ebers papyrus, secured in 1873 by Prof. George Ebers from a native of Luxor, in Upper Egypt. It is generally assumed that it was written about 1550 B. C., but refers in some sections to methods and medicines prescribed as far back as 3700 B. C., 5,612 years ago. Among the 108 sections or chapters of this papyrus, chapter 103 begins:

"Beginning of the book about the vexed in all the members of a person, such as was found in a writing under the feet of the god Anubis, in the city of Letopolis; it was brought to his majesty, Usaphals, king of Upper and Lower Egypt." Usaphals is said to have been the fifth king of the first dynasty, reigning about 3700 B. C., and it is hard to say how long previous to this finding the sage had lived who first compiled the chapter or used the cures recorded.

Page 72 contains three dental prescriptions "against the throbbing of the benent blisters in the teeth" and "to strengthen the flesh" (gums), and is supposed to refer to the small abscesses known as gumboils.

The first, a poultice, consisted of equal parts of "sept-grains" dough, honey and oil; the second, a mass to be chewed, equal parts of fennel seed, dough, anise plant, honey, incense and water; and a third, also to be chewed, has no less than eleven parts of "dam plant," anise plant, incense, am-a-plant, man plant, saffron, also wood, anise plant, cyperus, onion and water.

Another chapter contains eleven dental recipes, some to be chewed, others to be rubbed on the teeth or applied as a paste, and on another page among remedies for various skin diseases there are three prescriptions for diseases of the teeth, but there are no special references to any branch of dental surgery.

THE KITCHEN FLAG

Have you tried a kitchen flag as a method of solving your domestic problems? O'ld Glory is flying over head promising a world "safe for democracy," and a very clever woman has discovered that it will make a kitchen a peaceful, beautiful place where the workers dwell together of brotherly and sisterly love.

The clever woman is Miss Mary Kate O'Bryon, who has charge of the cafeteria and kitchen at the Hostess House of the Young Women's Christian Association at Camp Meade. The Flag is a beautiful big bit of silk given her by a friend in her own home town, Uniontown, Pa., Thomas Beard Shankel, and it is suspended above the folding doors leading from the kitchen into the cafeteria.

"It is a splendid peace preserver," explains Miss O'Bryon, looking lovingly at the Stars and Stripes, "as it is a continual reminder of what we Americans are trying to do and what we are trying to be. Of course, occasionally some of us lose—or at least mislay—our tempers, and the result is a slight verbal flare up. But just as soon as that happens we are quickly reminded by the innocent bystanders."

"Remember, we are fighting the Germans—let's keep all our ammunition for them," and blessed peace is restored. Recently we were asked to lend a Flag for one of the officer's mess, and as the kitchen Flag was the largest and best looking one in the place, it was loaned."

As Miss O'Bryon often has as many as twenty to twenty-five helpers in her kitchen she has a special reason to love the Stars and Stripes.

As evidence of the splendid work being done by the Y. W. C. A. War Work Council, which has put its immense resources at the service of the War Department Commission on Training Camp Activities, in the work of which Marylanders are intensely interested, it is reported that 91 Hostess Houses are being maintained in army navy and aviation camps.

The Hostess House is one of the greatest influences for good that can be found. It is the place where, with all the little refinement of the home, soldiers in training may visit with their wives, their children, their mothers and their sweethearts without bringing them in contact with the masculine element.

Scores of girls from this country, some of them from Maryland, tend the wires of the United States Signal Corps in France. Hostess Houses are being built for them.

Ninety-three Girls' Club and Recreation Centers, under the supervision of the Y. W. C. A. are making men in uniform welcome to home-like social events. This is also a great work, for many of the men in Maryland camps come from distant states and there are usually many who welcome someone to cheer them. For they have left girls behind them.

When an electrician makes a mistake, he blames it on induction—no body knows what that is.

When a lawyer makes a mistake, it's just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

DAIRY FACTS

DAIRY PRODUCTS IN DEMAND

Essential to Well-Being of Nation and Effort Should Be Made to Maintain Supply.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The shifting demands due to the war have called for important changes in the dairy industry. Dairying is one of the largest of the agricultural enterprises of this country and the demands upon it will be in proportion to its importance. Dairy products are essential to the well-being of the nation and every effort should be expended to maintain the supply of this country and so far as possible to meet the increasing demands of the allies. Some of the principal advantages of dairying are:

1. The sale of dairy products furnishes a steady income throughout the year. The farmer who depends upon crop sales for his income usually makes the bulk of his sales during one or two months of the year, while during the rest of the year he has no cash income.

SELECTION OF ORCHARD SITE

Great Importance Is Attached to Favorable Location—Peaches Favor Light Soils.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon a suitable location and site of the peach orchard, because a faulty choice of either may be fatal to future financial success. Some mistakes in planning an orchard may be overcome as the trees develop, but a poor location or site, cannot be changed.

It is the current opinion that the peach should be planted on sandy or some of the lighter types of soil. Excellent results may follow the planting of orchards on such soils, but peaches do well also on a wide range of soil types, including even some of the moderately heavy clay loams and clays. But whatever the type, a soil must be thoroughly well drained. Peaches will not succeed on poorly drained soils. The heavy clay types which are so hard and impervious that water does not percolate through them readily are to be avoided. Moreover, the soil should be moderately fertile. One very rich in nitrogen is not desirable as a general rule, since it may induce an excessive growth of foliage.

Where alkali soils occur, they should be avoided. While the peach tree can be grown where there is a limited amount of the alkali salts, they cause disaster if present in large quantities. It is safer, therefore, to avoid them as far as possible.

Generally a site that is elevated considerably above the surrounding areas is to be preferred for a peach orchard. Cold air settles to the lower levels. For this reason it is often colder at the lower elevations than it is at higher points. The occurrence of frost in low places when there is none on elevated areas is thus explained. During the past few years the importance of selecting relatively high sites for peach orchards in order to avoid the effects of unfavorable temperatures has been emphatically demonstrated in many different parts of the country.

When an orchard has a site adjacent to a body of water of sufficient size and depth to have an appreciable influence on the local climate, the importance of a relatively high elevation largely disappears. Because water warms up in the spring more slowly than the atmosphere, it acts in effect as a refrigerator, making the temperature in its immediate vicinity colder than at points somewhat distant from it. Vegetation within the zone of this influence advances more slowly in the spring than it does outside of that zone. The tendency is for the blossoming of peach trees within the zone to be delayed until after the season of spring frosts is past.

In the fall, frosts are delayed. The water, having absorbed much heat during the summer, cools off in the fall more slowly than the atmosphere and tends to keep the temperature within its zone of influence warmer than it would otherwise be.

The slope factor is largely one of degree. Peach trees on a site having a very steep southern slope will usually blossom and the fruit will ripen somewhat earlier than on a corresponding northern slope, but where the differences in slope are only moderate their relative influence on the time of blossoming and ripening is not very marked.

Aside from economic factors, temperature probably is the most decisive limiting factor in the distribution of commercial peach growing. Usually the fruit buds are the first to suffer injury. No absolute minimum temperature without which the peach is able to withstand without injury can be given. The condition of the buds with regard to their strength, vitality, and perfect dormancy, the duration of the critical temperature, the climatic conditions following the cold period, perhaps the amount of moisture in the air during the period, and other factors all have an influence.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time, I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backaches and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADRIAN B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Samuel T. B. Adams, vs. Sallie T. Adams.

No. 2587 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Wicomico County.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing Samuel T. B. Adams, a VINCULO MATRIMONI, from the defendant, Sallie T. Adams. The bill states that Samuel T. B. Adams was married to Sallie T. Adams at Parkley, Va., on March 23rd, 1909, and lived together in Somerset County, till July 3rd, 1914; that through the conduct of the plaintiff towards his wife, Sallie T. Adams, has always been kind affectionate and above reproach, that said Sallie T. Adams has, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born to them by this marriage, and that said Sallie T. Adams is a non-resident, residing in the State of Va.

It is there upon this 3rd day of October, 1918, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, in equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Wicomico County, Md., once in each of four successive weeks before the 4th day of November, 1918, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning her to appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 21st day of November next, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

acome. Such a system requires long credits in the community.

2. The market for dairy products fluctuates very little year by year as compared with other farm products.
3. Through the return of manure to the land the fertility and physical condition of the soil may be maintained at a high level and crops increased. Even after many years a properly maintained dairy farm has constantly increasing crop yields instead of decreasing ones.
4. In dairying, labor may be utilized at a more uniform rate throughout the year, for example, may have to employ much additional labor at harvest time, but so far as the dairy is concerned the dairyman has about the same duties to perform every month of the year. Thus less help is required seasonally and permanent employees may be kept.
5. Through the dairy cow many unsalable roughages may be transformed into products from which cash may be realized. Grass, hay, corn-fodder and other roughage which may not have a ready sale are economically utilized by the dairy cow. Land which is not suitable for cultivation can be utilized for pasturage for dairy cows.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT

It's a sure sign that you're in love if you shave twice.

DUTIES OF DAIRYMEN GIVEN

Use Best Methods of Breeding and Management and Utilize All Products to Advantage.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The duties and responsibilities of dairymen are especially important in the maintenance of the dairy industry for the good of the nation. An opportunity is presented to dairymen to serve humanity by the conservation of dairying. Their part is to use the best methods of breeding and management, feed wisely and economically, and utilize all products to the best advantage. The fuller utilization of by-products for human food brings an added financial return that will do much to help maintain the industry. We are depending upon the ingenuity and efficiency of the American people to play a large part in the winning of the war. This same ingenuity and efficiency must be used in the productive industries as well as in destructive ones. If, after putting into effect the best methods and practices for economy and efficiency, it still is necessary to dispose of dairy cows, the dairymen should endeavor to sell them to other dairymen, better situated, in order that the supply of milk may not be reduced. On the small farm, and it is true, such farms that the bulk of our dairy products come, most of the work is done by the farmer and his family. Would it not be possible on many of these farms to keep one or two or three more cows without great inconvenience? This and increased efficiency will meet the situation. We shall have milk for our babies; we shall maintain our industry; we shall have dairy products for our armies, and, in addition, shall be able to share liberally with our friends across the sea.

Proper Feeding for Calves.

Calves should be fed on food that will develop a strong, vigorous constitution and a large frame, with a healthy appetite—the milk veins as a udder manipulated, or rubbed to increase capacity early in life and up to the time heifer drops her first calf.

USE LIGHT GRADE BEEF.

The beef restriction has been removed earlier than originally intended, but it is urged that consumers order the lighter grades from their butchers. The beef from cattle dressing over 475 pounds is the more suitable for shipment as an account of its thickness and fatty covering it is less subject to deterioration on a long voyage.

SCOFFING AT SUBSTITUTES IS SIGN OF IGNORANCE.

To doubt that the substitutes recommended by the U. S. Food Administration are wholesome, nourishing and palatable is a sign of stone-age ignorance. To make those substitutes meet every household need is a token of the active kind of patriotism that counts.

The substitute cereals are in every way as nourishing, as digestible, and if properly prepared, as palatable as wheat. Lentils, dried peas and beans, eggs, whole milk, cheese—all are good substitutes for meat. Corn sirup, maple sirup, honey—these take the place of sugar. Many children were born and grew to maturity in the centuries before cane and beet were known. We are asked to decrease our use of fat. But if we use vegetable oils for cooking we may with a true conscience use butter on the table.

RESTRICTING FOOD PRICES.

When there is no restriction, an increase in the price of one commodity, whether food, labor, etc., has a tendency to raise other prices up to and beyond an equivalent level. Soon everything becomes sky-high and nothing stable. Follows discontent and unrest. In order to stabilize prices, the Food Administration publishes in every section of the community Fair Price Lists, which show what foods of usual quality should sell for. The co-operation of the public in the enforcement of these standards is a remedy against profiteering and speculation. The method is made available by the Administration. No objection is up to the public. It is up to you.

A lot of theorists have said that the plan is not economically feasible. The answer is that it is every day working better as both self-protecting purchasers and reasonable dealers get behind it.

Thrift does not mean stinginess. It means intelligent saving.

I often serve my friends a dish of the chicken soy bean and it has exactly the same place as your dressed chicken or chicken salad. Delicious. Mrs. Thompson.

THE FUEL SITUATION DOES NOT IMPROVE

A Serious Situation Faces Many People in Salisbury.

NO COAL COMING IN AND WOOD IS SCARCE

Review Of The Situation By One Of Our Prominent Coal Dealers—Harrowing Scenes In Some Homes Of The Poor In This City.

Why is it that the State Fuel Administration continues to ignore the plea of the citizens of Salisbury and Wicomico County, that they be treated as other towns and sections of the State are, in the matter of distributing coal for fuel?

Why is it that coal producing companies advise regular coal dealers of Salisbury that they cannot ship them any coal, by order of the Fuel Administrator, but right away these same coal companies ship car loads of coal to private individuals in Salisbury for their own personal use?

Why is the coal dealer instructed by the Fuel Administration to deliver only one ton of coal to each family until all homes are supplied with some coal and at the same time permit the private individual to receive one or more cars of coal and thereby put away enough coal in their bins for the winter?

These are true facts, and this being so, there must be "A Nigger in the Wood Pile" and it is the duty of our citizens to wake up to these facts before it is too late.

I have made a pretty thorough investigation of the amount of wood that has been prepared in Wicomico County to be used for fuel this winter and I find, that on account of the farmers not being able to get labor, there has been less wood cut for this winter than there has been for several years past. I also find that practically all of the Oak and Hard Wood has already been sold and is being shipped to Baltimore by vessel or to northern cities by R. R.

If any citizen of Salisbury doubts my going through harrowing scenes last winter, when my burden was the daily sight of poor women and small children suffering for the want of fuel to keep them warm and pleading with me to do something to get them coal, I will ask them to come and sit with me in my office the first cold morning and see for themselves if I am trying to frighten any one without a cause.

I would have been glad if some people I know of in our city could have been with me in the office Saturday and Sunday night and heard the pitiful and truthful pleadings of some of the poor sick families for just enough coal to take the dampness out of the rooms where their wives and sick babies were. I had one of our teams take a small load of coal and a stove to a home Saturday where the father, mother and four children were all sick and if the people will investigate the conditions as I have, they will find that there are over two hundred homes in our city now without fuel. Just as I am writing this letter, one of our best citizens in this town called me over the phone and asked me if I would let him have just two bushels of coal for his son that was very sick with pneumonia.

Does any one ever stop to think, or can you imagine, just what would happen if it was to suddenly turn cold?

I have made every possible effort that I know how to make to get coal for Salisbury and the Potato Storage Houses in Wicomico County and I have given the fuel question more concentrated thought during the last year than any other one question and I have arrived at the conclusion that the Fuel Administration, both State and County, have made a complete failure in the proper distribution of coal for our County and City. They have conducted the fuel proposition in such a manner that the regular licensed dealer is compelled to discontinue business and after this happens I would like to ask the question as to who will look after the poor people during the cold, freezing, winter weather, delivering through the snow and rain, coal in quarter and half-ton lots, waiting from six to 12 months for pay for same and in some cases never getting anything?

Will the private individual who has been fortunate enough to get his coal shipped him in car load lots and have their cellars and bins full, look after these people?

The regular coal dealer has to take out both a Federal and County license, keep a coal yard and storage bins where coal can be screened, keep teams and wagons and must have weighing scales before he is allowed to do a retail coal business. Then there are certain Federal restrictions thrown around the dealer, such as the amount he is to deliver to each customer, one ton to each home is the instruction now, the price he is to pay and the price he is to charge and the amount he is to give.

How about the other fellow who orders coal and gets his coal in car load lots? He takes out no license, keeps his coal, storage bins, teams, wagons and a heap in his cellar or barn and a peep in his cellar or barn will tell the balance of this.

Now the Fuel Administration, both State and County, have made

Walker-Wallop Wedding

Miss Alne Douglass Wallop and Ensign Franklin Price Waller were quietly married at the Washington Hotel, Princess Anne, the home of the bride, at 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry E. Spear, of St. Andrews Protestant Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglass Wallop, of Princess Anne, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Waller, of Annapolis. The groom is a graduate of the Naval Academy of 1918 class. The wedding took place in the hotel parlor, which was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers. The bride becomingly attired in blue crepe de chine with a corsage bouquet of violets, was given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. D. Wallop, and Lohengrin's wedding march was rendered on the piano by Mrs. L. Creston Beauchamp. The groom's best man was Mr. J. D. Wallop, Jr., brother of the bride. After a wedding breakfast Ensign and Mrs. Waller left on the 7 o'clock train for a short honeymoon at Atlantic City, N. J., as the groom expects to sail in a few weeks for overseas duty.

"AMERICA'S ANSWER"

The Great Official Government Picture—Should Be Booked Here. New York, Oct. 11 18.

To the Editor: The Division of Films, of the Committee on Public Information, wants your co-operation in securing a 100 per cent publicity for the thrillingly-patriotic Government official picture, "America's Answer" throughout the United States.

Millions have already seen it, but every man, woman and child in this great country old enough or young enough to comprehend a pictorialization of just what the World War means and why it is necessary for a united and loyal people to stand behind Uncle Sam with their labor and dollars, should see it.

For never in the history of the motion picture screen has so wonderful a story of National achievement been told, or one which to so great a degree arouses the "will to win" against the Hun.

It is probable that your local motion picture theatres have already booked "America's Answer." If so, we ask you to give them your loyal support. You can fill their houses. In doing so you will be splendidly assisting in the helpful propaganda work of the Government.

If, however, "America's Answer" has not been booked in your town, you can help by creating a public demand for it. Tell your readers about this great war picture. Stir up their patriotic curiosity. Get them to ask for it. Arouse in their minds a question as to why other, neighboring towns, are given the privilege of seeing "America's Answer," while their's has apparently been overlooked. The manager of the motion picture theatre wants to please his patrons. He will book what his audiences insist on seeing.

And the terms of rental have been made so fair and reasonable that the smallest, as well as the largest, movie house can afford to book the picture.

The enclosed "copy" may help you to present to your readers the value and importance of "America's Answer" in aiding Liberty Loan and other drives, and arousing every ounce of enthusiastic loyalty that is inherent in the real American!

Thanking you for your co-operation, We remain, Yours for Victory, Director The Division Of Films.

"God Giveth His Beloved Sleep!"

Why should we murmur, or futilely weep?

For those we love, yet could not with us keep:

Surely we know and in our hearts believe

"God giveth his beloved—sleep!"

The paths that all must travel here,

Are dark and steep,

The narrow way is hard to find and keep.

Why should we sorrow when our loved ones leave?

"God giveth his beloved—sleep!"

Dear, happy one, I cannot, will not weep

For you; nor even wish that I might keep

Your joyous Spirit: God has called me

CHURCHES TO OPEN AGAIN TOMORROW

SCHOOLS AND MOVING PICTURE THEATRES ON MONDAY Oct. 28

Machine will be let into Salisbury tomorrow, when the Churches of the City will be re-opened and Monday, the Public Schools and Moving Picture Theaters will re-open.

This will place the people on a more normal basis again and should result in adding a touch of convalescence to those who have been contending with the awful results of the Influenza Epidemic which has been ravaging this community for several weeks.

Mayor Jones has issued the following to the Citizens of Salisbury:

"This City is passing through the most serious time in its history. The epidemic of Influenza, in a number of cases developing into pneumonia, caused the death of a number of our citizens, and has cast a gloom over our city, the memory of which will remain with us for years.

"The sympathy of all our citizens go out to those whose home has been visited by the Grim Reaper—Death. We grieve with those who grieve over the loss of their loved ones.

"We are thankful that the worst seems to be over, and we again can see the silver lining, after the dark clouds have spent their fury. It no longer brings forcibly home to all our citizens as it does to me, the utter helplessness and helplessness of man, may we more than ever from the blessing we have witnessed for the last few weeks realize more fully our dependence in Him, who has promised to bear our burdens, if we will only put our trust and faith in Him during this trying time.

"Our Doctors have done heroic work as has Mrs. Irwin, Superintendent of the Peninsula Hospital, our trained nurses, and volunteer nurses, as also the Red Cross Workers. They have labored day and night to relieve the sufferings of our people, taking no thought of self, and in a number of instances have been stricken down with the disease themselves. The thanks of the people of this City go out to these self-sacrificing men and women.

"We are grateful to Mrs. Nannie R. Jackson for turning over to the City, the Jackson Memorial Building to be used as an emergency hospital in this crisis, which has been the means of giving a number of people better attention than they otherwise could have been given and no doubt saved several lives.

"The people are grateful to Dr. Carpenter, who cheerfully accepted the responsibility to take charge of the Emergency Hospital, and successfully managed it with the assistance of some of our heroic ladies.

"I wish to thank the people generally for so faithfully complying with the restrictions that the Mayor and City Council felt compelled to place on account of the seriousness of the situation to close the churches, schools and other public places, as also other suggestions made by them relative to congregating, expectorating, coughing, etc. The people having complied with the above, no doubt, has been in a large measure the cause of our Doctors so quickly getting the Influenza under control.

"Therefore, if conditions continue to improve as they have done for the last few days, all churches and Sunday Schools, may be opened on Sunday, October 27th, schools theaters and other places which were ordered closed by the Mayor and City Council may open on Monday, Oct. 28th.

"May I suggest that Churches, Schools and other public places be thoroughly fumigated during the week, as also residences where there has been a case of influenza, that nothing may be left undone to stamp this disease out entirely.

I. E. JONES, Mayor."

TWENTY MORE MEN ENTRAINED HERE

FOR FORT WASHINGTON D. C.

Twenty young white men were selected by the Local Exemption Board and sent to Ft. Washington yesterday.

Some of these young men are well known in this city and belong to the first class of registrants.

This is the first call for men since the raising of the quarantine in the various cantonments, and further calls from the Provost-Marshal General's office may now be expected to come along in quick succession.

These twenty men were all Class 1 men whom the District Board had deferred because of occupation, most of them being farmers and cannerymen, and a majority of them being last year's registrants. The crop season now being over, and the canning season practically at an end, the deferred position of these men were cancelled, and they assumed their old positions as Class 1 men, hence their call at this time. The list is as follows:

Bennie B. Mitchell, Salisbury.
L. Claud Hearn, Salisbury.
Wm. H. Shockley, Salisbury.
Robt. Fulton Waller, Salisbury.
Elisha W. Johnson, Salisbury.
D. Frank Parsons, Pittsville.
Arthur P. K. White, Powellville.

REPORTED AS DESERTER

Sent To Camp Meade On A Grave Charge.

On orders from the Adjutant General's office, issued to the Local Board of Worcester County, James G. Rayne, of near Berlin, was apprehended on Saturday night by Sheriff S. Purnell, and brought to Hill, where he was lodged in jail. He was held in jail until Sunday, when a hearing was held before the Local Board, as a result of which an order was issued for his delivery to Camp Meade as a deserter.

The facts in the case as reported by the Local Board are as follows: Rayne registered in Baltimore in June, 1917. He was inducted into military service in July, 1918. The records show that he failed to report, and was certified to the Adjutant General of the Army as a deserter. He was twice ordered to report to the Local Board of Worcester County, but ignored the orders.

He was carried to Camp Meade Monday morning in the custody of Sheriff P. K. Sturgis, who delivered him to the military authorities at Meade.

Mr. J. T. Truitt, of Salisbury, who is the father of the deserter, Mrs. Perdue, returned home

A SALISBURY BOY WHO IS MAKING GOOD

Mr. I. J. Collins Who Is Now President Of Hocking Glass Works Ohio Was Formerly From Salisbury.

One of Salisbury's boys who has made good is Mr. I. J. Collins, who left town while quite a young man and established himself in Ohio. Here he has rapidly risen till he is now president of one of the largest glass working concerns in the country, that of the Hocking Glass Works, Lancaster, Ohio.

A short time ago when the government organized the Glass men with a view of conserving, Mr. Collins was appointed representative for the state of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Mr. Collins is a brother of Mrs. L. P. Coulbourne and Miss Lula Collins of this city.

As the casualty list come up to the date of the heavy fighting, the names of Maryland boys are recorded, sometimes as many as fifteen. Last week the list contained two names from Princess Anne, Orville G. Dryden and Rufus Bedworth, both missing in action; and two from Deal's Island, Willie Prie, died of accident, and George G. Callison, missing in action.

CONGRESSMAN PRICE SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

HAS FAITHFULLY SUPPORTED THE ADMINISTRATION AND IS ENTITLED TO VOTERS CONFIDENCE

Owing to the Fourth Liberty Loan, the War situation, and the epidemic of Spanish Influenza, politics have not had much attention from either the voters or the leaders of the political parties. The time is now drawing near when the voters of the First Congressional District must go to the polls and make their decision as to whom they want to represent them in the next Congress.

Anyone who is at all familiar with the duties and the responsibilities of a congressman need not be told how important it is at this time to have the right kind of a man to represent them at Washington. Each day and each week brings forward new problems that have to be solved by our national law makers, and unless they act quickly and act right, this country will be badly handicapped in its conduct of the war. This is no time to play the petty game of politics; every man who has patriotic blood in his veins will recognize but one issue at the present time and that is the best way to conduct the war so that victory may be assured to us and our allies. A victory that will remove forever the menace of a German or military rule of the world.

The question for the voters to decide in this and in every other Congressional District is which man will best promote this end, and not which political party he represents.

Assuming that this be correct and that the paramount issue—not only paramount but the only issue worth considering—before the American people is the winning of the war, what then is the duty of the voters in this County and other Counties in this District?

They have to choose between two men, the present Congressman Jesse D. Price of this County and Mr. Andrews of Dorchester County, which of these two ought to be chosen?

Congressman Price has been representing this District during the entire time this county has been at war. He was a member when the momentous time came when this county had to decide whether or not it should participate, in the struggles between democracy and autocracy; he was there when the time came to pass a measure insuring this country of an army made up of every available man of this nation if it should be necessary to call them all out; he has been there during the whole time that this country was gathering together all of its available resources in men, in money, in supplies and in everything that it possessed in order to use them to the limit, if need be in order to win this gigantic struggle.

How did Congressman Price act during all this time? Was his influence and his vote so used as to best promote the winning of the war, or did he hang back and hinder instead of help?

Congressman Price's record is an open book and can be read by every voter in the District. It shows beyond question that he was always found behind President Wilson and the administration in every move they made.

He supported with all his might and power the various measures looking towards the massing of a big and effective army and navy; he stood behind the administration in its shipbuilding program, in its food conservation work, in its need for money to buy supplies and pay the soldiers and sailors, in the administrations every effort to gather together its full resources of every kind and nature in order to hurl them with irresistible force against the foe of democracy the world over.

Is it safe to even think of changing a man, when he has stood so solidly and so faithfully behind the administration in its war efforts?

That the war efforts of the administration have been successful is best attested to by the great success which our men in France in conjunction with our brave allies, are now meeting. We have now two million men in France and are sending more at the rate of close to two hundred thousand a month. These men are all supplied, equipped and trained; we have been able to feed ourselves and our allies, and to furnish money to carry us and our allies through.

It is impossible to enumerate the tremendous work done by the administration since we entered into war, sufficient to say that it has been efficient and effective to a degree which has surprised not only ourselves but the entire world.

We want men in Congress who have supported and will continue to give to President Wilson and his administration a whole hearted support.

Congressman Price has done this and should be re-elected in order that we may be sure that we have a man who will continue along the same course.

It is not a question of democrat or republican and we frankly say that in those districts where the republicans have representatives who despite their politics have given the administration their full and cordial support, we see no reason for the voters turning such down.

The best way to judge a man is not what his friends and supporters say but by his record. Congressman Price's record is clean, his loyalty to his country has been shown by his stand on the various war measures; he has been tried and found to be worthy to represent this or any other district in Congress, and should be returned by an overwhelming vote.

SOARS 28,900 FEET

American Airman Describes Record Flight To Army Officers

How it feels to pilot an airplane to the height of 28,900 feet is graphically told by Capt. R. W. Schroeder, of the army air service, in the report of his recent world's record climb to Major-General Kenley, director of military aeronautics. In his report Captain Schroeder says:

"In order to take an airplane to a higher altitude than any other pilot in the world I found it would require more than one of two attempts. I made three. The first took me to 24,000 feet, the second to 27,000 feet and the last one to 28,900 feet, but now I feel certain that I can get to 30,000 feet. The cold thin air is one's greatest adversary.

"I took off at 1.45 o'clock the afternoon of September 18, 1918, and made a steady, circular climb. At 20,000 feet my goggles became frosted, making it difficult for me to watch my instruments.

"When I reached 25,000 feet I noticed the sun growing very dim, I could hardly hear my motor run and I felt very hungry. I went to talking to myself, and this I felt was a good sign to begin taking oxygen, and I did.

"I was then over 25,000 feet, and as soon as I started to inhale the oxygen the sun grew bright again, my motor began to exhaust so loud that it seemed something must be wrong with it; I was no longer hungry and the day seemed to be a most beautiful one. I felt like singing with sheer joy.

"The frost on my goggles bothered

Sergeant Dashiell Wins Honors Commanded By General Morton

Mr. W. T. Dashiell of this city has received official notice that his son Sgt. Percy Dashiell conducted himself in a most creditable manner during some of the recent fighting in France. Sergeant Dashiell is a member of Company I, 115th Inf., and one of the boys who early joined the ranks of our home Company; behind the official notice of his actions lies a story of coolness, resource and courage in action, that warrants his family and friends in feeling proud of this Salisbury boy. The notice received by Mr. Dashiell did not come through any private or personal source but from Major General Morton, Commanding the 29th Division. The notice is as follows:

Headquarters Blue And Gray Division 29th.

Sgt. Percy Dashiell, Co. I, 115th Inf. I have read with much pride the report of Commanding General 58th Infantry Brig. Regarding your display of leadership during a raid on the German trenches, 30-31 August 1918, while in command of the Cauchat Rifles which silenced an enemy machine gun, and which covered the retirement of the raiding party and of your assistance to the wounded while under fire.

And have ordered your name and deed inscribed upon the record book kept at these headquarters for that purpose.

C. G. MORTON, Major General, Commanding 29th Division.

SALISBURY BOY KILLED IN ACTION

Son Of Mr. And Mrs. Jas. Handy.

A telegram reached Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Handy last week, of the death of their son Mr. Henry Handy, of the 313th, who was killed in action.

Young Handy was well known here and highly thought of by the people. He was connected with the E. T. Jones Co., Store a few years before he went into his country's service. He leaves besides his parents, one brother and one sister.

ELIJAH I. HUMPHREYS.

Elijah Humphreys, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Humphreys, of near Quantico, died in Chester, Pa., after an illness of pneumonia. He had just reached the age of 21 years and was a fine, young man of great promise and will be greatly missed by his many friends and relatives.

D. W. PERDUE CO., WINS

Prize In Overland Automobile Selling Contest.

Again Salisbury is at the front, and when it comes to prizes she gets hers.

The Overland Harper Co., makers of the popular Overland Autos put out an August Prospect Contest for dealers selling the largest number of their cars during the month of August, contest covering the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Delaware and parts of Pennsylvania.

The D. W. Perdue Co., are local agents for Wicomico County and they waded right in and pulled down the 2nd Prize, having sold the surprising total of 36 Overland cars during August, or an average of over a car, every day.

Our congratulations go out to Mr. Perdue, and his efficient right hand automobile manager, Mr. Henry Hanna.

It is to their business push and reputation for square dealing, as well as to the realistic value of the Overland cars that made such a large number of sales possible in so short a time.

October 21st, 1918.

D. W. Perdue Auto Co. Salisbury, Md.

My dear Mr. Perdue:

We are pleased to attach herewith our check for One Hundred (100.00) dollars to which you are entitled as winner of the 2nd prize in the Prospect Contest.

Best congratulations on your splendid showing!

We are preparing an article for the "Starter" regarding the contest and need pictures of the winners.

Please send us by return mail your photograph and a few words about the efforts you put forth that enabled you to be a winner. Perhaps some pointers from you may help some other dealer to increase his sales.

Yours very truly,

OVERLAND HARPER COMPANY, B. M. ROBERTSON, Wholesale Manager.

WILSON SERVES NOTICE GERMANY MUST BANISH ITS MILITARY AND AUTOCRATIC RULERS

Washington, Oct. 23.—President Wilson, in his rejoinder to the last German note made public tonight, served notice once and for all upon the German nation that it must banish its military masters and its monarchical autocrats or be prepared to battle with its enemies to the death.

If Germany is now willing to throw the Kaiser and kaiserism overboard, set up a constitutional government worthy of the name, then the Allies will be asked to arrange for an armistice. But no such armistice will be proposed by the President that does not leave to the military commanders in the field to exact any guarantees that may be necessary "to make a renewal of hostilities on the part of Germany impossible."

No Room For Further Debate.

No communication which has yet been penned by President Wilson in the present peace discussion deals with the great question in the same vigorous, unyielding fashion as that which went forward to Germany tonight. It is belligerent from the first word to the last, and unless Germany is prepared to go to her knees and to make her surrender unconditional it is difficult to see how she can prolong debate.

It is evident to the world now that the President has followed a definitely marked course from the very beginning of the peace discussion; that he has meant from the outset that Germany must dethrone the Kaiser and must throw overboard the Imperialists who have, through their mastery of Germany, plunged most of the world into war, and that he has been determined, in so far as he could control it, that the German military machine must be reduced to impotency before peace could come.

Compelled Berlin To Admit Defeat.

But it was not a part of his program to drive all this home at a single blow. He preferred first to commit the present German Government to a proposal of peace. By the move he has compelled Berlin to confess Germany's defeat to its own people and to its own army, thereby depressing their morale and overwhelming them with hopelessness. Next, he committed that government to domestic reform, the effect of which is to undermine the whole militarist regime.

And now the President, after maneuvering the German Government into the very position which he had marked for it, has sent unloosed a high explosive charge which promises to wreck the whole structure. Either that wreck must come immediately in the form of flat and final surrender or it will come later when Marshal Foch completes the destruction of the German armies.

The President Further Says:—

"Feeling that the whole peace of the world depends now on plain speaking and straightforward action, the President deems it his duty to say, without any attempt to soften what may seem harsh words, that the nations of the world do not and cannot trust the word of those who have hitherto been the masters of German policy, and to point out once more that in concluding peace and attempting to undo the infinite injuries and injustices of this war, the Government of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany. If it must deal with the military masters and the monarchical autocrats of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regards to the international obligations of the German Empire, it must demand not peace negotiations but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid."

Allies To Hammer Enemy All Winter

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 23.—Unless they are saved by their plea for peace, the Germans will be subjected to steady hammering along the greater part of the Western Front throughout the winter.

Indications are that it is not intended to give them a breathing spell, notwithstanding weather conditions. It is pointed out decreased activity will enable the Germans to recuperate to such a degree as to make certain a prolongation of the struggle.

During previous winters the enemy has been able to rest up his forces and replenish his supplies, especially ammunition and there is no reason to believe he would not avail himself of the same opportunity now and to a much greater advantage.

There are two places on the front where it is conceded that military operations during the winter will be virtually impossible, but American officers insist that seventy-five per cent of the offers no real obstacle to a continuance of the fight. It is not questioned that operations will be slowed down but, even so, the advantage will be with the attacking side, especially since it is known German material is growing scarcer.

It is indicated that the Americans are settled indefinitely into their present positions and their part in the general program is well defined.

It is to be expected that they will continue to deliver short smashing jolts against the pivotal center of the long sweeping line.

The gains made between the American front and the sea are conceded to be due in large measure to the menacing demonstration by the Americans and by the enforced employment by the Germans of thirty divisions here.

The enemy will be compelled to continue to mass forces of men and materials in front of General Pershing's troops at the expense of other places, because to fail to hold the line between Meuse and Grandpre would endanger an enormous area.

The spirit of the Americans is unbroken by the determined opposition of the Germans and both officers and men speak confidently of the day when they will break through to the vital connecting road extending westwardly through Stenay.

Daily counter-attacks by the Germans reflect the desperate character of their defense. Rugged, wooded hills which serve as natural aids are supplemented by the most elaborately prepared series of defenses on the western front. Around the big are the lines of resistance converge as they approach Verdun. In front of the Americans they are almost without rifle shot of each other.

GENERAL PERSHING THANKS FARMERS

Gave Their Sons To Service And Kept Up Food Supply.

General Pershing has sent a letter of appreciation to the farmers of America who, he says, have not only supplied their quota of fighting men and bought largely of Liberty bonds, but have increased crops both last year and this more than one thousand million bushels above normal production.

The letter, addressed to Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and made public here by the Committee on Public Information, says:

"Food is of vital necessity and from the day of our entry into the war America's army of food producers have rendered invaluable service to the Allied cause by supporting the soldiers at the front through their devoted and splendidly successful work in the fields and furrows at home."

AIRPLANE TAKES 65 CAPTIVES

Shepherds Then Along Road Until It Meets British Infantry.

With the British Army in France, Oct. 14 (By Post).—Airplanes can be used for capturing infantry. This was proved by the British in the recent advance.

Flying fairly low seeking parties of Germans or war material to bomb, two officers in a machine were fired upon from a sunken road. The pilot dived. The airplane's machine gun quickly accounted for four Germans. Quickly the Germans hoisted a white flag of surrender.

The airman were in a dilemma. There was no British infantry in the vicinity. They descended to fifty feet and ordered the Germans out on the road—sixty-five of them in all. Rounding up the party the airman directed them toward the British lines. They circled over them with the ever-menacing bombs and machine guns until they encountered a party of British, who took the entire lot to a prisoner's cage.

 sent Congressman, Hon. Jesse
 D. Price of this county.

Of Senator Andrews, we have nothing to say, except that he is a new man and has not had any experience in national legislative matters.

Of Congressman Price, it can be said that he has had many years of experience, including the hard and trying ones since this country entered into war.

That he has met each and every situation in the way that we as true Americans would have had him meet it. He has been tried and tested out; he is no experiment. We know what he has done and can therefore look with confidence to him for support in every measure which comes up that has for its purpose assistance to the winning of the war.

It has been a great Congress in which he has been a member, a Congress that has ever responded to the call of the administration in its various war measures, and in it Congressman Price has well played his part.

It would be foolish for the people at this crisis of our affairs to turn down a man who has served them faithfully and well.

Regardless of a man's ability, regardless of a man's patriotism, it is impossible for a new man to do as much good in Congress as the man who has had years of experience.

Congressman Price has shown that he has ability, he has proved his loyalty, and he has in additional experience in the duties of a Congressman and during the term of his service has acquired a knowledge of the affairs of the nation and its needs at the present time.

This is not a call for blind partisan support, but an appeal to the thinking American voters in this country to rally around a man who has supported President Wilson and his administration in every essential matter.
 This is an appeal to them to send back to Washington the man who in the coming hours of trial will stick by his President and his country.

It is true that others might do the same, but Congressman Price has already done his part and what is the sense in taking a chance.

Regardless of politics, there is probably no man on the Eastern Shore of Maryland to-day, who is in a position to do his country as much good at the present time as a member of congress, as Congressman Price is.

This being the case he should be returned. After the war is over we can again indulge in our national game of politics, but until then let us forget it.

Read Mr. Price's record if you are not familiar with it already, and then ask yourself if he has not voted as you would have your representative vote, if he has—and we know he has if you are a loyal and patriotic citizen—ask yourself if he has not demonstrated his fitness to hold this office again.

Congressman Price is entitled to your confidence and if this be true he is entitled to your support and your vote. Don't stay at home on election but come out to the polls and get your neighbors to come out with you.

Come out not as democrats or republicans but as citizens and keep in Congress a man who will stand by the President until the war is over and our country comes home as victors.

OURSELVES AND CANADA.
 Pessimistic Americans and Americans who hesitated to support the Fourth Liberty Loan to their utmost should review the achievements of Canada.

Canada's last Victory Loan was subscribed to the amount of $418,000,000, which on the basis of population is equal to a $6,- 000,000,000 bond subscribed by the People of the United States.
 And this was done after four years of war and after sending 500,000 soldiers to the front, which on the basis of population would be equalled by our sending 3,600,000 men to the colors.

FOR SALE.

VACCINE SENT TO CHECK "FLU."

Supply Received From U. S. Medical School In Washington.

The Federal Government Thursday came to the relief of Baltimore in the epidemic of influenza and pneumonia, sending to the Health Department from the Army Medical School a supply of vaccine for the prevention of pneumonia.

Enough for 100 inoculations was received at the department's laboratories for free distribution among hospitals, physicians and nurses. It was announced that more would be sent upon request until all needs were supplied.

Dr. William Royal Stokes, bacteriologist of the city and State Department of Health, stated that one inoculation was sufficient to ward off pneumonia in the existing crisis.

One cubic centimeter (the dose) contains 30,000,000,000 dead bacteria. It is the newest thing in the prevention of pneumonia to be adopted by the United States Army. Dr. Stokes inoculated himself and several employees of the Health Department.

Thursday night the Health Department ordered a supply of vaccine to prevent influenza, and will give it a trial in Baltimore. Something new, it is being used in the army, and is said to be effective.

Mrs. Chas Holland of Berlin visited relatives in town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, Mrs. K. V. White and son Russell and Mrs. Ella K. Dennis were in town Friday.

Miss Julia M. Ebersole of Baltimore is the guest of Mrs. Wallace White at Powellville.

Mr. Wood Richardson who has been critically ill with Flu pneumonia is reported to be improving.

Prof. and Mrs. Clarence Cordry of Almar visited Mr. and Mrs. E. G. B. Wright on N. Division St. Thursday.

The Misses Peggy and Katharine Hartwell of Princess Anne were the guests of Miss Polly White Thursday.

Elder H. C. Ker, of Middletown, N. Y., is expected to preach in the Old School Baptist meeting house, Sunday morning at 10.30.

An examination will be held at the Salisbury Postoffice on Nov. 2nd, 1918 for position of Clerk Carrier, for Salisbury Service, by the local examiner, Mr. Willis Taylor.

Mrs. E. H. White gave an informal dinner Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Wallace White's guest Miss McEbersole, and Mr. A. P. White, who left the following morning for Ft. Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Eugene Riggan left Tuesday to rejoin her husband in Los Angeles, California, where they will spend the winter. Mrs. Riggan was summoned home several weeks ago by the death of her father, the late James D. Hack.

The Rev. George Williams, formerly of Stevenson M. E. Church, Berlin, has finished his training at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., and after a visit with his wife and children, he left for his duties last Saturday at Camp Meade.

James G. Rayne, of Berlin, was arrested on the charge of having failed to respond to his call to service, in Philadelphia; last summer, and also failing to obey a summons to the local court. He was sent to Camp Meade Monday.

Norman P. Morris, of New York City, and Miss Stella Ward, of Salisbury, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Riley last week.

Mrs. John Perdue, is visiting her son, Mr. Harry Perdue, and family at Indian town.

Collector of Internal Revenue Thos. W. Miles, deputy collector Lewis M. Milbourne and assistant forlier G. Elmer Brown motored from Baltimore to Princess Anne last day. They spent the week-end at both homes and returned to the city Sunday morning.—Marylander

The Men's Bible Class of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church will resume its meetings, next Sunday at 7.45 a. m. The studies for this quarter are the Lives of the Patriarchs, beginning with "The Call of Abraham." Read Genesis, 12th. Chapter, and continue to read.

The Stars and Stripes Rally, which was to have taken place in this city Thursday, October 24th, by the Odd-fellows of the lower Peninsula, has been postponed, it not being deemed advisable to hold the rally owing to the Flu epidemic. The date on which it is to be held will be announced later.

The Spanish influenza has struck Elkton telephone exchange heavily, every operator being down with the disease except one young lady who arrived here on Saturday from Salisbury, to help out. The work at present is being carried on by the one operator, assisted by the manager, J. H. Harris, who also is operating the switchboard.

Miss Edna Peters and Miss Lydia Grier, two of the volunteer Nurses have received calls to report to Camp Wadsworth, for duty. They are making preparations to leave soon.

Miss Anna Smith of this city, and Mr. J. D. Smith were married at Orle, Md., on September 28th, by the Rev. Daniel Wilson, pastor of Orle church. On account of the recent death of Miss Smith's uncle, the wedding was quiet, only a few of the friends of the bride and groom being present. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are residing at their home at 224 Lake St., this city.

MRS. H. D. SPENCE. Mrs. Alvina Spence wife of our fellow townsman, Mr. Henry D. Spence, died of a complication of diseases at her home on Fritwater St., Wednesday, October 16th.

Mrs. Spence was a native of Bangor, Maine, where she was married to Mr. Spence on October 11th, 1876, coming direct to Salisbury as a bride. She spent the remainder of her life in this city.

Mrs. Spence was a highly-educated lady and had taught in the schools of Bangor several years before her marriage to Mr. Spence. Deceased was of a retiring disposition, but those who knew her well found her to be a woman of rare culture and refinement.

She is survived by a husband and one son, John D. Spence, and two grandchildren. Funeral services were held at her late home on Friday, October 18th. The remains were laid at rest in Parsons Cemetery.

MR. WINFIELD PERDUE. Mr. E. Winfield Perdue, son of Mr. Asbury H. Perdue, an employee of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company, died at his home in Parsonsburg Monday morning from the effects of influenza. Mr. Perdue was about 35 years old, and leaves a wife and two small children. He married Miss Parsons, daughter of the late S. P. Parsons, of Parsonsburg, who is at present Postmistress at that place. Mr. Perdue was a fine young man and had a host of friends in his neighborhood, and his death will cause wide-spread regret on the east side of the county. His funeral services were held Wednesday.

ELVA MAY DISHARON. Miss Elva May Disharoon, aged 23 years, daughter of Chief of Police Woodland Disharoon, died Sunday morning of tuberculosis at her father's home on Mitchell street. The young lady had been in declining health for several months. She is survived by her father and mother, and several sisters and brothers. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and the interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

MRS. LLOYD E. JESTER. Mrs. Rosetta Jester, wife of Lloyd E. Jester and daughter of James H. Mumford, of Ocean City, died about one o'clock Thursday morning, a victim of influenza. Besides her husband and father she leaves a young son, James, a sister, Mrs. Raymond Boston, and half-sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Coffin. All her life was spent in or near Ocean City, where many friends unite with the family in mourning her untimely death.

MR. LORENZO WOOTTEN. Lorenzo Wootten, of Taylorville, died Saturday morning of pneumonia, following Spanish influenza, which he contracted while at a fishing camp at Ocean City. He leaves a widow and five children all ill with the disease. It was Mr. Wootten's solicitude for his family that prompted him to rise too soon from his sick-bed. He died 12 hours afterwards.

GEORGE WHITE. George White, aged 55 years, died Saturday night at his home on East Church street. His death was caused by an attack of Flu, followed by complications. Mr. White was unmarried. His funeral took place Monday afternoon at Parsonsburg.

DEATH OF SELBY WARD. Mr. Selby Ward, a resident of South Salisbury, and an employe of Jackson Bros. Co., died Monday from pneumonia following the Flu, at his home on Vine street. He leaves a widow and six or seven children, all of whom have been down with Flu.

GEORGE W. WORKMAN. The Eastern side of this county has lost a very useful and helpful citizen in the death of Mr. George W. Workman of Walston.

Several years ago Mr. Workman purchased a tract of land at Walston's and began improving the neighborhood by clearing up the swamp land. Since then he has been the leading spirit in every thing that benefited the community, establishing a large mercantile business and shirt factory, and very comfortable home surroundings.

The inhabitants of that vicinity will feel his loss, and greatly sympathize with the widow and several children that are left.

MISS BESSIE COLSTON. Miss Bessie Colston of Baltimore died at the home of her sister Mrs. Norman P. Williams, Thursday night from a severe attack of influenza. She attended the funeral of her sister's husband Mr. Williams and later took the influenza.

Rev. and Mrs. J. McLean Brown and Mrs. Edith Reed, of Federalburg, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Morris, this week.

Mrs. Randolph Walsen and baby Thomas Betts, who have been visiting Mrs. Walsen's parents at Ocean View have returned home.

MRS. VIRGINIA MEZICK. Mrs. Virginia Mezick died at her home in Fruitland, early Saturday morning from the Spanish Flu. She was the wife of H. C. Mezick and a daughter of Mr. William H. Gray of that town. She was of a kindly and affectionate disposition, possessed of many lovable traits than won her many friends.

She is survived by the husband, two children Gradon and Wendall, two sisters, four brothers and an aged father.

The funeral was preached Monday by Rev. H. W. Holter, and interment was made in the family plot in St. John's Cemetery.

MRS. JENNIE CREW. Mrs. Jennie Crew died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Usher Morris on Camden Ave., last Thursday afternoon. She has been in delicate health for sometime, but very bravely fought it until the influenza came into the home, from which she was unable to rally.

Mrs. Crew was 60 years of age and a wife of the late W. A. Crew, and a life long and consistent member of Trinity M. E. Church where she taught in the Sunday school as long as her health permitted.

She leaves one daughter Mrs. Usher Morris and one sister Mrs. Thomas Disharoon.

Funeral services will be held at the grave in Parsons Cemetery at 2 P. M. today. Rev. H. W. Davis officiating.

To All Retailer Handlers Of Sugar

The United States Food Administration feels that the supply of canning sugar already furnished should be sufficient for the present year. Therefore from and after this date, October 21st, no further sales of canning sugar, should be made. All canning pledges now in your hands should be returned to this office immediately; and no further sales made, without special written permission, either from this office or from the County Administrator. Return to this office at once all Home Canners Pledge Cards you have including all unused cards you have on hand.

THE STATE TEACHERS

To Assemble in Baltimore Last of November.

Announcement was made last week that the Maryland State Teacher's Association will be held in Baltimore on Friday and Saturday, November 29th and 30th. This will be the second time the teachers have met there and the session held last winter was attended by something like 4,000 teachers from all over the state, there is every reason to expect that equally as many will go to the city next month.

The meeting, originally was to have been held in the administration building at Ocean City, but due to certain complications brought about by the calling off of the Tri-county Institute of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties, it was decided to hold its sessions in Baltimore the same as last year. The date selected for the meeting is during Thanksgiving week, and as Friday following Thanksgiving day is a holiday, the attendance upon the part of the teachers will be voluntary. Last year the meeting was held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of Thanksgiving week, the state schools being closed for the entire week; this, however, caused some adverse criticism, as many of the teachers preferred being at their homes during the holidays.

Arrangements have been made for holding the sessions in the Western High School and the school board of Baltimore has been asked to grant the use of that building.—Messenger

BENJ. A. JOHNSON, APPOINTED TRUSTEE FOR THE LEADER.

At a meeting of the creditors of I. Levine, trading as "The Leader," held last week, Mr. Benjamin A. Johnson, was elected trustee, and he will immediately proceed to dispose of the stock and fixtures at public sale. The liabilities of "The Leader" are said to be $14,000 with assets estimated at about $4,000. Trustee Johnson will sell the stock of goods as a whole and the fixtures separate.

THE CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS ON MONDAY NIGHT.

Communications from the Barrett Co., in regard to a supply of Tarvia for street maintenance read and the Clerk was instructed to make application through the State Highways Commission for a supply for the streets for the year 1919.

Maryland Avenue Extended Case was then taken up as unfinished business and on motion of Councilman Smith the proceedings were abandoned and discontinued.

The Clerk was authorized to ask some property owners to appear before the Council on next Monday night as to the assessment of certain properties within the corporate limits of the city.

are different.

Of course, aluminum is aluminum; but utensils may differ in purity, in thickness, in handles, in finish.

Purity. "Wear-Ever" utensils are 99 per cent. pure.

Thickness. They are made thick enough to prevent denting readily; thick enough to guarantee a lifetime of satisfactory service.

Handles. The handles of "Wear-Ever" utensils are made of the best tinned steel. Aluminum handles would become too hot—wooden handles would burn off or break. The handles of "Wear-Ever" utensils are gripped to the utensils by aluminum rivets with large heads. The heads are not sunk into the side of the utensil—the side remains of uniform thickness, strong enough to hold the handle on firmly for years.

Finish. The outside is polished. The inside is hardened by an electrical process which makes the metal harder, smoother, less liable to be discolored by food or water containing alkali or iron, and more easily cleaned than would be possible if the utensils were not so finished.

Replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear-Ever".

Appeal From the Democratic State Central Committee to the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County.

Fellow Democrats:—

This Nation stands today facing the most momentous period of its history. For four years, the world has been in the midst of the greatest struggle for the maintenance of universal freedom of the people through which the Nations of the earth have ever passed and in the midst of this great struggle, President Wilson has stood out the foremost figure as the leader of Democracy as opposed to the autocracy of the central powers. It has been a struggle of giants, and the people of the whole world and especially of these United States have been fortunate in having such a champion as President Woodrow Wilson in the White House at such a trying period of our Nation's history. During all these turbulent and stirring times, the President has had at his back a united Democratic Party composed of men of brains and ability, who have stood as a stone wall against everything which did not tend to aid the President in bringing about his plans for a world-wide peace and the formation of a league of Nations which would stand for ever and ever against the tyranny of the military powers of the Central Empire.

Among these men who have been at the right hand of the President during this critical period, has been the Hon. Jesse D. Price, Democratic Congressman from the First Congressional District, who has never faltered for a single instant in his loyal and faithful support of the President and all the policies for which Mr. Wilson has stood so earnestly. Throwing aside all thought of personal or political advancement, Congressman Price has given his most loyal support to all the policies of President Wilson, and his record as Congressman from the First District has been one of which every Democrat from Cecil to Worcester can well be proud.

He has been a most faithful public servant, and his party has again honored him by renominating him for another term in Congress without opposition, and on the 5th of November, the Democratic voters of the First Congressional District will be called upon to assemble at the polls and show by their action whether or not they are still supporting President Wilson and are faithful to the great cause of Liberty for which the President and our Congressmen both stand.

During his service in Congress, Mr. Price has stood loyally for every measure which meant the full support of our boys in the army, at home and abroad, and his loyalty to the young men of our own blood and bone should be sufficient to endear him to the hearts of not only the Democrats, but also of the Republicans of the First Congressional District who should feel it an honor to go to the polls on November 5th, and vote for the return of Mr. Price to the 66th Congress of the United States so that he may continue to help uphold the hands of our President and to lend his aid and experience in passing on the momentous questions which will continue to arise day by day until the world is once more at peace. If any Congressman demonstrated that he believes that public office is a public trust, that is our present Congressman, the Hon. Jesse D. Price, whose record being as clean as a hound's tooth, is an honor not only to his native county, but to the State and to the Nation as well.

Therefore, as the governing body of the Democratic Party of Wicomico County, we, the State Central Committee issue this clarion call to the Democratic voters of Wicomico and the other counties of the First Congressional District to organize themselves into a solid fighting body to see that every Democrat goes to the polls on November 5th, and does his full duty in supporting President Wilson by voting for the re-election of the Hon. Jesse D. Price. We believe that in no other way can the Democrats or for that matter, can the citizens of the First Congressional District reward a worthy public servant or our fellow citizens of Wicomico County show their full appreciation of the faithful work done by one of our own sons, than by performing this great civic duty.

Congressman Price is in Washington attending to his official duties and is not running over the country seeking personal votes, therefore as the governing body of the Democratic Party of Wicomico County we appeal to all Democrats to take a personal interest in this campaign, and while our Congressman is standing by the President in performing his public duties in the Capitol, let us give of our time and means to promote his campaign at home by a personal solicitation among the voters of every district of the county urging them to come to the polls on the 5th of November and cast their vote for the re-election of Congressman Price and the further strengthening of the hands of President Wilson by insuring him a Democratic Congress to support him during the remainder of his administration.

Because of the great epidemic which has swept over this community, it will be inadvisable to hold public political meetings and because of the omission of these local gatherings, it is more important that every Democrat should consider himself a committee of one to do something towards making this a successful campaign for the re-election of a Democrat to Congress, and we again appeal to you one and all to let nothing remain undone in your respective localities which will tend to aid in the triumphant election of the Hon. Jesse D. Price on Tuesday, November 5th.

Yours for Success,

I. ERNEST JONES, Chairman,
IRA D. TURNER, Secretary,
WADE H. BEDSWORTH,

Big Value of Wool and Mutton Gives Boost to Industry—Business Now in New Light.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The development of the sheep industry will contribute materially to the nation's food and clothing supply. War conditions have brought about a renewed interest in sheep growing in the United States and the high value of both wool and mutton will place the farm sheep business in a new light.

The mutton sheep is a necessary instrument in highly intensive and self-supporting agriculture. The still more intensive use of land in farms, an effort to secure the more economical use of every acre, every facility, and available labor, all of which are necessary under the present conditions, necessitate the general inclusion of sheep in

DALF'S HEART WITH VEGETABLES
(Official recipe.)

Wash calves' hearts, stuff, skewer into shape, lard, season with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and saute in butter, that is to say, pork, beef, poultry, dairy products and vegetable oil products. It announces that the new rules will be rigidly enforced by the State Administrator. As Mr. Hoover says:

"We know that the majority of men in this class of business will welcome this enforcement on the ground that it protects the patriot from the slacker and gives the honest man who wants to save for the country protection from the wrongful acts of his unpatriotic competitors."

our system of mixed farming and live stock production. This is the raising of sheep a new appeal in older farming areas.

The main factor in determining the cost of other animal products is the value of grain and mill feeds; pasturage and roughage are important, but both beef and pork require a considerable use of concentrated feeds. The production of lambs and mutton require a very much smaller proportion of grain than is required in these other meat animals. Sheep are able to get a good portion of their feed from rough, permanent grass pasture and at the same time keep it clean of weeds. This increases rather than decreases the cattle-carrying capacity of the pasture. As sheep require comparatively little of the owner's labor, the labor cost per dollar's worth of wool or lambs is lower than in any other farm animal product. While the labor required in raising sheep is not heavy it is continuous and somewhat different from that required in the care of other stock.

Many of the obstacles that have hindered the progress of sheep raising in intensive farming districts have been or are being overcome. The competition given sheep growing on others by the production of sheep on lower-priced range land is being removed. A second but only temporary obstacle to a quick increase in sheep production lies in the fact that comparative few farmers are as well qualified to care for sheep as for other classes of stock. The needs and habits of sheep differ from those of horses, and swine, but present no problems that will not be met by interested study and observations supported by satisfactory returns.

PUBLIC EATING PLACES MUST SAVE MORE FOOD

Fourth meals, the table d'hote, foreign languages on the "menu"—beg pardon, the bill of fare—and the reachable sugar bowls must be routed, according to the October 21st orders of the Food Administrator.

They are all enemies of thrift, and increased savings of foodstuffs are necessary to carry out America's pledge to send her allies an extra 5,730,000 tons this coming twelve months.

Short, simple bills are suggested for the three daily meals, and the use of hors d'oeuvres, vegetable salads, fruits, seafoods, and made over dishes is recommended.

Definite rules are laid down for "all places where food is sold to be consumed on the premises." They affect nine million people every day.

No bread is to be served till the first course is on the table and then only two ounces of Victory Bread or muffins. Neither bread nor bacon may be served as a garniture.

Of meats, which include beef, mutton, pork and poultry, a patron must satisfy himself with one kind at a sitting. Likewise must he content himself with one kind of butter and the same amount of cheese. And of sugar a teaspoonful will on request be produced from an invisible sugar bowl.

And there is a strict injunction against burning any waste food which should be reduced for fats or fed to animals.

A pamphlet which has been issued to those primarily affected explains that as the country's resources are no greater than last year there must be a further reduction in consumption and waste of foodstuffs and of meats and fats; that is to say, pork, beef, poultry, dairy products and vegetable oil products. It announces that the new rules will be rigidly enforced by the State Administrator. As Mr. Hoover says:

"We know that the majority of men in this class of business will welcome this enforcement on the ground that it protects the patriot from the slacker and gives the honest man who wants to save for the country protection from the wrongful acts of his unpatriotic competitors."

ONLY BUSINESS THAT OF WAR

Parisians in Every Walk of Life Have But One Thought, to Defeat the Hated Enemy.

In Paris one realized at last the meaning of the "business of war." It had entered into every phase of life. As our men commute to business, so the Pollux commute to the trenches, each trip of uncertain length; and in place of competition, financial or otherwise, they go to a business of life and death, writes William Beebe in the Atlantic Monthly.

Few men could show the same vigor and enthusiasm as do these Pollux. For years they had faced high adventure that most men know, if at all, only in an annual vacation. To myself and to others whose life work carries them into dangers from the elements and from savage men, war held no absolute novelty. (The writer is a famous naturalist.) But think of the gunner, formerly a traveling salesman for women's hosiery, of the stretcher bearer who was a floorwalker in a department store! Did the florist whom I met ever conceive that he would be removed from sausage-balcony duty because of unconquerable air sickness?

Think of the children in Paris old enough to talk and walk, who have never known a world free from universal war, and it will be easier to realize the daily, monthly, yearly labor and worry which have worn for themselves ruts deep into the life routine and emotions of this Latin people. As the medical student loses all sensitiveness concerning the handling of human fingers and feet and hands, so the participants in the war, without being really callous or insensitive, come to take danger, wounds, disability, as incidents of the daily routine.

One's geography of Paris would read: The city is bounded on the north by supply depots, on the south by hospitals and on the west by air-planes. Its principal imports and exports are bandages, craps, wooden legs and Colonials; its products are war bread, war literature, faith and hope.

MEMOS FOR THE MENU.

Bolled rice with cheese sauce is a substitute for meat.

Plain French salad dressing is best with cheese salads.

A little vinegar rubbed on a steak before it is fried or broiled will aid to its tenderness.

If boiling meat is inclined to be tough, add a teaspoonful of baking soda.

Salted peanuts can be prepared with olive oil instead of butter, but the nuts should be blanched instead of roasted.

SERVE JUST ENOUGH FOOD.

Just enough and no more, is the serving rule of all tables just now. The Food Administration says that "the private fancy which loads its table with unnecessary food either from daily custom or for entertainment is a co-worker with Germany. Extravagant serving of food is a crime—not only against the starving millions in Europe, but against our soldiers and our Allies at the front."

SYSTEM IN WHEAT SAVING.

Two much common sense in menus containing wheat substitutes should be avoided. It might annoy the family and make the housewife's patriotic effort harder. There must be a definite plan of conservation in order to avoid the possibility of any oatmeal for the breakfast cereal, and breakfast dishes or other for lunch, and oatmeal bread for dinner—not at all a desirable diet. Elimination of wheat from the breakfast menu reduces the choice of cereals to three—oatmeal, rolled oats and corn meal. These used alternately, with a simple hot dish, bread and butter or jam, constitute a substantial breakfast.

Lunch always requires bread of some kind, muffins, biscuit or cake, but all of these should contain a wheat substitute.

Dinner—Soup (always in winter), plenty of vegetables, 1 c. potatoes and at least two other vegetables; salad, if there is no soup, or a salad that will replace one vegetable. Dessert—With such a dinner very little, if any, bread is used.

In brief, leave corn meal, oatmeal and rolled oats for breakfast dishes. Use breads with a goodly proportion of substitutes for lunch and for dinner; soups, plenty of vegetables and salads will make bread almost unnecessary.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Samuel T. B. Adams, vs. Sallie T. Adams.

No. 2587 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Wicomico County.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing Samuel T. B. Adams, a VINCULO MATRIMONI, from the defendant, Sallie T. Adams. The bill states that Samuel T. B. Adams was married to Sallie T. Adams at Parkley, Va., on March 23rd, 1909, and lived together in Somerset County, till July 31st, 1914; that though the conduct of the plaintiff towards his wife, Sallie T. Adams, has always been kind affectionate and above reproach, she and Sallie T. Adams has, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted him, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterrupted for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that no children have been born to them by this marriage, and that the said Sallie T. MOON

New MOON Six-36

Is all automobile—quite up to the standard of the handsome, hardy, big Moon Six-36.

This means six-cylinder looks, elasticity of power and all-around superiority at the average "quantity" Four price. It also means the economy of a sturdy, smooth-running car that is easy on tires and gasoline because it is a true-to-name light Six.

All automobiles—that's what we said—114-inch wheelbase—Continental motor—careful sweep of body lines, with double cow and stylish high honeycomb Fender radiator—specially slanted windshield—solid walnut instrument board, front and rear—Spicer joints—Timken bearings.

We want to show you this car—and take you for a ride in it.

SET YOUR WATCH BACK

Tonight—Time Changes Again—Large Saving Estimated Thru Country.

Set all clocks and watches one hour "slow" before retiring tonight.

When you arise Sunday morning, you will find the rest of the world, so far as you are concerned, entirely "on time" with you.

This will mark the end of America's first experiment with the plan known as "daylight saving." Plans which were on foot to continue the system in force through the winter have been definitely dropped and the law creating the change, which provides for the resumption of former time conditions on the last Sunday in October, remains in effect.

Therefore, before retiring tonight, fix all watches and clocks one hour "slow" and when you awake Sunday morning your life will flow on the same as usual. You may either put in an extra hour of night life Saturday night and still go to sleep at the same time as has been customary with you all summer, getting just as much sleep, or you may retire at the usual time and enjoy an extra hour's sleep arising at the same hour by the clock as usual. Suit yourself.

The daylight saving law took effect officially at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, March 31. That was the hour at which observatory and Government clocks and all railroad and other official time-pieces were changed, but the majority of Americans advanced their clocks and watches one hour before retiring.

The official hour for the return to "sun time" is also 2 o'clock in the morning. All watches and some clocks will be turned back a full hour. Some clocks, it must be remembered, are so constructed that they cannot be turned back, but must be stopped for an hour and then set going again, picking up the correct time from another time-piece.

CHANGE WITHOUT HARDSHIP. The ease and smoothness with which the change was effected last March augurs well for the resumption of standard time next week. There were dire predictions beforehand of what would happen if the clocks were changed. Scientists gravely debated the question and one, an eminent astronomer, publicly expressed the belief that the change would be marked by railroad accidents, a disruption of business, the missing of engagements and many other terrible things.

As a matter of fact there was hardly a ripple in the life of the nation. Here and there, through obstinacy, a dialike of change of any kind, or a misunderstanding of instructions, persons failed to move their clocks forward on Saturday night, but when they went about their daily affairs and found their whole world an hour ahead of them and laughing at them, they quickly accorded with the change. The hour between 2 and 3 o'clock on Sunday morning was selected for the official change because at that time there are fewer trains running and there is less activity of every kind than at any other hour of the week.

The chief reason for advancing the clocks an hour during the summer is, as the name indicates, the "saving" of an hour of daylight. Everybody rises in the morning when the sun is one hour lower in the sky and in consequence it is not necessary to use artificial light at night until an hour later than usual.

Officials of the fuel administration in this city have estimated that about 68,000 tons of coal were saved here during the seven months the change has been in effect. Members of the national Fuel Administration in Washington recently estimated that in twenty of the largest cities there had been a saving of about 100,000 tons. This divergence of opinion indicates the impossibility of obtaining authoritative estimates.

It has been fancifully figured out, however, that 100,000,000 persons in the country actually enjoyed one hour more of sunshine per day than usual—in other words, "saved" that one hour of sunshine daily. That would make 100,000,000 hours per day. There will have been 210 days between the advancing and the setting back of the clocks. One hundred million hours saved each day for that time makes 21,000,000,000 hours the total saving, which figures out to 875,000,000 days, or 2,397,206 years.

Some saving! It remained for Germany actually to be the first nation to put it into effect, which she did in April, 1916, purely as a war measure, to save the fuel which was so badly needed. It was quickly followed by England, France, Italy, Austria, Turkey, Spain, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Portugal, Australia, Ireland and Canada.

WELDELIN AEROPLANE

Crisfield-Built Machine May Have A Big Future—Patent Asked.

For the purpose of securing a patent of the aeroplane, a type of which he recently constructed in Crisfield and in which he made a trial flight at a Liberty Loan meeting on Main street extended two weeks ago, Prof. Wm. Wedelin left for Washington Wednesday night. If the records in the patent office show that the Wedelin machine is different from any plane heretofore patented, and it is believed they will, the inventor will secure a patent and this type of plane will be built by a company of Crisfield capitalists who have formed a corporation to put it on the market.

After studying aviation and aeroplanes for more than two years, Prof. Wedelin designed a machine which seems to be entirely different from any other machine known to the general public. It was built with a thought to minimum air resistance to moderation in the cost of construction, and to simplicity of operation. And it would now seem that the Wedelin plane bids fair to take a place in the world of aviation similar to the unique notch occupied by the Ford car in the field of automobiles—a machine of simplicity, of moderate cost, but one which will "get there every time."

Army aviators who recently visited Crisfield inspected the Wedelin machine carefully, and pronounced it entirely feasible and of a different type from anything they had ever seen. Suggesting a few changes in one or two minor details, which the inventor has made, they stated that the Wedelin plane should revolutionize the industry of airship building and airship operating, and make the aeroplane of as common use as is the automobile on the streets of our city and the roads of our rural districts.

The principal features of the Wedelin plane—where it differs from other machines is the fact that because of its construction its air resistance is only about one-half that of a plane of standard type encounters; less power is required to produce a maximum speed, thus reducing the cost of the motor and the cost of operation; it is light in construction and will be moderate in cost—and it is simple to operate.

Prof. Wedelin deserves much credit for the hard work and study he has spent upon the invention and it is to be hoped that the plane will prove as successful as it now seems. In that event a large plane factory will be quickly erected and the Wedelin plane, stamped "made in Crisfield," will be given to the world.—Crisfield Times.

FATHER-IN-LAW, ATTACKED AND SERIOUSLY INJURED

Wm. Short Visits The Nichols Home, Starts Quarrel Which Led To The Encounter.

In a writ issued by Police Justice Turner, charged with committing murderous assault upon his father-in-law Charles Nichols, Saturday night, Will Short, was arranged Tuesday morning and held under $10,000 bond for a preliminary hearing before Justice Turner, as soon as the wounded man is able to leave the hospital.

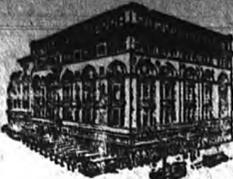

It is alleged that Short visited the Nichols home Saturday night about 8 o'clock, looking for his wife. Being intoxicated he became too noisy and was reprimanded with his father-in-law. Whereupon Short it is said challenged Nichols to come out, who procuring an unloaded pistol went out, hoping to frighten Short away but was attacked and cut frightfully about the arms and body. Dr. Dick was sent for and at once ordered the wounded man to the hospital, where his wounds were dressed. Although he has been in a precarious condition, he is said to be improving now.

HOGS TREE FARMER

After Shooting Three—The Herd Gets After Him.

Treed by wild hogs, Albert Jarman, of Whitesville, Del., spent several very uncomfortable hours in the crotch of a small tree until friends rescued him. Jarman has a large herd of hogs, which he allows to run wild in a wood on his farm, feeding on acorns and grass. Every year he shoots two or three for his winter's meat, and lets the remainder run.

Yesterday he went out, and after killing three, started to drag them home, when the herd attacked him. He scurried up a small tree just in time to escape them, and sitting in the crotch, shot two more, but was unable to drive them away. The hogs started to chew the bottom of the tree and for several hours he sat there, afraid to move. Friends who knew he had gone for hogs, finally arrived later, and with dogs drove off the angry hogs, killing two more. One of the dogs was also killed. Despite his predicament, Jarman has saved the wild hogs for his winter's meat.

LIVE STOCK

MORE HORSES NOW ON FARMS

Increase in Number of Animals Notwithstanding Large Use of Motor Vehicles.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Substitutions for the horse have so far failed to diminish his number on farms, where he is mostly bred. The railroad did not verify the common prophecy of the horse's gloomy future nearly a century ago, and many years elapsed before the heyday of the bicycle arrived with its expected menace to the horse. That machine of pleasure and toil diverted attention from the first real antagonist of the horse, the electric street railway, and this was a formidable one. Street-car service could not have been developed by horses to the extent that it has been carried by electricity, yet there was an enormous displacement of horses when they no longer pulled street cars. It is roughly estimated that 2,000,000 horses would be required to move the street cars now in city service, and that farmers would need to keep a stock of perhaps 3,000,000 horses to produce this supply. Yet, horses kept on increasing.

Apparently the most effective foe of the horse has appeared in the last ten years in the motor vehicle, although its importance in this respect is popularly exaggerated. According to statistics collected by the United States department of agriculture, the total state registrations of motor cars were 48,000 in 1908, about 500,000 in 1910, over 1,000,000 in 1912, over 2,400,000 in 1913, and 3,512,998 in 1914.

Automobiles do not merely displace horses but many are used by men in occupations dependent on either horses or automobiles for personal movement, such as real estate agents, builders, and some merchants and manufacturers, and there is also the large public automobile passenger service in cities and, again, the large number of automobiles owned by farmers in place of driving teams.

With motor trucks and commercial vehicles the case is different. Here is clearly a complete substitution of fuel power for horse power. It is the opinion that every motor truck on the average displaces three horses. The state records often merge the registration of motor trucks and commercial vehicles with that of automobiles, but to the extent that the separation is made, it is known that 118,682 of the former were registered in 1914. Probably the displacement of horses by motor trucks and commercial vehicles represents a stock on farms of a few million horses, and to these must be added the stock eliminated by the automobile.

Last of all, the farm tractor has appeared, with conjectural possibilities, but as yet with no perceptible displacement of horses. Unusual and large demands for horses for war purposes have been made since the autumn of 1914. During the ten years preceding, from 19,000 to 40,000 horses were exported annually, while the imports were from 5,000 to 23,000, so that the net exports were no appreciable draft on domestic production. In the first year of the war 259,840 horses were exported, in the second 337,538, and in the third 278,474 horses, and within less than a year the needs of the army of this country have called for a large number of horses. Notwithstanding the various forces that have been working against the increase of horses at their breeding places, of rather, is common expectation, to reduce their numbers at a strong rate, the fact is that horses on farms increased at the average yearly rate of 188,000 since 1900 and more than that since 1910, or 216,000 per year. Per capita of the population, farm horses tended to increase from 0.19 of 1 horse in 1850 to 0.24 in 1890 and 1900, after which the decline has been to 0.20% in 1918, or still above 1850. At the same time, however, by means of machinery the farm horse has constantly gained as a producer.

Strange though it may seem, the average price of a horse at the farm, all ages and conditions included, is less than it was four years ago, and even eight years ago. Since 1897 horse prices at the farm for January 1 had risen from $31.51 to $111.46 by 1911, the highest average in the department of agriculture's record of 58 years, but a decline followed to $101.60 in 1918 and then a gain to $104.23 in 1918, apparently caused by the war.

"SCENT CAPS" FOR THE HAIR

Locks May Be Perfumed by Wearing the Little Head Covering One Night a Week.

Any woman may add a dainty and completing touch to the toilet by perfuming the hair and may accomplish it with little or no expense. But of two things she must be very sure, and they are that the perfume is very delicate and that conflicting scents are never used.

If one prefers to use a liquid, good results are obtained by spraying the hair, after it has been shampooed and while it is loosely hanging, with an atomizer.

Or the perfume may be rubbed into the palms of the hand or upon the bristles of the hairbrush and rubbed or brushed immediately over the head. But the best result is achieved by wearing "scent caps," for they cover the hair and also protect it from unwelcome sniffs. All that is needed is a circular cloth large enough to keep the hair free and allow circulation of air. It may be fitted to the head by an elastic, but not too tight a one, so the circulation will be stopped. Silk and silkoline are the best materials for they are so sheer. An interlining is necessary, and this may be of the thinnest cashmere, for that holds the odor well. Between the inner and outer caps sprinkle any kind of sachet you may desire. Oris root is sweet and lasting, but never cloying. Thoroughly brush and comb the hair at night and braid it loosely. Then slip the light little cap on overnight. The hair will acquire a delicate perfume. Tiny sachet pads sewed into hats take little time and arrange, and they help the hair retain the sweetness which the air might otherwise
