PRO HONO PUBLICO.

The following are some of the decisions of the Post office Department relating to newspapers.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered wishing to continue their subscription.

If subscribers under the direction of their periodicals, the publishers may continue them until all arrears are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, is held in law to be a subscriber.

The Courts have decided that "refusing to take periodicals from the office, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud."

Fellow Citizens, we are happy to greet you upon the return of the anniversary of our Nation's Birthday.

Ninety-eight years ago, while the dark clouds of war still hung over our plains and rivers, from the Hudson to the Ashley, and our scattered forces were driven from post to redoubt; while some of the best men in the land were in doubt as to what would be the fate of the contest for the liberty of our land and nation, fifty-six brave men at Philadelphia, called the Continental Congress, placed their signatures to a document called the Declaration of Independence, and by that act announced to the world that henceforth we were to be a free and independent nation.

But history tells us that the contest was not ended with this announcement. For six long and weary years our ancestors struggled on and contended with a mighty foe till at length the battle of Yorktown virtually closed the contest and Mother Britain acknowledged the independence of her wayward colonies.

From that day to this the 4th of July has been national holiday, and may it so continue until time shall no more.

We believe that it was John Adams who wrote to his wife the day after the declaration was signed, in these words: "The fourth of July, 1776, will be a memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival.

It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to Almighty God. It ought to be solemnized with pomp, shows, games, sports, guns, bonfires and illuminations from one end of the country to the other, from this time forward and forever. You will think me transported with enthusiasm, but I am not. I am well aware of the toil, and blood, and treasure that it will cost to maintain this declaration and support and defend these States, yet through all the gloom I can see the rays of light and glory."

These were the prophetic words of a statesman. It did cost years of toil, the effusion of blood, and the expenditure of treasure, but the end was worth the price.

Let us therefore rejoice in this day, and strive to perpetuate the blessings of liberty for which this day became famous.

When it comes again and again, a century will have elapsed since the day became famous. Then let one grand jubilee resound from the Atlantic to the Pacific; from the St. Lawrence to the Rio Grande, or may be to the lathums of Dakin, with Philadelphia as the centre point of attraction.

Let one halloo resound, one voice with one accord shout the glad news that a nation which was born in a day has lived a hundred years, and but a tithe of its glory hath yet been told.

PRESS CONVENTION.

A CONVENTION OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PRESS OF THE PENINSULA, IMPORTANT SUBJECTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

We understand that the editors of the newspapers of Salisbury have resolved to unite in calling on the editors of the press and representatives of the different railroads on the peninsula to meet in convention at Salisbury, to devise means for the improvement and development of the Eastern Shore, and for the consideration of many subjects relating to the press of the peninsula.

We understand that all throughout the Eastern Shore there has for years been a deep seated feeling of dissatisfaction because of the inconveniences to which the people of the peninsula were subjected who had business transactions with the capital of the State of Maryland. For instance, suppose persons in either of the lower counties should have urgent business at Annapolis, any one could go from Salisbury, Berlin, or any other point in either of the lower counties to New York City and back again in less time than it would take to reach Annapolis.

A place at the mouth of the peninsula of Delaware will conduct every one that ought to constitute one. Still instead of being divided among three, it is considered the best means of developing its resources. Its utilization will form a subject for discussion. The peninsula entire would make a respectable State, and we see no good reason why an effort should not be made for its accomplishment. The editors of the Salisbury press, who have taken the initiative in this matter, whatever the result, deserve the thanks of the community. —Every Evening.

We believe that some good can be accomplished by a convention of the newspaper and railroad men, and others who will be invited to attend in convention. But we are one of those who believe it will take sometime, (notwithstanding the great incoveniences of visiting the State capital) to get our people to consent to a separation from the remainder of the good old State of Maryland; her historic memories are dear to the heart of every Eastern as well as Western shoreman, and while our pecuniary interests might point to a union of the Peninsular counties with Delaware and the Eastern Shore counties of Virginia, yet our State pride would be an almost insurmountable barrier to the scheme, yet time and circumstances work miracles and it may be one of the events of the not distant future.

THE THIRD TERM.

Much has been said, and probably more will be written, pro and con on this subject. It has been alleged on the one side that Grant was scheming for a third term, with a view to the inauguration of Cusserian in his own person whilst, on the other hand, it was claimed that this was the cry of alarmists who could see nothing but what was wrong in the Radical party and the actions of its President. But the indications now are that such a purpose is seriously contemplated. We recollect in 1870 hearing one the most astute politicians of this country express his opinion of General Grant. They had been classmates at West Point, intimate as it was both remained in the army, and the gentleman of whom we speak had known Grant during his residence in St. Louis and had abundant opportunity observing him, (and to do this was to study him with a cold searching eye), during the stirring days of the civil war, and he gave it as his deliberate opinion that he was the most dangerous man this country had ever produced. With an ardor which, when once aroused, was hard to gratify, and not to be checked by obstacles that would daunt ordinary men, with a courage which, though it was no consequence of the object once fixed, for it added his character thus—knowing his ambition was fixed on the Presidency, knowing that he had no political principles, he would nominate the expedient of making Grant the nominee of that party, with reason to believe he would prefer a nominat from this source. It was hoped by the gentleman to whom we allude, and whose name for obvious reason we do not mention that one elevated and surrounded by Democratic statesmen and Democratic influences, this man, so potent for good or evil, would have his inimitable will enlisted for the pacification of the distracted country on constitutional and Democratic principles, and thus avert evils which this sagacious political fore-saw. But other considerations, keeping in view the Democratic nomination and Grant, the Radical and of course was elected. It is not for us to say wht the Democratic lead reacted wisely or not. We are not now called upon to do. But at the time of which we write Grant had been inaugurated a little more than a year when the above conversation took place. It was concluded on the part of our friend by saying that Grant would never come out of the White House without his own will unless he was brought out "toes up." What has been the result of that prophecy? Four years have elapsed, and during that period, Grant has been re-elected for a second term, and is secretly wary in his seat once more. His name, as early as 1865, suggested to many of the leading Democrats the expedient of making Grant the nominee of that party, with reason to believe he would prefer a nominat from this source. RIVER IMPROVEMENT.—At a meeting held at the Court House on Wednesday night, called for the purpose of raising the means to dyke or wharf up the sides of Wicomico river previous to dredging the channel. On motion James White was called to the chair and J. E. Ellegood appointed secretary. Col. Sam'l A. Graham stated the object of meeting, whereupon a committee of three were appointed to solicit subscriptions. The following gentlemen composed that committee, Joseph Cannon, A. P. Traeder and G. W. White, any or all of whom are authorized to receive subscriptions. Several gentlemen increased their original subscriptions, and others expressed a willingness to do so, after which the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

—let us watch her as she moves silently on her course, shedding her mild radiance all around her; how beautiful she looks so mild, so gentle, so winning as gradually she moves along until she reaches the western hills. Now let us turn our eyes eastward and behold that scene. See! that beautiful King as he comes into view. All the sky is illumined with his rays, only now and then are seen a few light white clouds, which are so fleecy that they are as angels to usher in the new day. Like the queen of the night it passes on in its orbit until it arrives at that place where it is excluded from our view, and leaves its last lingering rays to watch for the twilight which modestly approaches, and pins its curtain with a star.

The beauties in earth are displayed to us in many ways. If we ramble through the forest we find there many beauties hidden deep in the recesses of the dry leaves and bushes, yes, green vines bearing little berries for the purpose of feeding the lower animals.

What is more beautiful than to watch a babbling brook winding its silver threads among the quiet meads and sloping hillsides, as if in joy and gladness it would spring from its pebbly bed; or to catch a glimpse of a mighty river rushing over the precipice—in not that truly beautiful?

If we could duly appreciate the goodness of our Creator we would see beauty in everything, but his mysterious ways are not to be known to the children of earth; therefore, with true gratitude let us ever strive to enjoy the beauties of the present life.

PROBONO PUBLICO.

The following are some of the decisions of the Post office Department relating to newspapers.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered wishing to continue their subscription.

If subscribers order the disappearance of their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills, and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, is held in law to be a subscriber.

The Courts have decided that "refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud."

THE FINANCE.

The subject of the finances, or rather the pecuniary condition of the country, has not been selected without due consideration of the importance of the topic and its essential relation to every individual in the United States. The maximum debt of the United States was reached soon after the close of the war in the year 1866, at the sum of twenty seven hundred millions of dollars. Since, the government has reduced the principal nearly five hundred and fifty millions, paid over eleven hundred millions as interest, besides the annual expenses of the national government.

The recuperative power and financial energy displayed by our people after a long and exhaustive war has never been excelled in the history of any nation. So plentiful did money appear that many flattered themselves with the delusive idea that we as a nation were enriched by the war. A debt of something over three thousand millions, including the issues of bonds and greenbacks, and the remarkable inflow of foreign capital in the building of railroads and the development of industries, so so bolstered up our credit that the exhaustive drain on the industry of the country, State and national, in paying off the debt, interest, and providing the running expenses of the government, was not perceived until the grand collapse last fall awakened the people and opened their eyes to the real condition of the finances of the country.

Since Congress has been in a flutter of excitement, and bill after bill of financial relief has been proposed, discussed, voted down, or, if passed, vetoed by the President.

In this connection it would be conducive to a clearer understanding and reason for the views advanced further on, if a comparison is made between the war debt resulting from the contest with England in 1812 and our present debt.

At the conclusion of the war of 1812 the national debt amounted to one hundred and two ty-seven millions and twenty years was consumed in the payment of it, or a little over six millions a year, while we have been paying on present debt at the rate of six millions a month. The per capita indebtedness in 1816 was about fifteen dollars, in 1870 seventy-three dollars per capita.

Since the late war, in the space of seven years, we have paid nine times as much as was paid by the government from 1816 to 1835 when the war debt of 1812 was finally paid off.

Considering these facts and figures it must be evident to every one that the industry and ability of the country has been too severely strained and taxed. And it must also be plain that the immediate resumption of specie payment or the fixing of a near day in the future would result in wide spread ruin and disaster to the country. The appointment of a near time in the future for the resumption of specie payment would cause such an immediate shrinkage in values as would be resultant in extreme distress to the people. It would cause much alarm and the consequent stoppage of many enterprises, lessen the demand for labor, cause debts to be cancelled according to law, and the forced sales of quantities of real estate. It would then appear that what the country now requires is time to recuperate from the present exhaustive financial condition; industry on the part of the people to make money, and economy to save. If the country is freed from the nightmares of expectant compulsory resumption or further inflation, business will necessarily and quietly adjust itself, and with a prudent economy on the part of the government confidence and prosperity will be restored, and the country will enter upon an unparalleled career of prosperity and development.

THE WILMINGTON CONFERENCE ACADEMY.

This institution completed its first year the 19th of June last. If we can judge from its infancy we may expect to meet from the vigor of mature years. Without a nucleus to start with, without a proper building (the Academy building is just completed) its success has been large, far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of its most enthusiastic friends. In one of our exchanges the name of the ten students who made the highest averages during the year are published, together with the averages they made. They ranged from 90 to 98 with 100 no perfection, showing a degree of application rarely equalled by the students of our oldest institutions. On our table lies the first issue of the "Reporter," a paper published by the Principal in the interests of the Academy, and education and progress generally. Its typographical appearance and the character of its matter, and more than this, its avowed object, command it to our notice and the notice of our readers. That our peninsular Academy, but a year old, should meet with such success as to justify its present Principal in the publication of a monthly journal, should be a subject of congratulation to the peninsula. We, the citizens of Wisconsin, have a right to a special interest and pride in this and its future success. Its Principal and Vice Principal, Mr. Williams and Mr. Gordy are both natives of our own county. But motives stronger than those of sectional pride should influence us. The benefits secured by education are too generally admitted to need mention here. But every one knows that these are benefits of which our peninsula stands very much in need. That this institution if successful will exert a powerful interests is obvious. Its success, of course, largely depends upon the support and patronage it receives from the peninsula.

COMETS STRIKING THE EARTH.—Prof. Henry M. Parkhurst, of New York, says :

"It was formerly supposed that if the head of a comet should strike the earth, it would destroy it. Modern discoveries prove that even such fears have little foundation.

Less than two years ago the earth actually was struck by the head of a comet, and probably very few knew it, and not one of us knew it at the time. It had been ascertained that certain meteoric showers followed the track of certain comets, and Prof. A. S. Herschel suspected that there might be such meteoric showers in the track of this comet.

As it had been known to divide into two portions, and had subsequently disappeared entirely. He requested observers to watch especially for these meteors in the last week of November, 1872.

Prof. Klinkerfus saw the shower, of unusual brilliancy, and thinking it possible that it might be visible as a comet, immediately telegraphed to Professor Pogson Madras: "Bird touched earth on 27th; search in the direction toward which the meteors were moving. Prof. Pogson searched and found the comet, which he saw on two successive evenings, but it was so faint that it was not again seen.

In this instance, therefore, the earth passed directly through the head of a comet which was afterward seen, and the only effect was a brilliant shower of meteors.

We should hardly expect an equal effect from passing through the tail of a comet 26,00 miles from the head."

THE MILFORD BARD

The editor of the Lancaster Express gives some interesting data referring to the celebrated Dr. John Lofland of the State of Delaware, known to literature as the "Milford Bard." He says: Being one of the three entrusted with an examination of the voluminous papers of the "Milford Bard," we learned to our surprise that the principal income of his long and busy literary life had been derived from furnishing him to be learned men in various professions for a consideration. If his executor had been imposed to go into the black mailing box no man could have come money out of the drafts of these literary productions and correspondence relating to them. One of the best speeches on the tariff ever delivered in Congress, or one at least which received the greatest applause in the newspapers of the party in sympathy with the speaker, was written by the Bard, for which he received a sum sufficient to pay his debts and keep up a carriage for a month. The data found in this connection revealed the fact that it was on that occasion that we and one of the gentlemen associated with us in this estimation, had, in response to a telegram from Wilmington, searched for the poor Bard (whose love for drink was his greatest fault) and restored him to his friends. He had written congressional speeches, addresses for professors and heads of literary institutions, and theses for medical students, and "orations" for college graduates innumerable.

In a world his posthumous correspondence was the most remarkable and interesting revelation in literary or professional matters we have ever met with.

By direction of his executor everything relating to this part of the work of his life was destroyed, and that only retained which might be a legitimate aid in writing his life and editing his works. This, however, was not completed by the gentleman to whom it was then entrusted.

ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE ON A LADY IN PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY, Md.—On Friday last an outrage was attempted on a lady near Silver Hill, a postoffice station on the road from Good Hope Hill to Surrattsville, but a negro named George Dorsey, alias Joe Williams. The lady, who lives near Silver Springs, had occasion to go to a spring near by, this negro offered to accompany her. She declined, but afterwards permitted him to carry the vessel containing the water, he being a trusted servant. At the spring, when the bucket was filled and handed him to carry, he said "put it on my head." She complied, and while she was raising the bucket to his head he caught and tried to throw her to the ground. A struggle commenced, and she, suspecting his intention, commenced screaming at the top of her voice, and resisted successfully until persons at the house hearing her cries ran to her rescue and the negro decamped suddenly to the woods, since nothing had been seen of him. A reward of $100 for his apprehension has been offered by Mr. John T. Taylor, living in that vicinity. The lady, in defense of herself, tore the clothing off the villain, as portions of it were found at the spring, consisting of half of his vest, in the pocket of which was found an old silver watch and brass chain, with other articles sufficient to identify him. A description of him by the authorities in the neighboring counties and detective of Washington, Geo. Dorsey, alias Joe Williams, is about five feet six inches in height, full face, slight side whiskers, of dark gingerbread color, supposed to be about thirty years of age, and when last seen had on a dark cloth hat, striped pantaloons and dark shirt.

A FATAL BATH.—A Cape May telegraph, last evening, says : Mary Shaw, wife of Joseph Shaw, Manayunk, a member of an excursion party that arrived here to-day, bathed this morning contrary to the advice of her physician, and died shortly after going into the water from internal hemorrhage. She was much debilitated by sickness. She was fifty-three years of age, and leaves eight children. When she was taken out of the water Dr. Duffy made unavailing efforts to save her.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The morning of the 98th Anniversary of the day when the American Eagle first rose sublimely and flapped his wings over "the home of the brave and the land of the free," was ushered in, sans bells, sans cannon, sans fireworks, sans everything, except picnics, which were spread around with bounteous plentiness.

The picnic at Thorington's woods, under the management of the Methodist Episcopal Christian Association, was a scene of joy and enjoyment, and although they were old-fashioned enough to listen to the reading of the Declaration by Sewell Pilchard, Esq., and to enjoy good speeches by G. W. Cooper and Jas. E. Elligood, Esqrs., yet there was not enough "spread eagle" in the celebration to hinder those attending it from spending a day which, for social enjoyment and pleasure has never been surpassed in this section. While the younger ones enjoyed themselves swinging the more mature indulged in the pleasures of croquet and coquetry, and we have no doubt that while one declaration was read several were made.

Late in the evening a large circle engaged in that fascinating game, King William. We wished to be there, but could not stand the press. Nat Parsons ran a back to the car floor and the station house platform. His leg was cut in a gash about four inches long and one inch deep. With him, he will be out again in a few weeks.

M. S. McMullen, conductor on the W. & P. R. R., met with quite a painful accident at the depot Tuesday morning. While engaged in transferring berries from the car on the W. & P. R. R. to a car on the E. S. R. R., his foot slipped and passed down between the edge of the car floor and the station house platform. The small boy, who was with him, said, "I am sorry, but I am afraid you are going to get hurt." "Don't be afraid," said M. S. McMullen, "I am not afraid."

A scow covered with plank, left Camden bridge for Williams' Point, with a right smart sprinkling of the fair and unfair sex on board, who picnicked and croqueted the day away. They had much enjoyment, but no "spread eagle." Who declared?

The small party that went to A. G. Toadvine's farm, spent the day very pleasantly in the shade.

Many parties enjoyed the day in small boats—indulging in red wine and ice—which is said to have a good effect on a hot day.

Two picnics, one in Jersey and the other just beyond California, enabled our colored folks to enjoy the fourth.

Three parades added much to the enjoyment of the day by spending a part of the 4th in Salisbury. They were welcomed with bloody hands to a hospitable retreat. Guns honored their coming and exit, and though there was much excitement, fortunately they hurt no one.

They not only prey on fish near the surface of the water, but go along the bottom, and run sand-eels out of the sand, after the manner of a hawk in a field, for which purpose their snouts are sharp like a hawks.

The purpose is captured for its oil, of which it yields a goodly quantity.

They go up to 10 miles with young and old, and bring forth more than one at a time, and that is in the middle of summer. They live to be about 30 years old, and die with their snout above the water.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the low ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefore without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in the remarkable way of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic. Cure Congestion of Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritive, Laxative, Detoxicative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Elliptics.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these BITTERS according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs well beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extreme derangement of the stomach and liver, and other malignant viscera. In their treatment, a purgative exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no enanthem for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy function of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS, and the epidemic can be held in check.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and other various complaints, are all objects of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown, that great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these BITTERS are equal to any other constitutional Diseases. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown, that great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these BITTERS are equal to any other constitutional Disease.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and stagnated in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when to keep the blood pure and the health of your body restored.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

The following are some of the decisions of the Post office Department relating to newspapers.

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered wishing to continue their subscription.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills, and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, is held in law to be a subscriber.

The Courts have decided that "refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and destroying them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud."

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES.

A number of gentlemen have been named as the successors of Col. Wilson, provided it is conceded that his successor is to be a Democrat. To begin at the upper end of the District, we understand that Kent will present the Hon. George Vickers or James A. Pearce, Esq., either of whom would make a good representative. A more faithful representative than Hon. George Vickers never crossed the Chesapeake Bay, both in counsels of the State and nation. He was always found at his post and ready to do battle for the right. Should he get the nomination he will receive the hearty support of the Democracy of Wicomico. Mr. Pearce is a young lawyer of considerable merit, and would acquit himself creditably, and make an efficient and able representative.

Queen Anne's, it is said, may present Col. Earle, Mr. Keating or Judge Robertson, either of whom would no doubt make a faithful representative. The latter is said to be very popular in this part of the State. And from our knowledge of him as a gentleman of ability, we are disposed to believe that if he should feel called upon to leave his present honorable position to serve the people he would receive a flattering vote in our county.

Talbot is disposed, we understand, to present a candidate either in the person of ex-Gov. P. F. Thomas or Capt. E. L. F. Hardcastle. Mr. Thomas is a gentleman of considerable ability, and was once considered an orator of some reputation. He has served in both branches of the Legislature: was Governor of the State, and once elected to the U. S. Senate, and was ruled out because it was his misfortune to be a white man. (Revels, negro, was admitted.) Capt. Hardcastle is a modest man, and it is believed he will do nothing desperate to obtain the nomination.

Carolina, we learn, will present Hon. Daniel Fields, whose career in the Maryland Senate has familiarized his name with every leading measure advocated or opposed in that body. Mr. Fields is known to be an economist, and every one is convinced that he will not give his consent to any measure which has the semblance of extravagance on its face or lurking in its folds. He is quite an effective debater, and the man who gets the better of him in a series of contests is no mean antagonist, but may be set down as a gentleman of ability. Mr. Fields is a farmer, but his experience in the departments of Legislation has prepared him for the most active and trying ordeal of a deliberative body. If nominated he will receive the hearty support of the farmers of Wicomico.

Dorchester presents the name of C. Sullivan, Esq., a young lawyer of considerable talent, who, if nominated, will be a pet with the young Democracy of the District, and will receive a hearty support.

Wicomico, as yet, has not presented a candidate. Mr. Thomas Humphreys has been spoken of, a lawyer of fair parts. He has held the office of State's Attorney for four years, and at the formation of our new county, at a time when his path lay through an unbeaten course, he armed himself with credit to the safety and honor to himself. He would make a fair representative in the 44th Congress.

Somerset, always patriotic, presents the name of Honorable James U. Dennis, who is a gentleman of fine acquirements; a good and ready debator and an active man, would make a good representative and command a hearty support in the lower counties.

Worcester, we regret to say, has shown a disposition (though unwilling) to excuse her gifted son from another trial of his patience in the turmoil of Congressional legislation, yet we still hope that he may be prevailed upon to accept a renomination and fight the old battle over again, for we believe with him as our standard bearer the contest would be safe and the victory sure.

The Democratic State Central Committee met in Baltimore on the 15th inst. at the Maryland Institute, Hon. Joshua Vassant in the chair and John P. Poe, Secretary. The chief business of the Committee was to fix the time and place of meeting of the several Congressional Conventions, which were fixed as follows: First Congressional District Convention meets at Cambridge on Sept 9th, 12 M.—Second District at Towson Sept 10th, 12 M. Third District Sept 17th, 12 M., at Broadway Institute. Fourth District Sept. 17th, 12 M., at Lyric Hall. Fifth District at Annapolis, Sept. 18th, 12 M. Sixth District Sept. 16th, 12 M., at Hagerstown Female Seminary.

ANOTHER GREAT CONFLAGRATION.

The city of Chicago was again visited by the fire fiend on Tuesday last, which destroyed some ten blocks of buildings, including the Post Office, several churches and hotels. The district burned includes about half a mile in length, and in some places a quarter of a mile in width. Loss about $4,025,000.

STORY OF TOM MARSHALL.

Tom Marshall at one time indulged in such excesses that his friends became alarmed, and determined to make an effort to reclaim him. Mr. Mangum was designated to remonstrate with the wild Kentuckian, and endeavor to impress him with a proper sense of the peril of his position.

"I'll hear anything you have to say, Mangum," said Marshall, as the Senator opened the conversation.

"Your friends have been greatly concerned at the manner you are conducting yourself."

"Don't wonder at it. Been badly bothered myself. Sent you here to talk with me, didn't they?"

"Yes; they thought as I sometimes take a glass myself, my advice would have the more effect."

"You do drink too much, Mangum—I've been thinking of speaking to you on the subject. But what do you want me to do?"

"Your friends have the greatest admiration for your genius and talents. They are confident that with sobriety and application you might reasonably aspire to the highest place under the Government. What do you think I could get?"

"I have no doubt you might be made Chief Justice of the United States."

"There's been one Chief Justice in my family; I don't care to follow him."

"You might even hope to become President."

"No great credit to follow Captain Tyler. But I tell you what I'd do, Mangum: you make me President of the United States, and if I don't make you Secretary of State I'll agree to be blanked! Let's take a drink,"—AS OLD STRANGER, in Harper's Magazine for June.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

The August number is added to the season; light, brilliant, yet containing much valuable information on numerous topics. An instalment of "The New Hypocrite," by Edward Strahan, is illustrated by Dore, manifests, as usual, a rich and rare quaintness of humor in the writer, and an apparently exhaustless sense of the grotesque and ludicrous on part of the illustrators, two together making this, perhaps, the most original and suggestive series ever published in any American or foreign magazine. "A Tour in the China Seas," by Fannie B. Fendig, illustrated, is a pleasing and quite instructive description of places and customs but little known to the general reader. "Maledum," by George Macdonald, assumes new attitudes and relationships, and the story, as it progresses, decidedly grows upon the reader. "Camp Cure," by S. Wier Mitchell, is indicative of the author's great familiarity with the resources and ways of nature, and is a bracing bit of reading for this time of the year, showing beyond question, that the writer knows from experience, and appreciates, the healing power of the woods. The opening of "Three Feathers," by William Black, is bright and promising, with some attention to the manners and customs of the worthy or less. The improvement is a two-story Dwelling House, colonnade and kitchen, with necessary out buildings. This place is conveniently located, either for water business, or for a person engaged in business in town, and is a desirable property.

Local Advertiser.

Saturday, July 18, 1874.

This paper has the largest circulation of any paper in Salisbury.

Tedious—Hunting Locals.

Huckleberrying—Our Ladies.

Eggs bring 18 cents per dozen.

Salmon-fishing has begun in earnest.

Spring chickens are worth 15 cents a pound.

Your attention is called to the bird law in another part of this paper.

Oysters continue in good supply and bring 35 cents a bushel.

Our market is well supplied with fish and crabs from Crisfield.

A new carriage and harness for sale, cheap. Inquire at this office.

Won't somebody put a head on that blamed comet?

John D. Johnson, Esq., seems to ship a large portion of the small fruit from this place.

High-bush whortleberries were selling yesterday at 9 cents a quart.

Appleton's Cyclopaedia, in 16 volumes, for Sale. Inquire at this office.

David B. Farlow expects to move his jewelry shop on Main street soon.

Quite a number of our Salisbury folks will go to the Beach next week.

Building Lots for sale. Inquire at this office.

Several of our young men can readily tell you where the "Continental Hotel" is.

Several "darks" went for W. S. Parsons' apple trees on Sunday morning last.

We were visited with a refreshing rain Thursday afternoon. It laid the dust, and made the air much cooler.

The picnic of the M. E. Church South Sunday School on last Thursday afternoon was a pleasant affair.

QUERY—Why is it some few of our young men seek Polk's mill pond shores so much?

One Iron Safe, one Piano, and one Estey Organ for sale. Inquire at this office.

Wild blackberries are worth absolutely nothing in New York. Whortleberries bring fair prices.

There is lots of fun catching black perch five or six miles down the river. Pull 'em up two at a time.

There is an improved feeling in the lumber market! several vessels are now loading.

Mr. J. W. F. Cooper and Captain L. A. Parsons, are in Philadelphia on a little printing business.

Mr. W. F. Jackson's residence has been very much improved, by a neat brick pavement recently laid.

PRAEACHING.—Rev. T. R. Cremer will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday morning and evening. Go out and hear a good sermon.

Bishop Hopkins has no trouble selling ice cream. His cream is made by R. B. Smith, who can certainly make as good cream as any man in the state.

The latest thing out is a little steam engine to run sewing machines. The affair can be furnished complete for sixty dollars.

And now one of Salisbury's fine young business men feels himself about ten thousand dollars better off. It's a boy, and weighs nine pounds.

We are impatiently waiting for the not very distant day when a man will be presented with a sewing machine and paid a bonus for taking it.

The comet is lost in moonshine, mixed with twilight. It can scarcely be seen without the aid of an instrument.

We overheard a friend from Worcester say on the streets a few days since that he was "full of locust auction." What's that?

J. Marcellus Dashiel, Justice of the Peace, has opened an office opposite the Post Office for the transaction of legal business.

Andrew Leonard, James James and several others of our colored citizens are erecting comfortable dwelling houses near the depot.

The schooner Tropic having been almost entirely rebuilt will get a new name. Hereafter she will be known as the General Humphreys, in honor of Genl. Humphrey Humphreys.

Sam Beckwith of the Chronicle passed through town on Wednesday morning. He was in a big hurry and did not stop to see a soul. We'll excuse you this time, Sir; but future call and see us.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR.—We learn from Baltimore Sun of Thursday last that George E. Wingate, has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for the 3rd district of this county, vice Harris failed to qualify. And F. C. Todd officer of Registration, for the 9th district, vice U. C. Anderson died.

Two commissions have been received.

The efforts of one of our amateur sportsmen to make his canine set a snipe Thursday afternoon was a perfect failure. A little more practice and a younger dog, may bring success.

BLACKBERRIES—News from the cities, show that it will not pay to ship wild berries there. The market is glutted, yet cultivated berries sell for 12 to 16 cents per quart.

Boys desiring to loaf around town will please avoid the Printing office of the ADVERTISER. A word to the wise is sufficient, when we want them we will send word.

The committee appointed to raise money for dyking the river are meeting with much success. The thing should be pushed through now by all means.

Our citizens are impatient for the W. & P. R. R. to be completed to the Bay, so that they can run down and take a bath without any trouble about back riding.

LOST.—A small fan trimmed with red muslin, and also has some writings on it amongst which is June 4th 1874. The finder will receive the thanks of a handsome young lady left at this office.

WHY NOT LENGTHEN THE W. & P. R. R., down to Nanticoke Point, starting from Salisbury, thence to Rockawalkin, Catchpenny, Quantico, Wetiquine, Tyaskin and Nanticoke.

Watermelons are now ripe and some few have found their way into market. They bring good prices. We learn that they expect to ship from Tyaskin by the last of next week.

The first crate of peaches this season was shipped from this depot last Thursday, by Mr. James Kirkpatrick, of Quantico, Md., to Messrs. N. G. Ryer & Co., New York.

The excursion party are to leave about the 25th of this month for Norfolk, Fortress Monroe, Piney Point, Cobb's Island, and other places of interest on the lower Chesapeake.

Justices of the Peace and others entitled to a bound copy of the Acts of 1874, can find the same at the Clerk's Office. They are now ready for delivery. S. P. TOADVINE.

A. Munson, House and Sign Painter, has a beautiful sign at his door. Call and see it, and if you want a sign or house painted or papered, Munson is the man's son what can do it.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS—There are five free scholarships due Wicomico county in St. John's College, one of which entitles the holder to board and tuition free, provided the applicant will give bond to teach school two years after he graduates.

RIVER IMPROVEMENT.—The committee who went over to Berlin to meet the Board of the W. & P. R. R. last week to receive subscriptions for the purpose of improving the Wicomico River, received subscriptions to the amount of $335. The deepening of the Wicomico is a good thing for Berlin and the beach, as well as for Salisbury, and they know it.

We call especial attention to the sale of a valuable house and lot at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Tracy's Hotel, the property is situated in canons, and is likely to be sold a great bargain, only ten per cent. in cash required, the balance, 1/2 & 3 years, a rare chance to get a convenient residence, for a small amount of money, come and attend the sale.

To our PATRONS, we have repeatedly informed our patrons that a large amount is still due us, on our subscription books and we have notified a large number of the amount by postal card, and some of them have responded, we hope that all the rest who are in arrears will do likewise, we can work for nothing and find ourselves, and it is too much to ask of us.

The ADVERTISER will be discontinued to all subscribers who do not pay arrears on or before the 10th day of September next. As we have a large list of subscribers, advertisers and contributors to serve, we cannot afford to send the paper free. All contributors who do not let us hear from them at least once in three months, will be dropped from the books.

Professional gentlemen who have heretofore received the paper free will continue to do so, provided they be come contributors or patrons.

DEATH OF AN OLD DEFENDER.—Mr. John E. Pollitt, a defender of Baltimore in 1812-14, died at his late residence, Chatworth street, yesterday in the eighty-seventh year of his age. His remains will be taken to Salisbury, Wicomico county, this morning for interment. Baltimore Sun.

Mr. Pollitt's remains were buried at the Presbyterian church in this place at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Rev. J. J. Smyth officiating clergyman. Mr. Pollitt was the last survivor of a circle of aged men who have lived in this section for nearly a century, several of whom have died within the last decade.

HORSE "ESTRAY."—Came on my premises on Friday, 9th inst., one large gray horse, plated on all four feet, and slightly lame in the left hind leg. The owner will please come forward, prove property, pay charges, and take him away.

Richard S. Bounds, Upper Trappe, Md.

I hereby certify that the above is a correct description of the said Horse taken up by R. S. Bounds as an "estray." Witness my hand this 14th day of July, 1874.

HANDY FOOKS, J. P.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—The Board of School Commissioners for this County met on Tuesday and transacted business, as follows. The Trustees of School district No. 4, election district No. 8, were authorized to have school house repaired, so as to be comfortable.

New School houses were ordered to be built, in school district No. 1, (Shepard's) and No. 4, (New Hope), election district No. 10, election district No. 4, in accordance with the instructions of the Board. It was determined to build a new school house in part of Salisbury known as Califormia.

Dr. Freeny was empowered to contract, for the moving and repairing of the school house, in district No. 10, election district No. 4, and Dr. G. W. Freeny was authorized to select the sites for said schools.

Dr. Freeny was empowered to contract, for the moving and repairing of the school house, in district No. 10, election district No. 4, and Dr. G. W. Freeny was authorized to select the sites for said schools.

Train A. Bounds, Esq., was authorized to sell the old school house, in district No. 3, election district 10.

Messrs. James White, Thomas H. W. Mitchell, and Robert H. Dryden were appointed Trustees for the public school in California.

It was determined that the schools should open on September 28th.

THE BIRD LAW.

CHAPTER 127.

AN ACT for the better protection of birds in Wicomico county.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That it shall not be lawful for any person or persons in Wicomico county, to shoot, kill or in any way trap or destroy any mocking bird, blue birds, swallows, martins, robins, cat birds, woodpeckers, sparrows, wrens, whip-poor-wills, doves, or any other insectivorous birds, at any season, of year, under the penalty of two dollars, for each bird so killed, taken or destroyed, provided however, that nothing in this act shall be construed as to prevent any person from killing the birds mentioned herein when found upon his, her or their own premises.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That no person shall at any time during the year wilfully destroy the eggs or nests of any such birds as are named in this act within this county, under the penalty of two dollars for each and every offence.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the possession by any person within the county of any of the birds mentioned in this act as shot, trapped, killed or otherwise destroyed, shall be prima facie evidence to convict under this act.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That any person offending against any of the provisions of this act, shall on conviction thereof be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and after presentment and indictment by a grand jury and conviction, be fined not less than two dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than five nor more than ten days, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the constable and bailiffs of the several election districts of the county, or the wards of the several cities, to arrest all persons whom they see violating any of the sections of this act, and take them before the nearest justice of the peace, to be dealt with as this act directs.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That any person or persons who shall shoot, kill or destroy any hawk or big owl, shall, by taking the said hawk or owl, or the head of said hawk or owl before any justice of the peace of said county, as evidence of said killing or destroying, shall receive an order upon the tax collector of Wicomico county for the sum of twenty-five cents, and the said tax collector of Wicomico county shall pay and return the same as he would money paid for any other purpose, and the said justice of the peace shall destroy said head so it cannot again be used fraudulently.

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Approved, this—day of March, 1874.

Persons visiting New York, will find it comfortable and pleasant to stop at the Mulphy House, at 23 Great Jones St., between Broadway & Bowery. Rooms without board $1.00 per day with board $3.00 per day, discount to permanent guests. They will also find Mr. Nash, the proprietor, and his assistants, quite obliging and kind. See card in another column.

We again call attention to the business of J. R. Helfrich, 92 Barclay street, New York. Mr. Helfrich is a reliable and experienced merchant, and shippers will do well to give him a trial. See card in another column.

We again call attention to the business of Wm. H. Peck & Co., No. 222 Washington street: This is a reliable firm, having had long experience in the business, and founded on a firm basis. The public may safely rely on the best prices and safe returns.

Also the card of Wm. H. Peck & Co., No. 222 Washington street: This is a reliable firm, having had long experience in the business, and founded on a firm basis. The public may safely rely on the best prices and safe returns.

G. E. Bartels, No. 274 Washington street, and 110 Warren street, also claims our attention, and we recommend him as an active, energetic young merchant, and one who has the confidence of the trading community, and he is sure to get good prices, and safe returns.

Messrs. Melick Bros. & Easton, No. 199 Chambers street, New York, are good and reliable men, and have for their agent, Wm. J. Riggan, Esq., at Philadelphian, who everybody knows to be a man of integrity. All persons shipping to this firm, may expect quick sales at good prices, and safe returns.

Harry C. Cook & Co., also claim their attention, they are good business men and will attend to the best interest of those who favor them with shipments. See card in another column.

The Courts have decided that "refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing them unsealed for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud."

92 BARCS.—His staff near the verge
He has now entered My twenty-second year, and according to the course of nature his pilgrimage here must soon be terminated, and we regret that his grey hairs were not permitted to go down to the grave in peace, and that his thousands and, or, we might say, millions of admirers should pronounce the valedictory.
"Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of the Lord, for many stars will be deck thy crown in glory."

Beecher's crime is not a personal one to himself. It will effect the minds, souls and consciences of the multitude, it will carry bitter anguish to thousands of hearts, and when the misdemeanors of other men will be forgotten, this one will stir the souls of men and women without number.

Since writing the above we have seen some more favorable accounts for the defense, and we sincerely hope, for the sake of Christianity and good morals, that Mr. Beecher may be able to show a clean record.

THE FUTURE OF THE DEMOCRACY.

No political party in this country ever had such a bright prospect ahead as the Democratic party now has.

Its opponents have already acknowledged that their mission is up, and that they have accomplished the work for which they were called.

It is true they have finished their work.
They found the country in debt even to themselves; they leave it in debt more than a thousand millions; they found the people prosperous and happy;
they leave them demoralized, in debt,
and without the means to extricate themselves; they have put in high places men utterly devoid of principle, honesty or merit. They have blotted out the mercantile navy, they enriched the rich by class legislation, they have made the poor poorer by the same means. The whole country groans under their maladministration of affairs, and the murmurings of the people are beginning to be heard on every hand. They have elevated the worst men, and put down the best, their whole course has been one of corruption and usurpation without a parallel in the history of this or any other country claiming to be free.

And it is now to the Democratic party alone that the people are looking for relief and a return to a sound basis of government and finances; and we hope that, although the people are greatly demoralized, the Democratic party will never be guilty of the corruptions which have manifested themselves in the party at present in power.

If they do, another party will soon hurl them from power, and ought to do so, when their acts tend to demoralization and corruption.

THE SEWING MACHINE MANIA.

This branch of trade is one which we think has assumed proportions entirely beyond reason. The estimated cost of the sewing machines sold in this and the adjoining counties during the present and past season, will far exceed the value of all the wheat and corn shipped from those counties during the same time, and still the people cry out and complain of the scarcity of money. It will now take every cent of money in Wisconsin county to pay for all the sewing machines which have been bought or engaged to be bought and and a single dress to be made on each one. This is a fact which might be taken into account while we are trying to solve the problem of where is all the money gone.

CONNECTICUT.—In our leader of last week we said that Judge Robertson, of the Court of Appeals, was a candidate for Congress. We did so upon the information of a gentleman from the upper part of the District, and it is due to the Judge that we should make the correction, as we learn from the Baltimore Sun that he is not a candidate.

INTEMPERANCE is abroad in the land.
First, old Alcohol; second, dress;

third, all manner of extravagance,

which might be curtailed to a great extent. It is high time our people are learning economy.

RAIL SHOOTING.

From the American Sportsman, Probably no river in the United States provides better grounds and of easier access than shooting than the Delaware:
on Bordentown southward to Port Penn.
The shores are overgrown at intervals with dense growth of reeds or wild oats. Li-zani Clavulosa, the favorite food of this bird, countless numbers of which take possession of the flats and bars, early in August, before the seed ripens.

September 1st ushers in rail shooting, and there are few sportsmen of Philadelphia and its surrounding town that do not enter into the sport with more or less zeal. By far the most numerous species of rail, or rail frequenting the Delaware is the sora, Rallus Carolinus, the Virginia or red rail. Rallus Virginicus is by no means rare, and can be seen in every bay of woods; the great red or king rail Rallus elegans, is occasionally shot and a ways considered a prize when secured; they are comparatively scarce, however.

The salt water mud hen, Rallus crepitans, is often beaten farther down the river, nearer the bay, and seldom wanders to the regions of fresh water. The writer killed one a year or two since in Chester island, in the Delaware, and I have heard of numbers being shot near Wilmington, farther south. Of the other branch of the rail family, the common coot or hen, bill Tulica nigra is often met with, and I have known of the common gallinule galatea, having been shot as far north as Pennsylvania, and it is on record that in 1818 the purple gallinule, Gallinula martinica, was shot on Long Island at the mouth of the Schuylkill by Mr. John Krider, of Philadelphia.

The favorite prints from which the sportsman's fires in quest of the rail are Bridgeport, Port Penn, Marcus Hook, Chester and the Lazaretto, and at all these places pushers or poachers can be secured at a price ranging from three to five dollars per title, and a score of boats start from these stations during the season.
Thirty or forty rail to a boat is considered an average bag, but seventy-five to one hundred are often boated; and last September at Port Penn, during a very heavy tide, Mr. Kerlin, of Chester, shot two hundred and twenty-six, the largest number ever known to have been bagged by a single sportsman in a day.

The boats used by the rail shooter are of a build peculiar to the Delaware, and are made very light, and often weigh but sixty or seventy pounds; they are modeled sharp both bow and stern, "clinker built," and are partly decked over at the end where the pusher stands, while propelling the skiff through the reeds. In front of the shooter a square receptacle is constructed where he can lay his ammunition box or cartridges, and reach them readily for rapid loading and firing.

By the twentieth of October, at which time we generally have a sharp frost, the rail all move southward and the shooting ceases.

Migratory birds claim the same feeding grounds during September, but while in pursuit of rail, they are seldom disturbed, for each bird is striving to bag
the greatest number of rail to be dropped on the return, and a great honor is attached to the "high boat."

Mallard, summer duck, green and blue winged teal, are often met with in the reeds, and it is advisable always to be provided with some cartridges loaded with larger shot than No. 10.

A. T. Stewart, (dry goods), having saved a little money, is going to Europe to spend some of it.

James Wood the well known Western base ball player, has recently lost a leg.

THE MARYLAND EDITORIAL
ASSOCIATION—THE ANNUAL EXCURSION.

The Maryland Editors' Association have decided to make their annual excursion this season to the Atlantic Ocean, near Berlin and Snow Hill, in this state, and arrangements have been made to leave Baltimore on the 5th of August, at 12 M., on a special steamer for Cambridge, one of the loveliest towns on the E. S.—

The members of the Association will be hospitably entertained at the private residences of the citizen of Cambridge and on the 6th the editors will leave for Seaford, Del., where dinner will be served; and next the veterans of the press will proceed to Salisbury, where they will spend the night as the guests of the citizens. At 7:30 P. M. of the 6th, in the Park at Salisbury, the annual oration will be delivered by the orator for this year, Colonel L. Victor Vaughan, of the Frederick Citizen. A special train will take the excursionists on the 7th to the beach near Berlin, where they will remain until the 10th, when they will leave for Green Run Beach, opposite Snow Hill.
On the 11th they will witness the penning
of the grand pony penning at Chincoteague Island. On the 12th the party will leave for Baltimore, arriving the next day. The programme promises an abundance of real enjoyment and fine sport. At Berlin the bathing is splendid, the waves rolling as high as at Cape May and Long Branch, and the undertow is very slight. The beautiful bay which separates the beach from the mainland, supplies in endless quantities clams, crabs fish and oysters. Tents will be pitched at the ocean side, and the Maryland editor will enjoy themselves in royal style, surrounded by the comforts of society.

Local Advertiser.

Saturday, July 25, 1874.

This paper has the largest circulation of any paper in Salisbury.

Many persons are planting their second crop of Irish potatoes.

It will soon be time for sowing turnips.

There is a probability of them dikes on the river being built very soon.

The glories of base-ball so far as Salisbury is concerned seem to be departed.

Blackberries are bringing fair prices in the Philadelphia market.

All four ponds now have a full head of water.

Small rock-fish have made their appearance in the waters at the Iron bridge.

Last Wednesday's BACHELOR was crammed with interesting reading.

All kinds of job work below city prices, neatly and expeditiously executed at this office.

R. B. Smith still continues to fill large ice cream orders.

There is some talk of tub race coming off on our river next week.

The doctors around Trappe say it is distressingly healthy there.

Enjoyable—gathering water lilies when you have a lady with you.

The family of Attorney General Lore visiting Geo. J. Porter, Esq., in Trappe district.

The force pumps have not been used much this summer to sprinkle the streets, owing to the splendid rains we've had.

The ten-pin players of our town ought to be men of muscle, as they are always on the "strike."

Some of our citizens who left town last week for Rehoboth have returned very much refreshed, both spiritually and physically.

First Shipment.—On to day, a schooner loaded with 6300 melons, from Wettington Neck, raised by Messrs. Hanbury, Wilson and N. T. Hearn, starts for N. Y.

Our Tony Tank correspondent tells us that they catch turtles in that neighborhood, big enough to pull a timber cart, and say one actually accomplished the feat the other day.

That part of our town known as Jersey should receive the attention of the Bailiff occasionally. We are informed that citizens are there permitted to run at large with impunity.

On Wednesday last our town was favored with a visit from a great many of our country ladies, also three of Delaware's fair representatives from Laurel.

Wednesday afternoon, Main street was disgraced by a drunken fellow named John Brown, who lives in Barren Creek district. Brown never comes to town without getting drunk, and this time he was drunker than usual. He laid himself out in front of the Peninsula House, and prepared to take a snooze. Ballif Taylor was soon on hand, and procuring a wheel-barrow, Brown was put aboard and wheeled off to the Lock-up. During Wednesday night he managed to get out, and by Morning he was about half seas over again.

A STRANGE ANIMAL.—The last edition in Hungary Neck is the "monograph" which has been in that locality for about two weeks. Mr. Wm. T. Fleming and others went down yesterday morning to capture it, but his pack being unaccustomed to hunting such animals, was unsuccessful, though it was seen by several in the chase. It is supposed to be a wild cat; while others represent it as being a fawn. Not to describe a alike. Shortly after the dogs started it, it was seen to spring upon the fence with great agility and stretched itself out flat on the top rail. From the description we have had of it we think it resembles a lynx more than any other animal named.—Somerset Herald.

May be it's Al's old gr' cat, or some of Barnum's Hippodrome family fallen from the balloon.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life on the 18th inst., Miss Elizabeth W. Bennett, daughter of the late Washington Bennett, in the 39th year of her age.

Thus has peacefully passed away a loving daughter, sister and friend; forgetting self in everything she lived for those around her—loving her mother with more than a child's love. It was natural her mother should cling to her more fondly than all else beside. It was my privilege during her last illness to be often at her bedside, and although she was a great sufferer I never heard a murmur nor word of complaint from her lips. Patiently waiting her Master's call she suffered on and sweetly fell asleep without a struggle, while her friends around her were engaged in prayer. To her sorrowing friends we would say, although you may be separated for awhile, it is your privilege, if faithful in the trust reposed in you, to meet your loved one where there is no more sad parting.

The ones you lov'd has passed away

From all earth's sorrows, care,

And she has bid adieu to life.

With all its hopes and fears.

Yet do not weep, her spirit now

Is resting with its God;

She sweetly sleeps in Jesus,

She kissed the chastening rod.
