WHAT IS LIFE?
BY J. C. F.

What is life? 'Tis but a shadow,
Oft we hear the young exclaim;
But a shadow of the substance,
Filled with grief and care and pain.

What is life? 'Tis but a mockery,
Oft we hear the young exclaim;
'Tis a mockery of our day-dreams;
Youth has fled, our hopes proved vain.

What is life? The child may whisper
To its play mate day by day;
But a change from cloud to sunshine,
That must soon all pass away.

Is this life? Ah! let us ponder Well before reply we give.
Life is filled with fiftal changes,
Varied as the ones that live.

What is life? Go ask the mother
As she stands bent o'er the grave
Of the idol of her household,
Where the grass was wont to wave.

"Life," she answers, "is the anguish
Of her late grief rends her heart,
'Tis a scene of fiery struggles,
In which all must take a part."

What is life? Go ask the orphan,
Cast alone upon the tide,
Forced to battle with the tempter
Holding hell's gate open wide.

Forced to struggle with the giants
Of earth's honored wealth and fame,
Forced to bear the taunts and scourges,
Forced to bear alone the pain.

"Life," he answers, "is a substance,
Not a shadow that will flee,
Till your work assigned is ended;
Then not for sternity."

ONLY A DEPENDENT.

Adaline Reynolds sat alone in one of the many rooms of her uncle's splendid city mansion. Yet the brilliantly lighted parlors were thronged with a gay assemblage. Why was she the only one sad?

It was her cousin Clara's birth-night, and when Clara had been asked who Adaline was, the cruel answer was only a dependent, a distant relation of fathers.

Adaline had heard the contemptuous reply, and hence she was alone and weeping.

Adaline sat, her eyes resting on the silvery moon, which was shedding its light full upon her upturned face. That face was the most brilliant imaginable. Tears were gathered in the large soul-lit eyes, and one fell upon the small white hand. Adaline, at this, started up as if an adder had stung her, and brushed the tears drops from her eyes, saying:

"Back, back to your fountain. Although I am only a dependent, I will win a name, and they shall be proud of their poor cousin!"

Slowly Adaline dropped upon her knees, asking God to guide her in the step she was going to take.

When she arose the guests were departing, for she could hear the carriages as they rolled away. Yet she did not retire until the dawn of day. Her slender fingers were flying over the paper on which she was writing.

The morning sun was shining bright and beautiful. He was thinking of the past. Once more the grey haired man's child, seated around his father's bedside with his brothers and sisters, listening to his kind sire's advice, or looking to catch his mother's love-lit smile. Then a cloud came between him and his life of sunshine. The death angel claimed his fondly loved mother; another and another passed away until all were gone but his idolized Ada.

Her he saw just verging into womanhood. Another vision passed before him, his proud, aristocratic wife. She had deceived him, it mattered not how; it was too late for remedy. His daughters, three in number, had grown up to womanhood, and inherited all their mother's foolish pride.

He had heard Clara, the eldest, but the evening before, say Adaline was only a dependent. The words had sunk deep into his heart. Was not Adaline his sister's child?

Again, Ada passed before him, arrayed in her bridal robes. He heard her farewell words, and felt her farewell kiss. She was going to her western home.

A few short years passed by when one dark day a letter came telling him of his sister's death, then of her husband's, and asking him to rear her child as his own? Yes, nobly has thou done thy duty to thy dead sister's child. But alas! thy words were the only kind ones Adaline received.

While he sat thus, recalling the past, two soft arms stole around his neck, and a sweet voice said:

"Uncle, what are you thinking about?"

"Must I tell you it was about my little pet? Oh, how lonely I shall be when she is gone."

"Gone where, Uncle?"

"Why, to Mrs. Westbrook's. Did I not promise to send you there next month?"

"Yes, Uncle, but I thought you had forgotten it. I am so happy now at the thought of going back to dear Walnut Hill once more; not at leaving you, Uncle," and the tears came into her eyes as she kissed him, who cared more for her happiness than for his own.

Again she murmured the words of the night before. "I will win a name for his sake." And in a few moments she was walking down the street towards the postoffice, bearing in her hand the treasured thoughts that she had penned when hope was almost dead in her heart.

"Mother," said Clara Howard, "do you know father is going to send Adaline to school again?"

"Yes, I know it, and I have told him that she will repay him with ungratefulness."

Just then Emma came in with the newspaper, saying, "there is such a beautiful piece of poetry written in the 'Aetette'; it is called 'Thoughts of Heaven,' and the editor has complimented the authoress whose name is Lena."

Clara read it and poured forth her praises on the writer.

Adaline was in the next room, and her heart bounded with joy and hope as she recognized her own poem.

We will pass over the farewell, and Adaline's sadness at leaving her kind uncle. The poor "dependent" is again Mrs. Westbrook's favorite pupil. Adaline tells her own secret to her kind preceptors.

The name Lena soon found its way out in the literary world. No one suspected, however, that Lena, the gifted poetess, was Adaline Reynolds.

Three years passed, Adaline was still with Mrs. Westbrook, for although she had long since graduated with the highest honors, she preferred remaining with her friend and assisting in her duties of labor and love.

A new light had dawned upon her also; she loved with a true woman's heart, and was beloved in return. Yet he knew not that he loved the poetess Lena. The world was ringing with her praise; and he, too, had admired the heaven-born talent of Lena.

Adaline, on her part, knew not yet that Mr. Edward Stanley was sometimes called the Hon. Edward Stanley, and was a Congressman from A—

She had met him as Mrs. Westbrook's cousin, during a visit he had made to her preceptor, and they had loved instinctively. She had promised to become forever his the ensuing spring.

She was seated in a pleasant room, when she was interrupted by the servant girl, telling her that an old gentleman wished to see her. He was none other than her uncle.

In a few moments she was clasped in his arms.

Mr. Howard thought Adaline more beautiful than ever, and when Mrs. Westbrook told him Adaline was Lena, tears of joy ran down his aged cheeks.

"Ah, Uncle," she said, "who would Lena have to love her if you were gone?"

"Even now, darling," answered her uncle, "I have just given my consent to the Hon. Edward Stanley, and when you are the Congressman's bride you may forget your uncle."

Adaline could not speak for a moment from surprise; then she said:

"Never, never, will I forget your kindness to the poor orphan. I would not have been what I am now if it had been for your generosity. Now, in my prosperity I would be ungrateful indeed to forget you. But why," she exclaimed, blushing, "did you call Edward Stanley a Congressman?"

"Because he really is. Did you not know of it?"

"Never until this moment."

Just then Mrs. Westbrook entered. Mr. Howard told her why Adaline looked so bewildered.

"I intended telling her myself and ask pardon for the deception I practiced upon both of them," said Mrs. Westbrook. "I told Edward this evening our Lena's history just before he left."

When Mr. Howard returned to the city Adaline accompanied him, but she did not go to his mansion. She stopped with an old schoolmate.

It was soon noised about that the gifted and beautiful Lena was in the city, and her true name came out at a grand ball, where her cousins and all their aristocratic friends were present. Adaline was attended by her betrothed husband, Edward Stanley. She was arrayed in a robe of white satin embroidered with silver. Her raven curls were confined by a band of the richest pearl, whilst a necklace of the same encircled her snowy neck. Her cheeks were flushed, for she was listening to her lover's voice.

But when the Misses Howard's arrival was announced, proudly, almost haughtily, did she meet them, with a calm dignity, befitting a queen receiving her subjects. She was the ruling star of the season.

Time passed. Mr. Howard lay on his deathbed, prostrated by a sudden and mortal disease.

Adaline had flown to nurse him, for Clara clodped with a worthless adventurer. Edward Stanley was also there.

"Uncle, for so I will call you," he said, "I am sorry to see you so ill."

"You have just come in time," said the old man, "to receive my blessing before I die. I have no right to ask the favor of you, yet I will. Protect my wife and children."

"I will be to them all you wish," said Edward Stanley. "For your kindness to me is dearer to me than life."

"The sufferer smiled faintly.

"Oh, God, I thank thee," he cried. "I can now die contented."

Emma and Annie, the haughty ballroom belles, were awed by the scene of death, and vowed to live differently, as they pressed a kiss upon their dying father's lips, and saw their mother borne fainting from the room.

Clara, the disobedient child, was not forgotten.

"Give her my blessing," said the old man, "and tell her I freely forgive her."

A few months and he was joined by his repentant wife, who died blessing Adaline with her latest breath, and leaving her two daughters, now almost penniless, to the poor cousin's care.

It was a bright and beautiful morning in the early Spring, when Lena, the gifted and beautiful, stood before the altar, to become the wife of the distinguished Edward Stanley.

There, too, were Emma and Annie, looking happily on, while Mrs. Westbrook smiled her congratulations.

It was in a country church that they were married. There were many there from the gay city to witness the ceremony.

Little children strewed flowers in the pathway of the bride as she returned to her carriage.

Edward Stanley not only took his wife but her now dependent cousins. Adaline did not look upon them as such however, but treated them as sisters.

But where was Clara all this time? For three years she had not been heard from. But one dark winter's night, a pale woman, in tattered garments, might be seen wending her way down to the Hon. Edward Stanley's beautiful residence.—Feebly she knocked for admittance.

The servant stared at her wonderingly, when she asked if Mrs. Stanley was at home.

"Tell her yes," said Adaline, who always listened to the voice of distress.

The pale suppliant entered, and cast her eyes upon her two sisters, who knew her in a moment, and at once Adaline received the wanderer to her heart.

Clara had come to Adaline's to die a deserted, heart-broken wife. All that could be done was done to restore her, but in vain.

Adaline's voice soothed her in her wildest words of delirium, and it was Adaline's voice that convinced her she could be saved.

Clara died a true Christian, with the words:

"Father, mother, I come."

Thus the proud, contemptuous beauty owed her last comforts, nay, over her escape from a pauper's grave to the "poor dependent" she had scorned.

How the French Bring a Drowned Man Back to Life.

The author of "The French at Home" says that in his walk one morning he saw a man pulled out of the water, apparently drowned. He was laid on the right side, the head turned toward the ground, and a towel gently opened to facilitate the escape of water. Several times the head was placed a little lower than the rest of the body for the same purpose, but only for a few seconds at a time. In the meanwhile, there was a regular manipulating process to induce breathing, which consisted in pressing the abdomen, stomach and sides of the chest, but softly. The efforts were without effect; the man looked as if he had given up the last of earth. Then the prostrate was carried to the nearest station for the rescue of the drowned. Here the man was stripped and wiped dry, and he was laid, turned on the side, between two blankets on a straw mattress; the manipulating process was resumed, with intervals of about a quarter of a minute between each pressure of the body, the pressure being repeated fifteen or twenty times, followed by a suspension of ten minutes. Twenty minutes were spent in this way, when a physician employed on this kind of service appeared and took charge of the case. A warming pan filled with hot water was passed over the body outside of the blanket, particularly over the pit of the stomach and the sides of the chest. This was alternated with a gentle friction of hot wollen mittens and the naked hands, and the soles of the feet and the palms of the hands were vigorously rubbed. An operator breathed into the mouth of the man by means of a tube. These efforts also proving in vain, the physician had recourse to the introduction of tobacco smoke into the intestines. In about ten minutes the man gave a feeble sign of life, whereupon all manipulation was discontinued lest it should interfere with the natural movements. Soon he showed a desire to vomit, which was assisted by a feather introduced into the throat. How long the whole process lasted is not known, but the reader will see that it was lengthy. A few days after the writer attended a ball, and among the most lively dancers he saw the drowned man.

Act From Principle.

How few persons there are whose lives are governed entirely by the principles rather than inclination. In those of us who may be endeavoring to live for high purposes, some are very short. How often we find ourselves debating with our convictions of right and duty, questioning "It might not be as well to yield to inclination just for this time, promising our disturbed consciences that we will make up for the present indulgence, by more vigorous self denial and strict attention to duty." Vain, fallacious reasoning of a weak nature! We can never make up for one neglected opportunity, one moment spent hour, one wrong selfish act.—Once past, the opportunity will never be regained, the hour wasted, the act committed, and it is beyond our reach—beyond recall, except in thoughts of regret. We may atone for it, but we can never change the past. Alas! how painfully are we aware of this fact.

Then should we endeavor to suppress earnestly to make our lives conform to principle; for we all know that after all, the path of duty, though sometimes rugged, is not without sweet pleasure; and we never follow our inclinations if we would lead us away from the path of duty. Then shall we be permitted to rest to look back upon our lives with satisfaction, feeling that we have done all we could, and that our Father regards us with approbation.

ONLY A FEW DROPS.

BY MAURICE SOLOMON.

"Robert, do not give the child any wine; it will not do him any good, and perhaps a good deal of harm."

and I both esteem highly, would not sit down to dine without having wine with which to allay their thirst. But there is one thing I promise you, darling, that I will refrain as much as possible, and that no harm shall ever come to me from intoxicating beverages; for, thank God, I am a man, and he who really has the strength of a man is able to resist temptation, and go so far and no further.

"This is real jolly," he said aloud. "It's just as sweet as sugar," he soon added, smacking his lips. "Oh, I know what I'll do. When papa gives his parties, after they've got through dinner I'll come down here and drink what's left in the glasses."

for you are nourishing a serpent in your breast that will come day turn upon and sting you," she cried bitterly. "Mother, I pride myself I am not one who will allow such a weakness to overcome me; so don't alarm yourself unnecessarily."

The London Daily Telegraph of July 29 says: "The Paris newspapers have—without that foundation in fact we are unable to say and reluctant to surmise—been actively engaged lately in lionizing a certain Father Remy, who is said to have returned from Tibet, in which regions he has made a number of conversions under certainly extraordinary circumstances."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 21, 1875.

...has double the circulation of any paper on the lower Peninsula

Sleepless people are advised to court the sun. Zeb Crummet says he has known a young man to keep awake a good deal of the night courting his daughter.

The fact of Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Tonic, Investigator being endorsed by prominent physicians in Baltimore is alone evidence of its usefulness.

Messrs. E. E. Jackson & Co. are doing the largest business perhaps of any firm on the Eastern Shore. It takes about one thousand dollars a week to pay off their laborers.

For cheap Groceries, Notions, Tobacco, Cigars, &c. go to Benjamin Parker, at the old stand of the late John D. Williams, where he has opened a fine assortment of new goods. Call and see him.

We learn that a Campmeeting will be held at Spring Grove, in this county, one mile from Riverton, commencing Aug. 21st. The public are invited. Rev. D. W. C. McIntire, pastor.

James H. McGrath, has our thanks for a large and fine flavored watermelon. Mr. McGrath knows how to grow watermelons, judging from the number of large and sweet ones he brings to market.

Mr. Elijah Goebel seems not disposed to forget us. Another large watermelon found its way from his farm to our sanctum on Monday last, for which he will please accept our thanks.

Mr. Benjamin Parker has opened a new store, at the old stand of the late John D. Williams, where he will be pleased to see his old friends, and the public generally, and sell them cheap goods for cash.

Mr. James H. McGrath sold Dr. F. M. Stinson's watermelon weighing 60 pounds, and another to a neighbor weighing 53 pounds. That this who may, and we will say that you are sound on the melon.

B. J. Gillis & Son, at the Iron Bridge, are selling good brands of flour at the lowest figures for cash. Also a full line of family groceries, tobacco, cigars, wood and willow ware. Call and see them at No. 70 Main St.

The young man who by mistake swallowed a whole box of Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills is out again. He says he feels rather "pale" but otherwise is all right. He will, however, follow the directions next time.

Notice.—All persons indebted to the estate of Dr. G. W. Todd, dec'd, are requested to settle the same immediately. Books can be seen at the store of F. C. Todd, Agent for S. Fannie Todd.

Buy your letter heads, bill heads, envelopes, &c., at this office, where you can get them already printed as cheap as you can buy the raw material in the city by small quantities.

L. H. Nook, at his mammoth carriage factory, East Camden Street, Salisbury, puts up one new carriage on an average per week, besides a great deal of repairing and blacksmithing.

NOTICE! July 1st, 1875. This is to certify that I have this day appointed F. C. Todd to act as my agent in the collection of all claims due the estate of Dr. G. W. Todd, dec'd.

S. FANNIE TODD, Executrix of G. W. Todd, dec'd Harrison's ready-mixed "Town and Country" Paints, for sale by Messrs. Humphreys & Tighman, at No. 81 Main street, Salisbury. Call on them or send for sample card of colors. See advertisement in another column.

Persons living on the Pocomoke are shipping produce, fruit, &c., via steamer to Snow Hill, thence via Old Dominion Steamship Co's line to New York. Messrs. Waddy & Co. give notice in the New York Produce Report that shippers save 10 cents on the package via this route.

The following books are missing from my library. Any person having either of them will confer a favor by returning the same, to wit: Evans' Practice, Warren's Law Studies, Latrobe's Justice, Mayor's Digest, and Supplement to the Maryland Code of 1868; also several miscellaneous books. L. MALONE.

M. A. Loomis & Co., Wholesale Commission and Shipping Dealers in Berries, Peaches and Country Produce, 56 Broad Ave. (West Washington Market) New York. Consignments solicited. Returns made promptly. Refer to J. M. Dryden, Princess Anne, Md.; E. J. Richardson, Laurel, Del., and President and Cashier of the North River Bank, New York City.

N. B.—Cards can be obtained at this office.

Notice.—All persons indebted to the estate of Dr. George W. Todd, dec'd, are hereby requested to come forward and settle the same at once. If not settled before the first day of October next, their accounts will be put in course of collection. S. FANNIE TODD, Ex., FRANK C. TODD, Agent.

The excursion which took place from here to Ocean City last Tuesday was not well attended, owing to the rain-storm which took place early in the morning. Persons who intended to go were detained till it was too late to get ready. After it cleared off many seemed to regret it, after the day turned out so well.

We have received from President Parker, of the Maryland Agricultural College, his circular, giving terms and course of instruction of that valuable institution. We commend the Md. Agricultural College to farmers as the most suitable place to educate young men who intend engaging in agricultural pursuits.

If the Old Dominion Steamship Co. will extend a branch of their road to Salisbury, either by the W. & P. R., or a new line from here to Georgetown, Del., and put on two steamers between here and Washington, to take freights from the Virginia Shore to New York by this route, it could be made to pay after a while.

HIPPOC.—Some fellows who had been conductors for a large quantity of Jersey lightning last Monday night, at a late hour, made hideous noises on Main street at a time when honest and industrious people desired to rest. These practices are abominable, and a short spell in the lock-up would be a good remedy for them.

Capt. Parsons, of the mud machine "Blue Dick," is now making rapid headway, and will be up to the bridge in a few days. After making another cut, and taking off some points below, we shall have water enough to bring vessels right up to the bridge. This is glorious news to our commercial community, and we hope soon to hear the steamer's whistle at this place. Let the good work go on.

Messrs. Brewington, Dorman & Graham are driving ahead with their canning establishment. No less than 15,000 cans of peaches per week are put up. They run about 70 peelers, while can makers, drivers, handlers, &c., amount to somewhere near a hundred persons employed. We wish the enterprise abundant success. They are handling excellent peaches now, and we hope they will bring good prices.

A BAD PRACTICE.—It has come to our knowledge that a large number of boys and young men about town make a practice of carrying pistols on their persons. This is an evil practice, and in the first place it is evidence of evil intent, and in the second place it indicates cowardice. No brave man or boy will carry concealed weapons in a civilized community, unless some other coward has put out some threat against his life or property. We hope the Magistrates, Constables and Bailiff may be disposed to do their duty in all such cases. Worthless fellows are always the most dangerous to the community.

Watermelons still come into our market in great abundance. They are very cheap, one as large as a man wants to carry can be bought for ten cents. Cantaloupes and musk melons are also abundant. We have been told that Tyaskin district, in this county, has already sold over fifteen thousand dollars' worth of melons, and that the farmers are not near done shipping. It is thought they will run it up to twenty thousand, at least. We are glad to hear it.

Willie Banks had a stranger to him unknown amused themselves last Wednesday night by throwing shells, &c., at the room where Thomas Purnell sleeps. They were presented, and Willie was compelled to pay a fine of $2.10. We say to the young bloods around town that they may sport all they like if they will only take the trouble to go out where no one will be disturbed by them, but they certainly must have regard for the peace of society.

DISTINGUISHED ARRIVAL.—The man with the large cranium arrived here on Thursday last. He says he did not come after tobacco this time, but that he expects to make some money while here to bear his expenses to the camp at Green Hill. Frank says Salisbury is a better place to make money than Quantico or Mr. Owen's boarding house either, and that he made fifty cents in a few hours after his arrival. He leaves to-day for the camp. We hope he will be benefited by his attendance on divine worship, but we fear his appetite will be his worst enemy, and that it will cause several extra chickens to be slain.

Several distinguished personages passed through our town and stopped at the Peninsula House for dinner on Monday last. Among which were Mrs. Wigfall, widow of the late Senator Wigfall, of Texas, Col. Levin Woodford and lady, Dr. W. H. Gale and lady, Col. H. Page and lady, Hon. R. F. Brant, and S. McMaster, Esqrs., with their ladies, en route from Ocean City to their homes. They report that the crowd has somewhat abated, and the accommodations improved, still a goodly number are still sojourning at the new city by the sea.

ENTERPRISE.—The Maryland Republican, one of the most enterprising journals in the State, has issued a beautiful supplement, giving extracts from the leading journals on the nomination of our State ticket. It is a finely executed sheet, and reflects much credit upon our friend, the young editor, showing a degree of enterprise only equaled by his deserved success. The Maryland Republican ought to be read by the Democracy and the whole people of the State. Its sound doctrine and wholesome advice are always in season.

A fracas took place at Conway's saloon on Wednesday evening, when Ellihu undertook a war with those he regarded as his enemies, even the tribe of Benjamin. While Benjamin was engaging Ellihu, Ebenzer came to the rescue of Benjamin, when Ellihu seized the chief by the throat and was pounding him, when Mathias appeared. This is not the Mathias who was chosen to succeed Judas, but none other than our town Bailiff. Well, this put an end to the fight until Esquire Trituit, whose name is John (but not the Baptist) took charge of the case as ruler in the synagogue, and fined Ellihu one dollar and costs, making in all $4.60. So ended the fight at Captain Riebs'. So says cousin Sally Dillard.

REGISTRATION.—The Registration Officers of this county give notice by advertisement in to-day's Advertiser, that they will sit in their respective districts on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 6th, 7th and 8th of September, to register voters, and correct the registration lists of the county. It would be well for all voters interested to make a note of the fact, and, if not already registered, to appear and get registered. It will be observed that under the law persons can only be transferred from one district to another, or from one county to another, upon certificates issued by the Registration Officers. All new voters must get registered or they will lose their votes in November. Remember the days are the 6th, 7th and 8th of September.

Last Monday night one of our young men, while passing a store on Division street, heard a noise that made him think some one with burly intentions had forced their way in. He found the proprietor, who was engaged in a game of billiards, and told him that some one was robbing the store. The owner was too much interested in the game to leave but gave the young man the key.—Getting reinforcements in the shape of five more as valiant as himself, they started for the scene of the robbery, arming themselves with pistols and fence rails. On their arrival they listened and heard the same noise that had startled the young man. Then they held a debate.—Each was willing for the other to have the glory of being the first to enter. At last they entered in a body, saw the intruder, looked at each other and burst into a loud laugh. All these warlike preparations had been made for the capture of a cat. They bound each other to secrecy, but it was too good to keep and leaked out.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Public Schools of Wicomico County will be opened on Monday, Sept. 27th. The examination of teachers will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22nd and 23rd. The examinations will be written, and will be held in the High School Building, in Salisbury. For second grade certificate the branches are—Orthography, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, History of the United States, Physiology and one Book of Geometry. All candidates are requested to be present the first day, as the second day is intended only for those who may not be able to complete the examination on the first day.

Trustees are requested to make their appointments of teachers as early as possible and give notice of the fact to the Secretary of this Board, that action may be had on said appointments. Trustees wanting aid from the School Board in obtaining teachers are also requested to give notice of the fact. A school for the benefit of the colored teachers will be opened in Salisbury Sept. 6th.

By order of the Board. G. W. M. Cooper, Secretary.

9th VISIT TO THE PUBLIC. Dr. Wm. Darmon is again on his quarterly visit to his patients and friends of this vicinity. Chronic Diseases a specialty. For full particulars read large circulars. Office hours from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Sundays from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Examinations and consultations free. He will be at Salisbury, Peninsula House, from Saturday afternoon, August 21st until Tuesday afternoon, August 24th.

Pittville, Timmons' Hotel, from Tuesday afternoon, August 24th until Wednesday morning, August 25th.

Whaleyville, at the house of Mr. James Beauchamp, from Wednesday afternoon, August 25th until Saturday afternoon, August 28th.

Berlin, Harmonson's Hotel, from Saturday afternoon, August 28th, until Tuesday afternoon, August 31st.

Go to John D. Johnson's, for Groceries, Dry Goods, Notions, Drugs, Tobacco, Queensware, also a full line of Seed Potatoes, Clover & Timothy Seed and Orchard Grass, also Star Bone Super Phosphate, Lead Paints & Plow Castings, Coal oil and Head Light Oil, all of which will be sold at prices to suit the times.

Letters From Druggists. There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of Dr. J. A. D. Collier, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you. Rosche's German Syrup is now sold in every town in the United States. It is a certain cure for Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and all other ailments of the Throat or Lung disease. Sample bottles of both 19 cents each. Regular size 75 cents.

Green's August Flower. It is natural for people suffering with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint or any derangement of the digestive organs, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Bloating, gas, and a burning pain at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue, and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, loss of spirits, &c., to put off from day to day, and from week to week, until they know they have no faith in it until it is too late. But if you will go to your Druggist, Dr. J. A. D. Collier, and get a bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER, your immediate cure is as certain as the rising of the sun. This medicine can be obtained for 10 cents to try its superior virtue. Regular size 75 cents. Try it, two doses will relieve any case.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.—A. G. Toadvine has just returned from the cities with a large stock of Spring and Summer goods, all of which he is prepared to sell for cash. Agricultural.

Feed Hogs in Warm Weather.

The "Journal of Agriculture," says that the practice of turning hogs into the woods to make their own living all cold weather, and then shutting them up and feeding them on corn alone, is a very expensive way of making pork. To be sure, the summered hogs do not grow so fast as a general rule, but they make very little growth—not half so much as if they were supplied with proper food.

The growth should be made as rapid as possible during warm weather. It should be remembered by every pork raiser, that a given amount of feed will produce larger results in summer than in winter. In winter a large amount of vitality is expended in resisting the cold, and therefore an increase of food is required just to maintain the system in a healthy condition.

To promote the growth of hogs in warm weather, slops made of shorts and bran should be used; also of oats and rye. Neither corn or any carbonaceous food should be fed to hogs in large quantities in hot weather, yet if they are permitted to feed on clover, corn in moderate quantities will be as good as any other feed. But the principal point we would make is, that the hogs should be fed all through summer, so that when the cool weather of August comes they will be found in a thriving condition. If other food is scarce, let the farmers commence cutting up green corn for his hogs by the 1st of August or even earlier. It will be economy to do so, rather than to let them go without till it is ripe and then feed it to them.

The Origin of the Potato.

Mr. Meahan, of Philadelphia, has for eight years cultivated "Solanium Fendleri," a solanaceous plant which has much in common with the potato (Solanium Tuberosum). His object was to ascertain whether the former could be transformed into the latter by cultivation, and so to settle the vexed question of the origin of our common excellent tuber. It was not till last year that the plant began to vary in the direction of the potato. Previously, the tubers were round, about the size of a large bullet, and roset from the imperfect tubercles on the surface. Last season, however, the roots began to resemble those of the potato. They were oval and compressed and one was an inch wide and two inches long, with a clear, semi-transparent skin, as in the more delicate potatoes. Mr. Meahan, however, does not expect to develop potatoes from his wild Solanium. According to him, the facts so far obtained do no more than suggest the possibility of the unity of origin of the "Solanium Fendleri" and the "Solanium Tuberosum."

Bran for Horses.

The "Journal of the Farm" says: Bran when fed to animals is laxative, and on this account should not be fed to horses in any quantity when hard work is at all required of them, because weakness is caused by this relaxation of the bowels and great injury inflicted. The theory that it introduces bran into the horses' stables is as pernicious in its effects as the indiscriminate use of bran itself at the whim of the stableman, and the theory is, that horses sick or well, should be fed upon bran mash. A little bran with other and more substantial articles of food may, however, be given with advantage, but always taking care not to feed it in quantities to give rise to looseness of the bowels, nor to count on the poor horse as so much other solid food, for in doing so you not only deceive yourself, but cheat your horse.

To Prevent Rust.

Boiled linseed oil will keep polished tools from rusting if it is allowed to dry on them. Common sperm oil will prevent them from rusting for a short period. A coat of copal is frequently applied to polished tools exposed to the weather. Woolen material is the best for wrappers for metals. Iron and steel goods of all descriptions are kept free from rust by the following: Dissolve half an ounce of camphor in one pound of hog's lard, take off the scum and mix as much black lead as will give the mixture an iron color. Iron and steel, and machinery of all kinds, rubbed over with this mixture, and left with it on for twenty-four hours, and then rubbed with a linen cloth, will keep clean for months.

Canada Thistles.

Dr. Warder, of Cincinnati, in a public lecture, said that there was a way of surely and quickly destroying this plant and without great labor. Gen. Meahan who are hesitating about attacking these pests, because the more they are rooted out the better they will grow, should try this method. It is to pile straw thickly on the surface where they are to be found, and so to remain there. They will die for want of light and air.

Poetry.

JESU DULCIS MEMORIA. (AN OLD LATIN HYMN BY ST. BERNARD—WRITTEN IN 1125.) Jesu! the very thought's sweet— In that dear name all hearts meet;

Our Churches.

The information contained in the following statistics is rare and valuable. It shows the strength of the Churches in America and under the control of Americans for the year 1874:

Whirlpools.

The Colorado River is noted for "swirls," so-called. They occur everywhere, but only at high stages of water. A bubble arises from the bottom, and breaks with a slight sound on the surface.

Whitticisms.

A pair of tights—two drunkards. No good place for Toms and Tabbies—Cat-alone-ia. Something that will soon be leaving us—the leaves.

Select Reading. An Emperor who would have his Dumplings. Some of the anecdotes about the ex-Emperor Ferdinand of Austria, which his death is reviving about that after all, a great deal of humanity Slightly Deceived. The other day at the depot two young ladies were standing in the door of the saloon, awaiting the arrival of the 12.30 passenger train.

Simplicity in Dress. The ladies of Union Grange, Hermon, Maine, are each to have a calico dress, all made up alike from the same print, which is to be worn to their meetings, and grange gatherings.

She Had a Plan. A gaunt woman jumped into the Central Station yesterday, bonnet askew and eyes blazing and as she reached the sergeant's desk she exclaimed:

Make Children Useful. The energy which some children manifest in mischievous pranks may be made to subserve useful and instructive purposes.

A Tender-Hearted Brother. A couple of enterprising men, doing the clothing business at Atlanta, are interviewed by a customer in search of a coat.

Mirth at Meal Table. Everybody should plan to have a pleasant conversation at the table just as they have for good food.

SATURDAY, AUG. 28, 1875.

Democratic Conservative State Ticket.

For Governor:
JOHN LEE CARROLL,
Of Howard county.
For State Comptroller:
LEVIN WOOLFORD,
Of Somerset county.
For Attorney General:
C. J. M. GWINN,
Of Baltimore city.

Hon. Daniel M. Henry, of Dorchester County, has written a letter to the Cambridge Chronicle, declining to have anything to do with the Independent movement, and expressing a strong preference for Hon. John Lee Carroll. Mr. Henry had been mentioned by the Independents as a prospective candidate for the gubernatorial chair of the State. We know Mr. Henry too well to suppose for one moment that he would lend his influence to disorganizers.

With this issue we conclude the 8th volume of the Advertiser. Although we have not been connected with its history but a little over two years, yet we were a subscriber to it and a constant reader of its contents from its first to its last number. Our connection with the paper commenced on the 4th day of March, 1873, but we did not assume absolute control until September of the same year. Since that time we have been responsible for all matter which has appeared in its columns. While it has been our aim to avoid anything of a personal character, we are still conscious that we have been compelled, in the discharge of our duty as a faithful journalist, to tread somewhat near to tender corns, and if at times we have pressed too hard for the comfort of some, we can truthfully say that we never did it through malice or ill will towards any, but we were impelled by a sense of duty in the discharge of a responsible trust, the magnitude of which never entered our thoughts until we had voluntarily assumed the position. But having assumed the responsible position, we shall endeavor, to the best of our feebleness, to discharge the duties devolving upon us, regardless of the smiles of friends or the frown of foes, provided always our conscience tells us that we are right, while we shall be willing and ready to defer to the wise counsel of those who are able and willing to give it, provided we are convinced that it is intended for the public welfare.

In our future conduct of this paper we shall have three objects in view. The first is to make it pay; the second to promote the best interests of the people of Wicomico county and of the State of Maryland; the third to disseminate among the people true, unadorned Democratic principles. Believing, as we do, that the success of those principles, founded as they are upon the broad platform of the Federal Constitution, in its equal distribution of the powers of government among its co-ordinate branches, and its safe depository among the States and the people thereof, to be the only sure way of preserving to the latest generations our Republican or representative form of government, always opposing consolidation or centralization, or the act of confining all power to the hands of a few at the expense of the masses. This has been our aim since our connection with the Advertiser, and we have the faith to believe that our course has met the hearty approbation of a large majority of its readers. While we have lost scarcely a single subscriber, our list has increased nearly three-fold, and to-day we verily believe we have the largest circulation in Eastern or Southern Maryland, both in and out of the State. We send the Advertiser to fourteen States and two territories and a few copies beyond the limits of our own country. That we have contributed more towards bringing our section of the country into notice than any journal in Southern Maryland, we have no doubt. We say this without desiring to sound our own praise, but titter it as a fact, the knowledge of which ought to be received with pleasure by every intelligent man in the community. Our aim is to make the Advertiser a first-class country newspaper. To do this requires the hearty support and co-operation of all its patrons. Now, will you lay to a helping hand? Will you see that every one of your neighbors, who will read the paper and pay for it, becomes a subscriber to the Advertiser? If you do this you will have done a great deal towards it, not because we make anything out of a subscriber, but because we must have them.

CAN our river be kept deep after it is once cleaned out? is a query we often hear propounded, but seldom hear the question answered intelligently. Now we shall proceed to answer the question and give a reason for our faith. We say it can. In the first place, the peculiar elevation of the shore surrounding the source of the Wicomico, is the greatest protection to its channel. There are no high banks to be constantly wearing and washing into its bed. There are no streams entering it, except through the regular process of machinery at the mills, only on extraordinary occasions when immense falls of rain compel the use of the flood gates. This only affects the east channel. The flow from the tumbling dam can never injure the channel provided no trash or sawdust be allowed to tumble into the water. Its waters are diffused over so large a space, and are conveyed to the channel over a flat surface, interwoven with bushes, which resist its force and let it fall gradual. The east branch is not so well protected, and some degree of caution is necessary, both in letting go water and keeping up the wharf logs on either side of the stream, yet none of these accumulations are to be found to any considerable extent, as only a few tons of sand will be washed into the channel from that source, and there is no doubt that when the river is once cleaned out, that the wharf property will be kept in a better condition than at present, so that only a few tons of earth and gravel will be apt to flow into the river from the wharves. The low flats and meadows along the riverbanks are useful basins or reservoirs to receive from the river all floating substance which will usually remain in those receptacles until they become a part of the surface and remain permanently. So we say, provide the sides of the river with sufficient dykes or wharf logs, and put the accumulations behind the same and the work will be far more permanent than a casual observer might suppose. Another fact which seems to have escaped the observation of many, is that when once deepened there will not be so much current observable in its bed, because the water will find its level at a point near the source, and the surplus water coming down from above will meet with a body of water to resist it, instead of a bar of sand, consequently the current will gradually diminish, so that an outlay of a few hundred dollars each year will suffice to keep it in a navigable condition. There are other reasons which might be added, but they would necessarily extend this article beyond the space we can well spare at present. We may at some future time give them for what they are worth.

Where They Went To.
We are informed that some three weeks since a large peach shipper in Maryland forwarded sixty-five boxes of peaches to a New York Commission house. A week passed, and no returns came. The shippers invested 5 cents in paper, envelope and stamp, and wrote the firm. A reply came back that the "peaches had not been received." But the Maryland gentleman was acquainted with some of the "ways that are dark," concluded to make a personal investigation. He arrived in New York safely, went around to the house in question, and the first object that met his gaze as he entered the door was several of his empty crates. He asked for the proprietor, who came from behind his desk, and bowed politely. The Marylander inquired the price of peaches, and in fact had a long conversation concerning the peach business generally. The merchant, imagining he had hold of a good customer, expatiated upon the advantages his house possessed over all others for obtaining the highest market prices, and invited the conclusion of his books to substantiate his assertion. The Marylander availed himself of the opportunity, and an examination revealed the fact that his fruit had brought $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00 per crate. At the conclusion of the investigation, the Marylander quietly closed the book, and demanded without further circumlocution the money for his peaches, and in order to prove his identity he drew from his pocket the letter he received from the firm. The money was forthwith handed over to him, and he was bowed out of the door with numerous apologies. -Safford Citizen.

The Great New York and New Orleans Zoological and Equestrian Exposition.

As will be seen by an advertisement in our columns to-day, this immense institution exhibits in SALISBURY WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 8th 1875. It comes most favorably noticed by the press in other cities. By a review of the advertisements, we perceive it comes by rail, using 60 freight cars to transport from point to point. Has an innumerable number of cages, dens, wagons, &c., to contain its animals, curiosities, luggage &c. It requires and uses a "city of tents" (so to express it) for exhibition purposes, which at night are so brilliantly lit up with gas that everything is as clear as day. Among the animals enumerated are "monster living Alaska Sea Lions, exhibited in mammoth tanks holding 40 barrels of sea water." This will be truly a novel sight, as they are the only ones alive outside of the Pacific Ocean. We notice the absence of the "blaze but" the African hartbeest, the gun or wild horned horse, the wapiiti, the giant ostrich, all of which are very rare, and interesting animals. Also lions, tigers, elephants, camels, hyenas, kangaroos, crocodiles, sacred cattle, gorillas, manatees, &c. Next the open lion, guinea, vicuña, yak, baboon, &c. in fact a world of animals, birds, reptiles, &c. The gallery of wax statuary will prove a very interesting as well as original part of the show. The entire company has been of King Kalakaua King Alphonso, and the brother and son of the late George C. Twilley, against the goods and chattels, land and tenements of John E. Marine and Tamar E. SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1875.

This paper has double the circulation of any paper on the lower Peninsula.

All the go—Campmeetings.

The weather during the past week has been unusually cool for the time of the year.

Watermelons are still plenty, and it seems the quality rather improves as the season advances.

If your bowels are costive take a dose of Dr. Bull's Vegetable Pills; we know of no better medicine.

It is thought that the rains of the past week have somewhat injured the crops of corn, yet the yield will still be abundant.

We understand that the campmeeting at Beach Branch was largely attended on Sunday last. As usual considerable electioneering was carried on.

The Atlantic Hotel at Ocean City will conclude its operations for the season next Tuesday, 31st inst. at which time the drawing for lots takes place.

A young man at one of our campmeetings, during the course of a meal for which he paid fifty cents, demolished four chickens. Wonder where the profit comes in!

We extend our thanks to Mr. Robert Hitch for a basket of the finest and largest peaches (of the Early York variety) we have seen this season.

Go to the farmers' meeting this afternoon. To-day is the time fixed to make selection of a fair ground. Don't fail to attend at 2 o'clock, at the Court House.

Zeb Crummett says: "If the dead beats, who never pay their subscription, go to the happy hunting ground there is no use in keeping the other place up."

Mr. Luther M. Williams has on his farm (known as the Stevens' place) the largest tree in Wicomico. It measures 27 feet in circumference, and bears a large quantity of chest nuts.

Charley Ross has been drawn on the petit jury of Somerset county. We wonder if the sheriff will have as much difficulty in finding him as the detectives have had in finding little Charley.

Sweet potatoes are making their appearance in our market at $1.00 per bushel. They will soon be 75 cents and that pays the farmer better than corn or wheat, at present prices.

The health of our town, county and Peninsula never was better. So say the medical men. That we have a healthy country there is no doubt, and we believe it will compare favorably with any other section.

Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef in pint bottles is the only condensed beef that does not require cooking or warming. A nice glassful of this wholesome invigorant always produces repose.

A large quantity of peaches have been shipped to the West this season. It is said that our peninsula has raised a peck of peaches this year for every human being in the United States.

Persons engaged in the trucking business should be sure to work their strawberries, as they will pay better next year than at any other time. Remember the Centennial will produce a large demand.

The tramp nuisance is disposed of in a business-like manner in Massachusetts. They are put to work as soon as found, and the result is that as soon as they are let go they bid adieu to those counties where work is done in the jail.

The Wicomico & Pocomoke, and Eastern Shore Railroads will run excursion trains for the benefit of those desiring to attend the great mammoth show of W. W. Cole, at Salisbury on September 8th, giving all a chance to attend.

News items that would be of interest to the people are scarce. We occasionally have an account of some jumping out of a third-story window, or getting drowned, or thrown from a horse losing a pocket book, or going up in a balloon and coming down in Lake Michigan, or some such events, all of which would probably interest some of our readers, provided we had space to publish them.

No less than three thousand people have visited Ocean City this season. This is pretty good for the first season, considering the place was not fully open till the season had advanced. We shall be glad to see the place greatly improved another year.

If you want good furniture, carpeting, window shades, oil cloths, matting, gasconware, lamps, &c., cheap for cash, go to John H. White's, 44 Main St., where an extensive assortment can be found. Beautiful chamber sets at greatly reduced prices. Call and see.

St. Mary's Catholic Church.—Fifteenth Sunday after Pentecost, August 29th 1875. High Mass and Sermon at 10.15. A. M.; Vespers, Lecture and Benediction, at 7.30 P. M. Rev. Edw. Ign. Taylor, Pastor.

Tom Collins has again turned up. He is a candidate on the Independent ticket for the House of Delegates in Howard County. On exchange says he was shot at on the Eastern Shore the other day, while trying to appropriate some one's fruit to his own use.

Notice.—All persons indebted to the estate of Dr. G. W. Todd, dec'd, are requested to settle the same immediately. Books can be seen at the store of F. C. Todd, Agent for S. Fannie Todd.

Mr. Luther M. Williams still ahead! Mr. Williams left at our sanatorium on Wednesday last, three peaches of the Susquehanna variety, weighing twenty-six ounces. The largest weighed ten ounces, and measured 10 1/2 inches in circumference. This is the largest peach we have yet seen.

Sometime ago we reminded our delinquent subscribers and others indebted to us on account of printing, &c., that we were very much in need of funds. We are glad to say that some responded and others have not yet. Will you do so now? We are still in need.

Bill Arp intends visiting Ocean City next year. He wants to see how things are done down on the Eastern Shore. Bayard Taylor put the site of Ocean City a little too far down. He located it on Chincoteague Island instead of Synnepuxent Beach, only a small geographical error. Mr. Arp will inform the world where and what it is, next year.

NOTICE! July 1st, 1875. This is to certify that I have this day appointed F. C. Todd to act as my agent in the collection of all claims due the estate of Dr. G. W. Todd, dec'd.

The primary meetings take place on Saturday, the 18th day of September following, and the convention on Tuesday following, the 21st. In order that everybody shall be pleased with the delegates to the convention and satisfied with their work, we would advise them to turn out and aid in their selection. This is the duty of all who intend to co-operate with the Democratic next fall. The call will be published this week.

The Democratic Messenger has changed hands. Mr. Littleton Dennis having purchased the establishment. It will hereafter be edited and published by him. He intends soon to change the Messenger into an eight page and forty eight column paper. We wish our contemporary abundant success, but believe a paper of such large dimensions will be too heavy for the country, although our friend has had some experience in a paper of that size, and may be able to see where it will pay. Experience is a good teacher.

The Agricultural and Mechanical Association met last Saturday and transacted some important business. The committee on fair ground reported that they had visited several sites, and found that one of three or four could be purchased on reasonable terms. The two sites most favorably considered were one west of the town, belonging to L. R. Dorman, Esq., and one east of the town, belonging to Col. P. Toadvine, a vote was taken, resulting in favor of the one on the east, it being more convenient to the rail road.

His Honor Judge Irving came up last Saturday and drew the Jury for the September term of our Circuit Court, which begins on the 4th Monday of September, being the 27th day. The following is a list of the names of the two juries:

THE LAUGHING SIDE.—There are always to be found in every community some persons who hunt up every kind of gossip imaginable, and deal it out to those who have leisure enough to listen to them, for the amusement and entertainment of those whom they delight to honor. In the course of these conversations or babblings as the case may be, they deal out slanders, scandal, slander, falsehood, ignominy and all sorts of disreputable stuff, and the more their auditors seem to be entertained the deeper they go down into the slough and bring up all manner of filth and uncleanness. The characters of men are gone into with an unsparring hand, nor does the purity of the female character shield her from the venom of these reptiles. Like their next of kin, the viper, they are often found in the midst of the community and in places where they can do the most harm. Their chief delight is to amuse those whom they regard as popular men, or those they would like to honor. They first find out who those persons do not like. They tickle their vanity by some fulsome flattery, and victimize them into a conversation; then comes the after piece, which, in most cases is the whole play, and was intended from the first to be the sum and substance of the entertainment.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Public Schools of Wicomico County will be opened on Monday, Sept. 27th. The examination of teachers will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 22nd and 23rd. The examinations will be written, and will be held in the High School Building, in Salisbury. For second grade certificate the branches are—Or thography, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, History of the United States, Physiology and one Book of Geometry. All candidates are requested to be present the first day, as the second day is intended only for those who may not be able to complete the examination on the first day.

Trustees are requested to make their appointments of teachers as early as possible and give notice of the fact to the Secretary of this Board that action may be had on said appointments. Trustees wanting aid from the School Board in obtaining teachers are also requested to give notice of the fact. A school for the benefit of the colored teachers will be opened in Salisbury Sept. 6th.

By order of the Board. G. W. M. Cooper, Secretary.

NOTICE.—All persons indebted to the estate of Dr. George W. Todd, dec'd, are hereby requested to come forward and settle the same at once. If not settled before the first day of October next, their accounts will be put in course of collection.

Letters from Druggists. There is no case of Dyspepsia that Green's August Flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of Dr. L. D. Collier, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the Stomach or Liver try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Green's August Flower. It is natural for people suffering with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint or any derangement of the digestive organs, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Heart burn, Water-brash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Tongue, Coated Tongue, and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c., to put off from day to day buying an article that they know has cured their neighbor, friend, or relative yet they have no faith in it until it is too late. But if you will go to your Druggist, Dr. L. D. Collier, and get a bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER your immediate cure is as certain as you live. Sample bottles of this medicine can be obtained for 10 cents to try its superior virtue.

Regulate size 75 cents. Try it, two doses will relieve any case.

W. W. COLE'S GREAT NEW YORK AND NEW ORLEANS ZOOLOGICAL AND EQUESTRIAN EXPOSITION.

PRICES' PATENT SEAT are as comfortable as chairs in a theatre, occupy a portion of the seating. All may avail themselves of the use of them at a slight advance, (which pays the patent royalty). They are elegantly upholstered.

POSITIVELY NO POSTPONEMENT. WARNING.—Certain concerns, envious of the success, and unable to compete with the Great New York and New Orleans Zoological and Equestrian Exposition, have resorted to the despicable method (discountenanced by all legitimate showmen) of postponing our dates, thinking to mislead the public. Do not be deceived. The route of this great show is never changed, but will positively exhibit as contracted and advertised.

ADMISSION 50 Cents. CHILDREN UNDER 10, 25 CENTS.

Three exhibitions daily—10 A. M., 2 P. M. and 7 P. M. No change. Positively exhibits on the day advertised. Rain or shine. Grand Free Balloon Ascension will take place every afternoon. Prof. Bristol Will ascend to the clouds in his Monster Air Ship, "City of New York."

Agricultural.

Plant Food.

It is very important to agriculturists that they should bear in mind the constituents of plant food, and that they should see that the soil, which they may have to cultivate, contains the mineral elements of these constituents, in such a form as to be readily taken up, through the roots of the plants. If the soil, in its natural state, has all of these elements in such a condition and sufficient quantities, then the application of artificial fertilizers will be unnecessary, and will produce but little or no beneficial effect. But if any part of these elements are not to be found in the soil, it will become necessary to supply the deficiency by artificial means.

It is now well known to agricultural analytical chemists that there are but fifteen chemical elements, which enter into the composition of vegetable productions, and this fact has been established and confirmed by the joint labors of hundreds of chemists, who have operated analytically, in turn; that is, by first separating the vegetable into its different component parts by analysis, and then growing the vegetable by adding all the different mineral elements in a state of solution, to calcined sand, or distilled water, in such proportions as would produce the perfect plant.

Of the fifteen elements, eleven are mineral and four organic, the source of the latter being found in air and water; while the source of the former is in the constituents of the crust of the globe itself. Vegetables are, in fact, but the varied combinations of fifteen elements, as the different words of our language are but the combinations of the different letters of the alphabet, in the varied proportions in which they are arranged.

The perfect plant may be compared with the good pudding, whose constituents are well known to the good housewife, and the soil to the pantry. Now, the good housekeeper has no need of sending to the store for all the ingredients on the recipe of the pudding, if she has a well supplied pantry, but sends for those only of which the pantry is deficient. But still she must have all to make the pudding good. And so must the farmer have all the elements of the plant to make his crop good. His soil is the pantry and the crop is the pudding. Let him find out then what is in the pantry, in sufficient quantities, and then he will know what to buy to supply its deficiencies, and can make good crops without buying all the ingredients of plant food.

Some Facts in Soil Culture.
A fact not generally understood is that soil, in a finely pulverized state, holds more moisture—hydroscopic water, than when in a solid state. A single experiment will show this. A field plowed in the fall will retain a larger amount of moisture in the spring than if it were left unplowed. Finely pulverized soil, when in a dry state, takes up moisture equally from the air, and with it large quantities of nitrogen compounds. These porous soils, because cool, are constantly condensing water during drouths, and hold the constituents it contains to be taken up by the roots, and assimilated by plants. Soils thoroughly underdrained, when allowed to rest, become honeycombed by insects to the water line occupied by the drains, and hence these serve as channels to quickly conduct the rain which falls immediately away. This, however, is not what is wanted, for thus the fertilizing properties in the contact with the soil, and are lost; thus the error into which certain superficial experimenters have been led, in supposing that drained lands would not stand drouth. If the surface soil were pulverized to the depth of from six to ten inches or more, the case would be very different. It would then act as a filter, passing the water off more slowly, but still fast enough, and, in addition, the elements of fertility would be retained, and the whole area of the soil uniformly moistened.

Again, underdrained soils liable to become water soaked, become hard and impacted. Insects do not penetrate to any considerable depth, and the soil holds water like a dish, to be slowly evaporated by the sun, rendering it, by this very process, cold, sour and unferile. So also till and drainage prevents the washing away of fertilizing properties during continued rains; the moisture is absorbed and passed down through the soil, instead of running along the surface and thence into the nearest stream, carrying with it not only its own fertilization, but also the soil itself, which it mechanically acquires and holds until the water again becomes quiet.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT WHITEWASH.
The receipt for whitewash sent out by the Light House Board of the Treasury department has been found, by experience, to answer on wood, brick, and stone, nearly as well as oil paint, and is much cheaper. Slack half bushel unslacked lime with boiling water, keeping it covered during the process. Strain it, and add a peck of salt, dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice put in boiling water, and boiled to a thin paste; a half pound powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clear glue, dissolved in warm water; mix these well together, and let the mixture stand for several days. Keep the wash thus prepared in a kettle or portable furnace, and when used put it on as hot as possible, with painters' or whitewash-brushes.

MALTYBY HOUSE.
BALTIMORE, MD.
C. R. HOGAN, Proprietor.
REDUCTION OF FARE.
In consideration of the general decline in cost of all necessities appertaining to Hotel Keeping, the price of Board will be Reduced on and after January 1st, 1870, to $2.50 Per Day,
being determined that nothing will be left over in the future to make the "Maltyby" what has been in the past—second to none in the city. [Jan 25-y]

THE SURF HOUSE,
Rehoboth Beach Delaware.
Will be OPENED JUNE 15, for the reception of guests. The great rush to this place of resort will be about the 1st of July. I will state for the benefit of families and others who desire quiet repose, health and pleasure, without being over-crowded, that this resort will afford facilities not to be found at the more fashionable watering places. Every effort will be made to secure the comfort of the guests.
Terms.—Transient, $2.25 per day 10 and $12 per week. Address
WILLIAM P. RIDER,

HALL'S VEGETABLE
SICILIAN
HAIR
RENEWER

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.
Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.
It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.
It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.
By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.
As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.
A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."
Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE WHISKERS.
This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being of convenient preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

Sold by all Druggists, and Dealers in Medicines.

DYSPEPSIN
A Certain Cure For DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COM-PLAINT, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS-NESS, SICK HEADACHE, & HABIT-UAL COSTIVENESS.
—0—
WHAT is Life without the enjoyment of a health? If you had the wealth of Croesus, and accrued with dyspepsia, or its kindred diseases, you would not enjoy life. Dyspepsia is a prevalent disease in the United States, brought about by our habits and irregularities. The Materia Medica has been exhausted to find a remedy, and the skill of the most learned physicians has failed to effect a cure.
Notwithstanding this declaration,
we unhesitatingly say: "MILLER'S DYSPEPSIN" is a Certain Cure for Dyspepsia and the many complaints incident thereto. It has been before the public a sufficient length of time to fully test its merits, and in every instance where it has been used according to directions, it has resulted in giving relief and effect to a cure. With the exception of a few cases, it has cured every case of the disease named, and for which only we claim a specific.
Give it a fair trial, and rest assured you will be benefited.

VALUABLE LAND
For Sale.
The undersigned offers at Private Sale
the following described property, to wit:
Lot No. 1 contains
200 Acres,
2 1/2 miles from Pittsville, on the county road leading to Sheppardville. This farm is improved by a large two-story
Dwelling House,
nearly new, a story and a half house attached, 7 rooms, and all necessary out-buildings, about one fourth in timber, three fourths cleared and in a fine state of cultivation. This is a desirable farm, and suitable for the growth of all crops common to this part of the country, and especially adapted to small fruits, berries, &c., as it is only 2 1/2 miles from the railroad station at Pittsville. TERMS.—One-third cash, and the balance in one, two and three years.
No. 2 adjoins the above-named, and contains the same quantity of land, with similar improvements, and will be sold on the same terms.
No. 3 contains
60 ACRES,
and is all in Cypress Timber, of excellent quality; adjoins Lot No. 2, and will be sold with it on same terms. The same being a part of the land of the late Jas. M. Fooks.

Organ heretofore manufactured in this country. It has been tested by many competent judges and Gives UNIVERSAL Satisfaction.
By a skillful use of the stops, and of the patent key-board, the music is adapted to the human voice, ranging from the softest, flute-like note to a volume of sound.
Unsurpassed by any Instrument.

The proprietor has noted carefully for many years the imperfections and needs of the reed instrument, and directed his practical experience to the correction of such imperfections and his experiments have resulted in the production of a quality of tone which assimilates so closely to the
PIPE ORGAN QUALITY
That it is difficult to distinguish between the two. This instrument has
