Saturday, June 1, 1872.

The present position of the Democratic party is exceedingly novel and, perhaps, perilous. Placed, as it were, between two horns of a great dilemma, with the alternative of being extirpated by seizing the horn which an old and bitter enemy seductively holds out with bitter-sweet promises of help, or of grasping the other upon its own responsibility, to suffer possible defeat and partial disorganization, is indeed a position which challenges the ingenuity and patriotism of the subtlest thinkers in the Democratic party. It is a position made difficult by its very newness, and rendered perilous by the different views entertained by Democrats in the North and South. What shall be done, then, to reconcile these differences and indicate the best course to be pursued by the party? If the Baltimore Convention should endorse Greeley, will that endorsement be potent enough to induce the Northern Democrats to support him; or, if, on the other hand, the Convention should nominate a regular Democratic ticket, will the South drop Greeley and vote it? If so be that the Democracy of the whole country should support Greeley, could that gentleman secure enough votes to make his election sure?

These questions are being discussed by Democrats, and the Baltimore Convention will have to decide them in part, and the election in November, as a matter of course, will add the finishing stroke.

Now, in regard to harmonizing the existing differences among Democrats, it would appear at the first glance, that the surest method to nominate a Democratic ticket; but this is met at the outset by the fear that in such an event Greeley would withdraw, or if he does not withdraw, that the South would cling to him and thus insure Democratic defeat.

Or even if the South should sustain a purely Democratic ticket and Greeley remain in the field, the possibility of Democratic success is considered exceedingly questionable; for it is doubtful if Greeley could get as large a Republican following without Democratic support as he could with it, because many Republicans who would support him if sustained by the Democrats, would vote for Grant rather than see Democracy triumphant. If this conclusion be correct, what are we to do? Are we to nominate a ticket, vote for Greeley, or remain passive? The Southern Democrats give Greeley as their only hope of political salvation, and a respectable element in the West and elsewhere is equally as clamorous for him. He is alleged to be liberal, honest and kind-hearted; and for these qualities and the probable restoration of purity in the Administration, they are willing to overlook his life-long opposition to Democratic principles, and make him President. They are willing to ignore the fact that he urged the passage of the very measures, which he now denounces, and has done more than any ten men in the Republican party towards moulding the sentiment of the Northern people. They forget his cry of "On to Richmond"—his long and bitter abuse of the Democratic party—his advocacy of the Ku-Klux law; and, believing in his honesty, are anxious to accept him as their leader in a campaign which, it is thought, will bring about a great political revolution in this country.

To those who love the grand old Democratic party and its noble principles, this situation is exceedingly humiliating. It will go hard for a party which has preserved its name, organization and dignity intact for more than fifty years, to bow its head, pass under the rod, and make Horace Greeley President of the United States. He, of all men, perhaps, is least entitled to its support, and if he gets it it will be the grandest sacrifice ever made by any party or people for the love of country. If Democrats vote for him, it will not be he, but the prospective liberation of the oppressed South and the partial restoration of good government, that will influence them. He can never inspire honest respect and enthusiasm among the Democrats of this country, and nothing but sheer patriotism will ever induce them to support him. We care not if he is honest. He does not deserve to be praised for that—only in contradiction to Grant and his crew—and the only reason under heaven why we would take him in preference to Grant (if there shall be no Democratic ticket) is that he stands on a platform which partially embodies Democratic wishes, and which we believe he will strive to observe if he shall be elected.

If the Baltimore Convention endorses Horace Greeley, the Democratic party should have it understood that the Congressmen to be elected next fall must be Democrats. This would enable us to control the House of Representatives, and operate as a wholesome check upon the insolent arrogance of the Senate.

General News.

After a copious Executive session of more than nine hours, the Senate, on Saturday night last, by the requisite two-thirds vote, advised the President to nominate an additional article to the Treaty of Washington on the basis recently proposed by the British Government. The article as adopted is somewhat changed in form, but is not altered in principle. The amendment being designed to secure reciprocity of obligations on the part of both Governments without detriment to either, and without placing the United States in the attitude of seceding from their position as if in compliance with a requirement of the British Government. Some Senators, it is said, were inflexible in their opposition, contending that an assent would be lowering the American flag to the dust, and allowing the British to walk over it.

The number of immigrants which landed at Castle Garden, New York, last week, reached the extraordinary number of twenty thousand, which is the largest on record.

A telegram from London, of Monday's date, says that the North German steamship Baltimore, injured in the late collision off Hastings, has been towed to Southampton, where she will undergo repairs.

Salute was fired on Monday morning in Lafayette Square, New Orleans, and a Greeley and Brown ratification meeting held at the St. Charles Theatre, which was largely attended.

C. W. Woolley, of Cincinnati, has offered to march Longfellow against Harry Bassett, 21 miles, Jerome Park, June 15th, and Colonel McDaniel agrees to accept the proposition, at $20,000.

A Salt Lake special says that the women of Utah are preparing another memorial to Congress against the admission of Utah as a State.

Nine Greek criminals of the worst class including some of the Marathon murderers, have been released on condition of emigrating to this country, and are expected to be on their way to New Orleans.

The London Times thinks the action of the Senate important, as justifying England in the eyes of all the world in the position she has taken; the United States will find it hard to uphold demands which it has admitted were doubtful. It also thinks that the President, by his consulting the Senate, has greatly strengthened his own position. The Telegraph says that America has proved that she prefers justice to national vanity, and the love of honest dealing and mutual consideration exhibited by both nations, promises well for the future of the world. The Standard is disposed to moderate its congratulations and suspend its opinion until it knows more of what the articles to be proposed will commit England to do or pay.

The Republican Conventions have renominated General F. S. Newby for Congress from the Twenty-second District, and James S. Graham from the Twenty-third District of Pennsylvania.

Foreign.
France.
Paris, May 25.—Perier, Boon and Bouquin, the three men who were tried on the charge of participation in some of the most outrageous acts committed in this city during the reign of the Commune, and sentenced to a sentence to death, were executed this morning at St. Sator. They exhibited no emotion whatever at the last moment, and died crying "Vive la Commune."

New York, May 25.—A London special, in giving the particulars of the activity of the American fleet in suppressing the fire among the shipping in the harbor of Marseilles. France, says: The achievement of the United States squadron was one of the most splendid victories of peace, having saved from destruction by fire, discipline, skill and intrepidity of the officers and men a thousand merchant ships and the city of Marseilles.

Spain.
AMNESTY TO THE INSURGENTS.
Madrid, May 25.—Marshall Serrano grants full pardon to all insurgents who voluntarily surrender to the authorities. On Saturday the Carlists in Biscay availed themselves of this clemency in large numbers. One band only remains in the mountains of Navarre.

THE NEW MINISTRY.
Marshall Serrano has declined the request of King Amadeus to form a new Ministry, and his Majesty has now called upon Admiral Topete, who has consented. The new Government will be composed of members of the Unionist party.

DAM DEMOLITION—WOMEN TAKING THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS.
[From the Long Island Weekly Review, May 17.]
During the winter and spring much ill feeling has arisen at Long Swamp, Suffolk County, on account of a certain dam having been built by a farmer of that locality. The land thereabouts is very flat, and at best the drainage of the district is very imperfect. Those who have done most to ferment the bad feeling contend that the building of the dam has greatly injured their property on account of the backing up of the water, which before found an unobstructed outlet. It is also stated that the locality, in consequence of the formation of the unnatural pond, is more unhealthy. But whether these were the true reasons or not, the women of the neighborhood determined to take the matter into their own hands, and one day last week arrangements were made to do a big thing. Just as the gray tinge on the eastern hills bespeaks the dawn of morn, ladies might have been seen coming from nearly every farm-house within a radius of two miles. Those near the locality of the obnoxious dam hurriedly proceeded thitherward, while those at a distance started in wagons and all kinds of vehicles for what was to be the seat of war. Most of the women, from their general appearance, were maidens. Every one wore a thick veil closely covering their features. Some wore their hair tucked up, and stout boots with thick soles. On arriving at the dam, shoes, hoes, picks, crowbars, and the utensils so often used by the stronger arm of the man were eagerly grasped by one hundred to one hundred and fifty ladies, and the work of demolition actively commenced. As the water commenced to pour through the dam the work of the feminine mob was rendered more easy, and by sunrise 300 acres of water had disappeared. What course will be pursued by the owners remains to be seen. The rioters claim that the unhealthiness of the locality since the building of the dam was sufficient warrant for their summary proceedings.

VOODOERS UPON GREELY.
Terre Haute, May 25.—Hon. D. W. Voorhees addressed an assembly of 3,000 persons in Courthouse Square this evening. He reviewed the political career of Horace Greeley, pointing out why Democrats could not support him, and favored a strict Democratic nomination at Baltimore.

THE CENTENAL COMMISSION.
Philadelphia, May 25.—The Centennial Commission this morning accepted badges woven of silk on the Jaycard loom. A committee was appointed to prepare an address to the people showing the purposes of the exhibition. A resolution asking Congress to have the census taken in 1876 to show the growth of the country, was referred to the committee on legislation.

Philadelphia, May 28.—Arrangements are now complete for the accommodation of one hundred and fifty representatives of the press, on the floor of the National Republican Convention.

Great club was organized to-day to receive delegates to the Convention. Four thousand persons signed their names as members since 8 o'clock A. M. to-day. The club will parade on the evening of June 4.

Great Britain.
London, May 28.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Gladstone replied very briefly to the questions put last night by Messrs. Disraeli and Horner concerning the supplemental article. He made no statement of importance, and added nothing to the information already possessed by the public on the subject.

A lively sensation was created this evening by a bold protest of Mr. Thomas Hughes against horse racing and the usual adjournment of Parliament for Derby day, which occurs to-morrow.

Mr. Hughes, on rising to oppose the motion, was received with ironical cheers and laughter. He pointed to the fact that the House adjourned only two hours on Ascension day for divine worship, and now proposed to adjourn twenty-four hours for the Derby. It was incompetent with the dignity of the Commons to recognize horse racing. English race courses had introduced the most corrupt and insidious system of gambling which had ever disgraced an country. While he was opposed to this species of amusement he believed in manly sport, like the international boat races, cricket and other salutary competitions of human strength and pluck, and thought they should be encouraged.

The motion for adjournment was carried by 212 to 68.

The late debates in the French Assembly are said to have induced a crushing blow upon the hopes of the Imperialists, and the discussion is spoken of as a Parliamentary Sedan. It is understood that after the trial of Marshal Bazaine the impeachment of the last Ministers under the Empire will be demanded.

A CARD.
Newspapers generally are so well laden with advertisements that are calculated to deceive and mislead the unwary, that people have come to regard them as mere puffs and flattery; hence, they pass them by oftentimes unnoticed. But notwithstanding this fact, it is well sometimes to enjoy the bump of caution and discretion between the good and the bad, for by so doing one may get great bargains when and where they are least to be expected. This will apply with peculiar force to the EMPORIUM near the Depot at Forktown, where may be found a large stock of goods of all kinds usually kept in a well assorted country store, and which are being sold so cheap that customers are enabled to "try the water," and if no good results follow its use, here is your money back. This simple introduction has secured for her syrup enormous well worthy the attention of a "Doubting Thomas." A large number of testimonials can be gathered where cures have been accomplished. The medicine was introduced here about January of the present year, since which time over 100 bottles have been sold to less than 100 persons. The only failures known are in the cases of two aged men, who were disappointed because it did not restore them to the bloom and vigor of early manhood.

Primary Meetings

The Democratic Committee of the county are hereby requested to meet at the usual place for holding elections in their respective Districts, at 7 o'clock, on Saturday, the 9th day of June next, to choose two delegates to represent said Districts in the County Convention to be convened on Tuesday, the 11th of June, to send three delegates to represent the county in the State Convention at Baltimore.

By order of H. HUMPHREYS, P. TOADVINE, A. J. CRAWFORD. State Central Committee for Wicomico county.

Our article on "Patent Outside" has occasioned the publication of a card from Dick Morgan, in which he calls the Advertiser an "infernal machine," and indulges in other language not exactly complimentary to us. It is no more than we expected to receive at the hands of this fellow, and therefore we positively decline a controversy with him. We have said our say, established our point, and court an opportunity to test the question in the Circuit Court for Wicomico county. He, or his friends, have our consent to remark, in conclusion, that the Bohemian who wrote the card is evidently a clever chap, and knows how to wield a scurrilous pen. Such a writer could very easily obtain employment on the Days Doing at a penny a line.

LAUNCHED.—Jackson's new vessel was launched on Friday evening of last week. Her name is Annie Belle.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS will meet on Tuesday next for the purpose of privy and passing accounts.

CATTLE.—A drove of cattle numbering about 60 head, were driven through Salisbury on Thursday, en route for New Castle, Delaware.

CAMP-MEETING.—The Delmar Circuit Camp-meeting will be held in the woods of Mr. Elijah Freney, near Delmar, commencing on Friday the 16th of August.

EARLIEST OF THE SEASON.—On Monday we wrote some new potatoes of the Early Rose variety, about the size of hulled walnuts. They were grown by H. S. Brewington.

LARGE STURGEON.—On Tuesday last, a large sturgeon, weighing one hundred, and twenty-nine pounds, and measuring six feet, eight inches in length was caught by Mr. Jones Bonds in a boat seine in the Wicomico river.

SCARCITY OF PEPPER.—Pepper is so scarce in this county that it cannot be obtained at any price, and the demand is so much greater about the size of hulled walnuts. They were grown by H. S. Brewington.

BOND CASE.—The Wicomico Bond Case came up in the Talbot Circuit Court at Easton on Tuesday, and was argued on a new Demurrer. Me v. Henry, Sullivan and Merrick for plaintiff; and Messrs. Criss, Handy and Spens for defendants. The decision was held and curia.

IMMERSION.—On Sunday afternoon last, the Rev. John Brin kley immersed Mrs. Wm. Ferris. The immersion took place in Morris creek, near Powellville. A large number of people were present and witnessed the ceremony.

THE PARK.—How about music at the Park this summer? Is it the intention of our city fathers to have the place lighted in the most beautiful manner for the begin, and the young people are anxiously awaiting the action of the Board. Let us have light.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Rev. A. D. Davis, G. W. C. T. of Georgetown, Del., delivered an interesting temperance lecture in the school house at Delmar, on Wednesday evening, the 21st inst. At the close of the lecture a lodge of Good Templars was organized which now numbers about sixteen members. The association meets every Saturday evening.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Sandford's Minstrel, which exhibited in this town on Friday evening, will give a grand matinee this afternoon in the Court House for the benefit of ladies and children. Another entertainment will be given at the Court House this evening, and the Opera Troupe will turn out in full force with their seriocomic songs, and side-splitting farces. Afternoon performance will commence at 3 o'clock. Evening performance commences at 8 o'clock.

INUNCTION FILLED.—On Wednesday last an injunction was filed in the Clerk's Office for the purpose of staying the proceedings of the County Commissioners in levying an amount of money for the prosecution of the Wicomico Bond Case. It will be remembered that the old Board of County Commissioners passed a resolution to the effect that the county shall defray the expense of prosecuting the bond, and the nature of said injunction is to set aside this action. If the injunction is sustained, the cost of prosecuting the bond will fall upon the surviving trustees.

SHIPMENTS OF STRAWBERRIES.—The large amount of Strawberries shipped from this depot during the past week far exceeds the estimates that have been made by those engaged in that business. A few days ago it was surmised that the crop would be small and of inferior quality, but thus far a fair yield of large, marketable berries have been obtained. The prices have been unusually good, ranging from fifteen to forty cents, with the exception of a few inferior lots which sold for nine cents. Below we append the number of quarts shipped this depot during the week.

Table with 2 columns: Day and Quantity. Monday 7820 quarts, Tuesday 8260, Wednesday 14160, Thursday 9480, Friday 14250, Total 55270 quarts.

LOCAL GLEANINGS.—There are seventy-two shippers of strawberries at this depot.

The weather has been raising thunder lately.

Local news is like honey among the New York Custom House officers—wanting.

Sam Sanders is in town making fun for the militia.

Annie Belle is a very pretty name for the new vessel. We wish her a long and prosperous career.

Mourning departed spirits—the liquor dealer up town who had a barrel of whiskey burst a few days since.

Song of the thirty tops—"Sweet spirit hear my prayer."

The Acordion fever prevails to an alarming extent in Salisbury.

Mr James E. Huston will visit Trappe district soon to organize a young Men's Christian Association and to revive the Sabbath schools in that locality.

Corn has been so badly injured by the grub worm that it is found necessary to replant a large portion of it.

Oysters are plentiful at the Old bridge, and are selling cheap.

The heavy rain on Monday was indeed refreshing.

The first cherries appeared in our market on Tuesday.

Orisfield Items.

NEW CHURCH.—The Methodists of Orisfield are erecting a large church edifice, which, when completed, will be a very handsome building and well adapted to the uses for which it is designed. It is a two-story structure. The ground floor will be used for Sunday School and committee rooms, and the upper floor as an audience room. The character and extent of the building certainly speaks well for the energy and liberality of the people of that community.

A NEW DISEASE.—A new disease has appeared at Orisfield, which almost defies the skill of physicians. It occurs in the form of a low fever, possessing some symptoms of the fevers peculiar to our climate, but has many symptoms differing entirely from any fever laid down in the books, and the remedies which usually reach and control ordinary fevers, do not seem to exert any beneficial effects upon persons afflicted with it. Quinine, which is considered a sovereign remedy for the fevers of our climate, will not control it, and purgatives only aggravate and increase its malignity. Our friend, Dr. G. F. Atkinson, thinks the disease is superinduced by the decay of organic matter left in the oyster shells, and calls it "the Oyster Fever." This disease has no particular season to occur, and when it takes hold of a native, remains with him for ten days, and often for four weeks. It is not at all violent—the patient being able, usually, to walk about while suffering with it.

HOUSE BUILDING.—Many houses are now in course of erection at Orisfield, and about 90 more have been contracted for and will be built between this and cold weather.

THE BOUNDARY LINE.—The Commissioners on the part of Maryland and Virginia for the settlement of the boundary line between the two States, met at Orisfield on Monday for the purpose of taking the testimony of the two States in the neighborhood of their exact location.

Gen. Henry A. Wise is trying to establish a line beginning at Shelltown, at the mouth of the Pocomoke river, thence north through Orisfield, thence across Tangier sound to Smith's Island, thence to Smith's Point. This line, if established, will give Virginia a large slice of Little Annamoxes, half of Orisfield, 20 miles of Tangier sound and a part of Smith's Island. It will also cut off from Maryland some of the most valuable oyster grounds, which will have a tendency to materially injure our oyster interests.

If Virginia persists in claiming the line to be as described above, there is strong probability that the Commissioners will have to leave the settlement of the question to the Supreme Court.

Local Varieties.

Henry S. Brewington has just received a large supply of House-furnishing goods, which he is offering at the very lowest cash prices. Tin ware, Hardware and stoves of every variety and style are constantly kept on hand. It may be well to examine his prices before purchasing elsewhere.

CORRESPONDENCE.

FORTKOWN, May 28th, 1872.

It often happens, within the lapse of a single week that the agencies of nature work in such manner as to work out the most wonderful changes within the province of its domain, and to produce results far beyond the expectation of man. The effectiveness of this operative force has been fully illustrated by the recent improvement and changed condition of the growing crops in this locality. Only one week ago every variety of plant life was suffering so terribly from the cool dry weather, that a restoration to vigorous growth and profitable bearing seemed an utter impossibility, yet the recent refreshing showers have wrought a beneficial effect upon all kinds of vegetation, and the prospect is now hopeful of realizing a fair compensation from the sale of their produce.

On the morning of the 28th inst., at 10 o'clock, the wife of Marcus Hook died from cancer in the breast. Her sufferings within the past few weeks were intense, yet her resignation at the hour of death was calm and unwavering, and she passed gently away from a world of suffering to a more blissful life beyond the grave.

Our Fishermen say that their business was unusually dull this year. A very small quantity of shad were caught, and the season has not been at all profitable.

The following statement will be interesting to fruit growers:

The first shipment of strawberries from this depot in 1871, was on the 6th day of May. The first peas were shipped on the 15th of May and cherries were shipped on the 16th of the same month.

During the present spring, the first strawberries were shipped on the 20th inst; first peas on the 21st and first cherries on the 23rd inst.

Diff. in seasons—Strawberries 15 days less, Peas 5 " less, Cherries 12 " less.

Adjournment of Congress.

The adjournment of Congress will be welcomed by all but the partisans of the dominant faction. It is at least a relief to know that the worst which could be done by an unscrupulous set of men as ever used the power they had acquired for selfish or political ends has been accomplished. It is too early to pass in review the measures they have framed in the interest of their wing of the Republican party and to gratify the ambition of an Executive whose re-election they are endeavoring to force upon the people. Throughout the whole of the session now brought to a close, the Senate has been more unscrupulous, more malignant and more audacious in promoting fresh usurpations of power than the House. Under the leadership of men of the worst reputations—all of them the special friends and followers of General Grant—it has fostered corruption, covered up or justified the boldest enormities, and encouraged the use of official patronage to serve political ends. It has been timorous and treacherous, and, from the conservative body it once was, has degenerated into a band of conspirators, reckless, daring, predatory, and determined to retain and perpetuate by fraud or force, the power that was originally acquired by craft and cunning, and hypocrisy.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY ENFORCEMENT BILL.

By a dastardly trick in the Senate, and a shameful ruling on the part of Senator Anthony, who occupied the chair, the Supplementary Enforcement bill, extending the provisions of the bill over every voting precinct throughout the United States, was passed by the Senate as a substitute to the Snyder bill, and an amendment to the latter bill. The Appropriation bill, which was defeated by the Democrats in the House, supported by some of the Liberal Republicans. A committee of conference was ordered, which resulted in a modification of the Supplementary Election bill, so as to provide:

"That in any county or parish in any Congressional district, whenever ten citizens in good standing shall make known to the Judge of the United States Circuit Court their desire to have the registration or election guarded and scrutinized, the Judge shall appoint ten citizens of the election district or voting precinct, of different political parties, as Supervisors of Election. They are not to have any compensation or authority to make arrests, or to perform other duties except to be in the immediate presence of the officers holding the election, and to witness all the proceedings, including the counting of votes and the making of the return thereof.

Thus modified, this extension of the Payment Election bill passed the House yesterday evening by a strict party vote, and being amended by the Senate, Congress, stained with this infamous act, adjourned sine die.—Baltimore Gazette, 11th inst.

The recent action of the County Commissioners in levying an amount necessary to meet the various expenses of the county, is deserving of much commendation. Hitherto, the amount levied has been entirely inadequate to defray the necessary expenses, in consequence of which, our county is very much encumbered with debt, and unable to sustain its public institutions in a creditable manner. The debt to Somerset and Worcester counties still remains unpaid, and the small amounts usually levied for school purposes, has proved insufficient to keep the schools in operation for more than eight months in the year. In order to liquidate the accumulated debt, pay off other demands that are constantly being made upon the Treasury, and keep the schools open during the entire scholastic year, the present Board has levied the following amounts: For Insolventies and Surplus Fund $6,000, which is $3,000 more than the amounts levied last year. For Public School purposes, $6,000—an additional amount of $2,000 over last year's levy. The Board also found it necessary to levy over $3,000 to pay off the old debt to Somerset and Worcester counties, which debt was provided for in 1869, but owing to some cause, there were no funds to pay it from, and it was deemed expedient to make provision for the payment of the same during the present fiscal year. The sum of $1800 has also been appropriated to building an iron bridge over the Wisconsin river at Salisbury, which arrangement will save the county the annual expense of repairing the old wooden structure so long in vogue. In levying these additional amounts, the Commissioners have wisely consulted our best interests, and have acted in such a manner as will greatly ameliorate the financial condition of the county, and cherish the perpetuity of its public institutions.

Science.

Science, as a study, is an effort to probe and stimulate its public institutions has evidently characterized their proceedings.

The Democrats of Sussex county, Del., will endorse the Cincinnati nominees, provided the Baltimore Convention shall recommend it. Willard Saulsbury opposed the movement in the Hundred meetings with great bitterness, but the people disregarded the voice of their idol and declared their own will.

Saulsbury wants the Delaware Democracy to bolt the Baltimore Convention if it does not nominate a Democratic ticket. It would be an amusing spectacle to see little Delaware trying to elect a President. But, blood will tell, if the country has to go to the dogs.

Since the above was in type the Democratic State Convention at its session in Dover, repudiated Horace Greeley and declared for a straight-out Democratic ticket.

A MEMBER of the Democratic State Conventions, assembled for the purpose of sending delegates to the Baltimore Convention, have instructed their representatives to support the nomination of Greeley and Brown. From the tone of the press, the indications are that Indiana, Iowa, Florida and Kansas, will favor the acceptance of the Cincinnati nominees.

WASHINGTON, June 11, 1872.
A Reported Secret Democratic Meeting. A number of prominent Democrats, about twenty-five in number, representing Virginia, Texas, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Arkansas and New York, held a secret meeting last evening at the Owen House, and resolved that in the event of the Baltimore Convention endorsing the nominees of the Cincinnati Convention immediate steps be taken to sell another Convention for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. That headquarters are at Indianapolis, with Col. Greig as their chairman.

Why Men Ought to be Brilliant.

Ivory.

Few articles employed in the useful and ornamental arts are adapted to a greater variety of purposes, or possess a higher recognized value, than ivory. For the principal supply we are indebted to the tusks of the modern elephant, but large quantities are procured from other sources.

The tusks of commerce, generally termed teeth, vary greatly in their proportions and weight; some being sold which weigh only a few ounces. Some idea of the demand for this article may be formed from the fact that the annual consumption in Sheffield alone, for ordinary purposes, exceeds 3000 pounds. The most valuable tusks have but little curvature in their formation, and when sawed up for use exhibit sections almost circular.

The Custom of Swearing.

If I could persuade all the young people of Elmira to treat each other, not to be treated, I think one half of the danger from our strong drink would be gone. If I cannot get you to sign the total abstinence pledge, binding until you are thirty-five, I would be glad to promise you three things: First, never to drink on the sly; second, never to drink socially, treating or being treated; third, when you drink, do it openly, and in the presence of some man or woman whom you respect.

About Carrier-Pigeons.

In Holland and Belgium a great deal of attention is paid to pigeons, and a yearly exhibition at Antwerp does much to foster and encourage the breeding and training of them. There is, in fact, or was, in that city, a society of pigeon fanciers; and at their annual competition in 1819 an interesting trial came off, the result of which has been handed down to us.

The pigeons used officially in France during the late war are said to have exceeded this rate of speed, and indeed the rate of nearly forty miles an hour. By what intuitive genius the bird is guided when it is thrown up, and immediately, after soaring to an immense height, makes for its home, it is of course impossible to say. The pigeon is not the only animal which possesses this peculiar power of finding its way back from a long distance to the spot it has previously left. Dogs, cats, cows, horses, foxes, and many kinds of birds have done this, even by a route never before traversed, and indeed the migration of birds of passage to foreign climes is a no less remarkable exercise of this faculty than any of the others.

But to get a scintillation of wit or glimmer of an idea out of most men is harder work than to get a blaze from rubbing a bit of shaving soap on a flint.

Our New Possessions.

We arrived here from Honolulu on April 1, after a splendid passage of thirteen days, the fastest on record. Entering the harbor just as the sun is sinking beneath the sea, the eyes are in the most perfect tropical verdure, the beach skirted with palm trees, in the background breadfruit, guava, and wild trees, a cascade leaping from the highest mountain on the island lends a charm to the scene unsurpassed in any country. The beach around the harbor, for perhaps one and a half miles, is inhabited by the Europeans residing on the island. There are perhaps sixty European houses, badly constructed for the tropics, but the people settled on these isolated isles, far away from civilization, seem happy and contented. Indeed, the social life in Apia appears to a stranger to be in a very primitive state. The ball and Highland fling are danced here, and as a Frenchman remarked to me, "You English wherever you go carry your games with you, and I feel certain that if I pass to another world, if it should be my bad fortune to be banished to the remotest pit I shall find a Scotchman dancing the Highland fling and an Englishman a country dance." A ball at Port Apia is a sight not to be met with in any other place. The assembly generally consists of eighteen or twenty couples, and perhaps thirty, but his reel and dancing is kept up with a vim unknown in colder regions. The windows are all open, and the lights reflect upon the shining skins of the naked natives who crowd the verandahs to gaze on the dance of civilization. The native dances, "hula, hula," seems to our eyes to be in the extreme, but our waltz, danced as the Samoan ladies dance it, appears to the natives equally improper. Although the European residents enjoy themselves, the natives have little left to look forward to, for the unhappy fatalism which has desolated the country for the past ten years has left these miserable people almost in a state of destitution.

CAUSE OF THE WAR. Ten years ago the King of the Samoan group died, leaving a son of about twenty years of age, who, according to the established rules, was entitled to step into his father's shoes, but his uncle, then a high chief on Saif, five miles distant from the seat of government, invaded the island of Upolu with a powerful fleet of war canoes, and defeated the young King, who retreated to the east end of the island. Since that time there has been almost continual warfare, but about two years ago both parties gave up fighting from sheer exhaustion, and ever since have been preparing for war again, and a few days before our arrival hostilities commenced afresh. On the 1st of April two forts were taken by the invading party, and six heads cut off. It is the custom to give no quarter, and when a person is taken his head is at once cut off. The King, seated on a mat, receives the trophy with great joy, and the fortunate warrior who has cut the head is called the name of the king. The town of Apia is neutral, and either party can enter it without arms with perfect safety, but it impresses one with a singular feeling to see a canoe being paddled across the peaceful bay with the head of a man stuck up in the mast, and the beach with large knives along the shore, and the natives passing along with blood, when the head of some unfortunate native has been taken off just a few minutes before. Both parties are perfectly unarmed, and the only arms are American pistols and knives, and there is not a single instance of any outrage being committed on the white residents. The war has been entirely carried on by each party to gain the supremacy, and kept up now because the party that wins up the island, and the property of the others, and will destroy the principal chiefs.

The Present Position.

This state of things prevailed on the arrival of Mr. Stewart, the President of the Central Polynesia Land and Commercial Company. He at once requested a meeting of the King, the British Consul, and principal chiefs, representing to them that the company he represented had purchased large tracts of land on the island, and continued longer without destroying the native race. The King at once agreed with Mr. Stewart, and signified his wish to hand over his right to the United States and the company, and immediately an agreement was drawn up handing over the royalty of the island to the United States. The following day the other party met in the house of the United States Consul, and agreed to the same proposition, and in accordance therewith a treaty was drawn up, the fifth clause of which reads:—"We do acknowledge the absolute authority of the United States of America with regard to all matters whatsoever, and bind ourselves to adopt the common laws of America."

Besides these materials, the discoverer has brought other things to light—the debris of river shells, of fish and of insects; seeds of wild and cultivated flowers, of corn and barley, the field pea and the common pea, cultivated probably for both food and textile purposes, and the pebbles, with many chances known to science.

The following article from the Washington Patriot, representing the Virginia side of the boundary question, contains some interesting facts in regard to old traditions connected with the original boundary line between Maryland and Virginia. The Patriot says:
The Virginia Commission have claimed the line of Philip Calvert and Edmund Scarborough of 1668. These commissioners of that date were appointed at the instance of the Governor of the Province of Maryland, the representative of Lord Baltimore, and were instructed to find out and report what point was Watkins Point, and having located it, to run an east and west line from it to the sea. They reported that the point of land lying between Big Annessex and the Pocomoke river, east to Swanscreek creek, and thence east to the States of Maryland and Virginia then signed and sealed compact. First, that said point should be Watkins Point. Second, that the line thus run from its westernmost angle should be forever deemed and held the dividing line between the two provinces; and third, that all patents and titles, reciprocally and mutually, should be confirmed, north and south of that line. These records Maryland has, and Virginia shows numerous patents, calling for the line along its whole length. The land has numerous like records. Accordingly, the Virginia commissioners have found no less than twenty-seven marks of this boundary, and pointed them out upon the Eastern Shore. Yet the commissioners of Maryland claim that this is not the true Watkins Point, and not the true line. They do not show, however, what they deem to be the true Watkins Point, nor what is the true line, but ask for time to find both. The westernmost angle of Watkins Point is shown by the monument itself, and every monument pointing to it. There were no monuments anywhere else, and those discovered are all on an east and west line with the north headline or promontory of Little Annessex, half way between Big Annessex and Pocomoke Sound. The terminus of the railroad at Crisfield touches the line traced by the old marks, according to Michler's survey. The Western Shore boundary Virginia claims to be the north bank of the Pocomoke, from the Fairfax Stone, under the grant to Lord Horton, in 1651. Maryland claims the Southern bank of the river, under the charter of 1632. It is considered more likely that the channel of the Pocomoke to its mouth and thence the 38th parallel, north latitude, will be fixed as the true boundary. Maryland is now, under the Loret temporary compromise, holding for south of the Calvert and Scarborough line. The Joint Commission meets again in September.

All these candidates in the field it seems almost certain that the contest will be between Grant and Greely. For at least two-thirds of the voters, Conventions have either directly or indirectly instructed their delegates to support the Cincinnati nomination, and the indications are at present that the Baltimore Convention will endorse the nomination of Greely and Brown by an overwhelming majority. The Utica Observer an influential Democratic Journal of New York, inferring this hypothesis to be correct, thus states the probable result at the coming election:

The recent General Conference of the Northern Methodist Episcopal Church passed conciliatory resolutions looking to a restoration of fraternal relations with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The latter Church has several times attempted to effect, upon a fair and honorable basis, such a reconciliation between these two great bodies of Wesleyan Methodists. Their overtures have always been rejected, until last their determining that they were to be renewed to the North Church, if at any time thereafter a better state of feeling should prevail, to take the initiative. This that Church has now done, and according to that very able authority, the St. Louis Christian Advocate, in such a manner as to afford a substantial promise of a happy issue. The declarations of the Conference are said by the Advocate to be "frank and full," and such as "should be cordially met." There is therefore, a prospect of these hitherto widely separated Churches prosecuting their Christian work in the Southern States with less spirit of bitterness than in the past.

The Secretary of the Treasury has ordered that the July interest be paid without rebate, and on Wednesday the 29th inst. A considerable portion of it is due in Europe.

Italian Inundations.
HEAVY RAINS IN THE NORTH—DEADLY DESTRUCTION OF THE COUNTRY.
Fire has done its work in Southern Italy, and the devastating North Italy. The heavy rains of the last few weeks have carried away the banks of the river Po, near Ferrara, and many miles of country are flooded, while forty thousand people have with difficulty saved themselves from drowning. The damages are estimated at 20,000,000 francs. Le Voe Pucisic and the other local papers give terrible accounts of the state of the country. When the waters first broke down the banks, the authorities paid no attention to the matter, but during the night miles and miles of the country were flooded, and the panic among the population became alarming. The river first overflowed at Mezzano, a little later at another point, and the torrent in both places passed more than 150 yards in width. In a few hours a number of villages were under water. Fortunately the victims seem to be very few. The Mayor of the several Comunes, the military did their best, but all the boats were requisitioned and whole families were saved. Many were found on the roofs of their cottages crying for help. The Minister of Public Works left Rome at once and proceeded to the spot. He visited the places where the banks had given away, and ordered immediate works where it was most probable that the waters would break through again. And here, as was the case in Naples, bands of young thieves exerted themselves to profit by the terrible calamity, and the priests came out with the old story that Heaven is punishing the Italians for their conduct towards the Pope. The public charity is now appealed to again to relieve the distress occasioned by this fresh disaster, which has caused the ruin of thousands of peasants.

THE CROPS.—The wheat crop is now being harvested. In some sections of the county the yield is good, ranging from ten to fourteen bushels to the acre. Oats are suffering very much from the dryness of the soil, the straw is very short, and the grain indifferent. Wheat, cherries, blackberries, and peaches are being daily shipped to the Western markets, and command good prices. Clover and timothy has a little progress in making, and the fields afford good pasturage for stock. Although corn has suffered very much from the ravages of the grub worm, it now presents a healthy, green appearance and there is every prospect of a good crop.
