Local Announcements
SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1877.
This paper has double the circulation of any paper on the lower Peninsula.
Special Notice
In view of increased facilities of printing the Advertiser, we desire to increase its circulation a thousand or so more, and in order to procure those subscribers about any effort on our part, we propose to give premiums to persons who will interest themselves to make up clubs of subscribers for us. We offer the following premiums: To the person getting the largest number, provided the number exceeds one hundred, we will give a certificate of $200 paid on a piano, either of Horace Waters' or O. M. Stief's make. The next highest number, provided it exceeds fifty names, we will give a paid-up certificate of $100 on a choice parlor organ, of any size variation. To the person getting the next highest number, a certificate of $50 on any of the above varieties of organs, and to the next or fourth highest we will give a certificate of $75 as above, and to each a copy of the Advertiser for one year, and one choice out of a dozen unframed pictures. It does not matter how many of the names obtained as subscribers, nor when they are sent in—each name shall be faithfully credited to the person sending it. All we require is a dollar in cash to accompany the names. They may be sent in at any time, but the 30th day of January, or later, if the parties desire longer time. An additional inducement we will give to persons who reach one hundred names a certificate for $100 paid either on a piano or organ, as they may prefer, this not to effect the prize for which they are contending. The person who sends the first twenty names with $20, shall have a copy of the Advertiser and either of the popular Magazines one year, sent to any address they may direct, this not to effect the prize for which they are contending.
Outside of the above offer and not to effect them in any way, we will make an offer to gentlemen in want of a first-class parlor organ. We will give a certificate for $150 paid on one of Marvin's first-class album-filled safes to the person sending us one hundred and fifty names as subscribers with $150 in cash, and a certificate of like amount for one of Miller's first-class safes for one hundred and forty names with the cash. The names may be sent from anywhere, it matters not how many at a time, or post-office.
The "Blazing Rag" was in full blast Wednesday night.
W. W. & S. A. Graham are selling Overcoats at cost.
Willie Smith, who was injured by being thrown from his sleigh, is still confined to his bed without much change for the better.
The ice crop saved this year in Salisbury is perhaps more than three times as large as any ever saved before. A large portion will be consumed at Ocean City.
Joshua Johnson, Esq., has been appointed by Gov. Carroll a Justice of the Peace for the 9th district of Wicomico county. Mr. Johnson has entered upon the duties of his office.
FORTIFIED.—The Teachers' Institute which was to have been held here, beginning on the 22nd inst., has been postponed for the present. Due notice will be given to the teachers of the time of holding the same.
BALTIMORE, Md.—I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup personally and in my family for two or three years, and am prepared to say that there is nothing so compared to it as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, etc.—JAMES COX, Dentist.
$5,000 reward for the man who can sell Family Groceries, Apples, Nuts, Raisins, Confectionery, Segars, Tobacco, and all kinds of notions in his line cheaper than W. H. ROUNDS, Dock St., Salisbury, Md.
We have received the first of January number of Leisure Hours, a beautiful four-column, sixteen-page monthly, published at 162 William street, New York, price one dollar and twenty cents per annum in advance. This is a handsome journal, devoted to literature, romance, pleasure and instruction.
Mrs. Susan Evans—famously known as "Aunt Sukey," died on Friday last, after a protracted sickness. Her remains were interred in the M. E. church yard on Sunday afternoon. A great many persons attended the funeral. She was a devout Christian, but not connected with any denominational church. She was also probably the oldest person in town.
NOTICE.—I hereby give notice to all Taxpayers in Wicomico county, that I am now ready to receive the Taxes for the year 1876.
LEVIN B. DORMAN, Jan 13th-St. Collector for 1876.
200-100 CIGARETTES AND BEST SAUSAGE, go to Gordy Bros.

Those fond of skating have had their taste fully gratified since winter has set in. A month and more have elapsed since our Lake and ponds have been free from their icy fetters, and the prospect still continues good for a continuance of the cold. Lake Humphreys is daily thronged with the devotees of this pastime, and presents an animated appearance throughout the day. Skating is an innocent, healthy means of enjoyment, and we are pleased to see so many ladies beginning to learn this fact.
The Board of Control and Review have concluded their labors, and, we believe, faithfully discharged their duty. In the multitude of applications for abatements of assessment made to them, we have no doubt they found it necessary to refuse to comply with what the applicants believed to be reasonable requests, while the plain duty before them admonished them that they were to know no man, to serve him, outside of a plain duty. That that duty was faithfully performed we have not the slightest doubt.
The Board of Control and Review have finished their labors, and the following is the result of their figuring:
No. 1.—Barren Creek, $ 863,342
No. 2.—Quantico, 349,785
No. 3.—Tyakins, 469,550
No. 4.—Pittsburg, 556,156
No. 5.—Parsons, 729,475
No. 6.—Dennis, 184,265
No. 7.—Trappe, 288,697
No. 8.—Nutters, 284,883
No. 9.—Salisbury, 1,241,307
No. 10.—Sharptown, 144,811
$4,507,381
The above shows an increase of property since last assessment of only $119,516, which is owing to the depression of the times.
No gentleman looks fully dressed unless he is finished off by a fitting collar and neck tie. The place to get such articles is at W. A. & S. A. Graham's.
Among our exchanges this week we have received a copy of the Western Farmer or "Patron's Helper," published at Des Moines, Iowa. The editor, though a Granger, has an eye to politics. It is easy to discern his leaning to the man Hayes, and we would infer from his argument (although he does not dare say so) that he thinks the man Hayes is elected. He is particularly severe on the railroad managers for the Ashabula disaster, but seems at sea in figuring up the cause of the accident, which would be an easy problem for him to solve if he will only ascertain the net weight of the two ponderous locomotives which were attached to the train on that fatal night. Then take into consideration that the iron was frozen, and for that reason deprived of its elasticity. But it is not to be wondered at when a man lives out in Iowa, where they believe that Hayes is elected, that he can't account for an accident so plain in its cause and effect.
DIED.—On the 10th inst., at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Purcell, near Snow Hill, Worcester Co., Md., while on a visit there, Mr. Wm. Laws, of Dennis district, Wicomico County, in the eighty-third year of his age. Mr. Laws has been in feeble health for some time, and has suffered greatly from the loss of his sight, and in consequence of painful operations for the relief of his eyes. Mr. Laws was one of our oldest and most wealthy citizens. He has filled several important offices in his life, both in this county and in Worcester. He was one of the Judges of the Orphan's Court of this County, from 1867 to 1871, having been elected at the first election after the formation of the county. He was much esteemed by his neighbors, as was fully attested by the large attendance at his funeral. He was a regular, particular Baptist, of the Old School, which denomination has always been noted for its strict probity, strong moral force, and adherence to principle. One thing can be truly said of the deceased, that a good and upright man has passed away, full of years, and a life of financial usefulness.
From our Barren Creek correspondents we get the following items:
The officers and members of Riverton Lodge, No. 65, K. of P., convened at their Hall on Monday evening, Dec. 26th, 1876, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year, viz: Chancellor, Commander, John Howard; Vice Chancellor, Thomas W. Walker; Master of Finance, Josephus A. Wright; Treasurer, Ebenezer T. Bennett; Keeper of Records and Seals, J. T. Wilson; Prelate, D. J. Murphy; Master at Arms, J. S. Taylor; Trustees, B. S. Bradley, L. M. Vincent and Joseph W. Taylor, and James E. Bacon Representative to the Grand Lodge, which meets in Baltimore on the 22nd inst. The above Lodge is in as fine a condition as any in the State, no doubt, according to its number of members.
Wicomico Council No. 48, O. U. A. M., on Saturday, Dec. 30th, 1876, elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Councilor, James E. Bacon; V. C., Handy Graham; R. S., Samuel W. Bennett; F. S., Walbin Elliott; Treas., Thos. L. Jackson; Inductor, Josephus Venables; Examiner, Ward E. Johnson; O. P., Levin Graham; I. P., John C. Horseman; Representative to State Council James E. Bacon.
If a young man desires to look stylish and well-dressed he should go immediately to W. A. & S. A. Graham's, where he will be certain to get suited in everything that appertains to a gentleman's toilet, and the low prices charged should be a consideration to every one.
The most beautiful and latest styles of Stationery to be found in this place, is at Dr. J. D. Collier's Drug Store.

The Salisbury Circulating Library has just received about 40 new and fresh volumes from the late lists of various publishing houses. Among the more notable are "Daniel Deronda" and two other of Geo. Eliot's powerful novels, "Madcap Violet" and others by William Black, perhaps the most talked of just now of living novelists after Geo. Eliot; three translations from the German by Mrs. Wister; Dr. Field's Travels; novels by Thackeray, Hawthorne, Miss Alcott, Trollope and Marian Harland. The most valuable of recent contributions to biographical literature, Trevelyan's "Life of Macaulay" is also among the purchases.
This attractive list will, as it should, add to the patronage of the Library. The lectures which begin next Monday evening, will afford an opportunity to the public to show their interest in an enterprise which has done, and will do so much for the entertainment and culture of the town, the Circulating Library. The proceeds will be at once applied to the purchase of new books, so that in two ways the patrons will reap the benefit of their small outlay, in having interesting and instructive lectures, and in the perusal of carefully selected literary works.
Let all attend Col. Page's lecture on the "Merchant of Venice"
Miss Mary A. H. Gay, of Decatur, Georgia, is at present in our town. She is the authorized agent to receive contributions to be used in rebuilding the first Baptist Church at Dalton, Georgia, which was destroyed by the ravages of war. Miss Gay is entitled to the favorable consideration of the people of this vicinity, and of the whole people, inasmuch as she represents a good cause, and is a self-sacrificing and devoted christian lady. She comes highly recommended by some of the best people in the country, and we can assure those who feel it to be their duty to contribute to this good cause, that there will be no misapplication of the funds contributed, as they will be placed in the hands of a person known to this community for transmission. We hope our people may give the matter their favorable consideration. We copy the following from the Washington Chronicle:
DESERVING CHARITY.—Miss Mary A. H. Gay, a devoted Christian lady of Georgia, is in the city soliciting aid towards the erection of a Baptist Church edifice at Dalton, Georgia, to replace one destroyed by fire by the casualties of war during the march of our troops through that State. She is warmly endorsed by the Georgia delegation in Congress, and by the Rev. Dr. Sampson, the Rev. Dr. Cuthbert, and others in this vicinity. The sum needed for the completion of the work is not large, and it is to be hoped this worthy self-sacrificing lady will not appeal in vain to the citizens of Washington.
The opening sermon for the Week of Prayer was preached last Sunday night in the Presbyterian church in this place by Rev. Mr. Tagg, of the Methodist Protestant church, his congregation joining the Presbyterian for worship during the entire week. He took for his text John I, 1, 7, Christian Fellowship, and in a clear, full voice the reverend gentleman proceeded as follows:
"The different denominations do not imply a lack of fellowship. The church agencies in the essentials of a Christian faith. The unities of the church are the divine elements that permeate it; the diversities the outgrowths of human ignorance and human weakness.
"Yet in the present state of society these diversities are not a disadvantage. There might be fewer, and all the purposes of Christ's kingdom subserved, but to form the church into one organic body would be unwise. A little generous competition results in mutual good. Divisions become harmful only when they are the cause of contention, of persecution, of bigotry, of self-constituted superiority. There is no real harm in divisions, but in the extremes that men are led through them.
"This text teaches fellowship through a common Father. God is the Light. Christ incarnated that light, and believers walk in it. It is fellowship of thought and purpose and result. We must come into a knowledge of his will, into agreement with his designs and into obedience to him. Obedience can only spring from love. This love must be mutual, else how can commands would become harsh and exacting, or he who obeys would be neglectful and careless. God loves, and his aim is to draw man's love toward him. There will be delight in the presence of those we love. Such a love will work out, conformity, and conformity to Christ must be in the evolution of purity, holiness, truth and love. Fellowship between men is the result of these principles. One is our Master, even Christ, and all who love the brethren. There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God, and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in all, one Holy Catholic church, one universal asylum, where all the soul diseased may find a home, and Christ is the head of it, and all believers of the past and present of every land, and nation, and tongue, of every sect and denomination are parts of it.
The sermon, of which this is only a synopsis, lasted 30 minutes, and was listened to with profound attention by the large congregation. Mr. Tagg is comparatively a young man, and bids fair to become a star in his church, which already contains quite a constellation of bright luminaries.
Rev. J. J. Synth, of the Presbyterian church, preached on Monday night in the Methodist Protestant church to the two congregations a very forcible and elegant discourse.
Services were held on Tuesday evening in the M. E. church, and in the Presbyterian church the remainder of the week for the two congregations.
Rev. Messrs. Wilson and Moorman, of the M. E. church and M. E. church south, also united their congregations and held their services alternately in their respective churches. We were not present at any of the services, but we are told they have preached eloquent discourses to the large congregations drawn together on these interesting occasions.

No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets, with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist, Dr. L. D. Collier, and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts.
Consumption Cured!
An old physician, retired from active practice, having placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent Cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a Sensitive and Radical Cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send free of charge to all who send him the recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

THE SUN. NEW YORK. 1877.
The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays, a sheet of eight pages, or 16 columns, while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.
THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and reformation, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom and integrity for hollow pretences, imbecility and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from a million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington especially, will be full, accurate, and fearless, and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachment of unjustified power.
The price the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.50 a year. The Sunday edition alone, eight pages, $1.25 a year, post paid.
The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 66 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid. The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY SUN can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expense of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. Address, THE SUN, New York City, N. Y.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE.
"The Leading American Newspaper."
Largest Circulation among the Press.
I.—It publishes all the News. The servant of no man and the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.
II.—It is impartial and Independent. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.
III.—It is, as it always was, essentially Republican. It may survive the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of Republican leaders, or corruption in the Republican party; but it can never cease to be true to Republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, integrity of the National fifth, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stone of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.
IV.—Its moral tone is pure and elevated. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of The Tribune.
V.—The choicest standard and current literature of the day is presented in its columns, including correspondence, poems, stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.
VI.—It is the best and cheapest farmer's paper published. "The Weekly Tribune" has done more to make good farmers than any other influence that ever existed.
VII.—The market reports of The Tribune are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. Its cattle, butter and cheese, and other markets are the recognized standard.
VIII.—More copies of The Tribune are paid for and read by the American people than any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.
IX.—The readers of The Tribune represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by The Tribune.
X.—Public approval and prosperity have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of The Tribune. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constant receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1877.

We have received a copy of the 7th annual report of Col. Woolford, Comptroller of the State Treasury, made to the Governor of the State. We have given the work a careful perusal, and rejoice to say that it presents a healthy condition of the Treasury. From it we learn that the State debt has been reduced $677,068.88, and the State tax brought down to 171 cents on the $100.00. The large amount of $565,612.11 of School tax has been distributed among the counties, and the City of Baltimore, and $35,085.00 to Colleges, Academies and Schools. Progress has been steadily made in the work of equalizing the burden of taxation, and in compelling the payment of taxes to the State by rail roads and other corporations. Col. Woolford at the time of entering upon the duties of the office, saw the need of improved plans of collecting the revenues of the State, in order to meet and provide for the extravagant appropriations made by the Legislature from time to time, and he has succeeded far beyond the most ardent expectations of the people, as expressed by their organs, the newspapers, from time to time. When he undertook the work of devising means whereby the great corporations doing business in the State could be made to contribute to its revenues to an extent which would greatly lighten the burdens of the people, some of the paid organs, and individuals of those corporations, made furious attacks upon the comptroller, but all to no purpose. He pursued his course steadily, and by his efforts and vigilance in pointing out the defects of the old tax laws, succeeded in eliciting a majority of the members of the Legislature in the cause of re-enacting such laws as were necessary to enforce payment to the State of moneys due her. Taking into consideration the small salary paid to the Comptroller for the arduous duties which he has to perform, we are constrained to say that the people have good cause to congratulate themselves on having at such an important post, so able and so efficient an officer. While a further cause of congratulation is the healthy condition of the good old Commonwealth, especially when we take into consideration the general financial depression throughout the country.

The Senate of the United States has passed the Bill known as the Electoral Bill. We are happy on account of the healthy reaction of business in consequence of the seeming near approach of the settlement of the vexed Presidential question. While we have some doubts of the soundness of the policy, yet we think anything which may have the appearance of legality, if it will be effective to quiet the fears of our people and finally settle the vexed question, is better than civil war. We therefore hope the thing may pass both houses and work as well as its most sanguine friends seem to anticipate. If the bill becomes a law, five Senators will be chosen by the Senate, five Representatives by the House, while the Bill itself chooses four members of the Supreme Court, and empowers them to appoint another of its members as the fifth man, who, it is said, will be Davis or Bradley, both Republicans, but said to be good men. Outside of this last-named man the committee will stand seven Democrats and seven Republicans, while the Bill provides for the appointment of one out of four Republicans or Independents, as some call them, as they are not considered in their official position as entertaining anything but judicial views.

We hope so. If they do right according to their consciences we shall feel no ill from the result. But we would not like to trust the conscience of H. L. Boyd.

boundary line between Maryland and Virginia has at last been settled by the Supreme Court. The length of the line is 100 miles.

established by the commission, gives to our State the whole of the Potomac river, and all the oyster fields in Tangier and Pocomoke Sounds heretofore claimed by our oystermen, while Virginia is not to be disturbed in her riparian rights on the Potomac shore, so long as their improvement does not interfere with our rights or interests. Much credit is due the counsel for the State of Maryland, and especially the Hon. Isaac D. Jones, who has devoted years of arduous labor to bring out of the old musty archives, the charted rights of the Colonies, both in this country and England, the facts which were necessary to establish our claim beyond doubt or controversy. Mr. Jones is a great worker, and when a great case is to be tried, involving great interests, the parties litigant can do no better in this country than to secure his services. His fort has always been, to work up great cases, and to bring out whatever there is of merit or demerit in them.

We have received a copy of the Philadelphia Times Almanac, which is a jewel. In addition to being a complete calendar, it is a complete political history of current events, and gives many interesting historical facts. It gives election returns for several years in some of the States, and is a complete history or directory of Pennsylvania officials. It is, in fact, indispensable to the public man or the politician. No library can be complete without it. The Times has shown a degree of enterprise and success not experienced or enjoyed by many papers in this country. It is only two years old, and far outstrips any of its contemporaries in its wonderful growth. Long live the Times.

One by one they drop out, and will disappear forever. John R. McPherson Democrat, has been elected by the Legislature of New Jersey, to succeed Frelinghuysen in the U. S. S. Logan is left out by the Illinois Legislature, and the Democrats and Independents have elected Judge Davis in his place.

The Judges who are to Count the Vote.

Mr. George Alfred Townsend, in a letter to the New York Graphic, thus briefly sketches four of the members of the Supreme Court who are to assist in counting the electoral vote should the plan recommended by the joint Congressional committee be adopted:

"Clifford is a man steeped in reverence for the tribunal where he has passed so many years. This old man, colossal in size, weighing about or above 300 pounds, made the treaty with Mexico in 1847. He was appointed by a Democratic administration, and is hardly ever heard to refer to political questions.

"Judge Miller speaks pleasantly about the new duty devolving upon him. He is universally regarded in Missouri by the ex-rebels as well as by the Republicans of Iowa as the ablest jurist west of the Mississippi river. By birth he is a Kentuckian, and was once a doctor.

"Judge Fields is a man of stupendous reading and information, the ablest lawyer on the Pacific side, and the peer of anybody in the court. He is a man of ready opinions, but as a judge his impartiality is unquestioned.

"Judge Strong is the most judicial-looking man on the bench—a noble head, with gray locks from his crown. His position in Pennsylvania was of the highest; he is seldom heard of here except in the legal social circle.

"While many look upon Davis as the fifth judge, some say that Conkling's appointee—Ward Hunt—would be apt to imitate Conkling's ennobled motives and forget the partisan in the public officer, and that he may be the choice. Others think that the judges will select the easy and agreeable Bradley, who was appointed a Republican, but whose State went for Tilden, by so large a majority that he will be evenly balanced in the influences which environ him.

Morton vs. Morton.

The only point in which Senator Morton is consistent with himself is his ready endorsement and support of acts that he deems may be for the benefit of his party. This is his creed, from his own lips, as uttered in the Senate:

"It is not the history of parties that they will voluntarily surrender an advantage, though tainted with odium and injustice.—Morton's speech in Senate, January 17, 1873.

In declaring now that no one but the Vice President has the authority under the Constitution to count the electoral vote, though he formerly held exactly the contrary, he is certainly illustrating the above text very faithfully. Here is what he said in the Senate in another part of the same speech quoted above:

"Upon the hypothesis that the President of the Senate has the power to open and count the electoral votes, and that the two houses are to be present merely as witnesses and have no jurisdiction over the subject either jointly or separately, everybody must perceive that it is a vast and dangerous power to repose in the hands of one man—especially when he may be ardently devoted to the fortunes of a great party."

He opposes now the plan adopted by the joint committee. In his speech of March 1875 he favored any plan of adjustment. He said:

"We can understand, in view of what took place three years ago last month, the necessity of providing some method for counting these votes. We cannot, as common lovers of our country, and patriots, sworn to stand by this government, pass over the duty of providing against such dangers as lie right at the door. As I said before, any plan is better than none at all."

Thus we have Morton on Morton, to the edification and enlightenment of the public, as to how little value is to be attached to what he now says and does in regard to the plan of compromise.

Determined Duellists.

SOUTH CAROLINIANS TAKE THE FIELD.—THE PRINCIPALS WOUNDED.—REMARKABLE COOLNESS.

We learn from Mr. I. M. Powell, Register of Deeds of Columbus county, that there was excitement in and about Fair Bluff on Friday, owing to the fact that two colored individuals from South Carolina were expected to engage in a duel in that neighborhood. Fair Bluff is on or near the line between the two States. It seems that a colored Democrat, a firm and unflinching supporter of Gov. Hampton, named Nevels, living at or near Mullins's depot, in Marion county, had been challenged to fight by a man named Moody, a Republican and adherent to the cause of Chamberlain, living near the same place. It was understood that the parties were to fight with bowie knives, and a lively and interesting struggle was looked for. A crowd had collected to witness the duel, and among the witnesses were many Democrats, both white and colored, who wanted to see fair play.

Nevels and his party were on hand at the appointed spot in good time, where they waited for Moody, the challenging party.

A conductor on the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad says that the Democratic principal and his party of three seconds returned to South Carolina on his train, the seconds getting off at Mullins's depot, and the principal at Marion. The seconds were very uncommunicative, and in reply to questions, intimated that the affair did not come off on account of the non appearance of the principal on the other side. After the seconds left the train, however, the conductor went into the car occupied by the principal, and noticed that he had his right arm in his bosom, as if he had been wounded, he asked if there was anything the matter with it. Nevels said that he had been shot, upon which he withdrew his hand from his bosom, disclosing a bloody sleeve, and exhibited to the conductor a severe wound in the arm. Nevels was then asked if the reported duel really took place. He replied that it certainly did; that they met on the ground near Fair Bluff at 10 o'clock on Friday morning; that they exchanged four shots; that Nevels received one wound in the pistol arm, and his antagonist three separate wounds—one on each side of the breast (high up), and one in the left arm. He said the agreement was that they were to fight until one or the other party should cry "Enough," but that when his competitor received his last shot he dropped, and could not stand up further to face the music. Nevels stated that Moody had challenged him to fight two or three times before, but he had told him that he didn't want to shoot him.

The seconds were armed with double-barreled shotguns, and their appearance suggested the idea that they were a party returning from a hunting expedition. They were very calm, as was the principal, exhibiting no evidences of undue excitement, and when the latter left the train at Marion he walked off very deliberately, with his hand in his bosom, and his appearance excited no remark or attention. In fact, our informant states that, for a dueling party, returning fresh from the field, both principal and seconds exhibited remarkable coolness.

The Republican principal, Moody, with his party, remained behind, the impression being that he was too badly wounded to be removed to his home.

The distance between combatants was fifteen paces.

Two of the most celebrated artists the world has ever known dwell in the same city. One delighted in delineating beauty in all its graces of tint, form, and motion. His portraits were instinct with the charm of physical vigor. The graceful, half-voluptuous outline of form and feature harmonized with delicately blended tints. On his canvases, the homeliest faces had an almost irresistible charm. The other found pleasure only in depicting weird and gloomy subjects. Above all, did he excel in painting the portraits of the dying. The agonizing death-throes, the ghastly face and form, were all depicted with marvelous fidelity. There existed between these artists the most intense dislike. At length this dislike culminated. The beauty-loving artist had been engaged in painting the portrait of a beautiful woman. Conspicuously pronounced it the most wonderful piece of art that had ever been produced. His brother was jealous of his fame and sought revenge. By bribing the keeper of the studio he gained access to the picture each night. At first he was content to only sicken the brilliancy of the complexion and eyes, efface the bloom from cheek and lip, and paint a shadow on either cheek. Later, his strokes grew bolder and freer, and one morning the artist awoke to find the entire outline of the portrait changed. He could scarcely recognize in the emaciated form and haggard countenance the glowing conception he had embodied. The pallid face and expressionless eyes he had attributed to a lack of genuineness in his materials; but when the outlines were changed he suspected the cause and indignantly dismissed the keeper. What the revengeful artist marred by a few rapid strokes of his skillful brush was only restored by years of patient industry. Reader, need we name this artist.—Health, who paints the flowers on the "grassy carpet" no less than the human form divine.—Disease, the dreaded artist who reveals among the ruins both of nature and humanity.—and Carelessness, the keeper to whom Health often intrusts his portraits. And is it not the beauty of woman, the most admired of all the works which adorn the studio of Health. The slightest stroke of his brush upon the delicate organization leaves an imprint that requires much skill and patience to efface. Restoration must be prompt. Carelessness must be dismissed. Let suffering women heed the warning ere Disease has marred their chief beauty.—Health's beyond preparation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been used by thousands of these sufferers, and they are unanimous in their praise of its excellence. If you would be transformed from the pallid, nervous invalid into a happy, vigorous woman, try it.

Very Useful to Every One.

In no other way can a person get back so large a profit for a very little money, as to expend it in learning what to do, when to do it, and how to do it—in other words, to have his brains to help his hands. Here is one way to do this. The Illustrated will now procure a large beautiful, cheap journal, for all of 1877, splendidly illustrated, with over 800 fine original Engravings, and over 1000 Columns of the very best, plain, practical trustworthy information about the every day in-door and outdoor work and comfort of every home in Country, Village and City. This information is not prepared by mere scribbles, but by a large force of intelligent working men and women, who know what they write about, and are assisted by many others who furnish information from their own practice and observation. Such a Journal is the "American Agriculturist," so named because started 35 years ago as a rural journal, but since greatly enlarged and improved, to suit the daily wants of every man, woman and child, in City, Country and Village—for the Farmer and Gardener, the Merchant and Mechanic, the Professional Man—indeed, all classes. It is packed full of useful information that every one ought to have. Many simple hints and suggestions will repay more than a whole year's cost of the paper. Its original engraved plans for buildings and improvements, with details of cost, etc., and common sense directions, are worth far more than a majority of the costly works on architecture. Great care is exercised to have every line in the paper reliable. Its constant, persistent and full exposure of a multitude of humbugs and swindlers, are alone worth far more than its cost, and have saved to its readers and to the country millions of dollars that would have gone into the hands of sharpers. The Departments for Housekeepers and Children are very useful and entertaining. In short, the "American Agriculturist" is full of good things, and ought to be in every house in the land. The circulation is so large that the Publishers can supply it at little above the cost of the printing paper—or $1.60 a year, sent post paid; or four copies $5.40. Take our advice and send your subscription for 1877 (Vol. 36) to ORANGE JUD COMPANY, 245 Broadway, New York. You will find it pay and well.

New Democratic Senators.

Hon. John Roderick McPherson, Democrat, will be to-day elected United States Senator from New Jersey to succeed Hon. F. T. Frelinghuysen republican, whose term has expired, was born in Livingston county, New York, and has been for many years identified with commercial interests in New Jersey, being a very heavy stock dealer and trading extensively in real estate, besides being owner of one of the largest abattoirs in the world. He was a member of the board of aldermen of Hudson City for six years from 1862 to 1868, and president of that body during three years of that time. Mr. McPherson was instrumental in forming and was president of the People's Gas Light Company of Hudson City, and a director in the savings bank of that city. He served a term of three years in the New Jersey State Senate, commencing in 1872, and was a presidential elector on the Democratic ticket at the last election, and voted last December for Tilden and Hendricks. He was educated at Genesee College, having formerly studied under Hon. Angus Cameron, now Senator from Wisconsin. Whilst a member of the New Jersey Senate Mr. McPherson developed considerable ability as a debater, and displayed great energy during the recent presidential canvass. He is forty-three years of age.

Hon. James E. Bailey, Democrat, the Tennessee Senator elect for the short term, made vacant by the death of Andrew Johnson, is a descendant of an old North Carolina family and a native of Clarksville, Tenn., his present residence. He was admitted to the bar at an early age, with a good collegiate education. In 1852 he was elected to the Legislature and was a prominent member of the whig element of that body. He was again elected in 1859, and was a member of the Legislature at the beginning of the war. After the beginning of hostilities he raised a regiment and served as colonel of the Forty-ninth Tennessee Volunteers in the Confederate army. He has achieved distinction as a lawyer.

Combat in an Oyster Boat.

United States Commissioner Rogers Tuesday dismissed a charge against Capt. Wm. H. Parks, of the oyster schooner Express, of Crisfield, for inflicting cruel punishment on Amos Saunders, a colored hand, and a charge against Saunders of attempting to incite a mutiny on the schooner. The commissioner required the captain to pay $21.75 wages due Saunders. The evidence of the captain and Saunders against each other was very conflicting. Captain Parks said the boat went to a oyster bed to dredge when the men refused to work and Saunders seized the small boat declaring he was going ashore. The captain sought to stop him, when a contest ensued, in which Saunders used a shovel and hand spike, knocking the captain down, though he cut Saunders in the thigh and back with a penknife. The captain, on getting up struck Saunders in turn on the head with a hand spike, knocking him senseless. During the fight Capt. Parks called to Capt. Green on a schooner near the Express that he "would be murdered." Capt. Green went to his help, but when he got aboard the fight was over and Saunders disabled. While fighting Capt. Parks called to other hands on board if they would "let him be murdered." The only reply he heard was "you are man to man." Saunders differed as to the origin of the fight, and said he asked for his wages to go ashore, when he was assaulted, and they fought as stated.—Balto. Sun.

MASTERING VICIOUS HORSES.

Yesterday afternoon an exhibition was given at the corner of Ninth and Howard streets of a new and very simple method of taming vicious horses, which is claimed to be superior to any in use. The first trial was with a kicking and bucking mare which, her owner says, has allowed no rider on her back for five years. She became tame and gentle in many minutes, and allowed herself to be ridden about without a sign of her former wildness. The means by which this result was accomplished consists of a piece of light rope, which is passed around the front jaw of the mare, just above the upper teeth, crossed in her mouth, and then secured back of her neck. It is claimed that no horse will kick or jump when thus secured, and that a bucking horse after receiving this treatment a few times will abandon his vicious ways forever. A very simple method was also shown by which a kicking horse can be shod. It consists in connecting the animal's head and tail by means of a rope fastened to the tail and then to the bit, and drawn tightly enough to incline the horse's head to one side. It is claimed that it is absolutely impossible for the horse to kick on the side of the rope. At the trial yesterday a horse which for years had to be bound on the ground to be shod, suffered the blacksmith to operate upon him without attempting to kick while secured in the manner described.

A Time-Honored Specific.

The long and successful career of Dr. Wisbart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, as contrasted with the speedy collapse of nostrums devoid of efficacy have from time to time been puffed into a brief notoriety during the twenty odd years that this celebrated medicine has been sold, affords a proof that the American public continues to repose its confidence in deserving articles only. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial has long been recognized as the leading specific for Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Diphtheria, and all other diseases of the breathing organs. It is, moreover, a certain, speedy, and safe botanic remedy for Dyspepsia, Liver Disorders, Scrofulous Affections, Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Dropsy, Debility, Constipation, and Female Complaints. Constantly accumulating evidence of an unimpeachable character establishes the fact that it not only entirely eradicates the diseases to which it is adapted, but also that its action is remarkably prompt and thorough. The crucial test of experience has demonstrated its reliability in every particular. Sold by all druggists. Principal Depot No. 916 Filbert St., Philadelphia, Pa. Nov. 26th, 3m.

"DAY AS A DICTIONARY."

That phrase must pass away. Look into the elegant quarto edition of Webster's Unabridged; see the three thousand illustrations, handsomely engraved, interesting and instructive pictures. They are interspersed through the work in just the order in which you can most readily find them with definition and description. Then again, they are classified, convenient of comparison. But this is only one of a hundred or more improvements made in the recent edition, worth mentioning to our readers. No studious reader can afford to be without it, or will hesitate to buy it upon examination.—Mining Press.

Tax Moody and Sankey meetings in Chicago have closed, and an effort is being made to calculate the result of the two months' revival. The final meeting was intended for new converts exclusively, and about eight thousand persons applied for tickets of admission, but not one in ten had joined any church as yet, and few seemed to have any preference.—Their names and residences were taken, and they will be looked after by the pastors of the city. Thus far 1388 members have been added to the churches since the revival began.

"THERE is a creature," said the Rev. Phillips Brooks, in his recent Yale lecture on preaching, "who ought to share with the clerical cheat the abuse of the people. I mean the clerical jester. He has his hands upon all sacred things. He is full of Bible jests, and he talks about the Bible with jests that have come down from generation. The principles, which, if they mean anything, mean life and death to the soul, he turns into material for jest.

has been awarded five years imprisonment in the Virginia penitentiary for the larceny of $16,700 from the bank of Petersburg, and for false entry in the books of the Citizens' Bank of Petersburg in favor of Richard Buggy, whereby said bank was defrauded of $10,000. A petition numerous signed is in circulation for executive clemency and judgment is suspended for the present.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with Boeckle's German Syrup, although but a few years introduced into this country. Its use now reaches in every town and village in the U. S. Its wonderful success in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Asthma, and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted. It is now prepared by Druggists. No such test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your Druggist, L. D. Collier, and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.
