College to be Evaluated

Evaluation teams from The Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education will visit Frostburg State College on March 21-24, according to Dr. Kenneth Jablon, vice-president and dean of the college and chairman of the college's evaluation steering committee. The purpose of The Middle States evaluation is to have the overall education program of the College examined by a regional accreditation association, a process which occurs every ten years. The visit follows the submission of the College's Self Study Report, an in-depth critique on the institution's academic program, to The Middle States evaluation team. The Middle States team is headed by Dr. Eleanor C. Delaney, chairman of the department of educational administration and professor of education, Rutgers University. She has served on both Middle States and NCATE visitation teams in the past. The NCATE team, led by chairman Dr. Leo J. Kelly, Galloway professor of education at Valdosta State College in Georgia, will take a close look at the College's teacher education program. Focus of this program is to keep up the quality of teacher education, as per the new 1970 NCATE standards, which Dr. Ronald P. Kealy, head of the department of education at Frostburg, has declared "a good deal higher than the old standards." Preliminary findings of both evaluation teams will be presented to the members of the College community on Wednesday, March 24. Other members of The Middle States team are: Ms. Maxine D. Bernstein, office of learning resources development at the State University of New York Empire State College; Mr. Robert E. Coon, vice-president for student affairs at State University of New York College of Arts and Sciences at Fredonia; Mr. Donald C. Darnton, vice-president for academic affairs, Mansfield State College; Mr. Philip Elkin, director of the institute of research and professor of management at Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science; Mr. Joseph Del Tufo, professor of English literature at Delaware State College; and Mr. Lowell W. Herron, vice-president for financial affairs at Fairleigh-Dickinson University. Also working with The Middle States team will be Ms. Evelyn DiTosto, consultant in teacher education from the Maryland State Department of Education. NCATE team members include: Dr. Mary T. Christian, director of division of education at Hampton Institute; Mr. John A. Hall, assistant director of the department of music for the Washington, D.C., public schools; Mr. David D. McClung, assistant principal of Hedgesville Elementary School, Hedgesville, West Virginia; Dr. Stephen G. Weinrach, assistant professor of education at Villanova University; Dr. Herman E. Behling, Jr., of the Maryland State Department of Education; and Mr. John F. Burke, president of the Maryland State Teachers Association.

A Bookwalk is not All

Mr. John Zimmerman, head librarian at FSC, today issued the following statement in clarification of the status of the new library.

First, the new library was not completed a semester and a half ago. The latest state inspection was held only last month. In fact, the building is not yet ready for occupancy. After the exterior of a building is finished, a great deal of interior work remains to be done. There is then a final step that must be taken: the installation of equipment. At this point, some interior finishing is incomplete and equipment is only now arriving. Some essential equipment is not even scheduled to be delivered until the end of March. "Second, moving the books from Frampton to The Library is easy and could be done very effectively by a bookwalk. But books are only a small part of what must be transferred to the new building. With all the good will in the world, heavy equipment and furniture cannot be carried by untrained helpers. The danger of both personal and material injury rules out this solution to a problem much larger than is obvious on the surface."

Guild Named to Board of ACC

Dr. Nelson P. Guild, President of Frostburg State College, was among three new board members elected Tuesday to a three-year term on the Board of Directors of the Association of American Colleges. The AAC consists of over 700 colleges and universities dedicated to the preservation and advancement of the liberal arts and sciences.

Officers of the 13-member board are: Dr. Theodore Lockwood, President of Trinity College, chairman; Dr. Paul F. Sharp, President of the University of Oklahoma, vice-chairman; Dr. Norman C. Francis, President of Xavier University of Louisiana, treasurer; and Dr. John D. Mosely, President of Austin College, past chairman. The President of AAC is Dr. Frederick W. Ness.

Parking Fines

With respect to the new procedure allowing a reduction in the parking fine from $5.00 to $1.00 if paid within twenty-four hours, certain problems and misunderstandings have arisen. These problems center around persons receiving tickets on Friday or the day immediately preceding a scheduled shutdown day. In all the above cases, the 24 hour period would not include the shutdown period but would extend from the time the ticket was given until the same time on the next regular workday. Visitors to the campus and persons not on campus during that 24 hour period may pay their fine at the Security Office on a 24 hour-a-day basis. A box has been provided within that area to accept all such fines.

What's News in the House?

The bi-monthly meeting of the Student Association was held Thursday, February 12, in the Lane College Center. The Executive Reports were first on the agenda. It was stated that a new procedure will soon be in effect for recognizing campus organizations. The organizations will be required to sign a contract with SA and the College Center instead of the normal procedures for chartering. The details are currently being worked out.

The Treasurer next reported that the SA now has $3,325.28 in their operating budget and $386.23 in reserve. The allotment for Spring 1976 is due in soon and the SA Treasurer has been in contact with the Budget Department to effect the transfer of funds into the SA account.

The report from the Director of Forum Affairs will be available at a later date.

The Communications Committee reported on the progress of their proposed programs which include: suggestion boxes in Chesapeake Hall and the Lane Center; a series of Point-Counterpoint debates, following the format made popular by 60 Minutes. These debates are to be aired over WFSC and to be published in the State-to-Date. The Programs Committee reported that they are working out the plans for next year's Parents Weekend. Steve Snyder, interim president of CCB, stated that the next meeting of CCB will be held on Wednesday, February 18. He also said that CCB is striving for a better relationship with SA. Johnny Rupp, manager of the campus radio station, WFSC, discussed the possibility of setting up the low frequency FM station by Fall, 1976. At this point, rules were suspended to allow Dr. Bianco to make a motion out of the normal order. Dr. Bianco requested that SA appropriate $300 to the Kittenettes for the purpose of buying new uniforms. It was moved that the stated sums be approved. The motion was discussed and approved.

The Committee Reports were followed by old business. As proposed in the last meeting, Section E of the General By-Laws, dealing with the Curriculum Committee, was repealed. All matters dealing with the curriculum will now be handled by the Ad Hoc Committee.

New Business followed the Committee reports. John Rodriguez was named to replace Tony Jones as a member of the College Senate. A motion was made for an addition to Article 9 of the General By-Laws--Pay for Officers. The addition will be Section C and states: "In the event that an officer is impeached or resigns, he will forfeit any right to receive the remaining pay he would have been entitled to under Sections A and B of this Article." The motion must be posted for two weeks before there can be a House vote. Chris Geisel proposed a motion that would add an additional article to the By-Laws. Article 10 is the nullification of Article 9--Pay for Officers. This must also be posted two weeks before the House can vote on it. Howard Cohen moved that SA write a letter to Mr. Ron Fautz, Director of the College Center, registering their disapproval of the way Mr. Fautz handled the resignation of the CCB President. The motion was discussed and defeated. Following this, a motion was entertained from the floor requesting that SA discontinue funding the student newspaper, State-to-Date. Another motion followed concerning the questionable nature of the previous motion. The second motion was defeated and extensive debate continued on the original motion. This motion also failed to pass the House.

Allotment of funds to campus organizations followed new business. SA agreed to donate $30 to the annual charity production held jointly by Alpha Xi Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Ski Club was granted $50 to participate in a ski race in West Virginia. Inter - Varsity Christian Fellowship requested $30 for the rental of a movie and for the purchase of a ream of paper. The motion was tabled and IV was referred to CCB who has a movie fund established for this purpose. A few announcements were made following which the meeting was adjourned. The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, February 26, in the Lane College Center.

It is amazing to the ardent observer that an institution so well-loved and so ardently protected as democracy can be subjected to such lengths of depravity, yet without so much as a sneak in the back door, the S.A. has received, discussed and voted upon a motion to cut-off the funding which pays for this journal. It is fortunate that the motion died.

The fortune lies in several places. Part of it is in the fact that the payroll of our lovely copy girl will not be suspended. (The copy girl gave permission for that title to be used.) It is good that Mary needn't starve.

Further fortune lies in the continued opportunity afforded this paper to reproduce its species. The right of procreation seems to exist.

Yet, the greatest fortune lies in the continued viability, though somewhat tainted, of student governance on this campus. The key, the motion was laid to rest.

That is not to totally to address the question at hand, though. The catch in the above is that the viability of student governance is badly tarnished. Furthermore, there is doubt in many quarters that the brass will ever shine again. There is even talk of melting down and cannon casting.

It is a simple truth that in a democracy, in an organization of people who are self-declaredly free, the press may not be subjected to cursory punishments. Such was the motivation of the S.A. proposal.

That the S.A. feels hassled by this journal simply means that a nerve was struck. The nerve was bear. Hypocrisy, foolishness and faulty judgements are the meat of repetorial work. Their communication to the general public is the responsibility of free journalism.

Accepted are criticisms of quality. It is a goal that is always in the mind of this staff. But the hue and cry will be heard if the question of quality is to be used to mask the spectre of pre-censorship.

by George Richardson

That Mr. Paper should say in his latest missive to your paper that he objects to being quoted from his campaign position is but a single evidence of the general collapse which is presently rampant in our student governance. Mr. Geisel's letter (State-To-Date, Feb. 2, 1976) points an accusing finger at a seeming contradiction in Mr. Paper's policies and attitudes. Mr. Paper, in his response (State-To-Date, Feb. 9, 1976), fails utterly to address himself to that accusation. Hopefully the electorate will not be fooled by the clever evasions of Mr. Paper's letter. Had Mr. Paper found it morally imperative that his previous position of no pay for officers be expounded at the meeting of the S.A., it is not beyond the procedures of a parliamentary body that such should happen. The chair may always be relinquished so that a chairman may address the body. It is a simple procedure. It does, though, require that the chair must demean itself to equality with the body, a position which Mr. Paper may find hard to assume.

It may be further noted that while Mr. Paper "objects" to the resurrection of his campaign rhetoric, he feels no qualm in the invention of facts. "These pressures I vaguely refer to have already forced the resignation of the C.C.B. president." This is a quote from Mr. Paper's letter. On Page one of the current issue, the resignation is credited to "health and academic well-being." While the latter quote is politely general, it is far from a declamation of the pressure of the office. Mr. Paper's liberal interpretation might be turned to the students' advantage were it applied to one of his own sentences: "I strongly believe that some sort of incentive should be instituted so that the individuals concerned (officers), no matter how much pressure is applied to them by the student body... can come out ahead for all their hard work." Perhaps Mr. Paper doesn't intend that statement to mean that he shall evade a position of responsiveness to his constituency, but then...

Perhaps the greatest pity of this whole pitiful situation is in the remorseless collapse which Mr. Paper makes in his post-script. He states "P.S. I wonder what percentage of the student body would turn down $150 given to them whether they are in need or not." That percentage of the student body would consist of those students who do not support pay for officers and have the integrity to stay off the dole. One wonders if Mr. Paper qualifies.

Dear State-To-Date:

This is a copy of a letter sent to John Preisinger in regard to an article in last week's State-To-Date issue.

"John:

I would like to express an informal complaint or as your writers call it, a "constructive criticism" on your paper. In the future, I would suggest that you not use any portion of the previous SA Minutes until they are approved by the House of Representatives. The minutes as they now read say:

"Don Fry suggested the House vote on each section separately, and the House agreed."

It should read - "Howard Paper suggested the House vote on each section separately, and the House agreed."

Also it reads:

"Howard Paper moved for the approval of Section A and was seconded."

It should read - "Don Fry moved for the approval of Section A and was seconded."

This is a mistake made by our secretary and it has been brought to his attention. I realize you are probably sick and tired of making rebuttals but when the House approves the corrections to the minutes this Thursday I believe Howard Paper deserves one. The Editor's note under Howard's letter is no longer valid with these corrections. Sorry about the problem but as Lee Loftus says you should be happy with "constructive criticism."

Sincerely,
Don Fry

THANKS!!

We want to thank all the beautiful people that helped Eddie Spataro's family in a time of great need. In November of 1975 a Burn Fund for 10 year-old Eddie Spataro was established here at the College. When he touched a utility pole guy wire on October 6, Eddie suffered extensive electrical burns. Eddie's family was faced with great financial burdens. The students of Frostburg Burn Fund was one project started to help this unfortunate family. This fund now ends with a total of $227.07. Many people here at the College and this area supported the cause and made the Burn Fund a success. Many warm thanks go out to all the people that showed they care about Eddie Spataro and his family.

Eddie spent Christmas at home, but must return now to the Baltimore City Hospital. Eddie still faces many more hospital treatments. Tutoring is given to Eddie for his school work.

All of the small donations built up and were very much appreciated. The cup is not half empty but half full!

This time you can help and YOU DID!

Thanks,

Ronald A. Fautz, Director of Lane Center

and

Dear Editor:

In answer to the article published in the February 9th issue of State-to-Date, there was a fellow over in Frederick who voiced his opinion about something he didn't know about, an athletic team, the Frostburg State Football Team. This guy stated that we are already paying too much money for the football team but I would like to say that we are not giving them enough money or support for that matter. The budget for the football team is $15,000, and has been around that figure for a while. Now tell me how a College football team can function off of that petty sum. Almost all the schools we played were NCAA, and that means they are paying, yes paying their athletes to go to school and play ball for them. They can attract the "AAA" ball players, while Frostburg can only attract either lower class ball-players or guys who just want to play ball. And about calling the Football team a joke, well if it is so funny, I can expect to see you come out for Spring Football come March. OK Roy, come on out and have a laugh with us. Hey Roy you stated that you saw all our home games, and we lost them all. Well Roy I guess you just weren't looking too well. We beat Geneva and all other three teams were NCAA and were excellent football teams. Such as Madison who went undefeated, and they come to play Frostburg and just barely squeaked out with the win 21-20. I admit Frostburg had a tough season and schedule, and the way I look at it, it was an honor to play for Frostburg and under an excellent coaching staff.

And as far as the three conditions you listed, well, if you can get good equipment at a cheap price which will cut down the injury rate, tell the Coaching Staff. Tell me Roy, how can we expect to improve without practice. Think about it Roy!

Your proposal shows me just how much mentality you have. I didn't see any crowds burying the football team. Yet they were encouraging us on. Not like a few people around campus, who get on us when we are losing, and get "on the boat" when we are winning. All I can say to you is don't come and see the Frostburg State football team next year, because we'll be winning, and we don't need any losers around.

Dear Editor:

A week ago today, moments after the last week's issue of State-To-Date came out, two young men came bounding through my door. They immediately began pounding on the walls and singing monkey chants. I suspected immediately that they were football players. Soon they ceased their tribulations to their God of football and demanded to know if I was "Joe".

Since my name is Roy, some dimly glowing light within me told me to tell them my name wasn't Joe. They comprehended. A fiery stupor came to their eyes. Before, the flame of fury and frustration which led them onward was in search of "Joe". Upon finding he wasn't there, their balloons were immediately deflated. While one of the chaps stood by trying to look mean, the little one with the dark hair asked me if I was the "dude" who submitted the article to State-to-Date about the follies of our frivolous football team.

The dim light within me immediately burned out - snuffed by the instant panic which froze my brain. Being confronted by such an honest forthright and upstanding young American, my senses couldn't construe a lie quicker than my lips could say "Yes."

He took a deep breath, reinflating his balloon, and immediately that young paradigm of football freakery launched himself into the most fantastic fit of assorted-verbal abuses I've ever heard! He turned me into the most disgusting and abominable scum that ever has and ever will exist upon the planet Earth! No, not merely the planet Earth! The whole damn universe! And if anything bigger than the universe is ever constructed, I imagine he'll be sure to include me in the lowest echelon of that, too. He damned me, he damned all others like me, and he even damned those who, in a moment's weakness in their deep-dark neurotic past might have given a fleeting moment's consideration toward harboring the scummy opinions that I maintained. He then told me that if I agreed to not sue him, he and his silent friend would be most graciously happy to pound my face to a pulp!

Now I know a bit about agreements such as that. I told him proper papers would have to be drawn up, a notary public would have to be found to document the agreement... I stalled for time for existence.

I think my words flambuzzled his thought process. Confusion reigned supreme in his eyes for one stunning instant. A mean smile cursed its way onto his lips. His eyes squinted until they appeared to be closed. Smoke began oozing from his ears and nose. I wondered if he had just fallen asleep. Standing there, circuits crossed and blown, suddenly he burst into action! Seizing the doorknob, he slammed the door in my and stomped out! All the while speaking of my stupidity...

I opened the door and calmly said, "Hey, don't you know that it's impolite to slam doors in people's faces?"

Childish delight danced into his eyes, he sprinted back to slam the door in my face again, but I interrupted his movement with a question.

"Tell me," I said, "Why are you so mad?"

"Cause" he said, "You f---ing said our team's a f---ing bunch of goof-ups, besides I'm the f---ing dude that you f---ing said the other f---ing teams f---ing scored and f---ing scored against! I oughta f---ing kick you in the f---ing face!"

"Tell me," I said, "did the teams you played outscore you?"

"All but one," he said, "We beat them!"

"Tell me" I said, "Is a 1-9 season record very good?"

"F--- no!" he replied.

After he slammed the door again, I stood there and tried to figure out what we disagreed about.

To whom it may concern:

This plea for help in Guatemala is a private effort on the part of Nancy Lorence, a University of Oregon graduate and Amilcar Ordonez and Jose Campang, two Guatemalan graduates of the same university, who have been working on a research project in Joyabaj, a small Guatemalan highland town which was almost completely destroyed by the earthquake. The death toll in the town and the surrounding villages of the "municipio" of Joyabaj is reported to be near 500. In the town there are only a few houses left standing; there is no water or electricity and very few medical supplies. Families lost all they had in their homes. The damage in the more isolated surrounding mountain areas where the peasant population lives is still unknown.

There are several areas in Guatemala equally affected by the earthquake; our effort is directed towards Joyabaj because we have been working there and we know the proper authorities--both in the town and in the mountain area--to collaborate with in getting help to the people who need it most.

The most practical and efficient way for you to help at this point would be to send a monetary contribution rather than material goods, which we can get here in Guatemala City. To avoid the many problems of getting money to Guatemala, we are asking that you direct your contributions to Dr. Jorn Brannmann, 276 Nassau St., Princeton, New Jersey, 08540, who will forward the money to Guatemala to be used directly by us in a relief effort in Joyabaj. Any help will be appreciated. A report of what was done with the money will be sent to every contributor upon request within three months.

Thank you,
Nancy Lorence

Dear Students,

IRC has recently returned from a very successful and rewarding trip to the ninth annual Model United Nations Conference held at the University of Pennsylvania. At the conference, we portrayed Libya, a nation that is very active in both the Arab and the African worlds. The conference attempted to simulate, as closely as possible, the real United Nations. There were three of the UN committees and two councils (Economic and Social Council and Security Council) replicated. On the second two days, we were able to participate in a meeting of the General Assembly of the UN. Schools from many parts of the country (Alabama, Indiana, New York) were represented here. This conference afforded us with an opportunity to meet many people with varying personalities and beliefs, as might occur at the UN. It was indeed one of the most exciting experiences that any of us has had, as well as being a lot of fun.

IRC is also planning a banquet on April 3rd. The topic for this year's guest speaker will be Global Unity, a topic of concern to all of us. An unbelievably delicious dinner comes first, followed by a discussion and question period. You may contact any IRC member for tickets.

On Monday, February 23, at 8 p.m. in Lane 212, IRC will be discussing its recent trip to Philadelphia for the model UN. All persons are welcome to join us!

Dear Students,

It was called to our attention after last week's edition was already at press that the "Editor's note" on the editorial page (regarding Howard Paper's letter) was invalid. We apologize for any inconvenience and/or embarrassment it may have caused.

Respectfully yours,
The S-T-D Staff

Pathfinder Underway

Work is now underway on the Pathfinder for 1976-77. Any campus organizations wishing to appear in next year's booklet must contact the office of John Lowe. If you were not included last year or wish to change your description, please type the correct description and submit it no later than February 27, 1976 to: Pathfinder, Student Affairs Office, Room 219, Lowndes Hall. Any organization who appears in the present Pathfinder, but does not notify John Lowe as to change or cancellation will appear in the new edition as an exact reprint.

This Week in Black History

During the month of February of 1863, it was estimated that at least 200,000 Black soldiers served in the Union Army and 1/4 of the Union Navy was Black. On February 17, 1800, it was determined that the Black population of this country was 1,002,037 which was 18.9% of the total population. In 1686, the Quakers of Germantown, Pa. made the first formal protest against slavery in colonial America on February 18th. W.E.B. DuBois organized the first Pan-African Congress in Paris February 19, 1919. February 20, 1895, Frederick Douglass died in Washington, D.C. Malcolm X was assassinated February 21, 1965 at a rally at the Audubon Ballroom in Harlem. To close out the week, Horace Pippin, a noted artist was born in West Chester, Pa. in 1888 on February 22nd. On this same date in 1835 it was noted that there six primary schools for the Black children in New York with an attendance of 925 students.

Dramatis Personae presents "The Forest Rose." This production will be held in Compton Auditorium on February 18, 19 and 20 at 8:15 p.m. Written by Samuel Woodsworth, "The Forest Rose" will be presented as a pastoral opera. The price for students will be 50¢ and everyone is welcome.

What is the College Center Board?

What is the College Center Board?

The CCB is a student service organization designed to provide social activities on campus through the events of concerts, dances, movies, ski trips, coffeehouses and more. The list is just too long to mention everything. How is the College Center Board doing this?

At the present CCB is working through the four committees of special events, films and video, coffeehouses, and concerts and dances. With these committees we have been able to bring to you, the students, Winter Carnival with its dance and contests, movies such as "The Searchers" and "Godspell," video tapes like "Reefer Madness" and "The Murder of Fred Hampton," Bill Haymes in a two-day coffeehouse, Morningsong, and in the future Shawn Phillips.

Who decides what events to have?

The members of CCB. Membership is attained by attending two consecutive meetings. That's it, just two meetings and you can help decide what is going to happen. Meetings are held every other Wednesday at 7 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, February 18 in room 201 of the Lane Center. Come and let your voice be heard.

Bianco Serves as Guest Conductor

Dr. Robert S. Bianco, associate professor of music and director of bands at Frostburg State College, was the guest conductor and band clinician for the 1976 Harford County High School Honors Band held in Edgewood, Maryland, during January 30-February 1. The Honors Band presented a concert program under his direction on Sunday, February 1 at Edgewood High School.

Dr. Bianco will also serve as guest conductor and band clinician for the Tri-County High School Honors Band (Charles, Calvert and St. Mary's Counties) in La Plata on February 20-22, and will direct the Frederick County High School Bicentennial

Bittersweet Requests Materials

Bittersweet, the campus arts and features publication, is now making a drive for any and all creative materials. This is your publication and if you as a student were not pleased with this publication in the past, it's up to you to change it. We are open for all kinds of advice and suggestions. Most importantly we need good material from the students here at FSC. We have been accepting material of all kinds from all departments since last year. So now all you people are urged to submit your long withheld materials. Materials will be returned on request. We have waited for a long time to get the money for this publication from the student administration. We now have it and are ready to go! So SUBMIT!! Break down and do it today! Submit your material to Doug Fulton or Thurman Frey in the State-to-Date office or to Mr. Demars in 131 Dunkle Hall.

Band in Brunswick on April 12-13.

In addition to his guest conducting activities, Dr. Bianco has been selected to adjudicate various high school band festivals in Baltimore County, Cecil County and several festivals in Virginia. All of the festivals are sanctioned by the respective state band Directors Associations.

Defensive Driving Course Offered

The Western Maryland Safety Council and the Community Services Office of Allegany Community College have delayed the defensive driving course until Tuesday, February 17, from 3:30 to 9:30 p.m. in room S - 15 of the Science building.

The course consists of eight hours of classroom instruction given in four weekly sessions with a registration fee levied for instructional materials. Instructors for the course are members of the Allegany County Traffic Safety Committee, and certified by the National Safety Council.

Area residents desiring to enroll in the defensive driving course may contact Mr. Lynn Walker, chairman of the Western Maryland Safety Council, at 722-3947 or the ACC Community Services Office at 724-7700, extension 39.

Health Center Hotline: V.D. Doesn't Stand for Valentines Day

Question: What are some of the symptoms of venereal disease?

Answer: The most common venereal diseases are gonorrhea and syphilis. It is possible to have both syphilis and gonorrhea at the same time. In males, the symptoms of gonorrhea are a drip or discharge of pus from the penis, usually beginning 3 to 8 days after sexual contact, and sometimes accompanying pain or burning when urinating. But many men may have no symptoms at all.

In females, signs of gonorrhea are less evident, though some women will have signs of burning and frequency in urinating, as well as a vaginal discharge. But 9 out of 10 infected women have no symptoms at all. Eventually, however, the infection can spread to the fallopian tubes, causing fever, nausea, vomiting and lower abdominal pain.

Question: What are the consequences if gonorrhea is not treated?

Answer: In men, urination becomes more difficult. In women, there can be chronic abdominal pain and pelvic inflammation. In both men and women, sterility may develop. In addition, once gonorrhea is in the bloodstream, it may attack the heart, nervous system and joints, causing serious consequences.

People may unknowingly carry the disease for a long time, and may infect others with whom they come in sexual contact. Question: What about syphilis?

Answer: Syphilis is a venereal disease that develops in stages. The first sign, 10-90 days after infection, is the appearance of one or more bumps or sores with crusted surfaces called chancres. A chancre sore usually appears on the penis, or on the cervix and in the vagina. Though the sore is painless, and will disappear without treatment, you are still infected even after the sores go away. The second sign, 6 weeks to 6 months after infection, is a low fever, sore throat, more chancre sores, a rash, patchy loss of hair, and sores at the moist parts of your body. But some people with syphilis have none of these symptoms. If you do have these symptoms, they may come and go for a year or so, but you will still be infected. The third stage occurs after two years. In this stage, the person with syphilis cannot infect others, but damage will continue as the disease continues to hide in the blood, bones, eyes, heart, brain and other organs causing damage leading to crippling, blindness, mental illness, and then death. An infected mother can transmit syphilis to an unborn child.

If you suspect that you may be infected with a venereal disease, contact the Brady Health Center immediately. A test will be arranged, at no cost to you, and your privacy will be respected.

The Brady Health Center sponsors this weekly column, answering questions about health problems. If you have questions for the column, please submit them to State-to-Date in room-232 or box 40 of the Lane Center, attention: Janet Llewellyn.

"You've Come a Long Way"

"You've come a long way, baby," is a phrase often heard today. And there is not better illustration of the changing times than a nostalgia trip through the Student's Handbook as furnished to students of what was then Frostburg State Teachers College.

Under the headings of General Regulations, the students are made aware of the following rules: Each student is required to sign a paper when leaving the campus indicating the time of leaving, destination, and time expected in, and must check the time in. The name of the boyfriend, if one, must be given. The student also discovers the generosity of the administration, to wit: Students are permitted to spend the weekend at home whenever they desire to do so.

The following guidelines reproduced verbatim indicate far better than any discourse just how much times have changed.

--Men friends of college students may call Friday and Saturday evenings from 7-11 p.m. and Sundays from 3-10:30 p.m.

--Students shall not dance in the living room.

--The piano and the radio shall not be played on Saturday and Sunday morning before ten o'clock.

--Typewriters, radios and musical instruments shall not be used between the hours of 10:30 p.m. and 7:30 a.m. or during evening study hours.

--If extra time is needed after 10:30 p.m. for students to complete work, a light cut may be taken until 12:00 p.m.

--Students planning to be absent from a meal must sign the "Absence from Meals" sheet which is posted on the bulletin board, so that the cooks will know how many to plan for.

If you think that the administration is oppressive today, take heed of these few regulations from 1949 and compare them with the current Pathfinder. Any similarities are merely coincidental.

Business Club Meeting Held

The Business Club had their meeting on Monday, February 9, 1976 which featured Mr. Wayne Carlisle, Director of Job Placement and Career Development Office. The meeting started at 7 p.m. and lasted until 7:30 when Mr. Carlisle began his talk. Topics of discussion at the meeting were of fund-raising activities, future guest speakers and a reminder that Club dues are due before the next meeting.

After being welcomed, Mr. Carlisle began to discuss the functions of his office. He passed out information as to what exactly a student can do to better his or her employment chances. Also he presented an outline of services offered by the placement and Career Development Office.

The Club's next meeting will be held on February 25, 1976 at 4 p.m. The guest speaker will be Hugh Shires, President of First National Bank and Trust of Western Maryland. He will talk on "Employment in Banking." Everyone is welcome.

PAYCHECKS ISSUED on the contractual payroll, which includes student checks, are available at the payroll window in the Business Office (Lowndes Hall) every other Wednesday after 12 noon. . . 2 1/2 weeks after timesheets are turned in.

Bosley, Ridder, Sayles Retire

Matt Cline

Breaks Record

by Carl Schueler

Last weekend, the Frostburg State indoor track squad put on their first full team performance this season at the Maryland College Invitational in Catonsville. Teams were present from almost all of the Maryland four-year schools and a large number of junior colleges, but it was the Frostburg contingent which won out in the numbers game. Hardly a heat went by without at least a few Frostburg competitors included.

With the exception of a record first-place performance in the mile by Matt Cline, second place seemed to be the order of the day for the Bobcats. They came away with five second-place medals, along with a string of thirds, fourths and fifths.

Cline won a watch in the mile by taking advantage of the slow early pace (2:14 for the half) and then coming on with his infamous "Cline kick" for a Frostburg indoor record time of 4:21.0. Tim Gavin chipped in a 4:28.6 which was good enough for fourth place. Pete Clardy, in his first race in a year, came around in 4:35.

Mike Savoy again tied the Frostburg indoor high jump mark with a jump of 6 feet 4 inches. Wes Jaquith was fourth with a jump of 6 feet 2 inches. The pole vaulters put in a strong performance with all three vaulters over 12 feet six inches. Scott Matheny cleared 13 feet six inches for fourth place. John Phillbin also vaulted 13-6 and Jim Koon went over 12 feet six inches. Palmer Grotte heaved the shot 45 feet nine and one half inches for a second-place medal. Steve Smith took fifth place with a throw of 44 feet 5 inches.

George Lucas turned in another strong performance in the three-mile race with a second place 14:58.2. Ralph Perry was second for Frostburg in the race. Steve Schaffer also ran the three mile, and on the strength of his 16:01 performance, may have been saving something for the 26 mile Marathon he is planning to run this weekend.

In the 50-yard dash, Keith Brady, Derrick Pinkney, Mike Savoy and Tom Abamonte all turned in times of 5.6. Brady made it into the finals and stayed almost dead even with the leaders throughout the race.

Jeff Williams took another Frostburg second-place in the other speed event of the evening, the 300-yard dash. His time of 33.1 was good enough for the second Frostburg indoor record of the evening. Mike Savoy finished in 33.4 for a third place tie.

Matt Cline (by this time a little tired) still had enough kick left to come from behind for a 2:18.6 second-place time in the 1000-yard run. Chip Brand and Tim Gavin were second and third for Frostburg with times of 2:23.4 and 2:23.5.

Doug Wilson got into the finals of the 50-yard hurdles with a clocking of 7.1 and Tom Rodgers may have had a fifth place in the 600, had the officials managed to get his time.

All in all, it was a rather unspectacular, but extremely strong, performance. The Bobcats are proving, by virtue of their great depth, that they should be able to do it to any Maryland college this year.

Harness Event Slated

Rosecroft raceway announced recently that it is accepting applications for its first collegiate harness driving championship to be held during April and May. The race track, located in Oxon Hill, Maryland, is extending the invitation to participate in the event to any fulltime student, man or woman, who is enrolled at any Maryland, Northern Virginia, or District of Columbia junior college or college. No prior experience is needed, but officials urge entrants to have an interest in harness racing.

The actual event will take place as part of Rosecroft's nightly harness program. Prior to the competition, training will be done at the track from mid March through mid April. A series of races will be held with the preliminary round winners qualifying for a championship event. Prizes for all with the champion eligible for national and international competition.

The actual competition will be held as non-betting events on Rosecroft's nightly program. Regular pacers and trotters will be used with purse money going to the horse owners.

Interested students are asked to call Rosecroft at 301-567-4000 for further information and applications.

On February 21, the Bobcat cagers will end their season with a game against Bowie State College. This game will also mark the career finale for three of Frostburg's finest athletes, Tom Bosley, Bob "Ruffy" Ridder, and Billy "Soupy" Sayles. The three seniors will each pursue a different career after graduation.

Tom Bosley, who graduated from Southern High, in neighboring Garrett County, came to Frostburg State as a junior transfer student from Garrett Community College. Although not always a starter for the FSC quint, Tom at 5'8" is a fine defensive guard and has seen considerable action this season. During the upset victory over Point Park, Bosley and his backcourt teammates held NAIA All-American guard Bobby Franklin to 14 points, some 12 below his average. Although he is known primarily for his ballhandling skills, Tom fired a 20 foot jump shot, at the buzzer, to give Frostburg a one point victory (80-79) in last year's season finale against Bowie State.

"I can't say enough about Tom," said head Coach Kurt Wolfe. "He's been a steady factor in the backcourt due to his experience, and he's thoroughly knowledgeable about the game." The enthusiastic attitude of Tom Bosley adds a great deal of strength to the Bobcat bench.

Tom is a physical education major and plans to use his knowledge and experience to continue in basketball as a coach.

Bob "Ruffy" Ridder, who also graduated from Southern High, won All-State and All-PVC honors in his senior year. He, along with teammate Tom Bosley, led the Southern Rams to a 20-3 mark and a berth in the semi-finals in the Maryland State "B" tournament in 1971.

This season, Ruffy will probably not tally as many points as he did in his junior when he finished with 359. This is due to the fact that he changed this year from a shooting guard to a ballhandling, playmaking guard. Coach Wolfe remarked that "he's sacrificed scoring for the good of the team, and he has adapted very well. Ruffy is an unselfish ballplayer, and he has matured into an all-around player." Wolfe also adds that Ruffy is probably one of the premier defensive guards in the District (18).

Ridder, at 6', demonstrated his ability to perform in clutch situations when with 12 seconds remaining on the clock, against the 11th ranked small college team, Gannon, he netted an eight footer to tie the game at 70 all. In the final tally, Gannon edged FSC 72-70.

After graduation, Ruffy, a physical education major who is currently enrolled in the Marine OCS program, will enter the U.S. Marines as an officer and train as a pilot.

Billy "Soupy" Sayles, a 1972 graduate of Fredericksburg's James Monroe High School, led his team, with a 25-0 record, to the Virginia State Class "A" title by bucketing 32 points in the championship.

Soupy had a disappointing junior season in which he lost his shooting accuracy. This year, however, is a different story. "Billy is having a big year for us. He's got great leaping ability and timing on the boards, and his rebounding ability is invaluable to us," remarked Coach Wolfe.

Sayles was instrumental in the upset victory over Point Park. The 6'4" forward bucketed 12 points and was the top rebounder with 22. "We just couldn't handle Sayles," remarked Point Park Coach Jerry Conboy after the upset. "Frostburg took away our strength, and it was our failure to control the boards that cost us," he added.

Billy, a political science major, plans to go to either law school or graduate school. He would like a career in the federal court system.

The three likeable seniors, who will soon retire as Frostburg cagers, have added a lot of excitement and action to FSC basketball.
