

College Anticipates Evaluation; Joint Team Leads Inspection

Dr. Rudolph S. Bremen, acting president, has announced the dates of the visitation to the campus of the joint evaluation team representing the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

Such accreditation visitations are periodic, the last accreditation inspection having been made by Middle States Association in 1953, when Miss Lillian C. Compton was president of the college.

The function of these teams is to gather those facts on which the status of Frostburg State College, as a fully accredited institution of higher learning, will be re-affirmed.

Middle States Team Named

The Middle States evaluation team will be led by John A. Stoops, Head of the Department of Education, Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and will be comprised of Egbert Bacon, Professor of Chemistry, Union College, Schenectady, New York; Sidney Forman, Librarian, Teachers College of Columbia University; James A. Frost, Associate Provost for Academic Planning, State University of New York; Earl P. Harlan, Chairman, Department of Language and Literature, State University College, Plattsburgh, New York; and John B. MacInnes, Professor of History, Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York.

Providing liaison between the Middle States and NCATE evaluation teams will be Edward L. Martin, Distinguished Service Professor, Trenton, (New Jersey) State College.

The NCATE team will be led by Stanton B. Langworthy, Dean of Instruction, Glassboro (N. J.) State College, and will consist of Hjalmar W. Distad, Emeritus Professor of Education, University of Akron; James J. Forcina, Dean of Instruction, Trenton State College; George R. Hunt, Chairman, Science Department, Fairmont (W. Va.) State College; Lorrene Love Ort, Director of Student Teaching, Bowling Green (Ohio) State University; Marcella Spigelmire, Vice Principal, Fort Garrison Elementary School, representing the Maryland State Teachers Association; and Howard E. Bosley, Department of Certification and Accreditation, Maryland State Department of Education.

Both the Middle States and NCATE teams will arrive on the Frostburg campus Sunday, October 18, and the period of their visitation will extend through Wednesday, October 21.

During this three-day period they will examine all aspects of the college, its purposes and objectives, administration and organization, physical plant, financial resources, faculty, library, curriculum, graduate program, admissions policies, alumni and public relations programs, intercollegiate athletic program, student services, laboratory school, and other phases of the complex represented by the expanding Frostburg State College.

Bremen Announces Faculty, Four New Divisional Heads

New academic division heads and new faculty members have been announced by Dr. R. Bremen.

They are Dr. C. Waldon Skinner, Division of Education, Dr. George S. Barber, Division of Humanities, Dr. Franklin C. Lane, Division of the Natural Sciences, and Dr. Daniel Valdes, Division of the Social Sciences.

This year's copy of the college catalogue shows twenty-two new faculty members. Associate professors who have joined the staff are Robert L. Berner, of the English Department B. A., M. A., Ph. D., from the University of Washington; and William F. Betterton, Head of the Department of Music, B. Mus., M. A., Ph. D. from the State University of Iowa.

Four assistant professors have become members of the faculty. They are Brian Hamilton, B. F. F. S. from Georgetown University, David H. Howell, B. A. Lehigh University and Ph. D. from Stanford University, David S. Lewis, B. S. Concord College and M. M. from the University of Michigan, and Harold R. Oaks, B. A., M. A. Brigham Young University, Ph. D. from the University of Minnesota.

Instructors Named

Instructors who have joined the faculty are Nancy J. Capozzolo, B. S. East Stroudsburg State College, M. S. Bucknell University, Joseph E. Grozier, B. S., M. S. East Texas State College; John J. Halilgan, B. A. Duquesne University, Jack M. Heading, B. S. Juniata College, M. S. Pennsylvania State University; Dennis J. Kowal, B. A., M. F. A. Southern Illinois University, Peter A. Porter, B. A., M. A. University of Buffalo; John T. Spry, B. S. East Carolina University, M. M., West Virginia University, Lucia C. Tang, B. A. Mount Marty College, M. A. John Carroll University, and Robert E. Wells, B. S., University of Rhode Island, M. Ed. Fitchburg State College, M. S. Indiana University.

Represents Several Areas

Robert Gilligan, B. A. University of Dayton, M. A. University of Connecticut; Sharon Irwin, B. S. University of Omaha; Richard W. Nice, A. A., B. A. Monmouth Junior College, M. A. Arizona State University; Carol A. Salzberg, B. S. Cornell University, Dennis Trilhe, Licence en Lettres from the Sorbonne, Richard T. Reppart, B. A., M. S. Lehigh University, Donald Samuels, B. A., M. A., M. Ed. University of Pittsburgh.

Student Politicians Plan Mock Election

A mock election will be held under the auspices of the Student Association on Wednesday, October 28, from 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M. in Gunter Hall. Wilbur Berry, president of the Student Association, has named John Brandt, a senior, to be chairman of the event.

Preceding the election the students will be invited to align themselves with either the Republican or Democratic parties. These partisan committees will campaign on campus for their particular candidates. Those wishing to remain Independents will be permitted to do so. No registration will be required for participation in the mock election.

Appearing on the ballot will be the names of the national presidential candidates and the Maryland senatorial and congressional-at-large candidates.

On Monday, October 26, at 7:30 p. m., a bi-partisan rally will be staged in Gunter Hall. All students are invited to participate. A parade is planned for Tuesday, October 27, the night preceding the election.

Cast Set For 'Othello' Production; Davis, Jordan, Berlingeri Are Stars

To open the 1964-65 drama season, the Speech and Drama Department, in collaboration with its two affiliated student organizations, Little Theatre and Kappa Xi Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, will present Shakespeare's Tragedy of Othello, the Moor of Venice, on November 12-13 at 8:15 p. m. in Compton Hall Auditorium.

The tragedy is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Stone White; Dr. Harold Oaks is technical director.

The producer of the show is Little Theatre, one of the oldest organizations on State Campus. Founded in December, 1934, it has brought fine plays to area theatre goers throughout the thirty years of its history. "Othello" represents the group's first Shakespearean production which is being presented in observance of the author's 400th birthyear.

Appearing in the title role is David Davis, a second semester senior from Silver Spring. Last season he demonstrated his versatility by his portrayals of "Chris Keller" in "All My Sons" and "Frankie" in "Three Men On a Horse." During the past summer, he was a member of the cast of "The Founders," Williamsburg new outdoor drama. He, also, played in "Macbeth" and "Romeo and Juliet" presented by the Williamsburg Shakespearean Players.

Another Frostburg student, Robert Hyde, a second semester senior from Nikep, likewise appeared in "The Founders" in which he enacted the role of "Jack Laydon," father of the Colony's first child. Little Theatre audiences will remember his characterizations in "Smilin' Through," "All My Sons," and "Three Men On a Horse." In "Othello" he appears as "Lodovico," kinsman to Brabantio.

Another popular player is Patricia Berlingeri, a senior from Beltsville, who will be seen as "Desdemona," daughter to Brabantio and wife to Othello. Kathleen Brown, a sophomore from Sandy Spring, and Marie Gonder,

Other members of the cast are: Joann Blickenstaff, a sophomore from Hagerstown as "Emilia," wife to Iago; Anne McBride, a junior from Silver Spring, makes her debut in Little Theatre productions, as "Bianca," mistress to Cassio; Elmer McDorman, a senior from Jessup, is the "Duke of Venice"; Robert Heubeck, a junior from Baltimore, is "Brabantio," a senator; Vincent C. Clews, a senior from Baltimore, is "Roderigo," a Venetian gentleman.

Homecoming Agenda Announced

"Mardi Gras" has been chosen as the theme for the 1964 Homecoming weekend, to be held October 23-24. Cheryl Easton is serving as general chairmen for the event. Janice Ruffo and Jerry McDonald are co-publicity chairmen.

The results of the Homecoming Queen election will remain secret until half-time of the football game on Saturday.

The entertainment will begin on Friday at 8:15 p. m. in Compton Gymnasium with a performance by the Modern Folk Quartet. At 10:00 p. m. the students and guests will go to the athletic field for a bonfire and a pep rally, to be led by the cheerleaders.

Activities on Saturday will open with a Coffee Hour in Lowndes Hall for the alumni from 10:30-11:30 a. m.

At 11:00 a. m. State's junior varsity soccer team will battle Fairmont State College.

The Homecoming Parade will begin at 1:00 p. m. Various campus organizations will enter floats and compete among themselves for votes from the judges. The winner will be announced at half-time of the football game between F. S. C. and Gallaudet. The football game begins at 2:00 p. m. in the Beall High School Stadium.

An Alumni Dinner will be held at 7:00 p. m. at Pullen School.

Climaxing the day will be dances held at the Cumberland Armory and Gunter Hall. The Admirals of Baltimore will entertain at the Cumberland Armory and the LaFayettes, also of Baltimore, will provide music at Gunter Hall.

Rev. Frederick Duke Lectures In Chapel

Rev. Frederick Duke, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Lonaconing, will discuss the changes in the church liturgy at the Newman Club meeting, tomorrow evening, October 8, in Cook Chapel at 7:00 p. m. A question period will follow his presentation.

Miss Jackie Joyce, president of the club, will introduce the speaker and conduct the business meeting.

Rev. Thomas Fannon, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Westernport, will give an illustrated lecture on October 22 on the Marian Shrines of Europe. On November 12 Rev. Conway Hanon of St. Peter's and Paul's Church, Cumberland, will speak on "Index of Forbidden Books."

Officers of the club include: Adelaide Logsdon, vice-president; Linda Goodrich, recording secretary; Kathy Garner, corresponding secretary; Carol Chicetto, treasurer.

Committees To Begin Evaluation

During the coming weeks, several evaluating committees will be visiting on campus. Long hours of anticipatory work have been done by faculty members in order to provide a self-evaluation as well. But what does it all mean?

At stake is whether your grades may be transferred to any other accredited college in the country. At stake is the reputation of our college not only in Maryland, but in academic circles and wherever Statesmen go. For not only is this an evaluation of plant and curriculum—it is an evaluation of ourselves as individuals. Whatever State is, we have helped make it so.

At stake is the future of our college. Approval can mean continued growth and development—loss of accreditation would be a severe blow.

For the students, nothing can speak better than their genial character and sense of responsibility in using the campus facilities to the greatest extent possible.

It is also a time for pride in our growth during the last ten years, and for showing that nearest the heart of all Statesmen is the determination to be second to none. We seek not just approval, but approval with honor.

Campaign Deserves Integrity

In a national election there are certain standards and expectations which must be met by any candidate who is trying to convince a majority of the American people that he is worthy of being President of the United States. These standards are in keeping with the basic American concept of the democratic way of life.

The cardinal rule of politicking appears to be the promise of a "fair and clean fight," or in more specific definition, a non-libelous, non-slandering, honest-in-every-respect type campaign; this simply is expected of anyone who aspires to the most vital offices in the free world.

None of the four major aspirants has failed in his political duty: the afore-mentioned "clean" campaign has been dutifully promised. These has been, however, a failure in the ethical duty of both party and nominee. The "clean" campaign has proven admirable in theory, but woefully impractical politically.

Candidates Humphrey and Miller have met their assigned tasks of character assassination admirably, and the effect of slight, but audible renderings of opinion by Messrs. Johnson and Goldwater are not to be underestimated.

In addition, supposedly responsible men have recently drawn "parallels" to Fascism, Hitlerism, and Communism, not infrequently mentioning the name of one candidate or the other in the same breath. The President of the United States has been called a "fake and phony" and a man deemed worthy of the presidency by a major party has been assailed as a "quack," "charlatan," and "crackpot." Those accusations, too strong to verbalize, have nonetheless been made via connotative language and suggestive innuendo.

Regardless of how an accusation has been made, there has been an indelible image implanted in the minds of a certain percentage of the public, and as a direct result, any one candidate faces the bleak prospect of finding himself guilty, on November 3, by virtue of simple verbal association.

Perhaps the only solution to this pitfall of American politics is an appeal to reason. If the major parties and candidates could be persuaded to confine themselves to merely tasteless, but innocuous slandering, they might not lose all the respect of the intelligent citizen.

Benevolent Gesture

Organization Initiates Reform Movement

RATS TAKE OVER—The above vertebrate has become the permanent inhabitant of the "new" Garrett annex.

Despite the unpretentious efforts of the Day Student Organization to avoid publicity, word has leaked out about an outstanding historic event that affects students and faculty.

The historic occasion was preceded by time consuming negotiations between both parties.

June 12, 1964, the Day Student Association willed to the Psychology Department, the Day Student Building.

Thanks to the efforts of Cliff Mower, President of the Assoc., and Dr. Grooms, Head of the Psychology Dept., constructive efforts were taken to "clean up" the rats and properly cage them for scientific use.

Emotion Takes Over

In an emotional scene, Mel Harris, treasurer, signed away the Association's "last" valuable asset. He expressed doubt as to the query of a possible future sight, due to the organization's current fiscal deficit.

President Mower was more optimistic and felt sure the 600 members of the Association would get behind him, as they have in the past, in a fund raising drive.

It is estimated that at least one-tenth of the Association, or "sixty" members are currently making a rehabilitative adjustment to the sudden turnover. Dr. Grooms has offered his services and "new" facilities to aid those who are having "trouble" adjusting.

Echoes Linger

Many day students are reluctant to admit that "the old Day Room" is defunct. A large proportion expressed opinions similar to that of Henry Fehman's: "I can't walk past the 'old room' without hearing echoes." others felt the same as Bill Lawyer: "My grades should improve."

Since the inking of the historical document, workers have added a "New look" to the "famed" building. The workers' skills have made the new "Garrett Annex" virtually unrecognizable to the former inhabitants.

Achievements Continue

President Mower feels as do his "sixty" constituents, that the future strength of the Association, and its success, lies in a united effort on the part of each individual member "to continue" the great achievements already accomplished.

"Let us continue . . ." have become the by-words of Mower's tightly knit organization.

The rat and garbage "clean-up" are only a small accomplishment compared to the Association's avowed promise of making this campus a safer, cleaner, place, not only for day students but for all in the pursuit of knowledge.

Draft Law Shapes Futures Of Our Eleven Million Youths

By Steve Keibler

Eleven million American youths today live under the shadow of conscription. From the time they enter high school, through the age of twenty six, their lives are ruled by the threat of the military draft.

The great injustice which seems to be perpetrated here is not that eleven million youths can be drafted, but that, only 90 thousand will be drafted. And because of these annual few, the many must unwillingly shape their future in a direction often times undesired and during the most formative years of their lifetimes.

The crime, and surely it is a crime, is that while the backbone of our nation bases its thinking and life on a gamble, the military little needs nor desires these draftees. A mere one soldier in thirty is today a draftee. And 97% of all draftees leave the service as soon as their two years are completed, long before the government has had time to realize its investment in each man. Herein lies the essence of the discussion.

The predominant trend of thought among the military today is that there are sufficient voluntary enlistments to adequately fill the needs of the armed services.

There are those who argue that fewer youths would be inclined to serve if they were not pressured into service by the ever present threat of the draft. Let them argue, for this is a sound argument and displays no little amount of logical reasoning. However, it is this very reason that has aided the Defense Department in seeing the pitfalls of the draft system, and to no small degree, of the military system.

If the present draft law were abolished and the new military trend of thought adopted, it is believed that more youths would enlist voluntarily, for to them would be offered: the inducements of the business world salaries rather than peace corps wages; a solution to the unemployment problem which today affects more and more of our high school graduates; a job which has meaning, something for which they can be trained with a military future as well as a civilian future in mind.

But is it the civilian alone who will reap the harvest of the efforts of those who would abolish the draft? Quite to the contrary! Today it costs 4000+ dollars to train each inductee and prepare him for his first duty assignment.

Training new men occupies the time of 25 per cent of our military personnel. This is all well and good until we realize that this money and time is poured into men who not only don't want it but who are antagonistic towards the service and intend to leave after a minimum of time.

Would it not be cheaper in money and manpower if it were only necessary to train men who intended to enlist for four, six, or more years?

If the present military and civilian thought prevails, there is soon to be a profound revision in our draft system, perhaps even its abolishment. Never were abolitionists more welcome or applauded.

Bobkitten Howls

By The Bobkitten

Actually, the Bobkitten, rather than the usual mentioned bobcat, has become the real smymbol of initiative at State, and this particular kitten concludes that the problem is sadly grave.

Bobcats, as they prefer to be called, fit nicely into one of two major kittygories. In truth, the Bobcat is the most uniquely elusive of all area males. Either he is radically devoted to "a steady"—or steadily devoted to being a radical—meaning one who ignores all girls in general—and underclassmen in particular.

Indeed, any self-respecting fraternity brother would rather stamp on his frat pin—than look twice at a freshman—and those who dare venture to break the "proud tradition"—pride themselves in their apparent indifference concerning the whole matter. Uncommitted Bobcats (those without steadies), are easily distinguished by the obvious "I'm unattached - but - I'm - not - overly-impressed - with - your - face - anyhow" look.

Purrfect Cat?

Just what this goes to prove, my feminine cohorts, is difficult to say. But if cat will not succumb to katnip—better forget cat. After all—he may not be that purrfect.

And besides, kitties, boy are more naive than they would like it known—big cat on campus—or small cat on corner—all are alike in simplicity.

While the hippest male around may consider it enormously funny to have "handed a girl a line"—he neglects to recognize in return the most obviously disguised feminine subversion. Busily bragging to no end of their conquest, they are blinded all the while, to their own fatal conquering—little suspecting, my pets, that their end is close at hand.

Tell him he resembles Paul Newman and affects you much as Brando would—and he'll be pleased that you noticed his similarity—but if he tells you of your unusual attractiveness, just play it cool (don't let him know that you know he's right) and eventually the superior animal will win out, and ingenuity will reign.

Here's a clever thought to keep in mind, I've made it part of the Bobkitten code: A girl chases a boy until—he catches her. Meow.

Alpha Xi Delta Holds Retreat To Promote Unity For Year

Camp Tioga in Flintstone, usually the scene of a Girl Scout encampment, was invaded by sorority sisters September 19 and 20. To promote unity Alpha Xi Delta, the women's social fraternity, spent the weekend on a "retreat in the rain."

With a lodge fireplace as their only warmth, the weekend was spent in cooking, singing, acting skits, playing cards and telling jokes. And the rain didn't stop the planned swimming, sleeping in the tents, adventuring, and unexpected visiting.

Last year's president Patti Uranas, as well as old chapter members Patty Ballantine, Kathy Bailey and Claudia Abshur traveled to the Flintstone Camp for the weekend. Advisors Miss Dorothy Stone White and Mrs. Nancy Roe also accompanied the group. Dinner at Peter Harper's Sunday evening closed the retreat.

A pre-rush meeting for all interested freshmen and upperclassmen was held September 29. Anyone who was unable to attend this meeting should contact Barbara Renick, membership chairman. The actual rush parties will be held November 9, 10 and 11.

Rescheduling

Nemacolin underclass pictures, formerly scheduled for the week of September 27 through October 1, have been cancelled, due to the death of the photographer. Tentative rescheduling has been set for the first week in November.

Girls are requested to wear black sweaters, and boys are to wear a dark suit and a tie. Sweaters and ties are provided for those students who may need them.

The Nemacolin, the school yearbook, was named after a famous Indian guide. Students are encouraged to offer their ideas for the yearbook to any member of the staff.

This year's editor-in-chief is Dawn Haines, and the business manager is Bonnie Dawson.

sity of Maryland held their preference party September 27, and entertained not only their rushees but about twenty-five Frostburg Alpha Xis. Several girls even spent the night at the sorority house and plans for another trip are in the making.

A carwash will be held October 10th from 10 to 4 at the Sunoco Gas Station on East Main Street. The price is one dollar for regular cars and seventy five cents for sports cars.

Canterbury Group Finds New Center For Club Meeting

"This year the Canterbury Association will have a new meeting center," stated Laura Mays, president of the group. The center will be located directly behind the parish house of St. John's Episcopal Church on Broadway.

First Meeting

The group had its first meeting of the year on September 29, which consisted of a short prayer service, meeting, and dinner. The Reverend Mr. Tony Hollis is to be the Chaplain for the coming year.

The Canterbury Association is affiliated with the National Canterbury Association of the Episcopal Church students in the colleges of the United States.

Bimonthly Meetings

Bi-monthly meetings for instruction in the Sacraments, for Church history and for good fellowship will be held. Twice during the academic year, the club attends conferences at the Claggett Diocesan Center near Frederick.

Laura disclosed that the Canterbury Center will have definite hours when it will be open. It may be used by individuals or groups interested in fellowship.

Officers for the coming year are Laura Mays, president; and Susan Badger, secretary-treasurer.

Library Adds Four Members To New Staff

That four new members have been added to the library staff this year was announced by Mr. John Zimmerman, Director of Libraries. In making this statement, Mr. Zimmerman also announced several plans for the library for the coming year.

New members of the library staff are Mrs. Jack Higgins, Assistant Periodicals Librarian; Mrs. Edward Troxell, library assistant in public services; and Miss Dorothy Finley and Miss Barbara Scott, library assistants in technical services. Mrs. Higgins received her A. B. degree from Glenville State College.

A coming project will be the cataloging of the 2,961 volumes that have been added to the shelves. The visiting cataloger will be Miss Stella Robbins M. A., Columbia University, who is librarian at Truett-McConnell College, Cleveland, Georgia. All cards for the summer project books will be filed in the card catalog.

Records for books on order or in process are in the card catalog by author entry only. Books "in process" may be obtained by request only.

Faculty members are requested to refer library problems to their respective department heads. The Director will discuss any problems with department heads.

Frampton Library is under construction and will be completed by late summer, 1965. It is a three-floor structure built to house 120,000 volumes, and 500 reader spaces.

A new section of book stacks has been added in the present building to provide space for books, making two shelving locations for each classification.

Sophs Stage Kangaroo Court; Haze Freshmen For Misdeeds

FRESHMEN JUMP—Kangaroo Court brought a large number of freshmen to trial for hazing misdeeds. The Sophomore Class supervised both hazing and the trial.

As a climax to Freshman Hazing, Kangaroo Court was held on Friday, September 26, in Compton Auditorium. Hazing Days were September 25 and 26.

During these days, freshmen were required to wear a Frostburg beanie at all times, an article of apparel belonging to a sophomore, and fifteen sophomores' signatures. Also, certain campus traffic rules were established. Any freshman who violated these rules was referred to Kangaroo Court for punishment.

Serving as judge of this year's Court was Joe Noone. The prosecuting attorney was Ronald Forrester, and the defense attorney was Donald Forrester. Wayne Paul served as foreman of the jury, and the sergeants-at-arms were Wally Beane and John Martin.

Punishments were varied. One unfortunate, blindfolded freshman did push-ups on water balloons, another tried to iron with no electricity, and still another blindfolded group was required to play musical chair on chairs "dusted" with flour.

Kangaroo Court was interrupted several times by members of the jury arguing over a verdict. One member of the jury insisted that every freshman was guilty before ever hearing the facts.

Bill Orndorff, jury member, stated "All participants of this year's court were really good sports."

Conference Prepares Leaders

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE—Janice Piccinini, general chairman, and Lois Hobbs make arrangements for the annual conference at Peterkin Conference Center in Romney, West Virginia.

Trip To Romney Guides Students In Campus Roles

"The Annual Leadership Conference was held October 2 and 3, at Peterkin Conference Center in Romney, West Virginia," announced Janice Piccinini, general chairman.

Friday evening, after registration, President Rudolph Bremen greeted the group at dinner. Wilbur Berry, Student Association president, introduced the opening speaker, Mr. Joseph D. Tydings, democratic nominee for the Senate. A discussion group followed with the purpose of broadening students' knowledge on world issues. The topic discussed was "National Issues on the College Campus." Later, the students heard Mr. Richard Judd speak, followed by Mr. Gerald Minifile, who spoke on the "Spiritual Responsibility of Leadership."

Saturday's schedule started with vespers, led by Wilbur Berry. Breakfast followed during which Ken Masters, President of Towson's Student Association, introduced the speaker, Mr. Francis Lemire, Assistant Dean at Towson. After breakfast, the students heard Dr. Harold Oaks speak, followed by a discussion on "Faculty Student Relations in Student Activities." Those taking part in the discussion were Mr. Thomas Hutchinson, Dr. Waldon Skinner, Miss Yvonne Mealey, and Dr. William Van Newkirk, faculty representatives, and Wilbur Berry, Elliot Weiner, Nancy Creitz, and Dennis Baker, student representatives. After a volleyball game, lunch was served, during which J. Glenn Beall, Sr., spoke, and Janice Piccinini delivered a text on "Penalty of Leadership."

Wesley Club Selects This Year's Theme

"With Malice Toward None" is the theme of the Wesley Club this year," disclosed Betty Powell, president of the Methodist organization.

At a recent meeting the club began its activities with a speech, entitled "The History of Methodism" delivered by the Reverend Mr. Harrell.

All students of the college who are interested in Methodism are eligible for membership. Wesley Club activities for the coming year include areas of worship, such as monthly communion, and Bible study groups; World Christian community service, several discussion groups concerning other religious beliefs, and recreation.

The sponsors of Wesley Club are Mr. William Nizinski and the Reverend Mr. H. B. Wright. Officers for the coming year are Betty Powell, president; Gail Baker, vice-president; Fran Snyder, secretary, and Ken Barry, treasurer. The next meeting is scheduled for October 14.

Fellowships Available

Approximately 120 Fellowships will be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, in March 4, 1965, according to John Allison, counselor.

The Fellowships are available to seniors or recent graduates of accredited colleges in the United States who plan to study for a Ph. D. or to pursue college teaching as a career.

Applicants must be less than 30 years of age at the time of application, and may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate. They must be nominated by the liaison officer of their undergraduate institution.

Danforth Fellowships include four years of financial aid, with a maximum living stipend of $1800 for single Fellows and $2200 for married Fellows, plus tuition and fees. Dependence allowances are also available.

Students Eligible For Opportunities In Military Life

Several opportunities for a military career are currently being offered to students, according to Mr. John Allison, guidance counselor.

Captain Harry Davis, Officer Training School Selection Officer for the Air Force, will be in Gunter Hall tomorrow, October 8, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. to speak with any male or female students interested in an Air Force career.

Air Force programs offered are Officer Training School, opportunities for a career as a pilot, navigator, and scientific and technical careers. Students interested in these programs must apply two hundred and ten days prior to graduation from college.

Captain Bernie Thomas, a representative of the Marine Corps Officer Selection Office, will be in Gunter Hall on October 19 and 20, to interview interested students. Mike Vizas, a Frostburg State junior in the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Program, will assist Captain Thomas.

Applications are available for the Navy's nineteenth annual NROTC qualifications test, according to Mr. Allison. The test will be administered December 12, and all eligible male students may apply before November 20. On the basis of this test, personal interviews, physical examinations, and other factors, a successful applicant received finances for four years of college.

Bobcats Victorious In First Two Outings; Opponents Buried Under Point Avalanche

Grid Team Away This Week

Coach Ron Van Ryswyk is heading into his fourth year as football Mentor, in this the fourth year of football as a varsity sport at Frostburg. In these four years he has built up a team that, based on its showing so far this year, has jelled into a winning combination. Coach Van Ryswyk's handling of State's team could easily be considered a remarkable success story, starting from scratch and in three short years developing it into a winning team.

Dr. Van Ryswyk, a native of Iowa, received his higher education at Missouri State U. and the University of Syracuse. He received his doctorate in Education of Physical Education from the latter.

Assisting with the football squad as line coach is William Marley. He was a football and baseball star, as well as golden gloves boxing champion at Concord College, Athens, West Virginia. He earned his Master of Arts degree from the University of Maryland. Mr. Marley has held his present coaching position since 1962.

Gallaudet Swamped
Frostburg's team got the season started with a big bang on September 19, by steam-rolling Gallaudet College 34-12 on the Washington, D. C., team's home field. The Bobcats scored almost at will, and effectively subdued the Gallaudet during the course of the afternoon.

All of Coach Van Ryswyk's charges had ample opportunity to see action, as he substituted freely during the course of the game.

Bobcats Win Second
After scoring one touchdown in each of the first two quarters, Frostburg racked up three quick tallies in the third period to bury Bridgewater (Mass.) 34-0 on the losers' field.

Big Wayne Harper put the Bobcats in the scoring column in the first quarter by galloping 25 yards for the T. D.

The other halfback, Mickey Bush, tacked on another six points by scoring on a one yard plunge through the Bridgewater line in the second stanza. Quarterback Charlie Robinson ran for the extra point, making the score 14-0 at the halfway mark.

F. S. C. came back from the halftime break and before the end of the next period they had added 20 more points to their cause. Robinson rounded end from 28 yards out for one score, Bush picked off a stray Bridgewater pass and scampered 40 yards for another T. D., and Harper raced 57 yards for the final six-pointer. Davis converted two of the final three extra point attempts to bring the final score to 34-0.

Wayne Harper was State's big ground gainer as he accumulated a total of 123 yards in 16 carries, for an average of 7.7 yards per carry.

Harold Mosser took over the reins at quarterback in the final period, as Coach Ron Van Ryswyk freely substituted his players. The substitutes were able to move the ball well at times, even driving the length of the field once, but the Bridgewater defense denied them the pleasure of crossing the goal line.

Bobcats Go South
Since this paper went to press, the Bobcats have met in a battle of the then unbeaten, as they tangled with Montgomery Junior College of Silver Spring in their first home outing of the year. This Saturday State's griders will again take to the road, this time to do battle with Bridgewater College of Virginia.

Following that game the Bobcats will be home for two games, one against a tough Waynesburg team, and the other against Gallaudet in the annual Homecoming clash.

W. R. A. Sponsoring Girls Intramurals

The Women's Recreation Association's fall intramurals are in full swing with hockey, tennis, volleyball and swimming currently in progress. The events are scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays except for swimming, which is on Monday.

The recreational swimming is the only fall activity that can not be participated in at the school, but a bus is provided for the trip to the Y. M. C. A. in Cumberland.

Elaine Lindsay presides over W. R. A. for the 1964-65 term with Virginia Rogers, Karen Hauts and Karen Dyer elected to assist her.

Rifle Club Offers Stiff Competition

The Rifle Club, planning a big season this year, will compete in several shoulder - to - shoulder matches with Frostburg National Guard, Cumberland National Guard, and Potomac State College. Also scheduled so far are about sixteen posted matches conducted through the mail and lasting up until March and April.

The team is starting its third year as a varsity sport and is hoping to improve as much as it did last year. It is a co-ed club and invites any interested students to join. There are no club dues and rifles, targets, ammunition are all supplied by the club. Practice will be held every Tuesday and Wednesday night from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. at the Frostburg Armory rifle range.

Harry Richardson is serving as president; Tim Whittier, vice-president; and Elaine Roberts, secretary-treasurer. Coach Babcock is the advisor and sponsor.

Tryouts Complete Cheering Sections

Tryouts were held for new cheerleaders, and four girls were chosen to fill the vacated positions. The new members are Sandy Brill, Joy Holler, Dottie Sarfino, and Clem Wright. Back again this year are Joanne Holtzapple, Debbie Hughes, Janice Krause, Diane Perkins, Carol Smith, and this year's captain, Tantsie Troester.

Majorettes
Drum Major for his second year will be Noel Kunkle. Returning majorettes will be Sandra Brownning, captain; Sharon McElfish, Lois Hodges, Gwen Ruhl, Carol Ann King, and Judy McGuire.

Veteran Booters Rebound; J. V.'s Rebuilding Under Long

Varsity Coach
Head coach Babcock, with assistance from Coach Long, is engaged in the 1964 soccer season. Over the past 18 years Coach Babcock has compiled a record of 79 wins, 51 losses and 18 ties.

This year Coach Babcock thinks he has a winning team. He considers this team better than many others he has coached. They have the ability and the conditioning to be a successful team. There is only one thing holding down the Bobcats—depth, and to make up for it he will rely on members of the Junior Varsity team.

Through the 18 years Coach Babcock has been here at Frostburg State he has coached everything from golfing teams to girls' archery teams.

Varsity Soccer Team
After three games played in the 1964 soccer season, the Bobcats have a 1 win and 2 loss record. The season opened at home for the Bobcats with their opponent the strong University of Pittsburgh.

The Bobcats played well in the rain but came up on the short end of a 4-2 score. On September 21 the team went to Shippensburg. The Bobcats overpowered the home defense in a 4-0 victory. Goals were scored by Fred Dayton, John Chaney, Wayne Wharton and Bob Rinker. Lock Haven State invaded Frostburg on September 26 and defeated the team in a rough double overtime duel, 3-2.

There is one more home game on October 14, with Grove City College providing the opposition. This should prove to be an action-packed contest. The remaining five contests will be road games. To "top the road trips off," the Frostburg Bobcats will play Denison University, ranked third in the Mid-Western Conference.

J. V. Coach
Mr. Albert Long has a distinguished record for his three years of coaching. He spent one year at West Virginia University coaching gymnastics. His team compiled a (2-3) record. He had the distinction of coaching Gerry Spencer who placed seventh in the Eastern Gymnastics Tournament.

Last year, his first year at Frostburg, he organized a gymnastic team, which is a varsity exhibition sport. He plans to have his gymnastic team participate in varsity competition within the next four to six years. Last year Mr. Long served as an assistant soccer coach and head Junior Varsity coach.

His first year in Junior Varsity soccer coaching brought him a nonparalleled (7-1) record. In the spring Mr. Long came up with a successful baseball team, coming out on top with a (8-7) record.

J. V. Soccer Team
Coach Long is presently coaching the J. V. soccer team. The new team faces a year of reconstruction, for the remaining team was composed mostly of wings. Most of the wings are being converted into inside men. The Junior Varsity is to be commended for they play varsity teams in all but three games. Some colleges and universities on Frostburg's schedule have twice as many men as Frostburg's total enrollment. Howard University and the University of Pittsburgh were the pre-season "teams to beat."

In the first game of the year, the Junior Varsity Booters engaged the Pitt freshmen. Frostburg was beaten in a 3-2 overtime battle on a rain-drenched field.

After a lay off of some fourteen days the Bobcats were to encounter Fairmont State College, but rain forced the postponement of the game.

*Lettermen

SOCCER TEAM—coached by Mr. Kenneth Babcock and assisted by Mr. Albert Long is comprised of 34 members. Coach Babcock has 18 returning veterans and 11 lettermen from the 1963 squad. The most noticeable losses are All-South fullback Dick Hesterburg and All-South goalie Gene Wood. The Varsity got off to a slow start when they were beaten by the University of Pittsburgh 4-2, on our field, September 19. The Bobcats bounced back 2 days later to blank Shippensburg 4-0 on their field.
