Library--James A. Stevenson, assistant cataloger for special materials.

Mathematics--Joan P. Wyzkoski, instructor.

Music--Robert T. Allen III and Sylvia Cocklin, both instructors.

Philosophy--E. Joy Mapes, instructor.

Physics--Dr. Robert J. Doyle, associate professor and director of the FSC planetarium.

Sociology--Maureen P. Connelly, instructor.

Speech and Theatre--Dr. Gary D. Cook, assistant professor, and Edward Bonnema, lecturer.

Welcome to Frostburg State College and best wishes for a successful and rewarding career.

New College Personnel

NEW REGISTRAR

The appointment of Thomas A. Bilger of Oxford, Ohio, to the position of registrar at Frostburg State College was announced August 5th by Dr. Nelson P. Guild, president.

Mr. Biger, 32, comes to FSC from Miami University - Ohio where he has been assistant registrar for the past five years. He will assume his duties at FSC on September 1st.

The new Frostburg registrar was graduated with a B.S. degree in industrial management from Miami University in 1966 and in 1970 was awarded a Master of Education degree there.

He served as a graduate assistant in the registrar's office at Miami University in 1969-70 and from 1967 to 1969 was a high school speech and English teacher in Goshen, Indiana.

Mr. Bilger is a member of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers and has served on several committees of the association in Ohio.

Senior Testing

Arrangements are now complete to assist seniors to apply for the National Teacher Examinations or the Undergraduate Program. Teacher Education students should visit the Teacher Education Advisement Center in room 102 Dunkle Hall, and Arts and Sciences students will be assisted by the Counseling Center in Gunter Hall.

Both of these test programs are made available without charge to the students, and they are designed to help the graduating senior take the next step in the world of work or further education. The NTE takes a survey of professional knowledge and skills and of general education in its morning session, and the afternoon covers content and teaching methods of educational areas. The UP tests are similar to GRE Advanced Tests, and UP scores are indicative of GRE performance.

The NTE is offered at Frostburg on November 8, 1975 and February 21, 1976. Either date may be elected, but the more training and experience, the greater the probability of a high score. Several educational systems where FSC students have applied have required NTE scores for certification, and many other systems have recommended that NTE scores be submitted as part of the application procedure.

FINANCIAL AID

Domenic L. Vacca of East Lansing, Michigan, has assumed duties at Frostburg State College as director of financial aid and student employment, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Nelson P. Guild, President.

Mr. Vacca comes to Frostburg from Michigan State University where he served as a graduate resident advisor in 1972-1973 and as an assistant head resident advisor since 1973. He was also employed by the Ford Motor Company in its general services division.

In addition to staff positions at Michigan State, Mr. Vacca has served there as a co-teacher/facilitator and a graduate intern in the office of financial aid and placement at Lansing Community College.

Mr. Vacca was graduated with honors from Michigan State in 1971 and earned a Master of Arts degree in college student personnel administration there this spring. Additionally, he Test applications for the November testing must be returned to the T.E. Advisement Center by 4:00 p.m. on Monday, October 6th, and for February, the deadline is 4:00 p.m. on November 24th. Students should also note that after application forms have been completed and returned to the Advisement Center, the students are obliged to either take the test or to refund the fees paid by the College.

The UP is offered at Frostburg on January 24, 1976 only and requests for these tests must be made by 4:00 p.m. on November 24, 1975. The majors covered by UP tests are: Business, Chemistry, Drama and Theatre, Economics, French, Geography, History, Literature, Mathematics, Physics, Political Science, Psychology, and Spanish.

Students who have prepared to teach at the Elementary or Primary-Kinderergarten levels or in the fields of Art Education, Music Education, or Physical Education may take the appropriate NTE test.

Further information may be obtained from the Teacher Education Advisory Center or the Counseling Center or from Dr. Van Newkirk in 103 Allegany Hall.

Bittersweet

Bon Bons

Have you ever heard of Bittersweet? If you are a freshman or a transfer student you are probably thinking of the taste of a gooey candy bar. Well, the taste of this Bittersweet is a fresh taste of the arts in the form of a publication. This publication was set up solely as an arts magazine, but since last year is now expanded to all fields and departments of study. If you are in the least bit interested in helping such an organization, we are now re-grouping our staff. If you are in the least bit motivated to create anything that you think would look good in your arts and features magazine, please . . . don't be a pig with your literary stuff! Submit it to Bittersweet! You can drop by the State-to-Date Office and see me, the editor (Doug Fulton) or talk to Mr. Douglas Demars of the English Department in room 131 Dunkle Hall. On Monday I will put out a few copies of last year's issue in the Lane Center so you can see who we are. Drop by anytime. . . we'd love to have you!

College Judicial System Revised

In early fall of the 1973-74 academic year, the Judicial Review and Monitoring Committee, composed of student, faculty and administrative representatives, was formed by the College Forum to evaluate the Judicial System and to report its findings to the President of the College. The Committee completed its task during the latter part of that year. During the following academic year (1974-75) the President and certain members of his staff closely reviewed the Committee's recommendations, monitored the actual operation of the Judicial System then in effect, and examined other alternative features. After considerable reflection and discussion on all aspects of the matter, the President has adopted a new Judicial System which becomes effective on September 22, 1975.

Rationale for Revising the Judicial System

The new Judicial System incorporates some meritorious features of each system, along with some new variations. A primary motivation in revising the prior system was the desire to streamline the structure of the Judicial System without sacrificing the essential elements of due process required by relevant court decisions. It should be emphasized that both the former Judicial System and its present replacement afford the basic--and in some notable respects, more than the basic--requirements of due process. The new system, however, does so within a less formalized yet more centrally coordinated structure.

Distinctive Features

Generally, the provisions of the new Judicial System dealing with policies affecting student conduct, disciplinary actions (sanctions), and procedures for operation are similar to those provided in the former Judicial System, although some modifications have been made. The distinctive features of the new Judicial System are enumerated below.

(1) Judicial Coordinator. A member of the institutional staff, appointed by the President, will be the primary person responsible for the coordination and administration of the Judicial System. The Judicial Coordinator would not be directly involved in an adversarial or a judicial process.

Frostburg Festival

The Second Annual Festival of Frostburg will be held on the College Parking Lots at the corner of Maple and College Avenue on Saturday, September 20, from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. This year's theme is "Culture of Yesterday--Crafts of Today." Crafts, including weaving, chair caning, woodworking and painting, will be demonstrated and exhibited. Many items will be for sale. There will also be many historical and cultural displays of the Frostburg area. Several excellent local musicians will provide Appalachian music. They will be joined by the nationally prominent folk singer, Mike Seeger. Mike Seeger will also be giving a free concert that evening at 8:00 p.m. at Compton Auditorium. Frostburg students and local residents are all encouraged to attend and enjoy the Festival.

Hazards of FSC

by Rip Periwinkle

Although Frostburg State College is generally a pleasant place to be (and a relatively safe place to be), there are many hazards which heretofore have gone unmentioned in the press. I dare say that the time has come to bring some of these issues to the fore.

Although we are a basically rape free crime free campus, due in part to our Campus Security--or should I say POLICE--we none the less have problems.

One of the major problems is (as always) the major thoroughfare which runs between the Lane Center and Tawes Hall--Western Maryland's answer to Route #1. As if it's not enough to be run over on that road, we can always try our luck on that new dirt concoction between Gray and Diehl Halls. The residents of both dorms didn't really want grass in their front yards anyway. And, dirt adds so much to the landscape during our April monsoon season (and our lovely winters). Perhaps the ultimate pleasure is trying to scale the hill behind Compton to get to Center and Bowery Streets. Of course, I'm sure all of us always wanted to be buried alive. Surely the open pits are the cheapest way to finance funerals since income of students is minimal anyway. Heaven forbid that we should ever want to get off campus! Traversing "no man's land" between Gray and Diehl is hardly worth the effort. Sorry Fred, you just won't get our business anymore. As for admissions--if enrollment drops, don't be too surprised; no one can get to you in the first place.

Another campus thriller is the football field. I am sure the band just loves marching over those drain pipes, not to mention the football team. Being tackled over one of those babies is not the healthiest thing I can think of, unless of course heads were made of metal, which they aren't. Yet another campus cutie is that "well-paved" road which runs behind Gunter and Lowndes Halls. No car really has any use for shocks anyway. Enough said on the mechanical (and natural) defects, but what about the human problems. Its hardly safe outside of one's living quarters around the dinner hour. All of those frustrated jocks--be it football, baseball, girls softball or lacrosse seem to enjoy taking pot shots at innocent passersby. I say a prayer each time a lacrosse ball misses my head by a fraction of a hair. And believe me, the times are frequent.

The skateboard craze is another hazard. It's not even safe to walk past the new library without being practically mowed over by these wizards on wheels. The one good aspect of the skateboard craze is that at least someone is getting some use out of the new library.

Yes, FSC is a basically safe place to be if one overlooks the minor hazards. Just think!!!! It could be worse--we could always fall into the mine-shafts beneath.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In hopes of preventing potential misunderstandings about the Student Association's Allocation processes and friction between Dramatis Personae and the Student Association, I offer the following explanations and corrections to last week's letter from the Dramatis Personae Club.

The action of reducing Dramatis Personae's allocation over a four year period was taken over two years ago. Since this time the policies and philosophies of the Student Association's allocating processes have changed somewhat. Added to this, the SA House of Representatives last year adopted an entirely new procedure for allocating Student Association funds. Under this new policy, Dramatis Personae would not have received this year's $1,400.00 allocation, but instead would have had to apply for an allocation just the same as any other club or organization. The officers of Dramatis Personae were informed of this fact.

The Budget and Allocations Committee of the Student Association House of Representatives on Tuesday, September 2 received a request from Dramatis Personae for SA funds amounting to approximately $4,700.00. This figure is not 1/3 of Dramatis Personae's operating budget, as appeared in last week's letter from the Dramatis Personae President. Rather, the figure of $4,700.00 represents more than 1/3 of Dramatis Personae's operating budget.

Dramatis Personae is a departmental club, guided and controlled by the speech and controlled by the Speech and Theatre Department in that the plays and the people in them are departmentally decided. Through the Speech and Theatre Department the state this year is allocating Dramatis Personae only $1,500.00 for an $8,000.00 budget designed by the Speech and Theatre Department; the State, too, is cutting Dramatis Personae's funds.

In response to the September 2 Dramatis Personae Budget request, the Student Association allocated the Dramatis Personae Club $1,900.00. This figure more than surpasses the college's total allocation to the departmental club. Therefore, I would suggest to the students that 'tis not the Student Association which is forcing students to foot the bill, but instead, it is the state which is continually increasing the financial burden of any aspect of higher education onto the students.

Sincerely,

Doug Pranski
President
Student Association

Vantage Point: General Studies Program

by John Rodriguez

As a member of the Student Association I'd like to give my personal opinion on the General Studies Program. This much-maligned program was instituted as a substitute for a much more rigid program which required a lock step sequence of courses needed for graduation. The current General Studies Program consists of four groups--all containing a varied range of offerings. Each student is required to take at least two courses from each group. He can take no more than four courses from any one group and he needs at least 36 credits of General Studies courses to graduate. The stated purpose of this program is to round out the education of the students and expose the student to fields of study outside of his own.

This program is now under fire from several sources. There is a belief among some that the General Studies Program is contrary to the strong belief in academic freedom that is advocated by the administration of the college. The Maryland Department of Education did an evaluation of the curriculum at FSC last spring and blasted the program as being much too loosely structured. There are some who would disagree with this and feel that the program is too confining. Some Music and Art Majors have expressed the belief that with all the requirements they have to take it is difficult to take all the required General Studies Courses and there should be a special alteration in the program to accommodate their major. There is also a suggestion to abolish the program entirely. These arguments leave the present state of the current program in doubt.

My own solution to the problem is a restructuring of the program. I would divide General Studies into four areas of concentration. These areas would be structured into areas that would truly broaden the education of the student. The first area could be communications. This would include the current freshman English Program, courses from the Speech Department and Communications Media Department. The second field could be a Science Program. This could orient the student toward an understanding of science and technology. The third area could be Humanities--including History, Philosophy, Psychology and Sociology. The fourth area could be an Arts Concentration--such a program would help a student to gain an interest in Art, Music and Theatre. If you wish to comment on this view toward General Studies--Please direct your letters to John Rodriguez c/o Student Association Office--231 Lane Center.

GET INVOLVED

The voice of public opinion on campus is the College newspaper. State-to-Date is our paper. It is not the paper of the faculty staff or administration. It is for and by the students. Any interested student can help us maintain our voice by submitting articles to the paper. These articles upon approval will be run. The deadline for submitting articles is Wednesday prior to publication at 4:00 p.m. All that we ask is that articles to be submitted be typewritten double-spaced, 65 characters to the line. How about it? Get involved, and let us know what you, the students, consider important.

Former FSC Administrator Named Assistant Dean

Robert C. Nordvall, assistant business manager at Gettysburg College since 1972, has been named Assistant Dean of the College at Gettysburg, according to an announcement by Dr. C. A. Hanson, president.

Nordvall, 35, replaces Preston H. Winkler, who resigned this summer to resume his studies for a doctoral degree in history at the University of South Carolina.

In his new position at Gettysburg College, Nordvall will remain the Affirmative Action Officer and advise college officials of the effect of current federal and state laws and regulations upon the college's academic programs and employment practices. Additional responsibilities will include representing the Dean on certain faculty committees, overseeing arrangements for Honors' Day and faculty retreats and coordinating the responsibilities of the Dean's office in the college's institutional research projects.

Before coming to Gettysburg College, Nordvall had served three years as the assistant to the president of Frostburg State College, Frostburg, Maryland, and two years as an associate attorney with McDermott, Will and Emery, Chicago, Illinois.

A native of River Forest, Illinois, he was graduated from Indiana University in Bloomington, in 1973 with a doctorate degree in higher education administration. He earned a J.D. degree from Harvard Law School in 1965. DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, awarded him a B.A. degree with honors and high distinction in philosophy and religion in 1962.

Nordvall is president of the New Oxford Jaycees, a member of the Board of Directors of the Adams County Interfaith Housing Corporation, and a member of the Hanover Oratorio Society.

He is married to the former Edith Larson of Downers Grove, Illinois, and they have two children, Andrew--aged five, and Christopher--aged two months.

Joe Fan in the Stand

Undoubtedly the most disgusting occurrence at any Sports event on this campus HAS to be Joe Fan in the Stand. Joe Fan is certainly every fan, but there are definitely far too many of them in the FSC stands.

Joe Fan does not come to the Sports events to enjoy himself or cheer the Bobcats on to victory--not hardly. Instead, Joe Fan acts as assistant football coach (or head coach) band director, chief cheerleader and captain of the Drill Team. Joe Fan, in simple English, thinks he can do everything better than everyone else. He has probably never played football, much less coached, yet he seems to think his comments should be listened to. If Mike Davis wasn't qualified enough to be football coach, he wouldn't be one. As far as I'm concerned, he is most certainly qualified! Joe Fan is not content to merely offer his sideline football commentary, he also feels a need to put his two cents worth into the half-time activities. Well Joe.....I hate to dissapoint you, but the band and Dr. Bianco, seem to have the situation pretty well under control. As to the Drill Team, they do a heck of a lot better than they would if they had YOU. As to the cheerleaders, whether they suit your taste or not, they are doing their level best to add a little something to the activities.

The problem with Joe Fan is that he is too damned apathetic (and untalented) to take enough interest to join on of these organizations. He cannot

by Kevin Fitzgerald and Dale Phelps

Let us be the last to welcome you back to Frostburg. This college once again becomes our world, in essence our life. Here we are like Alice in Wonderland, witnesses to what happens in the world that surrounds us but never quite feeling part of it. How often are we guilty of worshipping Clark Kent, Lois Lane and Jimmy Olson as they cavort through Metropolis on another seemingly endless series of disastrous adventures? (Only to be saved by Clark as he transforms himself into the All-American hero, Superman.) How often have we been bewitched by Samantha, thrilled by the hilarity of Get Smart, and treated to gross displays of greed on today's ever-popular game shows, all while the world virtually falls apart about us. We feign interest in current events such as busing, oil prices and grain deals. Indeed, we have allowed Watergate to slip from our minds and have returned to our lethargic ways. Nothing seems to really affect us as citizens. We just feel contented in our shielded atmosphere.

Last Friday as the campus prepared itself for another rowdy weekend, Lynette Fromme, follower of the convicted murderer Charles Manson, attempted to assassinate the President of the United States. If the plan had been a bit better organized, the beloved Vice-President, Nelson Rockefeller, would be taking the oath of office. Saturday morning while campus students were sleeping off the effects of Friday night's partying, the rest of the nation would be mourning the death of its thirty-eighth President. Instead, we look upon the events of Friday with as much acceptance as we do our own campus security giving out a parking violation. No one much cherishes the idea of getting a ticket, yet we have been conditioned to accept it. Just as we have been orientated by our society into accepting murder as a commonplace occurrence. What has happened to the fire-breathing liberals of the '60's? Have we, the students of the '70's turned into apathetic conservatives?

Is liberalism dead? We the writers of this column cannot answer this question. You! the students of the '70's, the future lawyers, doctors, businessmen and teachers must answer it. For it is you who will shape the opinion of this country, thus influencing the actions of the government. Do not bury liberalism in the backyard, along with the dog's bone. The key word in the American vocabulary now is as it was two hundred years ago--commitment! We must commit ourselves to never allowing another Watergate. We must commit ourselves in making our country, as well as the world, a place where all men and women are equal. Finally, we must commit ourselves as our forefathers did before us, in making a stand for what we believe in. The decision is ours. Do we wish to be remembered as lethargic and apathetic or for our involvement?

Art Faculty Display Talent

Works by members of the art faculty at Frostburg State College are featured at the first of several art exhibitions scheduled for public viewing at the College this year.

The faculty exhibit opened on Sunday, September 7, and can be seen through September 27 in the Fine Arts Gallery. It includes a variety of media including paintings, prints, drawings, ceramics and sculptures.

Contributing artists include George Kramer, Douglas Jensen, Dustin P. Davis, Rosann P. Langhans, Robert Llewellyn and Charles N. Malin.

The exhibition officially opens at 2 p.m. on Sunday and refreshments will be served.

Regular gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday. There is no admission charge.

F. M. IS COMING!

Today I Saw Your Face

Today I Saw your Face of freshly laiden dew as Fragrant as the noonday lilacs
as Refreshing as the cool evening tides...
But you weren't really here, your home is in Missouri.

Today I Touched your Lips of rose petal pink as Tender as the breast of a dove as Welcome as a dying man's miracle cure...
But you weren't really here, your home is in Missouri.

Today I Stroked your Locks of golden plush as Bouncey as champagne bubbles
as Flowing as the breeze-blown wheat...
But you weren't really here, your home is in Missouri.

Today I Held your body of firey warmth
as Supple as newly woven flax
as Perfect as god's begotten son...
But you weren't really here, your home is in Missouri.

Tonight I Slept with sugar plum dreams of you as Vivid as Quixote's infamous lance as Piercing as a crop of wild thistles...
Someday you'll be here, Our home will be in Heaven.

Judicial System

 catory capacity, but would be primarily concerned with performing such coordinating responsibilities as: setting all cases in motion, providing notice to the parties, making physical and scheduling arrangements for the hearings, assuring that the procedures are properly observed, that the records and transcripts are securely maintained, and that the sanctions are properly enforced. Under the former system, these responsibilities, for the large part, were performed by the respective chairmen of the College Judicial Board, the Resident Judicial Board and the College Appeal Board.

(2) Violations occurring in residence halls: Under the new Judicial System, there is no provision for a separate Resident Judicial Board to deal with violations of College policy occurring in the residence halls by resident students. All violations of College policy, regardless of where the violations occur, will be the jurisdictional responsibility of the College Judicial Board. It should also be noted that a new procedure has been established whereby the Resident Life Office may determine through an administrative due process hearing whether particular actions or conduct were of such a nature as to constitute a breach of the residence hall contract. and, therefore, justify cancellation of the contract.

(3) Hearing Officer: The student charged would have the option of waiving hearing directly to a Hearing Officer, rather than having the case heard by the Judicial Board. The Hearing Officer, who would be a member of the institutional staff appointed by the President, would conduct such hearings in accordance with the same procedures for operation that govern the Judicial Board with one exception: the hearing would be closed.

(4) Open versus closed hearings: Hearings before the Judicial Board would be open to the public, although the Judicial Coordinator could reasonably restrict the number of spectators depending upon the size of the room scheduled for the hearing. Hearings before the Hearing Officer, on the other hand, would be closed to all persons other than the student charged and the person making the referral, a single advisor for each of them, and witnesses while they are presenting evidence, unless both the student charged and the person making the referral affirmatively indicate to the Judicial Coordinator that they desire an open hearing.

(5) Composition and manner of selecting persons to serve in the Judicial System: The Judicial Coordinator and the Hearing Officer are appointed by the President to serve for a term of one full year. The composition of the Judicial Board will remain the same as under the former system: three students, two faculty members, two administrators (five members shall constitute a quorum). The composition of the Summer School Judicial Board and the Appeals Board will each be reduced from four to three members: one student, one faculty member, and one administrator. The members of the three Boards will be elected as follows: the student members by the Student Association House of Representatives, the faculty members by the Faculty Assembly, and the administrative members by the entire administrative staff. The Chairman of the respective Boards would be elected by the members. (Under the former system, the members, and the Chairmen, were appointed.)

(6) Advisors: As with the former system, the person making the referral and the student charged may be represented by non-legal advisors of their choice. Either party may select an advisor from a list maintained by the Judicial Coordinator. The list would be composed of interested students, faculty members and administrators who are properly oriented to the procedures of the new system. The function of the advisors is to assist the student charged and the person making the referral in the preparation--including investigation--and presentation of their case before either the Judicial Board or the

IRC Invitation

IRC has already started working this year, and we would like you to join us. IRC is the International Relations Club. The club studies contemporary topics of international concern. We attend conferences every year structured after the United Nations, in which each school represents a different country. At these conferences, we have an opportunity to study the methods and functions of the United Nations and other related organizations in dealing with current problems. We are now making plans to attend two conferences: one at Duquesne Univ. this fall and another at the University of Pennsylvania in February. We have also been very active in the Books-to-Asia program, having sent over 25 crates of books this past spring and summer. IRC has something to offer to everyone. We meet every 2nd and 4th Monday. Our next meeting will be Monday, Sept. 22nd. JOIN US!

(7) Modifications and procedures for operation: Generally, the procedures for operation of the former system did not require major substantive revision. However, the following procedures did require explicit emphasis or elaboration: method for challenging the impartiality of a member of the Judicial Board; burden and standard of proof; voting requirements of the Judicial Board members in making the independent determinations of guilt and the imposition of an appropriate sanction; the right of the student charged to remain silent during the hearing; the reliability and admissibility of evidence; and, the manner and duration of maintaining records of hearing proceedings.

Note: Any faculty member or administrator interested in being considered for appointment as either Judicial Coordinator or Hearing Officer, please contact Jim Mingle, Assistant to the President, by Friday, September 19th.

Offers $1500

Prize

A $1500 grand prize will be awarded in the current Poetry Competition sponsored by the World of Poetry, a monthly newsletter for poets.

Poems of all styles and on any subject are eligible to compete for the grand prize or for 49 other cash or merchandise awards. Second place is $500.

According to contest director, Joseph Mellon, "We are encouraging poetic talent of every kind, and expect our contest to produce exciting discoveries."

Rules and official entry forms are available by writing to: World of Poetry, 801 Portola Dr., Dept. 211, San Francisco, CA 94127.

Contest closes November 30, 1975.

ATTENTION ENGLISH MAJORS

An important meeting for all English Majors will be held Monday, Sept. 22, at 4:15 p.m. in Lane Center 202. Dr. Helene Baldwin will talk about writing as a career in Washington, D.C. Pearl Aldrich will discuss teaching opportunities for English and liberal arts graduates, and Dr. Richard Trask will speak on technical writing and other career opportunities for English and liberal arts graduates. Dr. Dennis Gartner will provide some information about applying for graduate schools, and Mr. Wayne Carlisle of the Placement Office will tell about setting up a credentials file and how to go about applying for and getting a job. This is an important opportunity to find out not only about teaching jobs but something about many different kinds of jobs for which English majors qualify. In addition, student representatives to English Department meetings will be selected. All English majors are urged to attend.

MINORITY AFFAIRS

JACK A. TAYLOR, JR., of California, Pa., has assumed duties at Frostburg State College as assistant director of minority affairs, according to an announcement made August 1st, 1975.

His duties will include working in specific areas to increase minority student retention and will assist in the development of programs relating to the academic, social and cultural needs of minority students.

Mr. Taylor comes to Frostburg from California State College where he has served as coordinator of the counseling program in the special services office since 1973 and as a graduate assistant tutor and counselor the previous year.

He was graduated from California State College in 1971 and will receive a master's degree in education there in December.

HEALTH SERVICES COUNSELOR

Dr. Janice N. Harrison of Columbus, Ohio, has assumed duties as the director of counseling and health services at Frostburg State College, according to Dr. Nelson P. Guild, president.

Her duties at Frostburg will include responsibility for the development, coordination and administration of the counseling and health services for the College; counseling and psychotherapy with cases as needed; coordination of research activities; training student paraprofessionals and supervising practicum experiences for graduate students in psychology; staff recruitment, supervision and center management; and maintaining certification of the Counseling Center.

Dr. Harrison comes to Frostburg from Ohio Dominican College where for the past four years she was director of counseling and testing. Previously, she was a psychologist at the Veterans Administration Mental Hygiene Clinic in Columbus from 1967 to 1971, the Central Ohio Mental Health Center, 1966-67 and the Moose Lake State Hospital in Minnesota, 1962-64.

Additionally, Dr. Harrison has served as a lecturer in psychology at Ohio State University and Ohio Wesleyan University. She was graduated from Ohio State University in 1955, and received her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in psychology there in 1961 and 1966.

Dr. Harrison holds membership in several professional associations including the American Psychological Association, American Personnel and Guidance Association, American College Personnel Association and Ohio Association of Women Deans, Administrators and Counselors. She is also listed in "Who's Who in American Women."

STUDENT SPECIAL SERVICES

Donald Kiah of Washington, D.C., has assumed duties as a general counselor for the Student Special Services office at Frostburg State College, it was announced July 25th by Dr. Nelson P. Guild, president.

Student Special Services is federally funded by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare through TRIO to aid disadvantaged students successfully complete college programs.

Mr. Kiah's duties will include screening students for eligibility for the SSS program, assisting students identify problems and alternative actions for solution, referring students to appropriate college or community services and mobilizing resources.

A 1974 graduate of Oberlin College, Kiah will receive a Master of Education degree in guidance and counseling from Howard University later this month.

He has previously worked as a tutor and counselor at Oberlin College, reading enrichment instructor at the Government Printing Office and as a music teacher at Calvin Coolidge High School in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Kiah will be one of four full-time professional staff members in the College's SSS program including: Dr. Joseph F. Malak, coordinator of special instructional programs and director of the program; Mrs. Sarah L. Donohue, assistant director of Student Special Services; and Mr. Morris Willey, learning specialist.

Gee, It's Monday and I'm already tired

P. S. Bill Rose and the Thorns

by Ralph Perrey

When discussing quarterbacks, the first people mentioned are the bug guys who can generate a lot of action and excitement in a hurry--Jurgenson, Unitas, Namath. We admire these guys. But, those of us who aren't as great as they are can't really identify with them. The guys we can identify with are the little guys (comparatively speaking) who succeed at the big man's game. Everyone loves the underdog.

Bill Rose had got to be one of the latter, the guy you can identify with. His is a success story you would tend to disbelieve if you saw it in a made-for-TV movie. Before he walked on and became the starting quarterback for the Bobcats, he had last played organized football in his sophomore year at Wheaton High School.

He was as surprised as anyone when Coach Mike Davis selected him as the number one quarterback following a scrimmage with Potomac State. "I thought it would be Don Heacock or maybe even Mike Savoy," he said, adding that he was, of course, pleased to get the job.

Granted, losing your opener 28-0 is not the greatest way to begin a new job, but as Coach Davis pointed out during the post-game show, while there were several areas that need improvement, "the quarterback position is not one of those."

Considered a good passer, he proved it by completing seven of ten during one stretch in the fourth quarter. However, for most of the earlier portions of the game, his passes came on second or third and long situations when everyone and his brother were looking for passes.

He had considerable success with "clear" patterns with "the tight end coming across on a slant, the wide receiver running a flag, and the split man running a post." He added that, "It usually opened up the middle so it was a pretty good pass pattern."

That he was able to pass as well as he did in the fourth period was remarkable considering the amount of punishment he received, courtesy of the Shepherd defense. After the game, both of his arms were noticeably swollen, and his neck was stiff. Being the man who suffered most by the off night experienced by the Bobcat front line, he had a good idea of what exactly happened.

"The rush was coming in pretty strong," he said, "I was hurried with a lot of my passes so I wasn't really direct with them. I had one picked off and that was definitely underthrown, but I had time on that pass so it should never have been underthrown."

He also shed some light on what the Shepherd defense in general and their middle guard in particular were doing. "The defensive tackles were slanting in, so they were sort of hitting him off guard. The middle guard for sort of hitting them off guard. The middle guard for Shepherd was, I'd say, the best defensive player on the team, was just knocking you team, was just knocking our centers to crap."

In addition to executing the passing aspect of the game, he was also credited with 17 carries. Half of these were quarterback sacks, often for losses of ten or more yards, and the remainder were sneaks which he called himself at the line of scrimmage.

While the Bobcats never really got into the wishbone offense against the Rams, Rose expects the team to use the formation extensively in the future. He thinks the wishbone is "the most dynamite offense ever invented" and adds that the team hasn't really shown what it can do from the formation.

Has his height (5'11") been a disadvantage to him? Judging from his performance, it has not. He did indicate that it was a little harder for him to pass from the pocket, but he has been able to compensate for this by throwing off the roll-out. This he did frequently against the Rams, mostly because there was often no pocket in which to remain. Considering that he often had to roll left to throw, which is hard on the right handed thrower, his performance is impressive.

Surely one thing that makes him different from other instant successes is his personality. Many quarterbacks fall into one of two categories: 1) The guy who considers himself a diety above reproach by mere mortals and 2) the religious type who is humble before god but no one else. Those who know him can tell you that Bill Rose has worked hard to get where he is. He accepts criticism.

The Week in Retrospect

by John Preisinger

For the various athletic teams practicing on campus, last week was business as usual. The varsity football team lost to Shepherd, 28-0, the soccer team emerged victorious by a 3-2 score in their annual alumni game, while field hockey and rugby players begin to pull their squads together for the opening of their respective seasons.

The football team's loss to Shepherd last week was unfortunate, but, in all fairness, understandable. It's easy to say, especially after the disappointment of last season. "Big deal, they lost again." But let's be realistic. This year the system underwent some major overhauls. A whole new offensive system (the wishbone) is being used. It takes time to adjust to a change like that, especially when a new head coach comes in, bringing to that job a set of new philosophies and techniques. And the extra incentive the Shepherd team must have had after losing to FSC last year, 21-20, when the Bobcats came from behind in the closing minutes, could have had something to do with Shepherd's victory last week. Maybe the Shepherd game isn't a good indication of what's in store for Frostburg football this year. Given time, Mike Davis can probably make the wishbone work and make a respectable showing this year.

On another front, the Bobcat soccer team managed to outmaneuver the alumni team again, this year by a single goal, in what proved to be a low scoring contest. It should be noted that the varsity made a better showing this year than last. In 1974, the Bobcats won by a 5-3 score, but were largely outclassed by the "old-timers." Coach Kutler's "systems" seem to be working now, and the team is playing sound and aggressive soccer, at least more so than at the same time last season. The 4-2-4 alignment appears to be well balanced, and should be adequately supported by an increase in bench strength.

Last but not least, we are faced with the opening of the fall rugby season. Frostburg rugby, after only three seasons, has emerged as a dominant force in regional play. Also, although it is still a club sport here, over half of this year's schedule is comprised of schools which feature rugby as a varsity sport. This, reasonably, says something about the quality of the play here, if only that our ruggerers are at least as intense and well trained a group of athletes as those participating in any varsity sport at FSC.

The bottom line is simply: enough ideas and personnel have been rearranged since last year to make this fall's athletic program one of excitement and interest to every member of the campus community.

Oh God of Dust and Rainbows,

That without the Dust,

--Langston Hughes.

The Bobcat cross-country team, billed as the strongest ever assembled at Frostburg State, was stunned in their opener by a large and powerful Indiana of Pennsylvania squad, 15-50, the most lopsided score possible in cross-country.

As Indiana had lost four of their top seven runners to graduation, and the Bobcats had run well in last week's time trial, the team was up for the meet and gunning for an upset. This, however, depended on the team's ability to form a pack and stay near the front. This was not to be.

Once the race started, it took only five minutes to decide the outcome. Roughly twelve IUP runners passed the mile mark in under five minutes, challenged only by junior Steve Shaffer. Freshmen Ralph Perrey, Andy Cowdery, and George Lucas trailed the pack by a few seconds. Shaffer and Cowdery were able to maintain the pace for awhile and, along with Mike Harper and Matt Cline, were able to make small inroads into the mass of Indians.

Meanwhile, Perrey and Lucas, who had placed fourth and third in the time trial, slowly drifted into oblivion, the former finishing a well-beaten 17th and the latter coming in 20th. Freshman Tim Gavin, running despite Achilles' tendon problems that caused him to miss the trial, placed sixth for the team in 19th place. Team captain Stan Fletcher, whose record setting career at Frostburg has been interrupted by several ankle and knee injuries, dropped out after re-

Bobcats Get Rammed

by George Millholland

Frostburg State College and Coach Mike Davis' 1975 football debuts were both spoiled as the Shepherd Rams scored a 28-0 win over the Bobcats in the 11th annual Civitan Bowl at Martinsburg.

The Rams used a balanced attack in obtaining revenge for their 21-20 loss to FSC last season. Shepherd's running game was highlighted by Greg Warfield who carried the ball 13 times for 75 yards. The total rushing yards gained was 261 for the team.

Quarterbacks Rick Kingsbury and Larry Herish completed 7 of 15 passes for 157 yards which helped in obtaining 411 yards in total offense. Kingsbury also converted all four of the point after touchdowns.

The first of four touchdowns was scored with less than two minutes left in the first quarter. The Shepherd drive began on the Bobcat 35 yard line following a Frostburg punt.

The second score came with 7:28 remaining in the first half. The drive began when Shepherd recovered a fumble on the Bobcat 17 yard line.

It took the Rams nine plays to travel 66 yards and score for the third time. Wayne Wilson scored from five yards out with 9:54 left in the game.

The fourth and final Ram tally came when Doug Anderson scored from 14 yards out.

The Bobcat recorded a total offense of 200 yards; 133 by the pass and 67 gained rushing. Mike Mitchell lead the ground attack as he gained 29 yards.

FSC Hits Golf Course Tomorrow

The Frostburg State College Golf Team will be playing two important matches this fall. The first will be against Waynesburg at Oakland (the latter being FSC's new home course) on Tuesday, September 16. The varsity will then travel to Cacapon State Park in West Virginia on September 29 to play in the Shepherd College Invitational Tourney.

The varsity warmed up for the matches by beating the faculty at Oakland on Sunday, September 7. Jim Landskroener, a senior, led the group with an 80. Jerry Shaw followed with an 81, and Robert Worrall, a transfer student who will be eligible for the spring season, carded an 84. Greg Lathe and Bruce Hanna, freshmen, ended with scores of 86 and 87, respectively. The team will be helped by Bill Hurst, who started slowly Sunday but closed with an 86, and Wayne Eyler, who was unable to participate in Sunday's match. Freshmen Andy Higgins and Steve Hilton will hopefully come on strong to push the other players to better performances.

The faculty turned in three fine performances: Mr. Ralph Brewer, 78; Mr. Paul Hunt, 83; and Mr. Ron Fautz, 83.

C.C. continued from page 7 peatedly twisting his ankles on the unusually rough terrain. Jim Fitzgerald, plagued with knee problems, also dropped out.

The one good point was the performance of freshman Cowdery. Although he was generally considered the number seven or eight runner on the team (depending on Fletcher's health), he led the Bobcats for most of the race and finished strong in 12th place. Harper, last year's MVP was the top finisher taking ninth place. Fellow sophomore Cline was tenth and Shaffer place 13th.

Coach Bob Lewis, while admitting that the larger school (12,000 students, 30-40 runners) might have won anyway, said, "There's no way we should have lost like that." He later added that "we're going to make up a lot of ground on these guys before October 18 (the NAIA District 18 championships)."

Unfortunately, early deadlines prevented coverage of the Glassboro Invitational, where the team has place third in each of past two years (also after lopsided losses to Indiana). The competition will be provided by schools of the same size as Frostburg and the Bobcats will be considered one of the favorites.
