EX-GOVERNOR JACKSON THE STANDARD BEARER.

Democratic Convention Tenders Him
The Nomination For State Senator—Bailey Renominated For State's Attorney.

The anti-organization faction of the local Democratic party again went down in defeat Tuesday at the county convention, when a county ticket, headed by ex-Governor E. E. Jackson, was nominated. It had been conceded up to the day of the convention that the present senator from Wicomico, Marion V. Brewington, would be nominated at the convention, but the night before the convention a conference was held at the Oaks, at which it was decided that the former Governor be tendered the nomination.

Mr. Albert W. Robinson, of Sharptown, was a strong factor in the fight for the nomination for the State Senate, and it has been frequently said that he was Governor Jackson's choice. Mr. Charles R. Disharoon, of Salisbury, was also a candidate. Mr. Brewington, however, claims to have had control of the delegation, but, owing to the sentiment against his being returned to the Senate for the third term, it was deemed wise that he withdraw, and that Governor Jackson become the candidate for this office.

Why Jackson Was Chosen.

The action of the convention in placing the name of ex-Governor Jackson before the delegates and his nomination and acceptance is due, it is said, to the uncertainty of a Democratic victory this fall, provided M. V. Brewington was placed at the head of the ticket.

It is thought that, owing to the strong sentiment which prevails against third-term officeholders in this county at the present time, if Senator Brewington was renominated a large number of Democratic votes would go to the Republican candidates, and this would result in a victory for the whole Republican ticket. Under the circumstances, in order to save the Democracy of Wicomico, it was decided that it would be better to place a man at the head of the ticket who would stand a better chance of carrying the county.

Brewington controlled 32 out of 42 votes at the convention, but under the existing circumstances the delegates were turned over to Jackson, and the nomination came to the former Governor practically on a silver platter.

Bailey For State's Attorney.

The only heated contest of the convention took place when the nomination for State's Attorney was in order. There were three candidates for this office—Joseph L. Bailey, incumbent; L. Atwood Bennett and George W. Bell, law partner of Land Commissioner E. Stanley Toadvin. After the three names had been placed in nomination James T. Truitt, chairman of the convention, addressed the delegates, stating that, in the same spirit of harmony which had prevailed in the nomination of the balance of the ticket, it was asking no more than justice that the nomination for State's Attorney should go to Parsons district. This district has a Democratic majority of about 200 votes, and is the largest district in the county. Mr. Truitt said that the convention should recognize this, and that the candidate from this district, L. Atwood Bennett, should receive the nomination.

The count of the first ballot showed that Bennett had received 18 votes; Bailey, 17, and Bell, 7. Bennett having failed to secure a majority, the name of each delegate was called separately to vote for his favorite, and this resulted in a victory for Joseph L. Bailey, with 28 votes to his credit, against 12 for Bennett and 2 for Bell.

The Ticket Nominated.

The ticket, which is organization from top to bottom, is as follows:

State Senator—E. E. Jackson.
House of Delegates—John W. Willing, Nanticoke; Ernest P. Timmons, Pittsburg, and Roscoe Jones, Trappe.
County Treasurer—Jesse D. Price.
State's Attorney—Joseph L. Bailey.
County Commissioners—John P. Wright, Barren Creek; Wesley D. Truitt, Willards, and C. G. Messick, Nanticoke.

Sheriff—W. W. Larmore.
Judges of the Orphans' Court—Alonza Dykes, Nutters; Edward M. Smith, Delmar, and King V. White, Dennis.
Surveyor—P. S. Shockley.

ISABELLA STREET "ARMY" CAUSES SEVERE CRITICISM.

Residents Claim That Sewer Pipes Delivered Last February Should Be Speedily Removed.

Last February, when the large sewer pipes were being delivered along the curb on Isabella street, the residents and property owners, with one accord, expressed their delight in knowing that in a short time a new sewer would be laid on that street in place of the worthless system previously put down by the city. But the relief has not come and six months have elapsed since the "standing army", as it is frequently called, took up its quarters along the street. And one of the most beautiful streets of the city has been transformed from the bivouac of a passing regiment to the permanent camp of a regular army.

While the city authorities have been repeatedly urged to make some disposition of the pipes, nothing has apparently been done to satisfy the people, and varied reasons have been given by the Mayor and members of the city council why no action has been taken. In many instances the pipes are so placed that it is impossible to pass from the sidewalk to the street and in order to enter a carriage it is necessary to walk to the nearest corner. An interview of the residents brings out the fact beyond question that something should be done to relieve the present situation, and it is hardly possible that the Mayor and Council will allow the the "standing army" to remain as it is and further provoke the ill will of the Isabella street tax payers.

Mr. F. A. Grier, when asked about the "standing army", said: "The sewer pipes on Isabella street have been standing since last February and are a decided nuisance, and from the fact that the city employees are unable to clean the gutters, on account of the pipes, the surface water and decayed vegetation have caused a stench which has become almost unbearable. I recently spoke to Mayor Harper and was told the material was not here to do the work. I then learned from Mr. W. U. Polk that the material was here but labor could not be secured, and on further inquiry I learned from Street Commissioner Serman that everything necessary to complete the work was ready except the cement and that could be secured at any time."

Mr. Thomas H. Mitchell made the following statement: "The residents of this street should not be imposed upon in this manner. It is not our fault that the present worthless sewage system exists and the pipes along

BASS FISHING ATTRACTS MANY LOCAL ANGLERS.

Gamey Fish Are Being Caught In Lake Humphreys—Old Fishermen Take A Back Seat.

Bass fishing, to the local anglers, has passed the stage of being a fad, and judging from the large number of these fish being caught in Lake Humphreys, unless the supply is replenished the sport will soon be ended. The old time fisherman, who are wont to tell of the big catches of days gone by, are obliged to take a back seat when such anglers as Dr. Brotemarkle, W. S. Gordy Jr., Harold N. Fitch, P. N. Austey, Isaac Ulman and others come home from an hour's fishing with bass weighing from one to five pounds.

Up until a short time ago, Mr. H. N. Fitch held the record for the biggest fish, he having captured several weighing two and one half pounds. A number of this size have been caught, however, and several larger ones, but on Thursday morning, Tom Pinkett, a colored boy, landed two of the largest caught up to the present. Together they weighed nine pounds, the biggest one tipping the scales at the four and three quarter mark.

These bass were put into Lake Humphreys about four years ago by the State when Mr. Clarence L. Vincent, of Snow Hill, was one of the two State Fish Commissioners and their rapid growth is shown by the size of those being caught. The fish are of a particularly fine flavor and are looked upon as a luxury by those fortunate enough to successfully land them.

Novel Display Of Footwear.

In the show window at Mr. Harry Dennis' shoe store may be seen an odd display of shoes. They were loaned him by Mr. E. C. Potter, the moving picture man. Mr. Potter visited Vineland last Sunday and brought them back with him from his antique collection. The Esquimaux shoes were given to him by one of the men in Kansas who went to "Greely's" relief in the arctic expedition when Lockwood planted a flag the farthest north of any explorer, and have quite a sad history attached to them. The men's slippers are a pair of Holy slippers from a Mohammedan Moske, the largest Moske in the world in Algeria. No one is allowed in this Moske unless wearing a pair of these sacred slippers. The pair of moccasins came from the Comanche Indians. The sandals are from the Southern part of Central America and are a common shoe there. The ladies' slippers are from Jerusalem and are only worn there on special occasions by the high class ladies. The little slippers were made in Vineland, N. J., in the largest shoe manufactory in that state.

Republicans Harmonious.

Rockville, July 30.—The Republicans of Montgomery county held their primary election on Saturday and elected nine delegates to represent each of the 16 election precincts at the county convention, to be held there August 12, and named a district committee of 10 members for each precinct. The only district in which there was a contest was Laytonville, where there were two tickets in the field—one backed by the friends of Uriah H. W. Griffith and the other by the friends of James E. Ayton. The Griffith ticket won, the vote standing 55 to 47. The fight there was due to local differences.

Mr. Thomas Dawson will be the nominee for State's Attorney, and, among others mentioned in connection with places on the ticket, are Uriah H. W. Griffith, James E. Ayton, Willis B. Burdette, Bradley T. Dutrow, Frank L. Hewitt, Samuel Argent, Charles F. Kirk, Henry M. Lindig, Dewald J. Willard, Cornelius W. Clum, Alben G. Thomas, Ira C. Hill, Lewis Keiser, Charles G. McDonald and John L. Dawson.

Mr. Willis B. Burdette, who has been chairman of the Republican County Committee for the last four years, will not be a candidate for re-election, and it is understood that the new County Committee will unanimously elect Mr. Mortimer O. Stabler, of Spencerville, for the position. Mr. Stabler is young and aggressive, and will, it is claimed, make an ideal man for the place.

It is not known for whom the Montgomery delegates to the State Convention will vote for the gubernatorial nomination. It may be that the delegation will present the name of Joseph T. Moore, of Sandy Spring, who is regarded as in every way fitted for the office, but Mr. Moore is known to be averse to allowing the use of his name in connection with the nomination, and his wishes may be respected. With no county man to back, the action of the delegation is problematical. Mr. Galtier is much thought of by members of the party generally, and Mr. Goldsborough also has a host of admirers in the county, but whether the vote of the county will be given to either of these gentlemen is not definitely known.

Dorchester And The Governorship.

Dorchester Republicans want Goldsborough nominated for Governor because they believe with him as their standard bearer they can win. They know his ability is unquestioned. Though comparatively young Mr. Goldsborough has a brilliant record. In rapid succession he has held responsible positions and discharged their attendant duties in a manner that has won the approval of the people of the State.

It is believed Mr. Goldsborough would be acceptable to all Republican factions in the State. He would be especially strong with the independent voter that regards the candidate rather than the party he represents. Mr. Goldsborough is particularly close to the oysterman, whose strength is a factor for consideration.

As a campaigner the Republicans have none in the State superior to Mr. Goldsborough. Dorchester Republicans have reason to believe Mr. Goldsborough's strength is general. But one thing they know: Dorchester will send a strong and enthusiastic delegation to the State Convention to secure Mr. Goldsborough's nomination.

KICKED NEGRO TO DEATH.

Angry Mob At Crisfield Then Dig Up Body and Burn It—No Fear Of Race Trouble At Present.

Crisfield, Md., July 29.—The anger of the people about Crisfield seems to have been satisfied in the burning of the body of Jamer Reed, the negro who murdered Policeman John H. Daugherty, of that place, on Saturday night. The body of Reed, which had been buried in the marsh near the old smallpox detention camp, was taken up, fastened to a stake and burned.

The frenzy of the mob, which had ridged the body of Reed with bullets, all after he had been kicked to death, seemed to have its only ending in the orgy that culminated in the incineration of Reed.

That there will be any race riot or trouble seems very improbable. The lynching and burning of the body of Reed is accepted as a just retribution. The primary cause of the murder of Daugherty and the subsequent lynching of his murderer seems to have been the outcome of an effort on the Somerset county authorities to keep down the illegal liquor traffic. It has been known for sometime that whiskey and other alcoholic drinks have been smuggled into Crisfield, but the authorities have not been able to catch up with the offenders or to prosecute them adequately when they had been arrested.

The authorities feel that they are able to cope with the present condition, as they think the moral effect of the lynching of Reed will be widespread, and that law and order will prevail.

Just what will happen to Hildred Jones, the escaped prisoner, when he is captured, is a matter of speculation. From last accounts, he was bound for the North, and was going some. The people of Crisfield and the county generally deplore the lynching, but it is generally accepted that strenuous measures had to be adopted in order to hold down the lawless colored element.

At a special meeting of the town council plans were made to restore order and have things go along in their even tenor. The colored element was conspicuous by its absence on the streets today and tonight. There was a lack of help at the railroad station and at the steamer's wharf, and visitors in Crisfield had to lug their own baggage.

A delegation of the best colored citizens of the town awaited on the town council and asked that they be allowed to co-operate with the authorities in maintaining law and order. They also asked that the authorities close up all places of amusement maintained for people of their race where liquor was sold.

The delegation promised that within the next five days it would furnish information that would lead to the cleaning up of a number of notorious negro dives in Crisfield. The delegation also, by resolution, commended the murdered policeman for his performance of his duty, and condemned his murderer for his act. Several members of the delegation said that they would have been willing to join in the hunt for the murderer of the policeman, and would have assisted in his lynching.

The authorities are on the lookout for strange negroes, there having been much complaint about strangers hailing from Virginia and North Carolina. Strangers who cannot give a good account of themselves will be arrested. The town council passed resolutions of respect to the memory of Policeman Daugherty and tendered sympathy to his family. A resolution of thanks was also extended to Capt. John Chelton, of the mail boat Ercliff, whose crew captured the rebel. Captain Chelton was also named as the successor of Daugherty.

The town is flooded with photographs of the scene of the lynching and they have been widely circulated. Souvenirs in the shape of bits of rope and pieces chopped from the telephone pole to which Reed was hanged are in demand there.

Couldn't Stand Hagerstown.

Judge Keedy of Hagerstown on Wednesday granted an absolute divorce to Alonzo Heflerstey, painter and decorator, from Annie B. Heflerstey, now living in Baltimore, on the ground of desertion.

Mr. Heflerstey testified that his wife left him because she wanted to go to Baltimore to live, and it did not suit him to go there, having established himself in Hagerstown. He testified that "she said she could not see anything in this old town, and that she was going to Baltimore, where the parks were, and that I would be glad to follow her. She took the household goods. Some she took to Baltimore, others she gave away and the balance she sold to Charles M. Patterer."

Mr. and Mrs. Heflerstey have two daughters, both of whom are married.

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

RESOLUTIONS AT CONVENTION.

Wicomico Democrats Adopted The Following At The Convention Tuesday—Oyster Culture.

"The Democratic party of Wicomico county points with pride to the administration of local affairs by the Democratic party. Wicomico county has no floating debt and only a small bonded debt and the county is practically on a cash basis."

"We recognize that the public road question is one in which the people of the county are vitally interested, and we point to the fact that within the past two years the County Commissioners have met the demands of our people in this respect and have improved many miles of our public highways with shells, and while we believe at all times in a conservative public policy, and one which will not make the burden of taxation too onerous, yet we recognize that there is a demand in this county for more permanent improvements of the county roads along the lines of the State road law, and looking to this end we unqualifiedly favor making the county roads as good as it is possible to make them, consistent with the resources and wealth of the county, recognizing that the building of good roads always enhances the value of real estate, and that the county is amply repaid for the expenditures in the increased taxable basis."

"The Democrats of Wicomico county desire to express their appreciation and endorse the able, wise and businesslike administration of the affairs of the State for the last four years under Governor Warfield, Comptroller Adkinson and Treasurer Vandiver, and believe that under their administration the business interests of the people have been wisely managed and the financial affairs of the State economically administered."

Oyster Culture.

"We are not unmindful that a new oyster law has been enacted for the promotion of the oyster culture in the state, and that a commission is now engaged in making a survey of the land covered with water so as to separate the barren ground from the natural oyster bars. While we shall watch with interest this work, we hereby renew our pledge to our fellow-citizens to protect them in the free and ancient rights of fishery which they and their fathers have enjoyed, so that right shall be preserved absolutely unimpaired for all future generations."

"The Democratic party of Wicomico county wishes to express its confidence in and esteem for Thomas Perry, one of our worthy citizens, who is a candidate for the nomination for comptroller of the state, and the delegation to the state convention is hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Mr. Perry for that high position."

Lott's Rapid Steam Washer

The greatest seller of the century. A perfect steam laundry at home; washes thoroughly without labor; saves 50 per cent of fuel; saves 50 per cent of wear on clothes. One hundred dollars ($100.00) forfeited if the above statements are not facts, and if it should fail to defeat all other washers now on the market. Guaranteed to pay for itself in one year. To prove the above claims, we have taken at random written statements from hardware dealers, manufacturers, and some of our agents, as well as customers, all of whom are using this machine. They have been selected for their moral and financial standing, and we respectfully refer to any one of them.

Toledo, Ohio, October 10, 1904.
The washer came to hand a week ago, and my wife is delighted with it. Kindly send her circulars to distribute in our end of the city. My wife would like to have the agency for it.
J. H. Kneisley,
President Kniesley Shirt Co.

Marion, Ohio, September 24, 1904.
The Rapid Steam Washer has been tested in some of the most prominent homes in our city and has been endorsed by our people as being a machine which positively has no equal as a time and labor saver. It washes cleaner than any of the so-called wooden washers.
The Haberman Hardware Co.
Wholesale and Retail.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Jester, of Texas, says: "My wife had the washer thoroughly tested and considers it a perfect success, saving both labor and time."

Durability—It will last five times longer than any wooden machine on the market, as it is made of heavy copper, block tin, galvanized iron, and tinned steel top. It runs itself; any twelve-year-old child can operate it, and we guarantee it to wash faster than any two women can wring, blue, and hang on the line. It operates on any kind of a stove, the same as an ordinary wash boiler.
In washing white clothes you use the lever only about one fourth of the time, and ten minutes perfectly cleans a tub of goods. In washing colored clothes no fire is needed, hence the operator is not near the fire more than a few minutes altogether.

Manufactured by Chicago Hdw. Foundry Co., Chicago.

E. W. TRUITT, General Agent for Eastern Shore of Maryland and Va.
GEORGE T. TYNDALL, Salisbury, Md., Agent for Wicomico County.
Washers will be on exhibition at Golden Eagle Tea Co's store, at head of Main St., where orders may be filled, or by writing me.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $14,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1887.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Open an account with us, no harm can possibly result.

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

Many Important Questions Regarding Work of The Church Will Be Decided Next May.

Several thousand persons, of whom nearly 700 will be regularly accredited delegates, are expected in Baltimore to attend the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to be held at the Lyric, beginning the first Wednesday of next May.

The delegates will be both lay and ministerial, there being exactly 335 of each. The basis of representation is one ministerial delegate for every 45 ministers and one lay delegate for each ministerial delegate. The Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which includes a part of Maryland, the District of Columbia and a few charges in Virginia, has 251 ministers and is, therefore, entitled to five lay delegates.

Many important questions regarding the work of the Methodist Church in all parts of the world are to come up for discussion at the Conference. The results of the work of important commissions will be under review. Among these will be the consolidation of the benevolences of the church and the unification of the Book Concern, also the commissions on the unification of Methodists in Japan, on Conference claimants' funds, on the revision of the ritual and on federation. Some radical changes in the government of the deaconesses will be recommended to the Conference by the deaconess commission, including a plan to have all deaconess affairs taken out of the hands of the board of bishops and turned over to a special board of 19 members, five of whom are to be bishops selected by the board of bishops. It is proposed, also, to have on the board four pastors, four laymen and six women, three of the latter to be deaconesses.

Bishops For Races.

An important question which will come up for final settlement is that providing for the election of bishops for the different races. A decision in favor of this plan would mean that the missionary bishops in foreign countries would be replaced by native bishops. It would mean the election of a negro bishop for work among negroes.

Under any circumstances, however, there will be at least eight new bishops to be elected by the Conference. In the past year four bishops died. They were Isaac Joyce, Charles C. McCabe, James N. Fitzgerald and Stephen M. Merrill. There are at least two other bishops whose health is such that they are unable to perform their duties, and the result of this situation has been to force upon a few bishops the work of their colleagues who are dead or ill. There are now 16 active bishops in the church, in addition to 7 missionary bishops.

The work of preparation for the entertainment of the General Conference delegates is progressing rapidly. The general committee of 35 appointed at the last Baltimore Annual Conference to arrange for the meeting has already held several conferences and is thoroughly organized. The members of this committee are:

Rev. Dr. Charles W. Baldwin, chairman; Dr. Henry M. Wilson, vice chairman; Mr. James E. Ingram, treasurer; Mr. John E. Stone, corresponding secretary; Mr. William M. Winks, recording secretary; Mr. Summerfield Baldwin, Revs. Dr. John P. Goucher, Dr. J. St. Clair Neal, Wilbur F. Sheridan, Dr. J. C. Nicholson, Dr. W. L. McDowell, Dr. J. Fred Heisse, Dr. M. F. B. Rice, Edward L. Watson, S. H. Brown, Charles E. Guthrie, Harry D. Mitchell, J. A. Holmes, and Emmett R. Hall, Messrs. Henry S. Dulany, David H. Carroll, W. C. Ballard, W. C. Ouse, Charles T. Taylor, George W. Corner, John J. Paupel, J. H. Smith, W. C. Vansant, E. B. Jeffrey, Charles K. Abrahams, J. William Strobel, W. A. Leitch, Sewall S. Watts, Charles Hann and Chas. D. Penhagen.

One Hundredth Anniversary.

It is considered particularly appropriate that the coming meeting of the conference should be held in Baltimore. In the first place 1908 is the one hundredth anniversary of the General Conference becoming a delegated body. Arrangements will be made to have this event fittingly observed. Next year will also be the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church in America, which took place in Baltimore in 1784. Besides, the one hundredth anniversary of old Eutaw Street Methodist Episcopal Church of that city, will be celebrated next year. This is one of the oldest houses of worship still in use in America. Another matter of special interest to the visitors will be the fact that American Methodism was first planted at Sams Creek, Md. A pilgrimage will be made to that place either during or immediately after the conference sessions.

The conference is likely to continue with daily sessions for nearly a month. The meeting is held but once every four years and during that time a great amount of business accumulates for its attention.

LOWNDES' GREAT VICTORY.

His Control Of The Delegation From Allegany Upsets Calculations Of Old Time Politicians.

Among Republicans a leading topic of conversation is the unexpected victory of Mr. Lloyd Lowndes and his friends in Allegany county over Congressman George A. Pearre and his organization. For years Colonel Pearre has been in control of the county and the futile fights that have been made against him in the county have caused him to be looked upon as invincible in Baltimore City.

To the city leaders the Lowndes victory is a surprise, and not altogether a pleasant one. Collector Stone and Congressman Pearre were upon the most cordial and friendly terms politically, and it was believed that had Colonel Pearre controlled the situation he would have acted with Collector Stone and in harmony with Attorney-General Bonaparte at the Republican State Convention on August 14. At the meeting of the Republican State Central Committee last April it was made apparent that the friends of Mr. Stone in the city and of Colonel Pearre in Western Maryland would act together and that their desire was to carry out the wishes of Mr. Bonaparte, who is the representative of President Roosevelt and the Roosevelt administration in Maryland.

The victory of Mr. Lowndes upsets the calculations of some of the leaders. It is generally believed that there is an understanding, or at least sympathy, between Mr. Lowndes and Congressman Mudd, and it is regarded as not unlikely that there will be harmony of action between the Allegany delegation and the Mudd-Jackson influence in the convention.

His victory in the primaries will unquestionably give to Mr. Lowndes control of the delegation from Allegany in the State convention. It also, it is claimed, gives to Mr. Lowndes and his allies control of the State Central Committee from the county. It does not, however, give to Mr. Lowndes or his faction the power of naming the county ticket in the fall for either county or legislative offices. These candidates are selected in legalized primaries under the Crawford county system.

While the primaries temporarily place Mr. Lowndes on top, it does not mean that he will have anything like complete control of the county or that he will have the county delegation to the next Congressional convention of the Sixth district. There will be two fights at least before that time, and Allegany politics are in a condition where anything is possible. Colonel Pearre may regain control of the county and he may not. Anyhow, his friends say that while he will not be in control of the Allegany delegation to the State convention, he is still a factor and may regain the ground lost.

The result of the primaries, however, gives Mr. Lowndes a standing in State politics which he has not heretofore had. He will come down to the city to the convention as the Allegany county leader, and the delegation in all probability will be a Lowndes delegation from start to finish.

In his fight against Colonel Pearre Mr. Lowndes has had as allies former United States Senator George L. Wellington, former State Senator David E. Dick and Mr. Benjamin A. Richmond. His danger now is in satisfying these different elements and keeping the position of leadership which he has won. His friends say that he has it in him to do this. His enemies say not. It remains for Mr. Lowndes to prove which is right and which is wrong by the way he exercises his newly gained power.

By the friends of Mr. Phillips Lee Goldsborough in the city the Lowndes victory is accepted as favorable to his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Had Colonel Pearre controlled the delegation to the State convention, it is said, it would not have been for Goldsborough and would not have been in harmony with the Mudd-Jackson influence. With Lowndes in control, however, it is asserted that Mr. Goldsborough's chances are increased, as the likelihood is that the controlling combination at the convention will be one composed of Mudd, Jackson and Lowndes. With Mr. Goldsborough as the candidate, Baltimore county, which can be controlled by his friends, one of whom is Mr. James E. Ingram, Jr., can be added to the combination. This is the county in which Attorney-General Bonaparte lives and votes, but which he does not control.

Fighting For Local Option.

A meeting in the interest of the movement to have the Legislature pass a local option law for Washington county was held Tuesday night at Smithsburg. The speakers were Rev. Dr. J. M. Tompkins and Rev. J. H. Miller, of Hagerstown. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Hagerstown Ministerial Association. On Thursday evening a similar meeting will be held in the Lutheran Church, Funkstown. The speakers will be Rev. Dr. J. Spangler Kieffer and Rev. Dr. S. W. Owens, of Hagerstown.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous In Salisbury.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. C. W. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me, I was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. The secretions annoyed me, and showed plainly the dormant condition of my kidneys. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating, caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended, so I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store, used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

"In His Vest Pocket."

Ex-Governor Brown returned recently from Atlantic City, where he had an opportunity of talking politics with city Democrats who are deeply interested, including Senator Rayner, Messrs. John J. Mahon, John Hannibal, Henry G. Fiedlerman, George N. Nussen, Harry F. Hooper and Police Commissioner J. Harry Preston.

The ex-Governor said that all of them talked politics; in fact, seldom talked anything else, but there was no change in the situation as the result of the talk. Mr. Preston confirmed the report of Ex-Governor Brown that there was no tangible outcome of the informal gathering.

Congressman William H. Jackson was at Atlantic City in his big automobile, and he took Mr. Preston, Mr. Mahon and Mr. Fiedlerman out for a spin. Mr. Preston has an eye on the gubernatorial nomination, so he was immediately charged with trying to get some Republican support as Congressman Jackson carries the Republican part of the Eastern Shore around in his vest pocket.

While Ex-Governor Brown was getting ready to leave Atlantic City for Baltimore, Charles and Prince George's counties endorsed him for the gubernatorial nomination.

"I have known all along," said the ex-Governor today, "that the Southern Maryland people wanted me to have the nomination, so the endorsements did not come as a surprise to me. My attitude toward the gubernatorial nomination has not changed, however. I am not a candidate, and the circumstances under which I would accept the nomination are so unusual that I do not think it at all likely that they will come to pass."

Notwithstanding the ex-Governor's present inert attitude as far as trying to round up delegates is concerned, some of his friends are predicting that he will be out in the open on the night preceding the convention, lining up his forces with a view of getting the nomination.

Republican Primaries NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the Republican voters of Wicomico County, to meet at their usual voting places in their respective districts, on Saturday, August 10th, 1907,

for the purpose of holding primaries to select three delegates from each district to attend the County Convention to be held in Salisbury, at the Court House,
at 10 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, August 13th, 1907, which said Convention will elect delegates, having four votes, to the Republican State Convention, to be held in Baltimore on Wednesday, August 14th, 1907, which said Convention will nominate candidates for Governor, Comptroller, Attorney General and
Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The said County Convention is also to nominate a county ticket, to be composed of one State Senator, three Delegates to the General Assembly, one State's Attorney, one County Treasurer,
three County Commissioners, one Sheriff,
three Judges of the Orphans' Court and one surveyor, to be voted for next November.

In case of contest the polls should be held open from two to five o'clock, and each side contesting will select one judge and together with the person hereinafter designated will constitute the three judges, who will certify, by order of the State Central Committee,
the result of said primaries.

The following persons are hereby designated to call the primaries to order in the respective districts of the county:

JAMES O. WILSON,
Republican State Central Committee
for Wicomico County.

Senator Brewington And The Democratic Convention.

The Democratic ticket nominated in this county last Tuesday is in many respects one of the weakest nominated for a number of years, and was constructed decidedly more with reference to the all-important desire for harmoniously bringing together the discordant elements of the party, than a careful and discriminating choice of candidates with relation to the respective positions to be filled.

The nomination of Ex-Governor
Elihu B. Jackson for the State Senate is the result of a peculiar mix-up in Democratic affairs which threatened the defeat of the ticket this Fall and the question now is whether or not this unlooked-for and inexplicable nomination can stave off the impending disaster in this county. Mr. K. V. White and one or two other good men were placed upon the ticket as a sop to certain elements within the party, but in general the ticket is anything but strong, and the men were largely placed upon it without reference to their ability or suitability. Even the strength which would ordinarily have followed the nomination of a man of Governor Jackson's prominence and standing in State affairs is more than offset by the manner in which it was done and the conditions which brought it about, together with the wholly unsettled question as to whether or not he will "stick."

Senator Brewington in the last few years has repeatedly essayed the role of leader in Wicomico and several times in the last legislature practically defied the wishes of Governor Jackson and declared his independence of his leadership, and yet at the very first opportunity he shows the white feather and like a veritable coward tamely lays down and meekly submits to the humiliation of a defeat, on the verge of victory. He even seemed to relish the idea of a contest with the Ex-Governor and expressed some decided views upon the result of a struggle of that character.

The action of the delegates was almost as cowardly as the attitude of Senator Brewington himself.
From their own statements more than thirty out of forty-two wanted the Senator renominated and yet they were afraid of The Adver- tiser and the third-term sentiment on the one hand and the Ex-Governor on the other. If they nominated Brewington, The Advertiser wouldn't play, and if they refused to nominate the Ex-Governor after he had expressed his views on the subject, he wouldn't play, and his playing was more tuneful than the playing of any other man or set of men. It is now freely stated that The Advertiser made the fight it did against Brewington with the full knowledge and approval of Governor Jackson with the understanding that as soon as Brewing-ton was sufficiently cowed, he would be tossed aside and the ticket would be headed by the Governor himself.

Senator Brewington at the most important crisis of his career proved himself utterly lacking in every element of genuine leadership. It is known that it was his intention to seek a renomination for months and even years and many of his closest friends are at a loss to understand why he should so tamely have submitted to the absolute dictum of the Governor.
To say that Senator Brewington had won his fight and had his delegates where he could absolutely control them and freely and without pressure made the Ex-Governor a present of them is the veriest tommyrot and utterly ridiculous on its face. Brewing-ton was forced to take the position he did and his boasted leadership vanishes in smoke and fails him at a crucial moment.

The Crisfield Lynching.

The lynching at Crisfield last Saturday adds another to the long list of similar occurrences which in recent years has had a decided tendency to lower the general standard of modern civilization in the Southern States, especially as viewed from the North, and can but be deplored by all who have a profound respect for law and its proper and regular enforcement.

The dispatches from Crisfield during the week stated that the better element of the town was in sympathy with the lynchers and the methods employed in dealing out swift and summary vengeance upon the murderer, but it cannot be believed that such is the case, and in this, as in almost every similar occurrence, it will no doubt be found that the underlying current of public sentiment is strongly opposed to such a violent course and in favor of legal methods and orderly procedure. The highest form of civilization is wrought out in our present conception of governmental powers and duties, and just in proportion as these powers and duties are interfered with, just to such an extent is there a return to barbarous ideas and uncivilized methods. Lawlessness breeds contempt for law, and it is utterly impossible to avenge one broken statute by ruthlessly disregarding another. There is no crime known to the law, provision for the commission of which is not properly and regularly made, and the greater the crime the greater the penalty. That this offense deserved the highest penalty known to the law is generally conceded, and it is almost absolutely certain that a trial would have resulted in his conviction and execution. The greatest safeguard of human rights is in the prompt and speedy trial of those who have been apprehended in the very act of committing these higher crimes against the law. Indeed, it is a recognized fact that lynchings would be less frequent if, in all cases of this character, the machinery of the law were set in operation promptly, and indictments found and trials carried on, just as rapidly as a due regard for the rights of the prisoner would permit.

The delays of the law have been responsible for the unlawful and unauthorized taking of more than one human life, and if the Crisfield incident will tend toward a reform in dealing with criminals of this character, then the occurrence, as unfortunate and indefensible as it is, will not have been entirely an unmitigated evil.

Editorial Jottings.

Campmeetings and politics go hand in hand.

Merit counts in business! Why not in politics?

Wait until the Republicans make out a ticket. It will not be headed by an "Ex."

Our Democratic friends have fired the initial shot of the campaign, but wait until the rapid fire guns are in operation.

The only reply of the Democratic Convention to Mr. Ellegood's demand for an anti-bribery plank was Governor Jackson's nomination.

The State leaders on the Democratic side of the fence are all at sea, and there seems to be no Moses to lead the confused forces to victory. Leadership in the "Old Guard" is conspicuous by its absence.

The "standing army" is a standing monument to the inefficiency of the city officials. If they cannot handle the proposition they ought to resign and allow someone to take hold of affairs who have a broader conception of their duties of office.

Secretary Taft is on top in Ohio and he gave the United States Senators from that State a bitter dose when he received the overwhelming endorsement of the State Central Committee for the Presidency over their earnest and combined protest.

The bloodless fight in the "Bloody Fifth" last Saturday was a hot one and our friend Bennett won a magnificent victory—but he met his Waterloo on Tuesday when he ran up against the wily politician from Quantico. The State's Attorney, unlike the Senator, kept his nerve, and his delegates as well.

The new street sweeper may prove satisfactory upon closer acquaintance, but from present indications it is anything in the world but what is wanted and is not an improvement over the present system. If the street is wet, it does not clean it, and if it is dry, it raises a cloud of dust which looks like an incipient cyclone. Indeed, if it were used much, the residents along the paved streets would be compelled to close up or move out.
Why not have the streets flushed?
This method is in vogue today in a large number of places and is said to be cheaper and at the same time more sanitary and decidedly more satisfactory in general.

—With wheat nearing the dollar mark and tomatoes growing nicely at an $8 a ton market, the farmers' prospects are not nearly so gloomy as they have been several times this year.

—About 20 little friends gave Miss Grace Perry a surprise party in honor of her 13th birthday, Wednesday evening, at the home of her cousin, Frances Price, on Walnut street.

—Many thousands of dollars have been brought into Wicomico this year by the blackberry crop. It is estimated that the individual growers cleared from $1,000 to $3,000, according to acreage.

—The Baptist Young People's Union of the Division Street Baptist Church held an enjoyable social at the home of the pastor, Rev. Kingman A. Handy, Thursday evening of this week.

—On Tuesday night the steam mill at Hallwood, Va., owned by Messrs. Gordy and Chandler was destroyed by fire at a loss of about $4000.00. Mr. Gordy formerly lived near Salisbury, and is well known in this county.

—From New York to Jamestown in 26 hours is the record of the Reo touring car which passed through this city Thursday. It was this same car that made such a fine showing in the recent Glidden endurance run of 1570 miles.

—In the columns of the Delmar News, Rev. E. P. Perry announces that during the hot weather all men are welcome to attend services in the Mt. Olive M. P. Church in shirtwaist attire. He says it is his duty to preach to the heart instead of the clothes.

—During the month of August, the regular preaching services will be discontinued in Wicomico Presbyterian Church. Sabbath School and Christian Endeavor meetings will be held as usual, and the mid-week prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday.

—Mr. Robert Koontz, who has been for some time on inspection duty at the Bureau of Equipment, Washington, has been selected by the Navy Department, as Executive Officer of the new battleship Nebraska. Mr. Koontz is a cousin of Messrs. Marion V. and Harry L. Brewington.

—The following services will be conducted during August in the Division Street Baptist Church. Rev. Kingman A. Handy, pastor: Sunday, at 10.30, Bible School and preaching; 7.30, Young People's Service and preaching; Wednesday, at 8.00 p. m., service of prayer and praise.

—Harper & Taylor, jewelers, will on August 1, commence a special sale, to continue 10 days, during which they will give one-fourth off the price on all Belt Buckles, Belt Pins, Back Combs and all Leather Goods, such as Card Cases, Pocket Books, and Traveling Bags. Parasols go at actual cost.

—Having given out about all the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia territory for Lott's Rapid Steam Washer, I have secured the general agency for a few good counties in the Eastern part of Virginia, and have a good proposition for a few hustling agents. E. W. Truitt, Salisbury, Md.

—Mr. W. B. Miller and party, including Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gundy, Miss Graham and Mr. Jackson Rounds, left Salisbury on the steamer Virginia Wednesday for Baltimore. They will leave Baltimore Thursday in Mr. Miller's automobile for a ten days tour of Virginia through the Shenandoah Valley. The itinerary includes Natural Bridge, Green Briar and Hot Springs.

—The new street sweeper recently purchased by the City Council arrived in Salisbury Thursday. It is of the latest improved make and was manufactured by Charles Evans, New York. The new machine was used for the first time Friday and was a decided improvement over the old method of sweeping the paved streets by hand.

—Gentlemen, we have one hundred pair, more or less, of Men's Low Cut Shoes. Crosetts and Walk-Over's that were $4.00 and $3.50, now on sale at $2.98, $2.69, $3.15 and $2.00. Come early and get your choice at E. Homer White Shoe Co., 229 Main street.

—Mr. John B. Parsons, inventor of the smoke consumer which is to be used on the Pennsylvania Railroad, visited friends in this city on Saturday last. While here he interviewed several officials of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad relative to installing the device on this division.

Huntington, Miss Wilsie F. Lowe, Junior Class—Miss Alice E. Dykes, Miss Lena E. Wright. Second Year Class—Miss Eliza Davis, Miss Marian Davis, Miss Eva Taylor. First Year Class—Miss Denala E. Phillips.

—What might have been a serious accident occurred Thursday evening at the corner of N. Division and Water streets. An automobile driven by Mr. W. P. Jackson was standing perfectly still in front of the postoffice when Mr. Levin Collier and his sister, Miss Elizabeth, attempted to pass in a carriage. The horse became frightened and made a sudden turn, throwing the vehicle against a telephone pole. Fortunately both of the occupants escaped injury. One wheel of the carriage was completely wrecked.

—In another column of this paper, Mr. Alan F. Benjamin offers at private sale the very desirable Leonard property on Division and William streets, this city. This includes the Leonard home place, as well as the finest locations in Salisbury for residence purposes and will no doubt find ready purchasers. Mr. Benjamin says the property will be sold as a whole, including the two vacant lots, or will be divided and sold in three parcels to suit prospective purchasers. Mr. Benjamin will also sell some very desirable farm lands situated in Parsons district, near the George Leonard Mill; these farms were a part of the late Col. William J. Leonard land and are in an improved condition.

—Mr. E. C. Potter made quite a hit with his moving pictures Thursday and Friday evenings when he exhibited the pictures portraying the life and adventures of Daniel Boone. It was one of the finest seen in Salisbury this season. Tonight (Saturday) and Monday evenings Mr. Potter will exhibit pictures showing interesting portions of the Elks' recent parade in Philadelphia.

—Visit the Great Pocomoke Fair August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Convention Notes.

Mr. "Jim" Truitt was there—he was chairman.

It was the first open door convention in the last twenty years—but even the doors were left open for the sake of harmony.

While the heated fight for the nomination of a State's Attorney was in progress, the present incumbent was at his office calmly preparing a mortgage.

"All delegates opposed to John P. Wright for County Commissioner, stand up," said the chairman, but just then someone pulled Mr. Truitt on the sleeve and the question was changed to "All in favor of, etc."

The anti-bribery plank, which James E. Ellegood, Esq., insisted should be "nailed on" to the Democratic platform, was adroitly thrown on the wood pile by the leaders, and he was conspicuous at the convention only by his absence. There was a Sunday School excursion to Ocean City that day.

It was an amusing sight to see the two veterans of the Old Guard, James T. Truitt and Levin J. Gale, shaking their Democratic fists at each other across the table when the nomination for State's Attorney was in order—or out of order. But even though the veteran of the Clerk's office pulled off his coat, the nomination went to Quantico district.

There like to have been a slip up on the Commissioners' ticket. The chairman had five names before him with only three to be voted for. He had mentioned only two of the names when suddenly Senator Brewington and Sheriff Bradley sprang for him. "No, no," they almost shouted, "These three," whereon the Fifth district leader read the names of the slated three, and quickly shouted, "All in favor of these three, stand up. Opposed same. They are nominated."

Buying Cheap Clothes To Save Money Is Like Stopping A Clock To Save Time.

When you come right down to facts, there's but one store in Salisbury where you can get the right kind of clothing at the right kind of price. There's no use talking, there's but one store in Salisbury that sells the very best clothing made, and that store is Thoroughgood's, where more business is done in one day than any other store in Salisbury does in three days. Tell you what I'm doing—I'm just cleaning up the town, I can't help it. People want my goods, and I'm just letting 'em have 'em. Come try on a suit that was made to fit a man your size. You can't walk out of my store with a garment that don't fit you and isn't becoming to you. My prices are no higher than other people's. Sometimes you'll see a newspaper story to the effect that somebody is selling just as high grade clothing and hats as Thoroughgood. Well, you know they ain't, and nobody really believes them when they say are. I have plenty of good clothes yet and am selling them them regardless of cost for the next thirty days.

BOWSER'S NEW KODAK

He Does Not Score Much of a Success With It.

GOES OUT AFTER SUBJECTS.

Encounters Three, Who Prove to Be Belligerent—His New Fad Attended With Difficulties, and He Finally Has It Out With Mrs. B.

[Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.]

When Mr. Bowser came home a few evenings since with a bulging package under his arm and a glad smile on his face, Mrs. Bowser, of course, had a natural curiosity to know what he had purchased. He would not give her any satisfaction about it until after dinner, and then he asked:

"My dear, has it ever struck you that I had the instincts of an artist about me?"

"No, I can't say that it has," she honestly answered.

"That's because your mind has been on bargain sales. If there is a sale of women's forty cent stockings at 28 cents a pair, you never fail to observe the advertisement."

A CAT'S HEAD WHEN THE CORK OUGHT TO BE.

"Do you think you have the instincts spoken of?"

"Think! I know I have. I have known it for years. One can't deceive himself about such things. There isn't the slightest question in my mind but that I was born for a great artist."

"Was that why you were going to paint the front fence blue and the gate red this spring?"

Could Not Understand Him.

Mr. Bowser was walking around the sitting room with his hands crossed behind his back. At the words his face got red, and he stopped short and gave Mrs. Bowser a look that would have swept all the towels off the clothesline on a wash day and followed it by saying:

"How could I expect that a mind like yours could understand one like mine? You can sit down to a dish of pork and beans and yum-yum over it, but you'd stand by a hollyhock the whole afternoon and never think it was any different from a cornstalk."

"Well, dear, let's not dispute," replied Mrs. Bowser after a moment. "You have said that your grandfather was an artist, and perhaps his mantle has fallen on your shoulders. Are you going to try to paint a landscape?"

It took Mr. Bowser five minutes to get over his injury, and he was still sulky over it when he said:

"No, I'm not, but I've bought a Kodak and propose to take a few pictures this summer. Any objections to that? Got any more sneers ready?"

"None whatever. I think it a good thing, and I believe you will make a success of it. I will learn how to operate it, and when you are at the office I'll—"

"Not much you won't! It's something not to be fooled with. You'd use it just as you would a coal hod. I shall do the artist work for this family."

Unwrapped a Camera.

He cut the strings of the package and unwrapped a fine kodak and explained that he had paid only $40 for it because he had once served on a coroner's jury with the man who sold it. It would have been $50 to any one else.

"Wouldn't one for $5 have done just as well?" queried Mrs. Bowser after looking the instrument over. "I mean wouldn't it have been just as well to get a cheap one until you were sure about the artistic instincts?"

"Not by a darned sight! A cheap kodak may do for a scrub person, but I want the best. So you still doubt the instincts? You hear me, Mrs. Bowser, when I tell you that there is more of the born artist in my little finger than there is in all your relations for ten generations back. Enough, however. I am now going out into the back yard to take a few flashlight pictures. You and the cook can hold one of your heart to heart talks and wonder if I'm not crazy."

When Mr. Bowser passed through the house Mrs. Bowser asked where he was going. He replied that he would take a little wander around the streets to catch some character studies. He did not have to go far to find them. On the corner two blocks down stood three old tramps waiting to strike some pedestrian for lodgings money. They represented one of the types he was after. Before he had reached them he had decided to label their pictures "Ambition," "Perseverance" and "Integrity" respectively.

"Boys," he began, "I'm an artist, and this is a kodak. Have you any objections to my taking a flashlight picture of the group?"

"If you will come down $2 apiece all around," answered Ambition.

"Nonsense! You ought to be proud to be taken for nothing."

"Oh, we had, and the police wanting us! It's $2 or nothing."

"Then you'll get together, and if I can put the police on I'll do it."

That was an unfortunate remark for Mr. Bowser. One of the three grabbed his hat, another gave him a cuff, and the third made a grab and just missed his nose as they ran away. Mr. Bowser looked around for a statue of Liberty to tear down; but not finding any handy, he cooled off after a time and went his bareheaded way. He had thought to return home after another headpiece, but he suddenly remembered that great artists always went around the streets bareheaded and thus got a name for eccentricity. Three blocks farther along he came upon a short, squat woman carrying a bundle of kindlings on her shoulder and talking to herself about the high price of diamonds. She was the type he wanted for "Hope On, Hope Ever," and he accosted her with:

"Madam, can I speak with you a moment?"

"Can you speak with me?" she repeated as she stood and looked at him.

"You can, sir, but let me tell you that if you utter one single word that an unborn babe oughtn't to hear I'll be the death of you. I'm a lone woman, sir. I'm a lone woman."

"Yes, yes, but all I want is to take a picture of you. I'm an artist, you know."

"I know nothing of the kind. You may have come from the zoo for all I know. A picture of me! Never! No true lady will allow a man to take her picture and be showing it around in saloons. Sir, you pass on."

Rebuffed by a Woman.

"But, ma'am, you misapprehend the situation. I am making some studies from life. I am taking pictures of cats, dogs, tramps and—"

"And I'm to go along with cats and dogs and tramps, am I? Sir, you are a villain! If I was a man, sir, I'd proceed to mop you all over the street for insulting a lady who is carrying home a bundle of kindlings to her starving family. Take that, you old baldhead!"

And she gave Mr. Bowser a tremendous kick on the knee and turned her back on him to pursue her way. He arrived home in a limping condition, and when asked to explain he said that he had fallen over a barrel of sand on the sidewalk. His wife didn't press the matter, and the next morning he took his only proof down to a photographer to be developed. The proof came back by mail a day later. Mrs. Bowser opened the letter and looked at it and then saved it to hand to him when he came home. The proof showed a beer bottle sitting on the fence, with a cat's head where the cork ought to be.

"Woman, what does this mean?" demanded Mr. Bowser as he turned pale and his chin trembled.

"It's the flashlight picture you took the other night."

"Never! Never in all this world!"

"But here is the letter from the developer saying that the thing is unique and asking if the rest of the cat is in the bottle."

Mr. Bowser walked to the closet where the kodak was kept on a shelf, and, reaching it down, he raised it aloft in both hands and dashed it to the floor with a blood curdling "Ha!" and then turned to Mrs. Bowser and said:

"It is early in the evening yet. We can telephone to our respective lawyers to come over, and we can doubtless arrange about the divorce and alimony so that you can leave for your mother's on the first train in the morning. This is too, too much. You have reached the dead line at last."

Prince Eui Wha, The Korean Adonis

WIDE AWAKE ORIENTALIST WHO MAY BE CROWNED EMPEROR OF THE HERMIT KINGDOM.

Lively C: a Youth Who Was an American College Student With Eighty-seven Suits of Yankee Clothes and a Bellowed Vest For Each—Hero of Three Romances With American Maidens—How Coney Island Took Him For a Good Thing. His Prophetic Words.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.
UNLESS Japan shall determine to gobble up Korea and gulp her down by annexation it is probable that a young man who until two years ago was an American college student will be crowned emperor of the ancient Land of the Morning Calm.

This interesting personage, well known in the United States, is Prince Eui Wha. He is the son of the Emperor Yi Huiung, who has just abdicated, and Lady On, the old emperor's chief concubine. The son of Yi Huiung and the murdered Empress Min, who as crown prince has ascended the throne from which his father stepped down, is said to be a weakling, incapable of ruling intelligently. On the other hand, young Eui Wha, despite certain escapades while in the United States, has shown that he possesses a mind capable of looking at matters almost from the western viewpoint. Conditions in Korea are so chaotic that one has no warrant for predicting what may happen, but it is generally understood that if the Japanese should desire Prince Eui Wha to reign it will be just as easy to get the new mate with it and ejaculate: "Well, I knew that fellow!" There are at least three pretty American girls who may confess before their mirrors, each and severally: "And I might have been the empress of Korea!"

There is a husky young farmer, a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., who is entitled to sneer and remark: "Hub! I liked that chap, and I can do it again!"

Soaked In Western Civilization.

For verily the career of Prince Eui Wha in the land of Uncle Sam was as the going up of a skyrocket on a Fourth of July night and even as the coming down thereof.

Eui Wha came over to this country an innocent, uninitiated, unsophisticated oriental. He matriculated in the mighty school of occidental experience. When he returned to his native peninsula, he was soaked in western civilization from tip to toe. He could talk both English and United States. He had eighty-seven suits of American clothes, with a bellowed vest for every suit, and he had experienced love denn of delight. Truly was the new world a new world for him. Cupid was king. Straightway the prince fell in love. What else could be expected? Beauty was not veiled from his vision. Soft eyes looked love. Besides, the girls welcomed the prince as a novelty. He was something new to them. A truly live prince who might some day become a real emperor was not to be ignored.

Knocked Out In a Mixup.

The American princesses flocked around the Korean prince. He was glib and winning. Then came into the arena a hard fisted farmer youth who objected to the attentions which this oriental personage was bestowing upon the fair co-eds. Perhaps the prince was making eyes at the farm lad's girl. At any rate, there was a mixup, the young American knocked the young imperial highness down and out, and the result was an international complication. The Korean diplomats at Washington requested an investigation. Our state department asked the governor of Ohio how it happened. There was an apologetic explanation, but the prince was taken away from Wesleyan and placed in Roanoke college at Salem, Va.

But Eui Wha remained at Wesleyan long enough to fall in love with a fair co-ed, Miss Angie Graham of Wheeling, W. Va. The prince made several visits to the home of Miss Graham, whose father is a clergyman. Rumors of the couple's engagement were published from time to time, but never verified.

Still another Cupid case occurred during the prince's Ohio college days. There came to the town of Delaware a beautiful girl who obtained employment in a millinery store. She tried on hats and looked lovely in them. Every hat was becoming to Miss Clara Bull, because she was pretty enough to make the ugliest bonnet a dream. So thought the prince, who passed by the store one day and saw Miss Bull. An introduction was arranged, and Eui Wha saw his Clara every day. Presently, it is said, a diamond ring blossomed on one of the fair one's fingers. There were flowers and candies and theater parties for her delectation.

Miss Bull at last returned to her home in Cincinnati. The prince gave orders to his secretary:

"Prepare for my departure at once. I am going to Cincinnati."

Arriving there the prince sent his secretary to the Bull residence. The secretary bowed a low Korean bow, or salaam, and said:

"His imperial highness desires to know if you will do him the goodness of acceding him the supreme pleasure of an interview."

"Why doesn't he come himself?" merrily asked Miss Bull.

When John Alden went to Priscilla Mullins as an emissary from Miles Standish, something very similar happened, only reversed. "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?" So Prince Eui Wha himself went and pressed his suit. But Miss Bull preferred Ohio to Korea. So faded romance No. 2.

After Eui Wha went to the Virginia college romance No. 3 came to soothe his wounded affections. In fact, it appeared that this Korean imperial heart was supplied in triplicate. Mountain Lake park is a pretty resort in western Maryland. It is in such a quiet place that the prince's watchful guardians felt no harm could come to him there. Thither went he for an outing. He had both outing and in-living—the third living. The dark blue eyes and light brown hair of Miss Mary Buttles bewitched the Korean Adonis. She was an Ohio girl, from Columbus, and just seventeen. Eui Wha beheld her in the hotel dining room and was dazzled.

"Arrange an introduction," he commanded of his secretary.

Miss Buttles was agreeable. What girl wouldn't be willing to meet a possible emperor if the imperial possibility were young, good looking, well dressed, well behaved and fancy free even though not exactly heart whole? But Miss Buttles treated Eui Wha just as she would treat a young American. She was not dazzled by the imperial glamour.

"I'm going to climb the mountain," she remarked.

"Oh, I hate walking!" exclaimed the prince. In Korea all great personages are carried everywhere in sedan chairs.

Got Sore Feet; Never Cold Ones.

Up the mountain she went, the prince trudging after. He declared that she was the first woman who ever forced him to do a thing he hated, but it made him like her better. There were many mountain climbs during the outing, the prince always attendant upon the princess. Eui Wha got sore feet, but never got cold feet. He gave an elaborate dinner in honor of Miss Buttles just before she departed for home. Then he visited her at Columbus, but No. 3 was not inclined to risk the perils of the life that falls to a Korean empress.

It was while Eui Wha was a student in Virginia that he made his memorable visit to New York. His imperial father made him an allowance of $4,000 a year during his stay in America. That was enough for Ohio or Virginia, but scarcely a suggestion of sufficiency for New York. The prince and his secretary arrived in the metropolis unannounced. New York quickly discovered that an imperial possibility was present. Prices for everything soared sky high.

The prince went to Coney Island while going through the "seeing New York" process. He spent days and days there; also nights. Coney looked upon him as a good thing. The barkers, the grifters, the card sharks, even the peanut vendors, took unvarnished toll of the imperial purse. Then there was of course an unlimited supply of the prince's chief delight—the unveiled American woman. Blondes, brunettes, chorus girls in tights, beach sprites in bathing suits, all attracted the prince's attention and subtracted his coin. He gave suppers to bevy of blonds and bunches of brunettes. Champagne went down, but the price of it went up. As a consequence the prince had to borrow. He gave his notes. At the end of the outing he had spent his allowance for ten years in advance. One firm in New York sued him for $80,000 on his notes and got judgment. The money was paid, of course, for kings can find the wherewithal. At the Korean legation in Washington it was explained this way:

"Oh, his imperial highness has merely exceeded his allowance a little—that's all!"

For a period Eui Wha was entertained at the legation, where he received advice calculated to do him good.

Prophetic Utterance.

About that time—it was in the spring of 1904—he gave out an interview in which he uttered these prophetic words, proving that wisdom may dwell even in the mind of a youth who has done Coney Island and been done:

"Of Korea I can only say that this war between Japan and Russia probably will change her whole future history. I do not even know that she will be an empire hereafter. Personally I side with Japan in the conflict. I think most of the Koreans are decidedly sympathetic in that direction. Thus, of course, we hope for a Japanese victory. In that event perhaps Korea will be allowed to remain an empire as before."

Perhaps—even yet. Perhaps this young man, if elevated to the throne, may maintain Korea as an empire. For in that same interview he uttered these worthy sentiments:

"If by any possibility I should ever ascend the throne, I should start a thoroughly new regime. There would be more western civilization introduced into Korea. We should have reforms in every department of the government. The spread of education would be the great principle upon which the government would concentrate its energies. Korea needs an intellectual awakening."

And that interview concluded with these remarks, which Japan surely should not forget:

"I admire very much the Japanese form of government. I believe it is the system which would work with success in Korea. The more I study the more there is to learn, I find, and perhaps some day I shall make it my mission to go back to Korea as the missionary of education, if not to be the ruler of the palace at Seoul."

From all this we must conclude that Prince Eui Wha of Korea learned much in America. His reputed love affairs and the Coney Island episode were merely incidental. It was only natural for him to fall in love with our American girls. Most of us do it once or oftener during life. This oriental showed excellent taste. It is even to be regretted that he could not take with him to share his reign—in the event of his elevation—an American empress who could teach Korean women and Korean men many things calculated to advance the ancient nation and could help to hold down the tottering throne and steady it.

Not So Daft After All.

Daft Tam, as he was called, wandering through the village one day, got severely bitten by the village inn dog.

Proceeding to the inn, he showed the mistress what her "dawg" had done. She was much alarmed and, putting a half crown into Tam's hand, said:

"Awa tae the doctor noo an' pay him wi' the half crown."

Tam eyed the coin, saying:

"I dinna think I'll bother wi' the doctor, but I'll keep the siller."

"For my sake gang tae him, or else ye'll gang daft."

"Hoots, wumman; ye're bletherin. Daft folk canna gang daft twice!"—Dundee Advertiser.

Pat Took the Prize.

An Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotchman were one day arguing as to which of the three countries possessed the fastest trains.

"Well," said the Englishman, "I've been in one of our trains, and the telegraph poles have been like a hedge."

"I've seen the milestones appear like tombstones," said the Scot.

"Be jabbers!" said Pat. "I was one day in a train in my country, and we passed a field of turnips and a field of carrots, also a field of cabbage and parsley, then a pond of water, and we were going that quick I thought it was broth!"

Pepys on Shakespeare.

Pepys' Diary, 1659-1690, commenting on Shakespeare's plays, says of "Midsummer Night's Dream": "It is the most insipid, ridiculous play I ever saw in my life," and upon reading "Othello, Moor of Venice," which I have hitherto esteemed a mighty good play, but having lately read the 'Adventures of Five Hours,' it seems a mean thing."

If It's Neuralgia

and those sharp, shooting, agonizing pains drive you almost crazy, take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and get relief. They drive out the pain by their soothing effect upon the nerves. When taken as directed they are harmless, and leave no bad after-effects. That's the reason they are so popular with all who use them. Your druggist can tell you what others in your locality think of them.

"I do positively think that Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best medicine ever put upon the market. I find them so restful and soothing, and without any bad after-effects. I have suffered with neuralgia so that my system would just ache and quiver, and I cannot take opiates; but I can take these tablets, and they always relieve me. No one that suffers with neuralgia need fear to take them as I know they will not form a habit, for if there was any opiate in them I could not take them. Just one in the morning when I feel bad, and I can do my work all day."

Banded About Like a Football.

Korea has been called "the cockpit of the nations." Russia, China and Japan have banded her about like a football. Japan has kicked a goal, and Korea is hers. Since the victory of Japan over Russia two years ago the grip which the island empire fastened upon Korea at the conclusion of the war with China has been tightened from day to day. Korea is now little more than a Japanese dependency. Yi Huiung, who became king in 1894 and emperor in 1897, when he declared Korea an empire, has given up the throne because Japan really rules the land.

The emperor had the audacity to send delegates to the peace conference at The Hague, with instructions to inquire into the why and wherefore of Japan's activities in the peninsula. This brought about the final rupture. In fear and trembling the emperor—in name only—stepped down. Now, in the event of Eui Wha's elevation to the throne of this very ancient if not highly honorable nation, there are many in the United States who will open their eyes to the utilits and one considerable lawsuit. His imperial highness left his divided heart in three American maidens' keeping. At Coney Island he left a blaze of high flying glory that still scintillates between the towers of Luna park and the minarets of Dreamland.

Prince Eui Wha first came to the United States in 1897, when he was a youth of seventeen. He was under the wing of a missionary. He is supposed to have gone to Japan for a few years after that, studying in the schools of that country. Then about six years ago he returned, again in missionary tow, to acquire an American education. First he became a student at the Ohio Wesleyan university. That is a coeducational school. This fact might please his highness. In Korea the co-ed is not. Boys do not associate with girls in school or elsewhere. Women do most of their visiting at night, and they go closely veiled. They are kept in seclusion most of the time.

So it happened that when this son of royalty looked upon the fresh and fair faces of the American college girls at Delaware he was enamored; he was transported into the seventeenth Al-

EX-GOVERNOR JACKSON
THE STANDARD BEARER.

was called to order by Chairman Jas. T. Truitt, of the Democratic State Central Committee, the following officers were elected: Chairman, James T. Truitt; secretary, Granville M. Catlin; assistant secretary, W. T. Vincent.

The committee on resolutions—J. T. Hayman, W. T. Banks, L. J. Gale, J. O. Adams and E. G. Davis—offered the resolutions, which are printed on page 2 of this issue.

Can Beat Jackson.

When it became known shortly before the delegates convened that ex-Governor Jackson was slated for the senatorial candidacy, there was a general expression of surprise among those not familiar with the inner workings of the organization. While he is considered a strong candidate, it is conceded that if the Republicans nominate a man for the office of the W. B. Miller or W. P. Jackson type, Wisconsin will be represented by a Republican senator in the next General Assembly. With the exception of the contest over the nomination for State's Attorney, a general spirit of harmony existed throughout the entire convention.

It was decided to send the following delegates to the state convention: E. E. Jackson, M. V. Brewington, E. G. Davis, E. S. Toadvine, Jevin J. Gale, Charles R. Cooper and Capt. James A. Turner.

the curb have become objectionable. They interfere with traffic and are anything but pretty to look at. Something should be done to have them removed."

The following comes from Mr. S. S. Smyth: "It is my understanding that the long delay has been caused by the inability of the authorities to secure the last car of pipes. It would seem, however, that something could be done to get these unsightly pipes off the street."

Mr. Alexander D. Toadvine said: "The sewer pipes on this street are not only unsightly, but cause filth and weeds to accumulate in the gutters and should, by all means, be removed."

Mr. Uriah Dickerson spoke as follows: The "standing army" has become a decided eyesore and is anything but an incentive to residents to improve their property. It would certainly seem that in six months time these gruesome looking pipes could have been put under ground."

Mr. William M. Day spoke his sentiments in this manner: "If 1,000 men armed with axes and sledge hammers, would smash every "soldier" in the "army", it would be a relief to those living on Isabella street. In many instances the grass and weeds have grown up through the pipes and the Board of Health should take a hand in the matter and demand that the pipes be removed."

Miss Dashiell Entertains.

Miss Annie E. Dashiell entertained a number of friends at a porch party yesterday morning, in honor of Miss Margaret Tice, of Haddensfield, N. J., and Miss Jane Williamson, of Baltimore. The features of the entertainment were the vocal solos rendered by Misses Tice, Morris and Toadvine and Mrs. E. C. Fulton, and the instrumental selections by Misses Williamson, Weisbach and Crew.

Besides the guests of honor, those present were Misses Morris, of Clifton Forge, Va.; Susie Crozier, of Philadelphia; Willie Lowe, Louise Perry, Julia Waller, Lucille Trussell, Lettie Leatherbury, Mary Crew, Edith Weisbach, Elsie Smith, Annie Toadvine, Frances Iry and Mesdames Clarence A. White and E. C. Fulton.

Waltersville Camp.

Waltersville M. P. campmeeting, Rev. Dorsey Blake, pastor, will be held at Bivalve Aug. 9 to 10. There are now 32 tents engaged, the largest number in the history of the camp. A commodious tabernacle is being erected, and a large attendance is anticipated. Ample accommodations are being provided for the entertainment of visitors. The following ministers have been appointed by the President of the Maryland Conference and will be in attendance: Rev. T. A. Crouse, B. P. Truitt, and R. L. Shifley, of Washington, D. C.; Rev. W. M. Jitt, of Baltimore, Rev. F. S. Cain, of Salem, Md., Rev. N. C. Clough, of Clayton, Del., Rev. W. S. Phillips, of Salisbury, and Rev. Carroll Maddox, of Hurluck, Md.

A special feature of the camp will be the singing of Mr. Luther Messick and sister, whose services have been engaged. The Messicks are singers of national reputation, and their talent is well known in this, their native county. Evangelist John M. Baker, of Baltimore, is expected to attend.

MR. E. E. TWILLEY RESIGNS AS MEMBER OF COUNCIL.

Was President Of That Body At Time Of Resignation—No Specific Reason Given For His Action. Vacancy Unfilled.

The resignation of Mr. E. E. Twilley, as a member of the City Council, and president of that body, which was laid before the Council at its meeting last Monday night, came as a surprise to the citizens of Salisbury. Mr. Twilley stated that he desired that his resignation take effect at once, but that he would serve on the councilmanic board until the first meeting night in September, in order that a councilman to fill his place might be appointed in the meantime. This gives the Mayor and Council 30 days notice.

Mr. Twilley gives no specific reason for his action, except to state that his official duties require more time and attention than he feels that he can afford to give. He also states that he consented to remain a member of the Council at the last election because of the proposed street paving project which was then under consideration, and that as it is evident that this improvement has been indefinitely postponed, he desires to sever his connection with the city.

As the office of councilman is a thankless one at its best, it is probable that the city will experience considerable trouble in securing a citizen to fill the vacancy, and it is not known at present who will be appointed by the Council. A new president will also have to be elected, and it is likely that Mr. W. U. Polk will be chosen for this position.

Mr. Twilley entered upon his councilmanic duties in June, 1906, at the time the contract was awarded for the paving of Main, Dock and Division streets, and it was largely through his efforts that the work was expeditiously carried on. He has taken an active interest in the city's welfare and many important improvements have been made for the public good during his incumbency.

Mr. Twilley was foremost in the action of the Council which annulled the franchise of the defunct Salisbury Gas Company, which had been granted by his predecessors and granted a franchise to the Home Gas Company. This company has already spent thousands of dollars for plant and equipment and is pushing the work with a view of an early completion. He had been a member of the City Council just one year at the time he handed in his resignation.

Storehouse And Residence Burned.

A disastrous fire, entailing a loss of about $12,000 occurred in this city Tuesday morning shortly after eight o'clock, when the large store room and dwelling owned and occupied by Mr. Louis P. Coulbourn was totally destroyed. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

The fire originated in the summer kitchen of the residence which adjoined the larger building used as a cold storage and meat market. The local fire department responded promptly to the call, but despite the strenuous efforts of the firemen, the flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the entire building. The flames were confined, however, to the Coulbourn properties and no damage was done to the surrounding buildings. Mr. Coulbourn saved only a part of his household goods, but was successful in removing all of the produce from the cold storage.

It is said that the fire was caused by an oil stove in the hands of an inexperienced cook. It was in this building, now completely burned, that Mr. Coulbourn is said to have conducted a speakeasy, for which offence he is now under bail for his appearance at the September term of the Circuit Court.

The insurance on the property destroyed amounts to $7,300.00, as follows:

Dwelling and furniture—Commercial Union, of London, $1,200.00; Cecil Mutual, of Elkton, $1,200.00; Phoenix, of Hartford, $500.00.

On Armory Building—Northern Assurance Co., of Trenton, $1,000.00; Oriental Insurance Co., of New York, $1,000.00; Springfield Insurance Co., of Massachusetts, $1,000.00; Phoenix Insurance Co., of Brooklyn, $200.00.

On gasoline engine and refrigerating plant—Girard Insurance Co., of Philadelphia, $1,200.00.

STREET PAVING TAX TO BE TESTED IN COURT?

Assessment Tax For Improvements Has Not Been Paid In Many Instances—Suits May Be Brought To Test Legality Of Law.

Property owners of the city of Salisbury are awaiting with considerable interest the outcome of the suits which are to be brought against the city, it is said, by Mrs. Estelle Powell and Mr. Levin A. Parsons, in their endeavor to avoid the payment of the tax assessed by the city for paving the streets in front of their respective properties. Mrs. Powell and Mr. Parsons are the only people assessed who have purposely withheld the payment, and if, after the cases have been tested in the courts it should be found that the tax is irregular and that the assessment is not according to law, it would be necessary for the Council to refund all money collected.

It is said that Alonzo Miles, Esq., of Baltimore, has been retained by the plaintiffs and everything will be done to test the law giving corporations the right to tax individual property holders instead of making a levy on all persons owning property within the corporate limits for an improvement which indirectly is a benefit to the entire municipality.

An exact parallel case has never been tested in the courts and in case the properties are sold, as advertised, to satisfy the assessment for the street improvement, it is believed that suit will immediately be brought against the city of Salisbury.

A number of other property owners, particularly among the colored residents on East Church street, have not paid the assessment and it is thought that these people, who have heard of the alleged suits, and can afford to pay, are waiting the opinion of the courts. In many instances, however, among the poorer colored people who own their own property, the payment has not been made on account of the lack of funds, and not an unwillingness to make the payment. If, in the opinion of the courts, the tax is regular, it is probable that nearly all of these properties will have to be sold to satisfy the assessment.

Among those upon whom the tax for the street paving fell the heaviest are Hon. William H. Jackson, Mr. W. C. Gullett and Solomon Huston, colored, who own considerable property on East Church street.

Bridge Contract Awarded.

The County Commissioners, in awarding the contract for the Tony Tank bridge, at the meeting Tuesday, granted a long felt need of the residents of that section of the county. The contract was awarded to Mr. O. S. Lloyd for $950.00, and it was stated after the meeting that the work would be started at the earliest possible moment. The contract calls for a wooden draw bridge and a new structure will be built instead of using the bridge which is now at the foot of Main street, this city, as was previously contemplated. According to an agreement made several years ago between the Commissioners and the property owners who will be benefited by the bridge, the new road will at once be put into shape by those interested, which will shorten the distance between Salisbury and Shad Point nearly two miles.

Lightning Wrecks Dwelling.

During the severe thunder storm which prevailed in Salisbury yesterday afternoon, the house occupied by Mr. Frank Booth on East Vine street was struck by lightning and the building was completely wrecked. The plaster was torn from the walls in all of the seven rooms, and a large lamp in the parlor was broken into atoms and scattered all over the premises. Some of the framing was knocked out and the crash greatly alarmed the neighbors. Fortunately no one was at home at the time and there was no one injured.

JACKSON JOINED SMITH TO NOMINATE CROTHERS.

Democratic Convention Was A Fight From Start To Finish—Nomination For Comptroller Goes To Dr. J. W. Herring, Of Carroll.

The following State ticket was nominated after a hard fight in the Democratic Convention in Baltimore Thursday afternoon and evening:

FOR GOVERNOR—Austin L. Crothers, of Cecil county.

FOR COMPTROLLER—Dr. Joshua W. Herring, of Carroll county.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL—Isaac Lobe Straus, of Baltimore city.

FOR CLERK OF COURT OF APPEALS—C. C. Magruder, of Prince George's county.

When Ex-Governor E. E. Jackson and the delegation from Wicomico united with the John Walter Smith forces and joined in the fight for the nomination of Judge Crothers for Governor, it was probably because Governor Jackson had been told by Governor Smith that he would be charged with the defeat if Crothers did not receive the nomination. Anyway, it was immediately after a talk between these two Ex-Governors in which such a conversation is said to have taken place, that Jackson sent word to his delegates in the convention telling them that he had reconsidered and advised a switch to the Cecil county Judge.

This practically took all of the candidates out of the field except Crothers and Baker, of Frederick county. In the interval, however, between the afternoon and night sessions, many conferences were held and it was decided that, as the Baltimore city delegates could not come to any agreement as to a candidate, they would support Crothers for the nomination. This conclusion was reached after former Governor Jackson had declared that the city should substitute a candidate in the place of Mr. Henry Williams, and after former Governor Brown had declared for Crothers.

At the adjourned session which convened shortly after eight o'clock, the nominee had practically been slated, and only one vote was taken, resulting in the nomination of Crothers with 113 votes and only 65 necessary for a choice.

There was also apparently considerable opposition to the nomination of Mr. Thomas Perry, of this county, for the office of Comptroller, and the first ticket which was put out by the convention in which he was slated for the nomination, was put entirely out of business when the Jackson delegation joined forces with the Smith crowd, in their determination to nominate Crothers. For with a Cecil county nominee for the Governorship, a nominee from the Eastern Shore for Comptroller was out of the question, although it is understood that if Governor Jackson had held out, he could have secured Mr. Perry's nomination without difficulty.

The Convention had little trouble with the balance of the ticket and Mr. Isaac Lobe Straus was unanimously chosen for Attorney-General. There was some little discussion over the nomination of a Comptroller, but after a little squabble, the convention decided on Dr. Joshua W. Herring, former Comptroller, of Carroll county. The nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, as usual went to Southern Maryland, and Mr. C. C. Magruder, of Prince George's county, was chosen.

The platform adopted at the convention treats of the corrupt practices act, deals extensively with the oyster culture of Maryland, and in it is embodied a call for a constitutional convention. The immigration and public road planks are also brought out conspicuously in the platform and there is also a lengthy provision for the State issues in the present campaign.

The action of Ex-Governor Jackson in going over to his former opponent, John Walter Smith, eventually means the burying of the hatchet between these two leaders, and Democratic harmony in the Eastern Shore counties. It also inadvertently makes Smith the recognized leader of Democratic politics in the State of Maryland.

Meeting Of Commissioners.

Commissioner Johnson reported to the Board, Tuesday, no sale of Wicomico Creek Ferry, as he had not heard from the Somerset Commissioners. He also reported the examination of the walls of shoemaker mill dam, and thought them satisfactory.
A delegation composed of George Mills and son, Geo. Walston and others, was before the Board asking that the Jones or Hastings mill dam be condemned on account of the dangerous condition of the bridges.
Capt. Samuel Jackson, of Barren Creek District, was before the Board and paid the taxes on Sankey's Island marsh and had it assessed to him.
The Board agreed to pay R. P. Bailey $125 to repair the Shoemaker mill dam, to be paid when same is completed and accepted.
The Board contracted with Otis S. Lloyd to build the bridge over Tony Tank Creek for $950.00, the work to begin at once.
The report of the commission to lay out and condemn the Connolly mill dam was filed.

Bold Attempt Of Negro.

About 10.30 o'clock Monday morning a bold attempt was made by a negro to hold up Mr. Ernest M. Holland, a merchant of Redland, while on his way to Rockville to deposit money in bank. The attempted holdup occurred about half way between Redland and Derwood, at a place densely shaded by trees, near the crossing of a small stream. The negro came running from the woods, calling for Mr. Holland to halt, when the latter took a revolver from the buggy seat beside him and fired at his assailant, who turned and fled in an opposite direction.
Mr. Holland had put his horse at rapid speed when he heard the man shout to him to halt and saw him running toward him, and in his excited condition shot wide of the mark, and also failed to note closely the appearance of his assailant. He is only able to say that the man answers the description of the highwayman who shot and robbed Chas. L. Souder, the Virginia schoolmaster, near Redland, about a month ago. The negro is thought to be Souder's assailant.

"CALL" FOR PEOPLES MEETING.

Peoples Mutual Oil Company To Be Organized In The Near Future—Opposed To The Trusts.

The time has come, when the masses of the people can legally obtain the great volume of money, that has, in the past, been illegally appropriated by the Trusts. The courts have put an end to the arbitrary rule of the Standard Oil Co. Now the PEOPLE can make the millions, instead of the Standard Oil Co., if they only will.
God, in His unbounded generosity, has deposited immense reservoirs of oil, not under the lands of a favored few, but under the hills and valleys where dwell the masses of the people. From Ocean to Ocean, from Gulf unto the ice bound North, this wealth of oil and gas seems to be promiscuously scattered, so that all may be benefitted by the comforts which it supplies, and enriched by pumping it from the bowels of the earth and disposing of it in the markets of the world.
In order to start a movement in which we can all, by investing a few dollars, receive as great returns as have the Standard Oil Co., we ask every man and woman in the States of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Michigan, who desires to unite in organizing a Peoples Mutual Oil Co., to send name and address to Mr. J. M. McInerney, Room 1120, Farmers Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. McInerney has consented to act as temporary Secretary, until a permanent organization is effected.
Pittsburgh, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio, are the most centrally located cities for these States. Kindly state in your letter in which of the two cities you would favor holding the first meeting.
Every patriotic citizen, who is opposed to Trust rule, should send in name and address and exert all the influence possible, in starting this Peoples Movement. It costs you nothing, but may be very remunerative.
We now have an equal chance with the Standard Oil Co., but if we want our share of the millions the Standard Oil Co. has been getting, we must improve the opportunity now offered us by the Government. We must ORGANIZE and ACT.
Please send in your name and address at once and as soon as one thousand names have been received, each person will be notified which city has been selected by the majority, in which to hold the first meeting, and the date of the meeting will be given.
As this is to be an organization of the People, FOR the People and BY the People, EVERYBODY is invited to attend the first meeting and assist in organizing and electing officers. This will be an organization in which the poor will have an equal chance with the rich. An organization in which "Honesty and Justice" will be the Motto. An organization in which the stenographer, the clerk and the mechanic, will receive the same consideration as the banker and capitalist, for certainly the poor and those of moderate means, are entitled to own organization in which their interests will be held sacred and their rights secured. We expect the farming districts to assist largely in organizing this movement, and ask farmers and their wives and daughters to send in their names and addresses, even if they know they cannot attend the meeting, as every name gives encouragement to the movement, and we extend a special invitation to the ladies.
A successful organization of this kind can only be perfected through the aid of the newspapers, in the above States. We therefore send a copy of this call for a meeting, to the leading newspapers in each State, and would be glad if each editor would add a few encouraging words in connection with the publication of the Call, and we will of course send a report of proceedings at each meeting to all these papers.
By order of the Peoples Committee.

Certificates Granted.

At a meeting of the Howard county School Board teachers' certificates were granted to the following: Misses Viola Langford, Inez Griffin, Mary Vassant, Esther Selby, M. Arleen Ronche, Ella B. Hanagan and Mabel F. Jones.
Scholarships to State Normal School. Miss Beulah Johnson and Miss Roberta Thompson; Charlotte Hall Academy, Herbert S. Gaither; St. Mary's Female Seminary, Mary F. Williams. Miss Elva B. Harrington was appointed assistant teacher of School No. 7, Third district. Miss Inez Griffin was appointed teacher of School No. 1, Fifth district. The contract for building the public school near Glenely Third district, which was destroyed by fire some time ago, was awarded to George Wolfe for $678.

SOMERSET OYSTER BOTTOMS.

Oystermen Make Endeavor to Retain Bottoms Already Planted—Dredging Forbidden In The River.

The Shellfish Commission is completing its work at Crisfield, and Mr. Emory, assistant engineer, is in that town consulting with the leaseholders of the lots taken up under the old law. Quite a number of leaseholders have taken up more oyster ground than the law allows, have planted oysters and are making some trouble in trying to hold these bottoms. Mr. Emory says they do so at their own risk, as these lots will be plotted and leased to other parties.
Most of the bottoms in Annapessex river available for planting purposes have already been taken up and seeded and some of the planters are finding the business very profitable. There will not be the same trouble here as in Anne Arundel county, as all the bottoms that are suitable for planting purposes will be taken up, and as soon as the commission has finished its work and the grounds that are declared vacant are known to the public there will be a large number of oysters taken from the planting grounds because a number of planters have oysters that will be matured this season.
The only trouble that oyster planters will experience will be in protecting their oysters from raids by the dredgers and crabbers who are opposed to oyster planting. The whole Annapessex river was at one time a natural oyster rock, and all it needs is to be seeded with small oysters and shells and again the river will be a source of great revenue to the town. As it is now depleted of oysters and it is not even profitable to work and does not support a dozen people, it seems ridiculous to oppose planting in the river.
Another hardship is the law forbidding dredging in the river. This law is useless. It does not protect the tonger, because oysters are so scarce in the river that very few tongers work in it any longer. It might have been all right in years past, but it is now only an obstruction.

Fastest Steamer On Chesapeake Bay.

To accommodate the extra travel to the Jamestown Exposition, the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad Company has placed in service its new steamer "Maryland" between Cape Charles and Norfolk. This vessel, which cost $260,000 is one of the finest crafts of her kind, developed on her trial trip a speed of nineteen (19) miles per hour, making her the fastest steamer plying on Chesapeake Bay.
In dimension she is a sister ship to the "Pennsylvania," but the passenger accommodations have been greatly enlarged and improved on the "Maryland." The main feature is the dining room, on the main deck, which will accommodate ninety-four (94) persons. Large windows on either side give patrons an unobstructed view of the Bay whilst dining, and the room is finished in light colors, making the surroundings most attractive.
There are smoking rooms and toilet facilities on the main deck, and also upon the upper deck which is given over exclusively to passenger accommodations. A portion of this deck is enclosed, making a light and commodious saloon. A number of staterooms and ample toilet accommodations are also supplied on this deck.
The kitchen and pantry arrangements are of the largest pattern. The entire steamer is lighted by electricity, and it is propelled by twin screws.

Huckleberries Profitable.

The huckleberry crop of Wicomico county this season will place several thousand dollars into the hands of people who need it. These berries grow wild in the swamps and are gathered mostly by the women and children. Prices this season have ranged from 7 to 10 cents per quart.

The greatest huckleberry sections in Wicomico county are Pittsburg, Dennis, Parsons and Trappe Districts. The country stores buy the berries in large quantities and ship them to the Northern cities. The income to many families which have several children is quite large from the sale of huckleberries, and not only clothes the children, but gives the family summer outings to Ocean City and campmeetings.
Last year the crop was a failure, but this year it is all that can be desired and the berries are fine.

The Heart Beats of the Business World

When you hear the hum of Oliver Typewriters, you are listening to the very heart-beats of the business world.

Day in and day out, year in and year out, the Oliver throbs with the pulse of business life.

The Oliver is the rapid-fire machine gun by means of which the Captains of Industry—restless, tireless, impatient of delay—pour business broadsides into the ranks of "the other side."

In every branch of business—Railroad, Banking, Manufacturing, Merchandising, Publishing—in the professions—everywhere.

The OLIVER Typewriter

The Standard Visible Typewriter is close to the heart of things. It's the telegraph or telephone for emergencies, but the Oliver ALL THE TIME.

The Oliver Typewriter Co.
12 E. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md.

The Oliver runs with ease and precision, and has wonderful capacity for speed. It prints with a downward stroke, with beautiful type that cannot get out of line.

For straight correspondence, for complicated tabulating and billing, for manifolded, stencil cutting, vertical or horizontal line ruling, writing in colors, making records on the stiffest, stoutest cards,—the Oliver is equally efficient.

The Oliver is a machine that dovetails into every department, saving the expense of Billing Machines, Book Typewriters, Etc. It will yield big dividends of satisfaction by adding to the accuracy and beauty of your business letters.

It will pay you in dollars and cents to Oliverize your business. It will be a pleasure to us to send you the Oliver book—it will do you good to read it.

Free Course in Practical Salesmanship

A few young men of character and ability can become local agents for the Oliver Typewriter, by making application immediately. Local agents earn all the way from $300 a year (working part time) to $500 per month (full time). We give each local agent a course in Practical Salesmanship, under the trained sales experts of our organization. If you wish to learn actual salesmanship, send in your application at once. This is your opportunity to earn a handsome salary and gain a knowledge of Practical Salesmanship that will be of inestimable value.

Let us send you a free copy of our book, "The Oliver School of Practical Salesmanship." This little book is only for those who mean business—not for the idly curious. Do you mean business? Then write quickly!

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $134,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes. It receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Open an account with us, no harm can possibly result.

YOUNG WOMAN A SUICIDE.

Plaited Skein Silk Into Rope With Which She Hanged Herself To Bed Post—Mind Unbalanced.

While in a state of temporary aberration of the mind, Miss Frances Cardiner Weekes, 29 years old, committed suicide at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. J. Schneck S. Remsen, at Hackett's Point, near Annapolis, the old homestead of the Moss family, about 10 miles from the State capital Tuesday.

Miss Weekes plaited skein silk into a rope, with which she hanged herself to the bedpost in her room. Her body was found dangling alongside of the bed at 3:30 o'clock.

She had laid her plans well, for when members of Mr. Remsen's family began the search for her the door to her room was found locked. This gave the first suspicion that something had happened. The door was forced and the lifeless body of Miss Weekes was seen suspended from the head of the bed. It is supposed she had been dead for at least half an hour.

Miss Weekes' mind had been unsteady for some time and it is said that on several occasions she had made unsuccessful attempts to end her life. The latest of these was within the last few weeks, when Miss Weekes was in bathing on the bay shore with several other persons. She could not swim and it is said she tried to get beyond her depth and drown, but her companions were watchful and brought her to shore safely.

Miss Weekes was a native of South Carolina and her body will be taken there for burial. She was a woman of considerable talent in music and writing and her devotion to these is said to have weakened her mind.

Mr. Remsen, brother-in-law of Miss Weekes, is of New York. He recently purchased the Hackett's Point farm from the late James B. Moss. He took possession of it in January last and Miss Weekes had been living there for about two months.

In Favor Of Galther.

The Washington County Republican Convention, in session less than an hour Tuesday afternoon in the Junior Hall Hagerstown unanimously chose 30 delegates to the State Convention in Baltimore August 14, as follows:

Charles W. Adams, John B. Beard, Alexander R. Hagner, Norman B. Scott, Jr., Charles D. Waggaman, Charles C. Dennis, Capt. Leander H. Kuhn, George A. Davis, Henry A. McComas, F. G. Waggaman, Joseph W. Wolfinger, Dr. C. D. Baker, S. H. Norris, E. K. Meentzer, A. B. Bingham, G. H. Sprecher, J. A. Hoffman, G. M. Fisher, Daniel W. Doub, George W. Harshaw, Daniel D. Keedy, Grafton Down, Dr. C. R. Scheller, Harry E. Baker, James B. Kreps, Edward L. Seigman, T. A. Brown, James Waltz, William H. A. Hamilton and Scott M. Wolfinger.

The delegates were not instructed, although it understood they are for George R. Galther for Governor if he will take the nomination, and if he will not the delegates, which will vote as a unit, having six votes in the convention, will probably be for Phillips Lee Goldsborough.

On motion of Charles W. Adams the present State Central Committee for Washington county was re-elected by acclamation—Charles D. Waggaman, William U. Ronette, Capt. Leander H. Kuhn, Dr. W. M. Nihiser, John W. Cable, Jr., and Abner B. Bingham. The meeting was called to order by Chas. D. Waggaman, chairman of the State Central Committee. Alexander Armstrong, Jr., was unanimously chosen chairman and Ray F. Rohrer secretary. The convention was harmonious throughout, not a discordant note being heard. No resolutions were offered.

Big Company Formed.

The Croft Lumber Company, with a capital stock of $100,000, was organized in Cumberland recently. The officers of the company are: President, J. H. Henderson, of Pittsburg, director and sales manager of the Kendall Lumber Company and vice-president of the Huston Lumber Company and Ohio Pyle Company; vice-president, George D. Browning, an independent lumber operator; treasurer, W. W. Bond, of Bond, Md., general superintendent of the Durbin Lumber Company; secretary, P. C. Barnes, of Cumberland. A. A. Boub, also of Cumberland, was made the attorney. The other directors are: Robert A. Ravenscroft, of Oakland, president of the Ravenscroft Lumber and Manufacturing Company; S. A. Kendall, vice-president of the Kendall Coal and Coke Company; J. L. Kendall, of Pittsburg, president of the Kendall Lumber Company; the H. C. Huston Lumber Company and director of the First National Bank of Connelville. This company has taken over several thousand acres of timberland in Virginia, estimated to cut 60,000,000 feet of lumber, and a committee was appointed to go on the land at once and determine upon mill sites, rights of way and arrange for railroad connections.

The Commission urges applicants to file applications without delay, but in any event not later than six days prior to the date of the examination.

Mr. T. A. Joyner Resigns.

Announcement was made Thursday of the resignation of Mr. T. A. Joyner, superintendent of steamboat lines of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, to take effect at once. The position has been abolished, and the duties thereof will be assumed by the general manager for the time being. It was stated that Mr. Joyner's resignation was asked for by higher officials in the company.

Mr. Joyner has been connected with the steamboat service for about 40 years. He was with the Eastern Shore Steamboat Company before the consolidation of all the Pennsylvania lines, when he was made superintendent. By some it is thought his resignation means the reorganization of the management of the B. C. & A. There have been rumors about that the B. C. & A. and the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railways would be merged with the Delaware line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, running South from Wilmington, Del., and placed under the management of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad.

Later—The following statement in reference to the Joyner resignation was given out by Capt. Thomson Saturday: "Mr. Joyner has not quit the service of the Company for good, and as soon as he has had a chance to regain his health he will be found again in the employ of this company in some other capacity than that of superintendent. I do not intend to leave the employ of the Company, either, and the rumors to that effect are unfounded."

Instructed For Goldsborough.

The Republican County Convention met in Phillips Hall, Cambridge, Tuesday and endorsed Phillips Lee Goldsborough for Governor of the State. Dr. Edgar A. Jones, of Lakes district, was appointed chairman, and Dr. W. H. Houston, secretary. By formal resolution Mr. Goldsborough was given the privilege of naming the delegates from the county to the Republican State Convention in Baltimore Wednesday, August 14, and the delegates were instructed to do all in their power to secure the nomination of Mr. Goldsborough for Governor.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous In Salisbury.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. C. W. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back failed me. I was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. The secretions annoyed me, and showed plainly the dormant condition of my kidneys. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating, caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended, so I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store, used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

In Memoriam.

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not," saith our Savior, when he called little Beryl Johnson, the infant daughter of Erving and Sallie Owens, of Sharptown, Sunday, July 14, 1907, aged one year and seventeen days.

All that human skill and tender nursing by loved ones was resorted to, but the grim monster death could not be stayed.

She was indeed a beautiful child and loved by all who knew her, as the flower offerings bespoke, her little casket was covered.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Johnson at the home, after which her little body was carried by four little boys to the M. P. churchyard and laid beside her little departed sister.

Dear mother and father, those little graves side by side note the resurrection of two precious lambs through the blood and amid your sorrows and bereavements, stop and look upward and behold your babies Rachel and Beryl stand with outstretched hands, waiting and beckoning you onward and upward to the living God. May we all meet there.

Hold her little hands together,
Close her bright and loving eyes;
See how like a broken lily,
Pale and beautiful she lies;

Heaven now retaineth one more treasure,
Faith alone her casket keeps;
And the sunbeams love to linger,
Where our little darling Beryl now sleeps.

Around her little grave mama and papa linger,
Till the setting sun is low;
Feeling all their hopes have perished,
Because they loved Beryl so.

Romantic Marriage.

William John Kreiger and Miss Elizabeth Scherer, both of Johnstown, Pa., were married at Cumberland today, the marriage having a romantic turn. One week ago they arrived in Cumberland and asked for a license, only to be refused because the young man lacked father's consent. Mr. Kreiger's father is dead, and when he telegraphed his mother for consent she wired back: "You can get married, but must do so in a Johnstown church."

When he received the message Kreiger said "I'll wait here until I have another birthday." This he did, and today they were married. They left for Johnstown.

Republican Primaries NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the Republican voters of Wicomico County, to meet at their usual voting places in their respective districts, on

for the purpose of holding primaries to select three delegates from each district
to attend the County Convention to be held in Salisbury, at the Court House,
at 10 o'clock a. m., Tuesday, August 13th, 1907, which said Convention will elect delegates, having four votes, to
the Republican State Convention, to be held in Baltimore on Wednesday, August 14th, 1907, which said Convention
will nominate candidates for Governor,
Comptroller, Attorney General and
Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The said County Convention is also to nominate a county ticket, to be composed of one State Senator, three Delegates to the General Assembly, one State's Attorney, one County Treasurer,
three County Commissioners, one Sheriff,
three Judges of the Orphans' Court and one surveyor, to be voted for next November.

In case of contest the polls should be held open from two to five o'clock, and
each side contesting will select one
judge and together with the person
hereinafter designated will constitute
the three judges, who will certify, by order of the State Central Committee,
the result of said primaries.

The following persons are hereby designated to call the primaries to order in the respective districts of the county:

No. 1—Barren Creek, Levin A. Wilson.
No. 2—Quantico, James O. Wilson.
No. 3—Tvaakin, Albert L. Wingate.
No. 4—Pittsburg, Joseph L. Truitt.
No. 5—Parsons, John H. Tomlinson.
No. 6—Dennis, Wilmer C. Collins.

No. 11—Delmar, Daniel H. Foskey.
No. 12—Nanticoke, Thomas J. Walter.
No. 13—Camden, M. A. Humphreys.
No. 14—Willards, Lemuel B. Duane.

WILLIAM H. JACKSON,
WILLIAM H. KNOWLES,
JOHN H. TOMLINSON,
JAMES O. WILSON,
Republican State Central Committee
for Wicomico County.

A Golden Opportunity.

There is every reason why the Republicans should succeed in the local election in Wicomico County this fall, provided a ticket is placed in the field which will command the respect of the voters in general.

The party has an opportunity this year which seldom comes to it, in view of the overwhelming Democratic sentiment which formerly manifested itself in this county. In recent years, however, the old time majorities have been almost entirely wiped out, and the Democratic party has been carrying the county by pluralities which have been reduced to a slender thread. This year there is an unrest in the party which has been apparent for months, and a large number of the people feel that the time has come when a change should be made for the general good of the community. The ticket which was recently nominated was not such as to inspire that degree of confidence in the party in general which would quiet the unrest which has so prominently manifested itself in the last few months, and bring together the various elements which have been at variance with each other.

The nomination of Ex-Governor
E. B. Jackson was so clearly a subterfuge that it has not been taken seriously by a large proportion of the voters, Democratic and Republican. It has been constantly stated by prominent men of both parties that he was nominated merely for the sake of harmony, and it was distinctly understood that he was to withdraw from the ticket later and allow the vacancy to be filled by the State Central Committee. It is well known that Governor Jackson has been in ill health for months, and physically is not fitted either for the campaign or for the discharge of the duties and responsibilities of the office in case he should be elected.

Under these conditions it is little wonder that a large number of voters in the county today are looking to the Republican party to place in the field a ticket of sufficient strength to bring together not only the dissatisfied voters in the Democratic party, but the independent element which year after year has been growing larger and larger, until today it holds the balance of power in this, as in nearly every other county, in the State.

The Republican party has a golden opportunity next Tuesday, and, with a strong, clean ticket, such as we believe will be nominated, success is already assured and a complete and sweeping victory will undoubtedly be achieved.

The Unfortunate Condition Of Parsons Cemetery.

It might not be out of order to suggest that more care and attention be paid to the appearance of the grounds by those in charge of Parsons Cemetery. There is hardly a family in Salisbury which is not vitally interested in having the cemetery properly and prettily cared for.

Years ago when a number of persons were on the eve of laying out extensive grounds in Camden, the movement was, as we understand, bitterly opposed by the owners of the present cemetery, and arrangements were made to extend the borders and provide better and more suitable facilities for the public in general. For some time after the new company was formed, there was a noticeable difference in the methods employed in taking care of the grounds, but in recent years there has been a marked carelessness in everything pertaining to the general appearance of the place. The paths are not kept in the condition they should be, and the roadways look at times more like a veritable dumping ground than otherwise.
Piles of unsightly ashes are strewn carelessly from side to side, and the place becomes a disgrace to the owners and a discredit to the town. Even the pump has been allowed to become utterly useless and worthless and when flowers are carried out, the parties taking them are compelled to obtain the necessary water from adjoining properties.

Many towns much smaller than Salisbury have cemeteries which are kept in almost perfect condition, and there is no reason why a place of this character should not be one of the most beautiful spots in the whole city. In the larger cities, there is unusual pride taken in the various cemeteries by the citizens and those who have them in charge, and most of them are veritable flower gardens. More attention is paid to trees and shrubbery and constant efforts are made toward beautifying the grounds. There is no reason why such should not be the case here, and it is to be hoped that a marked change for the better will take place.

Governor Jackson's Position.

We really hope our Democratic friends are imbued with that degree of pardonable pride in their Senatorial nominee which should actuate all the truly faithful.

The flippant way the Ex-Governor tossed around this nomination in Baltimore during the past week was decidedly refreshing and positively awe-inspiring—this nomination, if you please, for the highest and most important office in the gift of the people of this county. The Ex-Governor evidently regards the whole affair as a huge joke. We knew the people in general were not inclined to take the situation seriously, but we had supposed the nominee was himself sincere until his now famous interview in Baltimore at the gathering of the leaders from the various parts of the State.

You see, it's like this! When the Governor got to the city, the old gubernatorial bee, by which he had once been stung, commenced to buzz in what ought to have been a small Senatorial bonnet (he has had a big Senatorial bonnet for a number of years), and he was asked in case of a general mix-up, whether or not he would come to the rescue of the confused forces of a leaderless Democracy. "No," snavely replied the "Sage of Wicomico," with a smile, "I'm not a candidate for any office." Whereupon he was suddenly reminded of the Wicomico nomination, and immediately his gubernatorial dignity was fearfully offended, and, swelling with righteous indignation, he promptly replied that he had not accepted a place on the ticket and did not know that he would.

The situation might be reduced to a deadly parallel something like this:

On The Eve Of The COUNTY Convention.

SCENE: Gov. Jackson's residence, Salisbury.

Ex-Gov. — "Well,
gentlemen, I'm for harmony. I believe the nomination for the Senate of Mr.
Robinson."

Sen. Brewington. —
"No, Governor, I'll be — If any Robinson or any other man in Wicomico except you or myself goes on that ticket. If you take it, I guess you'll have to have it, and that's all there is to it."

Ex-Gov. — "Oh,
I'll take it."
Whereupon proper instructions were sent down the line, and the Senatorial slate went through.

STATE Convention.

SCENE: Hotel Ren-nert, Baltimore.

Ex-Gov. — "Well,
gentlemen, I'm for harmony. I believe the nomination in the interest of all concerned."

A Friend. — "Governor, it has been intimated that you might possibly accept this gubernatorial nomination in the interest of all concerned."

Ex-Gov. (smilingly). —
"No, I'm not a candidate for any office."

The Friend. — "But, Governor, you have already accepted the nomination, and I don't know that I will."

Ex-Gov. (excitedly). —
"No, I ain't. I ain't accepted the nomination, and I don't know that I will."

Editorial Jottings.

One of our prosperous farmers in Rockwalkin recently called at the office and wanted us to inquire who was in charge of the flourishing pea patch in front of the Court House. He seemed to think someone was exceedingly successful in their endeavors at farming.

Messrs. Walter B. Miller and William M. Day, of this county, have been quite prominently mentioned in connection with the Comptrollership nomination next Wednesday, and either would make a most excellent candidate and fill the office with honor and credit in case of an election. The delegates from this county should go to the Convention in Baltimore next week with the determination of bringing this nomination to Wicomico, in case the Governor-ship goes to the Western Shore.

The Cambridge Record really ought to wake up. We knew the place was slow and news from the outer world filtered in with difficulty, but surely our esteemed contemporary ought not to require nearly a year to ascertain the fact that the late A. J. Benjamin is not still the Superintendent of the B.
C. & A. Railway Company, as an unsuspecting public might be led to believe from its weekly issues.
For its information, we would respectfully suggest that Messrs. W.
Upshur Polk and I. E. Jones, of this city, have long since been appointed respectively Superintendent and Division Freight and Passenger Agent of this company, and it might seem that the editor could wake up long enough to make the necessary changes, even if he were immediately compelled to take another Rip Van Winkle sleep.

—Father Mickle will say mass at Salisbury Sunday, August 11th, at 9 a. m. On account of the heat there will be no evening services.

—Merion, the eighteen-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Rodney Jones, died Saturday morning. The remains were interred in Parsons Cemetery Monday morning.

—The South Baltimore Business Men's Association made its annual excursion to Ocean City last Tuesday. A special train carrying more than 800 people, was run from Claiborne to Ocean City.

—Mr. Marion A. Carey, of Salisbury, and Miss Della McGrath, of Crisfield, were married Wednesday, the ceremony taking place in the morning, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. McGrath.

—Mr. J. Ernest Moore has begun to make some improvements to his residence on Broad Street. The building has been raised about three feet higher from the ground. A back building and front porch will be added.

—At a recent meeting of the School Board Mr. Norman Smith, one of the graduates of the Wicomico High School, class of '07, was granted a permit to teach Truitt's school, in Pittsburg district, the trustees having asked for his services.

—The attendance at Hebron camp-meeting last Sunday was estimated at 2,500 to 3,000, people going from all sections of this county. The weather was very pleasant. The B., C. & A. Ry. carried about 900 passengers to the camp during the day.

—The annual excursion of the Sunday School of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will take place Tuesday, August 20, 1907. The usual prices for tickets, (90 and 45 cents) will prevail and excursionists will be allowed to return at ten o'clock.

—Having given out about all the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia territory for Lott's Rapid Steam Washer, I have secured the general agency for a few good counties in the Eastern part of Virginia, and have a good proposition for a few hustling agents. E. W. Truitt, Salisbury, Md.

—The Sunday School of St. Peter's P. E. Church will go to Ocean City on their annual excursion, Tuesday, Aug. 13th. Ticket, good on all trains during the day and good to return on the special moonlight train leaving Ocean City at 10:00 p. m. Tickets round trip, 90 cents; children half fare.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Williams and son Everett, will leave next Wednesday morning for New York, where they will visit Mr. Williams' sister-in-law, Mrs. J. M. Williams. Later they expect to leave for Boston and Saratoga Springs, returning by the Hudson river route. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

—With an increase of from 15 to 25 per cent in the planting of the tomato crop in this vicinity this year, there is every indication that the yield will be larger than any previous season. At present this vegetable is bringing a good price on the market and from the present outlook there will be an exceedingly large pack.

—According to the statement of Division Passenger Agent I. E. Jones, of the B. C. & A. Railway Company, there will be an excursion to Ocean City, from different points, nearly every day during the month of August. This being the case there will be a decided increase in traffic to the beach over that of the same month a year ago.

—Misses Alma and Nellie Lankford, of William street, this city, have been retained on the faculty of the Blackstone Female Institute, Blackstone, Va., during the next scholastic year. The enrollment this fall will be the largest in the history of the school. There will be 303 boarders, and 90 day pupils. 31 officers and instructors, a campus of 34 acres and a school plant valued at $120,000. The institute is under the principalship of Rev. James Cannon.

—Prof. J. Walter Huntington, principal of the Wicomico High School, recently refused an offer of the Harford county school board at a salary of $1200.00 a year. He was tendered the principalship of the Havre de Grace High School, but after considering the matter for some time, Mr. Huntington decided to continue his work here. He has been connected with Wicomico schools for a number of years and his efficiency is recognized by the local school officials.

—As yet there has been no applicant from Wicomico county for the scholarship in the Maryland Institute of Art and Design, in Baltimore, which is at the disposal of the County School Board. There have been some applicants from the neighboring counties and unless the scholarship is sought by a resident of this county the Board will, of necessity award the scholarship to one of the other applicants.

—A number of repairs have recently been made to the paved streets made necessary by the apparently improper laying of the foundation under the bricks when the pavements were put down. In many instances where the stone and cement were not properly graded a hollow place was left in the pavement which caused a distinctly noticeable rumbling noise as wagons passed over them. These places have all been taken up and repaired and the streets are now in good condition.

—On page six of this issue is the announcement of an excursion from Salisbury to Jamestown. The new palatial steamer Queen Anne has been chartered for the trip and will leave Salisbury Aug. 14th at 9:00 o'clock stopping at all points on the Wicomico river. The fare for round trip will be 1.50, giving excursionists two evenings and one and one half days at the Exposition. Hotel arrangements have been made at reasonable rates for the accommodation of those who take advantage of the trip.

—A meeting of the Republican leaders was held Thursday in this city at which time the political situation was thoroughly discussed. The names of several proposed candidates were mentioned for the different offices on the ticket, but no definite action was taken and the slate was not made up. From the present outlook, unless the whole ticket is made in the convention next Tuesday, it is quite evident that the convention will do no more than elect the delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Baltimore the next day, leaving the ticket to be made up at a later date.

James Hooper McGrath Dead.

Mr. James Hooper McGrath, one of the oldest residents of Trappe district, died at his home near Fruitland, Wednesday, of general debility, aged nearly 79 years. Mr. McGrath was well known in this county and was for a number of years prominently connected with the Methodist Protestant Church and frequently presided in the pulpit in the absence of the minister. He is survived by his widow and a family of eight children.

The funeral services were conducted Thursday from his late residence and his remains were interred in the Zion M. E. Churchyard, near Fruitland. Rev. Mr. Elliott, of Friendship and Rev. Mr. Williams, of Fruitland officiated.

Gave A Thimble Party.

Mrs. DeAlton B. Potter entertained a number of friends at a thimble party (whatever that is) at her home on South Division street Thursday afternoon. The event was in honor of Miss Tice, of Haddonfield, N. J., who is the guest of Mrs. Vandalia Perry, and Miss Stauffer, who is the guest of the Misses Wailes. Those present were Misses Laura, Victoria, Alice and Sarah Wailes, Jane Williamson, of Baltimore, Annie E. Dashiell Bessie Trader, Miss Julia Waller and Mesdames Vandalia Perry and Charles R. Disharoon.

Schools To Open September 9th.

With the exception of about twelve district schools, which will be kept closed at the request of trustees and the parents of the children, all the public schools of this county will open on the 9th of September. Owing to the lateness of the crops, the parents of children attending these district schools claim that they will be unable to allow their children to attend school until October first, and for this reason the School Board at a recent meeting decided that all district schools which did not make the required attendance of 15 pupils last September will not be opened until October first.

Reward For $10 Gold Piece.

The collectors of Siloam camp meeting in taking up the collection on Sunday night, August 4th, received a $10 gold piece, through a mistake and it was given out in making change for $1.00. The owner came to the camp on Monday morning to inquire for it, but it had been given for change, and if the one who received it will return it to some of the committee, a reward will be given. L. A. Whayland, Treasurer.

TRACE OF ARM LOST IN WAR.

Member Amputated at Antietam Found in Army Museum and Photographed.

Members of congress receive many strange requests from their constituents, but probably the most curious one ever received came to a representative from Minnesota recently from Captain J. F. Allen of St. Paul, says a Washington special to the New York Times. Captain Allen asked the member to look up his arm, which he had lost at the battle of Antietam. Captain Allen learned that the surgeon who performed the operation had preserved the member and sent it to the Army Medical museum. Captain Allen expressed a desire to have a photograph of the arm, and as he was a very influential man in the district the congressman instructed his secretary to make an investigation.

The arm of the captain was found at the museum in an excellent state of preservation and a photograph was forwarded to Captain Allen.

DR. AKED IN JESTING MOOD.

Makes Fun of J. P. Morgan—Says Hymns Sung Here Are Rubbish.

Much of England's economic, social and religious progress has come from America, according to Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, who lectured at the Chautauque assembly the other day, says the New York Tribune. His subject was "Jonathan to John." The former English preacher made fun of J. P. Morgan, asserting that "Morganeering" became so extensive in England that the English people carried permits signed by the Wall street financier permitting them to walk on the earth.

Incidentally he made the assertion that the hymns sung in American churches were mostly mere doggerel and rubbish.

The way to get men to church, Dr. Aked said, was to give them a different kind of religion from that offered to their maiden aunts. "When you do that," he said, "you will get people into the congregation who do not wear bonnets. When I came to this country in 1902 your J. P. Morgan was then engaged in 'Morganeering' the English steamship lines, reaching out his hands for the pennies in the subways and annexing pretty nearly every other English enterprise. I am informed that projects were on foot to buy the Tower of London for the World's fair, to purchase Westminster abbey for a museum in Central park, while capitalists were planning to acquire the queen's residence and anchor it in Lake Michigan as a dormitory for the University of Chicago.

"As for the everyday Britisher, from the time he arises in the morning from his bed, after taking two little liver pills, made in America, he uses American products."

DOG-BOY AND GORILLA-MAN.

Strange Cases in Iowa of Reversion to Brute Types.

What is regarded as strong corroborative evidence of the truth of the Darwinian theory is reported by Iowa Humane society officials after an investigation of the case of two sons of W. A. Leupardez of Wichita, Guthrie county, Ia., says a Des Moines special dispatch to the New York World.

One of the sons, sixteen years old, runs around like a dog, curls up in a ball behind the stove and snarls and tries to bark. The other, twenty years old, has the characteristics of a gorilla. He shows his teeth and makes awful threats.

The Leupardez family are poor and unable properly to restrain the sons. Strange tales of their habits have alarmed the neighbors, and at night windows are locked in fear of the gorilla-man and of the dog-boy that runs with belly to the ground and barks and snarls at people.

Locked in a shed the dog-boy is heard whining when people go to the house. The father fears he will bite people.

A few days ago a party of citizens went to the father and accused the eldest son of a theft. The boy was urged to reveal the hiding place. He grinned mockingly and leaped to the rafters. Then the father placed a rope about his neck and forced him, tugging and bounding, to a tree and threw the end of the rope over a limb. Only then would he yield and show where the stolen articles were secreted.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones Baird, secretary of the Des Moines Humane society and a specialist in this line of work, who recently returned from the Leupardez home, says she will communicate with eminent scientists in the belief that new and startling light will be turned upon the origin of the human species.

HAIL TO KNIFE GRINDERS!

Civil Service Will Attract Them to $900 Government Jobs.

Hail to the knife grinder! Thousands of his tribe will soon march upon Washington, all imbued with the lofty ambition to hold down a government "snap." The great assemblage, which will make Washington its Mecca for an indefinite period, bids fair to produce a tie-up in the scissors grinding industry throughout the United States, says the Washington Post.

Like a bolt from a clear sky, the first intimation of this conclave of horny handed sons came in the form of an announcement issued by the civil service commission that eligibles for the "office" of knife grinder would be examined and certified for immediate service in the government printing office and other branches of department work where the dexterity and skill of the knife grinder are necessary in order that the machinery may run smooth.

There are features that should attract and please applicants. No education is necessary. No excruciating mental or physical tests are required. No long political pull is needed.

Already there is activity among the Washington grinders. It is not yet made public how many appointments will be made from the list of applicants. The job will pay $900 a year.

Tip of $500 For a Waitress.

Crosby Hall, the well known luncheon place in London, England, is shortly to be pulled down, but one at least of its staff does not regret it, says a London special cable to the New York Times. This is a waitress, Miss Sage, who recently received a tip of 100 guineas ($500) from a number of London men whom she has regularly attended at luncheon and who subscribed the amount mentioned. Miss Sage says the present quite took her breath away. It is believed to be a record tip for London.

Spasms St. Vitus' Dance

Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr. Miles' Nervine upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' dance, which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. I doctored with a physician, but the more I took of his medicine the worse I got. My mother's devotion saved me. After she had become almost heart-broken, as well as physically exhausted from constant care, by the advice of a neighbor she procured a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. From the first dose to the last a continual change for the better was noticeable, and when I had taken eleven bottles I was well, and in robust health."

North Manchester, Indiana.
"Our little boy Harry, had spasms for three years, and although we doctored with many physicians, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time our attention was called to Dr. Miles' Nervine. We began giving it to him. His improvement seemed slow, but when he had finished the fourth bottle the spasms had disappeared, and have not been seen now for years. We shall always recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. BEILLE M. TINDALL, Hastings, Neb.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

THE M'KINLEY TOMB

Features of Mausoleum Soon to Be Ready For Dedication.

GRANITE AND MARBLE USED.

Former President's Tomb at Canton, O., is Ninety-eight Feet High and Seventy-nine Feet in Diameter—Double Sarcophagus to Be Provided. Suggestion of Cross and Sword in Approaches to Imposing Structure.

The $500,000 McKinley tomb at Canton, O., is rapidly approaching completion, says the St. Louis Republic. Construction was begun in the spring of 1905, and the cornerstone was laid on Nov. 16, 1905. The architect and contractors express confidence that it will be completed to the last detail by the early autumn of 1907, the time set for the dedication of the tomb.

The mausoleum is ninety-eight feet in height and seventy-nine feet in diameter. The grand stairway, which constitutes the principal approach to the tomb proper and is an essential part of the design, is seventy-five feet in height.

The principal material employed in the construction of the monument is pink Milford granite, which has been utilized not only for the exterior of the mausoleum, but also for the steps and balustrades. The interior of the memorial is finished in light gray Knoxville marble, with a honed surface. The sarcophagus is to be of black polished granite. The rough walls of the edifice throughout are constructed of concrete, reinforced with steel as necessary and faced with the materials above indicated.

Architect Magonigle's design, which was chosen by a jury from those submitted in competition, shows great sobriety of outline and detail. He rejected the frequently suggested exterior columnar treatment not only as being too rich in motive, but as likely to confuse the mass unduly when seen from a distance, and chose a form described in the Ohio Magazine as "circular domical wall architecture."

The columnar treatment, which was barred from the exterior, is, on the contrary, employed most effectively in the interior, where it assists in a reader comprehension of the scales of the edifice. The lighting is entirely from above. A double sarcophagus is to be provided, as Mrs. McKinley will rest beside her husband.

The site is a tract of twenty-six acres, forming the crowning eminence of the picturesque West Lawn cemetery. The pilgrim to the last resting place of the dead president finds spread out beneath his eyes a varied landscape, beyond which lies the whole panorama of the city of Canton.

In the general arrangement of the approaches to the tomb there is a suggestion of a cross and a sword—a symbolism which has been deemed peculiarly appropriate in a memorial to one who was a martyr and a president in time of war. One of the most conspicuous features of the whole scheme is the introduction of what has been technically denominated a long water, an artificial lake or basin directly in front of the mausoleum, in effect not unlike the prayer rug forming the avenue of approach to some eastern shrine.

The basin, which is more than 500 feet in length, widens gradually as it approaches the memorial, broadening from thirty-five to sixty-five feet, so that the vista includes the whole width of the steps that rise directly from this water pathway to the main entrance to the tomb. It is the function of this quiet basin to reflect the architectural composition beyond and thus doubly to impress the vision upon the mind of the beholder.

Another supplementary feature that contributes in no small degree to the effect is the presence of a statue of the late president at the head of the grand staircase and about fifty feet in front of the facade of the mausoleum.

As a sort of portal to this patriotic Mecca there is a circular plaza. This plaza is, however, without any treatment other than a parapet wall and the disposition of the trees, it being felt that being merely a turning point the attention should not be held by anything here. From this circle the approach to the monument is of great beauty. The oblong lake or basin previously mentioned is the central feature and is bordered by two avenues shaded by trees.

It is assumed that visitors in carriages will take the central alley of the three, which slightly diverge on leaving the circle, and will draw up at the foot of the basin for a distant view of the mausoleum, thence passing up one of the side alleys to the esplanade at the base of the grand staircase.

Various approaches for pedestrians have been provided, and there is also a well arranged connection between the main approach and the system of drives in the cemetery. The tomb itself is not more than a mile from the lines of the principal railroads passing through Canton and is therefore within plain view of thousands of travelers.

The original plan contemplated dedicatory exercises on the anniversary of the funeral of the late president, but it is probable that in order to assure the presence of President Roosevelt as center of the day a later date in September will be chosen.

SMITHS IN THE LEAD.

Dominate American Society, Asserts Social Register Locator.

BROWNS COME NEXT ON LIST

No Joneses in Providence, and Oakland's Preferred Knows None Named Jackson—Select Roll Has 84,500 Names—Strange Differences in the Spelling.

Society is led throughout the United States, north, south, east and west, by the ancient and honorable family of Smith, as is shown by the Social Register Locator, the first number of which was published the other day.

This volume is a compendium of the names of persons of social prominence in twenty American cities and has been prepared with painstaking care. It consists of an alphabetical arrangement of 84,500 names, together with the cities where the persons reside. This furnishes a clue to many sources of information concerning those whose doings are of interest to society in the principal cities of the United States.

Of the Smiths there are found to be 556 all told, while the Browns, who number 346, come next in preference. The Joneses number 262, while the Robinsons have 173 on the roll of the select elect, to quote Miss Carolyn Wells. The numerically predominant names in New York are as follows: Smith, 163; Brown, 187; White, 86; Morgan, 84; Clark, 81; Robinson, 81; Taylor, 80, and Miller, 86. Boston has only 5 Smiths and 16 Browns, but the Hub has 22 Williamses, 44 Peabodys and 44 Coolidges.

New York has the most Smiths and 40 per cent of the Browns, while Baltimore is a close second in the possession of the clan of Brown. The Smiths predominate in Philadelphia, with a battalion of 123, although the Biddle family, which is so much a part of the City of Brotherly Love, has 72 members. The Joneses are to be found everywhere, except in Providence and Oakland. Oakland has nobody at all in society named Jackson. Baltimore is entitled to have the most Jenkinases present at any large social function. In Chicago the Walkers follow the Smiths in preference, while in Providence the name Aldrich is the open sesame to society. Pittsburg has the most Laughlins. The Smiths are at the fore in St. Louis and St. Paul, and in Minneapolis the question of prestige is a tie among the Washburns, Winstons and Woodworths.

Summaries of the names which recur in the various cities reveal some interesting facts culled from this American Almanach de Gotha. There are 149 of the family of Adams in 15 cities, while the 94 Alexanders are distributed through 17 cities. There are 31 Amorys, and Boston society has them all. Of the Biddle family, besides the 72 in Philadelphia which have been mentioned, there are 6 in New York and in Washington, but they are really part of the parent stock which flourishes in the city of Penn.

Five cities only have Appletons, of whom there are 21 in Boston, 17 in New York, 2 in Philadelphia, 2 in St. Paul and 1 in Baltimore. All of the family of Auchincloss, to the number of 17, have not wandered away from New York. Of the 35 Cabots 32 reside in Boston. The 213 of the house of Davis are scattered through 18 cities, and they are the most numerous in Washington. Nearly every city, or 19 of the score, have some of the 163 Kings.

Strange differentiations in the spelling of names appear throughout the volume. There are 239 of the family of Clarke and 90 of the name without the terminal "e." Five ways are offered for the spelling of what is in effect the same name, as is seen in such titles as Beal, Beale, Beales, Beall and Beals. It is shown in the tables that there are 40 Reads, 71 Reeds and 31 Reids. There are 55 who bear the name of Robbins and 35 who leave out one "b" and pronounce their name the same way. Forty-two are called Sturges and 32 Sturges.

IMMENSE SWINE PAVILION.

Iowa State Fair to Have Three Acres of Hogs Under One Roof.

The largest swine pavilion in the world is the latest Iowa boast. It is being built on the state fair grounds at Des Moines and when finished will occupy three acres under roof. The judging ring occupies a square almost surrounded by pens.

This will be the center of attraction for the Iowa people at their state exposition this year, says the Clinton Herald. Farmers interested in swine breeding have been urging this improvement a long time. Last year they brought 2,700 hogs to the exposition, and many others were sent back for lack of space. This is a larger exhibit of hogs than at all other state fairs together. With these improvements the Iowa state exhibit will be kept not only at the head of the list, but far in the lead of all others.

On Sunday night last Lillian, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman, died after an illness of less than one week. The remains were interred at Galesstown.

The Intruder.

A Washington man was telling some one of the trials of his wife, an excellent housekeeper, with reference to the servant problem. Just about the time the mistress would get a new girl broken to the ways of the household and she would bid fair to become a model servant she would decamp or enter the service of a neighbor. One of these, a Mrs. B., had incurred the especial enmity of the first woman, for she had lately taken two servants from Mrs. Brown. One night Brown was aroused from his slumbers by queer sounds in the kitchen. "Burglars!" he hoarsely whispered in the ear of his spouse as he prepared to tumble out of bed and proceed downstairs. "Edward," calmly observed the wife, "I'd give anything to possess your optimistic nature. Always looking on the bright side. I'll wager anything it's that odious B. woman trying to get Mary away from me."

Bivalve 9, Tyaskin 6.

There was an interesting game of ball played last Saturday between Bivalve and Tyaskin. Bivalve was in the lead until the ninth inning, when Tyaskin gained a lead of one run, only to be overcome and defeated by Bivalve in Bivalve's half of the ninth inning by the score of 9 to 6.

Several free passes by Larmore who pitched for Tyaskin, resulted in the winning runs.

The feature of the game was the home run of Ward, Bivalve's little short-stop, who knocked the ball in deep left field. This is the fourth game Bivalve and Tyaskin have played and Bivalve has won three out of four.

Unknown Woman Uses Whip.

The community of Rising Sun is excited over a series of lashings given a number of prominent persons with a buggy whip in the hands of a young woman, accompanied by a male escort, the pair driving in a closed-top buggy. The assaults occur about dusk.

Mrs. Ellen M. Tush and daughter Ellen were struck while near Harrisville, and Miss Margaret Phillips, of that town, an aged lady, was severely lashed across the face. Charles LaRue received some ugly cuts around his neck. The assailant ran into a team driven by Alfred Smith and James Body, on Moores Hill, and smashed the front wheels of the carriage.

A number of horses have been badly cut across the shoulders, all the assaults taking place along the public roads. The offenders manage to get away before being identified.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION NAMES WINNING TICKET.

Mr. George R. Gaither, of Baltimore, Named For Governor—Strongest Ticket Ever Placed Before The People.

With all personal feeling entirely dissipated, with all of the Republican element in the State in perfect harmony, and with complete unanimity and enthusiasm, the Republicans of the State of Maryland, at the convention in Baltimore Wednesday, selected their standard-bearers and nominated a ticket which must commend itself to every voter in Maryland, regardless of political affiliation.

The ticket follows:

FOR GOVERNOR—George R. Gaither, of Baltimore.

FOR COMPTROLLER—James H. Baker, of Kent.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL—Hammond Urner, of Frederick.

FOR CLERK OF THE COURT OF APPEALS—Thomas Parran, of Calvert.

The Republicans went to Baltimore on Monday evening with the avowed purpose of naming Mr. Phillips Lee Goldsborough as their candidate for Governor. Congressman William H. Jackson dominated the Eastern Shore and Congressman Sydney E. Mudd controlled the Southern Maryland votes, and they had warm allies in the Allegany and Baltimore county delegates. It was a comparatively easy matter for these two leaders to put out a slate that would have swept the convention. The only question was "How will they use the power that they have?" Mr. Goldsborough was personally acceptable to both of them. In fact, they entertained for him the kindest possible feelings.

This feeling was not permitted to interfere with either of them. They went to work to locate the man who would bring to their party the greatest number of votes. After carefully canvassing the situation and sounding the delegates from different parts of the State they came to the conclusion that the Republican party in Baltimore city did have a man fitted in every way to be Governor of Maryland, and that was Mr. George R. Gaither.

It was the result of Mr. Goldsborough's action and upon his motion that the nomination of Mr. Gaither for Governor was made and the enthusiastic demonstration which followed the announcement of the chairman of his nomination was in marked contrast to the manner in which that of Judge Crothers was received by the Democratic Convention.

It was an animated gathering that assembled at the Maryland Theatre Wednesday to nominate a State ticket and from the beginning to the end of that convention its proceedings were marked by harmony born of the determination to win a victory, a victory for all the people. After the delegations from the different counties had all been seated, Chairman Thomas Parran, of the State Central Committee called the convention to order. He made an eloquent speech, in which he commented upon the political situation in Maryland. This was followed by a prolonged applause from the spectators. Mr. B. A. Richmond was made temporary chairman, and Mr. Alfred Lee Thorp, was appointed temporary secretary. These gentlemen were afterward made permanent chairman and secretary, respectively, upon the motion of Mr. Goldsborough.

The convention then took a recess until three o'clock in the afternoon and it was at this session that the nominations were made. While the nomination of Mr. Gaither had practically been settled, the minor places on the ticket were yet to be filled. For Comptroller the nomination from the first seemed to be conceded to Wicomico county, and the delegation had the names of two prominent local Republicans in mind—Mr. Walter B. Miller and Mr. William M. Day. The place was offered to Mr. Miller, but after deliberate consideration he declined the honor, giving as his reasons, first, his manifold business interests, and second, his fear that he would jeopardize the election of the ticket because of his pronounced views with reference to colored officials. The nomination was then offered to Mr. Day, but he refused, and it was at a later meeting of the Eastern Shore contingent that Mr. James H. Baker, of Kent county was endorsed. This

NO TICKET NAMED BY COUNTY CONVENTION.

Delegates Assembled In This City Tuesday And Decided To Postpone The Nominations Until September The Third.

The Republican Convention for Wicomico county was held in the Court House in this city Tuesday. The delegates from the different districts assembled early and, in little groups, talked over the subject of nominating a ticket, and the names of several available men were discussed with a view of placing them on the ticket. It was decided, however, just before the hour of the convention, that owing to the limited time, it being necessary for the delegates to the State Convention to leave shortly after noon, to postpone the nominations until the third of September.

The convention was called to order by Mr. John H. Tomlinson, of the State Central Committee, and after a few appropriate remarks by Mr. Tomlinson, Mr. Elmer H. Walton was nominated chairman, and Messrs. W. B. Tilghman, Jr., and William R. Bomberger were nominated secretaries. There being no contesting delegations, the Committee on Credentials was dispensed with and the temporary organization was made permanent upon motion of Mr. M. A. Humphreys.

One delegate from each district was appointed a member of the Committee on Resolutions, but the resolutions were held over and will be read at the adjourned meeting. After the following had been nominated as delegates to the State Convention, the convention adjourned with every delegate feeling satisfied that no local ticket had been nominated.

The delegates to the State Convention were:
W. H. Jackson, E. S. Adkins, Wm. M. Day, John H. Tomlinson, E. S. Turner, A. L. Wingate, W. B. Miller, Elmer H. Walton, Alan F. Benjamin, John W. Kelley, H. James Bounds, S. H. Larmore, W. B. Tilghman, Jr., Isaac H. White and M. A. Humphreys.

The following were the delegates to the County Convention:
Barren Creek—L. A. Wilson, Peter Graham and William H. Budd.

Quantico—W. Scott Disharoon, Allen S. Cordrey and James O. Wilson. Alternates—W. F. Howard, Charles R. Hayman and Ira Disharoon.

Tyaskin—N. A. Conway, Charles H. Larmore and W. A. Conway.

Pittsburg—Robert A. Parker, W. T. Middleton and Dr. L. W. C. Collins. Parsons—William M. Day, Clarence A. White and Jay Williams.

Dennis—J. W. Kelley, Peter H. Adkins and Nehemiah Truitt.

Trappe—William A. White, Isaac J. White and James Stewart, Jr.

Nutters—Joseph H. Hayman, Oswald Layfield and Steven Hayman.

Salisbury—Elmer H. Walton, Ernest Ellis and William R. Bomberger.

Sharptown—M. H. Bennett, W. H. Knowles, L. T. Cooper, W. D. Grave-

nor, J. W. Covington and L. H. Bailey. Delmar—D. H. Foskey, E. Edwin Waller, J. M. Fogkey, J. T. Wilson, Walter Whayland and Collins Vincent.

Nanticoke—John W. Harrington, Thomas J. Walter and Frank Willing.

Camden—W. B. Tilghman, Jr., John Nelson and M. A. Humphreys.

Willards—E. B. White, Emory Dennis, J. Hillary—Brattan, Lloyd A. Richardson, George E. Jackson and A. W. Phillips.

completed the nomination of half the ticket.

When Mr. Hammond Urner, of Frederick county was mentioned for attorney-general, all of the other counties enthusiastically adopted the suggestion and he became the party's candidate. He is one of the leaders of the Western Maryland bar, and is considered one of the ablest lawyers in the Sixth district. Mr. Thomas Parran was then urged to accept the nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. He finally agreed to run provided the nomination came to him without a contest. He was chosen not only by acclamation, but by a rising vote.

This completed the ticket, which is regarded by every Republican who attended the convention as one of the very strongest that could have been presented. Everyone of the four candidates fits the place for which he is named. Geographically, it is a perfect platform, and no section of the State has been ignored.

TWO NEGROES DROWNED NEAR COLLINS' WHARF.

Empty Boat Adrift In River Led To Discovery—Were Deck Hands On Sailing Vessels—Were Probably Intoxicated.

The body of an unknown colored man was found floating in the Wicomico river last Monday afternoon, and after having been brought to the White Haven wharf, the remains were identified as those of a negro employed as a deck hand on the schooner "Judy," under command of Captain Joseph Thomas. A coroner's jury was at once summoned by Justice of the Peace John F. Phillips, but no provision was made for a burial, and the body was left there uncovered until late that evening, when it was thrown into a rough box by some of the citizens of White Haven. On Tuesday there still being no provision for the disposition of the body, the remains were interred on the marsh land near the river.

It was learned shortly afterward that another negro, who was employed on the schooner "Ida Thayer" was also missing and about this time an empty row boat was discovered adrift in the river opposite Collins' Wharf. A search for the body was at once started and late Monday night his remains were found tied to a stake on the marsh near the wharf. It is thought that the body had been discovered by someone who made it fast to the stake to await the action of the coroner's jury. It seems that the proper officials were not promptly notified when the body was first found, and the remains were left there until they were removed at the expense of local citizens Thursday to the other side of the river and buried in the marsh.

Upon inquiry it was found that the two men had left the schooners for a fishing trip on the river on Saturday and it is supposed that they became intoxicated and upset the small craft and were drowned soon after starting. The captain of the sailing vessels do not know their names, or where they were from.

Chief of Police Woodland Disharoon and Deputy Sheriff J. Frank Waller accompanied by Mr. F. A. Grier made a trip down the river yesterday in an endeavor to locate the third negro, but at a late hour last evening they returned, having learned that the two negroes already buried were the only ones missing.

The "Standing Army."

The following comes from a reader of THE COURIER living on Isabella street who evidently sees the poetic side of things:

The "standing army" of Isabella street, Is standing there quite still, With no other duty to perform, But the stagnant gutters to fill.

It has no band, this army grand, Tho' their Captain is quite a "Harper," He has no work for them to do, And won't let them carry water.

With the residents of Isabella street, This nuisance is no joke, For the commands are slow, as we citizens know, And the Commander is a very slow "Polk."

Some of the soldiers fell by the wayside, And their remains have not been removed, Not even a "Sergeant" has been read, And this is easily proved.

Will Sing For Charity.

A musicale, for the benefit of St. Peter's Guild of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church will be given Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry on William street. A delightful program consisting of both vocal and instrumental selections has been arranged and it is expected that the event will be largely attended. An admission of 25 cents will be charged, including refreshments. Among those who will render selections are Miss Margaret Tice, of Haddonfield, N. J., Miss Hilda Morris, of Virginia, Mrs. E. C. Fulton, Miss Edith Welsbach, Mr. Will Sheppard and Mr. Claude Dorman.

Notice!!!

The Anniversary Services will be held, (D.V.), at Old Green Hill Church, on next Saint Bartholomew's Day, being Saturday, August 24th, at 10.30 a. m.

I hope all who are interested in this old church, and who can make it convenient to do so, will attend.

Dear Sir: Take a two-story house and reckon the costs with different paints; you will be surprised. Say the house has a total of 3210 square feet.

Divide by 300; you buy 11 gallons. That's the rule; but it never comes-out so.

Buy any other paint than Devco, you will have to buy more, up to possibly 22 gallons. Paint Devco, and you'll have a gallon or two to return. Here are some experiences.

N. R. Watkins, Lott, Texas, used 13 gallons on his house before; bought 13 gallons Devco for same house and had 6 left.

C. B. Edwards, of Edward & Broughton, printers, Raleigh, N.C., used 30 gallons Devco on his house; bought 30 gallons Devco for same house and had 16 left. Go by the gallons.

NEGROES MUST LEAVE TOWN.

One Man Fatally Shot in Race Riot At Onancock, Va., Leaders Of Negroes Still At Large.

Fifty negro families have been ordered by the whites to leave Onancock by or before 9 o'clock Monday morning. This order is accompanied by the threat that there will be trouble in the event the negroes refuse. A colored minister finding a notice to this effect on his door upon his return from church Sunday night immediately left town.

Sunday afternoon a mass-meeting of the citizens of Accomac was held at the town hall to talk over the serious question that confronted the people. According to the latest details, the trouble was out-come of the attempt last Friday of John M. Fosque, a liveryman to collect from Sylvanus Conquest, colored, a clerk in the store of Samuel L. Burton, also colored, the amount due for the hire of a team. When Fosque went to the store and demanded the money Conquest refused to pay, and he and Burton cursed Fosque.

Fosque left the store and put the matter in the hands of Constable Tankard Kellam, who afterwards went to Burton's store. Conquest was impudent to Kellam, who called upon Burton to help arrest him. Burton refused with curse. Mr. Kellam had to use brass knuckles to arrest Conquest, who was tried by the town authorities that night and fined.

Sunday night the negroes planned a riot. J. D. Uzzie, a schoolteacher, editor of the Peninsula Times and secretary and treasurer of the Negro Fair Association, without provocation, began to shoot in front of R. L. Shield & Co.'s store.

A ball severely wounded Garland Belote, who was coming out of the store. About the same time at the east end of the town, near Burton's store and Uzzie's printing office, a crowd of negroes had met to fire upon Mr. Fosque if he should drive a hack to the station.

They sent a negro, John Topping, to see whether the vehicle was driven by a white man or by a negro. At his reply that the driver was a white man the negroes opened fire, fatally injuring Topping, but, by a miracle, six men and one woman who were in the hack escaped unhurt. Their trunks and dress-suits contained were riddled with bullets. This so incensed the citizens that they began to gather, heavily armed.

The crowd went at once to look for Burton and Uzzie, but they could not be found. For an hour they kept up a heavy firing of guns and pistols, and then as the crowd seemed willing to disperse, the mayor, constable and sergeant went to their homes.

A thoroughly aroused mass of men from miles around began again to shoot, and the store and printing office were burned. At daylight the firing ceased, except from the guards who remained on duty throughout the town for several hours.

The negroes of this section used to be very orderly, but Burton and Uzzie have for several years exerted a bad influence over the colored population of this vicinity by using their paper. Uzzie and Burton are still at large. Dr. Moore, another of their class, was given ten minutes to disappear.

Fight Against Temperance.

It is understood that a meeting of the wholesale and retail liquor dealers of Hagerstown will be held this week for the purpose of taking action to offset the temperance movement now in full swing in all parts of Washington county.

Committees will be appointed to secure, if possible, the names of the persons who have been signing the pledge distributed by the local option workers not to support at the polls in November any candidate, regardless of his politics, who is not in favor of passing a local option bill for Washington county.

It is said that the purpose of the saloon men is to boycott the business men and others who have signed the pledge.

The local option workers, however, do not purpose making public the names of the persons who have signed the pledge. Many persons who signed did so with the understanding that the names would be kept secret.

MARYLAND OLD HOME WEEK.

Governor Warfield Will Officially In the Every Former Marylander Whose Address is Known.

It is doubtful who experiences the more pleasure—the home comer after a long absence, or the home folks who welcome the wanderer. It is certain that both participate largely in the joy of the reunion.

Marylanders will reap a large measure of Old Home Week that is to be held in October for they will, should satisfaction in meeting the old timers who have strayed to other fields of activity and who will on that occasion come back for a brief stay, to talk over the days of the past and to see how greatly changed is everything in the community.

Governor Warfield is going to send out an official invitation to every former Marylander whose address is procurable and he wants every one in this section of the state to aid in completing the list of those who are to be invited. The readers of this paper may help in this cause and insure the receipt of an invitation by their absent friends and former neighbors by sending at once to the secretary of the Maryland Home Coming Association all names and addresses they are able to furnish. The headquarters of the Association is at 602 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, to which all mail should be delivered.

Will Build New Bank.

An important sale of real estate was made in Chestertown recently, when the Kent County Savings Bank, through its president, J. K. Aldridge, purchased the Thomas B. Gardner property, on High street, for $8,000. The property has been occupied for a number of years by the savings bank as a banking house, and by John D. Uric as a law office, with H. B. Role's jewelry store adjoining.

Mr. Aldridge, president of the bank, stated that the directors of the bank propose to tear down the old building and erect a handsome banking-house, with offices and storerooms on one floor, and probably a hall for lodge-rooms on the second floor, at a cost of about $12,000.

Postmasters Organize.

About two dozen of the postmasters of Montgomery county met in the opera house at Rockville recently and organized the Montgomery County Postmasters' League, with the following officers: President, R. H. Miles; vice-president, Miss Martha Purdum; secretary, Columbus F. Ricketts, treasurer, Miss Ida J. Devyer. Frank L. Hewitt and E. D. Lewis were chosen to represent the organization at the approaching State convention in Baltimore.

The Cambridge Hospital.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Cambridge Hospital the resignation of Dr. Bruce W. Goldsborough was tendered and accepted, and P. L. Goldsborough was elected to fill the vacancy. W. Laird Henry was elected a member of the board to fill the vacancy resulting from the death of the late Samuel Lehman.

L. E. Bassett Elected.

L. E. Bassett, of Cambridge, Md., was recently elected to the vice principalship of Oakland High School. He is a graduate of the Maryland Agricultural College and of Dorchester county High School.

The Heart Beats of the Business World

When you hear the hum of Oliver Typewriters, you are listening to the very heart-beats of the business world. Day in and day out, year in and year out, the Oliver throbs with the pulse of business life.

The Oliver is the rapid-fire machine gun by means of which the Captains of Industry—restless, tireless, impatient of delay—pour business broadsides into the ranks of "the other side."

In every branch of business—Railroading, Banking, Manufacturing, Merchandising, Publishing—in the professions—everywhere.

The OLIVER Typewriter
The Standard Visible Typewriter

is close to the heart of things. It's the telegraph or telephone for emergencies, but the Oliver. ALL THE TIME.

The Oliver Typewriter Co.
12 E. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md.

The Oliver runs with ease and precision, and has wonderful capacity for speed.

It prints with a downward stroke, with beautiful type that cannot get out of line.

For straight correspondence, for complicated tabulating and billing, for manifolded, stencil cutting, vertical or horizontal line ruling, writing in colors, making records on the stiffest, stoutest cards,—the Oliver is equally efficient.

The Oliver is a machine that dovetails into every department, saving the expense of Billing Machines, Book Typewriters, Etc.

It will yield big dividends of satisfaction by adding to the accuracy and beauty of your business letters.

It will pay you in dollars and cents to Oliverize your business.

It will be a pleasure to us to send you the Oliver book—it will do you good to read it.

Free Course in Practical Salesmanship

A few young men of character and ability can become local agents for the Oliver Typewriter, by making application immediately. Local agents earn all the way from $200 a year (working part time) to $500 per month (full time).

We give each local agent a course in Practical Salesmanship, under the trained Sales Experts of our Organization.

If you wish to learn actual Salesmanship, send in your application at once. This is your opportunity to earn a handsome salary and gain a knowledge of Practical Salesmanship that will be of inestimable value.

Let us send you a free copy of our book, "The Oliver School of Practical Salesmanship." This little book is only for those who mean business—not for the idle curious. Do you mean business? Then write quickly!

THE CALL OF THE SEA.

"The water is fine; come in!"

This is the call of the sea, the generous invitation of Old Neptune to partake of the delights of his realm, and it sounds distinct from each of the points in the greatest chain of seashore resorts in the world—the wave-washed New Jersey coast.

Gay Atlantic City; witching Wildwood; New Cape May in the first flush of its rejuvenation; Sea Isle City, Ocean City, with their smaller sister-resorts nearby; Asbury Park and Long Branch where sylvan shades meet incoming billows—each echo the call to young and old: "Come one; come all!"

These great resorts are within easy access of every section of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Delaware by the fine service of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Its many through express trains to Philadelphia from North, South, East, and West land Passengers in Philadelphia, whence Atlantic City is but one hour by steam trains from Market Street Wharf; an hour and a half by electric trains, and only eighty minutes from Broad Street Station, via the Delaware River Bridge all-rail route. Cape May and Wildwood are only about a hundred minutes from Market Street Wharf or two hours from Broad Street Station.

The fine service of express trains maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad between Philadelphia and Long Branch, Elberon, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Spring Lake, Sea Girt, and Beach Haven not only serves the convenience of the casual but meets the requirements of the daily traveler.

Excursion tickets, with liberal return limits, may be obtained to any of these popular summering places at reasonably low rates, enabling all who feel the need of a change an opportunity for recreation by the oceanside.

Full details of rates and time of trains may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

MAY SETTLE BOUNDARY LINE.

Dispute Between Maryland and West Virginia Has Been Pending in Courts for 16 Years

It is expected that the boundary line dispute between Maryland and West Virginia will soon be settled. The work of taking depositions at Oakland, Md., and Kingwood, W. Va., were recently completed. For more than 16 years this case has been pending in the courts, but the real dispute dates back to the time the Virginians were divided in 1863.

Maryland claims a strip from Preston county, east of Garrett county, 36 miles long and a mile in width. The surveys of this land, after several postponements, were not made until May of last year and even at that time were not fully completed. E. H. Sincell, who has been assisting Attorney General Bryan, of Maryland, has been ill for some time, and the final hearing of witnesses, whose depositions were wanted, was not taken until the last few days.

While the taking of depositions has been concluded, the counsel of both States reserved the right to take documentary evidence up to September 17th at which time the respective counsel will meet in Washington, when the evidence of maps and documents will be filed, and then an arrangement will be entered into for the printing of the records. West Virginia is represented by George E. Price and Clark W. May, well-known constitutional lawyers.

A New Power Company.

The Youghiogheny Light and Power Company, of Garrett county, has been incorporated at Oakland, and the company will locate a plant below Deep Creek Falls, seven miles north of Oakland, for the purpose of generating electricity for commercial uses. It is the intention to concentrate at this point the wasted water power of the Swallow Falls in Yough River, the Deep Creek Falls and the Muddy Creek Falls, and turn it into electrical energy to be distributed to Oakland, Mount Lake Park, Deer Park, Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville and other towns in Garrett county; to Kingwood and nearby points in West Virginia and to nearby points in Pennsylvania.

WORCESTER REPUBLICANS.

Met at Snow Hill Tuesday and Declared Present Ballot Equal to Chinese Puzzle.

The Republican County Convention met at Snow Hill Tuesday and was called to order by A. P. Barnes, chairman of the state central committee. In a brief address he said that when he was first elected a member of the committee he found the Republican party in a disorganized condition. Some of the districts were often not represented in the county convention, and it was difficult to get members of the party to go to the state and other conventions.

He was glad to say that the party in this particular had changed for the better, and that now every district under call of the committee for primary elections was well represented. Some districts which gave heavy Democratic majorities years ago are now close, and sometimes give a Republican majority. He hoped this condition of things would continue, and said that he would do everything in his power to promote the interest of the Republican party. He predicted that the day was not remote when the party would gain control of the county.

On account of the Wilson law the Republicans had to contend against a ballot system which was used for the purpose of enabling all Democrats to vote without difficulty and which was purposely made equal to a Chinese puzzle for illiterate Republicans.

Mr. Barnes tendered his resignation as chairman of the state central committee and asked for the naming of a chairman for the convention. Chas. C. Mumford, of West Berlin district, was elected. Harry C. Powell and Mr. Adkins, of Berlin, were secretaries.

Delegates to the state convention were elected as follows: Adial P. Barnes, E. S. Furber, R. E. Blaine, Seadok P. Wharton, C. O. Melvin, Harry Schoolfield, Harry Powell, George W. Truitt, A. C. Riley and 11 others. The resolutions were five in number, the fifth dealing with the anti-saloon question alone. The other four dealt with the Wilson ballot law, which is denounced, and condemned, and the extravagant way in which the finances of Worcester county are being managed. —Baltimore American.

COPPERHEAD INVADES CAMP.

Mr. Sprigg Harwood Receives Injection of Snake's Venom And Is in Critical Condition.

Mr. Sprigg Harwood, a well-known Baltimorean, who has been camping with his wife and a party of friends on the shores of the Severn river, is a patient at the Emergency Hospital, Annapolis, suffering from the bites of a large copperhead snake.

Mr. Harwood was asleep, when he felt a sudden pain in his right hand. He rolled over just in time to receive another injection of the snake's venom a few inches from the first place bitten. Realizing the poisonous character of the copperhead's bite, Mr. Harwood took a large dose of whiskey and hurried to catch the first train which passed Robinson Station on the Short Line. This brought him to Annapolis where he was admitted to the hospital and the wound cared for.

Dr. J. J. Murphy, the attending physician, said that the wounds had been opened and the poison drawn out as much as possible. While his hand is considerably swollen and he is suffering from the effects of the poison and the shock, Mr. Harwood is doing as well as could be expected. Mrs. Harwood, who lives with her husband at 1201 Frederick avenue, came down from the camp, but upon hearing of Mr. Harwood's improved condition, returned to the remainder of the party.

While copperheads are the only venomous snakes found in Anne Arundel, it is rare that one invades the places of men, and few of them attack without provocation.

Negroes Accused of Assault.

Justice of the Peace John N. Davis, of Annapolis, held James Harris, aged 19, and Leroy Haste, aged 18, two colored youths, for the action of the October grand jury on charges of assault upon Lottie Brooks, a young colored girl, who is employed by a member of the faculty at St. John's College, as a child's nurse. The hearing occupied more than two hours and was the subject of much interest among the colored population of Annapolis, which filled the street in front of the justice's office. The accused negroes were represented by Jerry L. Smith.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Salisbury.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mrs. C. W. Fooks living three miles South of Salisbury, Md., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back ached, I was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. The secretions annoyed me, and showed plainly the dormant condition of my kidneys. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating, caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended, so I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store, used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Anne Arundel Schools.

At the meeting of the School Commissioners of Anne Arundel county Tuesday, scholarships were awarded as follows: Western Maryland College, L. Gordon Bennett, Brooklyn; Washington College, Roland White and Benjamin Michaelson, both of Galesville; State Normal School, Miss Lillian Shephard, Galesville, and Miss Schant, Brooklyn; St. Mary's Seminary, Miss Julia Blackwell, of Harley.

The board decided to open the white schools of the county on September 9, and the colored schools on October 1.

The County Commissioners today reached an amicable agreement with the representatives of the Annapolis Gas and Electric Light Company and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, in relation to the use of the new bridge connecting Annapolis and Eastport for the companies. For the use of the bridge to carry its wires, the Gas and Electric Light Company agreed to maintain two arc lights at Eastport, and the Telephone Company agreed to pay annually 50 cents for each telephone maintained at Eastport.

Wilson And Adams Seated.

The controversy over the filling of vacancies in the City Council of Annapolis, Maryland, was settled recently by the seating of Wilson and Adams. Adams applied to Mayor Claude for qualification prior to the meeting of the council, and the oath was promptly administered. Later in the evening City Councilor Melvin read an opinion in which he took the position that the attack upon Wilson's qualifications on account of his employment at the Naval Academy was proper. Mr. Wilson, who is head painter at the Naval Academy, did not hold an office, but an employment, Mr. Melvin held, and as such was not qualified to become a member of the city council.

Mayor Claude, who interposed the original objection to the seating of Wilson, made an argument, during which he urged that the intention of the framers of the law was to make anyone in Wilson's position ineligible to hold office under the city of Annapolis. A resolution seating Wilson was passed by all the votes except that of the Mayor. Mayor Claude then administered the oath to Wilson.

Bridge Spoke For Itself.

While a delegation of citizens was before the Board of County Commissioners of Dorchester county Tuesday asking for a new bridge between the island and the mainland, a telephone message was received stating that the bridge gave way about 10 o'clock, near the draw, precipitating James Macer, a colored man, and his team of oxen into 3 feet of water. The yokepin of the cart broke and the oxen went ashore.

Macer had a narrow escape. The delegation closed the argument, stating that the bridge had spoken for itself.

Republican Ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR:
GEORGE R. GAITHER, of Baltimore City.

FOR COMPTROLLER:
JAMES H. BAKER, of Kent County.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL: HAMMOND URNER,
of Frederick County.

FOR CLERK OF THE COURT OF APPEALS:
THOMAS PARRAN,
of Calvert County.

The Republican Ticket.

The ticket nominated Wednesday by the Republicans is one of the strongest, if not the strongest ever presented to the voters of this State by any political party. That full advantage of a great opportunity was taken at the State Convention is generally conceded, and personal ambitions and factional politics were sacrificed on the altar of a higher obligation to the State.

For some time before the nomination of the Democratic ticket, speculation was rife as to the kind of a ticket which would be nominated by the Democrats, and at that time the general impression prevailed throughout the State, that if the party should fail to nominate a man in Baltimore city who could command the support of the independent element, it would present an opportunity to the Republicans which they have not had since the election of Governor Lowndes in 1895. When the Democratic Convention met last week it was soon evident that with the division in the ranks of its own party in Baltimore, that it would be impossible to unite upon an acceptable candidate from the City, and before the Convention adjourned, Ex-Governor John Walter Smith was so completely and thoroughly the overshadowing and dominating figure of the gathering that he was able to place in the field a ticket which bore the ear-mark of the Worcester leader from top to bottom. Whatever chance the party may have had of winning up to that time was thrown to the winds, provided only, that the Republicans should take advantage of the opening thus presented. That opportunity has been magnificently seized, and with the nomination of Mr. George R. Gaither, of Baltimore, for the Governorship, the Republicans go into the campaign with every chance of making a winning fight.

As soon as the State leaders met, it was evident that party harmony and success were uppermost in the minds of all, and there was absolutely the determination that everything should be swept aside which would in any way interfere with success this year.

Mr. Phillips Lee Goldsborough, who was prominently mentioned for the Governorship, was in many respects as strong or even stronger than the nominee, and had a personal following in the Convention which was absolutely remarkable. But it was realized that it would be almost impossible to swing in line the independent element in Baltimore for any candidate outside of the City. As soon as the situation was fully understood, Mr. Goldsborough preferred that his name should not be presented to the Convention, and Congressman William H. Jackson and the State leaders who were in favor of his candidacy completely sacrificed and surrendered any personal feelings they had in the matter for the sake of bringing the various elements of the ticket together, and placing before the voters a set of nominations which would be almost a certain forerunner of victory this Fall. Had Mr. Jackson insisted upon the nomination of Mr. Goldsborough, it is certain that the result could have been accomplished, but higher considerations prevailed, and a broader spirit characterized the deliberations of the leaders.

Mr. Twilley's Resignation.

The recent resignation of Mr. E. E. Twilley from the Presidency of the City Council has caused considerable speculation as to the ulterior causes which impelled an act of this character. He served last year with credit in the Council and was re-elected less than four months ago without opposition and upon the re-organization of that body was called to preside over its deliberations for the present year.

It has been intimated that Mr. Twilley was disappointed at not receiving the nomination for the House of Delegates, and it has been even stated that he accepted the position at the head of the Council with the understanding that he was to be promoted to the berth at Annapolis this Fall.

It has also been suggested by several persons that the financial difficulties confronting the city officials in relation to the tax question and the possible suits against the municipality, involving legal complications and intricate problems, was more than Mr. Twilley cared to face, and he preferred to leave the settlement of these matters to the discretion and judgment of others.

We cannot believe, however, that either of these explanations is correct, as Mr. Twilley is hardly of that calibre, who failing to land a higher office, refuses to continue in the one he holds. Ordinarily, and sometimes unfortunately for the Republicans, the Democrats are exceptionally good losers, and our friends, the enemy, have a known ability along the line of getting together after an exceedingly warm primary fight. But above personal considerations, it can hardly be possible that either Mr. Twilley or the local leaders of the Democratic Party would dare play foot ball with so important a place as the Presidency of the City Council.

On the other hand, we cannot believe that he was capable of so cowardly an act as to resign from a post of this kind the moment he was confronted by some problems which threatened to give the City unusual trouble. We much prefer to believe, as we think the people in general are inclined to do, that the simple reason given out by Mr. Twilley himself, that the duties of the office required more time than he was able to devote to it, was the real motive which prompted the act, and it is known that the responsibilities of the position were seriously interfering with his personal business.

However, these considerations may be, it is certain that the City of Salisbury is now confronting many problems which will test the capacity, ingenuity and ability of those who are at the head of its affairs. The vacancy should be filled by one who will be able to give the City a fair proportion of his time and thought, and one who is fully capable of dealing intelligently with the many financial questions which are certain to arise, and which should be handled in a broad-minded and liberal manner.

Editorial Jottings.

It's a winner!

And now for Gaither and a sweeping victory!

We have received during the week a number of expressions of sympathy with the sentiments expressed in the editorial which appeared in these columns last week in relation to the condition of Parsons Cemetery. The matter had frequently been brought to our attention before we wrote what we did last week, and it is evident there are a large number of people who desire to see a change for the better.

The "Woman in White" complained of in The Wicomico News by Mr. W. F. Allen as having been seen robbing his peach orchard, probably belongs to that peculiar species of the animal kingdom who are frequently seen extracting berries of various kinds, apples, peaches and other fruits from receptacles in front of grocery stores, and politely walking away with that wonderful degree of consideration for the proprietor which prevents not only the mention of such a trifling circumstance, but payment as well.

Our Democratic friends in Wicomico seem very much worried over the fact that the local Republicans made no nominations this week. They seem to think, according to The Wicomico News, that the placing of Ex-Governor Jackson upon their local ticket sent a "cold chill down the spinal column" of the G. O. P., and paralyzed its future operations in this county. It is really too bad to disabuse the minds of our friends of such a peculiar hallucination and if they will but contain themselves until the third of September, they will find that the Republican Party of Wicomico is up and doing and more than ready for the local fray.

The "standing army" had an overhauling last Saturday, and the location of the various squads were changed while the Street Commissioner had grass and weeds removed which had grown around the "silent sentinels." We really had hoped that such sudden activity on Isabella street was the forerunner of operations which would mean complete removal of this eternally continuing nuisance. But it's a glorious thing to live in anticipation of the consummation of some devoutly wished for and earnestly sought object; and besides it's really within the range of possibility that this delightful and refreshing show of activity may yet be the forerunner of a complete awakening of the city officials.

The Wicomico News says that Governor Jackson controlled more votes in the recent Democratic State Convention than any five leaders combined, and inadvertently omitted to mention the fact that the Honorable John Walter Smith, of Worcester, was the "whole show." Strange, fearfully strange, that none of the city papers should have ascertained anything about this remarkable influence the Ex-Governor had upon the minds of the delegates, and the Wicomico Ex-Governor should have been depicted as having been completely overshadowed by the Worcester chieftain. But perhaps after all The News merely meant to say that the Ex-Governor controlled more votes after he hurriedly scrambled on the John Walter Smith band wagon, than any other of the State leaders who had had discretion enough to have already secured conspicuous places thereon.

—Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. T. E. Martindale, D. D., there will be no services at Asbury M. E. Church, next Sunday, except Sunday School, which will be held at the usual time. Rev. C. A. Hill, former pastor, will fill the pulpit on Sunday, August 25th.

—There will be no preaching services at the Methodist Protestant Church of this city next Sunday, owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. S. Phillips. Sunday school will be held as usual, and there will be a Union Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening, at 7:15 o'clock.

—The members of the Division Street Baptist Church gave a largely attended lawn social at the residence of the pastor, Rev. Kingman A. Handy on Thursday evening. The lawn was beautifully decorated and an abundance of refreshments were served.

—In turning the corner of Main and Dock streets Thursday evening the automobile, driven by Mr. Marion A. Humphreys ran into Mr. Harry Nelson who was crossing the street at the time, throwing him into the street. A large crowd congregated as it was thought that Nelson had been seriously injured. Upon inquiry, however, it was found that the young man was not hurt.

—It is expected that a large number of Salisburyans will take advantage of the excursion over the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company's line to Chesapeake Beach and Washington on Wednesday, August 21st. The fare will be $1.00 for the round trip to Chesapeake Beach and 50 cents additional to Washington. Excursionists will have about one hour at the beach and three hours and a half in the city of Washington.

—LOST—Gold signet ring with letter "T" engraved upon it. Reward is returned to Miss Lucille Trussell, Main street.

—Mr. Henry J. Byrd is in a critical condition at his home on Main St. suffering from an attack of paralysis. This is the third attack, he having recently recovered from a severe illness of the same nature.

—Miss Gertrude Moore gave a party Thursday evening, at which about twenty guests were entertained, in honor of Miss Fay Turpin. The feature of the evening's entertainment was the progressive peanut given on the lawn, which was fittingly decorated.

—Little Miss Haddie Laubsch, of New Jersey, who made such a popular hit at Potter's moving picture parlor, during her stay in this city last Spring, will return Saturday and remain until school opens. She will sing the latest songs at Potter's moving picture exhibition each evening during her stay here.

—In order to preserve order on excursion trains, Messrs. L. C. Kim Porter and Elijah M. Elliott were recently admitted by Governor Warfield as special policemen on the M. D. & V. R. R. and the B. C. & A. Ry., respectively. They will accompany all excursions on these railroads.

—Having given out about all the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia territory for Lott's Rapid Steam Washer, I have secured the general agency for a few good counties in the Eastern part of Virginia, and have a good proposition for a few hustling agents. E. W. Truitt, Salisbury, Md.

—The farmers of this county who are fortunate enough to have even a fair crop of peaches this year are getting prices ranging from $2.75 to $3.50 per basket according to the quality. It is estimated that Mr. Samuel Phillips, on the "Causey" farm will receive about $4,000.00 for his crop of two thousand baskets.

—The condition of Dr. Levin D. Collier, who was operated on at the Peninsula General Hospital Sunday evening for appendicitis, is improving and it is expected that he will soon be able to leave the institution. Dr. Collier is the patient of Dr. L. W. Morris and the operation was performed by Dr. Burnham, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, of Baltimore.

—Mrs. George W. Nealey and daughter Katherine, will leave for Crisfield Monday, where they will join Mrs. Nealey's father, Captain Cullen and family. The party will then cruise the tide waters of Maryland and Virginia in Capt. Cullen's handsome yacht. They will visit the Jamestown Exposition and many other places of interest before their return.

—The excursion boat Queen Anne left Salisbury Wednesday morning for a three days trip to the Jamestown Exposition. A large number of people were at the wharf to see the departure, but considering the exceedingly low rate the number of people taking advantage of the trip was small. It is expected that the same parties will run another excursion later in the season.

—The large shade trees in the Court House yard are being trimmed. This improvement has two distinct advantages. First, it will allow the rays of the sun to penetrate the grounds which will have a tendency to increase the crop of cow peas and corn. Incidentally it will also stimulate the crab grass. Second, it will give the members of the "Sitstill" club, which meets every evening on the public benches, an unobstructed view of the moving picture exhibit. The heavy foliage has heretofore interfered with their vision.

Heroic Work Of Officer Crouch.

With his mind evidently in a much muddled state from the effects of Delmar "white lightning," Lemuel Brittingham, a resident of South Salisbury, attempted to drive his horse and carriage across the railroad bridge across Lake Humphreys Monday night. Had it not been for the heroic efforts of Officer James Crouch, the Jamestown Exposition Flyer, carrying hundreds of passengers to a Southern destination, would have been wrecked on the bridge and Brittingham would have met instant death.

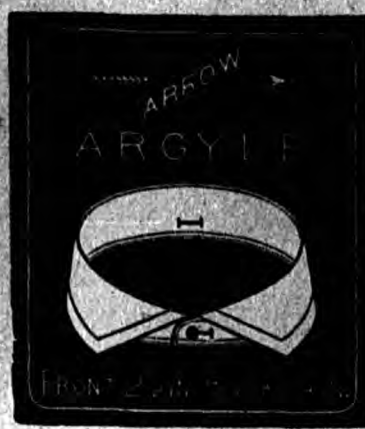

Hearing cries for help from the bridge, the night watchman hurried to the scene and found that the horse had been driven about ten feet on the ties before falling through. Realizing that it was about time for the South-bound train, the officer tied his red handkerchief around his lantern and flagged the express just in time to prevent a terrible catastrophe. The night men at the railroad station were then summoned, and with the assistance of the train crew the horse and vehicle were removed from the tracks.

Lost.

Fair sized black and white pointer, dog, evenly marked. Answers name of "Pete". Reward if returned to D. B. Cannon.

Worth Knowing

It is easy to make claims, and we admit that we are likely to be prejudiced in favor of our own goods, but we do not ask you to take our word for everything we say. We do believe that Arrow Brand Collars excel in the three essentials—Style, Fit and ease. But we want you to investigate, to compare, and to find out these things for yourselves. We know our collars, and we know just as well how other collars are made, so we don't hesitate to rest our case with you. Collar making is no secret process. Anyone can take a collar apart and see how it is constructed. Machinery has been designed to take care of certain simple processes—the rest is done by hand. Ordinary collars almost invariably go to pieces at the ends of the fold. In all of Thoroughgood's fold collars interlinings are removed at this point, gaining flexibility, where most collars break at the second or third laundering. There's no use talking, the collars that Lacy Thoroughgood or James Thoroughgood sells are the best collars that can be made. They are the Arrow Brand, made by Cluett, Peabody & Co., Troy, N. Y. We carry constantly in stock at least one thousand dollars worth of linen collars, and have every good style made. Lacy Thoroughgood has two stores selling these collars. A Question of Precedence.

By CURRAN RICHARD GREENLEY.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

The limited pulled out from the station as a dash of sleet against the windows gave warning of the increasing storm. Agatha shivered as she pulled the wraps closer about her shoulders. Somewhere out in that swirl of sleet and snow Dick Weldon was breasting the storm, his dark face darker still with the pain that her words had inflicted. Even so, let him go since it had to be a question of precedence between her love and his profession. She recalled the night that she had excused herself from her hostess' box party to remain at home for Weldon's call, only to sit alone in the deserted drawing room, and he had not even troubled to send an excuse.

That was the beginning of the end. Now her bridges were all burned, and every moment speeding her toward the new life out there in the orient. Katharine Laird's invitation to go with them to Japan had reached her at the crucial moment—Japan, dim, dusky dream that all her life had lain just over the border of possibility, and with Katharine and Mills of all people! Katharine wrote that the appointment was not of sufficient importance to count as a political asset; therefore they would be safe to remain there for years.

Then out of the misty premises of the future came the memory of Weldon's face when baldly, brutally, without one softening note of regret, she had told him of her plans and in the next breath a conventional farewell in the presence of the other guests. She had built up the wall of injured pride all too securely, leaving no loophole for belated explanations.

The train settled down to the long run through the open country, and the twinkling lights of villages swept by like fireflies through the stormy darkness. Loneliness engulfed her, and in desperation she sought refuge in her berth, to lie, open eyed, all the sleepless night, while the certainty of her folly beat in upon her, clearer with each succeeding hour.

Morning found them far out on the level of the prairies, with the snow coming down with unabated energy. The engine fought its way through the drifts, but at last the big wheels stood still. Agatha woke up to the fact that something was wrong when the men began to file out of the car. Then a man came down the aisle and stopped at her seat.

"Dick! Dick Weldon!" She was on her feet, both hands outstretched and all grievances forgotten in the glad revulsion of feeling. If he had noticed the joy in face and voice, he made no sign as he dropped into the vacant seat.

"We are snowbound and may have to spend the rest of the day here until the plow comes to our relief."

The matter of fact tone put confusion to flight and gave Agatha time to find herself while he ran on with an easy flow of commonplace.

"You were on all night?" she ventured.

Weldon's eyes met hers fairly. "Yes, I would have made my presence known, but feared you would resent the intrusion; you have kept me so thoroughly out in the cold of late."

"I—that is," and the words failed her.

Weldon pulled a magazine from his pocket and handed it to her, the shadow of a smile lurking in his eyes. "Have you seen that article on Japan? It may interest you." Then he vanished behind his paper.

Agatha picked up the magazine, the gray blur between her eyes and the page threatening to overflow.

"Why need he flaunt his indifference so brazenly?" she thought. "No one asked him to come." But she stole a look at the dark, intent face, and their eyes met. The paper fell to the floor between them. "No use, dear lady, I confess. I followed because I could not stay behind."

"What! Left all those wonderfully interesting patients just to follow me? This belated interest is simply amazing." But the heightened color and the laughter deep in her eyes belied her words. Under cover of the magazine Weldon's hand sought and found hers. They had the car practically to themselves, and the brown head dropped perilously near to Weldon's shoulder as he bent over the girl and the door was flung open and a porter dashed through, yelling as he went: "Is there a doctor on board? There's a child 'bout to die back there in the way car, and its mother's scared stiff."

Weldon hesitated; then the call to duty overcame. With an appealing glance at the girl, "You will hear me afterward?" he was gone.

Agatha turned to the blind whiteness without, her lips trembling.

"It will always be so—a secondary consideration." She knew the words he would have said—felt the lost sweetness of the desecrated moment. Hours seemed to pass in the next ten minutes. The porter returned for Weldon's suit case; then the passengers drifted back into the warm car. There is nothing exciting in contemplating a snowdrift, and they could continue the discussion in comfort. Agatha longed to escape the chatter.

She went through the intervening sleepers to the way car, where, at the end in a little space, she found Weldon. His coat was off, the instrument case open on the floor, and across the dingy velvet of the seat lay the child.

Weldon turned quickly.

"It is malignant diphtheria. Are you afraid?"

She shook her head, her eyes growing soft with pity as she watched the little head tossing from side to side and heard the choking gasps. For the first time Agatha understood.

"Can I help you?"

The smile that lit his dark face was her reward.

"I would not have asked it, but I would be only too thankful if you would. Get that alcohol lamp started. These instruments must be sterilized."

Agatha obeyed, losing all sense of strangeness in the surroundings as Weldon issued his orders and those short gasps grew more labored. With the porter's assistance, he placed the child on a little table borrowed from the sleeper, then, looking steadily into the girl's eyes, for the first time, called her by name—"Agatha, try to remember that this is absolutely necessary, that the child is unconscious and does not feel the pain. Be ready to give me the instruments as I call for them, and don't let a thought of his suffering trouble you." Then to the women who were crowding around, "Take the mother to the other end of the car and keep away from here."

The baby throat was bared, and the knife flashed in Weldon's hand—another flash. "The sponge," and the steady fingers pressed the wound apart. "Now the tube and place your fingers here."

Agatha obeyed, blind and deaf to all but Weldon's low toned command. The slow minutes dragged out a lifetime, while she stood there and Weldon sutured and bandaged, the play of the strong white fingers holding her fascinated.

"Look!" He pointed to the small face on which the awful blue gray hue was giving place to a natural pallor.

"He is breathing easily now, but the next question is the nursing. You see the mother?" and he nodded toward the tawdry bundle of shabby dyes that occupied the center of the sympathizing group. "He will die unless he has the best of care. Poor little wretch! It may be a cruel kindness to bring him back, but one forgets all that in the heat of battle." He smiled down into her eyes. The baby stirred and moaned, and in the girl's heart the instinct of all motherhood roused in answer. "Do you think she would let us take him and care for him?"

"Us"—Weldon's heart gave a mighty leap—"let me? She will have to, if I say so, but you?"

"Never mind about me. I—I want to."

When the small patient awoke to his suffering, there was little time for sentiment. During the long day, while they lay snowbound, Weldon and Agatha battled for the child's life. Then the train sped on its way, while the mother whiled away the interval with ineffectual trips from car to car until Weldon bade her stay away altogether until the crisis was passed. He wired ahead for an ambulance, and they went direct to the hospital. The worst was over, and they could safely leave him to the nurses, but Agatha's eyes were wet as they passed out into the sunshine. She had grown to love the small thing that had depended so utterly upon her care.

Weldon took the seat beside her as he gave the order. "To the Palace hotel." The Lairds were stopping there. His hand closed over hers. "Agatha, it was just such a case as this that held me that night—worse, the only child of a widowed mother, and it died. I could not leave that dying child to send a message, and when I would have explained later you would not hear me. You have felt that I placed my profession before you. You could not know then, but now—"

The brown eyes met his, bright through the mist of unshed tears. "Now I understand."

Cleaning the Skin.

Owing to the oiliness of the skin, it cannot be efficiently cleansed by water alone; hence the morning cold bath, which is delightfully tonic and invigorating to those with whom it agrees, is a delusion and a snare so far as efficient cleansing properties are concerned. The rubbing which one undergoes after the cold bath undoubtedly assists in the removal of the dried secretions from the skin, but there is still need of some substance which will so modify the greasy coating as to render it capable of being washed off. Such an agent we possess in soap, which is essentially a combination of an alkali (soda or potash) and a fat or oil. There is always some free alkali in soap, and this, when rubbed with water on the body, unites with the oily material of the skin and renders it soluble. Soaps made with potash (soft or black soaps) contain too much alkali, so that when they are used to wash the skin the natural oil is so effectively removed as to leave the skin dry and harsh and altogether "too tight," as commonly expressed, for its owner.

Why They Left.

"Hello, George! What's everybody crowding out of the drawing room for? Have refreshments been announced?"

George—No. But Aunt Matilda is getting ready to sing.

ALGIE'S NATURE STUDIES.

A Story Kipling Forgot to Put in His Jungle Book.

The tiger is a treacherous beast. It belongs to the cat family, but it ain't the kind of cat that walks the fence nites yellin' Maria. My Unkel Dick knows a rime about a yung lady of Nigur who went out to ride on a tiger, an when this came bak the lady wuz ridin' inside the tiger, an there wuz a smile on his face. Unkel Dick sez there are tigers in Nigur, so I gess the story must be troo.

A tiger skin makes a fine rug, but when its on a tiger its a different proposition. My Unkel Dick sez you never kno wether you are huntin' the tiger or the tiger is huntin' you. This makes it eggslin to say the least.

Stripes are considered in good taste in the jungle, an tigers allways wear them. Wun time a leppard sez to a tiger, "Wy don't you wear spots?" An the tiger answered, "Cuz it wud brake my hart to be taken for a leppard."

Then the fited somethin' awful, an the tiger eated the leppard awl up. An pretty sune he felt mitey sick an called in old Doctor Munkey an Doctor Munkey lookt at his tung an felt his paw an sed, "Yoor comin down with spotted fever."

My unkel sez thats a story Rudyard Kipling forgot to put in his jungle book.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Even Match.

Danny Tracy, widower, did his second courting through a matrimonial agency and in time formed an alliance with Abigail Jones, widow, who lived in a neighboring state. He went to her home for the ceremony and seemed rather ill at ease while it was being performed.

When they were safely married he cleared his throat and announced to his bride that he had a confession to make.

"It's about the wedding present I have for you," he said. "I thought—that is, I—well, I calculated it would be a nice surprise. I have four children at home waiting to call you mother."

Mrs. Tracy nodded her head approvingly.

"'Twill be more companionable for the little Joneses!" she said.

"The Joneses!" gasped Danny. "And who are they?"

"There's six of them, Danny, dear," said his new wife. "They're my wedding present to you."—Youth's Companion.

Unprecedented.

"Nothing like that ever happened to me before! A patient that we had been treating for appendicitis died, and what do you think the post mortem showed? The fellow really had appendicitis!"—Jugend.

Informed.

Sam, a negro servant of a Harrisburg family, is very ambitious to appear well informed on all subjects. His master had installed electric lights throughout the house and was explaining the workings of the fluid to Sam as follows:

"You see, the whole thing comes from the dynamo and goes into the wires and then into the lights. Now do you understand?"

"Yes, sah," said Sam. "I understand all 'bout dem dynamos and other things, but what I wants to know is how do the kerosene squirt thoo dem wicks?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Peculiar Damage Suit.

In a certain town in Indiana a man brought suit against a hardware company for $10,000 damages. He claimed that a rope that he had bought to commit suicide with broke and thus foiled his plans. After the rope broke he said he could not get up courage enough to try it over.—Judge's Library.

The Brute.

They had been married three months. "Is my back hair all right?" she queried as they were leaving the house.

"Which is—er—your hair?" queried the mere man.—St. Louis Republic.

Whoopers.

"That fisherman is always talking about the whoopers he caught."

"He doesn't catch them," answered Miss Cayenne, "he merely tells them."—Washington Star.

"Beyond the Alps."
A Kansas girl graduate who had been given the theme, "Beyond the Alps," promulgated the following: "I don't care a cent whether Italy is beyond the Alps or in Missouri. I do not expect to set the river on fire with my future career. I am glad that I have a good education, but I am not going to misuse it by writing poetry or essays on the future woman. It will enable me to correct the grammar of any lover I may have should he speak of 'dolls' in my presence or 'seen a man.' It will also come handy when I want to figure out how many pounds of soap a woman can get for three dozen eggs at the grocery. So I do not begrudge the time I spent in acquiring it. But my ambitions do not fly so high. I just want to marry a man who can lick anybody of his weight in the township, who can run an eighty acre farm and who has no female relatives to come around and try to boss the ranch. I will agree to cook dinners for him that won't send him to an early grave and lavish upon him a whole-some affection and to see that his razor has not been used to cut broom wire when he wants to shave. In view of all this I do not care if I get a little rusty on the rule of three and kindred things as the years go by."—Topeka Capital.

Part of the Letter We Read.
"Did you ever think," said an old printer, "that we really notice only the upper halves of the letters? The lower halves are in many cases only the stems, the remainders of ornamental flourishes which have been gradually reduced in size and length and are now meaningless. Take, for instance, the heading of a paper. Cover up with a blank sheet the lower half of the letters, and even if you did not know what they were you would have no difficulty in reading the words. Now, reverse the process and cover the upper half, and if you did not know the words it would be impossible to make out the letters. This fact is even more plainly seen in the case of the Roman letters used for headlines. An L might be mistaken for an I, but nearly all the other letters are so plainly indicated by the shape of the upper half that the lines may be read without difficulty."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How to Become an Artist.
Holman Hunt began his art labors when at the age of four he cut off a lock of his own hair to make a paint brush. It is rather a serious matter for the artist rightly to choose some pictures and as far as possible imitate the manner of beginning his career. We all know the story of Benjamin West and the cat's tail. Alston, being a cubist, is supposed to have squeezed the luscious hues from flowers to make his paints. As there are probably many young artists contemplating a career, why not suggest a few new ways of beginning?

Make a brush from popper's shaving brush, from mummer's hairbrush, from uncle's chin whiskers, from auntie's false front.
No doubt the reason there are few great artists nowadays is that it is so hard to avoid ready made paint brushes. They are thrust upon children in the public schools. How can we hope for a Benjamin West with brushes a drug on the market?—Phillip L. Hale in Boston Herald.

A Dog Detective.
In 1829 a peasant was found murdered in a wood in the department of the Loire, France, with his dog sitting near the body. No clue could at first be gained as to the perpetrators of the crime, and the victim's widow continued to live in the same cottage, accompanied always by the faithful dog. In February, 1837, two men, apparently travelers, stopped at the house, requesting shelter from the storm, which was then granted, but no sooner had the dog seen them than he flew at them with great fury and would not be pacified. As they were quitting the house one of them said to the other, "That rascally dog has not forgotten us." This raised the suspicion of the widow, who overheard it, and she applied to the gendarmes in the neighborhood, who followed and arrested the men. After a long examination one of the criminals confessed.—Ralph Neville in Outing Magazine.

A New Phase of Biology.
A widow recently came from Albany to live with relatives in Brooklyn. Her new neighbors discovered that she was given to romancing about small matters. On her own behalf she claimed to take the "poetic view" of life. But one of her neighbors was inclined to use a "shorter and more ugly word" in describing the trait. Among other things the woman from Albany stated that her late husband was a biologist in the state's service, presumably at Albany. Later on it was learned that he really had been in the state's service, doing time at Sing Sing for a small forgery.

A professor's wife came to the rescue. "Biologist is the poetic term, all right," she said. "My husband tells me a biologist is a student of cell life."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Just a Suggestion.
"Oh, my!" exclaimed the excited woman who had mislaid her husband. "I'm looking for a small man with one eye."
"Well, ma'am," replied the polite shopwalker, "if he's a very small man maybe you'd better use both eyes."

St. George and the Dragon.
Other nations besides England have fought under the banner of St. George, and other knightly orders as well as that of the Garter have been instituted in his honor. He was the guardian saint of Sicily, Aragon, Valencia, Genoa, Malta and Barcelona; a Venetian order of St. George was created in 1200, a Spanish in 1317, an Austrian in 1470, a Genoese in 1472 and a Roman in 1492. More modern orders bearing his name are those of Bavaria (1729), Russia (1767) and Hanover (1839). The device of St. George slaying the dragon forms part of the arms of the czar and appears on several Russian coins. The conjecture that this was owing to the presentation of the Garter by Elizabeth to Ivan Vassilievitch has no foundation in fact, for Chancellor, the first outspoken Englishman to visit Russia, speaks of a dispatch sent in 1564 from Ivan Vassilievitch to Queen Mary, the seal of which "was much like the broad seal of England, having on the one side the image of a man on horseback in complete harness fighting with a dragon."—London Chronicle.

Queer Positions of Hearts.
There is one curious fact which not everybody notices about the common, finger-long, green caterpillars of our larger moths. Their hearts, instead of being in front, are at the back of the body and extend along the entire length of the animal. One can see the heart distinctly through the thin skin and can watch its slow beat, which starts at the tail and moves forward to the head. Hearts of this sort reaching from head to tail are not at all uncommon in the simpler creatures. The earthworm has one, and so have most worms, caterpillars and other crawling things. Hearts in the middle of the back also are quite as frequent as those in what seems to us to be the natural place. Many animals, the lobster for example, and the crayfish and the crab, which have short hearts like those of the beasts and birds, nevertheless have them placed just under the shell in what, in ourselves, would be the small of the back.—St. Nicholas.

One Source of News.
For many years a certain New York paper received society and club gossip from a man whose identity was concealed by a clever ruse. Even his checks were made out to his wife in her maiden name. He furnished information about the doings and wrangles in various clubs—little stories involving people whose names are known by reputation to practically all readers of newspaper columns. He is said thus to have averaged an income of about $10 a week—not much, but enough to buy hats, gloves and canes. He was a most immaculate and apparently prosperous person. It is needless to say that he has never been suspected of this small traffic. A wealthy relative died and left him independent. When some such man furnishes the clew to a delectable scandal he has done a stroke of business that will keep him in small luxuries for months to come.—Whitman Bennett in Bohemian.

A Man's Career.
A man ought to look upon his career as a great artist looks upon his masterpiece, as an out-picturing of his best self, upon which he looks with infinite pride and a satisfaction which nothing else can give. Yet many people are so loosely connected with their vocation that they are easily separated from it.—Success Magazine.

A Fish Story.
The latest fish story concerns the herring and sea gull, and it comes from Nantahale. A boat load of herring, containing about fifteen tons, was left at Johnston's wharf, Nantahale, during the noon hour while the fishermen went to dinner. During their absence several thousand sea gulls—the chronicler says 10,000—ate all the fish on one side of the boat with such good results that they emptied it, and when the last herring had been removed from that side it was like the last straw that broke the camel's back, for the boat, with all the weight on the other side, upset, spilling all the remaining fish into the water.—Shanghai Mercury.

Devoured by Jackals.
Foreign papers tell a story of a woman at Philippeville, in Algeria, who was seated by her baby's cradle on the veranda of her house when she was called within by her husband. Returning to the veranda after an absence of a few minutes, she found the cradle knocked over and the baby gone. Next day native shepherds discovered in the undergrowth of a wood the bones of a young child and a string of amber beads, which were immediately recognized by the mother as having been on her child's neck. "There is no doubt that the infant was carried off and devoured by jackals," a correspondent adds.

What is an Orator?
The true orator is the man who can make people laugh, cry and feel what he says. In truth, the genuine orator is the man who has humor enough in his soul to bring the smile to the face, pathos enough in his heart to bring the tear to the eye and dignity enough in his bearing to persuade or move men. He is an exponent of the spoken word. He is a pilgrim moving toward the home of the ideal. He is the embodiment of earnestness, enthusiasm and eloquence.—Exchange.

Mrs. Julia Harrington is in Baltimore, visiting her grand-daughter, Mrs. Frank Tabelling.

Mr. Herman S. Turner, of Baltimore, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. S. Turner.

Mr. Harry Willing returned Friday from a ten day's visit to the Jamestown Exposition.

Mrs. John White and daughter, Miss Girland, of Baltimore, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Theresa Turner of Salisbury, is spending the week with Miss May Messick, and attending the camp.

Rev. G. R. Neese of Wilmington, who has been the guest of Mr. T. J. Walter, for a week, returned home Thursday.

Mrs. Warren Walter and little daughter, Margaret, of Baltimore, will spend several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Walter.

Mrs. Mary P. Crosby, who has been visiting in Philadelphia for several months, is now the guest of Mrs. A. F. Turner.

Miss Mamie Stidham of Baltimore, who has been spending two weeks with Mrs. Agnes Watson, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fenton and their grand-son, David Baker, of Bladen, Del., are visiting Mrs. Fenton's niece, Mrs. Wm. Griffin.

Misses Carrie and Sadie Turner, and their little niece, Amy Turner, returned last week from Pen-Mar, Pa., where they spent three weeks. They also visited Gettysburg Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., while away.

Parsonsburg.

Messrs. B. Q. Riley and John Rauls are reported on the sick list.

The Brass Band here is open for picnic services at very reasonable prices.

Messrs. C. A. Truitt and Walter Wimbrow, of Philadelphia, are down for the camp.

Owing to the camp the Parsonsburg Council No. 134 Jr. O. U. A. M. will not open until Monday evening after the services.

Mr. A. J. Tilghman and family, Mr. T. A. Tilghman and wife, and Mr. Wm. Tilghman spent Sunday last at Ocean City. All report having a pleasant time.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Driscoll died Monday afternoon. The remains were interred on Tuesday in the M. E. Cemetery here.

It is to be regretted that visitors to the camp will see the deplorable condition of the Parsonsburg Cemetery. It is to be hoped that the burying ground will present a much better appearance in the near future.

Today the Parsonsburg Camp is on. Many improvements have been made at the camp ground, many old tents torn down and new ones built, some of them two stories. Mr. E. T. Holloway promises to have an up-to-date confectionery stand and will be able to serve his patrons with the best ice, etc., that money can buy. This is to be expected of him, or he will get a rip up the back during the camp.

Accidents At Sharptown.

A series of accidents have recently occurred at Sharptown. Mrs. Wesley English was driving down Main street a few evenings ago and her horse started to run and rushed into the large store porch of S. J. Cooper & Co., creating quite a commotion, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt.

Mr. C. E. Caulk was out driving and his horse ran away. A small boy was lying down in the barn but the horse slowed down and was caught before any damage was done.

Miss Mattie Henry, a music teacher, was out driving Tuesday and her horse became frightened and ran away, completely demolishing the vehicle. She was picked up unconscious and for several hours was in a critical condition, but has recovered.

Wednesday morning, Milton Nelson, a nine-year-old boy, whose home is with Mr. I. H. Rider, was leading a cow to pasture and got his fingers torn up badly with the rope and two of them had to be amputated at the first joint. The operation was performed by Dr. W. N. Gassaway.

Sharptown Campmeeting.

Preparations are about completed for the campmeeting and more than fifty tents are now the happy dwelling places of four to five hundred people. Mr. H. G. Elzey has the boarding tent and his reputation as a good feeder is well known and the people will be substantially fed. Mr. N. W. Owens has the confectionery tent and cream, cake and confectionery will be supplied in abundance. Mr. E. R. Bennett has the horse pound and he will take care of and feed the horses.

Fire At Princess Anne.

A destructive fire, incuring a loss of about $16,000 played havoc in the business section of Princess Anne Tuesday morning. The insurance is about $8,000.00.

The property where the fire originated belonged to Mrs. William H. Ross, of Fairmount, and was occupied by Oscar F. Jones, grocer; T. J. Smith & Co., druggists; A. J. Huffington & Son, grocers, and H. C. Waller hardware. The loss is as follows:

The Ross property, $4,000; insurance, $2,500.

T. J. Smith & Co., loss, $4,000; insurance, $2,500.

Oscar F. Jones, loss, $3,000; insurance, $2,000.

H. C. Waller, loss, $800.

A. J. Huffington & Son, loss $400; insurance, $250.

The Pitts buildings were occupied by J. S. Leary & Son on the first floor, whose loss is $2,000, with an insurance of $1,150, and on the third floor by Manokin Lodge No. 109, A. F. & A. M., whose loss is $800, with an insurance of $250.

The house was occupied also by Mrs. Jennie R. Jones as a dwelling and millinery store, whose loss is $500, with no insurance.

The citizens of Princess Anne, telephoned to Salisbury for assistance and a general alarm was turned in shortly after four o'clock. The firemen responded quickly and within a very short time one of the engines, together with hose reels, etc., were loaded on a special train sent down from Delmar, but advice were received before the train started that the blaze was under control.

DEATH VISITS HOMES OF MANY SALISBURIANS.

Several Deaths During The Week—
Rev. A. J. Vanderbogat Dies At New York Watering Place And Will Be Buried Here.

Rev. Alvin Jones Vanderbogat died at Saranac Lake, New York, Tuesday after an illness of about six months. He was removed from Ocean City to the Adirondacks on Friday of last week on the advice of his physicians in the hope of saving his life. His illness was so severe, however, that he succumbed a few days after his arrival at the New York watering place.

His body was brought to this city last evening and the funeral services will be conducted today from the Vanderbogat residence on Lemon Hill, with interment in Parsons cemetery.

Rev. Vanderbogat was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1863 and was 44 years of age at the time of his death. He was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Vanderbogat, both of whom survive him. Early in his life he showed a strong desire to enter the ministry, and he was sent to the theological seminary at Alexandria, Va. From there he entered a school at Salem, Mass., and later matriculated at a theological school at Salem, New York. His theological education was finished at the New York Seminary. Owing to ill health he only studied at intervals and was nearly nine years preparing for the ministry.

His first charge was at Rocky Mount, North Carolina, and it was from there that he was called to this city and he became rector of St. Peter's Church in 1895 and remained in charge of the local parish until he tendered his resignation in 1903.

In June, 1898, he married Margaret, eldest daughter of Ex-Governor and Mrs. E. E. Jackson, and he is survived by his wife and three children—Jackson McAlpine, Hugh Jackson and John Rider Vanderbogat.

Mrs. Mary F. Toadvine.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Francis Toadvine were conducted Thursday afternoon by Rev. C. A. Hill at Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church. The many floral tributes were a mark of the high esteem in which she was held by her large circle of friends.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. E. E. Twilley, W. J. Downing, B. H. Parker, Vandalia Perry, James E. Ellegood and Dr. Eugene Humphreys. The interment was made in Parsons cemetery.

Mrs. Toadvine suffered a stroke of paralysis about five weeks ago, from which she never recovered and which resulted in her death Tuesday. She was the widow of the late Matthias Toadvine and is survived by one daughter, Miss Annie Elizabeth Toadvine.

Elizabeth E. Workman.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Workman, aged 73 years, died Sunday night at her home on E. William street, extended, of nephritis. Deceased was the widow of the late James P. Workman. She was a woman of a lovable nature and was a consistent member of Asbury M. E. Church, at which the funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning by Rev. C. A. Hill, of Wilmington, in the absence of the pastor, Dr. T. E. Martindale. The interment was made in the Church burying-ground.

Elizabeth Lecates.

One of the oldest residents of South Salisbury, Mrs. Elizabeth Lecates, passed away from general debility Tuesday. She was well known in the vicinity in which she lived and had passed her eighty-eighth year. The funeral services were conducted at her late residence Wednesday morning by Rev. J. W. Hardesty.

Little Child Dead.

The six months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Parker died Thursday night at their home on Main street, California. The little child was one of Mr. and Mrs. Parker's twin children and was only ill a short time. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the residence, with interment in Parsons cemetery.

Elizabeth Shockley.

Elizabeth, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Shockley, of Nutters district died early in the week and was buried Thursday in the family burying ground on Mr. Shockley's farm.

TRI-COUNTY INSTITUTE AT OCEAN CITY MONDAY.

School Teachers Of Three Counties Will Convene At Popular Summer Resort And Plan The Work For School Year.

About three hundred school ma'ams will gather at Ocean City Monday at the annual tri-county institute of the teachers of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties. Each county formerly held its institute individually until three years ago when the experiment of the tri-county joint institute was tried and found to be successful. Of the teachers in the three counties Wicomico has 98, Somerset 97 and Worcester 101.

The institute will convene Monday, August 26th and will come to a close Friday, September 6th. An instructive schedule of work has been arranged under the supervision of County Superintendent H. Crawford Bounds and it is expected that a great deal of good will be accomplished. It is at these institutes that the general work of the different grades is planned for the entire school term and they are highly instructive to the teachers. The best instructors in the state have been engaged as follows: School Management, Prof. E. D. Murdaugh, of the Frostburg State Normal School; Science and Manual Arts, William A. C. Hammel, of the Greensboro, N. C. State Normal School; Mathematics, Robert F. Anderson, of West Chester, Pa.; Reading, Literature and Pedagogy, William G. Cleaver, of Ashbourne, Pa.; English Composition, Henry S. West, of Baltimore City Public Schools; Latin, J. Walter Huntington, of the Wicomico High School; Language, Miss Sarah C. Brooks, of the Baltimore Training School; Music, Miss Christine A. Richards, of the Wicomico Public Schools. The institute will be under the supervision of State Superintendent M. Bates Stephens, Superintendent W. H. Dashiell, of Somerset county, Superintendent E. W. McMaster, of Worcester county and Superintendent H. Crawford Bounds, of Wicomico county. Several visiting superintendents from other counties on the Eastern Shore will also be in attendance.

At the close of the institute the teachers will return to their respective school districts and the schools of this county will be opened, with the exception of a few district schools, on Monday, September 9th.

Sayre Will Settled.

The final settlement of the will of the late Edward F. Sayre will be made Wednesday when all of his property in the state of New Jersey will be sold at public sale at Spring Lake, in the same state. Attorney Alexander M. Jackson, who has in hand the interests of Mrs. Mary Emma Booth, the sole devisee, under the terms of the will, will leave this city Tuesday morning and will be present at the sale. The property consists of mortgages, real estate and cash in bank and amounts to several thousand dollars. Most of the property is at Spring Lake which is a popular New Jersey summer resort.

It will be remembered that Mr. Sayre came to this city to be treated by Dr. Gardner Spring about a year ago and died shortly afterward at the home of Mrs. Booth, with whom he boarded during his illness. In return for the many kindnesses bestowed upon him before his death he made a will bequeathing all of his estate to Mrs. Booth.

Jones—Pusey.

A very quiet wedding at the home of Mrs. Ella R. Ward's aroused the curiosity of a number of the citizens of Fruitland Wednesday night, August 21, when her niece, Miss Carrie E. Pusey, was married to Mr. Charles B. Jones. Miss Ella Mezick played the wedding march. The marriage ceremony was performed by their pastor. It is believed that their industry, economy, honesty and liberality will give them success wherever they go.

Notice!

There will be services (D. V.), in Spring Hill Parish on Sunday next August 26th as follows:

Spring Hill Church, 10:30 a. m.

Quantico, 7:30 p. m.

NO CHANGE DESIRED. SAY LOCAL MERCHANTS.

Favorable Transportation Facilities To All Markets And Unprogressive Methods Causes Baltimore To Lose Eastern Shore Trade.

In regard to all that has been said and published in Baltimore newspapers relative to the campaign of the merchants of that city in their endeavor to secure the trade of the Eastern Shore counties, the question naturally arises as to whether or not the wholesale and retail merchants of the Monumental City have made sufficiently attractive bids for the Eastern Shore trade.

Largely attended and enthusiastic meetings have been held, the matter has been placed on several occasions before the Board of Trade and the merchants of Baltimore have even made an endeavor to influence the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to make a freight rate between Baltimore and points on the Eastern Shore which would serve to induce the produce growers to ship their produce to Baltimore and make their purchases in that city.

With the view of ascertaining the opinion of Eastern Shore dealers, Mr. J. W. Lee, Jr., representing the Pennsylvania system was in Salisbury this week and interviewed both the local wholesale and retail merchants on the subject. A number of the larger produce growers were also interviewed to ascertain the true trade relations with Baltimore as compared with the larger cities of the North.

The merchants of Baltimore, in their present campaign to regain some of the trade of the Eastern Shore, have given the transportation companies to understand that they could handle all of the produce of the Eastern Shore counties, and that the local growers preferred Baltimore to other markets. The merchants of the Maryland metropolis seem to overlook the fact that Salisbury wholesalers are competing successfully with those of Baltimore, and that the local retail merchants do not want the people of Wicomico county to go to Baltimore to do their shopping. They seem to overlook the fact that the wholesale houses of this city are practically in a position to supply the entire demand of the Eastern Shore trade, and by their progressive methods and the number of salesmen employed have secured and now control the bulk of the business which was formerly in the control of the Baltimore markets.

Shippers in Wicomico county are reaching out to markets all over the country and they have been able to do so through comparatively equal transportation facilities and rates to all of the larger competitive markets. Surely the merchants of Baltimore do not think that a change is desired.

Another reason why Baltimore has lost all of this business is that there are comparatively few salesmen traveling this territory representing Baltimore houses. Upon inquiry it has been learned that buyers and salesmen from other markets outnumber Baltimore ten to one and, this being the case, it is not strange that the people who are coming after the business are getting it. It would seem that Baltimore would move toward regaining the trade of these counties if she would put her agents in the field and work for the business instead of carrying on a newspaper agitation. It would accomplish far more for the city. Eastern Shore shippers have favorable rates to all markets and it is perfectly natural that they are seeking the ones which pay the highest prices.

The merchants of Baltimore seem to be sentimentalists rather than the energetic, progressive hustlers of their brethren in the Northern cities.

Hearn Will Probated.

The will of the late Wm. Nutter Hearn was filed for probate in the Register of Wills office Tuesday last. Mr. Hearn bequeaths to his widow, Augusta C. Hearn and his son, Wm. Ray Hearn, the proceeds of the house and lot in Delmar. To his son Herbert he gives $100.00 in cash; to his daughter, Anna May Rounds, the same amount, and to his daughter, Nora Emory Hastings, the sum of $300.00 in cash. He directs that the residue of his estate shall be equally divided between his wife and his four children.

Herbert Hearn and Annas Hastings, are named as Executors.

Sharptown Man Promoted

William J. Phillips formerly of Sharptown, but for several years a resident of Camden N. J., has been made manager of The New and Greater Domestic Laundry of Camden. This new laundry is a consolidation of the Federal Laundry and the Domestic Laundry. This laundry for size and modern appliances is perhaps unequalled in the State of New Jersey.

Mr. Phillips is widely known in Camden and Philadelphia as being an able laundryman. His experience of many years extending to every brand and detail of laundry work has given him a rating as one of the foremost laundrymen of that city and he is now in a position to meet all the general demands of the laundry business. Another inspiration to Wicomico boys.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Miss Sophia C. Moreland, aged 16 years, of Ridgely, W. Va., was accidentally shot through both legs, just above the knee, Monday, by Frank Monnett, the 14 year-old son of Joseph Monnett. Young Monnett was in a room adjoining the room in which Miss Moreland was chatting with some girl friends, and, seeing a shotgun in the corner of the room, he picked it up and walked to the door, where he began playing with the gun. In some manner it was discharged, the shot entering the legs of Miss Moreland, and the discharge of the gun being so close to the neck of one of the other children that the powder burned her.

A portion of the load from the gun struck the arm of a rocking chair, shattering it completely, and it is thought that the chair being in the way is all that saved the girl from death. Young Monnett says he did not know the gun was loaded.

Washington County Democrats.

At an enthusiastic meeting of members of the Democratic County Central Committee held at Hagerstown Tuesday the dates for holding the primaries and the convention to nominate a county ticket were selected.

The primaries will be held on Saturday, September 14, and the convention on September 15. The meeting unanimously endorsed the nomination of Judge Austin L. Crothers for Governor and the remainder of the State Democratic ticket. The work of registration was considered by the Committee, and arrangements made for a systematic plan of action on this line.

EXCERPTS FROM THE PLATFORM

Many Provisions Made For The Direct Benefit Of All The People Of Maryland.

The Maryland Republican Platform, which was adopted at the recent convention in Baltimore is a concise statement of the principles and policies upon which the support of the people is asked at the coming election.

It states that the supreme issue of the campaign is the right of citizens to vote and the unfettered opportunity for the exercise of that right. The repeal of the Wilson Ballot Law, or the trick ballot system of voting which is now in vogue is demanded.

The platform favors a Primary Election Law applicable to the whole State in order that the people may select bona fide State candidates, including candidates for the United States Senate.

It advocates the adoption of a Corrupt Practices Act, and favors an effective provision of the Legislature to prevent bribery at elections or primaries.

It condemns the determination of the Democratic party to submit another disfranchising constitutional amendment.

It favors a system of oyster culture, framed to preserve the right of the State to the natural beds and bars.

It favors legislation for replenishing the depleted beds and bars by the return of the shells to the bottom of the rivers and bays at public expense.

It advocates the appointment of a higher and better grade of men as justices of the peace throughout the State in order that the laws of the State may be more rigidly enforced.

It favors more liberal appropriations for the public school system to the end that the salaries of the teachers may be increased; that each child, no matter how poor, may have the advantage of a lengthened school year to obtain a liberal elementary education.

It favors liberal appropriations from the State Treasury for the construction of better roads throughout the State.

It favors amendments to the laws relating to taxation which will make adequate provision, by clear and certain methods, for the taxation of all property, whether of individuals or corporations.

It heartily indorses, without reserve, the wise, just, firm and patriotic administration of President Roosevelt.

The platform in full will be published in THE COURIER at an early date.

Civil Service Examinations.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces the following examinations to be held at the Post Office, this city, on the dates named: September 4: Die and Tool Maker, Marine Engineer.

September 5: Inspector's Assistant (male).

September 11-12: Local and Assistant Inspector of Hulls. Steamboat Inspection Service.

September 18: Mineral Clerk. Foreman Mechanic. Plumber and Steam Fitter.

Maryland's Old Home Week.

Former Marylanders who visit Baltimore during Old Home Week, October 13 to 19, from whatever section of the State they may have formerly come, will find a special reception committee of their own country folks ready to greet them at a headquarters all their own. The use of the Fifth Regiment Armory has been placed at the disposal of the general reception committee for Old Home Week and handsomely decorated rooms in this spacious building will be set apart for the use of the people from each of the counties of Maryland.

Here the people of each section may have their own little reunion, receiving and entertaining their friends and relatives who will gather on this occasion from all parts of the land.

The Armory will be illuminated and decorated inside and out for the occasion, and it is planned to have one or more bands in constant attendance in the immense drill hall where they will dispense sweet music for the entertainment of the multitude.

Lassoed Crazy Negro.

John Newman, a negro living near Ridgely, went crazy Monday, and after wandering from place to place, went to the colored campmeeting now in progress near there. His queer actions immediately attracted hundreds of his race. He would make marks on the earth with his feet, saying they were death lines. When he began to jump, run and squeal like a pig, services at the campmeeting. Officers were notified, but Newman escaped to the woods.

He was found late in the afternoon in a cornfield, with his clothing torn completely off. He defied the officers, but was finally captured by the use of a lasso. He was taken to Denton jail.

The Heart Beats of the Business World

When you hear the hum of Oliver Typewriters, you are listening to the very heart-beats of the business world. Day in and day out, year in and year out, the Oliver throbs with the pulse of business life.

The Oliver is the rapid-fire machine gun by means of which the Captains of Industry—restless, tireless, impatient of delay—pour business broadsides into the ranks of "the other side."

In every branch of business—Railroad, Banking, Manufacturing, Merchandising, Publishing—in the professions—everywhere.

The OLIVER Typewriter
The Standard Visible Typewriter

is close to the heart of things. It's the telegraph or telephone for emergencies, but the Oliver ALL THE TIME.

The Oliver Typewriter Co.
12 E. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md.

The Oliver runs with ease and precision, and has wonderful capacity for speed. It prints with a downward stroke, with beautiful type that cannot get out of line.

For straight correspondence, for complicated tabulating and billing, for manifolded, stencil cutting, vertical or horizontal line ruling, writing in colors, making records on the stiffest, stoniest cards—the Oliver is equally efficient.

The Oliver is a machine that dovetails into every department, saving the expense of Billing Machines, Book Typewriters, Etc.

It will yield big dividends of satisfaction by adding to the accuracy and beauty of your business letters.

It will pay you in dollars and cents to Oliverize your business. It will be a pleasure to us to send you the Oliver book—it will do you good to read it.

Free Course in Practical Salesmanship

A few young men of character and ability can become local agents for the Oliver Typewriter, by making application immediately. Local agents earn all the way from $500 a year (working part time) to $1000 per month (full time). We give each local agent a course in Practical Salesmanship, under the trained Sales Experts of our Organization. If you wish to learn actual Salesmanship, send in your application at once. This is your opportunity to earn a handsome salary and gain a knowledge of Practical Salesmanship that will be of incalculable value.

Let us send you a free copy of our book, "The Oliver School of Practical Salesmanship." This little book is only for those who mean business—not for the idly curious. Do you mean business? Then write quickly!

TRUCK STOCK GENERAL FARMS

OUR LIST OF FARM PROPERTIES is the largest in the South, and we guarantee absolute satisfaction to the purchaser.

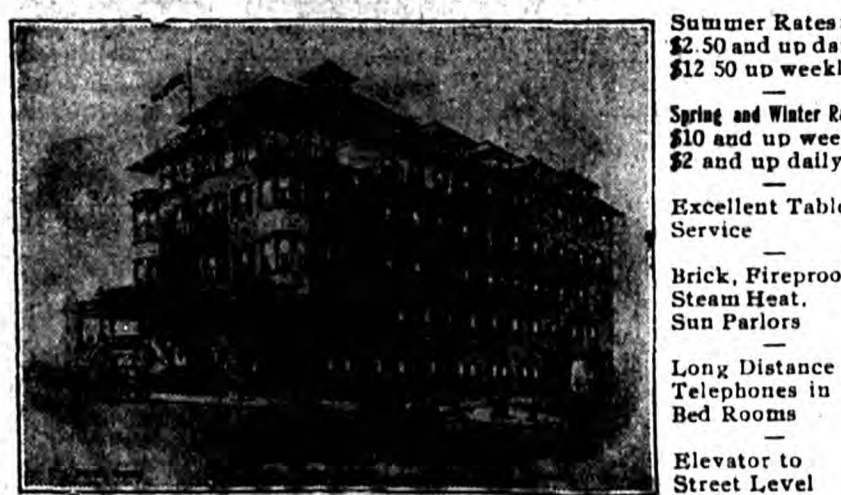

OUR INTIMATE KNOWLEDGE OF FARMING and farm values is placed at the disposal of prospective buyers, and everything possible to secure a satisfactory home for him is done.

ARE YOU INTERESTED? If so, send for our "Home-seeker's Guide" and other printed matter, which will be sent you by return mail.

THE CALL OF THE SEA.

"The water is fine; come in!"

This is the call of the sea, the generous invitation of Old Neptune to partake of the delights of his realm, and it sounds distinct from each of the points in the great chain of seashore resorts in the world—the wave-washed New Jersey coast.

Gay Atlantic City; witching Wildwood; New Cape May in the first flush of its rejuvenation; Sea Isle City, Ocean City, with their smaller sister-resorts nearby; Asbury Park and Long Branch where sylvan shades meet incoming billows—each echo the call to young and old: "Come one; come all!"

These great resorts are within easy access of every section of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Delaware by the fine service of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Its many through express trains to Philadelphia from North, South, East, and West land Passengers in Philadelphia, whence Atlantic City is but one hour by steam trains from Market Street Wharf; an hour and a half by electric trains, and only eighty minutes from Broad Street Station, via the Delaware River Bridge all-rail route. Cape May and Wildwood are only about a hundred minutes from Market Street Wharf or two hours from Broad Street Station.

The fine service of express trains maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad between Philadelphia and Long Branch, Elberon, Allenhurst, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Spring Lake, Sea Girt, and Beach Haven not only serves the convenience of the casual but meets the requirements of the daily traveler.

Excursion tickets, with liberal return limits, may be obtained to any of these popular summering places at reasonably low rates, enabling all who feel the need of a change an opportunity for recreation by the oceanside.

Full details of rates and time of trains may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

NEW LINE OF STEAMERS.

Mr. W. P. Lawson, of Crisfield, Will Operate Independent Line in Eastern Shore Waters.

Mr. W. P. Lawson, of Crisfield, who is arranging to operate an independent line of steamers between Eastern Shore points and Baltimore, has completed arrangements for using the wharf of the Maryland Storage Company, at the foot of York street. Mr. Thomas G. Boggs, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, was instrumental in getting the wharf for Mr. Lawson, and had a conference with officials of the Maryland Storage Company regarding its use. The officials of the company, which acts as terminal agent for the Western Maryland Railroad, expressed a desire to help the independent lines in every way possible.

In addition to Mr. Lawson's steamers, the Maryland Company's wharf will be used by the Annapolis and West River Company, which plans to start a boat to Baltimore next month from Annapolis and West River points.

Officials of the Western Maryland Railroad say that the Company has no direct connection with any of the independent lines now in process of formation, though naturally the Company would feel disposed to assist any line which should act as a feeder to it. If any freight originates on these independent lines for points on the Western Maryland, it can easily be transferred to that Company's lighters in the harbor and be towed around to the terminals at Port Covington. After the new steamboat companies are placed in operation an arrangement may be made whereby through rates to points on the Western Maryland may be made, but as yet it is said nothing has been done in this direction.

Mr. Lawson is the man who recently ran an excursion from Salisbury to Jamestown.

Uzzle Gets Lawyer.

Protected by a detail of six men from the Seventy First Regiment, J. D. Uzzle, the negro editor accused of firing on the stage coach at Onancock 10 days ago, arrived in Norfolk Tuesday morning and is now in the City Jail. He has employed Harry E. Wolcott to defend him, and is preparing to make a big fight to clear himself when the case comes to trial.

NEGRO EDITOR IN JAIL.

Was Taken To Norfolk For Safe Keeping—Was Great Fear That He Would Be Lynched.

J. D. Uzzle, the editor of the negro newspaper at Onancock, who has been in hiding since the outbreak of the night of the 10th, was escorted to Onley Depot, three miles from Onancock, Tuesday morning guarded by 40 soldiers.

Uzzle is charged with being one of the men who fired into the mail wagon carrying the three white men and a white woman on the night of the disturbance.

Monday morning about 4 o'clock he walked into Onancock, and was held up by a squad of soldiers patrolling the street. He promptly gave his name, and said he was looking for the proper person to whom to surrender. He was put in jail immediately, and his arrest kept a secret. The town is entirely quiet, but there was some fear that white people from outside might make an attempt at lynching if it was known that Uzzle was in jail. Early this morning he was taken to Onley, put on a train and sent to Norfolk for safe-keeping.

A detachment of nine men in diamond formation acted as an advanced guard, and Uzzle was surrounded by the main body of the troops. There was not the slightest sign of trouble. It is not unlikely that the others implicated will slip in some night encouraged by Uzzle's experience and surrender to the troops.

The evidence against them is direct. It is entirely that of negroes, who say they were present when the shooting was done. Both the white man that was shot by Uzzle in the street here and the negro that was hit by a stray load of buckshot when the white man in the carriage was fired on, are recovering.

Probably the troops will be kept here through next week, when the negro fair at Tanley is scheduled to be held. It is not known whether this fair will open. Burton is president and Conquest is secretary of the Association, and their absence may prevent it.

New Post Office In Hagerstown.

Postmaster H. K. Startzman, of Hagerstown, has been notified by the Treasury Department, Washington, that he has been appointed custodian of the site for the new postoffice building in this city.

As soon as certain data has been secured and various minor details have been arranged plans for the new building will be prepared, and the government will ask for bids for its construction.

TROUBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

Montgomery Board Refuses To Confirm The Appointment Of Mr. Darby.

Rockville, Md., Aug. 20.—The Board of Public School Commissioners for Montgomery County Wednesday refused to confirm the appointment of John W. Darby as principal of the grammar department of the Rockville High School.

Mr. Darby was several days ago appointed by the votes of Dr. E. B. Prettyman and John M. Heagy, of the board of trustees of the high school, but Washington Hicks, the third member of the board, refused to vote, taking the stand that there was no such position as principal of the grammar school. The contention of Mr. Hicks was sustained by the school board. Mr. Darby is widely connected throughout the county and the action of the board is believed to be likely to create much adverse criticism.

Miss Ida S. Dove, who was some time ago notified by the school board that her services as principal of the school at Bethesda would not be needed the coming year has retained Charles W. Prettyman of the local bar to look after her interests in the event of the courts being called upon to determine her right to teach at Bethesda.

The school commissioners contend that her certificate does not entitle her to teach at a school of the class of the one at Bethesda, but the trustees of the school assert that they have the sole say as to who shall be in charge of the school.

Upon advice of the trustees Miss Dove has retained the key to the school building, and will attempt to continue her duties as principal when the next school year opens.

Letter To Jackson Bros. Company.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sirs: Why do people send us such tales as this?

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous In Salisbury.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. C. W. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back ached, I was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. The secretions annoyed me, and showed plainly the dormant condition of my kidneys. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating, caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended, so I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store, used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Object To Negro Excursions.

The people of Cambridge are threatening to raise a row about the number of negro excursions being run to that city. The steamer Jane Mosley brought a crowd from Baltimore Monday afternoon; another Tuesday, and it is said that there are to be two or three more this week and one on Sunday.

The crowd which came down Monday contained several disorderly characters who got into a fight, which was only quelled when Bailiff Pritchett and Policeman Shorter hauled five of them to the lockup. One of the men resisted and was badly hammered before he would submit. Tuesday morning four of the five men were given a hearing before Justice W. R. Shenton. Two were sent to jail in default of fines and two—John Fisher and John L. Touy—were sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The latter was given the option of paying a fine of $50 dollars and costs.

Republicans Nominate.

The Republicans of the Second Judicial circuit met in the Opera House at Centerville Tuesday and nominated Albert G. Towers, of Caroline, and W. T. Warburton, of Cecil county, for associate judges of this circuit.

The meeting was called to order by L. Bates Russell, of Chestertown. Harvey Scott, of Cecil county, was chairman of the meeting. John T. Carter, of Caroline, was secretary. The meeting was a harmonious one, and the delegates expressed themselves as being very much pleased at the outlook for electing at least one judge at the coming November election.

Jumped From Train—Dead.

Roy M. Turman, the young stenographer in the general offices of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, who Saturday afternoon jumped from a rapidly moving passenger train, is dead as a result of injuries he sustained. Turman had by mistake boarded the wrong train, and before he discovered his mistake the train was speeding along at 40 miles an hour, to make up for lost time. Turman jumped, but the momentum of the train gave his body an awful impetus, and his unconscious form was found 92 feet from where he first alighted.

Baltimore And The Eastern Shore.

The recent agitation in Baltimore relative to trade conditions on the Eastern Shore and the fact that the Maryland metropolis is not obtaining its due portion of the business from this section of the State is being widely discussed and the causes which have produced these conditions are becoming more thoroughly understood.

While it is true that, other things being equal, Baltimore should undoubtedly draw a large proportion of the business from this portion of Maryland, the fact, according to those in a position to know, lies with the city itself in the almost uniformly unfair treatment which, it is generally conceded, has been accorded to the people East of the Chesapeake. According to reliable sources of information, the wholesale dealers of Baltimore have never made any systematic efforts to secure business in this part of the State, nor have they held out such inducements as would insure mutual trade conditions on satisfactory terms. In fact they have constantly dealt with the people here as though there were no other markets open to them, and that as they were absolutely dependent upon them, they could handle the trade as best suited their own supreme convenience and pleasure, without reference to the needs or necessities of the people with whom they were dealing. That there were any obligations resting upon them, or rights existing with the other parties, they seem to have completely ignored, and unprogressive and selfish methods have constantly characterized their dealings with a people to whom the most liberal offers should have been made. It is now stated upon reliable information that Wilmington, Philadelphia and New York have vastly more salesmen and solicitors covering this territory than Baltimore, and the firms from the former cities have taken an interest in the people which was never exhibited by the merchants and commission men of the Monumental City.

The consequence is that while Baltimore has slumbered and slept, the trade has gradually left that city and the recent wild attempts to get it back will be absolutely fruitless, and rightly so, unless it can give the people of the Eastern Shore some assurance that it will handle the trade as satisfactorily as the Northern cities are now doing. Certain it is that wonderfully strong inducements would now have to be held out to bring about a change in trade conditions and it will take years, if it ever accomplishes the result, for Baltimore to regain what she has lost by reason of the methods employed by her in recent years.

It is also a fact that the merchants of Baltimore do not advertise locally as they might profitably do, and it has seriously affected their business and tended to sever their relations with our people. Along this line as in other respects, the city has proceeded on the assumption that the business would naturally come to them without any effort upon their part, and the sudden and rude awakening which has recently taken place has been a serious blow to her pride, as well as to her interests outside the State.

While she has been reaching out and attempting by systematic efforts to secure the trade of the Southern States, she suddenly finds that she is losing a large proportion from her own, with little prospect of ever regaining it.

It is unfortunate that conditions are as they are at the present time, but newspaper agitation and Board of Trade meetings will never bring about a satisfactory change. There must be assumed a totally different attitude by the merchants and business men of Baltimore generally toward the Eastern Shore and it is clearly up to the city to bring about the desired result by manifesting a little more interest in our people and holding out such inducements as will naturally have a tendency to carry the trade to that city.

The Rights Of The Firemen.

The accident on Wednesday when the fire engine demolished one of the show cases in front of Messrs. Nock Brothers and crashed into the large plate glass window of their store, has served to call attention to certain unsatisfactory conditions existing in connection with the Fire Department, and the necessity for a sharper line of demarcation between the members of the Department, and those who are in no way connected with it.

The fact that the party who drove the engine at the time of the accident referred to was not only not one of the regular drivers, but was not even a member of the company, shows the necessity for a more rigid enforcement of the rules of the Department, and a clearer recognition on the part of non-members of the rights of the firemen. While the motives which prompted the act were doubtless the highest, and in so far as he was attempting to fill in an emergency and render aid to the firemen should be commended, still, the utter folly of permitting anyone at all to be recklessly driving a ponderous fire engine down the principal street of the town, is so manifestly an absurdity as to call for a remedy of some decided character.

It should be said, however, in justice to Holloway that according to those who saw the occurrence, he had himself really given up the idea of attempting to make the turn into Dock street, when the rein was pulled by young Disharoon who was with him on the engine. In any event, the fact remains that the engine was in charge of those who knew nothing whatever about it, and that a more serious accident did not take place is due purely to exceptional good luck, rather than good management on the part of those who had taken the engine from the City Hall.

But there have been a number of other incidents which have occurred at recent fires which have shown the necessity for a reorganization of the Department, and which should be remedied without delay if any semblance of order is to be maintained.

At the recent Coulbourn fire, it is claimed by certain firemen that a large number of persons who were in no way connected with the Department rushed to the City Hall, and procured the outfits of the firemen before they had time to secure them themselves. In many instances the suits were all mixed up, and some of them even found in various parts of the town after the fire. That conditions of this kind are unjust and unfair to the Chief and the regular firemen must be only too apparent to all who have at heart the interests of this branch of the local service.

The Fire Department, including the Chief and every member, is purely a volunteer arrangement, and one which should have the support as well as the hearty cooperation and sympathy of the people in general, and those who are in no way connected with it have no right to rush to the City Hall, and interfere with the orders that are given by those who have the authority to issue them. That there are a number of things connected with the Department itself which ought to be remedied is only too true, but as long as unauthorized persons issue orders, drive fire engines, procure suits, appropriate places on the hose carriage, and exhibit their officiousness at all sorts of inopportune times the inefficiency of the Department can hardly be blamed upon the firemen.

Editorial Jottings.

Wait until that local Republican ticket puts in its appearance—it will be a winner!

The Baltimore Sun has said more nice things about Mr. Gaither in a single issue than it has about Judge Crothers in the whole campaign.

—Senator Foraker does not seem to think much of Secretary Taft's candidacy, but that is only natural—the Senator wanted the place himself.

The Baltimore Sun and Baltimore News are having an artistic, literary, editorial hand-to-hand conflict, which is becoming decidedly animated. The livelier the scrap, the merrier the campaign!

The Democrats are greatly elated because Roger W. Cull, Esq., has actually signified his intention of supporting the Democratic ticket. There's nothing specially remarkable in the fact that a Democrat should support the Democratic ticket.

The joker in The Salisbury Advertiser is really becoming quite funny and while he has been talking quite fluently about the "literature" of the Congressman, he has overlooked the "literature" of the Ex-Governor and the "impelling causes" which brought about his nomination. Be patient, friends, be patient, the hymn will soon be given out.

The Republicans are fortunate in having with them in the present contest The Baltimore News, and it will be a potent factor in bringing victory to the Republican ticket. The News has for years been absolutely independent in politics, invariably throwing its influence to those candidates and supporting those policies which, in its judgment, would best tend to subserve the highest interests of the entire people.

Town Topics.

—A surprise party was given Mrs. Charles Nock Thursday evening at her home on Maryland avenue.

—K. & M. clothes have been reduced $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$. The sale starts today. Every garment marked in plain figures and bears the K. & M. label.

—The annual festival at old Green Hill Church, will take place today. Many of the church people from Salisbury attend this annual feast day at this old church.

—Through the columns of THE COURIER I desire to thank all those who rendered assistance, as well as the fire department, during the recent fire at my home.
MISS MARY KENT.

—Mr. Thomas Perry and son William, left Thursday for Boston via the Merchants & Miners Transportation Co. While gone they will visit the White Mountains, the Northern Lakes and return down the Hudson River to New York.

—Owing to a wreck on the P. E. & W. Division of the Pennsylvania, near Viola, Delaware, Thursday night, the South bound train which brings the mail to Salisbury, was delayed and did not arrive here until about eight o'clock yesterday morning.

—Owing to the repairs being made no services will be held in the Division St. Baptist Church to-morrow. The Bible School will have a joint session with the California School, corner Main St. and Delaware Ave. at 2:30. Evening service in Hitch's Hall at 7:30.

—Because several employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad have been guilty of selling passes to persons in no way connected with the railroad or their families, notices have been posted by the company warning employees against further violation of the rules.

—Suffering from the bite of his pet dog, Oscar Morris, aged 11, of Parsonsburg is a patient at the Pasteur Department of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore. After biting the little fellow, the dog bit several other canines and showed signs of the rabies.

—The Division Street Baptist Bible School together with the Mission in California will conduct an excursion to Ocean City Tuesday, Sept. 3rd. All friends are invited to spend a day by the sea. This will be the last Sunday School excursion to Ocean city, this season.

—Rev. B. G. Parker, will on Sunday night preach in the old Presbyterian Church of Mardela Springs. Subject—What the Baptists believe, and why. Special subject for Sunday night—Hypothetical cases of supposed Apostasy examined. Mr. Parker has for some time been preaching a series of sermons upon the above named general subject.

—As a token of appreciation of the services of Bishop W. F. Adams who recently completed his twentieth year in the diocese of Eastern of the Protestant Episcopal church, a purse amounting the $500.00 was presented to him Saturday by the committee appointed for the purpose. Bishop Adams frequently fills the pulpit of St. Peter's Church, this city, and has many admirers here.

—Wicomico Presbyterian Sunday School will give its annual Sunday School Excursion to Ocean City, Tuesday, August 27th. Tickets good on all trains going and coming during the day, and good to return on the train leaving Ocean City at 10.00 p. m. This will give you a full day and evening at the seashore. Tickets good for the day, 90 cents round trip. Children, 45 cents.

—Becoming frightened at the automobile driven by Mr. Charles Levine, the horse hitched to a carriage occupied by Miss Mary Tilghman and her guest Miss Morris, of Virginia, made a sudden lurch on Division street Tuesday morning throwing the occupants to the street. Miss Tilghman escaped injury, but Miss Morris was rendered unconscious by the fall.

—It is reported that the little son of Captain R. B. White who ran an umbrella steel through his foot about three weeks ago is slowly recovering at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore where he was taken for treatment. Owing to a lack of blood, an infusion of blood from a friend of Captain White's was made in the effort to save the child's life.

—It is reported that the Steamer Queen Anne will make another trip from Salisbury to the Jamestown Exposition on the 11th of September. The recent excursion on the same steamer was a decidedly pleasant trip and all those who took advantage of the cheap rate came back well pleased with the trip. The boat will accommodate 1200 people and it is expected that it will be taxed to the limit of its capacity in the event for another excursion.

—Look up Kennerly & Mitchell's "ad" on local page. Great reduction sale of $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ starts today.

—Mr. Job Darby was reappointed keeper at the Alms House at the meeting of the County Commissioners Tuesday.

—The members of the choir of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church will leave next week for their annual outings of about two weeks at Ocean City.

—Mr. W. J. Banis left Wednesday for a two weeks trip in the South. He will visit points in West Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina, and will also visit Jamestown before returning home.

—The alarm of fire yesterday morning called the department to the residence of Mr. Charles Duffy on South Division street. The blaze was extinguished, however, before the arrival of the apparatus and no damage was done.

—The dance given by a number of the young men in the Masonic Temple Monday evening was largely attended despite the warm weather. The music was furnished by Messrs. W. Arthur Kennerly and Clarence A. White.

—Miss Vera Weisbach gave a porch party Monday morning in honor of Miss Fay Turpin, of Toronto, Canada. The guests included Misses Fay Turpin, Phyllis Burkart, Kathryn Burkart, and Frieda Herwig, of Baltimore, Irene Gullett, of Vienna, Louise White, Gertrude Moore, Ruth Price, Marguerite Grier, Nellie Sheppard, Louise Gullett, Dorothy Mitchell, Marian Evans, Ruth Kennerly and Nancy Smith.

—Mrs. Mary W. Nock and son, Mr. Wilbur F. Nock, and Miss Clara C. Walton moved during the week to Wilmington, Del., and will make their future home in that city with Mrs. Nock's son, Mr. Harry W. Nock, who has been in Wilmington for the past two years. The Park Avenue home, also occupied by Mr. E. H. Walton, has been closed, but he will remain in Salisbury.

—The County Commissioners, in session last Tuesday authorized the sale of the timber on the Alms House farm near Quantico. The sale will take place at the Court House door Tuesday, September 24th and is advertised in another column of this issue. This being one of the finest pieces of timber land in the county, it is expected that it will bring a good price. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all the bids.

—After an illness of several days, George W. Wilson, a resident of South Salisbury, died at the Peninsula General Hospital last Tuesday. His death was due to complications following an operation for appendicitis. He is survived by his widow and five children. Mr. Wilson had been engaged in the drayage business in this city for a number of years and was well known among the merchants. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the M. E. Church of South Salisbury.

—While driving the fire engine team in response to an alarm of fire Tuesday Mr. Charles Holloway, who was driving in the place of Driver Disharoon, was unable to turn the corner of Main and Dock streets, and the engine crashed into the plate glass windows of Nock Brothers store. Fortunately neither the team or the driver were injured. The fire was in the residence of Miss Mary Kent, on Newton street and was extinguished before the arrival of the apparatus.

Musical Wednesday Night.

Despite the inclemency of the weather a large number of people attended the musicale given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perry, on East William street, Wednesday evening. The event was under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, and the proceeds, which amounted to about $12.00 will be used by this organization in the church work. Refreshments were served immediately after the rendition of the following program:
Vocal Solo, "Beloved, Awake"—de Koven. Mrs. E. C. Fulton.
Recitation, (a) "Come" (poem). (b) Selection—James Whitcomb Riley. Miss Darby.

It was one time when I had only one cement patch to put on for fifteen cent, and I was feeling blue and wondering if dey had fried oysters in der poorhouse, when dot plumber comes in and says:

"Hans, I think so much about your case dot I don't sleep nights. You vhas a Dootchmans from Sherman. My great-grandmother vhas also a Dootchmans, and dot makes me feel for you.

You vhas a poor and hardworking mans, but you don't get along, and dot vhas what makes tears in my eyes."

"Yes, it vhas hard times," I says.
"Und it vhas hard times some more unless you make a change in your way of doing peenness. You see, you vhas cash down. If I haf a lift put on my heel you hold out your hand for der money. If a mans vhas some half soles you make him pay right away."

"But I must haf money to buy stock and to live on," I says.
"Dot vhas der saddest part of all. If you could raise $25 and start peenness in two years, did you ever hear of Christopher Columbus?"

"Yes, He discovered America."

"Put People on Their Honor."

"But does he vhas cash down? Does he hold out his hand for der sugar?
Of course not. After George Washington vhas a great mans dis country asked him to be its leader. He says he vhas be, but he don't hold out his hand. No, sir. He takes der job on trust and lets us see dot he vhas confidence in our honor. When Abraham Lincoln vhas elected president, does he say dot he vhas back out if he doesn't get his wages every Saturday night? Not at all. Why, even when an alderman sells his vote he don't expect der cash for at least a week. If you would succeed you must do different.
You must put people on der honor to pay."

"Must I trust? I ask him.
"You must. People vhas curious folks. If you ask 'em for cash down day take it as an insinuation against der honesty. In my peenness I fix a water pipe for a house, and don't send any bill. I depend upon der man's honor. Maybe it goes dot for a year, and some day he vhas in and pays and tells me to put in new washtubs, a new boiler and to overhaul der furnace. For instance, I want half soles on my shoes. It vhas 35 cents. I tell you to go ahead. When you vhas done you hold out your hand for der money.
I don't haf it. Dot makes me sad and humiliated. If you don't say anything I come in about a week and pay up and bring you in four pairs of shoes to mend. See how it goes?"

I can't see how she goes, but I take his word for it. Dot night I paint a big sign to put in my window. She reads:

"Come in. Der German cobbler extends credit to all. Everybody put on his honor."

Fat Policeman Calls.

It don't hardly be daylight next morning when der fat policeman on dot beat come knocking on der door, and when I lets him in he says:

"Vhehl, Dutchy, I haf seen your sign.
You are getting on to der American plan in great shape. No danger of you're going to der poorhouse. Here is a pair of shoes you can mend and put me on my honor to pay."

After breakfast a woman's ash big ash a haystack comes in mit three pairs of shoes in a basket. Dot smile on her face vhas like a washboard.

"Now, cobbler, you vhas getting down to peenness," she says. "Der reason I haven't patronized your shop before is because it don't always come handy to change a hundred dollar bill to pay out a few shillings. I may pay tomorrow or next week, but I don't want to feel dot I am looked upon ash a deadbeat. Put a large, fat woman's on her honor, and you vhas never lose a cent. Mend her shoes and tell her it vhas cash down, and she vhas never come back again. I haf long wondered why you don't change your way of doing peenness."

Shakes Cobbler's Hand.

Der next mans haf three pairs of shoes to mend. He smiles on me. He shakes hands. He puts der shoes on der counter and says:

"Now you vhas doing peenness der werry same ash der Rothschilds, and in two years you vhas owning a bank.
You gif me credit. Dot means you put me on my honor. Dot further means I am bound to pay you if I haf to sell my shirt. I may not rush in here tomorrow, but I shall come sooner or later. If undertakers would try your way more peoples would die and be buried."

It vhas a boy who came in next. He had more ash six pairs of shoes. He says his mother reads der sign and sends him along. She vhas a widow woman, and whoever trusts in her honor shall reap large rewards. She can't come herself, because she is lame, but her son can tell about her honor.
He vhas followed by der butcher and baker and coal man, and in one day more ash twenty peoples come in and leave shoes to be mended on der honor. Not one cent comes in. It vhas so der next day and der next. Even der dago shoemakers come in to be mended up. After three days I vhas scared and took der sign down. I need money for stock, and I go by der plumber and ask for my 35 cents.

"Why, it vhas only three days ago," he says.

"But I must buy some leather."

"How vhas dis? You put me on my honor and den come und shump on me ash if I vhas going to run away. In peenness you always give thirty days' credit. Dot vhas considered der same ash cash. If you put a man on his honor, dot means he pays when it vhas handy. It don't be handy for me dis morning, and if you don't look out a little you lose all your customers."

I go to dot fat woman's house mit my little bill. She opens her door and smiles on me, but when she sees der bill she asks:

"Ha! Vhat vhas dis?"

"You haf some shoes mended."

"Vhehl?"

"I must haf money to buy shoe pegs und cement."

"Vhehl, vhat haf I got to do mit dot?
I vhas no cement woman. I vhas no delay of a shoe peg. You extended me credit. You put me on my honor.
Dot means if you get dis bill in one year you vhas a glad hearted mans.
Good morning, Mr. Cobbler."

Butcher Sits on Him.

I goes by der butcher and talks a little while about der earthquakes und gives him a chance to pay. He don't take no spoch chances, und I ask him for der money straight out.

"Vhehl, I be hanged!" he says, mit a red face. "Cobbler, vhat sort of a duck vhas you anyway?"

"But I must haf some money to buy stock," I says.

"Money? Stock? Didn't you extend me credit? Don't you put me on my honor? Do you belief dot my honor runs out in a week? If you need money you must go to der bank und raise it, same as der rest of us do.
Humph! Vhehl, if dis vhas your way of doing peenness you shall make no more honorable repairs for me."

He gets mad und flings things around, und I haf to beg his pardon. I go to der coal mans und ask him if it vhas convenient to pay the 30 cents.

"Vhat for?" he asks.

"For fixing oop your shoes."

"Vhat! You put me on my honor und den come und insult me! If you don't be an old mans I do some damage to you. By golly, but I vhas never so insulted in my life!"

"But if somebody buys coal of you you vhas your money, don't you?" I says.

"But dere vhas some difference between coal and cobbling. Dere vhas no credit in coal. Dere vhas no honor in it. You better go home und soak your head."

It vhas der same mit all der others.
I don't get one cent. It vhas all abuse.
I stop all dot credit und honor right away quick, und though I don't quite go by der poorhouse it makes me hard oop for six months.

THE AUDIENCE.

I mak' not moocha mon' today.
So few ees hear da tunes I play.
Long time bayfore da sun ees shine
I tak' dees street plan' of mine.
An' pull eet out from coety street
To countra lane, where cool an' sweet Da morneng breeza blow, an' where All theengs ees beautiful an' fair.
Oh, here, I theenk, I gona find Som' peopla so good heart' an' kind
Dey weel be glad for hear me play
An' notta tal me "gona way!"
Like mosta do dat I am meet
Wen I am play een coety street.

I walk an' walk, but eet ees queer
I meet so few da peopla here;
Ees only wan or two, but steell
I look for more. I ellim da heell
An' travel down da hotta road.
Da street plan' ees heevy load;
I am bayfore for feel da heat.
An' so, blimey, I stop an' rest.
Een shady place bayside da way.
Oh, I am mad! I growl an' say:
"I mak' not moocha mon' today."
"Wat for you com', oh, foola man,
Where no wan hear your street plan'?"

But den, wat 'spos ees happen me?
Firs' theeng you know, ees leetla tree
Mak' funny nola where eet vhas.
So like as eet eet clap ees han'!
Den gentla feenger een da air
Dey com' an' pull me by da hair;
Ees som' theeng een dees sweeta breeza
Dey want to me an' coax me leese.
An' den da sky, so wide, so blue,
Dey seem to smile an' coax me too.
So all theengs speak, as eef dey say:
"Com', let us haf da musio. Play!"

I play wan tune—yes, two, tres, feur,
Like wat I nevva do bayfore!
I stop. Da sky cry, "More!" An' den
I play den evra wan agen.
So, too, I leest my voice an' seeng.
Da breeza say "More!" To everytheeng.
So all day long ees lika dat.
Oh, Mericana man, I gat
Som' curses an' som' food to eat
Wen I am play een coety street.
But here da sky, da breeza, da tree,
Dey speak Betalian to me!

I mak' not moocha mon' today.
So few ees hear da tunes I play.
But where ees reecher man dan I Dat play to breeza an' tree an' sky?

"Well, Henry," said the New York man who was visiting his Chicago cousin, "before I leave town I want to be sure to visit the stockyards, the art institute and the Field museum. I suppose it's an old story to you, so if you'll direct me right I'll find 'em myself."

The Chicago man laughed.

"I'm ashamed to admit it," he said,
"but the fact is I've lived in this town fifteen years and I've never been out to the stockyards. I never visited the Field museum, and I've never been to the art institute, although I pass it every day of my life. I guess I'll take a day off and see the sights of my own town."

He did, and was as much interested as his cousin.

"Now, when I go to New York in the fall," he said, "I want you to take me out to Ellis island to see the immigrants come in. It must be a great sight. And I want to get the view from the statue of Liberty and walk down the Bowery."

"Sure," said the New York cousin.

self." —Chicago Record-Herald.

An American official in England tells the following as illustrative of a well known Scotch characteristic:

Upon his accession to the throne of Norway, King Haakon VII. was appointed colonel in chief of a certain Scotch regiment. While dressing for parade duty an enthusiastic subaltern was communicating this information to a fellow soldier:

"McDonald," said he, "have you heard that the new king of Norway has been appointed colonel of the regiment?"

"Indeed?" queried the Scot. "That's a verra fine thing now. But will he be able to keep both jobs?" —Harper's Weekly.

TWO VIEWS OF JAPAN'S ATTITUDE

Japanese Seeking Cause to Be Irritated, Says M. H. De Young.

ARE LAYING FUTURE PLANS.

Present Situation Misunderstood Here and Abroad, Declares San Francisco Editor—H. B. Hulbert Asserts Japan Needs Watching—Natives Believe, He Says, United States and Other Powers Fears Them.

M. H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, who was recently interviewed at the Hotel Vendome in Paris by a New York Herald correspondent, says the present friction between America and Japan does not seem to be well understood in Europe or on the Atlantic side of the United States.

"The idea of dispatching the fleet to the Pacific," said Mr. De Young, "shows long headedness by the government. Considering the way Japan sprang upon Russia when Russia was unprepared and while negotiations were in progress, it is the duty of the United States government to send the fleet to the Pacific in advance of any serious friction."

"There appears to be something behind the present Japanese attitude. If they have any ulterior motive in view, they can spring upon us, seize the Philippines and Hawaiian Islands and fortify them so it will be almost impossible to recover them. It will take months for the fleet to get to the Pacific. It is well known in California that thousands of Japanese soldiers, men and officers of the late war, are now in Hawaii. Working on sugar plantations are some 10,000 or 15,000, a nucleus large enough, in fact, to take the islands were a Japanese fleet to furnish them with arms."

"I say the Japanese are seeking a cause to be irritated. They are planning an excuse for future action, for otherwise the causes for their protests are too small. There have been only two incidents, one being an outcome of the great fire and the other a small fight such as takes place in large cities every few days."

"Critics seem to forget we lost twenty-six schoolhouses in the great fire. Temporarily we tried to house the school children as best we could in wooden structures. In order not to discriminate we immediately erected in Chinatown, where most of the Chinese and Japanese live, a school for Mongolians. There was no feeling against the Japanese. Their children attending school are only ninety-three in number. They are clean, nice, cute children, to whom no one could object."

"Our kindness was met by the statement that Japanese were not Mongolians. Their objection to going with Chinese was the only exhibition of race prejudice noticeable. This isolation was simply a temporary expediency."

"As to the restaurant fight, it was because two Irishmen tried to get breakfast in a Japanese restaurant without paying, which precipitated a fight such as might have occurred in an Italian or German restaurant under like circumstances. The importance of the affair has been greatly magnified."

"To charge the San Francisco people with race prejudice is a great mistake. There is nothing of the 'Jim Crow' spirit there. San Francisco is as cosmopolitan as Paris, for in its streets people of every nationality may be seen daily. A man from Calcutta or a Parsee in white robes attracts no attention."

"In spite of the rottenness in politics neither the city government nor the state government nor the people of California would permit for one moment abuse of any man on account of his nationality. In fact, Chinese or Japanese, on account of the spirit of freedom we try to uphold, would be even less liable to attack than Americans."

Homer B. Hulbert's twenty-one years of residence in Korea, his intimacy with the Emperor Yi, his close range observation of Japanese aggressiveness in the orient and his semi-official diplomatic work in behalf of Korea render his opinions as to the Japanese question of great value. In discussing the possible international effects of Japan's gradual encroachments in Korea he recently said:

"One thing is absolutely certain, and that is that the United States did a very wise thing when it brought its battleships back from the Philippines. In my opinion, they were in positive danger from Japan. We should not have two or three battleships in the Pacific. Either keep them all away or send a big fleet there. Safety lies in no other course."

"I do not wish to even seem to be trying to foster a war spirit. I am not a jingo. But in their complacent American way the people of this country are taking too lightly, as I believe, a question that is of the deepest importance not alone to us, but to other great powers."

"To put the situation with the utmost conservatism, Japan will bear watching. Those not intimately and correctly informed as to the feeling in that country cannot appreciate the importance Japan attaches to itself."

Japan is flushed with pride over her achievements against Russia. She believes she can do anything. She doubts not an instant that the other powers, even the United States, are afraid of her. She thinks she has accomplished in forty years in the way of civilization what it took us 1,000 years to achieve. Her vanity is fearful to observe.

"Napoleon Bonaparte was the personification of the present feeling in Japan. Like him, she took advantage of an enemy's weakness and was successful in it. Intoxicated by that early success, she firmly believes there is no limit to her power. But it should be distinctly understood now that the time is coming when the powers will have to unite, as they did against Napoleon, to check Japan's rapacious career and give her her proper place among nations."

"History will write this country's part in the spoliation of Korea by Japan in terms of which we will not be proud. There is no question that at Portsmouth President Roosevelt offered Japan a free hand in Korea in exchange for the waiver of indemnity from Russia. This comes from Japanese sources. And this in the face of the full treaty relations between Korea and the United States! We ruthlessly broke our word, and the result is the debauchery and ruin of Korea by the Japanese."

"But there was one feature which we overlooked—our commercial interests in Korea. As rapidly as Japanese domination increases in Korea in just that proportion will American export trade decrease, especially in cotton, lumber, tobacco and flour."

"Not only this, but Japanese supremacy as it finds expression in Korea means utter disregard of the rights of Americans and Englishmen. The Manchurian syndicate's experience in the gold mine case at Hamhung is one of hundreds of instances in point. In short, Japan in Korea is not only doing all it can to annihilate the helpless dynasty and the people, but is treading dangerously close to the toes of other powers. In time—and I believe no very long time—there can be but one result."

"That this condition exists is due to two things, one the misapprehension that prevails as to Japan's course in Korea and the other the fear on the part of the great powers not of Japan individually, but of the complications that might arise if any one power were to interfere. It has been believed generally that Japan in Korea has been a benevolent protector. Nothing could be further from the truth."

"There is another phase to this Korea-Japan affair that has been overlooked. This is its effect on China. While saying nothing, China has been watching Japan's course in Korea with an eagle eye. She has seen Japan violate without excuse and in defiance of all honor and morals every pledge she has made to Korea. This is not calculated to foster confidence on the part of China in Japan's word."

"Further than this, Japanese domination, growing stronger daily, in Korea means to China the gaining of Japan's first solid foothold on the mainland. This is a most vital consideration and may result later in complications of the utmost importance. Japan never will release Manchuria, and that will not help the situation between the Chinese and the Japanese."

DEATH SCENE AS A CURE.

Experience of a Kansas Man in an Omaha Hospital.

The sight of a man in the agony of death transformed Daniel W. McIlvane of Pawnee county, Kan., from a hopeless chronic invalid, unable to stand alone, into a man apparently in the bloom of perfect health, able to jump out of bed, dress himself and walk a mile or more without fatigue, writes an Omaha (Neb.) correspondent of the Kansas City Star.

McIlvane's cure was effected at the county hospital in Omaha the other morning. The man had become what the hospital authorities call a hospital fiend. For years he has spent a great part of his time in hospitals, receiving treatment for stomach and other ailments. He recently left the Presbyterian hospital only to apply immediately for admission to the County hospital. There he lay in his bed day after day and week after week without enough strength to stand alone.

Herman Bauer, occupying the bed next to McIlvane's, died in great agony. McIlvane watched Bauer sharply in his struggles with death, and as Bauer grew weaker McIlvane grew stronger. The moment Bauer's end came McIlvane, who had not stood on his feet in weeks, jumped out of bed quickly, put on his clothes, bade the hospital authorities goodbye and walked alone downtown. He says he is perfectly well now and will return to his home.

High Wages For Haymakers.

Anxious to save their big crops of hay and thereby relieve part of their losses on other crops caused by the late spring, farmers all over New England are offering record wages for laborers who go into the hayfields, and do a day's work, says the Boston Transcript. As high as $60 a month and board have been offered by many farmers, but generally without result. The average wages paid a farm laborer are $30 a month with board, and a comparison of the average and the present wages shows how anxious the farmers are to get help.

BAGGAGE INSPECTION

Ocean Travelers to Be Spared Long Inflicted Annoyance.

NO HERDING OF PASSENGERS

After Careful Investigation Secretary Cortelyou Issues New Rules For Customs Officials—Abolition of Oath and Cabin Declarations in Last Hour of Voyage.

One of the first problems that confronted Mr. George B. Cortelyou when he became secretary of the treasury was that involved in the cumbersome and complicated examination by customs officers of ocean travelers upon their arrival in the United States, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Post. When he first took up the question he found hundreds of indignant protests from all over the country, many women being among the number, who complained of the delay and inconvenience of baggage examination by the customs officials, especially in New York and Boston.

It was wholly characteristic of the sort of man Mr. Cortelyou is that he should study this question carefully before undertaking to find a remedy. Not until he had personally witnessed the confusion on board ship and on the dock at several of the larger ports was he prepared to reorganize the system. The secretary made public the new method which he has ordered placed in operation and which should be in full swing in time to greet the home coming European travelers toward the end of the summer.

"It is a matter to which I have given considerable attention," said Secretary Cortelyou before issuing the new instructions, "and at my request Assistant Secretary Reynolds has worked out the details of the new system, which is radically different from that in operation. I have directed that the new system shall take effect as soon as necessary arrangements can be made. It should be in operation about the middle of August."

In looking over a large number of complaints Secretary Cortelyou found two features in connection with the examination of passengers' baggage which were especially annoying to the traveling public. The first was the practice of herding all the passengers into the cabin of the steamship during the last hour of the voyage in order that a customs official might receive their declarations. Experience has demonstrated that in many instances these declarations were unsatisfactory to the government officials, and to any one who has witnessed or participated in the rush that marks the end of the voyage this fact is not surprising. In addition, this herding process was of considerable annoyance to the passengers.

The second objectionable feature which most of the complainants emphasized was the oath required when the declaration was made. The passenger under the present system is obliged to make oath as to all articles contained in his baggage, and as soon as the latter is landed on the dock a customs inspector promptly searches his baggage to see whether or not the passenger has perjured himself. Early in his investigation of the problem Secretary Cortelyou determined that these two features should be eliminated in the interest of decency and that their abolition would cause no reduction in the revenues or danger to government interest.

Under the new system declarations will be distributed to the passengers during the early part of the voyage and may be made out by them at their leisure. The form of the declaration will be simple and straightforward. It will contain no "trap" clauses, and its language will be neither complicated nor mysterious. The declaration in its foreword will instruct the passenger to specify the different articles obtained by him while abroad, accompanied by a statement of their cost or value. Some time during the last day of the voyage an officer of the ship will collect these declarations and will be held responsible both by the steamship company and by the government for a statement from each passenger on board.

When the customs officer boards the ship these declarations will be turned over to him by the steamship officer and in turn delivered to the chief representative of the surveyor on the dock. When the declaration is handed to the steamship officer a coupon will be handed to the passenger bearing the same initial number as the declaration. This coupon will be the passenger's receipt for his baggage. After the baggage is landed and as soon as it is properly placed on the dock, ready for customs inspection, the passenger will present his coupon to the proper representative of the surveyor and secure the service of an inspector, who will examine his baggage and verify the declaration previously made on board ship. The new system of examination contains no oath of any kind, and Secretary Cortelyou has been assured of the hearty co-operation of all the steamship companies in carrying out the new system.

Always speak a good word for the dead and now and then one for the living when you have time.—Missouri Sharpshooter.

The First American Cabinet.

When John Hancock was president of congress in 1785 and had his office at 5 Cherry street in New York city, there were only three grand departments of the United States which performed the functions now performed by the president's cabinet. These three "grand departments" were distributed as follows: The Hon. John Jay, secretary for foreign affairs, at 8 Broadway; Hon. Henry Knox, secretary at war, 15 Smith street; the Hon. Walter Livingston, Samuel Osgood and Arthur Lee, commissioners of the treasury. The "office of congress" in that period was at 81 Broadway. When Washington was first elected president in 1789 there were four members of congress from New York as follows: John Lawrence, John Haring, Melancthon Smith and Peter W. Yates.

He Couldn't Plow.

A certain incident connected with the great Napoleon while he was in exile in Elba is commemorated in the legend to this hour by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house.

A man named Giacconi was plowing when the famous exile came along one day, and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the plowshare out of the man's hand and attempted to guide it himself. But the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plow and spoiled the furrow.

The inscription runs thus: "Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCXIV, took in the neighboring field a plowshare from the hands of a peasant and himself tried to plow, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet had guided Europe, headlong fled from the furrow."

Greenland Whales.

The great Greenland whale has no teeth, its baleen plates, or whalebone, taking their place. Along the center of the palate runs a strong ridge, and on each side of this there is a wide depression along which the plates are inserted. These are long and flat, hanging free, and are placed across the mouth with their sides parallel and near each other. The base and outer edge of the plates are of solid whalebone, but the inner edges are fringed, lifting up the interior of the mouth and acting as a strainer for the food, which consists of the small swimming mollusks and medusae or jellyfish.

The Hammerhead Shark.

One of the strangest sharks, and, indeed, one of the oddest looking creatures in the world, is the hammerhead—an excellent name, for its head is cylindrical, with a width two or three times as great as the length. The eyes are set at the outer angles of the head and can thus look up and down at will. There are three rows of triangular white teeth in each jaw. This voracious fish reaches a length of fifteen feet, and though there is little danger of its attacking a living swimmer, it will at least devour a dead body. One, eleven feet long, which was killed at Sag Harbor, had eaten portions of a man and his clothing. Small hammerheads have been caught in New York bay, and several four foot specimens in Hell Gate.—New York Post.

Impossible.

A year or so ago an American student in Berlin was attending a lecture in a room drowsily close through lack of ventilation. To keep awake he began whispering to a German at his side the story of Mark Twain about the man who lived all his life in a chronic fear of fresh air. The relatives of this man, as is well known, decided after his death to have his remains cremated, and the climax of the story occurred when the undertaker, opening the door of the oven to see whether incineration was complete, was appalled to hear the corpse speak out and request him to close the door and shut off the draft. The American sprung the joke as effectively as he could, but never a smile was his reward. His German friend remained for several moments in a perplexed study; then he leaned over to the American and said: "But how could that be? The man was dead!"—Harper's Weekly.

Looked Suspicious.

"Somehow I'm leary of Tompkins." "Why so?" "He's so polite." "What's that got to do with it?" "I'm always afraid he's stringing me."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Bees in His City Flat.

A new wrinkle, introducing the delight and convenience of rural life into a city flat, was sprung recently by William Fox, a New York business man, when the Adams Express company delivered to him a wire cage containing 25,000 honeybees, shipped by a Philadelphia firm, says a New York dispatch to the Philadelphia Record. Mr. Fox, with his family, occupies rooms in an upper story of an apartment house in the central part of the city. Outside his window he has constructed a big hive on a platform. The work cut out for the bees is to forage in back yards and in more distant fields for honey for the enterprising city man's table. Other dwellers in the apartment house who never before had screens in their windows are getting them now, apprehensive lest the bees, in the novelty of the situation, stray into the wrong rooms with their honey—and their stings.

THE MAD DOG QUESTION.

There never was such a time about mad-dogs here, as there is at present. About ten days ago a black dog went through this section and snupped every dog in sight. This canine is alleged to belong to a Mr. E. Elliott, and it is said that the dog went home later and bit his boy. It is said that Mr. Elliott knew the dog had been bitten, but would not have the dog killed, and would not accept $25.00 for the dog.

This dog bit many valuable dogs, some of which have been killed and others at large.

Now it is time for protection. The life of a child is worth more than all the canines in the world, and every man that knows his dog has been bitten by a dog with the rabies, and allows same to go off and do damage, should be held responsible.

It is time that some of the prominent men should give the mad dog question, consideration, and think of the little children who are frequently sent to the stores, neighbors, churches, schools and many other places, and the danger they are in while on the roads. It is time to effect a protecting law on this one thing.

SECURED REAL MONEY FOR WORTHLESS NOTE.

Willford Murphy Spends A Night In Norfolk Jail, However, When Arrested At The Jamestown Ter-Centennial.

When Willford Murphy, a young man living near Vienna, opened his heart and gallantly bought his sweetheart five cents worth of peanuts and a bottle of pop at the Jamestown Exposition during the recent excursion of the Queen Anne to the Ter-Centennial, he innocently (?) handed the man a five dollar note of the Eastern Shore College variety. The peanut vender was evidently not up to the minute on the matter of currency and passed out the change and Murphy, who was more or less confused by his reckless expenditure of the filthy lucre, walked off with $4.90 in real money added to his assets.

A few moments after he and the blushing damsel had left the stand, however, the proprietor of the pop counter began counting up his wealth, and it was then that he suddenly became aware when he turned the bill over that the Eastern Shore College was an educational institution at Salisbury, Maryland, and that courses in penmanship, physical culture and typewriting could be secured at small cost.

Figuring that the announcement of these facts was not worth $4.90 plus a bottle of pop and a sack of peanuts, the proprietor immediately started in pursuit of the young spendthrift from Wicomico. He soon located the Eastern Shore couple and made an effort to recover his loss. The young man denied all knowledge of the matter, but when he found that trouble would ensue, he deserted the young lady and made a dash across Lee's parade ground, smashing all previous records. He was later found by a member of the police force and locked up in the Norfolk jail, where he was compelled to spend the rest of the night in reflection. The following morning he was released and made good the amount he had secured in exchange for a worthless advertisement.

The cause of the trouble was one of the notes on the old Somerset and Worcester bank which did a flourishing business in this city in the early sixties. The institution failed about 1863, during the Civil War, and all of the currency, which was of absolutely no commercial value, was stored away. Recently a quantity of the old money in different denominations was secured by Mr. Skinner, principal of the Eastern Shore College, and as an advertising medium, he printed the announcement of the school courses on the back of the notes and distributed them over the county.

The currency has every appearance of Government notes and in a part of the country where it is not known that the bank is long since defunct, might easily be passed as a legal tender.

Buried At Quantico.

Miss Marie Taintor, aged twenty-four years, died Monday morning at Blue Ridge Summit, Pennsylvania, of hemorrhage of the brain. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Taintor, and sister of Miss Blanche Taintor, all of whom survive her.

Her body was brought to Quantico Wednesday morning for burial and interred in the Quantico Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted at Blue Ridge Summit by the Rev. Mr. Rich and concluded at the grave by Rev. F. B. Adkins.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Harold Boston, Daniel Collier, Harry Jones, Talbot Truitt, John Graham and Clarence Bailey.

Freight Traffic Congested.

Owing to the extremely heavy shipments of tomatoes and other vegetables from the lower counties on the Eastern Shore, the Baltimore Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company has been compelled to bring an extra steamer into use to relieve the congested traffic. On Thursday, two steamers were loaded with vegetables consigned to the Baltimore markets from points on the Nanticoke river. The growers in this section claim that while the Baltimore markets are not as high as those of other cities, they are practically compelled to ship their produce to Baltimore because of their inability to ship by rail.

SCENE OF ACTIVITY AT SHIPPING POINTS.

Large Quantities Of Cantaloupes And Watermelons Shipped Each Day To Northern Markets—Year Has Been Profitable.

The scene at the shipping siding of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad at South Salisbury, and, in fact, at all shipping points in the vicinity of this city, has been one of unusual activity during the past few weeks. As many as fifteen cars of home grown produce with a daily average of about eight cars have been shipped from the siding at South Salisbury during the entire season. In addition to these several cars are being loaded by Mr. W. F. Allen each day at the siding on the Allen farms, making a total of about twelve cars.

This produce, which represents only a fraction of the output of Wicomico soil, is in a great measure shipped to the Northern markets—Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Providence and other large cities. If one would stand at a shipping station for a few hours and witness the vast number of cantaloupes or watermelons brought to the cars by the growers, it would cause one to wonder where so much farm produce would be consumed. To a person unacquainted with the commercial value of this produce, the figures representing the money brought into this county each day from these shipments would be almost beyond belief.

Cantaloupes, when the season opened, sold in the Northern markets at a figure unheard of in the history of truck growing in this vicinity. The best quality brought as high as $5.00 per carrier, and the average price for the first week during the crop was about $2.50. The price, however, lasted several days at $4.50. When it is considered that a carrier contains 45 cantaloupes, it will be seen that the farmer who was fortunate enough to have a crop this year made handsome profits. It has been estimated that many farmers made a net profit of $200.00 per acre from this one crop. Mr. E. W. Townsend, who is an extensive shipper, stated yesterday that he received a check for $1700.00 for one car of cantaloupes at the first of the season, the car containing about 400 carriers. It was also stated by another shipper that such a sudden drop in the price of farm produce as occurred a few days ago has never been known before. For some unknown reason the market price of cantaloupes dropped as low as 30 cents per carrier and is at present about 70 cents. Fortunately for the growers in this vicinity this great slump occurred after the bulk of the melons had been shipped.

Watermelons, like cantaloupes, when the season first opened sold for good prices, bringing as high as $300.00 a car. A car contains about 1200 to 1400 melons. The price then averaged in the neighborhood of $200.00 until yesterday when the returns showed that $100.00 was considered a good price in the markets. The melons must be shipped, however, and notwithstanding the low price at present several cars are being loaded each day.

All other farm produce, of which this county has become justly famous has brought prices above the average this year and, taken as a whole, the farmers have had an exceptionally profitable year.

Death Of Capt. Layfield.

Capt. William J. Layfield, a well known mariner in this locality, died suddenly at his home in Green Hill, aged about 66 years, Tuesday morning of acute indigestion. Up to a few hours before his death he was apparently in the best of health and was engaged at his usual duties all of the previous day. The funeral services were held Thursday morning with interment in the Green Hill churchyard.

Captain Layfield was in charge of the schooner "Green Hill" which had freighted lumber for Jackson Brothers Company from Norfolk, Hampton, and other Southern points for many years. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. Herbert Hearn, of Hebron; Mrs. G. F. Insley, of Bivalve; Mrs. Walter Humphreys, of Quantico; Mrs. Frank Waller, Miss Ruth and Messrs. William, Charles and Grover Layfield, all of Green Hill.

MR. HENRY J. BYRD BURIED AT SEAFORD.

Masons Take Charge Of Funeral And Delegations From Other Lodges Accompany Body To Final Rest- ing Place Thursday.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Henry James Byrd were conducted with Masonic rites at his late home on Main street Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. W. S. Phillips, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, officiating. Mr. Byrd was prominently connected with fraternal circles, and while the Masons took charge of the body and directed the funeral services, many members of the Elks and other lodges of which he was a member attended the services and accompanied the body to Seaford, where it was taken for interment.

The pallbearers, all members of Wicomico Lodge No. 91, A. F. and A. M., were: Charles E. Harper, William J. White, Rev. O. L. Martin, Travers Ruark, E. Stanley Toadvin and William E. Booth. After the services at the house, a delegation from the different lodges escorted the remains to Seaford, Delaware, his former home, where they were laid for final rest.

Mr. Byrd's death occurred Tuesday morning and was the result of a third attack of paralysis. He is survived by his widow and the following brothers: William C. John H., George W., A. Franklin and Daniel T. Byrd, and one sister, Miss Sallie Byrd.

Mr. Byrd was born at Dames Quarter, Somerset county, 57 years ago. His parents were John H. and Sarah E. Byrd. When a young man he engaged in sea-faring life, which he followed several years, finally associating himself with Col. W. H. Stevens, of Seaford, Del., in the oyster packing business. More than 20 years ago Mr. Byrd came to Salisbury and conducted the oyster packing business for Col. Stevens. He made his home here the remainder of his life.

Mr. Byrd was highly esteemed by the people of Salisbury and he counted his friends by the score. In 1904 he was appointed clerk to the City Council and City Treasurer, and filled the duties with entire satisfaction until his death.

He was prominently identified with the Masonic fraternity. He was Past Master of Wicomico Lodge No. 91; Past Commander of T. J. Shryock Commandery No. 11; Thrice Illustrious Master of Gibbum Council; High Priest of Royal Arch Chapter No. 17; a member of Bouni Temple of Baltimore; a member of Salisbury Lodge of Elks, and a member of the Seaford Lodge of Odd Fellows. He was also a member of the Improved Order of Heptasophs, and was insured in that order for $2,000.

Condition Of Judge Bowen.

Chief Judge Ara P. Bowen, of the Worcester county Orphans' Court, who had both legs amputated at the Peninsula General Hospital last Saturday, is lying in a critical condition at that institution. Judge Bowen, who lives at Newark, came to this city to arrange for the admission of his nephew into the hospital. He completed his arrangements and left on the noon train for his home. At Berlin, where it is necessary to change cars, he talked with friends on the platform until the train which was to carry him to his home started. He then made an attempt to board the moving train, but he lost his hold and fell under the wheels. Medical aid was at once summoned and he was brought to Salisbury on a special train and both legs were amputated by Drs. Dick, Tull and Potter. Judge Bowen is about 65 years old and has been Chief Judge of the Orphans' Court for a number of years.

Ballard-Hayman.

A very pretty home wedding was the scene at Mr. J. H. Hayman's, Wednesday, August 28th, when his youngest daughter, Miss Addie F. Hayman, of Fruitland, was married to Mr. Edgar S. Ballard, of Linde, West Virginia. After an all-round farm dinner from 10 to 12 o'clock the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. S. E. Williams and the newly married couple, with a number of their friends, were conveyed by three automobiles driven by Marion Humphreys, John Tomlinson and Charles Day, to the depot at Salisbury where they took the train for the Jamestown Exposition.

Another Explosion Victim.

Edward Ridenour died at the Washington County Hospital, in Hagerstown Tuesday morning, as the result of injuries sustained at the time of the boiler explosion in the woods on the Hugett farm, near Cavetown, Monday morning, making the fourth death as a result of the accident. George W. Beard, the foreman, was instantly killed. Elmer Stevens and Samuel Shirley died in the hospital here yesterday evening.

Mr. Ridenour, whose injuries were at first not regarded as necessarily fatal, died from contusion of the brain. He was struck by a piece of flying debris and his skull was fractured. In addition to this, he was badly scalded, and had recovered he would have been disabled for life. Ridenour was 26 years old, being a son of Alexander Ridenour, of Cavetown. He is survived by his wife, who was a Miss Cline, and two small children.

Dr. A. M. Kalback, who had purchased the tract of timber land, and who owned the sawmill, came up from his summer home, near Baltimore, and visited the scene of the explosion. He expressed the greatest regret over the occurrence. He gave it as his opinion that the explosion was caused by low water in the boiler.

The Catsup Bottle Exploded.

A little daughter of Mr. Peter McGuire, Frostburg, will probably lose the sight of her eye as a result of the explosion of a bottle of catsup which an elder sister had attempted to open and had set aside. The younger sister then tried her hand at forcing the cork and an explosion followed, splinters of glass flying in all directions. One piece was embedded in the pupil of the eye.

Don't let the baby suffer from eczema, or any itching of the skin. Doan's Ointment gives instant relief, cures quickly. Perfectly safe for children. All druggists sell it.

MR. MILES URGES ACTION.

Wants Open Race For Senatorial Primaries—Only Eastern Shore Man To Make Announcement.

Ex-Congressman Joshua W. Miles, of Princess Anne, the only Eastern Shoreman to declare his intention to be a candidate for United States Senate, went to Baltimore recently in an endeavor to have some definite understanding as to how the fight is to be made.

Mr. Miles is greatly interested in the possible action of the State Central Committee in arranging the details for the campaign. Mr. Miles was chairman of the committee that considered the resolutions offered by Governor Warfield for a primary election for United States Senators, and made a vigorous speech, urging his associates to adopt the suggestion offered by the Governor. It is believed by many that the advocacy of Mr. Miles made the adoption of the resolution possible.

"While I am in the race," said Mr. Miles, "yet I am anxious to have some understanding as to how the fight is to be made, and the rules that are to control it. If the weight of the 'machine' in the various counties and the city of Baltimore is to be thrown into the scales, that would give the campaign a flavor that few of us would like. It may be hard to control these things, but if those most influential with the organization realize how disastrous such action would prove, they will, I think, use every effort in their power to prevent anything of the kind. Then, too, there should be no such thing as concealed candidates. Every man who proposes to make the fight should be compelled to come out in the open at some date, to be fixed by the State Central Committee in the near future."

Mr. Miles called upon Mr. John P. Poe and also upon Governor Warfield, both of whom are tentative candidates. He also called upon others influential in the party councils with the view of urging prompt action on the State Central Committee and the adoption of such rules as would insure a fair, open fight.

Sculptor's Design Wrong.

A description of the design which Sculptor A. Mercie, of Paris, is making for the Francis Scott Key monument, which is to be erected at Rutaw Place and Lanvale street, Baltimore, is open to criticism for its historical inaccuracy.

The idea of the sculptor was evidently to represent Key when he was looking anxiously down the Patapsco river to see whether the star-spangled banner was still floating over Fort Mifflin after a terrific all night bombardment, but an error is made in representing Key on the prow of an English warship. According to the most authentic account of the famous incident of the writing of the national anthem, which is given in a letter by Chief Justice Roger B. Taney, who was Key's brother-in-law, Key was on board a little Baltimore boat which, as is well known, he had gone down the bay to try to secure the release of Dr. Beane of Upper Marlboro, who had been captured by the British. As the British were intending an attack upon Baltimore, they detained Mr. Key and those with him on a British frigate, but on the day before the bombardment placed them on their own little boat with a guard. Sculptor Mercie is, therefore, wrong in representing Key on an English ship.

The height of the monument will be about 40 feet. It is a gift to Baltimore from the late Charles L. Marburg, who gave $25,000 through his brother, Mr. Theodore L. Marburg. Mr. Theodore L. Marburg, who is now in Europe, made the arrangements with Sculptor Mercie.

The Heart Beats of the Business World

When you hear the hum of Oliver Typewriters, you are listening to the very heart-beats of the business world.

Day in and day out, year in and year out, the Oliver throbs with the pulse of business life.

The Oliver is the rapid-fire machine gun by means of which the Captains of Industry—restless, tireless, impatient of delay—pour business broadsides into the ranks of "the other side."

In every branch of business—Railroad, Banking, Manufacturing, Merchandising, Publishing—in the professions—everywhere.

The OLIVER Typewriter
The Standard Visible Typewriter

is close to the heart of things. It's the telegraph or telephone for emergencies, but the Oliver ALL THE TIME.

The Oliver Typewriter Co.
12 E. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md.

The Oliver runs with ease and precision, and has wonderful capacity for speed.

It prints with a downward stroke, with beautiful type that cannot get out of line.

For straight correspondence, for complicated tabulating and billing, for manifolded, stencil cutting, vertical or horizontal line ruling, writing in colors, making records on the stiffest, stoutest cards—the Oliver is equally efficient.

The Oliver is a machine that dovetails into every department, saving the expense of Billing Machines, Book Typewriters, Etc.

It will yield big dividends of satisfaction by adding to the accuracy and beauty of your business letters.

GOOD OYSTER PROSPECTS.

Outlook Bright For Supply From Chesapeake Bay—Season, in Many Counties Opens Sept., 1.

Bay boatmen arriving in Baltimore report a comparatively plentiful supply of oysters in the Chesapeake and tributaries and a belief in the success of the oyster season that is to open next Monday. While it is believed there will be a fine catch of merchantable oysters, it is stated that Tangier Sound will fall short of previous seasons. On Tangier Sound and Potomac River the dredging season will be October 1, and in the open bay and other tributaries November 1. There are indications that there will be more dredgeboats this season and fewer buy boats. The latter are boats that buy oysters from the Bay from the tongs and run them to market, usually on speculation.

Last season marked the introduction of the gasoline engine for winding up the dredger on oyster vessels. This great improvement, combined with the vigilance of the Revenue Cutter Service, it is believed, has made shanghaiing a thing of the past, and the season soon to open will develop fewer scandals of that sort. Skippers who have used the gasoline winders aver that they are a complete success. Captain Jerome Price, of the schooner Kessie Price, for example, found he could do more work more satisfactorily with four men, and himself than by the aid of nine men during the hand-winding days. A moment's reflection will show what this means. It means that four men will be better housed and probably better fed than possible under the old school.

It means not only a great saving in the operation of catching oysters, but in the general atmosphere of the business, for it will bring in a better class of men, who in the end will be better paid. Such a crew of four men, aided by the engine, can catch more oysters, the captain gets closer to the men socially, and there is an all-around better feeling, provided, of course, the engine works satisfactory. At the beginning of the dredging season the ordinary men on the vessels will probably receive from $20 to $25 per month and found.

The labor question is a big item in the oyster outlook. The demand for oysters will undoubtedly be good, and the steam-houses will work early this season, provided they can get the labor.

Tonging is permitted September 1 in Kent, Queen Anne, Talbot, Somerset and Anne Arundel counties. It is permitted, beginning September 15, in Dorchester and Wicomico, and beginning October 1 in Calvert, St. Marys and Charles. As September 1 this year is to be Sunday, the first arrivals will probably be some time Monday and the bulk of the first arrivals Tuesday.

Letter To C. Bonds.

Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir: We should like to set your boys and girls at work on this question in arithmetic and casualty.

A farmer is fattening three hogs in three small pens; they have equal room and straw and care, and are fed in these three ways; first hog, on a certain proportion of milk and cooked cornmeal; second hog, on the same, half water; third hog, on the same, half water and sawdust. How long will it take, how much will they weigh, how much will they cost and what'll the profit be on the three?

And a similar question in pigmentary. That same farmer is going to paint three barns same size; and he says to three painters: "what'll you take to paint that barn?"

First painter scratches his head a few minutes and says: "I'll do it for $50." Second painter: "$75." Third painter: "$97.48."

Will they each get a barn to paint, or one get two, or one all three, or nobody any; and what'll they make on the job? That's about how painting goes sometimes.

But there is a way to reckon: $5 a gallon. The difficulty is in knowing how many gallons to buy. There's a way out of that.

Buy the least-gallon paint. Devor.

No matter how much one buys; he returns what's left: costs nothing.

Yours truly

Ladies Prevent Wreck.

An attempt was made to wreck a passenger train on the Grafton and Belington branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad Tuesday.

Mrs. Hugh Warder, Mrs. Thomas Moran and Miss Margaret Moran discovered a number of iron obstructions placed on the rails. These were removed, but a quarter of a mile farther they discovered a fireman's rake cleated down over a heavy pier of iron. The ladies were finally able to tear the cinder rake from the rails.

At the point it was placed the train would have been turned into the river in a hole 20 feet deep.

RETURN OF THE ORIOLES.

Famous Ball Team Of Recent Years Will Again Meet On The Diamond.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 30, 1907.—That the glorious old Orioles will come here to play a series of games during Home-Coming Week is now assured. Mr. Joseph M. Cummings, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the games, has received letters and other assurances that warrant the assertion that the pennant-winners will surely be here. And it will be one of the most glorious occasions in the annals of Maryland base ball.

One of the happy thoughts of the Home-Coming executive committee was to ask Wilbert Robinson to serve on the committee of arrangements. The big-hearted fellow has come into the work of arrangement with his well-known enthusiasm, and he will be a tower of strength to the plan. It is now safe to say that Robinson, Clarke, Kelly, Keeler, Brodie, McGraw, Jennings, Gleason and Dan Brouthers will be here. They are a bunch to bring out the old rooters and the younger generation of diamond hero worship, and a galaxy of stars that would prove so attractive to the people of this State that the capacity of the baseball grounds will be taxed to hold them.

Maryland is a sport-loving State and the men named gave to this city the best sport it ever had. They put the city on the very pinnacle of success in the national game for three years and kept it in the running for two more. These men are as eager to have a "homecoming" as are the people of Maryland to welcome them. The tone of all the letters received by Chairman Cummings indicates the real sentiment of the men who want to get together with the old crowd and fight again the battles of over a decade ago.

The following will be the probable line-up of the old team: Catchers—Wilbert Robinson and William Clarke; Pitchers—"Sadie" McMahon and Hofer; First Base—Brouthers or "Jack" Doyle; Second Base—"Kid" Gleason; Third Base—John McGraw; Shortstop—Hugh Jennings; Outfield—Keeler, Brodie and Kelly.

To make matters more realistic, it is probable that Manager Hanlon will consent to act as manager.

Many Merchants Register.

The number of merchants to visit Baltimore and make their fall purchases thus far this summer is fully 200 ahead of the corresponding period of last year. Between 9 o'clock and noon Tuesday 25 merchants registered at the office of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association for the purpose of having one-half of their round-trip fare to Baltimore returned.

This brings the total number who have visited Baltimore up to 675. At least 25 more merchants are expected to register this afternoon, which will make the number 700. At the end of the day on August 27, 1005, 500 merchants had registered.

Conquered St. Peter.

A Boston clergyman tells how a witty Irishman stood before the gate of the other world, asking for admission, says Lippincott's Magazine. St. Peter refused him, however, telling him he was too great a sinner to enter there, and bade him go away. The man went a little distance from the gate and then crowded three times like a rooster. St. Peter at once threw open the gate and cried out: "Come in, Pat! We'll let bygones be bygones!"

Don't Wabble.

There is one sort of man that there is no place for in the universe, and that is the wabblers—the man on the fence, who never knows where he stands, who is always slipping about, dreaming, apologizing, never daring to take a firm stand on anything. Everybody despises him. He is a weakling. Better a thousand times have the reputation of being eccentric, peculiar and cranky even than never to stand for anything.—Success Magazine.

Kipling's Response.

The Cantab, the Cambridge university weekly, once asked Rudyard Kipling to contribute to its columns. In response came the following reply:

There once was a writer who wrote, "Dear Sir—In reply to your note of yesterday's date, I am sorry to state it's no good at the prices you quote."

They Both Pitch.

Which is the greater marvel, the crack baseball pitcher or the circus man? The baseball star, to be sure, pitches a ball with wonderful facility, but the circus man pitches a tent.—Boston Globe.

DISCUSSION OF FOODS.

Interesting Article On The Subject Of Poisonous Foods In September McClure's Magazine.

"How many cores of times is a physician asked in perfect good faith and childlike confidence, 'Doctor, what is really the best food?' and looked upon with pained surprise when he endeavors to explain that there is no such thing." writes Dr. Woods Hutchinson in an article on "Poison Foods," in the September McClure's. Dr. Hutchinson evidently entertains little sympathy with the food reformers and prefers to side with the man in the street, who, he says, "as usual, is right." There are a certain number of foods, Dr. Hutchinson maintains, which have become staples all over the world among all races and peoples. These are, broadly, the flesh and milk of three or four domesticated animals, the eggs of one species of domesticated birds; three great grains—wheat, rice, and maize,—butter, fish, milk, and sugar. The attempt to convert into staples what are generally regarded as subsidiary foods, such as pears, beans, nuts, cheese, oatmeal, etc.—an attempt which has been tried repeatedly by the diet reformers,—has invariably failed. The reason for this, writes Dr. Hutchinson, is only beginning to be seen in the light of recent laboratory experiments. These experiments have revealed the surprising fact that many articles of food contain, combined with their high percentage of nutritive value, substances which, if taken in sufficient quantity, behave as active poisons.

Dr. Hutchinson's discussion of the different varieties of poison foods is immensely interesting, and brings to light some comforting facts for people whose eccentricities in certain matters of diet have been generally ascribed, like sea-sickness, to "imagination."

Unit To Fight Bribery.

At the call of Judge Charles W. Hobbs and Hon. Thomas A. Smith, chairman, respectively, of the Republican and Democratic State Central Committees for Caroline County, a large number of representative citizens of both parties assembled in the Law Building Tuesday afternoon to adopt measures looking to the suppression of bribery at elections.

W. W. Seward, of the Seventh district, was chairman, and Z. Potter Steele, of the Third, secretary. Mr. Seward, upon taking the chair, stated the object of the meeting, and said: "We are come to a time when something must be done for the extermination of this terrible evil. The recent increase in vote-buying in my district has increased as three to one."

A strong paper, offered by Dr. M. Bates Stephens and Judge Hobbs, was submitted, which said, among other things, that neither the Democratic nor the Republican party shall spend for campaign purposes an amount exceeding $1,000, and no part of this shall be used to purchase votes; that the campaign committee of each party shall keep an exact account of contributions, and by whom made; that they shall pay all campaign expenses which, if asked for, shall be sworn to and published; that candidates and members of the state central committees of the Democratic and Republican parties shall make oath that they will live up to the provisions of the agreement and exert their influence to induce others to do the same.

Stirring speeches followed from T. Pliny Fisher, Hon. Thomas A. Smith, Dr. Thos. Salisbury, Tighman E. Kelley, Dr. James R. Phillips, Judge Hobbs, Col. Albert W. Sisk, Dr. W. W. Goldsborough, Henry R. Lewis and others. On motion of State's Attorney Goldsborough, the two state central committees were requested to name a committee of three each to jointly formulate a plan to be submitted at a convention to be held here next Tuesday. The committee named is Henry R. Lewis, J. K. Stevens, T. Alan Goldsborough, for the Democratic party, and Chas. W. Hobbs, T. Pliny Fisher and Thomas R. Green for the Republicans.

Besides many other representative citizens, nearly all local candidates of both parties were present this afternoon, the latter upon request by letter from Messrs. Smith and Hobbs.

Lad Crushed To Death.

Charles Porter, 16 years old, son of Winfield Porter, was killed in the yards of the Enamel Brick Company at Mount Savage Tuesday. While he was passing over the brick machine he slipped on an iron plate, falling on a belt which carried him under a large wheel, crushing him to death.

His work was to take bricks away from the machine, and he had gone through the boiler room to temporarily escape the heat. In making a short cut on his return he climbed over the machine.

ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous In Salisbury.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. C. W. Fooks, living three miles South of Salisbury, Md., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being exactly as represented. I suffered from kidney disease for eight years. I was treated by doctors who said that this was my trouble, with every indication of turning to Bright's disease. It came on me so gradually that I scarcely knew what ailed me. My back ached, I was annoyed with constant dull pains which grew gradually worse, so that I could not sleep nights on account of the severe aches and pains. The secretions annoyed me, and showed plainly the dormant condition of my kidneys. My limbs were badly swollen, my appetite was poor, did not digest my food, had a bloated feeling after eating, caused by gas. I was always tired and worn out, and the different medicines I took did me no good, but I grew worse and worse. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and highly recommended, so I got a box at White & Leonard's drug store, used them strictly according to directions. They cured me and the cure was complete and lasting. I have not had any return of the complaint since I took Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave a statement for publication in 1903, recommending them, and am glad to confirm same at this time."

Montgomery Republicans.

The Republican State Central Committee for Montgomery county met in Rockville Tuesday and transacted business incident to the opening of the approaching campaign. A notable incident of the meeting was that Thomas Dawson, who had declined the nomination for State's Attorney, announced his reconsideration of his former action and consented to make the race. The Republicans feel confident of being able to elect him.

At 10 O'clock, A. M., original notice of State Central Committee.

ELMER H. WALTON,
Chairman.

Governor Smith And The Democratic Ticket.

Wonders never cease! How in the world the independent Democrats who refused to support Mr.
Hurst in 1895 can now support Judge Crothers is beyond human comprehension and utterly inconceivable.

It can hardly be claimed by the warmest advocates of the present Democratic candidate that he is superior personally to Mr. Hurst, for as a matter of fact it is possible that no man was ever nominated for the Governorship of this State upon any ticket who commanded more fully and absolutely the confidence and respect of the public, and yet, he was sacrificed in the house of his friends and slaughtered at the polls, because of the pernicious influences which brought about his nomination and controlled the convention which placed him before the people. Personally, not a word could be said against him, and the campaign of 1895 was absolutely free from personalities so far as the nominees themselves were concerned. But Mr. Hurst was, in the opinion of a large proportion of the voters of the State, but a respectable mask for a despised set of politicians who had thrown decency to the winds, and ruled the conventions for years for their own personal and political interests. Conditions had become absolutely unbearable and intolerable; fraud was the order of the day in Baltimore at election times, and the elections themselves had become practically a farce.

It was just such conditions as these which brought about the political revolution of that year, and swept the State into the hands of the Republicans. During Governor Lowndes' splendid administration every promise of the Cambridge platform was fully carried out to the letter and more beneficial legislation placed upon the books during those four years than had been enacted in Maryland in the preceding forty years under Democratic control. For the first time in years, an honest election law was placed upon the statute books which was largely prepared by the Reform League of Baltimore, and conceded throughout the country to be absolutely fair and just to all parties and candidates.

And yet it was this very law that was torn to shreds and emasculated by a Democratic Legislature called in extra session by Governor John Walter Smith.
The present law for which the Democratic party is responsible, is a positive disgrace to the State, and a standing monument either to the inefficiency of the Democratic party, or to their deliberate intention to wilfully perpetrate a standing and continued fraud upon the people. If they are unable to enact a decent and honest law, it is manifestly absurd to entrust them with power, and on the other hand, if they can do it, and persistently refuse to do it, then the perpetration of such a reprehensible act should be sufficient to defeat them at the polls. The Democratic party is in that position today, where, upon the question of elections, they confront a stone wall at every turn.

And now come certain sublimely consistent independent Democrats who refused to support Mr.
Hurst in 1895, and are now vocif-erously raising their voices in behalf of the present Democratic nominee—a man who was nominated by a convention completely dominated and controlled by the same John Walter Smith who called the extra session of the Legislature in 1901 for the express purpose of repealing an honest election law and placing a fraudulent one on the statute books, by which they could be continued in full power for an indefinite period of time. The Governor's share of the spoils was to have been the United States Senatorship toga, but the other parties to the nefarious scheme failed at the crucial moment, and the Governor pocketed his disappointment and retired to private life at Snow Hill at the end of his term, instead of taking up his official residence in Washington, according to the beautifully arranged original program.

As soon as the late convention adjourned, it was generally conceded by all that the Worcester chief was once more fairly and squarely in the Democratic saddle, and to the people of Maryland who knew his record and his connection with the old Democratic regime, this was in itself an all sufficient reason for voting against the entire ticket.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the independents in general are rallying to the support of the Republican ticket, and as the campaign progresses this tendency will manifest itself more decidedly and there will be constant accessions to the ranks of the Republican party.

The City Vacancies.

The death of Mr. Henry J. Byrd has created another vacancy in the city government, there being now two important posts to be filled, that of City Tax Collector and the Presidency of the City Council.

These places are always more or less important to the people of Salisbury, but especially is it true at this time when a number of vitaly interesting subjects are under discussion by the city officials, and policies are being inaugurated which affect the welfare and happiness of every resident of the town.

In view of these considerations, it is of supreme moment that the best possible choice be made in the selection of those who are to take the places thus made vacant, and that political considerations be made secondary to the highest interests of the city. It is utterly absurd to bring politics in any way into the government of a place of the size of Salisbury. What is needed today, as at all times, is a progressive, up-to-date administration along purely business lines, without attempting to hand around political favors to those who are in no way connected with the higher powers in the inner circles. A man may be a most efficient ward worker in an exciting primary fight, and be of inestimable benefit in continuing in power the leader of that particular district, but not in the remotest manner does this fit him for important places in the city service, and to reward men in this way for political services is so manifestly absurd as to subject those responsible for it to the highest possible condemnation by the people affected by such official action.

Not a single one of the many important policies and proposed theories and changes in our local affairs have the remotest connection with political platforms or partisan politics, and the time has certainly arrived when such considerations should give way absolutely and entirely to the good of the whole community. We are not advocating a plan by which a Republican, as such, shall be given any political preferment in the Council or any other official position, but we do believe that the time is at hand when men should be selected solely and entirely because of their fitness to fill a certain position, with satisfaction to the people and with credit to themselves.

The question of paving the streets, of increasing or decreasing the tax rate, of bringing about needed changes in the Fire Department, of putting in a proper sewerage system, and withal of so conducting the affairs of a growing municipality such as we have at present, upon an economic basis, are questions which require the highest thought and business intelligence which can be obtained, and it is essential and requisite that the selections be made freely and without reference to any considerations of any character except of merit and fitness.

Under the present management,
THE COURIER has constantly attempted to discuss local affairs as entirely removed from politics in every way, and has given its heartiest support to certain policies of the present officials and even advocated unreservedly their re-election. On the other hand, we have criticized severely certain other matters for which they are responsible, simply and entirely as matters of policy, and certainly without reference to the officials themselves, for all of whom we have the highest respect and admiration, and believe they are all vitaly interested in the welfare of the city.

The fact remains, however, that we are face to face with many difficult and perplexing local problems, and it is incumbent that every effort be made to have the places referred to, filled with the strongest men available—men recognized for their strength of character and peculiarly fitted for the positions to which they may be called and who are able and willing to give the city the best and most intelligent service of which they are capable.

Some Valuable Suggestions
Arent The "Standing Army."

The suggestion has been made that the "standing army" be divided into as many divisions as there are members of the City Council, with a good squad for the Mayor, and that the various sections be placed in front of the residences of these worthy gentlemen.
The suggestion is a most excellent one, for if the officials are determined to continue this nuisance indefinitely they are the ones who should have the glorious and uninterrupted opportunity of gazing at these works of art morning, noon and night.

They might even be piled up in their front yards as a sort of bul-work or protection against the increasing wrath of the citizens of Isabella street, or, they could be made into huge collars and one by one placed around the necks of the gentlemen in question. This latter arrangement would have a double advantage. Every appearance of one of the city officials would constantly remind the people of their continued procrastination, and on the other hand the officials themselves by such close and continual contact with their pet nuisance might finally be aroused from the lethargy which seems to have settled over their official dreams.

It is understood that out of pure compassion and goodness of heart some prominent citizens have offered vacant lots in various parts of the town for the purpose of providing a temporary resting place for these over-worked soldiers, and even some of the carters are now coming to the rescue of the city with offers of free transfer of the various divisions and squads.
Certainly with such a spirit of magnanimity displayed on all sides, the officials really ought to brace up and do something.

—1000 colored views of Salisbury on Post Cards at Ulman Sons. 3 views for 5 cents.

—Cards have been received here announcing the marriage in Los Angeles, Cal., on August 12, of Miss Grace White Chase and Mr. Albert H. Honey.

—Arrangements have been made with Dr. J. R. Kuhns, of Dover, Delaware, by Mr. J. S. Duffy, of Salisbury, and the Delaware veterinary will be at Mr. Duffy's stables in this city every Wednesday until further notice.

—There will be regular services at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church next Sunday at the usual hours. Rev. Wilson T. M. Beale, pastor, accompanied by his family returned Thursday from his vacation at Martinsburg, West Virginia.

—Mr. John Polk has been appointed route agent of the Adams Express Company on the Deepwater and Tidewater Railroad of Virginia, with headquarters at Norfolk. Mr. Polk formerly agent of the company at Salisbury and is well known here.

—The last Sunday School excursion of the season to Ocean City will be next Tuesday. Tickets good on all trains both ways. The excursion will be conducted by the Division Street Baptist Bible School, and being nearly the close of the season a large crowd will probably go.

—The majority of produce growers in Wicomico county have been successful with their crops this season and have secured excellent prices in the large markets. Strawberries, cucumbers, tomatoes, cantaloupes, peaches and, in fact, all produce has been a source of great income to the farmer.

—With the exception of the Sunday School services, which will be held at the regular hour, there will be no services in St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church tomorrow. The choir, accompanied by Rev. David Howard, rector, will leave this afternoon for their annual outing at Ocean City.

—For a consideration of about $11,000 the old Leonard homestead farm in Parsons district was recently sold by Mr. Alan F. Benjamin, acting for Mr. W. W. Leonard. Real Estate Broker S. P. Woodcock was the purchaser. The farm contains 385 acres of land and has considerable timber land on it.

—Mr. F. E. Matthews, of Pocomoke, and Mr. Charles Barker, of Milford, have been appointed by Mr. W. F. Allen, president of the Peninsula Horticultural Society, to represent Maryland at the convention of the American Pomological Society which will meet at Jamestown from September 24 to 26.

—With purses aggregating more than three thousand dollars, it is expected that the racing will be exceptionally fine and that the Talbot county fair, September 17, 18, 19 and 20, at Easton, will be one of the largest in its history. It is expected that special trains will be run from Salisbury and points on the B. C. & A. Railroad.

—Governor Warfield Monday issued a proclamation declaring the first Monday in September Labor Day. In the document the Governor says that "labor and capital are inseparably connected, each being dependent one upon the other, and that no antagonism should exist between them, but each should accord to the other its just dues."

—The registration days this year will be Tuesday, October 1st., and Tuesday October 8th, and are the only days on which the name of a person may be registered or on which transfers will be granted from one district to another or from one county to another. Tuesday, October 15 will be for revision only and no new names will be added on that day.

—In order to make her education complete, Miss Wilsie Woodcock, one of the teachers of the primary department of the city public schools, has been granted a leave of absence for one year to take a course in music at the Boston Conservatory. Miss Belle Smith, who has been a member of County Superintendent Bounds' training class for several months has been appointed to teach Miss Woodcock's school.

—Several alarms of fire have been turned in recently but owing to the quick response of the fire department no damage was done. On Monday there were two alarms. The first fire was in the residence of Mr. Henry Townsend. The second was in the Masque Temple, where a blaze was started on the second floor by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The building was possibly saved from destruction by the quick action of Dr. Brotemarkle, who threw the flaming stove to the street. In this building are the United States Postoffice and the People's National Bank besides several offices.

—A reduction of 10 per cent. on all classes of goods at L. A. Hall's, 314 S. Division street.

—A surprise party was given Miss Sarah Ulman by about twenty of her young friends Thursday evening last.

—There will be a meeting of the Board of Lady Managers of the Peninsula General Hospital at the City Hall, next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

—Miss Carrie Adkins has returned from a three weeks visit to Rochester, N. Y. She also visited Philadelphia, New York City, Coney Island, and took a trip up the Hudson River.

—A sale will begin at the Birchhead-Shockley store Tuesday, September 3rd, on all winter woollens, blankets, ladies and childrens coats, carpets, rugs, etc. This is a grand opportunity.

—There will be no church services at Ashbury M. E. Church tomorrow owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. T. E. Martindale. The Sunday School services will be held at the usual hour.

—Miss Leola Nelson, formerly teacher of shorthand and typewriting at the Eastern Shore College, will leave Monday for Newark, N. J., where she will be instructor in the same studies at the Drake Business College.

—A reception in honor of Miss Leibold, of Pittsburg, was given by Miss Margaret Woodcock at her home on Camden avenue yesterday afternoon. In the evening the reception committee and a number of gentlemen friends were entertained.

—Owing to the repairs being made no services will be held in the Division St. Baptist Church tomorrow. The Bible School will have a joint session with the California School, corner Main St. and Delaware Ave. at 2:30. Evening service in Hitch's Hall at 7:30.

—The canning season having started up, it is estimated that in the neighborhood of 5000 men, women and children will be employed in this county by the different canning concerns during the next 60 days. The tomato crop is a large one and an exceedingly large pack will be the result.

—Mr. Wade T. Porter, who has been visiting friends in Salisbury for several weeks, left yesterday for Brunswick, Georgia, where he is interested in the lumber industry. He was accompanied by Mr. Harry Jones, of Quantico, who has lumber interests about three miles from Brunswick.

—Miss Lola Smith entertained a large number of friends at the home of her parents on Bush Street Thursday evening in honor of Miss Harnsbarger, of Washington, D. C. Miss Harnsbarger was a former resident of Salisbury, but left with her parents about twelve years ago.

—Mr. E. L. White, an extensive shipper of produce in this city last Tuesday deposited $220. with Mr. Willie P. Ward, on a car containing 1100 watermelons as a guarantee of good faith for the consignment. The car was shipped to Frank D. Barker, commission merchant, Philadelphia, and brought in the neighborhood of $300 on the market.

—Watermelons are bringing a high price in the Northern markets and shippers are getting from $200.00 to $300.00 on each car, the price depending upon the quality of the melons. Mr. W. F. Allen, who is one of the largest growers of melons in this section is shipping several cars each day from his private siding, and several cars are being loaded at the sidings in South Salisbury.

—Six major operations were performed at the Peninsula General Hospital by Dr. J. McFadden Dick last week as follows: Walter Watson, of Drummondtown, Va., for appendicitis; Miss Betts, of Crisfield, for appendicitis; Hester Broughton, of Westover, for large tumor; Mr. Feldman of this city, for hernia; Mrs. Scott of Parkley, for abdominal abscess; Barbara Laird, Somerset county, for blood-poisoning. During the past six months Dr. Dick has performed more than a hundred major operations at the Hospital and in the homes of his patients.

Every Woman

Loves To See A Man Well-Dressed

Some women love honor in men, others worship beauty, and not a few admire manliness. Some like honesty in him best, and some adore his money-making instincts. Others admire charity, bravery, modesty, learning. Each and every one has a different leaning, but in one thing they all agree—and that is the art of dressing well. Every woman loves to see a man well-dressed. When she doesn't, she is dead to the womanly instincts. There are many roads to a woman's heart. Nothing pleases a woman more than the man with a stylish suit and hat. Thoroughgood's New Fall Suits and Hats are ready.

GAS FROM CORNCOB.

Sheep and Effective Illuminant For Nebraska Town.

A commercial grade of illuminating gas made from cornstalks, corncobs, hay and other vegetable matter is being used in Beatrice, Ind., for fuel and lights and has superseded coal gas, says a Beatrice (Neb.) dispatch to the New York Sun. The cost of the new gas is $1.19 per 1,000, the lowest price at which gas is sold in any city in Nebraska. In quality it is as good as coal or oil gas.

John D. Rockefeller is said to be back of the company which is furnishing the gas, and the franchise for the plant is in the name of the Rev. Charles Eaton of Cleveland, Rockefeller's pastor. The company has completed a $100,000 plant at Beatrice. It is the first plant in the world in which gas is produced in this manner.

The vegetable matter is placed in large retorts and roasted until the water is forced out. This water is then turned into steam, and the gases eliminated are very combustible and a perfect substitute for ordinary coal gas. A year ago Mr. Eaton applied for the franchise for establishing a gas plant, and it was voted to him. The plant which has recently been finished is the result. Absolutely nothing is used in manufacturing the gas except farm refuse.

Because of the cheapness of the raw material the gas can be manufactured very cheaply and sold at a much lower rate than can coal gas.

LIGHTING NIAGARA FALLS.

Mist and Water Will Flash All Colors of the Rainbow at Night.

The contract has been closed for the night illumination of Niagara falls, and the proposed plan for lighting the mighty torrent will be the greatest feat ever conceived in electrical illumination, says the New York World.

The falls will be illuminated for the first time Aug. 15, and the General Electric company has charge of the work. The illuminating scheme calls for nearly fifty large searchlights, several of them the largest of their kind and capable of throwing a beam of light a hundred miles, and the new color searchlight, a late invention. The projectors will be located below the falls in two batteries, one at the water's edge and the other on the high ground of the Canadian side. Every inch of the two falls will be under light.

The new color searchlight is an attachment fitted to the searchlights by which the beams of light can be made any color at will. Thus the mist and water, bathed in all the colors of the rainbow, will surpass anything in spectacular effect save the great northern lights.

The proposition is to illuminate Niagara on a scale in keeping with the surroundings. It is said by the illuminating experts that the rays of colored lights when flashed in the air will be visible at Rochester and Toronto.

FIRST VOTE OF FILIPINOS.

Philippine Assembly Will Consist of Eighty-four Members.

On July 30 all males in the Philippine Islands not under twenty-three years of age and not citizens or subjects of any foreign power will be permitted to vote for members of the Philippine assembly and for provincial governors, a third member of the provincial board, municipal presidents and vice presidents and municipal councilors. This, recalls Harper's Weekly, will be the first step toward Filipino self government. The first assembly will convene early in October of this year. Secretary Taft will be present at this meeting of the assembly.

American citizens coming within the requirements will be permitted the right of suffrage, for American citizens are not considered "subjects of any foreign power."

The first Philippine assembly will consist of eighty-four members, apportioned on the basis of one delegate for each 30,000 of population. Provision is made to increase this number, but the total number of delegates cannot exceed 100. All acts of the assembly must secure the approval of the Philippine commission before they become laws.

Sensible Preference.

In one of Miss Mulock's stories she says that "a cheerful heart seethes cheerful things" and gives this incident in proof of it:

A lady and gentleman were in a lumber yard situated by a dirty, foul smelling river. The lady said, "How good the pine boards smell!" "Fine boards!" exclaimed the gentleman. "Just smell that foul river!" "No, thank you," was the reply; "I prefer to smell the pine boards."

No Reform Wanted.

"I hope he'll reform when you are married." "I don't!" "Why, he spends every cent he earns?" "I know it, but he spends it on me."—Houston Post.

Caustic Criticism.

Sculptor (to his friend)—Well, what do you think of my bust? Fine piece of marble, isn't it? Friend—Magnificent. What a pity to have made a bust of it. It would have made a lovely mantelpiece.—Bon Vivant.

SIX COLLEGE CLUBHOUSE.

Joint Building For Organizations of Alumni of New England Institutions.

A nine story house in New York for college men, the lower third of which will be common to the New York graduates of six New England institutions and the other six-ninths apportioned, a ninth apiece, to the graduates of each of the institutions, is the latest idea in clubhouses, says the New York Tribune.

The originator of the plan, Allston Sargent, secretary of the club of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in East Twenty-eighth street, says it has been received with enthusiasm by New York graduates of the six institutions—Amherst, Brown, Dartmouth, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wesleyan and Williams. The New York men who have attended each of them now have clubs of their own, the average membership of which is about 300. That number makes a good sized club, but not large enough to provide the advantages of the houses of the Harvard, Yale and Princeton graduates.

Five hundred thousand dollars is the amount which it is planned to raise among the members of the six college clubs for the new building. With 300 members to a club, this means that the composite New England organization would start out with a membership of 1,800, and those interested in the plan think that this number could easily be increased to 2,500 or 3,000. The additional members would be drawn from graduates of the institutions named who do not at present belong to the clubs bearing the name of their alma mater, but would do so if the proper facilities for a clubhouse were offered.

The site suggested for the house is in or near College row or Clubhouse alley, as West Forty-fourth street between Fifth and Sixth avenues has come to be known. In the nine story building considered there would be room enough for billiard and smoking rooms, bowling alleys, squash courts, a large dining room, an assembly room and sleeping apartments. To these all members would have access, while a floor apiece would be reserved for the preservation of the half dozen college atmospheres. The maintenance of each of the college floors would be left to its frequenters, while the general administration of the building would be looked after by a house committee made up of representatives of each of the component clubs.

If the scheme proves to be a success, it is possible that it may be imitated by graduates of colleges with insufficient numbers to maintain a clubhouse themselves. There may be a New York Pacific Coast Colleges club, a New York State University club and a Middle Western association.

Demonstration.

Grace—And did you ever propose to a girl in a canoe? Fred—Yes, and I'll never do it again. The girl jumped at my proposal and upset the boat.—Harper's Weekly.

All the Difference.

"Society dropped the De Lacys because they had a skeleton in their closet, I understand?" "No—because they didn't keep it there."—Cleveland Leader.

When Banks Are Bitten.

"Speaking of bad checks," said the cashier of a downtown bank, "don't you believe for a moment that most of the expert forgers are behind bars or frightened into inactivity. The distinguished professionals—those accustomed to play for a fortune at a single throw—are pretty well in hand, but there are others." "As a matter of fact, the public would be surprised to learn how many bogus checks, perfectly executed, get past the bank officials every week in this city."

"Don't see many of 'em in the police court cases," a listener suggested.

"Of course not. Most of the checks are for small amounts and are made good by the bank officers. Why? Well, because it does a bank no especial good to have it known that forged checks can pass through its windows. So the matter is hushed up. Even when a man is caught in the act he is often allowed to go free if he is merely an agent and will tell who his principal is. It's business policy."—New York Globe.

He Knew Mother.

"See here," cried the boy's father, "if you don't behave I'll whip you!" "I wish you would," replied the bad boy.

"You do, eh?" "Yes, 'cause when it's all over ma will gimme some candy."—Exchange.

Heartless.

"So you wouldn't take me to be twenty-six?" giggled the fair widow. "No, indeed," rejoined the inconsiderate old bachelor. "But if you had a daughter I might take her to be that old."

The Glidden Automobile Tour.

Frank! The cars are coming! Hurry up the spark! Keep the engines humming—My, but it's a lark! Here's a road that's sandy. Pull the throttle wide. Here's a pike that's candy. See 'em as they glide! Up hill, down dale, Watch 'em take their flight. If I but could You bet I would Be a Gliddenite.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

STARTLING BRAIN THEORY.

Not Center of Human Intelligence, Says Scientist—Toss Have Thoughts.

The scientific world, through Dr. Joseph Simms of New York city, who arrived recently at Boston from Europe, is to be treated to another sensational theory concerning the seat of thought in human beings, says the New York American.

"We think with our toes and with our fingers just as much as we think with any portion of our brain," says the scientist, who is about to write a book. He contends that the heart has more to do with the function of thinking than the brain.

Dr. Simms points out that the brains of many idiots are large, yet their hearts are very small, whereas the brains of many geniuses have been below the normal, while their hearts have been abnormal.

"We think literally all over our bodies," says the doctor, who has made a life study of the chemistry of thought. "Thought is in the soul, which permeates the entire physical being. The brain is a great heat producer, but it has little to do with the function of thinking. We think with our fingers or with our toes whenever we use them."

Dr. Simms declares that such world renowned scientists as Sir William Hamilton of Edinburgh university and Professor Von Hartmann of Berlin agree with him in his theory.

LABOR UNION BANK.

Its $500,000 Capital Stock to Be Sold to None but Union Men.

Promoted by the farmers' union and the labor unions of Oklahoma, a co-operative bank and trust company of Oklahoma City was chartered at Guthrie, Okla., recently with a capital stock of $500,000 to do a general banking business, says a Guthrie special to the New York World.

"We expect that the institution will be largely patronized by the farmers' union and the organized labor of the territories," said Cephas Miller, the treasurer.

"The institution will be a union labor bank. No stock will be sold except to members of unions, and special efforts will be made to interest and accommodate union men."

For Trapping Thugs.

A photographic device that will call the police by telephone adds a new hazard to the ever increasing dangers of the burglar's profession, says the Baltimore American. When an attempt is made to force a window or door with which the proper connections have been made, an electric current operates a photograph in the garage. The machine calls up central and asks for the police station. The photograph then informs the officers of the robbery, giving street and number, and repeats this information as long as the receiver is down. Meanwhile the intruder, all unconscious that an alarm has been rung in, virtually walks into a trap and if the call is promptly responded to is soon in the lockup.

May Have Shoes of Whaleskin.

Whaleskin shoes may be the next fad. Men who have been experimenting with whaleskin for commercial uses are meeting a fair degree of success, it is said. It would be odd if the plentiful kid and calf were not enough to supply the whole world and the scarce whale had to be brought to civilization's rescue, says the New York Press. The "leather" of the whale is thin and rough and will take color readily. Not only shoes, but long gloves, will be made of whaleskin, say the prophets. Considering the famine in the glove market since the short sleeve fad started, it seems a pity this use for old "There she blows" wasn't discovered before.

Plan to Stop Powder Accidents.

Professor Charles Totten, the former Yale instructor and later prophet of disaster recently sent word to the government that future explosions like that upon the Georgia could be prevented by making all the powder bags of asbestos cloth, says a New Haven special to the New York Times. When asked how he would convey fire to the cartridge in such form he said: "Easily enough. I would have the friction primer in the form of a long 22 caliber pistol cartridge, with a bullet to cut through the bag and make way for the fire."

Gasoline Plow.

A gasoline driven plow was put to work in a field near Beloit, Mo., recently, the first of its kind in that part of the state, says the Kansas City Journal. Twelve or fifteen years ago most of them were debating whether it was safe for the women folk to use gasoline cook stoves in summer.

A One Legged Peor.

Lord Lucas, who recently established his claim to a seat in the house of lords, has only one leg, says Tit-Bits. The other was shattered during the Boer war and had to be amputated.

Kisses a Necessity, Says a Preacher.

"Kisses are as much of a necessity as dessert is," said the Rev. W. A. Quayle, who spoke at the Methodist camp meeting at Des Moines, Ill., the other day, says a Chicago dispatch. "I would throw away a biscuit any time for a kiss."

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $134,500.00, makes loans secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes. It receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Seeing Vesuvius.

By JAMES LEWIS.

Robert Gaston was a bachelor of thirty-eight and was known to be fairly wealthy. He was a clubman in a conservative way. He was also a patron of the theater, but not of actresses. Now, and then he made a bet on a horse race or an election, but he did not ride to the hounds or participate in wild revelry. He was a bachelor of good character, and why he did not marry was something no fellow could find out.

Nothing is a mystery to one who knows. Mr. Gaston knew that he was simply waiting for the right woman to come along and arouse the romance in his nature. That he had romance he felt quite sure, but that the right woman would come he had begun to doubt. He had prevented a girl in financial distress from leaping into the river, but she was older than he and did not appeal to him. He had stopped a runaway cab horse and saved the woman inside the vehicle, but she turned out to be a bachelor girl, who coldly thanked him and said that she was about to vault on to the horse's back and stop him herself. At a theater party one night he had seized a pretty girl in his arms and hustled her out, but she had told him that she was already engaged and had offered him a dollar in cash for his exertions.

Between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-eight Mr. Gaston had had at least fifteen narrow escapes from calling up that slumbering romance that would lead to admiration and love, and he had finally come to the conclusion that it would have to be something out of the beaten track and might never happen at all.

How little do we know what a day may bring forth! On a certain Sunday Mr. Gaston sat in the smoking room of his club and read the six volume Sunday papers and was satisfied and content. On Monday he decided to sail for Italy and see the volcano of Vesuvius in operation. No one had ever suspected him of a partiality for volcanoes. He had not rushed off to the Johnstown flood or the Galveston disaster or the Baltimore fire. He had never been known to attend a prize fight or pay a visit to the morgue, and he had once turned pale at sight of a bleeding finger on the hand of a club waiter, but now he wanted to sail far away and see a volcano belching destruction for twenty miles around. Such is man!

Five days from the date of making his decision Mr. Gaston sailed for Naples. His steamer was not overcrowded. He would find plenty of standing room at the deck rail when he reached port. This would be one of the occasions when the front seats were not reserved for ladies. It was two days before the old bachelor suddenly discovered that there was an extremely good looking young woman aboard in charge of the captain. His heart gave one jump, and then he turned away. He was off to see volcanoes and not to look after comely women. Besides, the captain whispered to him that Miss Davidson did not care to make acquaintances on the voyage. By way of revenge Mr. Gaston did not stare at her at the table, as did all the other passengers.

Four days had passed, and he had met Miss Davidson face to face a dozen times, and neither had seemed to see the other. Then he passed her vacant steamer chair and found her purse lying where she had carelessly left it. Finding a lady's purse, whether on land or sea, calls for immediate action. Mr. Gaston was in search of the captain to hand it over, with contents untouched, when he met the young lady face to face and had the hardihood to address her. She at once responded smilingly. Yes, it was her purse, and she was under a thousand obligations, and so they introduced themselves to each other and sat down for a chat.

She had told the captain that she didn't care for introductions, but she was willing to make an exception in Mr. Gaston's case. Mr. Gaston was on board for the express purpose of going to Naples to see a volcano humping itself and hadn't expected to speak to a woman en route, but he was also willing to make a solitary exception. There were many other chats, but it was not until the last day out that Miss Davidson solved a problem that was puzzling the bachelor. She was going to Italy to claim a large estate left by her grandmother. She had the papers with her. She was an orphan and had no relative to come with her, and her New York lawyer and her maid had accidentally been left behind when the steamer sailed. She must go to a hotel in Naples and wait for them, though she would be in consultation with an Italian lawyer meanwhile, and some preliminary steps could be taken. The romance that had been buried deep in the heart of the old bachelor began to thaw out. It thawed and bubbled and rose to the surface. It begot admiration. Mr. Gaston wouldn't have made a wager that it wouldn't end in betrothing love. The thing that was needed had come to him at last. On arrival at Naples the captain took Miss Davidson to a certain hotel, and Mr. Gaston went to another, but of course Mr. Gaston could call at any proper hour. He did call. There was old Vesuvius belching away and scattering ashes and fireworks all around, and hundreds feared that Naples must be destroyed, but he was not among them. He was falling in love with Miss Davidson, and Naples must stand. Together the two saw the old hill doing her stunt, but their talk was mostly in regard to that grandmother's fortune. It amounted to millions of dollars, and Miss Davidson was the only heir. It would be a great responsibility for her, and she almost dreaded getting the money. Alone in the world and immensely wealthy, how could she tell whether a man sought her hand for love or the long green?

At this point Mr. Gaston reached out and took her hand and said something in reply, but as there happened to be an eruption just then—a sound like ten thousand mad bulls bellowing at once—the young lady never caught the words. She took them to mean something at least brotherly, however, and hung to his arm a little more tightly. Mr. Gaston was now in love. He was ready to bet a new hat on it. He was ready to propose marriage. He was willing to bet two hats on that. He must go a little slow, because he was no fortune hunter and wanted the girl to satisfy herself on that point.

A week passed, and then Miss Davidson received a cablegram from her lawyer stating that he would be detained two weeks longer and that she should begin preliminary proceedings in the suit. Mr. Gaston did not see the cablegram, but he did see the lawyer who called on the helms. Miss Davidson insisted that he should be present at the interview as the only dear friend she had in all Italy. Vesuvius belched and roared and threw rocks over 200 feet high, but the interview took place just the same. The lawyer went over the case, which was a sure thing. It was as sure as that an American trust company could run the price of potatoes up a dollar a barrel and not go to jail for it.

Everything was ready to begin business, but there would be need of money—quite a bit of money. Being a foreigner, Miss Davidson must put up $10,000 before filing the suit, and then there would be need of $5,000 additional to bribe officials and get the papers started on the right road. The American lawyer would bring the money when he came, but that would mean more delay. When you are going to sue for millions left by your grandmother, you can't begin too quick. If you foot around too long, a hundred other heirs will rise from their graves to hold out their avaricious paws. When the lawyer had departed, Miss Davidson was almost in tears. She hadn't the cash to advance. Her lawyer was taking the case on a chance, and $1,000 was all she could raise. She succeeded in choking back a few sobs and then suddenly smiled and said it would make no great difference. If she had not the money, that must end it.

Right there was where Mr. Gaston spoke his little piece. He had loved her from the instant he found the purse in the steamer chair, and now that he could be of use to her his love welled up like a spring on the Catskill mountains. He would advance the money to the lawyer. She must not say him nay. He wanted her for his wife, but he would not make a formal proposal until she had had time to study him and make sure that he was no grifter or sordid wretch. She protested, but he insisted. Even while she protested he left her dear presence to fix things with the lawyer. You may be in Naples and your bank account in New York, but things can be fixed in a day to transfer any sum named.

The next day as Mr. Gaston came into the presence of the one loved she blushed and returned the pressure of his hand. Old Vesuvius still whanged away, but she was quiet compared with Gaston's heart. For one day only! On his next call he found the helms missing. After anxious inquiry he learned that she had taken the train for Genoa. He might have telegraphed and had her and the fake lawyer arrested, but he decided not to do so. He had loved and lost, and without another look at the famous volcano he took the steamer for New York. When his club friends asked him to describe what he had seen, he said there was nothing to describe. To one man only did he open his bleeding heart, and he was somewhat comforted to hear the other exclaim:

"The deuce you say! Why, the same girl got $10,000 of my good money in the same way last summer! Glad I'm not the only easy mark in this old world!"

Old Sam had been for several days patiently sitting on the bank of the Rappahannock river near the dam, holding his shotgun in his hand. Finally he attracted the attention of a passerby, who asked, "Well, Uncle Sam, are you looking for something to do?"

"No, sah," answered Sam. "I's gettin' paid to what I's doin'."

"Indeed!" answered the stranger. "And what may that be?"

"Shootin' de muskrats dat am under minn' de dam," answered Sam.

"Well, there goes one now!" exclaimed the stranger excitedly. "Why don't you shoot?"

"S'pose I wants to lose my job, sah?" answered Sam complacently. Lippincott's Magazine.

The Greater Happiness.

By NANCY BRENT.

Copyrighted, 1907, by E. C. Parolia.

Miss Ryland turned from the window where she stood picking the withered blossoms from the azalea and looked at her patient.

"You seem restless. Would you like me to read to you awhile?" she asked.

"I'd rather have you rub my head with the bay rum," he said peevishly.

She took the bottle from the cabinet and poured some in the palm of her firm white hand.

"That's more like living." He gave a sigh of relaxation as the soothing effect stole over him. "Had a pretty close call, didn't I, Miss Ryland?"

"Pneumonia is always a tiresome business," she answered unconsciously, trying to rub his hair into covering the bald spot on his head, "but the doctor says you may start for Palm Beach tomorrow if you have no fever tonight."

"By Jove, I don't know whether I want to go or not—don't seem to have energy enough; believe I'd rather stay here and have you look after me awhile longer. It's pretty comfortable."

She took a cloth and wiped off a drop of bay rum that was trickling toward his ear and turned his head so she could rub the other side.

"But just think how fortunate you are to be able to leave the hospital for such a lovely rest at Palm Beach," she said cheerfully. "I've always longed to be rolled around in a chair on the sands there, with beautiful clothes and no worry over the fact that I was eating up a five dollar bill during the day and sleeping away another five at night."

"Money doesn't give me everything," he grumbled. "My owning a few millions didn't keep me from having this beastly attack. How would you like to go to Palm Beach and look after me?" he asked suddenly, looking intently at the handsome face bending over him.

She gave him a startled glance, and the bay rum splashed down his forehead and ran perilously near his eyes. "You will not be sick enough to require a nurse," she said quietly.

"But I would like to have you look after me. You have a way about you, that is restful, and I think it would be fine to have some one as capable and as comforting always at hand. Suppose you marry me and go with me!"

She set the bottle on the table and looked at him in astonishment. "I'm afraid you still have some fever," she said, reaching for the little thermometer.

"I don't think it is a sign of fever to recognize a good thing and want it. The proposition has its good points for both of us. I would have a wife that I would be proud of, and you could certainly roll in a chair at Palm Beach and not worry about the hotel bills."

"But is that the greatest happiness that can come to a man or a woman? You have had more experience than I. You are about forty-five, I should think, and I am twenty-eight. I have always looked forward to loving the man I married."

She leaned her elbow on the table, and her violet eyes were large and serious as those of a child that considers a problem too deep for it.

"I've never given much thought to love as a romance," he said, pushing the counterpane from his neck and leaving his arms free. "But I think a nice, comfortable friendship would be far more satisfactory."

"I suppose it is, as you say, comfortable to stay on the level plane, but don't people who make such marriages fall to reach the heights that women in their hearts always long for? I have always imagined that on the heights the air was more glorified."

"My dear woman, I'm afraid you've been reading novels. Take my word for it that a nice, comfortable existence is the only sane life and that only young and hysterical fools ever reach the heights that you are describing, and then they don't stay there long. They tumble back to earth quick enough. I hope you'll get that out of your head and come with me to-morrow."

"I couldn't do that, anyway," she said, decidedly. "It's almost a part of the ethics of our profession that we don't accept offers of marriage from our convalescent patients."

"Do you think because I've had pneumonia it has necessarily left my mind weak?" he demanded.

"No, I don't think that, and I acknowledge that your offer has its temptations. Let me think it over while you are gone. I'm leaving in an hour and am to take a week's rest myself. I must be saying goodbye now," looking hastily at her watch. "I hope you will soon be strong and well, and I will think over your plan while you are gone."

Once in her room she went to her wardrobe for her one gaily dress, for to celebrate the beginning of her week's holiday she had promised to go with John Martin to the theater. There was a tap at the door, and one of the nurses looked in.

"Seems to me you are doing the po-city act with a vengeance tonight. Here's a big box of violets for you. I thought you said it was a mere newspaper man you were going with?"

Mary Ryland opened the box, a flush a pleasure on her face.

"Oh, but he's a dear! He always thinks of the little things that please."

When she pinned on her hat, she looked in the mirror at the violets, fresh and sweet against the soft gray of her gown.

"If I promise to marry him when he comes back from Palm Beach, I can have violets every day if I want them," was the thought that ran through her mind, but it was a hazy, indefinite way, mixed with an idea that to buy violets herself would not give her so much pleasure as to have some one think to buy them for her.

"You are a vigorous bit of the outside world," she said when she met Martin in the reception room, and they started for the car.

"And you are the best bit of this world and a promise of the next," he said, catching the end of her chiffon scarf that was falling from her shoulder and throwing it carefully around her throat. "My dear child, you take care of everybody on earth except yourself. It's spring, of course, but the air is so chilly you ought to keep that lace stuff on your chest covered."

She laughed happily, walking beside him with light, springy steps.

"You treat me as if I were an irresponsible child that needed watching."

"As for watching you, I always do that. You must have known for months that I'd like nothing better than taking care of you always. There wouldn't be much luxury to offer you; there would be plenty of love. But I want you to have everything. Yesterday I chased all over town for a story that the chief wanted, and I was lucky enough to get it exclusively. The old man said it was worth five hundred to the paper, and he nearly knocked the breath out of me by handing me a check. The very first thing I thought of, little girl, when I got calm enough to think was that that five hundred would furnish a flat. Could you be content to live in a tiny flat and trust me to take care of you as best I could?" He peered eagerly into her face, and neither of them saw the cab drawn by a madly frightened horse dash around the corner.

When she recovered consciousness she was on a seat in a corner drug store, with John Martin bending anxiously over her.

"Drink all this," he commanded, taking the glass from the druggist. "I believe your arm is broken, dear, and I feel murderous enough to smash every cab in the city to kindling wood."

She smiled faintly.

"I think you had better leave me, whole one and call it to take me back to the hospital."

In the cab he placed her arm, according to her directions, in a position that would give her as little pain as possible, then drew her head against his shoulder.

"Poor little girl!" he said commiseratingly. "This is a sorry ending for the pleasant evening I hoped you were going to have."

She sat in silence, and unconsciously her face nestled into a more comfortable position on his shoulder. His arm held her to break as much as possible the jolting of the cab. Still half dazed, and not wholly recovered from her faintness, her mind, with a peculiar reflex action, ran over and supplemented the thoughts of the day.

"John"—her voice was faint and sleepy—"I'd rather live in the tiny flat than to roll in a chair on the sands at Palm Beach forever."

He tried to see her eyes by the light through the cab window.

"My dear, I'm afraid you have some fever," he said anxiously.

First Patent in America.

The first patent in America was granted to Joseph Jenks, a founder and machinist who had emigrated from Hammersmith, England, where he was born in 1602. He was a very ingenious man, and was induced by Governor Winthrop, the younger, to come to Lynn, Mass., about 1642, as master mechanic to establish "the iron and steel works."

He was acknowledged head of the iron smelting and founding business and the first builder of machinery in this country and first patentee of invention in America, having introduced the idea (first granted by act of parliament in 1625) of protection for the manufacture of improvements by petition to the government of Massachusetts Bay. In 1646 he took patents for mill improvements, and in 1655 he patented the present form of the grass scythe, for which he should be held in grateful remembrance. In 1652 he made dies for the first coinage of money, the pine tree shillings. In 1664 he built the first iron engine to the order of the selectmen of Boston (the first ever built in this country); in 1667 he built a forge and entered upon the manufacture of his improved scythes nine years before his application was granted.—Journal of American History.

Nervous Indigestion

The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

"For many years I was an acute sufferer from nervous indigestion; at times I was so despondent life seemed almost a burden. I tried all kinds of remedies and various physicians with little or no relief, until one night last summer I saw Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure advertised. I resolved to make one more trial, which I did in the purchase of one bottle of Nervine and one of Heart Cure. In a few days I began to feel better, which encouraged me so much that I continued the medicine until I had taken more than a dozen bottles. I am very much improved in every way; in body, mind and spirits since. I make a special point to recommend the medicine, and I feel a sincere pleasure in knowing that several persons have been benefited through my recommendations."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit you if it fails, he will refund your money.

Jersey is in sack cloth and ashes. Harry Messick, the well known colored celebrity of musical fame has laid down his official duties as "section" of the colored church and hid himself to seclusion on a Rock-a-walkin farm at $2.00 a month and board. With tear-bedimmed eyes he bid his friends adieu and even has made arrangements to part with his "two wheel automobile" to which he was devotedly attached. His Jersey friends gathered round in great profusion at the time of his departure and, it is said, many tears were shed at his leave-taking.
