Annapolis, Oct. 10, 1811.

St. John's College,

October 15, 1811.

THE subscriber most respectfully requests thus publicly, all who are indebted on account of tuition, and of books furnished the students, to pay the same; the amount of arrears being considerable, whilst the low estate of the college funds renders further indulgence impossible. As the college claims are highly just and honorable, it is hoped all those concerned will see the necessity as well as equity of making early payments, or see the discredit, in a course of means pursued, painful to the trustees and visitors, as unpleasant to the young gentlemen students interested, as well as their friends—But trust, a sense of justice, and of propriety, will stimulate to discharge the arrears, however ancient, and thus obviate so disgraceful and disgraceable an issue.

By order,

RICHARD OWEN,

Collector and Bookseller.

N. B. The subscriber intending soon to remove from this city, all who have claims upon him, are desired to exhibit them, that they may be paid, and those indebted, to discharge the same on or before the last of this month.

R. OWEN.

NOTICE.

THE subscriber being, by a decree of the Honourable the Chancellor of Maryland, appointed trustee for the sale of the estate of George Mann, late of the city of Annapolis, deceased, in pursuance of the directions of the said decree, hereby gives notice to all the creditors of the said George Mann, and also to all the creditors of Mary Mann, late of the city of Annapolis, deceased, to exhibit their respective claims, with their vouchers, properly authenticated, in the court of chancery, with-

Treasury Department, May 28th, 1811.

WHEREAS, in conformity with the provisions made by law for the reimbursement of the Converted Six Per Cent. Stock, created by the third section of the Act, entitled, "An act supplementary to the act, entitled, An act making provision for the redemption of the whole of the public debt of the United States," passed on the 11th day of February, 1807, it has been determined by lot that the Certificates of said Stock, designated by the permanent numbers contained in the annexed Schedule, should be reimbursed on the first day of January next.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Is therefore given to the proprietors of the certificates of CONVERTED SIX PER CENT. stock, created by the act aforesaid, and bearing the permanent numbers contained in the annexed schedule, that the principal of the same will, on surrender of the certificates, be paid, on the first day of January, 1812, to the respective stockholders, or their legal representatives, or attorneys duly constituted, either at the treasury or at the Loan-Office where the stock thus to be reimbursed may then stand credited, to the proprietors thereof.

It is further made known, for the information of the parties concerned, that no transfers of the certificates of Converted Stock, bearing the permanent numbers contained in the annexed schedule, from the books of the Treasury, or of any Commissioner of Loans, will be allowed after the first day of December next. And the interest on all the Certificates contained in the said schedule, will cease and determine, on the day preceding the day hereby fixed for the reimbursement thereof.

ALBERT GALLATIN, Secretary of the Treasury.

THE CHRISTIAN, No. 4.

The more we reflect on the peculiar excellencies of the Christian Religion, the more we must adore the unbounded goodness of Him, who designed it for the salvation of man. What the grand design of the gospel is, we may learn from the declaration of blessed Paul, to the great apostle of the Gentiles; to open our eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that we may receive forgiveness of sins, and an inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith in Jesus Christ.

As the reward which the gospel promises to believers, is not to be obtained in this world, but in that which is to come, it necessarily makes us more solicitous about our eternal welfare, than for our temporal enjoyments. Even what the world usually calls virtue will yield to that real and unaffected piety, which sanctifies us throughout in soul and body; which cleanses all our thoughts and affections, and which evinces itself throughout the whole of our lives, by an entire submission to the will of God and obedience to his commands.

As the Christian's reward is celestial, all the precepts, doctrines, promises and threatenings of the gospel are for the promotion of piety, the means by which it is to be obtained. They enlighten the mind, warm the heart, and purify the affections. In the gospel God discovers his goodness, that we may imitate him and his works, that we may glorify him. The gospel implores us to embrace his crucified Son, by a lively faith, and to seek for holiness in Him; to live godly, righteously, and soberly in the present world, that we may be made partakers of the joys which are to come.

When our blessed Lord sojourned upon earth, clothed with the flesh and the sufferings of man, the object of all his discourses to the people was to impress upon their minds the laws necessary for the regulation of their lives, rather than to expound to them incomprehensible mysteries. His religion reforms the understanding, dissipates error and vice, and hatred; and sheds abroad light and love, purity and peace. It forms on earth a representation of that pure and holy society that is perfected in Heaven; & by making us better men, it makes us approach nearer to the angels in holiness.

How very different are the meek and lowly doctrines of the gospel, to the absurdities, heathen worship, the Priests of Baal wound themselves; and the Chinese penitents expose themselves, half naked, to the inclemency of the weather. But the Christian is simply required to approach the altar of the ever living God, with an humble and a contrite heart; to love the Lord who created him; and his neighbour as himself.

We are taught in the gospel the necessity of living a godly and a holy life, that we may be acceptable in the sight of the Almighty. We are to cleanse ourselves from all pollutions of flesh and spirit, and to be holy in all manner of conversation—to be holy as He who hath called us is holy. By the covering of the gospel we are made the children of Most High, and, in this endearing relationship, we are bound by the sufferings of our Lord, to obey his commands and to imitate his goodness; that we may have the seal of the Lamb upon us for ever. Whosoever, says the Apostle, is born of God doth not commit sin. Even the omission of doing good is as inconsistent with our relationship to the Father, as the commission of actual evil. A true Christian should adorn his character with the spirit and practice of holiness, that the virtue of the Heathens may not put him to shame. Our blessed Redeemer, by his cross and passion, proved his right to give laws to a sinful world, and he has commanded us to walk as he walked, and to be as he was in the world. Those who rest the hope of their salvation on his sufferings, need no other incentive to a life of piety and holiness, than that it is commanded by their Redeemer. They will not name the name of Christ, and live a life of impiety. For an unholy Christian is an apostate from Christ, and lives in direct contradiction to his profession. Although he may not abjure him in words, yet he denies him in his works. A proud person renounces his humility; the revengeful his mercy; the lukewarm his zeal; the unclean his purity, the covetous his bounty and compassion, and the hypocrite his sincerity. Can there be any thing more indecent and absurd, than to pretend to be the disciple of such an excellent and holy master, and yet by disobedience to deny him? The mere name of Christian will not sanctify those who pollute and defame it. It is not the mere wearing of the livery of Christ that will honour those who stain it by vice, but is an aggravation of their guilt, and proves to the world their defection from the cause of their master. Those who profess Christianity and yet live in unchristian practices, may deceive themselves, but can never deceive the world.

Christ, but can never deceive the world.

able as vain. It is not the calling him Lord that will give them admission into the Kingdom of Heaven.

As Jesus Christ, both by his doctrine and his life clearly showed to us our duty, so he has kindly offered us the aid of his spirit for our assistance, by which the commands of the Gospel are made easy and light. To enforce our obligations he has threatened such vengeance to the rebellious, and promised such a reward to the righteous, that it is impossible we should not be deeply affected with them, if we seriously believe them, and he has given such evidence of their truth, that it is impossible we should not believe them, unless the God of this world hath blinded our minds. How can a reasonable creature believe that eternal punishment is the certain consequence of sin, and yet live in the wilful practice of it?

As an encouragement to our duty we are promised a reward in the life which is to come, the very expectation of which is a source of real happiness to this. If the reward was small, or the promise uncertain, there might be some pretence for not performing the conditions to obtain it. But when the one is infinitely great and the other as true as the God of Truth, what more powerful motive can be conceived to make us holy?

State of Maryland, sc.

By Anne Arundel County Orphans Court, Sept. 17, 1811.

ON application, by petition of Benjamin Wells, junior, administrator of Thomas Tucker, late of Anne Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to bring in their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week for the space of six successive weeks in the Maryland Gazette.

JOHN GASSAWAY, Reg. Wills for A. A. C.

This is to give Notice,

THAT the subscriber of Anne Arundel county hath obtained from the orphans court of Anne Arundel county, in Maryland, letters of administration on the personal estate of Thomas Tucker, late of Anne Arundel county, deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased, are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, on or before the thirteenth day of February next, they may otherwise be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under my hand this 17th day of September, 1811.

BENJ. WELLS, Jun. Adm'r.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY, EDWARD LLOYD, ESQUIRE, GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND, A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it is directed by the forty-ninth section of the Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," passed at November session eighteen hundred and nine, that as soon as the Penitentiary House in Baltimore county is ready for the reception of criminals, that the Governor of this State shall notify the same by proclamation. And whereas, the inspectors of said institution have reported to me that the said building is completed, and the requisites of the said law have been in all other respects complied with: have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, hereby declaring the said Penitentiary House to be ready for the reception of criminals who may be condemned to work and labour therein, as the said law requires.

Given under my hand and the seal of the state of Maryland, this 30th day of Sept. in the year of our Lord one (L. S.) thousand eight hundred and eleven, and of the independence of the United States of America the thirty-fifth.

EDW. LLOYD, By his Excellency's command,

NINIAN PINKNEY, Clerk of the Council.

The Proclamation to be published twice in each week for six weeks in the Whig, American, Sun, and Federal Gazette, of Baltimore; the Maryland Republican and Maryland Gazette, at Annapolis; the Maryland Herald at Hagerstown; Bartlett's paper and Herald at Frederick Town; the Star and Monitor, at Easton; and the National Intelligencer.

By Order, NINIAN PINKNEY, Clerk of the Council.

PAUL'S DOMESTIC INFALLIBLE COLUMBIAN OIL.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic, it is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security for their money, as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found so efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure, viz: Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, particularly in the back and breast, Colds and Coughs, Toothach, Pleurisy, Cholera, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough & Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody Flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite, it will act as a powerful brace to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pectorals and expectorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scatters every kind of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Phthisis or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking, sitting, stooping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a teaspoonful of the Columbian Oil will render some relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

Sept. 1809.

I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD, Baltimore No. 16, Water-street, sign of the plough.

No. 2.

Sept. 1809.

From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent sore throat, about the 26th of August, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of molasses, which took away pieces of putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48 hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, and infant of 17 months old which was taken about the first of August with slow fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician, who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five drops morning and evening, for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which has restored me to a good state of health again.

I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I had been afflicted with a violent pain in my back, so that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N. B. I had a violent toothach about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.

ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

No. 5.

I comply with your request of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm. I have been afflicted with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when the tetter left me, and has not made its appearance since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N. B. My Susanna, a child aged 20 months & 6 days, was taken about the middle of July last, with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough. I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.

Forty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Mrs. Anne Dorsey, near the city of Annapolis, in Anne Arundel county, on or about the 6th of April last, a negro lad named BILL, 16 or 17 years of age, 5 feet 3 or 4 inches high, stout made in proportion to his height, is tolerably black, with a full face, the whites of his eyes have a yellowish cast, and his upper lip rather thick. Had on when he went away, a cotton shirt, homespun round about jacket and pantaloons, striped and dyed of a dark colour. It is supposed he is lurking about the farm of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esquire, near the city of Annapolis, or at the Manor on Elk Ridge, as his father lives at the former, and his brother at the latter place. Any person apprehending the above negro and securing him in gaol so that I get him again, shall receive, if twenty miles from home, Twenty Dollars, if thirty miles, Thirty Dollars, and if a further distance the above reward, and all reasonable travelling expenses paid if brought home to the subscriber near the city of Annapolis.

St. John's College,

October 15, 1811.

THE subscriber most respectfully requests thus publicly, all who are indebted on account of tuition, and of books furnished the students, to pay the same; the amount of arrears being considerable; whilst the low estate of the college funds renders further indulgence impossible. As the college claims are highly just and honorable, it is hoped all those concerned will see the necessity as well as equity of making early payments, or see the discredit, in a course of means pursued, painful to the trustees and visitors, as unpleasant to the young gentlemen students interested, as well as their friends—But trust, a sense of justice, and of propriety, will stimulate to discharge the arrears, however ancient, and thus obviate so disgraceful and disgraceful an issue.

Treasury Department, May 28th, 1811.

WHEREAS, in conformity with the provisions made by law for the reimbursement of the Converted Six Per Cent. Stock, created by the third section of the Act, entitled, "An act supplementary to the act, entitled, An act making provision for the redemption of the whole of the public debt of the United States," passed on the 11th day of February, 1807, it has been determined by lot that the Certificates of said Stock, designated by the permanent numbers contained in the annexed Schedule, should be reimbursed on the first day of January next.

Is therefore given to the proprietors of the certificates of CONVERTED SIX PER CENT. STOCK, created by the act aforesaid, and bearing the permanent numbers contained in the annexed schedule, that the principal of the same will, on surrender of the certificates, be paid, on the first day of January, 1812, to the respective stockholders, or their legal representatives, or attorneys duly constituted, either at the treasury or at the Loan-Office where the stock thus to be reimbursed may then stand credited, to the proprietors thereof.

IT IS FURTHER MADE KNOWN, for the information of the parties concerned, that no transfers of the certificates of Converted Stock, bearing the permanent numbers contained in the annexed schedule, from the books of the Treasury, or of any Commissioner of Loans, will be allowed after the first day of December next. And the interest on all the Certificates contained in the said schedule, will cease and determine, on the day preceding the day hereby fixed for the reimbursement thereof.

The clerk of the senate delivers a message informing the house they are ready to proceed to business, and propose sitting from 9 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon.

The speaker laid before the house a communication from the Trustee of the State, enclosing an account current of funded stock to the 31st of October 1811, inclusive, and an account current of interest and principal received on said stock to the same period; which was read and referred to the committee of claims.

Also a communication from the Treasurer of the western shore, stating that the loan to the United States, authorized by a resolution of November session 1810, had not been required; which were read.

Mr. Forwood delivers a petition from the heirs of John Thomas, which was read.

Mr. Forwood delivers a petition from sundry inhabitants of Harford county, praying that one person from each election district in said county, may be appointed commissioners, with the power to make void all public roads which they may deem necessary, and to make such alterations in other roads as they may find convenient or necessary; which was read.

Mr. Forwood delivers a petition from George W. Santrey, of Harford county; which was read.

The house proceeded to ballot for a committee of elections, and after examining the contents of the ballot-box, it appeared that Messrs. Hall, Tyler, Groome, Streett, and Quimton, were elected. Ordered that they have power to send for papers and persons.

The clerk of the Senate delivers a message proposing to enter into the appointment of a Printer to the State, by a joint ballot.

On motion by Mr. Donaldson, Ordered that Mr. Donaldson and Mr. C. Dorsey wait upon his excellency the governor, and inform him that the house having met, are ready to proceed to public business, and to receive any communications he may think proper to lay before them.

Mr. Forwood delivers a petition from Alexander Rigdon, of Harford county; which was read.

Mr. Rogerson delivers a petition from sundry inhabitants of Charles county, praying for the erection of a gaol; which was read.

A message was sent to the senate informing them that the house were also prepared to proceed to business.

A resolution was read, assented to, and sent to the senate, requesting the governor and council to procure immediately, for the use of the general assembly, nine copies of Maxcey's edition of the laws of Maryland.

Mr. Stevens delivers a petition from Joseph Dawson, an old soldier, praying relief; which was read.

Messrs. Sanders, Marriott, Wainwright, Veazey, Bavid, Donaldson and R. Neale, were elected, by ballot, a committee of grievances and courts of justice.

On motion by Mr. Donaldson, a message, concurring with the proposition of the senate to appoint a printer to the state by joint ballot, was read, and the question put, That the same have a second reading? Resolved in the affirmative.

The question was then put, That the house assent to the same? Resolved in the affirmative, yeas 34, nays 24.

On motion by Mr. C. Dorsey, Leave given to bring in a bill, entitled, An additional supplement to the act, entitled, An act respecting the equity jurisdiction of the county courts. Ordered, that Messrs. C. Dorsey, T. B. Hall and Sanders, be a committee for that purpose.

The house adjourns until to-morrow morning.

President's Message.

WASHINGTON, NOV. 5.

The President of the United States this day communicated, by Mr. Edward Coles, his private Secretary, the following MESSAGE to Congress:

Fellow Citizens of the Senate,

and of the H. of Representatives,

In calling you together sooner than a separation from your homes would otherwise have been required, I yielded to considerations drawn from the posture of our foreign affairs; and in fixing the present for the time of your meeting, regard was had to the probability of further developments of the policy of the belligerent powers towards this country, which might the more unite the national councils, in the measures to be pursued.

At the close of the last session of congress, it was hoped that the successive confirmations of the extinction of the French decrees, so far as they violated our neutral commerce would have induced the government of G. Britain to repeal its orders in council, and thereby authorize a removal of the existing obstructions to her commerce with the U. States.

Instead of this reasonable step towards satisfaction and friendship between the two nations, the orders were, at a moment when least to have been expected, put into more rigorous execution; and it was communicated, through the British envoy just arrived, that whilst the revocation of the edicts of France, as officially made known to the British government, was denied to have taken place; it was an indispensable condition of the repeal of the British orders, that commerce should be restored to a footing that would admit the productions and manufactures of G. Britain when owned by neutrals, into markets shut against them by her enemy; the U. S. being given to understand, that in the meantime, a continuance of their non-importation act would lead to measures of retaliation.

At a later date, it has indeed appeared, that a communication to the British government, of fresh evidence of the repeal of the French decrees against our neutral trade, was followed by an intimation, that it had been transmitted to the British plenipotentiary here, in order that it might receive full consideration, in the depending discussions. This communication appears not to have been received; but the transmission of it hither, instead of founding on it an actual repeal of the orders, or assurances that the repeal would ensue, will not permit us to rely on any effective change in the British cabinet. To be ready to meet with cordiality, satisfactory proofs of such a change, and to proceed in the meantime, in adapting our measures to the views which have been disclosed through that minister, will best consult our whole duty.

In the unfriendly spirit of those disclosures, indemnity and redress for other wrongs have continued to be withheld; & our coasts and the mouths of our harbours have again witnessed scenes, not less derogatory to the dearest of our national rights, than vexatious to the regular course of our trade.

Among the occurrences produced by the conduct of British ships of war hovering on our coasts, was an encounter between one of them and the American frigate commanded by capt. Rogers, rendered unavoidable on the part of the latter, by a fire, commenced without cause, by the former; whose commander, is therefore, alone, chargeable with the blood unfortunately shed in maintaining the honour of the American flag. The proceedings of a court of inquiry requested by capt. Rogers, are communicated; together with the correspondence relating to the occurrence, between the secretary of state and his Britannic majesty's envoy. To these are added, the several correspondences which have passed on the subject of the British orders in council; and to both the correspondence relating to the Floridas, in which congress will be made acquainted with the interposition which the government of G. Britain has thought proper to make against the proceedings of the U. States.

The justice and fairness which have been evinced on the part of the U. S. towards France, both before and since the revocation of her decrees, authorised an expectation that her government would have followed up that measure by all such others as were due to our reasonable claims, as well as dictated by its amicable professions. No proof, however, is yet given of an intention to repair the other wrongs done to the U. States; and particularly to restore the great amount of American property seized and condemned under edicts, which though not affecting our neutral relations, and therefore, not entering into questions between the U. S. and other belligerents, were nevertheless founded on such unjust principles, that the reparation ought to have been prompt and ample.

In addition to this and other demands of strict right, on that nation, the U. States have much reason to be dissatisfied with the rigorous and unexpected restrictions, to which their trade with the French dominions has been subjected; and which, if not discontinued, will require at least corresponding restrictions on importations from France into the U. S.

On all those subjects our minister plenipotentiary, lately sent to Paris, has carried with him the necessary instructions; the result of which will be communicated to you, and by ascertaining the ulterior policy of the French government towards the U. S. will enable you to adapt to it, that of the U. S. towards France.

Our other foreign relations remain without unfavourable changes. With Russia they are on the best footing of friendship. The ports of Sweden have afforded proofs of friendly dispositions towards our commerce, in the councils of that nation also. And the information from our special minister to Denmark, shews that the mission had been attended with valuable effects to our citizens, whose property had been extensively violated and endangered, by cruises under the Danish flag.

Under the ominous indications which commanded attention, it became a duty, to exert the means committed to the executive department, in providing for the general security. The works of defence on our maritime frontier, have accordingly been prosecuted, with an activity leaving little to be added for the completion of the most important ones; and as particularly suited for co-operation in emergencies, a portion of the gun-boats have, in particular harbours been ordered into use. The ships of war before in commission, with the addition of a frigate, have been chiefly employed as a cruising guard to the rights of our coast. And such a disposition has been made of our land forces, as was thought to promise the most appropriate and important results. This disposition is included, a force consisting of regulars and militia, embodied in the Indiana Territory, and marched towards our north-western frontier. This measure was made requisite by several murders and depredations committed by Indians; but more especially by the menacing preparations and aspect of a combination of them, on the Wabash, under the influence & direction of a fanatic of the Shawnee Tribe. With these exceptions the Indians retain their peaceable dispositions towards us, and their usual pursuits.

I must now add, that the period is arrived, which claims from the Legislative Guardians of the National rights a system of more ample provisions for maintaining them. Notwithstanding the scrupulous justice, the protracted moderation, and the multiplied efforts on the part of the United States, to substitute for the accumulating dangers to the peace of the two countries all the mutual advantages of a stable friendship and commerce, we have seen that the British Cabinet perseveres, not only in withholding a remedy for other wrongs, so long and so loudly calling for it; but in the execution, brought home to the threshold of our Territory, of measure which, under existing circumstances, have the character, as well as the effect, of war on our lawful commerce.

With this evidence of hostile inflexibility, in trampling on rights which no Independent Nation can relinquish, Congress will feel the duty of putting the United States into an armour and an attitude demanded by the crisis, and corresponding with the national spirit and expectations.

I recommend, accordingly, that adequate provision be made for filling the ranks and prolonging the enlistments of the regular troops; for an auxiliary force to be engaged for a more limited term; for the acceptance of volunteer corps, whose patriotic ardor may court a participation in urgent services; for detachments as they may be wanted, of other portions of the militia; and for such a preparation of the great body as will proportion its usefulness to its intrinsic capacities. Nor can the occasion fail to remind you of the importance of those Military Seminars, which, in every event, will form a valuable and frugal part of our military establishment.

The manufacture of cannon and small arms has proceeded with due success, and the stock and resources of all the necessary munitions are adequate to emergencies. It will not be inexpedient, however, for Congress to authorize an enlargement of them.

Your attention will of course be drawn to such provisions, on the subject of our naval force, as may be required for the services to which it may be best adapted. I submit to Congress, the seasonableness, also, of an authority to augment the stock of such materials, as are imperishable in their nature, or may not at once be attainable.

In contemplating the scenes which distinguish this momentous epoch, and estimating their claims to our attention, it is impossible to overlook those developing themselves, among the great communities which occupy the southern portion of our own hemisphere, and extend into our neighbourhood. An enlarged philanthropy, and an enlightened forecast, concur in imposing on the National Councils an obligation to take a deep interest in their destinies; to cherish reciprocal sentiments of good will; to regard the progress of events; and not to be unprepared for whatever order of things may be ultimately established.

Under another aspect of our situation, the early attention of Congress will be due to the expediency of further guards against evasions and infractions of our commercial laws. The practice of smuggling, which is odious every where, and particularly criminal in free governments, where the laws being made by all for the good of all, a fraud is committed on every individual as well as on the state, attains its utmost guilt, when it blends, with a pursuit of ignominious gain, a treacherous subterfuge, in the transgressors, to a foreign policy, adverse to that of their own country. It is then that the virtuous indignation of the public should be enabled to manifest itself, through the regular administrations of the most competent laws.

To secure greater respect to our inextinguishable flag, and to the honest interests which it covers, it is expedient also, that it be made punishable in our citizens, to accept licenses from foreign governments, for a trade unlawfully interdicted by them to other American citizens; or to trade under false colours or papers of any sort.

A prohibition is equally called for, against the acceptance, by our citizens, of special licences, to be used in a trade with the United States; and against the admission into particular ports of the United States, of vessels from foreign countries, authorised to trade with particular ports only.

Altho' other subjects will press immediately on your deliberations, a portion of them cannot but be well bestowed on the just and sound policy of securing to our manufactures the success they have attained, and are still attaining, in some degree, under the impulse of causes permanent; and to our navigation, the fair extent of which it is at present abridged by the unequal regulations of foreign governments.

Besides the reasonableness of saving our manufactures from sacrifices which a change of circumstances might bring on them, the national interest requires, that with respect to such articles at least as belong to our defence, and our primary wants, we should not be left in unnecessary dependence on external supplies. And whilst foreign governments adhere to the existing discriminations in their ports against our navigation, and an equality or lesser discrimination is enjoyed by their navigation in our ports, the effect cannot be mistaken, because it has been seriously felt by our shipping interests; and in proportion as this takes place, the advantages of an independent conveyance of our products to foreign markets, and of a growing body of mariners, trained by their own service of their country, danger must be diminished.

The receipts into the Treasury the year ending on the 31st of September last, have exceeded those of a half of dollars, and have defrayed the current expenses of the interest on the public debt, imburse more than five millions of the principal, without resort to the temporary loan authorized by the act of session. The temporary loan of the latter end of the year one thousand and ten, has also been paid, and is not included in that amount.

The decrease of revenue in the situation of our commerce, extraordinary expenses which may become necessary, must be viewed, in making commensurations for the ensuing year. I commend to your consideration, of ensuring a sufficiency of means, at least, to defray the expenses of government, and to interest on the public debt, in on new loans which may be required.

I cannot close this communication without expressing my deep sense in which you are assembled, in a wise and honourable manner, your deliberations, and assuredly faithful zeal with which my duties will be discharged; in the same time the blessing of Heaven on our beloved country, and on all that may be employed, in its rights, and advancing its welfare.

FOREIGN.

By the ship Trident, from Greenock, arrived at New-York.

LONDON, SEPT. 21.

"Windsor Castle, Sept. 15.

"His Majesty's State continues the same." September 16, 17, 18, 19, 20—The same report.

On Tuesday the King ate a very hearty dinner, and walked most of the day about his suit of rooms and the large passage attached to them.

"Windsor Castle, Sept. 24.

"His Majesty had some sleep in the night; and is much the same as he was the day before yesterday.

"Signed, H. Halford, W. Heberden, R. Willis."

His Majesty's meals are now served up with some regularity and manner, as when he was first afflicted with the malady, and he eats with a very good appetite.

It is stated by some passengers who arrived at Dover in the ship Hoffnung, from Havre, to be a current report in France, that Louis Buonaparte is not to be found; and it is there supposed he is emigrated to this country.

By a gentleman who has recently left Archangel, and arrived in town, we have received the following communication on the state of affairs in Russia. He says that most of the commerce with that country is now carried on by the Americans, and that there were no less than one hundred and five American vessels lying at Archangel when he left it. There were also a great number at St. Petersburg, all laden with colonial produce, an article which the Russians were in great want of. He further states, that the emperor Alexander has a very large army on foot, but owing to the officers being so badly paid, no reliance could be placed in them, and this is in a great measure the cause of his not commencing hostilities against France.

NORTH OF EUROPE.

By the subjoined article we are induced to believe that Sweden still makes a struggle—not for her rights, for they unhappily have been long relinquished—but at least for preservation from that state of misery and privation which has overwhelmed the continent of Europe: from which, as she is in a great degree severed by the Baltic, we should be glad to see her likewise separated from the community of suffering.

"Copenhagen, Aug. 8, 1811.
According to the latest, and we believe, the best information from Stockholm, it appears that the French minister there has been defeated in his attempts to govern in Sweden. It is confidently reported, that after a long and fruitless conference with the minister for foreign affairs, M. Alquier had recourse to the Crown Prince, of whom he obtained an audience. Though nothing has transpired as to its object, the visible ill-humour and vexation which the French minister has evinced ever since, speak sufficiently of his disappointment."

Buonaparte is said in an article from Königsberg, by way of Gottenburg, to have demanded of the king of Prussia, the surrender of Silesia, or the fortresses of Colberg and Graudentz. The demand was instantly and indignantly rejected; his Prussian majesty replying, that he would sooner risk the consequences of a war, unequal as the contest must now be, than give up Silesia, or his last strong hold. Couriers were, it is added, immediately sent off to Petersburg and to the Russian gen. on the Polish frontiers, who had in consequence, advanced with his army to co-operate with the Prussian troops. The King of Prussia, at the same time, conferred the chief command of his army on General Blucher, who distinguished himself so eminently in the last war. This able general immediately issued orders to collect the Prussian army, strengthened Colberg and Graudentz, and enabled them to stand a long siege, while with the rest of the troops, he fell back towards the Russian army, in order to effect a junction with it more speedily.

Several letters are in town from Prussia, but they merely refer in obscure terms to some important change in the posture of affairs. A letter dated the 6th inst. from Wingo Sound, only says, that "the reports from Prussia are various and contradictory."

We are by no means prepared to say that this intelligence is not true; but the last French papers certainly did not induce us to expect any rupture between Prussia & France. And indeed, in one of them of the latest date, there is the following article from Berlin: "The manner in which the government afforded succours to the different parts of the kingdom, has given great satisfaction, and has been attended with the most beneficial effects. This is the more visible as Silesian bonds are now at 75 1/2 per cent." This article is no proof certainly that the intelligence is true; but we quote it merely to show that the Paris papers were not prepared for any hostile tone between the French and Prussian governments.

If Buonaparte has indeed made such a demand, war in the north is certain. It is reported that he delayed doing any thing that should evince a determination to go to war, till the season should arrive when our fleet would be under the necessity of quitting the Baltic. But we have already supplied Russia with various articles, of which she stood most in need for warlike operations, such as powder, ball, lead, &c.

GALLANT ACTION.

And capture of one of the enemy's large praams, in presence of Buonaparte.

The cause of the incessant firing on the French coast, is now ascertained to be an engagement between the Naiad, 3 sloops and a cutter, and 7 large Praams, each as large as a frigate, 11 gun brigs, and other small craft 27 in all. The following letter gives an account of the engagement. We took the port admiral in his praam, but he afterwards ran off. However, we took another, & brought her away. Buonaparte saw the engagement, he was in a boat with marshal Ney.

"Dover, Sept. 22.

The Naiad frigate has just anchored abreast of the castle, with one of the large Boulogne praams with French colours under the British, which she took after a severe action. The praam appears a very long low ship, and they fly very heavy metal; her foremast stands very far forward, & her mizen mast very far abaft. She appears as long as the frigate, and does not appear to be much damaged in her sails and rigging. Buonaparte was present it is said. The flotilla 70 sail strong was sent out the first day, and Buonaparte enraged to see the frigate behave so cool and determined, sent out six praams to take the Naiad, and this was the cause of the terrible firing that we have heard here. Lord Temple is gone off to the frigate to learn particulars. Buonaparte's being present will make this action memorable."

Extract of another letter.

"During the latter part of the engagement, the French admiral, and the rest of his fleet made towards the harbour of Boulogne, which so enraged his imperial majesty, that he ordered the guns of the batteries to be turned on the invincible flotilla, to drive them to sea again, but it had no effect; for, as the French commodore said, 'Their master sent them out to fight men, but they found devils.'"

"Dover, Sept. 22.

The praam which was at anchor off Dover this morning, was one of the 7 sail of ditto, and 11 sail of brigs and schooners, 27 in the whole, which were sent out to take the Naiad; and so confident were they of success, that they brought a pilot to convey the frigate to Havre de Grace or Cherbourg. The engagement the first day was at long shots, but the 2d day these vessels being selected were sent out. Three shots were fired from the French batteries, it is said, by Buonaparte himself, at his own vessels, to make them engage closer, when the French admiral, seconded by the large praam, came very close; but having lost a number of men, his fire was silenced, and his colours hauled down. The captain of the praam taken, gallantly ran down between the Naiad and the French admiral; and either by design or accident, boarded the frigate, she being filled with soldiers, picked men, under a most galling fire of musketry, attempted to carry the Naiad by boarding; but being repulsed, she was boarded in her turn, and taken; the French admiral, who had commenced firing again, was again silenced and struck, but owing to the praam being lashed fast to the Naiad, he effected his escape. She has 20 long brass guns (28 pounders) cast to throw shot further than any other ordnance, and a crew of 300 men, sailors and soldiers; it is a very long low vessel, draws but little water, and is ugly looking. The French own to have seven killed and wounded; the Naiad has 2 killed and 15 wounded; the loss of the others is not yet ascertained. The French must have suffered very severely; and the upper works of their admiral were shot clear away, and several others much damaged. Buonaparte, who was on the shore at first in the batteries, was afterwards rowing about in a long new boat, painted green. The firing was the most tremendous which has been heard along shore for some years past.

"Five O'clock, A. M.

The Naiad frigate has just arrived, and brought in a French praam of 20 guns. The particulars of the French flotilla off Boulogne has not yet transpired, but from the accounts of some of the men, there are said to be 11 of the Naiad's crew wounded, and the 1st lieut. of the Catalian reported to be killed. This accounts for the heavy firing heard off the French coast. It is confidently reported that Buonaparte and Ad. De Winter were on board of the vessels when the attack was commenced, but they prudently got on shore."

SEPTEMBER 24.

A very brilliant affair has been achieved by the Thames frigate, and Cephalus sloop, having taken from under the batteries near the coast of Naples, 11 gun-boats, 1 armed felucca, and 14 merchant vessels, without the loss of a man!

THE CHRISTIAN, NO. 5.

The mind of man can scarcely contemplate a subject more stupendously sublime than the frame, the variety, and the government of the material creation. The Sun rising in his strength, and shedding light and life through attending worlds, the Moon going forth in her brightness, and all the stars rejoicing in her train; the planets obeying inviolable laws and wheeling their ceaseless and unbroken round, present a scene for wonder and speculation, almost sufficient to overwhelm every mental faculty. But when we turn our attention from the material to the intellectual creation, when the mind considers its own mighty capacities, the conquest over matter which it has already made, and which may still go on to achieve; when it considers that it can measure the magnitude and power of the Sun, explain the causes of the changes and wanderings of the Moon, and calculate the laws which bind the reluctant planets in their course, wonder is lost in astonishment, and speculation, arrested in its adventurous career, is compelled to acknowledge that it is infinitely more difficult to explore and comprehend the secrets of the intellectual than of the material world. Imagination, pluming her strongest pinions, the firm purified from her eyes by religion, and her flight aided by faith and hope, cannot rise sufficiently high to form any adequate idea of that THIRK INCOMPREHENSIBLE GOD, who from nothing called into existence a being so exalted and inscrutable. But though the material and intellectual world afford a fund of sublime contemplation, which may almost facilitate the desire of the most ardent curiosity, the grand scheme of redemption through the only begotten Son of God, the descent of the DEITY himself from his eternal throne to assume a human nature; to offer up a propitiatory sacrifice to satisfy his own justice, reconcile man to his offended CREATOR, and to publish the fact, that he is not a creature limited in his existence to the narrow period of this evanescent life, but destined to fulfill or enjoy, to think or to act through the ages of eternity, open a new prospect to the eye of reason, surpassing all that the material world can present, or the mind can conceive. The refut of the councils of the Godhead is displayed before an admiring universe. Angels inquire into the causes of this refut but they are hidden from their view. The plan is too profound for even their comprehensions, and finging praises before the throne of the MAJESTY on High, they contemplate, they wonder and adore. How much more then, ought man, for whom this work was planned and performed; for whom his SAVIOUR was born, and suffered, and died, and rose; for whom a mansion of bliss is by this means prepared beyond death and the grave; how much more ought man to dwell with enrapturing delight upon this sublime mystery, and adore the wisdom, the power, and the goodness of God. Though he cannot hope now to know the causes which lead to this mighty event, he may have behold the boundless benevolence of his CREATOR; the way in which the inscrutable scheme was carried into effect, and the consequence which must result from it clearly explained. The history of the human race is only a record of the various events by which it was introduced, and the consequences by which it has been followed. To use the language of an eloquent writer.

"Here the ALMIGHTY made bare his holy arm, and put forth all his strength. The introduction of this religion was the object of all the dispensations of the DEITY upon earth. This is the centre in which terminates every line in the great circle of PROVIDENCE. If one nation was victorious, and another put under the yoke; if war was commissioned to ravage and lay desolate the earth, or peace to make the joyful inhabitants sing beneath the vine; if kings were crowned, or were dethroned; if empires rose or fell, all was preparatory and subservient to this grand event. The monarchies which prevailed in the world, whether Assyrian, Persian, Grecian or Roman, were erected introductory to the MESSIAH, whose kingdom was to be without bounds, and whose reign was to be without end. That great image which the Monarch of the East beheld in his dream, whose head was of gold, whose breast was of silver, whose thighs were of brass, and whose feet were of iron, was set up by PROVIDENCE, to prepare the way for the STONE which was cut out without hands, which was destined to smite the image become a great mountain, and fill the whole earth. All events, whether prosperous or adverse—whether malignant or benign, have co-operated towards the advancement of our religion. Saints have established it by their lives, martyrs have confirmed it by their deaths; hypocrites have added strength to it, by their dissimulation; tyrants have purified it, by their opposition; the arrows of its enemies have served for its protection; the resistance which it has met with, from the comblined wit and genius and malice of mankind, have brought forth those illustrious and immortal defences, which established its truth upon the basis of demonstration.

"Shall we not, then, reckon ourselves eternally indebted to the infinite goodness of GOD, and stir up all that is within us to bless his holy Name? saying, in the language of true fervour of spirit—'We will praise thee O God! we will praise thee with our whole heart!—Our lives shall be thy sacrifice! We will adore thee in death, and through eternity!'

BY HIS EXCELLENCY,
EDWARD LLOYD, ESQUIRE,
GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it is directed by the forty-ninth section of the Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," passed at November session eighteen hundred and nine, that as soon as the Penitentiary House in Baltimore county is ready for the reception of criminals, that the Governor of this State shall notify the same by proclamation. And whereas, the inspectors of said institution have reported to me that the said building is completed, and the requisites of the said law have been in all other respects complied with: I have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, hereby declaring the said Penitentiary House to be ready for the reception of criminals who may be condemned to work and labour therein, as the said law requires.

Given under my hand and the seal of the state of Maryland, this 30th day of Sept. in the year of our Lord one (1811) thousand eight hundred and eleven, and of the independence of the United States of America the thirty-fifth.

EDW. LLOYD.

PAUL'S DOMESTIC INFALLIBLE COLUMBIAN OIL.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic. It is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security for their money as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found so efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure, viz: Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, particularly in the back and breast, Colds and Coughs, Toothach, Pleurisy, Cholera, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough & Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody Flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite, it will act as a powerful brace to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pedicols and expellors for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Phthisick or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking fast, stooping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a teaspoonful of the Columbian Oil will render some relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1.

Sept. 1809.

I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD
Baltimore No. 16, Water-street, sign of the plough.

No. 2.

Sept. 1809.

Sir, From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent sore throat, about the 26th of August, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of molasses, which took away pieces of putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48 hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, and infant of 17 months old which was taken about the first of August with slow fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician, who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five drops morning and evening, for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD.
Baltimore, by Peter's Bridge.

No. 3.

Sept. 6.

I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which has restored me to a good state of health again.

THOMAS ELLIOTT.
On the Hook's-town road near the turnpike gate.

No. 4.

Feb. 12, 1809.

I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil I had been afflicted with a violent pain in my back, so that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N. B. I had a violent toothach about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.

ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

No. 5.

Sir, I comply with your request of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm. I have been afflicted with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when the tetter left me, and has not made its appearance since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N. B. My Susanna, a child aged 20 months & 6 days, was taken about the middle of July last, with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough; I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.

RUNAWAY.

WAS committed to the gaol of Anne-Arundel county, as a runaway, on the 12th instant, a negro man who calls himself JEM WHITE; says he was sold by Mr. Wicks, Dorset county, Eastern Shore, 12 or 13 months ago, to a Mr. Thompson state of Georgia, where he was carried, and from whence he made his escape. Jem is about five feet five or six inches high, supposed to be 34 years of age, commonly black and well set, has a scar over his right eye, and one opposite his left eye. Had on when committed an old oxford shirt, nankeen pantaloons, old jacket and a wool hat. His master is requested to release him from gaol, or he will be sold agreeably to law.

Forty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Mrs. Anne Dorsey near the city of Annapolis, in Anne-Arundel county, on or about the first of April last, a negro lad named BILL, 16 or 17 years of age, 5 feet 3 or 4 inches high, black, in proportion to his height, is tolerably made, with a full face, the whites of his eyes have a yellowish cast, and his upper lip rather thick. Had on when he went away, a cotton shirt, homespun round-about jacket and pantaloons, striped and dyed of a dark colour. It is supposed he is lurking about the farm of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esquire, near the city of Annapolis, or at the Manor of Elk Ridge, as his father lives at the former, and his brother at the latter place. Any person apprehending the above negro and delivering him in gaol so that I get him again, shall receive, if twenty miles from home, Twenty Dollars, if thirty miles, Thirty Dollars, and if a further distance the above reward, and all reasonable travelling expenses paid, and brought home to the subscriber near the city of Annapolis.

The speaker laid before the house reports from the clerks of Harford and Cecil counties, relative to the attendance of the judges; which were read.

The clerk of the senate delivers a message relative to the appointment of a printer to the state, and nominating Jehu Chandler; which was read.

Also a resolution requesting the governor and council to transmit to the secretary of state of the U. States, and to the governors of the several states, an attested copy of the act of the last session of the general assembly of this state, entitled, An act to ratify an amendment to the constitution of the U. States of America, proposed by congress to the legislatures of the several states; which was read the first and second time and sent to the senate.

Also a communication from the executive, enclosing sundry communications from the executive departments of the other states, upon the subject of the proposed amendment of the constitution of the U. States, inhibiting any citizen thereof from accepting, claiming or retaining, any title of honour or nobility without consent of congress, on accepting or retaining any present, pension, office or emolument, from any foreign power; which were read and referred.

Also enclosing communications from said states relative to an exchange of laws; and a communication from the commissioners appointed by an act passed by the legislature of the state of N. York, soliciting the co-operation of this state in an improvement of the internal navigation of that state; which were read.

On motion by Mr. C. Dorsey, Ordered, That the governor and council, be requested to furnish the house of delegates with information as to the quantity of arms and military stores belonging to the state, and their respective places of deposit, or where and to whom distributed.

On motion by Mr. Donaldson, a message relative to the appointment of a printer to the state, and nominating Jonas Green, in addition to the person named by the senate, was read, agreed to, and sent to the senate.

The house then proceeded to ballot for a printer, the ballots being deposited in the ballot box, the gentlemen named to strike retired, and after sometime returned and reported that Jehu Chandler was elected 44, to 23.

Mr. R. Neale delivers a bill, entitled, An act to repeal all such parts of the acts of assembly of this state as require the payment of twenty-five shillings for a marriage license; which was read.

Mr. Rogerfon delivers a petition from Charles Sewall, late a revolutionary officer, praying for a compensation for his services; which was read and referred.

On motion by Mr. C. Dorsey, Leave given to bring in a bill, entitled, An act making an uniform appropriation for the furnishing of officers and soldiers of the late Maryland line in the revolutionary war.

On motion by Mr. Donaldson, a resolution was read, assented to, and sent to the senate, authorizing Jehu Chandler to print the laws and votes and proceedings of the general assembly, and to perform such other services as have been usually performed by the printer employed by the state, or may be required by the legislature, or other branch thereof, or by the governor and council.

On motion by Mr. C. Dorsey, Leave given to bring in a bill, entitled, An act to alter and amend all such parts of the constitution and form of government of this state as will permit the several judges and chancellors of this state, hereafter to be appointed to discharge judicial duties after they shall arrive at the age of sixty.

The house adjourns till to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, NOV. 7.

The house met. Present the same members as on yesterday.

Mr. Richard Frisby and Mr. Wm. Graves, delegates returned for Kent county, appeared, qualified, and took their seats.

CONGRESS OF THE U. STATES.

Reported for the Federal Gazette.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Monday, Nov. 4, 1811.

At 12 o'clock Mr. Magruder, clerk of the house, requesting the members present to take their seats, that it might be ascertained
whether there was a quorum; there appeared 120 members.

Mr. Randolph expressed a wish that the election of a speaker might be postponed till 1 o'clock, in order to give an opportunity to members to vote who might be in town but had not yet arrived at the Capitol, or to say that might arrive in town previous to that time.

Mr. Smith objected to any delay, which he considered unnecessary; there was already a quorum unusually large. Mr. Randolph withdrew his motion.

The house proceeded to ballot for a speaker,
Mr. Blaine, Mr. Sturges and Mr. T. J.
tellers. After counting the votes, Mr.
H. Clay, from Kentucky, was declared elected.

The names of the members of the house
were then called over, by states, by the clerk,
and those present were sworn by the speaker.

On motion of Mr. Findley, the house proceeded to the choice of a clerk:—Messrs.
Stanford, Pleasant and Ormsby, tellers. The whole number of votes was 113, of which Patrick Magruder had 97, and William Lambert 16; Mr. Magruder was declared re-elected, and was sworn by the speaker.

A message was received from the senate,
informing the house that a quorum of that body had assembled.

Mr. Dawson moved that a message be sent to the senate to inform them of the assembling of a quorum of the house, and that they make choice of Henry Clay, one of the members from the state of Kentucky, as the speaker. Agreed.

The house then proceeded to ballot for a speaker at arms. Thomas Dunn was re-elected without opposition.

A message was received from the senate,
informing the house that a committee had been appointed by the senate to join a committee of the house for the purpose of waiting on the president, and informing him that a quorum of both houses were assembled, and were ready to receive any communications he might be pleased to make to them.

On motion of Dr. Mitchell, a similar committee was appointed by the house. Committees of the senate, Mr. Anderson and Mr.
Guillard—Committee of the house, Mr. Pit-kin and Mr. Mitchell.

Thomas Claxton and Benj. Burck were re-elected door-keeper and assistant door-keeper,
without opposition.

Mr. Newton moved that the standing rules and orders of the house be continued, till a revision or alteration shall take place. Carried.

The committee appointed to wait on the president, returned at half past two o'clock, and Mr. Mitchell reported that they had performed the duty assigned them, and were informed by the president that he would communicate by message to-morrow at 12 o'clock.
House adjourned.

Tuesday, November 5.

Mr. Newton moved the usual resolution for furnishing members with three daily newspapers, or other papers to the same amount.
Carried.

Mr. Pitkin moved for the printing of 500
copies of the rules and orders of the house for the use of members. Carried.

Mr. Coles, the president's private secretary, entered the hall a little after 12 o'clock with the president's message, accompanied with a large bundle of documents.

The message was read by the clerk.

The clerk then proceeded to read the first document, which was the doings of the court of inquiry, relative to commodore Rogers.
The reading of this document was dispensed with.

The clerk, assisted by the speaker, Mr.
Randolph and Mr. Rogers, read the correspondence that had passed in July and October, between Mr. Foster and Mr. Monroe,
relative to the situation of the two countries,

independently of the affair of the Little Belt,
and the occupying of Florida, the correspondence respecting which was suspended until to-morrow. The reading of the correspondence occupied the house till half past three o'clock, when a motion was made, and carried,
to adjourn.

DOCUMENTS.

The correspondence commences on Mr.
Foster's arrival at the seat of government the first of July, and continues till the 28th of that month; here it is suspended till October.
Mr. Foster, in one of his first and a very long letter, after mentioning the regret of the Prince Regent at the departure of Mr. Pinkney, and assuring our government of the earnest wish of his Royal Highness, to restore
a good understanding between the countries;
urges the discontinuance of the non-intercourse act of March last, grounding the right and claim to its repeal on the continuance of the obnoxious decrees of Buonaparte.
Mr. Foster insists from the known perfidy of the ruler of France, that the declaration of the Duc de Cadore to Mr. Armstrong, August the 5th, 1810, that on certain conditions the decrees should be repealed at a given time, was no evidence of its repeal.

He urges, that the declaration made to the deputation from the Hanse-towns that the decrees were the fundamental laws
of France; the letter of Maffa to the Council of Prizes; the Imperial edict of Fontainebleau of Oct. 1810, the seizure of the N Orleans Packet and other vessels, were ample evidence of the continuance of the decrees. He considers the release of a few American vessels to be occasioned by the attitude assumed by this country favourable to Buonaparte and oppressive to the commerce of England, not by a bona fide repeal of the decrees.—This blockade of 1806, Mr. Foster justifies as legal and proper, there being at the time a naval force, investing the whole coast from Brest to Elbe adequate to all the purposes of a complete blockade. The orders in council, he justifies on the ground of self defence and necessary retaliation for the unprovoked, illegal and unprecedented decrees
of Berlin and Milan. Mr. Foster urged Mr.
Monroe to explicitly declare whether the president considers what he deems the partial repeal in a few instances of the decrees, as an effectual repeal of them; and informs him,
that if the non-intercourse is not discontinued,
his government will most unwillingly and painfully, be obliged to adopt measures of retaliation on our commerce.

Mr. Monroe in reply complains of the blockading order of 1806, as well as of the Orders in Council, and endeavours to convince Mr. Foster that the decrees are repealed
so far as our neutral commerce is concerned, which is all we can ask. He says the American government was bound to believe the solemn declaration of the French government;
that the restoration of the N. Orleans Packet and other vessels evince the repeal; the declaration to the deputies to the Hanse-towns is not incompatible with the repeal so far as we are concerned; the edict of Oct. 1810
has no relation to the high seas, the letter of Maffa to the council of prizes is unequivocal proof of a repeal. He declares the non-intercourse must be continued, unless the orders in council are revoked.

The correspondence is renewed in October.
Mr. Monroe states to Mr. Foster that American charge de affairs in London has received a letter from Lord Wellesley, mentioning dispatches sent to Mr. Foster, containing further evidence of the repeal of the decrees. Mr. Foster (Oct. 29th) says these dispatches have not arrived though daily expected.

Wednesday, Nov. 6.

The journal of yesterday, including the message, was read by the clerk, who then proceeded to the reading of the unfinished documents communicated with the message.

In the correspondence between Mr. Monroe and Mr. Foster on the subject of the Little Belt affair, Mr. Monroe considers the conduct of com. Rogers as justifiable and necessary.—Every independent nation has a right to pursue and examine the armed vessels hovering on its coast; a right exercised by no nation more fully or to a greater distance at sea, than by G. Britain. Depredations had been committed on our commerce by armed vessels from the West-Indies, under false colours;
which circumstance rendered the exercise of the right more necessary. Mr. Foster is assured that the instructions to Rogers were for protecting the coast and commerce of the U. S. and that no orders had been issued authorizing him to search for or take by force any American supposed to be impressed on board British vessels.—The first shot was fired by the British vessel, and Rodgers was compelled, in supporting the honour of the American flag, to resent the insult, as he had done,
though his intention was merely the exchange
of a friendly salute, had the vessel pursued been friendly, or behaved in a friendly manner. The proceedings of the court of enquiry are transmitted to Mr. Foster. Mr. Foster denies the right of thus giving chase,
and expresses great surprise at the extraordinary
and direct opposition to the British and American testimony respecting the first encounter, between Mr. Foster and Mr. Monroe,
relative to the situation of the two countries,

known the size of the Little Belt previous to the rencontre, collected from the testimony of the officers of the President, that an engagement was resolved on, long before the two vessels came within hail; and informs
Mr. Monroe that the proceedings of the Court of inquiry, are transmitted to the Prince Regent.

The protest of the Prince Regent is given in the correspondence respecting West Florida, against what is called unjust and unge-nerous seizure of a province belonging to one of the allies of Great Britain, at a time when Spain was not able to protect her distant territory, being engaged in a violent struggle for the preservation of her own national existence. Mr. Foster attributes the occupying of the territory to motives of ambition. Mr. Monroe disclaims the operation of any ambitious motives or desire of conquest; asserts that the seizure of it at that juncture was on account of the situation of the territory, the inhabitants being forsaken by Spain and unprotected by its government, were asserting their independence:—
W. Florida, as far as the Perdido, had been fairly purchased and paid for as a part of Louisiana: no satisfaction, were other considerations aside, had been made this government by that of Spain for their spoliation on our commerce twelve years ago, nor for their flopping our right of deposit at New-Orleans secured to us by treaty; the occupying of the territory by us shall have no effect in preventing a full examination and discussion of the right by title hereafter, whenever the Spanish government shall be again settled.

Next was read the correspondence between
Mr. Pinkney and the Secretary of State, and between Mr. Pinkney and Wellesley, relative to the repeal of the Orders in Council, the departure of Mr. Pinkney, the appointment of Mr. Foster, &c.

After which was read the correspondence of the American charge des Affaires at Paris, and officers of the French government, concerning the captures of certain vessels, the duties on American produce, the impressment
of certain Americans on board French vessels, &c. The correspondence of Mr. Erving and the Secretary of State, after the reading of a part, was dispensed with, on motion of Mr. Bacon.

Mr. Pitkin enquired of the Speaker, whether there was not among the documents the correspondence of the Secretary of State and the French minister. The speaker replied that there was not.

The Message and documents were then referred to the committee of the whole on the late of the union, and 5000 copies ordered to be printed.

Adjourned.

FOR SALE.

I will sell, and give possession immediately, the Farm on which I at present reside, containing 200 acres of very fertile and valuable land.
It is situated fifteen miles below Annapolis, near
the cross roads which lead to the lower counties of the western shore, adjoining the lands of Messrs.
P. J. Thomas, Edward Hall and David Stewart,
three miles from the Patuxent, and an equal distance from West-River. There is on it an abundant of timber and wood for its support, and one
of the finest spots of meadow land in the county,
which being in a great measure reclaimed, the
whole may at a small expense be put into a complete state of cultivation—a part is already in timothy, and more will be immediately seeded.
About 40 acres of rich fallow are put down in wheat.

The dwelling-house, and buildings appertenant
thereto, are comfortable, convenient, and mostly
new—the garden and yard well enclosed and in good order.

Any gentleman wishing to occupy a Farm of no
greater extent than this, where few labourers are
required, will find it rather difficult to be better
supplied. It is extremely healthy, and in a very pleasant sporting part of the country—Its vicinity
to West-River, the Chesapeake Bay, and the River Patuxent, will at all times afford him a source
of agreeable and profitable amusement.

The subscriber will sell, at private sale,
350 acres of valuable Land,
situate in the lower part of Anne-Arundel county, being part of the Plantation whereon Richard Harrison, esq. now resides.—
This land lies within half a mile of the Town of Friendship, within two miles of the Chesapeake Bay, has on it a comfortable dwelling and tobacco-house, a sufficiency of wood and rail timber, and has the advantage of a handsome meadow, and is convenient to several places of public worship. The soil is well adapted to the cultivation of tobacco, wheat and Indian corn,
and is congenial to the growth of clover
and the use of plaister. Terms will be

THE CHRISTIAN.

The glory of God should be the end of all our actions, not only in our most essential duties but in our intercourse with men. As God has called us from nothing into existence, and impressed upon us his own image, we cannot, without extreme ingratitude and disobedience, neglect to glorify him in our bodies and spirits, which are his. This religious tendency of the soul to God, as the supreme lord and the object of our most ardent desire, gives to our actions an excellence above what they otherwise would enjoy. Thus moral duties towards men when they are directed to God, become Divine. Acts of charity are so many sacred oblations to the Deity. Men are but the altars upon which we lay our presents—God receives them, as it immediately offered to his Divine Majesty and consumed to his honour. After living a life of faith and obedience in the service of the Most High God, what exquisite delight will it be to receive the welcome approbation of our blessed Redeemer, Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord. The anticipation of this enjoyment contributes to our happiness here, and is an additional inducement to every serious and reflecting mind, to make all our thoughts and actions tend to the glory of God and the salvation of our souls. To be rewarded according to the ways of the world for services rendered to others, is what labour has a right to demand for its exertions; but to be made happy for ever; to be rewarded for serving ourselves; for promoting our best interests, our own everlasting welfare, can no where be found but in the abundance of our Redeemer's love.

Well done thou good and faithful servant. What welcome language to the humble Christian! Conscious of imperfection, and feeling no title through his own merits to the Divine Favour, how transporting to him, to be met upon the confines of the eternal world, when his pilgrimage on earth is closed, with that sentence of approbation—"Well done good and faithful servant"—uttered too from the lips of him, whose judgment is irrevocable. If language fails in describing this exalted, this sublime pleasure, surely it is an object now to ascertain, whether we possess those marks, which prove us faithful to our Lord. It is a question that we may put to ourselves in every walk and circumstance of life, "Am I a faithful servant?" Do I use the talents, with which I am intrusted, for the glory of him, who is their rightful proprietor; and with reference to that solemn day, in which he will demand my account of them? What man on earth is not interested in this trying question? Who, that possesses not some talent from the bountiful God, which he may improve for his own or neighbour's good, and for the glory of the Giver?

Our matter is not a hard one. He does not expect to reap where he has not sown; but surely it is reasonable, that if he has sowed plentifully, he should expect to reap plentifully.

"The man who has much, should add to God a heart to devote liberal things, and a hand to scatter wide his bounty. His language should be, my wealth is not my own; let me therefore seek wisdom to distribute it from him who placed, and preserves it in my power."

"The man of LEARNING and GENIUS will lift an inquiring eye to the 'Father of lights,' and submit to divine inspection the fruits of his labour before he offers them to the world. He will ask; is this the true use of my mental faculties? will this be for the honour of Him, whose 'inspiration gave me understanding'?"

"The DIVINE will ask his heart before every action, Is this consonant with my high and holy vocation? Is this becoming the character of one who has taken upon himself the trust of a shepherd of souls?"

"The PHYSICIAN will ask, that his talents may not only be exercised for the temporal, but for the spiritual good of his friends. He will with above all things, to heal the disorders of his own soul. He will ask that he may be confirmed in the principles of religion by observing the wonderful powers and organization of that system, which he is called to relieve and invigorate. He will desire to look through the material body to the spirit which animates it. He will inquire the cause of its manifold disorders, and finding 'death' to be the 'wages of sin,' he will then be imperceptibly drawn to look to fly unto Jesus, the conqueror of death, and despoiler of the grave. Seeing much of the infirmities of the body, and the consequent unhappiness of the present life, he will naturally extend his thoughts beyond it, and contemplate with joy and delight that unmixed state of felicity above, where sin and death have no place; where the inhabitants shall not say, 'I am sick,' and where tears shall cease forever."

"The MERCHANT, though engaged in the active pursuits of business, yet, feeling that the gain of the whole world would be a miserable recompense for the loss of his soul, ponders upon his plans of profit and asks if they trespass not upon his neighbour's rights, if they interfere not with the demands of religion, if they rob him not of an unreasonable portion of his time, or do not engross too much of his attention, and finally, if he can retain his character of a 'faithful servant of his Lord.' If his conscience cannot promptly satisfy him in these inquiries, his determination is fixed, to relinquish his designs. His ambition is to lead a useful life, to exhibit a fair and bright example of a man, engaged in active, extensive business, still having his first, best thoughts on HIM, who made and preserves him; by whose smile he prospers; and on whose blessing he depends; consecrating to him his earnings, and resigning himself to his disposal, anxious only to secure the 'pearl of great price,' the favour of his God."

"The POOR MAN, with his small talent of worldly wisdom, and still smaller of earthly goods, convinced that riches are denied him in mercy, that the sources of his disappointment and temptation may not be multiplied, cheerfully accommodates his mind to his condition. He has learned that 'Man wants but little here below, Nor wants that little long.'"

What powers of mind he possesses, he improves for the edification and comfort of his companions in poverty; he points to the rich 'inheritance of the faithful in light,' and directs and urges their attention to secure a sure title to that unfading, imperishable treasure. He administers, if not to the bodily wants of his neighbours, yet to their spiritual necessities. He endeavours in the chamber of sickness, and in the hour of dissolution, to approve himself faithful to his Lord by pointing to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world; and entreating all about him to lay hold, while it is yet offered, on the hope of that glorious Gospel, which is all that can afford rational happiness in life, fortitude, peace, and comfort in death.

We are all hastening to one common end. On this side and the other the young, the gay, the vigorous, and the aged, are crumbling into dust. How often do we witness their departure, follow them to the narrow humble habitation of the grave, and enter again upon the business and the vanities of life, seldom realizing for one single moment, that we also must soon occupy the same mansion. Would it not be wise to make DEATH a friend?

Our blessed Lord, just before he uttered the parable, which gave rise to our motto, left, in one word, to all his followers, this most useful important—solemn lesson—"WATCH." The faithful servant, attentive to this injunction, will never fear the coming of his master; his talent has not been concealed, knowing the goodness of his Lord, he has used it in dependence upon his blessing. To account for it, he is always ready, and as he habitually acts with reference to the day of reckoning, it can never arrest him unprepared. Be this our posture. Be this the present, constant concern of our minds, to be found vigilant and faithful, waiting for the coming of our Lord."

BY HIS EXCELLENCY,
EDWARD LLOYD, ESQUIRE,
GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it is directed by the forty-ninth section of the Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," passed at November session eighteen hundred and nine, that as soon as the Penitentiary House in Baltimore county is ready for the reception of criminals, that the Governor of this State shall notify the same by proclamation. And whereas, the inspectors of said institution have reported to me that the said building is completed, and the requisites of the said law have been in all other respects complied with: I have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, hereby declaring the said Penitentiary House to be ready for the reception of criminals who may be condemned to work and labour therein, as the said law requires.

Given under my hand and the seal of the state of Maryland, this 30th day of Sept. in the year of our Lord one (U. S.) thousand eight hundred and eleven, and of the independence of the United States of America the thirty-fifth.
EDW. LLOYD.

The glory of God should be the end of all our actions, not only in our most essential duties but in our intercourse with men. As God has called us from nothing into existence, and impressed upon us his own image, we cannot, without extreme ingratitude and disobedience, neglect to glorify him in our bodies and spirits, which are his. This religious tendency of the soul to God, as the supreme lord and the object of our most ardent desire, gives to our actions an excellence above what they otherwise would enjoy. Thus moral duties towards men when they are directed to God, become Divine.—Acts of charity are so many sacred oblations to the Deity. Men are but the altars upon which we lay our presents.—God receives them, as it immediately offered to his Divine Majesty and conferred to his honour. After living a life of faith and obedience in the service of the Most High God, what exquisite delight will it be to receive the welcome approbation of our blessed Redeemer, Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord. The anticipation of this enjoyment contributes to our happiness here, and is an additional inducement to every serious and reflecting mind, to make all our thoughts and actions tend to the glory of God and the salvation of our souls. To be rewarded according to the ways of the world for services rendered to others, is what labour has a right to demand for its exertions; but to be made happy for ever; to be rewarded for serving ourselves; for promoting our best interests, our own everlasting welfare, can no where be found but in the abundance of our Redeemer's love.

Well done thou good and faithful servant. What welcome language to the humble Christian! Conscious of imperfection, and feeling no title through his own merits to the Divine Favour, how transporting to him, to be met upon the confines of the eternal world, when his pilgrimage on earth is closed, with that sentence of approbation.—Well done good and faithful servant.—uttered too from the lips of him, whose judgment is irrevocable. If language fails in describing this exalted, this sublime pleasure, surely it is an object now to ascertain, whether we possess those marks, which prove us faithful to our Lord. It is a question that we may put to ourselves in every walk and circumstance of life, Am I a faithful servant? Do I use the talents, with which I am intrusted, for the glory of him, who is their rightful proprietor; and with reference to that solemn day, in which he will demand my account of them? What man on earth is not interested in this trying question? Who, that possesses not some talent from the bountiful God, which he may improve for his own or neighbour's good, and for the glory of the Giver?

Our matter is not a hard one. He does not expect to reap where he has not sown; but surely it is reasonable, that if he has sowed plentifully, he should expect to reap plentifully.

The man who has much, should ask of God a heart to devote liberal things, and a hand to scatter wide his bounty. His language should be, my wealth is not my own; let me therefore seek wisdom to distribute it from him who placed, and preserves it in my power.

The man of LEARNING and GENIUS will lift an inquiring eye to the "Father of lights," and submit to divine inspection the fruits of his labour before he offers them to the world. He will ask; is this the true use of my mental faculties? will this be for the honour of Him, whose "inspiration gave me understanding?"

The DIVINE will ask his heart before every action, is this consonant with my high and holy vocation? Is this becoming the character of one who has taken upon himself the trust of a shepherd of souls?

The PHYSICIAN will ask, that his talents may not only be exercised for the temporal, but for the spiritual good of his friends. He will with above all things, to heal the disorders of his own soul. He will ask that he may be confirmed in the principles of religion by observing the wonderful powers and organization of that system, which he is called to relieve and invigorate. He will desire to look through the material body to the spirit which animates it. He will inquire the cause of its manifold disorders, and finding "death" to be the "wages of sin," will then be imperceptibly drawn to look & to fly unto Jesus, the conqueror of death, and despoiler of the grave. Seeing much of the infirmities of the body, and the consequent unhappiness of the present life, he will naturally extend his thoughts beyond it, and contemplate with joy and delight that unmixed state of felicity above, where sin and death have no place; where the inhabitants shall not say, "I am sick," and where tears shall cease forever.

The MERCHANT, though engaged in the active pursuits of business, yet, feeling that the gain of the whole world would be a miserable recompense for the loss of his soul, ponders upon his plans of profit and asks if they trespass not upon his neighbour's rights, if they interfere not with the demands of religion, if they rob him not of an unreasonable portion of his time, or do not engross too much of his attention, and finally, if he can retain his character of a "faithful servant of his Lord." If his conscience cannot promptly satisfy him in these inquiries, his determination is fixed, to relinquish his designs. His ambition is to lead a useful life, to exhibit a fair and bright example of a man, engaged in active, extensive business, still having his first, best thoughts on HIM, who made and preserves him; by whose smile he prospers; and on whose blessing he depends; consecrating to him his earnings, and resigning himself to his disposal, anxious only to secure the "pearl of great price," the favour of his God.

"The POOR MAN," with his small talent of worldly wisdom, and still smaller of earthly goods, convinced that riches are denied him in mercy, that the sources of his disappointment and temptation may not be multiplied, cheerfully accommodates his mind to his condition. He has learned that

What powers of mind he possesses, he improves for the edification and comfort of his companions in poverty; he points to the rich "inheritance of the saints in light," and directs and urges their attention to secure a sure title to that unfading, imperishable treasure. He administers, if not to the bodily wants of his neighbours, yet to their spiritual necessities.—He endeavours in the chamber of sickness, and in the hour of dissolution, to approve himself faithful to his Lord by pointing to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world; and entreating all about him to lay hold, while it is yet offered, on the hope of that glorious Gospel, which is all that can afford rational happiness in life, fortitude, peace, and comfort in death.

We are all hastening to one common end. On this side and the other the young, the gay, the vigorous, and the aged, are crumbling into dust. How often do we witness their departure, follow them to the narrow humble habitation of the grave, and enter again upon the business and the vanities of life, seldom realizing for one single moment, that we also must soon occupy the same mansion. Would it not be wise to make DEATH a friend?

Our blessed Lord, just before he uttered the parable, which gave rise to our motto, left, in one word, to all his followers, this most useful important—solemn lesson—"WATCH." The faithful servant, attentive to this injunction, will never fear the coming of his master; his talent has not been concealed, knowing the goodness of his Lord, he has used it in dependence upon his blessing. To account for it, he is always ready, and as he habitually acts with reference to the day of reckoning, it can never arrest him unprepared. Be this our posture. Be this the present, constant concern of our minds, to be found vigilant and faithful, waiting for the coming of our Lord.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY,
EDWARD LLOYD, ESQUIRE,
GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it is directed by the forty-ninth section of the Act entitled "An Act concerning crimes and punishments," passed at November session eighteen hundred and nine, that as soon as the Penitentiary House in Baltimore county is ready for the reception of criminals, that the Governor of this State shall notify the same by proclamation. And whereas, the inspectors of said institution have reported to me that the said building is completed, and the requisites of the said law have been in all other respects complied with: I have therefore thought proper to issue this my proclamation, hereby declaring the said Penitentiary House to be ready for the reception of criminals who may be condemned to work and labour therein, as the said law requires.

Mr. Randolph then moved a postponement of the resolutions till to-morrow. Mr. Macon advocated the motion—he wished the resolutions to lie on the table. Mr. Randolph withdrew his motion, that they might lie on the table. Motion lost 68 to 47.
Mr. Randolph moved for the reading of the documents accompanying the President's message, and demanded the yeas and nays on the question. Yeas 35, Noes 84.
Mr. Williams moved to strike out a part of the 2d resolution in order to refer to different committees different parts of national defence &c. Carried. He then moved that so much of the President's Message as relates to filling the ranks and prolonging the enlistment of the regular troops, and to auxiliary forces, be referred to a select committee.
Mr. Randolph moved the postponement till to-morrow of the report of the committee of the whole, not carried, 72 opposed.
The resolution of Mr. Williams was adopted, and a committee of five ordered.
In the 4th resolution it was moved to strike out "non-intercourse," and insert commercial laws.—Mr. Quincy tho't the idea would be more correctly expressed by inserting "the anti commercial laws of the United States."—"Commercial laws" were inserted.
On motion of Mr. Bacon; so much of the President's message as relates to the manufacture of cannon and fire-arms, and to the munitions of war, was referred to a select committee of five.
The house ordered that the select committee on foreign relations consist of nine.
On motion of Mr. Bacon, so much of the President's message as relates to Indian affairs was referred to a select committee of five.
The report of the committee of the whole,
as amended, was then agreed to.
Adjourned, 3 o'clock.

Wednesday, Nov. 13.

Mr. McKim presented the petition of certain merchants of Baltimore, having goods
in England, purchased before February 2d, 1811, and praying leave to import them.
Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.
Mr. Quincy presented similar petitions from merchants of Massachusetts. Referred to the same committee.
Mr. Newton reported a bill for the relief of Thomas and John Clifford and Charles Wigman. Twice read and referred to a committee of the whole for Monday.
Mr. Macon asked leave of absence for Mr.
Blackledge till Wednesday next. Granted.
Mr. Gold offered a resolution, on which a committee of three were ordered. Resolved that a committee be appointed to enquire into the expediency of providing by law for the more convenient taking of recognizances of bail
and affidavits in causes depending in the respective courts of the U. States.
The Speaker presented the petition of Matthew Lyon, praying a reimbursement of his fine paid by him for infractions of the federation law, with interest and damages. Referred to a select committee, with orders, suggested by Mr. Randolph, to inquire into the expediency of making further provision for the security of the freedom of the press
and of speech.
Mr. Quincy presented a petition, praying for a Light-house on Race-Point, Cape Cod.
Referred to the committee of commerce and
manufactures.
Mr. Condit moved a resolution instructing
the committee of commerce and manufactures to inquire into the expediency of encouraging manufactures by import duties or prohibition of importations. Carried.
The following resolution was laid on the table by Mr. Randolph: Resolved, that a committee be appointed to inquire and report
whether the monies drawn from the treasury
since March 3d, 1801, have been duly applied to the purposes for which they were appropriated, and whether they have been regularly accounted for.

MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.
I communicate to Congress copies of a correspondence between the envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Great Britain and the Secretary of State, relative to the aggression committed by a British ship of war on the U. S. frigate Chesapeake, by which it will be seen that this subject of difference between the two countries is terminated by an offer of reparation which has been acceded to.

JAMES MADISON.

Washington, Nov. 13. 1811.
MR. FOSTER TO MR. MONROE.
Washington, Oct. 30, 1811.

SIR
I had already the honour to mention to you that I came to this country furnished with instructions from his royal highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of his majesty, for the purpose of proceeding
to a final adjustment of the differences which have arisen between Great Britain and the United States of America in the affair of the Chesapeake frigate, and I had also that of acquainting you with the necessity under which I found myself of suspending the execution of those instructions in consequence of my not having perceived that any steps whatever were taken by the American government
to clear up the circumstances of an event which threatened so materially to interrupt
the harmony subsisting between our two countries, as that which occurred in the month of last May between the United States ship
President and his majesty's ship Little Belt,
when every evidence before his majesty's government seemed to shew that a most evident and wanton outrage had been committed on a British sloop of war by an American commodore.
A court of inquiry, however, as you informed me in your letter of the 11th inst.
has since been held by order of the President of the United States on the conduct of commodore Rodgers, and this preliminary to further discussion on the subject being all that I asked in the first instance as due to the friendship subsisting between the two states, I have now the honour to acquaint you that I am ready to proceed in the truest spirit of conciliation to lay before you the terms of reparation which his royal highness has commanded me to propose to the United States government, and only wait to know when it will suit your convenience to enter upon the discussion.
I have the honour to be, with the highest consideration & respect, sir, your most obedient humble servant.
AUG. J. FOSTER.
To the Hon. James Monroe, &c.
MR. MONROE TO MR. FOSTER.
Department of State, Oct. 31, 1811.

SIR
I have just had the honour to receive your letter of the 30th of this month.
I am glad to find that the communication which I had the honour to make to you on the 11th inst. relative to the court of inquiry,
which was the subject of it, is viewed by

you in the favourable light which you have stated.

Although I regret that the proposition which you now make in consequence of that communication, has been delayed to the present moment, I am ready to receive the terms
of it whenever you may think proper to communicate them. Permit me to add, that the pleasure of finding them satisfactory will be duly augmented, if they should be introductory to a removal of all the differences depending between our two countries, the hope of which is so little encouraged by your past correspondence. A prospect of such a result will be embraced on my part, with a spirit of conciliation equal to that which has been expressed by you.

I have the honour to be, &c.
(Signed) JAMES MONROE.
Aug. J. Foster, Esq. &c. &c.

MR. FOSTER TO MR. MONROE.
Washington, Nov. 1, 1811.

SIR
In pursuance of the orders which I have received from his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of his Majesty, for the purpose of proceeding to a final adjustment of the differences which have arisen between Great Britain and the United States in the affair of the Chesapeake frigate,
I have the honour to acquaint you—first,
that I am instructed to report to the American government the prompt disavowal made by his majesty (and recited in Mr. Erskine's note of April 17, 1809, to Mr. Smith) on being apprised of the unauthorized act of the officer
in command of the naval forces on the coast of America whose recall from an highly important and honourable command immediately ensued as a mark of his Majesty's disapprobation.
Secondly, that I am authorized to offer, in addition to that disavowal, on the part of His Royal Highness, the immediate restoration, as far as circumstances will admit, of the men who in consequence of Admiral Berkeley's orders were forcibly taken out of the Chesapeake to the vessel from which they were taken; or if that ship should be no longer in commission, to such seaport of the United States as the American government
may name for the purpose.
Thirdly, that I am also authorized to offer to the American government a suitable pecuniary provision for the sufferers in consequence of the attack on the Chesapeake, including the families of those seamen who unfortunately fell in the action, and of the wounded
survivors.

These honourable propositions, I can assure you, sir, are made with the sincere desire that they may prove satisfactory to the government of the United States, and I trust
they will meet with that amicable reception
which their conciliatory nature entitled them to. I need scarcely add how cordially I join with you in the wish, that they might prove introductory to a removal of all differences depending between our two countries.
I have the honour to be, with the greatest consideration and respect, sir, your most obedient humble servant.
AUG. J. FOSTER.
To the Hon. James Monroe, &c.

MR. MONROE TO MR. FOSTER.
November 12th, 1811.

SIR
I have had the honour to receive your letter of the 1st Nov. and to lay it before the President.
It is much to be regretted that the reparation due for such an aggression as that committed on the U. States frigate the Chesapeake, should have been so long delayed: nor could the translation of the offending officer from one command to another, be regarded as constituting a part of a reparation otherwise satisfactory; considering, however, the existing circumstances of the case, and the early & amicable attention paid to it by His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, the President accedes to the propositions contained in your letter, and in so doing your government will, I am persuaded, see a proof of the conciliatory disposition by which the President has been actuated.

The officer commanding the Chesapeake
now lying in the harbour of Boston, will be instructed to receive the men who are to be restored to that ship.
I have the honour, &c.
JAMES MONROE.
Aug. J. Foster, Esq. &c. &c. &c.

By Anne-Arundel County Orphans Court,
October 29, 1811.

ON application by petition of Jacob Franklin, junior, executor of the last will and testament of Mary Atwell, late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, it is ordered that he give the notice required by law for creditors to bring in their claims against the said deceased, and that the same be published once in each week for the space of six successive weeks in the Maryland Gazette.

JOHN GASSAWAY,
Reg. Wills, A. A. C.

This is to give Notice,

THAT the subscriber of Anne-Arundel county hath obtained from the orphans court of Anne-Arundel county, in Maryland, letters testamentary on the personal estate of Mary Atwell, late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased. All persons having claims against the said deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, on or before the 17th day of April next, they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. Given under my hand this 29th day of October, 1811.

JAC. FRANKLIN, jun. Ex'r.

NOTICE.

ALL persons are forewarned from hunting, either with dog or gun, or trespassing in any way whatever, on my Farms, known by the names of Belmont and Thomas's Point, or on my lands lying on Oyster, Fishing and Smith's Creeks, as the law will be put in force against any offender.

FOR SALE.

I will sell, and give possession immediately, the Farm on which I at present reside, containing 200 acres of very fertile and valuable land. It is situated fifteen miles below Annapolis, near the cross roads which lead to the lower counties of the western shore, adjoining the lands of Messrs P. J. Thomas, Edward Hall and David Stewart three miles from the Patuxent, and an equal distance from West-River. There is on it an abundance of timber and wood for its support, and one of the finest spots of meadow land in the county, which being in a great measure reclaimed, the whole may at a small expense be put into a complete state of cultivation—a part is already in timothy, and more will be immediately seeded. About 40 acres of rich fallow are put down in wheat.

The dwelling-house, and buildings appertenant thereto, are comfortable, convenient, and mostly new—the garden and yard well enclosed and in good order.

Any gentleman wishing to occupy a Farm of no greater extent than this, where few labourers are required, will find it rather difficult to be better supplied. It is extremely healthy, and in a very pleasant sporting part of the country—Its vicinity to West-River, the Chesapeake Bay, and the River Patuxent, will at all times afford him a source of agreeable and profitable amusement.

FOR SALE.

I will sell, and give possession immediately, the Farm on which I at present reside, containing 200 acres of very fertile and valuable land.
It is situated fifteen miles below Annapolis, near
the cross roads which lead to the lower counties of
the western shore, adjoining the lands of Messrs
P. J. Thomas, Edward Hall and David Stewart
three miles from the Patuxent, and an equal distance from West-River. There is on it an abundant of timber and wood for its support, and one
of the finest spots of meadow land in the county,
which being in a great measure reclaimed, the
whole may at a small expense be put into a complete state of cultivation—a part is already in timothy, and more will be immediately seeded.
About 40 acres of rich fallow are put down in
wheat.

The dwelling-house, and buildings appertenant
thereto, are comfortable, convenient, and mostly
new—the garden and yard well enclosed and in
good order.

Any gentleman wishing to occupy a Farm of no
greater extent than this, where few labourers are
required, will find it rather difficult to be better
supplied. It is extremely healthy, and in a very pleasant sporting part of the country—its vicinity
to West-River, the Chesapeake Bay, and the River Patuxent, will at all times afford him a source
of agreeable and profitable amusement.

PHILADELPHIA, NOV. 22.

LATEST FROM CADIZ.

Captain Wade, of the ship Jupiter, 41 days from Cadiz, has furnished papers of that place to the 4th ult. from which was translated the following:

On the 30th Sept. the commander in chief received the following letter from Lt. General Don Francisco Ballasteros, under the date of the 25th inst. from his camp at Ximena, which has been delayed no doubt by contrary winds.

Most Excellent Sir,

I hasten to communicate to your Excellency, for the information of their royal highnesses the council of regency, the complete victory which has been obtained on this day by the arms of his majesty. Gen. Rignoux, with a division of 3000 men, chiefly grenadiers, united with the other division which I defeated on the 19th at Alcala, had been for nine days manœuvring in front of our present position, but has finally fallen into the snare which I had laid for him, and by our repeated movements and the activity of the troops I have the honour to command. Having by these means been able to surprise him, we engaged him and finally put him to flight, in the direction of the camp of St. Roche, notwithstanding a most obstinate resistance. It is now 11 o'clock in the morning, and my troops are in close pursuit at their heels, over the most unequal and rugged mountains, in direction of Alcala, the only place they can find refuge in their present situation. At this moment a number of prisoners are brought in, among them a captain of grenadiers, and a colonel of the Polish infantry No. 1. The loss of the enemy has been horrible, but I cannot at present detail the circumstances. I am, &c.

CONGRESS OF THE U. STATES,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Thursday, November 14.

A bill was reported by Mr. Rhea for the temporary government of Louisiana, which was twice read and referred to the committee of the whole for Monday next.

Mr. Widgery reported a bill for altering the time of holding the district Court of Maine, which was also twice read.

Mr. Rhea offered the following resolution which was ordered to lie on the table.

Resolved, That the committee of commerce and manufactures be instructed to enquire into the expediency of laying additional duties on all coarse manufactures of flax and hemp.

Mr. Condit offered the following resolution, which was likewise ordered to lie on the table.

Resolved, That the committee of commerce and manufactures be directed to enquire into the expediency of encouraging the culture of hemp and the manufacture of hemp goods, either by protecting duties or prohibiting the importation of hemp and goods manufactured from it.

Several private petitions were presented and referred to the different committees.

Adjourned at half past 12.

Friday, November 15.

Mr. Rhea proposed the following resolution, which was ordered to lie on the table.

Resolved, That the committee of Indian Affairs be instructed to enquire into the expediency of extending the laws of the United States over those parts of the States and territories of the U. States to which the Indian title is not extinguished, in such manner as that all white persons residing within any of the said parts of the U. States may and shall be liable to the operation of the laws.

Mr. Rhea called up his resolution respecting the encouragement of hemp-manufacture and culture. Mr. Little moved that it lie on the table, that he might have time to propose certain amendments which he deemed necessary; 51 to 47 for its lying on the table.

Mr. Rhea called up for consideration the resolution which he laid upon the table yesterday proposing an additional duty on coarse hemp and flax. The resolution was considered, and, on motion the words "and cotton," were added to its context of the mover. After some conversation as to the propriety of discussing this proposition in the House, a motion for laying the proposition on the table was carried, 51 to 47.

Mr. Milnor offered the following resolution, after stating the many abuses and frauds practised in the obtaining of protection of American Seamen!

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to inquire and report whether any, or what amendments are necessary in the laws of the U. S. in relation to the protection of American Seamen. Ordered, and a committee of five appointed.

The house adjourned at an early hour to meet again on Monday.

Monday, Nov. 18.

Mr. Seybert presented the petition of certain manufacturers of Philadelphia praying an additional duty on importations of that article. Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Seybert presented the petition of John Steele, Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, praying compensation for the decrease of his salary. Referred to committee of ways and means.

Mr. Randolph called for the consideration of the resolution for the appointment of a committee to inquire whether monies drawn from the treasury since March 3, 1801, have been duly applied &c. The resolution was adopted, and a committee of seven selected.

The house went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Macon in the chair, on the bill for the extension of the term of holding the land-offices in Orleans. The house subsequently ordered it engrossed for a third reading to-morrow.

Mr. Basset in the chair, the House went into committee of the whole, on the bill for the relief of commodore Abraham Whipple. The bill was agreed to in the committee of the whole. Mr. Speaker refused the chair and Mr. Basset reported.

The bill underwent a considerable debate in the House, being opposed by Messrs. Bacon, Quincy and others, and supported by Messrs. Tallmadge, Pitkin, Little and others. On the motion for the third reading, Mr. Little called for the yeas and nays, which motion was granted, and the yeas were 71, nays 26, so it was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading to-morrow.

Mr. Dawson offered the following resolution, Resolved that a committee be appointed to inquire into the expediency of making provision by law for the relief of maimed, disabled and superannuated officers and soldiers of the late revolutionary army and navy of the U. States. On motion of Mr. Little, who suggested the necessity of some amendments, it was ordered to lie on the table.

Adjourned.

Tuesday, November 19.

Mr. Bibb presented a petition praying that time be allowed to register claims to certain lands in the State of Georgia. Referred to the committee of public lands.

Mr. Seaver presented the petition of Nathaniel Ruggles, Roxbury, (Mass.) praying leave to import certain articles from Great Britain, purchased before a knowledge of the non-intercourse prevented. Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Pitkin presented a similar petition on certain merchants of Harford. Referred to the same committee.

The bill extending the time of opening land-offices Orleans Territory, was read the second time and passed; as also the bill for the relief of Commodore Abraham Whipple.

Mr. Dawson's resolution, laid on the table yesterday, for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the expediency of making provision for the maimed, disabled and superannuated officers and soldiers of the revolutionary army, and of the present U. States, was adopted and a committee of seven ordered.

Mr. Nelson took the chair, and the committee of the whole, proceeded to consider the bill for a temporary government of Louisiana. Mr. Pitkin moved out a part, which required a further qualification for a vote. Mr. Poindexter afterwards moved an amendment for a years residence and the payment of a certain tax. A debate of several hours, in which Messrs. Randolph, Seaver, Pitkin, Rhea, and Wright were principal speakers. At half past 12 the committee rose with leave adjourned.

Wednesday, November 20.

Mr. B. of Kentucky, appeared in person, and took his seat.

Mr. Dawson, from the appropriation committee, reported a bill to fix the ratio of representation according to the last Census, the ratio was left blank. It was twice referred to committee of the whole.

Mr. Poindexter presented the petition of a number of the inhabitants of Florida, praying to be incorporated into Mississippi Territory. The petition was ordered to be printed and lie on the table.

The memorial of the Representatives of the Society of Friends of the Western Maryland, of part of Pennsylvania, as appointed at their last annual meeting, was presented by Mr. Poindexter, praying that further provision may be made to prevent the practice of negro slave-trading away of free negroes, carrying on the southern States and territories.

Mr. W. Indies, and selling them for slaves to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

[The same memorial in the Senate referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. M. Taylor and Tait.]

Mr. Milnor offered a resolution to appoint a committee to enquire into the expediency of inaking provision by law for the relief of maimed, disabled and superannuated officers and soldiers, to give testimony in the courts of the U. States.

The House having been invited to the semi-annual Exhibition of the Agricultural Society, and it being a day of the week, on motion of Mr. Nelson adjourned—48 to 38.

Thursday, November 21.

Mr. Ely presented the petition of sundry merchants praying permission to import merchandise purchased before the non-intercourse.

Mr. Seybert presented similar petition from Philadelphia—referred.

Mr. Findley, from the committee on the petition of Mr. Hungerford, reported in part on the petition of Mrs. Hodgson, who was the wife of a British officer, who was killed in the war office burnt in 1800, and was presented by Mr. Findley to the committee of claims.

Mr. Rhea then called for the consideration of his resolution, directing the committee of commerce and manufactures to enquire into the expediency of laying duties on all coarse manufactures and cotton, &c.

Mr. Stanford moved that the consideration of the resolution be postponed, on the ground that it was already before the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Newton acknowledged the motion, but he was opposed to the postponement, because a concurrent motion might give rise to a belief that there was a lukewarmness in the committee of commerce and manufactures. Mr. Widgery did not perceive that effect would be produced; it could not be worse to evince a discouragement of manufactures, than to annihilate commerce. He was giving bounties on the manufacture of certain articles.

The motion for an indefinite postponement was lost, yeas 48, nays 58.

Mr. King moved to amend the bill to direct the committee of commerce and manufactures further to enquire into the expediency of laying a duty on SALT. He said that he again arrive when it would be

Mr. Pitkin presented a similar petition from certain merchants of Hartford. Referring to the same committee.

The bill extending the time of opening land-offices Orleans Territory, was read a third time and passed; as also the bill for relief of Commodore Abraham Whipple.

Mr. Dawson's resolution, laid on the table yesterday, for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the expediency of making provision for the infirm, disabled and pensioned officers and soldiers of the late revolutionary army, and of the present army of the United States, was adopted and a committee of seven ordered.

Mr. Nelson took the chair, and the House proceeded to consider the bill for a temporary government for the Territory of Louisiana. Mr. Fisk moved to strike out a part, which required a freehold qualification for a vote. Mr. Poindexter afterwards moved an amendment so as to require a years residence and the payment of a certain tax. A debate of several hours ensued, in which Messrs. Randolph, Smilie, Poindexter, Fisk, Rhea and Wright, were principal speakers. At half past 3 o'clock the committee rose with leave.

Adjourned.

Wednesday, November 20.

Mr. M'Bride of Kentucky, appeared, was sworn, and took his seat.

Mr. Dawson, from the apportionment committee, reported a bill to fix the ratio of Representatives according to the last Census. The ratio was left blank. It was twice read and referred to committee of the whole to-morrow.

Mr. Poindexter presented the petition of a large number of the inhabitants of West-Florida, praying to be incorporated with the Territory of Florida. The petition was ordered to be printed and lie on the table.

The memorial of the Representatives of the Society of Friends of the Western Shore Maryland, of part of Pennsylvania and Ohio, as appointed at their last annual meeting Baltimore, was presented by Mr. Little. Praying that further provision may be made to prevent the practice of negro stealing away from free negroes, carrying them to the Southern States and Territories and in the W. Indies, and selling them for Slaves, referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

[The same memorial in the Senate was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Smith of Md. Taylor and Tait.]

Mr. Milnor offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee to enquire into the expediency of making provision by law for compensation to persons under recognizance commitment, to give testimony in criminal cases in the courts of the U. States. Carried.

Thursday, November 21.

Mr. Ely presented the petitions of Massachusetts merchants praying permission to import merchandise purchased before 2d Nov. referred.

Mr. Seybert presented similar petitions from Philadelphia—referred.

Mr. Findley, from the committee of elections, reported in part on the contested election of Mr. Hungerford.

The petition of Mrs. Hodgson, widow of the late Mr. Hodgson, who was the owner of the war office burnt in 1800, praying compensation, was presented by Mr. Lewis, and referred to the committee of claims.

Mr. Rhea then called for the consideration of his resolution, directing the committee of commerce and manufactures to enquire into the expediency of laying additional duties on all coarse manufactures of flax, hemp and cotton, &c.

Mr. Stanford moved that the further consideration of the resolution be postponed indefinitely, on the ground that the subject was already before the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Newton acknowledged that this subject generally was before that committee; but he was opposed to the motion for postponement, because a concurrence with it might give rise to a belief abroad that there was a take-away in the house relative to manufactures.

Mr. Widgery did not perceive that such an effect would be produced; but if it should could not be worse to evince a disposition to discourage manufactures, than a disposition to annihilate commerce. He was opposed to giving bounties on the manufacture of these particular articles.

The motion for an indefinite postponement was lost, yeas 48, nays 58.

Mr. King moved to amend the resolution so as to direct the committee of commerce and manufactures further to enquire into the expediency of laying a duty on the importation of SALT. He said the time might again arrive when it would be impossible to obtain that article from abroad; the domestic manufacture of it ought therefore to be encouraged.

Mr. Quincy was in favour of the amendment. Many persons who had entered largely into the manufacture of that article had been essentially injured, if not ruined by the strange repeal of the duty upon it. He hoped the consideration of this subject at least would be specially referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. Macon said there was nothing strange in that repeal; if there had been anything strange in the business, it was the opposition to the repeal of the duty on that necessary of life, when the money was not wanted in the treasury. He saw no necessity for any of these duties as a preparation for war; he had heard too much about war during former sessions, that he did not believe we should get it now. The gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Quincy) had said that the people who manufactured salt lived upon sand banks; but was the house to patronize them by laying a tax upon those who lived upon sand hills? The immediate effect of a duty on salt would be to raise the price of it, which would bear hard upon people in many parts of the country who were in the habit of providing themselves with that article at this season of the year. He would sooner vote for a land or poll tax than a tax upon salt.

Mr. Johnson was in favour of the resolution. If we were on the heel of another revolutionary war, as some seemed to suppose, we ought to encourage domestic manufactures.

Mr. Smilie moved that the further consideration of the subject be postponed until the first Monday in Feb.—Before deciding on it he wished to see the report of the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Mr. King after expressing his astonishment at the alarm manifested by the house at a mere proposition for inquiry, withdrew his amendment (relative to salt).

After some further discussion, the question of postponing the original resolution offered by Mr. Rhea was taken by yeas and nays, and lost—yeas 59, nays 64.

Mr. Gholfon moved to strike out the word "coarse," carried.

On the suggestion of Mr. Key, Mr. Rhea added the word "imported" to his resolution so as to confine the resolution to imported manufactures.

Mr. Fisk moved to amend the resolution by adding the word, "wool," so as to include manufactures of that article. Agreed to.

Mr. Milnor moved to add the word "lead" after wool. Agreed to.

Mr. Stow observed, that as the house appeared to be travelling in a circle, he proposed a sweeping amendment at once. He was, to add these words: "and all manufactures in which any member of this house may consider his constituents particularly interested." Mr. S. afterwards withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Quincy moved to add the word "Salt." Lost, yeas 54, nays 59.

Mr. Seybert moved to add the words "iron, wire and flax." Before the question was taken on this amendment, a motion was made by Mr. Smilie and carried, to adjourn (3 o'clock.)

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,

CORNELIUS TACITUS;

With an Essay on his Life and Genius; Notes, Supplements, &c.

BY ARTHUR MURPHY, ESQ.

THE FIRST AMERICAN FROM THE LAST LONDON EDITION.

With the Author's last corrections.

AS a brief recommendation of the above works to those to whom they may not be already known, the following notice of them is copied from the London Review of the time when they were first published.

"Though," says the Review, "it be with the translation of Tacitus that we have now to do, not with the character of that original and great historian himself, it would be difficult, perhaps unnatural and indecorous, to pass by the present opportunity of recognising the merit of that sublime genius, and joining in the general voice of applause and admiration Cornelius Tacitus, by a rare felicity of circumstances, united in himself all those relations, qualities and accomplishments, that are requisite to form a great historian: He was of senatorial rank, and in that order highly distinguished. He enjoyed the favour of the princes and sovereigns of the civilized world, and held civil offices of the highest dignity and importance. He possessed a native probity and elevation of mind; and these noble qualities were heightened and confirmed by an habitual conversancy with the history of the Roman republic, and an education in the principles of the sublimest philosophy. The profoundness of his reflections, the precision of his diction, his elegant and energetic brevity, and something remarkably picturesque and dramatic in his manner, conspire, with the dignity and importance of his subjects, to clothe his works with a never-fading bloom, and render his fame immortal. He records the actions, the councils, the secret motives of the great actors in the greatest political drama that was ever exhibited on the world; and the History of Tacitus, as is well observed by his accomplished translator and critic, is 'Philosophy teaching by example'."

The contents of these volumes seem naturally to admit of the following division:

1. A dedication to the right honourable Edmund Burke, an Essay on the Life and Genius of Tacitus; the annals of Tacitus with supplements and an appendix; a genealogical table with an index, of the Caesars; notes on the annals and appendix, and maps of the ancient world as known to the Romans, and of Asia.
2. The history of Tacitus, with an appendix, and notes to the history and appendix; and maps of the city of Jerusalem, and of Italy.
3. The celebrated and valuable Treatise on the manners of the Germans, with notes, and a map of ancient Germany; and the life of Agricola, with notes, and a geographical table of the places, rivers, &c. mentioned in these volumes. To these authentic works of Tacitus is added "the dialogue concerning Oratory, of which, as Mr. Murphy in a note has justly remarked, 'The commentators are much divided in their opinions about the real author. This work, they all agree, is a masterpiece in the kind: written with taste and judgment; entertaining, profound and elegant: but whether it is to be ascribed to Tacitus, Quintilian, or any other person whom they cannot name, is a question upon which they have exhausted a store of learning.'"

Mr. Murphy, after giving an account of the principal arguments pro and con, says in conclusion, although he seems to lean to the opinion that it is the production of Tacitus: "The dispute is of no importance; for, as Lipsius says, whether we give the dialogue to Quintilian or to Tacitus, no inconvenience can arise. Whoever was the author, it is a performance of uncommon beauty."

Mr. Murphy has given the sense of his author in a pleasing and proper style, and even caught not a little of his manner; in order to do which, in so long a work, it was necessary to be master of the whole compass of the English language. His notes and supplements show that he is intimately conversant with Roman antiquity, and with literature in general. He views the objects that pass before him with the eye of a critic, a moralist and a politician; and in particular he makes interesting comparisons between the situations and characters of different ancient and modern tribes and nations."

CONDITIONS.

1. The works of Tacitus shall be put to press as soon as a sufficient number of subscriptions shall be obtained to justify it.
2. They shall be printed with a new pica type, on a fine paper made for the purpose, with proper attention to uniformity of colour and quality throughout.
3. The volumes shall be delivered in the order in which they are published, and shall succeed each other as speedily as due attention to the execution will permit. Each volume to be paid for on delivery: 2 dollars, 50 cts. per volume, in boards.
4. The London edition of Tacitus, is in 8 vols. 8vo; and the American edition will be in 6 vols. 8vo; and will sell at half the price of the former.
5. Such as may become answerable for the amount of six copies, shall be entitled to a seventh.

SERIOUS FRACAS.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 16.

Within the last 3 or 4 days, some serious disturbances have taken place between the American seamen, and the crews of the French privateers La Vengeance and L'Agile (or La Francaise) which had been lying in this port for some time past. Investigation into the merits of the case, by proper authority, being uncompleted, we are unable, as yet, to lay before our readers as accurate a detail of particulars as could be wished. The circumstances, so far as could be ascertained appear to be these:

On Wednesday night last, a quarrel originated at a house on the upper part of the city, between some seamen and a party of the privateer's men. A rencounter ensued; in which three American sailors were stabbed, and their opponents much bruised by bludgeons. The three wounded seamen, we understand, are since dead. One of them, belonging to the brig Hetty, capt. Fountain, from Philadelphia, named Taylor. The names of the others, or of the vessels to which they belonged, could not be ascertained.

The seamen yesterday, became exasperated, that they determined on being avenged by destroying the privateers. They accordingly embodied themselves last evening; and, before the civil or military authority had the knowledge or opportunity of interfering in the transaction set fire to L'Agile, and burnt her to the water's edge.

La Vengeance was then taken possession of by a detachment of the Savannah Volunteer Guards, conveyed to the upper part of the town, and remained in their custody until between eleven and twelve at night, when the seamen procured a lighter-boat, and a parcel of tar and other combustibles, which were put into the boat, rowed towards the vessel, and obliged the guard to abandon her for their own safety, as well as to avoid the painful task of firing on their fellow-citizens. The first soon communicated, and La Vengeance shared the same fate of L'Agile.

Previous to the assemblage of the seamen yesterday, several of the crews of the privateer had concealed themselves in a vacant store on Anciaux's wharf, where it seems they had some arms and ammunition deposited. On the seamen attempting to get on board the privateer they were fired upon from the upper windows of the store. Capt. Miller of the Empire (New-York packet) was dangerously wounded, having one of his eyes shot entirely out, the other much injured, bridge of his nose broken, and his life doubtful. A seaman wounded (since dead) and a coloured person (wounded) were shot nearly at the same time and in like manner.

One of the privateer's crew was killed on the bluff yesterday, in the affray; and another died in gaol last night, of wounds. Several others, on both sides, are wounded, but we understand, not dangerously. Upwards of one hundred of the rioters are now in gaol.

We pretend not to give this as a correct statement. As soon as the matter is fully investigated, we will endeavour to lay before our readers a clearer account of the occurrences.

FRENCH PRIVATEERS.

Extract of a letter dated Savannah, Nov. 17, to a gentleman in Baltimore.

A serious fracas happened here on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The burning of two very handsome French privateers, schooner rigged, which have been in port some months and were only waiting for a fair wind. It appears that the French and American sailors met at a house the night preceding—a quarrel ensued and one of the Americans was killed, several wounded, some of which have died; several French wounded but none killed. The American sailors being much exasperated, formed themselves into a very large body, and before the civil authority interfered, both vessels were on fire and have burnt to the water's edge. The vessels were both along side the wharf. The pirates having notice of the intention of the American sailors, had their decks covered with armed men; on the approach of the sailors heavy discharges of musquetry repulsed them twice; two Americans were killed and a great number wounded; 135 are now in prison. What the result will be is impossible to say. It is supposed a number more of our brave tars and citizens, would have been killed had not a heavy rain commenced at the time of the action, which prevented a great many of their small arms going off.

The appointment of Mr. MONROE to the office of Secretary of State, made by the President during the recess of Congress, was confirmed on Monday last by the unanimous vote of the Senate.
