WITH COURT BUT 10 DAYS OFF POLITICAL GOSSIP FILLS AIR

Prospective Candidates Now At Stage Of "Feeling Out" Process.

MANY ANNOUNCEMENTS
EXPECTED VERY SOON

Many Democrats Willing To Serve
County In Various Capacities. It Is Rumored—According To Custom, Republicans Are Pursuing "Watchful Waiting" Plan And Doing Little Talking.

Considering the number of local official announcements publicly of candidates in the September primaries
thus far have been exceedingly few.
Notwithstanding this fact the political bee seems to be buzzing rather loudly in the ears of prospective candidates and political wisecracks predict within the coming few weeks, several names to be brought out as avowed candidates.

The convening of the Circuit Court is usually seized by those having political aspirations as a "feeling out" time. This usually serves either to accuse or put a damper on their ambitions as the sentiment of voters in various parts of the county is sounded out. This year Court convenes on the 12th of this month.

As is usually the case practically all the announcements and rumors deal with Democratic candidates as the custom of the Republican party has been to wait calmly the decision of its opponent party and then line up its ticket accordingly.

First of all a state senator is to be elected from Wicomico. The present incumbent, Hon. Charles R. Dismore, is generally supposed to be ready to turn down another term although he has made no public announcement.
David J. Ward, of this city, has been spoken of as a possible candidate. No announcement has been made by Mr.
Ward but he is said to be willing to make the fight. Friends of former Congressman Jesse D. Price have been urging him for sometime to announce himself. Mr. Price has had the honor and experience and if the Democrats should agree on anybody, they would pick him as the best man to run. Friends of former legislature, has also been mentioned as a candidate but his attitude at this time is not known.

Many eyes are said also to be more or less focused upon the office of State Attorney. Although no public announcement have been made it is generally understood that the present prosecutor will likely be a candidate to succeed himself. If he should be nominated and elected it would make his third term in this office. His friends point out that this is only a three year term whereas several years ago Judge Bailey held the office for 12 years. It is generally conceded that he has been a hard prosecutor and absolutely fearless in his dealings.

It is understood that Rex A. Taylor, one of the youngest members of the bar, intends to run for the office. He was a member of the last Legislature of Maryland and is a brother of Seth
P. Taylor, with whom he is associated in the practice of law. Arthur E.
Williams, Quantico, former clerk, is said to be seriously considering making a fight for the office. His friends consider him capable of filling the office and point out that he has never been recognized by the party.
L. Claude Bailey, present City Solicitor, and a prominent member of the bar has been urged by some of his friends to enter the contest but it is said he has reached no decision. It is understood that he, as well as a great many other members of the party, is hopeful that the Democratic State Central Committee and the party leaders may agree on a ticket which will avoid a primary fight.

Harry Dennis, present County Treasurer, who has held the office for one term is an avowed candidate to succeed himself. The names of Willie Gillies, Quantico, former clerk, and County Commissioner and Harry Mc-sick, Allen, have been mentioned as possible opponents.

The office of sheriff is the only one for which announcements of candidates have been made thru the press and without any more entrants it is certain to be an interesting scrap for W. W. Larmore, a former sheriff with a good record who numbers his friends all over the county, is in the fight likewise Murray Phillips, Hebron, who two years ago made a very hard fight against the present sheriff.

RECOMMEND ROAD WORK TO STATE FOR 1923

Wicomico Commissioners Select Delmar, Fruitland and Nanticoke Roads Inform Commission Accordingly.

The Board of County Commissioners at its regular meeting on Tuesday decided to make the following recommendations to the State Roads Commission for construction work in Wicomico county during 1923. Salisbury-Delmar Road from the north end of the present concrete construction to the southern corporate limits of the town of Delmar.

The Salisbury-Nanticoke Road is also included, it being the recommendation of the Board to build from the end of the present concrete construction at Gale's Lane-Head of Creek Road to Tyaskin-Head of Creek Road.
The third project was for the paving of the Moore's Corner-Fruitland Road, from the Salisbury-Allen State Road at Moore's Corner through the town of Fruitland to the beginning of the Fruitland-Meadow Bridge State Aid Road at Long's Store.

As is generally the custom at this period of the year, large delegations of taxpayers were before the Board asking either for new roads to be built or for maintenance work on others. A delegation from Pittsburg District presented a petition for a road to be opened from Parsonsburg to Melsons running from the Parker Road until it intersects the County Road leading from Pittsville to Mel-sons.

A large delegation from along the Delaware line was also at the Court House. These men were from both states and were asking for the road to be straightened and improved from Delmar to Whitesville. Another delegation was present asking for a direct road from Spring Grove Church to the Marдела State Road.

Still another delegation asked for the continuation of the Allen-Park Ferry Road to the Salisbury-Allen State Road through the properties of Otho Bounds and Mr. Murray.

been presenting this play continuously since last October.

Demand Still Great For Clothing In Near East—Splendid Chance To Make Apparel Do Double Duty

will be Bundle Week. Still there is dire need in the Near East for the clothing you have thrown aside and which is accumulating in your closets and store rooms.

your way for the spring cleaning and with the satisfaction of knowing it will give untold comfort to the suffer-

try. Detailed information will be given in the papers text book and every Farlow of the country. Bennett and Mr. Robert D. Grier will be glad to

Instant judgment on the part of Officer Roland Cahall of the Salisbury Police Force in placing under arrest on Tuesday morning of last week James Henry Jones, a colored,
coupled with the relentless following
out of clues day and night since that time by that officer and Sheriff John
H. Farlow, of the county, together with the co-operation of officers from other Maryland counties and Delaware, has led to the arrest of several members of the "Pink Candle" band
of robbers, which for the past several months has been terrorizing Southern Delaware and Eastern Shore, toward the officers went to investigate and Jones attempted to make his getaway but was unsuccessful.

When lodged in jail and searched a bag of money, mostly pennies and nickels, was found upon him containing $27, also keys, penknives, bul-

WASHINGTON COLLEGE TEAM IS SCHEDULED

Coach Kibler's "Flying Pentagon" To Meet All Stars Here March 9th.

BIG ALUMNI SMOKER
TO PRECEDE CONTEST

Two Events Are Expected To Attract
From All Sections Of Lower Peninsula—Dance Will Be Tended State Champs After Basketball Game.

Sport lovers of this section of the Delmarvia Peninsula will be offered a rare treat on the evening of Friday,
March 9th, when Coach Kibler's Washington College Basketball five, this year state champions of Maryland and the best team which ever wore the colors of the Eastern Shore institution, comes here to play an Eastern Shore All Star quintet, now being organized by "Bill" Duffy, former Washington College cage star, on the First Regiment Armory floor.

Arrangements were completed on Tuesday with the college and announcements were made to the public at Chestertown to bring this "Flying pentagon," as it has been termed by sports writers, to Salisbury. The coach will bring with him his regular lineup which defeated the powerful Dickinson College team a few weeks back after the Capital five had beaten the famous University of Pennsylvania aggregation. From this can be readily gleaned the fact that this is one of the most powerful combinations in the East this season.

The evening commencing at 6.30 o'clock will be a Washington College affair all the way through. At that hour a smoker has been arranged by prominent alumni of this city to take place in the Peninsula Hotel to which all alumni and friends of the college are invited. This will be a general "get together" affair and those who have not heard the news of the Eastern Shore's only college, which "day by day" is growing in popularity, are expected to come to Salisbury. Coach Kibler and the players, with possibly President C. P. Gould of the college, will be guests of honor. Those interested in this event are urged to get in touch with Benjamin
A. Johnson, prominent local lawyer with offices in the Advertiser office.

A preliminary game will be staged between Cambridge High School and Wicomico High School. This game starts at 7.30 o'clock. The Washington College-All Star contest starts at 8.15. Pitted against the maroon and black warriors, which are this year led by Kirk Gordy, popular Worcester county boy, will be a team picked from the following well known cage all stars of whom have starred previously in collegiate circles: Lowden, Lafayette; Hynson, Swarthmore;
Krahe, New York State; Rothrock

C. OF C. BANQUET TAKES PLACE TONIGHT

of Commerce reports that tickets for the annual High School Banquet of Bethesda M. P. Church tonight have been very much in demand and that the attendance will reach the 200 mark. An entertainer of note from Baltimore has been secured to round out the program which was given in these columns last week and every indication is that the gathering around the festive board this year will surpass any previous event of this body.

Wicomico Quintet Defeats Cambridge

Salisbury Boys Administer Crushing Defeat And Turn Tables On El-vals For Court Honors

After suffering a defeat from the Cambridge High School quintet recently at Cambridge, the Wicomico High cagmen came back strong last Friday night and trimmed the Dorchester aggregation in a one-sided game on the local court, 30 to 4. At the end of the first half the score stood 10 to 3.

The local lads showed the best form of the season. Benson, playing guard was a tower of strength in the floor work offensive and tallied 10 foul goal shots from a possible 12 trials.

Robber Band's Loot Found Here And At Seaford Valued Into Thousands

Arrest In Salisbury Last Week By Officer Cahall, Followed By Untiring Efforts Of That Officer, Sheriff, Farlow And Other Authorities, Leads To Arrest Of Three Members Of Notorious
"Pink Candle" Gang Said To Be Responsible For Over One Hundred Robberies.

Instant judgment on the part of
Officer Roland Cahall of the Salisbury Police Force in placing under arrest on Tuesday morning of last week James Henry Jones, a colored,
coupled with the relentless following
out of clues day and night since that time by that officer and Sheriff John
H. Farlow, of the county, together
with the co-operation of officers from other Maryland counties and Delaware, has led to the arrest of several members of the "Pink Candle" band
of robbers, which for the past several months has been terrorizing Southern Delaware and Eastern Shore, toward the officers went to investigate
and Jones attempted to make his get-
away but was unsuccessful.

When lodged in jail and searched a
bag of money, mostly pennies and
nickels, was found upon him containing $27, also keys, penknives, bullets, watch and chain, sweater and other articles. The watch and sweater were identified as having been stolen from Mr. Rawson on the Delmar Road in December.

Jones is said to have confessed to robberies here at Hitch's store, Moses
M. Wimbrow's, West Main street,
Tingle's store, Isabella and Main,
Rhoda Adams and more stolen goods recovered. The negro was arrested, and brought to jail accused of being a member of the gang. In this capture was a diamond fraternity pin, valued at several hundred dollars, which it is alleged Jones and Rhoda Adams attempted to pawn at Goody's store here recently, and also two watches. These were recovered through a confession to Sheriff Far-low.

Hundreds of robberies, it is said, can be laid to this gang. The pink candles are said to have been purchased here and in Seaford. The authorities are still diligently working on threads of evidence gathered from these three arrests and expect to run down another bunch of gangsters operating out of Seaford, it is said.
During their search for the "Pink Candle" gang the officers captured six stills and arrested Ben Green, a notorious Maryland negro moonshiner.

In the last of the first and second grades of the Camden School are no longer afraid to open their mouths in an honest-to-goodness smile! Miss Kell, the Red Cross Nurse, says they were all angelic while in the dental chair and without a doubt, they are all proud of their gleaming teeth. Until the work of examining and cleaning the teeth of all the children of the first and second grades of this Salisbury schools is completed,
Dr. R. A. Buhman, Dr. C. F. Smith
and Dr. R. O. Higgins will devote Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
mornings, respectively, to the clinic.
No work will be done without permission from the parents. Cards were placed in the hands of each child to be taken home and signed by the parent or guardian, if willing to have the work performed. The teeth are cleaned and examined free of charge by the dentists and a report made by them
showing the amount of work necessary to put the child's teeth in first-class condition.

Some of the manufacturers of den-
tice have co-operated with the Red Cross to the extent of contributing tubes of tooth paste and every child
on Pebeoc and careful instructions
on the use of a tooth brush were given.

Miss Kell has completed the examination of the children in the Camden
and East Salisbury Schools and on Friday began work at Bell Street
School. The first and second grade children numbering 128 to date, have
a thorough inspection by the nurse,
covering height, weight, throat, nose,
teeth, eyes, ears and skin.

In the last of the first and second grades of the older pupils were weighed and measured. In both schools hot lunches are being served
and the teachers wish to pay particular attention to under nourished children.

Mrs. W. K. Perrin, Mrs. D. Laird Todd and Mrs. George R. Cobb have been assisting Miss Kell.

SALISBURY MERCHANTS PREPARE FOR THROGS AT SPRING OPENING

CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED TO HELP DENTAL CLINIC

Upon the inauguration of the free dental clinic for the school children in Wicomico county
this week, an alarming condition was found to prevail in the homes of these children. An average of seven out of every nine examined stated that they had no tooth brushes and that their parents were not able to provide what was styled a luxury. Of course the efforts of the clinic will be rendered useless if the children neglect their teeth afterwards. Tooth brushes are needed by the Red Cross.
The dentists in the city are giv-

KIDDIES NOW BOASTING OF GOOD MOLARS

Clinic Is Gotten Under Way At Camden Primary School Very Successfully.

WORK BEING DONE BY THREE CITY DENTISTS

Smith, Buhman And Higgins Are Devoting Three Mornings Per Week
To Work—Miss Kell Making Examination Of Children In The Lower Grades.

The kiddies of the first and second grades of the Camden School are no longer afraid to open their mouths in an honest-to-goodness smile! Miss Kell, the Red Cross Nurse, says they were all angelic while in the dental
chair and without a doubt, they are
all proud of their gleaming
teeth. Until the work of examining
and cleaning the teeth of all the children of the first and second grades of
this Salisbury schools is completed,
Dr. R. A. Buhman, Dr. C. F. Smith
and Dr. R. O. Higgins will devote Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
mornings, respectively, to the clinic.
No work will be done without permission from the parents. Cards were placed in the hands of each child to be taken home and signed by the parent or guardian, if willing to have the work performed. The teeth are cleaned and examined free of charge by the dentists and a report made by them
showing the amount of work necessary to put the child's teeth in first-
class condition.

Some of the manufacturers of den-
tice have co-operated with the Red Cross to the extent of contributing tubes of tooth paste and every child
on Pebeoc and careful instructions
on the use of a tooth brush were given.

Miss Kell has completed the examination of the children in the Camden
and East Salisbury Schools and on Friday began work at Bell Street
School. The first and second grade
children numbering 128 to date, have
a thorough inspection by the nurse,
covering height, weight, throat, nose,
teeth, eyes, ears and skin.

In the last of the first and second
grades of the older pupils were weighed and measured. In both schools hot lunches are being served
and the teachers wish to pay particular attention to under nourished children.

Mrs. W. K. Perrin, Mrs. D. Laird Todd and Mrs. George R. Cobb have been assisting Miss Kell.

CO-OPERATION.

Closer co-operation between citizens of Salisbury and the Maryland State Police should be the outcome of a general discussion between representatives of both parties at the meeting of the Salisbury Rotary Club last Thursday night. The former availed themselves of the opportunity to voice their protests against what seemed to be a wholesale persecution of law-abiding citizens by young and zealous officers of the force for trivial infractions of motor vehicle laws. It was then brought out by official representatives of the State Police present that instructions from the central office called for careful judgment on the part of every officer in the pursuit of his duties and where a reprimand would serve the purpose of a fine in some minor case, he was to tactfully employ same.

The News is a firm believer in the need for a well-organized and efficient State Police force in this Commonwealth. It is aware of the many obstacles encountered by the officials in putting on the highways a unit of men the purpose of which is the enforcement of the state automobile laws and the protection of life and property in the rural districts. Since the organization of the constabulary many defects have been weeded out, but there still is reason for constructive criticism. However it must be recognized that the effectiveness of the force has been materially hampered in many instances by an antagonistic and hostile attitude on the part of the people living in the community.

Petty grievances have been brought into play by certain individuals smarting under the sting of arrests for violations of the law. A growing disregard for law and order today among a certain element appears to find quick expression of resentment against the activities of the State Police. The principle to be considered, however, is that every motorist must acquaint himself with the laws pertaining to the operation of motor vehicles in the State of Maryland and knowing them he should endeavor to abide strictly by their dictates. There is no excuse for the speeding maniac who endangers the lives of others on the streets and highways nor for the careless driver who hogs the road or commits some other fault that is apt to result in a serious accident.

For the innocent operator who, while coming down town

after nightfall, has his rear light burn out, there should be some means of handling the case other than by summoning him to court with a possible fine meted out. A reprimand in this instance supplemented by a report of operator's license and registration number to the substation would appear to be a sensible adjustment of the situation. The sending in to the office of the license number would act as a check on the frequency of minor infractions of rules and regulations by any one individual, and would give excellent grounds for a fine in event of consecutive offenses.

However, there are certain violations that are more serious than the mere burning out of a light and yet which do not warrant a fine because the guilty party is a first offender. And here we come to what seems to be the most practical method of law enforcement. The News believes that to the reviewing court of justice should be delegated the supreme authority of either fining a violator or letting him off with a reprimand. Before a competent magistrate should the arguments and findings of both sides be presented and this official should determine the exact extent of guilt and whether or not mitigating circumstances existed in connection with the case.

Summed up, the opinion of The News is that close harmony must be effected between the citizens of the community and the State Police, and that the latter body should boast of a personnel of officers who could be expected to use judgment and tact in their handling of minor offenses while at the same time fulfilling their obligations to the State and its citizenry in the protection of life and property and the enforcement of the motor vehicle laws. It should be the duty of every operator of an automobile to conform to the letter of the law in every respect and to minimize the chances of trivial violations through neglect or indifference. And one of the most important requisites for bringing about a better understanding between the motorists and the State Police is to be found in a magistrate's court where details attending each case would be carefully and impartially reviewed and judgment handed down either in the form of a fine commensurate with the degree of seriousness of the offense or in the nature of a stern reprimand calculated to prevent a repetition in the future.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM AND PUBLIC DISCUSSION INVITED.

The State Police question is an impending one locally and is being widely discussed. What is your idea of a constabulary such as outlined at the meeting of the Rotary Club, an account of which is to be found on another page of this paper.

SHARPTOWN

Walter G. Wright was home Saturday and Sunday from Camden. Mrs. A. J. Owens entertained a number of guests on Sunday, it being the occasion of her husband's birthday. The young people of East New Market gave a very interesting entertainment here on Friday night in the town hall. Few plays have been as well received as it was and those attending were highly gratified. It was well patronized.

Dr. J. A. Wright returned a few days ago from Elliot's Island, where he had forty-seven cases of flu, much of which was very severe, but no deaths reported.

Joseph Walker has resigned as janitor of the Sharptown High School and Elijah R. Bennett has been appointed to succeed him.

William E. Walker formerly of this town is to be manager of the new steam laundry now in course of construction at Cambridge. Mr. Walker for some time has been manager of the Sunshine Laundry at Federalsburg, but has resigned that position to start the laundry at Cambridge.

and Marvel, University of Delaware and Larimore and Duffy, Washington College. The game promises to be fast and snappy. An experienced referee will be brought down from Chestertown thus insuring a well-officiated game.

Following the game, a dance, with a first-class orchestra, will be tendered the visitors and will also be open to the public. The prices for both the game and dance have been placed at such a figure that they are within the reach of everyone.

The staging of this contest here is a new departure, and something which if it pans out successfully, will likely be followed by the seeing in action of collegiate aggregations in not only basketball but baseball as well. Salisbury is recognized as a city which will support clean athletics to the utmost and also as a fertile field for prospective college students and it is just possible that other eastern institutions may follow in the wake of Washington in recognizing the city as an advertising medium through the medium of its athletic teams. The entire Senior Class of Wicomico High, numbering around 100, will be guests of local members of the Washington College Alumni at the game.

WATER SYSTEM AGAIN BEFORE THE PUBLIC

Tentative Plans For Water And Sewerage Discussed By
"City Fathers."

CITY ENGINEER DRYDEN HAS TENTATIVE PLANS

Introduces Program At Monday Night's Meeting After Exhaustive
Study Of City's Requirements—Financing Similar To Washington's Suburban Sanitary District Recommended.

At a meeting of the Mayor and Council Monday evening, Mr. F. H. Dryden, Engineer, presented very fully to that body the inability of the present water supply to furnish adequate fire protection to this city and by using the deficiency scale established by the Underwriter's Association and incorporated in an able report submitted a short time ago by Messrs. Graham Gunby, F. P. Adkins and F. A. Grier, Jr., a citizen's committee, appointed by the Mayor and Council to investigate the present water supply; found on the basis of a conservative estimate, that the citizens of Salisbury are now being penalized by the insurance companies from seven to eight thousand dollars per year on account of the water system, which, together with the hydrant rentals now being paid to the Salisbury Water Co., capitalized at a fair borrowing rate would be equivalent to an investment of $170,000; and two industries alone are paying excess premiums for insurance due to the water supply, representing capital investments of $60,000.

Attention was also called to the fact that over fifty per cent of the territory within the corporate limits is beyond a safe limit for protection from fire by the present small mains of the existing system and from the statistics of the water company only one-third of the population is being served for domestic purposes by this system. As explained by Mr. Dryden the question is no longer one of making out with what we have but an economic problem for the citizens of Salisbury.

Tentative water and sewerage plans have been prepared by Engineer Dryden which co-ordinate the recommendations of Hazen, Whipple and Fuller, Consulting Engineers of New York and those of the Maryland State Department of Health, and which provide for an ultimate construction capable of meeting the future requirements of Salisbury. However, it was recommended that construction should only be made in line with the present needs of the City.

The question of emptying raw sewage into the headwaters of Wicomico River, as is the present practice was discussed and the attention of the Council was called to the investigations made by Hazen, Whipple and Fuller which recommended that within ten or twenty years from the date of their reporting (1916) this procedure would become a nuisance and should be overcome by pumping the sewage to disposal plants located beyond the shipyard. The study of a sewer design shows, however, that the sewage from ninety per cent of the City can be drained by gravity to the proposed out falls, eliminating the expense of pumping and all future construction should be in line with the general plan for sewage disposal. The plans as prepared incorporate most of the existing sewers as a part of the future sanitary and storm water systems.

It was further pointed out that the financing of such a project could be carried out similar to that now employed by the Washington Suburban Sanitary District which has been in successful operation for several years. This District embraces parts of the Counties of Montgomery and Prince George's with an area of ninety-five square miles, with a population of 35,000 which is being furnished up-to-date water and sewer facilities at a cost, including tax rate increase (which is only four cents on the hundred dollars) to the average household for $21.00 per year which might be compared with the present charge of $31.00 per year now being made by the Salisbury Water Company for water only.

Mr. C. W. Miles has resigned from the Cleveland Discount Co., and now is practicing law with his brother.

A CORRECTION.

There appeared in these columns last week an item pertaining to the reorganization of the Cleveland Discount Company. This followed dispatches printed in one of the Baltimore dailies.

We have been advised by authentic sources that some of the statements therein were erroneous and misleading. We have no desire to be unfair or to publish any news not based on facts and we regret that some of our readers might have gained from the article a wrong impression as to the exact status of the Cleveland Discount Company at that time.

STOCKHOLDERS DISCOUNT COMPANY ARE REASSURED

Present Receivership Cleveland Firm
Voluntary In Interest Reorganization—Statement Clarence Miles.

Considerable interest has been manifested in Eastern Shore financial circles over the receivership of the Cleveland Discount Company because of the concern's bonds held in this community. According to the best informed sources, however, the real estate mortgage bonds of the company are in no manner jeopardized or affected by the receivership and it is said holders of same need feel no alarm.

The company is said to be absolutely solvent and in a strong financial condition, the receivership having been voluntary and in the interest of a reorganization.

Clarence W. Miles, former district manager, accompanied by his brother, Hooper S. Miles, spent last Saturday in Cleveland in conference with various officials of the company and counsel for the receivers. They returned entirely satisfied as to the safety of the bonds and expressed the opinion that no bondholders need feel concerned. Mr. C. W. Miles, when seen by a News reporter gave out the following statement:

"My brother and I spent Saturday in Cleveland and talked with a number of well-informed people regarding the present situation. We discussed the matter with Vice-President Flynn, who is the present executive head of the company, former President Kirby, and with counsel for the receivers, two vice-presidents and a number of disinterested parties. All of them assured us that the bondholders can in no way be affected and that the receivership was for the purpose of reorganization and voluntary."

"The company's financial position is strong and the reorganization will be completed by July 1st and the receivership then lifted. There has been given out publicity of a misleading nature in connection with recent developments. Mr. Kirby, particularly, has been referred to unjustly except by the Cleveland papers. Although virtually forced out by certain antagonistic interests, he is devoting his entire time without compensation to aiding the present readjustment. He is still by far the largest individual stockholder in the company and has not offered a share of his stock for sale. Personally I feel that the whole situation will be worked out satisfactorily and, although no longer connected with the company, I expect to keep in close touch with developments and inform local interested parties.

H. S. MILES SELECTED COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

BETTER UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN CITIZENS AND POLICE APPARENT

Talks, Demonstrations And Mutual Exchange Of Views By Rotarians With Captain Williams And His Men Straightens Out Several Misunderstandings

A mutual better understanding between the citizens of Salisbury and the Maryland State Police seems to have been the upshot of a meeting Thursday night of the Salisbury Rotary Club at which were present as invited guests: Deputy Commissioner H. L. Varian, Captain Robert Williams, Lieutenant Peppersack, Sergeant Ekestein and Officer Keller.

Mr. Varian was the first speaker. He is a business man of Baltimore and intensely interested in having the state force put on the same basis as the forces in the states where they have been in existence for a number of years. So vitally interested is Mr. Varian in law and order that he serves without compensation whatever. In a very forceful address he told what he desired to see in the way of a state constabulary; an increase in the number of officers, a more nearly living wage naturally being a higher type of men, the raising of more authority in the force and its creation on a permanent basis where now it is but a provisional measure.

He told of many pieces of good work pulled off by officers of the Baltimore force and at the same time did not attempt to minimize the fact that tact and diplomacy were oftentimes lacking by the men. He said we were weeded out as they were noted. In reply to a question as to whether the state received a commission on each arrest made as it has been currently worked here for some time the official stated that this was the first in which he had ever had of such a thing which he stated was an erroneous impression.

Captain Williams followed Commissioner Varian and presented figures showing what the force has accomplished in the past. He stated that it was his intention to co-operate in any way possible with the various communities in which the men worked and that should be needed here at any time to strengthen out any difficulty a telephone call would reach him and he would respond.

In reply to a suggestion by Controller Gordy that men just starting active duty with the police should go to a community like Salisbury to first study the community before jumping in and making whole arrests for petty violations of the law, Captain Williams stated that instructions to this effect had been issued to the men. Wholesale arrests for technical violations, he stated, were due to the over zealousness on the part of the young officers and were strictly contrary to his teaching.

The officers then put on self defense work which included protection of one's self when covered by a breaking hold, rescue work, wrestling holds and other interesting and instructive features greatly enjoyed by the Rotarians.

Rotarians W. S. Gordy and W. Sheppard commended the officers for the work which they had performed and which had come to their immediate attention, the former citing the recovery for his wife of a piece of jewelry and Mr. Sheppard for the notice change in the driving in summertime over the Ocean City Road the past two years.

From all indications the officers present, who were of a very high type, desire to work in harmony in the various communities of the state and in no manner to persecute citizens by constantly pulling them before a police justice when courteous warning with a record of the fact noted, would suffice. To do this they clearly indicated it was necessary to secure men of a higher type than can be usually procured for $75 or $100 per month which does not include board and lodging. This was the problem confronting them and the main solution seemed, they stated, putting the force on a firm basis with appropriation sufficient to hire more and better men and then to clothe those men with more authority so that their activities might be directed in other channels as well as to the pushing of violations of Maryland's Motor Vehicle Law.

MAY MEET IN DOVER

The Rev. J. W. Colons, D. D., pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church Dover, Del., in response to a request for the coming session of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference to meet in Dover, called officials of his church in council Sunday and placed the matter before them, resulting in a unanimous call for the conference to meet there, beginning April 4. The conference was scheduled for Chincoteague, Va., according to a call extended at the last session, but recently members of the Bishop's Cabinet were notified that it would be impossible to hold the conference at that place. The action of Wesley Church was communicated to Bishop McDowell at once.

Demonstration Patch Planned At Fruitland

Dulany & Sons will Grow Tomato Plants With View Of Increasing Yield Per Acre

A meeting of the growers and canners of Wicomico county was held in the Court House on Wednesday morning of last week. The meeting was opened by County Agent Cobb, who in turn introduced C. S. Dashiell, secretary of the Tri-State Canners' Association, who talked on increasing the yield per acre of tomatoes. Mr. Dashiell announced that $1000 had been appropriated by his organization toward helping defray the expenses of seed beds. Of this amount, $200 goes to Delaware, a like amount to New Jersey, and $600 to this State.

A. D. Radebaugh, county agent of Cecil county, and for years an extensive grower of tomatoes in Hartford county, told of the plant bed demonstration in Cecil county, where the average yield per acre was increased from 3½ tons to 8 tons, and where the yield varied anywhere from 2 to 22 tons per acre. W. R. Ballard, extension vegetable man, also spoke on this phase of farming.

On Thursday evening a meeting at Fruitland under the auspices of J. H. Dulany & Sons, canners, was held, at which was present both Mr. Radebaugh and Mr. Ballard. The generally recognized proposition that something must be done if the tomato industry in this section is to survive again came to the forefront, and the only possible solution seemed to be not more acres of the fruit, but more tons per acre yield.

The Cecil county plan was discussed, after which it was decided that one of these demonstration patches will be grown in Fruitland under the direction of County Agent Cobb and the extension department. The project will be financed by the Messrs. Dulany, who will furnish a man to care for the plant beds.

In the neighborhood of half an acre of plants will be grown. Special attention will be paid to the quality of seed, the setting out, recommendations as to how to prepare the ground, and the proper fertilization. These plants, it is pointed out, can be sold to the growers cheaper than they can be grown otherwise, due to the fact that they will be propagated in large quantities.

INGS AT BEACOM'S TOLD BY REPORTER

Will, Each Week Hereafter, Be Informed Thru The News Of Activities Of Institution

Students of Beacom Business College have at last decided to let the public know more about us than mere advertisements. There is such a school as Beacom Business College.

We are all as busy as can be but we tell you each week something about ourselves. If, at any time, our advertisements are unusually short, you will know we are exceptionally busy.

Just before last we gained and lost a member, Mr. Lloyd Langford, of Baltimore, Md., entered upon the Bookkeeping Course, we are confident that he will like this work. Miss Margaret Langford, having completed the Bookkeeping Course, has returned to Philadelphia.

Shorthand students welcome. Miss Louise Williams, Miss Willa Tamm and Mr. Bowman Watson in the department and wish them good luck.

Twenty-Five Perish in Asylum Fire

Twenty-five persons were trapped in and perished, twenty-two of whom were violent cases, in the fire which destroyed the Manhattan State Hospital for Insane at New York City, Feb. 18. The picture shows firemen in the ruins searching for bodies. Insert shows front of structure after fire.

White asked Virgil Freeny, "What was the difference between an automobile, a sign and a monkey?"

Virgil couldn't her no answer. "Well," said Miss White, "a sign is 'Oh dear,' automobile, 'So dear,' 'What is a monkey?' asked Virgil. 'You dear,' was the reply.

Friday week, held our second social of the week. It was a great success, most of the present students and many of the former ones were present.

A short skit was given by Miss Williams, Miss Holland, Mr. Brown, Mr. Mumford, and Mr. Lang. Miss Williams somewhat resembled Circe who with her magic wand, turned her victims into beasts. Miss Williams had a pity on her visitors and instead of beasts she turned them into future. Mr. Brown, with the aid of Miss Holland, she turned into a table, Mr. Mumford, into a hat rack, Mr. Long, into a chair. But Mr. Lang broke the spell by sitting on the chair which gave way under his weight.

The well known Moose quartet has a rival in the Beacom College quartet consisting of Messrs. Toadvine, Ames, Brown and Cherrix. Their three selections were received with enthusiasm. Miss Reddiah gave us a reading which we greatly enjoyed.

Refreshments were served and then we turned the school into a dance hall.

TO MAKE SALISBURY FAIR A MUTUAL ONE

To Be Known as Salisbury Fair Association, With 19,380 Shares Capital Stock—To Build Up Fair.

It was announced last week that the mutualization of the Wicomico Fair Association is practically assured. The plans for this step have been worked out, and as soon as the necessary papers can be drawn and the approval of the stockholders obtained it will be put into effect.

The idea behind the mutualization is to make all the earnings of the association, after the payment of specified charges, applicable for the building of the fair instead of paying out the same in dividend form. In the proposed plan, the interests of the stockholders are simply taken care of by the issuing of 6 per cent bonds in place of their present stock holdings.

It is believed that the plan will result in building up this fair to a much bigger and better one than was possible with the paying each year of dividends out of the earnings.

Charlotte Rider, Old Colored Mammy Dies

Had Lived With Several Representative White Families In This Section Since Civil War

Charlotte Rider, a typical southern mammy, of the past generation, died at her little home on Happy Alley, this city, February 24, after a short illness. She was born in slavery, almost a century ago, at Quantico, Maryland and has been connected with several representative white families of this community since the Civil War.

Like the Indian, the buffalo, the vast forest tracts and the parities the clan of colored foster mothers has almost disappeared. Without one a southern home, fifty years ago, would have been incomplete. They grew, in service, from strong limbed young womanhood to bent and misshapen old age. In bandana and spotless big aprons they were loyal to master and mistress as a royalty. Their small charges were variable, prince and princess. Charlotte Rider was one of the best of these.

PASTOR RESIGNS

Rev. G. R. Donaldson who has been stationed at Sharptown for three years, tendered his resignation last Saturday to take effect at the Annual Conference in April at Baltimore. One of his members speaking of him said "Rev. Donaldson is a very eloquent preacher, being rated among the very best in the Conference, having served Laurel several years and Mardela, five years, he has a host of friends who will be sorry to see him leave."

Build A New Home

Prospective home-builders will be greatly interested in ideas and materials we offer for use in their building-plans. To build a new house is far more economical than to purchase an old one—then spend a thousand dollars or more in remodeling. Even then the owner has an old house—one that will require more and more attention and expense all of the time.

On the other hand—you can build an entirely new house at a reasonable additional expense. The new house will be as you want it—arranged to suit your tastes and requirements—and it will be a sound, new house for years to come without any additional outlay for upkeep and repairs.

Experts everywhere agree that this spring is the ideal time to build—due to conditions and costs of material and labor.

We are prepared to fill your wants. Ask us to see our home-building plans and aids to builders. An estimate on any of these houses will be a pleasant surprise.

Advertising has made the Victrola dog famous. It has made the cash register a big brother to retailers everywhere. It has produced the world to a substitute for sole leather. It is placing the truck horse with 40 horsepower trucks. It has led you to an appreciation of Stetson hats, Wallaby, Douglas and Emerson shoes. It has made the hand-written letter an oddity in business. It has put hair oil on heads where no hair oil would do and on heads where no hair oil was needed. It has put a stopper down your throat, left bristles in your nose, and then came along with a rubber-set and took them out. It has put a stopper in your teeth.

COURSE OF MONEY
PUZZLES BANKERS

Hesitate To Predict What Rates Will Be In The Immediate Future—Watch Developments

The money market is being watched with more than ordinary interest throughout the country. At the moment it is so full of cross currents that bankers are reluctant to predict. There also is lack of unanimity as to the probable course of rates.

It is agreed that European developments will influence money conditions, but as it is impossible to foresee the outcome of the dispute between Germany and France it is equally impossible to offer a convincing opinion as to whether rates will work toward firmness or greater rates.

Bankers believe a settlement of the Ruhr problem would result in negotiations for numerous foreign loans. At a condition precedent to European stabilization Germany must have a large credit. France will have a deficit this year, making internal and external loans practically certain.

Italy is said to have approached American bankers several weeks ago with a view to obtaining a large credit, and many smaller countries will probably take advantage of the first opportunity to establish a credit in this country.

Such engagements would reduce the lending power of American banks and raise interest rates.

Bankers are agreed on this point but there is a difference of opinion as to the ability of various foreign countries to float loans here. Few have adequate security and American investors cannot be interested in unsecured loans to European governments.

European developments will also have considerable effect on money rates through ability or inability to buy American raw materials and manufactured goods.

One thing is certain, bankers say, American industry and trade are becoming more active and demand for money for domestic trade is increasing.

Iron and steel production is increasing, coal production is going on practically at capacity; building was never more active at this period of the year; railroads are buying equipment; automobile trade is expecting a record business; and banks have charged off a large part of their doubtful loans.

While there are a few bankers who expect comparatively firm money throughout this year it is indisputable that the potential supply of credit is greater than ever before. And, although money rates may not be as easy as some predict, there is not the least possibility of a shortage of funds for any legitimate purpose.

MANURE AND SOIL IMPROVEMENT HINTS

Maintaining The Plant Food Balance In Livestock Farming—Farm Manures Must Be Conserved

According to an Iowa soil specialist, a 1000 pound steer contains the phosphorus equivalent to a 125 pound sack of acid phosphate. A thousand pounds of live pork contains only slightly less than this amount. In the milk of the average dairy cow the equivalent of 70 pounds of acid phosphate is lost annually when the milk is sold from the farm. These figures when multiplied by the number of animals kept, assume great significance, and indicate that even in livestock and dairy farming the fertility of the soil is being depleted.

It has been estimated that a three-year rotation of corn, oats and clover yielding 60 bushels of corn, 60 bushels of oats and 1 1/2 tons of hay, where all the crops are fed and the manure recovered as far as practicable, the loss of phosphorus from a 120 acre farm is equivalent to 3000 pounds of acid phosphate per year. This is, of course, a comparatively small amount as compared with the phosphorus supply of the soil, and on a rich soil it would take considerable time before any evidence of soil exhaustion would appear. These figures, however, assume a greater production and conservation of manure than is practiced on the average farm. The Ohio State has determined that when all crops are fed the amount of manure produced averages 3.34 tons per acre annually. This would make a fair application every four years, but since, on the average, there is only one animal unit for each nine acres of farm land comparatively few farms produce that much manure.

In a survey recently made by the University of Illinois including 224 farm records of one year each, it was found that the average amount of manure recovered annually was 6.6 tons for each dairy cow, and 5.45 tons for each of the work animal units.

In addition to tests for mechanical expertise, knowledge of traffic regulations and automobile limitations should also be required.

It is evident that a program for soil improvement must include the conservation of farm manure and the addition of such fertilizer materials which are being lost from the farm as will prove profitable. For example, at the Ohio Station an average increase over a period of years, of 72 bushels of corn, 33 bushels of wheat, and 6500 pounds of clover hay has been obtained from a ton of acid phosphate used with manure.

It is evident that a program for soil improvement must include the conservation of farm manure and the addition of such fertilizer materials which are being lost from the farm as will prove profitable. For example, at the Ohio Station an average increase over a period of years, of 72 bushels of corn, 33 bushels of wheat, and 6500 pounds of clover hay has been obtained from a ton of acid phosphate used with manure.

Editor A Song Writer Sung to the tune of "Old Oaken Bucket to all delinquent subscribers.

How dear to our heart is the old silver dollar When some kind subscriber presents it to view;

The Liberty head without necktie or collar, And all the strange things which to us seem so new;

The wide-spreading eagle, the arrows below it, The stars and the words and the strange things they tell;

The coin off our fathers, we're glad that we knew it, For sometime or other 'twill come in right well;

The spread-eagle, dollar, the star spangled dollar, The old silver dollar we all love so well."

PEOPLE LIVE LONGER. Five years have been added to our expectation of life since 1901, according to the life tables for 1920, which have just been compiled.

A child born in 1901 was likely to live to be only 49.2 years old; a child born in 1910 could expect to live to be 51.5. Today the new-born baby will probably live to be at least 54.3 years.

Without doubt, American housewives are responsible for much of this improvement. They have agitated for pure milk and have given more and more of it to their children; they have taught their families to eat more vegetables, salads and fruits; they have seen that the children sleep with the windows open, and have kept the houses clean and sanitary. In every movement to wipe out disease they have given active and practical help.

American home-makers are not only producers of life—they are its conservers and strengtheners. From the February Delineator.

TO BEGIN ROAD WORK Those who have occasion to use the Delmar Road will be pleased to learn that the work of putting in the concrete stretch from the railroad tracks at Middle Neck to the city limits will be started in a few weeks now.

District Engineer P. A. Morrison announced this week that construction would be commenced as soon as the freezing weather was over.

TWO INCOMES When John D. Rockefeller was a struggling young bookkeeper in Cleveland he laid the foundation for his now great fortune by putting into operation a very old but positive law of success.

He wasn't satisfied with a $9 per week salary. He naturally wanted more—but he had only one pair of hands—and one head. So he saved AND PUT MONEY TO WORK for him—his savings. Then he had TWO incomes—instead of one.

Two incomes are better than one. Your wage, salary or crop profit may be fine—but when money comes to you in the form of interest—as well as the other—then you are on the road to a comfortable old age.

TODAY is never too late to start a saving account.—It will pay you 3%—here.

SIX PRINCETON PROFESSORS CHOOSE BEST TEN BOOKS FOR COMPANY ON DESERT ISLAND

All Of Them Want Shakespeare, Five Lean To Homer And Four Of Them Must Have The Bible If They Are To Be Happy

"What 10 books would you choose to spend the rest of your life on a desert island?" This question was put to six Princeton professors taken from different departments, and the answers varied widely. All, however, were agreed upon one volume. No island life would be complete without a copy of Shakespeare's works, but no such unanimity could be obtained upon any of the others named. Four professors picked the Bible as the first book they would want for their exile. Six professors who were quizzed were as follows: Dr. Henry Van Dyke, well-known author and diplomat; Murray professor of English literature; Prof. Christian Gauss, chairman of the department of romance languages; Andrew F. West, dean of the Princeton Graduate School; Walter Hall, professor of history and politics; Edward G. Conklin, professor of biology, and Charles W. Kennedy, professor of English.

Five Chose "Odyssey." Homer's "Odyssey" ran Shakespeare a close second in the lists. It was the choice of all save one man, and in five cases it ranked above Shakespeare. Plato's "Dialogues" was selected by three of the men, and was the only other book chosen by more than two professors.

The two who did not choose the Bible were Professors Conklin and Hall. The former picked the Encyclopedia Britannica as his first choice, while Dr. Hall picked the Book of Common Prayer.

There were seven books mentioned which appeared twice on the lists. These were Horace's "Odes," Thackeray's "Henry Esmond," Burton Stevenson's "Home Book of English Verse," Dante's "Divine Comedy," Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," Plutarch's "Lives," and an edition of Wordsworth's poems.

Thirty-Five Books Chosen. The total number of different books included in all six lists amounted to thirty-five. Twenty of them were prose writings, while 15 were works of poetry. Homer was the most ancient author included, while H. G. Wells' "Outline of History" was the most modern volume mentioned in the various lists, being Prof. Conklin's tenth choice. Scott's "Ivanhoe" and Thackeray's "Henry Esmond" were the only two novels mentioned, and both these books were included among the ten chosen by Dean Andrew Fleming West, of the Princeton Graduate College.

Prof. Van Dyke was the only one of the six men who declined to state a complete list of 10 books which he would take with him to the desert island. He remarked that he wished to reserve the choice of four until just before packing up for the journey to the mythical island. The order of his six books, chosen in sequence of their importance, is: The Bible, an edition of Shakespeare, Burton Stevenson's "Home Book of English Verse," an edition of Plutarch's "Lives," Thackeray's "Henry Esmond," and an edition of Wordsworth.

Preferred Encyclopedia. Upon being asked his choice of the ten books for the trip, Prof. Edwin Grant Conklin, head of the biological department at Princeton, immediately said that if he were confined to ten single volumes he would without question take ten volumes of the Encyclopedia Britannica. However, in case he were permitted to take along entire editions, he would choose: First, the Encyclopedia entire; second, Plutarch's "Lives"; third, Plato's works; fourth, Homer's "Epics"; fifth, a complete Shakespeare; sixth, Darwin's works; seventh, Huxley's "Essays"; eighth, Brehm's "Tierleben" (Animal Life); ninth, the works of Mark Twain; and tenth, Wells' "Outline of History."

Dean West, who is the author of many books on the classical languages, stated that his ten selections would be: First, the Bible; second, a complete Shakespeare; third, Homer's "Odyssey"; fourth, Virgil's poems; fifth, Horace's "Odes"; sixth, Milton's poetical works; seventh, Thackeray's "Henry Esmond"; eighth, Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe"; ninth, Augustine's City of God; and tenth, Burton Stevenson's "Home Book of English Verse."

All Ages and Lands. Prof. Charles William Kennedy chose his ten books in accordance with some lines he had written on his latest book of verse, which has recently been published under the title "The Walls of Hamelin." In one of the poems, called "A Homespun Heaven," Prof. Kennedy writes the following lines:

"Upon the walls I'd have a row
Of ten wise, magic books known,
To bring all ages and all lands
Within the stretching of my hands."

The following ten books, according to Prof. Kennedy, would "bring all ages and all lands within the stretching of his hands": First, the Bible; second, Plato's "Dialogues"; third, Homer's "Odyssey"; fourth, Horace's "Odes"; fifth, Dante's "Divine Comedy"; sixth, Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales"; seventh, Spenser's "Faerie Queene"; eighth, Shakespeare's plays; ninth, Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress"; tenth, Browning's poems.

Chose Prayer Book. The most popular lecturer on the Princeton campus, Walter Phelps Hall, who is professor in the department of history and politics, was one of the two men who did not make the Bible his first choice, substituting in its stead the Book of Common Prayer. His second choice was a volume of Shakespeare; third, Homer's "Odyssey"; fourth, Wordsworth's poems; fifth, Kipling's "Collected Verse"; sixth, the Oxford Book of German Verse; seventh, Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress"; eighth, Macaulay's "Historical Essays"; ninth, Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales"; tenth, Trevelyan's "Garibaldi and the Defense of the Roman Republic." The leader of the destinies of the modern language department, which

FORMER SALISBURY MINISTER DOING WELL

Rev. W. P. Taylor, Now At Oxford, Reports A Most Successful Year In New Pastorate

Rev. Wm. P. Taylor, who was pastor for four years of Grace and St. George Churches, of this City, and who has been pastor of the St. Paul's M. E. Church, Oxford, Md., for the past year, reports a most successful year's work. Repairs to Church and Parsonage property have been made at the cost of over $600. The enrollment and average attendance of the Sunday School have been greatly increased. A strong Epworth League and Junior League have been organized. Revival services held in the month of January were most successful. There were many converts, among whom were heads of families and young people of Adolescent age. All of these converts united with the Church. Mr. Taylor was invited at the Fourth Quarterly Conference recently held to return to Oxford for another year.

Oxford is beautiful for situation, surrounded almost by the Choptank and Tread Avon Rivers, 10 miles west of Easton. Train service and steamboat accommodations are excellent. Four trains daily and steamboat three times a week connect from Baltimore weekly. The population of Oxford is 1400—5 Churches, one High School in excellent condition, a new High School will likely be built in the near future. There are 15 stores, one of which is a drug store, two shipyards, and one undertaker. The town also has the convenience of an Ice Plant and Machine Shop. Shipbuilding, oystering, crabbing and fishing are the occupations of the people. The town also boasts a fine Bank. Oxford enjoys the distinction of being the oldest town in Talbot County.

FIRST AID

When a child pinches its finger, hold the hand up and rub it vigorously backward toward the elbow. This will keep the blood from becoming congested and will give quick relief from pain. Continue rubbing for about ten minutes.

When removing adhesive plaster, apply a few drops of oil of wintergreen to the surface of the plaster and wait until the oil has soaked through. It will then come off without the least discomfort to the patient.

Before putting away the hot water bottle blow full of air and screw in stopper. This prevents the sides of the bag from sticking together and roiling.

If your hands perspire a great deal when sewing, keep a small tin of bran in your work basket and rub it into your hands when they become damp. Wipe off the dust with a towel.—From the Match Designer.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney trouble and backache. Cold, vertigo, the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Salisbury woman says:

Mrs. Gordon Hurley, 414 E. Isabella St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy I ever used for kidney complaint and I never miss an opportunity to recommend them. My kidneys were weak and if I overworked or took cold it settled on them, causing such severe backaches I could hardly keep going. Mornings, especially, I felt dull and languid and when I stopped or went up or down stairs I had blinding dizzy spells and almost toppled over. The action of my kidneys was irregular and my night was affected. Doan's Kidney Pills soon rid me of all this trouble. The backaches left and I felt fine."

THIS IS ROTARY'S ANNIVERSARY 1905-1923.

The first Rotary Club was organized in Chicago on Feb. 23, 1905 and in 18 years the membership of Rotary has increased from nineteen active and two honorary members to more than 90,000 members established in thirteen hundred cities of twenty-seven countries of the world. Rotary has passed its adolescent period. It is now coming into its maturity as a world force.

Rotary International By STEWART C. McFARLAND

Rotary International means Rotary the world around. It is an ideal and principle adaptable and applicable to all peoples and races and tongues. It is a principle of action, an emotion of the heart, an idea or ideal of the intellect that will eventually cement humanity into a common brotherhood. It is a golden thread of faith that is helping to knit the ravelled cares of a worried world into a beautiful fabric of understanding. It is the silver lining of hope that all nations will soon behold in the dark clouds that have so long overshadowed the earth. It is a renewal of the prophecy that our swords shall be turned into plowshares and our spears into pruning-hooks. It is the spirit of the Most High made manifest in all our relations. It is an organized and confident expression of the good in humanity that is already confounding the dwellers in the tents of wicked practices. It is the oil of confidence poured over the troubled waters of all our racial, creedal and national prejudices. In essence, it is the heaven that will lighten many other and equally potent organizations and inspire them to give hands and feet to the ideals and principles enunciated by all the great men of the ages. Rotary International means the Golden Rule applied the world around—that whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you do ye even so unto them. Rotary International is the greatest world demonstration of the workableness of the Sermon on the Mount—that it is possible for men to lift their heads into the clouds and to the loftiest gates of idealism and yet forever keep their feet on the rock of common sense. Rotary International postulates a better world in which to live and love and work. Rotary International!

REEDVILLE

Mrs. T. W. Haynie, Mrs. Carlyle Omohundro, and little Miss Mildred Lyell Omohundro, came home Thursday morning after nearly two months in Baltimore. They are all very well again and the little lady is being besieged with visitors who report her the cutest little thing.

Washington's Birthday was observed at this place with about the usual enthusiasm. The People Bank was closed and a few flags were flying. Mr. Dolby, of Norfolk, has been at the Reedville House several days this week.

Mrs. J. A. Rice, of Heathsville, spent part of last week here with her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Moore and family.

Miss Marian Douglas, of Lancaster, a member of the R. H. S. is boarding with Mrs. A. D. Lewis, the balance of the term. Many friends have been in great sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Blackwell, of Sunnybank, whose daughter, Miss Mary Blackwell, has been very ill since last Friday. Miss Mary has been a most popular teacher at Fairfield's High School for several years and was teaching on Friday when she was obliged to give up and take to her bed. Drs. Brooker, Hudson and Crockett have been in consultation. Mrs. W. C. Blackwell, of Sharps, who is a trained nurse, was with the family Saturday and Sunday when Miss Juliette Omohundro, who is with her parents at Lillian, for a little rest, took the case, relieving Mrs. Blackwell who had to return to her home.

The new Sanitary Grocery Shop in the Reedville Co., Inc., building is a beautiful place, all snow white in color and complete in every way. Mr. Hiram Crowell, is in charge and we are wishing him success.

Mr. R. B. Moore and Mrs. S. Clyde Haynie, of the Palmer and Moore Co., here, were in Fredericksburg last week attending some meeting of Auto dealers.

Mrs. Bettie Harding, of Holly Dell, Wicomico, is visiting Mrs. J. C. Fisher at the Gables, this week. She is just returning home from a most pleasant and interesting stay in Wilmington, Del., with her grand-sons.

Mr. C. L. Gaskins, of Tranquility, has been on the sick list the past week. The Willing Circle met with Miss Miriam Williams, near Tibitha, last Friday night for a large attendance and a very interesting meeting was reported. Games were played and refreshments served.

The extreme cold and windy weather of the past week has been hard on the trappers and very little work has been done. A few snakes have been driven. Capt. Charles Hixon, always an early bird has two traps out and has been catching fish. A few shad and quite a few herring have been on sale.

Mr. John R. Hinton has been on the sick list the past week.

Mrs. Dudley W. Pennington and Dudley W., Jr., of Chicago, are spending some time with Mrs. Elias W. Edwards and family at Fleeton. Mr. Pennington came on to Baltimore and was there for a week during the illness of Capt. Elias W. Edwards, but had returned to Chicago before his death.

Influenza, grip or what ever it is which has been sweeping the country has reached Reedville and vicinity, to our sorrow. Many school children are sick at this time, none seriously, as yet. At Fairport whole families are in bed and our physicians are going day and night, nurses are in demand and not nearly enough to go around.

MARDELA SPRINGS

The many friends of Mr. Robert G. Robertson will be sorry to learn of his serious illness. At 4 A. M. on Sunday he had a fall and has not, at this writing, regained consciousness. His sons, Harlan and Clarence, of Pocomoke, were sent for and are still at the home of their parents.

Mrs. Paul Conway and little daughter, Ruth, spent Tuesday last as the guests of the Misses Wright.

Mrs. Lizzie Evans, of Hillsboro, spent last week-end as the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Cheezum.

The M. P. Aid Society met last Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Edley.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."

As for us, we use the paint-year-stick, because we have found out that length of service is the real measure of paint value.

Truck Crop Conference Farmers Five Counties Held Here On Last Wednesday

Standardization of Products And The Linking Together Of Section—Which Grows Practically Same Commodities—Into One Organization With Central Packing Plants Extensively Discussed—Caroline, Dorchester, Wicomico, Somerset And Worcester Represented

A Regional Conference of truck growers of five counties, Caroline, Dorchester, Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset, was held in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms on Wednesday last starting at 10 A. M. The meeting was sponsored by the extension Department, University of Maryland, and worked up by the County Agents: W. C. Thomas, Caroline; Denton; E. I. Oswald, Worcester; Snow Hill; C. Z. Kellar, Somerset; Princess Anne; E. W. Montell, Dorchester; Cambridge and George R. Cobb, Wicomico, Salisbury.

About 30 representative truck growers from these counties were in attendance when the meeting was called to order by F. B. Bomberger, Marketing Specialist and Asst. State Director, College Park. The purpose of the gathering was to decide how the counties represented—which grow practically the same kind of crops—might co-operate or pool their interests and in such manner receive recognition by the trade.

Representatives of each county reported what the marketing problems which confronted their section were, of past experiences and their recommendations for the future. After trying three marketing methods, representatives from Somerset stated that their county had gotten pretty well straightened out on this source by using the Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce Exchange and from Worcester came a somewhat similar message which was to the effect that it was getting along nicely through the medium of that exchange together with the Peninsula Produce Exchange. A. K. Austin, president of the Dorchester County Farmers Association, stated that their method of outlet had been the American Fruit Growers Inc. and the shipping on consignment by individuals. Especially was the latter the case around Cambridge, said Senator W. W. Byrne, due to the fact that not enough truckable products were grown in that vicinity to warrant the attention of buyers. Caroline and Wicomico speakers also told of the difficulties which had been experienced in the shipping of produce in their respective counties.

Prior to the meeting each county agent had sent a report of the stuff shipped out to headquarters, where it had gone, etc., and the Washington and College Park officials had, in turn, written to the firms receiving goods for frank statements on their condition and suggestion for the future. These were read by S. B. Shaw, State Extension Horticulturist. Boston reported no standard pack. Pittsburg, majority sweets ungraded, cukes good until near end of season, loupes practically always below standard; strawberries poorly graded for past three or four years; New York loupes not graded enough.

A general discussion was gone into as to what could be done and it was generally agreed that co-operative marketing was the only remedy. This it was pointed out would be a slow process and would have to be worked up gradually with frequent meetings such as this one. One organization, with central packing plants where proper grading and packing can be done, seemed to be the need according to opinions expressed. Indications are that such an organization will be formed finally which will probably include the lower part of Caroline, the counties of Dorchester and Wicomico, with probably the upper part of Somerset. Another meeting will be held shortly in Cambridge of representatives from those counties to decide on what shall be done this year 1923 in furthering a project of this character. Victor Dean, president of the Federal Fruit and Produce Association, told of the community packing shed which his organization operated in 1922. Not a single complaint was registered, said Mr. Dean, with this system by the shippers last season. Oscar L. Morris, president of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce, told of the Tilghman plan for the loupes growers of this county to be tried out this year.

C. M. Freeman, Secretary of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce spoke on the finding of a better financing scheme for the farmers from local sources. C. C. Gelder, Princess Anne, president of the Somerset Farmers Association and a member of the State Board of Agriculture; Frank Cline, director of Wicomico Farmers Association; Grant Sexton, secretary-treasurer Wicomico Farmers Association; W. T. Gardner, traffic expert local Chamber of Commerce; J. E. Ellegood, director Wicomico Farmers Association; and Morris Adams, Princess Anne were the other speakers.

Representatives from the various counties were: Caroline—Victor Dean, Federal Board and County Agent Thomas; Dorchester—A. K. Austin, J. L. Read, County Agent Montell; W. W. Byrne, Worcester—County Agent Oswald, E. E. Nock, Arch Holway, and Messrs. Dukes and Timmons. Somerset—County Agent, Kellar, C. C. Gelder, F. M. Kline, Morris Adams, Guy Lewers, B. Baumgartner and M. P. Hickman. Wicomico—W. M. Cooper, E. Ellegood, Frank Brown, H. L. Van Horn, Oscar L. Morris, Grant Sexton, W. T. Gardner, Charles Truitt, C. M. Freeman and County Agent Cobb.

APPLES FOR THE HOME ORCHARD

There are thousands of small places in almost every State in the Union which are now barren of fruit, where a few apple trees could be grown as well as not.

In fact, the apple can be grown to advantage almost anywhere because, in addition to the fruit it yields, it is one of the most ornamental of flowering trees when in bloom in the spring, and makes an ideal shade tree during the heat of summer. The hard who sang so feelingly of his boyhood days "in the shade of the old apple tree" was thinking of the tent of coolness which he found there, hot of the stolen—and therefore double delicious—half-ripened fruit, from which he probably got his first colic.

One of the things which has been a big factor in bringing the small orchard into its own, is the development of efficient hand-powered spraying equipment. In the old days, apples grew without spraying. Then came the San Jose scale, and a score of other insects and new diseases, and the growing of fruit became more and more difficult. But the next step was the development of adequate means of controlling these various pests.

For a while this was of much greater advantage to the big commercial grower than it was to the home fruit grower, because elaborate equipment was necessary to apply them properly.

Today, however, there are many small hand sprayers and dusters, and thoroughly tested materials to use in them, which makes it possible to take care of even half a dozen trees with so little expense and inconvenience that any one can do it.

Some owners deny themselves the great pleasure of having home-grown apples because they have somewhere got the idea that they will have to "wait forever" for the "fruits of their work."

This is not the case. Strong trees, if well cared for, will generally bear a few fruits the third or fourth year after planting, and there are a number of extra early bearing varieties, such as Stark Delicious, and some others, which will frequently bear a number of fruits the second or third year after planting.

A few dozen apples during the second or third year after planting might not be looked upon as a matter of any great importance by the commercial grower, but they are certainly important to the home owner who naturally is impatient to sink his teeth into the first apple of his own growing. And, incidentally, it does not take very many apples, at the price which one pays for them retail, to pay back the original cost of the tree.

Practically everybody uses apples these days, and it is good business to put part of the money you are paying out right along for this fruit into a few good trees. With reasonable care they will very quickly repay their cost and even a few trees may be the source of considerable profit. There are frequent instances where from $25 to $50 worth of fruit has been taken from single young trees. Of course, the home owner is not growing fruit primarily for profit, as what he is most interested in is plenty of fruit to eat and keep for the winter; but if he has half a dozen or a dozen fruit trees that are bearing several barrels each, it is not possible for the home demand to keep up with the supply.

In ordering apple trees for the home orchard, the best rule is to get trees of a kind are usually sufficient. The object, of course, is to get some apples as early as possible in the summer for eating and cooking, and to have them from then on through to the last late winter-keeping varieties. Some of the good standard varieties that succeed in most parts of the country are as follows:

Summer: Early Harvest, Wilson Red June.

Autumn: Gravenstine, McIntosh Red.

Late Autumn: Snow, Hubbardstown, Pound Sweet, Wealthy.

Winter: Spitzenberg, Delicious, Winesap, Jonathan, Baldwin, Roxbury Russet.

There are some who have limited space around their homes who have never planted apples because they thought they did not have room. Usually, what they picture in their minds as an apple tree is something like the plants of the old-fashioned apple orchard, growing forty or fifty feet into the air and nearly forty feet wide.

All of the standard varieties of apples may be had on either dwarf or semi-dwarf stock. These can be planted as close as ten to eighteen feet apart, so you can see how little space is necessary for half a dozen or a dozen trees.

Keep in mind that while the trees are dwarf, the apples are "full sized"—just as big and just as good as they grow on the biggest trees. The dwarf has another pleasing quality, and that is they come into bearing much sooner than the "standard" trees.

In addition to this, they can be looked after much more conveniently in the matter of pruning, spraying, etc. These little trees have made fruit possible for many a home where there would not be room for the full-sized trees. The only reason they are not grown much more widely than they are is because people do not know about them or seem to not realize that they are a real practical proposition.

PLANT PESTS COST COUNTRY BILLIONS

Loss by Boll Weevil Brought From Mexico, Would Pay National Debt—73 in Rogues' Gallery.

Dope peddlers, bootleggers and diamond smugglers have odd schemes to fool Uncle Sam's sharp-eyed men. But their ways do not cost the taxpayer nearly so much as the plant pests that slip into the country. The figures show that the taxpayer is paying tribute to plant pests at the rate of about two billion dollars a year, the American Nature Association says, therefore, it will be seen just how important the plant policeman's job is.

Just as the metropolitan police departments tabulate all the "dope" on a lawbreaker, there is a "rogue's gallery" of the plant world. The Atlantic States know what the chestnut blight and the white pine blister rust have done. The country knows the South's experience with the boll weevil. One of the original enemies to be brought to this land from Europe was the Hessian fly, which came in straw the soldiers used to bed their horses. That fly still costs the country the price of the Revolutionary War every year because of what it does to wheat.

Introduced from Mexico, the boll weevil has cost the cotton growers of the South enough to pay off the national debt.

A 100,000,000-acre corn crop is annually exposed to a dozen destructive diseases, most of which wormed their way into America from foreign fields. The last to appear is the European corn borer. This far science has made no headway in exterminating this pest. The best it can do is to strive to limit the area attacked.

The bootlegger's most approved system of marketing his wares cannot possibly "cover the territory" as the gypsy moth has done. A professor at Harvard University some years ago was experimenting with all kinds of silk worms and cultures of gypsy moths, trying to develop a variety of silk worms which would resist this noxious disease. A gust of wind blew several cultures through his laboratory window. Shortly thereafter the gypsy moth became a destructive pest in Massachusetts, and now extends its depredations over more than 20,000 square miles of American territory. The American Nature Association says this pest accomplishes as much as much economic damage as the annual fires, which constitutes one of the most serious menaces with which we have to contend.

The dope peddler does nothing more clever than the brown-tail moth, which came from Holland or France in shipments of roses. The Japanese beetle came to our shores on imported Japanese iris plants. The San Jose scale has rendered fruit production prohibitive in some parts of the United States, and costs more than $10,000,000 a year.

All fruit, seed or plant products that are found to be diseased are either destroyed or else rendered practically sterile by thorough fumigation. Along the Mexican border Uncle Sam maintains great fumigating cars to run inside at a time. In this way all the cotton and cotton seed that comes from Mexico is rendered harmless so far as the distribution of objectionable diseases is concerned.

PARIS FASHION LETTER TELLS OF STYLES NEXT SUMMER WILL BRING

On the Riviera it is spring—in deed, for four hours during the middle of the day it is almost summer, though after the setting of the sun one must put on warm wraps. Thus the daily progress of the sun and long Mediterranean shadows regulate the "changes" of both the chic and the sensible woman.

No one ever enlightens the untutored regarding what to take to wear on the Riviera. No wonder, either; the process would be too elaborate, and more than that, any person who could so enlighten one would have to be a prophet. Hence most of us go down for the first time to Nice or Cannes or Monte Carlo, confident by expecting to "get by" with our last summer's "duds," supplemented by a few sport things, only to find ourselves, after our arrival, feeling quite shabby and "out of it." Over-night from Paris, it appears we have been transplanted to what seems a new epoch in woman's fashion.

For here it is, on the Riviera, that the "great ones" of the creators of Paris fashions try out and "launch" their summer styles, particularly in sport clothes and in all those fanciful accessories that so often become "fads" for a season at our summer resorts. Many of the leading Paris couturiers, such as Molyneux, Jeanne Lavin, Poiret, and others, have luxurious little salons at Cannes or Nice. They have so anticipated the discomfort of those of us who arrive not knowing the demands of the climate or the fashion that a new, up-to-the-minute wardrobe may be acquired in short order, a wardrobe which, needless to say, will supply all our wants for toute le journee.

The perspicacious American woman who is returning to the States in the spring may well invest in any amount of the lovely new sport things on sale here, in the secure knowledge that at Newport or any other of our smart summer colonies she will be not only a lap ahead of most of the styles to be seen there next July, but also perfect—a la mode the following summer.

This year in particular this will be the case, since the newest and loveliest of the things at Cannes, now the most exclusive of the Riviera resorts, employ such quantities of hand-embroideries in their Rumanian, Persian and Russian designs and colorings, and since many of the materials of which sport dresses and jackets are fashioned are woven on hand looms, only a limited number of such articles can be turned out during one season.

The newest fabrics for next summer's sport dresses and suits are bouclé de soie, a lovely new variety of silk tulle with a slightly rough and crinkly surface, and toile de laine, a woven material which resembles unbleached linen. Most of the white materials have that "crisp" linen touch; this season, the cream and white is simply the "rage"—probably because it makes the most attractive background for all the new colorful embroideries. At present Rumanian embroidery is the first favorite, and its possibilities are given full scope on short knitted sport jackets of wool or silk.

These little "jackets" are the piece de resistance of the Riviera collection and are already enormously popular, since they may be worn all day for golf or the morning promenade, yet are so stunning models, they may be worn to the Casino for the dancing in them. They always just cover the tops of the hips and are invariably fastened a trifle to the left side of the throat. Frequently they have small, straight-standing collars, much like those in a Russian peasant's jacket. Sometimes they are unbelted and flare out a little, but more often they are drawn tightly about the hips at the bottom and fastened with one or two large buttons. When the latter is the case, the front is always flat and straight, while the back blouses out a little at the waist, thus creating a very attractive silhouette. Often, also, these jackets are solidly embroidered in vegetal silk or wool—sometimes in a combination of both—again combining many gay colors. Their colors, however, are never crude. Sport skirts, formed entirely of tiny pleats, are worn with such jackets, and there is always a small hat embroidered to match.

Let me point out here that all who wish to be really chic in their next summer's costume must also have hats to match their sport suits and dresses. Oth in material and trimming the matching must be complete, and the trimming, of course, ought to be "Near East" embroidery of some sort.

In solid colors green is by far the most popular, and they are even dipping monkey fur and rabbit fur in the green color pot in order to make novel colors for the new green velvet and silver-green tissue evening wraps. Bangkok straw hats are very fashionable when dyed bright apple green and embroidered with chenille or wooden fruit. Bangkok seems a very light-weight sort of Panama. Light as a feather chenille and crinoline hats are likewise much worn. Usually the chenille is a tone darker than the crinoline, and no trimming is needed except a little bouquet or ribbon cockade at the back of the hat.

The cloche hat will persist in shading milady's eyes next summer, say the modistes. In spite of this, however, I have a "hunch" which I can hardly dare express that the cloche will later on develop a close resemblance to that old "peach basket" hat which was so much the vogue back home 12 or more years ago. Remember it?

At all events, whether I am a good prophet or not, American girls are certainly going to love the tiny crocheted-in-four-tones hats, with their matching sweaters and scarfs, of which Chanel makes a specialty at Cannes.

Do you remember our prediction about the little cape suit that a young friend chose for the Riviera some weeks back? We were right in choosing it. Capes are back, stronger than ever, especially the little circular shoulder capes, which come just to the hips and give a sense of graceful relief to the slim tight-at-the-hips chemise gowns, whose decoration they are.

The silhouette of all the new summer things on the Riviera seems straighter and more severe than ever. But we shall see what the Paris spring openings say about that next week.—By Julie Beauregard, Baltimore Sun.

A STRANGE THING IS FEMININE CONTOUR

Puzzling This Spring, But Charming And With A Mode For Every-body—Styles Remain Simple

For 't that, an' 't that A man's a man for 't that

—Robert Burns.

But, what about a woman? Oh, yes, if one goes back to the days of the bustle and hoop-skirt and "a" that one might be able to put the proper label and tag on the female of the species. But now, to put it in the vernacular, try and do it. There goes a figure down the street. Knickers, golf socks, tweed hat with a tiny red feather—what is it? No, with the newest importations of sports suits, hats, oxfords and scarves, there's no telling who's who.

Even from Paris—Paris where women are supposed to wear only the most clinging and graceful of feminine models, come the latest developments of fashion. One simply must look sportsmanlike to be in style. Scotch plaids of the largest checked variety with circular capes are shown. Half length coats and hip length jackets are in the collection. "Tweeds and homespuns in suits and capes—anything mannish—is the prevailing mode for the coming season," declared one designer. "With them we are showing as the newest thing the white tailored blouses of silk, pleated or chain, with the smart high collars. For early spring tailored suits with capes to match are thrown over them will be worn.

"Suits for this season? Well, there are several different designs. Of course, the dark blue fitted, tailored models are always good. And the fitted suits will be worn to some extent. But the loose, short jacket is in the ascendency certainly. Many of the suits are bound in braid and many are blocked and decorated by various shades of their own color.

"Light suits of tans and dull greens are being shown for spring, with creams and white for summer.

"The vogue for brilliant, highly colored dresses seems to have taken the fashion world by storm. Even when white dresses are shown they are piped with bright colored silks in green, turquoise, coral and cerise. Pleated skirts—not the accordion pleated but knife pleated—are going to be worn by all indications. Many of these are in white with a brilliant jacket of some popular shade and the edge of the skirt bound with the same color. Pleating is not only being used in skirts but in sections in skirts, panels and sleeves.

"Suit skirts remain narrow and of a reasonable walking length. But in separate skirts to be worn with blouses the circular pleating is used. Jean Paton uses the circular skirt in a novel way by placing only an insert of the circular movement to one side of the front.

"Uprightness is the chief characteristic of the evening gown for early spring and summer. The waist is fitted basques, with the long skirt gathered full. For afternoon dresses for warm weather the same style reveals in organdies and lins. Printed organdies will be used and underbodies of brilliant colorings will peep through drapes of white materials. Styles remain quite simple throughout, however, and contrasting colors are the chief claims to decoration."

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Greasy paint or woodwork should be cleaned with a cloth dipped in turpentine and then wiped with a cloth dipped in clean water to which a little kerosene has been added.

Prolong the life of your new broom by soaking it in strong salt water before using.

Before staining or varnishing an old floor which is scarred, mix putty with a darker stain, fill in the crevices or knotholes and varnish over. The result will be surprising.

If a glazed jug, pitcher or crock becomes rough or coated from water standing in it, a lemon solution made of the juice and rind cut and put in water and left for a day or two will clean it and make it as bright as new.

Adhesive plaster put on the underside of a cut in a piece of olefin will prevent the rent from spreading. Marks on paint made by scratching matches can be removed by rubbing with a cut lemon.

To sharpen a paring knife, draw the edge of the knife quickly over the neck of a crock.

Leather furniture lasts much longer and looks better if rubbed occasionally with castor oil. Rub in well.

When putting anything very hot into glass jars or tumblers, put a silver spoon in too. It will prevent them from cracking.

Use modeling clay to stop a leak in a water pipe. The clay will not harden and fall off as putty does and it lasts for years.—March Designer.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Nothing So Good for a Cough or Cold

"Everyone who has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy speaks well of it," writes Edward P. Miller, Abbotstown, Pa. "People who once use this preparation are seldom satisfied with any other. It is excellent to allay a cough or break up a cold.—Adv't."

LADY FIRES AT BURGLAR LAST SUNDAY

Miss Ida Lord Repulses Attempt To Break Into Her Room Above Store.

ATTEMPTED ENTRANCE SECOND STORY ROUTE

Dwellers in Same Building Had Heard Suspicious Noises Upstairs Earlier In Evening—Case Similar In Some Respects To That At Lloyd Home
On Newton Street.

The presence of mind of Miss Ida Lord, proprietress of the Smart Shop, Main Street, early Sunday morning when she thwarted the endeavors of a man in breaking into her apartment by discharging a pistol at him saved what might have proven a recurrence of the Lloyd episode of last week. Miss Lord, who occupies the second floor apartment just above her place of business with her sister having been away on business. Somewhere around five o'clock she was awakened by a noise on the upper back porch which is enclosed by mosquito netting just in time to see the figure of a man climbing over the railing. Hastily grabbing a revolver which she had lying beside the bed, Miss Lord fired at the man through the window which was up just a little way. The bullet struck the man and he fell wild.

Miss Lord then rushed into her living room and locking the door behind her phoned for the police. Officers Cahall, Sullivan and Furness soon arrived on the scene but the would be burglar had made his getaway. Several things connected with the occurrence might lead one to believe the party or parties the same as those in the Lloyd case. Miss Lord, like Miss Lloyd was unable to discern whether the man was white or black but she did notice he wore a cap. One of Miss Lloyd's attackers also wore a cap. The method of entry in both cases was similar—second story work.

A family named Wallace, which occupy the second story apartment opposite that of Miss Lloyd, say they heard whispering just before the noise was heard but they could not have been two men in this case.

This is the third time within a week that persons living in this building have suspected that unlawful entry was being attempted. A week ago Monday, Mrs. L. C. Mitchell thought she heard someone attempt to open the door of her living room but the party got away before she was able to get out. Saturday night, a few hours before the attempt to get into the back porch, a suspicious noise upstairs carried L. C. Mitchell and his brother upstairs but no one could be located.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS TO GET BACK HER CHILD

Drags 11-Year-Old Thelma White
Into Taxi and Flees to Delaware, but is Caught.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on last Thursday by Mrs. Walter White, of Wilmington, Del., to carry back with her to that city little Thelma White, who when an infant of but a few months was taken from her because of abandonment.

About three years ago the father died and Thelma was adopted by an uncle, William C. White and since has made its home with another uncle, Charles White. Mrs. White is said to have called at the Camden school on Wednesday morning for the child, saying she was its mother. The youngster was very reluctant to go, and the teacher refused the request.

Thursday Mrs. White waited on Smith street, in Camden, with a taxi cab and kidnapped the child, dragging her, screaming, into the auto, and fled. Persons seeing the unusual happenings notified the school authorities and police officials, and Sheriff Farlow set out in pursuit.

The abductor was overtaken at Laurel, Del., just before the arrival of the train which she was to take for Wilmington. The child was taken away from her and brought back here.

"BULLDOG DRUMMOND" COMING TO ULMAN'S

Movie House To Show One Of The Greatest Melodramas Of Year
Featuring Carlyle Blackwell.

Lovers of a real thrilling, throbbing melodrama will be more than satisfied with the photoplay, "Bulldog Drummond," which comes to Ullman's on March 13 and 14.

The story deals with a demoralized army captain who finds life outside the trenches monotonous and uninteresting. In order to get a real kick out of life he inserts an ad in the paper offering his services to anyone who can supply him with the necessary thrill.

He receives an answer to his ad from a beautiful young girl whose uncle is forced to do the bidding of a disreputable gang of super-criminals. Just how "Bulldog Drummond" overcomes the gang and rescues one of their victims and wins the heart of the girl forms a thrilling and exciting photodrama.

PA. MAN CANNOT DO WITHOUT THE NEWS

Mr. C. L. Kepple, of Leechburg, Pa., a wholesale and retail fruit broker of that place, was in Salisbury on Tuesday. While here he stopped in the office of The News to pay the subscription of his brother who is also a resident of the Keystone State and to renew same. Although never a resident of this section, the brother made an auto trip through here two years ago and, liking the country, subscribed to the paper which he expressed his desire to continue owing to the fact that he liked the agricultural articles carried therein.

MARCH TERM COURT OPENS NEXT MONDAY

Large Criminal Docket Will Occupy Attention Of Grand Inquest.

JOHN WILLIAMS TO BE PRESENTED FOR MURDER

Disposition of Cases Will Require Entire Two Weeks, With Possibility That A Special Term May Be Necessary If There Are Many Removed Cases Docketed.

The Circuit Court for Wicomico County which convenes on Monday next faces a very large docket and the whole two weeks will be consumed with a possibility of a special term later on. Although the docket has not been completely made up, it contains the following cases: Appearances, 34; civil appeals, 2; trials, 99; criminal appearances, 4; criminal continuances.

As is the usual custom, the removal cases are not entered on the docket until shortly before the opening of court, so as to give the parties disputing chance for a compromise or settlement. There are a number of cases to come up at this court of shipwreck of perishable commodities against carriers for alleged delay in transit.

A civil suit for $20,000 damages growing out of the killing of Henry Stanford, a Fruitland negro, by John Williams, another colored man, has been filed by the family of the deceased.

There are about 20 prisoners confined in the county jail awaiting the spring house cleaning which is done by the verdicts brought in at the March term of court. Most of the prisoners are colored.

On Monday State's Attorney Curtis W. Long made up his docket of persons already apprehended and either held in jail for the action of the grand jury or released under bond for their appearance. Twenty-four persons are included, and this docket also includes a "Pink Case" which is considered a "very large one." If this will be tried against these parties they will face trial at the March term.

One murder case, that of John Williams, the Fruitland negro charged with slaying Henry Stanford, of his own race will be something less than a dollar was taken by the burglars. Although gone through, valuable papers belonging to Mr. Lloyd were not molested. The intruders were very bold, it appears, inasmuch as a half-smoked cigarette was found on Mr. Lloyd's desk.

Miss Lloyd was sleeping on the summer porch when attacked, and it is believed that entrance to the house was gained in this manner, the thugs evidently not knowing the porch, which was screened in on two sides, was being used for sleeping purposes. Upon being discovered, it appears, they resorted to the above means to carry out their intent.

A WILMINGTON PAPER LAUDS "CAPPY RICKS"

Says Play Which Is to Be Presented Monday Night by Bethesda Class Scored Big Hit.

Everybody likes a good, clean comedy, and the well-known play "Cappy Ricks" which is to be given in the Arcade Monday evening, March 12, promises to be one of the best attractions ever given in Salisbury.

"Cappy Ricks" first appeared in story form in the Saturday Evening Post, and the Salisbury public will remember this comedy when it appeared here on the screen. The story was dramatized and made a great hit in New York. It has recently been featured on the Swarthmore circuit, and probably made a greater success than any other play given by the Chautauqua association.

The following is a press notice that recently appeared in the Wilmington Journal:

"An audience of more than 700 people witnessed the Swarthmore Chautauqua players' presentation of the sparkling comedy success 'Cappy Ricks' last night in the opera house at Newport. The play that ran for 269 nights on Broadway was enthusiastically received and scored a tremendous hit."

"Cappy Ricks" was well played by a clever company, and the antics of the irascible old sea dog brought laughter and merriment to the children as well as to the grown-ups. It is a typical American play; clean, wholesome, teeming with comedy situations.

"To John A. Regan, as 'Cappy' belongs the lion's share of commendation. His clever acting and numerous witticisms add greatly to the success of the play. It would be too much to try to tell all the splendid points of the cast, but let it suffice to say that the comedy was one of the best acted and most appreciated plays that has ever been presented on the Chautauqua stage since its inauguration in the city several years ago."

MISS LLOYD FOUND TIED AND GAGGED

HOUSE RANSACKED BUT LESS THAN $1 TAKEN

Unprecedented Daring Exhibited as One Thug Calmly Goes Through Home of O. Stoughton, Newton Street, While Other Stands Guard Over 18-Year-Old Daughter.

To accomplish the purpose upon which they were bent—that of robbery—two thugs some time between midnight Thursday and Friday morning committed an act unprecedented in the annals of Salisbury when they bound hand and foot and gagged into unconsciousness Miss Lillian Lloyd, 18-year-old daughter of O. Stoughton, prominent produce broker of this city, residing on Newton street.

When first discovered by Mrs. Lloyd the young lady appeared to be dead, and it was generally supposed that a murder had been committed, but upon closer examination it was revealed that there were signs of life. Doctors Dick and Tait were hastily summoned to attend the patient. It is said that no criminal assault was perpetrated. The authorities were at once called into the case and an investigation started. At the instigation of States Attorney Long a detective arrived in Salisbury on Friday night, being assigned to the case by Governor Ritchie.

The house was ransacked from top to bottom, yet something less than a dollar was taken by the burglars. Although gone through, valuable papers belonging to Mr. Lloyd were not molested. The intruders were very bold, it appears, inasmuch as a half-smoked cigarette was found on Mr. Lloyd's desk.

Miss Lloyd was sleeping on the summer porch when attacked, and it is believed that entrance to the house was gained in this manner, the thugs evidently not knowing the porch, which was screened in on two sides, was being used for sleeping purposes. Upon being discovered, it appears, they resorted to the above means to carry out their intent.

CHILD WELFARE CLINICS PLANNED FOR 3 TOWNS

Mardela, Delmar and Parsonsburg
May Have These Health Centers
If Plans Of Red Cross Bear Fruit

Three child welfare clinics are being planned by the nursing committee of the Red Cross and it is hoped to have all of them under way very soon. At Mardela Springs the work is being taken up by the Woman's Club and the first clinic will be held March 16 at the home Mrs. A. R. Armstrong. A physician's services will be obtained to examine the babies. Miss Kell will advise the mothers on the care of the children, and Miss Florence Mason, home demonstrator, will be in charge of the nutrition work.

The second clinic is to be held at Delmar, where the plans are being formulated by Mrs. W. W. Smith and a committee of women. They will provide a room and all equipment and the Red Cross will give the services of its nurse.

It is hoped that Parsonsburg also will undertake a clinic. The Woman's Club there has discussed the matter and on Thursday night Miss Kell and Miss Mason will meet with them to perfect plans.

Because of inclement weather the regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association of Wicomico High School was postponed Tuesday evening and will be held on Monday night, March 12th.

SPORT LOVERS PREPARING TO STORM ARMORY

Double Basketball Struggle Here Friday Night Will Attract Crowds.

COLLEGIATE CHAMPIONS PROVE A DRAWING CARD

Fast Washington College Quint Will Strike Formidable Opposition In All-Star Five—Wicomico High
Meets Cambridge High In First
Setto—Fans From All Over Shore Coming.

What promises to be the sporting event of the season for Salisbury is scheduled to take place Friday night at the local Armory. After negotiating with authorities of Washington College for sometime, arrangements have finally been completed by local interests for a basketball contest between the champion Chestertown aggregation and a quint of stars selected from the strongest independent teams on the Peninsula.

In addition to this big encounter, the rival fives of Wicomico High School and Cambridge will make the fur fly in a preliminary fracas starting at 7:30 o'clock. The main attraction will begin at 8:15 and will be refereed by Mr. Wingate, a veteran basketball enthusiast from Chestertown.

Fans all over the Peninsula have signified their intention of witnessing this twin basketball card at the Armory and arrangements have been made to take care of about 1,000 people. It is estimated that about half of this number will come from other towns. A large number of admirers of the University of Maryland's star center man, are planning to be on hand to root for the Worcester athlete.

Coach Kibler is bringing to Salisbury his entire squad of 12 players but will put on the floor at the first call of the whistle the combination of guards which won for the Chestertown institution the State Championship and also the reputation of being one of the outstanding basketball teams in the whole East. Before their smooth play, Dickinson fell in easy style although it had conquered the much praised court representatives of the University of Pennsylvania.

Led by Bill Duffy, one of the best athletes ever turned out at Washington College, the All-Stars will present a line-up of former stars from various colleges. Larmon, another Washington veteran will cavort around in the forward positions along with Lynam, who has won a National title and a wonderful season at Cambridge. A strong defense will be built around a pair of guards that were members of the famous Delaware University quint that defeated New York in two successive years. Krahe, who hails from Queens, York, Pa., League and who has been displaying wonderful form for the Seaford aggregation may also be seen in action on Friday night. He is said to be one of the best players that ever romped around on Peninsula courts and in his Gordy days he was a master at the center position.

Much interest has also been aroused over the high school encounter and a big delegation is expected over from Cambridge to back that town's team when it stacks up against the rival Salisbury quint. However supporters of the local boys will not be found lacking as most of the high school students are planning to be there with bells on that night and the whole Senior Class will attend as the guests of the local alumni organization of Washington College members of which will also give their cheers for their alma mater.

Those people who have found basketball an uninteresting sport will on Friday night be given a chance to see why it is that the game is fast becoming the most popular of winter and outdoor sports. The main contest promises to be a wonderful exhibition abounding in scintillating and thrilling displays of the finer points of the game. A big dance, in honor of the visiting college players, will complete the evening's program.

MAN DESERTS HIS WIFE AND 2 SMALL CHILDREN

Left Quantico Home Friday, Destination Unknown—Domestic Troubles Thought To Be Cause.

Abandoning his wife and two young children, the oldest of whom is about 4 years, Claude Adkins, a well known farmer and mill man of this county residing between Quantico and Royal Oak, left home on Friday of last week and is said to have taken the steamer at Salisbury, his ultimate destination unknown.

Mr. Adkins comes from a highly respected family in the Mardela section of the county. He is a divorced man and sometime ago married again, his present wife being the daughter of Dennis Trader.

It is said by county officials, to whom the matter was reported, that Adkins had been threatening to leave home for some time and his act, therefore, was not totally unexpected. Mr. Adkins owned a nice farm, on which was an attractive bungalow in which he resided. At the time of his departure he was operating his mill near Fruitland. He is a man of around 40 years of age.

DOCTORS FIND PIN STICKING INTO APPENDIX

Peninsula Hospital's X-Ray Machine Discloses Pocomoke Youth's Trouble.

BOY HAD SWALLOWED OBJECT 2 YEARS AGO

But Felt No Ill Effects Until Several Weeks Ago When Pain In Hips
Caused Limping—Both Pin And Pin Cushion Removed By Surgeons And Claimed By Happy Parents

Stretched out on the operating table at the Peninsula General Hospital last Wednesday morning, little Elwood Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Taylor, of Pocomoke, exhibited to Dr. Dick and assistants an appendix with an old rusty pin stuck into one end of it. Both were removed.

Today, the four year old youngster is resting easily in his bed at the hospital, the proud originator of a brand new theory that is based on actual demonstration. He refutes the modern medical belief that the appendix has no use in the human anatomy by merely pointing out that his served a great purpose in acting as a pin cushion and that it probably saved his life by stopping the passage of the metal point ere it had entered some other vital organ.

To the X-ray apparatus operated by Dr. Potter should go the major portion of the credit for the discovery of the resting place of the boy not more than two years old. Some time ago the boy began complaining of pains in his hips which soon developed to such an extent that he was unable to walk without limping. Doctors, called into consultation, concluded that he must be suffering from some sort of hip disease and accordingly arrangements for his entry into the hospital here were made.

In making a diagnosis with his X-ray machine, Dr. Potter found in the picture taken of the boy's whole side, evidence of an infected appendix with some foreign body stuck into it. When questioned neither the boy nor his parents were able to give any information as to whether or not he had swallowed such an object in his early days. However the grandmother recalled that about two years ago, Elwood, while playing on the floor had picked up a pin and was seen to put it in his mouth.

However, the fears of the parents were allayed when no ill effects followed and it was supposed that the boy had not swallowed the pin after all. But the operation by Dr. Dick verified the manner of the pin's disappearance and for nearly two years it has been making its way in and around Elwood's "tummy". The father and mother were overjoyed at the result of the diagnosis and operation and eagerly claimed the pin that had caused all the trouble. They have placed the old pin-cushion in a bottle of alcohol for safe-keeping.

Poultry Specialist In County Last Week

Sees Great Future For Industry. Due to Good Soil, Climate and Marketing Facilities.

W. H. Rice, extension poultry specialist of the University of Maryland, who spent several days last week in Wicomico county making a survey of the poultry industry, was very favorably impressed with the possibilities of this growing business.

Not only from the viewpoint of soil and climatic conditions was this a favorable place for raising chickens, but also from a marketing standpoint, was the opinion of Mr. Rice, who stated that he expected to see the business grow fast as the farmers more and more realized that poultry raising, properly conducted, is very remunerative.

GOLD MEDALS TO TWO MEMBERS DEPARTMENT

Medals are to be awarded to John W. Brittingham and Harry G. Moore, members of the local fire department, by the Mayor and Council, in recognition of active services in the department for twenty consecutive years. Since the organization of the department, more than fifty years ago, only five such awards have been made. These went to the late A. R. Lohner, George E. Serman, John C. Lank, E. C. Siemens and J. Edward Mills.

SHIPLEY HAS SIGNED UP 17 PLAYERS

Six Of Last Year's Team Are Included In The Player List.

THREE MARTINSBURG HURLERS TO REPORT

Heatwole, Roberts and Coley, Flingers Who Wore Lively of Blue Ridge Flag-Grabbers Last Season, Should Bolster Up Staff Admirably—Lefty Hearn in the Fold.

In a letter to The Wicomico News this week Manager Burton Shipley, last year manager of the champion Martinsburg team of the Blue Ridge League, states that he has signed up a number of players for the coming season and about twenty men will arrive here ten days prior to the curtain-raiser for training at Gordy Park.

Shipley, who is assisting Curley Byrd as athletic coach at the University of Maryland, has by no means been idle, but has been scouting for promising timber for several months. To date he has signed the following: Pitchers—Lefty Hearn, last season's pitching ace, who also capably filled in by playing the outfield when the team was crippled; Kirk Heatwole, Frank Coley and Ross Roberts, all twirlers on the champion Martinsburg team last season. The former defeated Polk Whalen's Parkersley outfit at Parkersley in the Tri-State series, while the latter lowered their colors in the game at Gordy Park. Jim Roche Bussey and Shepe, of last year's nine, will also report.

Bailey, a star athlete of the University of Maryland, has been signed to do the receiving, and it is expected that another catcher will be signed in a few days. At the initial sack will be seen C. J. Tolson, last year with the Colonial Beach team. At second two candidates will vie for supremacy—Joe Kunosh, keystone sacker for the White Clouds last season, and John Layne, who sported the colors of Hagerstown in 1922.

A most promising candidate for shortstop was being uncovered in the person of Weber, last year with a sandlot team in Washington D. C. Earl Heatwole, last year with Harrisonburg, Va., will be guardian of the hot corner.

In the outer garden will be Bob Brown, so popular with the fans last year and one of the best fielders and hitters in the league. Newcomers will be E. Selmer, University of Maryland; Rooley, last year with Savage, Md., a strong independent team near Baltimore, and Charles Lane, from Hinton, W. Va., in the cool mining region.

Negotiations are under way for two more twirlers and a like number of infielders. Manager Shipley knows the capabilities of many of the men who have affixed signatures to contracts, and with his record as manager in the past Salisburians are looking forward with anticipation to a season of real baseball.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE ALUMNI TO ASSEMBLE

Will Hold Smoker And Dinner At Peninsula Hotel Friday Evening
President Gould May Attend

Alumni of Washington College in Worcester, Somerset, Dorchester and Wicomico counties will gather at the Peninsula Hotel restaurant on Friday evening for a smoker and supper preceding the basketball game at the Armory. President Gould of the Chestertown College is expected to come down with Coach Kibler and members of the championship team and will be guests of the Alumni Association at the reunion.

The event will be the first of its kind in this section of the Eastern Shore and is calculated to arouse much interest in the Chestertown institution which is planning big things in the near future in the way of expansion so as to meet the needs of the young men on the Shore for higher education. Former graduates of the school are going to be in Salisbury on Friday evening from Cambridge, Pocomoke, Hurluck, Snow Hill, Laurel and other towns and the occasion promises to be a noteworthy one.

After the smoker, the alumni and friends of the college are going to witness the basketball game between the Maroon and Black and a quint of stars from the various independent teams on the Peninsula and will have as their guests the Senior Class of Wicomico High School. A large number of former co-eds of Washington College have signified their intentions of being present at both the supper and game. A dance in honor of out-of-town guests will take place immediately after the game.

BAILEY-BROMBLEY

The marriage of Miss Susie A. Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bailey, of near Delmar, and Mr. R. A. Brombley, took place on Thursday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Elder Kerr. After a honeymoon trip to New York the couple will settle on a farm near Delmar.

UNITY OF ALL SHORE TOWNS THE KEYNOTE

Annual Dinner Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber Of Commerce Well Attended Affair
MEN HERE FROM ALL OVER THE PENINSULA

250 Guests Include Members of Chamber and Invited Friends, as Well as Salisbury Rotary Club—Albert S. Dudley, of Baltimore Reserve Bank, Principal Speaker.

One of the most representative aggregations of Eastern Shoremen which ever gathered around a festive board in this section was that at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, held in the basement of Bethesda M. P. church on Thursday night of last week. Joining with the Chamber members and their invited guests were the members of the Salisbury Rotary Club, the affair being a joint one with that organization. In all, around 250 attended the function, it being larger by far than any previous annual dinner.

The present dinner was held in the hall of the Chamber of Commerce, which was decorated with the plans and purposes of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce, whose functions are designed not only to benefit this particular county and city, but to be far-reaching and embrace the Peninsula. The keynote of the whole affair was the development to the fullest extent of this favored section by the aid of one powerful organization designed to show to the outside world the advantages and possibilities of the Peninsula.

An elegant Eastern Shore menu was served by the ladies of the church in a very efficient manner. The Rev. R. L. Shipley pronounced the invocation. After the dinner, Oscar L. Morris, recently elected president of the Chamber, took charge of the meeting. Mr. Morris thanked the members for the honor which they had bestowed upon him and pledged himself to work for the interests of the organization to the best of his ability.

Charles M. Freeman, secretary of the Chamber, was then introduced by the toastmaster. Mr. Freeman spoke for five minutes. He cited illustrations of major and minor cases taken up by his department in the course of a day's work. He touched on the Normal School as the outstanding project of the year's work, discussed the installation of the traffic department, and spoke of the value of a Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. Throughout Mr. Freeman's address it could readily be discerned that his vision reaches beyond Wicomico county, and that he had in mind the benefit of the entire Peninsula.

He was followed by Harvey J. Hill, president of the Hotel Financing Corporation, New York city. Mr. Hill spoke of the possibilities of the Eastern Shore and compared it with several entire States. Mr. Hill cited illustrations in California where chambers of commerce were working for the good of the entire State. His speech was well received.

Mr. Hill was followed by Albert S. Dudley, manager of the Baltimore Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. This speaker explained the functions of a reserve bank, which he termed a reservoir from which could be drawn money as needs might arise. He explained how each member bank kept with the reserve bank their funds and how they could and did call upon it for money for legal business purposes.

He compared the Reserve Bank with local banks, and showed it as a place where member banks deposit and borrow at the same way that the average business man deposits and borrows with his local institution.

Charles Crockett, a humorist and entertainer of note from Baltimore, concluded the program with a number of jokes which convulsed the audience with laughter. No distinction was drawn between the ministers, judges, bankers, business men, doctors or others, and each was the target for Mr. Crockett's witticisms. Prior to the speaking, Mr. Crockett, in the role of a doctor from Wilmington who had imbibed too freely in alcoholic beverages, interrupted the meeting by coming in a side door saying he was looking for a place where he was supposed to deliver a temperance lecture, and after a humorous talk unmarked and was a guest at the speaker's table the remainder of the evening.

NOW SELLING THROUGH TICKETS TO ALL POINTS

Pullman Sleeper Reservations Can Be Made at Union Station to Any Point in United States.

Welcome news to the traveling public of Salisbury comes this week from local officials of the Norfolk division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who state that the company is now in position to sell through Pullman and sleeping car tickets to any point in the United States upon application to the ticket office at Union station. This is a great convenience. In the past it has been necessary to procure these tickets at Philadelphia, New York, Wilmington or some other point. Up until a few months ago no Pullman tickets were sold at all at this point. When a reservation was wanted it was necessary to wire to Norfolk. Since a short while back reservations could be made for the above-named points. Now a person may procure not only through passage but Pullman sleeper reservations as well to San Francisco or to any other point in the country.

unable to say, because of the darkness, whether the men were white or black. She thinks they wore masks over their eyes. Just how long she was left bound to the bed is uncertain, but it was probably for several hours. Authorities are inclined to believe that the intruder entered the building through the screen door leading to the girl's room and made their escape in the same manner. Although she was still suffering from the rough treatment and was very nervous, Miss Lloyd gave a statement Friday morning to State's Attorney Long in order that some foundation could be obtained on which the search could be conducted.

According to her statement, Miss Lloyd was awakened by a slight noise in her room and became aware of a man wearing a mask standing directly over her. In a low voice the intruder commanded her to not make an outcry, with the threat that she would be choked to death. He then grasped her by the throat and inserted two fingers in her mouth and held her tongue so that a vocal noise was impossible.

The thug held her in this position while his accomplice thoroughly ransacked the house. It was not until the return of the second masked man that his hold upon her body was relinquished and her hands and feet secured. A handkerchief lying upon the pillow was pressed into her mouth and secured there by a cord which was taken from her bath robe.

The Lloyd family is very popular in Salisbury, and the news of the brutal happening spread like wildfire. Many telephone calls, telegrams and personal calls to express sympathy quickly followed, for which Mr. Lloyd has asked The News to express his sincere appreciation.

PRANKS AND PENALTIES SAME AS DAD KNEW

Times Change, but Children's Ways Do Not, Teachers in City Schools Declare—Cites Punishments.

Times change, but not children, according to teachers in the public schools.
When Johnny waxes naughty, he does it in just the same ways that Johnnie's father did some years ago. He carves his name on his desk, he sticks chewing gum on the under side of the seat, he makes rubber band sling-shots and shoots "spit-wads"—in brief, he goes through all the regulation tricks.
And that's not the fifty percent of it. He not only cuts up just like daddy used to do, but the same brand of punishment is meted out to him.
A very, very naughty child must stand in one of the front corners of the room, with his back to the children and his head held down on his arms in shame. Oh, and that's an awful disgrace!
Then the second worst way of being punished is to be seated in a little chair right alongside of teacher's desk. Gosh, and that's real misery! Not that teacher isn't nice, and all that, but—well, it's not exactly very comfortable up there, not being able to look to the right or left without being called down.

It's not exactly having a good time to stay after school, either, when all the other kids have left, but what is one to do if that's the punishment for having played pranks?
And so the prank and the punishment have not changed much in the last century of a century; facts will testify to that, as will also many teachers who have been in the schools for a number of years.

MARCH 11-17 BUNDLE WEEK NEAR EAST

Places Designated All Over County Where Packages
May Be Left.

SUNDAY NEXT FIELD DAY IN CHURCHES

Moving Pictures At "Y" Saturday Evening Showing Work In Eastern Europe—People Asked To Give Without stint Of Old Clothing And Shoes.

It is hard to imagine the suffering that is occasioned by the lack of clothing, by those of us who have the comforts of home and fireside.

The Near East Relief is asking the people of this County to give without stint of clothing and shoes that have been cast aside. Children's and adults clothing are in great demand by the people of the Near East. The burning of Smyrna nearly depleted the stock of clothing on hand and the demand is great and supply far insufficient to meet this demand among these suffering people. Ten counties are assisting in this work. Even Russia in the distress is contributing of her own old clothing to help save the Near East to civilization. Last year more than twelve millions of dollars was spent to help these people and in fact at least one and one-half million dollars in excess of the amount received for the work. The giving of clothing and shoes will help in the saving of money received.

The week of March 11th to 17th inclusive has been designated as BUN-DLE WEEK FOR WICOMICO COUNTY FOR THE NEAR EAST RELIEF.
 All bundles should be wrapped in shoes tied together. While everything is acceptable, it would be unwise to bring clothing in such condition as not to be usable.

Help the 115,000 Orphans that the Near East Relief are feeding, clothing and training, by making your contribution to the work in clothing in large measure possible. Let us make it 3000 lbs.
 from Wicomico.

The following places have been designated where packages may be left for collection: (Salisbury, Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Hitch & Bro.; Charles E. Bennett and Son; W. W. Jones; Walston, King & Workman;
 Parrishburg, E. R. Ennis and Brothers;

 Sharps Point, Samuel P. Jenkins;
 Rockawalkin, C. R. Hayman; Siloam, Parker Jenkins.

Residents of this county will hear first-hand accounts next Sunday and during the following week, of the great suffering in the Caucasus and the Levant, which have followed the Smyrna disaster and the evacuation of millions of Christians under pressure from the Turk.

The situation will be told about at Field Days which will be held next Sunday in the churches and the following week at Community Meetings when not only addresses will be made but movies will be shown, presenting actual scenes in the stricken area.
 The speakers, who will be a corps from Maryland Headquarters, Near East Relief, will include Hiram P.
 Pellegrin, State Director, Misses McCormick and Beach, the latter an overseas worker, and Hiram Hall, all of whom have been overseas and have seen what they tell about.

Besides telling of the actual conditions, the speakers will also tell of the constructive program of the Near East Relief, building up the devastated areas and giving refugees and the orphans vocational training.

For the general information of the public there will be a movie picture shown at the Y.M.C.A. this Saturday evening showing the work of the Near East Relief organization in Eastern Europe. The public generally is urged to be present. The object is purely educational and no contributions will be taken at this meeting. It is to give our people an idea of the needs of this organization in its work and help the public to donate more liberally of their clothing and shoes to the Bundle Week Campaign, March 11th to 17th inclusive.

Adults are cordially invited to be present so as to make this a record demonstration of the interest of our people in this work.

PURE-BRED GUERNSEYS TO HOMESTEAD FARMS

Manager Simpkins Gets In Another Car Of Tuberculin Tested Cattle —Dairy Thoroughly Renovated

The Homestead Dairy Farms have received another carload of pure-bred Guernsey cattle, the shipment coming from the Glen Riddle farm, the home of the famous horse, Man-O-War.
 Each and every one of these cows are pure bred Guernseys and were tuberculin tested under government supervision just before leaving the latter place and will be tested again at Homestead within 60 days.

Mr. Simpkins, the new manager of the Jackson place, is and always has been a firm advocate of tuberculosis tests conducted by government experts and it is his intention to protect his cattle by these methods. The public will in turn benefit. The Homestead barns and stables have been thoroughly renovated after being disinfected and cleaned out and the manager is anxious for the people of Salisbury and vicinity to make an inspection visit of this place.

CLAIMS TO BE 125 HOPES TO NEVER DIE

Inmate of New Jersey Home Has Daughter Who Claims She Is Ninety-Six.

At Shelter Home, in New Jersey,
where he is spending the winter, James Henry Gains says that he "jes natch'ly gawn libin' fo'ever."

Gains says he will be 125 years old March 4. He says he was born in slavery, just one year from the day
John Adams was inaugurated second President of the United States, and he is looking forward to at least another century and a quarter of life.
He is just as positive of this as he is that March 4 will be his 125th birthday. He hasn't a birth certificate to prove his age, for down on the Charlottesville plantation in those days little colored children came and went without ceremony or record. But he has a daughter, who he says is 90 years old, and he says he has a dim recollection of having been lifted to a cabin window by his mother while some soldiers in the garb of the Continental army passed by.

"Ef yo' jes pray an' pray an' pray," says Gains, six feet tall, erect, and minus the proverbial crooked cane of the centenarian, "yo's gwine lib fo'- ever. Jes natch'ly keep on prayin' an' de good Lord'll tak care of yo'." Ah's gwine to keep on prayin' an' Ah's gwine to lib fo'ever.

Louisa, aged 96, the eldest daughter, sat next to her father during the interview and frequently nodded corroboration of his mention of dates and places. Louisa was one of 25 children born of his first marriage, and her father says she is "prubly 100," because she, too, "jes natch'ly prays." Two other daughters, aged 55 and 62, by the first marriage, also are living.

The younger generation, he believes,
is going to perdition about as fast as possible, and he declares that the absence of religion among young people is something terrible. He is a strong believer in the efficacy of prayer, and says anyone can have longevity who seeks it sincerely in this manner.

Gains says he can turn a handspring, but refrained from exhibiting his acrobatic ability owing to the proximity of a piano, a phonograph and a glass oil lamp. He can thread a needle, his eyesight is so keen, and if it were not for a temporary cold his hearing would be perfect. He never wore glasses, and hasn't consulted a physician in 75 years. He has chewed tobacco the last 30 years. He never smokes.

STATE HAS MANY TOWNS WITH BIBLICAL NAMES

Many Are Named for Those That Once Flourished on the Judean Plain.

(Mary E. Smith in Baltimore Sun.)

Sixteen miles north of Baltimore and covering a radius of approximately six miles lies the Palestine of Maryland. Like the Holy Land, it triumphantly entered by General Edmund Allenby in 1917, it embraces Jerusalem,
Egypt, Joppa, Jericho, Salem, Mount Peru and Bethel. When and how this area came to abound in Biblical names does not seem to be known even by lifelong residents of the vicinity; that they are of ancient lineage is evidenced by the fact that they were a matter of record as far back as 1724.

Joppa, like the Jaffa (Joppe) which antedates the arrival of Joshua into Palestine, is entered through a gateway—and many a prominent sportsman has passed through it in feverish haste to get a shot at a bunch of "reedies" flying over the adjacent marsh. From 1724 to 1768 Joppa was the county seat of Baltimore county and the principal exporting point in the Province of Maryland. As Jaffa was the port of landing for the cedars sent by Hiram for construction of the Temple of Jerusalem, so, too, was Joppa a landing port. And cedars were probably among the cargoes brought to its wharves. Tradition has it that a war vessel was built there, Bonapartes at Joppa.

Bonaparte took Joppa—which had then become Joppa—by assault in 1799. "It is therefore a matter of comment that an immense rolling mill (abandoned more than 60 years ago) situated at Mount Peru, in the near vicinity of Joppa, was owned and operated by the Patterson family,
of which Madame Elizabeth Patterson Bonaparte was a member, and whose grandson, the late Hon. Charles J.
Bonaparte, had for many years an estate not many miles away. Joppa, once the site of a town, is now in Harford county and boasts only a colonial mansion, built of brick brought from England, several other houses and some fishing shacks. Certain de-pressions in the fields show where cellars have been, and the lines of ancient streets are indicated by these and fragments of chimneys. The most ancient tombstone in the neglected cemetery bears the inscription:
"To the Memory of David McCullon, Merchant of Joppa, Who Died the 17th Day of September, 1766."

A Pool but No Cures.
There also a "Pool of Bethesda" near by, but no miraculous cures link
it with the foreign pool of like name.
On the banks of the big falls there rested for many years a house dubbed "The Ark"—a structure so similar to the top models of the ark that one glimpse of it would call to the mind of the smallest observer a clothespin looking Noah guarding swarm of eagle-shaped animals along a beach bordered with conventional cedar trees. It was near here that "Moses" of Maryland was rescued from the bullrushes. But it was not King Pharaoh's daughter who lifted him from his watery resting place—it was a frantic mother who plunged into the turbulent falls when the perambulator in which her baby was riding—in an unguarded moment—slipped over the steep embankment.

Jerusalem lies on the other side of the quaint old covered bridge which divides Baltimore from Harford county. This "ace," which should be the center of tradition, bears no similarity to the famous city for which it was named. There is but a store, about a dozen houses and a several-centuries old flour mill stationed there. No stretch of the imagination could convert any of these into the temple of Jerusalem. There is, however, an abandoned, wide-mouthed old limekiln on the hillside near by, past which children run with as much terror in their hearts as if it were the den containing Daniel and the lions.

Salem is a small settlement on the Baltimore county side. In the graveyard of the Methodist church here is the same name there is a tombstone erected to the memory of a miller who was ground to pieces in his own mill. It bears the significant inscrip-
County Has Its Egypt.

Egypt, also in Baltimore county,
as it should be, some distance from Jericho, but the hills among which it nestles are not those of Judea; but bear the name of Vinegar.

Bethel is some miles farther up county. In Harford. It is appropriately named, as it is the seat of a famous Presbyterian "house of God," which was originally situated in the midst of a forest and was but a log cabin to which the congregation was wont to come armed against a surprise attack by Indians, who then reigned the country. The present church is the third one to be erected on that spot—the second having been built in 1802.

There is no doubt that the uncon-set waist, slightly below the normal, and occasionally placed at the line of the hips, will be continued throughout the coming season.

In addition, a slight tendency toward a subtle raising of the waist above the normal is also noted.
This, as a rule, is generally indicated by the use of trimmings, embroideries or braids applied to indicate an irregular waist line on one-piece dresses. In that case, the line of the waist drops from slightly above the normal at the front to the normal, or slightly below, at the back. In some few instances, the waist line at the front has been noted raised quite to the authentic Empire line. In no case, has this raised waist line been used in house or street garments, but only in eve-gning gowns. It has never been raised at both back and front, but always in irregular fashion as though almost disclaiming any desire to be called a short-waisted effect.

The most important and prominent changes in spring fashions are being worked out in the details and trimmings. Of these, particular attention is called to the marked movement of the use of figured materials to replace embroideries rich, all-over embroidered fabrics in soft and faded, as well as in brilliant colorings; printed crepe and fancy, intricate and effective brilliant colored embroidered braids.

THIS ONE THING I DO—For getting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus—Philippians 3:13, 14.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

Our readers will note on another page of this paper the great natural resources enjoyed by the people in the west-end of our county, in the way of oysters, fish, crabs and muskrats in the waters of the bay and rivers, as also the soil, which is very fertile and could be brought to such a state of cultivation as to raise most every variety of commodity that is raised along the Atlantic seaboard, but on account of the road conditions at certain seasons of the year, they have been virtually cut off from the outside world, especially in this true when the river and bay are frozen that being their only outlet to any city.

While the County has spent possibly thousands of dollars in attempting to keep the roads in passable condition, as also the people themselves have spent lots of money in trying to build the roads up with shells so that they can be used in winter time, yet the county and citizens together have never been able to keep the roads in even a passable condition during some of the winter months, especially in wet seasons.

The people, realizing that there was only one thing to do, that being to build a concrete road through that section of the county, began the construction, with the aid of the state, and now have reached a distance of probably twelve miles. Yet the relief is not sufficient, as has been demonstrated within the last few weeks, when the road beyond the concrete has been impassable.

The News is glad to note that the County Commissioners have recommended to the State Road Commission the building of another stretch of this road during the year of 1923. We only wish that no doubt will seem to the people of that section, including Bivalve, Tyaskin, Nanticoke Point and section lying adjacent thereto, as if they had been freed from bondage. While they have only had access to one city market, practically cut off from all other cities from time immemorial, it will open up to them a gate-way to all the cities, north, east, west and south, the same as the people in the other sections of the county have been enjoying for years.

The loss, to them, year after year has been a great one, on account of this big handicap, however the completion of this road will no doubt be the means of increasing the value of their products, thousands of dollars each year by enabling them to place their products in the large markets of the country. This being true, it means more intensive trucking and on account of being near the water courses a number of their commodities ripen several days earlier than commodities raised in other sections on the Shore, thus giving them advantages of the highest market prices.

We trust that the State Road Commission will accept the recommendations of the County Commissioners and build as many miles as possible of this road this year. The business people of Salisbury should work hand in hand with the people of that section and lend any assistance possible to the County Commissioners and State Road Commission to bring about the early completion of this road, so that this large section of the county may enjoy the advantages, which are due them and which other sections have been enjoying for years.

At the same time we want to let it be understood that we are in favor of the other recommendations for the building of roads that the Commissioners have recommended for this year. The News has always stood for improvement of the roads in this county, and we trust that there will only be a few more years before concrete roads are constructed in all parts of the county so that the people of the county may be in easy reach of a concrete road. But it is our opinion that the roads that are used by the largest number of people should be constructed first.

THE FARMER MUST HAVE JUSTICE.

While labor as a unit is studiously keeping away from politics, conditions are driving the farmer into politics, this because the farmer sees no other way of accomplishing anything like even justice.

Business generally has started off with a healthy boom. From all parts of the country come reports of increased activity. Buying has again assumed a healthy trend. The iron and steel industry reports a hopeful outlook, automobile manufacturers expect a big year; shippers have been benefited by the cut in freight rates, gold is piling up, and if the nation keeps free of foreign entanglements the road to prosperity seems wide open to all.

The farmer, however, lags behind, despite the fact that he is the wholesale producer of food and clothing. Farming and transportation rest as the final foundation of trade.

It will be regrettable if the selfishness of the money power declines to recognize this fact and compels the farmer to line up in Congress to create a machinery in the interest of agriculture regardless of its effect on the industrial world.

The money power of the East has frowned on the Farm bloc, but it may be forced to look upon these legislators as the leavening influence that will lead the country into the promised land. Indeed it is to the vision of Farm bloc members that the country owes many a vote of thanks. The farmer must get justice without being forced to organize for agriculture ONLY. Let the bankers wake up.

MUST UNCLE SAM BE THE GOAT?

German payments of reparations and Europe's payment of indebtedness must be made in the commodities of commerce. There can be no doubt about that, and the delivery problems are very different from those presented by the ordinary growth of balanced trade from one year to another.

Looking the situation straight in the face there is presented a great one-sided transaction—a flood of goods one way without corresponding movement of goods in exchange. Obviously such movements have in them the potentiality of mischief, in causing the derangement of regular established industry. Nor will we protect ourselves from dumping by high tariff walls.

The French, in thinking of reparations naturally visualize only money with which to pay the bill for the reconstruction of devastated territory, but it is out of the question for Germany to pay in that way. Germany must pay with labor or the products of labor. Now in the Ruhr, German labor declines to function.

Home Study

This is a serious situation. The Ruhr is vital to Germany, and soon unless the occupation be ended, Germany must import coal from England for her own industries to make good the coal held by France. If Germany must export to pay for the coal she must get from England then to what extent will England and the United States receive exports from Germany in order that France may receive her reparations. Back of the whole difficulty stands the United States, holding aloof from foreign entanglements. The phrase becomes almost a catchword when considered in the light of the actual situation unless America is satisfied to be the goat.

KEEP PEACE BY ADVERTISING.

The larger metropolitan newspapers in both the East and West have been quick to sense the delicacy of the situation existing between this country and Japan, as outlined recently in this newspaper, and coming as a result of the Japanese invasion of Siberia at the invitation of the United States during the world war. While the subject is treated with a certain degree of reserve, nevertheless the tension is quite apparent at Japanese delay in withdrawing her troops from all Russian territory.

Relief is felt in the recent retirement of Japan from Chinese territory, which naturally bespeaks in a peaceful inclination stripped of any thought of territorial extension. If this policy be followed in the case of Russia, Washington will breathe easier. One of these days the great power of advertising will be used to clear the atmosphere and prevent international misunderstanding. Perhaps no greater opportunity ever has presented than exists now in the Japanese situation. American practically stands sponsor for the good faith of Japan. However, nothing would make for better understanding than a few simple and authoritative publicly advertised statements which would indicate the real thought of the Japanese people.

When intelligent and honest advertising shall take the place of intricate diplomacy the world will rest on the bedrock of public understanding and that will mean world peace.

Every schoolboy knows the story of the two women of the American Revolution who, screened behind a rock, mimicked as well with fife and drum the approach of soldiers that the hostile red coats took fright and fled.

Ethan Allen, with nothing more than the declamation, "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress," took Ticonderoga.

One Federal scout with a handful of men walked into a federation stronghold in Tennessee, produced from a small water-filled vial a dice-sized cube of phosphorus which burned with fury when exposed to the air before the dazed Confederate officers. This scout then told the enemy that there was a large army of Federal troops over the hill; that they had tons of that stuff; and that they would shoot the town full of it unless the Confederates vacated. The Confederates vacated.

The Confederates at Centerville, Virginia, recognizing their weakness, and the presence of an overwhelming Federal force, built an improvised fort and mounted some tree trunks so that from a short distance they looked like cannon. They then made their escape, and for days the Federal forces stood their distance, fearing to attack the seemingly impregnable but wholly uninhabited and fictitious fort.

When, as Governor of New Jersey, Woodrow Wilson was advised by his friends that he could not hope to put through certain important planks in his platform because of the strength of the opposition, he replied: "Do not allow yourselves to be dismayed. You see where the machine is entrenched, and it looks like a real fortress, as if real men were inside, as if they had real guns. Go touch it. It is a house of cards. Those are imitation generals. Put the shoulder against the thing and it collapses."

The truly courageous man wastes but little time in measuring the strength of the enemy. He wants only to know that he himself is strong.

Bluff is always a confession of weakness. The hill looks steep from the distance; reach its foot and the grade is easier than it seemed.

The man who has something worth fighting for has neither time nor inclination to assume a pose, nor is he frightened by a pose. Only true and conscious worth dares stand naked among its fellows. Much pose means much lacking.

The greatest is the simplest. The fellow who is afraid to stand alone is the fellow who has to put up the big front. Strike his armor and he falls. The man who is right and knows he is right is stronger than the man who has nothing but shield and armor.

The pretense of strength will frighten the coward, but it will never baffle the really brave.

The wish to appear good is the commonest quality of human hearts. The bravery to BE good is the rare measure.

The citizen soldier is the great friend of the state today. Never was moral courage so necessary nor civic bravery such a religious need.

Be right. When you are sure you are RIGHT, don't be bluffed by a house of cards.

The Letter Box

Deputy Automobile Commissioner Varran Thanks The News for What He Terms "Very Fair, Clean-Cut News Article and Editorial" Which Appeared in These Columns Last Week.

The Wicomico News, Salisbury, Md.

Gentlemen—I have just noted your issue of the 1st, in connection with the meeting of the Rotary Club which I addressed last week in connection with the State Police, and want to thank you very sincerely for the very fair, clean-cut article which was written in the news columns, as well as the editorial, in which I heartily concur. I don't know how much the Open Forum will do on the State Police question, for it may air a lot of poorly founded criticism, which it will be difficult to answer with facts immediately. Sometimes I don't think much of the airing of criticism when it is impossible to reply at the time, for unanswerable criticism has a tendency as you know to create impressions in the minds of other people.

As a result of last week's meeting together, you may be interested to know that Colonel Baughman and Captain Williams have made a complete shift of the officers who were stationed on the Eastern Shore, and have replaced them entirely with older and more experienced officers—men who have proved themselves in other fields. Lieutenant Peppersack will be in general charge on the Eastern Shore for some weeks to come. The substitution commander will be Sergeant Phillips, himself an Eastern Shoreman, I believe, and a first-class officer in every particular.

I hope that you will take the trouble to look in upon these officers, make their acquaintance, and size them up for yourself.

At the same time, I believe that if you folks in Salisbury were to call upon these men for more varied service than they have been used for, if you were to take them a little more closely to your bosoms, so to speak, you would find them at heart a very much finer class of men than you look for in police work. They ought to be given an opportunity to meet the better people of your community, not necessarily on a social basis, but on a basis of mutual acquaintance, and it would strengthen the morale of the men and heighten the confidence of the people.

I am not hesitating about giving these young officers letters of introduction to my friends in different parts of the State when I find they are to be stationed where my friends reside. These men have been used very effectively here, also at times of very large weddings, or other large outstanding affairs where traffic jams occur, one of these men being able to handle a situation usually requiring one-half dozen less trained men. They have been particularly successful in the finding of lost children, the clearing up of cases of wayward and run-away girls, and offer themselves without hesitation to the back and call of the Sheriff for whatever work of whatever character he may call upon them to do. You know, the State police maintain a highly efficient investigation department for such special work.

I cannot but feel that the Eastern Shore from now on will note a very much higher grade of State police work, and I wish it were possible for you folks to prevail upon Commissioner Baughman to himself to come down and meet some gathering of the representative men of your community for a further conference. It would be highly instructive, I am sure.

Would you be willing to grant from time to time a little true story of what the State police are accomplishing in other parts of the State along the lines of State police work, probably not yet experienced on the Eastern Shore? I could from time to time let you have such publicity, and maybe some pictures, if this appeals to you.

I again thank you for your fairness and your very evident desire to be constructive and right-minded on this subject of State-wide importance. Please send me copies of The News containing copies of your story.

These will be interesting to me. Yours very truly,
H. L. VARRAN.

MD. FARM PRODUCTS GAINED LAST YEAR

Total Value of All Animals and Crops for 1922 Was $104,700,000—Increase Was $14,900,000.

The farm value of all crops and animals raised and animal products produced in Maryland during 1922 was $104,700,000, according to a statement given out by John S. Dennee, crop statistician at Baltimore for the United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with the extension service of the University of Maryland. This amount represents a gain of $14,900,000 over the value of all the farm products produced during 1921, but is short of 1919, the bumper year, by $81,000,000, and of 1920 by $42,000,000.

Of the 1922 gross value, the total for crops is placed at $68,100,000 and the total for animals raised and for animal products is placed at $36,600,000. It should be borne in mind, says Dr. Dennee, that the total value of animals raised and animal products duplicated crop values to a degree not ascertainable. Compared with 1921 values, crops gained by $15,500,000, while animals raised and animal products lost $900,000.

Crop value as a fraction of the aggregate value of all farm products fell from 69 per cent in 1919 to 59 per cent in 1921, but recovered to 65 per cent in 1922 on account of the gain in crop value in 1922 over 1921 and the nearly stationary value of animal products.

The course of crop value has fluctuated exceedingly during the last ten years, according to the crop statistician.

The peak year of high crop prices was 1919, when the value was 193 per cent greater than in 1913. After 1919 a precipitous decline followed. The crop value of 1921 marks the lowest point of depression, as an upward movement in 1922 carried such value of 55 per cent above 1913. Animal products had a course of yearly values that lagged behind crop values and fluctuated less. The peak was reached in 1919, but it was 113 per cent above 1913, while crop value touched 193 per cent above.

Uncle John's Poem

TROUBLES.

There wouldn't be no troubles, if the people didn't tell 'em,—but some ain't satisfied, unless they speak of what's befall 'em. You ketch a chimney-corner full of weather-bound commuters, and, nineteen out of twenty, you would class as trouble-shooters. The Widder Hanks has got a case of chronic digestion. The neighbors knowed it all around, afore they asked a question. She pashed out her innard pangs to every saint an' sinner, till most of 'em has got afeard to eat their Sunday dinner!

And old Bill Sipes has croaked about rheumatics in his system, till none of us can understand how we have ever missed 'em. In fact I limp a few myself, right after Sipes's visit.—It may not be the rheumatics,—but what the thunder is it?

I wish they'd pass a law begosh, that hit the trouble-slinger,—not any common, legal josh,—but a regular humdinger! I'd want a law to functionate—a little short of killin'.—Though, if it took that sort of fate, I reckon I'd be willin'.

BEACOM BUSINESS COLLEGE NOTES.

This has been our busiest week since the fall term began in September. Three final examinations took place—one in arithmetic, one in business organization and management, and one in business correspondence. It so happened that some of the students were taking all three of the studies and had to take three finals. One of these was heard to remark, "If I have many more days like this I'll be dead," which expressed the feelings of many of us.

Edgar Parker has graduated and has accepted a position as bookkeeper for White & Leonard.

Herbert Jones, Mt. Vernon, Md., has also graduated. He is taking a short vacation, but expects to take

FASHION GIRL SELLS FOR SUM OF $17,200

Lady Of The Poland China Breed Brings This Record
Price.

GRANDSON OF THIS LADY NOW IN COUNTY

Mr. J. M. Insley, Quantico, May Be Fore-runner Of Animals Which
In Future Will Make Wicomico
County Famous For Its Porkers—Demand For Specie Increasing.

Mr. J. M. Insley, Quantico, is a firm believer in that nothing is too good for Wicomico County and furthermore he practices what he preaches. Thus his purchase of a Poland China Boar from the famous family should attract the attention and interest of every one in the county.

There has been an increasing demand for the big type Poland China Boar from farmers in the county. New interest has been aroused in the breed by the outstanding accomplishments of this new type. The old type had many faults that have been corrected in what is now called the "Buster" and "hog raisers" who became discouraged by the old type and the sale and raising of the new type are being made in large numbers to men who appreciate what a good hog should be.

Peter Fashion Buster, to give him his full and proper title, is from the famous herd of Poland China's owned by Mr. J. S. Johnson, of Hagerstown, Md. The sire of Buster Peter Fashion, cost $3000 when he was only six months old. Today, at nineteen months, he is one of the largest boars living, standing four feet high with a stretch of over 90 inches. In the show ring he is undefeated and was the Grand Champion of Maryland at Timonium in 1922. The Clansman, great grand-sire of Buster is the property of William Wrigley, the chewing gum manufacturer. This animal cost Mr. Wrigley $15,000 four years ago and is recognized as being the sire of more big hogs and more show hogs than any sire the breed has ever known.

The history of the pure bred industry shows that the men who have made a success of this business, and have been of real benefit to the breed, have placed great stress upon the value of a good individual backed by a pedigree of productive ability. The present day Poland China is a pork producing machine and in the hands of an intelligent breeder and feeder will produce pork products more economically than any other breed or combination of breeders of swine.

The many advantages that pure breds have over the scrub animal are too well known to need repeating.
But with the fact of owning only pure breds in mind, the "Buster" wants to show that first of all is prolific with good sized litters of strong pigs. A litter of 35000 litters show an average of eight and one-half pigs to the litter, while the Poland China Register Book shows that from 13000 litters more than 80 per cent of all pigs farrowed were raised to weaning time.
The Poland China mother has a good disposition and is in every way qualified to raise her family. Secondly the farmer wants an easy feeder or a breed that will make profitable gains on feed and land are high priced, they also want a breed that will develop rapidly and be ready for the early market. The Poland China breed, therefore, fulfills all the requirements made by the farmer or hog raiser of today.

Many readers will recall the wonderful display of Poland China's at the Salisbury Fair last summer, this breed has been making a name for itself in our neighbor state, Delaware, and at present the farmers of Wicomi-co County are interesting themselves in this breed.

Like begot like and with the law of heredity still in force there is no reason why Buster, or Peter Fashion Buster, should not be the forerunner and sire of noted individuals who will make Wicomico County famous for its hogs.

the place according to a letter to the

OBITUARY

FRANK FLEETWOOD.

Frank Fleetwood, aged 65, a member of the firm of F. C. Elliott Company, hardware dealers, Delmar, Del., was stricken with a heart attack while at his place of business on Saturday afternoon last and died about 2 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Lavinia Elliott. Mrs.
Fleetwood was visiting at Milford.

Deceased was a very popular man and had been a resident of Delmar for a number of years, and at the time of his death resided on Grove street. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.
Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. W. Jones, pastor of the church of which Mr. Fleetwood was a member. Interment was in the Methodist Episcopal cemetery. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Deola, of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Elliott, of Delmar, a sister.

ROBERT G. ROBERTSON.

In the death of Robert G. Robertson—"Uncle Bob," as he was familiarly called—which occurred at Mar-dela Springs on February 27, 1923, one of the few remaining links connecting ante-bellum days with the twentieth century has been broken, and an outstanding figure in business and social world has gone to his last reward.

Mr. Robertson had reached a ripe age, having been born on a farm near Mardela on March 18, 1857, and therefore was nearing his 66th birthday at the time of his death. His youth and early manhood were spent on the farm where he was born, with only the meagre advantages of an education furnished by the schools of the period; yet he secured sufficient education to permit him to engage in teaching, which vocation, in connection with merchandising at several points, seems to have occupied his early years. At the age of 30 he was married to Rebecca, daughter of the late William Bacon, of Mardela Springs, and six years ago the fiftieth anniversary of his marriage was celebrated. Immediately after his marriage he engaged in farming at Revastico, where more than a quarter of a century was spent, and where he reared a family of one daughter and four sons, the daughter, Louise, being now the wife of Lewis A. Wilson, of Mardela. One of the sons, Maurice, resides in Cullman, Ala., where he is president of the Parker Bank and Trust company; Herman resides in Mardela, being the cashier of the Farmers Bank of Mardela, and Harlan and Clarence reside at Pocomoke City, where they are the proprietors of the Pocomoke Foundry and Machine Works.

After the deceased left the farm, nearly thirty years ago, he removed to Mardela Springs and engaged in civil engineering, and for eight years of his life was deputy county treasurer under Treasurers Todd, Perry and Price.

The pride of his long career, however, was the organization of the Farmers Bank of Mardela, which he organized under what seemed insurmountable obstacles, yet he lived to see the bank become a well established and flourishing institution, and a necessary part of the business life of the community. He became the first president of the bank and continued as such until his death.
In politics he was an answering democrat, yet possessed of an inflexible honesty of heart, which caused him at times to criticize without stint any acts of his party not wholly in keeping with his ideas of right and justice.

In religion he was a loyal adherent of the Old School Baptist faith, and though not actively connected with the church, he never lost an opportunity to hear the great truths of the Bible expounded by Elders of his faith, and found great comfort in his religious experiences.

In character the deceased was typical of all that true Americanism stands for. Being of Scotch descent, he inherited that type of sturdy character which is so characteristic of this race, and it has been said of him that even his enemies, if he had any, could find no just cause to criticize him.

Mr. Robertson was the son of the late Robert Dougherty Robertson, the son of John Robertson, one of the pioneers of this section of the county, and his mother was Susan Bolt, also of a pioneer family and native of this immediate section.

Death occurred at his late residence and was very sudden, resulting from paralysis of the brain. He lived for three days after he was stricken.

The funeral was held on Thursday and was very largely attended by relatives and friends from this and adjoining counties. Very appropriate services were conducted by Elder Claude Kery, assisted by Rev. J. W.
Lacy, of Pocomoke City, Md.

His loving and fatherly counsel will be sorely missed, not only by his immediate family, but by many people in the humbler walks of life, to whom he was an ever ready friend in times of trouble and distress.

Besides his children, he is survived by his widow and one sister, Miss Annie Robertson, and eight grand children.

MISS DORA WINGATE

Miss Dora Wingate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wingate, age about 40 years, died at White Haven late Wednesday evening, February 28, of bronchial pneumonia, after an illness of only a day. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. N. Givens at her late home Friday afternoon.
Interment was made in the Green Hill M. P. Church yard.

The deceased is survived by her parents, a brother, Mr. Wood Wingate, of West Virginia, and a sister, Mrs.
James Dashiell, of Baltimore.

LACY THOROUGHGOOD

Word reached Salisbury Sunday of the death of Mr. Lacy Thoroughgood, a former merchant of this place, in Avalon, N. J., about 9:45 o'clock that morning of pneumonia. Mr. Thorough-good, who was 64 years of age, was born in Barron Creek District, a son of the late William M. Thoroughgood and wife. While yet a young boy his parents moved to Salisbury.

Shortly after the great Salisbury fire in 1867, Mr. Thoroughgood started in business on the site where the Episcopal Rectory now stands. He did not however remain there long but soon moved to the Hooper Building on Main Street and engaged in the clothing business. For years he conducted a business of this character here under his own name finally selling out to a company later known as The Thoroughgood Company about 12 years ago.

He then moved to Philadelphia but about three years ago went to Avalon to take up his residence and engaged in the Real Estate business. Besides his widow, who before marriage was a Miss Bertie Barclay of Salisbury— he

Refreshingly Lovely New Garments for Spring

The return of Spring is heralded by the appearance of new Frocks, Suits and Coats—one sees them everywhere—and refreshingly lovely they are.
Two-fabric Frocks unusual, simple, straight line silhouettes, styles of grace

BOY SCOUT CAMP

National headquarters of the American Legion is passing along an idea for community service that has come from Provo, Utah. The Legion post of that community is establishing one of the finest summer camps in America for the use of the Boy Scouts of the state of Utah.

A ten acre plot of land near Aspen Grove in Provo Canyon will be utilized, within the shadow of two mountains. This land was given to the Boy Scouts of America by the government several years ago but no attempt has been made heretofore to use it. The War Department will be asked to assist by lending tents and cots. Cook houses and storerooms will be built by the Legion and the camp will be laid out in strict military style.

STAND BY FRANCE

Alvin Owsley national commander of the American Legion, has received a message from the League of Section chiefs and Combatant Soldiers of France, thanking the Legion for a resolution adopted by the Legion's national executive committee supporting the stand France in the Ruhr Valley contention.

"The League of Section Chiefs and Combatant Soldiers sincerely thank the American Legion for the resolutions adopted," the message states. Let us rely on you as you are to count on us."

The resolution adopted by the Legion's national executive committee stated that Germans had deliberately wrecked the financial system of the country to evade payment of reparations to France and that France was justified in taking steps to collect its debt from Germany by invading the Ruhr district.

WANTS HOSPITAL

The American Legion of this state is backing a bill for the return to Oklahoma hospitals of all Oklahoma war veterans suffering from mental diseases. The bill calls for an appropriation of $100,000 for a building in which veterans will be segregated from other patients with mental diseases. Fifty Oklahoma men are scattered in hospitals of other states.

LEGISLATION PENDING

The American Legion of Idaho is pressing a legislative program including appropriations for veterans' welfare commission, the establishment of an American Legion Hospital museum, making Armistice Day a legal holiday and an anti-land ownership bill.

BILL INTRODUCED

A bill has been introduced in the Indiana legislature authorizing boards of county commissioners to convey to the American Legion real estate or buildings for use as memorials. Such conveyances may be made on petition of at least 100 freeholders in the county in which the real estate is located.

A DYING REQUEST

Robert Dillon, veteran of the war and American Legion member, dying in Denver, Colo., of tuberculosis contracted in the service, shortly before the end donated $57.50, his insurance money, and $100 compensation to the Near East Relief. His gift will guarantee the life of one child for more than two years.

TO ADOPT CLAIMS

The American Legion of South Dakota is filing the traveling appeals board of the Veterans' Administration, in an attempt to clean up all claims for service men in this district. Strong efforts are being made to reach every veteran and have him present his claims for compensation, hospitalization or vocational education.

LAWS FOR DISABLED

Urging upon the nation's lawmakers the necessity of liberalization of the present Federal regulations governing the care of the war's disabled, John Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of the American Legion's national legislative committee, appeared recently before a House committee in the first hearing of this nature since 1921.

Mr. Taylor asked: That the word "pulmonary" be stricken from the act governing care of tuberculosis veterans, so that approximately 1800 men suffering from tuberculosis of the bones and glands can receive government hospitalization and compensation.

That the time limit be extended to five years, wherein a man can automatically have tuberculosis or mental trouble rated as of service origin.

That the time limit, now expired, be extended to August 9, 1926, for the disabled to receive certificates of disability, where the injury has been rated at less than ten per cent.

That the time limit be extended from 1926 to 1931 in which conversion of government insurance policies may be made.

It is expected that leaders in Congress will conform to the Legion's request for the creation of special House and Senate committees to consider veteran legislation.

VETERANS' AFFAIRS

Charges that there are no Committee on Veterans' Affairs in the House of Representatives, the government is losing a great deal of money were made by Congressman Hamilton Fish, of New York, at a recent hearing when the annual appropriations for the United States Veterans' Bureau were being discussed.

Mr. Fish stated that Congress is not devoting enough attention to the affairs of service men and that a sub-committee gave only two days' hearing to the Veterans' Bureau, which spends approximately $500,000, hang fire any longer.

"The American Legion stands squarely behind the French in collecting reparations from the Germans," Commander Owsley said, adding:

"Ask President Harding why he ordered the American troops home from the Rhine. Was it in protest of the French move into the Ruhr district? Those troops were left there to preserve world peace, why were they withdrawn?"

Commander Owsley's stand on the Ruhr valley question is based on a recent resolution adopted by the Legion's national executive committee which charges that the Germans have wrecked their financial system to avoid payment of reparations.

Two Millions Subscribed

The San Francisco board of supervisors has announced that plans have been completed for the creation of a war memorial for which $2,000,000 has been subscribed. The board authorized acquisition by the city of territory adjoining the civic center which the memorial will be built. The memorial will consist of an opera house, an art museum and an American Legion building. The 1923 national convention of the American Legion will be held in San Francisco next fall.

Plants Memorial Tree

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, prominent member of the American Legion, planted a tree to the memory of his brother, Quentin, in the yard of the public school where they were students as boys when their father was President.

It was many years since Col. Roosevelt had visited the school. He sat in his seat a moment, and told the classmate used to pull the queue of the son of the Chinese minister who sat ahead of him. The tree was planted by the American Tree Association.

Working for Admission

The American Legion is working in Washington with Senator Kellogg of Minnesota to permit the admission into this country of the relatives of Louis Kosman, an Albanian by birth, who served in the war. Kosman's mother, two brothers and his fiancée are in Ochrida, in the Serb-Croat-Slovene state.

Eighteen years ago Kosman bade his family goodbye, after his mother had placed a rifle in his hands and told him to go forth to avenge the death of his father at the hands of the Turks. He served in guerilla bands and was captured by the Turks and condemned to death, but escaped by bribing the jailer. He made his way to the United States.

Kosman has the money to bring his loved ones to St. Paul, his home, he says, and his comrades of the Legion believe the law will influence to cut the immigration red tape so that the reunion can be effected.

To Get Blanks In

With the State bonus bill signed by Governor Davis, the American Legion of Kansas is proffering the use of its organization for the distribution, signing and collection of application blanks for all ex-service men. State Adjutant Frank J. Entertain, in word to all Legion posts within the borders of Kansas to stand ready to help the men and women who wore the uniform.

Subsequent legislation will define the scope of the bonus payments, but it is certain now that every Kansas man, woman or boy who served in the American or any allied army will receive the gratuity.

MORAL FOUNDATIONS OF OUR CITIZENSHIP

Mr. W. C. Pearce, associate general secretary of the World Sunday School Association, who spoke at the long table luncheon, Baltimore, recently, said that he was a lawyer by profession who had become so conscious of the need for the spiritual and moral education of youth that he had decided to give up his life to the effort to stimulate interest in it. In his recent trip around the world he had visited 29 nations, and everywhere found uncertainty and confusion if not disorder. As an example of the uncertainty that reigns in Europe, he mentioned that when he was in Europe the exchanges varied five times in a day. Some spoke said, cynically or resignedly, "National rise and nations fall." The Persian and Roman empires perished, and the day will come when the British Empire and the United States will decay. Others spoke as if it were not possible to improve matters, and yet people now living could remember when yellow fever and bubonic plague were a terror to mankind, but these have now been subdued.

The greatest problem of the present day is that the world has advanced in intelligence at a greater rate than in spirituality. The world has seen an immense advance in power, but it is largely power unmotivated by spirituality. Science, which ought to have been a help to mankind, is sometimes used to multiply the means of destruction, as in the case of the latest kind of poison gas, of which one aeroplane load would be sufficient to wipe out all human and every other form of life in the whole city of London. In the face of this growth of unmotivated power, all the religious bodies—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—must teach their young their own form of faith and morals. Nations and leagues of nations, city clubs and cities like Baltimore are no better than the individuals composing them. The most dangerous section of society is the element which engages in large scale operations like the hijacking of railways or land, though these activities are not always called by their proper name—theft.

There are at the present time in the United States 12,000,000 boys twelve years of age and under who are not receiving any kind of religious training. There are 25,000,000 twenty-five years of age and under who have no religious affiliations of any kind. On the other hand, there is an extraordinary demand in their way to reason and everywhere practically throughout the world for secular education. But this education may actually become a danger unless it is spiritually motivated. Everywhere, he found, people are looking to the United States for an example of the moral and spiritual life, for if America fails in her moral and spiritual life the world fails; they are looking for American visits, especially for those of people willing to speak at universities and colleges. In the third place, they are looking for American finance to start them in their way to reconstruction, and it was his judgment that there should be a partnership between financial assistance and the kind of effort for which he had been pleading.

MRS. KING PAYS IT HIGH TRIBUTE

Declares Tanlac Completely Overcame Indigestion, Palpitation, Dizziness and General Weakness.

Tanlac has made a healthy, happy woman of me and I think it is the greatest medicine ever made," declared Mrs. Sallie King, a highly esteemed resident of 1815 N. Durham street, Baltimore, recently.

"For many years I suffered from a terrible case of stomach trouble, and finally got so weak and run-down that I often had to stop my housework and lie down. Everything I ate disagreed with me. Gas pains, bloating and palpitation kept me in misery, and I had a pain under my heart that was agony. Constipation was always troubling me, and I had blinding headaches and such dizzy spells that I could hardly stay on my feet. My limbs were so stiff and painful that to even climb the stairs meant suffering, and I simply felt like a cripple. I was extremely nervous, too, and my sleep at night was always broken and restless. I often wish I could tell every sufferer in the world of the wonderful help Tanlac has been to me. All those dreadful pains and aches have gone away, the Vegetable Pills have overcome my constipation, and I am eating, sleeping and feeling fine. I never expect to be without Tanlac any more."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Adv.

1200 PEOPLE ATTEND TWO PERFORMANCES

Bungle Brothers Circus, "Y" Benefit, Goes Off In Great Shape.

SHOW AT ARCADE IS A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Diversified Programme, Snappily Run Off, Keeps Audiences Interested Until Final Fall Of Curtain—Those In Charge To Be Congratulated On Efforts.

The "Y" Circus held in the Arcade afternoon and evening Monday was a howling success and several hundred dollars was realized. The kiddies were in abundance at the matinee and around 600, including the older persons, were in attendance. In the evening the crowd was just about the same size.

The parade, which preceded the afternoon performance, was witnessed by hundreds who lined the streets sometime in advance of the hour set.
The evening performance opened very effectively with a triangle representing the spirit of the "Y" made up of boys, girls and young ladies from the physical classes while the organist played Onward Christian Soldiers.
Drills, horse and springboard stunts mat work, a mid building and dances skillfully executed by members of the High School and Junior Classes boys and girls proved highly interesting and entertaining to the audiences.
"Camel" Perdue proved highly amusing in the role of a clown by doing a chair-balancing act on a trapeze.
"Jim" Bannister was as usual in fine fettle with Indian club swinging and ring work while "H" Brewington again demonstrated his ability as a "trainer" of wild animals.

Dewey Morris, Everett Duncan and Prof. Unger of the High School factually presented "line pictures", an act which took well. With the rays of a spotlight shining upon them, various poses depicting marble statues work were very successfully gotten off ending with "The Dying Gladiator".
Mr. Hoffman, of Woolworth's store evoked roars of laughter from the audience in the role of a Spanish Foreigner as he met in mortal combat a bull, finally putting an end to the animal by putting in front of his nostrils a bunch of onions. Messrs.
Kerlico of Swift & Co., and Roe, of the American Cigar Company proving to be the "bull".

The side show was also a side-splitting presentation, the parts of the freaks such as The Gypsy Girl, snake charmer, Pocahontas and others being taken effectively by high school girls.
Physical Director Boggs, by special request, did several gymnastic stunts.
Prof. Pamphile, as predicted, delighted the audience with his trained dogs, cats, monkeys and birds. His act brought to a happy conclusion the circus. The animals were well trained and performed many stunts well highly amusing.

Although named "Bungle" Brothers
Messrs. Hammerslough and Boggs far from lived up to the meaning of the name and, with the assistance given them presented a show of which Salisbury might well be proud.

Strange Story Is Told By Colored Girl

Claims To Have Been Kidnapped By Four White Men While On Way Home From Church

A strange story of abduction is told by Sara Parsons, colored, aged 14, who says that while she was on her way home from church on Sunday night last when she had reached a wharf on West Main St., a car pulled up which contained four white men.
One of the men, she alleged, caught her as she started to run and dragged her in the car.

She was then blindfolded and carried up into Delaware. On the way up she was questioned, she claims, and when she told that she was a daughter of Berry Parsons, an employee at the Peninsula Hotel, whom one of the men claimed he knew, she was put out at Laurel where she stayed all night with an old colored woman who gave her the money to come home on Monday morning's train.
She claims no violence was attempted by the men who were riding in a car bearing a New Jersey license.

Blaze Threatens To Destroy Fair Grounds

Fire Department, However, Quenches
Fire Which Burns A Section Of Stables.

A section of stables at the Fair Grounds, alongside the River Road, was burned on Thursday night of last week, entailed a damage of about $1,000, partly covered by insurance. Because of having to get water from a branch near by, the Fire Department was somewhat hampered in its work. The blaze was discovered about 9 o'clock by a passerby, who turned in the alarm.

The Pneumonia Month.

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its return in pneumonia. Children take it willingly.—Adv.

NO PARKING LIGHTS NECESSARY DOWN TOWN

Following a conference on Monday between Mayor W. A.
Kenny and Sergeant Phillips,
new Commander of Sub-Station
E, Maryland State Police here, an order was issued effective March 6th, by the State Police to the effect that no parking lights would be necessary in the following zones: Main Street from the Pivot Bridge up to the N. Y. P. & N. Tracks—Division Street from East Church to the South Division Street Bridge—Camden street from South Division to Dock.

This is indeed a laudable act on the part of the new officers and will doubtless do much to bring a better feeling between citizens and the police as the necessity of having to have lighted a parking lamp in the business area, which is brightly illuminated, has been the cause in the past of much unpleasantness and has tended to make out-of-town people, who had been caught in stores or elsewhere by darkness, wary of coming to Salisbury to shop because of existing auto regulations.

INSPECTION COMPANY "I" SATISFACTORY

Cap. Russell Is Commended On Way
In Which Records And Property Are Kept—Outfit Shows Improvement
In Training And Instruction, Says
Colonel Markey.

Co. "I" stood the annual state and federal inspection at the Armory on Tuesday night. The inspecting officers were: Col. D. John Markey, Commanding the First Regiment and Capt. E. H. Johnson, of the regular army. They were accompanied by Major Harwood, commanding officer of the 8th Battalion of which the Salisbury Company is a unit. Sergeant-Major W. J. Notnagle and Sergeant Kotwall, of the Military Storekeeper's office, were also in the visiting party.
37 enlisted men and three commisioned officers were lined up to undergo the inspection.

In an interview with Colonel Markey after the inspection, that officer told a representative of the News that the examination of the unit had been a very satisfactory one, that the records of Captain Russell's outfit were in very good condition as was the property. Inclement weather, said the Colonel, and men on furlough naturally cut down the number on the floor.

"The training and instruction was very satisfactory," said the First Regiment's commanding officer, "the present strength of Company 'I' is 59 men but Captain Russell is making plans to secure about ten more recruits. The 1st Regiment, scattered in 16 towns of the state is in splendid condition and shows a marked improvement over last year."

He also announced while in Salisbury that the Summer Training Camp would be held at Edgewood about July 21st and last 15 days, and that this camp would be the only training camp for the National Guard this year.

ICE CREAM PLANT TO START ON APRIL 1ST

Will Be Most Modern One South Of Philadelphia—O. C. Heath To Have Charge Of Milk Routes

The Peninsula Ice Cream Company will have the most modern plant south of Philadelphia. The plant is now being equipped with modern machines for the manufacture of ice cream, butter, condensed milk, pasteurized milk, cheese and butter milk poultry feeds. They will be in a position to buy and use all the milk that the farmers can produce. The Company will spare no pains or expense in seeing that products of the very highest quality are furnished their customers and that the best service will be rendered and prompt attention will be given all orders. The Company is to be congratulated in being able to secure the services of Mr.
E. M. Brown, of New York State, who is not only a graduate of Chemistry, but has also had considerable experience in the creamery and ice cream business. They are also very fortunate in being able to secure the services of Mr. O. C. Heath, who will have the general supervision of all the milk routes, the sale of their general line of products and the prompt service required of their customers.
Mr. Heath was connected with one Company for 21 consecutive years and is a valuable man. With this equipment and working team the Peninsula Ice Cream Company is set to go and make a success. This is a home Company with all of its products "Made in

Less Than 10 Fail To Comply With Order

Postoffice Department Will Allow A Little More Time For Providing Of Mail Receipts.

Co-operation of Salisbury people with the country-wide campaign of the Postoffice Department to have each dwelling provided with a private mail receptacle has been whole-hearted and prompt, says Assistant Postmaster H. Winter Owens, and today there are less than 10 who have failed to carry out the request here.
The time allowed for the installation of these receptacles is up and the government is now at liberty to cause these people to call at the office for their mail. This will not be necessary the above official thinks, as this small number have likely inadvertently neglected the order.

61 Converted During The Asbury Services

An Aftermath Of Revival 81 Members Have Been Added To Church Roll
With More To Follow.

The Revival Services recently conducted in the Asbury Church under the direction of its Minister, Dr. Herson closed last Sunday evening.
These meetings were held for three weeks and were in some sense the most successful meetings held in this church for years. The total number of conversions was 61 and every one of these persons made acknowledgement of need of Jesus and their purpose to lead a new life by publicly confessing Him as their Lord and Master. That the whole church has been greatly stirred is further evidenced by the fact that 81 persons united with the church during the services ending last Sunday evening and a number of others will be received next Sunday. Several folks have united with other churches in the city.

Dr. Herson is quite anxious that in the four Sundays remaining before the meeting of Conference at Dover, and the close of his ministry here,
should see conversions at every service of the church and the whole church is united with him for this work.

selves in other fields. Lieutenant Peppersack will be in charge on the Shore for some time to come. The commander of Substation E, this city, will be Sergeant Phillips; himself an Eastern Shoreman who comes very highly recommended by his superiors
as a first-class officer.

Spring

Spring is the word of action on the farm—planning, arranging and getting ready for a season of production.
Back of all are the dollars which will be reaped.

The good farmer has long since learned that his harvest will be in proportion to the efficient methods employed in planting—cultivating—reaping.

It is plows, harrows—cultivators and reapers, with painstaking attention to soil—seed and marketing, that make for success.

All of these essentials are also a part of our business.
Your success is necessary if we are to succeed in our

THE NEED OF SPECIALISTS IS RECOGNIZED

Country People Beginning to Appreciate Value of Trained Teachers—Rural Schools Division, U. S. Bureau of Education, Seeking in Every Way to Help Cause.

The United States Bureau of Education sends out messages twice a week from the naval aircraft station at Radio, near Arlington, Va., on a wave length of 710 meters. The messages are sent on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6:46 to 7 o'clock, Eastern time. As they will come on a regular schedule, the public may become fully informed on matters of general educational interest by following the lectures each week. The following subjects with dates are announced for the remainder of this month:

March 8—All-year Schools.
March 12—How to Educate Yourself at Home.
March 15—Thrill Activities in Certain Foreign Schools.

March 19—The People's Schools in Denmark.
March 22—Why the United States Bureau of Education Started a Radio Service.

March 24—Give Your Teachers a Chance for Training.
March 25—Work of the Library Division of the United States Bureau of Education.

Supervision for Rural Schools. City school systems in the United States have long furnished for their children the advantages which come from expert professional school supervision. Large cities employ approximately one supervisor for every twenty teachers, whose business it is to help the teachers to give more and better instruction to the children in the schools. Now country children need this same kind of expert supervision, even more than city children, because, as a rule, they have not so much mature or so well trained as city teachers; they do not remain as long in their positions and so become as familiar with their work; and they have not in most cases the advantage of counsel and advice from principals and other teachers in the same or nearby school buildings. Often, too, the school term is shorter in the country, and one teacher has many grades and subjects to teach, while the city teacher has few. Therefore the country teacher, with many responsibilities and difficulties, needs the help of a good supervisor far more than any other.

Country people are beginning to appreciate the need of professionally trained supervisors. This is evidenced by the fact that an increasing number are being employed each year for work among rural schools. In Ohio alone there are over 200 such supervisors; in New Jersey there are from one to three in each county, averaging about one supervisor to every fifty rural teachers throughout the State; Wisconsin employs 97 special assistants to county superintendents and two rural State supervisors who exercise general direction over the work. Other States are making progress in this direction to such an extent that over 1,000 professional rural supervisors in the United States were reported to the Bureau of Education in 1921. This is a great advance in the effort to give the country boys and girls as good an opportunity for education as city children have long had.

Rural School Conditions. Information concerning rural school conditions is collected and distributed by the Bureau. The rural schools division serves country people, parents and patrons, as well as school officers through free publications, through correspondence, radio messages, the rural press and articles dealing directly with rural schools in the Bureau's monthly magazine, School Life.

The Division has prepared for circulation among school officers or other responsible persons lantern slides on rural school conditions and activities and two moving picture films—one on school consolidation in the United States and one on rural school supervision. These may be borrowed without charge except for necessary transportation expenses. Five sets of lantern slides may be borrowed. Two sets illustrate consolidation, one school activities, one school buildings and grounds, one transportation.

FLAT RATE TO HELP AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Motorists Find Dealers Making Sincere Effort to Hold Their Good Will—Instituted by Dodge Bros.

Automobile manufacturers and dealers are rapidly learning how important it is to satisfy car owners with service of character at a reasonable cost.

Following the example of Dodge Brothers, who were among the first to make other organizations are planning, or completing similar arrangements to increase service efficiency and reap the good will of car owners. In this connection it is interesting to note the manner in which Dodge Brothers attacked the problem, and the results accruing from their adoption of the flat-rate system. The outline here given is from a statement issued by the factory:

Our flat-rate system was started over a year ago, and is now used by the majority of Dodge Brothers dealers. They advise that this system has made it possible to provide really efficient service to car owners and that the dealers on the subject of service charges. Advising the car owner of the cost of service work in advance, convinces him that many charges which in the old days were regarded as excessive were really justified. Few car owners have any idea of the amount of labor involved in making repairs. In the installation of a very small amount of new material it is quite possible that the necessary labor will cost a comparatively

Farm Bureau President At Home

The car owner is certain to benefit through the installation of the flat-rate system because there is now an incentive for the dealer to study short-cut methods and install labor-saving devices. This will allow him to increase the volume of work passing through his service station, thus decreasing his overhead cost. The saving permits him to lessen his flat-rate charges to car owners and at the same time make a fair business profit.

"With an efficient service station the dealer is in a position to meet the competition of inferior, inefficient repair shops and construct a continuing contact with the car owner. This results in a better mutual understanding and eventually eliminated from the mind of his patron the idea now so prevalent that service stations are places to be avoided because of their unfair charges. The dealer has no desire to make his profit through exorbitant charges on a few service jobs which drift to him because the car owner knows of no other place to go.

Our experience with the flat-rate plan is such that we look forward to the time in the near future when every Dodge Brothers car owner will patronize a Dodge Brothers approved service station operated by one of our dealers. In such service stations they will be sure of receiving prompt, courteous, economical and efficient service. Through efficiency in the operation of the service station, brought about by the flat-rate method, the car owner will obtain lower prices than can be obtained in unapproved, unsupervised, independent service stations."

AMERICA LEADS IN PERCENTAGE ILLITERATES

This Country Has Largest Number Who Cannot Read or Write—South Is Most Ignorant.

Among the enlightened nations of the world, the United States has the largest percentage of persons who can neither read nor write. Tabled with other countries, this is how we stand:

Germany	2.2%
Denmark	2.2%
Switzerland	2.5%
Netherlands	2.6%
Finland	2.9%
Norway	1.0%
Sweden	1.1%
Scotland	1.6%
England and Wales	1.8%
France	4.9%
United States	6.0%

With the average annual decrease of 58,426, illiteracy will not disappear from the United States for 84 years. Acquiring ability to read and write by a child depends upon the accident of residence.

These are a few of the many startling statements made by John K. Norton, director of the research division of the National Education Association, 1201 Sixteenth street Northwest, Washington. They appear in Bulletin No. 2 of the research division.

Illiteracy is not solely a problem of the South. New York, because of its size, has more illiterates than any State in the Union, and three of our Northern States contain a greater number of illiterates than any other three States of the Union. "That the percentage is smaller in our Northern States is beside the issue," says Norton. "A cancer, whether large or small, is a dangerous thing."

Northern States:

New York	425,022
Pennsylvania	312,699
Illinois	173,987
Total	896,654

The division of the United States with the highest percentage of adult illiterates are South Atlantic, 13.9 per cent.; East South Central, 11.5. The States with the highest percentage in each division: South Carolina, 23; Mississippi, 20.8; Louisiana, 24.9. No other division comes anywhere near these three.

New England 6.1
Middle Atlantic 6.2
East North Central 3.6
West Central 2.5
South Atlantic 13.9
East South Central 15.4
West South Central 11.5
Mountain 6.9
Pacific 3.1

Between the years 1910 and 1920 twelve States made an increase in the numbers of illiterate persons over 10 years of age.

these figures, the female of the species is considerably tougher than the male.

The comparison of the expectation of life in the different section of the country indicates that the Middle-westerner has the best chance for a long life of anyone in this country. While Kansas stands at the head of the list, Wisconsin and Minnesota rank almost as high. The five Mid-western States of Kansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri and Illinois average 59.74 years for women and 57.76 for men. The average is lowered by the inclusion of Illinois, probably on account of the large urban population in Chicago. Missouri, with St. Louis, is also a good deal more than the first three States.—Wallace's Farmer.

TWO INCOMES

When John D. Rockefeller was a struggling young bookkeeper in Cleveland he laid the foundation for his now great fortune by putting in operation a very old but positive law of success.

He wasn't satisfied with a $9 per week salary. He naturally wanted more—but he had only one pair of hands—and one head. So he saved AND PUT MONEY TO WORK for him—his savings. Then he had TWO incomes—instead of one.

Two incomes are better than one. Your wage, salary or crop profit may be fine—but when money comes to you in the form of interest—as well as the other—then you are on the road to a comfortable old age.

HOW WOMEN OF THIS STATE ARE SHACKLED

Showing in What Respect the Law Discriminates Against the Weaker Sex in the Home and Out—Divorce Laws Discriminate Against Wife in Favor of Husband.

By LENORE CALVERT.

Everyone knows that the feminine banner was not raised after the passage of the Eighteenth amendment. There are those, however, who claim that woman's fight against shackles is a phantom fight today—a species of hysteria.

What relics of the dark ages has woman in Maryland to combat in 1927? How far short of equality is her status under the law? Here are the outstanding signs of her inferiority, as they appear in the Maryland code; and as they are being attacked by the Just Government League and other organizations:

The father is given control of the children, their education and their labor. The mother is explicitly granted their "reverence and respect."

The father may appoint, by will, a guardian for the children other than the mother; and this without her consent or knowledge.

The father controls the labor and earnings of his children, and he alone may sue for a wrongful injury to the child, this injury being reckoned as a property loss to him. If damages are awarded, they go to the father alone. A father alone may sue for the seduction of his daughter. The court has said that the legal control of the father over the person of the daughter and his right to her services continue until she attains the age of 21.

The father may appoint a child as an apprentice, though the mother, even if she be a widow, may not.

A married woman has no right, in Maryland, to choose her legal residence. For instance, if her husband maintains a residence in another State, she must go to that State to vote, having no right to vote in the State of Maryland.

Maryland divorce laws clearly discriminate against the wife in favor of the husband. If, before marriage, and without the knowledge of the husband, the wife has been unchaste, the husband may secure a divorce on the ground of the wife's unchastity on the part of the husband previous to marriage is not a ground for divorce. Thus the double standard is written into the statute books.

A married woman is not responsible, in Maryland, for any felony other than treason or homicide, when committed in the presence of her husband. The law presumes that the woman is "under his coercion and consequently without guilty intent."

Under Maryland law, "a husband is entitled to the benefit of his wife's services." To establish a claim for the right to retain her earnings for her own property, the wife must produce evidence to show that she has definitely chosen to work as an independent person. In the Maryland records are numerous instances where the husband and not the wife has been able to collect money for services rendered by her in giving board or otherwise earning money within the home.

On the same theory—which is a common law theory and came over from England in the days of woman's subservience, the husband may sue for the loss of his wife's services in case she is injured through the negligence of another. The wife may recover damages only for her pain and suffering.

Inheritance laws discriminate against women, since in the inheritance of both personal property and real estate the male line is often preferred to the female line. For example, the grandfather is preferred to the grandmother, and the eldest son, if of age, is preferred to the extent that the law gives to him first choice among the children of taking the property intact, when the estate cannot be divided without loss, and paying the other heirs their share in money or himself taking a money share.

Maryland bars women from juries and from certain public offices. Penalties for sex offenses are not equal. A white woman who has a child by a negro or mulatto may be sentenced to the Penitentiary for a number of years. A white man is not punished in any way for a similar act.—Baltimore News.

MISS KELL MADE 140 VISITS IN FEBRUARY

Visits to 11 Schools Show Defective Teeth and Tonsils to Be Most Latent Troubles.

The school report of Miss Mary C. Kell, Red Cross nurse for Wicomico county, submitted to the Nursing committee of that organization this week, shows the following activities during the month of February:

Number of schools visited, 11; hours spent in schools, 33; visits to schools, 128; individual health inspections, 128; weighed and measured, 167. Defects were found in children as follows: Vision, 6; tonsils, 52; teeth, 80; nose, 17; underweight, five pounds or more, 87; overweight, five pounds or more, 40; nits, 6; symptoms of ringworm, 1; of impetigo, 1. Six class talks were given.

The nursing report reveals that at the first of the month there were four cases under the care of the official, while 12 new ones developed during February. Thirty-three nursing visits were made—7 infant welfare, 1 prenatal; tuberculosis, 6; child welfare, 2; social service, 10; visits to schools, 14; office interviews, 16; attendance at clinics, 3; friendly visits, 25; other visits, 38. In all, a total of 140 visits were made.

Of the 16 cases under the nurse's care during the month, 14 were free patients, one was a metropolitan case and the other paid for the services.

DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration and aspiration—which renews strength and courage.

The church keeps the eyes of the spirit open to the higher things which life offers and becomes a source for the courage required to meet the demands of every day life.

Sunday is the day the church delivers its oral message to the world. Doubly fortified is the man who hears it and applies it throughout the week.

Sunday is the church's day. Respect it. Go to church and renew your spiritual vision—take the vision into your work and note how it helps.

THOUSANDS WOMEN MUST FILE RETURNS

Internal Revenue Collector Tait Gives Valuable Information for Them in This Connection.

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Galen L. Tait, of the District of Maryland:

Thousands of women are required to file an income tax return and pay a tax on their net income for the year 1927. No official estimate can be given of the number of such women, but statistics of income can be given for the year 1926, recently issued, show that approximately 503,000 women filed returns for that year, claiming the $1,000 exemption allowed a single person. The amount of net income reported by these women was $1,264,958,727. In addition, there were filed 132,181 returns by women claiming an exemption of $2,000 as the head of a family, "a person who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals closely related to him (or her) by blood, marriage or adoption." Net income reported by these women for the year 1926 amounted to $988,344,500. Under the revenue act now in force, the personal exemption allowed to head of a family is $2,500 if the net income for 1927 was $5,000 or less, and $2,000 if the net income exceeded $5,000.

The number of wives making separate returns from husbands for the year 1926 was 77,558, reporting a net income of $534,840,405. These figures show the income reported in returns filed by women forms an important part of the aggregate income of the people of the United States.

A woman who was widowed during the year 1922, unless the head of a family or remarried on or before December 31, 1922, may claim a personal exemption of only $1,000. A divorcee, or wife who continuously and without necessity makes her home apart from her husband, is classified as a single person and is entitled to only the $1,000 personal exemption.

Whether a man and wife are "living apart," for the purpose of the income tax law, depends upon individual circumstances. A wife who supports an invalid husband in a sanitarium may claim the exemption allowed a married couple. The separation is one of necessity.

The revenue act does not prescribe the amount of exemption allowed a married woman living with her husband. Married couples living together are granted an exemption of $2,500 or $3,000, depending upon whether their combined net income is $5,000 or less, or more than $5,000. Husband and wife may make separate returns, or they make a joint return. In the event separate returns are made, either husband or wife may claim the exemption allowed married persons, or they may divide it between them in proportion as they choose.

The period for filing income tax returns ends at midnight March 15th.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

AN EXPERIMENT IN DISCIPLINE By NELLIE FITCH KINGSLEY.

When our eldest daughter was three years old she contracted a habit of running away to play with a small neighbor in her sandpile, though she had one of her own.

I had always held to the rule of making no promises of reward or punishment which were not fulfilled, and of explaining the reasons for my action beforehand.

One day, after many escapades, I said to her, "Mary, I have told you how necessary it is for me to know where you are all the time, and how wrong it is for you to go away without asking me. I find that I cannot trust you to do this, so I have decided if you run away again to bring you home and tie one end of a long rope to your waist and the other end to the porch. This is the best plan I can think of to help you remember what you must learn to do."

A few days later she ran away again. Another child brought her home. I took her to my room to get her story, knowing there was a long struggle before me. I used every device I could think of to persuade her to tell me where she had been without asking my permission, but without success. Finally I told her all the events of her morning to her utter dumbfounding. Then I said, "Why didn't you tell me about this yourself? Her answer was instant and conclusive, "Because you said you would tie me to the front porch, and you always do what you say, and I didn't want people to know that you could not trust me."

I saw my Waterloo. If I kept my promise I might injure her self-respect and make her sullen; if I broke my word I might weaken my authority—that bugaboo of Puritan parents. I thought hard and fast and then said, "Why did I say I would tie you to the porch?"

"To make me remember not to run away." "Do you think it would make you remember?" "I don't know."

Sings First to Two Continents

Miss Edith Bennett, of N. Y., is a happy soprano. Singing from Newark, N. J., Feb. 25, her sixteen songs were heard in England and France. In Paris an amateur with a home-made radio picked up the program.

"Can you think of something else to do which would make you remember?" Quite promptly came the answer. "Yes, I think if you would tie a piece of rope around my wrist for a week, and not tie it to the front porch I would never run away again."

With an agonized apology to that Puritan ancestry, I said, "I'll try it." We did. It worked. When friends or playmates asked her why she wore the piece of rope on her wrist she told them quite simply and fully. She never disobeyed from that day nor questioned my authority so much as a flick of an eyelash—except once, but that is a different story.

Seventeen years later, as Mary, then home from college, and I spent a beautiful night discussing her life experiences and training, she said, "I can't remember any specific way that you taught us girls how to know right from wrong, but while we did wrong many times, we shined deliberately. How did you do it?"

I replied, "Think it out." Presently she said, "Well, you always made us decide for ourselves after you had talked it over with us. Was that the way?" And I think it was.

Nothing So Good for a Cough or Cold

"Everyone who has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy speaks well of it," writes Edward P. Miller, Abbottstown, Pa. People who once use this preparation are seldom satisfied with any other. It is excellent to allay a cough or break up a cold.—Advt.

What It Costs per Year NOT to OWN a Clothes Washer

There are 3 ways for a housewife to have her washing done:

1. Send it out.
2. Have a laundress come in.
3. Do it herself.

It used to be, the 3rd method was dispised and avoided, if possible by every Housewife. Now for various reasons, it is becoming the prevalent method. Some of these reasons are: (1) It is a saving; (2) It is more sanitary and satisfactory; (3) The Easy Washing Machine makes it a pleasure.

Have a demonstration without obligation and be convinced that it costs the average housewife $75.00 a year not to own an Easy Washer.

"Service Above Self"

A Business Man's Obligation To His Business

By O. B. MCCLINTOCK, President and Treasurer, O. B. McClintock Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

Next after his God, his Country and his family, a business man's greatest obligation should be to his business.

He should give to it his utmost respect and the unflinching, determined and painstaking attention, necessary to its full success.

He should build it squarely upon the great foundation of honesty. He should conduct it with integrity and dispatch. Every day he should greet it joyously, nurture it carefully, and multiply it to the limit of his best endeavors.

Besides his own best efforts, he owes to his business the efficient help, and co-operation of properly treated, well-paid employees.

He owes to his business a reasonable amount of Civic Service that it, in turn, may receive a share in those benefits so clearly defined by that motto, "He profits most who serves best."

His obligations also include those great essentials, the creation of confidence, careful financing, and generous advertising.

What greater romance is there in history than the Romance of Business? Every great line of industry is a wonder world in itself.

To guide each well-meaning, right-thinking, great-endeavoring Business Man today, there comes before us out of the past, the wonderful record made by such men as A. T. Stewart, the merchant prince of New York, Marshall Field, that great industrial leader of Chicago, John Wanamaker, philanthropist business man of Philadelphia, and Andrew Carnegie, the keen, constructive manufacturer of Pittsburgh. Each of these men started, conducted, and brought to a successful conclusion a wonderful career, based upon honest and respectful regard for his business, and intelligent and persistent application to his business.

REEDVILLE

The Virginia Fishermen's Association met in town Tuesday for the annual meeting and election of officers. Twenty or more men prominent in the fishing industry attended. All the present officers were re-elected, as follows: President, Captain J. C. Fisher; vice president, Captain John A. Haynie; treasurer, Captain J. B. Hinton; secretary, George N. Reed. After the business session the party, as is the annual custom, went to the Reedville House where a banquet dinner was served at 2 p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shackelford. The diners voted it perfect.

G. N. Reed, of this place, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Cockrell, of Melville, near Lillian, were guests of Dr. H. W. Randolph and family in Richmond for the past week-end, motor-ing over in Mr. Reed's car on Friday.

Upon being interviewed by L. B. Rice, president of the Northumberland Chamber of Commerce, stated that the Chamber is not functioning very much now. "We have been unfortunate in having meetings attended," said Mr. Rice, "but are hoping to do more when the boats begin running again and the farmers get busy. Our trappers are exceedingly busy, and some nets are going out this week."

The great sorrow which has overshadowed the home and loved ones of Captain Elias W. Edwards' family since he passed away was generally felt in the community where he was known and loved by young and old. We had all hoped that he would grow strong enough to come back to his pretty old home near Fletton, there to spend his last days on earth, but he gradually grew weaker, and having been visited by his entire family he sweetly slept the sleep that knows no waking in this life. The body was brought down on the boat Tuesday morning and carried home to await the funeral and burial Wednesday. A number of church and business friends met the funeral party at Coan and accompanied the body to his former home. Eighteen or twenty men prominent in church, social and business circles were honorary pall bearers, carrying the many handsome floral pieces. Mr. Edwards "got a great deal out of life," in the words of a friend at the funeral. He was devoted to sports and athletic games, and thoroughly interested in everything—a lovely, affable old gentleman whom every one shall miss.

Mr. Farmer, of Fairport, was paralyzed Saturday night and died on Sunday. He was buried at Roseland. Mr. Farmer was keeper of the lighthouse and had, it is said, almost reached the age for retiring and pensioning. His sudden death has left his family deeply grieved.

Mrs. Ophelia Williams, of Reed & Rice's ladies' department, was in Baltimore last week buying spring goods. Miss Fox, of Charlottesville, the new milliner, will be here with her stock in a week or two.

O. R. Williams, of Tibitha, has been a victim of grip the past week. W. B. Crowther has been attending to the store and postoffice until Mr. Williams is able to be out again.

After spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crowther at Water View, B. B. Haynie has gone back to his old home, Bay View, on the Chesapeake.

L. E. Magill is having his grocery store enlarged by the addition of wings on each side. The Dodson Brothers, of Lillian and Beverlyville, are doing the work. Mr. Magill intends to run a bakery again, as he did several years ago. Though all the stores in Reedville and many outside now sell quantities of bread, it will be very convenient to have hot rolls, hot buns and pastries so near at hand.

We will be an "honest Injun" town some of these days if we keep on growing.

The many friends of Captain James E. Marsh are glad to know that he is much better today (Monday) after being very ill on Saturday.

Mrs. Beverly, of Beverlyville, is in Baltimore this week. Miss Fannie Hull Robinson, always a welcome guest, is spending the time with her brother and the very attractive children.

Doctor Cockrell is motoring his busy rounds this week in a pretty and comfortable coupe.

Mr. Hiram Crosswell and Miss Virgie Dunnaway were married in Baltimore Saturday. They are receiving congratulations and best wishes from their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Crosswell will be at the Muir House for awhile.

We are all so glad to know that Miss Mary Blackwell, who was very ill last week, is now very much better. Miss Juliette Omohundro and a nurse from Richmond were with her all the time. Thomas Blackwell, of Chatham Military Academy, was called home on account of his sister's illness and is still here.

The supper held Friday night for the new Reedville high school fund was a success in every way. The weather was intensely cold and windy, and sickness was in nearly every home, but a large crowd assembled. Twenty gallons of oysters, thirteen big fat turkeys, together with all the delicacies, were exchanged for more than four hundred dollars in cash. Mrs. J. C. Jett, of Fletton, chairman of the supper committee, said she "never saw people work with more will nor show more interest in anything." Three hundred is a far cry from twenty thousand, but if the will is present the future may develop the way. Let us hope so!

Misses Esther Eskridge and Emma McGuigan, of Ophelia, and Margaret Davis, of Fletton, from Fredericksburg Normal, were welcome guests at their homes for the week-end.

E. R. Perkins is able to be out and looking after his road work again.

Miss Howie Haynie, of Pleasant View, Tibitha, has a music class which keeps her quite busy. She has pupils here, at Fletton, Beverly, and also nearer home.

R. C. Blackwell, of Sunnybank, has not been well this week.

People who attend the movies here, and probably some who do not, have been having a good deal of trouble for the past month or two in locating their automobiles after the show. It seems that there is a gang operating for what they probably consider amusement, but should they be discovered they will doubtless find that "they who laugh best laugh last."

Sometimes the cars are moved only from one side of the movie hall to the other, and can be found after a brief search, but others have been found up on the high school grounds. Russell Dey found his there some time ago, with coils removed and otherwise damaged. Tom Berry, of Tibitha, whose car was stolen Saturday night, found it on Monday in the woods back of Crowder's store. A reward has been offered for the guilty ones.

SHARPTOWN

Leslie Nelson who for several years has been engaged with I. H. Rider, farming near town left Mr. Rider, by mutual consent, and has become a partner with Harvey Newart in the milling business about two miles from Galestown on the stream above. Mr. Newart has a milling business established and Mr. Nelson will take over an interest in this and the firm will add new machinery and propose to develop the business and largely increase the output of the various products. Mr. Nelson entered his new field of labor on Monday morning.

On Saturday evening the fourth quarterly conference of the M. E. Church was held. Dr. Vaughn S. Collins, district superintendent, presided. Reports were good, finances well up to date and pastor, Rev. H. S. Dulany, will return having been previously invited. Dr. Collins preached on Sunday night and at Spring Grove on Sunday morning.

W. D. Gravenor, superintendent of the M. E. ## WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMAN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Engleman. You should give it a fair trial now.

Spending a Million a Day For Live Stock

If you put a million dollars cash into your pocket every morning, and it was all spent by noon, you'd feel that you had been doing something people would be interested in hearing about, wouldn't you?

We spend on an average of a million dollars every morning of the year—Sundays and holidays excepted.

This money comes from the retail dealer and the consumer in exchange for products. With it we buy live stock. In our hands this live stock becomes meat and by-products, which through our widespread service of refrigerator cars and branch houses, becomes available to every consumer.

Our 1923 Year Book, just published, gives you our financial standing; it tells you that our profit from all sources for 1922 averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound and only 2 cents on each dollar of sales, and a great deal of other information about our business and the service which we render.

We shall be glad to mail you a copy if you will send us your address.

Be Wise Build a Home

"The vital need of America today is houses for the homeless. Thousands upon thousands of families are dependent upon landlords for shelter, while other thousands are taking what accommodations they can find in hotels. Prices for these accommodations are subject to human whims—renters can do nothing but protest at high rates.

"The solution of this national condition is in the building of homes enough to take care of the homeless. The larger cities are not the only places in which people are living in cramped quarters. Right here on the Eastern Shore there are far from enough houses. One of the crying needs of Salisbury is accommodation for its many classes of people. Homes are so scarce that many people who would permanently locate here hesitate because the housing problem is acute. This section of Maryland would build up much more rapidly if homes for new citizens were readily available.

"Decide today that you will own your own home. It is perfectly possible, even for people with limited resources. This is the time to put your building plans into operation. Call on us at your earliest opportunity and be sure to ask for your copy of BETTER BUILT HOMES—More than 350 Plans from which to select.

ORGANIZATION AND CO-OPERATION CAN CENTER ATTENTION ON THIS PENINSULA

Soil, Climate And Location Of Delmarva Peninsula Offer Everything To Be Desired In Farming, Says Secretary Freeman In Specially Penned Article.

Geography has always played a large part in the religious, social and economic life of peoples. The citizens of the Valley of Virginia differ in custom, characteristics and language tones from those persons who live but a short distance away over the crest of the Blue Ridge. This chain of mountains has acted as a barrier to the mingling of the people and is a good illustration of how physical geography influences the lives of individuals and nations. The reasons for this divergence of personality is found in the fact that the western migration in the State of Pennsylvania were checked by the Alleghany mountains, and the early settlers, not caring to win a way over the mountains, naturally remained in the valley along the Cumberland Valley to the Potomac and then an easy way was found up the Shenandoah.

The citizens of the Delmarva Peninsula have been likewise affected by the geographical location of the Chesapeake Bay, and as a result the peninsula is not only an economic unit, but a social and political unit. Its people are homogeneous, while its soil, climate and relation to the sea and bay are uniform. It is true that, extending as it does through three-fourth degree latitude, there are some normal divergences in temperature between Cape Charles on the south and the Wilmington-Ellington line on the north, but this only slightly indicates itself in crop growth.

This Peninsula is the most outstanding example in the overlapping of crop production that can be found. It is, I think, true that the peninsula can be grown every kind of crop that is grown in the United States with the exception of citrus fruits. At the present time no effort is being made to grow cotton or tobacco, yet it is a well-known fact that both of these do very well on this peninsula. It is not an unusual thing to find peanuts being grown in paying quantities. Pecan trees produce crops regularly, while buckwheat is grown in considerable volume. It is unnecessary to mention such crops as wheat, clover and corn, because one sees these growing everywhere in the peninsula throughout the section. The rivers, bays and ocean team with all kinds of valuable food, fish and wild birds. It is the half-way house in climate between the summer heat of the south and the rigors of the northern winters. Nature has thus provided the peninsula for every line of soil culture or outdoor sport that any one may desire.

When one takes all these items into consideration, it is at once apparent that this similarity of soil and climate makes for the peninsula a community of interest among all its citizens. Whatever progress, legislation or co-operative movement may be beneficial to one section of the peninsula will be of importance to all the peninsula. To illustrate, strawberries are grown in quantities from the north to the south, and any action beneficial, let us say, to the two counties of Virginia would be as economically sound in Delaware and Maryland. The same conclusion, it seems, would be true of every other crop or industry.

This wonderful soil, climate and location offer everything to be desired either along specialized crops or for a great truck and market gardening section. Our fruits are as attractive to the eye and as pleasing to the taste as those offered from California or any other practically a center, and by reason of our location these products can be put on the market in a very fresh, wholesome manner. The only thing which prevents us from taking command of the eastern markets during crop seasons is the fact that we have not fully realized the importance of proper grading and packing as is practiced in other places. This condition has been largely caused by the absence of a united effort to pool the interest not only of those living in a given community but to the pooling of the interests of the peninsula as a whole. Every hamlet and town is as vitally interested in the success of our farmers as the farmer is himself. Industries come first to one town or another, but the fundamental sources of wealth are stored in our productive soil and in the sea. While this is an observation one frequently hears or reads, yet it certainly is the whole truth when it is applied to this peninsula.

It would appear, then, that an organization should be formed including in its membership every town, hamlet, bank, grange, and all industrial groups from the Pennsylvania line to Cape Charles. Such an organization has been discussed and some steps taken toward its perfection. This idea has been followed in Western Maryland, and the most outstanding illustration of such an organization is furnished by the State of California. Recently there has been incorporated in California a statewide organization which has many of the same objects in view as would be the aim of a Peninsula organization. These Californians not only catch the vision of an ideal, but they at once make a practical application of it.

All of our leading periodicals are now carrying beautiful advertisements setting forth the advantages of the soil, climate and products of California. The same work can be done for our geographical unit, the Delmarva Peninsula, and with just as much assurance of its success.

The scope of its work could well include assistance in better market conditions, more and better transportation, the securing of desirable citizens from other sections to assist in more completely tilling the farm land, also attracting to us industries suitable to our conditions. In fact, it would be an organization ready on an instant's notice to assist along all the lines that tend toward the physical, mental and economical welfare of our people.

Our mild climate, the sports offered by ocean, rivers and bay, the ease of access to large cities, the short haul to great consuming centers of population with their constant need of and desire for fresh products, cannot offer just the location desired by many good, industrious people, and there is no question but what they will respond when these facts are brought to their attention in a systematic and well presented manner.

No one section of the peninsula need be emphasized over any other section, but clear, honest and complete information should be given the whole unit, asking the industry or individual to investigate and then make such selection as may be desired. To accomplish this, it must be fully appreciated that we are a closely related geographical unit, and no matter how keen the rivalry may be between towns or communities, the fact still remains that we are all benefited by anything which benefits our great agricultural industry or any portion of it. By joining our resources of mind and money, by seeking for mutual aid and with full knowledge that we share each others prosperity, by aiding our great agricultural industry, by eliminating community suspicion, it is possible to bring to this chosen land the best of the waters of all that nature intended for the Delmarva Peninsula.—Eastern Shore Business Journal.

MARKETS WANT WELL FINISHED YOUNG LAMBS

By Following Government Instructions Young Animals May Well Be Put on Sale by Owners.

Lambs in the farm flock should be ready for market when about four months old, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Reasons for pushing the lambs as fast as possible in order to market them at this early age are as follows:

Average market prices are higher in the spring and early summer. Lambs will make more rapid growth and less expensive gains in flesh while young than when they are older.

Less labor and less pasture will be required for the flock.

Lambs marketed in the early part of the season escape the heat of the summer and the ravages of the stomach worm and other internal parasites.

This is very important, say the specialists, as it has been found that in most instances the weight of lambs remains practically at a standstill from mid-summer until fall. If they become infested with stomach worms, as is usually the case in the farm flock, they will lose weight during this period, and a large number of the animals may die.

In order to produce lambs of desirable quality and weight for the market at this early age, it is necessary to feed properly both ewes and lambs. The ewes should be brought to the lambing season in good flesh so that a large milk flow is assured. It has been found that it is not essential to feed grain to ewes suckling lambs if they are on good pasture. If the pasture is short, however, or if the ewes are on dry feed, the daily addition of one to two pounds of grain per head to their ration is advisable. The lambs should be taught to eat at an early age as possible. They will usually begin nibbling at feed when they are ten to fifteen days old. A creep should be prepared so that they can get away from the ewes, and the best quality of alfalfa or clover hay should be kept before the lambs in this creep. They should also be given small quantities of such feed as crushed corn, oats or barley, with a little wheat bran and oil meal. It is important that the grain be clean and fresh, and that the troughs are kept clean. After the lambs have learned to eat they should be given twice daily as much grain as they will eat within a few minutes' time.

If the general practices outlined above are followed by the farm flock owner it will be very easy for him to put his lambs on the market at an early age, with sufficient weight and condition to satisfy the buyers and to assure him of good returns.

which is the reason that country districts abound in so many "sure cures." All of these cures are worthless, and owe their reputation to the fact that each was tried on a wart which by pure coincidence disappeared shortly after.

Warts should not be scratched, as they may thus be transferred to other parts of the skin. When warts persist, they should be destroyed by radium or X-ray treatment.—From the February Delmeator.

THAT DULL ACHING

Don't worry and complain about a bad back, Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. E. P. Shockey, 507 Tilghman St., Salisbury, says: "I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I have used them at different times for kidney complaint and they have never failed to help me. I had backache so badly I was almost helpless. There was a constant dull ache through my back and sides and I had such a soreness across my kidneys that every move I made caused dreadful pains. I had headaches and nervous, dizzy spells. My feet and ankles swelled at times, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard's Drug Store and they soon relieved the backache and headaches and the swelling left. I feel better in every way."

"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a tremble feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. ## SCHOOLS OF THIS STATE ARE LAUDED

State's County System, Legislation for Equalizing Educational Opportunities and Its Plan of High School Supervision Held Up as Models.

A bird's-eye view of the educational convention, which closed in Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday, revealed an exposition of countless educational novelties and a few staples. An interesting thing to the visitor from Maryland was that the novelties bear the imprint of other States, whereas the outstanding staples were plainly labeled as either having originated or having been adopted in Maryland.

In a meeting on rural education, the Maryland county system was presented as the model—as the plan to which other sections must come eventually. Moreover, the method of filling the office of county superintendent by appointment of a school board rather than ballots of the voters was unanimously approved.

Again, in a session devoted entirely to the subject of financing public education, the law passed by Maryland Legislature last year for creating what is known as the equalization fund, was commended as a wise and sound method to equalize educational opportunities in all sections of Maryland. It was pointed out in this discussion that the Maryland law, while placing a minimum tax burden on the richer sections, obtained the maximum educational returns from the poorer sections.

In a department concerned with supervision of instruction, the supervisory scheme now practiced in the Maryland counties was presented as the most promising method for bettering classroom instruction in all types of schools. This supervisory work, begun many years ago in several counties of Maryland and developed most thoroughly in Baltimore county, was given recognition as an essential agent in guaranteeing to the taxpayer the maximum efficiency from the school.

Again it was Maryland that stood forth in the line of high school inspectors as the one State giving first thought to the improvement of instruction and very little to popular psychological tests.

These were some of the things which impressed one most. First, because of the commendation of educational staples in Maryland came in every instance from persons outside the State who had no direct interest in Maryland schools; and, secondly, because the last convention at which Maryland seemed to stand in the limelight was that meeting some years back when Leonard P. Ayres referred to Maryland as having made a significant backward step, educationally, among her sister States.

GIRLISH BEAUTY SAME AS 3,000 YEARS AGO

Egyptian Explorers Find Pharaoh's Women Look About Like Modern Belles—"Flapper" Discovered.

Sometimes antiquity plays curious tricks on us. Just when we are shaking our heads over its oddness, and working ourselves into a bemused state of mind over the wonder of its remoteness, it's liable to hit us in the face suddenly with an irresistible impression of newness and todayness.

Little Queen Ank-Nes-Pa-Aten, "with the Mona Lisa smile," as the archaeologists say who are grubbing in the Valley of the Tombs of the Kings of Egypt—dainty piece of royalty with the curled trans-Mediterranean lips and the Anna Held eyes, didn't we see you in the subway this morning?

Graceful They Were.

Surely it was Your Majesty's very self, as graceful and voluptuous, with just the right touch of arrogance, as when King Tutankh-Amen died and left you a widow of 17 summers. You're living in the Bronx now, nest-ce pas? Tapping the keys of type-writer in a promoter's office downtown? Mar your expression a trifle by chewing gum? Hope you're enjoying New York as much as you did Thebes' Queen.

In an avenue of the busts of Roman emperors in the British Museum thoughtful visitors are fascinated by the modernness of the faces. They actually look like a fellows' fathers and brothers and uncles. Caligula sold you a cigar this morning. You saw Marcus Aurelius policing an Oxford street crossing. You lunched with Nero yesterday, and you heard Augustus make a speech.

Same Yesterday and Forever.

In a dim way you begin to suspect that the brotherhood of man is more than a pretty phrase, and even that the unity of humanity is something that may be experienced. For the antique is transformed when the element of time drops away from it like a curtain and we behold it no longer as something mysterious and separated from our lives, but as something familiar and homey from around the corner.

Lovely young Ank-Nes-Pa-Aten, beloved of a Pharaoh—she's just a little sister, if you think of her in the right way. They tell us, the followers of Pythagoras, who took the mysteries of Egypt to the Greeks, that we live many lives in a succession of bodies, and according to that it wouldn't be so much out of the way for a Pharaoh's queen to be living in the Bronx, and typing in a promoter's office downtown. And that might supply many a piquant answer to the poet Villon's troubles questionings:

Tell me now in what hidden way is Lady Flora the lovely Roman?

Where's Hipparchia, and where is Thais?

Neither of them the fairer woman?

Where's Euba, beheld of no man,

Only heard of river and mere—

And whose beauty was more than

Farm Bureau Centers Fire on Foreign Outlet

The American Farm Bureau Federation is centering its fire at Washington in the effort to revive a foreign outlet for farm commodities. It has submitted a convincing report to Farm Bloc members. Martin J. Gillen, of New York, prepared the report which was checked by H. W. Moorehouse, of the Dept. of Research. The Farm Bureau recommends a revival of confidence in European securities.

But where are the snows of yesterday?

Lady Flora may be chanting "Number, please," and juggling pegs in a switchboard; Hipparchia may have a box at the opera, and Thais may be a perfect 36 in the swiftest cloak department "on the avenue."

Just Like Today's Beauties.

According to the Pythagoreans, we reap from one life to another the consequences of our acts in previous lives, always progressing, more or less painfully, even when we seem to be retrogressing, toward a perfect balancing of wisdom, power and love, which spells perfection. And so, if slender Queen Ank-Nes-Pa-Aten was too haughty for the health of her soul, or if she failed in kindness toward her share of the 80,000 slaves of Thebes, she might be expected in this life to get a wholesome taste of oppression from tyrants of the janitor and floor walker type.

The gossip thronging the Valley of the Tombs of the Kings presume that the girl queen's bust was placed in the tomb of her husband to delight his soul on its journey. Their description of her features, with her large and prominent eyes, her full lips and her rounded cheeks, might fit many a girl's face of Oriental beauty in cosmopolitan New York.

Nay, never ask this week, fair lord, Where they are gone, nor yet this year.

Except with this for an overword— But where are the snows of yesterday?

AUTO DEALERS LEARN BY 1922 EXPERIENCE

Errors in Estimating Value of Used Cars Cost Dealers Their Profit in Some Cases.

Automobile dealers in the United States lost $100,000,000 in 1922 by allowing more for used cars than the resale.

Statistics just completed show that the automobile dealers throughout the country paid dear last year in learning just what a used car would bring.

Something over $100,000,000 was lost between the estimated value which they allowed the purchaser of a new car for his old car and the price they received for the old car when resold.

This error in estimating value of used cars cost the dealers their profit and in many cases caused a loss on their entire year's work.

The Public's Interest In Telephone Earnings

The public is directly interested in the quality of service furnished by this Company and what it pays for such service.

It follows then that the public is concerned in the Company's earnings, because if the earnings are inadequate, the service cannot be maintained at a high standard. On the other hand, if earnings are excessive, the public is entitled to lower rates.

The aim of this Company has always been to charge rates that will yield a fair but not excessive return on the investment. This is necessary to attract the new capital required to keep step with the growth and progress of the community.

When we were forced finally to seek relief through increased rates, we did not ask the Public Service Commission to approve rates high enough to yield a fair return. We hoped that the future would bring reductions in costs and that increased efficiency would be obtained. This, together with moderate increases in rates, we hoped would result within a reasonable time in providing sufficient revenues to yield a fair return.

The Commission, in authorizing our rate increases, stated that the new rates would yield a return of about 5.3% on the value of our property.

During the two years that have passed since these rates were established, we have directed every energy toward furnishing the best possible service and toward the effecting of economies so that our investors might be afforded the return to which they are entitled.

During 1922 our earnings were at the rate of 5.05% on our investment in Maryland.

The return is still inadequate, being less than the legal interest rate. But we have made progress and this gives us confidence that with our present rates we can, by constantly increasing efficiency and persistent economy, earn a return sufficient to attract the new capital necessary to permit us to expand our system.

WICOMICO FRESHMEN VISIT NEWS PLANT

Submitted Essays On Their Impression Of Most Modern Newspaper Plant.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Freshman English Class of Wicomico High School, accompanied by its instructor, Miss Genevieve Hinman, paid a visit to the Wicomico News office as a part of its English instruction.

A tour of the plant was made and the scholars invited to write an essay on their impression of the visit with the promise that the three adjudged by the editors as the best would be printed. A number of papers were submitted from which, after a careful examination, the three reproduced below were chosen:

1-B Freshmen Class Visits the News

On Wednesday, March 7th the W. H. S. 1-B class visited the News office. The class first entered the editorial office where Mr. Smith, the Editor, explained how they obtained the news. He told the class that Mr. Jones went to the hotels, Court House and other public places to obtain information. They also have correspondents that send the news each week from neighboring towns and villages.

Mr. Smith then showed the class how the head lines were made. The class then went to the room where the different machines were. The different news is placed on nails if society news it is placed on the nail with society printed by it.

The first machine examined was the linotype that made the words on the side of pieces of lead, the pieces of lead were placed in forms that were tightened and filled so the pieces of lead will not fall out from these, the forms were sent down to the press.

Mr. Smith showed the class the machines that were used to print advertisements, checks and notices. There were two kinds of machines, the hand feeding machine and the self paper feeding machine.

The different kinds of papers were the next thing of importance. There were many different kinds of paper used, an account was kept of the exact amount of paper on the shelves. A man was sent around to note what paper was needed and an order was sent in for the paper. The class then passed to the printing room. In the printing room the class was shown how the pictures were made for the paper. They sent to Philadelphia or some other large city for a mat of the desired picture. The mat is coated with hot lead and left to cool. When cool the mat can be removed and the picture was left on the lead. The lead is trimmed and ready for use. No waste is caused by the use of the lead, for the lead used can be melted in a hot furnace and poured in molds and left to cool. Then the blocks of lead are run through a machine that cuts the lead in fine pieces again. The printing press was the next thing. The forms had been placed in the press and ink dropped on them. Then sheets of paper were rolled over the forms and the print was left on the paper. The paper was then cut and folded and came out of the press. A machine was used to print the names in the right hand corner of the paper. In the machine a magazine containing the names of the subscribers on certain routes is put on the machine and the paper placed on it and the names printed. The names in the magazine are on lead molds and above the molds, the name is printed on paper. When a name is printed on the paper it goes back in the box. The papers are then ready to be read by the public.

Freshman Class Visits Wicomico News Office

Students of Freshman Class Favorably Impressed

On March 7, 1923, accompanied by Miss Hinman, our English teacher, our class had an opportunity to visit the Wicomico News plant of Salisbury, Maryland.

We first entered the main office where the business is carried on. We were then introduced to the members of the staff.

From the main office we went into the private office of the editor, where he explained to us the way which a newspaper is composed.

The Editor, then took us into the room where all the news is made ready for the press. This room was installed with different kinds of machinery in order to do work required. They were at that time getting the weekly paper ready and it was very interesting to watch the linotype and other machines in motion.

The cases of type were made ready and sent down to the room where the paper was to be printed. In this department Mr. Smith, the Editor, showed us how they melted the old lead over to use it again, which was a very economical process, because it lessened the amount of lead used.

We went from there to the printing press and were shown how the papers were turned out, all folded and ready for the public to read.

Of all the public buildings that I have visited in Salisbury, I think that the Wicomico News Office was the most interesting.

Lorene Adkins.

1-B English Class Visits News Office

Last Wednesday afternoon, March 7th, the 1-B Class visited Wicomico News Office after receiving permission from the Principal of Wicomico High School and the Editor of the Wicomico News.

When we went into the office where three people were at work, Mr. Smith took us into the editorial office, there he showed us how to make up the head lines of the paper and explained how they obtained the news for the paper.

Then he and Mr. Jones took us into a large room installed with linotype machines, where the words were placed on lead plates.

The lead plates were wedged into steel cases and sent down stairs to the press room.

Four lead cases were placed into the press. The press printed, cut and folded the papers. The papers were ready to mail with the exception of the names and addresses, a machine put the name on the papers and they were ready to mail then.

Mr. Smith also showed us how the old lead plates were melted over to save buying new lead. The class appreciated the kindness of the News staff in allowing us to go through their plant.

Elizabeth Jones.

LINES TO REMEMBER

A lie is a coward's way of getting out of trouble.

Hard work is the greatest school-master of the race.

Carlyle says: experience of actual fact, either teaches fools or abolishes them.

If you want to know what other people say behind your back, listen to what they say about others to your face.

Trying to forget is like trying to go to sleep; the more you try the harder it is to do it.

Why shouldn't a nation protect industry? Industry protects the nation.

The funny thing about business revivals is that those who have faith are not the ones at the mourner's bench.

The Ten Commandments I don't believe were the exclusive property of men. At least they never keep them.

How unfortunate that the only men who know how to handle world problems should waste their time whitening goods boxes in a country store.

The Pneumonia Month

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. Children take it willingly.—Adv't.

Spring

Spring is the word of action on the farm—planning, arranging and getting ready for a season of production. Back of all are the dollars which will be reaped.

The good farmer has long since learned that his harvest will be in proportion to the efficient methods employed in planting—cultivating—reaping.

It is plows, harrows—cultivators and reapers, with painstaking attention to soil—seed and marketing, that make for success.

All of these essentials are also a part of our business. Your success is necessary if we are to succeed in our business.

Never has this store been better stocked to serve you. Come in and tell us of your problems. We can help.

WENT ABOUT DOING GOOD:—
And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.—Matthew 4:23.

EDUCATION IN WICOMICO.

On the front page of this paper is a brief digest of the 56th Annual Report of the State Department of Education insofar as it sets forth the school conditions in this county. It is a report that should make the enlightened citizens of Wicomico blush with shame for it reflects unmercifully, in its maze of facts and statements, the pitifully low level to which educational facilities in this county have sunk.

In only one department, that of attendance, does this county measure up to a standard deserving of special mention. In all other phases we are far below the average, as a glance at the figures will show. In the amount of expenditures, Wicomico ranks anywhere from 12th to 17th according to the nature of the expenditure. Teachers in only nine other counties are paid lower average salaries than in Wicomico. In the cost per pupil enrolled and attending, Wicomico stood 18th.

To Allegany goes the honor of leading the 23 counties in the index of school efficiency. While the report recognizes the creditable showing made in the Western Maryland section, it also asserts that there has not been a general State-wide awakened public conscience as to the duty that society owes its youth in the matter of adequate school facilities.

And in the way of illustration it compares Allegany and Wicomico counties, stating that the former, without the necessity for a referendum to the electorate, issued, in two years, bonds for $1,700,000 for school sites and buildings, while Wicomico county, during the same period, by overwhelming majorities, at special elections, rejected proposed bond issues of only $200,000 and of $300,000 and put its children on half time, crowded them into outgrown buildings, and surrounded its best high school, once the pride of the state, with portable buildings, a makeshift and an apology, but the best provision that can be made by a Board of Education which lacks public support in its efforts to provide decent school buildings.

What an arraignment of a county that has come to be reputed as one of the most progressive communities in the whole Commonwealth. To what end do we develop our industries, increase our agricultural resources, enhance our civic beauty, if we are negligent in the creating and training of a citizenry out of our boys and girls that will appreciate the vast heritage bestowed upon it and will possess the power and ability to carry on the wheels of progress where we have left off?

Why is it that the people of Wicomico county meet with apathetic treatment all programs that make for the betterment of the educational system? Surely the wisdom of the immortal Lincoln is not to be doubted as expressed in the words, "Upon the subject of education, not presuming to dictate any plan or system respecting it, I can only say that I view it as the most important subject which we, as a people, can be engaged in."

The educational problem in this county is a serious one and should provoke the most careful consideration on the part of every enlightened citizen. Bond issues have been denied in the past and there is no reasonable assurance that a change of attitude will be exhibited when the issue is broached again. For some reason or other, the voters are overwhelmingly against such a method of raising the needed funds. But it is evident that our schools cannot labor much longer under existing conditions and that help must be provided from some source.

The County Commissioners cannot levy sufficient funds in one year to meet the demand for increased facilities without placing upon the taxpayers a well-nigh intolerable burden. Therefore no help may be expected in this way. However another plan presents itself that sounds most logical and most capable of accomplishment. The County Commissioners could levy so much money each year as would enable a certain amount to be set aside at that time to be added to future allotments until an appropriation was completed that would be sufficient to meet the needs of the school authorities. Fixing the minimum limit of $50,000 to such a yearly fund, it would be possible in five years' time to acquire a sum of $250,000 to be devoted to the upbuilding and maintenance of the county's elementary and high school facilities. Surely we can not go on as we have in the past, ignoring our basic duties in the educational field and suffering therefrom the taunts of indisputable records that term our efforts "makeshift and apologetic."

WEALTH IS SPREADING OUT.

Loose talk often catches the ear and sometimes facts take a long time to catch up. It is safe to say that most persons have the impression that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer every day; that the concentration of great wealth is a growing menace that the United States must reckon with. But the cold hard truth will not down. The Bureau of Internal Revenue shows that all classes of Americans with incomes below $50,000 show increases, while all classes having incomes in excess of $50,000 show decreases, and this in spite of the fact that the mass income of $15,924,639,355 in 1918, increased in 1920 to $23,735,629,183.

When the figures for this year are at hand it will be found that the poor are getting richer and the richer getting poorer. Figures show that 64.39% of the aggregate personal incomes were in classes from $1,000 to $5,000 a year and 47.32 per cent in classes from $1,000 to $10,000. Incomes in excess of $10,000 per year footed up only 22.68 per cent.

These disclosures may be a sad blow to our agitators and long-haired political economists.

The plain truth is that the American is living on a higher standard than any man in the world, that his income is far in excess of the income of any other national. If he must pay high prices he has the money to buy and still have a little left for a rainy day if he exhibits any of the characteristics of thrift.

AMERICA BOOMING ALONG.

The man who is not sold on America is the man who does not think. True we are an electric people, emotional to a degree, and subject to all the annoyances of temporary maladjustment. Now we are joyous, viewing the world from the mountain top, now we are wistful—in the depths of the valley.

Clear vision, however, sees nothing but the steady advance. While the blasts of winter have been chilling us, railroad traffic has been increasing until it reached the heaviest point ever experienced for the season. Panic talk about unemployment has given place to grumbling about the inability to get help. For the first time in the history of the country the cotton spindles in use in January have exceeded 35,000,000. Textiles are booming, iron and steel reports enormous activity and automobile manufacturers predict their biggest year.

Forward March

Even with all of this improvement conditions are still unsettled. There is still talk of merchants traveling on dangerous ground. The glooms contend that merchants will be caught with high price merchandise on their shelves that the public will decline to buy at the prices asked. More than likely, however, the alert merchandiser will have bought and banked his profits before the pessimists awaken to the fact that we are living and working in the greatest country in the world.

We control practically all the gold in the world and what is more important we are coming to set the moral and business standards of the world, which summed up in plain honesty, spells the certain reward of dominating progress.

DETERMINATION IS A PRICELESS ASSET.

Singleness of purpose is the foundation of all success. It is the man who knows exactly what he wants and insists on getting it who usually gets it.

We are too prone to look upon money rather than mind as our goal. Money harms only the man who has not learned to help himself.

It is the mind that mints money. Money never makes mind. To be born with a silver spoon in your mouth is not a handicap unless you let the spoon gag you.

Poverty is not a virtue. It is nothing to brag about. It is an asset only as a compelling power to drive you out of it.

The poets praise a false philosophy when they sing of the glory of poverty. Be honest and admit it is a glory nobody wants. Everybody who is covered with that glory is trying to get rid of it. The whole struggle of the world is to scramble away from it. It is a hideous thing.

But the test of men comes not while enmeshed in poverty but when freed from its fetters.

The man who doesn't know what to do because he has no money is hardly less well off than the man who doesn't know what to do because he has money.

The young man who facing life has to be fed and clothed by a rich parent may command a measure of thoughtless envy but he commands no more of the world's admiration than the young man who has to be clothed and fed by charity.

It's the man who stands alone and does not use others as a crutch to hold him up who commands respect. It is the man who has found how to help others in the march through life, who wins the admiration of others.

Youth's problem is not what are you starting but where are you starting for.

Your fortune depends not upon what you have in hand but what you have in your head.

Real nobility is the fruit of heart culture, no less than head culture, and your heart grows big only as you force it into the affection of other hearts.

Determination is a richer asset than dollars. It is the one indispensable tool that is needed for the successful completion of every job you may desire or are compelled to tackle.

Emerson reminded us that "keeping everlastingly at it brings success."

Determination forces you over the road of concentration. Concentration is the forces of intellect thrown like the searchlight upon just one thing and held there.

The searchlight gets control of all the rays of light and purposefully directs them.

Concentration is the control of the cultivated mind.

Nobody cares whether Lincoln or Edison, Emerson, McCormick or Agassiz had a bank account because everybody knows they had a brain account. They cultivated and concentrated their brains upon a great determination to do something so well worth while that they rose above the poverty, above fickle fortune into the indestructible wealth of the world.

HUGE CROWD JAMS ARMORY FOR CONTEST

Six Hundred Fans Marvel At Washington College's Defeat
Of All-Stars.

LOCAL ALUMNI ACTIVE
AT GAME AND REUNION

More Than 25 Former Graduates Of Chesapeake Institution Present At Dinner With President Gould The Honored Guest—Predicts Great Things For Washington College On Shore.

Fully six hundred persons jammed the main floor of the Armory last Friday night and witnessed the basketball five representing Washington College triumph over a quint of All-Stars led by Bill Duffy, a former Chesapeake player. The entire Senior Class of Wicomico High School witnessed the game as guests of the local alumni of Washington College. Before the game, Alumni of Washington College now living in Worcester, Somerset, Dorchester and Wicomico counties gathered together at the Peninsula Restaurant for a supper and smoker. More than 35 members of the Alumni Association were present at the informal reception and President Gould and several other faculty members of Washington College were the honored guests. Mr. Benjamin Johnson was toastmaster. Mr. J. E. Ellegood, a graduate in '63, pronounced the blessing.

President Gould expressed himself as being highly pleased with the manner in which the alumni had arranged the affair and he said that he hoped that the basketball game would stimulate much interest in this community in behalf of the Shore's only institution with higher education facilities. He added that he thought that the people living on this side of the Chesapeake Bay should awake to the splendid opportunities offered their young men in the way of a college education at Washington College. He said that the wholehearted support should be given to the college.

The game itself was a thriller and the play fast and furious. Coach Kibler's charges broke the ice with a free toss by Carrington following a foul by Runkle. The game was a contest of defensive work for the All-Stars. The State Champions were always in the lead although their margin at times was cut down to a very narrow degree due to sensational shots by Hynson who in the old days sported the goatee and a ray of a smile. The first half ended with the score 19-10 in favor of the Chesapeake aggregation, but Coach Kibler took no chances and during the intermission gave his hirlings a strong talk.

In the preliminary setto, Wicomico High trounced a team from the Cambridge High School and the two rival fives furnished the advance guard of spectators with a rather fine display of the finer points of the ever-growing popular indoor sport. W. H. S. won easily 29-9. There was one regrettable incident that marred the evening's sport. Fiore, Washington's star guard ran into a team-mate during the play of the last half of the main contest and suffered a broken nose. He was forced out of the game.

Death Comes Suddenly
To Mrs. J. H. Carpenter

Two sisters who reside in Lonaconing. Funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the Rev. R. A. Boyle, officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. L. Shipley. The body was carried to Cumberland, her former home, for interment. Mr. Boyle accompanied the family to that city.

The active pall-bearers, all of whom were members of the Wicomico Medical Society, were Drs. Harry C. Tull, J. McF. Dick, J. M. Eldridge, H. S. Wallis, S. Norris Pilchard and H. A. Barnes. The remaining members of the organization served as honorary pallbearers. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

"Makeshift And Apology," Says State Board Of Education

owes to its youth in the matter of adequate school facilities. Allegany County without the necessity for a referendum to the voters, in two years, bonds for $1,700,000 for school sites and buildings, while Wicomico County, during the same period, by overwhelming majorities, at special elections, rejects proposed bond issues of only $200,000, and of $300,000, and puts its children on half time, crowds them into outgrown buildings, and surrounds its best high school, once the pride of the State, with portable buildings, a makeshift and an apology, but the best provision that can be made by a Board of Education which lacks public support in its efforts to provide decent school buildings.

The report is loud in its condemnation of the attempt of certain elementary schools to offer one or two years of work beyond the elementary grades which has persisted, for one reason or another, in several of the counties. The periods are too short, equipment insufficient, teachers incapable and other shortcomings noticeable in most of these instances for high school work. There are 21 pupils in Wicomico laboring under these difficulties. Transportation and consolidation seem to be methods of elimination for this feature and it is likely that plans for its doing away with will be put into execution here soon.

In the ratio of attendance in high schools to attendance in all white schools by counties, Wicomico stood second being topped only by Worcester. Of the 3,981 pupils attending, 16.8% or 734 were in high schools. The average salary per white high school teacher in Wicomico last year was $1153. Only four counties have high school teachers who are more poorly compensated. The cost per pupil attending white high schools, for salaries and other current expenses in this county was $70.40. If as much had been spent on the average high school child in Wicomico as was spent in some of the leading counties the Wicomico tax rate would have had to be increased something like 25c on the $100.

W. B. Covington Resigns As Legion Head

died.

The originators of the American Legion were quick to realize that the signing of the Armistice did not actually end the war. But a war still greater was to follow. A war which was fought at home and we who actually saw the battle fields and destruction caused by war, could better understand and fight for the cause that we know to be right. So you can readily see why the American Legion is the strongest organization of its kind in America. You can see that the Legion has no selfish motives. You can see it stands for lofty ideals and 100 per cent Americanism. You can understand why I am so proud to be the leader of a small unit which is working for the fulfillment of these ideals. But you cannot understand just as I do how hard it is for me to sever my connections with the Post and tender my resignation as your Commander. Nothing short of my leaving the State would cause my taking these steps and it is with deep regret that I become necessary. We have a full year ahead, we have many things to accomplish. I do not think once that they will not be accomplished, and feel sure that the end of this year will come with the American Legion and its principles before and understood by our citizens as never before in the past and that there will be formed and incorporated a War Memorial Association. It is essential that the association be formed and incorporated. We owe it to those fellows who gave their all. I love Salisbury and the people of Wicomico county and the particular Post of the American Legion. I do not know of a better town and county for a young man to make a start in life. I have found the business men always alert to help the progressive young man. It has been a real pleasure to have been a part of the business men as the Adkins Brothers. It has been an inspiration to have been your Commander and to have served on various civic committees with other folks of the town and county. There is an everlasting friendship stamped on my wife and I will devote our lives to helping others. Therefore I solicit your prayers and respectfully request that you accept this, my resignation.

Fraternally yours,

WILLIAM B. COVINGTON.

Ship's Engineer Declares He Sailed Into Right Port When He Got Tanlac

"Tanlac is certainly a great medicine, and there are a number of others on the ship besides myself taking it," said John O. Knudsen, well-known marine engineer, living at 1908 Colington Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"I had suffered from constipation for a long time, and always felt tired and draggy. I was afraid to eat solid food, for it seemed like a lump in the pit of my stomach and caused awful spells of pain and heartburn. Gas would make me pant for breath, and I had terrible headaches and dizzy spells. I had no appetite, couldn't half sleep, and although I took what seemed like enough medicine to float a battleship I couldn't get any better. "But I sailed into the right port when I struck the Tanlac treatment, for a course of six bottles has me feeling like a new man. I have a fine appetite now, am free from indigestion, sleep like top, and have gained five and a half pounds. Tanlac is good enough to tell everybody about."

Tanlac is for sale by all druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Advt.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS ON AT TRINITY

Are Being Led By The Rev. H. P. Clarke, Presiding Elder Eastern Shore District.

MEETINGS WILL HOLD UNTIL APRIL FIRST

Chorus Choir Of 30 Voices, Under Leadership Of Mr. Reese Wimbrow, Assisting Mr. Clarke And Rev. Peters, The Pastor, In Carrying On The Revival.

Evangelistic services at Trinity Church were gotten underway last Sunday evening with a splendid attendance. The pastor, Rev. J. B. Peters, in his opening remarks stated that this revival party was a unique one in one respect and that was that it was purely a home talent cast, the pianist, choir director, pastor, and evangelist all being Salisbury people. For months Mr. Peters has been laying the foundation for this series of meetings and a spiritual awakening such as Trinity has not had for years is his goal.

Miss Marian Dobson, Trinity's organist, will be at the piano during the meetings and Mr. Reese Wimbrow is directing the music. Mr. Wimbrow, who is chorister of the Sunday School, although a member of Bethesda M. P. Church, has kindly consented to help Trinity in this revival. He is a talented singer himself and is heart and soul in the work of evangelism which is being undertaken.

Mr. Wimbrow has organized and trained a choir of 30 voices. This choir has practiced faithfully and has learned many new hymns, some of which were used at the opening service on Sunday night.

The Rev. Hawes P. Clarke, recently made presiding elder of the Eastern Shore District is leading the meetings. Rev. Clarke preached a powerful sermon on Sunday evening on the Parable of the Talents. He was a college mate of the pastor and is an orator and preacher of renown. Mr. Clarke is one of the youngest elders in the conference and before coming to the district was pastor of the church in Suffolk, Va., with a membership of over 800 people.

SALISBURY CONCERN HELPING ADVERTISE CITY ON PENINSULA

Fleet Of Salisbury Baking Company's Trucks Traverse Roads In Every Direction Distributing "Staff Of Life" Wrapped In Paper Bearing Name Of Sho' Metropolis.

One of Salisbury's largest wholesale business enterprises which daily is carrying to all sections of the Delmarvia Peninsula its "made in Salisbury" products, every piece of which is wrapped in waxed paper prominently bearing the name of the Shore Metropolis, is the Salisbury Baking Company, Inc.

The starting of this business dates back over two decades to the time when the late Asbury Phillips and his son, Alfred, commenced in a small and unpretentious way the baking business in a small wooden structure where the Krause Building now stands on East Church Street at the corner of Bond Street. In those days baking 100 loaves on Saturday was considered a big day's business. Today the record output on the busy day of the week stands at 17,000 loaves.

After changing hands several times the business was incorporated in 1917, and in 1919 C. D. Krause, one of the largest stockholders sold his interest in the company to other members of the firm. Asbury Phillips was incorporated in 1917, and since that time this item has been increased to $150,000. Like the investment, the business has grown commensurately and has tripled in volume, according to officers of the company.

Last year the Salisbury Baking Co. purchased the Delmarvia Baking Co., Onley, Va., with a capacity for manufacturing 5,000 loaves per day. This with the capacity of the local plant, which is 20,000 loaves per day, makes it possible for the firm to turn out 25,000 loaves of bread daily.

The record weekly output of the company is 80,000 pieces, each unit being equivalent to a loaf of bread. The average weekly output is 70,000 pieces. When both plants are running at full capacity the bakery employs around 40 people at the weekly payroll of something like $600. In the largest year since its incorporation, the concern did a business of upward of a quarter million dollars.

Most of the goods shipped out go by truck. At present the firm is operating a fleet of 18 cars, which, according to state is the largest on the Eastern Shore. The managing head of the business is a firm believer in the Ford which he states he finds to be the most satisfactory truck to operate especially where there are a large number. There are now 16 Fords and two Reos. These two will be replaced shortly by Fords. A representative of the Ford Motor Company was in Salisbury, a short while back and will have a picture of both the plant of the company and the fleet of trucks made for its catalogue which is broadcasted all over the country. A first class repair station is maintained and the company's mechanics do practically all the repair work.

These trucks go to all sections of the Peninsula: east as far as Ocean City, northward as far as Greenwood, Solbyville and Denton, west to East New Market and Federalburg and south to Cape Charles. Points not reached by truck are supplied bread by express.

One main reason for the building up of the business to its present status has been co-operation say the officials. More than 90% of the employees today own stock in the company. Another is that the heads of the various departments are old in the business and experienced in their phase of the work. The superintendent of the Salisbury plant is O. B. Brittingham, with the company for 15 or 18 years. The route foreman and Superintendent of Shipping is William S. Humphreys, who has grown up from boyhood in the bakery. The head mechanic is Cecil Hill, also 10 or more years with the concern.

The treasurer of the firm and also head of the accounting department is Mrs. M. A. Thoroughgood and the stenographer and assistant to Mrs. Thoroughgood is Miss Edna Brown.

Whether it was a purely hereditary consequence, being that his uncle founded the business, or whether it was business acumen and faith in the adage that "bread is the staff of life," which prompted G. William Phillips to leave the Jackson Brothers Lumber Company after 18 years service, is uncertain but basing it on psychology perhaps it was both. Mr. Phillips came with the company in August 1917 at the age of 37 as secretary-treasurer and in 1919 became president and active head of the business.

The huge plant of the concern is located on Olive Street. The old part is of concrete block while the new part which was added in 1920 to take care of the increased volume of business is of brick construction. The building in its entirety is 150 feet long and 70 feet wide, three stories. The plant at Onley is modern in every detail. Both plants are mechanically operated by electrically driven motors.

A tour of inspection by a representative of The News this week proved very interesting and instructive. One fact was indelibly stamped upon his recollection and that was the cleanliness of the entire building. Every detail is carefully looked out for in this respect and the entire interior is painted each year.

The ingredients for the bread are mixed on the third floor and are sent down to the second floor to the divider, then in a series of operation they go to the rounder, moulder, steam closet, oven, cooling room, wrapping machine and to the stock room. The size of the plant affords enough room so that no doubling back process is necessary. The machinery is modern in every respect, the latest labor saving devices having been installed. Four ovens have a baking capacity of 1640 loaves simultaneously. An idea of the volume of business done by this firm can also be gathered by the fact that at the time of this visit, there were seven carloads of flour stored on the third floor of the building.

The plant is operated 20 hours out of the 24, two ten hour shifts being employed. Two elevators take care of the transportation from floor to floor. Products manufactured by the company are: Snow Flake Bread, Peerless Bread, Mother Libbie's Bread, (which is the latest loaf to be put on the market and comes in 1 1/2 pound size) and cakes, pies and rolls. The company also handles Gardner's famous cakes.

LOCAL POSTAL WORKERS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Gathering Will Take Place In Baltimore On March 23—Postmaster-General Will Address Convention

What promises to be the largest gathering of postal employees ever held in the State will take place on March 23rd when postmasters of all classes and employees from every branch of the Service gather at the Century Theatre Roof Garden for the first annual Conference-Convention of the Postal employees of the State.

Postmaster Phillips and several of the employees of the Salisbury post-office will attend the convention. In addition to the several thousand postal workers, the convention will be attended by representatives of large business houses and civic trade organizations.

Postmaster B. F. Woelper, Jr., of Baltimore, who is in charge of the arrangements for the convention has announced that there will be a meeting of business men and Departmental officials from 1:00 to 2:00 P. M.

This business meeting, which will be preceded at 12:30 P. M. by a buffet luncheon, is arranged for the Postmaster-General and his Assistants to personally meet in conference the largest mailers, prominent business men and heads of the various trade organizations of Baltimore City and the State.

The Conference-Convention will begin at 2:30 P. M., immediately following the meeting of the business men. One hour will be allowed for an open forum discussion, at which postmasters, rural carriers, railway mail clerks and other postal employees will discuss their problems. After the Conference-Convention, which will adjourn at 5:30 P. M., there will be a subscription banquet in honor of the Postmaster-General at about 7:30 P. M. in the Century Theatre Roof Garden, one of the finest halls of its kind in the country, and a regular Cabaret show will be given during the course of the evening.

It is expected that addresses will be made by the Postmaster-General and his Assistants, Governor of the State, the Mayor of Baltimore City, United States Senators, Congressmen and prominent business men.

Postmaster Woelper suggests that upon arrival in Baltimore all delegates come direct to the Postoffice Building where they will be directed to the rooms arranged for their convenience and group meetings which will be held prior to the convention.

Postmaster General New's address at the Convention will be broadcasted by radio. A reduction on the certificate plan (one and one-half fare) will apply to postal employees attending the Conference-Convention, also for dependent members of their families.

A SURVEY OF BIG INDUSTRY ON PENINSULA

Average Farmer Is Carrying From 300 To 500 Laying Hens, Says Writer. With Profit And With Some Little Work—Delaware Way Ahead Of Maryland.

By Polk T. Bramble

The raising of poultry on the Maryland and Delaware Peninsula, which, for many years, was the sport of the dilettante, the hobby of the dilettante, and the fad of the supposedly eccentric, now constitutes one of the most profitable, and at the same time, one of the most staple, of the many branches, or "side-lines," of the business of agriculture.

The industry of farming, generally speaking, is at a rather low ebb in this section of the country at this time, as well as other parts, due to low grain markets at the time of the harvest of the crops, frequently hail and other storms and general world depression along economic lines, and it will be well for our farmers to cast about for a profitable business, which can be worked in conjunction with their regular occupation, to help finance the same and to act as a stimulus to their other interests. In our opinion, the poultry business offers just this opportunity, if not more.

The raising of poultry, such as chickens, which, of course, constitute the chief branch of this industry, turkeys, geese, ducks and guineas, is a rough journey over the rugged path of many wasted efforts, rather than a pleasant one over rose-strewn roads of pleasure with unlimited profits. Like many, with little or no knowledge of the same, suppose, it is a hard-headed business proposition, like farming, trucking, shipping or any other business. Pitfalls, in the form of extensively advertised equipment, birds that are supposed to accomplish wonders and make the purchasers rich in a year or two, remedies and concoctions that will cure diseases and make hens lay immense numbers of eggs, and many other things, so foolish that we refrain from putting them into print—lie in the way of the poultry raisers and success are so numerous and painted so gorgeously that at times it is almost impossible to avoid them, and many an experienced, as well as inexperienced poultryman has foundered on the rocks of financial disaster because he has followed the fanciful paths shown so alluringly on the printed page rather than the more practical ones of time-tried experienced men.

But, in spite of the many wrecks which line the shore of the poultry sea, in spite of the many pitfalls for the feet of the unwary, in the midst of the many disasters which poultrymen encounter yearly, the poultry business has continued to progress, the fads and fakes are being gradually eliminated and the time will, no doubt, come, and is not so very far away, when the poultry business on the Maryland-Delaware Peninsula will be on as firm a foundation as any business which is used in conjunction with another. Inexperience, and enthusiasm that comes with it, leading people of broader avenues than they are capable of following, has caused more failures than everything else combined in this business.

We believe that poultry raising on the peninsula can be developed in conjunction with regular farming more practically and more profitably than in any way and in a few years, be placed on a firmer foundation in this manner than in any other way. For a person to erect a big commercial plant and start in the business in this manner, on a large scale, he courts the disaster that is almost sure to overtake him.

The average farmer on the peninsula is now carrying from 150 to 300 laying hens with profit and with some little work. A gradual increase of this number to 300 and 600, respectively, would bring in considerable more profit and could be handled with slightly more effort. This increased number would mean larger quarters, more equipment and an outlay of some capital in order that they might be handled properly, but they would use the same range as the smaller number, which is, after all, the basis of the health and profit of the flock. If the range is healthy and sufficient, poorer quarters and equipment, although very desirable and surely better in every way, can be managed somehow. Ideal housing, ideal equipment, ideal conditions, are all very bit as desirable in the poultry business as any other line of human endeavor, but they cannot always be had. Consequently one must use what he has and can get, and do his best with that. We have seen some of the biggest successes made under the most trying conditions.

For the tenant farmer, and especially for the farmer who owns his own farm, the poultry business offers a most profitable "side-line" and one which cannot well be passed by. The tenant farmer is often restricted in the number of fowls he can keep, and of course, this is a handicap hard to overcome. We say to him: Keep as many as you can, house them the best you can, give them every attention you can, and bring them to as high a state of efficiency possible. A small flock, handled correctly, will bring in more profit than a large one handled poorly. As the man who owns his own farm, the poultry business offers almost unlimited possibilities. He can keep as many as he wants, build new houses where and when he wants them and handle a flock which will, for the amount invested, bring him more profits than any other branch of his business.

During the last ten years the business has gone forward with giant strides in many sections of the country and this peninsula has caught the spirit. Another ten years may see the peninsula jump to equal prominence with some others in this useful line of endeavor.

This great advance in the poultry business has been due, to a great extent, to the giant incubating plants which have sprung up here and there.

Wherever these hatcheries have started the whole section has, almost immediately, taken considerable more interest in the business, new people have come into the communities and other business enterprises have developed accordingly.

Perhaps the most important manner in which these hatcheries have helped to develop the poultry business is in the purchase of eggs from farmers for incubation at a price well above regular market quotations. This has resulted in two things: First the abandoning of the mongrel stock and second, the substitution of pure-bred stock. As a natural consequence more attention is paid to the average flock, with the result, of course that more profits have been made and more interest taken in the business.

The gradual abandonment of the hen as a hatching unit and the purchase of lots averaging from a hundred to a thousand, day-old chicks from these hatcheries, and the subsequent forsaking of mother hen as a means of brooding them and the substitution of brooders that will do the work with little trouble and more success, are also the means of more profit and pleasure from the poultry business. What is known as "custom hatching," also plays a most important part in the development of the industry, consisting of a farmer taking his own eggs to a hatchery and getting them hatched at a stipulated price. This offers the most economical way of getting your young stock, provided you have a good flock from which to select the eggs.

Two of these hatcheries are situated in Queen Anne's near Chestertown—the Queen Anne Poultry Farm and the Double Poultry Farm. The former is the largest hatchery in the state. Over at Ridgely is the Summit Poultry Farm, and the Sunshine Poultry Farm, both of which have aided considerably in the development of the industry in that section; the first named is the oldest hatchery on the Eastern Shore. Denton also has a small hatchery.

Delaware is way ahead of Maryland in the poultry business, some sections having as high as a hundred farms in the neighborhood. Milton is the center of the poultry industry of that state, which constitutes one of its most profitable and important sources of income.

The future of the poultry business on the Maryland-Delaware peninsula is undoubtedly bright. That it will be developed and go forward with giant strides in the next few years, is far greater even than it has in the past decade—we have no doubt. Some one has said, "Man advances exactly in proportion that he mingles his thoughts and his labor." This applies as truly to the poultry business as to any of which we know. Those who are in a position to handle poultry, and sufficiently schooled in the intricate and perplexing problems which one is bound to encounter, sooner or later, go ahead, and, mingling your thoughts and your labor, develop your resources and take advantage of your opportunities as you can see them.—Eastern Shore Business Journal.

REPORT SAYS STATE IS RICH IN FIRE CLAYS

Hopkins Men Find Maryland Has Both Deposits and Shipping Facilities—Found in Coal Districts

Maryland is rich in deposits of fire clays—that is, clays which show a considerable resistance to heat—according to a report just issued by the Maryland State Geological Survey.

The report recounts the findings of a committee composed of Drs. Arthur S. Watts, H. G. Schuchert and George M. Hall and Prof. Charles K. Swartz, of Johns Hopkins University. The investigation and the report, it is announced, are the result of a cooperative agreement between the Maryland Survey and the United States Bureau of Mines.

A feature of the report is a 50-page discussion by Dr. Edward B. Matthews, State geologist and professor of mineralogy and petrography at Johns Hopkins, on "The Origin, Distribution and Uses of Clay."

Maryland is shown to be one of the few States where these clay deposits exist in large quantities and where the facilities for transportation for the most part are readily obtainable.

"The clay deposits of Maryland," Dr. Matthews says, "are the most widely distributed of any of the mineral deposits of the State and have been worked from the earliest period of brick making in this country. The character of the clays varies widely from place to place. The fire clays of the State, especially those of Western Maryland, were among the first utilized for refractory ware."

"Clays suitable for the manufacture of refractory ware are found among the residual deposits of the Piedmont district, in the sedimentary deposits of the Coastal Plain and in the coal measures of Western Maryland. Each of these classes of deposits in Maryland represents but a part of the larger areas of occurrence of similar materials which extend from New York New Jersey and Pennsylvania southward to the Southern Appalachian and Gulf States."

The report shows that fire clays are found chiefly in proximity to coal-bearing districts and that the method of extracting the clay are similar to those of coal mining, except that clay mining entails greater risk on account of the plastic nature of the material. The report indicates many areas of clay which have not yet been prospected.

"The fire clays of Western Maryland are the basis of a growing industry in the manufacture of refractory wares, which under proper stimulation supplements the decrease in output of the adjacent coals," the report states.

A detailed description of the various fire clay localities is given by Dr. Hall, who gives his opinion of the practicability of commercial development. A chapter by Dr. Schuchert, junior ceramic chemist in the Bureau of Mines.

TWO INCOMES

When John D. Rockefeller was a struggling young bookkeeper in Cleveland he laid the foundation for his now great fortune by putting into operation a very old but positive law of success.

He wasn't satisfied with a $9 per week salary. He naturally wanted more—but he had only one pair of hands—and one head. So he saved AND PUT MONEY TO WORK for him—his savings. Then he had TWO INCOMES—instead of one.

Two incomes are better than one. Your wage, salary or crop profit may be fine—but when money comes to you in the form of interest—as well as the other—then you are on the road to a comfortable old age.

WOMEN ARM FOR UNIFORM DIVORCE LAW

Maryland Legislature Will Be Asked To Consider Plan Of Women's Clubs—Express Opinions

Shall we have a national divorce law?

Already the question which for almost two years has been the central point of discussion among club women is being prepared for the coming onslaught when it is placed before the various State Legislatures next fall. The bill for such a law has already been drawn up by Mrs. Edward Franklin White, Deputy Attorney General of Indiana and chairman of the legislative department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and is known as "The Uniform Marriage and Divorce Law." It will be presented before the various bodies of women for discussion this spring, and in the inner circles it is believed that it will be one of the main issues of the season fostered by the women's clubs.

"It is most unfortunate," states Mrs. Donald S. Hooker, president of the Just Government League, "that there is no national marriage and divorce law. Such laws embodying serious moral questions should be standardized. It is quite true that a marriage in one State may not hold good in another, and a divorce the same, as the law now stands.

"After all, the State has nothing to do with the conditions that cause divorce. No matter where people live, the grounds for divorce are founded on the condition in that family and not on some State boundary. The Just Government League has done nothing about this bill and we have not gone into the matter thoroughly. But I feel that there should be some national law to protect people along this line.

"We expect to have many readings of this national marriage and divorce bill," said Miss Lavinia Engle, State manager of the League of Women Voters. "In the first place, it will be referred to a committee that will be appointed this week. It goes then to the women in the county, and then back to State headquarters in Baltimore, and is again sent to the county women for a second reading. If the bill is approved, we will then present it to the State Legislature.

"Of course, the passage of such a bill will take longer than a bill presented before Congress, allowing the States to pass such a law themselves. This way there must first be a Constitutional amendment giving Congress the right to pass such a law. It must then be adopted by 36 States and then laid before the Senate. Finally it must be ratified by three-fourths of the States."

The bill will be brought up for indorsement before the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Baltimore in April, according to Mrs. John E. Sipple, president of the State Federation of Clubs. "Personally, I don't want to give an opinion on this bill before we discuss it, but the Federation has been interested in such a bill for a long time. And women all over the country will be indorsing it in the same way."

The bill, which contains, as it stands, 38 sections, provides that "application for a marriage license must be made by one of the parties to the marriage at least two weeks before the license shall be issued. In Section 5 it states that no license to marry shall be issued to one who, at the time married or under the age limit as provided in Section 7 (male 18, female 16), or insane, or an imbecile, pauper, epileptic, feeble-minded or afflicted with tuberculosis or a venereal disease, or related to each other within the following degrees of consanguinity or affinity."

Many of these phrases and clauses are not embodied in the marriage laws of Maryland.

Section 31 says that "a marriage contracted in one State in conformity with the provisions of this bill shall be recognized as a legal marriage in every other State."

Section 32: Divorces may be decreed upon the application of the injured party, for the following causes and no other: (1) Adultery, except when the offense has been committed by the consent, connivance or condonation of the party seeking the divorce, or when the party seeking the divorce has also been guilty of adultery under such circumstances as would have entitled the opposite party, if innocent to a degree.

(2) Cruel and inhuman treatment.

(3) Abandonment or failure to provide for a period of one year or more.

(4) Incurable insanity.

(5) Conviction of an infamous crime.

Section 37: A divorce decreed in the State having jurisdiction thereof shall have full effect in every other State.—Baltimore News.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

By Helen Gregg Green

A little school marm was telling about speaking to the mother of a pupil about her son's poor work in school. "Well," sighed the mother, "I really don't know what to do. I've told Roland he'll have to stay away from the movies this week and study, and I've half a mind to stick to it."

Half a mind! Therein lies the trouble with many mothers.

When you're a half-mind mother, your children soon find out and when they discover the fact how your discipline will suffer!

I recently overheard several boys talking.

"Come on, let's go in swimming," James coaxed.

Eddie grinned but shook his head. "Can't. Sorry! But Mom said, 'Not today.'"

"Aw shucks, Eddie come on! Your mother'll forget what she said. Mine usually does. Half the time she doesn't mean it."

"No my mother won't," Eddie answered firmly. "She doesn't lay down the law very often, but believe me, she

DON'T LOSE THE VISION OF THE SPIRIT

The needs of life make such insistent demands upon a man's time and energy that he is sometimes inclined to ignore his spiritual needs. And so he loses the vision which is inspiration to aspiration—such renews strength and courage.

The church keeps the eyes of the spirit open to the higher things which life offers and becomes a source for the courage required to meet the demands of every day life.

Sunday is the day the church delivers its oral message to the world. Doubly fortified is the man who hears it and applies it throughout the week.

Sunday is the church's day. Respect it. Go to church and renew your spiritual vision. Take the vision into your work and note how it helps.

when she does. She means it! "Oh well, I'm going. Mother told me not to. Said she would spank me if I did, but she won't. At least," hesitatingly, "I don't think she will. Sometimes she means what she says and sometimes she doesn't." And off James shuffled.

What a contrast between the mothers of these two boys, and how much better the effect of firmness!

I don't believe in nagging children; and I don't believe in giving perfunctory orders and rebukes every few minutes. But I most firmly do believe in meaning what you say, and having a good mind of your own.

Occasionally you will encounter a mind about something. In that case it is wise to explain to your boy or girl just why you do so.

Your children will respect you more, and you will be more successful parent if you are not the vacillating, half-a-minded type. And the matter of discipline will be much easier and pleasanter and everybody will be happier.

TITHING

One may imagine when tithing is discussed that one is discussing a church ritual. Of course, such an imagination is born in ignorance. Tithing is not a part of the ritual; it is not statutory nor is it a by-law. The law requiring tithing is fundamental. It is eternal. It existed long before the Ten Commandments were given, and was written into the constitution of man's relationship to God. It is not only fundamental, but is absolutely essential.

The first family of the universe paid their tithe. Abraham paid his tithe the Melchizedek, and so on all down the ages. Christ did not abrogate, repeal nor suspend this fundamental law and principle. He required it; brought it over into the dispensation of Grace, and it is required of every Christian.

If every church in the country were composed of members who were conscientious, faithful tithers, there would be enough money in the treasuries of the churches to evangelize the world and to rectify every church deficiency on earth.

Every man in the church who today refuses to tithe is a deliberate robber. The benefits of tithing ought to settle the question. There isn't any conscientious tither who doesn't get more out of his nine-tenths than the robber gets out of the ten-tenths that he unjustly and unwisely and unfairly uses.

There isn't a tither on the pages of history that has ever been a beggar or who has been clothed in rags or who has walked the streets in disgrace and dishonor. Every man who keeps God's box filled and who is absolutely honest with God has bestowed upon him divine blessings, and he enjoys that peace, prosperity and happiness which comes through no other source.

Will a man rob God?

LOYALTY

By Bill Adams.

I envy no man who does not know the hard, hot fierceness of life's weary battle. To my thinking, work, hard work, man-killing toil, is a somewhat fine thing—and the good God knows I've seen my share of it.

I've lived among the well-to-do, and those whose clothes are immaculate. I've lived also with the socialist, the radical, the I. W. W. Some of my acquaintances are in jail today for their ideas and ways.

I don't judge them. It is not my business to do so, nor do I judge the folks who go immaculate, with no knowledge of life's heavy, heart-breaking burdens of despair and but little sympathy for us, the toilers.

What a fine thing it would be if the children of this, our America, might be taught to think—to think—ah—to think of something deeper than a shallow patriotism! A man's patriotism must begin within himself. If a man has it not, a loyalty to his own soul, how shall he have it for his country? And when all is said and done, do you not think that God, in looking down upon the rolling sphere we call earth, perhaps ignores our man-made boundary lines? And sees within the souls of us to see what lies within? I think he does, perhaps. For man was made before the nations had their birth, and man needs to be loyal to his humanity first of all.

Some day, perhaps, when the little pig-eyed men and the big, broad-shouldered men and the people who are born to silk and satin robing all their lives long—when the toilers and the I. W. W. and the radical and Red stand side by side, with popes and bishops, presidents and princes mixed among them—ah—let's hope that all our frailties and fripperies will be overlooked and forgotten, and that the hand that writes out our last paycheck may be a steady, untrembling and very merciful one! I think—may, I am sure it will. For, after all, we are none of us much else than muddle-headed children toiling feebly in the sun-glare of a hard old mortal life.

Either we came, naked; hence so shall we go. Whither? What does it matter, so long as we've tried to do our job as we've seen it?—In Every-body's Magazine for February.

A Business Man's Obligation To His Business

By O. B. MCCLINTOCK, President and Treasurer, O. B. McClintock Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

Next after his God, his Country and his family, a business man's greatest obligation should be to his business.

He should give to it his utmost respect and the unflagging, determined and painstaking attention, necessary to its full success.

He should build it squarely upon the great foundation of honesty. He should conduct it with integrity and dispatch. Every day he should greet it joyously, nurture it carefully, and multiply it to the limit of his best endeavors.

Besides his own best efforts, he owes to his business the efficient help, and co-operation of properly treated, well-paid employees.

He owes to his business a reasonable amount of Civic Service that it, in turn, may receive a share in those benefits so clearly defined by that motto, "He profits most who serves best."

His obligations also include those great essentials, the creation of confidence, careful financing, and generous advertising.

What greater romance is there in history than the Romance of Business? Every great line of industry is a wonder world in itself.

To guide each well-meaning, right-thinking, great-endeavoring Business Man today, there comes before us out of the past, the wonderful record made by such men as A. T. Stewart, the merchant prince of New York, Marshall Field, that great industrial leader of Chicago, John Wanamaker, philanthropist business man of Philadelphia, and Andrew Carnegie, the keen, constructive manufacturer of Pittsburgh. Each of these men started, conducted, and brought to a successful conclusion a wonderful career, based upon honest and respectful regard for his business, and intelligent and persistent application to his business.

REEDVILLE

Mrs. Laura Neal, widow of the late Capt. George Neal, of the old Tibbitha neighborhood, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Haynie, last Thursday. She was buried Saturday afternoon at Roselond Cemetery, after a burial service which was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. E. Evans, of the M. E. Church. Mrs. Neal leaves a step-daughter, Mrs. Frank Haynie, with whom she made her home and Mr. Roland Neal, of Baltimore, who were here for the burial also a number of nieces and nephews. Many beautiful flowers were brought by family and friends and many hearts will mourn and miss her modest presence.

Mr. Ned Haynie, an old Confederate soldier, and honored citizen of Fairport, died at the home of his daughter in Baltimore recently, the body was brought here on Tuesday and was taken to the home of his daughter in Baltimore. The death of Mr. Haynie removes a familiar figure. May he rest in peace in the Heavenly Home. All our hearts go out in sympathy to his sadly bereaved widow, Mrs. Margaret Haynie, who is entirely alone at the home of her daughter in Baltimore.

Mr. J. D. Carey and daughter, Miss Frances, of Lillian, spent the past week-end in Baltimore.

We are glad to see Miss Mary McGill at her post in the Central office, after a week's battling with the grip at her home.

Numbers of people have been very sick here the past week with grippe or flu. In nearly every home some one or in many cases every one has been or is still in bed. Many trappers have been on the sick list. Daily their boats have gone out in the bay short handed. Some days they have rested at anchor, all loaded with stakes because there was no one to go out to direct the work. The fishermen were in bed wrestling with temperatures, aches and pains. Messrs. Charles Hill, Grover, similar to the Lewis, L. S. Morrison, Arthur Booth, are all better we are glad to say.

Mrs. M. E. Haynie, of Fairport, was a recent guest of her brother, Mr. R. P. Waller and family, of Hebron, for a week.

Most of the little girls and boys at Fleeton, regardless of denominational ties, belong to the Junior Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and are very busy serving and making picture books and other things of interest, which are to be sent to mission schools. Mrs. R. U. Brookings directs the work. The Juniors meet at the Rectory and spend a most interesting hour or two in the road work.

MRS. EARLS TELLS WOMEN

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Olean, N. Y. - "Every month my blood would go to my head and I would have such a headache, nosebleed, backache and pains that I could not do my work. At night I could not get my rest and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read some of your testimonials about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, so I decided to try it. I had only taken two bottles when I began to be better, and my back did not hurt me nor my head ache. I felt like a new woman. The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine and I will always recommend it." - Mrs. A. D. EARLS, 630 N. 6th St., Olean, N. Y.

Mrs. Kelsey adds her Testimony

Copenhagen, N. Y. - "I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out doors, too. I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others." - Mrs. HENRIET KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

A Word About Wages

This Company's largest item of expenditure is for wages; it constitutes about two-thirds of the total expense of the business. Our aim is to pay our employees a wage that will keep them loyal to their task and zealous in their efforts to furnish service that will satisfy our patrons.

In a system such as ours where the service is largely a personal service, an attempt to keep to the lowest possible point the wages paid the employees who furnish this service may be false economy, because to give good service there must be high morale, loyalty and enthusiasm.

During the period following the World War, it was this Company's policy to advance wages only to such levels as we expected to be able to maintain. This policy has been amply justified by the results. We have now a more permanent force working more efficiently than ever before, which has resulted in substantial economies for the benefit of our patrons.

In 1918, the Company had one employee for every 38 telephones; now we have one employee for every 46 telephones. While there has been a 23% increase in the number of telephones, there has been a slight decrease in the number of employees. Thus, with a smaller number of employees than in 1918, we are furnishing service to a greatly increased number of patrons.

This increase in the efficiency of our employees has also resulted in a greatly improved service to the public, and our records show that at no time in the history of the Company has the service we are furnishing been better than at present.

To Reap Profits from Your Hot Bed

Use Hot Bed Sash Made from Specially Selected Gulf Cypress

It costs very little more than canvas and lasts many years longer. Canvas, even when specially treated and cared for, will hardly last more than two years, but glass will last indefinitely, so long as it is handled with care. The difference in cost between these two styles of hot bed sash is slight, and there is no comparison in the up-keep cost.

We are making the frames in Virginia Style, using especially selected Gulf Cypress in sizes from 3 x 6 to 4 x 8. Phone us, write us, or call on us at your first opportunity and get full details and prices. Glass for old frames can be furnished in any quantity. Don't delay. Now is the time to get your hot beds ready.

Man Tells How It Feels To Be Scalped

In August, 1867, near Plum Creek Station, Nebraska, on the then building Union Pacific, two hundred and thirty miles from Omaha, the Cheyennes wrecked a hand-car carrying William Thompson, head lineman, and his crew of five. Thompson was shot through the right arm, knocked down with a rifle-butt, stabbed in the neck, and while still conscious was scalped.

"I felt as if the whole top of my head was taken right off," he afterward related.

When the Indian galloped away the scalp slipped from his belt, and Thompson crawled and got it. He covered the scalp in his hand, and put it into a pail of water to keep it moist. It was nine inches long and four inches wide, and "looked like a drowned rat."

At Omaha the doctors replaced it upon his head and gave him hopes, but it did not stick. He took it home with him to England, but finally sent it back to Dr. R. C. Moore, of Omaha; and it was upon exhibition in a jar of alcohol in the Omaha Public Library Museum.

In April, 1868, two U. P. freight conductors, Tom Cahoon and William Edmundson, were fishing in Lodge Pole Creek, a mile and a half out of Sidney, Nebraska.

The Sioux cut them off. Cahoon was shot down and scalped. He recovered, and after completion of the road in 1869 ran as passenger conductor out of Ogden, Utah. He lived in Ogden for some years, had a street there named for him, and wore his hat "well to the back of his head" by reason of a curious "bald spot."—Adventure Magazine for February.

RENEWED TESTIMONY.

No one in Salisbury who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Salisbury man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Salisbury resident can doubt.

W. F. Bounds, brick mason, 110 Williams Street, says: "I was troubled with lame back and disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were scanty and caused annoyance. When I bent to tie my shoes I found it hard to straighten because of the sharp pains that caught me in the small of my back. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Collier Drug Co. I had no more trouble and can recommend Doan's highly to anyone suffering as I did." (Statement given January 21, 1916.)

On January 7, 1921, Mr. Bounds said: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good condition and never miss a chance to recommend them. I seldom have any sign of kidney trouble now and give Doan's all the credit."

13 SEEMS TO BE COUNTRY'S LUCKY NUMBER

College Class Protests To Postoffice Department Against Dropping Thirteen Cent Stamp—Memorandum Presents Reason For Supporting U. S. Has Found Luck In That Number.

In America, at least the number 13 may be considered one to confer good luck. That is the gist of a unique protest recently sent to the Postoffice Department by a Southern college. The college is Shepherd College State Normal School, located at Shepherdstown, W. Va., and it was the classes in history that sent the protest to the postal authorities.

Recently the Postoffice Department has announced that certain changes would be made in the stamp issues. Among the stamps that were to be abandoned was the 13-cent stamp. Just why is hard to say. Perhaps the heads of the Postoffice are superstitious; perhaps they have been complaining by timid persons who have received bad news or unwelcome gifts in envelopes and packages addressed with this 13-cent stamp.

But now the Postoffice has received a protest of a new and unexpected nature. The history class wants the 13-cent stamp back, and the reason why is because the number 13, according to them, has been very much maligned and far from being a number of ill omen is one that really promises luck. In fact they claim that America's lucky number is really 13, and every public use of the number should be encouraged rather than avoided. Therefore, by all means, according to them, the issue of 13-cent stamps should not be discontinued; instead larger numbers of them should be printed and placed on every package capable of carrying the stamp.

To satisfy the Postoffice Department that such is the case, they have drawn up an amazing list of reasons why the number 13 is one whose significance for America is one of great good luck. Appropriately enough they limited the number of their reasons to 13. But many more could be given.

The first reason given in the statement of Shepherd College is naturally enough the fact that America was discovered on the eve of the thirteenth day of October.

The next reason is one, of course, that everybody would jump at; it is that the nation started with 13 colonies, which became States when the nation was first formed. The fact that there were 13 colonies united against her may have been hard luck for Great Britain, but it seemed the best of luck for the good old United States. That we started as 13 States has not seemed to harass the career of the nation.

The United States is situated between the forty-ninth and twenty-third parallels of latitude, including Porto Rico, making 26, or the double of 13 parallels for the extent of the country.

The thirteenth President of the country was Millard Fillmore, whose administration was one of the calmest in history. It is true the president died the storm of the Civil War, but it was a real calm during which the foundations were laid which helped to enable the country to endure the crisis of that terrible struggle. It was the administration in which all unknown a great piece of luck occurred for the moving picture industry, for it was in this administration that California was admitted as a State.

The twenty-sixth President was Theodore Roosevelt, certainly one of the luckiest presidents for himself and his country that we could have had. One of the greatest of the presidents, Thomas Jefferson, was born April the thirteenth.

The flag itself is one of the reasons why 13 might officially be proclaimed as the country's lucky number. Unchangeable will be its 13 stripes, and the first flag, the parent of the succeeding flags, had 13 stars as well. The national emblem, American eagle, requires, as examination will reveal, 13 letters to spell it out; the national motto, "E Pluribus Unum," also when its letters are counted out will reveal the American lucky number 13.

A bit of history was made when the transatlantic cable was put into operation. It was a greater event as far as real value to the story of civilization and the welfare of this country is concerned than any of its battles. The first word carried on that epoch-making unifier of the new world and the old was sent on the 13th of the month.

Particularly in naval matters has this country's lucky number certainly been 13. The American Navy started with 13 ships and with them started the world. Its first great sea captain, John Paul Jones, needs 13 letters to spell his name. In his most famous engagement it is said that he had only 13 men able to keep up the fight when he beat his enemy; the 13 were enough to do the trick. Later in the War of 1812 Perry won his famous victory on Lake Erie on the 13th of the month the year of 1813.

On the land the same luck held. It was on the 13th of the month that the flag was raised over Fort Sumter. Then in the most recent great military achievements of the country, the World War, the American leader was John J. Pershing, whose name takes 13 letters to spell and he arrived in France for the campaigns that meant the winning of the war on June 13th, 1917.

STAINS.

If you have a grease spot on any woolen material and have no cleaning fluid handy, take spirits of camphor. It will do the work nicely.

If you do happen to have a mayonnaise stain on a dress or blouse, alcohol and ether will remove it.

When tea is spilled on a tablecloth, cover immediately with common salt, leave it for a while.—February Designer.

The following piece of poetry of which Mr. Dale Wimbrow is the author is printed in these columns inasmuch as it is believed that this, as well as other ballads which the young man has written, has some real literary merit. "A Poet is not without Honor, save in his Own Country," is the traditional saying about bards, which this paper is inclined to feel is hardly a square deal. The purpose of its management is to give credit, when it believes it proper and feasible, to any and all persons living within the communities where it circulates and to recognize talent where it is believed same exists.

"THE AWAKENING"

Ah! the schemes I have been dreaming,
And the dreams that I've been dreaming;
All the castles I have built, the plans I've laid;
Now have toppled down to ruin
For the Gods that I've been wooing
Lose their shape before my eyes and slowly fade.

I have worshipped dross I'm finding
And the thread I've been unwinding
Is as endless as the cycle of the Sun.
Vision now no more distorted
Shows the path which I departed
To be ended at the spot where 'twas begun.

On this path without an ending,
With life changing vistas unfolding
In a mass with neither color, shape nor form
I have travelled all unheeding
Knowing not what I was needing Like a ship by crew forsaken in a storm.

Not a friend have I been seeking,
And I felt that Fate was seeking
In a mass with neither color, shape nor form
'Tis a lesson dear, the knowing
That we reap what we've been sowing
And the crop yields back the seed a hundred fold.

If we plant a seed of sorrow,
We may reap the crop tomorrow.
Or we may delay the harvesting for years;
But as sure as Heaven's o'er us,
We've the penalty before us
And we pay the price in pain and grief and tears.

Plant a little seed of kindness
Just a bit of worth and fineness
And it yields a golden harvest in the end.
For as we are treating others
So we're treated by our brothers,
What a blessing then to know we've made a friend.

On the tablets giv'n to Moses
The commandments God discloses
Are embodied in the good old golden rule.
And to simply go on living Always taking, never giving,
Is the doctrine of the egotist and fool.

But with all the preacher's preaching,
And despite the teacher's teaching
All our lessons thru experiences are gained.
And with vision cleared I ponder Wondering if the "Dwar yonder"
Holds a soul who gained its portals all unstained.

I have measured by my measure,
I have sought my selfish pleasure,
I've been dreaming in an evil land of Nod,
And 'tis glorious to Awaken
From the dream with faith unshaken,
In the everlasting providence of God.

SALISBURY'S NORTH WEST POND WAS FORMER SITE OF FAMOUS TUMBLING DAM

People now driving over what is generally known as "Johnson's Pond" or the "Electric Light Pond" are too much occupied in keeping their automobiles out of the deepest road ruts and thinking strong thoughts about the City Council's neglect of this highway to give much attention to the history of this not uninteresting spot. It is really one of the main thoroughfares and is chiefly a short cut from North Salisbury to the state roads running west and northwest. The pond, itself, is spanned by a railroad bridge and affords an excellent "swimming hole" for people not too particular about the sanitation of their bath water.

Eighty or eighty-five years ago, however, this little pond held quite a different position in the community and it might be added the entire peninsula as well. For this was the site of the famous old dam, constructed in 1830 or 1835 and considered at that time the greatest mechanical achievement south of Wilmington. Visitors from the surrounding countries made special and laborious trips to view the majestic fall of waters, leashed by human skill. It was the wonder of the decade.

The pond was originally owned by the Polks who sold it to Josiah Bailey, later Attorney General of Maryland. It was bought from him by Dr. Cathell Humphreys and Humphrey Humphreys who built the dam. The stream drained into a large area of water, taking in Rum Ridge, east of Delmar, Del., and the prong of Gordy's mill. Several ruins found on the west side of the pond, in a tract called Denwoods Den, indicate that there was once a ship yard there. The first enterprise consisted of a grist mill at the east of the dam and a saw mill at the west. The foundation was of stone, brought here from Port Deposit, Md. The quantity of water was immense and in the rainy season, was often heavy enough to cause breakage and incur thousands of dollars' damage. For almost three-quarters of a century this quaint little mill served Salisbury faithfully. Then its duties were gradually shifted to more recent appliances and the old buildings gave way to newer things. The site of the saw mill is unoccupied but that of the grist mill was bought by an electrical company around 1902 and used by them up until 1917 to supply electric current by water power to the city of Salisbury.

MORAL STANDARDS ARE BEING IMPROVED

In an interesting and more or less exhaustive report submitted to the American Personnel Association, at its meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., by its committee on shop training, it was stated that the moral standards of American workmen have improved since the war. It might have been regarded as entirely unnecessary though it was confirmatory of the statement referred to, to declare in a subsequent paragraph that the standards of workmanship are also higher. The second follows the first as surely as day follows the night or night the day. High moral standards in industry are as necessary to efficient production and to the mutual well-being of both employer and employee, as any other purposeful activity. It is no longer believed that the man who cares nothing for his job can render satisfactory service, and it matters not whether the worker is hired to dig a ditch, build a house, make a pair of shoes or plow a field of corn.

Of course those who discussed the subject at the convention referred to were not mere experimenters or mere observers. The deductions made are based upon the theory that morale, or moral standards, or efficiency and skill are raised through training and education, and that the man who is able to do a piece of work well finds pleasure and profit in doing it satisfactorily. The advantages are at once manifest. The satisfactory stabilizing of factory or shop labor, with the standard acceptably high, tends to lessen the cost of what is known as labor turnover. By no means all those who contribute to this cost are skilled laborers. The great majority of those who go from place to place seeking to better their condition are unskilled workers who hope to capitalize, in their new employment, the smattering of technical knowledge or skill which they have acquired. The worker with a trade, under usual conditions, prefers to remain identified with the industry in which he is familiar with processes and persons. His wage scale is standardized if he chances to belong to a labor union, and he therefore has nothing to gain but possibly much to lose by changing his employment.

This may explain the increasing tendency of wage earners to seek practical education and training in the vocations they have chosen to enter. To meet the acknowledged need, many employers are providing schools of instruction in which technical training is given. Men take inevitable pride in the attainment of skill. We are all like that. One's commendable ambition is to advance, to be able to do a thing today better than he was able to do it yesterday. It is not always that one seeks to do a thing better than another is able to do it, although that desire is excusable, if not commendable. The determination to succeed is sometimes confused with the somewhat less unselfish desire to excel.

DORCHESTER GROWERS MAKING CONTRACTS

Cambridge Association Closes One Deal At 30 Cents A Basket—Wicomico Growers Await

The Cambridge Tomato Growers' Association has closed a contract with the Phillips Packing Company calling for not less than 500 acres at 30 cents per 1/2-bushel basket, with baskets furnished by the packer and payments to be made through the sales manager, A. B. Cochran, once a week.

Many of the growers have decided to increase their acreage since the contract price became known, as the farmers feel that with favorable weather or 30 cents for tomatoes will give one crop on which they can make a profit. The result of an investigation of Queen Anne, Kent, Cecil, Harford, Wicomico and Somerset counties and Dover and Georgetown, Del., showed that the farmers were holding out for 25 and 30 cents, but canners were offering 20 and 25 cents.

It is believed that the price obtained at Cambridge will stiffen the growers elsewhere and that very little contracting will be done for 30 cents.

The Cambridge Tomato Growers' Association has operated since 1917 and has helped make Dorchester county the highest market for tomatoes on the Eastern Shore for several years. According to Mr. James C. Phillips, the president, the association co-operates with the canners, as was evidenced last year when the growers refused to hire any of the workmen of the largest packing company in Cambridge who went on a strike.

The Cambridge Tomato Growers' Association held its annual meeting recently and declared a dividend to all members. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: James C. Phillips, president; James P. Handley, vice-president; J. L. Reid, secretary and Fred Hirst, treasurer.

WHO? $PAYS?

THERE is an old saying that if a person needs a thing, he pays for it whether he buys it or not. If your family needs the protection of life insurance, someone is going to pay for it. If you fail to insure, the premiums of want, suffering and privation pile up and must be paid by your widow and fatherless children. Either the family or the insurance company must carry the risk on your life. Which shall it be?

EASTERN SHORE THE GARDEN SPOT AND SOME OF ITS BEAUTIFUL TOWNS

The Value And Variety Of Rural Life—Its Social And Commercial Development—Has Been The Stimulus Which Has Resulted In Turning Out Many Great Men.

The Eastern Shore speaking from a historical viewpoint was one of the earliest regions in the country to be settled by the pure British stock. It has been said by historians that before the Pilgrim Fathers settled in the rock bound coast of New England, a small colony had crossed the Chesapeake bay from Jamestown and settled in Northampton county, Virginia. Just a few years later William Claiborne opened up a trading station on Kent Island. From this period began the rapid development of the "Garden Spot" of the whole country, not in locating of villages, towns and cities, but the first duty was the clearing of land, building homes, large and small, establishing and developing rural life. Farmsteads, large and small were cleared from the banks of the rivers, the only roads of travel then. Many of the colonial buildings were built with large lawns, gently falling in natural terraces to the water's edge backed by richly forested upland stretching back for miles.

Such was the beginning of Eastern Shore life, with its great variety of landscapes differing from any region before seen by the eye of man and with its wonderful development of rural life, in a measure isolated, geographically speaking, from the world in general. Not only separate and distinct geographically, but no place in the world has such a variety of natural products which have tickled the palate of the whole world. It is these natural aspects, these many phases of Eastern Shore life, more attractive, more enduring than the gold mines of California or the silver mines of Nevada. More attractive than the mountain, the prairie or the desert, it has the loveliest landscapes in all the world.

From the rushing waves of the Atlantic to the shore of Maryland's little Mediterranean, the Chesapeake bay are various streams, each with its peculiar charm, reaching back from the bay many miles into the country. Of the rivers we may mention the Elk, the Susquehanna, the Choptank, the Nanticoke, the Tred Avon, the Wicomico, the Manokin, the Pocomoke, the Annapolis, the Nantux and the Occoquan, and to these may be added the lakes, the sounds, the creeks, branches and small streams, which the Shore abounds. Oystering, crabbing, fishing, ducking have been so woven into the lives of many of the inhabitants that they are trained from childhood to use the gun, the hook and line, the tongs, the seines, the boats that they are almost as much at home afloat as on shore.

The habits and customs of rural life have been the outgrowth and the product of a people living and working together here, many of whose ancestors may be traced back three hundred years. The skill ingenuity and industry of the people has developed a rural life, peculiarly their own, and superior to that in any other section in the known world. But this rural life as good, as pure and healthy as it may be, is becoming less attractive than it used to be. Young people, boys, men and women are being drawn from the country into town and city life, but are holding their own with distinction and honor. There have always been a few moving out from their home surroundings, but the number now seems to be greatly on the increase and much of it starts in school life.

Social gatherings, events of pleasure and other periods of relaxation from the labors and toils of life in rural sections are growing less important as the years come and go. The Christmas festivities, the Fourth of July celebrations, campmeetings and other special occasions of pleasure for old and young are diminishing in importance. Ice cream and other luxuries on sale once or twice a year have become the common things of every day life. The celebrations of the birth of our country only a few years ago are looked forward to with so much anxiety by the young people, passes almost unnoticed and unobserved. Pleasure, hilarity and social delights come to us as the days come and go and planned for as a part of the achievements of modern life.

The plain, simple, quiet life in the rural sections has been lifted up on a high plane by the increase of the products of field and garden and the advent of the automobile and motor truck and so blended with town and city life that there is but little difference to be observed. This in a measure has drawn the minds and hearts from the natural beauties of real country life and made them lovers of art of man. The pleasures of life are no longer drawn from the redolent gardens, the beautiful orchards, the vine and hills, the spacious fields, the lowing heard, the cackling fowl, the swift footed beast of the road, but from other sources, transient and transitory.

Perhaps nothing in rural life as it was many years ago has been changed so much as the style of dress of both men and women and while the modern is more beautiful, more attractive, much of it is less comfortable and less substantial than the former dress. That strong, robust, hardy youth of other years has given place to the delicate form, modernized by the influence of fashion and a desire to appear beautiful and attractive. But are they as capable as their fathers and mothers were for the real duties of life? Are they as strong, and have the powers of endurance equal to that of the generations of the past?

Not as we see conditions, but we have to admit the fact that average human life has been very much increased within the last twenty years and the prolongation of life is due to advantages found in present methods of diet and of care together with the comforts and conveniences of modern surroundings. The arduous duties of the spinning wheel, the shuttle exposure of out-door work and the fury of the elements have given place to the counting room, the store clerk and the typewriter at a table with protection and comfort are assured, whether in the heat of summer or the rigors of winter. This moving from the rural sections of the Shore to the towns and cities has greatly weakened the country churches and schools. As in the church many prefer to listen to what the preacher has to say in the town or city church, rather than be a worker and a giver in the country church. This may do as a matter of effort, but the real joy, the real happiness form the working, the serving and the giving and helping in the rural chapel is lost. A few years ago a farmer attended the church at the farm gate, led the class meetings, prayer meetings, prayed and sang in almost all the services and gave fifty dollars a year toward the support of the church. He moved to a nearby town and joined a church where his assessment was twelve dollars annually. For twelve years he never led a class or prayer meeting, never prayed in public and was not given an opportunity to do anything. The joy of his church life ended with his moving to town. There are pleasures, and opportunities of character building in the country that is never known only by those who live there. The country churches of the Shore have been the greatest feeders to the ministry the causes have ever had. Ninety per cent of the Methodist ministers have come from the country and had their early impressions of righteousness and the early training for the ministry in the plain unpretentious country churches. All nature reveals a God, a divine architect and amid these beauties of nature the young and tender heart gets in tune with the surroundings.

Not only is it true of the ministry but in almost all the avenues of activity in town and city the leading men have had their rural experiences and seem to have qualified and fitted them for different surroundings. We owe so much to country life that it is impossible to put an estimate upon its value. The great men of the Shore the Elks, the Senators, the Bohemian, the Chester, the Choptank, the Nanticoke, the Tred Avon, the Wicomico, the Manokin, the Pocomoke, the Onancock, the Nantux and the Occoquan, and to these may be added the lakes, the sounds, the creeks, branches and small streams, which the Shore abounds. Oystering, crabbing, fishing, ducking have been so woven into the lives of many of the inhabitants that they are trained from childhood to use the gun, the hook and line, the tongs, the seines, the boats that they are almost as much at home afloat as on shore.

The country school will be treated in a subsequent letter.

AGRICULTURAL CREDITS ACT IS PASSED

Passed By Congress On Last Day And Is One Of The Most Important Bills Passed—Statement By The Secretary Of Agriculture, Henry C. Wallace.

On the last day it was in session Congress enacted the Agricultural Credits Act. This act is designed to give the farmer the sort of credit he needs to produce efficiently and market in an orderly way the products of the farm. It is an effort by Congress to meet a need which has been felt for at least fifty years. The act may be perfect. Quite possibly experience will show the need of amendments from time to time. But it furnishes the basis for a system of intermediate credit adapted to farm conditions and farm needs. Also it should bring about a reduction in the interest which farmers must pay for money borrowed.

The act is divided into two parts. In the first, it provides government agencies for handling agricultural loans. In the second it authorizes the organization of private agencies under government supervision for making loans on live stock, savings banks, on farm commodities on the way to market.

The government loan activities will be carried on in connection with the Federal land banks. At the present time the country is divided into twelve districts, and in each of these districts there is a Federal land bank which makes land mortgage loans, these twelve banks being directed by a central Federal Farm Loan Bureau in Washington. In connection with each of these land banks there is to be established an intermediate credit bank, located in the same city with the land bank and under the supervision of the officers and directors of the land bank. The Federal government supplies each of these intermediate credit banks with a capital of not to exceed $5,000,000. These intermediate credit banks are authorized to discount farmers' notes which have been taken by banks and other financial institutions, and then can carry such notes for a term of from six months to three years. The banks may also loan direct to farmers' co-operative associations under conditions set forth in the act.

These intermediate credit banks may issue debentures which will have back of them the farmers' notes which the banks have taken. The idea is that these debentures may be sold to people who wish a safe investment. They are exempt from taxation just as the bonds issued by the Federal land banks are exempt. The interest charged by the intermediate credit banks may not exceed by more than one per cent the interest paid on the debentures issued, and the farmer who borrows must not be charged an interest rate of more than one and one-half per cent above the interest charged by the intermediate credit bank. No doubt some time will be required to get this machinery in smooth working order. It will be just like building a new business. It should not be very long, however, until the benefits will be apparent and the farmer will find that he can borrow needed capital for a period up to three years without having to pay an unduly high interest rate, without having to renew his notes every ninety days or six months and without being in danger of having to sacrifice his crops or live stock because of a sudden financial flurry.

The second division of the act authorizes the organization under a Federal charter, of national agricultural credit corporations, these to be organized by private capital. They will be under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency, just as are other national banking institutions. They must have a capital stock of at least $250,000. They may issue collateral trust debentures up to ten times their capital and surplus. Such corporations will probably be organized in the Western States where the livestock industry is important and where now cattle loan companies are in operation.

In addition to the provisions of the act designed to furnish the farmer much needed intermediate credit, certain changes have been made in the law under which the Federal land banks are made by providing that three out of the seven directors for each bank are to be elected by the borrowers from the bank and three are to be appointed by the Federal Reserve Board the seventh director, who will be the president of the board, will be chosen from three persons who have received the highest nomination vote for this position by the borrowers or stockholders in the bank.

Heretofore the maximum amount which might be loaned to any individual by the Federal land banks has been $10,000. This has been increased to $25,000. Also the purpose for which mortgage loans may be made has been broadened to include the repayment of any existing indebtedness.

The Federal Reserve Act, amended by broadening the definition of what is called agricultural paper, making it include the grading and processing of agricultural products by co-operative marketing associations. Heretofore the Federal Reserve Banks have not been permitted to discount agricultural paper for a longer period than six months. This period has been increased to nine months.

A large number of state banks are not now members of the Federal Reserve System, some of them because their capital is not large enough to meet the requirements of the law. An amendment to the Federal Reserve Act is carried in this bill designed to encourage small banks to join the system. A bank which has capital equal only to sixty per cent of the capital required of national banks may be admitted, if within a reasonable time the capital will be increased to correspond with the capital required of national banks.

The life of the War Finance Corporation is extended up to February 28, 1924, the expectation being that by that date the new credit facilities provided for under this agricultural credits act will be sufficient to meet the needs.

This Agricultural Credits Act of 1923 is one of the most important acts passed by the last Congress. It marks an earnest effort to provide the farmer with the sort of credit he must have to carry on efficiently. It is not class legislation. The results will be helpful to business in general, because the effect will be to stabilize agricultural production and marketing.

HISTORY WRITTEN ON FACE OF CLIFF

Hills Of Lebanon Bear Records Of 3000 Years, Carved By Kings And Conquerors

On the face of a cliff in the Lebanon hills, Ramesses II, King of Egypt, well over 3000 years ago ordered his stone carvers to inscribe a tablet setting forth his conquest of the land. The figures of the ancient Egyptian ruler and his men still are visible. A few feet away one may see carved in the same rock by a British stone cutter, a record of the coming, in September 1918, of Field Marshal Sir Edmund H. H. Allenby, G. C. B., commander of the Allied forces, in Asia Minor. And the passage of the centuries from B. C. 1300 to A. D. 1918 is recorded by various other carvings, in all not less than 12, and each describing the march of a victorious army.

The cliff selected for the carving of these historic records is at the mouth of the Litani river, 10 miles northeast of Beirut, in Syria. This strip of country lying between the Lebanon and Egypt has been the bridge between the ancient empires of the Valley of the Nile and Mesopotamia and over it has passed the armies of the ancient, medieval and modern worlds. The narrowest point is where the Lebanon Mountains come close to the sea, and at those places Ramesses II, set the precedent of commemorating his conquests by hewing out a panel on the face of the cliff. His example has been followed by others through centuries until now there are a dozen of them. They are all cut about four or five inches deep, from five to nine feet high and from two to four and a half feet in width.

The storms of more than 3000 years have beaten upon some of them, but still the figures of the ancient Egyptian conquerors are easily discernible as they stand with their right arms uplifted in an attitude of victory. The hieroglyphs have long since disappeared except to the trained eye of the archaeologist.

Several Assyrian conquerors led their armies through this pass, including the great Sennacherib, who threatened Jerusalem, but whose army was smitten by "the breath of the Lord," and for a century and a quarter the city was saved from its foes.

Alexander the Great led his conquering hosts through the same defile on his way to Egypt, and Greek and Latin tablets tell of the conquests of the great kingdoms of Southern Europe when the march of empire passed from Asia to Europe.

Coming down to recent history a tablet tells of the coming of the army of Louis Napoleon in 1860, when the massacres in the Lebanon called for European interference and France first set her foot in Syria. Nearly 60 years passed by, and then the English army led by General Allenby and assisted by the French, swept up like a whirlwind from the south four years ago and ended the rule of the Turk in the southern part of the Levant. A panel has been cut in the cliff near those of the ancient Egyptians, telling of this great victory and bringing this wonderful cliff-record of history up to date.

NEWARK TEAM DUE HERE IN 18 DAYS NOW

Final Arrangements For Their Coming Now Complete Announces Pres. Ruark.

EXHIBITION GAME IS
CARDED FOR APR. 11

"Bears" Will Cross Bats With Cape
Charles Team Of The Pennsylvania Railroad That Afternoon And Again
On Saturday—League Schedule
Now Nearly Completed.

It won't be long now. Day by day baseball season is getting nearer and nearer. Announcement is made this week by the local management that final arrangements have been completed for the Newark International League team to come here during the week of April 9th—now less than three weeks off.

Better news still for the fans is that the boys from the AA Circuit will be seen in real action two days after they arrive for on Wednesday, April 12th the Pennsylvania Railroad team of Cape Charles, Va., will cross bats with the "Bears." Again on Saturday afternoon, April 14th these two clubs will cross bats at Gordy Park.

After Newark departs for Jersey, died-in-the-wool fans will have to be content for a few weeks with baseball of the high school calibre which from present indications bids to be pretty good.

About the 7th of May the Salisbury players will start reporting for practice and the management is planning exhibition games for Saturday, May 12th, Wednesday the 16th and Saturday, 19th. These will give local people a chance to look over 1923 team and should also be the means of taking care of training expenses which was a frightful item last year due to the constant coming and going of players.

The schedule committee of the Eastern Shore League has its task nearly completed and a table with tentative dates has been drafted. The season will open on May 25th.

President H. W. Ruark will go to Baltimore next week. There he will be joined by Manager Burton Shipley and the pair will purchase uniforms, bats and other paraphernalia for the club. The uniforms this year will have the letter "S" on the shirt fronts while on the right sleeve will appear
W. C. standing for "White Clouds."

The players this year will be taken care of at the Y.M.C.A. Building and the Central Hotel.

Ford Agents Gather At Thursday Dinner

Dealers From All Parts Of Peninsula Meet Here And Confer With Officials From Main Office

Ford dealers from all over the Peninsula gathered at the Peninsula Regtaurant last Thursday to discuss the ways and means of procuring Ford cars and products to take care of the demands of the people in this section.

Mr. Hinkle, road manager from the Philadelphia department, was present and gave a most interesting and informative address. The principal address was made by Advertising Manager Costello from the main office. The dealers all expressed their satisfaction as being elated with the rate cars were being sold.

NANTICOKE AND WICOMICO RIVER OYSTER ROCKS BRING WEALTH TO WATERMEN THIS SEASON SAID TO BE BEST IN 50 YEARS

Bivalves Worth Over $500,000 To Lower County Community Is Estimated—Nanticoke Bank's Deposits Jump $75,000—Oyster Scarcity Elsewhere Makes High Prices.

"Best season in 50 years for Nanticoke oystermen" is the way one man of that town expressed himself last week to a News correspondent who was inquiring as to the results of the oyster industry this year in the region where the old districts of the Nanticoke and Wicomico rivers merge into a grand expanse of deep blue water that harbors veritable gold mines of oyster rocks.

That the past year has been a most profitable one to the native tongers is indicated by the big increase in bank deposits. An official of the Nanticoke Savings Bank stated that the deposits in his institution alone increased $75,000 above the average in years past.

As a result of this splendid oyster season, residents in the Nanticoke, Tyaskin and Bivale districts of the Nanticoke county are preparing to settle back in ease during the coming hot days of Summer and to enjoy some of the pleasures of life. Of course they are not going to forget to make big money in their fish nets when the time comes, but they are a happy lot that a neat sum has been gathered from the sale of the salty bivalve.

WHEATLEYS OBSERVE THEIR PEARL WEDDING

225 Relatives, Neighbors And Friends Felicitate Happy Couple At Galestown Thursday Last

Mr. and Mrs. George E. H. Wheatley, living on a farm near Galestown, Dorchester county, celebrated their Pearl wedding on Thursday of last week. The children were very anxious about the celebration and the parents sent out invitations to relatives, neighbors and friends and after the guests had arrived actual count revealed the fact that two hundred and twenty-five guests were present. Mr. and Mrs.
Wheatley were delighted with having so many friends to call to see them and said that it was to them the most highly appreciated event that had come to them during the thirty years of their married life, not excepting the advent of the first baby into the home. Eating began at three o'clock and continued, without break until after eleven o'clock at night. It was said that it was the largest crowd in the smallest place ever seen in that community. The presents left by the guests consisted of silverware, glass ware, cash, linens and a large variety of other things, all of which had value and utility.

Mrs. Wheatley was the daughter of Joseph Ellis, one of the first families of lower Sussex County, Delaware, residing at Woodland, near Seaford,
and at whose home the marriage ceremony was performed thirty years ago by Rev. G. W. Hall. They have seven children, four boys and three girls, all of whom were present except one.
Joseph, who lives in Wilmington and was not in a position to leave on that occasion.

CHILDREN ARE PAROLED BY ORDER COURT

Placed In Custody Of Parents

Restrictions.

COURT ADMINISTRATORS REBUKE TO PARENTS

Judge Bailey, Tells Of Conditions In Salisbury Which Allure Youth Such As Four Then Before Court And Asks Co-operation Of Parents In Eliminating Same.

Charles Williams and Walter Murray together with their girl companions, Marie Marshall and Lily Cantwell, were brought before the Court last Thursday morning to tell their stories in connection with the elopement of the two couples last Sunday week and of their subsequent capture at St. Michaels on Monday night.
The boys were also called upon to tell of their escapade in shooting up the chickens, dog and the firing at other living objects.

All four parties were under 21 years of age they testified. Witnesses told of the shooting of the animals while the Court called upon Williams to enumerate the movements of the quarter after it left Salisbury. The father of Murray and the mother of each of the girls was questioned by Judge Bailey after which he reflected the opinion of the Court.

At the outset, the Judge expressed sympathy for the children and proceeded to set forth the temptations which were present to beset them on every hand, stating that they were many and varied and much in excess of those 30 or more years ago. He characterized the bar-room, as far as men were concerned, as a "paradise" to places that are inviting people every day in our midst.

SALISBURY'S NEW HOTEL AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETED

Architect's Drawing of the proposed "Wicomico Hotel," the first modern fireproof hostelry to be erected on the Delmarvia Peninsula. Specifications and statement of directors follow below.

The new Wicomico Hotel will be located at the corner of Main and Division Streets. It will be an imposing structure of red brick and ivory terra cotta, having four stories and a basement. It will be absolutely fireproof and will conform in every way with the recognized standards of a strictly modern, high class hotel.

It will have about 78 large furnished guest rooms, more than half of which will have private baths adjoining and the remainder will have either toilets and lavatories adjoining, or will have lavatories in the rooms.

Although the plans have not yet been definitely settled in every detail a general arrangement has been agreed upon which will provide adequate facilities not only for Salis-bury's visitors but will be a social center, a gathering place for the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Woman's Club and all other organizations requiring or desiring the conveniences and setting that only a modern first class hotel can provide.

The first floor will have stores along the entire Division Street frontage, with the exception of the entrance.
The main lobby will be in the center of the first floor, with an entrance from both streets. It will be an imposing room; substantially and comfortably furnished. The hotel desk elevator and main stairway will be located in such a manner that they will be most convenient and accessible.

Facing Main street, with an entrance from the sidewalk and also from the lobby, will be the main dining room, simply but beautifully furnished with all appointments, making an attractive place to dine. Behind it will be the kitchen. In the rear will be a large ball room, large enough to serve 250 people at a banquet. This room will be used as ball room, banquet room and meeting place for conventions and other large group gatherings. It will be without question the most beautiful room on the peninsula and one that will be both famous and popular.

The mezzanine will contain a large cozy parlor and a room for smaller gatherings, seating about fifty, which can be served directly from the kitchen, and will also have Chamber of

NEARLY $2,500 OF "Y" BUDGET SUBSCRIBED

That Amount Secured In Sustaining
Members At Meeting Tuesday
When Campaign Was Launched.

An enthusiastic all-member meeting at which was launched the campaign for raising the Y.M.C.A. budget for the coming year was held in the building on Tuesday evening.
$8,000 is the goal this year and from the enthusiastic response to the appeal of Fred F. Adkins, General Chairman in charge of the soliciting, it appears that no trouble will ensue in raising this sum. Although the attendance was rather small, due to other functions, the sum of $2,425 was raised in sustaining memberships right at the building.

The remainder of the week will be devoted to the completion of this task and both the women and men affiliated with the "Y" have been organized for the effort and will canvass
the city for memberships.

Messrs. W. S. Sheppard, George P.
Chandler, William W. Messick, and Marvin C. Evans, were re-elected directors and Mr. J. James Scott was selected to succeed Col. A. W. W.
Woodcock on the Board, due to the absence of the latter from the city much of the time.

Several local speakers told of the various phases of the work and Carlton Harrison, General Secretary of the Baltimore "Y" made a very strong address which ended with an appeal to the citizens to boost the Y.M.C.A.
with all their vigor and not make the thing a "band to mouth" affair and thus ward the officials of the building in their activities.

THOMAS PUSEY JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Outfit Found Near Salisbury By Sheriff Farlow And Officer Williams, Said To Have Been Capable Of Producing Annually $150,000 Worth Of Illicit Moonshine.

The most complete plant for the manufacturing of illicit whisky that has been seized in this section was captured in a raid Wednesday night of last week following the arrest earlier in the evening of Thomas Pusey, aged about 38 years, on a charge of violating the liquor laws. The outfit was found on the land of D. C. Weatherhead only about a mile from the city limits on the River road.

Information leading to the arrest of Pusey was gained from the two boys
Murray and Williams who ran away on the previous Sunday with two girls and were later arrested at St. Michael's and George Williams and George Sullivan, armed with a search warrant went to the home of Pusey and went there the house but failed to find either their man or anything looking like a still.

After leaving the house they soon encountered the object of their quest and he was placed under arrest and carried back to the car in which the officers had gone out and placed under

PLANS FOR PURCHASE OF RURAL FIRE ENGINE AS OUTLINED BY CHIEF GRIER APPROVED BY MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

Large Property Holders Outside Of Corporate Limits Will Be Asked For Contributions To Buy Motor Apparatus Especially Designed For That Purpose.

Chief F. A. Grier Jr., was before the Mayor and City Council at the regular meeting on Monday night to ascertain the sentiment of the city officials in regard to the purchasing of a motor fire engine for the purpose of combating blazes in the county outside of Salisbury.

Chief Grier in his presentation of the subject told the body that each year in increasing numbers, the numbers of the department were called upon for such a purpose and that while they were always ready and willing to help sister communities,
the equipment at present was inadequate for this work. Last year, he cited, 16 alarms or about 25 per cent, came from without the corporate limits of Salisbury, on each of which occasions service was rendered.

The plan of the fire department is to try and raise sufficient funds from people living along the state highways who would be afforded protection from such an apparatus which would be equipped with at least two chemical tanks, a booster pump to draw from either the chemical tanks, or small streams, sufficient ladders, 1000 feet of hose, pneumatic tires and capable of making a speed of around 30 miles per hour on runs.

COURTROOM CROWDED FOR CRIMINAL CASES

Grand Jury Found 32 True Bills, Examined 57 Witnesses And Found County Property In Good Shape—
Charles E. Bennett, Foreman Of Jury Which Completed Work.

The Grand Jury for the March Term of the Circuit Court, as discharged late Thursday afternoon. In its report, was stated that 32 true bills were found and 57 witnesses examined. The County Jail was inspected and found in good condition especially from a sanitary standpoint, for which the report commended
both Sheriff Farlow and his wife.
At the time of the examination of the premises there were 23 prisoners being held—nine whites and 14 negroes.

The Court House building and grounds were also inspected and James White, custodian, was complimented on the way these were kept. The county officials, with offices in the Court House, are commended for the "very neat and efficient manner in which they are keeping and conducting their respective offices." Mr. and Mrs. Mills were congratulated on conditions at the Alms House.

The Grand Jury was able to complete its work with such facility as it did due to the fact that States Attorney Long had the cases well prepared, the witnesses were assembled promptly and the jury worked steady-ly to dispose of the large amount of criminal work before it.

The Grand Jury wound up its report with commendation of State Attorney Long for his untiring and efficient service to the Grand Jury and for the able and effective manner in which he conducts his office.
Charles E. Bennett was foreman of the Jury.

The following cases have been disposed of among others: since last week's issue of The News: Virgil W.
Dennis and G. F. Taylor, suit for alleged breach of contract for building operations. Verdict for defendants.

William C. Brady vs. Glen Perdue, a case arising out of a happening
while Mr. Brady was sheriff. Verdict pertaining to a levy on certain goods was involved. Verdict for defendant.

Frenzy and White vs. Murray Phillips. Contract for lumber was an issue. Verdict for plaintiffs and damages assessed at $45.88.

The case of G. Ernest Hearn vs.
Abe H. Heller, a broker, in which plaintiff issued attachment against defendant and had same served on Central Bank as garnishee for money resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff and damages were assessed at $918.07. This case occupied most of the day Friday. Late in the afternoon the prisoners were arraigned.

Saturday was spent in disposing of a case Broker, Scott & Moore vs.
Sharptown Transit Company growing out of a collision of trucks of the defendant and plaintiff's at Spring Hill Church. Damages of $400 were awarded plaintiff.

All day Monday and part of the day
Tuesday was spent in hearing a case removed from Dorchester. A confessed judgment was entered in Dorchester by Alexander Bowdell against Perry S. Messick and Nathaniel B.
Harner, partners, trading as Messick

Nanticoke River Oyster Rocks Bring Wealth

be very hard to get replenishing stock from these regions and prospects for next season are not exceedingly bright.

During the past season, shucking houses located at Tyaskin, Bivalve and Nanticoke worked overtime and were forced to make strong bids against competitors who came up from Crisfield in boats to get supplies.

So plentiful were oysters this season that even the owners of private beds were surprised at the seemingly unbelievable increase of quantity planted. One owner planted 3,000 bushels and took up 7,500 and still has some left. This is true too of other beds and the supply on the natural rocks was reported to have been unusually large.

Contrasted to these reports of wealth in oysters coming from the Nanticoke section is the finding of Chairman Vickers of the State Conservation Commission in his annual report to Governor Ritchie. In it he states that the oyster supply has been declining in Maryland and there is need of restoring the supply.

Mr. Vickers points out, too, that year by year the oyster rocks have become depleted and resuscitation of them has been neglected to such an extent that many rocks formerly productive to a high degree now are entirely barren.

By planting oyster shells on which the oyster spat might attach itself and by the transplanting of bivalves from congested beds and from sections in which they do not thrive because of the lack of natural food in the waters, Mr. Vickers believes the oyster industry soon could be restored. He believes, too, that a large annual appropriation for a period of eight or ten years with which to begin this reconstruction work is the only manner in which it can be carried on effectively. Mr. Vickers says that the present tax on oysters to cover inspection is sufficient to place on the industry, and says there should never be any further demand or need for an increase. The report indicates that the Commission rapidly is reaching the point where it will be self-sustaining.

the care of Officer Sullivan. The other three then instituted a search of the lands until darkness overcame them. Part of the party was then left and the prisoner brought to this city by the Sheriff and Parsons.

The former then secured flashlights and returned with States Attorney Curtis Long and Deputy Sheriff James C. White. A further search was then instituted and finally after quite a time the still was located by Officer Williams and Sheriff Farlow in a pine thicket close to the Pusey home.

When the officers ran across the still, one of the oil stoves was still warm indicating that the still had been in operation shortly before. In the two board tents, used as a plant, or right outside were found four separate stills, five coal oil stoves, several coils, kegs, cans, barrels, bottles, jugs, and a quantity of peaches, raisins, sugar and other ingredients. More than 600 gallons of mash was in the process of fermentation in one of the buildings.

Each still was said to have been capable of producing a gallon of liquor per hour and the whole outfit could easily produce 300 gallons a week, it is said. At this rate it was estimated by some that the business, if uninterrupted, would have yielded its operator something like $150,000 per year. The materials are said to have been first class, raisins and dried peaches being used for the peach brandy. Some rye mash was also in the lot.

The State Police were put in charge of the stills Wednesday night and on Thursday morning officers went out and destroyed the tents and mash and brought the stills and their accessories to the jail in a truck where they were the constant object of curiosity to the hundreds of people in town for court. Something over a gallon of liquor, it is said, was confiscated.

The Pneumonia Month

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. Children take it willingly. —Advt.

BOOKLET IS PUBLISHED BY SHARPTOWN AUTHOR

Levin T. Cooper Compiles, In Interesting Style History Of Captain Tom White And Family.

Levin T. Cooper has just published a neat little booklet containing the history of Captain Thomas W. H. White, on the "White Hall" farm, at the age of 92 years. He also traces the prominent members of the White family back to their landing on the coast of New England more than three hundred years ago and classes the family amongst the oldest settlers, William White being a member of the "Mayflower" party who came to this country in 1620.

The author reviews special events in the life of Captain White and especially mentions the Captain's restoration to life in his early manhood, after he was advised by his physicians to get ready to die. He gives many literary productions of Captain White, both in prose and poetry. An interesting feature is a contribution from Judge Duncan of Elliott City in which the eminent jurist portrays the character of Captain White in verse and gives a very beautiful delineation. This however was written a few years ago. The booklet was printed by the News Publishing Co.

Salisbury New Hotel As It Will Appear When Completed

Commerce offices, check rooms, retiring rooms, etc. The basement will have a billiard room, barber shop, public toilets and shoe shine stand, in addition to the necessary working space for the hotel, such as boiler and engine rooms, employees' locker rooms, trunk rooms, commissary, store rooms, etc.

The corridors and rooms on the guest floors will be heavily carpeted and furnished in most modern fashion. Baths will have tile floors and the very latest plumbing fixtures. Stairs in the building will be fireproof, enclosed in fireproof shafts. A high speed electric elevator will be installed. There will be three or four good sized sample rooms having in-a-door beds and arranged so as to meet all demands and requirements.

The building was designed, and its construction will be supervised by B. E. Gibson, Architect, Chicago, Ill., a specialist on hotel buildings. It will be a building that Salisbury and all the Peninsula will be proud to use and call their own.

The purchase of this stock should appeal to every citizen of Salisbury, Wicomico County and adjacent territory; first, because the project is a distinct community enterprise and all agree that a new modern hotel will be a very definite benefit to our community, and second, a fair dividend return can reasonably be expected on money invested.

At a meeting on Friday night the Executive and Building Committee were made one and is as follows: E. D. Mitchell, C. R. Disharoon, M. C. Evans, Ralph H. Grier, Henry H. Hanna, T. L. Ruark, F. L. Wailles.

Director's Statement

For the past several years every citizen who has discussed the needs of Salisbury and Wicomico Co., has referred to a new modern hotel as an absolute necessity.

The Chamber of Commerce, realizing this need called a meeting of members and citizens, at this meeting a hotel committee was appointed, under whose direction a complete survey of the hotel situation in Salisbury was made. This survey proved conclusively that the need was real and the source of patronage, which will make the new hotel a success is here.

The committee reported that this time has arrived when Salisbury can not hold her own against the prosperity of other cities without this new modern hotel. As a result of this report, thirty leading citizens of Salisbury have formed a corporation, with the kind of a hotel best adapted to meet the growing needs of this favored community.

The site of the new hotel, after most careful consideration, has been selected. The hotel is to be situated on the south east corner of Division and Main Streets.

The proposed new hotel will be a home project, built by, and for, our own citizens to meet the special demands of our own people and our visitors. A corporation has been formed under the name of the "Wicomico Hotel Company". The new hotel will be financed by the sale of capital stock (all common) of this company, the par value of the stock being $100 per share. There will be no stock bonus to any one, or gratuities, in the form of stock or other concessions. Every officer, director or other interested party will purchase stock on exact basis with every other stockholder. This being a community project, every citizen will be given an opportunity to participate in the purchase of stock. Terms of payment will be liberal and will extend over a period of eighteen months or more. It is planned to operate the hotel by employing, or leasing to an operator who will furnish a monetary guarantee for faithful performance of contract, and on the basis of fair returns to the stock holders, who will also share in the profits accruing from the successful operation. Several inquiries have already been had from well-known and successful hotel men to operate the new hotel when completed.

The directors are of the opinion that the additional dividends which will accrue to our community in the form of by-products, will be of far greater value to Salisbury and the Peninsula than direct returns. The community will profit by increased property values, city advertisement, new business to merchants, conventions, tourists and hundreds of new visitors. The new modern hotel will be a source of community profit and will help more than any other one way to develop our city. It will be a meeting place for social, fraternal and business groups.

HELP THE "Y."

Following an enthusiastic meeting on Tuesday night, the Y. M. C. A. forces launched out into a vigorous drive for funds to take care of the local institution's budget during the coming year. The people of Salisbury are being asked to contribute liberally to this worthy cause and a large quota of new members is being sought in addition to the renewals.

The work of the Association during the past year stands out in bold refrain and in itself constitutes the most convincing form of argument with which to make the appeal in behalf of the campaign for additional help. One can hardly estimate the vast amount of good that this particular organization accomplishes and surely there is no other agency in the city that is more deserving of loyal support on the part of the citizens than the "Y."

The more that the public will search into the nature and work of organizations which have grown out of its own vital needs and aspirations as the Y. M. C. A. has done, the better will the public understand its own problems and the better will it be able to serve itself through these organizations. And in this respect we find the Y. M. C. A. the subject of the most favorable comment, for behind its every activity there is that outstanding purpose, the spiritual aim of helping men and boys to live the most useful lives of which they are capable.

One official states the policy clearly and forcibly when he says, "The platform on which the organization has stood, from its beginnings in a small group of young men until its round-the-world status today, is that every young man should be given the chance for all-around development. This means development of body, mind and spirit, side by side. It believes the spirit stands a better chance with a sound body and an occupied mind."

And it is this axiom, carried out to a successful degree, which is responsible for the immense popularity of the Y. M. C. A. today. The Association is not merely a club where at a small price, men and boys can get the advantages of physical training, educational opportunities and healthful social contacts. On the other hand it stands out pre-eminently as the ideal of practical religion, permeating every activity of living and building honorable, generous, public-spirited citizens. It brings men of different shades of beliefs together actuated by common interests and determined to do common service to their fellow men.

The Salisbury Y. M. C. A. has followed out in commendable style the purposes of the international organization. Its affairs and activities have been guided by unselfish and capable hands and the results have been gratifying to those citizens who first sponsored the unit and have since watched its progress with no small degree of interest. But the work must not be allowed to stand still, it must go on and on. The public in general must be quick to recognize the invaluable part the local Y. M. C. A. is playing in its community life and each individual should help put across the present financial drive without a moment's hesitation.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Following an escapade last week, two young men of this county were locked up in the county jail. This followed a Sabbath day spent in riotous driving about the country in an automobile in company with two young girls with whom they are said to have spent the night in a small hotel in a neighboring town. Bootleg liquor played no small part in the disgraceful and dissolute scenes which were enacted.

When taken before a court of justice, the youthful miscreants were severely reprimanded by the understanding judge and paroled with a warning to cultivate better habits and guard against the repetition of such foolish and unbecoming actions. In his admonitions to the guilty parties the jurist emphasized the need of stricter discipline on the part of parents who are responsible for the morals of the community's boys and girls.

Laxity of parental control in the home of today is largely to blame for the indiscreet tendencies of the children. Fathers and mothers of the 20th century are prone to be too careless in the exercise of proper care and guardianship over their offspring. Consequently, the younger generation is becoming more and more careless in everyday habits and thoughts and the problem of keeping the youth of the land in the straight and narrow path is becoming more and more acute.

In many instances the parents are just as much to blame for a "fallen" boy or girl as the latter. Judge Bailey laid down a "golden rule" when he said that the young boys and girls of both city and country should be kept off the streets at night unless they were properly supervised. The promiscuous use of the auto by the younger element should not be allowed by any thoughtful parent who is anxious for his son to grow up into worthy manhood or for his daughter to emerge into virtuous womanhood.

The time has come when elders must concern themselves with existing problems if they intend curbing the wild and reckless impulses of the younger generation. It is an age provocative of desires to violate moral laws as well as all others. There is just occasion for a drastic movement to uplift the moral tone in the various communities. The power of example is mighty. Let the older folks set the standard and the young ones will follow. In short, it is high time that parents and guardians take a census of moral surroundings and exercise a trifle more control and supervision over the habits of their boys and girls.

COUNTRY PRESS REMAINS AMERICAN.

Once again we are having driven home the fact that the safeguard of American liberty rests in the country press, appealing as it does to sixty millions of the American people, reflecting their honest thought, and presenting to them basic facts in a plain, neighborly way that defies the inroads of the great metropolitan newspapers. The American country newspaper, thank God, does not stand constantly at attention ready to salute the first dollar that comes along no matter in what uniform it is dressed.

When our boys were fighting "over there" the patriotic hysteria of the city's newspapers knew no bounds. They broke their editorial necks vying with each other in denunciation of the Hun. Circulation demanded patriotism and patriotism paid. With peace, however, readers dwindled, and then the business office took the saddle. New York, Chicago and one or two other big centres contain America's German population in mass formation. The number of French folk is comparatively small. The answer was obvious, particularly to a press ready to burn its honor on the altar of added readers. No time was lost to make a point when France saw fit to enter the Ruhr to enforce payment for the devastation of her lands. The German reader must be had at any cost. In the twinkling of an eye some of the big city newspapers turned about face without a blush, and they played their cards practically if not knowingly in partnership with the German propagandists.

Easter Thoughts

Were it not for the steady influence of the country press, which keeps its feet on the ground—were it not for the calm judgment of the plain American people in the small towns, the German influence would already have gained its former dangerous and dominating position in this country. Fortunately for America the country newspaper declines to pander for a reader. The country newspaper refuses to be led into the bylanes of foreign intrigue. The country newspaper is an American institution and it will remain the bulwark of our liberty.

WHO GETS THE INCREASED PROFITS?

While politicians and economists are discussing the intricacies of readjustment, the house wife who depends on her husband's pay envelope is thinking in terms of food cost. For instance, she is interested in the price of eggs, bread, flour, meal, crisco, oats, macaroni, rice, beans, potatoes, onions, cabbage and other unromantic items.

An examination of such food lists shows a general increase of 41 per cent in December, 1922, as compared with December, 1913, with considerable hardship in the way of prices during the interim.

Fresh milk for example showed a decrease in 1914 over 1913 of one cent, and then the following increases: 44 per cent in 1917, 73 per cent in 1918, 84 per cent in 1919, 85 per cent in 1920, 55 per cent in 1921 and 51 per cent in 1922.

These figures are authentic. It would be interesting to learn the percentage of increases obtained by the farmer—what did he get during this amazing wave of mounting prices to the public. Before the issue as they may, the middlemen eventually will have to make answer. Improved intercommunication is rapidly putting the farmer into instant touch with the activities of the seller. When all cards come to be laid on the table there is going to be some readjustment that will interest a great many gentlemen who are living on the honest labor of their fellows.

The Pan-American Lumber & Mfg. Co.

Par Value $100 Per Share

with privilege of subscribing to an equal number of shares no par common at $17.50 a share.

Preferred callable at 105 and accumulated dividends.

CAPITALIZATION

	Authorized	Outstanding
7% Cumulative Preferred Stock	$500,000	$500,000
Common Stock (no par)	25,000 shs.	25,000 shs.

Facts concerning the company are summarized as follows from a letter addressed to Stockholders by Mr. Joseph P. Smith, President.

HISTORY: Business was founded in 1920 and incorporated in following year under laws of State of Delaware. Property consists of 44,800 acres timber land with estimated stumpage of 448,000,000 feet; and plantations at Baracoa in Province of Oriente, Cuba, which was purchased at a low figure during the sugar depression of 1920.

BUSINESS: Operations of company consist in cutting and shipping mahogany and other timber to Havana, New York and other markets. Two navigable rivers and deep water harbor, which accommodates ocean going steamers, furnish ample facilities of shipment. Native labor is obtainable at a low scale of wages. Company also has 300 acres in bananas, coconut and cocoa, which bear 12 months in the year and require no special care and equipment.

ASSETS: Assets consist of 44,800 acres of timber land valued at $25 an acre or $1,120,000. This will be owned in fee simple after the present mortgage of $140,000 is paid off from proceeds of present financing. Cash on hand is $18,000, equipment $28,000. Only outstanding obligation is aforesaid mortgage and current bills of less than $2,500.

EARNINGS: Net profits in 1922 at a low rate of operation were $63,000 or nearly twice dividend requirements on the Preferred Stock. Earnings in first three months of 1923 amounted to $17,300 from sale of lumber and sale of fruit will bring in an additional $7,500. (Reported to New York office quarterly only). This is at an annual rate of $99,200. Earnings during the latter part of the year will be materially increased with additional equipment and working capital. Orders on hand will show profits of upwards of $30,000.

MANAGEMENT: Management is composed of experienced lumbermen who hold the majority of the common stock.

PROSPECTS: Consumption of mahogany in the United States at present is at the rate of 47,000,000 feet per year according to the U. S. Lumber Division, Department of Commerce. Demand for this wood is in excess of supply and company can sell all lumber cut, at a good profit. It is estimated that with new working capital and equipment annual shipments will be approximately 6,000,000 feet of all kinds of lumber and timber which will bring approximately $500,000 net profits annually. In addition it is planned to increase fruit plantation from 500 to 1,000 acres per year, as land is cleared of timber, ultimately bringing total planting up to 10,000 acres. Income from fruit this year will be approximately $48,000. The company does not enter into competition with the larger fruit companies, but sells its entire output to them under annual contract. From this estimate it can be seen that earnings will probably be at the rate of $20.00 a share on 25,000 shares no par common.

REDEMPTION OF PREFERRED: It is the purpose of the company if possible to retire the 7% Preferred Stock out of earnings at the rate of about $100,000 a year, eventually leaving no obligations ahead of the common. Since Preferred will be called by lot at 105% and accrued dividends thus giving and yield ranging from 12% to 8% on stock redeemed within the next few years. Current dividends on Preferred now outstanding are being paid quarterly.

All legal matters pertaining to this issue have been passed upon by Robert Pennington, Esq., Wilmington, Delaware, Counsel for the Company.

Price of Preferred—$100.00 PER SHARE.

Purchasers of the Preferred stock may subscribe simultaneously to an equal number of shares of Common stock at $17.50 per share.

MRS. SAMS IS OUT WITH FACTS

Says Tanlac Ended Two Years Of Suffering From Unstrung Nerves And Stomach Disorders

"Tanlac has already helped me beyond my fondest hopes, and I shall always praise it," declared Mrs. Catharine Sams, 220 West St., Annapolis, Md.

"For two years I was in such a weakened, run-down condition I could hardly hold a broom and my housework was next to impossible. I had no desire to eat and what little food I did eat never seemed to do me any good. I lost weight until I was little more than a skeleton. There was such a terrible pain in my back that when I would bend over I nearly screamed in agony. My nerves were so unstrung the least little thing nearly set me wild and I could get no restful sleep."

"But since I have been taking Tanlac I have gained weight, my appetite is enormous, my housework is easy and I feel like a new person. I wish I could tell everybody in Maryland about Tanlac, for it is simply grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Advt.

WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES UP IDEA OF PLAYLET

Find It Difficult To Secure Cast—Club Enjoys Social Program
Tuesday Afternoon

"Clarence" the play which the local Woman's Club was planning to give sometime in April has been abandoned. This was agreed upon at the meeting of the organization Tuesday afternoon after much difficulty had been found in securing members for the cast.

This meeting of the Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon was of the social variety and the program was in charge of the social committee of which Mrs. R. D. Grier, Sr., is chairman. Interesting numbers were presented by several artists. Mrs. Francis Dryden and Miss Willie Adkins played the "Hungarian Rhapsody". Miss Minnie Hearne gave a recitation and Miss Mildred Matthews sang two selections, "La Profonde" and "The Lass with the Delicate Hair."

After this delightful program, a new novel idea for getting better acquainted occupied the attention of the members. The corresponding secretary, Mrs. George R. Cobb, then read a letter from the secretary of the Eastern Shore District Federation regarding the biennial meeting to be held this year in Atlanta.

Arrangements were talked over for the convention of all the Woman's Clubs on the Shore here on April 16th. Five more names were added to the list of the committee in charge of this convention. They were: Mrs. J. Williams, Mrs. E. J. McLaughlin, Mrs. William Ward and Mrs. Purnell McBrierty.

Four new members were elected to the club: Mrs. Thomas White, Jr.; Mrs. Purnell White, of Sharpsburg; Miss Anna Davis, of Sharpsburg; and Mrs. Edwin Sirmann, of Delmar. Mrs. Grier spoke on the Near East Relief drive and extended public thanks to Mr. Dallas for his aid in the work.

Children Are Paroled By Order Court

He criticized the parents of the children severely for letting their children run aimlessly about on the streets at all hours of the night unchaperoned and even unaware of their whereabouts. The state is powerless to handle such cases, said the Judge, without the aid of parents. He also stated that he could readily see how parents, as in the case of Mr. Murray who gave his own son free use of his automobile whenever he wanted it, could unobscurely bring on an occurrence such as this one in trying to be good to their children.

The Court stated that from police officers of Salisbury, the best qualified source from which to obtain information on such things, it had learned that children just such as those then before the bar of justice wandered about the street at all hours of the night and early morning.

The Judge told also of understanding that one of the first things asked by the girls now when they get into a car is as to whether there is any "bootleg" liquor aboard which in this case it was testified there was.

Within ten days, said Judge Bailey, a negro now confined in jail told the sheriff that in recent years there had never been a big dance pulled off in Salisbury but what negro bootleggers had been on hand outside the hall to sell liquor to the boys attending. This plan was followed, he stated, in arranging for the sale. The negro

CITIZENSHIP PAPERS GRANTED REV. BOYLE

The Circuit Court for this county in session on Monday, Judge Bailey and Deer, sitting, granted naturalization papers to the Rev. Robert A. Boyle, popular pastor of Wicomico Presbyterian Church. Rev. Boyle declared his intentions two years ago at the Clerk's office and received his second papers last November.

No one has ever questioned Mr. Boyle's loyalty to and love for the United States yet his many friends will be glad to learn he is now a "full-fledged" American citizen. Messrs. L. W. Gouby and Ralph H. Grier, appeared before the Court as witnesses.

Rev. Boyle is a native of Londonderry, Ireland, a spot which he still dearly loves. He has been in this country for the past twenty-two years.

bootleggers of Salisbury would inform the negro bootleggers of (Hale) ware and the latter would be in hand with the "goods" when the evening of the hop came.

Judge Bailey's remarks were to the point and were directed, not only to the parents present, but to the mothers and fathers of the youth of Salisbury as well. After the rebuke, the Court stated that it considered each of the four parties equally guilty in this matter and signed an order remanding each of them to their parents with a solemn admonition that should either, ever again be caught on the streets of Salisbury at an unreasonable hour of the night without parental protection, the police would be instructed to lock them up and let the law take its course. Pathetic scenes were enacted following the decision as parents embraced their children and left the courtroom making valiant endeavors to suppress their tears.

On Its 6th Anniversary, Local Library Faces "Ouster" From Its Present Home

Division St. "Makeshift" Building Must Go When Hotel Project Assumes Concrete Form—Women Feel Now An Opportune Time To Start Ball Rolling For Real Library Building For City Present Organization Started March 3, 1917—2100 Volumes On Its Shelves.

This month, March, is the sixth anniversary of the inception of the library here which since March 3, 1917, has been operated by the Library Association of Salisbury. Antidating this one many years was an old circulating library which was extinct at the time of the starting of the present one.

A prime mover in establishing the present book-lending proposition here was Miss Irma Graham, who at the time of its commencement was chairman of the Library Department, of the then Civic League which several years back was a potent factor for good in this community and of which the late Mrs. Louisa Collier was for years president. Miss Graham was the library's first president and still holds the office.

The library was started in what is now headquarters of the Maryland State Police, in the First Regiment Armory, with 450 volumes donated by interested citizens. Miss Victoria Wallis was its first librarian. Another person to whom Salisbury owes much for the starting of this library is Miss Mabel Massey, daughter of Dr. W. E. Massey. Miss Massey by her aid in drawing up the constitution and by laws, systematizing the work of cataloging, and otherwise contributing a wealth of previous experience which she had gained, proved a most helpful organizer.

In the armory the library stayed about two years then it moved to its present building on South Division Street, owned by the Ebenezer Wallis heirs. Since 1917 the popularity of the library has grown by leaps and bounds and today many look forward with anticipation to the two days of the week when they may go and exchange their book for another. Now the library has 2100 volumes, nearly five times as many as when it started. Of this number 1800 are fiction and the remaining 300 miscellaneous. There are 211 subscribers on the books.

Since the inauguration of the library, Mrs. Samuel A. Graham has served as its treasurer and for the past three years, Mrs. Henry S. Wallis has been its most efficient librarian. During her absence from the city, her place is capably taken care of by Miss Victoria Wallis. Her dependence is placed by the reading public in the judgment of the librarian-in-charge and the very nominal compensation received by her is obscure when compared with the task with which she is confronted.

New books are ordered each month the "best sellers" lists in the city papers being followed closely. The Library Committee making it a point to keep in touch with the latest volumes of fiction. Most of the books are bought new although occasionally second hand volumes are contributed. The building is open at present Tuesday and Saturdays from 3.00 to 5.00 P. M. and in the summer months mornings from 10.30 to 12.30.

Until about two years ago the library received a donation of $100 a year from the city. Since this source of income has been cut off the women in charge have managed to keep open thus far on their own resources which are: yearly dues and fines. The yearly dues are $1.00 per year and have never been raised. This entitles a member to the privileges of using a volume for two weeks if it is so desired. After that time a fine of 2 cents per day is imposed for every day until the book is returned.

When the coffers of the association get low a benefit in the form of a card party, entertainment or other feature is rushed to the rescue by the women to ward off bankruptcy proceedings. Just now a situation is looming up on the horizon which may mean an "ouster" to the library folks—the new hotel project which has a lease upon the property on which is located the library building.

Right here a word about the structure would not seem amiss. While the library was started small and has grown, while it is efficiently conducted and while it is distinctly a community asset, as far as it goes, its present home is entire out of keeping with the entire "cause."

The building itself is a small, unpretentious sheet iron affair about 30 x 20, hardly large enough since book shelves were put in for a handful of people to turn around in. It was formerly used by a defunct transit company as a waiting room, and seemed the only suitable place for the library at the time hence the ladies grabbed unto it. Now they are still there after half a decade. Indeed the building was really whipped together for the use temporarily of the Salisbury Building & Loan Association when the present Central Bank Building was being constructed.

The hotel looks like a surety, hence the library must move it now appears. Where? Asks the ladies, they can't tell you. Maybe to the Woman's Club home if such a thing materializes before they must vacate or some of them say, would it not be a splendid idea if we could go to a home of our own in a memorial building—a joint library and a home for the American Legion.

With money in the bank from Dr. Heron's lecture to be used for a war memorial, with the proceeds from the "Microbe of Love" which play was presented for a library fund, many point out that here is the nucleus with which a live-wire committee might get busy and prepare for the future to take care of that long neglected war memorial and at the same time give Salisbury what it certainly should have in the way of a real library.

An up-to-date library, open every day with a reading room adjacent where the current magazines may be perused, is what we need, say the ladies. At present they claim there is not the incentive for the general public to read as they should and would like to do as the books are not to be had. That, however, is an after consideration the problem at the present time is the place for the library itself. Asked what the people are reading the genial librarian slowly smiled and replied "Recent fiction," is in most demand. Occasionally heavier reading is demanded. The library is a big help to the school children as a source of reference for their English work. Western stories and tales of romance are popular with the men, says the librarian, quite a few of whom are regular patrons of the library. The ladies are in the majority as readers however with the school children a close second.

THE GRIM REAPER BUSY IN SHARPTOWN

MRS. DONNIE NELSON

On Monday of last week Mrs. Donnie Nelson, wife of John T. Nelson, died after a lingering illness of three months, during which she was a great sufferer. Her remains were interred on Wednesday afternoon in the Taylor cemetery, near those of her mother who died in August of last year. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church of which she was a member, by Rev. Henry S. Dulany assisted by L. T. Cooper, her Sunday School teacher for more than thirty years. She leaves beside her husband, one brother, Captain John W. Hurt, one sister, Mrs. O. W. Owens. She was a very good woman, true to her church, her family and friends. Her deeds of charity, her acts of kindness and her fidelity to the church of her choice will long be remembered by those who knew her. She made many true friends and held them as sacred possessions. She will be sadly missed by all whose privilege it was to know her and enjoy her company. The floral tributes from family friends and her Sunday School class were very beautiful. She was sixty-two years old.

Female Help Needed In State Institutions

Splendid Opportunity Afforded Women To Become Registered Nurses And To Obtain Other Positions

Good female help in the state institutions is very much in demand. There is an especially good opportunity for women to secure training in the profession of nursing. The Eastern Shore counties have furnished quite a number of women for state institutions.

There is an opportunity in the hospitals for women to take up training in the profession of nursing. Some of the hospitals give a course of training that prepares for a certificate of Registered Nurse, and the others give a course of training that will qualify those who finish the course for Registered Attendant. During the course of training women are paid from $30 to $40 a month and full maintenance, including board, room and laundry and comfortable living quarters.

Application for these positions should be made to the State Employment Commission, 22 Light Street, Baltimore, Md., where full information and arrangement for appointments may be made.

WICOMICO COUNTY IS A SUB-DEB IN THE MARYLAND SHIRE FAMILY

Baltimore Sun Staff Correspondent Writes Interesting Account Of Early History Of Next To Youngest Sister Which Excels
In Truck Gardening But Is Backward In Schools.

Wicomico is the second youngest in the family of Maryland counties, Garrett being the youngest sister. In 1867 the General Assembly decided that another should be formed from the counties of Somerset and Worcester. It was done and Wicomico was the name selected. Salisbury was made the capital city.

Somerset is one of the "first families of Maryland." Its history is as beautiful as that of the sister counties. The glorious part the county has played in Maryland's history must be shared with its offspring. It will all be told in a few weeks.

Big, Bad, Bold Ben Allen

Wicomico has no history of its own, unless it be recorded that only once has its territory been invaded by an armed force. It was 1777 that Gen. William Smallwood arrived in Salisbury to put down the Tory insurrection in Somerset. The general brought with him a company of Baltimore militia. The Tories were led by Ben Allen, a bold, bad man of gigantic stature, who was all for fight. Very promptly the well-disciplined soldiers put a ball through his big head and the fight resolved itself into a burial party. Big Ben was put away behind St. Peter's Episcopal Church. One hundred years later, in digging the foundation for an addition, a skull of unusual dimensions was found by the two dark diggers and a voice came from the earth saying, "Get off my body." They did. Fifty years later, there are no indications of them stopping the "getting off." There was a ventriloquist among the watchers. Twice in its history has the county been called upon to aid the county seat. In 1860 the heart of the town was burnt out, and again in 1886 did flames overcome man's power. Then 22 acres of buildings were consumed and their owners suffered a $750,000 loss.

First Railroad Comes.

Soon after Wicomico (that is the Indian name for the river and the Indian village where now is Salisbury) was erected into a county there came a railroad, such a railroad! In 1876 the first train ran over the Wicomico and Pocomoke Railroad. The terminals were Salisbury and Berlin. It was extended to Ocean City and became the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad. In 1888 this famous train order was issued.

"To Charles Marshall and Sam J. McMullen, conductors: Charlie will run until he meets Mac. The nearest station will back back."

(Signed) R. J. HENRY, Supt.

Then the Claiborne end was added. Cars were carried across the bay to Bay Ridge on car floats hooked up to a Baltimore and Ohio engine and sent to their destination. This innovation was followed by Willard Thompson, receiver, and the assumption of control by the Pennsylvania Railroad under the name of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad.

Wicomico is peculiarly constructed topographically. There is but one hill upon the otherwise flat country. Directly behind the old Spring Hill Church, on the road from Salisbury to Sharptown and Cambridge, this wart-like mound rises upon a base a half mile in diameter and from its top there spouts a spring of cold water.

Supposed Indian Mound
Over close to the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad, where it crossed to Worcester, there is another hill, which some believe to be an Indian burial mound. It is symmetrical in the shape of a hemisphere. Not far away, on the Nanticoke river, was an Indian village. Even now, relics of those days are being found. It is very probable that the mound is indeed a burial ground of the gone Red Man.

In 1923, the people of Wicomico are too busy fighting the wolf from the door to be bothered by Indian arrowheads. They are more interested in plow points. They boast that they can raise anything that California can, except citrus fruits. Certainly their native fruits are the best, yet, with the strawberries, the cantaloupes and melons; the vegetables, potatoes and tomatoes; with them all, these are hard times in Wicomico.

The three years of wartime feast were followed by two of famine. The salvation of the man with the hoe depends upon this season's yield. In the State averages in production, Wicomico is not high. It runs but 17 in its land area in farms, yet it has 2,500 farms, of 67 acres each, of which 72 per cent. are operated by their owners.

Just what the trouble with Wicomico is, no one seems to know. It ought to be progressive. In appearance, the county is a hustling place of wide awake people. The farmers are industrious, and no one knows why this, the garden spot of Maryland is not its Eden.—W. McC. in the Baltimore Sun.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

Business at retail is better and the approach of Easter has stimulated trade in apparel lines particularly in women's wear and millinery. Prices generally are on the upswing and advances in certain raw materials have increased manufacturing costs. Steel mills have more orders than they can fill and are being pressed for deliveries. Structural requirements are large and some materials quite scarce. There is a greater demand for lumber and prices are about the highest since the war. Building and supply hardware is active while there is considerable money on repairs and betterments. Water transportation facilities are being increased and a leading coastwise concern is having built two additional freight and passenger carrying vessels of large tonnage. Cotton piece goods, woolsens and silks are very active. Sales of dry goods, notions, underwear and hosiery continue large. Fine gingham with some sheetings and percales are plentiful. The distribution of anthracite coal is better but the supply only fair. Bituminous prices are off, notwithstanding a better than fair demand with deliveries hampered by a poor car supply. There is little life to the market in live stock with receipts running very light. Green and dry hides are in good demand with prices firm. Green fruits and vegetables are in fair call while butter is easier. There is fair inquiry for the better grades of wheat but no improvement noted in the flour market. Maryland leaf tobacco is selling rapidly with values firm in practically all grades. Collections show a slight improvement.

TWO INCOMES

When John D. Rockefeller was a struggling young bookkeeper in Cleveland he laid the foundation for his now great fortune by putting into operation a very old but positive law of success.

He wasn't satisfied with a $9 per week salary. He naturally wanted more—but he had only one pair of hands—and one head. So he saved AND PUT MONEY TO WORK for him—his savings. Then he had TWO incomes—instead of one.

Two incomes are better than one. Your wage, salary or crop profit may be fine—but when money comes to you in the form of interest—as well as the other—then you are on the road to a comfortable old age.

It was impossible for me to rest day or night and I often had to neglect my housework. Headaches and dizzy spells kept me feeling miserable and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief from backache and other signs of kidney complaint. I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when I hear anyone complaining of kidney trouble." ## TRINITY REVIVAL PRODUCING RESULTS

Series Of Meetings Will Be Continued
Thru Easter Holidays—Church
United Behind Its Minister

Trinity is now in the midst of its greatest revival in years. The church is wholeheartedly united behind its pastor, Rev. John Brandon Peters, and Rev. H. P. Clarke, presiding elder, who is doing the preaching of the services. The choir, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Reese Wimbrow is playing no small part in making these meetings an inspiration for good to those attending.

The consecration service was held on last Thursday night. At that time practically all the church folks went to the altar to rededicate their lives to the service of God. On Sunday evening, Rev. Clarke preached on "The Witnessing Church." Something like 100 people stood up on Sunday morning for personal worker service and pledged themselves to win, if possible, another soul to Christ.

About 100 men were present at the men's meeting Sunday afternoon. The subject of the discourse at this service was "God's Search for a Man." Mr. Hammerslough and Miss Matthews rendered an appropriate duet and Miss Matthews delighted her hearers with one of her splendid solos. The first convert of the meeting was Sunday night at this service. Rev. Clarke delivered what was probably the most powerful of his high class sermons, on "Sin." In this sermon the speaker told of the ravages of sin which he traced as follows: (1) Sin is gradual in its process. (2) It always checks the work of God. (3) No one sins to himself alone. (4) Sin will always find you out. (5) The result of sin—Extremal, Internal and Eternal Death. "Sin can be defeated only," said the minister, by the power of the living Christ.

Next Friday afternoon after school a special service for children and young people will be held. Every child under 14 years of age is requested to bring with it a string of ten lengths or more. Next Sunday is Decision Day in the Sunday School and decisions will be made in the classes. Closing exercises will give these a chance to publicly acknowledge same.

At 3 P. M. Sunday afternoon a "Family Service" will be held at which time entire families are requested to sit together. On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock a general evangelistic service will be held.

It has been decided by those in charge to continue the series of meetings thru the Easter holidays.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

TRAINING FOR UNSELFISHNESS
By Mary E. Wilson

Not very long ago I heard a very lovable woman say, "If my parents had realized how much their love for me was, when I was a child, they would have spared me many tears. I was allowed my own way in everything and grew up a disagreeable and selfish girl. Later when I had to leave home and go among people I found I had to reform myself to be even tolerated. It was a long heart-breaking task, which I had to struggle through alone, overcoming habits which might easily be kept from becoming habits if I had been guided wisely in my childhood."

Many parents seem to overlook or underestimate the importance of the first appearance of undesirable tendencies in their children which can be overcome, if properly treated while children are still young.

Ill-temper, selfishness, teasing, and fault-finding can be kept from becoming ingrained characteristics if a wise guide gives help at the right time. At the root of wrong-doing one can always find selfishness. It beats the only child in a home where adults seem to exist to please and spoil him, as well as the little waif on the street who has to "have" or "snatch." For either of these children, the kindergarten is a blessing. Here, happy surroundings help him to share in work and play—to give as well as take.

Here a child learns to hang up his wraps; to care for his rubbers; to sit erect, overcoming a desire to slide in his chair; to obey the directions of the teacher, given sometimes by voice sometimes by the piano; to yield his individual desire and do the thing that is right for him to do at that moment.

The child who is home makes no effort to help himself in putting on his wraps, who sticks out his feet for someone to try on his rubbers is encouraged to put on do these things for himself, not only by the teacher, but most of all by the sight of the more independent children delightfully accomplishing the task of slipping on rubbers, putting on coats and struggling successfully with slippery buttons.

But perhaps the games help most to develop unselfishness. Early in life one needs to learn to share—to be a good loser—to relinquish smilingly to someone else, and for five days a week kindergarten offers a splendid opportunity.

In a large group of children, where each has equal rights, the selfish child comes to see the need of respecting those rights, which he does by waiting his turn and sharing with others. And so the pictures, songs, stories, games and handicrafts open up to him the world about him and lead him from selfishness, out of himself, to unselfishness.

THE MODERN NOVEL

The modern novel is a modern menace to modern youth. The so-called literary are objecting to censorship of their novels and productions. They must submit to censorship or to complete extinction. The people are not going to tolerate such infamous, insinuating, disgusting piffle.

Men are writing who are evidently under some other spell than that of a moral conscience or a sense of their responsibility. They are writing solely for the dollars they receive. No man of brains with a heart and soul in him would attempt to turn out two or three books a year.

The novels that are being written deserve harsh words—words that would put them in a classification where disgust could properly be expressed. They are unfit for the women and children of today to read. They are doing more than any other agency to corrupt womanhood, to destroy youth, and to lionize men who ought to be in the sulphuric regions of condemnation.

Reputable publishers ought to refuse their manuscripts, reputable book houses ought to refuse to sell their accretes, and righteous parents ought to forbid their children reading such filth.

The modern novel is a menace to home, to youth, to conscience, and to the development of character.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
Nothing So Good for a Cough or Cold

"Everyone who has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy speaks well of it," writes Edward P. Miller, Abbeville, Pa. "People who once use this preparation are seldom satisfied with any other. It is excellent to allay a cough or break up a cold.—Adv't."

REEDVILLE

Bishop James Cannon, will preach at Bethany, Sunday morning (Reedville) and at Henderson's M. E. Church (up the country) in the afternoon. On the preceding Saturday he will be with his son, who is principal of the Fairfield High School, at the opening of the new auditorium at Burgess Store. Here the Bishop will deliver one of his famous lectures. A rich treat is promised those who will hear this widely known and traveled speaker at the Sunday service.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Morris Jett, of this place are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Clarence Jett, of Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jett, Jr., at Mt. Airy, Md.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Fletton, are doing their usual Lenten serving. Last Thursday they met with Mrs. R. U. Brooking at the Rectory. According to some of the servers, they accomplished a great deal of work, have lunch with the hostess of a right and combine duty with pleasure in an admirable manner.

Mr. H. C. Evans, with his jitney, took Rev. W. R. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob French, of Fairport, and Mrs. L. B. Rice of this place to Henderson's M. E. Church, to attend a Sunday School meeting last Thursday. Burglars invaded the apartment of the Reedville Co., Inc., Mr. Russell Dey, proprietor sometime last Wednesday evening or night and took away several diamond rings, one or two gold watches and a small sum in cash. We have not the particulars at hand and do not know what steps have been taken in the matter.

District Deputy Grand Master R. M. Coggin, of Warsaw, was with the Reedville Lodge of Masons Thursday night. There were several new members initiated and a right good sum collected or subscribed towards paying for the new Masonic Temple, which was formerly the Reedville Motor Service Co. It is a very large and pretty building and will afford the Reedville Masons a fine home.

Mr. Howard Marsh, Miss Lydia Bristow and Miss Nell Wayland, of R. H. S. faculty motored to Frederickburg Saturday, meeting Miss Lucy Wayland and Mr. J. Otto Marsh both of whom spent the weekend at Reedville, with relatives.

We are sympathizing very much with Mr. Eugene Cockin, of the Jones Motor Co., Frederickburg, who was bitten by a mad dog in that old town recently. The dog was killed and Eugene is taking the Pasteur treatment. A host of friends here are hoping he may have no trouble whatever.

Dr. P. M. Johnson, of John Hopkins, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Omohundro and family, at Lillian, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Neal, of near Sunnyside, have been sick recently, also Mills Walker, of the Bacon home. They were fortunate in having a good nurse, Miss Maggie Gough, in the home with them who has been giving them good attention.

Mrs. Rodney McFarland, of this place, returned from a visit to Norfolk, Thursday morning and left in an hour or two for Irvington where she goes on a case in Irvington Beach hotel, we heard.

Mr. Warren Hutt, is back at Crowder's Store again after spending a week or more at his home in Westmoreland on account of sickness.

Mr. Pitcher, of Baltimore, was in Reedville, several days last week.

Mr. August Miller, of Baltimore, was here last week attending to business and spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. He Lewis and family.

Mr. J. H. Crowther, of Tibitha, recently sold a fine young horse to Mr. Charles Coppedge, near Lillian.

Mr. John A. Palmer, Jr., of Fletton, has recently purchased another fishing steamer for his new factory at Fairport. Mr. Palmer, Capt. Treake, Mr. Albert Davis and several others from this place are now in Boston or else on the high seas homeward bound with the new addition to the fishing fleet. In a short time all the steamers which have been wintering in the creek here, will be coaling up and steaming out for the various railways and the overhauling always given them in anticipation of the summer's work.

Capt. C. W. Haynie, of this place, has been away looking after the Sandy Island factory interests near Cape Charles recently.

Capt. C. F. Haynie is having lumber put in place at his landing and will put up a house for the purpose of packing his own fish this spring.

Mr. L. B. Rice who runs a packing house here and at Fletton is also having both places put in readiness for the first run of fish. Let us hope it will be heavy and continuous.

The Anne Arundel from Baltimore and Crisfield was late coming in Thursday morning and did not connect with the outgoing U. S. mail truck. Consequently lots of folks along the road to Warsaw were breadless, while the Reedville Postoffice was so packed with boxes of Saltsbury leaves that our genial new postmaster, Mr. Henry McFarland and his assistants, could hardly be seen as they carefully maneuvered among the masses of fresh-baked and sweet smelling freight. Nearly every country store sells bread and it comes in from Fredericksburg, Baltimore and the Eastern Shore, in great quantities.

Mr. Harry Waters, of Baltimore, was here last week for a day or two looking after business affairs.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. E. M. Blackwell and her sister, Miss Clara Burgess, of Sunnyside, both on the sick list at this time.

Some of our people have been trying to get their gardens plowed and in order for planting, but it keeps too wet to work as yet.

To Reap Profits from Your Hot Bed

Use Hot Bed Sash Made from Specially Selected Gulf Cypress

It costs very little more than canvas and lasts many years longer. Canvas, even when specially treated and cared for, will hardly last more than two years, but glass will last indefinitely, so long as it is handled with care. The difference in cost between these two styles of hot bed sash is slight, and there is no comparison in the up-keep cost.

We are making the frames in Virginia Style, using especially selected Gulf Cypress in sizes from 3 x 6 to 4 x 8. Phone us, write us, or call on us at your first opportunity and get full details and prices. Glass for old frames can be furnished in any quantity. Don't delay. Now is the time to get your hot beds ready.

SHARPTOWN

One of the most successful plays ever gotten up by the home talent was that given here in Pythian Hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week, called the "Womanless Wedding." It was gotten up by the members of the Methodist Protestant Church and was in every particular a success, all the characters working in perfect unity. On Wednesday evening the hall was crowded, many standing and a large number were left without getting in. By special request the play was repeated on Thursday night to a large audience. The total receipts for both renditions were $110 with less than twenty dollars expense. The costumes were very elaborate and attractive to the audience. After the play the characters removed their head dress and revealed their identity to the great amusement of the audience. The following is the cast of characters:

Bride, George Stokes; Groom, Roy Lowe; Father of the Bride, Charles Mooney; Mother of the Bride, Gorman Mann; Uncle of the Bride, Robert Hughes; Aunt of the Bride, W. T. Selby; Grandfather, George E. ### NANTICOKE

Nature is preparing for the coming of the spring. That life and joy and beauty may reappear in everything.

A. T.

Mrs. Horace Messick left last Friday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Darby new living in Baltimore.

Miss Hannah Collier, teacher at Rockawalkin spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. John Collier.

"Othello," an Easter cantata, is to be given in the M. E. Church on the evening of April 1st, under the capable direction of Mrs. Wilbur Turner.

There is to be a community sing over in our enterprising neighbors, town, Bivalve, at the M. P. Church on Friday next, under the auspices of the Young Peoples Association. Folks from all the adjoining towns are expected to be present and participate and a fine evening of music and fellowship is expected.

Last Thursday, Nanticoke had a visitor in the person of Mr. Harry K. Smith, Jr., managing editor of this popular county paper. Mr. Smith is an affable and business-like young gentleman, who made several new readers for the News during his brief stay in our community. And well might that be, for he has the smile and the hand-clasp that makes friends both for his paper and himself. Mr. Smith will always find a reassuring welcome for him and the News in Nanticoke.

A party of Nanticoke students attending the Salisbury High School coming home on Saturday and consisting of Misses Virginia Travers, Lois Willing, Elizabeth Rencher and Franklin Willing and a guest of the party, Ennis Taylor, found the taxi so crowded that it was expedient to tie their hand baggage on the outside of the conveyance. On the way down a heavy rain fell, soaking thru to the contents of the suit cases. The girls' finery suffered discolorations of varying hues in consequence, from the rain-soaked dyed articles in their containers and it is said that the boys were obliged to have their shirts and collars laundered before they could go out to see their "chickens."

CHURCH BENEFITS

A drive to pay off a long standing indebtedness, carried by the Nanticoke M. E. Church has been on for some time. This drive will be closed by Easter, by which time it is planned the whole $430.00 will have been raised, enabling the church to hold its Easter services free of this encumbrance.

In raising this money various ways have been followed, mostly in the amusement line. Already a box social has been held with very gratifying results, by the Third Year Junior Boys class, Mrs. Carrie Zimmerman, teacher. A pie social last week given by the First Year Junior Boys and Girls class, a big success also.

Mrs. Nina Catlin, teacher. The next event is to be an oyster supper on the 24th under the care of the Ladies' Bible class; and O boy! that will be some supper. I'll tell the News readers before hand and be an hand for the "big" one.

The Men's Bible Class are raising their quota of this church debt by personal subscription—there being no limit to the "quota". The portion already subscribed is a tidy sum.

On the last evening of the month the Fourth Year Junior Girls Class which has been very successful selling Larkin goods for some time, is to add to the class laurels by presenting two playlets—"The Burglars" and "Joe".

Another event that promises not to fall behind any of these several successful affairs, is to be the rendition of a three act comedy drama, entitled "Comrades" under the auspices of the Boys' Intermediate Class at an early date. Further particulars and cast of characters, etc., will be given by the News correspondent next week.

THE CORRESPONDENT'S IDEA

And the thought is just this: First

the drawing into the service of the church—their church—the various men and women and boys and girls, who have and will yet take part in this splendid debt-drive. Their work is constructively constructive to Christian service, and they and the balance of the Nanticoke church membership must have a justifiable pleasure and satisfaction in the outcome of this drive.

Another idea is that of the spirit, the people at large has shown in ungrudging patronage, both in the giving of substance and money, as well as the buying of tickets and purchasable articles offered for sale at various entertainments. This sort of Christian service has made possible the liquidation of this debt, thereby putting the church on the base of financial freedom.

And this last thought suggests, may concluding idea, and that is regarding this beautiful little church, set as a light on a hill, by the side of the road where the race of men go by. One may well be sure the congregation, board of stewards, board of trustees, Sunday School, the Superintendent, teachers and scholars of which originated and has thus far been so successful in this splendid undertaking, and last but not least, the young pastor, the Rev. B. P. Moore, will all rejoice in the accomplishment of so praise-worthy a work, as the paying off of this debt, obviously means to the Nanticoke Methodist Episcopal church. It ought to go far to increase the unity and spiritual quality of its communicants and add much to the joy and inspiration of the coming Easter services. This debt-paying service should bring a new consecration, a new determination and a new inspiration to the members of this church. Coming at this Easter time, it is most suggestive—He paid the debt.

Veteran Recounts Incident Occurring 60 Years Ago This Month During The Civil War

Adjutant Of Old 1st Regiment, E. S. Of Md. Volunteers Living In Washington At Ripe Old Age Of 83—Soldiers Camped On Site Of Present Gordy Park.

THE NEWS is in receipt of a story from John E. Rastell, 1417 Shepard St., Washington, D. C., of an incident which happened on the Peninsula just sixty years ago this month, during the war between the States. Mr. Rastell was late adjutant of the First Regiment, Eastern Shore of Maryland volunteers, Infantry, and was known and will be remembered by many of the older folks here as the "Little Assistant."

In speaking of the incident to one of Salisbury's old and highly respected citizens, a mere youth in that day, that gentleman recalled vividly the circumstances surrounding this story and tells some interesting history of the part played by this section in the conflict. He remembers J. E. Rastell well as the drill-major sent down by the United States Government to train the troops recruited from this section. Rastell was spoken of as a "very popular and in no wise officious officer," and although of small build a veritable "live wire."

The First Regiment, Eastern Shore of Maryland volunteers was also known as "Purnell's Legion," it being recruited by Col. William H. Purnell and composed principally of volunteers from the Eastern Shore. After Purnell retired, William J. Leonard, of this city, was commissioned colonel and it is thought to be Col. Leonard to whom is referred in the article to follow. Leonard was captured at a station near Manassas, Va., while sick by a sweeping attack of Stonewall Jackson's army. For sometime he was confined in the Liddy Prison in Richmond. Capt. Samuel A. Graham was then commissioned Colonel and saw service on the Peninsula as well as at the Battle of Antietam where also the late John T. Owens had a leg shot off by a cannonball.

About April 1861, a Delaware regiment came down to Salisbury after it was reported that "rebels" were coming up from across the bay via Cape Charles enroute to Philadelphia. These troops embarked and established a camp on the property where the Gas Plant now stands but later moved over in what is known as South Salisbury where the baseball grounds now are and established a first class army camp and remained there until the termination of the struggle.

In the fall Purnell's Legion, 1000 strong, came down by boat from Baltimore. The infantrymen landed at "Cotton Patch," at the old steamboat landing near the Pine Bluff Sanatorium. In those days the Wicomico River was not navigable any further than that point. Then they marched in to Salisbury and shared with the Delawareans their already established camp.

The article of Adjutant Rastell, who is now 83 years of age is as follows:

Editor, Wicomico News. Our regiment, the 1st Md. Eastern Shore, stationed at Salisbury at the end of the war, got orders from Department Headquarters at Baltimore to go up into Delaware and disarm some secession companies believed to exist in that State.

We moved at once with several companies. Entraining for Dover, we proceeded about nine miles, where we stopped at Delmar, a station on the line dividing Delaware and Maryland. Co. B, at that place, left the train in a body, lined up, stacked arms, and broke ranks.

With the Colonel, I left the train and we went over to where the men were. "What is the matter?" asked the Colonel. A spokesman replied that the company had enlisted for service in Maryland and did not intend to leave the State.

No Limitation of Service

As organizer of the Regiment, I assured the men the Government had not authorized any such limitation of service and urged them to return at once to duty. The Colonel, a loyal man, though a slaveholder, was more emphatic, which aroused the men to persist in their course. The spokesman became insulting and remarked that if any event they would not serve longer under his command.

The Colonel and I were alone with the men some distance from the train but instantly the Colonel drew a revolver and pointing it at the man, took him by the shoulder and ordered him aboard the train.

The men were largely of the oyster-men class, and I saw some ugly knives drawn.

The Colonel telegraphed to Salisbury for Co. C to proceed to Delmar at once, and ordered the return of Co. B to its quarters. Without awaiting the outcome, we proceeded with the balance of our force to Dover and marched to the Capitol building, which we made our headquarters. We were very coldly received, and admission to the building refused. We forced entrance and for three days I slept on the Speaker's platform of the House, with my saddle for a pillow.

Searching for Secesh.

We began an active search for arms among the citizens, entering a large number of private residences of those known to be disloyal or under suspicion. A number of prominent men were arrested. I assigned them a room at the Capitol and placed an ample guard over them. We combed the city pretty thoroughly and captured a number of guns, etc. From there we went to New Castle.

Our presence in Delaware had created great excitement. A United States Senator had gone from one end of the State to the other, speaking from the rear platform of trains, denouncing our "invasion of Delaware." The people were pretty thoroughly aroused. At Dover, the morning of our departure, the Capitol grounds were filled with citizens in anything but placid mood who were disposed to resent our presence and actions.

As I glanced over the crowds I was very much concerned as to the outcome. It was my duty to "line up" the troops, which I did by clearing a suitable space. After the line was formed I detailed the left or rear company as guards for the prisoners, which were still in the building, and returned for them, after forming the guard company in a hollow square at the foot of the steps of the Capitol.

An Ugly Crowd.

Seeing that everything had been properly left, I went again to the front and with the prisoners and a few soldiers which had been guarding them. I was greatly surprised to find that the Regiment had gone and left only the one company. The crowd of citizens had moved up close about the guard company at the base of the Capitol steps, and it looked as if all Dover was there. I ordered the crowd back, and when I got the prisoners into the square, returned to the steps and at the top of my voice ordered the soldiers to shoot any man who came within touch of their bayonets.

The men were all standing at "charge" outwardly. Returning to the center of the square, I ordered, "Forward, March!" and away we went down the street to the depot, the crowd following us—sullen and threatening.

While we were in Wilmington I was ordered to take the prisoners to Baltimore. With a detail of eight men and a sergeant, I took the prisoners to the depot only to find that the last train had left. We, therefore, prepared to camp in the depot overnight. One of the prisoners came to me and said that if I would consent to go to a hotel, they would stand the expense for all hands. I agreed to this and arranged to have beds enough in one large room to accommodate the prisoners and myself.

This done, I put a guard inside the room at the door and one outside, and placed the remaining soldiers under their sergeant in the office with orders to change guards every two hours. All had fixed bayonets. Private instructions were given all hands and, tired out, I lay down and was soon asleep.

Asleep On Duty

I did not remove a garment, not even my shoes or sword! I awoke during the night and in the gas light saw that every prisoner was in place, but the guard was missing—but there were two muskets leaning against the wall.

Getting up quietly, I found my two guards, both asleep, sitting on the floor. The one outside had come in for company, and both had yielded.

I sat a moment studying what best to do. Finally I crept up to the sleeping soldiers and took away their guns. Then I took my pillow and shook the feathers all down to one end of the case, and grasping the loose end in both hands, I lambasted them in good shape. I knocked them down as fast as they got up. When I got them on duty again I went down into the hotel office and there I found the sergeant and his six men also asleep.

As I looked at them I thought of the constant work they had been doing for a week. Not one of them had been in bed in that time. I roused them, said a few serious words to the sergeant and returned to my beds. Next morning we turned our prisoners into the old slave pen at Baltimore. I did not report the men.

The company which refused to do duty out of Maryland and some men of other companies were ordered "mustered out without honor," which meant that they were pensioned. The War Department not recognizing the claim that they were enlisted only as Maryland soldiers.

DO YOU KNOW WHY THE GEAR-SHIFT IS DIFFERENT?

The design of Dodge Brothers gear-shift takes into consideration the natural inclinations of the driver.

To start, you throw the lever forward. To reverse, you pull the lever backward. And when the car is running in high gear—which is about ninety per cent of the time—the lever is in a forward position, out of the way, where it does not interfere with passengers, robes, or luggage.

Moreover, the transmission, developed and patented by Dodge Brothers, is so designed that the countershaft—used in intermediate speeds and in reverse—is disconnected when the car is in high. There are no gears in mesh. Power is transmitted directly from clutch to rear axle.

This exclusive feature prevents the loss of power through friction, reduces gear-box noises and eliminates a vast amount of wear.

That is why the gear-shift of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is different.

The price is $1075 delivered.

Clean Up and Paint Up

Honest now, what is it that you do, that gives you quite the satisfaction that a little cleaning-up and painting-up does?

It sure does beat the Dutch the way a little paint will make a thing "look like a million dollars."

There are many cases where $100 spent in painting a house, has made it sell for $500 more. So whether or not you want to sell your house, a coat of Lowe Brothers paint makes it look as if you "had money in the bank" as the old saying goes.

Drop in and let's talk it over.

Suits Celebrate the Vogue of Devotion

—applying it in versatile fashion. All over embroidery covers a brief jacket, but ignores a skirt. Fine tucking extends over an entire skirt and coat of twill.

All over braiding invades the territory of an entire suit. Fancy borders, intricate stitchery, leather bindings, ribbon trimming, gay printed blouses and side-sashes supply other themes for design.

As for other new notes, witness the Roshanara Silk Suits, the tier skirt, the accordion pleated inset in skirt and the novel-three-quarter length coat, which contrasts with the smart box style.

Spring Suits of many types, $25 to $49.50.

Sizes for Madame and Mademoiselle.

There's a Studied Artistry in the New Coats

The Wrapover Coat is the newest interpretation, its long, willowy lines and severe side-fastening being frequently emphasized by gorgeous all over embroidery, perhaps outlined in metal thread. Fancy braiding, stitching and open-work decoration are also used to great advantage.

Coats for every occasion, $10.95 to $65.00.

Silk crepe fabrics now compete with the wool materials in fashioning afternoon Coats and Capes, enriching themselves with Summer furs, such as monkey, ermine or viatka squirrel, thus creating a stunning mode for milder days—and Summer weather.

Sizes for Madame and Mademoiselle.

LEAGUE DIRECTORS BALK AT PLAN OF LOCAL CLUB TO PLAY MANAGER

At Meeting Here Friday Officials Rule Against Shipley Breaking Into Game.

PRESIDENT THAWLEY TO BACK UMPIRES TO LIMIT

Names Four Arbiters For Coming Season With Derby Chief Of Staff. Crisfield Club Reported To Have Engaged North Carolina Player As Manager—Parksley Has Hold-Out.

Conveying assurances from baseball fans all over the Delmarvia Peninsula that Organized Ball was destined this coming season to receive a reception equal to that found in any part of the country, the eight clubs of the Eastern Shore met here Friday evening. This long conference will probably be the last one engaged in by the moguls before the season is rung up on May 25th.

Despite the fact that the officials brought with them a message of optimism from their respective townships that might be counted upon as being prophetic of a most successful season, there is in the baseball yearling circuit, there are some differences during the course of discussion that threatened to line up various interests and provoke a situation which might have proved injurious to the cooperative spirit already created.

The question that stirred up matters was that of the status of the bench manager on the roster of those clubs which have chosen some baseball wisacre and leader of known ability to handle their team rather than a playing manager who would each day be seen in the field with his young charges. At the last meeting of the officials it was decided that the salary limit would be $2,000 a month, exclusive of manager's salary provided he

Last evening it was contended by President Ruark of the Salisbury Club that such a rule worked a hardship upon that club who had signed up a manager who was capable of getting into action in case of a pinch or an emergency. Mr. Ruark offered an amendment to the effect that a bench manager be allowed to play in 20% of the total number of games without such action effecting the salary limit.

Dr. A. S. Williams, of Laurel protested against what he styled discrimination against those clubs which had signed playing managers and was forced to include their salaries in the fixed monthly payment of $2,000. The Laurel director was supported in his contention by directors Quinn of Crisfield, Gillispie, of Parkley; and Gladding, of Pocomoke. Accordingly the right to play their manager in case of an emergency was denied to Directors Ruark, of Salisbury; Moyer of Dover; Cannon, of Milford, and Henry, of Cambridge.

After they had shelved this dangerous subject, the magnates settled down to business and acted jointly on several points. It was decided that 15 days after the season opened, each club would have to cut down from its roster of 18 players to the maximum season limit of 14. In order to prohibit the repetition of last year when several clubs added strength to their ranks in the closing days of the race and made sensational spurts, it was agreed upon that August 1st was the time limit on signing up new players and that the home stretch would find the eight clubs fighting each other Members of the schedule committee consisting of Ruark, Gillispie and Grier, announced that the official schedule would be made known next week. As was the case last year, the teams will play one day on foreign fields, to return home for a return engagement on the next. However, on account of the great distance between Parkersley and Dover, the Virginians will travel to the Delaware capital and follow up the next day with a game at Milford.

$5,248 OF $8,000 "Y" BUDGET-RAISED

Campaign, Which Closed Saturday Night, Falls Short Of Fixed Goal. Soliciting Continues.

To date, $5,248 of the $8,000 budget for the coming year has been raised for the "Y.M.C.A." The drive, of which F. P. Adkins was general chairman, officially closed on Saturday evening but due to the fact that the amount needed was not subscribed by about $2,750, number who were not canvassed are being seen this week.

An sustaining memberships, $3895 was raised. The quota for this group was $6,000. In the Senior Group, of which John L. Morris was chairman, the teams raised $822 of their $1500 quota as follows: E. Sheldon Jones (capt.), $255; Harv. Harcum (capt.), $205; John Morris (capt.), $200; Henry Todd (capt.), $106; H. L. Evans (capt.), $55.

Miss Laura Wallis was chairman of the Woman's Group. The amount raised was $255 and the quota $500. The teams secured subscriptions as follows: Miss Mary Butcher, $100; Miss Julia Todd, $70; Miss Clara Hill, $60; Mrs. W. T. Smith, $40; Miss Nettie Morris, $20; Miss Hilda Long, $5.

In the Boys Department, of which William L. Bo was chairman, the teams secured subscriptions as follows: Milton White, $115; Lee Benson, $105; Lee Hurley, $30; Leroy Dabrowski, $15; James Mittleman, $15; William Bounds, $10.

To Milton White, 14-year old son of Dr. and Mrs. E. Rial White goes the honor of bringing in the most cash of any individual solicitor or team in the entire campaign. Young White turned over to the management $96 in cash which sum exceeded even the actual money brought in by the entire sustaining group.

The Y.M.C.A. state convention meets in Frederick next week. Secretary E. W. Hammerslough is planning to attend and hopes to carry with him a report that the budget has been raised in full. The local "Y" is the only one on the Eastern Shore and the "baby" organization of the state hence all eyes are focused on Salisbury because of that fact.

MR. ELLEGOOD BETTER

The condition of Hon. James E. Ellegood, dean of the local bar, who has been confined to his North Division Street home since last week on account of a severe attack of la grippe, as the time of going to press is reported as much improved. On Tuesday his temperature had receded to normal and he will likely be able to get back to his desk by the first of next week.

NOT ON COMMISSION

Many rumors have persisted recently that members of the State Police force worked on commission and received compensation according to the number of arrests made. Sergeant Phillips, of the local sub-station, asked this week that this be denied through the columns of The News and states that they have never been on commission nor does he ever believe that such will be the case.

ANNAPOLIS MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Head Of Union Praises Tanlac For Prompt Relief From Stomach Trouble Of Long Standing

Jesse W. Cadle, carpenter and president of Union No. 1128, residing at 25 Brewer Ave., is still another well known Annapolis man to come forward in behalf of Tanlac.

"I hope my experience will help some other sufferer, for if it hadn't been for somebody else's statement I might still be suffering," he declared. "I had stomach trouble so bad it simply made me miserable. After eating, gas bloated me up and pressed on my chest till I thought I'd smother. My food felt like a heavy burning lump in the pit of my stomach for hours. I was so weak and run down I couldn't lift a hammer, couldn't sleep and almost always had a sharp, cutting pain in the small of my back."

"But since taking Tanlac I feel like a new man. I never have indigestion sleep like a top and always feel ready for work. Tanlac certainly is a remarkable medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.—Advt.

County News

NANTICOKE

In the preparation of last week's Nanticoke notes there was no lot of making known the writer of them. Since the arrival here of last week's issue of the News there has been some speculation and some little inquiry as to who the News itemizer can be. As there is no intention to keep the good folks of this pretty village in the dark as to who the writer is, it is for me to give my name—Alfred Tomson, and to say, there is no desire for me to hide my identity, under the anonymity that the News exacts of all its county correspondents.

Mr. H. James Messick, one of Nanticoke's merchants, until recently destroyed his big store, made a quick business trip to Baltimore last week. Dr. J. R. Warner, Nanticoke's only physician, was among last week's Elks banquet guests, making a special round-trip to Salisbury for that purpose. Mrs. Warner accompanied the doctor and brought him home fed up to the chin.

Mrs. L. J. Hamm, of Baltimore, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ned Travers.

On Friday morning last Mr. Dan Messick discovered the lifeless body of a nearby neighbor, Howard Wainwright, lying across the wood pile in his yard, and where it had probably been the entire night, for evidently the vital spark had been extinct for many hours. Relatives were notified of the sudden death and the remains were taken to Trinity and interred last Sunday. Mr. Wainwright was a bachelor, aged about 65. He lived by himself and was well respected in the community.

OUR CHURCH DEBT DRIVE

Every indication that the full quota for the M. E. Church debt fund will be raised by the end of the present week, the sum total even exceeding the needed amount to clear the church of its encumbrance.

Last Saturday night the oyster supper given in the Wicomico theatre proved a big success. The Ladies' Bible Class members are certainly entitled to all credit for the feast they spread and served to the big crowd that poured into the theatre and jostled one another at the tables. The Nanticoke ladies took hold of the affair to win out with it and succeeded, both in the "eats" and the returns. People came from Jessville, Bivalve, Tyaskin, Trinity and Waterview. The News man ate so many oysters that he'll not have the cheek to look another mollusk in the face for a month.

Preparations for the production of "Comrades", the three-act comedy-drama that is to be produced in the near future, are going steadily ahead. Like the balance of the functions for the church debt fund, the performance promises not to fall behind any other affair, for the it cannot last it will not be least of the things that will have been done when the drive is all over. Efforts are being made to make the play a big success. Already material has been received from Salisbury for the construction of special scenery for the proper mounting of the piece and the young people in the cast are hard at work preparing their respective parts for the big night. Following is the Cast of Characters:

Royal Manning, one of the Comrades, es. Prof. E. Allen Carlson, May, His Wife, Mrs. Marvin Cox; Marcus Graves, A Drummer, Mr. Marvin Cox; Fay Bradley, His Sweetheart, Mrs. Blanche Carlson; Simon Stone, Jack-of-all-Trades, Mr. Raleigh Douglass; Nancy Nipper, Maid in Manning's Home, Ada Willey; Rufus Brown, A Singer, Mr. Jennings Somers; Mitt Winsor, A Tramp, Mr. Alfred Tomson.

The Pneumonia Month

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ-laden mucus, and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. Children take it willingly.—Advt.

League Directors Balk At Plan To Play Manager

that he has signed up a former veteran of the Carolina League, Smith of Newburn, N. C. Although late in straightening their affairs out, the Crabbers can be counted upon to put up a strong battle for the flag. Nothing has been heard from Manager Ralph Muttis, of Parkside, now at Ardmore, Pa. There are several players of last year's pennant-winning team that haven't mailed in their contracts yet. Steinfeld is a hold-out and Hewell, the sensational shortstop of the league in 1922, is said to have accepted term but his signed contract is still missing.

Practically all of the managers have their contracts all in and are ready for the first call for candidates. Herb Armstrong at Cambridge has gathered together his suggestions for last season that started its remarkable performance of 13 games straight just at the close of the race. He is planning to use only 12 men this year and will direct their efforts from the bench. Contrary to expectations, Lauri announces that Pokes Widen is to be behind the bat when the curtain goes up. The former Parkside manager is woefully weak with his throwing arm and it was generally thought that he would utilize his knowledge of the game's finer points to the best advantage on the coaching line. Dover and Milford will be opponents on opening day and a huge crowd is expected to witness this first clash in Organized Ball between these two warm rivals. Fans all over the Peninsula will have their eyes on these two teams for they are expected to be strong contenders for the pennant. Practically every city in the loop will have increased facilities for taking care of the fans and the new park and grandstand at Dover will make a strong bid against Salisbury's fine plant for top honors.

Crisfield, who succeeded W. B. Miller as the league's chief executive is very enthusiastic over the prospects for his baby minor this coming season. He expects a close race and predicts that the finances will be in fine shape at the end. There is one thing that Mr. Thawley is determined upon and that is, his umpires will be backed to the very limit in their decisions. The new President told the News reporter last night that "I shall see to it that my umpires obtain the utmost of respect in every city and that their word on the diamonds will carry with it every ounce of my authority."

Mr. Thawley also announced last night the arbiters who will call out "Play Ball" in the four home cities on May 25th Chief of Staff will be R. Derby, former University of Delaware coach, who proved his value as a handler of the indicator in the Shore League last summer. Derby is at present engaged in Public Athletic League work in Baltimore. The other three umpires selected are: M. H. McDermott, Falls River, Mass., a former umpire in the New England Industrial League; Edward F. Riley, of New Haven, Conn., a veteran of Connecticut League; and D. S. Stewart, of Eldorado, Col., who has gained recognition as a jurist of balls and strikes by his efficient work in Kansas and Oklahoma circuits.

Delmar Will Have A Nine This Season

assumption, the officials are leaving no stone unturned to give to the citizens of Delmar, which is the point where the Norfolk and Delaware Divisions join and where the large roundhouse and shops of the system are located, everything in the way of entertainment outside of working hours possible.

And the men are taking to their offerings as a duck to water. They appreciate what the railroad company is doing for their welfare and the employer and employee are working hand-in-hand to the general betterment of themselves, their families, the railroad and the town.

But one thing of which the men are extremely proud, and justly so, is their organization, The Delmar Terminal Athletic Association of the Pennsylvania Railroad System, which has the first floor of the Masonic Temple Building donated to it by the railroad company for a clubroom. The organization was started in April of last year and is working smoothly, men of both divisions are members.

The rooms are fitted up with a powerful radio receiving outfit, games, punching bags, booth for moving picture showings, while boxing contests and other indoor sports are indulged in. The rooms are well patronized in the evening by the 300 members whose names are on its roster. Clerk Ben Marsh, of the Car Shop has made a very attractively designed sign for the front of the building, it being the Keystone emblem of the railroad company.

The officers of the club are: H. T. Hickey, president; C. J. Calhoun, vice-president; J. M. Cleary, treasurer; R. C. Starck, recording secretary; I. L. Swann, financial secretary. The directors are: J. H. Atwell, F. Passwaters, J. E. McLain, A. A. Waller, W. S. Melson, G. A. Melson, T. H. Esham, J. R. McMoran, G. Tempeston, H. L. Parker, D. J. Traut, C. H. Matthews, W. W. Hastings, S. H. Jones.

The club, as its name indicates, is strong for athletics.

Right now they are planning an elaborate athletic field and expect to organize one of the strongest baseball lines on the Pennsylvania system. Many good players are to be found within the ranks of the workers on the two railroad divisions. On Saturday last the quito team competed in the indoor meet in Philadelphia and Assistant Track Foreman of the Delaware Division, J. W. Moore, and Yard Clerk Eddie Cordrey, represented the club. Roland H. Marsh represented them in the swimming contest while D. M. Purnell, a laborer at the car shop competed in the track events.

And the men are not without moral support from the sidelines in these contests for on Friday night a pullman car, nearly loaded with rosters, was hooked to a northbound train to carry the loyal adherents to the meet in which athletic teams representing the entire Pennsylvania system, participated.

the State. The jury retired to its room about 7 P. M. and when finally called back by the Court at midnight had failed to reach a verdict. It is understood that the majority of the juryman favored acquittal. They were then discharged until Friday morning next at 9 o'clock. The Williams case was ordered by the Court continued.

There are yet a few more criminal cases on the docket for disposal and these will be taken up Friday. One of these is that of Charles Vickers, indicted for receiving stolen goods.

Other cases taken up since the last issue of The News were: State of Maryland vs. Emma Messick, indicted for stealing stolen goods, plea not guilty, trial by jury. Verdict, not guilty.

State of Maryland vs. Samuel Brown, alias "Sambo Brown" and Elijah Parsons, alias "Pat Pusey," indicted for assault with intent to murder. Pleas not guilty. Trial by Court. Found guilty of assault with intent to murder. Each sentenced to Maryland Penitentiary for nine years.

State of Maryland vs. Preston Johnson and Marion Mills, indictment for breaking into store house and larceny. Plea of Marion Mills guilty. Plea of Preston Johnson not guilty. Preston Johnson, tried by Court, found guilty and sentenced to be confined in the Maryland Penitentiary for a term of nine years. Mills, a minor, was to have been paroled but escaped.

State of Maryland vs. Rhoda Adams, indicted for receiving stolen goods, plea not guilty. Court trial. Found guilty and sentenced to the House of Correction for 18 months. State of Maryland vs. William Hastings, indicted for larceny, plea not guilty. Court finds party guilty, sentenced to be confined in Maryland Penitentiary for nine years.

State of Maryland vs. Moses Dennis and Richard Hardy, indicted for larceny. Plea guilty as to Moses Dennis. Richard Hardy pleads not guilty. Harry tried by jury, verdict, guilty. Sentence has not yet been imposed. Moses Dennis was sentenced to four years in Maryland Penitentiary.

State vs. Arthur Winder, indicted for assault with intent to murder, plea not guilty. Jury trial, verdict guilty. Sentenced to nine years in Maryland Penitentiary.

State of Maryland vs. Wm. Pope, indicted for larceny, plea guilty. Court finds party guilty, sentenced to Maryland House of Correction for two years.

State of Maryland vs. James Finney, bastardy case. Court finds defendant guilty and fixes bond for support of child.

State of Maryland vs. Wm. Westley Dashiell, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Not guilty. This was a case where some one shot several times at a Christmas party down the county.

Rayfield Winder, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Guilty, fined $10 and costs. This case arose over some boys finding a pistol in Winder's car while at a camp ground. In playing with it, it was discharged and a colored person killed. The Court called attention to the fact that carrying a pistol in a car was an offense the same as about the person.

Wm. Johnson and Ernest L. Robbins, jointly indicted for assault with intent to rob, were tried before Court and found not guilty. Johnson pleaded guilty to another charge of carrying concealed weapons. Sentence suspended for term four years.

State of Maryland vs. Carl Parker, annoying young girls on streets. Sentence 4 years in the House of Correction.

State of Maryland vs. Randolph

Venables. Pleading guilty of assault with intent to murder. Was with negro Winder in Goodman shooting affair. Sentence suspended for term of two years.

On Monday morning the Sheriff left for the Maryland Penitentiary with Sambo Brown, Pat Pusey, William Hastings and Arthur Winder.

States Attorney Curtis W. Long was taken ill on Tuesday night and after omitting the criminal cases on Wednesday, the Court appointed on Thursday, Attorney Benjamin A. Johnson to act as States Attorney in his stead. Mr. Johnson performed the task well and was complimented by the Court for his work in this connection. In nearly every instance he secured a conviction notwithstanding the fact that he had not made a study of any of the cases.

Particularly heavy sentences have been imposed by the Court at this session and it is manifest that it is the intention to break up the lawless ones which crowded the dockets of the present term. Especially has this been the case in the sentencing of prisoners convicted of burglary.

Truth Courts the Light but Error Shuns It

DEFINITION
The practice of Chiropractic consists of the adjustment, with the hands, of the movable segments of the spinal column to normal position for the purpose of releasing the pinched impulses.

The chiropractor tells you his message in English because he wants you to understand. He doesn't camouflage his ignorance with Latin.

Truth is the same always and everywhere, and because the practice of Chiropractic is based upon truth it is a universally efficient method.

The laws of nature are the same yesterday, today, and forever; and because Chiropractic is based upon natural law, it does not change its explanation of disease with the seasons.

Since Chiropractic depends upon the operation of natural law for its results, chiropractors do not require faith or credulity of their patients.

Chiropractic is a demonstrable science. It is the most efficient method of getting the sick well and any chiropractor will gladly show you just what he does, and tell you why he does it.

A CIVIC ENTERPRISE.

Salisbury stands in dire need of a new modern hotel. There is but little disputing of this statement and yet there are those people who are apt to treat the project apathetically chiefly because they are not conversant with the real arguments for the exploitation of such an institution. And yet these selling points, if we may call them that, are clear and distinct.

This city is being adversely advertised as not having adequate or modern hotel facilities. Traveling men, when asked about hotel accommodations in Salisbury, are compelled to pass the word along that same are very limited and inadequate. As a result of these unfavorable reports, much profitable business is lost to the community. Suitable quarters must be provided for the traveling men, the tourists, convention delegates and those who come to do business with our merchants and manufacturers.

The modern hotel has come to be recognized as an organized host of the city it serves. While they are with us, the commercial traveler, the tourist, the convention delegate, the visitor, all practically make the hotel their home. It is they that we are trying to impress with our city's progressiveness. If they fail to find satisfactory and pleasing hotel accommodations, then our efforts to impress them will be badly handicapped.

Let the word go out that Salisbury is going to have a new, modern hostelry, distinctive in every respect; that Salisbury is awakening to her own needs and needs of the people of the Peninsula. And you will find that hundreds of commercial men and tourists will make this metropolis their meeting and stopping place. There can be no question but that business here will receive a mighty impetus.

We believe in the integrity and good judgment of the thirty or more business men named as directors of the temporary organization who have taken it upon themselves at the request of a still larger number of our citizens to see that the new hotel is built and put into operation at the earliest possible moment.

This present undertaking should be looked upon not only as a safe sound investment from which a reasonable return may be expected, but also as the very biggest community enterprise that could be launched at this time. Our civic duty is to push it to speedy completion.

WHO'S TO BLAME?

It is to be expected that an investigation will be made by proper authorities to determine the responsibility for the escape of the four prisoners from the county jail last Friday night. Certainly, such an investigation would do much to clear up a situation that is decidedly embarrassing to those officials directly and indirectly connected with the unfortunate episode.

If the jail delivery was the result of a gross piece of negligence on the part of any one individual, then that fact should be brought out and the blame attached at the proper source. On the other hand, if those parties responsible for the safe-keeping of these criminals were handicapped in the fulfillment of their entrusted duties by the lack of proper facilities and adequate means of imprisonment, the disclosure should be made just as quickly.

It is indeed regrettable and unfortunate, that after long sought-for criminals have been taken into custody and justice meted out, that avenues of escaping punishment be opened up to them. Such occurrences as the escape of the four negro prisoners last week from the jail naturally bring discredit and disgrace upon the county. It is essentially the county's duty to protect its citizens from the misdeeds of the lawless element and to see that law and order hold sway. There is no telling now what deeds might be perpetrated by these negro fugitives from justice in an effort to secure funds and make a clean get-away.

To fix the responsibility in this case will prove to be no easy matter. No one is prone to harshly criticize the Sheriff for he seemingly made the best of the equipment at hand and even went so far as to appoint a special guard. Whether or not this officer maintained his vigil as he should have is a debatable question. The jail itself was recently inspected by members of the Grand Jury and no unfavorable report on its condition was rendered. However, the fact remains, that four prisoners escaped and are now at large. To prevent a recurrence possibly in the future, certainly some attempt should be made in this instance to locate the leak. Unquestionably, those connected with the affair would welcome an investigation.

THE WAGES OF SIN.

A double moral lesson unfolds itself to those who have read in the city papers of the murder of New York's noted artist model, Miss Dorothy Keenan, and the subsequent revelation of her alleged intimate relations with a member of one of Philadelphia's most prominent families.

The first lesson to be drawn from this tragic end of a young woman who possessed beauty and charms that attracted to her side countless of male admirers, is that the wages of sin is death. Her life as an artist's model filled with the gaieties and frivolities of worldly pleasures and indulgences was but a sad mockery of the useful realization of her endowments. She stalked all—and won death.

The other side of this cross section of human frailty depicts the low level to which a man can sink when in quest of artificial happiness and contentment. It is difficult to understand how the mysterious "Mr. Marshall" allowed himself to slip into an eddy of such unworthy waters. Possessing family name and wealth, the husband of a devoted wife and the father of two fine children, he forgot all honor and duty and violated the laws of man and God. His will be a sorrowful and exacting retribution.

Small habits lead to larger ones. Minor violations of law lead to the most flagrant. And in the end, nothing is gained and everything is lost. If individuals would only summon up their moral courage to conquer in the opening moments of conflict between right and wrong, much sorrow would be spared this world and its mortals. "For the wages of sin is death."

NOW WE ARE THINKING IN TRILLIONS.

The Geological Congress which met in Canada states that the United States is the world's chief source of coal supply, being accredited a supply of 3,854,000,000,000 metric tons. Canada comes next with 1,234,000,000,000 tons; China and Germany following in turn, with the United Kingdom winding up in last place with 190,000,000,000 metric tons. When we come to thinking in trillions the mind grows wobbly, but when we visualize the coal bins of the folks in this county and realize the way the people have been either frozen or exploited despite this 3,854,000,000,000 tons we don't feel so delighted that America stands first in possession of the black diamonds.

The relative figures show plain as a pikestaff that something is radically wrong not only with our economic system, but with the economic system of the entire world. While Americans were suffering from biting cold and could not obtain fuel all winter our railroads were busy carrying coal to Canada which has 1,234, 000,000,000 tons of coal under her own soil. Coal administration failed to check extortionate prices and it completely collapsed in distribution that was anywhere near adequate. The result is a permanently higher level of coal cost for the consumer.

With furnaces about closing and spring buds appearing coal dealers already are warning us that prices next year will be about the same as they are now. True we know—or rather we are advised—there will be no strike, but what does that matter where profits are involved? The dear old public must pay through the nose just the same.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County:

During my present term as Treasurer of this county, I have tried to administer the office in a business-like and efficient manner and in such a way as would save the taxpayers in every possible way. I believe that I have succeeded in this and that my administration will stand the test of the closest scrutiny. In announcing my candidacy for Treasurer of Wicomico County, I trust that the Democratic voters at the coming Democratic Primaries will take this into consideration and that they will ratify my work by endorsing me at the Primaries and by re-electing me in November. My four year's experience as Treasurer has given me an insight into the duties of the office and has thus placed me in a position to give an even better administration than my present term. I am asking the support of the voters of my party on the record I have made, which I feel confident has met with the approval of all who are conversant with the affairs of the County. Treasurer's office during my incumbency.

14-1127 HARRY DENNIS.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

I hereby announce my candidacy for Sheriff of Wicomico County, subject to the Democratic primaries in September of this year. A life long Democrat and resident of the County I feel that my record as a citizen and County official is sufficiently well known to the people to justify my candidacy for a third term. I have endeavored at all times to conscientiously serve the people who honored me with the election to office and it is a matter of pride that I have been twice chosen as their choice for Sheriff of Wicomico County. In this connection, I do not think it is amiss to call the attention of the voters to my record in the past, both as an official and as a Democrat; it is upon that record that I ask your votes in the coming primary, assuring you, that in the event of my election, the same high ideals, the same devotion to duty that has characterized my work in the past, will prevail in my administration for the future.

Faithfully yours,
W. W. Larmore.

IN MEMORIAM.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear mother, Julia A. Roberts, who departed this life one year ago, March 27, 1922.

Gone, but not forgotten;

No one knows our sorrow
Few have seen us weep;
We shed our tears from an aching heart
While others are fast asleep.

We often sit and think of you,
Dear mother when all alone,
For memory is the only thing,
That grief can call its own.

The home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But in one year death has left two vacant chairs,
This world can never fill.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the days of life on earth have fled,
And in Heaven with joy greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Devoted ones, Harry, Richard, Paul

Orphans' Court Sale

OF VALUABLE

Store Stock

By virtue of competent authority, the undersigned as Administratrix of the personal estate of J. Ernest Shockley, late of Wicomico County, Maryland, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction at the front door of the Court House, Salisbury, Maryland, on beginning at or about the hour of two o'clock P. M. 90 shares common stock of The J. E. Shockley Company, a corporation under the laws of the State of Maryland, of the par value of one hundred dollars each.

Saturday, March 31, 1923

There are issued and outstanding 150 shares of this stock, the amount thus to be sold being three-fifths of all shares of stock in the corporation. The par value of the 150 shares of outstanding stock in this corporation is $15,000.00, with surplus as of February 1, 1923, of $56,328.35, according to the audit recently prepared by the Maryland Auditing Company for the fiscal year ending January 31st, 1923.

The audit was based upon the work of two disinterested and competent appraisers agreed upon by interests representing all stockholders and includes a consideration, at present market prices, of real estate, buildings, stock of goods on hand and furniture and fixtures used by the corporation, as well as all items due by the corporation, were furnished the auditor by the present officers of the J. E. Shockley Company. A consideration of the assets and liabilities of the business of this corporation, will convince anyone that this business is a great money maker, and that the person who acquires these 90 shares will own a controlling interest in one of the oldest and best patronized department stores on the Peninsula.

This business was organized in 1886 by the late Samuel H. Carey and Charles J. Birkhead who until 1900 successfully conducted it under the firm name of Birkhead and Carey. At this time, Mr. Carey retired and sold his interest to the late J. Ernest Shockley, who continued in this manner until 1914, at which time Mr. Shockley sold his interest to Mr. Shockley. The business was re-incorporated as the J. E. Shockley Company and has since been conducted without further changes. Throughout the entire period, this business has maintained a steady growth and made money for its owners.

Any prospective purchaser of these shares of stock may inspect the audit recently made, showing in detail the financial condition of this corporation, by calling at the offices of Long & Johnson for that purpose. This will be offered in blocks of 30 shares until the entire lot has been consumed, with the understanding that it is next to be offered as a whole, and if the bid for the entire 90 shares as a whole should exceed the aggregate of the three separate bids, it will be sold as a whole; otherwise the three bids for 30 shares will stand.

TERMS OF SALE
A credit of six months will be given, the same to be secured by a bankable note bearing interest from date of sale, with surety or surties to be approved by the undersigned Administratrix, or all cash on day of sale, at the option of the purchaser or purchasers.

CHILD WELFARE CLINIC OPENS IN PARSONSBURG

Wicomico Red Cross Organization Also Gives Out Clothing—Dental Work Interrupted.

There were eight women and seven children in attendance at the Child Welfare Clinic opened in Parsonsburg March 22nd under the supervision of the local Red Cross and the Parsonsburg Woman's Club. Similar to the clinic started in Marlinton last week, one afternoon a month will be devoted to the examination of children and the instruction of their mothers.

The Red Cross has given out through Mr. Charles Tighman, the school attendance officer, 15 pairs of new shoes, one sweater and two blouses, purchased at a cost of $30.00. Fifty dollars was donated by the Needlework Guild for this purpose.

The Dental Clinic is still doing good work. The Camden School has been completed and next week the East Salisbury primary grade children will be examined. There are 78 children in the East Salisbury school. Two parents have been asked to signify a willingness to have their teeth cleaned and examined. When the clinic was started three weeks ago three Salisbury dentists promised to carry on the work. Two, however, have withdrawn and all the work is now being done by Dr. Burman. The Red Cross is inexpressibly grateful to him for the interest he is playing and the time he is giving.

AT LOGGERSHEADS OVER DRAINAGE OF MILLPOND

Mr. T. H. Mitchell, of the Salisbury Brick Company, has refused, it is said to allow the city to run a culvert under the roadway which crosses his pond for the purpose of draining same although the city officials promised to furnish the materials for same provided it be done under the supervision of the City Engineer.

At the meeting of the Mayor and Council on Monday evening, it was decided to turn this entire matter over to the State Board of Health for any action which they might care to take. This was one of the ponds designated by that body in their drainage program for the eradication of breeding places for the malarial germ.

DO YOU INCREASE your cost of Portland Cement

An unprecedented demand for Atlas exists right now—a demand that cannot be met unless the empty Atlas bags now in users' hands are returned. In the course of a year close to $5,000,000.00 worth of bags are needed by Atlas. This would be a heavy burden on cement users if the bags were not returned and reused, so cutting down the number of new bags needed.

Return your empty Atlas bags promptly to your dealer. Help him, and help us, keep Portland Cement the cheapest of all manufactured products.

EXCERPTS FROM ADDRESS OF KU KLUX KLAN ORATOR AT ARCADE

Plainly Sets Forth Reasons Why Certain People Are Not Eligible To Membership In The Klan—"Americanism," Keynote Of Address.

Dr. Hawkins started his address by giving his hearers some of the objects and purposes of the organization taking up each in turn and showing his audience the real facts, which, he said, had been warped in the public press until the originators could hardly recognize them.

"The objects of this order," he said, "shall be a common brotherhood of strict relations for the purpose of cultivating and promoting real patriotism toward our Civil Government; to practice an honorable clannishness toward each other; to exemplify a practical benevolence; to shield the sanctity of the home and the chastity of womanhood; to maintain white supremacy; to teach and faithfully inculcate a high spiritual philosophy through an exalted ritualism; and by a practical devotedness to conserve, protect and maintain the distinctive institutions, rights, privileges, principles and ideals of a pure Americanism."

"It stands for America first," the speaker said, "first in thought, first in action and first in the galaxy of nation's benevolence in thought, word and deed based upon justice and practically applied to all. To right the wrong; to succor the weak and unfortunate; to help the worthy and to relieve the distressed. Real fraternity practically applied—standing by and sticking to each other in all things honorable. Encouraging, protecting, cultivating and exemplifying the 'real' fraternity human relationship, to shield and enhance each other's happiness and welfare. Devoted, unflinching loyalty to the principles, mission and purposes of the order in promoting the highest and best interest of the community, state and nation."

Dwelling for awhile upon many of the criticisms of the Klan, the Doctor stated that the order was founded upon dependable character.

"It is not an ultra-exclusive institution," he stated, "but its membership is composed of 'picked' men. No man is wanted in this order who hasn't manhood enough to assume a real oath with serious purpose and keep the same inviolate. No man is wanted in this order who will not or cannot swear an unqualified allegiance to the Government of the United States of America, its flag and its Constitution. No man is wanted in this order who does not esteem the Government, civil, political or ecclesiastical, in the whole world. No man is wanted in this order who cannot practice real fraternity towards each and every one of his oath-bound associates. Only native-born American citizens who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion and owe no allegiance of any degree or nature to any foreign government, nation, political institution, sect, people or person, are eligible."

"The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," he continued, "regardless of the statements made by the press, either through ignorance or with the deliberate intent to misrepresent it, has not made, is not now making and does not intend to make any fight on the Roman Catholic Church as a religious institution, but will unflinchingly and unequivocally oppose any move of the Catholic Church or of any other church, individual or organization, which attempts to bring about a combination of church and state in the United States. The Ku Klux Klan does oppose the attitude of the Catholic Church on our public school system, believing that the public schools as institutions should be protected from their enemies regardless of who they may be. The Ku Klux Klan concedes to every man the right to worship God as he sees fit in his own way, or to worship Him not at all, and while it adheres strictly to the tenets of the Christian religion it seeks no quarrel with any individual or organization because of religious differences."

"In its attitude toward the large Jewish population of this country the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan have played square. While its organizers were fully aware that there are thousands of Jewish citizens of the United States whose loyalty to the United States government is unquestioned, and who believe in its principles and institutions, it was decided to draw the line because no member of the Jewish faith, after he came into the organization, could be happy or contented with the fellowship he found on the inside for the very simple reason that the entire teaching of the order is that our present civilization rests upon the teachings of Jesus Christ. At every lodge meeting Jesus Christ is lauded and his teachings expounded and the constitution and regulations of the order set forth that the living Christ is the Klanman's criterion of character. Therefore, even though many Jews could and would qualify for membership in this organization, it would have been unjust to allow the Jew to enter into fellowship with the organization by appealing to his patriotism and then have him cease to attend because every meeting would be out of harmony with his religious convictions. Thus the organization has deprived itself of a large body of members in its determination to 'play the game square' with the Jew as well as the gentile. We understand that the Jews in this country have their own patriotic organizations, through which loyalty to the United States government, its flag and all that it represents is constantly being instilled into the minds and hearts of the members of their race and with these organizations we are in thorough and hearty accord."

Next taking up the negro, the Doctor said:

"The Ku Klux Klan is not an enemy of the negro. It opposes and will continue to oppose, the efforts of certain organizations and periodicals which are sowing the seeds of discontent and racial hatred among the negroes of this country by teaching and teaching social equality. We believe it is possible for the races to live together in peace and unity only upon conditions that each race recognizes the rights and privileges of the other. Yet, we hold that it is obligatory upon the negro race, and upon all other colored races in America, to recognize that they are living in the land of the white race, and by courtesy of the white race, and that the white race cannot be expected to surrender to any other race, either in whole or in part, the control of its vital and fundamental governmental affairs."

HARMONY SCHOLARS TO HAVE OWN BUILDING

Will Raise Funds By Popular Subscription—Local Business Man Donates $500 To Fund.

After having been denied the use of Freely Schoolhouse, Delmar Road, by order of the Board of Education, and being without a place of worship, the members of that Sunday School have decided to erect a building of their own.

Through the urgent solicitation of a prominent business man of Salisbury who kindly offered to give $500, the members of Harmony Sabbath School have decided to build a suitable house, to be located on the Hampshire Farm on the state highway between the Freely School House and Leonard's Mill.

Some other funds have been provided as well as labor and materials but still further assistance is needed in the enterprise and it is hoped to raise the remainder needed by popular subscription.

It will be provided in the Constitution and By-Laws of Harmony S. S. Association, that should this building ever cease to be used for Sabbath School purposes, in a non-sectarian manner, for a stated period of time, then it shall be sold and the proceeds given to some needy charitable institution. An executive board of five members, composed of C. J. Hummel, president; J. H. Hampshire, vice president; Charles Robinson, treasurer; R. H. Hampshire, secretary; and Orlando Bounds, are authorized to secure the necessary funds, and to construct this building; with the assistance of a soliciting committee of seven ladies, viz: Mrs. Charles Robinson, Miss Eleanor Hummel, Mrs. Leonard Melick, Mrs. Orlando Bounds, Mrs. John Horsman, Mrs. Georgia Bennett and Mrs. Russell Green.

Anyone desiring to contribute may do so to any member of the executive board, or soliciting committee.

BUILDING BOOM ON IN TOWN OF DELMAR

Spring Will Witness More Construction Of Homes In Md.-Del. Railroad Center Than Ever Before.

A building boom of such proportions as never before witnessed in the history of the town of Delmar is on at the present time and is expected to continue through the spring and summer. Indications are that about 30 new residences will be erected.

George L. Long, one of Delmar's progressive business men has just completed and disposed of six new homes with all modern improvements situated on Jewell street. These homes are of the popular type and sell for something like $5,500 each.

Among other new homes either under construction or recently completed are: one for Luther Workman, a clerk in the yard office of the P. R. R., new bungalow on Grove Street, which he recently occupied, and those of Walter Henry on Jewell street and Dr. H. E. Leates on Grove street which are just being started. G. E. Moore has just bought a lot on Jewell street and intends building soon.

Delmar is a progressive little town and indicative of that in the fact that most of the residents own their own homes.

The stimulus lent building this spring, citizens aver, is due to the fact that the railroad business is increasing month by month and as the town is strictly a railroad one, the effect is bound to show up in its general prosperity.

SGT. SHARP DOES FINE PIECE OF POLICE WORK

Former Commander Sub-station "E" Arrests Bandits 12 Minutes After Case Is Reported To Laurel.

After having held up a man at the point of a revolver tied him to a tree, rifled his pockets and made off with his auto on the Washington Boulevard Howard county, last week, the three bandits were arrested just 12 minutes after the affair was reported to State Police headquarters, Laurel.

Accomplishing this wonderful piece of police work was Sergeant A. D. Sharp, well known in this city where he was commander for some time of sub-station "E." Sergeant Sharp located the machine, in which were the bandits, and fired then leaped aboard of it before the men could do a thing.

LOCAL POSTAL WORKERS OVER IN BALTIMORE

General Annual Convention Last Week And Hear Postmaster-General H. R. New Deliver Address—Representatives of Employees—Postmaster R. H. Phillips Heads Local Delegation.

Postmaster R. H. Phillips and Mrs. Phillips, Assistant Postmaster, H. W. Owens and Mrs. Owens and Messrs. E. V. Sears, F. S. Fisher and A. Blaney Johnson, representing the Salisbury postoffice, attended the meeting in Baltimore last week at the conference of Maryland postal employees. On Friday they heard the address of Postmaster-General Harry S. New which was as follows:

My fellow Public Servants: I am glad to take advantage of this, my first opportunity to appear before you at these conventions of postoffice employees. I am sorry that I cannot claim responsibility for their origin, for I am sure they result in great benefit to the service, both to the employees who render it, and to the public which receives it. There is wisdom in counsel and good comes from contact with those with whom we are associated in a great work. It has been so often said that the United States Postoffice Department is the greatest business institution in the world that it is perhaps the most important, but there can be no harm in repeating a truth, and it is well that we should all realize the magnitude of the job with which we are connected. Few people appreciate the extent and character of the service rendered by the Postoffice Department. The average individual places a 2-cent stamp on a letter, drops it in the box and dismisses the matter from his mind until time for him to receive an answer, but those in the service know that each letter, each post card, each article or parcel passing through the mails is handled many times before it reaches its destination. The citizen does not realize that someone somewhere, each day, each hour, each minute of the year is helping him transact his business. In postoffices, on trains, in the hands of carriers, post office employees carrying out his wishes, and I believe it to be the common and the righteous judgment that no where and by no one are his interests more faithfully and more efficiently served than by the army of men and women who are engaged in the collection, transmission and speedy delivery of the mails.

To successfully carry on any business, system is necessary. To carry on one of the magnitude of the Postoffice Department, the system must be developed to the highest possible degree, and from the opportunities I have had in the brief time I have been connected with the service, I am persuaded that no where has system been more highly perfected, and no where more rigidly observed and respected than it is in the transmission of the mails. It may be of interest to you to know that this great organization of which we are members handles over thirteen billion letters each year—about one million eight hundred thousand every hour. It transports a total of three billion parcels. The Department has the largest savings bank in the world, with over five hundred thousand depositors. We use sixty-five million mail sacks; about a million miles of twice each year—enough to go around the earth 35 or 40 times. But to multiply these interesting, stupendous figures is to multiply unnecessary, astonishing as they are.

I have not come here to deliver an address. I am too new to the service to enter upon that task becomingly, but a few things I want to say, first and foremost of which is that I want to believe, and I believe that I shall have the cordial good will and hearty cooperation of all who are associated with me in the public service, as they shall in turn have mine. It has always been my endeavor and my good fortune to be on terms of real friendship with all those with whom I have ever been associated in my life. I want to see the condition of every man and woman in the service just as good as I want my own to be. Each and every one of us has sworn to faithfully serve the Government, and I am confident that all will keep that pledge. Permit me to impress upon you that you are the personal representatives of the Postmaster General. You are part of a great organization whose motto is "Service". You are part of a great family that is working that every citizen of this country may be benefited. Active, earnest cooperation is necessary every day. Whenever it is possible to cut red tape, when it interferes with giving the service we feel should be given, we are going to do it. Of course, in an organization the size of this, there must be rules and broad prescriptions. Let's observe them as faithfully as we can, but let us also consider the wonderful fidelity to his Government of the man who plows through the snows of winter; who covers his route "neath the blazing rays of the mid-summer sun. It must be realized that these men are not actuated by an undue regard for the amount called for by their pay check. No Government employment carries with it large financial return. I think that, as a rule, Government salaries are inadequate, but to most of us there is a consideration that it is worth while in the fact that we are serving our Government.

Let me repeat the expression of my hope and purpose to do all I can to see to it that the great postoffice system of the United States is carried on by a force as well satisfied as it is efficient, and to that end I pledge—as I ask in return—the promise of that loyal cooperation which has been given my predecessors.

MINE PROPS HELP SUPPORT THE "SHORE"

Return To Lumberman In 1922 Along N.Y.P. & N. Over $600,000—5,000 Carloads Shipped—Best Timber Of Peninsula Goes Into Piles Yielding $200,000 Yearly.

There is one crop on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia that is not affected by frost or fickle weather. Mine props are to be reckoned on when money is needed. From Harrington, Del., through Maryland to Exmore, Va., the harvest is continuous with the greatest demand in early winter, just after the close of the farm work.

In the closing of the 1922 year the return to lumbermen of this section alongside the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad was more than $600,000. More than 5,000 cars went to the anthracite coal regions in Pennsylvania lying between Tamaqua and Scranton. Unlike other forest products "props" are sold by the ton, bringing between $3.50 and $4 a ton. From 500 to 600 people and as many horses are engaged in cutting and hauling the props.

A prop is cut in lengths from 18 feet to 40 feet, with a minimum thickness in the middle of six inches. They are shipped "as they run", and at the mines are cut to lengths needed. It is an erroneous impression that props hold the roof of a mine from falling. They are used to support a weak place in the roof. A scale or a chunk may appear to be dangerous. It is propped up as a temporary safety device. The requirement of a prop is solidity and six inches in diameter.

The locally grown pine comes into its own as a mine prop. Fifteen years ago wise heads saw the passing of the "Shore" forests. One of the large shippers of props was asked how long the timber would sustain the drag that is now going on. "Well," said he, "I can see but little change in the past 10 years, but it won't go on forever, and if I had some unproductive land I would put it in loblolies; sure of an 8 to 10 per cent. return."

Much Shipped By Water
At least 7,000 cars are moved from North Carolina tidewater sections up the Chesapeake, through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal to Philadelphia, where they are transferred to cars. One mining company is taking 7,000 cars this year from the Tar Heel State.

The best of the timber on the Peninsula today is going into piles. More than 1,000 carloads have gone into Philadelphia alone. This branch of the industry adds about $200,000 a year to the wealth of the "Shore." From Georgetown, south in Delaware, and Salisbury, south in Maryland, the bulk of the props are shipped. Georgetown and Selbyville, Del.; Salisbury, Snow Hill, Stockton and Pocomoke, Md., are principal shipping points, but wherever one goes down in this country he sees a side track with a toy derrick beside it, most often hard at work loading props or piles.

TWO INCOMES

When John D. Rockefeller was a struggling young bookkeeper in Cleveland he laid the foundation for his now great fortune by putting into operation a very old but positive law of success.

He wasn't satisfied with a $9 per week salary. He naturally wanted more—but he had only one pair of hands—and one head. So he saved AND PUT MONEY TO WORK for him—his savings. Then he had TWO incomes—instead of one.

Two incomes are better than one. Your wage, salary or crop profit may be fine—but when money comes to you in the form of interest—as well as the other—then you are on the road to a comfortable old age.

$500,000 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock The Pan-American Lumber & Mfg. Co.

Par Value $100 Per Share
with privilege of subscribing to an equal number of shares no par common at $17.50 a share.

Preferred callable at 105 and accumulated dividends.

CAPITALIZATION
7% Cumulative Preferred Stock	Authorized	Outstanding
Common Stock (no par)	$500,000	$500,000
	25,000 shs.	25,000 shs.

Facts concerning the company are summarized as follows from a letter addressed to Stockholders by Mr. Joseph P. Smith, President.

HISTORY: Business was founded in 1920 and incorporated in following year under laws of State of Delaware. Property consists of 44,800 acres timber land with estimated stumpage of 448,000,000 feet; and plantations at Baracoa in Province of Oriente, Cuba, which was purchased at a low figure during the sugar depression of 1920.

BUSINESS: Operations of company consist in cutting and shipping mahogany and other timber to Havana, New York and other markets. Two navigable rivers and deep water harbor, which accommodates ocean going steamers, furnish ample facilities of shipment. Native labor is obtainable at a low scale of wages. Company also has 300 acres in bananas, coconut and cocon, which bear 12 months in the year and require no special care and equipment.

ASSETS: Assets consist of 44,800 acres of timber land valued at $25 an acre or $1,120,000. This will be owned in fee simple after the present mortgage of $140,000 is paid off from proceeds of present financing. Cash on hand is $18,000, equipment $28,000. Only outstanding obligation is aforesaid mortgage and current bills of less than $2,500.

EARNINGS: Net profits in 1922 at a low rate of operation were $63,000 or nearly twice dividend requirements on the Preferred Stock. Earnings in first three months of 1923 amounted to $17,300 from sale of lumber and sale of fruit will bring in an additional $7,500. (Reported to New York office quarterly only). This is at an annual rate of $99,200. Earnings during the latter part of the year will be materially increased with additional equipment and working capital. Orders on hand will show profits upwards of $80,000.

MANAGEMENT: Management is composed of experienced lumbermen who hold the majority of the common stock. (More detailed in Circular).

PROSPECTS: Consumption of mahogany in the United States at present is at the rate of 47,000,000 feet per year according to the U. S. Lumber Division, Department of Commerce. Demand for this wood is in excess of supply and company can sell all lumber cut, at a good profit. It is estimated that with new working capital and equipment annual shipments will be approximately 6,000,000 feet of all kinds of lumber and timber which will bring approximately $600,000 net profits annually. In addition it is planned to increase fruit plantation from 500 to 1,000 acres per year, as land is cleared of timber, ultimately bringing total planting up to 10,000 acres. Income from fruit this year will be approximately $48,000. The company does not enter into competition with the larger fruit companies, but sells its entire output to them under annual contract. From this estimate it can be seen that earnings will probably be at the rate of $20.00 a share on 25,000 shares no par common.

REDEMPTION OF PREFERRED: It is the purpose of the company if possible to retire the 7% Preferred Stock out of earnings at the rate of about $100,000 a year, eventually leaving no obligations ahead of the common. Since Preferred will be called by lot at 105% and accrued dividends thus giving a yield ranging from 12% to 8% on stock redeemed within the next five years. Current dividends on Preferred now outstanding are being paid quarterly.

All legal matters pertaining to this issue have been passed upon by Robert Ferguson, Esq., Wilmington, Delaware, Counsel for the Company.

Price of Preferred—$100.00 PER SHARE.
Purchasers of the Preferred stock may subscribe simultaneously to an equal number of shares of Common stock at $17.50 per share.

Punchettes

There is but one way to stabilize the world's currency and bring commercial progress. That is to fix definitely and finally the indemnity that Germany is to pay. That indemnity when fixed should be underwritten And when underwritten it would become valuable commercial paper throughout the world.

As an illustration: Suppose they say that Germany shall pay twenty billion gold dollars, which would be a very reasonable amount. Germany could pay that amount, but she should be given sixty or eighty years in which to pay it. Suppose we say eighty years. Then, she would have to pay $250,000,000 a year.

If you fix the note at twenty billion dollars, turn the note over and let England and America endorse it, then it becomes worth face value throughout the world and would be a good investment for any individual or for any country. America could afford with the amount of money to guarantee the payment of $250,000,000 per year to France and Belgium.

Looked at from a selfish standpoint it would be worth commercially a thousand times that amount of money to America and England. Fix the amount of money to America and England. Fix the amount definitely and finally. Give Germany eighty years in which to pay it, endorse her note for that amount, underwrite her securities, and let her begin to reconstruct her commercial institutions and to enter the marts of the world. This is a plain, simple, commonsense method of establishing commercial peace, progress and prosperity. Away with the selfish Pharisees who refuse to adopt this policy. Put it into effect. Let America take her place as the leader of the world.

SABBATH NIGHT IN NANTICOKE
By Alfred Tomson

Dedicated to Rev. B. P. Moore, pastor, M. E. Church, Nanticoke, Md.

A haze hangs o'er the river,
The moon in the eastern sky
Sheds far abroad night's glory,
And here in a charm stands I.

A still, inspiring silence,
Has spread a sweet calm supreme
And clothed the town this Sabbath
With peace and joy serene.

A church bell in the distance
Calls me to the holy shrine—
Calls villagers and stranger,
To prayers in the house divine.

As I approach its portals,
I think of an Eastern town
Where John and Jesus worshipped
And peace as a dove came down.

Inside, before the altar,
I bowed with an humble head,
And sought in supplication—
May I by thy light be led.

I thought of church and pastor—
His work, his high aims held up,
And prayed unto God the Father:
"With oil, fill this good man's cup."

Outdoors again I wandered,
And found the night immune
From sin and pain as mortals
Who ever with God commune.

Telephone Growth in Maryland

The value of telephone service to the user is dependent upon the number of telephones with which he can communicate. If there were no other telephones to talk to, the service would be of no value. This is peculiar to a telephone system; in no other utility is the value of the service to one patron dependent upon how many other patrons there may be.

As cities, towns and communities grow, the requirements of the telephone user expand, and the Company must meet these requirements by adding new subscribers to the system.

To attract these new subscribers, it must furnish a high standard of service at reasonable rates. The remarkable growth in telephones in the State of Maryland, as shown by the accompanying chart, we believe is evidence that the Company has met these requirements reasonably well.

The future requirements must always be planned for well in advance. This chart also shows the estimated number of telephones in Maryland at the end of 1927. We are now making provision for the growth during this next five years.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

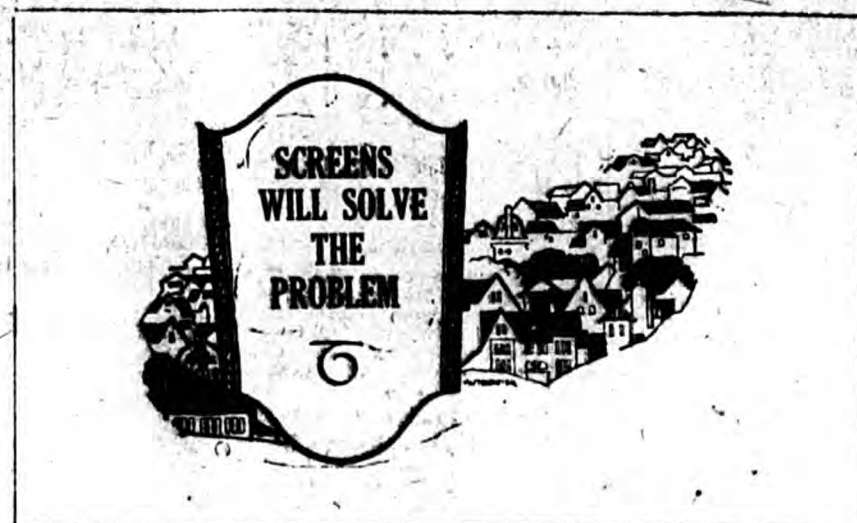

Medina, N. Y.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the 'Buffalo Times' about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. Adkins, 311 Erie Road, Medina, N. Y.

Feels Like Girl Sixteen
Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. NELLIE DORRIS, 15 Stone Park, Rochester, N. Y.

Dirty, Dangerous Disease Carriers

THE BEST REMEDY

Health Authorities say that by all odds the cheapest and most effective means yet found for successfully combating the Fly Evil is thorough screening of the home and places where food is handled from April 1st to December 1st and swatting at least once a day the few stray flies that dodge in as the doors are opened.

It is not sufficient to screen the doors and windows of the kitchen and dining-room or of the downstairs only. The back porch, where much of the food is prepared, should by all means be screened. Again it is quite important that the upstairs windows be screened, as incoming flies will follow the scent of savory or cooking foods and come down the stairway in discouraging numbers.

REEDVILLE

An electric driven bookkeeping machine has been ordered for the Peoples Bank, Reedville. It is the newest type in the Burroughs machine, 100 per cent perfect, costing a little more than $1,000 and differing from the old machine now used in the fact that it is electric. The bank officials are also thinking of installing a sound-proof telephone booth in the building soon.

The Fashion Shop, Reedville, was thronged with visitors on the opening days last week and the beautiful show in the Dey Building on South Main Street forms quite an attractive center. Never have we enjoyed so wide a field in the hat and bonnet line.

Miss Sallie Haynie, of Reedville and Mr. Sanders, of Warsaw are in charge of the shop.

The Senior Willing Circle was entertained by Miss Ophelia Williams, of this place last Friday evening. The rain poured in torrents but did not prevent a large attendance of the young people. A very pleasant and interesting meeting was reported.

Cream and cake was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the business session. A fine year's work has been done by the Circle.

A full house greeted Bishop James Cannon at Bethany Sunday morning, listening with strict attention and interest to his splendid sermon. The Bishop says he does not use the word "splendid" often, but we think it could certainly be applied in this case.

Rev. and Mrs. Evans entertained Bishop Cannon also Mr. and Mrs. Cannon, of Fairfield High School at the parsonage for dinner.

We are glad to know that Mr. T. J. Williams and his mother-in-law, Mrs. T. A. Jett, who have been quite sick with the grip at their home on the Tibitha road, are now much better.

Miss Miriam and Thomas also of the household were sick, but are well again.

Editor Morgan, of Warsaw, was in our midst for the past week-end attending service at Bethany, Sunday morning. As usual he was a very pleasant and welcome guest.

We are glad that Miss Mary Blackwell continues to improve. She is now able to sit up in bed for a little while each day. The family appreciate so deeply the love and attention which a host of friends have displayed for them and their beloved daughter during her illness.

Miss Mildred Towles, from Goucher College, is here for the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Towles.

The annual "Hen Social" was held at Bethany on Tuesday last by the Missionary Society of the church. A number of ladies were in attendance and a gentleman of two accepted the generously extended invitation to partake of the most abundant dinner which was served.

A program was rendered and a very successful day reported. A number contributed the value of a hen in cash and still there were bidders enough to ship at the close of the day.

Mr. J. W. McAloney, has been sick the past week to the sorrow of many. We hope he may soon improve.

Mrs. Thomas L. Cockrell, of Melville, near Lillian, Mrs. Wm. H. Russell and little Miss Mary Tallafiero Russell, of Mills, were shopping here Thursday.

Dr. L. E. Cockrell, Mrs. Cockrell, Agnes Burgess and Loren, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. Eugene Cockrell in Fredericksburg, motoring up from Reedville in the Doctor's new Coupe. Eugene is still taking the Pasteur treatment and though the effect is not very pleasant he is doing very well, to the joy of many friends here.

Miss Laura O. Crowther, of Water View, Tibitha, is at home, coming on the steamer Saturday morning. She has had a most delightful visit with relatives in Baltimore and Washington.

Miss Lydia Bristow, Misses Lola and Charlotte White, all R. H. S. teachers, spent the past week-end in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Davis, Capt. and Mrs. I. M. Brunsells and little daughter, Mary, all of Fleeton, were in Baltimore part of last week. Mr. Davis stopped over in Crisfield returning.

Messrs. Grady Crosswell and Delmar Haynie, came in on the Anne Arundel Saturday morning from Baltimore. Delmar has recently finished his business course he was taking.

A number of our fishermen were caught at their traps in the bay by the terrible storm last week, but none fared so badly as did the Tangier trappers who were given up as lost and searching parties out combing the waters next day for their bodies, when the missing men came sailing into port amid cheers from a sympathetic populace. Nearly all of the Chesapeake traps are out, but very few fish have been caught. The packing houses are in readiness and the fish scale men are getting their places open. At Blundon and Hinton's, The Baroda Pearl Co., of New York will operate again. Mr. Killoran, the pioneer scale man here will be found in the Meyer Bros., laboratories. Several other places will probably buy scales down the creek.

Mr. G. N. Reed, of this place, spent last week in Richmond with Dr. H. W. Randolph and family. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hinton and little daughter, returned with Mr. Reed, Thursday. Mr. Hinton is very much improved in health and many friends are hoping he will soon be perfectly well.

Mr. Vernon McNeal, of the University of Virginia is at his home in Fairport for a few days.

ROYAL OAK

Mrs. Everett White, of Nanticoke, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Augustus Crockett.

A horse belonging to Mr. Tubman Dashiell had the misfortune of cutting its foot very badly with a piece of tin while hauling wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, of Fredericksburg, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Phippin.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Cooper have returned home after spending two weeks with relatives at Wango and Parsonsburg.

FISHING AT SHARPTOWN NOW ON—BUT OCCUPATION DOES NOT ATTRACT AS IT DID NEARLY A HALF CENTURY AGO

Leaving Year Around Work For Few Weeks Fishing Is Not Considered Remunerative—Fishermen Float Seines From Delaware Line To Below Vienna

The fishing season is now on in the waters of the Nanticoke river, but the season does not mean as much as it did forty years ago. While the methods of catching have improved the number of fish has greatly diminished. Not half as many boats and seines are used as were used a few years ago. To discontinue regular work for a few weeks fishing means a loss to most laborers. Sharptown has always been a good fishing landing, even before the town began to grow, people from the outlying sections would erect shanties in which to live during the fishing season. The haul seine was a device made with twine and the weir was the first wooden trap used. This was rather unique in its construction. Trees, straight grain and straight growth were cut logs out of twelve feet long and these were driven into small sticks, say about half inch in diameter. These were plated together in rolls with oak splits about three feet long and finely riven long enough for a pocket in a weir and were set on end in the mud and supported by poles, formed into hedges, pockets, wells and mouths.

These weirs were set especially for herring, but quite a variety of fish would be caught. These traps were set close to the shore, near what was called low water mark and fished every morning. They were usually owned in partnership, two or more persons owning them. A man who owned the timber would get a partner who understood the work of making and setting. These have all disappeared and the nearest in construction is the fish pound made of twine, costing ten times more, but not much better means of catching fish than the old method. The long haul seines have long since gone out of use and the stick seine and the float seine are the traps used for herring and shad outside the pound.

Fishermen here float their seines for shad from the Delaware line just above the town to I-wis' wharf below Vienna sometimes below that point if shad are plentiful. Fishermen do not confine their work to day fishing but as the tide and weather are favorable. They do not fish on Sundays. It is indeed a very rare sight to see a barge or seine light before midnight on Sunday nights, but by one o'clock on Monday mornings fishermen may be seen fishing and usually reel their seines on Saturday afternoon.

This season there are only nine or ten fishing crafts from this point, when only a few years ago there would be four times as many. These crafts carry from one to two new seines and from two to four old ones, two men with each boat. The fishing outfit is very expensive as compared with a few years ago. A new seine will last from one to two years with care and then patched up for one or two seasons, but the water seems to rot the twine and when a seine begins to tear it is soon laid aside.

Edward Lowe is the only fisherman here who has pounds. J. P. Marshall has a few pounds near but lives at Riverton and makes that point his headquarters. The fish are sold or shipped daily to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York markets. Herring are sold in large quantities to the adjoining farming sections, either peddled out or the farmers drive in by engagement and get them. Some families salt down hundreds of them for use in summer and fall and are considered very healthy food. Few shad are salted in this community. They are all practically sold when fresh from the water. Thousands of small fish are thrown back into the water after being caught to grow larger. The fishing lasts from the first or middle of March until the first of May. There are two kinds of herring caught here, the branch and gut herring, the branch coming first, but the gut is considered the best for general use.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

Manufacturing continues at a good pace but there has been a slight let up in wholesale and jobbing business. Trade at retail assisted by bargain sales and Easter buying is much improved but on the whole not more than fair. Freight rates are heavy and transportation facilities better than a month ago. Competition continues very keen with prices as a rule holding firm. Good staple goods are in much better demand while the local stock market is more active. The call for money for legitimate business expansion is on the increase but bank credits are anything but liberal. Automobile financing forms a very considerable portion of the business of commercial banking at this time. Trade in new cars has improved and during the past week there has been a general advance of ten per cent in tires. More open weather has greatly assisted all out of

STATE FARMS BEING TAXED VERY LIGHTLY

Only Two States Have Better Showing In Report Of Government—85 Cents Acre Last Year—Virginia Also Makes Favorable Appearance, With Less Than Average Rate.

Only two states have a more favorable report than that of Maryland on taxes on farm lands last year as compared with those of eight years ago, according to an announcement by the Department of Agriculture. This announcement shows that, as an average for the entire country, farm land taxes were 71 cents an acre in 1922, as compared with 31 cents in 1914, or an increase of 126 per cent.

In 21 States taxes on farm lands have more than doubled during the last eight years, while in two States—Arkansas and Colorado—they have more than tripled, the survey shows. In 17 States, including Maryland, the percentage of increase was lower than the average percentage for the country as a whole.

Increase in 1914 70 Per Cent
Farm land taxes in Maryland last year were 85 cents an acre, according to the announcement, as compared with 50 cents in 1913-14, or an increase of 70 per cent. Rhode Island is the only State showing a smaller percentage of increase, but at that its total tax is higher than that of Maryland. The Rhode Island tax in year was 99 cents, as compared with 68 cents in 1913-14, or an increase of 68 per cent.

Arizona, the only other State making a more favorable report than that of Maryland, showed no increase in taxation upon farm lands for the last eight years, during which period the tax remained at 7 cents an acre.

Virginia's Increase 76 Per Cent.
Virginia also showed favorably in the survey, the increase in taxation of farm lands in the Old Dominion during the eight years being only 76 per cent or less than the average increase for the country as a whole. The Virginia tax last year was 34 cents as compared with 20 cents in 1913-14.

"The increase," says the announcement of the Department of Agriculture, commenting upon the report for the entire country, "is attributed in part to a disproportionate increase in assessed valuation, based on high land prices during and following the war, and in part to increased cost of State and local government."

New Jersey Is Highest.
"Highest farm land taxes," it continues, "are paid in New Jersey, which shows a tax of $2.22 an acre in 1922, compared with 96 cents in 1914. Arizona pays the smallest tax of 7 cents an acre in both 1922 and 1914."

"Indiana a tax of $2.09 was levied in 1922, compared with 90 cents in 1914; Michigan, $1.58, compared with 66 cents; Iowa, $1.49, compared with 68 cents; Ohio, $1.24, compared with 61 cents; Illinois, $1.23, compared with 56 cents; Wisconsin, $1.23, compared with 55 cents; Massachusetts, $1.20, compared with 65 cents; New York, $1.13, compared with 59 cents; and Pennsylvania, $1.11, compared with 58 cents. Taxes in all other States were less than $1 an acre in 1922, ranging from 16 cents in Montana, to 29 cents, in Connecticut. In 1914 the

Mr. DeWitt gave a very interesting talk on general battery manufacturing methods of moulding the grids, acids and electrodes used, active materials of positive and negative plates, wood insulation and the porosity of same, threaded rubber insulation and the advantages of same over wood due to its even porosity, how to distinguish voltage and amperage, charging and recharging of automobile batteries, discharging tests to determine defects in used batteries, condition of batteries due to use and abuse, the importance of distilled water and general use of batteries.
