150 FRESHMAN ENROLLMENT

Faculty Changes

For those of us who have been to S.T.C. in previous years, the first week of school is a time for renewing old acquaintances and making many new ones. These friends, however, are not confined solely to the fellow members of the student body. They include our faculty, the members of which, through the passing of time, become real dependable friends of all.

During this year, we will probably miss some old friends, but on the other hand, may make some excellent new ones. During the summer we have lost two faculty members and gained three.

Mrs. Francis B. Fleming of Salisbury, formerly a member of the college faculty, has been appointed to the position as assistant in student personnel, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Margaret H. Black. Miss Black has joined the counseling staff of the University of Delaware. Mrs. Fleming received the B.S. degree from State Teachers College at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and the M.A. from George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Paul Coffman, popular math teacher, is to be replaced by the very capable Mr. Frank D. White. Mr. Cauffman has accepted the position of Associate Professor and Head of the Mathematics Department at Shippensburg State Teachers College, his former Alma Mater. Mr. White's training consists of an A.B. from Randolph Macon, an A.M. from Duke, and work toward his P.H.D. at the University of Kentucky. Mr. White's professional experience also includes a teaching position at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., where he had been employed since 1946. His wife will remain in Huntington for the remainder of this semester, as she is also teaching there.

Third, but by no means least, is the appointment of Miss May Truitt of Salisbury to the position of assistant librarian. Miss Truitt received her A.B. and L.L.B. degrees from the U. of Md., and the M.A. degree from Columbia U. School of Library Service. She has been a member of the staff of the New York public library for the past year. Miss Truitt is also a member of the Wilcomico County Bar Association.

C. of L. Hits S.T.C.

With a great amount of reluctance, your Snack Bar Committee has been forced to advance prices on several food items. That demon, H.C.L. (High Cost of Living), has reared its head and bared its fangs menacingly enough to make these new prices imperative. In an effort to keep our Snack Bar from concluding the coming year with a deficit, certain other revisions in the operating procedure have been adopted, among which is a change in its hours of operation. A survey has revealed that during the hours immediately following dinner, the student desire for refreshments has heretofore been negligible and, therefore, in an effort to economize, operation has been suspended from 7 to 8:30 nightly, with the exception of those evenings when school or civic functions are using the school facilities.

During its hours of operating, still in the interest of economy, an effort will be made to provide adequate service with just one attendant. The cooperation and understanding of the student body is earnestly solicited in this venture and it is hoped that its cooperation will include lightening the burden of the individual on duty by helping to keep the tables free of refuse, and by returning empty cups to the counter.

Library News

Mrs. Chaires, the Librarian, has announced several additions to the library in the form of books, stacks, and a new assistant librarian. Several new books were added during the summer months. Books dealing with the teaching of students, fiction books, and many that may be used in almost every class you are enrolled in are included in the new list. There are approximately three hundred new books.

To the upper classmen who are familiar with the library, a few changes in appearance can be noted. Many new stacks have been rearranged to make more space. The library is crowded now, but at the next legislative meeting a new library building will be requested.

Miss Mae Truitt has been appointed to position of assistant librarian. Miss Truitt has been admitted to the Maryland bar. Later she attended Columbia University to get her Masters Degree in library work.

Mrs. Cooper is now in charge of the library in the Campus School. For the first time the Campus School has a special librarian. This will be a full time job when the new library is built. Mrs. Cooper will also do alumni work, in which she is greatly interested.

Welcome to Freshmen

New Day Room

In an effort to provide a more suitable place for the day students to spend their leisure (?) hours, Mr. Holsberg, your Student Government Association President, has been spending hours securing furniture and other articles suitable for the redecoration of the Boy Scout room in the South wing of the building. The present plans include comfortable couches and, among other things, a radio, making this room an ideal place to sit back and enjoy the world series broadcasts. As yet, however, the room has not been completely renovated. Watch the bulletin boards for opening day.

Book Store News

By now the college bookstore is of necessity a frequent gathering place for most of S.T.C.'s new students. Nevertheless, it might be of value to point out that besides carrying books and school supplies, the bookstore maintains an assortment of jewelry, including cuff links, bracelets, pins, and rings. What sports equipment is now in stock will be sold and not replaced. This does not include shirts and jackets and shorts. An exact schedule as to when the bookstore will be opened has not as yet been completed, but as near as possible it will be around the noon hour, and average three hours a day. John O'Brien, who will manage the bookstore and mail office, reminds all students that when desired books become sold out at the bookstore, the student must reorder it and make a 50% of cost deposit on the desired book.

Regarding letters and packages, the former will be placed in the mail boxes when received (usually between 11:15 and 12:00 a.m.). A "package" slip indicates a package to be received at the bookstore.

College Qualification Tests

This year, as in the two years previous, the Selective Service College Qualification Test will be administered here at the college. The dates set for this school year are Thursday, December 4, 1952, and Thursday, April 23, 1953. Further information concerning these tests will be released when received by the registrar. Please watch the Bulletin board for such information.

The doors of the State Teachers College opened this year to admit well over 100 new, and, as usual, very confused freshmen. They were met, however, by the traditional hospitality of the school, an example of which is the following address written by the President of our institution, Dr. J. D. Blackwell.

"Never in the history of the college has so much effort been expended in making and executing plans for the orientation of incoming freshmen by members of the faculty working cooperatively with upper classmen. Beginning with the Open House to the freshmen of August 13, incoming students were given an opportunity to meet and select roommates as well as to inspect the college building and grounds. The men's new dormitory and reconditioned women's dormitory were inspected by the visitors.

Registration Week included in addition to routine registering, provision for executing standard tests, the results of which should be far reaching. Social functions provided each freshman opportunity to meet other freshmen, and upperclassmen. Orientation will continue at least until November 7, when parents, faculty and students will, during the annual dinner program, exchange views as to what each of the groups expects of the other respective groups. The results of the improved type of orientation will be seen only at time of the 1956 Commencement Exercises, when, we trust, most of the present freshmen will be graduated. May we as faculty members with the Student Government work in cooperation for a greater S.T.C."

We of the Holly Leaf wish to join Dr. Blackwell in welcoming these new members into our college life. We will endeavor to help make your college life pleasant and enjoyable, but there are two things which must be remembered. College is not all play, and you will only get as much out of it as you put into it, whether it be in the educational or recreational fields. Let us all, therefore, work together to produce a pleasant, as well as intellectually profitable, college life.

Orchids To

Last year's junior class for the magnificent job they did on the Senior Ball.

The Social Committee for the work they have done in welcoming the freshmen.

Tom Williams for being instrumental in organizing the "Gull Wing."

SOCIAL PREVIEW

The Social Committee would like to welcome all the new students to S.T.C. and to say that they hope you all have enjoyed the activities of the past week.

There are other activities planned for the coming semester, and any ideas or suggestions that anyone has for new activities will be greatly appreciated. Please give these suggestions to any member of the Social Committee.

This coming semester there will be two formal dances, the first of which will be the Harvest Dance on November 14, sponsored by the Sophomore Class. Before this dance, there will be elections for the Harvest Queen, who is chosen from the girls in the student body. The Senior Class is in charge of the next dance which will be held on December 12, previous to Christmas vacation.

Homecoming is the "big day" at S.T.C. when all our old friends return, and that day is one of exciting activity. There is an "open house" in both dormitories, a soccer game, and a dance. The date of homecoming is October 11, 1952.

During the semester we have the soccer games, which always are exciting, and, also included in the activity calendar, are the Snack Bar shows which are presented by students who are interested in entertaining. Anyone who

AS THE EDITORS SEE IT

By INGRID ESTERSON

If this college had eyes, and senses, and could think and feel, we are sure it would be amazed (and proud) today. It would be thinking that it has never felt so many feet in its halls, heard so many books rustling open on its desks, or seen so many, many new faces! And it would welcome them all—as we do now.

This looks like a record-breaking year, with such a fine enrollment, particularly our Freshman Class. We sincerely hope that this, the freshmen's first year of college, will open all kinds of wise paths to happiness; that they will find here lasting friendships, confidence and security. These new students bring interesting influences—broadening our college's influence and outlook.

Remember that just as we are citizens of the United States before we are citizens of our home state, so are we all fellow students of State Teachers before we are freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors—and we should work together for the universal college aims, enlightenment and

Your S.G.A.

We of S.T.C. extend to our new friends and fellow members of the S.G.A. an enthusiastic and sincere welcome. May we be reminded, as we begin this new year, that through a good government by the students an opportunity is presented for all of us to enjoy a richer living through broader knowledge and through the amplification of our ability to live cooperatively with each other.

May we further be reminded that we ARE S.T.C. The people within its walls are its breath and blood—the way we react and the things we do must forever remain a part of it. Let us strive to make a mark that we as alumni may look back upon with pride.

Let's all immediately become affiliated with at least one of our organizations and actively support its operations.

The Inquiring Reporter

The question which the Inquiring Reporter has been asking for the last few days has been directed exclusively toward the freshmen, and reads thusly:

"What has been your first impression of college life so far?"

The answers of some of our new students are as follows:

"Well, I like the way everything is scheduled and goes off on time. I especially like the social part of it, but I haven't had enough classes to know if I like them or not."

—Bill Lurton, Crisfield, Maryland
 "I like everything about this college, particularly the dorm life. Everyone has been so helpful, getting us settled. The only complaint I have is that I'm not used to getting up so early! We have to get up at 8:00!"

—Carmen Lewis, Bishop, Maryland. (100th student to register at S.T.C.)

"Oh, I really like it so far."

To The Poet

Any budding Shakespeares will be interested in the following notice:

"All college students are cordially invited to submit original verse to be considered for possible publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The recognition afforded by publication will reflect definite credit on the author as well as your school. Over a hundred thousand mss. have been submitted to the National Poetry Association in the past ten years. Of these, about four thousand have been accepted for publication.

Rules are simple — as follows:

Mss. must be typed or written in ink on one side of a sheet.

Student's name, home address, name of college and college address must appear on each mss.

Students may submit as many mss. as is desired. Theme and form may be in accordance with the wish of the student contributor. In order to give as many students as possible an opportunity for recognition, and because of space limitations—shorter efforts are preferred.

Cordially yours,
 Dennis Hartman, Secretary
 National Poetry Association
 3210 Selby Avenue
 Los Angeles 34, Calif.

(Incidentally, if the Association doesn't publish your effort, don't be disheartened. Give it to us—maybe we can use it. Ed.)

—Shirley Salmons, Rehoboth Beach, Delaware.

"I have never seen the upper-classmen boys! Where are they hiding?"

—Mary Lane McNeil, Princess Anne, Maryland.

"Naturally I was scared the first day, but now I like S.T.C. a lot. Everyone is so friendly."

—Mary Lou Davis, Berlin, Maryland.

"The upperclassmen are very friendly. I'm scared of rat week. How long does it last?"

—Barbara Bailey, Delmar, Delaware.

"I like it O. K. So far it has been fun but not as confusing as I expected it would be."

—June Bennett, Fruitland, Maryland.

Through The Keyhole

A sure sign that summer has really gone
 Is seeing Freshmen
 With beanies on.

A review of the summer might well be written now. It seems that several diamonds changed hands. Congratulations and best wishes to the lucky ones: Howard Cheek, Molly Cantrell, Kathleen Gordy and Mabel Lynch.

Other S.T.C.'eans took the final step. June Sherwood Tull started the wheel turning with her marriage on the day of the June Ball. Les Holsberg, Stan Crockett and "Spuck" Dickerson soon followed suit. Those wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of ours.

Ocean City was the summer abode for many Sophomore girls: Betty, Nancy, Martha, Ingrid, and a couple of Shirleys. They acquired nice suntans and, no doubt, many pleasant memories.

We're tempted to revise and add to "Ladies Prefer Blondes" on seeing the results of the summer sun on Al, Carl and Gene. Debonaire Ray's taste seems to be running to brunettes and he's picked out a mighty sharp one.

Doris had a mighty profitable summer working at Campbell's; she not only made money, but picked out a swell guy named Leon, whose class ring she is wearing.

Some of the gals' boyfriends are leaving, but Peggy has a real lively looking panda to take Danny's place. By the way Peggy, what's wrong with Dan's crew-cut?

Wonder why Jim Holden is constantly whistling "Wish You Were Here?" We all know Randelstown's a long way away.

Last but not least we want you Freshman gals to remember "There'll be another Rat week." It wasn't so bad, was it?

Roses are red
 Violets are blue
 We get all the gossip
 About YOU.

—Snoopy

News From The Service

The outbreak of the Korean "police action" and the declaration of a national emergency has, I think everyone will agree, brought about a world situation in which there is little actual stability, and one of the most unstable elements in this troubled world today is the mind of the young (draft age) college man. Urged on by the possibility of being drafted, many of the men decide to enlist and many of them do so. Some decide to wait and be drafted. Between these two groups, however, is a large number of men who are unable to decide which path to follow, and so your Holly Leaf will, from time to time, publish letters written to members of the student body and faculty of the college by former students who are now serving in the armed forces of our country.

The first of these letters which we are privileged to publish is from Ed Stevens, who is serving in the Air Force, stationed in Bremerhaven, Germany. Ed will be remembered as the tall, good natured student who, incidentally, is the former business manager of this publication. The letter is addressed to Dr. John B. May, and the following excerpts quoted from it depicting life in the Air Force.

"We sailed at 2 p.m. on the 14th and arrived here at Bremerhaven on the afternoon of the 23rd. The voyage was quite nice. It was calm, and for some unknown reason I didn't get stuck on K.P. or anything like that. "My squadron is her in Bremerhaven and always will be as far as I know now. There are two bases in town; one, the staging area, is where our officers are, the other, the Marine Barracks, is where we live. The staging area was a German fighter base during the war and the Marine Barracks was a Naval school. Each place has complete recreation facilities, P.X.'s and that sort of thing.

The barracks, and all other buildings, for that matter, are brick. I am living in a three man room with two fellows I came over with from Brooks. We have hardwood floors, french windows and a table and two chairs. Next on our list of furnishings are rugs, then a radio. After that I guess it will be home, at least till December 1954.

The food here at the Marine Barracks is very good. We have rolls instead of sliced bread at nearly every meal. The pastries usually have some sort of whipped cream decoration and this week we even had watermelon. We can get seconds of everything, even meat or ice cream, which is impossible at the staging area or in any other mess hall where I have eaten.

To help matters along, I am eating four meals a day. We get a midnight meal when we either start or end a shift at midnight. I'm on the five to mid shift and I have been except for one week. I like it much better than I thought I would at first. We work six days and have two off so it really isn't too bad. My chief objection is that I never know what day it is.

I guess that about brings the story up to date from this side of the pond. Please write and let me know how things are at S.T.C. "Ed"

The Gulls You View

To all, the month of September is a significant one because of the fact that school days are here again; but to those who have felt the thud of a soccer ball as it ricochets from the forehead, the thrill of watching a booted ball zoom through the uprights, or the "butterflies" before the starting whistle, it has an even greater significance — soccer season is here again! Despite the fact that other major sports are played here at S.T.C., the students have always seemed to have just a little more pride in Mr. Maggs' booters, probably because of the fact that they have consistently proved to some of the larger schools that a little intestinal fortitude can go a long way towards defeating a seemingly larger and more powerful squad. Against such schools as Baltimore U., Towson, and Washington College last year's squad finished with a respectable 5-4 record, although it was not up to par with records of former teams.

What sort of a team Mr. Maggs can mold this year is now a big question mark in the minds of those who follow the boys, but it is known that he definitely has a nucleus with which to work. Those with battle scars from former seasons are: Al Younger, scrappy center forward and high scorer of last year's squad; Lloyd Fry and Howard Cheek, two hustlers who alternated the left wing position; "Moe" Shields and "Nick" Vitarelli, other linemen who racked up goals in the most recent campaign; three halfbacks in the form of Jim Holden, Chuck Navratil, and Ralph Dryden, each talented in the art of "feeding" the ball to the linemen; and Stu Harrison, veteran of two campaigns and the lone returning fullback. The remainder of the squad will probably be composed of freshmen and those upper classmen who have been a little timid (or lazy) to report in former years. One thing is certain—the larger the beginning squad, the better the finished product, and all men who are interested in representing S.T.C. as a "Golden Gull" on the soccer field are urged to come out and give it a try.

One other element which is essential to every team has been, at times, a little weak here at S.T.C. That element is a packed grandstand which is willing to spur the gladiators with just a little of the spirit, fire, and fury that the boys themselves display. The boys need it—they deserve it—let's let 'em know we're with 'em, all the way!

Practice has not yet been called for the varsity hockey team but the time will be posted soon. As of now, the schedule is not complete, but exchange games with Wesley Jr. College are sure to be included. Let's have a good turnout for the sports this year in order to insure ourselves of another successful season.

Now let us assume that you have met your young damsel, taken inventory, asked one of the key questions, and recuperated. Now you are ready to ask her for your first date. Simply say, "What are you doing tomorrow night?" My figures show that she will say, "Going out." Then you say, "What about the next night?" She will say, "Going out." Ask her this twenty-one times, the equivalent of three weeks, and then say, "Don't you ever stay home to take a bath?" She will admire your acrimonious retort because it shows your independence and proceed to let you escort her to the home corner in the Saddle Club.

At this time I want to make it completely clear that I do not advocate giving her any alcoholic beverages or nicotine weeds. Let me site a representative case: The

Girls' Sports

Back to school after a nice vacation! Back to classes and books! But let's not forget that there are extra-curricular activities also. Let's not forget that there are athletics.

The first activity of the girls' physical education classes will be playing field hockey. The classes will again be handled by Miss Holloway, who needs no introduction to the upperclassmen. Miss Holloway coached the girls' athletic teams to a successful season and was chairman of our May Day program.

Practice has not yet been called for the varsity hockey team but the time will be posted soon. As of now, the schedule is not complete, but exchange games with Wesley Jr. College are sure to be included. Let's have a good turnout for the sports this year in order to insure ourselves of another successful season.

"Jim Quips"

Upon entering college every freshman ponders about the manifestations which will occur in his or her social life. With this in mind and with the conception that it is the male of the homo sapien species who is to make the overture, I shall set forth my theory on how to conduct one's self when in the presence of the distaff... Better known as, girls.

It is to be understood that the following system is not a product of tedious research, but rather a product of touchy experience. This may be vindicated by the author's scars.

In approaching your prospective target, or, shall we say potential conquest, or perhaps we should say campaign; always remember that beauty is only skin deep. Therefore, find one with thick skin.

First, take inventory: Ask yourself the following questions:

1. Is she neat? (Do her fingernails look like a plug for the GOOD EARTH?)

2. Is she intelligent? (Does she think Manual Labor is a Spaniard?)

3. Is she admired by others? (Does the neighborhood get up parties just to invite her?)

4. Is she the kind of girl you would like to take home to mother? (Some night when mother isn't home.)

Score: If you answered three of the questions with a "Yes" you are an extrovert. If you answered three of the questions with a "No" you are an introvert. If you answered 17 of the questions with an "I don't know", you should see a psychiatrist.

Now, the plan of attack:

Any one of the following approaches is good for a one way ticket to the dentist's chair unless I said, hold! Say, "I'll bet you a nickel I can kiss you without touching you." She'll claim you can't. Get her to bet. Now grab her and kiss her. When she says, "Oh, but you touched me." Give her a nickel. As an additional suggestion in a case of this sort I should advise that a duck be concomitant to the nickel.

Never brag. If she should become angry, you should never retaliate with, "Huh, I wish I had a nickel for every time I've been kissed." Her answer will be, without fail, "What would you do, buy a pack of gum?"

In conclusion I want to say that when in doubt about kissing a girl, give her the benefit of the doubt. And of course always remember what Socrates said,

"To please 'em
 Don't tease 'em.
 Just seize 'em
 And squeeze 'em."

If one were to scan the list of S.T.C. students who will not return this fall because of entry into the Armed Forces, certainly a pause would be inevitable when reading the name of James S. Wilson. To those who are unfortunate enough to never meet or come in contact with Jimmy, the following words are directed.

Jimmy entered S.T.C. as a freshman in the fall of 1949 and received his first opportunity to let himself be known to the student body a few weeks later. He excelled that evening at the initial pep rally for the soccer team when he entertained the audience as only Jimmy Wilson can. The student body at that time was amazed by the sleight-of-hand performance and amused by the humorous line of chatter which he presented. Jimmy has continued to entertain his many friends here during the past three years both on and off the stage, and has elevated himself to the position of one of the most popular students of S.T.C. Don't let this give you the impression that Jimmy is a show-off or one who exhibits his talent simply to let people know he's around — he isn't. He has been a consistent and reliable supporter of many worthwhile projects, exerting non-acknowledged effort with no gripes, but, instead, pride in the fact that he was asked to help.

Jimmy's "Sunnyside Up" has always been one of the most popular and widely read columns in the Holly Leaf and, undoubtedly, most of you will be happy to hear that he is going to continue his column, although a new title, "Jim Quips" has been attached.

To you, Jimmy Wilson, we bid farewell, knowing that our loss will be the gain of others.

One other hint: Before calling for your date, pour some grease on the front passenger seat about four inches from the door. If you don't have any grease get a blow torch and burn a small hole in the upholstery. When she gets in tell her to be careful not to soil her dress. This will make her sit close to you.

Let us assume you are parked. Don't ever ask, "What would I have to give you for a little kiss?" My files show the answer is always, "Chloroform." Be the bold type. Don't say, "May I kiss your hand." She'll think her mouth is dirty. Be clever, cunning, and as I said, hold! Say, "I'll bet you a nickel I can kiss you without touching you." She'll claim you can't. Get her to bet. Now grab her and kiss her. When she says, "Oh, but you touched me." Give her a nickel. As an additional suggestion in a case of this sort I should advise that a duck be concomitant to the nickel.

Never brag. If she should become angry, you should never retaliate with, "Huh, I wish I had a nickel for every time I've been kissed." Her answer will be, without fail, "What would you do, buy a pack of gum?"

In conclusion I want to say that when in doubt about kissing a girl, give her the benefit of the doubt. And of course always remember what Socrates said,

"To please 'em
 Don't tease 'em.
 Just seize 'em
 And squeeze 'em."
