Student Association To Host State Leadership Conference

"Unification Through Understanding" is the theme of the state-wide Student Government Leadership Conference to be held here November 30 and December 1.

Student Governments from all colleges in the state have been asked to send a delegation of three to the meetings. Frostburg will be represented by members of the Executive Council, Student Senate, and Judicial Board.

The purpose of the conference is to promote student government by bringing about closer cooperation and understanding among the college student governments in Maryland.

This conference will provide an opportunity for student leaders to share problems and exchange ideas for helping the college students of Maryland.

Wilbur Berry, general chairman of the program, announced to the Student Association that the meetings will begin at 7:00 on Friday, November 30, with a dinner in the main dining hall. The keynote address will then be given by Dr. Dorothy Lipp, Dean of Women at Penn State University.

Following the address, the group will listen to the Journeymen. A social hour will then be held following their performance.

On Saturday, December 1, the conference will divide into smaller groups which will discuss "apathy," "college communications," and a third topic to be selected by other colleges.

Committees for the meetings include Jane Schwanebeck, publicity and registration; Dee Piccinni, housing; Mike Todd, and Linda Tinsley, program. Wilbur Berry is general chairman.

Seniors To Auction Faculty Donations

Sponsored by the Senior Class, "The Wacky Auction" will be held on Tuesday, November 27, in Compton Auditorium at 7:30. The dress for the occasion is casual.

Ron Broadwater, vice president of the class, will act as auctioneer while people bid singularly or in groups.

The title "Wacky Auction" was chosen because of the items that are to be auctioned. All items for auctioning have been donated by faculty members or administrators.

Suggestions for donations have been given to the faculty members. Such donations might include homebaked food and home-cooked meals. Individual dances with instructors and their wives have also been suggested.

Tangibles such as a painting, flower arrangements, books, a lock of hair, answer book and one free textbook will go to the lucky bidders.

Groups may want to bid on an evening in the home of a professor. Pizza making, card playing, taffy pulling, playing scrabble, singing, and conversing may well be the highlight of the evening.

Mending, ironing, and shoe polishing are services which may be rendered by members of the faculty to the person or persons making the highest bid.

Trips and picnics with instructors will also be auctioned.

Dean Gives Schedule

According to Dean Ivan C. Diehl, the Thanksgiving vacation will officially begin on Wednesday, November 21, at 12:30 p. m. Classes will resume on Monday, November 26.

The official statement issued to faculty members and published in the Pathfinder regarding the class schedule will be followed without change. The classes regularly scheduled for Wednesday morning will meet as usual. Any class regularly scheduled after 12:50 will not meet.

A schedule change will not occur until the Wednesday morning preceding Christmas vacation.

Editors To Attend New York Meeting

Presiding over the December 1 Executive Board Meeting of the College University Division of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association will be Sally Sullivan, Editor-in-Chief of State-to-Date.

Also traveling to the meeting at Columbia University will be Evelyn Walker, Maryland delegate to the Division and assistant editor-in-chief of State-to-Date, and Dr. Lucile N. Clay, advisor.

Delegates from member states attend this meeting in order to plan for the CSPA Convention held in March. Plans for panels, topics, possible speakers, as well as a general program will be discussed.

Nominations for next year's officers of the Division will be made at this meeting. Those nominated will be voted on at the business meeting held at the conclusion of the March convention. In order to be eligible for an office, a nominee must have been present at the Board Meeting in December.

It is the duty of the president of the Division to arrange for speakers for the Convention as well as to carry out other arrangements agreed upon by the Executive Board at the December Planning meetings.

"A World of Wonder," the Second Army Showmobile's latest production, will be presented on campus December 4 at 8:15 in Compton Auditorium. This is the seventeenth show staged by the Showmobile and it had its premiere in Baltimore on August 21.

The production features a circus atmosphere and a cast of Army showmen. The performers were selected from an entertainment contest held at Fort Meade, Maryland.

The show contains approximately thirty routines. These range from an act featuring the Fabulous Fazio and his Riders of the Matched Royal Arabians to an impersonation of President Kennedy.

The show's technical director, Mr. Cory Vayne, known as the Ace of Song, will present a medley of themes from television westerns. Included are "Maverick," "Wyatt Earp," "Cheyenne," "Paladin," and "Rawhide."

The show also features an exhibition of the capes by the Magnificent Mendozas of Madrid—alias Sp4's Larry Fazio and Amel French and PFC's Garland Poinexter and David Myers. A comic touch is added by Sp4 Leonard Volen, who enacts the "misplaced Mendoza."

Puppet Show Included

Also slated is the Littlest Revue on record. This is a puppet show featuring the Periwinkle Puppets. The show also includes a strong man named Samsonite, three singing midgets, and an assortment of clowns, acrobats, and side show characters.

The seven years old Showmobile is the only unit of its kind in the United States Army and is a product of the Second Army Special Services Office.

The cast features army showmen from Second United States Army Headquarters; Fort George Meade, Maryland; Fort Lee, Virginia; Army Chemical Center, Maryland; Fort Knox, Kentucky; Fort Eustis, Virginia; and Fort Myer, Virginia.

The show travels with its own sets, costumes, lighting equipment, and properties. It also carries its own band made up of Army personnel. Sp4 Frank Murt directs the band and he is assisted by Sp4 Dennis Deluca. Included in the band are trumpets, trombones, percussion instruments, sousaphone, string bass, piano and celeste.

Sophomore Class To Sponsor Journeymen

Under the auspices of the sophomore class, the Journeymen will appear in a concert in Compton Auditorium on Friday, November 30, from 8:30 to 10:30.

Admission to the program will be free to students and faculty of the college. Tickets for persons not connected with the campus will be $2.50 per person.

Although the Journeymen are primarily folk singers, their repertoire also include pop ballads, blues, and modern jazz. Their first record release was "River Come Down" backed with "500 Miles."

The trio consists of John Phillips, Richard Seissman, and Scott McKenzie. In addition to singing, each plays a musical instrument. The group met at a New York recording session where their mutual interest in folk music brought them together.

John Phillips is the acknowledged leader of the Journeymen. At one time he was all-state basketball and track star at the University of Virginia and George Washington University. He received a Presidential appointment to Annapolis but was forced to drop out as a result of injuries sustained in an intra-mural game.

Dick Weissman is a musicologist who has made an extensive study of Civil War music. He studied at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music, Vermont's Goddard College, and Columbia University.

Scott McKenzie once sang lead for another vocal group and appeared in night clubs and on radio and T. V.

JOURNEYMEN—This musical trio consists of John Phillips, Richard Weissman and Scott McKenzie.

A Possible Solution?

Throughout the past few weeks, the stark reality of a possible war has come into view. In truth we fear war. For many years men have lived in a world in which weapons have been produced and pointed at the hearts of other men. We have expected other nations to accommodate themselves to the situation of opposing weapons.

Now the weapons are aimed at us. This time war would bring complete destruction, and final disaster. What have our weapons brought us, but helplessness and gross insecurity? On every side it has been recognized that fear has induced retaliation and deterrence and stimulated the search for answering power.

Now the situation is intolerable for the whole world. The great powers are on a collision course in the Caribbean. The American Friends Service Committee urges that: "Both blockade and weapons shipment be suspended, as U Thant has urged. This is not the course of weakness, but of statesmanship. Both sides declare their willingness to negotiate not for temporary propaganda advantage, but for long-range peace. This peace will not be served unless today's problem of Cuban bases is seen as part of the world problem of bases."

If these measures are taken, the gate will be unlocked for the great nations, including ours, to do what we all have failed to do in the past—to accept the United Nations in its proper role. With open minds governments must turn early to the U. N. when peace is threatened.

Members must be willing to submit their case and actions to the only forum available for the orderly expression of world opinion. They must respect its processes, reject tactics of pressure and abide by its results. The smaller nations have effectively used the United Nations in solving disputes. Let the great powers use it in the same way.

In times of crisis our national leaders call upon God to guide the nation. This, we believe, is the base upon which peace is built.

Attention Underclassmen!

Our college newspaper is our voice in student affairs. Every student expects a college of Frostburg's size to produce a good newspaper. Naturally, it is part of our duty to see that our publication is continued.

State-to-Date is our newspaper. It does not belong to the editors, to the staff or to the advisor. It is printed for us, about us, and by us.

Customarily, every year underclassmen join the staff of State-to-Date to be trained for editorial positions. As it happens this year, six of the editors, and the business managers are seniors. When we graduate, it is obvious that there must capable, well-trained people to continue putting out State-to-Date.

We need more underclassmen on our staff this year. We would like to impress upon the underclassmen that it is NOT too late to join the staff of State-to-Date.

It does not matter if you have not had previous experience on a newspaper. You will find the members of the staff most cooperative in helping you learn about good journalism.

Remember—State-to-Date has won six First Place Ratings from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University in the last eight years!

Fire Drills Prove Horror For Dormitory Girls

There is nothing in the world that is more shocking than to hear the screaming of the fire alarm at 11:45 post meridian—especially when you are in the shower! We have been told that fire drills are a necessary evil. But sometimes I wonder.

Seniors In Spotlight

Upperclassmen Duo Put Middletown On Map

Dateline—Middletown, Maryland. Where's that? Well, it's just on the other side of Hagerstown. Unbeknownst to many, Middletown provides State with a number of student leaders. With pardonable pride the town claims two of our seniors spotlighted in this issue.

As a matter of fact, in the spotlight is the angle from which most of us usually view Sam Huffer. Sam first put on dancing shoes at age thirteen and has skipped through countless performances since then, including State's two successful musicals, Damn Yankees and more recently Where's Charlie?

He and his fiancée Donna Henson became a dancing team in 1956 and have been performing

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Our House Council president inquired about plans for Frost Hall last week, and Mr. Schriver informed her that a Chapel and T. V. room have taken preference. He also told her that there is only $7,000.00 available for improvement to Frost.

Does a Chapel and a T. V. room have preference over inadequate laundry room facilities, showers, and study areas?

Needed repairs include leaking pipes, non-working showers, and falling plaster.

The walls and ceilings in both shower rooms still have mold on them and the painting of our rooms was supposed to have been completed this summer. It looks like the girls will be living in the halls two and three days again this winter while this decorating is being done.

That nice new heating system we got is not so nice after all. The banging pipes disturb us when we study and sleep; and embarrass us when our friends and parents visit.

All these things, and overcrowded conditions, too! Frost was only built for ninety girls, and we now have one hundred twenty girls occupying it.

Every year promises are made for a better dorm. So far we have only had part of our dorm taken away for a Chapel.

Carol Sue Hooper

To Whom It May Concern:

We have a set of regulations on our campus that is as antiquated as Grandma Moses. These are concerned with the dress of students at Frostburg.

In a land of ice and snow our coeds are forced to wear inadequate clothing to sporting events and in town. If the Outdoor Club Co-eds are going on an outing and they live in town they must wear skirts to campus and change in one of the restrooms.

At our last football game the girls were forced to wear skirts in temperatures slightly above freezing, accompanied by rain and snow. It is any wonder our flu rate is so high? The Kleenex Company must be making a fortune from Frostburg students.

It also seems unfair that our young co-eds are forced to wear skirts while the respectable citizens of Frostburg and faculty wives are allowed to wear slacks. Students should at least be given equal dressing rights granted to other members of our college community. Times have changed, so must Frostburg!

'Hamlet' Becomes Quite Elementary

Since increasing emphasis is being placed on the importance of reading, I feel that soon first graders will have in their little first readers, adapted stories that read something like this:

"Where is Claudius? Claudius is a bad man. Claudius is a very bad man. Hamlet does not like Claudius. Claudius is Hamlet's step-father. But he is a bad step-father."

"Hamlet goes to see his mother. He loves his mother very much. (Does he love his mother a little too much?) Hamlet's mother loves him. Hamlet does not love Claudius. Hamlet is going to kill him. Hamlet's mother is glad."

"Look, Hamlet, Look," said Hamlet's mother. "Look, the curtain is moving. Someone is behind the curtain. It is Claudius."

"Oh, goody," said Hamlet, "I am going to stab Claudius."

Stab, Hamlet, stab. See Hamlet stab.

"Hamlet, you are a bad boy, you have stabbed Uncle Polonius," said Hamlet's mother.

Run, Hamlet, run. See Hamlet run. He has been a bad boy. He has been a very bad boy.

Hamlet has made Laertes mad. See how mad Laertes is. He is very mad. He is going to fight with Hamlet. Hamlet is going to fight with Laertes. Fight, Hamlet, fight. They draw their swords. They are long swords. They are very long swords.

See everyone lying dead, and dying, and bleeding on the floor. See the blood. Gush, blood, gush.

See what fun we are having. See what very much fun we are having.

professionally for the past three years. His leadership ability is another facet of his personality. Serving as the president of Maryland Singers and the Madrigals for two years, he then stepped into the vice-presidency of the junior class. Senior class president is the title he now holds.

In the area of literary creativity, Judy Kuhn takes the lead as the editor-in-chief of the Nemacolin.

Right from the very beginning of her college career, Judy showed early promise as a budding journalist. She served as editor of the class sections in her freshman, sophomore, and junior years.

As a valuable part of her journalism experience, Judy attended the C. S. P. A. Yearbook Convention in New York City in the fall of 1959 and 1960. This past summer, she attended a journalism workshop at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio.

Judy has been a member of the W. R. A. for the past three years and received her blazer last year for her outstanding work for the organization.

Utilizing her leadership qualities to the fullest extent, Judy was a member of the Frost Hall House Council in her junior year.

All this and she's clever too. Judy won a scholarship from the P. T. A. of Parkway Elementary School in Frederick.

Sonnet To A Name

By Kathi Garner

The Northwind blows quite hard cold on State,

Yet firm and still the aged buildings stand.

There lives not one who knows the final fate

Of our beloved school in Maryland.

Some top-notched men dislike the name it has,

Although another it has n'er been called.

To keep with the times the name needs some jazz,

But the choices they chose have alumni appalled.

Neutrality remains the stand of few

And opinions are shown in voices quite loud.

The last decision—little can we do

But hope they pick one of which we'll be proud.

There's one o'er which the students are ravin'

That being Mountain or Hillbilly Haven.

Bad Guys

By Judy Fisher

Have you ever noticed on T. V. that the bad guys inevitably have certain traits to distinguish them? It seems as though bad guys are always the same. For example:

Bad guys sell fire-water to the Indians.

Bad guys sell ammunition to the Indians.

Bad guys sell guns to the Indians.

Bad guys poison water holes in the desert.

Bad guys chew toothpicks.

Bobcat Booters End Successful Season, Post 6-3 Log

Loss To Akron Ends Campaign

By Joe Murphy

Scoring in every period, Frostburg's soccer team routed Lycoming College in a 4-1 Dad's Day encounter. Bobby Brown started the scoring early in the game, when his shot ricocheted off a defender's head and into the nets.

After Bob Barrett tied it up in the second quarter, the visitors began to put the pressure on the Frostburg defense.

Winner Turns Tide

Hank Winner then unloaded one of his patented long kicks far down to the other end of the field. Roy Beard, out-distancing all defenders, caught up with the ball and guided it past the Lycoming goalkeeper to give Frostburg a half-time lead.

John Chaney showed his opponents some early second half lightning, scoring with only 1:05 gone in the third quarter on an assist from Beard. Beard, Frostburg's offensive magician, put the frosting on the Dad's Day cake with a fourth stanza goal. Sam Holliday was credited with the assist.

Frostburg closed out the home schedule, coming back with a real Frank Merriwell finish to edge Mount St. Mary's College, 2-1. Halfback Dick Swomley's unassisted second period goal put the Mountaineers in front, 1-0, a lead they held going into the final quarter.

Holliday Ends Famine

With only five minutes and ten seconds left in the game, "Doc" Holliday picked the perfect spot to score his first collegiate goal, tying the game on an assist from Beard.

Frostburg, not content to settle with a tie, went to work once more, racing against the clock. Three minutes before the final gun sounded, Ken Babcock's booters found their opening. John Chaney caught goalie McClachan out of position, and before Jim Deegan's boys had time to think about it, they were on the losing end of a 2-1 score.

Milich Sets Record

In the final game of the season, the University of Akron made a shambles of the vaunted Frostburg defense, surging to a 9-4 victory. All-American inside right Pete Milich turned in the greatest one-man point barrage ever to be leveled against a State team, scoring seven times. Goore and Abel also connected for the Ohioans.

Roy Beard's three second-half goals took some of the sting out of the defeat. The other half of Frostburg's point-producing duo, John Chaney, also contributed a goal. The loss gave the 1962 Bobcats a 6-3 record.

The WRambler

By Sandy Johnson

Frostburg's Women's Recreation Association has a rounded slate of activities this season. The hockey season has just ended with the Flickers as the winning team, composed largely of freshmen. Six teams participated in the Round Robin tournament with 66 players receiving a credit toward an award.

Swimming and volleyball are the two credit sports now in progress. A bus leaves from Lowndes Hall for Cumberland's YMCA on Monday night at 6:20 for swimming. Volleyball is split into a Tuesday and a Wednesday night league and a play-off will be held. Tennis and archery interest groups are also held. If participation is good, these may be considered for credit in the future.

JoAnn Toomey and Leslie Stevenson have been appointed co-chairmen of the social committee. In this capacity they will serve as freshmen representatives to the executive board. The annual Christmas party and the Sadie Hawkins Dance are a few of the activities this committee will supervise.

The monthly meeting was held yesterday to discuss old business and future intramurals and activities.

Sam's Boys Take Touch Title

On Thursday, November 1, Sam's Boys defeated Teke to take the intramural football title. The playoff game saw the "Boys" take a 12-0 lead at the half and go on to win by an 18-6 score.

It was the seventh game of the season for each team and was played as a result of a tie between the teams for the first place position.

Sam's Boys scored on two runs by Whitey Slonaker and a pass from Slonaker to Sam Winkopp. Teke's lone tally came on a pass from Don Cline to Dave Soppa.

The game was played under unfavorable conditions with field muddy and darkness falling early.

Final standings for the league saw Sam's Boys first, Teke in the second spot followed by the Rebels. Next came the Untouchables followed by the Rolling Rocks and Sigma Tau Gamma.

The winners will be awarded trophies for their first place finish. The runner-up Tekes will be presented second place awards.

Bobcat Footballers Notch Wins Over Gallaudet, Potomac State

By Ray Morgan

Frostburg State used ground tactics to subjugate a determined Potomac State eleven on the Potomac State gridiron by the score of 21-13. The game was fought in a rainy, cold atmosphere where most of the offensive work was done on the turf.

The first quarter was primarily defensive with a Bobcat drive stalled by a staunch Catamount line. Dave Clem took a hand-off and drove 32 yards late in the second quarter to set up Bill Hyde's one yard scoring effort. A hand-off to Evans was good for the extra point.

78-Yard Return

On the kick off return, Bob Diaco embarked on a 78 yard jaunt to set up the first Potomac State T. D. Wilson skirted right end for the six pointer, and the extra point attempt was wide of the mark. At half time, the score was 7-6 in favor of the Bobcats.

In the second half, a Frostburg drive to the 13 yard line netted a profit as Bill Hyde clambered in for the score. Jim "Bo" Evans plunged into the end zone for the extra point. The Catamounts launched a drive that culminated in a Pat Sherman T. D. A fake kick resulted in an extra point as Wilson tossed a strike to Ken Cuprick for the one pointer.

In the last quarter, State iced the affair by having defensive tackle Bill Graves snatch a fumble from Catamount quarterback Harry Wilson and run back five yards to set up Dave Davis to Glenn Davis aerial on a sleeper that netted the last Bobcat T. D. Jim Evans caught a Davis pass for the extra point. Final Score, 21-13.

Frostburg used a last quarter explosion of 28 points to extinguish Gallaudet by a score of 42-18. The first score for the Bobcats was incurred when Al Couthen was downed in the end zone. The first Bobcat T. D. was accomplished by Bob Shaw on an end skirt.

A Couthen to Alonzo Whitt pass netted the first Gallaudet score. Connolly ended the half with a T. D. on a Davis aerial. Jim "Bo" Evans, "Mr. Extra Point," went over for the two point conversion.

In the second half, Couthen, Gallaudet back, plowed 82 yards for a score and later picked off a Davis pass that set up fullback Joe Schmitz for a T. D.

Luckily, the game was going into the fourth quarter. Dave Davis, Bill Hyde, Bill Glozboch scored the remaining touchdowns to give Frostburg the 42-18 win.

Jayvees Blank WVU

Paul Tonello, the Jayvee booters' leading scorer with ten tallies, made his final goal of the season an important one. His net-denting boot in the third period earned the Little Bobcats a hard-fought 1-0 win over the West Virginia University varsity in the season finale on Nov. 5. The team finished with a 5-1 mark.
