STC Welcomes New Instructor

The noise you may have heard on your way to class the last few days comes from the students of the Spanish classes as they practice rolling r's in words like "responsabilidad," "representaba," and "gracias." Also, those people who sound like they are clearing their throats are not suffering from colds; they are practicing the 'g' sound in words like "inteligente." The person responsible for this practicing is Jerome Thomas Costello, the newest addition to the faculty at State Teachers College.

Mr. Costello is well prepared for teaching Spanish, having studied a year at the University of Madrid in Spain. In addition to his studies there, he has studied at the University of San Francisco and Middlebury College where he received his Masters of Arts degree. Spanish, however, is not the only language spoken by Mr. Costello. He has had formal studies in Latin and Greek, and can converse in Serbo-Croatian, Russian, German and Italian.

At least two interests other than teaching can also be claimed by Mr. Costello. The "Holly Leaf" would do well to have Mr. Costello on its staff, for he not only did journalistic work for the Navy, but became editor of a newspaper while in Manila.

Another field pursued by Mr. Costello is the theatre. He has done theatre work in San Francisco, Manila and Madrid, and is presently active in the Community Players in Salisbury. In addition, Mr. Costello can boast of having been in small roles in movies filmed in Spain.

The effect of his extensive travel in Europe, Asia, and North Africa has manifested itself in a strong desire for better relations with other countries. He feels that one of the best ways to accomplish this end is to promote language study in our schools and colleges. Mr. Costello is indeed doing his part as shown by those rolling r's and those half coughs heard in the halls of S.T.C.

"Habla usted espanol?" Senior Costello's Spanish class can.

Social Committee Chairman Reveals 1961-62 Plans

Noel Farmer, chairman of the Social Committee, has indicated that this year's activities will be "Rockin'." Through the cooperation of the SGA Board a larger budget has been allocated.

Women's Dorm Plans Open House

Last year, there was on our fair campus, a rumor circulating to the effect that the Men's Dormitory Association was the only spirited and really swinging institution here at S.T.C. This propaganda, undoubtedly the product of such revolutionaries as Luke Fennell and his cohorts, was the result of the very successful open house sponsored by the Men's Dorm.

This year the Women's Dorm is taking no chances on such nonsense being circulated again, and to prove that they can outdo the guys, the gals have really planned a fabulous comeback. Things have really been humming in the dorm, and work is already well underway. Yet the gals are really being secretive and refuse to let even the "Holly Leaf" in on their plans. It is all quite mysterious, and all we know is that there will be, on October 19, the annual open house, talent show, and Snack Bar dance. And, by the way, it has also been rumored that the girls have rounded up some great entertainment this year.

So I guess we will all be in the dark and as suspicion begins to mount, the W.D.A. is sticking to its slogan, "It can be done in '61." Based on the little information that our spies have uncovered, I would advise you on the M.D.A. to get busy on your open house plans now if you hope to outdo the gals this time.

The Harvest Ball

One of the major dances to be held at S.T.C. this year, the Harvest Ball, will take place Friday night, October 13, at nine o'clock and will last until about midnight. This dance, an annual affair at the college, is sponsored by the sophomore class and it is from this class that the queen of the dance will be chosen. Two candidates will be voted upon the night of the dance; the winner will be crowned queen, the other, the representative of the sophomore class. Each of the other classes will also choose a representative to complete the queen's court.

A number of committees made up of members of the sophomore class are functioning at the present time to insure the success of one of our big events of the year. Dress for the dance, to be held in the dining hall, will be semi-formal attire and music will be furnished by a guest band.

SGA Presents Record Budget

Social Committee, Publications, C.A.C. Lead In Requests

The first meeting of the full SGA Board for the year 1961-62 was highlighted by the adoption of the biggest budget in the history of the college. The fund turned over by the President for the operation of student affairs was $11,750.

Following the scrutiny of the organizations' requests for funds which was made by the Executive Committee on Tuesday, September 26, the SGA Board called in organization heads to defend their requests. Social Committee Chairman Noel Farmer convinced those in command of the funds that his committee's increase of $800 was justified by a more diversified program of activities as well as by a more colorful Senior Prom. Weekend activity is assured as well as the regular formal dances which are traditional on the campus.

Sophanes Players Budget Analyzed

The history of reverted funds which has characterized the Sophanes Players record for the past few years gave rise to careful questioning of the president of that body, Lorraine Shanaski. Having established a record of reverting approximately half of the funds requested, the Board asked for assurance that a production was forthcoming. Miss Shanaski cited the current rehearsals of Miller's The Death of the Salesman as proof of the serious intentions of the thespians. Only one production is foreseen. Two hundred dollars was allocated.

Holly Leaf One Issue Shy

The campus bi-weekly, the Holly Leaf, was asked to account for its failure to produce the number of issues assured last year in the face of the request for monies an additional issue for the current year, a sum totalling sixteen hundred dollars. Donna Moore, co-editor, speaking for the staff, answered the query with the fact that under the aegis of the editor Paul Murrell it is the avowed intention of the staff to bring out a bi-weekly on dates that are already established.

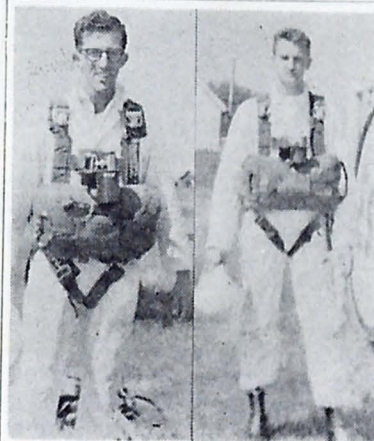

Other Allocations Swift

Finding no other requests in any major way out of line, the Board granted most requests of other organizations with occasional alterations. Nine hundred dollars remains in a cushion fund to see the Board through the rest of the year.

SGA Reminds Students of Duties

The SGA, in serious concern over the poor attendance at assemblies and class meetings, saw fit to examine the situation fully. Although opinion at class meetings proved unfavorable to the passing of a mandatory attendance ruling, the SGA reminds every student that it is his duty and privilege to attend these gatherings.

The SGA asks that those students who have suggestions for the improvement of some phase of college life give voice to their suggestions either by word of mouth to an SGA Board member or through the suggestion box which will soon appear in the Snack Bar.

STC Duo Tries Parachuting

Two STC students have taken up a rather unique sport to occupy their weekend lulls. The men, Les Milbourne and Ronnie Tyler, have been bitten by the skydiving bug and at present are going through the initial stage of regular jumps before they can "spread their wings in flight."

Milbourne, a senior from Crisfield, and Tyler, a soph from Preston, are Air Force and Army veterans, respectively, but neither has had any previous jumping experience under his belt. If any other men are interested, the schedule works in this manner: The jumps are made over Cambridge, Maryland, on Saturday afternoons. The "breaking in" process consists of a series of five jumps in which the jumpers have both a regular chute operated from a static line, with a dummy ripcord, within the plane and an emergency chute. After these jumps are completed comes the more advanced phase where the jumpers will be on their own, in terms of opening their chutes.

Following the seven successful jumps Les and Ron hope to become members of the newly organized Delmarva Skydivers Association. This organization is still wet behind the ears, having received its charter only last June. At present jumps are being made in Laurel, Delaware, and Cambridge. Later, there is a good possibility that STC students will get a chance to see their fellow students in action. Word has it that local citizens are in the process of clearing a field where these jumpers will be able to land.

When asked to comment about the jumping experience, Les could only say "Crazy!", but Ron was a little more exact as he told this writer, "After being up there, you sort of enjoy normal living just a bit more." Both seem to agree on one thing — "If fear is to be enjoyed (See Parachuting — Page 2)

The Editor Speaks . . .

To newcomers a hearty "welcome" and to our STC returnees, an equally hearty "welcome back."

Time truly seemed to fly during our three months vacation, but no one seems to mind, in fact most seem pleased to be back into the swing of things. We oldtimers returned to a campus that saw a loss of its tennis courts, (with new and better ones being made to replace them), and members of last year's senior class. Our gains have been tremendous, a new president's home, a new language building, many outside improvements in landscaping and addition of parking lots, addition of a new language instructor in the person of Mr. Costello, a new ready-to-use gymnasium, a host of new campus leaders and finally a wonderful group of incoming freshmen. It is to these freshmen that this letter is directed.

If you are normal freshmen, you approached college life at STC with various misgivings and rather dubiously. We of the HOLLY LEAF are sure that on occasion things will not be to your liking, but this is good, for discontent brings change. Your way to eliminate this discontent is to be an ACTIVE member of our campus organizations and to participate in their activities. Your thoughts and ideas are needed, regardless of how insignificant you might feel they are. This paper will readily welcome any suggestions or criticisms relating to it and STC life. However, if such are written in the form of a "Letter To The Editor," we request that they be signed. Anonymous letters will get the consideration they deserve, the trash can.

Socially, we think that our program under the leadership of our Cultural Affairs Committee, and our Social Committee has the possibility of being the best it has ever been. In the past many STC'ers have made the mistake of leaving school as soon as classes conclude on Friday afternoon. Sometimes this is necessary, most times it is not. By leaving, you are throwing away an ideal opportunity to gain friends and to learn more about the college you will learn to appreciate and love. May we of the Holly Leaf suggest, "If possible, stay on campus during weekends."

Sportswise, we have a more than adequate intramural program that is designed both by the W.A.A. and M.A.A. to meet the needs of the average or slightly less-than-average athlete, into which categories most of us would fall. Our new gym and equipment speaks for itself. If any problems exist in this facet both Dr. Whitney and Coach Maggs will be happy to aid you in their solution. Our varsity programs include soccer, basketball, field hockey, and volleyball.

Scholastically, we take a back seat to no one! STC takes pride in having provided Maryland and other states with a select group of trained teachers that are the best. By the time you have completed your sophomore year you will realize why. The reason you are here is to get an education provided by all areas of STC life. All we ask is that you try, participate and give it a fair chance. STC needs you — but YOU need what it has to offer far more.

Sincerely,

Paul E. Murrell
Editor, Holly Leaf

Basketball Clinic

There will be a clinic for girls who desire to try out for their official basketball rating. It will be held on Tuesday, October 17, at the new gym. The written test will take place on January 15, 1962. All girls desiring to participate are invited to attend.

countered it will come when the parachutists are called upon to leave the comfort of the plane and to balance themselves on the outside step from which eventual flight is initiated."

The Holly Leaf will try to keep an eye on these boys and inform our students when and if they can be seen locally.

Dean Willis Cites Trends in New Curriculum

The college now offers three curricula: Elementary Education, Secondary Education, and Arts and Sciences. One trend noticeable in the new program is the preparation of students for a broader field in Secondary Education and an opportunity for greater specialization in a given subject area.

The Holly Leaf has interviewed the Dean of Instruction in an attempt to obtain his assessments of this new program. Questions and answers are as follows:

How many students are enrolled in the Arts and Sciences Curriculum as compared to the former programs?

Only percentages for the Freshman Class are available at the present time. Presently, 46% are enrolled in Elementary Education; 34% in Secondary Education, and (See Curriculum — Page 4)

Circle K — News

Yates Harris

The State Teachers College Circle K, which was organized last January, has become a very active part of this college campus life. The activities of the campus Circle K Club not only include campus activities, but the members have helped other community organizations in projects.

The local club has provided a service to the merchants in Salisbury and Ocean City, Maryland, by establishing a job bureau at the college. The members have ushered at college activities and received several favorable comments from the student body and from the community. Our club is now on call whenever ushering is needed at college or community activities. The S.T.C. Club also assisted a community club with its flower mart.

In the area of social events and activities our club held an open house in the Chapter Room for all students and faculty. This open house proved to be a big success. Each week last semester a different organization was invited to attend our meetings to see what the goals and purposes of the club were.

The S.T.C. Circle K Club meets each Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock, in the Chapter Room.

Thinking Out Loud

Hats off to a vigorous and cooperative group of freshmen. In my three years here I have never seen such a willing group. They have spirit and interest in old STC. Believe me, they are setting a good example for many upper-classmen.

Noel Farmer has been keeping the weekends going with a dance every Saturday night. This is good for relaxation, but it is not the only source for getting your mind off of the books. Touch football has taken some of the time. Singing in groups is perhaps the best source for relaxation and here at STC small and large groups have been heard singing. In the Snack Bar in small groups, while in the Men's Dorm Bill Holmead and Terry Sterling have formulated a sing-along.

Hey, let's keep that snack bar clean. This past Friday night saw evidence of either a tornado or many irresponsible college students. According to the weather there was no tornado.

Someone is packing some pretty poor lunches for the student teachers according to what I've been able to pick up. A good lunch might make a better teacher. I don't know exactly, but it seems to me that it would.

It sure is about time something was done with the fire alarm system in the Main Building. We have a tendency to learn the hard way which is not always the best way. They should be checked frequently and fire drills should be held more than once or twice a year.

A young man in the Dorm by the name of Bob Prouse is very interested in organizing a small band here on campus. This is an excellent thought and a band would add to the color of the college. I suggest that all interested contact Bob and investigate the possibilities of forming such a group. The idea is thought through and has died properly the chances for success are probably very good.

It seems to me that a college student is conscious of what is going on in the world, but finds it hard to read up on foreign affairs. I don't know whether this is true but it seems that it is. Maybe a weekly discussion group would prove of interest to many. Just thought.

S.O.S.! A Plea to All Listeners

Currently, Miss Addis is compiling a list of recordings to be added to the present collection in the student center. All suggestions will be welcome and may be left in the suggestion box in the Snack Bar or given directly to Miss Addis.

Chotts Chatters the Sports

Off to a fresh start, in a new year, with a new class, and a new look on campus. Of course, the new look that I am referring to is that magnificent edifice which to Dr. Whitney and Coach Maggs is just a little this side of paradise. The gym is certainly a tremendous asset to S.T.C.—don't you all agree? I've heard that some of the girls are seriously considering moving in over there because of the modern facilities and the luxury of hair dryers.

Speaking of newness—how about the freshman class? It seems to me that they are a spirited group, and that's just what we need. They definitely are sports minded. Why, I can remember seeing them up at five o'clock in the morning on the second day of their stay here, ambitiously doing their exercises. Seriously, though, both the square dance and the games party were really successful, thanks to the enthusiastic response of the freshmen.

A good number of freshman girls turned out for hockey and cheerleading. I've seen a great deal of talent displayed in both sports. It will be a difficult task to choose the best from such an athletic group. With such excellent help as our two returning varsity hockey players, Loretta Fitzsimmons and Beth Reid, our teams have a promising season in store. Confidentially, Sibly McClellan did not fracture her finger at hockey practice, so there have been no injuries so far.

The sophomore girls can be seen leaving the gym with gold clubs in hand and heading for S.T.C.'s driving range. With the help of Dave McDowell, hidden talent is rapidly being discovered. Although I'm no expert, I do play golf and to me Kay Romoser looks like a natural.

Contrary to rumor, the tennis courts will be completed this year in time for the formation of a tennis club. With such tennis players as Katy Howland on campus, we have to bring the sport into the spotlight.

Another phase of physical education which we hope to bring to life this year is modern dancing. Donna Kaye McCorkle, a sophomore with a great deal of ability in this field, is recruiting girls who have had experience in such dancing, to form a modern dancing club. Donna is a day-hop, and those interested persons can contact her at PI 2-6659.

Now to the Women's Athletic Association — the first meeting was held September 26, in the new gym, of course, and the meeting was very well conducted by the new president, Beth Reid. The W.A.A. is now the proud owner of its own typewriter, which is (See CHOTTS - Page 4)

Varsity Hockey

Varsity hockey practice, which started Tuesday, September 26, saw a varied turnout of 35 enthusiastic girls from all classes. Among the returnees were Loretta Fitzsimmons and Beth Reid from last year's varsity squad and Cooky Harbaugh, Arleta West, Joan Townsley, Kay Ramoser, and Betty Quimby from the jayvee team.

There were quite a number of freshmen who turned out, indicating that they are a sports-minded group. Several girls who displayed especially good talent and are worthy of mention are Kay Hudson, Mary Ann Corbett, Cynthia Walls, Sibly McClellan, and Carol Caldwell.

Under the capable management of Linda Dentz, Dottie Seward, and Lorraine Shanowski, hockey practice is being held on Tuesday and Thursday of each week. Every girl who has ever handled a hockey stick still has an invitation to come and work out.

Games are already scheduled for October 13 at Philadelphia College of the Bible, October 28 with Baltimore Junior College—here, (they will arrive the night before) November 9 at Villa Julie, November 11 with St. Mary's Seminary—here, and November 18 with P.C.B.—here.

It is hoped that more games will be scheduled as the season progresses. Letters of invitation have already been issued to Gallaudet, Towson, Notre Dame of Baltimore, and Trinity of Washington, D. C. All of these teams STC has played in previous years.

Tentatively, it is planned for both the Skyrockets (varsity) and the Torpedoes (junior varsity) to attend the Sports Day which is held at the University of Maryland annually. However, no announcement of plans has been received from them, as of yet.

As is said every year, this looks like a good hockey season for the STC lassies. But, the full support of the student body is necessary for the backing of the home games. There are more hockey games scheduled for the home field this year than ever before, so students should take an interest and come out and root their teams on to victory.

Dr. Pullen Guest Speaker at Convocation

The annual fall convocation at STC was held on Tuesday, October 2, in the college auditorium.

Guest speaker for this formal occasion was Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., State Superintendent of Schools of Maryland. Dr. Pullen made it quite clear that he laid the responsibility of good, quality education, directly into the laps of the taxpayer. He emphasized the fact that several committee reports, including one in 1955 in which our own college president participated, brought to light the fact that for every college student there was one equally qualified,

Jim Hartman

With the opening of the school year it is a pleasure to say "Hi!" to all the upperclassmen and faculty. To the Freshmen we would like to extend our greetings, plus a plea which could be spelled in one word, PARTICIPATION.

Already you have proven yourself quite interested in athletics. Many of you have taken the time and have exerted the effort to come out for varsity soccer. You have organized a class football team and practice has been going along well. Through these two endeavors you have not only shown, as was previously stated, an interest in athletics; you have also shown your school spirit and your desire to belong and to participate.

Throughout the remainder of the year we hope this desire will not wane. We hope you do not develop the unconcerned, non-participating attitude which is so prevalent in all-too-many of the upperclassmen. (Offered in evidence of this statement is the fact that at the recent M.A.A. meeting open only to upperclassmen, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Vice President, only 12 people were present, three of them officers of the M.A.A.)

We hope that you will participate and cooperate with the M.A.A., "the planner of the athletic program of the college," in several ways. First of all, whenever this organization has a program in operation, such as intramurals, please join and engage in it no matter how limited your ability may be. If this is not possible then at least attend as a spectator.

Whenever there is an open meeting of the M.A.A., by all means attend and express your viewpoints and desires. When elections and issues arise, do not just attend and participate, but promote. Only when you have done this are you entitled to criticize, and not until.

Participate in varsity athletics as a player or as a spectator. If you cannot be the former, surely you can be the latter.

In short, it might well be up to you, the members of the Freshman class, to determine the caliber, based upon PARTICIPATION, of the athletic program at S.T.C.

HERE & THERE

Congratulations to Bill Elliot, the newly elected Vice President of the M.A.A. Best of luck to you, Bill.

Suggestion: Why not lime off the area behind the Men's Dorm and use it for an intramural football field, such as was done last year for the Dorm-Day Hop football game?

In recent years the coverage of S.T.C.'s varsity athletics by the Salisbury Times has been nil, or at the best on a par with that (See SPORTS - Page 4)

JAY MCCREA
Returning Gull Goalie

Soccer Prospects Look Good

An optimistic note was struck the first day of soccer practice with a large turnout of 25 men. Eleven of them are returning lettermen — the remainder of the team being composed of several promising freshmen and sophomores.

Four starters from last year, John Jefferson, and Ed Starkey, wings; and two halfbacks, Gordon Gladden, and Tom Alderson, did not return and will be missed.

Overall, the team and its prospects look very good. Many returning starters, such as Jay McCreia, goalie; Jerry Wilson, full-back; John Barnes and Wayne Brittingham, halfbacks; Ed Mitchell, center; and William Jefferson, inside; will again be the backbone of the starting eleven.

The opening game is with Frostburg, at Towson, on October the fifth. If anyone has any doubt about the caliber of Frostburg's ball club, let us call to your attention the fact that they also have on their schedule the University of St. Louis, ranked last year as No. 1 in the nation. The "Gulls" have held Frostburg to three goals in three years, but were defeated last year 1-0. REVENGE is planned!

October 14th is the date set for a possible game at home with the Alumni. As of now this game is still pending.

The third game is October 18th with Philadelphia College of the Bible, at Philadelphia. S.T.C. beat them in a 2-1 thriller last year at home.

On October 25 the "Gulls" will journey to College Park to take journey to the University of Maryland on the University of Maryland J. V.'s. Last year's game was played in about three inches of mud and was highlighted by a come-from-behind drive sparked by Phil Reed who scored two quick goals. The final score resulted in a 3-3 tie.

A home game to be played on November 1st with the University of Baltimore should be one which will promise excitement. Baltimore, (See SOCCER - Page 4)

Morris, Sophomore class; Dotty Seward, Junior class; and Winnie Wilson, Senior class. The Freshman class has yet to elect a representative.

The committee, in coordination with the other organizations, will provide entertainment for every weekend throughout the year. The program, as you have noticed, has already begun. The year began with a swim - picnic - dance held at Canal Park on the 15th of September. Since that time several events have taken place. On the 16th of September there was an excellent movie, "Caine Mutiny," starring Humphrey Bogart; on the 23rd there was a dance with music by Dick Ramsey; a "Come As Someone You Would Like To Be" dance was held on the 30th. All of these activities were well attended.

The next event on the calendar was a "Record Hop" on the 6th of October; music was furnished by the Eastern Shore's foremost saxophone players. On the 13th of October the Sophomore class will sponsor the "Harvest Ball." The women will present a talent show on the 17th of October, followed by a record hop.

Phi Alpha Theta Plans a Trip

On Saturday, October 14, Phi Alpha Theta plans a trip to the John Dickinson home near Dover, Delaware, and to Fort Delaware, located on Pea Patch Island near Delaware City. These two points are interesting and significant to students of history. The Dickinson mansion was the home of John Dickinson who gained fame during our revolution period. He was born near Trappe, Maryland, moved to Delaware and later became governor of that state. Dickinson is widely known for his "letters from a Pennsylvania farmer." The mansion was built by Dickinson's father in 1740 and reopened, fully restored, by the Public Archives Commission in 1956. It is furnished reflecting the tastes of that period. Much of the furniture is Queen Anne and some of the original Dickinson possessions are still found there.

Fort Delaware is of interest to Civil War students. Originally built in 1813, the Fort was destroyed in 1846 by a tidal wave. Congress then appropriated one million dollars for construction of another fort, the most modern of that era. In 1862 it was to serve as a Union prison for Confederate military and political prisoners. The Fort became infamous because of the filth, crowded conditions, and disease that caused a high death rate among those confined. Fort Delaware saw limited activity during the Spanish-American War, and the First and Second World Wars. In 1944, the Fort was closed down and reverted to the state in 1945. It is now a state park and opened to visitors from the spring until fall.

Phi Alpha Theta invites all who are interested in these points of interest to accompany the chapter

The Youth Center in Salisbury is sponsoring a co-ed table tennis tournament. A notice will be placed in the Snack Bar for our table tennis experts. Keep your eyes open — co-ed volleyball is returning again this year since it seemed to be such a hit with the kids last year!

That about does it, except that I would like to welcome the freshman class to S.T.C. I hope you all keep up the enthusiastic pace you have started. If so, S.T.C. has been quite fortunate in receiving such a class as the class of 1965. See you at the hockey and soccer games. Bye now — Chotts.

He continued by giving to the audience his meaning of an "intelligent person." To Dr. Pullen the "intelligent person" was one whose mind is crammed not only with facts, but who has the ability to look ahead and to determine situations and the needs of future generations.

having some of the finest ball handlers in the East, will probably put on a fine show. This should be a hustling, scraping ball game with S.T.C. as the underdog. But, anything could happen.

The final ball game of the season will be on November 4 with Glassboro State College at Glassboro, New Jersey — their Homecoming. Last year our soccer team defeated them 2-0. Wouldn't it be nice to spoil their Homecoming?

On the whole, the schedule will be quite difficult, but much can be said in favor of S.T.C. They are working hard under Coach Ben Maggs' direction and are in good shape. Now they are playing as a team, and they are hustling at every opportunity. One factor this year that has not prevailed in past years is that there is depth. There will be a good bench which will see much action. Due to this, plus other features, this season should be quite successful.

By the time you have read this the Soccer team will have played Frostburg. — Here's hoping.

While this is being written plans are being laid for the intramural football league. Be sure to check the bulletin board for details.

It is indeed a pleasure to note the improvement of this year's soccer schedule. This year the "Gulls" will have more games and will be playing some of the finest teams in the Mid-East.

A.A.U.W. Representative Visits College Campus

The Campus of Salisbury State College was privileged to be the recent host of Dr. Anne Coyner, a most charming representative of the American Association of University Women. The primary purpose of her presence was to acquire certain information that will be instrumental in allocating, or not allocating, to S.T.C. recognition by the national organization A.A.U.W.

Recognition by this association would permit women graduates of our college to be members of local chapters of the A.A.U.W. This "recognition" is a goal worthy of serious consideration.

The A.A.U.W. is an active organization seeking to encourage an advancement of standards in women who are capable of taking part in the molding of our communities and subsequently, of our country. As Dr. Coyner stressed in her conversation with several of S.T.C.'s students, the A.A.U.W. is interested in promoting equal opportunities for higher education in order that leadership qualities may be more effectively cultivated and utilized.

In selecting colleges and universities for recognition, the A.A.U.W. is especially interested in available opportunities for young women to receive a liberal arts education. Also, emphasis is given to discerning the opportunities women have for leadership and active participation in all phases of college life. In order to secure information and insight into the opportunities S.T.C. offers to its women students, Dr. Coyner met with members of the administration, faculty and student body — leaving to all those who came in contact with her a memorance of a warm, outgoing personality.

During her affiliation with the A.A.U.W., Dr. Coyner has served in several offices of distinction including the office of secretary of her local branch and president of the Oklahoma State A.A.U.W. organization. Besides her affiliation with the A.A.U.W., Dr. Coyner is a professor of business education at Central State College in Edmund, Oklahoma. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Central State College and her Doctorate from the University of Oklahoma.

The report that Dr. Coyner compiles concerning this college will be presented to a general committee and eventually to an Executive Committee of the A.A.U.W. The results of the decisions of these boards will be made known as soon as it is feasible.

Student Discussion Groups

The Student Wing of the Cultural Affairs Committee has been designated the responsibility again of organizing after-dinner discussion groups which will begin in the near future. For each discussion a group of students will be asked to assume the responsibility of leadership.

20% in Arts and Sciences. Up to the present time, the number of students in Elementary Education and in Junior High Education have been about equal.

How has the language program been influenced as a result of the new curriculum?

The language program has definitely been extended. Twelve credits in a language are necessary to meet the requirements for an A.B. degree. However, a major in a language cannot yet be acquired. Increased enrollment in language has resulted in the appointment of an additional faculty member to teach Spanish.

Are degree requirements the same for all three programs?

Only in the following respects: college credit of 128 semester hours, a minimum cumulative average of 2.0, and record of attendance at the college for at least one college year during which the last thirty semester hours of credit were earned. In all three curricula fifty-two hours in prescribed general education are required.

In what respects do the requirements differ?

(1) In Elementary Education fifteen hours of general education in addition to the fifty-two hours required of all students must be taken. Besides this, one must have thirty hours in professional education.

(2) In Secondary Education, students must elect a major. Furthermore, there is a minimum requirement of twenty-two hours in professional education.

(3) To receive the Arts and Sciences degree the student must also elect a major. Requirements for the major in either Secondary Education or Arts and Sciences are the same.

In what fields can a major be obtained in the Arts and Sciences Curriculum?

Majors may be obtained in the fields of English, Geography, History, Mathematics, and Social Science.

How do these compare with majors offered in the Education programs?

In Secondary Education, the same subjects are offered as in the Education programs with the additions of Biological Science and Physical Science.

Will students soon be able to obtain a Master's degree here?

Perhaps eventually this may be available at State Teachers College.

Will teachers who graduate from S.T.C. be able to renew their certificates here?

This cannot be answered at the present time.

The increase of electives offered is an example of strength in the new curriculum. Undoubtedly, it is obvious that the college has broadened its programs extensively.
