Twelve State Students Make 'Who's Who'

For Students Of Voting Age

By Fred Capp

In order to show faith in our system of government, those of us of age must vote. We not only have the right to make our wishes known, we also have the obligation to make our wishes known, for a government by the people is only a government by the people as long as all the people take part.

Too great a value cannot be placed on the belief that government should exist by the consent of the governed. Our fathers' fathers have defended this belief in their time, our fathers in their time, and our brothers in our time. Let us exercise the right they so ably defended, by voting, and silently vow to defend our beliefs if ever they are placed in jeopardy.

On November 6, 1956, the voice of the people will speak at the polls throughout our country, and that voice will be heard by our government because our people are the government. . . Won't you make your voice one of them?

Cast To Give 'I'm A Fool'; Singers, Band To Participate

Highlighting the Annual Parents' Night program will be a dramatization of Sherwood Anderson's famous short story, "I'm A Fool," featuring an all-freshman cast directed by Miss Dorothy Stone White. In addition to the one-act play, the Madrigal Singers and the concert and dance bands will appear on the program November 12 at 7:30 P. M. in Compton Hall auditorium.

In "I'm A Fool" the part of George, a stable hand, will be played by Charles Parker. Annabelle Leatherman will appear as George's mother. Donna Lee Price will enact the part of Mildred, George's sister.

Charles David Smith will be seen as "Dude" at the races. Michael Lyons will portray Burt, who has a hot tip. Oliver Parry, Carol Chaney and Suzanne Harrison will enact the roles of Wilber, Lucy, and Elinor, respectively, who attend the races.

Presenting musical selections during the program will be the Madrigal Singers, directed by Mr. Charles Sager.

Performing also on the musical portion of the program will be both the concert and dance bands, conducted by Dr. Ward Cole. "Semper Fidelis" and "The Thunder," both by Sousa, will be played by the concert band.

In addition to the two marches, they will perform two numbers from "Ballet for Young Americans" by Ralph Herman.

Carol Chaney, a graduate of Beall high school, was selected "best actress" in the play tournaments in her junior year.

Suzanne Harrison, also from Beall, enacted a role in the play, "Early Frost."

A graduate of Fort Hill, Annabelle Leatherman enacted a role in "Ah, Sweet Mystery," the senior farewell assembly. Donna Price appeared in Oxon Hill high operettas for five years.

Charles David Smith, from Allegany high school, in his senior year enacted a role in "The Curious Savage." A graduate of La Salle high, Michael Lyons was in the cast of the school's minstrel in his senior year.

Enacting a role in the senior class play, "This Is That Night," was Oliver Parry. A graduate of Fort Hill High in 1954, Charles Parker participated in play tournaments.

Dr. Eisenhower Praises Work Of Schuler Briggs

Schuler Briggs, son of Dr. Howard Lewis Briggs, and cartoonist for State-to-Date, has just received a letter from Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins, concerning a painting of Homewood House.

Friends of Schuler presented to Mr. Eisenhower a water color painting of the home which Schuler made last summer. This famous old place once was the residence of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, one of the Maryland signers of the Declaration of Independence. It is now on the campus of Johns Hopkins university and is used as the president's office building.

Mr. Eisenhower writes, "It is a delightful painting, and I want you to know that I have hung it in my office right above my desk. I like it very much."

The College and Campus Laboratory School will be closed on Tuesday, November 6, National Election Day. All eligible students are expected to go to the polls.

The College and the Laboratory School will close for the Thanksgiving holiday at 11:50 a. m. on Wednesday, November 21. Classes will re-convene at 8 a. m. on Monday, November 26.

News Briefs

President R. Bowen Hardesty has attended Campus Night in several high schools throughout the state. He was at Annapolis high school on October 25 and at Westminster high school on October 24. He will attend College Night at Bladensburg high school on November 7.

Dr. Walter Maccubbin, from the Baltimore City Board of Education, was on campus on Monday, October 29. He interviewed seniors and gave details concerning the exam necessary for obtaining a position in Baltimore City.

Mr. Lowell M. Sowers will represent the college at the Garrett County high schools on their College Night programs.

Ivan C. Diehl, Dean of Instruction, has issued the following announcements to the students:

The first quarter closes at 5 p. m. on Wednesday, Nov. 21. All courses offered on the nine-weeks basis and taken during the first nine weeks close at noon Wednesday, at the start of the Thanksgiving recess.

All students who register for courses beginning the second quarter meet those classes at 8 a. m. on Monday, November 26.

Registration for all courses to be taken during the first semester was completed as of Tuesday, October 2, the final date for all schedule changes. Under no circumstances, may a student take a nine weeks course which meets for the first time beginning on Monday, November 26, unless he registered for that course during the September registration so that course appears on his schedule.

Webster To Give Talk At Next FTA Meeting

The Lillian C. Compton Chapter of the Future Teachers of America club will show a movie, "A Desk For Billie," at their next meeting on November 6, at 7:00 p. m. in Lowndes Hall Social Room.

Mr. Ralph Webster, Superintendent of Allegany county schools, will be the guest speaker. There will be an installation service for new members.

The movie to be shown was part of the program at Camp Louise where four members of the Chapter attended a conference on September 21, 22, and 23.

The last regular meeting was held Oct. 16 in Lowndes Hall Social Room. Robert Morris, sophomore, reported on the Maryland State Teachers' Association Training Institute.

Don't Forget To Vote Wisely

In the coming Presidential Election the largest party will be neither the Republicans nor the Democrats; it will be the party of indifference composed of roughly 40 per cent of the electorate. These are eligible voters who do not vote.

The American Heritage Foundation in 1952 sponsored a get out the vote campaign that resulted in 63 percent of the electorate voting. While this was a commendable improvement, it fell far short of the percentages in the 90's that are regularly achieved by New Zealand, Italy, and Austria.

This year, as in 1952, the Foundation is again sponsoring an intensive Get-Out-The-Vote campaign but there is a difference. It is the informed citizen who is valuable at the polls, and it is toward the informed laggard that most of the appeals are aimed. The uninformed, too, are being urged to study the candidates, the parties, and the records of both.

If it is true that the uninformed voter at the polls is as bad as the informed voter away from the polls, then the United States' recent voting record is not one to inspire pride.

This election year, vote, but vote wisely.

Turkey Denies Press Rights

There is now, in the process of passage in Turkey, a law under which newspapers and journalists can be fined, and the latter imprisoned, for printing information about the country that has not been approved by the government. To illustrate this matter further, consider the case of an Ankara newsboy who was recently brought to court for drawing attention to a news article regarding the resignation of a cabinet member. The boy was first fined, but fortunately, later the judge reconsidered and simply lectured him severely.

Those Americans who think of Turkey as one of the modern, enlightened nations of the East, will undoubtedly be rudely shocked by this bit of news. Were the name of the country deleted, we would probably immediately assume that it was one of the Soviet Bloc, for we have grown accustomed to such news coming from behind the Iron Curtain.

Such, however, is not the case. Consider Turkey—an Eastern country, modernized and somewhat Westernized by Kemal Attaturk, a strategic nation in the structure of free world defense, a nation which the United States has aided greatly in recent years. Yet, despite American aid and Western influence, Turkey prepares to handicap her people by taking from them one of the most important basic human rights—freedom of the press.

Perhaps in America, at F. S. T. C., we cannot fully appreciate what such a step means. To many of us, Turkey is a far country about which very little is known and about which we just don't care. Suppose, however, our hometown newspapers were forbidden to print certain items; suppose only one point of view could be expressed—a view condoning and agreeing with all actions of the city, country, state, or national government. Wouldn't we be surprised?

But it hasn't happened, you say. It won't happen here because our constitution guarantees freedom of the press. True, but other constitutions have carried the same guarantee and were eventually disregarded. Our best, and perhaps only, guarantee of freedom of the press is our own constant vigilance.

The item which prompted this editorial was, perhaps, in itself, insignificant, but its implications are not to be taken lightly. Such a thing should not happen in the free world.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with inherent and inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it . . ."

Laurels To A Leader

"Reason and calm judgment, the qualities especially belonging to a leader!" (Tacitus, History Book). This quotation expresses for us, the staff of State-to-Date, our reasons for bestowing upon William Price, laurels to his leadership.

Outstanding among his achievements at Frostburg is the attainment of the presidency of the junior class. Along with his various other duties, Bill has thus far done an outstanding job in this capacity.

As a veteran of three years in Little Theatre, Bill claims the honor of having been head light technician ever since the opening of Compton Hall Auditorium. Even with this tremendous responsibility, Bill managed to do an excellent job as an actor, portraying Sawbuck Sam in "Mr. Barry's Etchings."

Jazz

By Jim and Mike

In the last column we listed five types of jazz. Each one may be broken down into different categories, especially Swing. We will not go into Swing or New Orleans Jazz since, as we stated in our first column, we are concerned primarily with contemporary jazz; the music of our time—the 1950's. But many famous jazzmen of today were just starting in the 30's and the 40's; so occasionally we will have to regress.

At the present we are interested only in listening to jazz. Have you ever heard jazz? Most of you have probably heard jazz, but didn't realize it. If you attended the Homecoming Dance, then you heard the Frostburg State Band perform a jazz arrangement, "I May Be Wrong" of Dr. Cole's. This can be called "Big Band" Jazz.

Jazz Experts

We suggest that any time you hear of the playing location of the men in the following list give 'em a listen, huh? These are our pick for the top five:

Poochie Franciosi—A swinging drummer.

Bobby Stangle—a cool and melodic trumpet.

Jack Stitely—a warm and rich tone on alto sax.

Garland Deter—a fine pianist and guitar man.

Bud Zink—a moving tenor sax.

Not mentioned on the above list is State's own Ed Andrews, a very fine jazz trumpet man. Ed was not placed on the list since he is still a student (luckily for the other guys!). We do not intend to embarrass Ed since we consider him a friend, but it's time somebody told of his talents. He not only plays jazz trumpet, but also plays jazz piano, sax, French horn, and clarinet. You just gotta hear the guy.

Recordings Praised

If you think you have not heard any of the jazz of the 50's or even the 40's, then please ask us (Jim Duffy and Mike Cunningham) to play some recordings for you. If you don't know us then ask Ed Andrews or Charlie Welch or Leon Shumaker, or Jack Green, or Dick Douglas who are all jazz fans. We will be glad to help you in your quest for jazz knowledge.

Better yet, buy some of the following jazz albums. This list is continued from the first installment of this column.

Jazz Albums that should be in your collection:

"Road Band"—Woody Herman Capitol

"New Concepts"—Stan Kenton Capitol

"Hi-Lo's Under Glass"—Hi-Lo's Starlight

"Trombone for Two"—Kai and J. J. Columbia

Bill has also been a member of the Spanish Club for three years, serving as its president during his sophomore year.

Unbelievable as it may seem, Bill also manages to perform the duties of a licensed local minister, doing some preaching at Centre Street Methodist Church where he is also Superintendent of the Intermediate Department.

Along with doing an excellent job in school and church, Bill holds a full time job as telegraph operator for the B. and O. railroad.

As a student in junior high education, Bill hopes to teach two years in Maryland, then continue his ministerial work in the seminary at American College. As a minister or a teacher, the best wishes of the students and faculty at Frostburg go with him in any work he may undertake.

In Mr. Baucom's sociology class the question was posed, "How many in here would be willing to live in the average home of the world?" Feeling a sense of accomplishment, Mr. Baucom proceeded to describe the average home of the world. "The average home of the world is a two room flat with a mud floor!"

"I'll take it," cried a voice from the back of the room. "My dormitory room is only one room, with a mud floor!"

Faculty Dons Spooknight Duds

As I sat in the library the other night, studying my Language Arts, I suddenly became aware of strange noises from above.

A close inspection revealed that it wasn't the angels, either, but rather the instructors at their annual Halloween party in Lowndes Hall social room.

The center of attraction seemed to be Dr. Briggs, outfitted in the latest of Hula fashions and armed with his Arthur Godfrey uke!

Off to the side stood a bewitching lady dressed like a princess of the Nile. She turned out to be a mummy, but later proved to be Mr. Skinner who had just arrived from his class in First Aid.

Julius Caesar, alias Mr. Fisher, looked down upon his people from beneath a laurel wreath. Miss Langhans, the Roman goddess, looked upon Caesar from her marble pedestal.

Across the room was a somewhat more modern art form—as a matter of act, so modern I have not figured out what it represented yet, but when it moved I recognized Mr. Stewart.

The North and the South met

Girls Go Masculine, Boys Go Ivy League

Boys are still as popular as ever!—That is, their fashions are still being borrowed by the girls with button-down shirts and regiments still high on the campus fashion list. Besides the traditional Ivy-league look, a new uniform is being worn these days around the campus. Take a look around on a cool day and you'll notice a sea of khaki. Has the army invaded the campus? No, it's just the co-eds sporting their new car coats.

Saddles are popular on rainy days for "mud splashing" between Old Main and Compton Hall. Loafers are a must for the cool, clear football weather.

Sweaters popular with the fairer sex are "V" necks, and dyed-to-match sets. By the way, some girls also enjoy wearing letter sweaters. Take a hint, boy, if you want to be a real hero, win a letter for that certain someone.

Of course, all fashions aren't set by the girls. The boys are still style pacers, too, with khakis and charcoals in the Ivy league mode.

With Autumn Comes The Soccer Season

The autumn leaves are falling down

Leaving just the naked trees:
We smell the last few haunting traces

Of their burning, on the last fall breeze.

But other things are happening

At this great time of year,
The guys are playing soccer now,
Their "Big Day's" drawing near.

The "excitingest" news is this, we've heard

About the big night game,
The first in our school's history,
And of national soccer fame.

Coach Babcock says the team is ready

To beat their illustrious foes,
North Carolina State, we mean,
Our team is on its toes.

That first night game will be such fun

To watch and cheer and yell,
So let's go, gang, we'll meet you there,

At the big game down at Beall.

An urgent appeal has been made by Dr. Cole to the students for any used band instruments which they own and which they would be willing to lend to the band. If you have an instrument which is available please contact Dr. Cole at once.

Kappa Pi Art Fraternity Entertains New Pledges

Kappa Pi, National Honorary Art Fraternity, was host to new pledges in that organization and to the members of Art Club at an informal coffee hour a recent evening in the Social Room. Arrangements were made by Melvin Garland, president, Gladys Harsh, vice president, and Jan Taschenberg. Decorations were of fall flowers in the fraternity colors of purple and gold.

Great American Stage Stars Topic Of Excellent New Book

A number of new books on various topics were added to our library during the summer. Great Stars of the American Stage by Daniel Blem should interest everyone. It is a pictorial record of more than one hundred and fifty stars of the American stage. For each star there is a full page picture and a number of smaller pictures of the person from his childhood through the highlights of his career, plus a short biographical sketch. Among the stars discussed in the book are: Maurice Evans, Yul Brynner, Ethel Waters, Julie Harris, Shirley Booth, Maude Adams, John Gielgud, and Katharine Cornell.

A book which should prove interesting and helpful to all students is Irene Pierson's Campus Cues. The book is written in a friendly style and contains a number of humorous illustrations. Campus Cues is not a "stuffy" book about "which fork to use first" but contains helpful suggestions on problems that range from dating, to interviews, to money.

L. F. Vaughan has written a book entitled Parade And Float Guide which gives helpful suggestions on the building of floats.

A display of enameled copper has been placed in the library by Miss Rosann P. Langhans. The pieces are a sample of the work done by Miss Langhans at Columbia University this summer where she studied six weeks with William Mahoney of the Art Department there. Most of the pieces were hand-hammered from flat copper and the frits (enamels) were fired at approximately 1650 degrees F. Each piece requires from four to nine firings for the color fusion. Miss Langhans studied early examples of enameling on copper, silver, and gold during a field trip to the Cloisters, a former monastery in Upper Manhattan given to the city of New York by the Rockefeller family.

S. C. A. To Hold Annual Sunrise Service; Vespers To Be Conducted Each Tuesday

S. C. A.'s next scheduled activity is a Sunrise Service to be held November 3. Club members will leave the school at 5:30 a. m. and journey in a truck to Dan's Rock. An outdoor service and breakfast will highlight this Saturday morning.

Student Christian Association has begun Vesper Services each Tuesday evening in the chapel from 6:30 to 6:45. These services are always conducted by S. C. A. members and will provide a time and place for communication with God.

A number of books on religion has been purchased by S. C. A. and are available to any student on campus. Those interested in borrowing books should contact Dr. Schuster or Gail Davis, president.

Discussion groups are now being planned for bi-monthly meetings and will feature various local ministers as guests.

A toy, food, and clothing drive for needy families will be sponsored by S. C. A. from November 15-20. Students are urged to bring donations. Boxes will be placed in Old Main.

Douglas Cook To Head Freshman Class

Newman Club Lists Official Committees

William Delaney, president of Newman Club, has appointed the official committees for the year.

Pam Minke will serve as general chairman of the Thanksgiving Assembly program to be presented in Compton Hall prior to the holiday recess. Nancy Denney, Pat Allen, and Mary Agnes McGann will assist her.

William Fair was named head of the men's membership committee. Tom Reinhart, Mike Lyons, Joe Webb, John Winters and Tom Gaughan are also working on this project.

Chairman of the women's membership committee is Mary Jo Rowan. Her assistants are Elizabeth A. Maher, Pat Allen, Barbara Wolford, Sally McGreevy and Margaret Devalli.

The social committee, which will have charge of scheduling speakers for meetings, consists of Margaret Blake, chairman; Marietta Gaudio, Rose Winter, and Bertrand Michael.

Catherine Joyce and Joel Baugh will head the social service committee.

On Monday, Nov. 26, the club will sponsor a candy sale in Old Main.

Other plans for the year include a Christmas caroling program to be co-sponsored with S. C. A., communion breakfasts, and a spring dance. Barbara Wolford and Mary A. McGann have been selected to plan these activities.

Each evening at 6:30, members meet in Faculty Hall to recite the rosary.

State Thespians Conduct Stage Makeup Clinic

Little Theater members cooperated with Kappa Xi Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honor fraternity, in staging a theatrical makeup demonstration as part of the National Thespian Regional Conference held October 26 and 27 at Fort Hill high school in Cumberland.

Mary Elizabeth Wheeler was featured in the dramatic reading.

Alpha Psi Omega president, Mary Catherine Maher, narrated the make-up demonstrations which included Carol Chaney in a scene from Our Town; Thomas Richards and William Price from Mr. Barry's Etchings; Mary Elizabeth Wheeler from Jane Eyre; Katherine Hodges from Eastward in Eden; Arthur Huggelstone from Death Takes a Holiday; and Dolores Fahey from Anastasia. Conducting the demonstrations were Ruth Schade and June Mowbray of Alpha Psi Omega and Carol Kelley of Little Theater.

Sorority Chooses Group Heads

At a recent meeting of Phi Omicron Delta Sorority, the chairmen of various committees were appointed. They are as follows: Joan Kidwell, social chairman; Mary K. Poland, ways and means committee; Joanne Herbert, publicity; and Joanne Fiery, historian.

Ruth Schade is serving as co-chairman of the annual sorority and fraternity dance which will take place in November.

FSTC Entertains N. C. State In Historic Game At Beall

Nocturnal Tilt Ends Season For Bobcats

By Aggie and Bill

Winding up the toughest schedule in the history of the school, the Frostburg State Bobcats will take on the North Carolina State soccer eleven in a night game this Saturday, November 3, at the Beall high school stadium.

This will mark only the second time in the history of soccer, that a night game has been played in the East.

Lions Sponsor Game

The Frostburg Lions Club is sponsoring this nocturnal fray, with all proceeds going toward their sight conservation fund.

Coach Kenneth Babcock has been working feverishly to make this venture a success. When asked about the reason for a night game, Coach Babcock stated that a lot of people in the area do not understand soccer. A game under the arc-lights would give more people in this area a chance to see a college soccer game and therefore would most likely increase interest in the game of soccer for the people of this vicinity. This would also give students who have late afternoon classes a chance to see the Bobcats in action.

A large turnout for the game would be more than just welcome. A capacity crowd would serve as a tribute to the efforts of Coach Babcock, The Lions Club, and others who have been working hard to keep the idea of night soccer from being flop.

Seniors Play Last Game

Filled seats would also be a respectable farewell to the seniors on the squad who will be playing their last soccer game for the Black and Gold. These fourth-year men include Bob Kirk, a regular for all of his four years; Buddy Poland, a good choice for All-American honors; John Fatkin, also a candidate for All-American laurels; Fred Downs, a three year veteran; Jack Green, a three year performer; and Enordo (Moose) Arnone, who for four years filled the gap at goalie in a capable manner.

This season, "Moose" has been assisting in the chores of manager. Joe Steen, also a senior, has been manager for the Bobcats for the last four campaigns. Joe should be congratulated with a hearty "well done."

Tickets for this contest are now available. They may be purchased from any member of the soccer squad.

Hicks Heads WRA Volleyball

Jeanette Hicks, a junior, was named volleyball chairman at the last meeting of the Women's Recreation Association for the coming volleyball season.

Managers for the various classes were also set up. They are Ruth Holbert, senior, Bonnie Henson, a junior, Louise Graham, a sophomore, and Barbara Bagent, freshman.

Prospects Bright As Cagers Return

On Monday, October 29, Coach Waldon Skinner held his first drills for the 1956-57 cage season.

Coach Skinner found his entire first string from last season returning to action. Regulars from last season are Bob Kirk, Dave Marple, Jim Cave, Buck Smith, and Bill McCall. Other veterans of last year's court's war are John Keister, Doug Sullivan, Hugh Nolan, Ed Williams, "Moose" Arnone, Bruce May.

The cage Bobcats had a record of 10 wins and 9 losses last year. They lost only one game, however, after mid-season.

The freshman class also offers some fine prospects for the squad. Out to try to take positions from the veterans might be Bill Roberts, one of the stars of the area last year, when he led LaSalle to a good season. Jim Thompson, an outstanding star at Beall high school, and Chuck Luman, a high-scoring center from Mt. Savage, are two of the new prospects who, along with our returning veterans, could make this the finest season in Bobcat history.

MAC Discusses Winter Sports

The Men's Athletic Council met recently in Mr. Babcock's office in Compton Hall. Bob Kirk, president, presided.

The group considered either Dick Groat, shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, or Duddy Moore, coach of the Duquesne University basketball team, as possible banquet speakers.

M. A. C. also began plans for reorganizing the intramural basketball program in order to allow room for other winter sports.

Soccer Ball Or Basketball?

As the soccer season draws to a close and basketball season begins, Carl Emerick, John Horine (kneeling), Bob Kirk, John Keister and Dave Marple watch the "booting ball" expecting it to become a "shooting ball."

From The Sideline

Saturday night the Bobcats will participate in the second night-soccer game in the history of the sport in the United States. If State were playing North Carolina State in football, instead of soccer, there would not be room for all the fans that wished to attend.

At past soccer games, however, the most conspicuous thing concerning State students has been their scarcity. One of the excuses that has been given is the late afternoon classes that require attendance. Well, there won't be any classes Saturday night.

Favor Homecoming Change

Since the last issue several people have stopped me in the halls to let me know that they are in favor of the Homecoming Game's being played against another college instead of the alumni. They, too, felt that an intercollegiate opponent would stimulate more interest on the part of both the alumni and the present student body.

Intramural Program Broadened

I'd like to raise my voice just a bit in favor of the broadened men's Intramural program for this winter. In the past the man who didn't care for basketball, or who could not play, was shut out. With ping-pong, bowling, and volleyball added there should be a game for everyone.

Troubles Plague Dodgers

Veering away from the local scene to the great big outside world, I note that the troubles that plagued the Brooklyn Dodgers in the Series have continued to do so in their exhibition tour in Japan. They have had losses in their first three games. If that keeps up, we may see some Japanese imports to go along with the Cubans who have been so successful in the Majors.

Colts and Redskins

In pro football my (and I hope your) beloved Baltimore Colts have taken it on the chin in recent outings. Those football-crazy fans keep on backing them, nevertheless. A crowd of 3500 turned up at Friendship Airport to welcome home their fallen heroes after the 54-27 loss to Chicago.

Jack Green, a senior and State's inside right, comes to State from Central high school of Lonaconing. In high school, Jack played baseball, basketball, and soccer. In his senior year, Jack was voted the "Best Athlete" of his class.

This is Jack's third year on the soccer team. He has been an inside right for all four years. The Bobcat coaching staff expects great play from Jack. In the past year, injuries hampered Jack's chances for the recognition that many think he deserves.

Jack is active off the soccer pitch as well as on it. He has been on the State tennis team for three years as the number two man behind the graduated John Clarke. In the spring, he expects to return to the tennis team as the number one man. Jack also had a year of experience on the Bobcat baseball squad as a reserve infielder in 1954.

In addition to athletics, Jack is an active member of the Nemacolin staff. He is serving as its layout editor. Among Jack's hobbies are sports, jazz of all kinds and movies.

After graduation Jack hopes to teach in either Allegany or Prince George's County.

Another first stringer is John Fatkin, a fullback. John is a senior and has been a veteran of soccer ever since he was at Beall high, his Alma Mater.

John was Bud Poland's teammate at fullback during high school. These two big boys have been teammates at the same position on the college team for two years.

John has had his troubles while playing soccer for the Bobcats these past four years. As a freshman John starred at the fullback position and won All-American acclaim. In the following year John injured his knee and missed a lot of playing time. In his junior year John was not able to play soccer at all because of his injured knee.

It looked as though John's soccer playing days were over. However, his knee is sound this year and he will be able to see quite a bit of service at his position on the soccer field.

Field Goals By Horine, Downs Decide Contest By The Margin Of 2-0

Coach Kenneth Babcock's soccer Bobcats captured their second victory of this year's campaign when they defeated Salisbury State Teachers 2-0 at Towson last Thursday.

Field goals by John Horine and Fred Downs were all the margin that the Bobcats needed.

Horine's goal came after fifteen minutes elapsed in the initial frame. John blasted the ball beneath the crossbar on a shot from 30 yards out.

With two minutes and 45 seconds gone in the last period, Downs scored the final goal on a cross from Horine.

The Bobcats put up a stubborn defense and were successful in keeping their goal line unmarred. Salisbury threatened several times. Their most dangerous threat came in the final stanza when Bobcat Goalie Dave Marple lost his footing and fell, but John Fatkin prevented a score when he cleared the ball from in front of the goal.

This appeared to be the best performance of the campaign for the Bobcats. Bob Kirk, center half-back, was outstanding.

The lineups:

Pos.	Frostburg (2)	Salisbury

Golf Club Elects Buser Prexy; Plans Intercollegiate Play

Tom Buser has been elected president of the recently organized golf club on campus. Other office holders are: vice president, Hugh Nolan; secretary, Bob Kirk; and treasurer, Bob Grimes.

Buser is no stranger to the area links, having captured the Cumberland Country Club Caddies Tournament several times. Paul Cueva is another player who adds class to the State team. Paul claims the Oakland Country Club as his home course.

The chief purpose of the club is to better acquaint members with game fundamentals and eventually turn out a varsity golf squad. Many of the club's twenty members have played golf but players with no experience are welcomed for membership.

Coach Babcock, faculty advisor, will meet with the Maplehurst Country Club board of directors in the near future to discuss some of the club's plans. Since the golf season in the Frostburg area lasts only as long as good weather continues, few plans have been made about the actual playing before winter.

Inexperienced members have the privilege of taking golf lessons from Maplehurst's talented golf pro, Buddy Rice.

Any person desiring club membership should contact any club officer or attend the next meeting which is scheduled for Tuesday, November 6, at 7:00 p. m. in the hygiene room of Compton Hall.

of any other Bobcat varsity team, he is interested in all types of sports. In addition to sports John is interested in teaching mathematics.
