FROSTBURG STATE COLLEGE, FROSTBURG, MARYLAND

FEBRUARY 17, 1977

FSC Reaccreditation

Announced

The academic program of Frostburg State College has been reaccredited through 1986 by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, it was announced recently by Dr. Kenneth Jablon, Dean of the College.

The Middle States team, which visited the Frostburg campus in March of this year, conducted an intensive investigation of the curricular program of the College after reviewing the 127-page "Self-Study Report" compiled by the department heads.

The greatest strength of the college the Middle States team reported, was the rapport and cooperation among faculty, administration and students. This was found to be true in every facet of the school, especially college governance. Dr. Kenneth Jablon,

Dean of the College, noted that the Middle States team found "very low participation in the formal student government, although interest ran high."

The only major problem cited by the team was budgetary. They found that the State of Maryland was not allocating sufficient funds for adequate operation of the college. Additionally, they reported on the unusually large amount of "red tape" involved in obtaining the funds that are allocated. "This problem," Dr. Jablon said, "is out of our hands." It is hoped, however, that the State will expand Frostburg's budget after reviewing the report.

Dr. Jablon described the report as "super... even better than we expected," and commented that he was "very satisfied with the progress made over the past several years."

Applications Available For

Advisement Program

In cooperation with the Office of the Vice-President for Academic Affairs, the Student Affairs Division is developing an advising and orientation program for freshmen. The program will employ approximately thirty students who will be trained to serve as peer advisors. Students will be selected on the basis of Scholastic performance, leadership ability, peer acceptance, and communication skills.

Each peer advisor will work with 20-25 freshmen, both individually and as a group. Group meetings will be held from 11:00 - 12:00 on Tuesdays, a time which will be identified for advising and orientation in all freshmen schedules. These meetings will be designed to assist freshmen develop effective study skills and habits, adjust to differences between high school and college, and make full use of campus resources. Peer advisors will have individual conferences with freshmen to develop schedule of classes and to discuss such matters as mid-semester warnings.

The peer advisors will be expected to work an average of ten hours each week, and will receive remission of room fee comparable to $320.00 a semester. The program will be based in the residence halls, and with possibly two or three exceptions, peer advisors must be willing to be assigned residence space. Additionally, an advising center for off-campus students will be established.

Students interested in applying for the position of peer advisor should complete the application forms which are now available in 214 Lowndes Hall, the Lane Center, and the Housing Office. These must be returned to Lowndes Hall by February 25, 1977. Students with questions regarding the role of peer advisors, should contact Tom Bowling at 689-4312.

Attention Seniors

This is a reminder to you that in checking your requirements for graduation if you have completed Reading 101, Reading Skills, for one credit, this course is not applicable towards the 120 hours needed for graduation. However, it is computed into your grade point average and total hours on your grade report. An additional credit hour will be needed to meet the 120 credit hours for graduation.

Also be reminded that if you repeated a course to raise the grade, the course will only be counted once towards graduation. If you have any questions concerning either of the above, please come to the Registrar's Office to check your record.

Water Situation Improving

A high degree of cooperation on the part of the Frostburg community and a break in the weather have resulted in some relief of the Frostburg water crisis, according to John N. Bambacus of the Frostburg City Council.

"Generally speaking," Bambacus said, "things are looking pretty good. The water level at the reservoir is now over 15 feet, which means it has risen four feet since Saturday." He went on to say that the city is very appreciative of the cooperation shown by the college community, both on the part of the students and of the college itself. During the worst part of the crisis, the college donated the help of four college employees, all of which volunteered their own time last Saturday, "just giving their time as good citizens."

Some members of the community have expressed concern over expected growth and development of the area if similar problems are likely to arise in the future, but city officials have expressed their intent to make recommendations to include improvements for the water system in next year's budget. The mayor and city council are currently "taking a hard look at how the system can be improved for the future." Improvements in the present filtration system are already in the works.

Although the situation is improving, the crisis is not yet over, City officials say. The water level is slowly approaching the 20 foot mark, which is conceded to be a comfortable level.

Intercollegiate Press Bulletins

Chicago, Ill (IP) The Political Science department of DePaul University is governed this year by a committee system rather than a chairman. "The department is run by three committees, the committee on budget and personnel, the committee on administration, and the committee on academic progress and instruction," Professor Stanley S. Jados explained.

Both students and faculty serve on these committees; a student representative serves on each of the committees and the faculty has been divided among the three. Everyone has a knowledge of exactly what goes on in the department and where the money is appropriated. We attempt to bring everything out into the open so even the student representative knows what the budget is."

Concerning the student-

faculty relations, Jados stated, "I think the commu-

Executives Travel to

Annapolis

Three executives of the FSC Student Association traveled to Annapolis in the past week to confer with members of the Maryland General Assembly on the status of state aid to Frostburg State. Vice-president Rick Gehrman, director of state affairs Steve Litwiller and former president Don Fry met informally with members of the Allegany-Garrett County and other delegations.

Additionally, the three students attended a hearing of the Joint Subcommittee on Educational and Human Resources, at which Dr. Nelson P. Guild, President of the College, testified on the state of affairs at Frostburg with regard to State support of the College. Although the SA representatives were not allowed to testify before the committee, a statement of their position was submitted in writing before the hearings began.

The trio expressed optimism on their mission, and announced plans to make another trip to the legislature early next month.

SA Notes

by Lee Lofthus

The FSC Student Association held its second meeting of the semester on February 3, 1977. The highlight of the meeting was the passing of a Constitutional amendment forbidding pay for S.A. officers.

After over a year of being bogged down on the issue of officer pay, the Keilholtz administration acted quickly and decisively to make sure it was not plagued with the issue as past administrations were. By a unanimous vote, the S.A. House of Representatives passed the no-pay measure.

Other business conducted at the meeting included the final arrangements for the S.A. Leadership conference, which is set for this weekend, February 12, and 13. A charge of $2.00 a person was assessed all those attended the conference for the purposes of providing alcoholic beverages for weekend refreshment.

S.A. V.P. Rick Gehrman announced that the issue of the student-conducted evaluations has been turned over to the S.A. Curriculum Improvement Committee. The S.A. committee is working with other interested students on the evaluation proposal.

On a final note, student Harvey Litvin, a member of the College Forum Library Committee, sought S.A. endorsement for his ideas concerning a crack-down on faculty abuses of book borrowing.

Don't Get Hung Up on Exams

The key to both success in exams and enjoyment of college work lies in the ability to use time wisely. A pattern of good study habits begins as the term begins, but nowhere do you need them more than at examination time. You will be able to handle exams with a minimum of stress if you observe these six suggested steps: 1. Make a term study plan. 2. Use good review techniques. 3. Develop a confident attitude. 4. Organize pre-exam hours. 5. Pace the exam carefully. 6. Re-assess your work.

An earlier issue discussed the first two steps. This article picks up with step number three.

Develop a confident attitude. Tests do serve a purpose. They give you an opportunity to check your progress. Students who have formed good study habits throughout the term should be confident. Exams will help your understanding of important ideas and your ability to express them.

Organize Pre-exam hours. The day before an exam, review a maximum of three hours. Question yourself as you review. Reread text passages only when you have difficulty remembering them. Eat and sleep well so that you are refreshed for the exam. Get up early to avoid rushing on the morning of the test. Shower, have a good breakfast, exercise, go for a walk. Take a last look at your summary notes, unless it makes you nervous. Be sure you have all the supplies you need. Arrive in the examination room a few minutes early.

Pace the exam carefully. Listen to the instructions and read through the entire test. Organize your thoughts. Budget time for each question. They might be equal in scoring, so answer the easy ones first. Remember to number the answers to match the questions. Think carefully about one question at a time. Your first sentence should be clear and contain some, if not all, of the main points in your answer. Jot down key words as guides. Indent paragraphs, number points under each heading, or make a rough diagram or outline. Write legibly. If the instructor cannot read your work easily, your mark might suffer.

Short-form or objective questions demonstrate your ability to recognize details and your ability to choose among alternatives. Pay attention to key words like: all, none, never, might, should. Avoid leaving blanks, an answer might be correct even though you are not sure. An omission will probably count against you. In multi-ple choice, cross out what you know is wrong and think about what is left. Be sure to completely erase if you change an answer.

Essay questions test your ability to express yourself, to interpret and organize material. Important cue words will indicate what or how much your instructor is asking for. The ones most frequently used are: analyze, compare, contrast, criticize, define, describe, discuss, elaborate, enumerate, evaluate, explain, illustrate, interpret, justify, list, outline, prove, relate, review, state, summarize, trace. Each one of these terms calls for a specific type of material, so think about their meanings in advance.

Finish each question as best you can and go on to the next. Leave room at the bottom of each answer for possible additions later. Make answers as concise and clear as possible. Try not to repeat yourself. Reread everything carefully. You might have left out a key word or want to add other points.

Reassess your work. When you receive your grades and get back exam books, read your answers. Compare them with your textbook and class notes. If you don't understand your instructor's marks, ask him where you went wrong. Learn by your mistakes and go on to the next phase of college work.

This article on examinations is one in a series on study skills developed for college students by the College Textbook Publishers. Free copies are available in booklet form to individual students. The series includes: How to prepare successfully for examinations, How to get the most out of your textbooks, How to improve your reading skills, How to build your writing skills. IRC To Attend Model UN

The International Relations Club has announced its plans to attend the National Model United Nations, to be held in New York April 12-17 of this year. This FSC delegation will be among approximately 140 colleges and universities from around the nation.

The ultimate goal of this and other such conferences is to learn how the United Nations operates and deals with the problems which confront it. To serve this goal, each delegation is given the role of a member nation which they are to represent during the conference. The responsi-

What is a SPHINXMAN? Even if you have not heard of the SPHINX CPUX, you have probably seen its seven young men on campus. Solemn faced, neatly dressed and proudly displaying the bust of the Great Sphinx around their necks. Versatile, scholarly, ambitious gentlemanly, and possessed of tenacity, a SPHINXMAN is a young college man seeking the Right of Alpha Phi Alpha, Fraternity, Inc.

Now, you ask, "What is Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.?" "Is it another of those Greek, partying, beer drinking organizations?" Sorry to disappoint those of you who are into that type of thing—Alpha Phi Alpha is none of the above. Rather it is a service oriented fraternity recognizing its great African heritage.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. was the first fraternity established for Black college men. Founded by seven Black men, it had its origin at Cornell University on December 4, 1906. In its efforts to seek out the best college men so that it may better serve its people, Alpha quickly spread to Howard University (Dec. 20, 1907) where it became, not only the first Black fraternity to be established on a white campus, but also the first Black fraternity on a Black college campus. Spreading its philosophy of manly deeds, scholarship and love for all mankind, this service oriented body of college-trained men has grown to exceed 40,000 members with 80,000 members since the fraternity's inception. Today there are 356 college chapters and 353 graduate chapters in 50 states, Bermuda, England, Liberia, South Korea, the Virgin Islands, and West Germany. In 1941, Alpha became the first fraternity in the nation to drop its racial membership restrictions thus making it both interracial as well as international.

Alpha is made up of all different types of people in different walks of life, all at the top of their profession. During the 1940's 50's and 60's Alpha Phi Alpha, along with other interest groups, spearheaded the civil rights movement. Today, the fraternity has concerned itself with the building of low-income housing developments known as Alpha Homes, several metropolitan areas and recently pledged $1 million to the NAACP and the United Negro College Fund.

The list of nationally and internationally known Alphas is endless. Briefly that lists Nobel Peace Prize winners Ralph Bunch and Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the first Black man to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court, Thurgood Marshall, National Urban League founder, Whitney Young, Olympic star, Jesse Owens, Senator Hubert Humphrey, Ambassador to the United Nations Appointee, Andrew Young, musicians Duke Ellington, Van McCoy, and Quincy Jones, political activists Stokeley Carmichael, and Dick Gregory and the great opera singer first Black all-American football player, and first Black Phi Beta Kappa, Paul Robeson.

The founders of the fraternity, respectfully known as the Jewels, all of whom are deceased, include Jewel Dr. Henry A. Callis, physician, medical school professor and founder of the National Medical Association; Jewel Charles H. Chapman, College Professor of Education; Jewel Eugene Kinkle Jones, founder and first Executive Secretary of the National Urban League; Jewel George B. Kelly, Civil Engineer for the State of New York; Jewel Nathaniel A. Murray, Educator; Jewel Robert H. Ogle, Secretary to the U.S. Senate Committee on Appropriations; and Jewel Vertner W. Tandy, first registered Black architect.

Back to the SPHINXMEN, the seven pledges of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, are Sphinxman #1 Bill Murray, Sphinxman #2 Dwayne Jenkins, Sphinxman #3 Willard Saunders, Sphinxman #4 Larry Burnham, Sphinxman #5 John Lightner, Sphinxman #6 Al Washington, and Sphinxman #7 Mike Hargrove. We hope through us - seven divisions of one - that we can exemplify Alpha's high ideals, manly deeds, scholarships and love for all mankind and make the motto of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc. "First of all, service of all, we shall transcend all - a reality at FSC."

Phi Mu Alpha to Present Jazz Concert

Phi Mu Alpha is devoted to the promotion of music and its importance in the enrichment of the human spirit, and to try to achieve the highest standards of creativity and performance. The brothers of Phi Mu Alpha invite anyone interested in attending to come and enjoy an evening of Jazz.

nication between the students and the faculty on the committee system will be much better than it has been."

Schenectady, NY (IP) The reasons behind cheating seem to be well-defined and firmly rooted, according to a Union College survey. Results have students and professors alike citing competition for grades, laziness on the part of students, poor proctoring in exams and the "Everybody does it" attitude as reasons for the existence of cheating.

The survey also revealed that the frequency of cheating appears to be directly related to the type of exam given. Multiple choice exams are most susceptible, with math and essay type tests following. The survey backs this by its finding that cheating varies across divisions and that this is due to the difference in testing methods of the various departments.

While students cheat they still hold an aversion to it. Those who cheat tend to feel more strongly that a vast majority of others cheat. Some felt that professors and the school were at fault in many instances for placing students in situations where cheating whether deliberate or inadvertent, was unavoidable.

Several students were disturbed by the fact that professors are unaware of or do not act to curb cheating in their classes. On the other hand professors felt that students should be responsible for reporting cheating in order to hold it in check. Students were upset with professors who invariably gave the same tests or very similar ones year after year. "In these cases there is no way to curb cheating," said one Union senior.

In general, feelings on the effects of cheating were that it eroded the educational system, and established a feeling of distrust in student-professor and student-student relationships.

Salt Lake City, Utah (IP) Does an unmarried couple living together find greater satisfaction than a married pair? Is the arrangement a valid test of whether two persons are suited for marriage? Apparently not, according to a sociological study conducted in part by a University of Utah doctoral candidate. Graduate student Jack K. Martin and three other investigators from Indiana and Alabama collaborated in a comparative study of 51 couples at a midwestern university. Findings: There was little difference between the marital and cohabiting lifestyles in levels of emotional support, mutual understanding and satisfaction, even though married couples were scored slightly higher. However, the data served to reject the researchers' original hypothesis that cohabiting couples would test higher.

"The most salient difficulty in the cohabiting relationship," the researchers wrote, "is perhaps the absence of positive sanction for the relationship. Although peer acceptance may be high... the cohabiting couple nevertheless has to live in a world which, outside the boundaries of the college campus, may not be totally accepting."

The researchers conducted a voluntary survey of 26 married couples and 25 cohabiting couples. None of the couples had children and most had been living together about two and a half years. Eighty-one percent of the married individuals claimed a religious faith, while 80 percent of cohabiting men and 56 percent of the women reported having no religion.

Cohabitation may be seen as a panacea or cure-all for problems found in marriage, the report continued, and the cohabitant may "place such high expectations on his relationship that they are impossible to fulfill... thus, he become disillusioned and dissatisfied." The study also asks "Is it possible that personal development of the younger participants is in any way retarded as a result of such intense involvement during the time in which choice of mate might be made?"

Savoy Leaps to Victory

Frostburg's track team opened the 1977 season at Maryland College Indoor Invitational, which was held at Catonsville C.C. on Saturday, February 5. The Bobcats produced several top-level performances, the most notable of which, was soph Mike Savoy's victory in the high jump competition. Savoy leaped 6'8" to defeat two jumpers from the University of Maryland. His mark was a meet record and a new FSC indoor record. Coach Bob Lewis stated, "Mike has exceptional talent, and he is a great competitor. His win is especially significant because he hasn't been able to do much jumping in our workouts so far."

Sophomore Plamer Grotte took second-place honors in the shot put with a throw of 47' 1 1/4", a good mark for this early in the season. Weight-events coach, Charles Hircock has been pleased with the work which Grotte has displayed in training and anticipates a good year for him. Steve Smith, FSC's other top shot putter, missed the meet due to an ankle injury.

Other noteworthy FSC performances were sophomore Keith Brady's time of 5.5 in the 50-yard dash, which equals the college indoor record; frosh Steve Strothers' 4:31.7 mile; senior Steve Shaffer's 15:10.2 3 mile; and freshman Charlie Butler's clocking of 52.8 in the 440. Butler, who enrolled at FSC in January, is the 1976 Maryland Class A 440 yard dash champion and record-holder (48.9).

The Frostburg State trackmen were undefeated (9-0) in 1976 and won the Maryland State College Championship. Several key performers were lost to graduation and a few others are currently hampered by injuries, but this year's thinclads hope to continue their dominance of Maryland college track and field. A large number of returning veterans and many outstanding freshman and transfer recruits have been reported for the team. The coaches believe another good season will be possible.

The next meet scheduled is the Shippensburg State Open on Thursday, February 17. Coach Lewis will take at least two athletes -- Carl Schueler, 1976 All-American in the indoor two-mile race-walk, and Savoy -- to the NAIA National Indoor Championships in Kansas City, Missouri on February 25 and 26.

Clubs & Organizations who did not get their pictures taken last semester for the yearbook have one last opportunity. The photographer will be on campus Fri. & Sat. Clubs & Organizations should call Tara Dillon at 689-2951 to set up a time & place.

When David had open heart surgery not long ago, he needed six vital units of blood, type O Neg. All of it was obtained, processed and provided by the Red Cross blood center.

We're not the heroes of this lifesaving story (the six wonderful blood donors should get the medals). But we (and other voluntary blood centers) do need your continued support. Blood, you know, doesn't grow on trees. It comes from donors. Like you. And we need more people like you. Call your Red Cross or other voluntary blood center soon. Please.

David Nairne counted on us.

We're counting on you.

BSA Reports

Greetings,

Black Student Alliance would like to thank all those who came out to the Pre-Valentine Semi-Formal Dance. We apologize for the band being late. We were as upset as you. We would also like to thank those who supported the benefit Fashion Show and Black Expo 1977. Funds raised will be forwarded to the Mental Retardation Fund of Allegany County, Sickle Cell Disease Research at Howard University, and the NAACP. Throughout all three events, we had a fine time.

Special thanks to Ms. Maria Wheeler for the meaningful direction she gave us with the Fashion Show. Special thanks to Chairwoman Phyllis Taliaferro for her diligent work in coordination Black History Week. We also thank Mr. Oliver Clark for the fine job he did in coordinating Black Expo 1977. We also thank all those individuals who collectively worked to make Black History Week a success.

Hey FSC, thanks for your support. We hope that we did bridge the gap between our cultures. We hope a sincere understanding is being reached. We try hard. This Friday night a Super Disco is scheduled for the Lane Center. The price is 75¢. If Lane Center is dry, prebooze your mind and come on down to an interplanetary function. We guarantee you a good time!

Next Black Student Alliance meeting shall be on Wed. Feb 23., 7:30 p.m., Lane Center 201-202. Until a later time, be at peace with yourself, FSC.
