

WHO'S WHO NOMINEES SELECTED

Lou Davis Reigns as Queen at Harvest Dance

At the annual Harvest Dance Mary Lou Davis was crowned Queen of the Harvest. Mary Lou is an attractive junior from Berlin, Maryland. She is enrolled in the elementary education curriculum here at STC and she has found time to serve as chairman of the Social Committee. Just before any social function "Lou," as she is called by her many friends, may be seen going from the "Ranch House" to the college with a stack of papers in her hands to be signed by "just about everybody on the campus."

Lou was chosen from a court of seven by secret ballot. She was presented at the annual affair by the president of the Junior class, Mr. Grayson Wheatley, and crowned by her predecessor, Miss Shirley Bowdle. The harvest theme was carried out in the decorations which featured the "Horn of Plenty," and good music was supplied by an ensemble from Maryland State College.

Open House in Girls' Dorm Held on Nov. 23

The first "Open House" and party sponsored by the Women's Dormitory Association was held on Tuesday night, November 23. This event preceded the closing of the college for the Thanksgiving holidays on Wednesday at 12:00. All students of STC were invited to tour the dormitory and to observe first hand the girls' talent as interior decorators. During the evening, refreshments were served on both floors of the dormitory and the students later enjoyed themselves at an informal dance which was held in the dining hall.

Seven Chosen To Represent STC In Who's Who Among Col. Students

The National committee which selects certain worthy students to receive the honor of appearing in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" have set up a quota of six people to be nominated from STC. This standard may fluctuate accordingly to four or eight students giving a little leeway in accordance with the wish of Dr. Blackwell. Seven people have been nominated to receive this honor.

Shirley May Young was selected on the basis of the following accomplishments: She has maintained the highest scholastic average in her class for her entire college career. In addition to this she found time to serve on the social committee during her freshman year. She participated in intramural volleyball, basketball, and softball during her Junior year as well as being president of the Future Teachers of America and secretary of her class. During her senior year she is president of the Women's Dormitory Association, is serving as a reporter on the Holly Leaf staff, and is a member of the Sophanes Players. She has been a member of the Glee Club and the FTA all four years.

Ralph Marion Dryden, Jr., is number three in the Senior Class as far as scholastic standing is concerned. With this average he is among the upper tenth of all the students who have ever attended STC. Ralph was a member of the varsity soccer squad his first three years. He participated in the annual Gym meet during his Sophomore and Junior years and he has participated in intramural basketball and softball since he has been at STC. To round out this program he is holding down a forty-hour a week job at a local pharmacy.

Janice Marie Marshall has maintained a better than "B" average during her stay at STC. She played varsity hockey during her freshman year. She served as vice-president of the Women's Day Association and secretary of the Women's Athletic Association during her Sophomore year. She returned as a Junior to participate as vice-president of the Junior class, president of the Women's Day Association, co-captain of the volleyball team and enthusiast in intramural sports. Now as a Senior she is the very competent treasurer of the Student Government Association.

Marion Conaway Dryden or "Con" as he is referred to by his many friends has also maintained a better than "B" average during his college career. He has participated in the Gym Club and intramural softball during his Sophomore and Junior years. He was business manager of the Evergreen and Secretary of the Men's Dormitory Association during his Junior year. He is now serving as the ever competent president, Men's Dormitory Asso.

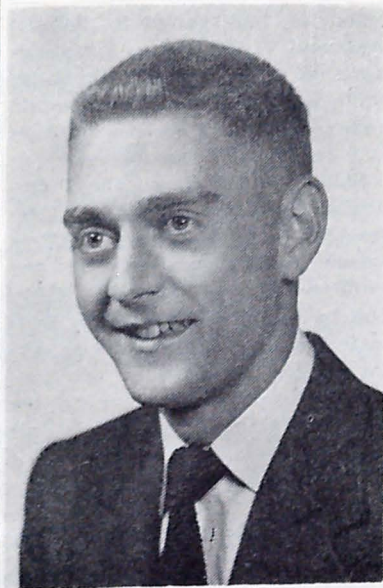

Patricia Jane Gardner, also a better than "B" average student, has been a member of the varsity basketball squad ever since she came to STC. During her Freshman year she also played varsity hockey. Last year, as a Junior, she was treasurer of her class, president of the Women's Athletic Association and an active participant in intramural sports. She is now a stalwart member of the Sophanes Players.

Carolyn Leister Godfrey has maintained an exceptionally high scholastic standing during her stay at STC along with various extra-curricular activities. During her Freshman year she played varsity hockey. She was a member of the varsity basketball team during her Sophomore and Junior years as well as being co-captain of the volleyball team during her Junior year. She is now serving as president of the Glee Club of which she has been a member during her four years at STC.

Werner Frederick Rebstock has maintained a high average throughout his stay at STC as well as serving the cause of the school. He has played intramural softball and basketball every year. He has been a steady soccer player during all four years and is now serving the cause as president of the SGA.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

Another holiday has come and gone. How many of the individuals that read this can truthfully say they held a thought in mind to the significance of the hallowed holiday. This holiday was initiated by our predecessors here on the continent of North America for the sole purpose of thanking whoever was responsible for their well-being and success at cutting a home in the not at all hospitable territory. Today we still have many things to be thankful for. To be able to give thanks is in itself, in this day and time, an accomplishment. Within a month of each other we hold two of our most honored days. I am strictly in favor of returning to the time of more intimate holiday spirits; today I can hardly associate either of these two holidays without thinking of commercialization and remote obligations rather than the exact cause of and reason for their existence. I cannot help but feel that they are abstract reasons for rejoicing rather than simple, innocent obligations of the populace to repay someone, somebody, or something.

SGA to State Certain Restrictions for Next Year's Initiation Week

Why yes, we're informing you again on what your S.G.A. is doing! At the meeting on Nov. 2 the S.G.A. voted for "family style" dinner.

Mr. Hall's committee to work on a solution to the Rat Week problem presented the following report:

The Sophomore class shall still be in charge of Rat Week but the S.G.A. will act to:

A. State certain restrictions for "rat week."

B. Inform Sophomore "rat" leaders of rules, and consequences if rules are violated — the consequences falling on the Sophomore class, not the S.G.A.; and

C. See that Sophomore leaders inform the other members of the class concerning rules.

This committee is to continue to work on drawing up general rules for next year's Rat Week.

Surely the men will be pleased to know that money has been allocated to the men's dorm to have the TV antenna repaired.

There has been a suggestion made by a representative that the S.G.A. hold one of its meetings in the auditorium some assembly period in order to show everyone how the S.G.A. functions. This suggestion will be discussed at the next meeting.

The members of the S.G.A. are to be commended for their attendance at the meetings. It was gratifying to see every member either present or represented, and also one student member at the last meeting.

Letter to the Editor

About twice a month on Thursday morning at 10:20, everyone is supposed to be in the auditorium for the assemblies which are presented there. The assemblies are designed to present a well-balanced diet of programs — not any cut and dried subject, but something that will stimulate a student's mind and make him think about the pros and cons of the subject. Another time perhaps there will be a performer or performers of some type — a singer, or maybe a piano player.

Skip Gosnell

Well, here it is, Turkey Time rolling around again. Also publication of the "D" list (the original scratch sheet.) How did all you neophytes make out in the first 9 weeks in this lyceum? I think I flunked everything but Psychology. I didn't take Psychology. I really made out in science though. I sure like that course. The other day I heard someone say that science never aids business, but that's wrong—look what the law of gravity has done for the suspender business.

I had to laugh at one boy in art class. They were talking about etching. He said he started to etch at the age of 8 and continued until he was 15. I guess it was the 7 year etch. (Wow—the first time I ever realized how bad that one was.)

Overheard on the Police Radio Band—Attention car 66. You have just turned over — you are now car 99.

Just saw Bobby Hall with his nose buried in a book. Guess he can't afford a book-mark.

Thanks to all you folks who wrote me fan letters after the last article. I'd like to publish a couple of them. Here goes—

"Dear Skip, I liked your column very much. I think it was great. It really appealed to me. P. S. Please excuse the crayon but they won't let us have anything sharp in here."

"Dear Skip, I think your column was the greatest piece of literary genius I've ever read, and I'd say this even if I weren't your mother."

Serious? I thought, I've had numerous requests concerning this issue, but I'm no coward, I'm writing it anyway.

But back to Thanksgiving. You know we have a lot to be thankful for. We live in a truly great country. There's nothing I enjoy doing more than reading the history of our country. Well, actually I'd rather do but we won't go into that. This United States was made up of a cross section of the world — people from all countries worked side by side to build a frontier in the wilderness. All of us can trace our ancestry — I was born of mixed parents—male and female. But they were polite. My ancestors would rather cut off their right hand than hurt a woman; now you take my grandfather Lefty. Please take him. But my grandfather was an old Indian fighter. That's all he'd fight, old Indians. But he is considerate. Last week he bought my grandmother a new washing machine so she doesn't have to spend washday over a hot tub. Now she'll have more time for plowing.

Back to history, remember the story of George Washington, how he chopped down the cherry tree and told his father, "I did it with my hatchet, I cannot tell a lie," and his father replied, "You'd better darn sight learn how if you're going into politics." But George's father didn't punish him. Would you hit a kid with an ax in his hand?

In reference to some queries as to the meaning of some of the titles in last issue's column I'll be glad to send you a completely unbiased, unabridged and unnecessary code-book. Just print your name on a $50 bill and put it in my mailbox. Be sure to print your name, remember neatness counts.

Sport Beat

By Bradley

Well, Saturday about wound up college football until New Year's Day in the various bowls, the king of all being the Rose Bowl. The football game will climax the day's festivities in the Tournament of the Roses. This season perhaps, as far as the sports writers and predictors are concerned, has been one of the most unpleasant. It has been a season of many upsets. It has been very difficult for predictors to pick out the winners and the scores beforehand—more so, it seems, than ever before.

Football has come a long way since the days of the "Galloping Ghost," Red Grange or "Give me the ball and let me run" Jim Thorpe. In those days the passing of the football was limited to the snap from the center to the running back. But there have been fellows like "Slinging" Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman whose accuracy at heaving the pigskin has hailed a new era in football, initiating a relatively new system called the Split T formation. Next, the referees will have a new ruling to call "running with the ball."

By the way, Coach Joe Kuback, coach of the pro Washington Redskins, says the Split T is a lazy man's football technique, but predicts it will be dead in six years. What will happen to the Jack Scarbaths, Bob Williams and Doak Walkers?

Never a football season goes by without its share of gripes and the annual gripe is back — the point after touchdown ruling. A logical argument which has been presented is, that if a team outrushes another team by several yards, say team A is rushing toward team B's goal and is penalized several times, off-side clipping, roughness, etc., but still manages to score but misses the extra point, then team B on a fluke play scores, makes the extra point, and wins, despite being out-played all the way. It was recommended that if the extra point was scored by rushing, give two points, if kicked, one point. Then the clipping penalty is debatable. If a runner sees a flying block coming, all he has to do is to turn his back and accept a clipping penalty. This is largely up to the discretion of the referees and umpires.

The Baltimore Orioles, under the general managership of prolific Paul Richards are in the remaking, or so says Ponderous Paul. He claims that if he had two players, any two players of his choice, he could produce a 1st division club. He wants Mino and Rosen, or Berra and Bauer. Well, what does he want? Power and personality? Berra, the best catcher in baseball today, has both. He had power in Samuel Mele and Victor Wertz. Is he saying that if he were at the helm while he had these men he would have made good? He has pitchers and personality, but power?

Since the last issue the Philadelphia A's Franchise has been transferred to Kansas City. This leaves Bob Carpenter and the Phillies solo in Philly but then, due to rigor mortis in the Mack regime, gave them this advantage along with a pennant contender to draw the fans to his Phillies' stamping grounds all along.

Paul Richards says to keep your eyes on the Yankees because of power and a patched up pitching crew, and on the Indians due to their pitching.

Game, Dinner, Dance Highlight Homecoming

To the average student at Salisbury, but to the alumni it is time of renewing old acquaintances and seeing how the school has changed in its appearance as its student body. For the past 10 years an annual homecoming has been held here at S.T.C. Every year there seems to be more school spirit and cooperation in helping to make this a time to be long remembered by alumni and students.

Beginning on Friday night many old friends were seen in the school renewing acquaintances and making new friends. Many of these alumni spent the weekend at the dorms with old friends or their former rooms which had many fond memories.

The president of the alumni association this year, Miss Isabelle Lynch, of the Class of 1944, and her staff worked long hours in printing an Alumni Newsletter and making sure that each member of past classes would try to come to Homecoming this year. Along with the alumni staff, S.G.A. of the school was in charge of the Homecoming events of the day.

Beginning with the soccer game on Saturday at two o'clock, the day was much varied in the activities scheduled. In past years on the day the school team has played the alumni, but because of a previously scheduled game this time not done. Instead, our "Galloping Ghost" played the University of Baltimore team losing by a very heavy breaking score of four to two. This slightly dampened the rest of the day for many of the students but everyone can say that the team played a good game.

Following the soccer game there was registration by the alumni and inspection of the dorms. There was also a tea at the social room for Miss Rose Powell, who served many years as supervisor of the Women's Dorm and was loved by all who knew her.

A business meeting was held in the faculty room, where the topic was the possibility of having summer school at S.T.C. next summer. At the alumni dinner Mr. Boston, of the State Department of Education, asked the subject preferences be referred to the chairman of this meeting.

Dinner for the alumni and guests was served at six o'clock. It is believed that this was one of the largest groups ever to attend this event. Entertainment for the dinner was supplied by Gene Lilley, a former student, and by the Women's Ensemble.

Another event of the day was the annual Homecoming dance sponsored by the S.G.A. for the alumni. During the evening Miss Gertrude Patilla was introduced as the "Soccer Queen," and a trophy was awarded to the outstanding soccer player of the day. Charles Muir was given the award for his participation in the game against Baltimore U. Most was supplied by the "Globe Trotters." The refreshments and decorations were supplied by the members of the S.G.A. Students and alumni enjoyed the dance which brought another "Homecoming" day to a successful close.

Some of the Alumni were heard to remark "I have really enjoyed myself, and am planning to attend again next year." This type of spirit and cooperation will make the school to hold even larger and better "Homecoming" in the future.

Gulls End Soccer Season With A 3-1-1 Record

As the soccer season draws to a close, we see that the Gulls finished up with 3 wins, 1 tie, and 1 loss as a record. This is not the most impressive record ever boasted by a club but it must be considered that we lost some tough ones and the boys were in there all the time. The team looks very good and played heads up ball all the time. Look at the Baltimore U. game. They possessed one of the top soccer teams in the nation and we held them to a 2-2 deadlock for three quarters. Then Towson won out in the first game of the year. It seemed the boys just couldn't get going. Anyway that is how it was and so it will remain. But look at what we will have next year. Eliminating Uncle Sam from the picture we will have ten of the starting eleven back plus the depth of boys who are still developing, plus the incoming freshman team. What more could you ask?

Enough for soccer. Let's have a look at basketball. It would not be an over statement to say that the prospects never looked brighter. Most of you have already observed the fact, but it bears looking into. Monday night, Nov. 8th, some of the boys who had been working out scrimmaged with the Chincoteague Naval Base and beat them, looking very promising in the process. Also quite a few games are scheduled this year.

Following the soccer game there was registration by the alumni and inspection of the dorms. There was also a tea at the social room for Miss Rose Powell, who served many years as supervisor of the Women's Dorm and was loved by all who knew her.

Major League's Nine Is Selected on an Average

Wotta team! A manager's delight! An opposing pitcher's dilemma!

These are phrases of admiration for the mythical "Dream Batting Nine." The lineup includes the players who led their respective positions in the hitting department for 1954.

The top batsman is centerfielder Willie Mays of the Giants. The "Say Hey Kid" led both leagues with .345.

In right field is Willie's teammate on the Giants and the runner-up for the National League crown, Don Mueller, who hit .342.

Holding down the left field spot is the perennial .300 hitter, Ted Williams of the Red Sox. Although Ted appeared in 117 games and hit .346, he missed the American League championship because he was at bat only 386 times (400 is the official number of times). Williams' numerous walks, many of them intentional, prevented his winning the title for the fifth time in his career.

At first base is slugging Ted Kluszewski of the Redlegs. The big clouter hit .326 and also led the major league in homers and runs batted in.

STC Gulls Win Over King's College, 5-2

Overcoming a slow first period start, the STC Gulls came on strong to win a 5-2 triumph over Kings College last Tuesday. It was March and Goodwin scoring for Kings almost from the first whistle. Al Younger scored on a penalty for the Gulls to make it 2-1 as the first quarter ended. Kings dominated play throughout the entire first period, but in the second the Teachers began to move and controlled the rest of the game. The half ended with Kings leading by a 2-1 margin.

In the third quarter Al Younger in his last game at STC scored twice more, once on a field goal and once on a penalty shot. Kings failed to score after the first quarter of play while the STC's tallied twice more in the final period off the toes of Slacum and McCrea. Play was unusually rough with each side substituting for several injured players. The team played well together, exhibiting the brand of soccer they are famous for.

.341, the American League's batting king, is the second baseman on this mythical team.

The shortstop is the veteran Pee Wee Reese, captain of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Reese had his best batting year in the majors with a .309 mark.

The surprise in the lineup is third baseman Andy Carey of the Yankees. Carey hit .301 to nose out Al Rosen of the Indians, last year's most valuable player in the junior circuit, who hit .300.

The man behind the mask is Yogi Berra of the Yankees. Yogi hit .307. Although Smokey Burgess, Phillies catcher, hit a booming .368, he appeared in only 108 games.

Top hitting pitcher is Johnny

WAA Sponsors Game Nights, Hockey Game

The Women's Athletic Association meeting was held last week with President Barbara Bailey presiding. At the meeting a "game-night" chairman was elected. The chairman is Mozelle Par-dew. Her job will be to organize games in the auditorium for the student body.

The hockey team was selected Monday, October 25. This year, if enough interest is shown (and we surely hope there is), a game will be scheduled with King's College.

Plans have been made for intramural hockey also. Games are being played between class teams. We sincerely hope that all students will join in these intramural activities. They are really a lot of fun. Remember, our intramural program can't be a success unless we have the support of the student body.

Last year's letters and awards for basketball and volleyball will be given out sometime this year. The WAA hopes to give award pins also to officers and managers.

The Association's Constitution will be revised this year. A committee is working on it now.

Balt. U. Overcomes 2-2 Tie to Nip Gulls

The University of Baltimore's Bees, overcoming a 2-2 tie with a pair of fourth quarter tallies, nipped the Salisbury Gulls 4-2 here Saturday, November 9, 1954. Homecoming Day.

Podres, Dodger southpaw, with a .283 average.

And how about a few pinch hitters on this squad? There would be Duke Snider who hit .341, Stan Musial at .330 and Minnie Minoso with .320.

Manager Betty Smith Announces Basketball Schedule for Women

Intramural hockey got into full swing this week with the selection of managers for class teams. These class managers are as follows: Lovey Ann Truitt, Freshman; Gertrude Patilla, Sophomore; Pat Morgan Evans, Junior, and Janice Marshall and Harriett Dickinson, Seniors.

During the intramural hockey playoffs, Miss Whitney, Women's Athletic Director, Ina Rae Calloway, Hockey Manager, and Barbara Bailey, President of WAA, have watched the games and selected a varsity hockey team. This team then played a game with King's College on November 20th.

On Saturday, November 13th, at 1:30, the volleyball squad played a practice game with the Baltimore Roamers in the STC gym. This game was arranged by the Recreation Commission.

Two previous practice games with the Culver Rockettes found the STC girls winning by scores of 47-24 and 44-19.

By the way, we hear Harriett Dickinson got a little mixed up as to which team she was playing on. How about it, Harriett?

Dates will be announced soon for girls varsity basketball try-outs. The team will be selected before Christmas. Betty Smith, basketball manager, has announced the following schedule:

There will be two games each with Notre Dame, Kings College, Goldey Beacom, and Gallaudet and one game with Towson. We hope to fill the schedule out with twelve games. Again we wish to urge all students to try out for basketball. Let's make this our best team.

Congratulations to the girls on their fine participation in sports. The freshmen, especially, have been very active.

Sophanes Players in Action

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

There are two groups of people working together to put these programs before the students. The faculty group is headed by the Registrar of the college, Mr. Robert Gebhardt; and the student group chairman is Harold Anderson, who has the job of introducing the guests to the student body.

Attendance is generally very poor, averaging about 100 students each time. The general attitude among the students appears to be that they prefer just entertainment instead of anything else.

All too frequently the students' manners or lack of manners appears at their worst at the assemblies, in the form of walking out in the middle of the program, or else coming into the auditorium and letting the doors bang shut.

Unlike many schools, Salisbury does not make it compulsory to attend the assemblies, but this does not entitle the students to stand outside the auditorium doors and hold loud conversations. That also shows a lack of manners and consideration for others.

About five or six times a year the students themselves present a program for assembly. The Christian Association presents programs on Thanksgiving and Easter, the Glee Club has a program at Christmas, and then there are also student talent presentations.
