SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1892.

That little resolution of Senator Pearce's introduced a short time ago into the Senate to inquire into the method of apportioning the State school fund means much more than is shown upon the face of it. We caution our representatives to have an eye to it. It means that this county will by a certain little crook and turn lose about $2,000 of the school fund—just what it will receive as its proportion of the appropriation for free books.

Many people in the State of Maryland will call Senator John Walter Smith blessed for his introduction and prosecuting to a successful termination, the bill to give the State free text books. Governor Brown had some hesitation at first about signing the bill, as it did not make provision for purchasing and distributing these books, but the matter was arranged by introducing a second bill which makes ample provisions for this. It provides that the county boards shall as now purchase the books, and make periodical reports to the State Board of Education of the books purchased, distributions made, etc.

Free books will certainly increase the efficiency of our schools, what ever else may be said of it.

As startling as the statement may be, we don't hesitate to make it that one-fourth of the school population of this county suffer in their educational facilities more or less, from lack of a sufficient supply of books, besides the great burden to many very poor families. We don't mean by this statement that the work of the schools is lessened one-fourth, from the lack of a proper supply of text books, but that one-fourth of the children suffer more or less.

Now that Free Silver is permanently laid to rest, and Senator Hill has concluded that his presidential bid is a failure, it is going to be the war cry this year. It is significant that Bourke Cockran the great Tammany leader was one of the strongest opponents of Free Silver and wanted to deal it that death blow which it received last week. Mr. Hill was a Free Silver man and had his most intimate lieutenant Congressman Rockwell, to vote for the bill. The papers are now beginning to talk about Tammany's support of Cleveland. Wouldn't that be strange? Nevertheless it looks a great deal more likely than it did a month ago. In this connection it is interesting to note what the Sentinel, the leading Democratic organ of Indiana has to say on the subject of Cleveland:

"The action of the Democratic convention of Orange and Miami counties on Saturday in instructing their delegates to the state convention for Cleveland; unquestionably expresses the overwhelming sentiment of those counties, as well as of the state at large. The Sentinel has taken special pains to ascertain the drift of Democratic opinion throughout Indiana on the Presidential question, and has discovered that it is overwhelmingly for Cleveland. Certainly there are not to exceed half a dozen counties—no doubt if there is one in which on a full Democratic vote, Mr. Cleveland would not receive more ballots than all the other persons combined who have been named in connection with the nomination. In many counties the Democrats are practically unanimous for Cleveland. Taking the state through, it is an exceedingly modest estimate to say that 75 per cent are in favor of Cleveland as against the field, and that 90 per cent are for him as against anybody but ex-Governor Gray."

"This being the fact—and no man who understands the existing conditions in Indiana can honestly gainsay it—ex-Governor Gray certainly owes it to himself and to the party which has so highly honored him in the past to relieve the situation of the embarrassment which his Presidential candidacy involves. Out of friendly consideration for him the Sentinel has refrained until this time from saying what it should have said weeks ago, that he is not the first choice of the Indiana Democrats for President, and that their first choice for President is Mr. Cleveland, because he embodies the great issues upon which the campaign must be fought and is the logical candidate. He cannot go to the Chicago convention in opposition to Mr. Cleveland with the remotest possibility of securing the nomination."

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, it is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health may be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has obtained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite Spring Medicine. It cures the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

The patrons of the public schools in Tipton's neck, Queen Anne's county, taught by Mrs. Harley, have presented it with a large bell.

William A. Leary

of Kentville, Ind., says Hood's Sarsaparilla

King of Medicines

And His Cure Was

Almost a Miracle

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"Gentlemen: When I was 14 years of age I was confined to my bed for several months by an attack of rheumatism, and when I had partially recovered I did not have the use of my legs, so that I had to go on crutches. About a year later, however, in the form of appeared on various parts of my body, and for eleven years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed six years. In that time I was treated by the best physicians, and used every remedy known to medicine, but without success. I was then advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I did so, and in a few days I began to feel better. This strengthened my faith in the medicine, and in a short time I was able to get up and about. I am now well, and I can say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a true and reliable medicine, and I can recommend it to all who are afflicted with the above named troubles. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, Wm. A. Leary."

Up and Out of Doors

To make a long story short, I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for a year, when I had become so fully restored from the chains of disease that I took a position with the Pitt & Wallace Mfg. Co., and since that time have not lost a single day on account of sickness. I always feel well, and in good spirits, and have a good appetite. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, Wm. A. Leary."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

For it has been a great blessing to me, and to my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I have ever used. It is sold by all druggists, and by the following agents: Wm. A. Leary, No. 3 North Railroad st., Kentville, Ind.

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1892.

—When the National Democratic Convention meets at Chicago to nominate a party candidate for the presidency, it will have two duties to perform, one to select a candidate, the other to construct a platform upon which to place the candidate.

There is one way of making this latter duty simple and unequivocal, that is by nominating a man whose views are so decided, well known and well defined, that every body who wishes to vote the party ticket will know exactly for what he is voting.

The party is so divided on some of the most vital questions of the day, that it's policy is really doubtful in the minds of many. No party can be said to have a policy when an actual polling of its representatives is necessary to find out how the party stands, as was the case when the issue was made some weeks ago on the silver question.

For the party to nominate a man now like David B. Hill would leave the country in doubt as to the party's policy on the silver question. No matter what platform the convention adopted, to nominate anybody except Mr. Cleveland would be sending notice that the party intended to abandon the issue of Tariff Reform, what ever may be the action of the convention so far as adopting platforms goes.

The nomination of Mr. Cleveland therefore has become a party necessity. The fact is rapidly becoming recognized; so much so that no other name will be presented to the convention, when the time comes.

The nomination of Mr. Cleveland is a sufficient guaranty to the party and to the country of the party's position. No other platform will be needed. Every body will know that the issue will be Tariff Reform and No Tinkering with the Currency. To this may be added, honesty in office, and economy in the administration of the government, and it is to be hoped, a general shaking up of the pension office which is now costing more than it costs any country in Europe to maintain its standing army.

Cleveland is the man, and Maryland should be taking some decisive steps looking to the selection of men to represent the state at Chicago and cast her vote for him.

There is an old trick among politicians that should be kept in mind now, that is, that when they see the masses are determined to have anything, they consent to it for the purpose of representing the people or rather securing a delegation that is more likely to misrepresent than to represent them. We want well known Cleveland men to represent us at Chicago.

—The Maryland Legislature adjourned last Monday at midnight after a rather eventful session.

It opened with the senatorial contest, and every day since that contest closed that body has been engaged in the consideration of important legislation. The pledges of the party have been faithfully carried out.

First, we have an assessment law, that is, if it meets the governor's approval, which is radically different from the law now standing on our statute books.

There is some difference of opinion as to the radical features of this law. We refer more particularly to the stringency in taxing personal property. But the party pronounced an assessment and we have covered every case imaginable, which it should.

Secondly, the Australian ballot law has been made general in the state. This was promised and the pledge has been kept.

Third—One hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated to furnishing the pupils of the public schools with free books. This bill we are sorry to say the Governor has vetoed.

Fourth—The telephone monopoly has been compelled to lessen its rates about twenty-five per cent, by what is known as the telephone bill.

Fifth—The rocky catching season has been shortened. The tongs are now kept off the rocks till September 20th and the dredgers till October 15th, and tongs are required to take out an individual license instead of a boat license.

Senator Hayes thinks his assessment bill will increase the assessable base of the state one hundred per cent, or double the present basis. We do not take such a rosy view of the matter.

To Mr. Filigood of this county is due, in a very great measure, the success of the Hayes bill in the House. The ways and means committee of the House reported an assessment bill closely resembling the one upon our statute books at present. Mr. Filigood, who was a member of the committee, dissented and declined to sign the report, insisting upon the feature requiring an annual listing of personal property. He was defeated on the passage of that bill but succeeded when the Hayes bill reached the house after a hard fight.

Buffalo's Protest.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 5.—Democrats in ex-President Cleveland's former home held a rousing mass-meeting tonight to protest against the delegation to Chicago chosen by Senator Hill's snap convention. The gathering took place in Music Hall, this city, which was repeatedly with the cheers and the enthusiasm of the crowd vented itself. Mayor Bishop, of Buffalo, presided and made an address. The other speakers were Mr. Chas. Fairchild, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, ex-Mayor Wm. R. Grace, of New York City, and Mr. Frank M. Thorn, of Buffalo. The officers and speakers of the meeting were escorted to the hall by a procession of democratic clubs bearing transparencies, banners and torches.

Mayor Bishop, in the opening speech of the evening, said: "Party leaders are necessary, and when they are content to execute the will of the party which honors them they should be respected. When they attempt to use the party to further their personal ends they should be rebuffed. We are democrats because we believe that the principles of the democratic party applied to government affairs will produce the greatest good to the greatest number. We believe that the ultimate and permanent triumph of tariff reform, honest money and economical government is vastly more important than the temporary success of any individual. And believing as we do, we demand that the nominee of the national democratic party for the highest position in the gift of all people shall stand first and foremost for these principles, without hesitation or equivocation."

Ex-Secretary Fairchild said: "We claim that the action of the convention which met in Albany on the 22nd of February was not an expression of the will of the democrats of this State. You will remember that instructions were unanimously given at that convention to the delegates to present the name of David B. Hill to the national convention as the nominee of the democracy of New York for the presidential nomination. You will remember that the last democratic President was not mentioned, nor was his administration mentioned, in that convention. Surely, this was not the expression of the will of the democrats of this State. We claim that we can go to the members of the democratic party in this State, and get from them such an expression of opinion as will convince the world that the delegation of the 22d of February does not represent the democracy of the State. Having such a case as we say we have and will prove, it is worth while to present that case to the National convention? What would you have the consequence to the party had we done nothing but we made no effort to collect the evidence with which to support our case? Very few of you here and few democrats anywhere in the State, believe that, if the action of the Albany convention should be ratified by the national convention, the result would be anything else than disastrous to the democratic party. Therefore, our primary impulse, the great motive which moved all of us, was to save the democratic party, to save our friends in the South from all the consequences which come from a disaster to the democratic party in the North."

Mr. Wm. R. Grace said: "We in New York city are striving, as you have here, to free the party, which under the leadership of Tilden, of Manning and of Cleveland, has heretofore commanded our loyal and enthusiastic support from the corrupting control of the present State committee dominated as it is by Mr. Hill. We, too, are democrats, but we think that democracy stands for something more than success in a game where personal advantage is exalted above principle, and where organization is exalted as the end of party effort and not the means through which the political consciousness of the masses manifest themselves."

"We are not willing that all that has been gained for the democracy by adherence to a policy based upon conviction shall be thrown aside. We think that the path to a sure and abiding success lies in the support of the leaders which, in 1889, wrested Iowa from the republicans, brought Massachusetts into the column of doubtful states, elected a democratic governor in Ohio and won back New York—which had been lost by four thousand votes in 1885—by majorities greater than the adverse majorities of the year before. The silver bill has been beaten by a democratic House, and the democratic party has been spared the disgrace, which an aspirant for the presidency would willingly have put upon it, of forcing the laboring classes and business interests of the country to look to the veto of a republican president to save them from the shame and disaster of a debased currency, with all the evils that follow in its train. The tariff question thus again becomes the leading issue. The logic of the situation presents but one leader, and it seems to me at this time that the renomination of Mr. Cleveland is as sure as any future event in politics can well be."

Mr. Thorn of Buffalo, after contrasting the political courses of Cleveland and Hill, created amusement by declaring: "The people are not prepared for a shifty, shifting, equivocating, prevaricating candidate for the highest honor in their gift, though he would be the ideal candidate for the people like Increase D. O'Phar, who said: 'We were ready to vote for whoever' wuz eligible, Ef on all points at 1890 he'll stay unimpeachable.'"

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the call for the State Democratic Convention to be held at Syracuse May 31, to choose a contesting delegation to Chicago.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury. As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. The N. Y. Herald's Ticket.

The Herald's ticket for the republican side is Blaine and Reid or Lincoln and Reid.

The Herald's ticket for the democratic side is Waterson and Hill or Campbell and Hill.

You pays your money and you takes your choice.—Herald.

Query: Suppose both tickets are nominated which will the Herald support, all or none?

It is not theory but fact—that Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong. A fair trial will convince you of its merit.

Sentiment Changing.

When Senator Hopson of Kent was interviewed some weeks ago on an imprudent question he unqualifiedly expressed his preference for Senator Gorman for president. The Kent News followed in a similar strain. The inference was that the people of Kent were behind the Senator and the leading organ of the party in the county. If so, a change has come over the spirit of our neighbors' dreams. Last Tuesday night, says the Transcript: "A rousing meeting of the democracy of the 4th (Chester) district met at Siam Hall early in the evening. The meeting was the most important of the town were present. Wm. M. Slay son-in-law of the late Richard H. Slayson presided. The committee on resolutions, consisting Hon. J. A. Pearce, Wm. S. Walker and Dr. Beck (late clerk) made this report:

1. Resolved, That this club organized for the promotion in Kent county of two principles, viz., to the prosperity and happiness of the people, and to the advancement of the true democracy—First, The endorsement of a true democratic platform, and second, the endorsement of the Federal Government, but which, when this is assured, shall look to the interest of the masses of the people, and not to the fostering of special or favored classes and sections. The platform and maintenance of a currency adequate to the needs of the country, but providing a stable and uniform standard of value not only for the transaction of all business at home, but for all exchanges in the markets of the world."

Resolved, That we find in Grover Cleveland the trust and most courageous living exponent of these fundamental principles, and from his career as President from 1885 to 1889, the people have learned that to him, more than to any other man, they can commit the reins of government from 1893 to 1897."

Resolved, That his course as mayor of the great commercial city of Buffalo, Governor of the State of New York, President of the United States, and as the first citizen of the country, since his retirement from office, has commended him throughout the country, as the bravest and most unselfish representative and friend of the people since the days of Jefferson."

Resolved, That, in the best judgment of this club, the office of President of the United States demands a man of the caliber, and especially at this time, great statesmanship, lofty patriotism and absolute consecration to the good of the whole people, regardless of self, and that Grover Cleveland possesses these requisites more than any other known man to day."

Resolved, That he is the unserved and only choice of this club for President, and that we will work faithfully to secure his nomination."

James A. Pearce made a minority report, offering the following resolution, which was most heartily endorsed and passed, after which the resolutions were adopted as a whole, embodying both the majority and minority report of the committee.

Resolved, That in the spontaneous and enthusiastic demand of the people for Cleveland as the leader of the Democratic party, we recognize the condemnation of the selfishness and time serving politicians, whose methods endanger our institutions, as well as their reservation of that personal and political independence which is essential to free government."

This looks as if there is some Cleveland sentiment in Kent to."

Death of Chancellor Salisbury.

Dover, April 6.—Chancellor Willard Salisbury died this morning, at 6:15 o'clock, at his residence in this town, in the 72 year of his age.

Death was caused by an attack of apoplexy, and occurred a few minutes after the arrival of Dr. L. A. H. Bishop, who was hastily summoned. He had been affected for years by a partial paralysis of the lower part of his body, which made such a cripple that he could not move about without assistance.

The fatal attack was sudden and unexpected, as the chancellor was in his usual health yesterday, and went out riding in the afternoon.

Hon. Willard Salisbury, chancellor of the State of Delaware since 1873, and United States senator from 1879 to 1881, was born in Mispillion hundred, Kent county, Delaware, June 2, 1820. William Salisbury, his father, was a man of strong character, sterling worth and commanding influence in the community where he lived. His mother, Margaret Salisbury, was a daughter of Captain Thomas Smith. She was a most exemplary woman and possessed great mental power, a marked characteristic of her distinguished son, two of whose brothers, the late Dr. Gove Salisbury, governor of Delaware, and Hon. Eli Salisbury, a senator in Congress of the United States from 1871 to 1889, also attained national reputation.—Evening.

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated rooms, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health may be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country at the favorite Spring Medicine. It expels the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

The Cleveland sentiment among the people of the country grows stronger daily. If the people want Mr. Cleveland, why should the politicians oppose him? It is our great boast that we live under a government of the people, by the people and for the people. We shall see whether this is true when the nomination is made. The people want Cleveland; the politicians don't. If the people are not capable of selecting their own candidate, then our boasted government by the people is a sham, and should hereafter be known as a government by the bosses.—Snow Hill Press.

President Polignoli's Peril.

The Argentine government claims to have discovered in the city of Buenos Ayres a gigantic plot by the radical party to assassinate President Polignoli and Generala Roa and Mitre, ex-Presidents; to establish a dictatorship and to freely use dynamite bombs in routing the troops and police.

It alleged that, only for the prompt measures taken by it as soon as the conspiracy was detected, Buenos Ayres would have witnessed Monday one of the bloodiest riots in its history.

The radicals deny the serious charges preferred against them by the authorities, but there seems to be no doubt that Monday had been chosen by the enemies of the present administration for the inauguration of a well and boldly planned revolution.

As it is the insurrection seems quelled for the time being and most of the leaders are in custody, including Dr. Alem, who, it is asserted, was to have been proclaimed Dictator immediately after the murder of the Chief Magistrate and the two generals.

In many of the radical clubs dynamite bombs were found as well as peculiar canes and hooded cloaks by which the rebels intended to identify each other.—N. Y. Herald.

Women are not slow to comprehend. They're quick. They're alive, and yet it was a man who discovered the one remedy for their peculiar ailments. The man was Dr. Pierce.

We can hardly imagine a woman's not trying it. Possibly it may be true to one or two—but we don't think it. Women are ripe for it. They must have it. Think of a prescription and nine out of ten waiting for it. Carry the news of them!

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pills are the Little Regulators.

The city of Wilmington and New Castle county have united in a request that Hon. Thomas F. Bayard represent Delaware to the Chicago convention. This looks as if there's some Cleveland sentiment among the Blue Hen's Chickens.

Right, neighbors, as usual; Cleveland's the watchword. Wicomico is the same way of thinking.

Pratt's Astral Oil is universally conceded to be the best burning and illuminating oil ever put on the market. This result is due to the fact that in its distillation, the employment of the highest mechanical skill, the closest attention to every detail and the use of the most approved methods in its manufacture.

Pratt's Astral Oil from the use of which no accidents have occurred, has earned an unequalled reputation as a clean grade of illuminating oil for twenty-five years, during which time many millions of gallons have been sold.

Pratt's Astral Oil is pure spring water white in color, of high gravity, odorless, and burns with a bright, steady light as long as a drop remains in the lamp.

Pratt's Astral Oil costs but little more than the inferior grades of illuminating oil and gives far more satisfaction in its use than any oil on the market. It is especially a family oil.

The following is from a clergyman long influential in New England, now spending well earned rest in Cabot, Vt.: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family for many years past, with great benefit. We have, with confidence, recommended the above statement of Mr. Stone, almost all of whom have certified to great benefit by its use. We can honestly and cheerfully recommend it as the best blood purifier we have ever tried. We have used others, but none with the beneficial effects of Hood's. Also, we deem Hood's Pills and Olive Oil most valuable. Mrs. Stone says she cannot do without them.' Rev. J. P. Stone."

Better than Cold

The discovery was his "Favorite Prescription"—the boon to delicate women. Why go round "with one foot in the grave," suffering in silence—misunderstood—when there's a remedy at hand that isn't an experiment, but which is sold under the guarantee that if you are disappointed in any way in it, you can get your money back by applying to its makers.

A Short Time to Live

Eight months ago as a neighbor urged me, I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. The whole lower part of my leg and foot was a running sore, but it has almost completely healed. I can truly say I am far better than I have been for many years. I have taken no other medicine, and consider that I owe all my improvement to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

During the past eleven years every gallon of the famous Longman and Martinez pure prepared paints has been sold under our positive guarantee—that any Building would be re-painted at our expense if not satisfactory when painted with our paints, and not remaining satisfactory for a proper term of years thereafter. In view of the apparently low prices at which cheaply made benzine and water paints are offered, and the difficulty experienced in discriminating between the best paints and paints of inferior character, we now add to our previous guarantee the additional guarantee of cost, thus placing the low price of our paint beyond doubt.

We authorize any dealer to furnish our paints free of cost to any buyer who, having painted his building with our paints, can demonstrate that our paint has not cost 10 per cent. less for less than cost used, than cost would have been for either pure white lead and linseed oil or any other mixed paint in this country.

C. J. Gravenor, Esq., went over to Annapolis this week as a representative of the W. O. T. U. to urge the passage of a law requiring certain qualifications necessary to make a legal voucher to a liquor dealer's license in this district. A large majority of the representative men of the district petitioned to the legislature to enact the law. It was passed, late last hour, with some modifications to be submitted to the qualified voters of the district at the election to be held next November.

Mr. Hamilton B. Owens of this district, died last Saturday after a short illness of pneumonia, aged 62 years. Mr. Owens was a brother of Uriah Owens, who dropped dead some months ago while sawing wood, also of Josiah Owens who died last fall. They were all three interred in the family burying ground on the old homestead about three miles from Sharptown. He was at the time of his death, a member of the Lory Court of Sussex county, Del.

The fish hatching here, under the supervision of W. C. Man, Esq., is preparing for operations which will begin in a few days. The new pasturage of the M. E. church, Rev. T. C. Smith, arrived here last week, and has assumed the pastorate of this church as a station, the three rural charges having been made a separate circuit.

Arbor Day was appropriately observed in the school house. The forenoon session was devoted to literary and musical exercises, participated in by the teachers and pupils of both departments in joint session. In the afternoon, trees and various shrubs were planted on the school premises, after which a picnic was taken in the bowery of the adjacent country.

John R. Twilley is erecting a large stone building with a public hall on the second floor. Mr. L. W. Gunby of Salisbury is having the roof put on this week. Mr. H. Knowles attended the civil service (T) examination held in Baltimore on Tuesday of this week, presumably to give evidence of his qualifications as an applicant for a position in the Baltimore custom house.

Mr. J. H. Robinson is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Twilley, in Baltimore this week.

Death of Henry J. Dashiell.

Henry J. Dashiell a prominent citizen of this county died at his home, of heart failure, last Sunday night about eleven o'clock. He had been ailing for some months suffering from the disease that sometimes seizes the vital cord. Before the war Mr. Dashiell was a large slave owner, and had at various times during his life been a large real estate owner, principally in Trappe district. He once owned and occupied the property in Trappe district, opposite Old Green, Hill where Samuel Chase, and of the signers of the Declaration of Independence resided. The building that is there now was probably erected at a later date, but is quaint and belongs to a bygone era of architecture.

Funeral services were held at his late residence on Division street, Tuesday at noon by the Rev. Mr. Dashiell, assisted by Rev. Hark of the M. E. church South of which he had been a member many years. The interment took place in the family burying ground on the Chase place.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Amos W. Woodcock, E. L. Waller, James Cannon, W. B. Tilghman, E. T. Williams and W. L. Todd. He was nearly 80 years old.

Report of the Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury made to the Court the following report on the condition of the alma house and jail:

"The Grand Jury of the March term, 1892, of Worcester county, having appointed the committee to examine the jail and alma house, beg leave to report that we found the alma house in a very dilapidated condition, there being many places in the floors unsafe to walk over. The building and other things pertaining to the alma house were found to be in good condition. The present inmates are three whites, one male and two females, and three colored females. The matron has been compelled to vacate the kitchen on account of its bad condition and to occupy the parlor for that purpose. "The jail we found to be in good condition, and the inmates, five in all, expressed themselves as fully satisfied with their treatment, their food being of a good and substantial kind and furnished to them in sufficient quantities. We would recommend that a sufficient amount be added to the Court House janitor's salary to enable him to employ help to clean the water closets and keep them in good condition."

The Municipal Election.

The municipal election which took place last Tuesday resulted in the election of the ticket nominated at the court house Monday, 27th. Mayor Humphreys was re-elected by a vote of 314, practically without opposition. The Councilmen were elected by the following vote: A. Frank Parsons, 297; Noah H. Rider, 290; Thos. H. Williams, 290. Some scattering votes were cast.

We hope that the question of having our sidewalks put in better condition, will be one of the first considered by the new board. Much of the old board walks on East Church street are now in very bad condition and requires immediate care; also some of the brick pavement on the Alma house and near the water works. The city of Dover, and county of Kent, Del. In the columns are many familiar faces of prominent men throughout the state—Gov. Reynolds, Secretary of State Marvel, General Kenney, Congressman Conner, W. H. Stevens, W. L. Sirman, Rev. J. A. B. Wilson, John P. Sanborn and others. In the list is one of the editor himself.

The Building and Loan Association.

The stockholders of the Salisbury Permanent Building and Loan Association are called upon to meet in the Court House Tuesday 10th, for the purpose, of considering the adoption of an amended charter.

The new charter provides for greatly enlarging the business of the association. One of the features of the new charter is to empower the association to issue preferred stock or debenture bonds, guaranteeing a certain rate of interest. Many persons who invest in the association's securities would prefer this to common stock, as it is absolutely secure and perfectly safe. These securities will be issued on long or short terms. The short term ones will be issued at a much lower rate of interest proportionately. Powers are also granted to take small sums of money on deposit in any sum, to accumulate and when it reaches $25, a certificate bearing interest can then be issued therefor. The charter also empowers the association to take goods, wares, bonds or other valuables on deposit and charge storage for safe keeping.

A full attendance of members is desired.

Another Saturday Night Burglary.

At Col. Leonard's they entered the office situated in the yard by boring the shutters and breaking in the glass. They took away a pair of boots and a tin box, which they supposed contained money. Finding it and its contents of no value they left it at the back part of the lot.

An effort was made to enter the residence of the Misses Fish, but the intention was abandoned after simply breaking open the shutter.

Nothing was taken from the residence of Mr. L. V. Taylor in the city this week adding to the list of burglaries.

LARGE PAINFUL ULCER.

On Limb. Completely Helpless. Unable to Walk without Crutches. Flesh so the Bone Dropped Out.

Suffered Greatly. Doctors Failed to Relieve. Speedily Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

In the summer of 1888, a sore came on the fleshy part of my right leg, not far from the shin bone. It continued to increase in size, and eventually formed a large ulcer three inches long by two wide. I employed a regular physician, and eventually part of the flesh of the bone dropped out, after suffering with the ulcer for six months I was induced to try the Cuticura Remedies. In about a week the ulcer began to show signs of improvement, and eventually was completely healed. Another man, who had been in my place, but the same treatment soon cured that. I believe in Cuticura, and I believe in its power for the restoration to health. My leg is now as well as ever, and I am able to walk without crutches, and am free from all pain.

ROSA MOORE, Postmaster.

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1892.

It is said that the southern melon crop is not so large as it was last year by a "very large majority." Someone else besides Wicomico farmers "got left" last year on melons.

Baltimore city seems solid for Cleveland now. The Calumet club, composed of the "bore" of the city, headed by such celebrities as I. Freeman Ross, John Q. A. Robson, and Johnny Quinn have declared for him. He is hard to tell what this all means.

Hill seems to have sunk into insignificance all of a sudden. We don't hear anything now of his boom. It is said that the South proved rather warm for him; besides Tammany didn't want to get left. It is to be hoped that Tammany will feel the same way about the democratic nominee, whoever he may be; that is, won't want to see him get left.

Gov. Brown has vetoed the assessment bill, giving as his reason, the objection to the bill by the people.

Could a bill be passed that would not be objectionable to some one? Possibly, the governor did not take into consideration the fact that those who wanted the bill were saying nothing, because they were satisfied.

Now that this bill has been vetoed and the free school book bill, the work of the Legislature don't make much of a showing. It is a great deal like playing Hamlet with Hamlet left out. One and one-half cents on the hundred dollars was retained to supply the state with free books—for no other purpose. How will the amount collected from that source be expended now? Previous to 1892 this one and one-half cents was levied for a specific purpose—to pay off a certain loan. That loan has been paid off. The legislature of 1892 vetoed the free text books; the Governor has vetoed the bill. What is now to become of the $75,000 levied for that purpose? It was not levied for a surplus or sinking fund.

No Extra Session.

ANNAPOLIS, April 12.—There will be no extra session of the Senate. This conclusion was reached to-day in a conference between the Governor and the attorney-general, when the latter gave his opinion that it is not necessary for the Senate to meet and confirm the nominations of school commissioners and oyster inspectors, and that the Governor has full authority under the laws to make these positions to fill them during a recess. There never was any question of Governor's right to name the election supervisors in the nine counties that are now included in the provisions of the Australian ballot law. It is maintained that the law conferring on the Governor the right to name these school commissioners in all the counties of the State creates vacancies in these offices that are now filled by judicial appointment, and that the Governor can supply these vacancies without senatorial sanction. The oyster inspectors are now positions that have not heretofore existed, and as there is no duty for them to perform until the oyster season opens again there is no necessity for their appointment until that time, when a vacancy will clearly exist under the law. The Governor will name the school commissioners and oyster inspectors in August. This determination of the Governor and attorney-general will save the State about $25,000, as it is estimated by expert authority that an extra session of the Senate would absorb this sum.

The Governor and attorney-general are now selecting the general laws that are to be published in the new year of the State. This work was commenced today, and will be completed and reported to the clerk of the Court of Appeals on Thursday. Speaker Van Dine and President Lloyd will meet in Baltimore on Monday and select the papers in the city and counties in which these laws are to be published. For this work each county receives $500 and the city $1,800.

The law increasing the salary of the judges in the State is one of the measures that successfully ran the gamut of the executive favor and is now enrolled among the laws that are effective. The law provides that the salary of each chief judge of the first seven judicial circuits and of the judge in the Court of Appeals from Baltimore city, and the several judges of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city shall each receive $4,500 annually. Each associate justice in the seven judicial circuits shall receive $3,000 annually. The salary in each case to be payable quarterly. The passage of this act made the law which applied only to Baltimore city unnecessary, and so the Governor pocketed it.—Baltimore Sun.

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter the system becomes so general as to be clogged with waste, and the blood loaded with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which must be overcome, or the health will be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite Spring medicine through the accumulation of imperfections through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs and skin, give to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

The Democracy of Maryland Declares for Cleveland and Ravert Reform.

The Tariff Reform club of Maryland held a meeting at the Opera House last Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The speakers were A. Leo Knott, Hon. Wm. P. Laidlaw, of Baltimore, Hon. Philip D. Laird of Montgomery, Hon. James Alfred Pearce of Kent, Senator John B. Brown of Queen Anne's, Ex-Senator J. Clarence Lane of Washington, and James R. Ellegood of Wicomico.

Mr. Knott Presided over the meeting. The following were elected vice presidents:

A. Hunter Boyd, of Allegany county. Thomas S. Iglehart, of Anne Arundel county.

G. Harlan Williams, Michael A. Mullin, Thomas W. Hall, Dr. John Morris, J. Penbrook Heath, Eben B. Hunting, George R. Thom, Arthur Sachs, of Baltimore city.

Col. Walter S. Franklin of Baltimore county.

Dr. Jones, of Calvert county. T. Herbert Schriver, of Carroll county.

Dr. R. C. Mackall, of Cecil county. Samuel Cox, Jr., of Charles county.

Wm. P. Mearns, Jr., of Frederick county.

Waiting Thomas of Garrett county. State Senator John G. Rogers of Howard county.

State's Attorney Wm. M. Slay of Kent county.

State Senator Edward Woodson of Montgomery county.

Charles B. Calvert of Prince George's county.

Wm. M. McKenny, of Queen Anne's county.

Wm. S. McMaster of Somerset county.

Col. J. F. Dent of Mary's county.

Edward Lloyd, President of State Senate.

Edward W. Mesley of Washington county.

Thomas Perry of Wicomico county.

Gov. W. Bishop of Worcester county.

The secretary was Charles M. Howard of Baltimore city.

Resolutions were passed endorsing Cleveland and Tariff Reform and recommending that Cleveland clubs be organized in every county in the State.

Below we give Mr. Ellegood's speech as reported in the Baltimore Sun:

Mr. Ellegood said: "Four years ago Grover Cleveland and tariff reform were united in the bonds of democratic matrimony in the temple of democracy at St. Louis, and the bonds were blessed by the high priest of the temple—the democratic people."

"If there is any matter predetermined by the unalterable decree of the democratic masses, it is the nomination and election of Grover Cleveland as President of the United States in 1892 and the success of tariff reform. Whatever difference of opinion may exist on other questions, these, at least, are settled. This is not a campaign in which some great name is to be made, but in which the finger points out the candidate, saying: 'Behold the man! It is the voluntary, intuitive turning of all eyes toward this peer among the greatest of American statesmen. See the firm hold he has, not so much on the hearts as on the conviction of the American people. He appeals to their reason more than to their sentiments, he convinces their judgment and makes no attempt to control their passion or their prejudice."

"He might as well say that he neither fears him nor loves him, but they enter into a nobler sentiment than either. They do admire the man for his manliness, his unbounding integrity and his unselfish devotion to the best interests of his country as he understood them. They believe in him and are afraid to trust him. Within all the varied stages of promotion, from the humble station of private life to the chief executive of the nation, he has never faltered in the line of duty or been found wanting in any emergency. He is that faithful in the least as well as faithful in the greatest trust, and when called on the second time to head his party he neither sought nor declined the leadership. When the people's choice fell on him, he stepped into the ranks of the private citizen, doing his duty there as honorably as in the discharge of his public functions."

"Cleveland never has to stand on the street corners proclaiming his democracy. All men know him by his works, and no man doubts his party fealty, his sincerity or his patriotism. He thinks of his country and not of himself; he talks of duties and fundamental principles, and not of party machinery."

"Some men seem to be no broader than a faction or a faction of their party, others are as broad as the party itself, while others will comprehend within their grasp and scope of action the whole nation, and believe that 'public office is a public trust,' and that while legislation and administration of government should be on the lines of party principle, yet they should be done with a view to the nation's peace, prosperity and happiness."

"He serves his party best who serves his country first."

"Now, as touching the doctrine of tariff reform, this does not mean free trade. Whatever may be the individual views on this subject, that is among the unalterable things, but it does mean a reduction of taxation on imported articles, which enhances the prices of domestic goods, and the prices of the manufactured products that enter into the necessities of our everyday life; things that are necessary to our very existence, that make us happy or unhappy according to the measures and contents of our pocket-books and our ability to buy. Speaking of taxation, if I am not much mistaken, we have heard and read a little of late on that subject in our State."

"If I understand the situation, we would much like to have a tax law that does not tax, an assessment law that won't assess, and, of course, we want a tariff that isn't a tax. I think that every man in Baltimore city, and particularly some of our leading republicans, must be fully convinced that tariff reform is the drive capital out of the country, break up our industries, ruin our cities, and leave our farmers to 'root hog or die,' for we are informed that inevitable taxation brings about all these dire calamities. Now, if there is such a thing as a taxable metaphysical taxation, it must be the tariff tax, for nobody sees it, but everybody pays it—from the bootblack to the trust magnate on his throne. And we call it 'protection.' Protection of the rich at the expense of the poor, of trusts and combines at the expense of individual action and competition. Oh! for a government that will protect us against 'protection.'"

"This country needs no protection. I believe that American industry and industry can compete with the world. We are no longer an infantile nation with infantile industries."

"We are done with our swaddling and can stand alone, walk, run and fight alone if need be."

"It is belittling to hear men of this great country crying out for protection against foreign competition. It is not protection that these tariff lords want; they want the earth and the fullness thereof, and they would let the cattle of the farmers on the thousand hills and in the fat valley dry on the hoof."

"Who protects the farmer against short crops and over production? Who protects him against the bulls and bears? Who guarantees him the early and the later rain in due season? He plants and knows not whether he will gather; he sows and knows not whether he shall reap, and if he reaps and gathers he knows not whether the prices will be remunerative, for there is but little protection for him. But he does know that he has to pay tariff prices for all he buys in this tariff market. The simplest of all the fallacies is the protection which is said to give to the laborer—the wage-earner. With an open market for labor, how can a closed market enhance the hire of the laborer, to say nothing of that large class of laborers who are not ranked among the skilled mechanics?"

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Four hundred delegates attended a white republican league convention at Dallas, Texas, Tuesday. The majority of the delegates are young men, who boldly declare that they are ready to "cut loose from the nigger" and build up a white republican party in Texas. It is probable that a State ticket will be placed in the field.

What folly to suffer with catarrhal troubles, when the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head are relieved and cured by the mild, cleansing and healing properties of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It purifies the food, breaks up, removing the cause of infection, heals the sore and inflamed passages, and perfects a lasting cure.

Among the students to graduate in the American College, Rome, this year are Bernard Campbell, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Michael Maher, of St. Augustine, Fla.; John O. Behr, of St. Augustine, S. Thomas Moore, of Florida, nephew of the Bishop of St. Augustine; Leaden Johnson, of Baltimore.

Dr. Bushrod Poole died at his residence in Frederick, Md., Tuesday, aged eighty-six years. He formerly practiced medicine at Buckeystown, Frederick county. He leaves several sons, among them Prof. Cyrus W. Poole.

The report of Tuesday's election in Newport makes the completion of the next Rhode Island Legislature 60 republicans, 31 democrats, with 11 Assembly-men to be chosen.

Victims of the Flood.

NASHVILLE, TENN., April 12.—The possible loss of life across the Mississippi State line grows more appalling and the death list is constantly increasing. The water now is over the land for seventy miles south of here. Scores of homes, bodies of men, women and children, together with those of dumb beasts are floating on the muddy waters. Over 1,200 people are homeless. The flood is caused by the sudden rising of sixteen rivers which form a network over North Mississippi. Rafts, small boats and canoes were built by the score and stocked with provisions. Daring rescuers have started out to carry aid to the sufferers. One raftman rowed 33 miles last night with 26 bodies piled upon his raft, with no light but an oil lantern to guide him. Every hour or so a boatman or raftman comes into one of the many landings with one to ten bodies, swollen, discolored and some of them beginning to decay. Sixty-one bodies of both sexes have been recovered thus far. The flood is beginning to recede slowly. It is estimated that the damage will amount to over $2,000,000.

The citizens of Louisa county, Miss., have petitioned Congressmen Allen, their representative, to ask the government for aid, as their own means are inadequate to the needs of the homeless people.

Losses of live stock and crops are beyond computation at present, but will be enormous. Meagre details only are obtainable as communication is cut off from the flooded section.

ANNEDEEN, S. D., April 12.—Rain has been steadily falling since early morning, with prospects of continuing. No seeding of consequence can be done for a good many days on account of the mud.

The bridge over the James river at Eaton has been washed away, and extensive improvements at Hekla and at other points are in great and immediate danger. The James river has not been on such a rampage for years, and thousands of acres of bottom lands are under a foot or more water. All old lake beds, sloughs, drains, etc., are full. Lakes around Ipswich have as much as fifteen feet of water in them.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., April 12.—A special to the Times from Birmingham reports continued rising of the Tombigbee river. Hundreds of acres of lowlands in Green, Pickens and Sumpter counties, Ala., are inundated, and the damage will be enormous.

Reports of high water in Chattanooga's immediate section have been grossly exaggerated. The recent freshet, which is dignified even by that name, did no damage here, and railway traffic was but little delayed.

ENGLAND BEFORE THE STORM.

The day that is the night of days.

With cannon fire for sun ablaze.

We say from any billow's crest

That England and this world drift

Would be to saluted forthright

Space before the thunder's food.

That many of its hour might now

Spare her the hour of blood?

As upon her ancient dome

She just the victor's trophies

And counts her manifold increase

Of treasure in the fruits of peace

What comes on earth's improvement

When the dread trumpet shall be blown

Is weak, she knows, yet smiles content

As cradle rocked from breast.

She, impious to the Lord of Hosts,

Has value of her offering made

Mindless that now on land and main

His hoarse way is better heard

No more great heart may guard the home

Save and armed and skilled to cleave

You never were with sword of peace

We see no distant foe.

They stand to be her sacrifice,

That she this mother figure die.

To face the odds and brave the Fate:

When cannon cannot's counterblast

Awaken, muzzled muzzle bowed,

And to the waiting smoke must its lightning be outrolled.

THE PHILOSOPHER ANGLER.

A Chicago Editor Gives Reasons Why

Some Fishermen Catch Nothing.

Our valued friends, Mr. Ople P. Read and Mr. Ople P. Read, estimate given to us to go fishing with them. Beginning in mere infancy with the art, we have worked our way up and along the sea thousands upon thousands of pumpkin seeds, dace, perch, bluegills, eels, pike, pickers and bass falling victim to our unpardonable art. We have even imported to write a book about angling;

publishers have come to us and besought with tears in their eyes to give the world the best book on the subject. But we have resisted these temptations for the reason that, knowing that our proficiency is a gift rather than an accomplishment, we believe that the true fisherman is born, not made.

Some who have scrutinized our methods assert that the secret of our unparalleled success is due largely to the fact that we invariably spit upon our bait.

Others maintain that we catch fish because we never swear, and others still say that our success is due to the circumstance that under no circumstances whatever we go fishing on a Sunday. There are those, we repeat, who honestly lay claim to success to the fact that they are all in various errors.

Our remarkable accomplishments do depend at all upon these trivial things. We catch fish simply because we were born with that subtle, indefinable genius for catching fish which cannot be comprehended save congenitally or by the mysterious process of heredity.

The question which arises is whether it would be righteous of us to prostitute

our genius to the use of the fishing

Messrs. Read and Waterloo suggest that it would not be a criminal waste of time for us to devote from six to eight hours a day to the study of the habits of these misbegotten creatures of the sea.

It strikes us that we could be much better employed than at the questioning sport of doddering about in an awkward wardly in pursuit of emaciated perch and neusthetic pickers. When we fish we want to fish, and we are not concerned with the catch. We demand heroic game.

Messrs. Read and Waterloo are very clever gentlemen, but they have yet to learn that the fish are not the game.

There is no game. These two amateur sportsmen no sooner get into a boat and cast their lines than they are filled with the absurd conviction that the best fishing is to be found a mile away, under a gentle breeze, and no sooner than they —Watch out for the "green grocer." He is flooding the county with his circulars. The scheme is this: He sends you a circular letter with full directions, including a copy of a letter to be sent. He then gives specific directions for a conference. For $400 he gives the vic ton $4,000 in counterfeit money. The form of the telegram is this: To F. L. Willard, 30 Prince street, New York City. Prefer Attorney General—(sign) "Wreck" 785.

The scheme of course is to get in communication with some one who can get into their duties, in search of counterfeit money. They will then bleed him for "hush" money because he is there as a criminal—to buy counterfeit money.

"The Gold Dust Man."

There is a vague and half whispered report just now going the rounds of our city which is worth narrating. The parties concerned therewith are still in the background. The authenticity of the report has been tested to a well known lawyer of the town, who was inclined to talk when first seen by the "Advertiser" man, but when he remembered that he was talking to a newspaper man he "shut up" as light as a box of turtles.

This is a rumor's story. About ten days ago a gentleman dreamed that he found money buried on one of the adjoining lots at five points. It was in an earthen vessel covered; in the bottom of the vessel was a large quantity of silver that had turned dark from age, principally foreign coins above this was a large bundle of notes, securely tied up in parchment paper and properly covered to protect against dampness. When the treasure was reached the ghost of the planter appeared. It was that of a man tall, erect, with broad shoulders, florid complexion and long flowing red hair.

At this stage the dreamer returned to earth with the dream vividly fixed in mind. In silence he went to his room in the morning and in silence returned in the evening. On the second night Morpheus led him to the same spot and he witnessed the same scene, and this was repeated the third night. On the morning of the third he could no longer smother the thing, so he went to an attorney in town and opened his breast.

The attorney gave him the history of the property upon which the "gold dust" is located, and how it had once belonged to a man who had an uncle that was a "Pirate King" and answering exactly in description to the apparition seen by the dreamer. The uncle years of plunder came and died at this very place, possessing it is supposed great wealth.

This settled the whole matter in the mind of the dreamer. He confided his secret to a friend and plans for exhuming the long-buried treasure were agreed upon. Since that time they have been several nights between midnight and daybreak digging and intent on their purpose. Before leaving, however, they cover the place over very nicely so that no one would suspect that the treasure of "pirate king" are being unearthed. The results of the search are not known to the confiding attorney.

Those who are curious to know the results and the parties that have thus been led by the fates will only have to take notice of the bold fine houses in the town in the next week or two and who have fine turn-outs.

Deaths of Mrs. Mary A. Nichols. Mrs. Mary A. Nichols, widow of the late Isaac Nichols of this county, died at her home on Division street, last Monday evening about 6 o'clock, at the advanced age of 88 years. Mrs. Nichols had no close family connections in the county. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Rosanna Vance of Wilmington and was distantly related to the Brattan family of Barren Creek and the Kennerly family of Quantico district, of which Mr. Cassius M. Dahill of Baltimore is a member.

Mr. S. H. Evans, the confectioner of this city was also a relative. Her funeral services took place Wednesday at the Methodist church after which the remains were interred in the cemetery adjoining the church, Rev. C. A. Hill officiating. Mrs. Nichols was for many years a consistent member of the Methodist church.

The pall-bearers were: Wm. B. Tilghman, E. L. Waller, A. W. Woodcock, James E. Ellegood, Hon. Thomas Humphreys and Dr. L. D. Collier.

Truitt Items.

E. Timothy Jones, Esq. is erecting a very large and commodious store house near here in which he expects to engage in the mercantile business. It will add much to the interest and convenience of the community.

Mr. John M. Jones, who has been sick for the past six months, is slowly recovering. May the time hasten when Mr. Jones will enjoy one of the choicest of blessings—good health.

Miss Mattie Collins, our popular school teacher, spent the Easter holidays with friends at Delmar, Del.

Mr. J. T. A. Beauchamp left a few days ago for Philadelphia to engage in business in that city.

Mr. Thos. H. Baker of St. Martins has been making a short visit to friends here. Rev. G. W. Hastings, our new minister, preached a very eloquent sermon last Sunday and was listened to by a large and attentive audience. We are much pleased with our new pastor.

School Boy.

Easter Sunday was generally observed in the churches of the city. At St. Peter's, special Easter services were held. The church was crowded and the music was beautiful and evergreen and appropriate altar decorations. The music was bright and in striking contrast with the music that had just been laid aside. The pastor stated that the attendance during the Easter season and especially Good Friday had been the best he had ever witnessed by any congregation. The offerings for the day, which are to be applied to the liquidation of the church debt, amounted to about $275.

Special services commemorative of the Resurrection, were also held in Trinity M. E. Church South and Asbury M. E. Church.

School Board Proceedings.

The school board was in session Tuesday. Bills were passed and ordered paid as follows: Dr. W. Johnson, $7.00; E. L. Waller, $14.02; Chas. A. LeCates, $8.20; M. Wright, $1.30; Thos. J. Tustin, $2.75; H. W. Anderson, $4.81. Friday, May 6th, was the date fixed for closing the spring term. The annual examination of teachers will be in the high school building May 9th and 10th, colored teachers 11th. Board adjourned to meet May 3rd.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following is a list of letters remaining in the Salisbury (Md.) Post-office Saturday, April 23, 1892:
Samuel J. Dennis, Master Carl Smith, Watson Leates, N. Morris, Mrs. Hettie A. Adkins, Chas. M. Brinney.
Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

Rollie Moore, Postmaster.

—Messrs. S. Ulman & Bro. have obtained a permit to erect a frame building on the Bill Rose lot at the B. & E. S. depot, to be used as saloon restaurant and sample room.

—S. E. Foskey, lately of Locustville, Va., has returned to Wicomico county and will spend a few months at Delmar.

—Mr. Jehu T. Paxon has been buying large quantities of shad this week and shipping to the northern markets.

—Mr. Harry Kleff of the Peninsula Hotel is visiting friends in Westminster.

Burglars in Irons.

Charles Layfield under the alias of Elliott Purnell was arrested some days ago in Philadelphia, attempting to enter, at night, the residence of Frank Thompson, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and was incarcerated by a private watchman who opened fire on him. The fire was returned by Layfield and in the excitement Layfield escaped. He was subsequently arrested and proved to be a professional thief.

There was found on his person a tin in his possession a large number of stolen broker's tickets.

Private detectives who have been working up the cases of burglaries that have been committed here, respected Layfield after his arrest in Philadelphia and set to work on the case. They learned that he was here on both nights of the burglaries. Mr. George R. Collier was sent for, to identify his property the first of the week. He and Mr. C. E. Harper went to Philadelphia and found that the detectives had a ticket on a New York pawn broker for one watch chain which Mr. Collier learned from a boy that was with Layfield, corresponded in description to his. This chain will be taken out of the shop by the authorities for Mr. Collier's inspection. It is generally believed here that Layfield is here on the night named, and that he went from here to New York.

Since writing the above, Mr. Collier has received a letter from the Philadelphia Detective Bureau, saying that Layfield had acknowledged the stealing of the watch and chain. The watch, he says, was pawned with Simpson, Park Place, New York, but he had lost the ticket.

It is but justice to add that these developments remove all suspicion of the guiltiness of Cornish, the party first suspected.

The Advertising of the State Laws.

Speaker Vandiver and President Lloyd the presiding officers of the two houses of the General Assembly, met at the Carrollton Hotel Tuesday and selected the newspapers throughout the state in which the general laws passed at the late session are to be published. The governor and attorney general have already selected the laws that are deemed of such general importance as to require publication. No selection of papers was made in Montgomery county and the presiding officers will meet again to appear in that county. Each county in the State receives $600 for doing this work and Baltimore city gets $1,800. Where more than one paper is named in any county the amount is divided between them. The papers selected are as follows: Annapolis Evening Capital, Annapolis Record, Maryland Gazette, Maryland Journal, Towson, Baltimore County Democrat, Cantonville Argus, Blair Eagle and Intelligencer, Harford Democrat, Cambridge Chronicle, Democrat, Mount Vernon News, The Tidewater, Centerville Record, Kent News, Chestertown Transcript, Princess Anne Marylander, Crisfield Times, Alleganian, Daily Times, Denton Journal, Greensborough Free Press, Eastern Ledger, Easton Star, Kent News, Cecil Democrat, Ellicott City Times, Frederick Citizen, Hagerstown News, Hagerstown Mail, Laurel Democrat, Marlboro Gazette, Prince George's Enquirer, St. Mary's Beacon, Oakland Democrat, Snow Hill News, Pocomoke Ledger, Port Tobacco Times, Calvert Journal, Salisbury Advertiser, Wicomico News, Westminster Advocate, The Sun, Morning Herald, German Correspondent. Sixty-one laws are to be advertised.

The Republican Convention.

The republican primaries for this county were held at the various voting places last Saturday afternoon, with a spirited contest between R. P. Graham, Esq. of this city and Mr. E. S. S. Turner of Tyaskin district, candidates for delegates to the Minneapolis convention.

Mr. Turner was assisted in his fight by Mr. W. C. Bradley and Capt. L. A. Parsons. Mr. Graham had to his back Postmaster Moore, Hon. Owens, The Turner family carried six of the ten districts—Tyaskin, Sharpton, Trappe, Notters, Dennis, and Parsons, and claim that they had a divided delegation in one or two others. The county convention convened on Tuesday and was called to order by Capt. Parsons, Chairman of the State Central Committee for the county. P. H. Hobbs was made presiding officer and A. H. Hoffington of Tyaskin district secretary.

The only business transacted was the selection of delegates to the state and district conventions, and passing resolutions approving Harrison's administration and instructing the delegates to the district convention to support Mr. Turner for delegate to the Minneapolis Convention. Messrs. H. H. Haysman, Wm. H. Conway, W. H. Knowles, and William Parsons were selected delegates to the district convention which meets in Salisbury April 27th.

The delegates to the State Convention are R. P. S. Taylor, Wm. H. C. Bradley, Peter Bonds and James Church.

A Scrap of Paper.

The entertainment given by the young people of St. Peter's congregation last Thursday evening proved a great success. Those who witnessed it concede the fact that it was one of the best amateur performances ever given in the town. All were surprised at the wonderful full grace and ease of the lady performers and of the faithful impersonations of the gentlemen.

The music, too, was bright and well rendered. The proceeds from the sale of tickets amounted to something over $120, which after paying some expense accounts incident thereto, will be applied to the organ fund.

The Children's Guild had a refreshment counter in the store room under the opera house the same evening which netted them about $27. This sum will be applied to putting stained glass transoms over the outside doors of the church.

Kansas Democrats for Cleveland.

SALINA, Kan., April 20.—The Democratic State Convention called to select delegates to the national convention met at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Opera House. W. C. Jones, chairman of the State central committee, called the convention to order, and in doing so, he predicted democratic success in November under Grover Cleveland. The mention of Mr. Cleveland's name was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration in the ex-President's honor. Frank Lynch, editor of the Leavenworth Standard, was introduced as temporary chairman. He welcomed Mr. Cleveland, and the enthusiasm aroused by the speech was unbounded. The convention completed its temporary organization by electing W. A. Easton, editor of the Kingman Democrat secretary. The delegates elected to the national convention are all for Cleveland.

Cleveland and Gray.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 20.—The Indiana delegation to the Democratic National Convention will vote for Grover Cleveland for President of the United States. This is the programme agreed upon to-day at a largely attended meeting of prominent supporters of ex-President Cleveland and ex-Gov. Isaac P. Gray, and all the friends of the ex-Governor; but it is that the delegation be recommended to vote for Mr. Gray when it becomes manifest that Grover Cleveland is not to be the choice of the national convention.

It has only been in submission to the inevitable will of the majority that he acceded to this agreement. A month ago they would have scored it, but at that time the great tidal wave of democratic opinion, which politicians are pleased to term "the Cleveland reaction," had not swept over the country, and it then seemed probable that Gray would receive the first endorsement of his State. Since that time, however, the Cleveland sentiment has been constantly growing in Indiana, and tonight the enthusiasm for the ex-President is so strong among the assembled delegates from the State that the only menace to the compromise agreement comes from the radical Cleveland men, who think they have the strength to endorse Cleveland unqualifiedly and totally ignoring Gray at tomorrow's convention, and are disposed to make an effort to do so. Of course such a move as this would precipitate a scene of wild excitement and interminable discussion, and while it might be successful the cooler headed friends of the ex-President deprecate the suggestion and advocate strict adherence of the compromise programme in the interest of peace and harmony.

The Spring.

Of all seasons in the year, is the one for making radical changes in regard to health. During the winter the system becomes to a certain extent clogged with waste, and the blood clogged with impurities, owing to lack of exercise, close confinement in poorly ventilated shops and homes, and other causes. This is the cause of the dull, sluggish, tired feeling so general at this season, and which may be removed by the use of a medicine that will purify the blood, and be entirely broken down. Hood's Sarsaparilla has attained the greatest popularity all over the country as the favorite Spring Medicine. It expels the accumulation of impurities through the bowels, kidneys, liver, lungs and skin, gives to the blood the purity and quality necessary to good health and overcomes that tired feeling.

Flood in Illinois.

St. Louis, April 18.—A special from White Hall, Ill., to the Post-Dispatch says: The heaviest rain ever known here fell last night. The Hartwell levee, which protected several thousand acres of farming land, mostly planted in wheat, broke and the whole country is now under water.

All the county bridges were swept away and all bottom lands along the stream are submerged, which means many thousands of acres of wheat have been destroyed. The C. B. and Q. reservoir, which was several acres in extent, also gave way and is now emptied. The aggregate loss will be very large.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1892.

Ex-Gov. Jackson is a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Chicago Convention.
—Eaton Ledger.

Governor Jackson is not a candidate for delegate-at-large from the State, to Chicago Convention. He is not a candidate for any position. His friends in the county have spoken to him on the subject and are anxious to see him go, but personally he will make no fight in the matter. The county will send straight out Cleveland men to the State Convention, if the people's wishes are respected, and we know of no reason why they should not be respected, as there is no organized opposition to a Cleveland delegation in the county. If when the Convention meets, it seems desirable that ex-Gov. Jackson should represent the State, Wicomico will gladly present his name or if the First Congressional District should desire Mr. J. E. Ellegood to represent it, the county will present Mr. Ellegood's name for District delegate.

We are in no way in the county on local issues. The county will simply send a Cleveland delegation to the State Convention and if asked to do so will present the name of some genuine Cleveland man for delegate to Chicago either as district delegate or delegate-at-large. That's our position.

The Eaton Ledger of Thursday contains some very wholesome advice to Democrats, under the editorial heading, Mr. Hill and His Anagnathia. The Ledger cautions the democrats not to indulge in immoderate abuse of Mr. Hill, and quotes Senator Vest of Missouri as saying:

"Nothing is to be gained by attacking Mr. Hill and his friends. We will need them to carry New York. Personally I could support Mr. Hill cheerfully."

This is good advice, but it must be remembered that there was a time when it was thought that Mr. Hill stood a fair chance of receiving the democratic nomination for president. Had his chances never been brighter than now, he would never have received much consideration.

Mr. Hill is a politician in the full sense of the word, and when the time comes we have no doubt that he will retire and give the New York delegation an opportunity to support Mr. Cleveland, if Mr. Cleveland's nomination becomes inevitable. It must be remembered that Tammany is made up of a horde of politicians, organized not for the purpose of promoting the interest of any individual, but for the loaves and fishes.

The State Capital.

ANAPOLIS, April 26.—Governor Brown has written President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, inclosing a copy of the weather service bill passed at the last session of the Legislature, under the terms of which the president of the university, the president of the Maryland Agricultural College and the chief of the United States weather bureau are each to designate a member of the board, to be commissioned by the Governor, as the control and management of the board is largely with the Johns Hopkins University, the Governor has requested President Gilman to suggest a suitable person for secretary and treasurer, a gentleman who would be accessible to the authorities at the university. The weather bureau will designate a meteorologist in charge and the Johns Hopkins University a director. There is no salary attached to the places.

A mighty howl is expected to go up among oyster dredgers throughout the State when it becomes generally known that a provision in the new oyster law takes away a considerable oyster territory heretofore reserved for them. Under the old law dredging was permitted "outside of a line drawn from the southwest corner of Second Kent Point to Wade's Point," in the Chesapeake. The new law repeals, among other things, this section, and takes in a prolific oyster ground which the dredgers will be loath to give up when it locates the line against dredging from "Kent to Wade's Point," covering a much wider territory. The omission of the word "Second," which was probably unintentional, has caused serious complications, and there are said to be other inconsistencies in the new oyster law.

Beware of Quackery for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. It is Catarrh Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ## William Astor's Sudden Death.

New York, April 26.—The City was startled today at noon by the cry of an "extra" in the streets telling of the sudden death at a hotel in Paris last night of William Astor, the third on the list of America's great millionaires. The doing of the Astors was always an interesting local topic, and all the recent publicity given this branch of the family over the Coleman-Drayton scandal lent the news an additional importance at this time. Mr. Astor was the father of Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, and was a great friend over the scandal in which her name was involved.

At John Jacob Astor's house, 374 Fifth avenue, it was said that the news of Mr. Astor's death was received by cable last night and was a great shock. Mr. Astor had been ill with congestion of the lungs, but his condition was not considered critical. He died at 11 o'clock last night, and the news was immediately cabled to Mr. John Jacob Astor. William Astor was in his sixty-second year having been born July 12, 1830. He was the second son of Wm. Backhouse Astor, who was the second son of the original John Jacob Astor, the peller and furrier, who came over from Germany more than a century ago, landing in Baltimore in 1784. William B. Astor, father of Wm. Astor, died in 1876. The mother of Wm. Astor was a daughter of General Armstrong, who was Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Madison. The Astors have been remarkable for a whole century, but Wm. Astor's sudden death took the turn of indolent luxuriousness.

Wm. Astor had the personal appearance of a healthy Englishman, and the bent of his mind was essentially British. He seems to have simply accepted the grand fortune left to him by his father as a matter of course, and to have devoted his life to getting as much enjoyment out of it as a man without special ambition could. He wandered over the world in the steam yacht, the Normandy, which is a small ocean steamship, caring nothing for New York, and was seldom seen here, spending most of his time in Paris or on his yacht.

In 1853 Wm. Astor married Caroline Webster Schermerhorn, of New York. For many years the influence of Mrs. Wm. Astor in society matters has been powerful, and she has been the social arbiter of the fate of those who have sought to gain admittance to the "inner circle," or the creme de la creme, as Ward McAllister calls it. Her predecessor has been Mrs. John Jacob Astor, her sister-in-law, and after her death it was natural that she should assume the position, the wife of William Waldorf Astor not being recognized by her as entitled to take the lead. Not long after John Jacob Astor's death, however, there was a clash of authority at Newport when Mrs. William Waldorf Astor was known as "Mrs. Astor," a title which had been appropriated by her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Astor.

Mrs. Astor owns probably the finest collection of jewels in America. When attending the opera or private entertainments she has frequently appeared in a blaze of diamonds. At her entertainment in Delmonico's her throat was encircled with three strands of these jewels, each a stone of great size. She has frequently been seen at the opera wearing $500,000 worth of diamonds, but on one occasion she surpassed herself, the display being valued at more than $100,000.

Mr. Astor was not a man of shining social inclinations, and he never figured prominently, if at all, at these gorgeous entertainments. He let his wife manage things as she pleased. All their children, however, had their mother's tastes and have followed in her train in the social swim. Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, and John Jacob Astor are the only children now living. Their eldest daughter, Mrs. Van Allen, died several years ago, leaving three children, none of whom has yet appeared in society.

Next to his wife, William Waldorf Astor, and probably Jay Gould, whose fortune is supposed to run up to hundreds of millions of dollars, William Astor was the richest citizen of America. His wealth was recently estimated at $50,000,000 and $50,000,000, the greater part of which is invested in New York real estate. William Astor could never expect to equal the wealth of his brother, the late John Jacob Astor, who received the lion's share of the patrimony, and whose fortune at his death was estimated at $200,000,000. The disparity in their fortunes was the result simply of inheritance. Their father, William B., who inherited the bulk of old John Jacob Astor's money, invested it in real estate, and let his children of it to his eldest son and the other third to William.

Monument Over Senator Wilson's Grave.

A monument to the memory of the late United States Senator Ephraim King Wilson has been completed and placed in position on the resting place of the deceased in the cemetery of the Makemie Memorial Church, Snow Hill, Md., where he was laid to rest more than a year ago. The monument is of white marble, of cottage design, 12 feet high, surmounted by an urn. On the face is this inscription: "Ephraim King Wilson, a Citizen and Christian Born December 22, 1831; died February 24, 1881. The Memory of the Just is Blessed." On the other side the following appears: "A Senator of the United States from the State of Maryland." "A Lawyer and Judge, he Magnified the Law and Made it Honorable." "Loyal was his Bounty and Soul Sincere." —Evening Star.

The New School Building.

Last week Mr. Wm. H. Dashiell, secretary and treasurer of the public school board of this county, contracted with Charles H. Hayman of this town, and Albert W. Lankford, Esq., a brick mason of Salisbury, for the new school building to be erected on the academy lot in Princess Anne. The building will be two stories high, constructed of brick, with stone trimmings and slate roof; it will contain six main rooms, three on the first floor and three above, also several cloak rooms below, and library above. The cost of the building will be between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. The workmen will commence operation at once, as the house is to be completed by the first of December next.—Spencer Herald.

An Amusing Trick.
Select a boy who will be easy to manage and seat him at a table with a goblet between his teeth. Now tell him to groan and make other dreadful sounds, still keeping the glass between his teeth. This part of the performance having passed off, say to him, "I think, my friend, that the result would be more satisfactory if I should cover your head with this towel." Accordingly his head is then enveloped in a cloth on which two marks have been previously made with charcoal to represent the eyes. Care must be taken that the glass is still kept between his teeth.

When all is ready he is told to continue to make the sounds he had made before. If all goes well the resonance of the sound, amplified by the pressure of the glass and the curious aspect of the boy, will form a combination quite sufficient to please the most exacting.—New York World.

Persian Tombak.
Tombak is a musical instrument which is known under the name of Nicotiana Persica, and is cultivated in Persia exclusively, in the provinces of Chiraz, Kechan and Isfahan. Its quality varies with the place of production. The best tombak is that which is derived from Chiraz. The production of this province varies between 1,500 and 2,000 bales a year, which is almost entirely consumed by members of the imperial family.

Tombak of this superior quality is not very abundant, and the price paid for it is about fifty or sixty francs the bale, the bale being equivalent to 2.8 pounds avoirdupois. The province of Chiraz produces the second quality of Persian tombak. With small leaves like the Chiraz tombak the product of Kechan is not even so abundant.—Kew Bulletin.

An Old English Institution.

We have quite lost the munginess. This was a kind of music hall, a large room where only men were admitted, and where ale or stout was the only drink consumed. Every man had his pipe; there was a president. A harp played at one end of the room, and of the company present one after the other stood up to sing. Between the songs there were toasts and speeches, sometimes of a political kind, and the people drank to each other from table to table.—Walter Besant in Harper's.

How to Cure Nervous Headache.

You know that means a nervous head ache and a night of agony unless something is done quickly.

Try this: Slip off your bodice and bare your neck. Fasten your hair into a loose knot on the top of your head. Then take a sponge and a basin of hot water—just as hot as you can bear it.

Pass the hot wet sponge slowly and steadily over the face and forehead for eight or ten minutes, keeping the sponge as hot as it can be borne. By that time your face will look and feel as if it were parboiled. But don't worry.

Then bathe the back of the neck as you have done the face, carrying the sponge each time well up to the back of the head.

Keep this up for the same length of time then, without looking at yourself in the glass, because that would be sure to disquiet you, dry your face and neck softly and go and lie down flat on your back.

Close your eyes and think of this one thing. How heavy you are on the couch and how easily it supports you. That is really an important part of the cure.

Lie there for half an hour, if you don't fall asleep, you probably will. Then get up and take the deferred look in the glass.

The tired look has gone; the muscles have regained their tone; the wrinkles have disappeared. You look like your younger sister. Best of all, the darning pain in the head and the restlessness of the soul have gone too.—Boston Herald.

Crime in England.

A letter written April 23, by Mr. Lester William Tallack, of the Howard Association, London, has been published here and has excited much interest among those connected officially and unofficially with English prisons. The newspapers print lengthy comments on the letter.

Mr. Tallack says that after a careful study of prisons in Italy and America, where a system has been adopted giving prisoners of a hardened type free intercourse with the other prisoners and providing them with comforts and luxuries, he has found that the results are deplorable. The prisoners of Massachusetts, he declares, are schools of crime and have terrible effects upon the community. Crime in England, where the prisoners are aspersed, has, according to Mr. Tallack, greatly decreased, while in America it is rapidly increasing.

Wanamaker's.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25, 1892.

Swiss. Black twilled Silks that you should study. Two men, our silk man and the Swiss manufacturer, did some thinking, then some talking, and now we have the logical result in the new fabric just from the looms.

It has a surah effect, but is woven with a double tie so that great strength is combined with lightness and lustre.

What shall we call them? Wanamaker's tied twill silk? Don't mind the name. 2 1/2 in., 75c; 22 in., $1 to $1.40. Admirable for summer.

A Henrietta surprise this time—black henrietta, all wool and 45 in.

Weight, quality and lustre every whit as good as we've had. $1 a yard for thousands of peices. The price is 75c.

Across the aisle, one from hundreds—all silk and wool Mexican mesh black Grenadine at 65c, imported to sell at $1.

Clap a glass on this printed Scotch crape. See why it's crinkly? Some threads loose where others draw. But notice the threads; plump, round, even. Honest work in every twist that changed that cotton into cord.

Such a crape will stand banging wear and hold its beauty. Maybe a dozen designs; as many more colorings. Price? Fifteen cents. But the makers never meant it. Imported to sell at 35c.

Crapier still, a trifle lighter, American, and also 35c. Thirteen plain colors, counting daintiest pinks, blues, heliotropes, reds and tans. Many a bewitching evening dress comes from those pretty pieces.

We've passed satens, silky satens, too long. While all the world of printed dress stuffs—challis, organdies, mouselines, jacotens, brandenburs, has been getting ahead as never before, satens have been keeping close step with the leaders.

After the delightful softness and finish the glory of saten is in the color work. French art takes a high flight there. Such mosses and crysanthemums and pinks! Daisies, rare enough to worry a thrifty farmer. Dark grounds or light and all glow with tints that tell of master work in picturing.

Pekin stripes—satens with satin stripes and blossom bits. Modest but masterly. New shades of tan, bluegray, red, lavender, Nile ashes of rose gray. Chintz colorings coming. 37 1/2c.

French Organdies cash fresh brightness with every dawn. Two of the last comes show a dreamy scattering of chrysanthemums and bits of lilac on the gauzy film of cobwebby cotton. 37 1/2c.

Linen Lawns, 37 styles, at 30c; 35 styles at 35c.

That tells variety—their color, crisp beauty is beyond words.

A Henrietta surprise this time—black henrietta, all wool and 45 in.

Weight, quality and lustre every whit as good as we've had. $1 a yard for thousands of peices. The price is 75c.

Across the aisle, one from hundreds—all silk and wool Mexican mesh black Grenadine at 65c, imported to sell at $1.

Clap a glass on this printed Scotch crape. See why it's crinkly? Some threads loose where others draw. But notice the threads; plump, round, even. Honest work in every twist that changed that cotton into cord.

Such a crape will stand banging wear and hold its beauty. Maybe a dozen designs; as many more colorings. Price? Fifteen cents. But the makers never meant it. Imported to sell at 35c.

Crapier still, a trifle lighter, American, and also 35c. Thirteen plain colors, counting daintiest pinks, blues, heliotropes, reds and tans. Many a bewitching evening dress comes from those pretty pieces.

We've passed satens, silky satens, too long. While all the world of printed dress stuffs—challis, organdies, mouselines, jacotens, brandenburs, has been getting ahead as never before, satens have been keeping close step with the leaders.

After the delightful softness and finish the glory of saten is in the color work. French art takes a high flight there. Such mosses and crysanthemums and pinks! Daisies, rare enough to worry a thrifty farmer. Dark grounds or light and all glow with tints that tell of master work in picturing.

Pekin stripes—satens with satin stripes and blossom bits. Modest but masterly. New shades of tan, bluegray, red, lavender, Nile ashes of rose gray. Chintz colorings coming. 37 1/2c.

French Organdies cash fresh brightness with every dawn. Two of the last comes show a dreamy scattering of chrysanthemums and bits of lilac on the gauzy film of cobwebby cotton. 37 1/2c.
