SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1891.

—From the Philadelphia papers we learn of the startling collapse of so-called beneficiary orders in that city. The get-rich-quick class is being frowned upon by the authorities, and the officers of the "Earnest Workers" have been arrested on a criminal charge and lodged in jail to await trial.

The "Benefit Endowment Association" belongs to that order of beneficiary (?) institutions which pays $100 for $30 in ninety days, or something like that. The secretary of one branch of this order gathered 4,000 members and collected $100,000. On the day that the certificates of a considerable number of these members became due, the order made an assignment, and instead of getting $100 for $30 after nine weeks, these members found themselves minus the money they had put into the concern.

Efforts have been repeatedly made to establish these orders in Salisbury and the county, but, fortunately, our people have not taken hold of any of them. By the exercise of a little judgment they have been saved from the swindle.

Common sense would go a good way towards knocking the wind out of these fraudulent schemes, which, on the pretense of benefiting the people, advance them.

—We believe it is always best to take the most cheerful view of situations, even when the present is gloomy and the future looks ominous—better to be an optimist than to go to the other extreme and be a pessimist. The man who is always complaining of hard times and who wears frowns and wrinkles on his brow ill his countenance has the appearance of corrugated sole-leather may sometimes prosper, but he always does at a great disadvantage, and he is never happy, neither are those around him, for that matter. And when such a man is successful his prosperity is usually enjoyed by himself alone as he rarely has friends to share his pleasures with him.

Recognizing the many causes for disappointment which our people in the county—especially the agricultural classes—have experienced in the last two years, it is gratifying to note the hopeful expressions which are coming to us from patrons and friends from all sections. A new era of prosperity seems to be anticipated by the citizens of the county. Our correspondents from various points tell of improvements going on. New buildings are being erected in the smaller towns, factories and mills are busy, new factories and canning establishments are being built, and the farmers are using more manure, cultivating more thoroughly and making their premises more attractive and inviting.

Altogether the chronic grumbler inclined but few sympathizers, and the deliver is at his business early and late, like the true Eastern Shore "yankee" that he is, striving to take care of himself, supported by the positive, though none the less cheerful, assurance that nobody else will do it for him.

Is Blaine a Candidate.

Russell Harrison, son of the president, says in Frank Leslie's Illustrated newspaper, of which he is an editor, that Mr. Blaine will not be a candidate in 1892. He says:

It is a violation of no confidence to say that Secretary Blaine is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency next year. That is a settled fact.

Not only is Mr. Blaine not a candidate, but under no circumstances will he be consent to the use of his name.

If there seems to be any doubt in the mind of the public in reference to this matter, Mr. Blaine will, in due time and in his own way, utterly and finally dispel that doubt. He is ready to do so now.

When Mr. Blaine was called to the most important place in the cabinet he wrote, in reply to the President's letter tendering the appointment (which letter clearly outlined the President's views), a statement that distinctly implied in the clearest terms unquestioned and unending fealty to the head of the administration, and by no act, word or intimation has Mr. Blaine at any time since, left his loyalty open to the slightest suspicion.

Mr. Blaine, by virtue of position is the chief and most intimate adviser of the President. If the latter will accept re-nomination he will have no stronger, sabler and constant supporter than his Secretary of State.

So much for a prediction that the history of the immediate future will amply justify.

"Tired All the Time."

Say many poor men and women, who seem overworked, or are debilitated by change of season, climate or life. If you could read the hundreds of letters praising Hood's Sarsaparilla which come from people who have been restored to health, you would be convinced of its merits. As this is impossible, we will try to tell you in a few words the good it does.

A big fire in Chattanooga, Tenn., did great damage to property in that city last Wednesday. The loss is estimated to exceed $1,000,000.

More of Wells.

In testing from my penological labors I test myself by my role, exhorting hoping to throw some light on a seeming eccentric which alone has caused me to exhortate some ways, the only purpose being to encourage conversation, or that I may evoke the facts so easily understood. And may I not use billingsgate nor a flam, or cause malice to be done for me so doing. Though a juno or cabal should be formed to destroy the grand hope of this country, which I have so fondly cherished, and having a poor knowledge of jurisprudence, military tactics, or as one of our honest old slaves used to call it, gutter, I fear seriously I am unable to undertake the re-considering or debate made by others seemingly to destroy or cast aside one among the highest hopes of my entire life which could and would surely injure no one, and which by careful study and strict inquiry, I have long since been to the firm conclusion would be one of the greatest things possible for this great and growing country, viz: the full destruction of eels for the production of food fish.

On the 7th of January, last, the following appeared in one of the religious papers of Baltimore city: "The number of eggs in a medium sized eel at the beginning of breeding season, is stated by eminent authorities on fishes and allied creatures, to be fully nine millions, a sum so great as to almost daunt the intellect that tries to grapple with it. To the eel, they are almost invisible, the microscopic shows them to be firmly packed together, standing on the tiny ends looking not unlike the covered cells of honeycomb. Wonderful. Now to those who read this I must contend that it is surely authority, for every one who knows that good man who edits that paper, is aware that he does not deceive, and, therefore, that that statement comes from what is supposed to be good scientific authority, and contained nothing but facts. Oh! Ye immortal forty-four of the house and eighteen of the senate, and Governor, for your signature, wake up with ecstatic delight and let the country now and hereafter praise your very names for the keeping open of the fresh water streams of our entire country by voting only a portion of the fish propagation money of this state for the destruction of eels. I will now show you why you should find this so highly gratified.

Remember that there is in early season no very small eel; we are therefore claim that they come to moderate size from one spring to another, and that this anguilla or mud eel is destroyed when any other young thing in the water except snakes. Fresh water fish of all classes known to me are afraid of them, great or small, except the pike or rock, and they, too, when there is much eel, to the eel. This is plainly seen when fishing with a hook, for as soon as they get about, the pike and rock cease to bite, which shows they can't stand the presence of his eel. They, therefore, if they eat them at all, eat them when they are very young and look like worms. They may eat snakes the same. This perhaps is so, I have heard a person say he has seen an eel of small dimensions in a pike as well as in a rock, also in a large eel. Now I don't believe that half are destroyed, but I will grant that and show results.

We find, allowing half to be destroyed and estimating 144 eels to the bulk of a square foot, that, by careful calculation, the fish commission on the Wicomico river has caught enough, had they been allowed to live and go on enumerating, to have made a mountain around the world by this time 7,000 miles high and 7,007 miles wide, with perpendicular walls, with many millions left to a fertilizer to enrich much of the inside, or if paths should be made from this great wall of eels to a distance of 95,000 miles, a yard wide and filled with eels a foot deep, we find by this calculation that a spread of such paths several hundred miles wide, and as long as the earth, would be enough for those who believe there is nine millions of young in a moderate sized mud eel, to walk or ride to the sun on a visit to that grand body where they might find some good scientific men must believe. Coming from their brother scientist surely they cannot doubt; and to the common mind like my own, I say, yes, also, must believe it, as many others of their strange statements have proven themselves true, and no one must doubt the great work this eel bill has done in the multiplicity of fish saved to the country, and the great labor saving it has caused the fishermen, and last though surely not least, that it has saved our fresh water streams from becoming un-navigable the country over. Can too much thanks be tendered doers of this great work?

Blessed science, thou art great. And wonderful things thou dost; Yes, so much bettered man's estate, All must believe like me.

E. J. D., ask your informant. Something more plausible to reveal. Than to tell there is nine million young in a moderate-sized mud eel.

For what's been caught in this river makes them beautifully less. And now we have the eel. So saved to make the eel's more.

Before we caught the eels at all, The large eels were as one to four. And now we have the eel. So saved to make the eel's more.

Is not this encouraging. And should a word against this be said. By any honest and good citizen. When it makes the poor man bread.

And feeds a God-loving people. And with the eel's goodness? Or it seems so with us here. Nine millions of young and all combined of them we must not fear.

But, like one of our statesmen is trying, to the treasury we will go. To get the moral sense.

Enough of eels as any one who is not an intentional knave or a natural simpleton, and has the experience of a Wisconsin fisherman has, had ocular demonstration enough of the good the destruction of eels has done to satisfy them of its good results. I don't claim that the destruction of eels on the Wicomico alone has made the great change in quantity of fish all over the country, but I really believe that the act passed by Congress for no fishing in the District of Columbia waters except by hook and line and eel bob and pole, thereby saving there the eels of the eel and the eel, and the eel, has mainly brought about this wonderful change by saving the eels naturally deposited and the young fry that consequently follows, from being eaten by their destroyers.

An Inquiry from Allen.

DEAR ADVERTISER.

The first point, however, on which we would focus public attention is the fact that outside of Salisbury no one has ever had the boldness and temerity to aspire to the clerkship. At no time in the history of the county has this position been filled by a citizen from the country.

Why is this? Does the clerkship belong in its entirety, entirely and exclusively to Salisbury? Are there no good and well equipped men in the county outside of Salisbury? But let this pass. This side of the question has not yet reached a serious nor comical aspect, and is not, perhaps, without a precedent.

The present month presents three candidates for the clerkship. How many more there are in the incubator we are not at present prepared to say.

According to parliamentary rules some questions are debatable, some are not. In other words, it is a question that concerns the entire county, or does it concern Salisbury exclusively?

Having put together many legal opinions on the subject and boiled them down to the approximate principles, we extract the following: The clerk of the county is clerk to the county. Hurrah for the analytical minds of the county.

As we see and understand the matter, it is a question in which the entire county possesses or should possess an interest, and if there is any firmness in politics, fitness, as well as claims upon the party, should be taken into consideration. As to what constitutes fitness, we will leave that to the public to decide, but in regard to claims upon the county or party, we would be enlightened. What constitutes a claim upon the people of a county, or state, or country? Political skill, the purchase of votes, and the questionable practice at the primary meetings, etc., or the honest and faithful performance of one's duty? If it is not a fact, that the man of principle and unimpeachable integrity scorn to dole out tricks, intrigues, and deception? But enough of this; the millennium is yet to come. Let every one question his own soul, we believe in that relation which comes out of church with a man and clings to him, and asserts itself under all circumstances and in all departments of life.

A question, and we are done. Is the Trappe district entitled to anything in the near future? We notice that some districts are claiming the lion's share. It would appear that the Trappe is entitled to a commissioner and legislator. If not, why? What was given to Trappe two years ago?

More in the sweet by and bye.

A. B. C.

[N. B.—Our friend A. B. C. seems not to have the history of the county at his tongue's end. T. F. J. Rider, Esq., the first clerk elected for the county, was the time of his election a voter and bona fide resident of Quantico district, and had never made his residence anywhere else so far as we know.

As to what constitutes a claim upon the county or the party, we are frank to acknowledge to A. B. C. that we are not thoroughly posted as we are not yet "expert in all counties" in politics. It is a secret that we are anxious to know as dear A. B. C. is. What a glorious time we would have if we only knew how to obtain the information! We would erect a tent as big as Barnum's circus canvas, and lecture twice a day, charging at least five dollars admission; and when weary of the world by this time 7,000 miles high and 7,007 miles wide, with perpendicular walls, with many millions left to a fertilizer to enrich much of the inside, or if paths should be made from this great wall of eels to a distance of 95,000 miles, a yard wide and filled with eels a foot deep, we find by this calculation that a spread of such paths several hundred miles wide, and as long as the earth, would be enough for those who believe there is nine millions of young in a moderate sized mud eel, to walk or ride to the sun on a visit to that grand body where they might find some good scientific men must believe. ## The Maryland Democratic Association.

Associated met at Bennett's Hotel last Monday, April 27th. In addition to their usual business transacted at such meetings, an address was formulated to be presented to democratic voters of Maryland before the coming of the year.

Following is the address:

"The importance of the campaign upon which we shall soon enter calls for greater vigilance and activity on our part than for years past. This is not a State campaign merely. It has a national importance, and the outcome will be closely watched by the people of the entire country. These prizes will be hotly contested, and for by the republican party, and the national committee of that party will doubtless find a strong hand to the local organization. The warning power of that party in the Senate will prompt it to seize every opportunity to strengthen itself. Notes of News About Town, Gathered by the "Advertiser's" Reporters.

The annual examination of teachers will be held in the High School building, Salisbury, on Monday, May 18, 1891.

The Mite Society of the Presbyterian church will meet next Tuesday evening at the residence of Dr. H. Laird Todd on Division street.

The joint inspection of the overgrown grounds of Maryland and Virginia, which was to have been made by Governors Jackson and McKinney, next Tuesday, has been postponed.

The N. Y. P. & N. side track for the benefit of the farmers and shippers south of Salisbury, is being put in near the place where the county road crosses the main track in Frankford.

A German carp which weighed 122 pounds was caught in the Wisconsin river last week, several miles below Salisbury. Fish Commissioner Reid purchased it and sent it to Gov. Jackson.

Captain Vessey made his first trip down from Baltimore in the Pratt last Saturday night, since the vessel received her annual renovating. The Pratt looks bright and neat in her new paint.

Wicomico will have a county Farmers' Alliance after next Saturday, May 9th, when one will be organized at the Court House in Salisbury. One of the state organizers will be present. It is stated.

Prof. Williams has invited Rev. S. W. Reigart, of Wicomico Presbyterian Church, to preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of '91, of the Salisbury High School. Mr. Reigart has accepted the invitation and will preach the sermon at his church Sunday evening, May 10th.

J. Mank's tailoring department is now in full operation in the rear end of the firm's ready-made clothing house on Main Street. This gives Salisbury two good tailors and dressmakers—the other being Charles Bohling, whose several years here in the business thoroughly attest his popularity.

The Salisbury High School commencement will be held in Uman's Opera House on Wednesday evening, May 13th. Prof. Freeman, president of the State Board of Education, will be present and address the graduating class. The exercises will be very long and extend well into the night.

The Orphans Court was in session last Tuesday. Bond of Geo. T. Malone, administrator of Levi Malone's estate, was examined and accepted. Inventory of Joe Rayne was examined and recorded. Special debts and distribution of Sarah Farlow were filed. Account of sales of Chas. H. Sturges recorded.

Appropriation of the interest now being taken in the matter by some of our people, it might be well to observe that the "Advertiser" is not the intellectual byproduct, in some occult way, a sort of atrophy of the memory. Consequently, the "Advertiser" has never been systematically cultivated by American newspaper reporters.

The Maryland Hospital for the Insane is inadequate to accommodate the patients of the state. Eighteen inmates of the institution are now from Wicomico county, while the county is entitled to treatment for only eight. Judge Holland has been officially informed that no more unfortunate will be received at present from this county.

The young gentlemen of the Philharmonic Orchestra will give an entertainment in the Uman opera house on Wednesday evening, May 27th. Prof. Ritchie and son of Wilmington will be present in the programme. The orchestra is developing rapidly, and the entertainment will be as popular as the best, beyond doubt, a highly creditable affair.

Mr. Wm. T. Ennis, a farmer of this county, showed us last week a double yoked hen-egg 3 1/2 inches long. Mr. George W. Bell showed us an egg laid by a pullet that weighed 4 ounces, and measured 3 1/2 inches in circumference and long way and 2 1/2 inches in circumference at the middle. This extraordinary egg is a cross of the Black Spanish and Light Brahma.

Wm. L. Barrett, the 10 year old son of H. O. Barrett, editor of the Dorchester Free and postmaster of Cambridge, and Miss Margaret Wherret, aged 16 years, ran away from their parents last Wednesday before day and were married at Easton about 10 o'clock in the morning. The "old folks" on both sides were opposed to the match, but Mr. Barrett has welcomed the son and his young bride, and signifies his intention to put nothing in the way of their happiness.

Fish Commissioner Rider and his assistants, Sylvanus Traylor, Esq., have been turning large quantities of young shad into the headwaters of the Eastern Shore rivers, within the last few days. Manokin, Pocomoke, and St. Martins, have each been supplied with 500,000 or more of the young fish. Shad have been caught in the St. Martin's river this season, which were the first ever caught in the stream. It is reported, and they are fish which were placed there two years ago by the commission.

Parsonage Prosperous.

As you have had no news from our little burg for some time, I thought just a few lines would be acceptable.

We thought a few years ago our little town was finished, but from the appearance now it is hard to tell. Mr. J. W. Winbrow has his new dwelling raised, and will soon have it completed. Mr. J. W. Rignin has his, well under way. Mr. G. W. Parsons will also have a very pretentious building when finished, and Mr. G. W. Farlow has the lumber on his lot for a new residence. Dr. Truitt contemplates building a cottage during the summer, which will be a model home. He has just returned from Baltimore with a fine lot, to be used in his extensive practice.

George E. Parsons, the bee hive manufacturer is running three hands daily to fill his orders, and has hundreds ready for delivery. The bee hive is the most complete of any we have seen, and orders are coming in fast. The kindling wood mill of E. H. & E. W. Parsons is running full time since they have enlarged the house; they are making and shipping a car load a day.

Mr. John Brumby died Tuesday morning, he was in the seventies. He was the only brother of Wm. Brumby.

Ann's Sall Hancock (she is best known) is at the point of death, she has been ill a long time.

Rev. W. B. Gregg, our new pastor, is with us and hard at work.

The prospect for fruit and berries is encouraging, though some damage was done by the frost Saturday night. P.

Of Great Interest to Fruit Growers.

The new management of the B. & E. S. railroad announce that they have just closed a contract with the Pennsylvania system (P. & N. Y. P. & N. E. R.) by which shippers along the new line will be given the same shipping facilities that shippers will along the Pennsylvania R. R. line. On the old W. & P. division, trains will be run to connect with all north bound freight trains at Salisbury, freight rate from all points on the line will be the same as Salisbury.

Point, north of Salisbury will have the same train service, but there will probably be a division of the traffic. It will be taken to Easton or Salisbury according to convenience. The rate will be the same as Salisbury and Easton rates. This is an admirable arrangement for shippers along the line, and nothing could be better. The new management comprehend the situation at once when they took charge of the road—that it is impracticable to take north bound perishable freight to the West and East, and by Baltimore—so they immediately closed a contract with the Pennsylvania railroad people to have all perishable freight taken over their lines—a very sensible move.

Ocean City.

The Sinepuxent Beach Co., with offices in Baltimore, has issued a descriptive catalogue of the company's property at Ocean City. Their illustrations suggest improvements, which, if they are made, will make Ocean City the greatest seaside resort in the world. The catalogue says: "The surf-bathing here is the best on the Atlantic coast. As early as October, 1871, that great traveler and writer, Mr. Bayard Taylor, in an article in Harper's Magazine written from the beach, said: 'Of all coast bathing this is the finest and best. The sand, which is the lightest to the feet, has a gradual slope. There is not a perceptible undertow or side current, and the lazy force of the huge waves, which subside rather than break violently, enables the bather to rock and swing with a new sensation of luxury. The temperature of the sea is perfect and nothing but the failing twilight calls us back to the shore.'"

R. G. Sprague.

Hon. Robt. F. Bratton spent Friday and Saturday last here. Saturday afternoon he sold, as trustee, the farms of A. M. Bonds, here. The farming on the north side of county road leading from B. C. Springs to Vienna was purchased by a company of enterprising gentlemen of this place for the sum of $1000. The farm on the opposite side of said road was purchased by Samuel K. Beach of Delaware, for the sum of $1700.

A Building Club.

The Salisbury Building Club, a branch of the Granite State Provident Association, was organized in this city Thursday evening by the election of the following officers: Hon. E. Stanley Towner, president; Thos. M. Stinson, vice-president; Geo. W. D. Waller, secretary; Chas. N. Conlough, treasurer; Hon. Thos. Humphreys, attorney; E. Stanley Towner, Thos. M. Stinson, Geo. W. D. Waller, Chas. N. Conlough, Thos. Humphreys, Jos. H. Howard, Fred. L. Smith, Appraisal committee; Thos. M. Stinson, Jos. H. Howard, Fred. L. Smith; Business manager, Dr. E. W. Humphreys.

At this meeting $1000 stock was subscribed. The parent company has a subscribed capital of over $500,000, with about 25,000 shareholders. Such an organization must prove to be a great advantage to any town. The features of the Building Club are, economy and the opportunity of every poor man to possess, by monthly savings, a home of his own.

"St. Peter's Social Circle"

is the name of a new social organization instituted recently for the advancement of social intercourse among the people of Salisbury parish. The circle will meet every alternate Monday night. The first regular meeting was held last Monday night at the residence of Dr. E. W. Humphreys on Broad street. A very large attendance was present. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, reading, charades, etc., and it was very enjoyable. The circle will be entertaining at the residence of Mr. John H. White Monday evening, May 11th.

Mr. Harry Dennis, who has been a clerk in the shoe store of James Cannon, Esq., for several years, has purchased an interest in his employer's business, and the firm will be known as Cannon & Dennis. Next week their stock of goods will be transferred from the Uman building to the Bergen house on the corner of Main and St. Peter's streets—the site where Mr. Cannon formerly did a large business in shoes and ready-made clothing. The public has long enjoyed the integrity of the senior member of the firm. Mr. Dennis is an energetic and worthy young man.

The season is at hand when berry growers should supply themselves with crates and berry checks, so that when they are needed they will be at hand for use. The berry checks still afford the most handy and satisfactory method of recording the number of quarts gathered by the pickers. We are furnishing checks this season at $1.25 per 1000 or 75 cents per 500. All orders by mail or otherwise coming to our job department will receive immediate attention. We would be pleased to supply all who need them.

Rev. Mervin J. Eckels was present and participated in the exercises at the laying of the corner stone of the new Protestant Episcopal church of the Ascension Chautauque Place, in Bradford, Pa. Bishop Whitehead, presided.

Mr. W. Sydney Parsons received this week a can of very fine German carp, hatched in the Druid Hill Park pond, from Commissioner G. W. Delawar. Mr. Parsons will stock the pond on his farm near town with the fish.

Rev. J. R. Campbell, who was deposited by the New Castle Presbytery last week for procuring an illegal divorce from his wife, marrying again, is now at Snow Hill suffering with nervous prostration.

The Baltimore American of Thursday stated that a four masted schooner, loaded with ice, was ashore at Green River Beach, about 20 miles below Ocean City. The name of the ship was unknown.

The Horse's Head of Steel.

Did you ever watch a horse feeding at pasture? How he works his lips like fingers, picking a tuft here and there and leaving others. He does this by scent, which in the horse is most exquisite. My riding horse once came suddenly upon a long distance. This acute scent serves him in all his feeding. He picks over his hay and rejects any piece not pleasing to his sense of smell, and rejects a water from a bucket in which milk has been carried. He finds his way in the darkness by the same sense, and so acute is this that he can recognize his companion by the odor of the tracks along a road or a pasture. For these reasons, the horse is the most careful not to foul his hay in the making or gathering, but to keep it as clean as one would keep his own food. Thus, to squirt filth tobacco juice over the hay is an insult to the more civilized animal.—New York Tribune.

Can an Honest Man Die Unloved?

Not except under two conditions. First, that he is broken down in health, and therefore unable to do his duty; or he cannot spare a few cents a week for a policy. An honest man's duty to his family compels him to provide for them (as well as he can) not only while he lives, but while they are young, and his word for it—and he follows up his promise by the bond of a good life insurance company. This assures them protection—by himself while living; but his insurance when he is gone. The "word" is good and the "bond" is good, but the word and the bond together are better.

Whiskey.

Hold a mouthful of spirits—whiskey for instance—in your mouth for five minutes, and you will find it turns severely; inspect your mouth, and you will find it inflamed. Hold it for ten or fifteen minutes, and you will find the various parts of the interior of your mouth have become blistered; then tie a handkerchief over the mouth, and, for instance, water, vinegar, milk, or some, and you will find you are incapable of distinguishing one from another. This experiment proves to a certainty that alcohol is not only a great irritant, but also narcotic. Can you believe that the still more tender and important internal organs of the body can be less injuriously affected than the mouth? Dr. McCulloch.

A Dangerous Period.

As the season moves swiftly toward the boundary lines of life between winter and spring, it frequently happens that the human system, which has borne the strain of winter, shows signs of relaxation. In all ages this period has been noted as a dangerous one, especially to those who have weak constitutions. A course of the great blood purifier and tonic, S. S. S., will enable the most delicate to face the season's changes with impunity. It is a medicine that not only strengthens the weak and more delicate, but is an additional safeguard for those who consider themselves strong.

Water.

Elaborate work has been done by E. W. Morley relating to the volumetric composition of water. In his summary he says: For the present we may believe that water, when the gases are measured under ordinary temperatures and pressures, is composed of 2,000 volumes of hydrogen to a volume of oxygen; or, in other words, under ordinary conditions the number of molecules in a part of water, as hydrogen is one nine-hundredth part greater than the number of molecules in an equal volume of hydrogen.

The Best Result.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. So that from the time of purchase until Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result. Why don't you try it?

Unfortunate.—You're broken that lecture item off nicely," said the editor to the foreman.

"How so?"

"You've cut off all the names of those present but two, and made me say: 'Seated through the hall and into the room, Smithers and Mrs. Smithers.'—Puck.

A revivifying of nature's latent forces occur every spring. At this time, better than at any other, the blood may be cleansed from humors which infect it. The best and most popular remedy to use for this purpose is Ayer's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla.

Mayer has calculated that, if the motion of the earth were suddenly arrested, the temperature produced would be sufficient to melt and even volatilize it, while, if it fell into the sun, as much heat would be produced as results from the combustion of 5,000 spheres of carbon the size of our globe.

San Serpents.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, April 27, 1891.

Mr. Garman, in a lecture before the Academy of Natural History, gave an interesting synopsis of sea snakes and serpent literature, besides exhibiting a specimen of the real serpent to the assembled audience. The professor gave an historical review of the earlier literature upon the subject, going back to the time of Ptolemy and reviewing it down to date. Further on in his lecture he gave figures of some of the queer marine monsters which have from time to time frightened sailors and others on the rocks of the Deronian system. He is of the opinion that this recently discovered sea tiger is the original of more than one blood curdling sea serpent story.

The length and general outline of this should be familiar to all, as such as to cause any one except a born naturalist to take it for an immense serpent, an opinion which would, of course, be heightened by viewing a dorsal exposure of the creature through a glass in a trough.

Professor Garman does not discredit sea serpent stories, however, and is of the opinion that there are many slinky monsters lying far down upon the bottom of the sea, the like of which human eyes have never yet beheld.—St. Louis Republic.

Professional Men May Advise.

I am firmly of the opinion that there is a profitable field for development in the direction of advertising by professional men. After giving the subject a good deal of thought and weighing the objections already raised and to be anticipated I have a settled conviction that the lawyer, the doctor, the architect or any other professional man can call to his aid the limitless power of the press.

Professor Garman does not discredit sea serpent stories, however, and is of the opinion that there are many slinky monsters lying far down upon the bottom of the sea, the like of which human eyes have never yet beheld.—St. Louis Republic.

Professional Men May Advise.

I am firmly of the opinion that there is a profitable field for development in the direction of advertising by professional men. After giving the subject a good deal of thought and weighing the objections already raised and to be anticipated I have a settled conviction that the lawyer, the doctor, the architect or any other professional man can call to his aid the limitless power of the press.

The length and general outline of this should be familiar to all, as such as to cause any one except a born naturalist to take it for an immense serpent, an opinion which would, of course, be heightened by viewing a dorsal exposure of the creature through a glass in a trough.

—Should not the State of Maryland be credibly represented at the World's Fair which is to be held in Chicago in '93? Maryland's developed resources and her industries, if properly presented, should enable our commonwealth to take a conspicuous position, at the great exposition, among the sisterhood of states. Conferred action of the people of Baltimore city and the several counties is necessary to a complete and creditable showing of our wealth, and the advantages we possess to capitalists who desire to invest money where it will guarantee them a reasonable return. There is abundant room within our borders for manufactures; stock raising and fruit growing can be, and is, made profitable.

If, by advertising ourselves at Chicago in '93, we can secure foreign investment and a desirable class of immigration, we will be many times repaid for the trouble and expense which representation necessarily imposes. Aside from any material benefits we may reap, there is the incentive of state pride which prompts a laudable rivalry.

—The frost of last Tuesday night wrought great damage to young fruit and vegetables on the peninsula, which means a loss of thousands of dollars to Wicomico county and hundreds of thousands to the people of the Eastern Shore.

The crops now grown on our soil require much help to bring them to maturity, and then to put them in the market. When, therefore, any untoward circumstance blights the hopes and prospects of the peninsula, the loss is not only affects himself and family, but the effect is as far-reaching and universal as the community itself. Often, indeed, the owner of the fields and their wealth of marketable produce, is not the worst sufferer from such a disaster as has just befallen us, but many a poor man and woman and their family of small children depend almost absolutely upon their wages, earned in the berry patches and truck fields, for their daily bread.

The extent of the damage done cannot yet be fully ascertained, but it is certain that the result will be perceptibly felt by all classes of our people, and every industry must necessarily suffer. Fortunately there is time for the maturity of many profitable crops, and we would suggest that our farmers turn their attention to these.

Italians Flooding to America.

ROME, May 5.—America is draining away the population of some parts of Italy with remarkable rapidity. The exodus is most marked in the Po valley, on the Po near Parma, where 400 out of 2000 families have emigrated this year. Ninety-five families left Cremona last year. Gavelli, which a year ago had 5000 inhabitants, now has but 800. Polesella has lost 57 families, who all departed at one time. The movement from Rovigo, on the Adige, is so extensive that special trains are run from there to Genoa daily to accommodate the emigrants. The effect of so many departures is beginning to be shown in an alarming manner. Husbandry and trade languish for lack of employees. The authorities would gladly adopt some method of checking the movement if they could.

An Empress fond of Cooper's Novels.

One of the masters of ceremonies led me forward and placed me at a table immediately in front of the Empress, while Mrs. Dallas and my daughters were placed next to the imperial family, alongside of the younger grand duchess. I was repeatedly addressed on various topics by the Empress, who spoke distinct and not handsome English. Among her numerous remarks was her desire to know whether our novelist, Cooper, had lately written another book, for he was her great favorite—especially in such works as the "Frontier," "The Eagle," "The Last of the Mohicans," she had, however, not read all, nor in my opinion his best productions, and I recommended the "Red Rover" and the "Water Witch." She had not heard before of his last work on England said, seemed surprised that he should write about a country where he had been so little.—May Century.

Visible Sound.

The idea of getting a visual expression for musical vibrations occurred to Chladni, a physicist of the last century. He fastened a plate of glass by its center, and then, having scattered some sand over the surface, threw it into sonorous vibrations by means of a violin bow. Imagine the delight with which he saw the sand stir and form into lines on the plate, forming a star of twelve rays. Square plates of glass or metal screwed or even glued to a central support can be made by the correct use with tools, and give wonderful results. A plate, like a string, has one rate of vibration which belongs to it, and again, like a string, by "dampening" it, the vibrations can be stopped or changed in different points along the edge the note changes and with it the figure made by the sand. The lines on the plate where the sand settles are the nodes, the lines of comparative rest. The violent agitation in the parts left bare can be shown by mixing a little lycopodium powder with the sand; this is especially light and is caught in the little whirlwinds of air generated about the vibrating segments.—May Century.

JACK FROST DID IT.

Fruits and Early Truck Greatly Damaged on the Peninsula.

Verdant nature and the farmer's hopes were nipped in the bud by a biting frost last Tuesday night. Up to that date the prospect on the peninsula for a heavy yield of strawberries and a satisfactory crop of peaches was good. Tuesday night was calm, clear, and unusually cold for May. Wednesday morning a hoar frost was the winding sheet that told of the death of the young things it enveloped.

The damage extended over the entire peninsula, though it was more severe in some communities than in others. The Delaware peaches and berries were injured, yet from what can be gathered from the meagre reports from that state there is yet a reasonable hope for a partial crop. The up-shore counties of Maryland do not seem to have been dealt with so severely by the frost. Outside of our own county the most discouraging accounts come from Caroline, Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester.

With us the result amounts to almost a disaster. Our people, who have examined the fruit, are fully convinced that the peaches are dead. While, at a superficial glance, the fruit of many trees appears to be unharmed, on opening a black ring or ring will be found at the kernel. Wednesday morning the skin of the young peach could be removed very much the same as that of an apple which had froze and then thawed.

Strawberries, which were very fine and many were almost ripe, were frozen on the stem, thus not only those exposed were killed but all protected by the luxuriant foliage likewise died.

Apples and the crop was large, were damaged, as was also peaches, grapes, cherries and other fruits. Potato tops which had gotten in, some places, six inches high, were flattened to the ground. Watermelons, cantaloupes and cucumbers were killed, and many of the melons were killed eternally. The tender leaves of the forest trees did not escape, even, but they have the appearance of having been fired.

In order that we might learn of the exact damage done at home, we went out inquires to various points of the county.

Mr. N. A. Parsons is sure that all his peaches and berries were killed. His melon seed which had sprouted, were also killed. Messrs. J. C. Phillips, S. E. Gordy, J. J. Morris, Geo. W. Merick and W. H. Jackson made similar reports.

Mr. Geo. A. Bonds says: Prospect for strawberries is good, about 1000 bushels protected them; raspberries not hurt, grapes all killed, peach, apple and pear slightly hurt but can't tell to what extent. Most destructive frost known to the old inhabitants for the time of year.

Mr. B. E. Price, of Allen, says in reply to inquiry: About one-tenth of the berry crop was killed, or it is the general opinion that we will have nine-tenths of a full crop. Some patches were injured at all. Nothing seriously injured here except melons, grapes and potatoes.

From Mr. E. G. Davis, of New Hope, we learn that probably one-fourth of the berry crop was killed.

Mr. E. H. Parsons, of Parsonsburg, writes: People here say there will be possibly a half crop of strawberries, many of them are killed, while several are injured and will be knotty and faulty, while a few of them are not injured at all.

The above reports do not look so bad after all, but the gentlemen may not have examined minutely, or may be that the severest effects were near Salisbury.

In Burton Creek and Sharpshoot districts there were left some strawberries and peaches, but comparatively few. Wild fruit, such as whortleberries, dewberries, etc., are reported to be dead throughout the county. If there are any peaches left it is to be hoped that they will escape the "June fall" which is not probable.

Our loyal Legion is growing more interesting. On Monday evening, the programme consisted of music, an essay by J. J. A. B. C. of Allen, says: "What is Trappe district to have at the coming election?" I think we might see what Salisbury district is to have outside of Salisbury, as no one has been elected to any office in the district north of Salisbury in nearly eight years, notwithstanding the great number of democratic voters in that section.

Mrs. Rachel Waller, wife of Jonathan Waller, and mother of Thomas Waller of our county, died of paralysis on last Tuesday. In the seventy-sixth year of her age.

The Ledger's Locals.

We ascribed the following from Branch Haddaway's (Easton) paper:

Bishop Adams' family have removed from the Hamilton house on Harrison St., to the Gov. Thomas house on Goldboro street, which has been bought by the diocese for an Episcopal residence.

Last Sunday there was a very high tide, which flooded the meadow above the court house bridge. There was excellent crop fishing there, as the tide brought a large number of fish, some of them of fine size.

Wm. J. Sheehan brought to Easton on Monday a specimen of wheat from R. B. Dixon's field, four feet high. Some of the stalks had made the top blade, and the swelling of the head in the stalk could be seen. John W. Seemer brought wheat from Cedar Point on Tuesday measuring four feet four inches in height.

B. & E. S. railroad freight Thompson says he will pay off the employees of the road on the 10th of May all that is due them up to the first of May, and the 10th of each month will be the regular monthly payday thereafter.

The steamer Tanager was placed yesterday on the Clarksburg-Bidder route to take the place of the Thames River.

Revs. F. T. Tagg, R. H. Adams, J. W. Trout, C. D. Harris, C. E. Bock, A. R. Walker, Dr. J. E. M. Chamberlain, Gen. B. S. Starnes, Messrs. H. Thompson, J. F. Turner, J. H. Covington, R. B. Dixon, John Mason, J. E. Taylor, and H. C. Dodson have been named a committee to organize a Chautauque Chapter and hold summer meeting at Rich Neck. It is a good place to establish such an assembly.

Joseph B. Harrington brought to The Ledger office on Tuesday a bunch from his farm of Scarlet, Japan or Italian crows, the same name Bishop Adams wrote to The Ledger about, as being grown so successfully in Louisiana. It stands over his field at least 30 inches high and as thick as it can be crowded together. The heads are a beautiful scarlet and are about three inches long. The birds of this color headed are the most beautiful aspect conceivable. Mr. Harrington needed this color where he had a potato crop after digging the potatoes last in October.

ROSLA MOORE, Postmaster.

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1891.

Delaware seems to be unable to amend her Constitution. The legislature of ninety-one passed a bill submitting the question of calling a convention, to the qualified voters of the State, at a special election held last Tuesday. The present Constitution provides that a convention can only be called by a majority vote for legislators at the preceding general election. The vote on Tuesday it seems fell short of this about 400, although ninety-nine per cent. of the vote cast was "for a Convention". There seems however to be a saving clause in the Act submitting the question, viz: That in case it fails of the majority at the election just held, the question shall be submitted again at the next general election. So it is possible that Delawareans may yet have the opportunity of living under a modern Constitution. The present instrument seems to be fashioned after the laws of the Medes and Persians.

"Immense Quantities" of Peaches.

The Baltimore Sun of Tuesday says: Mr. James H. Gale, who has an orchard of 3,500 peach trees near Tolchester, in Kent county, exhibited in the Sun office some specimens of the Mountain Rose variety, which are of unusual size for the season. On one twig, a foot in length, there were thirteen peaches—each as large as a medium sized hickory nut. Mr. Gale says he does not plow his orchard every season, and keeps sheep in it, which he considers beneficial. From his specimens of Mountain Rose and Old Mixon varieties the trees are too full and the fruit is so small, that it is better if half the crop should fall, as it is likely to do in June, even then it is feared the remainder will be too much for the trees to carry. Mr. J. W. Wood, of Falgout Neck, who has about 2,000 trees, and grows six varieties of peaches, gives pretty nearly the same views of the crop prospects as Mr. Gale. He exhibited twigs from all his varieties, which are well advanced and of good size. Mr. Wood's specimens also furnished ample evidence that some trees, at least, are overladen, and would be benefited by losing half the fruit now in sight. The prospect is decidedly that there will be a full crop of peaches in Maryland. Mr. Gale advises the Baltimore packers to make preparations for handling immense quantities.

The Iron Centre.

Mr. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, was in Roanoke, Va., Saturday, on his return from a visit to a number of prominent points in the booming South. In conversation with newspaper interviewer Mr. Atkinson said that he had traveled entirely around the region described by him as the sites of the iron industry of the world, and what he had seen had confirmed him in his statement that a man standing on top of Great Smoky mountains, in Western North Carolina, could view the centre of the iron industry of the world. "In using that expression," said Mr. Atkinson, "I mean by the centre of the iron industry not that the iron industry will be centred there, but use the term relatively as the centre of the iron industry of the population in the United States. I make this explanation that I may not be misunderstood. The iron industry will centre in Georgia at separate points, but this region as I have said before, is to be the sites of the iron industry of the world."

Maryland's Settlers.

Under the sheltering branches of a mulberry tree, 257 years ago the early pilgrims of Maryland stood and made a compact to found a government with civil and religious liberty for its basis. These pilgrims, with Leonard Calvert at their head, landed on the beautiful promontory in St. Mary's county, March 27, 1634. There they established the city of St. Mary's and at once began the erection of homes. This spot has become endeared to Marylanders and is held in reverence by every liberty-loving citizen of the Union as the spot where the foundation of that personal liberty was laid upon which the republic is built, and the grateful people of Maryland have prepared a lasting memorial to mark the spot and to perpetuate the memory of Leonard Calvert, which will be dedicated with suitable ceremonies on May 27th next.

An Interesting Question.

An interesting question has arisen at the Treasury Department, at Washington, in connection with the present silver law which authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month and to issue treasury notes thereon. The treasury notes are now for sale at the auction purchased under the act aggregate $2,552,000. The department coins two million standard silver dollars, and the law says that any gain or seigniorage arising from such coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the treasury. Under this law the government has already gained by seigniorage $2,545,000. The question that now confronts the Secretary is whether or not he can make up the circumstance, issue silver certificates against this amount.

Col. J. B. Bachelder, government historian of the battle of Gettysburg, has selected the stump of tree in the "bloody angle" as the site for the large granite tablet that will designate the place on this battle-field commonly known as "the high-water mark of the rebellion."

By a powder explosion at a coal mine near New Philadelphia, Ohio, Tuesday, John Groat was killed and his brother Edward fatally injured.

"The Peoples Party."

The National Union Convention which has been in session in Cincinnati this week gave this last Wednesday a third National Party and named it The People's Party of the United States of America. Senator Puffer of Kansas presided over the convention which seems to have been made up of ex-greenbackers, ex-prohibitionists, labor leaders and farmers Alliance representatives. The convention declined to adopt a temperance plan for its platform and denounced everything in the way of banking and monetary institutions now existing, and calls upon congress to issue its obligations to an unlimited extent upon a solid basis as far as it can and a fictitious basis the balance of the way.

HERE IS THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

Your committee on resolutions beg leave to submit the following:

First.—That in view of the great social, industrial and economical revolution now drawing upon the civilized world and the new and living issues confronting the American people, we believe that the time has arrived for a crystallization of the political forces of this country and the formation of what should be known as the people's party of the United States of America.

Second.—That we most heartily endorse the demands of the platform as adopted at St. Louis, Mo., in 1889, in Omaha, Neb., in 1892, and in Chicago, Ill., in 1893, and in 1894, and in 1895, and in 1896, A Young Man's Fancy.
Large allowance is to be made for the young man's fancy in the selection of a dress. It is the spring of a young man's fancy lightly to turn to thoughts of love. It is the true of the material young man, whose fancy, if he has any, is of the dull and heavy variety. The material young man marches around as the captive of "General Dehility." The readiest and most obvious means of escape are afforded by S. S. S., which, without any flourish, routs General Dehility and his malafaral allies. What is true of the young man is true of the young lady, and the whole host of sufferers. S. S. S. is a specific for all.

Total Abstinence in India.
Mr. W. S. Calvo, of England, has returned from his tour through India, impressed with the temperance and that is aflame throughout the southern part of that country. A powerful propaganda of total abstinence principles has been set on foot, the chief apostle being a Hindu ascetic who has exchanged religious contemplation for this more useful work, and promises in his way to be successful in effecting conversions to temperance in India. In all directions guilds and castes are exacting the total abstinence pledge from their members. The movement has brought together adherents of opposing religions, and everything proves the remarkable progress already made.

Everybody Knows
That this season the blood is filled with impurities, an accumulation of months of close confinement in poorly ventilated rooms, workshops and tenements. All these impurities and every trace of scrofula, salt rheum, or other disease may be expelled by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier ever produced. It is the only medicine of which "100 doses one dollar" is true.

It Doesn't Pay to Be an Inventor in Russia.
An employee of the postal telegraph office of St. Petersburg has invented a watch which requires winding up only once in forty-five days. He submitted his watch to the Mechanical Engineering Association, who would it and placed it in a vault for trial. It was found precisely as the inventor represented it to be. Now the man wants to get a patent on his invention, but the difficulty presents itself that he does not belong to any mechanical guild. Whether as a layman he is entitled to a patent on a mechanical invention the minister of the interior will have to decide.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Let us Talk it Over.
You know as well as we do that there are hundreds of thousands of widows and orphans living today who bleed the memory of a faithful, loving husband or father, who not only cared for them when he was alive, but had the foresight to care for them after his death by leaving them a few, ten or twenty thousand dollar life insurance policy. How will it be with you, good friend? Have you your life insured? If not, come in and let us talk it over. It is a duty you owe those dependent upon you.

The Washington Life Insurance Society issues various classes of insurance—also, but some of them are better than others. The Washington stands at the head of its class, and offers better and more liberal policies than any company in the world.
