VOLUME 33, NO. 5

FROSTBURG STATE COLLEGE, FROSTBURG, MARYLAND

OCTOBER 7, 1981

Slow Start For WFNR

Some of the returning students may have noticed something missing on campus this semester. There are visible hints as to the existence of this "thing" but nothing is being HEARD. So what's it all about? That's what State-To-Date has asked WFNR—the campus radio station.

In speaking with persons-in-the-know (names being withheld to protect their window fan), this reporter has discovered several reasons for the delay in broadcasting this semester: a large number of new members on the staff, changes necessitated by non-returning executive staff members, various changes in the program, and (here's the biggie—) preparation for the future FM status of our station.

The aspect of broadcasting that first comes to mind to John or Jane Q. Public is the broadcaster. WFNR is in the process of training 70 new disc jockeys. This procedure takes over an hour per trainee! The fifteen returning DJ's must also experience some minor retraining with new equipment installations.

In addition to preparing the disc jockeys for efficient performances, the existing executive staff must also replace its positions of Production Director and Music Director, thus currently in need of conscientious applicants. The applications must be followed with interviews; then the decision of the best possible person for the job will be made.

With new technical advancements, the station has the capability to report live sports. Call-in shows and radio dramas are options being worked on as well.

The program also includes specific evening hours for various audiences, such as jazz, classical, and southern rock specialties. These will be scheduled at regular times with the same DJ's doing the shows.

Most of the work being prepared currently is to enable WFNR to be ready for its FM conversion within the next year(s). The delay in the switch is due to the Federal Communications Commission and not our campus station. WFNR is getting ready NOW. And that is why things are being carried out so diligently: our future with FM and the "big boys" depends on our present efforts.

New students may not be familiar with the former quality of this station, but all can agree that there is over-familiarization with the "top 10" GO 106 selections. The alternative will be "alternative programming" of WFNR. This will offer a variety of listening experiences; concentrating on top-selling albums in all musical types, rather than over-played 45's. Students should look forward to a new sound.

So, when will we be able to hear this new "sound"? The answer was an optimistic, but cautious, "soon."

Wind Energy Workshop

On Saturday, October 10, 1981, four local educators will conduct a free, one-day workshop on wind-energy conversion systems. Mr. Donald Carstens (Garrett Community College), Dr. George Elliott (Hagerstown Jr. College), Mr. James Mellon (Allegheny Community College), and Dr. George Plitnik (Frostburg State College) will conduct a tour of a working windmill that has been erected at Garrett Community College, from 1:00 to 3:00 Saturday afternoon, and will discuss ways in which the average home-owner can take advantage of this natural energy source—either for personal use or to sell back to the Public Utility Commission.

There are two basic types of windmills; those used to pump water and those used as generators. Water-pumping windmills spin at a low speed yet produce a large amount of power. These windmills expose a large surface area to the wind so they can operate in low-energy winds. To generate electricity efficiently, however, the wind generator must rotate at high speeds. The long and slender blades used for this type must be balanced perfectly so that the centrifugal forces generated won't tear the generator apart. Just how these factors work together will be the subject of the workshop.

The workshop will begin with a presentation of background information and a short film. The presenters then will discuss the various types and applications of windmills. Another part of the presentation will deal with the economics and viability of wind-energy conversion systems, including siting a windmill, installation costs, and the determination of a payback period. Guests then will tour the windmill.

The windmill installation at GCC was supported by a Department of Energy demonstration grant to show the feasibility of various alternative-energy systems in Western Maryland. The documentation and the research into the background was supported by a grant from the Staff Development Consortium of the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA) of Appalachian Maryland.

Elliott, Mellon, and Plitnik have collaborated several times on various energy projects funded through RESA and the Department of Energy, focusing at different times on solar energy, wind energy, and alcohol-fuel production. Results from this work have been incorporated into the curricula of the area colleges, and will be made Yesterday, October 6th, was an anniversary of sorts—on that day in 1980, the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg passed a piece of legislation known as General Ordinance No. 555. This is commonly referred to as the "noise ordinance," and it has become all too familiar to a few off-campus students, nine of whom were served summonses for violating it when their "po Post-game" party became a little too loud by the town's standards.

The wording of the ordinance is prudently ambiguous; the only criterion used to determine what is considered "too much" noise is apparently the arresting officer's discretion. If the offending party is judged to have "interfered with the reasonable use and enjoyment" of adjoining premises, then he can be charged with a violation. Just what constitutes "reasonable use and enjoyment," however, is never stated, but is left to be determined, presumably, by the courts.

However, if you can't decide if your tuba practice is limiting the "reasonable use and enjoyment" of the elderly couple's apartment next door, you'd better tone it down just in case because the penalties for violations are pretty stiff. The subject who is convicted on a first offense faces a fine of $25-100 or a 30-day jail term or both. If the subject is convicted again, he then faces a minimum fine of $100 (maximum—$500), or 30 days imprisonment or both. Aside from these penalties, the threat of a bad record is a deterrent to such violations.

So next time you feel like cranking up the stereo of having a loud party, think again.—$100 is hard to come by!

Editorial

When you go to a bank in town and are told that your check must be held for ten days, but your check isn't held during the summer, do you feel that you've been used? When your party leaves you with a summons for violating a noise ordinance, do you think you're being picked on?

What is it that causes some students to misunderstand some members of the community, and some community members to misunderstand some students? Some students bounce checks, vandalize anything in sight and make lots of noise, and this causes some townies to treat all students as though they bounce checks, vandalize and make noise. Some townies hold checks for ten days and are picky about noise ordinances, and so some students treat all townies as though they hold checks for ten days and are picky about noise ordinances.

When it comes right down to it, townies have no reason to treat students the way they do. Any student will be able to tell you this. But, how many students will tell you that townies shouldn't be treated the way some students treat them? Townies don't hold the exclusive rights on unfair treatment and students get in their fair share of it.

This unfair treatment is usually due to generalized ideas of entire groups of people by persons that don't want to take the time or effort to treat everyone the same, or as an individual. So the next time you go into town to bounce a check, think of the person you see as less a townie and more a person.

CRIME PREVENTION TIPS

Resident Hall rooms should be kept locked at all times. Lock your door even if you are just going to the bathroom or the room next door. Be particularly sure to lock your door when you are sleeping.

Never prop exterior doors open for friends who will be coming over later.

Do not open your door until you know who you are opening it for.

Report any suspicious people immediately to the Campus Police, extension 4222. Give the person who answers the phone a description of the individual. Often these people are looking for easy thefts and if questioned usually they say they are looking for a person who does not even live in the dorm.

Do not advertise or write on your door where you are or when you will return.

Letters to the Editor

ALL LETTERS TO THE EDITOR OF STATE-TO-DATE MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY THE AUTHOR'S SIGNATURE. PLEASE PRINT LEGIBLY OR TYPE.—Ed.

Open response to a letter which appeared in last week's State-To-Date.

Dear Steph,

I'm glad to see that somebody read my letter and gave it some thought but I think you might have gotten the wrong impression as to the point I was trying to make. I agree 100% with your views on lack of student involvement in the arts program and having more money wouldn't do any of the programs much good if it wasn't used wisely by the students. I also agree that the school should be well-rounded as far as other more physical activities are concerned but even within the realm of the sports program itself, the "well-roundedness" seems to take more of an elliptical shape with the football team at both foci.

The over-emphasis on football is surely felt throughout the school, but the lack of adequate funding is probably felt even more by the rest of the athletic program. A prime example of this is the Women's Cross Country Club. In years past, they have finished the season with winning records that make the football team's records look quite silly. Usually working with a small, talented squad, the women almost always qualify for the National meets and fair very well once they get there. Even with these impressive credentials, the women still receive no funding from the athletic budget because Mr. Kenneth Cutler, athletic director, has not seen fit to grant them a 'team' status, which would enable them to use more school facilities in order to travel to other areas for meets or just to work out. The same 'club' status has been held over the ruggers and lacrosse players' heads for some time; also the work of Mr. Cutler. I wonder if his soccer team is having any financial difficulty these days?

I hope I have clarified to you that I am not a tattered remnant of the 60's who wants to change everything RIGHT NOW! ('cause we've all seen how little that works). I would just like to see a little more fairness displayed when it comes to funding any program, be it sports or the arts. Thanks for your interest.

Album Review

by Michael Hanes

This week's album review consists of "Songs In The Attic" by Billy Joel, "Snaz" by Nazareth and "Too Late The Hero" by John Entwistle.

"Songs In The Attic" was recorded in both large arenas and small clubs within the last year. The songs were all previously recorded by Joel on Studio LPs prior to the release of the "Stranger" album in 1977. Since the mass audience did not really know Joel's music before then, this is basically new material. "We liked the songs but the original studio recordings didn't have nearly as much energy as the live renditions. The live tapes were, in fact, much closer to the sound I hoped to capture originally," Joel says on the album notes. Some of the best cuts are: "Captain Jack," "The Ballad of Billy The Kid," "Streetlife Serenader," "Say Goodbye To Hollywood," and my favorite, "You're My Home."

Next is a rock 'n roll album by Nazareth called "Snaz." The Scottish group might not be a mega album seller but fans flock to see their live shows. This double album finds the group unleashing their energy on such favorites as, "Love Hurts," "Hair of The Dog," "Holiday," and "Expect No Mercy." The playing is crisp, the sound is excellent.

Last but not least is "Too Late The Hero" by John Entwistle. The Who's bassist proves that he's more vocal than he's usually perceived on this first solo effort in six years. Handling vocals, bass, synthesizer and piano, Entwistle is accompanied by Eagles guitarist Joe Walsh and drummer Joe Vitale. Entwistle rocks out on "Talk Dirty," "I'm Coming Back," "Try Me," and shows his sensitive side on "Lovebird." Look for immediate action on this album. Can anybody from the Who ever do anything that isn't successful?

Albums to keep an eye on.

Also, look for the Genesis album and Grand Funks first album in a very long time. Yes, the American Band is back.

Women's Rugby

The Frostburg Women's Rugby Club traveled to Washington, D.C. this weekend to participate in the 1st Annual Michelob Light Capitol Women's Ruggerfest. This was the 1st women's rugby tournament in the Washington regional area. Six teams competed in the tournament. They were Chesapeake, Frostburg, Towson, Loyola, University of Maryland, and Washington D.C. Although Frostburg was traveling without a full side, they played in all three games expected of them.

Frostburg played its first game on Saturday morning against Chesapeake. Fielding only eleven players against Chesapeake's fifteen, Frostburg put up a good fight but Chesapeake won the struggle.

For the second game, Frostburg was able to recruit some alumni players and Washington D.C. club also helped out with players. This time Frostburg went on the field with fourteen players. The game was played against Maryland University, a club Frostburg has yearned to play. The first half of the game was played strong and hard by both clubs and the half ended with no score. Coming into the second half Frostburg played strong but Maryland finished the game with a win.

After a tough time on Saturday, Frostburg came back on Sunday to finish up their last game. With only eight of their own club members, Washington D.C. club supplied six girls to help put up a side. Frostburg was prepared to give Loyola a tough time. The game opened with a kick from Loyola and the ball was handled back forth by both teams. Loyola got a hold of the ball and luckily was able to fumble into the try zone. They missed the kick and the score was 4-0, Loyola. By no means did Frostburg give up though. Minutes later, Pamela Izod bolted 80 yards, dashing through Loyola players to score a try. The half ended with a tie score, 4-4. The second half was played strong by both clubs, with Frostburg dominating. After about twenty minutes of play, Jiving Jinny Archer danced down the field and with a pop kick over oncoming traffic, cleanly placed the ball in the try zone. The score was now 8-4 for Frostburg. Frostburg continued to dominate the game for the remaining ten minutes and finished with a victory, Frostburg 8, Loyola 4.

Although the club finished with a 1-2 record in the tournament, they were proud of their performance and spirit. This was also shared by the referees who awarded the Sportsmanship trophy to Frostburg. Washington D.C. Club placed first in the tournament and Chesapeake second. Next year Frostburg hopes to have a full side to travel down and take the tournament.

This weekend the club will play Pittsburg Women at 11:00 a.m. on the old soccer field. Come out and see what our women can do!

Swim Team Marathon

The Men's and Women's Swimming Teams will sponsor a Swimming Marathon on Saturday, November 7, 1981, and all members of the college community are invited to participate. Each person will have the opportunity to swim either 200 lengths of the pool or swim for one 2-hour period, whichever comes first. This swim must be a continuous one, with no standing on the bottom to be allowed. The pool is 25 yards long, and any stroke or combination of strokes may be used during the swim.

Participants should obtain pledges for the number of lengths they are able to swim. Pledges collected will be divided evenly between swim team activities and the charity of the participant's choice.

Interested persons should contact Swim Coach Bob McFarland at Room 274, Physical Education Center, Telephone 4475.

Homecoming '81 at FSC

There's something for everyone at Homecoming '81 to be held October 16 and 17 at Frostburg State College.

Highlighting this year's festivities will be the tenth anniversary Bobcat Hall of Fame banquet honoring past and present FSC athletic greats; a performance by the "Amazing Kreskin," mentalist and renowned expert on ESP; a Grantsville Holiday Inn gala including a cocktail party, dinner, and dancing; the on-campus Homecoming Dance featuring music by local favorite, "Windfall"; and the Homecoming football clash against Waynesburg.

A special art show featuring works of FSC alumni, departmental receptions, soccer, field hockey, and the crowning of the 1981 Homecoming Queen will complete an exciting weekend.

The Week of October 5-11

This week the moon begins to light up the fall evening sky, growing to the nearly full phase as it passes in front of the stars of Sagittarius, Capricornus and Aquarius. Venus is now alone in the evening sky, the brilliant planet setting at 8:35 p.m., nearly two hours after sunset. Over this weekend (Friday, Saturday, and Sunday), the planet Venus will have a close encounter with the bright star Dischubba, the middle star in the claws of the Scorpion. This planet-star line-up should be striking with binoculars and will be best seen about 8 p.m. low in the west southwest.

"The Passion and Pageantry of Greek Mythology" is now featured at the Frostburg State College Planetarium with free public showings each Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. and each Sunday afternoon at 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. through the month of October. This program will survey the most interesting of the constellation stories as well as show the most prominent star groups visible throughout the year in the Tri-State area. The Planetarium is in the front lobby of Tawes Hall, in the middle of the Frostburg State campus.

The week of October 12-18

This is the week of the Hunter's Moon, the full moon after the Harvest Moon. The moon's orbit now makes a low angle to the eastern horizon, causing a shorter than usual delay in the moonrise from night to night. Monday's moonrise is at 6:40 p.m., with moon coming about 40 minutes later each night. By the weekend, the moon will have moved to another part of its orbit and the moonrise delay will have grown to nearly an hour. Saturday evening will see the planet Venus just about bright red star Antares low in the western dusk. It should be quite a sight and the two objects won't be seen together like this again until January, 1984.

"The Passion and Pageantry of Greek Mythology" continues at the Frostburg State College Planetarium with free public showings at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoons. Each Planetarium presentation features a brief introduction to the current evening sky as well as a free star chart. The Planetarium is in the front lobby of Tawes Hall in the middle of the Frostburg State campus.

New SGA Budgeting Procedures

According to the new constitution of the Student Government Association, the Budget Allocations Committee is now the House Finance Committee which consists of 4 members with the treasurer of SGA serving as chairman. There have been some important changes in policy and procedure that all clubs and organizations requesting funds from SGA should be aware of.

- 1) All organizations requesting funds MUST be chartered by the House to be considered for any allocations.
- 2) All requests for funds must be brought to the House Finance Committee at least 3 weeks before the organization's scheduled event and each organization shall show evidence of an attempt to raise the needed money through fund-raisers, dues, admission tickets, etc.
- 3) Least consideration will be given to the spending of funds for parties and group dinners, personal gifts and similar expenditures.
- 4) Any willful misuse of an SGA allocation—such as an expenditure made fraudulently and without report to the House Finance Committee will be repaid within seven calendar days and the offending organization shall be subject to denial of any SGA allocations for one year. Any attempt to alter or submit false receipts to obtain funds or any overdraft of allocated funds shall result in the same penalty.
- 5) Absolutely no funds will be dispensed without valid receipts. There will be NO exceptions. The only gasoline receipts that will be accepted are those for the day of the event, unless prior approval is received.
- 6) SGA encourages the financial independence of all chartered organizations, utilizing departmental finding, dues and fund-raising activities.
- 7) The Treasurer, with the assistance of the House Finance Committee, shall MONITOR the expenditure of funds allocated to SGA chartered organizations to make certain that they are in agreement with the terms of the allocation.

Tartuffe

The first theatre production of the 1981-1982 season at Frostburg State College will be "TARTUFFE", a comedy of the French theatre written by Moliere. Directed by Dr. Jack W. Vrieze, the play will be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 8, 9, and 10. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Reservations can be made by telephoning 689-4145 between the hours of 1 and 4:30 p.m.

"TARTUFFE" is the story of a totally unscrupulous religious hypocrite's impact on the family of Orgon, his benefactor. When it was first performed for Louis XIV in 1664, the play caused tremendous controversy. What was once controversial now provides a splendid showcase of characters in laugh-provoking situations as the family of Orgon attempts to escape Tartuffe's diabolical machinations. The late John Gassner, theatre critic and theorist, noted that "not only hypocrisy but an excess of sincere piety are made the objects of satire and comic effects."

As a special attraction on opening night, the Lane College Center is offering a buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Information regarding the dinner and TARTUFFE on October 8 may be obtained from the Director of the Lane College Center, telephone 689-4151.

Rape Awareness Program

Many people believe rape is something that happens to someone else, or in some other place. They never imagine that they might be the VICTIM of this violent crime.

Fact: Each and every person in this community is a potential victim of rape or sexual assault.

Do you know the proper precautions to take guard against this crime both on and off campus, in your home, in your car, while walking alone? Do you know why victims need medical attention? Do you know what really happens in court? Are you aware of the common myths concerning rape that most of us believe?

Policewomen Joyce Hartig and Linda Morley have developed a rape awareness program with information that can help you. They will present the program for your group or organization free of charge.

For help or information call: College Police 689-4222.

To the Electric Freshman:
I like to watch you wiggle
When you're walkin' down the street;
I like to see the smile you give me

Everytime we meet.
I like the worn-out holes
In the back of your pants,
I'd be glad to patch them up,
If you'd only give me the chance
I can't wait to see you tomorrow
It'll surely make my day,
But for now, Rich, Sweetheart,
This is all I've got to say.
This isn't for Mike, Kenny
Jimmy

Or the other Gymnast jocks,
This message is for Rich Nietsch,
The campus Freshman Fox!

EROTICA Hour, 5-6 p.m. daily.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FERN:
Wagon-riders More-a, Jackass, and F'art are still fighting the dreaded Bread which falls from the LONE STAR. Message coming through the SLUM HEIGHTS telling of a meeting at WASH'N WEYR with MASTERHOOKER Mrs. Robinson. Be there—or contact Box 890.

Need an idea for a fun, cheap date? Take him or her to the Palace Pub Theatre. Seats are only $1 and draft beers are only 60 cents. It's a good deal and it's a blast!

Dear Bundo:

Even if you hide for days in the cart lab, you're not gonna get rid of me. Even if you intern in Siberia, you're stuck with me. Keep trying. I LOVE YOU,

Your bundette

Love ya,
Mom

IN-FLIGHT message to all of FERN: Almost finished burning this dreaded Bread. Advise caution back at WASH'N WEYR. I have forgotten how to land this WAGON. Look out below!

F'art

FELONY: If your mini-wagons keep popping in here my golden wagon's gonna fetch 'em in here for my new recipe.

BEWARE MORE-A

DAD, MOM, DENICE:

Sure would be nice to see you. I guess it won't be for awhile, though. Since the food's so bad, you should send me a nice package of goodies (i.e. money). (Sure would be nice anyway. Everyone else gets them!) Was nice talking to you Mon. nite. Hope to hear from you soon.

Love, your deserted daughter (& sister) at F.S.U.
P.S. Tell Aubrey to send my toys.

DIANE: Sorry I haven't written yet but I've been busy. Hope things are going well. Take care & write soon.

Love Darcy

F'art, Jackass, and More-a:

I'm working on a new tune here. It goes:

"We wrote a poem once for some folks;
The soreheads didn't like our jokes

No doubt they'll think our new place, Fem
Is some new way of mocking Pern.

No dragons! We ride Wagons here
And Stars rain Bread at Wash'n Weyr.

O FERN! Where beats the Slum Heights noise
And Hookers mess with little boys!

P.S. I'm stuck on verse four. What rhymes with "vodka"?

Mrs Robinson

HAPPY FIRST BIRTHDAY to Courtney Samuels! What a birthday present, eh kid? Love,

The Godmother

FERN:
How come I got stuck with this MAXI-WAGON? I want a full size WAGON.

Jackass

FELLOW Wagon-riders:
ROOF has heartburn from breathing fire. How much Pepto Bismal does a Maxi-Wagon get?

Jackass

To "An Admirer":

Thank you very much for sending me the advance ticket to the Allegany Jam. I would love to have gone on Sunday, but I had already made plans to go away for the weekend. When I received the ticket. Thanks for thinking of me; you're very kind.

Ken

F'art, Jackass, and More-a:
I heard them rumors you all are spreading through the Slum (hic!) Heights. I don't drink that much—I know what's going on (hic!). And I ain't going back to the Stuck-up Continent with them stuffy Old Fogies. Give me a young Wagon-rider who hasn't earned his apostrophe yet any day (hic!)! They don't call me Masterhooker for nothin', ya know! Coo-coo-ca-choo.

Mrs. Robinson

T-CUBED:
Did you find your balls yet??

T.S.

F'art—
I sure am getting tired of having you around here at Wash'n Weyr. Can't wait till my golden Wagon goes out mating so I can get me another Wagon-rider (one that can remember how to land them). By the way, heard any good tunes from Masterhooker Robinson lately? I have the hardest time with history.

More-a

Good Luck to the DAI Pledges. You will make great sisters. Get Psyched for Informal! Love,

Laurie

To the Women of Fern:
Am presently working on a recipe to use up those mini-wagons. Don't worry, we'll wipe those little varmits out yet!
