Campus Welcomes Alumni

The faculty and student body wish to offer a warm welcome to those members of the alumni from classes 1906 through 1955 who will meet on Saturday, May 5, here at the college. It is a most rewarding experience to receive this association of persons who have contributed valuably in gaining public interest and recognition for our college. Their excellent services have contributed greatly to the welfare of this institution. It will be a delightful privilege to visit with these honored guests whose continued interest in us will be of great value to every undergraduate class.

Of the innumerable values in belonging to the alumni association, there is one that is of particular importance to every college student. The friendships that have been made within these four years will be retained through a close contact with fellow graduates. As a graduate you will remain close to those who have contributed much to the development of your college years. You will be interested in promoting community and organizational interest and support of the college. Functioning as a member of the association you may be able to provide scholarships to future students who lack the financial means to attend college. There are innumerable services which the alumni contribute in an effort to promote the welfare of the college and to remain in close unity with other graduates. You, too, as a future graduate will appreciate your membership in the alumni association.

Men Thank Hostesses

Within two weeks the men resident students of State will select their roommates for next year and perhaps their very rooms in the new men's resident hall. This act will informally end the old system of "rooming out" that has for over twenty years provided living quarters away from home for male students of the college.

Many people will perhaps feel that through the income derived these hostesses have been amply repaid; many will feel that there is no room for sentiment where progress is concerned. But who in a school and in a town grown so used to the question, "Where do you stay?" and to the possible answer, "At Mrs. Yenshaw's . . . or Mrs. Farrady's . . . or Mrs. Coleman's," will easily forget the happy memories, the legendary escapades, and familiar problems and gossip that have been passed down to each new class of freshmen men?

What has been a happy relationship is ending in part, and to you, the hostesses, we say, "Thank you! You have helped us; and we, you."

Congratulations, Leaders!

Congratulations to the four senior students who have been privileged to receive leadership awards. They have shown themselves to be assets to F. S. T. C. during the past four years.

These awards signify that they have achieved success both in study and extra-curricular activities. Their contributions speak for their worth as individuals. By acceptance of responsibility, budgeting of time, cooperation and application of talent, they have worked for the college.

We are certain that with the rich and varied background these people have acquired, their potentiality as future teachers is great.

Underclassmen should look to the winners and attempt to emulate their accomplishments. The winners are well-known by the majority of persons on campus. Their success should be an incentive for students during their years at the college. Let students remember that only through effort and unselfish work can coveted goals be attained. Each of us has talent. How many have put it to work for a worthwhile cause?

Use these honored students as examples that you, too, will be of as much value to yourself, your family, college, and community.

Staff Writer Back From Annual SPSSP Conclave

With the coming of spring, a young teacher's fancy turns toward professional conventions. Our reporter has just returned from the Annual Spring Convention of the Society for the Preservation of Secondary School Principals. Some seventy high schools and one kindergarten were represented at the convention which was held at the site of the future old age home for former teachers, Resting Laurels-by-the-Sea.

Dr. Hydan Seek, from Who Knew U., gave the keynote address entitled "The Well Rounded Textbook." Following the two hour illustrated lecture, Mr. Diedin The-wool gave a short talk on "Bells and Dumb-Bells."

Lunch was served on the campus. The traditional school lunch being over, only forty-three principals failed to return to the assembly hall.

Dr. J. J. Gordon-Brown, A. A., M. A., I. O. O. F., and M. D., spoke on "Germ Welfare" at the evening banquet. It was also reported that since that morning 12,000 prospective pupils had arrived. Mr. Ken Dew told how he was able to retire from teaching at the age of 25 by teaching all three shifts.

The evening program dealt with the crying need for more teachers and fewer pupils. Some schools were even rationing out their teachers in order to cope with the demand for less and less education and more and more socializing.

Our reporter returned the following day with high hopes of attending all future sessions as our official correspondent.

Window Scene Brings Fear Of Invasion By Martians

By Mary Mertz

After my room-mate dons her pajamas, puts up her hair, and turns out the lights, she invariably hits the sack, gets up, raises the window shade, and hits the sack again.

TV or Not TV— That's The Question

It seems of late that television viewers have a very limited selection from which to choose.

Have you ever settled down for a nice quiet evening of T. V.? (Oh, I beg your pardon, students don't watch T. V.) You've got a snack near at hand, you're sitting in the most comfortable chair in the house, you flip on the set, lean back and relax.

"What to your wondering eyes does appear?" Nine chances out of ten, Roy Rogers or Captain Video will come abounding into your living room. Or maybe you'll be greeted by "Beat the Clock," or "The $64,000 Question." What this one would like to know is, "What has happened to the good old fashioned drama or comedy?"

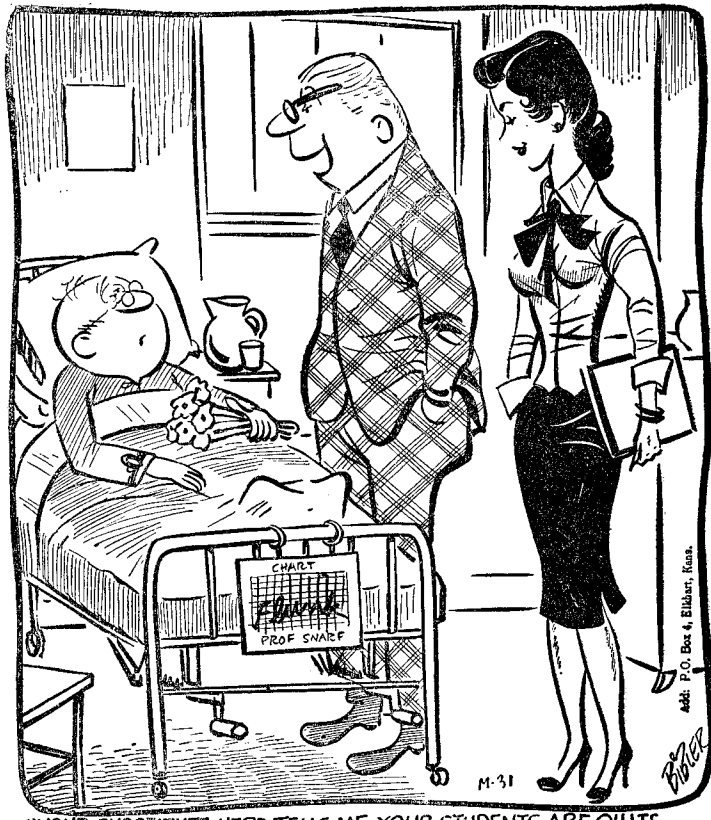

Quiz shows are all the rage now, but as far as I'm concerned they could be completely annihilated without being missed or mourned. As far as cowboys and super-human characters are concerned they're for the birds!

Oh, yes, there's one other sore spot most "watchers" agree on. You guessed it—commercials. They're quite persuasive even to the point of selling refrigerator to Eskimos.

But, alas, of what good is all this complaining? Anyway I've got to go or I'll miss that T. V. show—"Two for the Money."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"YOUR SUBSTITUTE HERE TELLS ME YOUR STUDENTS ARE QUITE CONCERNED ABOUT YOUR HEALTH—BUT THEY'LL PROBABLY TIRE OF HER."

State-To-Date Prepares Objective Quiz For Campus V. I. P's Concerning Their Observations On Easter Vacation Trips

During the recent Easter vacation both faculty and students of the college spent varied and interesting vacations. To keep everyone on their collective toes State-to-Date has prepared a test on the college level (what else?) to determine just how well these various vacationers observed while vacationing. Those of our readers who went nowhere may nevertheless take the test.

Just to start you off on the right foot, we'll tell you the following: Dean Diehl went to Harrisburg, Pa., Williamsburg, Va., Norfolk, Va., and to the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The Maryland Singers went to New York City. Chuck Janda, Mike Smith, Donnie Bell, and Gene Brown explored a swamp.

Here is a sample question for the first section: Chicago is a (1) City; (2) Swamp; (3) Dean; (4) Vacation. Choose two.

1. During the Easter vacation, Mr. Diehl went to (1) Chicago; (2) Swamp; (3) Eastern Shore of Harrisburg, Pa.; (4) New York City.

2. During the vacation Chuck Janda, Don Bell, Gene Brown, and (1) The Maryland Singers; (2) Chicago; (3) Mike Dean; (4) Brer Rabbit, explored a swamp.

Here's where it gets tough. In the following section choose one of the topics and discuss it fully. Be specific. Not over 500 words. (a) What were the contributing factors that led Chuck Janda, et al, into the swamp? Why did they return? (b) Who is Tong and where did he originate? (c) Why did Mr. Diehl get sunburned during his vacation? (d) Who will be the Democratic Candidate for President in 1956?

Identity: (1) Mr. Diehl; (2) Alf Landon; (3) Simon Tulaii; (4) Chicago. Pick five of the above. You may do others for extra credit.

Many other people closely connected with the college went on trips during the past liberation. These questions may not be easily answered as were the preceding ones. Match the people listed with the place each one visited.

Mike Smith - Montreal, Canada
Dr. Clay - Swamp
Pogo Possum - Swamp
Mr. Taylor - Kentucky, where else?

William Sburg - Barrackville, W. Va.
Robert Wagner - New York City
Mr. Skinner - Virginia

This next section is that ever popular True-False deal. You know how it works—you consider the question carefully, weighing the pros and cons. Then you guess.

1. Mr. Charles I. Sager, who is baritone soloist with the Maryland Singers, did not attend the New York Philharmonic Orchestra Concert.

2. The cranial area of a local college administrator received severe damage from solar radiation.

3. The "Swamp Rats" explored a track of soft, wet ground having a growth of certain kinds of trees, but unfit for cultivation.

Bobcats Open With Double Victories Over Ohioan Foes

Sparked by the relief pitching of Bobby Dawson, and the timely hitting of Jimmy Eckhard, Bob Kirk and John Keister, the Bobcats defeated Kent University of Ohio 6-4 for their second victory. The game was played at Stayman Field in Keyser due to the condition of the fields in Frostburg.

This was the second game that had to be shifted. On Thursday, April 6, the game with Ashland (Ohio) was shifted to Westernport. Coach Skinner's nine emerged victorious in this encounter 4-2, behind the strong arm of Hugh Nolan.

In the game with Kent, State spotted Kent four runs in the first two frames and came from behind to win by chasing three runners across the plate in the sixth inning.

Carl Emerick started on the mound for Frostburg but he was chased in the second inning when the Ohioans scored thrice and took a 4-0 lead. Dawson, former Alco pitching ace, who hurled in the Pen-Mar League last season, came on to finish for the Bobcats. He held Kent to two hits and pitched seven innings of scoreless ball. He struck out six batsmen.

The Bobcats started whittling down Kent's lead by scoring twice in the fourth inning. They put the game on ice in the sixth with a three run outburst. Jerry Null walked and scored later on Jimmy Eckhard's double. Bob Kirk tripled sending Eckhard across with the tying run. Then John Keister singled and sent Kirk home with the deciding tally. The Frostburg nine scored their final run in the eighth inning. They evened up Frostburg's series with Kent, the Ohioans won the opener last year 8-3.

Frostburg in scoring their victory over Ashland provided a first inning four run blast which was all Hugh Nolan needed to tame Ashland.

In the big first inning of the game at Westernport, Tom Kelly opened with a walk, Jerry Null walked, Jim Eckhard singled Kelly home, Buddy Poland singled Null home and Bob Kirk doubled Eckhard and Poland home. Kirk was tagged out going to third.

Ashland's runs were scored back-to-back doubles and an error. Behind the strong steady arm of Sirk, the team firm Potomac State, swamped the Bobcat nine 6-0. This game was played at Keyser.

Sirk held the Bobcats to but four bingles, while his teammates were pounding the offerings of Dave Marple.

Jim Eckhard, Jim Poland, Buddy Poland, Bob Kirk were the only four Bobcats to produce hits. Junie Perry, led the West Virginia attack. This was the Bobcat's first loss of the season.

From the results of the first few games, it looks like State is in for a successful season. Why not come out and see the remaining home games? They are:

April 28—Shippensburg
May 12—Montgomery (2)
May 19—Potomac State

The Bobcat baseball season has opened in a fine fashion with triumph over a couple of good Ohio losers, Ashland and Kent State. Credit must be given to the two young men whose fine pitching performances made those victories possible. Hugh Nolan went the seven inning route, giving up just six hits in State's 4-2 win over Ashland.

Bob Dawson, a freshman with plenty of stuff, pitched shut-out ball for seven innings in the Bobcat 6-4 decision over Kent State. We just won't talk about the third game. My explanation for that course of events is that Bob Sirk of Pot State must be a right fair hurler.

The girls are still very active in the way of athletics around here. They plan to play intramural soft ball this spring at the Little League field behind Compton Hall.

Banquet Scheduled May 8 At Anton's; Miss Holbert Voted New Vice President

Heading the slate of officers for the coming year are Margaret Leader and Marina Tuya who will serve as co-presidents of the Women's Recreation Association. With Ruth Holbert as vice-president, Dorothy Sigler as treasurer, Jo Ann Fiery as recording secretary, and Mae Rice as corresponding secretary, the WRA should have quite a successful year.

The WRA Banquet is shaping up to the delightful expectations of the entire membership. Any girl in FSTC can attend this feast since the athletic fee has been paid by everyone. Scheduled for May 8, the regular meeting night, the banquet is accepted as a substitute for attendance credit.

The menu consists of Southern fried chicken, mashed potatoes with gravy, hot rolls, salad, fruit cocktail, cottage cheese and chives, and peach melba, a real taste treat. Umm, yum! This traditional menu should really fill 'em up. An added attraction, blazers will be presented to those girls whose WRA accumulated points have reached the required 8.

Softball practices have been delayed by the Frostburg weather conditions, but an organization meeting has been held with all who expressed an interest attending.

Those girls who are interested in reviving the softball intramurals this Spring are as follows: Barbara Tedrick, Joan Snyder, Elinor Sines, Annette Smith, Maureen Manley, Ethel Anders, Jean Kimbell, Bobby Boyle, Rosemary Lancaster, Bette Ramsay, Lorraine Scarlett, Betty Tyree, Margaret Leader, Joan Kidwell, Anne Leonard, Eunice Jenkins, Pat Carter, Sara Slick, Marina Tuya, Phyllis Raines, Doris Sonner, Joan Buskirk, Pam Minke, JoAnn Fiery, Joy Swett, Frances Teter, Sylvia Hilliard, Susan Eader, and Mary Agnes McGann.

In the Sports' Day held at St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, the State freshman volleyball champs copped first places and the sophomore basketball team took second place honors in their respective sports.

Bobcat Tennis Team Sees Better Season

The Frostburg State Teachers tennis team will expect to enjoy a good season this year, according to first player-coach John Clarke. He is optimistic because the team will have three returning lettermen. They include Clarke, Ed Smith, and Fred Gero. The squad will be reinforced by the return of Jack Green and Tom Fogle, both of whom were out a year because of ineligibility. The former is an experienced hand who can be counted on for a good match any time. The latter is improving all the time. The eager new men are Jim King, Doug Sullivan, and Russ Heyde. They will be green but expect to improve as each practice drill and match goes by.

The Bobcat courtmen hope to play in five matches this spring. The first one will be on April 28, at which time the Clarkemen will entertain the men of Fairmont. On May 3, the Bobcats will journey to Towson where they will make serves with its tennis team. On the ninth of May they will be at Fairmont to play a return match. Clarke disclosed that the tennis men are going to play two matches with Potomac State. The dates for those engagements as yet have not been set.

Coach Clarke said that the State netmen should do much better than they did last year. (He refused to reveal last year's record.) His reason was that the team has more overall experience. He even went so far as to predict that the Bobcats should win at last three matches. Last Clarke said that the loss of Fred Clapps and Allen Lipscomb will hurt but not that much.
