I saw that the men were not to be trusted, so I went to the door and, going to come down from the roof, I told them to get down from the roof and to get afraid of them as I went down. I got to the fifth floor and peeped out. The men were all over the roof. It was all right. The men were all in their places. I didn't dare to get to the window sill, as I had done on the first floor. I went to the door and said, "I am here." They all came. So I just took one more peep if everything was still all right, no hand on the sill and valenced out. I went to the door and every one made the jump after me. Dr. H. V. Fennix: Dear Sir—
Mine is a case of eleven years' standing, which baffled the skill of the best medical men, and seemed almost hopeless. I am glad to report, however, that since I began the use of the "Favorite Prescription," which lifted the burden which weighed upon me, I have been able to do my work.

In gratitude, I owe to the "Prescription."
I hope that all suffering humanity (as in my case) may profit by the result of my experience.

THE HOG PEN.

Mr. Editor—I beg you will allow space to my small communication about the hog pen. So far no attack upon your columns, and while I have not ascertained your opinion, I am sure that you are not a partisan of the pig.

In regard to the case of the three citizens have expressed themselves most indignantly upon this subject.

The three gentlemen no doubt present the sentiments of a large number of our people. The first one made a clear and strong case against the hog pen upon grounds of common decency and cleanliness. This basis is strong enough and broad enough for a constructive fight against any nuisance.

The second plaintiff missed a dinner because a stench expelled and blew his appetite. The too has a valid case against the hog pen, and his pork-producing neighbor certainly owes him a very good reason for every day cleaning. These two cases of public nuisance express themselves with indignation and indignity and in respect for the rights of others.

The third for the intemperate manner of the plaintiff deserves to be expelled, but who shall still the tongue of mania. His distributive stomach is a violent nuisance, and an intemperate disposition to "rub everybody's stomach with the same disorder. Evidently the poor fellow has imitated the "municipal stinks," until he has gone wild, and is really frantic to exchange his poor wretched intellect for a good reliable set of "inwards." He certainly has a grievance against the hog pen.

Here then are three citizens of the town who have suffered so much and so long that they are forced to cry out upon their neighbors. I am a fourth and no matter what wild voice joins the din against the pig, I am glad that the silence upon this unsavory subject has at last been broken.

I hope some rumormongers will be moved to banish the rumormongers forever. Leaving considerations of public health aside, the common rights of citizens are involved in this question.

No man has a right to fill my house with such a stench that to every caller I must apologize for the vile atmosphere in which I receive him.

Many people in this town cannot sit out of doors upon the hottest summer nights so overpowering is the horrible odor from the neighboring hog pens. There has not been an evening in the last three months when my family could sit upon my front porch, and the nearest pig sty is, I suppose, three hundred yards distant. I submit that this is an unwarrantable abridgment of my privileges.

One must confess however that the hog is not the only generator of our "municipal stinks."

Let's suffer public speak out in no doubtful terms, now that the discussion has been well opened.

A successful campaign against the hog pen may easily be made and every progressive citizen should be in it. Other means might be suggested, but this is the one which most popularly outrages the senses and the one which demands instant attention.

"FOURTY or FIFTY SUFFERERS."

Hon. Geo. A. Johnson.

Hon. Geo. A. Johnson, who died September 21st in San Francisco, Cal., aged 66 years, was a native of Salisbury. He was the son of Mr. James L. Whittington of this city, and a cousin of Mr. Granville R. Rider and Mrs. M. E. Houston.

His early education was imparted to him by his parents and by attendance at the Salisbury academy. In 1847 he moved to Indiana and soon thereafter, entered Yale college, from which institution of learning he graduated in 1853. After his graduation he studied law, and in regular order was admitted to the bar.

He was appointed by the late Governor Hendricks, afterwards vice-president of the United States, Judge of the Seventeenth Judicial Circuit of Indiana. In 1847 he located at Santa Rosa, Cal., and soon acquired a high reputation for legal acumen and ability. In the year 1859 he was elected attorney general of the State, and few, if any, of the representative men of his adopted state filled the office with more honor or more marked success.

In addition to what has been said above of his career, Mr. Johnson figured conspicuously in the Chinese exclusion act, urging the anti-Chinese provision.

Mr. Johnson was a classmate at Yale of Wayne McVane and of Edmund Edwards Steadman, the poet.

Maiden's Spring.

Messrs. L. A. Wilson and John J. Hopkins have recently purchased of Mr. Jas. E. Bacon, his steam saw mill property here. The purchasers propose making many important improvements to the mill, the greatest of which will be the addition of extra machinery for the manufacturing of peach baskets and strawberry crates and baskets. Heretofore their fruit growers have been compelled to go from home to get packages in which to market their produce. This inconvenience will now be met by home supply.

In addition to the manufacturing of lumber the new firm expect to deal extensively in the cord wood business.

Mr. Wilson of the firm who has been in the mercantile business in this town for several years has moved his stock of groceries and hardware to the store on the mill property. His stock of dry goods was purchased by Mr. John T. Wilson who will deal in general merchandise at the old stand.

Manufacturing Plant Sold.

The plant of the Salisbury Manufacturing Co., located in this city, was sold at mortgagee's sale last Saturday. The mortgagee under which it was sold was given to the Salisbury Building & Loan Association, and was originally for $5,000 but had been reduced to about $1800. The obligation was then purchased by two of the company's creditors, the Essex National Bank, and Emory H. Burgrave, Esq., through their attorney Jay Williams Esq., and sold ordered. At the sale these two creditors purchased it, their bid covering the mortgage and the expenses incident to the sale. The claim of the bank is about $900 and that of Mr. Burgrave, $200, with some accumulated interest. These two creditors are the absolute owners of the property. They will probably make an effort to dispose of it as speedily as they are in position to run it. The property which cost them about $10,000, will be, we understand, shortly offered for sale.

Quintilian May Be Sold.

Capt. Thompson, General manager of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Co., accompanied by several capitalists, including the late Mr. F. Wright, conducted the services of Quintilian last week. They were met at Snow Hill by a special train with General Wright's tent and A. J. Benjamin on board, which conveyed the party to Ocean City. ### LOST AND SPOILED MONEY.

The Bank of England Makes a Big Profit on Her Notes.

Bank notes of the value of thousands of pounds are annually lost or destroyed by accident. In the 40 years between 1793 and 1833 there were outstanding notes of the Bank of England, presumed to have been either lost or destroyed,

The alarm was excessive, the lights in the hall were too bright, the door was ajar over the wet pavements and the few belated pedestrians who were hastening to their homes. It was a night for dark thoughts and dark deeds.

I half added the book which I had been reading—so absurdly impossible for me to reach such a point in my life—on the floor, and I was looking at the raindrops chasing snail's foot down the window pane, when I heard a faint rustle without.

The cabbies in the street below were awaiting, and the call bells in the hotel were clanging like wild.

I opened the door and I almost heard a sharp click like the cocking of a firearm. The connecting door was unlatched and I might have been greeted with hated breath and hair bristling all over with terror. The shuffling of heavy feet and a muttered imprecation as the door opened, the sound of a key in a paralyzing dread seized on me, freezing the Lifeblood in my veins. God of heavens, what horrible tragedy was being enacted behind that door?

"Come in," I called, above the ringing of the elements, rang out the report of a pistol, followed by a terrible oath.

it, and the bank would give all the assistance in its power to enable the loser to recover the amount.

"The bank note having been, say, burned by mistake, if the number is known and notice sent to the Bank of England, it will pay the amount in full. But if the number is not known, the date of lodging notice of destruction should no one have presented the note for payment in the meantime. The bank in such cases also insists on a guarantee from the giver of the note, or two honest holders that it shall be repaid in the event of the document turning up and being again tendered for payment. It is not at all an unusual circumstance for

THE HOUSE SHOULD DOWN A DYNAMO
The Howards Could Magnetize Ham-

There is an easy way to render the ordinary truck hammer an article that is away with all danger of bruised fingers from its misdirected blows. A little dynamo, connected to the hammer, makes it so simple that it should be universally adopted.

All that is required is access to a dynamo. Then lay the head of the hammer on the framework and leave it there for about five minutes. This needs no explanation. The dynamo is detached without the knowledge that some force holds it fast to the framework.

payment, burned perhaps half through, with marks of burning on the fringes. Now is the chance, says the reporter.

The two who indulge in the luxury of lighting their pipes with a bank note are not always, as some may think, the most successful members of the society. The spoiled notes are more often than not presented by workmen or laborers, who are not so careful as the others that they have intentionally lighted their pipes with them for more bragadocio — (The Associated Press).

With the dynamo your hammer has been magnetized and will pick up bits of iron or steel that are not too heavy for it.

Nails and small nails, too short to be held in the fingers when driving, may be picked up by the magnet. You can blow rivets without using the finger or thumb and much speedier work accomplished. The magnet can be used as the man of the house will at once appreciate the blessing of a magnetized hammer, since he can pick the things up that he has dropped. It is not necessary to press them into the roller with the same tool and by one blow drive the elastic fasteners home.

He then turned to the more important French establishment of Tahiti, and after a short pause, and a slight bow, he said: "I am glad to have ought to know that, Perier, because it is thanks to your grandfather that France has been able to take possession of the world. Frog Catching is an industry in vogue with the natives of the Pacific coast. The frog is a delicacy with the natives, and the frog catcher is a man of considerable skill and industry. The frog is caught in the following manner: The frog catcher goes to the edge of the water, and throws a net into the water. The net is made of a fine mesh, and is about 10 feet long and 6 feet wide. The frog catcher then pulls the net in, and the frogs are caught. The frogs are then taken to the market, and sold for a few cents each. The frog catcher is a man of considerable skill and industry, and is well known in the Pacific coast.

"Well, out in the south-western part of the world, you can get a whole hog for a nickel, and a whole hog is a long way altogether, especially at the little German groceries with a saloon annex. I can come into the store, get a pitcher of beer, the vessel is set on scales and weighed. Then the customer is asked if he wants larger or common beer. If he wants common beer, he gets 1 1/4 pounds, but if he wants common, I . . . he gets 1 1/4 pounds. The

A Rare Stamp.

An interesting and valuable addition to a collection of United States postage stamps is the Philosophical memento. It is a half crown stamp, inscribed "America," and is the only one ever attempted to be forced upon our philatelists at Boston who threw the sheets into their harbor, for the collectors of the United States stamps are not likely to be deceived by the name, which Mr. Philbrick, Q. C., is fortunate enough to be the possessor of. The machine which is inscribed on the specimen copies of Australian

"CHILLIENSER," when other people have been deceived enough, is a sign of biliousness. It does look like a stamp, but it is a fraud or imposture, coated through, with a few of repeating letters, and is not worth the value of a dull, drowsy, dabbled, dithered, or dazed man.

WAGES GOING UP.

More New Woolen and Cotton Mills Than for Four Years - A 25 per cent. Wage Advance.

These are the bad times, very bad times, for political wool growers and cotton growers. Not only in this country but in the domestic wool remain firm, at an advance of about 10 per cent. over the McKinley prices of two months ago, but there is unusual activity in the woolen and cotton mills.

The wool and cotton reporter devotes a page every week to a "Bulletin of New Enterprises," which, however, includes mills shutting down. There used to be more mills shutting down than starting up; but since the passage of the "free trade" bill, which was passed in 1891, the woolen industry, the reporter has been a remarkable one - better than for any two weeks during the four years of McKinley.

For the week ending September 6th the Reporter mentions five new mills, one of which is a cotton mill, to cost $1,000,000, 28 enlargements and 20 mills starting up, one of which has been closed nine months and another one.

Barrett Bros. of Stafford Springs are mentioned as having settled with their dissatisfied weavers, giving them a 25 per cent. advance in wages. This wage advance is more than the American Economist could find in any protected industry during the first two years of McKinley.

The record is a good one, but that for the week ending September 13th is better. During this week there were fifteen items under the column headed "New Mills." One of the mills mentioned is to have 45,000 spindles, and to be the largest cotton mill in the South.

Another, for making cotton, wool and worsted yarn, is to occupy a building 110 by 200 feet, which structure alone is to cost $30,000. "The plans for the new plant," says the Reporter, "have been ready for some time, but it is said the construction of the mill depended upon the settlement of the tariff question."

Another common mill, with 25,000 spindles, is to be built at Gaffney, S. C. Two hundred thousand dollars have already been subscribed.

The other new mills are for the manufacture of woolen, cotton, knit hosiery, and silk goods.

Under the column "Enlargements and Improvements" there are eighteen mentioned. Under the column "Starting Up and Shutting Down" twenty mills are mentioned as having started or about to start up. One of these has been closed since April last, another over a year, and a third for two years. All three are woolen mills. Only four are mentioned as shutting down - one to make repairs, another for two weeks, and another because of death, and the last is closed on short time on account of low water.

If this sort of business goes on until November the result of the election may not be so satisfactory to the Republicans as they have been anticipating. They must either manage to keep the mills closed or to keep the backwoods voters from knowing that more wheels are turning than ever before. Can they save off property until after election? If the drought, which only lasted two months longer, Republican prospects would be brighter.

October Book News gives a portrait of George Du Maurier, the artist-author of the famous "Trilby," with a sketch descriptive of his life and works. The usual collection of reviews of the month's books, a very full list of new books and new editions, all critically and reliably written from them, notes of authors' doings, with full announcements from the publishers for the holidays make up a magazine that is a necessity to those who would be posted in things literary. # SENATOR GORMAN'S POSITION.

He is Not Expecting to Take Part in the Maryland Campaign.

Senator Gorman spent last Tuesday in Baltimore. He reached the city about 11 o'clock in the morning, and after transacting some private business went to the Democratic headquarters, at the Carroll Hotel, about 12:30 o'clock, where he spent the afternoon. He took the 5 o'clock train for his home, at Laurel.

At headquarters Senator Gorman secured room 119, where he was in consultation with the Democratic State Central Committee. Those who met him were Joshua W. Miles and W. Laird Henry, of the first district; Harry W. Rusk, of the third; Dr. George Wells, short-term candidate for the fifth; J. F. C. Talbot, of the second; Charles W. Talbot, of the second; and the Democratic State Committee, was also in the consultation.

Senator Gorman also met a number of the city leaders, including Mr. I. Freeman Reelin and Sheriff Gorman. Mr. Reelin and Senator Gorman dined together in the hotel.

The Senator was asked by a reporter of the Sun if he intended to take part in the campaign in the State this fall. He said he had no present intention of doing so. "In fact," said he, "I am just recovering from a prostrating malarial attack, which has left me unfit for any physical exertion. I am feeling much better and hope soon to be entirely well. I have no intention at this time of participating in the campaign in Maryland, and indeed, had made up my mind not to do so, but what I may conclude to do a week hence I cannot say. No one has authority to say I will deliver speeches in any part of the State."

"What do you think of the prospects of electing Mr. C. W. Senneker?" he was asked.

"I don't know. I have not been in Baltimore for six months and am not in a position to judge what Mr. C. W. Senneker's prospects are. Tell me," he continued, becoming interviewer in turn, "what do you think of it?"

"He may receive 2,000 majority," was ventured.

"Not more than that," said the Senator, with a quizzical elevation of the eyebrows. "Well, you must excuse me now as I want to catch my train," and he jumped into a cab and was driven rapidly away.

Senator Gorman said he had come to the city to see the candidates and to find out the situation. He also wanted to consult with the politicians and to fix up some matters and so on, to use his own words. He is looking well and says that he feels better now than at any time since the campaign of 1892. At the adjournment, he said, he concluded that he needed rest and made up his mind not to participate in this fall's campaign.

CHESAPEAKE BEACH RAILWAY.

Mr. John E. Seearle Is Said to Be Negotiating for Its Purchase.

"The Baltimore Sun of Thursday last says that it was rumored in this city yesterday that Mr. J. E. Seearle, the head of the syndicate which recently effected the consolidation of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad and the Maryland, Choptank and Eastern Shore Steamship Company, had been negotiating for the purchase of the Washington and Chesapeake Beach Railway Company. The road was planned to extend from Washington to Chesapeake Beach, on the Chesapeake bay shore, in Calvert county. The company was organized in 1881, and it was intended to develop Chesapeake Beach as a resort for residents of Washington and Baltimore. The distance from Washington to the beach is thirty miles. The capital stock of the company was $1,000,000. The company started work about a year ago, and most of the road bed has been graded, but no rails have been laid. It was said by the incorporators at the time work was begun that the road would be completed in 1894. STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Representative of the First Congressional District to fill the unexpired term of the 54th Congress:

W. LAIRD HENRY, OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

For Representative in 54th Congress:

JOSHUA W. MILES, OF SOMERSET COUNTY.

OUR CANDIDATES AND THEIR PLATFORM.

Messrs Miles and Henry, the Democratic nominees of the First Congressional District to fill the unexpired term of the 54th Congress, last Tuesday.

The Democratic of the county felt that the Ocean City convention had done both the district and the nominees an injustice in failing to make the platform definite and specific, as to the tariff, that it was not sufficient simply to adopt the tariff plank of the Chicago platform, in view of the fact that a great struggle was then going on in the Senate of the United States and the contest was ostensibly the construction of the very language adopted by the Ocean City convention.

The representative people of the county came to hear Messrs. Miles and Henry on this point. The meeting was one of the burrah kind, but businesslike.

The audience was composed of men who came to learn, not to shout and hurrah, and they were convinced.

When a woman is at her best, mentally and physically, is a question which receives adequate answer at the hands of such representative women as Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mary M. Wilkins, Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, Mrs. William T. Smalley, who has prepared some charming illustrations, will prove one of the best. Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney contributes another interesting "Friendly Letter to Girl Friends," and Mrs. Borton Kingland writes of the social life of "Farmers' Wife," and "Introduction of a Girl to Society." The twelfth installment of Mr. Wm. Dean Howells' "My Literary Passions" is full of interest and charm, and Mrs. Lyman Abbott, in "Looking Toward a Wife," defines the right position for parents in the love affairs of their sons. Rose Hawthorne Lathrop contributes a dainty poem, and Mary Shaheen a Thanksgiving story, "The Soldier at Barne's Corner." The Christmas anthem by Bruno Ocklein, which won the prize in the Journal's Musical series, is given. Palmer Cox has his "Brownies" play ball. The editor discusses the financial problems that have beset the nation during the past year, applying their effects upon the women in the home. Maria Parloa writes of "Heat and Light in France," Mrs. Malon of "Graceful Dinner Gowns," Miss Hooper of "Procks for Girls of All Ages," Helen Jay of "The Work of a Farmer's Wife," and Elizabeth Robertson Scovell of "Thanksgiving for the Children." For this delightful issue Mr. Wenzell has designed an attractive cover, which does its part toward making this holiday number a particularly attractive one, and one which no woman can afford to be without. The Journal is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, for ten cents per number and one dollar per year.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason of Colton, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by E. E. Truitt & Sons.

THE TITOLI LAUNDRY.

A New Steamer for the Wicomico River to Take the Place of the Pratt.

The Titoli which was built at Sparrow's Point by the Titoli Company, of the Maryland Steamship Company, has made her trial trip and proved satisfactory to the contractors.

The boat was built for the Maryland Steamship Company, of which Mr. Pratt was the president until his recent absorption by the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company. She made a trial spin down the bay Tuesday last and it was on this trip that Mr. Pratt praised the new craft that bears the name of his country residence.

The vessel left at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, and after a speedy run to Thomsen's Point returned to the works at 11:30 o'clock p. m. The maximum revolutions were 57 and the average 35. On the trip back she averaged 15.1 knots an hour, and it is hoped that she will exceed that speed when the stiffness of the machinery wears off by regular running.

On board the Titoli, besides Mr. Pratt, were Capt. Willard Thompson, general manager of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company; Messrs. James E. Byrd, secretary and treasurer of the Maryland Steamship Company; William Rush, chief engineer of the company; Frank B. King, superintendent of the Maryland Steamship Company's shipyard; H. A. Maguire, designer of the boat's machinery; Wm. H. Swenson, designer of the boat's hull; and L. V. Jervis, chief clerk of the marine department, and Dr. Wm. H. Hoops.

The steamer was navigated by Capt. E. W. Starnes, assisted by B. F. Larwood, both from the Titoli's yard. Mr. Geo. M. Andrews, who superintended the building of the engine, presided over the machinery, assisted by machinists, firemen and coal passers from his department.

It is expected that the Titoli will be ready for service November 1, when she will go on the Salisbury route, taking the place of the Enoch Pratt, whose officers and crew transferred to the new boat. Her fuel is to be supplied by Wm. H. Starnes & Co. of Wilmington, Del., who fitted out other boats of this line.

The main saloon on the promenade deck is an equipment in hints of white, with gold embellishments for the paneling and relieved by pilasters of hard wood. The stairways are in quarters oak. The main deck also has the officers' cabin, mailroom, kitchen and other rooms.

Below the main deck in the forward and after holes are comfortable quarters for the crew and colored passengers. The latter is divided into compartments for men and women. David E. Evans & Co. of Baltimore, are installing the electric plant. The boat will have a search light of 4,000 candle power.

The Titoli is 175 feet long between perpendiculars, 22 feet beam, and 10 feet 9 inches in depth from base line to under side of deck amidships. The keel is a flat plate, weighing twenty-two pounds to the foot. She is driven by a single-cylinder side wheel beam engine with cylinder of 38 inches diameter and a piston stroke of 8 feet 10 inches.

A clever physician once prescribed a new and becoming dress as the best remedy for a nervous, nervous woman, writes Helen Jay in an article devoted entirely to "The Work of a Farmer's Wife" in the November Ladies Home Journal. History says that a cure was effected. At any rate, we know that the article is a masterpiece of the French, "a woman is just as old as she appears to be," and the woman who keeps young and strong must look young and strong. There is another way in which the farmer's wife injures herself physically, and that is by drinking so much cold water when doing her work. She becomes overheated in the hot kitchen, baking, ironing or washing, and goes from that warm room into her cold dairy where the temperature is several degrees lower, to cool off for a few minutes as she says. While resting there she drinks a glass of cold water and then goes back again to her work. She goes from the stove to the cellar without a thought of the risk she is running. This criminal carelessness on her part causes many rheumatic fevers so prevalent on our farms, and it ruins the finest milk. No space can be exposed to such extremes without injury, and a fact that is first almost blighted with heat and then chilled with a current of cold air is apt to grow into a chronic ailment. It is not disfigured by eruptions. Instead of doing so much work in the hot kitchen, the wide, cool piazzas, which, as a general thing, run around one side of the farm-house, should be utilized for domestic purposes. The ironing and part of the baking can be done here very easily by using a small oil stove; and the vegetables will be quite as thoroughly prepared for cooking if the house wife sits comfortable in the coolest corner, instead of nearly bending over a stove in a close room, made almost unendurable by the heat from a large stove.

Injuries to the Eyes.

An oculist of long experience in this city, who was recently asked to state the most common causes of accidental injuries to the eyes, replied: "Among children, throwing stones and playing 'shindy'—a most dangerous game. Another frequent cause of accident is allowing children to stand about the kitchen range when the cook is trying fat that splatters and flies about the room. Among adults, the most common injury arises from strictly constitutional disorders."—Philadelphia Record.

Irish Superstitions.

Mr. Le Fanu, writing on Irish superstitions, says: "The so-called tales of the Derivins (burrings) originated in the superstitions of the Irish people. In addition to other troubles, to allay the thirst of all previously laid in the churchyard. Where the water carried and poured I have heard of being very hot, the labor involved is incessant and the carrier not relieved till the next funeral takes place. Peasants have been known to put shoes or boots into coffins to save the feet of their relatives on these weary wretched carrying walks. Our neighbor, John Ryan, provided two pairs of shoes in his wife's coffin—a light pair for ordinary wear and a strong pair for bad weather."

THE CABLE CAR MAN.

He Claims That He Faces Dangers Which Almost Unnerve Him.

When the railroad men left the cable car at the head of the Milwaukie river viaduct, the gripman threw the lever forward with a shout: "Up!"

He had plenty of time to wait for the cable to rise. Just as quick as the gripman thought they are the only ones in the world who ride on rails. Did you hear them talking about how weak they felt after their meal? Did you hear them talking about how they sweat a cold sweat when the baby toddled in front of their eyes? Did you hear them talking about how they felt after their meal? Did you hear them talking about how they sweat a cold sweat when the baby toddled in front of their eyes?

There are more kids to the acre up Milwaukee avenue than anywhere else in the city, and every last one of them plays in between the street car tracks. We have close shaves every block. Just like that. Did you see that man there? He had plenty of time to wait for the cable to rise. Just as quick as the gripman thought they are the only ones in the world who ride on rails. Did you hear them talking about how weak they felt after their meal? Did you hear them talking about how they sweat a cold sweat when the baby toddled in front of their eyes?

There are more kids to the acre up Milwaukee avenue than anywhere else in the city, and every last one of them plays in between the street car tracks. We have close shaves every block. Just like that. Did you see that man there? He had plenty of time to wait for the cable to rise. Just as quick as the gripman thought they are the only ones in the world who ride on rails. Did you hear them talking about how weak they felt after their meal? Did you hear them talking about how they sweat a cold sweat when the baby toddled in front of their eyes?

Miss Hilda Vernon.

Miss Hilda Vernon the popular actress will be in Salisbury three nights next week, beginning Monday, October 24th at Ulman's opera house. Of this company, Spirit of Jefferson, Charleston, W. Va., says:

"On Saturday night last the Hilda Vernon company closed their engagement, playing to a large and enthusiastic audience. Night after night the company played to house packed audiences. The best people of our town. This large attendance was due to the fact that the play was far above the usual standard, and to speak in all fairness we must say that this is one of the very best companies that has ever visited this neighborhood. We feel sorry that they have left us, but take consolation in the fact that the company promises a speedy return. Hilda Vernon is one of the most clever sensational actresses upon the stage, possessing rare genius and versatility, giving from the shared, hard adventures in one play to the fond loving woman in the other; from the overconfident girl in another to the unfortunate wife in the next—and so complete are these changes that her identity is entirely lost, while to her audience it becomes possible that this is the same woman who enacted the role the previous evening. Again we say Hilda Vernon is deserving of all the praise that can be bestowed upon her and wish her a long and prosperous career."

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quelled. The severe pain of a burn or cold promptly relieved and the sore healed in a matter of minutes. It is the best remedy for all the ills that afflict the human family. It is sold in all drug stores. For sale by E. K. Truitt & Son.

The Rev. Dr. S. W. Reigart, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of this city, preached the Synodical sermon before the synod of Baltimore, in Washington city, last Wednesday evening on the subject, "The Place and Work of Men in the Church, and how to get them there."

Mr. Geo. W. Smith of Trappe District now comes to the front smiling and exhibits seven sweet potatoes, (cross between Yarn and Red Chunks) which fill a peach basket. These are the very largest we have seen, but they were very large and smooth and attractive looking.

DEMOCRACY!

Ex-Governor Jackson Presided at Tuesday's Mass-Meeting—The Representative Party Men of the County Eager Listeners.

MESSRS. MILES & HENRY

The nominees, assisted by Messrs. Wilkinson and Strauss, annihilate the "Mad Theory" of Protection.

Last Tuesday's democratic mass-meeting in Salisbury differed in some respects from previous meetings of the democracy in this county.

The circumstances were not altogether the same.

Heretofore when the call has been made for a rally of the party cohorts marching orders have been at once obeyed as a matter of course, and the platform on which the candidates stood, taken for granted. Just here is where the difference existed in this campaign.

The impression had gone abroad after the Ocean City convention that Messrs. Miles and Henry as the democratic candidates for congress were pledged to the platform of protection to the domestic well-being of the people of the first congressional district, whom they were named to represent.

With this question unsettled in their minds the voters of the county who believe in the great principle of tariff reform, came Tuesday not to hurra and jollify, but, repressed by a mental reservation, to learn the truth about the attitude of the men they were being urged to honor with their franchise.

When at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Ex-Governor Jackson assumed the chair of presiding officer he beheld before him an audience composed for the most part of the best and most representative citizens of the county.

Unmistakably "wet" wanted, and would be satisfied with nothing short of a candid, unequivocal statement of the real position of the candidates.

They came to the meeting undecided and unpledged. They left convinced, feeling renewed conviction in their party platform, and abiding faith in their candidates.

Ex-Governor Jackson was cordially received with a rose to call the afternoon meeting to order. On taking the chair, he briefly alluded to the importance of the November election, especially to a democratic county like Wisconsin, where a large majority would emphasize the fact of our convictions as to real tariff reform, and as to every democratic voter in the county to register his vote for Miles and Henry, who were in touch with real tariff reform and would prove faithful to the cause of the real interests of the people.

MR. MILES SPEECH.

Mr. Miles' speech was in substance about as follows: He said he recognized the fact that the critic was abroad in the land, and that records had already been made for himself and Mr. Henry, but as no one could doubt his honesty he felt free to declare himself, for the kind of tariff legislation desired by President Cleveland, and that every heart throb of his democratic nature was enlisted in the cause. He declared himself in favor of free iron ore, coal and free sugar. He said that a portion of the state press had intimated that his nomination was dictated from Washington. He said if it was he didn't know it, and if any word might come from there it could not make him state one jot or tittle of his democracy and that democracy is the sort that is taught by that great American, Grover Cleveland, and by that great statesman, Wm. L. Wilson. He said that his grandfather had voted for Jackson, and his father had voted for Jackson, and he thanked God that his own political life had begun in a time which would go down in history as the Cleveland epoch. He said that while he did not favor the Senate bill, still it was the best tariff bill since the war and he thanked God that it gave us free wool. He spoke of Mr. John K. Cowen as having said that if in following Grover Cleveland in his efforts for tariff reform constituted a regular he would not be a regular and declared that he, too, could say that much.

MR. HENRY SPEECH.

Mr. Henry is a young man, and he was not well known to our people. His speech was a pleasant surprise. He said he was supporting the tariff reform policy of President Cleveland, and if elected, would show his constituents that he would do as he talked. Mr. Henry said that the large gathering present gave evidence of the people's interest in this contest. He declared that both he and Mr. Miles stood squarely on the democratic platform of 1892.

MR. LLOYD WILKINSON.

Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson, of Baltimore, delivered a very earnest and practical argument as to the large reductions to be made by the McKinley bill. Other reductions were made, showing a great movement towards the accomplishment of that tariff reform accorded for by Grover Cleveland.

THE NIGHT MEETING.

State's Attorney Rider presided over the night meeting and on taking the chair, made a very pleasant and appropriate introduction to Mr. Isaac Lohr, a brilliant orator, graceful and easy in his delivery and ornate in his diction. Mr. Strauss has been campaigning in Hon. W. L. Wilson's district in West Virginia, where he did effective work. While here he was the guest of Mr. Walter Humphreys, whose classmate he was at the Hopkins University.

Mr. Henry and Mr. Miles spoke again briefly, but earnestly and eloquently, and again aroused great enthusiasm. Mr. Miles said that Mr. Dryden was claiming 600 Republican majority in Somerset Co., but if he did obtain that majority he (Miles) would feel like seeking a home in a county like Wisconsin, where democracy knew no defeat and is always steadfast and true to democratic principles.

Many ladies were present at night. Altogether the meetings were equal to the best ever held in this county.

The Rev. A. B. Doyle will open a course of sermons at the Catholic Church, Salisbury, Sunday Oct. 28th, at 3 p. m., and closing every day at 7:30 p. m., for five days. He will be well worth hearing.

—In remembrance.

Passed from death, one life eternal October 18th, 1904, Ann Maria, wife of J. S. Saly Godwin, in the 55th year of her age.

Scarcely realizing that she can be dead yet knowing she is gone, it is hard to think of the one we have loved and lost. A wife so faithful, a mother so kind and loving, she leaves a vacant place which can never more be filled.

She enjoyed life, but seemed happiest when surrounded by her children, or making some sacrifice for, or bestowing some gift on them, or with whom she came in contact. With a heart so full of love, a disposition so forgiving, she must have loved the God she worshipped, and taught her children to serve.

Such a devoted wife, kind and generous friend and neighbor, patient, loving mother, was the love of all whose privilege it was to know her well.

Not in this world will the extent of her good works be known, but when Christ comes to make up his jewels, she will be heaven-welcomed and crowned.

During her last days on earth, the remembrance of which will remain as long as memory lasts, she seemed so loving it would seem that her nature must have partaken of the angelic sweetness of that heavenly and which, we, in our earthly way, was so very near. It is said that the name, spoken first in childhood, which, if it is spoken now by us, must be as the past, if called, must receive no response, the sweet name of Mother. We feel that our loss is her gain. Let husband and children try to remember in that heavenly home where parting will be no more.

Oh, how sweet it will be in that beautiful land.

So free from all sorrow and pain; With songs on our lips and with palms in our hands, To meet "our dear mother again."

Tight shoes.

We are very thoughtful about our heads, while we often treat our feet as though we were ashamed of them as a disgrace against nature, and wish to make them as uncomfortable as possible. Think of the number of girls who, in choosing a pair of shoes, consider the shoes and not the feet! And so they crowd the poor little members into pillow boots that are too short or too narrow, and must be "broken in" which dreadful phrase simply means that the imprudent feet must be stretched and driven until it pushes the leather away or subdues the sensitive resistance of skin and sole. A week of torture, and then Nature takes her revenge, and Minnie has a corn, and Susie has a bunion, and Laura an ingrowing nail, and all because the boots were not selected according to correct principles.

Sometimes a girl insists on wearing a very high heeled slipper, which lifts her forwards and gives her an unbecoming padding sort of walk, distressing to herself and absurd in the eyes of her friends. A slipper of that sort is a distortion and very unhealthy.

There are feet which cannot be properly fitted at the shoe shop. For these a last should be made, and every pair of boots fitted individually. This costs more at first, but shows this built to order outfit of others, and are a comfort from their first to their final day. "As easy as an old shoe" is a proverb, but I like new shoes to be just as easy as old ones.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

THE ORIGIN OF OMENS.

Survival of Some Colonial Superstitions in Modern Times.

Something of the influence of ancient astrology is shown in the popular belief that the rising and setting of Sirius, the dog star, infuses madness into the canine race. In our medical prescriptions, too, the old superstition survives. The ornamental part of the apothecary's R is none other than the sign of Jupiter, under whose special care medicines were supposed to have been placed, and our nostrums are still compounded under the symbol of Jove's protection. The letter itself—J—appears in the initials of many of our great physicians, and the good supplies of Jove, the patron of medicine, take the following goods in the proportion set down. "Some try to throw the responsibility for the 'dog' R back to Raphael, but the sum of evidence points to Jupiter as its patron. In America Friday is traditionally in dog's reign. Columbus sailed on Friday and first discovered land on Friday, the Pilgrims landed on Friday, and on Friday Washington was born. Yet even in America, notwithstanding all these 'best' days," a favor of misfortune attends the day, and the statistics of travel and mercantile transactions for Friday show how widespread is the prejudice against it.

Other days less generally malign are Cain's birthday, the first Monday in April, the 3d of October, the "dog day" in the highlands of Scotland, and Dec. 31, when Judas hanged himself. Appraisals of Judas, the superstition of unclucky 13 probably has its origin with that unworthy disciple. The ill omen dates from the last supper, when 13 sat at table. One denied his Master and went out and hanged himself, and since that time "twelve grouped together fear another one." A deep-seated prejudice obtains against any given 13 dipping together in the dish, lest one fall a victim to misfortune before the end of the year. The existence of the "Thirteen Club" in New York, which makes that unlucky number the pivot on all its doings turn, should do something to dispel this time stained superstition.—Chautauquan.

A Book for Young Men.

An immeasurable amount of suffering and injury to the human race, is due to the ignorant violation of physiological laws by the youth of our land. Rungous practices are indulged in, through ignorance of the inevitable injury to constitution and health which necessarily follow. By every young man, the divine injunction, "Know Thyself," should be heedfully heeded. To assist such in acquiring knowledge of themselves and of how to preserve health, and to avoid those pernicious and most destructive practices to which so many fall victims, as well as to reclaim and point out the means of relief and cure to any who may unwittingly have violated Nature's laws, and are already suffering the dire consequences, an association of medical gentlemen have carefully prepared a little book which is replete with useful information to every young man. It will be sent to any address, securely sealed from observation in a plain envelope, by the World's Dispensary Medical Association of 663 Madison Street, Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of ten cents in stamps (for postage), if enclosed with this notice.

Exclusive Dress Goods.

Extremes of elegance—from Paris: All-wool, Silk-and-wool. Richest stuffs of the season—hundreds of them—many with entirely new ideas in weave and color blendings.

The counters in that segment were never before heaped so high with exquisite oddities and wondrous exclusives. Critics hither in the Dress Goods circles tell us this collection is unmatched in America, either for variety or richness—but they simply tell us what we knew before to be a fact.

Some of the sorts:

At $1.75 the yard.

Satin Becher Cloth in brown, olive, mod and garnet, with glints of contrasting colors shimmering on the surface. 40 inches.

Rough Dress Goods.

Novelties, all of them—stuffs with graces and goodnesses peculiar to themselves; better liked the better you know them.

Not the shaggy, long haired weaves, but softly, mildly rough—English Homespuns, Scotch Cheviots, as it were, touched by French art and made to seem like new creation. And the Yankees, too, have been at it—splashing, dashing, and in quaintly audacious ways prettying stuffs until you think Paris has had a hand at it.

48 and 50 inches—$2.50 by easy steps.

Dress Cassimeres.

Sturdy and staple as the Cassimeres for men's wear, but brightened and lightened until they become one of the choicest of stuffs for women's Street Dresses. Hard finish, smooth face—dust worth stick.

14 styles at $2.

12 styles at $3.

Imitations of course. Home and abroad looms have been at it to get the Cassimere effect in softer, lighter weight goods—and they've made some stuffs that look wonderfully like the simon pure.

75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

Men's Clothing.

Blue and black Cheviots are approved for Autumn and Winter suits. Therefore they are here abundantly in every worthy grade. The prices go from $7.50 to $28. The complete suit at $7.50 is of all-wool, fast color, black Cheviot. You never before saw its equal at the price.

Dark colors prevail for fall overcoats and the prices, $10 to $28, will tell you how comprehensive is the stock. Every man's fall overcoat is here.

Small ones of fine goods go into trousers, and so you get trousers for $2.50 and $3.50 that are worth double.

California Blankets.

Genuine California—finest wool, long of fiber, clean, speckles, springy. Woven in the old Mission Mill, famous, almost, as are the nearby giant red woods. The blanket standard of excellence for all Christendom.

How the make believes do bedraggle that name! There's no legal reason why a blanket made of shoddy, may not be ticketed "California."

Some not much better are so ticketed.

So far as we know, these are the lowest prices true, choice California blankets were ever sold for.

Single Bed, 60x90 in., $8 pair.

Three quarters Bed, 72x90 in., $10 pair.

Double bed, 78x96 in., $12 pair.

Extra large bed, 84x96 in., $14 pair.

Largest bed, 90x100 in., $16 pair.

IN LOVE'S ATROC.

The acts of young Captain's house I visited one day.

There is a tale told of love that is as old as time, and as true as the stars in the firmament. It is the tale of a young man and a young woman, who were both of them, in the prime of their lives, and both of them, in the height of their passions.

TWO AMBITIONS.

The chief and first tendency of the army, individually and collectively, is to love all new arrivals. The second and last tendency is to pick them to pieces and to kick them.

We loved Miss Rohan with true Christian spirit when she first came to the regiment and we having a band at our disposal, we gave her a serenade upon the night of her entrance upon military duty. The style of the serenade was largely in what our colonel called "Q minor," being his way of expressing "ultra classic." The programme had been arranged for some time, and we were all very anxious to see it carried out.

We called on her in a body the night of the day that she came, which is a day that we all remember with pride and pleasure. She was very much pleased with the gift and the serenade, and she was very much pleased with the gift and the serenade.

We were four, the bachelor officers. I mean in the room—and one of us was undoubtedly bound to become the prey of this young person. Which of us? Heaven had set its mark upon me, and I was not to be deceived. Miss Rohan smiled at all alike. It was a generous smile, which showed the teeth and the eyes.

We were four, the bachelor officers. I mean in the room—and one of us was undoubtedly bound to become the prey of this young person. Which of us? Heaven had set its mark upon me, and I was not to be deceived. Miss Rohan smiled at all alike. It was a generous smile, which showed the teeth and the eyes.

Rough Dress Goods.

Novelties, all of them—stuffs with graces and goodnesses peculiar to themselves; better liked the better you know them.

Not the shaggy, long haired weaves, but softly, mildly rough—English Homespuns, Scotch Cheviots, as it were, touched by French art and made to seem like new creation. And the Yankees, too, have been at it—splashing, dashing, and in quaintly audacious ways prettying stuffs until you think Paris has had a hand at it.

48 and 50 inches—$2.50 by easy steps.

Dress Cassimeres.

Sturdy and staple as the Cassimeres for men's wear, but brightened and lightened until they become one of the choicest of stuffs for women's Street Dresses. Hard finish, smooth face—dust worth stick.

14 styles at $2.

12 styles at $3.

Imitations of course. Home and abroad looms have been at it to get the Cassimere effect in softer, lighter weight goods—and they've made some stuffs that look wonderfully like the simon pure.

75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.
