MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.

They Declare for a White Man's Government of the Old Commonwealth.

HERING AND TURNER CHOSEN.

The democrats of Maryland assembled in Ford's opera house, in Baltimore last Thursday and named a ticket and promulgated resolutions.

Hon. Joshua Hering, the present incumbent, was declared the choice of the party for Comptroller and Mr. J. Frank Turner received the nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Turner was some months ago appointed by the Court of Appeals to this office to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his predecessor Mr. Ford.

The resolutions adopted declared for a white man's government.

Few changes were made in the county executive committee, and Mr. Murray Vandiver was re-elected chairman of the State Central Committee. The committee for Wicomico county, composed of Ex-Governor Jackson, Messrs. Wm. Levi Laws and Jas. T. Truitt, remains the same.

The convention was a most harmonious and enthusiastic one from start to finish. Mr. Gorman met many of the delegates and leaders from the counties before the convention assembled and on every hand there was a feeling of coming victory in the battle this fall. Mr. L. S. Adams from Wicomico was a member of the committee on credentials and organization and Mr. Geo. D. Inley represented the county on the resolutions committee.

The leading planks in the platform are as follows:

"Called together for the purpose of nominating our State ticket and declaring the principles and policy which should be observed in the administration of our State affairs, we the representatives of the Democracy of Maryland, do not feel it to be necessary at this time to do more in regard to national issues than to reaffirm our steadfast allegiance to the cardinal doctrines of the Democratic party as expounded by its illustrious founder, Thomas Jefferson, and our undiminished belief that adherence to these doctrines will best preserve in its original integrity and strength the constitutional government established by the fathers of this Republic.

"We confidently ask the support of the people at the election in November next for the State and local candidates of our party, because we believe that their success is necessary to secure to the State a continuance of the good government which our citizens now enjoy under Democratic control.

THE OTHER QUESTION.

"Confessedly difficult as is legislation affecting the development and protection of the oyster and other kindred products of the Chesapeake bay and its tributaries, we are especially gratified to be able to declare that the act passed at the session of 1899 relating to these important interests has thus far met the expectation of its framers.

"While it has not provided revenue sufficient to put back into the treasury the deficiency of $55,000 left us by the Republicans, it has nevertheless made our State treasury more than self-supporting, and will undoubtedly give us a handsome surplus at the end of the fiscal year.

"Moreover, under its provisions, encouraging progress has been made in the development and preservation of our oyster beds, which constitute so vast a source of State wealth, and full protection is given to the large numbers of worthy and sturdy men who are engaged in the prosecution of this great and valuable industry.

"Objections to some of its details which experience has developed, as well as some defects, which have been noticed, can be remedied, and we favor such appropriate amendments as will remove all reasonable ground of complaint, and make the law thoroughly effective and satisfactory.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

"We heartily commend the wisdom and courage of Gov. John Walter Smith in calling the recent extra session of the Legislature and we feel that our thanks are due to our Democratic Senators and Delegates for the admirable and conservative legislation enacted at this session in the face of many and serious difficulties.

THE STATE CENSUS.

"The painful and disgraceful disclosures made in the recent trials in the Circuit Court of the United States in Baltimore city of the parties charged with falsifying the Federal census in some of the counties of the State amply demonstrate the wisdom and necessity of our late State census.

"Whatever doubts may once have existed upon this subject have been thoroughly dispelled, and the result attained, viz., an absolutely fair and proper representation of the counties in the House of Delegates is well worth the money which it cost.

"In taking the important step of calling the extra session the Governor was simply exercising the express power conferred and performing the special duty imposed upon him by the Constitution. Had he omitted the performance of his duty the results of the flagrant frauds in the Federal census which judicial investigation has so fully exposed would have been fastened upon us for 10 years without possibility of redress.

"Indeed, the alternative presented to the Governor of accepting as true a false and fraudulent enumeration of our population, deliberately made to serve dishonest political purposes, or of putting the State to the expense of an extra session of the Legislature to frustrate so disreputable a conspiracy, was only as to which there was no room for serious hesitation, and we cordially appeal to the people to endorse his action in this important matter and to approve by their vote the prompt response of the Legislature to his call.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

"We favor the passage of a general law relating to primary elections and applicable to the whole State, so drawn as to reform abuses wherever complained of and to secure to all political parties the selection of candidates chosen by methods beyond objection or reproach.

"We pledge our party to the continuance of an economical administration of our State finances and to such legislation as will keep down to the lowest proper limit the burdens of taxation.

WHITE MEN TO CONTROL.

"The Democratic party represents more than 40,000 majority of the white people of Maryland. They are common with their brethren of other States into which large masses of colored voters have been injected into the body politic, recognize that the peace, good order, personal safety and proper development of our material interests depend upon the control of the Commonwealth by its intelligent white residents. Without the aid of the 60,000 colored voters the Republican party in Maryland would be a hopeless minority.

"We therefore without hesitation proclaim that the success of the Democratic party will mean that while we shall deal with perfect fairness in securing all the benefits of good government and full and free opportunities for education to all classes, such action must be taken as to prevent the control of the State government from passing into the hands of those who have neither the ability nor the interest to manage public affairs wisely and well.

"To secure this most desirable result we earnestly call on all Democrats to lay aside all their differences and to unite in an enthusiastic and patriotic effort to maintain our Democratic supremacy in Maryland."

A Family Reunion.

Tomorrow, Sunday, a family reunion will be held at "Lakeside," this city, the pleasant home of Mrs. Anna T. Wallis. It will be the first time in nine years since all the members of the family have met under the ancestral roof.

Heavy Passenger Business.

The B. C. & A. railroad is doing its usual heavy summer passenger business. This season promises to be the best in the history of the road. During the week, from Friday, July 26th to Thursday August 1st, inclusive the railway division handled 18,500 passengers. This includes excursion parties delivered to it by the N. Y. P. & N. railroad and the Delaware railroad but does not include the hundreds of passengers who daily come across the bay from Baltimore to Claiborne and return via the steamer Cambridge. Excursions from Salisbury to Hebron Camp last Sunday and Thursday helped materially to bring up the high average. During the last week travel to Ocean City has been great and the condition is likely to continue during all of August.

Notice!

DR. FULTON ON HOT WEATHER.

He Thinks We May Expect Sixties Each Summer and Blames the Timber Destroyer.

Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the State Board of Health, in discussing the causes of the unprecedented heat of the present summer had this to say to a Baltimore Sun Reporter:

"If any prophet should promise us a 17 day sizzle next year he ought to be drowned in a Bessemer pot, but the quality of the prophecy is good enough. Such a forecast, if made for every one of the next 10 years, would work out 50 per cent correct, and that is a good score for a weather prophet. The steam-jacketing which we have had this year surpasses all previous experience, but in another decade or two we shall have adjusted ourselves, at least as many of us as survive.

"The tax which we have paid to the summer of 1901 seems extraordinary, but as a matter of fact 'Old Sol' has not played a single new trick. There is no new item in the bill, though each item is a little heavier. Several American cities have broken all past mortality records. Epidemic disease has never claimed so many victims as the recent heat has taken away. This does not matter much, nor do we count the narrow margin by which the survivors have escaped. The haggard morning faces and the evening carloads of sodden creatures—these things only settle the shirtwaist question. The things that hurt are the withering crops and disordered markets. The stockyards won't hold the hogs driven to the abattoirs lest they die of cholera. The shambles are crowded with cattle seeking to escape death from thirst. Corn will be millions short, and Kansas has taken to prayer. People can live, that is some of them can, the puddle of humidity being well stirred by electric whirlwinds. But the cattle, crops and securities have to be prayed for."

"A great Prime Minister was once petitioned by religious Englishmen to appoint a day of fasting and prayer that a pestilence might be stayed. The wise man replied that the pestilence was not attributable to the will of Providence, but to the ignorance and willfulness of man; that the causes of pestilence were known and could be removed. And it was so.

"Suppose the American public should become convinced that the tortures of the past few weeks may be laid at the door of a single class of citizens, what would happen to our tormentors in the present hushbrowed state of the American temper?"

"Well, our hot waves, cloudbursts, floods, droughts and violent electric storms are for the most part due to the men who cut down trees. The American woodchopper is the worst that ever was. He cuts ever, thing that is worth cutting, and he never cleans up his path. He makes a wilderness wherever he goes, and he goes wherever there is timber. In some parts of the West he has laid the land so bare that there is no longer water for irrigation, and the desert he has made is far wider than the swath of his ax. Count up the whole cost of our frightful summer, and charge it to the American woodchopper. He owes it.

"Foreign cities have been cabling us the stories of their distress—London, Paris, Copenhagen, St. Petersburg, sweltering at 94° and 96°. On this side we would forswear ice for 96°. We are parboiled at 106° and 108°. The European forests are very extensive and so fine that they resemble parks. The woodman cuts only such trees as are marked for cutting by the Government forester, and he cleans up the rubbish. By this means the generous warmth of the sun both winter and summer is distributed, stored, made always useful. In America the summer heat blisters the bare soil, and the winds of winter are not tempered to its nakedness. A few States have departments of forestry, but the American idea seems to be merely the reservation of certain areas of forest land, so that to the error of cutting trees that should stand we probably add the mistake of allowing to stand trees that should be cut. Besides, we have a small boy's scheme called Arbor Day, when patriotic songs are sung and good little trees are moved from the right place to the wrong one.

"The question is a national one, and should be dealt with in a broad, liberal and decided fashion. 'Old Sol' is doing the best he can."

DEATHS.

WRITEN. Mrs. Ella G. Writen, wife of Mr. D. S. Writen, of this city, died early Wednesday morning of this week at her home on Main street extended. Funeral services were held at 8 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Methodist Protestant church, by Rev. S. J. Smith, pastor, and the remains were interred in Parsons cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. D. W. Perdue, Wm. E. Sheppard, Frank Powell, Wm. J. White, E. Winfield Windsor and B. Frank Kennerly.

Mrs. Writen was a daughter of the late Rev. Hayman of Somerset county. She was 88 years old, and had been married thirteen years. For four years she had been a constant sufferer from skin cancer, and the last six months of her life she had been confined to her bed.

COULBOURN. The wife of Mr. L. P. Coulbourn died suddenly last Saturday afternoon at their home on E. Church street. Father Temple, of Easton, conducted the funeral services Monday afternoon in St. Mary's Catholic church and the remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery, out the Spring Hill road. Mrs. Coulbourn was a McDermott and was born in County Roscommon, Ireland, thirty-eight years ago. When a young girl she came to this country to visit her uncle and aunt in Texas. There, in 1885, she met and married her husband who was then a young sergeant in the regular army stationed at Laredo, Texas. They never had children.

Killed by Mosquito Bites.

The following marvelous story comes from down the river:
William Maher, aged 70 years, was stung to death by mosquitoes in a dense swamp near his home at Nanticoke Thursday night.

Maher had been very feeble for some time and seldom left his home, but he went to the village for a package of tobacco. On his return, desiring to lessen the distance, he made a short cut through a dense swamp and lost his way. Swarms of mosquitoes settled upon him, literally encasing his face and hands.

The aged man was soon rendered unconscious by their stings, and was found in a dying condition by a searching party about midnight. His face was swollen beyond recognition.

Maryland Summer School.

The Maryland Summer School for teachers, at the Maryland Agricultural College, College Park, Md., closed its session on July 31st. The curriculum embraced Botany, Drawing, Entomology, Chemistry, Physical culture, Anatomy, Soil Physics, Horticulture, English Literature and Mathematics. Nineteen students took all or a part of the course and the success of the school as a permanent institution is probably assured.

The excursions throughout the surrounding country made in connection with nature studies were greatly enjoyed by the class. The social part of the school is said to have been a great success; a large number of excursions, receptions and dances having been enjoyed by the students and faculty.

It is understood that the College is making preparations for a large attendance next summer.

Lightning Kills Sheep.

The report comes from Queen Anne's county, Md., that a flock of sheep near Wye Mills was all killed by lightning on Wednesday night and another flock in an adjacent field nearly all killed in the same way. Both flocks were lying in the bushes along a wire fence and the deadly fluid is supposed to have been running in the wire.

Corn is King.

One of our Delaware Exchanges says: "The corn crop of Kent County, and especially that of this section never looked finer. 'Corn is King' this year and a large yield is expected. From present indications, several of our farmers will receive as high as fifty bushels to the acre, an unheard of fact in Duck Creek hundred for ten or twelve years."

WHAT TRUE HONOR IS.

A Philosophic Dissertation on Political Ethics.

Mrs. M. S. Edmonds—Your correspondent, Mr. Geo. N. Cooper takes pleasure in saying agreeable things even about disagreeable people.

In a recent letter to the ADVERTISER about "politics in Wicomico County," he has some complimentary things about the writer, which while they are a little patronizing, were no doubt written in a kindly spirit. Touching the writer, he says—"but a better fate awaits him. I am assured that rich honors are in store for him from the party he has served so faithfully and so well."

There are many "better fates" than success by fraudulent or criminal methods, in business or politics; just as there are many worse than defeat, if with defeat one maintains his "honour" and the respect of his fellow men. A political disappointment should be a matter of small concern to the man of courage; and it is of less concern to the public, except in so far as the conduct which causes it, may affect the people, or any considerable portion of them. Possibly the writer's "fate" may be better than it seems, since those who opposed his nomination, wished him to infer from their arguments a "better fate" than defeat at the election, hence their friendship is fighting him.

Our friend Cooper does not inform your readers by whom he is assured of the "rich honors," or in what political "boss" storehouse they lie "in store." But let it be said that the highest, if not the richest honor, is to be a true American citizen, independent in thought and action and loyal to convictions, and that much of what is called "honor" in politics is mere ostentation only.

Every true citizen is a sovereign and the office-holder his servant; provided the latter does not become master by the purchase of the citizen's sovereignty at election times, and thereby subvert the whole theory of our government from a government of the people to one of the rich and the corrupt.

Alexander Pope touches off these artificial honors in fine style in the familiar couplet:

"Honor and shame from no condition rise; Act well thy part, there all the honor lies."

But the phrase "rich honors" while innocent in itself, is significant in these days of political corruption, when trusts, corporations and millionaires are conspicuous in primaries, conventions, elections, legislative halls and elsewhere.

The putrid smell that arises from State capitals is a stench in the nostrils of decent people, since ambitious men with pen and who want power, have bought their way to the U. S. Senate Chamber, causing it to be called in derision, "The Millionaire's Club."

"Rich honors" also suggest recent doings in the States of Adickes and Quasylvania. It is said that not a few honorable members at Harrisburg received rich gifts, some $10,000 and some $20,000, aggregating $1,000,000; not of course to "blind" their eyes, but to open them to see the beauty and strength, if not the merits, of the "Ripper bills" and railway franchise steals.

"Rich honors" also recall many historical events and persons of great learning and eminence. There was the great Demosthenes, whom the Athenians delighted to honor, till he fell a victim to the bribe's gold, which Harpalus sent him by night. There was the mighty intellectual giant, Francis Bacon, who received high honors from Queen Elizabeth and even greater from James I. With the little Viscount St. Albans, and Baron of Verulam, he at last became Lord High Chancellor of England. Now while his sovereign bestowed "honors," he bestowed riches on himself, till the House of Commons impeached him and presented twenty two specifications of bribery to the House of Lords. And notwithstanding his repeated protestations of innocence, the evidence of his guilt became so conclusive, that he was compelled to sign a "confession and humble submission," and begged the Peers "to be merciful to a bruised reed."

The bitter fate of the great Cardinal Wolsey after he learned how wretched is that man, who hangs on prince's favors, is well presented by Shakespeare. After being torn asunder with anguish and despair, he falls into a state of resignation and declares to his servant Cromwell that he had

"A peace above all earthly dignities, A still and quiet conscience."

He humbly thanked his king that he had "from these shoulders, These ruined pillars, out of pity taken A load would sink a navy—too much honor. O! 'tis a burden Cromwell—the burden Too heavy for a man that hopes for heaven."

The latter day politician has this advantage of Wolsey, in that he always carries within him a still and quiet conscience, and is never worried about his hope for heaven, or of any other future state. He lives in the present, of the present and by the present.

The English government has had much of corruption. Even after the Revolution, Thomas Jefferson referring to it in a letter to John Adams said: "This has been a strong reason with me for wishing there was an ocean of fire between that island and us."

And we have our Benedict Arnold.

Bribery in the shape of promised honors is a very old and very dangerous offense. From the time the serpent beguiled Eve, bribed her with the promise of knowledge and power it has continued to this date; and it is on the Eastern Shore, and to some extent in Wicomico County.

But let not the young men become pessimistic at these exhibitions of criminal weakness and conclude that "every man has his price." Not so, for while there be many blotches upon the pages of history, these pages are also illumined with the names of "great men" whose lives have been sublime.

Rome, Greece and England had many heroes. While the church has had its apostates, it has also had its martyrs. For those betrayers among the Apostles, there were eleven who suffered martyrdom for conscience sake.

While there were flunkies to royalty and traitors to the cause of freedom, there were fifty-six signers, who pledged each to the other their lives, fortunes and sacred honors, for the maintenance of human rights.

The Revolution developed a Benedict Arnold, but it also gave the heroic Washington and thousands of others whose names are known, but none the less heroic. The time of peace brought forth the brilliant Aaron Burr, the destroyer of civic virtue, but he is more than offset by the equally brilliant Alexander Hamilton and the statesman Jefferson.

Mr. Cooper has promised some letters on "Politics in Wicomico County" Way back There. Would it not prove equally profitable to your readers to parallel them with something on "Politics in Wicomico County" up here, or up to date Politics in Wicomico County?"

POLITICS WAY BACK THERE.

A. H. C. Thinks the Republican Nominee for Judge a Mighty Good Fellow but Predicts His Defeat. Comments on the Old and New County.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Young Bob Graham has been nominated for Judge in your judicial district, eh? "W-a-a-l!" as the late Col. Mulberry Sellers would say, "he's a pretty good fellow, but he won't make it." Not by a glassful of Truth's famous soda he won't. The Democratic party makes but few mistakes in its nominations generally speaking, but its antagonists rarely ever make a candidate without the sin of omission or commission is charged against it. In everything that goes to make up a brilliant young lawyer and a successful counsellor, the palm could be awarded to Mr. Graham, but his youth will of itself throw votes against him, even from within the ranks of his own party. Now he is not to be condemned because of his age—not by any means—but his lack of years will of itself prove a drawback, and he will discover it after the votes are counted in November. I opine that the campaign will be free of mud clinging and bitter vituperation, as both Judge Holland and Mr. Graham are gentlemen in the fullest sense of the word. But the fight is on and it will be a decent one, but of course it is generally conceded that it will be a one-sided affair.

When Parnell I. Toadvin was living he was a power in politics. He was an exceedingly jovial gentleman and of that school which is now almost a memory only. He was not a "boss" as we understand it in these days, but his advice was eagerly sought after, and the campaigns he controlled in the county were always successful.

Following him was the late George W. Parsons and his brother W. Sidney. Like Mr. Toadvin, they were astute, keen and discerning. When they put themselves in the fray it was an uphill fight for their opponents to even get a decent looking vote to the polls.

I remember distinctly in 1870 that a mass meeting was arranged for Fruitland. It was to be in the afternoon and several local speakers of prominence were to expound the doctrine of Democracy and assail the pernicious doings of the Republican party. It was to be a big affair and the stalwarts of Trappe, Allen and other points were expected to turn out in their strength.

We had no brass band, but someone played the flute in our back (which by the way was John W. Tracey's and driven by Mr. Duffey) and Manny Jones accompanied him on the snare drum. (By way of parenthesis let me say that the flute player only knew "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and he blew it for all he was worth. Billy Aikman was standing on Camden Bridge as we went across it and I waved us adieu. It so happened that Billy was there when we returned, and the same old tune was being played. "Hey, there!" yelled Mr. Aikman, "don't that whistle blower know any other tune for Gawd's sake?"

Well, this Fruitland meeting was a huge success, barring the fact that there were no fluid reinforcements to be had, albeit a wretched widow did a big business on the outskirts by selling whiskey in yeast powder bottles at 15 cents per bottle. Of course a crowd was there ready for fun or fight, and while they had plenty of the former, the whiskey started in the latter. It was a lively time, I assure you, and while Thomas F. J. Rider was in his masterly manner describing the merits of our candidates, Uncle Billy Moore was quietly the crowd which was pugilistically inclined and threatening those who didn't obey his mandate.

Our younger Democracy cannot of course understand the free and easy movements of the rank and file of the party of some thirty years ago. When the new county (Wicomico) was formed there was considerable opposition to it even within our own fold, the cry of "higher taxes" being the bugaboo. It was soon demonstrated, however, (after the formation of the new county) that taxes would be even lower and a more economical form of government could be established. It is hardly necessary to say that Wicomico was Democratic from its inception, and so it will continue.

During the war it was not debatable ground, for its sentiments were decidedly with the South. The two lower counties, Somerset and Worcester, could furnish only about 350 soldiers to the North, while those who cast their fortunes with the Confederacy were about 1,800 in number.

There is no doubt but that some sympathy still exists for the South in the new county and time will not obliterate it.

I could easily write a history of the new county especially its political history, for, outside of Talbot and Dorchester, it is rich in material and incidents of the kind that entertain and brighten up what would otherwise be dull and heavy tomes of historical matter.

Looking backward to the years that have flown, watching Father Time erasing year after year, I still feel so youthful as the young man who deposits his first vote this fall. I can fully understand his feelings as he falls in line for the first time in life to cast his initial vote. He is a factor in the making of a government—his silent vote is a unit that, added to the whole, makes up a grand aggregate when the votes are counted at the closing of the polls. That young man's counterpart can be found at nearly every precinct polling place in the union. He is found here and he is found in Parsons, Nutters and other districts in Wicomico. But before he does cast his vote let him weigh well what he is doing. Let his vote be a nonregrettable one. Stand by the party he has elected to stand by but consider well one thing, shall it be a white man's government he wants to live under or shall it be a party of mixed races. By voting a R publican ticket he does not of course vote for negro supremacy now or within the next decade, but he does put his stamp of approval upon the party that is foisting into power the colored man and which will eventually eliminate the word "colored" in our school system. In Pennsylvania the white man is as good as a colored man if he heaves himself. In other words while living in one of its clides I had occasion to place a boy in a public school. I took him to the schoolhouse which was a magnificent building of brick and granite, and went in. I was soon shown the principal's room, and there was an equal number of black and white faces at the desk. To say I was stunned is to put it mildly—why I was mad, mad all over—couldn't talk for a moment, then I bowed myself out. That youngster was placed in a German—American school for there the teacher told me "they drew the line on teaching Dutch to a coon." This is one of the many reasons why I don't want to see a young man cast his vote for the party which places an its different convention tickets as delegates and alternates the colored brother.

Next week I will have something to say about a convention held in Salisbury in 1878, which I hope will prove of local interest. G. R. C.

TUESDAY'S CONVENTION.

It is to be hoped that the action of the County Convention last Tuesday in adjourning without making out a ticket, will prove wise; in that it may clear the atmosphere for action when it meets on the fourth Tuesday of the month. In the mean time sentiment, it is to be hoped, will crystallize sufficiently, to give the convention material aid in making out the ticket. One fact must not be overlooked, that is, that we must have not only a good ticket, a ticket of good clean mean, thoroughly capable; but they must be men that the people want and want bad enough to take off their coats and fight for. We must have candidates on the ticket this year that the people are not only willing to be there, but candidates that the people want there. It is, therefore, the duty of the voters of the various districts, during these four weeks to express their preferences to the delegates and if it is found inexpedient to place on the ticket some now in the field it is to be hoped that they will not embarrass the convention by remaining in the contest. Harmony and enthusiasm will give us an old time majority, that's what we want. We want to show to Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester that we appreciate their action in unanimously nominating Judge Holland, by giving him an unusually large majority and one of the ways to do this is to give all the aid possible in making a ticket that will be not only acceptable but be received enthusiastically. Every candidate should instruct his delegation before the convention convenes again to go there prepared to do what seems best, regardless of his claim. We are aware that this is not the way man in general is prone to do, far from it; at the same time this is no unusual election. Upon the action of that convention might depend the election of a worthy and experienced Judge, a faithful and efficient Comptroller of the State, and Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and last and greatest, a United States Senator. During the four weeks the people have a duty in expressing their preferences to the members of the Convention, the delegates, in ascertaining the wishes of the people, and above all the candidates in not embarrassing the convention with their claims.

We want an old fashioned campaign this year and we want everybody to help conduct it.

PROF. LEFEVRE'S RETIREMENT.

The Smyrna Times in speaking of the treatment of Prof. LeFevre by the School Board of Salisbury, says:

"Prof. LeFevre has received a number of letters from prominent citizens of Salisbury condemning the action of the Board, and expressing regret at losing his valuable services. He was well liked at Salisbury and the schools prospered under his superintendency."

The Times states that Prof. LeFevre was shamefully treated and was deposed in a discourteous manner.

In view of the adverse criticism heaped upon the School Board for its retirement of Prof. LeFevre as principal of the High School, we think the Board owes it to itself to give to the public its side of the case. There is no question in which the public is more interested than that of the management of our schools. Every man and woman in the county has a deep personal interest in the high standard of our school system, and the suggestion of unfair or discourteous treatment towards the Principal of the highest seat of education in the county can but lower that standard in the eyes of the general public. We think the Board would make a grave mistake should it be willing to rest under the accusation of retiring Prof. LeFevre or electing his successor in a secret or underhand way.

FROM DORCHESTER.

The Dorchester Era, one of the Republican organs of Dorchester, takes rather a gloomy view of the outlook in that county and the state for success this fall. In speaking of the nomination of Mr. Graham for Judge it says: "The convention at Ocean City last Thursday nominated Robt P. Graham on the second ballot, for judge in opposition to Judge Holland. The naughty Delegates from Dorchester did not heed Mr. Milbourne, who thought Judge Holland should have no opposition. Graham was nominated by the five votes from Dorchester and four from Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester had candidates of their own. It would be a right good thing to have a republican on the bench in this circuit, but things must assume a more encouraging shape than at present if we expect to win anywhere."

The Saturday Evening Post thus speaks of the wonderful discoveries which modern chemistry has to do with the soil:

"It has been ascertained that the most barren land can be made rich, simply by adding to it certain mineral elements which cost but little. On this basis it is estimated that the United States will be able eventually to maintain 500,000,000 people—more than one-third of the present population of the world. It is merely a question of supplying the requisite quantities of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. The last two are readily obtained at small expense whereas the first may be supplied either by furnishing to the soil condensed nitrogen in the shape of slaughter waste or by nitrate of soda, or by planting clover, peas or beans, which have an affinity for nitrogen and absorb it from the atmosphere. It is now known that nitrogen is the most important plant food, and inasmuch as this element composes four-fifths of the atmosphere, the question is merely to absorb it into the soil. It has also come to be understood that only 2 per cent of the material of plants is derived from the soil, the remaining 98 per cent being drawn from the air and from water."

A Long Run.

Wednesday morning a couple of Baltimore drummers having business on this portion of the shore brought down their own team on the steamer Tivoli to Salisbury and drove to a point about four miles west of Delmar. Both were called from the carriage at the same time and during their absence, the horse took fright and started at a break neck gait for the only familiar place he knew, in this part, the steam boat wharf here. After exhibiting a deal of perseverance, he finally showed himself "the way to go home" and got to the wharf about 5.30 Wednesday afternoon. On his way through town, several attempts were made to check his wild flight but to no avail till he reached the steam boat landing where he stopped of his own accord. Notwithstanding his long run of eleven miles, the animal seemed in good condition, and to all appearance the only injury which he suffered was a cut on his right foreleg. The wagon was only slightly damaged, the shafts were broken and it is marvelous that the poor beast did not have his sides "punctured."

The "Nellie Jackson" Damaged.

A very severe electrical storm visited some parts of the peninsula Tuesday evening. The storm raged with great fury at the mouth of the Nanticoke and Wicomico rivers. While making for the latter the Maryland police steamer Nellie Jackson sank. The crew was saved.

Capt. Wm. K. Leatherbury, commander, had recently begun the annual overhauling of the boat, preparatory to the opening of the oyster season next month. A party of young gentlemen from Salisbury were to make a week's outing trip on the sunken boat within the next few days. The trip has been indefinitely postponed. A special dispatch to the Advertiser from White Haven says:

"The Nellie Jackson was raised from the water this (Friday) morning. The men are at present at work pumping her out. Many of the fittings of the boat have been washed away. The work of raising the sunken schooner was materially aided by the Schooner Powell, the Domester and Somerset Police Boats and the Police Steamer McLain, Capt. Howard, commander."

Fishing is Quite a Fad In Salisbury.

One of Salisbury's leading merchants took himself to the banks of the Wicomico the other afternoon, with a little roll of luncheon in his hand and a large bottle of bait in his inside pocket. He sat on the steamboat wharf for three hours in the hot sun just for the sport of seeing the cork wiggle feebly every hour or two. Every time he failed to land a four inch catfish he made a thorough inspection of the bait, and when he got back to town told a group of amazed merchants about the bass that "got away" that was such a whopper it had whiskers. The very next day another Main street merchant who hadn't fished in a good many moons, but somehow or other his mind wandered back to when he was a boy and he longed to fish. He got a tin box of tobacco and a corn-cob pipe, a book, some daily papers, some fish hooks and lines and went down the Wicomico below the dyking. He found an old tree that had one limb over the river, and climbing out on it, he sat down to fish. He lit his pipe, opened his book, baited his hook, spit on the bait, threw in his line and waited for the destruction of fish to commence. All at once he was surprised to see several fish get right up in the water and stand on their tails, while one fish actually spoke English. "Say, you!" said the fish, "do you think this river is full of suckers? If you do you're left. There are sunfish, catfish, and carp and bitterheads, but no suckers. If you'll pull up your hook and see that it's part bare you'll know why we catch on and don't catch on." Just then he woke up in the water where he had fallen off the tree, but when he got to land again he pulled up and sure enough his hook was only partly covered by the bait. Now if you're no sucker watch the bait held out to you at times and see if you can't find the "hook." When somebody offers you Clothing and Ha's and tries to make you believe that the goods are as good as Lacy Thoroughgood sells, at a cut price, look out for the hook. When (but then you're old enough to know) Thoroughgood offers only reliable made goods—Clothing made to order especially for Thoroughgood. Thoroughgood's name is on every Suit, as a guarantee to you that it's a good Suit or a good Hat. Who makes better clothes than the Manhattan people of New York?—Who makes better Shirts than John B. Stetson Co.?—Who makes better Collars and Cuffs than Earl and Wilson? It is a positive fact—there is not a merchant south of Wilmington, Del., or between Wilmington and Norfolk that handles as high grade goods as Lacy Thoroughgood does. Now don't get hooked—buy your Clothing, Hats and Shirts of Lacy Thoroughgood who runs a fakeless, fireless, sheriffless store. No humbug business is practiced at Lacy Thoroughgood's store.

NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS OF WICOMICO SENT IN BY THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVES.

ALLEN

Mr. Harry T. Mesick of the Baltimore branch Standard Oil Company, arrived home last Sunday morning, to spend his vacation.

Prof. J. Walter Huntington, who has been employed for the past two months at Messrs. L. P. & J. H. Coubourn's is now at his home in Allen, where he expects to remain until the opening of the public schools.

We are glad to report that Capt. W. A. Wallace is out again, also that Master Lee Cathell is much improved. Miss Isabella Disharoon of near Fruitland visited her cousin, Miss Grace Allen this week.

Miss Annie Toadvine is quite ill with inflammatory rheumatism. We sincerely hope that Miss Annie may soon be able to get around, and that she may have a return of this most painful trouble.

Miss Mamie Bounds, who has been spending sometime with friends in Salisbury returned to her home near Allen Tuesday of this week.

Miss Mabel Boston of Pocomoke City is visiting her friend, Miss Carrie Huntington.

Mrs. Ann Porter of Salisbury is visiting relatives and friends in Allen and Loretto.

Residents of Allen are as a rule very fond of flowers and take pride in their display, but few, if any, have a more handsome display than that of Mrs. E. F. Mesick. Mrs. Mesick should be proud of her ability as a florist.

On account of the intense heat our town was poorly represented at Hebron Camp last Sunday.

Hats for horses have recently become the proper thing in the large cities and towns, and this humane idea is spreading rapidly. On Saturday last two horses passed through our town thus protected from the rays of the sun, and no doubt, the time will come when it will be a novelty to see a horse not covered instead of as it now is.

Allen surely must be a "warm" town, for one of our fair young ladies thinks that it would be a good place for sinners to die in (meaning we young men of course). She declares we wouldn't notice any difference between the atmosphere here and in the unhappy hunting grounds of his satanic majesty.

A friend of ours remarked the other day that he did not like the practice to which our country papers are given nowadays of publishing the latest of tidbits under the head of Personal News. We are sorry that our friend, who always borrows the county paper from his nearest neighbor, cannot find anything in it to interest him. Here are a few items which we think will suit his "refined taste" and induce him to become a subscriber to the Salisbury ADVERTISER. Mr. R. J. Stewart Jr., for got to wind his watch night before last.

Mr. J. Frederick Mesick had his shoes half soled and heeled yesterday. Frederick is noted for his recherche footwear.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Arrangements are being completed for the comfort of the fresh air children from Baltimore, who will be entertained in the Presbyterian Church grove here for two weeks. The party will arrive Friday August 9th., properly chaperoned. This idea originated with Mrs. L. D. Collier of Salisbury, and was first put into execution last summer. The children, twenty-odd in number, and their matrons were lodged in the church on improvised cots, and fed in the surrounding grove. They were permitted to play in the clear but shallow waters of the creek hard by and swings were made to suspend from the arms of the oaks. They were given permission to drink at will from the flowing mineral spring and ample supplies of fruits and vegetables were brought to the camp by the farmers of the community. Devotional services, conducted by the matrons were held at regular stated intervals, and the ladies and gentlemen of the town cultivated the children. Everything possible was done to make their vacation physically and mentally helpful, and the plan proved a success. The same routine will be adopted this year and no doubt the children will enjoy the change from the stifling alleys of Baltimore's tenement section to the shady groves, running water and abundant supplies of fresh fruits of Mardele Springs.

Mrs. William Pollitt died last Saturday morning at her home near here, of consumption. Mrs. Pollitt was a daughter of Captain Fields, of Shad Point, where her remains were taken for burial Sunday morning. Prohibition Convention.

The fashion in Wicomico political conventions seems to be to take a recess after organizing and doing the things that will not wait. This was the policy of the republicans, followed by the democrats and the prohibitionists in their respective conventions.

When the local prohibition organization met in the Court House last Monday morning the attendance was unusually small due to the insufferable heat and the preoccupation of the farmers.

Mr. John H. Dulany, of Fruitland called the convention to order and Mr. L. F. Mesick was asked to act as secretary. Mr. Dulany stated that the convention had met to name delegates to the State convention, and to select a county ticket but he thought the last part of the original program had been postponed to a future date when it was hoped a larger attendance would be present, thus facilitating the work.

Others present agreed with Mr. Dulany and Wednesday, August 21st, at 9.30 o'clock, was named as the time to launch a local ticket. The secretary was instructed to notify all prohibitionists. Before adjourning the convention to that date delegates to the State convention, which meets next Tuesday in Baltimore, were selected, as follows:

Luther F. Mesick, J. R. Travers, U. C. Phillips, John G. Sheppard, Rev. F. X. Moore, Wm. W. Banks, John H. Dulany, James Elzey, A. B. Armstrong and Simon Brown.

B. N. Brittingham, of Pittsville, was elected secretary of the State Central Committee in place of J. A. V. Througwood, resigned.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

After Choosing Delegates to the State Convention and Passing Resolutions Adjourned Till August 27th.

The Democracy of Wicomico met in Convention in the Court House last Tuesday at noon.

Ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson, chairman of the State Central Committee for Wicomico called the convention to order, by making a short speech. He touchingly referred to former occasions when he had been present in the convention hall as a delegate saying that each time he had tried to do what he thought was best for the party in securing harmony in the ranks, and in selecting a good ticket.

On the call for nominations for officers Walter C. Mann of Sharptown, was chosen chairman and William G. Mitchell of Salisbury and Joseph L. Bailey of Quantico, secretaries of the convention.

The following were declared members of the convention:

Mesick, John F. Phillips, R. J. Mesick.

After the appointment of the following Committee on Resolutions the convention took a short recess for dinner.

The committee consisting of one delegate from each district was:

J. Windsor Bounds, J. L. Bailey, D. J. Elliott, Taylor Baker, W. A. Trader, E. H. Burbage, W. S. Moore, Peter Livingston, Wm. J. Staton, A. W. Robinson, T. A. Veasey, H. James Mesick.

There being no contests a Committee on Credentials was dispensed with.

On reassembling at two o'clock the committee reported the following set of resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

"We, the representatives of the Democratic party, in Convention assembled, hereby express our confidence in the present State administration, believing that the splendid management of the State's affairs has redounded to the good of the people and to the credit of our State."

"We congratulate the people of Maryland that peace and harmony has found lodgement once more within her borders, and that the lawlessness and disorder which gained a foothold during the Republican administration has disappeared."

"The taxpayers of the State are to be congratulated that under the wise and economical administration of the Democratic officials the State tax rate has been reduced three quarters of a cent. This has been accomplished in two years, and we believe that a continuance of the Democratic party in power will result in further reduction of the State tax and the good of the people."

Delegates to the State convention which met in Baltimore Thursday, were next chosen, as follows:

Senator Marion V. Brewington, Henry J. Mesick, Isaac S. Adams, Albert W. Robinson, Geo. D. Adams, Wm. Levi Laws, Jesse D. Pri e, E. T. Shockley.

The convention then adjourned until Tuesday, August 27th, when the local ticket will be nominated.

Minor Crops.

U. S. Department of Agriculture Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending July 30th, says:

"Potatoes are a fine crop in nearly all districts, although in some the promise of the vine outruns the fulfillment of the root. The early potatoes have come into general use. Gardens have grown well during the week, and are making satisfactory yields. Sweet potatoes are a good crop in Anne Arundel. The early tomatoes are about over in Somerset, where they have given good returns. The vines of the tomatoes generally look well, but they are not well fruited in many localities, owing probably to loss of blossoms by the rains. Grapes continue to suffer loss by mildew. Melons are now growing rapidly in the southern counties, but the crop is still backward, and will be late in maturing. Late cabbage is growing nicely. Field peas are doing well. Some turnip seed has been put in the ground in the south. Berries are yielding fairly well, but are not as plentiful as expected earlier in the season."

DEATH OF G. GRIER RATCLIFF.

Heroically Sacrificed His Life in Vain Struggle to Save Others.

EULOGIZED BY FRIENDS AT FUNERAL.

The story of the death by drowning in Sinepuxent bay last Saturday afternoon of Mr. G. Grier Ratcliff and two of his companions, has been widely told. The appalling accident occasions deep grief in the bereaved homes of the dead which is shared by sympathetic hearts in two states.

Mr. Ratcliff's remains were brought to Salisbury Sunday afternoon from Berlin where they were taken from the scene of the accident Saturday evening and prepared by undertakers Wise of that place and Hill of this city for burial.

Mr. Robert D. Grier an uncle of the deceased had the body in charge. It was taken to Asbury Methodist Church and at 8 o'clock funeral services were conducted, the pastor Rev. Charles A. Hill, Rev. Mr. Green of Trinity M. E. Church South and Rev. Mr. Wilcox, each paying a high tribute to the character and memory of the lamented dead. The friends who were present outnumbered the seating capacity of the church and many were obliged to stand outside. After the services the body, which was in a polished oak casket, was taken to the rooms of Undertaker Holloway, at the N. Y. P. & N. station, and a silent watch kept over it till morning.

Monday morning sorrowing friends started from Salisbury on the north bound train to take the remains of Mr. Ratcliff to the home of his grief stricken parents and sisters in Milford, Delaware, arriving there about midday. Owing to the absence in New England, of a sister, Miss Bessie Ratcliff, the final services and interment were delayed till Tuesday afternoon. At 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the body was taken to Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in Milford, where hundreds of the friends of the family assembled to pay tribute to his memory. During the funeral business in the town was almost suspended.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Frank F. Harris, of Avenue M. E. Church, Milford, assisted by the Rev. Jonathan S. Willis, a former pastor; the Rev. H. L. Bunstein, pastor of the Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Charles A. Hill, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Salisbury, and the Rev. George W. Wilcox, a retired Methodist clergyman of Salisbury.

After introductory remarks by Mr. Harris and prayer by Mr. Bunstein, former Congressman Willis, who knew the deceased as a boy, made a well chosen address, in which he spoke of the estimable character of Mr. Ratcliff as a boy and as a man. He pointed out that the deceased was always working for the uplifting of society and aspiring to higher things and showed how well he was succeeding when by his courage and heroism he lost his life in trying to save the lives of others. He expressed the hope that the example set by the deceased might be emulated by other young men.

Mr. Willis was followed by Messrs. Wilcox and Hill, both of whom had known the deceased well during his period of residence in Salisbury. Both eulogized him and told, as they had done Sunday evening in Asbury Church from personal knowledge and observation, of the honest and upright life he had lived. They dwelt upon his manly nature and his efforts in the direction of aiding his fellowmen and doing unto others as he would have others do unto him. It was shown that the deceased was following the teachings of the Golden Rule when he lost his life. He realized full well the risk he was taking, but rather than see his companions go to a watery grave took his life in his own hands in an effort to save them. In speaking on this line of thought Mr. Hill pointed out that he was no less a hero because he failed in his purpose. Mr. Hill said he was not surprised when he heard how Mr. Ratcliff had lost his life. "It was just what I would have expected of him," he said, "knowing his character and the manner in which his heart went out to others in distress."

Mr. Harris concluded the eulogies by saying that while he had not been personally acquainted with the deceased, he knew him by reputation and endorsed the high tribute paid by personal friends. All of the clergymen extended sympathy to the bereaved family. The church choir sang several hymns.

Rev. Mr. Hill concluded the services at the grave in Odd Fellows cemetery, a beautiful "city of the dead."

The pall bearers were Messrs. F. Leonard, Walter, Fred P. Adkins, L. Atwood Bennett, Arthur F. Leonard,

M. V. Brewington and Wm. M. Cooper, all of Salisbury.

While the body rested at the home of the deceased many old friends in Milford visited the house and took a last look at the remains. Many floral tokens were left about the casket.

At the funeral were friends from Philadelphia, Smyrna, Chester, Delmar, Salisbury and other places. Those from Salisbury were Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Grier, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Grier, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Johnson, Mr. Jas. E. Ellegood, Judge Chas. F. Holland, Messrs. Wm. M. Day, A. A. Gillis, Henry Byrd, Souther King White, L. P. Coulbourn, Simon Ullman, John C. Lunk and William Peters, Professor Chas. H. LeFevre, of Smyrna, and Prof. Harry B. Freney and Mr. Harry T. Hickey of Delmar, all close personal friends of the deceased, were present.

DETAILS OF THE ACCIDENT.

The sudden and altogether unexpected death of Mr. Ratcliff and the two young ladies is an almost startling verification of the scriptural passage "In the midst of life we are in death."

Mr. Ratcliff left Salisbury last Friday evening in good health and glowing with anticipated pleasure of a visit to his friend, Mr. Souther King White, at the latter's home at Whiton, Worcester county. Saturday morning the two gentlemen, by previous arrangement, gathered Miss Abbey White, a daughter of Mr. King V. White, of Powellsville; Miss Iris Tull, of Marion Station, Somerset county, niece of Hon. J. W. Miles; Miss Jennie White, daughter of J. S. White, of Whitesburg, Worcester county; and Miss Ethel Lenore Phillips, of Walbrook, Baltimore into a farm wagon and drove to Jones Landing, on the Sinepuxent bay, several miles distant, for a day's fishing and bathing.

The day passed pleasantly for the party until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when Messrs. White and Ratcliff, and Misses Tull, Phillips and Jennie White abandoned fishing for a bath. The bay at Jones Landing is shallow and the current sluggish and usually safe. On this particular day the tide was unusually high and the current strong. Mr. White of the party was bathing Miss Tull and Mr. Ratcliff a few yards nearer shore with Miss Phillips and Miss Jennie White. They had been in the water scarcely more than twenty minutes when Mr. White was alarmed by a cry from Mr. Ratcliff for help. He looked in that direction and in a moment realized the danger Mr. Ratcliff and his party were in.

Mr. White turned and struck boldly out to the rescue of the others and had gone more than half the distance when a cry in his rear caused him to look back to see Miss Tull being swept by the current past him toward the deep water. He turned again to the succor of Miss Tull and succeeded after a struggle in safely bringing her ashore. Meanwhile Miss Phillips and Miss White had become altogether demoralized, overpowering Mr. Ratcliff who in his heroic but vain attempt to save them lost his own life. Mr. White saw his friends sink and hastily disengaging himself from Miss Tull, now safe in the care of Miss Abbey White, sought the help of some boatmen who were not far distant. After a delay several people from the nearby farms appeared and with the aid of a few cool-headed helpers Mr. White recovered the bodies of his friends. It was, however, at least a half hour before they were taken from the water, and the best efforts of the rescuing party failed to bring back life. The sad news was telephoned to Newark, Snow Hill, Ocean City, Berlin, Whiton and Salisbury, from all of which points friends soon came to assist.

As soon as the sorrowful tidings were heard here Mr. Jas. E. Ellegood and Mr. Robert D. Grier started to drive to the scene. The bodies were put in charge of undertaker Wise of Berlin and afterward given up to their respective friends.

Miss Phillips' father and brother took her remains to Baltimore Sunday afternoon over the B. & O. railroad and her funeral followed Monday. She was eighteen years old and a teacher in the Sunday School of the Prince of Peace Protestant Episcopal Church, Walbrook, Baltimore.

Miss White's remains were buried near Whitesburg, Worcester county, in Hollan's M. E. Church yard, Monday. She was a sister of Mrs. Samuel Short of this city, and held at the time of her death a position as stenographer and typewriter with the American Bonding and Trust Company of Baltimore.

Mr. George Grier Ratcliff was born in Milford, Del., thirty three years ago. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ratcliff of that town.

Very early in life he started out to make his own way in the world. Securing a position with Adams express company he proved so true, useful and zealous that the company advanced him from time to time stationing him at Chester, Wilmington and later in New York state. Being very studious from a boy and inspired by high ideals he desired to read law. Finally he resigned his position and entered the law department of the University of Maryland in Baltimore, and proved so conversant with the law writers that he secured his diploma in a little more than half the usual time required. Through the influence of his Uncle Mr. Robt. D. Grier of this city, Mr. Jas. E. Ellegood took him into his law office with whom he afterward became a partner and with Mr. Ellegood had some important cases in the local courts, in the Court of Appeals and in the Supreme Court.

A friendship sprang up and grew between the two men which bound them together as brothers.

Mr. Ratcliff carried $10,000 life insurance, payable to his estate. He left a will in which Mr. Robert D. Grier is named as executor.

Cooper-Waller

Mr. Franklin Kent Cooper, son of the late Jonath Cooper, of White Haven, and Miss Lucy Virginia Waller, daughter of Mr. Franklin Waller, of Wetuppin, were united in marriage last Monday at noon in Grace Protestant Episcopal church, Princess Anne, by the Reverend William G. Woolford.

Only the near relatives of the two witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by an informal banquet at the Princess Anne Hotel. At 1:30 o'clock the bride and groom left for a little trip north after which they will return to this county and settle on the Cooper homestead near White Haven. Though a very young man, Mr. Cooper is one of this county's most progressive farmers.

Bride wore a handsome gown of blue broadcloth, white liberty silk bodice, white gloves, the hat corresponded with the gown, and she carried a white-bound prayerbook. The groom wore a suit of black cloth.

A brother of the groom, Mr. Ward N. Cooper, married a few years ago the bride's older sister Miss Sadie Waller. They started south on their wedding tour and at Richmond, Va., Mr. Cooper was taken ill and died. His grief stricken bride brought the remains home for interment, and returned to her father's home where she continues to live, and is one of the most successful teachers in the county schools.

Republican State Convention.

The Republicans in State Convention last Tuesday named the following ticket in accordance with the slate previously prepared:

For Comptroller—Herman S. Platt, of Baltimore City.

Hon. Phillips L. Goldsborough was re-elected chairman of the State Committee and the old State Central Committee for all the counties were again chosen.

A lengthy set of resolutions were adopted, the main features of which were:

Promise the repeal of the Election law passed at the extra session and the restoration of the old law. Promise that the public schools shall be divorced from political control. Promise to encourage the oyster industry of the State.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mr. Asbury Riley Badly Injured Near His Farm in Pittsburg District.

Mr. Asbury C. Riley of Snow Hill while driving from his home to one of his farms in Pittsburg District suffered severe injuries inflicted by the kicks of a colt which he was driving. In order to shorten the distance to the tenant house on his farm, Mr. Riley drove through the property of Mr. John William White whose farm lies next to his own. Coming to the gate between the two properties Mr. Riley who had been riding in an open top buggy jumped out and ran ahead to open the gate. The umbrella which he had been using to protect himself from the sun got in front of the horse which took fright and started off on a run. In passing Mr. Riley one of the horse's flying heels came in contact with Mr. Riley's left leg and left him stretched on the ground unable to move. He lay in this position four hours—from ten in the morning till two in the afternoon, when the little sons of Mr. White who had been "huckleberrying" happened to pass that way and spied a dark object lying in the road. Supposing it to be a bear they hastened to the farm house on Mr. Riley's place and securing the eighteen year old son of Mr. Wilmer Carey they returned to the scene of the accident, prepared "to kill the bear." The older boy, recognizing Mr. Riley, dropped his gun and went to his assistance. As speedily as possible he got the injured man to the office of Dr. Freney in Pittsville who made a hasty examination and summoned Dr. Dick of Salisbury. Examination showed that the limb was broken just above the knee and that the upper and lower part of the leg was completely severed at the joint. Friday morning he was brought to the Peninsula General Hospital, where his leg was set by the surgeons, every effort will be made to save the limb but it is probable that it will be necessary to amputate it.

Mr. Riley is a member of the lumber firm of Holloway & Riley of Snow Hill and is quite well known in Salisbury. He is about forty years of age and a brother-in-law of Sheriff Brattan of Salisbury.

Life Lost in Fire.

Emory W. Riffin, son of Mr. E. B. Riffin, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives of Delaware, lost his life by suffocation in a fire that destroyed Riffin & Son's carriage factory in Laurel, Del., Tuesday night.

The fire was discovered at midnight by ex-State Senator D. Odell Moore. It was just as the electric lights went out and the town was in darkness.

The fire had obtained great headway in the paint shop, where large quantities of oil and varnishes were stored, which made the flames and heat terrible.

Young Riffin was probably the first to enter the building, and it is supposed he was stricken with an epileptic fit, to which he was subject, as he was found dead by the firemen lying between two coffins on the upper floor, soon after they began playing upon the flames.

After an hour's stubborn resistance the flames gave way to the work of the firemen without any damage to surrounding property, although the factory was a frame structure, and the headway of the flames made the undertaking seem almost impossible at first.

The loss on building and stock amount to about $5000, on which there was an insurance of about $750.

The deceased was a grandson of the late Luther Kennerly, of this county, and a first cousin of Mr. B. Frank Kennerly of Salisbury.

The Misses Judkins Entertain.

The Misses Judkins delightfully entertained a number of friends last Thursday morning at a Porch Party in honor of Mrs. Glover and Miss Downing who are visiting Salisbury friends. Games were played, including a guessing contest, the prize for which was taken by Mrs. W. B. Miller.

Those of the party were: Mrs. Glover, Miss Downing, Mrs. W. B. Miller, Mrs. S. A. Graham, Mrs. W. U. Polk, Mrs. M. A. Humphreys, Mrs. J. D. Wallop, Misses Nannie, Lizzie and Victoria Waller, Miss Eloise Hayden of Norfolk, Va., Misses Irma Graham, Agnes Reigart, Katie Todd, Dora Toadvine, Nellie Jackson, Edna Gillis, Carrie Fish, Helen Leonard, Mary Houston, M. Louise Tighman, Miriam Powell, Lizzie and Pauline Collier, Maria and Grace Ellegood, Edna and Bertha Sheppard.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS.

Through the dangerous August sunshine, six glad creatures rode away toward the dimpling, dancing waters of fair Sinepuxent bay.

Through the silent midnight watches, 'neath the white moon's solemn glow, Came THREE of that happy sextet, With hearts that were dumb with woe;

For three of their sunshine comrades Were a-lying stark and cold, With the hush of death's dim mystery Enshrouding each heart of gold; With the dank of the salty billows Still lying upon their hair;

And the ghoulish greed of the waters Befouling each forehead fair.

Oh! Sadness, and grief, and sorrow, For laughter, and song, and mirth! How soon—how soon the glory Can fade from the face of the earth! How soon life's dear affluence May seem but beggarly need, When we kneel in a sudden darkness, And our poor hearts writhe and bleed!

In the first wild rush of anguish Naught can comfort give, I ween; Time, Christ's great comforter, Must his own might intervene. "There is no death"—so the poet declares— But where is the heart that tries— Ay, tries to believe this heartsome creed When, before Love's very eyes

Lies a form all white and motionless, And cold with that awful chill No breathing flesh ere slumbered 'neath, That gives no answering thrill To poor Love's anguished pleading And sorrow's passionate prayer— 'Tis death, 'tis death, dear Redeemer, With the cold form lying there.

It is death that holds our darling, So close in his cold embrace; We feel but this while we're kneeling Close, close to the dear white face. Sometime we'll cease from our anguish, Sometime, we cannot say when; Thou who hast known much of sorrow, Bear with us, Lord, until then!

—AMANDA ELIZABETH DENNIS.

Civil Service Examinations.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on Sept. 7th, 1901, an examination will be held in this city for the positions of clerk and carrier in the post-office service.

All persons who have been examined for the position of clerk or carrier within the past year and failed to pass may be reexamined upon filing new applications in due time.

These examinations offer an excellent opportunity for entering the Federal Service, and it is to be hoped that a sufficient number of intelligent, active persons will present themselves for this examination. There is a wider field for advancement upon merit in the Federal service than in many private employments, not only by promotion in the same office, but by transfer to other parts of the service.

The nature of the examination is a test of practical, general intelligence, and of adaptability in post-office work. The age limitations for this examination are as follows:

Clerk, not less than 18 years. Carrier, between 21 and 40 years. Applicants for carrier must be at least 5 ft. 4 in. in height and weigh not less than 125 pounds.

Applications must be on file with the secretary of the local board before the hour of closing business on August 26, 1901. Address

H. WINTER OWENS, Secretary Postal Board.

CONVENTION OF 1873.

"G. R. C." Writes of the "Hunting Man" of that Convention—Some Comments on Vote Buying.

Baltimore, Aug. 7, 1901.

Messrs. Editors:—Mr. Ellegood's article in last week's issue of the Advertiser was refreshingly read by your correspondent. Like everything that comes from that gentleman's pen, it was readable—every line of it. I am no prophet, but must stand by my first declaration, viz. that Mr. Ellegood's Democracy is rock-ribbed; hence honors await him that possibly he knows nothing of just now. In answer to him must say that if anything I have written heretofore has been construed by the reader to be in a patronizing vein, I wish to disclaim any such intention. Far from it. As a boy I honored and respected the legal gentleman—and as a man.

"Twas but a span
From friendship to affection."

As to writing a series of articles on "Up-to-Date Politics in Wicomico" I must beg the question just now. I am sure that the county is in no bad shape politically, but there may be some dimensions and a few ripples on the waters political, but they will vanish ere Col. Kilgour starts his beacon light on Garrett's Mount, and a good old-fashioned majority will greet the Democrats of the upper part of the Shore from the once banner county of the State, old Wicomico.

A district convention was held in Salisbury by the Democrats in 1873 for the purpose of nominating a Congressman—at least I think it was for that purpose. Among the delegates from Somerset was a gentleman from Princess Anne. He was of the legal persuasion and looked anything else but a lawyer. To describe him at this late day would be almost impossible, but of one thing I am sure and that is, he was tall, lean and lanky with a decided stoop in his shoulders. As he passed down Main street some one said "There goes a carpet-bagger." In a moment the Moses-looking man was all fire. He dropped his valise and glared wildly around. "Show me the man that called me a carpet-bagger and I'll thrash the life out of him!" he yelled. Mr. Theodore Parsons was sitting on the old wooden bench in front of Tracey's Hotel, and as the Princess Anne gentleman wheeled around and faced him, Mr. P. nearly fainted. Gus Fields laughed heartily at Mr. Parsons' seeming predicament, when the delegate started after Gus. It is safe to say that the young man was the best sprinter, and was soon hiding somewhere in Mr. James Cannon's store. The Somersetian fumed and swore, and at last picked up his valise and headed for the old court-room (over E. E. Jackson & Co's store.) When he arrived there he met his colleagues from the lower county, and, boy, as I was, I picked him out for a hustler, for very soon he was conferring with other delegates, and the upshot of it was that the chairmanship of the convention went to either Talbot or Dorchester counties, when it was understood that Wicomico was to have had it. "They called me a red-hot Democrat, a carpet-bagger, and darn 'em I fixed them," was what he said after the convention had adjourned. He was a fighter and had a powerful voice. He became a power in politics afterwards. Who remembers him? He's long since crossed the silent river.

Possibly one of the most popular men in politics was the late Stephen P. Toadvine, or as he was generally called "Steve." His oldest son Ernie, follows in his father's foot steps. Mr. Toadvine was a forcible man, strong in his convictions and unyielding in his Democracy. He was an acknowledged leader and had more influence with the farming community than any other man in Wicomico. The yeomanry consulted him on many other matters besides politics and his advice was always worth heeding. A good reader of faces and a close student of human nature, he could almost always pick out a winner. Of course in those days there were contentions and bickerings within the party lines, but Mr. Toadvine by some subtle but pour oil in the troubled waters, and soon all was serene. He had for a long time as his able quadjator George W. Bell in many things, and a better pair would be hard to find. While Mr. T. pere has been gathered to his fathers, Mr. Bell still lives and has a large clientele in his legal profession.

In my last article I wrote of vote buying. Let me qualify that sentence. As a boy I was supposed to know nothing about it, but there are many who remember a carriage or wagon factory that stood on the street at the foot of Camden Street and nearly facing Dock Street. I remember very distinctly seeing a gentleman standing in the rear of the building on one cold election day. In the late 60's and passing out money to those who voted right. "Mind you," he would say, "I am not giving you this money for voting, but for losing a half day from your work, that's all." Then the dollar note would be handed the suffragist and he would go away happy. Well, not very happy if he had a conscience. For the meanest, most depraved thing a man can do is to barter away that one spark of manhood and forever place upon his forehead the sentence "I am purchasable." A voter is a sovereign—greater than any potentate that ever reigned on a throne. Then why he should accept money for placing a servant in some position, is beyond my pen. But what shall we say of the man who buys? Ah! puff! his name is nauseating and his very presence is a stench to the nostrils of all honorable men. Democracy has no money. The party of trusts and combines can do the voting if it wills at so much a vote, but the Democratic majority still stands. The party that prates in its platform about the monstrous evil done the state by an extra session can only look back a few years and see written on the walls (not obliterated by any means): "Credit Mobiler," "Back Salary Grab," "Pacific Mail Subsidy," "Star Route (postal service) Thievery," "8 to 7 President in 1876," "Civil Equality" and now they are virtually calling for "Social Equality."

All honor to Gen. Victor Baughman! He has sounded the death knell of the Republican party in this State. Shall it be negro supremacy or shall it be a state free from the control of the coons? That is the battle cry of the campaign of 1901, and every white man who wants to place the seal of condemnation on the negro, (so far as he is a political factor is concerned) will vote the Democratic ticket. There will not be any splitting or cutting of tickets—but the vote will be for a White Man's Government, or against it.

As my time is very limited now (being engaged in short story writing for magazines) I must close my series of letters until a more opportune season. It is impossible to burn the midnight candle too often, for nature rebels. If I have said or done anything that offended anyone, place the error to my head not my heart. I merely wrote to entertain, without any intention of wounding anyone's feelings. G. R. C.

A House Party.

Pleasant View, the home of Mr. Abel D. Wilson of Forest Hill in Harford was the scene of a merry house party during the last week. Among those present were Miss M. Edith Laws and C. Edgar Laws of Salisbury, Miss Jennie White of Whiton, Miss Annie Jarmon of Berlin, Misses Sadie and Elizabeth Wilson of Forest Hill, Mr. Samuel Quillen of Berlin, Mr. John I. Colbourn of Snow Hill, Mr. William Morris of Balto., and Mr. Charles H. Wilson.

Among the pleasures planned for them was a trip to The Rocks, which was thoroughly enjoyed and much surprise was manifested that Harford could boast of such a "Natural Wonder."

The Rocks are situated nine miles north east of Bel-Air and seven miles south of the boundary line between Md. and Penn. The waters of Deer Creek forcing their way at an indefinite time passed through Rocky Ridge, have left on either side an immense pile of massive rocks, three hundred and eighty five feet in height which with the romantic stream which runs at their base and contiguous scenes, constitute a rare picture, sublime and beautiful. The view from them is less obstructed and more distant, embracing within its range hill and dale, forest and field, river and brook, farmhouse and hamlet. On them are the King and Queen Seats, which to an observer would appear to be carved, so suggestive are they. The last King and Queen to occupy them were Bald Eagle and his wife, the braves of the tribe and their confederates sitting upon the ground leaning against the interspersed trees and rocks.

In order for its many visitors to reach the summit, they are compelled to go up and around an almost perpendicular incline for nearly a mile through the forest. To perform a still greater feat many of its tourists descend the steep side itself, going from rock to rock some times necessitating a jump of four or five feet.

A GUEST.

Obituary.

Entered into life eternal, at the residence of her father, ex Judge George Bounds, near Quantico, Md., Nellie, his second daughter. She was a bright and happy child, a sweet and lovely young woman, beloved by all who knew her. Full of childlike simplicity, she loved to sit at the feet of those whom she loved and respected and listen to the truths which fell from their lips. She loved all that was bright and beautiful in life and enjoyed its innocent amusements. To her pure and innocent heart—many things seemed pure—as they do to all who are pure in heart and who love God.

She has just passed from the confines of childhood into the border land of womanhood, when the relentless assaults of time cut the brittle thread of life, and her immortal soul was wafted upon the great ocean of eternity. But possessing the everblooming and evergreen sprig of hope, we are strengthened and have confidence to look forward with composure and faith to the love of Him who will land that soul into the peaceful haven of the blessed, and give her peace forever.

THE PRESIDENT'S POWER.

Mr. Jay Williams Discusses His Authority in the Philippines.

In reading an article from the pen of Senator George F. Edmunds of Vermont, published in the August number of the North American Review, I was struck with the force of the argument there made, that Congress had exceeded its power in granting to the President of the United States what may be termed legislative and judicial power in the Philippine Islands. In addition to his executive power, thus making him as to this territory, a despotic ruler.

The Act of Congress referred to, is the Act of March 2nd, 1901, which provides that "All Military, Civil and Judicial powers necessary to govern the Philippine Islands acquired from Spain by the treaties concluded at Paris on December 10th, 1898, and at Washington, on November 7th, 1900, shall until otherwise provided by Congress, be vested in such person and persons and shall be exercised in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct for the establishment of Civil government and for maintaining and protecting the inhabitants of the said Islands in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion."

The Constitution of the United States provides that "this Constitution and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof and all treaties made or which shall be made under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land."

The Constitution further provides that the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

As observed by Senator Edmunds, "The Powers of Congress therefore, are such and only such, as the Constitution has imparted to it. In this respect it differs from State Legislature. Congress did not create the Constitution. The people of the United States made and adopted it, and the Constitution created Congress, and endowed it with all and the only powers it possesses. The constitution expressly declares that "All Legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States." These powers are enumerated to guard against misconstruction, where special prohibitions were established; and the whole mass of power not delegated to Congress were reserved to the states, or to the people. No general sovereign power such as is attributed to the rulers or people of single or separate states, was conferred on Congress or the President. This is in distinct contrast with the powers of the Legislature of the several states, which are sovereign and supreme, except so far as their written Constitution and the Constitution of the United States limit them.

Has Congress a right to grant to the President of the United States the power which it undertook to confer by the Act of March 2nd, 1901, above quoted? I think not. Except so far as the President has a right to veto a bill passed by Congress, his powers are purely executive. The powers of Congress are fully enumerated in the Constitution, and it is nowhere laid down there expressly or impliedly, that Congress can give to the President, the power to vest in any person military, civil and judicial power to be exercised in such manner as he alone shall direct.

It is true, as Senator Edmunds observes, that Congress provided in 1803 for the government of the Louisiana Territory ceded by France, and enacted that the President should take possession of the territory and that "all military, civil and judicial powers exercised by the officers of the existing government of same, shall be vested in such person or persons, and shall be exercised in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct, for maintaining and protecting the inhabitants of Louisiana in their enjoyment of their liberty, property and religion." This Act provided for an administration of the then existing laws as they had been administered by France. It is a mere change of French officers to American officers, and nothing more. The President could neither increase, diminish or change the powers themselves.

He had executive power, pure and simple, and nothing more; and even that measure of his authority was limited to the then session of Congress. In the Philippine instance, all military, civil and judicial powers necessary to govern the Islands are to be administered, and any and all laws thought necessary by the President are to be set up and executed. Congress adopted no law at all, but deposited all power in the hands of the President.

Is not this grant of power in the President legislative and judicial, as well as executive? Is it not giving to the President absolute despotic power as to that part of the territory of the United States? Is it not setting up a government in the Philippines to be administered by the President alone in his sole discretion under an authority granted him by Congress for that purpose?

Moreover this power is to continue in him until he himself shall consent to surrender it, or two thirds of each house of Congress shall take it from him.

This is not only setting a dangerous precedent, but it is unconstitutional, because beyond, outside of and above the powers granted Congress. It is undemocratic, and not in accordance with the spirit and liberty of free America.

FASHIONS AT NEWPORT.

Afternoon Dresses: Evening Gowns: Outing Suits.

Some really handsome afternoon dresses are in line, and a charming example is in blue, with bands of white on the short jacket, skirt, ends of sleeves and skirt below the waist. Blue embroidery appears on the white bands, in a shade darker than the dress and colors are chosen to suit the fair complexion and gold hair of a young Baltimore lady on a visit to one of the Vanderbilt families. Another dress of coral batiste worn by a girl companion, is made with plain skirt, but finished by embroidery extending from the waist to the hem in front, growing narrow at the foot and widening around the top until it reaches the back. The long, tight sleeves are entirely overlaid by lace and the front of the corsage is lace covered below a yoke of shirred chiffon. The belt is of black velvet ribbon with long ends.

LACE WAISTS

are seen perpetually and usually over taffeta silk, nor does anything impart a dressier finish than lace jackets that are noticeable on every hand. The gown may be plain, but should a lace jacket be worn with the same, a transformation to the handsome is an immediate result. Entire lace dresses are greatly in evidence for evening gatherings, but of course are the exclusive choice of matrons, young aspirants wearing mousseline, net, in which point of dress is very popular, crepe de chine, or chiffon, the perishable nature of the lace being no disadvantage in the eyes of Newport society.

PAINTED MOUSSELINE

composes some of the choicest gowns for evening and a member of the Astor family recently wore a delightful example showing a pattern of delicate wild roses. Such was their delicacy that without exaggeration, they seemed dream-like the suggestion of blossoms from fairy land. The skirt was without other ornamentation and completed around the bottom by three white chiffon ruffles. Delicate painted touches appeared on the low corsage that was finished by chiffon ruffles, the short sleeves being also of chiffon.

AN AFTERNOON GOWN worn on the drive, is of crepe de Chine in pale green, the lower part of the corsage having wide encircling folds of green satin; the upper portion ending in a lace yoke and the elbow sleeves finished by lace. A row of lace appears around the skirt and two short lace panels extend from the waist on either side of the front. It is on the drive, however, that long coats are seen to greatest advantage and while the majority are in black taffeta silk, more or less trimmed by coral or yellow lace, yet extreme style attaches to light tan cloth or more than all, white cloth. Colored silk cloaks are, of course none, and some quite lace covered.

OUR DOOR SPORTS

make up so much of Newport life that dresses in keeping, constitute, of course, an important quota and here the great popularity of linen becomes readily apparent. In view also of the run of white very many are in white linen prettily trimmed in colors, though the attractive, gay hues in which linen has been brought out of late, come in for their share of patronage and the same can be said of mohair that in strawberry red, blue or green may vie with any material. Pique, duck, canvas or denim are certainly noticeable and the manner of making golf suits is so familiar to all, that description is superfluous.

Minor Crops.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Maryland and Delaware Section, week ending Monday, August 5, says:

"Vegetable gardens are still producing satisfactorily, although more rain would be beneficial in many localities. The potato bugs have become very destructive in a few counties during the week. The early potatoes are not coming up to expectations in many instances; they are now being dug and marketed. The potatoes are generally in excellent promise. Sugar corn is doing well, but is rather late in maturing. Cauliflower shipments have begun in the western counties. Tomatoes have not fruited well this season, but the vines are thrifty in growth and it is thought that the late crop will do better than the early, present indications being favorable in the southern counties. Cowpeas have grown nicely during the week. Late black berries are turning out poorly in places. Grapes are blighted during the wet weather, and but few perfect clusters are now to be found. Watermelons and cantaloupes have been late in ripening, but are now coming into market in the southern counties. Turnip seed is still being sown in the southern parts of the section."

In cases of cough or croup give the little One Minute Cough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take, always safe, and almost instantaneous in effect. Dr. E. D. Culler.

ITS CHANGING VALUE.

It was right that the gallant act should be rewarded, but what should she give him?

Hal! A kiss, of course. Were there not men who would pay a great price for that! Truly, it was quoted high.

"That," she said, as she bestowed it, "is easily worth a hundred dollars!"

"It was," he answered, "but it is not."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"While in your possession it would bring a good sum," he said, "but in mine it cannot be exchanged for the price of a meal."

However, he was a prosaic sort of fellow at best, and besides he was hungry.—Chicago Post.

ADULTERATED COFFEE.

GROVER WHITE FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING OHIO'S PURE FOOD LAWS.

Interesting Facts Concerning the Roasting of Coffee Brought Out by Scientific Experts—Presence of Bacteria.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 3.—The jury in Judge Meek's court in this city has found James White, a local grocer, guilty of selling adulterated coffee. The prosecution was based on a package of Arbuckle's Arisio coffee.

The State of Ohio, through the Pure Food Commission, prosecuted White. The case was on trial for nearly a month and attracted national attention. The manufacturers of Arisio coffee conducted the defense for Grocer White. The best attorneys in the country were retained to defend him, but, after a short consultation, a verdict of guilty was returned by the jury. The State of Ohio considers this a big victory. Pure Food Commissioner Blackburn has been waging a warfare on spurious food articles and the department has been successful.

The complaint of the State of Ohio was that Arisio coffee was coated with a substance which concealed defects in the coffee and made it appear better than it is. The State charged this coating or glazing was a favorable medium for the propagation of bacteria.

Prof. G. A. Kirchmaler, of this city, a well known chemist, was the principal witness for the State. He had made scientific examinations of samples of Arisio purchased from Grocer White in the open market. He found that each Arisio berry contained an average of 300 bacteria. Mr. Kirchmaler further testified that other coffees he examined contained few bacteria or none at all. He declared that the glazed coffee was not a wholesome food product.

Chemist Schmidt, of Cincinnati, corroborated the testimony of Prof. Kirchmaler. The State did not present further testimony.

The defense through the Arbuckles, who prepared this glazed coffee, secured some of the most eminent chemists and scientists in the United States to give testimony in their behalf. Prof. H. W. Wiley, of the United States Agricultural Department; Prof. Vaughn of Ann Arbor University; Prof. Bielle and Webber, of the Ohio State University, were called to defend Arisio. Dr. Wiley had made a careful examination of the method of manufacturing Arisio. He told of the 19,000,000 eggs used by the Arbuckles yearly in the preparation of this glazing. On this point in cross examination, the State's attorney deftly drew from him the information that these eggs might be kept in cold storage by the Arbuckles for a year or two at a time.

The experts who heard Dr. Wiley's testimony were pleased to be able to "catch" so famous a chemist. The doctor at one point in his testimony explained very clearly how it is that the egg put into the coffee pot by the house wife settles the coffee. He said that the heat coagulates the egg, and as it sinks to the bottom of the pot it carries the fine particles of coffee with it, and thus clarifies the drink. It is the act of coagulation in the coffee pot that does the work. Later on in his cross examination, he had to admit that when the egg was put on Arisio coffee at the factory it became coagulated, and as egg cannot be coagulated but once, that the coating on coffee was practically no value, as a "settler" when it reached the coffee pot.

Prof. Wiley acknowledged that the glazing might be a favorable medium for the propagation of bacteria, although he would not testify positively either way because he was not a bacteriologist.

Prof. Vaughn, of Ann Arbor, also a witness for the Arbuckles, said he found bacteria on Arisio coffee.

Prof. Bielle, another witness for the defense, found any number of lively bacteria on Arisio coffee he examined, and he agreed that glazed coffee surely was a more favorable medium for the propagation of bacteria than unglazed coffee.

Pure Food Commissioner Blackburn says: "The State is very much elated over its victory against this corporation. We are now considering the advisability of informing every grocer in the State of Ohio that it is an infraction of the laws to sell Arisio, and at the same time give warning to consumers that the coffee is an adulterated food article."

The verdict of the jury in this case is of national importance because a great many other States have pure food laws like that of Ohio, and it is natural to suppose that similar action will be taken by other Pure Food Commissioners to prevent the sale of glazed coffees.

Washington's Fastidious Kinsman. Lawrence, earl of Ferrers, a distant relative of George Washington, had a most tyrannical temper, and one day in a fit of passion he cut down with his sword his steward, an old gentleman named Johnson. The latter had given no provocation for the deed, and the crime was an act of brutality inexcusable save that the earl may not have been well balanced mentally. He was brought to trial for killing Johnson and demanded and received the privilege of being tried by his peers. The house of lords was thronged during the hearing. The evidence proved to be conclusive, and Ferrers was sentenced to be hanged at Tyburn. Appeals were made to the king for clemency, but in vain. Ferrers met his fate with considerable bravado. He was carefully attended for the occasion and insisted on providing a silver cord for the execution. To this wish the executioner agreed, and the earl was turned off otherwise like any other felon.

"CONSISTENCY! THOU ART A JEWEL!"

While Chairman Goldsborough of the Republican State Committee was addressing the State convention, held in Baltimore on Tuesday, on the subject of Democratic bones and was denouncing Mr. Gorman, there was a most interesting gathering of republicans in one town of Cambridge of Dorchester county. Let us glance at this gathering and note its object.

We find some of the leading Republicans of Dorchester county (the home of the aforesaid Mr. Goldsborough) in convention assembled. The object of the meeting was to nominate an Independent Republican county ticket. These Republicans had so rebelled against the absolute and continued domination of their party by Mr. Goldsborough that they felt the time had come when they must repudiate his methods. A full county ticket was nominated as follows.

State Senate—Josiah L. Kerr.
House of Delegates—W. D. Hopkins, Cambridge; John S. Vincent, Linkwood; James A. Higgins, Vienna; Howard H. Spedden, of Neck Creek.
County Commissioner—Eugene Crockeron.

Sheriff—W. L. Grant Robinson.

The resolutions claim the right to nominate candidates without let or hindrance from bossism of any character. They repudiate the legislative branch of the so-called Republican ticket dictated by one man power. They endorse the administration of President McKinley. They declare that the county chairman is the party's servant, not its master and that he has no right to say who shall or shall not be candidates. They condemn the recent census frauds under the Federal census and urge the Government to punish the perpetrators.

In conclusion the resolutions invoke the aid of all opponents of ring rule and bossism of whatever party in support of the ticket nominated by this convention. All the candidates received their nominations by acclamation.

Mr. Kerr, the nominee for State Senate on the ticket, addressed the convention and stated that Boss Goldsborough had offered him the nomination for the Senate but had afterwards thought so little of his word as to dictate the nomination of another.

These things transpired in Cambridge, the home of the Eastern Shore Boss in Republican politics while he was trying to delude the people of the State with the false cry of "Down with Gorman." No one will be fooled by such a flimsy and worn out campaign slogan. Every indication at present points to the conclusion that the cry of "down with the bosses" will surely place Dorchester county with its State Senator and four members of the Legislature in the Democratic column.

IMPERIALISM MEANS GREATER TAXATION.

Imperialism is a political disease that leads to extravagance and high taxation, and of this there will be no end. The necessities of the case lead from one vast expenditure to another to protect the latest expansion. Islands like Porto Rico and the Philippines cannot protect themselves. In case of war they would be a source of weakness and would require a large naval force to prevent them from being attacked. This is what is urging on the administration to the purchase of other outlying islands.

We are indebted, says the Chicago Chronicle, for most of our news concerning the negotiations for the Danish West Indies to the Copenhagen correspondent of the London Daily Mail. The latest we get from that source is the statement that the Washington government has sent "another note" to Denmark intimating that if the country will not sell it must fortify and garrison the islands. "The situation is regarded seriously here," the correspondent adds as Denmark cannot dream of undertaking the erection of fortifications and the maintenance of garrisons, which would cost several millions—millions of pounds, of course, the correspondent being English. It appears from this that the administration contemplates not only paying $8,000,000 for the Danish islands, but spending many times that number of millions in fortifying them and garrisoning them. Thus it is coming to light that the administration knows the islands we already have are not a source of strength, but that they must be defended by spending more millions for islands and fortifications and garrisons.

SUSSEX COUNTY'S JOYS AND WOES.

The following extract from the Sussex Journal of Georgetown, Del., tells of the joys and woes of the inhabitants of that prosperous county.

"We have always maintained that Delaware is the best place in the world to live; just think of it! Our farmers are selling their round potatoes right here at our home exchanges for prices ranging from $1.14 to $1.55 per bushel. With a prospect of peaches selling at a good old round price of $1 per basket, what more need we want, since the berry crop has already been sold at a good figure and the rain this week has insured a good corn crop? If our State and county government were only Democratic then we would all sleep well of nights. Talmage once said, 'get your heart right and your liver right and then you are all right.' Our 'liver is all right, but our heart is rotten to the core of a mania called Adickism. When that disease is cut from our body politic, then we shall be 'all right.'

Let us all hope that the dream of the Sussex Journal may be realized, that Sussex county may secure a Democratic government and the State be relieved of the rottenness of Adickism.

—The Prohibition State Convention met in the Y. M. C. A. Building, Charles and Saratoga Streets, Baltimore, Tuesday morning and named the following candidates: William Kleinfel, of Baltimore, for Comptroller, and Dr. G. Weims Petherbridge, of St. Mary's county, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Whist Tournament.

The Whist Tournament held at Ocean City on Monday drew to that favorite spot some of the best "whistlers" on the shore. The contest was much more exciting and the six teams played a stronger game than in the Tournament of last year. The great difficulty that has been experienced by the clubs in their contests with each other is the adoption of a proper method of scoring. Since the closing of the Tournament on Monday last it has been discovered that only the North and South scores were kept and therefore the real results are not shown by the scores given out as the official record of the clubs. The following was the record of the North and South scores: Cambridge 200, Sinepuxent 200, Dorchester 199, Salisbury 197, Ocean City 197 and Snow Hill 197.

In Memory of Mr. Ratcliff.

Last Wednesday morning the Wicomico Bar Association met and adopted the following resolution:

In the dispensation of Providence which has removed from our midst our brother, G. Grier Ratcliff, while we cannot but feel the peculiar sadness of the circumstances attending his death, we acknowledge the decree of a Judge from which there is no appeal, and bow in submission thereto.

As a testimonial of our regard for our late associate, both as a man and a lawyer, we desire to place on record our recognition and appreciation, in common with all who knew him, of his upright conduct, his unswerving integrity, his loyalty to his profession and to his country, and the high plane of ethics on which he practiced his profession; that in a word he had laid as the basis of his life's conduct, character, upon which alone true success can be achieved; and that though time was denied him to his accomplishment of his ability and of his duty, we doubt not that in the celestial field to which he has been transferred, that the character which he accompanied him will reach its full fruition.

But we desire to add thereto the expression of the personal loss we have sustained in the taking away in the days of his professional career, of one who in a more than ordinary degree, had by his chivalrous manliness and sturdy integrity, combined with an unflinching courtesy and charm of manner endeared himself to our affection.

That a copy of this testimonial of our affectionate remembrance of our late brother, and our sympathy, be presented to his bereaved family, and that a committee be appointed by the President of this Association to have the same spread upon the Records of the Court.

Masonic Resolutions.

Again we stand in the shadow of a great master, for the death of our brother, G. Grier Ratcliff, has been a great loss to the community. Another Sir Knight has finished his pilgrimage in this vale of tears, for on August third, 1901, in the dark waters of the Mingant Bay, Sir Knight, G. Grier Ratcliff, Junior, Warden of this Commandery, lost his life in an effort to save his friends from a watery grave. Greater love hath no man than this, that man should give his life for his friend. "Flowery wills, strong from bludge; storms will beat upon it, morning will greet it, and the evening light; night will crown it with stars, and the earth, rolling in her great infinite space will bear his dust with her till time shall be no more."

He was a cultured gentleman, a faithful Freemason, a courteous friend, in spirit noble, in manner kind, a many man, in all his social, personal and public relations he so discharged his duties as to present an example worthy of imitation. No call was ever by him unheeded, no duty left undone, when duty called. The worker fails, but the work goes on.

RESOLVED, That by his death our little band of pilgrims is broken, and one more has gone to dwell in that house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens.

RESOLVED, That as a citizen, he exerted himself for the public good, and in all places of responsibility, he won the confidence and esteem of the community in which he moved, and commanded the respect of all.

RESOLVED, That we ever cherish in the memory of his many noble, noble virtues, and emulate his example of loyal devotion to our Order.

RESOLVED, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Commandery, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of our deceased Sir Knight, G. Grier Ratcliff, and that the sympathy of this Commandery be extended to the family of our deceased Sir Knight, in their great loss, committing them to the kindly consolation of Him who doeth all things well.

Respectfully submitted,
W. P. JACKSON,
C. E. HARPER, P. C.,
J. McFAD. DICK.

"STICKY WEATHER"

aptly describes these hot days, when comfort is out of the question. ILL FITTING CLOTHING MAKES MATTERS WORSE.

The nearest thing to comfort is one of our correctly tailored suits made up in the fashionable loose style with one of our "Lion Brand" negligee shirts and straw hats.

WE GUARANTEE TO FIT YOU.

A very cool part of clothes is the fit. How "hot" it makes you, your blood actually boils and you sometimes say wicked words when you know your clothes don't fit. We make to fit and they must fit or we will not dare sell them to you.

Another cool part is the wear. How "hot" you become if you have to repair them. You indeed say blessed words about the clothing you bought from and I vouch a blessing upon your own head if you ever buy from him again.

YOUR MONEY BACK HERE IF ANYTHING GOES WRONG.

Come in and be fitted up for this "sticking" weather. We study your comfort, hence we are sure we have what you need.

The B. C. & A. Tax Question.

The city papers this week have published the statement, that Samuel Bancroft, of Wilmington, by Attorney Nicholas P. Bond, has brought suit in the United States Circuit Court against the County Commissioners of Wicomico County, asking that the Commissioners may be restrained from levying or collecting any taxes against the property, rights and franchises embraced in the mortgage deed of trust of September 1, 1894, from the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company to secure the bonds held by the complainant. The complainant claims exemption from taxation under chapter 133, acts of 1898. The Court of Appeals has decided that the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company was not entitled to exemption under the act under the reorganization proceedings of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad Company, especially exempted under the act. Mr. Bancroft is the owner of several bonds of the railway company.

The commissioners of this county, through their attorney Mr. James E. Ellegood secured judgment in the Wicomico court against the railway company for over $9500, back taxes. The case was taken to the Court of Appeals and there fought over, with the result that the lower court was sustained. The city papers don't make clear whether Mr. Bancroft seeks also to restrain our Commissioners from the collection of the judgment of $9500.

A SALISBURY MAN WAS IN ATLANTIC CITY A SHORT TIME AGO

and called on his Atlantic City friends. One of them took him to a luncheon and on the way to his hotel the Salisbury man noticed the condition of the pavement. At luncheon a few bottles of beer were added to the menu. This brought on the question of Sunday closing. The Salisbury man remarked to his Atlantic City friend "You've got the worst pavements here I ever saw, you used to have the best, but now you've positively got the worst I ever looked at—there are holes in your streets as deep as wells." Sh-h-h, said the Atlantic City man, don't breathe it and I'll tell you why they are there—it's some of the beer brewer's doings. You see, since they began to close the saloons on Sunday it has hurt the flow of beer. The beer men used to own a subway and some of the conduits are down, and all connect with the brewery. They are going to put steps in those deep holes in the pavement and tunnel into the different saloons. On Sunday, when the front and back doors are locked, a man who wants a drink can walk along to a hole in front of his favorite saloon, step down, walk through a tunnel into the cellar, get an elevating drink and come out again. The police won't have any right to arrest anybody, for everything will be closed—and that's the (whole story of the scheme." It does seem queer that some men really do want the saloons kept open on Sunday. It would seem as if a man could drink enough in six days to last over one, now don't it? Well speaking about dropping in—it will pay anybody to drop in at Thoroughgood's store just now. To make his August business a big success, he has had his clothing makers make from late suitings which have recently appeared in the woolen market some very fine, swell sack suits for mid-summer wear. They are made up light and cool, but in a manner that will insure their holding shape. Some are made up half lined, some full, some with silk and some with fine serge linings. Thoroughgood has marked them very low—$18 values $13; $15 values, $12; $13 values, $10; $12 values, $8.50; $3.50 values, $5. These suits are new, direct from the makers; they're swell, and if you will talk real nice to Thoroughgood he'll let you have one of these suits at the price mentioned above.

The Badger Fight.

Mr. R. Frank Williams, representing a Baltimore Queensware house, was last night initiated into the mysteries of that well known sport "A Texas Badger Fight." It took place in the rear of the Ross hotel, according to the announcement in yesterday's Times. The following named traveling men assembled in the court yard of the hotel, ready to witness the set-to between the badger and dog: H. M. Finch, S. Ashley, J. R. Bowman, L. Cohen, B. L. Smith and Isy Cahen. Among the local sports there were present: Cotulla Johnson, Dr. Younk, Chas. Ross, Dr. Raeburn, Dr. MacGregor, Dr. Applewhite, E. Christen and about sixty others. After all bets were up, Cotulla Johnson was elected custodian of the badger, and R. K. Merrim had charge of the bull mastiff. Every one else being interested financially in the outcome of the fight, Mr. Williams kindly consented to pull the badger from his berth, which he did in regulation style. We are glad to state that he was not hurt and the badger, being of the white variety was after a tussle declared winner of the fight.

Mr. Williams says that the next thing he wants is a snipe hunt, but that he will wait until he gets nearer home, for he is unacquainted with the cactus region of the Rio Grande.

The success of the fight is due to Cotulla Johnson and Isy Cahen, who arranged all details for the sport. Laredo Daily Times.

Only a Mask.

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they should be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker and makes them look healthier, but is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat nor sleep well. What need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine which, as we know, "builds up the whole system."

Anthony Kean, who emigrated from Ireland and settled in Cumberland 61 years ago died in that city yesterday morning, aged 91 years. He was an uncle of ex-Mayor George A. Kean and Water Superintendent Thomas S. Kean.

Heartlessness of Politics.

"It's a mean thing to do," said the politician, "but I've got to shake the public confidence in this opponent of mine somehow." "But there is no use of abusing him." "No. 'I'll awaken distrust by more insidious methods. I will have him called 'the silver tongued orator.' If that name ever fastens to him his finish is in sight."—Washington Star.

Let me say I have used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and can thoroughly recommend it for what it claims. Very truly, (Rev.) H. W. Hathaway, Elizabeth, N. J.

No one needs to be told to try to cure a cough. But any one will be glad to be told of a means of cure which will be thorough and lasting. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine which can be confidently relied on to cure diseases of the organs of respiration. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis and bleeding of the lungs. It cures when nothing else will cure, and the local physician says: "There is nothing more that we can do."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. The dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines, will sometimes try and sell a substitute when the "Discovery" is asked for. No substitute medicine will satisfy the sick like "Golden Medical Discovery." It always helps. It almost always cures.

Two years ago a severe cough started on me and I was also bothered with catarrh," writes Mr. F. Skjod, of Danewood, Chicago Co., Minn. "I could not sleep nights, as the cough was worse at night. I tried several cough medicines, but to no avail, until a year ago, when I got so bad I could not breathe through my nose at times. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and at the same time using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, I am a well man. I can thank Dr. Pierce for my good health, and will recommend his medicines to any one suffering from the same trouble."

The Whole Story in one letter about

Pain-Killer

From Capt. F. Loyer, Police Station No. 5, Montreal: "We frequently use PAIN-KILLER for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, sciatica, tooth aches, neuralgia, cramps, and all afflictions which beset man in his position. I have no hesitation in saying that PAIN-KILLER is the best remedy I have ever used."

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md., writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md., writes:

Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism or symptoms since and I tell any man, be he foolish to suffer with Rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tisch of Easton, Md., writes: NELATON'S REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. R. R. Funnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows: I have used the NELATON REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC FEARED.

The State Board of Health Discusses Means of Meeting Visitation.

The Baltimore News of last Wednesday said:

The regular monthly meeting of the State Board of Health, which was held at the office of the Board, 10 South street, today, was attended by all the members—something which has never before occurred at the August meeting.

The recent outbreaks of smallpox in Washington and Frederick counties were discussed, and it was agreed that the trouble was mainly caused by the negligence of two physicians—one in Maryland and one in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, from which place the disease was imported into this State. Steps were taken to have the Maryland physician presented by the Grand Jury of his county.

Dr. John S. Fulton, the secretary, was instructed to write a strong letter to each of the local boards of health in the State urging the necessity of advance action to meet an epidemic of smallpox, which, it is feared by medical men, will occur next winter. Dr. Fulton said in explanation:

"The boards of health and medical experts all over the country have agreed with great unanimity that all conditions indicate an epidemic of smallpox all over this country next winter second to none since 1873.

"The reappearance of the disease in any considerable number of cases is about coincident with the beginning of the Spanish-American War. It has now been scattered all over the country, and in practically every State there are a number of small foci for the spread of the epidemic. It first developed in the South, and has been carried northward mainly by negroes.

"The summer is the season most favorable to the spread of the contagion, which is carried by berry-pickers, harvesters and other nomads. When winter comes and people are shut up in their houses the disease develops. Preventive measures are less striking in their results, but they are better and more efficient than remedial measures, and money can also be saved by advance action. Thus, contracts for medical attendance and nursing and for ground for pest-houses can be made more advantageously when there is no smallpox about than in the actual presence of danger."

Dr. Fulton was appointed a delegate to represent the State at the meeting of the National Health Association to be held at Buffalo on September 16, 17 and 18, and Dr. William Royal Stokes was selected as a delegate to the bacteriological section, which will meet at the same time and place.

News of the Patients.

Mr. Geo. W. S. Taylor's 19-year-old son of Baron Creek district, is at the hospital undergoing treatment for an injured foot. An operation has been performed by the hospital surgeons and the lad is now comfortably resting with bright prospects of an early restoration to usefulness of the member.

Mr. T. W. Seabrooke's hand has been operated upon for blood poisoning, and is now satisfactorily healing. Mr. Seabrooke is also of Baron Creek district.

Mrs. Sarah Carter, another patient from Baron Creek district, was on the operating table last Tuesday when Drs. Dick and L. W. Morris removed a large tumor from her stomach. This was an exceptional case at the Peninsula General Hospital, but under the skillful management of the surgeons the patient is doing well.

Mr. Asbury Riley, whose serious accident was related in the ADVERTISER last week, is improving and the threatened amputation will likely be avoided.

William Polk, of South Salisbury, was taken to the hospital Wednesday night suffering from intoxication and a shaking up caused by jumping from the train and rolling down the embankment on the south side of Lake Humphreys at the railroad bridge. Dr. Dick examined his body and found that the bones were all whole, and after applying a healing lotion to his bruises dismissed him. Sheriff Brattan, Night Watchman Crouch and Mr. Harry Fooks went to Polk's rescue at the railroad bridge. It was only chance that he did not roll into the water and drown.

RAYNER SCHLEY'S COUNSEL.

The Attorney-General Will Defend the Much Abused Admiral—The Precept.

The whole country awaits with intense interest the assembling of the court of inquiry to pass upon Admiral Schley's conduct off Santiago. The opening session will be held at Washington, September 13th. Hon. Isador Rayner of Baltimore, Attorney-General of Maryland and ex Judge Jeremiah M. Wilson, of Washington will handle the case for Schley.

Every Marylander is particularly interested in the fate of her gallant son and will hail with delight the news that another of her brilliant and favorite sons will conduct the defense for her persecuted Admiral.

From the time a court of inquiry was decided upon, Mr. Rayner was always the choice of Admiral Schley as the leading lawyer among his counsel.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY'S LETTER.

On August 2 Mr. Rayner received the following communication:

Albemarle Hotel, New York,

Aug. 1, 1901.

Hon. Isador Rayner:

Dear Sir—I would like very much, if it is possible for you to do so, to have you represent my interests before the court of inquiry at Washington. Mr. Jeremiah Wilson, of the District of Columbia Bar, who will also be in the case, has asked me to say to you that he will be most delighted if you will give him the power and influence of your services.

I wish a representative from my own State to represent me in this controversy. I have selected you, and it is hardly necessary for me to add that I shall be delighted with your presence and grateful for your distinguished services.

Can you meet Mr. Wilson, Captain Parker and myself in Washington, at the Shoreham, at a date to be fixed, and can I depend upon your entering this case? If so, wire me at Great Neck, N. Y.

I am very sincerely yours,

W. S. SCHLEY.

MR. RAYNER ACCEPTS.

Mr. Rayner, after carefully considering the request, decided to comply with Admiral Schley's wishes and so informed him. Mr. Rayner has taken a deep interest in the famous controversy since its beginning, and has felt that the severe criticisms of the gallant sea fighter have been very unjust to him. Speaking of the case Wednesday Mr. Rayner said:

"I suppose the Admiral felt that he would like to have a Maryland lawyer, and so far as I am concerned I not only feel it my duty to this gallant officer, but it is with extreme pleasure that I accept the service and will enter into the case with all the zeal and labor that I can command. It will be a case occupying some time, I suppose, involving the examination of a number of witnesses and an inquiry into every detail of Admiral Schley's movements from the time that he left Hampton Roads until the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago.

"I have no familiarity except what I have gathered from the newspapers and magazines with the documents and dispatches that will play such an important part in this investigation. I have commenced to study the matter, and hope when the case opens on Sept. 12 to have the details well in hand. From the time that Admiral Sampson sent his famous dispatch from Santiago presenting Cervera's fleet as a Fourth-of-July present to the American people, I have taken the deepest interest in this matter, feeling as I did that the battle had been won by Schley, and that he deserved the laurels that he had so bravely earned. I have leisurely read the various articles from his friends and foes, and when the naval history of the transaction was compiled by Maclay and circulated in this State, it was contemplated to use it as a text book at the Naval Academy. I revolted with horror from this malignant aspersion cast upon a man of whose heroic deeds every citizen of Maryland and of the country ought to be proud.

"I feel entirely confident that when the whole truth is revealed and every possible light cast upon the movements and conduct of Admiral Schley from the time that he left Key West, on May 18, 1898, until he sent to Admiral Sampson on July 6, the report of the battle, in which he said, 'I congratulate you upon this great victory to the squadron under your command, and I am glad that I had the opportunity to contribute in the least to a victory that is big enough for all of us,' it will not only be the verdict of the court but of the people that there is no man in American history upon whose deeds the nation can look with greater pride and gratitude."

1. His conduct in connection with the events of the Santiago campaign.

2. The circumstances attending the reasons controlling and the propriety of the movements of the "Flying Squadron" off Cienfuegos in May, 1898.

3. The circumstances attending the reasons controlling and the propriety of the movements of said squadron in proceeding from Cienfuegos to Santiago.

4. The circumstances attending the retreat of the "Flying Squadron" off Santiago, the reasons for its retrograde, turn westward and departure from off Santiago and the propriety thereof.

5. The circumstances attending and the reasons for the disobedience by Commodore Schley of the orders of the department contained in its dispatch dated May 25, 1898, and the propriety of his conduct in the premises.

6. The condition of the coal supply of the "Flying Squadron" on and about May 27, 1898, its coaling facilities, the necessity, if any, for, or advisability of, the return of the squadron to Key West to co, and the accuracy and propriety of the official reports made by Commodore Schley with respect to this matter.

7. Whether or not every effort incumbent upon the commanding officer of a fleet under such circumstances was made to capture or destroy the Spanish cruiser, Cofes as she lay at anchor in the entrance to Santiago harbor May 27 to 31, inclusive, and the necessity for, or advisability of, engaging the batteries at the entrance to Santiago harbor and the Spanish vessels at anchor within the entrance to said harbor at the ranges used, and the propriety of Commodore Schley's conduct in the premises.

8. The necessity, if any, for and advisability of withdrawing at night the "Flying Squadron" from the entrance to Santiago harbor to a distance at sea, if such shall be found to have been the case; the extent and character of such withdrawal, and whether or not a close or adequate blockade of said harbor to prevent the escape of the enemy's vessels therefrom was established, and the propriety of Commodore Schley's conduct in the premises.

9. The position of the Brooklyn on the morning of July 3, 1898, at the time of the exit of the Spanish vessels from the harbor of Santiago; the circumstances attending the reasons for and the incidents resulting from the turning of the Brooklyn in the direction in which she turned at or about the beginning of the action with said Spanish vessels and the possibility of thereby colliding with or endangering any other of the vessels of the United States fleet, and the propriety of Commodore Schley's conduct in the premises.

Tornado in Somerset.

A special from Crisfield says:—The tornado which passed over Somerset county Monday created a great deal of havoc within narrow lines to houses and growing crops.

A large funnel shaped cloud formed over Pocomoke river and immediately afterward a violent wind struck Shaflee's farm, on Gunby's creek. The wind was so violent that an oxcart which stood in its path was taken up and whirled a long distance, to be finally dashed to pieces on the ground. The tornado traveled on toward the woods, rising and dipping toward the west. In some places the storm would leap the trees and in others the trees would be blown down or stripped of their branches.

The storm struck a tenant house of Mr. Chaffee's whirled the roof through the air and tore the house itself from its foundation. The roof was carried at least 100 feet over the roof of another house, the occupants of which saw it coming and ran for their lives.

The path of the tornado then lay through the land of Dr. H. H. Gunby. On striking his corn field the stalks were twisted and uprooted and the ears of corn whirled through the air like chaff. Dr. Gunby states that his man picked up over a wagon load of corn from the ground. Robert H. Sterling's house was struck by lightning, which tore things up in general and killed a pet cat. The path of the tornado was not more than 100 feet in width.

Coulbourn—Tilghman.

Miss Annie Tilghman of Whiton, Md. and Mr. Goldborough Coulbourn of Indian town, were married last Wednesday at Mt. Zion M. P. Church, near Whiton, by the bride's uncle, Rev. Noah J. Tilghman.

The ceremony was a very pretty one. Mr. John Coulbourn, brother of the groom was best man, the bride entering the church with her brother Mr. Clarence Tilghman who gave her away.

The following young ladies acted as bridesmaids: Miss Bertie Tilghman, Miss Edna Adkins, Miss Jennie White and Miss Ella Coulbourn. The ushers were, Mr. Fred P. Adkins, Mr. Homer White, Mr. Edward Coulbourn and Mr. Corbin.

Miss Nellie Stevenson of Snow Hill rendered the wedding marches.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. E. S. Adkins of this city.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

The Questions Involved in the Mighty Struggle between Capital and Labor.

As these lines are being written the great strike among those employed in some of the greatest steel industries and combines in the United States has begun, and apparently in real earnest, and it would be a bold thing to attempt to predict what the outcome of it all may be. It is now said that two hundred thousand men may yet be involved in this great strike. On the other hand many millions of capital are also involved and may be forced to be idle for an indefinite period. The strike now gives promise of being one of the most important struggles between capital and labor the world has yet seen. Whether the struggle may yet involve bloodshed, the loss of life and great loss of property by fire and other means of destruction remains yet to be seen. In regard to the merits of the great struggle we will not now pretend to enter. The laborers demand more pay and less hours of labor, in fact a greater share in the immense profits that are now said to be reaped by the gigantic combines. The employers, the large capitalists, on the other hand, say that the wages now being paid are about as large as can be afforded, taking the business chances of year out and year in, in the reckoning. But there is a good deal more than the mere question of wages at stake. The Labor Union claim that they must be recognized—that they must have a voice in all the questions of wages, hours and the class of men who are to be employed. In most cases the Union insists that none but union men shall be employed at all. Many now insist that none but union men shall be allowed employment at all. The employers claim that if any such principle is fully recognized they will lose control of their own business—it will be virtually controlled by the Labor Unions. To an outsider it looks as though there is a possibility of tyranny of labor as well as a tyranny of capital. If laborers contend on one hand that they must not be compelled to work only when the wages and the hours suit them—the employers may contend on the other hand that they must have the right to say who they shall employ and on what terms their business shall be carried on. There is now apparently another very important issue at stake. Many have been seriously asking what the present great combines of capital and industries may yet amount to. Shall such great combines yet monopolize all the great industries of the country, crushing all smaller industries and fixing all prices to the consumers, just as the great coal and coal-oil monopolies are now doing? Shall such great capitalist combines unite in fixing labor prices just to suit their own purposes? There seems to be great dangers in these directions. May it not yet turn out that these great Labor Unions will break down such vast combines? So long as labor is not being employed on a great scale, and each industry employs but a few hands, no such great strikes as are now being carried on seems hardly possible. If the present struggle means the breaking down of the great manufacturing combines on the one hand, or the great Labor Unions on the other—the results are of a most momentous character.

Heavy Rainfall.

While the west and north west have suffered great loss due to insufficient rains for the crops, and some sections of the east have suffered because of too heavy rains, Wicomico's share has appeared to be just right for the crops. It is altogether probable that the corn yield of the county will be the largest, per acre cultivated, ever grown. The rains, though heavy, have seemed to suit, and big yields of corn will be the result especially on clover sod. Mr. J. Bayard Perdue, who has a rain gauge on his farm near town and is a close observer, thinks that in the last two weeks almost ten inches of water has fallen in this county.

Capized in the Sinepuxent.

During a severe wind and thunder storm at Ocean City last Sunday afternoon a sailboat belonging to William Quillin was capized in the Sinepuxent bay. Mr. Quillin and his son John, who were the only people on board, clung to the overturned boat until rescued by the life saving crew of this station.

Mr. Quillin and son were returning from a pleasure trip to Fenwick's Island camp, and were caught by a sudden hurricane. The accident and prompt rescue were witnessed by many excited spectators from the boardwalk on the ocean front.

WASHINGTON TO CLAIBORNE.

Report that a Ferry Will be Operated From Chesapeake City to Eastern Shore.

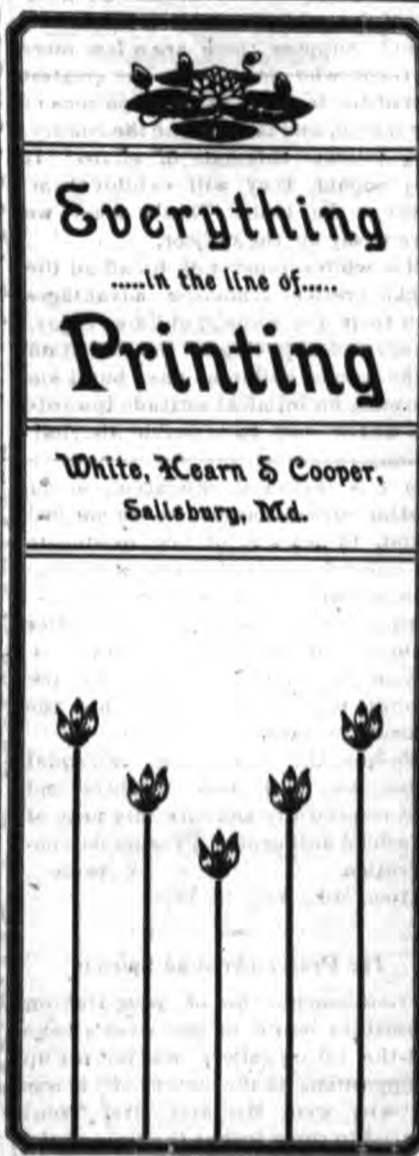

The city papers are saying that: For the purpose of securing a direct route from Washington to Ocean City, Md., and points on the Eastern Shore, it is reported that the Pennsylvania Railroad has made arrangements with the Chesapeake Beach Railway Company to operate a ferry from Chesapeake Beach to Claiborne.

The Chesapeake Beach Railway has an air line from Washington to the bay-shore resort in Calvert county known as Chesapeake Beach. Improvements under way there now include the digging of a canal which will permit a steamboat to come directly up to the railroad siding. When this is completed boats could meet the trains on their arrival and carry passengers to Claiborne, where they could board the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company's trains for Ocean City and other points. Passengers from Baltimore to points on this line now go to Claiborne by steamboat. The new service will be inaugurated next year, it is said.

MORE TEACHERS NEEDED.

A Patron of the Public Schools Begs the School Board for an Additional Teacher at Allen.

Mess. Editors:—We beg leave, through the columns of the ADVERTISER, to call the attention to the honorable School Board of the county, to the meagre, insufficient and unsatisfactory provisions for the education of the children of the village and neighborhood and to endeavor to impress upon the mind of the said board the necessity and importance of providing us with an additional teacher thereby enlarging and promoting the educational facilities of our school. With a number of advanced pupils, requiring and consuming so much of the teacher's time, the lower grades suffer inevitable neglect and fail to make the progress they should.

We are preferring no charge against the teacher. On the contrary, we believe the teacher does the best the circumstances will permit. The trouble is no one teacher could do the work of this school.

We are reminded that our average is a little below the required number. This may be true under the present inadequate provisions for instruction, but with increased facilities for school-work, we have little hesitation in claiming that the average would quickly climb to the desired mark.

With two teachers in our school the community would be roused and awakened to the importance of sending their children to school, and the average would soon be, we believe, all that could be desired.

We know of children of the district that remained at home all the last scholastic year, because their parents say, the teacher couldn't give them needed attention. These children would, doubtless, attend school; and moreover, I am informed, with two teachers in the village-school, a number of advanced pupils from an overcrowded school just above us, would be glad to come here, thereby relieving the pressure in their school and promote the interests of both.

Within call of our school we find a colored school with two teachers. Right at our door we see the colored children with double the educational advantages of the whites. Why is this? Is it right? Suppose there are a few more of them, who pay much the greatest part of the taxes? Will the patrons of our school, and taxpayer of the county, long tolerate this state of affairs? If they should, they will exhibit themselves to be fools. That's what we have to say on the subject.

The whites must toil to afford the blacks greater scholastic advantages than their (the white's) children enjoy. I am not objecting to the education of the colored children, nay; but I am assuming an inimical attitude towards this unfair and inexcusable discrimination.

In it is matter of education, under existing circumstances, we do not feel bound, by any sort of law, to educate the colored man's children at the expense of our own—the neglect, denial, sacrifice of our own. Let this matter of the education of the races be in proportion to, and determined by, the amount paid by each race into the treasury as taxes, etc.

We have the school house—two equal rooms—we need two teachers and most respectfully and earnestly pray of the school authorities a favorable consideration. PATRON.

The Proper Christian Spirit.

Gentlemen:—One of your Hebron subscribers wrote in last week's issue that the riding gallery was not set up in opposition to the camp. If it was not why were Mr. and Mrs. Trout induced to come just at the time of the beginning of the camp, and why did they leave as soon as the camp was over?

The people who persuaded them to come at that time knew they would be a hindrance to the camp and to religious worship. "They that are not for us, are against us."

Well, the camp is over, the riding gallery gone and the people have returned to their usual vocations. The camp was a success in every particular and I suppose the riding gallery was well patronized. The managers got some money out of it. That was the object of their coming, but now that both are a thing of the past let there be no hatred and strife between us, "For we be brethren." Let us love one another and try to help each other.

Canning Trust Under Way.

A dispatch from Philadelphia, says negotiations are well advanced for the organization of a trust by the tomato canners of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. About 800 firms, the dispatch adds, will go into the trust, which will be capitalized at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. It is understood that the plan is to take in all the large canners on a basis of part cash and the balance stock in the proposed company, which will be known as the American Packing Association.

Hebron Camp And The Merry-Go-Round.

Quantico Md. Aug. 15th 1901.

Editors Salisbury Advertiser. Dear Sirs:—I notice with a great deal of surprise a statement made in your last issue, signed "Methodist Protestant," to the effect that Hebron Camp and the Merry-go-round lately at Hebron were set up for the same purpose, and that the Merry go round was not in opposition to the Camp.

Now the first and great purpose of the Campmeeting was not financial success, for there was a good deal of feeling among the churchmembers that it would be financially a failure this year, though it has proved otherwise but its first purpose was the worship of God. Everything there centered round the tabernacle and its services. Its songs were hymns of praise to God, from its platform the Gospel was preached with power, saints were pointed to a higher life and sinners were urged to seek salvation. Round its altar the Lord's people wrestled in prayer and rejoiced to see repentant men and women saved, and the meetings have been a spiritual blessing to very many.

On the other hand the avowed purpose of the Merry-go-round was to make money. The order observed there was such as may be supposed to exist in chaos, the music(?) consisted of a few popular songs ground out in tiresome reiteration from a brazen-voiced organ, and a shrill whistle. The exhortations were to come and ride, and the personal work done by church members was to distribute free tickets and encourage trade by riding themselves.

When a committee of the Camp managers waited on the proprietor and earnestly but kindly asked him to stop running during preaching hours, as he had advertised to do, because the noise of his organ and whistle disturbed their worship; he refused to do so.

Before the Camp began, a leading member of the M. P. Church consulted a prominent Salisbury lawyer as to how far they could go in matter of selling refreshments, running on Sundays etc, without rendering themselves liable to prosecution by the Camp managers.

These are the facts in the case, and in view of them the statement of "Methodist Protestant" that the church and the Merry-go-round are actuated by the same purpose amounts to a new Revelation. If it is true, then the Church and the World are no longer at unity and God and Satan are working in harmony. Then the problem of how to reach the masses is ready solved for the Church, we simply have to put in a Merry-go-round with perhaps a few monkeys and a tattooed man, to make it draw. We shall however watch the success of "Methodist Protestant" in this experiment before we try it ourselves.

The Well-Dressed Man.

Vogue, New York says: Colored handkerchiefs, and those with borders in color are still to be seen in the smart haberdashery shops, and many of them, notably of fine French linen, are exceedingly pretty. They have, however, never become a general fashion and are, if anything, less used this summer than they were last by well-dressed men.

As the season advances the broad-brimmed Panama straw hat becomes more usual. Not the ordinary Alpine-shaped Panama, for that became common before the month of June was half over; but the newer shape with brim to be turned up or down in front, behind or at the sides according to the fancy of the wearer. It is now much worn by the younger set of men, and on it a colored band seems to be rather the most fashionable. As to the older style of straw hat it is noticeable lately that many of the city's smart men are wearing broader brims than those of the last two or three years, and there seems to be a tendency toward greater breadth. It is also noticeable that the very rough straws are going out of fashion, and the reason being those which bring about all change in dress, namely over-production and consequent cheapness and commonness.

It is advisable for every man who looks after his clothes himself to have some kind of good preparation for removing spots and stains. All suits should be sent to a tailor at short intervals to be thoroughly cleaned and pressed, but one does not always wish, and indeed it is often inconvenient, to send a coat or a pair of trousers to have some small mark removed, especially if one discovers it just as one is about to put on the garment, and then a good spot-remover is most convenient. There are a number of fluids which will usually answer the purpose, such as alcohol, benzine, naphtha, etc., but the handiest and safest preparation I know of, for all ordinary stains, is a certain white soap, set in a small wooden holder and covered tightly with a rather heavy porous material of a blue gray color. It is dipped in warm water before being applied and the spot or place where the spot was is then rinsed with clean water. I am not able to give you the name of this little cleaner, but I think it may be bought at almost any drug shop or dry goods store; I have found it as a rule entirely effective.

I have little to say regarding the cuts or styles of clothes, because being directly between seasons there is nothing new. That flannel has run its race, except for sporting purposes. Light homespun and serge are a good deal worn. Jackets are for the most part unlined, loose, single breasted and with patched pockets; trousers fairly full, with loops on the band for a belt, and bottoms made to be worn turned up, waistcoats are the exception, but when worn are single breasted and without lapels.

My attention has been called to some very thin linen shirts, not of the stiff starched bosom variety, nor yet entirely of the negligee type, but intended to be stiffened just a little in front. They are made to fasten with studs, were narrowly plaited, and on the extreme edge of each plait had a hair-line of color, which, also, of a urea, ran through the rest of the shirt and round the cuffs. They are rather less common than the usual run of summer shirts, and yet I should think almost as cool as the thin plain-front madras. Fine white cambric made perfectly plain, is also a good warm-weather shirt, most of the colored designs being altogether too common for any smartness of looks.

A movement is taking form to hold a carnival and trades display in Cumberland in the fall.

THE MARYLAND AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Growing in Interest and Value to the People of the State.

The fourteenth annual report of the Maryland Agricultural College will be sent out during this month. The year just closed has been a prosperous and satisfactory one. The average attendance for the past seven years has been raised by this year's registry. For the eight years preceding 1892, the average attendance was fifty, since then the attendance has been one hundred and twenty. The grade of the work has been advanced, until to day the graduates are admitted to post-graduate work in Johns Hopkins University, or accept positions where special technical training is required. Never in the history of the world has there been a period when qualified men who can do one special kind of work well, were in greater demand.

The technical nature of the different courses taught in the College gives an opportunity to fit young men for some special work in life. The graduates find occupation without difficulty, upon finishing their work at the school. Every department is equipped with modern appliances for practical work; each scientific department has its laboratory, and the young man acquires the power to perform a definite work by becoming himself a personal investigator. The only rational method of learning how to do is to do yourself.

A departure from the usual methods of procedure in certain classes of State and National work, has been welcomed by many who feel an especial pride in the outcome of work requiring for its best execution, special training. There can be little doubt that such a policy is the only true one. Bureaus made up of laymen, with no special training to prosecute the work, must necessarily dissipate much of the means appropriated for the specific purpose, in fruitless effort.

The past conception that men of science are necessarily impractical, if ever true, cannot apply to this age. Closely connected with, and animating every agency for the public advancement in this day, should be carefully trained and scientific experts, working out every detail of the problem involved. This policy has been inaugurated by the State of Maryland. Its inauguration should be followed by the incorporation of the principle as a fixed policy of the State, not only in its material concerns, but likewise in its fiscal and economic problems as well.

The wisdom of such is clearly demonstrated in the work of the Geologic Survey, Weather Service and Highways, under the control of the Johns Hopkins University and the Maryland Agricultural College. The publications from these sources bearing upon the work under supervision, have not only a State and National reputation, but International as well. Maryland's resources, and the factors entering into making her territory a desirable place of abode, are known over the world as never before, due to these agencies.

The Food and Fertilizer Control; Farmers Institute Department and State Horticultural Department, and under the control of the Board of Trustees have given a character of service which has commanded the confidence of the people of the State.

The growth and development of the College and Experiment Station, have spread their influence in every section of Maryland and become powerful agencies in the uplifting of the State.

Pan-American is Doing Well.

The average daily attendance at the Pan-American Exposition from May 1 to July 1 was 28,640. The average daily attendance at former fairs for the full terms of their duration were as follows:

Chicago, World's Columbian Exposition, 6 mos. 158,112
California, Midwinter Fair 13,928
Atlanta, Cotton States Exposition 13,080
Omaha, Trans-Mississippi Exposition 17,082
Philadelphia, International Exposition, 6 mos. 19,283

The comparison is highly encouraging to the Pan-American Exposition. The first two months of fairs are usually the poorest in point of attendance, owing principally to the almost general belief that the expositions are not completed until July. The Pan-American has passed this point and the attendance is growing daily. By the first of August the increase in the average daily attendance will show a very large increase, with the best months still to come. The Pan-American is now complete and to see the exterior of the buildings is alone worth a long trip. The illumination with 500,000 lamps is also a wondrous sight. Admission to all buildings and games in the Stadium is free.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY.

A Short Account of Work Done by Undergraduates.

We are in receipt, this week, of a catalogue of the College work of the Johns Hopkins University. Primarily a graduate institution the University makes ample provision for collegiate instruction.

Certain features of organization and administration have contributed to the effectiveness of the undergraduate work. The scrupulous observance of the distinction between the disciplinary methods appropriate to college teaching and the freer methods of advanced instruction; the "group" arrangement of studies, combining a reasonable liberty of choice with a sufficient exercise of authority; the facilities afforded young men of superior capacity for carrying their studies beyond the requirements of graduation; the influence upon younger pupils of the presence of a large body of graduate scholars conducting investigations in all the great departments of learning;—these conditions have proved favorable to the development of earnestness and scholarly devotion.

The various groups of studies are:

1. The Classical Group.
2. The Mathematical Physical Group.
3. The Chemical-Biological, or Preliminary Medical, Group.
4. The Geological-Biological Group.
5. The Latin-Mathematical Group.
6. The Historical Political Group.

When a boy turns his bulging pocket inside out we marvel at the quantity and variety of articles he has stored away. Old lengths of string, marbles, a horse-shoe nut, a top, brass nails, broken pens, an apple, and many more articles are garnered by this "snapper up of unconsidered trifles." We think the collection must be hard on a boy's pocket. And it is. But do we ever think of the variety and miscellany of substances we put into pocket of our stomach? There's the apple and nuts, and things besides quite as indigestible as brass nails and with no more food value than so many marbles. And yet we wonder that the stomach "gives out." When the stomach breaks down under the strain of careless eating and irregular meals it can be perfectly and permanently restored to health and strength by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The action of this medicine on the stomach, that relief from disease is at once experienced, and the headaches, liver troubles, kidney disorders, skin eruptions and other symptoms of a diseased stomach are quickly cured. Whenever the use of a laxative medicine is indicated, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act in harmony with the "Discovery" and assist its action by purging the bowels of foul accumulations.

Henry Boyd, charged with the murder of Martha Oden in Prince George's county, has surrendered to Sheriff Shea. He confesses the cutting, but claims he did not intend to kill the woman. He does not seem to realize the seriousness of his position.

In cases of cough or croup give the little One Minute Cough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take, always safe, sure and most instantaneous in effect. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged meninges, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting fatter and stronger. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day.

WINE OF CARDUI
is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

The circumstances surrounding the death of Wilson Hurry, who was found dead in a stable at Indian Springs, Frederick county, last week will be investigated by the county officials. When found it was announced that he died of heart failure, but his friends claim that he was drugged with whisky and placed in the stable, where he was found later in the day.

BE READY FOR SMALL POX.

Conspicuously displayed elsewhere in this issue of the ADVERTISER may be seen an account taken from the Baltimore News of a meeting of the State Board of Health for the purpose of discussing methods and adopting measures looking to the meeting and treating of small-pox should the scourge get a foothold in the State this fall and winter.

This is business, and commands the approval of thoughtful people everywhere. The presence of small-pox in New York, New Jersey and other states of the Atlantic seaboard makes its ultimate re-introduction into Maryland an almost foregone conclusion. Baltimore, by reason of its proximity to the great cities farther north and its attraction for the nomads of the South who are the conveyors of infection and loathsome disease, will almost certainly receive an importation before cold weather shall have far advanced, and through our metro;olis a distribution of the infection among the smaller towns and villages of the State will become almost inevitable.

In view of the anxiety caused the people of Salisbury; the threatened loss to our business interests and the heavy expense to the tax-payers of the county incident to the introduction into the community last spring of small-pox by some of our non tax paying colored brethren, is it too early for the local health officer, the city council and the county commissioners to take under advisement the possibility of a repetition of those conditions?

Let the county be fortified against another outbreak by the institution of a system of precautionary measures. Vaccination should be compulsory and general. The aforesaid non taxpaying colored brethren, and sisters too, should have their twin propensity for uncleanness and "gadding" about somewhat curbed and a close watch kept over the county borders (and the railroad stations) that no undesirable and filthy-laden visitor may be allowed to enter or remain.

FULL OF DANGER.

In a recent interview, Ex Senator George F. Edmunds, a lifelong Republican, points out some of the perils which the Colonial System of the Administration will subject us to. He thinks the Democrats could easily carry the country should they present a remedy for the great and absorbing question of trusts. Mr. Edmunds says: "I think the government's course in regard to Cuba has been wrong. We have not made good our promises to Cuba. We promised to give the Cubans their freedom, and we would have stood much better in the eyes of the world and in our own estimation if we had done so."

In my opinion we have more to fear from Porto Rico than from Cuba. Porto Rico is a part of the United States, and it will probably not be long before it will be flooded with ambitious lawyers and other carpetbaggers, who will soon be in control of its affairs. Then there will come a time when the political parties will have to consider the question of admitting Porto Rico into the Union. The carpetbaggers and others will be in control, and I think you will find the conditions worse than we ever had with any of the Rocky Mountain Territories that have become States.

In the Philippines we will probably have to maintain an armed force for a number of years. There will always be more or less guerrilla warfare going on. "Do you think the trusts will become a more important issue than imperialism?" was asked.

"No, I will not say that. One cannot tell what may happen, and you know that every body who is not in the trust is against it, and when we consider how comparatively few people there are who hold stock in these great companies it is evident that the opposition against them is strong. If the Democratic party could suggest something that would appeal to the people as a remedy, I don't think it would have much trouble in winning an election, but I'm afraid I cannot look to the Democrats for that."

THE PURPOSES OF BOSS MCCOMAS.

Editor Haddaway of the Easton Ledger has the following on Boss McComas and his plans:

"The greatest, boldest and most arrogant and most unscrupulous political machine ever set up in the state of Maryland is that made and controlled by Senator McComas, and it owns the Republican party in Maryland as absolutely as Quay does in Pennsylvania or Platt ever did in New York."

It was not for fun that Louis McComas resigned a lifetime judgeship with a big salary attached in Washington. It was ambition, the desire to build up a great machine in Maryland and to boss it, and to make every Republican in the State who dared to question his autocracy bite the dust. Never in the political history of Maryland, was there such a domineering and conscienceless boss as this McComas. His first step was to crush the life out of poor Wellington; his next was to get the Mudds and Chings of Southern Maryland and the Sam Davis gang of Baltimore with him; he then proceeded to bulldoze that gentle and genial Eastern Shore gentleman Phillips Lee Goldborough; to put his foot upon the neck of Hon. Isaac Ambrose Barber came naturally and in proper sequence; he juggernauted for mer Governor Lloyd Lowndes; he issued orders to Stevenson Archer Williams which he will no more disobey than Linc Dryden would: what were census frauds to him or he to census frauds? Discovery may have worried him, there is no evidence that the crime ever did.

He bossed the State convention—nominated the candidates and made the platform. What is his next move? The State Convention developed it. It is to obtain control of the Board of Public Works and to this end he ordered the nomination for Comptroller of his kinsman, one Herman Platt, who is at the head of a gigantic oyster trust combination. The subservient convention obeyed the behest. Given a Republican Legislature and boss McComas will be given control of the Board of Public Works by the election of a State Treasurer of his own ordering.

Give boss McComas the Board of Public Works, then what? His covetous eyes and those of his confederates are upon the oyster bottoms of the Chesapeake bay, and with a Republican Legislature and, as its outcome, Mr. McComas owning the Board of Public Works, they will accomplish their purpose in spite of Governor John Walter Smith who will then be merely the representative of a shorn and bound Democracy. The firm of Platt, McComas & Company will be entrenched in power for all time to come, as far as can be seen ahead, as owners of the State, its waters and material interests. What a price to pay because of personal or political hostilities to two or three Democratic leaders!

Given a Republican Legislature and boss McComas is given absolutely the selection of a United States Senator in succession to Wellington. John Fisher, Lloyd Tydings and Berry Benson if elected will have nothing in the world to do with it, except as henchmen obeying Boss McComas' orders. Whom will he select for United States Senator? McComas has never been accused of political ingratitude, and if he never is to be, his choice must fall on Sydney Mudd. "The Maryland delegation," Speaker Reed is quoted as having said, "is composed of five fools and one rascal. Sydney Mudd is not a fool."

The Democrat who votes for the Republican candidates for the Legislature votes for the most formidable and threatening political machine ever organized in Maryland; votes for the most arbitrary and unscrupulous political boss the state has ever known; and votes to put in the hands of Republican politicians as owners under a corporate trust to be formed the most important industrial interests the State has, which have always been kept by the Democratic party for the use of the people."

WANAMAKER'S NEW STORE.

John Wanamaker the merchant prince is preparing to have constructed on the site of his present store in Philadelphia a $5,000,000 department store building.

The new structure is to be built in quarters, starting at Thirteenth and Chestnut streets, then Chestnut and Juniper, followed by Juniper and Market, and last Thirteenth and Market streets.

Preliminary plans show a 12-story structure with basement and sub-basement, all of stone, brick, steel and iron construction, making the same fire proof throughout, and will measure 380 by 476 feet. The contract was awarded to the late Charles McCaul for erection, but since his death it has not been decided whether the McCaul estate will carry out the contract.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The Trappe Times does not carry the Talbot County Republican ticket at the head of its column.

If the Populists of the country are bent on going it alone next time, they will find an admirable standard bearer in William Bosman of Delaware who has shaved only twice in 68 years. —Atlanta Journal.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales! Some people call it itter, milk crust or salt rheum. The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure. It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions. Hood's PILLS are the best cathartic. Price 35 cents.

Shoes to Grow Into.

The nearest thing to comfort is one of our correctly tailored suits made up in the fashionable loose style with one of our "Lion Brand" negligee shirts and straw hats.

Another cool part is the wear. How "hot" you become if you have to repair them! You indeed may bleed words about the clothier you bought from and it looks a blessing upon your own head if you ever buy from him again.

YOUR MONEY BACK HERE IF ANYTHING GOES WRONG. Come in and be fitted up for this "sticking" weather. We study your comfort, hence we are sure we have what you need.

Well did the ADVERTISER say last week in its leading editorial, "Consistency thou art a jewel." When Senator George L. Wellington announced himself last year as being in favor of the election of Bryan, and toured the country in his behalf, the Baltimore American, a double-faced paper published in the city of Baltimore, set up a howl that could be heard from Maine to California. This fair minded (?) paper demanded his immediate resignation as a Senator of United States. (happily he did not get it) Now that Senator McLaurin of South Carolina, has left the party of his fathers and joined hands with the Republican party, the American thinks he should remain in the Senate by all means and fight the party that made him what he is. Yes, consistency is a jewel, but it is one of the many jewels the Baltimore American does not possess.

A Successful Banker.

The Baltimore Herald in its issue of Thursday says: "One of the best known business men on the Eastern Shore of Virginia is Otho Lee Parker, cashier of the First National Bank of Onancock. Mr. Parker was made cashier in 1895. The deposits of the bank since he has been cashier have increased over $150,000, or much more than double. When Mr. Parker accepted the cashiership the bank was without a surplus; it now has a surplus, including undivided profits, of $18,000. Last year an additional room was added to the building, making it the handsomest and most commodious banking house on the Eastern Shore."

Mr. Parker was born in Accomac county, April 4, 1864, and was educated in the schools of Onancock and Snow Hill, Md. He was married in 1896 to Miss Nannie Byrd, of Salisbury, Md. Prior to Mr. Parker's connection with the First National Bank he was with the B. C. & A. Ry. Co. for 14 years.

The work of tearing down the buildings will be begun September 1, and a new hotel, even finer than the Avon, will be erected on the site.

Warning to Swimmers.

A correspondent writes to the New York Sun: "Now that the swimming season is here again, you ought to repeat the warning which was published several years ago that apoplexy, not cramps, is what causes the death of so many strong swimmers who suddenly become helpless when bathing. Wetting the head before the feet is said to prevent the trouble."

A cloud burst visited the upper section of Cecil county on Monday afternoon and did considerable damage. Heavy freshets were caused in Little Elk creek and other streams.

THE CANNED GOODS OUTLOOK.

Prices on Tomatoes and Cans Likely to Be Higher Next Year.

The Wilmington Evening News says: It looks very much as if canned goods—tomatoes and corn in particular—would be higher in price next winter than at present, judging from reports received at a convention of the Tri-State Packers Association, which was held at the Clayton House, Wilmington, this week.

The association is composed of owners and operators of packinghouses in Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey. Heretofore there was a Peninsula Association, which included the packers of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Last month it was decided to form a tri-State association, and organization was effected by electing Owen L. Jones of Salem, N. J., president and C. M. Dashiell of Princess Anne, Md., secretary and treasurer. The association includes the owners and operators of nearly all of the large fruit and vegetable packing houses in the three States mentioned.

The object of the convention was to receive reports concerning the fruit and vegetable crops and discuss prices and plans for the future. The crop reports were not at all encouraging. Owing to the backward spring, the hot summer and wet weather, coupled with the fact that there is an abnormal demand from the west, tomatoes will be scarce, which will most likely make the canned product higher than at present. As to corn, it was reported that the crop is about normal, but there is such a heavy demand from the west that it will not be as plentiful as heretofore and an advance in canned goods will probably result. Nothing definite could be stated as to peaches.

The canneries of this county will start up within the next ten days. The Messrs. Roberts of Baltimore who operated the Salisbury cannery last year, will run it again this season. A member of the firm is now in Salisbury making all necessary arrangements. As in other sections the crop of tomatoes will be short here.

My Hair

"I had a very severe sickness that took off all my hair. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor and it brought all my hair back again."

W. D. Quinn, Marietta, Ill.

One thing is certain, Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. This is because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair and the hair grows, that's all there is to it. It stops falling of the hair, too, and always restores color to gray hair.

ANTICIPATING SMALL-POX.

The State Board of Health Urges the Local Boards to Be in Readiness for a Possible Outbreak.

Following is a letter from the State Board of Health, addressed to the local boards of the State:

The county and town officials should take advice and get themselves in readiness for a possible outbreak.

The letter is as follows:

For the past three years Maryland has been constantly threatened with serious invasion of small-pox. In that time 17 out of the 23 counties of Maryland have been invaded by small-pox. There have been 41 outbreaks, and in 30 instances the disease was confined to the house in which it was first discovered. The exact number of cases which occurred in these 41 outbreaks is not known, but it is known that the eleven instances in which the disease was permitted to spread beyond the house first infected gave rise to more than three fourths the total number. In Baltimore City during the same period the disease has in no instance spread beyond the house first infected.

During the three years there have been in the counties over four times as many cases of small-pox as in the City of Baltimore. One county had seventy odd cases of small-pox in one year against Baltimore's 48 cases in three years. It cannot be said that the State as a whole has done very badly. A few of the county outbreaks have been as well handled as those in Baltimore City. If we should compare our records with those of neighboring states we might plume ourselves on the results of our efforts, but the State has not done as well as is easily possible, nor as well as public safety and business interests demand.

The approaching winter promises a wider prevalence of small-pox in the United States than the country has experienced in thirty years. All the signs point that way, and it is therefore important for all the local boards of health to consider the prospect, make sure of their defenses, and prepare in advance a definite plan of action. After invasion occurs it is not easy to get land for an isolation house, nor to make reasonable contracts for medical attendance, nursing and supplies. Among the local health officers there may be some who have accepted offices believing that during their terms no small-pox would appear. The contract with local officers does not include medical attendance on cases of small-pox, and no local board of health can expect its officers to render such services unless he is fairly paid. The local boards of health have a right however to expect their medical officers to investigate outbreaks of small-pox, and this will include the visiting of infectious cases whenever the matter of diagnosis is in question. There will be no room in Maryland this winter for a local officer who is unwilling to see a case of small-pox. The local boards should come to a definite understanding with their ex-officio officers on these points, vaccine physicians should be instructed to visit the schools on the opening day and vaccinate all who need it. The school boards should be advised that there is urgent need of rigid enforcement of the vaccination law so far as it relates to school children.

To take counsel upon this subject at the present time is but ordinary prudence. To postpone consideration until small-pox appears may mean that you will take counsel of foolish, unreasonable alarm. Yours very truly,
JOHN S. FULTON, Sec'y.

Prohibitionists Nominate.

A small but very enthusiastic gathering of Wicomico Prohibitionists assembled in the Court House last Monday morning to name a local ticket. Mr. John H. Dulany of Trappe presented and Mr. B. N. Brittingham of Pittsburg acted as secretary.

The following ticket was chosen:

For House of Delegates: B. N. Brittingham, Pittsburg District; Jesse B. Travis, Nanticoke District; E. Q. Walton, Parsons District.

County Commissioners: David A. Pryor, Trappe District; A. P. Toadvine, Netter's District; James Elsey, Salisbury District.

County Treasurer: John C. A. Messick, Tysackin District.

Surveyor, George W. Parsons of Parsons District.

Sheriff: John Clark of Delmar District.

The convention then named the candidates and Messrs. W. J. Johnson, U. C. Phillips, Rufus Robinson as a County Campaign Committee.

Mr. John H. Dulany was chosen chairman of the Central Committee for Wicomico County.

CONDUCTOR CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Engineer Swoons as Wheels Roll Over His Comrade.

George W. Coulbourn, formerly of Laurel, freight conductor on the Delaware Railroad, met a horrible death at Clayton, Del., at 9.15 Thursday morning. He had brought his train to a standstill and hurried over to get his orders from the despatcher. Trains were running heavy and late, and the freight lines were simply choked up with work. The trains had to run under close orders, and when Conductor Coulbourn received his instructions, he was reading them so closely that he never noticed a shifter bearing down the track which he was preparing to cross.

Coulbourn stepped on the rails just in time for the engine to dash into him, knocking him headlong up the track where two cars passed over him before a stop could be made. The engineer of the shifter, a friend of Mr. Coulbourn, fell back in a faint as the wheels passed over the body.

The Laurel correspondent to the Evening Star says:

"Several years ago, Mr. Coulbourn, who was devoted to his widowed mother, left the farm for Wilmington, where he obtained employment as a freight brakeman, that he might better support his mother, and was rapidly promoted until he was put in charge of a train. He is the sixth Laurel man to be ground under the wheels of trains while several others have been maimed."

Mr. Coulbourn resided at No. 515 Shearman street, Wilmington. His wife and three children, a boy 4 years old, and two girls, aged 6 and 8 years, respectively, survive him. A son, 9 years old, died a year ago from injuries received by being run over by a car at Brandywine Station.

Dr. Wallis Will go to Cumberland.

Dr. Harry S. Wallis returned this week from Ocean City where he has had charge this season of Truitt's drug store. He will spend the remainder of the month with his mother in Salisbury and September 1st will leave for Cumberland where he has formed a partnership with Dr. E. B. Claybrook, for the practice of medicine and surgery.

Dr. Claybrook is an experienced medical man with an established practice in and about Cumberland. He is a member of the relief department of the Cumberland division of the B. & O. railroad and in this capacity has occasion to do much surgical work among injured railroad employees. This feature appeals strongly to Dr. Wallis who has a natural bent for surgery which he has been able, through the courtesy of the Peninsula General Hospital surgeons, to indulge to some extent since his graduation from the University College of Medicine, of Richmond, Va., last Spring. He did some emergency work at Ocean City this summer, but gave his time chiefly to the drug business.

A Dastardly Deed.

As the result of a cowardly shot fired by an unknown party last Wednesday evening, Mr. Samuel Mumford is lying in bed severely wounded. In company with Clarence Wilson and Randolph Parker, Mumford had gone out to the colored camp, a half mile from Berlin. As they were returning between nine and ten o'clock and when about 100 yards away from the camp, a brick was first thrown at them, striking Parker on the leg. When they turned around to see where it came from, there was a quick flash and instantaneously a .33 calibre bullet struck Mumford on the hip. As soon as the seemingly would-be assassin fired he fled through the woods.

Mumford was carried to Berlin by his companions and his wounds dressed by Dr. C. W. Dirickson. The bullet could not be discovered.

It Was Caused By A Hammock.

The other evening a young lady and her gentleman friend were sitting in a hammock, which was carelessly swung across Mr. ——— porch on Division Street. They were whiling away the time telling of each other's joys and sorrows, and now and then would speak of the happy future. The climax was reached when the young man with just cause and provocation brought on the following catastrophe by a change in his position.

Two in a hammock
Attempted to kiss
In less than a jiffy

—Miss Mamie Brewington of Wharfedale, was the guest of Miss Corn Mitchell this week.

AN ARTISTIC STORE.

Messrs. Harper and Taylor Have Made Great Improvements in their Store—New Fixtures For the Entire Room.

Salisbury can now boast of the finest and most artistic jewelry store on the Peninsula. During the past week carpenters have been busy at the store of Messrs. Harper and Taylor refitting the entire room with new store fixtures that would do credit to most any of the jewelry stores in the large cities. The fixtures are of mahogany and rosewood with French plate glass doors and windows.

Two large display cases are on each side of the store and these are ornamented with mirrors. The heavy plate glass doors are so nicely adjusted that it requires but the slightest pressure to open or close them. The shelving of all four cases is so arranged that it can be adjusted to show to the greatest effect any size or kind of silver or glass ware. On the East side of the store three rosewood show cases are placed upon mahogany tables. These cases are particularly attractive and are the handsomest ever exhibited in Salisbury. Connecting the cases with the front of the store is a very pretty mahogany gate swinging from posts of the same material.

Messrs. Harper and Taylor deserve great credit for having such a handsome establishment, and it is to be hoped that the public will sufficiently appreciate their push and enterprise as to give them the patronage they so much deserve.

Such a store as the above reflects credit not only upon the proprietors but upon the town in which it is located.

The Ocean City House Party.

The annual September house party of Salisburyans at Ocean City will take place this year as usual. There will be about forty persons in the party, the most of whom will leave next Saturday, August 31st. Accommodations have been secured at the Plimlimmon for the first two weeks in September. Manager James will put forth every effort this year to make the outing a great success. The same music that has been at the "Pilm" for the summer will be retained until after the departure of the house party and special entertainments will be given for their enjoyment. These house parties from Salisbury began about six years ago when some nine couples spent two weeks at a private cottage at Ocean City. Since that time they have continued to grow in favor until for the past few years they have "out grown" the cottage and moved to the Plimlimmon, which is considered by many to be the most attractive location on the beach.

Sussex County Farmers Swindled.

A dispatch says: Three sharpers have been reaping a harvest among farmers at Bridgeville, and on last Friday they cheated several of their victims out of considerable money. The game was to sell a bar of soap with a ten-dollar bill wrapped inside for $3. They placed the ten-dollar bills in each package before the farmer's eyes, but when the packages were opened they contained no money.

The first few packages sold for $3 however, contained ten-dollar bills, but it was only a draw on for the poor farmers who went as far as to draw up large checks and have them cashed. Some invested heavily and when the packages were opened they contained nothing but soap.

The sharpers put whip to their team and escaped to Greenwood where they continued business. James Cohen has had a warrant issued for them, he being one of the heavy losers.

Fatal Shooting at Seaford.

A dispatch from Seaford says: Joe Rich colored of Westquinn Md., Thursday evening shot and instantly killed Albert Messick, also colored, of Salisbury, Md. The shooting was the result of a quarrel begun Wednesday over a woman. At the time of the first quarrel Messick cut Rich across the arm, and today after leaving the cannery of Greenbaum Bros., where both were employed, Messick approached Rich with a club and said: "If you don't kill me now, I am going to kill you." Rich shot twice. The second bullet entered the heart causing instant death. Rich fled but later gave himself up to the authorities making the plea of self defense. Rich is held pending the investigation of the coroner's jury. Rich bears the name of a very peaceable darky while Messick has the name of being a very bad man. Messick is a son of Henry Messick of Salisbury.

TOMATO CROP SHORT.

Acres of Peninsula About One Third of Last Year.

Tomato growers and packers agree that this year's crop will be very short. The extreme hot sun killed first and second blossoms, and what fruit is maturing now will come from third blossoming. The lateness of the crop will delay the beginning of the packing season until September, while ordinarily it begins August 15th to 20th. With the season beginning so late the early frosts it is hoped will stay off also. The tomato planting acreage of the peninsula is about one third less than last year, and of consequence many packing houses will not run this season.

The appearances for the pack were so bad that recently the market for stock on hand became very active, and the surplus in the warehouses at various points in the counties has suddenly become depleted, until there is scarcely any stock whatever left on hand. The price has advanced consequently over that of last year.

Tomatoes have gone up in price 30 cents per dozen or 60 cents a case, in the past six weeks, and still on the rise. The benefit inures immensely to those who have not sold, which unfortunately are comparatively few.

Whist at Ocean City.

The second Eastern Shore Whist Tournament of the season was played at the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City, on Thursday last.

The Tournament was arranged by the Snow Hill Whist Club and was participated in by clubs representing Salisbury, Snow Hill and Ocean City, also by two members of the Baltimore Whist Club.

Twenty-four boards were played; the contestants changing boards and opponents on thirteenth board.

The result; North and South scores: Ocean City, 163. Salisbury, 162. Snow Hill, 157.

The contest was close and exciting throughout, causing much interest among card players on the beach.

The teams were as follows: Snow Hill—Mr. J. E. White and Mrs. Marion Hargis; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Spence.

Salisbury—Mr. F. L. Wallis and Miss Irma Graham; Mr. A. F. Benjamin and Mrs. W. B. Miller.

Baltimore Whist Club (Representing Ocean City)—Miss Emily Dougherty and Miss Priscilla Uphur.

Hamilton Club, Phil.; (Representing Ocean City.)—Mrs. Charles Webb and Mrs. Gumbert.

Another tournament may be held tonight (Saturday), the same clubs entering teams. Much to the regret of the other teams, Cambridge was unable to accept the invitation tendered, as representatives could not be sent. Cambridge has won both of the regular tournaments held at Ocean City.

Series of Accidents.

Vincent, the infant son of Mr. John Dennis, while at play had the misfortune to stick a long needle into his bare foot. Drs. Slemons and Morris removed the needle Sunday morning.

Sunday afternoon Joseph, the three year old son of Mr. Joseph Mitchell of Bush street fell from the pump bench in the rear of the house and received severe injuries to his forehead. Drs. Slemons and Morris were summoned who assured the family that the injuries were not serious. Examinations showed that there was no injury to the skull bone. The flesh wound, however, was very painful and the little fellow suffered much.

The nine year old daughter of Mr. George Parker, who resides on Mr. Samuel Gordy's farm near Salisbury broke her arm while at play last Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Morris was summoned and set the fractured member.

Ruth Coulbourn, a little sister of Mr. Jas. H. Coulbourn, of the firm of L. P. & J. H. Coulbourn, was seriously injured last Sunday by being kicked in the abdomen by a horse. She was taken to the Peninsula General Hospital for treatment. The hospital authorities report that she is improving.

Well did the ADVERTISER say last week in its leading editorial, "Consistency thou art a jewel." When Senator George L. Wellington announced himself last year as being in favor of the election of Bryan, and toured the country in his behalf, the Baltimore American, a double-faced paper published in the city of Baltimore, set up a howl that could be heard from Maine to California. This fair minded (?) paper demanded his immediate resignation as a Senator of United States. (happily he did not get it) Now that Senator McLaurin of South Carolina, has left the party of his fathers and joined hands with the Republican party, the American thinks he should remain in the Senate by all means and fight the party that made him what he is. Yes, consistency is a jewel, but it is one of the many jewels the Baltimore American does not possess.

A Successful Banker.

The Baltimore Herald in its issue of Thursday says: "One of the best known business men on the Eastern Shore of Virginia is Otho Lee Parker, cashier of the First National Bank of Onancock. Mr. Parker was made cashier in 1895. The deposits of the bank since he has been cashier have increased over $150,000, or much more than double. When Mr. Parker accepted the cashiership the bank was without a surplus; it now has a surplus, including undivided profits, of $18,000. Last year an additional room was added to the building, making it the handsomest and most commodious banking house on the Eastern Shore."

Mr. Parker was born in Accomac county, April 4, 1864, and was educated in the schools of Onancock and Snow Hill, Md. He was married in 1886 to Miss Nannie Byrd, of Salisbury, Md. Prior to Mr. Parker's connection with the First National Bank he was with the B. C. & A. Ry. Co. for 14 years.

Norris the present proprietor, has purchased the property of Mrs. V. M. Williams, on Washington Street. The work of tearing down the buildings will be begun September 1, and a new hotel, even finer than the Avon, will be erected on the site.

Warning to Swimmers.

A correspondent writes to the New York Sun: "Now that the swimming season is here again, you ought to repeat the warning which was published several years ago that apoplexy, not cramps, is what causes the death of so many strong swimmers who suddenly become helpless when bathing. Wetting the head before the feet is said to prevent the trouble."

A cloud burst visited the upper section of Cecil county on Monday afternoon and did considerable damage. Heavy freshets were caused in Little Elk creek and other streams.

THE CANNED GOODS OUTLOOK.

Prices on Tomatoes and Cans Likely to Be Higher Next Year.

The Wilmington Evening News says: It looks very much as if canned goods—tomatoes and corn in particular—would be higher in price next winter than at present, judging from reports received at a convention of the Tri-State Packers Association, which was held at the Clayton House, Wilmington, this week.

The association is composed of owners and operators of packinghouses in Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey. Heretofore there was a Peninsula Association, which included the packers of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Last month it was decided to form a tri-State association, and organization was effected by electing Owen L. Jones of Salem, N. J., president and C. M. Dashiell of Princess Anne, Md., secretary and treasurer. The association includes the owners and operators of nearly all of the large fruit and vegetable packing houses in the three States mentioned.

The object of the convention was to receive reports concerning the fruit and vegetable crops and discuss prices and plans for the future. The crop reports were not at all encouraging. Owing to the backward spring, the hot summer and wet weather, coupled with the fact that there is an abnormal demand from the west, tomatoes will be scarce, which will most likely make the canned product higher than at present. As to corn, it was reported that the crop is about normal, but there is such a heavy demand from the west that it will not be as plentiful as heretofore and an advance in canned goods will probably result. Nothing definite could be stated as to peaches.

The canneries of this county will start up within the next ten days. The Messrs. Roberts of Baltimore who operated the Salisbury cannery last year, will run it again this season. A member of the firm is now in Salisbury making all necessary arrangements. As in other sections the crop of tomatoes will be short here.

ANTICIPATING SMALL-POX.

The State Board of Health Urges the Local Boards to Be in Readiness for a Possible Outbreak.

Following is a letter from the State Board of Health, addressed to the local boards of the state:

The county and town officials should take advice and get themselves in readiness for a possible outbreak.

The letter is as follows:

For the past three years Maryland has been constantly threatened with serious invasion of small-pox. In that time 17 out of the 23 counties of Maryland have been invaded by small-pox. There have been 41 outbreaks, and in 30 instances the disease was confined to the house in which it was first discovered. The exact number of cases which occurred in these 41 outbreaks is not known, but it is known that the eleven instances in which the disease was permitted to spread beyond the house first infected gave rise to more than three fourths the total number. In Baltimore City during the same period the disease has in no instance spread beyond the house first infected.

During the three years there have been in the counties over four times as many cases of small-pox as in the City of Baltimore. One county had seventy odd cases of small-pox in one year against Baltimore's 48 cases in three years. It cannot be said that the State as a whole has done very badly. A few of the county outbreaks have been as well handled as those in Baltimore City. If we should compare our records with those of neighboring states we might plume ourselves on the results of our efforts, but the State has not done as well as is easily possible, nor as well as public safety and business interests demand.

The approaching winter promises a wider prevalence of small-pox in the United States than the country has experienced in thirty years. All the signs point that way, and it is therefore important for all the local boards of health to consider the prospect, make sure of their defenses, and prepare in advance a definite plan of action. After invasion occurs it is not easy to get land for an isolation house, nor to make reasonable contracts for medical attendance, nursing and supplies. Among the local health officers there may be some who have accepted offices believing that during their terms no small-pox would appear. The contract with local officers does not include medical attendance on cases of small-pox, and no local board of health can expect its officers to render such services unless he is fairly paid. The local boards of health have a right however to expect their medical officers to investigate outbreaks of small-pox, and this will include the visiting of infectious cases whenever the matter of diagnosis is in question. There will be no room in Maryland this winter for a local officer who is unwilling to see a case of small-pox. The local boards should come to a definite understanding with their executive officers on these points, vaccine physicians should be instructed to visit the schools on the opening day and vaccinate all who need it. The school boards should be advised that there is urgent need of rigid enforcement of the vaccination law so far as it relates to school children.

To take counsel upon this subject at the present time is but ordinary prudence. To postpone consideration until small-pox appears may mean that you will take counsel of foolish, unreasoning alarm. Yours very truly,

JOHN S. FULTON, Sec'y.

Prohibitionists Nominate.

A small but very enthusiastic gathering of Wicomico Prohibitionists assembled in the Court House last Monday morning to name a local ticket. Mr. John H. Dulany of Trappe presided and Mr. B. N. Brittingham of Pittsburg acted as secretary.

The following ticket was chosen: For House of Delegates: B. N. Brittingham, Pittsburg District; Jesse R. Travis, Nantuxee District; E. Q. Watson, Parsons District.

County Commissioners: David A. Pryor, Trappe District; A. P. Toadyvine, Nutter's District; James Elsey, Salisbury District.

County Treasurer: John C. A. Messick, Tysack District.

Surveyor, George W. Parsons of Parsons District.

Sheriff: John Clark of Delmar District.

The convention then named the candidates and Messrs. W. J. Johnson, U. C. Phillips, Rufus Robinson as a County Campaign Committee.

Mr. John H. Dulany was chosen chairman of the Central Committee for Wicomico County.

CONDUCTOR CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Engineer Swoons as Wheels Roll Over His Comrade.

George W. Coulbourn, formerly of Laurel, freight conductor on the Delaware Railroad, met a horrible death at Clayton, Del., at 9.15 Thursday morning. He had brought his train to a standstill and hurried over to get his orders from the despatcher. Trains were running heavy and late, and the freight lines were simply choked up with work. The trains had to run under close orders, and when Conductor Coulbourn received his instructions, he was reading them so closely that he never noticed a shifter bearing down the track which he was preparing to cross.

Coulbourn stepped on the rails just in time for the engine to dash into him, knocking him headlong up the track where two cars passed over him before a stop could be made. The engineer of the shifter, a friend of Mr. Coulbourn, fell back in a faint as the wheels passed over the body.

The Laurel correspondent to the Every Evening says:

"Several years ago, Mr. Coulbourn, who was devoted to his widowed mother, left the farm for Wilmington, where he obtained employment as a freight brakeman, that he might better support his mother, and was rapidly promoted until he was put in charge of a train. He is the sixth Laurel man to be ground under the wheels of trains while several others have been maimed."

Mr. Coulbourn resided at No. 515 Shearman street, Wilmington. His wife and three children, a boy 4 years old, and two girls, aged 6 and 8 years, respectively, survive him. A son, 9 years old, died a year ago from injuries received by being run over by a car at Brandywine Station.

Dr. Wallis Will go to Cumberland.

Dr. Harry S. Wallis returned this week from Ocean City where he has had charge this season of Truitt's drug store. He will spend the remainder of the month with his mother in Salisbury and September 1st will leave for Cumberland where he has formed a partnership with Dr. E. B. Claybrook, for the practice of medicine and surgery.

Dr. Claybrook is an experienced medical man with an established practice in and about Cumberland. He is a member of the relief department of the Cumberland division of the B. & O. railroad and in this capacity has occasion to do much surgical work among injured railroad employees. This feature appeals strongly to Dr. Wallis who has a natural bent for surgery which he has been able, through the courtesy of the Peninsula General Hospital surgeons, to indulge to some extent since his graduation from the University College of Medicine, of Richmond, Va., last Spring. He did some emergency work at Ocean City this summer, but gave his time chiefly to the drug business.

A Dastardly Deed.

As the result of a cowardly shot fired by an unknown party last Wednesday evening, Mr. Samuel Mumford is lying in bed severely wounded. In company with Clarence Wilson and Randolph Parker, Mumford had gone out to the colored camp, a half mile from Berlin. As they were returning between nine and ten o'clock and when about 100 yards away from the camp, a brick was first thrown at them, striking Parker on the leg. When they turned around to see where it came from, there was a quick flash and instantaneously a .22 calibre bullet struck Mumford on the hip. As soon as the seemingly would-be assassin fired he fled through the woods.

Mumford was carried to Berlin by his companions and his wounds dressed by Dr. C. W. Dirickson. The bullet could not be discovered.

It Was Caused By A Hammock.

The other evening a young lady and her gentleman friend were sitting in a hammock, which was carelessly swung across Mr. ——— porch on Division Street. They were whiling away the time telling of each other's joys and sorrows, and now and then would speak of the happy future. The climax was reached when the young man with just cause and provocation brought on the following catastrophe by a change in his position.

Two in a hammock attempted to kiss, in less than a jiffy found themselves in bed.

—Miss Mamie Brewington of Whyan, was the guest of Miss Cora Mitchell this week.

AN ARTISTIC STORE.

Messrs. Harper and Taylor Have Made Great Improvements in their Store—New Fixtures For the Entire Room.

Salisbury can now boast of the finest and most artistic jewelry store on the Peninsula. During the past week carpenters have been busy at the store of Messrs. Harper and Taylor refitting the entire room with new store fixtures that would do credit to most any of the jewelry stores in the large cities. The fixtures are of mahogany and rosewood with French plate glass doors and windows.

Two large display cases are on each side of the store and these are ornamented with mirrors. The heavy plate glass doors are so nicely adjusted that it requires but the slightest pressure to open or close them. The shelving of all four cases is so arranged that it can be adjusted to show to the greatest effect any size or kind of silver or glass ware. On the East side of the store three rosewood show cases are placed upon mahogany tables. These cases are particularly attractive and are the handsomest ever exhibited in Salisbury. Connecting the cases with the front of the store is a very pretty mahogany gate swinging from posts of the same material.

Messrs. Harper and Taylor deserve great credit for having such a handsome establishment, and it is to be hoped that the public will sufficiently appreciate their push and enterprise as to give them the patronage they so much deserve.

Such a store as the above reflects credit not only upon the proprietors but upon the town in which it is located.

The Ocean City House Party.

The annual September house party of Salisburyans at Ocean City will take place this year as usual. There will be about forty persons in the party, the most of whom will leave next Saturday, August 31st. Accommodations have been secured at the Plimlimmon for the first two weeks in September. Manager Ijams will put forth every effort this year to make the outing a great success. The same music that has been at the "Plim" for the summer will be retained until after the departure of the house party and special entertainments will be given for their enjoyment. These house parties from Salisbury began about six years ago when some nine couples spent two weeks at a private cottage at Ocean City. Since that time they have continued to grow in favor until for the past few years they have "out grown" the cottage and moved to the Plimlimmon, which is considered by many to be the most attractive location on the beach.

Sussex County Farmers Swindled.

A dispatch says: Three sharpers have been reaping a harvest among farmers at Bridgeville, and on last Friday they cheated several of their victims out of considerable money. The game was to sell a bar of soap with a ten-dollar bill wrapped inside for $2. They placed the ten-dollar bills in each package before the farmer's eyes, but when the packages were opened they contained no money.

The first few packages sold for $2 however, contained ten-dollar bills, but it was only a draw on for the poor farmers who went as far as to draw up large checks and have them cashed. Some invested heavily and when the packages were opened they contained nothing but soap.

The sharpers put whip to their team and escaped to Greenwood where they continued business. James Cohen has had a warrant issued for them, he being one of the heavy losers.

Fatal Shooting at Seaford.

A dispatch from Seaford says: Joe Rich colored of Westpenn Md., Thursday evening shot and instantly killed Albert Messick, also colored, of Salisbury, Md. The shooting was the result of a quarrel begun Wednesday over a woman. At the time of the first quarrel Messick cut Rich across the arm, and today after leaving the cannery of Greenbaum Bros., where both were employed, Messick approached Rich with a club and said: "If you don't kill me now, I am going to kill you." Rich shot twice. The second bullet entered the heart causing instant death. Rich fled but later gave himself up to the authorities making the plea of self defense. Rich is held pending the investigation of the coroner's jury. Rich bears the name of a very peaceable darky while Messick has the name of being a very bad man.

Messick is a son of Henry Messick of Salisbury.

TOMATO CROP SHORT.

Acresage of Peninsula About One Third of Last Year.

Tomato growers and packers agree that this year's crop will be very short. The extreme hot suns killed first and second blossoms, and what fruit is maturing now will come from third blossoming. The lateness of the crop will delay the beginning of the packing season until September, while ordinarily it begins August 15th to 20th. With the season beginning so late the early frosts it is hoped will stay off also. The tomato planting acresage of the peninsula is about one third less than last year, and of consequence many packing houses will not run this season.

The appearances for the pack were so bad that recently the market for stock on hand became very active, and the surplus in the warehouses at various points in the counties has suddenly become depleted, until there is scarcely any stock whatever left on hand. The price has advanced consequently over that of last year.

Tomatoes have gone up in price 30 cents per dozen or 60 cents a case, in the past six weeks, and still on the rise. The benefit inures immensely to those who have not sold, which unfortunately are comparatively few.

Whist at Ocean City.

The second Eastern Shore Whist Tournament of the season was played at the Atlantic Hotel, Ocean City, on Thursday last.

The Tournament was arranged by the Snow Hill Whist Club and was participated in by clubs representing Salisbury, Snow Hill and Ocean City, also by two members of the Baltimore Whist Club.

Twenty-four boards were played; the contestants changing boards and opponents on thirteenth board.

The result: North and South scores: Ocean City, 163, Salisbury, 162, Snow Hill, 157.

The contest was close and exciting throughout, causing much interest among card players on the beach.

The teams were as follows: Snow Hill—Mr. J. E. White and Mrs. Marion Hargis; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Spence.

Salisbury—Mr. F. L. Wallis and Miss Irma Graham; Mr. A. F. Benjamin and Mrs. W. B. Miller.

Baltimore Whist Club (Representing Ocean City)—Miss Emily Dougherty and Miss Priscilla Uphur.

Hamilton Club, Phil.; (Representing Ocean City.)—Mrs. Charles Webb and Mrs. Gumbert.

Another tournament may be held tonight (Saturday), the same clubs entering teams. Much to the regret of the other teams, Cambridge was unable to accept the invitation tendered, as representatives could not be sent.

Cambridge has won both of the regular tournaments held at Ocean City.

Series of Accidents.

Vincent, the infant son of Mr. John Dennis, while at play had the misfortune to stick a long needle into his bare foot. Drs. Slemons and Morris removed the needle Sunday morning.

Sunday afternoon Joseph, the three year old son of Mr. Joseph Mitchell of Bush street fell from the pump bench in the rear of the house and received severe injuries to his forehead. Drs. Slemons and Morris were summoned who assured the family that the injuries were not serious. Examinations showed that there was no injury to the skull bone. The flesh wound, however, was very painful and the little fellow suffered much.

The nine year old daughter of Mr. George Parker, who resides on Mr. Samuel Gordy's farm near Salisbury broke her arm while at play last Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Morris was summoned and set the fractured member.

Ruth Coulbourn, a little sister of Mr. Jas. H. Coulbourn, of the firm of L. P. & J. H. Coulbourn, was seriously injured last Sunday by being kicked in the abdomen by a horse. She was taken to the Peninsula General Hospital for treatment. The hospital authorities report that she is improving.

Mr. Ellwood Arraigns Both Parties for Bribery.

Messrs. Editors:—Passing by the incidental "honors" stored up in the political warehouses to be dealt out to the highest bidder, to campaign purposes and the essential honor that may be inherent in every one, my friend G. R. C., and I see eye to eye as to the political abomination of vote buying, of which he speaks thus: "The most depraved thing a man can do is to barter away that one spark of manhood and forever place upon his brow the sentence 'I am a purchasable voter.'" And then adds: "But what shall we say of the man who buys? His name is nauseating and his very presence a stench to the nostrils of all honorable men." Wonder how many vote buyers in Wicomico county ever gag or hold their fingers to their olfactory organ?

Nauseating smells are the product of putrefaction and corruption. When this is the condition around our homes we try to remove the cause and then apply disinfectants. But a refined sense of smell may become so gross that meals can be enjoyed amidst offensive odors. So it seems that the stench of political corruption and putrefaction becomes attractive to the corrupt politician. It is a sweet smelling savor as it rises from the spoilsman's censor—the office. Yes, You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will, But the scent of the spoils will hang round it still.

These artful ones rarely remove the cause of the putrid scent, but they scatter around some legislative disinfectants called election laws, and then proceed in a quiet, secret way to heap up the putrefied matter. For instance in 1896 the republican party got control of the executive and legislative departments of the state government, under the false pretense of cleansing out political corruption. In 1896 this party passed an election law, which, from its loud boasts, might have been entitled a "Purification Act". This party still claims that it brought about honest elections, yet everyone knows that there has never been an election in which vote buying has not been in open and flagrant violation of this statute. At the very first election in 1896, the democrats being "out of funds", made a virtue of necessity and for the time became honest, but not so the republicans, who continued the bunco game of bribery; boasting that they had the governor to pardon them if convicted. In 1897 the democrats fell back on the old tactics of "fighting the devil with fire". But his majesty was on the side of the heaviest guns; at any rate he furnished more "fire" to the republicans, and the victory was again theirs. After which the legislative smell in the house of delegates became so rank, penetrating and diffused throughout the state, that the independent element of both parties became disgusted and voted a change at the congressional election in 1898. In 1899 the democrats again got control of the whole state government and are now on trial. Without discussing the need or wisdom of the "extra session" it must be admitted that the election law passed at that session can be made much more efficient in preventing bribery than any law ever yet enacted in this state. If there be a disposition on the part of the republicans to observe it, or a disposition on the part of the democrats either to observe or enforce it. It is useless to deny the plain fact that while it is the duty of the republicans to keep this law, it is the official duty of democrats to execute it, as well as keep it. The more so since it is a statute for which that party alone is responsible; which is as much a part of its platform as though adopted in a party convention. Yet we have been refreshingly and frankly told that the democratic party, in Wicomico at least, does not intend to keep it nor enforce it; too weak to do the one, and too corrupt to do the other. If this be correct what claim above the republican party can it have upon the confidence of the voters. But we are told as a reason for this deplorable condition that it can't be stopped, because Governors, Congressmen, Judges, Legislators and county officers, are guilty, some directly, others indirectly, of vote buying; and that candidates must be nominated "who will pull through the ticket", not with a physical nor moral or intellectual pull, but with a financial "pull". We are unreservedly informed that it would be useless to expect jurors to convict when they have had a piece of the stolen pie, that it would be grossly inconsistent for a judge to sentence one to the penitentiary whom he had aided or abetted in bribegiving; or for a governor not to pardon a convict with whom he has a fellow feeling. What is the cause of this condition? Without going into the profundities of the doctrine of ethics, the near cause is two-fold. First the politicians pass laws under the pretense of stopping bribery, with no intention of executing the law; next they nominate candidates who have the money and the conscience to use it, for the violation of the statute; then the candidates and their friends start the bugaboo of party loyalty to frighten the souls of the timid.

Partisanship is not a virtue above citizenship. There is no republicanism in corruption or dishonesty, in bribery, and every voter's highest duty is to his convictions. The "paramount issue," in Wicomico at least, is not prohibition nor license; not the gold or silver standard, nor tariff, nor free trade, nor imperialism, nor state rights; not whether the "constitution ought to follow the flag into all the tough resorts on the Pacific coast, or whether the flag is too lively for the constitution to follow;" to quote from Mr. Dooley. It is whether we intend to have the laws enforced, to have a pure ballot and honest election; for underlying and decisive of every issue is the vote of the people, and so long as it remains purchasable, it can be bought for the wrong side of a question oftener than for the right side.

Likes my friend G. R. C., I have no desire to "offend any one" for there is neither pleasure nor profit in that. Nor do I hope to entertain, but with sincere desire to see an agitation of the public mind against bribery, an awakening of the public conscience to the disgraceful crime, and an arousing of the people to the imminent danger of letting the rich, or the corrupt control our politics, for therein lies the control of the church and the state, with all that is involved.

Deadly Fever Mosquitoes.

New York, Aug. 20.—A cablegram from Havana to the New York Journal says:

"Two deaths from yellow fever and another probably fatal attack are the total result to date of the experiments by the United States authorities with the disease infected mosquitoes, Antonio Carro and Cumerindo Campo were intimate friends. Both were from Spain. A month ago they decided to emigrate to the New World. Campo brought his bride with him. Carro left a widowed mother, whose sole support he was. Work was scarce in Cuba. Campo and Carro were offered positions at Las Animas, the yellow fever hospital of Havana, at $15 a month. This was a month ago. Three weeks ago the yellow fever epidemic at Santiago de las Vegas, a suburb of Havana, was at its height.

"Here was an excellent opportunity of proving the theory that pest Dr. Laxer has his life, that yellow fever is transmissible by the mosquito. Eleven mosquitoes were fed on yellow fever patients for 10 days. They were then brought to Havana. Carro and Campo, who were desirous of becoming immune, voluntarily submitted themselves to be bitten.

"Each was bitten four times. The first symptoms showed on Thursday, August 15. Sunday morning Carro had died. Now Campo is dead, and an American nurse who has been at the hospital for two years is also dying. In a spirit of mischief the nurse thrust her hand into the gauze trap that held the mosquitoes, and was accidentally bitten.

"The Government will give the widowed mother of Carro $300. The bride of Campo is to have $200 in cash and a permanent position."

Birds Plentiful at Ocean City.

A special from Ocean City says: The season is now at its height. All the hotels and boarding houses have a full complement of visitors. Engagements for September indicate that the next month will be equally prosperous. The chief characteristic of this seaside resort is the free-and-easy sociable life which all enjoy. Everybody has a good time and the visitors contribute to each other's enjoyment in truly hospitable ways. The Golf and Country Club is one of the main attractions, and a series of tournaments has been held over its golf course. A number of cups have been offered and won after most exciting contests.

Mr. William E. Bell, excursion agent for the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, says there are many more beach birds this season than last. He predicts plenty of fine gunning for the next few months. The birds are more abundant along the Sinepuxent and may be found in large flocks down its shores to the mouth. The hunting season is now opening, and there will probably be an influx of sportsmen in the next three weeks. Ample preparations are being made to entertain the gunners on the trips at Ocean City.

MARKET REPORT.

Corn, Wheat, Oats, and Rye quotations in Salisbury Market.

The Daily Progress Report for Thursday furnished by the Stevens Brothers, of 220 S. Charles St., says:

In Maryland and Delaware frequent rains interfered with thrashing of wheat; corn in splendid condition.

In Virginia corn is very promising; fall following nearing completion in some sections.

WHEAT.—Receipts for today 158,223 bus. The market for southern today was easier at the opening with receipts light and demand rather indifferent for the general run of offerings. Cargoes and bag parcels, brought 55, 55, 58, 70, 72, 75, 75 and 78 cents, the latter for prime to millers.

CORN.—Receipts for today, 8,890 bus. There were no receipts of southern corn today, consequently we have to report a quiet and entirely nominal market at 55 cents for prime lots of white and yellow alfalfa. Demand was fair for prime corn of both colors today. Old Corn firm at $3.20 to $3.25 per bbl. for carloads prime yellow on spot, but the business passing in this commodity now is mostly of a jobbing character.

OATS.—Receipts for today, 23,416 bus. On a basis of subjoined quotations the market for oats appears fairly steady, but as there has been a pretty free buying for some days past, the demand, at the moment, is less urgent. On account of the comparative scarcity of mixed oats, this variety is relatively firm as quoted. Prices range 40 to 40 1/2 cents.

RYE.—Prices firm on good grades. Quotations range 53 to 57 cents.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures all wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty cents a bottle.

Netleton's Remedy for Rheumatism

Within the past half year, when Netleton's Remedy for Rheumatism was brought to public attention in this section, the sales have doubled almost every month. The fact that in not one case in a thousand it is necessary to refund the money, which is always done wherever Netleton's Remedy fails to cure, gives people who suffer with Rheumatism and kindred ills a confidence in this great medicine which has induced thousands to try it, and find the relief it will surely give.

BEWARE OF SMALL POX.

The State Board of Health has this week issued a circular letter to all the local Boards in the counties of Maryland, urging them to be prepared for a possible outbreak of small pox this fall and winter. The letter is published in this issue of the ADVERTISER and we hope our local Board of Health will give it heed.

As was editorially recited in last week's ADVERTISER an outbreak of small pox in Wicomico this winter is not an improbability. Indeed some cases in our midst may reasonably be looked for as a natural consequence of the likely existence of small pox germs in the homes and effects of some of last Spring's victims. Our health officials, aided by the City Council, County Commissioners and a volunteer citizen's organization, met the conditions last Spring in such a thorough and effective way as to merit the hearty endorsement of the State Board of Health, but neighboring communities were not so thorough in their treatment of the infection, and it is almost certain that the disease will reappear in some places not too far distant to be readily re-introduced into our county and the town of Salisbury.

Numbers of our colored citizens are at work most of the year in the large packing houses of Seaford and other towns where there is a polyglot population, some unwashed and filthy.

In close contact with these our colored citizens are liable to get the disease, without suspecting that they are in danger and innocently bring it home with them when visiting their families. This is the greatest source of danger. It would be wise for our town and county to begin now to forestall the danger by a system of inspection and restriction.

TALBOT REPUBLICAN BOLT.

The Talbot County Times, one of the staunch Republican papers of the Eastern shore, has come out to opposition to the ticket made out by the Republican boss in Talbot. The Times says:

"A few of the men named are respectable and well qualified, while others are notoriously unfit, morally, and incompetent, mentally, to conduct the offices to which they aspire. The method by which they were all nominated is an insult to and an outrage upon the decent element of the Republican party, and should be rebuked by them at the polls in November."

"The campaign of the Republicans will be made largely on the 'bossism' of Mr. Gorman 'but how they can raise that cry while supporting the present ticket, we fail to see. The ex-Senator, in his palmy days, gave no such reckless exhibition of his power."

"For reasons which are well known, the friends of Colonel Mullikin will generally support the nominee for Sheriff. If he accepts the nomination. But, in our opinion, and we voice the sentiment of hundreds of Republicans in all parts of the county—every effort should be made to send into political oblivion on November 6 every other man on the ticket. The time is at hand for decisive action."

"Even before the convention adjourned mutterings of discontent were heard, and since then scores of lifelong Republicans have been heard to declare that they will vote the Democratic ticket, if nothing better is offered. Nearly every one of them advocates an independent ticket and the matter is moving serious consideration."

"Again, in closing we advise every Republican who has the present and future good of the party at heart to use his utmost endeavors to rebuke the party wreckers, who have fastened themselves like leeches to the grand old party, and are sucking her life-blood away."

DR. HERING'S OPPONENT.

The following card appeared in the Baltimore American of last Saturday:

A CARD.

To the editor of the American: The question asked by the Republicans is: "Who is Mr. Platt, nominated by Senator McComas for State Comptroller on the Republican ticket?" Why, Mr. Platt is the Senator's kinsman by marriage. Has he been a loyal helpful Republican? The most prominent feature of his Republican career was his denunciation of Mr. Malster as unfit for Mayor, which was his contribution to the Hayes campaign. What are his attractions as a candidate and vote getter? About the same as the attractions of a North Pole iceberg when the sun, moon and aurora borealis are on their vacation.

Considering the deplorable condition of the Republican party in this city and a part of the state, at least (Dorchester county especially, where the chairman of the State Central Committee resides) a less hefty and more attractive man should have been presented to the Republicans for their support than Mr. Platt. However, "Love me, love my dog" is a sentiment that animates all the junior Senator's actions, and Mr. Platt being a relative of his, should thoroughly satisfy us and make us humbly thankful. The day for "cut and dried" nominations, however, is over for very many years to come, God willing, with nothing to commend them but the favor of the prevailing "boss," and decent Republicans will resist this attempt to revive it this fall or sink their manhood.

Baltimore, August 8th, 1901. B.

The public has had, through the columns of the ADVERTISER, both sides of the controversy between the friends of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Protestant Church of Hebron, and it is certain that in the public's eye the dispute appears very unseemly. It is to be hoped that spirit of Christian-fellowship will be permitted to take the place of unbrotherly strife and past differences be forgiven and forgotten.

Brother Haddaway's paper, the Eastern Ledger, advises its readers to "Vote the Democratic Ticket all through; it is whiter than the driven snow."

The Reed Birds.

With the approach of September the July reed birds, migrating from the Jersey and Delaware marshes to the rice fields of the Mississippi, will tarry briefly on the flats of the Wicomico where the wild oats crop is especially fine this season.

While indulging his gluttonous appetite on this succulent aliment during his short "stop over" Mr. Walter B. Miller and Dr. L. S. Bell, our two local sportsmen, and possibly a few invited city friends, will plan surprises with a view to inducing as large a number as possible of the reed bird family to make Salisbury their final abiding place.

Mr. Miller has just received a gunning skiff which he had built in Bridgeport, N. J., for the express purpose of hunting the reed bird and the water rail on the flat of the Wicomico river. Mr. Miller says reed birds are never very numerous on our flats because of the scarcity of the food they like best, but that the water oats are a choice morsel to the discriminating palate of the rail, which is by far the larger and more desirable game bird, and in consequence he is found in appreciable numbers during the early autumn feeding on the river oats crop.

What You Don't Say Won't Hurt You.

It is related that a parrot and dog being brought together in a room, the parrot for the fun of the thing said to the dog, "sic him," the result being that the dog, seeing nothing else to attack, went for the parrot, which lost a good share of its tail feathers before it escaped to its perch. It is related that the parrot, after inspecting damages, said to himself, "Poll, you talk too much." This is a good story for all our readers to remember.

To the person in Wicomico County who brings us the best matured and largest twenty (20) ears of corn grown by them in this county, before the first day of December next, we will give five dollars ($5) in gold. Now lets hear from our farmers.

"STICKY WEATHER"

aptly describes these hot days, when comfort is out of the question. ILL FITTING CLOTHES MAKES MATTERS WORSE.

The nearest thing to comfort is one of our correctly tailored suits made up in the fashionable loose style with one of our "Lion Brand" negligee shirts and straw hats.

WE GUARANTEE TO FIT YOU.

A very cool part of clothes is the fit. How "hot" it makes you, your blood actually boils and you sometimes say wicked words when you know your clothes don't fit. We make to fit and they must fit or we will not dare sell them to you.

Another cool part is the wear. How "hot" you become if you have to repair them. You indeed say blessed words about the clothes you bought from and I vouch a blessing upon your own head if you ever buy from him again.

YOUR MONEY BACK HERE IF ANYTHING GOES WRONG.

Come in and be fitted up for this "sizzling" weather. We study your comfort, hence we are sure we have what you need.

NERVE, ENERGY AND EYE GLASSES

A constant dripping wears away a stone. A slight eyes' ailment injures the health because it is constant. The strain which just manifests itself as a slight discomfort should be remedied at once. This we guarantee to do with glasses.

They Banked on Him.

They were a sad and puzzled lot. They sat around the big table in the directors room at the bank, and thought and thought and thought. A trusted cashier, one who had been in the employ of the bank from boyhood who had grown up from messenger boy, when the bank had but little money, to be its cashier, when it now had millions on deposit, had quietly closed up the safe the night before, had drawn a red line at the bottom of the page where he struck a balance, had bought a ticket to Canada, and had left with a tall slim, fascinating blond on the last train. The directors, who had never before made any examinations of the books in all the 35 years of the bank's career, had just completed a trial balance, and consternation was on every face. They knew not which way to turn—for they had found every cent accounted for, no shortage, no crookedness, no deceit, no false entries, and the old gray haired president rose up, and in a voice choked for the want of a drink, he said: "I am amazed to find that our cashier is honest. How can we bring our bank prominently before the community unless our cashier robs us? Let us wire him at Montreal to stay away with that tall, slim, fascinating blond wife of his for another month and we will raise his salary $500 a month from now on so he can out a splurge and excite suspicion, anyway. Not all bank cashiers are honest—once in a great while you'll find a rogue—made so by the carelessness of the bank officials. Not all clothing men are straight—most of 'em are—and when Lacy Thoroughgood says that not one of them shows such values in Men's Suits at $10.00 and Hats at $2.00, as Thoroughgood does he means it. When another clothier says he can do better by you than Thoroughgood will he means it—but 'HE's a careless fellow' for he hasn't found out—Lacy Thoroughgood is selling some swell suits at $12.50 that are swell enough to create distrust in the minds of bank directors when the cashier gets in 'em."

Talmage

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage extols home as a field of usefulness, and especially encourages wives and mothers; text, Genesis 1, 27, "Male and female created he them."

In other words, God, who can make no mistake, made man and woman for a specific work and to move in particular spheres—man to be regnant in his realm, woman to be dominant in hers. The boundary line between Italy and Switzerland, between England and Scotland, is not more thoroughly marked than this distinction between the empire masculine and the empire feminine. So entirely dissimilar are the fields to which God called them that you can no more compare them than you can oxygen and hydrogen, water and grass, trees and stars. All this talk about the superiority of one sex to the other is an overrating of waste of ink and speech. A Jew may have a scale so delicate that he can weigh the dust of diamonds, but where are the scales so delicate that you can weigh in them affection, sentiment, and sentiment, thought, and thought, soul against soul, a man's word against a woman's word?

You come out with your stereotyped remark that man is superior to woman in intellect, and then I open up my desk the swarthy, iron-tipped, thunderbolted writings of Harriet Martineau and Elizabeth Browning and George Eliot. You come on with your stereotyped remark about woman's superiority to man in the item of affection, but I ask you where was the more capacity to love than John the disciple, and Robert McChesney, the Scotchman, and John Sumner, the Methodist, and Henry Martyn, the missionary? The heart of those men was so large that after you had rolled left the hemispheres there was room still left to marshal the hosts of heaven and set up the throne of the eternal Jehovah. I deny to man the throne affectional. No human phraseology will ever define the spheres while there is an intuition by which we know when a man is in his realm and when a woman is in her realm and when either of them is out of it. No bungling legislature ought to attempt to make a definition or to say, "This is the line, and that is the line."

My theory is that if woman wants to vote she ought to vote and that if a man wants to embroider and keep house he ought to be allowed to embroider and keep house. There are masculine women, and there are effeminate men. My theory is that you have no right to interfere with any one's doing anything that is righteous. Albany and Washington might as well decree by legislation how high a brown thrasher should fly or how deep a trout should plunge as to try to seek out the height or the depth of woman's duty. The question of capacity will settle finally the whole question, the whole subject. When a woman is prepared to preach, she will preach, and neither conference nor presbytery can hinder her. When a woman is prepared to move in the highest commercial spheres, she will have great influence on the exchange, and no board of trade can hinder her. I want woman to understand that heart and brain can overflow any barrier that politicians may set up and that nothing can keep her back or keep her down but the question of capacity.

Woman's Best Rights.

I know there are women of most undesirable nature who wander up and down the country, having no homes of their own or forsaking their own homes, talking about their rights, and we know very well that they themselves are fit neither to vote nor sit to keep house. Their mission seems to be to humiliate the two sexes at the thought of what any one of us might become. No one would want to live under the laws that such women would enact, or to have cast upon society the children that such women would raise. But I will show you that the best rights that woman can own she already has in her possession; that her position in this country at this time is not one of commiseration, but one of congratulation; that the grandeur and power of her realm have never yet been appreciated; that she sits upon a throne so high that all the thrones of earth piled on top of each other would not make for her a footstool. Here is the platform on which she stands. Away down below it are the ballot box and the congressional assemblage and the legislative hall.

Appreciation of Her Rights.

Woman always has voted and always will vote. Our great-grandfathers thought they were by their votes putting Washington into the presidential chair. No, his mother, by the principles she taught him and by the habits she inculcated, made him president. It was a Christian mother's hand dropping the ballot when Lord Bacon wrote, and Newton philosophized, and Alfred the Great governed, and Jonathan Edwards thundered of judgment to come. How many men there have been in high political station who would have been insufficient to stand the test to which their moral principle was put had it not been for a wife's voice that encouraged them to do right and a wife's prayer that sounded louder than the clamor of partisanship! Why, my friends, the right of suffrage, as we mean exercise it, seems to be a female thing. You, a Christian man, come up to the ballot box, and you drop your vote. Right after you comes a libertine or a sot, the offspring of the street, and he drops his vote, and his vote counts. But if in the quiet of home life a daughter by her Christian demeanor, a wife by her industry, a mother by her faithfulness, casts a vote in the right direction, then nothing can resist it, and the influence of that vote will thrill through the eternities.

My chief anxiety, then, is not that woman have other rights accorded her, but that she by the grace of God keep up to the responsibilities of the sphere rights she already possesses. I shall only have time to speak of one grand and all absorbing right that every woman has, and that is to make home happy. This right no one has ever disputed with her. Men may come home at noon or at night, and they carry a comparatively little while, but she all day long governs it, beautifies it, sanctifies it. It is within her power to make it the most attractive place on earth. It is the only calm harbor. This world, you know as well as I do, that this outside world and the business world is a long scene of hostile and ungodly. The man who has a dollar struggles to keep it; the man who has it not struggles to get it. Prices are down. Lumber, grain, misrepresentation. Gouging. Undermining. Buyers depreciating; salesmen exaggerating. Tenants seeking less rent; landlords demanding more. Gold fever. Struggles about office. Men who are in a hurry to keep in men out trying to get in. Slips. Tumbles. Defalcations. Panics. Catastrophes. O woman, thank God you have a home, and that you may be queen in it. Better be there than wear a queen's coronet. Better be there than carry the purse of a princess. You alone may be humble, but you can be your father in God and your cheerfulness of demeanor give it with splendor such as an upholsterer's hand never yet kindled.

There are abodes in the high-dumb, two stories, four plain, unpurposed rooms; undesirable neighborhood, and yet there is a man here today who would die on the threshold rather than surrender it. Why? It is home. Whenever he thinks of it he sees angels of God hovering around it. The ladders of heaven are let down to this house. Over the child's rough crib there are the hangings of angels, as those that sounded over Bethlehem. It is here that children run come up after awhile, and they may win high position, and they may have an affluent residence, but they will not until their dying day forget that humble roof under which their father reared and their mother sang and their sisters played. Oh, if you would gather up all tender memories, all the lights and shades of the heart, all banquets and reunions, all filial, fraternal, paternal and conjugal affections, and you had only just four letters to spell out that height and depth and length and breadth and magnitude of eternity of memory, you would, with streaming eyes and trembling voice and agitated

DELMAR

Quite a number of Delmar folks are spending this month of August at a house party in Tarry-a-while Cottage at Ocean City. Among those there this week are: Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Vasey, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Frazier, Misses Ida Trader, Lulu Barker, Maude Nelson, Hettie Renninger, Elsie Nichols of Wilmington, Fannie Freeny and sister, George and Helen Barr. On Saturday a number of young men went down for a few days, among them were: Messrs. J. Leslie Barker, Sam'l N. Culver, Herbert Sipple, Sanford Toadvine, Vernon Hastings, A. Harlan Elliott, L. Allie Nelson and others. Dr. Arthur Hitchens of Philadelphia and sister Miss Lelliah Hitchens, who has recently returned from Porto Rico where she was employed as a teacher, visiting friends in Delmar, spent part of last week with the party at Tarry-a-while Cottage. The young folks are having a gay time and should soon become familiar faces by their continued appearance on the board walk. The girls are continually playing pranks on the boys, and the boys have not been slow in getting even. A number of Salisbury friends also have been members and visitors of the party.

The new Masonic Hall and Opera House under construction for last two months, is nearing completion and will soon be ready to be occupied. At present it is receiving the first coat of plastering and by the first of September will be nicely finished and ready for dedication. This is an imposing structure and its appearance adds much to the improvement of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hitchens had a family reunion at their home on Railroad avenue Saturday last having all their children and grandchildren present. Mr. Hitchens is nearing his 80th year and was anxious to celebrate a family reunion in his old age. Quite a number of presents were exchanged, one of the surprises for the grand children was a ten dollar gold piece found under the plate of each one when they were invited to supper.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Train Men will run the last moonlight excursion for the season from Delmar to Ocean City on Tuesday next August 27. They have secured the Delmar Cornet Band to accompany them and expect quite a nice crowd with plenty of cars for the occasion. The band will give a concert on the beach from 6 until 7 p. m., all are cordially invited to take advantage of the last excursion of the season.

Mr. Lockwood King operator for the new postal telegraph Company at Bridgeville was a visitor last Tuesday evening.

Miss Helen Truitt, who has been quite sick for several weeks is convalescent.

Mr. Harry German left Tuesday to accept a position as drug clerk with a firm in Denton, Md.

Miss Mamie Parker of Berlin, Md., and Miss Mary Dennis of Philadelphia who were visiting friends here have returned home.

News has just reached us that Elder H. C. Ker, formerly of Delmar is quite ill at his home in Middletown, N. Y.

Mrs. Louise A. Ker and Mrs. Dashiell of Princess Anne have returned to Delmar after a visit for several days to Quantico.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Hastings and Miss Alice Hastings left today for Ocean City for an indefinite period for the benefit of their baby's health.

Miss Florence Dunn of Wilmington returned home Wednesday after a visit of two weeks with her uncle, E. C. Dunn.

Miss Ella Hill and Miss Phillis Parsons returned to Delmar after a visit of six weeks with friends in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Miss Ada Hayman of Pocomoke is visiting Misses Ethel and Mabel Hayman on Grove Street.

Miss Pearl Lowe is quite sick at her home.

Miss Tilghman of Salisbury and Miss Mitchell of Wilmington were visiting friends in town last week.

Misses Ethel and Mabel Hayman have returned from a visit to Salisbury.

Rev. Mr. Vandyke of Whitesville was in town last week.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Superintendent A. J. Benjamin of the B. C. & A. Railroad, gave the "Fresh Air" children camped here an excursion to Ocean City last Tuesday. They were accompanied by their mother Mrs. Sage, who had a lunch prepared for them which the children greatly enjoyed at the seashore. Mrs. L. D. Collier and Miss Elizabeth J. Downes joined the children at Baltimore and accompanied them to the ocean. The children left this (Friday) morning for their respective homes in Baltimore. There is a general feeling that this summer's camp was not so much of a success as last season's was. The ladies who were responsible for the children coming did all that could be done for their comfort and happiness, but some of them "refused to be comforted." A third of the original party had to be returned home the second day, because of home sickness, and the most of those sent to fill the vacancies were later taken back for the same reason.

Mr. I. Watson Wilson lost a horse last Sunday. He had started to drive to Sharptown camp and had gone only a short distance from his home when the animal became sick and later died.

The farmers have about finished marketing their fruit and melon crops except peaches, which are still abundant but low in price. The early water-melons brought good prices. Later ones sold for less. The finest car load seen at this station this season, and one of the finest ever grown in this district, was produced by Mr. Charles S. Cooper on the Mile's End farm.

The pea hay crop in this district will be the heaviest ever grown by our farmers. This crop will be followed with scarlet clover, the acreage of which will be the largest in the history of the district by probably fifty per cent.

Early corn is ripe and the fodder from it is now being saved. Much late corn is still in the field growing. Generally speaking the yield of both early and late promises good. Some of our more progressive farmers have abandoned the old method of "topping" and stripping blades, and are now using the McCormick corn harvester whereby the whole stock is cut and cured thus saving a large part of the corn plant which by the old method goes to waste.

Mr. Samuel J. Bounds is very ill at his home on Main street. His condition seems worse than it appeared a week ago. Dr. F. M. Siemens of Salisbury was called Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex W. Hopkins and little son of Crisfield, reached here last Saturday to visit their friends in this community.

SHARPTOWN

Capt. Frank Lowe's five year old boy narrowly escaped drowning on Wednesday at the railway. He was descending a ladder which was hanging at the side of a vessel, the ladder gave way and precipitated the boy into the river. He was seen and rescued by Capt. George Higgins when life was almost gone. The little fellow was taken out and resuscitated.

Quite an affecting scene occurred at the steamboat wharf here on Saturday last. A few days previous Miss Emma Cooper received a letter from her brother Willie in Philadelphia whom she had never seen that he would visit her on Saturday. He came, as agreed, but he did not know her when she met him and she did not know him, though they had exchanged photographs. The agent at the wharf soon got them together and a happy meeting took place. He is 31 years old and has a fine hotel position. She is a few years younger and resides in town.

Samuel Elliott a young man of twenty was kicked in the face by a mule belonging to A. J. Lowe near here for whom Elliott works, on Thursday. He was supposed to be killed but he revived and hopes of his recovery are now entertained. His face is cut badly.

Capt. J. W. Robinson went to Vienna on Thursday with his steam pile driver to do some work for wharf owners at that place.

Charles Mooney and family moved here this week from Bridgeville, Del. They formerly resided here.

Rev. J. M. Yingling, a former M. P. pastor here, is circulating among his many friends this week.

The campmeeting will continue until Monday of next week, and we defer report until next issue so as to include the entire camp.

Within the last ten years a great many of our young people have gone out from town to seek their fortune elsewhere, and the fates have favored them. Within that short period many that left single have married and many that begun as boarders and employees, are now comfortable with homes and families and are operating their own business. There are a few whose families reside here and work elsewhere. Nearly all these people have been home this summer and a happy season has been spent. Time makes many changes and in the lives of these young people it has been verified. It would be an interesting piece of history to give the names of these people and their wonderful success, but we have not the time and could not ask for space, but can say that those who have gone out from here have made good records and so have those who have remained, and like the poet, "Who can say whether it is better to go or to stay?"

PITTSVILLE

Mr. Kelsall Ewing of Salem and Miss Sarah Davis of this town were married last Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride by Rev. E. O. Ewing.

Mr. Walter Sheppard of Salisbury is the guest of his cousin Mr. Chester Sheppard.

Mr. Everett Shockley and wife of Philadelphia are spending the week with relatives here.

Miss Estelle Truitt and brother Master Frank are visiting their cousin Miss Mae Law.

Several of our young people are attending the camp at Parsonsburg this week.

Mr. Handy Holloway, road overseer, is having side walks made on Delaware Avenue.

Bryan an Oil Magnate.

Evansville, Wyo., Aug. 23.—William J. Bryan, who is spending a month with his family on a vacation trip in southern Wyoming, has taken deep interest in the recent discoveries of oil in this section and to-day bought a controlling interest in a tract of oil lands embracing several hundred acres near Spring Valley, in this county.

Mr. Bryan announces that he will push work with the drills now on the ground and secure more machinery at once. He is confident of opening several gushers soon and Wyoming men expect him to evolve a rival of the Standard oil combine.

How Sad The Parting.

Perhaps, a certain young man in Salisbury can recall the following little incident which happened to come his way the other day when pleading his cause for the heart and hand of one of the daughters of Eve, she said:

Of thy tearings and pleadings
I'm heartily sick,
I'm sure, if I loved thee,
I'd told thee so quick!

And taking his hat for his departure—never more to return—the pulsation of his heart almost making noise loud enough for her to hear—he repeated:

Then, fare thee well, beautiful maid,
I were vain and foolish to regret thee;
Nor hope nor memory yield their aid,
But time may teach me to forget thee!

THREE NEGROES KILLED.

Mob Law Holds Sway in Pierce City, Mo. One Hanged, One Shot, and One Burned.

Pierce City, Mo., Aug. 20.—For nearly 15 hours which ended at noon today this town, of 8,000 population, was in the hands of a mob of armed white men, determined to drive away every negro.

In addition to lynching William Godfrey, accused of the wanton murder of Miss Gazelle Wild, and shooting to death his grandfather, French Godfrey, the mob cremated Peter Hampton, an aged negro, in his home, set the torch to the houses of four other blacks, and with the aid of State militia rifles, taken from the local company's arsenal, drove dozens of negroes from town.

After noon the excitement died down, the mob gradually dispersing. Many of the negroes who fled are hiding in the surrounding woods, while others have gone greater distances in seeking safety. Every negro has left town except a few railway porters, known to be respectable, but these must also leave.

The people of Pierce City say that as negroes have been committing such atrocious crimes none shall live here in the future. The same feeling exists at Monett, four miles east of this place.

It is believed that William Godfrey, who was lynched, was not the real culprit. Starks, another negro, under arrest at Tulsa, I. T., across the border from Pierce City, talking exactly with the description of Miss Wild's assailant. He is held there awaiting identification.

Another suspect, Joseph Lark, is under arrest in Springfield, Mo. Eugene Barritt, also known as Carer, in a confession while a rope was around his neck, accused Lark, who is a railroad porter, of being implicated in the crime, and Lark was then arrested at Springfield. He gave a detailed statement as to his whereabouts on last Sunday, when the crime was committed, and is not believed to be guilty. Some persons here think Barritt told the story in order to save his life.

On Monday bloodhounds were taken to the scene and the girl's bloody handkerchief was laid before them. They caught the trail and ran at full speed to the home of Lark, where on being admitted, they rushed into his bedroom and sprang upon the bed. It is believed the man under arrest at Tulsa, who, poarded with Lark, slept on this bed.

"We the Democrats of Wicomico in convention assembled, point with pleasure to the successful administration of our county affairs during the past thirty years by Democratic officials. Under the careful and economical administration of honest and capable public officials the tax rate has been decreased yearly until at the present time the tax-payers enjoy one of the lowest tax rates in the State. Starting out a young county thirty years ago with no public buildings and with an indebtedness of nearly thirty thousand dollars to Worcester and Somerset counties, the county has been supplied with a handsome Court House, Jail and Alms House, all of which have been paid for, and the county by economy and good management has kept the tax rate at a minimum. Today the county is entirely free of bonded debt and there is no floating debt not provided for by this year's levy.

While all this has been done, thousands of dollars have been spent for the building of shell roads and the improvement of our public highways and maintenance of our public schools, our Commissioners appropriating about one fourth of our revenue to public school purposes. Contrast these conditions with some of the counties of the State under republican control and the good which has resulted to the tax payers of this county from an honest administration under Democratic control will be more apparent.

We believe that a continuance of Democratic administration in Wicomico County will mean further reduction in taxation and a corresponding improvement in our internal affairs. We recommend to the voters of Wicomico County the excellent ticket nominated by this Convention to day. It is composed of men of integrity and ability, who enjoy the confidence and esteem of all who know them, and their election, we believe, will be a guarantee of efficient and faithful service for the public welfare."

Above are the personnel and the platform which last Tuesday's county convention presents to democrats and independents.

Delegates from the more distant sections of the county began to arrive in town Monday evening, and by convention hour—noon—Tuesday every district was represented by its full quota of three delegates and other democrats aggregating several hundred of the county's most substantial citizens.

The convention, which met first Tuesday, July 29th and adjourned to August 27th, was called to order by Ex Governor Jackson, who was a delegate from Salisbury district. The same organization was maintained. Mr. Walter C. Mann of Sharptown district, chairman; Mr. Wm. C. Mitchell of Salisbury district and Mr. Joseph L. Bailey of Quantico district, Secretaries.

After roll-call and the reading of the minutes of the previous session nominations for the local ticket were declared to be in order. It was decided to first choose a candidate for county treasurer.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER.

Robt. G. Robertson, placed before the convention by Wm. H. H. Bailey, received 15 votes.

Ex Governor Jackson named Dr. H. Laird Todd, the present incumbent, who received 20 votes on the first ballot and was declared the convention's choice.

FOR SHERIFF.

Ephraim Denoon, of Trappe; Willie Giffie, of Quantico District; Robt. F. Waller, of Nantuxco District; A. Sidney Taylor, of Salisbury District; Geo. W. Fooks, of Nutter's District were each put in nomination. Mr. Fooks received the nomination on the second ballot, getting 21 votes.

FOR THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

The following nominations were made for House of Delegates: E. G. Davis of Pittsburg district; L. Leo Laws of Dennis District; Albert L. Jones of Quantico District; L. B. Kerr of Delmar District; F. B. Culver of Tyaskin District; G. Ernest Hearn of Pittsburg District and J. Cleveland White of Salisbury District.

On the first ballot the vote stood as follows:

J. Cleveland White, 38.
A. L. Jones, 21.
F. B. Culver, 19.
L. B. Kerr, 12.
L. Leo Laws, 11.
G. Ernest Hearn, 6.
E. G. Davis, 3.

The first three were declared the nominees.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Messrs. James A. Waller of Baron Creek district; John W. Jones of Trappe district and S. G. Truitt of Pittsburg district were declared the unanimous choice of the convention for county commissioners.

SURVEYOR.

Mr. Peter Sydney Shockley was re-nominated by acclamation for Surveyor.

One of the features of the convention was the total absence of strife in and out of the convention. The delegates, the candidates and the people felt that the selection of the strongest ticket that could be put in the field was of first importance and everybody worked in harmony to this end. There is a very general feeling of satisfaction in the party with the nomination, and a desire to get to work in the interest of the ticket.

MR. LEFEBRE CHOSEN.

Was Selected From Fifty Applicants to be Principal of the Cambridge Schools.

Professor Charles Howell LeFevre, of Smyrna, Del., who was principal of the Salisbury schools until a few weeks ago, has been called to the Principalship of the Cambridge schools. The Smyrna Times, of August 28th., in speaking of the appointment, says:

"At a meeting of the combined Boards of Trustees of the Cambridge, Md., Female Seminary and High School last evening, Mr. Charles Howell LeFevre, of this town, was elected principal over some fifty applicants. There are two separate institutions in Cambridge, one known as the Cambridge Female Seminary and the other the Boy's High School. Each has its separate Board of Directors, but in the election of a Principal, the Boards unite and select one principal to supervise and manage both schools. The membership of the combined Boards number twenty two, and last evening Principal LeFevre was elected on the first ballot unanimously. Schools will open there next Monday.

The action of the Board last evening is a high compliment to Professor LeFevre's ability as a teacher and instructor. The salary is $100 a month for nine or ten months."

The Smyrna Call says: "We congratulate the Cambridge authorities upon securing Professor LeFevre's services, as he is a progressive teacher standing high in his profession."

The Cambridge Chronicle says: "Professor LeFevre is a native of Lancaster, Pa., and was educated at Franklin and Marshall College. He graduated at that institution in 1899 and has been teaching ever since. He was principal last year of Salisbury High School and made a splendid record for himself in that capacity. The trustees also elected Professor D'Arcy P. Barnett, who was Vice Principal, to succeed himself."

With these gentlemen at the head of its affairs, the High School will start out under highly favorable auspices and should have a prosperous and profitable year in store."

Among the recommendations of Mr. LeFevre to the Cambridge trustees, were strong endorsements from some of the most prominent citizens of Salisbury and Wicomico county.

DEATH OF SAMUEL J. BOUNDS.

Former Associate Editor of the Advertiser and Teacher in the Salisbury High School.

Mr. Samuel J. Bounds died Thursday morning at his home in Mardela Springs of tuberculosis, aged nearly 48 years.

His remains will be interred in the Mardela cemetery this (Saturday) afternoon, after funeral services at the house by Rev. Franklin B. Adkins.

The deceased was the third of four sons of the late Train A. Bounds. After attending the public schools of the county as a boy he attended the State Normal School in Baltimore, graduating from that institution in June 1883. In the autumn of that year he was elected teacher of a school in Queen Anne's county and later of the Salisbury Grammar School which he taught two years with credit to himself and satisfaction to the patrons of the school. In 1885 Mr. Bounds entered the office of the Salisbury Advertiser in the capacity of associate editor, Mr. Thos. Perry being the editor and proprietor of the paper. He remained with the Advertiser till September 1887 when he returned to the Springs and taught the graded school there two years, then engaged in general merchandising. From 1890 to 1894 he again taught the Mardela graded school. This he gave up to accept the position of gauger in the U. S. Internal Revenue Service under Hon. Murray Vandiver during Mr. Cleveland's last administration. His services were so highly prized by the government that he was retained by Mr. McKinley's administration, serving under Mr. Parlett at the time of his death, though all his life a most ardent and emphatic democrat. During last spring Mr. Bounds' health became so bad that he asked for and secured an indefinite leave of absence from duty. He never returned to the office.

In 1886 Mr. Bounds married Miss Lizzie Wilson daughter of the late Levin M. Wilson one of the most prominent citizens of Baron Creek district. She and two children survive him.

On next Thursday evening Culhane Chase and Weston's famous minstrel troupe will open the season here. The troupe comes with the highest endorsements and it is pronounced one of the very best minstrel shows on the road. One of the great features of the show is the concert band under the direction of Ned Walton. This famous musical organization gives concerts at noon, and in the evening in front of the Opera House. The concerts are always popular and are listened to by big crowds.

Some of the other features are: "Carmen," the wonderful hoop roller a new and novel act never before seen in this town; James A. Bailey, the banjo king, that's all about him; Castle & Collins, the comedians and dancers, keep you laughing every minute they are on the stage.

This show comprises eight endmen, ten comedians, eight vocalists, six premier musicians and is given in ten big acts. The Imperial Four in original comedy creations will make you laugh. The quartet composed of Messrs. Bryan, Treat, Bronelle and Timber will enchant you with all the latest local hits. This is the show where you get your money's worth. From the time the curtain rises until it falls, there is not a dull minute. Remember the date, September 5th.

Admission 25, 35, and 50 cents. Reserved seats will be on sale at the Box office next Monday.

Messrs. Ulman Bros. announce that this will be the first of a long list of attractive entertainments for the season of 1901-02.

Fell From a Roof.

Mr. Thomas Bounds, one of the carpenters employed by Mr. Wm. J. Johnson in repairing the residence of Mr. Wm. B. Tighnan on Camden Avenue, had a narrow escape from serious injuries on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Bounds was employed in doing some work on the roof of the residence. While ascending a hook ladder which was fastened over the ridge pole of the house, the ladder slipped and he was precipitated to the ground, a distance of about forty feet. He was taken to the office of Drs. Slemons and Morris where examination showed that aside from a number of painful scratches, the only injury he suffered was a broken bone in the heel of his left foot. It will be several weeks before he will be able to get about again.

THE TICKET ENDORSED.

Mr. Thos Perry Commends the Work of the Convention and Advocates A Return to Old Fashioned Campaign Methods.

Messrs Editors:—I wish to add a line of commendation for the work of the Democratic Convention which nominated the ticket last Tuesday to be voted for in November. I consider it one of the best ever put before the people of Wicomico county by any party. All of the men nominated are well-known throughout the county, and most favorably known for their ability to serve the people in the various positions to which they will be called. I wish especially to commend the convention for its work in selecting men of such high moral character—men who will not temporize with evils that we have had to contend with in the past. Three men of greater probity and sobriety could not have been selected in the county than those named for county commissioners. I am glad the party has reached the point where it can nominate such men; I mean when the sentiment of the county demands that such men be nominated. I do not wish to single out this portion of the ticket for special comment at the disparagement of the others on the ticket, but it is well known that there are claims upon the County Commissioner's office for the best men that the community can furnish, regardless of territorial location. There is much work to be done by the County Commissioners in the next few years; work that requires sound heads to accomplish. I have confidence in the ability of the three men nominated last Tuesday together with the two holding over commissioners to take up this work, and if our road laws, laws for the collection of taxes, or liquor laws need any revision in the opinion of the people, the co-operation of those named for the legislative ticket can be relied upon.

Now about the manner of conducting the campaign: I am in favor of returning to old fashion methods and once more conduct a campaign as our forefathers did in the days of Democracy vs. Whiggery. I want a grand father campaign. I want to see meetings held in every election district to which every democrat will be personally invited. Make these meetings occasions of jollification. Let us have oyster roasts, lunch served under the supervision of the Democratic ladies of the districts. The ladies will enjoy taking part. Let us have plenty of bright music and bright speeches. I am sure the ladies can be depended upon to do their part. Then let us wind up with one grand rally and barbecue at Salisbury. I am sure when this is done, with the ticket we have in the field, all Democrats will be at the polls on election day, ready and willing to cast their votes for their ticket. I believe that instead of such a campaign being a work of labor it will be one of pleasure. I believe that the party will enter upon it with zeal and enthusiasm. I believe that it will have a tendency to round off many places that would otherwise be angular. We have a ticket worthy of it and I want to see the people conduct this campaign, and I know of no better way of beginning than by establishing these social features.

Another thing: We must have speakers that the people wish to listen to. Of course they will want to hear the candidates, but beyond those speakers should be invited that the people want to hear. Let us have some able talkers at our grand wind up rally.

THOS. PERRY.

Salisbury, Md., Aug. 30, 1901.

Mr. Riley Loses Limb.

The surgeons at the Peninsula General Hospital Tuesday, decided that it was necessary to amputate one of Mr. Asbury C. Riley's legs just above the knee, and the operation was performed.

As told in the ADVERTISER of August 10, Mr. Riley's leg was broken by a horse's kick while he was driving from his home in Snow Hill to one of his farms in Wicomico county on August 8th. The upper and lower bones of the leg were completely severed at the joint.

The hospital surgeons reported yesterday (Friday) morning that Mr. Riley was regaining his vitality and his recovery seems assured.

AN UNLUCKY DEPARTURE.

Vessel Taken by Owners at Night—Railroad Bridge Torn Down and Damage to Vessel.

Sharptown, Md., August 30th.—Early in the year 1900, a keel 165 feet long was laid at the railway here for a large four mast vessel to be built by the Sharptown Marine Railway Co. for Capt. W. J. Quillen, of Bethel, Delaware, and about forty other owners. The contract price was twenty-eight thousand dollars. This deal was one of vast interest to this town, one in which everybody here took special interest and as the boat went together piece by piece, day by day she was watched with close attention and as she neared completion she became the pride and admiration of the whole town and on the day she was launched, May 9th., 1901, several thousand people from far and near came to see her enter the water. This event passed off without a jar and from this the finishing touches began to be seen and the material and workmanship were so perfect in every detail that hundreds of people visited the yards every week to watch the progress of the work. Nothing was left undone. The cabin was handsomely finished in oak and black walnut and the carvings were exquisite. This continued until about four weeks ago when about all was done that could be and the handsome furniture was put in and this beautiful boat so much admired was made ready, in real beauty and strength to float upon the bosom of many waters. The day of her leaving was anticipated with great delight and every one in town looked forward to the time of her leaving with much interest, expecting her to leave amid ringing bells, blowing whistles, waving handkerchiefs, loud cheers, and happy faces, but alas! the disappointment.

Early Sunday morning last while the whole town was quietly slumbering, the hour before the dawn, the beauty went out overshadowed by the darkness of the night, when no eye saw and no ear heard. To the surprise and disappointment of all, the "big vessel" could not be seen, when the early risers began to circulate about their homes; and at an early hour many people had gathered at the railway, the place of her birth and growth, to lament her dark and lonely exit.

No reason has yet been assigned for the act, more than to endeavor to escape the payment of $7,000 yet due the Railway Company on contract. A part of this is due on the original contract of $28,000 and part due on subsequent contracts for extras not named in the first contract. Many of the stockholders live at Laurel, and some of them own stock in the Marine Railway Company, but so far as ascertained, the stockholders of the new vessel condemn it in strong measures and it may be that these are enough to adjust all differences and close up the deal honorably, and let the kidnapping, or what ever it may be called, rest on those who planned it, which now centers on a very few.

S. J. Cooper, president of the Company and L. J. Sauerhoff, who designed the vessel, arrived in Baltimore early on Monday morning, a few hours in advance of the vessel, which had been detained in a collision with the railroad bridge at Vienna. To this she is reported to have made a damage of about $6,000 and to her own hull between $300 and $400.

The proceedings in the whole affair are complicated and mysterious and from several standpoints appear very unreasonable and the condition is one of unpleasantness to say the least. The Railway Company have done all in their power to give the owners a good job and every detail of the work is finished with the utmost precision. Many things not specified in the contract have been done at Company's expense, and for which no compensation will be made. The company has acted kindly, honorably and courteously in the whole transaction and such treatment is ingratitude. There are no excuses or reasons visible and the whole town is very much stirred up over the matter. The Railway Company is very dear to the hearts of the people here and any stroke at it affects the whole town, and in the prosecution of the legal actions necessary for redress the town will be a unit with the Railway Company. It may be adjusted without a continued litigation as it now appears that so many stockholders in the vessel are opposed to the action. They ought to adjust the matter and reimburse the Railway Company for every dollar due and other contingent losses incurred.

ANOTHER SENSATION.

Reported Find of Oil at Pocomoke City, Worcester County.

A special to the Baltimore Sun from Pocomoke City, Worcester County, dated August 27th, says:—Pocomoke city has a mineral oil excitement, but pending investigation it is not likely that much real estate will change hands. Information on the subject is difficult to obtain, owing to the natural inclination to keep a good thing quiet. The facts, however, seem to be that a Mr. Hendricks from the Pennsylvania oil regions has spent several months in Pocomoke with James S. Clogg, of the Pocomoke Ice Company, driving and making about farms in search of mineral wealth. He is said to have considerable general knowledge of oil fields in different parts of the country and has announced that he has discovered conditions that convince him beyond all reasonable doubt that there is oil about Pocomoke to be had for the boring. A few leading business men, prominent among them Eljah J. Schofield and James P. Blaine, were taken into confidence of the prospector and had explained to them the basis of his belief. Last night a meeting of those who have looked into the matter was held and $2,000 was put up to be spent in a thorough investigation. It is thought the first trial will be on what is called the Coston farm, one mile from Pocomoke.

Faith in the existence of wealth producing oil has also resulted in the formation of the Pocomoke City Oil Company, with the following officers: E. G. Polk, banker, president. F. H. Dryden, real estate broker, secretary. William F. King, cashier of the Pocomoke City National Bank, treasurer. Those interested are somewhat reticent about giving information concerning the lay of the land, nature of tests, etc., but they say that so confident is the Pittsburgh man that oil exists that he charges nothing for his services if success does not attend the boring. Considerable stock has already been subscribed, but the company will not incorporate until oil have been found. As matters now stand the Pocomoke City Oil Company consists of a number of the most prominent citizens of the place, who are willing to furnish money enough to sink one well at least. It is said that the same tests applied in the Pennsylvania oil region were applied here, and corresponded in every particular. Work will begin at once, and everybody is watching results with eager interest.

Asher Richardson, a native of Worcester county, but now a large ranch owner in Texas and familiar with the oil fields there, says the soil here is almost identical with that in the oil regions of Beaumont, and he would not be at all surprised if a strike should be made here that would rival those of Beaumont. Mr. Richardson owns 85,000 acres of land in Texas and is thoroughly familiar with the geological formation in the oil regions as well as in other parts.

Not the First Organ.

Messrs. Editors:—We note in your issue of the 24th inst., a local in which the statement is made that the pipe organ in the Presbyterian Church was the first pipe organ ever brought here. Evidently the author of that local did not take the time to search for information or he would not have ventured such an assertion.

The first to introduce a pipe organ in this place was the Episcopal Church known in common parlance as the P. E. Church.

Your correspondent can go back thirty-five years ago when the Episcopal Church used a pipe organ and he is further informed by good authority that the impression is that there was one in the church prior to the fire of 1860.

We remember very distinctly when the pipe organ was placed in the Presbyterian Church but cannot call to mind any great excitement created upon that occasion.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winalow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures all wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty cents a bottle.

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with gout or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valleys are sometimes jested by the gouty inhabitants, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that it is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so unnecessary to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up ten years of her life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.

GRAIN MARKET

Reported by Stevens Brothers, 226 S. Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

Condition of wheat and other crops in Maryland and Delaware.—Corn slightly injured by great humidity, but is still in excellent condition.

In Virginia—Too much rain in most sections retard a thrashing and fodder pulling, and some damage to wheat and oats. In wheat corn young well; fall plowing progressing, with ground generally in good condition.

THURSDAY'S QUOTATIONS

WHEAT.—Receipts for today 142,471 bus. The market for southern today was active and 1 cent higher at the opening with the demand good for all wheats of desirable quality. Receipts lighter. Sales of cargoes on grade at 74 cents for No. 3 red, 70, for steamer 2 red, and 65 cents for rejected. Sample lots, as to quality and condition, brought 60, 61, 65, 68 and 74 cents.

CORN.—Receipts for today 13,108 bus. The market for southern corn today was quiet under very limited receipts, the offerings consisting of only one small parcel white, which sold at 63 cents. Quote prime yellow at 63 cents. Demand fair.

COB CORN.—Is selling along rather sparingly at the moment, the sales in this commodity being wholly of a jobbing character. Quote carloads prime yellow on spot at $2.10 @ 2.15 per bbl. Small lots, of course, range higher.

OATS.—The situation in oats is steady at prices ruling. In the face of accumulating supplies, a slack local demand, and general pressure to sell, prices had to be shaded to find an outlet. Quotation at 38, 37 and 38.

RYE.—Receipts for today, 9,844 bus.; withdrawals, 800 bus. We note a continued fair demand for the better grades of rye at full prices, and under moderate offerings, the late steady position of the market is sustained. Quote, 56¢ to 57 per bus. on No. 2, 53 on No. 3, 52¢ to 53 on No. 4. Bag lots of nearly 48 to 50 cents per bus. as to quality and condition.

DELAWARE BREAKWATER.

Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Few persons outside of those directly interested in shipping realize the vast and rapidly growing importance in the commerce of the entire world of the Delaware Breakwater."

So declared a prominent Philadelphia shipping agent. Then he went on to point out a few facts relating to the Breakwater.

"As a port of call for vessels coming to the United States to wait for final orders it is visited by foreign carriers, both steam and sailing in the proportion of 100 to 1 over Hampden Roads, the other important port of call," he continued, "and the number of ships putting in there is increasing almost daily."

These vessels include sugar-laden ships from Japan, Java, the Hawaiian Islands and Germany; bone vessels from South America; vessels from Spain and Greece land with iron ore; vessels from the west coast of South America laden with nitrate and vessels from all over the world sent to this country to be loaded with wheat for foreign countries. When the majority of the vessels call, the owners or the agents which have chartered them have the ships cargoes unloaded or the ships that arrive light loaded.

Much depends on the condition of the market at the time of a vessel's arrival in port as to its profitable sale, or upon the condition of the elevators and the market price of grain as to the loading of wheat for export. While a ship is on the way to this country—a voyage which may require anywhere from two weeks to three months—the owners or chartering firms watch the markets closely. Just before a vessel is due orders are telegraphed to the captain of the Delaware Breakwater. Pilots carry the orders out to the vessel and off sails the captain to the destination disclosed in them.

When the vessel sails from the ports of departure they are under instructions in almost 98 cases out of a hundred to go to the Breakwater and there wait for the final orders. Consequently it is true, as I have said, that the Delaware Breakwater has become one of the most important ports of call in the world. Lately the port has been taxed to its utmost capacity, but fortunately with the completion of the new national harbor of refuge five miles further in, there will be room for all the shipping of the world if it should come there."

Not So Very Hard.

An old army surgeon who was fond of a joke, if not perpetrated at his own expense, was one day at a meal when a wag remarked to the doctor, who had been somewhat severe in his remarks on the literary delinquencies of some of the officers appointed from civil life: "Doctor, are you acquainted with Captain G?"

"Yes, I know him well," replied the doctor. "But what of him?"

"Nothing in particular," replied the officer. "I have just received a letter from him, and I wager you that you cannot tell in five guesses how he spells cat."

"Done," said the doctor. "It's a wagger."

"Well, commence guessing," said the officer.

"K-a-double-t."

"No."

"K-a-t-e."

"No, you've missed it again."

"Well, then," returned the doctor, "c-a-double-t."

"No, that's not the way; try once more, it's your last guess."

"C-a-t."

"No," said the wag, "that's not the way; you've lost the bet."

"Well," said the doctor, with some petulance of manner, "how does he spell it?"

"Why, he spells it c-a-t," replied the wag with the utmost gravity, amid the roars of the mess, and almost choking with rage, the doctor sprang to his feet, exclaiming:

"Gentlemen, I am too old to be trifled with in this manner."—Chicago Tribune.

Vanishing Bird Races.

It is reported that the flamingo, the pink curlew, and the egret together with several other species of beautiful and valuable birds, are vanishing so rapidly that within a few years they will be practically extinct. The warfare on these birds has been waged most vigorously, of course, in the civilized countries. The savage with his rude weapons and his indolence, can not possibly do as much damage as the civilized man with his shot gun and his untiring pursuit, not only of the birds but of the dollar.

For some reason or other the human race is much addicted to the unprofitable habit known as "butting the stable door after the horse is gone."

It would have been a comparatively easy matter to check the destruction of these birds some years ago; it would be possible even now to rescue them from extermination by taking a little care; but instead of that, the hunters will probably be allowed to continue their ravages until any bird more attractive than the English sparrow has become a mere tradition. There are some lessons which can be learned from experience, but the unfortunate thing is that the experience does not always happen twice. If a man has climbed up a place where he ought not to be, and fallen and broken his back, the lesson is not of much value to him, because he will never climb anywhere again. After these birds have been exterminated and their habitat rendered unfit for restocking, it will not be much use to moralize over the ruthlessness and rapacity which caused their destruction.

The measures which ought to be taken will vary in different places. In some parts of the country it would be enough perhaps to impose a small penalty on hunters caught shooting birds out of season. In other cases it might be necessary to forbid the shooting of certain species of birds at all.

In places where valuable birds have become extremely scarce it might be well to follow some system of breeding and artificial protection. This would employ the native hunters who are now among the birds' most dangerous enemies, and would instill in them a different idea of the value of the birds from that which they now have. In fact, many of these men are simply and solely pot-hunters. They shoot birds and animals, not for sport, but because they must make a living. If they could be paid for taking care of the wild creatures instead of for shooting them they would, in many cases, much prefer that employment.

THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The ticket at the head of this column is perhaps the cleanest and strongest, taken as whole, ever presented to the voters of this county by any party.

There is no weak element in it. Each name there stands for a man known throughout the county for honor, integrity and ability. Democrats and independents can not only conscientiously support every candidate, but should feel proud to be identified with such men as their official servants and representatives. The convention which had the wisdom to choose such men is to be commended, and the people who shall have the opportunity to vote for them are to be congratulated.

Public sentiment in Wicomico county, happily, has reached that advanced position which makes it dangerous for the dominant party to permit the tricksters and professional politicians to manipulate conventions to suit their own selfish ends regardless of and in defiance of the people's wishes and interests.

The nominating convention last Tuesday was composed of some of the best citizens of the county, who voiced the universal sentiment for clean men; conservative, yet judiciously liberal and progressive. In making up the ticket some excellent men whose names were presented for consideration were dismissed with only complimentary votes. This was inevitable from the very nature of conditions, but no discount was meant to anybody and the merits of the unsuccessful candidates were fully recognized and appreciated. These can and, we believe, will accept their defeat in the true spirit and join their fellow-citizens in giving to the ticket their best services until election day next November. The spirit of harmony in the convention and the unity of purpose were some gratifying features. There was no boss domination, no crimonation and recrimination; no rough riding of any delegate or clique over the cherished sentiments of others, but an earnest desire on the part of all to serve the people and party "most excellently well."

REPUBLICANS AND OYSTERS.

Anyone reading the republican platform of their last State Convention in regard to the oystermen and the oyster industry, would believe their solicitude for their success and prosperity was sincere, and that the republican party was the bulwark and protection of the oystermen as individuals. They carry the joke so far as to charge upon the democratic party a deep laid scheme to rob the oystermen of the oyster beds and to hand them over to the tender mercies of the corporations and trusts. Here is a sample from the republican platform of their "clap trap":

"All the rights which the oystermen and crabbers have had in the past shall remain to and be enjoyed by them, and not pass into the possession of a certain few who are depending upon democratic legislation to stridge ancient rights and grab public territory."

Very smooth and pretty reading and one can almost see the placid and benign smile upon the face of the Baltimore oyster packers' counsel when writing the above, and can see the knowing wink he gives the Hon. Louis McComas, the explanation that it is only intended to fool voters, and that when they are gullied into electing his dear cousin Herman S. Platt as Comptroller and the Legislature into electing another cousin of the Hon. Louis as Treasurer, he can run the Board of Public Works and make himself solid in the non-oyster producing counties of Western Maryland and among his dearly beloved oyster packing cousins of Balto. City. The suggestion is well received and cousin Herman is nominated by a subservient and obedient convention to carry out the scheme. There is also the promise made to the dear oystermen that if they will elect cousin Herman they would straw the barren bottoms with oyster shells and replenish the same with oysters at the public expense. While so liberal with promises and the appropriation of the public money to such beneficent purposes, promises to build houses, enrich farms, and mine iron and coal at the public expense should have been made also.

Chairman Goldsborough evidently forgot to promise something for the increase of muskrats at the public expense in Dorchester Co.

But if the wicked democrat is elected the oyster business is ruined. The oyster bottoms and rocks will be parceled out to "a certain few". Wonder who those certain few are? Certainly not to the Baltimore oyster packing trusts and corporations, for they are too much the friend of the poor oysterman as to be participants of such nefarious practices and robberies, for they are republicans and could no longer prey upon the oyster catchers by heaping the tubs and paying nothing for the protection of their business.

If the democrats had desired to parcel out the oyster bottoms and rocks to "a certain few" they have had ample opportunity to do so during the long time they have been in full control of the State government, but instead, have been the zealous and watchful guardians of the oyster rocks for the use of the public, and against the encroachment and appropriation of them by corporations and packers of Baltimore City. Because the last democratic legislature passed a stringent law for the protection of the oyster beds and from further depletion by the enforcement of the oyster cull law, by providing the necessary means for enforcing the law, the Baltimore packers and their republican friends have been criticizing and crying out against the law.

The oyster houses and consumers could only receive and have in possession in the legal sized oyster, which was strictly enforced. As a result of keeping the small sized oyster from being taken from the bed and wasted, the oyster catch is larger than for many years, and there is every indication of a plenty of oysters this season in the Maryland waters.

HARBINGERS OF VICTORY.

At the Claiborne regatta the winning boat was the one owned by Mr. William H. Myers, Jr., of Oxford, a popular Democratic candidate for the Legislature; at the St. Joseph's tourney a beautiful rowing race was, after a spirited, but friendly and generous contest amongst friends, voted to Miss Blanche Callahan, the accomplished daughter of Mr. Nicholas S. Callahan of Longwoods, another very popular Democratic candidate for the Legislature. Surely these things are suggestive; they are harbingers of the substantial victory to be won in November—Easton Ledger.

—In the selection of Prof. Charles Howell LeFevre to be the principal of their public schools the people of Cambridge have wisely chosen.

Mr. LeFevre is a student and instructor by natural bent, and is gifted with high ideals. During his eight or nine months stay in Salisbury as the Principal of the Salisbury High School he won the respect and esteem of the general public and proved himself a gentleman of most estimable moral and social qualities. His work in our schools was characterized by patience, justice, scholastic ability and temperamental fitness. The best wishes of our people go with him.

Killed at Claiborne.

Mr. Oscar R. Blanch, about 58 years old, 103 North Fulton avenue, Baltimore, was killed at 8.20 o'clock last Sunday night by being crushed by the Ocean City special on the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway just as it reached the Claiborne pier from Ocean City. He was on his way to his home in Baltimore with his 13-year old daughter May, the two having been on a two days' outing to the seaside.

The train was moving slowly along the pier at Claiborne. Mr. Blanch stepped off the train before it stopped and fell between the cars and the station platform. He received a scalp wound, and his left side and abdomen were crushed.

The accident created a great deal of excitement on the pier and the steamer, several persons fainting.

The daughter of the dead man did not learn of the accident until she got on the steamer. Then she was almost heart broken. Dr. W. J. Kasper, 1841 Pennsylvania avenue, one of the excursionists, took charge of her and took her to her home.

Mr. Theodore Lang, of Baltimore, saw the accident, and upon his explanation of the circumstances attending it Justice Joseph Skinner, of Claiborne, decided that an inquest was not necessary and permitted the body to be brought to Baltimore. Dr. John S. Fulton, Secretary of the State Board of Health, was a passenger on the steamer and gave a certificate of accidental death.

Mr. Blanch was a cutter and tailor. He was a native of Berlin, Germany, and came to Baltimore from New York two years ago. He is survived by three daughters and two sons.

Miss Miriam Louise Gardner.

A child was baptized at Frankford, Del., Thursday night who is related to more ministers than generally falls to the lot of ordinary mortals. The baby is Miriam Louise Gardner, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Gardner, of Cape Charles, Va., formerly of Cheswood.

The clergyman who officiated was Rev. Charles F. Sheppard, the baby's grandfather, and Mrs. Gardner's father. Little Miss Gardner's paternal grandfather was a minister, as was also her maternal great-grandfather and three great-uncles. One of the great-uncles is Rev. John H. Dashiell, D. D., of Annapolis.

The mother of the child is well remembered in Salisbury as Miss Miriam Sheppard who a few years ago as a girl frequently visited her friends the Misses Ellegood.

The Sentiment of Inanimate Things.

"I suppose," said the wire to the electric button, "that you felt highly honored by the attention the President paid you?"

"Yes," replied the button. "I was much touched by it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Engineer Kenneth Allen, of Baltimore, recommends that the water supply of Laurel, Md., be taken from Cull's lake and the erection of a pumping station near the powerhouse of the electric light company. This will probably be done.

The Gentle Life.

"Some Christian women move in a wide circle and have a commanding influence. Others in God's wise Providence, dwell in a rural neighborhood, and like wild flowers, share their beauty and perfume with a few friends, but the devoted attendant at church, or worker in Sunday school, or gentle member of a family, does not live in vain. Such a one knows not the blessed influences she exerts on those around her in life, or the hopeful impression at death of the use of Christianity to guide heavenward through the "tribulation" which the Blessed Savior marked as the true road to everlasting bliss." As Keble expresses it:

We need not bid for cloister'd cell,
Our Master and our work farwield;
The trivial round the common task,
Will furnish all we need to ask:
Room to deny ourselves, a road
To bring us daily nearer God.

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The weakness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and a constant belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker and weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that it is tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by Summary Justice.

There was a disturbance in New York not long ago. A starved, tired, sick horse was dragging a truck loaded with copious stones along Broadway. Its strength gave out and it dropped. The driver belabored the wretched animal with a heavy whip, jerked with all his strength upon the reins and finally pulled the horse up to its knees. Then he renewed his beating.

This performance caused a crowd to gather, and it was not long before the temper of that crowd became warmer than even the high temperature of an August day would warrant. The driver was warned to stop, and threatening postures were made in his direction, but he was a stubborn sort of person, and the more the crowd talked the more fiercely he thrashed the horse. He finally succeeded in driving away, but at the pace he was able to go the crowd could easily keep up with him, and did. When he began to beat the horse once more the crowd closed in on him, and a policeman of the Broadway squad arrived on the scene. Then the crowd began to tell the policeman what to do. One well dressed man said, "Arrest him, officer, and I'll make a complaint." The driver, his temper now up as high as that of the crowd, declined to get off his seat, and there was a general cry of "Pull him off that truck!"

It did not take long to do it. A dozen people hustled the man off his seat, and some more unwhipped the horse, and an elderly man gave the prisoner a cordial blow on the side of his face. He did not need to follow the Biblical injunction, to turn the other cheek, for there were people on the other side of his head who were waiting for him. Altogether, he spent the next few minutes being hustled about and thrashed, while the horse reared and looked on, and it is to be hoped that the animal enjoyed it. As soon as the policeman could get through the crowd he marched his prisoner off to jail.

Of course, it is not to be argued that it is always best for the public to take the law into its own hands, but there are times when it seems to be unavoidable. If the man had been mistreating a woman or a small boy on Broadway at that time of day, or at any time, would there have been a crowd about him, would he have been made to suffer quite as severely, and the spectators would not have waited for the police. The kind of reason which is given on punishing those who are manifestly unable to defend themselves against him knows perfectly well that the public will not stand any doings of the sort in public. He therefore confines that sort of brutality to the privacy of his own home. He has quite enough intelligence and self-control to do that. There is no reason why he should not be made to feel the need of self-restraint in the case of a horse or any other dumb animal.

The trouble has been his that the public conscience was not sufficiently awake to notice whenever a big, round, bulky thrasher a horse. It should be thus awakened. It is just as proper for a crowd to stop that sort of proceeding as for the passer by to interfere to stop any other sort of misdemeanor until the police arrive. One cannot feel sorry for the individual who figures in this case. He was big, strong and healthy, and he suffered for a few minutes a modified form of the misery he had inflicted on a wretched, sick, half starved animal whose life he had made a perpetual calvary.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwiler, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

Tour to the Pacific Coast.

In view of the great popularity of transcontinental travel under the Personally-Conducted System, as evinced by the recent Pennsylvania Railroad Tour to the Pacific Coast and Canadian Northwest, that company has decided to run another tour to the Pacific Coast, including in the itinerary a visit to the world famous Grand Canyon of Arizona, in the early fall. The tour will leave New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and other stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburgh on Monday, September 23, and reach New York on the homeward trip Tuesday, October 22.

As in former tours to California under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a special train, composed of the highest class of Pullman equipment, will be utilized for the entire trip. Excellent meals will be served in the dining cars attached to the train during the entire journey, except during the stops at San Francisco and in Chicago. An observation car will be added to all who delight in scenery. Few trips afford so great a diversity in Nature's beauties as the one outlined below. Westward bound, the tourists will pass through the wild slopes of the Colorado Rockies, around the Great Salt Lake, and over the fastnesses of the Sierra Nevada. After visiting all the beautiful resorts on the sunny California slope, the eastward journey will be through the Arizona desert to the Grand Canyon of Arizona. Its beauties cannot be painted in mere words. Magnificent in coloring, awful in its depths, it stands among the natural wonders of the world. Thence across the plains to St. Louis, and eastward through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, the tourists reach their destination just thirty days after leaving home.

The various transcontinental lines having made low rates on account of the General Triennial Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is enabled to offer this superb vacation trip at the low rate of $185 for the round trip from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, or any point on Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburgh, one in a berth; and $105 for the round trip, two persons occupying the same berth. The rate from Pittsburgh will be $85 less.

Diagrams are now open, and as the number who can be accommodated will be strictly limited, names should be registered immediately.

IT'S AN ILL OMEN.

Thinks the wife, to have the wedding ring slip from the finger. "Something is going to happen."

Something is happening. That ring could hardly be pulled from the finger when it was put there a few years ago. Now it slips off by its own weight. How thin the fingers have grown! And the fingers don't grow thin alone. How thin the face is and how thin the once plump form! Almost unconsciously the wife has been fading and wasting away. The strength given to children has never been regained. Drains which should have been stopped have been neglected.

"Words cannot be too grateful I am for your kind advice and good medicines," writes Mrs. John Cooke, of Hastings, Northumberland Co., Ontario. "I have been in poor health for years back and this spring got so bad I could not do my work. I went to the doctor and he said I had ulceration and filling of the uterus. I almost thought I was going to die. I took five bottles and three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and I can safely say that I never felt better in my life."

Nelaton's Remedy

For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md., writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md., writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any rheumatic pains or symptoms since and I tell any man, be he fisherman or suffer with rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tisch of Easton, Md., writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. E. R. Furrall of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows: I have used the NELATON RHEUMATISM with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Facts of General Interest Pertaining to Educational Matters.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 16th.

The School Board held an all day session on Monday and transacted considerable business. The Board has been giving special attention to school buildings throughout the county and some very necessary improvements were to be made in the Salisbury High School Building. Mr. Staton was authorized to have these made according to estimates presented, representing an outlay of about $300. The roofs and porches of this building, the blackboards, the plastering and the painting will be touched in the repairs and when done the general appearance will be greatly enhanced. The question of painting the exterior of the building was discussed, but deferred until later on. The Board also authorized Thos. H. Mitchell to fix up the basement for the Manual Training Department. This work will cost about $350, but the room will be put in good comfortable condition. This is a new departure in education in this county, but it is run out of an appropriation made by the State for that purpose. The work of repairing, moving and building in the various sections of the county was reported progressing finely.

The question of getting a teacher for the manual training work was settled by the Board on Monday. Mr. Bounds had selected Prof. Warren S. Sipple of Towson, Md., and he came before the Board and made a very favorable impression and a contract was closed with him and the fact of his having been a teacher in the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute for ten years, after graduating in the Institute is an evidence of his ability and the Board have the utmost confidence in the selector. He will aid Mr. Bounds in selecting and purchasing the outfit with which to run the school and will also superintend the work of preparing the building for this special department. Preparations for this department will begin at once, so as to be ready to begin teaching at the opening of school.

Some of the vacant scholarships were filled. Miss Julia Waller of Salisbury was selected to fill the scholarship at St. Mary's Female Seminary, out of three applicants, who took the competitive examination, Misses Waller, Nellie Darby and Clara Insley. Before the result of the examination was known to the Board it was decided to award it to the one who stood highest in the examination and it was accordingly given Miss Waller, the other two coming close to her. Miss Alice Waller was awarded the scholarship to Western Maryland College. This appointment was made by the Board and Senator Brewington, as the law provides, concurred in the selection. The vacancies at the State Normal School and the Normal Department of Washington College were not filled. These will likely be made at their next meeting, September 4th.

It was decided by the Board to open the schools on September 16th, the date set for the County Institute and begin the school work proper on September 23rd. The Board expect to get everything in readiness by that date and the week spent at the beginning in the Institute will fill the teachers with enthusiasm.

To fill the position filled last year by Prof. Wilder, it was decided to move up the present force of teachers and create a vacancy in the primary department. This was done and the vacancy in the primary department was not filled.

The Board decided to purchase a few single desks for some of the higher grade rooms and will supply a room or two of the Salisbury High School with them at an early date.

As to Pipe Organs.

The statement in last week's ADVERTISER that the pipe organ in Wicomico Presbyterian Church was the first pipe organ ever placed in a Salisbury church, was incorrect.

This organ, the first of its kind ever owned by Wicomico Presbyterian Church, was put in the church in the year 1879, while there has been a pipe organ in St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church for at least fifty years. Mr. Harvey Byrd, father of Mrs. Annie T. Morris, was among the first organists of the church. This Church has owned three pipe organs. In both the fires of 1860 and 1868 the Episcopal church was burned, destroying a pipe organ each time, the present one having been purchased since the last big fire of 1868 when the business portion of the town was entirely destroyed.

A Kentucky physician calls cholera a "manifestation of the dying phenomena of scorbutus." Very intelligible!

Rev. J. Edward Brooks and family have returned from a fortnight's visit among friends in Virginia. Mr. Brooks reports as having spent a very pleasant time and being greatly benefited by his little outing.

The camps are about over and so are the young men of Allen. Their eyes are badly out of gear and their minds wander at times. One young man is so worked up that at times a shock of tops is the same to him as "Dalcinea." When in the fodder field last Tuesday stripping blade fodder a spell of some "sort or other" that the doctors cannot account for came over him. During this spell he dropped his bunch of fodder, walked up to a shock of tops threw his arm around it, gently pressed it to his breast and whispered to the corn tassels: "Darling the power of the press is a great thing isn't it?" There was no answer—he revived—and will fight today in a minute.

The Fruitland correspondent asked a few weeks ago: "Did I dream it?" "or did it rain?" We assure you that we do not know Fruitland, but we think it snowed, it was plenty warm enough. Now for gracious sake don't ask this again if you have any regard for our buttons and the health of our community. We have lost he-he-he (excuse us for laughing now) every button off our vests laughing. Our people have made themselves ho-ho-ho (there we go again, we can't help it) sick laughing and an old horse died laughing at this very thing when told of it last Sunday week. Damage $40. No charge for buttons.

The salary is good, the school is most excellent and the town is superlatively fine and no reason why there is not a demand for the place.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Last Monday a party of young ladies took a straw ride to "Miles End Farm," the home of Mr. L. H. Cooper, where they were very hospitably received by the hostess Miss Philena Cooper. The morning was spent in driving and horseback riding. After dinner wading, bathing, fishing and rowing were indulged in. The shade and hammocks were very much enjoyed. Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your nearest express office. Address, J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.
