Demise Of Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford, Near Green Hill.

Messrs. Editors:—As the Advertiser has not made any previous mention of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford, wife of Mr. Horatio Nelson Crawford, which occurred on Sunday morning, September 18th, at her residence on the Wicomico river, near Green Hill you will permit me to make a brief mention of demise.

The writer had known her for more than thirty years, and he records with grateful mention, now that death has wrought its worst in that home, the many acts of unostentatious kindness which she bestowed upon others. In the years gone, the writer when weary and tired of travel often turned aside for rest and abode under this hospitable roof. Her husband is one of the best known men in the western section of the county. He is also one of the best informed gentlemen on the shore, and in his palmy days was one of the most entertaining conversationalists I have ever known. He has passed his 80th mile stone and is looking forward when he too, will join the innumerable caravan and lie down to pleasant dreams. But the hours spent in this home will always remain in my memory as a pleasant reminder of other days.

Mrs. Crawford was the daughter of the late Jonathan Phillips of Quantico district. She was united in marriage to Mr. H. N. Crawford in the winter of 1862. Five children were born to them, two of which died in infancy. A daughter, Miss Lillie, deceased in 1892. Mr. Harry T. Crawford, who conducts the farm, and Mrs. Hettie Anderson, of Baltimore, are the surviving children.

The funeral service took place on Tuesday morning following her death, from her late residence, conducted by the Rev. Franklin B. Adkins and was largely attended.

September 26th, 1904.

DO YOU WISH CASH
FOR YOUR FARM?

I will pay you cash for your farm or get you a purchaser. Write me at once a description of your farm and price. There is some one under the sun will buy your farm and I can find them sure. Yours Truly

A PASTOR'S WIFE CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. ANNA B. FLEHARTY, recent Superintendent of the W. G. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-seventh street, W., Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Fleharty says the following in regard to Peru-na:

"Having lived a very active life as wife and working partner of a busy minister, my health failed me a few years ago. I lost my husband about the same time, and gradually I seemed to lose health and spirit. My daughter is a confirmed invalid, and we both felt great need of an invigorator.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Peru-na. A bottle was immediately secured and a great change took place in my daughter's as well as in my own health. Our appetites improved very greatly, the digestion seemed much helped, and restful sleep soon improved us, so that we seemed like new women.

"I would not be without Peru-na for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna B. Fleharty.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female diseases. He therefore began using Peru-na for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peru-na has now become the most famous remedy for female diseases ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peru-na is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these

FOR BETTER ROADS.

People At Called Meeting So Decide And County Commissioners Pass Acceptance Resolutions. Messrs. Jones And Perry Preside.

The good-roads meeting which took place Tuesday in Parson's Opera House was a big success. The meeting was called to order at 11.00 by Mr. Thomas Perry. President of the County Commissioners, J. W. Jones, was made chairman and Mr. Wm. M. Cooper, secretary. Mr. Perry arose and stated the object of the meeting. This was discussed by the people present until they decided to adjourn till 2.00 o'clock in the afternoon when Mr. A. N. Johnson, the State Road Engineer, would be present.

Mr. Perry was made chairman of the afternoon meeting and he introduced Mr. Johnson, who proceeded to make a general explanation of the law and make suggestions for this county.

After a general discussion of the plans, etc., the following resolution was offered by Mr. A. J. Benjamin and after a general discussion was adopted.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the County Commissioners be requested to take the necessary measures to procure the State appropriation of ten thousand dollars to the county for the purpose of road building under the Act of the last Legislature. We suggest that the most feasible plan to appropriate this money will be by petition as suggested in the law, whereby the property owners along any section of the public road agree to pay 10 per cent of the cost of construction, as to the particular roads to be improved. These petitions shall be filed with the County Commissioners on or before November 15th, 1904."

This resolution will remove from the County Commissioners the responsibility as to what section of the county to begin work of improving the roads, and at the same time will add about $2,000 to the road fund from property holders who are anxious to have the road built first in their section.

The meeting was a very representative one, some of the largest tax payers in the county being among the number. Some of the gentlemen present were: Congressman W. H. Jackson, Wm. J. Downing, W. F. Allen, L. W. Gunby, L. W. Dorman, Lee Laws, Thomas Perry, Wm. M. Cooper, A. J. Benjamin, the entire Board of County Commissioners, ex-Commander E. S. S. Turner, the Messrs. Pusey, R. Frank Williams, Thomas Williams, Wm. Bounds, W. J. Staton, A. J. Benjamin, and many other prominent citizens. It was the opinion of all present that in taking this initiative Wicomico County has started on an era of renewed prosperity. Of course it will be necessary to levy a special tax to meet the expense of this improvement, but it seemed to be the opinion of tax-payers present that within a few years the benefits to be derived would more than repay the additional cost of the tax rate.

The people of the State are fast awaking to the fact that the poor condition of roads, wherever they occur, has not been altogether the result of shortness of road appropriations, but due, in part to the manner in which the money has been applied, and that the same amount of money scientifically applied will in comparatively few years guarantee a system of satisfactory roads which the outlay and toil of years has failed to produce. The State Aid Road Law, which was passed at the last legislature has already aroused more than ordinary interest, as is shown by the many applications to the Maryland Geological Survey for plans and estimates of the cost of modern macadam roads, which many of the Boards of County Commissioners purpose to make under the new road law.

The most earnest advocates of scientifically built roads have never urged that a system of modern roads could be secured at once, but it has been repeatedly pointed out and demonstrated by experience that a system of good roads can be gradually and conveniently built up by adding each year small pieces of modern roads wherever the conditions most demand improvement. As an example of the comparison between the results produced under the wasteful methods of the past and the results of scientifically built roads, it has been shown that had Montgomery county spent one-half of the amount of money its roads have cost in the past fifteen years in the building of modern roads during the same length of time, forty-five miles of good macadam roads would now furnish easy access to all the main points of the county. But such is not the case, and forty-five miles of good macadam roads have not been built during this time in Montgomery or any other County of this State. It has been shown also that, should the Counties of Maryland take up the total amount of State aid under the Shoemaker law, it would be impossible to build one thousand miles of modern or State roads within ten years, enough to insure easy traffic between all parts of the State. And the residents of the Counties under the new law have the matter entirely in their own hands, for they know that by the pledge of two-thirds of the property owners along a piece of road to pay ten per cent of the cost of building, the Road Commissioners of the County can be forced to petition for the allotted share of State aid. Again, it is well to emphasize the fact that the Shoemaker law puts within reach of the real producers in a community a very good thing at a very reasonable price to the County; namely, one-half the actual expense.

Recent mention has been made of movements in Montgomery, Harford, Prince George's and Caroline Counties to take advantage of the State aid road fund. A number of the Counties have provided themselves with expert Road Engineers to handle or direct most of their work. Prince George's County is planning on a large scale, Harford County has actually begun some of its work, and Baltimore County wants to build a mile of State road in each of her fifteen districts.

BUSY COURT DAYS

Now On And Probability Of Two Or Three Weeks Term. Grand Jury And The Proceedings Of The Week Closing Yesterday.

The September term of the Circuit Court of Wicomico county convened Monday morning at ten o'clock, with Chief Judge Page and Associate Judges Holland and Lloyd on the bench. The calling of the docket revealed the following cases: 51 trials, 7 appeals, 19 criminal appearances, 6 criminal continuances. There are six removed cases on the docket, one from Dorchester and five from Worcester county.

Grand Jury: James M. Jones, (foreman), Levin Hastings, Elijah Hearn, Robert H. Lowe, Wm. Waller, Wm. R. Laws, Irving Twilley, John W. Adkins, John A. S. Hearn, Geo. W. Adkins, Benj. W. Bethards, John L. Powell, H. James Truitt, Fred A. Crockett, Alva H. Walker, Handy Dennis, Fred Parker, Chas. E. Bennett, (clerk), Blain Harcum, Ernest Griffith, James C. Johnson, Oscar T. Insley, H. Noah White.

Judge Holland in instructing the Grand Jury as to their duties, took occasion to speak of the roads in Wicomico County: "Gentlemen of the jury, you are to examine the condition of the county roads and in making your report you are to advise of any improvement that you think necessary. I am glad to say that there is a movement on foot for the improvement of our public highways in the county. This is a subject near to my heart. Wicomico county has made great improvement in the past twenty years, and if this movement goes through, she will make still more advancement in the next twenty years."

The first case of importance tried Monday was No. 6, Appeals, the Baltimore Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company vs. Eben B. German. Appeal from Justice Boston. German sued the railway company for wages claimed to be due for his services as painter and obtained judgement before the magistrate. The railway company appealed and the case was tried before a jury, which brought in a verdict for German, assessing damages at $25.60 and costs. R. P. Graham represented the railway company, Elmer H. Walton and G. W. D. Waller, the appellee.

Tuesday.

A. Turner and George R. Hitch.

IN MEMORIAM.

Monellous J. Mills died at his home in Royal Oak on September 23rd with paralytic fits. The deceased was 66 years old the same day as his death. He seemed to be as well as usual that morning and, after he had eaten his breakfast, he went out of doors to do some carpentering work, which he had been at about two hours when his wife and little girl heard some one moaning. They ran to the place where he had been working and found him lying unconscious on his face. The little girl went for his sons, who were at work about a half mile from home. They carried him to the house, where he lived about three hours longer. He had been a great sufferer of rheumatism for the past forty-five years.

Mr. Mills leaves a widow and ten children. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Joshua Hopkins. In our blindness we cannot see why our Heavenly Father should take our father from us, but we thank the Lord that the veil will be lifted some day and then we will understand. We loved him, yes, we loved him, but angels loved him more. And they have gently called him to yonder shining shore.

"BUT"

"But" is the word of the waverer—the one who thinks there may be a finer fruit across the hedge, or a little farther along the way, and passes by the best—even the good—to where the inferior is, after which there is nothing.

"But"—used as it generally is—keeps out new ways of doing things, stifles ambition, brings narrowness of mind and petty methods of living.

Use the word this way, and see how it will help you—

But there is no store so good as Hochschild, Kohn & Co.'s, and I will be unwise to go anywhere else.

But I can't buy such pretty, fashionable things at any other store as I can get at Hochschild, Kohn & Co.'s. The other stores don't have them.

But I have never met such willing, courteous salespeople as I find at Hochschild, Kohn & Co.'s. It is a real pleasure to shop there.

But I want to save money, and I can do it by going to Hochschild, Kohn & Co.'s.

Funeral services for S. J. Brown, the engineer who was killed last Thursday night in the wreck on the N. Y. P. N. R. R., were held in the M. E. Church here on Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. Webster and G. W. Townsend. The attendance was very large. Mr. Brown was a prominent and active member of the church, the Delmar Lodge A. O. U. W. attended in a body. The remains were interred in the cemetery near town.

Mr. Joseph Frazier has a lemon tree in bearing, one of the lemons being twelve inches in circumference.

An electrical, rain and hail storm occurred here on Tuesday between 12.30 and 1.15 p. m. Lightning struck the residence of Levin S. Hastings.

Mr. Edward W. Palmer has resigned his position as engineer on the N. Y. P. & N. R. R.

Miss E. Hughes has secured the services of Miss Monrich as her assistant in her millinery store for the fall trade. The opening display of fall goods will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 4th and 5th.

Misses Stella Hitchens and Helen Lowe returned from Baltimore on Wednesday.

The firm of Hitchens and Lowe will exhibit the autumn and winter styles in Millinery on Oct. 6th, 7th and 8th.

Miss Minnie Maslin, of Kent county, was drowned near Rock Hall on Wednesday, by falling from a sailing boat, and another woman narrowly escaped losing her life in attempting to save her.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by all druggists, 75 cents.

Reduced One-way Colonist Rates.

From September 14 to October 14, inclusive, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell one-way Colonist tickets from all points in its territory to Western and Southwestern points at greatly reduced rates, thus affording a specially attractive opportunity to visit the growing and rapidly developing crop-producing sections of the great Western Empire. Detailed information as to rates and times of trains can be had of all Pennsylvania Railroad ticket agents.

The Damascus Christian Church, on Timber Ridge, was dedicated on September 4. Probably 1,000 people attended the services. About $300 was raised toward paying off the debt on the church, which is now clear of all debts.

Mr. Al Howard, who has recently returned from a business trip to Chincoteague Island, reports the mosquito crop unprecedented and almost worth a man's life to spend a night in that section. We are not entirely exempt ourselves, unfortunately.

Mr. E. G. Kenly spent a portion of this week with Gov. Warfield, at Annapolis.

Miss Zenobia Hanes, who has been a guest of the Bakers, Eagle Nest, returned to her home in Kansas city on Tuesday.

Mr. Joseph B. Myres, of Philadelphia, son of the late John B. Myres, and Mr. Charles Evans of Porters, Del., guests of the Shamrock, Ocean City, were in Berlin leaving on the one train Wednesday for home.

Miss Andasia Purnell, of Snow Hill, who this term has charge of the school at Whaleyville was a guest of her aunt at Barley Farm late Friday until the early train Monday.

Mrs. Frank Barnes, who has been a guest of Mrs. John T. Keas for a week, returned to her home in Pocomoke Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas Hammond one of Berlin's artistic shoe merchants, paid New York City a business visit this week.

Miss Maud Whaley, of Bishopville, spent several days with her sister, Mrs. John T. Keas, this week.

Prof. Thomas Spence, who has been spending his summer at Landowne, near Snow Hill, left Berlin Monday afternoon for his duties at the Maryland Agricultural College. Owing to recent blessings and family ties, Mr. Spence will join her husband later.

Mr. R. F. Canfield, representing the firm of Sanders Stayman Co., Baltimore, Pianos and Organs, who has been at the Atlantic for a week left Thursday for a short visit to his family in Norfolk. Mr. Canfield is anxious and desirous of making Berlin his home if a suitable home can be secured.

Mrs. Henry Godfrey had the misfortune last Monday to stick a nail through the sole of her shoe and foot, which has proven not only painful but a cause of some anxiety. Under Dr. E. J. Dirickson's skillful treatment 'tis to be hoped she will soon be entirely relieved.

Mr. Calvin B. Taylor attended the Wicomico County Court Thursday.

Miss Clara Dirickson was a visitor in Salisbury for several days the past week.

Messrs. Thomas Savage, Frank Bartlett, Jerry Campbell, Thomas Gray and Charley Rayne attended the Snow Hill races Tuesday.

The old Zadok P. Henry property recently purchased by H. F. Harmonson is being entirely remodeled and greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Dirickson, Jr., returned from the World's Fair Monday.

Mr. Henry Bell paid Georgetown a business visit Wednesday.

Mrs. Thomas T. Savage, who has paid Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City a three weeks' visit, returned Wednesday night.

The ball game at Snow Hill Wednesday was 11 to 7 in favor of Berlin.

Berlin talent entirely furnished the material and sport.

Mrs. Ernest Steele, of Magnolia, Del., and two children are visiting at the home of Mr. George Hammond, her father on Main Street.

Mr. Chester Nicholson, who has been at Chester attending a school of Telegraphy, is home again.

Mr. William Hastings, who has been confined to a sick bed for the past ten days, is improving.

Miss Maggie Johnson for the first time in four years visited Ocean City accompanied by Miss Agnes Cropper.

Miss May Sayers, who has been spending the past summer at Ocean City and a short visit to friends in Berlin, left Monday for a winding up visit to New York before returning to her home in Norfolk.

The store-house of Lemuel A. Hall and contents, also Beathards' blacksmith shop at Powellville, were burned last Friday. There was an insurance on Hall's store and stock.

Messrs. Burbage, Rayne, Furber, Harrison, Purnell, Whaley, Parker, Bowen and Rayne, who were visitors at the World's Fair, have arrived home safely.

Mr. Robert Langrall, accompanied by Miss Easton, who have been guests at Longwell Point for a week, left Saturday for Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William Loffland, who were guests of the Atlantic for several days, returned to Lewes, Del. Monday.

Mrs. Lemuel Showell and Miss Vandain Showell, her daughter, who have been visiting in St. Louis, Mo., have returned to Ocean City.

Mr. and Mrs. Mumford, of Cape Charles, Va. and one of our most successful bankers was for several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Taylor on Main Street. Mr. Mumford is looking remarkably well.

Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft, who have been visiting friends in attendance at Ocean Grove Camp also taking in the World's Fair during Mr. Bancroft's vacation, returned Friday.

The races at Snow Hill Tuesday, on account of the weather unfortunately could not be styled a perfect success. Berlin had a taste of the same last year but very much worse.

Mr. Al Howard, who has recently returned from a business trip to Chincoteague Island, reports the mosquito crop unprecedented and almost worth a man's life to spend a night in that section. We are not entirely exempt ourselves, unfortunately.

Mr. E. G. Kenly spent a portion of this week with Gov. Warfield, at Annapolis.

Miss Zenobia Hanes, who has been a guest of the Bakers, Eagle Nest, returned to her home in Kansas city on Tuesday.

Mr. Joseph B. Myres, of Philadelphia, son of the late John B. Myres, and Mr. Charles Evans of Porters, Del., guests of the Shamrock, Ocean City, were in Berlin leaving on the one train Wednesday for home.

Miss Andasia Purnell, of Snow Hill, who this term has charge of the school at Whaleyville was a guest of her aunt at Barley Farm late Friday until the early train Monday.

Mrs. Frank Barnes, who has been a guest of Mrs. John T. Keas for a week, returned to her home in Pocomoke Tuesday.

Mr. Thomas Hammond one of Berlin's artistic shoe merchants, paid New York City a business visit this week.

Miss Maud Whaley, of Bishopville, spent several days with her sister, Mrs. John T. Keas, this week.

Prof. Thomas Spence, who has been spending his summer at Landowne, near Snow Hill, left Berlin Monday afternoon for his duties at the Maryland Agricultural College. Owing to recent blessings and family ties, Mr. Spence will join her husband later.

Mr. R. F. Canfield, representing the firm of Sanders Stayman Co., Baltimore, Pianos and Organs, who has been at the Atlantic for a week left Thursday for a short visit to his family in Norfolk. Mr. Canfield is anxious and desirous of making Berlin his home if a suitable home can be secured.

Mrs. Henry Godfrey had the misfortune last Monday to stick a nail through the sole of her shoe and foot, which has proven not only painful but a cause of some anxiety. Under Dr. E. J. Dirickson's skillful treatment 'tis to be hoped she will soon be entirely relieved.

Miss Emma Tucker, daughter of Mr. A. S. Tucker, residing near town was married to Mr. Edward Jackson at half past six o'clock Wednesday morning in the M. E. Church by the Rev. Mr. Bancroft who officiated in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Williams. The bridal couple left on the early train for New York state, their future home.

Miss Gay Harrington and sister, Mrs. Edward Brooks and children, who have recently been visiting Cambridge, returned this week accompanied by Mrs. Samuel Goslee.

Cards were received at noon Wednesday announcing the coming marriage of Miss Laura Henry Dashiell, formerly of Princess Anne, to Mr. William Hall Jones, Jr., Wednesday October twelfth, nineteen hundred and four at 2 o'clock, at their home, Columbia, Missouri. Mr. Jesse is a nephew of Miss Addie Folk, also of Princess Anne, before marriage and well remembered by friends in our community.

Dr. James C. Dirickson returned Monday from the St. Louis Fair, and reports a most delightful and satisfactory visit. Many of his old friends were remembered during his absence and generously presented with souvenirs the morning after his arrival.

Mrs. Edward Tyler, who accompanied Dr. Jim returned also, describing the many attractions as something wonderful and worth the cost of the trip ten fold.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Anderson last Friday evening pleasantly entertained a few of their friends at their home on Main Street. Among those invited and present were, Mrs. Frank Barnes, of Pocomoke, Mr. and Mrs. John Keas, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Cyrus Dirickson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whaley, Miss Maud Whaley, of Bishopville, Mrs. Wilbur C. Keas, Misses Ella Purnell, Kate Hammond, Ella Massey, Katherine Massey, Gentlemen: Dr. T. Y. Franklin, Dr. Zadock P. Henry, John D. Henry, Levin Dirickson and Gordon A. Marshall. Miss Catherine most gracefully assisted Mrs. Anderson in entertaining, and tempting refreshments served concluded a most delightful evening.

"Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves." Large things are but an aggregation of small things we are in effect taking care of the large things which the small things combine to make.

Take care of what you eat, and how you eat, and your stomach will take care of itself. But who takes care of such trivial things? That is why, someday, the majority of people have to take care of the stomach. When that day comes, there is no aid so effective in undoing the results of past carelessness as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach and restores the organs of digestion and nutrition to a condition of healthy activity. It cures biliousness, heartburn, flatulence, indigestion, palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities and a score of other ailments which are but the symptoms of disorder in the stomach and its allied organs.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.
How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours:
a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder,
and every part of the urinary passage.
It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr.

CHAPTER XIII.

SIX days out from the capes of Delaware bay, and the Ranger was cruising between Halifax and Boston, about 100 leagues east of Cape Sable. If there be truth in the maxim that a ship is never fit for action until she has been a week at sea, the Ranger might be considered as ready for any emergency now. The crew had thoroughly learned their stations; they and the officers had become acquainted with each other; the possibilities of the ship in different weather and on various points of sailing had been ascertained. The drill at quarters twice daily and the regular target practice with great guns and the exercises with small arms had materially developed the offensive and defensive possibilities of the ship.

The already warm friendship between Seymour and Talbot, now thrown into close association by the necessary confinement of a small ship, had grown into an intimacy, and they held many discussions concerning their absent friends in the long hours of the night watches. Talbot had learned through common rumor before they sailed that Colonel Wilton would probably be sent to England with Lord Dunmore, whose retirement under the vigorous policy pursued by the Virginians under the leadership of Patrick Henry, who had been elected governor, was inevitable, and he did not doubt but that Katharine would accompany her father. He had never told Seymour of the plans which had involved the destinies of Katharine and himself, and something had restrained him from mentioning either his hopes or his affection for her, though time and absence had but intensified his passion until it was the consuming idea of his soul.

This reserve was matched by a similar reticence on the part of Seymour, who had said nothing of the note he had received and had not communicated the news of his own successful suit to his unsuspecting rival. Seymour had a much clearer apprehension of the situation than Talbot and, intrenched in Katharine's confession, could endure it without disquiet, magnanimous-ly saying nothing which could disturb his less favored rival.

The situation, however, was clearly an impossible one, and that there would be a sudden break in the friendship, when Talbot found out the true state of affairs, he did not doubt. This was a grief to him, for he really liked the young man and would gladly have spared his friend any pain if it were possible. However, since there was only one Kate in the world, and she was his, he saw no way out of the difficulty and could only allow Talbot to drift along blindly in his fool's paradise until his eyes were opened. Both the young men were favorites with Captain Jones, and he treated them in a very different manner from that he usually assumed to his subordinates, for Jones was a man to be respected and feared rather than loved.

Late in the afternoon, the ship being under all plain sail on the port tack, heading due west, the voice of the lookout on the main royal yard floated down to the deck in that thrilling always thrilling at sea and was doubly so in this instance:

"Sail, ho!"

Motioning to the officer of the deck,
Jones himself replied in his powerful voice:

"Where away?"

"Broad off the lee beam, sir."

"Can you make her out?"

"No, sir; not yet."

"Well, keep your eye lifting, my man, and sing out when you do. Mr.
Simpson," he said, turning to the officer of the deck, "let her go off a couple of points."

"Aye, aye, sir. Up with the helm, quartermaster, round in the weather braces, rise tacks and sheets."

The speed of the ship going free was materially increased at once, and in a few moments the lookout once more hailed the deck:

"I can make her out now, sir."

"What is it?"

"A ship, sir—aye, and there is another one with her, and a third. I can't tell what she is, sir. The first one looks like a large ship."

"Mr. Wallingford, take the glass and go up the cross-trees and see what you make of them, sir," said the captain.

"Very good, sir," replied the lieutenant, springing into the main rigging and rapidly ascending to the cross-trees, glass in hand.

"Gentlemen, we will have a nearer look at these gentry," continued the captain, glancing back at the officers, who had all come up from below,
while the men, equally interested, were crowding on the forecastle and gazing eagerly in the direction of the reported sails, which were not yet visible from the deck.

"On deck, there!"

"Aye, aye! What is it?"

"I can make out five ships, and two brigs, and a schooner, and some other sails just rising, all close hauled on the port tack. I think there are more of them, sir, but I can't say yet. We are rapidly drawing on them and shall be able to make them out in a minute.
I think it is a convoy or a fleet."

"That will do, Mr. Wallingford. Lay down on deck, sir. Give the glass to the man on the royal yard, though, before you come. Who is he?"

"It is me, sir—Jack Thompson."

"Keep a bright lookout then, Thompson, and if you see an enemy's fleet or convoy it means a glass of grog and a guinea for you when your watch is over."

"Thankee, sir!" cried the delighted seaman.

"Mr. Wallingford, could you make anything out of the size of the ships?"

"One of them I should say was a large ship, a frigate or ship of the line possibly. The others were too far off."

"It can't be a fleet," replied Captain Jones. "There are not so many of the enemy's ships to either of these waters. If we are correctly informed,

I suspect it must be a lot of merchantmen and transports conveyed by two or three men-of-war. Now is our op-
his eyes sparkling with delight. "They are apparently beating in for Halifax, and probably the Mellish, our transport, will be among them. We will try them a visit tonight in any event.
I wouldn't let them pass by without a box or two if they were a fleet of two deckers."

Apparently this reckless bravado entirely suited the ship's company, for one of the men who had heard the doughty captain's speech called for three cheers, which were given with a will.

"Aye, that's a fine, hearty crew and full of fight. Call on all hands, Mr.
Simpson."

This was more or less a perfunctory order, since every man from the jack-of-the-dust to the captain was already on deck.

"Mr. Seymour," said Jones to the first lieutenant, who had taken the trumpet at the call of all hands, "we must dress for the ball, and our best disguise for the present will be that of a merchantman. I don't suppose that the English imagine that we have a secret agent in the waters, and possibly they won't see us against this cloud bank in this twilight, so we can see them against the setting sun; but we will be on the safe side for the few moments of daylight left us. They may be looking at us over there, so we will hoist the English flag at once, and, as we are nearing them, a little too rapidly, better brail up the fore and main sails and take in the royals and the fore and main topgal-lants for the present and slack off the running gear. Then beat to quarters, and have the guns run in and double shot, close the ports and have the arms distributed; clear the forecastle, too, except of two or three men, and bid everybody observe the strictest quiet, especially when we get in among the convoy," he continued rapidly.

"You can see them now from the deck, sir," said Lieutenant Simpson, handing the glass to the captain.

"Aye, you can, but not well. Main royal there, can you make them out any better?"

"Yes, sir. There's eighteen sail of them; one is a frigate and one looks like a sloop of war, sir. The rest is merchantmen, some of 'em armed."

"Very good. Have they seen us yet?"

"Don't appear to take no notice on us so far, sir."

"Come down from aloft then and get your grog and guinea, Jack. Won't need you up there any more. It is getting too dark to see anything there anyway. Beat to quarters, Mr. Seymour. Ah, there go the lights in the convoy!"

For the next few moments the decks presented a scene of wild confusion, which gradually settled down into an orderly quiet, the various directions of the captain were promptly carried out and the ship was speedily prepared for the conflict, though outwardly she had lost her warlike appearance and now resembled a peaceful trader.

While the Ranger had been slowly drawing nearer to the sluggish fleet of merchantmen and their convoy the early twilight of the late season faded away and soon gave place to darkness.
The night was cloudy, the sky being much overcast, and there was no moon, all of which was well for the present purpose.

The men thoroughly appreciated the hazardous nature of this advance upon the unsuspecting fleet, protected by two heavy vessels of war, either of which was probably much stronger than their own ship, but the very audacity and boldness with which the affair was being carried out thoroughly suited the daring crew.

Most of them had stripped to the waist in anticipation of the coming conflict, for they felt confident that the fleet would not escape without a battle, and during the next hour they clustered about the guns, quietly whispering among themselves and eagerly waiting the events of the night. The nervous strain appeared to affect everybody except the imperturbable captain, but the deep silence was unbroken save by low voiced commands from the first lieutenant. All sail had been made as soon as it had become thoroughly dark, the yards properly braced and the guns run out again.

Time to Stop.

The residents of Tlalpam, Mexico, complain that the public clock of that town is useless. Repairs are made every week, but every week the clock gets out of repair and can never be kept in good condition. This is perhaps for the good reason that the Tlalpam clock is probably the oldest public clock on the American continent. It was installed at the cathedral of that city in the year 1585. In 1700 it was donated to the council of San Augustin de las Cuevas, now Tlalpam, when it was installed there and set in motion.
Since that time it has never undergone repairs until a few weeks ago. This clock therefore has told the time for 247 years, and it is but natural that it is tired and wants to be sent to a nuseum.

A Faithful Bell.

Devout upholders of women's rights have always protested against being addressed in church as "brethren." Will they be more content to be called,
"You, my female brethren?" For this gem of language Archbishop Wilberforce was responsible in his glowing peroration at the recent anti-slavery meeting in St. James' hall, a verbatim report of which appeared in the current issue of the "Standard." A bullet cannot be let die, but the London Chronicle hopes that female orators will not retaliate by addressing us as "You, my male sisters."

NEW YORK WILL BE DEMOCRATIC.

The most important political event of the week just passed, was the State Convention of the Democracy of New York. To find anything at all comparable to it in point of attendance and enthusiasm it would be necessary to go back as far as 1876, when Samuel J. Tilden, was the leader of his party in state and nation. So far as freedom from factional disturbance is concerned, this year's convention must take its place in a class by itself. The ticket, which has been placed in the field, is representative of the best thought and aspiration of an absolutely united and aggressive party and its hearty endorsement by the Democratic and Independent press of the state is ample guarantee that it will poll a tremendous vote, and redeem the state from Republican mis-rule.

PREPARING TO WIN.

Democrats of the South and elsewhere, who have been led through Republican misrepresentation to believe that the Democratic managers were either dilatory or incompetent, would have an entirely different feeling if they were able to pay a visit to the Democratic national headquarters, get into touch with the men who have been entrusted with the management of the campaign and see for themselves what a prodigious amount of work is being done. In previous campaigns it has been the policy of the Republicans to make a loud noise and claim everything, but this year they have adopted the plan of comparative silence as to their own moves, while at the same time they have systematically ridiculed and misrepresented the doings of their opponents. This course on their part has not for a moment deceived or disconcerted Chairman Taggart or any of his co-workers at Democratic Headquarters. As a matter of fact, as Col. Watterson, in one of his able and vigorous editorials has pointed out, the Democratic national campaign is in able hands and the work thus far accomplished will not suffer by comparison with that done at this stage of the campaign in previous presidential years. The work of the committee up to this time has been largely of a confidential nature and it has been thoroughly done. Now begins the heavy work of the campaign, and not many days will have passed ere the Republicans will have ample evidence that the Democracy is wide awake and well equipped in every respect to win a decisive victory.

The Campaign Book, which has just come from the press, copies of which will soon be in the hands of every Democratic speaker, reflects no little credit upon the men who compiled it. It is replete with accurate information upon all the issues of the campaign and with arguments in support of the Democratic position which the enemy will find it difficult to satisfactorily answer. The book has been prepared with unusual care and with a scrupulous regard for fair and honest dealing, which will make a favorable impression upon the minds of all intelligent persons, who place facts above fancy and candid discussion above railery. Judge Parker's letter of acceptance, which has been so anxiously awaited, even by the opposition, will prove to be one of the ablest state papers ever published.

At a vestry meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Berlin, the Rev. Howard England, of Seaford, was called to the rectorate throne recently made vacant by the resignation of Rev. J. G. Ganitt.

The officials expect to move the Post office into their new quarters in the Masonic Temple tonight. Salisbury will then have one of the finest Post Offices in the State. The Cumberland Post Office has just moved into their new building also.

Among the young students that have left for College this week are: Miss Alice Walles and Mr. William Sheppard, Western Maryland College, Mr. Emory Coughlin, Post Graduate Course at Washington College, and Miss Alma Lankford at Randolph Macon Woman's College.

At their meeting last Wednesday evening, the Jackson Chapter Epworth League of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church elected the following delegates to the District Convention, which meets in Berlin this month. They are Misses Maria Ellegood and Dorothy Wilcox; Alternates, Misses Clara Walton and Minnie Nelson.

Next at Ulman's Opera House the famous Brotherton's W. W. Minstrels will appear. They will come in their own private car and will appear thirty strong, every one an artist. At noon a street parade will be given and in the evening an open air concert of both classical and modern music rendered as only expert musicians can. Thursday, October 6. Prices, 25, 35, 50. Tickets on sale Monday at Box office.

Wicomico is well represented at St. John's College for the sessions 1904-1905. Those who have entered this year at that historic institution are, Messrs. Wallace Powell, Alfred Colons, Herbert Fooks and Linden Allen, of Salisbury, Marvin Nelson, of Rockawalkin, and Pratt Phillips, and Walter Bailey of Quantico. Mr. Harry Willing of Nanticoke, is a senior, and Messrs. Herman Hodgson, of Quantico, and William P. Morris, of Salisbury, are Juniors at the same college, giving the county a large representation of young men.

The building commission for the new High School Building at a meeting Tuesday night rejected the bids for the new building. Messrs. Stenon and Bonds, and Lee Johnson and John Windsor of this city had bids on file. In each case the price was more than the Commission could afford and all bids were rejected. New plans and specifications will be asked for from the architects and new bids received some time the first of next month.

Mr. A. M. Jackson was admitted to practice at the Wicomico county bar, yesterday. Mr. Jackson, who is a young lawyer, from Jacksonton, Cecil county, is 23 years old and has come to Salisbury to practice law. He is a graduate of Newark High School, Delaware State Normal and Delaware College, read law at the University of Maryland and in his last year at College had charge of one of the divisions of the Tribe, Guarantee and Trust Co. With his mother he will reside in Mrs. C. W. Bradley's house on Ensh Street.

Mr. I. Ulman, is in receipt of a letter, dated Sept. 28, 1904, from Mace and Nathan, managers of the Cambridge Opera House saying: "F. H. Decker's Moving Picture Entertainment was given in the Auditorium last night to the largest audience we have had in the last three or four years in our House and gave general satisfaction. They show humorous, historical and pathetic scenes, especially the latter in the case of the General Slocum disaster in New York harbor. Will be at Ulman's Opera House, Saturday, October 8. Prices of admission, 15, 25, 35.

Messrs. J. R. T. Laws, John Laws and C. Edgar Laws, trading as Laws Brothers, executed a deed of trust last Saturday morning, naming James E. Ellegood and Walter B. Miller as trustees. The liabilities of the firm will amount, it is stated, to about $9,000 including a mortgage of $4,000 on the store building. It is thought the assets will very nearly equal the liabilities. The large three-story brick store house owned by the firm is one of the handsomest on Main Street, and is very desirably located and will no doubt sell for a good price.

Misses Eliza, Lottie, Carrie and Nellie Fish, Mary Houston, Irma Graham, Annie Toadvine and Grace Ellegood expect to leave next week for the World's Fair. Misses Eliza, Lottie and Carrie Fish will extend their trip to Freeport, La. where they will visit relatives. Miss Grace Ellegood will visit friends in Hannibal, Mo. before she returns home. Misses Annie Toadvine and Irma Graham will be guests of Mrs. Joseph Graham, where Miss Toadvine will spend the winter. The party will be joined on their return home by Miss Letitia Houston, who has been spending some time in the west.

The Jackson Chapter Epworth League of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church held a business meeting last Wednesday evening when they elected the new set of officers for the coming term. They are: president, Mr. Elmer H. Walton; First vice-president, Mrs. Adam Stengle; Second vice-president, Mrs. L. Atwood Bennett; Third vice-president, Miss Minnie Nelson; Fourth vice-president, Miss Bertha Stengle; secretary, Miss Dorothy Wilcox; treasurer, Miss Minnie Mitchell; pianist, Miss Grace Ellegood; Choir Director, Miss Clara Walton. The first Prayer Service of the League this season will be held next Sunday evening at 6.45. Miss Dorothy Wilcox, who is the leader for the evening, has prepared a special program.

HON. THOS. A. SMITH'S

Speech of Acceptance in Part. Deplorable Tendency of Republican Administration, And Says White Supremacy Must Be Recognized.

"Some weeks ago my friends were kind enough to urge my candidacy for this honor before the Democratic convention which first met at Ocean City on August the 10th. After mature deliberation, it was the sense of that representative body of Democrats that another should be nominated, and the choice fell upon one of our most distinguished citizens—a gentleman who has represented his county in both branches of the General Assembly of Maryland, and who was later elected Governor of our commonwealth. In these several positions of trust his record was characterized by a conscientious regard for the people's best interests, and he justly deserves their respect and confidence. His splendid services to the Democratic party and his devotion to its principles made it proper that others should defer to him. My friends and I cheerfully acquiesced in the nomination of the Hon. Elihu E. Jackson and returned to our homes ready to give him our best support. He declined the honor, however, and it became necessary for the convention to select another to be the Democratic standard-bearer in the approaching contest in this Congressional district.

The attitude of the Democratic party has always been and is today the antithesis of the Republican position. We favor a tariff for revenue only, to meet the expenses of the government when honestly and economically administered. Any other kind of tariff is mere robbery, because it takes from the pocket of the consumer that which belongs to him and not to another. Using the language of one of our great daily papers, "The Republican party, which insists that the tariff should be reversed by its friends has made its friendly revisions ten times since the close of war, and the average duty is now higher than it was forty years ago."

The Republican party seeks to lull our people into slumber by the soothing song of "Prosperity," and at the same time it is stabbing them in the back and sapping their very life-blood with an onerous tariff system which is both unjust and indefensible. While our people may be in some cases receiving more for what they sell, this is counteracted by more than a proportionate increase in the prices at which they purchase.

Again, the Republican party by word and act would acquire possessions in the other hemisphere, thousands of miles from our borders, and would hold them as trophies of war. In order to do this there must be maintained a large standing army at a tremendous cost to our people. These tendencies are undemocratic, and such attempts are wholly inconsistent with the spirit of peace and liberty abroad in the land, and with the fundamental principles of popular government such as ours is.

I view with alarm these departures from our conservative policy of government, and believe that militarism is a long step toward autocratic government. The Democratic party stands unalterably for peace and for universal liberty. Our rapid progress as a nation has been built upon this principle more than upon any other and now to commit our government to the policy of imperialism would be to trample under foot the doctrine which has been a cardinal one in our national life.

The mission of this country is to emphasize freedom and to raise the standard of citizenship—to encourage liberty and not to restrain it.

Again the race question has been made an issue in both national and State campaigns, and the responsibility of its being an issue lies at the door of the Republican party. They inaugurated it when they gave to the negroes of the country the elective franchise before they were ready for it, and because they were unfit to exercise the right of suffrage their votes became a menace to good government, inasmuch as their votes were influenced by prejudice and not by reason. The negro at that moment and by that unparalleled action became an issue, and President Roosevelt, by his effort to place him on social equality with the Anglo-Saxon race, has intensified the problem.

I am in favor of doing that which will best benefit the race and that which will make its members most useful in our civic life, but it will not be accomplished along such lines. The supremacy and superiority of the white man must be recognized, and when this question is once finally settled the benefits to the colored race will be immediate and lasting.

Notice of Renewal OF BOAT LIEN

By Scieri Facias.

The State of Maryland to the Sheriff of Wicomico County, Greeting:

WHEREAS Heretofore (to wit, on the 15th day of September, 1903) a certain Otis Lloyd filed a claim in the Circuit Court for Wicomico county and State of Maryland, for the sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents, against the sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo" and the reputed owner, Wm. P. Andrews;

AND WHEREAS, it is alleged that the said sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents remains due and unpaid to the said Otis Lloyd;

Now We Command You, That you make known to the said William P. Andrews, and to all such persons as may hold or possess the said sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo," that they be and appear before the Circuit Court for Wicomico county on the 4th Monday of September, inst., to show, if any they know or have to say, why the said sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents should not be levied of the said sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo," according to the form and effect of the Act of Assembly, in such case made and provided, if to them it shall seem expedient; and have you then and there this writ.

As witness the Hon. Henry Page, Chief Judge of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland, the 4th day of July, 1904.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D.D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 25.—At the close of the vacation season and the opening of a new period of activity in the churches this sermon comes as a call to arms to all who are eager for spiritual conquest. The text is Revelation III, 8, "I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it."

Have you ever roamed over any of the great battlefields of the world? Have you ever stood upon Lookout Mountain and had an old Federal or Confederate soldier point out to you the chief places where the great "battle above the clouds" was fought? Have you ever walked along the stone fence of Fredericksburg, toward which "Fighting Joe" Hooker drove his troops in three heroic charges, but near to which that great giant of war, James Longstreet, had planted his cannon? Have you ever walked over the historical sites of Bull Run or Antietam or Shiloh or Fair Oaks or Vicksburg? Well, if you have and at the same time if you have studied these battlefields intelligently, you have been impressed with one gigantic idea. A battlefield is not, as a rule, a mere happy hazard of place, where a mere happy hazard of chance has decided the issue. The armies are in mortal combat, but a carefully chosen position, affording opportunities for attack or defense. Thus the Japanese armies have been concentrating for weeks and months to acquire a commanding position at Port Arthur and have been seizing strategic points from which they could drive the Russian armies which were being sent to its relief. These strategic movements are planned in advance with the utmost care in selection of the ground so as to get the advantage of elevated position from which to fire upon the enemy. The generals on both sides are aware that the conquest of the region depends in no small degree on the skill exercised in this important matter.

Months before an invading army moves for the subjugation of a country trained military minds study its natural features and intuitively settle the strategic points which it is essential to capture and to hold and the course which the various corps must take to co-operate in the general plan. It is related that before the outbreak of the American civil war, the political campaign which resulted in Lincoln's election and when a war was but a dim and dreaded possibility, the plan to be pursued in the event of hostilities was considered. William T. Sherman, with one of his fellow officers, George Henry Thomas, afterward nicknamed "the Rock of Chickamauga," was visiting his brother, the late Senator John Sherman of Ohio. John Sherman, in his subsequent biography, relates that at that time these two soldiers placed a map of the southern states upon the floor. Then upon this map they practically traced out every important military movement which was to follow. With one line they showed how the great army of the west must fight its mighty battles before Shiloh and Vicksburg to open the gateway to the Mississippi. With another line they traced the movements of a central army fighting on to Atlanta, and on to the sea, where William T. Sherman was to win immortal fame, although, as Henry W. Grady, the great Georgian orator, once quaintly put it, "Some people did think that he showed himself a little careless with fire." With another line they traced the movements of the Army of the Potomac, fighting its way from Arlington heights to Richmond. All those movements of these different armies were carefully traced by the two soldiers, studying the map of the southern states, stretched out upon the floor of Senator John Sherman's parlor. Months before the booming of the gun which started the most gigantic war of modern times.

Campaigns Must Be Planned. Thus coming campaigns or the military lines of summer operations are planned for the most part by the different commanders of invading armies while their armies are encamped in winter quarters. Therefore the question which at this season naturally forces itself upon my mind is this: "What is the gospel campaign ahead of the Christian church for the ensuing ten months? I am a captain in the army of Christ. How am I to lead my people? Where am I to go?" In the beginning of this winter's work I am exactly in the same position as the military leader of an invading army who is about to break up winter quarters. Summer is really the time for winter quarters in a city church. When July comes many of the Christian soldiers in a large city pastorate like themselves away to sea beach or to mountain stream for rest. They are very tired from their winter's labor. But by the time the middle of September is here the schools are all opened and the members of the city congregations are back to their winter homes and are filling their church pews. When they arrive and start out for gospel work naturally expect to know the kind of a gospel campaign which is ahead.

Christ is our great commander, and as a captain under him I would here and now point out to you the mighty opportunities which are before us. I would sketch the line of campaign we as a church are about to enter. And, furthermore, I not only want to show you how we are to fight, where we are to fight, but also to try to encourage you by reminding you of the great agencies of our time which are going to help us in this coming year's struggle.

The glorious twentieth century is opening wide its doors to let the church of the Lord Jesus Christ pass forth into God's conflict, aided by scientific and social facilities that no other age possessed, whereby each man can double and treble and quadruple the amount of work which his grandfather or his great-grandfather was able to do. It is saying to us: "Man, if the length of your life is to be estimated by the amount of work you shall be able to accomplish I will let you live longer than did Jacob, who died of old age at one hundred and forty-seven, or Isaac, who lived one hundred and eighty years, or Abraham, who lived to be one hundred and seventy-five years, or Noah, who lived to be nine hundred and fifty years, or Methuselah, who only lacked thirty-one years of being one thousand years old. I will let you live so long that what your ancestors accomplished in the course of their lives will seem to be as nothing to what you shall be able to accomplish." The twentieth century speaks thus not to one man, but to all.

Advantages of an Inventive Age. This inventive age has literally doubled and quadrupled and almost infinitely multiplied the material for doing powerfully and effectively the facilities of communication! Supposing I wish to plead the cause of Christ with some friend clear across the American continent. I sit down and pen my appeal. In a few minutes it is in the postman's hands. A little later it is in the mail wagon on its way to the depot. Soon it is in the mail car going at high speed over the mountains and across the alkali deserts and across the rivers until it is dropped in the eastern home. It has taken only a few days for that message to reach its destination in the east, and in a few days longer an answer comes back to me that my appeal has been read, and under God's blessing it has been made effectual to the salvation of a soul. Think how many times such an effort might be multiplied and how largely the facilities of communication might be utilized for the spread of the gospel!

You must see that all these increased advantages of man can be made to act and react mightily for good in the coming campaign of the church of Christ against sin. Mark Twain, the great humorist of the Methodist church, once delivered a lecture to show how God is preparing the way for the glory of his coming millennium in the inventions and the social movements of everyday life. The other day a book came into my hand entitled "The Romance of Invention." But no romance of inventions has ever been written which can fully depict the Christian romance of the uses to which these inventions can be applied in the extension of Christ's kingdom as Bishop Simpson explained them. One feature of the lecture comes to my mind. I speak it in my own language, as I recall it from a blurred memory. The Methodist orator wanted to show how every modern facility was appropriated and used in the late civil war. The sewing machine had just been invented. It was employed to insure the soldiers being properly clothed. The steam engine was utilized to carry the armies quickly to the scene of conflict so that the carnage might sooner end. The modern improvements in arms were adopted, and so the terrible destruction of life in single combats by the old fashioned ax and spear was avoided. And as man used modern inventions for carrying out his purposes, so might God use the terrible force of slavery itself for the benefit of the colored race. The negro torn from his African home and sold as a slave might be Christianized in the land of his bondage and return as a missionary to carry the tidings of the gospel to his people still on the banks of the Congo. Can we not believe, as did Matthew Simpson, that in the invention of the sewing machine, the typewriter, the telephone, the steamboat, the electric car, in the great foundries and factories, in improved fire arms and the wonderful printing press, giving birth to newspaper and magazine, the church of the Lord Jesus Christ can have an increased power spiritually for the spreading of the gospel of Jesus in the coming year's campaign against sin?

Enemies From Within. I find the church of the Lord Jesus splendidly equipped materially and temporally for this winter's campaign against sin. But, more than that, I find that there never was a time when the great evangelical churches were so thoroughly in accord on the fundamental doctrines of Christianity. In the pulpit and in the pew those doctrines are held firmly, intelligently and devoutly, and Christ as the Saviour of the world has the whole souled allegiance of his people. Before a general goes forth to invade an enemy's country it is very important for him to know that his own soldiers are loyal to his country's standards and are of one heart, one mind and one purpose. When a Christian church goes forth into a winter's campaign against sin it is just as important for its pastor to know that his people are of one thought and one mind in reference to the great cardinal doctrines of the church. A thousand enemies outside of a general's camp are not so dangerous as a menace as one traitor inside of the guarding sentinels' lines. A thousand blatant infidels attacking the church of Jesus Christ in infidel convention hall or by the newspaper are not so formidable as the so-called freethinking liberal who is attacking the church of God as a member of that church or as an ordained minister of that church.

Some time ago before a famous New York club an oratorical minister arose and delivered an explosive, heretical speech. This minister was afterward expelled from the church for his outrageous utterance. He denied that Jesus was divine except that "he was divine as we are divine." He denied that the inspiration of the Bible was any more infallible than was the inspiration of Shakespeare's works. After he had finished and the applause of those among his hearers who sympathized with his remarks had subsided, Dr. Gottlieb arose. Dr. Gottlieb was a Jew and at that time was the leading Jewish rabbi of America. Amid death-like silence he said: "I know not how others may feel; but, though I am not a disciple of the gentle Christ, I like this talk of the preceding speaker. If I had been in the place of my brother and had entertained doubts and suspicions similar to his I would have quietly slipped out of the church with which those doubts collided, keeping my lips tightly sealed. I do not think I could do such an injury to the church which gave me my ordination vows as when a member of that church to attack it openly." All honor, say I, to the answer of Dr. Gottlieb, the Jew! I believe that the most serious change which can be inflicted upon the church of the Lord Jesus Christ is done not by his avowed enemies who are outside the church, but by traitorous foes within.

The Best Year For a New Start. But I take a step further in this mighty subject. We have a wonderful time in which we are to enter the coming campaign for Christ. This is the youngest of the centuries, but into it are gathered the ripe fruits of the past. The thought and experience of all the centuries that are gone have in these years come to fruition. It is the mighty movements and trials and struggles of past generations which have made the present time possible. From the failures of the past, from the wisdom and the mistakes of our forefathers, we have learned lessons which make us masters in the art of soul winning and successful leaders in the assault on the infortifications of sin. This is the very best year of all years to start in a gospel campaign for Christ.

But take another step further in this momentous subject. We have another campaign blessing in addition to these two of which we have spoken. We have a church with all its great leaders as well as thousands and tens of thousands of members moved to holy enthusiasm by knowledge of the strength of the Satanic enemies we are about to meet in combat. We know that as the church of Christ is strong the Satanic enemies are strong also, so strong that unless we go forth to this battle with a full endowment of the Holy Spirit to fight as we ought to fight for Christ we shall fall ignominiously, as we deserve to fall.

Outside of his own intrinsic strength nothing brings out the hidden power of a general more than the realization that his enemy is strong and wily—an adversary whose power it would be folly to underestimate, against whom he must marshal his forces with all his skill and develop their fighting qualities to the highest efficiency. When Goliath saw the puny form of David, who was to give him battle, the Philistine giant laughed him to scorn. He sneeringly cried, "Am I a dog that thou comest to me with stones?" That contempt lost him the battle. Not so with David. His weapons were those with which he was familiar, and he employed the skill developed by long experience. He knew his enemy to be superior in might and cruel and relentless, and he nerved his strength for the unequal struggle. The church of Christ is made resolute by the knowledge that it is to meet a strong armed foe. We know we must fight hard to win. And we also know that unless like David, the shepherd boy, we go forth in unflinching faith in the divine re-enforcement we shall fail in the battle. The best that is in a worthy opponent. Let me illustrate my thought by a homely scene of vacation life. Some weeks ago, with my wife and little children, I was driving over the hills of southern California. We were far from any human residence. Suddenly, just upon the hillside overlooking the road, I saw the gleaming eyes and the crouching form of a coyote. I was at the time entirely unarmed. But, though I knew that poor miserable brute had just slain a little lamb as a feast for himself, that he was as swift of foot as a deer, that his teeth were as white and sharp as a tiger's molar, that he could, if he would, leap at my horses' throats and leave us helpless before his attack, still I also knew that he was a coward. He belonged to a race of cowards. Therefore I drove right past him. When my children hallooed at him he turned and skulked away.

Must Be Always on Guard. Had the church of Christ only craven hearts does to fight it would become as indifferent to them as I was toward that sneaking coyote, whose worst depredations were in the house in the yard among the dead chickens. Unless starving and in numbers, he never attacks a strong foe. But today the church of God has no cowardly enemy. Like a hunter stalking the man eating monsters of India or Africa, the church is and must be continually on its guard. As it goes forth into the coming winter's campaign to do the best it can and with the help of the Holy Spirit to do all it can for Christ, the consciousness that its foe has almost unlimited prowess has made the church strong and content.

But where in the gospel campaign of this church during the coming winter to be fought? We have talked about the time. We have spoken about the openness of purpose and the divine strength in which we are to enter the conflict. We now speak about the geographical region in which we are to fight. We must find our church's plain of Eshel and our church's plain of Eshel. America is to be the geographical plain of gospel maneuverings for the American church. It is the foremost in the world today, and its power and influence are rapidly growing. In energy, in wealth, in enterprise, it takes the lead among the nations of the world. If it boldly takes its stand for Christ and declares that the principles of Christ are its guide and that he is its supreme ruler the effect on the world will be overwhelming. An enormous step will then have been taken toward the conquest of the whole world for him. America is the strategic point in the Christian campaign. Let every Christian church in this country realize that fact and unite to win this fair land for the Prince of Peace.

America Is Being Watched. The great Australian colonies are supposed to belong to Great Britain. Their political allegiance is given to King Edward VII. Yet, when a few years ago I was in Sydney, in the home of Sir Henry Parker, the Governor of Australia, the most honored statesman of that island continent and the thrice premier of New South Wales, the most conspicuous picture I saw over his study mantelpiece was that of George Washington, and the most conspicuous books on his shelves were the Congressional Records of our own national capital. The eyes of all nations are watching as industries and governments. The past conference of The Hague showed the trend of international thought. The time will yet come when the nations will cease to submit their quarrels to the arbitration of the sword. Justice and righteousness shall be the standard of the peoples, and when that time comes our land, whose influence is always for peace, will be at the front. And what our country is doing for temporal justice in a spiritual way. All nations shall yet follow our Christian leadings, if America becomes truly Christian. Let the American church take America for Christ, and it will capture the world for Christ.

Oh, my friends, with such a glorious outlook for our coming gospel campaign, should not the church of Christ as a whole and our own individual churches go forth into this winter's campaign strong in God, strong in faith, strong in holy zeal? For the most part I have been talking about how God is going to bless the great American church as a whole. Will he bless our own individual churches to which we have given our allegiance as he will bless other churches? Yes, if we go into this gospel conflict as we ought to go. Are you and I willing by our own consecrated lives to let our church, our dear individual church, with its glorious past, take the position in the church army on the front line of battle where she ought to stand? Remember, the open door which God opened for the Philippian church was not a doorway off in the distance, but near at hand. And so the open door of gospel opportunity of our church is right at hand. As consecrated, Holy Spirit inspired, earnest Christian church members will you and I join today in the forward march for Christ?

The Macedonian Call. Oh, the Macedonian call for the physical and mental and social and spiritual salvation which is coming through the open door of the American church from a sin struck and a dying world! The whole world groans under the burden of sin. It is here; it is everywhere. The only way of deliverance is that Christ's church set itself to the task in the power of his Spirit. Beginning at its own doors, it must lead the assault and, uniting with the churches in other cities and states, work faithfully and bravely for the emancipation of this land and of the whole world. A few years ago the wife of a native Indian prince was dying. By the Hindu bound Mohammedan laws it was impossible to let an English surgeon see her, because no white man under any conditions is allowed to enter the room of a Mohammedan woman of the upper classes. At last, in despair, her husband sent for a missionary lady, Miss Baily, who was working among the natives of Lucknow. When she entered the invalid's room the sick woman said: "When you go back to England I want you to meet your good Queen Victoria. I hear that she is a good queen. Tell her how we poor Indian women have to suffer, when we are sick and how we have to die. Tell her your good queen that and then ask her for me to send us help."

But it was not in the good queen's power to send the only help that could be effectual. The gospel and that alone can avail. Let our cry go to no earthly throne, but to the throne that is set in the heavens, and from that throne will come the power that will enable us to win the whole world for Christ. That appeal which, raised in Macedonia, reached the ears of the apostle, "Come over and help us!" is raised today by a world oppressed by the dominion of Satan. It comes to the American church as a whole and to the individual churches. Men and women and children, will you not hear that cry from foreign lands? Will you pass through the door that is opened to Christ's people? Oh, for the salvation of our cities! Oh, for the salvation of the United States! Oh, that the whole world may hear the word of deliverance and bow before the throne of Christ!

I would enlist you one and all in this glorious war. Your trials may be severe, your labor arduous, but in the end victory is certain. It may be yours to share in the triumph, but if you perish in the struggle you will yet be able to say: "I have fought a good fight. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness."

Mrs. HUGHSON, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was poor, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and before long I was able to get up and do my usual work. My general health is better, and I feel as if I were a new woman, and made me feel as if I were a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—Mrs. M. E. HUGHSON, 247 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 per bottle if original of above letter proving genuine, cannot be produced.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Catalogs Confuse. IN SELECTING A COLLEGE THESE ARE THE VITAL POINTS:

1. HEALTHFULNESS. Western Maryland College, at Westminster, Md., is 1000 feet above the sea; mild climate; pure air; pure water; perfect drainage. Has new and substantial buildings. Steam Heat. Electric Light. Furnishes good food; comfortable rooms. Bath. Gymnasium. Athletic Field.

2. SAFE AND REFINED SURROUNDINGS. Founded 37 years ago by Christian men, Western Maryland College has always striven for Christian ends in education. Models its discipline after the home, giving its students oversight and protection. Believes that character is formed by habits and habits by system, and so provides its students with a schedule that leaves no hour of the day unaccounted for. Receives both sexes for the benefit of both, believing this also to be the ideal of the home; but separates the sexes in classroom and limits social intercourse.

3. MODERN METHODS AND EQUIPMENT. Western Maryland College came in with the modern educational ideas. Led the way in that form of education recently adopted by the University of Chicago—co-educational. First College in Maryland to employ a Director of Physical Culture, and to build a Gymnasium. Laboratories have grown until a separate building is necessary for them. Faculty represents best Universities.

4. LOW RATES. Western Maryland College will give you board furnished room, light, heat, laundry and tuition in all College studies for $200 for the full year of 36 weeks.

OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained in This Citizens Statement is Priceless.
The hale, the hearty, the strong, can afford to toss this paper aside impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in Salisbury who has suffered hours of torture caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered here.

George W. Gresson, proprietor of the Gresson House, at 1308 N. Street, Washington, D. C., just off Tennessee Ave., well known both in and out of Washington, says: "Yes, I used the pills, and they did me a lot of good. I have had considerable trouble with my kidneys and back. I used many medicines, but none of them acted like Doan's Kidney Pills. The first dose of the pills seemed to go right to the seat of the trouble and to set about to correct it. I was somewhat astonished and thought perhaps they contained some opiate and had only deadened the pain for a while, but it has been a month now since I used them and the pain has not returned. You can use my name and I will back it up, as I believe Doan's Kidney Pills do all that is claimed for them."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Salisbury. Call at White & Leonard's Drug Store and ask what their customers report.
Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

A project is on foot in Thurmont for the incorporation of an acetylene gas company, to furnish lights for the streets and houses. It is expected to have the plant in operation by December 15.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50 cents and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. At the annual reunion of Company E, Purcell Legion, at Bay View, Saturday, steps were taken to raise a fund for the erection of a monument in Elkton to the memory of the soldiers of Cecil county.

Confessions of A Priest.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes: "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but not a relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c.

The Wabash has a gang of men at Hancock excavating for the arch over the run at the Gillie property. This arch will have to be large enough to admit a load of hay, as it will span a part of an old country road that must be kept open.

One of Many.

H. A. Tisdale, of Summiton, S. C., suffered for twenty years with the Piles. Specialists were employed and many remedies used but relief and permanent good was found only in the use of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. This is only one of the many, many cures that have been effected by this wonderful remedy. In buying Witch Hazel Salve it is only necessary to see that you get the genuine DeWitt's, made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., in Chicago, and a cure is certain. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures all kinds of piles, cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, tetter, ring worm, skin diseases, etc. Sold at Dr. McKim's Pharmacy.

The August report of Cecil County's Treasurer shows receipts to have been $79,484.44 and disbursements $17,087.60 leaving a balance of $62,396.84.

Can You Eat?

J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Charleston, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and ran down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures. Sold by all druggists.

While Constable George H. Barnes of St. Michael's, was cutting wood his ax struck a clothesline, flying back and inflicting a dangerous wound upon his forehead.

Pain Pleasure.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not grip, sicken or weaken, but pleasantly give tone and strength to the tissues and organs of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold by all druggists.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by all drug gists.

This season at the Elkton cannery has been one of the busiest since the plant has been located there. On Monday, September 12, 85,000 pounds of tomatoes and 25,000 pounds of corn were received.

Cause Of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ, which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried to the skin, as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most violent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by all druggists.

Snow Hill has commenced extensive street improvement, the intention being to macadamize the entire business section as rapidly as the stone can be transmitted.

Head About To Burst From A Severe Bilious Attack.

"I had a severe bilious attack and felt like my head was about to burst when I got hold of a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I took a dose of them and after supper and the next day felt like a new man and have been feeling happy ever since," says Mr. J. W. Smith, of Julliff, Texas. For biliousness, stomach troubles and constipation, these tablets have no equal. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

John M. McClenahan, son of Howard McClenahan, of Port Deposit, while playing with some beans, placed one in his ear and had to be sent to a hospital to have it removed.

Many Mothers Of A Like Opinion.

Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to a group of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by all druggists.

Mr. George Bennett, of Chesapeake City, Cecil County, was accidentally wounded by his friend, Edward Biddle, while they were hunting squirrels and badly peppered with shot.

Good For Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives instant relief in all cases of Cough Croup and La Grippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heats and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life giving and life sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. Sold by all druggists.

William G. McCready has been elected president of the Mercantile Bank of Easton, which will be removed to new quarters, over the first National Bank.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otis Dodd, of Ponder, O., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." It's the best salve on earth. 25 cents at all druggists.

Charged with trying to wreck a Delaware, Maryland and Virginia train near Milford, Harry Betts has been placed in jail at Georgetown.

Broke Into His House.

S. L. Quinn, of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and he is entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25 cents at all druggists.

TEAS THAT ARE WORTH FORTUNES

Twelve Hundred Kinds Are In China's Show at the World's Fair—The Most Popular Nation of the World For the First Time Makes an Exhibit Worthy of Her Greatness.

Many expositions of stupendous character make up the World's Fair of 1904. Each part is a vast and distinct show. Each building shelters many acres of wonderful things—wonderful because they are the choicest of their kind. Every nation on the globe is represented. Every state and territory is here with its best and making the most of its greatest opportunity.

The fact that China has not been a large exhibitor at world's fairs gives to her great exhibit here a prominence quite exceptional. It is a wonderland of ingenious productions. We know China best by reason of her extensive exports of teas, which have found a vast market in the United States for generations. Her commercial interests therefore prompted her to make a display of teas that we should not forget.

In sealed glass jars China displays in the Liberal Arts Palace some 1,200 kinds of tea. Young Hyson and Old Hyson have a string of tea relations longer than the genealogical chain of a Plymouth Rock. They are neatly selected "chops," in the language of the tea farmer, and these classes do not embrace medicinal teas, which are quite another lot in the rather modest number of 400.

The teas exhibited vary in price from a few cents a pound to some rare and exclusive kinds that are worth their weight in gold, the tea in the latter cases being placed on one side of the scales and pure gold on the other—that is to say, the tea of this expensive kind is worth about $20 gold an ounce.

Only a very small quantity of this exclusive tea is exhibited, and it is grown in carefully guarded tea plantations or gardens right under the shadows of the great wall of China. Its cultivation is prohibited for any use save for the imperial family of China and a few of the favored high officials.

Mention has been made of the word "chop" in connection with tea, and it may be interesting to the everyday reader to know what the word actually signifies. The tea leaf is grown in various districts of the Chinese empire on large areas of ground which are often mistaken for single plantations. This is hardly ever the case, as the large tracts are very often owned by hundreds of different men, whose individual plots of ground bearing the tea plants are carefully mapped out, so that each individual owner may cultivate and reside on the land. These large areas of ground which are often mistaken for single plantations. This is hardly ever the case, as the large tracts are very often owned by hundreds of different men, whose individual plots of ground bearing the tea plants are carefully mapped out, so that each individual owner may cultivate and reside on the land.

Each owner likewise markets his own tea and puts his own special mark, or "chop," on the packages. Hence the term "chop" signifies an individual growth or picking of tea by one owner. In an area of tea land of, say, a thousand acres, all apparently under one ownership, there may be some forty, fifty or more owners of the plantation and consequently a like number of "chops" of tea.

It must not be imagined that all these different owners of the tea get the same price for their commodity—far from it, as each of these individual tea growers has his own secrets for improving the quality and flavor of tea. Take, for instance, the Amoy and Fuchau districts, whence most of the tea for the United States comes. The owners of "chops" of tea varying from 10 to 200 acres of 50 pounds each bring samples of their goods to the various foreign merchants for sale. These latter turn the Chinese tea growers over to the good offices of the foreign or American professional tea taster, who passes on the goods as to price. The tea taster has the samples infused, not boiled, in his presence and passes upon the quality, flavor, twang and manner of curing, fixing a price accordingly, from which there is never any variation and which the tea grower must accept or go elsewhere to dispose of his wares. In a single tract of tea land like the one cited above the price has ranged from 14 cents, the lowest, to 48 cents, the highest, per pound among sixty-one different tea producers. A matter of great moment that also figures in the price of tea is that very often tea from the same district will have the various "chops" blended together in order to produce special flavors.

Mrs. Wilbur Truitt, of Salisbury, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Calloway.

POWELLVILLE.

Powellville was a scene of great excitement Friday night when a cry of "fire" was heard about nine o'clock. Mr. L. A. Hall's store and all goods, Mr. Chas. Beathards blacksmith shop and tools, and a little storehouse belonging to Mr. Josiah Bailey were burned. Men and women worked faithfully until the fire was controlled, otherwise no doubt the most of Powellville would have burned. The fire was cut off at Bailey's store, where there was an open space. The men tore the buildings down and everybody carried water. Several families moved out but fortunately they could return Saturday morning. It is not known how the flames originated, only Mr. Hall had a fire all day Friday and it probably caught from the flue. Mr. Hall had an insurance of $700.

Rev. John L. Ward and family will visit Rev. George H. Stockdale next week. Rev. Ward will assist Rev. Stockdale in the protracted meeting beginning Sunday night at Powellville.

The marriage of Mr. William J. Jones, of Mt. Pleasant, and Miss Lillie G. Givans, of Whiton, was performed by Rev. Geo. H. Stockdale at the bride's home Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. We wish the happy couple a pleasant sail across the sea of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Powell, of Salisbury, spent a few days with relatives here and near Berlin last week.

Misses Cora Gravenor and Mary Gravenor, of Salisbury, are guests at the home of Mr. John Kelly.

Misses Emily Scott and Edith Shockley spent Saturday and Sunday at their homes here.

Mrs. Henry Jones and children spent part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Dennis, at Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jones and Miss Irma visited in Salisbury this week.

My Visit To Maryland.

Paper 6.

Sabbath afternoon my escort took me to Salisbury and beyond about one and a half miles to the home of W. F. Allen. Himself, wife and boys received us gladly and treated us kindly during our entire stay. I was shown his four hundred acre farm every rod of it being carefully looked after, sown or planted in something useful. On this farm were growing strawberries, peaches, plums, pears, potatoes, beets, squashes, cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and, last but not least, cantaloupes, the largest patch I ever saw—50 acres. They were very promising at the time 4th of July just setting on the vines. Mr. Allen told me he expected, when the season was properly on, to ship about two car loads of this delicious fruit per day, and each part of the patch would have to be gone over twice in the same time.

He was then shipping cucumbers, squashes and tomatoes in considerable quantities. It was a real delight to see the energy, tact, means and system put into this truck farm. Again, to see the smoothness, quiet, the entire absence of friction was simply wonderful. From twenty to sixty hands find employment here during the entire cropping season. Every hand is paid on Saturday night. Each man's time is kept by the foreman and is handed to Mr. Allen. His money to a cent is put in an envelope and sealed with his name on it then handed to him. I saw him pay or rather put the money into the envelopes the week I was there—something over one hundred and twenty five dollars. Mr. Allen put out 10,000 peach trees last spring and intends to put out as many the next spring and the spring following. By this time I should rather think he will have a peach orchard. One secret of his success is his up-to-date way of farming, keeping every part of his growing crop in order, which crop has been put in at an early date. Another secret is, that every foot of ground is utilized to the best possible advantage. Still another secret is his undaunted courage. If one thing fails he does not sit down and weep, but takes up another, and goes right on just the same as though nothing had happened. He is bound to succeed because he has the elements of character that must. Mr. Allen has a splendid barn that cost near $3,000 and was building a ten thousand dollar house which must be at this time well completed. It will be commodious, modern and ornamental.

While at W. F. Allen's by his kindness and that of his wife—my own niece, who accompanied me, we visited the Tyaskin neighborhood to see some relatives. They were glad to see us and showed every possible kindness. It was here I began my ministry, trying to preach to many who knew more than I. I did the best I could, certainly, and they had great patience and wonderful endurance. It was very pleasant to travel over some of the old roads again. I had never met these persons in their own homes before. When I went west, father and mother were there, now they are gone, and the children occupy the old homestead, and are raising up families, many of the children now grown and some married. Mrs. Sallie Jane Dashiels is as truly a matter of fact woman as I met during my visit. She bears the same relation to me of W. T. Darby—his only sister. Mrs. Mary Layfield is another cousin whom I visited and whose hospitality was of the generous character. While making Mr. Allen's my headquarters I made several short visits to the city of Salisbury. The families visited here are relatives. The Woodcock's, Carey's and Darby's I found them all kind and entertaining. They are in comfortable circumstances and doing well; best of all they are religious and regular attendants at church services. The city—in my early days was only a small town—is prosperous and growing, and considering the fact that it was burnt badly 17 years ago—ten years after I went west the last time—is a remarkable place. I could scarcely realize how rapidly it had grown and the modernness it had attained with the permanent character of its buildings. Its number of churches may not be up to some cities of its size but certainly they are as costly, large, attractive and comfortable as any I have seen in a place no larger. On Sabbath, the 3rd of July, I preached in the Methodist Protestant Church, to a very good congregation, who gave prayerful attention. My text was, "Lord, it is good for us to be here." The sermon seemed to be enjoyed but was not satisfactory to the preacher at all. I hope it did good. At night of the same day, Dr. Smith, the pastor, talked on John the Baptist I think to the edification of all.—Sharptown Herald. J. E. D.

HANDY TO BE HUNG

Found Guilty By Jury Of Murder In First Degree. After Being Out 20 Minutes Late Thursday Night.

For the first time in its history, Wicomico county is doomed to have a hanging, a verdict having been rendered late Thursday night against Henry J. Handy, colored, for murder in the first degree, of his wife, in Tyskin district on September 23, 1904.

In paneling the jury twenty were challenged and it was necessary to summon two half dozen from outside to complete the panel. The following composed the jury: J. Cleveland White, foreman, William P. Phillips, Isaac T. Phillips, E. Parker, Huntington, John E. Taylor, C. Gus Messick, George W. Dougherty, Gus W. White, Leonard H. Higgins, George W. Messick, Ephraim A. Denson and G. Vickers White. The major part of Wednesday afternoon and the same evening, all day and evening of Thursday were spent in trying the case. The jury, after remaining in their room for less than 20 minutes, returned a verdict at 11:52 p. m. of "guilty in the first degree of murder." State's Attorney J. L. Bailey assisted by John H. Handy represented the State and James E. Ellegood and Clarence Lankford appeared for the prisoner.

As the history of the case begins at Tyskin, Md. Henry J. Handy, after being divorced from his first wife, who was Agnes Handy, married Celia Mapp, daughter of Henry J. Mapp. One child, now two years old, was born to them. A short time after this, about the middle of last May, Celia came to Wicomico county to work on a farm near some of her relatives in Tyskin district. Handy says this was with his consent, but he never heard from her by letter during all this time she was there. She had the child with her and he finally decided that he wanted it, so he came up the Wicomico river on Wednesday before the Friday on which the murder was committed and went to her relatives' house and asked to see her. She came down and spoke to him and he at once told her he wanted to carry the child home with him. She refused until he pulled out his revolver and, pressing it into her side, demanded that she give the child up at once.

Friday morning evidence disclosed that he told Capt. Elijah Sterling and Atley Handy that he was going to kill his wife. Capt. Sterling and Atley talked with him and tried to dissuade him but his mind was made up and he proceeded to arrange his property so that in case anything happened to him his child would be prepared for. Henry then oiled his gun, put it in good condition, carried it on deck and fired it off to see if it would fire all right. Satisfied, he reloaded it, and taking 8 more shells with him, he shouldered the gun and set out to find Celia. He had to sail for a mile and then walk about 5 miles more until he came upon his wife working in the field with a number of others putting up corn tups. No one saw him until he had spoken and he called out to Celia. "Put down your corn tups; they will never put up another." After passing a few more words he raised his gun and shot her in the throat. Then he placed a new cartridge in the gun and after walking up to her and satisfying himself that she was dead set out for the office of Squire Denton and gave himself up saying he had killed his wife and expected to be hung. He asked the Squire to write him a will bequeathing his property to his child.

1904 Tax-rate Fixed And Other Proceedings Of The City Council.

At the regular monthly meeting of the City Council held Monday evening, Mayor Harper and Councilmen Polk and Hitch were appointed a committee to investigate the city's water supply and report to Council.

The Salisbury Gun Club was given permit to use the old kindling wood grounds for target practice, permit to be annulled by Mayor and Council at their discretion.

The Council finished the work Monday night of ascertaining the taxable basis for the year 1904, which is $2,827,062.60. The tax rate of 1904 on this basis will be 35 cents for current expenses, 5 cents for sinking fund for redemption of fire engine bonds, and 5 cents for redemption of city hall bonds, making a total tax rate of 45 cents. The expenses of operating the city government are about $10,000 a year, including keeping in repair the streets, shells, electric lights, water rent, officers salaries, fire department, etc.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Visits Berlin Suddenly Saturday Afternoon, Causing A Loss Of Over $60,000. Three Mills, Two Churches And Seventeen Dwellings Burned.

Among the losers in Saturday's fire were:

Name	Loss	Insurance
Thomas N. Tingle	$3000	0
B. B. Timmons	600	0
Riley Ennis	1200	$1000
Jenkins Bowen	650	400
Noah Bradford	800	750
Lacy Purnell	300	150
John Gibbs	900	350
Horace Davis	2500	2800
Miss Clara Dirickson	1280	1000
John Dirickson	1000	1000
M. E. Parsonage	1000	600
Mrs. H. C. Conaway	1800	1800
T. W. Cooper	400	200
Buckingham Church	5000	4600
St. Paul's Episcopal Church	5000	3800
Mrs. Kendall Taylor	300	0
Veneer Factory	35000	0
L. Dilworth	2000	0
Dr. L. C. Dirickson	600	insured.

The burning of three mills, two churches, Presbyterian and Episcopal, and 17 dwellings besides the destruction of numerous out buildings and as many more bursted roofs which had no trap door or ladder to reach the various places already on fire, was the amount of which our citizens had to contend with last Saturday afternoon and which at one time threatened to destroy and wipe our town and homes out of existence.

With the wind blowing at the rate of forty miles an hour, the fire first attacked the Berlin Veneer Works, which was a veritable tinder box and in a few minutes proved to be a living flame, utterly impossible to approach or cope with. Thos. Whaley's steam saw mill was the next to catch causing us all to think of self and return to our own belongings, realizing that already many of our homes were on fire and threatened with destruction. Every family in the neighborhood had already commenced to pack up and move their goods and chattels to some place of safety. The only question was where, as cinders and blazing shingles were covering every roof in the wake of the gale. One can form some idea of this as a barn at the home of Mrs. Kendall Taylor, more than a mile from scene of destruction, caught and burned to the ground, seriously endangering their dwelling which was fortunately saved. The first dwellings to catch and burn, tho' quite a distance from Whaley's mill, were the homes of Riley Ennis, Alfred Chance and Frank Johnson. Cyrus Warren's house, not over 15 feet away, was almost miraculously saved.

Before the row was in full blast Thos. N. Tingle's and Noah Bradford's, across West Street, caught, and the heroic efforts made, all proved futile and helped to create a fresh panic and to fully convince our people of the undertaking before them. Lucy Purnell was next. A large tree next door saved Mrs. Alice Massey, and John Gibbs who came next was burned out. Across the street again came Frank Porter, who one of the fortunate ones, was left intact and next to him Roger Adams had soon passed up in flame and smoke. A pet goat belonging to Etta Adams, which had sought refuge under the dwelling, was of course cremated to the regret of the household. Harmonson's stables were the next requiring both help and water and we were fortunate enough to gain a victory, which was well indeed, realizing that if the stable and hotel were burned, the town was at the mercy of the fire monster and gone. A stable belonging to James Trader was the next to ignite, causing the Methodist Parsonage and Presbyterian Church adjoining, fronting Main Street to go, burning out the family of Capt. John Dirickson, Mrs. Elizabeth Dirickson, Miss Clara Dirickson and Horace Davis. The homes on church street of Washington Dennis, George Taylor, George Rayne and last the old St. Paul's Episcopal Church built in 1825 of English brick. The old walls still standing are all that's left to remind one of its age and career of usefulness. The tall spire back of the edifice enveloped in flames, at the same time trying to outvie each other in their glaring grandeur, was awe inspiring and attractive, yet sad, most sad, to be compelled to witness. Dilworth's mill which has been on fire many times in the past few years, has at last succumbed to the inevitable and is numbered among the has-beens.

BUSY DAYS OF COURT

September Session Continues And Many Cases Disposed Of. Clear Days Prevail And Large Attendance Marks The Week Past.

This has been a busy week for the Circuit Court of Wicomico county now in session. No. 21 Trial, Welner, Wright, Walkins and Co., vs. R. Lee Waller and Co., was tried last Friday afternoon. Verdict was rendered for the plaintiff and damages assessed at $54.71.

Saturday. Deputy State Marshall L. T. MacGill, Jr., of Baltimore, who came to Salisbury for the purpose of investigating the recent fire at the home of E. W. Whavland in south Salisbury, presented some testimony before the Grand Jury for its consideration. Whavland was taken into custody by Sheriff Gillis Saturday morning and remained in the officer's charge until late in the afternoon, when he gave bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at court. His sureties are W. H. Jackson, W. M. Day, Kirby Hitch and W. B. Miller.

Monday. No. 4 Trials. County Commissioners of Wicomico county vs. Isaac L. English, collector of taxes for 1899. Suit on bond. In 1891 a judgement for $1896.00 was entered up by the court without an inquisition of a jury. In 1900 execution issued against English and his sureties. On motion the execution was quashed, the court declaring the judgement irregular and void. Afterward, on motion the court set aside the judgement and leave was granted the defendants to plead. The Commissioners claimed about $1500 to be still due. Tried before jury. Verdict for Commissioners for $450.00. Bailey for Commissioners; Toadvine and Bell for defendants.

No. 10 Trials. Lillian F. Parsons vs. Wm. F. A. Humphreys. Suit for damages for timber cut on plaintiff's land. Discontinued by order of Toadvine and Bell, plaintiff's attorneys. Bailey for defendant.

No. 11 Trials. Dulany and Dulany vs. Matilda E. Butler. Ejectment from land at Fruitland. Argument on motion for a warrant of survey to issue petitioned for by defendant. Ordered that warrant issue. E. H. Walton and James E. Ellegood for plaintiffs; G. W. D. Waller for defendant.

No. 12 Trials. Wm. J. Johnson vs. Joseph L. Bailey. Suit on account. Referred to F. Leonard Wallis, special auditor, to take argument and state an account. E. H. Walton and J. H. Handy for plaintiff; Toadvine and Bell for defendant.

No. 13 Trials. G. W. D. Waller vs. Salisbury Light, Heat and Power Co. Mr. Waller sued the Company for trespass, in that the company raised the dam of Polk's pond over two feet higher than the old dam and established high water mark some two feet or more and ponded the water on the land of the plaintiff. Settled by agreement of defendant by paying $85 and each party to pay his own costs. G. W. D. Waller and Toadvine and Bell for plaintiff; S. R. Douglass for defendant.

No. 27 Trials. Eliza Austin vs. Wm. H. Jones and Geo. H. Lamore. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant had on a farm he had rented of Jones and carried away the plaintiff's part of corn and fodder on the farm converting it to their own use. The evidence disclosed that the defendant had been in possession of the corn and fodder under a verbal agreement, the judgment in which had been reversed. The Court decided the suit must be brought on the bond, reversing some former practice, and found for the defendants. Toadvine and Bell for plaintiff; Ellegood and Freedy for defendants.

No. 30 Trials. E. S. Atkins and Co., vs. P. M. Douglas and Er., Plaintiff sued as partners. Partnership claimed to be dissolved before debt was contracted. Judgment for plaintiff. Ellegood for plaintiff. S. R. Douglass for defendants.

No. 36 Trials. A. Sidney Hearn vs. Joseph L. Bailey, executor. This case occupied the remainder of Tuesday.

Friday. No. 41 Trials. Dr. John W. Stevens vs. County Commissioners of Dorchester county. Case removed from the circuit court of Dorchester county.

Society's New Game.

"Trail" has taken hold by storm. It is something new, something different. It is a popular hunting sport, is played with fifty-five fine cards in four colors, representing a fox to be chased and caught, and four packs of hounds of thirteen each. With the one pack six other splendid new copyright games can be played. Two Educational games, and two games of fun, making it suitable for all members of a family. "Trail" can be had of dealers or sent post-paid, 75c. gilt edge, plain, 50c. Rules for the seven games free. Atlanta, Ga.

SALISBURY'S DISPLAY

Of Marvelous Millinery Effects. Our City Stores A Scene Of Busy Beauty. Throngs Of Visitors From A Distance.

For the fairest of the fair, Salisbury has been a place of keen delight this—the opening week of the fall and winter millinery season, and all the large stores in town which have special displays have been teeming with visitors who have come for many miles to witness the many "Things Beautiful" which are displayed in wondrous plenteousness.

R. E. Powell & Co. At their great emporium this season is far ahead of any previous one. The entire store was decorated for the occasion, the first floor being very artistically arranged with varicolored draperies, fancy articles, etc. The millinery was a great attraction with its decoration of potted plants and other ornaments, the east window being handsomely trimmed with the latest styles in ladies' and children's coats and furs.

In the coat department were found a great many new and distinct effects in ladies' wraps, one particularly striking style being the new tourist coat in plain colors, black, and Scotch weaves.

In the millinery department were shown a great variety of pattern hats, a few of which we describe as follows: A very striking picture hat was made of lavender panne velvet and mink fur trimmed with two shades of lavender roses and green foliage.

A beautiful turban draped with shaded panne velvet in the orion shades with a bird of paradise drooping gracefully from the left side was simple and stylish.

Among these hats was a beautiful child's poke. The top was made of lace, the brim edged with white fur and the facing had three ruffles of pleated chiffon finished with sherring and trimmed with ribbon.

Lowenthal's. Lowenthal displayed a large and varied assortment of Hats both large and small. Brown, Blue and Black seem to lead.

An elegant hat was one of the new broad tail velvet, from which drooped two long plumes. Another noticeable hat was a red velvet with thick ruching of maline and velvet and red bird on the side. A child's poke bonnet of black velvet with pink streamers and chiffon facing was among the many admired.

The dress goods are novel and stylish. Brown, blue and green also seem to lead, with black to match. Plaid silks are also worn. The ladies and children coats are very stylish and many new effects are shown.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor's opening of fall millinery took place this week and was largely attended by the ladies of this city. The store was beautifully decorated for the occasion with Palm ferns and goldenrod, white and yellow being the color scheme. Between seventy five and one hundred pattern hats were in exhibition and were "pronounced" by the ladies as being strictly up to date and very stylish. Brown, terra cotta, burnt orange, which is called "couque de ruche," are the leading colors, green and blue ranging next. The skirt waist hat is broad and flat, with low piping pong pong. A red hat that was much admired was made of Paon velvet with shirred edge and double box-pleating of velvet around crown, with military pom-pom. A child's white Polla bonnet made of Poile de soie silk with edge of baby ribbon and chiffon and shirred facing. A large brown hat made of velvete and chenille, high crown covered with rows of pleated satin ribbon in different shades with a piping of burnt orange and drooping from side back a large shaded plume in different shades of brown.

Home Made

Have your cake, muffins, and tea biscuit home-made. They will be fresher, cleaner, more tasty and wholesome.

Royal Baking Powder helps the house wife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, the raised hot-biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer-cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, with which the ready-made food found at the bake-shop or grocery does not compare.

Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

"CAN'T"

"Can't" is the word of the weak or the sluggish, as we often meet it. "I can't" has strewn the shores of the sea of life with wrecks innumerable; has been the great stumbling block over which even the strongest have sometimes fallen.

Yet in many of the things that affect life "Can't" can be made a helping word—strong staff on which to lean.

For example:

I can't shop comfortably in any store but Hochschild, Kohn & Co's. There's an atmosphere—a something—about that store that I like.

I can't do as well in any store in Baltimore as I can at Hochschild, Kohn & Co's.

I can't be as certain that styles are right—that a hat or gown is fashionable—anywhere else as I can be at Hochschild, Kohn & Co.

I can't stay away from Hochschild, Kohn & Co.—that's all there is to it. I can practically put myself into the salespeople's hands there, and be satisfied.

I can't find fault with a single method in use at Hochschild, Kohn & Co's. Their money-back-if-you-want-it saying is lived right up to.

Baltimore's Best Store is always Baltimore's Best Store.

Mrs. Alice Jones is very ill with typhoid at the home of her father, Mr. Levin Hastings.

Mrs. Lottie Johnson is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Thompson.

Mrs. L. B. Ker arrived home Tuesday night from a week's visit to friends in the West. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. Sarah Ker, and niece, Mrs. Dr. Waterman, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fairbanks, visited friends at St. Michaels the early part of the week.

Miss May Ellis left on Friday to enter school at Millersville, Pa. Her mother, Mrs. J. L. Ellis, accompanied her to see her safely matriculated.

The reopening services were held at the M. E. Church on Sunday last. Improvements costing nearly one thousand dollars have been added to the interior of the building. The amount necessary was raised during the day, the pastor was assisted in the services by the Rev. G. L. Hardesty, of Whitesville, and Rev. T. E. Terry, of Laurel.

Next Sunday will be Railroad Day. At the morning, afternoon and evening services addresses will be delivered by visitors from various points.

WHALEYVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. James Donaway left for their home at West Point, Va., Saturday morning after an extended visit with relatives and friends in town.

Miss May Collins visited Mrs. Florence Hastings Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Thomas Brimor, of Laurel, is a visitor with relatives and friends in our town.

Quite a number of our friends in this vicinity visited Berlin Sunday to view the ruins of the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, of Trappe, visited relatives in our town Sunday.

Mr. Al Collins, of Berlin, visited his sister, Mrs. Jacob Powell, Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Davis visited relatives in Wicomico county Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. G. Davis spent Monday in Selbyville.

BERLIN.

Mr. Charles Dale, of Pocomoke, was in our town Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Henry A. Godfrey made Baltimore a business visit this week.

Mr. Homer Porter was a visitor from Saturday until Monday in Frankford, Del.

Insurance companies seem to be in no hurry in making their appearance. $100,000,000,000,000.

Mrs. Gordon Jones and Miss Julia, of Newark, paid Berlin a visit Wednesday.

Mr. W. Ulysses Schofield, of Pocomoke, was a guest of our town this week.

Mr. William Parkhill, after remaining in Laurel for several weeks, is home again.

Miss Carrie Mitchell visited her cousin, Miss Addie Powell, this week at St. Martins.

Mrs. Frank Young, of Pocomoke, will be a guest of Mrs. Jehu Quillen the first of the week.

Mrs. John Keas, Misses Ella Parnell, Maude Whaley and Addie Henry are in Boston, Mass. this week attending the General Convention. They left Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Nettie Trader is making Chincoteague Island a lengthy visit. Miss Virgie—during her absence, regardless of many manifold duties, has entire possession of the Key basket.

Strangers from the line of Virginia and Delaware, from Salisbury to the Atlantic Ocean, were in Berlin last Sunday to view the ruins, and only one church left to comfort them.

Mrs. Henry Godfrey is still confined to her room and is quite a sufferer from the effects of a rusty nail, which punctured her slipper and foot early last week. Dr. E. J. Dirickson is attending her.

Mr. John D. Showell, during the present week, lost a valuable and highly prized driving horse at his stables, Ocean City, of lung fever. Showell considers such a driver rare and hard to replace.

Mrs. George T. Calhoun opened this week her new millinery department located in the old Postoffice building, which has been renovated and remodeled for Mrs. Calhoun's special benefit. We wish her success.

Mr. Wm. J. Staton, one of Salisbury's largest berry contractors and shippers, interviewed several of our farmers this week on the berry question. Mr. Staton returned to his home Tuesday afternoon from Ocean City.

The Hon. John W. Cansey, of Milford, representing the Kent Mutual was a guest this week adjusting the Companies' losses from the late fire. Mr. Cansey is one of the old school gentlemen, 'tis a pleasure to meet and entertain.

Messrs. Thomas H. Purnell and Harvey Hudson, of Ocean City, took a very active part and ably assisted our citizens in saving the Berlin High School from destruction last Saturday. Its loss would have been indeed a calamity.

Miss Ethel Richardson, of Pocomoke, at present a citizen of Berlin, was fortunate enough through the gallantry and solicitude of our popular young merchant, Mr. Geo. Givans, Jr., to recover a lost time piece which she had dropped.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kurtz, of Westville, N. J., to the surprise of his many friends, once more gave us the light of his countenance and arrived last Thursday. The 'tis Mrs. Kurtz first visit she seems at home and enjoying the change. They are at the Atlantic.

Mr. Fred Sinker, of Staten Island was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Taylor from Saturday until Wednesday. Mr. Sinker had the honors of escorting his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Sinker, on her homeward journey after a visit here for several weeks.

Mrs. Nettie Thomas, a sister of Rev. Clinton T. Wyatt, located at present at Middletown, several years a charge in Berlin. Is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Hammond on Main Street.

Mr. George Stratton, of Salisbury, was a guest of Dr. Levin Collier, Jr., from Saturday until Monday at the Park Hotel. The gentlemen were handsomely entertained at Ocean City Sunday afternoon and had the most jolly of rides homeward.

Mr. Charlie Miller, of Baltimore, a linguist, ventriloquist, knife-sharpener, razor-grinder, in fact most of all things, and an educated gentleman with an assorted and varied combination, always given a hearty welcome in our midst, came Wednesday and is doing business.

Mr. William R. Rayne paid Berlin his maiden visit Wednesday, the first since early June. Cousin William took in the races on Thursday, remaining for the late train to Ocean City that night. Mrs. Rayne, his wife, accompanied him.

H. D. Adams, at his place of business had this week on exhibition a quantity of wheat that is a curiosity to most of our farmers, being far superior to the usual grade of wheat seen in this part of our country, although raised in three miles of Berlin. It only proves to the farmer generally that seed properly graded and cultivated can be produced on our own lands, and command the price. Mr. Adams also received a small quantity for seeding this fall from Hagerstown, grown by Mr. Davis A. Kenly, this week that is worth the trouble to take a look at.

Among the many of our colored citizens that deserve our gratitude and thanks and who came under our immediate notice, were: George Taylor, John Spence, Al Smack, Sam Henry, Will Miller, William and Charlie Allen. The boys were valuable and willing assistants and justly deserve the thanks of our entire community.

The rails which marked the Pennsylvania road bed, laid between Veneering factory and Whaley's steam mill were twisted in every conceivable shape during the fire requiring a wrecking train and corps of workmen until midnight Saturday to replace before the 7.40 train could with safety make the downward trip. Most of the new ties were laid the next day, Sunday.

Mrs. Sallie McGee, widow of the late William McGee, died early Wednesday morning at one o'clock at her home on Vine Street. Mrs. McGee leaves five sons; Burton, Robert, William, Charles and Josiah, who is only seven years old. She was 62 years old and had been quite a sufferer for some time. Her remains were interred Thursday at the Evergreen cemetery. Rev. Mr. Bancroft officiated. Messrs. Wise and Barbage had charge of the funeral.

Mr. Claude Carey, who has been a familiar figure for nearly two years occupying a rolling chair up and down our streets, the effects of a sun stroke whilst in the army during the Philippine campaign, died very suddenly at noon Monday from apoplexy. He was about 25 years old and was placed in the Evergreen cemetery Wednesday morning and laid to rest by the Rev. Mr. Bancroft.

Gen. Supt. Holliday, Gen. Freight Agent, H. L. Steadman, train master, I. D. Brooks—the Hon. Jno. W. Cansey, one of the directors whose home is in Milford, and Dr. Chas. Harmon—Clayton occupying Mr. Holliday's private car, were in Berlin Monday viewing the twisted rails and damage done the Pennsylvania road bed generally as well as the destruction in the burnt district.

Mr. J. A. Gould, general manager of the Maryland Fire-proof Paint Company, of Baltimore, is a guest of the Park Hotel. If Mr. Gould's fire-proof paint had been more freely used in our community, we feel perfectly satisfied there would have been several houses, now burned, saved and standing. Mr. Gould fully demonstrated in the early summer to the satisfaction of most of our community that his paint was a success and fully deserving of recommendation.

The editor of the Woman's Home Companion begs to announce that Mrs. Margaret C. Sangster, beginning with the October number, will conduct her famous home talks exclusively for this magazine. Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.
Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.
Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.
Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CHAPTER XIV.
THE Ranger, a new and swift sailing ship and going free also, rapidly edged down upon the slow moving convoy on the wind. The frigate, it was noticed, was several miles ahead in the van. The other ships were carelessly strung out in a long line, probably not suspecting the existence of any possible enemy in those waters. The sloop of war appeared to be among the rear ships, while the nearest vessel to the Ranger was a large schooner whose superior sailing qualities had permitted her to reach several miles to windward of the sloop. The schooner appeared to be light in ballast also. All of the convoy showed lights. The Ranger, on the contrary, was as dark as the night, not even the battle lanterns being lighted. She rapidly overhauled the schooner, and almost before her careless people were aware of it she was alongside.
"Schooner ahoy!" called out the captain of the ship, standing on the rail, trumpet in hand.
"Ahoy there!" came back from the schooner. "What ship is that?"
"His Britannic majesty's sloop of war Southampton, Captain Sir James Yeo. I have a message from the admiral for this convoy, which we have been expecting. Send a boat aboard!"
"Aye, aye, sir! Will you please to forward there, sir?"
"Yes. Swing the main yard there, Mr. Seymour, and heave to."
In a few moments the splash of oars was heard, and a small boat drew out of the darkness to the starboard gangway of the Ranger. A man stood up in the stern sheets and, seizing the main ropes thrown to him, climbed up on the deck.
"Ah, Sir James!" he commenced, taking off his hat. "How do you do? How dark you are! Why, what's all this?" he exclaimed in surprise and terror as he made out the strange uniforms in the dim light. He hesitated a moment and then stepped back hastily to the gangway, lifting his hand.
"Seize him!" cried a stern voice.
"Shoot him if he makes a sound!"
The captain of the unlucky schooner was soon dragged, struggling and astonished, to the break of the poop.
"Oh, Sir James, what is the meaning of this outrage, sir, on a British shipmaster? I shall report!"
"Silence, sir! This is the American Continental ship Ranger, and you are a prisoner," replied the same voice.

He felt the cold barrel of the pistol pressed against his temple.
"Answer my questions now at once. Your life depends on it. What are these ships to leeward?"
"Sixteen merchantmen, from London to Halifax, under convoy of two men-of-war, sir."
"And what are they?"
"The Acacia, thirty-six, and the Juno, twenty-two, sir."
"Very good. Is the transport Mellish among them?"
The man made no reply.
"Answer me!"
"Yes, sir."
"Which is she?"
"Oh, sir, I can't tell you that, sir. She is the most valuable ship of them all," he said incautiously.
"You have got to tell me, my man, if you ever want to see daylight again. Which is she?"
"No, sir, I can't tell you," he replied obstinately.
"Put the muzzle of your pistol to his forehead, Williams, and if he does not answer by the time I count ten pull the trigger. One, two, three, four!"
"Merr, merr!" cried the frightened skipper as he felt the cold barrel of the pistol pressed against his temple.
"Eight, nine!" went on the voice in the darkness imperceptibly.
"I'll tell! I'll tell!"
"Ah, I thought so! Which one is she?"
"The last one, sir."
"And the Juno?"
"The fourth from the rear. The frigate's the first one, sir," he volunteered. "Oh, don't kill me, gentlemen!"
"Have you told me the truth, sirrah? Williams, keep your pistol there!"
"Oh, sir, yes; so help me, Oh, gentlemen, for God's sake, don't murder me. I've a wife and—"
"Pence, you fool! We won't hurt you if you've told the truth. You shall even be released presently and have your schooner again. We don't want her. But if you have lied to me you shall hang from that yardarm in the morning as sure as my name is John Paul Jones!"
"Oh, Lord!" said the now thoroughly frightened man, looking up and meeting the gaze of two eyes which gleamed

REPUBLICAN EXTRAVAGANCE.

The extravagance of the present administration is a difficult matter for its apologists to explain. First, there is the deficit for the fiscal year 1893-'4 of over $41,000,000 staring them in the face, which has reduced the available cash balance in the United States Treasury to the zero point, so that Secretary Shaw will probably have to again call on the banks for another installment of the cash they hold and on which they pay no interest. It is all very well to call the payments for the Panama Canal an "extraordinary" expense and so excuse the present conditions. There are other expenses that this administration has piled up that are equally extraordinary that no excuses can palliate or gloss over.

Take the expenditures for the year before the war with Spain, when the Democrats were in power and the appropriations made by the Republicans for the present year, and the extravagance of the present administration is at once apparent.

Civil and miscellaneous	$50,000,000	$12,000,000
War Department	48,000,000	115,000,000
Navy Department	24,000,000	102,000,000

Total.....$122,000,000 $249,000,000

This makes $177,000,000 more this year than in 1896—more than double as much. What excuse can the Republican apologists offer for such a vast increase, and how do they propose to further tax the people to support such extravagance?

WOOL, COTTON AND SHODDY.

When the American farmer pays one-third more for farm machinery, barbed wire, nails, binding twine and a good many other things that he buys than the same products are sold for to the farmer in Europe, he discovers that high trust prices have their drawbacks as well as their advantages. As long as high prices were confined to wheat, cotton and corn, the farmer had the best of it, but now the trusts have forced up the cost of living, which includes nearly everything the farmer does not produce, the profit made off the farm is less than when prices, all around, were much lower. The quality of clothing is not nearly so good as it was some years ago; the "tail wool" and a yard wide cloth is a thing of the past; it is now nearly all cotton and 33 inches wide, as anyone can discover by measuring it and picking even what is called fine goods to pieces and closely examining it. The high protective duty on wool has led the manufacturer to imitate wool with cotton, so that only an expert can discover the difference. This wonderful apparent transformation of cotton into the mercerizing process, and the combine that is producing it, is realizing vast profits. There is no self. This policy consists among other protective duty on cotton, so the difference in price between cotton and wool is wide apart; the first named South of their postal facilities for the being worth eleven cents a pound, and furthermore of a peculiar negro policy, wool about twenty-five cents. Thus, it involves the selection of negroes to although the protective tariff on wool high and important Federal offices is the highest on record, 11 cents a pound on uncoured and 22 cents on secured, since 1897, the price of wool has been much lower than under any other high tariff. Yet, the farmers have not made money on their sheep, because of the great decrease in the number raised, reported by the Agricultural Department. The enormous making appointments to office and in duty on wool has induced the manufacturers to find a substitute, the mercerized cotton and shoddy. The shoddy mills of Cleveland and elsewhere were never more prosperous than under the present tariff. So the farmers have been selling their wool at a low price and buying mercerized cotton at a high price, when they have passed since the tariff was changed, a suit of clothes or any fabric made of cotton of this State in convention supposed to be manufactured of wool.

There are some of the beauties of a high protective tariff, and how it affects the farmer.

"THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD."

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Of First Congressional District of Maryland. Constitutionalism and Conservatism Against Radical and Arbitrary Republicanism.

The platform reported adopted by the Congressional Nominating Convention of the First District of Maryland is as follows:

"The Democracy of the First Congressional District, in convention assembled, declared:

"That we endorse the platform adopted by the National Democratic Convention, which assembled at St. Louis on July 6. We congratulate the stalwart and representative Democrats of that body for the masterful leadership, the broad party spirit and the splendid patriotism which characterized the proceedings of that historic convention, and we pledge its nominees, Judge Alton B. Parker and Hon. Henry G. Davis, the zealous efforts and the unremitting and enthusiastic support of the great rank and file of the Democracy of the Eastern Shore.

"We join with all classes of people throughout our common country in especial rejoicing because of the exalted characters of our candidates for President and Vice-President, but we especially congratulate all those lovers of sound Democratic principles as taught and expounded by Jefferson and Madison. The nominee of the great Democratic party for the high office of President of the United States is of ideal Presidential quality and peculiarly fitted by reason of temperament and training for leadership in the impending battle for constitutional government. We believe that, all other issues aside, success will follow our standards, victory perch upon our banners because the great body of intelligent American electors before casting their ballots will make proper contrast of the strenuous egotism and dangerous and meddlesome restlessness of President Roosevelt with the attractive personality of that cool, sympathetic and well-informed jurist, that liberty-loving and self-poised statesman and Democrat, Alton B. Parker. We desire to emphasize the fact that we believe the personal characteristics of the Republican and Democratic candidates best serve to illustrate to the voters of the country the best meaning of the contest in which we are now engaged; that the lives of the two men are books in which the people may read that the great struggle of the campaign of 1904 is to be one in which the mighty hosts of conservative and constitutional Democracy are arrayed on the one side and the dangerous and forbidding forces of radical and arbitrary Republicanism on the other. The Republican party under the leadership of President Roosevelt would, if it could, win the affections of the American people for a political gospel not taught by the fathers of the Republic—the gospel of force. The sane and temperate Alton B. Parker would remind us that force is not the equivalent of right and that the will of a President is not the equivalent of law. We invite the people to choose between constitutional government, based upon law, under an incomparable American Democrat and statesman, and absolutism, usurpation and disregard of law as typified by the present occupant of the White House. The Republican party of this district in convention assembled formally indorsed all the policies of President Theodore Roosevelt, peculiar to and inaugurated by himself.

"Under the administration of Governor Cleveland and William McKinley the race problem had been left to the people of the several States for settlement, but President Roosevelt inaugurated the combine that is producing it, realizing vast profits. There is no self. This policy consists among other protective duty on cotton, so the difference in price between cotton and wool is wide apart; the first named South of their postal facilities for the being worth eleven cents a pound, and furthermore of a peculiar negro policy, wool about twenty-five cents. Thus, it involves the selection of negroes to although the protective tariff on wool high and important Federal offices is the highest on record, 11 cents a pound on uncoured and 22 cents on secured, since 1897, the price of wool has been much lower than under any other high tariff. Yet, the farmers have not made money on their sheep, because of the great decrease in the number raised, reported by the Agricultural Department. The enormous making appointments to office and in duty on wool has induced the manufacturers to find a substitute, the mercerized cotton and shoddy. The shoddy mills of Cleveland and elsewhere were never more prosperous than under the present tariff. So the farmers have been selling their wool at a low price and buying mercerized cotton at a high price, when they have passed since the tariff was changed, a suit of clothes or any fabric made of cotton of this State in convention supposed to be manufactured of wool.

assembled declared that the destinies of the people of Maryland should be controlled by the white people of the State.

"That upon this issue of white supremacy not only in the state, but in nearly all the counties thereof, we won a splendid victory; that this victory was won in spite of the teachings, the example and the executive influence of the present President of the United States. The white people of Maryland do not forget that fact, and neither must they forget that in President Roosevelt they have a candidate for President who precipitated anew the race issue in those States of the South where it had reached at least a partial settlement; that to cozen the negro vote in this State and in the States of the North he selected a Maryland negro to second his nomination for President; that he therefore gives evidence at least of his willingness to mislead the grave race problem for partisan ends, if not of his eager desire to show his lack of sympathy for the Maryland Democratic campaign slogan of 1903.

THE LAWLESS SPIRIT.

Roosevelt's Public Career Abounds in Incidents Affording Abundant Evidence.

"I am reminded," writes Samuel Untermyer to the New York Times, "that the Panama conspiracy (which history will record as one of the foulest and most cowardly crimes of modern times, and the blackest spot in the existence of a nation that had just accomplished one of the most ennobling and self-sacrificing acts in the cause of human liberty that was ever known) is not the only instance in which Mr. Roosevelt has shown that he regards the Constitution as subject to the Executive will, to be molded, ignored, or trampled upon to meet his views of expediency, instead of looking before him. His public career affords abundant evidence of his determination to wield all the powers of government on the dangerous 'rough rider' principle that all means are justified to accomplish the desired end."

This great lawyer, in a lengthy letter, points out the existence of "the lawless spirit" in President Roosevelt, when he, as Governor, removed District Attorney Gardiner. The New York Times comments upon the Untermyer letter and says editorially: "This newspaper was not reckoned among the ardent admirers of District Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner. We deplored and censured his indiscretions, personal and official, and at any moment during his term of office we should have acclaimed a successor to him appointed in conformity with the provisions of law. Yet when Governor Roosevelt removed Mr. Gardiner we were compelled to declare that the action he had taken was wanton, lawless, and a dangerous usurpation of power. The Commissioner appointed by Governor Roosevelt to hear the charges against Colonel Gardiner had reported that they were not proved, and that no action should be taken. Subsequently, without further hearing, and, as this community pretty generally believed, without proper cause, the Governor removed the District Attorney and appointed Mr. Philbin in his place.

"It was a perfectly characteristic act, yet New Yorkers did not know then that it was characteristic of Mr. Roosevelt. They would have been disposed to regard it as a sporadic outbreak. They now know by repeated exhibitions of Mr. Roosevelt's disregard of law that having his own way, either with or against the statutes and the Constitution, is a confirmed habit with him. The Gardiner incident is illustrative of the Roosevelt temperament."

Since the beginning of the fiscal year July 1, the deficit of receipts of the government from all sources has been $24,000,000 less than the expenditures. If the same rate of loss is continued for the next two months the deficit will amount to $144,000,000 for the full fiscal year. It may not amount to more than half that sum, but whatever it proves to be shows the wasteful extravagance of the present administration.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, the Roosevelt administration expended $177,000,000 more than the last year of the Democratic administration, and this was only counting the amounts in three appropriation bills out of seven, namely, the Army, Navy, and Civil and Miscellaneous. That extraordinary extravagance will be exceeded this year, for the appropriations made by Congress exceed last year's expenditures by nearly $130,000,000.

Notice of Renewal
OF BOAT LIEN

By Scler Facias.

The State of Maryland to the Sheriff of Wicomico County, Greeting:

WHEREAS Heretofore (to wit, on the 15th day of September, 1902) a certain Otis Lloyd filed a claim in the Circuit Court for Wicomico county and State of Maryland, for the sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents, against the sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo," and the reputed owner, Wm. P. Andrews;

AND WHEREAS, it is alleged that the said sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents remains due and unpaid to the said Otis Lloyd:

Now We Command You, That you make known to the said William P. Andrews, and to all such persons as may hold or possess the said sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo," that they be and appear before the Circuit Court for Wicomico county on the 4th Monday of September, inst., to show, if any they know or have to say, why the said sum of two hundred and ninety-four dollars and ninety-four cents should not be levied of the said sloop "Mary H. Cuckoo," according to the form and effect of the Act of Assembly, in such case made and provided, if to them it shall seem expedient; and have you then and there this writ.

At witness the Hon. Henry Page, Chief Judge of the First Judicial Circuit of Maryland, the 4th day of July, 1904.

Lacy Thoroughgood's Boys' Clothing Business Is Now Immense.

This boys' business hasn't been built on newspaper advertising but by the personal word of satisfied mothers who have told other mothers that Lacy Thoroughgood clothed their boys. Most natural thing in the world. "Your boy looks remarkably well," your friend says. "My, how becoming you dress your boy," and you say "Why it isn't such a bother. Have you ever gone to Thoroughgood that has advertised his clothing store?" But it had to be a good clothing store to win such commendations, and it is. We know perfectly well that Thoroughgood's clothing for boys will best serve and we know that no other store keeps as far from the ordinary, and not all boys' clothing is costly. Lacy Thoroughgood's boys' clothing department is just now running over with grand suits for boys and children. Everybody is invited to call and see them. It's a pleasure to show them. You can't help admiring them. If you think somebody else has a good line of children's clothing you just drop in at Lacy Thoroughgood's and see his. You can tell the difference at a glance. My prices are no higher than other people's, but my goods are several grades higher.

James Thoroughgood

The Love of Eating.

THE AMERICAN BECOMING A GOURMAND?

In our largest centers of population, such as New York and Chicago, we daily see more attention given to the inner man. Cafes and lunch-rooms are filled with men and women who seem to give all their time and attention to thoughts of properly or improperly feeding their stomachs. "It is of course best to eat slowly, but not too much," says Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Javal Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. In this 20th century people devote so much time to head work that their blood gets thicker and isn't sufficient blood left to properly take care of the other organs of the body. The stomach must be assisted in its hard work—the liver started into action by the use of a good stomach tonic, which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients and without alcohol. Dr. Pierce discovered a remedy that suited these conditions in a blood-maker and tissue-builder, called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—an alternative extract that assists in the digestion and assimilation of the food, in the stomach—so that the blood gets what it needs for food and oxidation, the liver is at the same time started into activity and there is perfect elimination of waste matter. When the blood is pure and rich, all the organs work without effort, and the body is like a perfect machine.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION CURED BY THEDFORD'S BLACK DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown. Thedford's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible harm.

The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys. Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the water from the bowels get back into the blood and violent contagion results.

Timely treatment with Thedford's Black-Draught removes the danger which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the intruder of Bright's disease, for which disease in advanced stages there is no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Easy Pill

Easy to take and easy to act is that famous little pill DeWitt's Little Early Risers. This is due to the fact that they tonic the liver instead of purging it. They never gripe nor sicken, not even the most delicate lady, and yet they are so certain in results that no one who uses them is disappointed. They cure torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, headache, malaria and ward off pneumonia and fevers.

PREPARED ONLY BY E. C. DEWITT &amp; CO., CHICAGO

Don't Forget the Name. Early Risers

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness. Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostril, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Balm, 50 cents at Drug-gists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 54 Warren Street, New York.

OTHERS FAIL—I CURE! AFTER BEING FOOLLED AND DECEIVED

Prof. G. F. THEEL, D. O. 327 North 14th St., Philadelphia. The only person in the world who has cured a man in a single day of a severe case of Gonorrhea. He has cured a man in a single day of a severe case of Gonorrhea. He has cured a man in a single day of a severe case of Gonorrhea.

FITLER'S CARMINE

The Best-Purged Blood-Purifier. Cures all skin diseases, itching, eruptions, and all other skin troubles. It is the only blood-purifier that is safe and reliable. It is the only blood-purifier that is safe and reliable.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—At this time, when religious attempts are being made by the enemies of religion to undermine the old established foundations of faith and to revolutionize the Christian Sabbath, this sermon makes a vivid contrast of "the old time" and the new. The text is Psalm xl. 3, "If the foundations be destroyed, what can the righteous do?"

Emanculating, depressing and demoralizing is the maxim propagated by these rule of thought and life; that "what was good enough for our fathers should be good enough for us." I would yield to no man in my reverence for the memory of the sainted dead whose sacred dust lies in our cemeteries. No flowers are there too fragrant for the family plots, no epitaphs too eloquent or too reverent to recount their virtues, nor, when the family finances are adequate, any mausoleum too imposing to enshrine their remains. I have always found out when investigating that if a son of God respects the dust of a dead mother he will not respect the living wife, who becomes the mother of his children.

We should hold sacred the dust of our dead. That is true, but we should never build the hillock of the grave so high that it will dam back the onward flow of the "waters of knowledge," and change the "river of progress" into the "stagnant pool of ignorance and sloth." When the past generations did their work they did it well for the time and the conditions in which they lived, but the dead generations would not do as they did in the past if they were living now. We would not cry "halt" to the "forward march" of scientific investigation; neither would we compel the church of the Lord Jesus Christ to "mark time" by the grave of a Justin Martyr, a Calvin, a Wesley, a Luther, a Knox, or biliousness with eternal solemnity in the chambers of a Westminster abbey, where the honored ecclesiastical fathers gathered July 1, 1643, and composed the Presbyterian Confession of Faith and our Longer and Shorter Catechisms.

But, though we would not consider our ancestors infallible in their opinions nor absolutely wise in their ways of living, yet, on the other hand, we must grant that our ancestors knew a great deal more than some of us are willing to give them credit for. Though our forefathers "lightning expresses" were only canal boats and stagecoaches and sailing boats, in which most of us would be afraid to cross Long Island sound, let alone the Atlantic ocean, that is no reason why they did not know how to develop Christian men and women as successfully as do we. Though our ancestors for the most part had no books save that of a Bible, a "Pilgrim's Progress" or a Doddridge's "Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," that is no proof that they did not know as much of God and hold the truth in its purity as thoroughly as do we who have access to such vast modern libraries, and yet today we find a spirit of "exterminating iconoclasm" abroad. Many profane hands are digging up the old foundations and destroying the old altars and ridiculing the old ways merely because they are old. I would not have you bend the knee before the hillock of an ancestral grave as though it were a shrine, but I would have you respect and not destroy it and use that hillock of a grave as the stepping stone to a higher throne. The living may in some things be right where their Christian ancestors were wrong, yet we have only to look around at the modern innovations and observe the effect they have on the community to be convinced that in some things our Christian ancestors were right and the modern innovators deplorably wrong.

Undermining the Foundations. In the first place, I protest against the iconoclasm which is undermining the foundation stones of our ancestral Sabbath. Its desecrators have been going up and down the length and breadth of the land asserting that religious worship can become as much a form of dissipation as drink or over-eating or over-exercising can be. They make a wrong application of our Lord's words that the "Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." They affirm that it is absurd for a business man who has been at hard work for at least six days of the week from 7 o'clock in the morning sometimes until 10 or 11 or 12 o'clock at night to be compelled to get up on Sunday in time for an early Sunday school, then to attend two long church preaching services, and then perhaps to attend a Christian Endeavor society besides.

They contend that Sunday should be a day of rest and that what a man needs upon the Sabbath day is relaxation. He should go to bed Saturday night after a hot bath with his mind perfectly at ease. As he crawls into bed he should be able to say to himself: "Now, I can lie here just as long as I please. If I awake at 9 o'clock, all right. If I can sleep to 12, better still. Then after I awake I will have a cup of coffee and a roll brought to my bed for me and I will eat a little and then stay in bed for another hour, reading the newspaper. Then after dinner I will take my children out to one of the public parks or down by the seaside and get a sun bath and a view of God's trees and valleys and hillsides, or I will go to one of our great art galleries and look at the pictures. It is impossible for me to go and see the painters' and the sculptors' masterpieces on any other day. Therefore the city art galleries should be opened on Sunday. Then in the evening hour I will go to church if I feel like it. If I do not desire to do so I will go to bed again and rest, rest—yes, just rest. By such a system of rest I shall be invigorated and shall return to my work the next Monday strong in body, clear in mind, more loving to my family, the human race at large, and to God himself. That," says our iconoclast, "is my idea of the Sabbath day. I do not think a hardworking man has a right to make his Sunday a day of hard work in churchgoing, so that he works harder on the Sabbath than he does on any other day of the week."

The Old Fashioned Sunday. Sabbath iconoclasm, is that the way you would have man spend his Sabbaths? Well, already your modern teaching in reference to the Sabbath too well has taken root. Your premises are wrong, for you know not to what conclusions they tend. To see whether your grandfather's Sabbath or your own is the better I would have you compare the two side by side. Thirty, fifty years ago the man who made Sunday a day of pleasure was looked upon as a blasphemer, an out and out enemy of God, of the church and of the better elements of the social community. When Sunday morning would come even the horses and the stock of the farm knew it was a day of rest. The family would arise a little later than usual. Then they would linger a little longer at the breakfast table. Then the sweetest music of the world would begin to sound. The old village bell would sound its silver notes rolling down the valley. Then, after morning prayers, the horses were hitched up, and father and mother and all the children rode to town in the same big wagon. Then the pew was a family pew, and all the members were there. Then came the sermon, then the journey home, then the quiet yet beautiful dinner, then the afternoon reading or restful quiet, then the singing of the hymns around the old fashioned piano. No jamrocks or orchestra or Thoma's strained instruments were ever had such enthusiastic audiences and participants as those old family oratorios about the piano, where our sisters played and our fathers and mothers and the rest of the family all joined in the singing. Then the evening church service again or, if the farm was too far away, the evening prayers and early bed. You know, O man, that old fashioned Sabbath day meant more than mere cessation from worldly work. It meant quietude, communion with God. It meant Bible study and sacred readings as well as mere rest. Do you wonder that such a Sabbath as our fathers observed was the very foundation of church life, of Christian home life, of Bible reading and of consecration to God?

Alongside of this beautiful Sabbath day of rest I want you to place the modern Sabbath, with its so-called liberal ideas. First, where do we find the vestibule of the Sabbath? Namely, Saturday night. To be early? Oh, not Saturday night has come. In our large cities the street cars are crowded. Where are the people going? Some to the theaters; others, alas, to places of still more evil resort! Men and women, tired from work now, are turning this Saturday night into the hardest kind of work. They are dissipating for pleasure's sake. To the nonchurchgoer, as a rule, Saturday night is only too often a time of free indulgence of every desire that is bad.

Sunday morning is here. Where do we now find most of the nonchurchgoers? Again crowding our railroad trains and cars; picnics, ball games, outing parties, where the breweries and the wine sellers get their biggest revenues. The beautiful pictures of the family Bible which we used to study as a boy have given place to the silly pictorials of the Sunday newspaper. Everywhere on the Sabbath sun simply a riot. In many cities even the saloons and dance halls are full. Instead of the quiet family group going to the village church, now almost every country road near an adjacent city has its yelling rioters, half drunk or entirely debauched, who are off for a day of sin. Do you mean to tell me, sensible man, that the modern way of spending the Sabbath is as profitable as a day of rest and communion with God as were the Sabbath days our forefathers observed?

Rigid Observance of the Lord's Day. The rigid observance of God's day as a day consecrated to himself is the most important foundation stone of the church of Jesus Christ. Without it no true gospel consecration can exist. I know that in some homes the lines were too tightly drawn and in them the Lord's day was gloomy and a weariness to the children. Henry Ward Beecher, the brilliant pastor of Plymouth church, used to give a humorous description of such Sabbaths. He described his brother and himself watching the sun go down over the western hills. In his boyhood Sunday was observed from the setting of the sun Saturday to the setting of the sun Sunday. No sooner would the sun sink over the western hills than these two boys would let out a great yell, crying: "Hurrah, hurrah! Sunday's over. Now for some fun!" But, though the Puritanic Sabbath was sometimes very anxious in the rigid observance, I have no doubt that the chances to where the modern Sabbath has one of producing such a family as Lyman Beecher developed.

I protest, in the second place, against the iconoclasm which would eliminate from our lives the divine principle of concern for the welfare of others. Profane iconoclastic hands have been undermining the foundation stones of our sacred Sabbath. Are these enemies of God have been doing more; they have been sneering and ridiculing the beautiful parable of the good Samaritan. They have been declaring that a man's neighbor belongs not to the family which lives next door to him. The only neighbor who has claims he would recognize is the wife or child who lives within the four walls of his own house. He has been asserting that a man's chief duty in life is to himself and his own.

"Can any good come out of such a Nazareth?" I once read of a great conqueror invading a country of the far east. One day he entered a temple where stood an idol so beautiful that not one of his followers was willing to destroy it. With an oath, the conqueror said: "If you will not obey my commands I will destroy it myself." He lifted his battle-axe, for he had hidden his horse into the temple—with a mighty blow he shattered the idol into a thousand pieces. Then, to his followers' surprise, he revealed the fact that the inside of the idol was not a vacuum. It had been filled with thousands upon thousands of golden coins.

which as a lava bed burst from the broken statue and rolled to the feet of the western iconoclast. The iconoclast who destroys the beautiful image of charity and benevolence may think that he, too, will be able to grasp the wealth which it pours forth on the needy and the suffering, but he will be disappointed. The economy which refuses to give help to those who need proves a cancer to prosperity, and those who withhold their charity come to poverty. The command is that he who loves God loves his brother also, and the converse is true that he who does not love his brother proves that he does not love his God.

The Golden Rule with our ancestors was a practically and not a mere theory. "Where are you going tonight, mother?" The father often asked. "You look tired. You ought not to be going out tonight." "I know it," she would say, "but I must go. Our neighbor is very sick. I am afraid she will not get well. They have sent for me to come and spend the night with her. I have fixed everything for breakfast. If I do not get back in time in the morning, you can get along somehow."

The daintiest delicacies ever cooked in the mother's stove were not for the growing boys, with healthy, vigorous appetites. They were for the poor, consumptive young girl who used to sit up after dark on the neighbor's veranda in the moon sun, smiling at us as we trudged away to school. My, how we cast longing eyes at those jellies! We then at times almost wished we could be sick, at least for a little while, to get a taste of them. And how warm and comfortable the mingling looked which mother knitted for the children living over the hill! Or Theodore, when the farmer lived down in the valley was prostrated with typhoid fever and lay for months, hovering between life and death, don't you remember how your father and the neighbors took turns plowing his fields and sowing his grain and getting in his harvest? They say that that sick man was once a strong athlete. However that may be, when upon his sick bed he heard what his neighbors had done for him, he kept the wolf of hunger from his door he cried like a little child. He became just such a sick man as Ralph Connor depicted in one of his beautiful tales.

Then the funerals of our fathers and forefathers. They never allowed neighbors to be buried like a dog or a friendless pauper, as sometimes we do. No. They literally practiced the gospel rule: "It is better to go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting." When their neighbors wept, they wept. When their neighbors were hungry, they opened their doors, they themselves held the golden rule, they let down the coffin. Was not their way better than our way? We live and breathe only for self. Was not the Christian helping hand our forefathers extended to the troubled ones in their midst better than the icy stare with which we regard our neighbors? We grumble in a street car because we have to wait for two minutes while a funeral procession, winding its way to the cemetery, is holding us up at a crossing. The golden rule which our forefathers practiced would never be allowed to slip out of our lives. The sick man who lives next door to us should be just as carefully cared for and nursed by us as if he was our own son.

Clubhouse Versus Home. I deplore also the iconoclasm which is robbing this country of the sanctity of home life. The iconoclastic profane hands are ruthlessly laid upon our forefathers' Sabbath observance and our ancestors' doctrine of "Do to others as you would have them do unto you." They go further than this. Those same profane hands are also snatching away our ancestral home enjoyments as well.

They are saying to modern man: "Man, do not be an old fashioned granny. Do not think because your grandfathers found most of their enjoyment in the society of your grandmothers and your uncles and aunts that you have to find most of your enjoyment in the society of your wives and children. Do not forever be a 'stay at home' man. Come, let us build for you clubhouses, where you can find nightly fellowship with strong and brilliant men. Come out of that little hen coop of yours. If you want to give a reception to your friends, do not give it in your home. It is too small. Hire a big hall in the center of the town, where you can receive in better style. There, instead of having a few cakes baked by your own hands and some cream which you made in your own kitchen, you can have a fine caterer furnish an elaborate supper; instead of having your own daughter sing a simple song or your little boy recite a piece you can have the finest of orchestras furnish the music. If you want speaking, you can hire a professional elocutionist to recite. This is an age of money at command, the public reception hall, the large dinners given in large downtown restaurants, just as certainly mark the evolution of the human race in pleasure as a locomotive train is an improvement over the old primitive schooner or the telegraph communication by electric wire is an improvement over the 'cowboy's express' that forty years ago used to carry the mail from New York to San Francisco before the great Union Pacific railroad was built."

Do you, my brother, think for one instant that the advent of the modern clubhouse and public reception hall and Delmonico banquets is a moral improvement for modern men over the old fashioned quilting parties and merry-making frolics which once made the rafters of the old farmhouse creak like the beams of a ship at sea and bend almost like William Tell's bow? Do you think this? I do not. I believe that any enjoyment which a man is compelled systematically to find outside of the society of his wife and children and home is a depleting, enervating and ultimately degrading enjoyment. I believe that any enjoyment which systematically makes a mother relegate the care of her children to nannies and to hired hands in an enjoyment which is poisoned through and through by evil influences which will ultimately bring forth harvestings not for God, but for Satan. I believe this tendency of the human race, this evil poison almost everywhere prevalent, to find enjoyment anywhere, everywhere except by your own friends, will ultimately result in a second downfall of man as dramatic and overwhelming and complete as when Adam

FIBROID TUMORS CURED. Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time."

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 232 Dudley St. (Boxbury), Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes' Second Letter: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well person. "The use of Lydia E. NEWS FROM ALL SECTIONS OF WICOMICO SENT IN BY THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIENDSHIP.

Revival Services are in progress at the M.E. Church this week, conducted by Rev. Howard Davis.

Miss Annie Brittingham visited her parents at Whaleyville Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. John E. Truitt and family also Miss Annie Massey spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Parker.

Quite a number of people from this neighborhood attended the races at Perlin Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard Davis, also Misses Minnie Hearn, Amanda Dennis and Anna Brittingham visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Dennis Sunday evening.

Mr. Reece Dennis and sister Eunah, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Dennis.

Mrs. Allison Dennis and daughter Miss Bertha visited Whaleyville Monday.

We are sorry to report Miss Anna Beauchamp very ill.

HEBRON.

The festival held by the Mite Society of the M. P. Church, Saturday evening was a financial success.

Messrs. Jos. Showard, Ernest White and Marion Gordy are having residences erected here, which, when completed, will add greatly to the beauty of our town.

Dr. J. Hinkle and family, formerly of Detroit, Mich., arrived here last week, with the intention of locating here permanently. Dr. Hinkle comes to this town well recommended by leading physicians of Baltimore and it is the desire of the people that he may make a success.

WEST.

There will be services next Sunday on Pocomoke circuit M. P. Church as follows: Friendship Sunday School at 9.00 and class meeting at 10.00 a. m. Nazareth, preaching at 2.30 p. m. Union Sunday School at 9.30 a. m. Christian Endeavor at 6.30 and preaching followed by evangelistic services at 7.30 p. m.

Miss Della Posey, of Marion Station, is the guest of Mr. W. S. Posey and family.

Rev. F. S. Cain spent a few days this week circulating among friends.

Mr. George E. Ball, son of Mr. C. C. Ball, of near Princess Anne, and Miss Annie L. Brittingham, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levin Brittingham, on Tuesday evening of last week. Rev. F. J. Phillips officiating. After the ceremony a reception was given to a number of invited guests.

The dedication of the new church at Union was largely attended last Sunday. Rev. D. M. Anstine, of Baltimore, preached two excellent sermons morning and afternoon to large appreciative audiences. In the evening, after all obligations were assumed, the church was formally offered by Mr. Sidney T. Brown, and the dedicatory services were concluded, Rev. D. W. Anstine and the pastor officiating. The evening sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. F. J. Phillips, at which time the revival effort began and will continue for two weeks or more.

Mr. Lee Livingston and Miss Nettie Brown were married Wednesday evening at 7.00 p. m. in Union M. P. Church. As the bride proceeded up one aisle, the groom, accompanied by Mr. Willie Brown, went up the other aisle. The bride was accompanied by her brother, Mr. Moody Brown, who, when the bride party had met at the altar, gave the bride away. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. F. J. Phillips. The wedding march was rendered by the bride's niece, Miss Stella Pollitt. A reception was given by Mr. Peter Livingston, father of the groom.

Bishop—Lingo Wedding.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Lingo, Dagsboro, Del., by Rev. Mr. Jamey. While the sweet strains of Mendelssohn were rendered by Miss Ethel Lukes, followed by the flower song from Faust, Miss Maude Lee Lingo became the bride of Mr. L. Jackson Bishop, of Bishopville.

The bride was attired in a gown of cream pearl crepe de chine trimmed in Duchess lace and carried La France roses, while the groom wore the conventional black. The floral decorations were beautiful, appropriate and lavishly displayed, while the rooms were illuminated with a soft radiance of waxen candles.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which the bride withdrew to don her traveling costume of French blue silk ornamented with Diavola silk souchette, braid and buttons. Bidding a quick farewell that was followed by showers of rice and cast of slippers, the pretty scene was ended.

The happy couple left on the one thirty train for Baltimore, Washington and points south, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bishop will make their home in Wilmington, where he is engaged in the grocery business.

My Visit To Maryland.

Another day of pleasure must not be passed over unmentioned. It was on the first of July, the day the law of transportation as relates to white and black riding in the same car went into effect. Mr. W. F. Allen courtously paid my way and accompanied me to Ocean City, where I got a fine sniff of pure, fresh salt air, which was enjoyed with all the zest of an old tar. It was too cool to bathe in the surf, and so I had to forego that anticipated pleasure. But I did enjoy looking upon that restless body of water, as one wave after another came up rolling, dashing, spreading and receding. 'Tis hard to tell how much good this trip contributed to me. I would like to make an annual visit to this pleasant resort, which is sure to become popular in a short time. We were a little too early in the season to meet the crowd that seek pleasure there. On the afternoon train we returned to Salisbury, and were met by Master Walter Allen, who safely conveyed us back to our starting place for the night. Too soon the time came for me to say good-bye to the dear ones there. Monday morning, the Fourth, Mr. Ben. Day Taylor, a nephew of mine, announced his readiness, with horse and buggy, to take me up to his home. It was a sad moment. We all wept as we said the last word—the parting word, that may never be repeated this side of the mystic river. But we shall all meet again, if not below, surely above, where parting will never come.

"No farewell shall be uttered.
Upon that golden shore,
Where friends long parted Shall meet to part no more."

We paused a few minutes in Salisbury and then quietly traveled the old road—much of it I used to travel when a boy with mother going to and from this town. One notable object drew my attention as we came along, namely: the old Church—Spring Hill, as it was called fifty years ago, and is yet. It looks about the same so far as I could judge. It is as it used to be, occupied by the Episcopalians. My grand-mother in her early days, was a member of this church; and have heard her say that her daughter, Alice, was dedicated to the Lord in baptism here. My grand-mother, however, died a Methodist. Coming along we crossed the old mill-dam at Horntown, and drove up to Wilson Wright's to say good-bye, but found only Mrs. Wright. From there we drove by the place to me, the dearest in some respect on earth, the old campground, where I was converted forty-six years ago this month, on Tuesday afternoon about one hour by sun, and as I am in doubt about the day of the month—but think it somewhere in the latter part, will make the first man or woman a present of my picture who will tell what day of the month Tuesday came on in Sept. 1858. I got to this camp-meeting on Saturday afternoon—went to the altar on Monday and converted on the next day. The large oak trees that then shaded that holy ground—holly because of the sacred use, have been cut down and hauled away, and more pine and other kinds of timber stand there thick and thrifty.

"There is a spot to me more dear,
Than native vale or mountain;
A spot for which affection tears,
Springs grateful from the fountain:
Tis not where kindred souls abound,
Though that be almost heaven;
But where I first my Saviour found,
And felt my sins forgiven.
O sacred hour! O hallowed spot!
Where love divine first found me;
Where ever falls my distant lot,
My heart still lingers round thee;
And when from earth I rise to soar
'Tis to my home in heaven.
Down will I cast my eyes once more,
Where I was first forgiven."

This old camp-ground is the spot. We arrived at noon, and Miss Kate was well prepared for us in edibles and certainly I endeavored to do justice if not more to her preparations. In the afternoon I was taken by my sister to Sharptown campground, where the people en masse had gathered—old and young—for social, patriotic and literary enjoyment and profit. There was singing, speaking, talking, eating, drinking—water and lemonade—smoking and chewing. Everybody seemed happy. Here I met quite a number I had not before, and some I remember with pleasure, who said, "Come back, and live among us; we would be glad." There was a patient medicine man on the ground, plying his trade. He had in his employ two or three colored men well up in sharp, foolish and ridiculous sayings common and otherwise. They entertained the crowd for two hours perhaps, and sold lots of medicine and soap—soft-soap. After listening twenty or thirty minutes found I had enough. A little fun now and then is enjoyed by the best of men, but a strained humor is only palatable for a short time, one soon cries out, "Enough." Dr. Joseph A. Wright besought me to go down to his home saying his wife would like to see me again. I went and spent an hour very pleasantly. I had made a visit some days before by special invitation of the Doctor. It was very much pleasure to meet the family. I had met Mrs. Wright at the funeral of Miss Maria Wright, a few minutes. They were very kind, and possess to a high degree real conversationalism, which enables them without any particular effort to entertain their guests. Mrs. Wright was Jenny Holmes, whom I knew well in my 22nd year of age and she was but a girl of perhaps a dozen years. At the time referred to, I was living in Dorchester Co., near Hicokburg. Her father and I worked jointly a farm one year though I was for another man. Frequently I went with Rev. W. G. Holmes to his preaching places on Sabbath. We were quite intimate. I was licensed to preach by the Quarterly conference, over which he presided in his work. Bro. Holmes was a good preacher and a fine story teller. An incident which on one Sabbath took place after he had filled his last appointment for the day I venture to relate at the risk of making this paper too long. We came to Hicokburg on our way home, and he was told by some one, a couple of negroes had been there inquiring for the preacher to marry them. We rode on, and overtook them about a mile on the road walking closely hand in hand. When we came up Bro. H. said, "Are you the parties wishing to marry?" "Yes sir," responded the man. "Well, where do you want to get married?" "Right here," was the answer. "Are you both free?" asked the preacher. The man answered that the woman was, but that he was a slave. "Well, have you a permit from your master to marry?" "Yes, sir," and he produced it. They stood with faces toward the west; the sun was about half hour high; it was as warm as an August day generally gets; but the ceremony was said to its close; they were pronounced husband and wife. The minister got into the buggy and we started on. Bro. H. said to me, in the most laudable manner possible of which he was certainly unique, "John, didn't they sweat?" "Think I never laughed more heartily at a three word remark."

I was often in Bro. H.'s family and ate at his table. Of course it was a great pleasure to us—Mrs. Wright and I—to meet again after an absence of about forty years. I had seen mention in the church paper more than one that this lady had married a Dr. J. A. Wright, but did not know who he was; had never been told he was the lad I used to know well—had studied materia-medica and was the husband of the lady referred to. I was very sorry to find Mrs. Wright so badly afflicted. The Dr. informed me that she had been treated by very good physicians, and had not been greatly helped. Miss Berkeley and Artie, their children, are pleasant, nice and promising. The daughter has taught several terms of school, and if I am correct, all have been in one district, namely, Sharptown. The Herald informs me she is to be a teacher still in this school which speaks well for her. The Dr. is well up in his profession, and ought to have a good practice. Soon after returning to the ground, eating ice-cream at the expense of others, I was taken back to Mr. James Knowles' for the night. J. E. D.—Sharptown Herald.

TAKES PARIS GREEN

While Mentally Unbalanced And Ends Her Life. Leaves A Husband And Three Children.

Mrs. Mary Jenkins, wife of Mr. Lemuel Jenkins, living on the Furnace road between Salisbury and Snow Hill, committed suicide last Tuesday by taking Paris green.

Mrs. Jenkins had been of unsound mind for the past two or three years and her husband had been advised to have her placed in some insane asylum, but nothing had been done. During this time she had frequently threatened to end her life but her husband thought they were idle words of which he did not take any notice.

Last Tuesday morning she took a dose of the Paris green and when Mr. Jenkins came in the house she told him of it. He saw some of the green powder on the floor but he did not know what it was and he still did not believe that she had made an attempt to kill herself. She was taken sick that afternoon. Wednesday morning she grew worse and Jenkins hooked up his team and went to Snow Hill to secure a doctor. He was unsuccessful in this and he came on to Salisbury, reaching this place about five o'clock that afternoon. Dr. L. W. Morris returned home with him and reached the bedside of the dying woman in time to see her make one or two gasps for breath and then die. Mrs. Jenkins is survived by her husband and three grown children.

Mr. Charles T. Zepp, a prominent farmer of Fifth district of Howard county, narrowly escaped being drowned in the Patuxent Falls, near the C. A. Gambrill Flour Mills. He was on his way home and missing his way drove into the river. He was rescued by some nearby residents and placed in charge of friends, who cared for him until this morning.

MR. JAMES IN TOWN.

A South American Explorer To Tell Of Adventure And Discovery In A Foreign Land.

Nineteen measured miles of forest without a sight of the sun, is the way in which Mr. Alvah D. James describes the density of the great Amazonian wilderness in South America.

Mr. James has recently returned from an expedition entirely across the southern continent and he brings back an account of hardships and adventures, the like of which have seldom been equalled, and probably never surpassed in the history of modern exploration. Mr. James and his party crossed South America from the west coast of Pennsylvania to the Atlantic seaboard of Brazil. They were absent from the United States nearly a year, five months of which time they lived in daily expectation of death. They passed through a country permeated with deadly miasmas. They encountered savage Indians, faced starvation. Lived for weeks on monkeys and snakes. Built their own boat and rafts in which they descended the Amazon river.

Mr. James is a New York journalist, and Fellow of the American Geographical Society. Some years ago he was the captain of a crew that rowed an open shell more than four thousand and five hundred miles over some of the roughest water in America, including the Bay of Fundy and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. He has a record for exploring in Canada, and is a member of the Canadian Camp.

Mr. James will deliver a talk under the auspices of the High School, at the School Assembly room Friday evening, October twenty-first.

Narrative Of Explorations And Adventures At High School Friday.

Down the Amazon River on a raft and South America, and How I Crossed it will be the subject of a talk by Mr. Alvah D. James, under the auspices of the High School, at the School Assembly room Friday evening, October 21, 1904.

Mr. James will tell about the neighboring of great rapids at the headquarters of the Amazon.

How his party crossed the snows of the Andes Mountains.

He will tell of the Amazon forest, greatest on earth, and what he saw there. Among other things, savage Indians, huge snakes, and the like.

The Panama situation will be discussed, and our relation with South America touched upon.

Price 25 cents. Will begin at 8 o'clock p. m.

SCHOOL BOARD SESSION

Average Attendance Of Pupils Higher.
No Holiday On November 8. Salaries In Advance This Term. Visiting Days.

Session of School Board.

The Wicomico county School Board was in session last Wednesday. County Superintendent H. Crawford Boudin reported to the Board that the enrollment and average attendance this year is above normal. This is very gratifying, both to the school authorities and the citizens of the county.

The Board decided that election day would not be a holiday. This question is not settled by the State Board but is left to each individual county to say.

Mr. L. T. Cooper, member from Sharptown, said that he would furnish an assistant teacher for the school at Riverton.

The Board ordered that in the discretion of the County Superintendent there may be visiting days in the schools at which time anyone who desires to do so can visit the schools.

Payment on teachers' salaries was ordered to be advanced though not due until December, but the money is in hand and the money will be advanced before it is due as a matter of accommodation to the teachers desiring it.

LATE CABLE WAR NEWS FROM ORIENT.

General Kuropatkin admitted in his report to the Czar that his whole army had been forced to fall back before the desperate onslaughts of Oyama's battalions, while in Tokio it is claimed that General Kuropatkin has been "decisively whipped and severely punished," although it is admitted that he may yet turn the tables if the Japanese make any mistakes.

It is reported that the Russians fled in confusion in many places, and General Oku's left army alone captured 25 guns and some prisoners. Other guns were also captured.

The Japanese are trying to turn the Russian right, but no decisive news has come concerning the attempt.

A rumor was published that Port Arthur was in flames and that many Russians had surrendered.

General Stosel reported to the Czar, on October 5, an increasingly violent bombardment on October 5.

Supplies at Port Arthur were reported to be alarmingly low.

Baron Hayaishi, Japanese Ambassador at London, in an interview, declared that only the fall of Port Arthur could bring about peace.

Session Of County Commissioners Tuesday.

Board met with all the members present except Mr. G. H. Larmore and transacted the following business. E. S. Adkins & Co., levy of 1905, bridges, $10.80; E. D. Bates, for payment, Court House, $2.50; Springfield Hospital, matter ending September 30, $196.98; Charles W. Parker, for Fannie Parker, $9.43; John W. Rounds, bridges, $31.30; Thomas J. Moore, Vienna Ferry, $26.25; John H. Hand, levy of 1905, $100.00; L. W. Gundy, levy of 1905 for Court House, $10.00; ferry $1.50; Jail $1.05; A. M. Boudin, Ferry scow at Wetpquin, $100.00; Harry Phillips, hotel bill for Jury, $25.00; Board consigned Mary Ellen Culver to Hospital for Insane at county's expense.

At 3 o'clock the Commissioners took up the John W. Wilkins tax ditch report for ratification. The ratification of the report was contended by Josiah Bailey and others represented by T. F. J. Rider, attorney; J. W. Wilkins was represented by J. E. Ellegood. Several witnesses were sworn and examined. After hearing all the evidence, the Commissioners finally ratified the report of the commission.

Board adjourned to meet Tuesday, October 26.

A majority of the voters of Tynkin District have petitioned the Board of Election Supervisors for a vote as to whether or not liquor shall be sold in that district. The question will be submitted to a vote at the approaching election.

James Hinton, a vicious looking young negro who was in Salisbury last summer with Layton's carnival, billed under the name of "O'Say" a professional snake eater, is reported to have shot and killed a 15 year old negro girl named Carrie Ford at Wilmington, Del., Saturday, and to have made his escape after the shooting.

Ulman Sons special for Saturday will be large covered baskets and dinner pails. One only to each customer. Sale starts at 2 o'clock.

WEEKS' COURT NEWS

How The Cases Are Going. Good Attendance At Sessions. Will Probably Go Through Another Week.

The suit of Dr. John W. Steeves against the County Commissioners of Dorchester county occupied Friday. Dr. Steeves claimed that he was appointed by Dr. Guy Steele, the local health officer for Dorchester county, to take charge of a small-pox epidemic on Elliott's Island. Dr. Steeves claimed that he treated the patients, 8 or 10 in number, and maintained a quarantine successfully, preventing the spread of the contagion over the Island; that all the patients recovered, and that he fumigated all the premises after the cases had recovered. For his services covering a period of 64 days Dr. Steeves rendered a bill to the Commissioners for $545.00, or at the rate of ten dollars per day. The Commissioners considered the bill excessive and refused to pay it. They, however, told Dr. Steeves that if he would bring in a reasonable bill they would pay it. Dr. Steeves then brought suit for the entire amount of his bill. The plaintiff summoned four or five of the physicians of Salisbury who had had experience in the treatment of small-pox cases, for the purpose of proving the value of a doctor's services in treating a small-pox epidemic. They all testified that the service was worth $10 a day. Dr. John S. Fulton, of Baltimore, executive officer of the State Board of Health, figured Dr. Steeves' services at $6.80 per day. The defense produced testimony from physicians in Dorchester county who had attended small-pox epidemics, that their charges ranged from $1.50 to $2.50 a visit. The defense also proved that the cases under Dr. Steeves charge were mild, and that he was not put to much trouble in treating them and in maintaining a quarantine. This case occupied all of Friday and Saturday until Court adjourned at noon.

Monday.

The third week of Court opened Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The case of Dr. Steeves was resumed. It was finished and given to the jury at eleven o'clock Monday night. The jury reached a verdict about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, awarding the plaintiff damages in the sum of $350.00 and Dorchester county to pay all costs. Thomas W. Simmons and Towdvin & Bell were attorneys for the plaintiff; W. Laird Henry and James E. Ellegood for County Commissioners.

Tuesday.

No. 47 Trials, Jones vs. Jones was taken up. This is one of the three Jones cases removed from Worcester county.

Wednesday.

Court adjourned at 11 o'clock Wednesday night instructing the jury to bring in a sealed verdict. Verdict for the defendant and damages assessed at $1,000 was the decision of the jury. This was a suit for slander brought by one brother against another for $20,000 damages claimed to have received on account of remarks alleged to have been passed by the defendant about the plaintiff. The plaintiff is a commission merchant in New York and does quite an extensive business in Worcester. The two brothers had some falling out and Benjamin wrote some pretty strong letters to Asyria. Asyria said of Benjamin, it is stated, "He has robbed me," and again, "Ben is broke, if you ship your stuff or produce to him you will never get him to account for it or make a settlement." Suit was brought by Benjamin and the case was removed from Worcester county to this county.

Trial No. 51. Charles W. Henman vs. Mayor and City Council of Snow Hill was taken up Thursday morning. Prayer of the defendant that the case be removed from the hands of the jury was granted.

This suit was brought by the plaintiff claiming $1,000 damages as a result of his falling into a hole in the streets of Snow Hill.

Friday.

William F. Adams was indicted and arraigned before Court in morning for stealing sundry articles from William J. Toadvine and Larry Toadvine. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary for thirty months.

Trial No. 48. Asyria Jones vs. Benjamin Jones, suit on account occupied the attention of the court the remainder of the day.

Layfield-Bailey.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mr. Clarence Layfield, a native of Salisbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Layfield, of near town, and Miss Cora B. Bailey, of Philadelphia, daughter of Mr. Elwood Bailey, last Wednesday. The groom is well known in Salisbury. He is now manager of one of Kobb's Bakeries, the largest in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Layfield will be at home at their residence, 1329 S. Broad Street, after November 1.

DEMOCRATIC PROSPECTS

Three Weeks Ahead Of Election Day.
Strong Tide Setting In For Parker
And Davis In The Pivotal States.

So far as New York is concerned, evidence increases in volume and variety, that the Republican managers are panic stricken. The die is cast. The handwriting is upon the wall. No astrologer is needed to foretell what will happen in the Empire State on the 8th. of November. That Parker and Herrick will carry New York by an overwhelming majority is beyond question. The Democracy is united and enthusiastic, the opposition is divided and disheartened. The people "will sweep all of Odell's creatures into the Hudson River," and make a clean job of it by using Roosevelt and Fairbanks as a sinker. More Democrats will sit in the New York Legislature next year than have sat there in a decade; more Democrats will be sent to Congress from New York than have been elected in any year since 1892.

Connecticut And New Jersey.

A canvass of New Jersey and Connecticut convinces the Democratic managers that once more the old saying, "As goes New York, so go New Jersey and Connecticut," will come true. It requires but a change of a few thousand voters in those two States to land them in the Democratic column.

Delaware And Maryland.

Little Delaware, so long debauched by the unrepentable Addicks, is trembling on the balance. The Democrats of the State are absolutely united and more aggressive than they have been for a number of years. Their full vote is registered and every possible Democratic vote will be polled.

Every Democratic and Independent newspaper in Baltimore is doing its best to make the majority for Parker and Davis memorable. The Sun, Herald and News are enrolled in the Democratic cause.

Indiana Worries Republicans.

And what of Indiana? Will she join hands with New York, her old side partner in 1876, 1884 and 1892, or will she be content to wallow longer in the mire of discredited Republicanism? Chairman Taggart says not only for publication, but in private conversation with his friends and associate committeemen, that the Hoosier State will do for Parker what it did for Lilden and Cleveland. He has an organization which is well-nigh perfect. His reports are of the most encouraging nature and basing his judgment upon these and upon his personal knowledge of political conditions, he does not hesitate to predict a Democratic triumph.

West Virginia Swinging Back.

The Democratic managers both State and National, believe victory awaits Parker and Davis in West Virginia. The State ticket is considered safe. It begins to look as if the masterful personality and great popularity of Henry G. Davis would make his own State Democratic by an unprecedented majority.

In The Far West.

Unless all signs are deceptive, Nevada has been given up by the Republicans. Whether it has or not, Democrats count upon its three electoral votes as a certainty. Colorado is good fighting ground; some Democrats more or less familiar with political conditions there, place the State in the "doubtful" column; others say it is as safely Democratic as New York. The Democratic campaign is being well managed, and the best possible results will be obtained.

Montana is another State in which the political situation is decidedly "mixed." All that can be said with truth is that the chances favor Democratic success on both State and National tickets.

The outcome of the election in Utah and Idaho is problematical. The Democrats, opposing any union of Church and State, but promising to treat Mormons and Gentiles alike as free American citizens, hope to win both States.

In Conclusion.

The two parties enter upon the home stretch about neck and neck. Extraneous claims of either count for nothing. The trend of sentiment is now with the Democracy. The masterful presentation of the issues of the campaign by Carl Schurz has aroused and solidified the Independents throughout the country. The tremendous outpouring of Democrats and Independents at the Manhattan Club reception to Judge Parker shows the depth and breadth of the rising Democratic tide in New York and adjoining States. What was expected to be a purely club affair, with an attendance of not over twelve hundred, proved a splendid demonstration of party union and enthusiasm. Five thousand persons crowded the club house and Judge Parker and Judge Herrick were compelled to stand for more than four hours to give every man an opportunity to greet the candidates.

Report Of Recent Grand Jury On Court House And Jail.

The Grand Jury which adjourned last week examined 49 witnesses and found 21 true bills.

The report of the committee appointed to inspect the court house and jail was as follows: "We visited the jail and found it to be in a healthy, well ventilated, sanitary condition, and the prisoners in a well-kept condition. But we noticed that some repairs are needed, as quite a number of bricks are missing around one window in one of the cells, as though they had been picked out by some prisoner. There are nine prisoners. We also examined the court house and notice there are some leaks in the roof which need attention; otherwise the building is in good condition."

The committee to visit the alms house reported as follows: "We have examined the alms house and farm buildings and find them in good condition. The inmates number 2 white females, 5 white males, 5 colored females and 2 colored males, and are well cared for. The crops are good and the stock is in first-class condition."

These properties, with the Queen Anne's Railroad, will be owned by the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway, the new river and rail combination formed by Messrs. Nicholas P. Bond and Henry P. Scott. Mr. Bond will be president of the new company, and Mr. Thomson will direct its operations.

—Mr. J. S. E. Parlee, editor of the Eastern Ledger, formerly of the Centreville Observer, was married Thursday to Miss Mary Augusta Walls in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Crampton, Queen Anne's county, by Rev. John W. Prettymann, assisted by Rev. J. Albert Arters.

—Burglars stole the 700 pound safe from the store of William J. Fitzpatrick, at Pekin Thursday morning and secured over $300. They entered the saloon adjoining by smashing in a pane of glass, and then going through opened all the doors. They carried the safe out on the road, working the combination, opened it.

THIS IS THE SEASON OF THE Elegantly Picturesque In Millinery

The large picture hats are pre eminent for evening as well as daytime wear. Yet so varied are the shapes that each individual taste is amply met.

The full autumn showing invites you.

THE NEW COLOR SCHEMES OF THE SEASON

A dozen different whims have given us the beautiful combinations on these hats—indiscreetly bold and dashing, or faint and alluring.

When Marie Antoinette sat up all night with a gay party of friends to watch the sun rise, it made dawn pink the fashion. It is here in a marabout hat as soft as a cloud.

Because the Princess de Lamballe affected shades of pink, lavender, blue and green, wonderfully blended, this combination has been revived. A certain shade of pale blue is much in vogue, as it matched Marie Antoinette's eyes.

But, besides these, there is the whole gamut of vivid flame colors, ranging from the volcanic yellow of flame du Fujiyama down to dull, smouldering red.

THERE ARE ALSO NEW SHAPES

Crowns are high and brims are wide, to go with full skirts and larger sleeves. The hat seen most in Paris at present has a medium high stiff crown, elongated from back to front and slightly sunken at the top. The tall, box-like crown—severe, uncompromising, yet regal—is also a favorite. The trimming is high in front.

A HINT OF THE NOVELTIES

Trimnings of marabout feathers have taken London, Paris and America by storm.

Taffeta hats are in again, elaborated with every sort of shirring and pleating.

Hand work plays a larger part in millinery than it has for years. Nodding plumes and softest chiffons with velvets make the richest and most beautiful headgear.

MOST OF THESE HATS BY OUR OWN MILLINERS

Yet they have missed none of the new points brought by cables and letters and models from Paris. It will not be at all strange if you pick up one of them, expecting to see a Paris label inside. We are proud of them all.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of 'liver trouble' by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

A most glorious rain Tuesday night has broken the long and continued drought.

Most of the insurance commissioners satisfactorily adjusted the recent fire losses this week.

Mrs. S. E. Matthews, Chincoteague Island, visited her sister, Mrs. Jno. N. Herman, on Main Street.

Mrs. Mary A. Bethards, who for several days has been quite sick, is very much improved and much more comfortable.

Mr. Roger Adams and family who have been living in Adam's Hall since the burning of his home moved Tuesday and are now located on Atlantic Avenue until completion of new home on the old site.

Mrs. Harvey Long who has been in Baltimore for the past two weeks visiting at her husband's old home, Forest Park, returned to Glenn Echo, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Farlow, of Pocomoke, arrived Monday. Mrs. Farlow is making her mother and Mrs. Hoskins a visit. Mr. Farlow returned the next day, business requiring attention.

Mr. Gordon Hooper, paymaster on the B. & A., spent Sunday in Berlin and registered at the Atlantic.

Judge Dennis and Mr. Fielder Slingluff who have been enjoying the bridge sport at Ocean City and guests of the Shamrock left on the early train Monday for Baltimore city.

Mrs. T. C. Etheridge, who was a guest of the Park Hotel last week during the races, has returned to her home, St. Rides, Norfolk, Va.

Mr. Jesse Baker of Eagle Nest took his departure Tuesday for Kansas City on business and will also view the World's Fair attraction on his homeward route later.

The Synepuxent mosquitoes are still in a most thriving condition and growing fat. The recent frost seemingly sharpened their bills as well as aggressive longings.

Mr. Robert Purnell representing Kelley & Co., Philadelphia has been a guest of the Park Hotel this week.

Mr. Charles, Mark Hanna, Rayne, recently purchased the tonorial parlors of Mr. Thomas Burch and will be located at Ocean City during the fall and winter. We all know Mr. Hanna and wish him all there is in it.

The Rev. David Howard, of Salisbury, accompanied by a friend, Mr. William Macklin of Wilmington, have been angling at Ocean City this week, making the Howell cottage their headquarters.

Dr. Levin Collier, Jr., who for several weeks has been assisting Dr. Cyrus W. Dirickson as druggist, bade his friends a final adieu and left for his home in Salisbury Monday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Anderson are this week making New York a visit. Mr. Anderson will attend the carriage manufacturers convention from different sections of the country, and have the pleasure of meeting numerous former acquaintances.

Mr. E. S. Furbush is visiting Baltimore and Philadelphia this week replenishing his stock of general merchandise.

Messrs. Fred Rayne and Chester Nichols were in Salisbury Monday on business.

Wild fowl are commencing to make their appearance in our bay and rivers causing several of our old sportsmen to rub and oil their fire arms in order to be in readiness when the time comes.

Messrs. John L. Robins and James B. Robins of Snow Hill, visited Berlin Thursday last and took in the races.

Miss Harriett Hickman and Miss Rose Mumford of Ocean City honored our town and the races Thursday.

Mr. Painter West has cause to feel proud of the result of his efforts and successful corn crop on the Bay's End farm this year. 'Tis one of the finest for many seasons.

Mr. Henry Godfrey who has been very much harassed for the past week with an attack of the gout is somewhat improved.

Mr. William Parsons and Miss Amelia Lynch both of Synepuxent were married last Sunday afternoon at the parsonage in Berlin by the Rev. J. Edward Brooks.

Between three and four thousand of the human race attended the horse race last Thursday at Franklin Park, regardless of the unpromising appearance of the weather. Many however, fearing a second edition of last year's experience, remained at home.

Uncle Bob Fisher, one of our oldest tobacco solicitors on the road has been completely out of tune this week at the Park suffering from a lumbagoed back. The all powerful porous plaster in this instance seemingly has failed to do its full duty.

Dr. Edward J. Dirickson paid Baltimore a professional visit Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Alexander, of Willow Hill, Pa., were visitors this week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Dr. M. E. Parsons, on Bay Street.

Reginald Parsons, a three year old son of Dr. M. E. Parsons who unfortunately swallowed a tablet of corrosive sublimate for candy, and lingering between life and death for several days, under the medical skill of Dr. Z. P. Henry, is much improved and doing nicely. Clam baltion for days was the only nourishment that could be retained showing how extremely delicate the condition of the stomach was.

A surprise party in honor of William Buck Hanley's sixteenth birthday was given at the Hanley homestead Friday night, October 7th, which proved to be a most enjoyable affair. Willie was stretched upon the sofa enjoying the most delightful dreams during their arrival and was perfectly oblivious to the merry surroundings until one of the fair sex ignited one of those blue headed lucifers and allowed him to inhale its fragrance which promptly brought the young man to his feet, gave him the opportunity to indulge himself in a few gentle and comorous sneezes. Willie very soon sized up the situation, giving the gathering a cordial welcome and then unwares proved himself long before the time of departure that their remembrance of his 16th, birthday was duly appreciated and that nothing on his part should be lacking to make their evening but one of genuine pleasure. Those present were Misses May Purnell, Elva Rydging, Ella Scott, Stella Hearn, Mildred Warren, Helen Bell, Ida Burbage and Sallie McGregor, Messrs. Lester Adkins, Clinton Quillen, David Pruitt, Jno. Hammond, Lenn Williams, Thomas McGregor, Selby Purnell, William Bethards, Howard Dill, Howard Frubush, Howard Hearn, Howard Hammond and H. Murray Bell. The delighted guests finally at a late hour took their departure wishing Master William many happy returns.

The national eye is now fixed upon the two great parties which are now contending for the mastery in the United States. The majority of men have fixed convictions as to which of them is right. One or the other of the presidential candidates, Parker or Roosevelt, will be elected at the coming election, just in proportion as men express these convictions at the polls on election day. It is right and proper that men should have their preference but in exercising the right of franchise they should be guided by what is best for the public weal and not be blinded by prejudice and selfishness. On the 20th, of this month, October, 1904, our election will be held in the town of Berlin submitting to the qualified voters of the town two tickets, one for and the other against water supply.

We candidly believe no more vital question was ever presented to our people upon which to decide. The future of our town will in a great measure depend upon the way men exercise the right of franchise on the day before mentioned. If you vote for water you will place your town alongside of other progressive places inviting both capital and good citizens to locate here. They will know at once that Berlin is destined to be an up-to-date town and is in a position to give them the comforts and conveniences which other wide awake towns offer them. Vote against water and you virtually acknowledge yourself satisfied with your present conditions and care nothing about the safety of your town or its citizens and are perfectly satisfied that things should continue to drift as formerly, perfectly willing that your town should have a fire every two three or four years, as the case may be, a large portion of it burned and the people be powerless to stay the flames. We are so isolated that we cannot secure insurance at reasonable rates and we do not care anything if our fellow man has to pay an exorbitant rate of insurance or can not get it at all. We do not care whether Berlin adds more citizens to its present number or makes any improvement whatever. We are willing to acknowledge that we are figure heads, or pig headed or selfishness personified. We trust there will be but few of the class who will vote against water entertaining sentiments as just expressed. What other towns have already done Berlin can do. Snow Hill, Milford and other places have been bonded and now have a system of water works which are yielding a paying investment to the towns. Let us not be behind other places but let us have water and the many advantages and benefits which will naturally follow.

The subject is one requiring your thought and attention before the day of election. And the future fate of your own firesides are in the hands of our own people for weal or woe, and we ask you to do your duty as men.

For Congress:

Hon. Thomas A. Smith,
OF CAROLINE COUNTY.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

The whirlwind of Democratic activity has struck Maryland as evidenced by the great overflow and record breaking attendance at the meeting in Baltimore Monday. In the general quiet which has prevailed throughout the campaign it was supposed by the Republicans that because the Democrats made no noise, they were politically asleep or indifferent. The result at the Lyric is an awakening and goes to show that there is spathy only in appearance and name, as the Advertiser has contended since the nomination of the presidential candidates.

The people of the country are thinking more and saying less, and we confidently believe that this stillness of voice is fraught with intense and far reaching meaning favorable to the Democratic party. There is excellent ground for belief that over the states is a recognized depth of sentiment which, now rolling from man to man, will gather such a sweep of strength as to be invincible and brush the present Republican administration aside for the ascendancy of a triumphant Parker and Davis Democracy.

Preparation are now on for a rally in this section on Saturday, October 29 at Ulman's Grand Opera House, where the members of the party and their friends who believe in the Constitution, Independence, Honesty in public office and Economy in public administration will assemble in telling numbers to hear prominent speakers on the great issues.

Hon. Thomas A. Smith who is making a winning canvass for Congress in the First District will be present, and the people of Wicomico will be pleased to see and hear this popular candidate, who will secure the county's majority.

Other speakers will be Gen. L. Victor Baughman, of Frederick, ex-Attorney General John P. Poe, Alonzo P. Miles and Hon. A. S. Goldsborough, of Baltimore and Ex-Congressman, Joshua P. Miles, of Somerset. A brass band will enliven the occasion and furnish good old Democratic music. We want all friends of the Democratic platform to be present.

GUARD BALLOT'S PURITY.

There is no doubt that the Republican managers have planned to buy the Presidency. Evidence accumulates that they are preparing to use an enormous corruption fund in the purchase of the floating vote in certain states. They have been accused openly of this intention by two high class independent newspapers, the New York Times and the Brooklyn Eagle. The accusation is supported by that sort of circumstantial evidence which oftentimes is more convincing than direct evidence.

Whether or not the infamous plan to buy the Presidency for Roosevelt can be put through, depends upon the vigilance of the local committees and individual voters, who are earnestly supporting Parker and Davis. The Democratic National Committee is in possession of evidence from every State in the Union which convinces it that the clean, unpurchasable vote of the country which favors the election of the Democratic ticket is at least a third larger than the like vote favoring the Republican ticket. And the Committee is convinced that the drift is with the Democrats at the present time. Parker and Davis will certainly win the election if the wholesale debauchery of the ballot contemplated by the Republican managers can be prevented. To this end the Democratic National Committee, with powerful aid from Democratic and Independent sources is bending its energies. If every Democratic voter will consider himself on guard to protect the purity of the ballot. Parker and Davis will make as great a sweep as did Cleveland and Stevenson in 1892.

—With the Presidential election three weeks away, important political events are crowding fast upon each other. The absolute certainty that the great State of New York has passed out of even the shadow of Republican supremacy, is working a remarkable change in the situation in other so-called "doubtful" States.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT, NOT BOASTFUL.

Of the fifteen million voters whom the managers of the two great political parties believe will cast their votes on the 8th., of November, there is not one who is wise enough to foretell the name of the next president of the United States. In pursuance of the policy of brag and bluster, evidently laid down for them by some very high authority, the Republican leaders and the editors of partisan Republican organs continue to claim everything and profess to see an overwhelming victory ahead. Deep down in their hearts, however, there are doubts and fears and a still small voice bids them remember that "There's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip."

The belief that Parker and Davis will be elected is based upon the most trustworthy information that can be obtained at this time as to the temper and intention of the voters in the ten or twelve States outside of the "solid South," in which both parties are fighting hard for supremacy, as well as upon an abiding faith in the intelligence and patriotism of the people when once they understand the issues of the campaign and the positions of the respective parties thereupon. That Democratic prospects have been greatly improved within the past ten days is evident to any one with an eye to see and an ear to hear. This improvement is easily accounted for, first, by the splendid condition of the united Democracy in the State of New York; second by the fine impression made upon the country by Judge Parker through his letter of acceptance; and third, by the general era of good feeling in the party, which Judge Parker has created by his successful personal efforts to conciliate all factions and enlist the hearty support of certain Democratic leaders, who, for one cause or another, had been inclined to hold aloof and let the campaign take care of itself.

The foremost independent newspapers of the country while perhaps not yet convinced that defeat is in store for the Republicans, nevertheless agree that the political tide is turning and that from now on it will set in strongly toward Parker and Davis. Among the influential papers which hold to this view, are the New York Herald, the Brooklyn Eagle, the Philadelphia Ledger, the Boston Herald and the Springfield Republican.

OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained in This Citizens Statement is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong, can afford to toss this paper aside impatiently when they read the following, but any sufferer in Salisbury who has suffered hours of torture caused by kidney complaint will stand in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered here.

George W. Greenon, proprietor of the Greenon House, at 1808 N. Street, Washington, D. C., just off Tennessee Ave., well known both in and out of Washington, says: "Yes, I used the pills, and they did me a lot of good. I have had considerable trouble with my kidneys and back. I used many medicines, but none of them acted like Doan's Kidney Pills. The first dose of the pills seemed to go right to the seat of the trouble and to set about to correct it. I was somewhat astonished and thought perhaps they contained some opiate and had only deadened the pain for a while, but it has been a month now since I used them and the pains have not returned. You can use my name and I will back it up, as I believe Doan's Kidney Pills do all that is claimed for them."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Salisbury. Call at White & Leonard's Drug Store and ask what their customers report.

Sold for 50 cents a box by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

The coroner's jury in its verdict on the death of Charles E. Saunders and Ella Hammond, killed by a Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington train on Thursday, attribute the fatality to the negligence of the company in not maintaining a proper crossing.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50 cents and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

One of Many.

H. A. Tisdale, of Summerton, S. C., suffered for twenty years with the Piles. Specialists were employed and many remedies used but relief and permanent good was found only in the use of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. This is only one of the many, many cures that have been effected by this wonderful remedy.

In buying Witch Hazel Salve it is only necessary to see that you get the genuine DeWitt's, made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., in Chicago, and a cure is certain. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures all kinds of piles, cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, tetter, ring worm, skin diseases, etc. Sold at Dr. McKesson's Pharmacy.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is given dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by all druggists.

The Baltimore and Ohio has just issued the announcement that the big locomotive which they now have on exhibition at the World's Fair at St. Louis, will be put on the mountains in this State as soon as the Fair is over. It is the largest locomotive in the world and weighs 149 tons. It will be put on the 17-mile grade between Piedmont and Altamont to assist the heavy trains over the mountains. It is one of the latest models of the high class freight locomotives and has attracted a great deal of attention at the Fair.

Cause Of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ, which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried to the skin, as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most violent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an anesthetic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by all druggists.

Forty-one years ago Mr. George W. Main found a common land terrapin on his farm in Frederick county, Md. On its under shell he marked with his knife the year (1863) and also made other marks that he remembered. In 1894 he found it again and marked the year on its shell. A few days ago he found the same terrapin in his orchard and it was apparently as lively as ever. The marks were all still distinct.

Head About To Burst From A Severe Bilious Attack.

"I had a severe bilious attack and felt like my head was about to burst when I got hold of a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I took a dose of them and after supper and the next day felt like a new man and have been feeling happy ever since," says Mr. J. W. Smith, of Julliff, Texas. For biliousness, stomach troubles and constipation, these tablets have no equal. Price 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

A very modest person living near Roland Park, and who does not wish his name published, raised a tomato this season that weighed 20 ounces.

Many Mothers Of A Like Opinion.

Mrs. Palmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by all druggists.

William J. Woodford, of Centerville, while attempting to drive a Texas pony Friday, was thrown from his sulky and seriously injured.

Good For Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives instant relief in all cases of Cough Croup and La Grippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. Sold by all druggists.

Many persons possibly do not know that in productiveness Frederick county ranks as the third agricultural county in the United States.

A Love Letter.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, O., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Buckle's Arnica Salve cured me." It's the best salve on earth. 25 cents at all druggists.

The Hagerstown Fair and Horse Show was held on October 11th, 13th, 14th and 14th.

Broke Into His House.

S. Le Quinn, of Cavendish, Va., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25 cents at all druggists.

Monarch over pain. Burns, cuts, sprains, stings, instant relief. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store.

OUR NAVAL GUNNERS.

The Care With Which They Are Selected and Trained.

It is only half the work to arm and equip ships with the most improved guns and sights. They must also have a highly trained personnel capable of manipulating guns, turrets and torpedo tubes. writes Lieutenant Commander Gleaves in World's Work. When China found herself arrayed against Japan she offered $500 cash per month for skilled gun pointers, but in all great navies gun pointers are trained, not bought, and when the fight is on it is too late for instruction.

How does a man become an expert gunner? Diligent drill and constant training are not enough without a certain amount of natural aptitude. One man after another is tried, for days' drill in the turrets eliminates all except the fairly promising. For the talent of eye and nerve which makes the born gun pointer the government pays from $2 to $10 a month in addition to the regular pay. This premium is not confined to any race, creed or color. On one vessel in the navy one of the gun pointers is a negro.

Selecting gun pointers is one of the most important duties in the navy. Having selected the men for gun pointers, the next step is to train them. Two methods are now in vogue, both having the same principle, but differing in detail. In the old days of sails and smoothbore guns the inviolable rule, and the only rule the gun captain knew, was this: "Fire at the top of the downward roll just as the ship begins to roll toward the target and aim at the enemy's water line." This rule lasted far into the age of steam and turret guns. It has only recently been supplanted by "continuous aiming," or the art of keeping a gun trained on the target regardless of the oscillations of the vessel during the whole or a portion of the roll.

The method for training men by the new system—the use of a "dotter"—was devised by Captain Percy Scott of the British navy. The dotter is a mechanical device which causes a small target to move across the face of a gun, with a combined vertical and horizontal motion. The gun pointer must follow the target, and whenever the sights are on the bullseye he presses a button. This causes a pencil to dot the target. That is his shot. The other method of instruction is with the Morris tube, which consists of a small gallery rifle fitted on the gun to take the place of the dotter's pencil.

So proficient have the bluejackets become in handling the turret guns that in actual target practice on board the Alabama a thirteen inch gun is loaded and fired in thirty-eight seconds. The kind of target practice employed now in all navies is one in which the target is stationary and the ships moving, the other in which both ship and target are moving.

Depth of Life in the Sea.

In the National Geographic Magazine is an interesting story of the deep sea explorations of the steamer Albatross, under the direction of the United States bureau of fisheries.

While carrying on her work the Albatross has made more than 10,000 soundings and more than 4,000 dredgings.

The greatest depth from which the Albatross has secured any life was 3,473 fathoms. This was in the south Pacific between Tonga and Ellice islands. The dredge brought up siliceous sponges, radiolarians and brown volcanic mud. The greatest depth from which she has brought up fishes is about three and one-half miles in the edge of the Gulf stream off Virginia. The deepest sounding made was at station 4010, near Guam, where the enormous depth of nearly five and one-half miles was found.

The deepest sounding ever made by any vessel was by the United States steamship Nero while on the Honolulu-Manila cable survey, with apparatus borrowed from the Albatross. When near Guam the Nero got 31,614 feet, only sixty-six feet less than six miles.

If Mount Everest, the highest mountain on earth, were set down in this hole it would have above its summit nearly half a mile of water.

Gone For A Policeman.

Judge J. J. O'Brien of the supreme court of New York state tells an amusing story of two boys who went to confession after having remained away for many years.

The one who went into the box first remained there for a long while. Finally the little door opened and the priest came out. It was a sultry afternoon, and he walked down the aisle to the doorway to get a breath of fresh air.

As he did so the boy in the confessional poked his head out, and with an alarming look inquired of his friend who was in the pew. "Where has he gone?"

"I don't know," replied the other; "where do you think he's gone?"

"Well," was the now thoroughly frightened response, "from what I've told him I think he's gone to fetch a cop."—New York Tribune.

When St. Peter's is Illuminated.

Of religious illuminations Rome that of St. Peter's is the most magnificent, but is now seldom seen. Before the fall of the temporal power the whole facade and even the immense cupola were outlined by innumerable little lamps, producing a perfectly stupendous effect, but now the lighting is limited to the facade. The interior is, however, illuminated for some most important event, such as a sanctification, when from every arch and from the roof in the nave hang huge crystal candelabra with candles, so cunningly interspersed with electric light that it is difficult to detect the latter.—London Telegraph.

FRUITLAND.

Mrs. Charlotte Carey, accompanied by her niece Miss Cleve Hearn, left on Tuesday of this week for Capron, Va., where they expect to spend a few weeks with Mrs. Wm. Vincent. Mrs. Carey's daughter.

Mrs. Lewis Malone and niece, little Miss Renah Hayman, returned home Monday after an enjoyable stay with Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Hayman, at Oak Hall, Va.

At a cabinet meeting of the Epworth League on Monday evening the following delegates were elected to the Salisbury District Convention to be held at Salisbury: Mr. G. W. Messick and Miss Florence Carey, alternates, Mrs. J. S. Taylor and Mrs. John H. Dulany.

The remains of Mr. John Fields, of Shadpoint, who died at the home of his son at Allen, were brought to the home of Mrs. John Carey, only daughter of deceased, where funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. White of Allen, assisted by Revs. C. H. Williams and H. S. Dulany.

Mrs. V. A. Austin and two sons, Leland and Harold, who have been spending a month here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. A. Dulany, Mrs. Austin's parents, left this week for their home in Salina, Kansas.

Messrs. W. R. Acworth and Mr. B. Hayman, both of Virginia, spent last Sunday with parents and friends here.

We were glad to have in our midst for a few days this week, Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Dulany of Asbury, Crisfield, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Penn Dulany and little son, Franklin, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Carey and two children, Elizabeth and Cland, were in Baltimore last week, returning on Sunday's boat.

Mrs. John Thomas gave the young folks a blinch party on Thursday evening of last week.

Rev. C. H. Williams is holding revival services at Siloam church this week.

KELLY.

Mr. Elijah Parsons has lost a very old and honorable horse, aged about 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and son, Clifford, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Marion Collins.

Mr. Manders Johnson and Miss Ethel Lank spent Sunday with Miss Mamie Freeny.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dykes and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Davis and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Davis.

Mr. Herbert Fooks has gone to Annapolis to take a course in St. John's College. Several other young men accompanied him from Salisbury.

The fire that raged in St. Luke's neighborhood for the past week has done considerable damage to young timber.

POWELLVILLE.

The protracted meeting now in progress at Powellville, Md., P. Church has the evidence of spiritual power. Sinners are being converted and the church quickened.

Miss Abbie White has been suffering for the last few days of neuralgia. She was unable to teach her school Friday, but is improving at present.

Mr. Sewell J. Brittingham, of Libertytown and Miss Mary A. Rayne, of Mount Pleasant, were united in matrimony on the evening of October 8th. Rev. Geo. H. Stockdale tied the knot.

Mr. John H. Mills, of Colbourn, and Mrs. Nancy Davis, of Whitton, were married at Mt. Zion M. P. Church last Thursday noon, by Rev. Geo. H. Stockdale.

Mrs. Wilmer Jones of Salisbury is spending this week with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Powell entertained a number of friends and relatives Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Laws and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and Misses Martha, Audrey and Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Powell and Mr. King Adkins.

Rev. and Mrs. John L. Ward and Miss Dorothy, Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Stockdale and Miss Ethel Powell were guests at the home of Mr. Lambrey Powell Thursday last.

Miss Lillie Perdue and Mr. Henry Coulbourn visited Misses Ella and Gussie Barbage Thursday.

ATHEL.

Rev. B. G. Parker will on Sunday night begin a series of revival meetings in the hall. He will omit his service in the morning. This is a mission conducted by the regular missionary baptists. There have already been several conversions.

MASONS STIRRED UP

Rev. Mr. Wheeler Wants Them To Vacate The Second Story Of His Church, But They Refuse To Move. Masons Call On The Law To Prevent Repairs.

"Reliance is a small village in Sussex county, Delaware, and in Dorchester county, Md., made historic by being the residence of the notorious 'Patty' Cannon, whose nefarious operations are so vividly pictured by Gath in the 'Entailed Hat.' In her day it was known as Johnson's Cross Roads, Johnson being 'Patty's' assistant in much of her work. The line dividing the two States at this place also divides the little village, and in 'Patty's' day she had a residence on either side of the line, though her cell, referred to by Gath as 'pandemonium,' was on the Maryland side. The buildings have been remodeled and improved, and it is a difficult matter to get any information here regarding 'Patty,' as her crimes were so black and hideous that the present residents want even the memory of her life blotted out. About 33 years ago the Methodist Protestant Society decided to erect a church here. Tiras Phillips gave the ground and soon the work of church building was receiving much attention. At this time there were several wealthy members of the Masonic fraternity living in and near the village. This fraternal society proposed to aid the church society in the building of the church to the extent of $1,000, providing a suitable hall be arranged on the second floor of the building for the use of the Masons, and to be used by them solely. The proposition was accepted, and the church was finished with a pretty hall, known and used as the hall of Gethsemane Lodge of Masons, each room being dedicated with much demonstration. All went well, and for more than 30 years the most cordial feeling existed between the societies.

Two years ago Rev. Thos. A. Wheeler was sent by the Conference to Reliance church with parsonage and headquarters near the church edifice. Conditions continued as before until about three months ago, when Mr. Wheeler began a tirade of abuse against secret societies in general and Masons in particular, working up a sentiment against the society meeting in the upper room of the church building. All efforts failed to work its removal and the preacher, aided by a part of his congregation, decided to tear down the church and remodel it, and in the new plan, leave the Masons out.

This the Masons resented with all their available force and resources, claiming that they had invested $1,000 in the construction of the building and that they were joint owners and as such had peaceably occupied the room for more than 30 years. Both sides employed lawyers and began a controversy, the Masons on the defensive. The church society notified the Masons that it would begin tearing away the old church on September 10, and that they must vacate on or before that day. The day arrived and both societies were on the scene, the church officials having a force of carpenters to begin work. The Masons, acting on the advice of their attorney, were accompanied by officers of the law, and the church officials were notified that the first man that began work on the building would be arrested.

No work was done, the matter has been taken to court, and very bitter feeling exists.

HEBRON.

Revival services will begin at the M. P. Church Sunday evening, October twenty second. Rev. E. P. Perry in charge.

Mrs. L. Atwood Bennett, Masters Marvin Evans and Everett Williams, of Salisbury, spent Saturday with Mrs. Alex Catlin.

Miss Coral Collins returned Sunday after spending a week with friends in Baltimore.

Mr. Elwood Anderson of Harford county was a guest Sunday of Mrs. M. I. Lowe and family.

Mr. James Waller, of Spring Hill, is having a pretty residence erected on Chestnut Street.

MARDELA.

An oyster supper will be held in the hall at Mardele Springs on the evenings of October 14 and 15, Friday and Saturday, under the auspices of the M. P. Church of this place. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

A Luxury To The Well, A Necessity To The Sick.

Several States have popular summer resorts whose mineral springs containing sulphur in solution gives their waters proven, time-tried, healing value. Multitudes who require this sterling remedy for various skin ailments and yet who cannot spare a season at the sulphur springs, may now obtain at home all the benefits of sulphur bathing.

Hancock's Liquid Sulphur, Nature's Greatest Germicide, is declared with enthusiasm by its appreciative users to afford the sensible invigoration of a tonic as well as permanent health restoration. The Hancock Liquid Sulphur Co., Baltimore, Md., sends its free booklet on the genuine value of sulphur to any who may be interested in sulphur bathing and its thousands of curative achievements.

The new railway between Middletown and Cecilton will be in operation about Christmas. The line will be 10 miles long and the cars will be operated by gasoline motors instead of by electricity.

A Clear Complexion The Exponent Of Health.

Seeing a face that wears a bright and clear complexion, the inference is that the individual has the personal advantages of general health.

Continued exposure to direct sun rays, as experienced in country life, and also to a city's dust and smoke, dries the skin, clogs its pores and renders them inactive and germ harboring.

Applications of Hancock's Liquid Sulphur, Nature's Greatest Germicide renders the skin pores active; foreign material is eliminated, the skin effectively cleansed, and the complexion restored. Hancock Liquid Sulphur Co., Baltimore, Md., mails free booklet describing sulphur's actual value for the complexion and as a healing agent.

Letter To R. E. Powell & Co.

Salisbury, Md.
Dear Sir, As a big mill-owner, Spartansburg, S. C. wanted 5,000 gallons of paint, and bought by price; paid 5 cents less than our: got a 'lead and zinc' paint; but the lead, not carbonate. Sulphate costs about half; and covers about half.
That paint was adulterated about six times as much as the five cents paid for. He 'saved' 5 cents; and it cost him 30. Oh no; it cost him a more than that; we forgot the labor. Can't work it out exactly; don't know how long it'll wear.
Short measure besides; that alone was twice as much as his 'saving' 5 cents.
It was thin, too; some less there; don't know how much.
There was too much dryer in it. The maker made something on that; he didn't.
Taking it altogether, he didn't make much by that 5 cents.
Go by the name; and the name is Devos had and zinc.
Yours truly

WOUNDED ON WATER

Mr. Turner Disharoon Shot While Watching His Clam And Oyster Beds Near George's Island. Brought To Hospital In Salisbury.

Mr. Turner Disharoon, a cousin of Messrs. Charles R. and Emory Disharoon, of Salisbury, was brought to the Peninsula General Hospital last Sunday night in a critical condition. Mr. Disharoon and his brother, Benjamin, are large oyster dealers near Stockton, Worcester county and buy oysters and transfer them to beds of their own near George's Island to fatten for the winter trade. They had been missing clams for some time past and finally resolved to watch the bed. They had secreted themselves but a short time when they discovered two persons stealing the clams. Mr. Disharoon says it would have been an easy matter to have killed them if they had wanted to do so, but he and his brother simply fired their gun in the air, hoping to frighten the men and cause them to surrender. But the pirates instead of giving up, raised their Winchester rifle and shot with intent to kill. Turner Disharoon was hit in the right leg near the thigh, the bullet tearing a great hole in the flesh and splintering the bone.
Benjamin Disharoon received a flesh wound in the calf of the leg. The superintendent of the Hospital reported yesterday that Mr. Disharoon was doing finely.

George Hudson and Albert Flemming are locked in the Snow Hill Jail charged with being implicated in the shooting.

Improvements At The Peninsula Hotel.

Mr. Harry S. Phillips, proprietor of the Peninsula Hotel, has leased the store room under the hotel now occupied by Mr. J. B. Porfer. The partitions now separating the store room and the dining room will be removed and other improvements made. This will make the dining room, which will extend to Main Street, about 30 feet longer. When this is done, and the work will commence shortly, Mr. Phillips will have one of the finest dining rooms on the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Porter has leased the store room recently vacated by Mr. L. P. Conloun, two doors below his present place of business, and has already begun to make some needed improvements to the interior.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

New Three-Quarter Coats: Military Capes:
The New Paquin Skirt: Fall And Winter Millinery.

To be in style this season, one must wear a three-quarter length garment, whether it is a loose coat, strapped at the back, a double or triple military cape, or one exceedingly full, gathered to a yoke, with little capes (which survive all caprices of fashion) also. The paquet shape has very large, loose sleeves, and often very handsome appliques in black or the fashionable burnt-orange, around the shoulders and neck. Black velvet coats are also of this shape, and are both plain or very ornate. If one desires to be conspicuous, the wish is easily gratified, as the excess of color this season in out-of-door wraps, and costumes as well, is almost unprecedented. The close fitting, twenty-six inch length jacket is by no means laid aside, the most fashionable being of fur-plush, a remarkable imitation of broadtail, beaver or chinchilla.

The Tight Waist.

is not as yet warmly welcomed, and a very moderate blouse still exists. The folds in many full, round waists are kept close to the figure by means of high silk girdles, thus giving to some extent the effect of a tight-waist. Surplice necks are very graceful, and a small reverse is sometimes added, with simulated buttonholes of braid, finished by a button.

The Question Of Skirts

is all-important, and certainly there is contrast as chiffon broadcloth, chiffon velvet, or soft satin costumes are made with very full skirts, not unfrequently quite plain, or with two tucks, or fully trimmed. The new Paquin skirt which of course excites much comment, is cut in four gores of the same size, the centre laid on a straight line of the cloth, which makes the edges a little on the bias. The lower edge of the skirt is finished by a wide hem, and as it is very full, a Lily Hair Cloth Plouche on the drop skirt is indispensable in order to prevent the folds from falling around the feet of the wearer.

Illustration

This stylish street suit, supplied by the Modes Fashion and Pattern Co., of this city is of marine blue zibellino, finished with small gun metal buttons. The jacket is closely fitted with narrow back and side back gores, the seams extending to the shoulders, and producing a long-waisted effect that is very becoming. The skirt is shaped with nine gores which are fitted smoothly around the waist and hips without darts.

Fall And Winter Millinery

is of the most pronounced character, and the high crowned or Directoire hat has potential rivals in the long-haired beaver, and the poke hat as well. The fluffy beaver is both plain or in shaded color tones, and delightful contrasts or harmonies are the usual result. Plumes are the preferred garniture or mammoth flowers and leaves, one or more together, or as a circlet. Colored leaves may be combined with roses or daisies, or compose an entire hat—a small size of course. Peaches and grapes add their charm, placed in clusters on black tulle, or pendant from beneath a brim.

Poke Hats

intended for street or carriage wear are quite large, either of velvet or beaver, with many ostrich tips at the front, and handsome face trimming, shirred silk in three tints being especially attractive. For evening, they are smaller and of light-lued velvet or white, smooth finished beaver, elaborately trimmed with shaded ribbon, flowers and chiffon. The independent crown flourish, coming also of chevron, or of velvet folds finished by a buckle, and where a silk crown is used, the height may be increased by an accordion-plaited silk ruffle placed around the top of the crown.

HOW THE METAL ROADS

Compare With The Old Fashioned Kind In Cost. A Practical Statement, Giving Conclusions Of Interest And Value To Our People.

The question of macadam and other modern metal roads has recently become one of added interest to Marylanders in view of the movements now in progress in the various counties to take advantage of the opportunity offered to secure such modern roads under the new State aid road law. While there is generally believed by persons of experience to be great difficulty in obtaining any wise, accurate computation of the comparative cost of hauling over metal roads and over the old-fashioned earth thoroughfares, Mr. Halbert P. Gillette, in the "Good Roads Magazine," gives some conclusions from a very carefully compiled set of figures, which may be considered with profit by those to whom the question of good roads is all-important.

"It may be safely said," writes Mr. Gillette, "that the building of macadam roads in America will enable a team of horses to haul three net tons on the average of all roads as compared with one ton which is now the average on earth roads, and in the face of the facts I have very little patience with those who insist that earth roads are good enough for American farmers. Experiments show that on a good macadam road a tractive force of 35 pounds will pull a ton as compared with 75 pounds on a good, hard gravel road, or 100 pounds on a good, hard, clay road. This shows conclusively that from two to three times as big a load can be hauled over macadam as over a first-class earth road.

"I have found from actual experience," continues Mr. Gillette, "that the average load hauled over macadam has been 3 tons besides the weight of the wagon, practically another ton. Over gravel roads I find that 1½ tons is a fair load where there are any hills to ascend. Grades of from 5 to 6 per cent can be ascended on macadam where the load is 3 tons, although on the level I have often had teams pull 5 tons and occasionally up a hill with a 5 per cent grade.

"Now, if a good macadam road enables 3 tons to be hauled to market where one ton is the average load, we have by the following very simple computation, a cost of 8 to 10 cents per ton-mile over macadam; for a team costing $3.00 a day travels ten to twelve miles and return with 3 tons of produce; or it hauls 30 to 36 tons miles for $3.00, which is 8 to 10 cents per ton per mile, as compared with 25 or 30 cents over common earth roads and 17 to 20 cents over the very best gravel roads."

"A macadam road also actually shortens the distance to market where light loads, such as milk or garden truck, are hauled, because a team that can haul 3 tons at a walk over a macadam road can haul 1 ton at a trot. The speed of horses at a good walk is 250 feet per minute, but the speed at a jog trot is 500 to 600 feet a minute. Macadam enables a team to trot with a load of a ton or less, hence it actually cuts in two the time required to reach the market which is equivalent to reducing the distance one-half. Any farmer living on a macadam road knows this." As proof of the ease of hauling over macadam roads, Mr. Gillette says he has had a team pull a load of 10,000 pounds up a 5 per cent grade on a good macadam road. By means of a dynamometer, or huge spring balance, he finds that the resistance to pulling up a hill is 20 pounds for each ton for each 1 per cent of grade. Hence, if we have a 5 per cent grade, the resistance is 5 times 20, or 100 pounds. Adding to this the rolling resistance over good macadam, which is 35 pounds, there is a total resistance of 135 pounds per ton which one horse could pull with ease; by a little exertion the horse could pull 2 tons up such a grade, or by great exertion about 3 tons.

As to the question whether a macadam road benefits a farmer whose place is half a mile or more to the side of the road, Mr. Gillette says it is no more necessary to have a macadam road to every door than to have a railroad to every door. In New York State, he says, there is one mile of railroad to every ten miles of wagon road, and it will probably reduce the present cost of wagon-haulage by one-half if one out of every 10 miles of wagon road is macadamized. Upon this question also, Mr. A. N. Johnson, Highway Engineer of the Maryland Geological Survey, has an important word, for upon the result of close calculation he makes the statement that if 15 per cent of the roads of Maryland were macadamized, an average haul of less than one mile would put all the farmers of the State, with their teams, upon a macadam highway—a very important consideration in the interest of good roads.

Our New Enterprise.

Nine months ago the Eastern Shore College opened its doors to students at its present quarters in the Graham Building. They began with an enrollment of seventeen. During the year they have had a total enrollment of sixty pupils in all departments. The people are learning that they have a school at home in which they can receive the same high educational as at some school in a larger city. The pupils in attendance speak very highly of the instruction received, and many words of praise are coming from those who are either teaching in the public schools, or in positions with firms as book-keepers or stenographers. It is the object of the proprietors to build up a creditable college not only of business callings, but a school in which a young man or woman may fit himself or herself for any ordinary vocation, or specialize on some chosen study. A school in which pupils may prepare themselves for some University course beyond the facilities of the Eastern Shore College. The faculty ask the co-operation of the educated and progressive portion of the population, and an investigation by those interested in securing an education.

They have recently published a Magazine having for its object the up-building of the education and character of the young people of the Eastern Shore, and the explanation of the object of the proprietors in instituting the above school. The loyal citizens of Salisbury are asked to read this Magazine and to co-operate with the management in establishing a creditable school in the city.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Convention In Salisbury Next Tuesday And Wednesday, October 25th and 26th.
The Program In Full Now Out.

On account of the recent big fire at Berlin, which wiped about $60,000 worth of property out of existence, the loss of which will be keenly felt, the members of the Berlin chapter of the Epworth League have accepted the kind offer of the Jackson Chapter of Salisbury, and the Salisbury District Convention, which was to have met in the former city this coming Tuesday and Wednesday, October 25 and 26, will meet in Salisbury in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church.

The District Conventions in all of the other districts of the Wilmington Conference are now being held and interest in the work is being wonderfully aroused. There will be about 125 visitors in Salisbury during the Convention, which will be the largest of the conference, and a hearty welcome will be given to all. Homes will be provided for all the delegates and they will be the guests of the city during their stay. Everything possible will be done to make their stay pleasant.

Reception committees will meet the delegates at the trains and boats. Mr. W. P. Jackson and Mr. J. H. Tomlinson have very kindly offered the use of their automobiles to convey the visitors to their homes.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing will be held Tuesday evening. At nine o'clock all will adjourn to the High School Building where a reception will be held. Music, as well as refreshments, will be furnished there free. All are cordially invited to be present at each session.

The following is the program in full:

THURSDAY, LAST DAY

Of Long Term Of Fall Court, In Session
Nearly Four Weeks. The Concluding Cases Disposed Of.

Trial No. 48, which was begun last Friday, was finished Saturday afternoon. The suit was Assyria L. Jones vs. Benjamin S. Jones—just the reverse from the other Jones suit. Assyria sued Ben for $1,000 for losses alleged to have been sustained by reason of an injunction sworn out by Ben, preventing Assyria from operating the farm or disposing of anything thereon. Assyria claimed that he was kept from prosecuting his labors for several months, at a season when he should have been hard at work gathering and putting in crops, and for losses alleged to have been sustained he sued for $1,000. The jury brought in a verdict for $741.42, covering loss of crops and interest and costs of injunction suit. Melvin & Handy were attorneys for Ben. S. Jones; Robley D. Jones and Toadvin & Bell for Assyria Jones.

At the conclusion of this case Court adjourned until Wednesday of this week, as Judges Holland and Lloyd had to go to Princess Anne to preside over the Somerset Court on account of the sickness of Judge Page.

Wednesday.

Court convened Wednesday with Judge Holland on the bench. Trial No. 50, A. J. Taylor vs. Benjamin S. Jones, was taken up. This occupied all of Wednesday and Thursday. The suit was brought by the plaintiff for payment of barrels. The defendant claimed that the barrels were furnished parties in his employ, without his order. Verdict was given the plaintiff and the damages were assessed at $302.82.

Criminal appearances No. 6, State vs. Elmer Hearn was taken up. Hearn was charged with carrying concealed weapons and plead guilty. Judge fined him $1 and costs.

Appearances No. 15, A. J. Hart vs. Frederick E. Hayman. The attachment was quashed and judgment given for the defendants cost.

Appearances No. 10, Gustavus T. Bramble vs. William H. Jackson, was removed to Worcester county.

Record of Trial No. 31, Maurice T. Roberts vs. Wilfred R. Jester has been sent by Clerk Toadvin to Dorchester county court.

State vs. E. W. Whayland, who is charged as being an incendiary, was marked continued and the bond was $12.00 noon Thursday, having been in almost continuous session for nearly four weeks.

Edward E. Davis.

Mr. Edward E. Davis, of this city, who, as was stated in last week's Advertiser, was stricken with paralysis Monday of last week, died early Saturday morning. Mr. Davis was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Salisbury, being at the time of his death 80 years age. He was married 56 years ago, and is survived by a widow and three children—Mr. Charles E. Davis, of Virginia; Mr. Joseph E. Davis, of Salisbury, and Mrs. Theodore Tilghman, of North Carolina. All the children were home when the father died.

The funeral services took place Monday afternoon, the remains being buried in Parsons Cemetery.

Good Health to the Children

Children especially are fond of dainties, and the housekeeper must look carefully to their food.

As good cake can be made only with good eggs, so also a cake that is healthful as well as dainty must be raised with a pure and perfect baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable in the preparation of the highest quality of food. It imparts that peculiar lightness, sweetness and flavor noticed in the finest cake, biscuit, doughnuts, crusts, etc., and what is more important, renders the food wholesome and agreeable to young and old.

CHAPTER XV.

THREE days after the sinking of the Juno, the Mellish, which had escaped in the dark without pursuit from the coast, after witnessing the successful termination of the action between the two sloops of war, was heading about northwest by west for Massachusetts bay and Boston, with single reefs in her topsails and close hauled on the starboard tack. Seymour's orders had left him sufficient discretion as to his destination, but Boston being the nearest harbor held by the Americans, he had deemed it best to try to make that port rather than incur further risk of recapture by making the longer voyage to Philadelphia.

The weather had turned cloudy and cold, there was a deck load of winter in the air. The men were muffled up in their pea jackets, and the little squad of prisoners, tramping up and down, taking exercise and air under a strong guard, looked decidedly uncomfortable, not to say disgusted, with the situation.

It had been a matter of some difficulty to disarm the prisoners, especially the soldiers, and to feed and properly exercise them; but the end had been successfully arrived at through the prudence and ability of Seymour, who was well aided by Talbot and Wilton, and who profited much by many valuable suggestions born of the long experience of the old boatswain.

On this particular afternoon, about ten days before Christmas, the young captain, now confident of carrying his prize into the harbor, felt very much relieved and elated by his apparent command of the situation. He knew what a godsend the ship's cargo, which he and Talbot had ascertained to be even more valuable than had been represented, would be to the American army. It might be said with exaggeration that the success of the cruise caused depended upon the fortune of that one little ship under his command. Talbot had properly classified and inventoried the cargo according to orders and was prepared to make immediate distribution of it upon the arrival in port. Both of the young men were as happy as larks, and even the thought of their captured friends did not disquiet them as it might under less fortunate circumstances, for among the captives on the Mellish was a Colonel Weston of the highlanders, whom they trusted to be able to exchange for Colonel Wilton, and they did not doubt in that case that Katharine would return with her father.

While indulging themselves in these rosy dreams, natural to young men in the elation of spirit consequent upon the events of their short and exciting cruise—the capture and successful escape of the transport, the apparent assurance of bringing her in, and the daring and brilliant night action which they had witnessed—they had neither of them ventured to touch upon the subject uppermost in each heart—the love each bore for Katharine—and the subject still remained a sealed book between them. The cruise was not yet over, however, and fate had in store for them several more exciting occurrences to be faced. Seymour, often accompanied by Talbot, and Wilton, always accompanied by Bentley, kept watch and watch on the brief cruise of the transport. Shortly after midday of the third day, about three bells in the afternoon watch, or half after five o'clock, Seymour, whose watch below it was, was called from the cabin by old Bentley, who informed him that a suspicious sail had been seen hull down to the northeast, and Wilton had desired that his commanding officer be informed of it. Seizing a glass and springing to his feet, he hastened on deck.

"Well, Mr. Wilton," he said to that young officer, proud of his responsibilities, "you keep a good lookout. Where away is the sail reported?"

"Broad off the weather bow, sir, due north of us. You can't see her from the deck yet," replied Wilton, flushing with pride at the compliment.

Seymour sprang into the main rigging and rapidly ascended to the cross-trees, glass in hand. There he speedily made out the topsails of a large ship, having the wind on the quarter apparently and slowly coming into view. He subjected her to a long and careful scrutiny, during which the heads of her topsails rose, confirming his first idea that she was a ship of war and, if so, without doubt one of the enemy. She was coming down steadily, and if the two vessels continued on their present courses they would pass each other within gunshot distance in a few hours, a thing not to be permitted under any circumstances if it could be avoided. He continued his inspection a moment longer and then, closing the glass, descended to the deck with all speed by sliding down the back stay.

"Forward, there!" he shouted. "Call the other watch, and be quick about it! Philip, step below and ask Mr. Talbot to come on deck at once. Bentley, that seems to be a frigate or a heavy sloop going free. She will be down on us in a few hours if we don't change our course. Take a look at her, man," he said, handing him the glass, "and let me know what you think of her."

While the men were coming on deck Bentley leaped into the main rigging and ran up the shrouds with an agility surprising in one of his gigantic figure and advanced age. After a rapid survey he came down swiftly. "It's an English frigate and not a doubt of it, sir, and rising very fast."

"I thought so. Man the weather braces! Up with the helm! Bear a hand now, my hearties! Now, then, all together! Brace in!" He himself set a good example to the short crew, who hastened to obey his rapid commands, by assisting the two seamen stationed aft to brail in the spanker, in which he and they had not yet lost hope of escaping. The men had worked hard and faithfully, carrying out the various orders and lightening ship, and now, having done all, some few were lying about the deck resting, while the remainder hung over the rails gazing at their pursuer. One of the men, the philosopher Thompson of the Ranger's crew, finally went aft to the quarter deck to old Bentley, who was privileged to stand there under the circumstances, and asked if he might have a look through the glass for a moment at the frigate.

EARLY RAILROADING.

Running Trains in the Days When There Were No Schedules.

A most interesting relic was turned up at Upper Sandusky some time ago while employees at the Pennsylvania depot were clearing away an old case in which had been stored a number of records. It is the first book of rules issued by the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway. When the book was issued the road was 472 miles long, but the official time card gives the correct length now at 408 miles. Forty-five years ago, when this book was first given to the trainmen, the train dispatcher was an unknown quantity. To take his place maximum speeds were set forth in the rule book, and these are decidedly interesting in these days of seventy-five miles an hour. It is said, "The maximum speed for passenger trains shall be a mile in a minute and a half and in four minutes over large bridges, and for freight trains a mile in four minutes." Another section insists that "freights must keep out of the way of passenger trains."

The whistle played an important part in railroading in those days. It was to be kept sounding most of the time. The fireman was enjoined thus: "Throwing wood from the tender while the same is in motion is strictly forbidden."

Another rule says that "when live stock is ahead on the track the engine must stop."

The duties outlined for the conductor would indicate that he was janitor of the train. He was to see that a sufficient number of cars were provided, were securely coupled together and provided with bell ropes, that they were clean and provided with lamps trimmed, fires kindled and that the passengers were comfortably seated. He was also required to see that enough drinking water was kept in the tanks, that the floors were kept clean and that the wood was not piled around the stove.

For fear he might have some time to loaf, the tickets were so prepared that he had to punch every one at thirteen different stations along the route. As these stations were thirteen to fifty miles apart, the conductor was kept busy, at least on heavy traffic days. Still, it was feared he might have time hanging heavy on his hands, and another rule was provided that required him to assist agents in loading and unloading baggage. As for freights, one rule reads, "A few hours' delay for a local freight is of little or no consequence as compared with the interests of the road's patrons."

Brakemen were required to ride on the platforms of the cars excepting in inclement weather. Engineers were enjoined to take up slack of cars slowly, "so as not to jar passengers or upset freight." Watchmen, it is set forth, "have been employed on the track at night where the line is liable to be obstructed by falling trees."—Toledo Blade.

Where England Wants Propping.
The recent landslide at Cromer, in which 138 yards of cliff fell on to the beach, is another triumph for the sea, which is so insidiously and relentlessly assaulting England's eastern coast. It has long ago buried one Cromer many fathoms deep under its waters, and still it is not satisfied.

At one time Cromer was an outlying hamlet of the flourishing town of Shipden, but Shipden has long ago ceased to have a place on the map of England. The sea has overwhelmed it, and there are old people still alive who say that at low water they have caught a glimpse of the masonry of its church. But the whole coast is gradually being driven inland. A cliff on which Sheringham holiday makers used to promenade now lies so deep in the water that a man-of-war could easily pass over it, and a lighthouse which less than two centuries ago was built many hundreds of yards inland had to be abandoned a hundred years later, and its successor was erected still farther from the sea.—London Globe.

The Seven Largest Diamonds.

The seven largest diamonds in the world are what are known as crown jewels. Some of them are in an uncut state and others are carefully cut and finished, so that there is a wide difference in their value. The Koh-i-noor, the smallest in weight, has been thus reduced by cutting and is much the most valuable of the lot and has been estimated at less than $500,000. The list is as follows: The Braganza, part of the Portuguese jewels, weighs 1,880 carats; Regent of France, 136 carats; Austrian Kaiser, 139 carats; Russian Czar, 103 carats; Rajah of Borneo, 367 carats.

A Curious Description.

John S. Sargent, the noted painter, was saying that the late Dr. Evans, the American dentist of Paris, had once shown him all his curios.

ANTARCTIC BLIZZARDS.

So Fierce That It Is Quite Useless to Contend With Them.

Dr. Erich von Drygalski, who was at the head of the recent German antarctic expedition, had some trying experiences with blizzards. "Try ever so often, it is quite useless to contend with them," said he. "At but a few meters' distance nothing could be seen from the ship, so that on one occasion a sailor enveloped in a snowstorm in the immediate vicinity of the ship was lost for hours until the whole crew, lashed together, went in search and fortunately found him. On a sleighing excursion which I had led I suddenly lost sight of the sleigh, although it was close behind me. When I stopped, the dogs ran up. With much toil we gained the tent, shoved the sleigh in to support and steady it and then lay a day and a night and yet another day and a night without the possibility of leaving the tent, eight of us in the narrowest space for forty-eight hours. ## ON THE HOME STRETCH.

The campaign of '04 will in point of quietness to the present time, make a record in modern political history. Both parties have evidently been keeping their heavy guns for a great finale just preceding election day, and with batteries in position will open a thrilling fire of old fashioned eloquence, argument and oratory from now on. The doubtful or pivotal states will receive the greatest attention, with New York, the deciding ground, if, as has always happened before, that as goes New York in Presidential times so goes the country. Democrats are well content to have it so this fall as the indications are strongly in their favor.

The Democratic Presidential ticket is supported by every Democratic and independent newspaper in the City of New York, these papers having a combined circulation at least ten times greater than that of the few newspapers supporting the Republican ticket. It is a significant fact, too, that three great papers of large general circulation, and which are prime favorites in the business world, namely, the Herald, Times, and Evening Post are opposing the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks and advocating the election of Parker and Davis.

The home stretch is now before the people of our country and the candidates with their platforms in plain view.

The Democrats are pleading for the confidence of the voters to preserve the Constitution, to encourage public honesty and economy of office and to oust a discriminative tariff that oppresses the many to enrich the few.

The Republicans are pleading general prosperity which doesn't exist and ask the voters to stand pat on an administration and policies that threaten the safety of our republic and menace its very existence. Let the people think quickly now and decide at once for the party which best represents them, the integrity of their cherished institutions, the security and peace of their homes. Those with serious well balanced forethought ahead will do well and wisely to heed the warnings and appeals of the Democratic voters from now on, who plead for the party as represented so ably by Parker, Davis and Smith.

THE FARMER PAYS.

Republican stump speakers and Republican manufacturers of campaign literature are defending Congress and President.

The Democratic Party charges the Republican legislators and Executive with maintaining a tariff which burdens the people and takes the money of the industrial and agricultural masses to enrich the manufacturers.

The Republican Party admits that the tariff needs revision and asks that it be permitted to correct it during the next four years.

The Democratic Party points to the promises made four years ago and broken continuously during the ensuing four years.

A few facts in the record are of interest.

Borax is much used in this country. The Borax Consolidated is an English corporation with $16,000,000 capital. It is a trust. It controls twelve companies and the greatest of these is the Pacific Coast Borax Company.

This American, English controlled company, supplies as much borax as all the other companies put together. It mines its borax in California and refines it at Bayonne, New Jersey. It exports much of it to England. Refined borax mined, refined and exported to England sells there at 2½ cents per pound; sold in this country, it fetches 7½ cents per pound.

The present duty on borax is 5 cents per pound.

In 1897 the duty was 2 cents per pound and borax was sold in this country at five cents per pound. Congress in 1897, raised the duty and the corporation price. Republican protection of the English owned American corporation enabled this foreign trust to sell to the American people borax mined and refined in this country for 7½ cents and to the English people 3,000 miles away borax mined and refined in this country at 2½ cents per pound.

Barbed wire fences, wire nails, tin plate and other commodities so necessary to the farmer, the mechanic, the day laborer and all wage-earners, although manufactured in this country from raw material mined in this country, are carried over the Atlantic Ocean and sold for less money in England than in a country store in the Middle West or in the great Eastern cities. The Wisconsin farmer, the Illinois mechanic and the New York day laborer pay for his dinner pail, his nails and his barbed wire fence from 30 to 100 per cent more than they can be bought for in England.

Steel rails made in Pennsylvania are sold in England for $19.00 and $21.00 per ton, and in this country for $28.00. This is due to the protective tariff.

An American railroad runs for a short distance on Canadian territory. On the American side of the line it pays $28.00 a ton for steel rails, on the Canadian side it pays $21.00 a ton. The rails are identical. They come from the same mill.

The Western farmer who ships beef, mutton and hogs, wheat, corn and rye over railroads pays his share of the difference between rails at $19 a ton and rails at $28. The interest on the bonds issued to meet this item of $10 difference on every ton of steel used in building a road and the appropriation annually made to the sinking fund to redeem the bonds must be earned; therefore, every shipper pays freight on his shipment at a rate reckoned to meet these charges. Or, in other words, every farmer is laboring to earn for the railroad company the ten dollars per ton it was forced to pay the steel mill by reason of the "protection" that industry receives from a Republican Congress and Executive.

Of course it is the privilege of the American farmer to share the profits of his industry with those whom he will and if he desires to pay more than a reasonable price for his barbed wire fence, his iron tools, his wire nails, his tin pails and his transportation charges, he will cast his ballot for "the friends of the tariff" who protect privileged persons at the expense of the farmer.

LATEST WAR NEWS FROM ORIENT.
A dense fog following the rain, mud and high water has prevented any military operations of consequence on the part of either the Japanese or Russian Armies south of Mukden.

The two great armies are resting, facing each other across the Shinko river after the greatest and longest battle of modern times, having lasted ten days with enormous losses.

It is reported from Port Arthur, by way of Chefoo, that the fighting continues there and that the Japanese had made further gains. General Stoessel, according to the report, had 5,000 available troops left, but they were suffering from cold and lack of supplies. The total Japanese loss was given in one report as 50,000 men, but reinforcements continue to arrive.

Mrs. Maggie Walker, wife of J. W. Walker, of Sharptown died on Sunday evening, October 23rd, 1904, at the age of sixty years, of pulmonary trouble.

Her remains were interred on Tuesday, the 11th in the Taylor cemetery, after funeral services by Rev. J. F. Anderson in the M. E. Church. Her daughter, Miss Daisy, died in August last. The husband has been, in a very short time, bereft of a daughter and a companion, and the children a sister and a mother. Much sympathy exists for the bereaved family.

There is in the office of the County Commissioners of Wicomico County a Mexican acorn grown from a Mexican oak in Tyaskin district. The oak grew from an acorn brought from Mexico sixty years ago. The oak is very large and the acorn about one inch in diameter. Dr. Cadmus Dashiell took the acorn to the Commissioners office. It grew on the Hambury property.

Wicomico Game Laws.

Squirrel may be killed from September 1 to February 15; rabbit, from November 15 to January 15; quail from November 15 to January 15; grouse, from November 10 to February 1; rail, September 1 to November 1; woodcock, from June 15 to February 1; plover, from November 15 to January 15; ducks, from November 1 to April 10.

Under the provisions of the State laws, the selling of quail or partridge outside of Wicomico county is subject to a penalty of $5 to $25. No penalty is attached to the export of other game.

Arrests for violation of the game and fish laws may be made by any of the Deputy Game Wardens without a warrant, and they may take the offender before any Justice of the Peace for trial.

It is unlawful for non-residents of this State to catch fish in any manner in the waters of the Wicomico or Nanticoke rivers without a license first obtained. Penalty, $50 to $100 and forfeiture of boat and all nets, seines and tackle used in violation. It is also unlawful to catch fish with any pound or fyke net, trap or device within 500 yards of the lower and 100 yards of the upper side of Quantico Creek, Rewastico Creek or Barren Creek. Penalty, $50 to $100.

Luther B. Dunn died at Sharptown on Monday night, at the age of ninety years, having been born in Sussex county, Delaware, on September 15, 1814. The cause of his death was a rose cancer on the back of his right hand. This had eaten much of his hand. At first it was suggested to amputate the hand and thus stop the progress of the cancer, but the physicians claimed that a man of his age did not have sufficient vitality to warrant a healing of the amputation. It was but a few months after it began to spread before he became so weak that he could not leave his bed. Miss Lizzie Dunn, his grand daughter, a professional nurse of Wilmington, remained almost constantly at his bedside for several weeks before his death.

The Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Hospital, given under the auspices of the Board of Lady Managers, will be held Thursday and Friday, of next week, October 27 and 28, in the Mitchell Building, on East Church Street. Contributions will be received at the place of sale Wednesday afternoon. Anyone wishing to have donations called for will please notify some member of the Board.

—Mr. Charles E. Holder and family expect to leave Salisbury this week for Chicago, where they will meet Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holder, who left a short time ago. From this place they will go to Los Angeles. They are removing from Salisbury, on account of the scarcity of timber in this section. They have made many warm friends during their residence here who will regret to see them leave. Their residence here has been purchased by Mr. S. King White, who with his family will occupy it the last of this month. Mr. Ernest A. Toadvine and family will move into the house on Division Street which Mr. White will vacate, and the Elk's Lodge will convert Mr. Toadvine's residence into an up to date club apartment.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the life.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have.

Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it.

In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Influence Of Character.

The crown and glory of life is character. It is the highest and noblest possession of mankind, and is the principle by which man is characterized. It exercises a far greater power than wealth or renown, exalts every position in society, dignifies every station which man is called to fulfill and secures all the honor without the least jealousy of fame. Wealth and renown each are looked upon with a jealous eye, but the possessor of a moral character is looked upon and is said of him, "What better thing can a man possess." It carries with it an influence that always tells and should be the jewel that adorns the crown of every man who expects to stand triumphant at the goal of life or who expects to have an influence on the mind of his fellow brethren.

It has been said that honesty, truthfulness and industry are the corner stones to a moral character or in other words the base on which we build our character. So let us build them with a firm and ample base that the structure we raise may stand the test of time even when we have passed these earthly scenes and when time shall have withered the garland of youth where memories of art and thrones of power have crumbled in dust and when these our untimely voices are hushed shall be reflected on the age to come. May they not be as a candle that goeth out in the darkness and never seen again but as the sun that sinketh behind the western horizon leaving a trail of light that we may still see our way, so may our character bear that same light or an influence that these may see their way. Wealth, fame and renown are corruptible and worthless, but a moral character contains that principle which no weapon can destroy.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Have Now Received Petitions For Three
New Macadam Roads—Will Be Taken Up November 15th.

The County Commissioners met Tuesday with all the members present. Bond of Charles W. Hatten, Road Supervisor of Barren Creek district, was disapproved. Insolvent acts of J. D. Price, the clerk, for the year of 1903 allowed for the county $768.04, for state $46.64 and for the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company $5066.44. The following bills were passed for payment: John T. Hammond, $10.45; Dr. Gardiner Spring, bill for vaccinating in 1901 and 1902, $1.50; A. M. Bounds, building shed at Vienna ferry, money to be paid when work is received, $46.63; Thomas L. Ricketts, building new road, $18.00; B. L. Gillis & Son, ferry, $2.64; Farmers and Planters Company, $121.08; T. F. Toadvine, new road, $20.00; Thomas J. Brittingham, bridge lumber, $19.95; John W. Jones, ferry, $7.85. Notice was given of the ratification of the county road on November 15th. E. A. Toadvine was authorized to advertise for bids on the construction of the new vault in the Court House.

The citizens of Nutter's district petitioned for the building of one mile of road under the new State road law, to run from the corporate limits of Salisbury one mile in the direction of Coulbourn's mill. The signers to the petition are W. F. Allen, J. E. Hastings, W. W. Adkins, Andrew Weiss, A. J. Allen, A. L. Vincent, Affria Fooks and S. Q. Johnson, they agreeing to pay 10 per cent of cost.

This is the third mile of new road that has been asked for since the recent big meeting of the tax payers of the county held in Salisbury. Parsons district asked for one mile and Pittsburg and Dennis districts combined want one mile. The press in other parts of the State are complimenting Wicomico county upon the stand she is taking on this question. It is probable that more petitions will be in by November 15th., which is the time set for the County Commissioners to consider the proposition. The board adjourned to meet November 1.

Wm. H. Hollewell, a watch maker of Laurel, has, it is claimed, discovered perpetual motion. He has sent to Washington a small machine that has been running 17 days without any force, other than its own. He hopes to have it protected by a patent.

A FAMILY REMEDY.

Pe-ru-na In Use in Thousands of Homes.

Ex-Governor Isaac Sharp.

Isaac Sharp, ex-governor of Kansas, in a letter from 1227 I Street, N. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I can earnestly recommend your Peru-na as an excellent tonic. Its reputation as a cure for a variety of ailments is firmly established by my friends, who have been benefited by its use, and the public should know its great curative qualities."—Isaac Sharp.

Congressman H. E. Fawcett writes from Morris, Va.: "Peru-na has been used in my family with excellent results. I can recommend it as an excellent family remedy."

"If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartmann, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis."

Address Dr. Hartmann, President of the Baltimore Dispensary.

DEMOCRAT MEETINGS

Parsons and Camden Districts Hold Enthusiastic Meetings. Sharpstown Organizes.—Officers.

The Democrats of Parsons District held a rousing meeting at Banks' Hall near the depot on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Parker, Davis and Smith Club, of that district. Mr. S. J. R. Holloway, president of the Club, presided. Mr. Geo. W. D. Waller was the first speaker and in an able and eloquent address fully outlined the policies of the two great leading parties, thoroughly discussing the issues of the campaign and in a convincing manner bringing home to the voters the importance of overthrowing the Republican party and placing the reins of the government safely and securely into the hands of the Democracy—the party of the people.

Mr. Waller was followed by Mr. A. M. Jackson, who made a stirring address dwelling upon the iniquitous system of tariff realization by the Republican Party, which was listened to with very marked attention and roundly applauded by all present. Short speeches were also made by Messrs. Geo. W. Bell, J. T. Hayman and Thos. McKoy and the meeting wound up amid the greatest enthusiasm. Parsons' District may be depended upon to give a good account of herself on the 8th., of November. Another meeting will be held at the same place next Wednesday night.

Camden District Meeting.

The Democrats of Camden District assembled en masse at their club room on Thursday night. President of the club, Edward Tindle, presided. Mr. Geo. W. Bell was the first speaker and soon had the crowd interested and enthusiastic. Mr. J. T. Hayman was next introduced. Mr. Hayman was at his best and made a stirring and eloquent speech. He pictured the dangers of Rooseveltism in a manner that set the people to thinking and his appeal for the election of Thos. A. Smith to Congress seemed to touch a responsive chord in the hearts of the listeners. Mr. Jesse D. Price and Senator M. W. Brewington were called for and both made ringing speeches, after which, Mr. A. R. Lohner closed the meeting by a short but well received speech. Camden District will be all right on election day.

Sharpstown Democratic Club.

Last Saturday evening the Democrats of Sharpstown assembled in Twilley's Hall for the purpose of organizing a Parker, Davis and Smith Club. The attendance was large and enthusiastic. The Club was organized with an enrollment of 78 members and the following officers: President, J. O. Adams; Vice President, J. E. Nelson; Secretary, W. C. Mann; Treasurer, W. A. Riggan; Organizer, E. H. Hastings; Executive Committee, A. W. Robinson, S. P. Twiford, C. J. Grave, J. E. Taylor and John A. Wright.

Handy Grows Desperate.

Henry J. Handy, the convicted wife murderer, grows more desperate each day that he lies in the Salisbury jail. He has had fits of singing and praying at different times and last Sunday one of the white preachers of the town called on him and talked with him. Handy told him he was sorry for his act. Last Monday morning, when the jailer went to give him some water, Handy grabbed a cup and threw it with his full strength at the jailer, coming about three inches from striking him. The jailer immediately pulled his pistol and fired a number of times in order to frighten the negro. With the first shot Handy fell prostrate to the floor. Handy later over turned a bucket of water in the middle of the floor. This made Sheriff Gillis decide to place him in irons. Irons were placed on him when he was first convicted but on account of his good behavior up to this time, they were taken off. After the cup throwing incident Monday, Sheriff Gillis, Deputy Waller, Chief of Police Disharoon and Policeman Crouch entered the cell to place the iron upon him. The Sheriff ordered him to proceed to put the irons on but the prisoner sat still. Then Chief Disharoon knelt down to place the iron around the negro's ankle when the prisoner caught the Chief's club, but he soon let go. In the general shuffle which followed, Handy grabbed the pistol in the Chief's pocket and would have had it in his hand had he not also had hold of a part of the pocket and before he could shift his grip, his hand was snatched away. At another time Handy tried to bite a piece of flesh out of the leg of the Chief but Policeman Crouch told him what he would do for him if he did and Handy changed his mind. He is now secure in irons and will be kept so until the date the Governor will set for his execution. This outbreak on the part of Handy takes away all hopes of his pardon by the Governor.

Veteran dog-handlers stated that in several of the classes the exhibits in the Frederick Fair Dog Show were the equal of any ever seen at any show in the country. This was particularly true of the setters and Great Danes.

BANKERS IN CONVENTION

Maryland State Association Begins Its Annual Session At Annapolis. Welcomed By The Governor.

The annual convention of the Maryland Bankers' Association was called to order Thursday by the president, H. H. Haines, of the National Bank of Rising Sun. The historic old Senate chamber was filled to overflowing with delegates and their friends when the gavel fell.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Joseph P. McComas, rector of St. Anne's church. Governor Warfield in his address, said in part:

"You represent $220,000,000 of the people's money. Eighty three national banks are represented here, trust companies and savings institutions. You are the guardians of the people's interests. You should be faithful. The credit of our state is high. I appeal to you to maintain that splendid reputation. One half million of dollars has been contributed to you for the maintenance of the government of this commonwealth. You must be interested in the handling of its funds."

The address of welcome to the city of Annapolis was delivered by James M. Monroe. He dwelt in humorous vein on the manifold attractions of the Capital City.

Mr. Hann Makes Address.

Charles Hann, of the National Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore responded in fitting terms in behalf of the association, dwelling upon the glorious traditions of state, city and building. The Salisbury banks were represented by Mr. Isaac L. Price, of the People's National Bank.

Uman—Mitchell.

Mr. Bernard Uman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Uman, and Miss Cora Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Mitchell, were quietly married at noon last Wednesday, the twenty second birthday of the groom, at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by the pastor, Rev. Thomas N. Potts, D. D.

The marriage was performed in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of each of the contracting parties. The bride was dressed in a blue traveling suit. The bridal party left on the afternoon express for a trip to New York and Philadelphia. On their return they will reside in Camden.

The bride, who is the daughter of a well known lumber and brick manufacturer of Salisbury, is a prominent young lady of this town, both in social and athletic circles. The groom is equally well known, and is a member of the firm of Uman Sons, large retail and wholesale furniture dealers.

—Frank Davidson and his company of players will be here on the 8th of the coming month. Since here last the author has been hard at work on the play, "Old Farmer Hopkins" and the result, it is said, is to make it more pleasing than ever. The best of the old has been retained, yet many new scenes, incidents, situations, etc., that have been added, virtually makes a new play out of the famous old drama. Mr. Davidson has engaged a strong company and carries his own scenery with him. Mr. Davidson is making the musical part of the company a feature this year and has his own band and orchestra. Many of these are soloists. Tickets are now on sale at the box office of Ulman's Opera House. The prices are 25, 35 and 50 cents.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Convention In Salisbury This Week. Enthusiastic Meetings—Large Attendance—Good Speaking—Excellent Music.

The Salisbury District Epworth League Convention met in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, of Salisbury, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The delegates began to arrive early Tuesday morning and by the afternoon there were about 100 present.

A short session was held Tuesday afternoon, at which time the address of welcome was made by Elmer H. Walton and the response by Rev. G. C. Williams, of Berlin. There was an oratorical treat Tuesday evening for those who attended. Rev. Don S. Colt, D. D., of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church of Baltimore, addressed the congregation on "It is a great thing to make a man beautiful" and was listened to with rapt attention. Shortly after 9 o'clock the meeting was adjourned to the High School Building, where music was enjoyed and refreshments served.

An excellent paper, entitled "What can a small Chapter do?" was read by Rev. C. A. Hill, D. D., of Salisbury, Wednesday morning. The paper was so practical and suited the needs of the Convention so closely that it was ordered to be published and read before each chapter in the district, and a vote of thanks be given to Mr. Hill. Rev. H. S. Dulaney of Crisfield, also read a paper called, "The True Evangelistic Chapter," which was very heartily received. In the afternoon the delegates made their reports concerning their chapters. The Junior Epworth League department was admirably handled by Mrs. M. J. Baker and Mrs. Adam Stengle.

The following officers were elected to fill the coming term of service: President, Rev. J. W. Coloma, Princess Anne; First Vice-President, Miss Eva Atkins, Laurel, Del.; Second Vice-President, Mr. Lloyd Riggins, Crisfield; Third Vice-President, Miss Mary A. Townsend, Snow Hill; Fourth Vice-President, Miss Sue Taylor, Stockton; Secretary, Miss Annie Taylor, Berlin; Treasurer, Mr. W. P. Townsend, Cape Charles; Junior League Superintendent, Mrs. Adam Stengle, Salisbury; league chorister, Rev. Ralph T. Causey, Fairmont, Md. These officers who were the same as those last year with one exception, were installed Wednesday evening by the Presiding Elder, Rev. Adam Stengle. At 8 o'clock Rev. A. S. Mowbray, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Wilmington, Del., made a strong address on "Youth as a Church Investment."

The whole convention was enlivened by solos, duets, trios and choruses by members of the choir of the Salisbury church. Berlin was selected as the meeting place for the Convention next year.

Capt. C. W. Spence Dead.

Capt. Charles W. Spence, of the steamer, Cambridge, of Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway died at his home in Talbot county on Saturday. Death followed an illness of three weeks and was due to an acute attack of Bright's disease.

Captain Spence was 44 years old, and was born near Choptank, Caroline county, on June 6, 1860. When a boy he secured a position with the Maryland Steamboat Company, remaining with that company until it was sold to the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company. After the sale he was given a position on the Tred Avon by that company, and about 10 years ago was made a captain and assigned to the Cambridge.

Captain Spence is survived by a widow and three children—Miss Mildred Spence and Francis L. and Charles W. Spence. The body was buried Tuesday at Stevensville, Kent Island. Captain Spence was an Odd Fellow, a Mason and a member of the Methodist Protestant Church at Claiborne.

BRITISH BOATS FIRED ON

Fishing Steamers Riddled And Number Of Men Killed Or Wounded—Critical Situation—Intense Excitement.

Jackson & Co., solicitors for the owners of 50 Hull fishing boats, have notified the Foreign Office of an attack on the Hull fishing fleet by the Russian Pacific fleet, commonly designated as the Baltic squadron, commanded by Vice Admiral Rojestrensky.

The official information is that shortly after midnight Friday the Russian squadron fell in with the Hull fishing fleet in the North Sea 200 miles off Spurn Head.

The Russian ships were steaming in line. The leading ships passed without incident, though most of the vessels turned searchlights on the trawlers long enough to prevent any mistake as to identity.

After the bulk of the squadron had passed it opened fire, nearly all participating in the firing. The steam trawler Crane was struck below the water line and raked above deck.

Skipper Smith and third hand Leggett had their heads carried clean away by a shot, many of the crew being seriously wounded. Another trawler was also sunk, but the steamer Sea Gull, which brought the news to Hull, has no particulars as to the fate of her crew.

The steam trawlers Moulmein and Mino have arrived at Hull, seriously damaged by shots, the latter having 16 holes in her hull. It is feared that other damage was done to trawlers and that at least one more was lost with all hands.

The news has created an intense sensation and indignation in Hull. The Moulmein arrived with her flag at half mast.

The Anglo Russian situation is at a high point of tension. Official circles still believe some means will be discovered of avoiding actual war, but a hitch has occurred in the negotiations with Russia and the situation is pregnant with danger. The British government is proceeding carefully but firmly, knowing that a mistake slight though it may be in itself, might readily give rise to a state of affairs highly undesirable and so acute that a clash with the Russian fleet might easily ensue.

England demands an ultimatum and the reply must be received at once. The Russians will not agree to punish their officers responsible. The situation has depressed the markets.

The American Anti-Saloon League Convention.

The Annual Convention of the American Anti-Saloon League is to be held in Columbus, Ohio, November 10th to 18th, inclusive. Delegates are being appointed by the church bodies throughout the entire country, and the indications are that this will be the greatest gathering ever assembled under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League movement. The program for this meeting contains the names of a number of men of more than national reputation. The Convention proper is to be preceded by a week's Conference of leading temperance workers from all parts of the country.

The Anti-Saloon League does not seek membership in the unit of individuals, but in the unit of organizations. Its object is to bind together all the Christian and reform organizations now in existence for a united attack upon the saloon system. This Conference is a "School of Methods," in which the best plans of work are brought forth and discussed with a view to aggressive, united action. All persons engaged in the work of saloon suppression are invited to be present and participate in this Conference. It opens on Wednesday, November 9th, and will continue up to the opening of the Convention on the morning of November 16th.

Beautiful Furs

Furs of great beauty and undoubted excellence. Models of fashionable fur elegance. It will be a fur loving winter.

No announcement we make is of greater importance, to the general public, than another. We are telling you, in this little space, of furs that aggregate many thousands of dollars, while we give as much or more room to other lines of goods the total value of which is much less.

It might seem as though we were treating furs unjustly—but no; people who are interested in furs will come and see, while they decide before leaving home about the other things.

Delmar News.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Olive Hayman, daughter of ex-postmaster W. H. Hayman, to Mr. Claude R. Phillips took place at the Methodist Episcopal church Wednesday between twelve and one o'clock. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Frank Lynch and sung by Mrs. H. M. Waller, the bride, gowned in white crepe de chine and hat of white chiffon, carrying white caryanthemums, preceded by the ushers, Barton Freney, Leslie Barker, George Inley and Ira Wright, and maid of honor, Miss Mabel Hayman, a sister of the bride, slowly marched to the altar where she was met by the groom and his best man, Mr. Wm. T. Sirman. Rev. Z. H. Webster was the officiating clergyman. The church was beautifully decorated with potted plants. After the ceremony the bridal party and relations were served with a collation at the home of the bride's parents, after which they departed on the New York Express for a trip to Niagara Falls. The groom is a son of conductor Thomas R. Phillips and is employed in the Pennsylvania Railroad office at this place.

Mr. Harlan Lowe and Miss Bertha L. Short were united in marriage on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. E. S. Fooks.

The Masonic Bazaar will be held on November 16, 17, 18, and 19.

The marriage of Miss Hetty Ellen, daughter of Mrs. Charles Renninger, to Mr. George H. Perry will be solemnized at the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday evening, November 24, at eight o'clock. Reception is to follow.

Revival services are in progress at Charity M. P. Church and much interest is being manifested.

A Sunday School social was given at the home of Miss Nellie Beach on Saturday evening.

George H. Baynum and family, of Milford, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Ellegood on Sunday last.

Dr. and Mrs. James H. Brayshaw entertained a number of their friends on Monday evening. Among the out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. James Ellis and Mrs. Samuel Fox, of Sheffield, Mass.

Miss Margaret Harmonson will leave Saturday for a short visit to friends in Landsdowne, Pa.

Dr. M. E. Parsons, who has taken possession of his new home on the edge of town, will also remove his dental office to the Adams building on Main street, opposite W. R. Purnell's store.

Mrs. Nicholas Watkins, of Baltimore, an old friend of Miss Nannie Purnell, is a guest at Barley cottage, arriving Tuesday.

Mr. William H. Jackson and Elijah Stanton Atkins, of Salisbury, were guests of Snow Hill Monday night.

Mrs. Vandergrift, who has been occupying Congress Hall Hotel, Ocean City, has removed her effects and guests to the old Stokes cottage, next door, for the winter. The heating arrangements being much more satisfactory, caused the change.

Miss Mary Townsend, Mildred Aydelite and Beulah Vincent were guests of Miss Harmonson for dinner Monday, in honor of her birthday. They left same afternoon for Salisbury.

Mrs. Harry Purnell, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. McNeely, in Petersburg, Ill. for several weeks, returned Friday.

Mrs. Charles Price and daughter, Miss Annie, of Baltimore, who have been for some time at Fenwick Island, are visitors at Mrs. Ann Brattan's.

Miss Cecil Kenly, of Baltimore, is visiting her cousin Mrs. George E. Henry, Jr., at her home, Fairview, near town.

Court has been in session since Monday. Several of our Berlin population visited the court seat during the week.

Mr. Thomas A. Lockman, of Easton, Md., was in town this week on one of his business trips.

Mrs. C. H. Goodwin visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond from Friday until Monday, on Bay street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Travis, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were guests at the home of Mr. Geo. Morris near town the past week, taking in Atlantic City on their homeward route.

Mrs. Clarence Vincent, of Snow Hill, was a guest of Mrs. Thomas Gray this week.

Mrs. Willard Hearn and daughter, Gladys, have been spending several days in Salisbury.

Mrs. James Dirickson left for Baltimore Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. James Riggins, of Potomac, were guests of the Howards, on Main street, for a few days.

Mr. Peter Rayne, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Warren, living near Ironshire, died early Monday morning at a ripe old age. If he had lived until next Christmas he would have been 95 years old. He has been making his home more or less for the last twenty or more years with his children, the greatest portion, however, with Mrs. Warren, where he breathed his last. Mr. Rayne had been a farmer all his life, and never voted any other ticket, than a Democratic. His remains were buried Tuesday afternoon in the old Buckingham cemetery by Elder Francis Baptist an old friend of the family, Wise and Burbage officiating.

BERLIN.

Mr. Lee Carey is making this part of the country a business visit. He also made a short stay in Berlin.

Mrs. Albert Jones, of Quantico, will for several days remain a guest of Mrs. Levin Dirickson.

Mr. William McMaster, one of the legal lights of our sister town, Princess Anne, made us a call Wednesday while en route from Snow Hill homeward.

Mrs. H. A. Goldrey, after being housed for nearly three weeks, was out for a drive Monday.

Miss Clara Hammond, who reports a most delightful visit north for two months, has returned.

Several of our ladies, who had intended spending Wednesday in Snow Hill and Court, had to forego the anticipated pleasure on account of the rain, much to their regret.

The ladies of St. Paul's Guild had a call meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Mitchell Tuesday afternoon to organize the work for the Annual Bazaar to be held in December.

Mr. J. J. McClosky, who had large interest in the venerable work recently destroyed here, has been a visitor, and seemingly takes his loss with very good grace, although he had no insurance on the place. He gave no encouragement whatever as to rebuilding.

The younger members of Berlin society gave the ladies a dance and a most delightful evening Wednesday at Adam's Hall. This is the first dance of a number to be given during the season, which will no doubt prove a most agreeable pastime and something to anticipate the coming winter.

Mr. James Hoskins, Jr., who has been a manufacturer of cigars in town, has transferred his services to Baltimore City, leaving Tuesday.

Rev. J. E. White, of Allen, made the Rev. Mr. Brooks a visit last Tuesday.

Mr. Wilson, who has been a grafter connected with Harrison's Nursery for the past two years, returned this week to his former home in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. George Hammond left this week for Germantown, Pa., the home of her daughter, Mrs. Delaven Moore.

Miss Margaret Morris, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is paying her father, Mr. George Morris, a visit.

Miss Margaret Harmonson will leave Saturday for a short visit to friends in Landsdowne, Pa.

Dr. M. E. Parsons, who has taken possession of his new home on the edge of town, will also remove his dental office to the Adams building on Main street, opposite W. R. Purnell's store.

WAGES AND THE COST OF LIVING.

President Roosevelt Deliberately Seeks to Deceive the Public.

Of the many statements deliberately made by Mr. Roosevelt, in his letter of acceptance, which have aroused unfavorable comment because of their inaccuracy, none is destined to cause him more trouble and to result in greater harm to his canvass than that in which he alleges that wages have been increased during the last few years in greater proportion than the cost of living has increased. This statement has called forth a storm of protest, not only from the press, but among well-informed labor leaders and political economists.

Nearly every independent journal has taken Mr. Roosevelt to task. One of these, the Philadelphia Public Ledger, published in the metropolis of the strongest protectionist State in the Union, devotes a column and a half of its space in refuting the President's statement. Mr. Roosevelt, to quote him precisely, says:

"As conclusively shown by the bulletin of the Bureau of Labor, the purchasing power of the average wage received by the wage-worker has grown faster than the cost of living."

The Philadelphia Ledger regrets that it cannot confirm this statement. It says:

"More reliable, because more disinterested, and more unprejudiced witnesses than Mr. Roosevelt's Commissioner of Labor, have time and again declared it conspicuously incorrect. Among the disinterested witnesses are both Bradstreet's and Dun's carefully compiled reports, and among the unprejudiced ones are several prominent labor leaders, who have testified to the truth respecting the wage scale of the one part and the regular quotation of the prices of the necessities of life of the other part. And the precise testimony given by these trustworthy witnesses, is directly contrary to the President's statement."

"The prices of domestic commodities have had an average increase from the lowest standard reached in 1896 of 37 per cent. No sensible and well-informed man will seriously assert that since 1896 the average wage rate has increased to that extent—more than one-third. There is no workman in the land who can testify to the accuracy of this. The President's contention is that the alleged greater proportionate increase of the average wage to the increased cost of living has been due to the beneficent protection afforded to labor by the tariff. Here again the President's position is contested by labor itself. It is true that the wages of artisans and their unskilled helpers have been materially increased since 1896, but while there have been slight increases at various times of the wages of the so-called protected workmen, the aggregate differences have not kept step with the increase of the cost of living."

"At present the tendency all over the country is to reduce the wages of those employed in protected industries. At Fall River, Mass., 25,000 textile operators are out of work and deprived of wages because they would not consent to a flat wage reduction of 12 per cent. In Chicago the Meat Trust has crushed to death one of the most powerful labor organizations because it demanded a reasonable increase of wages for the underpaid laborers. The Steel, Iron and Tin Trusts, interests protected by the tariff, have been largely reducing their wage schedules, as has also the Glass Trust. The artisans, mechanics and all sorts of their unskilled helpers, to whom the tariff does not even pretend to give protection, receive high wages, and will continue to receive them so long as their unions remain intact. But what single tariff-protected industry pays its workmen the same generous reward for their labor that the unprotected activities pay their employees for their labor?"

It might be added that Commissioner Wright's remarkable statement and tabulation upon which President Roosevelt bases his remarks already quoted, was discredited long before the candidate's letter of acceptance was made public, for Secretary Shaw in a stump speech delivered several weeks ago stated that the Commissioner of Labor has prepared a bomb which would blow the Democratic party sky-high, or words to that effect. He said, in so many words, that this "bomb" was in the nature of a carefully prepared article showing that the Democratic contention that the cost of living had been increased out of proportion to the increase in wages was untrue.

Commissioner Wright's "bomb" has deceived no person of average intelligence. It bears on its face the imprint of untruthfulness born of the desperate necessities of a losing campaign.

For Love of Country

By CYRUS TOWNSEND
BRADY.

Author of "The Grip of Honor," "The Southerners,"
"Sir Henry Morgan, Buccaneer," "A Doctor of Philosophy," Etc.

Copyright, 1898, by CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

CHAPTER XVI
"YE, it's as I thought!" he remarked, returning the glass after a long gaze. "That's the Radnor, eh?"
"The Radnor, mate? Are you quite sure?"
"Yes, does a man live in a boat like that for a year and a half and forget how it looks? I'd know her among a thousand ships!"
"What's that you say, my man?"
"Seymour was in a painful and frightful state of indecision. What should he do? The dilemma forced upon him was one of those which Katharine had foreseen, and of which they had talked before. He, apparently, must decide between his love and his country. If he had on when he reached the mouth of the channel and passed it by, the capture of the ship was absolutely inevitable. If he went through the channel and entered the English ship after him, the death of his sweetheart was likewise apparently inevitable.

"Choosing with this determination shown by the English captain, who had his topgallant sails still set, and with the little warning he would have of the existence of the shoal, owing to the rapid closing of the day, the frigate would have to attempt the channel and in that way for that ship lay destruction.

Save Katharine, lose the ship. Save the ship, lose Katharine. Love or duty—what should it be? The man was attacked in the two most powerful sources of human action. He saw on one side Katharine tossed about by the merciless waves, white faced with terror, and stretching out her hands to him in piteous appeal from that angry sea in the horror of darkness and death. And every voice which spoke to the human heart was eloquent of her. And then on the other side there stood those grim and frozen ranks, those gaunt, hungry, naked men.
They, too, stretched out hands to him.
"Give us arms, give us arms!" they seemed to say. "You had the opportunity and you threw it away for love.
What's love to liberty?"

And every incentive which awakens the soul of honor in men appealed to him. Behind him stood the des-tines of a great people, the fate of a great cause. On him they trusted, upon his honor they had depended, and before him stood a woman. He saw her again as he had seen her before on the top of the hill on that memorable night in Virginia. What had she said?
"If I stood in the pathway of liberty for one single instant I should despise the man who would not sweep me aside without a moment's hesitation."

"O Katharine, Katharine!" he groaned in spirit, pressing his hands upon his face in agony, while every breaking wave flung the words "duty and honor" into his face and every throbb-ing of his beating heart whispered "love-love."

DIET AND TEMPER.

A Claim That Meat Eating Tends to Sour the Disposition.

A butcher claims that meat eating is responsible for most of the bad temper that exists in the world.
"Who are the heaviest meat eaters?"
he asked. "The English. And who have the worst dispositions? Why, the English. Everybody knows that."
"Go to England, and they'll give you nothing to eat but meat. Morning, noon and night they'll set before you
the best meat in the world, but no vegetables to speak of, no desserts, no entrees; meat only."
"The consequence of all this meat eating is that the red faced Englishman is worse than a bear to have around the house."
"If you go to France you don't get much meat. The French like fruit, vegetables, salads, a little fish and a little chicken. I'd venture to say that an Englishman eats more meat in a day than a Frenchman does in a week."
"What effect on his disposition does the Frenchman's less gross food have?"
A good effect. The French are polite.
The world over they are noted for their politeness and good humor.
"But the Japs prove my point best.
The mass of the Japanese people live on rice and fruit and sweetmeats and fish. They don't touch meat from one year's end to another. And their temperance and decency at table give them the best dispositions in the world. On the streets of Japan there is never any fighting or quarrelling. You never see a disturbance of any kind among that people. Tolerance, courtesy, high bred and ceremonious manners are as prevalent in Japan as grumbling in England."

"What is the philosophy of all this?
Why, simply that meat is a stimulant, like beer, and that after the brief happy effect of this stimulant has worn off there comes a long effect of ill humor and irritability. All heavy meat eaters have bad dispositions, because they are always suffering from their food's aftermath—because they are always, so to speak, getting over a spree."

"This holds good, too, among animals. Lions, tigers, leopards and the rest of the carnivora are fierce and treacherous and mean. The herbivora —elephants, antelopes, camels—are good tempered, mild creatures."—New York Telegram.

The Bishop of London.

Dr. Ingram, bishop of London, commends the idea of a man born to command. It has been said of him that in olden days he probably would have enforced his special brand of theology with a battle-axe. In his ordinary clothes he irresistibly reminds one of Sherlock Holmes on the trail—a long aquiline nose, piercing gray eyes, lean, strong jaw and thin, curling lips. But with his smile all this vanishes, and the bishop becomes a genial humorist, a large hearted, warm blooded man.

GRAND OATH TO DUTY.

Judge Alton B. Parker's Greeting at His Home to the Democratic Editors.

A widely representative party of Democratic editors has just had an opportunity to see and take some mental measure of the Democratic candidate for President of the United States. Their timely and justifiable curiosity has been happily and abundantly rewarded. That he has more than reached a satisfactory height of expectation is, according to the testimony of an impartial press, a fact indisputable and unquestioned.

Judge Parker received the editor visitors at his Rosemont home, with a dignity and cordiality which captivated every guest. Unaffected simplicity and manifest sincerity marked the bearing of the man and deeply impressed the visitors. The good words oftentimes spoken of him by his friends were fully justified in the excellent impression wrought by his own individuality. The superiority of the man was palpable in every accent and gesture, and all his demeanor marked him worthy of high honor he wears.

The introductory words of Col.
Knapp, editor of the St. Louis Republic, were peculiarly apt.

"We rejoice," said Col. Knapp, addressing the candidate, "that the principles and policies of Democracy have found so worthy an exponent in 1904.
We are proud of the man who has so impressively demonstrated that he would rather be right than be President."

Responding to this greeting the Democratic candidate immediately, in a happy way, commended the leaders of his party by contrasting the cabinet officers of the last Democratic administration with those of their succeeding political opponents. The reminder of the characters of the men he named and extolled warmed the hearts of his admiring visitors. They knew he spoke words of conviction which represented the general public impression. They knew and reflected that every one of the eminent Democrats he named left office with a clean record of duty, honestly, faithfully and excellently performed. No scandal attached to the régime of any Democratic cabinet officer. Not the slightest question hinting of occasion or propriety for investigation ever arose as to a single executive chief of the last Democratic administrations. The suggestiveness of the Judge's allusions, in view of the extravagance, the recklessness and the disregard of official obligations exhibited by Republican cabinet officers was so potent and forceful that it naturally delighted his hearers. It gave forth a thought well and constantly to be borne in mind during the vital stress of this campaign.

FOUND HIM FULLY WORTHY.

Judge Parker's Great Appeal for Unity and the Impression it Made.

The occasion of the visit of the Democratic editors to Esopus presented the candidate of the great party in a new and edifying light.

Having fully committed himself to acceptance of the leadership of the Democratic hosts in their battle for the rescue of the republic from the ben and blight of corruption in office long continued, having given his earnest, honest heart to this great cause, he stinted no words to call the leaders of Democratic thought to a binding sense of solemn duty. He has started out grandly to perform his obligation of response to the great honor done him at St. Louis. Nobody who has ever known Judge Parker, or who is familiar with his official and political record, doubts a moment but that he will prove in the future as he has shown in the past: not only that public office is a public trust, but that party honor is a party trust. That he will discharge the obligations of both to the highest honor of his party and the eminent credit of his country none doubts who knows him.

He has made a great appeal for party unity for public duty. He has commended his party to all the citizens of the republic, by basing his appeal upon the very highest grounds.

The great, silent, thinking vote of the country must surely respond willingly to this call to national duty. It is not assuming too much for the character and ability of the Democratic candidate to repel the idea that his call to duty to the Democratic editors is the mere echo of a selfish ambition. Not in all the political history of this country has there been a man cleaner and freer of the dross of sordid ambition. Honors have gone after him and followed him to find him ever as modest as competent, ever as true and courageous in public place as in the no less honorable walks of private life that in the broad concrete of American citizenship has given the greatest glory to the American name.
Our country has recently been carried too far along the path of discredit to its good name. Judge Parker has asked that all citizens unite to keep the republic in the path of honorable safety. What he said in this vein is well worth repetition and thoughtful consideration. This, it part, is what he said in conclusion to the Democratic editors at Esopus:

"The Democratic party is not a machine; it is a body of citizens who believe that on the whole its fundamental principles are best adapted to the conduct of the Government.

"Among so many patriotic and intelligent men it is inevitable that divergence of opinion as to minor questions and differences of view as to the correctness of the disposition of dead issues should be found. The party is concededly united to-day as to every vital article of faith which can reasonably enter into the pending canvass.

AS TO ALIENATION OF ALLIES.

"Our adversaries are entrenched, in full possession of every department of the Government, and it is a mistaken policy that would drive away voters who would help to oust them.

"The cause cannot be advanced by attacks on others within the party with whom we have had disagreements, but who are now working with us for a common result.

"All men who have attained any degree of prominence have their friends, and the exercise of ordinary prudence forbids the alienation of allies who are willing and anxious to assist."

SECRETARY SHAW'S PAT STAND.

Secretary Shaw is the high roller of the Roosevelt administration. His contact with the millions that the United States Treasury receives and pays out has evidently made him a reckless spendthrift of government funds. In speaking in Oregon the other day he imprudently said: "I am not talking for ship subsidy; but I am willing to pay the price that will give us ships that will carry our trade." Of course, the prodigal Shaw would not think of a subsidy to the ship trust, but he is quite willing to "pay the price." Millions for subsidies, enormous appropriations for the army and navy, and vast increase for the civil expenses constitute the administration program—all of which will have to be met by an issue of bonds or more taxes.

The American people are now burdened with a depleted treasury, with imminent danger from Republican extravagance of still larger deficits, yet Secretary Shaw, who ought best to know of these things, is an ardent advocate of subsidies.

MR. HEARST'S LOYALTY.

There have been those since the national convention who repeated rumors that the Hearst papers and Hearst—influences were cold to the Parker and Davis ticket; that the columns of the Hearst papers would demonstrate this proposition.

Let the leading Hearst paper, the New York American, speak for itself.
In its comments in Monday's issue on President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance the American says under the caption of Mr. Roosevelt in his own behalf:

"President Roosevelt, it will be seen by his twelve-thousand-word letter to Uncle Joe Cannon, has concluded to accept the Republican nomination for President. The American prints the letter in full. It is Rooseveltian. It might be a stump speech, uttered by a man whose words ran faster than his ideas. Modesty is not dominant among Mr. Roosevelt's cardinal virtues. His weakness for the personal pronoun grows, and after following him and comparing what he says and quotes from what he has said with the calm and dignified speech he interpolates from the lamented McKinley, one feels that in the event of re-election
Mr. Roosevelt will set his rule under the motto of 'I and the State.'

MEANING OF MONEY WAGES.

Ballots Better Than Strikes to Raise Wages.

But few people understand clearly the difference between money wages and real wages. If they did so they would not vote as they do. Money wages is what is usually received for a day's or a week's work. Real wages are the goods which this money will purchase. From this it follows that there are two ways of raising wages:
1. By increasing the amount of money paid, and 2, by reducing the prices of goods.

Not only do wage earners try to get as high money wages as possible, often becoming members of labor unions for this purpose, but they try to make their money go as far as possible when purchasing goods. Their wives will go miles to reach a store that sells goods 5 per cent. cheaper than near by stores. They scold their wives if they pay five cents more than is necessary for an article. Yet, once in every two years they go to the polls—a majority of them—and vote for a system that increases the cost of living by about $100 a family per year, and that compels their wives to pay this much more for goods. This is perfectly inconsistent and illogical, but it is exactly what they do when they vote for tariff duties that foster and protect trusts that charge unreasonably high prices for their products—prices often 30 to 40 per cent higher than they charge foreigners for the same goods.

Workingmen, then, have an opportunity every two years to raise their wages at least 10 per cent. with their votes. This is far more than they will ever raise average wages by strikes, though in individual instances and in certain industries, wages may be raised 50 or even 100 per cent. through labor organizations. By voting to "cut out" the protected trusts that charge monopoly prices and get an unfair share of the joint products of labor and capital, actual wages of all workers will be permanently raised 10 per cent.
Not only that, but more goods will be produced and consumed at the lower prices that would result. Is not this better than strikes? Think it over, workingmen!

and a paper of tacks or some putty on hand. When the window pane is broken, don't makeshift; replace it.

THE COMING ELECTION.

The campaign in the First Congressional District has up to the present time been a very quiet one. What work each side has done, has been quietly and unostentatiously accomplished. Both sides, however, have been busy perfecting their organizations and getting ready to end up the campaign with a vim that each hopes will sweep them on to victory. The voters in the district, however, have not lacked the means to fully acquaint themselves with the issues of the campaign, and undoubtedly have been doing a great deal of thinking.

On the conclusion reached by the individual voters rest the verdict in the District. Suffrage or the right to register one's opinion on the policies that shall govern his country is the greatest civil liberty that man possesses, and he should be careful not to abuse it. Every voter ought to fully acquaint himself with the policies of both parties and then cast his vote as his judgment dictates. Contrast the policies of the two parties this year and see which one is worthy of your support. In our relations to other countries, the Democratic party stands for conservatism and steering clear of all foreign entanglements conformable to the honor and dignity of our country. The Republican opposes this with radicalism and the headlong impetuosity of Roosevelt rushing into affairs that do not at all concern us, and which may embroil us any day in war with some foreign power. The Democratic party stands for the interest of the individual operator and the workmen. The Republican party for trust and monopolies, which are slowly driving every individual operator in the country to the wall, forcing the cost of living up and the wages of the laborer down. The Democratic party stands for tariff for Government revenue only; The Republican party stands not only for revenue for the legitimate expenses of the Government, but believe in a tariff that puts a revenue in the pockets of the baneful monopolies under the plea of protecting "Infant Industries." The Democratic party stands for home government for all; The Republican for compulsory government and Imperialism. These are some of the principles of both parties that the voters have to consider.

Which will you take as the party worthy of your support? The Republican party, that stands for a dangerous foreign policy, the supporter of the Trusts; the author and sponsor of an iniquitous tariff, that takes money out of your pocket and puts it in the pockets of a few rich operators, the party that stands for military government of a free people, or the Democratic party that believes the constitution should be lived up to, that believes in a firm and conservative foreign policy, free from all entanglements compatible with the dignity and honor of the nation, that believe the individual operator has the right to carry on his enterprises without dictation and interference from the trusts, that believes the workman has rights that ought to be respected, that thinks the principle of tariff for the benefit of the millionaire manufacturer is unjust, unfair and should not be tolerated, that still holds to the principle of liberty and freedom for which our fathers fought, and thinks that over whatever land the American flag may wave, there civil liberty should reign supreme. Choose, voters, your party. Throw away prejudice and select the party and man that will best serve your country.

AS GOES NEW YORK.

Democrats in the South who are looking to New York for political inspiration should be satisfied with the developments of the campaign from day to day. Privately, the Republican managers admit the probable defeat of their State ticket, but they profess to believe that Roosevelt is popular enough to save himself by the "skin of his teeth." On the other hand, the Democratic leaders at both State and National headquarters believe that Parker, as well as Herrick, will carry the State. Roosevelt and Higgins, they say, are beaten to day and if the Democrats can hold their own from this time on they will stay beaten.

The Republicans base their hope of capturing the electoral vote of New York upon Roosevelt's alleged extraordinary popularity, upon their fine organization, and upon their great corruption fund. Carrying so big a stick, it is true they may go far. But the New York Democracy is not frightened. It has faced adverse conditions in the past and won great victories. It believes the conditions favorable now, hence, with good reason, expects to win another. To begin with, Roosevelt's "extraordinary popularity" in New York has yet to be demonstrated. He has been before the people but twice, once when he ran for the Assembly in a strong Republican district and got a fair majority, again when he ran for Governor and was elected by 17,000 majority. Neither of these achievements stamped him as a very popular man. Judge Parker, on the other hand, has run for office a number of times and has yet to be defeated. He ran in every instance but one in a Republican community. That the Republican organization in New York is as near perfect as such an organization can be is admitted. This is so in the rural districts and in all of the cities above the Harlem river; what the organization amounts to in New York City remains to be seen; heretofore it has been weak but Odell claims to have strengthened it considerably. As to the size of the Republican corruption fund there is no question. There is abundant evidence that it is a great one.

In conclusion it may be well to say a word about the betting in New York, which the newspapers over the country have advertised extensively. There has been very little genuine betting on the general result of the election. The New York World after making an investigation, expresses its belief that not more than $25,000 has been wagered in this city since the Presidential nominations were made. The Evening Post places the amount at not to exceed $20,000. The Republican National Committee, in conjunction with certain Wall Street sharks is believed to have conceived the scheme of fake betting, at big odds on Roosevelt, hoping to create an impression which would be of great help to the committee in its attempt to carry the country. There is nothing in the political situation to warrant large odds on either candidate. The professional bookmakers who wager hundreds of thousands of dollars for themselves and others on Presidential elections, have not begun business yet, nor will they for ten days or two weeks. The big sports, who have their own ways of "getting a line on" a political situation, will be heard from after registration in this city has been completed and analyzed, and what they consider reliable pointers have been received from up the State and from Indiana, Connecticut, New Jersey and other of the so called doubtful States.

At this stage of the campaign of 1892 the odds on Harrison were three men to one, yet Harrison was snowed under. Money may talk, but it does not always tell the truth.

Schooner Hoskins Safe At Bermuda.

On Wednesday the Baltimore schooner J. S. Hoskins, Capt. Ivor Johnson, which sailed from Jacksonville on September 13 for Hamilton, Bermuda, arrived there after a passage of 43 days. Fears were being felt for the safety of the vessel in view of the bad weather that had swept the Florida coast after the Hoskins sailed.

Go to the Halloween party given by the seventh grade of the Salisbury High School in the Assembly rooms of the school on Monday from 8 to 10 p. m. if you wish fun that will last for a whole month. This grade will represent every character from "Uncle Sam" down to "Sis Hopkins" and will furnish two hours genuine entertainment for the small sum of ten cents. Ginger bread, pumpkin pie, and milk, not cider, for Carrie Nation will be present by proxy, will be in evidence.

The finest specimen of corn that we have seen this season was brought to this office this week. It was grown by Mr. N. W. Evans on the George Meswick lot in South Salisbury. These ears run anywhere from 1,000 to 1,500 grains and measure about 18 to 14 inches in length and about 2 1/2 inches in diameter. The grain is also big and lays close on the cob. Mr. Evans says he has a six acre lot of this variety, which will run from 6 to 14 inches on the whole lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis James Barnes have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter Emma May to Mr. Riley Polk Stevenson. The marriage takes place Wednesday, November the ninth, at Antioch M. E. Church, Princess Anne, Md. Miss Barnes, who is a sister of Mrs. U. W. Polk of this town, has often visited Salisbury and has made many friends here.

A grand Democratic rally under the auspices of the Parker, Davis and Smith club, a joint meeting of Wicomico and Sussex counties Democrats, will be held in the Opera House, Delmar, Del., Monday evening, October 31st, at 7:30 p. m. —The official ballot in Wicomico county for the coming election will contain four tickets—Democratic, Republican, Prohibition and Socialist Labor. There are in addition to the names of the Presidential candidates 8 electors under each ticket, and 3 Congressional nominees, making in all 43 names on the ballot. The ballot will measure about 14x22 inches.

Ira H. Melvin and C. G. Ottwell have invented and patented an electric device to prevent railroad accidents. Those who have seen it working on their miniature trains and tracks say it is impossible for two trains to get nearer than one half mile of each other. It is thought the Pennsylvania Railroad will adopt the system in the near future.

—The many friends of Mr. J. R. T. Laws will be glad to hear that he has connected himself with the old and reliable retail dry goods house of J. Edward Bird & Co., of Baltimore, Md. This firm has been in business for more than 50 years and Mr. Laws will be glad to have his friends call on him. Mr. and Mrs. Laws will return to Baltimore first of next week.

—The Democrats of Somerset county had an enthusiastic mass meeting in Princess Anne Saturday afternoon. The meeting was addressed by Thomas A. Smith, candidate for Congress, Austin L. Crothers of Elkton, and J. Harry Covington of Easton. The same speakers addressed a rousing meeting at Crisfield in the evening, a special train being run from Princess Anne. The Salisbury Concert Band furnished music at both meetings.

—Mr. V. S. Gordy has purchased the home of U. W. Dirickson, Esq., corner of Isabella Street and Poplar Hill Avenue, and will move his family there shortly. Mr. E. D. Mitchell will occupy the house in Camden, vacated by Mr. Gordy. Mr. Dickerson has rented the property of Mr. Gordon Humphreys Hooper, corner of Isabella and Division Street for the coming year.

—J. A. McAllen secured the contract for constructing the brick wall around "The Oaks," the property of ex-Governor Jackson, and has begun work. This wall will be 1,300 feet long and 3 feet high. Pilasters 4 feet high will be made every 12 ft. apart, and two rows of galvanized iron railing will extend the entire distance between the pilasters. About 130,000 bricks will be required for the work.

—Arrangements for the Democratic Mass-Meeting at the Uman Opera House tomorrow have been completed. The speakers will be among the very best orators in Maryland. The Concert Band will furnish music afternoon and evening, and at the evening meeting chairs will be reserved for the ladies. Ex-Governor E. E. Jackson will preside at the afternoon meeting and Mr. Thomas Perry at the evening meeting.

—The street commission have this week been presenting the petitions to pave Main, Dock and part of Division streets. The property holders on Dock and Main streets are almost unanimous in their desire for paved streets. The Division street people have not been called upon as yet, but they will, no doubt, be as favorable to the proposition as anyone. The Commission will probably make their report to the City Council November 7th. This section will be a good starter for Salisbury, but the improvement must soon be extended to each depot.

Thousands Have Kidney

Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or stringy matter indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is evidence of kidney trouble.

also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest of its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

OF UNTOLD VALUE.

The Information Contained in This Citizens Statement Is Priceless.

The hale, the hearty, the strong, can afford to treat this paper as a patient only when they read the following, but any sufferer in Salisbury who has suffered hours of torture caused by kidney complaint will sit in his own light if he does not follow the valuable advice offered here.

George W. Gresson, proprietor of the Gresson House, at 1808 N. Street, Washington, D. C., just off Tennessee Ave.,

well known both in and out of Washington, says: "Yes, I used the pills, and they did me a lot of good. I have had considerable trouble with my kidneys and back. I used many medicines, but none of them acted like Dr. Kilmer's Pills. The first dose of the pills seemed to go right to the seat of the trouble and to set about to correct it. I was somewhat astonished and thought perhaps they contained some opiate and had only despatched the pain for a while, but it has been a month now since I used them and the pains have not returned.

You can use my name and I will back it up as I believe in Dr. Kilmer's Kidney Pills do all that is claimed for them."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Salisbury. Call at White & Leonard's Drug Store and ask

SEVEN IN THE BIBLE.

How Multiples of the Seven Recur

In the New Testament.

The phenomena of the seven and its multiples occurring in the New Testament have been pointed out by

Ivan Panin, a Russian scholar of the Bible, who for a number of years has made his home in Gresham, Ind. This significance of the seven and its multiples is not lost even in the

names of the apostles, and in the names of

In Memory Of Mr. Crawford.

Messrs. Editors:—Will you permit me to make mention of the demise of Mr. Horatio Nelson Crawford at his home on the Wicomico river, near Green Hill, on Wednesday, October 5th, aged about 81 years. Following in a less period than a month the death of his wife, his departure casts a deep gloom over the community in which he spent the whole of his long and useful life.

Mr. Crawford was a gentleman of the old school. He had no use for fads and shams. His life was real from start to finish. He had read much and was possessed of a wonderfully retentive memory. To visit him in his home and hear him discuss things new and old, was a real luxury. The writer is saddened by the fact that these stately characters of Wicomico's best citizens are passing away. But they have served their generation well, and have fallen upon sleep and been gathered to their fathers. The subject of this memorial had his faults. Who of us but what have? "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone at her." But he was a gentleman whose heart always went out for the best interest of the community.

In politics, Mr. Crawford was a Democrat and he served his party well. Before the division of the county, he served in the capacity of deputy-sheriff. After Wicomico was set off, he was elected County Surveyor, and was kept in that position until advancing years made it impossible for him to continue longer. He was of Irish descent and at times was very witty, and told a joke with fine effect. In the winter of 1862 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Phillips, of Quantico district. Both the Crawfords and the Phillips have been prominent in the community for generations back. After a union of more than forty years, useful and honored, in death they were not divided.

WEST.

There will be services on Pocomoke Circuit M. P. Church next Sunday as follows: Friendship, Sunday School at 9 a. m. and preaching at 10:00 a. m.; Union, Sunday School at 2 p. m. and preaching at 3 p. m.

The revival effort which continued from the dedication of the new church at Union, was a success in that several of the members were revived and ten persons professed conversion.

The Ladies Aid Society of Friendship church held a re-union meeting at the parsonage last Saturday evening. Quite a large number were in attendance. After the regular routine of business and the reception of a number of new members and the reinstatement of some of the old ones, ice cream, cakes and confectionaries were served in abundance. At about 11 p. m. the crowd dispersed, having expressed themselves as having such a good time.

Miss Flora Powell, of Salisbury, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Frank Bounds we are sorry to report was paralyzed last Sunday morning.

Mr. George Bounds has recently moved in his new home, which is located opposite his old one.

The steam saw, planing and gird mill, formerly owned by Mr. V. S. Hayman, now deceased, is now daily in operation, under the control and ownership of Mr. Orlando Ruark.

The revival effort will begin at Nazareth Church November 6th, 1904. On that day there will be preaching in the afternoon at 2:30 and again at 7:00 in the evening.

Mortgagee's Sale OF VALUABLE Real Estate.

By virtue of a power contained in a mortgage made by Isaac Anderson and Ella C. Anderson, his wife, to George S. Payne dated the thirty-first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five and recorded in the Land Records of Wicomico County, Maryland, in Liber J. T. T. No. 18 folios 504 etc., the said mortgage Assignee of said mortgage, will sell by public auction in front of the Court House, in Salisbury, Wicomico County, Maryland, on at 2 o'clock p. m., all that land lying in Salisbury District, Wicomico County, Maryland, on the North side of the Wicomico River and on the East side of the County Road, known as the Upper Ferry Road and adjoining the land owned by Henry W. Anderson at the time of his death, which was described in and conveyed by said mortgage.

Said land will be sold in various parcels as surveyed and laid out for the Assignee by Peter S. Shockey—and as follows:

1. Lot number one on said plat containing 88 22 acres of land more or less all cleared.

2. Lot number two on said plat, containing 25.78 acres of cleared and 11.93 acres of woodland.

3. Lot number three on said plat containing 5.90 acres of land more or less, partly cleared improved by small dwelling.

4. Lot number four on said plat, containing 21.27 acres of cleared and 12.80 acres of woodland more or less, improved by dwelling.

5. Lot number five on said plat containing 36.24 acres of cleared and 17.43 acres of woodland, more or less.

6. Lot number six on said plat, containing 22.98 acres of cleared and more or less.

7. Lot number seven on said plat, containing 74.87 acres of land, more or less, improved by dwelling and out buildings.

TERMS OF SALE.—Ten per cent. cash on day of sale, on each parcel sold; the balance on a credit of one, two and three years, to be paid in equal payments to be secured by the bond or bonds of the purchaser or purchasers, bearing interest from the day of sale, with surety or sureties to be approved by the Assignee. Copy of plat can be seen at my store, and at office of Toadvin & Bell, Attorneys, and at Mrs. Anderson's on the farm.

SAMUEL G. JOHNSON, Assignee.
