EASTER DISPLAYS.

The Millinery Stores are Centers of Attraction this Week, Being the Occasion of the Annual Spring Opening.

The robins return, the balmy breezes, the budding of trees and shrubbery, are evidences that the spring has come. Nature is laying aside her somber garb and is about to smile upon the earth in all the glories of the bright and blooming spring time.

With this beautiful season of the year, when the birds sing sweeter, when nature's dead elements are awakening to new life, comes the Eastertide, commemorating the resurrection of our Lord.

Singularly appropriate to the Easter season, and which has long been a custom, is the donning of new spring hats, which event is marked by the "Spring Openings." Wednesday and Thursday of this week were selected by the three millinery establishments of Salisbury for their Opening Days, which has proved a success in every particular.

These stores are simply abloom with spring hats, laden again with flowers as they were last season. Never were the flowers more varied and beautiful, and such a wealth of color is shown in every conceivable shade. The lavish employment of tulle, lace, chiffon, and other soft materials is a striking feature of the most approved millinery. There are perhaps given prominence in the floral effects, though orchids, poppies, daisies, lilacs, violets and others all nestle amid the billowy folds of tulle and lace and adorn the hats of many seasons. The newest hats are somewhat eccentric in design, being most flat with scarcely the suggestion of a crown, and in front or at the side the brim flares off the face in a style so coming to most people. At the millinery establishments much skill was displayed in the arrangement of decorations and the proprietors are to be congratulated on the success of their opening this season.

At Lowenthal's the display was magnificent. The decorations were beautifully arranged, enhancing the attractiveness of the many pattern hats on exhibition. The pretty millinery room, surrounded with mirrors draped with pink and gold, festooned with roses and foliage, made a picture of reality. In the back ground stood in bold prominence "Spring 1901" in large pink letters. But the hats, the pretty picture hats received the largest share of attention from the visitors. A noticeable one in this collection was a brim made entirely of foliage, the crown was composed of loops of two shades of pastel ribbon falling gracefully over the foliage brim and secured at the very top with a gold buckle. Under the brim rolling at the side was a bank of white violets.

Another pretty design was of brown straw, with a crown of pink roses; trimmed with white chiffon and pink ribbon.

During these Opening Days the large store of Messrs. R. E. Powell & Co. was the center of attraction. Visitors here were treated not only to a handsome display of spring millinery and other pretty things but musical concerts also. Under the celebrated orchestra, of Baltimore, assisted by Mr. Arthur Kennerly, pianist, was stationed on the upper platform in the rear of the store, and a large crowd to hear the sweet music rendered by them each day and evening.

Harlem Rose Garden is the name given to their large millinery window. It is indeed a work of art. Decked with roses it presents a pretty picture, the millinery room on the second floor was aglow with palms, plants, flowers, trimmings, flowers, Easter eggs and bonnets. Some of the many new designs are described as follows:

A large black hat with double brim, under brim is of tucked chiffon, upper of Neapolitan braid and lined at side with black plume and edie segrette. Black velvet ribbon unhooked on either side at back, with buckle and velvet ribbon at side.

A pretty little model is a child's hat, made of horse hair, ruffled, faced with abbered chiffon and trimmed with white satin ribbon and segrette, with buckle at side long ribbon ties.

Another was a large flat gimp hat lined with three pastel shades of silken silk, large bow at front with ends on either side.

Mrs. Ella J. Cannon's millinery natural and artificial decorations joined to make the scene one of rare beauty. Ferns and potted plants were in evidence but the chief attraction for the visitors centered in the elegant display of stylish millinery, and exclamations of admiration were heard on all sides. The windows were prettily decorated, one in blue and the other was arranged in black and white effect.

Particularly striking was a large hat of tulle and white. The outer brim being of white shirred mousseline and the only trimming a handsome wreath of cream roses rich in their own foliage. Under the side was a tiny twist of gold gauze and a delicate spray of foliage.

Another of the hats much admired was a stylish shape tilted from the left side, where a beautiful gauze wing rested in the rolled brim of gilt, under a fall of black lace. Soft silk formed the flat crown and a twist of delicate Louisiana gave the touch of color needed.

The rose hat also received its share of admiration. The entire outside of this hat was composed of the most beautiful rose foliage while the under brim was a mass of pink creased rose petals. Raised high off the face by a bandeau, the effect of this hat was exceedingly charming.

A Period of Constructive Business Genius.

We are living in a period of extraordinary constructive genius in the organization and administration of vast business affairs, just as at certain periods in our early history we gave signal evidence of constructive genius in politics and statesmanship. Many of these conditions that it was the object of statesmanship to provide for the individual in order that he might have freedom and security to pursue his own proper bonds according to his preferences, have been long since attained. Much, it is true, remains to be done for society through political instrumentalities. But the modern man has had far more serious problems to work out in his capacity of a member of the industrial community than in his capacity as a citizen of the state; and just where the greatest problems lie are to be found the largest rewards for those who can do great things. Hence the relative intensity of industrial and business life, as compared with that of political life in our own generation. It is a normal order of progress—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

$10,000 FOR PUBLIC ROADS.

Mr. Thos. Perry's Practical Suggestions Concerning a Great Problem.

Editors ADVERTISER:—By a recent decision of the Court of Appeals of Maryland, property of the B. C. & A. Ry. Co. to the extent of six hundred thousand dollars, has been placed upon the assessment books of the county and will yield a revenue to the county from taxation of more than five thousand dollars annually. I believe it would be a wise step for our county to take this money and add to it another five thousand, making a fund of ten thousand dollars, and go to work systematically on our public roads. Ten thousand dollars a year is about as much as could be judiciously expended at the beginning. Many suggestions have been made to bond the county to raise funds for road building, some to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars. Such an undertaking would be both unwise and impractical. The funds could not be spent judiciously, with the limited experience we have in road building. The work must be undertaken cautiously, conservatively and to some extent experimentally. There are those who think the county should be traversed by shell roads, east and west and north and south. Such an undertaking would be stupendous. In many places of the county there is no necessity for shells, a clay gravel will answer the purpose as well. For instance, the old Rockwalking mill dam on the road from Salisbury to Quantico is about as hard as a shell road and will last much longer. This was built (probably 50 years ago) from clay gravel taken out of the banks along the stream nearby. The same material could be used to build the road in both directions from that place for one fifth the cost, probably a tenth the cost that a shell road could, and for all practical purposes would be as good. There are places where shells would have to be used but much of our road bed of the county could be put in first class condition without the use of shells and we think that ten thousand dollars per year is sufficient to begin the work with, but it is none too large and in order to get it, public sentiment must favor it. Public servants are not expected to take what may be considered radical steps, without the sanction of the public, and if the public want it there is no reason for fear that the commissioners will not appropriate it. Let us take some step looking to the undertaking of this work. I would be glad to hear from tax payers of the county on this subject. It seems to me that the opportunity has now presented itself to begin this work. The additional five thousand dollars would increase our tax rate over what it now is eight or ten cents on the hundred dollars. I believe that the tax payers of the county are willing to be taxed to that extent for the work that can be done. I wish in conclusion to emphasize the fact that shells are not the only material we have with which to build roads. I have seen in Southern Jersey as fine roads, built of clay gravel, as any in Wicomico built of shells and at one fifth the cost and more durable. Besides, in many sections of the county roads need to be shaped up. Understand I am not condemning the building of shell roads. It will be found necessary to use shells and many of them but it is not the only material we have. In some cases experiments will have to be made; in other places the tests have been made and proven satisfactory; so the work can be undertaken at once. It will now, I think, be understood why I say I do not think that it would be well to bond the county to raise a hundred thousand dollars to do the work. Begin the work with ten thousand a year. Let us hear from tax payers on the subject.

THOS. PERRY.

Engaged in Reportorial Work.

Many of the friends of Mr. John H. Waller heard with surprise of his determination to give up his residence in Salisbury, where he has practiced law since his admission to the bar a few years ago, to enter journalism in Baltimore. He left Saturday evening for that city where a position as political writer on the Morning Herald awaited him.

Mr. Waller is a graduate from St. John's College. He was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates in the autumn of 1899, and in both the regular session and the extra session just closed, took an active part in the proceedings of the assembly. As a newspaper writer he is capable and fluent, and his friends will look with pleasurable anticipation for notable achievement in his new field of labor.

NO SMALL-POX EPIDEMIC.

The One Case Removed to an Isolated Country House.

PATIENT DOING WELL AND WILL RECOVER.

George Hudson, who started the community last Saturday evening by suddenly developing a virulent case of small pox at his home in "Georgetown," is doing well in the pest house two miles east of Salisbury, and will recover. So far, although a week has past, no other cases have occurred and it is likely the health officers have the disease under control.

The manner in which the case has been handled is another tribute to the practical common sense and business capacity of the citizens of Salisbury.

When Dr. Dick and Dr. H. Laird Todd saw Hudson late Saturday afternoon and discovered that he suffered from a very well developed case of the contagion they warned him and his family to remain strictly at his home and to exclude all callers until the authorities could act. Dr. Dick's next step was to inform Mayor Disharoon, who took immediate steps to have a meeting of the leading citizens. Accordingly at half after eight o'clock Saturday evening a very representative body of Salisbury men had gathered in the council chambers of the City Hall to discuss the question of how best to handle the case. Mr. L. W. Gunby was asked to preside. Drs. Dick, Todd, Messrs. Thos. Perry, M. V. Brewington, Solomon T. Huston and others spoke and finally a committee of citizens composed of Messrs. Thomas Perry, A. J. Benjamin, W. F. Bounds, Solomon T. Huston, Mayor Disharoon and Dr. Dick and Truitt, was appointed to head the movement to nip the contagion in the bud. This committee adopted business methods, and as a result long before the church bells rang for Sunday morning services Hudson and his family had been removed to the old Pollitt place, over two miles east of Salisbury. This old place is in the midst of a young pine thicket, on the Schumaker stream, isolated from all human inhabitants. Before the patient and his family were removed to the place, carpenters, in the night, repaired it, and it was made not only habitable, but homelike by a complete domestic outfit purchased by the committee for the purpose. Sunday a house of detention was erected, under the supervision of Mr. Perry, which will accommodate a large number of quarantined people, in case the contagion should spread. The house in which Hudson and his family resided was thoroughly fumigated, every precaution being taken to eradicate the germs of small-pox there.

A meeting of the physicians and the committee later, resulted in an agreement concerning vaccination. All persons are required to be vaccinated by April 7th. Of course immunes are not required to be vaccinated. All persons who make oath that they are not able to pay for the vaccination will receive it free. The vaccination agreement is mandatory and a penalty will be imposed upon those who may willfully disregard this requirement. Several hundred people have been vaccinated within the last ten days.

Dr. John S. Fulton, Secretary of the State Board of Health, reached Salisbury, and in company with Dr. Dick, the physician in charge, visited Hudson Tuesday morning. He was very well pleased with the action of the local Board of Health and the citizens, and expressed confidence in the ability of Salisbury to suppress the disease.

As one precaution against possible spread of the disease the City Council promptly adopted an ordinance quarantining all families known to have or are suspected with coming in contact with Hudson before it was known that he had smallpox. Through the intelligent action of S. T. Huston, whose services to the safety committee have been invaluable, the quarantine regulations have been very effectively applied. Living in the vicinity where the victim resided, and being a leader amongst his people, he has been able to gather from them information and exercise an authority that could not have been possible otherwise. The quarantined families are: Daniel H. Hudson, Mrs. Elsie Hudson, Moses A. Jones, Lambert A. Waters, Frederick Hudson, Ebenezer L. Johnson, Handy Leonard, Samuel J. Wallis, Mrs. Laura H. Parker, Rev. F. C. Wright, Samuel J. Leonard, Wilson W. Pinkett, Alex. J. Morris, Frank F. Leonard, John Leonard. Mrs. Ellen Toadvine and her daughter called at Hudson's house Saturday to see his wife on business, and as an extreme precaution her house is closed to callers, and the family, except Mr. A. D. Toadvine, who is boarding at the Peninsula hotel, will isolate themselves for fourteen days.

How Hudson caught smallpox is puzzling everybody. He insists that he has not visited Seaford or any other place where the disease is known to be, but it must be said that many people doubt the veracity of this asseveration. However S. T. Huston, who has taken much pains to ascertain whether or not Hudson did visit Seaford after the outbreak there, says he is unable to show that Hudson did. It might be said, incidentally, that the Delaware authorities are complaining that Sussex county is not taking effective measures to prevent the spread of the disease and that the cases in Cambridge and the one here were transmitted from Sussex. The colored schools and churches of town have been closed.

The County Commissioners and the City Council have come together and agreed to an equal division of the expense of stamping out smallpox in this county.

For a School Library.

Our schools need libraries. To obtain one for the 3rd Grade of the High School, "Miss Mosher of Colorado," her "Pa" and "Ma" and other friends have consented to appear in a four act comedy drama at Ulman's Opera House, Easter Monday evening, April 8th.

They will be accompanied by a large and enthusiastic "Boating Party," "Six Little Grandmas," Reuben and Rachel and many children in fascinating drill. There will be no opportunity for boredom as there will be not one dull moment from the first to the curtain to the fall on the last scene.

Those who miss this evening of entertainment, will deprive themselves of some of the best things ever produced by our well known and highly praised talent. Do not forget the date—April 8th. Come and encourage the children.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

An attempt was made on Saturday night to burn the shirt factory of A. Longfellow, at Ridgely, Caroline county but was frustrated by the timely discovery of the blaze and the prompt response of the citizens to the alarm sounded by Constable J. W. Simon. Efforts are on foot to discover the persons implicated.

COURT NEWS.

The Grand Jury Finishes Its Labors and Reports a Large Number of Bills—Several Important Cases tried During the Week.

The Dennis will case, which was being tried before a jury when the ADVERTISER went to press last Friday, occupied all day Saturday and the greater part of Monday, it being given over to the jury at three o'clock. The defense proved by a number of witnesses that they in their dealings and business transactions with Mr. Dennis, covering a period of fifteen or twenty years, had always considered him of sane mind and perfectly able to make a valid will. From the evidence produced the jury after being out a quarter of an hour rendered a verdict for the defendants, sustaining the will.

GRAND JURY FINISHES ITS LABORS.

On Saturday afternoon the Grand Jury completed its work after a week of faithful labor in which a large number of witnesses were examined and an unusual large number of true bills were found, thirty seven being reported. In its report to the Court the Jury show that they appreciate the growing necessity for better roads and present some practical suggestions for their improvement. On this subject they say: "We respectfully make some recommendations and offer a few suggestions touching the maintenance and repair of the public roads. We commend the work of the County Commissioners in the matter, as evidenced by the improved condition of many of the main thoroughfares, especially those leading into Salisbury. We are also glad to note a growing interest on the part of the citizens of the county in this important matter; but we are persuaded that there is still room for improvement even under the present law. It is the opinion of this body that much of the work done on the roads by supervisors would be more lasting if done earlier in the season. We would suggest that it would be well to instruct the supervisors to do their work of repair earlier than has been customary in the past. * * * We would suggest from May 1st to September 1st as the period for general work on the roads. We would suggest that the County Commissioners call the supervisors before them in the near future and urge upon them the importance of doing the work in proper season, and also to put forth their best efforts to secure and use all the available labor procurable under the law. We would further advise that the County Commissioners supplement the work of the supervisors by ditching and draining sections of road where the supervisor has not sufficient labor at his command. Also by shelling or otherwise improving roads leading into the small towns of the county, so far as the means at hand will allow."

They speak of the jail and its condition as follows:

"We found five prisoners, all males, colored. The cells were clean and well kept. Everything about the building appeared to be in good order, except the basement, which is in need of some repairs."

"We recommend that the old well in the jail yard be filled up, it being of no further use. The sheriff urged upon us the need of a separate dwelling for the keeper's family. We pass this on to the County Commissioners without comment."

The committee to visit the Alms House, Messrs. T. R. Jones, W. H. H. Cooper and Severn H. Cooper, say:

"We visited the Alms House on Thursday the 28th, and found fourteen inmates, six white and eight colored. The house was well kept, clean and neat in every apartment. We noticed improvement of a large and commodious new barn, which in our judgment reflects credit on our Honorable Board of County Commissioners. We found the wheat looking good, the stock in good condition and the farm improving under the present management of Mr. Seabrook."

Messrs. W. H. Rounds, L. Teackle Pruitt, Josephus H. Hayman and E. G. Mills, a committee on the Court House, state that the property is generally in good condition but recommend some repairs to the chimneys and roof.

THREE TRIALS DURING THE WEEK.

The case of John D. Perdue vs. James Laws was called for trial Monday afternoon. This was a case where Mr. Perdue brought suit against Mr. Laws as endorser on a note of Wm. J. Dennis. Mr. Laws contended that payments had been made on the note. Mr. Perdue showed where there were two notes of Wm. J. Dennis given to him, one secured by Mr. Laws and the other note without his endorsement. The credits had been placed on the note not bearing the endorsement of Mr. Laws. The jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff assessing damages at $426.88. R. P. Graham and Jay Williams for plaintiff, Ellegood and Ratoliff for defendant.

The damage suit of John Morris vs. Riley M. Stevenson of Pocomoke City was next taken up. Mr. Stevenson operated a flour mill and electric light plant and the plaintiff while walking on these premises about eight o'clock at night fell into a vat of steaming water, thereby sustaining serious injuries. After all the evidence was in the Court ruled that it was not through negligence of Mr. Stevenson but rather by carelessness of the plaintiff that the accident had occurred. The jury under instruction from the Court rendered a verdict for the defendant.

Thursday morning the damage suit of B. S. Jones, a commission merchant of New York, against the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad was called for trial. Mr. Jones owns a farm in Worcester Co. along the railroad and claims that the railroad ditches were insufficient and thereby flooded his land, causing great damage. As we go to press the testimony for the plaintiff is still being heard.

It is expected that Court will continue all of next week.

Seaford's Plaint.

It is particularly amusing to see the small towns like Laurel, Bridgeville, Georgetown, Middleford or Moore's Siding quarantined against Seaford. Laurel comes out with a card from their board of health saying they have no smallpox in their village and no one from Seaford would be allowed to enter the town. To make this order complete it should have the approval of Lum Kenny, our dear friend, who has done much to further the interest of Seaford by sending important messages to the city papers of the epidemic here that had no truth whatever. He put it in glowing colors from his stand point at a cent a line. Lum and the Bridgeville correspondent were making something out of it and did not care how much it injured Seaford. Half of the citizens of Bridgeville have formed themselves into a Board of Health and they determined that Laurel should not get all of the trade that belongs to Seaford, have quarantined against Seaford and Middleford. Middleford wanted to be it, so Joe Allen, the remaining citizen of that city, has called himself together and organized a board of health, passed resolutions that no one shall pass through his town unless he has a pass. Georgetown got on to the racket and have quarantined themselves against Laurel, Bridgeville, and Seaford, in fact against the whole push Easter Hill and Terrapin Hill to be heard from. The whole thing is done to draw trade to these villages.—Seaford News.

Palm Sunday at W. M. C.

Owing to the fact that the Easter recess came so near the beginning of the third term President Lewis had decided not to begin the Annual series of sermons to the graduating class until after the holidays. Accordingly a special service was prepared for the evening service in Baker Chapel, Sunday, March 31. The service was called "The People's Christ" and, as the President explained, was intended to give the audience a loftier conception of Christ as King.

As a prelude to the evening's service Miss Brown accompanied by Prof. Soupaux on the violin, rendered "The Holy City." One of the impressive scenes of the service was the singing of a chorus by the school while the students marched in pairs (a boy and girl) and cast a twig of evergreen at the foot of a white cross. As the twigs were thrown down they were fastened to the cross by two of the young ladies so that at the conclusion of the chorus the white shown here and there between the twigs of evergreen.

Senator Olin Bryan of Baltimore made the address of the evening. Mr. Bryan delivered a masterly discourse on "The People's Christ." It showed conclusively that while Mr. Bryan had made law his specialty, he was perfectly at his ease in telling students the value of a personal Christ. He was graceful, forceful and eloquent in his manner. The service of the evening closed with the singing of "All hail the power of Jesus name" by the audience and a selection by the choir.

School closed for Easter recess Wednesday at noon and will resume Wednesday, April 10th at 10.30 a. m.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sims, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

The old scaffold on which four Frederick county executions were carried out, has, according to the colored residents of the county, been used by the Sheriff to make a henhouse, it having been condemned by the Commissioners. Sheriff Zimmerman has lost no pullets since the story got around.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years, have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Anderson Riggs of Sunny Lane, Tex. Thousands have testified as did Mr. Riggs. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Millions of Mothers Use Cuticura Soap

Assisted by Cuticura Ointment for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chaffs, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. Cuticura Soap combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticura, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in One Soap at One Price, viz., Twenty-five Cents, the best skin and complexion soap, the best toilet and best baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, $1.25. Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to soothe all itching, burning, inflammation, and irritation and soothe and heal. CUTICURA RESOLIN (25c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring and humiliating skin, scalp and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY

Who are Using Home Comfort Ranges.

Salisbury, Md., January 24, 1900.
Wrought Iron Range Company.
Gentlemen:—This is to certify that we purchased one of your Home Comfort Ranges No. 1 about a year ago and wish to say that we consider it one of the most durable and satisfactory of kitchen ranges, and heartily recommend them to any one who is thinking of purchasing a range. We would not be willing to part with it if we could not get another. For durability and as a good baker, and for all purposes, we do not think they could be surpassed.
JAMES A. WALLER.
ELIJAH J. ADKINS.

Salisbury, Md., January 17, 1901.
Wrought Iron Range Company.

Gentlemen:—I have been using one of your Home Comfort Ranges for the past seven years, and can cheerfully recommend it as one of the most durable and reliable of all kitchen stoves. We would not want to part with it under any circumstances if we could not get another. This letter you may use in any way you think best for your business.
JAMES H. WEST.

Salisbury, Md., January 22, 1901.

This is to certify that I purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of the Wrought Iron Range Co's traveling salesmen, some six years ago. I find the Range in all particulars as represented by the salesman. It is all that could be desired in a first-class cooking range, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of a cooking range.

WM. S. HASTINGS.

Salisbury, Md., February 19, 1901.
Wrought Iron Range Company.

It affords me great pleasure to recommend your Home Comfort Range. I purchased one from your traveling salesman six years ago, and it is giving me perfect satisfaction, is a splendid baker, and very economical on fuel. We would not take twice the amount paid for it if we could not get another like it.

JOHN W. PARKER of L.

W. L. Culver, Esq.,
President Wrought Iron Range Co.,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Sir:—We are in receipt of your favor of June 18th, which we regret to say was mislaid. We have great pleasure in stating that your ranges are in use on six of the eight steamers of the fleet and that they have given perfect satisfaction in every way both as to their durability and working qualities, which have been tested to the utmost.

In the fall of '98 our steamer Pacific was totally destroyed by fire at the dock which originated at the G. T. Ry. warehouse, and although the steamer was burnt to the keel the Wrought Iron Range on board was found in such good condition that it was used on our new steamer Germania, which was built the following season to take place of Pacific. There was practically nothing wrong with the stove except discoloration and marks consequent upon the action of intense heat and water.

The steamers using your ranges are Majestic, Collingwood, Germania, Atlantic, Britannic and Midland. Very truly,

A TRYING POSITION

"My position is a trying one" was the joking remark of the cloak model of a fashionable firm. But there is less jest than earnest in the statement. It is trying to be on the feet all day, to be reaching and stooping hour after hour from morn until night. And that is a very meager outline of a business woman's day. With many such women the ordinary strain of labor is intensified and aggravated by a diseased condition of the delicate organs, and they become victims of that terrible backache, or blinding headache, which is so common among business women.

If you are bearing this burden, bear it no longer. For the backache, headache, nervousness and weakness which spring from a diseased condition of the womanly organs there is a sure cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Half a million women have been perfectly and permanently cured by this wonderful medicine.

"My niece was troubled with female weakness for about four years before I asked for your advice," writes Mr. J. W. McGregor, of 62d St. and Princeton Ave., Chicago, Ill. "You advised her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which she did faithfully for nine months, and now we must acknowledge to you that she is a well woman. We cannot thank you enough for the cure."

Sick women can consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. Address, Buffalo, N. Y.

RATIONS FOR ARMY.

Uncle Sam's Soldiers Fed Better Than any Others in the World.

Washington, March 26.—In accordance with the provisions of the Army Reorganization bill the President has issued an executive order prescribing the quality and quantities of the component articles of the army ration, and the issue of substitutes. The new ration includes the most liberal subsistence allowed any soldier in the world, and is adapted to tropical conditions as well as the frozen zone of Alaska. No liquor ration is allowed the soldier, and it is considered as final settled that the American soldier is not to be allowed alcohol in any form except for medicinal purposes. In South Africa the British troops are frequently given rum after long marches and after a victory receive a double allowance. In the days of the old navy it was customary after a stiff fight to give every sailor a large portion of grog, and, in fact, until some years after the Civil War it was a part of the naval ration.

MEATS AND VEGETABLES.

When practicable fresh meat and fresh vegetables are to be provided in place of canned articles. Each man is allowed plenty of fresh beef, bread, coffee and even some luxuries, in the form of jams and other sweets. The amount of sugar is considerably increased over the allowance. This is chiefly intended for troops serving in warm climates, where health demands more saccharine matter. Fresh beef to the extent of 20 ounces, flour to the amount of 18 ounces, beans and potatoes amounting to 18 ounces are a part of the daily diet of the soldier. In addition he is given a good allowance of prunes and about as much coffee as the average man can drink. This is what troops receive when in garrison. Those in the field have a little different ration, in which is included the emergency compressed ration, which a soldier is expected to carry in his haversack. The meat and flour quantities are the same as for men in garrison, but baking powder is allowed and the fruit component is liberal.

A TEMPTING BILL OF FARE.

The substitutive articles for both field and garrison duty present a tempting bill of fare for the soldier and includes fresh mutton, canned meat, bacon, dried fish, pickled fish, canned fish, soft bread and hard bread, cornmeal, peas, rice, hominy, potatoes, cornmeal, canned tomatoes and vegetables—no canned when the fresh are procurable. Besides there are several kinds of dehydrated vegetables, apples, peaches, pickles and green and black tea. When troops are traveling another ration is prescribed equally as good as that provided for the field and garrison. Fresh meat under the President's order will be issued seven days in ten and salt meat three days in ten. If fish is issued it will be in substitution for salt meat. The proportions of the meat issues may be varied at the discretion of the department commander, but, however, without due consideration being given to the rights of contractors engaged in furnishing fresh meats to the troops. The order is made immediately effective.

Mountaineer Hospitality.

The latch string hangs outside every cabin door if the men-folks are at home, but you must shout "hello" always outside the fence.

"We 'uns is pore," you will be told, "but y'u're welcome of y'u kin put up with what we have."

After a stay of a week at a mountain cabin a young "furriner" asked what his bill was. Nothing he said, "cept come again."

A belated traveller asked to stay all night at a cabin. The mountaineer answered that his wife was sick and they were sorter out of 'fixins' to eat, but he reckoned he mought stop over to a neighbor's an borer some. He did stop over and he was gone three hours. He brought back a little bag of meal, and they had corn-bread and potatoes for supper and for breakfast, cooked by the mountaineer. The stranger asked how far away his next neighbor lived.

"A little the rise of six miles, I reckon," was the answer.

"Which way?"

"Oh, jes' over the mountain thar."

He had stepped six miles over the mountain and back for that little bag of meal, and he would allow his guest to pay nothing next morning.

He had slept with nine others in a single room, and he had given up his bed to two other of our party, and he and his wife slept with the rest of us on the floor. He gave us supper, except us all night, sent us away next morning on a parting draught of moonshine apple-jack, of his own brewing by the way, and would suffer no one to pay a cent for his entertainment. That man was a desperado, an outlaw, a moonshiner, and was running from the sheriff at that very time.

Two outlaw sons were supposed to be killed by officers. I offered aid to the father to have them decently clothed and buried, but the old man, who was as bad as his sons, declined it with some dignity. They had enough left for that; and if not, why he had—

TO RAISE WILD TURKEYS.

The Attempt To Be Made in Dorchester County.

The Baltimore Sun of last Wednesday, says: "Although the growing of several species of pheasant upon the game preserves of Maryland has been attempted in some cases with bad results and in several with temporary success, the cultivation of wild turkeys for sporting purposes has not up to the present time been carried out upon any extensive scale, and the idea is practically a new one to the majority of sportsmen."

Upon the Cook's Point (Dorchester county) game preserve of Mr. John Harrison, of Philadelphia, the new idea is about to be given a practical test, and already a large order for stock birds, trapped in a wild state, has been sent in and they will arrive in a few days at the preserve.

For several years under the management of Mr. E. F. Busick, game keeper, and superintendent of the preserve, the Moore game preserve in Maryland which has successfully reared and maintained an extensive stock of pheasants, and the art of game propagation has been reduced to such a science that the ultimate success of the wild turkey scheme is promised by the promoters.

The preserve of Mr. Harrison, from its size and isolated situation, is especially adapted to the culture of wild game for sporting purposes. About 1,000 acres of woodland and brush comprise the available range, and as the entire tract is surrounded by the waters of the Chesapeake and the Choptank river, with the exception of a narrow neck of land, which is inclosed with wire to the height of 15 feet, it is practically impossible for the game to escape.

Last year several wild gobblers were imported from West Virginia by Mr. Busick to give flavor to the domestic fowls, and 200 of the hybrids were raised. The half-way offspring of these turkeys developed such unusual powers of flight that the idea suggested itself to both Mr. Harrison and Mr. Busick to raise the true wild turkeys, believing they would probably excel pheasants for gunning sport.

Large pens covering an acre or more of ground have been built for the birds, and into these they will go until late in the summer, when the closing will be able to escape the hawks. The entire stock will then be turned out and the shooting will begin. Several hundred turkeys are expected to be reared during the coming season.

The stock of English pheasants on the Moore preserve is about 200 and preparations are being made for the coming hatching season. Each year about 800 are hatched in the pens and the percentage of birds turned into the covers is greater than that of any other preserve in the State. There has not been a shooting season there since the pheasant raising was begun that the number of birds shot did not number more than 100, and frequently the season's bag has run to 300.

A large stock of partridges is on the place and Mr. Busick has just sent in an order for four dozen Kansas birds to augment the stock. The duck shooting of the present season, Mr. Busick says, has been fairly good, and a great many ducks have been shot by Mr. Harrison and his friends. They are now looking for spring black heads, which freely use the shores, so good shooting will probably occur there in a few days."

Some Of Carnegie's Sayings.

In an article in the World's Work Henry Wysham Lanier, writing on Andrew Carnegie, quotes some of Mr. Carnegie's epigrammatic remarks. Among them are the following:

"If a man would eat he must work. A life of elegant leisure is the life of an unworthy citizen. The Republic does not owe him a living; it is he who owes the Republic a life of usefulness. Such is the Republican idea."—Triumphant Democracy.

"In looking back you never feel that upon any occasion you have acted too generously, but you often regret that you did not give enough."—An American Four-in-Hand in Britain.

"Among the saddest of all spectacles to me is that of an elderly man occupying his last years grasping for more dollars."—An American Four-in-Hand in Britain.

"The monarchist boasts more bayonets, the republican more books."—Triumphant Democracy.

"There are a thousand heroines in the world today for every one any preceding age has produced."—Triumphant Democracy.

"Put all your eggs in one basket and then watch the basket."—Curry Institute Address, 1885.

THE RIGHT THING TO PUT ON.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)
From the natural impulses to "put something on" a painful spot all applications for the relief of pain have arisen.

The most successful have ever been poultices or plasters, and the best of these is Benson's Porous Plaster.

No other has anything like the same power as a curative agent; it is highly and scientifically medicated, and its standard is advanced year by year.

Use Benson's Plaster for coughs, colds, chest diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney trouble, lame back, and other ailments that make Winter a season of suffering and danger. It relieves and cures quicker than any other remedy.

Do not accept Capcicum, Strengthening or Belladonna plasters in place of Benson's, as they possess none of its curative power. Insist on having the genuine.

The people of every civilized land have testified for years to the superlative merit of Benson's Plaster; and 5,000 physicians and druggists of this country have declared them worthy of public confidence.

In official comparisons with others, Benson's Plasters have been honored with fifty-five highest awards.

For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on the receipt of 25c. each. Accept no imitation or cheap copy.

Healthy Mothers

Few mothers are healthy, because their duties are so exacting. The anxiety of pregnancy, the shock of childbirth, and the care of young children, are severe trials on any woman. But with Wine of Cardui within her grasp, every mother—every woman in the land—can pay the debt of personal health she owes her loved ones. Do you want robust health with all its privileges and pleasures? Wine of Cardui will give it to you.

WINE OF CARDUI

strengthen the female organs and invigorate weakened functions. For every female ill or weakness it is the best medicine made. Ask your druggist for $1.00 bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no substitute under any circumstances.

Mrs. Edwin Cope, Gormer, Mich.: "When I commenced using Wine of Cardui I was hardly able to walk across the house. Two weeks after I walked half a mile and picked up my baby. When my other child was born I suffered with labor pains 24 hours, and had to ride him on a horse because I had no milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy this time, I gave birth last month to a baby girl, and was in labor only two hours, with but little pain, and I have plenty of milk. For this great benefit I must in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."

SMALL-POX IN SALISBURY.

If, as is likely, the small pox contagion should be confined to the one victim who brought the disease to our community, our Board of Health and citizens will have achieved a worthy fame. In any event the community is to be congratulated upon the thorough, business-like and practical way that the committee undertook and carried out the work of treating a loathsome disease, brought into the community without warning. There is every reason to believe that the disease will be confined, and within a little while the town be able to again show a clean bill of health.

However this may be, the people will not be misled by having the unpleasant facts kept from them, a policy that might lead innocent people into an unseen danger, but the true nature of the conditions will be kept before them. In this connection the ADVERTISER would like to assure the county people and all others who are accustomed to visit Salisbury socially or for trading purposes, that not the slightest danger will be incurred by a continuance of their visits at this time. We make this statement unreservedly and with the promise that should there be the slightest menace at any future time, the fact shall have the widest publication. With the exception of the quarantined families our townspeople are going about their business as though nothing in the world gave them a moment's anxiety or concern, and it is safe to say that dozens of our most conservative citizens don't think of small-pox once a day except they are reminded of it.

In the days when the laws of health and the science of medicine were less understood than they are by the doctors of the 20th century, any pestilence naturally alarmed the public and disorganized business, but in the light of the present times, fear of the very worst diseases is very much abated.

REPUBLICAN EXTRAVAGANCE.

The record of the last Congress for extravagance and wilful waste of the people's money was so bad that a large number of influential Republican papers have come out in their criticism of the Republican administration of public affairs.

The Cleveland Leader says: "Patriotism does not mean extravagance. Only a few years ago the expense of the government in all its departments amounted to about $1,000,000 a day, while now more than that sum is expended for soldiers, sailors, pensions, guns and ships."

The New York Press apologizes for "scandal of extravagance" of the Republican Congress but says: "It is doubtless too late for the party managers to save the party reputation in this respect of lavish appropriation."

The defenders of this squandering of public funds say, "This is a large and prosperous country and we can afford to spend big sums." While this is true to a certain extent yet our expenditures have increased ten fold while our population has increased two fold. No such deceptive argument as this can remove the feeling of resentment that exists against the Republican administration for such unwarranted extravagance.

THE CRIMINALS OF THE FUTURE.

Pretty nearly all the criminals of the future are in our public schools to day, and we are educating them—the men who will throw our railroad trains off the track; put dynamite under our churches; commit outrages and murder; perhaps burn half a city some windy night.

They are in our public schools to day, and we are educating them!

Hundreds of thousands of them are reached by the church or Sunday school. They can be reached in our public schools, and neither they nor their parents can be reached anywhere else.

I believe it is infinitely more important to the future of this nation that they be taught kindness and mercy than grammar or arithmetic, and I am sure there is no way under heaven in which you can better teach them kindness and mercy than by teaching to do kind acts and say kind words a hundred times a day to the lower creatures by whom they are constantly surrounded. Every such teaching in our public schools is not for the protection of animals alone, but for the protection of property and life; nay more, it is laying in the hearts of these neglected children, preparing to become criminals, a foundation of mercy and humanity on which every church can build.

GEO. T. ANSELL, in Our Dumb Animals.

In a recent issue the Washington Post, a republican paper, speaks of the new Maryland ballot law in the following commendatory way: "It is a mistake to class the new suffrage law of Maryland with the disfranchising acts of any of the other States farther South. The Maryland law does not, in fact, disfranchise any man, black or white. Although it is not copied from the statutes of any State, it bears a closer relation to the Massachusetts act than to any other. And while it may be a product of partisanship designed to promote partisan ends and personal ambition, it will in its practical operations prove to be one of the most powerful promoters of rudimentary education ever devised. The act calls for no examination in reading or writing. It bars no man from the polls who would else have been a voter. It does not in any way infringe upon the Fifteenth Amendment, nor does it afford any excuse or ground for an application of the Fourteenth Amendment. It is far more generous to illiterates than the Massachusetts law, for that sets up an arbitrary test, while this permits every qualified voter, regardless of education or the lack of it to mark and deposit his ballot."

—Query—How many years would have come and gone before the Republican frauds in "padding" the State census would have come to the surface, had Democrats failed to discover them?—Maryland & Herald.

Ask us something hard, brothers Fontaine and Dashiell. Some questions can have but one answer—we think this is one of them.

—Mr. Mudd goes to Congress and Enumerator Abell goes to jail. Where does the reward of the poor hiring, who goes blindly about doing the dirty work of a political boss, come in?

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

No. 82. In the ninth verse of the nineteenth Psalm, the words that are translated "as a tale that is told," are in the Greek "as a spider that has spun her web."

No. 83. Stanton, the "Great War Secretary" in President Lincoln's cabinet, said that if Grant was a drunkard he wished that some other generals could be supplied with his particular brand of whiskey. The idea is not new. It used to be said of Whitfield that if he were mad it would be a good thing if he could bite some of the English clergy.

No. 84. It was Pascal who said, "Whoever would fully measure the vanity of human life must consider the causes and the effects of the passion of love. If the nose of Cleopatra had been shorter the history of the world would have been changed."

Blaise Pascal was one of the most distinguished philosophers and scholars of the seventeenth century. He was born in Auvergne, France, in 1623; died in Paris 1662.

Our young friends in Salisbury who have been indulging themselves in the purchase of Balzac's works must not consider the French department of their libraries complete until they have secured Pascal's "Pensees" and "Letters Provinciales" as they are considered among the finest specimens of French literature.

QUESTIONS.

No. 85. What do you consider the most remarkable instance in history of great events flowing from trivial causes?

No. 86. Why is it thought to be ill-luck to spill salt at the table between two persons, and whence comes the notion that ill-luck thus invited may be conjured away by throwing salt over the left shoulder?

No. 87. Who said, "there is no royal road to learning?"

A Testimonial From Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by R. K. Truitt.

EDUCATIONAL.

AN EFFORT TO BRING THE SCHOOL AND THE HOME TOGETHER.

The gulf between parent and teacher is too common a phenomenon to need exposition. The existence of the chasm is probably due more to carelessness, to pressure of time, or to indolence than to any more serious delinquencies; yet all will admit the disastrous effects that flow from the fact that there is not the close intellectual and spiritual sympathy that there should be between the school and the home.

Whether or not this failure of teacher and parent to come to a close and perfect measure of sympathetic cooperation is more prevalent or less prevalent in city than in country is not of great importance in this discussion. The purpose of this article is to describe very briefly an attempt which is being made in the State of Michigan to bridge the gulf—to create a common standing ground for both teacher and parent—and on that basis to carry on an educational campaign that it is hoped will result in the many desirable conditions which, a priori, might be expected from such a union. At present the movement is confined practically to the rural schools. It consists in the organization of a county "Teachers and Patrons' Association," with a membership of teachers and school patrons, properly officered. Its chief method of work is to hold one or more meetings a year, usually in the country, or in small villages, and the programme is designed to cover educational questions in such a way as to be of interest and profit to both teachers and farmers. From "Neighborhood Cooperation in School Life," the "Hesperia Movement," by Kenyon L. Butterfield, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

NATURE-STUDY IN RURAL SCHOOLS.

The first effort was to teach the teachers in the rural district school; but this teacher is hard to reach. She is removed from associations and conventions. She is the teacher of least experience, and frequently of least ambition. She follows. It soon became apparent that the leaders must first be reached; in the largest cities of New York State, the agitation bore its first fruits. The country places are now taking it up. Before the movement was definitely organized, many rural schools were visited. The teachers were found to be willing to introduce a little sprightliness and spontaneity into their work, but they did not know how. They wanted subject matter. The children were delighted with the prospect of learning something that had relation to their lives.

Readable leaflets were prepared on living, teachable subjects, for the purpose of giving the teacher this subject-matter and the point of view. It was not desired to outline methods, for methods are not alive. If the teachers were awakened and given the facts, the teaching would teach itself. The first constituency was secured by sending an instructor or lecturer with the State teachers' institutes,—for the State Department of Public Instruction kindly makes this possible. From teacher to teacher the idea spread. Now 17 leaflets have been issued and about 26,000 teachers are on the mailing-list by their own request.

The leaflet attempts nothing more than to say something concise and true about some common thing, and to say it in a way that will interest the reader. The point of view is the reader rather than the subject-matter. The leaflets aim to send the reader to nature, not to record scientific facts. The first leaflet was entitled, "How a Squash Plant Gets Out of the Seed." A botanist said that the title was misleading; it should have read, "How the Squash Plant Gets Out of Its Integument." Herein is the very core of the whole movement: it stands for "seed," not for "integument."—From "Nature Study on the Cornell Plan," by L. W. Bailey, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

A monument to the late Dr. Thomas King Carroll, formerly of Church Creek, near Cambridge, is to be erected by public subscription as a mark of appreciation for his sterling qualities and of the regard of his people.

Frederick postoffice is to be located on the ground floor of the new Masonic Temple which is to be erected on the site of the residence of the late William H. Miller, on West Church street. The lease dates from July 1, 1902.

Miss Sarah B. Schroeder of Peeterville whose recent incarceration in an insane asylum caused such a sensation in Frederick county, has entered suit against Drs. Clagett and West for the part which they took in the affair.

Dr. Spranklin, the Baltimore veterinarian, has diagnosed the disease among horses in the vicinity of Boyd's as cerebro-spinal anemia, and says that it was once well-known as 'cow disease.' He has, he says, proven that the term cerebro-spinal meningitis does not apply to it, as post-mortems show that the brain tissues and spinal membranes are not inflamed, and it is also non-contagious.

To Escap at Queenstown.

The Maryland State Militia have made arrangements with the Queen Anne's Railroad Company to honor their annual encampment this year at Queenstown. The site selected is in the field used last year by the Boy's Brigade. This will prove a great drawing card for Queenstown.

HORTICULTURE EXHIBIT.

Will Be One of the Principal Features of the Exposition.

Horticulture, viticulture and floriculture are linked together in one great class. In the midst of a country of orchards and vineyards the Pan-American Exposition will have abundant material close at hand and of the finest quality from which to make an exhibit worthy of the great event. The extensive floral decorations of the grounds constitute a rich display in floriculture, and several acres, including hundreds of beds, are devoted to the exhibits made by leading florists of the country. Flowers in profusion will welcome the earliest visitors and breathe out their fragrance and display their incomparable beauty the season through. Thousands of trees and shrubs flourish throughout the grounds. Double rows of thrifty trees surround the principal buildings. Foliage and flowers there will be in great profusion. In the horticultural embellishment of the grounds the Pan-American will far surpass the efforts of all former expositions.

In the handsome and commodious Horticultural Building all the popular fruits of the different countries represented in the Pan-American Exposition will be displayed. With a suitable refrigerating room upon the grounds, it will be possible for the management to make a daily fresh display of fruit. Throughout the term of the Exposition, when certain fruits are at their best, special displays will be made of certain varieties. The exhibit from southern California will be particularly large, and New York and other states will be represented befittingly. Bottled productions will also have a place here, the wine growers of the Chautauque, central New York and Hudson river regions having applied for space for extensive exhibits. The opportunity for a timely display of choice native fruits will be improved. Dried and preserved fruits will be exhibited here. Articles and appliances used in horticulture will also be shown in this division.

The exhibits of nursery stock, including orchard and ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, will be unquestionably among the finest, if not the finest, ever made. The most prominent nurserymen in the country have interested themselves and will aim to outdo any former show of the kind. No less interest is taken by the leading florists, who are arranging exceptionally fine displays. Many large beds of flowers were planted some months ago, and they will aid in beautifying the scene from the early days of the Exposition.

Our Rainfall.

The average annual total of water which falls as rain or snow in the United States is 1,407 cubic miles. This amount of rain would more than twice fill Lake Ontario. To raise this water to the clouds from which it fell would require the work of 500,000,000 horses working ten hours a day throughout the year.

Spring Cleaning

You are made aware of the necessity for cleansing your blood in the spring by humors, eruptions and other outward signs of impurity.

Or that dull headache, bilious, nauseous, nervous condition and that tired feeling are due to the same cause—weak, thin, impure, tired blood.

America's Greatest Spring Medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It makes the blood rich and pure, cures scrofula and salt rheum, gives a clear, healthy complexion, good appetite, sweet sleep, sound health.

For cleansing the blood the best medicine money can buy is

E. S. ADKINS, Postmaster.

Captain Coulbourn's Company.

Captain Thomas G. Forwood of Co. D, 1st Maryland N. G., and Major W. Clement Claude, surgeon, were in Salisbury this week to muster in Captain L. P. Coulbourn's company of infantry.

Forty-seven recruits presented themselves for examination. After being mustered in, L. P. Coulbourn was elected captain and L. Atwood Bennett 1st lieutenant and H. Winter Owens, 2nd lieutenant.

Captain Coulbourn has a handsome body of young men enlisted and the Salisbury boys will no doubt make a good figure in the field.

The following is the report of the Salisbury High School:

Sixth Grade.—Olive Mitchell, 94.3; May Powell, 93.5; Alice Hill, 93.1; Martha Toadvine, 92.5; Florence Carey, 92.1; Nina Venables, 92.1; Rebecca Smythe, 92.1; Vivian Culver, 91.8; Gertrude Killian, 90.6; Lois Smith, 90.4; Margarette Woodcock, 90.3; Ruth Gunby, 89.9.

D. M. Thompson of Charles county committed suicide on his wife's grave in the churchyard at Harris Lot. He was heart broken over the loss of his wife, and his grief is supposed to have temporarily crazed him. He was 35 years old.

The Disappearance of The Oak.

An old citizen of Dorchester county recently remarked the fact that the white oak timber, which was one of the boasts of old Dorset lang syne, has very nearly disappeared. Investigation proves him to be correct. At the beginning of the century just closed Dorchester was perhaps the most richly endowed with timber of any county on the Eastern Shore. It was particularly rich in a variety of white oak especially adapted to ship building. Hence it was much sought by builders all over the Atlantic coast. Baltimore built her famous clippers mainly from timber out in our forest.—Dorchester Era.

The above is applicable to Somerset county, also so far as the scarcity of white oak timber is concerned. There is another wood, the chestnut, which used to be quite plentiful in this county, and valuable to farmers for fencing, that has almost disappeared from our forests.—Marylander and Herald.

A sub-boss of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad named Halleck was badly injured in a riot of Italian laborers at Elersale. Patrick Donahue, who endeavored to assist Halleck, was also hurt. The assailants all escaped with the exception of one Argelo Campano, who is held for assaulting Donahue.

Your Spring Clothing.

SPRING SEASON, 1901.

Dear Sir—We know of no better time to have a talk with you on this subject than now. You know our clothing is the "Vitals" brand. The clothing that is made right on the insides (vitals)—that's why our clothing is perfect fitting and keeps its shape. The coat will not wrinkle or curl, the pockets will not sag, the collar fits close to the neck, and there are many other superior points you will not find in ordinary ready-to-wear clothing. Our stock for spring is now at its best—largely composed of individual patterns. Considering quality, style and tailoring, our prices are lower than the prices asked for the inferior kind. We will save you money and you will be better clothed. Trusting to be favored with your valued patronage, we are,

The Talmage Sermon

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage shows the Messianic sacrifices for the saving of all nations and speaks of Gethsemane as it appeared to him; text, I Corinthians vi, 20, "Ye are bought with a price."

Your friend takes you through his valuable house. You examine the arches, the frescoes, the grass plots, the fish ponds, the conservatories, the parks of deer, and you say within yourself or you say aloud, "What did all this cost?"

You see a costly diamond flashing in an earring, or you hear a costly dress rustling across the drawing room, or you see a high mettled span of horses harnessed with silver and gold, and you begin to make an estimate of the value.

The man who owns a large estate cannot instantly tell you all it is worth. He says, "I will estimate so much for the house, so much for the furniture, so much for the grounds, so much for the stock, so much for the barn, so much for the equipment, adding up in all making this aggregate."

Well, my friends, I hear so much about our mansion in heaven, about its furniture and the grand surroundings, that I want to know how much it is all worth and what has actually been paid for it. I cannot complete in a month nor a year the magnificent calculation, but before I get through today I hope to give you the figures. "Ye are bought with a price."

With some friends I went to the Tower of London to look at the crown jewels. We walked around, caught one glimpse of them, being in the procession, were compelled to pass out. I wish that I could take this audience into the tower of God's mercy and strength, that you might walk around just once at least and see the crown jewels of eternity, behold their brilliance and estimate their value. "Ye are bought with a price."

Now, if you have a large amount of money to pay you do not pay it all at once, but you pay it by installments—so much the 1st of January, so much the 1st of April, so much the 1st of July, so much the 1st of October, until the entire amount is paid, and I have to tell this audience that "you have been bought with a price," and that the price was paid in different installments.

The first installment paid for the clearance of our souls was the ignominious birth of Christ in Bethlehem. Though we may never be carefully looked after afterward, our advent into the world is carefully guarded. We come into the world amid kindly attentions. Privacy and silence are afforded when God launches an immortal soul into the world. Even the roughest of men know enough to stand back. But I have to tell you that in the village on the side of the hill there was a very bedlam of uproar when Jesus was born. In a village capable of accommodating only a few hundred people many thousands people were crowded, and amid hostilities and malevolence and carnal rivalry, yelling at stupid beasts of burden the Messiah appeared. No silence. No privacy. A better adapted place than the manger in the stable, bathed in the light of the sun, the stable of heaven lying down upon straw. The first night out from the palace of heaven spent in an out-house. One hour after laying aside the robes of heaven, Christ was in a wrapper of coarse linen. One would have supposed that Christ would have made a more gradual descent, coming from heaven first to a half way world of great magnificence, then to Caesar's palace, then to a merchant's castle in Galilee, then to a private home in Bethany, then to a fisherman's hut and last of all to a stable. No! It was one leap from the top to the bottom.

Bringing Glad Tidings.

Let us open the door of the caravanary in Bethlehem and drive away the camels. Pass on through the group of jammers and loungers. What, O Mary, no light? "No light," she says, "save that which comes through the door." "What Mary, no good?" "None," she says, "that which was brought in the sack on the journey." Let the Bethlehem woman who has come in here with kindly attention put back the covering from the babe that we may look upon it. Look! Look! Uncover your head. Let us kneel. Let all voices be hushed. Son of Mary! Son of God! Child of a day! Monarch of eternity! In that eye the glance of a God. One word there that Jesus came from the feeble plant to the tone that shall wake the dead, Hosanna! Hosanna! Glory to God that Jesus came from throne to manger that we might rise from manger to throne, and that all the gates are open, and that the door of heaven that once swung this way to let Jesus out now swings the other way to let us in. Let all the bellmen of heaven hold the rope and ring out the news, "Behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people, for today is born in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord!"

The second installment paid for our soul's clearance was the scene in Quarantania, a mountainous region, full of caverns, where are today panthers and wild beasts of all sorts, so that you must now go there armed with knife or gun or pistol. It was here that Jesus came to think and to pray, and it was there that this monster of hell—more vile, more terrible, than anything that prowled in that country—satan himself, met Christ.

The rose in the cheek of Christ—that Pauline Lantier, in his letter to the Roman senate, ascribed to Jesus—that rose had scattered its petals. Absence from food had thrown him into emaciation. A long abstinence from food recorded in profane history is that of the crew of the ship Juno. For 23 days they had nothing to eat. But this sufferer had fasted a month and ten days before he broke fast. Hunger must have agonized every fiber of the body and gnawed on the stomach with teeth of death. The thought of a morsel of bread or meat must have thrilled the body with something like ferocity. "I am out of a lack of men hungry as Christ was hungered, and if they had strength with or subduing witnesses. The ruffians who were wandering around through the midnight, of course they saw the arrest and went into the courtroom. But Jesus' friends were sober men, were respectable men, and at that hour, 2 o'clock in the morning, of course they were at home asleep. Consequently Christ entered the courtroom with the ruffians.

Oh, look at him! No one to speak a word for him. I lift the lantern until I can look into his face, and as my heart beats in sympathy for this, the best friend the world ever had, himself now utterly friendless, an officer of the courtroom comes up and smites him in the mouth, and I see the blood stealing from gun and lip. Oh, it was a farce of a trial, lasting only perhaps an hour, and then the judge rises for sentence. Stop! It is against the law to give sentence unless there has been an adjournment of the court between condemnation and sentence, but what cares the judge for the law? "The man has no friends. Let him die," says the judge. And the ruffians outside the rail cry: "Aha, aha, that's what we want! Pass him out here to us! Away with him! Away with him!"

The Divine Sympathizer.

Oh, I bless God that amid all the injustices that may have been inflicted upon us in this world we have a divine sympathizer. The world cannot lie about you nor abuse you as much as they did Christ, and Jesus stands today in every courtroom, in every house, in every street, and says: "Courage! By all my hours of maltreatment and abuse I will protect those who are trampled upon." And when Christ forgets that 2 o'clock morning scene and the stroke of the ruffian on the mouth and the howling of the unwashed crowd then he will forget you and me in the injustices of life that may be inflicted upon us.

Further I remark: The last great installment paid for our redemption was the demise of Christ. The world has seen many dark days. Many summers ago there was a very dark day when the sun was eclipsed. The fowl at noonday went to their perch, and we felt a gloom as we looked at the astronomical wonder. It was a dark day in London when the plague was at its height, and the dead with uncovered faces were taken in open carts and dumped in the trenches. It was a dark day when the earth opened and Lisbon sank, but the darkest day since the creation of the world was when the carnage of Calvary was enacted.

It was about noon when the curtain began to be drawn. It was not the coming of a night that soothes and refreshes. It was the swinging of a great gloom all around the heavens. God hung it. As when there is a dead one in the house you bow the shutters or turn the lattice, so God in the afternoon shut the windows of the world. As it is appropriate to throw a black pall upon the coffin as it passes along, so it was appropriate that everything should be somber that day, the great hearse of Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

The regular fifty cent dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Beautiful Lakes and Grand Mountain Scenery.

Sudersville, Md., April 2, 1901.

Hardly had we stepped out into the streets of Zurich when a low, ominous sound was heard and looking back we saw a dark cloud gathering behind us, and soon witnessed something unusual to us—a thunder storm high above us; the sun had not set, but its yellow rays could be seen through the cloud and formed a rather weird picture. We had not proceeded far when the thunder began to crash and the lightning flash across our path. Our guide tried to assure us it would not rain and added that he would not wet as Swiss rains would not wet. We could not believe that he was not enjoying the play of the elements any more than the rest of us, for we frequently saw him shiver as there came a flash of lightning more vivid than the rest or a peal of thunder nearer than before.

We passed the church of Martin Luther which is a very odd specimen of ecclesiastical architecture. The great reformer spent some time here after he began to preach Protestantism and was often obliged to hide himself from his enemies. The church was at first built as a back room to a dwelling with a slanting roof, and services were held here secretly, for the converts to the Protestant faith were few. Afterward when they became more bold the church grew taller and more conspicuous, until it reached its present proportions, that of a modern church building, but it still retains its odd appearance in part, having the sheds yet around it.

The rain now began to descend and crossing the lake by a bridge we hastened our steps in return. We passed by the church in which the celebrated reformer Ulrich Zwingli preached; back of the church is a statue in iron erected after his death. Zwingli was slain at Cappel in 1531 in a battle between the Catholic and Protestant Zurichers. Somewhere on our return we saw the house of Zwingli having the room just as it was occupied by Luther on one occasion when he was obliged to flee for safety.

The station was reached none too soon for us and the rain was actual observation. Zurich, the capital of Canton of the same name, is situated on Lake Zurich where the Limmat river issues from it and unites with the Rhod. It is one of the most important commercial and manufacturing cities of Switzerland. Lake Zurich is one of the most picturesque lakes of Switzerland; it is crescent shaped and is divided into an upper and lower lake by the strait of Rapperschwyli. The surface of the lake near the city is very marshy and the city of Zurich is famous for having been the birth place of Gessner, a celebrated Swiss naturalist, Pestalozzi an educational reformer, and Lavater a noted Swiss divine. At 9 p. m. we boarded our train for another long ride to Lucerne. Darkness had set in and we could no longer discern objects, but we could tell that we were passing through a very mountainous country. At 11.30 p. m. we arrived at Lucerne tired, hungry and sleepy. We went immediately to the dining room on reaching our hotel, the Lucerne, and finishing our meal, either a late supper or an early breakfast, at a few minutes past midnight, we showed to our rooms. We were not long in getting into bed and while we are sleeping, I will tell you something of Lucerne, its surrounding and points of interest. Lucerne is a city of more than 20,000 inhabitants and like all the other important cities of Switzerland is the capital of a canton of the same name; it is the central canton of this wonderful little Republic. It is situated on the lake Lucerne, or as it is sometimes called the Lake of the Four Cantons, bordering on Uri, Unterwalden, Schwyz and Lucerne. It is 1800 feet above sea-level and is one of the most beautiful sheets of water in all Europe; it resembles a cross in shape with a crumpled stem; its shores are steep and rocky and altogether it covers an area of 44 square miles. It forms a part of the St. Gothard route which passes through Switzerland before it reaches Italy. It is navigated by steamboats but is subject to violent storms. This lake is rich in associations of William Tell, the place where the shooting took place, being a few miles below the lake on the river Reuss which empties into its southern extremity. The city of Lucerne is at the northern western extremity of the lake, being situated, as it were in amphitheatre formed by the encircling hills on the west and the beautiful lake and snow-capped mountains, the Ridge to the east. Pilatus, Titlis, the Stanserhorn and the Uri Alps to the south. Lucerne receives its name from the Latin word Lucerna meaning a light house; one of the old towers known as the Lantern Tower is still standing in the lake. It was built there when the Romans held sway, and was used by them as a watch tower from which they could see the approach of their enemies. It is built of stone, several stories high, is round with a pointed roof, and seems to be well preserved, the foundation seems to be laid on the bed of the lake.

The next morning we took first a walk and then a drive through the city and in the walk saw the curious old Tower. We also passed over very curious old bridge, being built in the 18th century; it is covered over and in some places; as one walks across it, it is quite dark. Our guide took us next just outside the city gates to see the famous Lion of Lucerne. This is the figure of a lion, hewn out of the solid rock, projecting out of the ground, from a model furnished by Thorwaldsen a famous Danish sculptor. It was in commemoration of the Swiss guards who fell at the Tuilleries in Paris in 1792. They are said to have been guarding Louis XVI. that profligate monarch of France, when the mob attacked the Palace and all the guards were massacred. The lion is shown reclining in death, an arrow piercing his body and his outstretched paw rests upon the shield, buckler and spear. Above and below are inscriptions in Latin, dedicating it to the guards. The Glacier Garden was not far away but we were afraid time would not permit us to explore it fully and did not go there.

We next secured a tea and took a drive through this beautiful city; we saw many handsome houses, magnificent churches but the driver not being able to understand us, and we not being able to understand him, we could only look at all of them and did not learn which were prominent historical edifices. We were sorry to leave this beautiful city, for we found the hotel here equal to the best we had seen so far. Our room was nicely furnished, was light and airy, had electric lights; the beds were elegant and everything spoke of excellent care and management.

About 10.30 A. M. we were all at the station and in a few minutes were all aboard bound for Interlaken by way of Brunig Pass. A short distance from Lucerne we left Mt. Pilatus on the right 2183 feet high, looking back we saw a railroad winding by many curves far up the side of a steep mountain and puffing along very laboriously an engine with cars attached was creeping slowly up. The engines on these mountain railways are constructed very carefully. The boiler does not stand parallel with the track but inclines toward the cars; it is so built that it can climb steeply. None of them have what we call cow-catchers in front. Leaving Mt. Pilatus we skirted the western shore of the upper lake until Alpnach station was reached, then we passed through a comparatively level country until we came to Sarnen, a small village at the head of Lake Sarnen. This lake is four and one half miles long and we skirted the eastern side of it through out its entire length. I am sure no prettier scenery was presented anywhere on our trip than that afforded on this lake. On opposite side the mountains rose abruptly from the water's edge; they were covered with bright green trees and shrubs and dotted here and there far up the mountain sides or in the narrow valleys between lay the chalets, thatched with straw held in place by stones. The water of the lake was as clear as crystal and from the open windows we could easily see the large stones in the bottom; not a ripple broke the smooth surface, the reflection of the mountain in the water was perfect; so perfect that looking first at the reflection and then at the mountain we were almost bewildered; it was as if you were looking at an inverted mountain, so true was the outline, so exactly was everything delineated in the clear bosom of the lake. The reflection of the green trees produced in the water a shade of green that I had never seen before in Nature or art. I longed to reproduce it then and there, but it was impossible and of course the memory now is too indistinct to recall it exactly. Leaving Sarnen which is a beautiful little town a great along higher and higher up into the air by the side of Lake Lungern until Lungern, another picturesque half-village, half town, was reached. The altitude now began to tell upon us and the uncomfortable feeling I had experienced in my chest the day before while passing through Black Forest and could not understand was now unmistakable. Many of us filled our ears with cotton but eyes and nose could not be so treated and from them the blood seemed almost ready to burst. Our heads no longer seemed funny and even the most staid among us were for the nonce "light headed and giddy."

Lungern reached we were now to commence the perilous ascent of Brunig Pass. Our train consisted of six coaches, but so steep and dangerous is the ascent that one engine could not take us all up, so another engine was supplied and each one took three coaches. I was glad to be in the first division for from the windows we could look out and see the second one coming after us and could know how winding our way had been. So carefully did we go that it seemed as if we were scarcely moving at all and I think our pace could have been measured by inches. Cars are certainly necessary on the part of the engineers for as we looked out on the left side, the rocky mountain sides were near enough to touch, and covering high above us shutting out all sight of the blue sky above they seemed ready to topple down, while numerous streams rushed down their precipitous sides under the track to the valley below. On the right we could see no ledge on which the track was laid, but we seemed to be running on a rail suspended in the air, while far, far below us lay the quiet valley; here and there to be seen clusters of houses forming small villages, looking like doll's houses while through and around them the valley was threaded with small streams flowing on to some lake nearby. The scene was impressive and grand and one who has crossed this part of Switzerland will not soon forget the suspense of the half hour required for the ascent nor the relief experienced when the summit is reached.

The train stopped, we all alighted and rushed to the Hotel for lunch. This building is more than 8000 feet above the level of the sea, and many were unable to see myself among the number the altitude making us faint. We were ready in less than an hour to resume our journey, the train was connected again and we began the descent. Going down was not so slow nor so dangerous as going up and a few minutes sufficed to bring us down to the village of Meiringen, beautifully situated on the river Aar and surrounded by lofty snow covered peaks. From Meiringen we went back almost parallel to the mountain railway, but on the opposite side of the Aar. We could see high upon the sides of the precipitous cliffs the track looking like a small black line encircling the mountain. Just after leaving Meiringen pointed out a spot two years before an avalanche had slid down the mountain, burying a village beneath. The path was marked by absence of trees or other herbage, the place being filled with stones. The snow and ice extended across the river and left only a few cottages intact, two or three of which are still standing, but not inhabited. The path of the avalanche was only a few hundred feet wide, but it carried death and destruction in its wake.

The day was exceedingly hot which surprised us very much in that altitude, but in front of us we saw several heavy showers which promised to cool the air. It does not rain in Switzerland just pours and by the time we reached Brienz where we were to take a boat for Interlaken it had begun to rain. The wharf was some distance from the station and as we had our baggage to carry and progress was necessarily slow and by the time we reached the boat it was pouring and many of us were soaking wet. Our guide's statement that Swiss rain did not wet proved to be a fallacy and in my case a cold was the result. But we were glad to reach the boat by any means, for the next day was Sunday and we were to do no traveling that day. Not far from Brienz we passed by Giessbach Waterfall which consists of seven cascades leaping from a height of 1100 feet down into Lake Brienz. The boat was small and crossed and recrossed the lake many times in quest of freight and passengers but about 5.30 p. m. we landed at Interlaken [where we saw the pleasant face of our courier and were directed to the Hotel des Alpes.

ALLEN

Mrs. Fred E. Meekins of Cambridge, with her little son, Fred E. Jr., is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. S. C. Allen.

Miss Grace W. Allen is on the sick list this week.

Miss Kate Smith of Oriole, Somerset county, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith.

Miss Amy Allen spent last Saturday and Sunday in Salisbury.

Rev. J. Edward Brooks left Monday to join his wife, who is now at the home of her parents in Madison Dorchester county.

Allenites are a little afraid to visit Salisbury just now on account of the smallpox in that town.

Miss Nellie Brady of Quantico will spend Easter with her cousin, Mrs. Andrew W. Smith.

Another dance Friday evening (5th) we have no Lent in Allen as most of our people are Methodists. One of our friends, who, by-the-way, is a Methodist, remarked the other day that he didn't believe in "this religion that required you to be good 40 days in the year." Another friend that happened to be in the crowd replied that it was "better to be good 40 days in the year than to be good as the dickens from years end to years end." The Methodist are still lying in a semi-comatose state.

William, the pet goat belonging to Master Troy Vickers died suddenly last Sunday morning of indigestion, aged 30 years. William—or Billy as his intimate friends call him—ate a rather hearty supper on Saturday night and it is supposed that this had something to do with his sudden demise. His supper consisted of the following dainties: Seven links of chain, four galvanized nails, two iron cans, an old hat, one half box of Paris green, one ham strap and a gum boot. If any one thinks such a meal as this won't give him that tired feeling, let him try it some night. Of course this does not apply to a politician. He can eat and drink enough to mortify a goat.

At last the brave little Philipino General—Aguinaldo—has been captured and great is the rejoicing at the imperial residence in Washington. The joy cannot, however, be any greater at "headquarters" than it is among the republicans here in Allen. For our selves, we do not see where the laugh comes in "at". It certainly required two years to do the trick, and in those two years many precious lives were sacrificed and millions of dollars spent. Sorrow stricken homes may also be added to the little bill. We ask, is there anything laughable about this? All in all, the administration has a very costly individual on hand just now. We would suggest that Mark Hanna purchase him from this government and exhibit him as the man of many lives. Everybody would willingly pay twenty-five cents to see a man possessed of so many lives, enough in number to make a cat blush for shame, and it would not disgrace Hanna either, this "show" business, for he has been engaged in it ever since 1896. We all know Messrs. Editors, that Aguinaldo has been killed in battle nine times, accidentally drowned twice, burned to death once and committed suicide, making in all a grand total of thirteen lives, and yet he still lives. In addition to all this he has been captured a number of times by the administration papers, but they, being weak like the administration were unable to hold him. Now that the "little trick" of capturing Aguinaldo has been done, we trust that the War Department will "give credit (if any there be) to whom credit is due". But as things are now conducted in Washington it would not surprise us the least bit to hear of the credit being given to Shafter or Egan. They do say that Sampson is about ready to file his claims for a share of the glory. Oh! how much of the glory might have been his had he only been in Hong Kong on the day that the remarkable capture was made. Sampson of course is opposed to the elevation of Funston because Funston belongs to that class of men, who have not had the social advantages that are a requisite for a commissioned officer in the regular army. Funston has never had his windpipe burned to a crisp with tobacco smoke, therefore he is not a gentleman in Sampson's eyes. Only West Pointers or Annapolitans for Sampson if you please.

There is something else to be considered now. The capture of the little Philipino furnished a new problem for the administration to solve. As Edward Atkinson says, "they have the elephant trunk and all on their hands now" and it seems they don't know what to do with it. Some would have him punished while others are equally anxious to have him set "acot free". President Schurman of Cornell University thinks a good way to punish him would be to make him Governor of Guano. He certainly deserves nothing worse than this for he has only done what our forefathers did, fought for liberty. It is not at all likely, however that the administration will let him down so easily. We know that Hanna will never agree to such a proposition, for Aguinaldo belongs to that class of men, who have not had the political advantages that are a requisite for a commissioned officer in this administration. Secretary Long thinks that the dusky little General should be spanked with a shingle for allowing Funston to catch him before his (the Secretary's) protegee could reach Hong Kong and claim all the glory for himself. Yes Messrs. Editors our republican friends here are pleased beyond description over the affair. Their joy knows no bounds. It's "I told you we would get him," and "now you're satisfied that the spinal cord of the Philipino War has parted are you?" every time we meet them, but they never mention the capture of the census enumerators in St. Mary's County. When we grow weary of their jubilation and desire a rest we have only to mention the new election law and in an instant several pairs of under lips drop into degrees and form themselves into right angled triangles and all is silent.

Our illiterate colored voters here, and there are several, are thinking of preparing themselves for the trying ordeal next fall. We are advising them not to commence with their studies until the greatest book on earth, as well as the easiest one to read makes its appearance. It is entitled, "How I captured Aguinaldo," by Admiral Sampson, with introduction by Secretary Long.

ATHEL

Mrs. Matilda A. Phillips the widow of the late Wm. Phillips died last Sunday afternoon after several years illness at the home of her daughter Mrs. G. Green.

Mr. George H. Riell of Salisbury visited friends and relatives at this place.

Mrs. Chas. L. Elliott left last Tuesday for Baltimore where he will make his home. His friends regret his departure.

Mrs. J. L. Begworth and son Stanley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wright last Saturday and Sunday.

LAUREL

James J. Callaway, proprietor of the Cannon House, has been seriously ill from the effects of vaccination, administered about 10 days ago. H. F. Marvill and Charles H. D. Culver are also confined to their beds from the same cause.

The electric light plant here will soon be moved from the Twilley mill property to a building erected for that purpose near Bacon & Son's factory, on the other side of town.

The Board of Health has issued orders for all school children to be vaccinated.

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as mouldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md. writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad. I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism since and I tell any man, he is foolish to suffer with Rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tisch of Easton, Md. writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. B. R. Parnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows: I have used the NELATON REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

AS TO ROAD MAKING.

Mr. Perry's Suggestion Last Week's Advertiser Commented Upon.

MR. W. B. TILGHMAN'S VIEWS.

Mr. Thomas Perry's suggestion, published on the first page of last week's ADVERTISER, upon the subject of systematic road improvement for Wicomico county, has elicited much comment among the farmers and the tax payers of the county. Among those who have placed themselves upon record as endorsing the plan suggested by Mr. Perry, are Messrs. Samuel G. Hearn, W. F. Calloway, L. H. Cooper and P. N. Richardson & Son. Mr. Richardson writes: "I am very much in favor of shell roads. In talking with the people of this (Pittsburg) district, I find they will gladly help do the work. Those I have talked with will not object to an extra tax. I will give $60.00 in work on the shelving of this end of the road from Salisbury, via Parnonburg and Pittsville to Willards."

MR. TILGHMAN'S VIEWS.

Mr. Wm. B. Tilghman, one of the most thoughtful and conservative men of the county, writes as follows:

Messrs. Editors:—In reference to the improvement of the public roads, I, like Mr. Perry, wish to see better ones, but I am not in favor of the appropriation of large sums of money to be expended under our present system.

Our roads leading East, West and South from Salisbury have been graded, straightened and shelled, and in consequence real estate contiguous to them has greatly increased in value, and travel been wonderfully facilitated. I should like to see the good work go on, and it seems to me that a law embodying the plan adopted in the building of these shell roads would be a practical one for the whole county. The plan in those cases was this—the owner of the property along the roads which have been improved and those who frequently traveled these roads, being directly benefited, got together and voluntarily pledged themselves, with the aid of the county, to make the improvement. The County Commissioners readily accepted the proposition and matched the private contribution with an equal sum from the county treasury. The work was done under the supervision of the men who raised the voluntary fund, and approved by the Commissioners.

I understand that the Commissioners have a standing order that whenever the people of any community in the county desire special improvement on any public road that will facilitate travel and enhance the value of property, and are disposed to raise a fund among themselves the county board will add an equal or larger sum to that fund to be expended by the citizens directly interested in the road to be improved.

It seems to me this same principle might be enacted into a law to apply to each district in the county, incorporated towns to be excluded, of course. Thus, when a majority of the taxpayers residing in any election district shall petition the County Commissioners to have a special road tax levied and collected in that district, the Commissioners shall do so and shall appropriate a like sum out of the public general funds to further the work. All such special improvements and expenditures of all the money so collected and appropriated, should be under the supervision of a special committee selected by the petitioners and tax payers of the said district.

The old and familiar quotation that "The gods help those who help themselves" would apply in this case. The more closely the taxpayers of any section can be brought in contact with the supervision of the roads in which they are immediately interested the more will be the interest and the greater the liberality in the matter of road improvement.

While the people of any community can now avail themselves of the standing offer of the county commissioners provided first the voluntary contributions have been forth coming, a district law down the lines here indicated would greatly lighten the burden of the progressive and public spirited citizen, who, if he be in a majority in his district, could by his vote pledge the district to the improvement and then the special road tax would become compulsory and all property in the district compelled to bear its proportionate share of the expense of the proposed public improvement.

It seems to me such a law would be practical, equitable and fairly satisfactory to the tax-payers of the county.

THE NEW ICE PLANT.

The Crystal Ice Company's New Factory Started Up.

A FINE COLD STORAGE CAPACITY.

The large up to date factory of the Crystal Ice Co. just completed, began freezing ice last Saturday morning to its full capacity. The plant is to run 24 hours per day seven days in the week and the product being turned out is of the finest quality. The plant is of the most modern design and its daily capacity is 15 tons of clear merchantable ice and in addition has refrigerating capacity sufficient to freeze two large storage rooms containing 80,000 cubic feet. These rooms are to be used for storing ice, fruits, eggs, meats, etc. and can be kept at any temperature desired, so that a block of ice pulled from the tanks and placed in them in the winter or spring will come out dry and full weight in July and August. These large storage rooms with other additional space adjacent will enable the company to store from 800 to 1,000 tons of ice which will place them in a position to fill orders of any size when the demand is heaviest. The machinery was furnished by the York Manufacturing Co. of York, Pa., one of the leading firms engaged in the manufacture of refrigerating machinery. The buildings are arranged to afford the greatest convenience in the making and handling of ice. The machinery consists of large upright compressors with Corliss engines attached, boiler of 80 horse power capacity, two ammonia condensers, two steam condensers, boiler, feed pump, one small engine to drive brine agitator, one large brine pump to circulate brine in the storage rooms which are heavily piped. The water is taken from four wells which produce an abundance of the finest water and is lifted from the wells by a large Davidson steam supply pump. The water is carried through various manipulations to eliminate all impurities going into steam and back into water. All oil is skimmed after being reboiled and is then drawn by a distilled water pump down into two long filters filled with sweet charcoal thence into the water cooling coils where it is cooled going into a large storage tank from which it is taken by hose attached to an automatic can filler to the cans. Under this system absolute purity is assured and is a feature of the plant. The Company is composed of Mr. W. F. Dusch of Norfolk and Mr. J. D. Price of this city who is general manager of the Company. Mr. Price stated to the ADVERTISER reporter that their first consideration will be the purity and quality of their ice. Mr. Price also stated that the concern begins business with good prospects of selling all the ice they will be able to make as it is a product that is becoming more and more a necessity every year. The factory is situated on the N. Y. P. & N. E. R. near their passenger depot and directly on Cemetery St., only a few yards from Church street and can be reached from the Main part of the town without crossing any railroad tracks. The Company have two wagons for local delivery which will deliver ice to all parts of Salisbury and will be in charge of Mr. George Collins. Coupon books have been provided for the convenience of their customers and can be had by application at the office or of the drivers. Their office is at the office of the Salisbury Lime & Coal Co. and their phone No. 38. The plant will cost when everything is completed between $15,000 and $20,000.

The Crystal Ice Company has the only cold storage of any magnitude on the lower peninsula. This should be made profitable to the owners as there is a growing demand for cold storage among fruit and meat dealers in all parts of the country.

Soils Of Maryland.

Washington, April 8.—The work of mapping the soils of Maryland, began some years ago by the Agricultural Department, has been resumed in co-operation with the Maryland Geological Survey, and it is understood that as the work is completed the maps and reports will be published by the two bureaus independently.

It is explained that the work serves as a basis for further investigation into the agricultural resources of the State and is intended to call attention to the possibilities of soils of one of the oldest agricultural communities in the country.

So far maps of Washington, Cecil, Kent, St. Mary's and Calvert counties have been completed, and Prince George's county will be mapped during the present field season. It is said that in one locality near West-phalia the party found seven different kinds of soil.

COURT STILL IN SESSION.

The Jones Damage Case Occupies The Entire Week—A Verdict Rendered For The Plaintiff Late Thursday Afternoon.

On Thursday of last week the case of Benjamin S. Jones against the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad Company was taken up—This was a suit brought by Jones against said Company for an alleged trespass on his lands by digging ditches along its line and causing water to flow down and overflow his land.

The land for which the trespass is claimed lies about four miles South of Pocomoke City, near the Great Dunn Swamp and about two miles west of the Railroad, and on the west side of the road leading to Wagram. Mr. Jones bought the land in 1889 and the Railroad put its ditches in 1892 to render its road bed safe, and flowed its water down a ditch or natural branch to the Wagram road, in one direction out to the half mile branch in the other direction, constructing their ditches so as to flow the water in accordance with the natural flow. It seems that the lowlands on Jones Farm, were overflowed, and he claims the flow of water had been increased in both quantity and rapidity of flow through the main ditch, which commences some two miles east of railroad and runs down to the railroad, through Dunn Swamp, through Jones' lands and through other lands to Lambdin Milldam from which the water ran into Pitts Creek, and so to the Pocomoke River. The question involved is of much importance, and every point was ably contested by the Counsel for the Plaintiff, and that of the Defendant, Miles, Standford, Ellegood and Ratcliff for Defendant, Melvin and Handy for Plaintiff.

The jury was given the case at quarter past four Thursday afternoon. At twenty minutes of five, they brought in a verdict for the plaintiff assessing the damages at $1235.

The Botkin Trial.

The cruel murder of Mrs. Dunning and Mrs. Deane, the daughters of former Congressman John B. Penington of Dover, which occurred on August 8, 1898, when the young women received a box of poison candy through the mail, was recalled last week when Attorney General Herbert H. Ward and Deputy Attorney General Robert H. Richards arrived in Dover armed with subpoenas from the people of California. The subpoenas, which are not effective, but are deemed more business-like to have in the procedure, summoning witnesses from one state to the other, are for the appearance of the sixteen Dover witnesses who went across the continent two years ago and testified in the case of the people of California against Mrs. Cordelia Botkin, who was afterward convicted of the murder of Mrs. Dunning by sending the poisoned candy through the mails. Having been granted a new trial, the defense is now pushing the state in the San Francisco courts for an early date for its beginning, and the prosecution seems powerless unless the hearty co-operation of the Delaware people is secured. The Delaware witnesses will leave for California sometime in July.—Smyrna Call.

Death of Mrs. Littleton.

Mrs. Anna Littleton, wife of Mr. Wm. D. Littleton of this place, died at her home on Baker street Thursday evening, March 28th, after an illness of several weeks from abscess of the lungs.

Mrs. Littleton was much loved by a large number of friends and had been a member of the Methodist Protestant Church for several years from which funeral services took place the following Saturday afternoon conducted by Rev. S. J. Smith, after which interment was made in Parsons cemetery. Deceased leaves a husband and four children, the two youngest of which are twins only six months old.

George Hudson Is Well.

Since our last issue George Hudson, the colored man who was first to take small pox, has recovered. He is now waiting on his wife, who has since contracted the disease while nursing him, and the other four cases which developed a week ago. They are William Purnell, colored, Purnell Evans, colored, all adults, and two grandchildren of the latter, with whom they lived.

There are in quarantine twelve persons, all colored, who were exposed to the contagion by association with the victims.

These are all the cases—one man recovered, five under Dr. Dick's treatment for the disease and twelve suspects, all safely guarded at the small pox "reservation" two miles from town.

The health authorities are making a rigid daily inspection of all parts of the town and contiguous country, and fear no spread of the disease. Only the colored people above reported have been afflicted with the contagion and no white person has, or is in much danger of having, it.

The general belief now is that Alex. Birkhead, a colored youth who came here several weeks ago from Cincinnati, Ohio, brought the infection to the town. The boy is a son of Greensbury Birkhead, who died several weeks ago, and an uncle of the grand children of Purnell Evans.

Young Birkhead's attack was so mild that no physician was called to attend him, which explains why he was not promptly discovered and quarantined. He was, however, sufficiently inoculated to transmit the disease to others.

The health board issues a daily bulletin, stating briefly but faithfully the facts pertaining to the progress of the disease. The physicians of Salisbury have been busy vaccinating the people.

Mr. Thomas R. Dawley is one of the few American correspondents who entered the camps of the Cuban Insurgents before our war with Spain, began. His letters on Cuba and Spain, written at that time, were widely read. After our war with Spain ended, Mr. Dawley took an interesting trip through the interior of Spain, and his observations there are told in an article called "By Diligencia to Granada" in this month's Magazine Number of The Outlook. The paper is illustrated. ($3 a year. The Outlook Company, 287 Fourth Avenue, New York.)

Ellicott City's new municipal administration will start out with no debt and a cash balance in the treasury of $1200. The Council will hereafter meet in the engine house, in order to encourage the public's attendance at the sessions.

At Muirkirk, Howard county, fire destroyed the barn on the farm of Charles E. Coffin, with 12,000 bushels of charcoal intended for use in the furnace at that place. The fire was caused by a locomotive spark; the loss $15,000 is covered by insurance.

The Maryland and Delaware Telephone Company, which owns the line from Quantico, Md. to Beloboth, Del., has been granted a franchise for the construction of a line in Cecil county to connect the various communities. The Company is said to desire an avenue for the extension of their system to Baltimore.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

No. 85. An answer to this question may be found in Pascal's Pensées. This author was quoted in last week's issue. He considers the death of Oliver Cromwell, which was brought about by a stone in the bladder, as being the greatest instance in history of momentous events flowing from a trivial cause.

No. 86. Salt has always been held in great honor as far back as the time of Pythagoras, who called it the emblem of justice. The modern superstition, however, is probably due to the fact that in Leonardo da Vinci's painting of the Last Supper, Judas is represented as over turning the salt-cellar. The custom of throwing salt over the left shoulder is derived from the notion that to point over the left shoulder is to contradict one's own words, and "over the left" is a general expression that invalidates anything of which it is said.

No. 87. The famous mathematician Euclid, upon being asked by Ptolemy Soter (who was his pupil and afterward king of Egypt) if geometry could not be made easier, replied, "There is no royal road to learning". Euclid, sometimes called the father of mathematics, was born at Alexandria about 300 B. C. He belonged to the Platonic school of philosophy, and taught mathematics in the famous school of Alexandria during the reign of Ptolemy Soter.

METHODIST PROTESTANTS.

Appointments Made for Another Year's Work.

The Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church adjourned at Easton last Tuesday after the conference appointments were announced. No place for holding the next conference was selected, the selection being left in the hands of a committee to report to the president hereafter.

The assessed salary of the president is $3,394, and it is $90 short. An excess of over $2,000 was paid in preachers' salaries, as found in the general summing of the statistics. Whether or not parsonage rent should be counted as a part of the preacher's salary was discussed.

One change was made in the board of trustees of the conference, which put Joseph H. Elliott in to fill a vacancy. Rev. Dr. E. J. Drinkhouse and T. Pliny Fisher, of Denton, were put on the board of directors of the Theological Seminary. It was determined that the Sunday Schools be organized as missionary bodies and that one collection a month should go to foreign missions.

Western Maryland College was recommended, and it was asked that wealthy people be solicited to add to the endowment fund, and that the first Sunday after Thanksgiving Day be observed in churches and Sunday Schools as college endowment day, moneys so raised to be invested by the college trustees for the benefit of the endowment fund.

At a meeting of the Superannuated Fund Society, after reports were read, these officers were chosen:

President, Rev. W. J. Neepier; vice-presidents, Revs. S. S. Straughn, Rev. J. W. Trough; secretary, Rev. A. N. Ward; corresponding secretary, Mr. A. W. Mather; board of managers, Rev. Dr. E. J. Drinkhouse, Rev. Dr. F. T. Tagg, Rev. J. M. Sheridan, Dr. Thomas O. Crouse, John G. Clarke, F. O. Murray, C. O. Benjamin, Harry C. Roberts.

JEFFERSON'S FAMOUS PLAY.

A Synopsis of the Rivals Which Will be Played in Salisbury April 22d.

"The Rivals," made famous by Joseph Jefferson, will be given in Uiman's Opera House on Tuesday, April 23d, by what is considered a very strong cast of amateurs, including some of the best talent of our city.

This play, which was written by the celebrated English wit and play wright Richard Brinsley Sheridan, author also of "The School for Scandal" is ranked with the classics. The scene is laid in England about 1774, and the play is noted for the brilliancy of its lines no less than for the absurdity of its situations. "Mrs. Malaprop" with her ridiculous blunders, her lengthy but misapplied words, "Fighting Bob" Acres who "kills his man a week" and is so anxious to do battle until the moment arrives, dashing "Sir Lucius O. Trigger," gallant "Capt. Absolute," and his frate father "Sir Anthony," who is so easily led—when he has his own way the saucy, self-willed and romantic "Lydia Languish," the object of rivalry, the jealous "Falkland," and his sweet long suffering but always loyal "Julia," "Lucy," the pert maid, with the crafty "Fag," who doesn't mind lying for his master if he isn't found out, and the cowardly "David," who thinks that the surest way not to disgrace one's ancestors is to keep as long as possible out of their company, are all characters who have been enjoyed and laughed at by generations of theatre goers, and have been played many times by stars.

Jefferson, who is now, and who has been for years playing "The Rivals" has made the character of "Bob Acres" world renowned, and selected this play a few years ago for an all Star production when it was given in the principal cities of the country with great magnificence to immense audiences. Mr. John Drew playing "Mrs. Malaprop," Nat Goodwin "Sir Lucius O. Trigger," Julia Marlowe "Lydia Languish," her husband, Robert Tabor "Capt. Absolute," John Drew "Sir Anthony," the Holland Brothers "Fag" and "Falkland," and Francis Wilson "David." So successful was this production that the entire expenses including the magnificent scenery and costumes were paid for by the performances in three cities alone. Jefferson is now playing "The Rivals" in Florida on his way North.

While of course not attempting to compete with the performance of the above named Stars, the Salisbury production of this play should be interesting to our people on account of the appearance in it of home talent. Mr. Cassius M. Dashiell, who will play "Bob Acres" is familiar to Salisbury audiences through his extremely clever acting in "Emeralda" and "The Kettle of Fish," and his inimitable rendering of the famous duel scene with "Sir Lucius" will be one of the features of the play. The skill of Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, who is cast for "Sir Anthony Absolute," is also well known as he has frequently appeared here with delight to all who appreciate humorous acting. The other characters are well selected and the performance promises to be a finished whole.

One of the specially attractive features of the play are the costumes, of the time of George III, the powdered hair, patches and Watteau gown of the women and the wigs, satin coats, lace ruffles and knee breeches of the men presenting a most artistic stage picture.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by K. K. Truitt.

The dwelling house of Bernard Kin-sell, at Fairview, Washington county was damaged from blasting rock in the cellar. Fragments were driven through two floors, wrecking the furniture. Fortunately, the family of the owner took the precaution to vacate the house before he lit the fuse.

The well on the Elkton fair grounds for the new ice plant has reached the depth of 225 feet, where a stratum of hard rock has been struck. It is thought that when that has been drilled through water will be found plentiful.

The tenth anniversary of the Singery Fire Engine Company, of Elkton, was celebrated on Tuesday evening with a banquet held in the Town Council Hall. Music was furnished by the Elkton Orchestra, and a number of addresses were made by citizens.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years, have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Anderson Biggs of Sunny Lane, Tex. Thousands have testified as did Mr. Biggs. Dr. L. D. Collier.

SAVE YOUR HAIR

With Shampoos of Cuticura Soap and Light Dressings of Cuticura

This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap

Assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used them to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp and hair of infants and children. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap and the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY

Who are Using Home Comfort Ranges.

Salisbury, Md., January 21, 1900.

Gentlemen:—This is to certify that we purchased one of your Home Comfort Ranges No. 1 about 18 years ago and wish to say that we consider it one of the most durable and satisfactory of kitchen ranges, and heartily recommend them to any one wishing anything in the line of a cooking range. We would not be willing to part with it if we could not get another. For durability and as a good baker, and for all purposes, we do not think they could be surpassed.

JAMES A. WALLER,
ELIJAH J. ADKINS.

Salisbury, Md., January 17, 1901.

Wrought Iron Range Company.

Gentlemen:—I have been using one of your Home Comfort Ranges for the past seventeen years, and can cheerfully recommend it as one of the most durable and reliable of all kitchen stoves. We would not want to part with it under any circumstances if we could not get another. This letter you may use in any way you think best for your business.

JAMES H. WEST.

Salisbury, Md., January 22, 1901.

This is to certify that I purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of the Wrought Iron Range Co's traveling salesmen, some six years ago. I find the range in all particulars as represented by the salesman. It is all that could be desired in a first-class cooking range, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of a cooking range.

WM. S. HASTINGS.

Salisbury, Md., February 19, 1901.

Wrought Iron Range Company.

It affords me great pleasure to recommend your Home Comfort Range. I purchased one from your traveling salesman six years ago, and it is giving us perfect satisfaction. It is a splendid stove, and very economical on fuel. We would not take twice the amount paid for it if we could not get another like it.

JOHN W. PARKER of L.

Collingwood, Ont., 11th July, 1900.

W. L. Culver, Esq.,

President Wrought Iron Range Co.,

St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Sir:—

We are in receipt of your favor of June 18th, which we regret to say was mislaid. We have great pleasure in stating that your range is in use on six of the eight steamers of the fleet and that they have given perfect satisfaction in every way, both as to their durability and working qualities, which have been tested to the utmost.

In the fall of '98 our steamer Pacific was totally destroyed by fire at the dock, which originated at the G. T. Ry. warehouse, and although the steamer was burnt to the keel the Wrought Iron Range on board was found in such good condition that it was used on our new steamer Germania, which was built the following season to take place of Pacific. There was practically nothing wrong with the stove except discoloration and marks consequent upon the action of intense heat and water.

The steamers using your ranges are Ma-jestic, Collingwood, Germania, Atlantic, Britannic and Midland. Very truly,

FOR GOOD HEALTH.

You Must Have Pure Blood and to Have Good Food You Must Have Proper Medicine and that Medicine is Truitt's Compound of Herbs.

No household should be without our Wonderful Blood and Nerve tonic. It is nature's own remedy. This condense combination of herbs is a powerful blood builder, creating healthy flesh rapidly bringing back the bloom of youth to pale and fallow people. A wonderful restorative to the nerves giving health strength and vigor to the weak and emaciated. It cures all diseases arising from poor and watery blood or shattered nerve forces, if not too long standing and past curative power. Truitt's Compound of Herbs cures by building up and restoring the lost powers and strength to the nerves and by making the blood rich and pure distributing it equally throughout the body, thus stopping the cause of disease. For further particulars address Truitt & Company, Berlin, N. J.

We want agents everywhere to handle our remedies. Big offers for 1901 are now being made. Nearly one half profit.

Don't Hesitate.

There is just one thing to use if your stomach is "out of order" and that "one thing" is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The supposition is that you want a prompt cure and a lasting cure. That is why the "Discovery" is recommended as the one thing for your condition. It cures promptly, perfectly and permanently, diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It's sure to help. It's almost sure to cure. It has completely cured ninety-eight per cent. of all those who have given it a fair and faithful trial.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connelly, of 335 Walnut St., Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad that I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bleed, and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city but got no help whatever. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others dyspepsia. I have bought and tried everything I saw advertised for dyspepsia and stomach trouble, but continued to get worse all the time. About twelve months ago I was in such a condition that my friends had some fear about my recovery. It was then I wrote you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the liver.

"DAWN OF REAL SOUTH"

Col J. S. Mosby Says It Will Be the Dominant Section.

Leslie's Weekly prints a paper by Col. John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate guerrilla chief, on "The Dawn of the Real South," in which he says:

"The real South is just at its birth. The growth of this child of the nation may be gradual, but in the end the South will be far richer and more powerful than the North. In the days to come the South will become the dominant section of the country."

"Without the war of secession the South could never have hoped to attain the future that is now certain. Slavery was a great incubus, paralyzing natural energy. By abolishing this wrong our war benefitted every State south of the Mason and Dixon line. The negroes are producing more as freemen than they ever did as slaves, and the great mass of the people are vastly better off today than they were under the old ante bellum system."

"Socially, as well as industrially, the abolition of slavery was highly beneficial in its results to the masses for slavery was a great wrong and no community can exist in the highest state of happiness when its system is based on a wrong."

"There are the soundest reasons for asserting that the negroes' status is bound to improve. While they are not as near to equality with white people as they were under the system of slavery, they are certain to be absorbed by immigration, and in this engulfment they will disappear. This is the natural and wisest solution of what we now call the 'race problem.'"

"Richmond is the city most likely to become in time the banking center and commercial headquarters of this country and therefore of the world. The days of that famous old city as a political capital are past; but its career as the central point of manufacture for the whole South, and from there for the world at large, is just beginning."

"While great forces have been working for the change industrially and socially, the political change is hardly less marked. It is well nigh folly to day to speak of the 'Solid South.' That, by the way, was a phrase of my own invention. When Hayes became the Republican candidate for President I urged, in a letter in August, 1876, that it was better for some Southern men to support him because, if he were elected, his administration must necessarily rest on whatever supported it. It was better for the Southern people to divide between the parties so that no matter which side won, there would be men friendly to Southern people who would control its Southern policy. This contention is fully realized today and the 'Solid South' belongs wholly to the political past."

FATTENED BY TRUSTS.

How New Jersey Has Profited by Its Incorporation Law.

At the end of the fiscal year in 1870 the State of New Jersey had to its credit a balance of only $2,760, says the Trenton, N. J., special. Today there is a balance of $1,000,000, with another million in sight for the fiscal year ending November, 1901. The check for over $220,000 received the other day from J. P. Morgan for the incorporation under the liberal laws of the State of the United States Steel Corporation shows the source of New Jersey's increased income.

Two additions have been built to the State House, the State Prison has a new wing, the insane hospitals are now equal to any, a half million dollar reformatory stands an ornament to Rahway, a home has been provided for feeble-minded women, and a village has been established for epileptics. A new home for soldiers and sailors is another asset, and all State institutions have undergone repairs during the past few years.

The month of March this year broke all records for incorporations. Ten charters were issued daily on the average, and a tax of $50,000 collected each 24 hours. During the past two years 4,168 certificates of incorporation were filed with the State, an average of six a day, including Sundays.

While the total of incorporations in 1900 was $1,850,298,485, the total to date, for 1901, exceeds that amount, with a fair promise of reaching the two billion dollar mark.

HERE AND THERE.

London as a Model of Municipal Administration.

In view of the age of the city of London, which can now look back nearly two thousand years, its physical limitations, its ancient prejudices and ingrained abuses the London County Council is pronounced by Mr. Frederic Harrison, the eminent publicist, "the most democratic body in the world." Composed in almost equal proportions of representatives of each of the various classes of the English people, it has worked for 12 years harmoniously. Not a shadow of aristocratic exclusiveness has ever shown itself. John Burns, the leader of the workingmen, to whom Mr. Harrison refers as "one of the most respected men we have in our country," sits at the side of the Duke of Norfolk, the head of the British aristocracy, and both give themselves unreservedly to the work in hand.

One of the 139 members of the Council there are 12 or 14 peers, an equal number of workingmen, with lawyers, bankers, manufacturers, artists, soldiers, shopkeepers and a few builders. No member gets a penny of pay—not even a cup of tea or an allowance for personal expenses—with the single exception of the deputy chairman, who is obliged to be on hand all day. And, what is still more noteworthy, not a member has ever tried to use his position for any pecuniary advantage. The very suspicion of such an effort would ruin the one suspected for life. Moreover, no outsider has ever ventured to approach any councillor with the suggestion of a bribe. The enormous influence of this governing body throughout the whole of England is due to this public spirit. The Council has from the first convinced the people of its real purity of action, its rigid economy and its loyal devotion to the public interest. No jobbery of any sort has ever been suspected.

As an illustration of this point Mr. Harrison cites his own experience as the chairman of the committee on new streets. It was he who projected the great avenue which is now being constructed between Holborn and the Strand. Of necessity this project was discussed for several years before it was settled. Innumerable private interests were involved in the scheme, as acres of land were to be cleared. Yet during the whole period of discussion no suggestion of what would be called in this country a "deal" with any member of the committee ever reached the ears of the chairman. The street was laid out for the public good, and private interests yielded under the influence of the disinterestedness of the Council.

Such a story as this seems almost too good to be true. The lessons to be deduced from it are obvious. Such a governing body in an American city would soon work wonders. Not having the physical difficulties which London must meet and without the mass of hereditary privileges such as those which center in the corporation of the city of London proper, our cities have a remarkable opportunity to reveal to the world what municipal life may be. Once give us the unselfish public spirit and progress will be fast. It is one of the hopes from this era of prosperity that more of our ablest men are going to feel that they can give some time to public work for their municipalities. Mr. Harrison refrains absolutely from the slightest hint that the situation in our American cities is in any degree less creditable or that our governing bodies ever show any less devotion to the public welfare. It is an instance where silence is more impressive than comment.—Boston Transcript.

A Testimonial from Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by R. K. Truitt.

THE PEOPLE KNEW HIM.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Soldier.)

George Washington made and sold flour, and every barrel of flour in the market branded "G. Washington, Mount Vernon," sold without delay. No question was ever raised as to quality or weight.

Benson's Plaster is sold on its reputation everywhere. All the buyer wants to be certain of is that the plaster offered him really is Benson's, and not a worthless imitation of it or substitute for it.

A plaster is the best form of external remedy, and Benson's is the best plaster; 5,000 physicians and druggists, and a multitude of people no man can number, have settled that. "You can trust it," they say.

Coughs, colds, lame back, lumbago, muscular stiffness and rheumatism, troubles of the liver and kidneys, influenza or grip, pneumonia, and all other diseases open to external treatment, are at once relieved and cured by Benson's Plaster.

Do not assume that Belladonna, Capsicum or Strengthening plasters are "just as good as" Benson's. They are vastly inferior.—No other plaster is as good as Benson's.

In competition with the best-known plasters of Europe and America, Benson's have received fifty-five highest awards.

For sale at all druggists or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 25c. each. Benson & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N.Y.

strengthen the female organs and invigorate weakened functions. For every female ill or weakness it is the best medicine made. Ask your druggist for $1.00 bottle Wine of Cardui, and take no substitute under any circumstances.

Mrs. Edwin Cram, Gorman, Mich.: "When I commenced using Wine of Cardui I was hardly able to walk across the house. Two weeks after I walked a mile and picked strawberries. When my child was born I delivered with labor pains 24 hours, and had to raise him on a bottle because I had no milk. After using the Wine during pregnancy this time, I gave birth last month with but little pain, and was in labor only two hours, with but little pain. I have plenty of milk. For this great improvement in my health I thank God and Wine of Cardui."

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness. Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 55 Warren Street, New York.

IN HARMONY

In Nature at this season of the year, when budding buds and flowers vie with the sweet chorus of the songsters of the air.

Produce a chord of harmony at the fire-side and bring cheer and happiness to all. The day is rapidly coming when a home without a piano will be an exception. Procure a STEIFF PIANO and make your own home happy.

QUARANTINE RAISED AT MIDNIGHT.

Ocean City, in common with Berlin, Delmar and some other neighboring towns, several days ago quarantined against Salisbury on account of the small-pox scare. Last Thursday night a fire broke out on the Ocean front at Ocean City and some time after midnight Mayor Disharoon of Salisbury was aroused from the peaceful slumbers which all good men should enjoy, by a violent ringing of the telephone bell in his house. Crawling out to see what the trouble might be, he got a message, in purport as follows:—"Please send with all possible dispatch your fire apparatus; Ocean City is burning. (signed) citizens of Ocean City." Instead of answering back in substance about as follows: "Can't do it, Ocean City is quarantined against Salisbury," he, like the charitable man that he is, put on his street clothes and began arrangements for the dispatch of part of the Salisbury department to the succor of the threatened town. A later message to the effect that the town was out of danger came in time to stop the preparations for the trip.

This incident serves to show that the authorities at Ocean City were not so afraid of Salisbury's half dozen mild cases of small-pox after all, and the question very naturally arises would Delmar, Princess Anne or Berlin, be, if a fire should threaten destruction to their homes and property? Doubtless all of them would lose sight of the remote possibility of contagion, and, like Ocean City, send up the Macedonian cry "come over and help us." Should the cry be heard it will have the same generous response as did Ocean City, but the people of Salisbury do mildly protest against the senseless fright which our neighbors affect to feel, and in view of the fact the local authorities are doing everything possible to confine the infection, and, we are glad to say, with gratifying success, the ADVERTISER recommends to these towns that they go Ocean City one better and make a voluntary change of front.

We are not advocating reckless exposure to a contagious disease. On the other hand we commend the wise precaution which a majority of our people are exercising, but in the interest of the public peace of mind and the preservation of the natural order of human events, let us meet the condition in a rational way. The danger of a spread of the disease is growing daily less; perhaps it is already past. With the health officers on the alert grappling manfully with the disease and the season for warm weather already here, we believe its "days are numbered." If we feared a spread of the disease we solemnly declare the ADVERTISER would warn the people.

ABOUT AN HONEST BALLOT

The Philadelphia Times asks: What's the matter with the machine organs of Pennsylvania that makes them so fiercely criticize the new ballot law just enacted in Maryland by a Democratic administration? They howl about the disfranchisement of the negro when the law is to be administered strictly on non-partisan lines, with a Democrat and Republican to pass upon every question relating to the right of suffrage.

The machine leaders of Pennsylvania should be made to understand that what they call the Democratic ballot law of Maryland is simply an exact copy of the Republican ballot law of Massachusetts. In that State the ballot consists of a single column with the names of all the candidates grouped under the head of the office for which they are presented, with the political designation following the name, and the voter marks in the square opposite the name to indicate his choice. No man is permitted to take a helper into the booth unless he is absolutely physically disqualified to mark his ballot, and that is just what the law of Maryland requires.

If the machine leaders of Pennsylvania would give the people of this State an honest ballot law, as they have long promised and always violated their promises, they would follow precisely in the line of the Republican Massachusetts and the Democratic Maryland ballot law. If the purchase of votes is to be stopped by law no man should be allowed to take any person into the booth with him to mark his ballot unless he is blind or paralyzed. We have had enough of machine deceit about honest elections, and instead of criticizing the Democratic law of Maryland let the machine leaders of Pennsylvania be honest for once, if only for the sake of reference, and give the people of Pennsylvania, as their pledges require, the straight Australian ballot law.

ENCOURAGEMENT EVERYWHERE.

The recent elections throughout the country have been decidedly in favor of the Democrats. They have not been confined to one section of the country but extend from Maine to the large cities in the West. The Philadelphia Times comments on the results as follows:

"Mr. McKinley has never been entirely popular down in Maine and the special election for a successor to Congressman Boutelle indicates that it is growing less so. Mr. Boutelle carried the district last fall by 10,000 majority. Llewellyn Powers thinks he is fortunate if his present majority shall foot up 3,000.

Bangor, which gave Boutelle nearly 900, goes for the Democratic candidate now by 660. The Democrats seem to have made positive gains throughout the district, while the Republican vote is everywhere reduced.

This by election in Maine is significant in connection with the nearly uniform Democratic successes in the local elections in the cities and towns through the West. An election for Congress is more directly a test of political sentiment, and while the Republicans still hold the Bangor district, a corresponding change would lose them many districts throughout the country and make the House of Representatives Democratic.

The next Congressional election is too far ahead for speculation. These straw polls indicate only present currents. But they all indicate that 1901 is a Democratic year, if the Democratic party will but avail itself of the prevailing Republican disgust."

—The Baltimore Sun Says: The new Election law in Maryland has been denounced by some partisans here at home in extreme and hysterical language as a cheat and a fraud, and yet, strangely enough, the real reformers in Pennsylvania, led by the Philadelphia Ledger, are advocating that same law for that State. Referring to a new bill formulated by Mr. Gaffey, the Democratic leader in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Ledger says:

The bill does away with the party circle and the party column, conforms in every essential with the Massachusetts plan, so acceptable to ballot reformers generally, and refuses assistance in marking the ballots to all persons whose disability is not real. Such a ballot is fair and a manifest reform. It places all citizens on the same plane, the Republican with the Democrat, the partisan with the independent, and promotes secrecy to the fullest extent.

—The Directors of the Chester Loan Association of Chestertown, Md., which institution was recently wrecked by the misappropriation of some fifty thousand dollars of its funds by a trusted officer, now come forward and state that they will make good the loss out of their own pockets. This is surely noble generosity and they should be accorded all praise for the liberal spirit they have manifested. They were in no way legally responsible and their action was prompted by the pride they had always had in the institution. One of the directors said: "While we were conscious of perfect innocence of any fault ourselves or any dereliction of duty, except possibly in one point, we know that our names had given confidence in its character and usefulness for many years, and, necessarily, we would come in for a full measure of its downfall?"

—Mr. Gorman has this to say of the illiterate colored population of our State: "We have had the most perfect system of public schools for the past thirty years of any State south of Pennsylvania. Since 1870 the colored population have had ample opportunity to learn to read and write by means of the schools furnished by the white taxpayers of Maryland. And, if after these years of honest effort on the part of the white people in supporting these schools at their own expense, there are, as is claimed, 26,000 of them who cannot read or write the fault can only be attributed to their lack of desire to obtain knowledge. If they prefer to remain in ignorance there is no way to compel them to learn, unless the incentive to vote may hereafter encourage them to attend the schools."

—We are glad to note that Mr. Arthur F. Haddaway, of the Eastern Ledger, who has been under treatment for kidney trouble at the City Hospital, Baltimore, since the first of the year, has improved sufficiently to return to his home in Easton. We hope the day of his complete recovery is near at hand.

—The fire at Ocean City last Thursday night destroyed the property of Wm. Rayne, and Cropper's building on the Ocean front, below the Atlantic hotel. An ice house behind these buildings was burned, and the agent at Ocean City, Mr. Scott, lost his household furniture. The total loss amounts to several thousand dollars, with only $800 insurance—on Rayne's furniture.

Lizzie Campbell, who shot and killed Chesterfield Tilghman near Centerville declares that she did not know that the shot gun which she used was loaded, but the man with whom she lives claims that she saw him load the piece the very night before the tragedy. The woman occupies a cell directly above that of the convicted murderer, Matthew Cheers.

—The number of fine horses in Salisbury has just been increased by the purchase, made a few days ago by Mr. George R. Collier and Mr. Robert P. Graham. Mr. Collier's acquisition is a fast trotting roan mare, seven or eight years old. Mr. Graham, in the purchase of an eight year old sorrel gelding, introduces what the town could never before boast of—a gaited saddle horse. At this work he is what an enthusiast would call a "dream". To a buggy he can trot his mile in 2.40 or thereabouts, and he is an excellent roadster. As Mr. Graham expresses it, he is two horses in one—a rare combination.

Our Corset News
Specialties in Corsets

We are sole agents for this city of the famous CRESCO CORSETS. CANNOT BREAK AT THE WAIST.

Cresco.

The Cresco combines all the good features of other good corsets, and has this distinct feature of its own which corset makers have been vainly trying for years to embody. By a smoothly adjusted disconnection at the front waist line IT CANNOT BREAK. The Cresco is made to fit any form and insures ease and comfort to the wearer. Wear it once and it wins you. You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine the CRESCO—have its merits explained to you.

R & G

STRAIGHT FRONT CORSET

The corset you have seen advertised so much in the magazines and newspapers. We have the really straight front corset which as will be seen by illustration is wonderfully graceful and shapely. The P. N. corset, Thomson's Glove Fitting and Dr. Warner's Health; also a number of other corsets are shown in our corset department. You get satisfaction with our corsets of a new corset.

WE KNOW
AND YOU WILL KNOW

When once you wear Lacy Thoroughgood's clothing, that it is decidedly better than any other make. It is better because it is made as only good clothing can be made, by having the insides honestly tailored. It's true these parts are between the lining and the cloth—you cannot see them, but do you know that these parts [the insides] are the most essential features to give a garment permanent perfect fit and wear satisfaction? That is why ordinary clothing, void of these essentials, never gives satisfaction. The coat will wrinkle and curl, it soon loses its shape; in fact, has no style or character. Lacy Thoroughgood's clothing is made with a strict regard for the inside tailoring. It is a pleasure for Thoroughgood to show this kind of clothing. Lacy Thoroughgood's prices are no higher than other stores ask for the inferior kind. How can Thoroughgood do it? Simply this: Thoroughgood is satisfied to sell good clothing on a small margin of profit. Every garment Thoroughgood sells creates a new and lasting customer. Progressive way of doing business, don't you think? Thoroughgood's stock of Men's clothing for Spring and Summer is now at its best. Thoroughgood will be pleased to have you call. The pockets, the white linen strips and the canvas running over part of the pocket firmly holds it in position, a sure protection against sagging and pulling the coat out of shape. The lapel—the many stitches are put in by hand and each drawn to its proper tension, guaranteeing solidity and permanent shape. THE COLLARS. The perfect fitting qualities of the collars on all of Thoroughgood's garments must be attributed to skilled workmanship, thousands of silk stitches, many more than you will find in any other clothing. Thoroughgood's coat collars have the strength to fit close to the neck, a little wearing will not soften it and cause it to lose its shape, as poorly made collars invariably do. THE BUTTONS. What a sight to have buttons dangling from your clothes by a single thread. It's a common fault with most ready-to-wear clothing. The Buttons on Thoroughgood's clothing is sewed with the best linen thread, and its there to stay. Lacy Thoroughgood sells the best clothing in Salisbury.

Opening

was a great surprise to everyone. Such a fine display of hats, bonnets, flowers and laces was never seen on this peninsula before. Each of the large cities contributed their share and the result was that our Opening was one great success from start to finish.

As new effects in the Millinery line come out they will all be found in our millinery parlors. We will lead, others may follow.

der bus and fired at the hawk, but the bird of prey flew with a smile on his bill and his bill of fare. The little horse left too for he thought that heaven and earth had come together when the blunder bus "went off." He ran out in the field, sniffed the air, made a circle or two and proceeded to do damage to everything that he saw. He smashed the barn yard gate and gate posts, splintered his iron neck tie (hames), tied the iron axles of the wagon into double bow knots, moved a corn house containing two hundred bushels of corn, off its props, ran over a drive pump, (85 feet in the ground) pulled it up and some say that he wound up by turning Charlie's back field "squarely around." We cannot vouch for the latter performance, but Charlie says that the horse certainly performed the other miracles, and that Mrs. Nation wants him for saloon-work. Thus ends the story of the run-away.

It would appear to most people in these latitudes that winter was just beginning. Let us call to mind that the mid winter day has passed sometime ago and the sun is travelling north with the northern declination increasing each twenty-four hours and stop grumbling.

DELMAR

The concert given last Friday evening for the benefit of the Delmar Cornet Band was very successful, both financially and artistically. All that took part were at their best, and kept the large and appreciative audience in a merry mood for three hours. The band was ably directed by Prof. H. G. Frankfield, and rendered their selections with much credit to themselves and their director. "Helen's Dream," one of the selections, was composed by the Professor while in Delmar, and named after one of our pretty young ladies. While space does not permit us to mention all who took part in the concert, we especially mention the duet by the Misses Kenninger, with baritone and tenor accompaniments, the quartet that sang "My Old Kentucky Home," and Master Johnnie Ewell, who kept the audience in an uproar by his comic recitations.

The Delmar Cornet Band on Saturday evening entertained in honor of Prof. Frankfield those who assisted in the concert the evening before. The band gave an open air concert, after which they proceeded to the band room. At eleven o'clock ice cream and cake were served. The guests then bid "Uncle Harry" and the band good night. Many saw Mr. Frankfield off on the 1.08 train Sunday morning the boys telling him that they were going to send for him again before the leaves turn brown. The professor, by his genial and warm hearted manner, and his well known ability as a musician, made many friends during his stay of two weeks in our town.

Miss Cleve E. Hearn, of Fruitland, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in town.

Miss Delta Ward, who has been spending several weeks with her mother at Cherrystone, Va., returned home Monday.

Miss May Beauchamp spent a few days recently with her parents, near Pocomoke City.

The Board of Health has posted notices quarantining the town of Delmar, Del., against Salisbury, Seaford, Bethel and Concord. The small-pox scare is causing a little excitement, and quite a number are being vaccinated. "Don't touch my arm" is a familiar expression.

The millinery trade has had quite a bloom for the last few weeks. Many beautiful hats were worn for the first time Sunday. The ladies of Delmar are fast becoming known as the best dressed ladies on the peninsula.

Two clarinets have been added to the instruments owned by the Delmar Cornet Band.

W. B. Elliott has this week renovated his store preparatory to embarking in the confectionery and soft drinks business. Mr. Elliott decided that the meat and grocery business was not a paying one.

The new bunk room furnished the employees of the P. W. & B. R. R. has been opened.

The wires of the Postal Telegraph Company, which is running a telegraph line down the peninsula in opposition to the Western Union Telegraph Company, have been run through Delmar. A site for an office has not yet been secured, so far as is known.

Mrs. E. M. Carpenter and son, Harry, of Crisfield, but who formerly resided in Delmar, spent a few days in town this week.

S. N. Culver has had the interior of his store painted. "Sammy" has one of the neatest stores in town.

The bank was closed Friday it being a holiday.

The two rural free delivery routes that are run from the Delmar postoffice carry a large quantity of mail.

Twenty additional street lamps have been purchased and placed in position on the Maryland side of the town. New street crossings have also been made. The improvements came none too soon.

Mr. Ray German has been sick this week.

Mr. J. M. Hearn will fit his barber shop up with new chairs, pictures, etc.

Mr. M. H. German and family spent Sunday in Sharptown.

Miss Mamie Parker of Berlin, spent a few days this week with Miss Helen Trull.

Mr. Stanford Toadvine, of Fruitland, is in town almost every Sunday evening. For further information apply to him.

Mr. Burton Culver and family, who have been living about two miles from town moved here Wednesday.

Mr. Willard S. Ellis returned home Tuesday from Easton, Md., where he went as delegate to the M. P. Conference.

Mr. Victor Hitchens, of Philadelphia spent the Easter holidays with his parents.

Mrs. W. S. Hitchens of Philadelphia, visited her sister, Mrs. J. W. Hastings, this week.

Mr. Wm. H. Downs, one of the builders of the proposed new flour mill in Delmar, has moved on Elizabeth Street.

Alda, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carey died a few days ago. Services were held in the M. P. Church by Rev. W. W. Sharp.

Miss Fannie Calloway has returned home from a visit to friends in Salisbury.

Special Easter services were held in the M. E. and P. E. Churches Sunday. Rev. Mr. Sharp of the M. E. church, preached his first sermon after his return from conference.

No services were held in the M. P. Church, owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. E. Ewell, who was attending conference at Easton.

Wind has made this week a very disagreeable one. It reminded one more of March than April.

The time for holding the Sunday evening services in the M. E. Church has been changed from 7 o'clock to 7.30.

The boys are now talking of baseball for the season of 1901. An effort will soon be made to arrange a series of games with the Salisbury Y. M. C. A. team.

QUANTICO

One of the prettiest weddings that has ever occurred in town was solemnized in the P. E. Church on Tuesday morning at 8.30. The contracting parties were Miss Bernice Cooper, a beautiful and attractive young lady, a progressive and popular teacher near town, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooper of Allen and Mr. George Marion Messick a prosperous farmer, packer and merchant, a few miles from Quantico. The bride approached the altar by the main aisle of the church accompanied by her brother, Mr. Clifford Cooper, who gave her away. The groom and his attendant, Mr. Herbert Messick, advanced to the altar from the vestryroom. The bride was attired in a travelling gown of biscuit broadcloth with Dresden and Liberty silk trimmings, having hat and gloves to match and carried a bunch of hyacinths. The groom, his attendant, and Mr. Cooper wore the conventional dress, consisting of black coat and light trousers and wearing a button hole bouquet of a white rose. Miss Agnes Taylor, the talented organist of the P. E. Church, presided at the organ and Rev. F. B. Adkins performed the ceremony. Immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Messick were driven to Hebron whence they took the train for Northern cities. On their return they will reside on "Poplar Hill Farm" near Royal Oak. The ADVERTISER correspondent with people of town extend hearty congratulations to them.

Miss Susie Gale entertained the young ladies and gentlemen of Quantico at her home on Wednesday evening in honor of her guests the Misses Ethel Malone and Carrie Huffington of Allen. Musical selections were rendered by the Misses Elsie Gordy and Ethel Malone and various games added to the evening's enjoyment. Those present were, Misses Mae Graham, Nellie Brady, Maude Humphreys, Myrtle Phillips, Maude Collier, Elsie and Myrtle Gordy and Agnes, Kate and Nannie Taylor and Messrs. Harry Jones, Guy Crawford, Walter Humphreys, Jno. Graham, Clifford and Byrd Taylor and Walter Huffington.

On Thursday evening the young folks of town spent a pleasant evening at the home of Miss Agnes Taylor near town. The evening was enlivened by both instrumental and vocal music and various social games were indulged in. At 10.30 light refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Maude Collier, Susie Gale, Myrtle Phillips, Nellie Graham and Elsie and Myrtle Gordy from Quantico and the Misses Carrie Huffington and Ethel Malone from Allen and Messrs. Guy Crawford, Harry Jones, Clifford and Byrd Taylor, John Graham and Walter Huffington.

Mr. Harold Boston of Philadelphia, spent the Easter holidays with his parents in town.

The Misses Nannie Taylor, Nellie Brady and Susie Gale spent the Easter holidays with friends in and near Allen.

Owing to the prolonged absence of postmaster T. M. Venables the office is in charge of his assistant Ira A. Diaharon who is a very obliging and quite popular official.

Messrs. G. C. Bounds, Clifford and Byrd Taylor spent Sunday with friends at Whyanland.

Miss Aurelia Banks of Rockawalking is visiting her sister Mrs. Jno. Bailey at the Quantico hotel.

By the action of the M. P. Conference the Rev. F. L. Stevens is removed from our midst. The going of Mr. Stevens is universally regretted as during his stay of two years on this circuit he has proven his perfect consecration to the work, himself to be a good pastor and an excellent citizen. The good wishes of our townspeople will follow him and his family to their new charge.

Mr. Elmer Diaharon is in Baltimore purchasing his spring and summer stock of goods.

Mrs. W. B. Phillips and her daughter Miss Lulu, who had been in Baltimore, for a few days returned to their home in town Wednesday.

Religious services in town next Sunday as follows: In the P. E. Church "sunrise" service and preaching at 7.30 in the evening; in the M. E. Church, preaching at 10.30 and Epworth League at 6.45; in the M. P. Church preaching at 7.30 by Rev. F. L. Stevens the retiring pastor.

SHARPTOWN

Mrs. Isabel Cooper died at her home on Water Street on Monday at the age of eighty-three years. She was sick only a few days, but had been quite feeble for several months. She was the surviving widow of the late Hiram

B. Cooper. She leaves several grown sons and daughters. She was many years a member of the M. E. Church and was held in high regard. She was considered a very good woman.

Wm. T. Elliott, of White Haven came to town on Tuesday, accompanied by D. J. Elliott and has rented the Twilley property on Main Street and gone into the mercantile business. He will make a specialty of clothing and shoes. He comes well recommended and is well received here. He succeeds the firm of B. A. Gravenor & Co.

N. T. Grayson, Jr., has begun the erection of a handsome residence on Main Street. He expects to have it ready for occupancy soon.

Miss Nannie Wright of this town has been given the principalship of Riverton school, vice Prof. J. W. Humphreys resigned. Miss Bernice Cooper succeeds Miss Wright as assistant.

John H. Smith has improved his store house on Main Street.

Rev. A. W. Matther has been returned here as Methodist Protestant pastor for the third year.

George R. Fletcher saved his fingers with a circular saw at the railway on Thursday.

Joseph W. Smith has painted his store house on Main Street, this week.

Prof. Jas. O. Adams has been attending the grand lodge K of P. this week, which met in Baltimore.

The M. E. Church was decorated for Easter occasion.

Mrs. Donnie J. Nelson on behalf of the Mite Society of the M. E. Church, presented the church with two very handsome silver collection plates, a few days ago. They were used for the first time Sunday last.

"The Daughters of Rebecca" have purchased very pretty badges.

The daily mail from here to Seaford was resumed on Monday, having been discontinued for three weeks, on account of the small pox reports in that town. It leaves here at five o'clock a.m.

Mrs. Nannie E. Adams is having a very large front porch built to her residence on Church Street.

Capt. F. C. Robinson and family of Baltimore are visiting their many friends in town.

The large four mast vessel in course of erection at the railway is now getting in fine shape as well as appearance. A great many people come from far and near to see her. In size and appearance she surpasses any vessel ever seen here. If weather continues good she will be launched in about four or five weeks, due notice of which will be given.

FRUITLAND

Miss Mamie Howes of Baltimore is the welcome guest of her sister, Mrs. Asbury Hayman, this week.

Mrs. Jno. N. Sampson of Bridgeville, Del., is spending a few days with friends in and about town.

Miss Lottie Smith of Shadpoint spent last Saturday and Sunday here as the guest of Miss Ella Messick.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Moore, Jr., returned home on Friday from Philadelphia, where they have resided since their marriage in December.

Mr. Solon F. Hayman of Oak Hall, Va. spent last Sunday with friends and relatives at this place.

The Easter Programme on Sunday evening at the M. E. Church was pronounced good.

Sorry to report Mrs. Amanda Price on the sick list this week.

Mr. Millard Messick of Capitola was in town on Wednesday as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Messick.

Citizens who are interested in the culture and shipment of strawberries are requested to meet at the home of Mr. Stephen McGrath Tuesday evening, April 16th, so we are told.

Miss Hester Hayman is quite sick at this writing.

The measles are still in this community.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

We are glad to report that Rev. Elmer Simpson has been returned to this charge.

Mrs. Sanford and daughter, and Miss Hearn of Vienna have been visiting Mrs. A. S. Venables this week.

Messrs. Perry & Cooper expect to begin operations at their new plant first of next week.

Many persons are now exclaiming "Don't touch my arm" as the result of the precautions taken against small-pox, which they are endeavoring to keep away from our town.

The suggestions of Mr. Thos. Perry in last week's issue, regarding the disposition to be made of the tax-money accruing from taxes paid by the B. & A. Railway, be expended for shells for the improvement of the roads in this county, seems to meet with the approval of all our citizens, and were it put to a vote, we hardly think there would be a dissenting vote. This is a result of the small improvement made in the roads here recently.

Mr. M. H. Douglas of Crisfield made a flying visit to our town this week.

Mrs. A. B. Armstrong has opened a dry goods and millinery store in the old Post Office building.

We noted the presence of some of Salisbury's young gentlemen in town last Sunday eve, and we "Wonder Why." We Two.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

Nelson's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELSON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELSON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, of Cambridge, Md. writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad, I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELSON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any rheumatism since and I tell any man, he is foolish to suffer with rheumatism when NELSON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tich of Easton, Md. writes: NELSON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELSON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. B. R. Purcell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELSON'S REMEDY as follows: I have used the NELSON'S REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients are a combination of potent and reliable and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic disorder.

THE PENINSULA PLANT FARMS.

Some Features of a Big Business Here at Home.

LARGEST STRAWBERRY PLANT GROWER IN THE WORLD.

To say of a thing that it is the biggest of its kind in the world is a broad statement, and one especially interesting when the thing for which the claim is made is located in one's own community.

This big claim is made of Mr. W. F. Allen's strawberry plant business. Mr. Allen does not claim it, for he is a modest man whose motto in life is "Deeds, not Words," and the deeds are there. Of course Mr. Allen can talk and will talk of his business when convinced that his listener is intelligent and appreciative. The writer, by letting drop in an off-hand way a few remarks on farming in general, during a recent visit to Mr. Allen's home, on the Tony Tank road, succeeded in convincing the latter that his visitor possessed those attributes, with the result that some interesting facts concerning Mr. Allen's farming operations were gathered.

Mr. Allen owns and is farming the "Peninsula Plant Farms," containing 400 acres of sandy loam, just outside Salisbury; and "Egypt Farm," of 485 acres of red clay land, just outside the town of Princess Anne, in Somerset county. The last farm he has only recently acquired. The time consumed in reaching it from Mr. Allen's residence on the Tony Tank road, including the drive to the railway station, is a little under thirty minutes. This farm has long been regarded as one of the most desirable in Somerset county, and was very highly prized by its former owner, the late James U. Dennis, who was accustomed to growing prize crops of grain and hay on it. Mr. Allen will fruit strawberries on it, having just finished planting 100 acres of it in choice varieties, including the Gandy, and grow grain, hay and eventually live stock. His overseer on Egypt farm is Mr. George W. Powell, a brother of Mr. Frank Powell, of this city.

There are 125 acres on the Peninsula Plant Farms in strawberry plants, embracing every variety in the country of known merit; sixty acres in Lucetta and Austin blackberries. The blackberries begin to ripen for market about as strawberries go out, and Mr. Allen calculates that he will have 100,000 quarts of each the coming season, which will require for the harvesting 200 berry pickers for a period of about eight weeks. He has fifty acres in cantaloupes, about eighteen acres of which are under glass. For this experiment Mr. Allen expended the neat sum of $700 for the glass alone at the factory, 40,000 panes being required. Incidentally, the same glass would now cost him $800. Mr. Allen expects about 8000 crates of cantaloupes. Ten acres have just been planted in asparagus which will require two years to reach the harvesting stage; ten acres are seeded to truck for this season's Salisbury market. One hundred acres will be seeded to cow peas during the early summer, for hay and seed. Several months in the year from 50 to 85 daily laborers are employed on the Peninsula Plant Farms, independent of the berry pickers.

There were shipped from the Peninsula Plant Farms last season over eight millions of strawberry plants. This season's plant business is the most satisfactory Mr. Allen has ever had from the money point of view.

Mr. Allen started as a boy fifteen or sixteen years ago with $25 borrowed capital, as has been told before. Since then he has, by intelligence, industry, and matches less courage created a business which has made his name known in all parts of the country, and it has reached beyond the seas. Since he has grown plants for market he has received orders direct from Bermuda, Canada, England, France, Australia, and Japan. While Mr. Allen has been the architect of his own fortune, he nevertheless feels grateful to a number of friends who gave him encouragement in the days that were dark at the beginning of his career. He is especially appreciative of the substantial help tendered by a few friends at a time when it counted for everything. Among the latter is Mr. H. H. Kendall, of the well known commission house of Conant & Bean, of Boston. This house now handles all of Mr. Allen's Boston consignments. The most cordial friendship exists between the two gentlemen, and Mr. Kendall has just returned home from a visit of a week to Mr. Allen.

Mr. Allen believes that strawberries will command good prices this year. He reaches this conclusion from the fact that the crop is very short in Carolina, Norfolk and other points south of Maryland, where a full crop cannot be expected in some sections.

THE SMALL-POX SITUATION.

Dr. John S. Fulton, Secretary Of The State Board Of Health, Greatly Pleased.

Since the ADVERTISER's last appearance Frank and Laura Leonard, both colored, and both of whom were in the quarantined families who were identified with George Hudson's case, have developed mild cases of varioloid and they were promptly removed to the pest house. This makes the total number of persons who have been affected with the disease seven, and the number of persons held for observation at the quarantine is seven. All are colored. None have been permitted to leave the quarantine. Although the danger seems almost past, the health committee continues as a precautionary measure to exercise the utmost vigilance and Dr. Dick, the physician in charge is still making his regular visits to the quarantine. In all parts of the town and contiguous county the people are attending to business, and no fear is felt.

The Baltimore Evening News of Thursday says:

"Today Dr. Fulton made the following interesting statement, showing how the business men of Salisbury, Md., handled the recent outbreak of small-pox at that place. He said:

"A case of smallpox was discovered late on Saturday afternoon, March 29. At night the leading business men met in the town hall in consultation with the county health officer and the physician who reported the case. They did not question the diagnosis nor inquire at whose expense the proper precautions should be taken. They rented a small farm two miles out of town, bought a vehicle and moved the sick man and his family. On Sunday morning they had a force of carpenters at work building a house of observation. This building, 14 feet by 60, having six rooms and a kitchen, was erected and covered on Monday morning, and by Tuesday night was furnished and ready for tenants.

"Within 24 hours of the notification of the first case this committee of business men had a complete list of those who had been in contact with the case, and had obtained the necessary authority from the Town Council to hold all such persons under surveillance, to vaccinate them all, and had contracted with physicians for medical attendance, daily medical inspection and general vaccination. Funds had been provided for the maintenance of the quarantined households.

"But the most remarkable and at the same time the wisest thing which the Salisbury men did was to notify at once all the surrounding towns of the situation."

The reported intention of the Maryland health authorities to establish a general quarantine against Sussex county, on account of the prevalence of small pox, will not be carried out, unless the spread of the contagion should continue, which is not at all likely. The Delaware State Board of Health is about to begin handling the epidemic in a vigorous manner.

The Spinsters' Convention.

An entertainment will be held in the "Old Rockwalking Presbyterian Church" Friday evening, April 26th., for the purpose of obtaining funds for the purchase of a school library in that neighborhood. The exercises will be interesting, as much pains have been taken to prepare a program full of merriment, but innocent and pure in its make up.

The leading feature of the program will be a play, "The Spinsters' Convention" in which eighteen Old Maids are to be transformed into Young Maids by Prof. Makeover. He does not succeed in completing the job, however, as his machine breaks under the stupendous task.

Two drills, one, consisting of girls, the other a military drill by the boys will be woven into the evening's exercises.

During the intervals between scenes and acts, the audience will be entertained by graphophone music. Come everybody, old maids, young maids and friends in general, and see the wonderful feats of Prof. Makeover.

The entertainment will begin at eight o'clock; admission 15 cents, two for 25 cents, and children under twelve, 10 cents.

POOR ROADS EXTRAVAGANT.

The Importance of Improving Public Highways.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have read with much interest Mr. Perry's article in your issue of the 6th and also Mr. Tilghman's article in your issue of 18th. It has occurred to me that a large majority of our people have not realized the importance of good roads, or to take the reverse view, they have not figured on the extravagance of poor roads. I say extravagance, why not, what word better describes the situation? If they have a load of hay, corn, lumber, potatoes, etc. to carry to market it takes two horses to carry the load on a poor road that one horse would carry on a good road or, in other words, it only takes half the team when we have good roads and it only takes half as much to feed one horse or one pair of mules as it does two horses or two pairs of mules, and we all know that corn, hay and team represent money. Poor roads are extravagant because if you have to drive 5, 10, 15 or 20 miles, as the case may be, to attend to some business matters it takes but half the time if we have good roads, and with most men and especially business men, time represents money.

Poor roads are extravagant because they keep out the best class of settlers that would otherwise come in our midst to buy up our vacant farms, improve them and thereby bring wealth and prosperity to our country. Aside from this industrious class there are numerous business men, some of whom have acquired a comfortable competence who are looking for pleasant country places to build homes, but these people will never go where there are poor roads, thereby we lose the sale of our vacant land and the loss of a sale on real estate we do not need is a loss of money not only to the owner but to the community, to the county.

Poor roads are extravagant because they reduce what would be the true value of our estates if in close proximity to improved highways from 50 to 100 per cent.

Poor roads are extravagant because with good roads the taxable bases would very soon be 50 per cent. larger than at present and the taxes on this increase of valuation would in a few years pay for good roads without increasing the rate of taxation.

Poor roads are extravagant because it costs more to keep them in the poor condition in which they are now kept than it would to keep up good roads after they are once made.

If our people could be induced to study this subject and look a few years into the future at the benefits that it would bring about and to consider the great advancement and improvement it would bring to ourselves and all future generations I cannot see how anyone could fail to be enthusiastic in the cause of good roads. Let us go back 10 years and look at the road leading from Salisbury to Mr. Bayard Perdue's and look at it today and consider the improvement; let us go back 5 years and take a drive on a hot dry day from Salisbury to Tony Tank, take a drive over the same road today if you please and note the change. The same improvement can be made on every principal highway in our county. I heartily agree with Mr. Perry that at least $10,000.00 be set aside every year for road building.

Our Commissioners should be ever willing, ready, anxious, to supply the material for road building on any of our principal highways anywhere in the county where the people directly benefited would volunteer to do the work. Our Commissioners have not been as ready to lend assistance in this direction as our friend Mr. Tilghman would have us believe. I know personally that they have been very slow to lend aid in this direction. This however can be remedied by supporting at the polls only good sound men known to be uncompromisingly in favor of good roads regardless of politics. The county should appoint, elect, or in some way provide a road commissioner who is competent to take charge of this work and to see that every dollar appropriated is used to the best advantage and economically expended. W. F. ALLEN.

COURT NEWS.

Its Session Still Prolonged. The Longest Continuous Session Since the County Was Formed. Some Important Cases.

On Friday morning of last week the suit of Dr. Paul Jones vs Isaac N. Hearn began. This was a suit brought by the plaintiff for some libelous letters admitted to have been written by Mr. Hearn and for some slanderous words alleged to have been spoken by the defendant. This case was most hotly contested from start to finish and a great number of witnesses were produced on both sides. The Attorneys, Messrs. Jones, Handy and Toadvin for the plaintiff and Messrs. Miles, Ellegood and Kerbin for the defendant, fought with great skill for their respective clients and made able addresses to the jury. The Court in its instructions to the jury stated that the letters written by the defendant were privileged communications and therefore not libel, if the jury should find from the evidence produced that the defendant acted in good faith and without malice in writing said letters. After being out for three hours the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff assessing the damages at $100.

The suit of Mrs. Sallie J. Hearn vs Isaac N. Hearn for slander was compromised and a verdict by consent given in favor of plaintiff for $150.

When the present session of Court shall have terminated it will have been the longest session in the history of the county. The next longest session was the March term way back in 1880. It began on March 22nd and continued for one week, then adjourned to April 3rd. Only one day occupied the Court at this time and it again adjourned to Monday, May 10th. Then began the famous trial of the State vs Jno. W. Turpin for the murder of Wm. H. Farrington. This case continued until May 22nd, when the jury, after being out about two hours, rendered a verdict for the defendant. Court then adjourned until June 7th when it continued in session for three days.

Solving the Servant Problem.

They are said to be solving the domestic servant problem in Manchester, England. Some few years ago a Ladies Domestic Association was formed, the aims of which were to give opportunities of training in cookery and domestic science to members' servants, or to members, and to encourage good servants to stay in their places by granting bonuses for length of service, and certificates for proficiency in their trade. The success so far of the association is shown by the fact that during last year they had 40 per cent more applications for employment from servants than inquiries from the members for servants, which is regarded, with reason, as a remarkable record.

This year a new company has been successfully floated, under the management of the guild. It is the "Manchester Distributive Kitchens, Limited," and it has a capital of £3,000. This company will undertake to cook meals and deliver them ready for the table. It is purely a business undertaking. If the scheme meets with success, it will be extended to localities, working class neighborhoods especially. The distributive kitchens are expected to prove not only a boon to ladies who cannot find cooks, but a splendid training-ground for servants. It is thought that a general application of this system would greatly diminish, if not altogether remove, one of the most vexatious trials of modern house keeping.

The Woman's Club of Cambridge, while disavowing any desire to exercise the right of franchise, has entered the political arena as determined municipal reformers. It is now tackling the public school question.

While Mollie Jackson, colored, attended church at Frederick, her 8 year old son, Roger, discovered a half pint bottle of whisky and imbibed the contents. He died a few hours later, despite medical aid.

John Petton, Union veteran and Republican politician, was buried at Cumberland Sunday. The grand Army services were not conducted at the grave, as is usual on such occasions, because the pall bearers were not chosen from members of the organization. Ex-Governor Lowndes, Congressman Pearce and Mayor White of Cumberland were among the honorary pall-bearers.

THE NEWCASTLE PRESBYTERY.

Its Spring Meeting Held This Week in Salisbury Presbyterian Church.

The Spring meeting of the Newcastle Presbytery which was in session at Wilcomico Presbyterian Church in this city Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, adjourned Wednesday afternoon. A missionary service was held Wednesday evening, and the members of the Presbytery returned to their homes Thursday. The next semi annual meeting, which will be next fall, will be held in Head of Christiania Church, near Wilmington.

These meetings are primarily of a business character, diversified by religious services. The meeting just closed was well attended, very pleasant and harmonious, and the reports showed a gratifyingly healthy condition of the church.

There are 7000 communicants in Newcastle Presbytery and 7500 Sunday School members. During the year $5000 was raised for home missions and $4000 for foreign missions which is an increase over last year. Five hundred dollars was raised for the educational fund, $1000 for Sunday School work; $450 for church erection; $1000 for relief fund; $750 for freedmen's fund; $1000 for synodical aid; $875 for college aid; $550 for general assembly, and $100,000 for congregational purposes. The 20th. century fund now amounts to $53,000 and is growing. Wilcomico Church has raised $8900 above the usual expenditures.

Rev. Wm. M. Schall, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, was elected Moderator to succeed Rev. Joseph R. Turner, of Dover, the retiring Moderator.

Commissioners to the General Assembly in Philadelphia May 16 were elected as follows: Rev. W. W. Shaw, of Port Deposit; Rev. David E. Shaw, of Cecil county, Elder W. Irving Todd, of Salisbury, and Elder F. B. Schellenger, of Lewes, Del.

Dr. Joseph R. Milligan received a call to St. George's, Del., and arrangements were made for his installation. Olivet Church, Wilmington, called Rev. Robert A. Ellwood, of Absecon, N. J. Rev. W. M. Schall was released from charge of First Church, Wilmington.

A Testimonial From Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by R. K. Truitt.

of Gotham were no doubt wise enough in their way. It is probable that they knew a great deal about a whole lot of things, but they made a mistake when they went to sea in a bowl, and that one error caused their undoing.

No matter how much care you take in the selection of the materials for your building or how experienced or reliable your mechanics, if you use inferior shingles you make a great mistake.

The covering of a building is the most important part of the materials used in its construction. "The weakest link is the strength of the chain," and "The poorest shingles determine the last of the roof." And it is poor economy to run so great a risk of having a leaky roof, to save such a trifling amount of money. Act wisely and buy best.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

What the Term Means and the Results of its Practice.

QUOTING A LECTURE OF SOME NOTE.

"In its most material sense the act of forestry is the production of the largest crop of the most valuable timber in the shortest time, and at the least expense, on land that is unsuited to remunerative agriculture, besides a still more important use in conserving the forests necessary to the well-being of the continent. In 1873 three measures with wide consequences were adopted. Congress appropriated the Yellowstone, the Yosemite, the Mariposa and the Rainier as national parks, set aside for the use of the people. They have beautiful public forests and parks in Europe, but they had to be wrested from princes. In 1873, also, Arbor Day, the children's day, was inaugurated and the first forestry bill introduced in Congress which provided for a superintendent to collect facts and spread literature on the subject. Since then the movement has gone by leaps and bounds. An impetus was given when in 1883 Baron Steuben came over to celebrate the anniversary at Yorktown and was shocked at the condition of our forests. His strong expressions aroused his hosts and resulted in the formation of a forestry association. In 1891 Congress authorized the President to set aside forest land on mountains in order to protect the headwaters of rivers. Superintendents and rangers to patrol the reserves are under the control of the Agricultural Department.

The young men employed love their work and do it with spirit and enthusiasm. Dr. Rothrock has induced Pennsylvania to take, at tax sales, a large area of pine forests for a State sanitarium for consumptives, such as New York has in the Adirondacks. Here even poor people can afford to camp out in summer, by obtaining a permit. Schools of forestry have been established at Baltimore, N. C., and at Cornell and Yale Universities, the last by the generosity of the Pinchot family. A two-years' course at these schools costs but $300, besides board and the graduate has a delightful, healthful and useful profession. But to finish a course properly it is well to go to Europe to see how the best work is done. There the forests are cared for as if they were human, and repay well the care. In France and Denmark they have reclaimed sandy wastes and covered them with forests.

In Germany the Black Forest, 100 miles long and 40 wide, supports many happy and prosperous towns and villages. Some of the forests belong to the crown, or to private owners, but almost every town, village, hospital or health resort has its forests as a source, not only of beauty, but of revenue. Except a small income tax such villages have no taxes, their forest pays them. If they have extra expense one year, as a school or road to build, they are allowed to cut a little more timber, which pays for it. Those in Germany are cared for with the greatest system; a head forester attends to the cutting, selling and replanting of trees; they cut strips of the forests in rotation, so the trees are cut every 20 years, and do no "clear" the land as we do, with great waste, but cut for the regeneration of the new forest, clearing out such trees as impede the growth of the young timber and setting out an area of new trees every year, for the one cut. They study the qualities of the soil and plant such as are adapted to it, or improve it. They call the beech the "mutterwald," mother of the forest because its fallen foliage makes a rich compost. They have a keen eye for profit, but are also patriotic and love their forests and country. The income from their trees increases each year, and they are constantly improving them for, they say, "our children must live."

On Mt. St. Gothard they claim to have brought into subjection 600 avalanches by planting trees; first perhaps, as aspens, or some other inferior tree, whose roots penetrate crevices and crumble rocks and make little channels for soil. Then where it has been the pioneer the sturdy fir will follow. By all means patient, painstaking work the people are kept prosperous and contented.

A German head forester said he was glad to explain their methods to a woman, for in America it is the men who have cut down the forests, but the women who are building them up. California club women are working hard to save the big trees, the oldest things on earth, the remains of an older period when such trees grew everywhere. Now there are only a few hundred and after year they disappear. A lumberman has bought the great Calaveras grove and the women are straining every nerve to rescue it. They have sent petitions all over the United States to save this great heritage of the nation. Last year they procured the passage of a bill to enquire into the matter, but, unfortunately, this year the matter was not brought up in Congress and all the big trees are in danger of being obliterated from the face of the earth, except the Mariposa grove, which belongs to the government.

In Minnesota the laws seem designed to encourage a low state of morals; lumber stealing from the State reserves is carried on by wholesale. It is forbidden to take lumber from the Chipewas Indian Reservation, unless it be "dead and down lumber," and spectators see evidences of how it became such when they came upon colossal pines burned off the ground, and in a hollow tree nearby, a kerosene oil can. The club women of the State have made a long and heroic fight for the honesty and honor of the State, but thus far without success, as the lumber interests are too strong for them. The lumber men see nothing but present gain and care nothing for the desolation and poverty of the future, so their deprivations should be curbed by rigidly enforced law. Brunswick, an authority on the subject, says: "No wild forest can ever equal a cultivated one in productiveness; in the future, when most American forests shall be in high state of cultivation, the annual output of forest products will exceed everything at the present day."

Age Of The Million-Dollar Salary.

In the midst of its daily feast of wars and devastations the world has had a pleasant little shock of surprise in hearing that Mr. Charles M. Schwab, the head of the United States Steel Corporation, is to draw a salary of $1,000,000 a year, or, in round numbers, $80,000 a week. Some time ago it was asserted that Mr. Rockefeller had expressed a willingness to pay that amount to any body capable of taking the cares of his business off his hands.

Mr. Perkins, who is the new partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., is said to have had a guarantee that the income of his new position shall not be less than a quarter of a million a year. Of course, it may be a good deal more. Mr. Schwab and Mr. Perkins are both young men in their thirties.

Evidently we are reaching a period in which the world will accustom itself to an entirely new scale of salaries. We may yet have a labor union of trust presidents fixing a minimum wage scale of $1,000,000 a year, enforced by threats of a strike. The time when an increase in the salary of the President of the United States from $25,000 to $50,000 a year shocked the economical sense of the country seems an age of remote antiquity.

The possibility that used to be held before the dazzled eyes of every American boy was that of growing up to be President of the United States. The new possibility is that of drawing a million dollar salary. Such a salary is the prize that ability wrests from wealth. The men who draw this pay are not those who inherit millions, but who were born with the power to work and to direct the work of others. Mr. Schwab has been described as a "human thunderbolt."

His employer pays him a million dollars a year, it is because they know that they can get several times a million out of him. He may have men in his office drawing less a year than he does in a day who are his superiors in general intelligence, who could write better novels than he could, draw better pictures, express a more skilled appreciation of plays, frame better national policies and pass for men of abler minds. Not only could the Steel Trust not afford to pay one of those men a million dollars a year for managing its affairs—it could not afford to let him manage its affairs if he paid for the privilege. Just that peculiar combination of qualities which Mr. Schwab possesses is needed to keep such an enterprise from wreck and make it profitable to its owners. The men who have the power of industrial generalship will be the Caesar and Napoleon of future history, and they will win the rewards that have gone to military generalship in the past.—Samuel E. Moffett, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1638 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

A Baltimore banking house has taken the entire issue of Hyattsville water bonds of $80,000, authorized by the Legislature at the extra session. The premium was $23. The bonds are subject to State tax. The waterworks will be constructed immediately. The contractors are Gill & Co., of Chattanooga.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years, have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Andrew Riggs of Sunny Lane, Tex. Thousands have testified as did Mr. Riggs. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap Exclusively

MILLIONS of Women Use CUTICURA SOAP, exclusively, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or too fensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP AT ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, $1.25, Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickest cuticle; CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation and irritation and soothe and heal; and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the severest humor when all else fails. Sold throughout the world.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY

Who are Using Home Comfort Ranges.

Salisbury, Md., January 24, 1900.
Wrought Iron Range Company.
Gentlemen:—This is to certify that we purchased one of your Home Comfort Ranges No. 1 about 15 years ago and wish to say that we consider it one of the most durable and satisfactory of kitchen ranges, and heartily recommend them to any one wishing anything in the line of a cooking range. We would not be willing to part with it if we could not get another. For durability and a good baker, and for all purposes, we do not think they could be surpassed.

Wrought Iron Range Company.

Gentlemen:—I have been using one of your Home Comfort Ranges for the past seventeen years, and can cheerfully recommend it as one of the most durable and reliable of all kitchen stoves. We would not want to part with it under any circumstances if we could not get another. This letter you may use in any way you think best for your business.
JAMES H. WEST.

Salisbury, Md., January 22, 1901.
This is to certify that I purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of the Wrought Iron Range Co's traveling salesmen, some six years ago. I find the range in all particulars as represented by the salesman. It is all that could be desired in a first-class cooking range, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of a cooking range.
WM. S. HASTINGS.

Salisbury, Md., January 19, 1901.
Wrought Iron Range Company.

It affords me great pleasure to recommend your Home Comfort Range. I purchased one from your traveling salesman six years ago, and it is giving us perfect satisfaction, is a splendid baker, and very economical on fuel. We would not take twice the amount paid for it if we could not get another like it.
JOHN W. PARKER of L. and water.

Collingwood, Ont., 11th July, 1900.
W. L. Culver, Esq.,
President Wrought Iron Range Co.,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Sir:—We are in receipt of your favor of June 18th, which we regret to say was mislaid. We have great pleasure in stating that your ranges are in use on six of the eight steamers of the fleet and that they have given perfect satisfaction in every way both as to their durability and working qualities, which have been tested to the utmost.

In the fall of '98 our steamer Pacific was totally destroyed by fire at the dock which originated at the G. T. Ry. warehouse, and although the steamer was burnt to the keel the Wrought Iron Range on board was found in such good condition that it was used on our new steamer Germanic, which was built the following season to take place of Pacific. There was practically nothing wrong with the stove except disoloration and marks consequent upon the action of intense heat and water.

The steamers using your ranges are Majestic, Collingwood, Germanic, Atlantic, Britannic and Midland. Very truly,

SELF SUPPORTING WOMEN

Cannot afford to be sick, they say. So, very often, they struggle along and keep up, where other women go to bed. To such women the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is beyond computation. It cures the common cause of ill-health in woman, derangement or dis-ease of the womanly organs. A temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I had female trouble for eight years," writes Mrs. L. J. Dennis, of 838 East College Street, Jacksonville, Fla. "For three years I suffered continually. Words cannot express what I suffered. I sought relief among the medical profession and found none, until induced by kind friends to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I began taking this medicine I weighed ninety-five pounds. After taking 'Favorite Prescription' I was built up until now I weigh one hundred and fifty-six pounds—more than I ever weighed before. I was so bad I would lie in bed day to day and long for death to come and relieve my suffering. I had internal inflammation, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains in the lower part of my bowels, and such distress every month, but now I never have a pain—do all my own work, and am a strong and healthy woman. Thanks to your medicine. I consider myself a living testimonial of the benefits of your 'Favorite Prescription'."

MISS ELLIS IN EUROPE.

Describes Swiss Hotel Life and Sees a Real Sunday.

Sudersville, Md. April 17, 1901.

Interlaken, as its name indicates, is situated between two beautiful lakes of Switzerland, Lake Brienz on the east and Lake Thun on the west. It is situated on a tongue of land between these two lakes which once formed a single sheet of water. It is delightfully located being a favorite resort and resting place for tourists; its population is something over 1000. It was founded by some Augustine Monks many centuries ago; the site is as level as any land in Maryland but on all sides the steep mountains rise abruptly to towering heights. At the back of Interlaken is a monstrous mountain dark and frowning, apparently unscalable to any but an experienced mountain climber; to the right and left were peaks no less steep while in front between two nearer ones could be seen, fifteen miles distant, the snow-capped Jungfrau, one of the highest peaks of the Bernese Alps, which lie between the Cantons of Bern and Valais. The Jungfrau is 18718 feet above sea level and is the highest peak in Europe.

It is believed to have obtained its name, which means "The Virgin," from the fact that for many centuries its summit was inaccessible to man, being sealed only in 1894. There are few objects of historical importance in or near Interlaken, but the wealth of natural beauty is unsurpassed.

The Hotel des Alpes at which the Maryland party was quartered, is a beautiful building, five stories high and as the house was full it became our lot to ascend to that story. These rooms were very plainly furnished but were comfortable, and besides the cleanliness of all around us, the beautiful halls, stairways and corridors, roundings grounds fully compensated for anything our sleeping apartments might lack. Supper was not served until 7.30 p. m. so after removing the travel stains we descended to the broad piazza to enjoy the beautiful scenery spread out in panoramic view before us. Everything was fresh and delightful after the rain; the sunlight sparkled in the thousands of glittering drops among the leaves of plants and shrubs. Immediately in front of us the Jungfrau glistened pure white, the slanting rays of the afternoon sun playing hide-and-seek in the crevices of its snowy cap; to the right and left of it but much nearer dotted here and there with clumps of green trees, the brown and black rock showing between, while far up their sides, far above our heads stood hotels at which any one might stop, did he enjoy the climb. The trellises around the various piazzas were covered with a profusion of flowers, both climbers and those of a less roving disposition; many familiar ones greeted our eyes—the many varieties of the rose, geraniums, begonias, nasturtiums and like. The climate seemed almost too rigorous for these plants to thrive out in the open air yet they all looked hardy and flourishing. The grounds surrounding the Hotel were ample and several little summer houses did we find tucked away beneath the boughs of the beautiful pine trees, sometimes wholly hidden by their dense foliage. Their method of training the rose bush is so different from ours that I think to speak of it here will not be out of place. I have read of rose trees and I suppose here I saw them, for instead of several canes being allowed to grow, thereby giving the bush a straggling appearance as many of our cultivating have, they prune off all but one. This grows to be sometimes more than an inch in diameter and from three to four feet high; from the top many branches shoot out, forming a crown of green leaves and twigs bearing the roses. In the assignment of hotels we were not more fortunate than the other parties, for all seemed to be in every particular as desirable as ours. Supper was soon announced and we had the pleasure of seeing the native Swiss costume of the women for the first time, for there were two in that dress among the waiters.

One fact I believe I have forgotten to mention in connection with the hotels of England and the Continent generally. No hotel manager pays his waiters, the waiters rather pay for the privilege of serving at his table. They live by the fees received from the travellers and often it is a very little that they get. The board of course is given them out of the scraps which come from the table. We talked with some who preferred this uncertain living to manual labor. The servant problem is not one of such great perplexity there as it is in our own country, for the guide told us that in many places servants entered the homes for whatever they could get, often paying for the privilege accorded. To return to the waiters. They all have the black skirts, reaching halfway below the knees, the bodice is made of black velvet, laced together back and front with black cord; it is without sleeves and reaches just beneath the arms; above this is worn a white guimp full and gathered in at the neck. The sleeves of the guimp reach only to the elbow and are close fitting, over these is worn what we would call a box-plaited piece of linen, starched very stiff and fastened to the other sleeves at the shoulder and elbow, but loose elsewhere. On the front and back of the bodice are four or six large buttons two or three on a side, one above the other. From each one a chain of some metal or bright colored cord passes in a long loop to the corresponding one front or back. From the next one is suspended a still shorter loop and the third is still shorter. The hair which is usually black is combed back smoothly from the face and hangs in two plaits. Over the black skirt is worn a bright colored apron, some blue, some red, some yellow, some green or any other color which the wearer may fancy. These costumes are certainly picturesque, but we saw very few even in the heart of Switzerland where we were just then. These waiters moved with the precision of clock work; each removed the used dishes from his table to a side table and stood waiting the signal to go further; at a bell tap in an adjoining room presumably the kitchen each picked up his pile of dishes and falling into line marched out with the others from the other tables. At another tap of the bell all fled in bearing the next course.

The Swiss cooking is delightful and so glad were we that no more soured German moses were to fall to our lot, that we could have foretold even now what awaited us in Paris we would have enjoyed this all the more.

Supper over we started out for a stroll, but being unfamiliar with the streets and finding much water in them we returned and soon sought our beds. My bed seemed inclined to play me a trick, for several times during that night, as the two succeeding ones, I awoke to find myself tumbling out; nor was I the only one thus troubled, for several complained of the same thing.

Sunday morning dawned and with it the first real Sunday I had seen since leaving America; all the previous ones had been what is called the Continental Sunday in distinction to the English Sunday which is a day of rest. Switzerland seems to be taking the lead in adopting the English Sunday. France, Germany, Belgium, Austria and also Switzerland have only lately become aware of the necessity for a "weekly rest" from the factory, warehouse and other common forms of employment. Many still dislike the religious idea of the day and spend it in pleasure seeking or many other discreditable ways. The churches of Interlaken are all under one roof and are only different apartments of one long rambling building. This arrangement seemed to set forth the idea of church unity more closely than I had yet seen it anywhere for side by side with different forms of the Protestant faith, worshipped the Roman Catholic brother, each sending in different forms and tongues petitions to "Our Father."

At 9 a. m. we went to a French Protestant service in a small chapel; I do not know what denomination held the service but it was probably Presbyterian or Congregationalist as the form was similar. Every word was uttered in French; the minister prayed in French, preached in French and a lady on a little organ thumped out one of the most doleful tunes I ever heard, the people singing to her accompaniment in French.

At 11 a. m., the Scotch Presbyterians held a service there in English but at the same hour service was to be held in the English Church and to this we repaired. Nothing could be more restful than this service was to us all, for if we closed our eyes we could imagine ourselves in our own native land. The service of the Church of England differs but little from our Protestant Episcopal service, except that there are special petitions in the Litany for the then reigning Queen Victoria. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, and all the Royal Family. Instead of praying for the President of the United States and Governor of this state as we do, the English pray for the Queen and Prince of Wales.

Our hearts swelled with emotion as the rector added in this prayer a petition for the President of Switzerland and the President of the United States. Of course it was perfectly proper to pray for the Swiss ruler but we hardly expected to be remembered in that far off land. The service ended we returned to our hotel intending after dinner to take a long walk through the town, but the day which had dawned so brightly soon became dark and the afternoon was spent by most of us in doors as the rain poured at times in torrents. Some however braved the elements and took a ride to Lanterbrunn seven miles distant and returned at supper time drenched to the skin.

After writing a few letters to friends across the water the majority of the others sought our rooms for a nap. It was this evening while lingering in the Lobby after supper that we learned with regret that King Humbert of Italy had been assassinated, from a bulletin on the wall. Our minds instantly reverted to our fellow tourists on another tour who were soon to enter that kingdom, and when we learned that he had met his death at the hands of an American Italian our apprehension increased in like proportion. The evening continued as the afternoon had been, and as it was too damp for tramping soon one and all had retired to be up and ready, early next morning for our excursion to Grindelwald glacier and its celebrated blue ice grotto.

Benson's Plaster, always the best, always the leader, is to-day better than ever. It sticks to the skin but never sticks in its tracks. It marches on.

The people not only want to be cured but cured quickly—and Benson's Plaster does it. Coughs, colds, lumbago, asthma, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints and other ills approachable by an external remedy, yield to Benson's Plaster as does to heat.

Neither Belladonna, Strengthening or Capsicum plasters are to be compared with Benson's. People who have once tested the merits of Benson's Plaster have no use for any other external remedy.

More than 5,000 physicians and druggists (and a thousand times as many non-professional persons) have called Benson's Plaster one of the few (!) home remedies that can be trusted.

Fifty-five highest awards have been made to it in competition with the best known plasters of Europe and America. Better proof of its merits is inconceivable. Be sure to get the genuine.

WHY OCEAN CITY QUARANTINED.

The Ocean City Correspondent of the Baltimore Sun writes as follows:

"It is explained that the Ocean City Council quarantined against Salisbury on account of the smallpox at the solicitation of the business people of Ocean City, who realized that one case of smallpox in our midst at this time would kill us for all summer, as the people who come to Ocean City as visitors during the summer are not compelled to come, but could just as readily go to some other resort, and it is not likely they would come into a town where they knew such a disease existed. The Council realized that the smallpox was among the colored people only, and this was what they were guarding against. They could not very well make the quarantine for colored people only, and there are several negro families who come to Ocean City from Salisbury every Spring to work during the summer, and the people here were afraid if these people were allowed to come they might bring the disease with them. Not a single white person has been stopped who desired to come to Ocean City."

As to the fire engine and fire company the Council did not ask their service gratis, but expected to pay for it, and had talked of the probable cost before the order was given. It was purely a business transaction.

Outside of all this Ocean City is the very best friend Salisbury has from a business standpoint on the Eastern Shore, the merchants and builders buy almost exclusively of Salisbury."

It is to be regretted that our Ocean City friends thought the people of Salisbury so sordid and heartless as to deem it wise to calculate the "probable cost," before asking our help in their efforts to save their town from destruction by fire. Whether they "asked this service gratis" or not it would have been cheerfully and promptly rendered gratis, and only gratis, and stopping to consider the "probable cost" was that much valuable time lost.

If Ocean City should again be threatened in a like manner we hope her good citizens will think better of our generosity than to waste precious moments calculating how much it will cost.

As to the quarantine, all fair-minded persons would appreciate the force of the argument employed were it not for the fact that small-pox is now epidemic in all parts of the country and quarantining against Salisbury alone does not guarantee the city by the sea an immunity from the dreaded disease. And the same is true of Berlin, Delmar and other neighboring towns in which a quarantine against us has been established. Indeed it is very probable that Wicomico county and Worcester, too, are in greater danger of a spread of the infection from Sussex county, Delaware, where the authorities have until very recently been extremely lax in the handling of the disease, than Delmar is of contracting it from Salisbury.

Furthermore, because of the general cleanliness of the town, its fine sanitary condition and the vigilant watchfulness of a most capable and energetic health committee who have treated our few cases in a way to commend the enthusiastic approval of the State health officers, we conscientiously believe there is no place on the peninsula to day where the average citizen is less exposed to the danger of the contagion than in Salisbury.

WESTERN MARYLAND ELECTIONS.

In the municipal elections held in Hagerstown on March 25th, and in Frederick city on Tuesday of this week the Democrats were successful and elected Mayors and Aldermen in both cities. These elections are important as showing the drift of public opinion in the State on the recent extra session and the work it accomplished. While the election in Hagerstown was held a few days before the Legislature adjourned, yet the calling of the extra session and the enactment of the new ballot were distinct issues in that campaign and both the political parties accepted the responsibility of making the contest on those lines.

In the Frederick City election the same state issues were thrust to the front and in addition the election was held under the new election machinery. The Democrats accepted the issues laid down and entered the fight with energy and enthusiasm. The reports state that, while a few Democrats left their party actuated by a feeling of resentment on account of the extra session and its work, they were more than outnumbered by the Republicans who voted the Democratic ticket.

It is said that very nearly all of the illiterates were able to vote although the number of defective ballots was larger than usual. Our Republican friends may now cool off and come to inspect the new law in a calm and dispassionate way.

Two distinct results that flow from the recently enacted ballot law must commend the law as accomplishing great good. First, that it caused a much larger independent vote. Tickets were cut in a large number of cases, thus proving that as the secrecy of the ballot is more closely guarded, men throw away party affiliations and vote for men and not party. Second, that there was a much smaller amount of money used than is generally used in such heated contests.

On the whole the Democrats should feel greatly encouraged as the outlook for success this coming Fall grows brighter every day.

THE POST RETRACTS.

The Republican New York Evening Post which was most caustic in its criticism of the Maryland election law, when it was first enacted, has been led by the practical workings of the law to apologize, as it were, for the previous unwarranted attack.

It says: "We have felt for some time that the Evening Post was led into passing more severe strictures than were deserved upon the new ballot law in Maryland, which was passed at the recent extra session of the Legislature, and we have awaited the first trial of the system at the city election in Frederick yesterday for a test which might clear up all doubt in the premises."

Names upon the ballot are arranged alphabetically for each office, the name of the candidate in every instance being followed by the name of his party. This is in a sense an educational test, but it was proved at Frederick yesterday that the illiterate black Republican or the illiterate white Democrat can be instructed so as to distinguish his candidate for each office by the appearance of the word describing his party as, for instance, that 'Democratic' has a round letter the fourth from the start, and that 'Republican' has one letter which drops in part below the line. . . . We can see no reason to suppose that yesterday's election was not a fair trial of the new law, and we are glad to believe that, whatever may have been the motives of those who were credited with a desire to disfranchise ignorant blacks without also ruling out ignorant whites, the result has been a statute which is reasonable and just to both races and both parties."

—We earnestly recommend to our readers the perusal of Mr. W. F. Allen's article on the "Extravagance of Poor Public Roads," published this week on the first page of the ADVERTISER.

It follows Mr. Perry's published on the 6th, and Mr. Tilghman's, published on the 13th. Each possesses ideas of a practical character and we believe that the three together contain argument enough to convince the most slothful and indifferent citizen of the necessity for good roads.

The Maryland Agricultural College is said to be thoroughly free of scarlet fever now, and a resumption of its interrupted term takes place tomorrow.

BRINGS $6,000 IN SKINS.

Senator Applegarth Tells Of Trapping On The Eastern Shore.

The Baltimore Sun of March 9th, says:

State Senator William F. Applegarth of Dorchester county, arrived in Baltimore Sunday on the steamer Tred Avon with 25,000 otter, mink and muskrat skins, valued at about $6,000, which he had collected from the trappers of his county. The Senator said: "Much of the southern part of Dorchester is composed of low lying, marshy land, cut up into small islands and peninsulas, about whose shores the fresh water streams of the Blackwater and Hoga rivers thread their way. It is the ideal home of aquatic fur-bearing animals. Ever since the hides of the muskrat have begun to be utilized the trappers of Dorchester have done a thriving trade in the capture of them, and they are practically as plentiful now as 10 years ago."

"The otters have not held up against their persecutors so successfully and have now become very rare. There are yet many minks in some favored sections, and in my immediate neighborhood about 300 were captured during the past season. In Lake's district, where I operate, there are about 100 trappers, but of that number about 10 procured the majority of the 25,000 skins which I have just brought to the city."

"The successful trappers depend almost entirely upon the product of their marshes as a means of support, and through the proceeds coming from fish, animals and wild ducks during the winter season are enabled to live very comfortably. Cabins or shanties are erected upon or near the marshes and during the trapping season, which lasts from January 1 to March 31, they live practically upon the marshes. Some of the most successful own their marshes and many others rent either on fur shares or a money rent from the owners. A hundred acres are considered a very large range for one man to hunt over and usually, upon a good marsh, 25 acres worked thoroughly will produce as many pelts as a larger area covered insufficiently."

"The trappers are hardy fellows, who can stand any amount of exposure. Most of them have been raised from boyhood upon the marshes and the traits necessary for a good trapper are instilled into their youthful minds from the start. The men frequently work several hundred steel traps. Very little shooting is done, but sticking rats with gigs which pierce through their houses when the tide covers the marshes is yet extensively pursued. As many as a hundred rats are sometimes speared by one man during one day's hunt."

"Women have also been known to prove successful trappers, and I have seen them attired in men's clothing and long rubber boots, plugging about the marshes spearing rats or tending the traps."

The prices this season are but little different from those of last. Rat skins sell in Baltimore at wholesale at 12 cents for brown and 23 cents for black. Mink skins bring from $1 to $2 each.

—The famous Gainsborough portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire, according to a London cablegram, has been purchased by J. Pierpont Morgan, the American banker, for $100,000. This transaction, if it be a fact, should set at rest all the rumors to the effect that the painting, which was recently recovered after having been stolen for a quarter of a century, is not the original Gainsborough. Mr. Morgan is too good a business man to pay $100,000 for a picture the genuineness of which is in doubt.—Wilmington Evening.

—The exchanges of the New York Clearing House broke the record Tuesday. They aggregated $445,241,223, as against $487,832,980 on April 9th, $27,908,262 on January 2d, $414,924,431 on April 2d and $364,018,290 on December 23d last, the highest level ever reached until the current year.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has won success far beyond the effect of advertising only. The true secret of its wonderful popularity is explained entirely and only, by its unapproachable Merit.

Based upon a prescription which cured people considered incurable, which accomplished wonders astonishing to the medical profession, Hood's Sarsaparilla includes the concentrated values of the best-known vegetable remedies, united by such an original and peculiar combination, proportion and process as to secure curative power peculiar to itself.

Its cures of mild and extreme cases of scrofula, eczema, psoriasis, and every kind and degree of humors, as well as catarrh and rheumatism—prove Hood's Sarsaparilla the best blood purifier ever produced.

Its cures of dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness, loss of appetite and that tired feeling make it the greatest stomach tonic, nerve-builder and strength-restorer the world has ever known.

Don't You Believe It.

When somebody tells you that a woman is more particular about the selection of her hat than a man is of his, don't you believe it. Give a man a good looking glass, a cheerful salesman, plenty of hats and plenty of time, and he'll stand in front of a mirror just as long, put on just as many hats, make about as many remarks about "late styles." Don't care for the price if I can get one that is just what I want, and so on as any woman. Of course there are exceptions among the men, so there are among women. One man who went with his wife Easter bonnetting complained to her: 'Good Lord, I could buy all the hats in the store while you're buying that one.' I know it, she quietly replied. I know it. You could buy all the hats in the store while I'm buying just one, and you've got nobody to stand over you and tell how much you can have to pay for them with, either. Give me all the money I want instead of telling me that I can't have but 13.99 measly old dollars for a bonnet, and I'll soon show you that I can buy hats faster than you can pay for them. And that very couple came to Lacy Thoroughgood afterwards, and he took as much time to select a hat for $1.50 as she did in spending her 13.99, but the trouble with him was that Thoroughgood had so many kinds of styles to pick from that it really confused him. Lacy Thoroughgood is glad to say that you'll be welcome to come and spend as much time and as little money for a hat as you like, and there is no store in Salisbury where you can get so much hat quality for your money as at Lacy Thoroughgood's. Hat prices are $3.00, $2.50, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $.75.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Caroline county is to begin at once the erection of a county high school building, which, it is hoped, will be ready for use by fall. The building will be of brick, with an assembly room, five or six class rooms and a room for manual training exercises.

Names State Auditor.

Governor Smith has appointed Mr. George R. Ash, of Elkton, Md., to audit the accounts of the clerks of the courts, of the State's Attorney's offices, Registers of Wills and Sheriffs' offices of the various counties. This appointment was made under the act known as the State Auditor's bill, which was passed at the session of General Assembly of 1900. Mr. Ash is a native of Cecil county and is editor of the Cecil County Democrat. He is an expert accountant. From 1884 to 1890 he was connected with the Register of Wills office of Cecil county, and served as School Commissioner for his county from 1892. He is said to be thoroughly qualified for the new position, and will enter on the duties of his office at once.

Old Age.

Old age as it comes in the orderly process of Nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. The very shadow of eclipse which threatens it, makes it the more prized. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom and counsel. That is old age as it should be. But old age as it so often is means nothing but a second childhood of mind and body. What makes the difference? Very largely the care of the stomach. In youth the full strength of manhood it doesn't seem to matter how we treat the stomach. We abuse it, overwork it, injure it. We don't suffer from it much. But when age comes the stomach is worn out. It can't prepare and distribute the needed nourishment to the body, and the body, unenriched, falls into senile decay. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a wonderful food medicine for old people whose stomachs are "weak" and whose digestions are "poor." Its invigorating effects are felt by mind as well as body. It takes the sting from old age, and makes old people strong.

J. E. Magalia, one of the oldest freight conductors in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio, was cut into by his train in the terminal yards at Brunswick. He was 55 years old, and leaves a widow and two children.

High Pressure Days.

Men and women alike have to work incessantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, more numerous. The first effect of the pressure is commonly seen in a weakened or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dizziness, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases in complete nervous prostration. It is clearly seen that what is needed is what will sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and keep the digestive and assimilative functions healthy and active. From personal knowledge, we can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the vital organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high pressure days.

Fire destroyed a stable at the crossroads near Cambridge, used by the meat dealing firm of Miller & Roselle, two horses being incinerated. The firm's ice house was burned only a short time ago.

Denton may soon have an electric light system. Permission has been granted a company for the erection of a plant, and the promoters say that if necessary support is forthcoming from the Commissioners and townspeople, the scheme will be carried through.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

The election at Elkton of two Councilmen to serve for two years resulted in a victory for the anti-hogmen faction. W. H. Mackall and B. B. Dunbar being the successful candidates. The fight hinged on allowing hogpens within the town limits.

You will waste time if you try to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat heartily. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that will do it. Dr. L. D. Collier.

Candidates for county officers are "bobbing" up all over the district. There are enough in both the old parties in this district to fill every county office in the First Congressional District. Rumor has it that one of the Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates in this district lives near the river. We are all candidates, but the county commissioners or the managers will decide who are to be the real ones.

"That is what I call a change for the better" remarked the "occasional patron" of the bar-room as he planked down a quarter for a half pint of "O be joyful" and received forty cents in change.

SPICY BITS FROM BALTIMORE.

Our Correspondent Thinks Mayor Hayes Unpopular And That The Sewerage Bill Will Fail. Other Items Of Interest.

Spectacular effects in every day life are not rare occurrences in large cities, and the devices often resorted to to gain attention by some people really smack of the vaudeville stage. For instance on Lexington street a few afternoons ago a young lady became the "observed of all observers," not by her face, however, for that was devoid of all that was intelligent, but it was the dress or outfit she wore. To attempt to thoroughly describe it is beyond my ken, but it was something gorgeous and was set off by a dainty eton jacket, beneath which was a heavy silver belt fully jeweled and from which was a chain, to the other end of it a diminutive dog of the dashing type. The young lady's head was topped off with a picture hat of wonderful dimensions and of dense plumage. Her hair, however, was an object lesson to devotees of fashion of feminine head-dressing. And let me say that her hair was her wealth, it was beautiful, and puffed out from the neck around the head, it formed an aurora or halo, the effect of which was indescribable. She leisurely strolled along, occasionally casting goo goo eyes at some handsome young man as he passed her. She was merely a walking advertisement for a hair-dresser, as the little cards she modestly handed to ladies attested that fact. Her demeanor was spectacular, and her demeanor quiet and lady-like.

With the coming of May the Baltimorean who enjoys a trolley ride in an open car will have the opportunity presented to him. What rides a man can enjoy now for a nickel! Just to think of it, a person can get on a car at the extreme end of Walbrook, ride through the city, out to Highlandtown, down to Point Breeze, thence to Dundalk, very near to North Point, a distance of 17½ miles for a nickel! In days of yore a horse car would take us about two miles in about that many hours for 5 cents, now it is 17½ miles in 1½ hours for the same price. Great was the old omnibus, greater the horse car, still greater the cable, but supreme is the trolley!

The Legislature has adjourned, and it did yeoman service while in session. There is one measure, however, that is going to be downed in this city and that is the Sewerage Bill. It is agreed that we all want a modern system, but we don't want Hayes at the head of it. He is one Mayor whom the rank and file of this city dislike intensely. "The idol of the average Baltimorean is ex-Mayor Latrobe, and his disapproval of the bill, as evidenced by his fight in the Legislature against it, strengthens him in the affections of the Democracy, who unfortunately placed Hayes where he is. I am not writing in a prejudiced sense against our present municipal executive, but I base my remarks upon what I can glean from those I meet in the busy marts of this metropolis. A gentleman last Saturday put it very tersely when he said: "There is too much of the personal pronoun I in the City Hall to suit me, so I will vote against the sewerage bill when it comes my time. Hayes wanted to be governor or once; he was downed, then he bobbed up for Mayor, and for the sake of harmony he was given the nomination, and he has made the very worst Mayor we have ever had, and that is saying a good deal, for we have had some curiosities in that old chair in the last forty years." Then he left me, and I fell into a spell of musing and wondered what our Mayor would have done if he had been Governor? The good Lord knows.

City life has its advantages in many ways. While your people are thinking of fixing up their gardens, planting seeds and looking forward to the time when all these things shall bear good fruit, we are indulging in strawberries, green peas, string beans, new potatoes, radishes, beets, etc., not for getting to mention shad and herring. Of course, these all come from the south and they lack that exquisite flavor and freshness of our own Maryland products, especially when we mention strawberries and green peas, for Salisbury's environments are thickly studded with patches of that delicious fruit and vegetable. If I had my way I would make myself a committee of one on a steering tour and steer everybody seeking a home straight to Wicomico. Without a doubt it is one ideal spot, or county rather, in this state that very near approaches the Garden of Eden in climate, productiveness of soil, splendid people and fine surroundings. Gosh like the mountain scenery and atmosphere, his nature requires rugged views. Your humble correspondent likes the pastoral scenes of old Wicomico as he drinks in the ozone from the ocean and bay, tempered by that which comes over the fresh waters of your county.

Ere I finish this, let me tell you something I heard on the street recently. Worcester's son, Hon. Lloyd Wilkinson, who made such an admirable leader in the last session of the Legislature is to be slated for Congress from the third District, while Geo. W. Truitt is also mentioned by friends for the same office from his district. Good! If the stout little physician should step into the halls of our National Legislature I would be after him post-haste for a consultation at some foreign port—and would wager dollars to turnips that yours truly would be successful. Our Query Column.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

No. 88. According to Stowe, Sir William Collingborne was executed in 1484 for writing the following pun, which in his day was considered excellent wit:

"The Rat, the Cat, and Lovel the dog, Rule all England under the Hog."

This was during the reign of Richard III. of England. The chief agents of his wicked schemes were Cadeby, Ratcliff and Lovel. Lovel was a common name for a dog. On the escutcheon of the king was a white boar.

No. 89. John Lothrop Motley, author of the "Dutch Republic" writes in a letter from Brussels, 1855, quoted by Oliver Wendell Holmes, in his Memoirs of Motley,—

"There are a few good Rubenses here, but the great wealth of that master is in Antwerp. The great picture of the 'Descent from the Cross' is again here, having been on years in the repairing room. 'It is in good condition. What a picture! It seems to me as if I had really stood at the cross, and had seen Mary weeping on John's shoulder, and Magdalen receiving the dead body of the savior in her arms. Never was the grand tragedy represented in so profound and dramatic a manner. For it is not only in his color, in which this man so easily surpasses all the world, but in his life-like flesh and blood action—the true power of his composition. Well might Goldschmidt exclaim, 'The fellow mixes blood with his colors.' I defy anyone of the average amount of imagination and sentiment, to stand long before the 'Descent from the Cross' without being moved more nearly to tears than he would care to acknowledge."

This is high praise for both master and master piece; but this is only one of eighteen hundred finished paintings by Rubens. His gorgeous coloring has always been the chief characteristic of his art. This fine painter was born at Cologne, Germany June 29, 1577, and died at Antwerp, May 30, 1640.

No. 90. Marco Polo, the celebrated traveler, born at Venice in 1254, gave to the world the first correct account of China. In 1271 he started on a tour through Asia, finally reaching China in 1275, which was then known to Europe as Cathay, supposed to comprise the entire "Far East" of the world. The Emperor of China received him, and soon gave him important offices in the government. The Emperor, however, would not allow him to leave the empire, as it was closed to all foreigners; and for sixteen years he was an honored prisoner of the empire. He finally managed to escape on board a ship which was carrying the emperor's daughter to Persia, where she was to become the king's wife. After nine months wandering, Polo finally returned to Venice in 1295.

He had almost forgotten his native language; and his friends would not believe his story, even when he displayed the rich presents he had received from the Emperor of China. He entered the navy, and was taken prisoner in a war with Genoa. During five years in prison he prepared an account of his travels and gave to the world the first correct description of China.

His book was published, and created an immense excitement among learned men, who did not hesitate to affirm it to be pure fiction. After his liberation he returned to Venice but was abjured by his friends. He died in 1324, aged seventy years. After his death other Venetian travelers verified many of Polo's statements. Then came a reaction of public opinion and the wonderful accuracy of Polo's history became the theme of universal praise. His work became of inestimable value as a guide in geographical research: by it the Portuguese were led to sail around the Cape of Good Hope and Columbus to make his discoveries in the western world.

The book was translated into all foreign languages, but not into English until 1844. Marco Polo was long remembered in China, and a bust of him is still to be seen in one of the temples of Canton.

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md. writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md. writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad, I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism since or symptoms since and I tell any man, he is foolish to suffer with rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Tiesh of Easton, Md. writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. E. B. Parnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows: I have used the NELATON REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.

A DELIGHTFUL PERFORMANCE.

The Rivals Played in Salisbury Tuesday Evening And in Princess Anne, On Wednesday.

All who braved the stormy weather and were present at Ulman's Opera House Tuesday evening enjoyed a treat, the equal of which few have enjoyed except when witnessing a performance given by professional talent in some of the larger cities. The best home talent with the assistance of Princess Anne's two star amateurs had been enlisted to produce Sheridan's famous comedy, The Rivals. All acquitted themselves in the most artistic manner.

Of the parts taken by Mr. H. L. D. Stanford, as Sir Anthony Absolute, and Mr. C. M. Danbrell, as Bob Acres, too much cannot be said; they were encored repeatedly during the evening by the large audience present. Of our own home talent it would be hard to particularize as all added additional fame to their previous enviable record.

Mrs. R. D. Grier as Mrs. Malaprop, Miss Nellie Fish as Lydia Languish, Miss Mary Lee White as Julia and Miss Alice Catlin as Lucy proved by their acting that they had a proper conception of their respective characters and they were all generously applauded during the play. Mr. Fred Adkins taking the part of Captain Absolute, Mr. Atwood Bennett as Faulkland and Mr. Grier Ratloff as Sir Lucius O'Trigger were prominent characters and rendered their parts in a masterly style. Messrs. S. E. Douglass, Frank Gunby and Fred Grier as Tag, David and Ben did well and created much mirth in their humorous parts.

In the intermission between the acts the audience was entertained with vocal and instrumental music by some of our talented musicians.

On Wednesday evening the same performance was given in Princess Anne for the benefit of P. E. Church of that town. Although the weather was a repetition of Tuesday evening, a large and appreciative audience greeted the company, who felt highly repaid for their trip.

About $110 was received from the Salisbury performance and $85 from the one in Princess Anne.

On Tuesday evening after the performance Mrs. A. J. Vanderbogart entertained those participating in the play. In Princess Anne Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Waters gave a charming reception to the visiting ladies and gentlemen. This was also given after the performance. The Salisburyans returned home with a delightful opinion of Princess Anne hospitality.

Phillips—Dryden.

Miss Maude Leslie Phillips daughter of Mr. Major L. Phillips and Mrs. Belle Wimbrow Phillips, who is one of our most popular and attractive young ladies, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Johnson Dryden at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Wicomico Presbyterian church, Salisbury. The bride attired in a tailor gown of mode satin cloth with hat and gloves to correspond, was accompanied to the altar by her father who gave her away. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Lee Mitchell, was unable to be present on account of the quarantine at Delmar where she is teaching.

The groom wearing the conventional black was ushered from the vestry room by his best man, Mr. John L. Tilghman, who accompanied him to meet his bride at the altar for the matrimonial ceremony performed in a very impressive manner by Rev. Dr. Reigart.

The bridal march was rendered by Miss Cora Mitchell, cousin of the bride and one of Salisbury's talented musicians.

The ushers wearing light trousers and black cutaway coats did also Mr. Phillips and best man, were Messrs. Glen Perdue, cousin of the bride, Kinser Dryden, brother of the groom, Walter Betts, and Ira Burbage. The Young Peoples Literary Society of which Miss Phillips was a member were ushered in just ahead of the bridal company to occupy the front seats with the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple were driven to the depot where they boarded the o'clock train for their future home at Newport News, Va.

While we, speaking for the Society, regret the loss of their presence continually with us, we extend to Mr. and Mrs. Dryden our best wishes for a happy life. They were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents. Member P. L. S.

COURT ENDS.

The Longest Session Since The County Was Formed Comes To A Close On Tuesday Afternoon. Judge Holland Presented With A Handsome Chair.

On Friday morning of last week the suit of John S. Quillen against Isaac N. Hearn and Isaac Thos. Hearn for $10,000 was begun. This was a case in which Quillen sued the Hearn family on account of injuries sustained by him while an employee of the defendants in their saw mill. The plaintiff proved that he was severely injured by the falling upon him of a portion of the roof. The jury rendered a verdict for Quillen assessing the damages at $1500. It is understood that an appeal will be taken. The attorneys were; for the plaintiff, Collins & Jones of Snow Hill, Toadvin & Bell of Salisbury; for defendants, W. G. Kerbin and Purnell & Johnson of Snow Hill, James E. Ellegood of Salisbury.

Monday morning the Criminal trial of the State vs. Wm. T. Godfrey was called. Godfrey's counsel demurred to the indictment of the State's Attorney and the demurrer was sustained. Mr. Jay Williams represented the defendant. Godfrey has been re-arrested on a new writ.

The Criminal Presentment of the State vs. Ernest Foskey for larceny was tried before Court. The prisoner was given the benefit of the doubt and acquitted. Toadvin & Bell for defendant.

In the afternoon of Monday the case of the State vs. Zone Ingersoll, indicted for bigamy, was begun. The defense admitted the marriage but based its case upon the fact that the defendant had not heard from his first wife nor known of her being alive for seven years previous to his last marriage. At three o'clock on Tuesday the case was given to the jury. After being out fourteen minutes they rendered a verdict of not guilty. Bailey for State; Toadvin & Bell and Graham and Fitch for Ingersoll.

The last case to be tried was the Criminal Presentment of the State vs. Wm. H. Broughton, a colored youth of Tysackin district indicted for house-breaking. Trial before Court. Found guilty and sentenced to House of Correction for two months.

Court finally adjourned Tuesday afternoon after being in session twenty six actual working days.

Tuesday morning the petit jurors presented Judge Holland with a handsome oak Morris chair upholstered in leather. The Judge in a few graceful remarks thanked the jurors for their kind remembrance and commended them for their thoughtfulness in selecting such a useful and comfortable gift.

The County treasurer paid out about two thousand dollars Court expenses Monday and Tuesday.

A Wicomico Man Chooses.

Mr. Gordon L. Vincent has just been nominated as a delegate to the Virginia constitutional convention from Greenesville and Sussex counties. Mr. Vincent is a Wicomico man, being a brother of Mrs. A. W. Lankford and Levin Vincent of this city. He went South several years ago and engaged in lumber making. A Richmond paper, in commenting upon this choice, says:

"This announcement came as a great surprise to the people of Emporia, as Mr. Vincent had not announced himself a candidate or solicited the honor in any way. His nomination will no doubt give the most general satisfaction. Probably no other selection in the county could have met with such universal approval. Mr. Vincent is a wealthy lumber merchant, and a man of unusually fine business ability. He fully enjoys the confidence of his countrymen."

While he has never been especially active in politics, he has always taken much interest in public affairs, and is now a member of the Democratic Executive Committee of Emporia county. Mr. Vincent is a member of the well-known lumber firms of Truitt, Vincent & Co., and the G. L. Vincent Company. Mr. Vincent declared that he favored a restriction of suffrage and the division of the school funds between the races. He said he was in favor of re-trenchment and reform in the administration of State and county government.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

Receptions During the Week. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Grier's Crystal Wedding.

MISS TODD'S LUNCHEON.

Miss Katie Todd gave a 1 o'clock luncheon last Wednesday afternoon at her home "Rose Lawn" in honor of her cousin Miss Leonard Wailes, of Baltimore. Those present were Miss Leonard Wailes, Baltimore; Miss Fels, Philadelphia; Mrs. Selover, Cambridge; Miss Nannie Wailes, Miss Dora Toadvin, Mrs. L. Ernest Williams, Miss Elizabeth J. Dorman, Miss Reigart, Miss Lizzie Wailes. The decorations were in pink.

AN AFTERNOON TEA

The Misses White gave a Tea Thursday afternoon from four to six o'clock at their home, 241 Camden Ave. Miss White was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. George E. Hardy of Baltimore, Mrs. Thomas Perry, Mrs. E. Stanley Toadvin, Mrs. A. J. Vanderbogart, Mrs. M. A. Humphreys, Mrs. Emma Powell and Miss Letitia Houston. Assisting Miss Mary Lee White in the dining room were Miss Nellie Fish, Miss Nancy Gordy, Miss Maria Ellegood, Miss Edna Sheppard and Miss Mary Rider.

The house was darkened and the rooms were artificially lighted. The decorations in the hall and parlor were red and the dining room and library were in pink. The table decorations were pink carnations and smilax draped from the chandelier. About seventy five persons called during the afternoon.

In the evening the Misses White entertained the Euchre Club. Miss Wailes and Dr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Hardy of Baltimore were the out of town guests. Mrs. Hardy received the ladies prize, a desk calendar, for winning every game.

A CRYSTAL WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Grier entertained a large number of their friends at their home, 708 Division street, this (Friday) evening from eight to eleven, in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding.

The rooms were very prettily decorated with palms and roses, and music was the principal feature of the evening's entertainment. Two beautiful selections were rendered by the following double quartette. Soprano, Mrs. J. D. Williams and Miss Nancy Gordy; alto, Mrs. W. S. Gordy and Mrs. Belle Fowler; tenor, Dr. E. W. Humphreys and Prof. Dashiell; base, Mr. V. S. Gordy and Mr. Fred Adkins.

Another selection was sung by the following single quartette, Mrs. J. D. Williams, Mrs. Gardner Spring, Dr. Spring and Mr. V. S. Gordy.

Besides the vocal music an orchestra consisting of a harp, flute and violin was engaged from Philadelphia to furnish instrumental music for the occasion.

Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock consisting of ices, cakes, fruits, bonbons and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Grier received many presents, a great number of which were handsome pieces of cut glass.

ANOTHER CALL FOR GOOD ROADS.

MR. W. F. BRADLEY of Riverton Is Heard. MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have read with much pleasure and profit the articles on the subject of good roads by Messrs. Perry, Tilghman and Allen, published in the ADVERTISER'S issues of the 6th, 18th and 20th, respectively. I hope you, who are heading the agitation, will never let the subject die until every principal road in the county is made good from one end to the other.

We very much need good roads. We have always known what bad roads call for, and the recently made shell roads leading out from Salisbury are doing good missionary work for the cause of improved highways. They are teaching the public the "extravagance," as Mr. Allen puts it, of bad roads. Four miles can barely do the work of two on the average road in this county. To illustrate I met Mr. Whitefield S. Lowe's driver with a four mule team taking a load of lumber to Salisbury. From the mill in Spring Hill, about four miles from town to Mr. Elzey's gate the team was under a considerable strain to draw the load. At Mr. Elzey's gate the shells were reached. Then the lead mules became entirely unnecessary, as the pole mules could carry the whole load with the greatest ease.

Let everybody think of the "extravagance" of bad roads; the expense of getting our products to market after they are produced, and make a demand for good roads.

Very truly,

WM. F. BRADLEY,
Riverton, Apr. 25, '01.

MARYLAND MY MARYLAND.

What A Westerner Thinks Of Our Commonwealth.

ITS MEN AND WOMEN A GOOD CROP.

Mr. Joseph E. Wing of Ohio, who addressed the Wicomico Farmers' Institute in Salisbury last winter, writes as follows to the Breeder's Gazette, Chicago:

"What do you think of Maryland? All my friends are asking me that question. I am at a loss to reply. Had I ridden hastily through the State it would be easy to sum it up, but I saw each county, or part of each. You can not speak of Maryland in a sentence. I should say, however, that her best crop is her men and women; the human material there is good, as good as I have seen. Education is prized there and culture and refinement seem native. The old homes, beautiful with vines and set among grand trees appeal to one."

The men, the women, the homes, the churches! All these are interesting and often beautiful and a land that will produce them is certainly good to core. Indeed, Maryland soils are by no means exhausted. Some parts of it are as finely cultivated as one would wish to see. Many parts of the State are steadily increasing in productiveness. Some parts are half-abandoned, but one must consider that before the days of railroads, and during the stimulus of too abundant slave-labor, some land would be cleared and worked that should have been left in timber. Yet in parts of the State there has been little done to build up or repair soils. There is unfortunately a class of tenant farmers ignorant, reckless almost as careless and not much better informed of the principles of good agriculture. Where these conditions are obtained there is no immediate outlook for improvement."

Marylanders love their land and are anxious to see the waste places bloom again as they did forty years ago. It is nonsense to say that they are lazy, or too indifferent to work. Some such there are, yet in general the human material is good. In places they are hardened with too much land. They are forced to adopt the tenant system and that so often brings ruin, especially in Southern Maryland. Yet they are looking eagerly toward something better. That something will be the cow, the sheep, the cow pea, corn, clover, grasses."

It is amusing to see a lot of sheep or cattle turned into a fresh pasture. Each one crowds to the front, each one is striving to be in the lead. They rush on maybe until they have reached the far side of the field. And in the rear, near the gate lies some of the best feed. They feed back and discover it in time. Some of the Eastern locations have been passed by in the rush. The tide is turning back now. I found men from Kansas and from Illinois settling down on fields from which perhaps their grandfathers emigrated and sure they are of the wisdom of their choice. They are growing stock and building up their soils. I wish them success."

The one thing above all others that is profitable in Maryland is the winter lamb. The climate is very favorable to him. The market is in sight of his field. Green wheat or rye may be grazed all winter, generally. Cow-peas and other legumes are easily grown. Corn is not greatly dearer than in Illinois. Many lambs are grown, yet they do not feed carefully enough to give them the top prices in many instances. Ohio yet sends in her lambs to New York and almost doubles the price that Maryland farmers receive."

I thought to get data for water farming, but the stories told were so large that I did not dare relate them. An acre of good oyster water will produce 500 bushels of oysters in a season. In a year you reap from 1,000 bushels upwards. Your seed cost twenty five cents per bushel. Your crop sells for fifty cents a bushel. The bays are crowded with oyster boats. It is hard to get men to farm dry land and no wonder. And oysters, fresh from the bay, are good for man. I can eat a peck at a meal and renew my youth like the eagle."

Maryland Institutes are good. There is no nonsense about them. The director, Mr. Amos, goes personally to each one. Practical men and specialists handle each subject. Questions are sought and generally secured. The attendance is often good. Sometimes, the ladies come out; sometimes, unfortunately they do not. A very bright woman went to some of the institutes and talked of foods and their preparation and proved her faith by her works, making a practical demonstration as she went along. This feature is most excellent. It will yet be more developed. Mr. Amos the director is full of energy and push and devotes all his thought to the work. He is and old bachelor and has fallen in love with the whole state and her people and is giving his life to building her up. He is an admirer of the West and possibly thinks we are better than we are out this way. I myself think there is hope for a State that would produce spontaneously an Amos."

I met the Agricultural College people.

ple. They are a good and efficient set of men. They are doing good work. The college lads are bright, strong, mainly fellows that do your eyes good to look upon. You say, as you see them, "This is no old or played out land that will produce such lads as these."

The Experiment Station is doing good work, and has done good work. Especially valuable is the recent work on the use of ground phosphatic rock (not acidulated). It has proven that where plenty of vegetable matter is turned under, this phosphate needs no sulphuric acid to render it available. This discovery is of great value but needs to be understood and if imitated should be imitated in all parts. Do not forget to add the vegetable matter, by plowing under cow-peas.

Nature does much for Maryland. It drapes her homes and churches with vines, her oaks with ivies. Her soils are responsive. Her airs are invigorating. Her people are of the purest old English stock, except along the Pennsylvania frontier. There is a charm, a perpetual joy about this sunny land that only the one who has lived there can understand. It is a reverent land. They are proud of their past and with reason. It did me good to see how tenderly their old churches are preserved and their old burying grounds. Last week I saw the head stone of a lady who died in 1656. The old church stood in the midst of graves; fine old trees shaded it; it is a beautiful old building, far from any village, yet reverently kept and I doubt not a prayer from that old ivy covered shrine would go a little further than from many a pretentious modern affair of the city."

Water Works for Ocean City.

Some $15,000 bonds of Ocean City for waterworks and sewerage have been sold. John R. Purnell, of Berlin, Worcester county, bought $5,000 at 101 1/2; Mr. C. B. Taylor, of Berlin, $5,000 at 101 1/2. They are 25 year 6 per cent bonds.

The City Council of Ocean City has decided to award the contract for putting in waterworks to Messrs. Roscoe & Castoe of Bellaire, Ohio. The contract price was $12,999. Thirteen thousand dollars was their bid, but on account of some of the board being superstitious $1 was taken off. The work is to be completed by July 1.

While in Ocean City recently with a party of friends Mr. J. F. Waggaman had the grounds out for golf links on his farm across the bay. Fifty acres will be used for this purpose.

Eastern Shore Asparagus.

The Baltimore Evening News, of Tuesday reported that: "The first arrival of Eastern Shore (Md.) asparagus was received by Messrs. Thos. H. Evans & Co., commission merchants, on Light Street this morning."

The average condition of the consignment was fair, and the best sold at 20 cents a bunch, while small asparagus brought 30 cents a bunch."

Scenes on the Midway at the Buffalo Exposition.

The above picture gives a view of the "Midway" at the coming Exposition at Buffalo, New York. To those who attended the great World's Fair at Chicago during 1893 there is no need to explain the thousand sights and mysteries to be seen in this feature of an Exposition. There are those, however, who will stare in open-eyed wonder at the collection of wonders to be seen on the "Midway." It is best described as a small world in itself. You will walk from the "Streets of Cairo" to the "Streets of Mexico." Every country and its inhabitants with their manner of living are reproduced in this tiny world. Then there is the "ferris wheel" which will take you far above the highest building, or if this height does not satisfy the ever curious, he may take "A trip to the moon." Recreation and amusement are found on every hand and all who attend the Exposition will find the "Midway" one of the things worth seeing.

of Gotham were no doubt wise enough in their way. It is probable that they knew a great deal about a whole lot of things, but they made a mistake when they went to sea in a bowl, and that one error caused their undoing.

No matter how much care you take in the selection of the materials for your building or how experienced or reliable your mechanics, if you use inferior shingles you make a great mistake.

The covering of a building is the most important part of the materials used in its construction. "The weakest link is the strength of the chain," and "The poorest shingles determine the last of the roof." And it is poor economy to run so great a risk of having a leaky roof, to save such a trifling amount of money. Act wisely and buy best.

Maryland Weather Conditions.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports crop conditions for Maryland and Delaware, for week ending April 28 as follows:

GRAIN AND GRASSES.

Wheat, rye and barley have a beautiful green color, except in low lying fields where standing water has turned the crops yellow; elsewhere the excess of rain has apparently been beneficial, and the cool weather without detriment. With respect to grass it may be said that the rains have stimulated growth, but low temperatures have had the opposite effect, so that less advance is noted in development, and until warmer weather is experienced meadow and pastures will make only fair progress. Some clover seed was sown at the beginning of the week in the western and northern counties; in the southern counties the early sown clover is showing excellent stands. Oat seedlings continue in the upper counties, but was stopped by the rains after Wednesday; probably one third of the crop is in the ground in the extreme west, while only a small percentage remains to be sown in the northern central district. Farmers have done what was possible in plowing for corn, but the wet weather has greatly interfered with this work; on the uplands of the plateau region the work is farther ahead than elsewhere, and some harrowing has been done. In limited districts of Worcester county a few corn fields have been planted, but this represents only a few favorable instances.

FRUIT.

On the Eastern Shore blossoms are reported in all counties south of New Castle, in Delaware, and Cecil in Maryland. In the upper part of the plateau region buds have not yet opened, but in the lower parts of the counties some blossoms are observed. Here and there in Washington County there are some peach and apricot blossoms, but several favorable days will yet be required before the trees show general color. In Allegany and Garrett counties the trees are beginning to bud. In the more southern districts the foliage is well advanced and blossoms are plentiful on apricot, peach, pear and cherry trees, and in some localities the apple trees have started. Up to date the fruit outlook remains very favorable in every respect, as the frosts of the past week have been without any visible damage.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago says: "During the last severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for your cough or cold on chest or lungs. It is truly a wonderful medicine. No other remedy has made so many remarkable cures. Price 25c.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap

assisted by CUTICURA OINTMENT for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crust, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for body rashes, itchings and irritations in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations and excoriations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sensitive antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap and the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY

Salisbury, Md., January 24, 1900.
Gentlemen:—This is to certify that we purchased one of your Home Comfort Ranges No. 1 about a year ago and wish to say that we consider it one of the most durable and satisfactory of kitchen ranges, and heartily recommend them to any one wishing anything in the line of a cooking range. We would not be willing to part with it if we could not get another. For durability and as a good baker, and for all purposes, we do not think they could be surpassed.

Gentlemen:—I have been using one of your Home Comfort Ranges for the past several years, and receive great satisfaction from it as one of the most durable and reliable of all kitchen stoves. We would not want to part with it under any circumstances if we could not get another. This letter you may use in any way you think best for your business.
JAMES H. WEST.

Salisbury, Md., January 22, 1901.
This is to certify that I purchased a Home Comfort Range from one of the Wrought Iron Range Co's traveling salesmen, some six years ago. I find the Range in all particulars as represented by the salesman. It is all that could be desired in a first-class cooking range, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of a cooking range.

It affords me great pleasure to recommend your Home Comfort Range. I purchased one from your traveling salesman six years ago, and it is giving me perfect satisfaction. It is a splendid baker, and very economical on fuel. We would not take twice the amount paid for it if we could not get another like it.

President Wrought Iron Range Co.,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Dear Sir:—We are in receipt of your favor of June 18th, which we regret to say was mislaid. We have great pleasure in stating that your ranges are in use on six of the eight steamers of the fleet and that they have given perfect satisfaction in every way both as to their durability and working qualities, which have been tested to the utmost.

In the fall of '98 our steamer Pacific was totally destroyed by fire at the dock which originated at the U. S. R. warehouse, and although the steamer was burnt to the keel the Wrought Iron Range on board was found in such good condition that it was used on our new steamer Germania, which was built the following season to take place of Pacific. There was practically nothing wrong with the stove except discoloration and marks consequent upon the action of intense heat and water.

The steamers using your ranges are: Majestic, Collingwood, Germania, Atlantic, Britannic and Midland. Very truly,

FOR GOOD HEALTH

You Must Have Pure Blood and to Have Blood You Must Have Proper Medicine and that Medicine is Truitt's Compound of Herbs.

No household should be without a Wonderful Blood and Nerve tonic. It is nature's own remedy. This compound combination of herbs is a powerful blood builder, creating healthy blood rapidly bringing back the bloom, youth to pale and "allow" people, giving health strength and vigor to weak and emaciated. It cures all cases arising from poor and watery blood or shattered nerve forces, if too long standing and past curative power. Truitt's Compound of Herbs cures by building up and restoring lost powers and strength to the nerve and by making the blood rich and distributing it equally throughout the body, thus stopping the cause of disease. For further particulars add Truitt & Company, Berlin, N. J. We want agents everywhere to handle our remedies. Big offers for now being made. Nearly one million profit.

CITY PRIMARIES.

On Tuesday night the Republicans met and nominated a ticket for City Council. The gentlemen named are among the representative citizens of our town and will no doubt poll a good vote if they consent to run.

On next Monday evening the Democratic voters will be called upon to do likewise and it behooves them to put forward the very best men obtainable, if they would continue in control of the city administration. Salisbury has reached the stage when an economic and just administration of her affairs is a question of considerable moment to her citizens. We have passed the time when one or two thousand dollars would pay the running expenses of our town and are now spending from eight to ten thousand a year on our city government. It is true that a number of our best citizens refuse to serve as Councilmen owing to the large amount of time required of them and of the fact that the office is unremunerative. The time is fast approaching—we believe it should be done at the next session of the Legislature—when our city fathers must be compensated for their labors. It is unreasonable to expect that a business man should give his time and attention to looking after the welfare of a town the size of Salisbury without some material return for his services.

BLAINE AND MCKINLEY.

Everybody remembers that when James G. Blaine was Secretary of State he was regarded as the chief apostle of a vigorous foreign policy. McKinley, in comparison, was conservative to the point of cowardice. It was Blaine who complained that the McKinley bill would not furnish a foreign market for a single bushel of wheat or barrel of pork. Blaine was an earnest advocate of reciprocity as a peaceable means of extending American trade, while McKinley was satisfied with a home market protected by a tariff barrier over which foreign goods could not possibly climb.

The recent publication of a part of a letter written to the American Consul at a French Port by Secretary Blaine shows how fast and far the McKinley of the White House has gone beyond the McKinley of the tariff bill and beyond Blaine himself in the matter of foreign aggression. A group of French capitalists were negotiating with Turkey for the sale of Rhodes in the Mediterranean. They proposed to give the United States a coaling station free of cost if the latter would raise the American flag over the island. The proposition was made to the American Consul, who in turn transmitted it to Secretary of State, with the recommendation that it be accepted. Mr. Blaine replied:

"I note all you say about the desirability of a naval station on the island of Rhodes, and the proposition is most tempting. But it would never do to accept such an offer. For more than a half century we have been vehemently warning the nations of Europe not to invade our hemisphere. If we should raise the American flag over Rhodes, they would accept it as an admission that we had abandoned our 'hands off' policy and that the Monroe doctrine had become a dead letter; and the next thing would be an attempt on the part of one of them to obtain a foothold over here. As you will see, the proposition cannot be entertained though I approve of your enterprise in submitting it."

Blaine was enterprising himself and ambitious into the bargain, but his sense of consistency was strong enough to repel even the suggestion of the McKinley doctrine of "duty and destiny." He was called the chief American jingo in his time, but he balked at the proposition to raise the American flag over a foreign island when it could have been done without cost and with the free consent of the owners of the island. Our present rulers have raised it over a thousand islands at the cost of a long and expensive war. Blaine must go down in history as a very Quaker among statesmen as compared with McKinley and his advisers.—Philadelphia Times.

NOVEL CAMPAIGN FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

A novel plan in the campaign of road improvement, was put in operation last month. The Illinois Central Railroad has agreed with the National Good Roads Association to send a train from New Orleans to Chicago equipped with all the modern road-making machinery and manned with expert road builders, to give practical demonstrations of the art of road making at specified places along the route.

Men were sent in advance of the expedition to interest the selected sections in this work and to arrange for ample assistance when the train should reach its stopping points. Invitations were extended to the farmers of the surrounding country and every effort made to arouse an interest, so that the value of the demonstrations might be made as great and far reaching as possible.

The Baltimore Evening News, commenting editorially upon the movement, says:

"The 'Good-Roads Special,' which has been devised by the National Good Roads Association to give practical demonstrations in various parts of the country of the value of model roads, has started on its mission and is meeting with approval wherever the benefits of its work have been seen. At a point thirty miles south of Chicago, on the Illinois Central railroad, a quarter of a mile of model road is being built. The work is done under the supervision of an expert of the Good Roads Association, and the greatest care is being used to attain the best results possible. The train, after leaving the vicinity of Chicago, will proceed to New Orleans, where the next experiment will be made. The train consists of seven flat cars equipped with the machinery necessary for road-building by modern methods. The material for the roads is obtained on the spot where the stretches of model highway are built. The work is in charge generally of Mr. Charles T. Harrison of the Department of Agriculture, and is receiving the hearty support of the Good Roads Association."

It is stated that wherever the train appears interest upon the part of the farmers of the vicinity is at once manifested and the lesson of good roads is forcibly impressed upon them. The idea of the train was heartily approved by The News at the time it was suggested. It is gratifying to note that its work bids fair to be a success. When it reaches this part of the country on its mission of instruction in the art of highway improvement, it is to be hoped that every friend of the good roads movement will do his best to aid the work and advance a cause that appeals so warmly to the public interest."

Mayor Hayes met an overwhelming defeat in the Democratic primaries held in Baltimore on Wednesday of last week, his pronounced friends losing in nearly every ward in which they were candidates. In other wards those who were supposed to have more or less sympathy with the Mayor's ideas also went down in the tidal wave of disapproval of the Mayor's arbitrary course. At last reports his honor, however, seems to take the defeat with good grace and is willing to aid the successful candidates in their battle for election.

Mr. Arthur F. Haddaway, managing editor of the Eastern Ledger, died at the residence of his father, George E. Haddaway, in Easton, Friday afternoon of last week. Mr. Haddaway had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for some months past. He has been engaged in newspaper work for a number of years, being at one time on the "Chicago Tribune" and later on was associated with the "Inter-Ocean." In his own town he was very popular and he had numerous friends throughout the State as he was at all times a most courteous gentleman.

Mr. A. W. Lightbourn of Easton, Md., son of Rev. J. H. Lightbourn, is going to start a new paper in that place. Mr. Lightbourn promises to make the paper a Jeffersonian Democratic one, editorially, and to have a paper free from the control of cliques in the party. We wish Mr. Lightbourn success and hope that he may have the moral courage to carry out his good intentions.

It is announced by the chairman of the executive committee that the Maryland State Teachers' Association will hold its next annual meeting at the Blue Mountain House on July 1, 2, 3, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY.

Two Men At Sharp's Point Shoot Each Other.

Smith White, 70 years old and Wm. Fletcher, about 80 years of age, were the actors in an affair at Sharp's Point last Wednesday that was only a little short of a tragedy.

As the story is told, the two men have nursed for some years a grievance each against the other. Wednesday they met in the river, when the older man invited the other to go ashore and accompany him to his home. The invitation was accepted with the result that on their arrival White drew a revolver and fired at Fletcher, the shot passing through his back-leg and barely scratching his leg. Fletcher fled and heard a parting shot whistle past him as he sped. Fletcher says the last shot got his blood up, so he went down the road, and borrowing a double barreled shot gun returned and fired one barrel at his assailant. The charge of No. 4 shot pretty well peppered White's body from his head to his hips. Before other injury to either was done the two men were separated. Dr. Dick was summoned and removed the shot, some of which he found deeply imbedded in the flesh.

THE PRIZE AWARDED.

Master Arthur T. Warner of Fairfield, the Winner.

The committee appointed to examine the essays and award the prize to the school boy or girl who should write the best essay on any subject relating to the Revolutionary War, has made its report. Master Arthur T. Warner of Fairfield proved to be the successful contestant, out of the considerable number of boys and girls who entered the contest. The chairman of the committee wishes to say that all the essays were meritorious and deserving of mention.

The committee's report reads as follows:—"After having carefully read the essays submitted and giving them due consideration the committee met on April 26th., and unanimously decided that 'The Women of the American Revolution,' was entitled to the prize. On opening the envelopes it was seen that this essay was written by Arthur T. Warner. The prize will be a globe or map for the use of the school to which the contestant belongs."

E. S. ADKINS, Postmaster.

The Republican voters of the city met at their headquarters on Tuesday evening and nominated three persons for City Council to be voted for at the city election, Tuesday, May 7th. The following gentlemen were nominated: Messrs. A. J. Benjamin, Wm. P. Jackson and Wm. Booth. Mr. Jackson has declined the use of his name and the vacancy will be filled by the City committee. It is reported that either Mr. Thos. H. Williams or Dr. S. A. Graham will be substituted for that of Mr. Jackson. The following were appointed as a new City committee: Messrs. L. A. Parsons, J. B. Baker, E. S. Adkins, I. S. Price and Jas. S. C. Chatham.

Mr. John F. Waggaman recently purchased the Seaside Hotel, in Ocean City, and has commenced putting it in first class condition for use as an annex to the Atlantic Hotel. The Seaside Hotel will be remodeled and refurnished in keeping with the Atlantic. All of the old outbuildings and kitchen will be torn away. The house will be used as sleeping quarters only. Mr. Charles Webb, of the Hotel Hamilton, Hagerstown, will manage the Atlantic the coming season. Mr. G. J. Hearn of the firm of Twilley & Hearn, barbers of this city, will have charge of the Atlantic barber shop again this year.

Cleanse Your Blood

The cause of all spring humors, pimples and eruptions, as well as of that tired feeling and poor appetite, is found in impure, depleted blood.

The perfect blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla, as multitudes know by experience.

It cures all blood diseases, from the smallest pimple to the stubborn scrofula sore—from morning tiredness to extreme nervous prostration. Begin taking it TODAY.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Spring Medicine. Be sure to get Hood's.

The Shoe for Wear

style and comfort is our $5.00 Men's Lace Calf. It is made of specially selected leather, by a machine which turns out better work than the most skillful shoemaker could do. There are no faulty stitches. No irritating lumps. Fits easily, wears evenly.

And among the Women's shoes our $2.00 is the leader.

—Fifty carrier pigeons sent to the Adams Express office at Clayton yesterday from Bridgeton, N. J., were liberated yesterday soon after their arrival. A number of spectators were present, and when the birds were liberated, they flew up in the sky and after several circles had been made, they got their bearings and directed their course toward Bridgeton. Each bird had a number tied to one of its legs. On Sunday last 30 were liberated in Clayton, 19 of which made the trip to Bridgeton, across the Delaware Bay, in one hour and three minutes. Smyrna Times.

—The American Packer says: Baltimore is the greatest oyster market in the world. "A fleet of nearly 5,000 boats bring the bivalves here. During the season 50,000 men are employed on these boats and at the wharves. Many more find extra work with the shippers. At the season's end a large number of the boats take to the fishing business. The larger number of the men are thrown out of employment. The season of 1901 has been one of the best for oysters that this city has ever enjoyed. A larger number have been shipped than ever before. The prices have been high. After April 15th, the merchants here will begin receiving oysters from Virginia.

Our Corset News
Specialties in Corsets

We are sole agents for this city of the famous CRESCO CORSETS.

CANNOT BREAK AT THE WAIST.

Cresco.

The Cresco combines all the good features of other good corsets, and has this distinct feature of its own which corset makers have been vainly trying for years to embody. By a smoothly adjusted disconnection at the front waist line IT CANNOT BREAK. The Cresco is made to fit any form and insures ease and comfort to the wearer. Wear it once and it wins you. You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine the CRESCO—have its merits explained to you.

R & G
STRAIGHT FRONT CORSET

The corset you have seen advertised so much in the magazines and newspapers. We have the really straight front corset which as will be seen by illustration is wonderfully graceful and shapely. The P. N. corset, Thomson's Glove Fitting and Dr. Warner's Health; also a number of other corsets are shown in our corset department. You get satisfaction with our corsets or a new corset.

PATRICK O'HOOIHAN

although you'd never think it from his name, is Irish. Mrs. Patrick O'Hoolihan is Irish. Pat is a Dimmycrat of the first water, (with a little whiskey on the side) and Mrs. Pat is a Republican. A more loving couple it would be hard to find, and even with all the differences of opinion Pat, barrin' a little disposition to see two men when there is only one there, is as genial and hard-working a man as lives in any town. Pat came home with a twinkle in his eye and a clove on his breath last night and found Mrs. Pat. a cryin to break her heart. "Well BIDDY Darlin what's the matter, OID-LOIKE to know. After Biddy had mate Pat to understand that their Goat had eaten up his red flannel undershirt, Pat with a big D— remarked, the goat dies this time sure. Why, Pat, says Biddy, You've tried every way before to kill that goat and now how can you do it? Pat was mad. He took the goat on the rail road track and tied him so he'd be right in the middle of the track when the train came. Now says Pat I've got you dead sure and in a few minutes on came the train. Pat saw the train coming; so did the goat. The goat reared and pitched, ran backward and forward and did everything to get away but Pat had him this time and Pat knew death was sure, but when the train was in a hundred yards the goat threw up the red flannel shirt and flagged the train and saved his life, and now Pat wouldn't trade the goat for all the red flannel undershirts in town. Lacy Thoroughgood intends this advertisement to put you on the track of the largest assortment of Men's Spring underwear in Salisbury and if you buy a few undershirts they might save your life, too. Thoroughgood is in a position to sell you undershirts and drawers made of silk for $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 each piece. Thoroughgood is in a position to sell you Balbriggan underwear for 25c. 50c. 75c. and $1.00 a piece, in any color except red.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood; due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

CLIMBING THE ALPINES.

Miss Ellis Journeys to the Mountain Tops of Switzerland.

Sadlersville, Md., April 23, 1901.

Monday morning came, and arising rather early I had the pleasure of viewing the sun's rays on the top of the Jungfrau before the sun itself was visible. The clouds were breaking away and the snowy white cap of the mountain could be seen far above the white clouds which were sailing slowly across the heavens. It was a scene so rare that I gazed upon it several minutes in silent admiration. Breakfast was ready quite early and we had been pleased to learn here that the Swiss were a little more liberal at the breakfast table than the other foreigners we had seen. Our breakfasts since leaving England had consisted only of rolls, coffee and unsalted butter, but here and elsewhere in Switzerland we had the richest honey I had ever tasted. It looked like honey I had ever seen; some one suggested that perhaps it had been boiled. Breakfast over we were ready by 8 a. m., to go to the station and by 9 a. m., were bound for Grindelwald. One hour and twenty minutes served to take us there; Grindelwald is the extremity of the railroad for here it curves and returns to Interlaken by way of Lauterbrunnen. The scenery was quite varied during this short ride, sometimes we were passing through a valley, a turbulent stream roaring and tearing its muddy, clayey waters quite clear the track, threatening it seemed to wash out its foundation; again we would be climbing the side of some mountain, while the valley lay far below. We had an opportunity this day to see Swiss peasant life for we were in the heart of this sturdy little Republic, far removed from any large town or city. Many of the houses were built quite near the track and we had a good view of them and their surroundings. All are built of wood and are often three or four stories high; the roof seems the most important part, for sometimes three stories are covered by it, besides it protects the cattle and horses from the first story and is supported by poles driven in the ground. These covered places are used for storing wood in the winter, for many of them contained bundles of it then.

We were surprised at the frugality which characterized the use of wood; the smallest twigs were tied up in bundles for use; many of the sticks were not larger than one's little finger. The sheds for the cattle are built at the back of the dwelling. I presume there is a communicating door between the house and stable so that the shepherd may pass through and care for his flocks without having to go out in the snow during the winter. I did not notice any wells or pumps near the houses and do not know how the flocks are watered in the winter. The majority of the people drink beer and perhaps the cows and goats have learned to relish it too. None of the houses are painted; the windows are small and few.

One could not help noticing their fondness for flowers; no matter how poor or squalid the dwelling there were always a few plants growing in pots on the window sills, those having red blooms seeming to have the preference. In front of the houses were small gardens containing a few beets, cabbage and white potatoes, but these did not look very thrifty, and we still wondered upon what the people subsisted. The little children seemed very friendly and ran after the train waving their hands to us and many a smile and hearty wave of the handkerchief did they receive. Even the little tot who scarcely seemed able to walk at all would come toddling after the elder brother or sister waving his little, brown hand as if expecting to be rewarded for it. The journey to Grindelwald was a succession of chalets on the left separated from each other by mountains, while on the right the smooth face of the mountains rose more abruptly, but occasionally a small cottage far up the mountain side could be seen. The country became more and more mild and rugged until at last Grindelwald was reached. This is an idyllic village of widely scattered houses picturesquely situated at the foot of the Eiger, Mittenberg and Wetterhorn. The latter means "Peak of Storms" and is the principal summit of the Bernese Oberland in Switzerland. The glacier cannot be reached by trains and after leaving the station we found we still had some distance to go. The guide assured us that it was five mile walk but we found it hard to believe when once we were there. Many of us did not feel like taking the tramp up hill, over rocks and crags, so began to look around for a vehicle to take us by the carriage road, the foot-path being more direct. Those who walked provided themselves with alpenstocks and set out in advance of those who went in the carriages. Our vehicle was a very comfortable one and was driven by an American who told us he came from Patterson, New Jersey and had been there seven years. He was fast losing his native speech for his words were indistinct and sentences broken. Having gone as far as the carriages could take us there was yet a little distance to walk.

The morning which had been so bright at starting was now overcast with clouds and the feeling of awe was intensified; they seemed to be just over our heads and their proximity gave us the feeling that they were about to close in upon us.

A few minutes brought us in sight of the famous glacier wedged in between the slopes of two mountain sides; the snow had alternately melted and frozen again until the immense pile before us was as blue as the summer sky, the whole being crowned with ridges of pure white snow. From under the solid mass several small streams trickled out forming a larger one which flowed down the little ravine which we had crossed. The effect of the sunlight upon this mass of snow and ice must be magical and all were very sorry that we did not see the sun upon it. On one side of the glacier a grotto has been hewn in the solid ice. It is astonishing that such a lasting archway could be made of so perishable a thing as ice. The walls of the grotto were as smooth as glass and as blue as the darkest turquoise. Truly such a sight was wonderful, here it was July 20 and while we were shivering in our wraps beside this mountain of snow and ice, our friends at home were almost sweltering in the torrid heat. Emerging from the cavern we found guides ready to take those who wished to go across the top of the glacier. I had seen the grotto, had stood upon the snowy mountain's edge and did not care to risk life and limb by climbing over the slippery mass, for I am not very sure-footed at best on ice and snow. The guides will take any number from four to six, but if more wish to go together two guides are necessary. Every guide must have a government license. He is provided with a rope and makes one end fast around his own waist and at every 5 or 6 feet he makes another loop and fastens it around the next person and so on until all are tied together. He goes ahead and with his pick ax cuts the foot holds for himself and those who follow. It is extremely dangerous and some who went told us that often had they missed the guide's track by six inches they would have plunged down any of the numerous yawning fissures. The object in tying them together is to insure safety for should one slip the fact that he is tied to the others helps him to regain his footing readily, whereas were he not so protected he would be likely to lose his balance entirely and perhaps be lost in trying to rise. As he goes forward the guide sings a quaint little air which readily finds an echo in the surrounding peaks, at the most dangerous places his song is loudest and most frequently repeated. We who were not climbing looked in vain for the little eidweiss but the mountaineers who live near make a business of gathering it and the tourist who finds one is very fortunate indeed. Besides we were scarcely high enough up for it grows where no other living thing can, and here by us were growing dwarfish trees and shrubs and several varieties of plants were blooming whose names I did not know. Soon the unmistakable mutterings of thunder were heard and we hastened to return to shelter.

Just as we had turned a loud crashing report caused us to look around but instead of thunder as we supposed it proved to be a mass of snow and ice which had broken loose high up on the glacier and had come tumbling down the side. Fortunately our climbing party had taken another direction and had nothing to fear from this miniature avalanche. Before we reached shelter the rain was pouring down and by the time it had ceased we were ready to return to Grindelwald for something seemed to whisper to us that lunch time was near. Lunch over, between showers we rambled around the little village, going into the shops, looking for curios and mementoes. The bear is the national emblem of this country. The Hotel at which we lunched was called the Bear Hotel and in shops we found bears carved of wood of every size and in every position. Many of them were carved into useful articles; for instance numbers were standing upon their hind legs with their front ones extending in a curve forming a unique and beautiful umbrella stand; others were arranged so that they held a mirror between them and various other additions converted these two bears into a magnificent hall-piece. Tiny little fellows were dancing the bear dance, many of them no larger than one's thumb, and others of different sizes were made of paper-weights, door-blocks etc. We wished so much to bring some of the larger ones home with us, but could we have gotten it to New York I am sure the duty would have been more than the original cost of the articles. Grindelwald has several churches; one of them St. James' Chapel where the English service is held, being open I entered; it was a very sweet pretty little chapel similar to ours in America. This is also a favorite winter resort when the snow covers the surrounding country and mountains; but beautiful as it must be then I am sure I should prefer the summer trip to the winter one. The frequent showers prevented us getting far from the hotel and at 5 o'clock we were all at the station, weary with the day's tramping and ready to return to Interlaken. By the time we reached there supper was ready and afterwards the shops claimed our attention for awhile.

We were to leave this charming spot on the morrow and it was necessary that we make all preparation for it this evening for we were to leave by boat for Scherzigen by way of Lake Thun then to proceed by rail to Geneva via Bern. A. E. ELLIS.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.
All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by R. K. Truitt.

Messrs. Albert Carmine and Nath Adkins spent Sunday at the Delaware Railroad Bridge, crossing the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, to witness the removal of the single track draw and the substitution of the steel double track structure. The engineering feat, which was in charge of the American Bridge Company, required nearly all day. The old draw was slid from its position in the high bridge to a trestle work erected at the side of the structure, and at the same time the task of substituting the new steel draw was begun. The operation was carried on without any inconvenience to travel. The work of preparing the bridge for the new draw occupied about six months.

H. M. Green and family, formerly of St. Michaels, Md., are now residents of Delmar.

Rev. J. E. T. Ewell, formerly pastor of the M. P. Church, has left for his new field of labor, Waverly, Baltimore.

SHARPTOWN

S. J. Cooper, W. D. Gravenor, A. W. Robinson and others of town have been in Baltimore this week.

The M. P. Church will soon be closed for several weeks to make improvements. It is to be refrescoed, new carpet put down, and quite a number of minor improvements made.

F. C. Robinson & Co. have enlarged their feeder mill on water street.

George R. Fletcher is making some improvements in his residence.

Last Sunday was a lively day at the railway. There was a constant coming of people all day. Some walked, some rode, some in sail boats and some in gasoline boats. The crowd was large all day. The attraction was the new ship in course of erection and which is nearing completion and will be launched early in May. The measurement of her sails has been taken.

Mrs. M. A. Gravenor is in Baltimore this week selecting and purchasing her summer millinery goods. She is accompanied by her daughters, Miss Brooxie and Miss Ruth, and also by Miss Minnie Bailey. The summer opening will be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week, May 1st and 2d. The display will be unusually fine. The invitations are very nicely printed and will be distributed this week. Since the institution of these opening occasions they have greatly increased the interest and our young ladies look forward to them with much anticipation.

Roland S. Smith arrived home this week from New York, having been honorably discharged from the United States Navy. He enlisted three years ago and has seen a great many strange places and had some rough experiences, but he has returned in good health. He was, at the time of his discharge, on the battle ship Kentucky. He was chief carpenter's mate. Captain Chester had charge of the Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. N. Cannon gave a party on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Nettie Cannon of Concord, sister of Mr. Cannon. Those present were, Messrs. ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

No. 91. The Antinomians were a sect founded by John Agricola, at one time, a disciple of Martin Luther. He and his followers taught that the law was of no use or obligation under the dispensation of the Gospel.

Antinomianism in the United States was preached by Mrs. Anne Hutchinson, an English woman, who came to Boston in 1634. She came for the spiritual comfort of the sermons of John Cotton and John Wheelwright. These men she pronounced to be "under a covenant of grace," all other ministers "under a covenant of works." Mrs. Hutchinson and her disciples believed that good works availed nothing toward salvation. Wheelwright, Sir Henry Vane, then Governor of Massachusetts and others upheld her. She was tried in 1637 and with Wheelwright banished from the colony.

A number of her followers were fined or otherwise punished, and the rule of the Puritan hierarchy was firmly established at the expense of freedom of thought and speech.

No. 92. During the reign of King John (1199) it was agreed by the latter to settle the dispute with Philip II, of France, respecting the Duchy of Normandy, by single combat.

John, Earl of Ulster, was the English champion; and as soon as he appeared in the field of combat, his adversary put spurs to his horse and fled, leaving him master of the field. King John asked the Earl what his reward should be. He replied, "Titles and land I want not; I have enough of these; but in remembrance of this day, I beg the boon for myself and successors, to remain covered in the presence of your majesty and all other sovereigns of this realm." The request was granted and has never been revoked, which accounts for the odd custom in Parliament of members wearing their hats. In Elizabeth's reign an act of Parliament was passed forbidding the exportation of wool; and as a memorial of the event, and to impress the people with the national importance of it, as well as to keep constantly in their minds this source of national wealth, sacks of wool were placed in the House of Lords, on which the judges sat. The Lord Chancellor, who presides over the House of Lords, sits upon a sack of wool over which a red cloth is thrown. To be appointed "High Chancellor" of England is even now to be appointed to the wool sack."

No. 93. In 1877 Ismail Pasha, Khedive of Egypt, signified his wish to present an obelisk to the United States. After the selection had been made, the entire control of the operations attending its removal was intrusted to the late Lieut. Commander Henry H. Gorringe, U. S. N., who conducted the whole affair in a most satisfactory manner, from the taking down of the obelisk at Alexandria, to the re-erecting it on its present site. The time occupied in its removal was exactly one year and four months. The whole cost of transportation was $105,000 and was defrayed by W. H. Vanderbilt of New York.

The machinery for moving this great monolith was all made in this country. The stone was hauled over land seven miles to the government dock at Alexandria and was then put on shipboard and carried to New York, where it arrived July 20, 1880. The height of the obelisk, including base, is 80 feet, 11 inches. Total weight with pedestal and foundation is 713,000 pounds. Its history dates back, according to Dr. Brugsch Bey, the great Egyptologist, to the time of Thutmosis III, 1600 B. C. Some authorities maintain that he is the Pharaoh, who, with his host, was overthrown in the Red Sea.

The obelisk bears three separate sets of hieroglyphic inscription, a marking three important epochs in the history of Egypt; viz:

I. Thutmosis III, "the Alexander the Great of the Pharaohs period," or Egypt in the height of her prosperity.

II. Rameses II., the epoch when Egypt had ceased to conquer and was merely defending herself against Asiatic invasions.

III. Cleopatra, the epoch of the decline of the ancient Egyptian Empire.

This monument of antiquity is an inestimable treasure to our country. We can hardly appreciate that we have, standing in New York a column upon which Moses and Aaron looked and whose hieroglyphics they could doubtless read, that Darius, Cambyses, Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Cæopatra, Mark Antony and Augustus were familiar with it.

"This obelisk is red granite of Syene, and bears the name of 'Cleopatra's Needle'." The other of the two obelisks of Thutmosis III., was removed to London, and placed on the Thames embankment, in 1878.

Oyster Season Ended.

The season for taking oysters with tongs closed Thursday April 25th, and the marketing of oysters ceases. The season has been regarded as a fair one. While the quantity caught was perhaps smaller than last season, the price has been in advance of last year's market. The State fishing force will keep a sharp lookout for all violators of the law during the closed season.

The State Steamer McLane has gone out of commission, and is in Baltimore to receive repairs, when these are completed her commander Capt. Jas. A. Turner, will bring her to Salisbury where she will be held in readiness to obey the State's behests.

Nelaton's Remedy For RHEUMATISM

Is a certain cure. It has made hundreds of friends everywhere as the following will show.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis of Cambridge, Md., writes: For two years or more I have had rheumatism very badly and have tried many kinds of medicine without getting any relief. NELATON'S REMEDY was recommended to me and after taking only one bottle I was entirely cured, and have not been troubled for over three months. Thanks to NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. E. Lowrey, fisherman and oysterman of Cambridge, Md., writes: Two years ago last February I had terrible attacks of Rheumatism whenever the weather turned bad, I could not lay down or raise my arm to feed myself. I tried NELATON'S REMEDY and a few bottles cured me completely. I have not had any Rheumatism since, and I tell any man, he is foolish to suffer with Rheumatism when NELATON'S REMEDY can be had.

Mr. Moses Titch of Easton, Md., writes: NELATON'S REMEDY for RHEUMATISM is a wonderful medicine. It cured me when I had Rheumatism so bad that I had to walk around with sticks. I heartily recommend NELATON'S REMEDY to any who suffer with Rheumatism, as it is a reliable and sure cure.

Dr. J. R. R. Farnell of Snow Hill, Md., endorses NELATON'S as follows: I have used the NELATON'S REMEDY in cardiac neuralgia and general rheumatism with satisfactory results. The ingredients evidence a combination useful for arthritis and various forms of gout and rheumatism, particularly when accompanied with hepatic torpor.
