Kris Johnson and Lee Levering Crowned at Frosh Valentine Dance

Each year a tiny little kingdom comes to life, and its members are young at heart once more. This is the Kingdom of Hearts, but known to most of us as the annual Valentine Dance, sponsored by the Freshman Class. Faithful subjects of that little land come from far and near to be gay and also to pay homage to a new King and Queen.

Hearts were young and gay in the romantic atmosphere of the Valentine mood. The incentive provided for this charming setting was the very capable music of the Maryland State College Orchestra.

Ooohs and aaahs were in order with the arrival of the bidders for the throne of the King and Queen of Hearts. The heirs to the crownship were chosen by popular vote of their loyal subjects as they arrived at the door. Chosen to reign were Kris Johnson and Lee Levering, who were attended by the princes and princesses of the court; namely, Carolyn Kniceley, William Curtis, Eleanor Bach, Robert Hall, Gertrude Patilla, and James Brodes.

The noted attraction of the evening seemed to be the gay streamers and the gay spirits of those who attended. Perhaps it was the thrill of the coronation that brought this about, or the charming atmosphere, or maybe the music, but it was grand.

And so our little kingdom goes back to sleep until next year. Yet the memory lingers on; and so, we hope, do the King and the Queen.

SGA Reports Latest Proposals and Events

About a month ago the Student Government Association accepted an invitation from the Maryland State College SGA at Princess Anne to hold a meeting with them in which mutual problems would be discussed. The joint meeting was planned for Monday night, February 14, at Princess Anne. Surely you'll want to know the results so don't fail to inquire from your SGA representative.

The revision of the SGA constitution is rapidly progressing. Miss Marshall asked that each organization submit a copy of its constitution to her committee since these are included as by-laws of the SGA constitution.

Soon you'll probably be seeing new card tables. The SGA has voted to buy 50 tables to be used for dances and other purposes.

It was agreed that the SGA buy a much needed fluorescent lamp to be placed by the Snack Bar fountain.

The president, Mr. Rebstock, called a special meeting last week for the purpose of the SGA's selecting a person for the Post Office job. William Curtis was selected by a majority of secret votes.

The SGA members are very much interested in making STC's mascot "Gulls" prominent. The idea has been discussed several times. Perhaps you have some suggestions.

The SGA is also anxious to get students interested in its meetings. Watch the bulletin board for the next meeting and plan to attend!

STC Frosh Receives a Chemical Award Here

Miss Kristin Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin A. Johnson of 1008 North Division Street, has received the Chemical Rubber Company award for the college student having the highest average in Chemistry for the first semester at the State Teachers College, according to Mr. James F. Glenn, instructor. Miss Johnson was presented a copy of the latest edition of the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics, published by the Company in recognition of her achievement.

Miss Johnson, a member of the freshman class at STC, came to Salisbury from Indiana by way of North Carolina. She spent a year and a half at Wicomico High School from which she was graduated in 1954. She is enrolled in the scientific curriculum of the junior college division at STC from which she expects to transfer to a technical institution for preparation for a career in chemical research. While a student she has done part-time work at the local Campbell Soup Company chemical control laboratory and in the research laboratory of Rubberset Company. Both of Miss Johnson's parents are teachers.

Second Semester Finds Many Students Gone

As the second semester of the 1954-55 academic year began, some familiar faces were missing from the ranks of STC's student body. Two seniors graduated at mid-year and a number of lowerclassmen left with the intention of joining the armed forces.

Both Donald Collins and Andrew Dickerson (better known as "Spuck") received their baccalaureate degrees in January. Each of them had begun his studies here as a transfer student and later switched to the teacher training curriculum. This change necessitated their making up several required courses and thus the extra semester's stay. "Spuck" is now teaching social studies at Greensboro High School in Caroline County. Donny is considering several offers of teaching jobs, particularly one in Delaware.

Another senior who failed to return for the second semester is Carolyn Leister Godfrey. Mrs. Godfrey will make up the few credits she needs for her degree at American University in Washington, D. C., where her husband is studying for the ministry. Her absence is particularly felt by the members of the College Chorus of which she was president.

On January 19th the Air Force called "Doug"ie Robbins, John T. Adams, Donald Sterling, George Jerman and Bob Sturgis to abandon their scholastic pursuits and begin winning their wings. "Buddy" Emerson, president of the freshman class, had previously left to join the army.

To these and the several others who have gone for various and sundry reasons, we wish good luck. They will continue to occupy a place in our memories.

Mrs. Fleming Returns As English Instructor

Mrs. A. L. Fleming has returned to STC this semester after attending Columbia University in New York City where she worked toward the doctor of Philosophy degree. After attending Columbia from June 1, 1954, to the end of the first semester this year, Mrs. Fleming has completed her residence requirements.

Mrs. Fleming's particular sphere of interest is literary criticism and she has started working on her dissertation on "A Study of Shifting Points of View in Literary Criticism in the Teaching of American Literature."

Prior to her leave of absence, Mrs. Fleming taught English and did personnel work here at the college. Now Mrs. Fleming has replaced Mrs. Lucy Bennett, who has retired as instructor of literature and speech. When asked how she felt about being back, Mrs. Fleming said, "I am extremely happy to be back at State Teachers College."

"Bill" Curtis Elected Postmaster by SGA

With the beginning of a new semester came the change of postmaster for our Student Activity Center. Bill Curtis was elected to succeed Grayson Wheatley, who has filled the position since September.

A committee composed of Werner Rebstock, Sylvia Givans, and Robert Denston picked three candidates from the list of applicants for the post according to the qualifications set up by the Student Government Board. The three who were chosen were first approved by Mr. A. L. Fleming. The SGA then voted on these three candidates and elected Bill Curtis as postmaster for this semester.

During his stay at STC Bill has been active in both basketball and soccer and now serves as treasurer of the Men's Athletic Association. Last year he held the office of president of the Men's Day Association.

He has been a member of the school orchestra and also the College Chorus. Bill, who is now a STC has five major organizations, exclusive of the athletic associations, which sponsor various functions and activities through the year. These organizations are: the Sophanes Players, Future Teachers of America, Photography Club, Newman Club, and the Christian Association.

The Sophanes Players have presented an experimental one-act play in arena style theatre. This was previewed at a banquet given by the club for the faculty and members of the organization. The Sophanes Players hope to follow this up with a three-act play this spring and the presentation of an assembly program February 17.

The Saturday night before Halloween, the Future Teachers of America sponsored a "spook party" which was well attended. This event is given annually by them.

The Photography Club does not sponsor any social functions, but plays a necessary role in the college. All the pictures in the newspaper and many of those that will appear in the yearbook are taken by its members. It was necessary that much new equipment be purchased this year, and they are in the process of acquiring even more.

The Newman Club has sponsored just recently a party at the Catholic School; and throughout the year they hold panel discussions on religion. Also, members of the club have been active in bazaars sponsored in town.

The Christian Association has vesper services each Sunday evening. They presented the Thanksgiving program and the Candle-lighting service in conjunction with the Glee Club. The Association sponsored a trip for several of the members who wished to attend the planning program of the Student Christian Association of the Eastern Shore. Also, they have recently pledged their support in the World Student Christian Movement.

This, then, is a review of what STC's clubs have accomplished to date.

Campus Pupils Collect One Hundred Sixty Dollars for Polio

The Campus Elementary School is in there pitching again in another of its charitable money-making campaigns. One-hundred-sixty dollars was collected for the March of Dimes from pupils of the six grades. More credit than ever goes to our youngsters this year, because the campaign was not set up on a competitive basis as it has been in the past. The children are conscious of the need since there are several cases of polio in the elementary school, and contributed accordingly.

The children have now initiated a drive to solicit money for the heart fund.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

Where do the students spend most of their time between classes? In the library? No. Where in the school is the place which can be called home because of the time spent there? The individual rooms? No. Where in the school is the socializing and fraternalization carried on? The social room? No. Where in the school do the students have a "Cuppa Cawfee" and a quick bite to eat or a coke? The cafeteria? No. Where does the student take care of everything, keep his feet off of the furniture? The social room? Yes. The snack bar? No. Where does the student pick up a paper from the floor, clean off desks and tables? His room? Yes. The snack bar? No. Where do the students mop up spilled fluids and act like ladies and gentlemen? The dining hall? Yes. The snack bar? No. Where did some dozen or fifteen students contribute their mid-year break in order to redecorate said room to create a more homey atmosphere? The snack bar? Yes. Let's all pitch in and make this the best looking room in the building, for only you and you and you can keep the snack bar clean!

Herd In The Classroom

The first graders were busily preparing themselves for the Christmas program. Shirley Young was asking some of the pupils what they should wear, and very satisfactory answers were given until it came time to ask the small lad who was to portray Joseph. When asked what he thought he should wear, the boy pondered for a while and then replied very seriously, "Well, I think maybe I would like to wear a false face!"

One second grade girl had written a note saying, "I love you," to her favorite boyfriend. During recess of the same day she came up to Mary Lou Truitt and said, "You know, I've really waited a long time to be able to write those three words!"

A junior high school class, while talking about Japan, discussed the fact that the poorer class of people in that particular country do not have private baths. As a result the entire family, the mother, father, and all of the children must go to the community baths. One boy raised his hand and timidly asked, "Do they get undressed?" To this, Al Moran replied, "Don't you get undressed when you take a bath?"

One seventh grader was having a terrible time writing his paper correctly on "The Colonization of the Moon." Each time he would show his paper to the teacher she would encircle his spelling errors and tell him to write them correctly. Once more he returned to have his paper checked. Ingrid Stoops looked at his work and said, "You should be more careful in doing your work, you still have some errors." To this the student replied, "You should be more careful in doing your work too, here's a misspelled word you missed!"

Another junior high school lad was known for his dislike of the opposite sex and could see no use for them. Al Moran's class was learning that the Virginia colony had no women from 1609-1617 and that the men were busily preparing for their arrival to the colony. Seeing no use for their concern over having women come to America he said, "Why should they need women? Robinson Crusoe lived without them for forty years!"

Seoul Hostel Meets Students' Urgent Need

Sixty Korean university students with no place to live got a new lease on life when they found accommodations at the World University Service hostel which opened in Seoul in October.

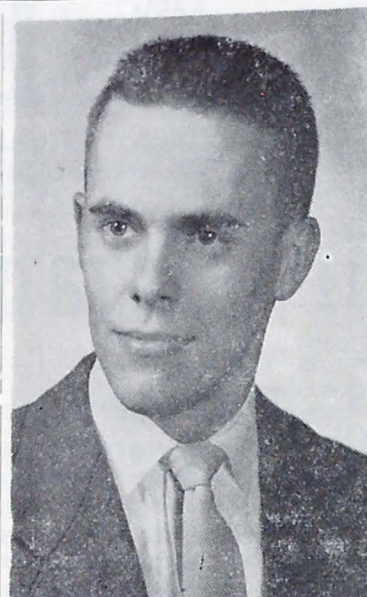

Writing from Korea last winter, Dr. L. George Paik, President of Chosun Christian University and Chairman of WUS, appealed for American aid to help solve the urgent student housing problem. Dr. Paik called the need for accommodations "the greatest among the needs facing the Korean university community." The terrible devastation of Seoul and a severe fuel shortage left thousands of students without a place to live. Opportunities for employment as tutors, which before the war had provided room and board for many students, no longer existed.

In response to this appeal World University Service in the United States raised $15,000, sufficient to purchase a war-damaged property on Mukhong Dong in Seoul. This gift was transmitted to Dr. Paik, who turned to the Fifth Air Force for building materials to repair the house and make it habitable. These materials were granted under the Armed Forces' Assistance to Korea program.

Personnel from the Fifth Air Force and from the United Nations Korean Relief Administration attended the WUS housewarming party held earlier this month to celebrate the opening of the hostel.

Spotlighting Students

The senior personality for this month is a fellow with a terrific personality, Robert Denston, better known as "Bob." He is a native of Worcester County and has always lived in Pocomoke City. He completed his elementary education there; and, upon entering Pocomoke High School, he became an active participant in several clubs and organizations. For two consecutive years (his junior and senior) he was president of the Student Government Association.

After high school "Bob" enrolled at STC in the teacher training program. When he became a sophomore, "Bob" was elected vice-president of his class. During his first two years he was a member of the PTA and the Sophanes Players. In his third year here, he was president of the junior class, manager of the victorious STC soccer team, and a cheer leader. Because of his PEP, "Bob" has become a very integral part of this cheering squad. As a senior now, he continues to lead the cheering sections and is vice-president of the SGA.

Not only has "Bob" found himself enthusiastic about these activities, but he has become very much interested in student teaching. At the present he is teaching Mrs. Bloodworth's seventh grade at Princess Anne. Last semester he was with the eighth grade at Stephen Decatur High School. If he is not drafted, "Bob" would like to teach the eighth grade in Baltimore or Harford County.

Besides his interest in student teaching, "Bob" has many other favorite pastimes and foods. He likes fried chicken, Dixieland jazz, the South, and "cute little D. B." A fellow such as "Bob" can have few dislikes and he has only one intense one—to feel bad! To a senior certain to see success in the teaching field, we wish the very best of luck!

Dedicated to my friends—who become fewer with every issue. Well, how did you make out with exams? You did, huh? So did I.

Got your new schedule right? Me too. I'm taking composition, which is kind of silly in view of my literary accomplishments—I don't mean this column. I mean my book—yes, I've published a few, maybe you've read some of them. There was "Brain Surgery, Self Taught," "Doping Horses for Fun and Profit," "How to Cheat at Volley Ball," "Tom Swift and His Electrical Sun Dial," and a book for the youth of the nation, "What to Do in Case of Peace."

Speaking of peace: people keep talking about war (clever, huh?) and a recession. Well, friends, I was in Florida not long ago and there's so much money in Miami the girls are coming back with green sunburns. And those Florida sunbathers are really healthy. Even when you die you look good.

I won't say how I got to Florida but it's a brand new idea in transportation—a non-scheduled bus line. I'm telling you it was something. For three solid days they stop and go, stop and go, stop and go. But every time you have to go—then they don't stop.

But once you get to Florida, there's no place in the world like Miami Beach. Actually, it's not a beach—it's a long strip of hotels entirely surrounded by money.

I'll never forget those hotels, my bank account won't let me. I paid 30 dollars a day for my room—45 dollars when I wanted breakfast. The only person who ate dinner was the chef. They put me on the top floor—I won't say the ceilings were thin—but I got a sunburn and I never left the room. At 45 dollars a day—who leaves? I had the beach brought to me. I put salt water in the bathtub and looked at a picture of Marilyn Monroe. All this while a bellboy kicked sand in my face—I'm telling you, I lived.

One day I went to Hialeah—that's an old Indian word meaning SUCKERRR! It's a beautiful track. Everywhere you look there's big green lawns—with signs saying: "Don't walk on the grass—this could be your dinner." I bet on one horse named Eczema. He was itching to run but they scratched him.

Let's face it, I'm just the unlucky type—the kind who gets pardoned two minutes after they pull the switch. Everything happens to me. You've heard of cigarette lighters that won't work? Mine won't go out.

Now I've got a friend just the opposite. Owns his own ranch and fifty head of Cadillac. I've never seen a guy so lucky. One day he won 5000 cows in a raffle. And they don't even give milk! Every morning, ten quarts of oil! He's got so much money he has to pay storage on it. I won't say he's cheap, but did you ever see anyone walk into a drug store and order one Kleenex? He's so tight he hums in a high wind... and eccentric? He's a guy who spends two hours a day washing his car. Now I don't mind his washing his car—but in the bathtub?

Speaking of bathtubs and cleanliness—how about the snack bar. The funniest joke I could write is (Continued on Page Three)

BY JIMMIE WILSON

You know Maryland is full of teachers, but do you know your college is doing to them?

The need isn't as dire as a few years ago, but it still is enough to keep us highly concerned. This year, approximately 50 high school seniors will be valedictorians. Dr. Blackwell, Dr. Bosley, and Focht for the purpose of entering an invitation for ALL IOR'S DAY. They are all supported by various committees will introduce to the visitors structure and function of college. How will you know them? What can you do in state wide program?

Let's take a brief look at official program for ALL IOR'S DAY which will be held the 18th of March. The ceremony starts to roll at 3 P.M. in the gymnasium where an exhibit of acrobatics and folk dancing will be presented. Later, there will be an informal tea in the social where the faculty members of the high schools represented confer. There will be a tour of the school through the dorms and classrooms. Each class will have a complete display and visitors will be enlightened in fields where their interests aspirations nestle. There will be a place for you in every mentioned so far. Looking at we find more opportunities for you to help in preventing the gram from turning into a thick. Many people will be Most of them will be strange our walls. You can guide answer their questions, and make them feel at home.

The auditorium will remain the temple of the art. There a program will be presented exemplifying college life here. Naturally, the culminating will also be employed and mixed by the traditional of the gym. Old friends and new away together to the strains end the perfect day.

We hope you will contribute making this an important occasion. Remember, your college, your state, and your country can help greatly in reducing teacher shortage problem. Remember too that no contribution is too small. A warm and a handshake will be appreciated.

The hostel is operated on an operative basis under the direction of a former Korean Army chaplain. Original plans called for remodeling of the building would have permitted the accommodation of 100 students of 60, but funds for this extensive preparation are not available.

The Seoul hostel was established under a WUS program of agency aid to Korea, valued at $110,000, which includes sending of medicines, books, study equipment, food and textile parcels, funds to provide partial salaries.

STC Gulls Outscore Goldey-Beacom, 92-81

In one of S.T.C.'s stiffest games the Gulls, hitting consistently, out-scored Goldey Beacom 92-81. Coach Benn Maggs played only six men during the game, and the sixth man only because one fouled out. Overcoming a slow start, the Gulls have now won seven out of the last eight games. Roland Fosky was the big gun, hitting for 28 points. Close behind him was George Komarnicki with 26 tallies. The Maggs-men were hitting and just could not be stopped. The score!

Intramural Basketball Standings Recorded

Once again the intramural basketball season is drawing to a close. It has been a good season; the boys have had a lot of fun; and the spectators have enjoyed it. Slacum's team is leading at the present time with three wins and no losses; second is Shaheen's with a two and one record; Hall's is next with a .500 percentage, having won two and lost two; Rebstock, Fosky, and Komarnicki are tied for fourth place with a two and one record each. From this you can see that the teams are evenly matched and that it has been a good season.

Wesley Overpowered By STC Gulls, 91-50

Sparked by the 31 point output of Roland Foskey, the STC basketballers completely overpowered the Wesley College Whippets, 91-50 on their home court.

The victory enabled Coach Benn Maggs' lads to take the Collegiate Conference lead with a 3-0

Kinsella High Scorer In 76-75 Thriller Over Goldey-Beacom

At home against Goldey-Beacom the upsurging STC Gulls won a spine-tingling thriller, 76-75. The STC rooters practically yelled themselves into a frenzy throughout the game. It was a close one all the way with each team leading alternately. The score at the half, after changing the lead 15 times, was 40-38 in favor of Goldey Beacom. The magic moment was realized with Jack Kinsella sinking a foul shot with two seconds to go, tying the game and sending it into overtime. It was Kinsella again scoring as the buzzer sounded for the end of the overtime. His drive-in shot gave the Maggs Men a one point victory, 76-75. Jack Kinsella was high scorer, zipping in 26 tallies. Missing from the line-up was Roland Fosky who was suffering a leg injury.

The taller Wesleyan boys just couldn't keep up with the blistering attack of the accurate shooting STC team.

Besides Foskey's outstanding offensive effort, Jack Kinsella and Charley Muir controlled both backboards to shoulder a large share of credit for the Gulls' victory. The rest of the team's scoring was evenly distributed. George Komarnicki bucketed 14 points,

The dominance of frost filled air has failed to foil the bartering attitude of sports minded men in Baltimore... Paul Richards has been battling it out with George Weiss in an all-winter snow ball fight (using ballplayers as snow balls) in which an eighteen man swap has been arranged. Few men in baseball would have taken such a big gamble in their frosh year in a new position. You may wonder about his judgment but not his intestinal fortitude... The acquisition of Billy Cox from Brooklyn took the outbidding of three other clubs. Billy, playing third, should be one of the brighter spots of the season at Memorial Bowl. He is quoted as saying, "that fellow Richards, really knows his baseball and I think I'm going to like being with Baltimore." It is a well known fact he did not like being with Brooklyn... Girls' Varsity Boasts Record of Eight Wins

The girls' varsity basketball team has really been going great guns this year. They have a record of eight straight wins and no losses on the regular schedule. The only exception is the loss to the Sweetheart's team which was only a practice game. By the way, STC will play another practice game with the Sweethearts some time in the near future.

Here is a rundown of the last several games. We defeated King's College 52-40. Ina Rae Calloway was high scorer in this game with 20 points. Next, we swamped Goldey Beacom by a score of 50-25. Pat Gardner took honors with 15 points.

The Freshman Junior Varsity defeated the Asbury Church team 24-22 in overtime. Betty Thornton was high scorer with 11 points.

Harriet Dickinson led the varsity to a 55-27 victory over Galludet. Still on the victory trail, STC swamped Ville Julie Junior College by a score of 39-17. Sally Dawson, a freshman teamster, was high with 10 points. Wesley College was the next victim. Ina Rae Calloway popped in a high 22 points as we defeated Wesley 42-25. The latest win was over Goldey-Beacom by a score of 37-23. Pat Gardner and Dolores Coolidge shared top honors with nine points each. Here's hoping we can keep up our fine record.

Here's the forthcoming schedule: February 12 — Trinity College, home, 10 A.M. (postponed); Feb. 19 — Towson STC, home, 10 A.M.; Feb. 25, St. Mary's, home, 7:30 P.M.; March 3, Kings College, away, 7:30 P.M.

Incidentally, the Co-Captains for the varsity team are Pat Gardner and Carolyn Knicely. We want to congratulate them on the fine job they are doing.

We'd also like to mention of the wonderful work being done by the managers. Bettie Smith, who is a combination referee, scorekeeper, and jack of all trades, is the manager. "Sis" Gil-Sport Beat as it looks from here.

Engaged to Be Married

Now that Valentine's Day has passed and the Christmas season is only a faint memory, a new crop of engaged couples has emerged from the ranks of the STC students. Among those about to be married are:

Virginia Nock, a sophomore, and Duane Bradley, a senior, became engaged shortly before Christmas.

Janice Isenhour and Lloyd Harrington plan to be married in the fall. She is a sophomore and he is a junior.

Carolyn Leight, who is a sophomore, became engaged during the Christmas season to Tommy Merrill, who is a junior at West Virginia Wesleyan.

Another engaged couple are Roberta Burns and George Mason, who are both sophomores at STC.

Elaine Brinsfield and Ronnie Hughes are engaged. Elaine is a junior and Ronnie is a sophomore.

Sally North, who recently returned to STC as a sophomore, became engaged to Forrest Lees during her absence. "Woody" is now serving in the Navy.

Shirley Bowdle, a senior, who is well known at STC, recently became engaged to "Bunky" Truitt who is a junior.

Norma Lee Brinsfield, who has just returned to STC as a sophomore after a brief absence, is engaged to Richard Martin. Her fiancé is attending the University of Maryland.

The Strait of Messina, between legendary Scylla and Charybdis, is to be crossed by a bridge one span of which will be 5,000 feet long (Golden Gate span, 4,200). The designer believes that spans of 10,000 feet are possible.

Hospitals are using plaster paris reinforced with a resin for casts which are said to be stronger, lighter, and thinner than the usual plaster cast. It is washable, and to permit a better X-ray.
