LABOR SHORT ON FARMS OF THE COUNTY

Many Workers Needed In Wicomico To Till And Harvest Crops.

CITY ALLURING TO COLORED LABORERS

$3.00 Per Day Is Said To Have Been Turned Down Account Of Better Wages Elsewhere To Be Had—County Does Not Have Scale Of Wages.

In Wicomico there are a number of farms, requiring from one to three men, in addition to the owner or tenant farmer, to successfully operate them. Reports from the different sections of the county show in some localities an alarming situation, in others a disturbing state of affairs, and at present it does not look as if there will be a sufficient amount of farm labor to make sure the return the farmers so sadly need after the three years of almost famine in farm life.

On the Eastern Shore in general, it is the lure of the big towns pulling the negro away from the farm which is bringing about this condition to a large extent.

One prominent farmer of the Pittsville section is said to have been unable to obtain help at $3.00 per day, recently. The average wage paid in Wicomico is said to be around $2.00 a day, the county not having a stipulated wage scale as is the case in several of the other Eastern Shore counties.

Road building is taking its quota, it is said, while the mills and other industrial centers are alluring many more. While the situation in this county, up to the present, has not assumed alarming proportions, those who have studied the situation believe that it will assume a more serious aspect in the next few months.

FRUITLAND AUCTION BLOCK TO OPERATE

Berries Will Be Handled This Year As Herebefore—Shipments Expected To Be Heaviest Ever.

Recent statements by Salisbury buyers, who have announced their intention of establishing an auction block in Salisbury for strawberries, have been taken by some to indicate that Fruitland was to be superseded as a strawberry market. The Fruitland market will be conducted as before, however, and the same buyers will be there, with the exception of some of the Salisbury buyers. Fruitland is a market for the strawberry section of Northern Somerset and Western Wicomico Counties.

The surrounding territory produces more strawberries than any other in this vicinity, excepting Pittsville. The quantity of berries shipped has increased yearly. Last year, berries were brought from Vernon, Allen, Eden, West Post Office, Nazareth, Nantuxwango, Loretto, Princess Anne, on the South; and from Hebron, Mardela, Nanticoke and Tyaskin on the West.

The auction block there will be conducted as usual and buyers expect the shipments to be the heaviest ever known.

Friday, June 1st is the date set for the annual commencement of the Nursing Class. Applications to take the nursing course are on the increase each year, and early in the winter it became necessary for the hospital management to rent the Justice Tavern house on Newton Street to take care of part of the student nurses which now number 22. The class entering last spring and fall was the largest in the history of the training course, there being 12 young ladies to take up the work.

As we, who have followed the fortunes of this most beloved of public favorites for years, know Jiggs has been the most heaped ed husband in captivity.

Maggie, his better half, or worse, as he chooses to call it, has been a thorn in his side, making life for him one of a dig and continual domestic jar. Jiggs says he has stood it long enough and now announces that he is going to show his worth as a man. How he does it, how he braves the conventions of married infidelity; how he defies the machinations of his wife and her friends is humorously presented. The new play with all its unique features and innovations is entitled, "Father On His Vacation". From all accounts it is the acme of superlative perfection.

ROBBERS BEAT UP AGED MAN NEAR DELMAR

William Ward, Rural Storekeeper At Ward's Cross Roads Brutally Attacked Mon.

VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

Assailants Are Said To Be Negroes Familiar With Groceryman's Habits And To Have Known Of His Hidden Wealth—When Resisted Beat Him Into Insensibility.

With his face and arms battered almost to pulp, William Ward, aged proprietor of a grocery store at Ward's Cross Roads near Delmar was found early Monday evening by a neighbor lying on a couch in his home where he had been placed by his assailants after being robbed and struck down in his store.

Following the discovery of his plight, the injured man was rushed by friends to the Peninsula Hospital in this city where little hope of his recovery is maintained. One side of his head and face is an unrecognizable mass of flesh and blood giving evidence of a most murderous assault at the hands of the robbers who must have rained blow after blow upon the old man when he resisted their attack and quest for money.

It is said that Mr. Ward was able to state to his rescuers that there were two robbers, both negroes, and that he had recognized one of the pair. However no clue has been found by the authorities of their whereabouts and the authorities have but little evidence to work upon. The theory is that the parties implicated knew of the rumormongering of the storekeeper had lots of money hidden away and familiar with his habits they went into the store late in the afternoon just as he was closing up and after being refused their demands, began beating the victim into insensibility in order to make him tell where he kept his treasures.

MUNICIPAL PARK IS AGAIN BEING TALKED

The property offered by Mrs. Jackson is of about a community bounded on the South by Isabella street, on the west by Johnson's Pond, on the north by main line of the B. & A., and on the east by the Mill street siding of the B. & A. Railway. The park would, under the plans, be opened as a community affair, with no admission fees and all profits would be devoted to one or more community organizations probably such as the Fire Department, community band, or Red Cross Chapter. Amusement devices and stands of various kinds will be erected soon if the plans materialize.

LODGE ATTENDS CHURCH

WOULD SELL ITS PROPERTY FOR $80,000

Water Company's Proposal To City Names Approximately That Figure.

VALUED BY P.S.C. FOUR YEARS AGO AT $30,000

Is Declared By Underwriters To Be
From 25% to 85% Deficient Under Varying Circumstances—$25,000
Would Be Necessary To Make Immediate Necessary Improvements.

Although about four years ago, the physical property of the Salisbury Water Company was appraised by the Public Service Commission at around $30,000, a proposal has been received by the Mayor and City Council by the company in which approximately $80,000 is the figure quoted for the pumping units and water system of the city. The quotation came from Louis Lalumière, Philadelphia, by whom the company is controlled.

The City officials, it is said, would be unwilling to pay anything like the figure asked should the property be taken over by the municipality. Underwriters declared last year water conditions were from 25 per cent to 88 per cent deficient under varying circumstances.

The Public Service Commission, after making a survey is at all, declared that $25,000 would be required to make the necessary improvements in the program outlined by its engineers. The survey, presented by Luke Ellis, expert for the commission, showed that approximately 10,000 additional feet of water main were necessary for adequate fire protection, this not including the California section.

The plan called for the elimination of many of the "dead ends," and an additional unit comprising an electrically driven pump and two wells. This would only meet with the present needs, Mr. Ellis stated.

That water may be supplied to all sections of the city for use in combating fires and for home consumption, Mr. Ellis stated, the estimates differed from $100,000 to $300,000. This amount would include the installation of new and electrical driven pumps and the laying of 12 inch water mains along three or four of the principal streets.

DON'T FORGET YOUR FIGURE

There now! We've spent hours over our complexions. But, if we've past twenty-five (or even if we aren't) there's an ugly bit of padding somewhere that Nature has treacherously (Truthfully, now!) Or have we escaped that tragedy only to grow unnecessarily—side view, please—given us while we weren't looking? Our hips are they too prominent? Where else? Or does our problem

What is the use of a beautiful face if it can't be seen for noticing the ugly, billowy curve from armpit to ankle? A worldly-wise corset is the best friend of most of us; but when you buy this necessary heavy aid, use at least the discretion you do in buying your face powder. In this day of corsets exactly designed to different figure needs there is no more reason for you to wear an obvious, uncomfortable, unbefitting corset than there is need of making a caricature of your face by using a deadly white powder instead of one tinted to the natural color of your skin. Cosmetics isn't what it was in the old days—thank Venus.

If you have any corset problem, write to Miss Jane Hill, in care of this paper, and your letter (unopened) will be forwarded direct to her for answer.

THE PROPER WAY TO BRUSH THE HAIR

The hair grows from the scalp diagonally and not at right angles, so it should always be brushed in the front from the crown forward and in the back from the crown downward, using a firm but gentle stroke.

Brushing is a first aid to the scalp massage. A dry scalp shows a lack of circulation through the entire body and requires frequent massage with a preparation that will keep the scalp well supplied with oil. Pomades prepared for a dry condition come in tubes. Only enough to cover the tips of the fingers should be squeezed out.

After brushing the hair, drop the head slightly forward and place the tips of the first three fingers of both hands at the top or crown of the head. Allow the fingers to move in a rotary movement, first forward toward the forehead, then sideward and downward toward the ears, downward, to the base of the neck. In the forward movements there should be a strong pressure of the fingers, in the side movement a very light pressure and in the backward movement hardly any pressure at all. Make a complete radius.

A NATURE DRAMA BEYOND COMPARE

"Read What America's Leading Natural Scientists say:"

George K. Sherwood, Secretary of the American Museum of Natural History, of New York said:

"Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have made a distinct contribution to the Natural History of Africa, through your wonderful Motion Picture of the free wild animal."

Carl E. Akeley, who is the world's greatest authority on Elephants, and Wild Animals, said:

"When the final stampede of the elephants comes on the screen, you feel inclined to run. It is the most thrilling picture I have ever seen."

Herbert Lang, of the American Museum of Natural History, of New York said:

"How fortunate that you were able to record in such an impressive and ideal way the grandest sights the African jungle holds. You both deserve all the well merited success you have obtained."

Is Chiropractic Scientific?

Science is a classified knowledge. It does not depend upon chance, or luck, or guesswork. If a method is scientific it must work out—not sometimes, but ALL the time. No method of combating disease has ever deserved to be called scientific until Chiropractic was developed. The treating of disease by remedies is an art in which the skill in diagnosis and in predicting the rather dubious reaction of the patient to the remedy MAY bring results.

Chiropractic is a SCIENCE. The Chiropractor is trained to detect spinal abnormalism by hand and verify by X-ray until he knows with absolute certainty the position and relation of the spinal bones. His methods of adjusting these are so exact, so specific, that he can be absolutely positive that the adjustment will be followed by just one result—the utmost effort of Nature to cure. The only element of uncertainty left—the only reason why a Chiropractor cannot promise a complete cure to every patient in the world—is the possibility that the case has gone so far that Nature herself will not cure it, which means that no treatment on earth would be of any avail.

Chiropractors do not depend for their success upon the uncertain elements which form a basis for other methods. The very simplicity of the system makes for accuracy. For instance, the Chiropractor knows—not guesses—but KNOWS—what organs in the body are weak or diseased after he has analyzed the spine. Conversely, he also knows which organs are healthy and sound. His word is the word of authority. There are things about disease which he cannot find out in this way, but these things are not essential to the cure, and here again the scientific nature of the system shows itself. He knows with a certainty from the beginning what is hidden from him. He never mistakes a guess for a fact.

It is because Chiropractic is exact, specific and definite that Chiropractors achieve a higher percentage of results than any other profession.

ARCADE THEATRE

Next Week—Monday and Tuesday

May 7th and 8th. Matinees Both Afternoons. Usual Prices

Across 1000 miles into the heart of African jungles went Mr. Johnson and his wife, the only white companion, and they headed an expedition fully equipped with cameras and firearms for the purpose of bringing back intimate pictures of wild animals in their native lairs. This picture attracted huge crowds at Baltimore where it was shown at the New Theatre, week of April 16th. Critics of the Baltimore papers rated it very highly in their reviews. Salisbury audiences will find this immense presentation of animal life extremely interesting and a relief from the usual type of picture.

FARMER'S DAY COLLEGE PARK ON MAY 26TH

Exhibits, Demonstrations, Entertainments, Address By Governor, Laying Cornerstone, Drills And Baseball Game Among Features Of Programme Arranged For Visitors.

Agricultural exhibits that will cover improved methods of all the major farm operations, entertainment that will fill in the gaps between more substantial features and an afternoon program that will both be interesting and instructive, have been outlined as some of the attractions for Farmers' Day at the University of Maryland at College Park, May 26th.

While the details of the demonstrations and exhibits are yet in the embryonic stage, the main features of the program have been proved for and have been announced. The address will be delivered by Governor Albert C. Ritchie and those who know the governor's interest in agriculture will be prepared for a practical and interesting discourse.

It is expected that the governor will deliver his address in the afternoon and the features of the program also will be planned for the open air. Provision, however, has been made to hold the exercises in the auditorium of the Agricultural Building should the weather prove unpropitious.

A particular effort will be made this year to show the visitors through the different departments of the University, to explain the functions of each division and to show the numerous ways in which the institution is serving the people of the State. The work being conducted in the interests of women will be given special prominence. Just what is being accomplished by the Extension Service in girls' club work and in home economics through the county home demonstration agents and what is being done by the institution in its home economics teaching will be visualized in a playlet to be presented as a feature of the afternoon program.

The corner stone of the new gymnasium and armory will be laid with Masonic ceremonies by the Beltsville and Hyattsville Masonic lodges, following Governor Ritchie's address. An exhibition drill by the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit of the University and a baseball game will be other attractions of the afternoon.

Luncheon will be served to all visitors.

cannot be accomplished through individual effort. The national organization has four departments each of which deals with difficulties peculiar to farmers along those lines: Taxation, Transportation, Legislating and Marketing. To the latter about 80 percent of the income of the bureau is devoted, as it is deemed a most vital thing to the future of farming.

It was decided at the meeting to hold a mass meeting for the farmers of Wicomico County in the Courtroom on Saturday afternoon, May 19th at 1:30 P. M. At that time it is proposed to have Hon. Gray Sizer, Washington, D. C. head of the Legislative Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the man who sponsored and fostered the "Farm Blue" in Congress, and who has recently been urged to run for the Presidency, or some other nationally known person here to outline the functioning of this great organization.

ESPRIT DE CORPS.

That the people of Wicomico county are moved by one grand spirit of co-operation whenever called upon for community effort was evidenced on Tuesday night at the meeting of the directors of the new hotel company with representative leaders from the neighboring townships.

Those citizens from Salisbury's contingent districts pledged their support to the erection of a new modern hotel edifice that would not only be a structure of civic beauty but an institution of incalculable worth to the people in general, serving business and social interests alike.

Salisbury can not afford to build this hotel alone. If a cold bare necessity, it could probably be done. But it is clear that such an institution should be the product of community effort and labor.

The possibilities of this Peninsula are unlimited. It is one great expanse of fertile land irrigated by streams and navigable rivers. Touched on one side by the traditional Chesapeake Bay and on the other by the white caps of the mighty Atlantic, it offers a climate that is hard to surpass.

When asked what is the one outstanding need of this great Peninsula, the question answers itself by saying, the development of all the latent agricultural possibilities and the establishing of new industrial life. Salisbury is the logical center of the Peninsula. It is the hub of the wheel that has turned with remarkable progress during the last decade.

There is probably no other thing today that would accomplish more in the development of land values and commercial advantages in this territory than a modern hotel. Traveling men and tourists expect it, and when they do not find it heap up criticism upon the city for failing to provide decent accommodations for its visitors.

But this is not the only reason why a hotel is imperative for Salisbury. As pointed out by one of the county leaders at the meeting Tuesday night, there is no place in this city that can be conveniently made into headquarters for the farmers and business men who come here from the outlying districts of the county. At present there is no space that can be suitably used for organization purposes. If the agricultural resources are to be developed and if the commercial interests are to be enlarged, then such a place must be provided.

And so the hotel project becomes a community affair in which every citizen of this county should be vitally interested. And its inception will mark a new era in the advancement of this Peninsula along progressive lines for the other cities may be expected to follow Salisbury's example.

That the people of this county are going to unite with the Salisbury forces in effecting a realization of a long-felt dream is an announcement that should elicit much favorable comment everywhere and should imbue the local workers in the stock-selling campaign with a spirit of enthusiasm that makes the success of the proposition loom up larger than ever before.

UNDERMINING MAN'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, attracted national attention when in his inaugural address he said: "During the past few years and especially during the late war period there has been a universal tendency towards an excess of government. This is resulting in the enactment of public laws for the cure of private and personal ills that are burdening the state government with functions and obligations which will destroy the effectiveness of governmental activities and also of individual responsibility."

If this condition be true of the states, and there can be no doubt it is true, what shall be said of such an evil when its operations are extended to the national congress. Perhaps the evil is most forcibly brought to public attention in considering the question of appropriations so flagrantly made in defiance of the fundamental and just principle that one class or group shall become the private beneficiary of appropriations made at the expense of the taxpayers. But more than this, the radical tendencies daily becoming more evident in government circles, disclosed as a fact by the members of both great parties, are persistently pressing the opportunist to foist on the nation laws and governmental restrictions that are utterly destructive of business expansion, but which provide an opportunity for a little flag waving, that finds its reward in the applause of the unthinking. If we don't look out we will soon be "governmented to death."

TEST YOUR EDUCATION.

The best college is not measured by endowment. It is measured by the men and women it turns out. The test of culture is the ability to serve, the power of giving, not getting; of helping, not hindering.

The college will oftentimes pass a man the world will quickly flunk. Many men have been honored in college who have been dishonored by society because with all their high gradings in classes they have not learned how to march with the masses.

The college is a starter but it never completes the education job. Your education does not end when you pick up your diploma. That is when it just begins. That is why graduation day is Commencement Day.

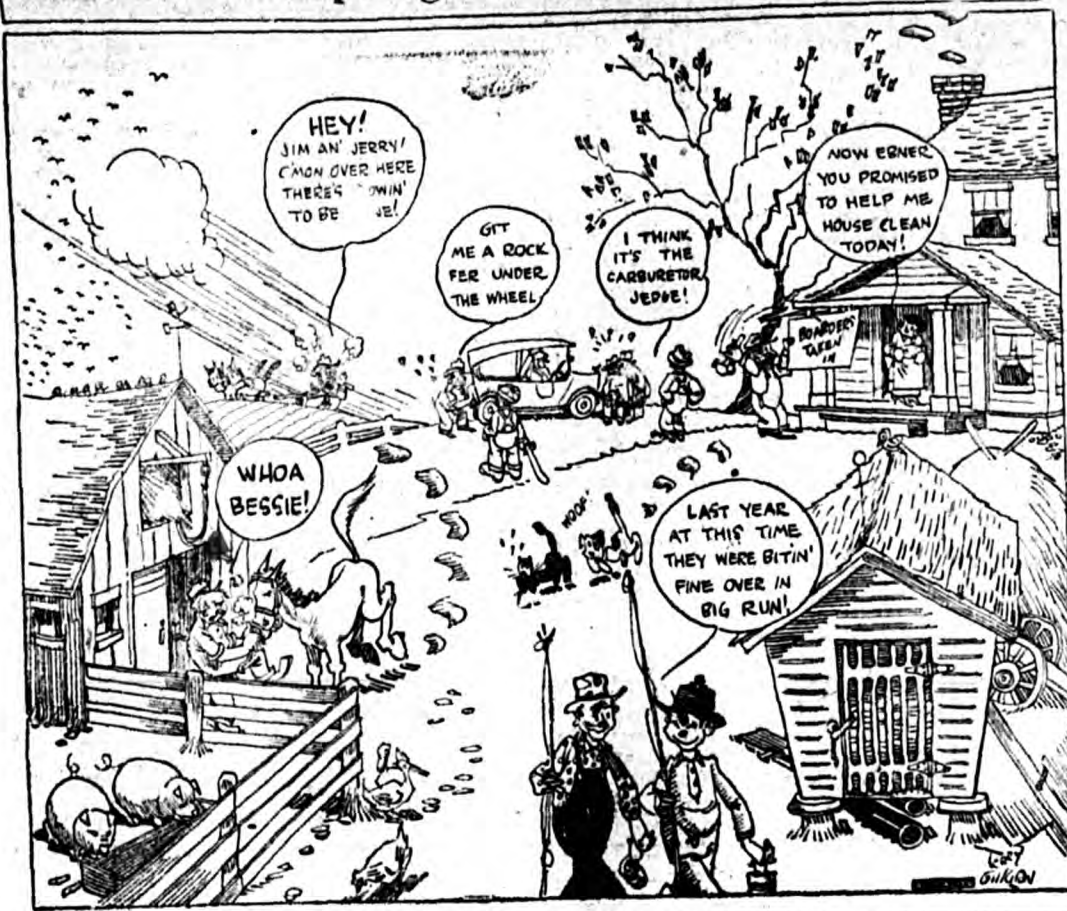

Many of the best educated people got their education without the help of college courses. Test yourself. If you can honestly answer "yes" to all the questions that follow you are indeed educated, even though you never heard of Xenophon's Anabasis and never owned a parchment encased in a tin tube.

Has education given you sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?

Has it made you public spirited?

Have you learned to make friends and keep them?

Spring on the Farm

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?
Can you look an honest man or pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?
Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?
Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn as compatible with high thinking as dancing or golf?
Are you good for anything to yourself?
Can you be happy alone?
Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?

Can you be a brother to your neighbor?
Have you a better ambition than merely "to make your pile"?
Have you formed the habit of hoping that you may help others and thereby leave this world a little better than you found it?

Do you put patriotism into your politics?
Do you support a public official after election with the same enthusiasm you show before election and thereby help him to fulfill his pre-election promises?

Can you read the history that is written in the rocks that boldly shoulder the broad current and bend the river in its course?
Does the mountain lift you nearer heaven and the sea lead you in silent prayer?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?

Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?
Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?
Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

How many college A. B.'s can honestly say "yes" to these 22 questions? If you cannot, is it not time to ask yourself which has failed, you or your college? There are many who could pass this exhibition who cannot boast of an academic degree.

To help you to conceive the purpose of life and to pursue that purpose is the mission of every school and college. They are to equip you with the tools. You are to use the tools.

Are you educated? Study these questions, answer them honestly, and you yourself will know.

PLEASANT CHAT.

Among the words I know of, which is fitted to describe the highest class enjoyments of the super-social tribe,—there's one that ranks superlative, an' suits my fancy best,—the little word is "pleasant" which I reckon you have guessed.

We all love pleasant faces, when we haunt the pleasant nooks; we sing of pleasant wimmin', an' discourse on pleasant looks; a pleasant social function is an easy thing to rhyme—and the little outdoor picnic gives its friends a pleasant time.

We treasure pleasant memories of hours that's past an' gone, which we spent in Pleasant Valley, with our Sunday garments on—And it's nothin' short of pleasant, when we hike to Pleasant Grove,—And Pleasant Hill's the Eden that the itemizers love!

Yes—the little word is pleasant—for the printer or the scribe, that records the daily doin's of Billville's pleasant tribe—And when you're in HER company—with nothin' much to hay, you can start the ball to rollin' with—"We've had a pleasant day!"

CRITICISES LACK OF PARENTAL INTEREST

Mr. Editor:

The writer has been a resident of Salisbury for a few years and is egotistical to the extent of using the assertion, that have been and are more interested in the most valuable products of our factory—character—far more than 99% of residents both Salisbury and vicinity. Writer refers to Wicomico High School. Your school spirit is merely existing—actually grasping for life and it is the fault of parents—principally. An example of your indifference was very much in evidence last Friday afternoon at the baseball game, W. H. S. vs. Cambridge High School. Nearly as many Cambridge rooters in attendance, as from Salisbury and Wicomico Co. Most of the clearest, honest and upright men, the writer has known were High School or college athletes. They are doubly fitted to meet this life.

Fathers, get out and give your boys the moral support of your presence at his games.

Mothers, you simply cannot realize what your presence would mean to your boy.

The best coach and the best High School student body, without the parental and public support, has not and cannot have and use the proper school spirit in their athletics and it is your fault that present conditions exist in W. H. S.

If you are too stingy to give at least a word of encouragement, put a little "pep" in your stiff limbs, carry your half dead heart out to the games, and give moral support to the boys, that they may make better men than you are, for you will soon be gone, and they must take your place—if it be worth filling.

No doubt you will patronize the Shore League games—like a regular fan and we trust you will, but is not one of your boys worth more to you than fourteen professionals—paid to enter they you? Our High School boys play for the honor of their school and not one cent of reimbursement.

Think a while. Don't you feel small, yes, even mean, for your indifference and negligence to your boys and girls? Boys give their best when they are giving? Wake up! Get up and come on the job in person, for your boys and girls are the real values of this world.

Yours truly,
E. W. M.

Sharptown Seniors Present A Play

The Senior Class of Sharptown High School, after many weeks of hard study and practice, gave at Hurluck on Thursday night of last week one of Shakespeare's plays, entitled "The Merchant of Venice," a performance of more than three hours. On Friday night they gave it in their own town, lasting for three hours and fifty minutes. On Saturday night they were at Nanticoke and on Monday night at Laurel, Del. The scenery is very attractive. The costumes worn by the boys were hired from a Baltimore firm, but the costumes of the girls were made at home. These costumes are an interesting feature of the performance. The parts were well acted by all.

Cast of Characters:—The Duke of Venice, Blanche Phillips; The Prince, Helena Griffith; The Prince, Hilda Taylor; Antonio, Major Morris; Bassanio, Roger Smoot; Salanio, Alonzo Wheatley; Salarino, Pearl Warren; Gratiano, Randall Owens; Salerio, Alonzo Wheatley; Lorenzo, Lawrence Cooper; Shylock, James Owens; Tubal, Sarah Cordrey; Launcelot, Clem Bennett; Old Gobbo, Irene Hastings; Leonardo, Grace Wheatley; Balthasar, Daisy Windsor; Stephano, Grace Wheatley; Portia, Ethel Elliott; Neriss, Esther Cooper; Jessica, Marie Lowe.

COMRADES' PLEASURES NANTICOKE AUDIENCE

In some respects, it is not too much to say that no amusement event in Nanticoke ever overtopped the presentation of the beautiful little domestic comedy, "Comrades," as rendered last Friday night in the Wigwam Theatre by home talent players. There were three things that stood out above everything in the dramatic line, in the history of this village. First, the largest audience ever packed into the Wigwam filled the main hall to overflowing, every seat being taken as well as all available standing room, and as many as could get into the vestibule and climbing up to the windows, made the biggest audience ever, on the inside of the building; and there was besides something like 75 people on the outside that hung around until the performance was over.

The second notable feature was the stage appointments, beginning with a new and smooth running curtain, which when drawn exposed a parlor setting, the sides and back of which were artistically papered wall board, so set that there was a large center entrance, billiard room door, fireplace and mantle and right and left foot-light entrance, all covered by a light blue painted ceiling. This scene made the parlor in the morning home and was furnished with brussels carpets and expensive rugs, summer and winter portieres, distinctive chairs, tables, electric floor lamp, ornaments, flowers, flags, swords, rifles, gas mask, nothing faked, for everything was real and as first-class as was to be found in the best homes in the village. No such elaborate and costly setting was ever before attempted here.

The third thing was the performance itself—although mentioned last, was in reality the chief feature of the evening, being accorded unanimous and emphatic acclaim, the best show ever seen in this section. The cast—splendidly balanced with suitable costumes, wigs and professional stage facial "make-up"—individually and in the ensemble did so well that only words of highest praise were forth coming from those who saw the performance, each of the players rendered his or her part most commendably.

The comedy part, Simon Stone and Nancy Nipper were in the hands of Raleigh Douglas and Ada Willey; Mr. Douglass especially distinguished himself as a comedian. The mischievous teasing Fay Bradley, Mrs. Blanche Carlson, was alluring to the audience, as well as to her lover, Marcus Graves. Marvin Cox and the heart-breaker of May Manning, Mrs. Mable Wales, was so real as to bring tears to the eyes of many. While not the most pleasing, by far the most difficult part in the play was that of Matt Winsor, the tramp and one of the comrades, was however most successfully taken care of by Alfred Tomson, the stage director and coupled with Royal Manning, C. Allen Carlson, the other comrade who looked and acted his part so well, made up the other side in the piece. There was a one-entrance hit, Rufus Brown, Jennings Somers, very well done. There were several songs rendered in and between the acts, the comic numbers by Raleigh Douglas, bringing down the house every time. Mrs. Wales and Mr. Somers added to their laurels with the pleasing manner in which they sang several sentimental selections. The old, old song of "Comrades" rendered in chorus by the entire company was very pleasingly done. One of the Audience.

ATTEND MEETING OF TELEPHONE SOCIETY

At the meeting of the Washington Telephone Society in Washington recently, representatives attending from this section were Miss Eva Wimbrow of the Commercial Dept. of the local division, and Mr. W. B. Butler of Plant Dept. On Monday afternoon they visited the White House and were introduced by name to President Harding. Following this the out of town guests numbering about 70 together with some of the officials were driven to the Columbia Country Club where luncheon was served. After luncheon a sight seeing trip over the city to the Lincoln Memorial, Arlington and Lee Mansion, returning to the Raleigh Hotel for dinner. The evening session which was the outstanding feature of the occasion, was held in the Masonic Auditorium and was addressed by Mr. E. K. Hall, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. of New York.

To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County:

I believe that it has been generally accepted that I would be a candidate to succeed myself as State's Attorney of this county, although, up to the present time, I have made no formal announcement of my candidacy.

Believing that every Democrat should place his party's interest above that of the individual, I have purposely delayed my announcement, in the hope that the leading members of my party would be able to agree upon some member of my profession, who was fully qualified for the office and who, at the same time, could and would command the full confidence of the law-abiding citizens of this county.

I was prepared to give my support to such a man because I believe it wise to avoid a primary contest that can not do my party any good, and because I believe the voters are tired of endless fighting, year in and year out.

I was informed that such a thing was being considered and that steps would be taken with this end in view and that those concerning themselves in the matter had hopes of ultimate success in their efforts to avoid a primary fight.

It appears, however, that the movement has fallen down and this being the case, I feel that in justice to my friends in the county, who have expressed to me in no uncertain terms the desire that I be a candidate this year, I can no longer delay making my position clear.

It is a matter of considerable gratification to me that law-abiding citizens from every section of the county have asked me to become a candidate again for State's Attorney and have put their request on the ground of public welfare rather than personal consideration for myself.

It is in response to this demand that I have finally decided to become a candidate and to actively seek the nomination of my party in the coming Democratic Primaries.

While the office of State's Attorney is a high, important and honorable office and gives one a great opportunity for real public service, it is also one that entails much hard work and grave responsibilities. Taking into consideration its requirements, the remuneration is not such as to prove specially inviting to a member of my profession, but while this is true from the mere monetary standpoint, yet it is essential that the office be filled in a vigorous, forceful, honest and able manner and to be thought worthy of holding this position means something.

I have served as State's Attorney for two terms and have devoted myself to its duties in a whole-hearted way. There has probably been more work during my tenure than any other State's Attorney has had to handle in the same length of time. Despite the volume of the work, I have at all times had my cases prepared and well in hand and have never kept a grand jury in session for more than three or four days during my entire term.

This has resulted in a saving to the tax-payers of the county and at the same time has permitted the members of the jury to return, in a short time, to their homes to engage in their usual avocations. As to the success I have met in prosecuting the cases presented, I leave this to the people to judge as they are familiar with my record and fully competent to pass on it.

In closing I want to state that I am a candidate for the nomination for State's Attorney of this county and that from now on I propose to wage an active campaign until the close of the primaries. I shall depend upon my record in office to bring to my support the law-abiding, good citizens of the county.

Respectfully submitted,

CURTIS W. LONG,

Political Advt.

To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County,

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Eight years ago I was a candidate in the Democratic Primary for the nomination of Sheriff of this County. By the kind help of my Democratic friends I was successful and was later on elected Sheriff on the Democratic ticket. During the two years I filled this important office I gave up my business and devoted my entire time to the proper discharge of the duties of my office. I am led to believe that my services during this period were highly satisfactory to the public. This is evidenced by the fact that for more than two years past my friends and many of the county's leading citizens and tax payers have endeavored to persuade me to announce my candidacy for a second term. After giving the matter careful consideration, I have decided, to announce my candidacy for Sheriff, subject to the Democratic Primaries. I pledge my word that I am the candidate of no faction within our party, but shall make my fight solely upon my past record in this office. I solicit the votes of all Democrats throughout the County and will fully appreciate any support and assistance which my friends may feel inclined to render me.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER J. DRYDEN,

Salisbury, Md.

WICOMICO YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The second annual Young Peoples' Conference of Wicomico County Sunday School Association met Thursday, April 19th in Asbury Church with the Conference Theme "Go Ye". The program began at 9.15 with an inspirational Devotional Service, the Young People's President, Ernest Winder, presiding.

After the business session, Group Conferences were held for the discussion of "The Fourfold Life". The four sides of this subject were presented to the girls by Elizabeth Tilghman, Betty Bethingham, Annie Howie and Alice Freney; to the boys by John Howie, Ernest Winder and Herman Haemil. The group leaders were: Mrs. Alice Dulaney and Mr. Leland Truitt.

Mrs. Jos. H. Cudlipp, of Baltimore explained fully "The Organized Class" to the girls while Rev. Jos. H. Cudlipp brought the boys a live message on "Class Activities".

A real picnic luncheon with songs and yells to help digestion made the noon hour a satisfying part of the program.

Following another devotional service at 1.30, a demonstration of the organized class was given by girls of the various Sunday Schools, showing the notable difference in the usual class and one that is well organized. The entire Conference was then addressed by Col. Cudlipp on "The Organized Class and Its Activities".

At 3.40 everyone went to the Y.M.C.A. where, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Cudlipp, the physical side of our characters were given a chance to develop in the splendid games so thoroughly enjoyed there. The social, mental and spiritual help obtained from "The Council Fire" (a part of the Conference program which every member truly loves) can not be expressed. It's simply great! And so was the Banquet, served by the ladies of the Bethesda M. P. Church in the new basement. The eats were delicious and the numerous songs and yells given by the different groups made the supper hour a cheerful occasion. Mrs. Alice Dulaney, the much loved Young People's County Superintendent, spoke to the delegates on the importance of doing our best in the Sunday School work of our County, following the banquet.

After the reports and the installation of the new officers, Dr. Carlyle Hubbard challenged the young people to better service in the Sunday Schools and churches through his earnest and eloquent address based on the story of Eleazar and his great victory found in second Samuel, the twenty-third chapter. The carrying out of the unanimous response to the challenge should mean better work in the Sunday Schools of Wicomico County. The Friendship Circle closed the Conference so thoroughly enjoyed by the 144 delegates attending. The officers were: President, John Howie; vice-president, Miss Betty Bethingham; secretary, Miss Alice Freney; treasurer, Calvin Shivers.

CREDIT AND THE BUSINESS CYCLE

Those interested in the control of business cycles will find an interesting review of the chief financial devices available for this purpose in the chapter by Thomas Sewall Adams, in the report on Unemployment and Business Cycles prepared by the National Bureau of Economic Research for the Committee on Unemployment and Business Cycles and issued by Secretary Hoover for President Harding's recent Conference on Unemployment.

Abuse and misuse of credit, Dr. Adams holds, is the most distinctive evil of the business cycle.

At some point in the cycle borrowers and buyers ask for credit which should be refused in their own and in the public interest. To make refusal possible, it is necessary (a) to find some practical test or index by which to determine when the time for credit restriction has arrived; (b) to devise some process or mechanism by which restriction can be exercised; and (c) to select the man or agency of control upon which the responsibility for initiating action may properly be placed.

Two facts are held to be of controlling importance in the ability of the Federal Reserve banks and the banking system to influence the situation: first, that any action which may properly be taken to avoid over-expansion of credit should be taken before the legal reserve ratios of the banks are actually threatened, that is, in the boom period of the cycle; and second, that the bank credit may become harmfully over-extended while the reserves are still well above the legal minimum, so that the present reserve ratios are ineffective and misleading indicators of the time or condition at which further extensions of credit should be discontinued.

The proposed remedies which Dr. Adams discusses in this connection are: (1) adjusting discount rates in accordance with the index numbers of production, employment, prices and profits when these show that production is at peak and further credit results principally in fruitless speculation; (2) raising the legal reserve requirements against Federal Reserve notes and deposits; and (3) increasing the sensitiveness of the deposit reserve ratios of the Federal Reserve Banks.

He concludes that control of credit with intelligent reference to the business cycle is an indispensable part of the program for moderating the destructive excesses of the cycle. But all of the proposals here considered point the same economic moral—the grave importance of developing more accurate cyclical statistics. Plot the phases of the cycle, he says, and a combination of self-interest and vitalized public opinion will force the application of the many remedies which common sense will show to be appropriate. To anticipate the cycle is to neutralize it.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

What seems to be the boldest robbery ever heard of in the Quantico vicinity happened at the home of Ernest M. Mills, late Saturday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6.30 o'clock which time it was discovered.

The robber turned everything in the bed room topsy turvy, going through the dresser drawers, trunks, pants pockets, in fact everything that was in the room. The only room below ransacked was the living room thru which it is supposed he entered and went out thru a window.

There was nothing taken except money which was about $10. The would be robber was not seen or heard though the family was all at home, a search was made but no trace of the robber was found.

REAL ROSE GARDEN ON SIDE OF YOUR HOUSE

With These New Long-Stemmed, Large-Flowered Climbing Roses, Plenty Of Blooms For Cutting

By F. F. Rockwell, Horticultural Editor of "Farm and Fireside."

Would you like to have an abundance of roses for cutting, for table decoration, for bouquets, to give your friends?

Of course you would. "But," you say, "I haven't the room for a rose garden," or "I haven't the time to take care of garden roses; all I can grow is the climbing kind."

Well, even so, you can have the roses for cutting that you want. There are several new climbing roses that have been developed during recent years, which bear their flowers on long stiff stems, and are better for cutting than many of the regular garden roses!

A New Type of Rose Which Seems To Combine All Good Qualities

This new type of rose, which has recently been developed, appears to combine all the good qualities available, and they can be grown wherever the old climbing roses, such as Crimson Rambler, could be grown.

While these new roses are climbing or semi-climbing in their habit of growth, they, nevertheless, produce plenty of large single blossoms, or loose clusters of flowers—on long, stiff stems, the individual flower of which are two to four inches in diameter.

A basket full of fragrant roses for home decoration, without a "rose garden" to look after, seems to be almost too good to be true! However, this new type of rose will give you just that.

You may grow them on the side of the piazza, of the house, or along the fence in a comparatively small space and still have such roses as you have longed for to use for home decoration to send to "sick folks," to grace the dinner party, or to complete the graduation or June wedding outfit.

These roses are, for the most part, of more healthy habit of growth than our old friend the Crimson Rambler, and from the mildew and blight, which so often make the latter unsightly. No rose will give its best results if it is absolutely neglected; they must always receive a little attention and encouragement—but, like the Ramblers, these new roses respond quickly to a little care, and are just as easy to grow and attend to as any of the Rambler variety. Like the ramblers, they need very little pruning, and do not require the skilled attention which the majority of garden roses demand.

By All Means Try Some of the "Pillar" Roses

If you plan to train your new roses up the side of the house or around the windows, you may prefer the type known as the "Pillar" roses, rather than one of the most stalwart climbers which might climb too vigorously for such a location. These "Pillar" roses which do not actually climbing, reach a height of six to ten feet, and need some support to hold them upright.

The spring catalogues of reliable nurserymen, and the lists of trustworthy agents, contain many varieties of this new type of rose which is bound to become popular—particularly with the farm owner and the suburban home owner. Among the many which might be mentioned may be found the following, which have been introduced long enough to have given proof that they will succeed anywhere, under ordinarily good growing conditions.

Try These Six and Have a Wealth of Bloom

While the following half dozen varieties are entirely distinct from the old ramblers, and quite different from each other, they by no means make up a complete list of roses of this type. But these six will make it possible for you to have a wide range of beautiful roses for cutting, through a long season, without a rose garden.

American Pillar, although this is a distinctly American Rose, the vote of the National Rose Society of England in 1918, honored it as being "the most popular climbing rose in existence." Enormous flowers of a lovely cherry-pink shade, borne in clusters of five to ten. Foliage dark glossy green, clean and attractive all season.

Climbing American Beauty. Rose crimson flowers, three to four inches across, sweet scented, and borne singly on long stems.

Christine Wright—Double flowers, three to four inches in diameter, of a clear wild-rose pink. The blooms are borne singly and in small clusters; often, blooms a second time in the fall. Dark green leathery foliage.

Dr. W. Van Fleet—Looks like a rose garden growing against the house! Deep pink sweet-scented flowers, three inches and more across, when open, borne on single stiff stems, 12 to 18 inches long. The buds are long and pointed and solid, ideal for cutting. A single plant will produce hundreds of flowers.

Paul's Scarlet Climber—The most vivid scarlet of all climbing roses. The medium-sized large double flowers are produced in clusters of three to six. In every way one of the most splendid climbing roses.

Silver Moon—Distinct from all others. The long pale yellow, scented buds open into semi-double flowers, often 5 inches in diameter. The center petals are white and reveal the bright golden stamens.

George W. F. Insley.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Voters of Wicomico County:

Four years ago in the Democratic Primaries in our County, I was a candidate for Sheriff. Though defeated at that Election, I was very much gratified at the vote I received for I realized the fact that I was not so well known to the voters having, at that time, just returned from France where I served 9 months in the Three Hundred and Twelfth Machine Gun Battalion and returned to my home, a proud possessor of an Honorable Discharge from the United States Army.

In the coming Primaries I again will be a candidate for this honor. For the past two years I have served as a member of the Police force in Salisbury and believe that I have a very good conception of the duties of the office to which I aspire.

In view of the fact that I shall be unable to see everyone of you personally, I am making this appeal to you not because of the fact that I was one of the Four Million in France, but because it is my belief that I am well qualified for this office and believe that I can give to you an efficient and conscientious administration.

George E. Sullivan.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Democratic Voters of Wicomico County:

After having given the matter due consideration and being urged thereto by the solicitation of many friends in all parts of the County, I hereby announce my candidacy for County Treasurer of Wicomico County, subject to the Democratic Primaries to be held in September.

If nominated and elected, I pledge myself to give the office my undivided attention and to conduct the same in an efficient and businesslike manner.

WILLIAM GILLIS

23 BANKS ARE REPRESENTED AT GATHERING

Worcester, Somerset And Wicomico Association Meets Here Wednesday Last.

TO CURB SALE OF "WILD CAT" STOCK

Vote To Enforce "Blue Sky" Law In This Section—Other Important Matters Are Discussed—Banquet In Church Basement Follows Business Session—159 Present.

The spring meeting of the Associated Banks of Worcester, Somerset and Wicomico counties, was held in this city on Wednesday last, the representatives being guests of the banks of Salisbury. 23 of the 28 banking institutions were represented at the quarterly meeting.

The business session was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 2:30 o'clock. A hearty welcome was extended in behalf of Salisbury to the visiting members by L. W. Gandy and response was made by E. L. Quinn, of the Marine Bank of Crisfield.

The major portion of the business session was devoted to the matter of preventing the accumulation of over-drafts and past due papers in the county bank. A resolution, presented by Walter L. Gibson, of the Marine Bank, Crisfield, and suggesting as a remedy for negligence on the part of patrons in this regard, the imposition of a penalty for each $100 or fraction involved, was defeated.

President H. W. Ruark was empowered to appoint a committee which will attempt to aid in the solution of this problem to the satisfaction of the banks and their clients.

The service that the banking institutions in the three counties might render their patrons against becoming involved in the purchase of questionable stock was thoroughly discussed. In this connection, the Association voted to assist the Maryland Bar Association in combating the sale of worthless securities in the state.

Thousands of dollars, it is claimed, leaves this section annually in the purchase of "Wild Cat" stocks of bonds, the value of which is questionable. A campaign against such investments will be made by a committee, appointed at the fall session, composed of Messrs. C. E. Byrd, Warren F. Sterling, and William S. Gordy.

Approximately one hundred and fifty were present at the dinner served in the evening in the basement of the new Bethesda M. P. Church edifice, at which Mr. H. W. Ruark was toastmaster. Mr. Harvey Brooks, a professional entertainer of Philadelphia, presented many humorous sketches.

BIG MEETING HOTEL FORCES NEXT MONDAY

Opening Gun In Stockselling Drive Will Be Fired At Banquet Hall Methodist Protestant Church

Salisbury's campaign to secure a New Hotel to be located at the corner of Main and Division streets begins Monday night. Then in the Banquet Hall of the Methodist Protestant Church there will be held a dinner meeting of the formidable organization comprised of the Directors, Division Leaders, Team Captains, and workers who will comprise the huge stockselling force.

It will undoubtedly be an enthusiastic meeting as every one of the teams is reported to be completely organized and already there is considerable rivalry manifested as to which of the twelve teams will make the best record.

In summarizing the general plan of the canvass one of the captains stated the following today: "We are going to present to every resident of Salisbury and vicinity an opportunity to subscribe for stock of the corporation. Even folks of modest means can take at least one or two shares on the attractive installment basis of payment which has been arranged. The larger business interests of the city will lead in this subscription and a number of them have already subscribed for from 50 to 100 shares each. We are greatly encouraged and have every reason to believe that the project will go over easily. One of the most encouraging features of the campaign to date is the interest which is being displayed in the Hotel by the communities adjacent to Salisbury. It may take a little more time to get in results from these neighboring towns but in Salisbury we hope, through our twelve finely organized teams, to canvass at least 1,000 prospective stock purchasers in two days. Possibly a third or fourth day will be required to clean up, because we want to do the work thoroughly. As a community enterprise the Hotel will welcome as many stockholders back of it as can be obtained."

A meeting of the captains and lieutenants of the canvassing committee is being held in headquarters this evening, and the final meeting of hotel directors prior to the hotel campaign Friday evening.

An Oversight
Mother reprovingly: "When I was young, girls never thought of doing the things they do to-day."
Daughter: "Well, that's why they didn't do them."

WILD ANIMAL FILM TO BE SHOWN AT ARCADE

Most Startling Picturization of Animal Life Ever Secured; Comes Here Monday and Tuesday

Have you ever played hide and seek with an Elephant, catchers with a big Baboon? Have you ever lunched with a gazelle or supped with a Water Buffalo? Have you ever discussed the Einstein Theory of Relativity with a Warthog or explained the Fourth Dimension to a Secretary Bird? Have you ever had a Giraffe into tea, danced with a Gnu or taken a Greater Bustard to the movies in the midst of the far-flung Gassot Desert? And did you know that the one thing an Ostrich never does is to hide his head in the sand?

If not, the movie at the Arcade Theatre next Monday and Tuesday will intrigue you mightily. Commencing with the wildest African animals, braving death by ferocious beasts which had never before set eyes upon a human being, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson penetrated the heart of the African wilderness and for two years photographed at close range wild animals in their natural state. While Mrs. Johnson turned the camera on the leopard, raging in fury because his lair had been discovered, Mr. Johnson held him at bay with his trusty rifle. And so forth and so on, as the case may be.

For two years the Johnsons, accompanied by a large number of very black and very undressed natives who formed the "sarari," braved the dangers of endless forests and even more endless forests for the purpose of making a photographic record of the African wilderness. Of course, a few hundred thousand dollars, it is said that many of the species caught by their watchful cameras are even now verging toward complete extinction. Doubtless Mrs. Johnson's omnipresent cuteness, even in the face of a charging elephant, scared half of them to death.

More than 100,000 feet of film were exposed during the period the Johnsons sojourned in British East Africa. Every known and unknown kind of wild animal was photographed. Of this tremendous footage, only six reels have been retained.

That Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are alive to tell the tale must remain one of the world's great mysteries. Nairobi, in British East Africa, was the starting point of the expedition. Traveling in a north-easterly direction the party crossed the equator on the slopes of Kenya Mountain, and from there proceeded to the edge of the Lorian swamp. Finding further invasion into the marshy territory inadvisable, the expedition turned directly west, crossing the Urua Nyira River north of Kenya, continuing north to Marasabit. Then over swamps and deserts, through territory rarely visited by human beings, until the goal was reached—Lake Paradise.

Here the climax of the picture—the elephant hunt with the women—was photographed. And it's a thriller, you can believe me. In its own particular way it is just as exciting as Harold Lloyd's climb in "Safety Last" to the top of that twelve-story building. And a good deal more believable. There are times when truth is stranger than fiction, after all. "Trailing African Wild Animals" is one of these.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO ELECT ON MAY 15

Nominating Committee Named Tuesday—Miss Ellegood Accorded Honor At State Federation Meet

The following committee was named by Mrs. W. S. Sheppard, president of the Wicomico Women's Club on Tuesday to select nominees for officers the coming year to be voted upon at the meeting on May 15th: Mesdames, H. B. Freney, J. W. Slemmons, W. M. Cooper and C. J. Brickhead and Miss Irma Graham.

New members were elected as follows: Mesdames, E. S. Todd, C. C. Hearne, Morris Walton, W. E. Bonneville, C. M. Peters and Herman Purcell. Interesting reports of the State Federation meeting were given by Misses Louise Tilghman and Maria Ellegood and Mesdames, T. E. Martindale and W. S. Gordy.

An amendment to the by-laws was passed which provides that sub-chairman, members of the local club of District Committees be elected for a period of two years was passed.

Miss Ellegood reported that with all returns not yet in the sum of $175 would be cleared from the dinner served the Eastern Shore Federation recently. A letter was read from a lady in Pennsylvania asking a copy of the by-laws of the local club stating that she saw an account of the recent District meeting in the paper and congratulating the club on putting the affair over in such excellent shape.

A song written by Miss Ellegood for the entire Eastern Shore by request at Baltimore last week was sung by the club and evoked much praise for the author. The entertainment program was in charge of Miss Ellegood. She gave a sketch of local history which was comprehensive and interesting. At the outset she had the audience living with Mrs. Wilson Booth, whom she stated it to be her belief was the only living "colored mammy" in Salisbury, sing a few songs of her day which were greatly enjoyed by the members.

Bogus Picture Men Land In The Lock-up

Pretending To Enlarge Photos, Real Purpose Is Said To Have Been To Augment Bankrolls Illegally

Edward Clark and Miss Simon, posing as picture enlargers in this section, were taken into custody at Parsonsburg on Thursday last by Deputy Sheriff George E. Parsons, on the charge of larceny of various articles from homes which they had visited in the county.

According to the authorities, the game was to go to the door and when the housekeeper went to get a picture of the premises as possible before her return. Four watches, a quantity of jewelry and money is said to have been taken. Three of the watches were thrown away by the men but recovered later along the roadside.

PLAN BETTER FACILITIES FOR ITS MEMBERS

Wicomico Farmers Ass'n May Establish Central Packing House Here For 'Loupes And Cakes Grown By Members—Matter Discussed At Meeting On Saturday

In order to improve the marketing facilities for cucumbers and cantaloupes in this section, the Directors of the Wicomico Farmers Association Inc. have outlined to the members of that association a scheme for a central packing station to be located in Salisbury near the railroad tracks to which place produce may be brought and there packed and graded by experts.

The actual cost would be paid for by each farmer who used the service at a certain amount per package and there will be no profit accruing to the association as a whole. The Directors are of the opinion that this is the only way the produce grown in the county will ever be standardized. The auction block very probably will be operated as an outlet for those not interested in this idea providing the members want it.

Farmers interested in this matter may receive full details by communicating with Grant Sexton, secretary.

treasurer of the Association who will go into details with them. As expressed by president E. Dale Adkins at the meeting of stockholders in the Court House on Saturday afternoon, there will probably be great need of a service of this kind before the season is over and that there is no reason why, if the products are properly graded and packed and a standardized quality obtained, better prices than previously should not be had.

High School Lowers Colors Of Old Rival

Averages Home Defeat By Whipping Cambridge Friday 6-3—Dorchester Boys First Loss In 2 Years

Easily displaying their best form of the season, the Wicomico High boys averaged their recent defeat at Gordy Park by taking into camp the Cambridge High nine on their own grounds last Friday by the score of 6-3.

Southpaw Benson had the Dorchester lads eating out of his hands until the 8th inning when they scored a run and added two more counters in the 9th. However the local lad was master of the situation at all times. Catches by H. Insley and Waller were other features of the game.

Salisbury secured a two run lead in the first and were never out of the lead thereafter. Benson also contributed the longest hit for the visiting team, a two bagger with the bases full. It was the first defeat suffered by the home team in two years.

DISHONESTY IN COUNTRY COSTS MUCH

Takes $3,000,000 Yearly—$2,000,000 Lost By Land Frauds And Confidence Games—Robberies, Thefts And Graft Also Exact Large Amounts.

Dishonesty in the United States last year paid an army of burglars, robbers, forgers, bucket-shop operators, confidence men and common thieves more than $3,000,000.

Conservative estimates, compiled by the National Surety Company of New York, place the sum at $3,225,000,000. That is approximately equivalent to the internal revenue receipts of the Federal Government for the fiscal year of 1922. It is greater by half a billion dollars than the imports of the country in 1921. It is an average tax on every man, woman and child in the country of more than $30 a year.

In New York city the average loss would total $168,000,000. For Yorkers it is more than $300,000,000. This tax for dishonesty is certain of collection. While you may not hold any worthless oil stocks nor have been held up and robbed at the point of a gun, you have paid your $30 per capita tribute to thieves. You are paying in the constantly increasing rates for burglarly insurance. Less than 10 years ago automobile theft insurance was somewhat under 1 per cent. of the valuation of the automobile. Now it is 5 or 6 per cent.

Merchants throughout the country last year, wholesalers and retailers, marked off something more than $160,000,000 in bad accounts. They charge this loss to operating expenses and the honest consumer foots the bill. Railroads of the country last year paid $12,200,000 in claims for goods lost by theft or burglary. They retrieve that sum in higher rates.

William B. Joyce, chairman of the National Surety Company, recently undertook to compile dishonesty losses in the country. He gathered records from the 31 surety companies and after examination of the assembled figures it was agreed that $525,000,000 annually for burglary and $125,000,000 for embezzlement were conservative figures. A sum somewhere between $25,000,000 and $50,000,000 was added for forgery.

Inquiries were made in other fields where the swindler and thief operates and the following table was compiled: Stock frauds, land frauds, confidence games, $2,000,000,000; Burglary and theft, $190,000,000; Automobiles, $225,000,000; Robbery, $225,000,000; Theft, $150,000,000; Embezzlement and defalcation, $125,000,000; Fraudulent bankruptcy and credit, $100,000,000; Swindles, $100,000,000; Bad debts, wholesale and retail merchants, $150,000,000; Worthless checks cashed by merchants, $100,000,000; Forgery, $25,000,000; Graft, looting of public domain, conversion of public property, obviously impossible of accurate estimate, $200,000,000.

Total, $3,225,000,000. For this table Mr. Joyce makes no claim of accuracy except as minimum estimates. The total he says, is probably near $4,000,000,000.

During 1919 and the early part of 1920, according to Henry H. Reed, of the Marine Agency of the Insurance Company of North America, piracy in the New York harbor and docks amounted to $50,000,000 a year and probably half as much other seaports of the country. Jewelers alone lost more than $100,000,000 in robberies in 1922. Ten train hold-ups and 20 mail truck robberies from April 8, 1920, to April 30, 1921, yielded bandits a haul of United States Mail worth $3,050,000. Railroads of the country last year paid claims of nearly $12,500,000 for thefts of freight. In 1921 this loss was more than $20,000,000.

Bradstreet's records for 1922 show that 885 failures of business firms were due directly to fraud and speculation.

Their excess of liabilities over assets was $30,772,936. Bradstreet's takes no account of bucket shop failures and cases of dishonest individuals who go into bankruptcy to escape their obligations.

Investigations by the Harvard School of Business Research show that an average of about two-tenths per cent. on gross sales is charged off annually because of bad debts. Jewelry stores go higher, 119 firms averaging 0.5 per cent. and 263 grocery stores 0.3 per cent. and shoe stores 0.2 per cent. So a general average of two-tenths of 1 per cent. cannot be too high.

Last year, according to estimates of the United States Chamber of Commerce, retail sales of consumption goods was $25,000,000,000. Check off two-tenths of 1 per cent. for bad debts and the loss is $50,000,000,000. The wholesaler has his bad debts that must be added to the total and it must be remembered that the $25,000,000,000 retail sales includes only consumption goods that an individual uses for his personal needs and comforts and excludes such items as locomotives, farm machinery, building material, factory equipment and machinery and numerous other items that will total another $25,000,000,000 as a minimum against which there are also charges for bad accounts.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

More seasonable weather has assisted trade in general particularly at retail. Sales of summer merchandise especially light wearing apparel are on the increase and prices are reported to be higher than a year ago. Wages are increasing as the labor shortage becomes more pronounced, while living costs are steadily advancing. Practically all manufacturing plants are operating at full capacity many having more orders than they can possibly fill. Jobbing trade on the whole continues of good volume but not as active as a month ago. The building boom has created a most active cement industry and Maryland companies are enlarging facilities with the hope of catching up with consumption. According to a recent announcement a new one million dollar plant to reclaim waste matters from molasses used in obtaining alcohol will be erected in the Curtis Bay district sometime this summer. Wheat trading is hampered by the smallness of first-hand offerings but there is fair demand for the better descriptions of winter stocks. The call for flour on domestic account is only fair; in fact buying is mostly for current needs with prices off. Receipts of new water-borne corn in this market so far this season amount to 373,647 bushels compared with 497,335 bushels arrived up to the same time last year. Demand for corn is fair from shippers, but domestic wants appear to have been well taken care of and the situation is quiet. Cob corn is reported fairly firm on a basis of $4.70 to $4.75 per barrel for prime stock. Present offerings of oats are more than ample for the needs of the trade while for hay and straw there is fair call only with prices weak. Butter eggs and poultry are quiet. Receipts of beef cattle are running light and there is fair demand only for the best stock. Spring lambs are in more liberal supply and prices which have been high have ceased off. Collections in some lines show improvement but in general are not more than fair.

CROPS—The dry sunny weather of the week favorable for the planting of early crops and farm work in general. Over the northern portion of the state peach and pear trees are in bloom while apple buds are blooming or showing pink in the southern counties. Wheat is in fair to good condition except in Western Maryland where some injury from severely cold weather is reported. Rye, however, is in very good condition and making rapid growth. Sowing of oats has begun in some of the northern counties and continues over the remainder of the section. In southern Maryland early sown oats are coming up. Planting of peas is under way in the western part of the State while the crop is reported to be doing well elsewhere. Planting of early potatoes continues but is nearing completion in northern counties and on the Eastern Shore. Tomatoes seed is being sown and tobacco plants are doing well. Strawberries are backward but in good condition. Pastures are generally good except in Western Maryland.

Small Borrowers Are Now Cared For By Credit Unions—More Supervision Of Pawn Shops Exercised

The small Western city in which is my alma mater, comprises about 50,000 inhabitants, mostly retired farmers and their close descendants. I have not been there for a long time, so that I am unable, at present, to count the pawnbrokers among them, but in my undergraduate days, nearly 20 yrs. ago, there must have been upward of 50—one for each 1,000 of the population—doing a thriving business in that farmer and college town.

The records of those money-lenders, if available today, would reveal the names of a good many men now prominent in professional or business circles, who in the days of their youth had on more than one occasion negotiated a loan. Indeed, many a college man of that day—and their sons are still following in the footsteps of their illustrious fathers—has at times had to put some of his most valuable textbooks "in pawn" in order to appear in a handsome and gala dress with a pretty co-ed at a junior prom.

I am not going to tell on the other fellows, but I know this to be a fact from personal experience and observation. I have had considerable dealings myself with money lenders. In fact, I have now a watch which was pledged eighteen times in my college career.

The pawnshop business in the East, particularly in New York city also flourished like a green bay tree at that time, although the Provident Loan Society, established by special legislative act in 1894, to combat the operations of loan sharks, was already becoming a factor in that field of finance.

Some idea of the extent of such business may be deduced from a recent report of the Provident Loan Society of New York city, in which it claims to save the people of the metropolis more than one million dollars a year which its customers might under the old system of pawnbroking pay in usurious rates. The outstanding loans of that institution average above 10 million dollars to about three hundred thousand borrowers who pay an interest rate of 1 per cent a month, loaned in average amounts of $35, on jewelry plate and other personal property.

The pawnshop of a quarter of a century ago with the three balls, a symbol which has disappeared from the entrance of many of the pawnbrokers of fees, was not only a rendezvous for the needy, but it was often a clearing house for thieves. Indeed, many of the pawnbrokers were themselves in league with the burglars of the metropolis. But the strict control which is now exercised over these institutions in New York city, and in some other cities of the United States, thanks to the tireless work of the Remedial Loan Societies, has brought about a better situation in that regard.

Other agencies at work, not only here, but in Europe more especially—whence the idea originates—to encourage thrift are the credit associations, known in Europe as cooperative associations, in all other countries as credit societies and here as credit unions. The high cost of loans in such institutions as the Remedial Loan Associations—1 per cent a month—and as high as 2 per cent. in others—and 3 per cent in the private pawn shops, has brought into being many credit unions, in which the members get facilities, without collateral security, at the usual commercial banking rate of about 6 per cent a year. Regarding these, Arthur H. Ham, vice-president of the Provident Loan Society of New York city, in an address before the National Conference of Charities and Correction at Indianapolis, said:

"The number of credit unions in existence throughout the world at the outbreak of the European war was more than 65,000, with a membership of 15,000,000 people and an annual business of $7,000,000,000. The movement which originated in Germany in 1850, has now spread to practically every European country and even to India, Japan and Egypt. Russia, which in 1914 had 378 of these unions, now has 14,000. The number in Germany in 1914 was more than 18,000, making loans to members in one year of $1,500,000,000."

CHURCHES IN COUNTRY SHOW SOME BIG GAINS

Increase in Membership During Past Year is Placed At 1,229,428—Methodists Are in Lead

America apparently is growing more religious. Figures made public recently by Dr. E. O. Watson, statistician of the Federal Council of Churches, show that the religious bodies in the United States made their greatest growth during last year. The increase is 1,229,428 members over the previous year.

The present membership of all religious bodies, according to the latest available figures, is 47,461,558. This increase is approximately 50 per cent greater than the average for the preceding five years. There was a gain of 9,501 congregations and 15,252 ministers. The total number of congregations is now 243,590. They are led by 214,553 ministers.

According to these figures, church representatives point out that each day in 1922 an average of 3,245 persons joined the various religious bodies, 42 ministers were ordained or licensed and 26 congregations were organized.

The shortage in clergy is not as great as the fact that there are 29,007 more congregations than ministers would indicate. Many pastors, especially in rural districts, have charge of two or more congregations. Besides, a number of missions and rural churches are served by laymen. This activity on the part of laymen is one of the significant features of the year.

Owing to different methods adopted by the various bodies in computing their membership, it is hard to make comparisons. The Roman Catholic Church shows a membership of 18,104,804 persons. Its figures represent estimated church population and include all baptized persons. Evangelical Protestant churches show a membership of 27,454,080. They count communicants only.

The 30 bodies related to the Federal Council of Churches report a total membership of 20,722,142 persons. They have 149,436 congregations, served by 119,077 ministers. Their gain in membership over last year is 609,261. Their total constituency is now 59,021,718 persons.

The total religious constituency of the country is placed at 98,878,367 persons. Church officials define constituency to mean all baptized persons, all adherents and all those who, in the supreme test of life or death, turn to particular communion.

When the figures of the various churches are placed on a comparable basis thru methods agreed upon by church and Government officials, the constituency of the great bodies is reported as follows:

Protestant	78,113,481
Roman Catholic	18,104,804
Jews	1,600,000
Later Day Saints (Mormons)	404,082
Eastern Orthodox (Greek and Russians)	456,054

The Jewish figures are the same as used last year. They are computed on a different basis from the various Christian bodies because of their great variations in methods of computing membership. The Jewish authorities estimate the Jewish population of the United States at more than 3,300,000.

Though some of the larger bodies have not reported on their expenditures, the figures already in hand show that the churches raised $16,628,894 more than last year. The total reported to date is $505,032,978.

The great increase in membership is due largely to the gains of the Roman Catholic Church, which shows an increase of 219,158; the Methodist Episcopal Church, 122,975; the Southern Baptist Convention, 97,116; and the National Baptist Convention (negro), 74,570. The Roman Catholic figures indicate a decrease in the rate of gain as compared with the annual average for the preceding five years, which was 432,766. The Methodist churches have the largest constituency in the country, their figures showing 23,253,854 persons. The Baptist form the second largest group and are pressing the Methodist closely, with a constituency of 22,869,098 persons. The Roman Catholics are third, with 18,104,804 persons. The Lutherans make up the fourth body, with 7,043,854 constituency, and the Presbyterians are fifth, with 6,726,698 constituency.

Probably the most remarkable gain of the year is that of the Eastern Orthodox churches, which show a 10 per cent increase, jumping from 411,054 to 456,054 members. This is apparently due to the fact that the Greek Orthodox Church is more effectively organized and is reaching the Greek immigrants in America. The Methodist Protestant Church turned a loss during the preceding five years into an increase of 8,000 members. While the Disciples of Christ and the Congregational churches both had a reduction in the number of congregations, they gained respectively 8,826 and 19,046 members.

The Episcopalians doubled their increase of the preceding year, making 36,818, which is not quite 4 per cent which brings their total membership up to 108,560.

The Christian Science Church reports 1,799 congregations and 3,598 readers, but gives no figures as to membership. The statistics of the Adventist bodies indicate a loss of 2,567 members, their present membership reported last year. The Latter Day Saints (Mormons) show a constituency gain of 16,164.

The last available figures regarding memberships of the larger churches and their gains or losses during the year are:

Adventist bodies	133,660; loss, 2,567
Northern Baptist Convention	1,274,250; gain 13,843
Southern Baptist Convention	3,374,155; gain, 97,116
National Baptist Convention (colored)	3,253,733; gain, 74,570
Other Baptist bodies	266,387; loss 655

DRIFTING HOMES

How about your home, Mr. Husband and Mrs. Wife? The average husband is a coward and the average wife a bully. Are you?

May have either yielded to the spirit of the day and have permitted their wives to dominate the domestic circles to its disgrace, or they have practically abandoned their home.

Consequently they occupy one section of the city, namely, the business and the club sections, the saloon or the pool hall, while the wives take a similar direction in another part of the city; the home stands between these two factors in a neglected condition.

Women have been thrown out into the world and seem to care more for the activities, excitement, gaiety and outside glares, than they do for the domestic drudgery, seclusion, responsibilities and glories of home.

Women ought to be forced to go home. But their husbands are too cowardly to force them, or they are too indifferent to their responsibility, or they would rather glide or travel the road of least resistance, and let the home drift.

The home is drifting; children are roaming; wives are gadding. Their husbands are practicing fraud and dishonesty on their families. They are cowardly.

The time has come to re-establish the home with the sovereignty of the federal head, the sacredness of domestic seclusion and the proper adjustment of domestic duties.

The dark spot in the present civilization is the neglected home. Cowardly husbands are responsible for every phase of domestic decline. Let the men awake, reassert themselves, re-establish their homes and build again the domestic—the national fortification—namely, a well-organized domestic circle.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

CATALOG AND BOOKLET FUN
By Lydia Lion Roberts

There are all kinds of pamphlets, booklets and descriptive matter printed nowadays to advise and show busy people about almost everything. A great many of these find their way to a housekeeper's door and are often glanced at carelessly and thrown away. This is a mistake if there are children in the home, for out of these booklets may come many lessons and some good times. A mother will find it worth while to watch the magazines and send for the most attractive of these, not only to learn about the newest and best ways of doing and buying things but to help the children learn about this big, unknown world.

When a rainy day, or a "what shall I do now?" time comes, the lucky mother brings out her group of booklets and gathers the children around her. Many a mother can explain about these things easier than tell a story, and this is the way she can use the booklets. It will start a lot of questions, all of which she cannot answer, but it will prove an interesting time. There are booklets telling of our parks, scenery, birds, woods and the kind that tells how things are made. These are free for the cost of writing for them and give the children some idea of what is going on in their country. The pictures may be used for scrapbooks and clippings made of the most interesting facts told. It will make the children think about the bigger things of the world and want to know more about them.

As an illustration of the uses to which these booklets may be put, a few of the ways we have used them in our home may help other mothers. There came in the mail one day a booklet describing a set of nature books, in which there were colored pictures of birds. The oldest boy of the family became interested in the many varieties of birds and decided to start a bird scrapbook. We sent for other booklets and he cut out the bird pictures, many of which were very beautiful and one of them had an interesting account of Audubon's life which was read carefully and added to the book.

Another time he sent for a catalog describing different kinds of wood and giving a short history of the different trees and the way the wood was used. The children were much pleased with this and gathered words of many kinds and uses and noted the differences.

The railroad folders are often illustrated artistically and we used these to help in geography lessons, as the pictures and descriptions of the train routes and scenery, besides the brief accounts of important landmarks helped geography seem more real and vivid to the children.

Almost all of these catalogs helped in school work as the children had interesting or odd bits of information to give to the class, and when making collections to go with the booklets, took these to school to show the teacher and the children. The teacher liked this and encouraged other children to bring outside illustrations to the lessons.

In the children's bookcase there is a special shelf for booklets and catalogs and they are very useful for references and handy to pick up in idle moments and read. The tiny tot of the family likes to have a slight story woven around some of the illustrations in which a little girl or boy visits the various places pictured, and has mild adventures. The mechanical boy of the family writes for every booklet on machinery that he can get, and studies them to see the new ideas and inventions of the world, getting all the information possible to help him in his chosen work.

It really seems as if there is a catalog or booklet to suit each one of the children and if a child has a special talent or interest, it is wise to help by sending for every thing that will in any way broaden and enlighten.

FARMERS WILL PLANT LARGE CROPS IN '23

Special Report Shows Proposed Increases For All Principal Commodities—Cotton and Corn Lead In Figures—Estimates Of Total Acreage Are Based Chiefly On 1922 Output.

A special report of the acreage of the principal crops farmers intend to plant this year, made Friday by the Department of Agriculture, included:

Cotton, 112 per cent of the 1922 acreage.
Spring wheat, 94.5 per cent.
Corn, 102.6 per cent.
Barley, 105.7 per cent.
Flax, 189 per cent.
Potatoes, 90.9 per cent.
Sweet potatoes, 97.6 per cent.
Tobacco, 110 per cent.

The special report was based largely on information received during the first 10 days of April from many thousands of crop reporters giving actual acreage of crops grown on their own farms in 1922 and acres intended to be planted in 1923 on the same farms.

The statistics were studied today by a group of leading agricultural economists, statisticians and others, together with Department of Agriculture officials, and an agricultural forecast bearing on the outlook for the principal crops for the coming season will be made tomorrow with a view to helping farmers to decide what to produce and to adjust production to domestic and foreign demand.

The conferees included George E. Roberts, of the National City Bank, New York; Carl Snyder, Federal Reserve Bank, New York; E. M. Wentworth, Trmou & Co., Chicago, and H. W. Morehouse, Farm Bureau Federation, Chicago.

Special comments on the report as made by the department were: "Spring wheat intentions have been affected by the late spring. Minnesota and South Dakota show a 12 per cent. decrease compared with 1922. North Dakota, 4 per cent. The Far Western States about the same as last year, Montana reporting 6 per cent. more. An increase of 50 per cent in Nebraska is due to the planting of spring wheat on some of the abandoned winter wheat acreage. In Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota there will apparently be a strong shift to flax.

"The intended increase of 2.6 per cent. for corn over 1922 is due to heavy increase in the Western portion of the corn belt and in the Far Western States. A part of the increase will replace winter-killed wheat, especially in Kansas and Nebraska. The East North Central States show an increase of 3 per cent., the West North Central States, 8 per cent., and the increase in the Far Western group is 20 per cent. Slight decreases are shown for most Southern States.

"The intended increase of 2.6 per cent. in oats acreage results from increases of 6 per cent. in the East North Central States, 2 per cent. in the South Atlantic, 18 per cent. in the Far Western and 1 per cent. in the North Atlantic, with a 7 per cent. decrease in the South Central division.

"A decrease of 2.5 per cent. in the sweet potato acreage is due to reductions of about 10 per cent. in New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana. Elsewhere the intention is to maintain or slightly increase the acreage.

"The 10 per cent. intended increase in tobacco acreage results from proposed material increase in practically all States, Kentucky and Tennessee showing 14 per cent.; North Carolina, 6 per cent.; New England, 17 per cent. Ohio 15 per cent.; Wisconsin, 12 per cent., and Pennsylvania, 8 per cent. "The decrease of 9.1 per cent. in the potato acreage results from decreases in the following important producing States: Maine, 7 per cent.; New Jersey, South Dakota and Nebraska, 15 per cent.; Virginia, 9 per cent.; Michigan 8 per cent.; Colorado, 20 per cent. and Idaho, 22 per cent.

Intended cotton planting by States were announced as follows: Virginia, 150 per cent. of 1922; North Carolina, 102 per cent.; South Carolina, 103 per cent.; Georgia, 101 per cent.; Florida, 130 per cent.; Alabama, 118 per cent. Mississippi, 110 per cent.; Louisiana, 110 per cent.; Tennessee, 119 per cent. Texas 114 per cent.; Arkansas, 111 per cent.; Missouri, 200 per cent.; Oklahoma, 120 per cent., and Arizona, 120 per cent.

Weather conditions since April 1, the department says, have been very unfavorable for the planting of cotton.

ROOT OF DRUG EVIL.

Restriction of immigration would assist materially in America's fight to end the drug evil, according to Garland W. Powell, National Americanism director of the American Legion, who asserted in a recent address in Indianapolis for illicit dealings in narcotics are of alien birth or parentage.

Powell stated that the Legion will be represented at the National Anti-Narcotic Conference to be held in Washington early in May and that the Legion will support all efforts to stamp out the illicit traffic in the United States.

He asserted that figures compiled by government investigators show that one in every seventy-three persons in this country is addicted to the use of narcotics, and that the United States will become a nation of drug addicts within twenty-five years unless the traffic is checked.

The most vicious phase of the traffic, he said, is the earnest efforts of the drug peddlers to develop their evil habit among children. The habit is spreading among high school and grammar school children, he asserted, and many of them are even now unable to do without their periodical "shot" or "sniff" of drugs.

"The immediate problem in connection with the drug evil is that of the middlemen who obtain the drug and distribute it," Powell stated. "Ninety-five percent of the drug peddlers arrested are foreign born or of foreign parentage."

The American Legion has taken a stand for a closed season on immigration of the next five years as a means of curbing the spread of the drug habit.

PLANT BED AT FRUITLAND IS A MODEL ONE

500,000 Tomato Plants Being Grown By Dulany Firm, Fruitland—Bed Is Best Prepared He Ever Saw, Says Vegetable Expert, Excelling Even That In Cecil.

The farmers in Cecil County who procured plants from the tomato demonstration bed increased the average yield from 4 tons per acre to 8 tons per acre. Much of this increase was due to their getting early and vigorous plants as all operations were similar to those of other years when the average yield was only 4 tons per acre.

A similar demonstration is being carried on this year in this County at Fruitland. Through the efforts of J. H. Dulany & Son land has been secured, thoroughly prepared and seed sown. Four varieties of seed has been sown, namely, Greater Baltimore, Delaware Beauty and Clarks Special so that the growers will be able to secure plants of any of these four varieties.

County Agent Cobb and W. R. Ballard, Extension Vegetable Specialist from the University of Maryland, together with Mr. Wilmer Adkins who will have direct supervision of the demonstration bed are assisting as much as possible in making this a real worth while demonstration that will show the farmers of the county what can be gained from the use of early and well grown tomato plants.

It is expected that there will be plants enough to supply a large number of the growers around Fruitland and Salisbury and it may be that growers from other sections will be able to secure plants from this bed as there will be around 500,000 plants grown. These plants will be sold at cost and although it is impossible just at this time to figure the exact cost the Dulany firm has guaranteed that the cost will not exceed 80 cents per thousand.

Credit must be given Mr. Adkins for the very thorough way in which he prepared the ground for this plant bed. Mr. Ballard, who visited it last week, said that he had never seen a bed in a better state of preparedness and that it was far in advance of the one in Cecil County. Basing future operations on the past we are assured that if humanly possible Mr. Adkins is going to grow plants that will be of the highest quality.

It is hoped and expected that the growers in the county will take advantage of this opportunity to secure well grown tomato plants at a low figure. The seed is selected and much of it certified by the different state institutions as some that they have been working on to improve for several years, the plant bed has been well prepared, the seed were sown carefully and under proper conditions and the cultivation of these plants will be of the best. These plants will be sprayed at least four times in the bed and more if necessary so that they should be free from disease when transplanted.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

REEDVILLE

The Northumberland County School Board met with Dr. F. W. Lewis at his home in Lancaster last week. We were glad to hear that Dr. Lewis is able to be out again, after a long siege of illness and hospital treatment. The road has been worked here this week. The State force of men, mules and machinery have been busy reducing the road to powder. It will probably be all right after while. Just now the dust flies in clouds with every passing object and is almost blinding regardless of all the recent rains. Leonard Haynie is at his home here this week and is warmly welcomed by his family and many friends. Mrs. C. W. Haynie will spend the summer at Sandy Island, taking her household there to join Mr. Haynie during the vacation days. Mrs. Frank Haynie and family of boys will go to Chincoteague as soon as school closes, spending the summer months. Mr. Haynie will take a Seaboard boat and Delmar, who has recently finished his business course in Baltimore will have a position with the Seaboard Co.

Rev. R. U. Brooking, of Flecton, has been sick the past week, but is improving, we are glad to know. Messrs. R. P. Waller, A. J. Douglas and Capt. Treake, Flecton folk, are out of town at this time.

Miss Margaret Davis, of Fredericksburg Normal, spent a recent week end at the Davis home, Flecton. Many friends of Miss Virginia Douglas, of near Flecton, are grieved to know that she continues very sick. We hope she may improve soon.

Mr. W. A. Edwards, of Flecton, returned from Baltimore recently. Mrs. Edwards is here for the summer.

Mr. C. S. Towles, of this place, is having his home painted. Mr. Parks of Beverlyville, doing the work.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Ralph Dey who has gotten up from an attack of pneumonia very recently was with his mother and family here, and in bed with temperature again. We are hoping he may soon be up and out again.

Miss Tillie Haynie is working at the Reedville Central office every night now. The work has become almost too much for two operators and this relief is much appreciated by Miss Mary Megill and Mrs. Perry Davis.

Mrs. Joseph Perkins, of Charlottesville and Mrs. J. D. Norris, of Baltimore, were here for a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Perkins.

Mrs. I. M. Bussells entertained a large number of her friends at a delightful afternoon affair on Thursday last at her home in Flecton. The fest was assisted in receiving and serving by a number of Flecton ladies.

The entire community is sympathizing deeply with Mrs. J. F. Shackelford and family in the extreme illness of her husband. A few days ago he seemed much better, but Saturday he was much worse. We truly hope that he may soon be restored to health.

A number of friends from church and business circles here went to White Stone, Sunday afternoon to attend the burial of Capt. Joe Bellows.

Rev. Mr. Hudson was in town Sunday evening, at Bethany to a large congregation, and holding Quarterly Conference Monday.

Mrs. J. D. Carey's Sunday School Class has recently been organized as a Baracca Class, with the following officers: President, W. Harold Haynie; vice-president, Miss Mary Megill; secretary, Graham Evans; treasurer, Mrs. Howard Rice; all of Reedville. Of the committee, Winton Whaley is chairman of the Devotional; Miss Elizabeth Muir, of the Social; Mrs. Howard Rice, of the Membership. They will meet monthly for business and social purposes and mean to give the already famous Mizpah Class a close run. The Baracca Class will be entertained in May by the Reedville High School teachers, who are members of the class. They are quite enthusiastic in their new work.

To the sincere pleasure of the fishermen, the catch was a little better on the creek here last week, right many herring were brought in to the packing houses. The work was heavier than it has been this season, though it lasted only a few days. More shad were caught also and right many trout, hard-heads and fish that generally come with the end of the season. It is said that not many of the trappers will do more than say expenses. This means a great deal to the people here and we hope that fishing may yet improve.

Why Bake at Home

—when you can buy bread like it, ready baked?

COUNT the raisins—at least eight big, plump, tender fruit-meats to the slice.

Taste it—see how the raisin flavor permeates the bread.

No need to bake at home when we've arranged with bakers in almost every town and city to bake this full-fruited raisin bread.

Just 'phone and they'll deliver it—all ready to surprise the family tonight.

It comes from master bakers' modern ovens in your city. And it's made with Sun-Maid Raisins.

That's another reason for its superiority. A rare combination of nutritious cereal and fruit—both good and good for you, so you should serve it at least twice a week.

Use Sun-Maid Raisins also in puddings, cakes and cookies. You may be offered other brands that you know less well than Sun-Maid's, but the kind you want is the kind you know is good. Insist, therefore, on Sun-Maid brand. They cost no more than ordinary raisins.

Mail coupon for free book of tested Sun-Maid recipes.

RANKS OF "BLUE AND GRAY" IN COUNTY ARE FAST THINNING OUT

John W. Hardesty, One Of Few Surviving Heroes Of Conflict Between States, Who Afterwards Joined The Ministry, Gives Life's History To News' Reporter.

There a few Civil War veterans now living in Wicomico county, quietly resting beneath the shadows, the evening of life. They now "rest from their labors and their works do follow them." While their years of activity are gone, the Government recognizes their service in that stormy period of the country's period and they are all cared for, not a brief sketch of their lives would show to them that they are not forgotten, cheer them up and brighten the retrospect of life. We propose to give kindly mention of every War veteran of the Civil War in this county from time to time and can secure the data. We want every Veteran of the Civil War to send his name and postoffice address to the Wicomico News at an early date that we may get in communication with him.

We find living in Salisbury, Rev. John W. Hardesty, a veteran of the Civil War and a retired Methodist Episcopal minister and while he was not born upon the soil of Wicomico he is her adopted son, having been living in the county since 1904.

Rev. Hardesty was born in Preston county, West Virginia in 1843, being one of ten children, whose parents were Joshua and Elizabeth Freeland Hardesty. Four brothers, William, Frank, Henry and Elijah Hardesty, came to this country with a party of immigrants in 1773 from Scotland and were Scotch-Irish descent. They landed in Philadelphia, Eljah went to Pittsburg, Frank followed him to the valley of Virginia, settling on a farm on the slope of the Blue Ridge where he died leaving a large family of children whose descendants still occupy the old homestead and are very wealthy. Henry located in Ohio, William remained in Philadelphia. He joined the Philadelphia Conference in 1793 and spent the remainder of his life as a member of that body.

Elijah, the great-grandfather of the subject of this sketch was a Pennsylvania farmer who had three sons, Garrison, James and Eljah. Garrison was the great grandfather of the Rev. George L. Hardesty of the Wilmington Conference now living in retirement at Seaford, Delaware; Eljah was the grandfather of John W., and to him was born five sons, one of whom Joshua was the father of John W. Joshua when about twenty years old emigrated to the hills of Virginia, where in a wilderness on Salt Lick Creek, he built a log cabin and lived alone for three years, isolated from friends and relatives. At the age of twenty-three he married Elizabeth Freeland, the only daughter of John Freeland, who had come from Pennsylvania and located three miles east on the same creek. For nearly fifty years they labored and toiled together in this wilderness and it was in this place that Rev. John W. Hardesty first saw the light of day.

His parents were Methodists and father a class leader and exhorter in that church. Before there was any church in the community John's father held services each week in his log cabin. Rev. Hardesty was one of ten children born into the family. He got his early education in a log school house, sitting for eight hours on a seat with no back on it studying his lessons, consisting of spelling, reading arithmetic, grammar and history. From these primitive schoolhouses have come some of the brightest men of the State.

One bright Monday morning, at the breaking out of the Civil War in 1861 young Hardesty ran away at the age of eighteen years and enlisted in Company A, Eleventh West Virginia Volunteers for three years. It was a well matured plan of his and he had been waiting and watching for a chance to leave home. That morning his father was out on the farm and his mother had gone to town to do some shopping. Thinking this was his chance he took his best clothes and started down the road to join the company camping there. On the way he met his mother and bade her good-bye and with tears in her eyes she handed him ten cents all the money she had and said "be a good boy." He kept the ten cents until the close of the war.

Col. Smith of the First Delaware, who was his Brigade General, was killed in the last battle before the surrender. He claims that no Company or Regiment saw more hard service than his, the Old Seventh. It fought thirty-two battles and lost more than one-half of its men. This Company was made up of the best men of the County. He was the only boy in it and when mustered out on July 4, 1865 he was one of the seventeen still living. Only two of that number being Episcopal and then living and their homes are in West Virginia.

In 1863 he was appointed Corporal of the Company and later was promoted to First Sergeant, then to Orderly Sergeant, after which he was elected Sergeant-Major of the Regiment which position he held until the close of the war. He was engaged in thirty-two battles and wounded five times and he says that it seems to him a miracle that his life was spared. After being mustered out he returned to his father's home to find his parent seriously ill of a disease from which he never recovered.

On December 6, 1866, he married Elizabeth Nine, the only daughter of Conrad and Elizabeth Nine and started life on his own responsibility. For six years he was a farmer on a farm he bought from his father-in-law. His health failed and he left the farm and became a merchant. He was also postmaster, and remained at this for four years. He sold out his mercantile business and moved to Keyser, W. Virginia and opened business there and sold goods for fifteen months after which he returned to his farm, having lost heavily at Keyser and farmed only one year. He then bought back his old stand at Rodamers where he remained only two years, sold out and moved to Terra Alta where he had great success as a merchant. In 1882 he sold out his business at Terra Alta and moved to Rokeburg, where he opened a wholesale and retail store where he made money and lost it faster. In 1891 he closed out and moved to Buckhannon, W. Va., where he lived thirteen years from which place he moved to Salisbury, Maryland in 1901.

In 1878 he was licensed to preach by Dr. W. W. Bolton at Kingwood, Preston County, West Virginia. The same year he was admitted on trial in the West Virginia M. E. Conference and was assigned to Bruceton Circuit consisting of eleven appointments. Here he traveled, often through storm and snow for thirty miles on a Sunday and preached three times a day. He was sent the next year to Sinclair to do Mission Work where he remained three years preaching and trying to sell goods. He preached at one church where he had one hundred converts.

In 1904 when he reached Salisbury he was kindly received by friends who made him and family feel welcome and just a little later he was taken into the Wilmington Conference as a supply. In 1905 he was sent to Mardela Springs as pastor of the three churches on that charge. At the Conference of 1906 he was assigned to Salisbury circuit where he remained as pastor for seven years, during which period he had four hundred and forty-five converts and greatly built up the churches. He then returned to Mardela and remained until he retired

Plodding Prospectors Now Millionaires

For thirty years Bill McCreu and Bob McMahon were plodding prospectors in the Mojave desert of California, then overnight their toil was rewarded — for they struck a ledge of gold worth a king's ransom. "Gold-town" sprung up and these two are now millionaire mine owners.

a few years ago from the active work. He was considered a good, earnest, conscientious preacher, forceful and intelligent. He is a man of deep faith backed by a strong character that enables him to win the respect, confidence and admiration of those who know him and he is now resting in the evening of life bright with prospect and happy in retrospect.

There were born into his family ten children, seven boys and three girls, five of whom are yet living. We have thus traced a very eventful life of a good man with the fact that few veterans of the Civil War ever took up the ministry.

Whooping Cough

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.—Adv.

BEACON COLLEGE NOTES

The boys of the College have always thought that the girls in attendance are a little above the average and the outing which the girls gave them on last Saturday certainly did not cause them to change their opinion. In fact, it merely convinced them that they were right.

The spot selected for this festive occasion was the pine grove in front of the Pine Bluff Sanatorium. Although the games which were played in the early part of the afternoon were very much enjoyed, it was apparent that the big event was to be the ringing of the dinner bell by the girls who were at work over the camp fire. This proved to be all that had been expected. There was just one exception. William Toadvine seemed to be just a little disappointed in that the girls overlooked bringing enough pickles. Just before leaving, Miss Blades, Superintendent of the Sanatorium, and who helped in a large measure to make the event a success, invited the party in to play and sing for the patients.

FIND JOY IN STICKING TO THE SAME JOB

Some Who Have Held Same Post For Half Century Or More Tell Of The Pleasure Derived Therefrom—None Worry About Gibe Of Others.

There was a king long ago in the East who reigned 92 years. All his retainers grew old in his service and before the end of his reign his palace was called the "City of the Old Men." One of his servants, his cook was even older than he and it is said that when this cook was 80 the king called him and said, "You have been a good cook under your care I have never had indigestion and now it has occurred to me that you are worthy of the highest rewards and I bid you to choose any place of honor that you wish, even though you ask to be made Prime Minister." The old cook, however, instead of becoming happy at this offer, shook his head sorrowfully, and declared that the only position he desired was to remain on the job as the king's cook.

Here and there in this country are men who have shown that the West-erner is capable of carrying on in one job for years. They proved psychol-ogists were right when they recently declared that all this rush and hurry is a disease of the nerves and that keeping in one place is not the sign of a stick-in-the-mud nor of a lack of energy but, on the contrary, the sign of a control of energy, an ability to direct and govern it.

For instance, there is old Bill Critch-low, the world's oldest traveling sales- man. Critchlow, who now makes his home in Shelby, Missouri, is 93 years of age.

Mr. Critchlow declares that he has not any rules for other people to fol- low so they, too, can reach to a similar ripe old age while remaining in one job. "I guess I got there because I did not worry about how to grow old pain- lessly. I've done just about what I wanted without bothering about rules. They used to say a traveling man couldn't live long," he continued. "The irregular living, the traveling, the eat- ing, the drinking and all that was sup- posed to encourage an early acquaint- ance with the undertaker," but I've been at it for 70 odd years."

Mr. Critchlow is known as "Happy Bill." He permits nothing to disturb him unduly. The only thing he can do to excess is be happy and right now he is happy to excess in the fact that he has just located his daughter, lost for 44 years. It happened when his wife died and the child, very young, was placed in the care of friends and taken away and lost sight of by her father. Through a paragraph in a Kansas City newspaper the two were reunited and they have started housekeeping as happily as a pair of newly weds.

While Mr. Critchlow, for the first time in 44 years, is again setting up a home of his own, in New York is a rec- tor, celebrating his 53 years of ser- vice in one church. He is the Rev. Dr. John F. Steen, rector of Ascension Memorial Episcopal Church during the entire length of its existence.

The church is a modest one-story structure, lost in the midst of the tall buildings which surround it, so small indeed, that many New Yorkers have frequently walked along that street without noticing that there was a church on the block at all. It is tucked in between a 15-story hotel and an even taller newspaper structure.

While the Rev. Dr. Steen is no longer young, he is still in excellent phys- ical condition and his parishioners de- clare that his sermons today are as soul-cheering and uplifting as any that he preached when he was a young man. He also had no rules for long life, except faith in the Almighty and acceptance of His guidance. "Believe that God's gift of life is good, stick at the job you like and serene happiness will be yours," he says.

In New England, where it is said people do not grow old, because they move to the West or get lost in the mill towns, the oldest postmaster in the country, believed by some to be the oldest in the world, is still at it.

For 33 years he has been sorting and mailing Uncle Sam's mail and the only hat he wears any "callousness of dis- content" on his nature.

He is A. L. Hale, of Benson Landing Vt., who received his appointment by President Grant in 1870. Since then, in spite of the many changes of Ad- ministration, his appointment has regu- larly been renewed. Physically he fits his name, being in fine health.

Fifty-four years a railroad engineer is the record held by Charles Trimble.

In that time Mr. Trimble has covered over 2,000,000 miles, equal to 80 times around the earth. He has never mis- sed a day's service, even though he has three weeks in which he escaped with- out injury and in each case was ex- onerated from blame. He has no idea of retiring although if he wished to he could be retired at his regular salary.

When Mr. Trimble heard that he was to be "written up" he said, "There is somebody else that must be given credit, if you are thinking of long service at a steady job. That's the missus. There are thousands of women in this country who have been at this job and a mighty important one it is for 50 years and over and they've never thought of quitting. I guess that is why women are happier and healthier than men on the average even if they are not born so strong as man. I reckon that is why there are more widows than widowers in the world."

In the same class with Mr. Trimble is Jake Kridner, who is 74 years old and has spent 48 of them in service on the Cincinnati Street Railway. He has never been late, never missed a day, and has never had an accident of any importance. He is known as a "beetle" and it is not yet complete- ly gray.

"When I was well on in the job," said Mr. Kridner, "some of the men would make fun of me, calling me a stick-in-the-mud and said it was a dis- grace to stay in one place as long as I have. I know they said it behind my back, too, but it did not worry me. I knew that the man who does his work does not have to worry about these things. I have managed to lead a hap- py life without changing around."

"Many of the boys who thought I was a fool to stick so long are worse off than I am. A few of them went to the 'pen' and others to the poorhouse. Some of those who made fun of me while they held good jobs are back here doing odd jobs and sweeping up. Some, of course, made good and I was the first to congratulate them, but of those who have made good there are very few who have not paid in worry- ing and impatience for it. I have good health, a good home and now there is no one here who does not say that I did the right thing."

The other day one of the waiters in the dining-car service of the Pennsylv- ania Railroad asked for a new set of brass buttons to use with his white duck coats. When he turned over his old buttons in exchange it was noticed that they were not only unusually bright but also that much polishing and use had almost worn off the let- tering and that the front of each but- ton was actually rubbed through in one or more places.

The waiter is John J. Jones.

COURAGE By W. L. George

Every day, many a woman asks her- self: "How shall I approach my life? How best shall I attain what I desire: love, power, riches, as the case may be? And above all, how shall I resist the cruel wrongs the world is so will- ing to do me?" Thus she questions herself, if she is wise; only the unwise women remits herself with blindfolded eyes to the current of life which so readily carries her away to the rapids.

There is only one answer, an answer made up of a single word: Courage! That word is generally associated with man, the warrior, the hunter, with scenes of conflict and carnage; it is too easily assumed that the lady waits in the tower while the knight goes out to fight; but it is a mistake to think that man needs courage more than woman. While the task of man is to set the task of woman is to endure. Without courage nothing can endure against a cruel world. Thus woman, still more than man, needs a staff to lean on. The bright, clean courage which she can draw from her spirit, even when it is fainting, can alone sup- port her steps upon the long road of existence. More often than man, wo- man must bear "the mangle of despised love"; more often is she the victim of faithlessness; more often, too, is she compelled to keep silence, watching with a beating heart the deeds of men on whom she depends; she needs cour- age while they take risks in business, courage to let them venture her bread in a speculation; above all, she needs courage while men silently hesitate to love her. A woman may not speak nor suggest; she must watch. What shall cheer her on such a vigil except courage and only courage? It is cour- age that enables her to realize that the one to whom she gave her faith is not worthy of the tears she sheds for him; courage that raises her from her objection and causes her—clear- eyed, aloof from past misery, confi- dent of future joys—to sow the seed of new life in ground made sandy by the storm.

Courage can assist her to bear a state more cruel, perhaps, than love despised—namely, love absent, devoid the loneliness of heart that only wom- en know when no man cares or no man cares enough. She is alone, but she can have a pride of loneliness; life does not touch her; she can withdraw from life; life has not been good to her; perhaps for her it was not good enough. A woman may know poverty and courage will nerve the pride, the silent fortitude with which she bears the spectacle of wealth that falls into other women's hands. Indeed, does it matter? Is happiness so necessary to life? Can a woman not look with clear eyes upon material joys and then be sure that they are illusions rather than joys? It needs courage. It needs more courage to be lowly than to be great, if one is to keep down envy and all uncharitableness—the envy which turns upon one like a snake to bite the breast that harbors it. Courage, and always courage—there lies the only approach to a long life; there is the comforter, even of age, the companion that will stand by a woman's side as she approaches an end that can be serene, when she looks out of this life, with bravely open eyes into a future without terrors because she is without fears.

YOU CAN HAVE PEACHES FOR FOUR MONTHS RUNNING

By F. F. Rockwell, Horticultural Editor of "Farm and Fireside"

By selecting the proper varieties of peaches, this delicious fruit can be had in the home for four months running. The season of the peach in the home table week after week throughout a long season—from June or July to October or November, according to the section of the country in which they happen to be grown. Peaches can be successfully grown from Georgia to California and from California to New Jersey. They are "at home" under more widely varied conditions than almost any other fruit.

When a single peach tree will yield from five to fifteen, or even twenty baskets of fruit and a peach tree costs about what you have to pay for one basket, there is no reason why home grown peaches should not be found on almost every farm and small suburban place.

Everyone who has a home table to supply should realize that peaches grown and picked ripe, directly from one's own trees have a much more delicious flavor than those which can be purchased. There is a practical reason for it; and that reason is, that the peach being a very soft fruit, has to be picked in a very "firm" or in other words quite green condition, in order for it to "stand up" while it is being handled and shipped to market.

But the peaches that grow on your own trees—these can be left until the golden sunshine has accomplished its purpose of adding the last touch to their juicy sweetness, and they come off at a touch!

Why Not Plant a Few Trees This Spring?

Peach trees for home planting may be set fifteen to eighteen feet apart, or even closer if they are kept well pruned. Incidentally, too, peach trees will be worth while around the house for their ornamental value alone. You know how beautiful they are when covered in the spring with their light or dark pink blossoms! This is but another reason why at least a few trees should be found around every home.

Six peach trees should yield, after the third or fourth year, at a very conservative estimate, five baskets each, or a total of thirty baskets—enough to keep the average household well supplied for table and dessert purposes and to fill the cellar shelves. Where there is room to grow them, however, a dozen or more trees will not be too much, for there is always

Why Plan Your Spring Planting Early?

By F. F. Rockwell, Horticultural Editor of Farm and Fireside

Why should you plan now while the ground is still frozen up hard, or covered with snow for what you are going to plant this spring?

The big reason for "doing it now" is that the earlier you make your plans the better the results which you will get.

There are many reasons why this is a fact. In the first place, you can at this time make your planting plans at leisure. With the approach of spring, even weeks before the ground can be worked, there are a score of things to begin that require one's attention, even on the smallest place. Now, while the evenings are still long, and there is plenty of time to pick and choose and discuss, and to send for catalogues if those you have on hand do not cover everything you are likely to want, is the ideal time to do your planning.

There is another big reason why you should get your plans made now, and that is so that you can order early. Many kinds of plants and shrubs are scarcer this spring than they have been for many years. A few years ago the United States Department of Agriculture shut out many kinds of plants formerly imported in large quantities from abroad. This was done to lessen the danger of importing serious insects or disease pests with the plants. Some of these things have not yet been produced in sufficiently large quantities in this country to supply the demand. That is the reason for the shortage. Another is, that more building has been going on during the last twelve months than has previously been done in many years. People realize more than they ever did before that a home is not really a home until it is planted with trees and shrubs. Almost every new home you see built these days has some planting done around it, almost immediately. All this building, therefore, has made an extra heavy demand for all classes of ornamental plants.

More Fruit Being Planted Than For Many Years

When it comes to the fruit trees, the situation is the same. During the war and the few years following it, comparatively few fruit trees were set out. During the last year or two, however, people have begun to realize that in many kinds of fruits, we have fewer bearing trees in 1920, than we had in 1910. Government figures show that the decrease were from ten to thirty and even forty per cent. This has resulted in extra heavy demands from big commercial planters, and thus a short supply for the home owner and the farmer who wants a home orchard for his use and for local market. There is no farm investment today which offers a better opportunity than the planting of an orchard.

Plan For All Parts Of The Place

Too many of the places which one sees lots suffer from "lopsided" planting. In one place you may see a few evergreens and nothing else. Evergreens are fine and they are so desirable and so long-lived that some of them should be planted every place, but there is need also for other trees and for flowering shrubs and hardy plants. Evergreens, as a rule, should be put to the north or west of a house where they will protect it from winter winds and from a background that will set it off to advantage; but in most houses, we welcome all the sunlight we can have in the winter, and therefore, in front of the house it is better to have some trees which drop their leaves in winter, thus furnishing both shade in summer and permitting the sunlight to enter during the ready local sale for the surplus if you grow good fruit and good fruit can be produced easily if one will take the trouble to keep the trees pruned out and give them the necessary spraying to protect the foliage and fruit from insects; a job which is not difficult in these days of effective "ready made" sprays.

A good selection of varieties which will give a succession of fruit from early to late in the season, is the following: May Flower, June Elberta, Hylle, Belle of Georgia, Elberta and Krummel October.

In buying trees, keep in mind that a sturdy well-grown tree which you can be confident is free from disease and true to name, such as a reliable agent or nurseryman will furnish is worth many times the price of a so-called "cheap" tree that is urged upon you on the basis of its low price alone.

How To Plant Your Trees To Assure A Good Start

Before your trees arrive from the nurseryman or agent, prepare the places for planting them in advance. With good care peaches ought to bear some fruit the second season after they are planted. Therefore, it is worth taking extra pains to make sure that they will make their maximum growth during the first season.

Peach trees should not be planted in too sheltered a nook, as then their buds will start up too early in the spring, and run the chance of being killed by a late frost. Select a spot in your garden where they will get sun enough but where it is not too sheltered.

If possible, select a gravelly loam with a gravelly subsoil in which to plant them. This matter of drainage is very important in good fruit growing, and if the soil is not naturally well drained, you will have to provide drainage. Dig a good sized hole for each tree, fill in a foot to 18 inches at the bottom with gravel or well screened coal cinders.

Unless the trees are to be planted in very rich garden soil, three or four forkfuls of old, well rotted manure should be dug into the soil for each tree, mixed with a couple shovelfuls of wood ashes (or 3 or 4 handfuls of bone meal). Work this fertilizer in most carefully and thoroughly. After the trees begin to grow, sprinkle a handful or two of nitrate of soda about each tree.

Always keep the surface about the foot of the newly set tree well cultivated, so that the ground will conserve the moisture necessary for the tree's health and growth.

"I wouldn't go through the pain again for a million dollars," said Miss Eleanor Spruell after dancing 30 hours and thirty minutes for endurance record at Norfolk, Va., and beating the Cleveland, O., record by twenty minutes.

However, the above record has been shattered by another couple that "tripped the light fantastic," for 127 hours steady in Baltimore.

how small, where there is not room for some fruit. Certainly no farm is a real farm without at least some sort of an orchard to provide plenty of fruit for home use.

Even if it is only a couple of dozen trees, it will be well worth while, because during eight or ten months of the year, they will save many dollars that would otherwise be spent for "store" food, and in addition to this even a very small orchard may bring in a goodly sum of ready cash. Ten to twenty dollars is not at all unusual. I have received as much as forty dollars for the crop from one tree of apples.

Then there are the flowering shrubs and the hardy flowers. The day has gone by when the stark, bare farm house will pass for a farm home that the owner can be proud of. Some planting and some flowers are as much a part of the modern farm home as running water in the kitchen, a modern heating plant and electric lights. A few dollars invested in plants will bring beauty and joy to the entire family for years and at the same time add more than ten times the cost of the plants to the value of the property. There is no longer any excuse for bare, unplanted houses.

Keep these things in mind, and make your plans now to do some planting this spring. Get your order in promptly so you can get just what you want and not have to take what the other fellow happens to leave.

Busy Lines

When you call by telephone for a number and the operator reports, "The line is busy," this does not necessarily mean that the person you are calling is actually talking.

It may mean that someone else is calling for the same number and the operator has put up the connection and is in the act of ringing the telephone; it may mean that the receiver of the telephone you are calling has been left off the hook; perhaps it may mean, if the telephone you are calling is on a party line, that some one of these things has happened, not to the telephone you want, but to the OTHER TELEPHONE on the line or that the person at this other telephone is holding a conversation.

If, therefore, in calling for someone, you receive a "Busy" report and that person afterwards tells you that he was not using the telephone at that time, please don't conclude that the operator gave you a false report; it may have been due to some of the causes mentioned above.

Prolonged conversations, of course, contribute greatly to "Busy" lines. It will help us to give better service if lengthy conversations are avoided, PARTICULARLY IF EITHER TELEPHONE IS ON A PARTY LINE.

It will also be helpful if persons calling will wait a reasonable time after receiving a "Busy" report before making the call again.

IT'S NEARLY TIME TO PLANT THE LEGION FLOWER

By Walter Richard Eaton

The American Legion has adopted the poppy as its flower, and nobody can be in any doubt of the reason. The men who won overseas war the red poppies of France and Flanders flowing everywhere, in neglected fields, between abandoned trenches, sometimes even in No Man's Land. Not only was this poppy tragically symbolic, with its scarlet color, as it was brave, too, and beautiful, opening its delicate petals to the rising sun when nothing else could flower there. It is no wonder the Legion, after choosing another flower, has strong-back finally to its first choice, the poppy.

The particular variety of poppy which grew in Flanders fields, and the one named by the Legion flower, is the so-called European corn poppy; papaver rhoeas is its botanical name. It is not the poppy from which opium is secreted, but poppy seed are much esteemed in many European countries sprinkled on bread or cake, and the variety supplies those seeds in numerous regions, though the seeds of the opium poppy are also used. It is an ancient wild flower, probably originating somewhere in the Mediterranean region, and in comparatively recent years has been used by horticulturists to develop a race of very lovely garden poppies of various colors, known as Shirley poppies, to be found in any seed catalogue, and you will have something fairly close to the Legion flower. The corn poppy is an annual which in France and Flanders seeds to develop a race of very lovely garden poppies of various colors, known as Shirley poppies, to be found in any seed catalogue, and you will have something fairly close to the Legion flower. The corn poppy is an annual which in France and Flanders seeds to develop a race of very lovely garden poppies of various colors, known as Shirley poppies, to be found in any seed catalogue, and you will have something fairly close to the Legion flower.

Before I say anything about the methods of growing poppies, and the various kinds to plant with the Legion flower, I ought to state that a good many people have expressed some doubt about the advisability of importing this seed. Since they say the corn poppy grows so prolifically in France, and running whole fields, will it not do the same thing here? Will it not become a weed and the Legion get itself disliked by all the farmers?

I don't think this need worry anybody. In the first place, it must be remembered that in France the cultivated fields were in prime condition for seed when the war hit them, and the poppies got a fine start, without anybody thereafter to cultivate them out. In the second place, we have actually had in our American gardens, a variety of this poppy for a hundred years or more, and since about 1890 we have had the Shirley poppies, another variety developed from the Legion flower. I have never heard of any instance where the flowers have actually become a pest. I have had them come up around my own garden, but never thick enough to make any trouble. To make sure, however, I have consulted with Dr. H. P. Hedrick, chief of horticultural research in the New York Agricultural Experiment Station. He traces his scientific career in Oregon and California, and he is also entirely familiar with our Eastern States. He says that he is "very certain there is little danger of the poppy becoming pestiferous in America." On such authority, the members of the Legion need have no hesitancy in going ahead and planting their chosen flower.

I am writing this article before the 1922 seed catalogues are out, but in inquiry at several of the largest seed houses in the country I find they are listing the red corn poppy, or "Legion poppy", as they call it, so I presume other houses will.

The seed is going to be easy to get, then, and the scarlet Legion flower should be the basis of your poppy bed. But don't stop with this one variety. There are dozens of poppies to be had, easy to grow and lovely to look at. Once you have raised a bed of them you will never want your garden to be without them again.

Poppies like best a light, mellow soil. The bed in which they are planted should have plenty of old, well-rotted manure spread deeply under in early spring. The top soil, if it is at all heavy or likely to cake in dry weather should then be mixed with leaf mould or fine sand, to lighten it. In any case before the seeds are planted, it should be very thoroughly worked over with a rake, till it is broken down as fine as possible. The seed of a poppy is a tiny thing, and cannot push up except through light, fine soil. Neither can poppies (except the perennial Oriental varieties) be transplanted. They have to be sown where they are to grow.

years as you can use a spade and a rake. It is a lovely flower and it is a flower that is full of memories for millions of Americans. It ought to be in the garden. And if he ever gets it there, I feel pretty sure he will not stop with this one variety, but will grow other poppies, too, and make a delightful pattern of color and silk, delicate beauty beside his home.

RULES FOR AMATEUR THEATRICALS, TOLD

The first definite rule in play production for all amateurs is to start with the a b's of drama. Use the simplest plays it is possible to find. Try to do these well—and keep on trying—but don't overreach at first. Certain fundamental principles of play production, founded on common sense alone, were pointed out by Katherine Steele, playwright and producer before the recent Drama Institute directed by Jay Higgins of the Boston Community Service organization. The first of these principles, Miss Steele states, is naturalness. "All acting should be based on observation of life and not on observation of the stage," she says. "For instance, a student should never be instructed as to character he is to play. He should be made to observe it. The object of the play is to enact a story in terms of real life."

EFFECT OF EMOTIONS ON A PERSON'S HEALTH

Very great doctors nowadays are finding it not beneath their dignity to study the relation of emotions to health. Some of them think that the best results come from getting the body into the best possible condition through entire rest and special feeding and trusting to the spirit's own will and spirit. The most of the plants you should sow after with a pair of shears and as soon as a flower drops its petals, cut the head off. By doing that, you will keep the plant in bloom for two or three weeks, and with a succession of plantings in your bed you can have blossoms for two months. The plants you keep for seed bearers should be left alone until the heads are thoroughly dry and rattle. Then, just before they start over to spill their seeds on the ground, cut the heads off and shake the dry seeds into a tin box, labeling it for next year.

Now, a word about the Oriental poppies. I myself like best the type flower—the standard orange flame color. The reds and pinks are not nearly so handsome. This plant is a perennial. Now the seed in a seed bed in spring and the next spring move the plants into the center of your poppy bed. They will bear large blossoms, six inches across, the second year and will go on blooming and making larger plants for many years to come. They can, of course, be put in other parts of the garden, too. For that matter, so can any poppy.

If you have a front walk leading up to your house, with beds on either side of it, you could border that path with the Legion flower. You could plant it, too, along the edge of your vegetable garden. In Oregon, Washington and California you can even plant it in the lawn and it will send up scattered blossoms. In the Eastern States, however, you will find it will thrive only in rather carefully cultivated soil. But once you have raised it anywhere, you can always grow a few plants, collect enough seed to plant twice as many the next year. Fifty cents invested now, and a little time getting the ground ready, will give you the scarlet Legion poppy for as many

To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a tremble feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. ## Gasoline prices reduced

AT the opening of a new motoring season, which, from all trade indications, will eclipse all previous years in the amount of gasoline consumed, the tank wagon price of "Standard" Motor Gasoline has been reduced one cent a gallon, effective April 27.

This lower price is made possible by a reduction in the cost of our crude oil supply. There is, just now, an unusually large surplus of petroleum over current requirements of the trade, which has brought about lower prices at the wells.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is at once the most essential and least expensive item in the operation of an automobile, whether you have a truck or a passenger car. "Standard" Motor Gasoline is always and uniformly good.

U. S. AUTO DEALERS REPORT 400,000 USED CARS UNSOLD ACCORDING TO SURVEY

$152,000,000 Tied Up, According To Figures Compiled As Of March 15, On Which $23,000,000 Is Already Lost.

Automobile dealers of the United States had 400,000 used cars in stock on March 15, according to compilations of figures gathered by the National Automobile Dealers Association. These stocks had a total capital investment of $152,000,000. The estimated losses that the dealers will absorb on this stock and investment in the first three months of 1923 reaches a figure of $23,000,000.

The figures that make up this startling result were obtained from a study by the National Automobile Dealers Association into the use of cars by the dealers in 18 states, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans and covering the Mississippi Valley. The figures were based on the reports by these 3,000 dealers who themselves acknowledged stock totaling 37,015 automobiles, with a capital investment of $13,350,119.

The study discloses that there is an average of 10.88 cars in hands of 38,000 automobile dealers, with an average capital investment of $4,005.48 per dealer.

The capital invested is the cost at which the dealers acquired these stocks and does not include the figures for reconditioning, overhead, etc. They are the bare figures of what the dealer allowed for these cars in accepting them in trade on new sales. These figures do not include reports from exclusive used car stores, but are solely from dealers who are handling used cars as a part of a new car business.

Market Value Uncertain. The market values which these same dealers report is accepted as the actual worth of these used car stocks. And officials of the National Automobile Dealers Association call attention to this peculiarity—that it is almost impossible for anyone to establish a market value for any article until that article has been sold. The National Automobile Dealers Association executives believe that the market values reported are simply figures for which the dealers on their own best judgment expect to sell those cars. Fluctuations can have an immense effect on the ultimate results when these used car stocks have been moved.

Accepting the figures as reported however, as the actual value of the used-car stocks on hand March 15, in 18 States, there was an apparent loss of millions. The acquisition cost was $1,391,480 more than the present market value reported.

This represents a loss of capital investment amounting to 155 per cent.

Loss Already Enormous. Apply this percentage to the total car stocks and total capital investment that is evident for the entire 38,000 dealers in the United States it immediately becomes apparent that the loss in 1923 is already enormous.

Officials of the National Automobile Dealers Association express the belief that these used car stocks and the heavy loss already being absorbed on cars which the dealers either bought during the winter or carried in stock at heavy expense, will have a wide effect on the prices that will be offered by automobile dealers the remainder of 1923. It is pointed out that the stocks on hand involve an enormous capital that must be freed for purposes of new car stocks and that with the experience of the first three months, the dealers can be expected to refuse to buy old cars at prices that will make heavy losses certain.

One of the most interesting things disclosed by the figures from these 18 States is that the average price which the dealers are allowing for old cars is $360.67. Inasmuch as they also admit that the market value is much less it is quite evident, National Automobile Dealers Association staff then say that the public will pay less than that figure, on the average, when buying a used car. The lowest average allowance reported was $259.16, in the State of Iowa and the highest was $522.40, for the State of Louisiana. The lowest average per car loss admitted was $20.24, by the dealers in Ohio, and the highest was $131.80, again in Louisiana. The largest average per-dealer loss was recorded from Louisiana at $2,004.74, and the lowest was $241.40, from Minnesota. Automobile stocks are turned about four times a year and if the losses here shown are the experience in each turnover the losses for 1923 will exceed the staggering totals of 1922.

21,460 ARE CONVICTED IN U. S. COURTS

That Many Liquor Violators Found Guilty During Past Year, Number Not Including Convictions Under State Codes—"Higher Ups" Numerous Among Those Found Guilty.

Federal Prohibition Director Edmund Budnitz has been advised by Federal Prohibition Commissioner R. A. Haynes that occasion for genuine optimism in the ultimate outcome of prohibition was never better.

The progress in the way of the states assuming their share of the responsibility under the concurrent section of the 18th Amendment is most gratifying. When state governments write in relieving the federal authorities, through governors, prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs, state constables and other local agencies, of the minor details of enforcement, leaving federal agents free to take care of the larger violations, such as the smuggling problem, conspiracy cases, counterfeiting, illegal withdrawals and wholesale drug violations, great strides along enforcement lines are certain. Furthermore, successful padlock proceedings, which are being more generally instituted in all sections of the country, together with convictions of higher-ups, are having a salutary effect and moulding public atmosphere in a most helpful fashion.

Speaking of liquor convictions, 21,460 were secured in Federal courts alone (not including convictions under State codes) during the past year. Of these, over 20,000 entered pleas of "guilty" while a verdict of "guilty" was rendered in over 2000 cases.

During the same period, nearly 300 breweries were reported for violations and over 100 brewery permits were revoked.

Other interesting significant figures are given by Commissioner Haynes as follows:

During the past year less than 3,000,000 proof gallons of spirits other than alcohol were withdrawn for medicinal use, nearly 7,000,000 proof gallons less than the previous year. During the past year, there were approximately 200,000 gallons of spirits seized and destroyed, and nearly 300,000 gallons seized and not destroyed. Gallons of malt liquor seized and destroyed, 3,392,174; gallons of wine and spirits, 486,703; gallons of beer, 4563 automobiles seized with a total value of $1,709,197.85. There were 119 boats and launches seized, with a total value of $2,909,866.38. There were 60,019 arrests.

There was an increase of approximately 100% in the number of convictions secured for violations of the Harrison Narcotic Act as compared with the previous year.

From figures obtained from the U. S. Census Bureau, the states which were wet before national prohibition showed a decline in the death rate of alcoholism of 86% from the 1917 figure. The states which were dry before national prohibition did not show this remarkable decline, but when the figure for the first dry year in these states is compared with the last wet years we find a similar startling decrease.

The plan of dividing the country into eighteen divisional areas, each having a mobile force has been in operation just one year. The reports show conclusive evidence that the general agent's force is proving a great success. This plan has the advantages of allowing the experienced agents a greater scope of territory to apply methods in various sections of the country which have proven effective elsewhere. When the plan was inaugurated, they had a force of 250 agents. Today it is almost doubled in efficiency and productivity.

Last month the force had a total of 1223 cases, which was 600 more than the best previous months.

Convictions of "higher-ups" in recent months clearly demonstrate that officials and influential citizens cannot knowingly wink at the violation of any statute of the United States. If there can be any different degree of responsibility among citizens for the observance of the law, an official should be even more guilty than those of whom society expects less, for he not only does an injustice to himself, but sets an example to those about him, frequently employees, which only encourage further violations, and sets in motion harmful influences which go on and on. When men of standing and influence do these things which they know to be in defiance of the law and Constitution there is reason for "grave concern." Admittedly, such practices make the work more difficult and bring an odium upon officials rather than upon the law.

Just Take the Wheel of This Car It's the Nash Six Touring

There's no way to put in words the new vigor and fineness of this car's performance.

But an hour at the wheel in traffic and on rough roads, through heavy going and up hills, will open your eyes.

First you'll sense the ease with which the steering wheel answers your touch. The new steering mechanism does that.

Then you'll note a hair-trigger response to the throttle that, while instant, is also perfectly smooth. The motor and carburetor improvements account for that.

And you'll find, too, a great wealth of vigorous power that swings you easily and buoyantly up stiff gradients.

Beside these features there are such betterments as the tubular-type, cross-member frame construction; the new clutch; the great brakes; and a score of others you must be sure to inspect.

Phone us if you like, or come in and arrange for a real demonstration.

We'll let the car give the selling talk.

ISLANDS OF STATE PLAY LEADING ROLE IN EARLY MARYLAND HISTORY

Elliott's Island, in Lower Dorset, Keeping Astride With Progress Of Mainland In Many Respects Notwithstanding Curtailed Opportunities. Elliott, Evans, Ewell, Early Settlers.

The islands of the Eastern Shore have entered very largely into the history, not only of the Shore but of the State and have been great feeders to the commercial and industrial interests of large towns and cities in which the products of these isolated sections have been marketed with good results. These various islands are peopled by the products of their own families and each succeeding generation has brought a marked improvement in the social, domestic and commercial life and today the islands hold their own in the various activities of life. Their schools are in keeping with those of the main land; their churches are the moral and religious strength of the society. The morals of the people are equal to the best in the State. Their lives are clean, their civic pride has kept their homes, their surroundings and their customs gradually toning upward and the men and women who have been obliged to leave for broader fields of activity have held their own and made their mark in the various avocations of life. While their environments differ, their privileges abridged as compared with their neighbors on the main land, their character is strong, their habits of industry and thrift are recognized virtues of island life.

We find much history in connection with many of the island possessions east of the Chesapeake bay and we give in this article a brief sketch of Elliott's Island, situated in lower Dorchester county, 20 miles south-west of Vienna, connected with the main land by a bridge which spans a narrow stream separating the island; this bridge is met by a road built for miles across a marsh, and filled in from time to time. This road leads out from the island toward Vienna and has branch roads leading to other sections. Before the road was built the only way out was by water and in the cold rigid winters much hardship was encountered and life during the cold winter months rather uncomfortable. The only real income source now is that the island is not large enough to support a doctor and all medical service is rendered by a physician from Cambridge, Vienna or Sharptown and this is very expensive. These islanders were very fortunate during the past winter when the flu became an epidemic, in getting Dr. J. A. Wright from Sharptown to serve them. Nearly one hundred had either grip or flu and not a single death resulted.

This island was settled by one Abell Elliott from whom it took its name in 1776, that is he was the first citizen to locate there, but just what attracted him there or from what place he sailed no one seems to know, but he remained and began to shape the island up for the fit habitation of man and others soon settled with him, being attracted there by the beauty of the island, its abundant game and the teeming fish in the bay called Fishing Bay from the enormous quantities of fish living in its waters. This man Elliott soon opened up a trade with the outside world and it became known that he was a man of money. One day a pirate ship anchored near and two men came ashore and demanded his money. He told them that his money was on Poplar Island and buried not far from the only oak tree on that island and if they would follow his advice he would locate the money for them. He told the pirates that they would find an only oak on the island near the landing place and in it were nine spike nails driven in the trunk of the tree and to walk fifty as fifteen acres. There are now about three hundred acres of high sandy land, nearly all of which is divided in various tracts and separated by lanes or roads, there is one shelled road leading across the mainland from the bridge. There is a long stretch of marsh lying on the south of the island from which thousands of muskrats are taken every year and the law is so well observed that the supply has diminished but little for many years. There is some timber, but not enough to be of much value only for fire wood. There are a few horses for the purpose of tilling the land and ox teams for hauling, a few cows and hogs. There is quite a lot of poultry though poultry raising not a special industry. There are a great many automobiles kept for use on the main land, used but little on the island. Thirty-five years ago the bridge and road were built and about the same time a steam boat pier was built but it has long since gone down and not used. Nanticoke is the principal water point of shipment, though the railroad at Vienna, twenty miles away is very much used. Nanticoke is fifteen miles away and Cambridge thirty-five miles.

While the island is not incorporated it has one Justice of the Peace and a Constable. The school facilities are about the same as those in other sections of Dorchester and meet the requirements of the place. For the last few years quite a number of young people have left the island to seek better work and better conditions and there are but few who come to the island to remain excepting those the work brings and he has always been a frequent visitor to the island. Since the opening of the road to the mainland there has not been so many kindred marriages. In the early history of the island the home people married and inter-married until they had almost an isolated family, but of late years the conditions in this party have been greatly improved. There is much wealth on the island and the people enjoy the sports and pleasure of life as on the main land. They have their boat racing, the baseball and other methods of entertainment and amusement.

Great care is given to their dead. Nearly every home has a family burying ground and in addition to this there is a cemetery at the church and a public cemetery where all are at liberty to bury. Fine tombs and costly monuments mark the last resting place of their dead, whose graves are kept redolent with the flowers of yard and garden. The population is now about four hundred having been reduced some by young people leaving the island for better opportunities. The island has a daily mail from Vienna. Financially the people are quite independent. They do their banking business at Vienna and Cambridge and their voting on the island.

Another had feature about the cheaper hotels is that their towels are seldom worth stealing.

Abihue Gray is the oldest man now living on the island at the age of ninety-six years, well preserved and has a clear memory and recollects men and events on the island from childhood and to him we are indebted for much of the history of the island. The island has been his home from birth. The first sermon ever preached on the island was delivered by Joshua Thomas known as the 'Parson of the Island', his home being Deal's Island. From that effort a society was formed and religious services inaugurated that increased until the island was adorned with a beautiful Methodist Episcopal Church, the only church or place of worship on the island. The society is strong and backed by good religious and moral lives. The present pastor is the Rev. W. F. Adkins, well known in this county. The only industry of the island, outside of the fishing, oystering and hunting is the large packing plant of S. H. Veach & Co., put up in 1916, which does a large oyster and crabbing business giving employment to every man woman and child who wants work. This industry has been a wonderful uplift to the island. The firm is composed of David and Schuler Veach who came from Front Royal, Warren County, Virginia, in the Shenandoah Valley. That these men should come from the same locality as the Ewells and follow in their tracks a hundred years later is indeed phenomenal. The constant rush of the waters of the Bay upon the shores of the island has greatly narrowed its lines of demarcation, but the solid land is still more than a mile square and the clear fields and lots are exceedingly productive of early vegetable and some fruit trees are very productive. The possessions of real estate range from one-half acre lots up to fields as much

HOTEL PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN AS CAMPAIGN PROGRESSES

MANAGER SHIPLEY HAS CHARGES GOING FULL TILT AT GORDY PARK

Snappy Practices Mark Tryouts Of Over Score White Cloud Candidates.

EXHIBITION GAME WITH RAILROADERS SATURDAY

Fans Anxious To See Favorites In Action Against Fast Cape Charles Team—Infield Combinations Showing Up To Advantage—Game Scheduled With Delmar Terminal.

Uncorking a display of mid-season form that fairly teemed with pep and sparkling play, the White Clouds in their initial workouts of the training period at Gordy Park this week have drawn forth the praise of the fans who have journeyed out to the ballpark to watch their favorites in action.

Manager Burt Shipley blew into town Monday at noon and immediately proceeded to visit the local field and get a line on the candidates who have affixed their signatures to Salisbury contracts and are striving to land the coveted positions on the team.

Monday's practice was a snappy one but Tuesday's workout was even better. The players have lost no time in getting into togs and in showing their ability both at bat and in the field. Yesterday's action found over 20 gloved athletes in the fold with Manager Shipley directing their efforts with the horsehide and critically watching individual play for outstanding features.

The former leader of the championship Martinsburg nine has doled out four hours of practice in the early afternoon for the preparation of his charges for the opening game here with Crisfield on the 25th. Following Ty Cobb's example with the Detroit Tigers, Shipley has discarded the idea of morning batting practice, believing that it detracts from spirited performances in the afternoon.

And judging from the way his men are handling themselves in the afternoon, his innovation is bearing fruit. The players are reporting that on first, second and third, Latin at short and Kung on third formed a smooth-working machine Tuesday afternoon. Grounds were scooped up in fine fashion and flashy throwing to the bases marked their workout. Catcher Ticker, a former St. Louis player, was in the lineup.

Manager Shipley is trying out several combinations in the inner works in hopes of finding a quartet of infielders that will present a well-nigh impenetrable defense. Ticker on first, Kung on second, Latin at short and Kung on third formed a smooth-working machine Tuesday afternoon. Grounds were scooped up in fine fashion and flashy throwing to the bases marked their workout. Catcher Ticker, a former St. Louis player, was in the lineup.

LEGIONNAIRES TO PLAN PROGRAM MEMORIAL DAY

Meeting Next Friday Night Of Vast Importance—Salisbury Cannot Afford To Lag

A very important meeting of Wicomico Post, American Legion, will be held next Friday night at which plans for the observance of Memorial Day, May 30th will be made.

Impressive ceremonies in many communities mark the observance of this important holiday and the legionnaires of this city are particularly anxious that their city keep pace with any of the others.

This is the day upon which honor is done to the memory of those who laid down their lives in Flanders Field and its importance cannot be minimized by any means, therefore the largest attendance of the year is requested at Friday night's meeting.

Firemen To Have Benefit Dance

Takes Place Tomorrow Night—Proceeds To Be Used In Helping Send Delegates To Convention

The Salisbury Fire Department will hold a dance on Friday evening, May 11, in the First Regiment Armory. A high class orchestra has been engaged and a large crowd is being prepared for. Ladies will be admitted free. The proceeds will be used in helping defray expenses of the firemen to the convention which meets in Frederick next month.

LARGE TIRES PUT ON BY SALISBURY MACHINE WORKS

On Tuesday of this week, the large hydraulic press of R. D. Grier & Sons Company pressed on two solid tires, 40x12. These tires cost $216 apiece and were put on a 3-ton Packard truck. These are said to be the largest tires ever applied on the Eastern Shore. This firm was the first in this section to install an outfit of this character.

WORCESTER HIGHWAY IN THIS DIRECTION

Public Landing To Salisbury Thoroughfare Being Surveyed—Two Miles To Be Constructed In '23

E. W. Mercer and a corps of surveyors arrived in Snow Hill last week to survey two miles of State road over the river toward Salisbury. They have made their survey in a direct line with the four miles of road already constructed in Wicomico county leading toward Snow Hill.

It is understood that the State and county under the direction of the State Roads Commission will construct two miles of road this year leading from Snow Hill to Public Landing, and two miles over the river in Colburn's District. The direction of the two miles over the river has not yet, it is said, been determined, but it is known that the Roads Commission thinks well of the proposed road direct from Public Landing to Snow Hill and thence direct to Salisbury.

NO SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS ANTICIPATED

GREATEST NUMBER IN COUNTY'S HISTORY

16 Are Attempting To Raise Grades Of Certificates Now Held While Remainder Seek Permits To Teach In Public Schools For First Time After Period Of Training.

Wicomico's teaching staff for 1923 and 1924 is not coming up short if the annual examinations started last Saturday in Wicomico High School and continuing next Saturday be taken as a criterion. The largest number ever to appear for these exams, presented themselves last Saturday, there being 53 white applicants and 14 colored.

Sixteen of the number were attempting to raise the grades of certificates already held and most of those who applied were either members of last year's graduating class or at present seniors in the high schools.

Superintendent J. M. Bennett, assisted by Misses C. Nettie Holloway, L. Cora Gillis, Alma Lankford and Ida Morris and Messrs. C. H. Cordrey and Phineas Gordy, conducted the tests.

Superintendent Bennett is lining up his teaching forces for the coming year. Up to the present time he has not had to engage for the schools of the county any teacher not having either previous experience or who has not done substitute work. This should insure the children of the county instructors of a much higher caliber than those of recent years when it became necessary to give many their first teaching experience here in order to fill vacancies.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Harper, accompanied by Mrs. Allison Johnson, motored to Wilmington last week where Mr. Harper attended a Jewelers' Convention. Mr. Harper and Mrs. Johnson spent several days in Chester, Pa.

Commissioners Asked To Levy $50,000 Annually For High School Buildings

Board Of Education Feels That To Be The Only Way Out Of Present Predicament—Annual Budget For Maintenance Wicomico Public Schools Calling For $186,000 Presented By Supt. Bennett Tuesday—Is $33,500 Greater Than Sum Received Last Year.

The budget for the maintenance of the public schools of Wicomico county was presented to the Board of County Commissioners in session on Tuesday. The total amount asked to be included in the levy which will be struck next month for this purpose was $186,000. The amount to be derived from the state is approximately $101,969.44. It is therefore figured by the Board of Education that it will cost $287,969.44 to run the schools during the coming year.

This is $33,500 in excess of the amount appropriated last year when $152,500 was levied for this purpose. The principal items as explained by Superintendent of Schools, James M. Bennett, who presented the budget which necessitated the requesting of an increased amount were: $8,000 for increased salaries of teachers brought about by the fact that a number are raising their certificate grades; $7,205 for the putting on of two additional transportation routes; $5,000 for county fire engine fund; $5,700 for alterations and improvements to East Salisbury School brought about by the threatening of

HEARING AT TYASKIN ON MONDAY NEXT

Fill And Culvert For Wetupqu Creek Will Be Discussed Then.

HEARING IS ORDERED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Property Owners Above Point Where Stream Would Be Bridged Claim Outlet For Products Of Forest And Field Would Be Cut Off If Creek Was Closed.

A public hearing on the application of the State Roads Commission for approval of plans for a fill and culvert to be constructed across Wetupqu Creek about 3.3 miles from Nanticoke River, has been ordered held by the War Department in Mechanics Hall, Tyaskin, on Monday, May 14, 1923 at 2:00 according to a communication received by The News from F. C. Harrington, Major, Corps of Engineers, District Engineer.

At that hour interested parties are invited to be present or represented at the hearing and express their views. For accuracy of record all submitted facts and data should be submitted in writing although oral statements will be heard.

This action follows an inquiry made of the War Department by land owners above the point where the proposed state highway would bridge Wetupqu Creek, as to whether the stream was not a navigable one and advising that they (the owners) had been in the habit for years of floating lumber and farm products thru it and on out into the river. The reply was to the effect that it was a navigable body and that in order to close it to navigation, permission would have to be secured from the War Department.

Following this, the State Roads Commission filed an application for that right and the hearing Monday will determine whether or not the property owners will be affected adversely to an extent which would justify the withholding of the permit to the State to have to cover.

If the application for the permit is rejected there are two alternatives left to the Commission. One is to swing the road further upstream to a point where it branches out into two forks and where it is not navigable and the other is to build a drawbridge over the stream. The last proposition is said to be entirely unlikely due to the great cost and the other plan would require a new survey and the expenditure of several thousand dollars more due to the increased distance with the road would have to cover.

A large crowd is expected to attend the hearing as interest in the highway project in this section is running high.

T. & T. SERVICE STATION ENLARGES ITS FACILITIES

Mr. Paige Toadvine, proprietor of the T. & T. filling stations in this city announce a new service for motorists at his station, corner Dock St. and Camden Ave. An elevated concrete driveway has been erected where crank shaft service will be provided. This draining and refilling of oil in the base of the engine will be of no extra charge to the automobilist. Mr. Toadvine has just recently opened up a pretentious filling station on the steamboat wharf property.

CHILD BORN IN SALISBURY HAS 12 TOES

Several Of Medical Profession Have Never Seen Similar Case Before.

EVERY MEMBER IS PERFECTLY FORMED

Child Of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lewis Is Attracting Widespread Notice—X-Ray Is To Be Taken By Dr. Potter Later And Sent To Medical Journal.

A baby girl, an abnormality in that it has six perfect toes on each foot, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Lewis, 416 Davis street, shortly after midnight Thursday.

To the best of his knowledge, says Dr. D. B. Potter, attending physician, the child is the only one of that character in Salisbury and the case is of such a rare nature that when it becomes a little older it will be carried to the Peninsula General Hospital where an X-ray photograph will be made of the limbs and sent to the Medical Journal for publication.

It is not such a rare occurrence, say physicians, for a child to be born with an extra growth resembling a finger or toe of imperfect construction. In this case the member is perfectly formed and gives a large toe and five small ones on each foot.

Outside of this peculiarity, the child is perfectly formed and normal, weighing at birth something over six pounds. Both the mother and infant are doing well.

The child is creating quite a bit of curiosity and it has been suggested that Mr. Lewis start a show but he has laughingly replied that there is no charge for admission and his friends are welcome to see the baby of which he is very proud.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Laws were in Baltimore most of last week.

OVER $105,000 SUBSCRIBED IN FIRST 2 DAYS

And Active Canvassing In Hotel Drive Has Just Begun Functioning.

PARTIAL LIST OF HOTEL SUBSCRIBERS IS GIVEN

Officials Seek To Guard Against Over Confidence—Say Success Depends On Earnest Work And Universal Public Response—County Districts Are Helping Materially.

Will Salisbury have her new hotel a year from now? She will, positively! So say one hundred workers representing every business and social walk in life in Salisbury, to say nothing of an equal number of new hotel rosters resident in the country adjacent to Salisbury.

Furthermore, if results of the first two meetings of the workers held in the basement of the new Methodist Protestant Church last Monday and Tuesday evening count for anything, there are reasonable grounds for the faith which is inspiring the members of the twelve volunteer salesmen's teams which comprise the stock selling organization.

The speaking program of Monday evening's meeting was practically swept aside by the desire of the canvassing organization to place itself on record with its own subscriptions. They were called up from the tables to the Chairman in rapid succession and did not stop until $85,000 had been pledged. The second day's report added $20,000 to this amount, in spite of the fact that a majority of the teams had as yet had no opportunity to get under way in the field.

In giving out the names of subscribers for publication in The News the hotel management requested the statement to be made that a number of the pledges herein are tentative and subject to increase, while still other pledges made were in the hands of the auditing committee and could not be released in time for publication today.

SEWERAGE AND WATER SYSTEM GREAT NEED

More Vital Than Any Other Want Of City Say The Rotarians.

SIX CALLED UPON TO EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS

Dr. Dick, Graham Gunby, Rev. Boyle Senator Disharoon, W. F. Allen and I. L. Benjamin, Representing Different Phases Of Business And Professional Life, Speak.

Six members of the Salisbury Rotary Club at the meeting on Thursday night, at the request of President Hooper S. Miles, gave their opinion as to what they deemed the three outstanding needs of Salisbury.

Each presented a different phase of the city's business and professional activities. An adequate sewerage and water system seemed to receive the most consideration. The opinions were as follows:

Graham Gunby, motor car distributor: Extending fellowship and social relations to the people in the rural sections of the county, explaining that Salisbury is dependent to a very great extent upon these people for the further progress and growth of the city.

Rev. R. A. Boyle, Pastor Wicomico Presbyterian Church: Public health supervisors, Dr. Boyle related a number of things that have been accomplished by Miss Mary C. Kell, the present County nurse, such as the establishment of public health centers in the county, dental clinics in the schools and daily visits to the homes of families who were unable to pay a physician for such services.

This work, Dr. Boyle declared, was of vital import to the community and interest in its future should not be per-

TO REPRESENT BANKING FIRM IN SALISBURY

Attorneys Miles and Miles Named As Counsel in Wicomico And Somerset
For Newly Organized Bank Designed To Aid Farmers Of Maryland And Virginia.

A group of Washington, Virginia and Maryland bankers and business men headed by George A. Harris, former Treasurer and Director of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore, and A. Mitchell Palmer, former Attorney General of the United States, have received a charter for the Potomac Joint Stock Land Bank. The institution will have a capital of $250,000 and a paid in surplus of $25,000, and will be of great benefit to Eastern Shore farmers. The bank will loan money on farm land under the restrictions prescribed by the Federal Farm Loan Act, and under the supervision of the Farm Loan Board, a branch of the Treasury Department. The loans will be made to farmers in Maryland and Virginia in amounts from $1000 to $50,000. The mortgage will be based on the amortization plan, which enables the farmer to pay one per cent per annum on the principal which will pay off the loan in thirty-three years and he will have an option to pay it off sooner if he so desires.

George A. Harris, who assisted in the organization of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore and was a Director and Treasurer of the bank for several years has been elected President of the new bank. Vernon Gowin of Vienna, Va., who was formerly Chief Accountant of the Federal Land Bank of Baltimore has been selected as the Secretary-Treasurer.

Besides Mr. Harris and Mr. Palmer other incorporators include prominent banking officials of the District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland.

Joint Stock Land Banks are under the same supervision and the same provisions as the Federal Land Banks but Joint Stock Land Banks can loan direct to the farmers without associating himself with an association. The borrower from a Joint Stock Land Bank is not required to subscribe for capital stock of the bank in connection with his loan. Attorney Hooper S. Miles and Clarence W. Miles of this city have been named as Counsel for the institution for Wicomico and Somerset Counties, and all local applications for loans should be filed at their office. The latter was in conference with Mr. Palmer and President Harris on Monday at Washington, and the institution, which is restricted under its Charter to operate in this state and Virginia is ready to receive local applications. It is understood former Governor Emerson C. Harrington, will represent the Bank in Dorchester, John W. Staton in Worcester and Representative T. Alan Goldsborough in Caroline County.

EMBRYO MARATHONERS ON JOB MONDAY NIGHT

Firemen And City Officials Vie As To Fleetness Of Foot—Regular Drills Resumed By Department.

Regular drills were resumed by the Salisbury Fire Department on Monday evening. The drill-master this year is Mike Disharoon, ex-service man and member of the department.

To put at an end much wasted energy of the argumentative type as to who among certain members of the department was the fleetest of foot when reporting to the City Hall when the fire bell rings, four members: Eugene Todd, Charles Uman, "Slim" Ingersoll and "Lit" Fields, engaged in a 90 yard dash in front of the City Hall. Todd won by an easy margin, "Charley" looked to be a good second but his head and feet failed to co-ordinate and he "hit the dust." Ingersoll finishing second and Fields, third.

City Councilman E. L. White then challenged James C. White, ex-city yard dash. Both portly gentlemen "hit it up" in great shape for a few yards when the city official who was gradually pulling away from the challenged suffered the same fate as did Mr. Uman and the Court House custodian came thru with flying colors. More races were promised for next Monday night.

Freeing The Victim Of Nervous Headaches

The victim of nervous headaches is usually the victim of a poor stomach or an inactive liver. If the liver is inactive it disorders the stomach. If the stomach is the center of weakness, the headaches will only be overcome when the weakness of the stomach is corrected.

The victim of nervous headaches enjoys days of relief, but as time runs on the headaches comes back more and more often. The CAUSE is a mechanical misalignment of spinal joints which causes pressure on spinal nerves, either to the stomach or liver, and in many cases to both.

The Chiropractor restores the mechanical alignment, and with the pressure on the nerves released, Nature acts normally, which is to say healthfully.

Manager Shipley Has Charged Full

John's College star, showed up to advantage, with his teammates. In the outer gardens for the Regulars were: Bob Brown, a familiar figure at Gordy Park last year, Lane, who managed the Hinton, W. Va., club last summer, and Roberts, an aspirant from the champion Maryland Athletic Club of Prince George County. Not only the outfielders are wielding the willow effectively but the infielders as well are hitting the ball hard.

Several more experienced players are expected in by Manager Shipley before Friday. They are a pitcher, catcher, first baseman and third baseman. The new leader of the White Clouds was more or less reluctant to give a statement to a reporter of The News as to his outlook at this stage of the training season. He did state, however, that he was getting a good chance to weed out the poor from the promising material and in a few days he expected to have such a perspective on his charges as to permit him to see where his line-up was weakest. Then would he busy himself in getting in touch with stronger players, he said. On Saturday, Salisburyans will get their first glimpse of the locals in actual combat. The strong Pennsylvania railroad team from Cape Charles will be the visitors at Gordy Park for an exhibition game. This is the nine that threw a scare into the Newark Club of the International League, several weeks ago. The contest should afford an excellent opportunity for both Manager Shipley and the fans to look over the local aggregation. On May 16th, next Wednesday, the Delmar Terminal Athletic Club will look up the White Clouds at Gordy Park. Chas. H. Truitt, well-known in local baseball circles, is manager of the railroad nine.

RECREATIONAL ADVANTAGES.

Are the children of Salisbury getting a chance for healthy, wholesome play? No, they are not. The denial is as pungent as it is abrupt and for that reason should cause every individual interested in the welfare of our boys and girls to take note. For in that respect Salisbury is a backward community notwithstanding its claims to progressive, civic and commercial movements.

The last decade has witnessed a remarkable development in the provision of recreational advantages for children by the smaller and larger cities of this country. Playgrounds, public parks, large recreational centers have become gradually associated with the life of the young boys and girls in the more progressive communities.

Educators, moralists and other classes of public-spirited citizens have all learned to realize the value of a complete and adequate system of physical education and health training for the children of today. There has been an annual increase in the number of communities maintaining municipal playgrounds for the benefit of their young generations. In many instances paid workers are afforded for the supervision of the recreational activities.

The nearest approach in this city to such conditions is the Y.M.C.A. This institution has done much in the way of directing the physical and social life of the boys while at the same time striving to inculcate into him the finest moral qualities. But the fact is at once apparent that only a small minority of the boys are touched. When then happens to the street urchins who are unable to enjoy the advantages of the "Y"? They are left to shift for themselves in the pursuit of play and physical training.

Play is as necessary for children as breathing. And without it they cannot grow healthy and strong. Left alone to their own devices, they are apt to form bad habits. Here is where the playground or the recreational center with paid leader steps in and acts in a helpful way by affording proper and stimulating means of physical development.

Salisbury has long agitated the question of a public park. It should have one and with it should be included a municipal playground. Tennis courts, baseball diamonds, soccer fields and volleyball courts would be a part of such an enterprise. To secure a director of playground activities would be the next step, in order that the energies of the boys and girls of the city might be developed judiciously. They are going to be the citizens of tomorrow, then let us make them physically fit.

THE PRESS AND EDUCATION.

Need for encouraging school children to think of civic affairs is becoming increasingly apparent. It is an easily established fact that the schools alone are unequal to this great task. A statistical survey of education conducted by the Federal Bureau of Education shows that the average child spends less than six years of his life-time in school. Fortunately, the nation is saved from intellectual inertia through the influence of the press—the greatest single factor in post-school education of adolescents and adults.

It is a sad commentary upon statesmen and politicians of the present day to realize that these agencies which mold minds and manners of a people are severely handicapped. The public schools are over-crowded in every locality, yet, an official study of the holding power of the schools shows that only a small percentage of the children reach fitting educational levels. Government figures on the survival percentage show that only 86 per cent of the beginning pupils reach the fifth grade; 73 per cent the sixth grade; almost 64 per cent the seventh grade; and about 58 per cent the eighth grade; nearly 32 per cent the first year of high school; 23 per cent the second; almost 17 per cent the third, and over 14 per cent the fourth year of high school on schedule time. The Federal records show that a child will attend a total of 1,075.9 days, or an equivalent of 5.38 years of 200 actual school days each.

At the age of 5 the complete expectation of life, as shown by the United States Life Tables, is 56.21 years of 365 days each. The "average" child as shown above attends school after this age only 1,075.9 days, or an equivalent of 2.95 years of 365 days each. By comparing these figures it is found that this "average" child attends school only one-nineteenth of his life, subsequent to his fifth birthday. In other words only 1 day in 19 is spent in scholastic preparation for life.

A relatively small percentage of Negro children attends school. At the age of 11, when the largest percentage attends, only 72.7 per cent are enrolled in school. After the children pass the age of 14 the rate of decrease in the percentage attending school becomes very pronounced. This is the age when most compulsory attendance laws cease to operate effectively, and the result is clearly in evidence in this figure. Only 22.6 per cent of the children 18 years of age are to be found in school. Among our foreign-born white population the school mortality is very rapid after the age of 13, indicating that fewer such children enroll in the upper grades and high school. At the age of 18 only 6.8 per cent of the foreign-born white children are to be found in school. Despite these astonishing figures, the over-crowded condition of schools today show the need of limiting the number of students. The press of the country is making every effort to enlarge and liberalize the understanding of the citizens. It is a necessary adjunct to the school system and is often the only source of enlightenment for large numbers of people.

The press has always been recognized as the teacher of the entire public. Without it the spirit of nationalism would be quickly extinguished for the intelligence conveyed by the newspapers and magazines has much to do with the formation of national character. Study of school and college mortality shows that the newspapers and magazines must take up the task of educating the people where the schools leave off. Their great effect is in the interchange of ideas. A nationally known educator has very aptly said: "The cities will read anyway; there are many educational opportunities in the cities anyway; but the small towns and the rural districts depend to a large extent on newspapers and magazines."

The nation of tomorrow depends upon the children of today. Beyond the education given in public schools must come acquisition of the knowledge of how to do things—that is the basis of material prosperity; and the knowledge of how to think—which is the basis of culture. A small percentage of our population obtains this additional knowledge in universities; another small percentage absorbs it from personal experience, but the great majority of us must get it by reading educational newspapers and periodicals. These publications are widening the scope of their service and the average newspaper of today conducts a school room in its special columns of questions and answers. The influence of the press cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents. It is an integral part of our national life which still languishes under war-time postal taxation—five years after the war is ended.

FARMERS' WATCHDOGS ON THE JOB.

It is a peculiar fact that in considering the relation of the farmer's product to the prices he must pay for commodities notice is rarely taken of the fact that the average farmer has resting on his shoulders the burden of a mortgage. It is all very well to theorize that farmers are prosperous when prices of the products he must buy are brought within range of the prices paid for farm products. These are fluctuating elements, and may be brought to reasonable equalization.

The tangle comes however because we consider the farmer's problem in terms of commodities, those sold and those bought, when the vital element, the mortgage and the interest fall into entirely a different class.

The mortgage and the interest spell actual cash that must be wrung from the profits of the farm and at specific periods, and while the money market may fluctuate and be of importance to temporary borrowers, the sum total of mortgages remains the same, and the fixed interest remains the same.

If the farmer ever is to get rid of his old man of the sea, then some consideration must be given to this fact. In 1910 the farmer had to pay $9.20 from every $100 he received to take care of his mortgage interest alone. In 1920 he had to give up $11.50 to meet these demands. In 1922 he had to give up $14.10 out of every hundred received. It can be seen that a lowering of the price the farmer must pay for commodities does not by any means solve his problem.

LET'S END LOAFING OF IDLE DOLLARS.

When one of the young Vanderbilts can stroll up to the roulette table in Havana, as reported by a prominent American business man recently, take out a bundle of $1,000 bills, place one after another on the same number, lose ten times in succession and then calmly turn to the fascinating fox trot, while time is kept by the popping of champagne corks at the table around the dance floor, it is time for some of our taxmakers to put on their thinking caps.

Ten thousand dollars to a Vanderbilt is a mere bagatelle of course, but when this kind of money waste is set down side by side with the enormous demands made upon middle class producers to contribute to the country's charities until giving becomes a burden, then it assumes the aspect of a near saturnal.

Business men, particularly those struggling to get a foothold, are the sufferers. Examples of this kind of spendthrift nonsense have brought about the onerous income tax that has taken out of the world of trade and thrown into non-taxable securities millions of dollars, millions that could well be used for the expansion and development of American industries. The nation cries aloud for revision of our tax system, for the modification of the burdensome surtax, but our lawmakers find their excuse in the popular approval that gathers to them as a result of any move that seems to show them willing to "soak" the rich. There are rich men and rich men, however. Some are of the young Vanderbilt variety, but there are toilers who have made their millions by financial and commercial activity of a worthy character, men who in the making of their fortunes have built up the prosperity of the country.

A CORRECTION

In these columns last week a notice appeared, stating that a prize had been given Miss Ruth Silverman and Miss Nettie Coulbourn for essays by the W. C. T. U. Both young ladies received the prizes mentioned but they were not given by the W.C.T.U. The Tri-County Superintendent, Mrs. W. J. Downing of Peace, offered a special prize for the best essays on "World Peace" to the three counties of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset. From the essays written that of Miss Ruth Silverman was awarded first prize and Miss Nettie Coulbourn second.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF WICOMICO COUNTY:

A few weeks ago, through the county papers, I made the announcement of my candidacy for State's Attorney of Wicomico County, subject to the Democratic Primary in September of this year.

Believing that the people of Wicomico County as a whole are the only ones who have a right to say who their State's Attorney shall be, I made my announcement in the open directly to them, assuming that such a step on my part would meet with favorable consideration among the majority of the leading members of my party, and I have not heard anything to the contrary, either before or since my formal announcement was made. This step I took with the full expectation that my candidacy would meet with the disapproval by the gentleman who was and has been a candidate for this office for some time and am well satisfied for such opposition to exist. True harmony in any party is dependent on the will of the majority of its voters only, and the effort on the part of one man to force himself on the people, or that a candidate for office must be of his own personal selection only is certainly not in keeping with the spirit of harmony.

I was born and reared in this county, educated in its public schools, having spent my entire life here. I am a Democrat, and am proud of my political heritage, being a member of two of the oldest and largest democratic families in this county, and believe, therefore, that I have right to seek my party's nomination for the office of State's Attorney of Wicomico County.

Under the Primary Election Law, as it exists now, the opportunity for seeking public office is free and open to any one, and I have not endeavored to persuade any one to run for this office, nor have I nor any of my friends asked any one to withhold from being a candidate.

For over a year, my close personal friends, and hundreds and hundreds of loyal Democrats of the Democratic Party from every section of this county, have from time to time suggested that I seek my party's nomination for the office of State's Attorney of Wicomico County, subject, of course, to the Democratic Primary of this year, stating that the time had come when a change in the personnel in the office of the State's Attorney must be made; and so insistent and encouraging have been these persuasions and appeals, coming from the honorable and dependable, good citizens of this county, I decided to become a candidate for this office, realizing at the same time, its obligations and its responsibilities, fully aware of the qualifications necessary for conducting the affairs of the office in a successful and efficient manner.

I am a candidate for the office of State's Attorney now, and will be until the end, and have never hesitated for one moment to leave my cause in the hands of the voters at the approaching Primary. And I am entirely willing for the people, and the people only, to be the judges of my qualifications for this office, which is theirs; and if I am nominated and elected to the high and important office of State's Attorney of this county, I shall endeavor to conduct it in such a manner as will reflect credit upon my State, my County, and myself.

Faithfully yours,

REX A. TAYLOR.

"MOTHER"

By PHIL CARSPACKEN

Rotarian of Burlington, Iowa.

She shines throughout the memories of my childhood like the gleam Of placid summer moonlight on some restless, troubled stream— My mind recalls the sick-room, where grim phantoms seemed to crawl From corners near my bed, and leer from patterns on the wall. I see the doctor's potions 'neath the low-turned, shaded light— And Mother sitting by me through the fitful, feverish night. Her touch was as an angel's on my aching, throbbing brow— It seemed a casual comfort then—a priceless memory now!

And later, in my errant youth, her love shone forth again And wrapped its glow about me when I learned the ways of men. The phantoms now that threatened were not those of fevered brain— They caused her untold anguish, but her tears were not in vain. 'Twas just another sick-spell she alone could understand— Again she watched me through the night and held my wayward hand. Oh, bitter days that helped to groove those wrinkles on her brow! I felt some slight compunction then—remorse eternal now!

Devotion? Why, I think the word was born in realms above That we might have conception of the depth of Mother-love! Her role is self-denial from the day that gave us birth— All hallowed is her mission 'mongst the sordid things of earth. Through all the ills of life she sits in holy light subdued And holds our hand—too oft without one word of gratitude. Wait not till life's dim twilight rests upon her silvered brow— If thoughts of love be in your heart, in God's name speak them now!

O! ye sons of living Mothers, seek her out this very day And grant the kiss so long withheld, and draw her close and say, "Forgive me if I lightly held the love that guided me If childhood through the storms that break on life's tempestuous sea; And if Success has crowned some worthy thing I aimed to do, I lay the garland at your feet—I owe it all to you!" Let not it be your woe to kiss a cold and pallid brow And say, "I never told her this—she cannot hear me now!"

Is Uniform and Dependable
Because it is tested before it is sold

One of the tests to which Hearn Gasoline is always subjected before it goes to the filling stations is the Distillation Test. This is important to every user of Hearn Gasoline.

A fifth of a pint of Hearn Gasoline is put into the flask. When this begins to boil, the vapor rises through the tube, is condensed, and passes into the flask as the liquid rises in the graduate.

Hearn Gasoline must always begin to distill between 123° and 127° F. The Distillation must always be complete between 427° and 430° F. The rise in temperature and the increase of the distilled gasoline must always be uniform. This is the Hearn specification for gasoline and it is more rigid than the specification of the United States Government.

Here is the significance to you of the Hearn Specification:

1. The low point at which distillation starts indicates a fuel which becomes a gas quickly at a low temperature, insuring easy starting.

2. The high point at which distillation is complete indicates a fuel that imparts high power to the motor.

3. The uniformity with which the rise in temperature and the distillation proceeds indicates a fuel which burns evenly, insuring smooth action in the motor.

When you buy Hearn Gasoline you buy gasoline which has been put to the Distillation Test. You are certain of a gasoline that starts quickly, gives power, and burns evenly. The name HEARN on a filling station is a certification of a gasoline that is always of the same high quality and the same reliability.

THE DISTILLATION SPECIFICATION IS ONLY ONE OF THE REQUIREMENTS WHICH HEARN GASOLINE MUST MEET. ANOTHER SPECIFICATION WILL BE EXPLAINED IN THE NEXT ADVERTISEMENT.

Hearnoleum Products

The Hearn Oil Company also manufactures lubricating and fuel oils for all purposes. Hearn 'Y' Motor Oil is unexcelled as an all round and an all the year-around lubricant for your automobile. Hearnoleum Products are sold throughout the entire State of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland. There is a Hearn filling station convenient to you.

POCOMOKE TEAM IS NOW ABOUT COMPLETE

Will Report in Pocomoke Monday Home Exhibition Games in Prospect-Club Has 8 Twirlers

Baseball fans on the Shore have been somewhat curious to know something about the make-up of the team which will represent Pocomoke in the Eastern Shore League during the season of 1923. The city dailies have recently been publishing long articles concerning the clubs in the different towns of the circuit, but have, apparently been unable to secure any "dope" relative to Pocomoke's line-up.

It is now stated definitely just who the men to play are and a few statistics relative to their careers.

It is hardly necessary to say anything about Sharp—he has been written up repeatedly. He has had much experience in several minor leagues—Central, where he won a pennant for Ludington in 1921; Tri-State, when he was again successful for Wilmington, Del.; and South Atlantic. He has also played independent ball in Philadelphia, and was ranked among the very best in the city. He will play an infield position—probably at 3d base.

There are on the string eight pitchers: Leipe, a right hander, playing last year at Egg Harbor and Pleasantville, N. J.; Deitrich, also right hander, a classy player, engaging in independent ball in Philadelphia in 1922; Barry, performing at Wildwood and Mt. Holly last year; Moyer, a left hander, playing with Dobson last year. He is also an outfielder and has a batting average of .324 in 87 games; Regan, right hander, coming from the coal fields of Pennsylvania, stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 192 pounds. Sharp looks for great things from him; Veso, who had a tryout with Augusta, Ga., last year; the two remaining ones being Alexander and Phillips, with whom Pocomoke is well acquainted.

The infielders besides Sharp are versity this year, and who played with Pocomoke last year; Ryan at second, who comes from Dobson with a batting average of .347 in 96 games; and Hackman and O'Rourke for the short stop position, the latter is a son of Pat O'Rourke, manager of Augusta, Ga., and comes with a batting average of .412, the latter is fast and a good hitter; Grayson is an extra infielder to get a try-out.

For the out-field—Reed will probably play the center field. He comes from Dobson with a batting average of .375 in 75 games. The other fields will probably be taken care of by two of the pitchers, likely, Moyer and Alexander.

Pasquella, a classy man from Lansing, Mich., is the mainstay back of the batter. Lansing sold him to Grand Rapids, from which city Pocomoke purchased him. He comes with a wonderful record and he will probably show the way to any back stop in the League.

This completes the roster and it remains to be seen what they can do. Manager Sharp has arranged four exhibition games: Mt. Holly, May 5; South Philadelphia, May 9; Chester, Pa., May 11 and Lit Bros., May 12. The question of home pre-season contests has been discussed, but no definite action has been taken.

The grounds have been put into fine shape, the club starts about clear of debt, and everything now awaits the tap of the bell.

DOCTOR TOLD HER TO TAKE TANLAC

Got Relief From First Bottle After Suffering 12 Years Declares Mrs. Bell.

Mrs. John Bell, 308 Willow Street, Bordentown, N. J., who at the age of seventy-one has the distinction of being a great, great grandmother, is still another who gives the public the benefit of her experience with Tanlac.

"For over twelve years," says she, "I suffered from stomach trouble, nervousness and dizzy spells. All kinds of food disagreed with me and I became very weak and had awful headache. I couldn't sleep well nights, would get up mornings dizzy headed and nervous, was losing weight, and simply felt miserable.

Tanlac got me to try it, and the very first bottle relieved me of headache and made me much less dizzy. I told my doctor I was using Tanlac and he said I should take it as it would do me good. It certainly did, and I have been using it off and on ever since. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—Adv't.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

No. 3012 Chancery.

In the Circuit Court for Wicomico County and State of Maryland. March Term, 1923.

Della C. Cordrey, mother, next friend and guardian of Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall.

—VS.—
Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, Reuben E. Murray, her husband.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate situated in Pittsburg Election District of Wicomico County and State of Maryland, owned by one Jay Thomas Hall, in his lifetime, for the purpose of dividing the proceeds of said sale among the persons entitled to interests therein according to their respective rights and interests.

The bill states that the said Della C. Cordrey was appointed guardian of the said Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, by an order of the Orphans' Court for Wicomico County and State of Maryland, passed on June 29, 1916, and that she has duly qualified as such guardian; that the real estate consists of a parcel of ground situated and lying in Pittsburg Election District of Wicomico County and State of Maryland, located on both sides of but mostly on the Northernly side of the county road leading from the village of Melsons' to the Line M. E. Church, adjoining the lands of William P. Ward and others, George White, Maggie Truitt, Norris B. Ward and the lands of others, containing one hundred and ninety-five acres of land, more or less, being the same land that was conveyed to the said Jay Thomas Hall by Jesse T. Wells and Nancy L. Wells, his wife, by deed dated May 25, 1901, and recorded among the Land Records of said Wicomico County in Liber J. T. No. 33, Folio 66, reserving unto the said Jesse T. Wells a life estate therein; that the said Jesse T. Wells has since departed this life; that the said Jay Thomas Hall departed this life on July 11, 1905, intestate, leaving surviving him his widow, the said Della C. Cordrey, who is now thirty-eight years of age, and one child, the said Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, to whom the said land descended as his only child and sole heir at law, with dower rights therein to the said Della C. Cordrey, his widow; that the said Velmo J. Murray is an infant under the age of twenty-one years, and has intermarried with one Reuben E. Murray, who is an infant under the age of twenty-one years, both of whom reside near Seaford, in Sussex County and State of Delaware; that the said Della C. Cordrey, widow as aforesaid, has agreed that the said real estate shall be sold under the direction of the Court, free from the incumbrance of her dower therein, and that in lieu thereof she will accept such proportion of the proceeds of the sale of said real estate as to the Court shall seem just and proper; that the said tract of land and the dwellings thereon are depreciated in value, that the land can be cultivated only by means of tenants, that no suitable tenants can be procured for the same, and that a large outlay of money for repairs to the building will soon be needed; that it would be for the benefit and advantage of the said Velmo J. Murray, infant, to sell the said real estate, and to invest the proceeds thereof in some productive fund for her benefit and pray for the sale of said real estate and for the distribution of the proceeds arising therefrom under the direction of the Court to the persons entitled thereto, according to their respective rights and interests.

It is, thereupon, this twenty-fifth day of April in the year 1923, ordered by the Circuit Court for said Wicomico County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County once in each of four successive weeks, before the eighth day of June, 1923, give notice to the said Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, and Reuben E. Murray, her husband, infants, and non-resident defendants, of the object and substance of this bill, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the twenty-fifth day of June, 1923, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

J. CLAYTON KELLY, Clerk.

SALISBURY, MD.

SALISBURY OFFERS DISTINCT ADVANTAGES AS BUYING CENTER

SALISBURY

Queen City and Metropolis of the Delmarvia Peninsula, County Seat of Wicomico County, Maryland. Most Prosperous and Progressive Place of its Size in the United States. The Logical Shopping Center for both Retail and Wholesale Trade. Easily Accessible, Being Situated on Two Railroads, and the Wicomico River as well as being the Converging Point for several Concrete Highways which lead in from All Directions.

Salisbury is the largest city south of Wilmington. It is noted for its banks, large lumber and grain trade, mills, wholesale and fine retail houses. Not only a mecca for the buying public of Wicomico and its surrounding sister counties in Maryland, the city is monthly becoming more and more popular to the buyers from lower Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

Due to the fact that the stocks of goods carried by Salisbury merchants are greater and more varied than those of any of the smaller towns of lower Delaware, it has for years been the desire of these people to shop in Salisbury. Up to a few months ago they were precluded from this privilege largely because of the poor road between Salisbury and Delmar. With three miles of concrete laid and the remaining four miles greatly improved it has become a pleasure to these folks, especially in the sections not bordered by the railroads, to jump into their cars and come here to shop.

Frequently one car out of three passing along Main Street will bear a Delaware marker.

Another trade which is fast recognizing what opportunities Salisbury merchants are offering in the buying line are the people of Accomac and Northampton counties on the Eastern Shore of Virginia. With a concrete road straight thru from Pocomoke up these in great numbers now weekly combine a pleasure and business trip and journey to Salisbury.

According to records in the office of the Clerk of the Court here, Salisbury merchants carry capital stocks not exceeding $1,441,600. This foots up more than the entire stocks of all the stores in some of the counties of the state. Salisbury's supremacy from a business standpoint can best be recognized when it is taken into consideration that the city, with less than 10,000 inhabitants, has 213 merchants doing business.

Another feature which makes Salisbury's beckoning appeal more profoundly impressive upon the would-be purchaser is the price of articles offered for sale. Some months back, the Merchant's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, desiring to have Salisbury put on record in this respect, appointed a committee to investigate prices here and in other towns on the Shore. The findings of this commission was that prices here in practically every instance were as low or lower than those in other places.

Salisbury boasts of several large department stores and Women's Shops as well as a number of other smaller establishments of this character. Among the leaders in this line are: R. E. Powell & Co.; J. E. Shockley Co.,

Benjamins'; Kennerly & Mitchell and Nock Brothers Co. Expert buyers for these firms keep in touch with the latest creations in attires for both milady and the men folks.

Several wholesale firms cater to the "sweet tooth" of the Peninsula and among the foremost in this line are: E. G. Davis Candy Company, G. E. Kennerly & Company and Booker, Scott & Moore. Wholesale grocers are many and included among the personnel are: Turner Brothers, W. E. Sheppard & Co., T. L. Ruark & Co., all of who have a large trade on the lower Peninsula. A wholesale tobacco firm is that of H. S. Todd & Co.

Hardware wants are taken care of by the L. W. Gunby Co., and Dorman & Smyth Co., the heads of both organizations being among the city's pioneer merchants who have worked for the advancement of Salisbury as well as for their own interests.

Two firms care for one of the most vital problems which face the farmer, they are: William B. Tilghman Co. and the Farmers & Planters Co. Notwithstanding the fact that Baltimore is the largest market for this commodity in the world and Norfolk is an extensive producer, both do a flourishing business.

"Everything For Building" is the slogan of E. S. Adkins & Co., and it may be truthfully said that there is not a town on the Peninsula where its goods are not used. R. G. Evans & Son, who bought out the interest of the L. E. Williams Lumber firm, also do an extensive business in this line while C. R. Disharoon Co., is the firm upon which farmers and grovers depend largely for packages and crates in which to ship their fruits and vegetables.

R. D. Grier & Sons Company and F. A. Grier & Sons, are the dealers in engines, boilers, saw mills, machinery of various sorts as well as expert repairmen for all sorts of mechanical devices.

The Smith & Williams Company, builders of pleasure and commercial watercraft, has established not only a reputation on the Peninsula for the excellence of workmanship but nationally as well by some of the work turned out for the U. S. Government during the War. Highly skilled repair work is also taken care of by this concern.

The Salisbury Bakery, with its modern plant turning out bread and other products, does a thriving business all over this part of the Eastern Shore, and the city has several smaller bake shops.

Two ice plants, with a combined capacity of several hundred tons a day and tremendous storage capacities take care of the refrigeration business while the newest enterprise here is the Peninsula Ice Cream Company with its delicious "Holly Brand" cream.

The Jackson-Gutman Shirt Co., has its goods handled perhaps in more sections of the U. S. than any other local concern.

No town on the shore has the variety of automobile makes, from which to select an appropriate car, as has Salisbury and those desirous of purchasing a good, used machine at a reasonable figure will find in the second hand market something to their liking and in keeping with their purse. The Gunby Company are the pioneers in the auto business here.

A big variety of house furnishings are offered by the firms of Ulman Sons Feldman Brothers and T. J. Truitt Company.

Lack of space does not permit the mentioning of all of Salisbury's whole sale and retail establishments. She does, however, have her share of jewelry shops, shoe stores, music houses, millinery shops, sporting goods houses, barber supply firms, milling concerns, coal companies, marble yards, greenhouses, canneries, drug stores and other business places.

NEGRO KILLS RIVAL

George Cooper at a negro dance held at Williamsburg, a small village near Federalsburg, shot and instantly killed Levy Pinder. The shooting was over a girl. Cooper had taken her to the dance and while there Pinder took her out for an automobile ride. On their return Pinder commenced to tease Cooper about taking his girl away from him, when Cooper pulled out a pistol and shot him through the heart. He died instantly. Officers in Easton were notified of the shooting and Deputy Sheriff Nat Gannon hastened to Williamsburg and finding Cooper at his home, presumably getting ready to make his escape he arrested him and brought him to Easton and lodged him in jail to await the action of the May grand jury, which will convene May 21.

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

EXPLOSION ASTONISHES

Residents of St. Michaels thought an earthquake had struck them when an explosion in the sewer under the main street shook houses. A manhole in front of the Citizens Bank was blown out and all the windows in the bank were broken. A boy standing near by was blown across the street, but apparently was not much hurt. Workmen had been washing out a large gasoline storage tank preparatory to taking it down. The mixed water and gasoline ran into the sewer and thence into Miles river. Some unknown person threw fire into the river at the sewer outlet and the flame ran back under the town.

COCAINE PEDDLER

More than a thousand dollars worth of cocaine was found on Edward Thomas Fuller, a negro arrested in Cape Charles, recently. The negro had been arrested on the train arriving in Cape Charles, Friday morning on the charge of robbing a fellow passenger of $112.50. Upon his arrest and search by Sergeant Dennis, several small wrapped packages were found on him which proved to contain over a thousand dollars worth of cocaine. Fuller claimed that the dope was given him by a friend in Philadelphia to take to his sick relatives.

After a preliminary hearing by Mayor Dize, Fuller was taken to the county jail at Eastville to await the action of the next grand jury.

PHYSICIANS ELECT

A meeting of the Accomack Medical Society was held at the Exchange Building, Onley, Va., Thursday afternoon, May 3rd. This was the first meeting of the society since 1919 and was a most enthusiastic one. The meeting was called to order by Dr. W. W. Kerns, Vice President, in the absence of Dr. W. F. Kellam, President. The voting for officers resulted in the election of Dr. J. L. DeCormis, President and Dr. W. M. Burwell, Vice President, and Dr. John W. Robertson, Secretary-Treasurer. Dr. J. Fred Edmonds was elected a member of the Society and Dr. John O. Gaston, recently elected County Health Officer, and Miss Sarah Crosley, County Nurse were elected as honorary members.

MONEY FOR ROADS

More than $10,000,000 will be turned over to the 100 counties in Virginia during the next eight years for the construction of "feeder" roads to the State highway system, according to estimates of E. Lee Moore, State Auditor of Virginia, of amount of revenue that will be raised from the 1-cent tax on gasoline for county road building in that State.

This sum augments the $700,000 annually appropriated directly by the General Assembly of Virginia for the "State-aid" county roads. With the new funds coming in, it is expected that a new era of county road construction will now dawn in the State. The grand total for the eight years, based upon the estimates of Mr. Moore will be around $16,000,000.

HARDING TO MILFORD

President Warren G. Harding will be a Milford visitor sometime during the next two weeks; but as yet the exact date of the visit has not been definitely settled upon. The information that the President would be there was conveyed to Milford residents this week when Senator L. Heister Ball was there. In conversation with the writer, Senator Ball stated that President Harding would be in Milford sometime about May 15th.

Mr. Harding will come here to be initiated into Evergreen Forest, No. 49, Tall Cedars of Lebanon. His visit will be the culmination of months of effort on the part of Dr. Walter L. Grier, Tall Cedar of the Forest and Senator Ball. The application of the President was secured by Dr. Grier several months ago, and he would have come at that time, but for the serious illness of Mrs. Harding.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILLS

Governor Denny has signed the school bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the next two years to operate the schools of the State. The bill provides for an additional appropriation of $200,000 the first year and $300,000 the second year in case the school revenue laws bring in that amount in excess of the $2,000,000. The bill carries with it an appropriation of $12,000 each year for 60 scholarships to the University of Delaware.

The Governor also signed a bill authorizing the sterilization of feeble-minded inmates at the State Feeble-Minded Home at Stokely, provided their relatives consent.

FIXES NEW TAX RATE

The Levy Court Commissioners of Sussex County fixed the tax rate for the year at seventy-five cents upon every $100 of the assessed valuation of the real and personal property. The capitation tax was fixed at $1.25.

REEDVILLE

Mrs. Wm. H. Blackwell, of Sunnybank, is at home after having seen her daughter, Miss Mary Blackwell, very comfortably fixed at Catawba. She is in the Teacher's Cottage, where she has been told, where she will probably enjoy special privileges, and have more home-like, congenial surroundings. A host of friends are wishing her a perfect restoration to health.

Field Day here at Reedville High School was called off about 2 P. M. last Saturday, on account of rain. A number of events, including the Basket and Baseball games, were left for another day. A large crowd had gathered and a very surprising amount realized from the sale of refreshments. County Field Day will be held at Reedville, at a later date.

Mrs. Henry McFarland, of "Muir House," is in Baltimore, with her little daughter Ethel, who has not been well recently. While in the city Ethel will be treated by a specialist. Many friends are hoping they will find no serious trouble.

Capt. James E. Marsh, wife, and sons, of Tibbith, recently returned through our town. He was warmly welcomed by old friends, who were glad to see him looking so well.

Mrs. F. L. Harding, and Mrs. Slater Price, of Fleeton, are in Norfolk, going down on the Wharton for a visit to their sister, Miss Nellie Edwards, who is teaching in that city.

Mrs. Treanle, and her son Donald, of Fleeton, are in Baltimore for a few days with Capt. Treanle.

Dr. Covington, of Lillian, was over at "Water View," recently, filling some teeth for Miss Laura Crother. Miss Crother's hand which she feared was infected, is very much better, and the pet dog is also getting well.

A number of young folk from Reedville went to Fleeton Saturday evening for a dance at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Waller.

Mr. S. Clyde Haynie, of this place, is away at this time looking after Chevrolet cars.

John Cockrell, of the Doctor's family of popular boys, is spending his time with his uncle, Mr. Thos. L. Cockrell, on the farm at "Melville." They are establishing a dairy business there, having thoroughbred Holsteins, and John delivers the milk here and at Fleeton mornings before school opens, using his own Ford roadster.

We are all very glad to hear that Mr. John R. Hinton, is getting better. He is being treated at Johns Hopkins, and is showing great improvement. Mrs. Hinton is in Reedville for a few days called by illness in the family here.

Mrs. M. L. White, of Suffolk, is at the Reedville House this week, with her sister Mrs. J. F. Shackelford, while Mr. Shackelford continues so ill. Mr. George Hinton is also here from Chincoteague. Great sympathy is felt for the family.

Miss Fannie Coles, of Hardings, is visiting Mrs. Ella M. Blackwell, and her sister Miss Clara Burgess, at their home near Sunnybank.

Mrs. Farmer Lackey, of Wicomico, has been spending several weeks in our town with her nephew Mr. Grover Lewis, and family. Old friends here were glad to see her again. Mrs. Lewis is home from Baltimore last week, returning Tuesday morning.

ing two of her little ones through an attack of measles very successfully.

Mrs. S. O. Butler, of this place, is visiting her people near Washington this week.

Capt. J. B. Hinton, Capt. J. C. Fisher, and Mr. T. H. Jett, were in Baltimore last week, returning to morning.

Mrs. Robert Brooking and Mrs. W. A. Edwards of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Fleeton, spent last week in Fredericksburg, attending some meeting of church workers. Mrs. Brooking went over to Washington for a few days with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Ellis, Jr., while away.

The Reedville High School Baseball Team has been doing very good work since the season started. They have won six of the seven games which have been played. Heathsville, Calton, and Fairfield's teams have been the opponents. The Basketball Team has not done so well, and usually meets defeat regardless as to whom they play. They play a good, refined, clean game however, and enjoy doing so, we are glad to know.

Prof. Womack, of R. H. S., spent several days last week at Charlotteville, and at Rocky Mount, with his wife and little son.

Mrs. Perry Davis made a trip to Urbanna last week visiting her people there. Mrs. Chas. Loftland substituted for her in the Reedville center of office.

Mrs. Garnett Haynie has been sick the past week at her home at Fleeton. She is improving.

Mrs. Julia Wood died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Daisy Williams, of Fleeton, last Tuesday afternoon. She had been well for some time, though death came with peaceful suddenness and leaves her children, Mrs. Williams, and Mr. Malcolm Wood, deeply grieved. Interment was made at Roseland on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. R. W. Brooking, of the Episcopal Church, and Rev. W. R. Evans, of the Southern Methodist Church, conducting the simple, expressive service.

The children at Reedville High School have a very sweet and pretty custom of making and presenting to their teacher May Baskets. On the eve of May Day, they become as busy as bees and the merchants can hardly supply the demand for crepe paper, which they carry in all the most delicate and charming colors, and for all kinds of fruits and candies which constitute the filling of the basket. We saw the one which the 2nd year pupils made for their teacher, Mrs. John A. Palmer, Jr., of Fleeton. It was a beautiful thing and the children were as happy in its construction as their teacher was to receive it. No teacher goes basketless and the occasion is always a happy one at Reedville High School.

VIRGINIANS MAKE UP LARGE PART OF MANAGER SHIPLEY'S PLAYERS

25 Men Had Reported To Manager Shipley Up To Noon Wednesday—Aggregation Brimful Of "Pep."

Veteran dyed-in-the-wool fans were out en masse at Gordy Park this week to get a first glimpse at the "White Clouds." The journey was well worth the trouble, the infield especially furnishing some real thrills to the on-lookers.

Pep, snap and dash characterized the workout of the inner works which was composed of Tolson on first; Layne at the keystone sack; Lattin caving about short and our old friend Joe Kunosh looking after the "hot corner."

The boys can wield the willow too and it commences to look as if Pres. Ruark will have to "put out" considerably for horsehide if this swatfest continues.

"The team looks better today than at any time last year," was the remark heard made by one of Salisbury's "wiseacres" Tuesday afternoon. We don't want to argue the point—here's hoping you're correct brother.

Sidelights on some of the boys:

PITCHERS

Kirk Heathcote, pitcher, Dayton, Va. Twisted sensational ball last year for the champion Martinsburg aggregation.

James Roche, pitcher. Came to the White Clouds at the near end of the 1922 season after being released by Pocomoke.

Lefty Hearn, pitcher. Lives in Brooklyn. Attracted attention of big league scouts while doing slab duty for the Federal Shipyard team in the New Jersey Industrial League.

Robert H. Bussey, Baltimore, played with Baltimore Semi-pro team in 1921 with Pocomoke early part of last season, was released and signed by Salisbury. Pitched good ball remainder of season.

Joseph Lucas, Bridgeport, Conn. Comes here with good record as twirler with independent teams in native state.

CATCHERS

Edward Tickey, Bridgeport, Conn., for past two years with South Norwalk, Conn. team. Was all Maryland fullback while attending St. John's College, Annapolis a few years ago.

Harry Garnard, Hagerstown, Md.,

INFELDERS

Mack Lattin, (shortstop) Baltimore. Played last season with the Oaks, one of the fastest teams in the Maryland Semi-Professional League. Had a try-out this Spring with the Waynesboro Club, Blue Ridge League.

W. R. Fanning, (third base), from Riverdale, Md. Played independent ball with that club.

Fred Erber, (shortstop), Berwyn, Md. Had a good record last year with the Berwyn Athletic Club in the Prince George County League.

Marvin Smith, (shortstop), from Clifton Forge, Va. Well known player in prep school circles of Virginia last year, wearing the colors of Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford City.

Earl Heathcote, (third base), Harrisonburg, Va. Covered the hot corner last year for Harrisonburg in the Shenandoah Valley League.

J. L. Layne, (second base), Clifton Forge, Va. Has been a valuable second sacker for two years to the Hagerstown Club, Blue Ridge League.

Charles Tolson, (first baseman), Washington, D. C., played last year with Norfolk (Virginia League) and Farmville, N. C., Independent Team.

W. B. Brenner, (shortstop), Hagerstown, played with independent team in home city past two years.

Stewart McElroy, Garbondsale, Va., played with independent team in home town last two years.

OUTFIELDERS

C. H. Lane, outfielder, Hinton, W. Va., managed of the Hinton nine last year.

Bill Duffy, Washington College star and last season with Cambridge and Salisbury.

"Bob" Brown, St. John's College, veteran and considered last year among the three best gardeners in the Shore League.

Earl Roberts, Mt. Pleasant, Md., played in 1921 with Central High, Washington, D. C., and last year with Maryland Athletic Club, Independent Champions, Prince George's County.

HE'S FASTEST MAN ON LEGS

The fastest man on legs. He is Charlie Paddock of California. Just last week at the University of Paris games this American star shattered three world's records in the dashes.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS WIELD STICKS WELL

Sting Horsehide For 86 Blows While Opponents Are Held To 32 Safeties—Coach Duffy's Boys Have Won 5 And Lost 4 Contests This Year.

Although Wicomico High baseball team is just slightly above par as the paper goes to press, having won five and lost four contests, statistics show that it is better than that at second glance. Coach Bill Duffy has worked hard with the aggregation and has installed into the team one thing which stands out prominently and that is ability to wield the willow. The boys from over on the hill have annexed 86 blows in exchange for the 32 blasted off the slants of their hurdlers and have crossed the pan 58 times as compared with the opposition's 39 dents in home plate.

At least three games have been lost which should have gone into the victory column through loose fielding and errors of judgment in the closing innings. These may be charged to inexperience and are being gradually overcome as the season advances. There is no doubt that Duffy has taught the squad some baseball and several boys have loomed up as promising timber.

Benson looks to be the best bet of the squad. Combining a deceptive southpaw delivery and plenty of stuff on the pitching mound with his ability to play first base and also to hit well above 900 puts him in somewhat the same class in high school circles as Jack Bentley was in the International.

Chatham shows much better form behind the bat and is stinging the horsehide good and proper. Davis is also batting well after a poor start with the stick. Price is rounding into a dependable pitcher while Waller, a raw recruit at second, is fielding his position in great shape for one of his experience. The boys are all improving and absorbing knowledge daily giving their best and better results are bound to be forthcoming before the season ends. Just now they are pointing for the county championship.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN TELLS OF THRILLS EXPERIENCED IN BASS FISHING HERE

B. C. & A. Ry. Pond Abounds With This Specie Which Is Termed The "Gamest Fish That Swims"—Pike Not So Eagerly Sought.

By W. L. Boggs, Physical Director "Y" And An Ardent Devotee Of Angling.

Unless you have felt the pull of a black bass as he surges to the deep water or unless you have the call of the out-of-doors in your veins, this will seem dull and without life to you. But you who like to hear the waves dash and the little ripples murmur against the side of your boat, or even if you care for the water and those things which live in its cool depths, then will this story appeal to you.

"I guess you had better say that we started fishing the night before we went up the pond, because to me half the fun is in getting ready for the trip and planning what we will do with the fish that we catch. "Red" always goes fishing with me, because first, he likes to fish and second, because his stock of auburn hair seems to draw the black bass to the hooks as if by magic. Well anyway we went fishing, Red and I in a dinky boat up the B. C. & A. pond. We were early, for the bass are out early; the sky was cloudy, for the bass like cloudy skies; there was a gentle wind, for the bass like gentle winds. Still for all effort and labor the only thing that we had was a little oke. We were about 20 yards from the shore when there was a splash and we saw the curving form of a bass as he leaped clear of the water in the quest for breakfast. "See that," says Red. "Uh huh," says I, and a cast was made in the general direction of the splash. There was a tug as the bait hit the water and a yell from me as the bass hit the bait. Here was my chance. All summer I had wanted a "big one" and now it felt as if I had hooked an alligator. A bass hooked and a bass landed are two different things and I did not know if I were equal to do battle with the old scaly back, still I gave a gentle yank to let him know that I was on the other end of the line and the fight was on. Away he went making the line hum as it ran off the reel. "Hold him," says Red, "now," says I and immediately I put the brakes on him, at which he turned and began to circle the boat. Now I don't claim to be one of those scientific fishermen so I began to force him and pull him in. It must have been disconcerting enough to the bass to be hooked, but to be pulled in like a common catfish was more than his dignity would stand and he proceeded to give voice to his indignation by a two foot leap into the air. Three times he leaped, shaking his head savagely in his efforts to dislodge the hook, and being unsuccessful he began to subside and to brace himself against the unrelenting pull. Then he changed his tactics and started straight for the boat. His pull and his plunges, his leaps and his darts had been hard enough but this was worse. If he had gotten under the boat he would have been a free fish, but I dropped my rod in the boat (and with it, dropped all the rules of the fishing fraternity) and began to pull him in by hand. Red ran his finger thru the gill, opening and held the bass up. "Five pounds," says I. "Uh huh" says Red, "lets get another."

Of course "fishin'" aint what it used to be and Grand Pa Smith or Uncle Walt took the biggest bass out of the pond that has ever been caught, however if you would like to have a real thrill, go up the B. C. & A. pond and catch a bass.

When this had been done arrangements were made to have the players report to Smith in Baltimore for a training period that would antedate all the others by at least a week. Crisfield remembers what Pike Whalen seemingly accomplished by getting a start, on the others last year and the town of crabs, oysters and fish is hoping for the same success for its aggregation.

SHORE CLUBS TRAINING FOR OPENING GAME

Cambridge, Crisfield, Milford, Laurel, Pocomoke And Salisbury Players Have Reported—"Get Together" Meeting Thursday, May 23 At Crisfield—Each Club Posts Forfeit.

Returning Thursday night from an inspection trip to the Milford and Dover baseball parks, President M. B. Thawley and Secretary R. W. Ruark were greatly pleased with the preparations being made by the entrants in the Eastern Shore League. The latter town has constructed an entirely new plant, while the park used by the Milford Independent team last season has been remodeled and the field put into first-class shape.

At Dover more than $12,000 has been raised by baseball enthusiasts and an additional $25,000 will soon be forthcoming, so that the cost of erecting the stands and purchasing the grounds will have been met before the opening of the Shore circuit on May 25. In some appointments, the Dover park is the handsomest in the league.

Milford fans are now looking forward to the gala occasion of the town's history. The residents have been definitely informed that President Harding will visit the town on May 14, 15 or 16, at which time he will be inducted into the local forest of Tall Cedars in conformity with a promise made before his election to the Presidency. Included in the day's entertainment program is an exhibition game between Milford and probably Wilmington of the new Atlantic League.

HUGGINS' WRECKING CREW THE CLASS

Is the "Little Corporal" going to dominate again. Miller Huggins, the diminutive leader of the New York Yanks, has an army of ball players that threatens to top Detroit and Cleveland in the 1923 American League race.

A get-together meeting of all the league directors, club officers, umpires and managers has been called for May 23 in the Crisfield Chamber of Commerce rooms. At this time all differences, if any exist, will be ironed out and arrangements made for the initial game of the 1923 schedule, two days later.

The forfeit of $1,000 required from each club has been posted.

Five clubs of the league are now in training. Managers Herb Armstrong of Cambridge, and Gus Smith, of Crisfield, have their charges in Baltimore, where they will remain until May 14. James Sharp, pilot of the Pocomoke Salamanders, has his aggregation in Philadelphia, where contests are being played with clubs of the Industrial League.

Milford players reported to Manager R. A. Clarke Monday. The vanguard of the future White Cloud aggregation arrived last week. Twenty other players will report to Manager Burton Shipley here the first of the week. Unless changes are made in present plans, players signed with Dover, Laurel and Parkersley will report on May 14.

Any Golfer can tell you there's no tragedy half so grim as taking three putts on the green.

WICOMICO COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE GOTTEN UNDER WAY ON FRIDAY LAST

Wicomico High Trounces Delmar 12-2; Nanticoke Takes Measure Of Hebron 19-7; Powellville Puts One Over On Pittsville And Mardela Bests Sharptown.

In the opening game of the High School League series Nanticoke trimmed Hebron to the tune of 19-7. Timely hitting by Larmore, R. Willing and Adams in the fourth and fifth inning, coupled with Hebron's errors put the game on the ice for Nanticoke. The battery for Nanticoke was exceptionally fast during the early part of the game, slowing down with the game easily won in the sixth inning. Larmore playing his first game with Nanticoke High made a splendid showing in receiving the hot offerings of Willing and winging to second like a veteran. Willing shows wonderful improvement in form and control over last season. Howard seemed to be the only man from Hebron who recognized the pill in its flight, taking three clean singles.

TENNIS PLAYERS WILL ORGANIZE FOR SEASON

Wielders Of The Racquet Hold Meeting Tuesday—Salisbury To Be Represented In Championships

Devotees of tennis met in the News office yesterday and formulated plans for a Racquet Club. The court game, while it has some mighty strong representatives in this city, has never measured up to the standards expected.

This summer, however, it is planned to organize things so that this ever-growing sport will flourish in Salisbury. A Tennis Club is being formed with eight members as a nucleus. They are: Roscoe White, Rev. Henry F. Kroman, James Humphreys, Sheldon Jones, Jack Gunby, L. Atwood Bennett, Harry K. Smith and William Phillips.

A city tournament will be held some time in August in order to select representatives to take part in the Peninsula Championships staged early in September at the Eastern Country Club. Last year William Phillips and Harry K. Smith were entered in these Shore court classics in both the singles and doubles.

NAME 'WICOMICO', ONLY RELIC EARLY INDIAN TRIBES LOCALLY

Historians Believe That They Built A Bridge Where South Division Street Now Crosses Former Humphreys Mill Dam.
Red Men First Friends. Later Enemies Of Whites.

By "NELEH"

On the fly-leaf of American history the pride has been written, turned over and all but forgotten in the overwhelming mass of that follows it. The first people to trace an imprint upon this vast hemisphere were but the tuning of the instruments before the orchestra began to play. The Red Men of the forests who once roved this continent, hunting in the woodlands, fishing in the streams, celebrating feasts and waging warfare, are gone forever. Clustered upon a small reservation in a land once entirely their own, they are rapidly diminishing in number. Strangely, the civilization which has usurped their savagery has been unable to keep them.

Salisbury retains no relic of the Indian unless we may regard the name of the river and county, Wicomico, as such. The small tribe of Wicomicoes who lived along the river were pygmaic in mind as well as stature. They emigrated north before the eighteenth century, carrying with them, according to their custom, the bones of their dead. Beside the chronicle of their neighbors, the war like and progressive Nanticoke's who occupy a place of some importance in early records, the story of the Wicomicoes dwindles to insignificance. In the State archives they are practically unknown. True, we have a few Indian mounds or shell banks, where arrow heads and stone implements have been dug up, scattered throughout the county and then in an old land grant of 1660 we find the following statement: "Commencing at the long white oak standing on the north side of the Rockwain river (now Wicomico) about a mile above an Indian bridge." This suggests that the Wicomicoes built a bridge where South Division street now crosses the former Humphreys mill dam.

The Indians may be conveniently classified into hunting and fishing Indians. To the latter the Wicomicoes belonged. They had permanent settlements near the streams and cultivated the soil. They were sociable and of gentler nature than the hunter tribe. Each tribe had its chief and town, which was composed of wigwams, constructed by placing saplings in the ground in a circle and tying the flexible ends at the top to form a conical frame which they covered with sheets of bark. An opening at the top was left to let out smoke and holes cut in the sides for windows. Each family was portioned off a certain space for cultivation and the work was done by the women; a part of the harvest being delivered to the chief. This was placed in a storehouse and reserved in case of famine—or as the chief decreed. The chief had absolute power over his people and his authority descended in the female line. When the chief died he was succeeded by his brother of the same mother, or failing a brother, by his sister's son. The reason for this being that decent derived thru the mother is certain, while that thru the father is uncertain.

This might open the question as to the conjugal fidelity of the Indian woman. The ordinary council of the tribe was composed of the general or wero-wance, who was next in power to the chief, and such warriors as had won, in council or battle the title of cock-awance—and also the "medicine man" or conjurer. The medicine man combined the duties of physician and magician, which is natural among savages who regard disease as the result of hostile incantation of the wrath of an offended spirit. He also was prominent in religious ceremonies, feasts and other rites. And until they learned the use of whiskey from the white people, the Indians drank only water, sometimes sweetened with the sap of the sugar maple. The custom of smoking was universal, but tobacco was regarded as a sacred herb, a pre-eminence of the Great Spirit and used only in ceremonial, and even then with restraint. A large ceremonial pipe was kept in each village for the reception of strangers and the peaceful or hostile intentions of the visitors known by their reception of it. The chief filled and lighted this pipe in the presence of his guests and after smoking it for a little, handed it to the principal man. If he refused to smoke, it meant that he was an enemy. The Indians clothed themselves in deer skins, mostly—the women prepared the skins and contrived to make them soft and pliant.

The first settlers of Maryland treated the Indians well. They mingled freely with them and became friends. The Indian women taught them how to prepare maize and other products of the soil. While the New England settlers ploughed their fields with muskets upon their shoulders and awoke from slumber with the hideous war whoop in their ears and their dwellings in flames the Marylanders lived peacefully with the red men.

entation these red warriors of long ago were captured by his vices.

Mrs. Jennie Collins, 312 Williams Street, Salisbury, says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to recommend them highly. I do not know of anything to equal them. I suffered with my back a great deal and many times it became so I could not sit down in a chair without pillows to rest against. Dizzy spells came over me suddenly and black spots floated before my eyes. My limbs were lame and stiff, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard's Drug Store and they brought me relief from all the aches and pains, benefiting me in every way."

FARM BUREAU FINDING FAVOR IN MARYLAND

Wicomico Will Probably Take On The Organization Harness During Summer And Early Fall Months—Over 1300 Shore Farmers Affiliated With State And National Body

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, in a recent address, stressed the fact that in order for the state to help the farmers, the latter must help themselves through becoming organized.

From practically every section of the state the question is being asked "Are the farmers heeding the Governor's advice? Are they organizing?"

According to the latest reports of developments throughout the state, it is decisively and conclusively shown that the farmers of Maryland are taking steps in the right direction and are lining up with the Farm Bureau Movement which is sweeping over the state like a whirlwind. In this action they are following in the footsteps of their farmer brethren in many other states, thousands of whom are reaping the benefits derived from membership and close affiliation with the state and national organizations of the American Farm Bureau Federation, of which the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation is an integral part.

The Farm Bureau plan is a safe and sane plan. It aids the farmer in divers ways and particularly so in the matter of co-operative commodity marketing.

The Farm Bureau plan is a business plan, based on judicious and economic business principles. Maryland farmers, therefore, should join without delay.

Some valuable and interesting information include facts and figures in connection with the inauguration and growth of the Farm Bureau movement in Maryland is radiating from the office of M. Melvin Stewart, secretary and treasurer of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation with offices in the Union Trust Building, Baltimore.

Mr. Stewart points with pride to the fact that although less than two months old the Maryland Federation embodies Farm Bureau units in eleven counties of the state with an approximate total membership of 6,000. The state organization force, under the diligent direction of O. Z. Remsburg, is being pushed forward with all possible haste in order to meet the urgent demands coming from the unorganized counties for affiliation with the Farm Bureau and the state Federation.

Mr. Remsburg with his co-workers will continue their constructive work until every county in the state has been organized with its entire farmer population presenting a solid bulwark behind the Farm Bureau and the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation.

Caroline county is the latest to join forces with the organized counties. It came into the fold a few weeks ago with about 400 members. Queen Anne is now in the process of organization while Kent, Dorchester, Wicomico and Somerset will take on the organization harness during the summer and early fall months. Harford county shows the largest Farm Bureau membership, but Worcester county claims distinction because of the fact that it shows a larger percentage of its farmer population as having joined the Farm Bureau, signing up with contracts for three year periods at $10 per year each. Worcester also claims that 40 percent of its farmers are Farm Bureau men and that by the time the county has been fully canvassed and solicited, this percentage will be materially increased.

Upon his return from a recent tour of several of the Eastern Shore counties, Mr. Stewart stated that in every section he visited the sentiment was greatly in favor of the Farm Bureau plan and the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation.

Following is a complete list of the 11 counties with Farm Bureau units, and officially identified with the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation: Washington county, 450 members; Frederick, 650; Anne Arundel, 275; Harford, 675; Howard, 400; Carroll, 500; Montgomery, 500; Baltimore, 650; Worcester, 550; Talbot, 360; and Caroline, 400.

The county organizations are steadily increasing their memberships so that these figures would be subject to change most every week.

BROADWAY JONES TO ALBANY THIS SEASON

Jesse Broadway Jones, of Millsboro, Sussex County, Delaware, who about two years ago was given a tryout by Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore Orioles as a slab artist, and who for a short time was on the pitching staff of the Salisbury club, has gone to Albany, N. Y., where he will play professional ball.

Jones is considered a speedy pitcher but lacked control and headwork, which, to a great extent was the cause of his failure to make good two years ago. He is said to have improved greatly during the past season, and in two or more seasons is expected to be able to hold down a job in big company.

SOMETHING TO KEEP

Is loyalty a lost art? Have the people forgotten its meaning? Has it ceased to have power over the people?

Loyalty in its truest and deepest meaning is free from every element of selfishness; loyalty means absolute devotion to principle, to party, to person.

Absolute devotion takes into account the sacrifice that has to be made to be loyal. It may mean the loss of everything, but loyalty never counts that cost too dear.

If this is a correct definition of loyalty, then it is highly probable that it has been supplanted by the meanest kind of selfishness because men are sacrificing principle, party and person for their own greedy purses.

They seem to have but one God, the God of Gold. They worship at his shrine; they bow before him morning, noon and night; they carry his image in their pockets; his image is stamped upon their features; they would sell their government, they would sacrifice their homes. Yes; they would give up their families to satisfy their own selfishness.

Many business men have ceased to fight for great business principles because they are afraid it will cost them something. Politicians have long since mortgaged their souls.

Oh, for a power that would bring back to the throne of business statesmanship, and to the religious altar unswerving, untainted and undiluted loyalty.

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. Ida Hewitt, 1529 Penna. Ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

PERMANENT ENAMEL BAKED ON STEEL

Eight years ago, when Dodge Brothers originated the all-steel motor car body, they took advantage of the absence of wood in the framework to bake an enamel finish on the surface of the steel.

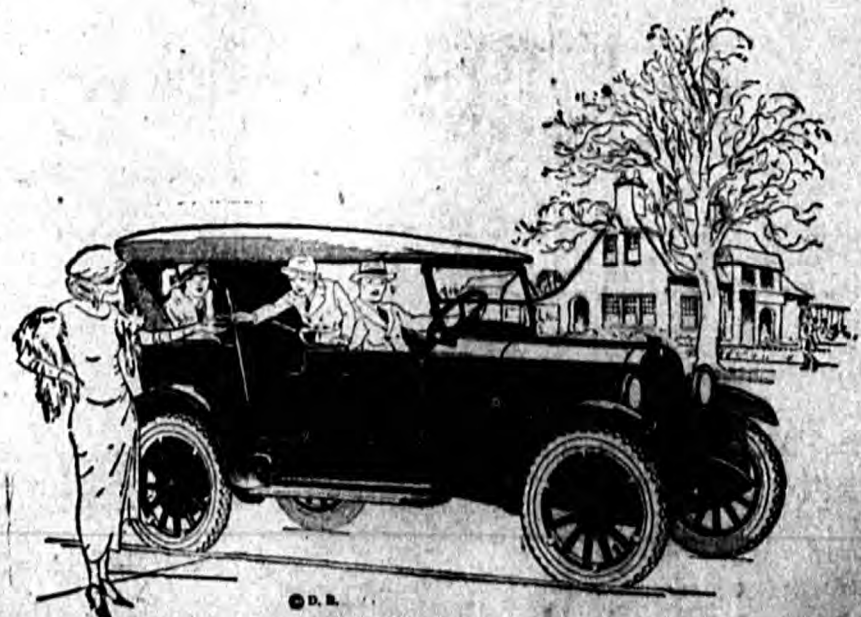

In a vast series of electric ovens, especially designed and built by Dodge Brothers' engineers for this process, three distinct coats of black enamel are successively baked on the steel at an intensely high temperature.

The result is a finish so hardy and durable that it seldom requires more than a good cleaning and polishing to restore the original brightness.

Even in sections of the Southwest where alkali in the soil is especially destructive to body finishes, Dodge Brothers enamel retains its beautiful luster after years of wear.

The price is $600, delivered

GIRLS AND WOMEN OF WICOMICO VERY ACTIVE IN CLUB WORK DURING APRIL

Doings At Double Mills, Williams, Phillips, Willards, Hebron, Mardela, Parsonsburg, Quantico, Shad Point, Riverton Told By Miss Florence Mason, Demonstration Agent.

The girls work in April was devoted to the study of poultry. Double Mills had an exceptionally interesting program. Talks were given on the selection and testing of eggs, natural and artificial incubation, including prevention and treatment of diseases. The program was well arranged, the club song and an original song by the seventh grade giving variety.

Although poultry has been the chief topic for the month, sewing has not been neglected. Almost every club girl has made either a middy and skirt or a dress in the last few weeks. In several instances the girls have made dresses for younger sisters at home.

The Williams Club has just finished dresses and hats to match, at a cost of $2.25 for both dress and hat. The girls at Phillips are finishing dresses to be worn at the seventh grade graduation exercises. The Willards club is planning to have an exhibit of their sewing in one of the show windows of Mr. Raynes store the last of this month.

At the next meeting of the Hebron Club the "Well Dressed Girl" will be the subject for discussion. These girls have just finished dresses which show that they are well able to make this a worth while program. The club activities also include a class in cooking at Quantico and the restoration of rooms by members of the Shad Point Club and others.

The Women's Clubs at Mardela, Parsonsburg and the Salisbury Club, meeting at the home of Mrs. Squires were fortunate in having Mrs. Bell, specialist in household talk to them about finishes for floors and linoleums. Proportions and ingredients for making carefully tested wood floors, waxes and furniture polishes were given to each member. Additional sheets giving this information may be had, the office of the H. D. A. At Mardela we were delighted with a solo by Mrs. Hopkins accompanied by Mrs. Gorell at the piano and a rendition by Mrs. Grace Venable.

The health committee conducted the welfare clinics as usual this month with Dr. Brown in attendance at Parsonsburg and Dr. Kulman at Mardela. Talks on hygiene and nutrition were given by the Red Cross Nurse and H. D. A. The committees hope to see every mother in their communities who have children under six and urge her to bring them to the next meeting. At Mardela interested people have offered the loan of their cars to bring the mothers and children to the clinic who have no other way of getting there.

The Riverton and Double Mills Clubs will be the first to start the work on gardening this week. A special effort will be made to interest all members in planting enough vegetables to fill a earning budget for each member of the family for winter use, besides the amount needed for summer use.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dana, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

SOCALOW'S DOUBLE TO WATERY GRAVE

Man Drowned At Brookview Last Friday Knocked Overboard From Boat And Drowned

While approaching the bridge that spans the North West Fork river at Brookview on Friday last Harry Glassman was knocked overboard by a boom and was drowned, from the tug-boat "Annie Bell", Capt. Ira Smith, of Crisfield. The body remained in the water twenty-seven hours before it was found. The body was taken before a jury of inquest, at Brookview and after examination the jury decided it was a case of accidental drowning. Gravenor Brothers, undertakers, brought the body to Sharptown on Saturday and prepared it for burial and interred it in the Taylor cemetery.

His father, L. Glassman, of Philadelphia, was at once notified by his friends at Crisfield, where young Glassman had been living for some time, the father arrived here on Sunday and had the body taken up and embalmed and took it to Philadelphia where it was interred on Monday afternoon in a Jewish cemetery in that city. The young man was nineteen years old and was known and employed at Crisfield at J. Harry Schmidt's and his check book on Crisfield bank showed a balance due him of $15, but his chum in Crisfield knew his real name. He was the very image of Socalow and was arrested four times for him, but not having the tattoo on his arm he was released.

LEVIN W. HASTINGS

Levin W. Hastings, father of William E. Hastings of Sharptown died near Laurel on Saturday last. His remains were interred at Laurel on Monday afternoon after funeral services at Mt. Zion Church by Rev. Thurston. He leaves seven sons and one daughter: Eli R., William E., John W., James E., Frank L., Andrew, Carlton and Mrs. Ethel Messick. His wife died a few years ago. He was seventy-eight years old and was well and favorably known.

Everything Needed For Building

is more than a trade slogan known the length and breadth of the Peninsula. It is an every-day, living, working, practical fact. It is a standard to which we adhere conscientiously in regards to both materials and service. It is a truth, the proof of which is evident in tangible form---hundreds upon hundreds of buildings, homes, and stores scattered all over the Peninsula.

To maintain such a standard means that this firm must be always on the alert; that it must be ready to produce the latest and the best in building materials; that its architectural department must be abreast of the times; that its machinery and equipment must be modern in every particular; that its organization must be capable, efficient, progressive.

No matter what you plan to build, we believe we can be of material assistance to you. Get in touch with us. Remember that the Spring is the time to start building operations. If you plan a store, a barn, a dwelling, let us estimate on it. Our standard, "Everything needed for building" is assurance that you will receive satisfactory treatment.

LOCAL MAN FINDS JOY STICKING TO SAME BUSINESS FOR 30 YEARS

L. Thos. Parker, Genl. Supt. Of E. S. Adkins & Co. Lumber Plant, With Firm That Long. Started At Age Of 11 Years With Salary Of 40 Cents Per Day.

Thirty years ago today—May 10, 1893—a small eleven year old boy proudly went to work in the mill of the late E. S. Adkins, founder of the present E. S. Adkins & Co., at what the lad considered a princely sum—40 cents per day or four cents an hour. By indomitable pluck, strict application to business and absolute fidelity to his employers, the man which grew from that frail eleven year old frame is today General Superintendent of the plant here, while like the employee, has progressed by leaps and bounds until today it is one of the largest lumber firms in the state doing all kinds of wood work, having branches in several of the other towns.

But the success which he personally has achieved rests very lightly with modest "Tom" Parker as compared with the satisfaction which he has had by reason of the progress of his firm. From a small planing and saw mill the concern, due to shrewd and efficient management, has forged ahead with the result stated above and since 1893 has added first one department and then another to cater to its trade until today the slogan is "Everything Needed For Building."

When L. Thomas Parker went to work, the late Ismay Kellum, father of Salisbury's assistant fire chief, had the contract to cut wood and make laths. Young Parker made himself a box to stand on and for 12 years took away these laths from the boiling saw and since that time has filled every job around the mill, to which he has been called, successfully.

To the tutelage of the late E. S. Adkins he owes much, said Mr. Parker to a representative of The News this week. "It was he," said the interviewee, "who impressed vigorously upon me the fact there is no word in the English language as can't. Those personally acquainted with Mr. Parker know that he has remained firm in the belief of his early teaching and his strength of character and firm will power are attributes which have made him not only a leader in industrial realms but church and fraternal circles as well and have resulted in this man of modest means and limited education representing the city of Salisbury as President of its City Council and of his native county as a member of the State Legislature.

There are now, of the handful of employees working for the company then only three left. They are: Henry Parker, father of L. T. Parker, James Truitt and Thomas Hayman. The two horses originally used, have been supplanted by a fleet of trucks and the employees now number over 100.

Some especially interesting information regarding materials and prices of those days as compared to now seem particularly relevant at this time due to the extensive home building program now being carried forward, says Mr. Parker, who stated that in the early 90's, laths sold at $2.50 per thousand while now they are $9 per M. At that time things were not nearly so active in the building line and the mill worked only four or five days per week.

Much handwork has been replaced by Modern Machinery. If a man sawed the bark ends off of 2500 feet of flooring then it was deemed a good day's work while now 7,000 or 8,000 per day is considered pretty fair. This material sold for $15-$17.50 when Mr. Parker went to work, now it sells from $45 to $120 per M.

The first Gulf Cypress of any quantity seen for home building around Salisbury was used by the late ex-Governor Elihu E. Jackson when he built the home on "Lemon Hill" now occupied by the family of State Comptroller, W. S. Gordy. This was constructed of No. 1 Gulf Cypress siding. Now 60 percent of the homes use this material or Red Cedar siding. A quarter century ago, it was customary to take an inch board and resaw for beveled siding. Now this siding is very seldom used.

Before 1900 very few homes were ever sheathed now practically all are. Kiln-dried flooring at that time was scarcely sold at all in Salisbury while today 95 percent of the builders use North Carolina Kiln-dried flooring.

Mr. Parker still finds the lumber business fascinating and being a comparatively young man with a comfortable home of his own and surrounded by a happy family, as well as being blessed with a wide circle of friends,

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

General trade in April was of satisfactory volume and while much in excess of a year ago was less than in March. Price advances were numerous while the buying movement so active since February subsided to a considerable extent during the latter half of the month. Wholesalers and jobbers experienced a drop in sales but gained in collections while industrial activity continued unabated. Business at retail was much hampered by the unseasonable weather of the first three weeks but with widely advertised sales rounded out a fair month. A feature was the first effects of an actual labor shortage which resulted in wage increases and bonuses followed by advances in production and living costs. The value of building operations for the month exceeded March by more than $1,300,000 with scarcity and advances noted in all building materials. Retail lumber yards are doing a good business but competition is keen and profits not in proportion to increased values. Throughout the south, lumber production is much curtailed through lack of common labor and pine prices are from $3 to $4 per thousand in advance of what they were sixty days ago. Spot demand for all cotton piece goods is quiet but sales for future delivery much in excess of last year. In the Cumberland district wholesale and jobbing trade is from 5% to 10% greater than at this time a year ago while manufacturing and building are active and unemployment practically nil. Trade at retail is materially improved. All apparel lines especially being active. A market in wheat is slightly more active, limited offerings meeting with prompt sale, but flour is quiet. Shipping demand for the better grades of corn is fair but domestic call is quiet. For rye there is fair sale on better grades, with demand rather poor for oats, hay and straw. The general market for beef cattle, lambs and sheep is steady. Butter is easier and egg receipts more than ample for requirements.

CROPS—The weather of the week favored planting of early crops. plowing for corn and farm work in general

Rains of the 28th greatly benefited grass, wheat and rye and the germination of planted crops. The growing season, however, continues backward warmer weather being needed. Wheat in some sections is below the average but is in fair to good condition. In the southern countries rye is heading and all over the section promises to be a good crop. Early sown oats are coming up nicely and planting of this grain continues in some of the countries. Peas are doing well especially in the southern half of the section

while early potatoes, gardens, truck and tobacco plants are progressing.

EASTERN SHORE MEETS WITH LOUD PRAISE

Baltimore Weather Chief Visits W. F. Allen Here—Finds Peninsula "Garden Spot"

After visiting a number of co-operative weather observation stations on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and in Delaware, Director James H. Spencer, chief of the Baltimore station of the United States Weather Bureau and the Maryland State Weather Service has returned to Baltimore.

During his trip to the Delmarva peninsula he visited stations in all the lower counties of the Shore and in Sussex county, Del. Visits were made to Robert L. Hamill, at Cambridge; W. F. Allen, at Salisbury; A. B. Cochran, Crisfield; James R. Stewart, Princess Anne; Louis C. de Guibert, at Public Landing; Rev. Lewis W. Wells, at Millsboro, Del.; Charles J. Holzemueller, at Milford, Del., and Arthur G. Livingston, at Dover, Del.

These are among the most important of the 52 weather stations in the Maryland-Delaware section, Mr. Spencer says, and most of them have been in operation continuously for between 30 and 50 years. Mr. Stewart has served continuously at Princess Anne for 30 years, Mr. Spencer says; Mr. Wells has been at Millsboro for 33 years and Mr. Holzemueller has been at Milford for 20 years. At Seaford Ex-Senator Brown has been observer for over 20 years.

Hotel accommodations and bus transportation service on the Eastern Shore have been improving constantly during the last year, Mr. Spencer says.

"One may travel over the United States," Mr. Spencer says, "and not find a more beautiful country than the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Woodlands are white with dogwood, and the apple orchards are in full bloom. A bumper fruit crop is expected this year. Senator Orlando Harrison, at Berlin, told me he was counting on 600 to 1000 cars of fruit, and this, of course, is only one of the many fruit farms."

Milford, Del., is counting on the "biggest day in its history" in the near future, when President Harding is expected to visit the town, Mr. Spencer says.

RAPID STRIDES MADE BY FRANCE TOWARD RECOVERY SINCE ARMISTICE

Emil Utard, President Franco-American Board Commerce, Tells Of Accomplishments And Points Out How U. S. Tariff Reacts Against America And France.

President Franco-American Board of Commerce and Industry
(Special Dispatch to Wicomico News)

Separated by thousands of miles from France, Americans fail to realize what wonderful reconstruction work has been accomplished since November 11th, 1918, by that nation which so gallantly bore the burden of fighting during the war and found itself thereafter with a burden of damages estimated at approximately 218,000,000,000 francs. In this figure is not counted the now missing productive value of four million maimed or dead men.

Consider for a moment: the appalling disaster which the war brought to France. One-thirteenth of her country devastated; 741,883 buildings destroyed; also 22,900 factories destroyed; 3,500 miles of railroads, 3,300 miles of highways, eight systems of canals badly damaged, 9,116,383 acres of land rendered practically useless.

In this land were 436,230,000 cubic yards of trenches to be filled, barbed wire to be removed from an area of 446,108,000 square yards and over one million of ammunition shells to be destroyed or removed. The number of refugees compelled to find shelter elsewhere amounted to 4,690,183. Stupendous figures—and true.

France Has Accomplished Much Since Armistice

But France was undaunted and quickly the tremendous work of reconstruction was started, with the following results, covering the period ending August 31st, 1922.

Trenches filled 346,435,450 cubic yards.

Barbed wire removed from an area of 340,774,224 square yards.

Lying shells destroyed, 1,033,793.

Land readapted to cultivation, 4,366,998 acres.

498,721 buildings and 19,923 factories rebuilt.

Roads, canals and railroads nearly all rebuilt.

Over four million refugees have now returned to the devastated regions, but unfortunately a large number of them are yet living in dugouts, shanties and portable houses, since the roads, canals, railroads and factories had to be reconstructed first.

France has shown courage, not only in reconstruction, but she is making tremendous efforts to produce and export goods to aid in speedy economic recovery. The result is remarkable. The foreign trade of France in 1922 exceeded in tonnage that of 1913, according to official figures.

Imports	51,266,708	44,229,386
Exports	22,615,688	20,074,513

Struggle Now Is For Speedy Economic Recovery

The old French tariff being specific, i. e., the rates being set per head, pair, 1,000 pieces of 100 kilos, etc., it had to be modified to conform with the tremendous advance in the values brought about by the war and after war conditions. Co-efficients, therefore, were resorted to progressively as conditions warranted. Other countries with tariffs based on specific rates had which there shall always be a demand here and which Americans will never be able to make. On this point the Fordney tariff is far-reaching in its effects in France, which generally speaking, makes a specialty of exclusive lines, many of them luxuries.

This is why in many industrial centers of France could be formerly found manufacturers working almost wholly for the American market, who have now lost their trade with this country because of prohibitive rates.

What is the meaning of such adverse conditions created in France by the Fordney tariff? A strong reaction against American goods, in general, and an inducement for French people to buy all they can in countries where the franc is at a premium.

Speaking of Things Past

to do likewise. Unfortunately, this procedure seems to have been taken as a hint by such politicians as are called high protectionists and their agitation has found so much echo in the United States among special interests that even the American tariff with ad valorem rates was deemed inadequate to cope with changed values.

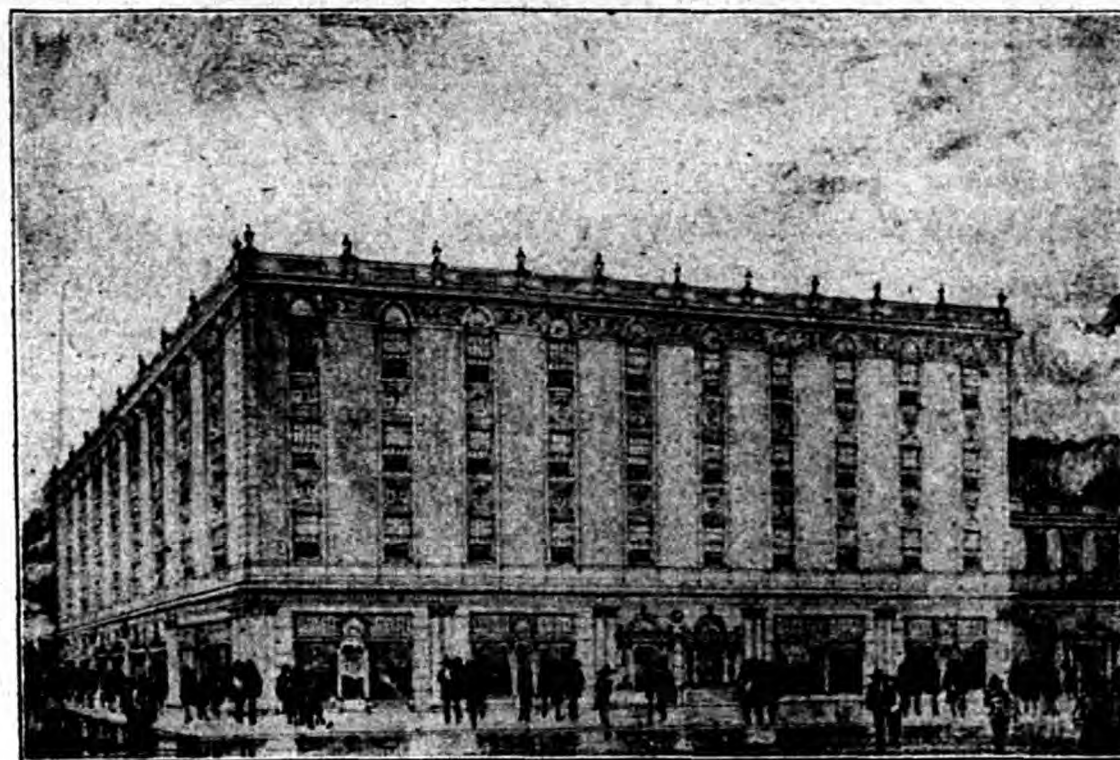

This gave rise to a movement which in spite of the most violent opposition has resulted in a tariff now considered by many as detrimental to America as it is to foreign interests.

U. S. Tariff Reacting in Loss Even to Producers

To judge from reports recently published the Fordney tariff does not seem to have proved a success even for those it was supposed to give unreserved protection and prosperity. The American Farm Bureau Federation has figured out that the new tariff costs the farmers $301,000,000 a year. It fixes at $125,000,000 the gain to the farmers as producers, but estimates that the agricultural interests will be required to pay $126,000,000 in increased prices on other commodities. The high duty on sugar alone means the farmers must help enrich sugar producers to the extent of $48,000,000. The Fordney law has shut out of the American market, because of its prohibitive rates, a number of articles

LEGIONNAIRES MAKE PLANS MEMORIAL DAY

Living Ex-Service Men Will Decorate Graves Of Dead Comrades.

BUSINESS HOUSES WILL PROBABLY CLOSE

Included In Line Of March From Armory To Cemetery Will Be Ex-Service Men As Well As Civic And Fraternal Bodies Of City—Poplars Will Be Sold On The Street.

Plans were discussed at the regular meeting of Wicomico Post, American Legion, on Friday night for the observance of Memorial Day, May 30th. It is proposed to make the day a memorable one in the annals of Salisbury.

Since the World War much of the sectional feeling occasioned by the strife between states has been obliterated and the day is being more generally observed all over the country than heretofore and with more ceremony.

The plans call for a parade from the Armory to the cemetery, followed by appropriate exercises at the graves of the soldier dead and concluding with placing of flowers on each marked grave. In the line of march it is planned to have: Wicomico Post, American Legion, Local Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, all ex-service men, Company "I", the Fire Department and all fraternal bodies of the city possible.

The parade will form at the Armory promptly at 10:30 o'clock, starting for the cemetery at 10:45. The services there will start at 11 o'clock and will be over by noon. The exercises at the cemetery will be conducted by the Rev. H. F. Kloman, chaplain during the World War. After the exercises, a volley will be fired over the graves, flowers placed on those of heroes of the Civil, Spanish-American and World War and concluding with "Taps."

The merchants and manufacturers of the city will be asked to close all day during the holiday and to co-operate in making the day a real event in Salisbury's history.

Poplars, legions of flowers, will be sold on the street Saturday preceding Memorial Day by the Legion. The proceeds from the sale of these go to the national Graves Endowment Fund. This fund is used to purchase, and supply free, to the families of deceased soldiers who apply for them, headstone markers.

H. O. PYLE

Mr. H. O. Pyle, a traveling salesman for the Upjohn Drug Company, for the past several years a resident of this county, living on the Quantico Road near Salisbury, died suddenly Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Pyle is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pyle and one son, Gilpin Pyle, also a sister, Mrs. Dr. Bishop of Worcester County. His remains were taken to Baltimore on Monday and interment was made in that city.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS AND STORE CLERKS MAY BE CALLED UPON TO SAVE BERRY CROP

With Prosperity Of Community Hanging In Balance Due To Shortage Pickers, Assistance Of Community Will Be Enlisted In Plan Suggested By County Agent Cobb.

After having cared for what it is believed is going to be a bumper crop of strawberries in this county, the growers are today faced with a labor shortage in the way of pickers which threatens to leave remaining in the patch unpicked one-half the immense crop which is being looked for.

Although berries are ripening now and some have been shipped, they will not ripen in great quantities until about Monday. Agricultural authorities in the county are of the opinion that 1,000 or more additional pickers are needed. Some have been obtained in the cities but not nearly enough to relieve the situation. Some growers have as many as 25 acres with no pickers at all in their fields.

Unless the early berry is marketed, the farmers will not be able to realize on the crop this year. At present these are selling at around $6.10 per crate wholesale and it is the advance shipments upon which the farmer gets returns are realized. County Agent Cobb, before the week is over will likely ask the co-operation of various agencies in Salisbury to relieve this situation which is so vital to not only the growers but to the merchants and the community at large, as upon the present berry crop returns hinges largely the prosperity of the county for a long time to come.

He has under consideration a plan which has been worked very successfully in other places where he has been but which is new in this section. The proposition will be to put the plight of these people before the citizens and ask that everyone who can rally to its solution by getting out and help pick the fruit.

In all likelihood the first official to be called upon will be Superintendent of Schools, James M. Bennett. He will be asked, if possible, to arrange classes at the high school to pick berries and that everyone who can rally to its solution by getting out and help pick the fruit.

WOMAN'S CLUB ELECTS ITS NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. W. S. Sheppard, Its Able President, Unanimously Re-elected.

$125 DONATED VARIOUS CIVIC ENTERPRISES

Very Interesting And Instructive Booklet Containing Sketch Of Early History Of Wicomico County Penned By Miss Ellegood, Placed On Sale Proceeds For Clubhouse Fund.

Because of her having so efficiently served as president of the Wicomico Woman's Club during the past year, Mrs. Walter S. Sheppard was again honored by the club by her selection for the coming year, at the annual election of officers which took place at the regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Other officers elected were: vice-president, Mrs. William S. Gordy; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Harry Harcum; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. William S. Ward; Chairman Civil Department, Miss Elizabeth Johnson; Literary Department, Mrs. Clara Hanuman; Social, Mrs. Grant Sexton; Delegate-at-large, Miss Maria Ellegood.

The report of Mrs. G. R. Cobb, corresponding secretary, showed that 365 pieces of incoming and outgoing mail had been handled by her department while the report of Miss Minnie Adkins, treasurer, revealed the fact that a balance of $246.10 remained in the club's treasury.

It was voted to make the following donations: $30 to Salisbury Library; $50 to the local Red Cross and $25 to the Y.M.C.A. $75 was put aside as a contingent fund.

Mrs. Robert Grier suggested that the club observe annually the date of its founding and that its members affiliate themselves with the Parent-Teachers Association. Rainy Day bags brought the club in $130 toward the clubhouse fund. Other ways to help swell this fund being employed are: the sale of a booklet containing a sketch of the early history of Wicomico County, ably written by Miss Maria Ellegood and just published and the presentation of the home talent play "Clarence," in the fall.

The following new members were taken in: Mesdames, H. P. Fox, E. H. Dashiell, David Slivley, W. P. Jackson and George C. Bounds, Hebron.

WALLER WILLIAMS TO BUILD NEW GARAGES

20 Individual Spaces To Be Provided Automatic Pump At Big Garage Attracts Attention

Waller Williams Garage has just installed an air pump for the convenience of its patrons that is attracting much attention from the motorists who stop there for free air. The pump is one of the largest put on the market and is the first of its kind to be seen on the Shore.

It is automatic in every detail and operated by electricity. It will run up an air pressure of 180 lbs. and never falls below 140 lbs. Five tires can be inflated at the same time from this one pump which cost over $650.

Mr. Williams announced yesterday that next week will witness the construction of twenty individual garages on the lot next to his garage. They will be of brick and other fireproof material. A novel feature of his project is that the herring bone plan of garage building will be followed, the cars being driven into their spaces without need of backing around.

TODAY 20TH ANNIVERSARY PEOPLES BANK

Doors Of Financial Institution Were Opened May 17, 1903.

HAS SHOWN STEADY PROGRESS THRU YEARS

Managed By Conservative Business Men Total Resources Have Climbed From Less Than Hundred Thousand To Over $800,000—Deposits Today Around Half Million Dollars.

Just twenty years ago today, May 17, 1903, the doors of the Peoples National Bank, Wicomico's newest financial institution, were thrown open to the public. Its organization meeting was held on February 23, 1903 and the following gentlemen were its organizers: J. D. Price, Dr. J. McF. Dick, U. W. Dickerson, C. R. Dishaaron, V. Perry, R. Lee Walker, the late E. S. Adkins, and the late F. C. Todd. At the meeting it was decided to organize a national bank with capital stock of $500,000.

On April 28th of the same year a charter was granted the bank and when the business was actually started, S. King White became its first cashier. The following then composed the directorate: V. Perry, president; C. R. Dishaaron, 1st vice-president; J. D. Price, 2nd vice-president; George W. Waller, Phillips W. F. Allen, A. W. Sisk, the late A. J. Benjamin, the late M. A. Davis, Dr. Dick, R. Lee Walker, the late B. Frank Kennerly, and the late E. S. Adkins. The five first named men still are members of the Board.

Mr. Perry served as the bank's head officer until early this year when he resigned after rounding out two decades in that capacity and he was succeeded by Senator Dishaaron. His health forced Cashier White to resign his position about 1908 and he was succeeded by Isaac L. Price who in turn was followed by Carl M. Paynter, present cashier, in 1921.

On August 3, 1903, a few months after the institution began functioning, the total resources were: $89,433.77 and the deposits $33,000. The business expanded rapidly and on March 13, 1915, the capital stock was increased to $100,000. The deposits today are around a half million and the total resources are over $800,000. The Peoples was Wicomico's infant bank until last year when the Central bank was organized. The bank had a steady conservative growth and today ranks well among the business builders of the community. Guided by a directorate, the members of which are among Salisbury's most substantial and progressive citizens, the institution has kept pace with its city at every hand and promises to be even a more potent business factor in the years to come.

LOCAL COMPANY, CAPITALIZED AT $20,000, PLANS BIG RECREATION PARK FOR SALISBURY

Representative Of Peninsula Park Association At Meeting Of Mayor And Council This Week Asking That City Aid Scheme—Local Band Interested.

A company has been incorporated here known as the Peninsula Park Association with an authorized capital stock of $20,000, the purpose of which is to give to Salisbury a recreation grounds for not only its citizens but those of neighboring communities as well. The incorporators are: H. C. Derby, president of the Salisbury Band; Samuel R. Douglas, local attorney and Oscar Davis. The Salisbury Band is greatly interested in the movement and the project is really an outgrowth of its fine work during past summers on the Realty Property when so many were afforded an opportunity of hearing its open air concerts.

The band will be one of the biggest beneficiaries if the project goes across. Mr. Douglas was spokesman for the association at the meeting of the Mayor and Council on Monday evening. He outlined the plan and asked the city to co-operate insofar as to light the approach to the grounds, make a hard road leading to the park, grant a free license for its operation and exempt the company from taxes for five years as provided for in the Charter regarding new enterprises. A decision on the question will likely be made at the meeting next Monday night.

"PRUNING" OF BALL CLUB HAS STARTED

Manager Shipley Gets Out Sharp Knife And Cuts Strings On Several White Clouds Preparatory To Bringing Squad Within Eighteen Men Player Limit.

Manager Shipley on Monday of this week started the task of cutting down his squad to 18 in preparation for the opening of the season now less than two weeks away. The first to get the obnoxious "pink slips" were: Earl Heathcote, catcher; C. M. Smith, pitcher and Thomas Davis, local boy, pitcher.

This is an extremely hard task for Shipley due to the excellent showing made by all of the players who took part in the contest with Cape Charles last Saturday.

The stellar fielding stunt of the day was pulled off by Werber, who was sent in at short late in the game. This, after making a remarkable one hand pick-up, straightened up and made a lightning-like throw to first cutting off what appeared to be a sure hit.

Tickey's drive over the leftfield fence with two on in the 5th inning was a corker and Stayley, who caught the latter part of the contest, came within an ace of matching the fourply blow in the game.

The "White Clouds" looked much better against the railroaders than did the Newark "Bears" several weeks ago and local fandom is in high glee as a result of the showing Saturday. It now appears certain, if nothing goes wrong in the meantime, that "Lefty" Hearn will toe the slab in the opening game against the "Crabbers" Friday of next week. One lone hit was garnered off his delivery and he turned back 11 hitters in his seven innings on the mound. Hearn also looked like a "million dollars" at bat by securing three hits, out of four times up.

In two innings, the fifth and seventh the entire team batted. 16 solid bingles speaks of the ability of the locals to wield the willow.

Two new men joined the squad this week. They are: Ganzhorn, from Baltimore, who spent the training season with Waynesboro, in the Blue Ridge League and Matthews, of St. John's College, Annapolis. Both are infielders.

The new uniforms of the "White Clouds" will be worn in the exhibition game against Washington College, Saturday in order that they may be broken in before the starting of the season.

NEW COUNCIL PERFECTS ITS ORGANIZATION

E. L. White Again Honored By Colleagues By Selection As President.

HE AND LUCAS DRAW THE TWO YEAR TERMS

Mayor Kennerly Will Open His "Green Bag" At Meeting Next Monday Night At Which Session Several Important Matters Will Be Brought Up.

After disposing of several matters brought to its attention, the City Council last Monday night adjourned sine die. The newly elected members: Messrs. E. L. White, Ernest Lucas and Sherman Waller presented their credentials and the new council entered upon its new duties by electing E. B. Hitch, temporary chairman.

E. L. White, for the past two years president of the body was unanimously elected for another term. Drawing for long and short terms resulted in the two year tenure going to Messrs. White and Lucas, and the single year to Sherman Waller.

Both of these gentlemen succeeded themselves while Mr. Waller, who took his seat Monday evening, succeeds John G. Melson, whose term expired. The holdover members are Messrs. E. B. Hitch and John W. Seaman.

Each of the gentlemen taking office made short speeches in which they stated their realization of the burden incumbent upon them and asked the co-operation of both their colleagues and the taxpayers in the satisfactory discharging of that obligation.

At the next meeting, Mayor Kennerly will make his appointments for the coming year as well as present his annual message. It is understood that the same appointees will again be named.

An announcement was received from the Fire Department stating that at its last regular meeting the following officers had been elected for 1923: Chief, F. A. Grier, Jr.; Custodian, I. J. Wooten; Assistant Custodian, Charles Livingston. The Council, as requested, confirmed the election.

W. C. T. U. DECLARES BOYCOTT ON SUGAR

Every Member At Meeting Monday Pledges To Cut Consumption To A Minimum.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. held on Monday afternoon was largely attended. The Health Superintendent had secured Miss Kell, the Red Cross Nurse to make an address. Miss Kell made an endeavor to interest the members in the sanitary conditions of the town relative to sewerage. Conditions as existing in some sections, especially those pertaining to certain schools of the town were said to be deplorable. The women were urged to back a movement to help better conditions.

The organization agreed to bear the expenses of two or more girls for a ten-day camping trip in July.

Every member present voted to register their disapproval of the present high prices of sugar by pledging to lessen the quantity of consumption until prices are lowered.

June 3, was declared to be anti-cigar day, and a committee was appointed to make plans for observance in the Sunday Schools. It was also decided to hold a rummage sale the last week in May.

PINK CANDLE BURGLAR NOW SAFE IN PEN

Negro Jas. H. Jones, Alias "Beefsoup" Caught Saturday Near Harrington, Del.

QUARTET OF SEAFORD MEN ARE HIS CAPTORS

Will Receive Reward Of $200 Offered By Wicomico County Authorities—His Apprehension Effected Without Resistance, Neither He Nor The Other Parties Were Armed.

James H. Jones, colored, alias "Beefsoup" Jones, notorious "Pink Candle" burglar, who together with three other negroes broke jail here on Saturday, March 24th, was captured on the state highway near Harrington, Del. on Saturday afternoon last and brought to the jail here about four o'clock.

His captors were four Blades, Del. young men from 18 to 21 years of age: Frank James, Grover James, Dale S. Holt and Milton Colver. They will split the $200 reward offered by the authorities of Wicomico County for the apprehension of Jones, who since his release from the Maryland Penitentiary last September after serving a term for burglary terrorized citizens of the Peninsula by perpetrating more than 100 burglaries in Delaware and Maryland.

The James brothers, who run a garage in Blades, accompanied by their friends were on their way to Harrington to negotiate for a truck when they met and passed a negro whom they at once recognized from pictures they had seen as Jones. Running the car a little further up the road they turned around and again passed him after which they stopped, ostensibly to repair their car, having in their hands a gun and other iron tools when the negro approached.

They then accosted him and ordered him to jump in the car, stating they knew he was "Beefsoup" Jones. The negro attempted to convince them they had cited wrong man, but the men quickly forced him to get in the car and he was quickly rushed to the jail.

SHORE TRANSIT LINE WOULD EXTEND ROUTES

Jackson's Proposal To Operate In Territory Covered By M. & D. V. Ry. Is, However, Rejected By P. & C.

A. M. Jackson, of this city, and William J. Ogden, of Baltimore, who are interested in the Shore Transit line which runs from Salisbury to Claiborne, and which it is proposed to extend to other parts of the Eastern Shore, called on the Public Service Com., Saturday to discuss the bus situation on the Shore in the light of the movement of the Pennsylvania Railroad to abandon the operation of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway System.

Both Mr. Jackson and Mr. Ogden are confident that the bus lines will prove a satisfactory substitute for the railway, and they asked for permits that would enable them to operate lines from Rock Hall to Chertown, from Chertown to Centerville, and from Centerville to Easton.

The commission turned down the application. William M. Maloy, chairman, said they would not be granted at this time, and in fact, no applications for new bus lines on the Eastern Shore would be granted until the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia situation was settled.

The Parker family will probably also occupy the building as a residence soon.

REV. PETERS DELIVERS IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

"True Education—Its Aims and Methods," Topic of Talk To Parents-Teachers Assn.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parents-Teachers Association was held in the school on Monday evening, May 14th. Over one hundred patrons and friends of the school were present. The following program was carried out very successfully. Singing—"Battlement of the Republic"; Prayer, Rev. T. S. Dixon; Dialogue, Myrtle and Herman Wright; Piano and Violin Duo, Madlyn Larmore and Maurice Elliott; Recitation, Robert Elliott; Play by the children, "The Health Crusaders"; Song by 3rd and 4th Grade girls. Each of the three Pastors in the town were present and each made short talks. Revs. A. H. Green, G. W. Gorrell and T. S. Dixon. The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. John Braddon Peters, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church South, of Salisbury, his subject being "True Education—Its Aims and Methods". It was an admirable address and right to the point. All patrons of the school hope to have Dr. Peters with us again. St. James Bennett was present and made a few remarks. While Mr. Bennett's remarks were not such as to encourage this Association in the prospect of soon having the eleventh grade added to this school, we have not lost hope but will still work toward that end. After hearing the reports from the several Committees appointed by the Association the meeting was brought to a close by singing "America" followed by the Benediction pronounced by Dr. Peters.

THE GIFT OF EVE

Our Corsets and Our Brassieres

We can't all be just so tall, just so rounded, just so slim. But if any part of our figure is over-emphasized, our corsets are to blame, or our brassieres. Piquancy lies in concealment—of good and bad points alike. Men's goddesses have always been veiled. Only by subduing that over-emphasis, by making ourselves into one gracious well-proportioned whole, can we form the lovely model necessary to display our lovely clothes.

Some of us perhaps, made the fatal mistake of leaving off our corsets altogether in the same rage for false youth that caused others of us to bob our hair. Those of us who were quite young when the no-corset delusion began, possibly never commenced to wear them at all. And, unless we were active as the ladies who dance in the chorus at night (and roll on the bathroom floor in the morning), we've been adding those insidious, unwanted inches month by month. Even youth alas, is no safety-first device when applied to the scales.

Corsets—But Not the Right Corsets. Others again have always worn corsets. But not the right corsets. Not corsets designed with the ideal, beautiful, finished, symmetrical figure of our type in mind—the only figure that will stand all the vagaries of the dress making art and appear to advantage no matter what the mode. The very over-emphasis of which we're now so conscious may be the direct result, not of our own development, but of our corsets.

If this were all, it would be bad enough. But a corset's sine go deeper still, if they begin at all. The propped abdomen that undermines the health of some of us, the backaches that rack the dispositions of others of us and send John to the club—these may be the work of the little pink demon with the bones in the wrong place. And bad health spoils the complexion that we've spent so much time coaxing and deadens the lustre of the most-brushed hair, and kills joie de vivre as dead as Pharaoh.

Understanding your type is the first step toward buying the right corset, and is one of the most important aids to beauty you will ever find.

What type are you? If you have any corset problem, write to Miss Jane Hill, in care of this paper, and your letter (unopened) will be forwarded direct to her for answer.

Gossard Corsets vs. Comfort and Beauty Aid

The Large Below the Waist Figure

The Tall Heavy Figure

Today the corset is not a mere garment, but rather an aid to beauty. One's corsetiere is not to be classed with one's dressmaker or one's milliner—but rather with one's beauty specialist, whose methods depend not so much on the mode but on the specific needs of one's age, one's type, oneself.

Gossard Type Corsetry offers a scientific beauty aid to every type of woman.

Seeing "and feeling" is believing a new room in a day

Changing to a cheerful, airy hardwood floor certainly does make a room seem like new. But such new room in a day, that may sound exaggerated. Well it isn't. CROMAR is the reason.

You see, what makes the installation of an ordinary hardwood floor take so long, is the scraping and polishing and several coats of finishing—and drying—after the laying incidentally, that runs up the cost.

But CROMAR, the patented hardwood floor, is completely finished by machinery, at the factory. Two carpenters start laying CROMAR right over your old floor in the morning, and you use that "new" room in the evening!

You ought to know all about CROMAR. Get in touch with your Retail Lumber Dealer today—and write us for complete literature.

DIVISION OF OPINION EXPRESSED AT MEETING

Some Claim Upper Wetipquin Creek
Navigable While Others Fall
To See It In That Light

About 75 persons from various parts of the county attended the public hearing at Mechanics Hall, Tyaskin, Monday afternoon on the application of the State Roads Commission for approval of plans for a fill and culvert to be constructed across Wetipquin Creek. Major Doyle, representing the War Department, was present to hear the testimony.

There seemed to be a difference of opinion as to the navigability of the stream at the point in question. Several stated that it could be used for floating products down stream and was therefore sailable while a number of others testified that they had cruised the water and had not found them sufficiently navigable that commerce would be seriously handicapped if it were closed.

Several also submitted written statements pro and con. The Major will now make his recommendations to the War Department and the Secretary of War will have final disposition of the case. It usually takes about four to six weeks for the ultimate settlement of a proposition of this character.

Two Thugs Beat And Rob Preacher

The Rev. Daniel Stokely, Assaulted
While Attempting To Move
Auto From Mudhole

The Rev. Daniel Stokely, pastor of Line Methodist Episcopal Church, near Whiteville, Delaware, was attacked on the road Sunday night, about midnight, by two men who beat him badly and robbed him of about $100. The attack was made while the Rev. Mr. Stokely was endeavoring to get his car out of the mud.

Mr. Stokely is a very muscular man, about 6 feet tall and weighs 180 pounds, so he was able to knock one of the thugs down during the encounter. It was too dark for him to recognize either of the assailants or even to determine whether they were black or white, he says, and he has no clue to their identity.

to the local jail. Neither the escaped convict nor his captors were armed. Jones was originally arrested on West Main street here, February 20th by Officer Cahall of the city police force. He was tried at the March Term of the Circuit Court and sentenced to 20 years. While awaiting transportation to the "Pen," he broke jail resulting in the coming of this section of the country for him the past nearly two months. Circulars bearing his description had been broadcast from Suffolk, Va. to New York City and the authorities were practically certain that he was somewhere in this region. So close were they on his trail a few weeks ago on the Eastern Shore of Virginia that they brought back with them his cap which he lost while fleeing, after being shot at by officers.

The prisoner alleged that this was the first trip he had made in daylight since he had been hounded so incessantly. He remained in the Salisbury lockup Saturday night and on Sunday was carried by the Sheriff to Baltimore and turned over to Warden Sweeney of the Maryland Penitentiary to serve a 26 year term. Judge Bailey having, at a special term of Court Saturday afternoon, added six years to his sentence as he had done in the cases of the three other negroes who escaped with Jones.

H. S. Pupils And Store Clerks May Pick Berries

contributing to their own general prosperity otherwise.

Berry pickers are being paid from two to three cents per quart and are not even available at the higher figure. If not enough high school pupils can be secured, the merchants will be asked to allow their clerks to get off during leisure hours for this work and all other persons who possibly can will be mustered for work at times which would suit their convenience.

Even 100 volunteers would make a perceptible showing and materially aid in the getting to market of this berry crop and it is believed that this "Community Aid" plan may prove a solution to the plight in which the growers are at present.

Any individual who will volunteer for this work is asked to leave his or her name with the Chamber of Commerce Secretary. The colored schools of the county were closed Monday and 1700 of these negro children are now free, a large number being available for picking which may also relieve the situation to some extent.

PURE RELIGION:—Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unstained from the world.—Proverbs 22:16.

GOOD WORK!

The people of Salisbury and Wicomico County have every reason to feel highly elated over the successful culmination of the active hotel drive which ended Friday night in a blaze of glory. The Peninsula's "Greatest Need" is about to be fulfilled and Salisbury is to get the credit for the deed.

Not enough praise can be showered upon those public-spirited citizens of this county who came across with subscriptions to the hotel stock. The large number of individuals who availed themselves of the opportunity to invest in such a project indicates that the people of this community are interested in its growth and development and are willing to stand back of every movement making for civic and commercial betterment.

The hotel drive was well organized and supervised. Real executive ability and leadership were displayed in putting it across and to those gentlemen who came to this city as strangers and undertook to stage the stock-selling campaign, Salisbury is greatly indebted. For it was these "Go-Getters" who stirred the community from its state of lethargy and called to its attention the one thing that was lacking in its make-up.

To the various leaders and workers of the team organization should also go a word of praise. They worked tirelessly and enthusiastically at their task of interesting the people in the project and selling them stock. Altogether the drive was a fine example of the spirit of co-operation and unselfishness so necessary to the advancement of any community.

A PUBLIC PARK.

Last week in its editorial columns The News called attention to the need of a public park in this city where recreational advantages would be provided and supervised for the children and where wholesome outdoor amusement would be afforded grown-ups.

On last Monday evening, the directors of a newly organized company for just such a park appeared before the Mayor and City Council and asked for the co-operation of that body in making the park an actual reality.

On the front page of this issue is carried an article that sets forth the details of the plan whereby it is hoped to bring into this community a public park. The site has been selected and appears to be an admirable one.

The advantages of this park to Salisbury would be numerous and The News is heartily behind the movement. The value of the park to the children in the city is alone sufficient reason for its support. There can be no denying the fact that some place must be provided for the boys and girls to enjoy supervised play and to enable them to get out in the open air for social and recreational purposes.

Another feature that is connected with the establishment of the park is that of a city band. Salisbury has in its midst a number of excellent musicians who would be glad to give their time in the rendering of public concerts during the summer months. Sunday afternoon sacred concerts are held in practically all of the more progressive and larger cities and Salisbury should fall in line. Let us hope that the park idea is not abandoned this time.

LET'S END LOAFING OF IDLE DOLLARS.

When one of the young Vanderbilts can stroll up to the roulette table in Havana, as reported by a prominent American business man recently, take out a bundle of $1,000 bills, place one after another on the same number, lose ten times in succession and then calmly turn to the fascinating fox trot, while time is kept by the popping of champagne corks at the table around the dance floor, it is time for some of our taxmakers to put on their thinking caps.

Ten thousand dollars to a Vanderbilt is a mere bagatelle of course, but when this kind of money waste is set down side by side with the enormous demands made upon middle class producers to contribute to the country's charities until giving becomes a burden, then it assumes the aspect of a near saturnalia.

Business men, particularly those struggling to get a foothold, are the sufferers. Examples of this kind of spendthrift nonsense have brought about the onerous income tax that has taken out of the world of trade and thrown into non-taxable securities millions of dollars, millions that could well be used for the expansion and development of American industries. The nation cries aloud for revision of our tax system, for the modification of the burdensome surtax, but our lawmakers find their excuse in the popular approval that gathers to them as a result of any move that seems to show them willing to "soak" the rich. There are rich men and rich men, however. Some are of the young Vanderbilt variety, but there are others who have made their millions by financial and commercial activity of a worthy character, men who in the making of their fortunes have built up the prosperity of the country.

THE MAN BEHIND THE CARBURETOR.

Conservative estimates place the number of motor vehicles on the farms as 3,500,000, not counting motor driven farm machinery. There are at least 300,000 trucks and not less than 3,200,000 automobiles, used by the farmers.

Considered in the light of general production, these figures present a startling picture. In the background we can see in addition to the farmers' use of the car the millions of automobiles absorbed by the residents of the small towns where practically every one owns a car. Obviously, the market for the motor lies in the country, and, obviously, too, the astounding growth of motor car absorption is a lasting tribute to the usefulness of the home town newspaper which has been the only means of contact—except the sporadic scattering of a few magazines—between the motor car manufacturers and the great American population living in country America.

No industry in history has shown the rapid and enormous growth shown by the motor car industry, all of which has been largely due to the vision of the industrial geniuses who have brought about this transformation of our travel system. They were all born in the country. They knew what contact with country folk meant, and they have made persistent and consistent use of the home town newspapers to carry their message to the buyers.

LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHERS INSTALL NEW SERVICE

Watson & Short, In New Division St.,
Studio, Now Have New Light Which Duplicates Daylight

The Watson & Short Studio has installed one of the new Perkins "Hi-Power" Twin Arc White Flame Photographic Lamps manufactured by the Photogenic Machine Co., Youngstown, Ohio. This lamp burns special carbons and produces a snow white light ranging from a very low to an extremely high volume. It is powerful enough to make motion pictures or snap shots of babies and is unexcelled for big groups. The light is a pleasing soft white color duplicating daylight perfectly and making it possible to easily distinguish all colors in their true tones. It imparts a healthy color to the person being photographed which is a great improvement over the ghastly appearance which some of the artificial photographic lights produce. There is no blinding flash but a steady soft cool light which is very pleasing to the eye and comfortable to sit under. With this light Watson & Short say, "Our studio will be absolutely independent of daylight and we can make high quality photographs rain or shine—day or night." With the installation of this lamp the Watson & Short studio is making good in their determination to use only the best equipment available.

Mrs. Alex G. McCarthy and her two children, Alex Jr., and Mary Frances, left Monday morning for Milwaukee to spend the summer months.

Twenty Years

the Peoples National Bank of Salisbury opened its hospitable doors. For nineteen years it has served the community in a constructive progressive way.

This institution has indeed at all times capably fulfilled all of the duties that a bank should fulfill. It has made honest friends and the cementing of these friendships through service, seems almost our most important accomplishment throughout these nineteen years.

To old friends, of course, and to new friends as well, a cordial invitation is extended to make full use of the facilities offered by this institution. The value of such a banking connection for the future may easily be gauged by the record of the past.

Mitchler Declares He Owe His Health, If Not His Life, To Tanlac

"I am now preaching Tanlac to all my friends, for I owe my present good health, if not my life, to the 'best medicine' recently said Jonas Mutchler, 12 Humboldt St., Thenton, N. J. When I began taking Tanlac I was suffering from stomach trouble, terrific headaches and a rundown condition of three years standing. Nothing seemed to help me, I had lost weight continuously and my nerves were all on edge. My cheeks had begun to sink in, my face to whiten.

"A friend got me to try the Tanlac treatment, and I felt an improvement on the very first bottle. It put an edge on my appetite and I began to mend in every way. I am now on my third bottle and do not suffer from any of my old ailments. I have gained nine pounds and feel like a new man. Tanlac is certainly there with the goods."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Stockholders Number Over 650 Making

Project—230 Subscribers Secured
On Friday, Each Team Reporting
That Day Average Of Over $3,000.

A real, oldtime jubilee followed the reports of the teams at last Friday evening's meeting of the new hotel stock underwriting organization. As report after report was made it was apparent that Salisbury's dream had at last been realized. With everyone of the twelve teams reporting an average of over $3,000 in new subscriptions for one day's work, the grand total for the campaign was swelled to $184,000.

Responding to the splendid leadership of Colonels Miles and Ruark in a way seldom seen in these parts the team workers established a high record in the number of new subscriptions secured by their respective divisions. Over 230 new subscribers were added on Friday and the grand total of hotel stockholders was raised to over 650.

Both colonels had offered new hats to the individual worker who brought in the largest number of subscriptions. Sam Feldman was the lucky man in Colonel Ruark's division, and Branch Phillips was the fortunate man in Colonel Miles' division. Those men produced twelve and sixteen subscriptions respectively.

Steps will be taken at once to call a meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of electing a permanent board of directors, and the appointment of committees to begin immediately the work of getting the new hotel under construction.

This community owes to the men who have given so unselfishly of their time to this great enterprise a debt of gratitude which it will find difficult to express. Particularly, should our appreciation be shown to President Fred P. Adkins, Colonels Ruark and Miles, and the Captains Benjamin min, Disharoon, Culver, Ralph Grier, Wm. H. Jackson, J. K. Gunby, Dale Adkins, S. P. Woodcock, Morris Mitchell, W. S. Sheppard, and W. M. Cooper.

The standing of the Divisions last Friday evening was as follows:

Team 1—Capt. Benjamin	$12,900
Team 2—Capt. Disharoon	13,700
Team 3—Capt. Culver	13,900

ODD FELLOWS PLAN SEVERAL ACTIVITIES

Social Night, Membership Contest And Big Street Fair Among Doings Of Days Soon To Come

According to the custom of Newton Lodge No. 56 I. O. O. F. every fifth Tuesday that occurs in a month is set aside as social night. Social night falls this month and plans are being perfected for a splendid time. The night will be dedicated to the Past Officers who will be the honored guests of the Lodge on this occasion.

One of the features of the evening will be the report of a committee that has been appointed to draft rules and methods of a contest. This contest will also start on the same evening. This is a little unusual for a lodge but enthusiasm in the event is running high and it is thought that there will be unusual interest in the contest. Prizes will be offered for winners.

Another event of interest that will take place in the near future will be the Street Fair that will be held on June 18 to 25 on East Main Street. From present prospects this will be a very enjoyable affair. The plans have not been entirely worked out for this event but many unique suggestions are under consideration. This will be rather an old fashioned picnic right in the heart of Salisbury to which the entire public is invited. One rather pleasing plan that will be very pronounced will be the absence of any kind of gambling device or wheel of chance, this of course eliminates all fakirs and hawkers that are attendant in like affairs. The Fair will be run solely for the benefit of Newton Lodge and all monies derived from it will stay right in Salisbury and be used here for charitable purposes.

FIRST EASTERN SHORE RAILROAD MORE LEGENDARY THAN REALITY

No Tracks Were Laid Although Some Grading Was Done, Evidence Of Which May Be Seen Now Near Mardela, Hebron And Allen—Some Unique Stunts Recorded.

By "NELEH"

The railroads of eighty years ago, as we look back upon them from our problematic situation of today, present an enviable serenity of control and management which subjugates the fact of their lesser usefulness. Without governmental interference, union labor struggles and the serious rivalry of motor travel what did the railway magnates of that period find to grumble about?

The first railroad of the Eastern Shore is more legendary than actuality. It was begun with high hopes and heavy dreams and what is more important, perhaps, a million dollar appropriation from the State. Unfortunately the legislature saw fit at the same time to grant six other more costly railroads charters. This act of June 3, 1835, was afterward known as "The Eight Million Bill". It did much to promote the panic of 1837 for Maryland unequal to such a financial drain was soon on the verge of bankruptcy. The plan of the Eastern Shore railroad, as it was called, was a line from Elkton to Crisfield, thru Somerset county, touching at Sharptown and Nanticoke. No tracks were laid but some grading in preparation for it, was done. Evidence of this may yet be seen on the State road passing by Hornstown Mills, near Mardela Springs also on the cross road to Hebron, and again at the creek embankment at Allen. The gratification of the citizens of Maryland, when the Eight Million Bill was passed, was manifest by public celebrations of all sorts, bells were rung, large dinners given, fireworks sent off, guns saluted and a general display of flags placed upon the buildings of the various towns. Six companies of transportation were to intersect the little state and connect it with the world. But ambition here had reached beyond common sense, practically and the block vulture of depression soon spread wings above them. The money shortage of 1837 forced the abandonment of many enterprises. Among them Eastern Shore railroad sank into the mire of an extravagant legislation.

The long lean years following did not warrant a revival of the peninsula railroad until about 1858 when Delaware had completed a track to her southern boundary. This territory later became Delmar but there was only an open field hemmed closely by woodland. It is said that E. E. Jackson, who was governor of Maryland in 1887, built the first house and store there. No doubt inspired by the accomplishment of this railroad in Delaware, the residents of Somerset and Worcester counties, (there was no Wicomico county until 1867), obtained a charter for a new Eastern Shore railroad to join the Delaware line and run southward—John Crisfield, of Princess Anne was the first president and his townsman, William T. Brittingham first treasurer. Operations for several years were immediately started and in 1860 the track was finished as far as Salisbury.

On July 4, 1860, to celebrate the opening of the road, an excursion, by rail, was arranged. For the price of twenty-five cents one had the privilege of riding from the shanty station at Salisbury to Williams switch a distance of some three miles or half way to Delmar. It was necessary to limit the distance to this particular point for there was no switch at Delmar and the arrival of an extra train would hold up the southbound train due during the afternoon. The prospect offered the excursionists was the treat of a first trip by locomotive and several hours upon the sand hills of Williams switch awaiting the southbound train which would convey them back to Salisbury. Hundreds of people took advantage of this opportunity the most of them consisting of men and boys they were accompanied to the tiny station by anxious mothers and fearful wives who stated plainly that no ride in such a creation of the devil was to openly court death. Some of the women actually cried when amid the cheers and shouts of the assembled crowd the little engine, whistling, blowing, iron wheels clanking noisily, smoke encircling the anxiously important engineer, moved slowly up the track. And I fancy it would be a safe wager that there were no complaints heard as to poor service, insufficient coaches and the many cutting criticisms so frequent among the traveling public of today.

The Civil War, in 1861, brought an abrupt halt to all work upon the line south of Salisbury so that for a period of some six or eight years the peninsula trade west of Pocomoke was brought here—Stage coaches from Snow Hill, Princess Anne and Pocomoke made regular trips to connect with the daily train north at 7 A. M. The arrival of these swaying coaches, driven by four or six horses, with horns blowing, whips cracking and bells jingling caused great excitement in the town. They usually came in at dusk and the passengers alighted at Byrd's Hotel to spend the night. This was a long rambling white house, with a two tiered porch across the front, which occupied the spot where the Court House now stands.

The second railway to come into existence upon the Eastern Shore was the Wicomico and Pocomoke, afterward bought and developed by the B. C. & A. This road was owned and controlled by local men. Hillary Pitts of Berlin was its first president and Francis Jenkins Henry of Berlin, treasurer. Among the directors were Humphrey Humphreys and Parnell Tondwin, of Salisbury, and D. Jones Taylor, of Berlin. This road ran from Salisbury to the Sinepuxent Bay with a ferry there to take the passengers across to Ocean City. The line was opened for service about 1869, for the first few years it paid good dividends, as it carried timber from the thickly wooded district thru which it ran. After exhausting the lumber within practical distance of the little stations the company went bankrupt and sold out.

Although built ten years after the Eastern Shore railroad the Wicomico and Pocomoke held probably the more unique place in appearance and official department. Employing but four men at the beginning, who assumed all the duties from superintendent to brakeman it was needless to say that not much dignity could be maintained. The engine was a small wood burning affair and there were but two cars, one freight and one passenger. The engineer, Sam McMullen, had difficulties of his own, for due to some defect of construction the train frequently jumped the track. Upon such occasions, the passengers, adjusting themselves after the jolt and jar of the accidental sand dive, climbed out and found entertainment by picking wild flowers, berries, searching for persimmons or whatever the season might offer. When the sharp thin whistle of the engine announced that "Sam" had induced his little iron steed to climb back upon its legal territory again, the travelers resumed their places in the coach and the journey proceeded.

Evidently the W. & P. had no record for fast travel as the following incident, staunchly vouched for as facts, seems to indicate. Nutter Wimbrow of Wango, owned a fleet footed mare, Queen, of which he was very proud. He happened to be at the Berlin station one day, when the little train came crawling in leaning out of the engine Sam McMullen lazily surveyed the usual gang of loafers about his eyes fell upon Wimbrow and he called hospitably.

"Jump aboard, Nutter, and go to Salisbury with us." "No thanks," Wimbrow answered, laughingly "you folks are two slow for me. I can drive Queen there and beat you to town at that."

"No you can't," Sam loyal to his locomotive protested.

"Bet you on it," came voices from the coach and instantly the wager was taken up by the majority of people on the train and at the station there followed a stirring interval of time when the small train puffed and chugged and consumed log after log in its endeavor to outstrip the nimble Queen.

pulling at the reins as she hurried westward thru the sandy roads, over creeks and into the pine woods and beyond them—and Queen's master was

JOHN W. DAVIS

Presidential dark horses must always be considered when the political pot starts to boil. Among publishers and farmers many leaders see in Dr. Albert Shaw, editor and publisher of "Review of Reviews," a strong independent Republican candidate. Dr. Shaw is internationally known, and aside from his dominant literary position he is a practical and successful farmer, owning and operating two big farms, one in New York and one in Virginia. In Democratic ranks, John W. Davis of West Virginia, former Ambassador to England, is looked upon with favor as a dark-horse candidate. Mr. Davis is now attorney for the Associated Press and N. Y. Times.

justified in his boast of her, for the black mare reached Salisbury some thirty or forty minutes ahead of the train.

Sam McMullen later acquired a co-worker, Charlie, who served as engineer upon the other train of which the road bragged. The superintendent found it rather intricate headwork to keep these trains moving in opposite directions without a collision of some sort occurring. One order sent to each of the engineer's reads:

"Charlie will meet Sam at Whaleyville. Who ever gets there first back back."

Much faith, the superintendent had in the ways of Providence and the judgment of Charlie and Sam.

This law determined that the electric light would put the oil lamp and tallow candle out of business. The same law determined the survival of the freight train in competition with the ox-cart; the survival of the passenger train in competition with the stage coach; of the gas engine in competition with the horse.

This law works always and everywhere, and cannot be suspended by statutes or court decisions.

In the struggle between Chiropractic and all other methods of getting the sick well this law of survival is working, for Chiropractic is building its success upon the failure of other methods.

By the force of the results obtained upon the sick, Chiropractic has changed the laws on the statute books of twenty-one of the forty-eight States in the Union. Statutes passed by designing men who sought the destruction of Chiropractic are rendered null and void by the law of survival. You cannot suspend the laws of Nature.

In order to exterminate Chiropractic, all the other professions need to do is to get the sick people well. As long as other methods fail and Chiropractic succeeds there is little use of passing statutes and getting legal decisions against it.

Chiropractic is the most efficient method of getting the sick people well. It succeeds after other methods fail. Its life is assured. Employ none but a competent chiropractor.

TODAY we don't wait on the porch for breezes to seek us out. Instead, the whole family sets out to take all the fresh air it needs. We make our own breezes. One invention has brought this wholesome change into the life of town and country—the internal combustion engine, driven by gasoline.

FOR FIRE ENGINE

Great preparations are being made at Millington, for the coming Carnival, the proceeds of which are to be used for the purchase of new fire equipment for the town. In addition to the carnival, the committee are making arrangements to chance off a Chevrolet Sedan, hoping to thereby raise sufficient funds to purchase the entire fire-fighting machinery now contemplated. On the Fourth of July there is to be quite a celebration to boost the movement. Fire-fighting apparatus from Middletown, Smyrna, Dover, Easton, Chestertown and Centerville will be invited to join in the parade. It is also hoped to interest other county towns in the movement, and stage a country-wide celebration such as has never before been attempted in this section.

NEGRO HAD 51 CHILDREN

Decendants of Isaac Nathan, of Middletown, Del., who claim that their forbearer, a slave, in his married life with three wives was the father of 51 children, dispute claims in the West by other families purporting to hold the record.

Nathan, who was born a slave to John Cochran, Sr., of Middletown, when he died in 1860, aged 70 years, had the whole family with the exception of two wives alive. Here is the record:—

Fourteen children by his first wife, 4 boys and 10 girls, twins twice; 14 children by his second wife, all girls, twins twice, 23 children by his third wife, 6 boys and 17 girls, twins 5 times.

Ford ANNOUNCEMENT

of Interest to
MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

U. OF M. PREPARING FOR FARMERS' DAY

BALL GAME WITH HOPKINS

Those who attend the Farmers' Day exercises of the University of Maryland at College Park on May 26th will have to have nimble feet and unusual vision if they are to take in all that is scheduled for that day.

M. J. Patterson, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, and chairman of the Farmers' Day Committee, has completed the program for the day and it calls for something interesting from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

Every department of the University will have a part in entertaining the visitors, who will be given a view of the many practical things that the institution is doing to further the development of the State.

Governor Ritchie will make the principal address, which is scheduled for 3 o'clock, and a little later in the afternoon will be present at the laying of the corner stone of the new armory and gymnasium, which is to be dedicated in honor of him.

One of the features of the day will be a baseball game between Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland.

The complete program is as follows:

8:30 A. M. to 2 P. M.—Exhibition and demonstration in all departments.
 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.—Demonstration in forestry in State Forestry tract.
 9 A. M. to 12 M.—Exhibition and drill by Military Department.
 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.—Demonstration by Boys' Clubs at outdoor auditorium.
 10 A. M. to 12 M.—Moving pictures in auditorium.
 11 A. M. to 1:30 P. M.—Luncheon (free to all visitors).
 1:30 P. M.—Farmers' Day exercises. Music by University musical organizations. Address by Governor Ritchie. Awarding of Farmers' certificates of merit. Exhibition and demonstration by Home Demonstration and Home Economics Department. "Training for Home Making."

3 P. M.—Laying of corner stone of new armory and gymnasium.
 4 P. M.—Baseball game—Maryland vs. Johns Hopkins.

In addition to showing the work of the departments of each school and college in a general way, any visitors who may wish more detailed information than that given by this method will be turned over to some one in the department in which he is particularly interested and furnished all the data desired.

In fact, it is planned to care for every visitor as completely as possible. There will be located at each point where visitors arrive guides and information booths.

The reception committee will be made up of the members of the faculty, assisted by the wives. The guides will be selected students who will be trained for their work. One will be allotted to each ten or fifteen persons, the groups being formed by the reception committee.

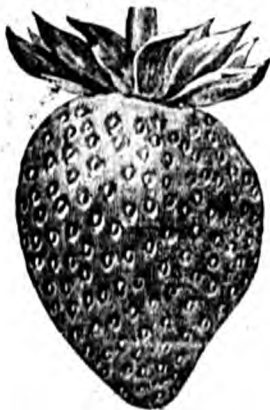

In this way outstanding features of the University life may be depicted. The visitors will be shown the manner of conducting classes, laboratory practice and investigations; the Experiment Station staff will display their facilities for work and the Extension Service will show some phases of demonstration which it is pushing in the State this year.

AN OMISSION!

We regret that two names of graduates were inadvertently omitted from the list of Wicomico county graduates in our issue of last week. They were: Miss Eva Irene Topfer, Wicomico High School and Miss Mary Elizabeth Elliott, Delmar High School. We had the name of Miss Elliott but since have found out that the Delmar school is to graduate two young ladies with the same identical name.

Wright; second, Raymond Hopkins; 60 yard dash, First, Franklin Wright; second, Irvin Catlin; standing broad jump, first, Paul Wilson; second, Richard Taylor; running broad jump, first, Franklin Wright; second, Herman Bennett.

REEDVILLE

Beautiful Children's Day services were held at Bethany Sunday morning in church was filled with an interesting audience with the gallery thrown open to seat the overflow from below. Floral decorations were everywhere and elaborate; and a very interesting and rather unusual program which embraced every department of the Sunday School work was presented and enjoyed by the congregation. In emphasis of the importance of Sunday School work, and its beneficial influence upon life in every stage, persons of all ages from babes in arms to men and women of riper ages, passed in succession before one's vision while their classmates in the audience sang appropriate verses. Misses Elizabeth Muir and Eva Morrison, occupied the stage as mentors. Miss Janie Marsh was at the piano.

Fishermen here think the "catch" about over. It has seemed an unusual short and very stormy season. Very few fish have been caught and the prices have not been high. The packers' houses will close this week. The scale men have suspended operations and are leaving for other pearly shores. No part of the fish is lost it seems. Load after load of the refuse matter from the laboratories here has been bought and hauled away by the farmers who say it is a fine fertilizer. Mr. Glennon Davis, of this place has a new Chevrolet.

The big Naturalization being planned for this town, by the Ku Klux Klans of the Peninsula, on Wednesday, May 30th, at 8 o'clock P. M., promises to be the biggest event in the history of the Klans on the Peninsula. It is expected that more than one thousand Klansmen it white robes will be present and the managers are expecting at least three hundred candidates to be received into the Klan on that evening. A fifty foot fiery cross will blaze forth from a high hilltop overlooking the town. Ten acres of land has been secured to provide standing room and an altar will be erected and the whole demonstration given by the Klans will be in full view. Before the exercises a great street parade will take place headed by a band and pass through the principal streets of the town. If the weather conditions are favorable thousands of people will be present. The baseball ground and the adjacent fields will be available for the whole affair. This is on the State road leading into the town from the southwest and the hilltop just west of the ground will afford ample room for the public demonstration of the Klans and which affair is so arranged as to give every one a chance to observe the whole affair. This is one affair that people will attend without invitation, though many will no doubt be invited. Letters are coming in every day stating that "You may look for us on the 30th" and every Klan on the Shore will be represented and the town is being complimented on having secured the great privilege of entertaining such new, mystical organization as the Klan and being rather centrally located it gives all a chance to come. While those coming from far away Klans will have to leave home in the afternoon arrangements will be made to feed them, though this will be done by others than the Klansmen.

ALL AROUND SHO' WHEEL FINISHING TOUCHES ARE BEING PUT ON TEAMS

"Crabbers" See Banner Season From Showing In Baltimore—Parksley Club Has Few Veterans—Dover Fans Enthusiased Over New Park—Season Opens Friday Week.

About one-third of the old men reported to the Parksley team Monday. Fisher, of last year's team is at the initial sack. He was one of the league's best first basemen and his consistent work for Parksley, both in fielding and batting, assures him his job at this station.

Klinghoffer, the league's star pitcher; Hewell, the flashy shortstop and Thompson, who held down the hot corner are all back. Goetz, who was one of Parksley's best hitters will be back also, but not until later in the season, as illness in the family prevents his reporting early.

One of Parksley's new faces is that of Winifred Hess, of Millville, N. J. He will do the receiving. He caught 100 games for his team last year.

Another prospect who looks good is Shirlough Grimes, of Wisconsin, who has been practicing with the high school team. He is a brother of Burleigh Grimes, of the Brooklyn Dodgers and is a right-handed pitcher and fielder. He is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches tall, weighs over 200 pounds and like Hess, batted better than 300 last year.

Parksley has been fortunate in securing two good pitchers in Vogelman and Dwyer, of the Shanahan Athletic Club, of Philadelphia. This club has one of the best twilight ball teams in Philadelphia, and these two pitchers put across most of the victories for their team last season.

With Klinghoffer, Vogelman, Dwyer, Grimes and Haggerty, who has just sent in his contract, Parksley will have one of the most formidable pitching staffs in the league.

Of the old players, Klinedinst, Clayton, Albert and Janowski were given unconditional releases. Whalen and Godfrey, being free agents, reaching other clubs. Whalen to pilot Laurel and Godfrey to twirl for Rocky Mount of the Virginia League. Steinfeldt, was sold to Crisfield, the first deal of the kind to be pulled off in the league and his place will be taken by Hickman, a substitute catcher and left fielder.

Crisfield fans are greatly enthused over the outlook for this year, because of the encouraging reports reaching there from Baltimore where the team has been training under Manager Smith.

Perhaps not in the baseball history of the Shore towns has such interest been manifested as is shown this year and it is thought that this will also mean an increased attendance in all the league towns.

Harry C. Lewis, secretary of the club, returned from Baltimore last week, where he saw the team in action and expressed himself as being much gratified at the showing the Crisfield club is making under Manager Smith. Lewis said, as he is generally known, said he was particularly pleased with the outfield, but considers the infield good and the team as a whole well balanced. Much is expected from Pitchers Hanna and Perry, and with Frank Hummer, who already has shown his ability on the mound, the pitching staff is looked upon as being exceedingly strong. Pitcher Perry, who comes from North Carolina, reached Crisfield a week ahead of his schedule and will remain here until the club reports on May 17. He is 6 feet 3 inches tall.

Director J. Millard Tawes is in charge of the ball park and grounds and reports that he has had men working on the grounds all week and expects the diamond to be one of the best in the Shore League. He also stated that the officials are considering increasing the capacity of the grandstand by an addition which will seat from 400 to 500 persons. Another improvement will be the erection of a clubhouse for the players, equipped with shower baths, washstands and dressing quarters.

The official league schedule starts the Crabbers off with Salisbury and on Salisbury grounds. The possible lineup as given by a local official for that game is as follows: Tagg, catcher; Hummer or Haggerty, pitcher; Ochsler, second base; Dittmar, shortstop; Hughes, third base; Pedone, right field; Gainer, center field and Steinfeldt, left field. Manager Smith, who is a playing manager will probably be on the bench.

Three other pitchers who have signed with Crisfield are Hess, Perry and Canstano, giving the locals five moundsmen, four of whom are right-hand tossers.

Dover, in past years has had its local team and has had temporary parks in different parts of the town, but never in the history of Dover has it had what it has today—a ball park of nearly four acres, a grandstand with a seating capacity of nearly 1,000 and bleachers accommodating between 700 and 800 people. Dover's citizens of all classes have joined in contributions which made possible the hope of years and now, with all in readiness, from the youngest to the oldest, the opening day, May 25, is being looked forward to with a pleasure equal to that experienced by the small boy in anticipation of the arrival of the "big circus day."

In past years, with teams which have made excellent records, there has been more or less friction among those having the team in charge as to its management and this perhaps, more than anything else, has deterred to a great extent, the formation of a permanent baseball organization at the State capital.

Many of Dover's foremost citizens, at a meeting called by some of the more enthusiastic fans several weeks ago, made it plain that substantial contributions were ready for a permanent baseball park and equipment if the citizens in general would lend their support, even if in but a modest way. With the end in view to start such a move in which all could take part, a subscription list was started, headed by several $1,000 subscriptions. Before the most skeptical as to the final outcome could draw their breath, enough had been subscribed to purchase the lot and start the erection of the grandstand, which is now fully completed and ready for the opening game here with Milford.

Under the grandstand are located the dressing rooms for the players, while at each end of the stand are the dug-outs of the players.

In the selection of E. A. (Jiggs) Donahue, of Arlington, Mass., as manager of the local team the Dover fans feel that they have secured the right man for the right place. He has played practically every kind of baseball, from Class D to the big league. He played four years at Washington and Lee University and captained the team for two years as well as coaching for three years after graduation. He was with the Boston Braves in 1914, 1915 and 1916.

Manager Donahue has announced some of his players who will be tried out here this week. They include the following: Pitchers Edward Henry, of Scranton and Austin Green, of Boston; Charlie Siegle, pitcher and outfielder and Edward Freisen, both from Baltimore; Russell Stanton, of Camden, N. J.; Mike Scanlon, of Pennsylvania, and Willey, who played last year with Dover.

Among other players signed are Andrew Brancey, of Philadelphia, first base; Clarke, of Rhode Island, and Hardisty, of Dover, second base, and Joseph Laughlin, of Philadelphia, third base.

The other teams are also putting on finishing touches for the start of the season, May 25th.

CAPE CHARLES NO MATCH FOR WHITE CLOUDS

Team Which Threw Scare Into Newark "Bears" Falls Victim To "Lefty" Hearn's Slants, 16-0 Locals Annex Sixteen Bingles And Delight Fans.

The Cape Charles (Va.) team, of the Pennsylvania Railroad League, was snowed under by an avalanche of blugging started by Manager Burton Shipley's White Clouds, in an exhibition game at Gordy Park last Saturday afternoon. The final score stood 16 to 0.

While his teammates were garnering base hits with apparent ease, Lefty Hearn, last year's sensational hurler, was performing a feat that promises great things from the southpaw this season.

The diminutive twirler displayed excellent control and his wide slants held the railroaders to one hit in the seven innings he toed the mound. Hearn retired 11 of the visitors by the strike-out route. From the slugfest, he also secured three hits, one for an extra base, in four trips at the plate. Roche, his successor, allowed two hits in the final two sessions.

BOY WORKERS OF THE WORLD IN MEETING

900 Representing Half Hundred Nations Now in Session At Pörschach Am See, Austria—Second Meeting Of Kind To Be Held In Interest Of Boys.

Nine hundred representatives of nearly 50 countries, with a full quota of delegates from America, will meet from May 30 to June 10 to discuss the place of boyhood in the nations of the world and the relation thereto of the Y.M.C.A. This "Second World's Conference of Y.M.C.A. Workers With Boys" will be held at Pörschach am See, Austria. The first was held at Oxford, England, just before the outbreak of the Great War.

Evidence of the rapidly expanding interest in dealing with problems of boyhood is offered, conference leaders point out, by the fact that the 900 registrants exceed by 50% the number originally planned for. A special auditorium is being erected for the meetings.

E. M. Robinson, long a leader in Association work for boys in many countries, is supervising arrangements for the conference from the headquarters of the World's Committee of the Y.M.C.A. in Geneva, Switzerland.

A majority of the American delegation of 100 will leave New York May 15 on board the S. S. Pittsburgh of the White Star Line, under the leadership of Arthur N. Cotton, senior secretary of the Boys' Work Division of the International Committee, Y.M.C.A.

Besides a number of employed officers engaged in Y.M.C.A. work for boys, the group will include business and professional men who have associated themselves with the organization in this department of service.

Among them will be Lewis A. Cross, manufacturer of Boston, who is a member of the International Committee; Dr. Max J. Exner, Director of the Department of Educational Measures of the American Social Hygiene Association; Cameron Beck, personnel director of the New York Stock Exchange; Frank Moran, founder of the Moran School for Boys on Puget Sound.

For many months five commissions have been at work preparing findings and recommendations to present to the conference. Dr. John Brown, Senior Secretary of the Physical Department of the International Committee, is chairman of a commission which has been making a study of the physical conditions of boys throughout the world. The other commissions, dealing with the legal, religious, vocational and domestic, civic and national phases of the general subject, are headed respectively by Wallace Sawyer, chairman of the National Committee, Y.M.C.A. of South Africa; Rev. Gunner Engberg, chairman of the National Y.M.C.A. Boys' Committee, Denmark; T. Thomas, chairman of the National Committee, Y.M.C.A. of Australia; and T. Z. Koo, National Committee, Y.M.C.A. of China.

"The most remarkable generation of boys that this world has ever known is the one coming forward before our eyes in these momentous years," says Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee. "Great issues await these boys. Great responsibility will come on this particular generation. This generation is going to be subject to very special dangers. I find no limit to the possibilities of this oncoming generation of boys when I think of the time in which we live. It is the time of times. If we see and seize our opportunity, we can do more in the years right before us than in all the history that lies behind us. Let us greatly enlarge our plans. It is possible for us to lay plans to touch millions of boys where we are now touching hundreds of thousands. This field is absolutely wide open. It is comparatively unoccupied. It is exceedingly assessable. It is unprecedently responsive. May we see it with the eyes of Christ Himself and enter and cultivate it in His strength."

A feature of the conference will be an exhibit, the American contribution to which, prepared by George A. Goodridge, of New York, will present the picture story of the why and how of work for boys, with emphasis upon the four phases of Association work—spiritual, physical, social and mental.

Oriole Scout Picks Porter As Leader

Steinman Predicts Allen Lad Will Show Birds Way With Willow

—Other League Hitters As Well

Charlie Steinman, scout for Jack Dunn's Orioles, said:

"Put me on record as predicting that Dick Porter, the Bird's all-around man, will not only lead the champions in hitting this year, but will show the way to the rest of the International League."

That is a mighty big assignment handed Porter by Scout Steinman, but the ivory hunter for the Flock thinks the pride of the Eastern Shore will make good.

It was the same Steinman who back in the spring of 1911 ventured one day that Outfielder Eddie Murphy of the Orioles would show the way to the International League clubbers, and, although everyone gave Steiny the razz, Murphy lived up to Charley's predictions.

NANTICOKE IN TIE

Nanticoke High met Mardela High in a snappy game on the latter's grounds on Friday last. From beginning to the end it was a pitchers battle, with only four hits scored by each team. Nanticoke opened with F. Willing, playing in his first matched game in charge of the mound, showed splendid form with extraordinary breaks. R. Willing was called in at the fifth inning to save this extraordinary youngster for the hard games of the coming week. R. Willing in his usual form retired nine men via the strike out route in the remaining four innings, allowing but one hit. Truitt for Mardela promises to make good with his steady delivery and ample speed, retiring fourteen batters during the game and allowing but four hits to the visitors. Mezick for Nanticoke, and Bradley for Mardela, were the stellar swat kings with two hits each.

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women Who Rely upon
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework for a family of seven now. I will be glad to answer any woman who writes me in regard to my case."—Mrs. JOHN MYERS, 35 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine.

Many times they state in their letters their willingness to answer women who write them. It is an offer dictated by gratitude and a desire to help others.

TO OCCUPY NEW EDIFICE ON JUNE 3RD

Rev. R. L. Shipley Announces That To Be Date On Which Bethesda Congregation Will Assemble For First Time In Now Nearly Completed $150,000 Structure.

The new Bethesda Methodist Church will be officially opened to its congregation on June 3rd, according to an announcement made last week by the pastor, Rev. Richard L. Shipley. Salisbury will then have one of the finest church structures on the peninsula.

Carpenters are now rapidly completing the interior and the tile work was finished last week. Artists for the past two weeks have been employed at decorating the large windows. These are of English Cathedral glass in imitation of antique with diamond shaped pane. The superb picture windows have been installed in the front of the church, all of original design by P. L. Reaves, of Philadelphia, Pa. In composition and color they are of exceptional beauty and represent a real work of art.

Behind the pulpit a large pipe organ is being placed in position. The organ is divided into two sections with an echo organ in the lower gallery. It will have all stops necessary for a building of that size and equipped with harp and chimes. The design was made by one of the greatest organists in the country and the organ will be valued at $10,000; approximately four weeks is necessary for its installation.

Choir seats will be provided for thirty singers. Original designs for the tri-ent pulpit, communion table and altar rail have been made by the architect and have been executed. The Gothic motif prevails throughout this part of the work as in all other parts of the auditorium.

The Sunday School room in the northern extremity is in itself one of the largest auditoriums in the city.

The room is divided into 19 separate class rooms by means of curtains and folding doors, making possible the best educational work among the classes. The room is semi-circular in form and may easily be converted into a single auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000.

The basement under the entire building has been finished, permitting the use of 5,500 square feet of floor space, giving to the city the largest single room for special affairs. It is well lighted and equipped with a kitchen and every convenience for serving a large number of guests.

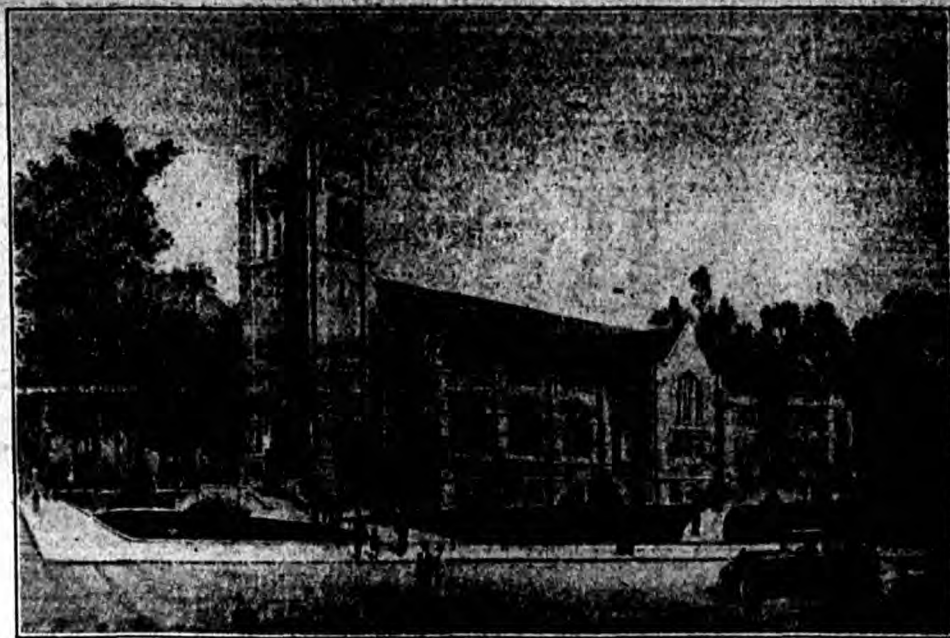

The building and grounds will mean an outlay of approximately $150,000 the structure alone costing from $130,000 to $135,000. Ground was broken on November 1, 1921, and the corner stone laid March 19, 1922. The edifice is constructed of Mount Airy granite and designed by George E. Savage, of Philadelphia.

MOTHER'S DAY AT FRUITLAND CHURCH

Mother's Day was observed in the Christian Church, Fruitland, Sunday evening. Special music was rendered by Professor Hopkins, of Salisbury, and his orchestra. Violin solos rendered by Wilbur Hastings and Wilson Rayne were appreciated. Also bass solo by Handel Hopkins. A duet by Mrs. Alice and Martha Betts was beautiful. Other numbers rendered were appropriate. Mrs. J. H. Bowen, sitting in a rocking chair on the platform singing "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight" touched many hearts. A short sermon by the Pastor on "Mother" followed by a solo by Mrs. Brownell concluded a very impressive service at which a large audience voiced their praises.

FIELD MEET DISPUTE

The county field meet at Parkley, Va., last Friday, resulted in a dispute as to who should be awarded the cup. The officials of the meet failed to call for a certified list of the ages of contestants and their weights at the beginning of the meet and at its close when it was found to be close between Chinestague and Accomac a dispute arose as to ages and weights of some of the contestants from several of the schools. The officials of the meet therefore refused to award the cup and called a meeting of the school principals to decide what should be done.

So they greased the bottom of the ship

SMART builders of smart ships, those hardy settlers along the Atlantic Coast just after the Revolution. Many a time their sharp-built barks and brigantines showed their heels to the Mediterranean blockade and carried American goods into Marseilles. And one ingenious device for getting a knot or two of extra speed was the greasing of the vessel's bottom. So while the friction of the water held back their pursuers, they slipped onward to safety.

Friction is always a drag against progress, especially in the case of motor cars and trucks. For years this company has been aiming at the conquest of friction by means of a lubricating oil scientifically designed. We have been successful. Ask for Polarine, the "Standard" oil for motor lubrication—not just "a quart of oil."

STATE LAWS PROTECT THE MD. WOMEN

Lawyer Says Old Line State Is Best For Fair Sex—Freeby, Montgomery County, Addresses Voter League On Subject Of Prosperity Rights

That women, so far as prosperity rights are concerned, are better off in Maryland than in any other State and that they'd better "stick to Maryland and the joys they have than try the sorrows that they know not of" is what Miss Harriet Freeby, a practicing lawyer of Montgomery county, and a very bright woman, told the members of the Maryland League of Women Voters, in session at the Southern Hotel recently.

Miss Freeby who has not allowed her pursuit of legal lore to overcome her attractiveness, or her sense of humor in regard to the oddities in the law as they affect her own sex, advised her fellow women voters that "if a woman wants to safeguard her property rights in this State she should marry a man with land, but don't," she added "do it in California."

Miss Freeby has made a study of property laws as affecting married members of the population in the Western and Southwestern States. They are "punk" (quotation ours not Miss Freeby's).

The reason is that when a woman marries a man with property in Maryland she is sure of her dower rights in his property—land as well as personal property. But under the so-called "community property laws" of California and other Western and also Southwestern States, she explained, the marriage starts out with no community property at all.

Husband and wife each have their own separate property and when "community property" does come into existence through the earnings of one or the other, the husband owns the community property.

He not only owns it, but he can will away one-half of it while the wife can't will away her half unless she survives the husband. But if the wife dies before the husband he gets it all without any more palaver.

And even where the poor old husband dies the wife, when she comes to claim her share of the "community property," may find that what she considers "community property" may be regarded by the court as not being "community property" at all, but the separate estate of the husband.

Miss Freeby also told her hearers that Maryland women were particularly fortunate in that they may form partnerships with their husbands very few States, comparatively speaking, allow wives that "privilege"—and that, so far as contracts are concerned, a married woman in Maryland has exactly the same right as an unmarried woman.

Miss Lavinia Engle, State manager of the League, urged the women to concentrate their efforts in the next Legislature on a few good measures, and that they should make it their business to know all about those measures by carrying on an intensive preliminary educational program in regard to them.

Mrs. William M. Maloy pleaded for "efficiency in government." Among other things she urged a "simplification of the ballot as a first step toward the promotion of more intelligent voting," and she made a strong defense of the "direct primary."

"The main trouble with the direct primary as we have it in Maryland," she asserted, "is the lack of interest which supposedly intelligent voters display when given the opportunity to do their own thinking and nominate their own candidates. And until the intelligent, but lazy or indifferent, citizen is aroused to a consciousness of civic duty and patriotism, the direct primary cannot be expected to function and cannot be the power for good that it should be."

Mrs. Maloy praised the merit system as carried out in this State, saying that Maryland in this regard had one of the best records of civil service of any state in the country.

The League held its annual "birthday banquet" at this meeting. Governor Ritchie, Mayor Broening and others were speakers.—Baltimore News.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

General business has not been adversely affected by recent declines in the stock market, jobbing as well as trade retail and manufacturing holding their own. Locally the stock situation shows some improvement but the bond market continues very quiet. Money is in good demand with interest rates as a rule six per cent. Much interest is manifested by Baltimore holders of railroad securities in the Interstate Commerce Commission plans to consolidate trunk line carriers. The building boom which is in full swing constitutes the most important feature of present activity. Operations are confined to no particular section but are general and it is estimated that real estate, mortgage loans in Baltimore are in excess of $100,000,000 at this time. So great in fact is the activity that contractors are bidding against each other for a limited supply of labor, this shortage applying to all branches of the building trade. Material prices are the highest in a long time, while wages approximate the peak of several years ago. Union carpenters are receiving ninety cents per hour and upwards, plumbers about eight dollars and fifty cents per day; bricklayers, one dollar and twenty-five cents per hour and plasterers twelve dollars per day for a minimum wage. Hard building brick is in great demand at twenty-two dollars per thousand the highest price since the war. Grains and flour are quiet while for hay and straw the demand is main

After 134 Years

The 134th anniversary of the inauguration of our first president was marked by a stirring scene as New York School children on April 30th trod the ground upon which Washington stood to make his inaugural address and take oath of office. The statue is located in New York, at Broad and Wall Streets, in front of the U. S. Sub-Treasury Building.

ly of a jobbing nature. Receipts of beef cattle are limited and there is demand for choice stock only at fair quotations. For spring lambs of desirable weight there is good demand at full quotations with more liberal receipts looked for as spring advances. For choice light wool there is fair demand and with a change to warmer weather increase receipts of new clip are looked for. Southern vegetables and North Carolina strawberries are in more liberal supply with demand good and prices fair. Butter and poultry are fairly firm.

CROPS—The growing season continues backward and warmer weather is needed but the germination of planted crops has been greatly benefited by recent rains. Wheat continues in fair to good condition while rye is progressing nicely and is heading in the southern and central counties. Over most of the section oats are coming up nicely sowing of this grain continuing in a few counties. Much plowing for corn was accomplished during the past week and general planting of this grain has begun except in a very few sections. Peas are doing well especially in the southern half of the section while early potatoes are progressing nicely all over the State. Fruit blossoms have dropped off generally although peach, pear, plums and cherry trees are blooming in western Maryland. Pastures have been greatly improved.

LIBRARIES IN SCHOOLS

In all parts of the country the library is receiving increasing recognition as an essential part of the equipment of the rural school. Three examples of progress may be mentioned here.

The Maine State Library is rendering good service by sending out traveling libraries to the rural schools, and also by encouraging the schools to have permanent libraries where ever possible. The traveling libraries each comprise 50 volumes and are sent to schools for six months use on the payment of $2.50. The books are selected for various grades of pupils and for professional reading by teachers. The demand for this service has greatly increased to late so that the 80th Legislature appropriated $20,000 for the work. The Chazy Central rural school in New York has a rural school library. There is a reading room equipped with professional books for the teachers, a reference collection for upper grade and high school use, current periodicals and a carefully selected elementary library. Slides, pictures and clippings are also at hand. Instruction is given in the use of books and libraries. In Virginia more than 1400 school libraries have been established within the past four and one-half years. These are $40 libraries; $15 by local communities and $10 by the State. Some other States report different ways in which rural schools can get small libraries. School boards and teachers should make plans now for getting books or library boxes for the coming school year.

My kidneys have been weak and disordered at times and the secretions passed frequently and were highly colored. My back ached and pained especially when I stooped. ## KLANS HAVE BEEN ORGANIZED IN MANY EASTERN SHO' TOWNS

Salisbury, Sharptown and Mardela in Wicomico Have Flourishing Bands Of The White-Robed Knights—Estimated About 9,000 On Shore.

The Ku Klux Klan have been instituted on the Eastern Shore with such rapid succession from one town to another that people are asking the question. What does it all mean? Just at this time the Klansmen are so enthusiastic that it is difficult to get a conservative estimate of the real merit of the organization. Those who are in favor of the organization have become members as a rule; those opposed to the Klan are enthusiastic in their opposition. With these apparent conditions the Klansmen are here and well entrenched in many communities.

To get a proper setting of the original Klan, organized just after the close of the Civil War, one has only to read the "Klansman" by Thomas Dixon. But neither the principles or purpose of that institution has any bearing upon the present Ku Klux Klan. The Klan of the sixties had a purpose; men were banded together to accomplish certain objects in view, to improve certain conditions, remedy specific evils then existing and to establish the rights and privileges, to preserve and protect the sanctity of the homes of a superior class of people who were backed by many generations of education and civilization. By the operations of the original Klan an inferior race was taught to honor, respect and protect its superiors and thus the momentum work of reconstruction in the devastated South went forward with such splendid results that in a few years the work of the Klan was no longer needed. The noble principles for which it contended and the high ideals set by the most brilliant men of that day and in that place were so well established and so productive of good results that the Klan was disbanded and its work became only a matter of history. This was in 1870 when the shadows of the darkest period of the country's history were fast fleeing away and the bright light of prosperity shining from the Gulf on the South to the lakes upon the north, from the turbulent waters of the Atlantic on the east to the placid waters of the Pacific on the west.

The people have a right to know just what it means to live in the midst of a class of men banded together by an oath and walking about in public places with their identity covered by robes and caps of white. But now we can "only see through a glass darkly"—"now we know in part." The future has its hope. The Klan is a new type of organization. It differs from the Masons, the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and from all other fraternal organizations in our communities. It is unlike these for it is declaring itself against certain conditions existing and it is working against our defective moral standards, proclaiming at the same time the advantages of high ideals of social and business life.

This is a new Ku Klux with a new purpose, having as its object not only one thing but many; it is far reaching in its declarations of principles, reaching out to remove a multitude of evils. A man talks much about it until he comes a member and then he keeps silent. However, well it may be established in other sections it is in its formative condition on the Shore, the first organization made on the Eastern Shore was at Cambridge, Dorchester County, in 1922. The Klan has had a wonderful growth and yet so far as we have been able to ascertain there is not yet much evidence of its constructive work, but nothing to condemn or to criticize. Its reformatory operations have not so far attracted much attention, only to attract new members.

One very commendable feature set forth in their growth is that the outer door is well guarded. To get in a man not only takes an obligation but subscribes to an oath. In this it differs from the usual fraternal societies from the fact that the oath to be taken is made public and while it covers the usual lodge obligations it goes further and covers many things not set forth in lodges and if possible more binding. It has a different field of work laid out in its declarations and the organization is greater in strength with such momentum that it now gives of a great and powerful body of men and if its teachings are strictly adhered to we see no occasion for alarm and so far but little to criticize. The Klans on the Shore so far have effected through the work and influence of two men. The first man to appear where a new Klan is in prospect is C. S. Colbourn, the Imperial Representative. He distributes the literature and procures from private sources information regarding the character of those who appear interested and subjects for prospective members. He prepares the way for the second man, Dr. J. H. Hawkins, the national lecturer. These men are from Atlanta, Ga., the birthplace of the new Klan. As a platform lecturer Dr. Hawkins ranks among the first. He was a regularly located physician and became so enthused in the work of the Klan that he began to tell its merits and the work it might accomplish, to his home people, but he soon developed such ability as a public speaker that he was employed as the national lecturer and gave up the practice of medicine and became a champion of the Klansmen's cause. He has been wonderfully successful as a lecturer and Mr. Colbourn equally so as an organizer.

These men have kept in close touch with every organization effected through their efforts and have at their command many incidents of practical benefit that the Klan has been to individuals and to communities. They use strong arguments drawn from reports and observations made in various sections of the country. These men claim that the Klan not only has much good work in prospect but that so far has a useful retrospect and they cite actual work of the organization to support their arguments. The organization seems, as we see it, to be both constructive and destructive, constructive in the line of good deeds and stimulating others to good wholesome living and destructive as regards evil and evil doers. We do not see an immediate prospect of a very rapid growth in membership, in this section, unless in the formation of other Klans in new communities, from the fact that the operations are so secret that there is no special attraction for members and the requirements are not so easily met in cost of admission, in cost of maintenance and in fitness of character. It is easy however, to be mistaken and the only true way to learn of its mission is to wait and see what it does. Deal gently with the young child and watch its growth and when the people get far removed from the incipient prejudices formed against it and when the enthusiasm has died away we can then calmly survey its field of usefulness and determine its merits, until then let us be cautious.

Klans have been organized at the following places on the Shore: Cambridge, Hurlock, East New Market, Easton, St. Michaels, Salisbury, Sharptown, Mardela Springs, Princess Anne, Snow Hill, Pocomoke City, Marion, Berlin, Ocean City, Crisfield and almost every town of any size on the Eastern Shore of Virginia as well as one on Tangier Island.

The total membership now on the Shore is about nine thousand, including among the number ministers, doctors, lawyers, judges, farmers, merchants, in fact men in all walks of life. All applicants have to stand the test of character and their admittance usually depends upon local influence, that is after the first company is sworn in and the local organization effected. Applications are sent in and if approved the applicant is notified, but if not approved the applicant receives no notice. His rejection is determined by his own opinion formed from the fact that he gets no notice of his approval. Then entrance money is used for local needs and purposes, after a certain percentage is sent to headquarters. For the benefit of the readers we have given the present status of the Ku Klux Klan on the Eastern Shore and these are the facts as gotten from sources entirely reliable and from which we have the authority to publish.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Buckport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches.—Advt."

WICOMICO LADY TELLS OF CALIFORNIA'S CHARMS

Mrs. Wright of Mardela Writes To Daughter, Mrs. Twilley At Sharptown, Telling Of San Diego

A few months ago, Mrs. Wilson Wright of Mardela Springs, went to see her two daughters, now living in San Diego, Cal., and who own their own homes in that beautiful city, wrote home to her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Twilley of Sharptown, and gave an interesting account of that place.

"San Diego is the birthplace of California and has a population of one hundred and ten thousand. The city is built upon the shores of a natural land locked harbor. It is perhaps the most important city in the southwest and the first port of all north of the Panama Canal. It is headquarters for the Pacific fleet and navy boys are there all the time. It is reported that there are to be twenty-five thousand service men here by July first.

"San Diego is built around the Balboa Park, the third largest city park in America, covering fourteen hundred acres of land. In 1915 the Panama and San Diego exposition was held in this park, and most of the principal structures are still standing, the architecture of which is Mission or Spanish Colonial. The entrance to the park is the most beautiful sight I ever saw. The largest outdoor pipe organ in the world is in the park and a free organ recital is given on it every day in the year.

"Mission Cliff Gardens is another beautiful place, though not so large. Flowers bloom there every day in the year. Just now more flowers are blooming than I ever expected to see and so many new and beautiful varieties never seen in the East. Here is to be seen a large bird house with different species of birds and pheasants from all over the world; also peacocks and ostrich, in fact there is a nearby ostrich farm.

"The weather since we arrived has been about as the weather in the East during the months of May and June, during the day, but the nights always cool enough to make a blanket feel comfortable. The normal annual rainfall in the city is about ten inches and ninety per cent of it falls from November 1st to May 1st. The average summer temperature is sixty-eight degrees and the average winter temperature sixty degrees with no violent changes or atmospheric disturbances, such as electric, rain or wind storms, making it the best climate in the United States and equal to any in the world.

"The business center of the City is very attractive as the buildings are modern and most of them new. There are quite a number of large business structures as well as department stores, banks, theatres, churches and other buildings which help to make a large city. One of the curiosities in the business center is a large street clock that tells the time of all nations. It stands twenty-one feet high and was made by a jeweler in San Diego. He was fifteen months completing the clock which cost three thousand dollars.

"There are quite a number of beach resorts and suburban towns that I have not yet visited, but expect to see them soon and when I write again I will tell you about them."

"ALL ROADS LEAD TO SALISBURY" FRIDAY FOR SHO' LEAGUE OPENING

Call For The Start Of 1923 Race.

WHITE CLOUDS TO MEET RIVAL CRISFIELD NINE

Manager Shipley Declares Charges In Fine Fettle As Messages Of Optimism Come From Crabber's Camp—
Mayor Kennerly To Toss Out Ball —Half Holiday Likely In City.

"All roads lead to Rome." Thus was the clarion call sounded in the days of Julius Caesar and his cohorts that drew the masses to the huge Coliseum to witness the bloody gladiatorial tilts staged there. They came from every quarter, a surging, eager mob of people, ready to acclaim the deeds of prowess of their favorites. We all know that history repeats itself and today we find a kindred example.

"All roads lead to Salisbury." On Friday, will the masses come to this city, not in chariots but in motor cars and on foot. 'Tis not the sport of kings that attracts them but the sport of America's national pastime, baseball. Crowds will flock to Gordy Park, there to jam into every nook and corner of the spacious grand stand and bleachers, to yell themselves hoarse cheering the modern knights of the diamond in their struggle for supremacy with the bluegeon and horseshide. Had Julius Caesar lived into this age, he would have watched with jealous eyes, the supplanting of his famous battles of the sword in favor of the games of the bat and ball. Uncle Sam has gone him better and the citizens of city and country are all agog with interest over the coming baseball race, which will be the second year under Organized Ball's regime.

Salisbury, still smarting under the sting of last Spring's setback, and the disastrous results of the summer months, is prepared for a more favorable exhibition this time. The White Clouds have engaged as leader of their warriors, a man who comes fresh from conquests in the Western Maryland fields and local followers of the sport are counting on a "Burr" Shipley to point the way to a capture of the much coveted gonfalon on Peninsula battlefields.

Shipley is a natural born leader and has already imbued his charges with a vim and dash that bids fair to land them well ahead of their opponents in the majority of the tie-up clashes on the diamond. He has welded together a combination of strong defensive strength and one that gives evidence of powerful punch on the offensive. Tolson, Layne, Lattin and Kunosh, Ganzhorn in reserve, constituted an inner works that is going to be hard to get balls past. In the outer gardens, Brown, Lane and Hornsberger are a trio of sure fielders and their ability to wield the willow effectively is not denied. Behind the plate, Tickey and Staylor perform very creditably and it is not going to be an easy matter to choose between them. However, the former's slugging capacities are very apt to give him the place.

It is in the pitching department that the White Clouds appear to advantage on paper. With last season's sensational southpaw, Lefty Hearn, and Heathwole, star twirler of the 1922 champion Martinsburg team, on the roster, Manager Shipley has very formidable nucleus around which to build his mound staff. In addition, Roche, Weisner, Bussey and Lewis are (Continued on Page 3.)

DELAWARE TO BUILD ROAD TO MARYLAND

Plans Are Announced For 6½ Mile Highway Between Laurel And Sharptown—May Build Soon

It looks like Sharptown will be connected with the Delaware State highway, according to a ruling by the Sussex County Highway Improvement Commission.

At a meeting of the commission it was agreed to build six and one-half miles of roadway from Laurel west toward Sharptown. It was also agreed to build six miles from Delmar west to Columbia, Sussex County.

Six and one-half miles direct from Laurel toward Sharptown will reach the Maryland line and one of the routes surveyed touches the Maryland line one mile from the Maryland State road, nearest point, at Ferry street or State Road and the main road entering Sharptown from the south.

There is no definite time set for the construction of the road, but those who are in a position to know say it will be built this year. Work already has started on the Sanford-Reliance State Highway, which will bring a concrete roadway up to the Maryland line at Reliance. This piece of road is approximately six miles long.

ENFORCING PARKING LAWS

City and State officers are enforcing the city ordinance prohibiting the parking of automobiles on the west side of Division St., between Circle Ave. and Church street. Traffic is so heavy on this main thoroughfare that the officials decided drastic steps were necessary to relieve the congestion.

NEW PRINCIPAL FOR BEACOMS COLLEGE

Fred Hiron Will Succeed H. L. Evans, Latter Having Been Promoted To Position In Wilmington School

Prof. Howard L. Evans, who for the past 2½ years has been principal of Beacom's Business College here having succeeded Carl M. Faynter in that position, has received a well deserved promotion and becomes head of the Book-keeping department in the Beacom College at Wilmington, Del., parent institution of the local school.

Mr. Evans left on Sunday and after a month's vacation will assume his new duties. Genuine regret was expressed at Prof. Evans' leaving as he has not only made an efficient principal but has cultivated many friendships in his stay here.

Mr. Evans' successor will be Mr. Fred Hiron of Florida. Mr. Hiron is a brother of Prof. J. W. Hiron, vice-president of the Beacom System and former principal and organizer of the local school. He is at present specializing in the Wilmington College and will take over charge of the work about the first of September. In the interim, Miss Helen Wilson will be at the head of the school.

DOLLAR DAY IN SALISBURY NEXT TUESDAY

Local Merchants Now Preparing Their Counters For Rush Of Bargain-Seekers.

ECONOMY IDEA PROMOTED BY THE NEWS WELCOMED

People In This Section Expect To Use
The Mighty Dollar To Advantage
In Purchasing Miscellaneous Articles—Merchants Anxious To Clear Out Various Stocks.

Sponsored by the News, Dollar Day bargains will be again introduced to the buying public of Salisbury and vicinity on next Tuesday, May 29th. The co-operation of the merchants of this city was secured for this event and practically all of the clothing houses on Main Street together with a home furnishing store will line their counters on that day with miscellaneous articles that can be bought for the price of "one dollar."

Crowds of stores predicate commercial activity and the purchasing activities of any populace prove an excellent criterion of the status of the day's business in a community. Most extraordinary bargains will be offered the buying public. One store is selling $5 and $6 dresses and raincoats on that day for the lone dollar. In every store will be found goods that are marked down exceedingly low for this event.

Dollar Day in Salisbury is no new event and people are said to be very favorable to its inception. For the bargain counters on that day are generally unusually attractive both to the eye and the pocketbook and many a good-looking piece of goods is bought by hilday for the mere sum of a single greenback.

This year with the economical conditions of this section rather poor, both men and women have not been prone to extensive buying. And yet, it is expected that when the morning of the 29th is ushered in, that crowds will gather at the respective stores, eager to take advantage of the extraordinary bargains offered. The following stores have announced that they will provide special dollar day sales for their customers: J. E. Shockley & Co., R. E. Powell & Co., Benjamins', Nock Bros., Kennerly & Mitchell's and Uman Sons.

DR. S. A. GRAHAM IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Invitation Is Extended By President Miles To Meet With Rotary At Early Date—Regular Meetings To Be Held On Thursdays At 12.30 O'clock.

Salisbury now has a Lions Club! After several weeks of diligent work on the part of Albert R. Mundorff, Field Director, Lions International, organization of the local club was effected at a luncheon held in the Peninsula Hotel on Monday at 12.30 P. M.

Dr. Samuel A. Graham, cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Bank, was selected as president of the club, together with the following other officers:

1st vice-president, Clarence W. Wheaton; 2nd vice-president, William P. Ward; 3rd vice-president, John K. Gunby; Treasurer, V. L. B. Williams; Secretary, W. Denwood Mitchell; Lion Tamer, S. Norris Pritchard; Tail Twister, James E. Humphreys; Directors—one year, J. James Scott, S. Franklin Woodcock; Directors—two years, J. Raymond Fields, Harry I. Oswalt.

Meetings of the Lions will take the form of a luncheon and will be held each Thursday, 12.30 o'clock, at a place to be decided upon at a later date. The charter night banquet and dance will take place early in September at which time District Governor Hughes, of the Wilmington Lions Club will be present.

The Lions Club is an organization of somewhat the same character as Rotary; its members being classified according to their profession and, in the towns where it operates, is not only a social body but is conducive of much constructive work among many lines. It is in no sense of the word in opposition to Rotary. This fact may best be emphasized by stating that at the meeting on Monday, Hooper S. Miles, president of the Salisbury Rotary Club, appeared and extended an invitation to the newly organized Lions Club to have a joint meeting with Rotary at an early date, which invitation was unanimously accepted, the date to be selected later.

Benefit Of Institution Will Be Held At That Time

The lawn fete on the Hospital grounds, Thursday and Friday evenings, June 14th and 15th to be staged by the Woman's Auxiliary is expected to be one of the largest and most enjoyed community affairs held here in recent years.

Details of the affair will be made known at a later date. Mrs. William Feldman is chairman of the committee on arrangements and she and her assistants are working to make the affair one to be long remembered. The entire proceeds will go to the Peninsula General Hospital.

Various attractions in the way of music and other forms of entertainment are being arranged, while a miniature golf course will be on the grounds for the devotees of this game. Gypsy tents, with sure enough fortune tellers, pony rides for children, fish ponds, fancy booths and many other things too numerous to mention. The Band will be on the grounds and supper will be served both days.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY CITY BAND TAG DAY

On Friday and Saturday, young ladies of Salisbury will sell tags for the Municipal Band Fund. The movement for a musical organization of this kind is rapidly gaining momentum and the Wicomico News is heartily back of the project. On these two days, people on the streets will be asked to buy a tag and give a small contribution for the Band. In its editorial columns today, The News gives just a few reasons why a Municipal Band should be started and supported. The idea has been put before the people of this community before, but failed to arouse the needed cooperation. This time, the promoters are very optimistic of success.

UNION MEETING AT TRINITY SUNDAY P. M.

Of City's Leading Industrial Plants—Freeman Joins Party For Remaining Two Days Tour Of Eastern Shore.

The Business Men's Association of Chestertown on a three day trip down the shore, arrived in Salisbury about 6 P. M., Monday evening and after being guests of the Wicomico Hotel Company at dinner and spending the night departed on Tuesday morning for Princess Anne, Pocomoke, Crisfield and other points.

They were traveling in one of the large buses of the Shore Transit Company which was chartered for the occasion. In the party were: Messrs. C. A. Goodwin, president; George R. Harrington, P. M. Brooke, Harry F. Jefferson, A. S. Turner, J. Runsey Anthony, S. J. Kreeger, William Willmer, R. H. Collins, Jr., Wallace Ross, M. E. Newcome, Lee Gill and Dr. M. A. Toulson. C. M. Freeman joined the party here for the rest of the junket.

The Chestertown outfit is a young, up-to-date and progressive organization which is accomplishing great things toward the upbuilding of the agricultural, commercial and industrial life of Kent County. In an interview with President Goodwin, that official said: "We have had a wonderful time in Salisbury. Our visits to the Smith & Williams shipyard, Jackson & Gutman Shirt factory and E. S. Adkins & Co., lumber mills, gave us an insight into your industrial life and tells the story why Salisbury is such a thriving and bustling little city." "Your community spirit is remarkable and just now in portrayed best in the putting across of the hotel enterprise so wholeheartedly." "Chestertown is a good little town. We have had a 300 percent growth in our association membership but imbued with the spirit present at the hotel meeting last evening, we expect to make it 500 percent when we get home."

300 IN ATTENDANCE MOOSE LADIES NIGHT

Affair Was Highly Pleading And Has Evoked Much Favorable Comment
From Those In Attendance

The Moose Ladies' Night, which was held in the basement of the new Bethesda Church edifice on Friday night was pronounced by many as the best affair of its character ever held in Salisbury.

Between 275 and 300 Loyal Moose and their ladies were in attendance. Following a splendid supper served by the ladies of the church, the entertainment program was put on which consisted of vaudeville, musical numbers and an address.

The Moose Quartette; Messrs. Smith, Fields, Perry and Dougherty were at their best as was the soloist of the evening Loyal Moose Claude C. Dorman, each being called upon to respond to accolades.

The vaudeville was of especially high class and its being secured reflects credit upon those having in charge the putting on of the program. Rev. T. W. Davis, of Philadelphia, speaker of the evening proved to be the right man in the right place. Combining his sense of humor with his ability as an orator, the Philadelphia lodge man in a short address, greatly pleased his hearers.

G. M. Fisher Announces Sale
Main Street Store To J. A.

STOCK CARRIED IS LARGEST ON SHORE

Former Owner Will Move To Roanoke, Virginia Where He Will Engage In A Similar Enterprise—Local Store
To Be Conducted Under Same Name
—Mr. Fisher Retains Building.

The change in ownership of one of Main Street's largest and oldest established retail businesses was announced on Tuesday when it was made public that G. M. Fisher had sold out his stock and the good will of his business to J. A. Kuhn, who will in the future conduct the same under the name of the G. M. Fisher Jewelry Company and along the same broad lines as his predecessor. For nearly three quarters of a century, the jewelry business has been in existence, having been started by the late A. W. W. Woodcock. When Mr. Fisher came to Salisbury in 1906 from Marlon, Va. where he formerly had a store of the same kind, he purchased for a nominal sum the business of Mr. Woodcock who then retired from active work being at an advanced age.

By courteous treatment of the trade and strict application to business, Mr. Fisher gradually built the concern up until, at the time of (Continued on Page 2.)

"Smoke Eaters" Still Are Saying "I Will"

Mr. Linwood Williams and Miss Beatrice Roth, of Oxford, were married at the home of the groom's uncle, Mr. Fred Williams at Shad Point on Monday evening, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. W. Hardesty, in the presence of friends and relatives.

About 25 members of the Salisbury Fire Department of which the bridegroom is a member were present at the ceremony. A celebration of the wedding will be staged by the department on the evening of Memorial Day which bids fair to linger long in the memory of the "Newlywed," who is Senior Guard in the "Smoke Eaters" and associated with the contracting firm of I. Barton Mumford.

Trees Have Passed Thru Cold Spring Without Damage, Says W. F. Allen.

HIS FIRM EXPECTING TO SHIP 150 CARLOADS

Barring Improbable Setbacks, Crop Will Be First Full One For Four Years—Peaches Will Be On Local Market In Five Weeks Now—Firm
Building New Packing Shed.

Orchardists in Wicomico County are looking forward this season to practically a full crop of both peaches and apples. Notwithstanding the fact that the spring season has been one of the coldest within the memory of the oldest inhabitants, the fruit trees have passed through the frost and frorees veritably unscathed. Although fruit of this character is never entirely out of danger from one source or another, it is now safe to say that the trees have passed the most trying period and barring terrific wind or hail storms should produce fruit in abundance. Another element to be contended with is brown rot. Precautions are being taken against this disease by spraying at the present time.

Through the kindness of W. F. Allen president of the W. F. Allen Co., Inc., whose firm has one of the largest commercial peach orchards in this section a representative of The News was shown over the 250 acres of fruit bearing trees this week and given an opportunity of observing and an insight into the vast business which this enterprising local concern is doing.

Mr. Allen is particularly optimistic over his prospects for the coming shipping season and from indications avers that it will probably be the largest ever experienced by his firm. The trees are in splendid shape with healthy foliage and heavily burdened with fruit. The outlook is for a pretty nearly full crop of peaches and summer apples with a good half crop of winter apples.

This firm has 20,000 peach and 5,000 apple trees in bearing and this is the first season for the past four in which the trees have looked good. In 1922, 17 cars of peaches were shipped and no apples in car-lots. Estimates this year place the shipments at from 100 to 150 cars.

To handle this record-breaking crop, the firm has bought and has stored 10 carloads of packages and is in the market for 7 more. Work on a second shipping shed, along the tracks of the N. Y. P. & N. will be started in a few days. A contract has been signed with the American Fruit Growers Inc., one of the largest sales agencies in the country for handling the products and this will, in all likelihood, be done thru the New York office. Peaches will be on the local market, says Mr. Allen, in about five weeks although the bulk of the carload movements will come in August. Apples will make their appearance about the same time. Mr. Allen has also enlarged his vineyards. Last year he was not able to supply the local demand for Concord and Niagara, which are the varieties which he grows.

The firm has just completed shipping strawberry plants. An idea as to the vastness of this phase of the concern's business which extends all over this country and to Cuba and other foreign shores can be gained when it is stated that over 10,000,000 plants were shipped out. The business shows this year an increase of 20% over last year. Hundreds of dollars worth of orders are being turned down weekly on account of the lateness of the season, as it is not safe to transplant after the first of May when the berries commence ripening on them.

BIG COLLEGIATE BALL AT ARMORY ON JUNE 27

Famous Myer Davis Music From Nation's Capitol To Play For This Brilliant Event

What promises to be the most brilliant social event of the year has been announced for June 27th. The occasion will be a huge June Ball styled after a Collegiate Hop with the famous Myer Davis Orchestra from Washington providing the music.

Myer Davis music is considered to be among the best in the country and enjoys a most enviable reputation in the society and hotel circles of the East. The orchestra that will come to Salisbury for the big Collegiate Ball has been playing during the past season for all of the diplomatic functions in the nation's Capitol.

The affair on June 27th will be a formal one and is expected to attract society from all over the Peninsula with over 350 couples eagerly awaiting it. The Armory for all of its decorativeness in most alluring style with a labyrinth of streamers and college banners and a surprise in lighting effects is promised. Handsome souvenir programs will be given out. A number of college men and young women returning home for their summer vacations will add much to the university atmosphere sponsored by this dance.

GRAND TOTAL SUBSCRIBED IS $204,300

$20,200 Additional Sales Reported At Enthusiastic Meeting Monday.

THE CORPORATION NOW HAS 724 STOCKHOLDERS

Neighboring County People As Well As Former Residents Of Wicomico Come Forward With Purchase Of Shares To Give Shoreside Modern Hotel.

Last Monday night's meeting at the Bethesda M. P. Church was the most enthusiastic yet held by the new hotel stock underwriting organization. One hundred men were present, including a delegation of thirteen business men from Chestertown, Md., who are making a three day tour of the cities located on the Peninsula.

As the reports of the Captains were made it was evident that the second largest day's subscription during the campaign would be reported. With Captain E. Dale Adkins' team leading with a report of $3,600, the teams rolled up a grand total of $20,200 subscribed by one hundred and twenty-seven people. With this report the Hotel Company can begin construction with a grand total subscribed of $204,300.

As a result of this campaign Salisbury now has a new corporation with seven hundred and twenty-four stockholders, most of whom are located within Wicomico county. This large list of owners will assure success to the new hotel from the beginning. The city now finds itself in the position where it can, with safety, invite capitalists and others interested in industrial development to visit us and feel assured that while here they will be housed in comfort equal to that found in any other city in the country.

To President Adkins and his splendid corps of assistants belongs the larger part of the credit for the fulfillment of this long cherished ambition of our city. The News, therefore, urges all citizens to express to these men at every opportunity their appreciation of their splendid work.

KINDERGARTEN NOW 50 YEARS OLD IN U. S.

Teaches Right Habits Of Thought And Action In Early Period Of Life

The kindergarten was introduced into America little more than fifty years ago. It is now a part of every progressive school system in the country. Educators recognize this training as the basis for future school life; many young women of the best ability and finest culture are enrolled in training schools throughout the country; local, state, national and international organizations have been formed whose sole purpose is the forwarding of the kindergarten movement, which has benefited countless children and has become an essential factor in the life of the nation.

The kindergarten does not meet the needs of the American children alone, but is found growing and flourishing in many other countries. A kindergarten teacher writes from India, "Little children are much the same the world over, and because the kindergarten is based on true principles and presents the best educational practice, I believe the time has come when little children of four and five years of age, all over the world, should have the benefit of this training."

The early years are the most impressionable period of the child's development. The kindergarten teaches right habits of thought and action before wrong habits have been formed. One great value of the kindergarten is to enable children to live their own child-life to the full, for only in this way can be laid the true foundation for all future life.

While the kindergarten is more informal in character than the ordinary schoolroom, yet it does not neglect to emphasize conduct based on law and order, with respect for the rights of others and obedience to just authority. Where the kindergarten has become part of the school system, the teachers in the elementary school build on the habits, attitudes and skills acquired in the kindergarten.

Big Jewelry Business Now In New Hands

his disposing of it, it is the largest on the Eastern Shore in point of stock carried. He will retain the ownership of the Fisher Building, which he bought in 1913 and in which the store is located. Mr. Kuhn, the new owner, has for three years been head of the watchmaking department of the establishment. He came to Salisbury from Gallipolis, Ohio, where he formerly conducted a jewelry business, selling same in 1917 to join the army. He is a hustling young man, thoroughly experienced and capable of handling his new acquisition, being a graduate of the Bradley School, Peoria, Ill., one of the largest technical watchmakers schools in the world.

In a short time, Mr. Fisher will move his family to Roanoke, Va. where he has purchased an established jewelry business in that place which is in the same section of Virginia from whence he came. His departure from Salisbury will remove from the ranks of the city's merchants one of its most substantial members. In his profession, his ability was recognized as shown by the fact that for seven years he was elected and efficiently served as Secretary of the Maryland-Delaware Retail Jewelers Association.

The Elusive Bass---Getting Them By Consistent Casting

By Edwin C. Totten

Experience and Observation in Teaching the Beginner to Cast—Proficiency Secured by Steady Practice and Accuracy Results in Success; Live Bait Unsportmanlike; Dropping the Plug; The Long Cast; Slow Retrieving of the Lure.

NOTE:—The following story is printed in these columns thru the kind permission of the author, Mr. Totten, a resident of Laurel, Del., and a former newspaper man, having been connected at times with several metropolitan dailies. He is a close student of game fishing and the story printed below won him first prize in a contest staged by one of the country's leading angling journals.

EDITOR.

In the day of a Thousand Bass Lures, readers of the out-of-doors magazine seldom find an issue that does not contain advice of one nature or another regarding the taking of the gamiest of all finny fresh water fighters.

This advice, as a rule, varies from minute description of the habits of bass during all seasons of the year to their particular fancy for certain color schemes under certain skies. In fact there are sincere bass fishermen who believe very seriously that they have doped out the complete system of taking the bronze and black backed warriors at any time or place and at their own desire.

There is no doubt but what the large majority who offer their views on bass fishing believe within themselves that they are extending to their less fortunate brothers in sport advice that means success. There is no question but what this same large majority have foundation for their claims, and with all due respect let it be said that they mean well. There is but one objection to the average advice offered and that is that the average bass man finds that it is so vague so limited and so complicated that it cannot be given a complete tryout. Another objection is the fact that ninety-nine times out of every one hundred it is useless to anyone but the man who offers it.

One of the most serious undertakings in winning new members to the fine fraternity of bass fishermen existing today, in my estimation, is to take the beginner in hand and after laying out certain rigid rules and regulations having to do with casting of artificial lures, to then try and impress him with the fact that certain baits under certain conditions are sure to bring him the results he seeks. It is because of this that many beginners look upon their older brothers in sport with distrustful eyes for they fail to appreciate the fact that the advice given comes from the man who has worked out his own success only after long, hard endeavor, and that the successful man incidentally forgets to lay stress on the fact that for the first few years he did not get his limit every time he went out.

I am satisfied that the beginner should be left very much alone. The holding out of attractive rewards no doubt causes the beginner to become enthusiastic, but his disappointment when the results fail to appear often dishearten him entirely. Every man going into the bass fishing game should be allowed a very free hand, aside from instruction along the lines of securing the very best tackle that he can procure. As to the method that he shall follow in casting, this must develop within himself. He should not have alluring incentives held up before his gaze until he reaches the point where he is proficient in casting, and by this I mean accurate under all conditions, he should not be led to believe that he will become successful.

Over several complete seasons I have idly watched the efforts of bass fishermen under various conditions. I have watched the beginner, the man who has advanced to the point where he has become a seeker of a seeker of bass and the man who has become proficient as to detail. I notice that seldom does the man who may be classed as the "expert" take it upon himself to advise or instruct the fellow who is wading through the mass of backlashes and tangles that makes the sport discouraging. The graduated bass man smiles quietly and puffs on his pipe. He says little or nothing, for he knows full well that only time and effort, tireless effort and a stout heart, will bring the reward. His advice would not be followed, although a carefully placed word or two may aid in a material manner.

To undertake to outline a plan whereby a novice might go out upon lake or river, and under normal conditions, bring in a satisfactory catch, would be impossible. I doubt if there is one man who can be rated as an expert who could outline to his brother in the same class, the method that would bring the other the result the advisor would achieve. It is a matter of personal ability, and seldom do we consider the advice of another worth following for any length of time. We are always ready and willing to drop back into our own system, when we have established a system that we know has proven worth while, no matter how excellent the system of the other fellow has proven.

Therefore, I am satisfied that much of the effort of the writer who advises the beginner is wasted. He will work his way through if he sticks long enough, and his working plan will surely vary from the next man in some vital manner. However, I am satisfied that there are certain honest replies to the often repeated question "Why in hell can't I get 'em," he does?" And it is along this line that I am going to add my name to the list of those who have given the best they had to aid and encourage the sport.

First, I wish to reiterate my statement of several months ago in The American Angler, that the use of live bait in any way, shape or manner, is unsportmanlike and inhumane. Despite the fact that I have received a string of letters from advocates of live bait denouncing me as an addle-pated fool, I rest quite comfortably in the knowledge that I have satisfied myself that the artificial lure surpasses from every point of view the natural foods that some men offer bass under the guise of being sportsmen. Therefore, this does not apply to the live bait man, and goes principally to the man who uses the plug, bug or fly.

I am satisfied that the most important, absolutely the most necessary, requirement in taking bass is accuracy in casting. By this I mean that the man who can place his bait, plug, bug or fly, in the little open space among the lily pads or lilies without having it strike the leaves and snag; the man who can skin down the side of the stump within six inches of its side without hooking into it; the man who can drop the lure under the overhanging honeysuckle vines without having to piddle in and release it from the snag, and the man who does not allow reasonable distance or crowded quarters to confuse his accuracy—is the man who gets 'em.

Not alone only do I maintain that it is accuracy that brings the results, but the consistent casting of the man behind the reel. Reasonably certain is the fact that every likely looking spot does not hold the game sought. It may be every fifth pool, hole or opening in the pads that hides the battler, and if we miss that certain spot we have missed the strike. To get 'em, the casting must be consistent. The good ground that is missed by the foolish changing of baits, taking out backlashes, careless casts and for scores of other reasons, is undoubtedly the ground where the bass are waiting the bait, but remain unmolested.

Still, it does not all lie in accurate and consistent casting to bring home the meat that goes so well with the bacon. There is an art in placing your bait, but a still greater art in placing it properly. This applies especially to the plug for while we may be able to drop our plug with very nice precision, and close to the spot we desire, there is a manner of dropping the plug that goes for much. A slight taking up of the line while the plug is in midair and about over the spot chosen, means that it can be dropped to the surface without the splash that might accompany the hurling of a rock into the water. This is a feature that can best be worked out by the plug thrower, but it is an important feature. Dropping the plug lightly can be accomplished by practice, and that it adds materially to success, I am confident.

Then we have the question of long or short casts. Some of our best known bass men advise the short and often repeat cast. This argument is logical as far as covering ground thoroughly is concerned, but I believe that the long cast insures greater reward and this I say for the reason that I believe there is much less danger of the prey being frightened by the boat or motion of the canter where the distance is greater. There is less likelihood of noise in the boat being transmitted as shock through the water at a distance, and considerably less danger of surface disturbance causing the bass to seek hiding.

Retrieving the lure is surely essential to success. Many are the bass fishermen who advocate rapid and immediate return of the lure. They offer the explanation that on striking the water, the object should at once be put in motion so that the bass will not have time to view it and become suspicious. This, no doubt, is plausible and with foundation, but if you ever notice the falling of a large bug into a stream you will probably be surprised to find that its contact with the face of the water causes a momentary lack of movement. Always there is the smallest pause before the bug begins its scurry toward the safety it seeks. Have tried, long and diligently, both methods, and am satisfied that retrieving must not always be immediate with the bait reaching the water, in fact often I have allowed several moments to pass before putting it in motion, and numerous times the motionless bait has been viciously struck. Retrieving should be slow. There are many bass lost because the bait is dragged too hurriedly back to the boat. The majority of us have lit-witnessed the attempts of the bass to strike a fast-moving bait and miss it clear. Sometimes they repeat and miss again. The slowly retrieved bait gives much greater opportunity to hook your prize.

There is little more that I care to offer as general suggestions, aside from mentioning the fact that casting well ahead of the boat in narrow streams; striking your game sufficient ly hard to set your hooks securely, and not putting sufficient strain on the hooked fish to rip the lure from his jaws. Summing it up, I am satisfied that accurate, consistent casting, fairly long casts, dropping the bait as lightly as possible, and slow retrieving are the main requirements to make your trip resultful. As to your baits, your ideas of a fair day's catch, the limit that you consider fair in size, the manner of playing your fish, and the style of cussing you fancy best—I leave it with the individual.

"All Roads Lead To Salisbury" Friday For Opening Game

performing to the liking of their leader. With a strong infield to back him up in good style, Roche is expected to turn in a large number of games on the right side of the ledger.

The game Friday will start at 3.30 o'clock. President Hawley of the league is sending Umpire Edward F. Riley to act as maitre de affaires. There will be a flag raising ceremony and Mayor Kennerly will toss out the first ball. Local business houses thru The News have been requested by the Mayor and Council to close their doors at 3.00 o'clock in the afternoon to allow their employees a chance to witness the opening game of the season.

President Harry Runk of the local club is anticipating a monster crowd and the afternoon promises to be a gala one. Both teams are on edge for the fray and are anxious to spill the first blood. The Crisfield nine, under the tutelage of Gus Smith, has been practicing for some time in Baltimore and should be in fine trim. Manager Shipley has the greatest respect for the powers of the Crabbers to win ball games and he has instilled in his men a "do or die" determination, that same spirit that has characterized his successes in Maryland's collegiate circles.

Dyed in the wool fans are very optimistic over the chances of the White Clouds to emerge from this contest victorious, and on every side is heard nothing but praise for the boys who are this season sporting the colors of Salisbury. One thing is certain, and that is, a repetition of last years opening fiasco is not expected. After playing here Friday, the two teams meet the following day at Crisfield. Other opening games are: Laurel at Cambridge, Parkley at Pocomoke, Milford at Dover.

although for the past several months has been in ill health, is improving and his friends are hopeful for a complete recovery.

Representatives of the Peninsula Park Association were before the meeting in regard to obtaining the aid of the city in their proposed project. They were told to go ahead with their plans, which if successful, would be backed by the city in every way possible.

The Mayor and Council asked that THE NEWS through its columns convey a request to the merchants to close their places of business on Memorial Day, May 30th so that all might have an opportunity of doing homage to the nation's hero dead. A similar request has also been made by the local American Legion post and has met with hearty response. Assurances have been received from many of the Civic and fraternal orders that they will be represented in the parade which starts from the Armory at 10.45 A. M.

An ordinance providing for curbing and guttering with combined concrete curb gutter and the draining of Gay St., in the city of Salisbury between William St. and Walnut St. and assessing the costs thereof, passed the first reading.

An ordinance passed its first reading granting to the State of Maryland the public easement in the bed of W. Isabella St., from West Main street to the northwestern corporate limits of the city of Salisbury, to the full extent of the title thereof which is vested in the Mayor and Council of Salisbury, in so far as may be necessary for a public road, and to relinquish to the State of Maryland the jurisdiction and control over said thoroughfare to the extent provided in the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland under which the State Roads Commission is now constructing highways.

PLAY BALL!

Within forty-eight hours, this familiar cry will be heard on the baseball field and the regime of King Horsehide will be inaugurated for another summer session. In Salisbury it will be the second year of Organized Ball. Although beset with many difficulties the 1922 season conducted under the supervision of a national commission was a successful one. The six original clubs in the Eastern Shore League have since then ironed out all of the noticeable creases and two more cities have been added to the list.

Everything bids fair for a most favorable year of baseball on the Delmarva Peninsula. Capable leaders have been secured to guide the destinies of each of the eight teams and players of ability have been signed up for the summer months. The new head of the league, President Hawley of Crisfield, appears to be a very capable executive and should elicit the co-operation of the officials in every town holding a franchise.

He has given orders to his umpires that no rowdiness will be tolerated and that diamond discipline must be administered firmly but judiciously. Thus the interests of the baseball loving public will be protected and the fans assured of a good, clean exhibition of the national pastime. It is apparent to many devotees of the sport that the style and character of play on the Shore diamonds has progressed admirably since the inception of Organized Ball's dictates.

Salisbury possesses a fine modern park, acknowledged to be the best in the state outside of the International grounds in Baltimore. People in this vicinity should appreciate this fact. For here, they are given every opportunity to view the games amid the most desirable surroundings. This Spring the prospects for a winning team are 100 per cent brighter than they were last year. Under the capable tutelage of Manager Shipley, the White Clouds have passed through a most favorable training period. In every aspiring candidate for the nine there has been instilled a good amount of that old "do or die" spirit and the pep that has been injected into the daily practices has brought joy and optimism to the hearts of every loyal fan.

Salisbury is out to win the 1923 pennant race. There is no use denying or concealing that purpose. On paper, the White Clouds appear to have a distinct advantage over their competitors. It is up to the people to support the team in every way possible. President Ruark declares the Club's finances to be very low. When he makes his drive for financial assistance, there should be a united purpose. And when the White Clouds line up against the Crisfield Crabbers on Friday afternoon, every man, woman and youth should be seated at Gordy Park. For baseball is a great sport. And every red-blooded individual should admire the game and the sportsmanship involved. And let us have a lusty cheer for the home team, when the umpire calls out on Friday afternoon, "Play Ball!"

GRADUATION DAYS.

In thousands of schools and colleges all over the country, graduating classes are now preparing for the great event of Commencement Day. No other occasion in life, save possibly marriage, will seem of such tremendous import to these young people.

They are approaching a great landmark of life, a time of fresh beginnings. They are about to face untried issues. But young folks make these sharp breaks with ease. Most of them are delighted to try their inexperienced wings.

Getting ready for graduation, in the minds of some young women, means principally long sessions with the dressmaker, and a splendid display of fine feathers. The girl of the struggling home sometimes makes more show than the one from the abode of wealth. The former may feel that this is her one chance to show that she is as good as anybody. Her parents may sacrifice on the absolute necessities of life to give her this splendid send-off.

School authorities should try to persuade young people not to waste family resources in this manner. The necessity of providing costly graduating clothes and incidentals has deterred many parents from sending their children through schools. The principles of American Democracy would have every one of these young women appear in a simple and inexpensive gown, with special applause for all who make these frocks for themselves.

Young people preparing for graduation should have their hearts and minds on higher purposes than sports or dresses. They should be anxious to keep up their achievement in study until the last day of school. This June there will be a large graduating class at Wicomico High School. Many of the boys and girls are no doubt trembling on the sands of uncertainty and despair. They suffer so probably because the work during the semester has been neglected. However it is to be hoped that they measure up to the supreme test in the final examinations and earn the much-coveted sheepskin. And may all the preparations for the Commencement exercises point to one of the best ever held. Simplicity and sincerity should mark its very doors. Success and good fortune should attend those who emerge therefrom.

Memorial Day Thought

A MUNICIPAL BAND.

From time to time there has been brought to the attention of the public the need for a municipal band, directed by a competent leader, and supported jointly by the city administration and the business men of Salisbury.

Today the issue has been broached again and one must necessarily note the degree of intensity of the present movement. A public park is being urged, the site has been selected, and the stock is being sold. It seems to be the idea of the band enthusiasts to link up the band with the park.

On Friday and Saturday, it is understood, there will be a Tag Day held for the purpose of raising funds for the organization of a municipal band. The public should respond generously.

The advantages of such a musical organization are manifest; on sultry summer evenings, band concerts would draw visitors from many miles around, would give them a good view of our city which they might otherwise be inclined to forego, and would also provide a most enjoyable recreation for our townspeople.

Looking at the events carded for the next seven days we see the need for a band. Friday is opening day for the baseball league. In all the large cities this occasion is a gala one and the martial airs of the old composers are played with stirring notes in the various parks. In Salisbury such a thing is lacking. How much more it would add to the opening day exercises to have a band in the line of march and afterwards in a corner of the grandstand. And on Memorial Day the services of a municipal band could well be brought to the course of activities.

As a business proposition the band looms up large. It would attract people to the city, who would be given an opportunity to see its advantages as a trade center and to utilize same afterwards. Also the band would be called upon frequently to take part in affairs in nearby towns, thus advertising Salisbury. People in this community should quickly recognize these facts and should endeavor to bring about such an organization of harmony. Buy a tag.

LET THE FARMER WATCH HIS STEP.

The announcement of the Federal Farm Loan Board that $12,000,000 is now available for farm loans under the new agricultural credit law, and at interest which while high is heavenly compared with existing rates, will put heart into many a man who for years has been struggling under the burden of financial oppression; but it is hoped the tempting bait will not be swallowed to the point of saturation.

The new system will have the effect of reducing interest charges in some states from 10 per cent, to 7 per cent, or perhaps less. This sounds as cymbals heralding approach to the promised land, but it should not be forgotten that in many states interest on private loans in excess of six per cent is considered usury, and the lenders are punishable under the statutes. However, there appears to be one law for the commercial business man and another for the farmer.

The law has inferentially acknowledged that commercial money cannot thrive on a seven per cent interest date, and while the relief of the farmer will be appreciated, it will be found mighty hard scraping for the farmer to get adequate reward for his labor at this lowered rate. Danger lies in the likelihood that the farmer, so long used to extortion, will over-borrow at the new rate, and will be disposed to seek temporary ease in finance, not realizing that the mills of Wall Street, like the mills of the gods, grind slowly but they grind exceeding small and that the day of settlement is as certain as the day of judgment. The farmer may obtain money at 5 1/2 per cent when borrowing through a co-operative marketing association, but here again the overhead steps in and the additional charges foot up to a sum that still must make the tiller of the soil bend to the burden.

USE CAUTION, BUT NOT TIMIDITY.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, gives sound advice in summing up the manner in which we should hold onto prosperity. The most encouraging note in his remarks of course lies in the fact that so astute an economist should state without qualification that prosperity is with us, that it can be preserved, and that existing business conditions are not in any sense comparable with the wasteful boom conditions of 1920.

Secretary Hoover calls for caution, for confidence, for courage, and marks emphatically the difference between caution and timidity.

This is a warning that might well be taken to heart by every local merchant in the land. Caution means sound buying and courage demands a realization that goods can be marketed.

He points out that efficiency in production has increased from 10 to 15 per cent per capita since the period immediately preceding the year. Mathematically it means that America could supply each person the same amount of commodities consumed ten years ago and yet lay off 2,000,000 people from work. The answer is greater consumption which in turn means that the selling efficiency must be brought to measure to the standard of increased productivity. The live, courageous and progressive merchant has sound prosperity before him.

THE BALTIMORE SUN MAKES US BLUSH.

Below is an excerpt from the "Round About Maryland" column on the Baltimore Sun's editorial page, issue May 21st.

"A local company has been organized at Salisbury to carry out plans for a big recreation park there. It is capitalized at $20,000 and comes at a time when the movement for a fine new hotel there has been successfully launched and people are filled with enthusiasm for the future of the city. One of the finest institutions in Salisbury is the WICOMICO NEWS, out of which these items of Salisbury progress have been derived. It is surprising what the county press of the State has been doing in the past few years, and there is no more striking example of this kind of progress than the WICOMICO NEWS. It is sometimes compelled to issue in three sections, with a total of 22 pages—all of them brimming with fresh reading matter and sparkling ads. It is ably written and skillfully edited and presents in its style and make-up one of the finest examples of typography in the country."

PERSEVERANCE COUNTS MOST.

Wealth inherited is never valued like wealth earned. Victory is great as the battle is hard. There is no short road to real triumph. That which is gained easily is lost easily. "Easy comes, easy goes."

Over-confidence foreshadows neglect. Don't go to sleep at the switch. It isn't worth the risk.

The pick and spade persistently applied at a fixed place may penetrate a mountain.

By gnawing through a dyke even a rat may drown a nation. No soldier was ever decorated with shoulder straps for marking time.

Brand the word "forward" on your brain. Always obey it. Go ahead and keep going.

Don't worry about what the other fellow can do. He may be better than you, but you stick to your job. You may be the tortoise that wins the race. For—"He that shall endure unto the end the same shall be saved."

Uncle John's Poem

SHELTER.

I know you remember the childhood hour, when April called from her bluegrass dell,—I know you haven't forget the shower that gave no warnin' as it fell. And I'm sure you recall the childish glee that suddenly changed to keen regret when Daddy called out, to you an' me, "Come in—you children—out of the wet!"

And—we obeyed, as we knowed we must,—but we whimpered a lot, as children do,—we held no dread of the April gust, that pelted right down, from skies so blue. For children love the patterin' rain, that lays the dust, an' cools the sweat,—You have to remind 'em, time and again, afore they'll come in, out of the wet!

"Twas ever thus" of the human kind, when venturesome spirits dared the rain,—our appetites has allers been blind, till they fetched us down, on the bed of pain. So, I hark back to Daddy's command, which impressed me, so's I can't forget,—and I can't help callin' the heedless band,—"Come in—you children—out of the wet!"

SHARPTOWN TO

SHORE KLANS

CANDIDATES SAID TO NUMBER AROUND 300

Thousands Of People From All Over Peninsula Are Expected To Witness Largest Demonstration Ever Put On By Ku Klux In This Territory—Starts At 9 P. M.

The big naturalization being planned for Sharptown by the Ku Klux Klan of the Peninsula, on Wednesday, May 30th, at 9 o'clock P. M., promises to be the biggest event in the history of the Klans on the Peninsula. It is expected that more than one thousand Klansmen in white robes will be present and the managers are expecting thousands of people to be present. The base ball ground and the adjacent fields will be available for the whole affair. This is on the State road leading into the town from the southwest and the hill-top just west of the ground will afford ample room for the public demonstration of the Klans and the whole affair is so arranged as to give every one a chance to observe the whole thing.

This is one affair that people will attend without invitation, though many will no doubt be invited. Letters are coming in every day stating that "You may look for us on the 30th" and every Klan on the Shore will be represented and the town is being complimented on having secured the great privilege of entertaining such a new, mystical organization as the Klan and being centrally located it gives all a chance to go. Those coming from far away Klans will have to leave home in the afternoon and arrangements will be made to feed them.

SOY BEAN IS VALUABLE AS STATE CROP

University Experiment Station Discloses Big Increase in Acres Now Being Planted Almost Unlimited Food Qualities Discovered, As Well As Being Oil Potential.

Among the many crops which the diversified soil and climate of Maryland make it possible for the farmer to grow, there is one ranking as a foreigner of comparatively recent arrival that agronomists at the University of Maryland nevertheless agree in regarding as a "comer" of great promise.

This visitor that hails from the Orient and has made himself so much at home on Maryland soils is variously known as the soy-bean, the soya bean or the soja bean, depending entirely upon your preference for fancy or simplified spelling. Regardless of how it is spelled, the soy-bean has so far proved its worth that the acreage planted to it in the State during recent years has jumped by leaps and bounds.

It is a plant possessing almost unlimited possibilities, according to the dictum of the agronomists, and very few of its potentialities have been developed thus far in this country. Nevertheless, if we are to believe those who know the soy-bean intimately and have studied its record in its native habitat, it is entirely possible that the soy-bean in disguised form may yet be found adorning the shelf of the corner grocery alongside of our numerous other breakfast foods.

Roast soybeans have a delicious nutty flavor much resembling the rapidly disappearing roast chestnut, and even soybean cake, which is nothing more than the solid part of the raw bean after the oil has been extracted, is far from being unpalatable.

Soybean sauce is already a familiar and pleasing condiment to the connoisseur who frequents the restaurant or the hotel dining room, although he probably doesn't know it. Soybean sauce however, is the basic and important ingredient in our famed Worcestershire sauces.

Wrapped up in the soybean, too, is a potential oil industry of very respectable proportions, although economic conditions do not now justify the production of this crop exclusively for oil purposes, in the opinion of experts who have studied the problem. The fact that it holds this possibility in reserve, however, adds to the importance of the crop in the State.

The present great value of the soybean as it is grown in Maryland lies in the fact that it is a bountiful producer of seed that sells at a good figure for planting purposes, and is a pasture and hay crop that has no superior in nutritive value. In this latter respect it has some important rivals, of course, such as cowpeas, vetch, alfalfa, clover and timothy, that will fit certain conditions and fill certain requirements to better advantage.

But generally speaking the soybean stands at the head of the important hay and forage crops and that is why the acreage in the past half dozen years has jumped from practically zero to around 30,000 acres.

SENATOR MAPP, SPEAKER

Senator G. Walter Mapp, of Accomack County, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement day address to the graduating class of Woodrow Wilson High School, Norfolk on the night of Tuesday, June 19th.

The final exercises of the school will be held in the auditorium.

Senator Mapp is widely known throughout the State, having been a member of the upper house of the General Assembly for several terms.

He will address the largest class in the history of the high school. There will be between 140 and 150 graduates this year.

THE HEALTH ADDICT

A new addict has made his advent in the schools of America, but far from causing his preceptors any grave concern, he is getting their help to form his habit—because it is a good one.

The Health addict is the youngster referred to, and although the word "he" is used for convenience, the habit isn't confined to boys—not by a long shot. Girls have acquired it, too, and everybody is doing splendidly, thank you, in the indulgence.

Under the tutelage of the American Child Health Association, of which Herbert Hoover is president, the children of America are learning how to build up their bodies by eating the proper food, drinking milk, taking plenty of exercise and sleep. This organization, which is the combined American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America, has begun its great work of conserving the children of the country, and in order to obtain the best results in the effort has made the study of health a game, rather than a task. Hence its popularity.

Boys and girls no longer look with horror upon health lessons, for the simple reason that they are not required to study uninteresting scientific books and listen to interminable lectures by master minds. Instead, the lesson in health is being presented to them in attractive form and the enthusiasm with which they have entered into the game speaks well for future generations. Instead of telling boys and girls to drink milk because of its high nutritive value, the Association's representatives are suggesting its being served to the children in attractive form, via a small bottle with a straw inserted through the cover. Who wouldn't drink milk that way?

Boys are not told to eat lots of vegetables simply because of their food value. They are urged to do this also because thereby they may become strong and robust and perhaps as great athletes as Charlie Paddock or Babe Ruth, and that proves an incentive too great to be ignored. Attractive charts are arranged and lectures are delivered by men and women who understand children and deliver their messages in simple language, with good stories distributed through them with enough frequency to grasp the attention.

The result has been beyond expectation and augurs well for the future of the race. Americans who think can not help but support the work this organization is doing to reduce the death rate among children and to eradicate undernourishment.

An enterprising coal dealer in Monrovia adopted for his slogan, which he printed on his stationery, the following motto: "It's a Black business but we treat you White."

A customer, upon receiving his account recently for his supply of coal at the price of $22 per ton, inclosed his check in payment, and to the same time suggested that the merchant change his motto to read: "It's a Dirty business, but we Clean you Good."

He Slept There Once

Guest: "Is there any water in my room?"
Hotel Boss: "There was—but I had the roof fixed."

360,000 CARS MADE DURING MONTH APRIL

Auto Chamber Of Commerce Sees 15-000,000 In Use Before 1923 Is Ended, Report Says—Labor Continues To Be Fully Employed At Good Wages.

With a production exceeding 364-000 vehicles, all previous records were shattered by the automobile industry in April, according to Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, speaking over the Free Press radio at Detroit. Schedules for May and June are big, but after that a seasonal decline may be expected, although with substantial figures certain for the last half of the year.

Mr. Reeves said 3,208,000 motor vehicles (10 per cent. of them trucks) were made during the 12 months ending April 30, and in addition dealers disposed of at least 1,300-000 used cars, making a total sale of 4,500,000 transportation units.

"Carload shipping reports received by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce indicate that during the month of April more motor vehicles were made and shipped than ever before in the history of the industry. The figures are 364,000 vehicles, which is 10,000 more than March and 66 per cent. greater than April last year," said Mr. Reeves.

"When you stop to think that during the past 12 months the automobile industry has produced more than 3,208,000 motor vehicles (about 10 per cent. trucks) and that its 38,000 dealers have in addition marketed approximately 1,300,000 used cars, or a total sale of 4,500,000 motor vehicles, many will question whether this same pace can maintain during the remainder of 1923.

"The record setting which has been going on during the past four or five months is a natural result of the increasing need for motor cars and motor truck transportation in a country of 110,000,000 people. Some-part, however, came from the fear that prices are going to advance and it is better to buy now than later.

"The open touring season is open, it will bring good sales, although the season may be comparatively short.

"A most important factor is price.
Car prices are very low and manufacturers would like to keep them
low. Labor and material costs are rising and increases may be necessary.

"Any general increase in prices may be expected to substantially slow down sales and bring about a decrease in production.

"Buying by the farmers will be heavier.

"We must continue to replace many of the 3,000,000 cars made in 1915 and 1917 that are now wearing out.
Labor continues to be fully employed at good wages. All lines of industry are prosperous. Building is still on a record scale.

"A limiting factor on production during the next three months is a shortage in materials, particularly closed bodies. Plate glass seems to be the real trouble. Automobiles require 27,000 square feet of glass a year, 9,000,000 square feet of which came from Belgium, Austria and Germany, but only Belgium is now shipping.

"There are now about 11,000,000 motors in the country. Economists say we should have at least 12,000-000 cars and 3,000,000 trucks and possibly more as the roads are improved. Our big problems now are better highways in the country and less congested traffic in the cities."

TWELVE TIPS ON BETTER BUSINESS

- 1—Courtesy—that fine consideration for others! This is the basis of successful salesmanship.
- 2—Greet customers promptly and cordially—not mechanically and indifferently.
- 3—Show a genuine interest in your customers.
- 4—Know your goods. Be thoroughly acquainted with your stock.
- 5—Explain and demonstrate intelligently and carefully.
Many sales are made through good demonstrations.
- 6—Tactfully help customers to decide.
- 7—Suggest other articles which can be used with goods purchased. This will increase your average sale and total volume of sales.
- 8—Wait on but one customer at a time. Give undivided attention to that one customer, so far as possible.
This saves time, confusion and mistakes. Patience is particularly necessary.
- 9—Keep yourself fresh—mentally and physically. Success depends upon how you feel—on your health. Be mentally alert and physically fit.
- 10—Make friends and win future regular customers from among the casual shoppers who visit your store.
- 11—Enthusiasm is contagious.
It will help you; it will help your fellow salespeople; it will help your customers.
- 12—Talk optimism. And smile.

The average number employed during 1921 was 38,968, as compared with 60,865 in 1919 and 60,325 in 1914.

Both Maryland and Virginia are well represented in canning and preserving of fish and oysters, according to another statement issued by the Commerce Department. Of the 320 such establishments, reporting products valued at $5,000 or more in 1921, 13 were located in Maryland and the same number in Virginia.

Summarizing the recent reports of the Census Bureau on the oyster and fish canning and preserving industry, it states:

"The value of products of establishments in the United States engaged primarily in the canning and preserving of fish and oysters amounted to $36,140,000 in 1921, as compared with $30,260,000 in 1919 and $23,340,000 in 1914. In addition establishments assigned to other industry classifications reported, as subsidiary products, canned and preserved fish and oysters to the value of $909,000 in 1921; and $2,148,000 in 1919 and $1,918,000 in 1914.

"In September, the month of maximum employment, 13,829 wage earners were reported, and in January, the month of minimum employment, 5-466. The average number employed in 1921 was 7,946, as compared with 12,457 in 1919 and 11,156 in 1914."

She (sweetly)—Have you plenty of room?
He (politely)—Yes, thank you.
She—Then give me some.

In the Circuit Court for Wicomico
County and State of Maryland.

March Term, 1923.

Delia C. Cordrey, mother, next friend and guardian of Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall.

—VS—
Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, Reuben E.
Murray, her husband.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate situated in Pittsburg Election District of Wicomico County and State of Maryland, owned by one Jay Thomas Hall, in his lifetime, for the purpose of dividing the proceeds of said sale among the persons entitled to interests therein according to their respective rights and interests.

The bill states that the said Delia
C. Cordrey was appointed guardian of the said Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, by an order of the Orphans Court for Wicomico County and State of Maryland, passed on June 29, 1916, and that she has duly qualified as such guardian; that the real estate consists of a parcel of ground situated and lying in Pittsburg Election District of Wi-comico County and State of Maryland, located on both sides of but mostly on the Northernly side of the county road leading from the village of Melsoms to the Line M. E. Church, adjoining the lands of William P. Ward and others, George White, Maggie Truitt, Norris B. Ward and the lands of others, containing one hundred and ninety-five acres of land, more or less, being the same land that was conveyed to the said Jay Thomas Hall by his will, by deed dated May 26, 1901, and recorded among the Land Records of said Wicomico County in Liber J. T.
No. 33, Folio 66, reserving unto the said Jesse T. Wells a life estate therein; that the said Jesse T. Wells has since departed this life; that the said
Jay Thomas Hall departed this life on July 11, 1905, intestate, leaving surviving him his widow, the said Delia C. Cordrey, who is now thirty-eight years of age and one child, the said Velmo J. Murray, nee Hall, to whom the said land descended as his only child and sole heir at law, with dower rights therein to the said Delia
C. Cordrey, his widow; that the said Velmo J. Murray is an infant under the age of twenty-one years, and has intermarried with one Reuben E. Murray, who is an infant under the age of twenty-one years, both of whom reside near Seaford, in Sussex County and State of Delaware; that the said Delia C. Cordrey, widow as aforesaid, has agreed that the said real estate shall be sold under the direction of the Court, free from the incumbrance of her dower therein, and that in lieu thereof she will accept such proportion of the proceeds of the sale of said real estate as to the Court shall seem just and proper; that the said tract of land and the dwellings thereon are depreciating in value, that the land can be cultivated only by means of tenants, that no suitable tenants can be procured for the same, and that a large outlay of money for repairs to the

SAD DROWNING LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH

Ralph Disharoon Goes Down To Watery Grave When Boat Capsizes.

COMPANION NEARLY SUFFERS SAME FATE

John Foxwell, in Boat With Disharoon Rescued By Engineer And Fireman Of Fishing Schooner—Accident Happened Near Shipyard Wednesday Afternoon About Five O'clock.

Funeral services of Ralph Disharoon, the 14 year old son of Contractor Emory F. Disharoon, were held on Saturday morning from the father's home on Virginia Avenue at ten o'clock and interment was in Parsons Cemetery.

Young Disharoon, who was a student at Wicomico High and a well liked youth, in company with John Foxwell, a lad of about the same age, were rowing in the Wicomico river near the shipyard on Wednesday afternoon when their boat capsized resulting in the former losing his life.

Foxwell was rescued by Engineer Norman Bonniwell and Louis Riley, colored fireman, of one of the fishing schooners at the shipyard, after he had managed to climb up on top of the capsized boat.

Bonniwell saw the boat turn over but thought the lads were just playing and did not realize the seriousness of the situation until Foxwell, after crawling upon the boat, yelled for help. The police were then notified and grappling irons secured. The officers, together with the crew of the fishing vessel and other volunteers then started dragging the river. About two hours later, seven o'clock, the body was recovered. All efforts at resuscitation were to no avail. A verdict of accidental drowning was brought in by Coroner T. Rodney Jones.

According to Foxwell's story, a high wind was blowing when the accident happened and in trying to bring the boat around, Disharoon brought the skiff in the full force of the gale, resulting in its overturning.

FARMERS HEAR OFFICIALS OF FARM BUREAU

Hon. Gray Silver Unable To Be Present But Sends His Assistant.

THOSE PRESENT FAVOR COUNTY'S ORGANIZING

Committee Will Meet In Near Future. Go Into Details Of Scheme And Formulate Plans For Organizing Wicomico County Bureau—Over 8,000 Members In State.

Due to illness, Hon. Gray Silver, head of the Legislative Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Washington, D. C., who was to have addressed a gathering of Wicomico Farmers in the Court House Saturday afternoon, was unable to be present but sent in his stand, Messrs. Bowers and Reed, the former being Mr. Silver's assistant and the latter, Attorney to the Federation. O. Z. Remsburg, State Organizer, at whose instance the meeting was called was also present.

A representative gathering of the farming elements of the county were present, and heard Mr. Bower explain his organization's proposition. Among other things, Mr. Bower explained that the organization was not offering anything to the farmers—that they themselves were the organization and to reap the benefit must affiliate and become one body. He explained the $10 a year dues, and stated that only 50 cents went to the National Association, that $2.50 was given to the state organization for furthering four activities: legislation, organization, transportation and marketing, and that the other $7 remained right in the home county. "An egg a day," said the speaker, pays your dues in this organization.

Mr. Reed told of the different measures which had been gotten through Congress by the aid of the Farm Bureau Federation and explained the Packer Bill, the Farm Bloc and other things which had been done in Washington for the betterment of the farmer.

Mr. Remsburg told of the organization work in the state and pointed out that there were now 12 counties organized with a membership of more than 8,000.

A vote was called for and it was found that those present were much in favor of organizing a local unit. It was decided to have a committee, composed of leading citizens of various parts of the county, meet and go into the scheme in detail and formulate plans to put on a drive in Wicomico County for membership.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES TO HOLD EXHIBITS NEXT WEEK

The Manual Training and Domestic Science Departments of Wicomico High School are holding an art exhibit at the High School next week. Examples of work done the past term will be on display and it is said that the exhibit will be very interesting to the public. The rooms will be open on next Monday night, Tuesday afternoon and night and Wednesday morning and afternoon.

CAR BERRIES SHIPPED OUT BY PARCELS POST

Innovation By E. W. Townsend Local Produce Buyer Monday—37 Cars Fruit From County On Tuesday

The first strawberries ever shipped from this section via Parcels Post in such quantities that those of one shipper required an entire mail car went forward on Tuesday of this week through the local postoffice when E. W. Townsend, local produce buyer shipped 316 crates to the Philadelphia market.

It is said that the berries in this instance were handled with despatch by the mail forces and as a result netted the shipper a better price than was being received for other berries going into the market at the same time.

Thirty-seven cars of berries were shipped from Wicomico County on Tuesday which was the largest consignment thus far in a single day. Of these, 20 moved from Pittsville, 7 from North Division Street and 10 from Fruitland.

Incidentally the first refrigerator car of berries ever shipped from North Division Street station went forward Saturday. The buyers are now actively engaged at the block at this point and this is expected to be one of the most active markets in the county. On Wednesday morning, berries were bringing there from $2.10 to $4.35 per crate depending upon the variety and condition.

Premiers were predominating with Climax, Klondyke and other varieties coming in. Cool weather has retarded the shipments this week but before Saturday berries are expected to roll in large quantities.

THREE HURT WHEN CAR IS STRUCK BY TRUCK

George Little, His Brother And Ralph Williams Cut About Heads In Accident On Camden Ave.

Three persons were hurt, none seriously, about 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon, when a truck driven by D. C. Holloway collided with a touring car operated by George Little, at the corner of Newton Street and Camden Avenue.

As a result of the smashup, Mr. Holloway was carried before Magistrate T. Rodney Jones by Officer W. C. Handley, of the State Police Force charged with failure to give the right of way. Holloway, it is said, admitted the fact and was fined $5 and costs.

Besides George Little who was cut about the head, Ralph Williams, a passenger, received a deep gash over the left eye and a younger brother of Little was also cut about the head. The Dodge car was badly wrecked and the truck received some minor damages by the impact.

James Dorrell, of this city, arrested some months back for larceny and later released on bail which he jumped by failing to put in his appearance at the March Term of Court, was arrested in Centerville and is now in jail here.

He was apprehended by a Centerville constable after the officer had frustrated a jail delivery in that town and alleged that Dorrell was the party who furnished the tools used by the two prisoners in their effort to escape.

Dorrell is also believed to have made arrangements for spiriting the convicted men to safety after the planned escape.

The boys were much interested in the scheme and are now visioning the championship gold medal and the accompanying $100 waiting for the winner.

Great sympathy is felt here for the parents and loved ones of Mr. Russell Luttrell, of Avalon, who is supposed to have been drowned off the steamer of the Seaboard Oil & Guano Co., last Wednesday morning. ## TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Ward Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Springfield, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved a splendid medicine for me before my fourth child was born. With the first three I had been sick and weak, and had sick headaches twice a week. I couldn't keep enough food down to do me any good, and my work was left undone many a time. My sister-in-law told me to take the Vegetable Compound when I began to have the same old dreadful sickness and headaches and was so worn out. Since then I have only had two headaches, had a good appetite and scarcely lost a meal. I have a fine, healthy baby girl who has never had a sick day. The nicest part is that I am healthy, too. It did me a lot of good, and if I should ever have another baby I will take your medicine at once."

Mrs. BESSIE WARD, 1027 Park Avenue, Springfield, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intends.

The writer received a few lines last week from a former resident of this place, now residing in New York City who spoke of the pleasure he derived from reading the Bivalve items in the News each week. I am glad to know that my writings are appreciated.

PRESIDENT SHARPTOWN BANK IS ANOTHER CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Sketch Of His Service Record And Life's Work Given In This.
The Second Installment On Wicomico Men Engaged In The Struggle Between The States.

Samuel J. Cooper, well-known throughout the county, is a Civil War veteran living quietly at his fine home at Sharptown. He was born near where he now lives, November 6, 1842, and while he is a native of Maryland he came from a distinguished Delaware family, being a lineal descendant of William B. Cooper, governor of Delaware from 1841 to 1845. His father was John Cooper of Delaware and his mother was Mary E. Lynch Cooper who was born at Laurel, Del. His boyhood days were spent on the farm, but when large enough to leave home he tried sailing. At the age of nineteen, September 28, 1861 he enlisted at Church Creek, Dorchester county, in the First Eastern Shore Regiment, U. S. A., Lockwood's Brigade, Twelfth Army Corps, Col. James Wallace Cummings. His time of service covered a period of thirty-seven months and five days. Much of his service was given in guard duty, the most important engagement was that of the battle of Gettysburg, in which he took an active part, but came out in other engagements, without a single scar.

After his discharge from the Army which occurred in Baltimore, November 2nd, 1864, having served three months overtime, he resumed sailing and soon became a very successful Bay pilot. He kept his home with his parents, who then lived at Columbia, Del. He states that a great many who were in the service with him were wounded and a few killed. He recalls but one now living who started when he enlisted and was with him during the War and that is H. Clay Howeth, who resides at Reed's Grove, Dorchester County. He sailed several years and for two consecutive years sailed from the port of Philadelphia. Losing interest in sailing he went to Wilmington, Del., and for two years worked in the shipyard and soon became a proficient carpenter and was classed with the best workmen and his salary was equal to the highest paid in the yard. It was here that he was so badly wounded that he had to quit his job and return again to his home with his parents, then living at Columbia, Del.

In 1871 he engaged in the steam mill work, owning and operating the "Peechontas" one of the first steam mills in that section, where for many years the water power mill had been in operation and were to be found on every stream large enough to support one. He ran the mill for two years and tired of this kind of work he went to Sharptown and engaged in the mercantile business, owning and operating vessels, running from the rivers on the shore to Baltimore, carrying cargoes of wood and lumber, bringing merchandise for merchants. In the meantime he had married, December 1st, 1874, Miss Rachel A. Phillips, a member of another prominent Delaware family and a distant relative. From this union five children were born, three of whom are now living, two at home, Misses Lena and Mary and one son, Joseph P. Cooper, living near.

For thirty-five years he had an unbroken record in the mercantile business at Sharptown, succeeding from the beginning and was permitted to live to attain a degree of success not hitherto reached by any merchant in the town. He had much affliction in his family, culminating in the death of his wife and two children in the nineties and just a little later his home, store building and stock of goods were entirely destroyed by fire, June 17th, 1892, but in less than three months he had rebuilt and in business again.

He has given a life of devotion to his family, fidelity to the political party of his choice, through he never desired office or preferment in his party, and stood by, aided and assisted every good work in the community. He has always been devoted to all the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church and been a member from early manhood. He is still interested in the mercantile business and the senior countymember of the firm of J. P. Cooper & Company, the largest department store in the Western part of the county, although he takes no active part in the business. He is quietly waiting in the evening of life for the tranquility surrounded by the comforts and conveniences of life with an unbroken record of truth and fidelity to family, friends, church and State. From early life he has been a leading force in the Methodist Protestant church. He is president of the Sharptown bank. He has been a member of Good Intent Lodge No. 99, I.O.O.F. for fifty-eight years, for fifty years a subscriber to the Baltimore American and to the Methodist Protestant.

MANY CITIES CHARGING FOR RURAL PROTECTION

Local Fire Company Asks Only That Proper Apparatus Be Furnished —Services Gladly Furnished

The following excerpt from the Toledo City Journal gives a plain statement as to how many city fire departments feel toward responding to alarms outside the cities, many departments requiring pay for this service.

This is especially interesting at this time when the Salisbury Department is attempting to raise funds by popular subscription to purchase a piece of fire-fighting apparatus particularly designed for this purpose. The department has no idea of charging for its services and asks only to be provided with equipment with which to properly combat blazes in suburban territory.

A part of the article follows:

Out of 20 cities queried, eight require payment for fire service outside the city limits and similar action is contemplated in four others.

The old traditions of municipal fire departments called the fire fighters out for all alarms no matter where they came from. Frequently apparatus was loaded on flat cars and rushed to small villages nearby to fight fires which had gotten beyond the control of the volunteer fire department.

But of late years with the coming in of the motor fire fighting machinery apparatus has become more expensive and the cost of maintaining an efficient fire department has mounted.

Municipalities have been forced to these conclusions. Residents outside the city limits do not pay taxes for the support of the city fire department. Runs over country roads are frequently hazardous, endangering the life and limb of the fire crews on the big careening motor cars and most certainly the wear and tear on the expensive fire apparatus suffered on these rough rides, is great.

In 1922 the Toledo fire department made 60 runs outside the city limits.

Oh Say—Do You Remember?

San Francisco folks had a good laugh recently as this group passed in review. How many of the bicycle models can you remember?

The few hundreds of dollars in donations made by some of the individuals whose property was protected, does not begin to compensate for the actual cost of these runs, fire officials say.

In proportion to the rapid building up of the territory adjacent to the City of Toledo, these suburban fire runs will increase and the burden on the Toledo taxpayers will be that much greater.

Here are the charges made in a number of American cities for suburban fire protection:

Cincinnati, $75 per hour per piece of apparatus; Columbus, $1 per $1,000 duplicate valuation; Baltimore, $25 per hour per company; Cleveland $250 per run; Detroit, $25 per hour; Milwaukee, $150 first hour, $100 per additional hour; Buffalo, $100 minimum charge; Minneapolis, $30 per hour per apparatus.

Lumbago

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dunn, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches.—Adv't."

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

THE CHILD THAT READS TOO MUCH

By Marion Brownfield

The modern child reads more than ever before. On the street cars even the young child puzzles over the advertisements, probably attracted by the colored pictures. Children on the way to school, music lessons, or the dentist's carry fiction to read during every unoccupied minute. Even children who dislike to study—because it is something they must do as well as something "uninteresting," will read every spare minute. They are the despair of parents and teachers, because thrillers with the same fascination as the movies, take the precious time and eyeght that should be used to prevent failure in school.

The most common type is the child who, a little delicate, develops into a book worm. Ill health causes this child to feel disinclined to exertion, and reading is easy entertainment. Of course the more he reads, the less he feels like playing. Reading thus constantly reacts against his health.

As reading is enjoyed as a diversion rather than as study, this should be borne in mind when trying to break the habit. Too often parents will say, "Don't read this fine day. Run outdoors and play!" But if there is "nothing to play" outdoors, other than to make up some imaginary playmate in a yard that seems commonplace by daily association, it is hardly a counter attraction for an enthralling fairy or adventure story. The only real cure is to provide some outdoor occupation equally as enjoyable as reading. At first especially, the counter attraction needs to be more fascinating than later when playing outdoors has become voluntary.

Outdoor amusement does not need to be expensive. Clever mothers devise errands that require a walk, for no child likes to take a walk just for the sake of walking. Shopping of all kinds can be done by children who need exercise in the fresh air. Both boys and girls can be provided with outdoor occupation; raising flowers, vegetables, chickens, rabbits and various other pets. They will be more enthusiastic if there is a definite aim, for instance to cheer up the sick or aged friend. Children, too, enjoy financial profit from a garden. They should be encouraged to market their produce among strangers to test their initiative and courtesy. Such places as the Woman's Exchange, the family grocer and restaurants may become regular customers. One boy developed a little nursery business by specializing with pine trees he had studied about in school. Another outdoor occupation that brought profit was gathering water cress in a brook and selling it to a railway dining car.

Young children need to have outdoor occupation that is purely entertaining. A swing, teeter-totter and a sand pile are among these. Both croquet and tennis courts can be laid out by amateurs. Theodore Roosevelt was an example of a delicate child who became rugged because of outdoor interests.

Plants and animals should be observed. Contents to name the most birds or common weeds furnish incentive. Small bicycle and coasters are just as necessary for girls as for their brothers and nearly all children love an outdoor "gym."

In addition to the big benefits which will accrue to the residents of Deal's Island, Rock Creek, Dames Quarter and St. Peters Districts as a result of the completion of the concrete road through that section, from Princess Anne, there is an unquestioned possibility that Deal's Island will become one of the most noted summer resorts in this section of the country.

400 JOIN BUREAU

With strong indications that the campaign now in progress looking to the organization of the Queen Anne's county Farm Bureau will be concluded with the largest membership of any county on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, announcement was made that those who have become identified with the movement will meet in Centerville on Saturday, May 26, to elect officers and outline a program of work for the remainder of the year.

About 400 Queen Anne's county farmers had joined the Farm Bureau, and was expected that by the latter part of this week between 500 and 600 agriculturists would be actively identified with the association. An important meeting was held in Centerville and community meetings were staged in several sections of the county last week.

PLENTY TALBOT MONEY

The report of the State Bank Commissioners shows that Talbot has a few pennies laid aside for a rainy day. The report covers only the State Banks, and does not include the Eastern National with its two million dollars assets. The State Banks however total $3,211,060.54 in resources, $131,800 in capital stock, $228,990.75 in surplus and $2,814,510.24 in deposits. The second measure gives the Kent and Sussex Fair at Harrington $8,000 to be paid in two installments of $4000 each year for the next two years.

Harding Picks Iowa Dirt Farmer

TAXES MUST BE PAID

"In justice to those who have paid their $3 filing fee and other taxes without demur we will continue to prosecute the delinquent taxables until all have paid", M. Howard Jester, State tax collector, said recently when interviewed.

Shortly after Mr. Jester made this statement the New Castle County Grand Jury brought in 92 more indictments against persons who failed to pay their filing fee for 1921. ### HOUSEWORK IS A BURDEN

Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Salisbury women.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury says: "I was feeling badly for some time before using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was in a weak condition and everything I did was a burden to me. Rheumatic pains shot through my shoulders causing me a great deal of pain. My head ached nearly all the time and I had constant dizzy spells. I tried different remedies but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box of Doan's I was much better and they entirely relieved the trouble. I have had no return of it and gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."—Advt.

Many people even today scarcely realize the great advance in mail service that has been brought about in the age of gasoline. In the cities, motor trucks whisk the mail from railway to postoffices. In the rural part, even more credit is due to the gasoline engine. And it is in these out-of-the-way places particularly that the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) has shown its sincerity of purpose by marketing "Standard" Motor Gasoline, making this efficient motor fuel available to all motorists alike.

HOUSEWORK IS A BURDEN

Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Salisbury women.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury says: "I was feeling badly for some time before using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was in a weak condition and everything I did was a burden to me. Rheumatic pains shot through my shoulders causing me a great deal of pain. My head ached nearly all the time and I had constant dizzy spells. I tried different remedies but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box of Doan's I was much better and they entirely relieved the trouble. I have had no return of it and gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."—Advt.

"WAY for the United States Mail!" Men have suffered, sacrificed and died in order to expedite the country's mail. In fact, the mail has become a symbol not unlike the flag itself; whatever else happens, the mail must go through.

Many people even today scarcely realize the great advance in mail service that has been brought about in the age of gasoline. In the cities, motor trucks whisk the mail from railway to postoffices. In the rural part, even more credit is due to the gasoline engine. And it is in these out-of-the-way places particularly that the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) has shown its sincerity of purpose by marketing "Standard" Motor Gasoline, making this efficient motor fuel available to all motorists alike.

DELAWARE MAN CARRIED POTATO INDUSTRY TO EASTERN SHORE VA.

Luther Elzey, Son Of Late James Elzey Who Bedded First "Sweets" On Peninsula In 1860 Near Laurel, Now Living At Exmore—Transplanting Season At Hand.

Farmers and truckers are now busily engaged in transplanting the sweet potato sprouts from the beds to the fields. There are now three methods of bedding the sweet potatoes for sprouts, but the results are about the same; some still use the old method of bedding with manure. If only a small bed is needed, the next method is a small brick furnace at one end of the bed and smoke pipes, made of boards at the other end, the heat passing under the potatoes heating a tunnel which in turn heats the potatoes, the third method is that the heat is produced by a large furnace, the heat passing beneath the potatoes in large iron pipes, the largest of this kind is owned and operated by I. H. Rider & Sons, near Sharptown. This is said to be the safest and surest way of heating.

The bedding of sweet potatoes and the growing from sprouts is not the original method of propagation and many people now living on the Peninsula remember when this process was instituted. The method did not come into general use until about the close of the Civil War. The original method was to put a single potato in a hill or mound of earth about twelve inches high and from eighteen to twenty inches in circumference at the bottom and becoming smaller at the top. The cultivation was then done with a garden hoe.

As to keeping sweet potatoes, which were grown only for family use but a few years ago, through the long cold winters we would say there were several methods, but the most prevalent was in small houses built down in the earth on the south side of a thick woods, on a high elevation where the sun could shine in; others were kept in small sealed places in the homes and after under the great cold brick hearths and still others were kept in cellars. Such were the very primitive methods of cultivating and keeping only in a very small way, what has become within the last few years one of the leading industries of the Peninsula. It is estimated that the farm value of sweet potatoes, which has more than doubled in ten years has increased more rapidly than the acreage and the production. This is to be attributed very largely to the use of improved methods of handling and storing the crop.

The sweet potato has become one of the principal vegetables of the people living in the Southern States and its use has made an enormous increase in nearly all sections of the United States. When sweet potatoes are grown only for home consumption it is not necessary to regard conditions, climate, market, transportation and storage facilities. The fact that sweet potatoes can be cured in storage and later shipped to any part of the United States makes it entirely practicable to supply people outside the sweet potato belt, as well as those within it, with this one of the most valuable root crops of the United States. It is estimated that about ninety per cent of the sweet potato crop is grown in the Southern States, being a native product of tropical America it thrives better in warm sections.

The first sweet potatoes ever bedded on this Peninsula are to the credit of the late James Elzey. In 1860, near Laurel, Del., about the same time Martin Collins, living near, tried his hand and from the very first the bedding process was a success. A colored man by the name of Samuel Spencer, living in the sandy section of Portville, Del., succeeded in keeping sweets for bedding purposes in small houses built below the surface and he was the pioneer salesman of sweet potato sprouts, on the Peninsula, which then sold for ten cents per hundred, the same as now. James Elzey also built the first hot house for the keeping of sweet potatoes, so far as known and he was the first grower to ship them to market. He first grew them in hills, then in long beds and later as now, in level surface. From these small beginnings has grown one of the most valuable crops on the Peninsula. Luther Elzey, son of James, now living at Exmore, Va., carried the potato industry into the Eastern Shore of Virginia where it has meant so much to the farmers of that section.

It was fifteen years after James Elzey proved the success of producing sweets from sprouts before he developed the business. In 1875 he and his son, Luther, bedded six bushels on a farm near Laurel, Del., the second year they bedded eighteen bushels and the third year they bedded sixty-five bushels and this attracted the attention of farmers far and near and was the real beginning of what is now one of the greatest farm products of the South. For more than a century the delicious sweet potato was a garden product used for family use from the month of August until the end of December, it being the custom to keep enough sweets to last until after the Christmas holidays.

The bedding, transplanting, cultivating and storage have become, and are of priceless value and but for the spread of disease peculiar to plant life the sweet potato industry would long since have been overdone. The sweet potato is subject to disease in the field, in storage and damage in transit. Diseases enter the leaf, the stem and the root, the least of these being the least disease which has never been serious. The storage rots have been divided and named, as soft-rot, ring-rot, black-rot and dry rot. The losses from these diseases are often heavy, but are now much reduced by improved methods of storage, of temperature and humidity and by careful handling in the transfer from the fields to the hot houses. The time and condition of weather when digging is also considered.

The last report shows that sweet potatoes are grown in thirty states, Alabama leading in point of acreage, Georgia second and the greatest value per acre is credited to Arizona, an average of three hundred and forty-five dollars per acre and Georgia has the least value per acre, that of ninety dollars and cents it is becoming each last year fell below the average in dollars and cents it is becoming each year of greater value as a money crop. The proper storage of the sweet potato crop is one of the most important food conservation methods ever put into effect as no perishable product in the Southern States is as important as the sweet potato crop. Owing to the prevailing low prices the acreage will not be as large as last year which exceeded any previous year but will be an average on the Peninsula. The sweet potato crop is very popular and farmers will stick to it as long as there is any margin worth while.

TWO RECORDS FALL AS WICOMICO HIGH EASILY WINS FIELD MEET

Gillis Mills And Fulton Fields Set New Marks—Sharptown School Runner-up For Honors, Hebron, Third—Entries In Badge Tests Largest Ever.

The public schools of Wicomico County were closed on Thursday of last week, it being the 9th Annual Track and Field Championships at the Wicomico Fair Grounds. In point of attendance of children, it was the largest meet ever held here. The meet was under the direction of the Public Athletic League of Maryland, W. S. Pitman being in charge, and was run off with promptness and despatch.

As it has been done each previous year, Wicomico High easily captured the contest, scoring 150 points. Sharptown took the much coveted second place with 70 points while Hebron made an excellent showing for a school its size with 45 points. Following is the summary of points scored:

Wicomico High, 150; Sharptown, 70; Hebron, 45; East Salisbury, 42; Salisbury Grammar, 23; Pittsville, 16; Shad Point, 10; Parsonsburg, 10; Nanticoke, 8; Mardela, 8; Delmar, 6; Riverton, 6; Willards, 6; Dormans, 3; Quakson, 3; Mt. Hermon, 3; Double Mills, 1.

Two county records were smashed. Gillis Mills, Wicomico High set a new mark when he threw the 8 pound shot 43 feet, 6 inches, the record previously being 36 feet, 1 inch made by R. Smoot, Sharptown. Fulton Fields, Wicomico High, in the Junior 115 pound running broad jump eclipsed the record of 16 feet, 1 inch, held by C. Bennett, Mardela when he jumped an even 17 feet.

The largest number of participants ever entered in the badge tests took part, there being 184 bronze, 47 silver and 10 gold by boys and 213 bronze, 94 silver and 26 gold by girls.

Due to the slow track and a brisk wind, no records were hung up in the track events. Wicomico High won each of the relay races with the exception of the medley, in which they did not have a team entered. Edward Davis and Fulton Fields each took first place in both the track and field event in which they were entered, the former winning the 100 yard dash and running broad jump, Senior Unlimited Class while the latter won the 70 yard dash, 115 pound Class and the running broad jump, same class. ## DELMAR HIGH MAKES HALF HUNDRED RUNS

Lansdowne Pittsboro Pitchers Unconquered And Establish Record In High School League

In a terrific slugging battle, Delmar (M.A.) High School overcame Pittsboro High 50-1. Pittsboro pitchers were easy for the Delmar bats and the latter used this opportunity for fattening their batting averages. This game must go unchallenged as a record one, for in none of the High School games of Wicomico County has there been this many runs scored in one game.

Delmar's lineup was as follows: J. Mills, 1b; P. Phillips, 2b; W. Truitt, 3b; W. Templeton, 3b; M. Whapland, c; R. Long, rf; Nichols, 2b; C. Powell, ss; P. Hearn, cf; C. Calhoun, p.

DELMAR NINE PUTS UP A GAME FIGHT

Timely Swatting Of "White Clouds" However, Causes Defeat Of Visitors 4-1 On Wednesday Last

The fans who journeyed to Gordy Park on Wednesday afternoon of last week to witness the game between the Delmar Terminal nine and the Pennsylvania Railroad League and the Salisbury team were amply repaid by seeing the best exhibition game of the season. Manager Shipley's charges won 4-1 but the team piloted by Charley Truitt put up an excellent scrap.

Handworker went the entire route for the visitors and hurled very creditable ball allowing but eight hits which were pretty well distributed. Welton working the first six innings for Salisbury, held Delmar to five scattered hits and no runs. Heathcote finished the game and was found for three hits in the seventh when the railroaders tallied their lone run. In the other two frames they were unable to fathom his delivery.

Bill Bonds, Marlboro Springs lad and former Washington College infielder, annexed a double and single. O'Neil and Collins also secured a brace of hits. Layne had a perfect day at the bat with two singles out of a like number of tries.

Gamborn made his first appearance at the hot corner for Salisbury, the rest of the infield which played against Cape Charles remaining intact at the start of the contest. Lattin figured in two double plays, one of which was an unassisted double killing. Although the locals made but eight hits, five of that number came at very opportune moments and figured in the run scoring.

BIG PENINSULA BALL SALISBURY JUNE 27

Famous Myer Davis Made To Play For Collegiate Affair Staged For Peninsula Society

Word has just been received here of a large June Ball which will be held in the Armory at Salisbury, Md., on June 27th. The Committee in charge of arrangements for this affair have announced their intention of making the dance one of the most outstanding social events of the season for Peninsula society and elaborate preparations are already being made for the occasion.

Over 500 couples coming from neighboring towns in Virginia, Delaware and Maryland are expected to attend this brilliant event which is being called The Peninsula Collegiate Ball. The scheme of decorations will be indicative of a typical university atmosphere and the feature of the evening's programme will be the "Promenade of the Colleges" at 10:30 o'clock, a distinctive surprise number. Conspicuous among the dancers that night will be a number of young men and girls who have returned home from college halls for the summer vacations.

A special engagement of the famous Myer Davis orchestra is announced. Myer Davis music is well-known in the East because of its playing at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia; the Biltmore, Baltimore and the New Willard in Washington. The seven musicians who come to Salisbury on June 27th for this big dance are all concert artists and have been playing for the past season at all the Diplomatic Functions in the nation's capitol.

THREE HOME TALENT PLAYS FOR NANTICOKE

All Three Are Being Coached By Alfred Tomson—Repetition Of Comrades Tomorrow Night

Things theatrical are looming big again in Nanticoke, there being booked three events to follow each other in close succession. First, there is to be repeated the dramatic success, the home talent comedy drama, "Comrades". A month ago when this play made such a hit in the Wigwam theater, the Red Men at once entered into an agreement with the company to reproduce the piece under the auspices of that lodge and next Friday night is the date set for bringing the play back. This second performance of Comrades will be given with the same cast of players. There will be some new features, especially in scenery.

In fact, the stage has undergone considerable improvement under the direction of manager Alfred Tomson, in that there will be about four feet added to its width, the curtain rehung and other adjustments made that will help in mounting the play the second time and be a permanent improvement to the theater. There is promise of another big house tomorrow evening.

On the 30th instant the High School class in the department of which Mrs. Georgia Moore is the teacher, will present the stirring drama, entitled, "A Noble Outcast", and on June 8th, another High School class play will be given, "Above the Clouds", a fine play of much heart interest and plenty of clean comedy. Both of these pieces are being coached by Mr. Tomson, and a genuinely surprising treat is to be enjoyed by those who witness the production of these plays by the High School thespians.

SURE DOES WORK SAYS ENGINEER

Tanlac Entirely Ended Stomach Troubles, Dizziness And Sleeplessness, Declares Frank H. Penn.

"Well, I don't know what it is but there is something about Tanlac that certainly does the work," said Frank H. Penn, Hire Apts., Burlington, N. J., well known assistant engineer at the Rolling Steel Wire Mills.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was suffering from stomach trouble, indigestion and lack of sleep. My appetite was very poor and I was weak and rundown. I had severe headaches that would last for hours at a time, and when I had to bend over to work on the machinery I would become so dizzy on straightening up that my head seemed to be in a whirl."

"Hearing so much good about Tanlac, I tried it myself, and it has improved my appetite, got my stomach back to normal and relieved me of those headaches and dizzy attacks as well. I am gradually gaining weight, too and think there is nothing else like Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

BAKERY BURNED

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the bakery and dwelling owned by K. J. Bunting on Chincoteague Island, Tuesday morning. The building was occupied by David Wheatley. Fortunately the fire was discovered before it had a chance to get much headway and strenuous work on the part of the firemen subdued it before it could spread to adjoining buildings.

However, the bakery and dwelling was partially burned. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

What Co-operation Has Done

Little more than half a century ago, Gustavus F. Swift borrowed $20 from his father and started in the packing business.

Hard work on his part and on the part of the associates whom he presently gathered about him caused the business to grow.

When first incorporated, Swift & Company had six shareholders. The nation was growing and needed meat, and the young company grew also. As more money was needed the business was enlarged by enlisting the co-operation of more shareholders.

The first little plant at Barnstable, Mass., has given way to 23 modern packing plants strategically located. More than 400 branch houses and 600 car routes distribute the meat carried in more than 6,000 refrigerator cars.

Today Swift & Company's service in meat to retailers here and abroad represents the effort of nearly 100,000 people co-operating with their savings or daily toil.

More than 45,000 men and women have co-operated with us by investing their money in shares of Swift & Company.

Nearly 50,000 men and women who work in these offices, plants and branch houses—16,000 of whom also are shareholders—are giving us their co-operation in building the business. They take a just pride in the promptness and precision of its service and in the uniformity and high quality of its products. Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon, "Silverleaf" Brand Pure Lard, Premium Frankfurts and other Swift products are symbols of their hearty co-operation and of their belief in the Company.

The Road Commission of Sussex County has agreed at a meeting recently held in Georgetown, Del., to build an improved highway from Delmar to Columbia, a distance of six miles. This is the logical thing to do and it will open up one of the largest feeders Delmar ever had. In fact since this community began to grow, Delmar has been the shipping point and the high school pupils in this section are taken to the Delmar school and Delmar is the logical point of connection and will mean much to Delmar and in turn to this community, should the road be built.

The strawberry crop that meant so much in this community twenty years ago has dwindled until but a few are grown here. At one time it was the principal crop, but it has been succeeded by the tomato and potato crop, but these have been reduced giving room for the activities of the old hen.

Among the larger poultrymen are Earl F. Cooper with about seven hundred old and one thousand young ones; J. Franklin Beach has also six hundred old ones and fourteen hundred young ones and J. D. Beach about four hundred each. The poultry business is enormous in this section and we have names of only a few of the largest ones but the poultry business is very general. It has an attraction in the way of bringing good returns and the business does not seem to be overdone.

There is a great scarcity of labor here as at other places and those who work have to work very hard to keep up.

PLANTING OF OYSTERS TO START SOON

Conservation Commission To Deposit
150,000 Bushels Of Shells In State
Waters—Beds At Mouths Of Great Choptank And Patuxent To Be Rehabilitated.

Soon the oyster shell planting for 1923 will begin, according to an announcement by Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., State Conservation Commissioner. With the State steamer Governor McLane supervising the work, approximately 150,000 bushels of shells will be dumped on the Castlehaven rocks, near the mouth of the Great Choptank river, and on the Hog Island bar, at the mouth of the Patuxent river. The latter bar is between Little Cove Point and Drum Point and is one of the locations where the oyster shell planting has been successful.

No shells have been planted in the Great Choptank before, however, but this year there arose a big demand from oystermen, both dredgers and tongers, that some effort be made to rehabilitate the slowly dying beds in that section of the Eastern Shore.

These two locations will be the only spots to be planted this year, as the Conservation Commission is without funds to carry on the work on a larger scale at this time. By order of the Board of Public Works, it was given authority to purchase 150,000 bushels of shells and go as far as possible with them. Its revenues were lowered this year by the long February freezing spell, which cut off the two-cent-per-bushel tax which it collects from the oystermen.

Formerly the commission has been planting about 200,000 bushels of shells annually, but with their funds exhausted, they were in a dilemma until the Board of Public Works authorized them to proceed with their work. The Board of Public Works is to be repaid next year from the revenues of the season's catch.

At the session of the next year's Legislature Mr. Vickers will have a bill introduced which will believe care for the entire rehabilitation of the industry at its source. This bill will provide for an annual expenditure of approximately $50,000 annually for a period of at least 10 years for purposes of planting the shells in the depleted areas.

The planting of oyster shells is actually an experiment, but it has proven a successful experiment in Maryland. The oyster spat, which is found floating in the water at certain seasons of the year, attaches itself to a smooth surface and begins to grow, and the result is shown in a new bed of oysters.

The various committees appointed by the Merchant and Manufacturers Association in the near future to decide upon their course of action. It is believed that they will cooperate with the Conservation Commission, although there is some difference of opinion between the two bodies as to how the situation should be handled to prevent the oyster fame of Maryland becoming a thing of the past.

RESERVE

All of us like to think of a reserve to fall back upon in the hour of trouble. In the last analysis, reserve is thrift. Thrift is the opposite of improvidence and waste.

Thrift means better homes, better food and clothes; more comfort and enjoyment; less waste and anxiety. Money is the insignia of labor. It represents an investment in brawn and brain. It is the most elastic reserve.

Money is power. It means liberty and a freedom from the curse of poverty.

Start today in building a reserve. Maybe in a saving account—maybe in a wise investment. We can help you in either.

WHY NOT RASPBERRIES AND BLACKBERRIES ON THE HOME PLACE? ARE EASY TO GROW

—By—
F. F. Rockwell, Horticultural Editor
"Farm and Fireside"

There is no more delicious dish in the summer time, at breakfast, dinner or supper, than a heaping saucer of gleaming blackberries or fragrant raspberries.

Where each berry is firm and sound the treat is that much more delightful. There is just one way, however, by which we can be absolutely sure of having each berry perfectly firm, sweet and sound, and this is when they have been freshly picked right before the meal in our own garden.

No matter how carefully a box of berries may have been picked and packed, it is bound to lose some of its freshness by the time we have brought it from the market.

Since this is the case, why not use a few square feet of your yard to set out some raspberry and blackberry plants this year, in order to be able to bring a dish of luscious fruit directly to your own table?

It takes very little space to grow a few raspberry or blackberry plants. They may be placed in some unused corner of the grounds, or along the wall of a building or even along near the hedge or back fence where they will prove to be really ornamental as well as useful.

The cane fruits are extremely sturdy in their habits of growth, and will thrive in almost any ordinary good garden soil. Naturally, where they are started in hitherto unused soil or in sod, the bed must be given more attention before the bushes are planted.

The berry plants may be set out in any good garden soil. If the subsoil is hard, it should be broken up so as to permit the surplus water to drain and to enable the roots to go down readily.

Enrich the soil with old and very well rotted manure, or ground bone meal, part of which should be coarse bone or "inch bone." Pure bone is very good to use for fertilizing, as the plant-food it contains will become gradually available for years to come; add also a shovelful of woodashes, to each plant. Be careful to fork in thoroughly whatever fertilizer you may use with the dirt in the hole. The best soil and the fertilizer or manure should be placed about three or four inches below the top of the hole; then fill in with ordinary good soil, level with the grass plot. In thus keeping the richest soil towards the bottom, the roots are induced to strike downwards.

Set your plants as deep, or a little deeper, than they have been growing in the nursery. The important point, however, in their planting is to set them firmly in the earth. First press the soil around the roots with the fingers as tightly as possible and then tread upon the ground with the balls of the feet after the plant is set. If the weather is very hot when you are planting, apply water in the bottom of each hole before placing the plants.

In sending in your varieties of fruits order some early and some later varieties, so that your berries will continue to give you enjoyment throughout many weeks.

The "King" is rightly named, as it is one of the very best bright red raspberries we have. It is extremely hardy, and not affected by cold, bears early and freely and is of splendid quality.

One of the best known and favorite varieties of raspberries is the Cuthbert. It is a very vigorous grower and is most hardy and sturdy in its habits. It has an abundant crop of large bright red berries which are easy to pick.

The St. Regis, (sometimes called Ranero) is deservedly popular, as it is one of the new "Everbearing" varieties and gives a crop of fruit the same year the bushes are planted and two crops a year afterwards, covering a period of four months. It surpasses most other berries in size, quantity and quality.

The Cumberland is an excellent variety of the black raspberry. It is very large, firm and splendid in quality and in productiveness.

The Gregg also is another black variety which is good to have in any planting, as it combines fine quality, good size and productivity, and comes on just a little later than the Cumberland.

To produce the best fruit, the old canes of raspberries should be cut as soon as the crop has been gathered. Of the blackberries, the Mersereau is a large producer of extra large fine berries. Their quality is extra sweet and delicious, and they have the advantage of being coreless. This variety ripens very early.

The Snyder is particularly hardy, and fruits very early. It is one of the most popular sorts for the West.

Eldorado is a newer variety, and claimed by many to be "the best yet." The berries are large, sweet and jet black and the plants are extremely hardy, coming through without injury even in localities where most other varieties winter kill.

AGRICULTURAL COMM. NAMED BY GOVERNOR

Recognizing the need for a definite and comprehensive program for the advancement and development of agriculture and all allied interests in the State, Governor Ritchie has appointed a State Agricultural Committee to give immediate and thorough study to the farmers' problems and to work out a plan for the State to adopt, by legislation or otherwise, to help solve the problems which confront Maryland's rural communities today.

The appointment of the Committee is in pursuance of the resolution adopted by the conference on agriculture which the Governor called in Annapolis January 26 last. Since then, the Governor has held a number of conferences with the heads of existing agricultural organizations of the State relative to the personnel of the Committee. It was decided, as a result of these conferences, to select the Committee almost exclusively from the list of officials of the State and County agricultural associations.

The first meeting of the Committee will be called to order by the Governor at 601 Union Trust Building, Baltimore, at 10:30 A. M., May 15. The Governor will outline the purpose of the Committee and it is expected that it will then organize and immediately set to work on an agricultural program. W. C. Mitchell is the appointee from Wicomico County.

CHOOSING A COLLEGE

Principals and teachers of rural high schools should help the students that intend to continue their studies beyond high school, to select the college or university that seems best fitted for each individual student's needs. Out of the 105,000 boys and girls that are being graduated yearly from rural high schools, 45,000 intend to go on to normal school, college or university. Very often even though the student may know just what line of work he wishes to take up, he does not know what school to attend to get that work. A college because it is near, or he has a friend there, or some one from the college has canvassed the high school for pupils. These are not the best ways to decide a question that may influence the entire trend of one's later life.

The rural high school can help in this. A list of the 1,040 normal schools, colleges, universities and professional schools giving the name, location, and name and address of the president of each may be had free from the U. S. Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C. Current catalogues are sent on request from most of the institutions so that a small library of 500 or 600 of them can easily be collected. With the help of a teacher the class should learn to use the catalogues, write to registrars, etc. For rural high school children in the last half of the senior year, one period a week given to work of this kind should be well worth while.

Poor Teacher

Sunday-school Teacher: "Willie what are you doing?" Willie (shooting paper): "Just trying to make Sunday school more interesting."

$1500 Yearling

Joseph Jaakson, farm boy of Springfield, Minn., cashed in on the baby Hereford calf he fed and exhibited at St. Paul winning the Grand Championship in competition over 210 other "baby heifers." His yearling weighed 1221 pounds. Telling all prizes and weight of feed his steer brought him $1500.

WOMEN LEADERS BUSY

The love of home, children and the welfare of the community makes women leaders in the international movement for world peace and a better understanding among nations. Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, declared in a recent address before the Montreal Women's Club.

"There cannot be rivalry among women in these fundamental things for what is good for the children of one country is good for the children of another," Dr. Barrett stated. "In the international movement women don't have to learn the A. B. C. of it as men have to do."

Dr. Barrett acclaimed the international agreements which have come about between Great Britain and the United States following the war, in which they have been held together, not by psychology of fear, as some asserted, but by "the great cement of racial instinct and social ideas in common."

PROTEST CITIZENSHIP

Protests against the granting of United States citizenship to more than fifty aliens will be made by Wheeling Post No. 1, of the American Legion at the May term of the Federal court. Legion officers have announced that the organization will object to the naturalization of the aliens because they are unfit for United States citizenship. Among the charges made against a number of the foreigners by the Legion are:

That they evaded service during the World War, failing to register during the draft period.

That several have engaged in the liquor traffic of whom a number have been convicted in Federal court or are now awaiting trial.

BEGINS INVESTIGATION

Minnesota has begun an investigation of the condition of disabled ex-service men following charges made by the American Legion that 1,774 veterans are fighting a losing battle with tuberculosis because of the failure of the government to build a hospital for tubercular World War fighters.

Of the 1,774 tubercular veterans, 500 will die unless the government takes steps immediately to build an adequate hospital, Stafford King, Minnesota adjutant of the Legion, has stated following a recent survey conducted by the legion. Another charge which the state will consider is that more than 1,000 ex-service men, suffering from tuberculosis and denied hospital care, not only are being sacrificed through neglect but also are menacing public health in their communities by spreading disease.

Governor Fergus ordered the investigation after results of the legion's survey were presented to him. The legion will seek to obtain the appointment of a state commission to go to Washington and there participate in the senatorial investigation of the United States Veterans' Bureau this summer.

See the New Corona first!

Before you buy a portable typewriter, compare it with Corona in these five important particulars

STEP into our store today and ask to see the New Corona.

Sit down at the keyboard, run your fingers over the keys. See how easy it is to write, even if you have never touched a typewriter before.

Then ask the salesman to show you how Corona fulfills these five essentials of a portable typewriter:

1. Completeness: Has every modern improvement, including Automatic Ribbon Reverse and Standard Portable Keyboard, Two-Color Ribbon, Back Spacer and Automatic Line Spacer. It is really an office typewriter in portable form.

2. Convenience: Weighs less than seven pounds, folds and fits into a neat traveling case. Writes visibly, without cranking one's neck. Takes a No. 10 envelope. Easily holds its title up. The most convenient typewriter in the world.

3. Durability: Strongly, simply built. Corona is the only portable typewriter whose design and construction have been tested by sixteen years of service and by 500,000 uses. There are more Coronas in use than all the other makes of portable typewriters combined.

4. Speed: The New Corona is built for swiftness. Its standard portable keyboard, with right and left shift keys, is the simplest of all typewriter keyboards and, therefore, the easiest to memorize and use. The action is sure, and swift, and easy. For the touch system, the keyboard is ideal because the hands never need to leave their original "positioning" on the keyboard.

5. Value: No typewriter, at any price can equal the conveniences of the New Corona. No machine, large or small, will do better, cleaner work, nor stand up longer in service—yet the price is still $50 complete with carrying case.

WHITE CLOUDS SHOW CLASS IN OPENING GAMES

LEAD OTHER CLUBS IN HOME RUN PRODUCTION

Seven Circuit Clubs In Four Games Is Locals Record With Tolson Leading The Attack—Manager Shipley Will Wait Until June 9 Before Cutting Down Pitching Staff.

Perched on the second rung of the ladder after engaging in four contests of the Eastern Shore League, the White Clouds have acquitted themselves nobly in the first stages of the 1923 pennant race. Manager Shipley has apparently called together a winning combination and so far nothing but praise for the aggregation has been forthcoming from the fans. This is a much different condition from that of last year when Manager Hoffman was subjected to severe criticism on all sides.

The White Clouds have been putting up a consistent article of ball, overcoming Crisfield in the first two games of the season, then losing on Monday to Milford in a weird exhibition of the national pastime but coming back on Tuesday with a 4-3 defeat of the Delaware nine on the latter's home ground.

Semler, a college star from the University of Maryland, joined the ranks of the locals on Tuesday and besides taking care of everything that came his way in the outer gardens batted out a couple of safeties that helped materially in turning the tide of victory to Salisbury's colors. Manager Shipley is fairly well pleased with the showing of his charges thus far and considers that he has molded together an ideal combination of worth in: Kunath at third, Ganzhorn at short, Layne at second, and Tolson at first. The latter is wielding a mighty shillelagh, pounding out three home runs in the first three games.

Salisbury can boast a few of its moundmen in the order of his moundmen in order to come down to the playing limit of 14. However he is not planning to let go of any of his twirlers until after the game on Saturday, June 9th.

PROTESTANT PEOPLE ARE VISIBLY AFFECTED

Touch Of Pathos Pervades Atmosphere At Last Services In Old Church—Presbyterians Regret

Last Sunday was the last Sabbath which the congregation of Bethesda M. P. Church, and those present were visibly affected with sorrow at thoughts of leaving the house of worship they had so long been accustomed to attend.

Just before the start of the morning worship, Senator C. R. Disharoon and F. Leonard Waller, representing the Wicomico Presbyterian Church just across the way from Bethesda Church, appeared and Mr. Waller in a touching talk told of how the Presbyterian folks regretted the departure of their neighbors, of the pleasant relationship which had always existed and of their hope for Godspeed in the new church building.

The Rev. R. L. Shipley responded fittingly to the remarks.

Five hundred and seventy people attended the Sunday school lesson was taught by Mr. John H. White, one of the older members of the Sunday school and teacher of the Senior Bible Class. Mr. Fred P. Adkins, urged the people to feel at home when they were in the new church and stressed the point that it belonged to all.

Dr. Charles F. Smith, who united with the church Sunday will have the distinction of being the last to have his name entered on the roll of the Broad Street Church.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT ARCADE MEMORIAL DAY

Student's Philharmonic Orchestra To Play There Wednesday Evening

The concert to be given at the Arcade Theatre, Wednesday night, May 30th, by the Student's Philharmonic Orchestra is expected to be a real treat for music lovers in this city. Manager Inley of the Arcade Theatre said that the orchestra had been received with generous applause in its presentations elsewhere.

On Monday and Tuesday, the screen showing will be that popular film actress, Norma Talmadge, playing in "The Eternal Flame". Miss Talmadge has gradually won herself into the hearts of the movie theatre going public until today she is probably the favorite of the majority. In "The Eternal Flame" her acting is said to be superb.

Thirty-eight families, now having to call for their mail at the office will be served. This route will be served by John T. Green, carrier on the present Route 2, of which it will be a part.

For sometimes, the people affected by this innovation have been seeking better service through Postmaster Phillips and the establishment of the delivery service comes after persistent work on the part of the official as well as several residents of the territory including Dr. A. B. Burris, superintendent of Pine Bluff Sanatorium, which institution will be served by the innovation.

WICOMICO'S HEROES ARE REMEMBERED

Flowers Are Placed Upon Each Grave By Living "Buddies" Yesterday Morning—Many Cheer Living Veterans As They Parade From Center Of City To Cemetery.

With business at a standstill, Memorial Day in Salisbury yesterday was fittingly observed. Promptly at 10:45 A. M. the parade was formed at the Armory and proceeded to the cemetery where exercises were conducted by the Rev. Henry F. Klonan, himself an ex-serviceman. After this the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars held the services in charge. A volley was fired over the graves of the soldier dead and each was decorated with flowers placed by an ex-serviceman. The blowing of "taps" concluded the ceremonies.

Leading the procession to the cemetery was an auto in which rode several "vets" of the Civil War. These were accorded the place of honor. Music was furnished by the Tall Cedars Band of Delmar and the Salisbury Band. Wicomico Post, V. F. W., ex-servicemen, the Fire Department and several fraternal bodies were in the line of march.

In the afternoon a large number attended the ball game between Parkley and Salisbury at Gordy Park and in the evening several hundred motored to Sharptown to the "Naturalization" staged by the Ku Klux Klan.

W.H.S. AND MARDELA BATTLE FOR LAURELS

Victory Over Delmar Tuesday Gives Coach Duffy's Charges Chance At County Honors

By winning from Delmar High 3-2 at Gordy Park on Tuesday, Wicomico High now has the privilege of meeting Mardela for the Wicomico County High School Championship on June 1 and 2.

Benson allowed the boys from the railroad town but 2 hits, his performance being the best of the season and he was ably supported by Bill Chatham behind the plate. Davis scored the first run on Benson's single, and both the pitcher and Chatham, who got on by a fielder's choice, rallied when Benson doubled. The entire Wicomico team played well.

On Saturday, Wicomico High was defeated at Centerville 3-2. On that occasion Benson twirled fine ball allowing but three hits and fanning 14. Neither of Centerville's runs were earned.

BERRY MART IS HOLDING UP FINELY

On Tuesday Fruit Was Bringing Splendid Prices And Was Plentiful.

DIVISION STREET BLOCK VERY BUSY

Fruit Is Of Best Quality Seen In Recent Years—Chesapeake Brought As High As $6 At Pittsville Monday—This Week Will See Bulk Of Shipments.

From all indications this will be the largest year in the shipment of strawberries from Wicomico county. The warm weather of the last few days has caused the fruit to ripen fast and it is being brought to the block here, to Fruitland and Pittsville by auto and wagon in large quantities.

Up to and including Monday of this week, 147 cars had been moved from Salisbury and Pittsville. The Salisbury yards from which strawberries are being shipped for the first time this season, sent out 11 cars on Monday. On Tuesday between 15 and 20 cars were shipped.

Notwithstanding the influx of such great quantities of fruit the market remained good and on Tuesday prices ranged from $1.75 for the smaller varieties to $4.40, with $3.00 as a fair average during the early afternoon.

At Pittsville on Monday choice Chesapeake are said to have brought as high as $6.00 per crate and on Tuesday berries were selling from $3.50 to $5.50, the last named figures being brought for Chesapeake.

On Monday night, in addition to the cars originally loaded here, 190 were re-loaded at the platform. The fruit this season is said to be of the best quality in recent years.

W.S. GORDY IS CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF

Local Banker To Make Fight For Comptrollership With United Backing.

RECORD IS LAUDED BY THE GOVERNOR

Party Leaders Last Week Agree Upon "Harmony Ticket"—Mr. Gordy Who Had Been Frequently Mentioned As Candidate For State's Chief Executive, Makes Public Statement.

The Democrats of Maryland have gotten together, after a series of conferences between party leaders, and agreed upon a slate thus avoiding a primary fight which for a time threatened to disrupt the party the coming fall.

The state ticket agreed upon is: Albert C. Ritchie for Governor; William S. Gordy, Jr., Comptroller; and Thomas H. Robinson, for Attorney-General.

During recent months Mr. Gordy has been frequently mentioned as a candidate for the Governorship and he undoubtedly would have drawn much support from party leaders and voters all over the state had he seen fit to enter into a fight with Governor Ritchie.

His tremendous majority when he was elected Comptroller in 1921 is indicative of his personal popularity and his business record, clearly show his qualifications for the office.

However, he has evidently had in mind the general welfare of his party rather than personal ambition and his candidacy for Comptroller will undoubtedly add great strength to the Democratic State ticket this fall.

Governor Ritchie has said of him "Mr. Gordy has made a splendid Comptroller, and the way he had met his increased duties under the reorganization plan, has been in great part responsible for its effective working. He deserves re-nomination and re-election."

Mr. Gordy in announcing his candidacy for re-nomination as Comptroller issued the following statement:

"I have tried to the best of my ability to make a good Comptroller. The office is an important one to the State and under the new reorganization of the State government will become more important. I would like very much to continue this work, because I feel that it is a chance to do something constructive for the State of Maryland. My experience of the past two years has given me an insight into the workings of the department which ought to enable me to do even better work than before."

"I have, therefore, determined to be a candidate for the re-nomination for Comptroller in the Democratic primaries this fall, and I hope to see Governor Ritchie re-nominated. His record entitles him to a re-nomination and I believe the people want him. So long as I am concerned, I am strongly for him and believe he will be both re-nominated and re-elected. It also will give me a great deal of pleasure if nominated, to run on the same ticket with Thomas H. Robinson for Attorney General. Mr. Robinson has served the people of Maryland well in the State's past and there is no question as to his qualifications for the office."

PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION BY KLANSMEN MONDAY

11 White Robed Knights Alight On Main Street Monday Night And Light Huge Wooden Cross

The first public demonstration of the Ku Klux Klan in Salisbury took place on Monday evening to the great surprise of people here. The affair took place on East Main Street and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Just at the stroke of nine o'clock, several automobiles drew up to the curb and eleven white-robed Klansmen alighted and set fire to a wooden cross which had been erected after sunset that evening.

Nothing of an exciting nature marked their appearance nor their departure. While the flames leaped silently around until the cross was consumed, after which they extinguished the embers and left in the same manner as they came.

It is said that the demonstration was similar to that staged in emery town in Delaware and Maryland where a Klan is located similarly at nine o'clock Monday evening and marked the commencing of a drive for members which is to last for several months.

AEROPLANE HOVERS OVER CITY ON MEMORIAL DAY

An added attraction to the Memorial Day exercises conducted by the American Legion Post here was the presence of a plane flying low over the city at noon Wednesday. The air-craft was sent down from the Dundalk Flying Station near Baltimore, being a member of the 39th Division Aerial Squadron located at Logan Field, Brown's Volutating Shop was notified by wire to have 50 gallons of "Benzol" gas ready for the plane when it arrived here.

MARKETING OF EGGS IS THE FIRST STEP

Maryland Farm Bureau Federation Will Start Work Along That Line—Exchange Eggs Exchange in Baltimore Planned With Poultry Industry Gets Property Underway.

The marketing of Maryland's eggs will be the first definite step of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation toward the co-operative marketing of the farm products of this state.

Within the next few weeks a campaign will be put on for the purpose of convincing the farmers and poultrymen all over the state as to the advantages of the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers Association through which organization arrangements have been made for the co-operative marketing of eggs.

Through an agreement recently entered into between the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, the Maryland State Poultry Association, the extension service of the University of Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers Association, the latter will take care of and market the entire egg output of the state if necessary and in any event it will market such a proportion of it as will be represented by the Farm Bureau members and others who become members of the association.

A campaign will soon be started under the direction of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation for the enrollment of large and small poultry raisers of the state who favor this co-operative marketing plan. Details of this campaign are in the hands of a committee of five men representing the Maryland State Poultry Association, the extension service of the University of Maryland and the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation with Edwin Warfield, vice president and M. W. Stewart, secretary of the state federation, representing the latter. Final approval of this plan was given at a recent conference held in Baltimore at which were present representatives of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, extension service of University of Maryland, United States Department of Agriculture, Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers Association, Maryland Poultry Association and the various county agents of Maryland.

The Atlantic Coast Poultry Producers Association is at present co-operatively marketing eggs for Pennsylvania and New Jersey producers in the New York markets and through the arrangement now in operation it expects to put the egg industry in Maryland on a more business like basis as well as to stimulate interest in its further development. The association did an $800,000 business last year and expects to make it a round million this year.

The agreement means that as soon as 100,000 or more hens are represented by Maryland producers, the association will be ready to open a branch egg exchange in Baltimore. This will mean that the consumers will get fresh, graded and unbroken eggs. It also means that Maryland eggs will be shipped to the highest market no matter which of the Atlantic Seaboard cities that might be on the day they are sent forward.

The detailed plan, says M. M. Stewart, secretary of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation is for the formation of egg circles in the Farm Bureau counties to which the eggs will be sent daily or weekly as the case may demand. At these circles or centers the eggs will be carefully graded and packed in crates on the top layer on which will be placed a card showing the kind, color and condition of the eggs in that particular crate. The counter check takes place upon the crate reaching its ultimate destination.

According to Dr. H. B. Walker, manager of the association, it is proposed to establish branches of the association in all the large Atlantic Seaboard cities so that the eastern producers will be able to control the egg prices instead of the broker or the commission man.

THE AVERAGE FIGURE IS IT YOURS?

By JANE HILL

Those of us who have average figures are truly blessed, for our problem is much less complicated. But don't let's consider the class dismissed! What are we always doing with those figures? Do we always stand just as correctly as we did just now when we were being measured? Or do we betray our tailor by having him fit an upright-downright customer who promptly slouches just as soon as she gets home and breaks the beautiful line of her suit over the bust and makes her collar stick out in the back? Do we stand with one hip up and one hip down, like a weary dray horse? Even Helen of Troy couldn't look lovely in that position—or the equally bad one we assume when we poke our necks out like so many hump backed turtles. We all know how to stand. But—do we do it? Let's practice for even a single week and see the difference it makes.

But first, let's be sure our fall from grace hasn't been due to the wrong corset. For slouching often comes from sheer weariness and, oh, what weariness creeps into our very bones under the maddening pressure of a corset that chooses our favorite nerve on which to fit too soon! Did we get the correct size in the first place? The comfortable length? The right weight? Did we have the corset laced correctly? Are the garters adjusted as they should be?

Very few of us are ideal averages. There is always a bit of coaxing to be done—a little coaxing to subtly altered line, a comfortable support. With remarkably few bones and undue constraint, the proper corset gives the average figure brings out its best and surely to its ideal—personally and eternally guards you from

BLOOM IN MIDSUMMER

It seems that there is almost a distinct and separate hat for every woman—so wide is the choice in trimmed millinery. Designers turn out new ones every day. Here are three different types of hats which may be found infinitely varied. At the top a lovely straw, in orchid timbo is encircled with a wreath of tinted feathers. Below it a small, embroidered cloche, supports a thin veil that falls to the shoulders and finally a hat of fancy brown straw, faced with heena crepe, bears a gay wreath of lacquered flowers.

Litheness and grace of movement are intimately tied up with this matter of standing correctly and wearing the right corset. No woman can be truly beautiful or even charming unless she's lovely when she walks, when she bends her head and listens to you, when she plays the piano, when she dances, or sews a seam. Nervous tension expresses itself in jerks. And, just here, let us say that irritability prevents many an otherwise goodlooking woman from ever being classed as such.

And the wrong corset may have almost as much to do with irritability as the wrong creed!

Stand correctly. Move rhythmically. So far, so good. That advice applies to the whole group, and to all the groups, too. But what shall we wear when we do it?

Let each of us "average figures" go offstage and get her favorite afternoon dress and come back wearing it. Maybe it wasn't made this year. Perhaps it's a three-year-old gown we liked so much we just can't bear to give it up.

Why did we like it? Gertrude says, "I like mine because the blue is just a bit deeper than my eyes. It makes them look wonderful. Ted said so."

Jane says, "I like mine because that drapery over the hips conceals the fact that I oughtn't to be there—nobody knows whether it's hip or frock!"

Marion says, "I like mine because that neckline hides those mean little collar bones and yet shows my neck to advantage—and it's a nice neck if I do say it myself."

Cynthia says, "I like mine because it's so clever in the line it takes over the bust. I need to be careful just there, even if I did reduce twenty pounds to get back into the 'average' group."

Norma says, "I like mine because it's so simple. I don't believe I have a single real figure-defect and this dress follows every line I have and doesn't muss up the effect with trimming."

And yet how many of us will remember these little personal reasons when we go to get the next dress? Wouldn't we have been much better dressed in the past if we'd paid a little less attention to changing modes, new colors and the desire to have something different at all costs, and more attention to reproducing, in some way or other, the point that had made last year's frock a success? Surely we can be up-to-date and yet remember the especially becoming way of presenting ourselves.

Try on all your old dresses and criticize them before you get a new one. Form the habit of mentally trying on the clothes you see in fashion magazines, on the streets, in the shops. Put them on your friends—they won't know!—and tell yourself what you think of the result. You'll be surprised to see how much you'll learn.

1,000,000 IS NUMBER GAME KILLED IN '22

Value Of Bag In State During Hunting Season Estimated At Over $500,000—LeCompte Makes Report—Estimate Based On Questionnaire.

One million birds, rabbits and other species of game, valued at more than $500,000, if all could have been placed upon the market, were killed in Maryland during the hunting season of 1922, according to State Game Warden, E. Lee LeCompte.

The estimate was obtained by Mr. LeCompte by means of a questionnaire sent out to all persons who obtained hunting licenses last fall. There were 70,235 licenses issued, but only some 13,705 hunters responded to the questionnaires asking what had been killed by each individual during the season. Taking the reports of the 20 percent of the licensed hunters who reported their kill as a basis, the game warden has built up the estimate of game killed during the season.

The answer to the questionnaire show the report that cottontail rabbits were scarce in Maryland last fall to be erroneous. According to Mr. LeCompte's estimate, 128,793 rabbits were killed.

The following table shows how many of each kind of game were killed during the season:

Plover	2,762
Partridge or Quail	61,900
Ruffed Grouse	1,621
Woodcock	1,714
Rabbit	128,793
Wild Turkey	378
Squirrel	62,048
Wild Ducks	62,431
Wild Geese	1,350
Wild Brant	344
Jacksnipe	1,663
Doves	13,426
Rail Birds	22,187
Red Birds	19,811

Total species killed.....383,427

A FAIR DEAL TO SERVANTS IS ADVOCATED

Writer Says This Would Greatly Change Situation—Not Always Fault Of Hired Help—Some Employers Loved By Domestic, Says Writer On Subject.

By FAY KING.

The other day I sat near a dame in the theatre that was broadcasting the fact that she "just can't keep servants." I just couldn't help listening in because the conversation was in the way of a ballyhoo for the benefit of everyone within earshot.

She went on to say that at least every six months she has an entire shift of servants and she probably thought that everyone who heard was impressed with her importance.

Well, for one, I don't mind telling you that I was not because when a dame has so much trouble with her servants there must be something wrong with her household—it can't all be the help.

A good servant takes just as much pride in her work as anyone else in any other line does, and good help takes just as much pride being good help as the other fellow.

If you treat your help like humans they like to stick if they are the right sort, and there are heaps and heaps of households that have had the same help for years.

Of course there is bound to be some help that isn't worth keeping; in what walk of life aren't there people unworthy of their calling?

But there are as many mistresses who are unworthy of hiring help as there are maids who fail to fill the bill.

You can't expect your servants to put up with insults, insufficient pay, or insufferable sleeping quarters. I'm willing to bet that if it came to a show down a lot of girls would rather work for less in desirable surroundings than get better pay and never be able to call their souls their own.

Some women advertise for a girl to do light work in a small family and then expect her to be a galley slave for a heap of company.

They expect her to get up a dinner without notice and take care of children and do the laundry and beat the rugs and trim the hays, and press the clothes, and anything else they happen to want done as it comes along.

How many women stall on a servant's salary to spend it for stuff for themselves.

They expect a chauffeur to drive them all day and all night, and the very minute he tries to grab a bite of cats at a nearby lunch counter they start a riot because he's not at the wheel the second they choose to come out of the place he has been waiting in front of for hours without a word of further direction from them.

I have a friend who in 15 years has only had two girls. The first one stayed with her until she married and had tears in her eyes when she gave her two weeks' notice.

My friend hated to lose her of course, but she was glad she was going to be married and go into a home of her own. She asked her where she was going to be married and the girl said bashfully at the Justice of Peace office. My friend said:

"Oh no you aren't. You're going to be married in your home—here!" The girl was pleased beyond words and she had the prettiest little home wedding you ever wanted to see, invited her own friends and had everything as if she were a daughter of the house.

"Why shouldn't I have done it," my friend said. "She had been faithful to me all these years, and had known this as her home. I didn't interfere in any way. On her wedding day it was 'her home' in every sense of the word. I only furnished the flowers and wedding breakfast."

NEGRO COOK MURDERER OF HER OWN BABE

Christal Hitch Alleged To Have Attempted Scalding It To Death—Found Hid Under House And Taken To Hospital Where It Died A Few Hours Later.

Christal Curtis or Christal Hitch, aged about 21, a young colored mother will have to face a charge of first degree murder at the September Term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county for the death of her own newly-born babe.

Late Thursday afternoon, the negro who is said to have been married two weeks ago to Will Hitch an employee of the State Roads Commission, who had come to a domestic in the home of the Rev. R. A. Boyle, North Division street, gave birth to a child in the cellar of the minister's home.

Nothing was known of the happening until the arrival of Mrs. Boyle, about 5 P. M., when she was told by William Underwood, a colored man working around the premises that there was a child under the house crying. Mrs. Boyle then called the cook who was lying on a couch and asked her about the affair.

At first the colored woman would have nothing to do with the matter but upon insistence on the part of her mistress, climbed up upon a table and reaching through a hole leading from the cellar to the part under the house not taken in by the cellar she brought out a small negro baby, its head, chest and arms without skin presumably having been scalded.

Mother and baby were then rushed to the hospital where the infant girl died at 1:40 Friday morning. The matter was reported to the authorities by the attending physician who testified at the inquest that it came to its death from the results of scalding. It is said that the same woman several years ago gave birth to an illegitimate child which since was taken care of by its grandmother who lives at Hebron.

On Friday morning a jury empaneled by Sheriff Farlow with T. Rodney Jones as Coroner and the following members: John Hagan, foreman; David J. Ward, L. A. Richardson, W. T. Godfrey, Charles Ulman, James C. White, Glen Livingston, George Lowe, James Dismore, W. D. Mitchell, George Turner and G. J. Hearn, after viewing the body and examining several witnesses brought in the following verdict:

"That Christal Curtis, alias Christal Hitch, did wilfully, deliberately, feloniously and with premeditated malice aforethought did kill and murder the said infant child then lately born whose name is unknown to jury."

A warrant was then issued for the woman and arrangements made to guard her at the hospital until such time as it was deemed safe for her removal to the jail.

OBITUARY

FRED J. PHILLIPS

Fred J. Phillips, a house carpenter who formerly lived at Oak Grove, but for three years lived in Washington, D. C., fell from a tower where he was working on May 16, a distance of fifty one feet and never broke a bone. He was taken to the hospital where he remained one week and was discharged as well. In two days after his return home he died from a hemorrhage of a bruised kidney. He was thirty-eight years old and leaves a widow and two children. His remains were taken to Oak Grove, Del., his home place and interred on Sunday afternoon.

MRS. EMMA ELZEY

Mrs. William R. Elzey, of Sharptown, committed suicide on Thursday of last week by taking carbolic acid. She had been acting in a very strange manner for some time but there were no indications that she was going to take her life. No one knew that the acid was on the premises. On Thursday, morning she arose as usual, prepared breakfast and ate with her husband as usual. About eight o'clock she went out for a few moments and when she returned told her husband that she had taken her dose and asked him to get her some more. In a few moments she was suffering and Dr. Kuhlman was hastily called and every possible effort was made to relieve her but she gradually grew worse until the end came at eight o'clock that night. She objected to their doing anything to relieve her. Her domestic life was very pleasant and she seemed to enjoy in keeping her home spotless and absolutely neat and tidy. She was a member of the M. E. Church. She was sixty-four years old. She leaves besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Lennie W. Phillips, of Sharptown and Miss Blanche, a teacher in the Camden, N. J., high school and one brother, John W. Covington, of Sharptown.

Funeral services were held at her late home on Sunday afternoon by Rev. Henry S. Dulany, after which the remains were interred in the Taylor Cemetery. Her funeral was largely attended. The flowers were many and beautiful.

CHILD CONSERVATION

Conservation is the order of the day. Much attention has been paid in the past to the preservation of national forests, coal, oil and other natural resources, and that is as it should be.

But what of our children? When the American Child Health Association, recently formed by the merging of the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America under the presidency of Herbert Hoover, publishes a statistics showing that 200,000 babies die in infancy each year and 20,000 mothers die in childbirth, the thinking

TALKS to MOTHERS about THEIR BABIES

By DR. J. E. MASON KNOX, JR.

Chief, Bureau of Child Hygiene, Maryland State Department of Health.

A FOREWORD

Reprinted by permission of the Baltimore Sun.

IN THIS series of talks to mothers it is proposed in the simplest informal way to go over some of the important matters that concern the health of herself and her children, and to point out obvious precautions which should be taken to make this wonderful relationship of mother and child as safe as possible for each.

MEDICAL SUPERVISION

IT IS now generally agreed that adequate care of the baby must begin nine months before it is born—that is, it must start with proper care of the prospective mother. If this is true, the following natural query must be answered:

What shall be the first duty when the coming of the baby is expected?

Unquestionably the answer should be—consult an experienced physician.

We must realize that this business of being a mother is a serious one at best. One in which two lives are at stake, and surely, it is only right for the husband to provide for his wife, and if necessary, for the community to provide for every woman the best available care at this critical period.

THERE are many needless worries and fears the inexperienced woman has at this time which her physician may quiet. She should look to him for advice and not to the thoughtless gossip of any irresponsible neighbor or relative. More important still, the physician will give the waiting mother a careful physical examination.

Neither mother nor baby can be given satisfactory care unless the physician knows the physical condition of the mother, whether her heart, kidneys and lungs are sound, and she is otherwise well. It is just as necessary to find out whether there is any deformity which may interfere with the spontaneous birth of the baby.

These and similar facts should be ascertained early, so that the proper lines of treatment can be started. The doctor, too, will help to settle the expected date of the confinement.

AN IMPORTANT aid to the physician is the public health nurse. This is especially true in rural communities, where the doctors may not have time to give each patient the minute detailed advice she craves. In these cases the public health nurse is invaluable. As woman to woman she is the waiting mother's friend in need. She allays her useless fears, but recognizes signs and symptoms of danger and calls the doctor in time to avoid trouble. When he comes she is his trusted assistant. This kind of nurse is much too rare in our country districts, but their number is rapidly increasing to the great benefit of the health of the rural home.

Besides the physician, no person can do as much to help the young mother safely through the waiting period as the public health nurse. It often happens that she first knows the mother's secret and can help her to secure a competent physician and make necessary arrangements for the comfort of the baby.

THERE are certain symptoms which often occur early in the period which sometimes alarm the mother and which should be mentioned. Perhaps the most distressing, although not dangerous one, is nausea and vomiting, known as morning sickness, which more than half the women in this condition have. It is particularly troublesome upon rising in the morning. It may sometimes be relieved by taking a little dry food before rising, such as toast or crackers swallowed without liquid. Many women are relieved by eating several small meals a day instead of three large ones. It is wise to do all one can to ward off the first attack, as the tendency to nausea is easily established. It is wise to keep the mind upon other matters, as brooding upon the discomfort exaggerates the trouble. Out-of-door life and normal interests will help. If the symptom becomes worse in spite of this suggestion, a physician should be consulted.

THE doctor will determine in each case how often he would like to see his patient. He usually will have a report from her each month during the early months, and oftener toward the end of the waiting period.

American must pause and reflect. The Association goes even further and tells how careful studies indicate that there are millions of our school children who are suffering from more or less serious troubles to malnutrition and heart disease. These figures would be startling in any event, but they are the more so when we are told from the same reliable source that at least one-half the deaths could be avoided and that proper care would eliminate practically all instances of undernourishment.

America's duty is plain. It would seem. The American Child Health Association proposes by educational methods and with the assistance of sincere men and women who have dedicated their lives to the cause, to

AN AID TO NEIGHBORLINESS.

In this wonderful world in which we live and move and have our being, it is a great thing to have a true conception of the spirit of friendliness—the fine neighborly spirit which makes men and women better and infinitely more useful.

We must appreciate the fact that, in the very nature of things, man is a social being. He cannot shut himself up in a narrow place, make himself a prisoner in a prison house constructed by his own hands, without losing some of that fine and lofty spirit which is one of the priceless glories of humanity—the spirit of unselfish brotherhood.

Philosophers and poets may dream in the solitude of deserted islands or amid the lonely grandeur of high mountain places, and their dreams may be worth while and full of splendid idealism, but unless great numbers of people, acting together in the spirit of unity, realize their worth and make practical use of their ideas, the dreamers' thoughts can be of no real service to the world.

Our world is a world of thought, of progress and of high aspiration in this twentieth century of wonderful achievement, and the people who are accomplishing the greatest things are they who have true knowledge of the purpose of the vast brotherhood we call the brotherhood of man.

Science and invention are making our world more wonderful each day and at the same time are making it smaller. Our forefathers did not dream that the time would come when an American would be able to stand on the Atlantic coast and hear the sound of the voice of a man sitting in his home in California.

Due to the excellent service of the telephone, the telegraph and the wireless, we are able to communicate with our neighbors in distant places as though they were in the house adjoining our own home. Our neighbors are not simply those people who live next door, in the same block, or even in the same city in which we live. The people in every part of Maryland, in every part of the world, are our neighbors. It behooves us, therefore, to try to get acquainted with our neighbors and make friends with them.

The automobile is doing wonders in helping people to get acquainted with each other. The automobile might well be called the ambassador of friendliness, the envoy extraordinary of neighborliness, and the minister plenipotentiary of progress.

Here on the Eastern Shore our automobile owners make visits from time to time in various cities of the State and find pleasure and profit in the company of their neighbors. These neighborly trips cause them to gain useful knowledge of the resources of the Peninsula and therefore make them better citizens.

In the light of all it is achieving, the automobile must be counted one of the most useful instruments in the march of progress and one of the most civilizing influences of the times in which we live. This is true because in helping us to get acquainted, to be neighborly and to work together for the common good, we are building daily a better Eastern Shore, a better State and a better nation.

FLORIDA SAVED BY THE PRESS.

Florida's decision to abolish the convict lash comes as a result of newspaper publicity which compelled state officials to wince before the anger of decent thinking people. Men and boys tortured and whipped to death in convict camps presented a picture at once revolting and outrageous.

Of course, the situation never could have existed had the people of Florida realized what was going on. Unfortunately, they did not realize, and the sleek officials, paid whippers and convict judges, thinking possibly of their own jobs, took pains to keep disgraceful details from public notice.

Prisoners were lashed and tortured not only as punishment, but as a means of terrifying the rest of the gang and to "maintain discipline." Secrecy was the safeguard, and it needed courage to turn on the spotlight. Only the vision and public spirit of a newspaper publisher made possible the ending of this horrifying practice.

It takes brave men to tell the truth; but once the truth became known, the people's anger grew. When the temper of the people began to be felt, the politicians stepped in line, and so we find marked up another worthy achievement in journalism.

It is pleasing to note that the reform was brought about by a few of the home newspapers of Florida and not by pressure from an alien press. The Jacksonville Journal led manfully in the fight, remorselessly dragging into the sunlight the brutality that put such a blot upon the state. Most of the country newspapers did their part valiantly. Obviously, it was not a pleasing task for the newspapers to expose a condition so disgraceful in their own state, but sometimes "we must be cruel only to be kind."

NOW WE'RE IN THE TRILLIONS.

A few years ago the American people were shocked when they had to think in terms of billions. Now we seem to be out of date. The trillion nations are with us. Indeed, unless there is a check to currency inflation it will not be long until we consider finance in the quadrillions.

Russia, Germany, Austria and Poland are now measuring their currency far up in the trillions, and the printing presses are still working. The enormous total have been reached mainly in the last year. Russia's currency stood at 450 trillion rubles at the end of 1922, having increased forty times in one year. German currency at 5 1/2 trillion, an increase of forty times. Austria increased her currency to 4 trillion crowns, and Poland, quadrupling her currency, is in excess of one trillion marks.

National currency is puzzling to the average mind, but the effect of inflation may be judged by considering the prices of commodities in Russia. According to the Department of Commerce the article which in pre-war days sold for $1, now sells for $15,000,000. To go to the movies there, one must be in the millionaire class at least.

To the subdued strains of martial music and amid the fragrance of a myriad of flowers, countless thousands offered America's tribute to her valorous dead on Memorial Day.

courage, high ideals and simple honesty which must be zealously fostered and carried on triumphantly.

Progress attained with such standards means a wider acceptance of the doctrine of Truth, Tolerance and Fair Dealing. It stands also for Americanism, and if adhered to, will never cause America to suffer through contrast with her past.

Thus, while acknowledging our debt to those who have gone before us, we should also pledge ourselves to a continuation of the lofty, unwavering principles of the America—our America—their sacrifice made possible.

Beauty—true beauty—in our lives and our surroundings is the surest of guides to such a goal. So striving, we may then become worthy of our great heritage.

Richard Lloyd Jones

BE A PATHFINDER.

Culture often makes cowards of the best of men. It tends to bind their thoughts to the triumphs of the past rather than to the possible achievements of the future. It makes them slaves to establish codes. It throws a cloud of suspicion over innovation. It makes them afraid of a new idea.

They were the scholars of Athens who fed Socrates poison. They were the scholars of Italy who lit the faggots at the feet of Savonarola. The wise men of Spain jeered at Columbus. Cultured England laughed at Darwin. Schooled scientists scoffed at Harvey's theory of blood circulation, at Watt's tea kettle engine, at Whitney's machine that could sew, at Daguerre's sun picture, at Well's anaesthetics, at Morse's telegraph, at Bell's telephone and at Edison's talking machine. A quarter of a century ago a professor of physics at the University of California "proved absolutely" that it was a physical impossibility for man to fly. But the Wright boys showed that this professor was a slave to his culture.

Every great triumph in the world's history has fought its way over the boundaries of temporary failure and gained its goal in spite of the scoffs of the "cultured."

Society's pet is seldom a prophet. True talent is discovered tardily. To possess all its accumulated knowledge of the past does not make a man great. We are measured not by our accumulations but by our contributions. The brains that are remembered are those which had not knowledge but the patience and the confidence to pursue unabated a great plan of purpose and create knowledge.

Because a fellow is doing something different from what has been done, don't be too quick to call him crazy. Time may make you the bigger fool of the two for having rejected his idea before understanding it.

It's the fellow who sails a new sea who discovers a new shore. It is the fellow with originality whom the world most needs.

If a man's faith in his new scheme can stand the acid test of the unthinking sneer, he may live to benefit the world. The fellow who is afraid to depart from convention, and who is afraid to do something different for fear he may be laughed at, is a craven no matter how much he may know.

The men and women who acquire knowledge that they may be respectable, who look to the past that they may be comfortable in the present, without any thought of duty to the future, who study merely for the mental gymnastics of training their minds and who are afraid to use the mind when trained, are about as effective as an army which has learned to march by marking time.

Learn not only to fill your head but to use your head. Don't be afraid to beat out a new path. The beaten paths are overcrowded.

The pioneer's path is always hard but it is the pioneer who finds new fields and new benefits and whom in the end the world most honors.

EXPENSES.

If it wasn't for expenses which is certain to accrue, I wouldn't mind the problems of existence like I do. I allers favored incomes, an' have spoke in their defense, but you can't produce an argyment in favor of expense!

I gather in my wages, when the same is duly earn't, and lay aside a stipend for the gasoline I've burn't.—I figger on a surplus to retain for saltin' down, but she never lasts a minnit, when I moosey off to town!

To juggle expenses is the climax of my will, when I go against a blowout with a seven dollar bill,—but a double-header hits me whar the chicken got the axe, an' she sweeps away my surplus like a corporation tax!

I never knewed a failure that disbursements didn't cause; there's a world of forked lightning in our economic laws—and I'll give the feller credit for a wagon-load of sense, that invents a safety income, which is bigger than expense!

A Boost For Salisbury

WRIT SARCASTIC

To the Editor of The New York Times
Many thanks for your kind invitation to make my home in your little village and take over the assistant editorship of The Times. I would like to help you out, but I am busy right here. Salisbury is the finest town in the world, and if I told you about the inherent goodness of the people, our mild climate, good roads, good things to eat and other natural advantages you would think I was a trained liar from your city. We even have a good jail; I have known people to try to break in and the fellow who broke out came back. We have no grafters, loafers, politicians or people who want to be President. Our bootleggers are well dressed and our home brew is harmless; we work and play together, cuss each other to our heart's content, talk about our neighbors, wear good clothes, have a fight occasionally, buy the fellow that licks us a good cigar, wash out hands and forget all about it.

Salisbury is the cleanest, best governed town in all the forty-eight States; we have paved streets, electric lights, mild climate, good roads, strawberries, real estate operators who are honest and some fine farms for sale on easy terms. If you die and go to Heaven you have to come right through Salisbury; if you are bound for the other place, Delmar is only seven miles away. We have pretty girls with painted faces, bridge parties, straw rides, moving pictures, boys who work hard and save their money and lots of folks with real good sense. We have all the races, all the creeds, all the new fads and your scribe runs a book store. Salisbury is the gateway to paradise, the Garden of Eden in disguise and the nicest place to live anywhere under the shining sun, so why should I want to leave it to work on your little two by four Times? As papers go it is a right good sheet, but you should see our Wicomico News and The Salisbury Advertiser; they are some papers.

W. C. THURSTON.
Salisbury, Md., May 10, 1923.

Mr. W. C. Thurston, May 27, 1923.
Salisbury, Md.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of May 10th to the New York Times, in praise of your home town, made a great appeal to my husband and myself, for it sounds just like the kind of place we would like to call home, too, after thirty-five years of New York. After living in New York, so to say, in New York, we would like in our old age, to have a place where we can go upstairs to bed and come downstairs to breakfast. But first we would like to come and look around a bit and would you oblige me by giving me the names of some good boarding houses (or a small hotel) where we might spend a few weeks this summer in getting acquainted with Salisbury. We would very greatly appreciate this information and I enclose a self addressed envelope for same and can you tell me about how far you are from Baltimore?

Thanking you in advance, I am,

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Geo. M. Bertram

TELLS REASON FOR UNREST OF FARMERS

Dr. T. R. Symons, Director Of Extension, University Of Maryland, Has Made Exhaustive Study Of Situation And Is In Position To Speak Authoritatively On Subject.

What has embittered the Maryland farmer far more than the mere knowledge of his own serious financial situation is the fact that conditions, whether economic, political or fortuitous, have permitted other lines of business to reach an almost unprecedented prosperity while he continues to suffer hardship. This, as the farmer points out, has occurred without other business sustaining the same serious loss that agriculture has sustained.

It is not only due to the farmer, but it is to the interest of the public generally to get a sympathetic understanding of the farmer's problem and to consider, for a moment, what the consequences may be if conditions that are urging the farmer toward radical thought and action are not speedily remedied.

Maybe a concrete illustration may prove most effective. Here in Maryland the size of the average farm is practically 100 acres, 65 per cent of which consist of improved land. That means that the average farmer has practically 65 acres of land on which to grow crops. If he puts a fourth of it, or 16 acres in wheat, raises the average number of bushels per acre and sells his entire crop at the farm price prevailing during 1922, he has a gross return of $295.68. If he puts another fourth of his farm in corn and repeats the same operation he has a gross return of $535.20. Another fourth probably will be needed to hay that will have a total gross value of $476.58.

The remaining 16 acres probably will be necessary for pasture for livestock. The average farmer, of course very crude. The average farmer sells comparatively little of his hay and corn as such, converting these crops chiefly into livestock and livestock products. Nevertheless, the illustration serves to show how low the gross income on the average farm is. In the above case it would amount to only $1307.46, and out of this the farmer must pay for labor, seed and fertilizer and make a living for himself and family. This leaves out of consideration the interest on his investment to which he is entitled.

The average city dweller, beholding a fine, well-kept farm, is likely to be filled with envy at the farmer's possessions. It is true that the farmer has wealth but it is also true that his chief difficulty lies in making that wealth yield adequate returns. That is why the farmer is seeking readjustment of present conditions. When he compares the wages he can make by farming; when he compares the returns on capital invested in other business with the earnings on his own investment, he is forced to the conclusion that economic conditions are out of balance.

But the farmer is not radical. He is merely discouraged and dissatisfied. Those farmers who are advocating Government price fixing do not favor it as a policy but simply because it seems the only way out of present difficulties. The danger of the situation lies in the possibility that radical leaders with

IS YOUR CHILD WELL-BRED?
By Helen Gregg Green

I remarked to a friend the other day, "Do you think it well-bred for Jimmy to sit in the house with his hat on?"

"Oh, my dear, you are perfectly absurd! Jimmy's only five and a half."

Which was a prologue to a rather lengthy, and a bit hectic discussion of when, where and how a child should acquire good breeding.

My friend contended that a parent need not bother with "such little things" until the child is old enough to become interested himself.

"When he is interested enough, he'll pick it up," she declared.

Good breeding is not picked up. It is either learned in childhood, or not at all. Of course a certain superficial type of good breeding may be acquired but not the way-down-deep, always-have-had-it kind that is really charming and worth while.

A young banker in our town, a chap about twenty-one, has passed me repeatedly on the street, and spoken without as much as touching his hat. It seems unbelievable.

It should be as natural for a small boy to lift his hat at the proper time, to stand when a woman enters the room, and to do the hundred and one other little things that are so charming, as it is for him to eat three meals a day, and go to bed at night.

If these habits are inculcated in youngsters at an early age, they will never be forgotten.

Then there are many little things that children should be taught not to do, except in privacy.

I was calling at a friend's home the other day, when the son and heir of the household joined us on the porch. He was a handsome youngster, just ready for high school. He had no sooner sat down, than it was apparent he had tarried only long enough for a first class manicure. I could see his mother was very much embarrassed.

Personally, I think she deserved to be. She said, "John is in your bedroom the place for that?"

John was unimpressed. His mother had spoken eight years too late. The manicure was completed with flying colors.

You can tell a well-bred child, one taught the many little niceties of life, when quite young, by his lack of self-consciousness. This is the beauty of it all. This and his thoughtfulness.

And, after all, courtesy, charming manners and good-breeding are synonymous with forgetfulness of self.

RECEIVES GROUND-HOGS

Five young ground-hogs, shipped to the Rev. Charles P. Butler, Whaleyville, from Jane Lew, W. Va., arrived last Friday. The animals were about four weeks old and arrived very much alive and sprightly. Rev. Butler is hopeful that they will live to see their shadows next year.

Lots of men would rather go to the other place after death if there were any marrying in heaven.

Annual Event At Wicomico High Surpasses Anything In Recent Years Similar.

PUPILS PROVE TO BE SPLENDID CRAFTSMEN

Through Fill School Building To View Work Of Manual Training, Home Economics And Other Departments—Workmanship And Thoroughness Revealed In Every Display.

Eclipsing anything in recent years of the same nature, the Art Exhibit at the Wicomico High School on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week has drawn hundreds of visitors, not only fond-parents but outsiders as well.

Masterpieces of dressmaking were hung all around the manual training room, of which there were 45 on display were made. The 62 Senior dresses averaged $6.26 each and it is said that the same frocks purchased at a store would have cost the parents from $20 to $25. These are all of white material. The Junior dresses, of which there were 45 on display were of various hues and materials and averaged $5.83 each.

In all there were nearly 700 garments on exhibit. The cost of materials in the Junior-Senior Department was $339 and in the Freshman-Sophomore $275. A new feature this year is the household linen exhibit which has created much favorable comment. Several very neat Science note books are also being shown.

The work of the manual training department was also of a very high order and consisted of library tables, smoking cabinets, footstools, taburets, cedar chests, magazine racks, table lamps, and chairs, by the Sophs, Juniors, and Seniors and tie racks, broom racks, shelves and book racks by the Freshies. More than 300 pieces of work were shown from this department.

The teachers, under whose supervision the articles were made are: Miss Neva M. Charlton and Miss Helen Kilpatrick, Domestic Science; Leonard W. Unger, Manual Training; and Miss Amy Bennett, Science.

JUDGE KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS TO BE IN SALISBURY DURING JUNE

Definite Assurance Of Eminent Ex-jurist's Visit Received At Meeting League Officials Last Week—Big Baseball Game Feature Of Day—Date Not Yet Set.

Salisbury will have no stone unturned to make the visit of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, High Commissioner of Baseball, not only a pleasant one for the former jurist but a memorable occasion in Salisbury's history.

Judge Landis needs no introduction to the vast majority of the city's populace. His name is in the newspapers weekly and on the tongues of everyone imbued with a love for the national pastime. During his many years tenure of the office of United States Federal Judge his name was a household name in the press of the country and his picture a familiar one to all readers.

Some months ago the Judge promised to visit the Eastern Shore League during the 1923 season, but it was only learned on Wednesday last that his coming would be next month and that Salisbury, for sure, would be the point visited although the latter fact was generally conceded. The announcement came through President Thawley at the final pre-season meeting of the league officers, directors, managers and umpires held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms here Wednesday afternoon.

President Thawley attended the Blue Ridge meeting in Frederick two weeks ago with the prime object of seeing Landis and personally getting his promise to make the trip.

President Thawley's confirmation of the commissioner's acceptance of the invitation extended last winter through the sports editor of The Sun to visit the "Sho" wheel in 1923 was greeted enthusiastically. All pledged unequalled support to President Thawley in his plans to make the occasion of Judge Landis' visit one of the biggest in the history of the peninsula. The date is yet to be selected.

The president is vested with the power to suspend all games on the day of Judge Landis' visit, except the big one here and announced that he will do so. Thawley also will appoint a representative committee to direct the affair as soon as the distinguished guest announces the date of his coming.

Judge Landis' visit to Salisbury will mean the coming here of thousands of people from all over the Delmarva Peninsula. This will be accountable partly because of the fact that the other ball parks will be closed but more especially account of the prominence of the eminent ex-jurist, many people availing themselves of the opportunity of getting a "close-up" on this great personage who typifies to the highest degree justice as applied to America's national pastime.

that in all public, private, parochial and denominational schools in West Virginia there shall be given regular courses of instruction in the history of the United States, in civics and the constitution of the United States and the state of West Virginia, and that every school teacher shall be required to take an oath of allegiance to support the constitution of the United States and the state of West Virginia before entering upon the duties of teaching.

Contributions received at the office of the Legion nation treasurer in Indianapolis now total more than $35,000, which with the amount raised by the Legion men in France raises the sum to approximately $60,000.

One of the largest donations received recently came from the people of Providence, R. I., who sent a check for $100.00. The sum was obtained by Providence post of the Legion with the assistance of various community organizations.

Members of the Forty-second Infantry, known as the Porto Rican regiment, have formed a post of the American Legion in Panama. This is the fourth post of the legion to be organized in the Canal Zone. The new post is composed of Porto Ricans who served during the World War, and is located at Camp Gaillard, C. Z., where the regiment is stationed. The organization of the post is said to have resulted from the recent visit to Panama of legion national officials.

Essays will be restricted to 500 words for length. Though style and originality of treatment, in order named, will be the basic considerations in judging essays, according to Mr. Powell. Spelling and penmanship will be considered also.

More than 50,000 children submitted essays in the contest held last year by the legion on the subject, "How Can the American Legion Best Serve the Nation?" Ah Sing Ching, of Ewa Oahu, Hawaii, a fourteen-year old schoolboy of Chinese descent, won first prize. Second place was won by Miss Pauline Virginia Chalmers, of Indianapolis, while Joseph Glanville, of Bridgeport, Conn., who submitted an essay in blank verse, captured third prize.

Will not sponsor bout The American Legion will not sponsor the prize fight to be held between Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibson, July 4th, at Shelby, Mont. Alvin Owsley, national commander of the ex-service men's organization, has stated.

"The American Legion cannot permit its name to be used in connection with a mercenary undertaking of this nature, to be held on a day sacred to the deeds of our forefathers," Commander Owsley said.

Amateur boxing contests meet with the legion's approval, according to Commander Owsley, but "the holding of a prize fight for the world's championship between two professional pugilists whose sole object in staging an exhibition of prolonged mauling of bodies is the accumulation of a supply of money can hardly be said to be in accord with the high ideals and purposes of an organization composed of men who fought a real fight for a worthy cause."

Jack Dempsey's war record was referred to by the Legion leader, who said, "The legion holds no enmity for Dempsey, but its members can not forget that the heavyweight champion of the world remained safe in the ship yards in America while the finest men of our nation were advancing in the face of almost certain death on the battlefields of Europe."

THREE LAWS ENACTED Three bills included in the Americanism program of the West Virginia department of the American Legion have recently been enacted into laws by the state legislature.

The measures provide that the United States flag shall be displayed from every schoolhouse in the state during the time the schools are in session,

WREATHS FOR VESSELS

Wreaths will be set afloat on Memorial Day from naval vessels passing near the place where the U. S. S. Ticonderoga was sunk by a German submarine. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt has announced in a letter to Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the American Legion. A request was made by the Legion for this tribute to the memory of those who lost their lives when German submarines sunk the ships that were carrying them to France during the World War.

AGAINST AMNESTY

Unalterable opposition to granting general amnesty to so-called "political prisoners" under conviction for treasonable conduct against the United States was expressed in a resolution adopted unanimously at a recent conference of commanders, adjutants and service officers of Oklahoma posts of the American Legion held in Oklahoma City. The resolution is in conformity with the legion's national policy on this question as determined by the last national convention.

Another resolution declared in favor of total exclusion of immigrants for a period of five years as a measure of prevention against the influx of the restless hordes of unemployed of Europe. Americanism work among foreigners was deemed necessary before others are admitted to this country.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

COMPLEXION HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Perspire the impurities out of the skin with exercise. Housework is wonderful exercise. Making beds and scrubbing the bathtub keeps the waistline firm; sweeping is good for the whole body; scrubbing floors is marvelous for hips and waist.

Put up your windows when you do your housework and sweep with some of those dustless thingamajigs, or your skin will suffer. When the hour or two or six of work is over, cleanse with cream, and bath for the eyes of boric acid water, and some good wash for nose and throat, and a towel tied over your hair all the time you're working.

Walking outdoors and breathing deep is not only glorious exercise, but very good for one's faith in life and man. When we get down on life as it's run in this planet, we plunge into a tub and scrub and swim, then we take a walk in the country or some place where there are trees and space and on our way back we shout from our heart out, like the mouse who drank the brandy "Bring on your cat!"

ASK YOUR HOUSE THESE QUESTIONS

A better home may be brought about by asking your house a few questions.

Are plenty of light, air, running water and a convenient interior arrangements provided? Every dweller has a right to these.

Is the daily life spread over too much floor-space? Four to six persons can be accommodated with the greatest ease as regards comfort, light, air and warmth within an area of seven hundred to one thousand square feet on each floor of a two-story house.

Are the doors and passages so arranged that draft, disturbance and dirt may be minimized? Doors should not open directly into a living-room. The stairway should not open directly into a living-room. One room should not be the only passageway to another.

Are there enough windows for light and ventilation? The total window area of a room should not be less than one-fifth or more than one-fourth the floor area. Too few windows mean poor ventilation and a dark interior which requires very light color schemes. Too many windows mean waste of heat and a glaring curtaining or dark color schemes to absorb the excess light.

Windows should be made tight against weather to save heat and tight against rattling to save nerves. For bedrooms and the kitchen, windows are needed on two outside walls. Does any member of the family sigh for more closet space? To facilitate orderly housekeeping, a generous closet or room should be provided near the outer door.

EATING FOR HEALTH

In planning the family dietary, one quart of milk a day should be purchased for each child under sixteen if it is economically possible to do so. Milk is the guardian of the bones and teeth.

There should be at least two vegetables served every day—three if possible. One of these is the potato or other starchy vegetable, and the other one or two of the succulent vegetables.

For good measure add leafy vegetables, such as cabbage, lettuce and spinach, three or four times a week—of tender, if possible. These contain growth promoters and body regulators.

Fresh fruit should be in the menu at least once a day—often is better. Dried fruit will do for adults, but the children should have fresh fruit, at least three or four times a week.

There may be sweets in every meal, but they should be in the form of sweet desserts rather than as sugar. The time for candy is at the end of the meal.

Meat and fish should be served once a day unless eggs and cheese are to be served. Children under five should have from three to five eggs each week when practicable. Some persons advocate no meat for children under six. If peas and beans are served instead of meat, plenty of milk should be used in the same meal.

Besides these foods there should be plenty of whole cereals and the grocer's bill should show at least two ounces of fat for each member of the family. Butter is the best for children.

COOKING MADE EASIER

To prevent cream from turning to butter when whipping, always add a little sugar before starting to whip.

Before fastening the food chopper to the table, place a piece of sand paper large enough to go under both clamps, rough side up. Screw the chopper tight and you will not be bothered with clamps working loose.

When cooking clam chowder, on any sirup which must cook slowly, place an old pie tin with a handful of salt spread over it underneath the cooking utensil. This will prevent burning. Line a pasteboard box with well-greased paper and use in place of tins for baking fruitcake. The cake will not burn nor bake with a hard crust.

When boiling molasses, grease pan about one inch from top to prevent boiling over.

One teaspoon of vinegar added to the fat in which doughnuts are fried will prevent the cakes from absorbing the fat.

DID IT EVER OCCUR

That an attractive flower box can be made from a tin cracker box? Enamel the box black and decorate in bright colors. A trellis may be attached to the back of the box or stuck into the earth. Paint the trellis ivory.

That you can make a porch lantern out of a tin can which is either square or cylindrical by cutting out spaces for the light to come through and filling them with sheets of mica?

That you can make a hanging basket for plants by enameling a banana crate some suitable color? When dry, fill with dirt and it is ready for vines and ferns.

That you can make handy shelves under stairs by inserting boards beneath the steps?

That a letter filing box can be covered with chints and used as a decorative and convenient receptacle for theater and concert programs?

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Washing hairbrushes is made easy by adding a tablespoon of ammonia to a basin of warm water, then rinsing thoroughly in cold water.

Boil a tablespoon of baking-soda in a pan that has been burned for about ten minutes and you will find that it can be easily cleaned.

Blotting-paper on the shelves of the medicine-cabinet will lessen the noise of handling bottles.

To keep the oven of the gas range from rusting, leave the door open and let the oven get cool after each baking. Newspapers served together and covered with cloth make an excellent pad for the diningroom table.

If corks are too large for bottles, just soak them in hot water for a few minutes to soften.

WORLD'S TOUR TUESDAY A MOST UNIQUE AND ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Salisbury Homes Where Stops Were Made Most Artistically Decorated And Costumes Of Performers Gorgeous And Appropriate—Woman's Club Deserving Of Credit.

The world's tour, conducted by the Wisconsin Woman's Club on Tuesday evening was a decided success from every angle viewed. Not only did the women realize a goodly sum for their clubhouse fund but the voyager was more than repaid for his investment.

At each of the beautiful residences representing different ports, the decorations were most lovely. These, with the appropriate and gorgeous costumes worn by the natives of the particular land, formed a spectacle long to be remembered by those taking advantage of the novel travel feature.

Promptly at 8 P. M. the first ship set sail from the "W" building and this was followed by others at regular intervals. The suburban home of Mrs. H. S. Wallis, Tony Tank Road, was the first port touched. This represented Scotland, and the entertainment features provided were soles by Mr. Claude C. Dorman, in Highland attire, and Miss Alice Ellett. Mrs. F. H. Dryden was at the piano. Miss Martha Bounds presented a Scottish dance and everywhere one looked they were made believe they were really in old Scotland.

The next stop was at the home of Miss Louise Tilghman on Camden Avenue. Here upon alighting one immediately felt that he was "back home," for on the left upon entering the porch majestically stood the Statue of Liberty, portrayed by Miss Nellie Mitchell. They were doubly sure they were in the best of all countries when upon entering the spacious hall they immediately faced a large American flag, behind which stood Mrs. William Feldman in Indian costume, who with her usual pleasing charm rendered the Star-Spangled Banner.

The guests were then invited to the garden which was brilliantly lighted and resembled an Indian camp. "Hiawatha" was effectively read by Miss Mildred Carver, she was assisted in pantomime by Miss Anne Messick, George Hitch and Tracey Holland. An Indian dance around the campfire to the beat of the tom-tom was then enacted by a group of small boys. The guests then went back into the house where Mrs. Feldman rendered "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

The voyagers then journeyed to the home of Comptroller and Mrs. William S. Gordy, "Lemon Hill," where they were greeted by Mr. F. W. C. Webb as master of ceremonies. This home represented Japan and the appointments were all Oriental. Mrs. Gordy, the Empress, was introduced as were the ladies of her court. Miss Mamie Woodcock sang a Japanese love song and several little girls in Japanese costume, led by Miss Isabel Toulson, did an Oriental dance.

From Japan to Spain was the next jump. At Madrid, Mrs. R. D. Grier's home on North Division street, the honor of meeting the king and queen was accorded the tourists. These renowned personages were represented by Mr. Fred P. Adkins and Mrs. A. F. Benjamin. At their left stood the country's most illustrious son, Christopher Columbus, portrayed by Mr. Walter E. Tilghman. Miss Julia Humphreys did a Spanish dance, a duet was sung by Misses Marion and Ruth Dobson and the program concluded with another dance by Miss Lucille Gullette and Mr. Edward Davis.

At each of the places visited refreshments were served. The affair was unique in every way and proved one of the most enjoyable to those participating of any home-talent production ever offered locally.

LOCAL POST

V. F. W. HOLDS BIG MEETING

Strong Bond Of Friendship Exists Between Body And Legionnaires Of Wicomico Post—Delegation Went To Crisfield Friday Night To Help Install Post There.

At the regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Tuesday night the 22nd, much was done towards ironing out the wrinkles in the Memorial Day exercises. A number of members turned out to help make this one of the liveliest meetings of the year. If there is a doubt in the minds of any one as to whether two separate and distinct ex-service organizations can exist in harmony in Salisbury, they should have been present at this meeting. Friends of the Legion met with friends of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The same tie that bound them together a few short years ago when they were united for one cause, was present at this meeting, and made them realize the necessity of forgetting petty jealousies, of the great need of combining both ideas for one mighty cause,—to perpetuate the glory and pay homage to those who sleep beneath an eternal blanket of Poppies.

Mr. Vice Commander G. Roger Bailey paid a glowing tribute to absent comrades, using as his subject the last few lines from "In Flanders Fields."

If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

More and more the ex-soldier organizations are learning that their greatest strength comes from uniting with the purpose of serving their communities. Several ideas were advanced at this meeting with this object in view.

Even as competition is the life of business so shall the rivalry between the Legion and the Veterans of For-sign Wars bring out the best that is in both of them. Both have the highest of ideals, both have a mighty tie that binds them together and both live with the one undying thought—to keep alive the memory of those comrades who gave their all at their Country's Call.

A delegation from Menus Post together with Herbert C. Blake, State Commander and several other state officials journeyed to Crisfield last Friday night and installed what promises to be a live post there.

MEMBERS OF BOY GANG TO REFORMATORY

Six Youths Arrested Last Week For Series Of Alleged Robberies In Town.

JUDGE BAILEY SENDS GANNON BROS. AWAY

With the arrest of six youths, all under 16 and said to be members of a boy gang of robbers, the city police believe they have found the parties responsible for an unusual large number of petty robberies that have been committed in this city lately.

The boys taken into custody last week by the local officers were: Daniel Gannon, 16; Harry Gannon, 11; Ernest Mitchell, 12; Dick Mitchell, 11; Russell Mitchell, 11; the last two named being twins.

At a hearing before Judge Bailey sitting in the Juvenile Court on Monday morning, Harry and James Gannon were committed to the St. Mary's Industrial School, Baltimore on the charge of being minors without proper care and guardianship. The other youths were paroled to the custody of their parents for a further hearing later on.

The arrest of the boys was bro about through the theft of a horse which it is alleged, Daniel and Harry Gannon and Ernest Ward united from a hitching post here in this city and started to drive to Pittsville. Here the Gannon brothers said, Ward had told them they could find work picking strawberries.

However, in driving through a mudhole in the woods, the boys broke down the carriage and abandoned it, walking back to Salisbury. The horse was found by a farmer near Willards and returned to its owner, Mr. George Furness of Eden. The next night they were arrested at their homes.

It is alleged that this gang of boys have participated in a number of robberies in this city during the past few weeks. Among the places said to have been entered are: E. G. Davis Candy Co., H. S. Todd & Co., and locker rooms at the Y.M.C.A.

DOINGS AT EAST SALISBURY SCHOOL

Many Activities Mark Closing Days Among Which An Annual School Exhibit And Musical Play

Temperance Day was fittingly observed during the Assembly period at East Salisbury School on Tuesday of this week. The program under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was in charge of Chairman, Mrs. J. Coston Goslee. The scriptural reading and prayer were followed by several choruses by the pupils and musical selections by the school orchestra. Rev. Shipley of the M. P. Church gave a most helpful and interesting talk on temperance.

The annual school exhibition was open to visitors from 9.00 A. M. to 3.30 P. M., and also during the evening of May 22nd. As usual the work of the different grades received well deserved praise from the patrons and friends. The display of hand work of various kinds was evidence of the untiring work and originality of teachers and pupils.

Even the most fastidious person was sorely tempted to taste the luscious fruit on display at the first grade clay-modeling corner. The knitted hats made by first and second grade children were exceptionally good. The weaving, wood-work, maps, drawing, writing and posters each held the attention of the visitors.

A goodly crowd were found gathered in the Assembly rooms of East Salisbury School by eight o'clock on Tuesday evening of this week for the final meeting of the East Salisbury School Community League.

The first part of the evening was given over to community singing. The program rendered by the school orchestra met with a round of well deserved applause. The chief work of the evening was the election of officers for next year. The result of the election was as follows:

President, Mr. P. M. Carey; vice-president, Mr. Wilson Lank; secretary, Miss Gertrude Killiam; treasurer, Miss Nellie Killiam.

A musical play, "The Runaway Song" given by the fifty children of East Salisbury School, will be given at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening, June 1st at 8.15 P. M.

Out in the Open

Is where most energetic men like to spend all of their leisure moments nowadays. And whatever the occasion, they have their own ideas of what constitutes the proper attire.

The young man—full of life and inclined to constant activity—naturally has a liking for Garments with some snap to their lines and colors. He's the fellow we advise to come here and choose from the wide variety of Norfolks, Pinch, Pleat or Belted Back Suits we have on display. Though they come in various shades, the light Gray and Tan models are proving most popular at the prices we ask.

SEASON OPENS WITH VICTORY TO SALISBURY

"White Clouds" On Long End Of 3-1 Score With Crisfield Friday.

ROACHE AND TOLSON STARS OF THE OPENER

1600 Fans See Manager Shipley's Warriors Overcome 1-0 Lead And Grab Contest At Gordy Park—Hearn And Lattin Out Of Game On Account Of Injuries.

The Eastern Shore Baseball League season in Salisbury opened quite auspiciously last Friday afternoon from the standpoint of the local roster by the administration of a 3-1 defeat to the Crisfield "Crabbers," at whose hands the local team suffered such an inglorious defeat in the 1922 opening game.

Over 1600 paid admissions were recorded at the box office. Beside this number, a general hundred saw the game from vantage points on roofs, up trees, on top of wagons and elsewhere outside the grounds.

Business in Salisbury at three o'clock was virtually at a standstill and long before the time for calling the game the grandstand was comfortably filled as well as bleachers.

At 3:20 the players of each team lined up and with Managers Burt Shipley and Gus Smith, of Salisbury and Crisfield respectively, each holding an end of "Old Glory," marched to the flagpole in center field and unfurled to the breeze the Stars and Stripes as the band played and the vast crowd stood with heads uncovered and applauded.

Mayor Kennerly then proceeded to the pitching mound and threw in the first ball after which the game was on. "Lefty" Hearn was the moundman for the "White Clouds" but after managing to retire the side in the first, had to relinquish his task with but one man out in the second because of a split finger. The score stood 1-0 with Crisfield leading when Long Jim Roache, his successor took the place.

With his usual remarkable control, a baffling change of pace and his deceptive slants, Roache prevented the visitors from scoring during the remaining innings. Not content with doing his duty on the slab, the elongated third baseman, who had elongated the pill over the left field fence for a homer tying the score. This proved the beginning of the end for the Crisfield team, for after one man had been retired and Kunosh had singled, Tolson, the popular big first sacker, brought the crowd to its feet in a frenzy as he lifted the ball over deep center field fence for another four-ply wallop.

Following Hearn's injury, the "jinx of 1922" seemed still to be on the "White Clouds" trail when Lattin, the diminutive shortstop, wrenched his ankle and had to retire. His play was taken by Ganshorn, whose catch of a liner from the first man up in the ninth was the feature fielding play of the afternoon.

Although each team made but six hits, those of Salisbury were bunched, resulting in winning the game, while Roache managed to keep the visitors' blows well scattered.

Fans in general are well pleased with Manager Shipley's combination. While there appeared to be some weak spots in the lineup, close followers of the game realize that the contest in which the team makes its debut is a strenuous one and oftentimes a man does not show off to best advantage under such circumstances.

SENIORS ARE THE GUESTS OF HONOR

Their Entertainment By Junior Class Of W.H.S. Friday Night Proves Highly Enjoyable Affair

On Friday evening the faculty and the Seniors of Wicomico High School were royally entertained by the Junior Class. The evening's program was opened by an address of welcome, very well delivered by the Junior class president, Dorothy Mellett. This was followed by a selection by the high school orchestra directed by Mr. John Hopkins.

A trio made up of two violinists, Lillian Parker and Grace Walls and pianist Nettie Coulbourne, played a very pretty selection. Grace Walls gave two interesting recitations, after this a trio with Grace Walls and Lillian Parker playing violins and Louise Fields playing mandolin, rendered a selection.

This part of the program was followed by a three act play entitled "Twenty Years Hence." The idea of the play was to prophesy the future of the members of the Senior Class. The prophecies seemed to favor the ladies for all the important political positions were held by women while the less important were cast upon the men. The prophecies, good and bad, were taken with good heart by the Seniors.

Upon the drawing of the curtain on the third and last act of the play the program was turned over to the charge of the Senior class who then presented very amusing gifts to their classmates and members of the faculty. The likes and dislikes of the different members were clearly shown by the nature of the gifts.

FIVE HOMERUNS

Pete Schneider, of the Vernon Coast League team set a new record when he slammed out five home runs in six times at bat last week. The former record was made by Bobby Lowe, of Boston, who registered four.

Superintendent of the County schools, the junior and senior class advisors, Mr. Hackett and Mrs. Pope, and the presidents of the junior and senior classes, Dorothy Mellett and Tracy Holland, Under the bouquet of flowers which served as a centerpiece they found dainty little boxes in which were beautiful gifts presented by the junior and senior classes. The seniors were royally feasted with all sorts of delicacies.

OUT FISHIN'

A feller isn't thinkin' mean,
Out fishin';
His thoughts are mostly good and clean,
Out fishin';
He doesn't knock his fellow men,
Or harbor any grudges then;
A feller's at his finest when
Out fishin'.

The rich are comrades to the poor
Out fishin';
All brothers of a common lure,
Out fishin';
The urchin with the pin and string
Can chum with millionaire an' king;
Vain pride is a forgotten thing,
Out fishin'.

A feller's glad to be a friend,
Out fishin';
A helpin' hand he'll always lend,
Out fishin';
The brotherhood of rod and line
An' gill net is always fine;
Men come real close to God's design,
Out fishin'.

A feller isn't plotting schemes,
Out fishin';
He's only business with his dream,
Out fishin';
His liver is a coat of tan,
His creed—to do the best he can;
A feller's always mostly man,
Out fishin'.

STATE TITLE IS ANNEXED BY DR. BURRIS

Salisbury Physician Tops Amateur Gunners Of Md. In Baltimore Shoot.

LEADS FIELD WITH HIGH MARK OF 45-50

Tournament Was By Far The Greatest Ever Held In Baltimore And Took Place Last Friday And Saturday—Worthington Pro Champion Successfully Defends Laurels.

Eastern Shore trapshooters finished one-two in the Maryland amateur doubles championship, the only title event to be decided in the thirtieth annual State shoot over the Oriole Gun Club's traps, Baltimore Highlands, Friday last. Dr. A. B. Burris of this city is the newly crowned champion. He stopped the field with the excellent score of 45-50, while second honors fell to C. S. Kaufman of Denton, who shattered 43. Dr. Burris succeeds H. C. Krout, who failed to defend his title this season.

H. Linn Worthington, the seemingly perpetual pro-doubles champion, again captured the title in money ranks, registering the same score as Dr. Burris, 45-50.

The first half of the State singles championship brought out a field of seventy-five amateur scatter-gun artists.

The tournament, which was by far the greatest ever held in Baltimore, and which attracted the leading gunners of the city, was concluded Saturday when the last half of the State singles and Maryland State handicap was shot.

Dr. Burris, the new champion, is one of the best known men on the Peninsula. For years he was athletic director at Washington College, Chestertown. He has played baseball in nearly every town of any size in this section and since taking up the clay pigeon sport has participated in shoots in various places and has many times been successful in being one of the high guns. For the past several years, Dr. Burris has been Superintendent of the Pine Bluff Sanatorium, which is located on the Wicomico River just outside of Salisbury.

EASTERN SHORE LEAGUE FLASHES

By "DIAMOND."

Poke Whalen must believe explicitly in the old adage of "making hay while the sun shines." Last year with Parksley his early run of victories practically clinched the gonfalon. On Tuesday at noon he was "settin' pretty," with his Laurel Blue Hen's Chicks undefeated in three starts.

President Thawley is commencing to find out that having all league balls autographed with his name on them is not all the honor there is to being head of the "baby minor." Already he is being called upon to review a forfeited game, a protested contest and to see that a deposed manager gets justice meted out to him.

Someone said before the season that Tolson would lead the league in home runs. We are ready to concede you are right brother but we won't say step up and get the prize because there isn't but one hospital in Salisbury to care for the "I told you so's" who would get injured in the rush.

Tolson's home run record to Tuesday: Games played 3; Circuit Clouts: Friday 1; Saturday 1; Monday 1.

The opening Dover-Milford series ran true to prediction as far as attendance was concerned, the two day paid admissions totalling more than those in any other towns in the circuit. Go to it, ye rivals of old!

DEATH RATE FROM TYPHOID FEVER HEAVY

Measles, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria And Other Diseases Also On Wane—Public Health Service Important Factor In Their Eradication—Has Dropped From 35.9 To 9.2.

"The part played by the United States Public Health Service in the prevention of disease is not easy to evaluate," says Surgeon General H. S. Cumming. "Some kinds of prevention work, such as that of barring foreign diseases out of the country are now wholly in its hands; and for the results of such—specifically for keeping out typhus, plague, and cholera while they were ravaging Europe—the Service may fairly claim full credit. But most other kinds of prevention work in which it has been engaged have been carried on in greater or less part with the co-operation of State Health Officers.

Preventing the spread of disease from one State to another differs markedly from preventing the importation of disease from abroad; and except for the co-operation of the State health authorities, it could have been efficiently carried out only with great difficulty. The United States has authority over interstate traffic; but the several States have sole jurisdiction over traffic within their borders; and co-operation as to health regulations is essential to the adequate protection of passengers. Through such co-operation, formerly conflicting regulations have been harmonized and agreed upon by the Public Health Service and by twenty states in whole and by most of the other States in part; and this has made travel in the United States relatively safe from the standpoint of health. For instance, drinking water on trains and steamboats, which not so very long ago was obtained almost anywhere and which now and then carried typhoid fever germs, must now be taken from sources that have been examined and certified by the State authorities and the Public Health Service jointly.

"Laboratory study of disease is carried on chiefly by the Service; but field work, by which data for the investigation are obtained and the results are often tested, can be carried on successfully only through the co-operation of the States.

"In even more essentially co-operative work (rural hygiene, for example, it is difficult to say whether more credit for the great success of a particular work is due to the Public Health Service officers who direct, the State health officers who sustain him, or the citizens of the locality who toil to put the work into effect.

"During the last twenty years the annual death rate in the United States has dropped for typhoid fever from 35.9 to 9.2 per hundred thousand of the population; for measles from 12.5 to 3.9; for scarlet fever from 10.2 to 2.8; for diphtheria from 43.3 to 14.7; for pneumonia from 180.5 to 123.6; and from all causes from 1,755 to 1,288.

"This wonderful improvement in the health of the country is not due to the work of any one organization but to that of all of them. The Public Health Service, in common with many others in the State health services and in private life, has done its part in working out the methods by which this advance has been attained. The Service, however, has, perhaps, been a little better able to render help because of its position as a central agency which collected information from everywhere which trained its officers by sending them (with the co-operation of the State Health authorities) to the battle front whenever an epidemic appeared in any State; and which sifted this and all other information that it obtained, digested it, and finally disseminated it so widely by formal printed reports; by newspaper and magazine articles, and by radio broadcasts that it could not fail to come to the attention of a great number of workers who could not otherwise have learned of it, some of whom, failing to learn, might have been unable to carry to completion some task that would have fitted into the walls or might even have capped a pinnacle in the great health structure that the workers of today are building for the benefit of generations yet to come.

A SUMMER SUGGESTION FOR THOSE WHO HAVE CARS

In the Old Ladies Home there sits all alone
As dear an old lady as you've ever known.
Now how would it seem, as you ride thru the park,
To give this old lady a bit of a lark?
Of sunshine and air it's easy to talk,
But what about ladies not able to walk?
Just call on the Matron, and say,
"I'm here
To give some dear shut-in an hour of good cheer."
Your heart will be lighter to do this kind deed,
And share the sunshine with one now in need."

When the clock needs oiling, or even when it refuses to run, saturate a piece of cotton with kerosene oil and place it inside the clock case. Often this is all that is needed in the way of repair.

MAN IS TO BLAME

If our women are unbalanced or unseated or out of place, what is the cause? Who is to blame? Who brought about this change? There is but one answer. Her God-decreed protector is to blame. Man is wholly responsible.

Woman's place is home. Her throne is the domestic circle. She didn't leave it of her own volition. She didn't sacrifice her place voluntarily. Man is wholly responsible for the unbalanced condition of woman. It is his business to provide and protect. And it is his business to exercise the righteous discipline necessary to a perfect home.

He has utterly failed. He has failed through indulgence, because of a lack of courage, a sense of responsibility, and a willingness to face his plain duty. He has practiced indulgence until he has made the woman extremely extravagant.

The average girl hates work, despises domestic responsibility, and is criminally conspiring to avoid those high duties.

The man has neglected to build the home, to make it attractive and magnetic. Consequently, the woman has gone out into the world. Many of them because of necessity have been forced into the trades to live. Many of them have gone out into the world because the head of the family did not make the home happy, did not regulate it.

Women have been thrown into the nerve-wracking conditions of the outer world and the strain is too great, her nerves are unsettled; she is unbalanced. Her unbalanced condition has produced a state of extravagance, which is jeopardizing the whole domestic life of America.

If fathers do not go back to their homes, and husbands do not perform their duties as heads of their families, the domestic life of America will suffer irreparably.

MANY AT SNOW HILL

HEAR REV. H. P. FOX

Dr. John L. Riley presided at a large meeting held in Whatcoat M. E. Church Thursday evening in the interest of the program of the Lord's Day Alliance.

Rev. Robert Mathews of All Hallowes Church, offered prayer, the audience sang "America" and Dr. Fox, pastor of Asbury M. E. Church, Salisbury, made a stirring address on "Why the Lord's Day." He showed very plainly that we cannot keep the entire seven days for ourselves and be prosperous either personally or as a nation. He made plain the bad effects of breaking down our Sabbath laws, the demoralizing effect of Sunday baseball, moving pictures and theatricals and appealed to the people to see to it that our Sunday laws are kept on the statute books of Maryland.

Resolutions were offered by Dr. Kewer, which were unanimously adopted commending the Lord's Day Alliance and pledging the people to its support.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney trouble and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a Salisbury woman says:

"Mrs. Gordon Hurley, 414 E. Isabella St., says: 'Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy I ever used for kidney complaint and I never miss an opportunity to recommend them. My kidneys were weak and if I overworked or took cold it settled on them, causing such severe backaches I could hardly keep going. Mornings, especially, I felt dull and languid and when I stooped or went up or down stairs I had blinding dizzy spells and almost toppled over. The action of my kidneys was irregular and my sight was affected. Doan's Kidney Pills from White & Leonard's Drug Store soon rid me of all this trouble. The backaches left and I felt fine.'"

FLOORS

The Eskimo has floors of ice, and probably he thinks them nice, and strictly up to date; but if there ever came a thaw they'd be the worst you ever saw, and that's as sure as fate. The Arab has his floor of sand; I have no doubt he thinks it grand, a floor beyond compare; but sand is full of bugs and ants, and they climb up a fellow's pants, when he sits in a chair.

The Mexican has floors of dirt, and floors of that sort will not hurt, so long as weather's dry; but when there comes a season wet such floors are not the one best bet, which no one can deny.

In olden times men built their homes with battlements and towers and domes, and ornaments of gold; but all the floors were made of stone, and they made people sigh and groan, they were so hard and cold.

And then with rushes they were strewn, to make them warmer to the shoon, and also to the feet; and those stale rushes would decay; their scent would drive the folks away, in agonized retreat.

If took uncounted years of toil and planning by the midnight oil to dope out modern floors; the floors on which we dance and walk, and sing and cuss and wildly talk of hoarders and such bores.

The floors on which we spend our lives, and train our kids, and beat our wives, are surely handsome things; be they of color light or dark, we proudly view them and remark, "They're good enough for kings."

Your mansion might have jasper walls, the finest painting in its halls that artists can produce, and onyx stairs and marble doors, but if it had no modern floors 'twould be a poor excuse.

Good hardwood floors make life a pome; they beautify your happy home as nothing else can do; your lumber dealer has the best; the years have given it the test that means so much to you.

Have you ever thought of the advantages of this high-type flooring? They are many.

Nature has particularly favored this splendid and most substantial of all American hard-woods. Its very name stands for durability, while as a flooring, the natural beauty of the wood is unexcelled.

There is an Oak Flooring grade for every flooring purpose—from public building to private home and from castle to cottage.

A well informed landlord knows that Oak Flooring commands a higher rental, and at the same time attracts a better class of tenants. ### REEDVILLE Reedville was greatly saddened last week by the passing away of Mr. J. F. Shackelford, of the Reedville House. Though he had been in bad health for years, his condition was not considered serious until a little while ago. Mr. Shackelford was of such a sunny, happy disposition, it was hard to believe him sick. Among the beautiful floral offerings at Roseland the day of his funeral was a handsome wreath by the children of Reedville High School with "R. H. S." in tiny pink roses.

The Junior Willing Circle also presented a large wreath of pink roses and a large number of the school children attended the burial, observing the last sad rites over a beloved friend. Deepest sympathy is felt by everyone for Mrs. Shackelford and her sons, Hinton and William in their great bereavement.

Mr. John R. Hinton, of Reedville, came home last week after a week or two at Johns Hopkins. Many friends are glad to know that he is so much better and gladly welcome him home.

Capt. C. F. Haynie on the Sue Constance, took a party of men including the father and other relatives of Mr. Leslie Luttrell, of near Avalon, down the bay one day last week to view the body which had been found. It proved however to be a colored man, of the crew of the J. A. Chelton, which was lost off Tangier Island a few weeks ago. No trace of the young man who disappeared from the McKeever, has been found. All hearts have gone out in sympathy to the bereaved ones in their heart breaking sorrow.

I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches.—Advt."

Yes,
times have changed

MANY centuries ago the word "idiot" meant a member of the Roman citizenry. Citizens in general would recent the implication that the word conveys, today. There are still idiots, but the application of the word is entirely different from what it was of old.

There was also a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

Today you can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their services believe in them. You can safely share their confidence.

PROSPERITY KEEPS RAILROADS OF UNITED STATES ON THE RUN

Business Exceeds Predictions Of Railway's Chiefs By 750,000 Tons A Week—Mills, Factories And Mines Pour Forth Products To Establish Record.

The railroads' advance estimates of prosperity, made public at their get-together meeting in New York some weeks ago, have been shot to pieces. Business has been better by 750,000 tons of freight a week than the expected. The million-car week appears just around the turn of the calendar, three months ahead of its expected time.

We stand today, according to American Railway Association figures, at the topmost point of our prosperity as a nation. The volume of the country's business is greater at the present time, the association states, than it has ever been in any May of which there is a record. This includes, of course, the period of our post-armistice boom as well as the industrial fever of war time. Both approached, but neither equaled, our present-day activity.

Figures made public by the association show the following situation: For eight weeks past car loadings, which mean the volume of output of American mills, factories, mines and other producing agencies—have topped, by an average of about 25,000 cars a week, the bright red line across the chart of expected loadings prepared by the carriers late in March.

For the same period of time, car shortage has been steadily decreasing. It stands today at a net figure of about 25,000 cars, of about one-fourth of 1 per cent. In other words for every 400 cars requested by shippers for loading purposes, 399 have been delivered. These deliveries have been accomplished in the face of a growing volume of freight movements and constitute a feat in American railroading which has seldom been approached and never surpassed.

More serviceable locomotives are in use at the present time than since August 20, when roads began to keep tabs on their motive power. Recovery from the shopmen's strike appears to have been complete, both as to the number of disabled locomotives and bad-order cars.

The association has prepared figures showing in some detail the classes of freight they have handled recently. The presentation, released recently indicates that the greatest measure of revival has been felt among the factories and small shippers. It establishes, on the record, the existence of a strong upward trend to the volume of such business as distinguished from an equally sensational drop in the volume of such business during April and May of 1920 and a much slower climb during the same months last year.

Those classes of shippers are sending over the rails, according to the association's reports, from 550,000 to 630,000 carloads every week—from 490,000 to 520,000 carloads or from 14,000,000 to about 15,000,000 tons. The increase within the year appears to have been from 20 to 25 per cent. More than half of all the traffic is composed of such freight.

Lumber and other forest products show a greater percentage increase than factory products, but the volume of their movement is less. Since the last of February the railroads have been moving lumber and kindred products at the rate of from 72,000 to 80,000 carloads a week, as compared with 52,000 to 54,000 carloads a week during the same period in 1922.

Whatever the building trade figures may show, the railroads presentation discloses an increase in that sort of traffic amounting to from 35 to 35 per cent. during the past 10 weeks. Car loadings average about the same for the present and past year from January 1 to May 1, but coke loadings have increased more than 100 per cent. Even farm products appear to be on the upward swing. Loadings of grain and grain products in April of last year averaged about 35,000 cars a week; the past April they averaged nearly 40,000 cars. Livestock loadings also show an increase, rising from an average of about 27,000 carloads to 32,000 carloads weekly.

Dangers of inflation, Government officials here say, have lessened. An evidence of the healthier situation, as viewed here, is the recent drop in security values on the New York Stock Exchange. The bull movement had long been in operation and had carried many stocks to points patently out of line. These, it is believed however, received corrective treatment of general benefit.

POPULARITY AT DANCE

Times haven't changed is so far as a man still asks a girl for a dance. Perhaps there is less elaborate thanking on the man's part. Remember, however, that it is still poor form for a girl to thank a man.

It is still poor form, also for a man to leave a girl stranded, or for a girl to walk around unescorted. A man should never, much as he may wish to, excuse himself to his partner and prance off to beg a dance from another girl. He first provides for his partner of the moment. She, if she feels that he feels he is "stuck", should make an excuse to go and powder her nose and let the poor chap off.

Only at college dances are programs very much used now, where they are an undoubted convenience. At college dances, as indeed at others, the custom of cutting-in has gained great headway. It's all right for everybody except the girls who don't get cut in on.

If a girl finds from sad experience at a couple of dances that she doesn't get cut in on, if she is wise, she will analyze the situation and ask herself where the trouble lies.

In the first place, does she dance well? If she dances badly, no matter how pretty she is, she is greatly handicapped. A girl who is a good dancer is the more popular. The feet beat the face practically every time at a dance.

So, if a girl realizes that she isn't a breeze at dancing, the first thing to do if she doesn't want to be a wallflower is to learn to dance. It's an old theory that if you want to do a thing badly enough you will—and there are few people who can't learn to dance if they stick at it so that it becomes automatic.

The next thing for a girl to do is to analyze her looks, make a study of her skin and hair. Such questions as to whether she should wear her hair bobbed or unbobbed come, up, or maybe she hasn't the right sort of gown, or it may be in the style but not in her style! The right frock and the sense of looking her smartest give a girl a certain feeling of assurance that goes a long way toward her success.

TOMATO PACK SHIFTING TO WEST WARD

Loss To Eastern Cannery Said To Be Substantial And Probably Permanent On Account Of Increase In Freight Rates—Weekly Letter By Tabbet Concern On Situation.

Pursuant to the promise to send a weekly letter pending the time when the hope to be able to furnish daily information service by radio John S. McDaniel & Co., Easton are giving analysis of the Canned Tomato statistics for the year 1922 which have been prepared with some care.

The average pack in the whole country for 5 years prior to 1917 was 13,012,000 cases. The pack for 1922 was 11,583,000 cases, a reduction of 12 1/2%. The average pack of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey for 5 years prior to 1917 was 7,468,000 cases. The pack in these states in 1922 was 4,132,000 cases, a reduction of 3,336,000 cases or a decrease of 45%. For five years prior to 1917 the Tri-State pack over 55% of the total pack or just 962,000 cases more than half of the pack while in 1922 it packed only 205,000 cases over one-third the total pack. The decrease in Ohio and New York was 177,000 cases.

The average pack of Virginia and West Virginia for five years prior to 1917 was 918,000 cases. The pack in these states for 1922 was 891,000 cases a reduction of only 27,000 cases or a decrease of less than .04%.

The average pack in California, Utah, Colorado and Washington for five years prior to 1917 was 2,020,000 cases. The pack in these states for 1922 was 2,533,000 cases, an increase of 513,000 cases or an increase of 25%.

nesota, Tennessee, Kentucky and all other states for five years prior to 1917 was 1,898,000 cases. The pack in these states for 1922 was 3,463,000 cases, a gain of 1,565,000 cases or an increase of 82%.

A gain in packing in the Middle West and the Pacific Coast States of 2,073,000 cases compared with a loss of 3,336,000 cases in the Tri-State is significant.

The figures demonstrate the shifting of a part of the pack from the East to the West.

The loss to Eastern Tomato Cannery is substantial, and is probably permanent on account of the increase in freight rates. Under the old rates and when No. 3 Tomatoes were selling at 80c f.o.b. Eastern factory it cost about 8c per dozen to deliver in Chicago. It now costs about 25c per dozen to deliver in Chicago while the Eastern selling price is $1.25 or more.

On account of the increased canning near to the middle Western markets, any increase in Tri-State canning must find a market here in the East. How much more than the 1922 pack, will the Eastern market stand without reducing prices?

HEALTH BEGINS AT HOME

For years the United States of America has turned a hearing ear and a helping hand and a tender heart to the plight of the children of the war-torn and famine-ridden lands of Europe. It has sent food to build up their small bodies, skeleton-thin or swollen with hunger. It has sent warm clothing to protect these helpless ones from the rigors of winter. It has sent trained relief workers to bear in person to these little ones the best skill and love of our nation. All through Europe the United States has established itself firmly as the children's friend.

This is as it should be, nor is there any adequate reason why our country should desert from the precedent it has established. Humanity knows no boundaries. Suffering childhood may rightly claim sheltering parent-care from all the world.

But the United States of America must not, in remembering the children of other countries, forget its own. Child health, like charity, should begin at home. It is a significant fact that the American Relief Administration, which during the last eight years has cared for more than 15,000,000 children of Europe, has now decided to put its full strength into work for American children, under the auspices of the newly organized American Child Health Association. It is a matter of no light import that Herbert Hoover, secretary of our Department of Commerce and known throughout the world as a leading organizer of child relief, has considered the need here in the United States great enough to demand the new organization of which he will be president. It is a thing to engage the public attention that two such organizations as the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America merge to form this new American Child Health Association, in order to strengthen the effort for the advancement of child health in the country.

That it is a critical situation of utmost concern is proved by a few of the facts with which the American Child Health Association confronts the country. There are slightly more than 22,000,000 school children in the United States, they tell us. Of these children millions, it is estimated from reliable studies, are so far below average weight as to demand searching inquiry as to the cause and many are suffering from serious defects.

Nor is this all. The statistics compiled by the American Child Health Association show that 200,000 of the 2,500,000 babies born in the United States every year die before they are a year old. They show a maternal mortality rate of over seven deaths in childbirth for every thousand live births, as against less than three deaths per thousand in Italy, Norway and Sweden. More than half these deaths of both mothers and babies could be prevented by skillful and intelligent care. The percentage of malnutrition and physical defects in our schools could be reduced to an inconsiderable minimum.

It is the children of our own land who are now crying out to us for aid. Their need is not a startling crisis of war or famine, but none the less great and none the less real. The nation's whole future is affected unless their health is assured.

The American Child Health Association offers every citizen in the United States, not merely every doctor, every nurse, every teacher, every welfare worker, and every parent, but every citizen of the nation, a way to come to the aid of the country's children by getting behind the new health program it has outlined for them. A few people, even though they are led by men as great as Herbert Hoover and the nationally known doctors and child health workers who have enrolled under his leadership, cannot bring wide success to health plans of the scope that the Association has worked out for the children of the United States. It will take us all.

Will we fail to recognize that America's children too, have their claims?

FORMER RESIDENT OF COUNTY WRITES NEWS

In a letter to the Wicomico News this week, Mr. Emanuel Zegafuse, a former resident of the county, has the following to say concerning conditions in his new home:

"We are having a very backward spring season, wet and cold weather for this season of the year. Some haven't commenced planting corn yet and what is planted is not doing much good, some garden truck looks good, there will be an abundance of fruit if we do not have frost or damage later, we had a snow storm the 9th of May, never known by the oldest inhabitants but the weather not being cold didn't do great damage. I have partly gained back my former health and am working pretty steady every day, wages good with shortage of laborers. Will close with best regards to Editors and staff, also friends and neighbors. Truly yours, Emanuel Zegafuse, Roann, Indiana.

RESERVE

All of us like to think of a reserve to fall back upon in the hour of trouble. In the last analysis, reserve is thrift. Thrift is the opposite of improvidence and waste.

Thrift means better homes, better food and clothes; more comfort and enjoyment; less waste and anxiety. Money is the insignia of labor. It represents an investment in brawn and brain. It is the most elastic reserve.

Money is power. It means liberty and a freedom from the curse of poverty.

CAMP FOR SALISBURY GIRLS AT FAIRLEE PRECEDES ONE FOR BOYS

"Y" Management In Response To Demand Will Conduct One From July 6-16 For "Fair Sex"—Boys Will Be Under Canvas From July 16-31.

Not only are the boys of this community, with the advent of warm weather, struggling valiantly to mix lessons with thoughts of good old vacation days but the members of the "fairer sex" are having their brains perplexed with the same fancies, they are thinking the same thoughts, dreaming the same dreams and looking forward with the same anticipations to the days when books will be shelved and they will go for their stay under canvas just as the boys have for the past two summers done, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of Salisbury.

To fill the demand for a girls camp, the management of Salisbury's "Y" announces this week that they will offer the same advantages to the girls which have heretofore made Camp Fairlee such a success with the boys and have set the dates as July 6-16. The camp will be under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Williams with Wm. L. Boggs, as Camp Director. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be assisted by a corps of capable leaders and every precaution for the safety and comfort of the campers taken. Applications for this camp must be in to the Y.M.C.A. by July 2nd.

For the third consecutive summer, the Boys Camp will be run. It will again be under the direction of Physical Director William L. Boggs, whose ability as a camp director need but a casual mention, the words of the 50 or more satisfied lads who attended either in 1921 or 1922, speaking for themselves. One item alone bespeaks the painstaking efforts of Mr. Boggs and is somewhat unusual in many camps of two years straight running and that is not a single case of sickness has developed in camp during that period.

Assisting Mr. Boggs will be Walter E. Tilghman, of this city who spent a week at Fairlee last summer. Mr. Tilghman will act in the capacity of Camp Supervisor. He was a member of Company during the World War, thoroughly conversant with camping and popular with the boys.

This camp will start at the termination of the girls' outing, on July 16th and will run for 15 days. Nearly all of last year's tent leaders will be back again and this year's camp is expected to be the best ever. Last year several boys were down from Baltimore and it is likely the same will be the case this time.

Camp Fairlee will be located on a bluff overlooking the Chesapeake Bay about two miles north of Tolchester Beach in Kent County and is accessible by good roads from Chestertown. It has one of the best bathing beaches along the bay and the fishing just off the camp is unsurpassed. The buildings and tents are on high ground overlooking the bay and the slope of the land permits good, quick drainage. There are beautiful wooded areas and the water supply is absolutely pure.

The sleeping tents will be large Army squad tents, and each group will consist of six campers and an adult leader. Regular army cots will be used, the heavy canvas making the bed surface very comfortable and sanitary.

A camp must be wisely chosen to insure the health and happiness of the campers. Camp Fairlee is fortunate in being situated in a section of the State where it will be supplied with fresh vegetables, eggs, milk, etc. Charlie Hutton who pleased the boys as well last year, will cook for the camp.

The morning starts with a short setting up exercise followed by a dip in the bay. Breakfast is served and the camp cleaned up. The days program is varied and while there is always something doing the camper is allowed as much freedom as possible. Fungibility at meals is insisted upon. The day is brought to a close with a camp fire around which tales are told and songs are sung.

Baseball, volley ball and basket ball form the larger part of the games at camp, while fishing trips and crabbing parties will be arranged for.

The beach at Camp Fairlee is well situated for bathing and swimming, the water sloping very gradually from the shore. Campers will be taught to swim and at the swimming period the water will be patrolled by instructors. No camper will be allowed to go into the water except at regular bathing periods. Tests will be given and the campers graded as to their ability to swim. Distinguishing marks will be given each group and they must remain within certain limits.

COLLEGE-BRED PARENTS HAVE FEW CHILDREN

Mt. Holyoke Survey Indicates That Birth Rate Declines Among Women Of Higher Education

Is college education for women a factor in the declining birthrate? This and other questions are partly answered in a report in the American Journal of Sociology. The material is taken from a study made by members of the class in statistics at Mount Holyoke College under the direction of Prof. Amy Hewes, head of the department of economics. The figures tend to show that college educated couples have smaller families and that the college education of the mother is a more influential factor in this connection than is the education of the father.

The conclusions are based on data gathered from the families of 670 students and from their parents' families.

"In the parents' generation the average number of children in the family was five," says the report, "but in the students' generation the average number was three. This is a significant shrinkage for the short span of one generation, but the figures in this form give no proof that the sharp drop in the size of the family is characteristic of college families only."

"The next step was therefore the comparison of the number of children born in families which had not felt the influence of higher education. So small a proportion of the families in either generation (355 in all, or less than one fifth) had gone to college that the figures are inconclusive; but as they stand they indicate that college education for the parents means smaller families than they would otherwise have and that it is the college education of the mother which is the more important in keeping down the size of the family.

"The average number of children born in families in which neither parent had a college education was 4.6 in cases where the father had a college education, but the mother had not, the average number of children was 3.7; where the mother alone had gone to college the average 3.1, and where both parents were college-trained the average number of children born to them was 3.0."

"The number of children born, however, is only a partial indication of the effect of college training on the ultimate size of the family, for the proportion of children who survive is a figure which is demanded by modern analysis. Here again the results are not conclusive, but the indication is that the children of college parents have the better chance of surviving, and that it is in the families in which the mother is a college woman that the proportion of children who survive is greatest."

"In the students' generation 90 per cent. of the children of college parents were still living, but only 85.9 per cent. of the children of non-college parents were living. Where the mother alone had gone to college the figure was close to the percentage of both parents (91.7 per cent.). In the parents' generation the percentage of survival for the children was 68.3 in the families where both parents were college-trained and 69.9 where neither had gone to college. In cases where the mother only had attended college the percentage of children surviving was the highest of all—77 per cent."

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I had heard so much about Lydia E. I had been sick off and on for years and barely weighed a hundred pounds, but now I had much good results that I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to every one."—Mrs. J. J. Finds a True Friend
"Every woman who values her health should be proud to have a true friend like the Vegetable Compound," says Mrs. W. E. Shaw, 3227 Walnut Street, Chicago, Illinois. "I had female weakness so badly that I could not stand on my feet. Half of my time was spent in bed and I had pains in my back which were unbearable. I tried everything I could think of to help myself, and when a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began taking it at once. I recommend it without hesitation."
