Teachers And Trustees Meet

The public schools of Somerset county opened yesterday (Monday) and the regular school work began today (Tuesday). Yesterday a meeting of teachers and trustees was held in the Court House at Princess Anne, the object of which was to arouse school spirit.

Dr. Gordon T. Atkinson, president of the Board of Education, acted as chairman of the meeting and the program rendered was very entertaining and instructive. Mr. William S. Pitman, Field Leader for the State, made an address and gave demonstrations in physical education.

Representing the Silver Burdett Company, of New York, gave demonstration lesson in primary reading to a class of beginners of the high school. Drs. Charles W. Wainwright and H. G. Alexander, members of the Board of Education, made short addresses on sanitation and hygiene. Miss Mildred Powell, of Princess Anne, and Miss Miriam Dryden, of the Crisfield High School, made discussion on English. Mrs. Miriam Shepard Davidson, of Frankford, Del., spoke on music in the public schools. State Superintendent M. Bates Stephens and Prof. Wm. J. Holloway, State Supervisor of Rural School, were also present during the day.

The faculty of the Washington High School is as follows: W. A. N. Bowland, principal; Stewart Fitzgerald, Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, Mildred Powell, Mrs. Gussie Porter, Elizabeth Cahill, Nannie C. Fontaine, Jane Wilson; manual training, Florida Ashby; domestic science, Frances Moore.

V. Girman Pusey Dies Suddenly

Mr. Van Girman Pusey died suddenly Monday night of last week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Pusey, in Mt. Vernon district, aged 27 years.

Mr. Pusey lived at Cape Charles, Va., where he was employed by the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad Company, and was spending his vacation at the home of his parents at the time of his death. Besides his parents he is survived by his wife, who, before her marriage, was Miss Mary Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Waller, of Princess Anne, and one brother, B. Ray Pusey, Pusey, of Salisbury, and one sister, Miss Mattie L. Pusey, of Mt. Vernon.

Funeral services were held last Wednesday afternoon in Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Leolan Jackson. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Went To Europe To Meet Husband

Mrs. Retta Woodland and little daughter, Margaret Ellen, of Crisfield, sailed from New York for Brest, France, on the steamship "America" last Wednesday, to meet her husband, Capt. John C. Woodland, of the American Army, who is located at Coblenz, Germany. Mrs. Woodland will be about 12 days in reaching the French port.

From Brest, Mrs. Woodland will go to Paris, where Captain Woodland will meet her, and they will go on a tour of Europe, visiting all the famous resorts and show places of the continent, as he has been granted a vacation of several weeks. Upon the completion of their trip, they will return to Coblenz, where Capt. Woodland expects to be located until early next summer.

WILSON TO TOUR THE COUNTRY

President Will Travel 10,000 Miles In 25 Days And Make 30 Speeches

President Wilson will leave Washington tomorrow on his speechmaking tour in the interest of the peace treaty, and will deliver his first address in Columbus, O., on Thursday, probably in the evening.

Cincinnati is not included in the itinerary, but Secretary Tumulty announced the President would speak at Indianapolis.

Accompanying the President will be Mrs. Wilson, Admiral Gary T. Grayson, Secretary Tumulty and a corps of secretaries and stenographers.

In California, the home State of Senator Johnson, one of the leading Republican opponents of the peace treaty, the President will make three speeches, at Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. His only address in Oregon will be at Portland, while he also will speak at Spokane and possibly Seattle.

President Wilson's itinerary on his stumping tour of the country is the most extensive he has taken since he entered public life. He will travel more than 10,000 miles and cover the distance in 25 days, making at least 30 speeches, though the back platform talks not already scheduled will probably increase the total number.

It is the first time that Mr. Wilson has gone personally into the States of those members of Congress who disagree with him on public policies, though the threat to do so has been again and again since Mr. Wilson took office. The issue, however, is one which the President regards as of such paramount importance that he intends to leave no stone unturned to reach the people who can influence Senators to hasten ratification of the peace treaty.

Hog Cholera Still In County

Hog cholera is still present on a number of farms in the county, but it is not spreading, due to efforts of the community vaccinators in inoculating the hogs in neighborhoods where the disease is prevalent.

The Maryland State Board of Agriculture furnish cholera serum at cost to the farmers, and they have already spent in this county $1,500 for serum in an effort to stamp out the disease. A number of cases of cholera in the lower part of the county are on farms where the farmers neglected to have their hogs inoculated. Hog owners should not wait until their hogs get sick before inoculating them, as such delay will often result in serious loss. The time to inoculate is when the hogs are well, as the serum is a preventative and not a cure. The Government has spent large sums of money in studying hog cholera and the result of their investigational work shows that there is no cure for the disease and that serum is the only preventative and must be given to well hogs for best results. In some cases where serum is given to sick hogs they get well, but this very seldom happens.

The county agent should be advised of all cases of sick hogs and instances where farmers have not burned or buried bodies of hogs dying from cholera. There is a State law carrying a heavy penalty for persons who do not properly dispose of bodies of animals dying from a contagious disease. This law will be strictly enforced, and violations should be reported to the county agent so that an investigation can be made.

Having given away more than $350,000,000 during his lifetime, Andrew Carnegie died leaving a fortune of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000, according to his will which was filed for probate in New York city last Thursday. It was his off-repeated intention to die a poor man.

The will disposes of $960,000 to public and charitable institutions and leaves annuities of approximately $300,000 to friends and relatives, including $10,000 each to former President Taft and Premier Lloyd George, of England, and $5,000 each to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Thomas J. Preston, widows of former Presidents. Mrs. Carnegie, his widow, and his daughter, Margaret (Mrs. Roswell Miller), were provided for during his lifetime.

Mr. Samuel M. Crockett, who is on the Democratic ticket in Worcester county for member of the Legislature, will be heard from. The Snow Hill Messenger says: "Mr. Crockett is the editor of the Worcester Democrat, published in Pocomoke City. He is a Democrat in season and out of season. He is intelligent and trustworthy. Whatever Mr. Crockett promises the voters he will do, they may depend on it. You will hear from Sam on the stump. He has a message for you, and it will not be one of platitudes. He will get down to brass tacks, and in Annapolis you will find him a wide-awake representative."

Disharoon Named For Commissioner

Because of a poor state of health, Mr. Michael A. Somers, of Lawson's district, selected by the Democratic nominating committee as a candidate for county commissioner early in the month, has found it impossible to leave the home and has retired from the ticket. In announcing his retirement Mr. Somers stated that he would gladly serve as the nominee of his party if the condition of his health would permit, and declared that he would give his unqualified support to every man on the Democratic ticket.

Following the announcement of Mr. Somers' retirement, party leaders in the county, with the State Central Committee, made a careful survey of the lower section of the county and finally selected Mr. Joseph W. Disharoon, of Crisfield, as the logical candidate, if he could be persuaded to make the run. While not a candidate in any sense of the word, Mr. Disharoon finally yielded to the demands of his party, and he has been named by the State Central Committee as the candidate for county commissioner on the Democratic ticket.

The Crisfield Times last Saturday, in an editorial, said: "Joseph W. Disharoon, Democratic candidate for county commissioner, is a business man of high standing in the county, well qualified by experience and training to render valuable service in this important branch of the county government. With Joe Disharoon in the county commissioners' office, the affairs of the county would be conducted conscientiously, intelligently and economically. No man in Somerset county is better fitted for this most important position."

Primary Election Ticket

On our second page will be found a fac-simile of the Republican primary election ballot which will be used in the nomination on next Monday, September 8th. The ticket shows the arrangement of the names of those who are running for the various offices.

The method of voting is practically the same as in the general election. The only difference between the primary election ballot and the one which is used at the general election is the absence of a coupon on the primary election ticket. Only persons affiliated on the registration books as Republicans can vote at the primary—there being no contest in the Democratic party.

The polls are open in the various voting precincts at the same hours as at the general election and are kept open the same length of time. The law governing primary elections is as rigid as that for the general election and no electioneering is allowed within 100 feet of the polls while they are open. The Corrupt Practices Act also covers the primary election and the use of money is strictly prohibited.

It is said that spring clothes will cost most. However, we can go into training by wearing a thin summer suit in the winter, and if we survive till spring we shall be so tough that we shall need no clothes at all.

ON THE TRAIL OF PROFITEERS

Committee Advises That 11 Cents A Pound Fair Price For Sugar

The Committee on Living Costs, appointed by Governor Harrington, has been holding daily sessions for more than two weeks, in the rooms of the State Conservation Commission, in the Munsey Building, Baltimore. It consists of Mr. W. H. Killian, Chairman; Judge Oscar Leser; Dr. George E. Barnett; Mr. Sylvan H. Lauchheimer; Mrs. W. R. C. Wood, and Mr. John H. Ferguson. Assisting the committee is Miss K. E. Braitwaite, a specialist from the Maryland Agricultural College. The Commission has also the co-operation of the Women's Civic League, who are especially valuable in gathering information on retail prices in the city, and the members of the Federated Women's Clubs for the counties, who are doing the same work for the State. Also aid is being received from the State Board of Health and other agencies of the city and state.

The list of retail prices in the markets and stores, furnished daily to the newspapers, is familiar to the public, but the committee is pursuing a much broader and deeper inquiry. Its policy is to gather the fundamental facts so that its statements may be absolutely fair. The statements giving these facts will be issued as developed and the committee will reserve its conclusions until it has all the evidence in hand. One leading commodity will be covered at a time until the list is completed. The first commodity definitely reported is sugar, which is important just at this time because of the coming movement of the Cuban crop and because of the fact that many have claimed that they have been charged excessive prices. The committee advises that eleven cents a pound is a maximum fair charge for sugar. It seems, therefore, that any margin this year exceeding 2 cents is suspicious and can be examined with view to prosecution for profiteering. Since the price for refined sugar is 8.82 cents per pound net cash, all retail sales of sugar for a price over 11 cents per pound are suspicious and may be investigated.

Fail Kills William E. Chapman

William E. Chapman, of member of the law firm of Chapman & Chapman, of Philadelphia, died Monday night of last week as the result of injuries suffered in a fall at his home, 400 School Lane, Germantown.

He was 46 years old. On the Saturday previous Mr. Chapman went to the site of a new house he was erecting on Kitchens Lane, Germantown. On his returning to his School Lane home he went to the cellar to observe some points of construction. A few minutes later his wife, Mrs. Julia Chapman, heard groans, and going to the cellar found Mr. Chapman on the floor unconscious with a deep gash in his head.

It is believed he struck his head on a joist while descending the stairs and fell. His skull was fractured and he succumbed in the Germantown Hospital after an operation.

In July, 1917, Mrs. M. Blanche Chapman, Mr. Chapman's first wife, was killed in a motor accident at Schroom Lake, N. Y. Mr. Chapman also was injured.

Mr. Chapman was born in Burlington, N. J. He was a son of Dr. Samuel Chapman.

The deceased resided with his mother several years ago on the farm now owned by Mr. Robert W. Adams, near Princess Anne, and the family is well-known to many of our residents. During Mrs. Chapman's residence here she had the misfortune to lose another one of her sons, Howard, by being killed by a pair of runaway horses.

Mr. Chapman is survived by his widow and a one-year-old son, Robert. Edwin S. Spencer and Francis Chapman are his brothers. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home.

William Moore Shoots Thomas Savage

Thomas Savage, of Cashville, Accomac County, Va., was taken to the hospital at Salisbury last Tuesday night suffering with a bullet wound in his stomach, which he claims was inflicted by William Moore, another man of that place. Mr. Savage died last Wednesday night. Mr. Moore has been arrested and is now in jail at Accomac Court House.

It is claimed by Mr. Savage that he, with Mr. Moore and others, was enjoying a game of chance in which much money was at stake, and that an argument arose, and Mr. Moore drew a pistol and shot him point blank, while Mr. Moore claims that Mr. Savage rushed him with a knife or some other blunt instrument, and he shot in self-defense.

The Bible tells us to love our enemies, but that is no reason why we should be disagreeable to our friends.

CAMP MEADE TO TRAIN 10,000

War Department Announces Army Will Be Recruited

Another special expeditionary army of 10,000 men to replace troops now in Europe will be recruited immediately and trained at Camp Meade, the War Department announced last Tuesday. The overseas replacement depot, which, since the cessation of hostilities, has trained approximately 10,000 men for duty in France, will handle the new army also, and officials began preparations Tuesday for the reception of the first detachments, which probably will come there within the next week or so.

The order from Washington that the replacement depot again would become the training center of thousands of soldiers came as a surprise to Major-General Hutchinson, commanding officer of Meade. The organization had been reduced to a little over 200 men, and a few days ago the War Department announced that no more of these men would be sent to join the American Expeditionary Forces. The new replacement units will be dispatched to France in detachments of 1,000 men, and it is thought that the majority of the drafted men still on duty overseas will be allowed to return home.

With the announcement that Meade would be the training center of the replacement troops came the order from the War Department that all recruiting stations in the country are to conduct a special campaign for recruits to send to the Maryland cantonment. Men who desire to go overseas can enlist from one to three years; heretofore those applying for service outside of the United States had to enlist for a three-year period.

By September 15th the population of Camp Meade will be nearly as great as at any time since the establishment of the post. The First Division, composed of 28,000 men, will arrive on September 10th, and the Fifth Infantry, now stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., has been transferred to Meade. This latter organization—a regular Army outfit—including 3,600 officers and men, has not been overseas, and it was reported that its stay at Meade probably would be short. The sole duties of the First Division during its first week at Camp Meade will be to prepare for the big parade in Washington September 16th. The veterans will be led by Maj.-Gen. E. F. McClaghlin, Jr., and will wear the same uniform and equipment used in the Argonne campaign. According to officials at Camp Meade, it will be the greatest military event in the United States since war was declared, and it is probable that General Pershing will be on the reviewing stand with President Wilson.

Proposed Changes In Church Ritual

Much discussion is heard throughout the country among Episcopalians on the radical changes in the sanctioned practices of the Episcopal Church that are provided for in the report just made public in New York of the church's commission on the revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer, to be submitted to the general convention of the church in October.

The report makes provision for faith healing, anointing with holy oils, requiem communions and prayers for the dead, reservation of the sacrament and intinction—the use of a dipped water instead of the common communion cup. There are a score of radical proposals, and bitter controversy is looked for over them on the convention floor.

The commission, constituted in 1913, is a joint body acting with the authority of both the house of bishops and the house of deputies of the Episcopal church.

The recommendations for changes in Episcopal church practices include elimination from the marriage ceremony of the word "obey" for the bride and "with all my worldly goods I thee endow" for the groom.

A prayer for the dead.

Change Whitsunday to the Day of Pentecost, and all Sundays from then until Advent to read as Sundays after Pentecost.

Abbreviations of the Ten Commandments for the option of the clergy (their language not altered) but certain explanatory or opposite statements eliminated.

Alter the order for the administration of the Lord's Supper in its designation to read:

"The Divine Liturgy, being the Order of the Lord's Supper, or Holy Eucharist, commonly called the Holy Communion."

New Prayers for the President of the United States and the army and navy. Prayers for social justice.

And "for every man in his work." A special office for Independence Day. Proposed new service for the admission of deacons.

MARYLAND'S CROPS HIT HARD

Bugs, Rain And Cool Nights Help Keep Living Cost Up

Bugs, rain and cool nights this summer have been valuable allies in keeping the "high" in the "high cost of living," according to Dr. A. F. Woods, president of the Maryland State College of Agriculture.

Not for years has Maryland had poorer yield from the acres which, under war-time stress and effort, the State had under cultivation, he says. Farmers had been expecting this year the greatest prosperity in their history, not only because of probable good harvests, but because they cultivated more ground and farmed more intensively last season than ever before.

Many things, however, have contributed to upset calculations and bring about a poor harvest. For instance, Dr. Woods estimates the damage done to the wheat crop by the wheat disease which became evident before the harvest and by the rain which caused sprouting after the harvest, will cut the crop down from 35 to 40 per cent. And that which has been harvested, he says, is generally of a poorer quality than Maryland usually produces.

The wheat disease which settled in the stalks before the harvest, Dr. Woods estimates, cut the crop about 10 per cent. Then, after the wheat had been cut, the farmers could not find labor to take the shocks into barns. They stayed on the field during the long rainy periods and the wheat sprouted, resulting in a loss of from 25 to 30 per cent. more of the crop, according to Dr. Woods' estimates.

Under the circumstances, and considering the long and heavy rains. Dr. Woods finds the corn crop, so far, favorable, except in the low, wet lands which are found principally on the Eastern Shore. It is there that the rains have settled to such an extent that corn suffered heaviest damage, as there was not enough sun and hot nights to sap up the rain quickly enough to prevent injury to the crop. The total loss in the corn crop, because of the rain, may not reach more than 5 per cent., Dr. Woods figures. But it had been expected that an unusually large crop would be harvested, so the actual loss of 5 per cent. does not indicate the real damage.

Tomatoes suffered more than any other vegetable in Maryland. On the Western Shore, this was due almost entirely to the rain, but on the Eastern Shore, around the canning centers, where the tomato patches are largest, there was another enemy to fight—the "collar rot," which was unusually prevalent on the east side of the bay. This and the rain caused blossoms to fall from tomato vines, and, while this did not affect early tomatoes particularly, it meant that tomatoes that ordinarily would be picked at this time aren't to be found on the vines. As a result, Dr. Woods believes the tomato crop will be cut in half. This loss, of course, has greater direct effect in Maryland, because of the dependency of the canneries in this State on the tomato crop.

The only cheerful part of the whole agricultural situation, says Dr. Woods, is the fruit crop. Although Maryland, he believes, lost a little more heavily from its fruit trees than other fruit-growing States this year, he finds the apple crop "fairly good" and the peach so far "excellent."

Exact figures on the volume of the various crops are not available, but Dr. Woods believes they will bear out the approximate estimates which he has made.

Negroes Ask Equality Under Treaty

Asking for an amendment to the peace treaty so as to provide for racial equality, a delegation of negroes, speaking for the National Equal Rights League, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Thursday that serious trouble might be expected unless better treatment were accorded negroes in the United States.

"The black man has given notice," said A. Whaley, a New York negro, "that what he has suffered in the past will not be endured in the future. He means business now. There can be no compromise."

William Monroe Trotter, of Boston, secretary of the league, voicing a similar opinion, said the "oppression" of the negro in America was reaching a point where no one could be sure "that our land will be a land of peace."

Neither witness was questioned as to what he had in mind by these declarations. Only 5 of the 17 committee members, all of them Republicans, attended the meeting.

Long Island City grave diggers are on strike for $4 a day, and the high cost of dying may come to rival the high cost of being sick, with $3 a visit for the doctor. That dying comes only once in a lifetime, however, is a consideration not to be ignored.

BLUBBER A DELICIOUS VIAND

Said to Be of Immensely Pleasant Taste, When Eaten Raw From the Seal.

It has always been a mystery to me why the word "blubber" should carry such a disagreeable connotation to millions of people, though not one in a million has ever tasted it, writes Vilhjalmur Stefansson in Harper's.

I am often asked what seal meat tastes like and am driven to saying that it tastes like seal meat, for it does not resemble any commonly known type of meat. But neither does mutton resemble any meat known to me, and still mutton is good eating, and so is seal. But the fat is much easier to describe. When the blubber is eaten raw, as we commonly eat it by preference, it has a flavor very similar to that of fresh cow's cream, but when boiled it closely resembles the fat of mutton. For that reason Mr. Wilkins, who came from the sheep district of Australia, was that member of our whole expedition who most readily fell into the eating of the seal fat.

In general most men refrain from tasting blubber because it is named blubber, until they become so fat hungry that they are eventually driven to trying it, and when they try it, to their surprise they invariably find it so delicious that, if not restrained, they overeat and, as is well known, overeating any form of fat causes nausea and other distressing symptoms. After one or two experiences of this sort I am now careful never to allow a man to eat all the blubber he wants the first time he tries it, for if he gets sick he is almost certain to blame the seal and not his own gluttony.

NEED NOT TRANSFER GERMS

Disease Will Not Be Transmitted if Soiled Hands Are Kept Away From Mouth.

It is glaringly obvious that the biting of finger nails, the moistening of fingers in turning the pages of a book, and similar half-conscious acts greatly enhance the opportunities for planting undesirable germs where they can multiply," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "On the fingers they may be harmless; transferred to the mouth they have a wide field for development.

"The soiling of the hands is impossible to avoid altogether, but the swallowing of germs from one's own soiled hands is largely under individual control.

"It may fairly be assumed that the most useful safeguards against this form of disease transmission are to be found in such practices as hand washing and in refraining from using the tongue or the lips as a moistening-pad, rather than in hysterical attempts at avoidance of all hand contamination. Children are best protected through the inculcation of similar desirable habits at an early age. In a word, some degree of hand-contamination is unavoidable; but the transference of the contaminating germs to the mouth is largely under individual control and is subject to the powerful influence of early-formed habit."

First in the Field.

The mild surprise with which one occasionally notes the name of a foreign city on a penny box of matches purchased in the United States may before long include boxes of matches bearing the far-away name of Dairen, Manchuria. The world's appetite for matches is apparently insatiable. An American company has been studying Manchuria and Siberia from the match manufacturing point of view, but so has a large Japanese concern, and this concern, it now seems, will be first in the field at Dairen, the chief Manchurian port. But then if Japan were not first in the field in Manchuria, where would she be first in the field?

Dodging Shop.

They struck up a conversation in the hotel lobby and finally one man suggested a trip to the movies. The other politely declined.

"Don't you want to see Viola Vampire?"

"Nope."

"Nor Yorick Hamm in his latest comedy?"

"Nope."

"What's the matter, my friend? Aren't you interested in the various stars?"

"Not this evening. I'm an astronomer taking a night off."

Probably Dogfish.

Blank had had a day off, and when he returned to the office the following morning his pals wanted to know why he looked so disgruntled.

"Everything went wrong!" grumbled Blank.

"How was that?" one asked.

"Ever go fishing with a girl?"

"Once."

"Did she protest against hurting the fish?"

"No. She said she was sure they were perfectly happy, because they were all wagging their tails."—London Tit-Bits.

Give Me a Friendly, Natural Hand-shake an' a friendly natural tobacco. Keep yo' put-on airs an' "sauced-up" tobaccos for the fellow that likes nut sundaes better than home made pie—

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And he just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoke like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacco—nothing more or less. It runs second to none.

The picture of the pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

WILSON ANSWERS SENATE QUERIES

Says He Sees No Reasonable Objection to Reservations Concerning League of Nations.

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE

President Asserts United States Surrenders No Powers and May Withdraw at Will.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—President Wilson and the members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate met at the White House Tuesday to discuss the peace treaty.

The President opened the discussion by impressing on the senators the urgency of prompt ratification of the treaty without amendments and without reservations that would require re-submission of the treaty to the other signatories, especially Germany.

The President said that the interest of every class of people, the farmers, industrial workers and employees, demanded prompt ratification to the end that stable conditions of industry, agriculture and employment be re-established. The President's address, which was in effect an address to the country, follows:

"I hope that this conference will serve to expedite your consideration of the treaty of peace. I beg that you will pardon and indulge me if I again urge that practically the whole task of bringing the country back to normal conditions of life and industry waits upon the decision of the Senate with regards to the terms of the peace.

"I venture thus again to urge my advice that the action of the Senate with regard to the treaty be taken at the earliest practicable moment because the problems with which we are face to face in the readjustment of our national life are of the most pressing and critical character, will require for their proper solution the most intimate and disinterested co-operation of all parties and all interests, and cannot be postponed without manifest peril to our people and to all the national advantages we hold most dear.

"The copper mines of Montana, Arizona and Alaska, for example, are being kept open and in operation only at a great cost and loss, in part upon borrowed money; the zinc mines of Missouri, Tennessee and Wisconsin are being operated at about one-half their capacity; the lead of Idaho, Illinois and Missouri reaches only a portion of its former market; there is an immediate need for cotton belting, and also for lubricating oil which cannot be met, all because the channels of trade are barred by war when there is no war. The same is true of raw cotton, of which the central empires alone formerly purchased nearly four million bales. And these are only examples. There is hardly a single raw material, a single important foodstuff, or a single class of manufactured goods which is not in the same case. Our full, normal profitable production waits on peace.

"Our military plans, of course, wait upon it. We cannot intelligently or wisely decide how large a naval or military force we shall maintain or what our policy with regard to military training is to be until we have peace not only, but also until we know how peace is to be sustained, whether by the arms of single nations or by the concert of all the great peoples. And there is more than that difficulty involved. The vast surplus properties of the army include, not food and clothing merely, whose sale will affect normal production, but great manufacturing establishments also, which should be restored to their former uses, great stores of machine tools and all sorts of merchandise, which must lie idle until peace and military policy are definitely determined.

"The nations that ratify the treaty, such as Great Britain, Belgium and France, will be in a position to lay their plans for controlling the markets of central Europe, without competition from us, if we do not presently act. We have no consular agents, no trade representatives, there to look out for our interests.

"There are large areas of Europe whose future will lie uncertain and questionable until their people know the final settlements of peace and the forces which are to administer and sustain it.

"Without determinate markets our production cannot proceed with intelligence or confidence. There can be no easy or normal industrial credits because there can be no confident or permanent revival of business. There can be no stabilization of wages because there can be no settled conditions of employment.

"Every element of normal life amongs us depends upon and awaits the ratification of the treaty of peace; and we cannot afford to lose a single summer's day by not doing all that we can to mitigate the winter's suffering, which, unless we find means to prevent it, may prove disastrous to a large portion of the world, and may, at its worst, bring upon Europe conditions even more terrible than those brought by the war itself.

"Nothing, I am led to believe, stands in the way of the ratification of the treaty except doubts with regard to the meaning and implication of certain articles of the covenant of the league of nations; and I must frankly say that I am unable to understand why such doubts should be entertained. You will recall that when I had the pleasure of a conference with your committee and with the committee of the House of Representatives on Foreign Affairs at the White House in March last, the questions now most frequently asked about the league of nations were all canvassed, with a view to their immediate clarification. The covenant of the league was then in its first draft and subject to revision. It was pointed out that no express recognition was given to the Monroe doctrine, that it was not expressly provided that the league should have no authority to act or to express a judgment on matters of domestic policy, that the right to withdraw from the league was not expressly recognized, and that the constitutional rights of the Congress to determine all questions of peace and war was not sufficiently safeguarded. On my return to Paris all these matters were taken up again by the Commission on the League of Nations and every suggestion of the United States was accepted.

"The view of the United States with regard to the question I have mentioned had, in fact, already been accepted by the commission and there was supposed to be nothing inconsistent with them in the draft of the covenant first adopted, the draft which was the subject of our discussion in March, but no objection was made to anything explicitly in the text that all had supposed to be implicated in it.

"The Monroe doctrine is expressly mentioned as an understanding which is in no way to be impaired or interfered with by anything contained in the covenant, and the expression 'regional understanding like the Monroe doctrine' was used not because any one of the conference thought there was any comparable agreement anywhere else in existence or in contemplation, but only because it was thought best to avoid the appearance of dealing in such a document with the policy of a single nation.

"With regard to domestic questions, provides that if in case of any dispute arising between members of the league the matter involved is claimed by one of the parties 'and is found by the council to arise out of a matter which by international law is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party the council shall so report and shall make no recommendation as to its settlements.' The United States was by no means the only government interested in the explicit adoption of this provision, and there is no doubt in the mind of any authoritative student of international law that such matters as immigration, tariffs and naturalization are incontestably domestic questions with which no international body could deal.

"The right of any state to withdraw had been taken for granted, but no objection was made to making it explicit. Indeed, so soon as the views expressed at the White House conference were laid before the commission it was at once conceded that it was best not to leave the answer to so important a question to inference. No proposal was made to set up any tribunal to pass judgment upon the question whether a withdrawing nation has in fact fulfilled all its international obligations and all its obligations under the covenant. It was recognized that that question must be left to be resolved by the conscience of the nation proposing to withdraw, and I must say that it did not seem to me worth while to propose that the article be made more explicit because I knew that the United States would never itself propose to withdraw from the league if its conscience was not entirely clear as to the fulfillment of all its international obligations. It has never failed to fulfill them and never will.

"Article 10 is in no respect of doubtful meaning when read in the light of the covenant as a whole. The council of the league can only 'advise upon' the means by which the obligations of that great article are to be given effect to. Unless the United States is a party to the policy or action in question her own affirmative vote in the council is necessary before any advice can be given or a unanimous vote of the council is required. If she is a party the trouble is hers anyhow, and the unanimous vote of the council is only advice in any case. Each government is free to reject it if it pleases. Nothing could have been made more clear to the conference than the right of our Congress under our Constitution to exercise its independent judgment in all matters of peace and war. No attempt was made, to question or limit that right. The United States will, indeed, undertake under Article 10 to 'respect and preserve' as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league, and that engagement constitutes a very grave and solemn moral obligation. But it is a moral, not a legal, obligation and leaves our Congress absolutely free to put its own interpretation upon it in all cases that call for action.

"Article 10 seems to me to constitute the very backbone of the whole covenant. Without it the league would be hardly more than an influential debating society.

"It has several times been suggested, in public debate and in private conference, that interpretations of the sense in which the United States accepts the engagements of the covenant should be embodied in the instrument of ratification. There can be no reasonable objection to show interpretations accompanying the act of ratification provided they do not form a part of the formal ratification itself. But if such interpretations should constitute a part of the formal resolution of ratification long delays would be the inevitable consequence, inasmuch as all the many governments concerned would have to accept, in effect, the language of the senate as the language of the treaty before ratification would be complete. The assent of the German assembly at Weimar would have to be obtained, among the rest, and I must frankly say that I could only with the greatest reluctance approach that assembly for permission to read the treaty as we understand it and as those who framed quite certainly understand it if the United States were to qualify the document in any way. Moreover, I am confident from what I know of the many conferences and debates which accompanied the formulation of the treaty that our example would immediately be followed in many quarters, in some instances with very serious reservations, and that the meaning and operative force of the treaty would presently be clouded from one end of its clauses to the other.

A bicycle famine is reported but the young folks will kindly agree to accept automobiles as a substitute.

Much used to be said about burning midnight oil, but some of the modern students burn more midnight gasoline.

Up to date the public is not informed how Henry Ford has decided to spend the six cents he won from the Chicago Tribune.

There is a popular feeling that a lot of the profiteers would make excellent fertilizer to help restore the productivity of the soil.

Experts differ on what the future course of women's fashions will be, but everyone is agreed that they will be highly irrational.

While no one wants any trouble with Mexico, the people down there have got to consider American citizens as something else than doormats.

The compositor who, while setting up the woman's page, had "Appealing costumes" displayed as "Appalling costumes," was perhaps wiser than he knew.

The hens have now gone on strike and egg production is falling off. The hens clearly grasp the popular theory of how to carry the war burdens and pay off the debts.

Having learned that there is a scarcity of all the necessities of life the American people decided to meet this situation by everybody going on strike and quitting work.

BACK TO SCHOOL AGAIN

The first day of school is one of the picturesque scenes of American life. It is inspiring to see the little groups of youngsters reassembling after their summer has done them good. Their new school clothes demonstrate that with all the cost of living, the average American family is comfortable.

The kid element may pretend to dislike school, but very few of them would of their own choice absent themselves. It is with cheerful faces that they come whooping up the street as the school bell rings after its long silence.

May that cheerfulness and readiness continue here in Princess Anne all through the long year. The children that really want to learn will accomplish ten times as much as those whose interest and co-operation is not aroused.

WHAT PRINTER'S INK DOES

When people want to interest distant friends in their home town they send away copies of the local newspaper. When anyone wants to know what kind of a place a distant town is, he sends and gets a copy of the local newspaper.

Thus such a paper as the Marylander and Herald is a mirror of life of Princess Anne. When the merchants are full of courage and advertise freely, an impression is created among the many people outside the town who see the paper that this is an exceedingly bright and wide awake business town. If the merchants let up a little on their advertising, the town does not look so good to outsiders.

In supporting the home paper, therefore, you not merely get the local and business news, but you help on all civic causes; you are enabled to participate to the fullest extent in its life and you help the town exert influence and create a favorable impression outside.

THE TABLES ARE TURNED

While the Democrats were in power, Republicans dined the country's ears with criticism and denunciation. Every act and every omission was wrong. Nothing was right. The war was muddled; peace was delayed; reconstruction was impossible. The cure was a Republican Congress, with brilliant statesmen and economists like Senators Lodge and Penrose and Representatives Gillett and Mondell as its leaders.

Three months of Republican responsibility and control has not convinced the people that the change was for the better. Indeed, there is not a problem which has not become more acute; not a popular demand that has not remained unfulfilled in this fourth of a year of Republican accountability for legislation.

At the worst, the Democratic Congress preceding the one now in session was charged with doing its work poorly. But it acted. The present Republican Congress has done next to nothing—and done it very badly. If the Democrats made mistakes it was because they made efforts. Against the Republicans is fairly chargeable the greatest and costliest of all mistakes—failure to try.

THE SELECTION OF TEACHERS

The Boards of Education have had some job this year to fill their classrooms with competent and successful teachers. The pay has been so inadequate that well trained young women are hard to find. Men, save in some of the higher ranks, have almost deserted the profession. Advances in teachers' salaries are now being made all over the country, but it will be some years before properly qualified candidates will be as numerous as formerly. Many girls are getting positions who never even went through a high school.

Of course it takes more than education to make a real teacher. Some poorly educated girls still have the power of leadership. They have the gift of magnetism, the faculty of doing things in an interesting way, of stirring up children's ambition. When a girl has that qualification, defects in education can be overlooked.

Finding a teacher with a real gift of inspiration means that the lives of the children under her are going to be transformed. Dull pupils will wake up and begin to fit themselves for real success in life. Those more gifted will be persuaded to aim high and accomplish great things.

On the other hand, a common-place teacher means a droning, disorderly and languid school, where the only idea is to dream through the study hours until playtime comes. Children form life long habits of indolence in such a school. School authorities should investigate records of applicants carefully so as to make sure that all will make good. Better spend some money or time in telephoning or traveling than secure misfits. Princess Anne has had a high standard of teaching ability in the past and in these difficult times it is anxious to do better school work than ever before.

THE COST OF SHOES

Some shoe dealers are predicting that shoes will be up to $16 to $20 by next winter. Only a few years ago you could buy an excellent pair of men's shoes for $4, often for less. Where there are several children to be fitted out for school this fall the family man will indeed groan.

While speculation in hides and leather has no doubt raised these staples to artificial figures, public folly has some share in the high cost of footwear. The cost of the constant changes that occur in shoe fashions is very considerable. The lasts on which shoes are built are made of a costly kind of wood usually fitted up with metal plates. It happens many times that a set of lasts can be used only for a single season. Then they are set aside as back numbers in favor of some new fad of fashion. The charge for lasts needlessly thrown away is said to be $10,000 to $100,000 in many factories. Manufacturers and jobbers should unite to end this silly expense.

Another practice that makes leather scarce is the prevalence of very high topped shoes for women. Leather disappears rapidly when cut up into these big pieces. If women wish to return to old fashioned ideas of modesty let them lengthen their skirts and stop up-setting the leather market by absurdly high shoes.

The principal cause of the present prices is no doubt the scarcity of hides due largely to the heavy demands of Europe. The public is not to blame for this scarcity and should not be made to pay for it. It looks as if the government would have to re-establish the price for hides previously in force. It would be well if some investigation by public or community authority could establish what is a fair price to charge for the various grades of shoes.

Chamberlain's Colic And Diarrhoea Remedy in Michigan

Mrs. A. H. Hall, Caseville, Mich., says, "I wish to thank you for your grand good medicine, Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. We are never without it in the house, and I am sure it saved the baby's life this summer."

Mrs. Mary Carrington, Caseville, Mich., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for years and it has always given prompt relief."

THE CARNEGIE LIBRARIES

When Andrew Carnegie's triumphs in the domination of Wall Street and the creation of vast new industries are forgotten, he will still be recalled as the man who gave the libraries.

Mr. Carnegie's benefactions in this line used to be made fun of by some people. They thought there was a flavor of self advertising in all this benefaction. It is so easy for people who themselves have done nothing for the world to find flaws in those who have done wonderful and amazing things.

The fact that Mr. Carnegie may have liked to see his name connected with his philanthropies did not make his books any less useful to a community. The poor boys that could walk in those free doors and have wide access to the wisdom of the ages were not any less grateful for the opportunity.

It would be difficult to name any other man who has accomplished more in this country by gifts of money. Consider the result that must be accomplished in each of the multitude of cities and towns where he gave his book collections. Young people have been stimulated to prepare themselves for better citizenship and service. Practical information regarding community life and progress has been placed at the disposal of all interested in social service. A means of ennobling recreation has been given the people diverting them from coarser satisfactions. School pupils have been helped to acquire a broader knowledge.

Hundreds of towns with free libraries, which previously had no free center for book distribution, can already show the difference in their higher standards of citizenship. So America will lay its reverent tribute on the grave of this great benefactor who did so much for the advancement of democratic progress.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

State Scholarships in Engineering Courses

Entrance Examinations for the Department of Engineering, as well as for the College of Arts and Sciences, will be held in Gilman Hall, Homewood, Monday to Thursday, September 15th to 18th, 1919, beginning at 9 a. m., each day.

Applications for Scholarships in the Department of Engineering, established under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 90, 1912, will now be received. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, a competitive examination must be taken Friday, September 19th, beginning at 9 a. m. Appointments will be made soon thereafter.

Each Legislative District of Baltimore City and each county of the State, with the exception of Howard, Queen Anne's and Somerset counties, will be entitled to one or more scholarships for the 1919-1920, in addition to those already assigned to resident students. In the three counties mentioned above, all the available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, the County and City Scholarships in the Department of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in Engineering unless free tuition is granted to them. The scholarships entitle the holders to free tuition, free use of text-books, and exemption from all regular fees. One of the scholarships in each County and each Legislative District of the City of Baltimore also the sum of $200. The expense of attendance for those who do not receive scholarships is not greater than at other Maryland institutions.

Scholarships may be awarded to graduates of Loyola College, St. John's College, Washington College, Western Maryland College, Maryland Agricultural College, Mt. St. Mary's College, Rock Hill College. (One scholarship will be awarded "At Large.")

Applicants should address The Registrar, The Johns Hopkins University, for blank forms of application and catalogs giving information as to examinations, award of scholarships, and courses of instruction. The next session begins Tuesday, September 30th, 1919.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear aunt, Miss Emma Gibbons, who departed this life on August 28th, 1918, one year ago.

Dear Aunt Emma, how we loved you. How you cheered our home each day. But we now miss you and long for you. Since God from us called you away. By her niece, Mrs. B. T. DYKES and Mrs. F. W. MARRINER

Despondency

Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.

WAYS OF EARNING MONEY DURING SUMMER VACATION

Many Opportunities Open to Children Who Wish to Encourage Habits of Thrift and Saving.

A great many questions about how children may earn money in order to purchase Thrift and War Savings Stamps during the summer vacation period have come into the War Loan Organization at Richmond, and it is to answer these inquiries that the present article has been prepared.

The suburban or country child probably has the best opportunities for making money, though selling papers and magazines, running errands and doing chores offer several ways for the city child to earn the where-with-all for Thrift Stamps.

In the country there is first of all the garden, and at this time growing food stuffs should receive special attention. It is not too late to plant fall crops which may be marketed with profit. Lettuce and radishes are easily grown and always find good markets, especially in the late summer and fall. There will probably be more of some kinds of vegetables in the garden than can be eaten or canned. These should be sold.

On almost every farm there is a time when much of the fruit ripens at once, and the problem of disposing of it arises. Some of it is eaten, some preserved. A quantity of it not infrequently rots. This should be sold if there is a market near enough, but if such is not the case the children can put it up and sell the canned stuff in the fall.

Pigs, chickens, turkeys or rabbits are easily raised in the summer vacation, and all of them will bring in large returns for the time and labor. Berry picking is another way of making money that children should enjoy, and this year there is a plentiful crop.

Many mothers and fathers will be glad to pay the children for taking care of the yard, cutting wood, running errands or doing daily chores. In fact there are so many ways of earning money during the summer that the list might be indefinitely lengthened. But of course the object of any and all of these ways is not simply to make money, but to make and save money; in other words, enough to buy War Savings Stamps which will bring in four per cent interest, compounded quarterly.

You can do this, every boy and girl in this big country.

BEN FRANKLIN EARLY LEARNED FRUGALITY

Great American Exemplar of Knew Value of Regular and Systematic Saving For Future.

Thrift is not stinginess. In fact it is more often than not that the thrifty man is the one who is truly generous. Benjamin Franklin, our national exemplar of thrift, was, from boyhood up, always liberal and unselfish. Rene Bache, his great-great-grandson, gives an instance of this characteristic of his ancestor in a story he tells:

"The price of bread two centuries ago was a penny a loaf. Thus it happened that Benjamin Franklin, a boy of seventeen, on arriving in Philadelphia, was able to buy three loaves for three-pence; and with them he walked up Market Street from the wharf, holding one under each arm and eating the third. An hour later he gave two of them to a woman and her child who had been fellow voyagers up the Delaware."

Rene Bache goes on to say of Franklin: "Where his own expenditures were concerned he was always frugal, saving what he could out of his wages as printer, while his fellow-workers spent theirs as fast as they got them, or faster. In this way it came about that, while a mere youngster in a printing office, he lent them money every week."

"Though the earnings of most of them were greater than his, he was capitalist. By the middle of each week they were penniless, and came to him for loans to carry them over until payday. He would accept no interest, but each Saturday, on getting their money they gave back to him what they borrowed—only to repeat the borrowing a day or two later."

The secret of Franklin's success was systematic and persistent saving, from the time he first began to earn money. And always having a savings fund he was ever ready to grasp his opportunities—those of lending a helping hand as well as those of self-betterment.

Let Benjamin Franklin be your exemplar—start saving today. Thrift Stamps are an easy beginning and pave the way to a certain future.

THRIFT

Without me no man has ever achieved success nor has any nation ever become great. I have been the bedrock of every successful career, and cornerstone of every fortune.

All the world knows me and most of the world heeds my warning. The poor may have me as well as the rich.

My power is limitless, my application boundless.

He who possesses me has contentment in the present and surety for the future.

I am of greater value than pearls, rubies and diamonds.

Once you have me no man can take me away.

I lift my possessor to high planes of living, increase his earning power, and bring to realization the hopes of his life.

I make a man well dressed, well housed and well fed.

I insure absolutely against the rainy day.

I drive want and doubt and care away.

I guarantee those who possess me prosperity and success.

I have exalted those of low degree, and those of high degree have found me a helpful friend.

To attain me you need put out no capital but personal effort, and on all you invest in me I guarantee dividends that last through life and after.

I am as free as air.
I am yours if you will take me.
I am THRIFT.

War Savings Stamps are better than money because they earn more money.

Yes, it's toasted

YOU know how much toasting improves bread. Makes it taste good. Of course—more flavor.

Same with tobacco—especially Kentucky Burley.

ODD FELLOWS NAME CENTENNIAL WORKERS

Final Touches Being Put On Greatest Gathering in Fraternal Circles.

TO BE HELD IN BALTIMORE.

Final touches are being put on the plans for the Odd Fellows' Centennial Celebration and Sovereign Grand Lodge Convention, which will be held September 14 to 20, in Baltimore, and which will be attended by more than 50,000 persons from all parts of the United States and Europe. It will be the greatest gathering in the history of fraternalism, according to officers of the order.

Prominent Marylanders from all parts of the state are taking part in the plans and the Odd Fellows of this county are preparing to turn out en masse.

During the big week the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the Grand Lodge of Maryland, the Patriarchs Militant—the uniform rank of the order—and the Associated Rebekah Assemblies will hold sessions in all the big armories and halls of Baltimore.

Announcement was made this week of the chairman of the various committees handling the details preliminary to the great gathering. Grand Master John B. Spence, Baltimore, is chairman of the general committee, which is composed of State Senator Henry M. McCullough, of Elkton; Howard P. Hartman, of Hagerstown; E. Earl Hearn, Cambridge; Col. Jacob W. Hook, Baltimore, and William A. Jones, George W. Godman, S. H. Foxwell, Frederick A. Groom, Nathan Billstein, Mrs. Emma A. Kean, Mrs. Margaret A. Curley, Mrs. Grace W. Wright, Mrs. Kate Weller and Mrs. Hattie Brooks, all of Baltimore.

The chairman of the various committees are as follows: Housing Committee, Louis Smith; Degree Work, William H. Hofstetter, Jr.; Registration A. D. Johnson; Badges, George R. Pray; City and State Co-Operation, Col. Jacob W. Hook; Historical, Alexander Kinnaird; Publicity, Frederick Jentner; Parade and Marshal, S. Carl Cooling; Music William J. Williams, Sr.; Automobiles, Thomas G.

Young; Bureau of Information, Geo. B. Godwin; Medical, Dr. B. S. French; Reception, George P. Klein; Mail, George L. Cann.

While every feature of the week's sessions will be important not only to the men and women in attendance, but to the entire public, possibly the most spectacular will be the big parade on Wednesday, when more than 20,000 persons will be in line, including 8,000 swords of the Patriarchs Militant and twenty-five bands of music.

NOT MERELY FISH STORIES

Showers of Sea Food From Sky Are Authenticated, According to Magazine Writer.

Next time some one tells you of its raining fish and frogs, don't laugh; the story may be true. There is, for instance, record of a fish rain in 1666 that showered smelts all over Stanstead parish in merry England, says Popular Science Magazine.

In Baton Rouge, in 1896, it rained ducks, catbirds and woodpeckers.

We pause right here to say that scientists explain these showers by the lifting power of the wind and the ancient principle that what goes up must come down; and you never can be sure what is up.

Getting down to 1917, John Lewis of Aberdale, Wales, reports: "I was startled by something falling all over me. . . . On putting my hand down my neck I was surprised to find they were little fish."

No less a person than Alexander von Humboldt writes of a downpour of fishes in the Andes which seemed to be aided and abetted by a very active volcano. The natives said they rather counted on fish showers to reduce the H. C. L., usually having several a season.

Singapore, as might be expected, holds the shower record, with a rain of five-inch catfish, which the Chinese gathered by the basketful.

Nine native witnesses urged by a canny Scot, made depositions before a magistrate attesting the truth of their tales of a shower in Bengal during which at least five kinds of fish fell from the heavens.

Boston, in the days of the "plug" hat, had what is called (being Boston) "a piscatorial deluge." But in Connecticut the same year it rained fish and ice together, which we call thoughtful.

Sweet Is Sympathy.

Sympathy is one of the great secrets of life. It overcomes evil and strengthens good. It disarms resistance, melts the hardened heart, and develops the better part of human nature.

Complete Recovery.

TAFT OUTLINES LEAGUE PLAN

Puts It Into Plain Language Free From Legal and Diplomatic Verbiage, in Response to Request.

MANY ARE CONFUSED BY PRESENT DEBATE

(By ex-President William H. Taft.)

The plan for a League of Nations is based on a few simple principles, which are not hard to understand when lifted out of the morass of technical discussion and freed from legal and diplomatic language. As the one authority best able to present these points without partisan bias, ex-President Taft has been asked to put the league idea into a few plain words for the benefit of millions of Americans who desire a better understanding of the plan but find themselves confused by the debate in the United States Senate. In response to this request he has written the following article.

Purpose of the League.

The chief purpose of the League of Nations is to keep the world in a state of peace. Another way of expressing it is to say that the league is designed to prevent wars.

We have just finished the greatest, which is to say the most horrible, of all conflicts between nations. We have won a glorious victory. But that victory will be wasted unless this war has made the nations ready to put aside their differences and co-operate to end war forever.

It is not enough, however, to provide for the prevention of wars and the settlement of disputes after they have arisen. We must foresee causes of trouble and remove them before they have reached an acute stage. Hence there must be provision for frequent consultations of members of the league for exchange of information, for agreement on common policies and for the gradual formation of rules of international law which at present are uncertain and incomplete.

The representatives of the great free nations which won the war have met at Paris and, after long consultation, have drawn an agreement which they believe will accomplish these ends. At the very least it will set in motion great changes which will result in universal benefit to all mankind. This agreement is called the Covenant of the League of Nations and it is a part of the peace treaty.

There will be no league worth talking about, however, unless the United States is a member. The decision as to whether the United States shall join rests with our Senate. The Senators, chosen by the people, will in the end vote as the people desire. For this reason the people themselves will decide whether or not the United States will join the league. In this question every citizen should have a voice. He or she can express opinion either by writing direct to Senators by letters to the newspapers, by speeches in his lodge or local union or in conversation with friends.

Methods of Maintaining Peace.

Since the prime object of the League of Nations is to preserve peace—and to reap the benefits of peace—let us see how the league will operate to accomplish that purpose.

In the first place it will seek to remove the main causes of war. By the formation of an international court it will create a means for the peaceful settlement of disputes between nations. Then it will seek to compel the nations to make use of this court. This is nothing more nor less than an application of the rules and customs governing private individuals in civilized communities to the relations between nations.

Secondly, the League will seek to remove a great temptation to war by the general agreement to reduce the size of armies and navies. This will halt the race for military and naval supremacy which was largely responsible for the war just ended. The amount of armament any nation may maintain will be strictly defined. Thus it will be impossible for one country to overwhelm its neighbor by unexpected attack, in the way that Germany crushed Belgium and would have crushed France had not the other democratic nations gone to her aid. The idea is that each country may keep an army and navy large enough to enable it to fulfill its responsibilities as a member of the League, but no larger. The United States, for example, probably would be expected to keep a check on Mexico and the state of constant turmoil in that country would be taken into consideration in deciding how large an army we should need.

The third important safeguard which the League will set up is a system of penalties. This will make an outlaw of any nation or group of nations which goes to war in violation of the rules of the League. The outlawed nation will be boycotted by all the other members of the League and will find itself cut off from both business and social communication with the rest of the world.

How It Will Prevent Wars.

It is not claimed that the League of Nations will do away with war altogether. Every possible provision that human intelligence can devise will be made to settle international disputes peacefully. But should all these measures fail and two nations go to war, this is what will happen:

If both parties to the dispute have observed the rules of the League, the other nations will stand back and let them fight it out. War under such circumstances is difficult to imagine, however, because before the angry nations will be allowed to fight in accordance with the rules of the League, so much time must elapse that in all probability their anger will cool and they will reach an amicable understanding.

What we have to fear is that some nation will go to war in defiance of the League, and every precaution has been taken to suppress such a nation by the immediate use of the united power of the other nations. If international boycott failed to bring her to terms she would have to face a combined international army and navy. The founders of the League believe that the mere possibility of such a situation will prevent any nation from violating its agreement. Does anyone think that Germany would have begun war five years ago if she had known that nearly all the other great powers would combine against her?

Doing the World's Work.

In addition to settling international disputes peacefully the League of Nations will provide means for doing much of the world's work more systematically and effectively than can be done now when each nation is working only for itself. The people you know best and like best are those who work with you on the same job. It will be the same way with the nations of the future. The more they work together, the sooner they will come to understand and like each other.

For example, the League will establish an international organization for the bettering of labor conditions in different countries, for the protection of women and children and the native inhabitants of civilized and semi-civilized countries. One of Germany's greatest crimes has been her barbarous treatment of the helpless people in some of her colonies. One of the chief tasks of the League will be to look after peoples that are not strong enough to protect themselves.

The League will appoint commissions to take charge of various international undertakings so that they may be carried on, not for the benefit of any one nation, but for the benefit of the whole world. Provision will be made for promotion of fair and equal trade conditions.

These are only a few of the benefits the world will derive from the League. As time goes on we shall find more and more tasks at which the nations can work in common and a greater number of opportunities to remove causes which stir up jealousies and animosities between races and peoples.

Objections Answered.

Of course we cannot hope to make the great changes such as the League of Nations will bring about without opposition. Fortunately the war has taught us the great advantages of international co-operation. It was only by good team work that the free liberty loving nations were able to whip Germany.

The treaty which the United States Senate is debating obligates the members of the proposed League to protect one another against attack from enemies outside their own boundaries bent upon conquest. Although this agreement (Article X of the Covenant) is vital to any arrangement which seeks to prevent war, it has been attacked on the ground that it would draw the United States into wars in various parts of the world and force us to send our boys to fight in quarrels which did not concern us.

We should remember, however, that the main purpose of Article X is to frighten nations tempted to wars of conquest from yielding to the temptation, by the certainty that they will be crushed if they begin such a war by a universal boycott and a union of forces of the world against them. If a big war breaks out again, the United States will be forced to take part in it whether we have a League of Nations or not. We tried hard enough to keep out of the war with Germany but found we couldn't.

A little war contrary to the League rules could be handled by the powers close at hand. Certainly it would not be necessary to send American troops to suppress an uprising in the Balkans when prompt action by the armies of Italy or some other nearby powerful nation could suppress the fracas before American troops could even get started.

Great Gain for Small Loss.

We had to make many sacrifices to win the last war and we made them willingly because we knew they were worth while. It will be the same in a smaller degree with a League of Nations. When men form a business partnership each one has to make concessions to the views and opinions of the other members of the firm. When we enter the League of Nations we may have to give up certain privileges, but the losses will be small compared with the profits.

The United States will not have to sacrifice her independence or right to make her own decisions.

The council, the chief governing body of the League, cannot take action without unanimous decision of its members and since the United States will have a representative in the Council our interest will be protected there. We hear it said that the League is formed for the benefit of Great Britain or Japan or some other one nation. This is not true. All the nations will gain by it, not only the great nations such as the United States, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy, but the little nations which in the past have been oppressed by their big neighbors. The International court will give an opportunity for the settlement of old grievances which have long troubled the peoples of the world.

It has been said that the League will interfere with the Monroe Doctrine, but the League Covenant expressly protects this Doctrine. In fact, through the Covenant the Monroe Doctrine receives recognition throughout the world and its principles become forever established.

WOMEN DEMAND WARS SHALL END

Peace League Means More to Them Than It Can Mean to Men.

DR. SHAW'S STIRRING PLEA.

(By the Late Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.)

Seven million one hundred thousand men who had laid down their lives in the great war. Think of it! Seven million, one hundred thousand young men had died on the field of battle!

What does that mean to the women of the world? It means that seven million one hundred thousand women walked day by day with their faces toward an open grave that they might give life to a son. It means that seven million one hundred thousand little children lay in the arms of a mother whose love had made them face even the terrors of death that they might become the mothers of men.

It means that year after year these women had put up their lives into the lives of their sons until they had reared them to be men. For what? In the hope that these sons of theirs could give to the world the things for which women dream, the things for which women hope and pray and long. These were the things that the women had in their hearts when they gave birth to their sons.

But who can estimate the value of seven million one hundred thousand dead sons of the women of the world? Who can estimate the price which the women have paid for this war; what it has cost them, not only in the death of their sons, because that is a phase of our war to which we look.

The Courage of Women.

We hear our orators tell us of the courage of our men. How they went across the sea. Very few of them remember to tell us of the courage of our women, who also went across the sea; of the women who died nursing the sick and wounded; the women who died in the hospitals, where the terrible bombs came and drove them almost to madness. They tell us nothing of the forty thousand English women who went to work back of the trenches in France.

They tell us nothing of the thousands upon thousands upon thousands of women who not only toiled and worked and slaved in order that the war might be successful, but we do not hear of the thousands of women, not alone in Armenia, not alone in Montenegro, not alone in Serbia, but in Flanders, in Belgium, in Rumania, in Russia—the thousands of women who lie in graves today, murdered, so horribly murdered that men dare not speak of it.

And yet we women are asked what we know about the League of Nations; asked what we can understand about a League of Nations. Oh men! the horrible deaths; the horrible lives of thousands upon thousands of women today in all these nations, who must live, and who must look in the faces of children unwelcomed, undesired—of little children—and know that these are the result of war.

And then ask women why they should be interested in a league of peace?

Women Suffer Most From War.

If there is any body of citizens in the world who ought to be interested in a league to ultimately bring to the world peace it is the mothers of men, and the women who suffered as only women can suffer in the war and in devastated countries.

And we call upon them, we women of the world call upon the men who have been fighting all these battles of the years, the men who have led armies, and led armies close to their deaths.

We are now calling upon the men of the world to in some way or another find a passage out of the sea of death. We are asking them to form a league which will bring hope to the women of the future. If women are to bear sons only that they may die, if women may not have hope and aspirations for their children, if women may not dream the dreams that have in them the hope of the highest civilizations, the highest moral and spiritual life of the people—if women may not have these in their hearts as the mothers of men, then women will cease to desire to be the mothers of men. And why should they not? Why should they not?

Colored Rains.
The rain can and does wash down anything that happens to be in the air at the time, including dust, pollen, small insects, but we have no record of tadpoles being washed down out of the air. The phenomena of colored rains, so-called rain of blood, etc., can be readily explained by the presence of dust in the atmosphere.

Almost Forgotten.

The bride and bridegroom were just about to say "I will," when the bride's mother dashed madly from the room and returned, running up the aisle to the bride, and pushed the bridal bouquet into the bride's hands. In the excitement of the occasion the flowers had been forgotten.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists.

The test of time is the test that counts.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored. Mrs. Carroll Hastings, Stone Road, Princess Anne, says: "For nearly seven years I had disordered kidneys and I was miserable and weak. I had a dragging-down pain in my back and my heart palpitated. Then again, I had sick headaches and dreadful pains in the small of my back. I was getting worse every day and I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones' Drug Store. The first box cured me of backache and the other symptoms were greatly relieved." (Statement given October 14th, 1907).

KEEPS DOAN'S ON HAND.

On July 25, 1916, Mrs. Hastings said: "I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand in case I should need them. I recommend them whenever I have an opportunity."

Are Your Children Prepared?

YOU, Mothers and Fathers, know how hard Children are on Shoes, and yet, very often, the child is blamed for wearing out the Shoes too quickly when the Shoes themselves are really too poor to stand the wear an active child will give them.

You would not spend your money for some shoes if you could cut them open and see what is inside of them. A solid leather shoe, if properly made, wears longer, holds its shape longer and, in every way, is a better shoe than one in which substitutes for leather are used. NAVAL AND MARINE DAY SEPT. 12

Marines and Navy Men Of Somerset County Invited To Big Parade

Friday, September 12th. Defenders' Day, has been declared Naval and Marine Day for all Maryland men who participated in the World War in any capacity whatsoever.

The Naval and civilian committees have completed arrangements for one of the biggest days Baltimore has experienced. All men are requested to assemble at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, at 9 a. m. If you do not care to parade on this day, it is not obligatory, but the committee would like as many men in line as possible.

In the afternoon a water carnival will be held along the water front of Baltimore, where ships of the Navy will be assembled, and there will be boat races of all classes and a real water pageant.

At night a great dance will be held at the Fifth Regiment Armory for all Navy and Marine men and their guests. Each Navy or Marine man may invite three friends. All men from these branches of the service in Somerset county who can go to Baltimore, on the 11th will report at 125 East Baltimore street and register. He will then be assigned to quarters without expense, and will be a guest for this memorable occasion.

Uniform—blue, white cap and leggings. (Cap and leggings may be supplied in Baltimore if you are without same).

Sudden Death Of L. Cleve Nelson

Mr. L. Cleveland Nelson, a member of the City Council of Crisfield, died suddenly Monday night of last week about 11 o'clock while attending a meeting at the Brick Hotel in that place.

Councilman Nelson made an address at the meeting which was called to discuss the proposed sale of water works, which had broken up in disorder. Mr. Nelson had made a very earnest speech, taking exception to some remarks made by others, and the excitement caused a recurrence of a heart affliction to which he had been subject. Immediately after the meeting he complained to the other councilmen of feeling ill. A doctor was summoned, but he died in an hour.

Mr. Nelson was prominent in business and fraternal circles and a Republican leader in Somerset county. He was a former sheriff and had served twice in the state legislature. He was appointed councilman of Crisfield upon the resignation of Wm. E. Ward, whose seat was contested in the election controversy along with Mayor Richardson's, whose case was carried to the Court of Appeals. Mr. Nelson is survived by his wife, two daughters and three sons.

The New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad Company will operate special excursions for colored people only, to Ocean City and return, from Cape Charles to Onley, Va., on Monday, September 15th, from Tasley, to Costen Station on Tuesday, September 16th, and from stations on the Crisfield branch, King's Creek to Fruitland and Delmar, inclusive, on Wednesday, September 17th, 1919.

5,000 LOST EPISCOPALIANS

Have Drifted Away From The Church In The Past Decade

Advertising as one solution of the rural church problem in the Episcopal Diocese of Easton is a probability as a result of an unusual experiment being carried out in Southern Ohio by Miss Elizabeth Matthews, of Glendale, that state. Miss Matthews is testing her theory by inserting advertisements in several Ohio newspapers for "5,000 lost Episcopalians."

That is the estimated number of communicants of the Episcopal Church living in the Diocese of Southern Ohio who have drifted away from the church in the past decade. The number of "lost" church members in the Diocese of Easton is notably as large. Most of them live in or near towns and villages where an Episcopal service is unknown. Until the organization a few months ago of the Church League for the Isolated, the Episcopal Church like others made no efforts to keep in communication with these rural communicants.

Now the League has chapters in nearly all of the eighty-seven Dioceses of the Episcopal Church and its work is expected to be helped greatly by the Episcopal Nation-Wide Campaign being waged to mobilize the resources and communicants of the church to meet the reconstruction problems which organized religion is facing.

How to reach these "lost" communicants of the Diocese of Southern Ohio was the problem Miss Matthews faced when the League was established in Ohio a few weeks ago. Other dioceses had obtained a line on a few "lost" communicants by depending upon rural clergymen and archdeacons. But Miss Matthews looked askance at such haphazard methods. "I am going to advertise for them—5,000 'lost' Episcopalians," she announced.

Other Episcopal Dioceses are watching Miss Matthews' experiment with an idea of following her example if the scheme proves a success. Having found out who the "lost" Episcopalians are in the different Dioceses, the Church League for the Isolated proposes to keep them interested in the church.

Hurt In A Runaway Accident

Mr. Oliver Peacock and Mr. Irving Johnson, both farmers residing in Dublin, about to leave the mill of The Princess Anne Milling Company last Friday afternoon, their horse was frightened at a passing train and became unmanageable. It ran out Antioch avenue and, when opposite the wheelwright and blacksmith shop of Mr. Harry Muir, the wheels of the vehicle struck a post, upsetting it and throwing the occupants out into a pile of scrap iron cutting and bruising them badly.

Mr. Johnson, who is about 60 years of age, received concussion of the brain and internal injuries. He was taken to the Salisbury Hospital and is in a critical condition. Mr. Peacock, aged 80 years, was severely cut on the face. Two of his ribs were broken and his hip was fractured. He was treated by a local doctor.

PRESIDENT NOW ON TREATY TOUR

Twenty-Seven Days Will Be Spent On Swing Around The Circle

President Wilson left Washington last Wednesday night for a country-wide speaking trip to tell the American people first-hand of his part in the peace negotiations and to make a personal appeal that the peace treaty be ratified without amendment.

The President's special train, on which he will live nearly all of the time for the next 25 days, departed at 7 o'clock. The first leg of the trip of nearly 10,000 miles was completed Thursday in Columbus, where he made the first of his 30 scheduled addresses.

The President and his party reached the station at Washington at 6.45 o'clock and were given an ovation by the crowd. After escorting Mrs. Wilson to the private car the President returned to the platform where he chatted with friends until the time for his train to leave.

Accompanying the President, in addition to Mrs. Wilson, were Joseph P. Tumulty, his secretary, and Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, his physician. Nearly 30 newspaper correspondents also were on the train, in addition to the force of official stenographers and Secret Service men.

The trip, perhaps the most arduous ever undertaken by a President, will carry Mr. Wilson and his party as far west as the Pacific coast, almost to the Canadian border on the north and almost to Mexico on the south. He will speak in every State west of the Mississippi except four, and will make up for the omission of these by speeches in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

In point of distance covered, the tour will be almost on a par with the President's trip to France and return, and the members of his party expect it to be much more strenuous because of its continuity and the long, fast rides through the West.

Although the detailed schedule was held in confidence in the interest of safety to the Presidential train, it is understood that most of the stops will be only for three or four hours. In Des Moines, Seattle, Los Angeles and Portland, however, where Sunday stops are made, the President will have opportunity for brief respites. In Seattle he will review the Pacific fleet.

Death Of James M. Roberts

Mr. James Massey Roberts died at his home at Clara, Wicomico county, at an early hour last Saturday morning, aged 81 years. Mr. Roberts had been in failing health for the past two years and the cause of his death was general infirmity resulting from old age. Mr. Roberts was born in Mt. Vernon in 1838, and was a son of the late Wm. Roberts and Caroline Kennerly Roberts, of Somerset county. He had been prominent in business life of lower Wicomico and Somerset counties for half a century prior to his retirement from the mercantile business a few years ago.

He is survived by his widow, (Mrs. Olivia A. Roberts), three sons, (Capt. Wm. S. Roberts, Mr. Henry Roberts, of Clara; Mr. John B. Roberts, of Princess Anne), and three daughters, (Mrs. John A. Insley, Mrs. Andrew Phillips, of Quantico, and Mrs. John F. Phillips, of Clara).

Funeral services were held last Sunday afternoon and the interment was in the old family burying ground at Weptiquin church. Quite a number of Mr. Roberts' friends attended the funeral from Princess Anne.

BOTH ARE "WET" CANDIDATES

Nice And Ritchie Opposed To The Prohibition Amendment

Harry W. Nice, Republican, and Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, candidates for Governor, are wet candidates.

Their respective attitudes on prohibition legislation were made known last week by the Antiprohibition League which published their replies to its questionnaire of August 21st, directed to them with a view to ascertaining their views. There is no marked difference between the replies of the two candidates which follows:

Mr. Nice wrote as follows:

"1. Respect for law and order is the foundation of all government, I, therefore, assume that your question does not contemplate the nonenforcement of the existing law of the land. However, I am opposed to the enactment of the burdensome, restrictive and odious legislation designed to enforce the purposes of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"2. I have always believed, and now believe, that the question affecting the individual rights of the people should be determined by the majority of the voters."

Attorney General Albert C. Ritchie's letter follows:

"1. I was personally not in favor of the Eighteenth amendment because I thought, and I still think, that it deals with a matter which ought to be left to the people of the state to pass upon for themselves, and that three-fourths of the states should not impose their will in this regard upon the remaining one-fourth of the states, regardless of what might be the wishes of the people themselves in the latter states. I favor option, but just what I thought that prohibition should not be imposed upon any one county without a vote of the people of that county, so I have thought and still think that prohibition should not be imposed upon the whole state without a vote of the people of the state.

"The Eighteenth amendment has, however, been adopted and if I am elected governor I will be required to take the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and so long, therefore, as the Eighteenth amendment remains part of the United States Constitution, I cannot, of course, do anything which would not be in compliance with that sworn duty. But holding the belief which I have stated above, I will give my support to any movement which has for its object the giving to the people of the states an opportunity to vote upon this question.

"If I am elected governor I will oppose all prohibition legislation which contains arbitrary restriction upon the freedom of the people, such as the provision for 'search and seizure' and other measures, not necessary for a fair and proper administration of the supreme law of the land.

"2. As I have indicated in my answer to Question No. 1, I believe that the people are entitled to a referendum on prohibition legislation, and I am, therefore, in favor of submitting enforcement legislation to a direct vote."

League Of Nations Meeting

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Ocean City, Md., Sunday evening, Aug. 31st, which adopted resolutions in favor of the ratification by the Senate of the Peace Treaty without any such amendments as would require it to be re-submitted to the other parties thereto. Col. Geo. M. Upshur presided and addresses were made by Judge Frank I. Duncan, of Baltimore county, and by Capt. Thomas G. Chamberlain, of the 1st Battalion American Anti-Air Craft Artillery.

"The addresses made in Baltimore" said Capt. Chamberlain, "by men sworn as Senators to support the Constitution of the United States amounted to nothing less than a malign attempt to defeat all that glorious heritage which has been won for America by the soldiers' blood."

Capt. Chamberlain struck the keynote of the present situation. Senators Reed and Johnson at Baltimore, and Senator Knox in the Senate have finally made the issue clear that their fight is not against the Covenant of the League of Nations, but is against the Treaty of Peace. They are not in sympathy with the peace imposed upon Germany by force by the Allies, but sympathize with the German opposition thereto, and demand that the United States should not be a party to the maintenance thereof.

Until Germany and Austria are admitted to the League of Nations Europe is divided into two parties, the Allies against the Central Powers. The United States must stand either with the Allies or it will be giving aid and encouragement to Germany and Austria; will encourage Germany in its hope for domination over Russia and Poland. This is the issue made by Senators Knox, Johnson and Reed. Once the people of the United States understand, there can be no doubt as to the verdict.

Mr. Edgar A. Dashiell, who has been spending the past three months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dashiell, of Mt. Vernon, returned to Baltimore Monday of last week to accept a position in the Internal Revenue Office.

DEATH OF ARTHUR P. GORMAN

Served In State Senate And Was Head Of State Tax Commission

State Tax Commissioner Arthur P. Gorman, Jr., son of the late United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman, died last Wednesday afternoon at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. For the past several years Mr. Gorman had been in poor health, and it was only by the exercise of an indomitable will that he had been able so successfully to exercise his duties as head of the State Tax Commission.

Wednesday morning the hospital experts told members of his family that, with rest and careful treatment, Mr. Gorman would, in all likelihood, be restored to health and vigor. During the hours which intervened, however, he suffered a number of sinking spells, growing gradually worse, until death came shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon. His body was taken to his country home near Laurel. At the time of his death, Mr. Gorman was in his forty-sixth year.

With him when the end came were his wife, his sister, Mrs. Ralph W. Hills, of Washington, and Charles C. Wallace, secretary of the State Tax Commission, long Mr. Gorman's confidential man and friend. The death of Mr. Gorman removes from Maryland politics a name that had been prominent more than a half century.

Mr. Gorman was born on the place in Howard county where he lived all his life, on March 27th, 1873. He first attended public schools and thereafter was tutored privately in Washington. He was next sent to the Episcopal High School at Alexandria, Va., and then to the Lawrenceville Academy, Lawrenceville, N. J. He studied law at Columbia University in Washington and at the University of Maryland. He also read law in the office of the late John P. Poe. He was admitted to the bar in 1897 and the following year formed a partnership with Alonzo L. Miles, which was dissolved in 1905.

Mr. Gorman was elected to the state Senate first in 1903 and re-elected in 1907. He was the Democratic candidate for governor in 1911, defeating Blair Lee in the primary, but he was beaten in the general election by Phillips Lee Goldsborough. Since 1914 he was a member of the State Tax Commission. Mr. Gorman was married to Miss Grace Norris, daughter of Col. James L. Norris, of Washington, on November 28, 1900. She survives him.

The funeral of Mr. Gorman was held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Private services were held at his home at Fairview, conducted by Rev. Dr. P. P. Phillips, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of Alexandria, Va., and Rev. J. F. Burks, of Brick Episcopal Church, Guilford, Howard county, Md. Only members of the family were present at these services. From the home the funeral cortege proceeded to Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington, D. C., where public services were held at 12 o'clock.

The active pallbearers were relatives of Mr. Gorman, and two intimate friends of the family—Douglas Gorman, of Baltimore, a cousin of the deceased; E. M. Sunderland, of Washington, a brother-in-law of the widow; James L. Norris, of Washington, and Dr. R. R. Norris, of Crisfield, Md., both brothers of Mrs. Gorman, and C. C. Wallace, and John F. O'Malley.

To Exterminate Corn Borer

Thomas B. Symons, Director of the Maryland State College Extension Service, and Prof. E. N. Cory, State Entomologist, have returned from a conference of agriculturists and entomologists held at Albany, N. Y., to discuss ways and means of exterminating the "corn borer," a pest which has found its way here from Europe. The spread of the pest over some 1,200 square miles of Massachusetts, and an infestation in New York State covering about three miles has caused considerable uneasiness on the part of agriculturists along the Atlantic Coast. Serious damage has been done corn crops in the vicinity of Boston and Albany and the rapid spread of the insect over surrounding territory has aroused farmers and State authorities to devise measures for its eradication.

New York State has appropriated $100,000 to inaugurate a fight against the pest. Massachusetts is spending large sums also to check the spread of the insect. In the latter State the problem is more difficult, as the insect has been established there for a longer time and not only attacks corn, but feeds upon about 40 other food plants, including weeds, potatoes, tomatoes, oats, grasses, etc.

In these times of unrest the only people who seem satisfied are those who haven't got anything.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION ELECT

Address By Dr. Atkinson At Teachers And Trustees Meeting

The meeting of teachers and trustees which convened in Princess Anne on September 1st, proved to be most interesting and profitable. At the opening Dr. Gordon T. Atkinson, president of the Board of Education, presented the following address:

Teachers and Officials of the Public Schools of Somerset County, Ladies, and Gentlemen:

It is a very great pleasure to extend to you cordial greetings and sincere welcome to this meeting, to which you have come in response to an invitation of the County Board of Education. We have requested your presence for a better understanding, to offer you some instructions that you may be prepared to begin the great work for the school year about to begin, for your mission is truly one of great responsibility and importance.

With your permission I will attempt to explain a matter upon which I fear that the Board of Education is not entirely understood; it is one that has caused the Board much regret and embarrassment. I refer to salaries and better equipment for school rooms—to be plain. We have not been paying proper salaries and have not made you and your pupils as comfortable as we desired. I will try to explain. First, you must know that we are only a distributing board. We can only use the funds that we receive from the state and county. We have no power to levy. We can only request the sum that we are to receive, which is fixed by other boards. We can request, and I want to tell you that each year we prepare a budget, and after asking for the amount for fixed charges, we also ask an additional sum for progressive improvements. I will take you into confidence and tell you we requested the sum of $65,000 and were allowed the sum of $53,000, just $12,000 less than we wanted. We could have accomplished some wonderful things for the cause of education in the county with the amount we desired. Perhaps the Board of County Commissioners thought that they knew better than we did.

Now I do not intend, nor is it my purpose to reflect or put all the blame on the Honorable Board of County Commissioners, but I will tell you I believe they would like to do better but for the fear to face the result of raising the tax rate. They would like to feel sure that public sentiment was in full sympathy with them.

Somerset is not a poor county. We have much wealth among our people. The banks show an accumulation of nearly five millions, and I think it safe to say there is at least two million dollars worth of Liberty Bonds. To this may be added other personal holdings, which it is impossible to estimate. Besides, with merchants and farmers for past years has been prosperous. What is the trouble? I will tell you. More public sentiment to provide money for education is needed. I am about to suggest a plan, for there is no reason why Somerset county should be lagging behind, when we have the means to progress. This is my plan:

Let the teachers form an association fully organized, and when the levy is about to be made by the County Commissioners appear in a body in Princess Anne, bring your trustees and all friends of education to support the County Board of Education in their request for a sum that will pay adequate salaries and run the schools as they should be. I feel confident that no board of commissioners could resist an appeal of this sort. I feel sure that they would see that public sentiment had awakened and see that the taxpayers were prepared for an increased rate, and your request would be granted. Give this suggestion a thoughtful consideration.

Now one more matter and I am done. The Board of Education and all friends of education should be alarmed by the vandalism and destruction of school property during the past year, school buildings have been entered at night, furniture broken and other damage done, and what is difficult to believe, it has in many cases been the work of male pupils, present or former. Is there not something you teachers can do to prevent a repetition of this dreadful practice?

Are you teaching the pupils that the school building and contents is their property, built expressly for their use and betterment, and trying to create sentiment, not to destroy, but to protect? I trust you will give this suggestion careful consideration and see that such acts do not occur during the coming year.

The County Board of Education joins me in expression of appreciation for your prompt attendance to this meeting and wishing you a year of great usefulness and prosperity in your profession.

The address was followed by the election of the following officers of the teachers associations: President, F. E. Gardner, of Crisfield; vice-president, W. A. N. Bowland, of Princess Anne; W. Stewart Fitzgerald, secretary; Mrs. Emma W. Somers, recording secretary; Miss Addie W. Bradshaw, treasurer.

At noon the teachers, trustees and officials were entertained at dinner at the Washington Hotel.

Some men decide not to buy a new suit this fall as it would make the old hat look so seedy, and they aren't going to buy a new hat as it would make their old suit look so worn out. However, the man with the slightest claim to social respectability will on September 15th cast aside his newly cleaned and altogether neat straw hat and don the battered and disreputable lid carried over from last winter.

The only person in the Argus office who didn't treat little Miss McLean with the utmost respect from the moment of her joining the staff was Bannister. Bannister wasn't the typical sporting editor of action and movies. He didn't wear checked suits.

He didn't gabble unceasingly in baseball slang. He was tall and slender and chronically pessimistic concerning prize fighters, star pitchers and race horses. He was sporting editor because of an uncanny gift of analysis that made him the best forecaster in that field in the state.

The "old man" had discovered this quality in Bannister and bribed him, with an increase in pay, to quit general reporting and specialize in sports. Bannister didn't like being a sporting editor. He wanted to be the paper's feature writer. And Betty McLean had just been given that job.

Betty had come to the Argus from an unimportant upstate paper. Evidently, the old exchange reader, had discovered her stuff and showed it to the boss. Phillips was always after good material. He sleuthed Betty out and hired her.

When Billy Saunders, the city editor, introduced Bannister to Miss McLean Bannister grunted. He didn't give the girl a second look—which was bad judgment, because Betty was well worth looking at.

Also she overheard part of what Bannister said to Bart Hemmingsway, the police reporter, as he passed the latter's desk a moment later; something about "putting the newspaper business on the blink."

From the apprehensive glance Hemmingsway directed toward her at Bannister's

ter's words Betty knew well enough what it was the lanky sporting editor had said. She flushed hotly but made no sign. Then and there, though, she resolved to "show that big boor that if anything is putting the business on the blink it isn't the women."

Betty took rather more pains than she otherwise might have to be nice to everybody else in the Argus shop, so as to make more pronounced the lofty indifference with which she treated the sporting editor. She ignored his almost insultingly perfunctory greeting the next time they met—and after that the sporting editor and the new feature writer apparently were unaware of each other's existence.

Betty had been on the "Argus" almost two weeks before she got a chance to show what she could do. Indeed, she was beginning to wonder whether Saunders's idea of utilizing a woman writer was to keep her running around to suffrage meetings, getting photographs of "richest babies," and such like cubs' errands, when her opportunity came.

Down at the South End there was a big acid works. An explosion in one of the buildings killed six of the foreign employees and maimed many others. The fire department had had an heroic job. It was a big story—but man's stuff, all of it. Saunders, happening to glimpse Betty, a wistful outsider to all the hustling work going on, called to her. "Go and get a sob story on the wives and sweethearts of the explosion victims," he said, and turned back to his schedule.

Betty got the story. Every one of the six had had a family. Four of the families had been planning to return to the old homes in Europe the next week. The story was full of possibilities. Betty wrote it magnificently, in bold, splendid strokes. Saunders had limited her to half a column, scheduling it for a minor head and to "follow all explosion." When he read what the girl had written he played her story up in a three-column box in black type.

Bannister always read every word of the Argus except the sporting page. He was poring over the paper next day when Betty came into the city room. He was reading her story for the second time. The girl looked clean over his head and went straight to her desk. Bannister, peering solemnly over the top of the paper, studied her intently. Presently she went out. "Well, the darned little cuss!" said Bannister to himself.

"And I had the gall to think I'd make a feature writer!"

There was one man in the Argus office who was even more thoughtfully courteous to Betty than any one else. That was Travers, the dramatic and musical critic. Travers was as immaculate in manners as in dress, and very, very superior. He had a Harvard accent and no intimates in the office. Betty considered him the most genuinely cultured man she had ever met.

He talked literature, particularly poetry, with her. The day after her beautifully pathetic picture of the stricken widows and orphans appeared Travers bestowed upon it an analytically calm approval that she valued more than all the enthusiastic praise of the rest of the office.

Then he invited her out to dinner. Bannister saw them going, noted the deferential yet protective attitude of the critic, and swore volubly.

A month passed. Then came the night of the riot. It had germinated in a nest of anarchists in the slums and it broke out of a clear sky. A hard, bad crowd gathered silently, then with a sudden, crashing uproar began raiding the arms and ammunition places.

The police reserves were out and the riot call for troops sent in. The town was in a turmoil, the streets perilous—all in a moment. Betty had been dining with Travers, a frequent custom. They had been to a foreign restaurant, a little away from the center of things.

As they turned a corner they found themselves in the midst of a frantic crowd, red-flagged, crying, "Death to capitalists!" One burly fellow threw an American flag on the ground, spat upon it, kicked it.

Betty flamed into fury. "Stop that, you—you—creature!" she cried, shaking her fist at the brute. "Make him stop it!" she demanded, turning to Travers. With one accord the wild-eyed crowd rushed howling at them. And Travers, shaking Betty's hand from his arm, turned and fled.

The burly man, first to reach Betty, seized her arm with a cruel grip. Thrusting his face close into hers, he swore vilely at her in English. "We fix such kind—you! Right now!" he shouted. Then, still gripping her arm, he turned, leering, to his companions and gabbed some question in a foreign tongue.

At that instant a long police night-stick swung over Betty's shoulder and the burly man went down with a thud. A ruck of rioters rushed at whoever was behind her. For an instant Betty was in the midst of a scuffling, grunting, cursing mass. A strong arm swung her into the shelter of a long body, and twice again the yellow stick resounded on thick skulls. Momentarily the crush of ill-smelling humanity leaned away from her. Then around the corner came a dozen policemen with riot guns. The bolsheviks scattered and fled. And Betty found herself snuggling tightly to the side of Fred Bannister.

"By thunder, girl, I only got here in time!" He laughed through labored breathing.

"Oh, dear!" shivered Betty. "It was mighty lucky for me you happened to come."

"Happened" be blowed! I heard you mention the Little Europe as you came out. When this started I knew you were in wrong—in that company. So I bummed this club and came a-running. I met Mr. Yellow Fellow beating it. Listen, Betty, I don't have to tell you what sort Travers is. He's told you all about himself now. After this I'm going to take you around. You need an escort with less culture and more sporting blood."

"Well, after the way you've treated me, I like your nerve!" protested Betty; but she smiled gratefully up at him.

"Glad you do," replied Bannister. "It's brand new."

To Ascertain Days of Months. Shut the fist and let the knuckle of the forefinger represent January with its 31 days, and the depression between that and the next knuckle will represent February with its smaller number of days. And thus every month that corresponds to a knuckle will be found to contain thirty-one days, and every month that corresponds to a depression a smaller number of days. The little finger knuckle will represent July; begin again with the forefinger knuckle, which stands for August, and from this on continue to count through the months of the year.

Hardly Complimentary. Some friends of mine, while East last summer, met a woman that had a monkey for a pet which she made a big fuss over, hardly noticing the children. This naturally disgusted them very much, but little Mary Jane was charmed and tried hard to make friends with him, but he did not seem so inclined. One day, after another unsuccessful attempt, the woman carressing him said: "Oh, he doesn't love you like he does me." Little Mary Jane indignantly replied, "Why, of course not, he should love his mother best of all. I'm not related to him."—Chicago American.

Mother's Occupation. Bertha's mother was plucking the feathers from a chicken and the little one was greatly interested in watching her when the doorbell rang. Bertha was sent to answer the bell, and when the caller asked where her mother was the tot answered: "She's in the kitchen undressing a chicken, and she can't be disturbed."

CHANDLER SIX Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

The Year's Most Pleasing New Sedan

THE season offers no other sedan so pleasing in the beauty of its lines and its furnishings, as the new series Chandler Sedan. And there is none that may be compared with it at anything like its price.

The new Chandler Sedan is the highest expression of years of development in the creation of closed bodies. It is beautiful to look at, and most comfortable to ride in. It has style and refinement that must appeal to those who care for the finer things.

This car seats seven persons most comfortably or five when auxiliary chairs are not in use. The front seat is solid, not divided as in previous models, and the window posts are a permanent part of the body, not removable. The windows, however, may be lowered away or adjusted to suit the weather and the wish. The entire interior is upholstered in finest quality silk-plush of pleasing pattern for cushions and plain tone for head lining. Interior fittings are in dull silver finish.

Despite the largest production in the history of the Chandler Company, the demand for the new series sedan will quickly consume the production for weeks to come. Your early order will be a safeguard against disappointment.

THE A B C OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

1. What is the League of Nations?
A. A union of the strongest civilized nations formed at the conclusion of the great war.

2. What is its object?
A. First, to promote the Peace of the World by agreeing not to resort to war. Second, to deal openly with each other, not by secret treaties. Third, to improve international law. Fourth, to co-operate in all matters of common concern.

3. Does it presume to end war?
A. No more than any government can end crime. It claims to reduce the liability of war.

4. What will be done to any nation that makes war?
A. It will be boycotted and otherwise penalized.

5. How else will the probability of war be lessened?
A. By voluntary, mutual and proportionate disarmament; by exchanging military information, by providing for arbitration, by protecting each nation's territorial integrity and by educating public opinion to see the folly of war.

6. What else does the League propose to do for Mankind?
A. (1) Secure fair treatment for labor, (2) suppress the White Slave Traffic, the sale of dangerous Drugs, and the traffic in War Munitions, (3) control and prevent Disease, (4) promote the work of the Red Cross, and (5) establish International Bureaus for other Causes that concern the human race.

7. Who are to be Charter Members of the League?
A. The United States of America, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, British Empire, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Hedjaz, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Serbia, Siam, Uruguay and the following states which are invited to accede to the covenant: Argentine Republic, Chili, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Venezuela.

8. What other nations may join?
A. Any self-governing State which will agree to the rules of the League, provided the League accepts it.

9. What Agencies will the League have?

A. (1) An Assembly, composed of representatives of all the member Nations, (2) a Council of Nine, (3) a Secretary-General, (4) a Mandatory Commission, to look after colonies, etc., (5) a Permanent Commission, for military questions, (6) various International Bureaus: such as the Postal Union, etc., (7) Mandatories.

10. What is a Mandatory?
A. Some one nation designated by the League to attend to the welfare of "backward peoples residing in colonies of the Central Empires, or in territories taken from them." This is to be a "sacred trust," and in selecting a mandatory the wishes of the people of the area in question shall be the principal consideration.

11. Does the League mean a Super-nation?

A. No. It interferes in no way with any Nation's Sovereignty, except to limit its power to attack other nations.

12. Can any Nation withdraw when it wishes?

A. Yes. The League is Advisory and Co-operative, not coercive.

13. Does the League put Peace above Justice and National Honor?

A. No. It puts Reason before Violence.

14. Does not the League take away the Constitutional right of Congress to declare war?

A. No. The League can advise war; Congress alone can Declare war.

15. Does it destroy the Monroe Doctrine?

A. Exactly the contrary. For the first time in history the other nations recognize the Monroe Doctrine; and extend it to all the world.

16. Does it not interfere with Treaty Making Powers of the United States?

A. No. It is a Treaty. We can make any Treaty we please.

17. Would we have had the Great War if we had had this League?

A. No. That War cost the world over 7,000,000 lives and 200,000,000 dollars.

18. Of what importance is the League?

A. It is the greatest deed of mankind in the history of the world.

19. Has not anyone a right to object to the League?

A. Yes. This is a free country. Any one has a right to any opinion he chooses.

20. Why is the League so bitterly opposed by a few?

A. Because, unfortunately, any Treaty or League must be made by the President, and a President is chosen by a political party and many members of the opposite Party think they must decry whatever he does.

I. O. O. F. CENTENNIAL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Every Day Of Next Week Crowded With Events Of Interest To Members And Public.

NOTABLES TO ATTEND.

Everything is ready for the great gathering of Odd Fellows from all over the United States and from foreign countries next Sunday at Baltimore, when the 100th anniversary of the founding of the order in America will be observed and the Sovereign Grand Lodge Convention is held. Because Maryland has the honor of being the mother state of American Odd Fellowship, and because the Marylanders are noted for their open-handed, free-hearted hospitality virtually every Odd Fellow in the state has been doing his part to make the week the greatest in fraternal circles.

The week of sessions and good cheer begins next Sunday with religious services at 3 P. M. at the Lyric Theatre. Bishop W. F. McDowell will preach and there will be a special chorus-choir of 50 male and female voices to render appropriate music. This choir will be composed of prominent soloists from various sections of the state and its singing will be one of the big features. The rest of the week's program follows:

Monday, September 15.

9:30 A. M.—Convening of Sovereign Grand Lodge at I. O. O. F. Temple. Judge Henry V. Borst, Grand Sire, presiding.

9:30 A. M.—Convening of the General Military Council of the Patriarchs Militant, General W. C. Gurney, presiding, also at Temple.

9:30 A. M.—National Rebekah Assembly Meeting, Mrs. Martha Prescott, president, presiding, at Temple.

8 P. M.—Welcoming address at the Lyric Theatre by Grand Master John B. Spence, with response by Grand Sire Henry V. Borst. Centennial oration by Alfred S. Pinkerton, of Massachusetts.

Washington Lodge, No. 1, the mother lodge of all lodges and Jerusalem Encampment, No. 1, will hold continuous sessions from Monday until Saturday, thus giving all visitors the opportunity of meeting with these two original bodies.

Tuesday, September 16.

Regular meetings of the various departments of work.

Conferring of the various degrees of the order at I. O. O. F. Temple, Fourth Regiment Armory and Richmond Market Hall.

Assembly of the army of the Patriarchs Militant at Fifth Regiment Armory.

Banquet to the officers and members of the Sovereign Grand Lodge at Hotel Rennett.

Wednesday, September 17.

8 A. M. to 12 M.—Competitive drills of the Patriarchs Militant at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

1:30 P. M.—Monster parade of 8,000 members of Patriarchs Militant and 12,000 civilian members from every state in the Union and from Australia and other countries.

Thursday, September 18.

A. M.—Meetings of the various departments of work; the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the General Military Council and National Rebekah Assembly.

Sight-seeing trip around and through Baltimore and its vicinity. Also side trips to Washington, Alexandria and Washington.

8:30 P. M.—Grand decoration of Chivalry and ball at Fifth Regiment Armory.

Degree Exemptions at the Temple, Fourth Regiment Armory and Richmond Market Hall.

Friday, September 19.

Meetings of the various bodies continued.

A Great Advantage.

The principal of a college was lecturing his staff of teachers upon efficiency. "What," he demanded, "would be thought of a glove-maker who at the close of the season found 10 per cent of his stock returned because it fell below standard requirements? Why should we require a 100 per cent efficiency of the glove-maker and only 90 per cent of a teacher?" "Because," responded a teacher, "he can select his kids!"

Temper and Tight Collars.

Dr. Leonard Williams, lecturing on "Common Sense," at a nursing conference and exhibition in London, said that people with tight collars did not drain their brains properly, and often suffered from bad tempers. He had noticed that since women had given up high collars and were wearing garments which gave complete freedom to the neck they had become sweeter tempered.

Not Meant for Household Pets.

If taken young the grizzly is easy enough to handle, for at birth he weighs only from 10 to 20 ounces and is about the size of a full-grown chipmunk. Later the bears run between 350 and 600 pounds in weight, although they have been known to reach 1,500 pounds. This, of course, makes the domestication of grizzlies by apartment house dwellers difficult.

LEAGUE FULFILLS AMERICAN IDEAL

Herbert Hoover Says Democracies Replaced Autocracies at Our Bidding.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION CHIEF.

Urges Ratification on Ground That Peace Treaty Will Collapse Without League of Nations.

Herbert Hoover is so deeply concerned over the opposition to the League of Nations in the United States that he has let himself be interviewed at length on the League situation. In a talk with the New York Times correspondent in Paris, the Food Administration Chief asserts that having caused the League idea to prevail America cannot abandon it. We cannot withdraw, he says, and leave Europe to chaos. "To abandon the League Covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse."

Mr. Hoover's wide acquaintance with conditions both here and abroad, his reputation as an administrator, a man of great affairs who deals with facts, not theories, make his statement one of the most important contributions to the recent League discussions.

"There are one or two points in connection with the present treaty," said Mr. Hoover, "that need careful consideration by the American public. We need to digest the fact that we have for a century and a half been advocating democracy not only as a remedy for the internal ills of all society, but also as the only real safeguard against war. We have believed and proclaimed, in season and out, that a world in which there was a free expression and enforcement of the will of the majority was the real basis of government, was essential for the advancement of civilization, and that we have proved its enormous human benefits in our country."

American Ideas Have Prevailed.

"We went into the war to destroy autocracy as a menace to our own and all other democracies. If we had not come into the war every inch of European soil today would be under autocratic government. We have imposed our will on the world. Out of this victory has come the destruction of the four great autocracies in Germany, Russia, Turkey and Austria and the little autocracy in Greece. New democracies have sprung into being in Poland, Finland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, Greater Serbia, Greece, Siberia, and even Germany and Austria have established democratic governments. Beyond these a host of small republics, such as Armenia, Georgia, Azerbaijan and others, have sprung up, and again as a result of this great world movement the constitutions of Spain, Rumania, and even England, have made a final ascent to complete franchise and democracy, although they still maintain a symbol of royalty."

"We have been the living spring for this last century and half from which these ideas have sprung, and we have triumphed. The world today, except for a comparatively few reactionary and communistic autocracies, is democratic, and we did it."

"A man who takes a wife and blesses the world with several infants cannot go away and leave them on the claim that there was no legal marriage."

"These infant democracies all have political, social and economic problems involving their neighbors that are fraught with the most intense friction. There are no natural boundaries in Europe. Races are not compact; they blend at every border. They need railway communication and sea outlets through their neighbors' territory."

"Many of these states must for the next few years struggle almost for bare bones to maintain their very existence. Every one of them is going to do its best; to protect its own interests, even to the prejudice of its neighbors."

Governments Lack Experience.

"We in America should realize that democracy, as a stable form of government as we know it, is possible only with highly educated populations and a large force of men who are capable of government. Few of the men who compose these governments have had any actual experience at governing and their populations are woefully illiterate."

"They will require a generation of actual national life in peace to develop free education and skill in government."

"Unless these countries have a guiding hand and referee in their quarrels, a court of appeals for their wrongs, this Europe will go back to chaos. If there is such an institution, representing the public opinion of the world, and able to exert its authority, they will grow into stability. We cannot turn back now."

"There is another point which also needs emphasis. World treaties hitherto have always been based on the theory of a balance of power. Stronger races have been set up to dominate the weaker, partly with a view to maintaining stability and to a greater degree with a view to maintaining occupations and positions for the reactionaries of the world."

"The balance of power is born of armies and navies, aristocracies, autocracies, and reactionaries. Generally, who can find employment and domination in these institutions, and treaties founded on this basis have established stability after each great war for a shorter or longer time, but never more than a generation."

"America came forward with a new idea, and we insisted upon its injection into this peace conference. We claimed that it was possible to set up such a piece of machinery with such authority that the balance of power could be abandoned as a relic of the middle ages. We compelled an entire construction of this treaty and every word and line in it to bend to this idea."

"Outside of the League of Nations the treaty itself has many deficiencies. It represents compromises between many men and between many selfish interests, and these very compromises and deficiencies are multiplied by the many new nations that have entered upon its signature, and the very safety of the treaty itself lies in a court of appeal for the remedy of wrongs in the treaty."

Benefits of the League.

"One thing is certain. There is no body of human beings so wise that a treaty could be made that would not develop injustice and prove to have been wrong in some particulars. As the covenant stands today there is a place at which redress can be found and through which the good-will of the world can be enforced. The very machinery by which the treaty is to be executed, and scores of points yet to be solved, which have been referred to the League of Nations as a method of securing more mature judgment in a less heated atmosphere, justifies the creation of the League."

"To abandon the covenant now means that the treaty itself will collapse."

"It would take the exposure of but a few documents at my hand to prove that I had been the most reluctant of Americans to become involved in this situation in Europe. But having gone in with our eyes open and with a determination to free ourselves and the rest of the world from the dangers that surrounded us, we cannot now pull back from the job. It is no use to hold a great revival and then go away leaving a church for continued services half done."

"We have succeeded in a most extraordinary degree in imposing upon Europe the complete conviction that we are absolutely disinterested. The consequence is that there is scarcely a man, woman or child who can read in Europe that does not look to the United States as the ultimate source from which they must receive assurances and guardianship in the liberties which they have now secured after so many generations of struggle."

"This is not a problem of protecting the big nations, for the few that remain can well look after themselves. What we have done is to set up a score of little democracies, and if the American people could visualize their handiwork they would insist with the same determination that they did in 1917 that our government proceed."

Story of the Cable Car.

In 1873, on August 1, the first cable car in the world was put into operation at San Francisco. The inventor of the cable system was Andrew Hallidie. The cable cars were introduced into Chicago eight years after their appearance on the Pacific coast and in 1883 were adopted in New York, Washington and Philadelphia and afterward in London.

To Save Charred Documents.

Documents that have been charred by fire are rendered readable if colloidion is poured over the charred paper. In a few minutes this dries and a tough, transparent coating is produced through which the printing can be seen. Bank notes and other papers thus charred have been treated in this way with success.

I Am Not Poor.

Pray hold me not in scorn. I am not poor. Poor rather is the man who desires many things. Where shall I take my place? Where in a little time from henceforth you shall know. Do you answer for yourself! From henceforth in a little time.—Leonardo da Vinci (translated by Edward McCurdy).

Burmese Marriages.

A curious idea among the Burmese is that people born on the same day of the week must not marry. Hence each girl carries a record of her birthday in her name, each day having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name that begins with that letter.

Fine for Company.

I had given a friend a recipe for a pudding. One day I was at her house with several others and at dinner the pudding was served. The woman next to me remarked how nice it was and I said, "Yes, and it is so cheap." Every one at the table smiled.—Exchange.

Accommodating Lily.

South America is not the only country that can boast of large leaves. In India the Victoria Regia grows leaves several feet across, and with a buoyancy sufficient to sustain the weight of a child. The edges turn up and form a sort of bowl.

Fish of Lake Erie.

Lake Erie produces more fish to the square mile than any other body of water in the world.

Mr. Lewis M. Milbourne, of the Internal Revenue Office, Baltimore, was a visitor to Princess Anne last Friday.

Miss Louise Fitzgerald left Friday for Marion Station, where she is a guest at a house party. She will return today.

Mrs. John Bromigh and two children, of Clarksburg, W. Va., are visiting Mrs. Bromigh's mother, Mrs. Julia Humphreys.

Registration dates in the counties this year are: Tuesday, September 30th; Tuesday, October 7th, and Tuesday, October 14th, for revision only.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop, Jr., of Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Purnell, of Snow Hill, were guests at the home of Mrs. Luther A. Oates last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wheatley and two children, who have been visiting Mrs. R. L. Bennett, at Oriole, returned to their home in Baltimore Monday evening of last week.

Mrs. Hubert A. Royster, her daughter and son, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Royster's mother, Mrs. Henry Page, returned to their home in Raleigh, N. C., last Friday.

Messrs. E. D. Young and George W. Colborn, Jr., spent the week-end in Norfolk, Va., visiting Mr. Young's son, Mr. Walter Young, who is director of maintenance at the port of Norfolk.

Mr. James Briscoe and son, Mr. Jas. Briscoe, Jr., of Hyattsville, who had been on an outing trip to Ocean City, Md., spent last Tuesday and Wednesday in Princess Anne. While here they were guests at the home of Mrs. R. W. Dashiell and Miss Maria Dennis.

Mr. Isaac Moore bought an 8-weeks old pig the first day of last July which weighed 30 pounds. The first day of September the pig weighed 128 pounds, averaging a little over two pounds a day in weight for two months. The pig is Poland China and Berkshire stock and Mr. Moore expects to have a large hog before butchering time.

State officers of the Daughters of America were entertained by Bridge Council, No. 66, of Princess Anne, last Friday night. The visitors were, Mrs. Ida Horseman, State councillor, and Mrs. Mattie Brown, State vice-councillor, both of Baltimore. After the meeting of the Council, which was largely attended, refreshments were served and a social evening spent.

A fairly well equipped kitchen has been fixed up in the hardware store of Mr. C. H. Hayman on Broad street, the object of which is to give suggestions to all who have given this department of their home little attention, and have not thought how much easier the most important part of home work would be if it could be done in a bright, attractive room, with good equipment and labor-saving devices. A similar kitchen will be put in at Marion Station and Crisfield.

A number of our young people attended the dance at Salisbury last Friday night.

Miss Doris Seidmann, of New York, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Fitzhugh Jones.

Mr. Peter Ruhl, of Baltimore, is visiting his son, Mr. H. T. Ruhl, on Mansion street.

Mr. Robert Oates will leave today to resume his studies at Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy.

On our 8th page will be found an advertisement of Barnes Bros. directing attention to the automobile built for all roads—the Oakland Sensible Six.

Miss Joyce Widdowson and Mr. Paul Widdowson have returned home after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hatcher, near Charlottesville, Va.

Col. and Mrs. Henry J. Waters and son, P. C. Wilson Waters, returned home on Wednesday last from a visit to friends at Madison and Stamford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Powell, who have been spending sometime at Ocean City and visiting Mrs. Powell's mother, Mrs. Emma Spencer, at Snow Hill, have returned home.

Mr. Percy Maddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, is visiting friends in Princess Anne. At the beginning of the school year Mr. Maddox, who is a student at St. John's College, will again take up his studies at that institution.

The following students entered the Beacom College at Salisbury, Md., at the opening of its fall term: Miss Helen E. Porter, of Princess Anne; Misses Marguerite Adams, Elizabeth Holland and Mr. J. Norman Landon, of Marion Station; Miss Hazel L. Dryden, of Westover; Mr. E. Carmel Wilson, of Kingston, and Miss Millie Papendick, of Eden.

Last Thursday Harry T. Phoebus withdrew from the Republican primary contest. Mr. Phoebus was a candidate for the nomination for clerk of the circuit court and was running independent of both Republican factions. After his withdrawal he lined up with the Parsons-Dryden-Ward forces and will use his political strength for the nomination of the candidates for that faction.

The Oldest Man in America
John Shell, of Leslie county, Kentucky, said to be the oldest living man in the United States, last Wednesday celebrated the one hundred and thirty-first anniversary of his birth.

Shell was first married at the age of 19 and lived with his first wife for more than 90 years. He lived 75 years in one house. He is the father of 29 children, the oldest now living being more than 90 years of age.

Six years ago he married again at the age of 125. By his second wife he has one child, a boy aged 5 years. He was at the advanced age of 74 during the Civil War. He was born near Knoxville, Tenn., 12 years after the battle of Bunker Hill and was full grown when the War of 1812 began. He has seen the United States develop from a small nation to a world power.

He bears his age well. His mind is clear and his eyesight is far better than that of many men still in their youth.

Fire Destroys Shirt Factory

Fire of an unknown origin destroyed the large shirt factory of Mr. Wilbur Nelson, on Locust street, Crisfield, shortly after midnight Thursday night, and for a time threatened much of the adjoining property. The residence of Mr. John Disharoon, across the street from the factory, was soon a mass of flames and was also burned to the ground, but fortunately Mr. Disharoon's family succeeded in saving most of their household effects. The home of Mr. Paul C. Lawson, only a few feet from the burning factory, was in danger for a considerable time, but was not seriously damaged, bucket brigades saving this as well as many other nearby houses.

Labor's Rating On Candidates

State's Attorney Harry W. Nice and Attorney General Albert C. Ritchie, Republican and Democratic candidates for the governorship, are running each other a close "percentage rating" race in replies filed to the questionnaire sent out recently by the Federation of Labor. The Federation plans to secure the standing of all candidates upon the question of the demands of labor under the coming state and city administrations. Two points separate them, Mr. Ritchie having been given a rating of 99 per cent., while Mr. Nice is listed at 88. In the cases of the other statewide candidates on both tickets, a rating of zero is given all but Alexander Armstrong, Republican candidate for attorney general. None of the other candidates have filed answers to the questionnaire.

Aid Roosevelt Memorial Plan

At the meeting in New York last Wednesday of the executive committee on the Roosevelt Memorial Judge John C. Rose, N. Winslow Williams, Charles H. Linville, Blanchard Randall, Albert A. Doub and Donald Linville were present as Maryland's representatives. As the form of the memorial has not been determined, it was decided to postpone the drive for funds until that is settled. Arrangements were made to have memorial meetings all over the country on Roosevelt's birthday, October 27th.

Despondency

Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.

SUCCESS OF COMMUNITY MARKET DEPENDS ON SUPERVISION BY COMPETENT MANAGER

"Farmers Line" Along the Curb of an Eastern City Market.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Vigilance is the price not only of liberty but of successful co-operative marketing. A city co-operative market may have fine buildings and equipment, but unless it is supervised by a competent manager who diligently enforces a well-worked-out system of operation, the enterprise will sooner or later fail. This is the rock on which practically all unsuccessful markets have broken, say city marketing specialists of the United States department of agriculture.

If a system of municipal markets is not so operated as to provide a place where people can purchase food more cheaply than at other food distributing agencies, the system is not justified, the specialists believe. While it is true that public markets are useful in that they assemble and make readily available a large assortment of certain products, some of which might otherwise be wasted, this is of relatively minor importance in determining the market's success. Well-operated markets may also benefit practically all consumers by furnishing competition which will stimulate private food dispensing agencies to operate more efficiently and to charge lower prices than they would if the competition of the markets did not exist. But public markets cannot bring lower prices unless the cost of operation is less in them than elsewhere. This is largely the problem of the market manager.

Give Manager Unhindered Field.

The first essential to a successful market is a competent, well-informed and progressive manager. A man familiar with modern merchandising methods should be procured even if the salary asked is more than at first seems necessary. No private commercial enterprise would think of placing a plant in which $100,000 or more has been invested in charge of an incompetent, poorly-paid manager. This has been done, however, by some city markets with very unsatisfactory results. Such a market has never come up to expectations and the community which it is intended to serve, as well as many observers, have been led rightly to question the work of the whole municipal market idea.

The manager must have an unhindered field in which to work. In addition to having satisfactory equipment he must make and enforce strictly good, practical sanitary regulations governing the methods of doing business on the part of the dealers in the market. To do this, he must be given almost dictatorial powers and not be obstructed by politics or other outside influences.

Renting Market Stalls.

Most successful markets rent the stalls from month to month. By this method, no question of a long lease will interfere with ejecting a dealer in case he refuses to conduct his business in accordance with the market rules and regulations and in the best interests of the market as a whole. All equipment, such as counters, racks, cold-storage boxes and, if possible, computing scales, should be owned by the city, so that no dealer will acquire property rights in the permanent fixtures in the stall.

The manager should exert every effort to attract dealers of the best type to the market. He should require all occupants of stalls to keep simple, uniform records, which should be available for his examination so that he can ascertain at least the volume of business of each dealer, the dealer's cost of doing business and his net profits.

In all his efforts to better merchandising methods in the market, the manager should keep in mind two fundamental things: (1) To justify the existence of the market, consumers must obtain food more cheaply than it can be obtained from most private stores; (2) to induce the dealers to make this cheaper food possible, they must be given a greater aggregate return than if they were in business merely as private storekeepers. The competent manager, if given adequate powers by the city, can accomplish both aims. One of the first regulations should be to strip from the price of food products as completely as possible all charges for service normally hidden in the price. A dollar spent in the market should bring a dollar's worth of food, not, say, 85 cents' worth of food, 10 cents' worth of delivery and 5 cents' worth of credit. The majority of those who buy in the market pay cash and carry away their purchases. It is manifestly unfair to make them pay higher prices in order that someone else may take advantage of the so-called free delivery and free credit. One of the first rules of a market, therefore, should be that dealers will not be permitted to grant credit or deliver goods at the dealers expense.

MERCHANDISING METHODS

Modern methods of merchandising, which have brought success to the foremost businesses of the country, should be brought to the attention of dealers in co-operative markets by the market manager. This should be one of his particular functions, and he should be selected largely with a view of his knowledge of merchandising, his enthusiasm and his ability to inspire confidence in and obtain results from the class of men who operate market stalls. The manager should get his dealers together from time to time and talk to them on merchandising methods. He should spend much time in the market observing operations and suggesting improvements, and should let it be understood that he will be glad at any time to help in the solution of any problem that may arise.

Smaller Profits.

The market manager should insist to dealers in the market that the savings effected by them as compared with outside dealers, by reason of the lower rentals and the absence of delivery and credit expenses, should be passed on to the consumer in lower prices. Because of decreased operating expenses, dealers in the market can sell at considerably reduced prices and still make the same margin of net profit as the average storekeeper. As a matter of fact, they can well afford to take a somewhat smaller margin of profit, since fair reduction of prices as compared with other competitors will attract more customers and so will build up the volume of their business and increase the rapidity of their turnover. The result will be that the aggregate net income built from a large number of small unit profits, together with saving in waste of goods due to their rapid movement will be greater—and often very much greater—than incomes built by private "service" stores from larger but fewer profits which are subject to reduction from spoilage because of slow movement of goods.

CAREFULLY KILL ALL WEEDS

Of Much Importance That No Noxious Plant Become Large Enough to Produce Seeds.

Weeds keep on coming up all through the season, and must be carefully removed, for a single weed may produce enough seed to infest the whole garden next season. So it is important that no weeds become large enough to produce and ripen seed. The use of stable manure is a source of fresh infection, as this usually contains many weed seeds. This danger may be avoided by using only well rotted manure on the garden, keeping fresh manure in a compost heap for at least six months. The seeds will be sprouted or killed by the heating of the manure. Some of the plant food is lost by composting, but it is made up by the better physical condition of the manure.

POULTRY FEEDING SYSTEMS

Labor Is Saved and Less Danger of Bowel Trouble in Giving Fowls Their Feed Dry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are two systems in use for the feeding of fowls, in one of which all the feed is given dry and in the other of which one or more of the daily feeds consists of a moistened mash. For convenience they may be termed the "dry feed" and the "mash" systems, although in the dry feed system a dry mash is often fed. Dry feeding is used by many where it is not convenient to make and feed a moistened mash. The greatest advantages to be derived from the dry system are the saving of labor and the lessened danger of bowel trouble resulting from sloppy or soured mashes.

RELATIVE VALUE OF LAND AND PRODUCT

Recent Investigation Made by Bureau of Crop Estimates.

There Has Been Much Disparity, First on One Side and Then on Other, Between Two Movements—Farm Labor a Factor.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farm land value has not advanced in the same degree as the composite price of crops and live stock has from the beginning of the war in 1918. Results of a recent investigation by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, revealed that, although farm land value alone gained in 1915 and led in the relative advance in 1916, it lost its lead in 1917 and, moreover, fell far behind the relative gain in the price of crops and live stock in that year and in 1918.

From 1914 to 1915 farm land value, not including that of buildings, increased 11 per cent, while the price of crops and live stock lost 3 per cent. In the following year land value went up 23 per cent above 1914 and price of crops and live stock also advanced, but only by 12 per cent. A reversal of the relative of these movements appeared in 1917, when land value gained only 38 per cent on 1914 and crops and live stock gained 74 per cent. The divergence increased in 1918, since the gain above 1914 was 50 per cent for land value and 97 per cent for crops and live stock.

Farm land value is supposed to be related, at any rate largely related, to the net profit of farming, and in fact it is often somewhat affected even by single years of high or scant profit, yet the value of farm land advanced in 1915, although the price of crops and live stock declined, in comparison with 1914, and gained relatively much more than price did in 1916; but, on the other hand, its relative gain in 1917 and 1918 was far from equalling that of price. There has been much disparity, first on one side and then on the other, between the two movements of land value and produce price.

Perhaps a scarcity of farm labor weakened the demand for farms in the last two years, and perhaps, also, the net profit of farming, because of extraordinary high cost of production, was not as great as the high price of products would indicate superficially.

SWAT PEDIGREED-SCRUB HOG

Buyers Should See That Animals They Are About to Purchase Have Good Quality.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Thousands of purebred scrubs are scattered through this country, according to hog extension men of the United States department of agriculture, who are devoting their efforts to eliminating inferior pedigreed animals. This, they say, applies to all kinds of live stock, but is perhaps more general in the hog industry. Pedigrees are necessary and valuable to the hog breeder, yet the pedigree is the means of fooling a lot of farmers, particularly those who are about to start into the purebred hog business and who have not had enough experience in judging to select animals of good standard type. Buyers should not be contented simply with purebred animals, but should see in addition that the animals they are about to purchase have good quality, say the department hog specialists.

FOR CONTROL OF WHEAT PEST

Hessian Fly Can Be Held in Check by Plowing Infested Stubble in Summer or Fall.

For the control of the Hessian fly, plow under deeply all infested wheat stubble during summer or early fall, where this is practicable and does not interfere with the growing of clover or important forage grasses. If volunteer wheat starts, kill it by disking or plowing while it is still young.

EARLY LAYING DISCOURAGED

Stunts Growth of Pullets and Tends to Production of Undesirable Small Eggs.

The pullet that lays very young is not as a rule the best layer; early laying stunts the growth, tends to the production of small eggs, and breeding from such pullets in time results in the production of an inferior strain of birds.

WORKING AND SAVING WILL REDUCE PRICES

Governor of Federal Reserve Board Tells How Living Expenses May Be Cut Down.—Why Everything Went Up.

What is the best way to reduce the high cost of living?

"Work and save" is the answer given by the Federal Reserve Board in a letter written by its governor, W. P.
G. Harding, to the Banking Committee of the United States senate. The committee had under consideration the proposal to reduce the volume of money in circulation. Governor Harding opposes this plan, holding that it will not afford the relief expected.

"The Federal Reserve Board believes," says Governor Harding in his letter, "that any currency legislation at this time is unnecessary and undesirable, and would suggest that whether viewed from an economic or financial standpoint, the remedy for the present situation is the same, namely, to work and to save; to work regularly and efficiently in order to produce and distribute the largest possible volume of commodities, and to exercise reasonable economies in order that money, goods and services may be devoted primarily to the liquidation of debt and to the satisfaction to the demand for necessities, rather than to indulgence in extravagances or the gratification of the desire for luxuries."

During the last two years there has undoubtedly taken place a certain amount of credit expansion, Governor Harding shows, and this in the circumstances connected with the financing of the war was inevitable. But it will be corrected as the securities issued by the government for war purposes are gradually absorbed by investors.
This expansion of credit is equal to the difference, Governor Harding says, between the total war expenditures of the government and the total amounts raised by the government through the medium of taxation and from the sale of its bonds and other obligations so far as they were paid for out of the savings of the people. He does not believe that any reliable estimate of this difference can be made, but he is positive that, whatever it is, it will be gradually absorbed through future savings for the reason that banks are lending and may always be expected to lend freely on the government bonds deposited as collateral.

The principal cause of price advances just before and during the period of the war was the need of the governments of the allied nations for all kinds of commodities and for immediate delivery in large volume, and the "competition of this buying by governments with purchases by private individuals who failed to contract their expenditures at a rate commensurate with the growing expenditures of these governments."

One of the features of the post-war period, through which the nation is now passing and which has been marked by rising prices, is the general relaxation of war-time practice of personal economy. This has resulted in an increased demand for food and clothing and other commodities by many persons who during the war practiced a more or less rigid economy in their personal purchases. Also, it must be borne in mind that they are not only buying at market prices but are buying in competition with the export demand. In addition, largely increased wages and incomes during the last five years have developed a demand for many commodities which are not of real necessity. This naturally has diverted labor and raw and manufactured materials from essentials to non-essentials, contributing no small part to the trend of increasing costs.

TELLS HOW OTHER PEOPLE GET AHEAD

Pamphlet issued by U. S. Treasury Answers Question "How Can I Save Money."

As an answer to the question, "How Can I Save Money?" the Savings Division of the Treasury Department has compiled an interesting and helpful pamphlet entitled "How Other People Get Ahead."

For individuals and families whose incomes are less than $5,000 a year this pamphlet offers a number of enlightening suggestions as to the disbursement of incomes of various amounts from $15 a week upward. Not only does the material furnish a ready answer to the problem of expenses, but it affords an authentic source of information as to living costs. The figures were compiled from records of official government investigations into the several subjects and may be regarded as up to date and accurate.

This material makes possible a new attack in the movement to make thrift a national characteristic and to foster the habit of "Save First—Spend Afterward." It will interest people in saving more money by showing them how much other people find it possible to save and also by showing them how they can cut down the cost of living comparing their costs with average costs at the same income.

The Savings Division suggests that an excellent way to drive home the truths of the budget system is to have the schedules discussed at school and taken home by the children for consideration by the families. Another method is to organize a house-to-house cavass through committees of women who will bring the budgets to the attention of families and secure their agreement to study their own situation.

Saving and spending budgets have been prepared to meet local conditions at a number of points, and much interest in the application of the budgets to the campaign is being manifested in sections of the country where the National Thrift Campaign is being carried out successfully.

LEPERS SET SPLENDID EXAMPLE IN SAVINGS

Colony of Unfortunates in Faraway Hawaii Buys War Savings Stamps
At $62 Per Capita.

Recent reports from Honolulu contain an interesting and unusual lesson in thrift which may be considered a record for the states to attempt. Sales of War Savings and Thrift Stamps among the inmates of the Penikese Island Leper Colony during July amounted to $62 per capita. Altogether 32 purchasers of these securities took a total of $1,984 of stamps.

When it is considered that this amount is far more than the per capita quota for the United States it is apparent that the optimism of these lepers, despite their station in life, is little less than remarkable.

Up to date the total sales of War Savings and Thrift Stamps in Hawaii is more than $2,020,000, or more than "$20,000 in excess of its quota."

The faith that moves mountains is the faith that gets a steam shovel instead of an old hoe. Labor saving is what you want. It means money saving, too, for War Savings Stamps.

Spend a little less than you earn—it's a sure road to success. Put your savings in War Savings Stamps.

Thrift helped to win the war. It will enable us to enjoy the fruits of victory also.

SAFE, GENTLE REMEDY BRINGS SURE RELIEF

For 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has enabled suffering humanity to withstand attacks of kidney, liver, bladder and stomach troubles and all diseases connected with the urinary organs and to build up and restore to health organs weakened by disease. These most important organs must be watched, because they filter and purify the blood; unless they do their work you are doomed. Weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pains in the loins and lower abdomen, gravel, difficulty when urinating, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago all warn you of trouble with your kidneys. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are the remedy you need. Take three or four every day. The healing oil soaks into the cells and lining of the kidneys and drives out the poisons. New life and health will surely follow. When your normal vigor has been restored continue treatment for a while to keep yourself in condition and prevent a return of the disease. Don't wait until you are incapable of fighting. Start taking GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules today. Your druggist will cheerfully refund your money if you are not satisfied with results. The woman who used to look upon a wedding invitation as a social victory now has a daughter who includes such things in the list of monthly bills.—Dallas News.

Wise John.

John was able to persuade Ruth to do most things he desired. One day the children, with their little cousin, Edward, decided to draw pictures. Edward and John each found a pencil, but Ruth was still without one until her mother came to her aid with a big new pencil. John, whose pencil was a blue stub, looked longingly at the new one and then, in a coaxing voice, said: "Ruthie, don't you want this nice pretty blue one? It just matches your eyes." Needless to say, John secured the long pencil.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

APPLIED THE WRONG COLOR

Unfortunate Miscalculation of Indianapolis Young Lady Who Was Trying to Look Her Best.

One particularly hot day a pretty North side girl whose crowning glory is quite Titianly inclined, met a friend—a young man whom she had not seen recently—in Monument circle. At his suggestion they decided to take in the picture show and, incidentally, have a little visit.

Always solicitous about her appearance, this afternoon she was exceptionally so and fearful that her nose might, perhaps, be shiny. Wherefore on emerging from the theater, she lagged a little behind her escort, and, hastily opening her dorian box, gave her nose a surreptitious dab.

Fortified with the thought that even if it was a hot day she was looking pretty fair, she couldn't account for the very peculiar expression that she saw on his face as he turned to speak to her in the lobby. After a minute of strained silence, he said: "What have you been doing to your face, Elise? Trying to match your nose to your hair? It's a poor job if you did. Let's beat it back and you take a look in a mirror."

"Which same we did," she said, when she told the story on herself. Said she: "I knew he'd tell it, so I thought I might as well tell it first. Of course you know I hadn't powdered my nose. I'd rouged it—and abundantly, too. And it didn't come off as easily as it went on, either."—Indianapolis News.

PESTILENCE CAUSED BY WAR

Generally Understood That the Influenza Epidemic Was a Direct Result of Great Conflict.

Sufficient time has not yet elapsed to determine the indirect effects of the recent eruption of Mount Kilauea in Java which wiped out over a score of villages and killed thousands of the natives, but recollections of Krakatoa's volcanic outburst in 1883 which within six weeks sprinkled its fine lava dust over the whole world, has given an interesting suggestion to certain members of the medical profession. During the closing year of the war an influenza epidemic raged in many parts of the world. The manner of its outbreak in different countries indicated that the germs of the disease had been conveyed by the currents in the air. The theory, therefore, has been broached that the poison gases with which many sectors of the fighting area were drenched were carried by the wind in every direction, causing the influenza outbreak in Spain, Germany, England, France, South America, Australia, Africa, Asia, as well as in the United States and some of the Central American countries. That the influenza is a corollary of the war is undoubted. Any similar gigantic conflict, is argued, would be attended with a similar widespread pestilence—an other reason why every effort should be made to avert wars in the future.—Leslie's.

Persian Envoy at Mount Vernon.

Shortly after Sir Julian Pauncefote's coming to Washington a complimentary trip to Mount Vernon was arranged for him on the Mayflower, which was the president's yacht. Among the invited guests was the Persian minister. It was quite a social and impressive event. The spectacle of the minister of Great Britain paying respect to the tomb and memory of Washington did not pass without comment upon its historical significance. During the visit the Persian envoy was observed to be standing in profound reverie in front of the iron gate of the tomb. He remained in silence for some minutes, and then, doubtless full of obvious contrasts that might occur to an oriental mind from the land of shahs and of ivory palaces and gorgeous tombs, he turned to a friend and said: "How great a man and how little a cemetery!"—Lieutenant Colonel E. W. Halford in Leslie's Weekly.

German Cripples Employed.

According to the American Journal for Cripples, published in this city, Germany issued a peremptory order in January requiring the employment of her disabled soldiers. All public and private industries, offices and administrations are directed to employ at least one disabled soldier for every 100 persons on the working staff, making no distinction of sex, it is stated.

In agricultural work the proportion must be one disabled soldier to every 50 employees, and in all cases the disabled cannot be discharged except with the consent of the workmen's committee and after receiving 14 days' notice. Private employers who disregard the order are liable to a fine of not more than 10,000 marks.

The chapel, which contained some fine carving, has been carefully torn down and packed for transit to an unknown destination.

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince The Most Skeptical Princess Anne Reader

The test of time is the test that counts.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored. Mrs. Carroll Hastings, Stone Road, Princess Anne, says: "For nearly seven years I had disordered kidneys and I was miserable and weak. I had a dragging-down pain in my back and my heart palpitated. Then again, I had sick headaches and dreadful pains in the small of my back. I was getting worse every day and I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones' Drug Store. The first box cured me of backache and the other symptoms were greatly relieved." (Statement given October 14th, 1907).

KEEPS DOAN'S ON HAND. On July 25, 1916, Mrs. Hastings said: "I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand in case I should need them. I recommend them whenever I have an opportunity."

Thrift And Something More

Numberless tales have been told of goodly sums accumulated through the practice of thrift.

Too many end disappointingly by telling of the loss—through fire, theft or accident—of such savings.

These oft-recited stories emphasize this thought:

Thrift and common sense should go hand in hand. To save is commendable, but not enough—a reliable depository must be provided for savings.

STORM LEAVES CORPUS CHRISTI A SAND WASTE

Fatal Gulf Hurricane Crushes 1500 Homes Along The Bay Front Of Texas Resort—400 Bodies Buried—Death List Still Growing

Through the storm-swept area of Corpus Christi, Texas, are wide stretches of sand and shell where Saturday the 13th instant, stood homes that had made the city of 18,000 a resort of national repute.

Fifteen hundred homes, stretching along the beach for 23 blocks, were crushed and hurled away or wrecked by the tidal wave, which reached a depth of 15 feet in some places. Over much of the beach section not an indication of former homes now remains, except here and there a bath tub or part of a brick chimney.

From Star street, where the business section of the beach terminated, to Dan Reid street, every one of the 900 beach homes has been destroyed, most of them beyond trace, while here and there a palm tree, hanging low with its off-begrimed leaves, marks the spot of some former show place.

In this section the bay line has changed, the water having established a new line varying from 50 to 200 feet inland from the former position.

Last Friday 400 bodies had been reported buried, and of that number only 82 were identified. Fifty-seven bodies had been buried at Corpus Christi.

Relief measures for alleviating the distress of the 3,000 or 4,000 persons made homeless by the storm were reported to be progressing satisfactorily.

With a large amount of territory still to be explored, searchers redoubled their efforts to recover bodies of persons who lost their lives in the Gulf hurricane which struck that vicinity Sunday the 14th.

The Farmers' National Congress

A large attendance of farmers is expected at the sessions of the Farmers' National Congress and Maryland Agriculture Society to be held at Chestertown, October 28th to 31st. This is the first time that the Congress has been held in the East and it is desired to have each county of the State well represented by delegates.

Prominent farmers will be present from many of the leading agricultural states. Well known speakers will be present. Arrangements are being made for an auto party of farmers from this county and it is desired that all farmers considering taking the trip should communicate with C. Z. Keller. The trip will give the party a splendid opportunity to see the apple harvest in Western Maryland.

Circuit Court Now In Session

The Circuit Court for Somerset county convened yesterday (Monday) morning with Judges Guer and Bailey on the bench.

The court docket shows the following cases: 6; judicials, 11; civil appeals, 6; criminal appeals, 9; trials, 36; criminal appearances, 2; criminal continuances, 3; recognizances, 3.

The session, it is thought, will be a short one. The grand jurors had not been drawn at the time we went to press.

Hog Owners Fined

Thirty owners of dogs in Kent county were fined $10 and costs recently for failure to pay the new dog tax. The county officers have been instructed to rigidly enforce the law.

Our County Commissioners should note the above. No such action was ever taken in Somerset. The dog is supreme here.

Four Comets Coming

The next three months are to be rich in comets. Four of these heavenly visitors are due to return to the regions of the earth and sun. They are all comets of short period, none over eight years. The Kopff comet should appear in September, the Finley in October and the Holmes and the Schaumasse in December.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE RITCHIE

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Maryland is before the voters of the State for promotion from the Attorney-Generalship, to which he was elected four years ago by 25,000 majority. His conduct of the business of this office showed such an intimate knowledge of the laws and the ways for their betterment that he was the Legislature's adviser, as well as the Governor's, in putting into legal form the important measures marked for passage by the governing body. He displayed his capacity for this important work when, as the people's counsel before the Public Service Commission, where he met the ablest counsel the great corporations could produce, and convinced the Commission that the Gas and Electric Company was charging consumers too much money for an inferior article and service, with the result that gas fell from 90 to 75 cents per 1000 cubic feet, and electricity from 10 to 8 1/2 cents per K. W. H., saving the users $700,000 annually. For this and his many other achievements the impartial press has recognized his commanding merit and usefulness to all the people of the State.

The Baltimore Star, Republican, said editorially of Mr. Ritchie, on his retirement as People's Counsel, "he will be found serving the people in higher places in time; such abilities as his are needed in public service."

The Sun says, "there are few men in public life in Maryland who have shown as much energy, ability and devotion to the public welfare as he, and the people worthy of self-government will always keep such men in office."

Candidate Ritchie is in the prime of manhood, of revolutionary ancestry, of ability, large experience in State-craft, of broad vision, free from factionalism, the choice of the people and without contest nominated by the Democratic party on a progressive platform to lead the host to victory in November and give the people, irrespective of party, four years of good government.

W. S. Richardson Dies Suddenly

Following an illness of less than an hour, Mr. William S. Richardson, until recently a prominent resident of Somerset county, died at his home at Riverdale, Md., near Washington, on Monday of last week. Death was due to apoplexy, with which he was attacked about the middle of the afternoon, the end coming a short time later.

Mr. Richardson was born at Snow Hill on November 26th, 1858, and would have been 61 years of age had he lived to reach his next birthday. He was a son of the late Littleton and Harriet Richardson, and a member of one of the oldest families on the Eastern Shore. Mr. Richardson was a well-known member of Trinity M. P. Church, Marion, and is survived by a widow, Mrs. Ella Long Richardson, and seven children, as follows: Newman Richardson, of Riverdale, Md.; Wm. G. Richardson, of Asherton, Texas; W. A. Richardson, of New York city; Misses Harriet A., Ella I. and Pauline B. Richardson, all of Baltimore, and Mrs. Oliver S. Horsey, of Crisfield.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning and burial was at Riverdale.

Farmers Should Obtain Seed Wheat

It is important that farmers obtain good seed wheat for sowing this fall. The weather conditions at the time of harvesting the crop and diseases such as scab, rust and smut has rendered much of it unfit for seed. In order to supply good seed to farmers, a list of growers of Western Maryland counties has been obtained with prices and varieties of seed wheat. The wheat in a number of the Western counties of the State was not injured by wet weather. Good yields for this year of 20 to 30 bushels per acre have been obtained. The wheat is reasonably pure variety, and can be obtained for $2.50 to $3.00 per bushel.

Get Registered

It is especially requested and desired that those who are interested in the success of the Democratic party this fall, will see to it that all parties that have not been registered will become registered on the 30th of this month, or the 7th of next month, as they are the only two registration days, and unless parties are registered they cannot vote this fall. People coming into this county from other counties and also moving from one district to another must get their transfers, and they can become registered in this county.

A man has more logic than a woman, but many a husband's logic has drowned in a wife's tears.

ALBERT C. RITCHIE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic nominee for Governor, is the present Attorney General of Maryland, to which office he was elected four years ago by a majority of about 25,000 votes, running far ahead of the rest of the ticket.

Mr. Ritchie received his general education in Baltimore city and was graduated from the law school of the University of Maryland in 1898. In the same year he began the practice of law with the law firm of Steele, Semmes, Carey and Bond. Two years later he became a member of the firm. In 1908, Mr. Ritchie was appointed Assistant Solicitor. In November of the same year he formed a law partnership with Stuart Janney. Since 1907 Mr. Ritchie has been professor of law at the University of Maryland.

In 1910, Mr. Ritchie became People's Counsel to the Public Service Commission of Maryland. One of the most important events in his career was the fight made by him in 1912 as People's Counsel for cheaper gas in Baltimore city.

The ability and energy shown by Mr. Ritchie as People's Counsel resulted in his nomination by the Democratic party in 1915 for Attorney General of the State. After his election he organized the first State Law Department, which took over the work of counsel to all of the State Boards and Commissions with the exception of the Public Service Commission.

In the summer of 1917, when the Governor convened the extra session of the Legislature to meet the emergencies growing out of the declaration of war, Mr. Ritchie undertook to draft the entire program of war legislation.

Mr. Ritchie's work in Maryland gained for him nation-wide recognition, and he was summoned to Washington to become General Counsel to the U. S. War Industries Board, perhaps the most powerful of the administrative agencies connected with the prosecution of the war.

When Mr. Ritchie announced his candidacy for the governorship in May, 1919, the Baltimore News said editorially:

"Attorney General Ritchie's announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor is in response to a wide-spread desire in his party that he make the race. It has been manifested in many ways, and Mr. Ritchie's friends may properly declare that in his case the office is seeking the man. His candidacy is of interest and importance to the citizenship of the State, regardless of party, because Mr. Ritchie is distinctly of gubernatorial calibre."

Mr. Ritchie was born on August 29th, 1876, and is the son of the late Judge Albert Ritchie, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city. Judge Ritchie was a native of Frederick, Maryland, but spent the greater part of his life in Baltimore city where he attained eminence in his profession and finally was elected to the bench. Mr. Ritchie's uncle, Judge John Ritchie, of Frederick, was a congressman and later a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals. His earliest paternal American ancestor was William Ritchie, who was born in the county of Angus, Scotland, in 1726 and came to America in about 1742.

State Offering Trees For Sale

State Forester F. W. Besley announces that orders are being received for stock from the State Forest Nursery, and that there are numerous inquiries from all parts of the state regarding the high-grade stock at bottom prices which the Board of Forestry has made available to residents. The State Forest Nursery naturally does not work at a profit, while at the same time it maintains a constant and uniform standard of excellence. The combination appeals to the planter, and each season thoroughly drains the nursery at an early date of all the stock which can be made available. Mr. Besley's advice to "order early" is, therefore, timely and necessary.

This year there are 19 kinds of trees in 59 different sizes and ages from which to make a choice. Prices vary from the $3 asked for 1,000 one to two inch Norway spruce, for reforestation purposes, to the 65 cents which represents the expense of growing and offering to the planter public an elm or an ash transplant in a 12 to 15 foot size. There are white and loblolly pines, Norway spruce and bald cypress among the conifers; in hardwoods there is a great variety, with black walnut, red oak, scarlet oak, pin oak, burr oak, sugar maple, pecan, American elm, beech, ash, black locust and oriental plane. Inquiries addressed to the Board of Forestry, 811 West Monument street, Baltimore, will elicit prompt replies.

Almshouse Property Poor Investment

The grand jury for Wicomico county has made a thorough investigation into the public institutions owned by that county, and made a strong recommendation that the almshouse property in Quantico district be disposed of at once as it is costing the county far in excess of what it should to maintain the county poor.

The report shows the county has invested about $13,000 in the poorhouse and stock on the farm, and that notwithstanding there is more than 60 acres of cleared land it seems impossible to raise enough on the farm to take care of 10 or 11 inmates. The grocery bills run up in the neighborhood of $1,000 per annum after all credits for farm products and other things produced on the farm have been given. In other words, at the present time it is costing in excess of $300 per year for each person at the almshouse, and the grand jury shows clearly that if the property was sold at public auction it would bring around $15,000 to the county treasury and that following the steps taken by Dorchester and Worcester counties the 11 or 12 indigent patients at the almshouse could be taken care of at the State institution at Cambridge at an average cost of around $100 per annum for each person.

The high cost of living brings our noses to the grindstone. No wonder, we have such sharp features.

You can't always tell how much religion a man has from the length of his ace.

DEMOCRATS MEET TO RATIFY STATE TICKET

State Convention Held In Baltimore Last Thursday—The Merit System And Economy In State Government Leading Planks Adopted

Democrats, representing all factions of the party, from all over Maryland assembled at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, last Thursday at noon to ratify the nominations for State offices and to adopt a platform. The attendance was not large but was harmonious throughout.

Dr. J. Hubert Wade, the State chairman, called the convention to order, naming Hugh A. McMullen as temporary presiding officer. Committees on resolutions and credentials were then appointed, but it was 2.30 o'clock before the committee on resolutions completed its work. Sounding the battle cry of the Democratic party, Mr. McMullen called on John Mahon and "Frank" Kelly, the city bosses, to lay aside their personal grievances and rally their forces back of the Democratic ticket. Former Senator Blair Lee made the speech seconding the nomination of Mr. Ritchie, the nominating speech for Major Brooke Lee having been made by A. J. Cummings and seconded by Lieutenant Colonel Tydings of Havre de Grace.

The four State candidates were presented to the convention immediately after their nominations had been ratified. The candidates are:

For Governor—Albert C. Ritchie, of Baltimore city.

For Comptroller—Maj. Brooke Lee, of Montgomery county.

For Attorney General—Thomas J. Keating, of Queen Anne's county.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Caleb C. Magruder, of Prince George's county.

In his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for Governor, Albert C. Ritchie said, in part:

"We are assembled here today as members of the party which in accomplishments, traditions and heritage stands for all that is best in Maryland life. The Democratic party began in this State over 60 years ago, in the days when everyone who had sympathized with the Confederacy was disfranchised, and when to be a Democrat required courage and genuine conviction. In the Majority election of 1864 but little band could not even nominate a candidate. All that it could do was to register a protest through the State Central Committee against this injustice, and it is a source of personal pride to me in reading over the names of those who signed this protest to find that of my own father among the few from Baltimore city."

"I am very, very proud of the nomination which has been tendered me today. To be the choice of this great party, whose principles were first taught me by my father and by my uncle, John Ritchie, of Frederick, until they became my very own and part of my sincerest beliefs is something I shall never fail to cherish and to treasure."

"But it is for the Democratic party in this State that from this day on I speak. It is to it, and to the capable, wholesome, strong men of Maryland who fill its ranks, that I ask you to entrust Maryland's destiny. The outcome is not in doubt. Our party is united, and united it is impregnable. "You have adopted a splendid, progressive platform. I stand upon it and upon each plank of it. Each promise that it makes is my personal word. So far as within me lies, the people of Maryland shall receive the benefit of its every pledge."

The chairman of the resolutions committee was former Congressman Jesse D. Price, and among the members from the counties was Col. H. J. Waters, of Princess Anne. Among the delegates at the convention were Messrs. Joshua W. Miles, Henry J. Waters, of Princess Anne; Wm. J. Hurley, I. Purnell Horsey, of Crisfield.

The main planks in the platform adopted are:

Flat opposition to the Federal Suffrage Amendment, believing "that each State in the Union should have the sole right to determine the qualifications of its voters. We believe that the method of extending the suffrage to women by means of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States is fundamentally wrong. We, therefore, pledge our party against the ratification of the proposed Nineteenth Amendment."

"Vigorous indorsement of the administration of President Wilson, of the peace treaty and of the league of nations."

"Equally vigorous condemnation of the inactivity, ineffectiveness and partisanship of the present Republican Congress and comparison of its achievements with preceding Congresses."

"Strong indorsement of the administration of Governor Harrington, with reference to the redemption of platform pledges of 1916, such as that promising a budget system, as a means of reforming and modernizing the fiscal system of the State."

"Definite promise to use every instrumentality in the hands of the State Government for the suppression of profiteering, the increase of production and the lessening of expenditures, public and private, all as means to lowering the cost of living."

"Declaration in favor of submitting to a vote of the people of Baltimore City the question whether control of the Police Department shall remain in the hands of the Governor, or be placed in the hands of the Mayor.

"Declaration in favor of substantial increases in the salaries of public school teachers of the State and of the members of the Police Department, both to be made effective immediately."

"Strengthening of the agencies for education in agricultural and allied lines, as a means of bringing greater prosperity to the farmers and adding to the supply of foodstuffs."

"Creation of a department of agriculture at the Maryland State College of Agriculture, as a means of diffusing knowledge as to cultivation of the food supplies in the Chesapeake Bay and other waters of the State."

"Continuation of the road-building program which has made Maryland known throughout the Union as foremost in good roads, special attention to be paid to the construction of lateral roads, opening the back districts; this construction to be under a division of the costs between the State and the counties and the citizens thereof."

"Strengthening of the State's agencies for preservation of the public health, for education and conduct of public business in general."

"Rigid economy in the conduct of all departments of the State."

ODD FELLOWS' BIG PARADE

Most Spectacular Pageant Ever Seen In Baltimore

Perhaps the greatest fraternal pageant which ever passed through the streets of Baltimore was the Centennial parade of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which last Wednesday marched forty blocks through the city with 22,000 Odd Fellows in line from every state in the Union, every province of Canada and from Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the world. It took more than two hours to pass Mayor Broening's reviewing stand and went without a hitch.

Fully 12,000 of this army were in uniform and full regalia of office. There were 15 historical and picturesque floats depicting the inspiration, origin and dramatic episodes of Odd Fellowship. High lights of this moving history of the order also were furnished by the officers of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in their colorful uniforms, ornamented with sashes and gold braid and diamond-and- enamel decorations, and with jeweled swords on their hips. The Patriarchs Militant, with their purple-plumed or crimson-plumed cocked hats and glittering sashes and swords, presented a brave appearance.

Another feature which drew prolonged applause all along the crowded route of the parade was the Naomi Lodge of Rebekahs, the only large group of women of the 1,000 in line of march who were on foot. They were dressed in attractive costumes, carried many banners, and were led by one of the jazziest bands heard throughout the day. There were 41 brass bands and one orchestra (which was silent) in line, and were a very important part of the parade. Nobody was forced to march without martial or jazz music, and several times three different tunes smote the ear simultaneously.

Hog Cholera Meetings

The first of the series of hog cholera meetings will be held in the lower part of the county this week on the following days and at places named: Wednesday, September 24th, at Jacksonville; Thursday, September 25th, at Lawsonia; Friday, September 26th, at Hopewell. All the meetings will be held in the community schoolhouse and will start at 8 p. m. Lantern slides will be shown and an interesting talk given by Dr. McLoughlin on hog cholera.

Three evening meetings will be held each week until every community in the county has been visited and the hog growers have an opportunity to hear the most serious disease of hogs discussed. It is believed that this educational work will give a clearer understanding of cholera and assist in reducing the loss from this disease to a minimum.

Meetings for next week will be held at Dames Quarter Wednesday, Chance Thursday and Deal's Island Friday evening. Farmers should keep in touch with the schedule of meetings, which will appear in later issues of this paper, and arrange to attend the meeting in their community.

Cook Bros. Circus Coming

The children of Princess Anne and vicinity, and the older folks as well, are all on the qui vive. A circus is coming. A circus with the usual parade of animals, ponies, clowns, brass band etc., will be here on Saturday, Sept. 27th.

This particular circus is advertised to be free from all undesirable features and that there is absolutely no gambling nor even selling of any articles save the ticket of admission.

A Question of Weight

By LINCOLN ROTHBLUM

That Jupiter Perkins was fat every one admitted. One could not designate him as pleasantly plump or fairly fleshy or by any other alliterative expression sympathetically employed to describe his avoirdupois, for Jupiter was plain fat. It would almost seem as if nature, insulted, had revenged herself because a star-gazing father had insisted on naming his only child after that planet. And were the god of ancient Rome able to view his namesake in Mr. Perkins, owner and manager of Carlton's general store, he must needs blushing hide his muscled frame behind the proverbial petticoat of his likewise godly spouse, though it is not on record Juno wore those nether garments. For Jupiter Perkins, with his overburdened stomach sagging like a captive balloon straining at its moorings as if the least additional strain would release it, bore as little resemblance to his celestial forebear as does that worthy to the dinosaur.

But be it not supposed that this ponderance of flesh did not cause Mr. Perkins the greatest concern, because it was no secret Jupiter yearned to take unto himself a wife. And no one in all Carlton, nay, not even one certain lady whose years and lack of pulchritude had long since driven away all suitors, would give her if in holy wedlock to the fat Mr. Perkins. Giggling, sentimental girls, fresh from the state seminaries, would refer to some fluted suitor in terms

Jupiter Was Plain Fat.

most opprobrious to Mr. Perkins. "I would never marry Chester if Jupiter were the only other man on earth."

And Jupiter continued to sigh for a wife and perspire for thinness. As witness him this torrid July high noon laboriously and painfully puffing his way up the steep steps to the second story offices of the much-heralded Doctor Foster, a specialist, according to the gilded letters upon the door he opened, following the attendant's even-toned "Come in."

"The doctor is occupied," the white-aproned figure continued. "Will you please be seated a few moments?"

Jupiter Perkins lowered his bulk to the edge of the luxurious armchair. Experiences had taught him to be aware of deep-seated, soft-cushioned, heavily upholstered seats of comfort if he wished to arise without assistance. He mopped his brow, corrugated with tiny rivulets of sweat at every wrinkle, as he recalled with a shudder that memorable occasion he remained in the theater overnight, alone in the dark, held fast by the sides of the chair from which the following morning it took the hefty janitor to extricate him.

The memory was too poignant, and raising his heavy-lidded eyes that his mind might be distracted from its present disquieting reminiscences, he watched the physician's attendant.

"Homely," mentally summarized Jupiter, as he gazed at her face, but looking upon her figure, "delicately thin."

And Mr. Perkins' brief description, while not complimentary, was unfortunately true. For this female creature had all the factors not customarily associated with that lady to whom Paris threw the fateful apple. Her hair was sparse, tied tightly in an indigent Psyche knot. Her eyes were small, slightly crossed, with lashes and brows not strongly in evidence.

High cheek bones, with little coloring lent a sepulchral atmosphere about her person, and to top, or rather end, everything, she boasted flat feet. "But," as Mr. Perkins could not help repeating, "she's deliciously thin." That is why Doctor Foster, specialist employed her.

She created in the minds of his clientele confidence in his ability. He was himself of spare form, and it would seem, judging from his growing bank account for a physician, new to the community, that his psychology was not amiss. For Doctor Foster was a specialist in reducing.

His verdict was brief. "Diet and exercise, Mr. Perkins, is the only "Diet," re-echoed Mr. Perkins, "how can I diet at the Carlton hotel, and how can I exercise when I'm at the store all day?"

"The exercise," responded Doctor Foster, "you will have to arrange yourself. The diet, perhaps Miss Thorne," he paused indicating his assistant who had just re-entered the room, "can attend to."

The patient arose with effort to acknowledge the introduction. "Thank you, doctor, if it is agreeable to Miss Thorne, I would be glad to have some one watch out for me."

Jupiter Perkins raised his thick brows, Doctor Foster smiled, and Miss Thorne giggled.

And so Mr. Perkins commenced to diet at the home of the slender attendant. Gone from his table were thick cream, luscious steaks, rich butter and sweet sugar. But, strangely, despite a most exacting menu, the subject continued to gain roll upon roll of flesh. Doctor Foster was puzzled.

"You're not eating forbidden food on the sly, Mr. Perkins?" asked the physician.

"No, no, doctor," answered Mr. Perkins, "but it seems no matter what I eat at Miss Thorne's table, I enjoy with the greatest relish. Miss Thorne makes everything so cheerful."

Doctor Foster tried to look wise. "On the same principle it is strange Miss Thorne does not take on flesh. She is thinner than before. See me next week."

But several weeks later the continued association seemed to have caused a reversal of appetites. Miss Thorne's capacity to eat increased as Mr. Perkins' zest for food dwindled.

"Mr. Perkins," remarked Miss Thorne one evening, "try this lettuce with the vinegar dressing. It is good for you."

He took the dish and laid it down. Miss Thorne helped herself to a second portion as he left the table, food untouched. And so Mr. Perkins continued to sigh and grow thin while Miss Thorne smiled and grew stouter.

Doctor Foster was delighted with the result of his treatment. "Ten pounds less, Mr. Perkins," he announced, himself scarcely believing the scales. "How are you doing it?"

Mr. Perkins' chest heaved heavily. "I've lost my appetite."

"Well," answered Doctor Foster, "Miss Thorne seems to have found it, for she's actually getting stouter."

That night Mr. Perkins despondently seated himself at the table and gazed disconsolately across the table.

"Mr. Perkins—" commenced Miss Thorne.

"Oh, call me Jupiter," ejaculated Mr. Perkins.

"Why?" asked Miss Thorne in an excellent tone of surprise, helping herself to another slice of bread.

"Because I want to call you Bertha."

With the succeeding weeks Jupiter Perkins continued to lose his rolls of fat alarmingly, while Bertha Thorne's narrowness rounded out correspondingly. The scanty hair grew thicker and was dressed in soft rolls. The narrow eyes widened and straightened, and it would not be surprising if means were used to darken eyebrows, as supporters were employed to aid the fallen arches. Mr. Perkins had dwindled away to a paltry 200 pounds.

He looked at the food before him and at the engaging Miss Thorne opposite.

"Eat! Eat!" she urged. "You haven't touched a thing."

"Eat!" repeated Mr. Perkins, as if he had never heard the word before. "I shall never eat again."

"Never eat again? Why?"

"Because I am sick."

"Sick? With what?"

"With love of you, Bertha, will you marry me? I know that is a weighty question for you to consider."

"No," laughed Miss Thorne; "it is a question of weight."

EASY MIND-READING TRICK

All That Is Needed Is a Pencil and a Watch and Knowing How to Do It.

A simple "mind-reading" trick that one can accomplish with a pencil and a watch will greatly mystify anyone who does not know the secret. Ask your victim to think of one of the numerals on the watch dial, and for every time that you tap the crystal with the pencil to add one to this chosen number. At the tap that brings the amount in his mind to twenty your pencil will rest over the hour number that he selected.

The trick is very simple. For the first seven taps strike at random any of the numbers on the dial; but at the eighth tap strike twelve; at the ninth, eleven; at the tenth, ten, and so on round, backward, until the other person announces that he has reached twenty in his count.

If he has followed instructions, the pencil will then rest upon the chosen number, because, if he chose twelve the highest number that he could take—eight taps will bring it to twenty, and your pencil, according to instructions, will then be on twelve, and any other number selected on the dial will be less than twelve by just the amount that, when the chooser reaches twenty, will cause the pencil taps to shift backward from twelve to the number the other person chose.

KHAKI

By ANGELA E. SHEEHAN

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Oh, surely I ought to get a letter from him today," exclaimed Alice, as she slipped on her hat to run down to the village postoffice.

The clerk looked through the mail for her, just as he had done every day for over two months, but there was none. Poor Alice turned away with a sinking heart. Would Dick never write to her? Certainly there could be no reason for such a long delay. It was about three months since she had answered his last letter, and yet there had been no reply. Here an awful thought occurred to her.

"Oh—oh, I wonder—yes, that must be it! He has met some French girl over there that he likes better than me. Why—why—oh! I'll never write to that boy as long as I live."

Khaki, Alice's little Scotch colle, cocked one eye speculatively at his young mistress. Never in all his puppy life had he known her to be averse to a romp with him, but lately everything was changed. Even his imploring little tricks could not induce her to cuddle him. Well, mortals were funny, anyway; a mere puppy couldn't be expected to understand them.

But Khaki was not the only one that noticed Alice's abstraction. Her young brother Jack had been taking account of affairs.

"Probably she's in love," he guessed. Well, something would have to be done. He simply couldn't let such a state of affairs go on.

"Golly, lately a fellow can't even ask for a single favor without having his head taken off," he ruefully complained.

Now, Jack was an observing boy; so it is not strange that he noticed how often his sister went to the postoffice for mail she never received. He was also a diplomat.

"By the way, Alice, how's Jack?" he casually remarked one evening.

"How do you suppose I know?" she snapped. "I don't know or I don't care."

So that's where the shoe pinched. Well, he could easily fix that up. That's what a younger brother was for anyway.

Dick Fale was resting one afternoon in a Y. M. C. A. hut with a group of fellow engineers, but he was not entering into their discussions. On the contrary, he was thinking seriously of a certain girl way back in the States.

"Wonder why she doesn't answer my letters?" he questioned. "Possibly she doesn't receive them. No, that can't be, for I've written every week for at least three months. Could it be—er—could it be that she prefers Ed Field after all? Well, no girl will make a fool out of me if I know it. She'll get no more letters from me."

No sooner had he uttered these words when his chum appeared with a letter for him.

"Thought I'd bring it to you, Dick, as long as I was coming this way. Why, man, what's the matter with you?"

It is no wonder the mystified fellow asked such a question, for Dick was dancing around with a lock of golden hair dangling in his fingers.

"She's willing! She's willing!" he exclaimed. "Oh boy! Just wait until I get back to the States. Hey, Fred! Want to be my best man?"

When Dick finally quieted down he explained to the curious Fred the meaning of the strange lock of hair.

One evening they had been sitting out on the porch, when Dick foolishly cut off a lock of Alice's hair. When Alice was ready to answer in the affirmative a question he had recently asked, she could send him the lock of hair. Agreeing, Alice slipped the lock into a book she was holding, thinking it to be a safe hiding place.

"And now," added Dick, "as long as I'm going to be sent home soon I won't let her know I'm coming, but will surprise her."

After the wedding guests had all departed, Jack, with Khaki as a companion, threw himself down on the lawn, a characteristic position of his when he wanted to think.

"Gosh, Khaki, just look at that watch. Isn't it a beauty?" he chuckled reminiscently. "But didn't Sis look surprised when Dick told her he received that lock of hair. Wonder how she guessed I did it though? We should worry, Khaki. If I hadn't taken Cupid's job, she would never have given me this watch. What about it, Khaki?"

"Bow wow!" agreed Khaki.

"Monroe Doctrine."

The famous doctrine, as announced by President Monroe in his message to congress in 1823, was a simple statement of the attitude of this country toward the South American republics. Henry Clay had made an effort to have the independence of these republics recognized, and in 1822 their independence was acknowledged by congress. President Monroe had recalled John Quincy Adams from the court of St. James to become his secretary of state, and many historians credit Adams with the authorship of the message, in which the doctrine was stated as follows: "As a principle, the American continents, by the free and independent position which they have assumed and maintained, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power." This was undoubtedly the sentiment of the congress to which the doctrine was announced.

SHEEP HERDER WELL HOUSED

Compact, Comfortable Dwellings Provided for Those Who Tend the Herds on Western Plains.

Just at present the sheep herder's lot is a fairly happy one. Frank R. Arnold writes in Popular Mechanics magazine. He gets $100 a month besides his expenses, and one never can see his sheep wagon without wanting to leave civilization for a few months and take to the range. It is the most compact dwelling house on wheels that has ever been devised. For utilizing all possible space it can give lessons even to a dining car or a sailboat. It is dining car and sleeping car in one, and historically forms a permanent link between western pioneers days, when every one traveled in a prairie schooner, and automobile days when the sheep wagon is used only to follow the herd during the winter and spring, until it disappears up on the high summer range, where only a saddle horse can penetrate.

The wagon, which for months is thus the home of two sheep herders, has a long, narrow body, to give freedom to the wheels, but above the wheels it flares out enough to give a broad room with benches along both sides. It has three coverings of canvas for greater warmth in winter, and a stove screwed to the floor near the front door. The back part of the canvas covered space serves as bedroom, containing nothing but a bed, to which air is supplied by sliding glass windows to the rear end of the wagon. Attached to the bed is a folding table, and under it are small drawers and a large bin to contain the herder's supply of flour and grain.

BUILT UP POLISH INDUSTRIES

Russia's Expulsion of Jews From Moscow Had Results Unforeseen by Muscovite Statesmen.

An odd bit of commercial history comes to light with the granting of citizenship to Jews in Poland, and shows how Russia, in expelling the race from Moscow, provided Poland with a human factor of great importance in developing her own industrial resources, the Christian Science Monitor recalls. Politically Poland lay helpless in the grip of her powerful neighbor, resisting as best she might that neighbor's determination to destroy the last vestige of Polish national existence. Industrially, on the other hand, her coal and iron ore districts had developed Polish centers of manufacture superior to those of Russia, but dependent for success on the sale of their products in Russian markets. Jews came from Moscow who were familiar with Russian trade conditions, had already established personal trade relations with Russian cities, and were admirably fitted to develop a commercial program between the two countries. These men became the natural intermediaries between Poles and Russians in business, and their expulsion from Russia is doubtless one reason for the prosperity of Polish industries at Lodz, Warsaw and Petrokov.

The Virgin Islands.

The people of the Virgin Islands, having enjoyed the experience of seeing their territory sold "over their heads" by Denmark to the United States of America, are reported to be settling down without ado to their associations with the new landlord. They have, it would seem, reasonable expectations of increasing prosperity, owing to the constant visits of American warships to the harbor of St. Thomas and to the presence of American regiments in their midst, both of which circumstances serve to stimulate trade and to make the islands appear busy and "mouvemente." Meanwhile, a small appropriation from the United States covers the discrepancy between the expenditure and revenue of the islands, which are governed locally, as under Denmark, by the "Colonial Council." It remains for the United States congress to decide what shall be the permanent form of government. And the Virgin Islands are doubtless living in hopes.

Re-educating Porto Ricans.

The federal board for vocational education is leaving no stone unturned in its efforts to find every disabled soldier who may, if he so desires, receive re-education from the government. In Porto Rico there are at present 110 soldiers disabled in the service who should be beneficiaries of the rehabilitation law. The special agent of the board in the island is interviewing these men with a view to their future vocations. Porto Rico has no trade schools, but training and placement may be made in shops and industrial establishments for those who desire it, and the government agricultural college at Mayaguez provides training for those who wish to go on the land.

Hawaii's University.

Under recent legislation the College of Hawaii is now the University of Hawaii, and one of the new courses planned is complete instruction in the island's leading industry, sugar. It will embrace practical work by the students on plantations during at least one vacation, in conjunction with the classes at the college. Those specializing in the agriculture phase of the work with the planters' experiment station and those studying in the factory end will receive $45 a month and traveling expenses. With the new course in good working order, it is believed the university will stand as the leading institution in the world for instruction in the sugar industry in the eastern hemisphere.

PROFIT SHARING NOT MODERN

Scheme Has Been in Operation Since 1829, Though Really Only Active in Last Forty Years.

Profit sharing has been used in various forms since at least 1829, being most active in the last 40 years, Park Mathewson writes in the Magazine of Wall Street. Pioneers in profit sharing, such as Lever Bros. of Port Sun- light, Eng., and Cambridge, Mass.; N. O. Nelson Manufacturing company of the model town of Leclaire near St. Louis, Mo.; Procter & Gamble of Ivory- dale, O., and numerous other smaller or less known companies have operated on the profit-sharing plan successfully for over a quarter of a century.

As with many other fundamental and social movements, profit sharing clearly came from the old countries, for one of the first successful profit- sharing plans in the United States was founded in Leclaire, Ill., named after the "father of profit sharing," Monsieur Leclaire of Maison Leclaire, Paris, France.

There are many modifications of profit sharing, as laid down in one of the complete and fundamental discus- sions of the subject, printed some forty years ago, and it is well to have in mind the differentiations of the true profit sharing and its various offshoots, such as bonus giving, holiday gifts, production bonus, pensions, welfare work, etc.

Bohemia—Czecho-Slovakia.

American business men are remind- ed by Wallace J. Young, United States consul at Prague, that letters intend- ed for that country should not be ad- dressed "Bohemia," but should be ad- dressed "Czecho-Slovakia." Also in the body of the letters, when the whole country is intended to be mentioned, its proper name should be used. The former, "Bohemija" is only one of the parts of Czecho-Slovakia, and when an American firm speaks, for example, of wanting agencies in "Bohemia," with- out a knowledge of such a firm's pre- vious connections in the former "crown lands" now comprised within the state. It is impossible to tell whether the writer is desirous of securing new agencies in Bohemia only or through- out the entire Czecho-Slovakia.

"Living Mask" Portrait Painting.
A new and startling departure in the art of portrait painting has been evolved by Mme. Ivy de Verley (Mrs. Vessey Dayerend), one of London's best known artists. Mme. de Verley calls this new work "a living mask," and in- deed it has all the startling qualities of a real mask.

This new method of bringing out facial characteristics has met a great deal of favor since it was first dis- played by the artist. Even in a studio where there are any number of ex- ceedingly attractive portrait paint- ings this living mask immediately ar- rests the eye. It gives one the im- pression that a face is peering through dark curtains.

GAME INTERESTS ALL RACES

Baseball Knows No Distinction of Na- tionality, Nor Does It Recognize the Color Line.

There isn't anything that can draw together the races, nationalities and religious beliefs like the good, old-fashioned American game of baseball.

In a game played on the Fourth of July an American who witnessed it in describing one of the plays says: A batter whose name showed him to be of Polish descent, had reached first base. A German went to bat. A pitcher with a French name pitched the ball and the German knocked a high fly. A Jew ran after it and dropped it. He picked the ball up and threw it to an Englishman at second. The Englishman threw the ball to an Irishman on first and a double play was made and the German and the Pole were declared out.

From where the spectator sat he could have reached out his hand and touched a German, a Russian, a Jew, an Italian and a negro. Several ne- groes were seated together watching the game. The umpire made a deci- sion. One of the negroes did not agree with the decision and he said the "empire" was "rotten." He'd bet $2 the "empire" was wrong, and he took $2 from his pocket. An Ameri- can in soldier's uniform took the bet and covered the $2. The soldier ex- plained the rule to the negro, and the negro said:

"Pears to me dat's right, after all."

Then the American put his own $2 back in his pocket and returned the $2 he had won on the bet back to the negro. What other athletic game could be played in this world with such rep- resentation of peoples as are to be found at a baseball game? The best of it all is that the soldiers having in- troduced it overseas, it now promises to be an all-over-the-world game.— Hartford Courant.

Propaganda.

A doughboy who had just returned from Coblentz was talking to a very estimable elderly woman—a straight- laced church member.

"How did you like it up in Germany," she asked.

"Oh, we got along very well with the Germans," and with a big, broad smile, he added, "and had all the good Ger- man beer that we wanted to drink."

"More German propaganda," ex- claimed the elderly woman.

Right Definition of a Classic.

A classic is properly a book which maintains itself by virtue of that hap- py coalescence of matter and style, that innate and exquisite sympathy be- tween the thought that gives life and the form that consents to every mood and of grace and dignity, which can be simple without being vulgar, elevated without being distant, and which is something neither ancient nor modern, always new and incapable of growing old.—Lowell.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobacco. But when to- bacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellows away for two years in wooden hogsheds 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' to- bacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobacco-ness" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.

Lightly Tipped Tobacco Co.

Mrs. Frank M. Cline is spending a couple of weeks in Baltimore and the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Mrs. Thomas Davis, of Crisfield, is a guest at the home of Mrs. O. T. Beauchamp on Prince William street.

Miss Theresa Butler, of Cambridge, Md., is spending her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Butler, at Westover.

Mr. Richard Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Porter, of near Loretto, has returned to Annapolis, where he will resume his studies at St. John's College.

Miss Caroline McCandlish is spending a few weeks in Baltimore.

Mrs. Edgar Jones, of "Millwood," has returned from a two week's visit to her mother in Virginia.

Mr. J. T. Taylor, Jr., attended the Government sale of automobiles at Camp Holsbird last week.

Mr. W. A. Brown left Sunday for Baltimore, where he has accepted a position in the Internal Revenue Office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Value, of "Melody Manor," near Princess Anne, spent last Thursday with friends in Pocomoke City.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell J. Hayman, of Clarksburg, W. Va., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krause, have returned home, accompanied by Mrs. Hayman's mother, Mrs. Rachel Lankford.

Register Tuesday, September 30th. Do not postpone performance of this important duty. If you have changed your district or precinct residence be sure to get certificate of transfer to your present residence.

The Republican State Convention will be held in Baltimore on Thursday, September 25th. The delegates from Somerset county are: L. E. P. Dennis, William L. Whittington, Alonzo L. Murrell and Alexander Johnson, colored.

Congressman J. Charles Linthicum has a large number of 1918 Agricultural Year Books on hand and will be glad to send them out to parties who feel they would be interested in the book. Address him, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Miss Elinor W. McAllen, a B. S. graduate of the Maryland College for Women, at Lutherville, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McAllen, left for Middlesboro, Kentucky, last Wednesday, where she has accepted a position as teacher of Domestic Science and English in the High School in that city.

A lecture and beautifully colored stereopticon views on Africa will be given Thursday night, September 25th, at 8 o'clock, in the John Wesley Hall, Mount Vernon, by the Rev. J. M. S. Vanblunk, a returned missionary from Africa. Admission 25c and 15c. If stormy the lecture will be held the next good night.

"Knickerbocker Buckaroo," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium to-night (Tuesday), is the greatest Fairbanks picture ever shown in Princess Anne, and contains 6,000 feet of reel. This picture cost the management of the Auditorium twice as much as any other Fairbanks picture ever shown here. Don't miss seeing it. The price of admission will be the same as usual—17 cents, war tax included.

Monday, September 15th, according to an old established custom, especially among the male folks, lids made of straw materials are supposed to be cast aside, or laid away on the cupboard shelf, until another summer season rolls around. There is a noticeable absence of the straws about the streets of Princess Anne, but still there are many folks who continue to wear them either through oversight or what not.

Miss Emily R. Waters and her sister, Mrs. W. C. Hart, entertained at cards at their home, "Beechwood," last Friday afternoon. Those present were: Mrs. Witzell, of New York; Miss Margaret Atkinson, of Baltimore; Mrs. F. Duer, Mrs. J. D. Wallop, Mrs. Wm. H. Dashiell, Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. H. P. Dashiell, Mrs. Gordon Tull, Mrs. W. B. Spiva, Mrs. O. J. Crosswell, Mrs. C. D. Rivers, Mrs. Edgar Jones, Mrs. H. L. Brittingham, Mrs. Howard T. Ruhl, Misses Ellen D. McMaster, Mary Miles Dashiell and Anita Rivers.

The number of hunters' licenses sold during the months of June, July and August, 1919, over the corresponding months of 1918, shows an increase of $5,590.75. The total receipts for the three months from all the counties in the state was $15,682.70, of this amount Somerset county paid $114. State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte says from reports throughout the state relative to the abundance of game in all counties, and from the increase in licenses issued to the present time, the result would show a decided increase at the expiration of the hunting season.

Mr. Gilbert Fitzgerald left last Tuesday for the Maryland State College where he will be a student this year.

Mr. Allan Swede, after spending a week with his college chum, Mr. Honias A. Tull, at Tull's Corner, returned to his home in Norristown, Pa., yesterday.

Rev. John J. Bunting, a former resident of Mt. Vernon, and generally well known to Somerset countians, was married Wednesday, September 10th, to Miss Maude Gibson, of Ridgely.

Mrs. H. L. Brittingham entertained at cards a number of ladies last Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Joseph B. Handy, of New York. Those present were: Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. George W. Myers, Mrs. H. P. Dashiell, Mrs. Wm. C. Hart, Mrs. W. B. Spiva, Mrs. H. T. Ruhl, Mrs. Wm. H. Dashiell and Miss Margaret Atkinson, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Cora Phillips was awarded $500 by a jury of Wicomico county in a damage suit against Dr. C. C. Ward, of Crisfield. The suit was based on an auto collision which occurred on the Pocomoke-Snow Hill road near Bennett's Mill about a year ago. J. W. Staton and W. G. Kerbin, of Snow Hill, represented Mrs. Phillips, and Toadvine and Bell, of Salisbury, and Col. Thomas S. Hodson, of Crisfield, represented Dr. Ward.

Bankers To Meet At St. Louis

The American Bankers Association will meet in St. Louis this month, the session holding from September 28th to October 2nd. It is expected that 20,000 banking institutions will be represented at this meeting with 3,000 or more delegates, and the session will probably be the most important held since the organization of the association. Many of the most vital questions of reconstruction will come up before the bankers for solution and their recommendations may go very far towards helping to cut down the high cost of living and aid in the campaign which is now being made against profiteers all over the country.

Big Demand For Oyster Spat

From New England comes a demand for Maryland oyster plants because of the failure of the crop in that section. For five years, according to H. W. Kilian, of the Conservation Commission, there have been successive failures of crops of oyster spawn in Long Island Sound, New Haven Bay and Narragansett Bay.

Maryland plants are annually in demand because of betterment of New England bivalves by mixture with the Maryland product. So great was the drive for small oysters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries that a law had to be enacted to prohibit their export. Hence the demand from New England is not met. Virginia beds are being drawn upon largely for a supply of plants.

The Conservation Commission drew heavily during the summer upon the natural beds for small oysters which were transplanted in the Potomac and on exhausted beds in other rivers and in the bay. So great was the young growth that experienced oystermen feared the output this year would be reduced because of "smothering."

Even the man who marries a grass widow has no assurance that his grave will be kept green.

IN MEMORIAM

LAYFIELD—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear sister, Sarah J. Layfield, who departed this life September 18th, 1917.

Two years have passed, our hearts still sore; As time flies on we miss her more; She sleeps, we leave her in peace to rest; The parting was painful, but God knowest best. We saw her suffer, heard her sighs, With throbbing hearts and streaming eyes; But now she calmly sleeps at rest, All pain, all grief, all sorrow past.

My First Bottle of HOG-TONE Made Me $100.00

and saved more than that many dollars' worth of hogs for me. I had 30 head of hogs in all, and they got sick. I thought they had the cholera, as two of them died and there was cholera all around me. I got a bottle of your HOG-TONE and my hogs got better at once, declares H. O. Michael, R. No. 2, Markle, Ind.

HOW LARGE SUMS CAN BE SAVED ON SERVICE

Most People Fail to Consider What Help in Home Really Costs in the Long Run.

In any plan for national economy British specialists think that the household rather than the family should be taken as a unit. Under household consumption they include (1) services rendered maintaining the house and its inmates, (2) the goods consumed or acquired by the inmates, (3) the general charges of cleaning, decorating, offsetting deterioration, etc.

As a start in a saving program, the British Commission has pointed out that services should be valued even more highly than goods, as each person doing unnecessary and unproductive work not only consumes without producing, but is also depriving the country of possible productive power. Translated into terms of American saving, this service idea would mean, "Do not hire any one to do what you can do for yourself in spare time unless you find it directly profitable."

Few Americans are really honest with themselves as to the cost of services. Not one family in a hundred really knows what a servant actually costs. Most of them place the cost of her wages and fail to count in her food, light and other things she consumes. Most of them, moreover, have no way of figuring correctly the extra waste of food or extra breakage or wear and tear due to the fact that the servant does not have the interest of ownership for making things go as far as possible. Few families know at the end of the year the important total that the "odd jobs" man or hedge cutter or grass trimmer has cost them for service that might as well have been rendered as recreation or needed outdoor exercise by the man or boys of the family.

This, of course, does not mean that no service should be purchased. Where a housewife's time is worth more in money or other contribution to family well-being than the cost of a servant she makes a profit by employing some one who frees her to do better paid work than household tasks. In many cases physical or personal reasons make it essential to the welfare of the family to have help, but in many cases the time saved by servants is not utilized profitably in a monetary way or even in a way to make for real happiness or advancement.

Savings on service will give many people important sums to lend to their government and save for themselves through War Savings Stamps. In the case of children work is not only a practical means of earning and saving, but in itself is a valuable discipline for life.

BANKS ENTER FIGHT AGAINST BOND SHARK

Plan is Devised Whereby Person Who Must Sell Will Be Given Square Deal.

Bankers in all parts of this district have been asked to take part in the war which has been declared against the bond shark. The campaign is to protect the small holder of Liberty and Victory Bonds. Many of these people are being preyed upon by profiteers in government securities and by salesmen of so-called wild cat stocks. Government bonds, which are the best security in the world, have been traded for worthless stock certificates which never have and never will pay one cent in dividends.

While every holder of Liberty and Victory bonds is urged not to sell, the fact is recognized that some persons bought beyond their buying power and they now find that for one reason or another—good reasons no doubt—they must sell. Bond sharks have taken shameful advantage of some of these people, according to reports received, and the banks are now lining up to put an end to their activities.

If a man finds that he must sell his bond he should take it to the nearest bank where he will be given its full market value or if for any reason the bank prefer not to pay the cash the bond holder will be directed to a reputable broker.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond has sent an official communication to every bank and trust company in this district urging their cooperation. The point is made that no criticism is aimed at the reputable broker who is legitimately buying and selling bonds and other standard securities, but a determined effort will be made, and indeed is now being made, to block the activities of those persons who by misrepresentation are preying upon the inexperienced bond holders.

BUDGETING CHILDREN

Budgeting children will teach them the value of money and often make them more careful of their clothes and shoes. It will also bring out certain traits of character that nothing else will disclose and enable parents to correct faults before they become fixed habits. Any child old enough to be entrusted with money is old enough to be given a specified amount to spend each week, and to be told the value of saving a part of it.

Of course very young children may not be allowed to choose their own clothes, but training along this line may begin very early and a sense of values and suitability may be instilled.

Three grown girls in a certain family were given the same allowance for clothes, books, amusements, entertainment of friends, etc. At the end of the first month May had spent all of her allowance and stated that she had nothing to show for it. Jane had saved one-half of hers and deposited it in the bank. She had denied her self some badly needed clothing and bought a few showy articles with the amount spent. She had accepted entertainment from friends but was too stingy with her own money to entertain in return. Sarah produced an account book and showed that she had bought all the necessary articles of clothing, enjoyed several well chosen entertainments, and had purchased two War Savings Stamps, paying four per cent compound interest.

These are typical, and the information gathered from the first month enabled the father and mother to show May the folly of wasteful and careless expenditure, Jane the importance of providing necessities first and the virtue of generosity, and commend Sarah for her unusual business ability and sense of thrift.

Fair Play Imperative.

"Business is business" is a motto all workers should keep before them. They should demand their rights, but should remember that those in authority have rights also, and are entitled to fair, honest treatment from the people they employ. Therefore, one must learn to be punctual, non-talkative and kindly to their associates. The employee who swerves from this code is not playing fair with employer and certainly should keep silent on the question of equal rights.—Exchange.

Glory of a Nation.

The true glory of a nation is an intelligent, honest, industrious people. The civilization of a people depends on their individual character, and a constitution which is not an outgrowth of this character is not worth the parchment on which it is written. You look in vain in the past for a single instance where the people have preserved their liberties after their individual character was lost.—E. P. Whipple.

About the Tourmalines.

Tourmalines were discovered to us as gems in the eighteenth century, when some Dutch children, playing with bright colored stones on a warm summer day, noticed that they attracted and held straws and ashes. For some time after this the stones were called "ash drawers," and later it was discovered that they have electric power, greatest between the degrees of 100 and 200 Fahrenheit.

Of Course Paul Wasn't Mad.

Paul and Billy live in the country. There are two girls in the family also. Their aunts in town are fond of sending them things. One package contained nothing for Paul or Billy. Paul wrote to his grandmother: "What's the matter with my aunts? They sent a package out here and there wasn't a thing for Billy or me in it, and Billy's pretty mad about it."

Tattoo Removal.

Various methods for removing tattooing are employed, the best of which consists in going over the tattoo marks with a strong solution of tannin, using the tattooing needle, then rubbing with silver nitrate crayon. Nitric acid, salicylic acid and glycerine, chloroform and a mixture of pepsin, glycerine, hydrochloric acid and water are other substances used for this purpose.

Thriving Table Leg.

Among the furnishings of a South Carolina home, says Popular Mechanics magazine, is a small willow table which is the talk of the neighborhood. Although it has been kept indoors and far from any moisture ever since it was built and properly painted, several months ago, one leg is now the proud parent of four leafy sprouts, which thrive in their strange surroundings.

In the matter of the sale of real estate in St. Peter's Election District, of Somerset County, assessed to Richard Messick made and reported by R. Mark White, County Treasurer of Somerset County, Kirby Davis, purchaser, Ex parte.

No. 3337 Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County.

Whereas, a certain R. Mark White, County Treasurer for Somerset County, in the State of Maryland, has reported to the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, a sale made by him to Kirby Davis of all that lot and parcel of land in St. Peter's Election District of Somerset County, Maryland, viz: All that lot of land located as aforesaid containing one acre of land, more or less, with the improvements thereon on the County Road in the neighborhood of Monie, adjoining the lands of R. F. Duer, A. Muir and others and assessed to the said Richard Messick on the assessment books of the said election district, Somerset County, aforesaid, for the year 1916 and sold for the payment of taxes due and in arrears, together with all the proceedings had in relation thereto; and whereas, upon examination it appears to the said Court that the said proceedings are regular, and that the provisions of law in relation thereto have been fully complied with.

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered by the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, this 21st day of August in the year 1919, that notice be given by the publication of this order once a week for four successive weeks in the Marylander and Herald, a weekly newspaper published in Somerset County, before the 22nd day of September, 1919, warning all persons interested in said real estate to be and appear in this Court on or before the 22nd day of September, 1919, to show cause, if any they have, why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed.

The said report states the amount of sales to be $50.00.

DAIRY

TANKS TO KEEP CREAM COOL

Can Be Purchased From Dealers in Dairy Supplies, or They May Be Made on the Farm.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On most farms cream can be cooled most effectively by the use of cold water. In order to facilitate the cooling various types of tanks have been devised. Such tanks can be purchased from dealers in dairy supplies and sometimes from the local hardware merchant, or they may be made on the farm. A cooling tank should be large enough to hold at least two cream cans in order that the newly separated cream may be cooled in a can separate from that previously gathered.

In order to keep the cream cool it is necessary to change the water several times a day. For this reason the tank should be situated between the well and the stock tank so that all water pumped for the stock passes through the cooling tank, thence to the stock tank.

Of whatever design the cooling tank may be it should have a tight cover to keep out the heat, and for the same reason it is advisable to place it in the dairy house or under a shed so that the sun cannot shine directly upon it.

An excellent tank may be made of two-inch planed cypress boards, properly bolted together, painted on the outside and oiled on the inside; or, if it is desirable to keep the cost down to the minimum, a very simple and cheap cooling tank may be made from two or more oil or vinegar barrels—one for each can.

The pipe conducting the water into the tank should be about 1½ inches in diameter, and upon entering the tank by means of an ell and a short piece of pipe, should turn down to within a few inches of the bottom so that the cold water may be conducted to the bottom, forcing the warmer water through the outlet pipe. Cream cans should stand on cleats so that water may circulate under as well as around them. The outlet pipe should be about 1½ inches in diameter. Locknuts and sheet packing may be used to make tight joints where pipes enter and leave the tank.

When using a tank in which water is the cooling agent it must be borne in mind that the water should either flow through the tank continuously or be changed so frequently that the cream will be kept as cold as the well water.

GIVE SOIL MORE ATTENTION

When Dairymen Do This They Will Find Themselves Independent of Feed Dealers.

The time has come when dairy farmers must devote more attention to soil management and crop growing and less attention to balanced rations until they get their farms on a self-sustaining basis. When dairy farmers do this they will discover that they are independent of feed dealers in feeding the cows, and as the system is continued a few years they will create a surplus which can be utilized in feeding horses, beef cattle, sheep and hogs.

TIME FOR COWS TO FRESHEN

Most Favorable Months Are Those Beginning With November and Ending With March.

Investigations by Professor McCandlish of the dairy department of the Iowa Agricultural college indicate that cows freshening in August produce decidedly less milk during the year than cows freshening in any other month. The most favorable months for cows to freshen are those beginning with November and ending with March.

COAST TO COAST U. S. FOR LEAGUE

MILLIONS ACCLAIM WILSON AS HE SPEEDS ACROSS THE LAND.

FEW ASK FOR CHANGES

Majority Feel That President's Guide-ance Should Be Held—No Regrets Past As Sure to Come Soon.

(By Mt. Clemens News Bureau)
Aboard President Wilson's Special Train—From the Capital at Washington to the far Pacific coast the President of the United States has journeyed on the most unusual expedition ever undertaken by a chief executive of the nation.

To discuss national questions, many presidents have toured the land; but Mr. Wilson is laying before America a question which affects the whole world—the question of whether or not we are to join in the League of Nations; whether we are to forget our former isolation and share with the other peoples of the earth the responsibilities of maintaining civilization and preventing, as he says we can do, future warfare.

Between the capital and the coast
the president made fifteen speeches and half a dozen brief talks. All of 100,000 fellow citizens listened to him.
Several millions had the chance to see him, and apparently everyone wanted to see him, from those who thronged the streets of the cities and towns where he stopped, to those who came to the railroads or stood at little flag stations in remote places, knowing their only reward could be a fleeting glimpse and a wave of the hand.

He has met and talked to all types of citizens—to men big in the business, financial and professional worlds to farmers and mechanical workers to Indians and cowboys and foreign-born herders and rangers, to soldiers and to mothers who lost soldier-sons in the late war.

What do they all tell him? unanimously they say they want peace definitely settled, they want no more wars, they want the League of Nations, and most of the American people, it may be fairly said, tell the President they want the League just as it is, without the reservations or amendments which certain senators have insisted upon. The majority of citizens say to those who interview them on this tour:

"Woodrow Wilson guided us rightly before and during the war with Germany. We entered that war, every one agrees, to end all wars. He says the league can do that. We want to do that, so let us keep on trusting him and get the league into operation as soon as possible. Forget politics."

Most Americans encountered on the tour have forgotten politics. Republican Governors and Mayors have introduced the President to his audience; the Major part of the local committees which have met him have been Republicans. They have all said:
"We are nothing but Americans, Mr.
President."

Mr. Wilson's arguments for the league, briefly summarized, are those:
There can be no peace, either now or in the future, without it. There can only be a regrouping of nations and a new "Balance of Power," which is certain to lead to war. There can be no war in the future, with the league in existence, because no single nation would defy the united rest of mankind, and if it did, it could be brought to terms by an economic boycott, and without the use of arms.

There can be no reduction in the cost of living until the league is established, for nations will not go ahead with peace time production until they know that peace is definitely assured and that production of war material is no longer necessary.

There can be wonderful prosperity, with league in existence, for relations of labor and capital all over the world will be made closer, and more friendly, and the worker will receive a fairer share of what he produces.

These declaration of the president, logically and eloquently put, have left his hearers thinking and thinking deeply. And then Mr. Wilson has pointed out, the people themselves, as differentiated from senators and politicians, seem to want just what the president wants, which is America for leadership.

Quite as unusual as the purpose of the cross country tour is the manner in which it is being carried out and the completeness of the arrangements on the nine car train which is bearing the party.

At the rear is the private car Mayflower, occupied by the President and Mrs. Wilson. Next is a compartment car for the secretary Tamm, Admiral Grayson, Mr. Wilson's Physician, four stenographers, the chief executive clerk and seven secret service men. Beyond are three compartment cars which house twenty-one correspondents, five movie men, and a telegraphic and a railroad expert.
Then there is a dinner, a club car, and two baggage cars, one of them converted into a business office. The train was exactly on time at every stop between Washington and the Coast.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING?

LOOK OUT!

Kidney troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow slowly but steadily, undermining health with debility, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.
Stop your troubles while there is time.
Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules now. Take three or four every day until you are entirely free from pain.
This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1898 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its preparation and sale.

The housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Real Dutch Drop," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules. They restore strength and are responsible in a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollanders.
Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with GOLD

Lives in Old "Pillbox."

A Belgian farmer, who has returned to his shell-shattered fields near Poulcapelle, has solved his own particular housing problem by converting an undamaged "pillbox" into a temporary home for himself and family. "Pillbox" was always an unfortunate and misleading name for concrete forts. Nearly all of them were rectangular and contained four or more large rooms.
Very little work would be required to turn them into comfortable and even lasting homes. Some near Boesinghe are already being fitted up as cafes, in anticipation of tourist parties which will throng the battlefields as soon as passports and travel restrictions will be relaxed.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy.
Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c.

United States Senate, which was made public today, through the League to Enforce Peace, after it had been sent to every member of the Senate.

The signers, almost without exception, are men and women of national reputation. They include such prominent citizens as ex-President Taft, George W. Wickersham, Attorney General in the last Republican administration; A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard; Charles C. Moore, of San Francisco, president of the Panama Exposition; Judge George Gray, of Washington, Del.; President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor; Harry A. Wheeler, of Chicago, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the Philadelphia publisher; President Heber J. Grant, of the Mormon Church; and Spargo, leader of the Socialists, who supported the war.

The signers declare that every day of delay in ratifying the treaty puts the world in "imminent peril of new war."

Their statement follows:

In the Senate at Washington, now that the committee on foreign relations has reported the treaty, the lines are sharply drawn between the immediate ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany, and its amendment with a reassembling of the conference and a reopening of negotiations that would bring great delay and prolonged uncertainty in settling the great issues of the peace. No partisan plea can be made. Party lines are already broken.
Standing at a distance from the conflict in the Senate chamber, we plead for immediate ratification without delay. Our land requires it. A state of nervous strain, tension and anxiety exists manifesting itself in dis-turbsances, which in some cases have no self evident connection with the war, but which are, in fact, its aftermath. The world is put in imminent peril of new wars by the lapse of each day. Disensions between us and our former allies are being sown. We firmly believe and solemnly declare that the States and cities in which we dwell desire immediate peace.

The waging of war steadied and united the American people. Peace will bring prosperity, and prosperity content. Delay in the Senate postponing ratification in this uncertain period of neither peace nor war has retarded in indecision and delay. The strife and quickened the cupidty of those who sell the daily necessities of life and the fears of those whose daily wage no longer fills the daily market basket.

We beseech the Senate to give the land peace and certainty by a ratification which will not keep us longer in the shadows of possible wars, but give the whole world the light of peace.
Reservations in the nature of clarifications in the meaning of the treaty, not inconsistent with its terms, will not require the reopening of the negotiations with Germany and with our associates in the war, which we all and each united to win.

But there is no possibility of doubt that amendment of the treaty, as is now proposed in the Senate Commis-tee on Foreign Relations, would require negotiation and a reopening of all the questions decided at Paris.
Months of delay would follow. The perils of the present would become the deadly dangers of the near future.
All the doubt engendered would add the plots for violent revolution in this and other lands. The issues here and elsewhere between capital and labor, the conspiracy of speculation and profiteer, would all grow and become more perilous.

This cannot be. The American people cannot, after a victorious war, permit its government to petition Germany, which has accepted the treaty, for its consent to changes in the treaty.
Yet if the United States should amend the treaty for its own purpose and policy, Germany would have full right to ask for concessions. Germany has agreed to make no claim in regard to enemy property seized in this country to an amount of seven hundred million dollars. Our recent foe could ask for a reopening of this issue and of the Lusitania claims. It could raise every question open before hostilities in regard to submarine warfare and the treatment of its nationals in this country. All the provision for our trade in Germany raised by the economic clauses of the treaty, many of them vital to our industries and our farms, as in dye patents, dye supplies and fertilizers, the working of the Reparation Commission, which superintends the trade of all with Germany, could all be brought up by Berlin for readjustment by our negotiators, acting for the United States alone and no longer associated with other victorious powers or supported by a victorious American army on the German border.

Peace itself, the peace of the world, is delayed until ratification comes.
And any amendment postpones peace.
Germany and England alone of the principal powers have ratified. The other principals necessarily await our action, influential and powerful as we are today in the world's affairs. The ravages of war on more than a score of fighting fronts are continued by any needless delay. Let the Senate give the world peace by ratification without amendment.

Even the amendment for which most can be said, the provision in regard to Shantung, will secure nothing which cannot be gained if China, backed by the powerful advocacy of the United States, addresses itself to the machinery for righting international wrongs and meeting just claims created by the league between nations. China, after eighty years of oppressive treaties and despoiled rights, by which all the great powers have profited directly or indirectly, has for the first time, in his covenant and treaty, the means and method to secure justice and the removal of the oppressive economic interference of stronger nations whose citizens are within her gates, protected by a long succession of international agreements. Moreover, it should be remembered that the clause regarding Shantung was made upon the statement by Japan that she will return the territory to China and, therefore, upon that condition, compliance with which promise the league can require.

The peace of the present and the righteousness of the future can be best secured by the ratification of the covenant and treaty without amendment.
Let the Senate take no action that will give any party to the treaty, and especially Germany, ground for maintaining that the ratification of the United States is not complete and that changes requiring a resumption of conference and negotiations have been made in it.

Don't Wait For The Fatal Stages Of Kidney Illness. Profit By Princess Anne People's Experience

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headache and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Princess Anne proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

W. T. Gibbons, farmer, Route 4, Princess Anne, says: "I was troubled with backache and mornings I felt tired out on account of losing a lot of sleep. When I got up after sitting, pains shot through me like a knife-thrust. My kidneys were acting too frequently, making me get up at night. The kidney secretions were highly colored and I was in a bad way in general. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at O. A. Jones' Drug Store, and after using two boxes, I was rid of kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Gibbons had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Coal Is Scarce and Will Be High

From the number of strikes now going on among the coal-miners of the country, and the demands they are making for shorter hours and more pay, makes it very apparent that fuel is getting scarcer all the time and will be very much higher before the winter is over. Several hundred thousand miners are now making demands for a five day week, and a six-hour day with increased wages of about fifty per cent. and if the operators are forced to accede to these demands of the miners, there is nothing in the world to keep coal from advancing a dollar or more a ton at a very early date. At the present time, it is almost impossible to get supplies of coal even at the high prices prevailing and those who have not laid in at least a part of their winter's supply, should get busy at once and protect themselves against what may be a coal famine in this country later on in the year.

Just What She Needed

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets some time ago and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillicothe, Mo. "They not only relieved me of indigestion but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."

Spectacular Fire

Thirty tanks and their contents, belonging to the Standard Oil Company at Greenpoint, Long Island, were destroyed by fire. The money loss was millions of dollars. Vast clouds of black smoke ascended seemingly almost to the zenith. The sight suggested some of the great volcanic eruptions which obscure the sky with smoke. There were in a yard of 20 acres 100 tanks having a total storage capacity of 110,000,000 gallons, and one after another of the tanks exploded until thirty were gone. Twelve hundred firemen fought the flames for 24 hours before bringing the fire under control. The cause of the fire is not known, but is not believed to be incendiary.

Chamberlain's Colic And Diarrhoea Remedy in Michigan

Mrs. A. H. Hall, Caseville, Mich., says, "I wish to thank you for your grand good medicine, Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. We are never without it in the house, and I am sure it saved the baby's life this summer."

Mrs. Mary Carrington, Caseville, Mich., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for years and it has always given prompt relief."

Miss Stevenson To Wed Mr. Crossman

Invitations are out for the approaching marriage of Miss Ruby L. Stevenson to Mr. Albert Beverly Crossman, of Boston, Mass. Miss Stevenson is the daughter of Mrs. R. M. Stevenson, formerly of Princess Anne, but now residing at 1317 Clayton street, Wilmington, Del. Mr. Crossman is a graduate of Harvard class 1912, and is at present head chemist of the Bayway Chemical Company, Elizabeth, N. J.

The wedding will take place at the Hotel du Pont, Wilmington, Del., on Tuesday, Oct. 14th. The Rev. Elwood Jones, of Silverbrook M. E. Church, will officiate and the two-ring ceremony will be used.

Miss Stevenson will wear a traveling suit with hat to match and will carry orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Her only attendant will be Miss Martha Long, secretary of the Country Club. Mr. Crossman will be attended by his brother, Mr. T. J. Crossman, Jr. The ushers will be Dr. Chester Mills, of Needham, Mass., and Mr. Edgar Kester, of San Francisco. Mrs. Myrna Carson, of Federalburg, Md., will play the wedding march. Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Crossman will leave for the New England states.

Firemen To Hold Cabaret

A cabaret show with a number of unique features will be held in the Auditorium Wednesday evening, October 15th, by the Volunteer Fire Company of Princess Anne. The boys are making plans for two solid hours of special amusements in the way of novelty acts, vocal and instrumental solos, duets and quartets. The proceeds are to be used in fitting up the new home for the firemen, which is expected to be under construction in a few days. The building will be of brick, 24x44 feet, two stories, and will be located on Prince William street, adjoining the Presbyterian chapel property.

Ice cream, cake and fruit punch will be served by the ladies of the fire company during the evening. The admission to the fun will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Dancing will be indulged in after 10 o'clock for those who dance at 50 cents a couple.

Tuberculosis Health Conference

In the interest of the Red Cross Christmas seals the National Tuberculosis Association is putting on a nationwide campaign of education and publicity never before equaled in America. The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has arranged a one-day health conference for those interested in the county work for to-day (Tuesday) September 30th, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., in McCoy Hall, Baltimore.

Among the representatives from Somerset county who are expected to attend are: Col. H. J. Waters, George W. Brown, Dr. R. R. Norris, Judge Robert F. Duer, E. Benson Dennis, Dr. C. E. Collins, Miss Berenice M. Thompson, Mrs. J. D. Wallop, Mrs. Luther T. Miles, Mrs. Columbus Lankford, Mrs. John T. Handy, Miss Clara E. Benson, Mrs. H. L. Loreman.

Public School Notes

At a special session of the Board of Education last Tuesday afternoon Mr. J. Edwin Bowland, of Kingdon, was elected vice-principal of Crisfield High School and Miss Flora A. Price, of Chance, was elected first assistant of Oriole graded school.

Harry Miller was appointed trustee of the Perryhawkin school in the place of Robert Harris, who has removed from the district.

The colored schools will open tomorrow (Wednesday, October 1st).

World's Series Of Base Ball Games

The people of Salisbury and vicinity will have the opportunity of seeing the World's Series of baseball games—the first date being October 1st. Mr. H. W. Carty, in company with five or six other gentlemen of Salisbury, have entered into a contract by which the people will be able to witness these interesting games. The Arcade Theatre has been leased for the occasion, a special electric board secured and an expert operator will be on hand to manage the whole proposition. The company of gentlemen have a special lease on the Western Union lines for the events.

We are informed that Salisbury will have the same service which New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other larger cities will have on this occasion and will be instantaneous with other large cities. Tickets are now on sale at the price of $2.50 per ticket for the entire series of six games. Single admission will be at 50 cents each.

Rev. Henry E. Spears Resigns

The Rev. Henry E. Spears, who has been rector of Somerset Parish since January, 1914, has sent his resignation to the vestrymen of the parish to take effect on October 20th. He has accepted the rectorship of Grace Church, Lake Providence, Louisiana, and will leave for his new field of labor the latter part of next month.

Mr. Spears came here from the Diocese of Arkansas, and about three years ago he became rector of Grace Church, Mt. Vernon, during which time he made a large increase in the membership of that church.

Mrs. Spears died at St. Andrew's rectory about three years ago. During his almost six years stay among us Mr. Spears has made a host of friends who will regret his departure from our town as well as from the rectorship of St. Andrew's Church.

The farmers are now in the midst of harvesting their fodder which is badly twisted and crossed up by the recent storms. The slow progress made in addition to the exceedingly high prices demanded by labor makes it an expensive as well as a tedious and mean job. Hauling the corn from the crossed up stalks will also be quite a task.

REV. GEORGE T. ALDERSON

The Rev. George T. Alderson, D.D., was pastor of Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church for five years—1896-'99. He is now pastor of the M. E. Church, Chestertown, Md. Mr. Alderson will deliver his humorous lecture, "What I Saw on the Street," in Antioch M. E. Church on Tuesday evening, October 7. The lecture is a portrayal of street folks and a study of the lessons they teach. The lecture is free and, as Mr. Alderson is well-known to many of our citizens, there should be a large audience to hear him.

Senator Smith's Plea For Treaty

Senator John Walter Smith addressed the Senate last Thursday afternoon on the peace treaty and the League of Nations. He favors the covenant as it stands.

Senator Smith rarely delivers a set speech, and on the infrequent occasions when he addresses the Senate, he is concise and to the point. Hence, he is always heard with close attention by his colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

Senator Smith defined his position at the beginning of his address. He conceded that the treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations might be open to criticism but that, as framed, it is the best the world can get now. Therefore, he will vote for no reservations unless it becomes "absolutely necessary" to make some concession in order to save the whole document.

Above all Senator Smith urged prompt action. This country demands and must have peace, immediate peace obtainable, as the best remedy for the industrial paralysis, the social unrest and all the misery and poverty following the war and he aptly defined peace as "the antidote of all antidotes for the person of radical socialism and Bolshevism."

$15,539,720 To Marylanders

Maryland relatives of soldiers who died in service are now being paid $15,539,720 in claims, according to an announcement made last week by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

There are now 1,778 claims being paid on account of Maryland soldiers who died. The average policy carried by these was $8,740. In addition to the claims for dead soldiers, 1,194 claims are being paid to Marylanders who were disabled. There are 651 claims of dead and disabled Marylanders now being investigated.

Claims the bureau will be called upon to pay will amount to $1,012,000,000. The amount of premiums paid by soldiers was $200,000,000, or less than one-fifth of the amount of the claims. The excess will have to be made up by the Government.

Baptist Churches Given Quotas

The advisory committee of the Baptist $75,000,000 campaign last week gave out the official list of the amounts that have been apportioned the Baptist churches in Baltimore city and State as their share of the $750,000,000 which is Maryland's quota of the $750,000,000 national fund to be raised by that denomination the first week in December, for educational and general benevolent institutions of the church.

To Eutaw Place Church, Baltimore, was given the honor of contributing the largest amount to the fund of any church in the state, its apportionment being $225,000 or nearly a third of the total of the state's quota.

Among the amounts apportioned the churches of the counties are: Cambridge, $2,500; Crisfield, $2,500; Marion, $3,750; Pocomoke, 5,000; Princess Anne, $750; Rehoboth, $3,750; Salisbury, $3,000.

Notice of a new counterfeit $20 note on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is given by the Treasury. The border of the note and the background of Cleveland's portrait are solid black, instead of having the fine cross lines.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

Big Attendance And Enthusiasm A Plenty At C. O. P. Meeting

No Republican convention in years has been better attended than the one that was called to order at 1 o'clock last Thursday afternoon in Ford's Theatre, Baltimore, by Republican State Chairman Tait.

Adherents of the Republican party in every locality went to Baltimore to show their interest in the gubernatorial contest and express their views on the contents of the Republican platform.

Ex-Governor Goldsborough attended the convention, as did Ex-Congressman Thomas Parran, of Calvert. All the Republican Congressmen from Maryland—Andrews, Mudd and Zilman—mixed with the crowd. State Treasurer Jackson, the Republican State leader, and O. E. Wells, chairman of the Republican city.

were, of course, on the platform. Lowndes was named chairman.

All the Republican candidates for State ticket were present. Mr. Nice took an active part in framing the platform on which the campaign will be made. The main planks in the platform follow:

Declaration in favor of instituting the merit system in the State departments and offices.

Declaration in favor of changing control of the police department from the Governor to the Mayor, without a referendum.

Declaration in favor of consolidating the Roads Commission and the Automobile Commission, and abolishing the State Auditor, and placing his work in the State Comptroller's office.

Criticism of the administration of Governor Harrington, but not of so savage a nature as was expected, the criticism charging him with procrastination, etc.

Criticism of the administration of President Wilson, with demand for what is known as "mild reservations" to the peace treaty and the league of nations.

Pledge to use whatever means may be found available to reduce the high cost of living, by suppression of profiteering, increase of production and strict economy.

Pledge to maintain and develop the State's system of good roads, the educational system, the advancement of agriculture and allied industries.

Pledging themselves to refer back to the people any Constitutional amendment on the suffrage question.

They took no stand in the platform on the legislation needed to enforce the prohibition amendment. Mr. Nice is "wet." He has answered the inquiries of the Anti-Prohibition League, and the Republicans feel that this is sufficient.

The delegates from Somerset county were former Senator L. E. P. Dennis, William L. Whittington, Alonzo L. Murrell and Alexander Johnson, colored. Mr. William L. Whittington, of Somerset county, was appointed one of the committee on credentials and Mr. L. E. P. Dennis, of Crisfield, was appointed one of the committee on resolutions.

Ray Appointed Tax Commissioner

Governor Harrington last Wednesday announced the appointment of J. Enos Ray to the State Tax Commission, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chairman Arthur P. Gorman. Mr. Ray's service will begin on October 1st. He will not be chairman, the Governor also announcing that he will designate Commissioner Wm. W. Beck as chairman. The chairman receives $6,000 a year and the associate members $5,000.

Mr. Ray has been the State Auditor for seven years. His place will be filled by the Board of Public Works, which will have a meeting today. William A. Gillespie and Thomas J. Murray, now deputies under Mr. Ray, are mentioned to succeed him, and it is likely that one of them will be chosen. The place pays $2,500.

Mr. Ray, whose term of office in the Tax Commission will expire in June, is the Democratic organization leader in Prince George's county, and is a strong supporter of Senator Smith. He served several terms in the House of Delegates and was Speaker in the session of 1908. He was the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fifth district a little later, but was defeated. His friends look upon him as a solid and industrious man. He is a lawyer and lives at Chillum, near Washington.

In appointing a successor to Mr. Gorman the Governor was compelled to choose a resident of one of the Western Shore counties. The law provides that one member of the commission shall be from the Western Shore, one from the city and one from the Eastern Shore. Commissioner Oscar Leser, the Republican member, represents the city and the new chairman, Mr. Beck, the Eastern Shore.

DRAINAGE OF STATE'S SWAMPS

Senator Harrison Lauds Democratic Plank To Reclaim Fertile Lands

Senator Orlando Harrison, of Worcester county, in discussing the plank in the Democratic State platform, which indorses drainage of the State's swamp lands:

"I am in favor of the project. While a member of the Senate I have introduced a bill during each session under the terms of which it would be possible to drain wide areas of low land in Worcester and in other counties and bring them under most profitable cultivation. I have advocated loans by the state to individuals who would complete the reclamation work. The state could make no safer investment. The federal government has employed the same methods in irrigating the arid lands of the Far West."

"The late Dr. William Bullock Clark, of the Republican city."

were, of course, on the platform. Lowndes was named chairman.

All the Republican candidates for State ticket were present. Mr. Nice took an active part in framing the platform on which the campaign will be made. The main planks in the platform follow:

Hog Cholera Meetings Well Attended

The hog cholera meetings held at Jacksonville, Lawsonia and Hopewell last week were well attended. About three hundred residents of the communities were present and showed much interest in the discussion of cholera by Dr. E. J. McLaughlin, a government veterinarian. Lantern slides were shown to illustrate how hog cholera may be controlled.

Meetings for this week have been arranged by County Agent C. Z. Keller for the following places: Wednesday, October 1st, at Dames Quarter; Thursday, October 2nd, at Chance; Friday, October 3rd, at Deal's Island. All meetings will be held in the school houses at 8 p. m.

Hog Cholera Along Manokin River

New cases of hog cholera have appeared during last week on a farm along the Manokin river. The hogs having cholera had access to the stream and farmers living along the Manokin are warned to keep their hogs from the watercourse.

This disease is carried by water and the presence of diseased hogs in the stream and marsh will probably cause further outbreaks of cholera unless the farmers take careful precautions to keep their hogs from the river.

By IZOLA FORRESTER

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Desiree waited deliberately for him at the foot of the winding path that led upward through the pines. It would be useless for him to deny that he had sought the meeting ever since his return to Versailles, and now he should have the full benefit of it.

He had been gone four years, at his college, and each summer when he came home for vacation he had never failed to tell Desiree that she was frivolous and light-minded, this when he knew she worked from six to six in the mill and gave all she earned to her mother and all the little Signourneys.

Was it any of his business if she chose to go to the Saturday night dances at the Central hall, or better yet, the open-air ones at the beach pavilion? Where was the harm in that? She was with her own people, and was happy. Was it wrong for her to be seen with some of the mill boys at the little motion picture house on Main street just because they were having their prayer meeting across the street? Oh, but she hated him for it all, and now at last here was her chance to tell him to his face she would not have it.

Who was he, after all, she thought at their noon meetings for preaching. Then he had been taken up by the minister's family and educated, while she still tended the twirling spools down in the winding room.

"Did you wait for me, Desiree?" he asked. "I have wanted to speak to you ever since I came back."

"I know you have," she retorted slowly, with the tinge of scorn he could not mistake in her tone. "I have something to say to you, too. You will let me alone, you understand? It is nothing at all to me that you have come back here to be minister. That does not mean that you can say whatever you please about me because I am fond of dancing sometimes and I like to be happy."

Who Was He, After All, She Thought Stormily.

"I have never said a word to any one about you—"

"But you have to me, myself, and then you look at me so, as if you would scold at me forever." The tears filled her eyes, tears of anger and rebellion. "The girls told me you said that Desiree Signourney was an example to any of them."

"An example of dutifulness, I meant. Your love to your mother and the children is beautiful, Desiree."

"Ah, but you can turn the words around until they have two faces," she said bitterly.

"Why do you ridicule me before everybody?" he demanded suddenly. "Did you want me to stay in the mill all my life? It was your own father who first encouraged me to study and go ahead, and you have always laughed at me."

She lifted aggravating shoulders, and smiled over one at him.

"Jack-in-the-pulpit!" she said. "Is it so wonderful then to come back here to little Versailles and save us all down in the mill? Keep your pulpit, and let us dance when our work is done."

She went down the path jauntily, leaving him standing there. Surely it had been sweet to make him understand how she scorned him.

The birch woods opened into a view of the little clustering village, the winding river and spreading white lace founce of its waterfall, the white mill houses that dotted the hillsides, and above all, the great low mill buildings with their airshafts lifting tall pipe openings like the upreared heads of sea serpents.

There were four Signourneys working in there now, the two boys, Pierre and Louis, and the girls younger than Desiree, Melanie and Etiole.

She had been sent that morning on an errand over to Mme. Raniere, the wife of the superintendent. It had been a profitable walk, thought Desiree, conscious of the figure that walked behind her down the path.

And then suddenly on the still early spring air came the shriek of the factory whistle, blowing its alarm at this untimely hour. She caught her breath, listening to it. It could mean but one thing, the great horror of the mills, fire!

And even while the thought burst on her, there came the slow, expanding mass of gray smoke from the west buildings and the breaking out of long, wavering yellow tongues of flame from the basement windows. Before she realized it he was beside her, her hand clutching his arm, as they both stared down at the smoke.

"Ah, the children!" she cried brokenly. "There are many in the winding room. Melanie and Etiole—all the children are there."

He was gone before she could speak again, his hat and coat lay on the grass beside her, where she had sunk to her knees, sobbing.

When she looked again each house was giving forth its quota of mothers and wives, hurrying to the scene of the fire from the little white house. She dried her tears and went forward to join them, where there would be work waiting for the rescuers.

After it was all over, the supreme gratitude of the little town was laid in heaping measure at the feet of Stephen Servier, the young minister of the steepled church that faced the green.

He had led the work from the beginning, organizing the town brigade and the fire drill in the mill. He had saved the lives of the children, and two of these were Desiree's sisters.

She was one of the volunteer nurses at the improvised hospital in the town hall, and weeks later, when they lifted the bandages from his eyes and he stood erect for the first time, it was her hand that led him out into the sunlight. And in her way, she tried to tell him she had found all the light of truth and sacrifice in her days of nursing.

"So you see, I am glad you wished to speak to me that day," she concluded, softly. "It was right you should scold me."

"Did you think that was why, Desiree?" he asked. "Was your memory so short as that? Has there ever been anyone but you in all my life that I have cared for? Was it wrong for me to hope when I came back here you would be glad? And instead," his eyes twinkled, "you called me Jack-in-the-pulpit."

Desiree was embarrassed and hesitated; but at last she said, with a quick sigh:

"They are my favorite flowers. They are the first brave ones to leap up and call that spring has come. I think they are most fearless—like you. And I do not care," her voice sank now to almost a whisper, "if I never dance again, not since the fire."

They had reached the little bridge that led over to the hill path, and he took her hand.

"Let's go back up into the pines," he said.

LOST ART OF PUNCTUATION

Criticism Is Made That Modern Writers Seem to Constitute a Law unto Themselves.

A late book is devoted to the art of punctuation. It is certainly needed, for punctuation as a habit has become almost universally neglected, remarks the Columbus Ohio State Journal. The use of the comma, the semicolon, the colon, the dash and the interrogation and exclamation points seem to go it alone without any rules or guidance. Every writer is a rule unto himself and he scatters the points in any way he sees fit. Now, the author of the book does not stop with suggesting rules for the correct use of points, but impresses us with the idea that the most important use of pointing is to give explicit meaning to the paragraph. But there is so much writing done these days that very little regard is paid to either of these objects. We see noted authors often producing pages of manuscript without a single point, while others fill their writings with the points so that any dozen words or more are marshaled behind a comma or a semicolon or something. It is more comfortable to read after the latter than the former, for one can usually depend upon the points to get at the meaning of the author. We find frequently writers who do not seem to think there is such a thing as punctuation, who might do better, if they do not know the rules, to resort to a punctuation of their own. It will not always hurt a manuscript to do this. Sometimes a pointed paragraph needs points.

Impossible Profiteering.

"Colonel, I hear, sah, yeh have laid in a new supply of liquor, an' I understand 't is right high in price now-a-days."

"My dear Majah, I—ah—paid jes' nine dollars a quavt foh it, sah!"

"Ain't that a trifle expensive, Colonel?"

"Not in my estimation, sah. It is th' fust time I have evuh had th' privilege of payin' somevvel near th' figure I have always considered it wuth."

Justice.

"Do you allow children to play in the halls?"

"Yes," replied the summer landlord. "Their parents dance half the night and keep 'em awake and the kiddies ought to have their turn at frivolity."

Indian Jewels.

Crossing from China to India, we shall find the people there often loaded with jewelry, writes Frank G. Carpenter, in "How the World Is Clothed." That worn by a single girl in the Himalaya mountains may weigh many pounds. It is usually of brass, but sometimes of gold and silver. In the valley of the Ganges, there are women who wear metal rings in their noses, and some who have silver bells much like sleigh bells fastened about their toes.

Remembering the Boys.

A friend of mine performed a wedding ceremony for a young couple in our home town, after which the bridegroom took all the money out of his pocket, which was 75 cents, and turned to my friend, the minister, and said: "I will have to keep 50 cents of this to buy cigars for the boys," and handed him the 25 cents for the fee.—Chicago Tribune.

Searching Questions.

About what am I now employing my own soul? On every occasion I must ask myself this question, and inquire: What have I now in this part of me which they call the ruling principle? And whose soul have I now? That of a child, or of a young man, or of a feeble woman, or of a tyrant, or of a domestic animal, or of a wild beast?—Marcus Aurelius.

Caves Change Owners.

Some of the caves and the Great Gorge were offered by auction at Portsmouth, England, but failed to find a purchaser, although the Great Globe and Dorleston Head Castle were knocked down for $10,000. The Durlston Park estate, on which these landmarks are situated, had previously been offered as a whole, but had failed to find a purchaser.

The Three Hundred.

What are your spears, O Xerxes? What are your slings, proud Persians, with your 2,000,000 soldiers sheeting the plains of Greece with splendor, and roaring, like the jubilant sea, along the Pass of Thermopylae? There stands Leonidas with his 300, rocklike; and they beat you back with an idea.—George William Curtis.

PE-RU-NA

Worth Its Weight In Gold

You cannot mistake the words of Mr. W. W. Northrup, of 908 Fourth Street, Sioux City, Iowa. He is enthusiastic about his present health and the merits of PE-RU-NA and wants everyone to know it. Here is a recent letter from him:—

"PE-RU-NA is worth its weight in gold and then some. I used to think it only a woman's remedy but have changed my mind. I had a cough, especially in the morning. After using half a bottle of PE-RU-NA was much better. I would cough up chunks of phlegm and mucus, my eyes itched and bothered me. Judging from the symptoms given in your almanac it was catarrh. My stomach is in much better condition since using your medicine."

"Use this testimonial, if you wish. Don't hesitate to advertise the merits of PE-RU-NA." (Signed) W. W. NORTHROP.

There are thousands just like Mr. Northrup, skeptical at first but convinced by a trial of PE-RU-NA.

DON'T BE AN UNBELIEVER.

If your trouble is of a catarrhal nature, try PE-RU-NA, then tell your friends. It is fine after an attack of grip or Spanish Flu.

DAWN

By JACK LAWTON

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union) Jerome Barris in the hour of his great success was but a disillusioned, disappointed man. Still young, and having won the golden key to favor, he drew back wearily before those doors it might open.

During his years of struggle and need none of these friends, who now so eagerly strove to share his triumph, had made an effort to stretch forth a helping hand. Even the girl whom he had so deeply loved and who had professed to return his love had grown weary waiting and had heartlessly jilted him for an acknowledged man of the business world.

Now that the dream of Jerome Barris was realized he smiled cynically at this same woman's proffered notes of reconciliation—his former love had become a widow, but her charm for him had vanished before her insincerity, and all this superficial adulation now wearied him. He longed to get away from it, to get back to a certain spot which had often been his refuge.

To Barris this small place, with the sea stretching out before, was home, his one sure haven.

It was here that his great picture was born—the picture which had won for him fame and fortune. Years ago, when his heart was sore with its disappointment, he had gone, after reading the announcement of the one girl's marriage, to the seclusion of this little house, there to shut out from curious eyes his deep hurt. And when at sundown he sat upon the tiny porch a boat had come drifting down a golden beam toward him. And in the boat sat a very young girl. Unbound, her golden hair rippled over her shoulders, and her upraised face was glorified in the light. Barris called his great picture "Maidenhood."

Impulsively he had called her as she drifted by, and had run down to draw her boat in to the shore. The girl, who was perhaps fourteen or fifteen years of age, acceded readily to his request that she pose thus again for a picture. "I'll make the arrangement with your people," Barris suggested.

"I have no people," the girl told him, and as she went on with the strange story of her own life he knew what had brought the shadow to her young eyes. She had been washed to the shore in a boat tossed upon a stormy sea before she was old enough to remember anything about it. A man and woman found drowned later were thought to have been her parents, but she had never known. A fisherman finding the child carried her to his wife who had befriended her, until as the girl grew and the wife became an invalid the charge was transferred.

They called her "Dawn," the girl told him blushing, because it had been at dawn that the fisherman found her.

And as days passed and Dawn came to pose for the artist he learned more and more of the hard incongruity of a young life which longed for great things and must be satisfied with common duties. Dawn's heart was full of music and her mind yearned for knowledge.

When upon his return later from the city Barris learned from his old housekeeper that Dawn's invalid charge had died he sent at once for the girl and bade her make her home in his house on the shore, arranging passage for her to and from a school in the adjoining village and finding her a music teacher there. Then in the absorbing occupation of his city studio the artist forgot about the little girl, who never ceased to think of him with reverent adoration.

Barris, long absent from the house by the sea, sought it out again after one of his trips abroad and learned from the old housekeeper that his protegee had secured a position as teacher in a near-by village and left word that he would hear from her later.

The artist smiled and frowned. "She should have allowed me to complete her education," he said. Then his pleased eyes fell upon the inviting furnishing of his beloved old room.

"You keep the place up well," he commended his housekeeper.

"That's Dawn," the woman replied; "she comes out here and sees that things is all new an' convenient. 'We must keep it home—for him,' she says."

After that came to the artist regularly small checks in the name of the village bank, with notes in a girlish hand.

"Of course I can never repay what you have done for me," wrote Dawn, "this is just to assure myself that I would if I could."

And at length, wearied by labor and surfeited with flattering attentions, came to Barris a longing wish for the restful house by the shore. And when he reached it at sundown, sailing again across the golden water toward him, came the girl who had made his great picture. Standing on the sands at her side he told her so.

"You speak of repaying your debt to me," said Barris. "My dear girl! do you realize that it is I who am indebted to you?—for my success, for the very comfort of home, for a belief in truth and goodness which had almost forsaken me? Why, you have given to me every good gift—save happiness."

"And I wish I might give you that," said Dawn.

"I hope—I believe—that you will," Barris answered softly, and they looked into each other's eyes.

THE HOUSE OF ART

Paintings from the House of Art, which were destroyed after the Germans entered Louvain, while the other has long been incomplete because two important parts of it were in the Kaiser Friedrich museum, Berlin. The Louvain painting is the work of Dierck Bouts, a "Last Supper," which has been described as "certainly one of the finest examples of Flemish fifteenth century art" and was painted for the collegiate church of St. Pierre. The painting had come down the centuries as the chief adornment of the church, and disappeared after the German occupation. It was believed to have been destroyed, but is now known to have been removed and preserved by the invaders, and its return is one of the stipulations of the peace treaty. The other famous painting, "The Adoration of the Lamb," has been called "the first and greatest masterpiece of fifteenth century painting produced in Flanders." It was begun by Hubert van Eyck, but continued and finished by Jan van Eyck. Time had separated the parts of the painting and at present the central panel remains in the chapel of St. Bavon in Ghent, another part is in Brussels, and yet another in Berlin. Brussels will probably return her part of the composition, and Germany is to give back the portions that have been in her possession, so that the painting as a whole will once more be assembled in the chapel for which it was painted.

HOUSING IN GREAT BRITAIN
Problem Ends Fair to Be Successfully Worked Out Through Fair and United Effort.

In connection with the problem of reconstruction in the united kingdom various housing schemes are contemplated. Variety in the model dwellings to be erected has been encouraged by the enterprise of the London Daily Mail, which offered prizes amounting to $10,000 for "designs best and most suitable in themselves and most nearly in line with the architectural traditions of the several districts."

The country was divided into four areas—the northern, midland and Welsh industrial areas, and the southern and midland counties rural area, with a prize of $2,500 in each section. Over 3,500 designs were submitted. In the winning designs the need for economy in all cases was apparent.

In addition to these new model homes, a demand has arisen for furniture especially suitable for them, the construction of which would be of the simplest, combined with the required rigidity and strength. A successful attempt to meet this need has been made by the Shoreditch Technical Institute (London), at which cottage furniture, designed in the carpentry shops of the institute and executed by the boys at the school, has been on exhibition.

Best Huns at Their Own Game.

The most hateful chapter of the work of science in war was the introduction of chemical warfare. The first gas attack, on April 22, 1915, and the five others that followed within little more than a month, found the allies unprepared, and it was not until September that they were able in any way to retaliate. But the immediate reply was one that did honor to science. Due to the splendid work of the late Colonel Harrison a system of defense by gas masks was established, in which the allies were for the greater part of the war far ahead of their adversaries, who only succeeded in coming up to them by learning and copying our methods. It was impossible to estimate what would have been the destruction caused by toxic gases but for these defensive measures.

Pie-Bald Truth.

Mr. Jones keeps pigeons, and Mr. Brown, next door, tries to keep pigeons. Mr. Brown is constantly losing birds, while Mr. Jones is as constantly suspected of finding them. The other morning Mr. Brown, with a smile and a dime approached the youthful son and heir of Mr. Jones.

"Willie," began Brown, holding up the coin, "did daddy find a bird yesterday?"

Willie nodded.

"And was it a blue bird with some white feathers in its wing?"

"Dunno," responded Willie, pocketing the dime. "You can't tell their color when they're in a pie!"

Sight-Seeing From the Air.

To view the scenic wonder of the west from the air, escaping the rough trails and rocky barriers that often screen the rarest vistas—that is the prospect offered to tourists who make Salt Lake City their "going-in" point for sight-seeing trips, says Popular Mechanics. Five specially designed airplanes have been prepared for the work of carrying travelers to, and even, the beauty spots of the region, some hitherto inaccessible.

WONDERFUL STEPPING STONES

MISER SAVER BIG SUM BUT ONLY TO LOSE IT

Man Did Not Follow Principles of Thrift—Sole Idea Was to Hoard His Money, Spending Nothing.

A modern Midas of Chicago, who had accumulated $300,000 by never spending anything, recently was declared incapable of handling his affairs. He became incapable not because he amassed $300,000 but because of the way he accumulated it. He estranged his family, went to bed with the chickens to avoid spending money on lights and lived on $55 a year.

Then he ran afoul of the puzzling income tax law and now his children are to handle his beloved savings. This modern Midas was not a thrifty man. He was a miser. True thrift enhances and increases the wealth of the world. Hoarding money benefits neither the miser nor his fellows. Wise spending is as essential as wise saving, and wise investment is as important as either; wise spending for the comforts and pleasures of life as well as the necessities makes for the thriftiest life and stimulates production. Wise investment makes possible the creation of new wealth.

The miser saves but spends nothing. He secures only the meager satisfaction of watching his pile of money grow. The wise exponent of thrift and sound investment has the comforts and pleasures of life and saves at the same time. The foolish man spends his money for what he neither needs nor really wants; does not attain the comforts and lasting pleasures of life and saves nothing.

If the modern miser of Chicago had spent wisely he would have had years of comfort and happiness instead of years of squalor and want. If he had saved wisely he would have had the love and respect of his family and associates. If he had invested wisely he would have been competent to handle his own affairs.

"Waste not—want not" is still the modern axiom of thrift but "want not" must not be interpreted to mean not wanting the things that make life worth the living. Don't be a modern Midas.

PICKING UP THAT PIN

A story of E. H. Harriman, who died leaving an estate of $75,000,000, credits him with one day picking up a small steel letter clip dropped on the floor by a careless employee.

"I'd like to have as my annual income," said Mr. Harriman, "the value of material thrown away every year by indifferent workers in the offices and factories of America. In a few years I'd be the richest man in the world."

"LIKE UM" and "LICK UM"

From faraway Tulsa, Okla., comes the story that War Savings Stamps are tremendously popular among the Indians who have grown rich from oil wells discovered on their properties.

"Stick-em-on" competitions are popular among the Indian Rockefellers, who buy the $5 stamps in sheets, arrange their cards neatly and start licking and sticking at a prearranged signal.

After all the stamps had been stuck on during a recent contest the Indians capped the "field meet" by lining up and racing to the post-office to get the stamps registered. Blue Nose Smells-No Meat won the race and had his stamps registered first. He had pasted on $468 worth of War Savings Stamps in six minutes and fourteen seconds. His time to the postoffice was 56 seconds flat.

Put your money where it will do double duty for you—in War Savings Stamps.

Money saved is what counts. Invested in War Savings Stamps it grows day and night.

In a multitude of thrifths there is safety from worry. Buy wisely, save intelligently, and invest in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

FIVE DEPARTMENTS ARE AIDING THRIFT

Government Bureaus Are Co-operating to Promote Widespread Savings Among All Classes of People.

Co-operation and co-ordination of government departments in aid of the national movement to promote regular saving, wise buying, sound investment and reinvestment are shown in a recent report to the Treasury Department.

Five departments—Treasury, Labor, Commerce, Agriculture and the Interior—are always carrying out plans characteristic of their special domains of work designed to accomplish the general aim—thrift. Not only are the same principles held in common, but ideas and material are interchanged and employed to further the particular lines of each department's work.

In the Treasury Department the Savings Division is endeavoring to bring home the value of sensible economy as a principle of living; to interpret thrift, not as miserliness, but as the wise management of one's affairs, taking heed of present and future needs and steadily saving for worthwhile purchases, to take advantage of an opportunity or against a rainy day. The Savings Division offers the Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps a practical inducement to acquiring the power of a financial reserve.

Realizing that saving is greatly stimulated by having a definite object in view, the Department of Labor has launched an OWN YOUR HOME movement.

The Department of Commerce, in conjunction with the Council of National Defense, is engaged in a BUY NOW, BUT ONLY WHAT YOU NEED, campaign.

The Department of Agriculture has undertaken to have its county agents and home demonstration agents, numbering several thousand men and women, include the message of thrift in all their work.

In the Department of the Interior the Bureau of Education is making thrift an important part of its Americanization program and of its schools and library work. The Indian Bureau has issued material and called on all agents to assist in bringing home the value of intelligent saving and safe investment to the Indian service.

THRIFT TABLE

25 Pennies—1 Thrift Stamp.
16 Thrift Stamps—1 W. S. S.
20 W. S. S.—1 Hundred Dollar Stamp.
5 Hundred Dollar Stamps—First installment on your home.

Thrift Stamps will stick when a fellow needs a friend.

Make Thrift a happy habit through War Savings Stamps.

INTEREST

Here is what one man did. If you don't know him you know some one just like him in your community.

Twenty years ago he owned the clothes he stood in and that was about all.

He saved fifty dollars the first year; the next year, with a little better wages, seventy-five.

One thing with another—a wife and family included—he has saved an average of five dollars a week for twenty years.

What he saved in twenty years was about five thousand dollars. What he has is twice five thousand—like the man in the parable.

His dollars working for him now bring him more than his yearly saving.

Make Thrift a happy habit through War Savings Stamps.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS
The world at the present time is so generally anxious to establish a stable peace. Another war would wreck the world, and with all the improvements in the art of killing people might almost exterminate the civilized nations. The only way to accomplish anything in modern life is to organize to bring it about. Scattered and disunited effort never gets anywhere. If the world wants to secure peace the leading powers will have to organize to maintain it. Hence the world needs a League of Nations. The United States can't expect it to be a success until it takes hold and helps make it go.

The proposed constitution of the league is vague in certain points which should be cleared up. The one vital thing in ratifying this constitution is to make it sure the United States can withdraw if the league proves a failure from the American viewpoint. Also public sentiment will demand that the United States shall not be required to participate in any war save by act of Congress that the league shall not interfere with the internal affairs of this country, and that the Monroe doctrine be maintained. With these principles clearly established by reservations the United States will sufficiently control the situation.

As for direct amendments that would necessitate further negotiation of the peace treaty, these may be desirable to adopt later, but it is not good judgment to insist on them now. The treaty should be ratified at once to end the terrible turmoil with which the world is seething. It will take years of debate and experience before the league constitution can settle down into a workable form. With the right of withdrawal explicitly reserved the United States can say "You must make such changes as may be necessary to protect American interests or you cannot expect us to remain in the league."

Everybody is now reported to have struck except the doctors and it is expected that they will soon refuse to visit the sick except between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. Also the nurses are soon expected to walk out and demand that they be not called upon to nurse anyone with dangerous diseases.

THE DANGER OF INFLUENZA
When the influenza epidemic was finally conquered last winter the public was thoroughly roused to the necessity of good sanitation and other health measures. But now the epidemic has been forgotten in the rush of events and the average person is about as careless as ever.

Warnings are issued by health authorities that there is a likelihood of another outbreak of this terrible scourge this season. It is not expected to be as severe as the first. Considering what a fearful plague it was, it will be the part of wisdom to take no chances.

Had anyone realized in advance the nature of this peril, far stricter measures would have been taken early last fall. In case the disease breaks out again, rigid action should be taken to close up centers of infection. The Public Health Service bulletin says that public eating and drinking places were a leading means for transmission of the disease. These should be carefully watched and required either to obey the most rigid sanitary rules or else to close. There should be a general clean-up of homes and streets and tenements and boards of health should be very active in removing all unsanitary conditions.

People who have influenza symptoms should not keep on at work the way they did last fall, thus spreading the fatal scourge all over the country. It was shown that a person having the disease mildly might communicate it to others who would have it severely and die therefrom. People who have even a slight case have no right to endanger the lives of others by venturing out in public. They will be far safer themselves by remaining at home and caution on their part will save the community from a great peril.

Despondency
Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.

THE AMERICAN LEGION DRIVE
The newly formed posts of the American Legion are conducting a drive for members and hope before Armistice Day, November 11th, to have enrolled a million members.

Men who did not serve in the war would hand over many dollars for the right to belong to this grand society. One would think, considering the honor, the pleasure and the solid advantages that everyone that served would wish to belong without solicitation. These men will be bound together by an intimate tie and those who want friends and assistance in finding work, will find this membership a great help.

The soldiers are probably tired of being lectured as to their patriotic duty to their country. They got fed up on that at the camps. Still they have their ideas as to the way the country ought to be run and they left the service with a desire to overturn some ancient abuses. Also they dislike to see disloyal influences getting a foothold.

The country needs a strong organization that shall promote the patriotic ideas that were inculcated in the army and which the soldiers have absorbed. The veterans of the Civil War performed the same service in the past, but unfortunately they have largely passed off the active stage and the majority are gone.

The young soldiers are in the enthusiasm of youth, full of energetic desire for a better America. They can do a great deal for themselves and the country by taking hold of this Legion and making it count for strong Americanism and sound sense. It is not work that calls for much time or money but merely to unite the sentiment of the men that have had this experience and make it a force to which less loyal elements will have to listen.

THE GIRLS' CANNING MOVEMENT
The movement to interest girls in canning fruits and vegetables was given a tremendous impetus by the war. Millions of girls worked hard over their kettles and fruit jars "for Uncle Sam." Will this patriotic enthusiasm be kept up in ordinary times?

Girls of the Canning Club age ten and twenty years ago were playing dolls and other home-making games. They loved these games because it made them feel that for the moment they were grown-ups with families of their own. When they actually got out in the kitchen and really do the same things their mothers do it produces some sentiment of pride in a youngster's heart.

Some may say that it is too bad for these children to be robbed of their girlhood fun. Yet canning club work takes only a fraction of their play time. During much of this time formerly they were hanging around asking, "What shall I do next?"

From the standpoint of the community the gain from this movement is immeasurable. It preserves a tremendous amount of foodstuffs that otherwise would rot on the ground. It will help keep down the cost of food, will help nourish hungry people in cities and in Europe, since the families that have these preserves are saved from drawing an equivalent amount from common stock. At a time when labor is scarce and adult workers find their time more than occupied, these girls constitute a supply of new labor that can add a great amount of production.

Even more valuable is the effect it has as a preparation for rural life. The girl who comes up with a skill in household arts is not usually the one who becomes restless and goes away to some city. She is confident she can help a husband make a success in rural surroundings, and she forms a love for the industry and life of the country.

Valuable Timber and Farm Land
-AT-PUBLIC SALE
I will offer at Public Sale at the Court House door in Princess Anne, Maryland, on Tuesday, Sept. 30, 1919 at or about the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., my farm (more or less) containing 52 acres, more or less, of WOOLAND well set in Pine, Oak and Gum Timber ready for market; also 32 1/2 Acres, more or less, of ARABLE LAND improved by a Five-Room Dwelling and Outbuildings ample for the needs of the farm, all in good condition. The land is specially adapted to the cultivation of STRAWBERRIES which for many years has been the chief crop of the farm.

This farm is located in a thickly settled neighborhood at the forks of the Princess Anne, Deal's Island and Mount Vernon roads—one of the most public places in Somerset County and a good location for any kind of business usually conducted in a country community. It could also readily be divided and disposed of as BUILDING LOTS.

The following lots (recently surveyed and plotted) are reserved and not offered for sale: 1st—1/4 acre, on the ridge known as the Market Hall lot and adjoining the land of Stanley Holbrook's heirs. 2nd—2 acres known as the Dennis Johnson lot on the county road near the colored people's house. 3rd—2 acres with dwelling and other improvements thereon, on the county road and adjoining the lot of said Holbrook.

Persons interested are invited to visit the farm where every opportunity will be extended to make a thorough examination of the premises.

TERMS:—One-third cash on the day of sale; the balance in two equal annual installments, secured by the notes of the purchaser with approved security, or all cash at the option of the purchaser.

Lieutenant Franklin P. Waller, after spending the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wallop, returned to New York, accompanied by Mrs. Waller, who had been spending some weeks with her parents.

Mr. Ralph Willing, of Princess Anne, and Miss Pauline Waller, of Salisbury, were married at Antioch Methodist Episcopal parsonage last Wednesday evening by the Rev. Leolan Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Willing will spend some months at the Washington Hotel.

The Rt. Rev. William F. Adams, Bishop of Easton, will visit St. Andrew's Church next Sunday morning, October 5th. The service begins at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to come and take part in the service and hear the Bishop.

Sunday, October 5th, will be Rally Day at Antioch Methodist Episcopal Church. Sunday School at 9.30 a. m., preaching at 11 a. m., Epworth League at 6.30 p. m., and evening service at 7.30 o'clock. The children of the Sunday School will give a Rally Day program in the evening.

Next Saturday night the first episode of Houdini—the handcuff King—in "The Master Mystery," will start at the Auditorium. The other attraction that night will be Charlie Chaplin in "Sun-nyside." This is the third million dollar picture by the famous movie actor and you should not miss seeing him in his fun-making stunts.

Next Sunday, October 5th, will be observed as Centenary Day in the John Wesley Church, Mt. Vernon, both morning and night. In the morning at 10.30, the pastor will preach along Centenary lines, while in the evening, there will be a special program, including special music. At both services a part or all of the Centenary money will be received.

A County Sunday-School Convention will be held at Trinity Methodist Protestant Church, Marion Station, next Tuesday, October 7th. All Sunday-schools in the county are expected to send delegates to the convention. There will be two sessions, commencing 1.30 in the afternoon and adjourning at 9 o'clock at night. Mr. W. O. Lankford is president of the county association.

Shortage of School Teachers

The public schools of the nation began the new school year with a shortage of approximately 38,000 teachers. This estimate was made last week by the National Education Association on the basis of questionnaires sent to 3,465 district and county school superintendents in all states.

To meet the acute shortage, due in large part, Commissioner of Education Claxton has said, to the low salaries paid, it is estimated that approximately 65,000 teachers were employed who were below the standard requirements existing in the various school districts.

Red Cross Drive for New Members

A big Red Cross membership drive will be conducted throughout the county during the week of November 2nd to 11th. The wonderful work of the Red Cross throughout the war shone forth as the brightest ray in all the tragedy of that period, and yet the peace program that is being planned contemplates pressing work that is considered just as vital.

The Red Cross now has the stupendous problem of dealing with the rehabilitation of nations and countries devastated by the war, as well as the paramount problem of home service. There also remains the urgent need of relieving sickness and preventing disease and particularly the care of a weakened and diminished child population.

In order that every person in the United States shall have the further privilege of renewing his or her membership in the Red Cross, as well as getting new members to rally to this standard of mercy, a campaign or roll call for members has been announced for the above dates.

Hospital Plans Drive For $75,000

The Peninsula General Hospital, of Salisbury, plans a drive in the near future for the purpose of raising $75,000 to bring the present plant up to its maximum efficiency and to provide for additional buildings and equipment.

This is the first time that the hospital has considered making an appeal to the people generally, but as the above amount is needed to provide a new operating room, a laboratory, a department for venereal diseases and additional quarters to take care of maternity cases the directors believe the people will show their appreciation of what the hospital is doing and will respond liberally.

None of the officials nor directors have received one cent for their services, and the physicians connected with the institution have done thousands of dollars worth of work free of charge. Hence they feel that they can freely go before the public with their worthy cause. It is understood that the drive will be started within a few weeks.

Ruling On Passenger Tax

For the benefit of boat owners and operators in this county, Congressman William N. Andrews has obtained from Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, a ruling which is of material importance to boatmen, upon whom a federal tax is levied.

Under this ruling Mr. Roper holds that men who use their boats exclusively for trade purposes may also use their boats for the carrying of members of their families to church on Sundays or on pleasure trips during the week without being subject to the $10 tax now being imposed on all passenger carrying boats.

Congressman Andrews is anxious to get this information into the hands of the boatmen of this county so that they may protect themselves against the $10 passenger tax which is now due.

U. S. S. McCook Still In Baltimore

The U. S. S. McCook, which has been open to visitors at the Recreation Pier, foot of Broadway, Baltimore, Md., is to remain in Baltimore this week. This will give further opportunity for visitors to see this, the latest type destroyer of the United States Navy. Many visitors have already visited the McCook and have expressed their great surprise and wonder at the ship. The McCook is there on recruiting duty and has been making splendid progress. More men are still needed on the McCook and especially rated men that have previously served in the Navy.

IMPORTANT FACTORS IN LOCATING WELLS

Carefully Avoid Close Proximity to Source of Pollution.

Water Carrying Germs of Infection Is Cause of Typhoid Fever, Tuberculosis and Other Ailments—
Some Safeguards.

(Prepared by the United States Depart-

Convenience and first cost—not sanitary safety—have been the deciding factors in locating thousands of farm wells. On the average three out of four wells are within 75 feet of the back door of the house and in the direction of the barn.

Close proximity to barnyards, pigpens, sink drains, out buildings, and other sources of pollution seriously impairs the water supply, makes it unsafe and destructive to health. Typhoid fever, tuberculosis, hookworm disease, cholera, dysentery, and diarrhea are among the ailments caused or influenced by contaminated water, and maladies such as hog cholera, anthrax and foot-and-mouth disease of live stock have been traced to water which carries the germs of infection.

Wells cannot be located in all cases so that there may not be some pollution, but the great safeguards are clean ground and as wide separation as possible from the probable channels of any impure drainage. It is not enough that a well or spring be 50, 100 or 150 feet from a source of filth or merely upon higher ground, although even moderate remoteness and elevation of the source of supply are desirable. Given porous or gravelly ground, seamy ledge, or long-continued pollution of one plat of land, the zone of contamination is likely to extend long distances, particularly in downhill directions, and at such times as water supplies are lowered by drought or heavy pumping. Only when the surface of the water in a well or spring is actually at a higher level at all times than any near-by source of filth is there positive assurance of safety.

GRIT OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Takes Place of Teeth in Preparing Feed for Further Digestion
—Keep It Handy.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Grit is essential to the health of fowls and to economy in feeding. Grit takes the place of teeth in preparing the feed for further digestion and is required for the proper preparation of feed in the gizzard. When the feed is not properly taken care of in this organ an undue strain is thrown on the fowl's system, often resulting in disease, and also allowing much of the nutriment to pass through the bird's body without being absorbed. In every pen or yard a box of grit should be kept. Recent investigators have asserted that grit is a part of the necessary feed, giving the fowls strong bones and a bright plumage.

EXHIBIT OF SMOKED MEATS

Methods of Curing Meats in Different Ways to Be Explained at Iowa Swine Show.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The national swine show for 1916 will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, September 29 to October 4. This annual event is without doubt the most important one connected with the swine industry. At the 1918 show held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the United States department of agriculture made an exhibit of smoked meats. It is the intention of the department this year to make a much larger exhibit than it did in 1918. In addition to the showing of smoked meats, the methods of curing meats in different ways will be explained. The home curing of pork is one being studied by many farmers who have heretofore been in the habit of purchasing their meats from the local dealer.

FEEDING ENSILAGE TO COWS

Animals Not Only Pay for Feed in Summer, but Will Be in Good Condition for Winter.

Do not wait too long when flies are bad and the weather is warm to open your silo and begin feeding ensilage to your cows. They will not only pay for their feed in the summer, but will be in much better condition in the winter months, to do better work. Do not fail to have some sort of shade in the pastures if you wish your cows to do well in the hot summer months. A cow that has to fight flies in the sun all day will not give large returns in the fall or winter.

About the Carat.

The "carat," the unit of weight peculiar to jewelry, was introduced from India. Man sought to record the weight of small objects by using tiny seeds. The barley grain was used in Europe. In the East the seeds of a vetch were in use, and it is from the Greek word for vetch (keration) that the now familiar term "carat" is derived.

Best Fruits of Romance.

A speaker was taken aback during a Sunday school session. He had been commenting on the blessings of matrimony, and just to see whether or not the class was really paying attention, asked one girl what she considered to be the best fruits of romance. The girl pondered a moment and then answered: "I should say the wedding date and the bridal pair."

The Hour-Glass.

Instead of being obsolete the hour-glass in various forms is a present-day necessity. An authority points out that for such purposes as trimming, hardening and tempering heats in twist drill manufacture, where seconds or minutes must be gauged accurately, nothing serves like the hour-glass with the right amount of sand.

On Discarding the Old.

The great discard the old because it has been found insufficient or false, the small because it is old. While the former is influenced by reason, the latter is by disgust. Genius wants to do more than its predecessor; he who apes genius, merely something different—Lessing.

Strange Animals.

At the foot of Mount Kowang, in North Manchuria, there live strange animals called "faru-nanban-kau." They are larger than ordinary apes and dig spacious caverns on the rocky sides of the hills. During the spring and summer they store up sufficient food for the winter.

Secret Service Work.

"Secret Service" in its narrow sense is the name applied to that bureau in the treasury department the duties of which as defined by law are to detect counterfeiting and to protect the president. The term "secret service" in its broader sense includes all of those agencies which detect violations of federal laws and which keep the government informed as to international relationships. Military Intelligence is the chief secret service agency in the broader sense and it co-ordinates and uses all the lesser detective agencies of the government.

Age of Cedars of Lebanon.

Several efforts to calculate the age of the famous cedars of Lebanon now standing have been made by counting the rings in the heart wood of those that have fallen. These estimates, according to Prof. A. Henry of the Royal College of Sciences for Ireland, in an article in Country Life, vary from 2,230 years to 2,500 years, although it may be that they are of slower growth than the specimens tested in other countries. The largest of the cedars is 13 feet in diameter.

DELCO-LIGHT was designed and built by men who were raised in farm homes—who experienced the discomforts and inconveniences of farm life—and who set out deliberately years ago to develop an electric plant that would provide city advantages for rural communities.

They were the same men whose engineering talent had made DELCO Starting, Lighting and Ignition Equipment for automobiles the standard of the world—

They knew electricity—and they knew the needs and limitations of farm life—

They knew that an electric plant to give service in a farm home must be simple, so that it would not get out of order and require complicated repairs—

It must be easily operated and require little attention—

It must be very economical in operation—

It must be built to stand hard usage and it must last indefinitely—

It required five years to develop a plant that would measure up to these specifications.

There were five years of hard engineering effort back of DELCO-LIGHT before the first plant was put on the market three and a half years ago.

Today DELCO-LIGHT is furnishing the conveniences and comforts of electricity to more than Seventy-five Thousand farm homes.

It is providing an abundance of clean, bright, economical electric light for these homes. It is furnishing power to pump water, operate washing machine, churn, separator, vacuum cleaner, electric iron, milking machine, and other small machinery.

And everywhere it is demonstrating its wonderful efficiency—and actually paying for itself in time and labor saved.

FREE HERD OF TUBERCULOSIS

Estimated by Department of Agriculture That Disease Causes Annual Loss of $25,000,000.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The 165 veterinarians of the United States department of agriculture who are in the field doing tuberculosis eradication work, together with an equal number of state men, have tested approximately 500 purebred herds and found them free from the disease. The owners of these herds have been given an official certificate, stating that they have tuberculosis-free accredited herds. The veterinarians also have given one test to 2,000 herds in preparation for the accredited list. The owners of all these herds, together with the breeds and number in each herd, will be listed in a publication soon to be issued by the department. Figures show that since July 1, 1915, 800 accredited herds and 1,000 herds that have passed one test have been added to the list. The veterinarians now have under supervision 1,200 herds of purebred cattle and 600 herds of grades which have shown by previous tests that one or more animals have tuberculosis. The publication lists 1,100 owners of grade cattle which have successfully passed the requirements for tuberculosis-free accredited herds. It is estimated that this disease causes an annual loss of $25,000,000.

SUITABLE SPRAY FOR FLIES

Mixture Suggested by Iowa State College Will Keep off Pestiferous Little Insects.

The Iowa State College experiment station suggests the following mixture as being suitable for spraying dairy cows for flies:

Four and one-half quarts of coal tar dip, four and one-half quarts of fish oil, three quarts of coal oil, three quarts of whale oil, one and one-half quarts of oil of tar. Dissolve three pounds of laundry soap in water, add the ingredients of the spray, and bring the whole up to thirty gallons with lukewarm soft water.

This spray will keep off the flies and prevent the coats of the animals from becoming harsh. The cows should be sprayed twice a day—in the morning after milking and in the afternoon when in the barn for silage or green feed. With a portable cart, made from a half-barrel by attaching wheels and a spray pump and nozzle, two men can spray forty cows in five minutes.

MUST REPAY GENEROUS FEED

Cow Is Living Machine, Taking Raw Materials and Working Them Over Into Milk.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cow must be regarded as a sort of living machine. She takes the raw material given her in the form of food and works them over into milk. If the supply of proper materials is small, the output will be small. The cow that will not repay generous feeding should be disposed of and one bought that will. There are, of course, certain inherited characteristics or natural qualities which even liberal feeding cannot overcome.

DAIRY NOTES

There's something to sell every day.

Good silage will cut the feed bill one-half.

The cow with a good appetite is a better producer than the finicky one.

Cows fed well before being turned on heavy green forage will not be likely to bloat.

Sometimes one can fool a slow milker into "giving down" by feeding her at milking time.

Cows will require attention in the summer when the days are warm and flies are troublesome.

Often old cows are offered for sale at low prices but they are seldom a good investment for the dairyman.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 300 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is included in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, in sealed packages.

"Mother Shipton" Hoax.

Mother Shipton was reputed an English prophetess of the time of Henry VIII. She was first heard from in 1641, when "The Prophecy of Mother Shipton" was published anonymously in London. In 1862 Charles Hindley reprinted a life of Mother Shipton, originally published by Richard Heady (London, 1864). He added some doggerel of his own and wound up with the prophecy that the world would come to an end in 1881. In 1873 Mr. Hindley acknowledged that the verses were a hoax.

Silly Old Superstitions.

In the highlands of Scotland it is taken as a terribly unlucky sign if a dog should run between the bridal pair on their wedding day, and brides still tell the bees of their wedding and decorate the hives for the occasion, says the Philadelphia North American. In parts of England and Scotland there exists an ancient custom for which no one seems to know the reason, by which part of the wedding cake is broken over the head of the bride and the guests all scramble for a piece.

Permanent Colors.

Ancient Egyptians had a marvelous knowledge of colors, and they understood fully what colors would last. In the Egyptian papyrus the ground colors are as good as ever they were. The Egyptians worked their outlines in lampblack, used clay for their whites, ferruginous earths for their reds, ochres for their yellows, and for green they used perhaps green jasper or mixed blue carbonate or copper with ochre. All these colors are permanent.

Roughing It.

Robert and his father were stranded one night out in a country district. Their car had broken down and they were obliged to stay all night in a humble little home. Everything was strange to Robert, who was strictly a city child. When he returned home I heard him tell his little neighbor friend: "Say, it was great! We slept on a feather bed and washed in their dishpan on the back porch."

Cultivate the Memory.

Back of the idea of cultivating a memory is the keener edge it puts on the brain generally, which is the making of the more attractive person. Is there anything duller than a woman who is just too lazy minded to try to remember names and places and has to refer constantly to a third person for aid in telling an incident?—Exchange.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. [Advertisement.]

COMMENTARY ON WHITE RULE

Indians Have Flourished Only Where the White Man Did Not Want Their Lands.

In only two parts of all America are the Indians as numerous today as when the white men came—in Canada, north of the Saskatchewan, where the population is actually increasing; south of the Rio Grande, in Yaqui land, where whip and sword and rifle have failed to conquer what should have been pacified. In northern Canada the fur-hunting Indians have prospered in peace for two reasons. The white men did not take their lands. They did not want them. The land of the Far North was only good for furs; and so the second reason, or from purely selfish motive to increase the output of furs, the Indians have been treated with absolute justice if with absolute despotism. The safety of the lone trader's life depended on absolute justice; and, oddly enough, the only Mexican who has ever succeeded in controlling the Yaquis has controlled them in the same way, by leaving to them their lands and by absolute, if at times despotic, justice.—Detroit Free-Press.

Another Use for Bunny.

That Belgian hares have other resourceful veins than meat producing remained to be established by an amateur English woman fancier. The climax of her undertaking was when she appeared at a large pet stock show in England with a jaunty, becoming hat, a coat, and a set of furs made from rabbit skins, which she admitted publicly were nothing more than some of her pet rabbits.

In England, 83,000 rabbit skins a year are being made over into ermine, Arctic fox and black lynx furs to fool milady. Before the war such rabbits were produced by scores of millions in Europe, and vast quantities of the skins imported to the United States to masquerade as real fur. American breeders are raising the same kind of rabbits that produce the best money for the fur shops, and it is certain that as valuable rabbit fur can be produced in America as elsewhere. It is a business that can be conducted every month in the year, and a hobby that will pay its way is one to be valued.—Hunter-Trapper, Trapper.

MODEST AVOWAL.

"Is this the office of the Toadville Clarion?" "Yes, sir," answered the rubicund old gentleman who was lounging in the doorway with a corn-cob pipe stuck in his mouth.

"And is it the leading paper here?" "Sir," replied the old gentleman, with an impressive air, "I feel that it is a duty I owe myself and my family to tell of Toadville. Furthermore—ahem—there is no other paper here."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No Sense of Humor.

"Mrs. Jagsby." "Well, Mr. Jagsby?" "When I came home last night—er—we'll say at a late hour, did I retire in good order?" "In fairly good order, Mr. Jagsby, but I once saw a comedian on the stage try to catch his bed as it came round to him and I did not think his performance at all funny."

UGLY CHARGE.

"I understand Mrs. Twobble and Mrs. Gadsbur have had a falling out."

"Alas, yes." "Is it serious?" "I fear so. Mrs. Twobble makes the charge that when Mrs. Gadsbur borrowed a quarter of a pound of butter she returned an inferior brand."

The Spendthrift.

You have to reap as you have sowed, And should you go the pace, You'll surely find the same old road Leads to the same old place.

Unfeeling Father.

"Have the Blitherbys named their new twins yet?"

"Yes, but they were not given the names applied to them by Mr. Blitherby when they first arrived."

"What did he call the precious pair?"

"'Trouble' and 'More of It.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Receptacle for Hairpins.

Mrs. Styles—This paper says that in front of a large London building there was recently found a pigeon's nest made of hairpins. Where do you suppose the pigeons found the hairpins?

Mr. Styles—Oh, I suppose a lot of women in the vicinity couldn't keep their mouths shut.

Caustic Words.

"Is the jury still out?" "Yes," said the sarcastic lawyer for the defense. "And I'm not surprised."

"No?" "When I looked in the faces of those jurors I could see there was 'nobody home.'"

SETTING THINGS RIGHT.

"I am told that you referred to me as an ogre."

"The idea!"

"Don't try to evade the issue, madam. Did you or did you not call me an ogre?"

"Certainly not. I wouldn't be so unkind. I merely said your face threw my little Christopher into convulsions."

Away With Him.

I do not care For Jasper Whizz. He always tells How great he is.

Mistaken.

Maud—Your friend, Miss Blank, going to be married? Why, I had the impression that she was a woman in her declining years.

Ethel—Oh, dear no, she's in her accepting ones.

The Modern Psyche.

Cupid (breathlessly)—Quick. Another quiver of arrows, wife! Psyche (bursting into tears)—You made me what I am today—a mere munitions worker!

Keeps His Promises.

"Wiggins is a chap who will promise anything."

"But does he keep his promises?" "He must; nobody sees or hears anything of them afterward."

Indian Gamblers.
Although the natives of India do not operate on the stock market, they have adopted a unique form of gambling for which the cotton market reports are responsible. Every day five quotations are cabled from New York announcing the cotton situation. The natives looked upon this as a direct invitation to them to establish a simple but none the less absorbing form of gambling. The gambling consists simply in guessing what the five figures will amount to, and the man getting nearest to the right amount takes the stakes.

Nineveh's Pathetic Ruins.
Past Mosul the river Tigris rolls its ancient, almost legendary, waters and opposite on the left bank, the dream of antiquity continues undisturbed. There in the blazing sun or in the shimmering Persian moonlight, lie the ruins of Nineveh, the last and greatest capital of the Assyrian empire. The wall of the disappeared city still stands to a height of 50 feet and is 12 miles in circumference. Close by the bank of the river are the still imposing remains of two citadels.

Economy in Telephone Use.
A Brazilian newspaper has been for some time enjoying the privilege of using one telephone line for three simultaneous conversations. With three telephone sets at each end of the line, one pair of users talks English, one pair French, and one pair Portuguese. The listeners seem to find no difficulty in selecting the sounds intelligible to them and ignoring the others. The newspaper people express great satisfaction with the result, especially as they pay for only one line.

A Characterization.
She was a woman of experience at least if not of wisdom, with strong passions, but with a not ungenerous heart; outspoken from the knowledge of her "great possessions," perhaps as much as from a natural frankness; a warm friend and not a very bitter enemy; and at the bottom of it all with a certain simplicity of character, of which her love of flowers was an example.—James Payne.

Too Good for Daily Use.
We must have a weak spot or two in a character before we can love it much. People that do not laugh or cry, or take more of anything than is good for them, or use anything but dictionary words, are admirable subjects for biographies. But we don't care most for those flat-pattern flowers that press best in the herbarium.—O. W. Holmes.

"Henry" and "Harry."
While I know one Harry who was so christened with disregard for the more dignified Henry and there may be other instances of the kind, there seems to be little doubt that the latter is the parent of the former name. England has always called its King Henrys "Harry." During the reign of Henry VI, who succeeded to the throne in 1422, there was a piece of money coined called the Harry noble, and in the time of Henry VIII there was a tiny coin named the Harry groat. "In Jerusalem shall Harry die," said Henry IV.—Chicago Daily News.

When Glass Is Scratched.
To remove slight scratches from plate glass, first clean the surface by gently rubbing with a pad of cotton-wool; then cover the pad with cotton velvet, rubbed with fine rouge. This will not only remove the scratches, but will also impart great brilliancy to the glass.

Cork Inventor's Name.
The so-called cork legs do not owe their name to their composition, but to the fact that their inventor was a Dr. Cork.

Polyglot Switzerland.
French, Italian and German are the chief languages spoken in Switzerland, each predominating in sections bordering the respective countries.

TIME TO ACT
Don't Wait For The Fatal Stages Of Kidney Illness. Profit By Princess Anne People's Experience

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Princess Anne proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

W. T. Gibbons, farmer, Route 4, Princess Anne, says: "I was troubled with backache and mornings I felt tired out on account of losing a lot of sleep. When I got up after sitting, pains shot through me like a knife-thrust. My kidneys were acting too frequently, making me get up at night. The kidney secretions were highly colored and I was in a bad way in general. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at O. A. Jones' Drug Store, and after using two boxes, I was rid of kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Gibbons had. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Method of Faking Violins.
A claim which has been made for X-rays is that by exposing to their light a good modern violin it will acquire the characteristic tone of a genuine Strad, the action of the rays in a few hours aging the wood by some 60 years.

New Zealand Lumber Vanishing.
At the present rate of increase in the consumption of native lumber in New Zealand it is estimated that the supply of standing timber will last not more than 30 years.

Motor Plow for Rinks.
A plow drawn by a motorcycle has been invented to keep the ice on skating rinks smooth.

Head Work.
Two heads are certainly better than one for a barrel.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Daily Thought.
Philosophy is nothing but discretion.—John Reiden.

Sunday School Workers To Meet
Roland Park, Baltimore, will be the center of Maryland Sunday School work from Tuesday to Thursday, October 21st to 23rd, when the Maryland Sunday School Association meets there in annual convention. Delegates are expected from every county. Among the speakers will be Canon W. L. DeVries, Ph. D., and Bishop W. F. McDowell, of Washington; Frank L. Brown, of New York; Mrs. Phebe L. Curtiss, primary specialist, of Columbus, Ohio; W. A. Snow, general secretary of the West Virginia association; W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, and Prof. H. A. Smith, of Boston.

Just What She Needed
"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets some time ago and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillicothe, Mo. "They not only relieved me of indigestion but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."

"The Reason Why—"

I bank here," said one of our commercial patrons, "is because I can always depend upon getting individualized service.

Service that will meet my particular need—Service which will take care of the particular situation involved—in an intelligent, practical and helpful manner."

The same thought has been expressed by many other progressive business men who bank through this Institution.

Keep Your Head

Nobody is quite happy under the present world circumstances.

We are just out of a great war, a great orgy of waste and destruction. It is notably a time "for keeping your head when all about you are losing theirs" and perhaps "blaming it on you."

There are still ways to economize and avoid waste. Have we forgotten the lessons of thrift we learned in wartime?
