Lilies Should Be Everywhere.
No country lane or road today is complete in the northern states unless it shows touches of lilac. A few hedges occur here and there, but while otherwise adaptable, the lilac does not admit easily of such training.
Longfellow's "Cottage House" is still surrounded by lilacs planted years ago, and the purple bloom makes it a rare retreat.

Judged Him by His Hair.
At the beginning of the second semester of school, a boy entered the first grade wearing curls. That noon at table my young hopeful in a tone registering disgust said: "That new boy is sure some stinky." Upon my asking him how he knew, he replied:
"I know because his hair says so."

tained to rush to the aid of miners who may be injured or trapped in luncheon served on the portico of the senate wing of the capitol.

The House voted 77 to 38 to add

NATION'S BUSINESS

The Union Pacific Railroad acquired full ownership of the Los Angeles Salt Lake Railroad Company from former United States Senator William
A. Clark, of Montana and his asso-

Standards in government are being vigorously put into effect to clean

A powerful "funeral trust," reaping
a toll of millions of dollars from unfor-

NEW PLANS FOR STATE GOVERNMENT

Survey Report Call for Eleven Major Departments

AUDIT INDEPENDENT

Eleven Departments Proposed—Office
Of Motor Vehicle Commissioner
Would Come Under Commerce Department

Regrouping of the 85 state boards, commissions and departments into 11
major departments, with an independent office of audit and control, is recommended in a report submitted by the Chicago firm which Governor Ritchie retained to make a survey of the state's governmental organization.

This is the report which will come in for analysis and criticism by the committee of 11 Democrats which the Governor has just appointed.

The administrative structure recommended by the report provides for the following major divisions:

1. Executive Department
2. Department of Finance
3. Department of Law
4. Department of Military
5. Department of Welfare
6. Department of Health
7. Department of Education
8. Department of Public Works
9. Department of Commerce
10. Department of Labor
11. Department of Agriculture and Forestry

In addition, the scheme includes the establishment of the independent "office of audit and control" to be known as "office of the State Comptroller."

At the head of the department would be a "director" elected by the Governor and responsible to the legislature. The 11 "directors" would comprise the Governor's cabinet.

"They would be fully responsible to him," says the report, "in the execution of the duties of their respective departments."

The report also recommends that the department of public works be separated from the department of commerce and made an independent division of the state government.

Commissioners would be appointed in New York, a Road Commissioner would be created, to head the Department of Roads in the Department of Public Works. The report suggests, however, that for the present that the Director of Public Works might also head the Bureau of Roads.

Similarly, the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, one of the largest of the State Departments under the present dispensation would lose its independent identity and would become the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of the Department of Commerce. The head of this Bureau would be the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

Two commissions—the Public Service Commission and the State Board of Motor Vehicle Censors—it is proposed to retain "because of the quality of functions exercised by these agencies. The chairman of these two commissions, however, shall be designated as the chiefs of their respective bureaus and shall be made responsible to the director of the department for the effective operation of the administrative and office details of their respective bureaus."

If, however, the proposed reorganization would seem to impair the authority to say nothing of the dignity of certain important State officials by making them bureau chiefs, subordinate to department heads, the plan would afford them the compensating benefit of security in office for the heads of the various bureaus should be placed in the classified service of the State, and they should be removed only for cause as provided in the Merit System Law. They would be the permanent expert executives heads as distinguished from the transitoryly transient policy-making appointees of the chief executive of the State.

Further, any possible loss of prestige
due to the transition from chairman of a commission to a commissioner, who is merely chief of a subordinate bureau, would be offset by a prospective increase in salary. The report recommends that trained and competent executives (such as the bureau chiefs would be) must be well paid. On this head the dictum of the report is as follows:

"Commissioners at the head of the various bureaus should be full-time officials and adequately paid. The State must compete to some extent with private business by paying adequate salaries if it is to interest competent and experienced business executives in the public service. Their appointment must naturally be safe-guaranteed by qualification requirements of a high order."

The primary purpose of the administrative machinery recommended by the report seems the coordination of effort and the centralization of authority and responsibility. The arrangement is to be attained by setting up the major departments with their respective bureaus. If the report is adopted, the report:

"The major department is to be made up of one or more bureaus and an administrative office. This latter

Senator King, Democrat, Utah, told the senate he had been informed that the electric drive system adopted for American warships had failed badly in the case of the superdreadnought Tennessee, which, it is announced, is to join the Pacific fleet.

Amendment for the creation of a Special organization in aeronautics

Senator Johnson wants facts leading to mine dispute.

Administration leaders, both in and out of Congress, are greatly disturbed over the refusal of the senate to approve the development of the Ala-mada navy supply base on San Francisco Bay, which is one of the essential steps in the new scheme to concentrate a large part of the battleship fleet in the Pacific.

The economy drive against the $450-000,000 naval appropriation bill was shattered in the senate, when many increases recommended by the naval committee were adopted.

Nomination of Richard D. Webb as U. S. ambassador to Italy was favorably reported.

The senate privileges and elections committee decided unanimously to press its investigation into the charges of Henry Ford that Senator Lawrence of Michigan had obtained the election in 1918 by improper methods.

A vote 46 to 23, the senate adopted a committee amendment, opposed vigorously by the economy forces, providing for a navy personnel of 120,000 men, as against 100,000 recommended by the house.

"PANTS" PROVED HIM HONEST
Their Frayed Condition Convinced
Tailor That Man Who Wore Them Must Be Straight.

It pays to advertise one's poverty.
A certain statesman thinks.

A tailor in the last campaign was quite convinced in his own mind that the statesman was a most unhappy and absolutely unfit man for public position, as a result of the campaign conducted against him.

About ten days before the election
one of the bell boys of a Washington club brought to this particular tailor
—by mere chance—a pair of trousers belonging to the statesman, to be pressed. It was a hurry-up job, being the only pair that the statesman had at the time. The tailor started pressing them and to his amazement discovered that the trousers were badly frayed at the edges and worn and showed other evidence that the owner was apparently not spending his money for elegance in clothes, whereupon he announced he was sorry.

"I am with him from this day forward," he said. "Any statesman who is forced to wear clothes for so long a time as these have been worn is surely a square and upright man and I am for him to the limit."

Goldfish in Ohio River.
Many tons of goldfish were caught in the fishing grounds of the Fortage river at Port Clinton, O., recently. According to some of the fishermen, the first scattering of the fish was found in 1913 after the big floods of Ohio and the lake regions, and it was thought at that time that the fish may have been liberated from some of the pet and resort aquariums by the overflowing of the flooded artificial pools.

The fish are not of the glass bowl variety, but seem to be more of a carp species, and will measure several inches and weigh as much as a half-pound each. They are placed in cars and brought here to be loaded into express cars and shipped in tanks, alive, to the New York markets, where they are sold to the retail and wholesale trade.

Wanted the "Prescription."
One day when Lawrence was eating dinner at a friend's home the topic seemed to make a particular hit with him. After expressing the desire that his mother might learn how to make this kind of soup, he said: "Mrs. P.
won't you please give me the prescription for this soup?"

Wool-to-Blanket Cam-

The popularity with which the
wool-to-blanket campaign was received by the farmers and the people of Worcester County last season
has been the means of bringing numerous inquiries to the County Agent's office during the past few weeks regarding the disposal of this spring's clip of wool.

Arrangements have been made
with the Extension Department, as well as with the woolen mills, to continue this campaign for another
season, whereby the farmers of Worcester County, who have no
ready sale for their wool, will be able to pool and ship it in large quantities to the woolen mills for manufacture into blankets and automobile robes.

This campaign will be conducted
in about the same manner as the previous one. Any farmers interested in disposing of their wool in this way will please notify the County Agent, so that arrangements
can be made to pool the wool at an early date. It is advantageous to do this as soon as possible, so that
the blankets may be manufactured
before the rush season comes on at the factory.

Daily Weather Report.

A weather forecast is being received daily at the County Agent's
office by telegram from the U. S.
Weather Bureau. These reports are kept on file and are at the service of the people of the county.

Any one desiring the weather
forecast for the day can receive the same by telephoning or calling personally at the County Agent's office.
This information is free, and no
doubt can be used by many farmers to a splendid advantage.

The Home of the Soul.

In olden times it was believed that
the seat of the soul was the stomach,
most likely for the reason that a man
is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles,
there is nothing quite so prompt and
satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets.
They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost
a quarter.—Adv.

Telephone Directory Out.

The Chesapeake and Potomac
Telephone Company has completed the distribution of the spring issue of its directory in Wicomico, Somerset, Worcester and Dorchester Counties, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. 5,500 books comprise this issue.

Each directory contains a list of the subscribers on thirteen exchanges located in the above counties. For general information, consult pages 1 and 2. On pages 2, 3 and 4 you will note the company's regulations for calls to local and long-distance points, also a partial list
of rates to points which may be called through the Long Distance
operator. For rates to points not mentioned, ask for Long Distance.

H. W. Carly, manager of the company, reports that a substantial
increase in new subscribers has been added to the system in this district since the last issue of the directory. He calls attention to the advisability of consulting the new issue before making familiar
calls.

The Telephone Company further
urges the necessity of calling by number. The limits of memory
and any change in the operating
force make it impossible to render prompt service if connections are asked for by name.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic
rheumatism, neither of which requires
any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest
possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.—Adv.

For Tomato Seed.

The United States Department of Agriculture announces the perfection of a simple process by which
the tomato seed from the factories
where catsup, pulp, soup paste
and sauce are made may be separated from the skins and cores and
made into fixed oil and press cake
or meal, equally as valuable for feeding cattle, hogs and chickens as other seed meals already in use.

As one bushel in every 200 of to-matos is seed, there will be a considerable saving in this process, yet hardly enough to justify the installation of the machinery for making the oil and meal at each factory, so
the seeds would probably be shipped
to some central point where a plant
would be organized to utilize the
waste seed from several factories.

The value of this feed has already been demonstrated in Italy.

REDEMPTION OF PLEDGES EN-COURAGING—SOUTHWIDE PRO-

COMPLETE GREATEST YEAR

Reports to Southern Baptist Convention at Chattanooga Show Marked Progress Along Every Line
of Organized Work.

DR. J. H. RUSHBROOKE

Baptist Commissioner For Europe.

Collections in cash totaling $25,103,
424.64 have been made for general
causes fostered by the Baptist 75 Million Campaign since the campaign
was launched in 1919, according to a report to the Southern Baptist Convention, which has just adjourned at Chattanooga, Tenn., by Dr. J. H.
Rushbrooke, general director of the campaign, and chairman of the Conservation Commission. The fact that $12,024,943.60 of this amount was collected during the past year, under the most depressing conditions known in
years, is very encouraging to the denomination leaders, they say.

Will Seek the Unsaved.

Feeling the need of conserving the
spiritual interests of the people as well as the financial aspects of the campaign, the convention asked the Conservation Commission to seek to enlist, through the state and associational organizations, all the 27,000 local Baptist churches in the South in a larger evangelistic effort during the next twelve months, the aim being to induce as many individual members of the churches as possible to win at least one soul to Christ during the year.

Would Evangelize Europe.

One of the interesting actions of the convention was the decision to back up fully the Foreign Mission Board in its program for the evangelization of the new European territory of Spain,
Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, Roumania, the
Ukraine and Southern Russia. Dr. J.
H. Rushbrooke, of London, Baptist
Commissioner for Europe, addressed
the convention, telling how he had distributed the relief funds contributed by Baptists for the needy families of those countries and how the giving of this relief had opened wide the door
of missionary opportunity.

Work on the older foreign fields
during the past year was unusually
successful, the board reporting receipts of $2,404,988 for its missionary
operations and $278,000 for relief
work, as well as $100,000 worth of clothing; 6,995 baptisms on the foreign fields; 157 of the 611 churches
self-supporting, with a total of 405
foreign missionaries and 378 active workers employed.

Home Mission Board Active.

The Home Mission Board reported
77,072 additions to the churches
through its instrumentalities, church extension operations of $1,248,000, and 298 patients treated at the Tubercular
Sanatorium at El Paso.

During the year the receipts of the Sunday School Board reached $1,147, 721.72, and the board turned back into general work of the denomination the sum of $189,000.

Although only three years of age,
the Relief and Amity Board, which seeks to supply the needs of aged,
dependent ministers and their families,
has enabled the number of beneficiaries receiving aid from the denomination as well as the amount of relief
funds. It now has permanent resources in excess of $200,000.

There are 119 Baptist educational institutions in the South, with a total enrollment of 40,000 pupils, the report of the Education Board showed, and 2,185 of these pupils are preparing for special Christian service, such as the ministry, missionary and other special religious work.

The Woman's Missionary Union,
representing the organized women of the South, reports a total of 19,485 organized societies of women and women
people, while the cash contributions
by the women to the various causes
fostered by the denomination during

OCEAN CITY.

May 27th was a Red Letter Day
in Ocean City history, in celebrating its first Commencement Day.
The assembly room was beautifully
decorated with the class colors,
the national colors, and in a profusion of flowers. The stage showed the artistic work of Captain Harry Farker, with the motto of the class of '21, "Rowing not Drifting," in large, gold letters. Dr. Burk, who has made the High School a possibility, presided, and introduced the speakers. In his opening address
he gave a brief and encouraging history of the High School and its work and workers. Rev. William McGuire offered the prayer and Maude B. Cropper sang a solo.

Then followed the dictatory, by Anna M. Richardson; the Prophecy,
by Maude B. Cropper; Class History, by Mildred E. Hudson; the Class Poem, by Hilda R. Rounds;
the Public School System, by Kathryn L. Taylor; the Class Will, by Harold P. Dinmore, and Essay
and Oration by Calvin B. Quillin
and John B. Lynch, all of which were greatly enjoyed by the large audience. Patriotic songs were given between the literary numbers.

Rev. William McGuire and Mrs.
Elizabeth Thomas sang a duet and
Rev. Wilbur M. Smith pronounced
the benediction at the close.

The address to the graduating class
was delivered by Dr. Gould, President of Washington College, and was an earnest and forceful appeal for honesty and preparation for the coming years. Dr. Gould and Professor Dennis delivered the diplomas to the nine graduates—Kathryn L.
Taylor, Maude B. Cropper, Anna
M. Richardson, Mildred E. Hudson, Hilda R. Rounds, Harold P.
Dinmore, John B. Lynch, Edward
L. Thomas and Calvin B. Quillin—
and certificates to those finishing
the grammar school course.

It was a notable occasion, and the parents and patrons of the school,
and the citizens generally are gratified and justly proud of the first fruits of the long-desired High

Lightnin' Bill Jones' Clothes For Near East, Jackie Coogan Helping

Stage stars are "bundling up their bundles." When Near East Relief issued its appeal for discarded clothing to distribute among the destitute in Western Asia John Drew, chairman of the Near East Relief National Theatrical Committee, at once got busy, and as a result it is expected that at least 1,000,000 pounds of clothing will be given by the people of the stage and screen world alone.

"Certainly," said Bill Jones, whose name of the stage is Frank Bacon, "certainly I want to do something for those poor folk out in the Near East. I've got a lot of extra clothes at the house, and you can bet I'll bundle up a bundle of old clothes—good some new ones, too—and send them parcel post to Near East Relief."

Then Mr. Bacon, whose play, "Lightnin' Bill Jones," has run over 2,000 times in a single theater in New York city, took down from the hook in his dressing room the old familiar suit he wears in the character of Bill Jones. "I might even send them this," said the star. As a result of this suggestion the "Bill Jones" suit will be auctioned off at a big affair in New York and the proceeds used to purchase clothing for the sufferers in Western Asia.

Little Jackie Coogan, who burst into fame as "The Kid" in the latest Charlie Chaplin film, saw a photograph of a little Armenian orphan boy and very promptly said that he'd like to send some clothes over there to those "poor kiddies."

"I've got a lot of clothes, and I can only wear one suit at a time," said Jackie. Jackie's bundle, which has already been received by Near East Relief, at 1 Madison avenue, New York city, was bigger than Jackie himself.

Elizabeth General J. Leslie Kincaid, state chairman of Near East Relief, is hoping that the people generally all around the state will follow the example of these stars of screen and stage and at once make up a bundle of their spare clothes to send to the Near East.

NEW COMMANDER

Assigned to Baltimore in Charge Of
The Chesapeake Division of The Salvation Army.

Major Henry Davey Bale, new divisional commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, who has recently come from Minneapolis, has had an extensive career in Salvation Army work, which really dates back to his birth as his parents were both Salvation Army officers.

He began his commissioned service in England, where he served eight appointments. Afterwards received and served nine appointments in Canada covering a period of eighteen years.

Since being transferred to the United States, Major Bale served in Chicago prior to being stationed in Minneapolis, where he made an enviable record in bringing his territory into considerable prominence. Commendations were showered upon him and promotion to command of the Chesapeake Division with headquarters in Baltimore followed. Major Bale hopes to make the Chesapeake Division the banner division of the East and since his arrival all the evangelistic work has received a decided impetus.

"SEEING THE TOWN"

Just at dusk two country boys, hatless, coatless and shoeless, staggered into the Salvation Army headquarters in Baltimore, begging for money.

One was past talking, the other claimed they had run away from home to see the town, and that they had been robbed of their money and clothes on the boat that brought them from their home on the Eastern Shore. Bad whiskey and worse company had reduced these lads of 16 and 20 to a pitiable condition.

The Salvation Army officer took them in, got them into bed and a day or so later, when sobered up and repentant they worked at several jobs to pay for their keeps and were then persuaded to return to their homes again, and not risk an appearance in court for drunkenness and vagrancy while "seeing the town."

ARE THE JAPANESE REALLY EFFICIENT?

Not If You Judge Them By Their Telephones, Says
Julian Street

Although the Western World has begun to take for granted that the Japanese have reached an enviable position in the world because of an alleged efficiency in all matters, a close inspection of actual facts shows us the Japanese as almost childish. Writing for McClure's Magazine in an article entitled, "Are the Japanese Efficient?" Julian Street, noted traveler and writer, gives many instances of stupid Japanese inefficiency, particularly as to telegraphs, telephones and transportation.

"Tokyo, with a transportation problem which ought easily to be solved, has utterly inadequate street car service," says Mr. Street. "The rush hour there is only saved from being as terrible as the rush hour in New York by the lack of subterranean features."

"But it is in all matters having to do with communications that Japanese inefficiency is most strikingly brought to the notice of strangers. The postal service is poor, the cable service is expensive and absurdly slow (when I was in Japan it took about ten days to cable to America and get an answer back), and the telephone service is unbearably awful. All these, like the railroads, are owned and operated by the government."

"It is like opera bouffe. Though the demand for new telephones far exceeds the supply, the government makes no appreciable effort to remedy the situation. Every year, an absurdly small number of new lines is added to the existing system. These are assigned by lot among those who have applied for them. Thus, if a man is lucky in the draw, he may get a telephone within two or three years. But I know one gentleman in Tokyo who was not lucky in the draw. At the ripe age of sixty-six he applied to the government for an additional office telephone. The instrument was installed shortly after he had celebrated his eightieth birthday. Long may he live to use it!"

"If one is in a hurry to have a telephone put in, one does not apply to the authorities, but attacks the problem in a manner more direct—either through a telephone broker or through advertising. Thus one can get in contact with a person wishing to sell an illegal machine and a number. The number must, however, be in the exchange serving the district in which the telephone is to be placed."

"Though this is a very expensive method, it is the one usually employed in Tokyo and other large cities. A telephone for the business district of the capital may cost as much as twelve hundred dollars, but in a residence district it will be considerably cheaper—five hundred dollars or less."

"A curious detail of this business is that low numbers bring the highest price in the open market. This, I was informed, is because green operators, in process of being broken in, sit at that end of the central switchboard at which the high numbers invariably occur, thus guaranteeing the owners of high numbers a grade of service calculated to drive them to the madhouse."

BOY BANDS

What five boy does not sometime wildly crave to play in a band?—try out his ability on cornet, flute or drum. Many a man is now in Salvation Army ranks because when he was a blase, bored, restless, street gamine, some big hearted Salvation Army Officer sensed the cry of a soul for music and coaxed him into the hall, first to hear the other fellows play and later invited him to try to make a noise himself. No normal boy could resist the chance, because in his innermost heart he is certain that he could play just as well as any fellow in the bunch if he had half a chance to try.

The Army gives them not only half a chance but a whole chance over and over again until before they hardly realize it they are able to play and play well. The regular practice keeps them off the streets, away from gambling dens, out of craps shooting and fighting and surrounds them over those periods at least with uplifting influence. By and by they get into the uniform, and though other interests beckon, the bands hold them when every other appeal fails and many of them not only cling to this Association as Soldiers, but eventually become Salvation Army Officers. This is another splendid type of preventative work which reaches and appeals to boys from ten to fifteen, many of whom actually beg for the privilege of joining.

In Baltimore, Captain Albert Turkington, skilled band leader, who has recently been transferred from the South, is already finding his corps hall a magnet to the boys of the neighborhood eager to join his band. He is already about twenty-five in number. Instruments and uniforms are provided for these players and along with the playing, they are also encouraged to sing, for the Army believes in music and plenty of it.

On its roster at the present time in the United States there are 8,422 bandmen and something like 25,000 songsters.

18,000 ORPHANS SAVED WHEN SHIP BRINGS IN FOOD

Cablegrams to Near East Relief Disclose Critical Situation
Among Starving Armenians.

An epic of American heroism and devotion in saving the lives of 18,000 children in the last moment before all food supplies were exhausted is revealed in a file of cablegrams from Transcaucasia made public by the Near East Relief, the American organization which in the past four years has been the means of saving more than a million lives in the old Ottoman empire.

When the steamer "Quequen," sent from Constantinople by Near East Relief, arrived in the deserted harbor of Batum on April 22, just ten bags of flour remained in that city, while in Alexandropol, Armenia, eight thousand orphans and seven American relief workers were on their last day of half-rations, when the first trainload of American flour arrived.

The first news of the desperate situation of the American relief workers and their orphan charges reached the Near East Relief on April 21 in a cable dated April 15, which was the first direct message received from the American cut off in the heart of Armenia since mid-February. The dispatch said: "Near East Relief food supplies exhausted. Situation—desperate in Armenia, very critical. Send food supplies to Batum immediately." and stated that the new governments of the Transcaucasian States had furnished "satisfactory guarantees making relief operations easier than formerly."

Near East Relief chartered a special steamer, loaded her with flour, rice, beans and milk, and sent her to Batum, in charge of two Americans, Melville Chater, and Charles T. White, of New York City. But before this first shipment reached Batum a new cable from E. A. Yarrow, representing the Near East Relief in Transcaucasia, reported that seventy-five hundred children in American orphanages in Kara had been sent to Alexandropol, making a total of eighteen thousand children at the latter point, probably the largest assemblage of orphans ever known.

Arrives Just in Time
"Immediate transport saved eighteen thousand orphans and seven Americans at Alexandropol, where food arrived same day last half-rations exhausted," the cable reporting the arrival of the American supplies states, prosaically.

BRISTOL PRAISES NEAR EAST RELIEF

Admiral's Commendation a Feature of Organization's Annual Report to Congress.

Washington.—Accounting for the discharge of $10,120,117 in 1929 and a total of $30,000,000 to date, of flour, clothing and medical supplies, the annual report of the Near East Relief, incorporated by Congress August 6, 1919, has been filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the relief organization. The report includes an auditor's statement by a firm of chartered accountants, whose traveling auditors in the field check all expenditures by the Near East Relief.

In regard to the business methods and efficiency of the organization Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States high commissioner to Turkey, is quoted as follows:

"I have been very closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief Committee for about 22 months," Admiral Bristol reports. "On the whole, the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

Over a Million Saved
According to the report, 63 hospitals, with 6,225 beds, 725 clinics, 11 rescue homes, 291 orphanages, accommodating 54,000 children, and outside orphanages, caring for 50,000 children, have been maintained by the Near East Relief.

It is reported that approximately 2,700,490 Armenians are still living out of a pre-war population of about 4,000,000. In parts of Cilicia alone it is stated that 65 per cent of the Armenian Christian population perished from starvation during the war, while in the whole of Syria not less than 25 per cent perished from the same cause. It is estimated that had it not been for the Near East Relief fully half of the present Armenian population of the Near East would have succumbed.

Educating the Young
In regard to the work among the children, Mr. Vickrey says:

"A few millions of dollars wisely expended at this time in the support, education, and molding of these young lives will be worth vastly more to the world than billions of dollars that otherwise may later be required in suppressing warfare and strife. This work as an expression of brotherhood should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and interracial good will."

BANKERS CONFER WITH HARDING ON EXPORTS

Government Ready to Co-operate With Business—Investment of Capital Abroad a Factor.

Washington.—The first of a series of conferences with financial interests to discuss the administration's plans in regard to the flotation of foreign loans and the revival of American industry and export trade and to obtain their co-operation was held at the White House, when President Harding had eight prominent bankers at dinner with him, together with Secretary Mellon and Secretary Hoover.

The bankers who attended were J. P. Morgan of J. P. Morgan & Co.; Charles H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust Company; Paul Warburg; James A. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce; C. E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank; William Kent of the Bankers' Trust Company, all of New York; Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank; and H. C. McElldowney of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

The dinner was in a sense secret.

No intimation of the conference was given out beforehand, and the White House guests had departed when the fact that they had taken dinner with the President was made known.

It is understood that one of the President's chief purposes in calling the financiers into conference was to discuss the contemplated loan of American private capital to foreign governments and the effect of such a loan on the resumption of normal industrial conditions at home and on the American export trade. Mr. Harding is said to have laid before his guests an offer to do everything practicable to co-operate for the relief of economic conditions, while the bankers are said to have replied with expressions of willingness to work in close conjunction with the administration.

Most of those present are understood to have argued emphatically that the surest way to promote export trade would be by helping actively in the rehabilitation of European finances.

As the Lawmakers Slang It.
"A woman on the industrial board" was killed," announced Mrs. Stella S. King, acting secretary, at a recent meeting of the Legislative Council of Indiana Women. As she read the last word, she realized what she had said and started to laugh. It was in the text of the minutes of the preceding meeting, at which Mrs. King had not acted as secretary, and came in the account of legislative council bills which had been passed, advanced, or "killed."

As it happened, it was a mistake after all, for it was another bill pertaining to the industrial board which had been killed, not that creating a woman member of the board. But for a moment the legislative council forgot its dignity and giggled.—Indianapolis News.

France's Oak Trees Threatened.
While endeavoring to recover from the ravages of war the forests of France are also struggling from the ravages of parasitic growths which seem to be especially disastrous to the oaks. These are the country's most valuable tree, constituting nearly 30 per cent of the forest area. This tree seems to suffer especially from the fungus Chalara, which appeared in the province of Champagne about 1907, and is doing such damage that the extermination of the oak in France is foreseen. Young trees—particularly coppice shoots of the current year—are most susceptible to attack, though seedlings up to ten years of age have been destroyed. No remedy has yet been discovered.

Carrots for Lunch.
As I lived far from school, I had to carry my lunch. One morning my step-mother asked me to go to the grocery store for some carrots, as we had some pet rabbits. When I returned I set the sack on the table and hurried to finish getting myself ready for school. When I had finished she had my lunch ready and told me it was on the table. The day at noon I opened my sack and to my amazement I had the sack of carrots. Of course the girls all laughed and had a good time over it, but I am sure it was the most embarrassing moment of my life.—Chicago Tribune.

SINN FEIN BURN CUSTOMS HOUSE

Republican Army Seizes Ireland's Finest Building, Applies Torch and Bomb.

MANY KILLED AND HURT

Damage Is Worst of Present Rebellion.
Structure Valued at Five Millions Destroyed With All Its Records of Government.

Dublin.—The handsome quayside one hundred and thirty-year-old Dublin Customs House, with a frontage of 355 feet, was destroyed by fire while a fierce battle between the Republican and Crown forces was fought around the blazing structure.

All documents and records pertaining to the local government, customs, excise and income taxes and old age pensions for Ireland were destroyed. Their value cannot be estimated.

The statue of Hope which surmounted the building remained standing throughout the fire, though it was scorched.

Shortly before 1 o'clock in the afternoon about sixty young Republicans, heavily armed, entered the Customs House, held up those of the staff who were not out at lunch, and collected them in the vestibule under guard. These policemen who came in to see what was going on, were seized and placed with the other prisoners. Large quantities of petrol and cotton waste were then taken quietly into the building and distributed about the various offices where the customs, local government and inland revenue documents were kept.

These places were fired, the incendiary work carried out with the utmost coolness and so quietly that hundreds of passersby had no suspicion of what was taking place. Street traffic, always heavy at this point, was uninterrupted for some time.

The arrival of auxiliary police in an armored car after an interval, during which the fire had obtained a good start, indicated that the alarm had reached the authorities. As they passed over the Liffey Bridge the police were bombed but returned to the fire. When they reached the Customs House a pitched battle ensued. The Sinn Feiners, crowded into the windows of the building and met the soldiers with a heavy fire.

The wild shooting in the streets killed ten persons and wounded twenty. The casualties are believed to include some of the Crown forces. Troops and more police were rushed to the scene and machine guns were trained on the burning building in an effort to bring it under control. As they attempted to escape through the various doors, some were shot down and others wounded. The official statement says a total of 111 arrests have been made. A number of the raiders were covered with petrol and are believed to have perished in the flames.

The auxiliary police rescued the employees, including women, from the building.

It was found impossible to control the flames, as all the fire brigades in that section of the city had been made prisoners at their stations by armed Republicans. The firemen were not released until the blaze showed through the roof of the Customs House, when the guards quietly withdrew.

The destruction of the Dublin Customs House constitutes the most serious damage since the rebellion. The building, of which nothing remains but the shell, was erected during the Irish Parliament and was one of the most beautiful in Ireland. It cost $5,000,000. It had little to do with the customs, but housed many of the chief administration departments, and its destruction is more disabling to the ordinary machinery of the government than if Dublin Castle had been burned.

FUNDING LOANS TO ALLIES

Prospective Plan for Spreading Payments of Ten Billions.
Washington.—Foreign loans approximating $10,000,000,000 made to the Allies during the war will be funded this year, Secretary Mellon said. Accumulated unpaid interest, he added, would probably be funded also and payments spread over a period of years. The funding operations, the secretary said, are in line with the treasury's intention of putting foreign debts in regular marketable form.

LIQUOR CASES CLOG COURTS

Attorney General to Provide More Assistants to Push Trials.
Washington.—The federal courts have become so congested with prohibition cases that it is necessary to employ special assistants to the attorney general in the larger cities. This announcement was made by Attorney General Daugherty, who said that Judge John E. Sader of Columbus, Ohio, has been appointed to head a committee to select special assistants to handle these cases.

DISARMAMENT PLAN PASSED

Washington.—Unanimous Senate approval was given to Senator Borah's proposal for an international naval disarmament conference. By a vote of 74 to 0, the Idaho Senator's amendment was added to the naval appropriation bill authorizing and requesting the President to invite the governments of Great Britain and Japan to send representatives to a conference.

Premier Briand Wins Deputies in Speech Urging Gratitude for Help Given in War.

PROMISES BY GERMANY

Troops Will Advance Into Ruhr Valley
Only if France is Viciously Threatened—Is Against Isolation—Invaders Being Disarmed.

Paris.—Following a two hour defense by Premier Briand of his policy at the London conference when the German reparations payments were decided and his course in the Silesian crisis, the Chamber of Deputies adjourned without reaching a vote of confidence in the government in its policy toward Germany. The result of the proceedings was distinctly favorable to the government, which was strengthened by the receipt of Germany's promises to close the Silesian frontier and disarm the irregular bands which were fomenting trouble.

M. Briand's declaration was received at times with great applause, but occasionally with hoots from his opponents, who were not entirely confined to the Right. There seemed ample assurance that the majority sentiment was against a change in the government at this time. The Premier's speech was a plea for a moderation and a confirmation of the policy which has kept France in accord with the Allies and America.

"In the present world crisis no people can live isolated," he said. "I am on the bridge and will not let the ship go on the rocks. I will not place France in the position she was in in 1815 and in 1871, nor can I forget that in 1914 the English came and the Americans also."

"We have no right to forget that, and we owe them something despite the present dissensions and polemics. It is possible to maintain this magnificent union before the world it must be done in the interests of England as well as ourselves."

Continuing, Premier Briand said this policy did not exclude firmness, but added that there was some kind of firmness which had the appearance of weakness.

"Today France has the strength which permits her to be confident, but commands her to be calm," he said. "Just at the time when a mere show of this force was sufficient to obtain more in two weeks than had been obtained in two years from Germany the use of this force is unnecessary. I shall not use it unless an imperative necessity, involving the security of France, arises."

The premier told the Chamber that unless there were provocative violations of the disarmament or reparations clauses by Germany the troops in the occupied regions would not receive orders to advance into the Ruhr Valley, and then only conditionally upon agreement with the Allies. He contended that the mere presence of 200,000 men on the Rhine was sufficient to make Germany fulfill her obligations.

M. Briand declared that "the Chamber must assume its responsibility, as I have mine," if it wished the occupation of the Ruhr.

When he described Premier Lloyd George's speech as having been badly interpreted and badly transmitted, indicating, apparently, that the two premiers had patched up their differences, there were loud hoots from many deputies, but despite many interruptions during his long speech the premier seemed to keep a majority of the deputies with him by his promise to use force if France's vital security was ever in danger, although not before having notified France's allies.

In reply to the ultimatum delivered by Premier Briand to Dr. Wilhelm Mayer von Kaufbeuren, German ambassador here, Germany informed the French government it had given orders through the ministry of interior in Berlin to close the Silesian frontier, declaring a state of siege, the purpose being to disarm the German bands proceeding toward Silesia and to punish those engaged in fomenting Silesian disorders. Announcement to this effect was made by M. Briand.

AMERICAN ARMS IN IRELAND

Representations May Be Made to Washington Government.

London.—American ammunition totaling 16,888 rounds has been captured in the Dublin district, Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, stated in the House of Commons. Colonel Archer-Shee asked whether, in view of the fact that large sums of money had been raised in the United States, strong representations would be made to the United States government.

Coal Lost in Waste.

Under ordinary conditions of mining and firing, out of every 2,000 pounds of steam coal in place in the mine, only about 75 pounds are converted into mechanical energy—a most surprising fact. The other 1,925 pounds are either unavailable or are absorbed by the eight losses.

REORGANIZATION

Reorganization of the State government, which has been the subject of much discussion, is now being considered in a report by the Governor.
The report, which will be submitted to the legislature, proposes the creation of eleven major departments, each headed by a cabinet member. The departments are: Executive, Finance, Justice, Education, Agriculture, Interior, Labor, Commerce, Health, and Public Safety. The report also proposes the abolition of the State Board of Charities and the State Board of Prisons, and the creation of a new Department of Public Safety, which would include both of these bodies.

It was said that some of the best of the "Money" players, including Suzanne Leblond, who are slated for positions on the French Davis cup matches, because they are afraid they will be unable to obtain in the United States the wine to which they are accustomed.

INDEPENDENT REFORM.

The popularity with which the
wool-to-blanket campaign was received by the farmers and the people of Worcester County last season
has been the means of bringing numerous inquiries to the County
Agent's office during the past few
weeks regarding the disposal of this
spring's clip of wool.

Arrangements have been made
well as with the woolen mills, to
season, whereby the farmers of
ready sale for their wool, will be
quantities to the woolen mills for
manufacture into blankets and automobile robes.

This campaign will be conducted
in about the same manner as the previous one. Any farmers interested in disposing of their wool in
this way will please notify the
County Agent, so that arrangements
can be made to pool the wool at an
before the rush season comes on at
the factory.

Daily Weather Report.

A weather forecast is being received daily at the County Agent's
office by telegram from the U. S.
Weather Bureau. These reports are kept on file and are at the service of the people of the county.

forecast for the day can receive the
same by telephoning or calling personally at the County Agent's office.
This information is free, and no
doubt can be used by many farmers to a splendid advantage.

ST. MARTIN'S.

Children's Day will be observed at the Church Sunday night, June
5th. The usual program of songs

Miss May Gillies left Saturday for a visit to relatives and friends in the Harper's Ferry region of West Virginia. Her little nephew, James, went with her to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Maddox.

Miss Catherine Hall, of Salisbury, is spending the week with Mrs. Lizzie Gillies.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Holland shopped in Salisbury, Monday.

Miss Dessie Jones was graduated last night from the Virginia State Normal at Fredericksburg. For superior scholarship, she has won a ten-days' trip to Blue Ridge, N. C., and attendance at the Summer Institute. While Miss Jones' family and friends regret not having her in St. Martin's for her entire vacation, they congratulate her on a trip so pleasant and profitable. She will visit an uncle, Dr. R. H. Ellington, in Salisbury, N. C., and attend the marriage of an aunt, at Elon College, before her return.

Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself off and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes
Mrs. Newton Ireland, Mingo, N. Y.
Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion and they will do you good.—Adv.

body is invited.

The Home of the Soul.

In olden times it was believed that
the seat of the soul was the stomach,
most likely for the reason that a man
never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the
cure of ordinary stomach troubles,
there is nothing quite so prompt and
satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets.
They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost
a quarter.—Adv.

The Chesapeake and Potomac
Telephone Company has completed the
distribution of the spring issue of its directory in Wicomico, Somerset, Worcester and Dorchester Counties, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. 5,500 books comprise this issue.

The subscribers on thirteen exchanges located in the above counties.
For general information, consult pages 1 and 2. On pages 2, 3 and 4 you will note the company's regulations for calls to local and long-
distance points, also a partial list
of rates to points which may be
operator. For rates to points not
mentioned, ask for Long Distance.

H. W. Carv, manager of the company, reports that a substantial
district since the last issue of the directory. He calls attention to the advisability of consulting the new issue before making familiar
calls.

The Telephone Company further
urges the necessity of calling by
number. The limits of memory
force make it impossible to render prompt service if connections are

Do you know that nine out of every
rheumatism, neither of which requires
be relieved by applying Chamberlain's
great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.—Adv.

The United States Department of Agriculture announces the perfection of a simple process by which
the tomato seed from the factories
where catsup, pulp, soup paste
and sauce are made may be sepa-
rated from the skins and cores and
made into fixed oil and press cake
or meal, equally as valuable for
feeding cattle, hogs and chickens as other feed meals already in use.

As one bushel in every 200 of to-
matos is seed, there will be a considerable saving by this process, yet
hardly enough to justify the installation of the machinery for making the oil and meal at such factory, so
to some central point where a plant
would be organized to utilize the
waste seed from several factories.

The value of this feed has already
been demonstrated in Italy.

COMPLETE GREATEST YEAR

vention at Chattanooga Show Marked
of Organized Work.

DR. J. H. RUSHBROOKE

Baptist Commissioner for Europe.
Collections in cash totaling $25,103,
$24.64 have been made for general
causes fostered by the Baptist 75 Million Campaign since the campaign
was launched in 1918, according to a report to the Southern Baptist Convention, which has just adjourned its Chattanooga session, by Dr. J. H.
Rushbrooke, general director of the
campaign, and chairman of the Conservative Commission. The fact that $12,924,943.60 of this amount was collected during the past year, under the
years, is very encouraging to the de-

Feeling the need of conserving the
campaign, the convention asked the Conservative Commission to enlist, through the state and national organizations, all the Baptist churches in the South, to larger or smaller efforts during the next twelve months, the aim being to reach the unsaved.

Would Evangelize Europe.

One of the interesting actions of the
convention was the decision to back-
its program for the evangelization of
Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, Roumania, the
Ukraine and Southern Russia. Dr. J.
H. Rushbrooke, of London, Baptist
Commissioner for Europe, addressed
the convention, telling how he had distributed the relief funds contributed
by Baptists for the needy families of those countries and how the giving of
this relief had opened wide the door
of missionary opportunity.

Work on the older foreign fields
during the past year was unusually
successful, the board reporting receipts of $2,404,988 for its missionary
operations and $278,000 for relief
work, as well as $100,000 worth of
clothing; 6,938 baptisms on the foreign fields; 137 of the 611 churches
self-supporting, with a total of 406
foreign missionaries and 875 native wor-
ers employed.

The Home Mission Board reported
77,072 additions to the churches
through its institutional work, church extension operations of $1,200,000, and 298 patients treated at the Tubercular Sanatorium at El Paso.

During the year the receipts of the Sunday School Board reached $1,147,
731.73, and the board turned back into general work of the denomination the sum of $189,000.

Although only three years of age,
the Relief and Annuity Board, which seeks to supply the needs of aged,
dependent ministers and their families,
has doubled the number of beneficiaries receiving aid from the denomination as well as the amount of relief
given. It now has permanent resources in excess of $800,000.

There are 119 Baptist educational
institutions in the South, with a total
enrollment of 49,000 pupils, the report
of the Education Board showed, and
2,185 of these pupils are preparing for special Christian service, such as the
religious work.

representing the organized women of
the South, reports a total of 19,488 organized societies of women and young people, while the cash contributions
by the women to the various causes
fostered by the denomination during

OCEAN CITY.

May 27th was a Red Letter Day
in Ocean City history, in celebrating its first Commencement Day.
The assembly room was beautifully
decorated with the class colors,
the national colors, and in a profession of flowers. The stage showed
the artistic work of Captain Harry Parker, with the motto of the class of '21, "Rowing not Drifting," in large, gold letters. Dr. Burk, who has made the High School a possibility, presided, and introduced the
speakers. In his opening address
he gave a brief and encouraging history of the High School and its
work and workers. Rev. William
McGuire offered the prayer and
Maude B. Cropper sang a solo.
Then followed the Salutatory, by Anna M. Richardson; the Prophecy, by Maude B. Cropper; Class History, by Mildred E. Hudson; the Class Poem, by Hilda R. Randa;
the Public School System, by Kathryn L. Taylor; the Class Will, by Harold P. Dinamore, and Essay
and Oration by Calvin B. Quillin
and John B. Lynch, all of which were greatly enjoyed by the large audience. Patriotic songs were given between the literary numbers.
Rev. William McGuire and Miss
Elizabeth Thomas sang a duet and
Rev. Wilbur M. Smith pronounced
the benediction at the close.

The address to the graduating class
was delivered by Dr. Gould, President
of Washington College, and was an
earnest and forceful appeal for hon-
years. Dr. Gould and Professor Dennis delivered the diplomas to
the nine graduates—Kathryn L.
Taylor, Maude B. Cropper, Anna
M. Richardson, Mildred E. Hudson, Hilda R. Randa, Harold P.
Dinamore, John B. Lynch, Edward
L. Thomas and Calvin B. Quillin—
and certificates to those finishing
the grammar school course.

It was a notable occasion, and the
parents and patrons of the school,
and the citizens generally are gratified and truly proud of the first graduation of the long-desired High School.

TEXT—Judas also knew the place—
John 18:2.

Keeping good company is well, but it cannot guarantee that one is good. Judas is with the other eleven apostles, and with Jesus too. He knows the Garden of Gethsemane as a place where Jesus often visits. He has been there with him, nevertheless he is a betrayer. Like the foolish virgins in the parable, he has had "snout" of the oil of the Holy Spirit's influence on his soul to make him sincere; our Lord's company in such a place, but he will not accept of eternal life as a gift. Outwardly he has joined the Apostles' Band, but inwardly he is a thief. Good company, but a thief's heart!

His choosing to "join" before he had "received" may have cost him his soul. If he had humbly fasted upon not joining until he had accepted our Lord Jesus Christ as the one who would fulfill all sacrificial duties for sinners, then he might have ranked with John or Paul.

He knew the place. Those trees could talk to him. He could gather messages from the footprints and paths there. The very air was eloquent to him. Oh, there are records which do not fit into music boxes or conform to machinery. They are heard at most unexpected times. As if started by unseen hands, in the dark of the night, they compel us to listen. Just as some who read this can hardly help thinking of the path up to the old schoolhouse, where, in the winter revival, they sang, "Come ye sinners poor and needy," or of the old kitchen in the old farmhouse where family prayers were conducted once a day. How often the Spirit of God whispers, "Forget not all his benefits." But Judas had a sinful heart and would not yield to Jesus the sin-bearer. The place was outside the man, the heart of sin was close within. Croon over the place, he might, but like a soldier on guard, he might fight Jesus away from that citadel of the heart.

And why should Judas be one of the twelve? To be sure, he is later substituted by Matthias, but why was he ever admitted? He had chosen our twelve and one of you a devil, are the words so startling. And that one the treasurer! Yes, for when God is manifested fighting sin, he asks for no favors or quarters. He fights it on the very ground and does not open. The apostles are in the midst of the centuries-old conflict with human sin. So far as the record states there could not have been much money for Judas to handle anyway. But he can be allowed admission and success and have first-hand information, where, if there had been any trickery advised, he would have known about it.

Now this is the man who sells Jesus for a few cents more than five dollars. Yes, but this is the man who throughout the whole known record never states that he finds any trace of deception or trickery on Jesus' part. This "son of perdition" on the inside, with first-hand information, this "devil" cannot find a flaw or a crack in all the structure of Jesus' conduct. He objects to Mary anointing him, but remember, he nowhere calls him "Lord."

Do we not see that today men and women, wayward and unsteady, will say that they do not criticize Jesus? His enemies admit, by the ten thousand, that they "find no fault in him." Yet they refuse him their hearts. How could Jesus Christ be such a true teacher, leader of men and example if his repeated declaration of his Saviorship were false? How can a man properly appreciate his teaching and his wonder works and at the same moment reject his shed blood? You admire him, but you do not receive him; beware lest, for a price, you sell him.

There is another "place" mentioned in the account. Judas went to "his own place." He had heard of that place from Jesus himself. "It is best for you to go to your own place, and from now on I will send you to the Father." (John 14:30). Judas had no doubtless rung in his ears more than once. No garden with olive trees there. No Jesus to teach one there. The sale Judas made and that place are closely associated. If he will hear him teach and even endorse his greatness, but yet have the heart to sell him, that one place is his destiny. Soul, do not reject the Lord Jesus as Saviour today, lest, tomorrow the heart that so rejects proves to be the heart that sells, and you enter that—"place." Like a garden whose trees and flowers all speak of blessing, so is his grace today, but, if you reject that, I would that you might realize that you turn toward Judas' place. Judas had, as it were, a deed in hand to that place when he was right in the company of Jesus. He had fully realized it, doubtless the very possession of it would have been to him like fire.

Royal Speech in Second Place.
It is popularly supposed that a new session of the British parliament begins with the king's speech, but in reality this is not so. Preceding the speech from the throne a "dummy" bill is always presented for first reading—a little fiction carefully preserved in order to assert the independence of parliament, in the belief that to turn at once to the speech might suggest a too-eager preoccupation with his majesty's words.

LESSON FOR JUNE 5

MAKING THE NATION CHRISTIAN.

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 132; Prov. 14:34; 15:1-3.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.—Prov. 14:34.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Deut. 34:6; 1 Peter 2:1-3.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Love for His Country.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Loving and Helping Our Country.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Loyalty to Our Country.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Principles in Law and Government.

Not "Making the Nation Christian." If the lesson committee please. Neither of the passages chosen for today's lesson has any bearing on the title chosen by the committee. However, they set forth some important teachings regarding the nation, and the teacher should carefully bring out their vital meaning. The New Testament nowhere teaches that any nation will be made Christian in this dispensation; but rather that Christ is gathering out from among the nations the people who shall constitute His church, showing that God's purpose is the salvation of individuals.

1. "Blessed is the Nation Whose God is the Lord" (Ps. 132:12).

This verse shows Israel's peculiar distinction. Israel is the only nation of which, in name even, it could be said that Jehovah was its God. He called this nation into being for a peculiar purpose. It was not a case where a nation chose God, but where God chose a nation for His own inheritance. It would be blessed to have an inheritance in God, but how infinitely more blessed to be God's inheritance! No nation can have Israel's unique place, but the nation which today gives God His rightful place in its affairs shall be singularly blessed. America has been singularly blessed in the times when she acknowledged God. In the recent awful war when the national congress set aside a day of prayer, God heard the cry of His people and victory was given to the allies.

2. A Nation's Glory (Prov. 14:34).

The only fame for which a nation may justly be proud is righteousness, the rendering to all their duties. It is this that makes a nation strong and influential. A nation that counts its sacred covenants as "scraps of paper," becomes an outcast among the nations and eventually goes down to ignominious defeat. The nation that has no righteousness as its standard has no right to exist.

The believer in Christ is a citizen as well as a church member. Intelligent Christians will show loyalty to the state as well as to the church.

1. The Christian's obligation to the state (vv. 1-7). This obligation is upon all Christians. The reason this obligation is universal is that civil government is ordained of God, and the rulers are His representatives. Society could not exist without government. It is God's purpose that man should live under authority. To refuse obedience to civil authority is to resist God.

(2) The spirit of such obedience (v. 8). It is to be conscientious, that is, it is to be regarded not merely as serving a good purpose, but morally right.

(3) The nature of this obedience (vv. 6, 7). (a) Payment of personal and property taxes. The citizens who enjoy the benefits of government are morally bound to support it. (b) Payment of duty upon merchandise and license fees. The business exchange between nations must be regulated. For such regulations expense is incurred, for which benefits the citizens should pay. (c) Veneration of magistrates. "Fear to whom fear." Those who fear God should venerate his representatives, that is, civil rulers. (d) "Honor to whom honor," that is, honor of civil servants because of the ministry they perform.

2. The Christian's obligation to his fellow citizens (vv. 8-10). This is summed up in the word "love." Love is a perpetual obligation. The only debt that is right to owe is that of love. This love forbids defrauding in matters of property; it forbids going into debt where there is no reasonable certainty of being able to meet the obligation; it forbids defrauding in matters of moral purity. Where there is love, adultery cannot be committed; it forbids murder; it forbids stealing; it forbids coveting, for coveting means a desire for that which belongs to another; it forbids the working of any ill to one's neighbor.

The Lord's Sabbath.
And the Lord spoke unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, Verily, my Sabbath ye shall keep; for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the Lord who doth sanctify you.—Exodus 31:12, 13.

The Righteous Should Rejoice.
Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous; and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart. Psalms, 22:11.

Queer "Religion" Survives.
Joanna Southcott, the Devonshire servant girl, who professed to be a prophetess and who issued 6,400 sealed papers, to her followers, at prices ranging from 12 shillings to a sovereign, each "seal" guaranteed to secure salvation, has still her followers in London. Some of these strange documents still survive, and are much treasured by their owners. "The seal of the Lord—the Elect Precious Man's Redemption—To inherit the Tree of Life—To be made heirs of God and joint heirs of Jesus Christ."

MORE THINGS TO EAT.

Rarebits are emergency dishes which are liked by almost everybody and make a hot dish which may be prepared in a short time.

Mexican Rabbit.
—Melt one tablespoonful of butter in a skillet; in it cook one green pepper cut in squares. When softened a little add one pound of common cheese, cut in small bits, and stir constantly until melted; add two-thirds of a cupful of fresh or canned corn, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, two eggs well beaten and two-thirds of a cupful of tomato. Stir and cook until smooth and well blended, and when thoroughly hot, serve on rounds of toast, toasted on one side. Serve the rabbit on the untoasted side.

Cream of Corn Soup.—Cook one-half of an onion finely minced in four tablespoonfuls of butter until brown. Add four tablespoonfuls of flour, two cupfuls of milk after the flour has been well blended, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one or two bouillon cubes, provided they are not ninety-nine per cent salt; if so, add no salt until after the cubes are added. Soak experience with bouillon cubes should make us wise. Cook until the mixture thickens and add one pint of sweet corn put through a colander. Let the whole boil up once and serve with croûtons.

Green Cheese.—Take two ounces of fresh parsley, one ounce of fresh water cress, one ounce of celery. Dry the parsley before the fire until crisp and that it can be crumbled, but not until it has lost its color. Chop the cress and celery, add the crumbled parsley and mix with four ounces of fresh green cheese. Season with cayenne and salt, and put through a colander. Form into small cheese balls to pass with the salad.

Another cheese mixture which is a great favorite is cream cheese mixed with a cupful or two of grated American, seasoned with salt and cayenne, adding cream to make the mixture into a smooth roll or into small patties. Decorate with sliced, stuffed olives.

Neils Maxwell INDIANS NEAR TO EXTINCTION

Descendant of Osage Says Intertribal Warfare Has Weakened Them So Much That They Will Soon Be Extinct.

John T. Spurrier of Oklahoma says that the Indian will be extinct in a generation or two. Mr. Spurrier, who is a descendant of the Osage Indians and whose wife is also of Indian blood, says that constant intertribal warfare is so weakening the tribes that the nation which numbered over a million at the time this country was discovered will soon be only a name.

"The extinction of the Indian is only a matter of a short time," said Mr. Spurrier. "Intertribal warfare is proving fatal to the tribes, and they cannot long survive it. With intertribal warfare comes the Americanization and the Indians who have adopted modern methods live in extremely comfortable style. "The richest small group of people in the world are the Osage Indians, whose reservation is in Osage county. There are 2,000 Indians in this tribe, 900 of them being of full blood who still wear their blankets, but the remainder have forsaken the ways of their ancestors and have become extremely American. The reason for the great wealth of this tribe is that their lands happen to be situated in the midst of the largest oil fields of Oklahoma, and the yearly annual income per capita averages approximately $2,500.

"The Osage Indians are the best educated tribe in the country, and also the best physical specimens. It was from this tribe that Buffalo Bill chose a number of his famous chieftains. The reservation of the Osage Indians adjoins that of the Osage and this tribe numbers 3,000, many of them prosperous and well educated."

TOOK OATH 'BY THE PEACOCK'

When Philip of Burgundy and His Knights Vowed to Engage to War for Holy Land.

In 1453 Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, vowed "by the peacock" to go to the deliverance of Constantinople, which had recently fallen into the hands of the Turks. At the conclusion of the tournament and banquet held by the duke at Lille, Holy Mother Church, in the guise of a lady in mourning seated on an elephant and escorted by a giant, approached the duke and delivered a long verbiage complaint, claiming the aid and succor of the Knights of the Golden Fleece.

The herald advanced, bearing on his fist a live peacock or pheasant, which, according to the rites of chivalry, he presented to the duke. At this extraordinary summons Philip, a wise and aged prince, engaged his person and powers in the holy war against the Turks. His example was imitated by the barons and knights of the assembly; they swore to God, the Virgin, the Ladies and the peacock.

In this connection will be recalled Fraunce's brilliant charade, "The Peacock and the Ladies."

Compensation.
"Are you going to take any summer boarders?"

"Pick up the rates now," replied Farmer Cornshead.

"Remembering, of course, that food cost has been going down."

"Yes, but remember" also that rents have been going up."

HOW

GREAT CHINESE ENGINEER TAMED TURBULENT RIVER.—The Hoang is the largest river of northern China. The Nile possibly excepted, it has been more intimately connected with the economies of the world than any other river.

According to the Shu-king, the books of history edited by Confucius, a most destructive flood followed the bursting of the river about 2200 B. C. The work of restoring the river to its normal channel and adjusting the channels to the volume of the water made the name of the engineer, Yu-yu, famous for all time. His engineering skill has not been surpassed or even equaled by his successors, and his method of river control may be needed by engineers of today.

It is practically the method adopted by the engineers of the Mississippi River commission—namely, the adjustment of the velocity of the current to the maximum load of silt which the water carries. The hydraulic engineer of today accomplishes this by impounding the excess of water during flood seasons and releasing it during seasons of drought. This accomplished the same result by the construction of additional channels.

In the lower part of the plain nine additional channels were constructed. Any number or all of them could be thrown open to a flood; any number of them might be closed as necessity demanded. Thereby a uniform volume of water and a constant velocity of the current was insured.

It was a task of 13 years. Thrice, according to the Shu-king, Yu-yu passed his own door without even staying to greet his child. His efforts succeeded, and the name of Yu-yu will never pass to the unknown. Incidentally, his father before him had been the engineer in charge and for failure to control a wild flood had been permitted to become his own executioner.—Jacques W. Hedway in Ecology.

WOMAN REVIVING LOST ART

How Work of Making Miniatures in Colored Wax Is Being Restored to the World.

Successful revival of a lost art reflects credit to the artist than the mere improvement of a new one, for real art does not take kindly to novelty. By the extinction of a series of charming miniatures in colored wax, described in the popular mechanical magazine, a woman, Miss Mary, has revived a lost art. Temporary candles, made of wax, were used in the past to create a miniature portrait of a person, and the process was described in the popular mechanical magazine. How Screen Fairies Are Made.
There are two different ways of producing fairies in a movie picture. The first and oldest is to place the fairy, usually an actress of small stature or a child, far in the background on the scene so that when photographing the scene she appears smaller than the other actors because of the fact that she is a greater distance away from the camera. Another, and a space-saving way, is to have the "fairy" perform in a space behind and a trifle to one side of the camera. Her actions are caught by a series of mirrors and reflected into a mirror in the scene which is carefully camouflaged. Both the reflection in the mirror and the remainder of the scene are photographed at one time. Thus by placing a birthday cake with lighted candles on a table in front of the mirror the reflections are so manipulated that the fairy appears to be dancing in the flame of the candles.

How It Might Be Used.
Mother always cuts Perry's hair, and as she was about to clear the clippings away the little girl stopped her. "Mother, you're not going to throw my hair away, are you?" "Yes, my dear. What's the good of keeping it?" "Why, can't you make it grow on grandpa's head? He's got no hair at all."

Deadly Duel Between Eagles.
Two eagles have had a fight to the death at Invergarry, Inverness-shire, where a London Daily Chronicle correspondent. Within a few yards of a road a boy, the son of a herdsman, saw two golden eagles engaged in a fierce combat. He watched the struggle, and saw one of the birds fall on its back and, in a ditch. His adversary, with a fast in the other's throat, then stood triumphantly on the victim's breast.

The Lonely Little Girl.

For nearly a week, now, Laura and Malcolm and Fern had noticed her, the little white-faced girl who hung about the gate of the big red brick house that had so long stood empty.

"I wonder who she is," said Fern, as she and Laura passed her again, on their way to the grocery. Laura looked back.

"Isn't she quiet! Wouldn't you suppose she'd say 'Hello' to us by now? But she doesn't look as if she had any fun in her at all."

Malcolm joined them at the corner.

"The boys say it's Mr. Caywood who'll come back to live in the brick house. He used to live there a long time ago, but Mrs. Caywood was sick, and they went out to California. Now they've come home to stay all summer."

"I don't suppose the little girl will care to speak to us if she's lived 'way out in California," said Laura, considering.

"I think she looks lonesome," answered Malcolm. "Why don't you girls speak to her? I would."

"Do you think she'd like it?" "I must know she would. I saw her looking at you and Fern after you'd gone past, just as if she wished she knew you. It can't be any fun to be in that big yard all alone. Let's ask mother if we shouldn't speak to her, when we get home."

It is a good way to begin any plan by "asking mother," and this time mother approved gladly of their making friends with the lonely little girl.

Half an hour later, when Nettie Caywood came home with the other three children, she could not properly have been called "the white-faced little girl," or "the lonely little girl," for happiness and excitement had brought a dainty pink flush into her cheeks, and she was talking fast about the many curious and wonderful things she had seen in California.

"My! I wished so many times you'd speak to me," she said, when it was time to go home. "I used to think that if I ever saw any lone child, I'd speak to him. It must be you, for I'd see all the other children having a good time, and not be in it yourself."

"That's," said Laura, thoughtfully. "I'll try to remember about the lonely people, too."—Young People's Weekly.

Applications for Scholarships in The School of Engineering established under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 90, 1912, will now be received. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, a competitive examination must be taken Friday, September 23, 1921, beginning at 9 A. M. Appointments will be made soon thereafter.

Each Legislative District of Baltimore City and each County of the State, with the exception of Cecil, Harford, Howard and Queen Anne's, will be entitled to one or more scholarships for the year 1921-1922, in addition to those which have already been assigned. In the four counties mentioned above, all the available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of the Assembly, the County and City Scholarships in the School of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in engineering unless free tuition be granted to them. The scholarships entitle the holders to free tuition, free use of text-books, and exemption from all regular fees. One of the scholarships in each County and in each Legislative District of the City carries also the sum of

BE PREPARED FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

You know how common these ailments are, how they come most any time and how easily they may be relieved if attacked at the beginning. Left alone, however, they frequently grow worse and often develop into a serious disease that may prove fatal. Keeping a supply of good reliable Cough and Cold Medicines on hand is therefore good judgment.

Rawleigh's Cough and Cold Medicines

have helped millions of people overcome these troublesome ailments during the past quarter of a century. They have been used by children and adults with the most satisfactory results. A trial will convince you.

RAWLEIGH'S COUGH SYRUP is an old time-tested preparation of unusual merit for coughs and hoarseness. Very soothing to the inflamed throat and helpful in loosening and expelling phlegm.

RAWLEIGH'S COUGH LOZENGES are highly medicated and composed of just the right combination of ingredients for overcoming coughs, tickling in the throat, and hoarseness due to colds. Pleasant to taste and convenient to use.

RAWLEIGH'S COLD TABLETS contain quinine in its most valuable form and in addition are somewhat laxative, making them particularly useful in overcoming colds.

NEW COMMANDER

Assigned to Baltimore in Charge Of The Chesapeake Division Of The Salvation Army.

Major Henry Davey Bale, new divisional commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, who has recently come from Minneapolis, has had an extensive career in Salvation Army work, which really dates back to his birth as his parents were both Salvation Army officers.

He began his commissioned service in England, where he served eight appointments. Afterwards received and served nine appointments in Canada covering a period of eighteen years.

Since being transferred to the United States, Major Bale served in Chicago prior to being stationed in Minneapolis, where he made an enviable record in bringing his territory into considerable prominence. Commendations were showered upon him and promotion to command of the Chesapeake Division with headquarters in Baltimore followed. Major Bale hopes to make the Chesapeake Division the banner division of the East and since his arrival all the evangelistic work has received a decided impetus.

"SEEING THE TOWN"

Just at dusk two country boys, hatless, coatless and shoeless, staggered into the Salvation Army headquarters in Baltimore, begging for money.

One was past talking, the other claimed they had run away from home to see the town, and that they had been robbed of their money and clothes on the boat that brought them from their home on the Eastern Shore. Bad whiskey and worse company had reduced these lads to 16 and 20 to a pitiable condition.

The Salvation Army officer took them in, got them into bed and a day or so later, when sobered up and repentant they worked at several jobs to pay for their keeps and were then persuaded to return to their homes again, and not risk an appearance in court for drunkenness and vagrancy while "seeing the town."

ARE THE JAPANESE REALLY EFFICIENT?

Not If You Judge Them By Their Telephones, Says Julian Street

Although the Western World has begun to take for granted that the Japanese have reached an enviable position in the world because of an alleged efficiency in all matters, a close inspection of actual facts shows up the Japs as almost childish. Writing for McClure's Magazine in an article entitled, "Are the Japanese Efficient?" Julian Street, noted traveler and writer, gives many instances of stupid Japanese inefficiency, particularly as to telegraphs, telephones and transportation.

"Tokyo," with a transportation problem which ought easily to be solved, has utterly inadequate street car service," says Mr. Street. "The rush hour there is only saved from being as terrible as the rush hour in New York by the lack of subterranean features."

"But it is in all matters having to do with communications that Japanese inefficiency is most strikingly brought to the notice of strangers. The postal service is poor, the cable service is expensive and absurdly slow (when I was in Japan it took about ten days to cable to America and get an answer back), and the telephone service is unbelievably awful. All these, like the railroads, are owned and operated by the Government."

"It is like opera bouffe. Though the demand for new telephones far exceeds the supply, the government makes no appreciable effort to remedy the situation. Every year an absurdly small number of lines is added to the existing system. These are assigned by lot among those who have applied for them. Thus, if a man is lucky in the draw, he may get a telephone within two or three years. But I know one gentleman in Tokyo who was not lucky in the draw. At the ripe age of sixty-five he applied to the government for an addition office telephone. The instrument was installed shortly after he had celebrated his eightieth birthday. Long may he live to use it!"

"If one has a hurry to have a telephone put in, one does not apply to the authorities, but attacks the problem in a manner more direct—either through a telephone broker or through advertising. Thus one can get in contact with a person wishing to sell an installation and a number. The number must, however, be in the exchange serving the district in which the telephone is to be placed."

"Though this is a very expensive method, it is the one usually employed in Tokyo and other large cities. A telephone for the business district of the capital may cost as much as twelve hundred dollars, but in a residence district it will be considerably cheaper—five hundred dollars or less. "A curious detail of this business is that low numbers bring the highest price in the open market. This, I was informed, is because green operators, in process of being broken in, sit at that end of the central switchboard and which the high numbers probably secure, this guarantees the owners of high numbers to drive their cabs or houses to the door."

BOY BANDS

What five boys does not sometime wildly crave to play in a band?—try out his ability on organ, flute or drum. Many a man is now in Salvation Army ranks because when he was a bored, restless, street gambo, some big hearted Salvation Army Officer sensed the cry of a soul for music and seized him into the hall, first to hear the other fellows play and later invited him to try to make a noise himself. No normal boy could resist the chance, because in his innermost heart he is certain that he could play just as well as any fellow in the bunch if he had half a chance to try.

The Army gives them not only half a chance but a whole chance over and over again until before they hardly realize it they are able to play and play well. The regular practice keeps them off the streets, away from gambling dens, out of crime shooting and fighting and surrounds them over those periods at least with uplifting influence. By and by they get into the uniform, and though other interests beckon, the bands hold them when every other appeal fails and many of them not only cling to this Association as Soldiers, but eventually become Salvation Army Officers. This is another splendid type of preventative work which reaches and appeals to boys from ten to fifteen, many of whom actually beg for the privilege of joining.

In Baltimore, Captain Albert Turkington, skilled band leader, who has recently been transferred from the South, is already finding his corps hall a magnet to the boys of the neighborhood eager to join his band which is already about twenty-five in number. Instruments and uniforms are provided for these players and along with the playing, they are also encouraged to sing, for the Army believes in music and plenty of it.

On its roster at the present time in the United States there are 2,422 handmen and something like 25,000 songsters.

Stage stars are "bundling up their bundles." When Near East Relief issued its appeal for discarded clothing to distribute among the destitute in Western Asia John Drew, chairman of the Near East Relief National Theatrical Committee, at once got busy, and as a result it is expected that at least 1,000,000 pounds of clothing will be given by the people of the stage and screen world alone.

"Certainly," said Bill Jones, whose name of the stage is Frank Bacon, "I certainly want to do something for those poor folk out in the Near East. I've got a lot of extra clothes at the house, and you can bet I'll bundle up a bundle of old clothes—and some new ones, too—and send them parcel post to Near East Relief."

Then Mr. Bacon, whose play, "Lightning," has run over 2,000 times in a single year in New York city, took down from the hook in his dressing room the old familiar suit he wears in the character of Bill Jones. "I might even send them this," said the star. As a result of this suggestion the "Bill Jones" suit will be auctioned off at a big affair in New York and the proceeds used to purchase clothing for the sufferers in Western Asia.

Little Jackie Coogan, who burst into fame as "The Kid" in the latest Charlie Chaplin film, saw a photograph of a little Armenian orphan boy and very promptly said that he'd like to send some clothes over there to those "poor kiddies."

"I've got a lot of clothes, and I can only wear one suit at a time," said Jackie. Jackie's bundle, which has already been received by Near East Relief, at 1 Madison avenue, New York city, was bigger than Jackie himself.

Brigadier General J. Leslie Kincaid, state chairman of Near East Relief, is hoping that the people generally all around the state will follow the example of these stars of screen and stage and at once make up a bundle of their spare clothes to send to the Near East.

Cablegrams to Near East Relief Disclose Critical Situation Among Starving Armenians.

An epic of American heroism and devotion in saving the lives of 18,000 children at the last moment before all food supplies were exhausted is re-told in a file of cablegrams from Constantinople and published by the Near East Relief, the American organization which in the past forty years has been the means of saving more than a million lives in the old Ottoman empire.

When the steamer "Queen," sent from Constantinople by Near East Relief, arrived in the desert harbor of Batum on April 22, just ten boxes of food remained in that city, while in Alexandropolis, eighteen thousand orphans and seven American relief workers were on their last day of half-rations, when the first trainload of American flour arrived.

The first news of the desperate situation of the Armenian relief workers and their orphan charges reached the Near East Relief on April 21 in a cable dated April 15, which was the first direct message received from the Armenians cut off in the heart of Armenia since mid-February. The dispatch said: "Near East Relief food supplies exhausted. Situation, especially in Armenia, very critical. Send food supplies to Batum immediately," and stated that the new governments of the Transcaucasian States had furnished "satisfactory guarantees making relief operations easier than formerly."

Near East Relief chartered a special steamer, loaded her with flour, rice, beans and milk, and sent her to Batum, in charge of two Americans, Melville Charter and Charles T. White, of New York City. But before this first shipment reached Batum a new cable from E. A. Yarov, representing the Near East Relief in Transcaucasia, reported that seventy-five hundred children in Armenian orphanages in Kars had been sent to Alexandropolis, making a total of eighteen thousand children at the latter point, probably the largest assemblage of orphans ever known.

"Immediate transport saved eighteen thousand orphans and seven American relief workers who had been reduced to half-rations exhausted," the cable reporting the arrival of the American supplies states, practically.

Government Ready to Co-operate With Business—Investment of Capital Abroad a Factor.

Washington.—The first of a series of conferences with financial interests to discuss the administration's plans in regard to the flotation of foreign loans and the revival of American industry and export trade and to obtain their co-operation was held at the White House, when President Harding had eight prominent bankers at dinner with him, together with Secretary Mellon and Secretary Hoover.

No intimation of the conference was given out beforehand, and the White House guests had departed when the fact that they had taken dinner with the President was made known.

It is understood that one of the President's chief purposes in calling the financiers into conference was to discuss the contemplated loan of American private capital to foreign governments and the effect of such a loan on the resumption of normal industrial conditions at home and on the American export trade. Mr. Harding is said to have laid before his guests an offer to do everything practically possible to co-operate for the relief of economic conditions, while the bankers are said to have replied with expressions of willingness to work in close conjunction with the administration.

Most of those present are understood to have argued emphatically that the surest way to promote export trade would be by helping actively in the rehabilitation of European finances.

WORLD NEWS IN CONDENSED FORM

BOSTON.—Movies in Massachusetts will be under state censorship hereafter, Governor Cox having signed a bill with that provision. Supervision will be exercised by the department of public safety. Exhibition of any film not formally passed is prohibited by the law.

BERLIN.—The German Government is about to order the confiscation of all gold, silver and jewels in private possession.

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—A bomb thrown into a procession of school children observing the national holiday caused eighteen casualties.

CHICAGO.—The rates of pay and classifications established by the Railroad Labor Board's wage award of July, 1920, will be used as the basis of reduction when the board hands down its new wage decisions on June 1.

LONDON.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who commanded the American naval forces in the war zone during the latter part of the World War, lunched with King George and Queen Mary in Buckingham Palace. The rear admiral is described as "the best friend in need that England found during the war."

NEWCASTLE, Pa.—Five armed men robbed the Union National Bank here. One sat in an auto in front of the bank covering pedestrians with a pistol, three others held employees and officers of the bank at bay, while the fifth jumped over the counter and filled a bag with money. They escaped in the car. Bank officials estimate the loss at $40,000.

LOUISBURG, N. S.—Lobster fishermen here and in neighboring coast towns were on strike against the price of $1 a hundred pounds buyers are offering for their product, which they assert is ridiculously low.

As the Lawmakers Slang It.
"A woman on the industrial board" was killed, announced Mrs. Stella S. King, acting secretary, at a recent meeting of the Legislative Council of Indiana Women. As she read the last word, she realized what she had said and started to laugh. It was in the text of the minutes of the preceding meeting, at which Mrs. King had not acted as secretary, and came in the account of legislative council bills which had been passed, advanced, or "killed."

As it happened, it was a mistake after all, for it was another bill pertaining to the industrial board which had been killed, not that creating a woman member of the board. But for a moment the legislative council forgot its dignity and giggled.—Indianapolis News.

France's Oak Trees Threatened.
While endeavoring to recover from the ravages of war the forests of France are also struggling from the ravages of parasitic growths which seem to be especially disastrous to the oaks. These are the country's most valuable trees, constituting nearly 30 per cent of the forest area. This tree seems to suffer especially from the fungus Oidium, which appeared in the province of Champagne about 1907, and is doing such damage that the extermination of the oak in France is foreseen. Young trees—particularly coppice shoots of the current year—are most susceptible to attack, though seedlings up to ten years of age have been destroyed. No remedy has yet been discovered.

Carrots for Lunch.
As I lived far from school, I had to carry my lunch. One morning my step-mother asked me to go to the grocery store for some carrots, as we had some pet rabbits. When I returned I set the sack on the table and hurried to finish getting myself ready for school. When I had finished she had my lunch ready and told me it was on the table. That day at noon I opened my sack and to my amazement I had the sack of carrots. Of course the girls all laughed and had a good time over it, but I am sure it was the most embarrassing moment of my life.—Chicago Tribune.

What Average Man Lacks.
The ignorance of the places we live in is inexcusable; we are taught to read maps, and have a knowledge of the positions and contours of the lands of this globe; but not the plans of our cities and places we live in.—Halsey Ricardo.

Republican Army Seizes Ireland's Finest Building, Applies Torch and Bomb.

Damage Is Worst of Present Rebellion. Structure Valued at Five Millions Destroyed With All Its Records of Government.

Dublin.—The handsome quay-side one hundred and thirty-year-old Dublin Custom House, with a frontage of 355 feet, was destroyed by fire while a fierce battle between the Republican and Crown forces was fought around the blazing structure.

All documents and records pertaining to the local government, customs, excise and income taxes and old age pensions for Ireland were destroyed. Their value cannot be estimated.

The statue of Hope which surmounted the building remained standing throughout the fire, though it was scorched.

Shortly before 1 o'clock in the afternoon about sixty young Republicans, heavily armed, entered the Custom House, held up those of the staff who were not out at lunch, and collected them in the vestibule under guard. Three policemen who came in to see what was going on were seized and placed with the other prisoners. Large quantities of petrol and cotton waste were then taken quietly into the building and distributed about the various offices where the customs, local government and inland revenue documents were kept.

These objects were fired, the incendiary work carried out with the utmost coolness and so quietly that hundreds of passersby had no suspicion of what was taking place. Street traffic, always heavy at this point, was uninterrupted for some time.

The arrival of auxiliary police in an armored car after an interval, during which the fire had obtained a good start, indicated that the alarm had reached the authorities. As they passed over the Liberty Bridge the police were bombed but returned the fire. When they reached the Custom House a pitched battle ensued. The Sinn Feiners crowded into the windows of the building and set the soldiers with a heavy fire.

The wild shooting in the streets killed ten persons and wounded twenty. The casualties are believed to include some of the Crown forces. Troops and the police were rushed to the scene and machine guns were trained on the burning building in an effort to bring the incendiaries to a stop. Various doors were shot down and others were broken. The official statement says a total of 111 arrests have been made. A number of the raiders were covered with petrol and are believed to have perished in the flames.

The auxiliary police rescued the wounded, including women from the building. The fire brigades in that section of the city had been made prisoners at the battle by armed Republicans. The firemen were not released until the blaze showed through the roof of the Custom House, when the guards quickly withdrew.

The destruction of the Dublin Custom House constitutes the most serious damage since the rebellion. The building, of which nothing remains but the shell, was erected during the Irish Parliament and was one of the most beautiful in Ireland. It cost $5,000,000. It had little to do with the customs, but housed many of the chief administration departments, and its destruction is more damaging to the ordinary machinery of the government than if Dublin Castle had been burned.

The funding operations, the secretary said, are in line with the treasury's intention of putting foreign debts in regular marketable form.

WILL NOT DEFY BRITAIN AND U. S.

Premier Briand Wins Deputies in Speech Urging Gratitude for Help Given in War.

Troops Will Advance Into Ruhr Valley Only if France Is Viciously Threatened—Is Against Isolation—Invaders Being Disarmed.

Paris.—Following a two hour debate by Premier Briand of his policy at the London conference when the German reparations payments were decided and his course in the Silesian crisis, the Chamber of Deputies adjourned without reaching a vote of confidence in the government in its policy toward Germany. The result of the proceedings was distinctly favorable to the government, which was strengthened by the receipt of Germany's promise to close the Silesian frontier and disarm the irregular bands which were fomenting trouble.

M. Briand's declaration was received at times with great applause, but occasionally with hoots from his opponents, who were not entirely convinced to the right. There seemed ample assurance that the majority sentiment was against a change in the government at this time. The premier's speech was a plea for a moderation and a continuation of the policy which has kept France in accord with the Allies and America.

"In the present world crisis no people can live isolated," he said. "I am on the bridge and will not let the ship go on the rocks. I will not place France in the position she was in in 1815 and in 1871, nor can I forget that in 1914 the English came and the Americans also."

"We have no right to forget that, and we owe them something despite the present dissensions and polemics. If it is possible to maintain this magnificent union before the world it must be done in the interests of England as well as ourselves."

Continuing, Premier Briand said this policy did not exclude firmness, but

"Today France has the strength which permits her to be confident, but commands her to be calm," he said. "Just at the time when a mere show of this force was sufficient to obtain more in two weeks than had been obtained in two years from Germany the use of this force is unnecessary. I shall not use it unless an imperative necessity, involving the security of France, arises."

The premier told the Chamber that unless there were provocative violations of the disarmament or reparations clauses by Germany the troops in the occupied regions would not receive orders to advance into the Ruhr Valley, and then only conditionally upon agreement with the Allies. He contended that the mere presence of 200,000 men on the Rhine was sufficient to make Germany fulfill her obligations.

M. Briand declared that "the Chamber must assume its responsibility, as I have mine." If it wished the occupation of the Ruhr.

When he described Premier Lloyd George's speech as having been badly interpreted and badly transmitted, indicating, apparently, that the two premiers had patched up their differences, there were loud hoots from many deputies, but despite many interruptions during his long speech the premier seemed to keep a majority of the deputies with him by his promise to use force if France's vital security was ever in danger, although not before having notified France's allies.

In reply to the ultimatum delivered by Premier Briand to Dr. Wilhelm Mayer von Kaufmann, German ambassador here, Germany informed the French government it had given orders through the ministry of interior in Berlin to close the Silesian frontier, declaring a state of siege, the purpose being to disarm the German bands proceeding toward Silesia and to punish those engaged in fomenting Silesian disorders. Announcement to this effect was made by M. Briand.

Representations May Be Made to Washington Government.

London.—American ammunition totaling 16,388 rounds has been captured in the Dublin district, Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, stated in the House of Commons. Colonel Archer-Shee asked whether, in view of the fact that large sums of money had been raised in the United States, strong representations would be made to the United States government.

Coal Lost in Wastes.

Under ordinary conditions of mining and firing, out of every 2,000 pounds of steam coal in place in the mine, only about 75 pounds are converted into mechanical energy—a most surprising fact. The other 1,925 pounds are either unavailable or are absorbed by the eight losses.
