NEW POSTOFFICE SITE SOUGHT BY DEPARTMENT.

Authorities Refuse To Pay Increase In Rent Demanded By Trustees Of Masonic Temple—Have Asked For Proposals.

Because the trustees of the Masonic Temple refuse to renew the lease for the room occupied by the postoffice for less than $1800.00 a year the officials of the Postoffice Department have decided to change the location, provided a desirable building can be secured. Proposals have been asked for and they will be received up to and including May 15th, 1909. All proposals should be addressed to Mr. Charles F. Trotter, Assistant Superintendent S. & A. Division, Postoffice Department.

The proposals call for the furnishing of suitable premises for postoffice purposes at Salisbury, Maryland, under a lease for five or ten years from October 1st, 1909. The proposal blank also calls for the furnishing of rent, light, heat, water, closets, urinals, safe or vault, and all necessary furniture and equipment for the proper conduct of the office at a stated price per annum. The principal points for general consideration in the proposal are that there must be 250 square feet of floor space, good day light. The building must be within eighty rods of the railroad stations and not too far from the center of the city. The form of lease may be examined at the postoffice.

It was not known that the rent of the postoffice would be increased until a short time ago when the assistant superintendent of the division came to Salisbury to renew the lease which expires October 1st. It was then the Trustees of the Masonic Temple announced that the rent of the room in the future would be $1800.00, but this was later reduced to $1600.00. The Department claims that this is too much rent for the Salisbury office and the officials are of the opinion that desirable premises can be secured for considerably less money. In fact there has already been several offers to build a suitable building and a number of proposals to remodel present buildings that would answer every purpose.

It is understood that the Department offered to pay $1500.00 rather than change the location of the office, but this proposition was not accepted by the Trustees of the Masonic Temple.

In A "Social" Way.

One of the social events of the season was a "Pink Tea" given by Mrs. George W. Todd at her home on Main Street Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6. Receiving in the drawing-room with Mrs. Todd were Mrs. Harry Wallis, of Cumberland, Mrs. S. S. Smyth and Mrs. E. E. Martindale. Assisting in the dining room were Misses Sara Wallis, Annie Todd, Rebecca Smyth, Wilkie and Margaret Woodcock. Later in the evening a buffet supper was served to the receiving party.

Mrs. William Howard entertained the Cranford Club Friday evening at supper. Those present were Mesdames William H. Jackson, L. W. Gunby, L. A. Smith, George R. Collier, Samuel P. Woodcock, Israel Durham, Clawson Hammett, of Wilmington, Margaret A. Cooper and Miss Alice Humphreys.

Miss Alice Wallis gave a progressive "Flower" party at her home, "Lakeside," Friday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Horsey, of Crisfield. The guests included Miss Horsey, of Crisfield, Mrs. Harry Wallis, of Cumberland, Misses Alice Gunby, Mary Lowe, Ora Dismaroon, Bessie Trader, Rebecca Smyth, Margaret Woodcock, Messrs. William Sheppard, Howard Ruark, Claude Dorman, Harry Fooks, William Tilghman, Harvey Roberson, Sudler and William Phillips.

Sent Up For Vagrancy.

John W. Long, the colored boy who was arrested by the local police charged with breaking the window of the Sample Bargain Store and stealing a suit of clothes on the night of April 18th, admitted his guilt when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Trader last Saturday. As this boy is already under the parole of the Circuit Court and as he is also charged with being a vagrant and a crap shooter, Justice Trader sentenced him to a term in the Maryland House of Correction on the latter charges rather than keep him confined in the county jail at the expense of the taxpayers to await trial during the September term of Court.

SALISBURY RED MEN HONORED BY OFFICE.

Two Members Of Modoc Tribe Elected To State Offices At Meeting Of Great Council In Session At Annapolis This Week.

The Great Council of Improved Order of Red Men of Maryland, which was in session at Annapolis this week, came to an end Thursday with the election of officers for the year. Nominations for the officers were made Wednesday and resulted in the election of two distinguished members of the Order from Modoc Tribe, this city. Mr. Elisha E. Twilley was re-elected Great Keeper of Wampum, and Past Great Sachem B. Frank Kennerly was elected representative to the Great Council of the United States.

The complete returns of the election follows: Great Sachem, William A. McAllen, of Snow Hill, Md.; Senior Sagamore, Charles W. Townsend, of Baltimore; Junior Sagamore, Harry L. Bennett, of Frederick; Great Prophet, Past Grand Sachem Philip E. Porter, of Annapolis; Great Chief of Records, James C. Littleton, of Baltimore; Great Keeper of Wampum, Elisha E. Twilley, of Salisbury; Representatives to the Great Council of the United States, Past Great Sachem Philip E. Porter, of Annapolis; Past Great Sachem, Nelson C. Killam, of Baltimore; Past Great Sachem, William H. Lewis, of Hagerstown, and B. F. Kennerly, of Salisbury.

The sessions of the Council covered two days and were marked by much enthusiasm and interest, the reports of the officials showing flourishing conditions in the lodges throughout the State. An interesting feature of Thursday's meeting was the smoldering of the Council Fire promptly at the noon hour, at which time the 225 delegates present joined in the singing of the doxology.

Extensive Improvements.

Ex-Congressman William H. Jackson is just completing extensive improvements to his farms near town. At the "Rider" place, he has practically doubled the capacity of the steer barns, so that they will accommodate two hundred steers, and he has also built three additional silos, making six on the place. On the Trader farm the steer barns have also been doubled, giving them a capacity of 100 steers and two additional silos have been erected, making four at this place. In both of these barns cement floors have been laid throughout and a complete drainage system provided.

Mr. Jackson has also just, had shipped to these two farms fifteen of the largest and finest stock of horses and mules ever received in Wilcomico. These additional ones were made necessary by reason of the fact that he has this year doubled his acreage in corn, and has now about three hundred acres which will be planted on the two places.

To Increase Water Supply (?)

Another case of "locking the barn after the horse has been stolen" is being considered, it is announced, by the Mayor and City Council. This time it is the dire need of several additional fire plugs in South Salisbury. The city authorities were suddenly brought to realize the needs of better fire protection in that rapidly growing portion of the city when Morris Brothers' mill and the residence of Mr. John Chatham were destroyed by fire Saturday. A large per cent. of the fires in South Salisbury in the last few years have resulted in total losses to the owners, it is said, because of the inefficient city water supply in that section of the city.

Civil Service Examinations.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that the following examinations will be held at the post office in this city on the dates named.

June 2, 1909—Engineer and Miller.

June 2, 1909—Inspector of Weights and Measures, Bureau of Standards.

SOUTH SALISBURY FIRE BURNS MILL AND HOME.

Wood-working Plant Of U. W. Morris & Bro. Totally Destroyed And Residence Of Mr. Chatham Damaged By Flames.

A disastrous fire, totally destroying the wood working mill and lumber yard owned and operated by Messrs. U. W. Morris & Bro., occurred last Saturday afternoon. The residence of Mr. John Chatham, situated near the mill, was also destroyed. Mr. Chatham was able to save most of his furniture and his loss amounted to about $800.00, covered by insurance. The loss to Morris Brothers will aggregate about $5000.00, upon which there was insurance amounting to about $3000.00.

The fire started from a hot box in the main line shaft which ran under the floor of the mill. When the fire was discovered the blaze was breaking through the entire length of the shaft boxing and while the employees made almost superhuman efforts to extinguish the flames, the blaze made rapid headway and soon enveloped the entire building. They then turned their efforts to saving a smaller building filled with manufactured lumber ready for shipment and this building with its contents was saved.

Although the fire department worked hard to save the surrounding buildings so much time elapsed between the time the alarm was sent in and the arrival of the apparatus that the fire was beyond control when the firemen were ready to go to work. In the first place the fire engine horses were being used to work on the streets when the alarm was sounded and considerable time was taken up in driving them to the city hall and hitching them to the engine. When the department did arrive on the scene it was found that there were no fire plugs within reasonable distance and it was necessary to attach the hose to the plug in the lumber yards of Jackson Brothers Company and run under several railroad tracks. This also consumed a great deal of time and in the meantime the flames were rapidly gaining headway. It is largely due to the citizens who formed bucket brigades and the fact that there was scarcely any wind that the fire was confined to the two buildings which were destroyed.

Morris Brothers express their thanks to all those who so willingly assisted in the work of extinguishing the flames and to Jackson Brothers Company for the use of the water.

PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION OF SPRAYING PROCESS.

Test To Be Made In Orchard Of Poor House Farm By State Officials Saturday, May 8th, Provided Weather Is Favorable.

Believing that a practical demonstration in a neighborhood is the best means of disseminating information, the State Entomologist and State Pathologist desire to conduct a series of tests in orchards on the poorhouse farms in each county of the State.

In this manner the fruit growers and general farmers who grow fruit for home use only can observe the benefit to be derived from such treatment. The majority of the wormy apples is caused by the codling moth, while much of the fruit is injured by apple scab and other diseases. Spraying apple trees just as the blossoms fall with bordeaux mixture and paris green will largely control these pests.

This public spraying of the orchard on the poorhouse farm in Wilcomico county will probably be conducted by Mr. W. C. Travers under the direction of the above officers on Saturday, May 8th. The date of the spraying largely depends upon weather conditions as the application should be made just as the blossoms are falling.

All persons interested in the work and desiring to see how spray mixture for these pests is made are invited to be present at the poorhouse farm on that date. If the date is changed on account of weather conditions, notice will be given by posters in the Court House and otherwise.

Recital A Success.

The recital given at the Opera House Tuesday evening furnished a rare treat for the music lovers of Salisbury. The artists were Miss Clara Ascherfeld, pianist; Dr. J. Merrill Hopkinson, baritone and Mr. Bart Wirtz, cellist. The program embraced compositions from the most famous of the old masters—Beethoven, Hadyn, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Mozart and Moszkowski as well as the best efforts of several prominent American composers, and in each instance the selections were rendered with that delicate precision which is possible only by finished artists of the highest rank.

The recital was given under the auspices of the Salisbury Grammar School and the proceeds will be applied to the purchase of a new piano for the school building. A Stiff concert grand piano was loaned for this occasion.

Grand Officers Coming.

Mr. S. J. R. Holloway has just returned from Baltimore, where he attended the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., as the representative from Newton Lodge, No. 55, of this place. This lodge has been making rapid strides recently, having taken in a large class of candidates a short time ago, and it is understood there is a large one now in course of formation, which will soon be admitted to the order. The Grand Lodge officers are expected here within a few days.

New Castle Presbytery.

The New Castle Presbytery, at the second day's session of its seventy-eighth stated meeting in West Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, Del., Wednesday took important action toward the maintenance of weak churches without applying to the Board of Home Missions for aid.

Of the 56 Presbyterian Churches of Delaware and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland 26 are not self-sustaining. The committee on sustentation and home missions has now taken them in charge.

In furtherance of the scheme, which is an outcome of the withdrawal of the presbyteries of Baltimore and Washington from Synodical sustentation, Chairman Gillilan suggested that committees on sustentation and home missions be formed in each church. This will be done.

Many ministers and elders commended the plan. Elder L. W. Gubby, of Salisbury, offered $100 to every new church started in the New Castle Presbytery. Elder E. G. Polk, of Pocomoke City, also offered the same amount toward the establishment of a Presbyterian church at Crisfield. A site for the latter church will be donated.

Several reports were read, including one by Rev. W. T. M. Beale, Salisbury, Md., on young people's work. The offerings of the latter latter last year were $2,233.

The Presbytery elected Rev. W. T. M. Beale, of Salisbury, and Rev. Dr. J. R. Milligan, of St. Georges, Del., the stated clerk, ministerial commissioners to the General Assembly at Denver. The alternates are Rev. John McElmoyle, of Elkton, Md. and Rev. William H. Logan, of Wilmington.

Found Hanging In Woods.

The body of George Burdette, 50 years old, of Concord, Md., who had been missing from his home since Sunday morning, was found hanging in a peach tree in some woods near his home by Mrs. Robert W. Offutt, one of his neighbors, early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Offutt went to turn her cow into the pasture, and her little dog, whining and howling, led her to the body of Burdette.

An inquest was held by the coroner and a verdict of suicide returned.

Burdette left his house Sunday morning, ostensibly for the purpose of attending to his duties about the place. As he had not returned yesterday morning Mrs. Burdette called in some friends and asked them to hunt for him.

They searched all day yesterday and were gathered at the Burdette home this morning preparatory to starting out after the missing man again when his body was found.

Friends of Burdette say that he had been in poor health for some time, and it is thought that he became despondent and ended his life. Indications are that he had climbed up into the tree, attached the rope to a limb and jumped off. A widow and two stepchildren survive him.

Hatching Fish In Wicomico.

Mr. William T. Vincent, Fish Messenger of the Salisbury Hatching Station of Maryland Fish Commission went to Pocomoke City last Thursday and reported to Fish Commissioner Saml. J. Twilley, with 2,000,000 young shad, which Mr. Twilley ordered to be deposited in the Pocomoke river at Pocomoke City. Mr. Twilley also placed in Pocomoke River 80 gallon cans of yellow perch and 50 gallon cans of yellow perch in Manokin river at Princess Anne. These perch were hatched at the U. S. Government Station at Havre de Grace.

Fish Commissioner Twilley is pushing the work of fish hatching vigorously at all of the hatching stations. Last week through his deputy, Henry T. Bell, he placed about 5,000,000 of young perch in the Pocomoke River. They were hatched out at the St. Martin's station in Worcester county.

Monday morning last Fish Messenger Vincent carried 2,000,000 young shad to Princess Anne and turned them out into the Manokin River. These were hatched at the Salisbury station. Work at this station is in full swing and several million shad will be hatched this season.

Fish Commissioner Twilley was in Salisbury Monday en route to Sharptown Hatching Station, where much activity is going on in hatching shad and perch.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

"Shore" Fairs Organized.

All of the secretaries of the county fair associations of the Peninsula met Friday at the offices of the Salisbury Fair Association in Salisbury, for the purpose of making a general association of the fairs held on the Shore.

Boston was represented by M. B. Nichols; Salisbury by S. King White; Tasley, Va., by Mr. Parks, and Pocomoke City by W. F. King.

The question of raising trotting purses offered to each class was considered and it was ordered all purses be uniform. To attract the best horses $100 will be added to each purse, making the purse about $400 for each class races and proportionately larger for stake races. It was also decided to offer all privileges on the fair grounds at auction, the purchaser on day of sale to post security, thereby insuring to the management their privilege fees. The weather not being considered. Many amusement privileges were contracted for at the meeting by showmen from Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Rev. I. W. Williamson's Letter.

Rev. I. W. Williamson, Huntington, W. Va., writes: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble and am free to say that it will do all that you claim for it." Foley's Kidney Remedy has restored health and strength to thousands of weak, run down people. Contains no harmful drugs and is pleasant to take. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

J. Milton Oaksford, who recently resigned as rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, at Havre de Grace, after being asked to do so by the vestry and told to do so by Bishop Paret, of Baltimore, has been called to the assistant rectorship of St. James Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, which he has accepted, to take effect next Saturday.

State Employees Dropped.

A blow which has been impending around the State buildings for some time fell Tuesday morning, when five employees of the State were notified that their services would be dispensed with after May 1 and four employees of the heating plant were laid off from the same date until further notice. The orders came from Governor Crothers, and it is feared that the end is not yet. Clerks in nearly all of the departments are fearful that they may receive similar notifications.

The employees who were notified of dismissal were George H. Higgins, of Annapolis, watchman; Gorman People, Cecil county, assistant janitor Court of Appeals buildings; John Tarbutton, of Cecil county, janitor at Executive Mansion; Mrs. Alonzo Hubbard and Mrs. Tucker Anderson, both of Annapolis, charwomen. Sympathy is felt for all who lost their positions, but particularly for the two women, both of whom are widows, having small children.

Four employees of the heating plant, the whole force excepting Superintendent Eilers, were laid off after May 1. It is thought, however, that some or all of these will be restored to work when cooler weather sets in.

Samuel G. Brooks, messenger in the executive department, who was first appointed by Governor Hicks and who has been in the service of the State for over 50 years, suffered a considerable cut in his salary.

What's In McClure's.

President Taft, in an article in McClure's MAGAZINE for May, answers the critics of the Panama Canal. He declares that the lock type was the best type of canal to build, and he dares hope that it will be finished before 1915, and that the cost will fall below Colonel Goethals' latest estimate of $297,000,000. Arthur Woods, a Deputy Police Commissioner in New York City, contributes a timely article on the Black Hand Society which was responsible for the murder of Detective Petrosino; Judson C. Welliver describes the latest monopoly, "The National Water Power Trust"; George F. Parker quotes Cleveland's opinion of McKimley, Bryan, Cortelyou and others; Benjamin Brooks describes the work of "The Webfoot Engineer"; and makes clear to the layman the mysteries of tunnel building; Guglielmo Ferrero, the Italian historian, writes about the "part played by 'The Vine in Roman History,' and a Tuscan lady, who was in Messina at the time of the earthquake, contributes a human document on that great disaster. There are four good short stories, and another instalment of Mrs. Humphry Ward's novel, "Marriage a la Mode."

Get The Garden Habit.

It these days when the cost of living is mounting up until the problem of making the income account balance the needs of the family is a good time to turn for relief to the back yard garden. The amount which can be raised on a small plot of ground well tilled is astonishing, and the utilization of these patches which are lying idle may be a big factor in solving the economic problem of the home. A growing tomato vine is much more of an ornament than an empty tomato can in the back yard and a bluster on your hand from gripping a hoe handle much to be preferred to a glassy spot on the seat of your trousers due to constant contact with a porch chair. A melted down collar due to eradicating parsley is no more difficult to launder than one rendered unserviceable playing bone-old-cat with the boy, and it will produce a whole lot more for the family table. The backyard bean and spud are gold mines on a small scale, which are more certain to render dividends than the kind which gives back nothing but a gilded certificate whose only purpose is to remind you in subsequent years that a chump and his money had been parted.—Oma-ha Bee.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking ASSOCIATION

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $134,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly instalments of $5c., 40c., 50c., $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1905 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. WOMEN TO SAVE BASEBALL.

Wife of Manager Chance Tells Them to Quit Playing Bridge.

At the opening of the baseball season Mrs. Frank L. Chance of Chicago, wife of the world's champion leader and manager of the Chicago Nationals, is out in an interview declaring that it is upon women—not the flighty, volatile kind, but the steady home variety—that the future of the national game depends. To prevent the game from becoming a rowdy pastime, one only for bleachers full of men to watch, she believes that more women should occupy seats in the grand stand.

"If more women would forsake bridge whist and pink teas, sofa cushions and kimonos and turn out to watch the cleanest sport in the world there would be more robustness and fair mindedness among our sex," Mrs. Chance said. "If women would only come out and expand their lungs to the fresh air by rooting for the home team there would be less work for the doctors."

Wild Cattle Past in California. Much has been written lately about wild horses infesting certain mountain ranges of the west and menacing the interests of stockmen. Now comes a report from a district in the Shasta national forest of California that wild cattle have become a nuisance. These animals are the descendants of domestic cattle, but, having run without restraint for several generations, have become as wild as deer. Stockmen will not apply for ranges infested by these cattle, since tame cattle soon adopt the habits of their wild relatives and become equally unmanageable. It is impossible to gather young stock in the fall which have run with these animals even for a season. The majority of the stockmen desire to shoot them, but certain mountain dwellers claim them and shoot an occasional one for winter beef. The forest officers will, in conjunction with the stockmen interested, investigate the matter this summer and decide upon some plan of ridding the ranges of this pest.

The Popular Interest. With tariff and such lesser things mere man will fuss no more. The only question now will be, What's the score?—New York Sun.

Avalanches. There are avalanches of different kinds, but when the term "avalanche" is used it is generally supposed to apply to falls of great bodies of snow or ice, says Mr. Edward Whymper in the London Strand Magazine. One of the first occasions of this kind which attracted attention took place in 1890, upon Mont Blanc, and it is commonly called the Hamel accident. Dr. Hamel, a Russian, set out on Aug. 18 to go up Mont Blanc, accompanied by two Englishmen and eight guides. They had ascended to a height of more than 14,000 feet, with five guides in front, who were cutting or making steps, when all at once the snow above them gave way, and the members of the party were carried down a thousand feet or more over the slopes up which they had toiled. Snow again broke away above and more or less covered them. Some of them struggled out, but three of the leading guides were buried into a crevasse and buried under an immense mass of snow. The bodies of these men reappeared at the foot of the glacier thirty years afterward.

Two Bits of Wood. Importance cannot be reduced to a matter of size. The success of a piece of work may depend on a tiny detail. Such is the case in regard to that marvel of construction, the violin. Rev. H. R. Haweis in his "My Musical Life" tells of the care and labor expended on two little pieces of wood which go to make up the perfect whole. The sound bar is a strip of pine wood running obliquely under the left foot of the bridge. A slight mistake in its position, looseness or inequality or roughness of finish will produce that hollow, teeth on edge growl called "wolf." It takes great cunning and a life of practical study to know how long and how thick the sound bar must be and exactly where to place it in each instrument. The sound post is a little pine prop, like a short bit of cedar pencil. It is the soul of the violin, and through it pour all vibrations. Days and weeks are spent in adjusting the tiny sound post. Its position exhausts the patience of the maker and makes the joy or the misery of the player.

Uses For Perfumed Salt. Perfumed salt is coming to be recognized as just the thing for the teeth. Another sort is recommended for the bath, and there are scores of other ways in which it is used as a toilet article. Mixed with cornmeal, it is placed in the tepid bath, and its use thus is said to improve the complexion. Physicians now advise a liberal use of salt in fruit and in food generally, especially in the spring. One time salt was regarded as drying in its effects and injurious to health and to the complexion. Now this theory is displaced. The hot water drinkers put a good teaspoonful of salt into their morning beverage.

Wherever there is a failure there is some giddiness, some superstition about luck, some step omitted, which nature never pardons.—Emerson.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic for Tomorrow, "Paul's First Missionary Journey" Discussed By A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT: Go ye unto all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.

Our lesson this Sabbath takes up the study of Paul's great work. He and Barnabas had spent perhaps a year at Antioch, engaged in the formation of the first church among the Gentiles, and after visiting Jerusalem with aid for the mother church there, returned to Antioch, where they engaged in the work. The church at Antioch grows in importance. As Paul's labors among the Gentiles increase, it becomes the missionary center.

The first verse of our lesson acquaints us with some of the important personages in the Antioch church. Prophets, men inspired of God, just as the disciples, who, upon Pentecost, received great power, and these men at Antioch were especially fitted to speak in His name. The term teacher applies to comments, interpretation and instructions. Some of these are named. We note particularly Mannean, who had been brought up with Herod Antipas. This Herod had caused the death of John the Baptist, and began to reign B. C. 4, so Mannean must have been an old man. The proper rendering of the record is that he was a boyhood comrade, brought up with Herod as a companion. How alike they must have been as boys how unlike as mature men.

How many men of strong character we find in this church, and what their work has been in the sight of God, still, save the labors of Paul and Barnabas, but this one notice is taken of their work, but their deeds are recorded, and that record stands throughout eternity. Churches are made up of all ages, nationalities, and abilities. This is the ideal church and the power of the Lord is with such.

A great work is projected in the Antioch Church. While "they (the leaders) ministered to the Lord and fasted the Holy Ghost said, separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them." Through the heart of someone the spirit prompted the great work. The same spirit that directed Peter upon the house-top, and Ananias in Damascus, comes again and calls for Paul and Barnabas to go forth to the work whereunto they had been called. "Go thy way; for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings and the children of Israel." (Ch. 9:1-15.) And the church sent them forth, and thus began Paul's labors which, excepting Christ's, extended to more of the entire world than the labors of any other.

Let us note how they were set apart. "When they had fasted and prayed, and laid their hands on them, they sent them forth." Fasting had its origin in a sorrow for sin, and a communion with God so full as to leave no desire for food. Fasting, as indulged by these Christians, was a spiritual aid and prayer was most effective, for hearts of one accord attuned to God's will in a spirit of communion with Him brings answer. And then they "laid their hands on them," blessing them, and communicating to them the power and authority of the church, and sent them out to be their representatives in the great world to be won for Christ and thus should we do today. We may not all go to special fields of labor, but we can bless, aid and abet others, who are as our hands, our feet, our tongues, our hearts, to reach those who are out of Christ.

These missionaries, Paul and Barnabas, went down to Seleucia, sixteen miles from Antioch, at the mouth of the Orontes river, and the practical port of Antioch on the Mediterranean Sea; and from there to Cyprus, eighty miles distant. This was the home of Barnabas, and Paul must have known some of the people. Its inhabitants were mostly Grecian, but the Jews gradually increased in number until, fifty years later, they are said to have massacred many of the natives of Cyprus.

The missionaries landed at Salamis, the eastern end of Cyprus and preached there, afterward continuing the entire length of the island, one hundred and fifty miles, proclaiming the gospel. At Paphos they met two men, each singular in his way. Sergius Paulus the proconsul, a man of note by his position of understanding, of good education, no doubt a reader well versed in the philosophy and theology of that time desired to hear Paul. Then there was Elymas, a Jew, a sorcerer, a magician, a singular mixture of science and superstition, a false teacher, a follower of the proconsul. He had probably been called by Sergius Paulus, that he might from him gain some knowledge, as at that time, many otherwise prudent men sought advice from such or any source. He had no doubt attached himself to the proconsul following him and when Paul and Barnabas made the word of God clear to the proconsul, and he became interested, this Elymas argued against the teachings of Paul and Barnabas in order to hold his place with the proconsul. Paul, knowing the man's nature and intent, rebuked him in the name of Christ, and the proconsul believed the teachings of Paul.

Here was a man who, with a good understanding, an honest desire for right, knowing the Jewish history and prophecies, seeking for light that would lead him to a higher plane, and nearer to the foundation of all truth. He receives the entire plan of redemption with rejoicing. How plain Paul must have made this doctrine of redemption of sin through Christ.

Observe the result of honest seeking. Sergius Paulus is one of the great throng of the blessed, and Elymas is one of those who, in their own way, turn aside into what proves a great disappointment, a mist, a darkness, a failure.

In presenting the gospel today we meet opposition. We must expect it but communion with God, prayer, the spirit, a full knowledge of the plan of redemption as revealed in God's word, accompanied by the power of the Holy Spirit, will make us strong to meet opposition. Stand fast for the evangelization of the world, and hear the words of the Master "watch, (fast) and pray" lest ye enter into temptation, and remember that he that goeth forth with weeping shall doubtless come again rejoicing bringing his sheaves with him.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains any many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 313 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy bearing-down sensation through my hips. No matter what I did or took, this misery clung to me and I was also bothered when I arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store in return for the relief they brought me, I consider them worthy of my recommendation." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1909.

The City's Answer To Last Week's Editorials Of The Courier.

The formal reply of the Mayor and Council published in Thursday's issue of the Wicomico News to the editorials which appeared in this paper last Saturday was a distinct attempt to shift the burden of the attack from a strictly business standpoint to one of a purely personal character. We made absolutely no attack upon the personal honesty or integrity of the city officials, nor have we any reason for doing so. Our discussions were confined to phases of municipal affairs which are now live and important issues and we dealt with them upon that basis entirely and strictly. Their bitter personal retort is, however, in strange and marked contrast to the high plane of ethics which they lay down for the criticism of their own official acts, and we have a right to demand of them in their discussions of public affairs and in their constructions of our editorials the same degree of consideration which they ask at our hands.

In the editorials to which exception has been taken, there was but two subjects mentioned—the city election, involving the attitude of the Mayor upon the question of notice to the voters of Salisbury and the attitude of the officials toward the Diamond State Telephone Company.

In neither of them is there any allegation of dishonesty or graft and we regret the eagerness of these gentlemen to discover imputations which were certainly not made, nor were they intended.

In questioning the Mayor's judgment and his intensely partisan stand in ignoring the only representative among the city press of a great minority party, we acted entirely within our rights and reiterate that he took a narrow and contracted view of a public question and the characterization made last week of his act was none to strong, and has been repeated throughout the city by representatives of the party which he ignored.

The Republican party and its members are entitled to consideration in this community at the hands of those who control city affairs. Twenty or thirty years ago hardly any business houses or enterprises of any kind were operated by Republicans. Today it is entirely possible that members of that party control and own more property according to the taxable basis within the city limits than the Democrats themselves, and it is only necessary to recall the fact that such large concerns as the E. S. Adkins Company, the Jackson Brothers Company, the W. B. Miller Kindling Mills, the shirt factory of the Jackson-Weissback Company, the foundry plant of R. D. Grier, the factories of Tomlinson and Benjamin, the foundry works of F. A. Grier & Son, and others, are either exclusively or almost wholly controlled and operated by Republicans to see that a statement of that kind is probably correct. And yet the public representative of a party having an element of this kind within it is utterly and absolutely ignored as unworthy of the slightest consideration at the hands of the Mayor, and presumably those associated with him.

Since we assumed control of this paper we have constantly attempted to discuss municipal matters as entirely removed from any relation to partisan politics, but it has seemed almost impossible to bridge the chasm, which according to the actions of certain of the officials, yawns between any Republican and their own special and peculiar Democratic ideas, and they have apparently resented the attempt to discuss these questions upon a non-partisan basis.

In the fight for better streets (and upon other important matters, notably the controversy with the Peoples Bank) we gave them our hearty and unqualified support. We were even taken to task by certain of our own party for the strong stand taken, but through it all we stood firmly and resolutely for the improvements and supported the officials in their efforts to make Salisbury one of the best municipalities (if not the best) on the Delmarvian Peninsula South of Wilmington. At that time there was not the slightest intimation of any "ulterior motive." We were recognized as fighting for what was deemed to be for the commercial advancement of the town and the general interest of its citizens.

There has been no change whatever in our position. The same "ulterior motive" which prompted us to take that position then has actuated us now in fighting for the preservation of the rights of the people from spoliation at the hands of an unscrupulous and grasping corporation. If the language employed was strong it was because of our zeal to see the officials force the Diamond State to cover, and there was certainly no desire to impute to them a want of personal integrity, for every one of whom we have the highest personal regard, and their standing in this community is too high to admit of a construction of that kind. But we respectfully submit that it is unfair and wrong because we had the courage to differ with them upon a question of vital import involving exceptional rights and valuable franchises and expressed our dissent from their position in forcible language that innuendoes of "ulterior" and "dishonest" motives should be heralded abroad.

Those who have followed the editorials of this paper know that this pronounced fight against the encroachment of the telephone people, is strictly in line with the position taken in standing by the officials in their street paving fights; in demanding additional manufacturing plants for the town and in urging the necessary concessions to procure them; in attempting to secure the change of jurisdiction of the N. Y. P. & N. R. from Delmar to Salisbury and the car shops from Cape Charles to this city; in advocating a complete and adequate garbage system under municipal control; in fighting for the beautification of the city by the removal of unsightly bill boards and the cleaning of vacant lots, and the consummation of the "Meadow Park Scheme," by which one of the prettiest natural spots would be turned into a veritable dream which would redound to the pleasure and profit of our citizens; in the efforts to have all hog pens and their attendant ills removed from the city limits; in attempting to secure the dredging of the River channel to the electric light property and in fighting for other public improvements which would tend to build up the town and advance its material interests.

And now let us glance for a moment at the meeting of the Mayor and Council with the representatives of the Telephone Company. This was distinctly given out as a private meeting and was held as such. The representatives of this paper were informed that at the request of the company the meeting would be private, and it was so considered by us, and the representative of THE COURIER did not go to the City Hall until about half-past nine or quarter of ten o'clock, and then for the purpose of ascertaining what, if anything, could be given to the press. When he entered the room there was no one present but the city officials and the representatives of the telephone company, and they had been in conference as far as is known all the evening. He was then informed that there was nothing to be given out, and certain it is that during the ten or fifteen minutes that he remained in the room nothing was done. In their signed statement in The News the officials bear out this contention absolutely for they say "as to what took place, could in all probability be answered by THE COURIER's representative as he was the only person present except our attorney." As he was not in the room more than ten, or fifteen minutes at the outside, and that from about quarter of ten until ten o'clock, it will be seen that we have an absolute and complete verification that the meeting was a secret conclave between the representatives and the city officials. There was no allegation whatever of graft and we were entirely within our rights in calling upon the city officials for an explanation as to the reasons which actuated them after this conference in apparently abandoning all further efforts to compel the company to respect its agreement as to rates. The public had a perfect right to know why it had been suddenly left to the mercy of this corporation and the rates raised with impunity when it was known that an agreement had been entered into by which the rates had been limited for a term of twenty-five years at the time the original franchise had been granted.

If by calling a special and private meeting with this company and by an apparent change of front toward the corporation they placed themselves in a position that such questions as were asked became pertinent, then they have only themselves to blame for their unfortunate predicament. We are, however, perfectly willing to accept the explanation, as stated, and no doubt the public will be, that the officials are still contemplating taking the necessary steps to properly solve the problem, but it must be remembered while they are "measuring their actions" and deciding upon a "modus operandi" the rights of the people are being trampled under the feet of this company and its solemn agreement is being violated. The public will judge of the sincerity and force of the declarations and protestations of intentions to do something for the relief of the citizens by the results which flow from those efforts and by the ultimate ends which are accomplished.

Says He Bought $150 Horse For $10.

Sheriffs Long, of Somerset county, and Townsend, of Worcester county, returned to Princess Anne Friday morning from Westmoreland county, Va., where they had been in pursuit of Benjamin T. Mills, charged with the larceny of a $150 horse from Jerome Kelly, residing on the border line between Somerset and Worcester counties. The horse was stolen from Mr. Kelly's stable on the night of April 11. The sheriffs succeeded in locating Mills near Kinale, in Westmoreland county. The horse was found and identified. At the hearing Friday morning Mills testified that he had purchased the horse from a colored man for $10. He was placed under $1500 bail for the action of the October grand jury and in default of same was committed to jail.

When You Were A Youngster And Peopl. Told You That You were Growing, Did'nt It Make You Feel Good?

That's the way with Lacy Thoroughgood. His business is growing every day, every week, every year. Thoroughgood's business has grown so big lately that he is compelled to make his Clothing Store larger; he has RE-MODELED the store, put in the finest store front in the State of Maryland. Today Lacy Thoroughgood has the lightest, brightest, cheeriest, most up-to-date store in Salisbury; it is Lacy Thoroughgood's purpose to make his Clothing Store a leader among clothing stores, to put his store in the front rank among the best stores in the country. He will not depend upon the appearance of the store to accomplish this result, but upon the class of goods which he shall carry, the prices he shall sell them at, and the courteous attention which he shall devote to his customers. Thoroughgood not only invites you to come and see a handsome store, but a bright, new, snappy stock of things for men and boys to wear. This store will be a credit to the City we all love so well. Thoroughgood will sit up nights scheming how he can further improve his service, but he'll find it's a hard proposition to better something that is already very near perfect. Thoroughgood's guarantee that is sewed on the inside coat pocket of every suit that he sells which reads—A NEW SUIT WITHOUT CHARGE IF THIS ONE PROVES UNSATISFACTORY is making a tremendous hit. Lacy Thoroughgood cannot fully explain the beauty of his store or his stock of beautiful goods in this announcement. Your own idea of them will be the better judgment. Thoroughgood extends the freedom of his two stores to you, and whether you buy or not he wants you to come and see what he calls two up-to-date stores.

STORIES OF CRAWFORD

More Accident That Determined Famous Novelist's Career.

CLOSE CALL IN STUDENT DAYS

How He Was Nearly Asphyxiated at Karlsruhe, Germany—Odd Experience With a Servant in Italy—Solemn Scene When He Died.

Francis Marion Crawford, the American novelist and historian, who recently died at Sorrento, Italy, became a novelist by accident. He had met in India a man named Jacobs who, acting for an English syndicate, had sold the largest diamond in the world to the nizam of Hyderabad for $240,000. When the British government heard of it there was a protest, Britain contending that the nizam as a petty ruler had no business to spend such a sum for a jewel when there were so many better uses for the money in his territory. A large installment of the money had been paid, but after this protest the nizam tried to crawl out of his bargain. The syndicate, however, would not let him do so, and the case went into the English courts.

Crawford while in New York in 1882 told this story to his uncle, Sam Ward, who liked it greatly and urged him to make a short story out of it and publish it. Crawford wrote one which Uncle Sam liked, but the author did not like it, and he rewrote it in fuller form. This was "Mr. Isaacs," which swept at once into great popularity and turned its author into his life work of novelist and historian.

When Crawford left Cambridge university in England he went to Karlsruhe, the capital of Baden, Germany, to continue the study of mathematics and to learn German. Crawford possessed the "gift of tongues." Born at the Baths of Lucca and not sent until he was twelve years old to this country, where he spent three years at St. Paul's, Concord, Italian was his native tongue, and he spoke French equally well. It did not take him long to learn German at Karlsruhe. He joined a corps, became immensely popular among his fellow students and was the equal of the best of them in wrestling the schlagel. His attendance at one of the corps' knepfen nearly brought his career to an untimely end. It was the custom in Karlsruhe in those days, and may be the custom now, to turn off the gas at the main at midnight, by which time all good citizens were supposed to be safe and sound asleep in bed, and to turn it on again at 6 in the morning. "Frank" Crawford one evening left the gas turned down low in his bedroom when he started for a knepfen. He returned to his lodgings soon after midnight, forgot about having left the gas turned on and got into bed in the dark. When the valet of the corps arrived the next morning to awaken him to attend a lecture at the polytechnicum he found the room full of gas and the future author of "Mr. Isaacs" apparently dead. It took two doctors several hours to pull Crawford through.

In Mr. Crawford's beautiful villa, near Naples, there is in operation a modern system of American plumbing. The devices when introduced were unknown to the native plumbers, and Mr. Crawford was compelled to install the improvements himself, accepting such aid as the local mechanics could give. When the novelist was about ready to turn on the water, he ordered a servant to go upstairs and open a faucet and as soon as the water appeared to rap on the pipe two times. Seated on the edge of a bathtub, serenely smoking his pipe, hammer in hand, the servant awaited the moment when he was to give the signal. Unknowingly the man had opened the pipe for the shower bath, and the waters from overhead descended upon the unsuspecting novelist. He forgot the signal, but rushed to the cellar shouting that water was pouring from all sides. "Why didn't you rap?" demanded Mr. Crawford, turning off the water. "Because I got orders about water coming up from beneath, not from above," said the man, trying to drain the water from his flooded pipe.

A well known man of letters was telling stories at a literary club in Boston one night, when he was reminded of an encounter between a Bostonian professing a love of art for art's sake and F. Marion Crawford, the novelist. In a slightly patronizing manner the Boston man asked: "Have you ever aspired to write anything, Mr. Crawford, that will live after you are gone?" "My dear sir," replied Crawford, with a broad smile, "my principal effort just now is to write something that will enable me to live while I am here."

A missionary bishop told at a dinner in New York a story about F. Marion Crawford, the famous novelist. "Mr. Crawford went to school," he said, "in Concord, Mass., and one day he was taken to call on a Concord clergyman. The clergyman had a missionary box on his drawing room table, and time hanging heavily on the boy's hands, he amused himself with trying whether a silver dollar—it was all the money he had in the world and he had converted it into the gigantic coin for safety—would go into the slit in the box's top.

"It was a close fit, but unfortunately it did not, and the coin slipped out of the clergyman's fingers. There was a terrible crash, a crash of silver falling among copper, and then the boy, as the novelists say, 'knew no more.'"

"When he came to himself he found the clergyman and his family in raptures over his generosity."

Mr. Crawford died seated in a big armchair, gazing out of a window of his home at Sorrento, Italy. Before him spread the beautiful bay of Naples, into which a blood red sun was sinking. It was one of those rare, beautiful Italian sunsets, and the novelist drank in its superb coloring with all the appreciation of his artistic nature.

His mind was perfectly clear. He was oppressed by no death racking pain. One of the family was reading in a low voice "Plato's Dialogue on the Immortality of the Soul." In an interval they heard the novelist murmur: "I die with Jesus Christ."

For some time after that he sat quietly in his chair. Then, as the sun was just about to sink out of sight, his family heard him sigh and say: "I enter peacefully into eternity."

The sun disappeared. Marion Crawford was dead. The family was much affected by the solemnity of the scene. All were present except the novelist's eldest son.

BIG RAISIN DAY CAMPAIGN.

All American Navy's Ships and Entire Army Will Have Raisins April 30.

Raisins is king in Fresno, Cal. All Fresno is writing, talking, drawing, cooking, giving, shipping and eating raisins, and the committee in charge of the publicity campaign is sending tons of literature to eastern newspapers and department stores asking them to co-operate with California on Raisin day, April 30.

All the transcontinental railroads have assured the Fresno committee that travelers will know about Raisin day and eat raisins in the dining cars. The Southern Pacific will display enormous posters representing California vineyards in every passenger car as soon as the presses can get them out.

J. W. Birbeck and A. W. Schubert will visit the wholesale and retail grocers and the hotels in San Francisco and Los Angeles and ask their aid in making special displays on Raisin day. John Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor will be asked to urge the unions to give their support to Raisin day.

The women of Fresno and outlying towns are preparing a raisin palace, which will be built entirely of raisins, and in it they will serve a raisin feast, at which everything will contain the raisin, from cakes to the coffee.

A huge box of raisins will be sent to President Taft, and every warship in the United States navy will receive a box of raisins. The first of the vessels of the Asiatic fleet was sent a few days ago. The army will also eat raisins even in the far off Philippines, as the committee plans to send a supply of raisins to the posts in Mindanao, Guam, Hawaii and Alaska.

Frank Chance, captain of the Chicago Cubs, who is a Fresno boy, will display raisin advertising at the National league games. R. F. Outcault, the creator of Buster Brown, will be asked to see that Buster resolves to eat raisins in the Hearst newspapers throughout the United States.

MOVE TO BREED YAKS.

Attempt Will Be Made In Canada to Domesticate Tibet Cattle.

A small herd of yaks, a domestic animal new to this continent, but common in parts of Asia and northern Europe, will shortly be brought to Canada, under charge of the department of agriculture, with a view to ascertaining their suitability for domestication in the northern parts of the country. The Duke of Bedford has presented six yaks from his herd to the Canadian government, and they will be placed on the central experimental farm.

The yak's chief habitat is Tibet and the adjacent parts of central Asia. Its hair is long and covers in fringe like style its flanks and shoulders. The yak rug is a notable article of commerce. Yak milk is one of the chief articles of diet in Tibet. The yak does not like heat at all and is found in the summer season as high as 20,000 feet above the sea level. In Tibet it is both a wild and domesticated animal.

Firemen's Year's Pay 32,000 Pennies. On the recent annual pay day for the members of the Fire King Engine company at East Douglas, Mass., forty members, who get $3 a year each, received that amount in pennies. The number of copper coins paid was 32,000, each man's burden weighing five and one-half pounds.

Fair Offer.

"Can you tell me how to live 100 years?"

The philosopher stroked his beard thoughtfully. "I will try," he said, "if you can give any good reason for wanting to live 100 years."—Philadelphia Record.

NEW KIND OF SURGERY

High Pressure Air Apparatus Used in Thorax Operation.

KEPT BOY'S LUNGS INFLATED.

Device, First Time Used in the United States, Is Expected to Open New Field in Operations For Tuberculosis and Other Pulmonary Trouble.

The first operation in the United States upon a human being in which the cavity of the thorax was opened while the lungs were inflated from a chamber containing air at a greater pressure than that of the atmosphere was performed recently at the German hospital, Seventy-seventh street and Park avenue, New York, by Dr. Willy Meyer. That institution has been the first hospital to be equipped with the new positive air pressure apparatus. The operation upon a little boy for empyema thus far is deemed to have been successful. The patient's condition has been satisfactory since the operation.

It is believed that the use of this apparatus will open up a wide field in surgery of the thorax. Up to this time many operations in the thorax have been difficult to perform and others impossible, owing to the fact that as soon as the cavity of the thorax was opened the atmospheric pressure collapsed the lungs and breathing stopped.

The apparatus used, which is after the models of Professor Sauerbruch to a degree, consists of two chambers with a door between the chambers and a door from the smaller chamber to the outer air. The chambers are lined with rubber. To them run air pipes and valves from a compressor run by a motor.

The operating table is arranged so that the patient lies outside the main chamber with his head within it. Rubber about the neck of the patient keeps the air within the chamber from escaping. The front of the larger chamber is of glass, which allows the surgeons to see within it. Within the larger chamber when an operation is performed are two anaesthetists, who administer the ether. The smaller chamber is for the convenience. The air pressure within it is the same as that within the larger chamber and permits them to leave the patient and return without changing the pressure.

In the operation at the German hospital the pressure was increased very gradually until it was deemed at the proper degree for the operation. Then the cavity of the thorax was opened. While the lungs were inflated and respiration was going on from the compressed air chamber Dr. Meyer and his assistants were working in the open air. After the cavity of the thorax had been opened it was found that one lung was compressed. With the removal of the matter which was the object of the operation the lung expanded at once and its use in respiration returned.

This, it was said, was unusual, for without the use of the positive pressure apparatus it would have been weeks or months before the lung would have dilated sufficiently. In this way a gain was made in the convalescence of the patient. It was said that the little boy recently operated on would be out in less than a month.

The positive air pressure apparatus and its methods will be applied in the near future to other operations in which the thoracic cavity is opened. For instance, there is carcinoma of the oesophagus.

Prior to the existence of the positive air pressure apparatus it was impossible to operate for this disease. The operation, however, to relieve this has been performed successfully in Europe with the use of the apparatus. It was thought, too, that the new apparatus might lead to important results in tuberculosis. It was said that certain parts of the lungs could be cut away, since the apparatus would keep the lungs inflated with every respiration while the surgeons worked in ordinary atmospheric pressure.

POLICE WOMEN FOR BAYONNE

Laws of Politeness and Gentleness the Ones They Will Enforce.

Police women are to be a reality in Bayonne, N. J. Having been authorized by the city council, at the suggestion of Mrs. Julia Goldfarb, nine volunteers will do duty policing the park during the summer. The feminine officers will not bear the common name of police women, but will be known as guardian mothers and will not wear uniforms, as was at first reported. Their duty will not be so much to make arrests as to instill a spirit of politeness in the Bayonne youngsters. They will urge the children not to make noise, to be gentle and to rise always and give their seats to elders. The guardian mothers will do duty on alternate afternoons and will serve without pay. Some one has proposed that they carry the proverbial slipper or paddle instead of a club, but this question had not been officially settled.

Earlier Yet.

Spasms St. Vitus' Dance Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr. Miles' Nerveine upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' dance which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. I doctored with a physician, but the more I took of his medicine the worse I got. My mother's devotion saved me. After she had become almost heart-broken, as well as physically exhausted from constant care, by the advice of a neighbor she procured a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerveine. From the first dose to the last a continual change for the better was noticeable, and when I had taken eleven bottles I was well, and in robust health."

EDWARD D. BEAM, North Manchester, Indiana. "Our little boy Harry, had spasms for three years, and although we doctored with many physicians, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time our attention was called to Dr. Miles' Nerveine. We began giving it to him. His improvement seemed slow, but when he had finished the fourth bottle the spasms had disappeared, and have not been seen now for years. We shall always recommend Dr. Miles' Nerveine."

MRS. BEILE M. TINDALL, Hastings, Neb.

Dr. Miles' Nerveine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

From some unknown cause the dam across the mill pond belonging to J. W. Wilkins broke last Thursday night, and a chasm twelve feet deep and thirty feet wide was cut by the water before it was discovered. Some suppose that a muskrat working its way across the dam started the leak. There was a good head of water on and nothing could stop it until almost all the water had run out. Hardly any inconvenience was caused to those who wanted to pass as Mr. Wilkins' energy in securing help had the break repaired before night. Damages sustained about $100.

TEMPLE FOR THE BAHAIS.

Bahai'ollah's Followers Plan to Own Their Own Building in United States.

Such progress has been made by the Bahai movement in the United States that the New York delegates who returned recently from Chicago, where the first general convention was held, report that the American followers of Bahai'ollah are now planning to erect a great temple of their faith.

This will be the first edifice of the kind on the continent and the second one in the world. It will be in or near Chicago. Its architecture will be a departure from all existing forms, but will not be eastern, as might be supposed from the oriental origin of the religion.

Mountford Mills, one of the leaders in the movement in New York, said on his return that the Bahai movement was constantly gaining followers and that all parts of the United States, as well as Canada and Hawaii, were represented at the convention.

There are five groups of Bahais in New York.

The object of the movement is the religious unification of the world. The forerunner of the faith, Ali Moham-mad, rose in Shiraz, Persia, in 1844 and announced himself as preparing for the Promised One. He called himself the Bab, an Arabic word signifying "the door." He was persecuted and six years later put to death by the Persian government on being convicted of heresy.

The real founder of the faith, Bahai'ollah, succeeded him. He and his followers were sent to Acre as prisoners. To him the Bahais refer reverently as "he of Acre." The present head of the faith is the son of Bahai'ollah, known as Abbas Effendi, who was born on May 23, 1844, on the very day that the Bab proclaimed the coming of the Promised One.

MARDI GRAS FOR GOLDEN GATE

Portola Festival at San Francisco in Honor of Spanish Explorer.

San Francisco is to have a week of revelry, like the Mardi Gras, next October that will be long remembered.

It will be known as the "Portola festival," and it is to be in honor of Gaspar de Portola (accent on the last syllable), who was dispatched by the rulers of Spain to explore this great western country and who, in October, 1769, reached the peninsula and from the heights of Pilar point looked down upon San Francisco bay. De Portola was afterward distinguished as the first governor of California.

The festival will be opened on Oct. 19 and will continue for almost a week. During that period the city will be at home to all the world. Guests will be invited from the eastern states and from foreign lands. They will be asked to come and see the metropolis which has been born anew at the Golden Gate.

Powerful Gun For Philippines.

It is suggested that the sixteen inch gun now lying unmounted at Sandy Hook be sent to the Philippines and mounted on the fortifications now under construction at Corregidor island for the defense of Manila. This gun would command the channel there, which the twelve inch gun will not do, and it can deliver a blow at a distance of 10,000 to 12,000 yards which would sink any ship afloat, racking the steel frame and armor bearing of the ship and starting a leak.

NEW RAILROAD PROJECT MEETS WITH SUCCESS.

227 Shares Of Stock Subscribed For
By People In Lower Section Of County Who Will Receive
The Greatest Benefit.

That a steam railroad is to be built in this section of the peninsula connecting several of the towns in the lower part of Wicomico county is now practically an assured fact. An enthusiastic meeting was held last Saturday night at Bivalve and 227 shares of stock in the new enterprise were subscribed for by men from Bivalve and Nanticoke. It is the intention of the promoters of the scheme to build a railroad from Fenwick's Island to Laurel, then to Sharptown, then to Quantico, crossing the B. C. & A. Ry. tracks somewhere between Hebron and Mardela. From Quantico the road will extend to Tyaskin, crossing at Wetip-quin ferry, thence to Bivalve and terminating at Nanticoke Point.

The Railroad is to cost about $400,- 000. Of this amount a large percentage has been raised by Philadelphia capitalists, about $35,000 has been subscribed by the business interests of Laurel and the remainder will be taken up by those interested along the line of the road.

Several times an effort has been made to establish a railroad between Salisbury and these points but as the business men of this city have been slow to cooperate with the city capitalists in the matter nothing has ever materialized except the formation of a company. A few weeks ago, it is understood, another attempt was made to interest Salisburyans in the project, without success, and it was then that the matter was laid before the business men of Laurel with the result that $35,000 of the stock was taken up immediately.

Installs Gasoline Tank.

A modern system is being installed for the purpose of supplying gasoline for the numerous craft on the Wi-comico river. An arrangement has been made with the Standard Oil Co.
by Mr. Glen Perdue of the Farmers & Planters Company by which the latter concern will supply all of the gasoline for the river trade. In order to facilitate the handling of the oil and at the same time save the expense of hauling, a large tank is being installed on the wharf property opposite Fulton Station convenient to the switch of the B. C. & A. Railway Company. The tank has a capacity of 7,000 gallons. A pipe line has been laid from the tank to the river front below the pivot bridge terminating with stations at three of the most convenient wharves.
The pipe was driven under Main street
so as to save taking up the brick pavement. On the wharf a pump will be installed and gasoline can be pumped direct into the tanks of gasoline boats, and an attachment to the pump registers accurately the amount taken.

This is a decided improvement over the old plan of hauling the gasoline from the tanks near the N. Y. P. & N.
Depot.

Daily Boat Service.

Information has been given out from the offices of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company,
in Baltimore, to the effect that an extra steamer will be put in service on the Wicomico River line during the shipping season. This will give points between Salisbury and Baltimore a daily boat and will greatly facilitate the handling of produce. It is understood that the "Enoch Pratt" will be commissioned for the Wicomico river.
The service will be started as soon as the shipping season opens.

COURT OF APPEALS TO DECIDE EXCURSION CASE.

Appellant, One Of The Excursionists
Who Were Left At Chesapeake
Beach Last Summer, Sues
To Recover Damages.

Monday, in the Court of Appeals of Maryland, the case of Mr. Lafayette
Mills vs. the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company will be heard. This is an action brought by Lafayette Mills against the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company on account of damages and injuries which he sustained by reason of alleged negligence on the part of the defendant company and its failure to transport him from Chesapeake Beach, Md., to Salisbury, Md., on August 17, 1908.

The appellant was a passenger on an excursion to Chesapeake Beach and Washington last Summer, who, among scores of other passengers, was left in a terrible thunder storm on the wharf at the beach, the boat which was to have brought them to the train at Chesapeake Beach having left the wharf
before their return from Washington.
The passengers bought excursion tickets from the beach to the Capital while crossing the bay in the morning and were informed that the train in the evening would be run in two sections both of which would connect with the boat. About 150 of the passengers took the second section of the train and arrived at Chesapeake Beach just as the boat was leaving the pier. The boat was still in hailing distance but refused to return and take them on, and the passengers were compelled to return to Salisbury by various routes.

This is a test case and if decided in favor of the appellant suits will be instituted by the other passengers on the excursion.

The appellant is represented by Messrs. Elmer H. Walton and Toadvin & Bell, and the railroad company is represented by Robert P. Graham, Esq., of Baltimore.

Two Buildings Destroyed.

About one o'clock Sunday the alarm of fire called the local department to the residence of Mr. John Carlson, E.
Church street. In some unknown matter the blaze started in the roof of the upholstery establishment of Mr. E. D.
Bates, and owned by Mr. W. C. Gullett. From there the flames were communicated to the upper part of the Carlson house and in a few minutes the entire building was enveloped in the flames. The prompt work of the firemen saved the adjoining dwellings as a strong wind was blowing at the time. As it was the fire was confined to the upholstery establishment and the house with a loss of several hundred dollars. The Carlson house is owned by Capt. L. A. Parsons, Mr.
Carlson, with his family, escaped without injury and most of the household goods were saved. In the morning about 10 o'clock Messrs. W. C. Powell and Isma Killiam noticed that the roof of Mr. Bates' shop was on fire and the flames were extinguished. It is thought that after smoldering a few hours the blaze broke out again.

Maccabees In Session.

The third annual convention of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World for Maryland and Delaware was assembled at Company C. Armory, Cambridge, Tuesday morning. The address of welcome was delivered by Calvin Trice, of the Cambridge bar. W. F.
Ackler responded.

At the afternoon session, officers were elected as follows: W. F. Ackler, state commander; H. F. Gettler, lieutenant commander; A. J. Steinmetz, recorder-keeper; Israel S. Gomboroy, chaplain; E. E. Wolff, medical examiner; H. W. Gunther, sergeant; J. C.
McLaughlin, master-at-arms; S. L.
V. Young, master-of-guards; E. C. Parsons, second master-of-guards; H. B.
Johnson, sentinel; T. E. Youngblood, picket.

A class of 35 was initiated in the evening, after which there was a banquet at Hotel Dixon. The convention adjourned yesterday evening.

For Republican State Convention.

Chairman John B. Hanna, of the Republican State Central Committee, said yesterday that the committee to select the date for the state convention will meet about the 18th or 19th of May. Among Mr. Hanna's callers were former Congressman Frank C.
Watcher.

TRAMP JUMPS HIS JOB WHEN MADE TO WORK.

Tired Of Cleaning Court House Yard
Vagrant Makes Successful Dash For Liberty—Plan To Rid Salisbury Of Tramps.

Taking advantage of a moment when the eyes of Deputy Sheriff Waller and Justice of the Peace Trader were turned in the opposite direction, John Smith, a tramp, who was sentenced to clean up the court house grounds, took "French" leave, after working only a couple of hours yesterday morning.
Larry Collins, who is serving time in the county jail, who was cutting the grass on the court house lawn at the time, promptly started in pursuit of the fugitive but the tramp was fleet of foot, if not fond of work, and he was not overtaken until he reached the bridge on the Middle Neck road beyond the city limits.

Collins, however, was obliged to return to the court house without the tramp. When the knight of the road came to the conclusion that he could not outrun Collins he picked up a big stone lying in the road and threatened to brain him. Collins, being of the opinion that the tramp meant business, and not wishing to tackle him alone, called two negroes who were within hailing distance, but when they saw what was wanted of them, they flatly refused to help. The result was that the tramp went on his way rejoicing and Collins, empty handed and all out of breath, returned to report the escape of the vagrant.

Smith was one of a number of idlers
who have been making kitchen door calls regularly in the residence section of the city and was arrested by the local authorities for begging. The idea of putting tramps to work originated in the mind of Justice Trader after several arrests on the same charge had been made.

Seriously, the idea is a splendid one and, if followed up, will tend to put the ban on idlers and beggars in Salisbury. There have been numerous complaints lately about tramps, some of them becoming insolent in their persistent demands for food and money. Only a few days ago a tramp is known to have stated, when offered food, that he had plenty to eat and that he wanted money.

The action of the authorities in placing all vagrants under arrest and Desecrated Graves.

The arrest of Ex-State Treasurer T.
N. Rawlins, Rev. E. J. Winder, L. N.
Butler, Edwin Willey and several other prominent citizens of Seaford, Delaware, caused considerable excitement in that town on Wednesday. The trouble was brought about by reason of the fact that the old Methodist Episcopal Church building and graveyard had been occupied for some time by Jesse A. Wright, who claims to have purchased the property from the trustees about ten years ago. At that time, it is said, he paid a part of the purchase money and took a receipt therefor. Later, however, when he tried to secure the title to the property
it was refused and since then every means has been used to attempt to force him to vacate the premises.

Wright has been using the property in connection with his ice plant and has a moving picture parlor in operation in the old church. Last year, by an act of the Legislature, the yard became a public burying ground entrusted to the town of Seaford. When Mr. Rawlins and other citizens of the town therefore attempted to use the place for this purpose their arrest occurred, instigated by Wright. Thursday, however, Wright himself was arrested and placed under $1,000.00 bail for his appearance at the next term of court on the charge of desecration of the graves.

Fifteen Confirmed.

The meeting of the Southern Convocation of the Diocese of Eastern, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was held at old St. Mary's Chapel, Tyaskin, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.
On Wednesday morning a class of fifteen was confirmed by Bishop Adams
in the presence of the largest congregation in the history of the chapel. The class had been instructed by Rev.
F. B. Adkins, who is rector of the parish.

CUT DOWN EXPENSES. SAYS GOVERNOR CROTHERS.

Chief Executive Suggests That Cost Of Education Of Pupils Be Reduced In The Counties At Meeting In Baltimore.

That efforts should be made to reduce the cost of conducting the educational system of the State without impairing its efficiency in any detail was the opinion expressed to the members of the State Board of Education by Governor Crothers at their meeting Thursday.

While the Governor did not make any practicable suggestions as to how this was to be done, he said that it should be kept steadily in view. He recommended, however, that high schools should not be built unless they were of an advantage to the educational system. At the next session of the Legislature, he suggested, a law be passed giving the board authority in conjunction with local authorities in the selection of high schools. In accordance with the policy of the Governor the board reported some saving has already been made.

An offer of the directors of the Tome Institute to give 10 free scholarships to the State was accepted. Four of the scholarships are to go to Baltimore city and six to the counties. The term at the Institute is two years, and five appointments are to be made each year. State Superintendent Stephens was authorized to request principals of the county high schools to recommend applicants for the scholarships.
The appointments will be made by the different boards.

Permission was granted the county school teachers of Allegany county to use the Frostburg Normal School for a summer school for teachers this year. Mr. A. C. Willison, Superintendent of public instruction of Alle-gany county, will conduct a series of summer lectures.

The topic for the Maryland Day celebration which will be held in the schools of the State on March 25 of next year will be "Education in Maryland."

To Incorporate Company.

A stock company is about to be organized in this city for the manufacture and sale of the T. & S. Pea and Bean Harvester and Thresher. The company will be incorporated, with a capital of $10,000.00. For the first year the machines will be manufactured under contract and at the end of that time it is the intention of those interested in the scheme to erect a suitable plant here. Among those who have already agreed to subscribe for stock in the concern are Messrs.
James E. Ellegood, William M. Cooper,
White Lowe, Glen Perdue and James
A. Waller and a large block of the stock will be retained by Messrs.
Tharp & Sexton, who are the owners of the patent rights of the machine.

The T. & S. Harvester is the invention of Mr. B. Tharp and is recognized as one of the best pea and bean harvesters on the market. A large number of machines have been manufactured and sold to farmers in this section and have proven successful in every instance. It is expected that the stock will be subscribed for largely by farmers in this section of the Peninsula.

The City Election.

The city election was held Tuesday
but as there was no opposition to the regularly nominated Democratic ticket, a small vote was polled. Three Councilmen were voted for and the result was as follows:

William E. Sheppard.....116
Herbert H. Hitch.....119
Charles E. Bennett.....114

These gentlemen are at present serving in the Council and were renominated and elected without opposition.

Fought In Boat—Four Dead.

Word was received here yesterday afternoon that three men and one woman were drowned in the Nanticoke river, within six miles of Seaford just below Woodland. It is supposed they were colored people on their way to Seaford to pick berries.

The men were fighting over a bottle believed to contain whiskey and upset the small craft. All four drowned.
Their bodies have not been recovered.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Residents Of East Salisbury Ask For Building Beyond N. Y., P. & N. Railroad Depot.

The meeting of the School Board on Friday last was very lengthy, due to a large amount of business to be disposed of. The Board was in session until late in the afternoon.

The residents of East Salisbury presented to the Board a petition signed by 107 residents asking for the erection of a school building at some point beyond the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad. These signers represent 150 children attending the public schools of this city. According to the records in the office there are enough scholars residing in the section east of the railroad to justify the erection of a building to accommodate six grades. The Board has inspected several sites in that section, and will endeavor to erect a school building this summer.

Secretary Holloway reported to the Board the resignation of Miss Christine Richards, who for the past two years has been teacher of music in the Wicomico High School. It is understood that Miss Richards will return to her home in Bristol, Conn., at the close of the school year.

Secretary Holloway reported the following number of graduates this year in the schools of the county: Wicomico High School, 17; Sharptown High School, 5; Riverton Central School, 3; Pittsville Central School, 3; Mardela Central School, 1; Quantico Central School, 9. In most of these schools graduation exercises will be held.

The resignations of Miss Alma B. Vincent, teacher of Johnson School, and Miss Lillian Ellis, teacher of the Fruitland School, were presented to the Board on Friday.

The teachers of Salisbury Grammar School reported to the Board that they cleared $80 from the recital given last week, and that the amount had been deposited in a bank as a nucleus to the fund that is being raised for the purchase of a piano for the Grammar School.

Bad Narrow Escape.

The Times-Democrat, of New Orleans, La., in its issue of April 26th, says:

"While towing an empty barge up the Mississippi river, under a full head of steam, at 4:25 o'clock yesterday morning, and in midstream off Point Celeste, forty one miles below the city, the towboat Eagle, owned by the Louisiana Petroleum Company, with offices in the Godchaux building, listed violently from the popping of a ratchet chain attached to the barge, and went down in 150 feet of water. Eight of the crew, thrown suddenly into the water, had almost miraculous escapes, being saved by holding on to floating wreckage until rescued, while the other eight of the entire crew, including Capt. George George, one of the oldest and best known steamboat men in these waters, are missing, and are supposed to have been drowned, as a thorough search, made all along the lower coast yesterday by a relief party on the tug R. W. Wilnot, failed to find any traces of them."

"According to the statement made by George R. Lankford, the clerk on board the oil boat, he was asleep at the time the wreck occurred and being awakened by the noise, jumped out of his bunk. As he did so, the boat careened, and fearing an explosion on account of the oil tanks, he dived into the river. He stayed under the water as long as he could, and when he came to the surface swallowed considerable water and oil. He saw a plank which had been torn loose from the boat and grabbed that, which kept him above the water until he was rescued."

Mr. Lankford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Lankford, of Princess Anne.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

STATE BOARD OF FORESTRY.

Plans Exhaustive Surveys in All Eastern Shore Counties And Will Issue State Map.

The Maryland State Board of Forestry began active work last Saturday. According to the present plans of the Board, exhaustive forest surveys will be made in Talbot, Somerset, Caroline and Montgomery counties. If time will permit, operations will be extended into Dorchester county. These surveys will be made for purpose of continuing the preparation of maps of each of the counties of the State, which was begun several years ago.

At the completion of the survey of all the counties of the State, which will take about two years, the Board of Forestry will issue a State map. These surveys of the Board have furnished the people of the State with much valuable knowledge. In Prince George's and Wicomico counties, for instance, the Board of Forestry discovered that cultivation of some good tracts of land has been abandoned in recent years, and that these are being rapidly covered with timber. The same is true in Calvert county to a great extent. In other counties, however, it has been found that a great deal of forest land has been taken over for agricultural purposes.

From the maps and surveys preliminary reports of the conditions in each county are being printed and distributed to landowners and other interested parties. These present in a condensed form some of the results obtained through the work of the Board. They show the wooded area, stand and value of the timber by election districts. It is the intention of the Board of Forestry to issue more detailed reports in co-operation with the State Geological Survey.

A Woman's Idea Of Summer Comfort.

To every woman, especially the woman who keeps house, the topic of summer comfort in the home is one of never failing interest.

This is particularly true where comfort in the kitchen is concerned, as it is this one room that is the most trying, part of the work is done, such as cooking, baking, ironing and heating water for wash-day purposes. Even in cool weather such work is not altogether welcome, but it becomes drudgery on days when the mercury is trying to jump through the top of the thermometer, aided by a hot stove that diffuses its almost unbearable heat through the kitchen.

But such days are past. With the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove, kitchen drudgery becomes a kitchen comfort, for this wonderful stove is so constructed that it not only produces quick results, but does it all without perceptibly raising the kitchen temperature.

All this means real comfort to the woman who works in the kitchen, especially when considered with the added advantages in the saving of time; in the doing away with all carrying of coal, wood and ashes; in having a stove that can be turned on or off, high or low, as required; and in not having to keep it lighted when not in use.

Then there is the saving of fuel to be considered; and it is here also that the New Perfection excels. Although equipped with three burners it has but one oil reservoir, thus reducing three separate filling operations to one.

Besides all this, the "New Perfection" is the only oil stove built with a cabinet top. Its commodious top shelf is particularly useful for warming plates and keeping food hot after it is cooked.

In addition there are two drop shelves on which may be set the teapot or coffee pot and small cooking utensils. Also has two racks for holding towels.

Altogether the "New Perfection" is a stove of wonderful utility. Its extremely handsome appearance sets off any kitchen to full advantage. It is superior to the hot coal range no matter what the point of comparison may be—or whether regarded as a summer stove only or a stove for year 'round use.

Another household article of unusual convenience is the Rayo Lamp, a scientifically constructed lamp that will adorn any room—whether library, parlor or dining room or bed room. The Rayo Lamp gives a mellow steady light that does not tire the eyes. Its center draft burner of the latest design and its fine porcelain shade make it a lamp of combined usefulness and beauty.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove and the Rayo Lamp constitute two household articles that will meet any woman's idea of home comfort. In the thousands of homes in which they are already used they are making things cheerful because of their absolute safety, great simplicity, and wonderful convenience.

Mr. M. Mr. Stephens expressed himself as well pleased with the school and the work being done there. Friday he spent in Crisfield and visited the high school of that town. During his stay in Princess Anne he took occasion, as a representative of the State Board of Education, to pay a visit to the Princess Anne Academy, an institution for colored youths and a branch of Morgan College, Baltimore from that place to Princess Anne and making it a department of that academy, the State Board believing the location of the school in the country would be more desirable than a continuance of it in the city.

New Home Completed.

The finishing touches are being put on the new Home for the Aged, and as soon as the floors are finished the Board of Lady Managers will move the patients from the old home to the new one. The new home is certainly a beautiful one and is a credit to the indomitable will of the ladies composing the Board, especially the president, Mrs. L. D. Collier, who has done more, perhaps, to bring about this great work than any one else. Mrs. Collier secured the funds to purchase the first home, and then worked diligently to secure the State appropriation for its maintenance, following it up by aiding in getting the last appropriation towards building this new home.

The building is complete in every detail, with beautiful sun parlors, large verandas, roomy airy and pleasant bed rooms, a most complete dining room with large glass side windows to make it cheerful, and in fact, everything to make the home the most complete building of its kind on the Peninsula.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains any many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 313 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy bearing-down sensation through my hips. No matter what I did or took, this misery clung to me and I was also bothered when I arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store in return for the relief they brought me. I consider them worthy of my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York. Sole agents for the United States.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul's First Missionary Journey, Antioch in Pisidia." Discussed by A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT.—The word of the Lord was published throughout all the country.

When Barnabas with Paul had visited and preached the gospel throughout his home land, Cyprus, they sailed to Perga, the capital of Pamphylia, on the Northern coast of the Mediterranean Sea, in Southern Asia Minor. After teaching here, they proceeded North, possibly one hundred miles from the coast, to Antioch in Pisidia. This Antioch must not be confounded with Antioch of Syria. It is probably one of a number of towns of the same name, named in honor of Antiochus by his son, who conquered them. It was a principal city of that province, situated on the great road traversing Asia Minor, connecting it with the east over which the great caravan travel passed. The country had been recently subjugated by Rome but remained rather unsettled. It was infested by robbers, bandits, and unsettled tribes making travel dangerous, and, no doubt, here occurred what Paul recounts as many dangers, perils by land, cold, hunger, nakedness, and wilderness.

Still many Jews must have settled in Antioch as there was a synagogue there, and, upon the Sabbath after Paul and Barnabas arrived, there were two strangers at the service. After the usual lesson read from the Old Testament Scriptures, the strangers were invited to deliver any message they might have for the people. Please read Paul's sermon carefully, also compare it with Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost, and Paul's address at Jerusalem (Acts. 22), and his address before Agrippa (Acts. 26).

The first appeal was made to the Jews, and it is interesting to note the effect upon them. We do not know the lesson of the day. Only, as was the custom, it was from the Old Testament Scriptures, but Paul must preach his great theme; Jesus is the Promised Messiah. Paul recounts much scripture to them, (verses 17-37). This sermon must have been a long one, as Paul recounts the gospel history of the Promised Messiah, and the crucified and risen Saviour. What a great missionary sermon, not to ignorant heathens who had never heard of a promised Saviour, but to those who looked for one. A sermon on the central theme of their religion, and bold, because the Jews had fixed ideas against this doctrine. It was strongly doctrinal, and of personal application. Paul preached to the Jew first, and made the application strong. That now was sin remitted only through Christ, and now he preached this Christ to them, that by belief in him they might be justified, and made free from all things. Justification by faith,—how clear Paul makes it, so clear that the Gentiles in the synagogue hear it with joy, and ask for further instruction on the following Sabbath. What a glad season for Antioch! The Gentile hears how his sin may be remitted. Many had heard of God's promises, and studied his dealings with man, and had cast their lot in with Israel, but now the new light breaks in, and they, in a trusting spirit, accept the glad tidings of the fulfillment of God's promise.

The preaching of Christ by His ministers always has, as an effect, one of two things, acceptance or rejection. Some accepted here, as Paul and Barnabas had after meeting, and those who accepted Christ were counselled and urged to continue. The interest was great, for, on the following Sabbath, almost the entire city came to hear, and the gospel was published throughout the entire country.

The Jews refused Christ because of their envy. They saw the Gentiles flock to Paul and Barnabas, and noted that they were promised life and salvation in ways not consistent with Jewish rites. They were willing that Gentiles might become proselytes to their church by conforming to its rules and ceremonies, but, by free grace, to become heirs of righteousness was to them impossible. So they spoke against it, denounced Christ and Paul, and when Paul held out the danger signal, "Beware," they blasphemed and thus rejected. This is the worst rejecter of all. The one who has tried to get close to God in his own way, who has learned of His promises and His treatment of man, but, who, having formed ideas of his own concerning what God will or should do, and refusing the office of the Holy Spirit, rejects Christ and rejects truth.

Do men judge themselves when they hear the word of Christ preached? Paul says they do. The Jews judged themselves unworthy of everlasting life. Every soul who hears Christ preached judges not others, but itself. We cannot change the condition of this great question. All of the argument of the synagogue or teaching of philosophy cannot change it, or the proposition put forth for the alleviation of this condition. All sin, sorrow, and death came into the world through a belief in falsehood, and relief comes only by the acceptance and belief in truth. Through Jesus is the way to all truth.

Paul carried the truth out to the city. What a beautiful study, and how faithfully he proclaims it, publishing it in this new country under very trying circumstances. Let us study carefully these labors of Paul's, and understand what he taught, to whom he taught, and its results, and make a personal application.

County Commissioners.

County Commissioners have given notice that a commission composed of S. P. Parsons, John Lank and Engineer Clark has been appointed to examine and report on the widening and straightening of the public road from the end of the shell road at the Bayard Perdue farm to Parsonsburg. The commission will meet on Monday, May 17, at Parsonsburg, to take up the question.

The County Commissioners are of the opinion that the best way to improve this road after it is graded and properly ditched, is to build a shell road under the Shoemaker Act. In speaking of this improvement, Prudent Cooper of the Board said:

"I am extremely pleased to know that the people living along this road are anxious for this improvement. It is a very bad piece of road and should be permanently improved with a good Shoemaker shell road. Along this road are some of the most progressive farmers in the county, who are improving their lands and equipping their farms with modern machinery, stock, etc. The thing that will help them as much as anything will be a good shell road to Parsonsburg. We intend to go ahead on the proposition just as soon as the commission makes its report."

The secretary reported that the attendance in several of the two and three room schools had fallen below the legal requirements. The Board instructed the secretary that when ever these conditions existed to close one or two of the rooms in each building and consolidate the pupils, so as to cut down expenses.

A delegation composed of Principal White, of the Sharptown High School, Mrs. L. I. MacDougle, Mrs. B. W. Phillips, Mrs. J. R. Elzer and Miss Berkeley Wright, members of the Patrons Club of the Sharptown High School, appeared before the Board to urge several improvements to the interior of the building, among them the refurnishing of two or three of the rooms and the decoration of the walls and ceilings.

Proved His Theory, but Died.

The acme of realism was reached, though by accident, in a criminal trial a number of years ago at Lebanon, O. Two men had a personal encounter. One of them after vainly trying to draw his pistol from his hip pocket turned to flee. A moment later he fell, shot in the small of the back. One chamber of his pistol was found to have been fired. His assailant was tried for murder. The defense contended that the man had shot himself while trying to draw his pistol, which had become entangled in the lining of the pocket, and that the prisoner's shot had not taken effect. The prosecution contended that such a wound could not have been self-inflicted. The defendant's counsel, Clement L. Vallandigham, undertook to demonstrate to the jury just how the dead man's pistol had hung in the pocket and just how possible it was to inflict such a wound. Suddenly there was a loud report, and the lawyer sank to the floor. The ball had entered the back almost in the identical spot where the dead man had been shot. The defendant was acquitted. Mr. Vallandigham died.—Exchange.

Another Business Opportunity For Salisbury.

If the proposed line from Nanticoke Point to Laurel, Delaware, is built as now contemplated it will mean a great loss to Salisbury, and the business men and capitalists here should certainly make an earnest effort to keep the entire trade of the lower end of the county from being diverted to another State. The people of Nanticoke District naturally prefer to trade here and are much more identified with the local interests than with the business houses of Laurel, but if there appears to be an opening whereby they can have their district developed, and the city markets opened to them they will unquestionably take advantage of the opportunity presented.

At the meeting which was held at Bivalve last Saturday night, it is stated that 227 shares of the stock at the par value of $50.00 each was subscribed by residents of that District. This shows conclusively that the people of the lower part of the county are interested in better transportation facilities and should have them. This Laurel-Sharpstown-Quantico project at present offers the only available relief, and rather than take the chances of securing a road to Salisbury, they propose to take the one which seems probable and feasible. We have talked with a number of those who subscribed and they state that they would have preferred to have made the same, or a greater subscription, for one to this place, but the line has been agitated so long, and no results have been accomplished that they could not afford to turn down a proposition which seemed to offer the hope of a railroad through their section within a comparatively few months. They stated that that seemed to be almost the unanimous opinion of those who subscribed at that time. They want a railroad. If they can get it to Salisbury, so much the better, but they prefer one to almost any place rather than have none at all.

It is easy to appreciate the feelings of these people on the subject, cut off as they are at the present time, and confined to their water facilities. The line to Laurel connecting with the Delaware Road would give them a splendid outlet direct to the Northern cities, and be the means of developing to a great extent that section of the county.

A road to Salisbury, would, however, accomplish the same result, and mean much for the people of this place. It would be unfortunate if the trade from the lower end of Wicomico should be entirely diverted from the county seat, and this would certainly be the direct result of the line by the Sharpstown-Laurel route. The merchants here would soon feel the effects of such a condition if the line should actually be built. Salisbury is in that position today where it needs all the business it can command. It should attempt to hold the trade it now has and secure additional business at the same time. Surely it would be a backward step to permit the completion of a project of this kind, if it could be avoided. We fully sympathize with the citizens of Nanticoke in their efforts to obtain these facilities, if it be possible, and would not for a moment advocate any interference with the proposed plans, unless the people here can give some assurance of the line to Salisbury. A road should undoubtedly be built and if the capitalists here are not in a position to offer them the relief sought, then they would be more than justified in siding in the promotion of the other scheme. But we feel certain that if it should be built, the longer it is in operation, the more apparent will be the great mistake which was made by our people in permitting to pass unimproved this splendid opportunity which is now offered not only to hold their present trade, but in extending their business as well.

Good Doctrine From A Doubtful Source.

The Honorable J. Fred C. Talbot, who holds in his hands the destinies of the Democratic party of Baltimore County, has actually announced that the State Central Committee has formally decided to hold the primaries under the Crawford County Plan. Wonderful, wonderful! What has struck the Congressman from the Second District in the latter days of his reign? His reformation seems to be complete and sweeping. Listen to this war horse of Democracy, who has upon him the scars of many a hard fought battle and who has never lowered his colors in the face of any foe, as he makes the solemn declaration: "It is plainly evident that a large majority of the Democrats of the County favor the Crawford County system and that the popular will of the people should prevail." Splendid doctrine, high, lofty, sublime, but from what a source! As the wondering peasants on the plains of Galilee once propounded the perplexing questions "Can any good come out of Nazareth", so the wondering politicians of Maryland in the modern phraseology of the day are asking each other, "What has the Hon. J. Fred up his sleeve at this stage of the political game?"

Editorial Jottings.

It is almost time for that baseball club.

Salisbury never looked prettier than it does this year in the freshness of its Spring attire.

If this weather continues for a while, Ocean City will become popular much earlier than usual and there will soon be a rush for the seashore.

The Democratic exchanges in this Judicial District are wonderfully quiet upon the Judgeship question. The subject seems to be bothering them not a little, and the difficulty is to know how to approach it.

The Baltimore News recently hurled a broadside at the proposed Constitutional Amendment. The Democrats will have a wild and rough road for their pet scheme this year, and the chances are improving all the time for its overwhelming defeat.

The return of the "good old summer time" has a fascination all its own, but this year it is doubly welcome. It will largely bring relief from the inverted umbrellas whose flowery tops of the waste basket variety are now adorning the feminine portion of humanity.

The Salisbury Advertiser is having an uphill fight in its efforts to have the Democratic State Central Committee of this county adopt the Crawford County plan. The Advertiser may shout itself hoarse, but there is nothin' doin' for the Ring is 'agin' it.

The County Commissioners are evidently determined that the pea patch for which the Court House lawn has been famous for several years will not be one of the features of Division Street this year. They have now gotten it in good condition and it makes a splendid appearance.

The continued atrocities in Turkey and the fresh outbreak by which additional thousands of Christians have been slain, have again shocked the civilizations of the world, and yet not a single effort has been put forth by the Powers to stop the outrages. The latest massacres have occurred apparently with the positive knowledge of the Turkish Government, and practically with its connivance and assistance.

The latest discovery in science, it is claimed, is an accurate method of precisely measuring the degree of veracity of the subject tested. Not only can habitual liars be readily detected, but by means of delicate instruments and recorders of wave thoughts the mental reaction can be ascertained and exact state of credibility determined. These "liarometers" would expose a man like a newspaper register shows up that common class of publications which sail under false colors and claim a circulation of several hundred more than they actually have, in order to secure better advertising rates and a greater demand for space.

What a difference it makes "as to whose ox is being gored!" Maryland has two Democratic United States Senators, both equally amenable to the party on the great tariff issue, but what a vast difference in their attitude toward that important subject. The Eastern Shore Senator is actually supporting the lumber schedules proposed by Senator Aldrich, a spectacle which must make the Democratic faithful gnash their teeth in impotent rage. But the explanation of this sudden conversion to Republican doctrine is close at hand. Under the brief sketches of the careers of the members of the Upper House under the name of John Walter Smith may be found this simple and yet all enlightening statement: "He is engaged in the lumber business in Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina."

Reports from Dorchester indicate that the Judgeship fight between Chief Judge Laird Henry and Messrs. John R. Pattison and Fred H. Fletcher will be a heated one, though little is being said publicly. It seems to be generally believed that Somerset will support the one who is victorious in this contest, and with the nine votes from these two Counties, he would of course, secure without trouble the nomination at Ocean City on August 18th. The same reports seem to indicate that Associate Judge Robley D. Jones, of Snow Hill, will be nominated without opposition. But the natural question arises as to whether Somerset will not likely demand from Dorchester its support for one of its own number in return for its endorsement of their candidate. In that event Judge Jones would unfortunately be left out in the cold and the interesting question would then be "Who is Somerset's choice." It is more than possible that a candidate will be forthcoming when the proper time arrives.

FOOS ENGINES

are not the cheapest engine per rated h. p. on the market; but contradictory as it may seem, they are the least expensive. For, in considering engine expenses, the first cost is not the most important feature.

It's the economy of operation the freedom from repair bills, the sure, safe service yielded by

The Foos Gasolene Engines

in the after years that made them, of all known engines, the least expensive.

BIG TREAT FOR LEPERS

Moving Pictures Give Many at Molokai First View of World.

INTENSE INTEREST SHOWN.

Several of the unfortunate but eager spectators had never seen a city. Result of the Contribution of a Special Fund to Buy a Machine.

One of the most marvelous experiences in the history of the Molokai leper settlement came to the people of that shut-in isolation a short time ago when a moving picture machine was installed in Beretania hall, their public place of assemblage, for their entertainment.

It was not merely that they saw moving pictures for the first time, but for the first time, to a very great number of them, it was their first glimpse into the world beyond the narrow confines of the settlement. Very many of them had never seen a city until they saw those projected on the moving picture screen. Elephants, camels, bears, lions and the other animals of the circus or the zoo were presented to them for the first time. Fire engines, police patrols, moving troops, the thousand and one commonplaces of the picture machine, came to them not only with the force of novelty, but with the effect of something unheard of and undreamed of before.

Some months ago at the suggestion of Superintendent McVeigh of the settlement a movement was started to procure a moving picture machine to be sent to the settlement for the entertainment of the people there. A fund was contributed, the machine and a supply of films were bought, and R. K. Bonine, who has traveled the world over securing strange scenes for moving picture exhibitions, volunteered to go over and install the machine. This he did, and the greatest interest in the matter was felt at the settlement. Every operation of the process of installing the apparatus was watched by nearly the whole population, and when finally the first exhibition was given wonder and excitement knew no bounds.

In addition to the films that have been provided by the donors for the settlement, Mr. Bonine took a large number of his own films to exhibit there for the entertainment of the people. So intensely interested were they that no amount of repetition of the pictures seemed to tire them. At their earnest invitation Mr. Bonine decided to remain another week at the settlement to exhibit his own pictures often enough so that every one in the settlement shall have opportunity to see them and more thoroughly to instruct some of the lepers how to manipulate the machine, so that there need be no interruption in the regularity or frequency of the exhibitions after he leaves. It is expected that funds for new films will be donated from time to time by the public in Honolulu, so that the people at the settlement will have new moving pictures to look at at intervals. Mr. Bonine says that in all his experience he has never seen such absorbing interest in moving pictures anywhere. —Honolulu Special Correspondence New York Post.

ODD FASHION IN BOUQUETS.

New Yorkers Marvel at an Easter Parade's Floral Pillow.

There were many novel features to the Easter parade in Riverside drive, New York, the other day, but the couple who attracted most attention comprised a middle aged man and woman obviously out to exhibit their spring finery.

What drew the eyes, however, was not so much the man's ultra shiny champagne, gray spats and accurately pressed frock coat as his companion's enormous peach basket hat and costume of brilliant colors, which no man could describe.

It was a new fashion in bouquets that initiated that left the passerby agape. It suggested nothing so much as the floral pillows once popular at some funerals.

The body of the bouquet was of violets. This was outlined at the top with a double row of lilies of the valley and at the bottom with a large cluster of bright red roses. The entire creation extended from beneath her chin to her waist.

"It's easy to tell where that came from," one startled spectator said to another. "The husband's an undertaker."

Practical.

Elderly Gentleman (putting his head in at the door)—Mrs. Wilkins, will you be my wife? I have $2,000 and a good home. I'll give you three minutes to make up your mind.

Mrs. Wilkins (promptly)—I've $3,000 and a better house than yours, and I'll give you three minutes to get out of this.—London Tit-Bits.

The Whole Story.

"I hear you are giving up your charge," said one aged and infirm minister to another the other day. "How are your people taking it?"

"Oh, well," was the answer, "I'm resigning and they're resigned."—Liverpool Mercury.

HER EASTER HAT A STARTLER

Trenton (N. J.) Girl Wore Wonderfully Trimmed Wastebasket.

Miss Roberta Stover, the daughter of one of the largest manufacturers in Trenton, N. J., created a sensation on Easter Sunday afternoon by appearing on the fashionable thoroughfares of the city wearing a hat of her own creation. It was a waste paper basket elaborately trimmed with two feather dusters, an ear of corn, a miniature suit case, a squash, a pincushion resembling a strawberry, a clay turkey and a lemon.

The streets were crowded with Easter promenaders, and Miss Stover attracted a great deal of attention. She was escorted by her two brothers. During the afternoon she called on her Sunday school teacher and her pastor, the Rev. John D. Fox, who was taken aback at sight of the novel top dressing of the young lady, but realized the humor of it and passed her along with a laugh.

Girls For Messengers.

Leipzig is the first German city to inaugurate a system of bicycle messenger girls. They are dressed in uniform of red, trimmed with gold braid and gold buttons, and wear their little messenger caps at the dangerous angle of forty-five degrees. The hat is held securely by the regulation band, which passes under the chin and also does away with the necessity of hatpins.

Sister's New Spring Hat.

Sister's got a new spring hat, one of these wastebasket things. On the top it's kind of flat, bare of ribbons and of wings. It comes down around her neck, and it hides her ears from sight. Gee, I don't see why a girl wants to be a screaming fright!

After pa had took one look at her he let out a dismal sigh. Sister's hat hid half her nose and hung down across one eye. Pa he stood and gazed awhile; then at last he sadly spoke. There was something in his voice made me think his heart was broke.

"And they made you pay for that?" pa asked in a dismal tone. As he looked at sister's hat and seemed pained enough to groan. "Made you pay good money which I have worked blazed hard to get. All I've got to say is this is the biggest outrage yet!"

"Do you s'pose that any beau while you've got that on," says he, "Would come in and try to win you away from me and me?" There's no use, if you must wear such a blamed outlandish thing. To expect we'll have a chance to get rid of you this spring."

Still, I guess it's hard to make women lose their loveliness. It don't make much difference, after all, the way they dress. Every night some fellow comes courting sister just the same. Though she's got a new spring hat that pa calls a sin and shame. —Chicago Record-Herald.

A Queer Fish.

In European fresh water is to be found a very large silurid known as the wels. Its head is large, broad and depressed, fully as long as the trunk itself, while the tail is compressed and longer than the head and trunk together. The entire fish is destitute of scales and covered with a smooth, slippery skin like an eel. The snout is very short, the mouth broad, with the lower jaw longer and very extensible. There are six barbels around the mouth, two of which, situated on each side of the upper jaw before the eye, are very long, extending nearly to the tail. The other four are much shorter and arranged in pairs on the chin. Owing to its poor eyesight and sluggish movements the wels would be badly handicapped in the race of life if not for these barbels, especially those of the upper jaw, which can be moved voluntarily in every direction. In moving leisurely about the fish uses them constantly in feeling its way, and at the same time they serve to attract other fishes, which mistake them for worms. When the wels perceives its prey close enough to be seized it makes a dart and rarely fails to capture it. —New York Tribune.

Too Bad.

"Some men have a good start in life." "Very true." "It is different with me, however." "How different?" "Mine was a stop."

President Taft's Baseball Pass.

President Taft recently received an annual pass to the baseball games at American league park. It was presented by Thomas C. Noyes, who is president of the Washington baseball club. The pass was inclosed in a black leather card case bearing the initials of the president engraved in gold.

"Why, I didn't know Washington was in the American league," the president said.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Noyes, "the Washington team has been in the American league for some time."

"What are you," replied Mr. Taft—"tail enders?" This brought a laugh, but Mr. Noyes promised that the team would make a good showing this year, especially after the president had promised to attend some of the games.

REMARKS BY HER FACE

YOU gazed upon me in your mirror. You shake your head sadly and sigh.

You wish your complexion were clearer. Than as it appears to your eye. Well, say, I'd rub you and grease you. With all of that stuff on the shelf. Do you think such treatment would please you?

Now, how would you like it yourself? We started, our chances were equal. I did all I could as your face. And what is the worrying sequel? That in my reflection you trace? You've smothered me deep in that powder. You take from the box on the shelf. To make me look prettily prouder. But how would you like it yourself?

A smile in your eyes used to twinkle. When you looked at me in the glass. Remember how you've rubbed this wrinkle. So that it won't show under gas? You've steamed me and pulled me and hauled me. And smeared me with stuff from the shelf. You've pinched me and marked me and mangled me— And how would you like it yourself?

With hazel, cold cream and queer lotions. You've worked into all of my pores. With samples of other odd notions. You've taken on trust at the store. I've tried to be true to my duty. But you've pinned your faith to the shelf. I know you can't call me a beauty. But how would you like it yourself?

What! I'm once again to be pasted. With somebody's mixture? Please don't! You'll find all your efforts are wasted. You bid me look well, but I won't! You look at me now with a shiver. Then grab at a box on the shelf. With wrath at my faults you may quiver— Still how would you like it yourself? —Chicago Post.

A Reasonable Argument.

Attendant—Sir, you know very well that dogs are not admitted here. Visitor—He isn't my dog. Attendant—But it followed you in. Visitor—Well, so did you.

A Considerate Husband.

"Say," remarks Peckham in a hoarse whisper during his wife's temporary absence from the room, "whatever you do, don't allude to Eleanor as my better half in her presence."

"All right," rejoined the guest. "It's an expression that I seldom use, anyway, as it is both shopworn and plebeian."

"It isn't that," said Peckham in explanation, "but Eleanor is awfully sensitive when it comes to fractions, and it would annoy her if you were to rate her at anything less than three-fourths." —Chicago News.

Little Joe.

Being afraid at night, Joe was told that God was always there and would take care of him, and he must just say his prayer and go to sleep. He repeated his little prayer, but still fretted about the dark. I said, "Oh, but you don't trust God." To which he tearfully responded, "I will in the morning!" —Dellneator.

Noncommittal.

"I wonder what kind of a dress Jennie is going to wear to that al fresco party."

"Why don't you ask her?" "I did and am as wise now as I was before. She said she was going to wear a lawn dress." —Baltimore American.

Animate Scarecrows.

Mistress—Anna, I saw you in the garden last night with a man.

Maid—Me, mum? Oh, no, you must have mistaken the two scarecrows for us.

Mistress—Well, I will look more carefully next time. But I certainly saw the scarecrows kissing each other.

Better Still.

"I want you to understand," said Newed firmly, "that I am going to be the head of this combine." "Oh, very well, dear," rejoined Mrs. Newed, "and I am going to be the neck, so I can turn the head any way I please. See?" —Pittsburg Post.

Opposite Constructions.

"How's luck, fellows?" "Behind the clouds is the sun still shining," replied the optimist cheerily. "Yes," agreed the pessimist dolefully, "the sun still shines only behind the clouds." —Kansas City Times.

Variety.

"I can't see why you don't like hotel life," said Mrs. Gramercy. "It relieves a woman of all her cares and gives her so much spare time. Now, honestly, don't you find that home cooking becomes rather monotonous?" "Not at all," replied Mrs. Park. "Why, my dear, we have a new cook every few weeks."

Worked It Off.

Just what may happen to a man who isn't strictly honest was illustrated on a street car a few days ago. A man handed the conductor a dollar and asked for a strip of tickets. He received his five tickets, and then the conductor fumbled around for change and managed to make a "mistake." He handed the man two half dollars instead of 75 cents. The man put away the money without saying a word and in a couple of minutes worked his way to the front of the car and got off. "Say, conductor," said an interested observer, "did you know you didn't give that man the right change?" The conductor smiled complacently. "That's all right," he said. "If he'd been honest and returned the half dollar I'd have given him good quarter for it. I've been trying to get rid of that piece of money for a week. I guess he deserved to get stung."—Philadelphia Record.

Denseful Appearances.

A remarkable experience once befell Mark Twain in Australia, which, he said, determined him never again to judge by appearances. He had just landed at an Australian port, and, to his chagrin, there was no porter in sight to carry his luggage. Seeing a rough looking, badly dressed old fellow leaning idly against a post with his hands in his pockets, the author beckoned to him and said: "See here, if you'll carry these bags up to the hotel I'll give you half a dollar." The man scowled darkly, and, taking three or four golden sovereigns from his pocket, he deliberately threw them into the sea, scowled at Mark Twain again and walked away without a word.

Both Tainted.

"You are in the employ of that millionaire up on the hill, aren't you?" snapped the sharp faced woman who ran the butter and egg shop. "Yes, ma'am," responded the man in the white apron, "and I want two pounds of butter for my master's table. He said he'd send to town after it, only the roads are so bad." "He did, eh? Well, we are not particular about his trade. Did you tell him I said his money was tainted?" "Indeed, I did." "And what did he say?" "Said so was your blamed old butter."—Chicago News.

SALISBURY'S FIRE BUG PLACED UNDER ARREST.

Recent Fires in This City Caused by Youthful Incendiary, Woodland Bates, Who Confesses His Guilt When Locked Up.

Charged with setting fire to the work shop which caused the destruction of the L. A. Parsons property on East Church street two weeks ago and also with the attempt to fire Green's shoe shop Thursday afternoon, Woodland Bates, the 16-year-old son of Mr. E. D. Bates was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Waller. The boy was taken before Justice of the Peace W. A. Trader to whom he stated that he had done nothing wrong, but when he was placed in jail to await a hearing on the charge of arson, the youthful incendiary broke down and admitted his guilt. When asked to state a reason for committing his rash acts the boy sobbingly replied that "he wanted to see them burn."

At the time the Parsons property was burned it was generally believed that the fire was started in Mr. Bates' workshop by some boys, and for this reason the Bates boy has been under surveillance. The blaze which he is alleged to have started Thursday afternoon was extinguished by the owner of the shoe shop, Mr. Green, before any great amount of damage had been done and it was not necessary to call out the fire department.

A Tribute.

Isabelle Turpin is dead.

These words to me, as one of her former teachers, produced sorrow untold for between pupils and teachers there is bound to be a bond of sympathy and a fellow-feeling that probably has no counterpart between other individuals.

As I was connected with the Wicomico High School during her student days at that institution, I can bear direct testimony to her diligence as a pupil, to her worth as a young lady and to the beauty of her character.

During my term of service in Salisbury there was no young woman going out from the schools there that gave greater promise of usefulness in the world than she. Every teacher who worked with her will, I'm sure, testify to this.

She was cheerful in disposition, thoughtful for her schoolmates, and co-operative with her teachers. In fact, we noted her frequently as an ideal pupil with all that expression implies.

Just why she should have been stricken at the threshold of such service as she undoubtedly would have rendered to her State is past finite comprehension, but sure we are of this, that for her death had no sting, nor was there victory for the grave, for though the warfare for her was short yet she fought a good fight—she never shirked a duty that fell across her young path—she never failed to give a smile to cheer—she always uttered an encouraging word just when it was needed most—she extended the sympathetic hand when sympathy counted for much.

Yes, she is dead and her good mother and brother with the others of us, who shed tears because the voice we loved is still, cannot see her move here, yet her spirit—her young life will be an emulation to all of us that knew her well.

The world is better for Isabelle Turpin's life. She did not live in vain.

Receivers Appointed.

On Monday upon the application of Mr. John W. Turner, junior member of the firm of W. D. Turner and Son, Mr. A. M. Jackson was appointed Receiver. On Tuesday Mr. W. D. Turner, the father, answered the bill of complaint which had been filed against him, and asked for a co-Receiver. Upon this application, Mr. Elmer H. Walton, representing the father was appointed to act in conjunction with Mr. Jackson in closing up the affairs of the firm. Under an order of Court the business will be continued for a few days by the Receivers until an adjustment can be made. The Receivership was the result of differences between the members of the firm and was not caused by financial difficulties.

DEFINITE ACTION NOW ASSURED IN TELEPHONE RATE PROBLEM.

Big Citizen's Meeting To Be Held At The Court House Next Tuesday Night At Which It Is Believed Plan Will Be Adopted That Will Bring About A Settlement Agreeable To Subscribers.

The persistent efforts of THE COURIER to bring about some decisive action relative to the telephone situation was materialized at the meeting of the City Council Monday night when the city authorities adopted a resolution submitted by the Business Men's Association, calling a public meeting of the citizens of Salisbury to be held at the Court House next Tuesday night to take definite action in regard to the increase in telephone rental recently put into effect by the Diamond State Telephone Company. The resolution was adopted as follows:

"Resolved, That the Business Men's Association request the Mayor and City Council to call a citizen's meeting at the Court House, Tuesday evening, May 18th, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of taking action in regard to the increase in the telephone rates and to advertise said meeting in all of the county papers."

THE BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

MARK COOPER, Secretary.

It is quite probable that at this meeting the advisability of a plan by which every telephone subscriber in the city and on rural lines will agree to discontinue the service on a certain date will be considered. It is understood, however, that this plan would be objected to by many of the old subscribers whose rates have not been increased, their reason being that as long as they are not personally affected by the change in schedule they can see no reason why they should inconvenience themselves by doing without the service simply to protect any new subscribers seeking telephone connection. It is understood that these old subscribers base their view of the matter upon the belief that the rates of subscribers prior to January 1st, when the new rate went into effect, will not be increased. It is exceedingly unfortunate that such a rumor has been allowed to gain public favor, for in direct contradiction of the statement, evidently given out by local and unofficial representatives of the company, Mr. Betchel, vice president of the Bell Telephone Company, stated to a representative of THE COURIER, after the well remembered and recently revived secret conference between Officials Betchel and Kainard, of the Bell Telephone Company and the Mayor and City Council, THAT THE RENTAL OF EVERY TELEPHONE IN SALISBURY WOULD BE INCREASED DURING THE PRESENT YEAR AND ON A DATE WHICH HAD NOT YET BEEN DETERMINED UPON BY THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY. Next to the president of the company, Mr. Betchel holds the highest official position in the organization and he ought to know the intentions and plans of that mammoth concern.

It may be stated that the plan of disconnecting all of the telephones was successfully carried out at Griffield several weeks ago when the same proposition came to the people of that town. At a certain time all of the telephones were disconnected and the measure was so drastic in several instances that axes were used to remove the instruments from the walls. As a result the old schedule of rates was immediately restored, the telephones again connected and it is hardly probable that the company will make any attempt to increase the cost of the service in that city soon again.

Whether this is done or not, it is to be hoped that, in any event, something definite will be accomplished at the meeting to be held Tuesday night. This is a matter which greatly appeals to the civic pride of every resident and it is desired that the citizens of Salisbury in general and telephone subscribers in particular attend this meeting in order to facilitate a carefully organized plan to bring about a settlement of the controversy.

The increase in the telephone rental is not the only thing that has been done to cause the trend of public opinion, as far as Salisbury is concerned, to turn against the Bell Telephone Company. Since the Diamond State Company has been under direct control of that monopoly several new rules have been put into effect that have been the cause of considerable unfavorable comment. First an order was issued from the Philadelphia offices that all rentals must be paid in advance—a thing that was never dreamed of under the regime of the Diamond State Company. Then came the notice of the big increase in the rentals and following that up, as if to pour oil on the flames, came the defendant announcement that all bills must be paid at Dover, Delaware. This last action of the company is considered the next thing beyond the limit. It is all right with business houses where all bills are largely paid by check and sent through the mails, but it works a decided hardship upon the greater percentage of Salisbury subscribers because they are people who have no bank account and cannot issue checks. This makes it necessary to go to the trouble and expense of buying an express or money order and the additional cost of mailing it to Dover. What next?

Surely there is a limit to the endurance of Salisburyans and it is to be hoped that that limit has been reached and that the meeting Tuesday night will demonstrate the feelings of local subscribers towards the Bell Telephone Company.

No Circus For Them.

A desire to see the circus caused Grover Phillips of Salisbury and Faris C. Pitt, Jr., of St. Michaels to come to town yesterday, but before they could make their way to the circus grounds, on Eastern avenue, they were picked up by policemen. This morning both were arraigned before Justice Granman at the Central Police Station and pleaded guilty of acting disorderly, but promised to hike back to where the spring onions and young peas are beginning to shoot if they were let off this time.

"Don't you want to wait and see the circus tonight?" asked Justice Granman.

"No sir," both replied; "we want to get home."

They were dismissed and departed smiling.—Baltimore News.

CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT AND IS FINED $10.00.

Mrs. Mary E. Booth Refuses To Obey Order Of Court Instructing Her To Sign Papers And Then Refuses To Pay Penalty.

An unparalleled incident in the history of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county became known Thursday when it was learned that for the first time since the formation of the county an order of the Court had been deliberately disobeyed. Upon the refusal of Mrs. Mary E. Booth, to sign certain papers in a civil suit in which she was involved, after having been ordered to do so by the Circuit Court, she was summoned yesterday to answer the charge of contempt. She was speedily found guilty of the charge and was fined $10.00 and costs. She then again proceeded to establish the unenviable record of being the first person in the county to refuse to pay a fine imposed by the Court. As the only alternative was to go to jail, it is understood that her attorney paid the fine and that were it not for that fact Mrs. Booth would now be incarcerated.

The events leading up to the crisis cover a period of seventeen years during which time Mrs. Booth has continually and persistently refused to sign a deed conveying a piece of property near Eden to Capt. T. W. H. White who purchased the property at that time. The land was purchased by Mr. White and the payment was to be made in three notes the last one maturing about 18 months after the deal had been made. There was an agreement entered into at the time between the two parties to the effect that when the last note had been paid a deed conveying the property was to be executed by Mrs. Booth, formally conveying the property to the purchaser. And there is where the trouble started.

Mrs. Booth has apparently been addicted to the refusing habit all of her life. She pointedly refused to execute a deed then and has adhered determinedly in her refusal up to the present time, notwithstanding the fact that nearly every attorney in the county has been employed in an effort to secure her signature.

In the meantime Capt. White assumed control of the land and cut and sold the timber on it. The land was generally recognized as being the property of Mr. White but the idea of securing a title was seemingly given up as a bad job. A short time ago, however, Mr. White negotiated the sale of the land to Mr. E. W. Truitt but he was unable to give a title because he had been unable to secure one himself. It was at this time that the lawyers again got busy, and Messrs. G. W. D. Waller and Samuel R. Douglass, for Mr. White and Mr. Truitt, and A. M. Jackson, for Mrs. Booth have been in a legal conflict ever since. All kinds of persuasive powers were tried and exhausted and finally an order of the Court was issued instructing Mrs. Booth to sign the papers.

Mr. Douglass, with this important document, together with a carefully prepared deed and Justice of the Peace T. R. Jones, proceeded to the residence of Mrs. Booth to enforce the order of the Court. But she again refused to sign up and after defiantly remarking that she would "rot in jail first" slammed the door in the faces of the attorney and the squire.

The result was that the charge of contempt was brought against her and a trustee, G. W. D. Waller, Esq., was appointed by the Court for the purpose of signing the much coveted deed, so that a clear title can now be given for the land without the signature of Mrs. Booth.

Large Class Initiated.

A class of 81 candidates was initiated into the mysteries of Odd Fellowship Thursday evening by Newton Lodge, No. 66, I. O. O. F. The meeting, which was held in the Red Men's Hall, was the largest ever held in this section of the State. The degrees were conferred by the degree team of Liberty Lodge, No. 10, of Baltimore, which is recognized as one of the best in the country. Grand Master William W. Varney, of Baltimore, was present as well as several other Grand Officers. There were visitors from Sharptown, Mardela, Berlin, Pocomoke, Anne, Pocomoke and other Eastern Shore towns. After the initiation an elaborate banquet was served by Caterer J. Edward White, in the Masonic Temple.

STATE ASKS FOR BIDS.

Several Miles of Improved Roads To Be Constructed in the Near Future.

The State Roads Commission began preparations for active work in the construction of new roads Saturday when it ordered advertisements for bids for about 56 miles of roads in 10 counties. It is believed the bids will be opened on May 27 and the contracts let.

The counties in which the work is to begin and the mileage are as follows: St. Mary's—Five and three-tenths miles, running south from Mechanicsville.

Cecil—Three and three-tenths miles, running south from Oakwood.

Kent—Three and three-tenths miles from Chestertown towards Kennedyville.

Queen Anne's—Two miles from Centerville toward Church Hill.

Talbot—Three miles, running north from Wye Mills.

Caroline—Five miles, running north and south from Denton and from Federalburg toward Hurlock.

Dorchester—Four and three-tenths miles, two sections running from Cambridge.

Wicomico—Five and eight-tenths miles, running north from the shell road near Sharptown and also from Maryland Springs toward Salisbury.

Worcester—Five and seven-tenths miles running north from Snow Hill.

Somerset—Three and one-tenth miles running south from Princess Anne.

By the time the contracts are let the commission will be asking for bids for additional work in these and other counties.

Chief Engineer Crosby was ordered to prepare specifications for the following work in the different counties.

Kent—Two miles.

Queen Anne's—Three miles.

Talbot—Three miles.

Dorchester—Three miles.

Somerset—Three miles.

The commission decided to invite bids on stone, gravel, oyster-shell and samplittic roads for the different counties. In some places the four materials will be placed in competition. Samplittic road is built of sand and tar, and Mr. Crosby and the commission believes that it can be used to advantage in certain counties. Miles of it have been laid in Massachusetts, at Cape Cod and in California. The roads can be built at a cost of between $1,000 to $3,000 a mile, according to materials and conditions.

After the bids are received the commission will determine upon the material with which each road is to be improved and award the contract. By placing different materials in competition the commission believes it will get better prices for all the work.

Under the first allotment Wicomico county gets one-eighth of a mile more than any other county. The first route selected in this county is the road from Sharptown to Salisbury, via Maryland, and which is to be continued on to Quantico by agreement with the committee. This will make a part of the main highway down the Peninsula from Cecil county. The State Roads Commission recommend some stone roads for Wicomico county and they would like very much for the County Commissioners to make a bid to build these roads, as the commission is much pleased at the road building executed under the supervision of the Commissioners headed by President Cooper.

The State Road Commission recognizes that Wicomico county stands among the lead in the matter of building good roads, notwithstanding the fact that it was not until within the past few years that it has made use of the Shoemaker appropriations. It was only after the election of President Cooper and Commissioner John Wright four years ago, that the work of improving the roads under the Shoemaker act was availed of by the Commissioners. It is much to the credit of these two gentlemen, together with Mr. Johnson, who was elected at same time, that the county has progressed along these lines as rapidly as it has.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. NEW CRISFIELD INSTITUTION.

General and Marine Hospital At Crisfield To Be Dedicated Wednesday June 30th.

Wednesday, June 30th, will be a "Red Letter" day in the history of Crisfield. The Board of Directors and Managers of the new General and Marine Hospital of Crisfield, have purchased the O. P. Gibson brick building and property, on Main street, and have selected the date of June 30th for the dedication of same. The affair promises to be the greatest celebration ever held in the city.

The programme, which has been arranged with all care, is immense. Gov. Austin L. Crothers, and Gov. Swanson, of Virginia, have agreed to be present with other prominent officials of the two states, for the ceremonies. Governor Crothers will make the dedication address, and Governor Swanson and others will make short speeches. The different lodges of Crisfield and vicinity will take part in the ceremonies, which will occupy the bigger part of the entire day. In Crisfield, the day will practically be given over to celebration. The handsome decorations throughout the town will be a feature of the occasion.

The lodges in all nearby towns will be invited to join the Crisfield lodges in carrying out their part of the program. Special trains from all points on the Main line of the N. Y. P. & N. division will be run, and excursion rates granted to those going to Crisfield for the ceremonies. A welcoming committee, composed of a large number of leading citizens, will meet the strangers, and show them the many points of interest, as well as the progress and growth of Crisfield.

Although the dedication day is nearly two months away, the committees in charge of the program, are at work arranging every detail, and it is quite evident that the day, will be the greatest ever known in that city. Prominent persons from all sections of the state are expected to be present, as well as a large number of leading citizens of other states, who once resided on the Eastern Shore. Many sons of the shore, have already agreed to return to "The Land of the Evergreens" for this great day in one of the Peninsula's leading cities.

The celebrations will probably embrace a procession half a mile long, with the invited guests, Hospital directors, lodges of Crisfield and visiting orders in rank. Certainly the people of Crisfield have witnessed nothing in that city to compare with the celebrations being arranged.

The Crisfield Hospital has had a varied career, but after a fight covering a period of five years, one of the fondest hopes of the residents of that section, is to be realized. The Gibson building is one of the largest and handiest in the city. It is well located, and suited in every particular for the purpose for which it is to be used. It contains all modern improvements and conveniences and will be furnished and arranged in the most up-to-date manner. An elevator of the latest type will be installed, the interior of the building, remodeled in some respects, and converted into a Hospital adequate to the needs of any city on the shore, and one to which all citizens of Crisfield can point with pride.

It will contain separate wards for white and colored patients, and for male and female patients; special rooms for extreme cases; well equipped operating room; separate lavatories on each floor; special nurses' quarters; Steam Heat and Electric Lights; reception halls and every other department essential to a well equipped hospital. It is understood that rooms and departments will be furnished by different lodges and private individuals. These rooms or departments will be named for the persons furnishing same. Other developments and a more detailed account of the programme for dedication day, will be published later.

Getting Ready For Census.

The director of the census has completed his estimate of the number of supervisors and enumerators to be required to take the next census in April next. Five supervisors, at $1,500 each and 900 enumerators will be appointed from Maryland. In addition the supervisors will have an office force, the number of which has not yet been decided upon. Supervisors, in addition to their compensation of $1,500 will receive in addition $1 for each 1000 population enumerated. In the last census there were 700 enumerators employed in Maryland.

Enumerators in the cities will receive two cents for each name enrolled, while enumerators in country districts will receive slightly larger allowance, but which will not reach a total larger than the earnings of city enumerators.

The enumerators in cities of 5,000 and upwards will begin their work on April 15 and must finish in two weeks. In country districts the enumerators will begin April 15th, but will be given 30 days to complete their work.

Reports received from peach growers in different parts of the Peninsula bear out the early reports concerning this year's crop of peaches, which is to the effect that the late frosts have annihilated the buds. Growers at Bridgeville, Seaford, Milford and Felton express the belief that Delaware orchards will hardly produce enough peaches this year for home use.

Strawberries made their appearance in the local market Monday, but in small quantities. It is expected that shipments will be made in considerable quantities the latter part of this week. In the death of Leonidas T. Acworth, which occurred on Wednesday night of last week at his home in Quantico, Wicomico county loses one of its best citizens. He was the youngest son of the late Capt. William H. Acworth, of Nutter's Neck, and was born March 25th, 1848. On January 14th, 1885, he was married to Miss May Kennerly, daughter of the late Irving Kennerly, and they lived at the Acworth home- stead in Nutter's Neck, which he owned at the time of his death, until about 5 years ago, when they moved to Quantico. He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. Ruth Gordy, Marcus W. Acworth, Irving Acworth, and Naomi. Funeral services were last Friday afternoon conducted by Rev. Franklin B. Adkins.

Improvements On Boulevard.

The Camden Realty Company and the Camden Sewer Company have given a contract to E. J. Dandignac for laying sewers on North and Middle Boulevards connecting with the main sewer on Camden Avenue; also for the laying of cement sidewalks on both sides of North Boulevard East to and across West Boulevard; work on which is already commenced. There will be 1,000 feet of new sidewalk and 1,000 feet of sewers.

These lots thus opened to market are in immediate proximity to the handsome residences of Messrs. Staton, Humphreys and Collier, and to the fine house to be built this summer for Mr. Hagan, and they will no doubt be quickly taken up by persons who will readily recognize their opportunity; and this recognition will be a further inducement and encouragement to the Realty Company in their design to make the Boulevards the most desirable residence district of the city.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains any many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 313 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy bearing-down sensation through my hips. No matter what I did or took, this misery clung to me and I was also bothered when I arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store in return for the relief they brought me. I consider them worthy of my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

New Rural Line.

The Diamond State Telephone Company has put in a rural line from Salisbury to Pittsville, taking in subscribers in Parsonsburg and Pittsville. This will give Salisbury subscribers free service to both Parsonsburg and Pittsville. The following are subscribers in the two places:

The new rural lines being established by the Diamond State Telephone Company are a great convenience to the subscribers in this city and will be a great saving in expenses in transacting business with the outside towns and villages.

Rev. I. W. Williamson's Letter.

Rev. I. W. Williamson, Huntington, W. Va., writes: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble and am free to say that it will do all that you claim for it." Foley's Kidney Remedy has restored health and strength to thousands of weak, run down people. Contains no harmful drugs and is pleasant to take. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

Tree Growing Experiment.

The Pacific Coast will soon be the scene of an interesting tree growing experiment. The United States Forest Service is planning to introduce a number of the more important eastern hardwoods into California, and will this year experiment with chestnut, hickory, basswood, red oak, and yellow poplar or tulip trees. Small patches of these trees will be planted near the forest rangers' cabins on the National Forests, and if those do well larger plantations on a commercial scale will soon be established wider areas.

There are over 125 different species of trees in California, a number of which produce some of the most valuable varieties of lumber in the country. Although considerably over one-half of the species are hardwood or broad-leaved trees yet, with the exception of the exotic eucalyptus, there is not a single species of hardwood there ranking in commercial importance with the leading eastern hardwoods. Climatic conditions in many parts of California are undoubtedly favorable for the growth of a number of the valuable hardwoods, and the absence of these trees is due mostly to unfavorable factors of seed distribution.

If the experiments are successful, a valuable asset will have been added to the forest resources of this State, which should prove of special benefit to the local furniture and vehicle industries. Chestnut and red oak are highly esteemed for furniture, while with hickory, basswood, and eucalyptus at its command, California should lead all other states in the vehicle industry.

Many weak, nervous women have been restored to health by Foley's Kidney Remedy as it stimulates the kidneys so they will eliminate the waste matter from the blood. Impurities depress the nerves, causing nervous exhaustion and other ailments. Commence today and you will soon be well. Pleasant to take. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $134,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. TO HONOR ANGEL OF HADLEY.

Massachusetts Town to Celebrate Delivery From Indians by Judge Goffe.

A New England tradition that the 100 inhabitants of Hadley, Mass., were saved from an attack of Indians in 1675 by the appearance of William Goffe, one of the regicide judges who sentenced King Charles I. of England to death, is revived and will be commemorated at the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the town the coming summer.

Had not Goffe forsaken the hiding place which he had kept for years and marshaled the disheartened colonists, legend says, the town would have been destroyed. The aged man's unexpected appearance, wearing robes of unknown fashion and a long white beard, and his equally abrupt departure in the moment of victory left among the colonists the belief that a heavenly messenger had been dispatched to them in the time of need, and Judge Goffe is known today as the "angel of Hadley."

With Goffe in his exile at Hadley was General Whalley, his father-in-law, also one of the signers of Charles' death warrant. These two adherents of Cromwell found an asylum in the house of the Rev. John Russell at Hadley. Here they passed the remainder of their lives, Whalley dying in 1675 and Goffe about 1680.

RAVAGES OF PORCUPINES.

How California Forests Suffer From Pernicious Activity of the Animals.

Reports from Bishop, Inyo county, Cal., indicate that porcupines are seriously damaging the lodge pole pine forests of the eastern slope of the Sierras. Practically the entire area of the Inyo national forest has been affected to some extent. In many localities the damaged trees aggregate as high as 25 per cent of the total stand. While these areas are not large it is evident that if something is not done to curb the attack much of the timber in that section will be killed.

Porcupines feed to a large extent during the winter months, upon the pine's inner bark. To secure this they travel about upon the snow and completely girdle the trees just above the snow line. Of course this results in the death of the tree. The damage would not be so serious but for the fact that the porcupine seldom makes two meals off the same tree, but prefers to visit several trees in the course of a night. Since its habits are nocturnal, hunting this animal is very difficult. The attention of the forest service has been called to the ravages of these animals, and plans for their extermination are under consideration.

UNUSUAL TEST OF RADIUM.

Tiny Speck Worth $5,000 Sewed Into Woman to Cure Cancer.

I have recently been informed of an extraordinary effort to cure that most dreadful of all diseases—cancer. Twenty-five thousand francs' worth of radium have been sewn up in a woman at the Institute Pasteur. It is said that she will be cured of cancer in this way. If the case is successful the great curative value of this wonderful metal will be assured. Nor will the cost of the cure be prohibitive, for the radium can be used again and again without diminishing its curative properties.

The cure is being attempted by the famous specialist, Dr. Roux, who has become Pasteur's natural successor. Although his experiment has just been attempted and only time can show the results, scientists have expressed great confidence in it. His method was surprisingly simple.

He took a tiny glass tube and inserted into it a speck of radium no bigger than a pin's head, but worth 25,000 francs. This tube was inserted in the stomach of a poor woman afflicted with cancer. He then carefully sewed up the wound, kept the patient under observation for forty-eight hours until the wound began to heal, and recently announced that in a month no mortification or sign of inflammation was left it would mean that the cancer had disappeared.

According to competent authorities such a cure is possible, if not probable.—Marquis de Castellane, Paris Cor New York American.

Hoarseness, bronchitis and other throat troubles are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar as it soothes and heals the inflamed throat and bronchial tubes and the most obstinate cough disappears. Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. C. M. Brewington, 310 Camden Ave.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "Paul's First Missionary Journey," Iconium And Lystra. Discussed By A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT: All the Gods of the Nations are Idols; but the Lord made the Heavens.

Our last lesson concerned Paul and Barnabas at Antioch in Pisidia. The record between the lessons recounts the persecution at Antioch and Paul's going into Lycaonia, another province to east of Pisidia. The missionaries no doubt traveled the great Roman road from Antioch to Iconium, where they taught, before turning to the south to Lystra.

Iconium was a good point from which to send forth the Gospel. The Roman high-road, or caravan way, passed through it, and the missionaries could meet so many travelers, and bringing them under the influence of the gospel, send them on to tell the wondrous story. They taught for some considerable time here for the city must have come under the influence of the word, as we are told that the city became divided, a part holding with Paul and Barnabas and a part with the Jews, and to escape open attack, they withdrew to Lystra.

Lystra and Derbe are cities of Lycaonia, at that time rather wild and unsettled. The word Lycaonia means wolf-land. There must have been but few Jews at Lystra or Derbe, as we have no history of a synagogue at these places. Ramsey says that it was a very wild region, cut off from Cilicia and Pisidia, an unpromising spot, a Roman province, but Paul had it in his heart to take the gospel there. At Lystra a very notable incident happened. An impotent man, a cripple from birth, heard Paul preach and was impressed, and Paul noticing this and feeling that the man had faith through the power of the Holy Spirit, healed him. It must have been trying to the disciples to preach here with no synagogue or church, probably open air meetings or teachings by the roadside. But the spirit, the guide of all good work, opened the way, and through this miracle much attention was attracted to the apostles.

This region was more thoroughly Roman and Greek, than any yet visited by the apostles. Hebrew teaching had not prepared the way for the new covenant, these people had many gods. Their heathen philosophy was polytheistic in the extreme. Jupiter, Mercury, Mars, Vulcan, Janus and Vesta (goddess) were some of the most important gods, and were all worshiped for some particular reason.

Jupiter and Mercury were idolized as donors of the more desirable blessings and the people, noting the good resulting from the miracle, at once proclaimed Barnabas, Jupiter and Paul, Mercury, and proclaimed "the gods have come to us in the form of men," and desired to worship them. It was not unnatural that these people should do homage to anyone who they thought exhibited any such power. Had they suffered a great conflagration, they would have implored Vulcan, their god of fire; had they great need of rain, they implored Mercury; had they a bountiful harvest, a great blessing from a favorable season, and full yield, then their harvest or thanks giving was due Jupiter, their chief deity. So no slight honor was offered Paul and Barnabas, but the temptation was put aside. How Paul was worried by this mistake of the people, and he hastened to restrain them and guide them aright. Paul says, "We are men like yourselves, and we preach unto you the true God, whose servants we are." All the gods of the nations are idols; but the Lord made the heavens and the earth. "Your festival gods, your god of war, of fire, and the hearth are idols."

There is only one true God, and we preach Him. Do not think that all of your being and your blessings come from your idols, or imaginary gods, because the true God has permitted you, as a nation, to walk your own way with blessings. This is but proof of his goodness, the blessings of your lives come from Him. These people had no teaching of the Old Testament Scriptures, of the prophets, or men of God, to restrain them, or open their hearts to the true God. They were Gentiles without God, and the disciples scarce restrained them from worshipping them.

This was natural theology. There are many questions asked about this natural theology to-day. Why is God good to the wicked? Why does He prosper the sinner? Paul says that He thus proves His goodness. Why does He withhold many things from the good? Paul says, to prove His goodness in withholding harm.

The plain teaching of Paul, and the attack upon the Roman dieties stopped the sacrifice, but no doubt left the minds of the people ready for the promptings of Paul's enemies, who followed from Antioch and Iconium. They had blundered, and had been, reproved;

so this crowd was ready to turn against Paul, and they stoned him, and left him for dead.

Paul was called to a great work, through great trials and suffering. Did he think of the great concourse of people who had entered Jerusalem singing Hosannas to Christ, and then so soon to cry "Crucify Him"? And then too, of Stephen, whom he had seen stoned, and to whose death he had consented?

But Paul is to suffer on, he recognizes the right to suffer for the cause he persecuted. Many believed when they saw Paul's fervor and zeal, and heard his words. Timothy was won here. No doubt he stood with the disciples when Paul arose from his persecution, and perhaps gave him succor, and Timothy must have proved an earnest convert, for Paul subsequently takes him for a companion.

The apostles are bold in their work, for after resting and preaching at Derbe, and the region about, they return to Syria, Iconium and Antioch, encouraging the brethren, and the record says that there were many disciples to so teach and encourage. Derbe was the end of the first missionary journey, and the apostles retrace their steps, and preach upon the way and report to their church at Antioch in Syria from whence they were sent. It is only possible to give a very little of this history in this column, but if we have studied the text well, we have learned much of Paul and Barnabas, as to God's plan of bringing mankind back to Himself, and of the meaning of missionary work.

SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1909.

The Mayor And Council And The Telephone Company.

The call which has just been issued for a public meeting of the citizens of Salisbury to be held next Tuesday evening at the Court House should be largely attended and the Diamond State Telephone Company made to understand the feeling of the people of the city in relation to their attempt to raise the rates. The subscribers have the remedy in their hands if they wish to apply it, but the present move looks very much like an attempt on the part of the city officials to shirk the responsibility which they should assume. The artful and designing manner in which the Telephone officials have approached the subject here has made it much harder for the citizens and subscribers to deal with it than if they had made a general increase at the time the rates were raised as to the new subscribers.

The "modus operandi" of the company has been insidious and effective. When the telephone people determined to raise the rates, their initial move was simply to make a higher schedule for new business only. Naturally there was an outburst of indignation, and the city officials were called upon to do something and what they have done—or failed to do—is now a matter of history. The subscribers in general, however, not being affected by the raise, were naturally loath to make any hostile move as they were afraid that they would be rewarded for their activity by a similar fate and they preferred that the officials should fight the matter out as they should have done.

But the telephone people lost no time in following up their advantage. Immediately after their conference with the Mayor and Council they sent to this territory some of the best solicitors in their employ and it is stated that an exceptionally large amount of new business has been secured. From reliable sources it is generally understood that just as soon as this new business justified a general raise, and offset the loss which would be entailed by the failure of certain subscribers to continue at the new schedule, the company had intended to make a uniform increase and the old subscribers would have been placed upon the new basis. There is every reason to believe that this would have taken place before this time had not the opposition been so strong and the matter persistently kept before the public.

There is now every reason to believe that the attitude of the company has remained unchanged. Their intention to make a general increase has simply been held in obedience until there seemed to be a more opportune time for doing so and any apparent weakening of public sentiment will be hailed as a tacit endorsement of their generally recognized purpose to make a uniform advance.

Loyalty To American Institutions

During the past week the Circuit Court for Wicomico County, Maryland, has had a novel situation to deal with. Its authority was set at defiance and its commands scornfully disobeyed.

In the ordinary course of a suit pending before the Court, after a hearing upon matters involved in the controversy, an order was passed in the usual way requiring the party against whom the decree was directed to do certain things and comply with certain requirements. But thereby hangs an interesting tale. When the attorneys who had represented the party informed her of the Court's decision and the order which had been passed in the premises, she refused point blank to obey the mandate, and coolly told her counsel that they could notify the Court, with her compliments, that she would do nothing of the sort.

The Standard Oil Company might tamely submit to a fine of $1,800,000.00 imposed upon it by a Texan Court and the ordinary individual might submissively comply with the directions of State tribunals, but as for her she didn't propose to be ordered, and "No" was a "No"—even to a Court. And thus it was that the Judge gravely determined the nature of the punishment necessary to purge her of the contempt. Of course her refusal or consent to carry out the decree is immaterial for the purpose sought to be attained by the order can be secured with or without her action or sanction. This power must necessarily flow from the inherent scope of authority vested in the Courts of the State. Not only is the State Government back of the Judges, but the National as well, and if their orders could be nullified at will by a single individual the high respect entertained for them by the people would be gone and a state of anarchy and socialism would result.

In speaking of the matter yesterday, Judge Holland stated that in his entire service upon the bench covering a period of nearly twenty-five years, that this is the first instance of the kind he had ever met with. Not once during that whole time had there been another example where a party had refused to comply with the Court's mandate, and that even during his practice of about twenty years before his elevation to the bench he had never known of such an instance. This is a notable statement and a remarkable tribute to the loyalty of the people to American institutions and their power to govern themselves.

A Good Record.

The possible use of natural gas in Baltimore and the recent formation of a company for the purpose of conveying it more than two hundred miles to the city has created considerable interest in the subject throughout the State. The troubles which other places have had with the gas concerns are numerous and vexatious. In some cities the consumers can hardly find language strong enough with which they may properly pay their respects to the company. Tales of meters which work overtime and even during whole months when the consumers are at the seashore have so frequently been repeated as to bear a semblance of truth.

In view of these outside difficulties, it is possible that the people of Salisbury have never really appreciated the ease and smoothness with which the plant here was put into operation and the generally satisfactory service given them by the present company since its formation more than a year ago. It is seldom that a larger concern of a public nature has started anywhere and continued this length of time with uniformly better service than has been maintained by this company. True, the price here is $1.25 as against $1.00 in a number of other places, but when it is remembered that this is an independent corporation and the small amount of business is considered compared with the large volume in the cities, it can readily be seen that the price compares favorably with that charged by the larger companies. And besides, if one-third of the stories told of doctored meters in the cities be correct, the companies operating in most of them probably get more at $1.00, with padded accounts, than they would with $1.25 if the meters were properly read and the accounts accurately kept.

From the time the gas was first turned on for general use here, it is stated that there has not been a minute in which the pressure has been taken off—a splendid record especially when taken in conjunction with the strict and satisfactory method of keeping the accounts and handling the meters.

Announcement.

We have received numerous inquiries as to the identity of the local writer who has been furnishing THE COURIER with articles each week upon the Sunday School lessons. It will be remembered when this feature was adopted by this paper that Mr. Herbert Riffe became a regular contributor and the general excellence of his articles was widely commented upon. Owing to several extended business trips, however, he was compelled to discontinue them, and we were fortunate in having Dr. Clinton Brotemarkle take his place.

When he first commenced his contributions, at his own suggestion no mention was made of the authorship of the articles, but in view of the requests which have since been received, he has consented that we no longer withhold his name from the public, and we take pleasure in making the announcement at this time.

The articles which he has been furnishing have been clear, succinct, crisp and lucid. His style is forceful and terse and those of our readers who have not so far been following them will find them exceedingly interesting, as the others have done, and well worth their perusal.

Editorial Jottings.

The people of Sharptown are very much interested in the proposed railroad through that town. It is understood, however, that most of them would prefer to see a trolley road to this place, rather than a steam line to Laurel.

Former Attorney General Chas. J. Bonaparte made a strong statement in a recent speech before the Baltimore Reform League when he said: "When the people of this State place the dominant party beyond control they will destroy self government in Maryland."

The Advertiser is still continuing its up-hill fight for the adoption of the Crawford County system in Wicomico. It is evident that the Democratic leaders do not propose to give up their power until they are compelled to do so. The Advertiser is right in its demand that the people should be allowed to have a voice in the selection of the County officials.

If the Diamond State Telephone Company really wanted to do something for the accommodation of the Salisbury people, they might open an office here at which the bills of the company would be payable. It is not very soothing to an already irritated public to be compelled to send their money to the Capital of another State, and that a town much smaller than our own.

When Summer Days Come and You Wiggle and Twist and Your Shirt Grawls Up Your Back and Rolls Itself Into A Wad

You often wonder why it wouldn't be a good idea to sew a wide hem around the bottom of it and fill it full of shot to hold it down. No need to—buy the Manhattan or the Eclipse from Lacy Thoroughgood or from James Thoroughgood; they are long shirts; skumpless, wadless, crawlupless shirts, made by honest makers who don't figure out that to steal four inches of cloth off the bottom of every shirt will make them rich if they make enough shirts. Our shirts are the long kind, because we have every one made that way on purpose; made for us direct and for you directly. Thoroughgood bought one thousand and dollars worth of Manhattan Shirts and eight hundred dollars worth of Eclipse Shirts to start the season with. Come see 'em!

GARDNER FEELS SAD.

Limekiln Club President Laments Passing of the Simple Life.

LONGS FOR GOOD OLD DAYS.

Brother Jones, Samuel Shin, Whitewash Johnson and Waydown Bebee Are Advised to Mend Their Ways Before It Is Too Late.

(Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

"My frens," began Brother Gardner of the Limekiln club the other evening after the routine business of the meeting had been disposed of, "I do not wish to be critical, but as de days go by I find myself lamentin' mo' and mo' de passin' of de simple life of forty or fifty years ago. I was brung up in de old fashioned way, and

"FIN HEEL SHOES AND HER DRESSES FITTED BY A MAN."

I can't git used to dese newfangled nothings. Seems like de world had gone on and left me behind. Seems like I had been laid up on de shelf wid old fashioned things to dry out and become dust.

"It makes me powerful sorry to note dat de cull'd people am cuttin' away from de simple life far mo' dan de white folks. Fo'ty years ago arter my day's work was dun I sot down by my cabin doah and played de banjo and was mighty glad to know dat dere was taters and co'n meal in de house fur breakfast. Nine o'clock was my bedtime, and I was up at 6 in de mornin'. If a white man come along while I was workin' in de garden it wasn't any strain on me to talk wid him. I didn't have to rack my brain fur big words. Sometimes I had hard cider to drink, but most of de time it was only water. If fried oysters and lobster salad had been invented in dese days I had not heard of 'em. If I had gone to de barber shop fur a hair cut Mrs. Gardner would have thought de judgment had come. If I had come in and found her manicurin' her nails my knees would have wobbled.

"In dese good old days we ate off of tin plates. If company dropped in of an evenin' buttermilk was thought good nuff to pass around fur refreshments. We all talked, but nobody lugged in Shakespeare and de dictionary. Nobody asked himself to git up and sing or recite. De women talked about caliker dresses instead of de opera, and de men didn't have any patent leather shoes to shove into view. And when de company had departed Mrs. Gardner and me didn't sit up de rest of de night pitchin' into 'em and tryin' to make out dat dey was on de way to de poo'house.

A Good Life.

"It was a simple life, but a good life. You could leave your spade and hoe in de garden overnight and dey were right dar in de mornin'. You could leave de doah of your hencoop unlocked and de hens would be dar next day. If we traded newls we p'lated out de spavins, and we neber come home at night and found dat de ole woman had skipped out wid some odder man. We didn't know nuffin about politics and we keered less. When we met up wid a strange man we didn't wonder how much boodle he had got away wid, but took him as an honest pussion and gin him a show."

"In dese ole days when Sunday come I took Mrs. Gardner on my arm and walked a mile or mo' to de meetin' house. We all sot down on hard benches. We all f'ined in de singin'. De preacher didn't squint and peek around befo' beginnin' his sermon to see how many rich sinners was present, but he jest went right at it slambang and hit right and left. He didn't say dat de sinner with a million dollars stood a purty good show of goin' to heaven, while de sinner wid only a dollar in his pocket was gwine straight to de roastin' place, but he put us all in de same pen. It was fine de church or sulphur and brimston fur rich and poo' alike.

"Dar was newspapers in dese days, and once in awhile I got hold of one and spelled de words out. Dey spoke respectfully of de government; dey wasn't full of pictures fur de babies; you might read a dozen and not find a society scandal. Husbands and wives peared to be satisfied wid each other, and dere wasn't any talk 'bout members of de legislature sellin' deir votes. If de papers differed wid a man's politics dey didn't call him a liar and a boss thief to show dat dey were right.

"My frens, when you realize what was and what is kin you blame an ole man fur lamentin' dat de day has passed nebbor to return? No mo' de simple life. It was too slow fur dia generation. It was too old fashioned to last. Today eben de cull'd man libbin' in a pole cabin fye miles from anywhere am expected to hum de latest operatic airs and drop French words now and den.

Faults of Brother Jones.

"Befo' us yere tonight am Brudder Giveam Jones. He am one of dese who has put de simple life behind him. To keep pace wid de world he must have linen collars, a red necktie, cuffs and buttons, and dat diamond pin of his nebbor cost less 'n 75 cents. He uses hair lle; he wears blue suspenders; he pays 15 cents for his socks. At home he has a cane and a plug hat fur Sunday use. He hain't happy; he can't be happy. He simply has to do dese things to keep up wid de procession. If he should fall back er so leetle he would be a goner.

"Befo' us also am Brudder Samuel Shin. I know fur a fact dat he hung to de simple life as long as he could and only gib in when he found de pressure too much for him. Last week I bought some shirts for 48 cents each at a bargain sale. Brudder Shin has to pay a dollar aplece for his. De society in which he moves don't countenance bargain sales. Fur $2 I kin buy at a secondhand store a coat dat de governor of de state has got tired of and cast aside. I kin put on dat coat and do a heap of swellin' around on Sunday, but Brudder Shin don't try it on. If some one recognized him in de governor's secondhand coat he and his wife would take such a tumble in society dat you would feel de jar fye miles around.

"Ober by de stove sits Brudder Whitewash Johnson. I knowed him in de old days, when de simple life was good 'nuff for him. He had no aims or ambitions to worry him. He jest worked and ate and slept and was happy. If he found a cokernut in de road he had a feelin' of bliss for a month afterward. At length de new way of libin' took hold of his wife. He hung out fur a good while, but he had to gib in at last. His wife wanted a cuckoo clock, a red plush sofa and a rug wid a tiger on it. She wanted to go to de theater, and she wanted lobster salad befo' goin' home. She wanted pin heeled shoes and her dresses fitted by a man. Waal, she's got all dese, but do you reckon Brudder Whitewash am any happier fur it? I saw tears on his cheeks half an hour ago, and I have no doubt dat he was thinkin' of how he would have to go home and drink wine and eat sweet-cake befo' retirin'.

"Let us not oberlook Brudder Waydown Bebee. He hung to de simple life until a year ago. He used to come ober to my cabin and talk about it and say he nebbor would gib in. But he had to at last, as I predicted. His wife and two gals pecked at him till he could stand it no longer. He had a leetle money saved up for old age and was doin' fairly well at whitewashin', but his family insisted dat he go out of de bizness fur deir sakes. He had to go and git his finger nails manicured befo' dey was satisfied, and den folered a cane, a plug hat and patent leather shoes. He gin up his cabin fur a flat, bought a planner fur his gals, and de hull caboodle of 'em go to de theater once a week. When I called at his place de odder evenin' on business I had to send my card up in advance. When I got inside I found gift clocks, paintings, statuary and prayer rugs lyin' around loose everywhere, and Mrs. Bebee and dem gals was so strained up dat I expected to hear sunthin' but ebry minit.

Beebe an Unhappy Man.

"Make no mistake, my frens. Brudder Beebe am not a happy man. He's got to appear at a soiree some-whar one night next week, and he has got to look like de owner of de Union Pacific railroad, but if de case was put to him he'd tell you dat he would a heap rather come down to my cabin, slip off his coat and shoes and sot dere and eat raw turnips wid me and feel dat he had got back to natur'.

"I told you in de beginnin' dat I wasn't goin' to criticize. I haven't. I have simply held up some pictures to your gaze. If you like dis newer way of libin' it hain't fur me to find fault. I reckon de good Lawd put us yere to lib 'bout as we wanted to, and if you want clawhammer coats and lobster salad dat's fur you to say. My ole woman has lately taken to wantin' a blue parlor set and a clock wid a Cupid on to, and dere have been reports dat I wah giblin' in to her. I brand 'em as false. De simple life fur me while I lib, and dar will alus be pumpkin pie and a glass of buttermilk fur any member of dis club who draps in of an evenin'. Let us now go our devous ways."

Not Acting.

Actor—All the newspapers say my impersonation of Caesar last night was absolutely real. Rival—Perhaps that's so. Everybody I've met says it certainly wasn't acting.

Preserve your just relations to other men. Their misconduct does not affect your duties.—Epictetus.

Indignant Scot (as he reads the notice)—Na, na; I'll gang dirty first—Tattler.

Missing His Calling.

Thinking It Over.

"Don't you want to live in history?" "I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum. "I never found any especial satisfaction in the idea of worrying posterity with book agents trying to sell my biography."—Washington Star.

Appropriate.

"Oak?" That's a queer name for a dog. "Not when you consider his rough, strong bark."—Kansas City Times.

Not Stylish.

Harry—By Jove, I hear dat Willie Wigg has resigned from the volunteer fire department. Was the work too strenuous for the dear boy? Harold—No, but Willie found out dat the red shirt didn't harmonize with his white tennis shoes, and when they told him to wear boots he resigned.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Somewhat Different.

"I have been told," said the bachelor, "that you understand women." "You have been misinformed," replied the man who had been divorced three times. "I don't understand women. I merely know them."—St. Louis Republic.

The Point of View.

Mr. Binks—Ah, here is another story in the paper of a man committing suicide because his home was unhappy. Mrs. Binks (jelly)—Does the article say if it made his home happier? I dare say it did.—New York Herald.

Dyspeptics Are Melancholy.

Gentle reader, never eat. Never fail to eat enough. Drinking now is obsolete. Drink as much as you can stuff. Have your drinking water cold. Have it hot and lukewarm too. Bread is bad unless it's old; Bread is better if it's new.

Take an icy dip each morn. Never shock the nerves with chill. Eat for breakfast lots of corn; Too much cereal makes you ill. Eat a single dish per meal. Eat a great variety. After luncheon ride a wheel; After luncheon sleep till three.

Hearken to the counsel wise. That the poor dyspeptic gets. Can you wonder that he sighs? Can you blame him if he frets? This his portion day and night. 'Tis in what he has to hear. Can you look upon his plight. With a cold, unfeeling stare?—Newark Evening News.

Big Clown and Little Clown.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

He was big and burly, a figure in his fantastic dress to make all the little boys giggle and the little girls stare, half frightened.

That was when he was in the ring.
But when he was clothed in the ordinary garb of a citizen he was simply a fresh faced boy who could stroll along the village streets without attracting unusual attention.

He liked the little villages where the circus stayed for a day or two and then moved on languidly down dusty roads to the next stopping place.

"Some time," he said to the little clown, "I'd just like to stay behind in one of these little towns and turn farmer and stop being funny for awhile."

The little clown was a woman.
When she was dressed for the ring she wore infantile clothes, with a blue sash, and carried a big stick of red striped candy, and all the little girls and boys would almost go into convulsions of laughter when she shook her rattle at them.

"I know," said the little clown, "how you feel. Sometimes I think it would be nice to have a little house and make bread and put the week's wash out on the green grass and have a cat and a fireplace."

Her voice trailed off dreamily.
The big clown looked down at her.
"I've been funny all my life," he said.
"When I wasn't anything but a baby
my father used to take me in the ring with him. He was a clown, too, and I've just grown up to it."

The little clown nodded sympathetically. "Most of us grow up to it," she said, "and then somehow we can't get away."

The big clown stood up. It was time for him to go into the ring. He twirled his pointed hat in his hand and then put it on. "I am going to get away from it," he said. "I want a home and neighbors. I'd like to be a sheriff in some town or mayor or on the school board." He smiled till the thick white paint on his face was folded into deep creases.

Then he was off to the ring, and the little clown turned her attention to the contortionist, who was in shining iridescent green like a snake.

"I wish you wouldn't pay so much attention to the big clown," the contortionist told her. "I can't ever get a minute with you."

The little clown looked at him with eyes that went beyond him through the door of the tent to where the apple trees were flinging up pink branches to a sapphire sky.

"Did you ever see anything so pretty?" she asked, and pointed to it.

But the contortionist had no eyes for apple trees. "I have never seen anything so pretty as you are," he said, "and if you will stop this clown business and marry me I will put you in an act that will give you a chance to show people how good looking you are. You could wear white and your hair in yellow ringlets down your back and a gold crown. And I'd put on red with horns, and we'd give an angel and devil act."

The little clown leaned forward eagerly. "I have always wanted to do something like that," she said.
"I've wanted to have an act that would make people do something besides giggle, and I ought to get pretty good pay."

"Well, I should say," the contortionist bragged. "I get bigger pay now than any one in the show, and you'd just about double it after I had taught you what to do. It would be swell business."

"Yes," said the little clown, "it would."

And when the contortionist had gone
the little clown sought the bearded lady.

"Which would you rather do," she demanded, "have a little house in a country town, with a fireplace and a cat and a husband that people looked up to, or would you rather be a headliner in the circus business?"

Now, the bearded lady, in spite of her masculine appearance, was a wise woman and a sympathetic one. "I'd rather be the wife of the man I loved,"
she told the little clown, "whether he was in a country village or the circus.
It isn't the place that makes us happy;
it's the man."

The little clown nodded her head.
"But I'm not sure," she began, and then the bearded lady said, "Well, be sure before you decide."

"How am I going to know?" questioned the little clown.

"You'll know when the time comes,"
said the bearded lady sensibly. And after the little clown had gone away
the bearded lady sat and thought and thought, and when the performance was over she sent for the big clown.

"So you love the little clown?" she said.

"How did you know?" he demanded.
"Everybody knows," the bearded lady told him. "You can't hide it."
"Well, I do love her," the big clown confessed, "and I want to take her away from all this and live in a little house in a little town and have chickens and a cow."

"The little clown wants a fireplace and a cat," smiled the bearded lady.

"But it all amounts to the same thing."

"Did she tell you?" the big clown asked eagerly.

"Yes," said the bearded lady, "but she is not sure that she loves you, and it's up to you to make her sure."

"But how?" demanded the big clown.
"Leave the show," was the sage advice, "at the next village and see how she takes it."

So the next night when the lights were out in the big tent and the tired performers were packing their belongings into trunks and bags the big clown came to the little clown and said, "Goodbye."

"But—but," the little clown stammered, "I don't want you to go!"

"I am going to settle down," the big clown told her, "and have a little house with a fireplace and a cat."

The little clown caught her breath quickly. "And who's going to keep house for you?" she asked wistfully.

"I shall live alone"—the big clown's voice had a note of pathos. "There is only one woman that I should care to have sit in front of that fireplace, and she values fame and fortune more than she values love."

"What makes you think that?" cried
the little clown, and just then the con-tortionist came in. He wore a long fawn ulster and a high hat.

"My automobile is outside," he said to the little clown, "and I have asked the bearded lady to ride with us to the next village. It is much more pleasant than to go in the vans."

"Thank you very much," said the little clown, and held out her hand to the big clown.

"I hope you'll be very happy—all alone in your big house," she said to the big clown, "with your chickens and your cow—and your fireplace and your cat!" Her voice broke, and she ran out of the tent.

The big clown took a step forward,
but the bearded lady stopped him.
"Let her alone," she said quietly.
"Let her alone."

And presently the big machine whizzed away, and the big clown was left alone beneath the stars of the spring night.

He sat down on his trunk in the middle of the deserted ring and planned how on the morrow he would get his money out of the bank and build a house and begin a new life as a substantial citizen.

But all the joy had gone strangely out of his plans when he could not see the face of the little clown at his table or her slender figure in the big chair in front of the fireplace.

And even while he yearned for her she came to him, running over the sawdust silently, so that he did not know she was there until her arms were about his neck.

"I made him let me out," she sobbed. "Oh, I hate him! He is so sure of himself and of me. And the bearded lady got out, too, and she is coming to play propriety, only she is so much slower than I am. And I want to live in a little house with you and have chickens and a cow!"

"And a fireplace and a cat." The big clown had her in his arms, and there was deep joy in his voice.

"And you shall be the mayor some day," planned the little clown.

"And you shall make bread and hang your clothes on the grass," laughed the big clown.

"And you'll both live happy ever after," prophesied the bearded lady, who just then came up, panting, and gave them her blessing like a very hairy godmother.

The Head of the House.

The baby was ill, and the doctor ordered that he be taken to the sea.

This involved the closing of the house until the little one should be well enough to return. After the wife had secured hotel accommodations by the long distance telephone the man of the house went to his room and slowly and thoughtfully spread the entire contents of his wardrobe upon his bed, that they might be convenient for his wife to pack.

He stood surveying them, deep in meditation, when his wife came into the room and began to speak to him.

He raised his hand rebukingly.
"Don't talk to me now, Susie, don't talk to me! I have a great deal on my mind. If we are going to the seashore day after tomorrow there are many things to be done, and I must plan."

His wife, who had already telephoned
the butcher, milkman, baker, grocer, expressman and ticket office
and given the maid a month's vacation and arranged with a relative for the care of the dog, gazed at him in silence.

"A great deal on my mind," he repeated. Then the interrogative nature of his wife's silence forced him to explain.

"You see," he said, "I have got to put a nail in the cellar window and stop the newspaper."—Youth's Com-

NEW REGIME IN TURKEY.

Young Turks Party's Effort to Bring About Popular Rule.

Turkey, which was recently the scene of an uprising against the Young Turks party, is at the beginning of her first serious attempt at popular government. A constitution was granted the country July 24, 1908, by the sultan, under the terms of which elections for a parliament were held. The new legislature was inaugurated Dec.
17. Since then the empire has been under constitutional administration.

The hand of the sultan was forced,
and he was obliged to give the country
a constitution, by the Young Turks, who had been particularly active under the leadership of the committee of union and progress since 1906. The co-operation of the army was obtained by means of a successful secret propaganda, and had not the sultan given way when he did two army corps
would have marched on Constantinople.

The granting of the constitution was followed by the dismissal or flight of various members of the palace faction and the installation of officials dictated by the successful insurgents. Since the first days of its success the course of the committee of union and progress has been dictatorial, and the political activities of the Young Turks, particularly in the direction of administrative control, have aroused a counter political sentiment which has crystallized the opposition of the Liberals.

The present grand vizier of Turkey is Hilmi Pasha, who was appointed Feb. 14 in succession to Kiamil Pasha.
Hilmi Pasha was formerly minister of the interior and before that served as inspector general of Macedonia. All Riza Pasha is Hilmi Pasha's minister of war. He holds also the marine portfolio and is grand master of artillery. These and the other changes in the cabinet which took place in February showed the control by the Young Turks party, which virtually imposed on the sultan a ministry of its own nominees.

The Young Turks on Feb. 14 publicly repudiated any intention to overthrow the sultan or to install a military dictatorship, but the crisis and its outcome were then regarded as not promising well for the stability of the throne or the success of the parliamentary government. The committee of union and progress consistently opposed Kiamil Pasha, Hilmi Pasha's predecessor. It suspected him of being too considerate of palace influences and complained of his slowness in conducting the negotiations with Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria.

The Young Turks have fallen in the estimation of many Turks in the United States, and the present movement is looked upon as quietly presaging the overthrow of that dictatorial party. It is declared that despotism exists in Constantinople under the new order as great, if not greater, than ever before.

The feeling was expressed by N.
Mokarzel, editor of the Al Hoda, a daily newspaper of New York:

"Armenians, Syrians, Mohammedans
—these people have no show. The Young Turks have granted no consideration to the Christian element of the empire. They have become despotic.

Miami University's Centennial.

Miami University, the oldest of Ohio's colleges, will celebrate her centennial at Oxford June 12-18. It is expected that more than 2,000 alumni and former students will gather on the campus at Oxford. The first invitation issued was sent to President Taft, who is interested in Miami University because his father-in-law, John W. Heron, of Cincinnati, since 1880 has been president of the board of that institution. Whitelaw Reid, ambassador to Great Britain, of the class of 1884, has also promised to be present if possible.

Bird Sanctuary in Town Common.

The growth of the garden city, Letch worth, in England, threatens to drive birds to more secluded spots. To prevent this the directors propose to convert Norton common, in the center of the town, into a bird sanctuary. Here weeds, grasses, berries and fruits of various kinds which are pleasing to birds will be cultivated, and part of the common will be fenced in for nesting.

Anti-Saloon League Meetings.

Announcement is made of plans for a Wicomico County Anti-Saloon League Field Day to be observed on Sunday, May 23rd, and embracing churches in Salisbury and nearby towns. The entire field force of the Maryland and Delaware Anti-Saloon League will be employed in this territory on that day, and the following program has so far been planned:

Mr. William H. Anderson, the Maryland State Superintendent, will speak in the Presbyterian Church here on Sunday morning and address the congregation of the Methodist Protestant Church, this city, in the evening. Mr. Anderson's reputation as a platform speaker and his well-known efforts on behalf of State Wide Local Option will doubtless draw large audiences to hear him.

Rev. Andrew B. Wood, lately appointed Assistant Superintendent for Maryland, will be the speaker in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, both morning and evening. He will also speak to the congregation of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Allen.

Rev. John M. Arters, the Peninsula District Superintendent, will be the speaker at Asbury Methodist Episcopal in the morning, at Parker's Chapel in the afternoon and at the new Methodist Episcopal Church in South Salisbury in the evening.

J. Bibb Mills, Esq., Attorney for the Maryland League, will address the congregation of the Baptist Church in this town, at the morning, afternoon and evening services, and will speak in the churches of Mardela Springs.

Mr. C. E. Burchenal, Peninsula Field Agent of the League, will spend the day in Sharptown and vicinity, and Rev. Cyrus P. Keen, Western District Superintendent, will speak in the churches of Parsonsburg Charge Methodist Episcopal Church.

These services will be conducted in behalf of the state-wide local option plans of the League and the experienced speakers who are announced will give full information concerning the work of that Organization in this State and elsewhere. Doubtless this day will be marked by large congregations and will result favorably to the Cause of Temperance.

FORMER SALISBURIAN DIES AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mr. Randolph Humphreys, Ex-Mayor of This City, Succumbs To Linger- ing Illness—Remains Brought To Salisbury For Burial.

Mr. Randolph Humphreys, formerly a leading citizen of Salisbury, died at his home in Portsmouth, Virginia, Thursday after a lingering illness. Mr. Humphreys had been a sufferer from stomach trouble for about three years. Until about nine years ago he was intimately associated with the business interests of this city. He always had the progress of the city at heart and did much for the advancement of the city's welfare. He was formerly a partner of the late W. B. Tilghman and was also financially interested in local lumber concerns. He was elected third mayor of Salisbury and served two terms in the office.

A few years after the death of his wife, about twelve years ago, he left this city for Philadelphia. After remaining there a short time he became associated with the Frank Hitch Lumber Company at Portsmouth and moved to the latter city where he has remained ever since.

At the time of his death he was 54 years of age. He is survived by two daughters—Mary, aged 14 and Florine aged 16 years. He was a brother of the late E. W. Humphreys and the late Mr. Lafayette Humphreys and was connected with several of the most prominent families of Salisbury.

The body was brought to this city yesterday and the funeral services will be conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock from St. Peter's P. E. Church, Rev. David Howard officiating. The pallbearers will be Messrs. L. E. Williams, S. E. Gordy, Charles H. Wood, Naaman Turner, A. C. Smith and William M. Cooper.

Mail Arrives Earlier.

A change in schedule went into effect Monday on the N. Y. P. & N. Railroad by which the daily South bound mail arrives in this city about two hours earlier. The train is scheduled to arrive at Salisbury at 12:12 P. M. As far as this train is concerned this is but a restoration of the mail service which the people of Salisbury enjoyed for years until the running of the train was discontinued more than a year ago.

The schedule also makes a change in the Delmar-Cape Charles accommodation, which now leaves Salisbury at 7:25 a. m., instead of 8:12 as formerly. This train going north leaves Salisbury at 7:25 p. m.

There is no change in the day and night express trains.

Death Of Mrs. W. S. Gordy.

Mrs. Virginia Brewington Gordy, wife of William Sydney Gordy, Esq., died at her home on Walnut Street, this city, Monday morning, shortly after 3:00 o'clock. Deceased had been ill for several weeks and her death was not unexpected.

Mrs. Gordy was the daughter of the late Henry J. Brewington and a sister of H. L. and Senator M. V. Brewington, editors of the Wicomico News. She was 57 years old. She leaves besides her husband, three children: W. S. Gordy, Jr., assistant cashier of the Salisbury National Bank, Mrs. Graham Gunby and Miss Nancy M. Gordy.

Mrs. Gordy was one of the most highly respected ladies of Salisbury. She was prominently connected with social and church work of the city and was for several years a leader in musical circles of the city. Since her childhood she was connected with the choir of Trinity M. E. Church South. She had a lovely, cheerful and bright disposition, always kind and gentle, and was a favorite wherever she was known.

Funeral services were held from her late home Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. A. Cooper, of Trinity M. E. Church, South. The pallbearers were her brothers, Messrs. H. L. Brewington, A. C. Brewington, M. V. Brewington, and Messrs. S. E. Gordy, William H. McConkey, and W. U. Polk. Interment was in the family plot in Parsons Cemetery. Beautiful floral tributes sent by loving friends and relatives, covered her grave in the cemetery, and bore testimony to the esteem in which she was held by the people of Salisbury.

SUBSCRIBERS UNANIMOUSLY AGREE TO DISCONTINUE TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Tired Of Being Put Off, The People Take Rate Controversy Out Of The Hands Of Council And Adopt Effective Measure Which Will Undoubtedly Terminate In Restoration Of Old Rates.

In securing the signatures of nearly every telephone subscriber to an agreement by which all telephones connected with the local exchange are to be discontinued on July first, the people of Salisbury believe that they have at last adopted a measure that will cause the Diamond State Telephone Company, which is part and parcel of the Bell Telephone Company, to establish equitable rates for service in this city. A committee of citizens has been at work since Wednesday interviewing subscribers with the result that with a few exceptions, every telephone renter has signed the agreement. This is the agreement.

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Salisbury, Maryland, and patrons of the Diamond State Telephone Company, hereby agree to have our phones disconnected on July 1, 1909, unless the said company in the meantime agrees to maintain in said city uniform rates of $15.00 for residence phones and $25.00 for commercial phones; the said scale to become operative on that date and continue during the life of said Company's franchise; and we further agree that at any time the rates are raised to immediately order our phones disconnected; and we further agree that in case our phones are disconnected under either of the above conditions that we will subscribe from a local company at the rate above specified the number of phones now used by us."

This action of the people has grown out of an illfeeling which has existed since the first of the year when the announcement was made by the Diamond State Telephone Company to the effect that the rate would be increased from $15.00 to $24.00 per year for a residence telephone and from $25.00 to $36.00 per year for an instrument in a place of business. This rate has been charged for new subscribers and the rates of old subscribers was not changed but it was announced by the company that there was to be a general increase during the year. This was the cause of much unfavorable comment as it made about five different rates for service here and a demand was at once made upon the company that equal rates be established without increasing the charge for service. The matter was also taken up with the Mayor and City Council which claimed that it had the right under the city charter to control the rates to be charged by any public service corporation operating in this city.

Several conferences were held between the Council and the Company's officials but nothing was done towards the settlement of the controversy and it was for this reason that a public indignation meeting was called Tuesday night to take some definite action and at the same time take the matter out of the hands of the City Council.

The discussion at this meeting was hot and at times furious and it was undoubtedly the beginning of a veritable telephone war. The result was that a resolution was unanimously adopted and a committee appointed to call upon each and every subscriber to the local exchange and secure the signature of the subscriber to an agreement to discontinue the service July first provided the company does not accede to the demands of the people on or before that date. The rates demanded are $15.00 per year for a residence telephone and $25.00 per year for a business telephone. A movement has also been started for the formation of an independent company to operate lines in this city and vicinity in case the company does not establish these rates and $3100 worth of stock has already been subscribed for. This last step was taken as a protection to the business interests of the town in order that a telephone system could be established without delay if the company insists upon the present rates. Mayor Harper has informed the people that the Council will unhesitatingly grant a franchise to the new company upon application. The committee which has the matter in hand is composed of the following subscribers: Elmer H. Walton, chairman, T. H. Mitchell, J. M. Toulson, Rev. W. A. Cooper and A. M. Jackson. The meeting was presided over by Mr. L. A. Bennett and Mr. J. D. Williams acted as secretary.

Never before has such an enthusiastic meeting been held in the city of Salisbury. And when the pent up feelings against the recent actions of the Diamond State Telephone Company which have existed for several months were finally let loose the loud cheers of the large crowd denoted plainer than words the real spirit of the meeting. After Chairman L. A. Bennett, at the request of the Mayor and Council, had fully explained the position of that body at the time the present franchise was granted and related the circumstances in connection with the service since that time the meeting was thrown open for discussion and Mr. E. Stanley Toadvin addressed the gathering. He also related the history of the service here. He referred to the agreement which was entered into at the time the old Salisbury Telephone Company was purchased by the Diamond State Telephone Company fixing the rates at $15.00 and $25.00 for a period of twenty-five years and stated that matters had gone along smoothly until the new franchise was desired for another twenty-five years. He finished his address by offering a resolution to the effect that a committee be appointed by the president of the Business Men's Association to consult with the Mayor and Council and the telephone officials in an effort to bring about an amicable settlement of the differences, and to report at future meeting of the Business Men's Association. There was considerable objection to this resolution because it meant that the matter would be deferred indefinitely and probably wind up in the courts of Maryland covering a period of several years during which time the increased rates would remain in force.

It was at this juncture that Prof. William J. Holloway struck the keynote of the occasion. Up to this time there had been no demonstration of the real feelings of the people present. Loud cheers greeted Mr. Holloway when he said: "So far as matters have progressed at this meeting I cannot see that we are any nearer a solution of the question at issue than we were at the beginning. It seems that the proper time has come to take definite action and that nothing can be accomplished by again referring this important matter to a committee to consult with the Mayor and Council and the telephone officials in an effort to bring about an amicable settlement of the controversy. If the people are satisfied it would be well to let the matter drop. If they are not some decisive action should be taken at once." He suggested that a committee be appointed to canvass every subscriber of the telephone company and have them sign an agreement to disconnect the service after July 1st, provided that in the meantime the company does not establish a rate of $15.00 and $25.00. The loud cheers that followed Mr. Holloway's address showed the undivided sentiment of the large assemblage.

Mr. Holloway was followed by Mr. Elmer H. Walton. He stated that he believed the subscribers in general were fully in sympathy with Mr. Holloway's suggestion, and offered it as a substitute for the resolution offered by Senator Toadvin. This motion was finally carried and the committee appointed as follows: Messrs. Thomas H. Mitchell, A. M. Jackson, John M. Toulson, Rev. W. A. Cooper and Elmer H. Walton.

It was at this point that the suggestion of the formation of the new company was offered by Mr. R. D. Grier. He stated that Salisbury had had telephone service too many years to be entirely without it and suggested that a new company be organized. A motion was then made by Mr. T. H. Mitchell to the effect that the company be organized at once. A paper was immediately

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, "The Council At Jerusalem." Discussed By A Local Writer.

GOLDEN TEXT:—We believe that, through the grace of the Lord, Jesus Christ, we shall be saved even as they.

Before attempting the study of this very important lesson, read at one sitting the entire chapter, for we are at a very important point in the apostolic age of the church. Paul and Barnabas, after their return from their first missionary journey, rest at Antioch, and teach and preach there. They find other teachers there eager to press their individual beliefs or perceptions of the new doctrine upon the church. This was about A. D. 49-50, and already important questions of doctrine had been brought up, and threatened a disruption of the early church. There was a Jewish or Pharisaic party, and a Pauline or Gentile party.

The Jewish element considered that they had been God's people, that their institutions were God's given, that through their religion by prophecy, the Messiah had been promised to them. They believed that the Messiah himself was to be a Jew, and that not a jot or tittle of the law should pass away, that all the promises, through the law, and the Messiah were to them, and then to the nations, and if they now accepted Christ as Messiah, then Christianity must be but a part or completion of Judaism. Thus they reasoned that the Gentile must still, as he always had, be proselyted to their faith under the law. There was room for honest contention.

But the Pauline or Gentile party contended that Christianity was a new covenant from God, and later than Judaism; that the Messiah was the fulfillment of the law, and his teachings a full complement thereto, that his fulfillment of the law, and his righteousness by faith was imputed to all who believed and were baptized. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

The exclusive spirit of Judaism still showed strongly in the Christian convert, and the rapid growth of the Gentile churches made this disputed point in doctrine very important. The church had spread rapidly. Think up all the places you can recall, and note, too, that there were two central points, Jerusalem and Antioch, one for each of these factions. So great became the contention that representative men of the church were sent to Jerusalem to receive an opinion upon this question. Among these men were Paul, Barnabas, and Titus.

Titus was a Gentile, and thus, one of the class of converts called in question by the Pharisaic party, and his coming no doubt furnished a clear example of the question, and, as mentioned by Paul in his argument to the Galatians, later leads us to consider that his case was made a test case. This is a very fair way to face a question, frankly, and, in a way leaving no doubt as to the facts contended for.

What a great council this was. Peter, the feeder of the flock, with his personal knowledge of the Master's work and intentions, with a recollection of that vision upon the house-top, was there. James, the Master's brother, "the just," a "Hebrew of Hebrews," the "Bishop of Jerusalem," was there, and the leading men of the church at Jerusalem. All were present in this grave council which effected even our destiny.

Paul's report had been well published, and then came pleas and arguments. Peter rose up (ver. 7-11) and argued that God had sent him with the Word to the Gentile, and had "put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith." "Why then put a yoke upon them?" And he closes his argument with the golden text. Paul and Barnabas then gave their experience of how God had dealt with the Gentile at their hands. And James closes with a notable resume of history and prophecy, and as all disputing seems to have ceased, he closes with a rendering of his opinion of the matter, which is accepted as the basis of a letter of instruction to the church at Antioch.

Each party to this dispute submitted its case reverently and obediently to the council, and received a just decision. The law of Moses is of no effect as to its fulfillment by our works to obtain a righteous estate, but the law and prophets, as a matter of enlightenment and education touching our consciences, makes us alive to a knowledge of guilt, owing to the transgression of God's law, and a desire to flee. The result of this transgression draws us to him who is the fulfillment of the law, and by faith in whom we are made free from all things from which we were not made free by the law of Moses, and while this law, held to so vigorously by the Pharisaic party was declared void, the Pauline or Gentile party does not go unscathed. (For verse 29) the findings of the council says plainly that the Gentiles must eschew those things in which their pagan gods had led them to indulge, and know that a life in Christ, by faith in Him, should show forth the fruits of righteousness, the standard of which has been made known of God to his people.

This dispute in the church was frankly submitted and divine guidance sought, and the Holy Spirit gave the findings and both parties went away with food for thought. The Jewish element must give up much. They must forever forego the rites and ceremonies of their fathers, but the standard of purity taught there is upheld. The Gentile element is admitted to sonship with Christ, through an act of grace, but a standard of high living is held up before them. Paul never ceases to hold this standard before them.

A standard of Christian practice is formulated here which is wide indeed, and the lessons for us from this first council of the church are so many. The true spirit of church council is shown, and the true spirit of acceptance of the findings. We are governed by the findings of this first great council of the church, and should feel in studying it that we are directly and vitally interested in it. It is our church, our council, our decision, ours to obey.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Predict Short Crop.

From the latest advices that have been received from the large truck-growers and the shipping agents along the line of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad there will not be more than a third of a crop of white potatoes in Accomac and Northampton counties in Virginia. The crop of early peas, the shipments of which were made from the lower section of Northampton county the early part of last week, also is a failure, and it is feared that the shortage in these crops will very seriously embarrass a number of truckers who planted heavily of peas and potatoes this year. No section of country, of like area produces as great quantities of marketable vegetables as the counties of Accomac and Northampton. The farmers and truckers are everything to the people there and when they receive a set-back other industries must necessarily suffer.

Rev. I. W. Williamson's Letter.

Rev. I. W. Williamson, Huntington, W. Va., writes: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble and am free to say that it will do all that you claim for it." What's In McClures.

George Kibbe Turner in the leading article in the June McClures shows how Tammany Hall, with the aid of crooks, thugs and the lowest order of parasites, controls New York City elections; Prof. E. T. Brewster contributes an article on "The Animal Mind from the Inside" in which he declares that animals cannot reason and that men do not reason anything like as much as they are commonly supposed to; Marion Hamilton Carter tells of the great work being done for "The conservatism of the Detective Child" by Dr. Witmer of the University of Pennsylvania; George F. Parker writes of Cleveland's part in the insurance crisis and President Taft explains his attitude toward organized labor. There are stories by Elsie Singmaster, Hulbert Footner, Viola Roseboro', P. C. Macfarlane, Harriet Lummis Smith and the last installment of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's great novel, "Marriage à la Mode."

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains many many aches from kidney ill. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 313 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy bearing-down sensation through my hips. No matter what I did or took, this misery clung to me and I was also bothered when I arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store in return for the relief they brought me. I consider them worthy of my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Colonel Oswald Tilghman, of Easton, left Thursday for Port Hudson, Miss., to visit relatives and friends and try to recover a sword which was buried July 9th, 1863, nearly 46 years ago. When General Gardner, the Confederate commander, was forced to surrender Port Hudson to General Banks. At that time Colonel Tilghman, was a captain of artillery, and he had the sword buried by one of his men. The colonel says that his recollection of the event is so vivid that he feels certain he can go to within 20 feet of the spot.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking Association

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $154,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly installments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1897.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposit, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. Open an account with us, no harm can possibly result.

MEN'S SUITS

The man in a heavy suit on a joyous May day is as incongruous as a horse that hasn't shed his winter coat. Other people take for granted that he either cannot afford new clothes or he is thin blooded. Neither opinion is going to help him in business or socially. The world at large is unsympathetic. There's still another reason for buying your suit early this year—the choicest cloth patterns (staples as well as fancies) are few of a kind and cannot be duplicated this season. Right now our tables are groaning under piles and piles of the grandest stock we ever carried. Make The Victory Complete And Sweeping.

Few public victories of a more decisive character have ever been achieved than that which has been signalized in this city during the past week.

A great corporation has felt the keen blast of an overpowering element—the enlightened and determined force of an aroused public sentiment. There have been other victories which have been greater only because the municipalities have been larger, but no more sweeping triumph can be imagined than one which at a single blow forces a mighty monopoly to either accede to the reasonable and legitimate demands of the people or practically abdicate the territory.

For months the Diamond State Telephone Company and the Mayor and Council of Salisbury have been attempting to adjust the differences which have arisen between the people here and the company, but nothing had been accomplished and higher rates were being charged as to new subscribers, and it was universally conceded that it was but a matter of a short time when the rates would be uniformly advanced. But now the people have taken the situation in their own hands and their vigorous and determined stand has undoubtedly solved the perplexing problem. We have contended from the beginning of the struggle up to the present time that the remedy was in the hands of the subscribers themselves and the result has more than justified the position which we have taken. The present movement is one which has the full sanction of the city officials and they were among the first who signed the agreement—in fact, the Mayor's name headed the list. Unanimity and supreme unselfishness has been the watchword of the fight. The large business concerns of the town have willingly signed the agreement even though it might mean the temporary crippling of their business in order that uniform rates should prevail and the people freed the unreasonable demands of a gigantic corporation.

The Diamond State has been made to understand that the people are the masters of the situation and they are not under the absolute domination of the company nor are they willing to cringingly submit to its extortionate and indefensible policy.

The great value of movement is now in the complete and perfect accord with which the subscribers take hold of it. In view of the fact that from 90 to 95 percent of the subscribers have already signed, it is to be earnestly hoped that not a single objection will be heard from the other five or ten per cent. These few can, of course, do nothing with nearly all of the phones disconnected, but when the matter is taken up officially with the company the name of every patron should be on the list. THE MOST EFFECTIVE WAY AT THIS

TIME TO PREVENT THE PHONES FROM BEING DISCONNECTED ON JULY FIRST. IS FOR THE FEW REMAINING SUBSCRIBERS TO SIGN IMMEDIATELY. There can be no backward step now. The 95 per cent. are under a solemn obligation to have the phones taken out at the time named unless the company agrees to the old schedule and it is now a matter of simple justice on the part of the remaining few to make the whole action absolutely unanimous, and protect the city's commercial interests and its business from interruption. The company's representatives have watched the progress of the work with intense interest and concern and their only hope has been that a sufficient number would withhold their names so as to make the scheme ineffective, but as signature after signature has swelled the list, this forlorn hope has been constantly growing less and less, and it now remains for the last vestige of it to be swept away by the addition of the last name to the agreement.

Editorial Jottings.

The present regime in Baltimore might properly be termed a "reign of graft."

No corporation, however powerful or independent, can long defy public opinion.

A Judge is elected for fifteen years and no mistake should be made in the selections which will be made in this Circuit this Fall.

The local officials connected with the State Fishery Force are to be commended for their zeal in securing a large consignment of trout for deposit in the waters adjoining Salisbury.

"Free trade" is a fine issue for the Democrats in a national campaign, but a mighty poor thing in actual practice. The Southern Senators are outdoing themselves in trying to find available seats in the Republican protection band wagon. The latest arrival is the Hon. John W. Daniel, one of the most brilliant men the South has ever produced, and he has just come forward with this splendid doctrine: "I want to protect American interests. That is my policy. I don't care what name you call it, I am for it."

The telephone movement in Salisbury has more than a local significance. As one of the two largest places on the Peninsula South of Wilmington its vigorous and determined stand will have a telling effect upon its sister towns, a large number of which are now engaged in heated controversies with this same company. From exchanges received from different points, intense interest is being manifested in the local fight and the wholesale slaughter of phones which will take place here on July 1st unless the demands of the people are acceded to, will probably be followed by similar action in other places.

From the large number of favorable comments which have been made during the past week, the people of Salisbury thoroughly appreciate the courtesy that has been extended to them by continuing the noon mail train from Delmar, bringing with it the daily papers and other important mail. In view of the fact that this train does not go down the Peninsula, but stops here and then runs back to Delmar, it is self evident that it was done for the accommodation of the people here and is doubly appreciated. This is another striking illustration of the power of continued agitation and the results which flow from constant effort.

RUNNING A FERRY.

Now a Couple of Husky Black Men Took Hold of the Job.

WHEN Colonel Thompson bought the ferry privilege on the Hiram river above Kingston he sent a couple of big husky black men from his plantation to run it, providing them with a handful of small coins to make change. They tied up the ferry at night and came shuffling home, vastly pleased with themselves.

"Well, boys, did you run the ferry all day? How did you get along? Carry many people? Want to try it again tomorrow?" inquired the colonel from behind his desk.

"Yassuh. Yas, boss. We run her. Right smart chance of folks goin' over. Yassuh, we'll run her tomorrow, if you give us de money."

"What money?" asked the colonel, turning serious. "I gave you $2 to make change this morning. Where's that? Where's the money the folks paid you for going over?"

"Money?" echoed the spokesman of the pair, scratching his woolly head. "We ain't got no money. Didn't you give us dat $2 for to make change? Well, dat's what we used it for. We kept a-changin' it and a-changin' it till we changed it all away, but if you're willin' to give us some mo' for tomorrow we'll run her agin. Tell you, boss, hit costs to run a ferry in dis country."

And the colonel decided that, under certain management, it did.—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Servant Problem, Plus.

"But," says the lady of the house to the applicant, "you really should not ask such high wages from me when you consider the conveniences with which my house is equipped—electric cooking range, electric washing and ironing machines, vacuum sweepers and dusters, pneumatic parcel carriers from and to all floors and rooms, phones and annunciators in each room, sanitary wall and floor finishes, filtered air, filtered water, antiseptic refrigerator."

"Yes, mum," interrupts the applicant, "but the likes of you ought to know that a scientific expert draws a lot more money than a kitchen mechanic."

—Judge.

A Technical Evasion.

"How is this, madam?" asks the stern judge. "Do you not know it is against the law to wear a hat that is more than eighteen inches wide?"

"Certainly, your honor," she replies tartly.

"Then why do you object because the officer arrested you, as was his duty?"

"Because if the big chump had taken the pains to look he would have seen that I am wearing two hats instead of one. There's no law providing the number of hats a woman can wear, is there?"—Chicago Post.

Measured Skill.

"You say De Skill plays an ideal game of golf?"

"Yes. He plays well enough to make it interesting for an influential friend without actually beating him."—Harper's Weekly.

His Predicament.

"See that man over there?"

"Well, by Jove! Wearing a straw hat and white trousers in spring!"

"Yes. And in summer he goes about with a sealskin cap and a fur lined overcoat. At his house they celebrate Christmas on Nov. 1, have their New Year's dinner early in December, send valentines out in January, celebrate Thanksgiving in October, give their Halloween party in September and shoot off firecrackers in June."

"What is he? An escaped lunatic?"

"No. He's a magazine editor."

—Puck.

Encouragement.

"I have a splitting headache," sighs the beautiful young thing.

"Have you ever tried magnetic healing?" asks the obliging young man.

"No. What is it?"

"You rest your head, thus, on my shoulder, and I pass my arm about your waist in this manner. Now, be perfectly calm and see if this does not relieve you."

The position is maintained for five or ten minutes, and then the obliging young man asks:

"Does your head ache any more?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'm sorry I don't seem able to relieve you."

He is about to remove his arm when she looks up at him chidingly and says:

"It seems to me that if you have any confidence in your method you would be willing to keep on trying."—Chicago News.

Why She Shut Down.

"A charming gentleman about four years old used to pass my house every day on his way to kindergarten," said a lady, "and in course of time I made his acquaintance and gave a penny to him each morning when we parted."

"Eventually his mother requested me not to give any more money to him. The next morning I did not present the usual penny. He did not seem to notice the omission. The succeeding day when the penny was not given to him, he said nothing. But on the morning of the third day when the penny was not forthcoming he sidled up to me and whispered: 'What's the matter? Ain't your husband working?'"

Uncertainty of Lion Hunting.

A lion is a fearful animal. Do not run away with the idea that he is not dangerous. You may have luck to kill twenty, but No. 21 will likely get you. However careful and good a shot you may be, there is the greatest danger in tackling a lion. I remember Colonel H., who had lived in Africa for nine years and during that time had never seen a lion, and the first lion he saw he wounded and got badly mauled, saying to me: "Here, man; you have been here only sixteen months and have killed five lions. Chuck it, man while you are in luck. They are bound to get you if you go on hunting them."—Forest and Stream.

That Settled It.

For years Mr. Clerkile had eaten his frugal but nourishing luncheon in a little restaurant half a block north from his office. He was an easily satisfied person, and what he ordered seemed always to suit him to perfection. The waitresses never knew him to complain.

But one day things went wrong. The butter was rancid and the bread so moist that Mr. Clerkile, who had decided ideas about hygiene, would not eat it. He did his best and left the table early.

The next day the same thing occurred, and the day after there was no improvement. He called the waitress to him.

"May I see the proprietor, please?" he inquired.

The girl disappeared for a minute and returned with the news that the proprietor was out.

The following day as well as the one after there was no improvement in the food and no sign of the proprietor. Mr. Clerkile nearly made up his mind to seek another restaurant. He decided, however, to give them a chance and on Saturday at luncheon again asked for the owner of the place.

"He's gone out," was the reply.

Mr. Clerkile became bold.

"This is ridiculous!" he exclaimed.

"I come here at noontime every day, and every day he is out. Where is he anyway?"

"We expect him back any minute," said the girl. "He has just stepped out to get his lunch."

TRIBUTE TO PETROSINO.

Famous Italian Detective, Terror of Criminals, Who Was Killed in Sicily.

Vaguely, with neither praise nor blame, We in our guarded safe repose Knew him by name as one of those Who walk the darkness of the days.

We did not understand as now That Death walked with him through the years.

Though never thought of faltering fears Paired the high courage of his brow.

We did not know when evening shades Shone on our rest or pleasuring That any dusk his doom might bring.

The end was ever in his eyes.

And still, with laughter and with love, He went his shadow haunted way.

The martyrdom we mourn today Needs none to tell how well he strove.

He died for us across the sea, A people alien to his race— He died for us amid the grace And flowers of his Italy.

He has come "home" to sleep, to rest, Here where men plotted all his harm.

Our sterner hearts above him warm, Our colder blossoms on his breast.

Here is no deed effacing death; Here is no triumph for his foes.

Forth his unbannered battle goes, His spirit breathes eternal breath.

—Chester Firkins in New York American.

Nervous Indigestion

The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

"For many years I was an acute sufferer from nervous indigestion; at times I was so despondent life seemed almost a burden. I tried all kinds of remedies and various physicians with little or no relief, until one night last summer I saw Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure advertised. I resolved to make one more trial which I did in the purchase of one bottle of Nervine and one of Heart Cure. In a few days I began to feel better, which encouraged me so much that I continued the medicine until I had taken more than a dozen bottles. I am very much improved in every way; in body, mind and spirits since. I make a special point to recommend the medicine, and feel a sincere pleasure in knowing that several persons have been benefited through my recommendation."

BIG TENPIN CONTEST

Women Bowlers to Compete For World's Championship.

NEED NOT BE CLUB MEMBERS.

Tourney to Be Held in New York Will Be Conducted Under Rules of Eastern Ladies' Bowling Contest—Figures For National Bowling Tournament Reach Huge Proportions.

Every woman bowler in America is invited to enter the individual competition for the world's championship to be held in Madison Square Garden, in New York, on May 24 to June 12, during the three weeks given to the national championships for men by the National Bowling association. Final arrangements for the tournament have been perfected with the United Tournament company, which has been organized to handle the National Bowling association events.

This is the only tournament for women that will be held in the big garden. There will be no entry or other fees of any kind, and every competitor will have free admission to the garden
during the tournament. Club membership is unnecessary, as the entries are all made by individual registration. In recognition of the eastern ladies' bowling congress, an organization of 300 or more members, that has done so much for bowling among women in the east,
the garden event will be conducted under its rules, which are the same as those of the New York Bowling association.

The first prize will be a valuable diamond emblem, probably in the form of a brooch or locket suitably engraved. This trophy will be recognized as emblematic of the world's championship. Other medals of gold, silver and bronze are for second, third and fourth prizes. Each woman will roll three games, total pins to count, as in the individual competition for the men and boys. Games will be rolled only in the afternoon.

Quite as much interest has been awakened among the women in the west over this tournament as among those in the east and in Greater New York. Miss Gertrude Hull of Chicago, who won the Olympic championship
at St. Louis; Miss Birdie Kern, daughter of Martin Kern of St. Louis, the former national champion; Miss Herrmann, daughter of Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, chairman of the national baseball commission; Miss Bergman of Philadelphia and many women bowlers of note will all be competitors for the diamond medal.

In the garden they will meet for the first time the best of the east, among them Mrs. P. J. Riddell, who defeated Mrs. Hull at Rochester last year, and all the stars of the eastern ladies' bowling congress.

In this competition, as in that for the men and boys, where tournament conditions make the result extremely open, every woman bowler will have an equal chance to win the diamond trophy and the world's championship.

Rather remarkable are the results
when a person with an inclination for mathematics delves into figures pertaining to the national bowling championship tournament.

On the basis that 500 five man teams will compete, there will be 30,000 games rolled—300,000 frames. Figuring on eighteen balls to a game, 540,- 000 deliveries will be made.

With each ball traveling eighty-five feet and back, or 170 feet to each delivery, means that 91,800,000 feet, or about 17,380 miles, will be the distance covered by bowling balls in the garden. This is six times the distance between New York and San Francisco.

Each ball weighing sixteen pounds,
a total weight of 8,640,000 pounds will be lifted, or about 4,320 tons, the weight of an ocean steamship. Each bowler will lift and handle nearly half a ton.

Approximately 5,400,000 pins will be knocked down, a weight of 17,550,000 pounds, or 8,775 tons. The combined weight of the balls delivered and the pins knocked down will be greater than the weight of the steamship St.
Louis.

The time for bowling will extend over eighteen days. There will be $50,000 in prizes, $1,000 of which will be given to the winning five man team.

There will be three distinct titular competitions—five man, two man and individual.

Eighty-five per cent of all the entrance fees are returned to the bowlers in prizes.

Thirty thousand score sheets will be necessary to record the games, each sheet having room for three games and being issued in triplicate. The aerial scoring system, by which every person in the garden may follow the progress of each ball rolled, will cost $1,500 to install.

One team will enter from Germany and one or more teams from the Pacific coast. The tournament will be the largest bowling event ever held, both in point of entries and spectators. Of course a mathematical person, fond of research to an exhaustive degree, might attempt to ascertain the amount of skin worn off the fingers of the bowlers or the amount of nervous energy wasted in expressing the feeling of a man who has just missed a spare in the tournament or encountered an impossible split.

Man With the Conundrum.
The man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears comes to the desk of the man with the dispirited mustache and asks:

"Why is a man who goes on an expedition to discover the south pole and after many months of toil and privation during which he eats all his canned goods and half of his dogs and then returns to civilization with a fixed appetite for boot heels and hat brims—why is he like a woman who has been waiting impatiently since midnight for the sound of the latchkey as her husband endeavors to unlock the front door without awakening
the entire neighborhood?"

The man with the discouraged mustache shakes his head impatiently, and the other repeats the question, whereupon the man with the discouraged mustache asks:

"What is the difference between a lady reading a hair restorer ad, and a man who asks fool questions when you are busy? Answer—Because they are both about ready to die."

"Oh, very well!" sniffs the man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears. The answer to mine is that both are getting ready to deliver a lecture, but I wouldn't tell you if you pleasured with tears in your eyes."

And with a haughty tread he departs.—Chicago Post.

Stevenson and Dreams.

Robert Louis Stevenson owed much of his inspiration to dreams. In one passage he attributed some of his finest work to the "brownies" who tenanted his brain during moments of unconsciousness. "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" owes its origin to a dream. "I had long been trying to write a story on this subject," writes Stevenson, "to find a body, a vehicle, for that strong sense of man's double being which must at times come in upon and overwhelm
the mind of every thinking creature."

For two days I went about racking
my brains for a plot of any sort,
and on the second night I dreamed
the scene at the window and a scene afterward split in two, in which Hyde, pursued for some crime, took the powder and underwent the change in the presence of his pursuers. All the rest was made awake and consciously, although I think I can trace in much of it the manner of my brownies."

Double Quick Composing.

Sir Arthur Sullivan wrote the overture to "The Yeomen of the Guard" in twelve hours and that to "Iolanthe" in less space of time—from 9 p. m. to 7
a. m. But even this capacity for speed in composition is eclipsed by H. Bompard, who for a wager composed the music to a song in ten minutes. Mr. N.
Trotter, however, is the composer of whom most quick time anecdotes are told. His beautiful song "Asthore" was both written and composed in forty minutes in Blanchard's restaurant. The melody of "In Old Madrid" was the result of a sudden inspiration.
It came to the composer while on his way home from the aquarium. Least he should escape him he rushed into a small public house in Rochester row, seized a biscuit bag and on it jotted down the air. But Mr. Trotter holds the championship. "It is said that he actually composed 'The Bow of the Hill,' wrote a letter and ran 400 yards to post it in eight minutes.—Dundee Advertiser.

Odd Names in China.

Chinese children are endowed with strange Christian names. Their girls, for instance, are not called Mabel, Jenny or Matilda, but Cloudy Moon, Celestial Happiness, Spring Peach or Casket of Pearls. Their boys get less attractive names, being made for work and wisdom rather than pleasure and dancing. Thus we find a little two-year-old Practical Industry; three-year-old, Ancestral Knowledge; four-year-old, Complete Virtue; five-year-old, Discreet Valor. To their slaves
they give still another set of names.
Not For Me, Joy to Serve, Your Happiness and Humble Devotion may be taken as typical examples.

Harold Chose the Easier Way.

Maynard had been naughty, and his father, after showing him his fault,
had sent him up to his room to ask God to forgive him for being a bad boy. Three-year-old Harold was present; but seemed to take no notice of the conversation. It was his turn, however, before many days to receive punishment, and his father took him across his knee. "Oh, don't, papa," he said. "I would rather go upstairs and pray."—Delineator.

John's Great Loss.

"For goodness' sake, Harriet, why so sad?"

"The cook's left, but that isn't the worst of it. She took with her the recipe book for all the things John's mother used to make."—Brooklyn Life.

Not His Hat.

TO DISCONTINUE TELEPHONES.

prepared by Mr. A. M. Jackson as follows: "We the undersigned citizens of Salisbury subscribe the amount opposite our names for the purpose of purchasing stock in a local Telephone Co., the par value and the capital stock to be decided at a meeting of the organization to be called for that purpose; it is understood that the undersigned will be released from this pledge provided the Diamond State Telephone Company accedes to the rates of $15.00 and $25.00 for service to the Salisbury exchange, otherwise the same to remain in full force." The paper was signed by the following with subscription amounting to over $3,000: T. H. Mitchell, Affria Fooks, P. S. Shockley, A. F. Benjamin, E. A. Toadvine, W. F. Bounds, Thos. M. Slemons, White & Bro., Augustus Toadvine, George C. Hill, C. E. Bennett, F. L. Smith, L. A. Bennett, U. W. Dickerson, Thos. Tilghman, J. McF. Dick, D. J. Elliott, J. E. Moore, Toadvine & Bell, George T. Houston, C. E. Williams, John H. Waller, R. D. Grier and Elmer H. Walton.

Taken altogether it was perhaps the most spirited public meeting ever held in Salisbury and will undoubtedly result in the establishment of equal rates without any increase except to the few subscribers who have been paying a rate of $12.00 per year. These instruments will be increased to $15.00. Besides the foregoing the meeting was addressed by Rev. W. A. Cooper, Thos. H. Mitchell, James E. Ellegood, A. F. Benjamin, A. M. Jackson, S. King White and Mayor Harper. The Mayor took advantage of the opportunity to fully explain the position of the Mayor and Council at the time of the alleged secret meeting between the council and the officials of the telephone company.

Jackson, are at their old home, "The Oaks" for the late Spring and early Summer. Mrs. W. W. Leonard and her little daughter will join them early next week. Mrs. Rider is also with her daughter, Mrs. Jackson.

Old Wheel of Fortune.

In the village church of Comfort, near Pont-Croix, in western Brittany, is a very good specimen of the now rare "wheel of fortune." It is made of wood, with a row of bells on its outer rim and pivoted between a couple of rough beams, altogether very primitive workmanship. By means of a cord attached to a crank the wheels can be made to revolve and set all the bells a-jangling. I have often heard that the peasants believe that it has miraculous power of healing when rung over the head of a sufferer who has placed a son in the box to which the rope is padlocked. I received remarkable confirmation of this belief, for while making a photograph a well-to-do sailor's wife and her husband came into the church and looked round. The woman asked me if I thought there could be any truth in this belief, as her child was very backward in learning to talk. Her nurse, who came from those parts, had advised her to bring the baby and ring the bells of Comfort over his head, when he would be sure to talk. As she was passing she had looked in to see if it was worth trying! —London Chronicle.

The Smooth Way.

In the last generation Tyler Cobb, Esq., was a well known citizen of North Bridgewater, now Brockton, Mass. He was famous throughout Plymouth county for his witty retorts and dry humor.

Never having taken a sea trip, Mr. Cobb one day conceived the idea of making a voyage to New York. Accordingly he sailed from Boston in a small schooner. The first day out a storm was encountered and Mr. Cobb became violently sick, but after several hours he mustered up courage and strength to look out upon the troubled waters.

As he looked from the side of the little ship up the trough of the sea it seemed very smooth to him. The captain's cutting of the waves was senseless, he told himself. But as this mad steering continued the unhappy passenger finally crawled out on hands and knees to where the captain stood at the wheel and, raising his voice above the din of waves and wind, shouted:

"Man, man, keep in the ruts, keep in the ruts!"

since we were boys a hundred years ago. No one ever hustles for a job any more, he always accepts a position. The employee never gets fired nowadays, he always "resigns." We too have changed for the better. Where formerly we had our small place of business and a few men, we now are cramped for room with two beautiful stores and TWENTY employees—at least they seem like TWENTY on pay day. But Lacy Thoroughgood handles his Clothing, Hat and Gents Furnishing Goods business more satisfactorily than ever. Come see how we do it. BRIDGE SWEEP AWAY AT HUMPHREYS MILL DAM.

Rush Of Water Into Wicomico Causes Boats To Break From Their Moorings And Plays Havoc With Water And Gas Mains.

The flood gates at the Humphreys mill dam on South Division Street gave way shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the bridge spanning the waterway was swept away by the force of the water. The road way was washed out for a considerable distance on either side of the bridge and the damages will be costly to the owners. Fortunately no one happened to be crossing the bridge at the time. Mr. Woodland Hayman, driving an ice wagon, and Hugh Waller, driving a cart narrowly escaped, having crossed the bridge only a few seconds before the break.

The rushing water also washed away the earth under the new bitulithic pavement at the Camden bridge causing the sidewalk to sink. The city authorities stopped traffic for several hours until repairs could be made. During this time it was impossible for teams or pedestrians to reach Camden or South Salisbury as the only two approaches to these sections of the city were cut off. On Division street the gas and water mains were severed.

While several reasons have been advanced as to the cause of the breaking of the dam-it is generally believed that the structure was considerably weakened by taking the heavy steam roller back and forth across it during the time the paving was being done in Camden. It was learned at that time that the Camden bridge was not strong enough to bear the weight and, notwithstanding the protests of the heirs of the Humphreys estate, who a short time before, had made extensive repairs to the Division street bridge, the city authorities permitted the roller to be taken over that structure. After the paving was completed the bridge was inspected by experts who gave it as their opinion that the bridge had been weakened. The heavy weight had caused cracks to appear where the wall was formerly tight and several leaks were discovered. It is now claimed that the water coming through these cracks gradually washed away the earth from under the foundations, with the result that happened yesterday.

When the flood gates broke the rush of water tore the wooden waterway from its position and swept bridge and all before it. The flow of water was so great that in less than one half hour after the breaking of the dam the pond was emptied into the river. The meadow below the bridge was soon one wide expanse of water. Several boats in the river were loosened from their moorings and it was some time before they could be made safe. The "Idlewild," with Mr. and Mrs. Walley on board, was swept down the stream and was finally brought about by the efforts of those aboard.

The news soon spread throughout the city and in a few minutes, a large crowd had congregated and photographers were busy securing pictures of the scene.

The work of repairing the bridge and roadway will be started at once but it will be some time before the street can be thrown open for traffic.

KELLEY MAY BE HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER.

Hiram Truitt Died Last Night From A Wound Which He Claims, In Dying Statement, Was Inflicted Last Saturday Night.

Hiram Truitt, eldest son of James Truitt, of Powellville, this county, died last night as the result of a wound received last Saturday night in the barber shop of James Donaway, in that place. According to the dying statement of Truitt, Benton Kelley is implicated in the crime and may later be required to face the charge of murder. It is not generally believed, however, that he is guilty and after a full hearing on Monday afternoon last before Justice of the Peace Marcellus Dennis he was exonerated from all blame in connection with the affair.

The difficulty on Saturday night started at about ten o'clock when Kelley entered the barber shop run by James Donaway.

Truitt, Ned Dennis and Joe Bodley had had trouble earlier in the evening and when Kelley entered the shop, about ten o'clock, Bodley made a remark concerning their difficulties to which Kelley jokingly responded. Truitt and Dennis, however, took exception to the latter remark and immediately made a rush at Kelley, who up to this time had taken no part in their quarrel. A fight followed in which the wound was inflicted which caused the death of Truitt last night. Truitt was taken to his home and a search revealed that he carried on his own person a black jack, a pair of brass knuckles and a large open knife. On account of the bad reputation of Truitt it is generally believed by the people in the vicinity of Powellville that he cut himself by falling on the open knife in the fight when he and Bodley attacked Kelley.

State's Attorney Joseph L. Bailey and Deputy Sheriff Walter hurried to Powellville late last night and as it is thought that other young men in the neighborhood are implicated it is expected that additional arrests will follow.

DEMANDS OF TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS MUST BE GRANTED BY JUNE SEVENTH.

Committee Sends Formal Notice To Officials Of Telephone Company And All Instruments Will Be Ordered Out According To Agreement Unless Favorable Reply Is Duly Received.

After securing the signatures of over ninety-five per cent. of the telephone subscribers to an agreement to disconnect telephones on July first provided the Diamond State Telephone Company does not, in the meantime, accede to the demands for equitable rates in this city, the committee appointed for that purpose met Wednesday afternoon and formulated the following letter which was delivered into the hands of Mr. W. B. Wainwright, District Manager.

Diamond State Telephone Co., Dover, Delaware.

Gentlemen:—

At a citizens mass meeting held in the Court House in this city on Tuesday evening, the 18th inst., the undersigned were appointed a committee for the purpose of waiting upon your subscribers and ascertaining whether or not they would be willing to sign an agreement by which they would pledge themselves to have the phones now subscribed from you ordered disconnected on July 1st next, unless in the meantime you should consent to make the uniform rate of $15.00 for residential use and $25.00 for commercial purposes, per year, for all phones within the city limits; the said scale to become operative on that date and continue during the life of the company's franchise. An agreement embodying these conditions was duly presented to the subscribers and nearly all have attached their signatures to this paper. This action was deemed necessary by reason of the fact that the Mayor and Council have been unable to come to some adjustment of the matter with you and this movement has now their entire sanction and support as is evidenced by the fact that all the city officials have signed the agreement at this time. We herewith append a copy of the agreement together with the names of those who have so far signed. This is now on file with the chairman of the committee at his office and can be inspected by you or your agents at any time you may desire.

We also wish to say in this connection that several of those whose names do not appear upon the paper are out of town and we have been unable to see them. In several other instances notably in the case of the banks, railroad, express and telegraph offices, there was no one here clothed with authority to sign, and a signature could only be authorized by higher officials elsewhere or by a directors' meeting. We have been assured by those in a position to know, however, that they felt certain that any action taken by the other subscribers would be adhered to by these higher officials and the boards, and several have since signed. This is especially true, in the case of the banks, as it will be noticed that practically all the directors are local business men who names appear in these lists having signed for their own business houses and their residences as well so that in formal meeting these men would ratify for the banks what they have already done for their own business concerns.

We also desire to say that we have made no attempt to secure the signatures of out of town subscribers, though a number of them have come to us voluntarily and wished to do so. Our purpose was in limiting the movement, at least at this time, to the town, and you will see that the list contains the signatures of over ninety-five per cent. of those residing within the city limits.

There may also be certain new subscribers whose names do not appear upon these lists, as they are not listed in your directory of January 1909, but we have had no way of reaching them except as they have come to us, but you will notice a large number have already signed unoffered and we feel certain that there would be no difficulty in securing the signatures of this class of subscribers. By virtue thereof of the power conferred upon us at the meeting above mentioned and by the contracts which have been signed, we hereby notify you that unless you agree on or before 6 o'clock P. M., the 7th of June, 1909, to make and maintain the uniform rates of $15.00 for phones for residence use and $25.00 for commercial purposes per year, during the life of your company's present franchise, we will on the following day notify all the subscribers whose names are attached to the paper hereto appended that the contract and agreement is in force and that all such phones will be disconnected on July 1st and we will forthwith proceed to the organization of a new company, the capital stock of which has already been pledged and the franchise for which has been assured by the Mayor and Council.

We desire to further notify you that in the event of your failure to give assurance by the 7th of June above mentioned of your willingness to make and maintain the rates above quoted, that you are hereby notified to disconnect the phones of all those whose names appear on this list and such phones will not be paid for after that date. If the phones are not disconnected under this notice by the company they will be disconnected by a committee appointed for that purpose.

We wish to assure you, however, that we trust this necessity will not arise and the demands of the subscribers which are believed by them to be reasonable and just will be acceded to by your company. We shall be pleased to meet any of your officials or agents at any time before the seventh of June, and if you signify your desire to meet us, we will let you know positively when and where the full committee can be seen.

Will you kindly acknowledge receipt of this communication promptly.

Yours very respectfully,

The foregoing letter was signed by the members of the Committee.

Attached to the letter were the names of those subscribers who signed the agreement. The large number of these signatures shows almost an undivided sentiment of the people of Salisbury. It is hardly considered probable that with such a strong feeling existing that the officials of the telephone company will do anything else but accede to the reasonable demands of its subscribers.

The letter and signatures was taken to the offices of the Bell Telephone Company by Mr. Wainwright Thursday morning and it is expected that the directors of that company will take immediate action in the matter.

That this movement is attracting attention throughout the country is evidenced by the fact that the following letter was received yesterday from Mr. Elmer H. Walton, Buffalo, N. Y., May 28th, 1909.

Dear Sir:—

Information has reached us to the effect that you are interested in the formation of a New Independent Telephone Company, and we wish to call your attention to the fact that we manufacture and carry in stock everything necessary for telephone installations of any size, from the largest common battery plants complete, down to rural telephones and private line equipment. You are, of course, looking for the best values for your money, and as we are just now making an effort to extend our trade in the state of Maryland, and are disposed to offer some exceptional inducements, we feel sure that we can interest you.

Please have a copy of your specifications or a list of your requirements mailed us, and we will send full details of apparatus in which you are interested and figures which you cannot afford to disregard. If you are interested in four-party selective telephones, we have a system "that is different."

Yours truly,

J. A. WRIGHT,

Sales Manager.

RIGID INVESTIGATION BY CORONER'S JURY.

Will Hear Testimony This Morning In An Effort To Fix Responsibility For Wreck In Which Engineer West Lost His Life.

With the view of ascertaining the cause of the wreck which occurred Tuesday on the N. Y. P. & N. Railroad near Fruitland in which Engineer Edward T. West lost his life, a jury of inquest has been summoned by Coroner W. A. Trader at the instigation of State's Attorney Joseph L. Bailey. The jury will meet this morning at the office of Justice Trader at 9 o'clock. All of the employees of both trains and a number of officials have been summoned to appear before the jury and a thorough investigation will be made. The following compose the jury: Messrs. S. King White, Jacob A. Jones, William S. Moore, U. W. Dickerson, J. H. Tomlinson, John H. Dulany, Norman Ford, T. V. Taylor, E. T. White, Edward White, Isaac Messick and Dr. Charles R. Truitt.

The wreck occurred shortly after noon Tuesday when North bound passenger train No. 48 collided with freight train No. 4, also North-bound at the end of the double track North of Fruitland as the latter train was pulling out on the main track.

According to the statement of Albert A. Waller, conductor of the passenger train, he and West, his engineer, received orders at Princess Anne to the effect that freight train No. 4 would precede the passenger train to Delmar. Running on these orders the train proceeded on its run to Salisbury, the next stop. In the meantime the freight had passed the Fruitland station and was on the side track starting out on the main track following out its orders to precede train No. 48, when the two engines collided at the intersection of the two tracks. The passenger engine was completely demolished. With several baggage and express cars it was hurled considerable distance from the tracks. The freight engine was not badly damaged.

Lee H. Cox, fireman of the passenger train, saved his life by jumping. Baggage master William W. Guthrie had his hand and arm badly lacerated and W. W. Wright, express messenger, received a severe cut in the head when his car toppled over. The crew of the freight engine escaped by jumping. Drs. Todd, Dick, Potter, Morris and Truitt were hurried to the scene of the accident in automobiles and cared for the injured.

The body of Engineer West was removed to his home at Delmar and the funeral obsequies were held yesterday afternoon from his late residence.

To Dedicate New Home.

The seventh anniversary of the establishment of the Salisbury Home for the Aged will be celebrated on June 1 by the opening of the new Home and it is proposed to make the occasion a memorable one in the history of the institution. Invitations have been issued to all the prominent State officials some of whom have signified their intention to be present. A cordial invitation is also extended to every resident of Salisbury and Wicomico county and hope is expressed on the part of the Lady Board of Managers that the exercises will be well attended. The ceremonies will begin at 8 o'clock.

Hon. N. Winslow Williams, Secretary of State of Maryland, will be present and accept the Home on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Miss Howeth Wins.

The case has been heard in the courts of Dorchester and Wicomico counties and has twice been before the Court of Appeals. The latest verdict was in this county for $4500.00.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Topic For Tomorrow, Believing And Doing. Discussed By A Local Writer.

"We have learned in our recent lessons that when Paul and Barnabas returned from the first missionary journey they found the church at Antioch (Syria) very much exercised over the question as to how the Gentiles were to be admitted into the church, and they heard the report of the church. It must have made a grate impression throughout the church and evidently, James, who presided over the council, must have thought it wise to further advise and exhort the various churches upon the question of works and faith, as we have his letters or epistle, written soon after this, handed down to us. And our lesson committee has thought it wise to defer the mission study for several weeks, and take up more fully the study of this advice of James to the converts to the faith.

This epistle (general) of James was written by James, the brother of our Lord. He did not believe in Christ, or was not converted until after the Ascension. He became greatly honored, was called "James, the just," was President of the Council, and Paul finds him exercising this power when he returns from his third missionary journey. James was a Hebrew of the Hebrew, and justly proud of it. He taught faith just as Paul taught faith with works, and both conclude with our golden text. He wrote to the Jews who were scattered abroad, and to the whole church to correct certain faults in the matter of belief, and to give comfort and inspiration to the new converts. His words are practical, and the inquiry in our lesson (ver. 14) comes after speaking to those who credit outward forms in religion, and respect personages. The question in verse 14 is: If a man say he has faith, and shows no works, can such faith save him? Would such a faith be like that faith spoken of by Paul, such as "worketh by love,"—a living, acting, busy faith, so that it is impossible for it to not be doing good? No. It would be a dead faith, faith devoid of substance. But James is using the word faith in a broad way, touching any degree of faith in Christian teaching by Jews wherever dispersed, who, living among heathen nations, might be tempted to (Matt. 3:9) believe in salvation through their descent from Abraham, and to doing formal religious duties. This faith through formalism worked exclusiveness, but now the fulfillment of the law is in Christ, and faith in Him worketh love, for His new commandment, added to the old is, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," for love is the fulfillment of the law. Faith or belief without doing is negative. Demons believing that works for our salvation is a living, working faith. It is an affirmation faith, affirming through our consciences that it worketh our salvation through our acceptance of Him and through Him, James says. Can you say to the hungry "be fed," and yet not giving food, feed one? No; neither can you say, "I believe," and not putting forth the work or act of believing, believe. Then faith is an act, for acts show faith. As did the act of Abraham show faith in God's command, so does faith in Christ become an act, and its fruit, the doing of those things commanded by Him, and this act of faith is made perfect by our work. A perfect faith in Christ; how? By believing and doing.

Who could James have seen believing yet not showing saving fruits of their belief? The nineteenth verse explains it; possibly he had the look of wonder, horror, and dismay upon the faces of demons, coming in contact with the majesty of Christ. They recognized him and believed him to be the Christ. They were orthodox in their theology, yet they did the work of demons, knowing that, in time, Christ would entirely overcome and destroy the power of their reigning majesty Satan.

The world knows Christ today; knows Him as the true Son of God, and believes it, too, yet beholding, tremble and fear, and fail to do the works which count toward righteousness. Many fail to receive His message with joy, and to render love which fulfills the law. Faith that brings loving service is the faith that saves. Some one has said, "Faith alone saves, but not faith that is alone." How full of the explanation of this faith are all the epistles! Just loving, open-hearted letters of advice to those who would know about this saving faith, written by men who knew the author and finisher of this faith, and who, by counsel together, had, guided by the Holy Spirit, delivered an opinion for us. They now write us, urging us to follow closely this teaching, and every Christian possessing this faith has a blessed assurance of the truth of this teaching within his heart. Then to prove our faith we must show forth work of righteousness for says Christ, "Ye shall know them by their fruits."

WOMEN'S WOES.

Salisbury Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains any many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John L. Baker, 313 Baker Street, Salisbury, Md., says: "A year or so ago I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store and after taking them a short time, I found relief from kidney complaint. I had been bothered a great deal by a lame back and a heavy bearing-down sensation through my hips. No matter what I did or took, this misery clung to me and I was also bothered when I arose in the morning by a stiffness across my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at White & Leonard's drug store in return for the relief they brought me. I consider them worthy of my recommendation."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. M'Cue Heirs Win. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company will have to pay the death claim of $20,000 on the life of J. Samuel M'Cue, the former mayor of Charlottesville, Va., who was hanged for the murder of his wife, in 1905. The final decision was rendered in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., Tuesday morning when a petition for a rehearing of the case was refused.

The case was heard by the Court, Judge Peter C. Fritchard presiding. It had come up from the United States Circuit Court for the Western District of Virginia, at Lynchburg, which handed down a decision favorable to the insurance company. On an appeal to the higher court, the lower court was reversed. Then came the petition for a new hearing which was refused. The claims of the company were based on the fact that the life insured was forfeited by a violation of the laws of the State.

This case will attract considerable interest, as it may settle for all time similar cases in which insurance companies refuse payment where the insured dies through legal execution.

GARAGE FOR AERIAL CRAFT.

Philadelphia Hotel Makes Ready For Influx of Aeronautic Guests.

According to the press agent, there will also be installed on the roof all the necessary apparatus for replenishing the power, both fluid and electric of the air craft, while expert airship mechanics will be in attendance to give such aid as may be necessary to disabled aeroplanes.

A "Swat the Fly" Device.

William Kaute, who lives in Kansas City, Kan., has perfected a "swat the fly" device, on which he has obtained a patent. It consists of a flat plate with extended edge, in which an ordinary sheet of sticky fly paper is placed. The raised edges prevent the paper from coming in contact with the walls or ceiling. A long handle enables the wielder of the implement to "swat" flies perched on the ceiling or other remote places in a room.

A Painter Who Was a Musician.

Those painters who also have the feeling and some of the proficiency of a musician reveal it in their work. They are usually colorists, with more eye for the colors and tones of nature than her shapes and forms. Such a one was Corot. He had a good tenor voice and played on the violin. He sang at his work, and sang, too, when he was not painting, but wandering through the forest of Fontainebleau or around the village of Ville d'Avray, absorbing the beauty of the scene and storing up impressions for future pictures. In fact, his whole long life of seventy-nine years was to Le Pere Corot, as his friends loved to call him, a song. And one feels it in his pictures, at least in his later ones, by which he is best known. Their coloring is subdued, like a lullaby or wakening song, for it was the dawn or twilight that he preferred to paint. It vibrates with the hum of melody, and here and there is an accent of effect that trembles like the string of his violin.

Corot's long life was a remarkable instance of a man being able to continue to the end the springtime of his youth.—Circle Magazine.

THE Salisbury Building & Loan and Banking Association

The Building & Loan Department, with its paid-up capital stock of $154,500.00, makes loans, secured by mortgages, to be paid back in weekly instalments of 30c, 40c, 50c, $1.00 or $2.00 per week, to suit borrower; and has been doing a popular and successful business since 1887.

The Banking Department was added in 1902 under authority granted by the General Assembly of Maryland of that year, to set apart $25,000.00 of the Association's capital stock for banking purposes, receives money on deposits, makes loans on commercial paper, enters into such business transactions as conservative banks ordinarily do, and earnestly solicits the patronage of its friends and the general public. MEN'S SUITS

The man in a heavy suit on a joyous May day is as incongruous as a horse that hasn't shed his winter coat. Other people take for granted that he either cannot afford new clothes or he is thin blooded. Neither opinion is going to help him in business or socially. The world at large is unsympathetic. There's still another reason for buying your suit early this year—the choicest cloth patterns (staples as well as fancies) are few of a kind and cannot be duplicated this season. Right now our tables are groaning under piles and piles of the grandest stock we ever carried. This is the store to trade with for the man who wants real style—not freakishness; real values—not fictitious bargains; perfect fit, whether he measures 30 inch or 50 inch chest. SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1909.

The Fruitland Wreck.

The wreck which occurred on the New York, Philadelphia, and Norfolk Railroad on Tuesday about two miles below Salisbury is unfortunately only one of the many which have taken place in the past few years upon this system. As it occurred upon Wicomico soil the local authorities have full power to make a complete and sweeping investigation, and for the safety of the travelling public of this community it should unquestionably be done. The great railway companies have too frequently had the faculty of practically stopping any damaging investigations which have been started and few of them have resulted in anything tangible.

The wreck apparently from every standpoint was absolutely inexcusable and could have been prevented by ordinary care and caution on the part of any one of four or five different employees of the road. If the freight conductor, before moving his train from the siding to the main track had sent his flagman to the rear to caution the oncoming North-bound train immediately back of him, the accident could never have occurred, and this, according to a high authority of another road, is a well known rule applicable to all systems. Or if the engineer of the freight had simply looked down the main track before starting his train he would never have opened the throttle, for at the very minute he pulled out, the swiftly moving passenger train was within a short distance of him. In view of the fact that the express was at that time due and he had orders to precede it to Delmar, the most natural thing, it seems, would have been to have ascertained if it were then in sight. A single glance southward would have shown him the fatal consequences of a move at that moment. Finally, had the engineer of the express slowed at Fruitland and ascertained the whereabouts of the freight he never would have made the blunder which was made. He had distinct orders to follow the other train and at the time of the accident he was in the act of passing it, which in itself was a violation of his positive instructions. It is generally believed, however, in view of his splendid service, that he must have believed the freight was further up the road, but it did not relieve him from the responsibility of definitely locating the train so that he could follow it as he had been directed to do.

From those in a position to thoroughly understand the situation, however, it seems that the principal cause of the numerous accidents which have taken place has been the attempt on the part of the officials to handle the vast volume of business which has been sent over the road in the last few years, upon a single track. The double tracking of the system has been delayed entirely too long, but it is gratifying to know that within a short time the whole line from Cape Charles to Delmar will be thus equipped. If this has been the trouble, these disastrous wrecks should now be a thing of the past, and it is to be hoped that with this change will come every safe guard known to modern railroading for the protection of life, limb and property.

"Lest We Forget!"

The Anti-Saloon League ministers and agents, who preached in the churches of this city last Sunday, again very forcibly reminded their hearers of the record made by the representatives from Wicomico upon the liquor question in the last Legislature. It is to the everlasting shame and discredit of Senator Jesse D. Price and Delegates Ernest B. Timmons and John W. Willing that they absolutely defied the temperance sentiment of their constituents. This county has overwhelmingly repudiated the saloon and the feeling here is exceptionally strong upon the subject. The Anti-Saloon League is doing a splendid work in pointing out their disgraceful performance, and in giving the facts to the public just as they stand.

Delegate Roscoe Jones who had the courage of his convictions and the nerve and stamina to fearlessly represent the local sentiment upon the subject and vote against all his fellow representatives from Wicomico, is entitled to unbounded credit for the position which he took. It is a pleasure to know that the county had one man who was firm and true to those who sent him to Annapolis and represented them and not the great liquor interests of Baltimore City.

Editorial Jottings.

Other towns have Memorial Day exercises. Why not Salisbury?

The warning sent out by the town authorities to reckless automobile drivers is a timely one and should be heeded.

Our friend, J. C. Kelly, is on the war path and hot on the trail after the scalps of those who would fain snatch from his grasp the Shrievalty nomination.

It has been suggested by one of our agricultural friends who travels over the streets of Salisbury to a considerable extent that some of the Government fish recently deposited in the waters of Wicomico might have been placed in the pond on Locust Street near the Nurses Home with profit to the residents of that section of city.

It will be interesting to note what our esteemed contemporary, The Salisbury Advertiser, will have to say upon the Crawford County system this week. It has been so wild and violently insistent for weeks in its advocacy of this method that its gratification should know no bounds at the sudden stopping of the wheel of political fortune upon its color. Surely, surely, roosters and flags should adorn, from top to bottom, the pages of this victory-signaling publication.

Chief Judge Laird Henry in a dignified letter to Messrs. John R. Pattison and Fred Fletcher, members of the Cambridge bar, who are also candidates for the Chief Judgeship of this Circuit, has signified his desire that the Crawford County system should be adopted for the judicial primaries in that County. As yet no public announcement has been made as to what the State Central Committee proposes to do. Mr. Pattison is generally credited with having the necessary power to control that body, as at present constituted, and the decision will, it is assumed, reflect his desires in the matter.

Bell vs. Salisbury.

The Bell's a mighty company,
Seeks dividends galore—
They thought they'd give the rates a boost

Along the Eastern Shore.
"The folks," they said, "are easy quite
And not at all inclined to fight"
But were you at the meeting
That was held the other night?

'Twas Holloway, sir,
He led the fray, sir,
The cry insistent was "Throw out your phone
Well, disconnect them, we'll sure reject them
And form another company of our own."

The Mayor and Council's been asleep,
Not knowing what to do—
Of dope-pills offered by the Bell
They've taken quite a few—
Believed whatever was told to them
And seemed right-well content
That profits would, nay really should Be twenty-five per cent.

But they awoke, sir,
It took a poke, sir,
A prod by Walton's motion clear and strong,— July the first, sir,
They'll know the worst, sir, Tom Mitchell said they'd sing another song.

A committee was appointed and They'll want your signature;
So don't you be a hold-back now
But help apply the cure
You well must know they stood no show

At what they call Crisfield,
And they will guess, we'll do no less,
And that they'd better yield.

So sign your name, sir,
They're all to blame, sir,
They tried to fill their pockets with our cash!

They'll come to terms, sir,
Or they will squirm, sir!
And we'll be there to see them go to smash.

What!!!

—The Salisbury Fire Department will hold a Bazar at the Armory, Thursday and Friday evenings, June 3 and 4 th. The Salisbury Band will be present. Don't fail to come and have a good time.

—In jumping from his engine in order to save his life last Tuesday, Lee H. Cox, the fireman of the passenger engine lost his watch from his pocket. Mr. Cox will greatly appreciate if the finder will return it to this office.

—Mrs. G. W. Taylor is showing a beautiful new line of Summer headwear including the newest things for ladies and children. All Spring hats and flowers are being sold at half price. She is also offering great reductions in flowers and fruits.

—Get our prices on carriages, runabouts, sewing and washing machines. Our stock is larger and prices lower than ever. Shoes awful low. We ship goods up and down the county and in other States. Dulaney & Sons, Fruitland, Md.

—Mr. George R. Collier has purchased a Maxwell runabout through the company's agent, Mr. J. Waller Williams. The machine was delivered Thursday after a record run from Millford to Salisbury. Mr. Collier's car is a duplicate of the machine recently purchased by Mr. W. A. Kennerly.

—Nearly every automobile in Salisbury was brought into service Tuesday afternoon in taking people to the scene of the railroad wreck near Fruitland. THE COURIER is indebted to Mr. J. Waller Williams who summoned its representative and had him at the wreck a few minutes after the accident.

—Granulated sugar 5 cents a pound in any quantity. Arbuckle's coffee 15c Cheese, 14 cents; Boy's suits of clothes 25 cents to $5. Men's suits from $1.99 to $15.00; 3 carloads of furniture received. For largest stock and lowest prices in Rural Eastern Shore, call on Dulaney & Sons, Fruitland Md.

—Miss Grace B. Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Evans, of Nanticoke, and Mr. Willie E. Parsons, of Salisbury, were quietly married at the bride's home Tuesday of last week by Rev. G. W. Hastings. A reception was held to which only the relatives and a few friends were invited. They will reside in Salisbury.

—Owing to many complaints having been made to the city authorities relative to the speed of automobiles within the city limits, the officers have been instructed, it is understood, to strictly enforce the ordinance governing the speed of autos. There are but few drivers who do not exceed the limit of twelve miles an hour and because of the large number of machines now in this city there is constant danger of accidents.

—Messrs. John T. Green and Carroll Brewington have purchased from Mr. M. A. Humphreys the vacant lot on North Division street adjoining Mrs. Alice C. Adkins' property and will erect a modern opera house on the site. The building will have a depth of about 65 feet with a frontage of 45 feet. The theatre proper is to be on the first floor and there will be galleries in the front and sides. The building will be used for exhibiting Green's moving pictures. It is said that the work on the new opera house will be started at once.

—In accordance with the ordinance recently passed by the City Council, property owners along Main Street are resetting the awning poles and putting down cement sidewalks to conform to the new grade which was established at the time that street was paved. In many instances the awning poles are being entirely removed and the awning suspended by braces attached to the buildings. This is a decided improvement. Where the poles are left in the sidewalk they are being reset about six inches from the curb. A number of cement sidewalks have also been put down recently on East Church St.

It's the economy of operation the freedom from repair bills, the sure, safe service yielded by

No Great Loss.

"Now, Mr. Knox," said the professor of physiology, "can you tell me with what faculty a man could most easily dispense?"

"Yes, sir," answered the student. "Good," said the professor. "Which one?"

"The college faculty," replied young Knox soberly.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Exchange.

"In requesting your daughter's hand," said Count Fucash, "I may state that I have a long line of ancestors." "I see," answered Mr. Cumrox, "and your proposition is to trade off the lot of your ancestors for a few rich relations."—Washington Star.

Picturesque Japanese Peasants.

The most characteristic scenery in Japan is not the mountain, on which few Japanese dwell, but the rice field, which is to be found wherever there is a patch of level ground for the field and sufficient water for irrigation. Gentle slopes are made useful by terracing, and the cool, preparing the ground or cutting his crop, is the true Japanese peasant. He is a picturesque peasant in his blue cotton suit, his broad, conical straw hat and straw overcoat. He is a good natured peasant, aburdly contented with his earnings, though the agricultural laborer earns as little as 8 or 10 cents gold a day. His house is a light wooden frame surmounted by a heavy thatch, and he loves to plant a lily garden along his rooftop. But he always has one thing which separates him from the Chinese and the East Indian—he lives on a platform raised above the ground. No hardened soil for him, no chilly pavement or brick or stone. A wooden floor, a piece of clean matting, a broom and a bathtub the poorest Japanese will always have.—Tokyo Letter to Boston Transcript.

A Deceptive Air.

The bushy storekeeper surveyed Mr. Leonard with a contemplative eye and then turned his gaze toward Jimmy Sloane, who was putting packages into the delivery wagon. Jimmy had the leisurely air of one with plenty of time at his disposal.

"You want to know how he'd be for your business down below?" said Mr. Gregg slowly.

"Yes," said the visitor. "I noticed him yesterday, when that crowd of young fellows were getting the piano into the hall; he seemed to work harder than any of the others. It occurred to me he might like a bigger chance than he has here."

"M-m," said the storekeeper. "Well, now, I can't say as to that, of course, but as to his working harder than any of the other boys, I'll tell you what they say, and you can believe it or not, just as you choose."

"They all like Jimmy, for he's first rate company, but the truth is that when it comes to lifting, or such work, Jimmy's all take hold and mighty little h'ist."—Youth's Companion.

Dark Walls Best For Illumination.

Some scientists who have been making investigations into the part played in the matter of illumination by light and dark walls have come to the conclusion that the dark walls are better fitted for good illumination than the light. In a room where the walls are dark and where the source of light is entirely behind the reader's field of vision a person who reads is impressed with the idea that the room is excellently well illuminated, but if now another light is brought into the room and placed within the field of his vision, though not shining on the paper he is reading, the pupils of his eyes will contract, less light will enter them from the paper he reads, and the reader will be impressed with the idea that the illumination has been reduced and the paper is becoming darker. These scientists say that the experiments show that if the walls are light colored the efficiency of the illumination may actually be diminished.—Pathfinder.

The Picture in Disguise.

Of the strange vicissitudes through which many of the world's famous pictures have passed perhaps none was odder than that of "The Picture in Disguise," a magnificent painting that now adorns the residence of Lord Leigh in Warwickshire, England. This remarkable picture for many years appeared to be merely a painting of flowers. The floral study was, however, finally pronounced by an astute art dealer to be in reality a mask for another painting. With the permission of the owner he caused the painting of flowers gradually to be removed, whereupon there was discovered underneath a very fine portrait of Charles I. by Van Dyck. While no authentic record of this masterpiece has been found, it is supposed that the portrait was disguised by some royalist in order to guard against its destruction by Roundheads during the revolution.—Boston Post.

Bonheur's Humor.

Mlle. Rosa Bonheur (Rosa stood for Rosalie) was not without a sense of humor, so it is told of her that when presiding over a school of design in Paris, the pupils being girls, the artist was disgusted with the class because, imitative of their teacher, the young women had cut their hair short. "Goodness," cried Rosa Bonheur, "how horrid you all look! This is not a class of boys. You silly creatures, let your hair alone and do your best so as to retain all the advantages of your sex."

Ice Skating Rink a Summer Novelty.

The grill room in the Plaza hotel, in New York, will be transformed into an ice skating rink, which will be opened June 15 and kept open until cold weather comes. An orchestra, the members of which will wear white uniforms, will play in the rink each afternoon and evening. Skates will be furnished to persons staying in the hotel, and an effort will be made to restrict the use of the ice floor to those persons and their friends. Arrangements have been made with makers of ice, who will use pipes from the engine room of the Plaza in laying a coating of ice on a zinc floor to be placed over the tile floor in the grill room.

What Would You Do

If three good physicians should pronounce your case hopeless. If they should decide that you could not live longer than six weeks. And if you should get well, after using only $12.00 worth of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine, what would you advise a friend in like condition to do?

"I have to thank you for saving my wife's life two years ago. We had continued with the doctor until the third doctor, like the two previous ones, said that nothing could be done for her; that she had better be taken home from the hospital to quietly wait her time, which would not be over 6 weeks at the most. I brought her home, and then I thought, 'Probably Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine might help her, so I got a bottle of each and some Nerve and Liver Pills and commenced to give them to her. We soon seen an improvement, and encouraged by this we continued giving the medicine. We gave her eleven bottles in all of the medicine. She takes it occasionally now if she feels the need, and in the ministry, and have been for 44 years."

HAS GAS BAGS AND PLANES.

G. W. Byron's Aerial Craft Is Combination of Aerodrome and Dirigible Balloon—Inventor Predicts It Will Be Flier of Future and Could Destroy Big Fleet.

George West Byron of Washington is building an airship which will be a combination of an aerodrome and dirigible balloon and which will be totally different from anything heretofore constructed either in the United States or in Europe. Mr. Byron has obtained patents on his aerial craft and believes it will revolutionize navigation of the air.

This latest ship of the clouds consists of two superimposed planes, each forty feet wide and seventy-five feet long, constructed of aluminum tubing, strengthened with manganese bronze and vandum steel, the strongest possible construction. The extraordinary feature of these planes is that the upper one consists of five flat connected gas bags inclosed in a rigid aluminum envelope and the lower plane of seven similar gas bags, also inclosed in a rigid flat envelope. The planes are seven feet apart. This construction gives an air supporting surface similar to the planes in the Wright machine and with the gas bags has the additional buoyancy of a dirigible or a free balloon. Suspended from the lower plane by a strong steel wire network is the car of the airship. This is forty smaller in area than one of the planes.

In the car is located the engine that will drive the ship. A motor of twenty-five horsepower will be used, which will develop a speed of more than forty miles an hour. A bicycle framework, with four wheels, is attached to the bottom of the car. The ship will rest on this when it is on the ground.
One of the ingenious features of this framework is that the wheels fold up automatically when the vessel is in the air.

The propellers—two in front and two behind—are placed at the least point of resistance in the car, the engine being located amidships. The cabin will act as a ballast to preserve the equilibrium, so that the airship will be stable even in a strong wind. The whole machine will weigh when completed only 800 pounds, and it will have a lifting capacity of nearly 1,000 pounds more than its weight, the inventor claims.

Mr. Byron believes this type of airship will be the aerial craft of the future, combining as it does the advantages of a true heavier than air machine and the buoyancy and lifting capacity of a dirigible balloon. With this type accidents such as cost the life of Lieutenant Selfridge in the wreck of the Wright machine last summer at Fort Myer would be impossible.

The inventor in speaking of his machine said:
"An airship of this type, carrying 900 pounds of tubing filled with high explosives and a crew of four men, could destroy the largest battleship fleet in a few hours. It could do it with perfect safety, for the ship would be practically indestructible, even if it were hit many times with shells fired from forts or from the battleships.
This type of airship is bound to be the one in universal use in a few years."

It is stated that several Washington capitalists have investigated Byron's plans and have advanced considerable sums for the construction of the airship.

Mr. Byron is unable to say just when the craft will be completed, but when it is finished trials probably will be held near Washington, and if it comes up to the expectations of those interested the United States government will be given the opportunity of purchasing it and the patents under which it is constructed.—Washington Post.

Artificial Flower Fans Next.

Fans made of artificial flowers now are used by women in the most fashionable circles in London and Paris.
Mrs. Potter Palmer was one of the first to carry a flower fan, which was of lilies of the valley so delicately cut and colored as to appear natural to the most critical eye. The flowers are placed in a crescent along the tips of ivory ribs, which are left bare and without carving or other decoration.
When folded these fans give the effect of flowers gathered compactly in a tall, slender vase. A silk bow is tied to one of the outer ends, the bow of feeling a color contrast to the flowers used. The fans now are made in lilies of the valley, Parma violets and roses,
and it is likely they soon will be seen in the United States.

NEW WOODS FOR CALIFORNIA.

Eastern Hard Woods to Be Transplanted to Pacific Coast.

The Pacific coast will soon be the scene of an interesting tree growing experiment. The United States forest service at Washington is planning to introduce a number of the more important eastern hard woods into California and will experiment this year with chestnut, hickory, basswood, red oak and yellow poplar or tulip tree.

Small patches of these trees will be planted near the forest rangers' cabins on the national forests, and if these do well larger plantations on a commercial scale will soon be established on wider areas.

There are more than 125 different species of trees in California, a number of which produce some of the most valuable varieties of lumber in the United States. Although considerably over one-half of the species are hardwood of broad leaved trees, yet, with the exception of the exotic eucalyptus,
there is not a single species of hard wood there ranking in commercial importance with the leading eastern hard woods. Climatic conditions in many parts of California are undoubtedly favorable for the growth of a number of the valuable hard woods, and the absence of these trees is due mostly to unfavorable factors of seed distribution.

If the experiments are successful a valuable asset will have been added to the forest resources of California, which should prove of special benefit to the local furniture and vehicle industries.

THE MODERN MIDNIGHT OIL.

Two Remarkable Jersey Boys Caught
In Studious Devotion by a Cop.

Patrolling the streets of South Orange, N. J., about 1 o'clock the other morning, Policeman Mattie came upon a sight that made him stop and rub his eyes. There under the glare of the electric light at the corner of South Orange avenue and Bailey street were two lads, oblivious of their surroundings, poring over a school-book. It brought back his old school days, and Mattie thought that he was in a dream. He approached the lads and touched one of them on the shoulder.

"What are you doing here?" he asked.
Then he heard a story that made him marvel and write down the youngsters as the most praiseworthy he had ever heard of. They were behind in their studies, they said, and after tending a sick mother all the day and into the night they had at last, after she had fallen asleep, determined to make up for lost time and prepare their studies for the morrow.
Afraid of disturbing their mother,
they went out of doors looking for a bright light. The brightest is at the corner where they were found by the policeman.

Mattie took the boys to the station house, and they were taken in charge by their father. The boys are William and Alfred Papke, twelve and fourteen years old, of 502 Twelfth street, South Orange. They are dutiful sons, the father said, with a touch of pride, as he led them away.

COMPASS RECORDER.

Lake Sailor Invents Device For Tabulating Vessel's Course.

John Schuette, formerly of Menominee, Mich., and a well known lake seaman, who for several months past has been experimenting with his new compass recorder, has announced to Minominee marine men that the device has been pronounced perfect by experts and that he will soon have it on the market.

The instrument, the first of its kind to be brought to perfection, is said to be able to record the course of a steamship or sailing vessel every moment the boat is in motion. By means of electricity and a series of disks and keys a long strip of paper marked by the points of the compass and hours of the day is traced by a thin stream of ink, so that the captain from his private room can without moving see exactly the course of the vessel.

The device also serves to keep tab
on the wheelsman, for it is impossible for him to disobey orders without being detected.

Women Fighters of Big Hats.

Policemen are looking for a number of women in Los Angeles said to have formed a secret society for the purpose of the annihilation of the big hat. The receipt of a dozen or more complaints from women regarding assaults upon their headgear is responsible for the activity of the police.
Women who wear big hats are the object of attack. The fiber hat the more vicious the assault upon it.
The women who make the attacks are well dressed and apparently refined and wealthy. They all wear small hats and seem to hold a violent hatred
for the big straw and ultra fash.

One woman was ejected from a Hollywood car because of her attack upon women passengers who wore big hats.

The stage was decorated with ferns and cut flowers, and overhead a canopy of ribbons in the class colors—blue and gold. Arranged upon the stage were the graduates, Misses Susie Willing and Esther Dunn, Messrs. Russell Langral and Winter Graham. Others seated upon the stage were the teachers Misses Emma Caulk, Grace Harrington and Marian Insley, the school trustees, Mr. Jones of the Board, Mr. W. J. Holloway, county superintendent; Rev. C. M. Zepp, and the young ladies of the chorus. An interesting program was rendered including an address by Mr. Holloway. After the exercises refreshments were served to the graduates, their parents, the school officers and their families.

Adopt Primary System.

What may or may not be a boon to the Democratic party of Wicomico county was decided this week when the Democratic State Central Committee passed a resolution adopting the Crawford County System of nominating candidates for office by the direct vote of the people. This was decided by the committee composed of Messrs. James T. Truitt, Henry James Messick and M. V. Brewington.

The date set for the primaries in this county is embodied in the resolutions. They will be held on Saturday, the 10th day of July, by a direct vote of the people, for the year 1909 only, and will have no bearing on future primaries. The secretary of the committee has been authorized to prepare the proper notices for publication.

This plan gives every candidate the opportunity of placing his name before the whole people of the county.

As has been the case under the convention system, all the machinery for the primaries is in the hands of the State Central Committee except the appointment of the Judges and Clerks. These officials are named by the Supervisors of Elections and are paid by the County Commissioners. All the other expenses of the primaries must be borne by the candidates. The candidates must file their names for place on the ticket fifteen days before the date set for the primaries, and five days later they must pay the assessment made by the State Central Committee or their names will not be printed on the tickets. At the primaries no ballots except the ones prepared by the State Central Committee will be legal and every ballot has to be enclosed in a white envelope by the Judge before being deposited in the ballot box. Every candidate has the right to make application to the State Central Committee for as many ballots as he wishes to pay for and he has the right to mark the ballots for the voters so he does the act outside the 100 feet limit of the polls. The only official part of the program is the sealing of the ballot in the white envelope. It is purely and simply a vest-pocket vote. When the ballots are counted the intention of the voter can be taken into consideration, and nothing will invalidate a ballot except it has a distinguishing mark of some kind upon it or is marked with some colored pencil except black one. A ballot marked with a blue or green or red pencil will not be counted. The plan of marking is different from that of the general election inasmuch as you erase from the ballot all the names of those you do not wish to vote for. The names are arranged in groups in alphabetical order on the ballot.

High School Commencement.

The program for the closing exercises of the Wicomico High School, as published in last week's COURIER was carried out during the week. The crowning event of the week, however, took place Wednesday night when the commencement exercises were held in the Opera House. An audience assembled which packed the theatre. The salutatory was read by Miss Mamie Hastings in the absence of Miss Margaret Walter to whom that distinction belonged, but who was not able to be present on account of illness. The valedictory was delivered by Mr. Ralph Dulany. County Superintendent Holloway presented the diplomas to the seventeen graduates and the annual address to the students was delivered by Mr. A. S. Goldsborough, of Baltimore. His address was dignified, clear, easily understood, and was delivered with that force which is only possible when an orator is thoroughly in sympathy with and master of his subject. Essays were read by Misses Hilda Aesworth and Catharine Graham and the numbers on the program were interspersed with selections by an orchestra composed of Messrs. H. E. Stausebach, violin; W. A. Kennerly, cornet and C. A. White, piano.
