WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS INITIAL FALL MEETING

First Session of Club Since Last May Was Held On Tuesday Afternoon.

IMPORTANT ACTIVITIES PLANNED FOR THIS YEAR

Mrs. George R. Cobb, Chairman Of Civic Committee, Makes Report—Dr. L. O. Tayntor Addresses Meeting On "Health Ordinances"—Program For 1921-22 Is Adopted.

The first meeting of the Woman's Club to be held since the last week in May took place Tuesday afternoon in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. L. Atwood Bennett, president of the organization, presided, and a program for the year 1921-22 was adopted.

Dr. L. O. Tayntor, local representative of the State Health Department, addressed the meeting, his subject being "Public Health Ordinances." Dr. Tayntor explained some of the city health ordinances and told of health conditions here in Salisbury. Mr. C. M. Freeman delivered a short address on the malaria evil and outlined the steps that should be taken to drain stagnant ponds where malarial-carrying mosquitoes breed.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, Mrs. George R. Cobb, chairman of the Civic Department, gave a resume of the work conducted by that department beginning with the agitation of last February against the hog ordinance, the presentation of six waste receptacles to the city in April, and the clean-up campaign held during the first week in May. Much good resulted from all of these activities, and it is hoped to go further along similar lines for civic betterment during the present club season.

Important Suggestions Made.

In outlining the work for the present year, Mrs. Cobb stressed the necessity of securing the co-operation of the City Council and voiced the desire of the department that two fearless women might be elected who would realize the necessity of cleaning up Salisbury and would pledge themselves to support projects which the club might back.

Suggestions for the work to be carried out this year by the club were made as follows: (1) The milk question—requiring a clean bill of health for all herds to be shown; (2) planting of trees as a memorial to dead soldiers; (3) a movement to secure appointment of a city forester; (4) establishment of woman's rest room with sanitary toilets; (5) inspection of bakeries.

Mrs. William Slemons reported for the Literary Committee and the following club program for the year submitted by this committee was adopted:

October 18—Home Demonstration. Mrs. Bell of College Park; music, Mrs. William Feldman.

November 1—A Few Measures to Come Before the State Legislative Assembly; Leader, Miss Mary Wilcox.

November 15—Meeting in charge of Social Committee.

December 6—Direct Primaries, Mr. James E. Ellegood, speaker; music, Miss Matthews.

December 20—Christmas Program; Leader, Mrs. Fred P. Adkins.

Irrigation Produced Fine Crop Of Lettuce

Two Acres Planted on E. S. Adkins & Co. Farm Two Months Ago Is Now Being Marketed

The recent drought has given those in Wicomico county who have been experimenting with overhead irrigation an excellent opportunity of proving the efficacy of properly irrigated land, and the results obtained have been most satisfactory.

On the old Williams Farm near Salisbury, which is owned by the E. S. Adkins & Co., two acres were planted in lettuce about two months ago, and, with overhead irrigation, grew rapidly and at the present time is being brought into market. All of the lettuce grown in this manner is of excellent variety.

CONCERT BY N. Y. MALE QUARTET NEXT MONDAY

Mendelssohn Singers of N. Y. City Will Render Splendid Program At Arcade Monday Evening

All lovers of good singing in this city and vicinity should not fail to hear the concert Monday evening, October 10, at the Arcade Theatre by the Mendelssohn Male Quartette, of New York City.

A splendid advance sale of tickets already has been made. Reserved seats can be obtained at the box office of the Arcade, on each afternoon and evening after today, (Thursday). The members of the Young Men's Club of the M. P. Church, through whom the concert has been engaged, are making an effort to sell every seat in the house.

The quality of the entertainments brought to our city through the patronage of this Club has been so excellent that the public is always assured of a treat. The members are paying more for this attraction than any they have ever secured, but they know that it is useless to bring anything but the very best to our city and Salisbury people are willing to pay for something really worth while.

The Mendelssohn Glee Club of New York is such an old and famous organization of male singers that it is a great honor and privilege to have a quartette from that celebrated group come to our city and sing for us.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:15 Monday evening. Often the first number of a program is the best, so it will be wise to go early. No one will be ushered to their seats during the singing of the numbers.

MR. COOPER'S TALKS THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

Eminent Y. M. C. A. Leader Delivers Interesting Addresses At "Y" And In St. Peter's Church

Mr. William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association in Washington, D. C., and one of the leaders in "Y" work in this country, gave a most enjoyable talk in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium here on Sunday afternoon, his address being enthusiastically received.

Sunday night, Mr. Cooper spoke in St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church, taking as his subject "The Recognition of God in the Affairs of This Country."

Mr. Cooper has been offered the leadership of the Y. M. C. A. in England, with headquarters in London, but declined the honor because he did not wish to become a British subject.

It was a great treat for the people of Salisbury to have the privilege of hearing the talks delivered by such an eminent speaker as Mr. Cooper, and we hope to have him in our midst again very soon.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW ADDITION TO HOSPITAL

The old laundry building of the Peninsula General Hospital was torn down last week and ground has been broken for the new addition to the hospital. The contractors at present are busily engaged in the work of excavation, and it is believed that the new building will be under roof before cold weather makes its appearance.

BOAT LOSES DECK LOAD OF LUMBER DURING STORM

While on the way to Salisbury with a load of lumber consigned to the E. S. Adkins & Company, the schooner "William P. Ward" encountered a heavy storm at the mouth of the James River and a deck load of lumber was lost during the gale. Capt. R. R. Banks, of Salisbury, commands the vessel, which is owned by Captain G. G. Banks and other parties.

An oyster supper for benefit of Washington Methodist Episcopal church will be held at 6:30 P. M. to-night (Thursday) at Shad Point, near Kibbles Store, River Road and Cherry Avenue. Ice cream and other refreshments also will be served.

MR. GORDY TO WAGE A STATE WIDE CAMPAIGN

Democratic Nominee For Comptroller Will Make Tour Of Every County In Md.

WILL VISIT WESTERN MARYLAND NEXT WEEK

Belair Will Be Visited Wednesday and Hagerstown Thursday—His Candidacy Enthusiastically Received Among Democrats on Shore—Is Popular With Leaders and Voters

Plans have been completed by Mr. Wm. S. Gordy, Jr., of Salisbury Democratic nominee for State Comptroller, for a wide campaign, the interest of his candidacy, and very county in the State will be visited by Mr. Gordy before the November election takes place.

The first big gun of Mr. Gordy's campaign was fired last week when he visited Queen Anne's county and met hundreds and hundreds of voters in nearly every part of that county. The reception tendered Mr. Gordy in all parts of Queen Anne's was exceptionally enthusiastic and judging from the expressions of good will and promises of staunch support received from all classes of voters, Queen Anne's is getting ready to roll up a big majority for him next November.

Havre de Grace also was visited by Mr. Gordy last week, and he met with a similar cordial reception in the Harford city as given him on the Shore. Mr. Gordy has a winning personality and coupled with the fact that the people are well aware of his special fitness for the Comptroller's job—an office that is peculiarly adapted to his own life-long business background—his candidacy is gaining by leaps and bounds, and it is feared that when the Shore ballots have been counted, he will be found to have received a most substantial majority from this section.

Enthusiastically Received

On Tuesday of this week, Mr. Gordy visited Hurluck, east New Market and Vienna. In each of these places he was most cordially received and renewed assurances were given him of the party's whole-hearted support. Crisfield was visited by Mr. Gordy on Wednesday, a big reception having been planned and carried out in his honor by the leading democrats of that city. The Crisfield reception, moreover, takes on added significance when the opinion is freely expressed by the Democratic leader of that section that Somerset's nominal Republican majority not only will be cut down this year but that Mr. Gordy has a splendid chance to carry the county.

Today (Thursday) Mr. Gordy will journey over to Berlin and meet the voters of that section of Worcester, while on Saturday he will go to Cambridge and meet the voters of that city. He also will visit many other places in the lower part of the Shore. Mr. Gordy's program for next week includes a visit to Caroline county on Monday, at which time he will thoroughly canvass the county. Snow Hill will be visited on Tuesday, Belair on Wednesday and Hagerstown on Thursday. His itinerary for the rest of the campaign has not yet been announced, but will be made known within a few days.

WORLD SERIES, PLAY BY PLAY, AT ARCADE

The World's Series games between the New York Yankees, American League champions, and the New York Giants, winners of the National League pennant, are being shown play by play on the Star Player Board at the Arcade Theatre. Mr. Leo Insley, proprietor of Arcade has installed a special telegraphic wire that leads directly from the Polo Grounds, N. Y., and each play will be given on the board here almost as soon as it is made on the playing field in New York.

Playing of the games started yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon, and a large crowd of local fans assembled at the Arcade and witnessed the interesting proceedings. Games start in N. Y. at 2 P. M., and they also will start at the Arcade at the same hour.

CITY LEVY FOR 1921 SAME AS LAST YEAR

City Council Fixes Rate at $55 For General Purposes and $10 For The Sinking Fund

At Monday night's meeting of the City Council, the city levy for 1921 was struck and it was decided to let it remain as it was in 1920—$55 for general purposes and $10 for the sinking fund.

The Council appointed Mayor Kennerly to represent the city at the meeting of the committee composed of representatives from other Maryland towns and smaller cities which met with Governor Ritchie and Chairman Mackall, of the Roads Commission, Tuesday afternoon in Baltimore, relative to State aid in the repair, construction and maintenance of the streets in the cities and towns of Maryland.

A building permit was granted by the Council to W. F. Smith to erect a dwelling on the South side of New York avenue adjoining the property of Raymond Wimbrow.

The request of Robert W. Jones, colored, for a permit to erect a woodshop on the North side of West Main street, adjoining the property of H. H. Hitch was held over and referred to Councilman Hitch.

Clarence A. Layton's request for a permit to erect a Garage on the East side of Barclay street adjoining the property of Thos. Hayman also was held over and was referred to Councilman Nelson for investigation.

Those present at Monday night's meeting were Mayor Kennerly, President White and Councilmen Bounds, Hitch, Serman and Nelson.

FIRE DOES $35,000 DAMAGE IN CRISFIELD

Two Dwellings and Garment Factory Destroyed Sunday Night—Three Firemen Injured

Fire of unknown origin broke out in Crisfield Sunday night and before the flames were brought under control, two dwellings and the clothing factory of L. Grief & Bro., were destroyed, entailing a loss of approximately $35,000. Effective work on the part of the Crisfield Fire Department prevented what for a time threatened to be a conflagration in the downtown district.

The fire originated in the dwelling of Edward F. Evans, and the rear of the building was a mass of flames when discovered by Mr. Evans, who was sitting on the front porch. The fire department put forth every effort to save the large clothing manufacturing plant of the Baltimore concern, adjoining the Evans dwelling and for a time it looked as if their efforts would be successful. The buildings, however, were separated only by a narrow alleyway and with a westerly wind playing the flames directly on the large frame structure it soon crumbled under the terrific heat. The flames then spread to the dwelling of William S. Guy, destroying that building also.

The Grief factory was one of the largest clothing manufacturing plants on the Eastern Shore and employed approximately 100 persons. The loss sustained by reason of loss of employment will be keenly felt in Crisfield, but it is thought the Grief people will make immediate arrangements for the construction of a new plant.

Three firemen were slightly burned while fighting the fire and had to receive medical attention.

REVIVALS IN ARMORY WILL BEGIN SUNDAY

To Be Conducted By McCombe-Class Party Under Auspices Asbury M. E. Church.

AUGMENTED CHOIR TO SING AT ALL SERVICES

Choir Of 100 Voices Will Be Under Direction Of Prof. Clase And Will Have Its First Rehearsal Friday Night—Evangelistic Party Will Arrive Here Friday.

Everything is in readiness for the revival meetings which will be held in the First Regiment Armory for five weeks, starting next Sunday, October 9, and coming to a close on November 6, and plans have been made to accommodate record throngs of people while the revivals are in progress.

The McCombe-Class Evangelistic Party, which will conduct the revivals under the auspices of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, will arrive in Salisbury tomorrow (Friday), and will be entertained at supper by the Young Men's Service Class of Asbury Church, after which Prof. Clase will meet the members of the Revival Choir and conduct its first rehearsal.

The Revival Choir will consist of about 100 voices and has been thoroughly organized for the work that it will be called upon to do. As a matter of fact, the singing at the services is expected to be one of the important features of the sessions. Prof. Clase is said to be one of the best revival choir leaders in the country, and many have been the testimonials of his excellent work at revivals in other sections of the country.

Prayer Meetings In Progress.

During the past week, Cottage Prayer Meetings were held in East Salisbury and South Salisbury, and a committee from the Asbury Church held a special meeting at the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church last Thursday evening.

This week, special prayer meetings are being held at Stengel Church and Grace Church, and one also was held over Hitch's store, West Main Street. A special prayer meeting was held at Asbury Church last night (Wednesday) and another will be held tonight.

On Saturday evening, the Board of Officials of Asbury Church will meet the Evangelistic Party at a "Get Acquainted Supper."

The revivals will start at 11 A. M. Sunday morning, and other sessions on that day will be held at 3:30 P. M., and 7:30 P. M. The afternoon meeting will be in the nature of a get-together session and will be given over to the formal launching of the campaign.

All of the evening services will be started at 7:30 o'clock, and there will be services every night with the exception of Mondays.

Dr. Herson, pastor of Asbury Church, said: "I am sorry that the Armory is not half as big again. Before the second week is over the place will be packed, and we will turn hundreds away before the meetings close. I am quite anxious for a Revival such as our Methodist Fathers saw all up and down this Peninsula, and for this reason I earnestly ask for the prayers of all of God's people."

AGED MAN MEETS DEATH WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Mr. John W. Bassett, 78 years old, who lived with his nephew, Mr. Will Bassett, on the Snow Hill Road about one and one-half miles from Berlin, died within a few minutes after being struck by an automobile on the road near his home last Sunday morning. According to eye-witnesses, the aged man, upon seeing his pet dog run across the road in the automobile's path, darted after the canine. He was struck by the fender and was thrown so that the rear wheel struck his head a glancing blow which caused his death. A coroner's jury exonerated the driver of the automobile from all blame.

The Woman's Missionary Society, of Wicomico Presbyterian Church, will hold a sale of cakes, pies, biscuits and other delicious edibles on Saturday, October 8, at the residence of Mrs. George W. Todd, Main street.

WICOMICO RIVER TO HAVE BEACON BOUYS

Chamber of Commerce Succeeds in Getting Government to Replace Antiquated Buoy with Modern Type

Through the efforts of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce the stake and can buoys at the mouth of the Wicomico River will be replaced in the near future by Beacon-light buoys. This will be of great advantage and convenience to all boat captains wishing to enter or leave the Wicomico river at night. The matter was taken up by the local Chamber of Commerce with Senator Ovington E. Weller and Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough. These gentlemen were very anxious to help Wicomico secure these much needed improvements.

The Chamber of Commerce is constantly at work on such matters as this and is securing a great many advantages and improvements for Salisbury and the surrounding section. A number of larger projects are being worked on by the Chamber just at present and it is expected that important announcements in respect thereto will be made within a short time.

The Salisbury Chamber of Commerce is a piece of machinery which is ready to serve the community as a whole or any individual who may have any matters that may properly come within its realm. The secretary is ready and willing at all times to assist on any matter that will improve the general business or help toward the civic improvement of Salisbury and Wicomico County.

LOCAL FIRE DEPT. GIVEN FINE RELIC

Presented With Resolutions Awarded Wilmington Firemen By Salisbury, 1886.

MR. F. A. GRIER RECALLS INCIDENTS OF BIG FIRE

Wilmingtonians Did Excellent Work In Helping to Check Spread of Flames—Fire Companies that Assisted Here Now Going on Paid Basis and are Disposing of Effects.

The visit of the Wilmington fire fighters to this city at the time of the great conflagration of 1886, when Salisbury faced almost complete destruction by fire, was vividly recalled last week when the local Fire Department was presented with the set of resolutions given to the Wilmingtonians thirty-five years ago as a testimonial of Salisbury's appreciation of their assistance in checking the spread of the fire.

Owing to the fact that the volunteer fire departments of Wilmington, Del., will shortly be put upon a paid basis, the volunteer companies have been disposing of their property and have been giving their relics to other fire companies.

The resolutions presented to the Reliance and Friendship Fire Companies of Wilmington by Salisbury, have been hanging in the rooms of the Reliance Company for many years, and when announcement was made that the company would be put upon a paid basis, a letter was written to the local fire department officials asking whether they would like to have the much-prized memento to hang in the rooms of the fire department here.

Gift Eagerly Accepted. The local firemen eagerly accepted the gift, and the resolutions will grace the walls of the main room of the local Fire Department in the future. The resolutions are a work of art and are about 3 feet in length and 2 feet in width.

Following is the text of the resolutions: "At a special meeting of the Commissioners of Salisbury, Md., held December 18, 1886, it was decided as requested at a town meeting of the citizens that a card of thanks be presented to the Reliance No. 2 and Friendship No. 1 Fire Companies, of Wilmington, Del.

"On the night of October 17, 1886, the town of Salisbury was startled by an alarm of fire. It soon became apparent that the Home Department was unable to stop its ravages, when his Honor, Mayor Calvin B. Rhoads, of Wilmington, was appealed to for assistance.

"The Reliance No. 2 and Friendship No. 1 Fire Companies, in charge of their efficient Chief, H. F. Sweeney, promptly responded, arriving on a special train kindly furnished by Superintendent I. N. Mills. Their timely and effective assistance quickly arrested the progress of the flames, thereby saving much valuable property and preventing the total destruction of the town.

Appreciation Shown.

"Therefore, in grateful acknowledgment, we present this card of thanks to the officers and members of the Reliance and Friendship Fire Companies.

"John Tracey, President.
"Jno. P. Owens, Secretary.
"J. R. T. Laws, Treasurer.
"S. F. Toadvin.
"H. Hitch, Commissioners.

MARDELA SPRINGS

Mr. J. P. Parker, living on George Loma's farm, met with a serious accident last week while cutting some stack poles. His axe glanced and went into the front of his leg clear to the bone.

The Methodist Protestant says: "If this State is as it is said to be, a wet State, then some Christians are playing false with their faith." We read in the Good Book, "Ye can not drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils." As Sam Jones used to say, "Quit your meanness."

How we can co-operate with the Fire Prevention Committee! Let every householder have every chimney in their houses cleaned out before starting the winter fires. See that the flues are absolutely safe. Have them examined by some one who knows. An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure. In all this section, we burn so much pine wood that we will especially have to be careful. The soot accumulates so rapidly that the chimneys may have to be cleaned out two or three times during the year.

BURNING UP MONEY.

The new super-dreadnaught Maryland is scheduled to arrive at Sandy Point, on the Chesapeake Bay, this afternoon, and a big celebration is planned in honor of this giant battleship, the Pride of the United States Navy, by officials and citizens of Baltimore. Coincident with the commissioning of this huge ship and her arrival in Maryland waters, there comes to mind the colossal amount of money that this Government has spent in producing such an efficient and tremendous sea-fighting machine—an instrument of destruction when the Grim Cry of War is sounded. And here is something for the taxpayers of this country to carefully consider: The Maryland cost approximately $42,000,000 to build from start to finish—enough money to build and equip four hundred handsome school houses, costing $100,000 each, in the State of Maryland—each handsome and big enough to house 1,000 pupils!

The Maryland has eight 16-inch guns, each of which cost $256,000. A few shots—a dozen or so—puts such a gun in the scrap pile; burns up a quarter of a million dollars in a sort of off-hand manner. In addition, each shot costs $18,000 for powder, metal, shell mechanism, etc. You couldn't shovel $1.00 bills into your furnace fast enough to equal the Maryland's little trick of burning up money.

Then, for upkeep each year, the Maryland will cost $750,000—three-quarters of a million, not counting salaries. The wage bill is another $100,000 a month—which amounts to One Million, Two Hundred Thousand Dollars a year. Thus it will cost Two Million Dollars a year to keep the Maryland in commission. One thousand first-class school teachers could be hired for that sum.

Whither are we going? How long can this country stand such expenditures? Bloodshed, barbarism and the utter bankruptcy of mankind are not far ahead unless the nations "come to" pretty soon.

The coming International Disarmament Conference at Washington is an event of the greatest significance, for a conference looking toward general disarmament and future world peace is likely to be the greatest move in centuries. The result hoped for will not only mean a vast saving to the taxpayers of this and all other nations, but it will mean the saving of millions of human lives and bring peace and happiness to thousands of millions of people, born and unborn.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. GORDY.

A splendid tribute to William S. Gordy Jr., Democratic nominee for the office of State Comptroller, was set forth in the editorial columns of the Centreville Observer in its issue of last Saturday. Said the Observer:

"Queen Anne's countians were privileged this week to meet the only Democrat whose name appears on the State ticket this year. Hon. William S. Gordy Jr., nominee for Comptroller of Maryland, spent Tuesday in the county and those who met him were favorably impressed with the serious and broad-minded intentions of the man who was his party's choice to fill one of the most important offices in the State.

"It is an undeniable fact in these days voters are looking for men who are particularly and peculiarly qualified to fill public offices when they aspire to them. There is a growing and insistent demand that the office seek the man, rather than for the man to seek the office. And in this instance there has been a splendid manifestation of this sentiment.

"For many years Mr. Gordy has been an outstanding figure as one of the most successful and popular banking men in Maryland. He has made banking and finance his special life's work and study, and during the long period of years that he has been identified with a large and growing institution in Salisbury, he has had ample opportunity to prove that he is a man of splendid ability, discriminating judgment and judicious administrative accomplishments.

"It was perfectly natural, therefore, that when the Democrats of Maryland began to cast about for a man for the Comptrollership, that the mantle should fall upon Mr. Gordy's shoulders. He preferred to continue his connections with the local institution which he has helped prosper and grow, but the strong call of public duty was not to be denied. And in the recent Democratic primaries he won the unanimous endorsement of the Democracy of Maryland for the post of Comptroller.

"This fall, consequently, the people of Maryland will have an opportunity to vote for a man who has been sought by the office. He is not receiving the nomination as a political reward, nor has the endorsement fallen upon him in recognition of any particularly valued political service.

"His selection and nomination was due simply and solely to the fact that he represents the type of man who is most needed today in public affairs, and because he has a proven record of definite accomplishments. His candidacy should attract the united support of his party, and no inconsiderable portion of the independent element throughout Maryland. We unhesitatingly submit that Mr. Gordy's candidacy represents the aims and ambitions of men and women who are sincerely desirous of seeing greater administrative economy and efficiency in Maryland, and we believe he should receive the support of all citizens who are interested in seeing offices filled by men who are thoroughly qualified to discharge the duties involved."

UNPLEASANT NOTORIETY.

Much notoriety of an unpleasant nature has been inflicted upon the State of Maryland ever since this commonwealth was turned into a verdant field where race track gamblers are given full play for nearly one-third of each year under the sanction of the law, and until legalized gambling at the race tracks is wiped out entirely there always will be a stigma resting upon the name of this good old State.

On Tuesday of last week, while the mutuel machines at Havre de Grace, one of the big Maryland tracks where legalized gambling flourishes, were clicking away, a disillusioned and despondent better from Philadelphia committed suicide within a few feet of all the gambling commotion. In the pockets of the dead man were alleged to have been found mutuel tickets on a horse that failed to win, and the bitter disappointment over the failure of his horse to come under the wire ahead of the other horses in the race evidently prompted him to suicide.

This is not the first instance by any means where deluded followers of the race track game have snuffed out their lives when they realized the utter futility of trying to keep pace with a game that goes into the system and breeds a galloping poison that is utterly demoralizing in its effect. Suicides, embezzlements, disrupted homes, and a general impairment of the moral fibre are natural consequences of the race track gambling game.

How long, then, will the citizens of the State of Maryland permit race track gambling to flourish here under protection of the law? Is it not about time that the State of Maryland cease its Six-Thousand-Dollar-A-Day partnership with the gambling clans? The good people of this State are sick and tired of the race-track gambling evil, and the legislators who will go to Annapolis in 1922 should be made to realize that fact long before they have taken their seats in the legislative halls.

Uncle John's Poem

TURN TO THE RIGHT.

When you come to the place where a fork in the road busts suddenly onto yer sight, don't hesitate none as you carry yer load, but bravely march off to the right! No matter how stony or hilly the track, or how painful the travellin' appears. . . . We're makin' this journey to never come back, an' we number the mile-posts by years. . . . The pilgrim that falters, or turns to the left, on the glitterin' path that is fraud, will wake up some mornin' to find him bereft of honor, of conscience,—of God! Then turn to the right at the forks of the road—there's no other pathway so sweet. . . . The Master's approval will lighten yer load,—there's a crown, when yer journey's complete.

275 BASKETS OF CORN GROWN ON 2 3/4 ACRES

Fine specimens of "Yellow Dent" corn have been on exhibition in the large show window of The News this week. The ears of corn were grown by Mr. M. D. Collins, of Salisbury, and are splendid examples of what the soil of Wicomico county produces. Mr. Collins grew the corn on clover plowed under with 1000 pounds of lime to the acre, and two and three quarters acres produced a yield of 275 baskets.

Big Yield Of Corn This Year. Des Moines, Iowa.—Low prices of corn this year will be partly offset by big yield.

To Gain a Good Reputation

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

Notice this delicious flavor when you smoke Lucky Strike—it's sealed in by the toasting process.

Local Fire Dept. Given Fine Relief

Mr. F. A. Grier, president of F. A. Grier & Sons, Salisbury, who at the time of the Salisbury big fire was a member of Washington Fire Company, Wilmington, came to this city on the memorable night of October 17, 1886, with the Reliance and Friendship Fire companies and helped to save the town from utter destruction.

Asked by a News reporter yesterday to give his impression of the conflagration, Mr. Grier stated that word reached Wilmington about 9 o'clock at night that Salisbury was in danger of total destruction from the flames and that by 10 o'clock two fire engines were entrained and about 60 of Wilmington's best fire fighters started on the journey to this city. They arrived here about 12:30 A. M., the only stop enroute being at Harrington for water for the engine.

Mr. Grier stated that when the Wilmington fire ladders reached Harrington, the sky in the direction of Salisbury was a brilliant red, as a result of the fire. When Delmar was reached, he stated that sparks and bits of burned rags had blown over there from here, which showed the vast extent of the damage that was being wrought. This, he said, was due to the fact that the fire followed a long drought in this section, which made almost every burnable particle readily combustible, and that a strong wind had been blowing in that direction.

The Salisbury fire, stated Mr. Grier, started about 7 o'clock Sunday night, October 17, 1886, in an old livery stable that was standing in the now vacant lot at the corner of Dock street and Camden avenue. Owing to the fact that the fire bell rang just about the time the church bells usually ring, many persons mistook the ringing of the fire bell for a church bell. Consequently, the fire got considerable headway before the real situation was disclosed, and when the full danger was realized an appeal for assistance to Wilmington was made.

Gaining impetus with great rapidity, the fire soon had the heart of the business section in a mass of flames, all of the buildings on Camden avenue and Main street from near the river to Division street being burned. One or two buildings on Division street near the armory escaped the fire's ravages and are still standing.

That part of Division street on which now stand the old News Building, the postoffice and other buildings also was visited by the fire, the structures that formerly stood there being destroyed. The buildings that formerly stood on Water street also were destroyed and the main attention of the fire fighters from Wilmington was centered in helping to save the court house and to keep the flames from spreading over a wider area.

Mr. Grier said that the Grissfield Fire Company had its engines located near the court house when the Wilmington firemen arrived and that it had been doing valiant work in helping to save the court house from destruction. The tower of the court house was burned, but the building itself was saved.

By 11 o'clock Monday morning, the flames had been got under control and the Wilmington boys made their departure.

Up until the time of the big fire, Mr. Grier had never been in Salisbury, but two years later he came here and started in business with his brother, the later Mr. Robert D. Grier.

A Remarkable Record

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds and coughs and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance of these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

SUITS

The Designers Genius Adapts the New Sleeve to Frocks and Suits

The widely flaring sleeve; the long, narrow tailored sleeve; the "elbow" sleeve—each has its own distinct place in the suit modes.

And straight lines are the most favored. Most women will confine their choice to the straight lines which we have come to know as "American"—so fond is the American woman of their simplicity and universal becomingness.

Splendid models of this type are shown in our garment section now. There is a wide choice to select from, some fur trimmed, some braided or trimmed with hand embroidery. You will want to come while the collection is undiminished.

Suits $25.00 to $50.00.

Fall Gloves Have a New Charm

—and that whole charm lies wholly at the wrists.

New gauntlet styles with the gauntlets of a suede while the glove itself being kid, are promised much popularity. The all-suede gloves with gauntlets of same material are in the limelight as well. In beautiful woodsy browns, beaver and grey, they are more appealing than ever.

From Fabric to Kid they are $1.75 to $6.00.

The Autumn Shoes Should Be Low Ones

Fashion has decreed low shoes for Fall as well as Winter. Pumps or Oxfords in all leathers of which patent leather is the leader.

Brown Russia calf, kid, in Oxfords, two or four strap pumps are worn; low, medium and high heels in plain dressy styles or sports style.

Oxfords at 5.00 to $8.50.

Pumps at $6.00 to $9.00.

COATS

A Long, close-fitting Waist—A Bit of Fullness to the Skirt. The fashionable coats of 1921-22.

Without departing from the straight-line, these coats effect new silhouettes by following closely the figure. Long, low, close-fitting waists, a slight flare to the full skirt to carry out the idea, the great flared sleeve—the striking new feature of the Fall fashions.

In addition to these, coats hanging straight from the shoulder, from a Y or a high waistline, are frequently seen.

Coats $18.00 to $50.00.

Hosiery This Autumn Will Be Of Plain Smooth Weaves.

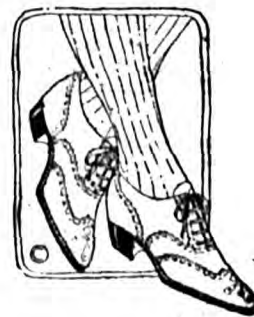

No clocks or laciness about the hose this Fall, Dame Fashion asserts,—not if one is to be the smartest. The weave is smooth and fine and firm—plain and good-looking, but in so many shades, popular browns, greys, and the always ready black will be worn by the most fashionable women.

The Silk Hose are from $1.00 to $4.00.

In Vogue Now--The Tailored Sweater Coats.

Among the recent new arrivals is the new "Tuxedo" sweater coat, with the tailored bellows patch pocket, belted in "Norfolk style"—tailored of firmly knitted jersey—a dandy slip-on.

Priced at $7.50 in Black, Blue, Brown and Red.

Tailored Fashions From Hats To Shoes

We have planned to make this week a week of tremendous satisfaction for every woman planning to select the practical fashions for every day wear.

Indeed, the keynote of the whole event is "fashion concentration," to show you the new suits, tailored dresses and coats, the blouses, millinery, gloves, hosiery, shoes, bags, veils, etc. that form a component part of the tailored fashions of day.

This advertisement also is especially helpful, as it deals exclusively with all the fashion things uppermost in your mind, as needful immediately.

CHOKERS

To Add Chic to the New Fall Suits

There's no one item of apparel that can so add the "last smart touch" as a smart choker of luxurious stone marten, squirrel, mink. Have you seen the new chokers at this store yet? We would like to have you look them over while the variety of furs and prices are most complete.

Canton Crepe Again Used This Autumn

And Autumn takes it to drape into her own lovely new fashions. And since "Canton" tailors so beautifully, she has made the navy and black into becoming street frocks artfully enlivened with trimmings of silk, wool, ribbon or the new metal beads.

Our heavy Canton Crepe is $3.75 yard.

They Tingle With Romance and Mystery--These New Spanish Sailors of Black Panne Velvet--

Dashing—very! Rolled off the face just enough to effect a graceful, yet daring-looking tilt; and untrimmed save for broad moire streamers that hang thru a slash in the brim of the hat! Turbans with jet earrings have an Oriental air; hats with chenille dotted veils are decidedly Arabian. Hundreds of other new models, too.

For That Separate Skirt--Plaids or Stripes

Prunella flannels in lovely blues combined with rich browns, soft heather mixtures harmoniously combined, as we never thought it possible to combine even those rarest of Autumn colorings.

The stripes and plaids are $2.75 to $5.00. The plain heather mixtures and silvertones and the very heavy yalma cloth, suitable for both coats or skirts, are displayed in a variety of the Autumn colorings.

Priced at $2.00, $3.00, $4.00 the yard.

IN-MEMORIAM

A tribute of love to the memory of my dear wife, Mary F. Messick, who passed from earth to heaven one year ago, September 24, 1920.

Does Jesus care when I've said good-bye?
To the dearest on earth to me
And my heart aches 'til it nearly breaks
Is it taught to Him; Does He care?

Oh yes, he cares, I know he cares
His heart is touched with my grief
When the days are weary, the long nights dreary
I know my Savior cares.

Your sweetness was like a warm, fresh shower,
Your face and soul like a sun-kissed flower.
You are safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe on his gentle breast.
There by His love overshadowed,
Sweetly your soul shall rest.

Here we will wait with patience,
Wait 'til the night is o'er,
And meet you in the morning
On the golden shore.
—By her loving Husband and Children.

A 365 1/2-Day Industry

Like Tennyson's brook, the gas business "runs on" forever. We can't lock up shop for the night, take a vacation during the dog days, close down because of high prices or get tired of doing business here and move elsewhere. We must stay on the job at all times, serving everybody alike, rich and poor. The churches may be closed six days a week, the schools two days, the post office, banks and stores one day, but not your gas plant. No business requires more unselfish devotion to the maintenance of continuous and good service than does this one.

Interruption of service is practically unknown, has come to be considered almost a disgrace, and has been prevented only by the utmost care, intelligence and watchfulness. The gas business is a 24-hour, 365 1/2-day industry and its fires never go out, winter or summer, bad times or good times, day or night.

Service such as this deserves your good will.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

Now and then they are emphasized by unusual instances such as quoted below. Performances like these demonstrate the ultimate possibilities of Firestone Cord tires under careful driving.

The Murray R. Mark Co., Minneapolis, Minn.

Gentlemen:—
I submit herewith the history of a 32nd Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles to each retreading, or about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tire proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am mailing photographs under separate cover.
C. U. Farnsey,
Plant City, Fla.

It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage this I submitted from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 24,000 and 25,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut in considerably by chisels. The two front tires, have gone better than 24,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 60,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

PROGRAM COMPLETED FOR S. S. CONVENTION

Wicomico County Sunday School Association Will Hold Parley in M. E. Church; South, Oct. 18.

The Convention of the Wicomico County Sunday School Association will be held in the M. E. Church South, Salisbury, on Tuesday, October 18. The morning session will begin at 10 A. M., and during the day there will be three sessions.

Those who will participate in the convention's program will be entirely new to Wicomico audiences, and thoroughly conversant with Sunday School matters.

There are about sixty Sunday Schools in the county and the officers of the county association are very anxious that every pastor, superintendent and teacher should be present at as many of the sessions as possible. These conventions are not only the means of giving to the workers greater interest and enthusiasm but are also a great training school in Sunday School work.

Among those on the program during the day will be Miss Bertha Keiningham, on the subject of "Teaching"; Miss Lillian E. McCormick, on "Story Telling"; Mrs. F. Ethel Wilson, on "Object Lessons"; Rev. Maurice R. Hamm, on "The Larger Program"; Mr. Abner B. Brown, our General Secretary; Mrs. R. D. Grier, on "Home Department"; Col. Joseph H. Cudlipp and others. Many of our boys will remember with a great deal of delight Col. Cudlipp. He was here a number of years ago in the Layman's Missionary Movement. He is one of the greatest leaders of boys in the country and on the evening of the convention Col. Cudlipp will deliver the address of the occasion. It is to be hoped that every boy in Salisbury will be present to hear Col. Cudlipp, the boy's friends.

There will be no special entertainment for those attending the conference as Salisbury is well supplied with several excellent hotels and lunch rooms. This will enable those of the town schools an opportunity to attend the convention.

The budget required to take care of the Sunday School work on behalf of the county in its relation to the State work is about $400.00. This amount is very cheerfully contributed by the schools of the county. It might be interesting to know that the Sunday Schools of the State contributed to the Near East Relief work during the year $14,541.00, and Wicomico County was one of the six counties to contribute more than $500.00 toward this fund. The Sunday Schools of Wicomico County contributed over $1000.00 to this fund. Schools with such vision will mean a great convention.

MARDELA SPRINGS IS DELIGHTFUL TOWN IN WHICH TO LIVE AND WORK

It Is A Place Of Well Kept Homes And Spacious Grounds And Its Citizens Are Obsessed With A True Community Spirit—Medicinal Properties Of Its Spring
Waters Known Far And Wide.

By DR. R. G. PARKER.

Mardela Springs is a beautiful homelike place nestled on a romantic stream called Baron Creek, purported to have been named after a wealthy Baron of unknown origin, who once settled here. Baron Creek flows into the queenly Nanticoke, some two or three miles away. The north side of our town is fringed by the B. C. & A. R. R., a direct route from Baltimore through Salisbury to Maryland's sea resort, Ocean City. Vessels of small size can come up as far as the cement bridge, which spans Baron Creek, on the southwestern side of the town. In the early years considerable shipping of timber, cord wood, grain and vegetables was done here.

Not many years ago, perhaps for the sake of euphony, the name of the town was changed from Baron Creek Springs to that of Mardela Springs. M-a-r after the first three letters in Maryland and D-e-l-a after the first four letters in Delaware. This word, Mardela, joined with that of Springs, surely makes a beautiful combination—Mardela Springs. We, at least, are proud of the name. When I save time in the writing, or to save Printer's ink, it is abbreviated as simply Mardela, and the Springs divorced from it, we confess that we are fighting indignant.

There can be no doubt but that our Springs sending out their limpid stream, were once the healing waters of the Red Men, who had a trail leading from here to what we now know as Indian Town, on the left bank of the Nanticoke River, a few miles above Vienna. From this tribe of Indians the river got its name. The Nanticoke at one time were a powerful tribe. Many Indian relics have been and are still found on this trail, clear over to Indian Town. The Indians fished in the river and killed game in the surrounding forests. Their fragile canoes were seen everywhere, clear out to the Chesapeake.

The medicinal properties of the Springs are spoken of in appreciation by medical men of reputation wherever the waters are known. Remarkable cures have been made through drinking of this water as many former invalids can and will gladly attest. Once there were hotel accommodations here and persons came from afar to get the benefits of the water, but a few years ago the hotel burned to the ground. The present proprietor, Mr. Nathaniel O. Austin, has erected a large building on the ground and will another season open it for the accommodation of the public. The lawn surrounding the hotel is high ground and studded with stately trees. The Springs are at its base. At one time there were several springs gurgling out of the ground, but some years ago these were gathered into one stream. While the volume is not large there has been no diminution in the flow, so far as the knowledge of our oldest citizens goes. The town's people come with their jugs and pitchers and carry the water to their homes and drink it in preference to their own pump water. People from Salisbury come in their autos for their drink. These springs are referred to as the healing waters of the Nanticoke—nature's own cure. A careful analysis has been made of the waters by competent chemists from Johns Hopkins University and elsewhere and they have found them to contain in proper proportions, silica, arsenious acid, ferric oxide, alumina, chloride of sodium, carbonate of lime and of magnesia, sulphate of lime and carbonate of soda, all combined by the Great Chemist above. For the convenience of those who can not come in person and drink from their healing flow, the water is carbonated, bottled and shipped to their residences however far away.

Mardela Springs is a place of well kept homes and spacious grounds. The inhabitants are more like one large family, rather than separate entities. Often when neighbors are surprised by the unexpected coming of friends from a distance and too near meal time to be able to make proper preparation for their entertainment, their nearby neighbors, learning about this predicament, can be seen slipping in the back way bearing some little delicacy or more staple food for the table of their perplexed friend; the visitors knowing nothing about this neighborly act of thoughtfulness.

Farmers retiring from their farms come here as a nice place to spend the evening of their day. Professional men, who by conspicuous service have gotten their honors, also come here as a quiet place to rest awhile before the Good Master calls them higher.

The climate here is of neither extreme, not too cold in winter nor too hot in summer. It is in easy reach of the large cities, either by rail or auto. Very large shipments of fruits, vegetables, melons, berries and sweet potatoes are sent from our station to Baltimore and the Northern and Western cities.

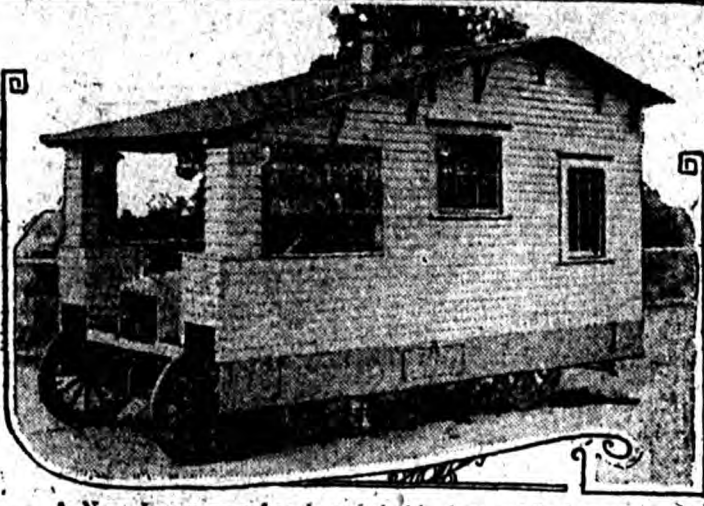

The great majority of our people are of pure Anglo Saxon stock. They have a Southern accent, though not as marked as those farther South, but sufficiently distinct to class them among Southerners. To entire strangers, the natives may seem to have many idiosyncrasies. There are certain distinct names here, such as Wilson, Bounds, Bennett, English, Bacon, Wright and Seabreeze. Should a stranger meet a person on the street or public road, call him by one of these names and you will not be much out of the way.

Trucking is the principle employment of the masses, though at present poultry raising and the production of eggs is extensively engaged in, and good profits accrue to those in this business. Twelve miles away is the beautiful and progressive city of Salisbury, and thirty-two miles you reach that justly famed watering place, Ocean City. Ocean City is the nearest sea resort for the citizens of both Washington and Baltimore, and for all the people on both the Eastern and Western Shores of the great Chesapeake.

Mardela Springs is a quiet place; it has none of those nerve-rasping, ear-splitting noises that are in so many other resorts. There are no unruly toughs making life both miserable and dangerous.

Churches—Years ago the Presbyterians had an influential organization here, but such has been the irony of fate that they have no church here now. The old frame building in which the Presbyterians once worshipped still stands and is the pride of the whole community. This building stands at the lower end of town, in a somewhat secluded spot, on the banks near the stream. There are at the rear and side some remains of old graves. For some years after the Presbyterians had practically abandoned the field, the Old School, or Primitive Baptists as they call themselves, began preaching in this old building, but by what law they can claim to be more primitive than is the body from which they separated and which body is several millions larger than they, is hard to understand. The Episcopalians hold forth on alternate Sundays in the same building, and later on, the Missionary Baptists organized their forces under this same friendly roof. Later still, these same Missionary Baptists opened a preaching place in another part of the town, known as Wilson's Hall, led by the youthful Rev. G. W. Gorrell. The Methodist Protestants probably have the largest membership and a nice property on Main street. During the building of the present Methodist Protestant house of worship, this congregation worshipped in the Presbyterian Church. They, at present, are ministered to by Rev. C. N. Alexander. The Methodist Episcopal Church and Parsonage are located in another part of the town. This flock is ministered to by Rev. D. J. Ford. George Washington Covington, a shoemaker, began the work in this section which culminated in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. Covington then lived where Ollie Bennett now lives. He collected funds and built a small church house on the high land between the present road and the creek, about a mile southwest of the town. In the year 1889 this interest was moved to Baron Creek Springs, and for two years they met in a wooden tabernacle which stood on the grounds next to the present building. In 1891 the present building was erected through the instrumentality of Rev. E. J. Copper. The Baptist parsonage is on the Main street. Their mother church called Branch Hill is out in the country, which at the time of its location was a populous center. The tendency now for this body is urban and not suburban as before.

Places of Business—The Farmers' Bank, instituted in the year 1912 with a capital stock of $10,000. This is now a flourishing institution and shows the foresightedness of its founders and supporters. The president is Robert G. Robertson; vice president, John P. Wright; cashier, W. H. Robertson; bookkeeper, R. M. Wilson.

We have six stores under the following firm names: Groceries and dry goods, Bailey, English & Co.; groceries and fresh meats and ice cream, L. W. Bennett; groceries and dry goods, J. P. Bennett & Sons; gro-

Bailey, the proprietor of one of the barber shops, has been located here for several years; Mr. W. E. Elliott, the proprietor of the other shop, has not been here so long.

Lodges—Mardela Council, No. 113, Jr. O. U. A. M.; Okonoko Lodge, No. 117, I. M. P. O. E.; Temple Lodge, No. 170, A. F. & A. M.; Rebekah Lodge, No. 391, I. O. O. F.; Good Will Lodge, No. 112, I. O. O. F.; Grange, No. 300.

School—We are justly proud of our school. There are ten grades, and a full school and excellent teaching forces. Principal, Mr. F. P. Blunt; assistants, George E. Bennett, Miss Blanche Owens, Miss Maud B. Bennett and Miss Lulo B. Bounds.

The population of the town is about 400. And last, but not least, we have the Mardela Concert Brass Band, numbering 17 pieces, organized by Mr. Melville L. Stout, but now under the leadership of Mr. John Hopkins, of Salisbury.

SPARKS CIRCUS IS A VERITABLE HORSE FAIR

Despite the fact that the automobile business is increasing month by month, there yet remains the keenest interest in the horse, perhaps not as a beast of burden, but as an animal of symmetry, intelligence and beauty. And that is one of the reasons why the Sparks Circus which is to appear in this city on Friday, Oct. 7th, carries with it a Horse Fair equalled by no other circus in the world.

In the large tent adjoining the Menagerie, the Horse Fair forms a daily adjunct to the trip to the "big show." And so when the circus arrives and you have paid your admission, do not forget that feature of the circus, for it is worth seeing. In the fair this year will be found specimens of the purest bred percherone possible to obtain, as well as representatives of the thoroughbred, standard-bred Suffolk punch, coach horses, hackneys, hunters and horses for general purposes.

But in the name of attractions; the Horse Fair forms only one of the features of the Sparks Circus. The clowns? They always form an important part of any circus—and that is the case with this vast amusement enterprise. Forty of them are present in the performance every minute and their presence can result in only one thing—laughter and lots of it.

By the way, there is to be the two mile long parade at 10:30 o'clock the morning of the circus' arrival in this city, with all cages open, tableaux wagons and floats of wondrous splendor, herds of elephants and camels—most of them driven in harness, 200 lady riders and cavaliers, all mounted on beautifully caparisoned, spirited horses in splendid fettle. It will be worth coming many miles to see, so don't miss it.

DRIED-APPLE POMACE GOOD FOR DAIRY COWS

Makes a Succulent Feed, According To Statement of U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Experts

Dried or "evaporated" apple pomace as a succulent feed for the dairy cow is the subject of a preliminary report from the Bureau of Chemistry and Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, based on an experiment to determine the feeding value of dried-apple pomace, especially its suitability as food for cows in lactation. Preliminary results are reported because of a large number of inquiries on the subject.

The text of the report follows: It appears there is a belief among dairymen that the dried product has a tendency to cut down the milk flow, or even cause cows to go dry, although apple pomace fresh from the cider press is generally recognized as being a good succulent feed for milk cows. To test the soundness of this belief a feeding trial has been carried out by the department. Only one cow was used in this test, and the total quantity of dried pomace fed was less than 400 pounds; therefore it must be borne in mind that the results obtained, while indicative, can not be accepted as conclusive.

In this feeding trial the dried-apple pomace was fed wet and its feeding value compared with that of corn silage, since it is intended to be a succulent feed. The pomace was prepared by adding to the dry material three times its weight of water several hours before feeding, thus producing a feed similar in water content to that of corn silage.

For a period of 30 days the cow received a balanced ration consisting of grain, hay, and corn silage. The silage was then replaced by the apple pomace for a similar length of time, allowing a 10-day transition period for the change in diet, and after a like transition period at the end of 80 days the original ration containing silage was resumed and continued for a third 30-day period.

The quantity fed—36 pounds of wet pomace per day—was such that the total dry matter in the pomace equalled the weight of dry matter in the silage replaced. The quantities of grain and hay fed remained practically constant throughout the whole experiment.

While the data obtained are not sufficient to warrant the drawing of final and definite conclusions, the indications are that no bad effects follow the feeding of dried-apple pomace. There was no decrease in the milk flow nor in the yield of butterfat.

When fed as described the dried pomace appeared to be equal, pound for pound of dry matter, to good corn silage as succulent food for this dairy cow. Owing to the property which it possesses of absorbing large quantities of water and swelling, it should never be fed dry, but should be allowed to soak in water for an hour before feeding. The pomace appears to be a palatable feeding stuff.

Caution is advised in feeding dried-apple pomace as there is a possibility that the feeding of large quantities, or of quantities containing excessive amounts of apple seeds, might prove injurious. It appears to be safe, however, to feed as much soaked pomace by weight (1 part dried pomace to 3 parts water) as it would be to feed the same amount of pomace fresh from the cider press.

204,892 CATTLE FREE FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Latest report of the tuberculosis-eradication work by the United States Department of Agriculture shows that a total of 204,892 head of cattle in 8,839 herds have been accredited by the Government as free from tuberculosis infection, while 702,590 additional cattle in 56,113 herds have already been once tested and found free of the disease. On August 1, 1921, a total of 1,294,159 cattle in 79,341 herds were under supervision in the tuberculosis-eradication campaign. Furthermore, there were 218,31 cattle in 14,494 herds on the waiting list for testing. There is a constant increase in the number of animals and herds tested and accredited and in the demands on the part of herd owners who desire to place their cattle under Government supervision.

If The Lights Should Go Out.

When you think the rate seems high or the service poor, consider for a moment what this town would be like if all electrical current were turned off.

The stores, the houses and the churches would go dark. There'd be no lights on the corners, no elevators in the buildings, no street cars, no telephones—not even a movie show.

Kerosene lamps would come back into use, and your wife would bend over a wash tub and sweep with a broom.

Electric current is one of the cheapest necessities you can buy today. In proportion to the comfort and convenience it gives, electricity is worth many times what you pay for it. And it helps, in a large way, to make our town a prosperous and desirable place in which to live.

The Wreckers

CHAPTER XVII

The Beginning of the End
However much the Hatch people may have wanted to avoid publicity regarding the change of ownership and policies in the Storage & Warehouse reorganization, the prompt announcement of a general strike of the employees was enough to make every newspaper in the state sit up and take notice.

We had the Mountaineer at the breakfast-table in the club grill-room on the morning of the day when the strike was advertised to go into effect. There was a news story, with big headlines in red ink, and also an editorial. Cantrell didn't say anything against the railroad company. His comments were those of an observer who wished to be straight-forward and fair to all concerned, but his editorial did make the coup possible.

Cantrell, himself, mild-eyed and looking as if he'd got out of bed about three hours too early, drifted into the grill-room and took a seat at our table before we were through.

"I wanted to be decent about it, Norcross," he said, forestalling anything that the boss might be going to say about the editorial in the Mountaineer. "I'm trying to believe that the men higher up in your railroad councils haven't rathered this Hatch scheme of consolidation—which is more than some of the other pen-pushers will do for you, I'm afraid. Thanks to your publicity measures, everybody believes that you still hold the whip-hand over the combination with your ground leases. I'm not asking what you propose to do; I am merely taking it for granted that you are going to stick to your policy, and hoping that you will come and tell me about it when you are ready to talk."

"I shall do just that," the boss promised; and I guess he would have been glad to let the matter drop at this, only Cantrell wouldn't.

"I lost three good hours' sleep this morning on the chance of catching you here at table," the editor went on. "A little whisper leaked in over the wires last night, or, rather, early this morning, that set me to thinking. You haven't been having any trouble with your own employees lately, have you, Norcross?"

"Not a bit in the world. Why?"
"There is some little excitement, with the public taking a hand in it. There were indignation meetings held last night in a number of the towns along your lines, and resolutions were passed protesting against the action of the new combination in cutting wages, and asserting that public sentiment would be with the C. S. & W. employees if they are forced to carry out their threat of striking at noon today. The whisper that I spoke of intimated that the protest might extend to the railroad employees."

"There's nothing in it," said the boss decisively. "I suppose you mean in the way of a sympathetic strike, and that is entirely improbable. I imagine very few of the C. S. & W. employees belong to any of the labor unions."

"A strike on the railroad would hit you pretty hard just now, wouldn't it?" Cantrell asked.

Mr. Norcross dodged the question. "We're not going to have a strike," he averred; and since we had finished our breakfast, he made a business excuse and we slid out.

When we reached the office we found Mr. Van Britton on hand, reading the morning paper.

"You don't get around as early as you might," was the little millionaire's comment when the boss walked in and opened up his desk. "I've been waiting nearly a half-hour for you to show up. Seen the papers?"

The boss nodded.

"I don't mean the strike business; I mean the market quotations."

"No; I didn't look at them."

"They are interesting. -P. S. L. Common went up another three points yesterday. It closed at 38 and a fraction. You know what that means, Graham. It means that Uncle Beckenridge and his crowd are already joyfully discounting your coming resignation. Somebody has given them a wire tip that you are as good as down and out, and unless a miracle of some sort can be pulled off, I guess the tip is a straight one. Strong as he is, Chadwick can't carry you alone."

"Drop it," snapped the boss irritably. And then: "Have you come to tell me that you have reconsidered that fool letter you wrote me last night?"

"Not in a million years," returned the escaped captive airily. "I am here this morning as a paying patron of the Pioneer Short Line. I want to hire a special train to go—well, anywhere I please on your jerkwater railroad. The Eight-Fifteen will do, with Buck Chandler to run it."

"Fahaw! take your own car and any crew you please. We are not selling transportation to you."

"Yes, you are; I'm going to pay for that train, and what's more, I want your written receipt for the money. I need it in my business. Then, if Chandler should happen to get gay and dump me into the ditch somewhere, I can sue you for damages."

"All right; if you will persist in joking with me it's going to cost you something. How far do you want your train to run?"
"Oh, I don't know; anywhere the notion prods me—say to the west end and back, with as many stops as I see fit to make, and perhaps a run over the branches."

I saw the boss make a few figures on a pad under his hand.

"It would cost anybody else, roughly, something like five hundred dollars. On account of your little joke it's going to cost you a cold thousand."

Mr. Van Britton took out his check-book and a fountain pen and solemnly made out the check.

"Here you are," he said, flipping the check over to the boss' desk. "Now shell out that receipt, so that I'll have it to show if anybody wants to know how much you've gouged me. Since you're making the accommodation cost me a dollar a minute, how long have I got to wait?"

Mr. Norcross said something that sounded like "d—n," scribbled a memorandum of the thousand-dollar payment on a sheet of the scratch-pad and handed it over, saying: "The order for the car includes my cook and porter, and something to eat; we'll throw these in with the transportation, and if the car is ditched and you sue for damages, we'll file a cross-bill for hotel accommodations. Now go away and work off your little attack of lunacy. I'm busy."

The C. S. & W. strike—as our wires told us—went into effect promptly on the stroke of noon, and a train from the west, arriving late in the afternoon, brought Ripley.

"The conditions all along the line are almost revolutionary," was Ripley's summing-up of the situation. "Generally speaking, the public is not holding us responsible as yet, though of course there are cronkers who are saying that it is entirely a railroad move, and predicting that we won't do anything to interfere with the new graft."

"Cantrell says the public sentiment is altogether on the side of the C. S. & W. strikers," the boss put in.

"It is; angrily so. There is hot talk of a boycott to be extended to everything sold or handled by the Hatch syndicate. I hope there won't be any effort made to introduce strike-breakers. In the present state of affairs that would mean arson and rioting and bloody murder."

"I wired you because I wanted to consult you once more about those ground leases, Ripley. Do you still think you can make them hold?"

"If Hatch breaks the conditions, we'll give him the right of his life," was the confident rejoinder.

"But that will mean a long contest in the courts. The Supreme court is a full year behind its docket, and the delay will inevitably multiply your few 'cronkers' by many thousands. But that isn't the worst of it. Hatch has a better hold on us than the law's delay." And to this third member of his staff Mr. Norcross told the story of the political trap into which Collingwood and the New York stock-jobbers had betrayed the railroad management.

Ripley's comment was a little like Hornack's; less profane, perhaps, but also less hopeful.

"Good Lord!" he ejaculated. "So that is what Hatch has had up his sleeve? I don't know how you feel about it, but I should say that it is all over but the shouting. If the Dunton crowd had been deliberately trying to wreck the property, they couldn't have gone about it in any surer way."

"That is the way it looked to me, Ripley, at first; but I've had a chance to sleep on it—as you haven't. The gun that can't be spiked in some way has never yet been built. I have the names of the eleven men who were bribed. Hatch was daring enough to give them to me. Holding the affidavits which they were foolish enough to give him, Hatch can 'make' them swear to anything he pleases. But if I could get those affidavits I'd go to the men separately and make each one tell me how much he had been

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked: In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

The More Annoying and Common Motor Troubles are Avoidable

If your motor overheats frequently, misses, gives off vile-smelling exhaust fumes, requires frequent carburetor adjustments, carbonizes quickly at valve seats and spark plugs, it is probable that impure gasoline is the cause.

Have you ever really considered the reason for using a certain type of gasoline in your motor—or do you simply go to a dealer and ask for "Gas"?

The improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline has certain definite advantages that make it the superior of any other. These improvements were made possible principally by the long experience of our refining experts and our access to practically every needed source and grade of crude petroleum.

It is for these reasons that we are able to produce consistently a well-balanced gasoline—gasoline that is not lacking in any essential factor. It insures a maximum of motor efficiency, cleanliness of combustion, smooth, strong pulling power and long mileage, because it is the well-balanced, all-round fuel.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is the best you can buy—and it costs no more. Now obtainable wherever you motor.

THE TIME HAS COME TO CHOOSE A HAT

THEIR is a pleasant little journey just ahead of most women. It is an excursion into the shops in quest of a trimmed hat for winter. Now is the time to make it—when milliners are putting their best hat forward, so to speak, in their formal openings; so—after checking up on one's bank account—the time has come to set sail. There is a becoming hat for every type of face. A group of trimmed hats shown above, reveals several favored and intriguing styles. At the top of this group there is a representative of the small turban which proudly supports spreading bows or ends of silk ribbon, finished off with a brilliant jet ornament at the front. It is handsome in velvet or duvetyne or other fabrics and is a tempting affair in all black. Just below it, a lovely velvet hat in a pleasant shade, has its crown covered with autumn foliage—browns, yellows, dull green, bronze—a little hint of red among the leaves. A circular veil in brown falls over it. The spirited hat at the right is made of velvet and bears an upstanding crest of ostrich which may be "platined"—that is, metalized with a gray metallic burnish, or in vari-colored ostrich flues. It is very handsome in gray velvet with platined ostrich. At the lower left, a velvet hat has a soft crown and graceful brim, in brown with long, soft ostrich flues and curving spikes of chenille about its crown. It is also beautiful in the purple and petunia shades, or in other autumn colors. No collection will be minus something that calls to mind the Spanish modes and they are evident in the last hat of the group.

THE RIGHT THING AT THE RIGHT TIME

WHEN YOU EAT FRUIT.

Remember this—that there is a proper dignity and proportion to be observed in the performance of every act of life—Marcus Aurelius.

IN THE formal, many-course dinner a fruit course usually follows the sweets and cheese, directly preceding the coffee. In many families fresh fruit is always served at dinner following the dessert. The decorative value of fresh fruit served in this way has, no doubt, had something to do with the establishment of this course in the dinner menu. But there are not a few good folk who always decline the course because they really don't know just how to eat it. Oh, to be sure they can eat oranges and apples and bananas and grapes, but they are not at all sure whether they eat them in the right way. For eating fresh fruit at a picnic or as a between-meal is one thing, and eating it at a dinner is another. The idea is, however, always to serve it in its natural form. To serve the oranges all peeled and sliced would indeed be a mistake on the part of the one who planned the dinner. To serve the bananas sliced would be just as grave an error.

But really it is no very difficult task to eat whole fruit as it should be eaten at dinner. This becomes comparatively easy at tables where the English custom of serving a fruit knife and fork is followed. The banana should first be peeled. Morsels should then be cut by means of the knife and eaten with the fork. Do not cut it all at once.

The best way to eat an apple at the dinner table is to cut it in quarters with the knife, handling it as little as possible, and then to pare the skin from each quarter and to core it as required. This is quite a knack. In doing this without taking the apple up into the hands any more than necessary.

Pears are eaten in much the same manner and so are peaches and plums, but the considerate hostess does not serve these fruits when they are so juicy and over-ripe as to be difficult to manage.

Many persons would not serve oranges at all for dinner, but instead tangerines that can be managed more gracefully. Tangerines may be peeled and then broken into sections, the seeds being removed by means of the knife before taking them in the fingers to eat. Orange skins should be removed by holding the orange firmly on the plate with the fork and then cutting off the skin by means of the knife. After this morsels of the orange may be cut from the core by means of the knife and fork and the pieces conveyed to the mouth by the fork. Needless to say, this is more easily accomplished when the oranges are firm and not extremely juicy. So the wise hostess selects California oranges for dinner, though she may prefer those delicious Florida oranges when they are to be eaten with a spoon for breakfast.

You may have your own pet way of eating grapes, but there is only one right way—that is, according to the accepted usage. They should be eaten by means of the fingers of the right hand, the stones should then be dropped into the left hand inconspicuously and there conveyed to the fruit plate. Cherries should be managed in the same way.

IS IT "JUST A COLD?"

Salisbury People Should Ask Themselves This Question. Don't say: "It's just a cold." It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, achy joints. Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys. Colds are due to congestion. Congestion makes the kidneys overwork to filter the blood. Colds often leave the kidneys weak. First break the cold. Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers. Let this Salisbury resident tell you about them.

Mrs. Wm. Twilley, 118 Upton St., says: "A short time ago a severe cold settled on my kidneys and I began to suffer with severe backaches. I had no energy and would often neglect my housework. There was no let up to the aches across my back day or night. Headaches were constant and my kidneys acted irregularly. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got some at Toulson's Pharmacy. They were just what I needed and in short time I was free from the backaches and kidney trouble." 60c at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE IS STEADILY GROWING

Trade Supremacy Turns This Way From Europe—Domestic Troubles Too, Believed to be Clearing (From Wall St. Journal.)

German marks quoted in mills emphasize the passing of Old World supremacy and the shifting of its colossal responsibility to America. It is realized that the more financial disturbance and economic distress obtains abroad, the more heavily will responsibility bear upon this nation and the more complicated and difficult will its domestic problems become. Yet confidence grows. This is observed less in business expansion or improvement than in the sobering of optimism. Only the pessimists are hysterical now.

Domestically, the political sky is clearing with lowering of tax schedules and administrative expense and constructive measures to relieve agriculture and steam transportation. It is hoped that a no less statesmanlike disposition will be shown in tariff revision, although the American valuation plan of the Fordney bill does not suggest it. Without regard to territorial or more local considerations, it is obvious that imports must be much heavier to maintain even the present volume of exports under existing circumstances. Nobody rejoices over new arrivals of gold.

At home the most outstanding and disquieting factor is labor's attitude. Unionism needs the strongest, sanest sort of leadership through the wage liquidation period. There is resentful regret over the refusal of some building trades to abide by Judge Landis' arbitration. Without condoning any faults of the employers, to which the eminent jurist called caustic attention, the public is about receptive to the open shop. There is no doubt about the increasing popularity of the piece work basis in all industry.

Being feebly unionized Packingtown has a pretty clear field for its industrial welfare and "American shop representation" program.

The real issue between the railroads and their shop-men is over piecework, while the trainmen's contentions converge upon overtime. Those are the highest hurdles ahead of the Labor Board. There may be a lot of sporadic or "outlaw" strikes, but the executives do not expect nor fear any general strike. They want to reduce rates, but cannot afford to until wages and working rules are revised consistently. The most dangerous labor spot is not on the railroad but in the coal mine.

The strangest contradiction in the labor crisis is not the tendency of unions in holding the wage unit at or near the war peak in the face of a depression volume of unemployment and corresponding voluntary speeding up among unorganized workers; it is the indisposition of the unemployed to accept jobs out of their respective lines or at concessions in their own lines. Apart from their aversion to country life and dread of "scabbing" perils in the town, the explanation seems to be the average prosperity of labor. If union treasuries are being drawn upon as heavily as savings bank deposits, the unemployment problem is solving itself more rapidly than generally supposed.

One encouraging labor development is the decline of radicalism, noticeably in the lumber and mining camps where the I. W. W. flourished a few years ago. Another is the activity of housing construction in small towns where strikers from industrial centers accept 60 to 75 cents an hour.

Agriculture is cheered by the stability of cotton and wheat values on a profit level, although the only noticeable trade effect has been in dry goods. The principal result thus far is improvement of the interior's banking position, reflected in the Federal Reserve Bank's weekly statements. The bond market's underpinning is remarkably strong.

SOFT COAL PRODUCTION SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

For The First Time Since Early In June, It Recently Passed The Eight-Million-Ton Mark.

In its review of the coal situation the United States Geological survey states that the production of soft coal showed a decided improvement during the week ended September 3, the most recent week of full-time production, this was an increase of 533,000 tons, or slightly over 7%.

Production of soft coal during the first 219 working days of the past five years, the period over which records of weekly output extended, has been as follows:

Years of Activity
1917	319,066,000
1918	420,544,000
1920	376,735,000
Years of Depression
1919	320,471,000
1921	279,881,000

It will be seen that the year 1921 is in round numbers 47,000,000 tons behind 1919; 97,000,000 tons behind 1920 and about 126,000,000 tons behind the average of the war years. Compared with the average of all four years, it is 99,000,000 tons.

"You have selected everything worn by my family for a year," she went on, "and we want you to know how much we appreciate what you have done. If I had been here to do the buying myself, I couldn't have been better pleased with my purchases."

Miss Knight can be of the same sort of service to you, if you write to her, and tell her about your needs.

"I was weak and run-down," relates Mrs. Eula Burnett, of Dalton, Ga. "I was thin and just felt tired, all the time. I didn't rest well. I wasn't ever hungry. I knew, by this, I needed a tonic, and as there is none better than—paid by Bullock for his vote.

"Well, what then?"

"Then I should make every mother's son of them come across with the full amount of the bribe, on pain of an exposure which the dirtiest politician in this state couldn't afford to face. That would settle it. Hatch couldn't work the same game a second time."

We were closing our desks to go to dinner when Fred May came in to say that a delegation of the pay-roll men was outside and wanting to have a word with the "Big Boss." Mr. Norcross stopped with his desk curtain half drawn down.

"What is it, Fred?" he asked.

"I don't know," said the Pittsburgher. "I should call it a grievance committee, if it wasn't so big. And they don't seem to be mad about anything. Bart Hoskins is doing the talking for them."

"Send them in," was the curt command, and a minute later the inner office was about three-fourths filled up with a shuffling crowd of P. S. L. men.

The chief looked the crowd over. There was a bunch of train and engine men, a squad from the shops, and a bigger one from the yards. Also, the wire service had turned out a gang of linemen and half a dozen operators. "Well, men, let's have it," said Mr. Norcross, not too sharply. "My dinner's getting cold."

"You Men Don't Want to Let Your Sympathies Carry You Too Far."

"We'll not be keepin' you above the hollow half of a minute, Mister Norcross," said the big, bearded freight conductor who acted as spokesman. "About this C. S. & W. strike that went on today: we ain't got no kick comin' with you, n'r with the company, Mister Norcross, but it looks like it's up to us to do somethin', and we didn't want to do it without hittin' square-out from the shoulder. There ain't nobody knows yet what's goin' to be done, but whatever it is, we want you to know that it ain't done ag'inst you n'r the railroad company."

The boss had handled wage earners too long not to be able to suspect what was in the wind.

"You men don't want to let your sympathies carry you too far," he cautioned. "When you take up another fellow's quarrel you want to be pretty sure that you're not going to hit your friends in the scrap."

Hoskins grinned understandingly, and I guess the boss was a little puzzled by the nods and winks that went around among the silent members of the delegation; at least, I know I was.

"That's all right," Hoskins said. "Bein' the big boss, you've got to talk that way. But what I was aimin' to say is that there'll be a train-load 'r two of strike-breakers a-careerin' along here in a day 'r so, and we ain't figurin' on lettin' 'em get past Portia City, if that far."

"That's up to you," said Mr. Norcross brusquely. "If you start anything in the way of a riot—"

"Excuse me. There ain't goin' to be no riotin', and no company property mashed up. Mr. Van Britt, he—"

It was right here that an odd thing happened. Con Corrigan, a big two-fisted freight engineer standing directly behind Hoskins, reached an arm around the speaker's neck and choked him so suddenly that Hoskins' sentence ended in a gasping chuckle. When the garrotting arm was withdrawn the conductor looked around sort of foolishly and said: "I'm thinking that's about all we wanted to say, ain't it, boys?" and the deputation filed out as solemnly as it had come in.

I guess Mr. Norcross wasn't left wholly in the dark when the tramping footfalls of the committee died away in the corridor. That unintentional mention of Mr. Van Britt's name looked as if it might open up some more possibilities, though what they were I couldn't imagine, and I don't believe the general manager could, either.

After that, things rocked along pretty easy until after dinner. Instead of going right back to the office from the club, Mr. Norcross drifted into the smoking-room and filled a pipe. In the course of a few minutes, Major Kendrick dropped in and pulled up a chair. I don't know what they talked about, but after a little while, when the boss got up to go, I heard him say something that gave the key to the most of what had gone before, I "Have you seen or heard anything of Collingwood since yesterday?"

The good old major shook his head. "They're talkin' me that he's even in his rooms at the Ballard, drinkin' himself to death. If he wasn't altogether past redemption, sah, he would have had the decency to get out of town here; he turned loose all bolts that way; he would, for a fact, Graham."

At that, Mr. Norcross explained in just a few words why Collingwood hadn't gone—why he couldn't go. Whereupon the old Kentuckian looked graver than ever.

"That thar spells trouble, Graham. Hatch is simply invitin' the undertaker. Howie isn't what you'd call a dangerous man, but he is totally irresponsible, even when he's sober."

"We ought to get him away from here," was the boss' decision. "He is an added menace while he stays. I didn't hear what the major said to that, because Little Rags, Mr. Perkins' office boy, had just come in with a note which he was asking me to give to Mr. Norcross. I did it; and after the note had been glanced at, the chief said, kind of bitterly, to the major:

"You can never fall so far that you can't fall a little farther; have you ever remarked that, major?" And then he went on to explain: "Perkins, our Desert Division superintendent, says that the 'locals' of the various railroad labor unions have just notified him of the unanimous passage of a strike vote—the strike to go into effect at midnight."

"A strike?—on the railroad? Why, Graham, son, you don't mean it!"

"The men seem to mean it—which is much more to the purpose. They are striking in sympathy with the C. S. & W. employees. I fancy that settles our little experiment in good railroad management, major. Dunton doesn't want a receivership, but he'll have to take one now. The bottom will drop out of the stock and break the market when this strike news gets on the wire, and that will end it. I wish to God there were some way in which I could save Mr. Chadwick: he has trusted me, major, and I—I've failed him!"

BIG SAVING IN PHOSPHATE POSSIBLE BY NEW PROCESS

The United States owns the richest and most extensive phosphate fields in the world. Heretofore heavy annual wastes of valuable phosphatic material have occurred during the mining and manufacturing processes. A new method of controlling these losses devised by the United States Department of Agriculture consists in mixing the "run of mine" phosphate with sand and coke and smelt-concentrated form. Millions of tons ing the mass in an electric or fuel-fed furnace. In this process, the phosphoric acid is driven off as a fumes and may be readily collected in system.

His Lordship's breeches were correct

THE breeches which prevented his Lordship from sitting in an ordinary chair in Parliament were quite correct in the reign of Henry VIII.

They were correct because style has always been a real expression of the character of the age.

Young men today are turning to styles which reflect the clean-cut aggressive spirit of the time. Designed in New York, Cortley Clothes add to excellence of material and perfect tailoring a style which expresses this modern spirit with correctness and distinction.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Don't forget the Poultry Show to be held in the Armory November 10, 17 and 18. Get your birds in shape by starting now and don't be afraid to show any good birds that you have on the farm. We expect to have several classes including Show Birds, Utility Stock and Boys' and Girls' Class. Premium lists and Entry Blanks will be out soon, but start now selecting your birds for the show.

We understand from a reliable source that the rail roads will reduce the freight rates on manure. No details have reached us yet so we do not know just how much the reductions will be. Don't stop keeping livestock just because the freight rate on manure is reduced.

We are going to take this means to thank Mr. P. C. Squires, of Mount Olive Co-operative Truckers Association, for his very kind letter to us last week. We appreciate it very much and hope that his "nuggets" won't grow into gold bricks. Let us know when you are this way again for we would like to meet you personally. Your "Tar Heels" have showed the way to the other varieties of soybeans here this year and if you can increase the demand we will grow more of them.

A twenty per cent cut in price on plows, harrows, mowers, etc., is announced by a large concern manufacturing these implements.

We wonder how many farmers are selecting their seed corn from the field. This suggestion will bear repeating often for by field selection one can select not only the good ears, that hang down, but is also able to select ears from the proper type stalks.

Self-fed hogs gain 7.4 per cent faster than when hand fed and require no more feed according to thorough tests made at the Missouri Experiment Station. Hogs gained 23 per cent faster when fed on a ration of corn and wheat middlings than on corn alone, 32 per cent faster on corn and linseed meal, 32 per cent faster on corn and tankage and 33 per cent faster on corn and soybeans. Having a pasture for your hogs will save from 20 to 50 per cent of your grain feed.

Found another good poultryman last Wednesday. Louis Cecil, Hebron, has about 350 nice White Leghorn pullets and from indications he is bound to get good eggs yields this year. He is feeding and caring for them properly and any man who can get 92 eggs daily from 97 hens deserves credit for his care and for the strain of layers that he has.

We have received notice of a Poland-China Hog sale to be held in Kent County, Del. The Black Diamond herd will hold its first annual sale at the farm of E. H. Donovan, Brenford, Del., on Nov. 10, and the Kent County Poland-China Association will have a consignment sale at Dover, on November 17th. Here is a chance for our breeders and farmers to get good stock near at home.

Chicago paid from fifty to seventy-five cents per bushel more for Nancy Halls last year than for other varieties, and we know that we can grow good Nancy's in this county. Think it over.

M. D. Collins comes to the front this week because of his corn yield. Planted on clover soil plus 1000 pounds of fertilizer and yielding 275 bushels on 2 3-4 acres, or an average of 100 bushels per acre. Evidence is piling up very fast in favor of our old stand by, Clover.

Harvesting of lettuce has already begun on Dale Adkins' irrigated field so we were informed by Fred P. Adkins. Our friend Baysinger owes us a good cigar and we expect to collect.

Many of our farmers want to know what to sow now so as to have some hay next year. Somewhat late for vetch but we would sow wheat and vetch or wheat, vetch and winter oats. If we have an open fall, the vetch should be able to get a start and as it is not too late for wheat there is a possibility of all three coming through. Wheat planted late is not so likely to be affected with the fly.

The recent hot wave plus Holidays caused a drop in the sweet potato market. Dealers will not stock up during hot weather, the demand from the retailers slackens and the result is a lower market.

Yellow and white sweet potatoes in the same field and on the same vine has been the cause of much argument this week. We found the first case on our demonstration plot at Mayhew Reddish's farm and John Morris, on the Mt. Herman road, brought us the second example. It was the second example brought us the second sample on Saturday. Three yellow potatoes, two whites and one half and half in one instance and John had four yellow and four whites. We have these in our show case at present. No, we cannot agree that it is a cross until we see the plants bloom and so far we have seen only one plant blossom since we have been in the county. But we are willing to argue with anyone about this and will gracefully submit if we can be convinced that we are wrong.

Why not turn your hogs into the corn field and save time and labor in shucking and hauling. Not much expense in a portable fence and hogs fed in this manner will make over twenty-five per cent greater gains with twelve per cent less concentrates than those fed ear corn in pen or dry lot.

The Community Fair is only a short ways ahead of us. Begin to select your exhibits as soon as possible.

Our notes show that in this county the application of lime has benefited sweets, loaves, corn, clover and other legumes, and a moderate application will help the strawberry plants. Get your orders in early this year so that your dealer will not be swamped just at the time everybody else wants their order filled.

We expect to have the details of sweet potato demonstration ready to publish soon. The yield was not startling but we did get some valuable data.

A word of caution seems apropos right here. Much interest is being shown in the Porto Rican sweet potato because of its yield, etc. But do not plant many of this variety until you have studied the matter and know what their requirements are and how they soil.

The Farmer Today Is a Business Man

HE does not run his farm in the haphazard fashion he did ten years ago. It's his business. He figures his costs and profits.

He knows, of course, what he gets out of the productive acres of his farm—and how much he is paying out in taxes on the idle, unproductive stump and swamp land that brings in nothing.

That Is Why He Is Clearing More Land Every Year
It's just good business. Every acre cleared and planted means more profit every year. The clearing cost is usually more than covered by the first crop.

More land is being cleared, too, because of the manufacture of dynamite made for this purpose, which makes the work easier, quicker and more economical.

How much is productive? How much idle? Then see our local dealer and plan how much dynamite you need for this season. He will help you—and will furnish you with the reliable, efficient and economical explosives, now in greatest demand throughout this section—

"CLASS D" BASEBALL LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED HERE FOR NEXT YEAR

Circuit Is Composed Of Clubs Representing Eight Shore Towns.

CALLED "EASTERN SHORE LEAGUE"

Salisbury, Crisfield, Cambridge, Princess Anne, Pocomoke, Snow Hill, Berlin and Laurel comprise the Wheel-L. W. Gunby Selected as Chairman of Board of Directors.

At a meeting of representatives from various Peninsula towns held here Friday night, a baseball league to be known as The Eastern Shore League and to be operated under the rules and regulations of organized baseball as a Class D League, was organized, and will be started out in full bloom next summer.

The following towns will comprise the circuit: Laurel, Del., Crisfield, Cambridge, Salisbury, Berlin, Princess Anne, Snow Hill and Pocomoke. Milford, Del., Dover, Del., and Parkersley, Va., were represented at the meeting, but when it was seen that only one vacancy existed, the Milford and Dover delegations withdrew. This left the awarding of the remaining berth in the league to either Berlin or Parkersley, Va., and the former town was selected by a close vote.

Board Directors Elected.

A Board of Directors for the league was elected, each town comprising the league being entitled to one director. The board follows: L. W. Gunby, Salisbury, chairman; M. B. Thawley, Crisfield; T. M. Funnell, Berlin; H. Schoolfield, Pocomoke; W. T. Sibbett, Cambridge; C. W. Cordrey, Snow Hill; Dr. A. S. Williams, Laurel; J. D. Wallop, Princess Anne.

The salary limit of the league was established at $1750 monthly, and the gate receipts will be split fifty-fifty, with each town, however, guaranteeing $50 to the visiting team. It also was decided to pool the receipts from opening and holiday games and divide them into eight parts.

Each club comprising the circuit will be required to post $200 with the league's treasurer before December 1, and $675 additional will have to be posted by each club by March 1, 1922. No club will be permitted to carry more than three class players on its roster.

At a meeting of the board of directors which will be held within a short time, a president and other officers of the league will be selected. This meeting will be called by the chairman of the board of directors.

To Enlarge Ball Parks.

All of the towns in the circuit have laid plans to either enlarge their present ball parks or to build new ones to conform with the ground regulations that the league will impose. Cambridge will build one of the best ball parks on the shore, while Princess Anne and Berlin also will erect commodious parks.

Cambridge, it is said, has every reason to believe that J. Franklin Baker, the home run king now playing with the New York Yankees, will play with and manage the Cambridge club next year. Baker, it has been learned, will be given his unconditional release at the end of the present World's Series, and will live in Cambridge. Those in charge of baseball in the Dorchester county seat are confident that Baker will be at the helm at the start of the Shore season.

With the formation of a Class D League, baseball enthusiasm on the Shore next summer is expected to be much greater than it was this year, when it reached a high peak, and already the fans and moguls in the various towns are mapping out their plans for making strong bids for the pennant.

The Bible Class for men which will be conducted at the "Y" twice monthly during the fall and winter months, will start tonight (Thursday) with Rev. W. P. Taylor as the first speaker. These sessions will be held from 6:30 until 7 P. M., and the topics will be selected from Dr. H. H. Horne's book on "Modern Problems Jesus Saw Them." The topic for tonight will be "Jesus and War."

A number of men signed as members of the Bible Class at the last men's meeting held at the "Y," and it is confidently expected that the class will number at least 75 men when it is well under way.

As a convenience for those business men who desire to attend the Bible Class, a committee of ladies from Grace M. E. Church will serve supper in the building from 6:00 until 6:30 P. M. A small charge will be made for the supper which will be merely sufficient to cover cost of the expense.

Mr. Hammerslough stated that the Bible Class meetings will be adjourned promptly at 7 P. M., and that the meetings will not interfere with any other plans the members have made.

HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER TILTS START OCT. 20

Wicomico High, Sharptown and Delmar Teams To Battle For County Honors.

SIX-GAME SCHEDULE APPROVED BY BOARD

Will Be First Year That Sharptown And Delmar Schools Have Had Soccer Teams—Mr. William Boggs Is Coaching All Three Aggregations—Each Team Working Hard.

Through the efforts of Mr. William Boggs, physical director of the Young Men's Christian Association, soccer teams have been organized this year at Sharptown and Delmar high schools and these teams and the one representing Wicomico High School, will play a series of games for the high school soccer championship of the county.

The schedule for the round-robin series of games between the three teams has been made out and formally approved by the Board of Education for Wicomico County, so the boys now are simply waiting for the going to sound to get off to a flying start.

Delmar and Sharptown will officially inaugurate the starting of the games on the schedule, the two teams being slated to clash in the opening fray on October 20, at Sharptown, and on the following week the same teams will do battle at Delmar. The season will start off at Wicomico High on November 4, with Delmar High as the opening opponent. On November 10, Wicomico High will meet Sharptown, on the latter's grounds, while on November 17, Sharptown will engage the local high school team here. The season will come to an end on November 23, with Wicomico High and Delmar High playing on the Delmar field.

Scrub Teams Will Play

On Thursday afternoon, the scrub teams of Wicomico High and Delmar will play practice game at Delmar, and the performance of the scrubs will give the rooters an opportunity of getting a line on what the respective first strings are like.

All the regularly scheduled games will be played on Thursday afternoons, except the final game, which will be played on Wednesday. The local tilts will be staged at Gordy Park, and are down on the program to begin promptly at 3:30 P. M., on each occasion.

This is the first year that the Sharptown and Delmar schools have ever had soccer teams, and their advent to the realm will be watched with great interest. Mr. Boggs is coaching all three teams, and is doing everything within his power to bring each of them up to a high standard of perfection.

Wicomico High has been playing soccer for three years, and the soccer aggregation that represented the local high school in 1919 was runner-up in the State Tourney. The boys here believe they have another crack-jack team this year and are bending every effort to make a stellar showing again this year.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME OF MR. WILBUR SMITH

Broke Out Monday Night and Fire Dept. Rendered Prompt and Efficient Service

Fire which is believed to have originated from a defective flue, broke out in the residence of Mr. Wilbur Smith, Poplar Hill avenue, early Monday evening, and caused damage to the property estimated at about $600 before it was brought under control.

The fire alarm was sounded about 8:30 P. M., and, as no one was at home at the time the fire was discovered, the flames had gained considerable headway when the local Fire Department reached the scene. Due to the fact that a strong wind was blowing from the South, the fire laddies fought hard to keep it from spreading and were successful in their efforts.

The firemen started out by using the chemical apparatus, but soon found that it was necessary to put the pump into action. It required about an hour's time in which to subdue the flames. The interior of the house was badly damaged and part of the roof was burned.

On Friday afternoon, the firemen responded to an alarm of fire sent in from Senator Disharoon's mill, but by the time the fire boys reached the mill the blaze which started in a warehouse on the mill property, had been extinguished.

Escapes From Reform School; Back In Jail

Chas. Birchhead Stays Only One Day In House Reformation—Captured In Seaford and Brought Here

Charles Birchhead, the colored youth who was sentenced at the September term of court to serve a term at the House of Reformation until he reached 21 years, escaped from that institution after staying there one day, and was apprehended in Seaford last Thursday and brought back to Salisbury. He now is lodged in the county jail.

Birchhead was arrested in Seaford while Sparks' Circus was showing in that town. It was claimed that he had been detected in the act of snatching a pocket-book, and when taken into custody, Sheriff Larmore was notified of the arrest. Before the Wicomico Sheriff arrived, however, Birchhead is said to have made another dash for liberty. He broke out of the Seaford lock-up and was chased for about a mile before finally being captured.

POPULAR LOCAL GIRL MARRIES SEAFORD MAN

Miss Sara Moore Becomes Bride Of Mr. James A. Morgan—Ceremony Performed Last Thursday

An unusually attractive home-wedding was solemnized last Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Moore, Park avenue, when their daughter, Miss Sara Griffin Moore, became the bride of Mr. James Alvin Morgan, of Seaford, Del., the ceremony being performed by Dr. Joseph T. Herson in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom and a few invited guests.

The bride, who is one of Salisbury's most popular young ladies, was attired in white Canton crepe, with lace trimmings, wore a veil of white tulle caught up with bands of orange blossoms and a handsome sunburst of pearls and diamonds, a gift from the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Marian Dobson, accompanied by Miss Marie Walls on the violin, rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, while "Oh Promise Me" was sung by Mrs. Howard Morgan, of Seaford. Little Miss Elizabeth Birchhead and Elsie Katherine Carpenter preceded the happy couple down the stairway to the large floral canopy under which the ceremony was performed.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Niagara Falls immediately after the ceremony, and, upon their return home, will reside in Seaford, Del.

ROTARIANS TO HELP INSTALL EASTON CLUB

Members Local Rotary Will Attend Ceremonies To Be Held In Easton Tonight.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR TO BE HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Ed. L. Stock Will Pay His Annual Visit To Salisbury—Meeting Last Thursday Night Was Enthusiastic Event—Dr. A. Norman Ward, Was One Of The Speakers.

A large representation of Salisbury Rotarians will journey to Easton today (Thursday) in order to help install the Easton Rotary Club. The charter of the new Talbot county organization will be presented to the Eastonians tonight by Ed. L. Stock, of Washington, the District Governor, at the Hotel Norris.

The Salisbury Rotary Club was largely instrumental in having a Rotary Club started in Easton, as a keen interest in the Rotary organization will be presented to the Eastonians tonight by Ed. L. Stock, of Washington, the District Governor, at the Hotel Norris.

Local Rotarians, therefore, evince a keen interest in the Rotary organization, and are confident that it will be a great credit to the town of Easton.

On Friday night, Mr. Stock will pay his annual visit to Salisbury, and the Rotarians have made plans to entertain him at the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium.

Rotary Questions Answered

The meeting of the local Rotary Club which was held last Thursday night, was one of the most enthusiastic affairs conducted by the Rotarians for some time. Dr. A. Norman Ward, president of Western Maryland College, was one of the speakers of the occasion and during the course of his remarks he told the Rotarians what a nice city Salisbury is to live in and to visit. Dr. Ward was formerly a member of the Kansas City Rotary Club and is fully cognizant of the aims, purposes and splendid achievements of the rapidly growing international organization.

In addition to the pleasing remarks of Dr. Ward, short addresses were made by Messrs Fred P. Adkins, Wal-

NOTED ARMY CHAPLAIN WILL LECTURE AT "Y"

Lt. Col. John T. Axton, Chief of Army Chaplains to Address Men's Meeting Sunday Afternoon

Mr. R. W. Hammerslough, secretary of the Salisbury Young Men's Christian Association, has secured a speaker for the Men's Meeting to be held at the "Y" auditorium, at 3:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, one of the most prominent speakers in the country, and the meeting is one which undoubtedly will find the "Y" building taxed to capacity.

Lt. Col. John T. Axton, of Washington, D. C., is the speaker for Sunday's meeting, and it indeed will be a rare treat to hear him talk. Col. Axton is Chief of Chaplains of the United States Army, and Mr. Wm. Knowles Cooper, who spoke here several days ago, told Mr. Hammerslough that it would be a rare treat to Salisbury if the "Y" officials succeeded in getting Col. Axton to talk here.

Efforts now are being made to have the members of Company "I" turn out in mass for the occasion and also to have delegations from the different shops and civic organizations to attend and hear Col. Axton's message to men.

The musical features of the program will be in charge of Prof. Harold Clase and Mr. Arthur L. Roberts, of McCombe-Class Evangelistic party.

Sunday's meeting will be the second of the series of Sunday afternoon meetings for men which the "Y" will conduct during the fall and winter months. The next meeting after the one Sunday will be held on November 13.

EMIL MEUSEL

MAY ESTABLISH BRANCH VETERANS BUREAU HERE

Col. Woodcock Seeking To Have One Located In Salisbury And Another In Cumberland.

The American Legion is urging the establishment of two branches of the Veterans Bureau, one of the branches to be located at Cumberland and the other at Salisbury, in order to take care of the wounded and disabled soldiers from the Western and Eastern parts of the State.

At present there is only one branch of the Bureau, which is located in Baltimore, and it is believed that much greater service can be given to the former service men by establishing two other branches in the State.

Strong representation has been made by Mr. Alfred Haan, manager of the Fourth District of the Veterans Bureau, which comprises the States of Maryland and West Virginia, by Col. A. W. W. Woodcock, commander of the Maryland Department, American Legion, towards this end, and it is believed that favorable action may be taken within a short time.

Establishment of a branch of the Veterans Bureau in Salisbury will be a big thing for the war veterans on the Eastern Shore, as several men would be retained here permanently to look after all the claims that arise in this section, and the entire work would be greatly facilitated.

Prominent Local Couple Married

Mr. Standford A. Shockley and Miss Alice T. Duffy Joined In Wedlock Monday Morning.

Mr. Standford A. Shockley, member of the firm of J. E. Shockley & Company, and Miss Alice T. Duffy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Duffy, North Division street, were married early Monday morning at the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church parsonage.

The ceremony was performed at 6:45 A. M. by Dr. Joseph T. Herson, pastor of Asbury Church, in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom. Immediately following the ceremony, the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Baltimore and Washington.

Mr. Shockley is one of Salisbury's most prominent young business men and his bride is very popular in social circles of this city. Their many friends join in wishing them much happiness.

RESIGNS AS PASTOR LOCAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. H. L. Parkinson Accepts Call From Philadelphia Church—Will Leave Here Oct. 30.

Rev. H. Lloyd Parkinson, who has been pastor of Division Street Baptist Church since 1918, has resigned as pastor of the local church in order to accept a call from Angora Baptist Church, West Philadelphia. Announcement of Rev. Parkinson's resignation was made Sunday, and it will become effective October 30. He will become pastor of the Philadelphia church on November 6.

Before coming to Salisbury, which was his first pastorage, Rev. Parkinson lived in Philadelphia, and before entering the ministry he was engaged in Young Peoples Work of the church to which he now goes. His work was instrumental in the up-building of that church. He is a graduate of Crozer Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa.

The outstanding features of Rev. Parkinson's pastorage in Salisbury were the doubling of the finances of the church; the trebling of missions, the formation of a Young Men's Club, and the addition of 81 new members to the church roll. During his pastorage, the church has been painted, new carpets, and lavatories installed in the basement of the church. He has been, in fact, a consistent worker for the Division Street church, and his many friends in Salisbury wish him every success in his new field.

JINGLES

The jingles of the sleigh-bell is a memory of the past, along with other jingles that are far too sweet to last—but they blessed the hearts that loved 'em, with their soul-entrancing chime, but it seems they weren't intended to stand the test of time. . . . Then, the jingle in the pocket, which can never be mistook, when a feller's summer wages overflows his pocket-book. . . . It's a jingle that's encouragin' but allers simmers down to melancholy whisper, when the feller goes to town' . . .

But the jingle that entrances, an' surpasses all the rest,—that furnishes the music that the people likes the best,—that penetrates the capsule of a feller's inner thirds,—is a jingle of the poet with a satchel-full of words.

"WICOMICO GIRL" GIVES FURTHER DATA ABOUT FREDERICKSBURG, VA.

Her Second Article Treats With The Commercial Activities Of The Old Virginia Town, And Also Deals With Matters Of Historical Interest—City Was Home Of Many Famous Americans.

(The first article written by "Wicomico Girl" appeared in the News September 1.)

(By "Wicomico Girl")

In our last letter we promised to have something to say of the commercial magnitude of the city. Fredericksburg has always been a large trade center. In its early history ocean-going barges and schooners laden with cargoes from the West Indies, Liverpool and other ports came here and took on for their return voyage consignments of tobacco and wheat for English and Scotch merchants.

Before the introduction of railroads the land trade was carried on by what was then known as "Road Wagons", with canvas covers, and the wagons were drawn by four and often six horses. We learn that between 1800 and the Civil War, as many as three hundred of these wagons were often seen on the streets and in the wagon yards of the city at one time. The country to the Blue Ridge Mountains and even to the Valley of Virginia was supplied this way from this great commercial city, and its growth and development were marvelous.

But since the Civil War Fredericksburg has had a history of commercial and industrial prosperity far exceeding that of any previous period of her history. Situated half way between Richmond and Washington, with five railroad trunk lines, with twenty-six trains running through the city daily, prompt and easy access is given to all the northern and eastern cities, and the water transportation puts this section with its wealth, enterprise, and prosperity in easy and cheap reach of the markets of the Eastern seaboard.

Much of the wealth of the city is derived from farming and from the textile industry, but the silk mills, clothing factories, plow works, foundry, and many other large and successful industries contribute their share to the general prosperity. The population is now 6,500.

A national automobile highway passes through the city and this route is considered the most direct line connecting the north and the south. The city is about sixty miles from Washington and about seventy miles from Richmond. One very attractive feature of this place is that good roads are to be found in every direction leading from the city. Now these roads lead to or near the historic battlefields that are always interesting to the tourists.

It will be remembered that within fifteen miles of this city, more men were engaged and fell in battle than in any other similar territory in America. These battles include the first and second Fredericksburg, Salem Church, Chancellorsville, Bloody Angle, Spotsylvania Court House and the Wilderness. Fredericksburg has a great record having been an important place in the Colonial, Revolutionary and Civil Wars.

Perhaps the most interesting historical object that I have seen here is an old oak tree now more than two hundred years old. It stands on what is known as Marye's Heights, just at the edge of the city, at a place called "Brompton" and the old colonial home bears the same name. Captain Rowe, owner of Marye's Heights, two years ago had this old tree treated by dentists of forestry at a cost of $500 and these doctors guaranteed it to live another hundred years. Sixty gallons of water were taken from the tree in the treatment and the incision was then filled and cemented.

This memorable oak stands near where the last battle of the Civil War in Fredericksburg, was fought. In fact, "Brompton" was Gen. Lee's headquarters during much of the war and beneath this tree were piled up against it the dead and dying as they were brought from the scene of battle, as an improvised hospital. There are still prominent breast-works for several miles on Marye's Heights, and a stone wall at the foot of the hill and down to the "Sunken road" where so many soldiers were killed. The "Old Stone" Block, Corner of Commerce and Charles streets, was used during the War for the hire and sale of slaves.

My attention was called to an ancient grave stone in St. George's Burying Ground marking the resting place of Charles M. Rochbrock, who departed this life September 29, 1084, aged three years. The figures and letters carved on the stone are well preserved. It seems a mystery to all and is of much curiosity to all who visit that lonely spot.

William Paul, brother of John Paul Jones, was buried there in 1773. It will be recalled that John Paul Jones died in Paris, 1792, and was buried there. But the only home he ever had in America, is still in this city and it was from here that he was commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. Also this was the home of Matthew Fontaine Maury, known as the "Pathfinder of the Seas."

Salisbury Chamber Of Commerce Has Accomplished Results

the I. O. F. State Home, but Frederick was able to offer better inducements.

The Chamber has secured all possible evidence, and through the services of Col. Woodcock the case of the farmers against J. G. and E. E. West has been determinedly followed.

Detailed information has been sent to the Market Supervisor in Memphis, Tenn., also the State College of Pennsylvania concerning the operation of the auction block, as well as the formation of the Wicomico Farmers' Association.

The Secretary has assisted a number of people in locating office space, store rooms and houses for rent. Dozens of people have visited the office to secure information along every conceivable line. In case no information was at hand the Secretary went out and secured same. Twenty various forms of investment and business propositions have been investigated through various sources.

Three Wholesale Companies have located here after taking up their proposed line with committees from the Chamber.

A gentleman well known throughout the East as an expert in the chicken and egg industry will open a plant here in Salisbury within the near future, which should tend to make Wicomico County as prominent in the egg industry as the section around Vineland, N. J.

Service the True Function

Primitive man was dependent upon his own efforts for the necessities of life. Heat and light came from fuel dragged from the nearby woods. The only power was man's brawn and the domestic beasts.

Today public utility companies supply very many of our daily necessities.

This is pre-eminently true of the gas business. Your Gas Company is not content simply to supply you with so many thousand cubic feet of gas. It furnishes gas when and where and in what quantity you want it. It virtually cooks your meals, heats your rooms, lights your home. It offers you a service you could not do without; and back of it are trained labor, substantial investment and a directing genius, all working together to merit your good will by efficient, faithful service.

A PROGRESSIVE ORGANIZATION.

Excellent work has been done by the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce for the past several months in the way of promoting the interests of this city and county, and the citizens of this fast-growing section should feel elated that they have in their midst an organization that is ever awake to their best interests—they should at all times stand ready to extend to such a body their heartiest co-operation.

The report of the local Chamber's secretary regarding the multitude of activities the Chamber has been engaged in since January 1, a resume of which is given elsewhere in this issue, is indeed wonderfully encouraging to those who have the advancement of the city and county ever uppermost in mind.

This report shows that the Chamber has been a wide-awake, alert organization at all times and that it not only has rendered splendid service in helping to bring new industries to this section but that it also has wisely separated the chaff from the wheat and kept "on the outside looking in" numerous fakers who sought to make of Salisbury a stamping ground.

Many civic problems have been taken up by the Chamber and helped to a successful conclusion during the past few months, while divers plans for assisting in the advancement of agriculture in Wicomico county also have been given its consideration. It is noteworthy that the Chamber was the first local body to interest the growers of this section in the over-head system of irrigation, with the result that several growers already have given the system a thorough try-out and have found it to be all that it was represented.

To enumerate the varied activities of the local organization and to give to each the space that it deserves would be to fill printed pages regarding its fine accomplishments. Suffice it to say that the Chamber has been "on the job" consistently, and always with a protecting and progressive eye pointed toward the main goal—the advancement of the best interests of the community.

Such an organization, then, is properly deserving of the highest praise and the staunchest support of everyone in the community. Whenever we find the Chamber of Commerce here solidly behind a project, we know that it is advocating something that will redound to the best interests of the city and county, and that is the sort of civic spirit that makes a community grow by leaps and bounds. Stand-patism and reactionary throwing of the monkey wrench into the wheels of progress never help the growth of a city. They merely tend to show a decrease in the census, when the enumerators check up every ten years.

Salisbury, by reason of its splendid location and excellent shipping facilities, has an opportunity for rapid growth. And each and every business man within its confines can help in this expansion by joining the Chamber of Commerce and by taking an active and progressive part in its deliberations. If you are not already a member the Chamber, join NOW.

THE LEAGUE NOW A REALITY.

It is highly gratifying to know that favorable action was taken at the meeting here last Friday night on the question of playing organized baseball on the Shore next summer. The formation of a Class "D" League, a project which we have been strongly advocating since last April, now paves the way for baseball of the right kind—baseball of the kind that should make the 1922 season one of the most interesting and exciting in the history of the game on the Peninsula.

Attending Friday night's meeting were representatives from ten other towns on the Peninsula, and it was significant that in every instance the representatives gathered in conclave here were the most prominent men of their respective localities. This fact, in itself, is a noteworthy one, for it showed plainly that the league will be no hit-or-miss affair but that it will have the strength of each town solidly behind it. And it means a whole lot to the newly organized circuit to have behind each separate club, right at the outset, men in whom the fans have implicit confidence.

Eight towns comprise the new "Eastern Shore League" and the season probably will be one lasting about ten weeks. This will insure plenty of diamond sport for the summer months. In fact, ten weeks is sufficient time to give the teams in showing their respective playing abilities and the comparatively short season also will tend to create even greater interest in the games than if a longer schedule was played.

While there yet remains the selection of a president of the league, it was not to be expected that an absolutely perfected organization would be completed at the one meeting. The main object of the meeting was the formation of the league. With that accomplished, the towns comprising the league selected and a board of directors chosen, the league became a reality and the road left clear for the election of a league head whenever the new board sees fit to choose one.

Every lover of good, clean sport undoubtedly will welcome the advent of an organized league on the Shore, for it undoubtedly will bring to this section a much higher grade of baseball than has been played heretofore and the games will be conducted in such a manner that the sport will be thoroughly enjoyed from start to finish. Moreover, the prospect of the winner of the Eastern Shore League pennant meeting the winner of the Blue Ridge League bunting in a little "World's Series" all our own at the conclusion of the season will serve as an added incentive for each of the teams to keep "in high" all throughout the season.

THE "HOME TOWN PAPER."

The whole family, of course, eagerly reads the "Home Town Paper." The whole family wants to know the happenings of the community; wants to read the news about what the people they know for miles around are doing.

The "Home Town Paper" is a complete history every year of you and your neighbors. It tells of the comings and goings, the births and the marriages, the joys and the sorrows—all the events that go to make up community life.

As for history, the average "Home Town Paper" contains at least ten thousand names in the fifty-two weeks of any year. Just reflect a bit and realize what that means. If you sat down and read a voluminous history of the whole world from the birth of you would hardly find that many names in it. And yet the "Home Town Paper" makes a regular yearly custom of printing names and sometimes twice that number.

The "Home Town Paper" is a sedative, a tonic to the nerves, work with hand or brain, an entertainment for son and your daughter. It is a West, the "Home Town Paper" is the one that brings the greatest joy to the household, for it lives and breathes the same spirit of its readers. Sensationalism is avoided, for the "Home Town Paper" is mainly interested in chronicling the events transpiring in the realm that it serves rather in playing up all the sordid happenings of the universe. The "Home Town Paper," in other words, is distinctively a paper for the home—and it is one that always has the best interests of the community at heart.

November 7 to November 16 has been set aside as "Home Town Paper Week" and this newspaper, together with thousands of other weeklies in the United States, will participate in the movement. The main objects of the campaign will be to interest the many native sons of the county who have left their native hearth for other parts, to subscribe to their "Home Town Paper" in order that they may keep in closer touch with what is going on back at home and also to emphasize the important place that the weekly newspaper occupies in relation to the life of the community it serves.

To the Editor:

I am taking the liberty to write a few thoughts and facts, as I observe them, of certain conditions, general and local; believing that publicity is the most effective method of correcting wrong or evil conditions.

There are a number of expressions or words we have heard used during and since the late war. Some of them bring out the best thought and feeling, others the reverse. We will take three of them and see how they have been worked overtime and the results.

First—The word, PROFITEER: We all will admit that the profiteer is a detriment and menace to the Government, State and the community. Some have advocated in the Congress and public rostrum hanging them to lamp posts like has been done in the past to a horse thief. While, I will not say just what should be done with them, I am sure of one thing, something that must be done or we will all be Bolsheviks.

Second—The word BOLSHIEVICS, has been used by certain interests to awaken a feeling of hate and animosity against those who dared protest against the unjust conditions in some of our laws, rulings of courts, administration of laws by officials of the various states, the Government and the large industries; both in this country as well as in Europe. We have a beautiful example of how the interests are fighting the Federated Council of Churches, over a report they published after a thorough investigation of industrial conditions in the steel industry and how these same interests are calling the heads of our churches and those who dare speak the truth from the pulpit, BOLSHIEVICS. I am of the opinion the Boston Tea Party, those who dared to protest against taxation without representation, were all Bolsheviks in the opinion of the Tories. Patrick Henry was a rank Bolshevik when he said: "Give me Liberty, or give me Death!" The same could be said of Thomas Jefferson, who had radical views on the French Revolution, when he was invited by Washington to become Secretary of State. Jefferson believed that Hamilton was the leader of a secret movement to disrupt the Union. Jefferson became the leader of the Republican, or Anti-Federalist party (later the Democratic party). In 1792, Jefferson would be called a radical or socialist.

The University of Virginia, a living monument to Jefferson, is largely governed by the students, and is called the most democratic of our universities.

In Jefferson's inaugural address (the first inaugural address), which was very short compared to those of recent years, we find these words: Economy in the public expense; that labor may be lightly burdened. Is that the present attitude of the present congress, or has it been for a number of years? But, on the other hand where large interests were concerned, such as railroad legislation of recent months; and now oil companies, steel companies, meat packers, etc., they have secured all they want. I contend the present conditions are making Bolsheviks of our people every day, as I understand the word Bolshevik, not as the press (or special interests) which own and control the press, wish to believe.

Next, the word NORMALLY used by Mr. Harding so much during his campaign. The meaning as I understand it is to get back to pre-war times. I contend that unfair to labor to expect the working man to reduce his earnings, without a corresponding reduction of the things that he has to have, to exist, (not live). The working men of the various trades here had to reduce their wages, as well as other kinds of labor, from common laborer up; the railroad employees been cut from 8% to 20%.

Has the Gas Co., Electric Co., Water Co., Newspaper Co., Railroad Co., Coal Co., and a number of other companies that enter into our daily expense account cut their prices or rates? Do you know of any landlord that has reduced his rent? On the other hand, I know of some that have raised the rent. I am familiar with a number of cases. One case, the Brick Row at Delmar, owned by a gentleman in Salisbury, Md., the rent being about three times as much today as when these houses were built. I was told by a merchant that his ground rent had been increased 100 per cent during the last year.

While it is true that certain commodities have been reduced the government statistics do not show a material reduction in the necessities of life. A country in South America recently passed a law that no man could charge more for rental of house, than was charged during 1920. A suit of clothes selling for $38.00 at present, could have been purchased during 1916 for $20.00. Shoes are costing 100% more than shoes as were sold during 1916. Other clothing has made practically the same advance, all the way from 50% to 100%, since 1916. Overclothes, gloves, caps, such as the outside laboring man has to have, are costing at present 50% more than the same items cost during 1916. If a person will stop and compare the present prices with those of 1916, he will readily see that some one is profiteering. Another article used by the laboring man as well as by the captains of industry, is tobacco, of various kinds. It is true as some economists have advocated, the working man could, and would be better off without it, but I for one say the man that labors with his muscles has as much right to enjoy his pipe as the head of our large industries, has his cigar.

The press, and those they represent together with the hired speakers, and writers are continually crying "Labor must be cut before we can return to normalcy." Stop and think if labor was getting anything like a fair return for its labors previous to the war, and each person has to bear a proportion of the increase in taxes or expense of the government (not saying anything about what the profiteer takes), how can you expect to reduce labor to pre-war times.

I contend that if we wish our country to prosper, our people must be happy and contented and I contend that we can't be happy and contented when we know our loved ones are not properly clothed and fed, and we see the children of the heads of some industries spending money by the thousands, or we see some railroad official or his family traveling with a special train, or we see a number of posters, and we (the PUBLIC) paying the bill by increasing our taxes, and it is a wonder to me that we do not have more Bolsheviks than we have.

As I see it we must and will get back to Normalcy, not as Mr. Harding and others would like, but when we put into office good and honest men, men who without fear or favor, will be for such legislation as is for the common good, and oppose all legislation that is in the interest of special privileges.

We hear and see in the press today, a great amount of publicity about the repeal of the excess profit (profiteer) tax, and the adoption of the sales tax instead. Another method to make the working man pay the increase and give the capital of industry more profit. And still we the working people are asked to be satisfied and trust those in authority and we will get back to Normalcy. I would like to ask if you have ever given a thought to the number of millionaires we have in our senate (house of Lords) and do you think it possible for a man of wealth to be for any legislation that means giving anything from himself and giving to his employees, or the common people, (working man).

We, in Delaware, have just had an example of the kind of men we have elected to make and administer our laws. Talk about corrupting the ballot box with money, Adair and Newberry had nothing on our present officials. A republican governor appointing a democratic U. S. Senator to become Chancellor, the highest judicial office, in our state, that he, the governor, can pay a political debt, and appoint a multi-millionaire, a duPont to the U. S. Senate, (House of Lords) to represent you? All the people, or himself, and the interests he represents. Just think a man who would entertain for a moment such a proposition, to be at the head of our courts, to interpret and administer justice.

And still we are asked to be patient, and have confidence in our officials that we can get back to normalcy. The remedy as I see it, is each person to apply the Golden Rule to their industrial life and in that way we will have no profiteer, thereby eradicating the Bolshevik, and get back to Normalcy.

We will each be happier because our fellowmen are happy, our country will prosper and grow in wealth. If we will take another expression "Doing your bit," used during the war, and practice it, we might not be able to secure Utopia conditions, but we can get as near it as possible on this earth.

Believing and trusting that right will prevail over wrong eventually.

Rotarians To Help Install Easton Club

ter Sheppard and Oscar Morris, who told about the recent conference of Rotary executives in Baltimore.

One of the big hits of last Thursday night's meeting was the answering of questions propounded regarding Rotary organizations. All of the questions dealt with were on Rotary subjects, and the various replies were most interesting and enlightening. When asked "What are the duties of a Rotarian?" the following reply was given by Mr. George R. Cobb: "To attend meetings regularly, to pay my dues promptly, to do my part when called upon, to be a big hearted, broad-minded man—a man of energy and action—a real man—a Rotarian."

The next meeting of the Rotary Club will be devoted to Boy's Work, and will be in charge of the Boy's Work Committee, of which Mr. Oscar T. Morris is chairman.

News From Our County Correspondents

"God's Acre"—How few of our people have made any plans about the place of burial of their dead. The old time ways, in this community, of burying loved ones on the plot of ground on the farm, ought to be a thing of the past. In many instances these farms have gone out of the hands of any of the descendants of the family, and they either grow up in bushes or are plowed over by people who never even knew the persons buried there. To my mind, it is horrible to bury under any such conditions. Here in Mardeela Springs, we have a beautiful cemetery, named "Barren Creek Springs Cemetery." In the name "Barren"—I think that they have made an historic mistake, for if the oldest resident who lived in this section some fifteen years ago, informed this writer correctly, it is spelled "Barren" and not "Barren", after the English Baron for whom it was named. We object to the name Barren, for this means waste and this is not a waste country. The grounds are ample, at least for the present. The entrance is not at all inviting; it looks more like an entrance to a common cemetery. People would be more eager to buy lots if there was at the entrance a nice gateway or arch with the name of the cemetery on it. This would keep out all stragglers. The trustees of the school, which is the adjoining property, should remove to another place the little old buildings on the school property, for these are an eyesore and greatly mar the beauty of this City of the Dead. In scanning over the grave-stones, we note the following names among the many prominent citizens who are buried here: Thomas B. Taylor, Lambert H. Cooper, James B. Armstrong, Wm. G. Masters, M. D., Samuel E. Bennett, Train A. Bounds, George T. Robertson, Rev. J. S. Eaton, Steven A. Callaway, Josiah S. Taylor, John T. Wilson, Lewis N. Wilson, M. D., Levin M. Wilson, Mrs. Eunice Elderderice and Mrs. Susan A. Bratton. The cemetery was started and the company was organized in the year 1885. The above is intended as a part of the history of Mardeela Springs.

A one cent a mile rate, good in Pullmans over all roads in the territory from the Atlantic to the Mississippi river and from the southern boundary of the New England states to the Ohio, has been granted for delegates and visitors to the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2, according to announcement made by W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and member of the Legion's national executive committee. The rate has been made by the Trunk Line Association of roads.

Railroads touching practically every part of the United States now have granted the reduced fare to the Legion men and women, and the largest gathering of service persons since demobilization of the American Army three years ago will greet Marshal Foch and other war leaders at the convention. Preparations are being made to house 10,000 men and women at Kansas City, reports from there show.

The Pershing estate in Tangipahoa Parish, La., owned jointly by heirs of John J. Pershing, father of the general of the armies, has been advertised for sale for taxes, according to a letter sent the general by the editor of an American Legion magazine published in Amite, La. The editor posted sufficient funds with the parish sheriff to prevent the sale and requested General Pershing to make the estate available for colonization by his comrades who are being rehabilitated, after war wounds, for agricultural pursuits. The Pershing tract contains 100 acres of the parish's best land.

The number of civilian employees in the Panama Canal zone has been reduced 40 percent since March 4, 1921 and more than 700 former soldiers will be forced out of employment if there is not a let-up, an appeal from the canal zone to the American Legion's representatives in Washington declares. Two army officers and three civilians appointed by Secretary of War Weeks recommended the sweeping reductions in personnel.

Milady's fashionable corsage bouquet may have started life as a handful of ragweed, for disabled soldiers in Kansas City hospitals are doing a thriving business in making artificial and lifelike posies out of ordinary weeds. War Mothers of the city are teaching the wounded men to color the weeds with dyes and the American Legion is helping them place the flowers with florists and gift shops.

For the return of a tattered old army rain-coat almost worth its weight in gold because of sentiment attached to it, liberal rewards have been posted by American Legion service men of Toledo, O. The cape, property of Rev. H. F. MacLane, chaplain of an infantry regiment in France was used by him to cover the faces of dead soldiers lying in the Flanders mud and rain while their graves were being dug. It had been torn in many encounters with barbed wire while the chaplain followed his troops, but an undiscriminating thief stole it from the minister's automobile.

Out of work, arrested on a charge of vagrancy and placed in a convict gang at Glenn Springs, N. J., Thomas M. Keelan, world war veteran, was flogged to death by his guards, according to the American Legion post of Spartansburg, S. C., near the scene of the outrage. A federal investigation has been demanded and two men are being held.

The body of the unknown American soldier to be brought home from France by General Pershing probably will be selected from the Argonne cemetery at Romagne, where most of the unidentified dead were interred following the fighting in the forest tangles, according to information to the American Legion shortly before the general sailed. But two per cent of the war's dead yet remain in France.

With more than 600 former soldiers sailors and marines applying daily for any kind of employment, the American Legion's service bureau, in Chicago, announces it has reached a record in supplying 30 jobs a day and pleads for manufacturers, business men and professional men and even housewives and sportsmen to provide the remaining 600.

Twenty-five strapping young veterans, several of them overseas men cited for valor on France's battlefields, were placed as caddies at a Park Ridge golf tournament, luckily receiving however, the Legion Bureau of success, a higher wage than that paid followers of the dotted line. The veterans have been sent to the tournament and housewives are being urged to try the ex-kits.

OUR NEWEST SENATOR

This is Holm C. Bursam, Republican, who has just been elected to the U. S. Senate from New Mexico.

When police's skill at scrubbing, cooking and housecleaning. A similar service bureau is working at Springfield. The Illinois department of the Legion soon will open an old hotel in the "loop" district where lodging, food and clothing will be given the jobless young men. With the public responding to the cry to "Say it with a Job," conditions among unemployed service men is improving daily and is much better than that which obtains in the East.

A careful estimate of the tomato pack on the Maryland-Delaware Peninsula this season places it at 800,000 cases, compared with 3,000,000 cases last year, which was a short year, the pack in normal times having reached 7,500,000 cases. The pack of peas numbered 533,000 cases, compared with 690,000 cases last year. Read this. Mrs. Wm. E. Wells, 410 Martin St., Salisbury, says: "I was feeling badly for some time before using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was in a very weak condition and everything I did was a burden to me. Rheumatic pains would shoot through my shoulders causing me a great deal of pain. My head ached nearly all the time and I had constant dizzy spells. I tried different remedies, but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. Before using one box of Doan's I was much better and they entirely relieved the trouble. I have had no return of it and gladly recommend Doan's." Mrs. Wells gave the above statement January 25, 1919, and on January 8, 1921, she added: "I still recommend Doan's after what they did for me. If I have the least symptom of kidney complaint a short use of Doan's is sure to give me quick relief." 60c at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

What Clothes Does Your Family Need?

You Save 50c to $10 on Materials Alone for Deltor-Made Dresses

3238—White crepe, black crepe, rows of tucks, rows of black braid! If you were French, you might have side panels of scarlet Georgette crepe. But being American, you'll probably make the entire dress of navy blue twill, tricotine, serge, or homespun; of black satin, crepe meteor or crepe de Chine or of warm brown taffeta!

3259—To be Canton crepe and serge and simplest of the simplest! Notice the bell sleeves, longer than heretofore, the fuller but still straight lines and the apron, smart touches all! A model that would also be practical in charmeuse, satin or ratine and in combinations of plaided and plain materials.

HAVE you gone over the family wardrobe? Every one needs so many clothes this time of year.

With our Piece-Goods counters so alluring with their wealth of challis, cashmere, flannel and prints for the children's clothes and with velvet brocade, satin, serge, twill, velours and duvetyn for you to revel in, it would be hard to have to deny any member of the family all the clothes desired.

And the styles are so tempting, too. Little tots may dress like the children in picture-books, while their big sisters and mothers may assume the classic dignity of the fashionable long, slim lines. The clothes shown on this page and a myriad of other Butterick styles are authentic illustrations of this new mode.

In addition to their smartness and authenticity, the new Butterick Patterns bring with them a wonderful new invention patented all over the world—a picture guide to dressmaking—the Deltor. The Deltor saves you 50c to $10 on every frock you make. The Deltor saves time. The Deltor assures perfect results whether you are making a little suit for sonny or an evening gown for yourself. In one, the Deltor combines—

First • It saves $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ yard of material—50c to \$10.00—because of its professional, individual layout charts.

Next • It guides you in putting your garment together so that you attain the elusive fit, drape and finish of an expert.

And Last • It gives you Paris's own touch in finish—those all-important things upon which the success of your gown depends.

BUT—come in this week and see this wonderful invention demonstrated by an expert instructor from New York. She will show you every little detail, every tiny touch that gives a garment individuality, in the clever hands of a Parisian Modiste—imparted to you by instructions that the least skilled of needlewomen can follow—and achieve the unmistakable effect of Paris.

cautious and careful in driving. All returned home at 12:30 feeling they had had a real good time and wishing to have it repeated in this community. Rally Day service was held in the Methodist Protestant Church on Sunday afternoon to bring together the membership of the Sunday School. Two hundred and three were present. Miss McCabe had five boys play the violin. There were members of her violin class and did remarkably well. Rev. R. L. Shipley, of Salisbury, was the orator of the day and made a splendid address which was well received.

On Sunday night at the session of the Epworth League, Floyd Bennett, who was delegate to the Salisbury district convention which was held on Tangier last week, made his report. One of the important things he did was to have Mrs. Wm. E. Hastings of this town made third vice-president of the district. Hastings is a member of the district and while the place is not easily accessible, at least on this occasion, the hospitality was great. Rev. W. F. Godwin, pastor of the M. E. Church on the Island, informed Mr. Bennett that he was converted under the influence of Dr. O. A. Zimmerman, of Philadelphia. Dr. Zimmerman is a Sunday School superintendent of a large M. E. Sunday School in Philadelphia and is son-in-law of Mrs. B. P. Gravenor of this town and his annual visits here mean a treat to the M. E. Sunday School here. The next convention will be held at Cape Charles.

The remains of Private Ralph E. Windsor, who was killed in the World War, on October 1, 1918, in France, by the bursting of a shrapnel shell, were brought here for interment. He was last seen alive by Gorman Mann, who saw him being carried from the battle field in a dying condition. Private Windsor was a member of Company "C" 312 Machine Gun Battalion, 79th Division, and was 23 years of age when killed. He leaves a father, Hiram Windsor, one brother and two sisters. His mother has died since her son was killed. Private Windsor was given a military burial on Wednesday afternoon, after funeral services were held in the M. E. Church, of which he was a member, by Rev. H. S. Dulaney. About thirty members of the American Legion came over from Salisbury and took charge of the burial with Lieutenant Ralph Dulaney, Post Commander, Capt. Eldridge, acting chaplain and Lieut. Dewey Morris in charge of the firing squad and of the military tactics at the grave. After the reading of the very impressive burial ceremony, a triple salute was given, which was followed by the bugler, Mr. Walter A. Willing, mournfully sounding "Taps." The large American flag in which the casket was wrapped was taken off and presented to the father by the Legion. Private Windsor was a member of the Knights of Pythias and of the American Men, and these fraternal societies attended in a body and wore their badges of mourning.

How you, too, can cut down on your coal this year

Over a million families will by using the Perfection

Perfection Oil Heaters will be more economical than ever this year—Aladdin Security Oil costs but a trifle more than half what it did a year ago.

It's wasteful to "rush" your heater to make two or three rooms comfortable. The economical way is to warm the house all over with your coal heater and then keep those rooms you use most comfortable and cozy with the additional heat of a Perfection.

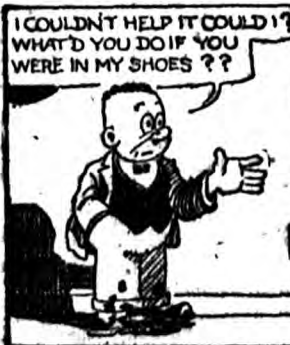

The Perfection Oil Heater is simplicity itself—no trouble to take care of it—and it burns for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Most hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell Perfection Oil Heaters—blue or black, with nickle-plated trimmings if you like.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Community Fair and Poultry Show November 16, 17 and 18, at the Armory. Entry blanks and Premium Lists for the Poultry Show will be issued soon. Lists of entries will include singles, pairs and pens of all breeds. Trios will probably not be entered as many of the large shows are eliminating this class.

Sweet potatoes grown on red clay land and kept from October 1920 until October 4, 1921 is the record made by Wm. Gillis and J. M. Inley of Quantico. The potatoes were grown on some red clay land belonging to Mr. Gillis and stored in "Jay" Inley's potato house. One instance where sweet potatoes grown on heavy land were kept all right.

We are waiting to hear of someone who has beaten Chas. Gordy's record yield of 623 hampers of sweet potatoes on 1 3/4 acres or an average of 356 hampers per acre. This year has been too dry for any records but we are not convinced yet that some one won't bob up with a high yield.

The members of the Boys Pure-Bred Pig Club have some nice Duroc pigs for sale. These pigs are from registered stock and from the best strains of Duroc blood in the whole country. We will take any orders for the boys as this is one of our co-operative plans aided by the banks of Salisbury. These pigs are good specimens and priced right.

Notice has reached us that on account of damage done by the sweet potato weevil, our friends in Virginia will need a large amount of seed for next year. Let us know what you will have to sell and we will get in touch with our colleagues in Virginia and see what kind of deal we can make.

Dr. H. C. Taylor, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, recently stated that if the farmer is to get a fair price for his products he must—
(1) Know the cost of producing such products.
(2) Know the market.
(3) Keep the selling problem clearly in mind when planning production.
(4) Learn to co-operate in buying and selling.

Not all clover seed was ruined by the dry spell as reports show that many fields are showing up well since the rain. Seed that was covered deeply seems to have suffered most. This seems contrary to what our opinion prevails that sweet potatoes grown with a high potash fertilizer have poor keeping qualities and we hope to learn something more definite this year. In most of our work we have found that a high potash fertilizer, 10 to 12 per cent, has given the best yields and now we are anxious to ascertain if the keeping quality is as good as those grown with a lower percentage of potash.

Storage makes sweet potatoes sweeter, if the chemists can be believed. At digging time the sugar content of sweet potatoes is about 2 per cent, while in January or February this content is increased to about 6 per cent.

In checking up the methods and yields of our cantaloupe growers we find that in practically every case the yields have been increased by the use of lime. Lack of lime does not seem to decrease the number of apples that set but does cut down the size and net so that the quality is inferior. Our plans call for definite work along this line next year as this seems important to us.

H. A. Nock has just returned from a business trip to Baltimore and other points. Messrs Mitchell and Stabler, irrigation experts from Washington, were with us last week. Chas. Wilkins and G. W. Baysinger made a trip to the celebrated lettuce section of New Jersey recently. H. W. Rickey, State Poultryman, will be with us next week. David Dallas was really working one day last week digging or scratching, sweet potatoes. So many of our farmers seedling clover, vetch, etc., that we can't publish the whole list. Joe Lowe is seedling vetch, Richard Wilson has sown his alfalfa, Raymond Parker is also seedling alfalfa. Wm. Cooper, Chas. Peters, John Smith, and others, are seedling wheat, vetch and oats this year for hay. W. S. Wheatley took a flying trip to Norfolk and points in western Maryland last week on business. Ray Daehliel will broadcast manure this year for 'lopes in preparation for alfalfa. Ike Wimbrow is getting a permanent pasture started for that good herd of his. W. F. Allen beat us bowling last week but we are out for revenge.

Poultry will not pay if the business is not studied and followed like any other line of business. A few friers and some eggs, does not prove that the hens are paying even if they are only fed on corn. It is not necessary to trap-nest in order to know which hens are laying, for the culling operation will come very close to letting you know which hens are merely boarders. It is very easy to let figures run away with us and we make ourselves believe that our hens are paying or if we had a great many more we could pay a substantial income tax next year. So-called "book farming" plus practical experience makes a pair that is hard to beat.

Jimmie Taylor is going to try out the keeping qualities of sweet potatoes grown with a high potash fertilizer and a low potash mixture. The

MRS. MARION BELL TO LECTURE ON "CLOTHING"

Will Speak At Meetings Scheduled Throughout County from October 13 to October 18.

Mrs. Marion Bell, District Agent for the Eastern Shore Counties will be in Salisbury from October 13 to 18.

At the meetings scheduled throughout the County Mrs. Bell will talk on a subject which is dear to the hearts of every woman, "Clothing", and with Miss Mullen, Home Demonstration Agent for Wicomico County, to assist, will show the ladies of Wicomico County how to make the Paper Dress Forms. This dress form has been in all the farm papers and magazines and is so inexpensive that every woman can have one.

We all know how hard it is to make dresses for the family where they are not on the spot to be fitted. With a paper dress form for each member of the family, a dress may be fitted when mother has gone to the movies or is visiting her neighbor, or a much needed dress can be made for daughter when she is at school. The dress can not help but fit because the dress form is an exact reproduction of the person on whom it was made.

A paper Dress Form costs less than one dollar and takes about one half an hour to make.

If you are interested, attend any of the meetings scheduled below.

The Mt. Herman Community League, Thursday, October 13, at 7:30 P. M.

Williams School, Friday, October 14, at 7:30 P. M.

The Wicomico Woman's Club, Tuesday, October 18, at 3 P. M.

There will be other meetings not yet scheduled.

Finds 124 Potato Bugs On One Plant

Mr. J. W. Eaham, of Kelleys, Also Said The Pests Destroyed Quarter Acre Within Two Days

Many Wicomico farmers who have planted acreages of Irish potatoes, have been having quite a little trouble lately with potato bugs, which have shown unusual activity. Mr. J. W. Eaham, of Kelleys, stated last week that the bugs ate the leaves from plants on a quarter of an acre of land, doing their work from Saturday evening to Monday morning, and that their "hunger" was the greatest he had ever encountered in all his farming experience.

After the bugs had made such heavy inroads, Mr. Eaham got busy with Paris Green and within a few days had the pests under control. However, he said that in order to show the extent of their activity, his boy counted the bugs on one plant, and the number totaled 124—a single plant.

SPARKS ELEPHANT BECOMES UNRULY AND IS KILLED

"Mut," one of the prize elephants belonging to the John Sparks shows, which exhibited here last week, became so unruly that it was put to death a few days ago.

The elephant, which was one of the largest and best trained animals of its kind in captivity, showed signs of going bad and the day before it was killed attacked its woman trainer, fracturing several ribs and otherwise injuring her.

To Gain a Good Reputation

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

Housing your automobile in the barn is as unwise as hoarding money in a sock.

If your barn catches fire, your car—an investment of a thousand dollars or more—will burn up with it.

If your car should catch fire, it will burn your barn and all of its contents.

To have an expensive, highly finished machine in a barn is bad business. The stable fumes will ruin the finish, eat the metal and rot the tires.

This garage has large windows on both sides and in the end and lights in the doors. It has a handy work bench where you can keep your tools and accessories and do little repairing jobs that will save you money.

NEWS SUBSCRIBER WRITES ABOUT EXPERIENCES IN SOUTH AMERICA

An interesting letter has been received by Mrs. C. L. Dickerson, 227 Camden Avenue, Salisbury, from Mr. Hugh L. Dickerson, who at present is in South America. Mr. Dickerson, who is a News subscriber, and who has his copy of the Wicomico News sent to him each week, is employed by Guggenheim Bros., and at the time the letter was written he was in Ecuador, Bolivia. His letter, which was written in July, follows:

Dear Folks:
Well, I have been up here two weeks now and have become pretty well acclimated, so will tell you about my trip. I left Chuqui, at 4 A. M. Sunday, two weeks ago, and arrived at La Paz the following afternoon at 3 o'clock. The train crosses one of the chains of the Andes at an altitude of nearly 14,000 feet, and then runs along a high level plain varying from 11,000 to 13,000 feet for two or three hundred miles.

La Paz, which means "the peace," is situated in a cup-like hollow, at an altitude of 12,000 feet, and is the highest capital in the world. The train reaches the alto, at 14,000 feet, and gradually descends to the bottom, winding round and round the sides. With the exception of the grand canyon of the Colorado, this is the most wonderful sight I have ever seen.

La Paz itself is the quaintest city in South America that I have so far visited. It has a population of about 100,000, fully half of which are Indians and Cholos, or half breeds. The dress of the natives is a sight to behold. The Cholo women all wear a white straw hat, like a man's, except its crown is higher, plain, without any trimming whatever, and usually with some black marks on one side of the crown to distinguish their caste. They are very proud of their caste, and think themselves far superior to the Indian. All of the women wear innumerable skirts, all of different colors, with a poncho across their back, with the inevitable baby in it.

The Indian men all have their trousers slit up the back about three or four inches from the bottom, which is a mark of humility on account of their being conquered by the Spaniards. The Indians, in this section of Bolivia, as well as in Peru, were Incas, which was the proudest and most advanced race of natives on the American continent, at the time of the conquest. The Spaniards speaking of a person when addressing another, unless it is one of his own family, or a very dear friend, always speaks in the third person, using Usted, which means Your Grace or Your Honor, but the Indian as another mark of humility always uses the second person, Tu—You.

The Indians are the most hardy race of people I have ever seen. They almost always go barefooted, even with snow up to their knees, and in La Paz, they are the regular beasts of burden. As the roads are so steep, carts and wagons can't be used, so they use llamas and burros for pack animals, as well as the Indians. I have seen the Indians with great stoves and beds on their backs, trotting along the streets as unconcerned as if they only had ten pounds on their backs, instead of two hundred. The llama looks like a small giraffe, and at a distance like an ostrich. It will carry 100 pounds and not one pound more, for it lays down if you try to put more than that on it. It grows a heavy wool which the Indians use, and is ideal for the mountain work.

I finished the work I have in La Paz on Tuesday, and came on down here the next day. This place is nothing but a little village of some 200 people, with 25 or 30 adobe houses, with thatched roofs. It is now the general office of this outfit, the mines being located some 180 kilometers back in the interior of the Andes. The company has built a cart road to the mines, which is no mean undertaking in itself, and all supplies and supplies have to be sent in that way; and sometimes when the passes are filled with snow, on mules.

The Chief Accountant, my assistant and I started for the mines in an auto Friday morning early, and reached one of the camps with the power station in time for lunch. However, it has started to snow and we couldn't go any further with the auto, and so had to take mules for the rest of the trip.

We started on mule back, about 1 P. M., gradually ascending the side of a mountain, and the snow got worse and worse, accompanied by a high wind, so that at times it was almost like a blizzard, and at times we could not see the mule ahead of us, and remember we were on a mountain trail, where a mis-step on the part of the mule, and we would have gone to the bottom from 1,500 to 2,500 feet below. We finally reached Pacuni, another camp at the foot of the pass that we must cross, just before dark, and after having tea, took fresh mules and started on over the worst part. The next 15 kilometers, it was not only snowing worse, but dark, and we simply hung the bridle reins over the horns of the saddle and trusted to the mule.

My mule stumbled several times, and once fell to his knees, on account of the snow filling his hoofs, and I forgot to tell you that a mule always walks about 12 or 15 inches from the edge of the trail, no matter how it may be, as he is accustomed to carrying heavy packs and always keeps away from the cliff, so as not to be pushed off by the pack.

We reached the summit of the pass, at an altitude of over 17,000, and then descended into the camp, arriving about 8 that night. When I got off, my coat was frozen stiff, and had to be pulled off me, and the snow falling on my cap, would melt from the heat of my head, and as it ran off would form an icicle. This will give you some idea of how cold it was, and remember we were still in the tropics, not so many hundred miles from the Equator.

We went to work just as soon as we finished dinner, and started the cash, and the next morning started back on our long hike on mules, but while it was still snowing, after getting across the pass, it was down grade, and we didn't mind it so much, but we couldn't use the car even from where we had left it, and had to keep on with the mules, until we reached a station about 4 that afternoon, where we could send a telegram for another car to come out to meet us. When we finally reached that point, I could scarcely get off my mule, let alone stand up, but we got back here that night about 8 P. M., all O. K.

It was an experience, that I was very glad to have had, being one that few Americans have ever had, that is crossing one of the highest passes of the Andes on mule back in the face of a blizzard and at night, but I don't care to repeat it.

We have just started in on the work and are making satisfactory progress. The company is not operating yet, but only getting the construction and development under way to begin operations, when market conditions better. This is a tin proposition, and is said to be very valuable. I didn't get to see the mines, but hope to get back up there again before I leave here. We have an 18 months period to cover, which I expect to finish by the last of September, or perhaps before. Helen is in Chuqui, but I have written her to come up here if she wants to. The accommodations are very scant, no running water, electric lights, etc., but this is the dry season, and it is very pleasant in the day time, but gets very cold as soon as the sun sets. I want her to see this country, but I haven't heard whether she is coming or not.

Well this is a pretty long letter, so will stop now, as I have some others to write. I haven't been bothered much with the altitude, except for headaches and being unable to sleep for the first few days, but I am all right now.

HUGH L. DICKERSON.

Specific appropriations totalling $96,000 are made for Baltimore City, and Salisbury is second with a specific appropriation of $16,325. The remainder is in smaller amounts and will cover the immediate needs of the Company's growth.

The work at Salisbury is for relief of the long distance and toll

A study by engineers of the Company showed that to take care of the estimated increase, it would be necessary to increase the toll switchboard facilities from six to nine positions, and that this would suffice until 1925. A general rearrangement of other central office equipment is also necessary, however, in order that the greatest efficiency can be obtained.

CHAPTER XVIII

The Murder Madman

I knew what we were up against when we headed down to the railroad lay-out, the chief and I, leaving the good old major, thoughtfully puffing his cigar in the club smoking-room. With a strike due to be pulled off in a little more than three hours there were about a million things that would have to be jerked around into shape and propped up so that they could stand by themselves while the Shore Line was taking a vacation. And there was only a little handful of us in the headquarters to do the jerking and propping.

It was precisely in a crisis like this that the boss could shine. From the minute we hit the tremendous job he was all there, carrying the whole map of the Short Line in his head, thinking straight from the shoulder, and never missing a tick; and I don't believe anybody would ever have suspected that he was a beaten man, pushed to the ropes in the final round with the crafters, his reputation as a successful railroad manager as good as gone, and his warm little love-dream knocked sky-winding forever and a day.

Luckily, we found Fred May still at his desk, and he was promptly clamped to the telephone and told to get busy spreading the hurry call. In half an hour every relief operator we had in Port City was in the wire-room, and the back-breaking job of preparing a thousand miles of railroad for a sudden tie-up was in full swing. Mr. Perkins, as division superintendent, was in touch with the local labor leaders. Persuading and insisting by turns, Mr. Norcross fought out the necessary compromises with the unions. All ordinary traffic would be suspended at midnight, but passenger trains en route were to be run through to our connecting line terminals east and west, live stock trains were to be held out only where there were feeding corrals, and perishable freight was to be taken to its destination wherever that might be.

The strikers agreed to allow the mail trains to run without interruption, with our promise that they would not carry passengers. Hoskins and his committee bucked a little at this, but got down when they were shown that they could not afford to risk a clash with the Government. This exception, admitted, another followed, as a matter of course. If the mail trains were to be run, some of the telegraph operators would have to remain on duty, at least to the extent of handling train orders.

With these generalities out of the way, we got down to details. "Fire-alarm" wires were sent to the various cities and towns on the lines asking for immediate information regarding food and fuel supplies, and the strike leaders were notified that, for sheer humanity's sake, they would have to permit the handling of provision trains in cases where they were absolutely needed.

By eleven o'clock the tangle was getting itself pretty well straightened out. Some of the trains had already been abandoned, and the others were moving along to the agreed-upon destinations. Kirgan had taken hold in the Port City yard, and by putting on extra crews was getting the needful shifting and car sorting into shape, and the Port City employees, acting upon their own initiative, were picketing the yard and company buildings to protect them from looters or fire-setters. Mr. Van Britt's special, so the wires told us, was at Lesterburg, and it was likely to stay there; and Mr. Van Britt, himself, couldn't be reached.

It was at half-past eleven that we got the first real yelp from somebody who was getting pinched. It came in the shape of a wire from the Strathcona night operator. A party of men—"mine owners" the operator called them—had just heard of the impending railroad tie-up. They had been meaning to come in on the regular night train, but that had been abandoned. So now they were offering all kinds of money for a special to bring them to Port City. It was represented that there were millions at stake. Couldn't we do something?

Mr. Norcross had kept Hoskins and a few of the other local strike leaders where he could get hold of them, and he put the request up to them as a matter that was now out of his hands. Would they allow him to run a one-car special from the gold camp to Port City after midnight? It was for them to say.

Hoskins and his accomplices went off to talk it over with some of the other men. When the big freight conductor came back he was alone and was grinning good-naturedly.

"We ain't aimin' to make the company lose any good money that comes a-rollin' down the hill at it, Mister Norcross," he said. "Cinch these here Strathcona hurry-boys fr all you can get out o' them, and if you'll lend us the loan of the wires, we'll pass the word to let the special come on through."

A Blunt, Brutal Demand.

It was sure the funnest strike I ever saw or heard of, and I guess the boss thought so, too—with all this good-natured bargaining back and forth; but there was nothing more said, and I carried the word to Mr. Perkins, directing him to have arrangements made for the running of a one-car special from Strathcona for the hurry folks.

Past that, things rocked along until the hands of the big standard-time clock in the dispatcher's room pointed to midnight. Norrk, who was holding down the commercial wire, came over to the counter railing just then with a New York message. I saw the boss' eyes flash and the little bunched muscle-swellings of anger come and go on the edge of his jaw as he read it, and then he handed it to me.

"You may indorse that 'No Answer' and file it when you go back to the office," he said shortly, and then he went on talking to Donohue, telling him how to handle the trains which were still out and moving to their tie-up destinations.

Of course, I read the message; I knew there was nothing private about it so far as I was concerned, since it had been given me to put away in the files. This is what I read:

"To G. Norcross, G. M.

"Port City.

"Your administration has been a conspicuous failure from the beginning. Compromise with employees on any terms offered and prevent strikes at all costs. That done, you are hereby directed to wire your resignation to take effect one week from today.

"B. Danton, President."

It had hit us at last; not a decent request, mind you, but a blunt, brutal demand. The boss was fired. No word had come from Mr. Chadwick, and there could be but one reason for his silence. In some way, perhaps through the late boosting of the stock, the New Yorkers had squeezed him out. We were shot dead in the trenches.

I didn't understand how the chief could take it so quietly, unless it was because he had been hammered so long and so hard that nothing mattered any more. Anyone, he was just standing there, talking soberly to Donohue, when once more the Strathcona branch scounders began to click furiously, snipping out the headquarters call.

Donohue cut in, and we all heard the Strathcona man's new blast. The way he told it, it seemed that one member of the party that had chartered the special to come to Port City had got left, and this man was now in the Strathcona wire office, bidding high for an engine to chase the train and put him aboard.

At first the boss said, "No," short off, just like that; adding that it wouldn't be keeping faith with the strike committee. But at that moment Hoskins blew in again, and when he was told what was on the cards, he took a little responsibility of his own.

"Go to it, Mister Norcross, if there's any more money in it fr the railroad," he told the boss. "I'll stand fr it with the boys." And then to Donohue: "Who'll be runnin' this chaser engine?"

The question has been asked: Is what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. The Source of Motor Trouble is not Always Under the Hood

YOU do not look into your gasoline tank to find the cause of engine troubles, but you might find it there.

Automobile motors require a good, steady diet of balanced gasoline. If the distilled product varies because of changing qualities of the crude oil from which it is refined, your gasoline is one-sided. Every oil field produces petroleum rich in certain properties, but lacking in others.

The Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) has eliminated numerous motor troubles and much gasoline wastage by developing a motor fuel which is not only properly balanced, but is the same day after day—to the last ounce—wherever and whenever you buy it. It starts the motor in a hurry, burns up cleanly, and delivers exceptional pulling power.

We have never claimed merits for our products which you could not prove for yourself. We recommend that you get a tankful of "Standard" Motor Gasoline and give it a thorough trial. You will quickly note the advantages of a completely balanced gasoline.

THE USUAL AND UNUSUAL IN NEW DRESS ACCESSORIES

ALL students of the autumn modes agree in reporting them as featuring little that is strikingly novel, but they make up for this by the great variety in which accepted styles are developed.

Beginning with neckwear, among accessories, there are new developments in usual styles and a few unusual novelties. Vestees with cuffs to match, made of gay peasant embroideries, small three-cornered fichus of chiffon, finished with a narrow band or a fringe of fur, and scarfs that are an extension of the hat drapery are novel. The vestees with cuffs to match are promising for they provide touches of vivid color to dark street dresses.

Two popular neck pieces appear in the picture, to be worn with suit coats or tuxedos. These two styles have several variations. The ruffled collar is made of net and has a line of hem-stitching by way of adornment, as well as pointed collars at its edge. Plain and embroidered swiss organdie with fine val insertion and edging make the handsome collar and vestee piece at the right.

Along with other Spanish modes, come fancy combs for the hair. For evening, combs decked out with flowers or feathers foretell the return of coiffure decorations and other varieties in combs ought to be welcome for daytime wear—certainly some variation in hair-dressing styles is overdue. With the revival of combs, fans grow in importance; they have always borne each other company. Many novelties in them have been added to the assortments that attest to a reawakened interest in these lovely accessories.

POTASH PRICES ADVANCED

According to a report received by the Department of Commerce from Consul-General Wm. Coffin at Berlin, the German Potash Syndicate has agreed to increase the prices of potash by an average of 35 per cent. The report stated, that reckoned on the basis of the new prices and of the figure of 700,000 tons previous sales, the revenue yield will be 1,270,000,000 marks as compared with that of 900,000,000 marks, as formerly.

For many years there has been a real need for a dependable, efficient, two-wheeled motor vehicle that would be suitable for all people—business men, women, boys and girls—every one.

The BRIGGS-STRAITTON MOTOR SCOOTER completely meets this need. It is dependable, simple and efficient in operation—economical, convenient, powerful, clean and safe. It is recognized by automotive engineering experts as the first universally practical motor vehicle on two wheels.

OVER THREE BILLIONS IN NOTES OUTSTANDING

U. S. Treasury Has Issued $3,028,653,700 Certificates and 3-Year Notes—All Selling At Premium.

At the present time the United States Government has short-term notes and certificates of indebtedness outstanding amounting to $3,028,653,700. Of this total $1,264,903,800 were sold in the New York Federal Reserve District.

Two issues of certificates of indebtedness will mature on October 15. They are so-called loan certificates. The total due at that time is $382,538,000, of which $151,110,000 were taken by New York. One issue amounts to $192,026,500, bearing interest at 5 1/2%, while the other totals $190,511,500, bearing 5 1/4%.

The last block of Government certificates that will mature this year fall due December 15, when the final payment is to be made on account of 1920 taxes. A total of $401,557,500 6% certificates were sold of that maturity with $173,291,000 being taken in New York.

The Secretary of the Treasury has thus far sold two issues of short-term notes. One issue of 5 1/4% three-year notes will be payable June 15, 1924. A total of $311,191,000 were sold throughout the country, while New York was allotted $157,225,200.

Early this month Secretary Mellon offered another block of three-year Treasury notes, dated September 15, and maturing September 15, 1924. Allotments to this issue totaled $390,706,100 of which New York received $146,615,100. These notes bear 5 1/4%.

The last few issues of the Government have met with unusual response from both banks and investors. Certificate and note offerings alike were heavily oversubscribed, indicating the surplus funds available for liquid, short time investment. All issues are now selling at a slight premium in the market.

The urgent demand for this class of paper is seen in the total subscriptions to the last issues offered by Secretary Mellon. While the Secretary asked for about $600,000,000 total subscriptions amounted to $1,587,838,900. Allotments totaled $698,149,100.

Following is a table of the certificates of indebtedness and short-term Government notes outstanding, together with interest rates and maturity dates:

$192,026,500	Oct. 15	5 1/2%

RISE IN BOND PRICES ENCOURAGING TO INVESTORS

There has been a steady and consistent rise in bond prices during the past month, which has carried the average price of general list of corporation bonds up 1.20 points. This represents a gain of 3.20 points in the past year.

Not only has the general list of bonds shown strength, but the large amount of new issues of foreign securities offered in this country during the past year are now selling above the original prices in a free market, thus indicating a thorough absorption. Then, too, the vast amount of industrial and railroad securities put out during the past year has nearly all been digested by the investing public and institutions. In many instances a substantial premium is being paid for recent issues.

AMERICAN SHOES ARE PREFERRED BY EUROPEANS

American shoes still dominate the better class trade in Europe, despite heavy duties and unfavorable exchange, according to Theodore Seydel, a Belgian importer of footwear, who arrived on La Lorraine, of the French line. If exchange difficulties were rectified, there would be no limit to sales of American shoes, Mr. Seydel said.

England is making some good shoes with American lasts, Mr. Seydel declared, and elsewhere American machinery is extensively used.

SEES MOTOR CAR REVIVAL

Edward S. Jordan, president of Jordan Motor Co., believes that there will be a shortage of good motor cars before next March. Seasonal curtailment of production will take place during the coming winter, and this fact combined with the wearing out of a vast number of cars now in operation, will bring about the shortage, Mr. Jordan says. "The same thing is going to happen in the automobile industry as happened in tires, cotton, woollens and silks," he declares.

PRESS COMMENT

Summaries of American and foreign crop production compiled by Department of Agriculture, show world wheat crop, judging from indications September 30, will be 157,000,000 larger than in 1920, due to phenomenal heat accumulations and freak weather conditions over northern hemisphere. Fruit crop cut in half.

Debs' Strike Was Costly

CHICAGO—The riots of 1894 when Eugene V. Debs, now in Atlanta penitentiary, called his American Railway Union strike, have been wiped off the city's books with the payment of $180,000 damages to the Pennsylvania Railroad. The railroad obtained a verdict of $105,000 against the city in 1905 for damage to its property during the strike. The case was appealed and lost again by the city while the interest continued to mount until $180,000 was required to settle the verdict.

Emergency Occasions Arise—Call on Miss Knight for Aid

You can telegraph or telephone Harriet Knight, in care of Hochschild, Kohn & Co., and be sure that she will be interested in your shopping problems. She will do her utmost to obtain what you need and see that it is sent as quickly as possible.

For instance, some organdy ruffling to be hem-stitched was sent by a girl preparing her bridesmaid's costume. For some reason, the organdy was delayed in the mails. Miss Knight had the ruffling completed, and on its way, within twenty-four hours.

Another case was the result of the customer's not measuring carefully the length of Irish lace needed to trim the collar and cuffs of a dress. Miss Knight remembered the pattern of lace she had sent a few days previous, and sent the few additional inches required by special delivery immediately after her telephone call.

Miss Knight will do her best to obtain whatever you need and send it to you with all possible despatch, and will shop with you or for you.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 51 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York, City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

DEALING WITH THE ANGRY CHILD

By Jennie S. Clough

Of the many problems which confront a mother, one of the hardest is that of meeting in the wisest way the undesirable traits that appear in children. In dealing with these problems there are two great helps. First, a sense of humor. If the child comes down to breakfast sullen and bad-tempered, make some little joke, it helps to clarify the atmosphere, (I don't mean laugh at the child, that only adds fuel to the fire) but do some amusing thing, or tell a funny story and you will make the clouds vanish like magic. Parents who appreciate fun and who are the real companions of their little ones have the happiest and most affectionate children. But most important of all is grace. Grace is that lovely, loving spirit which, no matter how trying the children are, cannot be disturbed. We cannot have this of ourselves, it is the gift of God. He says, "My grace is sufficient for thee," so, when the children are noisy and naughty and our nerves seem just about in pieces, let us say this over and over mentally and we shall be surprised at the peace and quietness within ourselves that will follow.

Granted that we have sympathy and poise ourselves, we are in a fit condition to help our children to overcome their faults. Often children are cross and naughty because they are overtired, over-excited or hungry. We must be sure that their naughtiness does not come from some physical reason that we can help. If a child is in a bad temper the first thing to do is to quiet him. How? By being very quiet ourselves, but very firm, letting him see our strength and poise and then trying to find out what has stirred him. By our talking it over with him and letting him pour it out, his nerves will be freed and he will have an outlet for his passion. If he seems uncontrollable, and it is impossible to talk to him, put him by himself until he is more calm. While he is in a temper be careful not to leave him where he can break or destroy anything. Often his outburst is like a thunder storm, the thunder and lightning are tremendous while they last but are soon over. Then, just as soon as possible, divert the child, get him interested and busy about something.

A much harder type of child to deal with and one that tries our patience more, is the sullen child. He makes no outlet for himself like the angry child who vents his temper in screams and passionate talk. His bad temper works all on the inside. He broods over the trouble, distorting and enlarging it by dwelling upon it. He usually refuses comfort or sympathy and seems to enjoy shutting himself away from everyone. He is usually a sensitive child--shy, lacking confidence in himself, inclined to dwell upon himself too much. What can we do

Heartaches Of Woe

A Brooklyn woman writing to the New York American asks the question, "Who could be so inhuman as to oppose prohibition when this is all a barrel of whisky contains?"

A barrel of headaches, of heartaches, of woes,
A barrel of curses, a barrel of blows,
A barrel of sorrows, for children and wife,
A barrel of worries, a barrel of strife,
A barrel of deep, unavailing regret,
A barrel of cares, a barrel of debt,
A barrel of hunger, of poison, of pain,
A barrel of hopes all blasted in vain,
A barrel of poverty, ruin and blight,
A barrel of tears that run in the night,
A barrel of crime, a barrel of groans,
A barrel of orphans' most pitiful moans,
A barrel of serpents that hiss as they pass,
A glow from the beads in the head of the glass,
A barrel of falsehoods, a barrel of cries,
That fall from the maniac's lips as he dies.

with such a child? He won't talk the trouble out, like the high-tempered child, and it is unwise to put him by himself as you would the high-tempered child. Give him something to be busy about just as soon as possible. Work is even more necessary for him than for any other type of child, for we must get him out of himself. If possible, have him work where he will have the companionship of his brothers and sisters, or perhaps he can help you in what you are doing. Work is a blessing for most persons, but for no one more than for the child who is inclined to live his little life inside himself. This type of child is usually reserved and takes things hard but to the few people he loves he gives a wealth of affection and loyalty and usually he has a deep, strong nature which is sincere and true.

THE FARMERS' FORUM

A column devoted to the interests of the Farmers who read The News and to the interests of their families. Communications Will be Welcomed.

PROPERLY OPERATING A HOME-HEATING PLANT

Government Engineers Give some Valuable Pointers in Saving Coal in Rural Homes.

The average house owner burns too much coal, principally because he does not know how to regulate his heater, say engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 1194, "Operating a Home Heating Plant," published by the department. Many rural homes are now provided with furnaces and the publication was prepared as a guide to their efficient operation, particularly in getting the most heat out of the fuel used and in making the home as healthful as possible.

The satisfactory and efficient heating of homes, according to the bulletin, requires that the chimney flue be of the proper size and in the proper place, that the proper heating equipment be installed correctly, that the plant be understood thoroughly and operated so that it gives the most heat from the fuel consumed, that the house be constructed so that the heat is held in, that the air be kept moist, and that enough fresh air be admitted either continuously or from time to time to avoid the discomfort or unhealthy conditions due to accumulation of carbonic-acid gas. In selecting fuel, the bulletin suggests that different kinds and sizes of coal should be tried out.

The best and highest-priced heater improperly installed may give less satisfaction than the poorest and cheapest put in correctly, says the bulletin. For this reason a man known to understand his business should install the plant. In selecting the furnace, consult owners of homes who have had experience in operating furnaces of different types.

Practically all heating plants have four dampers. A draft damper in the door of the ash pit is opened to admit air through the fire, which causes it to burn rapidly. A check damper located in the smoke pipe is opened to admit cold air into the flue, thus interfering with the draft and retarding the burning of fuel in the heater. The damper located in the feed door is used for the same purpose. Through it cold air is admitted directly over the fire, and if opened wide it acts as a check. When regulated properly it admits just sufficient air to supplement that admitted through the draft damper and causes more perfect combustion of fuel. The smoke-pipe damper is located between the furnace and the check draft and can be used to control the draft above the fuel in windy weather or at night.

Ashes should not be permitted to accumulate in the ash pit as this retards the draft and the heat causes the grate bars to become warped and bent. As a rule it is not necessary to shake down the ashes more than once or twice a day except in very cold weather, and shaking should be stopped as soon as live sparks begin to fall into the ash pit. In mild weather coal can be saved by permitting an accumulation of ashes in the grate.

It is economy to seal the cracks about the doors and windows with weather strips, and where the weather is unusually cold storm sash is recommended. With a wind velocity of 15 miles an hour a crack of three-thirty-seconds of an inch, which is much less than the average for doors and windows, permits the passage of about 1-2 cubic feet of air a minute for every linear foot. An ordinary double sash window (36 inches wide ad 72 inches high) would thus admit 30 cubic feet of air a minute. In a room 10 feet wide by 20 feet long having two windows of this kind, there would be required approximately 80 per cent more heat units to heat it properly than if the entrance of the air was controlled and a complete change allowed once every hour.

In addition to maintaining a proper temperature, the moisture present in the air is a great factor in heating homes. The water pan in the furnace should always be kept filled, and other means provided for the evaporation of water in the living room. Not only are rooms in which the air has a high percentage of moisture more economically heated, but living conditions are more healthful. Copies of the bulletin may be had upon request of the Division of Publications, United States Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C.

SAVE ENOUGH OF YOUR CORN FOR EXTRA SEED

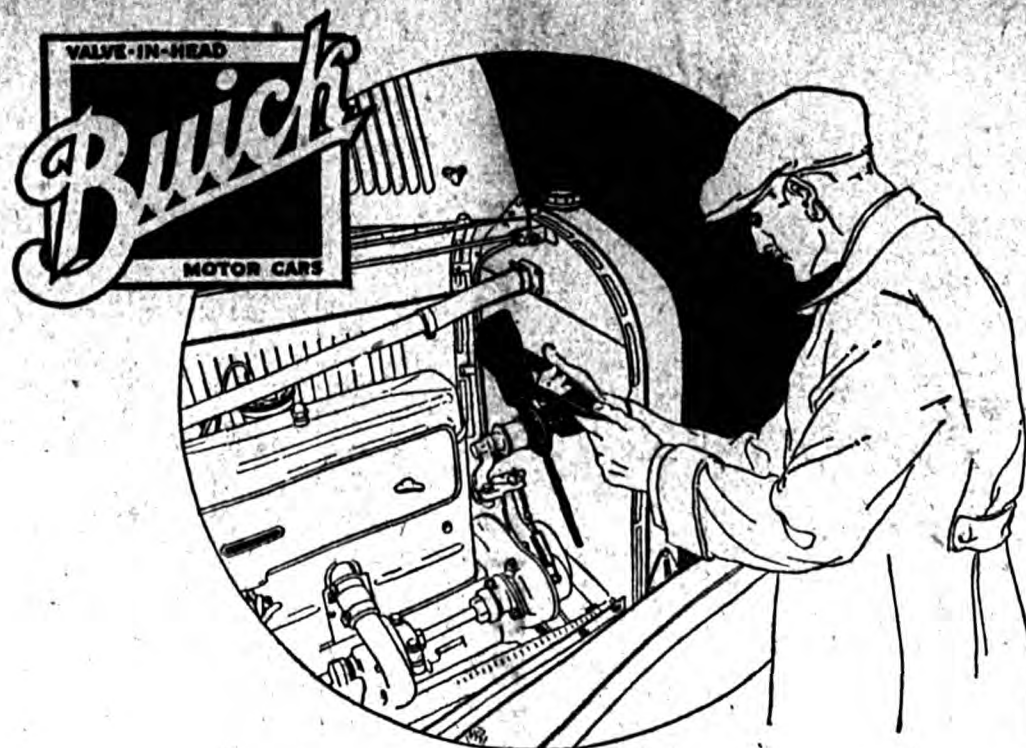

When corn is selected from the field for seed, the United States Department of Agriculture urges that enough seed be selected to serve for two or three years plantings. This is essential in the origination and perpetuation of high-yielding varieties adapted to local conditions. Seed corn that matures well and dries out promptly without injury will keep its good germinating and yielding power for four or five years. Often a bad season will prevent the selection of desirable corn for seed. But home-grown seed corn of the best quality can be always available by protecting a sufficient quantity from moisture and from insects and other animals.

How Buick Accessibility Saves Owners Time and Money

Buick cars are built so they can be operated with a minimum of expense. If a part needs attention it is easily accessible. For instance, adjusting or putting a new fan belt on a Buick is a job that is handled by the owner in a few minutes. Buick invites comparison.

WILL BUILD NEW $15,000 GARAGE W. CHURCH ST.

Mr. J. Waller Williams To Erect Structure With Capacity of 30 Private Garages.

WORK ON NEW BUILDING TO START IN 10 DAYS

New Garage, Which Will Be Located Within Short Distance Of City Hall Will Be Built Of Brick And Will Be Two Stories In Height—Stores Will Occupy Front of Building.

Announcement was made yesterday of the completion of plans for the construction of a new garage in Salisbury that will cost approximately $15,000 to build, and when completed, the structure will be one of the finest and most up-to-date garages in this section.

The new garage will be built by Mr. J. Waller Williams on the West Church street property adjoining the R. E. Powell & Company warehouse, a few feet distant from Mr. Williams' present large garage. At present this property is being used as a blacksmith shop, but work will start on the new building within about ten days. Mr. Williams purchased the property from Senator W. P. Jackson in February, 1919, with the object in view of using it for garage purposes at some future time.

Unlike other garages, the new one to be built by Mr. Williams will perform the function of a large private garage instead of one of a public character. The building will have capacity for the storage of 30 private cars, and each car owner renting his garage space will be entitled to a certain specified space in the garage at all times. He will know exactly in what part of the garage his car is to be parked, and he will have entire supervision over that same space during his rental period.

The new building will be 50 feet in width and 125 feet in depth and will be constructed of brick. The structure will be two stories in height and the front part of the garage building will be rented by Mr. Williams for stores. Ornamental brick will be used on the front of the building, and, altogether, it has been planned to make it one that will present a handsome appearance.

Mr. Williams' garage business has grown to such proportions that the construction of an annex to take care of the many private cars left in his care was deemed absolutely necessary. At the same time, it will give him ample room to take care of the private cars in a manner that many of the large cities have adopted, and owners of private cars who do not themselves possess a garage undoubtedly will welcome the innovation.

LARGE CROWDS ARE ATTENDING REVIVALS HERE

Capacity Throngs Have Greeted Evangelists Nightly At Armory Meetings.

FINE MUSIC ELICITS FAVORABLE COMMENT

Work Of Prof. Clase And Mr. and Mrs. Roberts Very Pleading—Dr. McCombe's Sermons Are Delighting His Large Audiences—Campaign Is Meeting With Success.

The opening services of the Evangelistic Campaign, which is being held under the auspices of Asbury E. Church at the First Regiment Armory, have met with unusual success. The Armory has been taxed to capacity and the McCombe-Clase Evangelistic Party which is conducting this campaign have certainly won for themselves a large place in the hearts of those who have been attending the services. All indications point to one of the most successful Evangelistic Campaigns ever held in this city.

The large chorus choir renders special music at each service, in addition to the solos, duets, and quartet work rendered by members of the party. Prof. Harold Clase, who is musical director of the campaign, possesses a voice of rare sweetness and tone of unusual range and compass and is a chorus director of ability. Not only is he the musical director of the party but he has charge also of the work among the children. Uniting with his rare talent as a musician the gift of entertaining, he delights the little ones and at the same time in a natural and sane way teaches them the descriptive truth they need to know as children.

Prof. Clase was in France and in camp of this country for two years. He won the hearts of our boys by his musical ability. Much of his work in conducting the song services follows the methods used in the camps.

Dr. McCombe is of Scotch-Irish parentage, a native of the Emerald Isle, and is richly endowed with the peculiar wit, humor, good nature and force of his race. He has wonderful power in the interpretation of scripture narrative and possesses eloquence and force. Dr. McCombe has delighted the large crowds who have heard him every evening.

Among the features of the campaign, mention must be made of the very fine piano playing of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts who play on two grand pianos. Mr. Roberts has had considerable experience in Evangelistic work, more especially in accompanying Gospel solos. His work at conventions started well known bold in Canada and the United States. Mrs. Roberts met the business and pro-creed won the hearts of the people by her singing.

Last Thursday evening the special musical feature was a military song, led by Prof. Clase, and when the pianos started well known bold force of his race. He has wonderful power in the interpretation of scripture narrative and possesses eloquence and force. Dr. McCombe has delighted the large crowds who have heard him every evening.

At the Friday evening service a very beautiful and inspiring song "The old flag never touched the ground," which was followed by a new rendition of the salute to the flag and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." After a very spirited song service, Dr. McCombe preached a powerful sermon on "Joshua, the greatest soldier of all times."

Thursday evening at 5:30 Mrs. Roberts met the business and professional young ladies of Salisbury at a social and banquet held in the parlors of the Asbury M. E. Church at which girls were present.

CITIZENS SHOULD ASK TO SEE CHAMBER CARD

For People's Protection, Chamber of Commerce Issues Cards to Approved Agents and Solicitors.

The Secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, has suggested that any persons solicited by agents in Salisbury should, as a precautionary measure, request the agent to display a card from the Chamber of Commerce which will show whether or not the agent is a bona-fide representative of a bona-fide business concern.

During the past two weeks, the secretary stated that the Chamber had been compelled to refuse such cards in at least 20 cases, and that if the people of Salisbury would always insist upon seeing the Chamber card when solicited by agents, much good undoubtedly will be done.

It was also stated that the refusal of a card did not always mean that those refused were not genuine agents of responsible concerns, but that for the people's own protection, the Chamber always was very careful in issuing them.

This usually is the time of the year when many fake solicitors pour into the city, and it is the desire of the Chamber to give the people here as much protection as possible from this class of persons.

GUILD TO MAKE COLLECTION OF GARMENTS SOON

Public Meeting Needle Work Guild To Be Held For That Purpose Nov. 10.

1500 GARMENTS ARE WANTED THIS YEAR

Articles Most Needed For Men, Women And Children Are Warm Undergarments—Local Organization Plans To Enlarge Its Scope Of Activities During Coming Year.

"Preparedness" that word so familiar during war days is equally applicable now when we read of threatened strikes to add to the vast army of unemployed, the sick and helpless who must be looked after until conditions become more normal.

With winter at hand warm clothing, warm bedding become a necessity, and how are they to be provided? The answer is easy, through the Needle Work Guild, whose annual collection will be held the second week in November.

Miss Wise has kindly given the use of the Nurses' Home for the public meeting which will be Thursday, the 10th of November, at 4:00 P. M.

Articles most needed for men, women and children are warm undergarments, socks and stockings, mittens, gloves, sweaters, petticoats and night wear of flannel or outing flannel. For hospitals, garments for outgrowing patients, flannel sacks, wrappers, bed shoes and small dark shoulder shawls, also blankets, sheets, towels and pillow cases.

The Salisbury Branch of the Guild was formed in 1919. In that year the Guild received 531 garments; in 1920, 1075, and this year its members hope to reach 1500. The first year there were 19 Directors and this year there are 38. It is a good plan for each Director to every year turn one of her members into a Director, which would insure a speedy growth of the organization.

So far the entire collection has been confined to town and county use but as the aid of the National Guild is to assist organized charities it is hoped this year to branch out and send to the "Children's Home in Easton, Home for incurables and "Shut-ins," in Baltimore, and the Sanatorium at Eudora, Mo., at the same time giving to our own Hospital and Fine Bluff Sanatorium what they require and keeping a generous supply for local use.

With this program everyone of the 1500 garments will be required. The Guild is eagerly looking for new members and members. A member is only asked to give two new garments once a year. A Director may have ten garment members beside herself or send in 22 garments and one money member who is asked for no definite sum. The Guild does not limit its privileges on membership to women and children also are eligible and very welcome as money members. A gift of money is sent each year to the National office for their expenses and the remainder is used to buy any garments most needed, and for incidental expenses.

It is hoped that there be some misunderstanding as to obtaining garments for needy cases, the collection is in charge of Miss Kell, at the Health Office in the Salisbury Building, Loan & Banking Building. Any Director or member can get from the collection garments that they need for any private cases. The garments are not to be kept but for use; but responsible persons must apply for them. Mrs. Ruark, Mrs. Boyle, Mrs. Tull, Mrs. Fred Adkins, Miss Collier will gladly give information or help as to the way to get the garments.

GRAND SIRE I. O. O. F. WILL BE HERE NOV. 11

Grand Secretary Of Delaware Has Also Announced Intention Of Being Here Nov. 11th.

It was announced on Tuesday evening that the Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be present at the great Eastern Shore Rally and dedication of the Odd Fellows' Temple, to be held here on Friday, November 11. In addition the Grand Lodge officers of the State of Maryland, and the Grand Secretary of Delaware will take part in the ceremonies.

Eden Lodge degree staff, world's champions in Odd Fellow degree work, have advised Newton Lodge that they will participate in the huge parade that will inaugurate the events of the day. This body of drilled men will number 85 and should be an attractive feature of the parade. All lodges from Elkton to Cape Charles, and from Delaware, will send strong representations on this occasion and will occupy places in the march thru the streets of the city.

The parade route will have as its starting point Locust Street, down Camden avenue, Dock, Main, N. Division to Isabella, to Railroad avenue, E. Church, Broad, N. Division to Odd Fellows Temple on E. Main street, where the dedicatory service will be held. It is estimated that at least 1500 members will be in line, and several hundred candidates.

Eden Lodge of Wilmington rarely comes to towns as small as Salisbury, and it is only through the co-operation of the entire Eastern Shore that their advent is made possible. Candidates seeing the work put on by this team will have something to remember and talk of, all their days. Newton Lodge expects to have 200 candidates in the parade that day, leaving them about 80 to get before November 11. With all the members working to the best of their ability this should be a simple matter to put over. Newton will be the largest lodge on the Eastern Shore after the rally, and its membership will be composed of the most representative men in this county and city.

MANY PERSONS ANSWER DODGE SLOGAN QUERY

"What Comes After The Purchase Price?" Phrase Has Caused Entire Nation To Talk

What comes after the purchase price?

Ever since this cryptic phrase began appearing in the national magazines, daily newspapers and on billboards from one end of the country to the other, Dodge Brothers, who propounded the question, have been receiving an incessant stream of comments. Some were from critics who questioned the prudence of flaunting a "negative question" before the world. Others were from admirers who wanted to say that it was the "best attention-getting slogan they had ever seen". Hundreds came from Dodge Brothers car owners who hastened to venture the opinion that "satisfaction" or "dependability" "low upkeep cost" would soon be flashed across the country as the official answer.

But the great majority of these comments, many of them scrawled across the margin of an advertisement torn from a newspaper or magazine, were humorous references to perplexing situations in which motorists have found themselves after putting down the purchase price.

"I," wrote one, adding that "our speed-cops never miss a thing."

In the opinion of those who had opportunity to see all these comments, however, the masterpiece, the true summation of all the impressions expressed in the mass of letters and marginal notations which reached Dodge Brothers was a witty editorial which appeared in the Ohio Daily, of Elyria, O. Judge its merit for yourself. It follows:

"A well known car has been carrying an advertisement for the past month or two, with the one sentence: 'What comes after the purchase price?' We were reminded when we read this. What does come after the purchase price? Well, we remembered there was the license to run the car. There was the membership in the automobile association, which the secretary insisted we should take out. There was the spot light we had to get for self-protection. There was the gasoline and the oil, and then there was the puncture, 19 miles from a hair cut, and 15 miles from a lemon, and we had left the pump in the garage, and we did not have a spare tube. And then there was the collision, and the repair man, and then there was the insurance, and the speeding, and the cop, and the judge, and the fine, until it finally reached a point where we began to wonder if we ought to figure up the cost after the purchase price, and we concluded that we had better act like the man whom we asked how much his car cost him; this was before we owned one, and he said, 'I do not know. I kept track of it until I found I could not afford it, and then I quit keeping track.' We thought that was wise for many a man to do.

But then there is the other side. The automobile is a tremendous boon for business. It has undoubtedly kept down the cost of transportation. It makes it possible to get packages and freight there on time, and it simply annihilates distance and time, so that the person living three miles from church is but six or seven minutes away. It turns every country township into a neighborhood, and it transforms the city back into the country. It unites families for a joyful holiday, which cannot be estimated in value, and it brings many out into God's great outdoors, and gives everybody a prospect in life, which they knew nothing about before.

"Much if this other expense can be avoided. To be sure, you must have a license to run the car, and while membership in the automobile association is a valuable thing, you can live without it. You do not have to get a spot light. Punctures do not happen as often as they used to; in fact we have driven five thousand miles without a puncture, and there are people who have driven from 15 to 20 years never had a collision, and of course speeding should not be indulged in in any case.

"There are some things, a family should have before they have an automobile, but we do believe that automobiles have kept families together, have dissolved approaching divorce cases in the thin air, and have been an inexhaustible joy to the home.

"Yes, the automobile is worth what it costs to every family which can afford to have it. After the purchase price, is business, pleasure, union, mingling with others more frequently, and brotherhood. As the fellow said about marriage, it costs more than to be single, but it's worth it."

Ford plants in England are now producing 1,000 cars weekly.

New Financial and Attendance Figures Hung Up—$900,233 Total Receipts For Eight Games

New financial and attendance records established in the playing of the World's Series game which came to an end last Thursday. The total paid attendance for the eight games reached close to the million-dollar mark, the receipts totaling $900,233. Exactly 269,976 fans also paid admission to the Polo Grounds to witness the baseball classic.

This was $177,819 more than the best previous gate, collected during the 1919 series between Cincinnati and Chicago, when $722,414 was paid in by the fans of the two cities in the eight games of that year. The attendance in the series just closed was also 18,075 greater than the eight gatherings which witnessed the memorable Giants-Boston American games in 1912, when the total count of that post-season classic registered 251,901, which has stood as a record for nine years.

As a result of the enormous gate receipts, all those who participate in the sharing of the funds received more than any of their predecessors. The Giant players, as winners, collect 60 per cent. of 75 per cent. of the players' share of the receipts for the first five games, amounting to $131,635. The Yankees' 40 per cent as losers, amounted to $77,756.67. Under the plan of distributing 25 per cent. among the club players finishing second and third, in both major leagues, the Cleveland Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals will divide $43,878.34 equally, while the two St. Louis teams, as third-place clubs, share $29,259.22.

The Advisory Board, which succeeded the National Commission in the reorganization of professional baseball, received as its 15 per cent share, $135,084.95. The club owners' share amounted to $472,675.82. This latter sum exceeds by $82,853 the best previous club owners' share made during the 1919 series when $389,822 was divided.

The owners of the two New York clubs, however, are not permitted to retain and divide equally the close to a half-million dollars which appear at first sight to be theirs. The rules governing the financial affairs of the world series specifically provide that 50 per cent. of each club's share for the first seven games shall be paid into their respective league treasuries and that in case an eighth game is necessary, as was the case last Thursday, then 75 per cent. of the club's share of receipts for that game must go to the league treasuries.

Uncle Sam in the guise of war tax and income tax collector, will also share in close to $1,000,000 paid by New Yorkers and others to see the Giants and Yankees battle for the championship of the baseball world. The straight 10 per cent. tax was deducted before the gate receipts were made public, but there are still experts of the Government accounting department to work out what each player club owner and umpire shall contribute in the form of income taxes. Still another group will do accounting and announce the league's contributions in the shape of excess profits, surtaxes and other little details which business enterprises, whether sport or commercial, are required to eventually, pass into the U. S. Treasury.

LITTLE UNEMPLOYMENT ON MARYLAND FARMS

Most of Them Are Being Operated At Nearly Normal Capacity—12 Counties Report No Unemployment

While cities and towns are wondering what to do with their armies of unemployed, Maryland farms are operating at nearly normal capacity and providing employment for practically all available farm labor.

This is substantiated in the answer which the county agents of the State have made to a telegram from Secretary of Agriculture, Henry C. Wallace, Dr. Thomas B. Shreve, director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, requesting information regarding unemployment on Maryland farms. A summary of the reports received, including all but one county of the State, shows an average estimated unemployment among farm help of only 5.2 per cent. Twelve counties reported no unemployment whatever and in some cases it was stated that farmers are making more complaint regarding inability to secure help than is coming from the ranks of the unemployed.

Somerset county reported the highest percentage of unemployment—50 per cent—among colored laborers. About 90 per cent of the farm labor in Somerset county, according to County Agent C. Z. Keller, is made up of colored men and women and their chief occupations in the picking and handling of truck crops. Unfavorable weather in this section materially lowered the yields of strawberries and early potatoes, it is said.

while the slump in the canning industry resulted in a reduced acreage of tomatoes, thus affecting labor demands.

The situation in Somerset, however, is not considered serious, according to Mr. Keller, because of the fact that a large percentage of the colored farm hands own their own small places in negro settlements where they have small gardens and are able to raise their own hogs and poultry. A favorable oyster season with the opening up of the packing houses, also can be expected to furnish some relief in the opinion of Mr. Keller.

Unemployment in Calvert county is estimated at 28 per cent and in a Washington county at 15 per cent, although in the latter county, the report from County Agent S. E. Day states that out of 50 requests from farmers for help during the corn harvest only about 10 per cent could be filled. With the exception of Somerset, Calvert and Washington counties, where the figures are exceptionally high, unemployment throughout the State averages little more than one per cent.

The Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U., will meet on Monday evening, October 24, at the house of Miss Lucy Taylor, Maryland avenue.

Salisbury Burned

OCTOBER 17th, 1886

Thirty-five years ago occurred the biggest disaster in Salisbury's history. The entire business district and many homes and churches were totally destroyed. Due to the small capacity and doubtful fire resistance of the safes then in use, many valuable records were lost, never to be replaced.

G. E. ALLSTEEL SAFES

would have saved these records, just as they have saved millions of dollars worth in other catastrophes all over the country. Lightest for its size, and most commodious for its weight of all safes manufactured, possessing a similar Underwriter's label.

Tested for two hours by heat at volcano temperature, and a drop of thirty feet while red hot.

Salisbury may be visited again by another big fire at any time. Are your records all safe? If not, ask us how we can give them certified protection at small cost.

The Bayern, first German liner to enter New York harbor in seven years, docked within 100 yards of the office of the American Legion's national commander there, but the Legion took no part in the official welcome which New York's mayor extended. It was reported that Herr Captain Oscar Schwamberger, of the Bayern, commanded a German U-boat during the war of 1914-18, but a Legion representative's efforts to board the ship to confirm the report met with no success.

Marshal Foch will not come to America to be officially heard at the international disarmament conference in Washington, Paris dispatches are pointing out, although he will let his views on armament be known. The marshal's visit is a private one, it is being carefully explained, in response to the invitation of the American Legion to attend its convention. Premier Briand will head the French delegation to the conference, sailing Oct. 29, a week after Marshal Foch.

In the Missouri state convention of the American Legion, it was announced that a resolution concerning Grover C. Bergdoll, draft dodger, was about to be introduced. As a member rose to read it, another shouted: "I move its adoption." A roar of approval came from the assembled delegates and it was unanimously adopted without having been read.

The only ex-service men who can vote in the coming election in Birmingham, Ala., are those who became disabled from wounds or sickness during the world war, provided they do not own $500 worth of taxable property. The state legislature recently passed a law exempting ex-service men from payment of poll tax. The court held the measure unconstitutional, automatically disenfranchising the former soldiers and sailors. The American Legion found a law, however, which enabled permanently disabled citizens to vote without payment of poll tax, and obtained a ruling that minor physical defects will constitute the required disabilities. A man who lost his finger can vote, it is held, whereas a soldier who came through with all ten of his digits cannot.

Several thousand longshoremen who struck and tied up shipping on the Hoboken, N. J., waterfront, returned to work long enough to unload the army transport Wheaton with 2,624 soldier dead on board, allowing American Legion posts to hold funeral services. The strikers, many of whom were ex-service men, declared they would take care of the bodies of their dead comrades despite the wage controversy and added: "We'd do it free if necessary."

The bodies of four unidentified soldiers, one from each of the four prominent American cemeteries in France, will be assembled at Chateau-sur-Marne and non-commissioned officers of the American Army in Germany will select one of them for return to the United States and interment in Arlington. An honor guard, General Allen, of the army of occupation, and a delegation from the Paris Post of the American Legion will accompany the body to Havre, at which port it will be placed on the battleship Olympia, which sails Oct. 25 for the United States.

With the entire nation prayed at noon in two minutes of silent prayer, American Legion service men of the world will do homage to the unknown American soldier at Arlington national cemetery, on Armistice Day. Medal of Honor men also have been designated by the government as official mourners. Honorary pallbearers will be eight generals of the army and four admirals of the navy, with non-commissioned and petty officers as body bearers. President Harding will deliver the funeral oration.

"The teacher will be hanged, the books burned. Harrah for vacation." Wherein the sentiments of school kids the world over are spoken by a French urchin, Marcel Sevel, who writes to his several hundred foster fathers, members of the Evanston, Ill., post of the American Legion. The boy, constant friend of the doughboys during their stay in France, was adopted by them and now is supported by the Legion post.

Oscar E. Carlstrom, Aledo, Ill., newly elected commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, was one of the original committee of fifty members of the A. E. F., which organized the American Legion in Paris in 1919. He also is a member of the G. A. R. of Illinois by adoption.

Leg Hartley Satanta, Kas., the tallest American in service during the world war, will carry the colors of his post at the national convention of the American Legion at Kansas City, this month. He stands seven feet, two inches in his socks. He was in the air service.

There'll be a grand reunion of the doughboy and the doughnut when the gang goes to Kansas City, October 31, November 1 and 2, for the third annual convention of the American Legion. The streets will look like the roads to and from the front lines during the war days in France.

The veterans will find, as they leg it down the streets of Kansas City, doughnut doughnuts on all sides of them. These familiar looking sights will bear the nameplates of the Salvation Army, and in the aperture will be a smiling face which will bring back memories of never to be forgotten days. The face will be that of a Salvation Army lassie, and in her hands she'll have crisp, flaky doughnuts to hand out to the famished, and coffee to slake the thirst.

The Salvation Army, be it known is about the only organization which has been declared by the city fathers to be a free lance during the convention. A blanket permit was issued by the board of public works, authorizing the army to put up its coffee and doughnut stands wherever it pleases. The Army is going to have one wherever food is in demand.

YEGGMEN TRY TO BLOW VAULT OF SHORE BANK

Unsuccessful Attempt Made to Rob Painter, Va. Bank—Patent Lock System Fails Plans

Yeggmens were foiled in their attempt to blow open the vault door of the Eastern Shore Banking Co., at Painter, Va., Tuesday morning, October 11th, by a patent Lock System which the officials of the bank had installed in their vaults at Painter and Keller about a year ago.

The attempt was made between 2 and 4 o'clock, according to residents of Painter, who live near the bank and heard the reports of the three explosions, of nitro glycerine, which were inserted in the combination of the vault. Entrance to the bank was made through a window in the Directors' room which faces the railroad tracks.

That an attempt had been made to blow open the vault was not known until 9 A. M., when Mr. Wesley Elliott, the Cashier, went there to open for the day. Upon going into the building he was astonished to find everything upset, and the building filled with a peculiar odor. Going to the vault he found the combination and knob lying on the floor, the walls covered with a jelly-like substance, and a ten pound sledge hammer nearby. Mr. A. T. Hickman, president of the bank, was called and it was ascertained that the vault was secure. Though the attempt had been made the patent lock system had thwarted the yeggmens and prevented their getting into the vault.

The only clue is given by Mrs. Alice Boone, who was awake at the time, and heard the explosions distinctly. She went to her window but saw nothing unusual and made no alarm. A little later she saw an automobile running very slowly and quietly, coming from the direction of the bank but there was nothing then to arouse her suspicions.

RURAL PHONE LINES ARE BEING IMPROVED

Extra Wire Being Strung By C. & P. Co., in Rural Districts Will Greatly Increase Service

The property of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Maryland, is worth more than $17,500,000, according to latest figures of the company. It is constantly being increased as more people request telephone service.

Three million dollars is being spent in Maryland in 1921 to extend and improve service. Every section of the State will benefit by this expenditure. The rural lines especially will feel it, because much wire is being strung in order to lessen the average number of farmers' stations on each line. In some sections where there have been from 15 to 20 stations on a line, the number is being cut to 10 or less. This is done in compliance with a promise of the Company to the Maryland Public Service Commission to improve service wherever possible. Since the company's plant is constantly increasing, as is the number of telephone subscribers, the net revenue is mounting higher than before. However, revenues are increasing only in proportion to the value of the plant. It is through the ratio of income to plant value that the Public Service Commission sets the rates of the Company.

During the first six months of 1921 the company earned 5.6 per cent on its fair value.

DAUGHTER FILES CAVEAT TO HER FATHER'S WILL

Miss Mollie E. Parker, daughter of the late Ebenezer Q. Walston, filed on Tuesday last a petition and caveat to the last will and testament of the deceased when that document was offered for probate in the Orphans Court of this county. It was alleged that the deceased was not of sound and disposing mind at the time of the execution of the will and that he did not understand its contents. Messrs Long and Jackson will take care of the interests of Mrs. Parker, the petitioner, while Messrs Ellegood, Freeny and Wallis and Mr. L. Atwood Bennett have been retained by the caveatees.

It's Time to Think of Warm Underwear

Careful people don't wait for the severe weather to come; they take no chances of heavy cold or pneumonia. When there is warmth within, such as these garments give, warmth without is not so necessary.

But warmth is only one of the vital factors of comfort. You will want good fit. This means shapely lines and sufficient elasticity at the necessary points. You will want to know that the seams are flat—that there is no binding or pinching.

You will find just such comfort in "Forest Mills" and "Carters" underwear for Ladies, Misses and Children. Then, too, the price for this good make of underwear is no higher than the cheaper makes. Women's Union Suits, light, medium, or heavy weight. Low, Dutch or high neck with long, short or no sleeve. In fact we carry nearly every style. Their prices are $1.25 to $2.25 Suit.

Separate Vest and Pants in every style and weight, 50c to $1.25 the garment. Merino wool Vest and Pants, $2.50 the garment.

Children's Vest and Pants, 39c to 65c the garment.

Children's Union Suits, $1.00, $1.25, and $1.50.

Coats

Decidedly, the best looking Coats you have seen in years at the best values, $25.00 to $49.50.

Of course we have others at $13.75 to $98.50, but the range between $25.00 and $49.50 is unbeatable, both in style and quality.

They are made of such beautiful materials as Bolivia, Marvella, Yalama, Suedine and Velour. Many have large Fur Collars of Seal, Beaver, Raccoon and Australian Oppossum. Belted all around models are shown; others with or without belts, have loose backs.

We have the coat you want at the price you want to pay.

Have you seen the new Jersey one piece Dresses at $10.75. We have them in Navy, Brown, Reindeer and Henna, trimmed with Kid Collars and Cuffs.

Then too, we have the two-piece Dress, Pleated Skirt and Middy of Jersey at $10.75 in the shades as above.

POPULAR PRICES FOR WORLD'S SERIES.

The annual baseball classic—the World's Series—came to an end in New York City last Thursday afternoon with the N. Y. Giants nailing out their opponents, the N. Y. Yankees, by a two-game margin. Incidentally, the playing of the games in this year's series saw all previous attendance and financial records shattered. With the series going eight games, the receipts at the gate amounted to $900,233, and 269,976 paid admission were recorded. The financial figures exceed by $177,819 the best previous receipts, while the former high attendance record was topped by 18,075.

Undoubtedly the World's Series is a marvelous exhibition of the great national sport. As much interest is aroused annually all over the country in the playing of the games as in all other sporting events combined. But in full justice to those who support the teams in the big league cities, the fans who show their loyalty by being present at all of the games throughout the season which they can possibly attend, it seems that some other rule should obtain in regard to the price of admission and the sale of the tickets than has been in vogue during recent years.

Of late years, a big percentage of the persons who attend the world's series games do not belong to the class of loyal rooters who give their support constantly during the regular season. They are rather persons who like to be registered present at all big spectacles, and it is altogether probable that few of them could tell a base hit from a foul ball. But they have the wherewithal to pay the high prices demanded. They can purchase a string of tickets for the whole series, while many of the fans not so well situated, financially, have to take "pot luck"—outside the ball park.

All of which gives rise to the question of whether it is not far better in the interests of the sport for the World's Series games to be run off at popular prices—at prices no higher than those charged during the regular season—than at the present fancy rates. Surely the fans who give their support throughout the season, but who are unable to plunk down a big lump sum for several seats at a time, should be shown the main consideration at World's series time, unless, of course, the primary object of the whole affair is to fill the coffers of the moguls to the bulging point.

Judge Landis, by stepping in to the breach next year, can do baseball a world of good by insisting that the World's Series games of 1922 shall be played on a popular-price basis. Without the support of the fans throughout the year, the club owners would be unable to secure top-notch players for their teams and they would be left holding a pretty miserable financial bag. And there seems to be no reason why club owners whose teams win the pennant should want to gouge the very hands that feed them simply because interest is aroused to such fever heat that it is comparatively easy to turn the trick.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Before the recent unemployment conference held in Washington was adjourned, definite policies for both emergency and permanent relief of the unemployed was agreed upon. Ways and means for coping with the situation were devised and a constructive program of action was mapped out. It was held that existing unemployment was a matter for the various communities to handle through the Mayors, and, in order to co-ordinate the relief work of the committee, a central agency was established under the direction of a former police commissioner of New York City. Many other measures and suggestions of a remedial nature looking toward relief of the situation, too, were suggested. Some of the measures suggested by the conference that should have a salutary effect, if widely heeded, are those relating to the institution of part-time jobs, increased repair and clean-up work by manufacturers, private houses, hotels, offices and municipalities. It also was urged that construction work to be done by municipalities, State and Federal governments be expedited, and that Congress should act at the present session on roads appropriations. All of the suggestion, if acted upon, would create a big number of jobs everywhere throughout the country, and should tend to help out in every way.

However, in this connection we are reminded of a statement made last Thursday by Mr. Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, which would seem to indicate that the unemployment situation, basically, is not quite so bad as it has been represented. Mr. Ford is reported in an interview as having said: "There are jobs in this country for every man who wants to work."

In the light of this statement, which comes from one of the largest employers of labor in the United States, what about the five million or so of persons who are reported to be wandering futilely around in quest of employment? Can it be that the present situation is one of choice rather than of necessity? Is it possible that a great majority of those at present in the ranks of the unemployed are still so obsessed with the glamor of war-time wages and comparatively "soft" working conditions that they are unable or unwilling to adjust themselves to a period of readjustment?

Also, in this connection we are reminded of President Harding's concluding remarks in the address with which he opened the Washington unemployment conference. He said: "Fundamentally sound, financially strong, commercially consistent and politically unafraid, there ought to be work for everybody in the United States who chooses to work, and our conditions at home and our place in the world depend on everybody going to work and pursuing it with that patriotism and devotion which make for a fortunate and happy people."

SAYS "SMOKE SCREEN" HAS BEEN CREATED.

In commenting upon the purported statement of John J. Mahon, Democratic boss in Baltimore, to the effect that the people are tired of politics, the American Issue has the following to say:

"Nothing could please Mr. Mahon more than to be dead sure in his own mind that the people are so tired of politics that they would let him attend to that little business for them. This statement of Mr. Mahon ought to arouse enough patriotism in the hearts of the citizenship of Maryland that would manifest itself in the polls in November in a way that would give him a lesson that the people can attend to their own affairs."

The political boss is always dangerous. This organized to be used by any one man, be it the Legislature to be elected this coming year, the people and not dictated by any boss.

"At the last session of the legislature, the Baltimore papers went so far as to name the exact figure that bosses of Baltimore city had received for delivering enough votes in the House of Delegates to kill certain measures. The question with the political boss is, 'How many votes will I have at my disposal at the coming session?'"

"Many a man is sold out and delivered for various interests and does not know that he has been a chattel in the hands of a man who manipulates him for personal gain."

"The fewer members of the House of Delegates that the bosses of Baltimore city control, the better off will be the State of Maryland. A smoke screen has been created by what some people call the main issue in the campaign in the way of increased representation for Baltimore city. Viewed in another way, the issue is simply this—shall the people of Maryland allow the bosses of the city more power and more votes to be delivered at times and under circumstances that will be for their personal advantage?"

EDITORIAL

LETTERBOX

To the Editor:

If you will allow me just a small space for a few lines I will endeavor to tell you a little of my cruise in the U. S. Navy.

I enlisted Feb. 5, 1920. Was stationed at Hampton Roads Training Station for 7 months and was then transferred (Sept. 2) to the Destroyer U. S. S. Wm. B. Preston (344).

We sailed from Norfolk, Va., Sept. 5, 1920 for Rockland, Me. There we made our first special run, knocking out 37 knots an hour. Then we proceeded back to our Home Port with the second.

From the 26th of Oct. until Nov. 26th we were in Boston, Mass. You can bet that is some place. Then we came back to our port and I did not refuse my furlough. Came home for Xmas.

The Atlantic Fleet was under way for Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on Jan. 5th. There we had target practice, whale boat races, baseball and all sorts of sports. While in Guantanamo Bay we won the "Oarsman Pulling Trophy."

On Feb. 2, we sailed for Panama Canal Zone. We found quite a number of American inhabitants living there, and we were welcomed to their homes. We sailed for the far Southern port on Feb. 23 and we landed at Callao, Peru. While at Callao we were granted liberty from 1 P. M. until 9 P. M. There were 24 Destroyers there and the streets of Callao and Lima were crowded with "gobs". Their money is quite different from ours. One dollar in American money is worth two dollars and forty-two and a half cents of their money. Therefore, we had to go to exchange shops and change money before we could buy.

I bought quite a few souvenirs for my people at home and they are very pretty. And you can bet your wrist watch that we didn't thirst for anything to drink ($1.75 per). It was too hot down there. We could break an egg on top deck and it would fry, sunny side up, in 67 seconds.

We sailed back for Panama on March 13, taking six days and nights. The third day at sea we crossed the Equator. It was so very hot it was just like stepping out of an ice house into a stove-oven.

The Panama Canal locks are fine pieces of work. Coming through them took us a day, so most of the crew jumped to the docks to chat with the Bimbos and some received our addresses. Then we went back to Guantanamo for a little more target practice.

On the 21st of April we started back for the United States, and arrived at the Norfolk Navy Yard April 27th.

We had in the Navy Yard until the 5th of June, then to Rockland, Me., for another special run. We showed them how to make 37 1/2 knots then beat it up the Hudson river and dropped the hook the 24th.

The 6th of July we sailed for Lynn Haven Roads, Va., for gunnery exercise and target practice. For twenty days we were at least twenty miles from land, but when we reached the North River the 26th of July we could almost kiss the Statue of Liberty looking outward in the fog.

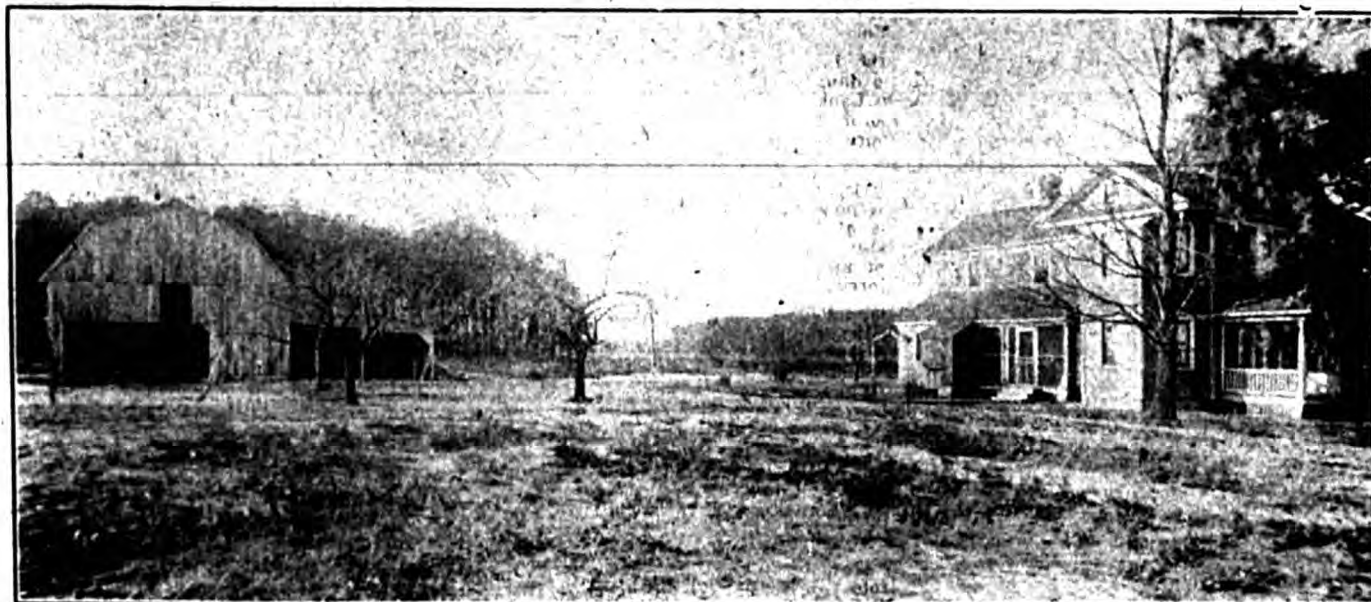

The 5th of September we sailed again for Lynn Haven Roads, Va., staying there ten more days and then proceeding back to New York the 15th. We have been laying in the North River since the twenty-sixth of September until this date.

Part of the boys have gone on their 15 days shore leave and the others will shove off later. I do not expect to be in Salisbury before Feb. 1922, as I am getting paid off, or in other words, discharged then. I am thinking of shipping over. We get fine "ceats" on this ship, a very handsome living compartment, and our captain treats us as a father or mother would treat their children. So, at that rate, we have nothing to kick about.

Please note that the reason I am writing this letter is to let the folks back home know that there are quite a number of Salisbury boys in the U. S. Navy. Allen Gravenor is at the Norfolk Navy Yard, Carlton Bratten is on the U. S. S. (342), and there are also a few others in the service I could mention.

Sincerely yours
 Harry T. Scott

News From Our County Correspondents

MARDELA SPRINGS

It seems strange that a town as large as ours and section as thickly populated around, that no doctor has felt inclined to locate here. If some young and single medical man should come here, we feel sure that he would find it a nice location. While it is much like Paradise, yet it is a significant fact that our people sometimes get sick, and when they do get sick, they want a doctor and want him badly. The doctors crowd into Salisbury, where they are not all needed and neglect places where they are needed. One drawback here is that there are so few houses for rent. But there are houses which could be bought.

Rev. D. J. Ford last week gave a very interesting and profitable address at our High School. He took the word WATCH, as his subject, using it as an acronym. All present were pleased. These addresses by the visiting speakers are doing great good at the schools like it. Come again Brother Ford. One person asked, "Is he the man who makes the Automobiles?"

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. P. Church, met at the home of Mrs. L. S. Walter, on Tuesday evening and was largely attended.

The Baptist Missionary and Aid Society met at Mrs. A. J. English's on Wednesday evening. An interesting program was rendered. The special subject was Obedience and Sacrifice. All of our pastors are now engaged in their extra meetings. Rev. G. W. Gorrell at Hebron this week and Evangelist Farley will help him at Hebron, beginning on Sunday morning, Oct. 16th. Rev. D. J. Ford is holding forth at Spring Grove and Rev. C. N. Alexander this past week at Sneadham. Mr. Alexander will begin his extra services at Riverton on October 23. Mr. Gorrell's meetings in Mardele will begin on Nov. 6th, to the 18th. Dr. Pinchbeck of Baltimore, will preach from the 14th to the 18th. Dr. A. J. Frisette will assist in the meetings at Branch Hill, from the 20th to the 30th.

A certain young lady in our community is in the habit of eating a raw onion for the benefit of her health and she is trying carefully to guard the secret, but she has found it hard to keep onion eating a secret.

Some of the autoists in our community find it hard work to keep an auto and the Sabbath at the same time. They seem perfectly willing that the other fellow keep the Sabbath, while he keeps the auto. It seems sad that anything so useful as the auto, should be made the occasion for so much Sabbath desecration.

NEW VETERANS' BUREAU LOCATED IN NORFOLK

Sub-district Office Also Includes Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester Counties in its Territory

A sub-district office of the veterans' bureau to handle all ex-service compensation, insurance and training claims has been established in Norfolk, according to an announcement from the headquarters of the Fourth District of the veterans' bureau in Washington, D. C.

Levin Cook Davis, a native of Accomac, arrived in Norfolk from Washington and will have charge of the consolidated sub-district bureau. This office will handle all cases of compensation, insurance, vocational training and hospitalization of former service men in this sub-district directly and will obviate the present necessity for their communicating in many cases with Washington and the other sub-districts heretofore.

The sub-district office will be located in Norfolk and the territory will include the following counties: Prince Anne, Norfolk, Nansemond, Southampton, Isle of Wight, Elizabeth City, Warwick, York, Gloucester, Middlesex, Essex, Richmond, Lancaster and Mathews, and Accomac and Northampton on the Virginia Eastern Shore and Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

"There is sufficient work in the new Norfolk sub-district to justify our sending an office force there," said Director Albert T. Hann, of the fourth district, in announcing its establishment. "We propose to clean up the claims pending in that sub-district and offer every opportunity to the disabled veterans to secure not only their compensation, but whatever vocational training and medical treatment or hospitalization is due them under the law, as well as affording them every opportunity to clear up their insurance and other matters without unnecessary delay. Under this new arrangement they will have increased facilities for adjusting all of their troubles right in Norfolk."

SCHWAB SAYS DEPRESSION RESULTED FROM WAR ORGY

Charles M. Schwab in talk before Chamber of Commerce at Altoona, Pa., says depression is natural sequence of war orgy, and strict economy is quickest remedy. He declared lower freight rates were logical step toward normalcy, wages must come down but not while necessities were beyond reach of working man, and present conditions would teach business men prosperity could not be had through high prices.

Dig Up Long-Forgotten Beer.

Pittsburgh.—A barrel of beer buried long before Volstead's law was discovered by workmen in tearing down the old National Hotel, at Forbes and Brady streets. The beverage had a good flavor and plenty of "authority," according to the men.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Elk's Home on Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. After the opening exercises and the reading of minutes, the reports of the delegates to the State Convention at Westminster, Oct. 4, 5, and 6, was read by Mrs. E. A. Egan.

Mrs. Hearn stated that the convention went on record as urging the necessity of total abstinence education and urging congressmen to vote for the Willis Campbell Anti-Beer Bill. The Convention also pledged to support only those candidates who were opposed to race-track gambling, but resolved to support, irrespective of party, those who were in favor of law enforcement for Maryland. Mrs. S. M. Riffe and Mrs. Costen Goales, who were also present at the Convention supplemented the report read.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. S. Taylor, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Walter Sheppard, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Costen Goales; Treasurer, Mrs. Sidney Adkins. The meeting was then addressed by Mrs. Roberts, of the McCombe-Classe Evangelistic Party, who also favored the members with a piano solo.

A GENTLE REMINDER

An English duchess had been owing her milliner a long time. The money was sorely needed, and after the bill had been repeatedly ignored, the milliner finally sent her little daughter to collect it.

"Be sure to say 'Your Grace' to the duchess," said the anxious mother, and the child gravely promised to remember.

When, after long waiting, she was ushered into the presence of the duchess, the little girl made a low courtesy, and then, folding her hands and closing her eyes, she said softly, "For what I am about to receive, may the Lord make me truly thankful."

The quick-witted duchess flushed as her eyes rested on the wistful child who so unconsciously had rebuked her, and without delay made out a check for the amount due to the milliner.—Outlook.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter, wife, and sister, Jennie Gertrude Marvel, who died three years ago, October 20, 1918. When I stood beside your dying bed, To bid my last farewell, With tearful eyes I watched you pass away.

I can never forget you, Gertrude, While in this world I stay, And my heart has never been the same. Since you were called away.

Once I had a happy home, How sweet the memory still, But death has left a vacant chair, Which never can be filled.

By her husband.

Oh! we wander to the grave yard, -Flowers to strew with loving care; On the grave of our dear daughter, Who is sweetly sleeping there.

We often go to see your grave, And keep the verdure green, And place some potted flowers Upon the peaceful scene.

You are not forgotten, Gertrude dear, And never shall be, For as long as life and memory last, We will always think of you.

Father and Mother.

Death has robbed us of our darling sister, Of the one we loved so well; Taken from this world of sorrow, Safely home with Jesus to dwell.

Gertrude dear you were taken away so sudden, Without time to say good bye, But we know your thoughts were with us, When you were called to die.

Oh, how we loved our sister, No heart on earth can tell, But Jesus loved her better still, And called her home to dwell.

Brother and Sister.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear wife and mother, Martha W. Lawrence, who died eight years ago, October 15th 1913.

Just eight short years have passed away, Just eight years since that fatal day.

The mother we loved and dearly prized Lay cold in death before our eyes.

There are lots who bear a mother's name, But few who fill the place, Not so with our dear mother— Oh, how we miss her loving face.

How much we miss her kind advice In this great struggle of life; How different do we find things now Than when she was here in life.

Yes, there is a comfort that comes to us, Amid all our strife and care, When Jesus calls us home to Heaven We will meet each other there.

Dearest wife how I miss you, No tongue on earth can tell; Some may think I will forget you, And my wounded heart be healed; But they little know the sorrow, That lies within my heart concealed.

—By her loving husband and daughter. 412

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Laura E. Gordy, who departed this life October 14th, 1917.

Dearest Mother, in our hearts your memory lingers, Sweetly, tender, fond and true; There is not a day, dear Mother, That we do not think of you. Deeply loved and sadly missed, 424

By her children.

Senator Knox was Secretary of State under President Taft and was Attorney General under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt. He was considered one of the most brilliant constitutional lawyers in the United States. The senator had only recently returned from a trip to Europe, and on the day of his death had attended the session of the senate. The news of his death came as a distinct shock to all official Washington as he was one of the leading lights of the present administration.

A Remarkable Record

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance of these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

is the best heating apparatus ever installed in this town for dissemination heat, for economy in point of fuel, and for requiring so little attention after the fire is once started.

Mrs. Ruth Stevent, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac S. Bennett.

Since opening up the new stone road through the town last spring, Thomas L. Windsor has erected a store building and opened a general store; Thomas H. Harper has built a new bungalow; Noah W. Owens has erected a new bungalow and now Berkley Phillips is putting up a new bungalow, and Olan W. Gravenor has erected a new garage building and auto repair shop, all on the new road, and all splendid locations. There are a few available building lots on the road and it is very probable that other new buildings will soon be erected on them.

To Gain a Good Reputation

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

To Give You Good Telephone Service

TELEPHONE employees have only one aim in their work—to give you good and continuous telephone service.

They are willing to make, and do make, sacrifices and suffer personal inconvenience that you might be satisfactorily served.

Every time a fire, storm or flood puts the service of a town in danger the telephone men are on the job, be it day or night, to keep the service going. And they don't object to long hours under disagreeable conditions.

The operators, too, are ever watchful to serve you at all hours and to give you prompt and accurate connections. They, too, do not hesitate to work hard and long when public service demands it.

Our engineering force is constantly studying ways and means to improve the service and equipment, while our office employees do everything in their power to make pleasant your transactions with the telephone company.

In short, all the telephone people—from the executives down to the newest clerks—have before them always the ideal of service.

We do not claim to be perfect, however, and probably there are times when you have some criticism to make of the service or equipment.

At such times we will consider it a favor if you will notify us immediately. It is our pleasure to serve you.

The Wreckers

By FRANCIS

Copyright by Chas. Scribner's Sons

You can guess that I didn't stay out there very long. The night was clear as a bell and pretty coolish, with the stars burning like white diamonds in the black inverted bowl of the sky. It was mighty pretty scenery, but just the same, after Kirgan had fairly struck his gait on the long western tangent, I clanked my way inside. It was a lot too blustery and unsafe on that back platform.

The major and Mrs. Shella were sitting together, near the middle of the car. I staggered up and took the seat just ahead of them, and the major asked me if Mr. Norcross was on the engine. I told him he was, and that ended it. What with the rattle and bang of the coach, the howling of the speed-made wind in the ventilators, and the shrill scream of the spinning wheels, there wasn't any room for talk during the whole of that breath-taking race to the old "Y" in the hills beyond Banta.

Knowing from what Mr. Norcross had said, the point at which we were going to side-track and wait for the special and the wild engine, I grew sort of nervous and worked-up after we had crashed through the Banta yard and the day-coach began to sway and lurch around the hill curves. What if the special had been making better time than the boss had counted upon? In that case, we'd probably hit her in a head-onder somewhere on one of those very curves. And with the time we were making, and the time she'd be making, there wouldn't be enough left for either train to be worth picking up.

A mile or so short of the "Y" siding I went up ahead and handed myself out to the forward platform to see if I couldn't get a squint past the storming engine. I got it now and then, on the swing of the curves, but there was nothing in sight. Just the same it was mighty scary, and I took a relief breath so deep that it nearly made me sick at my stomach when I finally realized that Kirgan had shut off and was slowing for the stop at the farther switch of the old "Y."

What was done at the switch was done swiftly, as men work when they have the fear of death gripping at them. If the special should come up while we were making the back-in, the result would be just about the same as it would have been if we had met it on the curves.

With our own engine silent, I could hear a faint sound like the far-away fluttering of a safety-valve. We were not ten seconds too soon. The special was coming.

Mr. Norcross, who was still in the engine cab, shot an order at Kirgan. "Fling your coat over the headlight, and then be ready to snatch it and get off!" he shouted. "If they see it as they come up, it may stop them!" Then, catching a glimpse of me on the ground: "Break the coupling on the coach, Jimmie—quick!"

As I jumped to obey I understood what was to be done. The freeman at the switch was to let the special go by, and then the boss—just the boss alone on the engine—was to be let out on the main track to put himself between the chaser and the chased. It was a hair-raising proposition, but perhaps—just perhaps—not quite so suicidal as it looked. With skilful handling the interposed engine might possibly be kept out of the way by backing, and its warning headlight shining full into the eyes of the men in the 410's cab would surely be enough to stop them—if anything would.

I had just finished uncoupling the day-coach and the boss was easing our engine ahead a bit to make sure that she was loose, when the car door opened behind me and the major and Mrs. Shella came out in the front vestibule. It was Mrs. Shella who spoke to me, and her voice had borrowed some of the big terror that I had seen in her eyes while she was sitting in the office at Port City.

"Where—whereabouts are we, Jimmie?" she asked.

Before I could open my mouth the black shadows of the crooked valley beyond the switch were shot through with the white, shimmering glow of a headlight beam, and a second later the special flicked into view on the curve of approach.

As we looked, there was a short, sharp whistle yelp, the brakes gripped the wheels, the one-car train, with fire grinding from every brake-shoe, came to a jerking stop a short car-length on our side of the switch, and a man dropped from the engine step to go sprinting to the rear. And it was plain that neither the engineer nor the man who was running back saw our outfit waiting on the leg of the old "Y."

Kirgan was the first one to understand. With a shout of warning, he jumped and ran toward the stopped train, yelling at the engineer for God's sake to pull out and go on. Back in the hills beyond the curve of approach another hoarse murmur was farring upon the air, and the special's freeman, who was the man we had seen jump off and go running back, and who, of course, didn't know that we had our map there, was apparently trying to reach the switch behind his train to throw it against the following engine to shoot it off on the "Y."

By this time the boss was off of our engine and racing across the angle of the "Y" only a little way behind Kirgan. He realized that his plan was smashed by the stopping of the special, and that the very catastrophe we had come out to try to prevent was due to happen right there and then. Whatever our man waiting at the switch might do, there was bound to be a collision. If he left the points set for the main line, the wild engine would crash into the rear end of the stopped special; and if he did the other thing, our engine and coach standing on the "Y" would get it.

"Get the people out of that car!" I heard the boss bellow, but even as he said it the pop-valve of the stopped engine went off with a roar, filling the shut-in valley with clamorings that nothing could drown.

Two minutes, two little minutes more, and the sleep-sodden bunch of men in the special's car might have been roused and turned out and saved. But the minutes were not given us. While the racing freeman was still a few feet short of the switch the throwing of which would have saved the one-car train only to let the madman's engine in on our engine and coach, and our man—already at the switch—was too scared to know which horn of the dilemma to choose, the end came. There was the flash of another headlight on the curve, another whistle shriek, and I turned to help the major take Mrs. Shella off our car and run with her, against the horrible chance that we might get it instead of the special.

But we didn't get it. Ten seconds later the chasing engine had crashed headlong into the standing train, burying itself clear up to the tender in the heart of the old wooden sleeper, rolling the whole business over on its side in the ditch, and setting the wreckage afire as suddenly as if the old Pullman had been a fagot of pitch-pine kindlings and only waiting for the match.

If I could write down any real description of the way things stacked up there in that lonesome valley for the little bunch of us who stood aguish at the awful horror, I guess I wouldn't need to be hammering the keys of a typewriter in a railroad office. But never mind; no soldier sees any more of a battle than the part he is in. There were seven of us men, including the engineer and freeman of the special, who were able to jump in and try to do something, and looking back at it now, it seems as if we all did what we could.

That wasn't much. About half of the people in the sleeping-car—six by actual count, as we learned afterward—were killed outright in the crash or so badly hurt that they died pretty soon afterward; and the fire was so quick and so hot that after we had got the wounded ones out we couldn't get all of the bodies of the others.

As you'd imagine, the boss was the head and front of that fierce rescue fight. He had stripped off his coat, and he kept on diving into the burning wreck after another and yet another of the victims until it seemed as if he couldn't possibly do it one more time and come out alive. He didn't seem to remember that these very men were the ones who had been trying to ruin him—that at least once they had set a trap for him and tried to kill him. He was too big for that.

After we had got out all the victims we could reach, there was still one more left who wasn't dead; we could hear him above the hissing of the steam and the crackling of the flames, screaming and begging us to break in the side of the car and kill him before the fire got to him. Kirgan had found an ax in the emergency box of our day-coach, and was chopping away like a madman.

The minute he got a hole big enough, the big master-mechanic dropped his ax and climbed down into the choking hell where the screams were coming from. Our freeman picked up the

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked: In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

Nobody questions the power of paint to protect property from decay and ruin.

Not Accidentally Good— Made that Way

TO PRODUCE day in and day out the clean-burning, full-powered "Standard" Motor Gasoline, no fewer than five important tests are employed. Nothing is taken for granted—nothing left to luck.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has to pass five stiff examinations.

These are:

Chemical laboratory tests on the gasoline itself, to determine volatility, purity, stability, explosion points, etc.

Physical laboratory tests in one-cylinder engines, to determine character of ignition, rate of combustion, rate of pressure development, limits of performance, etc.

Dynamometer tests in standard makes of engines, to determine power developed, mileage per gallon, etc. Runs equivalent to a year's service give accurate data on carbon formation, valve pitting, spark plug fouling, etc.

Road tests in representative cars and trucks, which check the accuracy of former findings, and determine with greater accuracy the factors of acceleration, flexibility, range of carburetor adjustment, etc.

Service tests under average conditions. Company garages are maintained, each containing from 30 to 200 cars, trucks and tractors, comprising every known type of motor-driven equipment. The drivers are both amateurs and professionals—a fair general average for this work. These tests determine the all-around performance of the gasoline in the hands of the user.

"Anybody's Gas" may be good now and then. "Standard" Motor Gasoline has to be right all the time. That is what the public expects of it.

Isn't it time you drained the old oil out of your crank case? Notice the difference when you refill with POLARINE.

HER BEST-LOVED FROCK BELONGS TO AFTERNOON

ALWAYS a volume could be written about some frocks—as about hats. The story is never all told until the season is over and gone—and before that time arrives, fashion has undergone a sequel to follow. The best-loved of gowns is that one which makes a success of its wearer's afternoons. There is a long list of fabrics at hand to choose from including several crepe weaves, duvetyne velvet, satin, taffeta and fine wools, but the accent just now is to be placed on crepe and velvet. The slim silhouette remains the favorite, with variations that take in tunics, straight-line and bloused models, having long waistlines. The exception to the rule of the slim silhouette appears in those frocks with a quaint flavor of days gone by, that are made with tight bodices and full skirts, or in others made on the lines of the handsome frock pictured. In this model the designer has made an overgarment, innocent of waist line and flaring in the skirt portion where panels are introduced at each side. He has pinned his faith to rich embroidery of silk and metal threads, placing it in borders and almost covering the front of the dress with it, and we can imagine the effect with duvetyne in a dark color as the foundation. There are many points in the autumn modes that give designers of afternoon frocks advantages. There is the featuring of sleeves, the uneven hem line, figured and plain crepes, beads, braids, fringes and embroidery all yearning to look their best on the frocks that must bear many comparisons.

LOOK FROM A WINDOW.

LOOK from your window on the world. And you will understand Not purposeless mankind was hurried Upon the fertile land, Will think no more from chaos whirled This planet was unplanned.

Look from a window, window high, And see the thing complete: Inside one house your soul will die— Behold the house, the street, Behold the town, the lands that lie Stretched out before your feet.

Your eyes touch other eaves, and they With other eaves combine— A block, a mile, they stretch away, A great unbroken line, Beyond your city cities, yea, What is one house of mine?

Look from your window on mankind, A man and not a mole, A man has visions, moles are blind, For them no planets rot, Look outward, friend, and you will find Each soul a hundred soul.

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"TRANSPIRE" AND "OCCUR"

TRANSPIRE means to take place, to happen, to come to pass; to transpire means to become known, to come from secrecy, to be made public. It is quite common, especially in ordinary speech and in writings in newspapers and magazines to hear and see the verb "transpire" used instead of "happen" or "occur." Such usage is, however, quite incorrect and is condemned by critics in England and America. "It transpired yesterday, at the meeting of the common council, that permission was withheld," etc., wrote a reporter, but he should have written, "It happened yesterday," etc., or, better still, he should have omitted the phrase and begun his sentence with "and" and omitted "that."

Following is a case of the proper use of the verb "transpire": "At the meeting of the common council yesterday it transpired that last week's action on the street railway franchise was not final—that is, it became known."

How It Started

THE FINGER PRINT SYSTEM.

THE British authorities in India, desiring to impress the natives with their omniscience, hit upon the idea of taking the finger prints of everybody. Later the scheme was brought to Scotland Yard, the police headquarters in London. From there it spread till it is now in universal use.

Will Seize Vacant Rooms. The many thousands of seekers for homes in Vienna have organized to get them. Complaining that the government bureau formulated for this purpose is inept, members of the society have appointed agents to find all vacant premises and all residential property not containing the maximum number of occupants and to threaten to use force to secure lodgings. They have published a list of such places and demand they be handed over. Among them is the home of a baroness having ten rooms in which she lives alone. Many similar instances are cited.—New York Sun.

GENERAL MOTORS TO MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Indications Are That It Will Be Much Better For This Year Than Earlier Forecasted

(From Wall St. Journal)

The showing which General Motors Corp. will make for the full 12 months this year is likely to be substantially better than earlier forecasts. This is indicated by the fact that earnings in the second quarter actually showed greater improvement over those of the first three months than was revealed by recently published income account for the six months to June 30. For that period, after all charges, federal taxes and deductions for refunds made on price agreements, net profits were $9,605,676, which, after preferred and debenture dividends, was equal to 31 cents a share on the 20,500,000 odd shares, or no par common stock outstanding.

Although the six months statement segregated net earnings after taxes for both quarters the $4,549,870 refund deduction was applied to the aggregate figures for the half year, making it impossible to determine what proportion was applicable to each quarter. On this basis, earnings of 31 cents a share on the common for the six months were 19 cents short of dividend payments of 50 cents a share for the period and it was assumed that common dividend was not earned in either quarter. Apportioning the refund to the respective quarters in which they were made throws an entirely different light on the company's showing, however.

Net profits after all charges and federal taxes in the first three months were $1,675,492. Refunds on price agreements totaled $2,280,561 for the period, creating a deficit of $643,069 which was increased to $2,211,568 after preferred and debenture dividends and to a loss of $7,327,050 after common dividends. The achievement of the succeeding three months were truly remarkable. Net profits after charges and taxes were $12,533,909. Re fund deductions were $2,269,309 leaving a surplus of $10,248,682 which, after senior dividends, was equivalent to 42 cents a share on the common, or at the annual rate of nearly one and one-half times common dividend requirements of $1 a share.

Definite figures on earnings in the third quarter have not been completed but in view of the fact that shipments for that period were not far from those of the preceding three months for the September quarter are likely to exceed the second quarter's returns. This assumption is borne out by the fact that no future refunds on price agreements were made after July 1, when all such agreements terminated and also by the fact that General Motors is deriving more and more benefit from its favorable inventory position, under which it has taken advantage of lower material costs.

On the basis of operations thus far, indications are that common dividend will be more than earned in the current quarter. The management which in the first quarter of the year dipped into surplus for most of that period's common dividend requirements in the belief that succeeding months would justify such action, is now firm in the belief that General Motors will experience no difficulty in making a good showing next year.

RETIRING OF VICTORY NOTES BOOSTS PRICES

Reduction Of $313,000,000 This Year Is Important In Treasury's Refunding Scheme.

In the nine months of the current calendar year there has been a reduction in outstanding Victory notes of $516,819,000. Of this total $312,994,200 were retired in the last four months, or from June to September inclusive, the period in which Secretary Mellon launched his plan of selling short term Treasury notes to refund in part the Victory notes and spread the maturities of the short dated debt. Retirement of Victory notes since the first of the year has been so heavy that it has played an important part in the rise of the Victory note issues, coupled with an increasing demand for these notes by institutions as a short term investment.

Amount of Victory notes outstanding at the first of the year was $4,220,925,700. The Victory 4 1/2% closed 1920 at 96 flat, and recently made a new high for this year at 99.50, an advance of 2.50 points.

In connection with Secretary Mellon's plan of refunding part of the Victory Loan and spreading the maturities of the short dated debt the Treasury has sold so far three-year Treasury notes aggregating $701,897,700. The initial issue, Series A was sold on June 15, 1921, and the second issue Series B was sold on September 15.

During September the Treasury retired $97,065,650 of the Victory Loan, the largest for any one month this year with the exception of June, and after allowing for tax payments and maturity of tax certificates, payment of loan and other interest it had a net balance on September 30 of $575,675,230.

Retirement of Victory notes by months during the current year follows:

September	$97,065,650
August	50,117,600
July	57,642,200
June	108,168,750
May	47,136,000
April	31,200,550
March	49,304,900
February	53,179,300
January	23,004,150

Total $516,819,100

At the present rate of retirement the amount of Victory Loan which will be outstanding at the maturity of the issue in May, 1923, will be considerably reduced and will make the task of refunding it much easier for the Treasury to handle. If purchases continue at the average monthly rate this year the Victory Loan will be further reduced by more than $1,000,000,000 before maturity.

MEXICAN CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION DECLINING

Serious Pinch in Oil Expected In Two Years—Cheap Oil a Thing Of The Past

So far as can be seen at present, cheap oil is a thing of the past. The new condition is due to the fact that production of vast quantities of crude oil in Mexico at low cost is declining and that in the future production of Mexican oil will be better controlled. There never was a time when the oil industry when it had the advantage of such an abundance of cheap oil as it had in the last few years from the Mexican fields. The producing wells in that country are located only a score of miles from the seacoast, which made the cost of transportation to market small. The wells yielded prodigious amounts of oil over long periods. The Casiano basin produced an average of more than 100,000 barrels of oil to the acre, an amount not approached by any other field anywhere in the world.

Recently during the glut of oil in Mexico, individual producers who had no pipe line to the coast offered oil as low as 10 cents a barrel in Mexico. That oil is not available for less than 40 cents a barrel at present.

The two or three companies which will continue to large producers in Mexico because of their reserve acreage will get prices for their oil that will more closely correspond with prices of American oil, and they will make more money in their business in the next few years than in previous ones.

It is not probable that production of oil in the United States will maintain the average of 1920-21.

It is likely that consumption of oil will tend to increase over present rates through improvement in domestic and export business. The latter is about one-half of normal at present, but domestic demand holds up surprisingly well in view of general conditions.

Indications now point to a serious pinch in oil within two years. Present big supplies are apt to save the situation during the next year, but after then the situation will become acute, in the opinion of those best informed.

In respect of new fields the cost of getting the oil is sure to increase. It is not profitable to market oil from South America with the market for crude oil in the United States at $1.50. It will cost $1.00 a barrel to transport the oil through 1,000 miles of pipe line, as must be done from some of the South American fields, to say nothing of additional costs to get the oil to market.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the family system tonic. Price $1.25.

RECORD SHIPMENT OF 'LOUPES THIS SEASON

Shipments This Year Will Exceed 25,000 Cars—Output Annually Increased Since 1915.

Shipments of cantaloupes this season will exceed 25,000 cars if the movement after the middle of September equals that of the same period last year. The present total of over 24,000 cars is about 2,000 more than were shipped in any previous season.

The cantaloupe output has increased each season since 1915, with the exception of 1918, when the eastern cantaloupe acreage and movement were unusually light. Shipments in 1915 were only 12,637 cars, but the volume recovered nearly 50% the following season and exceeded 22,000 cars in 1919 and also in 1920. The movement this year will be about double that of six years ago. The average of the past three seasons, 1919, 1920, and 1921, is about 22,000 cars compared with an eight-year average of about 18,000 cars.

This year's large shipments are the result of increased acreage. The range, 80,000 acres and over, planted in 1920 and 1921 is more than double the area planted in 1918. In general, the center of heaviest production and shipment has been shifting to the far west and Southwest with a corresponding but irregular decrease in most other sections. Thus in 1918 the Eastern States shipped 5,331 cars and the Western States 11,483. In 1921, to Sept. 17, shipments were 5,174 cars from Eastern States and 18,996 from the West. About half the carlot shipments this season were from California, which has doubled its acreage over that previous to 1919—chiefly in the Imperial and San Joaquin valleys.

Wholesale prices in early June reached a top of $10 per crate in many city markets, the quotations being for choice stock from the Imperial Valley of California. The price fell rapidly to a range of $3.50 to $4 by the end of June, and to a range of $2 to $4 by the end of July. Prices at shipping points started at $2.75 to $3.75 for standard 45's, but the prevailing range at shipping points during June was $1.75 to $2.25, and soon after the first of July the range declined further, reaching $1.25 to $1.50. In June, 1920, the corresponding range at shipping points was $2 to $3.25.

Colorado cantaloupes, unlike those of most other sections, met strong market conditions, and prices tended upward. Beginning in late August at a range of $1.50 to $3 per standard crate, in four leading markets, the range strengthened, reaching $2.50 to $5 the middle of September. There was little competition, as Colorado has been supplying the greater part of the carlot shipments in September. Eastern cantaloupes, including shipments from Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, Delaware, and Maryland, sold, as usual, below the prices of western stock. Markets were irregular with extremely wide ranges. Quotations ran as low as 50c and as high as $2.50 per standard crate in leading markets but prevailing ranges were $1.25 to $2.

Watermelon Season Established Record

1921 Shipments Surpassed Last year's By 5,000 Cars—44,000 Cars Have Been Shipped.

Shipments of watermelons by the end of September somewhat exceeded 44,000 cars. The movement had surpassed that of last year by nearly 5,000 cars and was much larger than that of any preceding year.

The great Florida-Georgia-South Carolina melon section has shipped about 25,000 cars. Three other states, Texas, California and Missouri, shipped 3,000 to 5,000 cars each; Alabama and North Carolina shipped over 1,000 each; Arkansas, Indiana, Oklahoma, 400 to 700 each; and 14 other States in smaller amounts. The season's movement not only has exceeded the previous record-breaking volume of 1920 but is one-half greater than that of 1919 or of 1917 and more than double that of 1918.

Production the past three years has tended to increase rapidly in nearly all the leading watermelon States. Nearly 30,000 acres were planted in Texas compared with 38,000 in Georgia, the leading State, but shipments from Texas were greatly reduced by unfavorable weather. In most other sections conditions were favorable. Taking the watermelon section as a whole, there was a greater production from an acreage about the same as in 1920.

The East has been aggressively increasing its hold on the commercial production of watermelons during the past few seasons. Of the 5,000 cars constituting this season's excess of shipments as compared with the movement last year, 3,000 cars came from the Southwest, about 1,000 cars from the Middle West and a few hundred cars from the Far West.

The 1921 crop for the most part was of excellent grade. The size of Florida melons was reduced by drought, but conditions improved as the growing season moved northward.

Direct Manufacturing Raw Wool Is Popular

Some Md. Farmers Pool Their Wool And Ship It Direct To The Blanket Factories

The movement among Maryland

sheep growers to have their raw wool manufactured directly is still growing in popularity. Some farmers pool their wool and ship it to the blanket factories, while others send it individually to have blankets or robes made for family use. Under the latter arrangement a farmer usually pays $5 for the making and the freight both ways.

In Washington county the county agricultural agent reports to the United States Department of Agriculture that 207 blankets and 55 motor robes were returned from 2,500 pounds of wool pooled in December. About 10 pounds of wool are needed for a blanket. Those received were of full size and of high quality material, and every grower who took advantage of this means of marketing his wool is decidedly pleased. Many of the growers had found a sale for their blankets and robes prior to their return, among those who had no wool to ship. The prevalent selling price was $11.25 a blanket, so the movement after manufacturing charges and freight costs were deducted the growers netted about 55 cents a pound for their wool. At the time wool was not bringing more than 10 cents a pound.

In Worcester County 200 blankets and robes were made. Four shipments will be made to the factory to dispose of the county's wool clip.

GO NO FARTHER.

The Evidence Is At Your Door.

Salisbury proof is what you want and the statement of this highly respected resident will banish all doubt. W. F. Bounds, brick mason, 110 Williams St., Salisbury, says: "I was troubled with lame back and disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were scanty and caused annoyance. When I would bend over to tie my shoes I found it very hard to straighten up because of the sharp pains that would catch me in the small of my back. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Collier Drug Co. I had no more trouble and can recommend Doan's very highly to anyone suffering as I was." (Statement given January 21, 1916).

On January 7, 1921, Mr. Bounds said: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good condition and I never miss a chance to recommend them. I seldom have any sign of kidney trouble now and give Doan's all the credit."

Get More Profits by Clearing More Land!

Measure the Profit of Your Stump Land—Cleared!

PLAN right now to clear off more land before planting—and after harvest, too. Use the "off-seasons" to provide for bigger profits on future crops. One crop usually pays the entire cost of clearing and leaves a profit besides. All following crops are clear profit.

The great land-clearing movement that swept the country in 1920 is even stronger in 1921—farmers the country over are clearing more land this year than ever before.

The modern way is to use dynamite for blasting out stumps and boulders, for this method is very rapid, reasonable in cost and leaves the land in good condition for cultivation. The majority of farmers use which has done and is doing highly efficient and economical work in the clearing of hundreds of thousands of acres, draining swamps and planting trees.

See our dealer for DuPont Dynamite. Write for Farmers' Handbook of Explosives. It's free.

as and ran around to the other side of the wreck where Jones, the engineer of the special, and his fireman were trying to break into the crushed cab of the 416.

The old major, the boss, and I stood by to help Kirgan, and the minute his head came up through the chopped hole we saw that he needed help. He had pried the screaming man loose, somehow, and was trying to drag him up out of the smoking furnace. It was done, amongst us, some way or other. Kirgan had wrapped the man up in a Pullman blanket to keep the fire from getting at him any worse than it already had, and as we were taking him out the blanket slipped aside from his face and I saw who it was that the master-mechanic had risked his life for. It was Hatch, himself, and he died in our arms, the major's and mine, while we were carrying him out to where Mrs. Shella was tearing one of the Pullman sheets that I had got hold of into strips to make bandages for the wounded.

It Was Hatch, Himself.

With the chance of saving maybe another one or two, we couldn't stay to help the brave little woman who was trying to be doctor and nurse to half a dozen poor wretches at once. But she took time to ask me one single breathless question:

"Have they found him yet?—you know the one I mean, Jimmie?"

"No," I said. "They're digging away at that side now," and then I ran back to jump in again.

Though the fire was now licking at everything in sight, Kirgan, who had taken the ax from our fireman, had managed to cut some of the car timbers out of the way so that we could see down into the tangle of things where the cab of the 416 ought to have been. There wasn't much left of the cab. The water-gauge was broken, along with everything else, but in spite of the reek of smoke and steam we could see that Hogan and his fireman were not there. But down under the coal that had shifted forward at the impact of the collision we could make out the other man—the murderer—lying on his back, black in the face and gasping.

That was enough for the boss. It looked like certain death for anybody to crawl down into that hissing steam-bath, but he did it, wriggling through the hole that Kirgan had chopped, while two or three of us ran to the little creek that trickled down on the far side of the "Y" and brought back soaking Pullman blankets to try to delay the encroaching fire and smother the steam-jets.

I couldn't see very well what the boss was doing; the smoke and steam were so blinding. But when I did get a glimpse I saw that he was digging frantically with his bare hands at the shifted coal, and that he had succeeded in freeing the head and shoulders of the buried man, who was still alive enough to choke and gasp in the furnace-like heat.

Kirgan stood it as long as he could—until the licking flames were about to drive us all away.

"You'll be burnt alive—come up out of that!" he yelled to the boss; but I knew it wouldn't do any good. With Collingwood still buried down there and still with the breath of life in him, the boss was going to stay and keep on trying to dig him out, even if he, himself, got burned to a crisp doing it. Loving Mrs. Shella the way he did, he couldn't do any less.

It was awful, those next two or three minutes. We were all running frantically back and forth, now, between the wreck and the creek, soaking the blankets and doing our level best to beat the fire back and keep it from cutting off the only way there was for the boss to climb out. But we could only fight gaspingly on the surface of things, as you might say. Down underneath, the fire was working around in front and behind in spite of all we could do. Some of it had got to the coal, and the heavy sulphurous smoke was coming up to make us all choke and strangle.

Honestly, you couldn't have told that the boss was a white man when he crawled up out of that pit of death, fugging and lifting the crushed and broken body of the madman, and making us take it out before he would come out himself. We got them both away from the fire as quickly as we could and around to the other side of things—Kirgan and Jones carrying Collingwood.

The poor little lady we had left alone with the rescued ones had done all she could, and she was waiting for us. When we put Collingwood down, she sat down on the ground and took his head in her lap and cried over him just like his mother might have, and when the boss knelt down beside her I heard what he said: "That's right, little woman; that's just as it should be. Death wipes out all scores. I did my best—you must always believe that I did my best."

She choked again at that, and said: "There is no hope?" and he said: "I'm afraid not. He was dying when I got to him."

I tried to swallow the big lump in my throat and turned away, and so did everybody else but the major, who went around and knelt down on the other side of Mrs. Shella. The wreck was blazing now like a mighty bonfire, lighting up the pine-clad hills all around and snapping and growling like some savage monster glowing over its prey. In the red glow we saw a man limping up the track from the west, and Kirgan and I went to meet him. It was Hogan, the missing engineer of the 416.

He told us what there was to tell, which wasn't very different from the way we'd been putting it up. They—Hogan and his fireman—hadn't suspected that they were carrying Bannan until after they had passed Bannan and Collingwood, but told them both that what he wanted to do was to overtake the special and smash it. Then there had been a fight on the engine, but Collingwood had a gun and he had threatened to kill them both if they didn't keep on.

"I kept her going," said the Irishman, "thinkin' maybe Jones'd keep out of my way, or that at the last I'd get a chance to shut the 'Sixteen off an' give her the henke. He kep' me 'em down it, and when I saw the tall-light, I pushed Johnnie Shovel off an' wint aftir him because there was nawthin' else to do. Johnnie's back younder a piece, wid a broken leg."

Just then Jones, the special's engineer, came up, and he placed out Hogan's story. The wire to Bannan had warned him that a crazy man was chasing him and overrunning stop-signals. He had thought to side-track the chaser at the old "Y" and that was what he had stopped for.

Thereupon the three of us went after the crippled fireman, and when we got back to the "Y" with him it was all over. Collingwood had died with his head in Mrs. Shella's lap, and the boss, fagged out and half dead as he must have been, was up and at work, getting the wreck victims into our day coach, which had been backed up and taken around to the other leg of the "Y" to head for Port City.

When it came time for us to move Collingwood, Mrs. Shella pulled her veil down and walked behind the body, with the good old major locking his arm in hers, and that choking lump came again in my throat when I remembered what Collingwood had said to the boss the night he came to our office: "Shella made her wedding journey with me once, when she was just eighteen. The next time she rides with me it will be at my funeral."

I guess there's no use stretching the agony out by telling about that mournful ride back to Port City with the dead and wounded. We left the wreck blazing and roaring in the shut-in valley at the gulch's mouth because there wasn't anything else to do; Kirgan and Jones and one of the firemen handled the engine and pulled out, while the rest of us rode in the day-coach and did what we could for the suffering.

A Banta we made a stop long enough to let the boss send a wire to Port City, turning out the doctors and the ambulances—and the undertakers; and though it was after three o'clock in the morning when we pulled in, it seemed as if the whole town had got the word and was down at the station to meet us.

I couldn't see Mrs. Shella's face when the major helped her off at the platform; her veil was still down. But I did hear her low-spoken words to the boss, whispered while they were carrying Collingwood and Hatch, and two of the others, who were past help, out to the waiting string of dead-wagons. "I shall go over with the body tomorrow—today, I mean—if the strikers will let you run a train, and Condon Bassil will go with me. We may never meet again, Graham, and for that reason I must say what I have to say now. Your eternally true one, (Continued Next Week.)

ROLL CALL OF RED CROSS TO START NOV. 11

Local Chapter Plans To Wage
Big Campaign For Members
In Wicomico.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED TO CARRY ON WORK HERE

Unless Citizens Respond Generously
To Roll Call Appeal, Wicomico May Lose Its Public Health Nurse—Excellent Work Has Been Done By Local Red Cross Nurse.

Plans are being formulated to conduct the annual roll call of the Red Cross in this county on a wide scale, and those in charge of the campaign have earnestly requested the co-operation of the public in helping to make it a big success.

The fifth annual roll call will be held here beginning November 11, Armistice Day, and will last until November 24, Thanksgiving Day, and during that time it is hoped to enroll every citizen in Wicomico county as a member of the Red Cross organization.

Committees will be appointed for the roll call period whose duties will be to make a thorough canvass of every part of Salisbury and all throughout the county. There are several classes of Membership in the Red Cross, which are as follows: Annual, $1; Contributing, $5; Sustaining, $10; Life, $50; and Patron, $100.

Extra efforts will be made this year to put the Roll Call "over the top" here because of the fact that unless the public comes to the assistance of the local chapter—unless the public gives generously to the efforts of the local organization—there is grave danger of the county losing the services of its Public Health Nurse. With such a condition confronting the local chapter, every means will be employed to wage a campaign for members as strongly as possibly from start to finish.

The activities of the Public Health Nurse in Wicomico are many and varied, and it is highly important that the roll call be made a big success if her work is to continue uninterrupted. As an illustration of the excellent work done by Miss Kell since she took up the work here, it need only be cited that since January 1, she has made 765 professional visits in the city and county and has administered to about 75 families. In addition, she has given instruction in Home Hygiene and the Care of the Sick to 64 women and girls and much good has resulted from this line of work.

Service in the way of advice as to eligibility for hospitalization and vocational training also has been extended to former service men on an average of twice a week at the local Red Cross headquarters.

Many serious cases of illness have been handled by Miss Kell, and the work here has grown to such importance that it would be a public calamity if the Red Cross roll call failed to obtain the whole-hearted support of every citizen, which it justly deserves.

In giving to the Red Cross, the public also must bear in mind that of all the membership funds solicited in the county, the local chapter is permitted to retain for its own activities only half of the amount received—the other fifty per cent being sent to National Headquarters for support of the national organization.

Every adult in Wicomico county will be asked to become a member of the Red Cross family during the Roll Call period, so let's all get together and help to greatly increase the family group.

GOVERNOR ASKED TO NAME HEBRON WOMAN

Legion Requests Appointment of Mrs.
Hester Davis To Represent State
At Arlington.

The Maryland Department of the American Legion, through its commander, Col. A. W. Woodcock, has written a letter to Governor Ritchie asking him to name a Gold Star Mother as one of the State's official mourners at the Armistice Day exercises to be held in Arlington Cemetery, at which time the body of an unknown American soldier killed in the late war will be buried.

Col. Woodcock has suggested to Governor Ritchie that he name Mrs. Hester Davis, of Hebron, to represent the Gold Star mothers of the State. Mrs. Davis' son, George P. Davis, who was a member of Company "I," was blown to pieces on August 31, 1918, and it is deemed both fitting and appropriate that Mrs. Davis should represent the Gold Star mothers at the Arlington ceremonies.

The National Department, American Legion, has requested the Governor of each state to name official representatives for the ceremonies in their respective counties. Mrs. Davis complies with the Maryland Department's request and appoints Mrs. Davis, there will be five others appointed as official mourners from the State of Maryland.

Local Concern Goes Into Receivers Hands

F. W. C. Webb And Wm. B. Lowe
Are Appointed Receivers For Wicomico Motor Car Company.

On application of the minority stockholders, the court on Monday appointed Messrs. F. W. C. Webb and William B. Lowe receivers of the Wicomico Motor Car Company. The corporation is engaged in the sale of automobiles and auto accessories and conducts a garage on Camden street. The receivers have been authorized by the court to conduct the business to the extent of disposing of the stock on hand and completing any incomplete repair work. An inventory has been made by Messrs. J. Waller Williams, U. C. Wimbrow and Henry H. Hanna under the supervision of the court.

The assets and liabilities of the company are each estimated at about $15,000.

Small Blaze Is Quickly Quelled

Fire In Dr. Hatch's Office Put Out
From Church Gives Scare.

A small fire which broke out in the office of Dr. E. E. Hatch, New Liberty Building, shortly after 11 o'clock last Saturday morning, caused the fire bell to be rung, but the slight blaze was extinguished in short order. At the same hour, smoke was seen issuing from the basement door of St. Peter's Church, and many bystanders were under the impression that the fire alarm had been sounded because the church was on fire. Investigation proved, however, that the smoke issuing from the church was due to failure to open the draughts of the furnace after a fire had been made. No damage was done.

MR. W. B. MILLER PRESIDENT OF SHORE LEAGUE

Prominent Salisbury Elected
As Head Of New Baseball
Circuit Friday Night.

APPLICATION MADE FOR
"CLASS D" MEMBERSHIP

Will Be First League On Shore To Play Organized Baseball—Parkley
Va., Gets Berth In League When Snow Hill Withdraws—Is Now
Compact Eight-club Wheel.

Mr. Walter B. Miller, a former member of the State Roads Commission and one of the most prominent citizens of Salisbury, was chosen as president of the newly organized Eastern Shore Baseball League, at a meeting of the league's representatives held here last Friday night. Hale Harrison, of Berlin, son of Senator Orlando Harrison, was elected the league's secretary, and Robert B. Matthews, of Cambridge, who is county treasurer of Dorchester county and a well known banker of the Dorset section, will serve as treasurer of the league.

Owing to the fact that Worcester county was awarded three berths in the circuit when the league was first organized, and since the impression has prevailed that three teams in one county would curtail the drawing power, a change in organization was effected Friday night by substituting Parkley, Va., and the withdrawal of Snow Hill. As the league stands now it is comprised of Cambridge, Crisfield, Pocomoke, Salisbury, Princess Anne, Berlin, Parkley and Laurel.

It was decided to start the season around the middle of June, and a 70-game schedule will be run off. This will permit each team to play five games in each town, comprising the wheel. A general admission fee of 40 cents was determined upon.

A committee composed of Henry W. Ruark, Salisbury, M. B. Thawley, Crisfield, and W. T. Sibbett, Cambridge, was appointed, and will get busy immediately on arrangement of the schedule.

Application was made by wire on Saturday to J. H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association Agreement, for membership of the league into the fold of organized baseball, and when this official sanction has been received, the Eastern Shore will have had the first baseball league in its history to play organized ball.

The following representatives attended Friday night's meeting: Crisfield, M. B. Thawley; Pocomoke, W. H. Schofield; Salisbury, L. W. Gumbly; Princess Anne, J. D. Walllop; Laurel, Dr. A. S. Williams; Berlin, T. M. Purnell; Snow Hill, C. W. Cordrey; Cambridge, W. T. Sibbett.

FRIDAY MORNING FIRE

Fire, which is believed to have been caused by a defective flue, broke out Friday morning in the frame house of Mr. George Jones, on Pine street, but was extinguished by the local fire department, before it had a chance to get well under way. The roof was badly damaged and other parts of the house were damaged by being flooded with water.

Authorities Recover Disharoon Jewelry

Most of Articles Stolen From Senator
Disharoon's Home in August Found
In Philadelphia

A portion of the jewelry stolen from the home of Senator Chas. R. Disharoon in August, was recovered in Philadelphia last week. Several of the most valuable pieces were missing when the stolen articles were recovered. Charles Birkhead, the colored youth who recently escaped from the reformatory, after being sentenced there during the last term of court, and who has been lodged in jail here since he was recaptured, is alleged to have been mixed up in the robbery. A letter written by Birkhead to a colored woman in Philadelphia advising her to ship the loot here, is said to have furnished the clue to the recovery of the articles. Birkhead, it is said, has implicated two other colored men in the robbery.

NEW POULTRY ORGANIZATION CONTEMPLATED

Mr. H. W. Rickey Outlines His Project For Aiding Sales Of Poultry And Eggs.

ASKS CHAMBER COMMERCE
TO GIVE ITS APPROVAL

Says That The Annual Wealth Of
The County Would Be Increased
$135,000 With Such An Organization Perfected—Will Capitalize At

Mr. H. W. Rickey, of the State Extension Service, University of Maryland, who now is on a three months' leave of absence, appeared before the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night and put before that body his plan for forming a corporation here for the purpose of purchasing and marketing poultry and eggs. It was the contention of Mr. Rickey that such an organization would furnish an outlet for all poultry and egg production not only in this county but by all other communities on the Del-Mar-Via Peninsula.

The Chamber referred the proposition to its committee on new industries, and at a meeting of the committee, which was held Monday, it secured the committee's endorsement and will be put before the Chamber at tonight's (Thursday) meeting for approval.

In his address delivered before the Chamber members, Mr. Rickey said: "As commonly managed poultry on the average farm is today not making a profitable source of income, largely because eggs are produced only during the season of low prices. In my extension work in this and other states it has been demonstrated clearly that eggs can be produced at good profit during the winter months by any man or woman with common intelligence, and this I intend to lay stress upon in my educational work in conjunction with the new enterprise, thereby encouraging the farmer to give more consideration to the farm flocks."

"By proper methods of management, including feeding and housing, conservatively estimate that within the next five years, the annual wealth of the agricultural district of the county should be increased by at least $135,000, basing this on a profit of $5 a week from each 100 hens during the winter months on 1500 of the 2500 farms in the county."

"The Eastern Shore," said Mr. Rickey, "because of its soil, climatic conditions and transportation facilities, offers the greatest field south of New Jersey, for such an undertaking. There is one other somewhat similar business in the State at Hagerstown, where the plan has proved a great benefit to the community."

Mr. Rickey proposes to carry on demonstrations in connection with his new business similar to those he conducted while in the extension service, and his office in Salisbury will be a center for educational work, his services being at the disposal of the farmers of the Eastern Shore in matters pertaining to poultry raising.

The corporation will be capitalized at $10,000, and will buy eggs and poultry at the plant and sold to New York markets as milk-fed stock, for which highest prices are always available.

Four reels of most attractive educational pictures, two reels of comedy and two reels of Western photodramas, have been programmed for the "Y" movie show which will start at 7:30 Saturday night.

ROTARY PLANS BACK-TO-SCHOOL MOVE FOR BOYS

Survey Of Boy Life In County
To Be Made—Questionnaires
Will Be Used.

ROTARIANS TO VISIT
ALL COUNTY SCHOOLS

Meeting Last Thursday Night Was Under Direction Of Boy's Work Committee—Mr. Walter B. Miller and
Mr. James M. Bennett each Deliver
Excellent Talks.

Rotarian Oscar L. Morris and his Boy's Work Committee had charge of the program at the last regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Thursday evening at the "Y." Assisted by Rotarians Walter S. Sheppard, Howard Ruark, Marvin C. Evans, Ralph O. Dulany, Carl Paynter, and L. Linwood Price, Jr., Mr. Morris' committee gave the Club something to think about.

Few Clubs of the International Association have failed to take an energetic interest in the boys of their respective communities, with resultant good, and it is expected that Salisbury shall soon see the results of such efforts as carried out by the local organization.

Several visitors were present at the meeting and appeared greatly interested in the program, which consisted of the reading by a number of Rotarians of articles explaining what Rotary is, doing, and hopes to do. Mr. Walter B. Miller, representing the school board, was among the visitors and made an excellent talk in which he showed plainly what he thought was the greatest work for the boys and girls of the country that boys and girls of the country that Rotarian James M. Bennett gave a detailed account of the standing of Wicomico County Schools in comparison with the schools of other counties in the State. While that standing is high, he believes that it can be materially raised, and both he and Mr. Miller, as well as Principal C. H. Cordrey of the High School, asked for the full-hearted co-operation of the Rotary Club in putting the schools of the county on a better basis.

"The work of the Boys' Committee will center around a 'back to school' movement. Before work with the boys themselves can be started, however, it will be necessary to make a thorough survey of the boy life of the community and the county. The information will be obtained by means of questionnaires, and all the people of the county are asked to give aid when the work actually begins. Definite plans for the survey will be announced by Chairman Morris later."

It has been proposed in connection with the "back to school" movement, that each Rotarian visit one of the schools in the county, become acquainted with the pupils and teachers and make a short talk with a view to inspiring the pupils to attend school for as many years as they consistently can. Since the number of teachers is approximately double the number of members of the Rotary Club, it has also been suggested that each Rotarian "adopt" two teachers and two rooms, and consider it his special duty to visit them regularly and help them in any way possible. All those present are hopeful that much good will come of the meeting. Other visitors at the supper were Miss Wilkie Woodcock, Mrs. Lee Betts, Miss Mamie Hastings, Miss May Hill, Miss Cora Gillis, and Mr. Charles E. Tilghman, attendance officer.

SCHOOL SOCCER TEAMS TO PLAY HERE TODAY

Wicomico High and Crisfield High To Engage In Practice Game At Gordy Park

The soccer team of Wicomico High School will play a practice game with the Crisfield High School team at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday) at Gordy Park. Much interest is prevalent in the ranks of the local high school students this year owing to the formation of the County Soccer League, and the boys from Wicomico High are putting forth their best efforts to whip into shape a winning team.

Lester Byrd, president of the Wicomico High School Athletic Association and also manager of the soccer team, stated yesterday that a campaign is being made to induce the public to buy season tickets for the athletic games to be played this year by the High School teams. These membership cards may be procured upon payment of $2.00, and the students are desirous of selling as many as possible in order to obtain funds to help pay the rental of the ball park.

A committee of high school students has arranged for the sale of the tickets and anyone desiring to procure a ticket may do so by applying to any of the students on the committee.

In a game of playground ball staged Monday night, the following teams were granted: Hooper S. Miles, to erect a garage on the north side of Williams street adjoining the property of T. Rodney Jones and others. J. E. Shuckley, to build a garage on the west side of Park street adjoining the property of A. C. Smith.

Fire Destroys Garage Of Disharoon & Heath

Building Burned to Ground Early Wednesday Morning—Short Circuit Attributed As Cause

Fire, which is believed to have been caused by a short circuit, entirely destroyed the garage of Disharoon & Heath, Main street, early Wednesday morning, causing a loss which is estimated at about $5,000. All of the mechanical tools, a small Ford runabout and everything else in the garage was totally destroyed by the flames.

The fire started around 1 A. M., and as there had been no fire in the furnace of the garage all day Tuesday, the owners of the garage are of the opinion that it originated from a short circuit. The Fire Department responded promptly to the alarm, but little could be done except keep the blaze under control and from spreading.

$25 Check Donated To Fire Department

Mr. D. C. Weatherhead Gives That Sum To Dept. For Responding To Alarm Sent In Monday.

The local Fire Department responded to an alarm of fire sent in from the vicinity of Pine Bluff Sanitarium last Monday afternoon when it was discovered that the woods adjoining the sanitarium property were on fire. It was not necessary for the fire ladders to get into action, but they stayed in the vicinity until it was found that their help would not be needed. The woods property that was on fire is only about 300 yards from the sanitarium building.

In appreciation of the Fire Department boys responding to the appeal for assistance, Mr. D. C. Weatherhead on whose property the woods are located, gave the Department a check for $25.

MR. W. N. PORTER LOSES HIS LIFE IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Well Known Salisbury Man Dies
From Injuries Received In Fall.

WAS PAINTING HOUSE
AT TIME OF ACCIDENT

Painter's Board Upon Which He Was Working, Gave Way, and He Was Thrown Three Flights To The Ground
—Funeral Services Will Be Held Thursday Afternoon.

The people of Salisbury and surrounding vicinity were greatly shocked and inexpressibly grieved Tuesday morning when it was learned that Mr. Wilbur Newman Porter, one of the city's most popular citizens, had met with a fatal accident while at work painting the house of Mr. W. S. Gordy, Jr., on Lemon Hill.

Mr. Porter was alone at the time of the accident, and was working outside the third-story gable window on the west side of the residence. The "jack," or painter's board, upon which he was working gave way, and precipitated him the full three flights to the ground, his body being badly crushed in the fall. All of the ribs on his right side were broken and his chest badly crushed.

Dr. Charles Fisher was hurriedly summoned and Mr. Porter was rushed to the Peninsula General Hospital, but passed away within five minutes after being taken there. The unfortunate accident occurred about 8:30 A. M.

The deceased was 47 years of age and was born in Somerset county, near Princess Anne. He had been connected with the firm of R. G. Evans & Son for a number of years, and it was only recently that he had assumed charge of all of the painting contracts of that firm. While he had lived some time in Philadelphia and Wilmington, most of his years had been passed in Salisbury.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Preston Short and Mrs. Dorothy Porter, both of Salisbury, and one step-daughter, Mrs. Madge Nugel, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Porter was a member of the local Fire Department and also a member of the local lodges of Odd Fellows and Moose. He was held in high esteem by everyone and leaves behind him a host of friends to mourn their loss.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Thursday) from his late residence on Main street and will be conducted by Dr. Joseph T. Herson. Interment will be in Allen Cemetery.

TWO BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED BY CITY COUNCIL

At a meeting of the City Council held Monday night, the following permits were granted: Hooper S. Miles, to erect a garage on the north side of Williams street adjoining the property of T. Rodney Jones and others. J. E. Shuckley, to build a garage on the west side of Park street adjoining the property of A. C. Smith.

SUNDAY WAS BANNER DAY AT ARMORY

Record Crowds Packed Building
To Take Part In The Revival Services.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AT AFTERNOON MEETINGS

Dr. McCombe's Address To Men Sunday Afternoon Was Stirring Message—Saturday Night Program Was Featured By Excellent Singing Of The Choir Of Youngsters.

Sunday was a record-breaking day at the Revival Meetings being held in the Armory under the auspices of Asbury M. E. Church. The third week of the McCombe-Clase Evangelistic Services was opened with large audiences at all the services of Sunday. The McCombe-Clase party have been heard by the most attentive and enthusiastic audiences throughout the two weeks of the campaign which have passed.

The service of Sunday morning will long be remembered by the members of Asbury Church. Dr. McCombe preached a strong sermon on the "Feeding of the Five Thousand," at the close of which almost the entire membership and officials of the church accepted the altar call and dedicated their lives to the Church for Service.

In the afternoon two Mass Meetings were held, one for Men only in the Armory, and one for Women only in the Asbury M. E. Church. At the meeting for men only it was estimated that there were well over 1000 men present. After an inspiring song service led by Prof. Clase six little boosters sang a very beautiful action song, "Rose, Rose, Rose," after which Prof. Robert Roberts played "The Church in the Wilderness" with chime effects. Prof. Clase sang in a most telling and effective manner "The Great Judgment Morning."

"The sins of men," was the theme of Dr. McCombe's address at this service, and he gave the men a stirring heart-to-heart message. He won the attention of that large crowd of men with his very first words. At the service for women only in the Asbury Church, at which Mrs. Roberts spoke, the auditorium was packed to the doors and it was necessary to open the Sunday school in order to accommodate the overflow. During the song service Mrs. Howard Clark sang a solo.

Long before 7 p. m., the crowds began to gather at the Armory and by ten minutes after seven all the available space was taken and every chair in use, and from then on it was impossible to allow any more people to gather in. Crowds were turned away disappointed. It was a service long to be remembered. It was estimated that nearly 2000 people were crowded into the Armory Sunday night. The meeting had been advertised to commence at 7:30 but at 7:10 Prof. Clase gave out the first song. The opening song service was soul stirring. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Prof. Clase sang a trio, "Jesus Blessed Jesus," and after the offering had been taken Prof. Clase rendered very effectively, "Come Other Day," "Excuses" was the subject of Dr. McCombe's discourse.

The interest in the campaign continues unabated as is evidenced by the large crowds attending. A jolly, lively bunch of boosters featured the program at the service on Saturday night. At 7:30 the Armory was crowded to capacity and the boosters marched in single file and received a hearty cheer from the large audience. It was an inspiring sight. The program which they gave at the opening of the service was delightful. Their songs and their yells were great. Dr. McCombe gave the story of Blind Bartimus.

MURRELL-CULVER CASE TRIED IN SNOW HILL

Jury Awards $100 Damages For Plaintiff In $25,000 Suit For Alienation of Affections.

The $25,000 Murrell vs. Culver suit for alienation of affections which was removed from Wicomico to Somerset county and later removed to Worcester county, was tried last week in the court of the latter county and the jury awarded a verdict of $100 damages for the plaintiff.

L. Irving Murrell, the plaintiff in the case, sued L. Gordy Culver for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections, and the case was one that attracted a great deal of interest in this county. It first appeared on the docket here in January, 1921, and was removed to Somerset county by the plaintiff and later removed to Worcester county by the defendant.

The trial started last Friday night and occupied the court's attention all day Saturday and part of Saturday evening. The jury retired about 10:30 P. M. Saturday and its verdict was announced around midnight. Messrs. Ellegood, Freney & Wallis, Miles & Myers, Staton & Whaley, and L. Atwood Bennett, were the attorneys for the plaintiff, while Messrs. Woodcock & Webb, with Wm. F. Johnson and Wm. G. Kerbin, local counsel from Snow Hill, represented the defendant.

HALLOWE'EN FUN

Every live boy wants to cut up a bit on Hallowe'en. Don't try to muzzle this natural inclination—just guide the boy's activities away from harm. A flashlight will provide a lot of wholesome fun, and certainly should replace the dangerous candle in the Jack O' Lantern.

Flashlights in tubular styles with nickel trim, others equipped with searchlight reflectors. Some flash on and off as the switch is pressed, others stay lighted until switch is released. Let the boys come in and look them over.

KEEP THE CITY STREETS CLEAN.

The action of the Mayor and City Council in making special efforts to keep the streets of Salisbury looking spick and span by employing a man to devote all of his time to attain this end, is deserving of the commendation of every citizen in the community. City streets that are permitted to remain dirty, unkempt and with a bedraggled appearance are not only eye-sores to those who have to pass over them, but they also leave an unfavorable impression upon the minds of the visitor who comes into our midst.

For the past ten days, Mayor Kennerly has kept the man employed by the city busily engaged in sweeping and cleaning Main, Division and Dock streets, and the results have improved the appearance of the streets wonderfully. In fact, the streets in our down town section have been kept about as clean lately as time and well applied energy could make them. It is a big forward step, and it now behooves every citizen to do his or her share in helping to keep the streets clean and free from litter and rubbish after the city officials have done their part by putting them in good, clean shape.

In this regard, our attention has been called to the practice that has obtained of late with reference to some of the merchants in the down-town section sweeping out their stores in the morning after the street cleaner has done his work—sweeping the dirt and waste matter from the stores into the streets and thereby partly undoing the good work toward cleanliness that had been accomplished by the street sweeper. It is scarcely much encouragement for the persons who are trying to do everything in their power to make the streets presentable to know that as soon as the streets have been cleaned, a fresh batch of waste matter is ready to upset all the good work done.

Those merchants who have been indulging in the practice of sweeping the rubbish from their stores into the streets almost directly in the wake of the street cleaner, would be lending a big helping hand in the movement for cleaner streets if they would show a little more precaution in this respect and co-operate with the city officials by either having their stores swept clean earlier or by sweeping the rubbish elsewhere than into the streets.

It would seem that the whole situation could be easily remedied if all the sweepings were deposited in ash-cans, or some other receptacle for the purpose, and left for the next arrival of the city street cleaner. Any method, however, is far better than littering up the streets within a short time after they have been put in order for the day.

We again warmly compliment the city officials for their progressive action and are hopeful that all the citizens of Salisbury will extend to them the fullest co-operation in helping the good work along.

"BETTER MILK" CAMPAIGN.

At its bi-weekly meeting held here on Tuesday afternoon of last week, the members of the Wicomico Woman's Club, after giving full discussion to the question, decided to wage a campaign that has for its object the betterment of milk standards in the county. The chairman of the committee which will have charge of the plans for the campaign, was most emphatic in stating that the campaign was not intended to be a direct attack on any individual enterprise or herd, but that the whole purpose was to see that milk standards of the county are raised to the highest possible degree.

The mere fact that statistics have disclosed that forty per cent of all the children who die from tuberculosis die from the bovine type should be enough to make us want to do everything humanly possible in order to cut down this percentage to a minimum. And if this situation can be met by improving the conditions surrounding the dairies and the dairy herds, then by all means the sensible plan is to proceed to improve them forthwith.

Autopsies performed on 600 bodies of persons dying from any cause showed that 5.7 per cent. died from bovine tuberculosis, so it would seem that the danger is not confined exclusively to children. But even if it were, are you not overly anxious that every precaution be taken to safeguard the health of your child, your children or your younger brothers or sisters? In this campaign there will be no attempt made to interfere with or embarrass any producers of milk who are exerting every effort to produce only the purest grade of milk—and there are many of them in the county—and it is to be hoped that these producers themselves will heartily co-operate in the movement.

One of the main things in the "better milk" movement is to see that absolute cleanliness prevails wherever milk is produced. It is highly imperative that cleanliness be the watchword in every detail of the production of milk. All men working around a dairy should be free from tuberculosis, the udders and flanks of each cow should be thoroughly washed before each milking, and the same cloth and water should not be used for a large herd of cows. The milk should be cooled quickly. Pasteurizing also will help kill the tuberculosis bacilli.

It is also important to know that a non-infected udder is not any sure sign that tuberculosis is non-existent. The real way to find out whether a herd is infected or non-infected is to have it tested. The government has veterinary inspectors for this purpose and what is known as an "accredited herd" is one that has successfully passed two annual or three semi-annual tests applied by regularly employed inspectors of the Bureau of Animal Industry or of the state where co-operative work is conducted and has otherwise complied with the regulations governing the work. In Wicomico county, there are said to be three "accredited herds" to date.

When we are reminded that bovine tuberculosis bacilli will live in butter fat as long as 153 days, we are of the opinion that too much scrutiny cannot be given to the matter, and we wish much success to the woman's Club in waging its campaign to a most successful conclusion.

WHEN THINGS GO WRONG.

When things go wrong in your toilsome day, an' the whole world seems askew, don't tear up the house in a reckless way—the trouble may be with—YOU!

We build our houses, stone by stone, an' finish 'em, bit by bit... but we ortn't to swear at the buildin' none, when one of the blocks don't fit....

... Fer you are a block in the mighty wall that grows by the Master's hand... It's probable YOU don't fit at all,—in the palace the Master planned....

This old world's apt to roll around in the way it was made to do.... And, when yer grist ain't properly ground, the man at the wheel is—YOU.

WHITE AUTO SERVICE CO.

Mr. White
Dear Sir:

To confirm our conversation of last week in reference to the stability of the Nash Car, I take great pleasure in quoting you from my record book, the exact performance and mileage of each of our cars, which as you know are constantly on the road day and night.

In February 1919 I bought a new Nash Sedan and a period of two years and over it has been in constant use under the management of various drivers. In that time it has travelled 74,700 miles and never once did it give the slightest trouble in the repair shop, and it is still performing with the same flexibility and power that is characteristic of the Nash and I am confident it will still hold its record for another two years or more.

I am as you know operating Nash Cars exclusively in my service and each and every one of them are making good as good records.

12	39,786
14	37,642
16	36,974
20	32,021

I will put on four or five more cars this year and you can rest assured that they will be Nash Cars. The Nash has thoroughly proven its worth as an economical, profitable factor of transportation in my line of business.

Trusting that you will take as much pride in the record of the performance of our cars, as I hold in recording the same and when record I feel is a credit any owner.

Yours Sincerely

ACTIVITIES OF THE SALISBURY Y.M.C.A.

National "Father and Son" Week Will Be Observed by Local Assn. From November 6 to 13

National "Father and Son Week" will be observed by the local Y. M. C. A. from November 6 to 13, and an interesting program of activities for celebrating the event has been arranged for the occasion. The festivities will start off with a "Father and Son" banquet, to be held Tuesday evening, November 8, at which time an elaborate spread will be served by a committee of mothers, and a special speaker will deliver the address. No father will be allowed to come to this banquet unless accompanied by his son, and no son may take part unless he brings his father. Because of limited space in the "Y" auditorium it will be impossible to serve more than 150 persons; therefore, 75 tickets have been issued and may be procured at the Association Building.

On next Monday night, the "Y" will conduct its big Halloween Carnival in the Association Building, and much interest is being shown in the approaching event. The auditorium will be decorated with corn, fodder, pumpkins and everything else significant of Halloween. "Bingo," the human ape will be there to entertain the kiddies, and much fun is expected from "Bingo's" pranks.

SHARPTOWN

The high school faculty held a box social in Pythian Hall, on Saturday night, which was very largely attended. The social was preceded with an oyster supper and it was well patronized. The whole affair was not only attended but every feature was a success and quite a nice sum was realized for the use of the school.

On Friday afternoon the faculty and student body of the high school gave the principal, Prof. J. Edwin Ford a surprise birthday entertainment in the assembly room of the school building. He was requested to let the classes remain in session a few moments at the close of the day's session. After they assembled, a few well prepared transposed high school songs and yells set principal thinking about what might be coming, but when Miss Helen Kilpatrick entered the room with a large cake with fifty-four candles in it he understood it all, realizing at once that he was fifty-four years old that day and that the school was celebrating the occasion.

Later ice cream was served and a very happy social hour was passed, all wishing that their very popular principal might live to enjoy many more such occasions.

Clarence Bramble, living near here, has been shipping large quantities of turnips to the Baltimore markets and they are netting him about 75 cents per bushel. The expense of seed was very slight and no cultivation. About the only labor is the pulling, trimming and hauling to the steamboat wharf.

They are shipped in sacks, each sack containing two bushels. The yield is about 250 to 300 baskets per acre and then leaving small turnips enough to produce a crop of greens next spring, for which there is always a ready sale in the local towns. Mr. Bramble finds the Baltimore market about the best, and is shipping from 50 to 100 baskets each week.

The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was held on Saturday night with Dr. Vaughn S. Collins in the chair. All finances were in hand and the pastor, Rev. Henry S. Dulany, was asked to return for the third year, and the vote was unanimous.

MARDELA SPRINGS

A revival of good will and true brotherly fellowship upon the part of all our Church members in all the religious organizations, for each other, is as we believe, the prime essential to the conversion of sinners on any large scale this winter. The writer is profoundly impressed with the seriousness and imperativeness of this proposition. We, as churches, have reached a crisis. It will take a united front to resist the tide of worldliness and church indifference.

Mr. Levin C. Marvel has a very hand and it is giving him lots of trouble.

This is some potato. Hey! Mr. I. H. Evans, of Athol, gave this scribe a sweet potato raised on his farm this season, measuring seventeen and one half inches around the center. Can you beat it? We didn't say EAT it, but BEAT it. Mr. Evans is the only grower that we chance to know who raises the pure, old-fashioned dry sweets. Much is said about the Nancy Halls, but to my taste the old fashioned dry beats them all. But there is no accounting for taste as the Old Woman said when she kissed the Cow. Twenty-two of these large sweets fill a hamper.

Last Sunday, while Captain J. P. Marshall and family were at dinner, an overheated oil stove in the parlor caught fire and badly damaged the piano and all the other furniture in the room. It was discovered just in time by someone on the street and thus averted what might have been a serious fire. No insurance.

Our Fire Chief, Mr. Raymond Seabreeze, is planning to bring our fire apparatus out and thoroughly overhaul it to see if the machinery is working properly. Since writing our History of Mardele Springs, some interesting documents have come into our hands, which, when we have time to examine carefully, may make some profitable disclosures. They are the Original Patents for land in our section, given away back in the Sixteenth Century. We will only say at this time, that they clear up two things. One is as to the spelling of the word, about which there was a difference of opinion. It is the word Baron. Some contended that it should be spelled Barren and others took the position that it should have two "r's". But according to these Patents, there is only one "r" in the word. My information was defective about the English Baron who was supposed to have settled here. The fact is, according to these Patents, it was the name of a certain Lord Baron, who came from England and located in the Province of Maryland, now Baltimore. We will subject these old papers to a microscopic examination and tell our readers what we find. The loan of these papers is through the courtesy of Mr. Andrew Armstrong.

Mr. Blunt, the principal of our school, has adopted an unique method of getting the boys and girls to observe the drift of things outside of the school. He has them to collect items of news and then passes these items on to our correspondent for correction and incorporation in the News Letters each week to the Wicomico News.

Mr. Victor L. Cullen is now in Detroit, attending the Michigan State Auto School where he is learning the Auto electrical business. He speaks of the pretty scenery enroute through the rolling hills of the Susquehanna Valley. He stopped over at Niagara Falls and while there visited the Shredded Wheat plant, which he says is the most hygienic factory in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Larmore, and daughter, Madlyn, entertained last Sunday, Miss Nellie G. Langrall, of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Langrall, Mr. and Mrs. Stry Larmore, and son, Brooks, of Tyaskin; Mr. Herman Larmore, of Bivalve; Mrs. Patty Calloway, Mr. and Mrs. Rowe Elliott and sons, Maurice and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vanables and daughters, Dorothy and Hazel and Mr. Sterling Jackson and daughters, Pauline and Annie, of Mardele.

Miss Esther Larmore, of Philadelphia, spent a part of last week at the home of her brother, Mr. J. S. Larmore.

Rev. G. W. Correll and wife left last Monday for Baltimore where they will attend the meetings of the Maryland Baptist Association, which convenes in the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Kerr Shennons, of Delmar, was a caller among his friends in town on Thursday, last. Mr. Shennons is well known here and is always a welcome visitor.

A sad reminder of the World War: Mr. Perry B. Farmer, who died from a wound received in battle, in France, in Nov. 10, 1918, and whose body was shipped home, was reinterred in the Parsons Cemetery, Salisbury, on October 20. Mr. Farmer enlisted in Co. E, 15th Field Artillery and went across the Sea in December 1917. He was wounded on Nov. 9, 1918, dying the following day. He is survived by father and mother, two brothers, Robert, of Quantico, and Earl, of Mardele; also a sister, Mrs. Mary Cook, of Baltimore. The young soldier was twenty five years of age. The funeral services were held in the M. E. Church, of Salisbury, and Elder P. G. Lester, of Virginia, officiated. The burial was conducted by the American Legion.

Owing to the Revival services, the Ladies Missionary and Aid Society, of the Baptist Church will be held on the First Wednesday in November, instead of the second Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Graham. Miss Bernice Graham spent the week-end with Miss Nelda Bailey, of Riverton.

Gas Goes Down 25 Per Cent.

IT'S almost the same thing when you install a Rayfield on your machine.

Because a Rayfield carburetor will cut your fuel bills down one-quarter. The saving in gas alone will pay for it in a few months.

It will make your machine run like new—full power; quick, easy starting; speed and endurance. Put a Rayfield on your car and feel the ready, powerful response when you step on the throttle. It's like a different machine.

Ask your garage-man to show you the Rayfield.

"FOUR HORSEMEN" IS WONDER PHOTOPLAY

Pictorialized Version of Ibanes' Famous Novel, Shown At Arcade, Is Artistic Triumph

War in all its grimness, has probably been brought closer to the people of Salisbury this week than at any time since the Armistice. The photodramatization of Ibanes' "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" gave local theatre goers a chance to see what happened "over there" during the great conflict, and undoubtedly recalled many vivid scenes to the veterans who witnessed the screen production, a production that marks milestones in the art of cinematography. As a work of super motion picture art it has never been surpassed, blending in realistic whole as it does contrasting threads of life, the beauty of the home, the tenderness and strength of love, the brilliance of the dance hall, and the splendor and awfulness of war.

While the horrors of the great war are filmed in awful reality, the allegorical horrors are perhaps the most vivid. Over the shell torn village of Villeblanche come riding through the clouds the Four Horsemen—War and Conquest, Famine and Death. The spectator knows that Villeblanche must remain on French soil—but another war would lose those terrible centaurs over his own home; hence the influence of the picture's symbolism. It is a mighty, moving argument against conflict.

The acting is consummate. Rudolph Valentino, a young Italian, who won fame as a dancer, as Julio, is typical of the pleasure-loving, dashing, romantic Latin, yet one who, when necessity forced him, knew how to devote himself body, heart and soul to the great cause of civilization. Opposite him plays the beautiful Alice Terry as Madame Laurier. Joseph S. Swickard as Marcel Desnoyers and Alan Hale as Karl von Hartrott divide honors, and other parts are excellently portrayed.

The filming is wonderful, as a million dollar picture ought to be. Every effort has been made to have the production true to detail in all particulars, and the producers have succeeded well. An entire French village with an elaborate chateau was erected only to be destroyed in the battle scene, and 125,000 tons of steel, lumber and furniture were required for the settings.

To those who have read the novel, the picture will be a source of further revelation. To those who have not read "The Four Horsemen," the picture will prove an interesting spectacle that has never before been equalled. The management of the Arcade is to be congratulated on having secured the production.

Brief Sketches of The Candidates For County Offices

The News herewith presents short biographical sketches of ten of the candidates who are running for county offices this year. All of the sketches have been written in an impartial manner, and in each instance the subject matter comprising the brief resume of the life of each candidate was sought and is printed solely as a news item. In fairness to the candidates, The News further wishes it made clear that all of the articles were written without solicitation of any kind on the part of the candidates, and they are not in any way, shape or form in the nature of paid advertisements, either directly or indirectly. Next week, The News will publish similar brief sketches of the candidates for the House of Delegates and the office of Sheriff.

J. CLAYTON KELLY Democratic Candidate CLERK OF COURT

J. Clayton Kelly, of Salisbury, who has been serving as clerk of the court for Wicomico county since 1915 and who is the Democratic candidate for that office at the coming election, was born in Parsons District February 19, 1864, and is the son of the late Davis M. and Martha S. Kelly. Educated in the public schools of Wicomico county, Mr. Kelly has led an active life ever since his boyhood days. After laying aside his books as a pupil, he assumed the active and arduous duties of instilling the knowledge he had gained into the youth of the county by becoming a teacher in the public schools of Wicomico. For six years he was actively engaged in the teaching profession here, and later resigned in order to accept a position with the Philadelphia Traction Company, Philadelphia.

The lure of the traction business held his attention for two years and a half, but the call of home, the desire to again mingle with old friends and relatives in his home county and State became strongly insistent, with the result that he returned to his native health with the intention of again donning the teaching toga.

Later, however, he changed his mind and decided to start into the mercantile business. For five and one-half years he followed this line of business at Kelly's P. O., after which he came to Salisbury and was engaged in the same business for three years. In 1906, he retired from the mercantile business and entered into the real estate business. The erection of dwellings, stores and the development of land were some of the principal features of his business which he successfully conducted.

In 1909, Mr. Kelly received the Democratic nomination for Sheriff of Wicomico and was elected to that office, serving the county with distinction. He was a candidate for the House of Delegates in the primaries of 1913, but was defeated for the nomination. Despite that defeat, Mr. Kelly accepted the decision of the voters philosophically, and pitched in and worked hard to elect the entire ticket. In 1915, he was elected as clerk of the court, and has given the county a good administration of the office. His ability to make friends, and what is a further great asset, his ability to retain friendships made, has proved of invaluable assistance to him in both his public and business life.

Mr. Kelly is a member of the Modoc Tribe Red Men, a member of the Pocahontas and also of the Newton Lodge of Odd Fellows, the Rebekahs and the Daughters of Liberty. His church affiliation is with Bethesda Methodist Protestant Church.

MISS ELIZABETH COLLIER Republican Candidate REGISTER OF WILLS

Miss Elizabeth Alice Collier, of Salisbury, enjoys the distinction of being the first Wicomico county woman to ever have her name appear on a ballot for political office in the county. She is the Republican candidate for Register of Wills, and was the unanimous choice of her party for the honor.

The subject of this brief sketch was born in Salisbury, and is the daughter of the late Dr. Levin D. Collier and Louisa Brattain Collier. Her father was one of the most prominent men in the county and numbered his friends by the score, while her mother's charitable work, before her death, is well known to everyone in the county.

Miss Collier was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county and ever since leaving school she has been actively engaged in numerous civic activities and in social work. She is a charter member of the Wicomico Woman's Club, being chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee of that organization, and has helped to promote every worthy object fostered by the club.

Ever since the organization of the United Charities of Salisbury, in 1914, Miss Collier has acted as its secretary and assistant treasurer, and in this line of work she has shown marked executive ability, while at the same time devoting countless numbers of hours of her time in helping to relieve the suffering and distress of those needing the assistance of the organization. She also is a member of the Needle Work Guild, and in this organization, too, she has done splendid service.

During the war, Miss Collier's activities were many and varied. She was appointed by Governor Harrington as a member of the Council of Defense for Wicomico county, which numbered five persons, and also was chairman of the drive made in this county to procure volunteer nurses for government service. It is noteworthy that Wicomico was one of the few counties in the State to raise its full quota—15—of nurses for this service. She also was chairman of one of the Red Cross classes that made surgical dressings for the government. Since the departure of the paid social worker who formerly was in Salisbury, Miss Collier has attended to this line of work remarkably well, much success resulting from her endeavors during those three years. Last year, Miss Collier was chairman of the Republican Women's Society of Parsons District and displayed much ability in this line of work.

Her uncle, the late Robert F. Brat-

tan, of Princess Anne, was elected to Congress from the First District more than twenty years ago. Miss Collier is still an active member of the local chapter, American Red Cross, and is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

ALAN F. BENJAMIN Republican Candidate CLERK OF COURT

Alan Francis Benjamin, Republican candidate for clerk of court of Wicomico county, was born in Salisbury, October 30, 1868. He procured his education in the public schools of Salisbury, and at an early age became a clerk in the office of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad (now the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company) under his father, the late J. Benjamin, who was superintendent of the old road for several years after assisting in building the line from Salisbury to Claiborne.

Mr. Benjamin received an excellent schooling in railroad work and filled several official positions in the road. While with the railroad company, he displayed marked ability along executive lines, his judgment on matters pertaining to the business of the road being sound and progressive. The fine railroad schooling gave him a keen insight into human nature, the handling of men, and of intensive business organization that has stood him in good stead in his later business career.

In 1890, Mr. Benjamin began the publication of "The Courier," a Republican weekly newspaper, which for several years was a success under his direction and management. The best interests of Wicomico county have always been close to his heart, and while editing and publishing his newspaper, he stood ever ready to advocate whatever redounded to the betterment of the county as a whole.

A few years ago, Mr. Benjamin was elected County Commissioner of Wicomico county in a spirited contest, and he is still serving on the board. He is generally recognized as a very able and progressive official, and one who has at all times strongly advocated measures that are progressive in every way.

For several years, Mr. Benjamin has been quite extensively engaged in the lumber business, being a member of the firm of Benjamin & Graham Company, operating a large mill at Fruitland and also interested in several saw mills operating in various parts of the county.

He is a director of the Bank of Fruitland and a member of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Benjamin also is a member of the Modoc Tribe Red Men and in his religious conviction is a Presbyterian.

THEODORE S. HEARN Democratic Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Theodore S. Hearn, democratic candidate for County Commissioner, was born in Parsons District June 30, 1879, and is the son of the late Samuel G. Hearn and Mrs. Frances Hearn. He received his education in the public schools of Wicomico county, and after leaving school he engaged in farm work. His large farm, which is right in the center of Parsons District, is one of the finest pieces of land in the county, and due to his intelligence and practical methods of tilling the land, he has built up for himself an enviable reputation along lines of both general and specialized farming.

Always active in movements to better the conditions of the Wicomico farmers and in all causes having for their object the improvement of farm products, Mr. Hearn helped to organize and is a director of the Wicomico Farmers' Association. His active work in this direction was a great help to the Association in obtaining the first 500 members that came into its fold. At present he is actively engaged in all of the Association's manifold duties, and his efforts are eagerly sought when matters pertaining to the welfare of the Association are discussed.

The good work done by Mr. Hearn in starting the Grange movement in Wicomico county is too well known by everyone to bear much repetition. Suffice it to say that he organized all the Grange work in the county, and for five years was County Master. For three years he has been Master of the Salisbury Grange and for two years he was Overseer of the Maryland State Grange. In all of this work, Mr. Hearn has shown exceptional ability as an organizer, and his executive ability, too, has been of invaluable assistance to the organizations he has helped to bring into existence. He is at the present time Master of the Salisbury Grange, which was the first grange to be organized in the county, it being formed in 1890.

Pure-bred corn is one of the specialties of the subject of this sketch, and Mr. Hearn has grown some super-excellent varieties that have won praise for him from almost every quarter.

In 1919, Mr. Hearn was a candidate for County Commissioner, and was defeated by only a few votes. He has served the county with distinction as Registration Officer, which position he filled for five years. Mr. Hearn has been a member of Modoc Tribe of Red Men for 20 years, and is a member of the Board of Stewards of the Zion Methodist Episcopal Church.

MANLIUS K. MORRIS Democratic Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Manlius K. Morris, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, was born in Pittsville District, July 30, 1860, and has always lived in that section of the county. He is the son of the late Leonard Morris and Mrs. Sallie Anne Morris, and was educated in the public schools of Wicomico county.

Mr. Morris is engaged in general farming near the town of Pittsville and also is interested in the lumber business, being the owner of a large saw mill and having extensive lumber interests throughout the county. Both as a farmer and as a lumber merchant, Mr. Morris has displayed that sound business acumen which makes toward success and his many friends aver that he will give added distinction to the office which he seeks if he is elected.

In 1911, Mr. Morris was elected as one of the County Commissioners of Wicomico county and served with great credit to himself and the county all through his term of office. His tenure ended in 1913, but while he was County Commissioner, all of the improvements on the Mt. Herman Salisbury road—a stretch of two miles—were made. It was the first time that the county began making clay roads, and Mr. Morris was greatly interested in seeing that the improvements extended to other sections of Wicomico.

This interest in county roads he still maintains, and his friends are making a strong plea for his return to office on the ground that he is thoroughly conversant with the routine work of the office, that he is greatly interested in road improvements and every other improvement that will tend to promote the interests of his county, and that his well known business ability will be a great asset in the administration of the county's finances.

Mr. Morris is a Democrat of the old school and has always maintained and evinced an active interest in the affairs of his party. He is a member of the Wicomico Farmers' Association and has been prominently identified with this fast-growing cooperative organization. He also is a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics and a member of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, Powellville.

JOHN W. DASHIELL Democratic Candidate REGISTER OF WILLS

John W. Dashiell, Democratic candidate for Register of Wills, of Wicomico county, was born at Tontank, and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Levin M. Dashiell. Mr. Dashiell's father was at one time the largest shipper of lumber and grain in the county, and was one of the county's most prominent citizens.

In 1903, the subject of this sketch was elected to the office of Register of Wills, and he was re-elected to the office in 1909 and in 1915. He is the present incumbent of the office, and all throughout his three terms of office, he has filled the duties required of him in an efficient and capable manner.

He has always taken a great interest in politics and once filled the responsible position of sheriff of Wicomico, in the years 1897-99, an office which he also filled with great credit to himself and his county.

Mr. Dashiell is the owner of a large farm near Fruitland, in Trappe District, and he is one of the biggest growers of blackberries in the county. For several years he was engaged in the mercantile business in Fruitland, and in this line of work, he was also successful.

In every nook and corner of Wicomico county, Mr. Dashiell has countless numbers of friends who are ever ready to sing his praises. He has always been found ready to assist the poor and the needy, and many are the reports of his charitable deeds that show him to be a big, generous-hearted man.

That he has administered the duties of Register of Wills in a capable manner is attested by the confidence which his party has in his integrity and ability.

ERNEST W. TOWNSEND Republican Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Ernest W. Townsend, Republican candidate for County Commissioner from Camden District, is the son of the late Isaac W. Townsend and Mrs. Elizabeth Townsend, and was born in Wicomico county November 2, 1874. He was educated in the public schools of Worcester county, and is the senior member of the firm of E. W. Townsend & Son, nurseries, which is one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country, making a specialty of growing and shipping strawberry plants.

Mr. Townsend is a self-made man and is justifiably proud of the success which he has made in life. About twenty years ago, he was appointed Rural Letter Carrier at the Salisbury Postoffice, which appointment he held for five years. At the same time, he worked on a small farm he had rented, putting in as much time as he could spare during the mornings at farm work and carrying the mail in the afternoons.

At the end of five years, Mr. Townsend found that his business had grown so large that he was compelled to give up his mail route and devote his entire time to his rapidly growing business.

By close application to work, and aided by a naturally keen insight into business affairs, today finds Mr. Townsend one of the largest shippers of plants in the world. He is the owner of 300 acres of the finest farm and truck land in the county; he also is a large stock-holder in the Salisbury National Bank, the Farmers and Merchants Bank and several other business concerns in Salisbury and Wicomico county. In addition, he is one of the largest buyers and shippers of produce in the county and enjoys the full confidence of the farmers in this section.

Mr. Townsend has always taken an active part in Republican politics, and in 1909 he was nominated by his party for the legislature. He was defeated by a small majority but received one of the largest votes any Republican in the county had ever received up to that time. His name was frequently mentioned as the next Postmaster of Salisbury, and in a petition circulated in his behalf this year he received one of the most flattering endorsements ever given a candidate for the postoffice in Salisbury. He is a member of most of the fraternal organizations in the county and also is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

GEORGE L. LONG Democratic Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

George L. Long, of Delmar, Md., democratic candidate for County Commissioner, was born in Sussex County, Del., November 20, 1875, and is the son of Richard W. Long and Arabelle Jane Long. In 1882, his family moved into Wicomico county, and he has been a resident of the county ever since that time.

He spent his early boyhood days on a farm in Melford's district and has been living in Delmar for twenty-four years, where he is recognized as one of that town's most prominent and progressive citizens.

Mr. Long is engaged in the fruit and produce and also in the real estate business. His work in building many fine homes in Delmar has greatly added to the attractiveness of that locality. He also has been a great booster for his town and county, and his name in the Delmar section is a synonym for progressiveness, sound business judgment and unquestioned integrity.

For eight years, Mr. Long was a member of the Town Council of Delmar and his administrative work during that time was of a high order. He resigned from his duties with the Council in April, 1919, after making an enviable record as a public official, but since that time he has always been aligned with any and all movements that signified the upbuilding of his home town and the advancement of the interests of his county.

Being thoroughly conversant with farming in its various phases, it was only natural that Mr. Long should meet with success in the fruit and produce business which he established fifteen years ago. He has enjoyed the confidence and respect of the farmers and his business methods have always been on the Golden Rule plan.

The ability of Mr. Long as an executive and financier is well known and admired by his many friends in the county. For several years he has been a director of the Bank of Delmar, and during the period of his disintegration the business of the bank has increased rapidly and the institution has flourished splendidly. This year is the first time he ever ran for a political office in the county.

He is a charter member of the Salisbury Lodge of Moose and is a member of several other fraternal organizations. Mr. Long also is a member of the official board and of the finance committee of the Delmar Methodist Episcopal Church.

DR. W. ORVILLE DAISEY Republican Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Dr. W. Orville Daisey, Fruitland, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, was born August 25, 1886, in Millville, Del., and is the son of F. S. Daisey and Leavay Daisey. He was educated at the Wilmington Conference Academy, Dover; Wilson Seminary, East Hampton, Mass.; Baltimore Medical College (now a part of the University of Maryland Medical School) and also took a year of post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Daisey has been engaged in the practice of his profession in Fruitland since 1915, and not only has he built up a lucrative medical practice, but he also has greatly endeared himself in the hearts of all the residents of that section with whom he daily comes into contact. Before establishing himself in Fruitland, Dr. Daisey was a surgeon for the Chinchfield Coal Corporation, Russell County, Virginia, for four years, and gained invaluable experience while working for his company among the coal miners of the Clinch Mountains, on the Tennessee-Kentucky border line.

In Fruitland, he has shown himself to be a good financier, and at present he is a member of the board of directors of the Bank of Fruitland. He is possessed of a winning personality and his friends, once made, are steadfast and true, which, after all, is a pretty good test of a man. He is a hard worker, is endowed with a clear thinking brain, and is greatly interested in everything that pertains to the welfare of Wicomico county. Among both rich and poor in his section of the county, Dr. Daisey, in fact, is held in the highest esteem.

Dr. Daisey is a member of Wicomico No. 31, A. F. & A. M., and is also a member of the following other fraternal organizations: Mystic Shrine, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, Moose, Elks and Tink Tank Tribe Red Men. He is affiliated with the Methodist Protestant Church, and is a member of the Wicomico County Medical Society, and the American Medical Association.

LORAH A. RICHARDSON Republican Candidate COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Lorah A. Richardson, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, was born in Willards District, December 14, 1879, and is the son of the late P. S. Richardson and Mrs. Ella M. Richardson. After receiving his education in the public schools of Wicomico County, Mr. Richardson turned his attention to farming. He now owns a splendid farm of about 100 acres situated between Willards and Pittsville.

In addition to his farming interests, Mr. Richardson has devoted a great part of his time to the building and contracting business, and he has been eminently successful in rapidly forging to the front as one of the county's most prominent builders and contractors. Possessing splendid mechanical knowledge, and imbued with a natural bent for estimating costs and delving deeply into intricate construction problems with a level head, Mr. Richardson, by dint of hard work and constant application to the job, soon met with the success that he justly merited.

The subject of this sketch helped to build many of Salisbury's most prominent buildings. The Salisbury Building, Loan & Banking Association Building and the Salisbury National Bank are only two of the city's splendid structures that he helped to build and to remodel, respectively. Throughout the city and county, he has helped to rear many other structures as adornments to the beauty and usefulness of the community. The new Pennsylvania Station is another building that he assisted in erecting, he being the leader on that job, which was completed about nine years ago.

Mr. Richardson's many friends are confident that the valuable experience he has gained while in the contracting business—experience that has sharpened his wits and brain in figuring closely on jobs of work to be done—would be of innumerable benefit to the county when it came to properly spending the money of the tax-payors in the county treasury. His ability to work quickly, without losing grasp of the situation in hand, and to go right to the bottom of things, his friends claim, should recommend him most highly for the office he is seeking.

This year Mr. Richardson is making his first appeal to the voters of the county, as he has never run for office before.

To Gain a Good Reputation

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended upon for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

The Geological Survey reports the production of soft coal continues to improve during the first week in October and for the first time since January, passed the nine million mark. The total output, including lignite, mine fuel and coal exports at the mine, is estimated at 9, 105,000 net tons, or 2.5%.

do the rest. If I were you, I should neither eat nor sleep until I had thought of some way to take the rail road out of the hands of those who have proved that they are not worthy to own it."

"I didn't know, just then, how much or little attention Mr. Norcross was paying to this mighty good, clear headed bit of business advice. What he said went back to that saying of hers that they might never meet again. "We must meet again, somewhere and somehow," he said. And then: "I did my best; God knows I did my best, Sheila. I would have given my own life gladly if the plan would have saved Collingwood. Don't you believe that?"

"I shall always believe that you are one of God's own gentlemen, Graham," she said, soft and low; and then the major came to take her away.

CHAPTER XX

P. S. L. Comes Home

By nine o'clock the next morning, as soon as I'd swallowed a hurried bite of breakfast in the grill room I sat upon a camp stool and a magazine out of the lounge and trotted upstairs to plant myself before the boss's door, determined that nobody should disturb him until he was good and ready to get up.

He turned out a little before twelve, looking sort of haggard and drawn, of course, and having some pretty bad burns on the side of his neck and on the backs of both hands. But he was all there as usual, and he told a good, brotherly hand on my shoulder when he saw what I was doing.

"They don't make many of them like you, Jimmie," he said. And then: "Have you any news?"

I had, a little, and I gave it to him. Fred May had come tip-toeing up into my sentry corridor about ten o'clock to tell me that Mr. Perkins had arranged with the strikers to have a special go east with the major and Mrs. Sheila and Collingwood's body to catch the Overland at Salisbury; and I told the boss this, and that the train had been gone for an hour or more.

Also, I gave him a sealed package that a strange boy had brought up just a little while after May went away. We took the elevator to the grill-room for something to eat, and at table Mr. Norcross opened the package. It contained a bunch of affidavits, eleven of them in all, and there was no letter or anything to tell where they had come from.

He handed the papers over to me, after he had seen what they were—sort of frowned across the table at me and said: "Do you know what it means—this surrender of those little affidavits, Jimmie?"

I said I guessed I did; that Hatch being dead, and Collingwood, too, there wasn't nerve enough left in the Red Tower outfit to keep up the fight; that the surrender of the affidavits was a kind of a plea for a let-up on our part.

"We'll begin to show them, in just about fifteen minutes, Jimmie," was the short comment. "Reach over and get that telephone and tell Mr. Ripley and Mr. Billoughby that I want them to meet me at my office at half-past twelve. Any news from the strike?"

"Nothing," I told him, while "Central" was getting me Mr. Ripley's number. "Fred May said it was going on just the same; everything quiet and nothing doing, except that the wrecking train had gone out to pick up the scraps at Timber Mountain 'Y.' Kirgan is bossing it, and the strikers manned it for him."

Nothing more was said until after I had sent the two phone messages, and then the boss broke out in a new spot. "Has anything been heard from Mr. Van Britt?" he asked.

"Not that I know of."

Again he gave me that queer little scowl across the table.

"Jimmie, have you found out yet why Mr. Van Britt insisted on quitting the service?"

I guess I grinned a little, though I tried not to.

"Mr. Van Britt is one of the best friends you've got," I said. "He thought you needed this strike, and he wanted to go out among the pay-roll men and sort of help it along. He couldn't do a thing like that while he was an officer of the company and drawing his pay like the rest of us."

"I might have known—he is as good as told me," was the reply, made kind of half-absently; and then, short and quick: "How's the stock market? Have you seen a paper?"

I had seen both papers, at breakfast-time, but of course they had nothing startling in them except a last-minute account of the wreck at Timber Mountain "Y." grabbed off just before they went to press. They couldn't have anything later from New York than the day before. But Fred May had tipped me off when he came up to tell me about the Major Kendrick special. The newspaper offices were putting out bulletins by that time.

I told Mr. Norcross about the bulletins and was brash enough to add: "We're headed for the receivership all right, I guess; our stock has tumbled to twenty-one, and there's a regular daylight going on over it at the railroad post in the Exchange. Wall Street's afe and burning up, so they say."

The chief hadn't eaten enough to keep out alive, but at that he pushed his chair back and reached for his hat.

"Come on, Jimmie," he snapped. "We've got to get busy. And there isn't going to be any receivership."

We reached the railroad headquarters, which were as dead and quiet as a graveyard—a little before Mr. Ripley and Billoughby got down. But Mr. Editor Cantrell was there, waiting to shoot an anxious question at the "Well, Norcross, are you really in talk now?"

"Not just yet; tomorrow, maybe," was the good-natured rejoinder.

"All right; then, perhaps you will tell me this: Do you, yourself, believe that four or five thousand railroad men have gone on strike out of sheer sympathy for a few hundred C. S. & W. employees, most of whom are merely common laborers? Can you look me in the eye and tell me that you haven't fomented this eruption on the quiet to get the better of the Red Tower crowd in some way?" demanded the editor.

"I can, indeed," was the smiling answer.

Cantrell looked as if he didn't more than half believe it.

"Being a newspaper man, I'm naturally suspicious," he put in. "There are his doings down underneath all this that I can smell, but can't dig up. Everything about this strike is too blamed good-natured. I've talked with half a dozen of the leaders, and with any number of the rank and file. They all grin and give me the wink, as if it were the best joke that was ever pulled off."

Again Mr. Norcross smiled handsomely. "If you push me to it, Cantrell, I may say that this is exactly their attitude toward me."

"Well," said the editor, getting up to go; "it's doing one thing to you, good and proper. Your railroad stock is tumbling downstairs so fast that it can't keep up with itself."

"I hope it will tumble still more," said the boss, pleasantly, with another sort of enigmatic smile; and with that Mr. Cantrell had to be content.

As the editor went out, Fred May brought in the bunch of foggy telegrams and laid them on the desk. They were quickly glanced at and tossed over to me as fast as they were read. Most of them were plaintive little yips from a strike-stricken lot of people along the Short Line who seemed to think that the world had come to an end, but there were three bearing the New York date line and signed "Dunton."

The earliest had been sent shortly after the opening of the stock exchange, and it ran thus: "Morning papers announce strike and complete tie-up on P. S. L. Why no report from you of labor troubles?" (Continued on Page 15.)

The question has been asked: In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. The Best Gasoline Costs no More

DURING our many years' experience in producing gasoline we have discovered that the proper blending of basic crudes is necessary for a well-balanced fuel. And our access to practically every developed oil field has insured full utilization of the various types and grades of crude in exactly the proportions needed.

The improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is produced through the efforts of our Development Department experts. These men have devoted their lives to the study of oil refining and the relation between the properties of oils and the uses to which they are adapted. "Standard" Motor Gasoline represents the fruit of their years of painstaking experimentation. It is uniform in quality, quick-firing, clean-burning. It is the best gasoline obtainable, and costs no more than any other.

The consistent use of "Standard" Motor Gasoline will go far towards correcting many of the more common difficulties of motoring. If your engine overheats or gives off vile exhaust gases, if your cylinders miss or carbonize quickly, if the oil in your crankcase becomes diluted, it is probable that you have been using the wrong gasoline.

Fill up with the improved "Standard". On sale wherever you see the familiar "S.O." sign. Remember—it costs no more.

TUBERCULAR TESTS AS VIEWED BY MR. VAN HORN

Manager of The Homestead Dairy
Writes Open Letter About Tests
For Dairy Herds

The producers and distributors of milk throughout the United States have undertaken an educational campaign whereby they hope to create a greater consumption of milk. This Association is called the National Dairy Council with the main office in Chicago. They number among their friends in this campaign such men as Dr. Hopkins of Johns Hopkins University and Dr. Graham of Cornell University.

During this educational campaign an endeavor has been made to keep away from debatable subjects which might create suspicions and unfavorable feelings. It is to be a strict campaign of education as to milk food value; its relation to health and happiness; and the production and cost of milk to the consumer in comparison with other food products.

Therefore, we desire to say that the Homestead Dairy herd was Tubercular tested a little over two years ago, it consisted at that time of 162 head over six months of age. The results being four reactions, upon being shipped to Baltimore and slaughtered under inspection three according to the report showed slight lesions and passed for meat, one showed no lesions whatever. We also tested a number last January, that was intended to be shipped to another state, most of them being purebred about one year previous and at that time were tested. We had a number of reactors, all have been disposed of and these also were killed under inspection passed for meat with the exception of one which was injured, so the facts are we have no Tubercular cows ascertained by the Tubercular test or physical examinations as far as known at the present time.

I have had the management of large Dairy herds for the past fifteen years producing and retailing high grade milk and at times producing certified milk. I have had my own troubles with the question of Tuberculosis in Dairy Cattle; in fact that is about as long ago as much interest has been given tubercular testing. I was hysterical over the tubercular test for a number of years but owing to the fact that I have seen so many cows react and on post-mortem examination found no lesions and seen so many that did not react upon slaughtering found them to be tubercular that I have returned to normal. Up to a short time ago the Tuberculin could be easily obtained and it was a very easy matter for unscrupulous dealers and dairymen to beat the game whereby no reaction could be obtained even when tested by a reliable man.

It is a question whether Bovine-Tuberculosis can be transmitted to the human being—if so then only through Tubercular udders is there danger. If Bovine-Tuberculosis can be transmitted we all would have Tuberculosis as none of us who ever used milk, have escaped from cows that would react. Physicians say that 90 per cent or more of the human beings would react if the test was applied to them. It is a well known fact that the Tubercular test, as applied to cattle up to about three years ago, did not get us anywhere except the slaughtering of thousands of cattle, that would have lived for a hundred years and would not have been troubled with tuberculosis. The honest owner being a victim of an undeveloped science.

The present method of testing the "accredited herd" which has been in operation about three years or a little over, is conducted generally by the state and United States Bureau of Animal Industry. Three different tests are applied at the same time; three or four times as much Tuberculin is used as formerly. When three semiannual tests are made without any reaction, or two annual tests without any reaction the herd automatically becomes "accredited." I believe I am right in this, there is a small appraisal of about $75. for grades, $150 for registered animals in which the U. S. Government pays one-third, the state one-third and the owner one-third. The test as applied by the Government has, as reports show, thus far have been doing good work in exterminating Tuberculosis and herds, as it seems, at the present time are holding well, not showing many reactions. This being so as a reaction with and as well as with many others with wide experience in tubercular testing of Dairy herds. The state at the present time is short of funds which accounts for the Homestead Dairy not being tubercularly tested by the state. The application has been in the hands of the State Authorities since about last March.

When the only consideration is given to the Tubercular test it is like getting a card in a glass-roofed car, swimming in a life preserver, milk should come from a cow free from disease determined by a physical examination as well as the tubercular test if sold in raw state.

Careful inspection should be had of all utensils and barns and places where milk is handled, as well as washing, sterilizing and cooling. Milk which is from healthy cows and is clean, fresh and which has been kept cool will have a low Bacteria count but milk that is dirty, stale and has been left warm will have a high Bacteria count. The health officials use the Bacteria count as an indicator of the degree of care in the production of milk and are justified in excluding milk with high Bacteria count which is considered unsafe for human consumption. Control of the Bacteria in milk depends upon the condition of the cow, cleanliness, and temperature.

The requirements are much the same as in some smaller places where a commission has been formed, and an inspection maintained regulating the sale of milk and meats. The latter equally important as milk.

A visit from an inspector at different intervals throughout the year, a score card used, and a scoring made, many things entered into the score received. I will not enumerate them but will mention three most important: condition of cows by physical examination, sun light and the temperature to which the milk was cooled, and the place of handling was scored as well as the barn and cattle, in fact every thing pertaining to the production and handling of the milk. The one great trouble is to get a competent inspector, one who has actually done things plus the proper training, as no one is competent to direct in any line of work unless he has done the thing himself. A man says he can milk, do you suppose you have to wait and see him milk a cow, or try to, before you know whether he is telling the truth or not? No, you can tell as soon as he picks up the milking stool. So it is in any line of work; you don't get very far before they find out whether you know or not.

A Dairy Farmer is always ready and willing to co-operate, whereby he is able to better his condition and that of the public in general, especially is this true of the Dairy Farmer who retails his own milk. There is a feeling of special interest in his product and in his customers. It costs money to produce milk and untiring efforts. Did you ever stop to think that his dairy labors are seven days to the week, year in and year out, never going to bed on Saturday night with no thought of the morrow, any experience adds of course to the cost of his product. We want him to go to the necessary expense to make his product safe, pure and wholesome. As I understand something has been started to improve the milk supply of the city of Salisbury, let the good work go on. We hold no shield. The Homestead Dairy Farms can meet any and all requirements. Our equipment is good as is known at the present time.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

The Advice of This Salisbury Woman Is Of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Oftentimes 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Salisbury women know this. Read what one has to say about it. Mrs. E. P. Shockley, 507 Tilghman St., Salisbury, says: "I had backache so badly I was almost helpless. There was a constant dull ache through my back and sides. I had such a soreness across my kidneys that every move I made caused dreadful pains. I had headaches and nervous, dizzy spells. My feet and ankles swelled at times, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard's Drug Store. They soon relieved the backache and headaches and the swelling left. I felt better in every way." 60c at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Pedrick

PISTON RINGS

Are You Losing Power Right at the Start?

There is one thing the matter when cylinders foul with oil and carbon and the motor lays down on the job—bad piston rings.

And there is one correct answer to the problem—Pedrick True-Fit Rings.

Pedrick Rings are built to seal the cylinder chamber—and that's exactly what they do. They press against the cylinder wall with equal radical pressure at all points. This feature, which is the secret of piston ring perfection, is exclusive to Pedrick True-Fit Rings. It results from the patented process by which the rings are made and it accounts for their quick and permanent fit against the cylinder wall.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings have been adopted by leading automobile and engine manufacturers after exhaustive road and laboratory tests proved them superior to any other piston ring on the market. The experience of such manufacturers as Cadillac, Packard, Hudson, etc., is your assurance of perfect piston performance with Pedrick. Your car will be a better car with Pedrick Piston Rings. The motor will operate like new. You will have increased power, less fuel and oil consumption, and carbon troubles will be banished. Stop at your dealer or repair shop today and ask him to show you why Pedrick's are the best Piston Rings you can buy.

Pedrick True-Fit Piston Rings are sold under the unqualified guarantee that they will produce more power, save more fuel, save more oil and have more effect in reducing carbon and smoke, than any other piston rings made. The customer will be the sole judge. If he is not satisfied that Pedrick True-Fit Rings make good all claims, the dealer is authorized to refund the purchase price any time within six months from date of sale, and the manufacturer will refund the dealer's money without question.

CHEAPER MONEY IS EXPECTED BY BANKERS

Decline in Rates Within 90 Days Is Looked For By Many Leading Financiers

Leading bankers are expecting an appreciable decline in rates for money within the next 90 days, although money is now offered much below rates prevailing twelve months ago. Contraction House loans discounts and investments in past year, which constitute roughly one eighth of the loans, discounts and investments for the entire country, has amounted to $1,021,703,000. That means that total loans for all banks are down about $3,000,000,000 compared with a year ago. Loans are paid off, reserves are released, adding to the money market supply.

Another factor that is expected to depress interest rates is the unprecedented accumulation of gold. In the past twelve months total monetary gold stock has increased more than $700,000,000, and we now hold about 43% of the world's known gold. And, while many bankers express the opinion that the inflow of the yellow metal will be smaller in the future, weight of opinion is that there is no indication of an important export movement occurring presently.

Another development expected to have great weight in forcing money rates down is cessation of demand for funds for crop-moving purposes. At this season a large supply of funds is normally required to finance crop movement, but after first of year it is expected that idle money will pile up rapidly.

Interior banks will soon have large supplies of surplus cash which will seek investment in this market, either in the acceptance market, call money market, or short term notes. In any case, it will mean an increased supply of funds in New York, and according to precedent should result in cheaper money on the stock market.

Whereas for several years call money was put out by the local banks in the way of "duty" to the stock market or whenever they found a certain amount on hand each day, commercial demands taking up their principal attention, now the call money market is being regarded as a regular repository for funds as it was in former times.

One banker expressed the opinion that call money will be in plentiful supply at 3% within 90 days.—Wall St. Journal.

FORSEES ERA OF GREAT COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY

Ship Owner Says Business Is Getting Better and Predicts Great Revival of Shipping

Captain Robert Dollar arrived several days ago aboard his own liner, the Robert Dollar, from Shanghai, after a six months' trip through the Orient.

"From observation I am firmly convinced that the bottom of business depression has been reached throughout the world and business conditions are gradually becoming better," said Captain Dollar. "On this trip I have visited the principal ports of the Orient, including Shanghai, Hongkong, Yokohama, Singapore, Calcutta, Bombay and others.

"There is a great commercial future ahead of China. We now are running a number of river steamers over 1,500 miles up the Yangtze river to supply cargoes to our ships from the interior of China. The word America is almost a magic word to the Chinese, even far inland, and they do all in their power to help Americans.

"A year hence I look for a great revival in shipping all over the world, and I think the major portion of ships that are now idle will then be handling cargoes.

"There is a something unrest of labor in Japan and China, and some day this unrest is going to break forth like a volcano. Asked what he thought the Japanese attitude would be in regard to the Disarmament Conference, Captain Dollar said: "It must be remembered there are two parties in Japan, the Military and the non-Military, the latter being headed by the merchants. The Military will be absolutely opposed to any question of disarmament. The Non-Military party will do all they can in favor of disarmament, but at present the Military party is in power. The latter, however, does not represent the will of the people as it is composed of less than a third of the total."

Mr. Thayer, accompanied by W. S. Gifford, first Vice-president, made the trip, as he put it, "to get first hand knowledge of general business conditions in the West."

"I found the cattle, copper and grain country suffering from poor business and lack of money, but there was no pessimism and everybody I came in contact with from rancher up to bank official looked for better things and believed that the tide had turned."

Mr. Thayer, accompanied by W. S. Gifford, first Vice-president, made the trip, as he put it, "to get first hand knowledge of general business conditions in the West."

"The mountain states are suffering from the copper mines being closed down. I visited some mines where there was no one to be seen except watchmen, but talking to officials of banks and our own local office, I found sentiment optimistic even there. They all said sooner or later our copper will be needed with production at such a low ebb."

"I was surprised to find that the lumber business in the Northwest was quite good," said Mr. Thayer. "I found earlier in the year business in this industry had fallen off, but it is now running ahead at almost normal with a plenty of orders on hand."

"I talked with all the officials of our associated companies en route and found the telephone development and business good," added Mr. Thayer. "Of course, the varying business conditions in the different centers made for less or more telephone business. For instance in the mountain states our company is just holding its own but the mines closed. Our Pacific Coast companies are doing excellent."

Out that taking 70 as average good telephone service the country over which had sunk as low as 50 last year it is now nearly 90, the best average telephone operation the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has ever enjoyed.

DEMAND FOR CUT HAY GREATLY DIMINISHED

Only a Few Shippers Now Prepare This Commodity For Market—Is An Excellent Feed

The demand for cut, or chopped hay, has diminished to such an extent during the past decade that at present only an occasional car is bought by city dealers while only a few shippers prepare this commodity for market.

But back in the days when phantoms, surreys, and smart traps drawn by high-stepping trotters and easy-going "family" horses were seen upon the boulevards, and the heavy hauling was done by big draft horses rather than by gasoline-eating trucks, many city dealers operated plants for the preparation and baling of cut hay. Numerous plants also were situated in the producing sections of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The advent of the automobile, however, has changed all this, aided materially by the substitution of electricity for mule power as the propelling force of street cars.

The kinds of hay usually chopped were timothy and clover mixed. While hay which had become slightly over-ripe or which contained a mixture of grasses frequently was used, only good, sound, and sweet feeding hay was considered fit for shipping.

Cut hay is generally fed mixed with grain and is considered an excellent feed, as it prevents the stock from eating the concentrated grain ration too rapidly. The hay is usually dampened when used in this manner. This is one of the disadvantages of feeding it for more than enough is mixed in a short time it is likely to sour if the weather is warm, or possibly freeze if the weather is cold. This condition, together with the labor and bother of mixing, has caused feeders in many instances to turn to ready-mixed and molasses feeds.

However, for feeders who desire to prepare their own mixed feed ration the cut hay is probably the most convenient ingredient that can be used to produce the required bulk.

Fertilizers Reduce Shrinkage Of Corn

Properly Balanced Ration of Fertilizer Produces Corn of a Higher Quality

The usual practice in reporting results from fertilizers is to give the increased yields. In most cases an increase in yield means improved quality in the whole crop—in appearance, in weight per unit volume, and in nutritive value. It seems only reasonable that quality should be given consideration when increased yields from fertilizers are recorded.

In discussing this point Professor Grantham presented long-time fertilizer results obtained at the Delaware Experiment Station, in which he showed that when corn received a balanced ration in the form of a proper and complete fertilizer the corn produced was of higher quality as compared with corn not properly fertilized. The same results held true in winter wheat and grass. Properly fertilized wheat weighed more than 60 pounds to the measured bushel.

Another interesting point brought out by Professor Grantham was that properly fertilized corn suffers much less shrinkage while in storage than unfertilized corn. This conclusion was based on experimental data gathered by the Delaware Station.

As regards the comparative nutritive value of properly and insufficiently fertilized crops, an abundance of evidence may be presented proving that proper fertilization increases the feeding value of the crop.

Bad Grading And Packing Cause Losses

One Shipper Loses $200 For His Failure To Grade Properly—Is Important Factor.

Dealers of potatoes in a southern city bought a car of Bliss Triumph potatoes packed in bushel crates from a firm in Florida, with specifications that the car should contain 20% of U. S. Grade No. 2 and the rest No. 1. On arrival, an inspection was made and it was found that the stock supposed to be No. 1 contained a large percentage of No. 2's in each crate. The potatoes supposed to be No. 2's were not much larger than ordinary marbles. On account of his failure to segregate the No. 1's from the No. 2's and the extremely small size of the potatoes supposed to be No. 2's the shipper lost something like $200.

A short time ago a jobber in the same city purchased a car of U. S. Grade No. 1 Round Whites from what was supposed to be a reliable shipper in a northern state. Upon arrival an inspection showed that the two top layers of sacks contained stock that was sound and up to the grade requirements in every respect. The potatoes in the bottom layers of sacks, however, were badly smeared with dry decay from contact with decayed stock that had been reconditioned at shipping points. These sacks contained also about 5% decay and were necessarily resorted at the receiving point. The result was a heavy loss to the shipper.

TO DECIDE ON STATE WIDE PURCHASING PLAN

Co-operative Plan For Farmers Will Be Acted Upon at Meeting To Be Held in Baltimore, Oct. 27

A meeting of agricultural interest in the State to take definite and final action on the State-wide purchasing plan for farmers, recently approved by the executive council of the Maryland Agricultural Society, is being called for 10 o'clock, October 27, at the Hotel Rennett, Baltimore.

Announcements of the meeting are being sent out by Dr. Thomas B. Symons, secretary of the Maryland Agricultural Society, following a recent determination on the part of the purchasing committee to push definite action on the plan to a speedy conclusion. It is expected that upwards of 150 representatives of farm organizations throughout the State will be present.

"Particular effort is being made," said Dr. Symons, "to reach every organization of farmers in the State interested in co-operative buying and selling. All local organizations, including granges, are invited to send representatives to the meeting; whether or not they are notified in advance. It is the purpose of the committee to create as wide spread interest in the plan as possible and it is important that all organizations be represented so that the plan may be thoroughly discussed and understood. Each county should have at least three representatives and every local farm organization engaged in co-operative enterprises should send its representative."

The purchasing committee, composed of C. E. Bryan, Harford county; J. W. Henderson, Montgomery county; J. E. Patten, Dorchester county; H. E. Nelson, Talbot county; and George I. Gardner, business manager of the Maryland Tobacco Growers' Association, has made definite arrangements for the completion of preliminary details prior to the meeting on October 27.

These details include the drafting of a certificate of incorporation, and a constitution and by-laws, the preparation of a prospectus, and consultations on the legal status of the proposed buying agency.

The modern way is to use dynamite for blasting out stumps and boulders, for this method is very rapid, reasonable in cost and leaves the land in good condition for cultivation. The majority of farmers use

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere.

threatening? Compromise at any cost and wire emphatic denial of strike. Answer quick."

The second of the series had been filed for transmission an hour later and it was still more saw-toothed.

"Later reports confirm newspaper story. Your failure to compromise instantly with employees will break stock market and subject you to investigation for criminal incompetency. Answer."

The third message had been sent still later.

"Your continued silence is inexcusable. If no favorable report from you by six o'clock you may consider yourself discharged from the company's service and criminal proceedings on charge of conspiracy will be instituted at once."

I thought things were beginning to look pretty serious for us if Mr. Duntun was going to try to drag us into the courts, but Mr. Norcross was still smiling when he handed me the last and latest telegram in the bunch. It was from Mr. Chadwick, and was good-naturedly ironic.

"To G. Norcross, G. M.,

Port City.

"Just returned from trip to Seattle. What's doing on the Short Line?"

"Chadwick."

"A couple of telegrams, Jimmie," said the chief, as he passed this last wire over, and I got my note-book ready.

"To B. Duntun, New York. Strike is sympathetic and not subject to compromise. Traffic moving regularly. My office closes today, and my resignation, effective at once, goes to you by Fast Mail tonight."

"Now one to Mr. Chadwick, and you must send it in code," he directed crisply. Then he dictated:

"See newspapers for account strike. Hatch and eight of his associates were killed last night in railroad wreck. Duntun has demanded my resignation and I have given it. Have plan for complete reorganization along lines discussed in beginning, and need your help. At market opening to-morrow sell P. S. L. large blocks and repurchase in dribs and drabs as price goes down. Repeat until I tell you to stop. Wire quick if you are with us."

Just as I was taking the last sentence, Mr. Ripley and Billoughby came in, and Mr. Norcross took them both into the third room of the suite and shut the door. An hour later when the door opened and they came out, the boss was summing up the new orders to Billoughby: "There's a lot to do, and you have my authority to hire all the help you need. See the bankers yourself, personally, and get them to interest other local buyers along the line, the more of them, and the smaller they are, the better. I'll take care of Port City, myself. I've had Van Britt on the wire and he is taking care of the employees—yes, that goes as it lies, and is a part of the original plan; every man who works for P. S. L. is going to own a bit of stock, if we have to carry him for it and let him pay a dollar a week. More than that, they shall have representation on the board if they want it. And while you're knocking about, take time to show these C. S. & W. folks how they can climb back into the saddle. Red Tower is down and out, now, and they can keep it out if they want to."

I suppose I might rattle this old type-machine of mine indefinitely and tell the story of the financial fight that filled the next few days; of how the boss and Mr. Ripley and Billoughby got the bankers and practically everybody together all along the Short Line and sprung the big plan upon them, which was nothing less than the snapping up, on a tumbling stock market, of the opportunity now presented to them of owning—actually owning in fee simple—their own railroad, the buying to be done quietly through Mr. Chadwick's brokers in Chicago and New York.

There was some opposition and jangling and see-sawing back and forth, of course, but the newspapers, led by the Mountaineer, took hold, and then, pretty soon, everybody took hold; after which the only trouble was to keep people—our own rank and file among them—from buying P. S. L. Common so fast that the New Yorkers would catch on and run the price up.

They didn't catch on—not until after it was too late; and the minute Mr. Chadwick wired us from Chicago that we were safe, the strike went off, as you might say, between two minutes, and Mr. Norcross called a meeting of stockholders, the same to be held—bless your heart!—in Port City, the thriving metropolis of the region in which, counting Mr. Chadwick in as one of us, a good, solid voting majority of the stock was now held. The Mountaineer printed the call, and it spoke of the railroad as "our railroad company!"

The meeting was held in due time, and Mr. Chadwick was there to preside. He made a cracking good chairman, and the way he dilated on the fact that now the country—and the employees—had a railroad of their own, and that the whole nation would be looking to see how we would demonstrate the problem we had taken—actually brought cheer—think of it; cheers in a railroad stockholders' meeting!

Following Mr. Chadwick's talk there was the usual routine business; reports were read and it was shown that the Short Line, notwithstanding all the stealings and mismanagements, was still a good going proposition at the price at which it had been bought in. A new board of directors was chosen.

and so soon as the new board got together, Mr. Norcross went back to his office in the headquarters, not as general manager, this time—not on your life—but as the newly elected president of Pioneer Short Line. And by the same token, the first official circular that came out—a copy of which I sent, tied up with a blue ribbon, to Maile Ann—read like this:

"To all Employees:

"Effective this day, Mr. James F. Dodds is appointed assistant to the president with headquarters in Port City."

"G. Norcross, President."

That's all; all but a little talk between the boss and Mr. Upton Van Britt that took place in our office on the day after Mr. Van Britt, still kicking about the hard work that the boss was always piling upon him, had been appointed general manager.

"You've made the rifle, Graham—just as I said you would," said our own and only millionaire, after he had got through abusing the fates that wouldn't let him go back east and play with his coupon shears and his yachts and polo ponies. "You're going to be the biggest man this side of the mountains, some day; and the day isn't so very far off, either."

It was just here that the boss got out of his chair and walked to the other end of the room. When he came back it was to say:

"You think I have won out, Upton, and so does everybody else. I suppose it looks that way to the man in the street. But I haven't, you know. I have lost the one thing for which I would gladly give all the business success I have ever made or hope to make."

Mr. Van Britt's smile was more than half a grin.

"It isn't lost, Graham; it's only gone before. Can't you wait a decent little while?"

"If I should wait all my life it wouldn't be long enough, Upton," was the reply. "What you said to me—that time when we first spoke of Collingwood—was true. You said that I loved the other man—and so she did."

This time Mr. Van Britt's smile was a whole grin.

"I said it, and I'll say it again. She didn't realize it or admit it, even to herself, you know; she's too good and clean-hearted for anything like that. But I could see it plainly enough, and so could everybody else, except the two people most nearly concerned. I didn't mean Howie Collingwood; you were the other man, Graham."

At this the boss whirled short around and tramped to the other end of the room again, standing for quite a little while with one foot on the low window-sill and making out like he was looking down at the traffic clattering along in Nevada avenue. But I'll bet a quarter he never saw a single wheel of it. When he came back out way, his eyes were shining and he put his hand on Mr. Van Britt's shoulder.

"It ought to have been you, Uppy," he said, dropping back to the old college nickname. "You're by long odds the better man. When—when do you think I might venture to take a little run across to New York?"

At that, Mr. Van Britt laughed out loud.

"Ha! ha!" he said. "I suppose I ought to say a year. You can wait one little year, can't you, Graham?"

"Not on your life!" rasped the boss. And then: "I'll tell you what I'll do: I'll compromise with the proprietors, or whatever it is that you're insisting on, and make it six months. But that's the limit—the absolute limit!"

And so it was.

(THE END.)

It's a Scream!

THE ORIOLE

By Booth Tarkington

Herbert Atwater and Henry Rootor, each thirteen, received a printing press. That was the genesis of a journalistic enterprise. Just why the name "Oriole" was selected for the newspaper is not clear; certainly not out of sentiment for the distant city of Baltimore nor for any interest in birds. But every journal must have a name and "Oriole" seemed good to the budding editors.

Imagine the trouble and the ludicrous complications which arose from a medium of publicity in the hands of two bright lads who suffered from no censorship and whose watchword was truth—too much truth for some of the residents of the community.

Things happened with great rapidity, especially after the young proprietors determined to exclude Herbert's cousin Florence from the enterprise, and that young miss with equal determination decided she would have a finger in it.

Did Florence succeed in joining the staff? Indeed she did! She got something on the editors and she held it over their heads direfully, with the result that she became the whole thing on the Oriole and the erstwhile bosses, rueful and unwilling, her hired men.

With The Oriole completely dominated by feminism, it becomes the funniest story you have ever read.

A Serial for these columns.

COMMENT OF COUNTY AGENT COBB
ON AGRICULTURAL HAPPENINGS

Community Fair and Poultry Show, in the Armory, at Salisbury, November 16, 17 and 18.

H. W. Rickey, State Poultryman, is with us and can be reached through our office in the Court House, Telephone 693.

We want at least 200 exhibits of corn at the Community Fair this year—Every farmer in the county has at least 10 ears that are fit to exhibit.

The soil samples are being tested just as rapidly as we can perform the operation. Notices of the results will be mailed just as soon as the samples are tested. We mailed out 37 cards on Tuesday last. It is never too late to get that sample of soil to us as we will test samples at any time, except Sundays.

The October 15 issue of the "Market Growers Journal" is so full of good things for the truck growers that I wish every farmer in Wicomico County was a reader of this paper.

Here are a few "forward steps in truck growing" as mentioned in the Journal.

- (1) California leads in acreage and value of vegetables other than Potatoes and Sweet Potatoes.
- (2) Increased use of control measures for insects and diseases.
- (3) Spraying as important as cultivating.
- (4) More use of soil improving crops.
- (5) Less use of manure.
- (6) Improved handling and marketing methods.
- (7) Greater care in grading and marketing.
- (8) Rapid growth of co-operative marketing.
- (9) Great development in common and cold storage.

Mr. Moore, of Cedarville, New Jersey, was a visitor here last week and complimented the "first irrigation" farm very highly in what had been accomplished in a few months.

We have stopped boasting about bowling ability as Wm. Ward has a high mark of 168 pins and our average is about one hundred lower. But we are still resolved to beat our good friend W. F. Allen the next chance we get.

The latest census shows that Maryland leads all other states in tomato and sweet corn, second in spinach, third in cantaloupes and fourth in green beans. The state stands third in the total number of acres devoted to vegetables with a total of 119,894 acres while the value of all vegetables in 1919 was $2,711,105.00.

Most of the soils we have tested thus far show that they need from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds of limestone, calcium carbonate to correct the acidity. Use half as much burned lime or three quarters as much hydrated lime. Out of 173 samples already tested, only 2 that did not need lime.

Every so often we run across a man who cannot see what good a County Agent can be to the farmers of the county. This never bothers us any for we are used to hearing it. Every man is right to his own opinion. Any man who is in such a position that he never needs any assistance is much to be envied or pitied and we believe that we, at least, are never too old to learn. Whenever we feel that Wicomico County has no need of a County Agent we shall recommend to Uncle Sam that such office be abolished.

Polish made quite a difference in our sweet potato yields this year while nitrogen and phosphorus had much less market effect. Lime applied at a rate of one ton to the acre in the soil gave an increased yield over the part that was not limed.

The Virginia Times, Experiment Station, at Norfolk, has been treated to the growers of the state, that crops can be produced without the use of manure. Commercial fertilizers and green manures have maintained and even increased production.

Larry Farlow tells us that he is better at fishing than he is at farming. After we presented him with a fishing license he decided to go fishing with his. We haven't gone yet, so cannot say for his ability in the pastime of time.

We have a notice from a leather company, a manufacturer, that they are doing custom tailoring and that they are in position to take orders of all kinds. They will be able to make coats, robes or suits. All work is done on a "time and material" basis and they also have an excellent repair shop where by a farmer may send his old coat and have them exchanged for a new one.

A meeting is called for all Maryland Poultrymen on Wednesday, Nov. 16th, at Westminster. It is proposed to form a State-wide poultry association at this meeting. The Carroll County Poultry Association will host its Mid-State Poultry Show at the same place, Nov. 16th and 17th. Each county has one representative to be elected for each county.

Hog Cholera is being held down very much this year by the farmers by having their hogs vaccinated. In the Mt. Herman section the only such hogs, so far as we can ascertain, have been those that were vaccinated. Do not forget that cleanliness is as essential and take other precautions against the spread of the disease.

"Forestry and Farm Income" Farmer's Bulletin 1117.
"Planting and Care of Fruit Trees" Farmer's Bulletin 1299.
"Making Butter on the Farm" Farmer's Bulletin 876.

Our friend Herman Bengel has nine acres in alfalfa that has been in spite of the dry weather. He has had a small field this year but he has some herd of 11 hogs and he plans to raise some more.

We had a meeting of the Rotary Club last night in the Court House. "Parson" Bayle certainly boosts the farmers very much in his kind words regarding our work. An other thing, among lots of others that we like about the Rotary Club is that he can take a man's word for it.

In order to get a list of all the up and coming farmers of the county, we are going to W. H. Allen, our friend David D. Allen, of the prettiest place in the county.

Over the years we have seen many things that have been done in the county. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city.

At a meeting of the county, we have seen the county grow from a small town to a city. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city.

The county has grown from a small town to a city. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city.

A good sign of the county's growth is the fact that we have seen the county grow from a small town to a city. We have seen the county grow from a small town to a city.

Dry Goods Holiday
Trade Outlook Good

All Departments Approaching The Holiday Season Optimistically—Will Be a "Thrifty Xmas"

As the year approaches an end, with the holiday season in the horizon, it is interesting to observe the difference in conditions governing the dry goods trade now and the closing months of 1920. Then the trade, particularly many of the retailers were actually hoping that the holiday business would help them dispose of their stocks, and many of the smaller concerns expected that the holiday sales would prevent bankruptcy.

This year all departments approach the holiday season cheerfully. The fashions and jetsam of the trade has been eliminated, business is down to a business basis, and the holiday business, come as it may, means profit. Retailers realize that it is going to be a "thrifty Christmas," that gifts will be largely useful and may even mean buying of regular lines rather than luxury articles, but the trade has prepared for this and it is bound to increase the volume of business at profitable prices.

A practical way to save coal this fall and winter

The Perfection Oil Heater will prove more economical in over a million homes this year than ever before. Coal prices have changed but little in the last twelve months, while Aladdin Security Oil, the best kerosene you can buy, has gone down nearly 50%.

The Perfection is an efficient heater. There's no waste of fuel, no ashes that represent many of the pounds that go to make up your ton of coal. Rooms and hallways that are used only a few minutes each day are an added source of wasted heat, greater, probably, than you imagine.

Use your coal heater to keep the whole house warm. Then in cold weather, instead of "firing" the fire all day, make the living rooms comfortable by using a Perfection, just where you want it—in the bay window or the opposite side of the room from the radiator.

You can burn a Perfection for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Your hardware or department store salesman will gladly point out its simple construction and smokeless wick adjustment to you.

presents the most striking contrast of high quality and low price that the industry has ever known.

A big, handsome, roomy car of slim, graceful lines, amply powered and slung on unusually long semi-elliptic springs, the Nash Four was designed and built as the quality leader among high grade four-cylinder cars. Even at its original price of $1395, its remarkable value was apparent in every feature.

In quality it is comparable only with the very highest grade four-cylinder automobiles. Yet in price, at its new low figure of $1045, it is virtually on a par with the accepted popular priced car market.

You Expect More
in a Nash

You expect the power, flexibility and ease of handling for which the Nash Perfected Valve-in-Head Motor is so widely famous. You expect the beauty of body design and finish which always characterizes a Nash product.

And You Get It
For Less Money

In every attribute of appearance, performance and riding comfort, this car will exceed your expectations.

The new low price, $1045, for such unheard-of value, is possible only through greatly increased production and a slender margin of profit. Drive this car today—test its speed on some smooth stretch of road, try its power and acceleration on some stiff hill, then drive it through traffic and observe how smoothly it throttles down.
