

Concert Tickets Available

Student tickets for the Parsons and Poole piano duo recital will be available in the General Office any time after Monday, October 13, from 8:30 until 4:30.

The duo-piano recital will be the first of the Community Concert 1958-'59 series. For the series the College makes available to its students one hundred tickets on a first-come-first-serve basis for the first recital and thereafter on a plan of rotation.

Even though the college will be closed for the MSTA Convention, on the date of the recital, day students and those boarding students in commuting distance of Salisbury are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear the Parsons and Poole team who are internationally known as artists of the keyboard.

SGA Passes Judgment On Organization Budgets

Thursday night, October 3, the S.G.A. board dove into the budget and beginning business for the coming school year. Dick Morrison opened with methods of presenting bills and motions, and the discussion then moved on to matters of electing a new S.G.A. Secretary to replace the lately-wed and no longer with us Connie Mears. Next on the agenda was the matter of organization participation in social activities. It was decided that all organizations would, if they cared, represent themselves at the next Social Committee meeting so that they could express ideas concerning such things as record hops, minstrel shows, and slide showings.

Then began the serious business of the club budgets, which, in general, met with the board's approval. The following changes were made: Certain items which are already available through the S.G.A. were removed from The Holly Leaf and Evergreen expenditures; the Men's Dorm Association was given an additional amount to cover a Bachelor Party. The Sophanes Players came into question when it was found that they didn't have a constitution, but their budget was assed with the stipulation that

Fashion Show Invitation

Mr. Alvin Benjamin has extended an invitation to all STC women to attend a Fashion Show of campus clothes at Benjamins in Salisbury. The show, featuring approximately fifteen models from the college, will be held from 7:30-9:00 p.m. on Thursday night, October 9th. Following a discussion of fashion headlines, refreshments will be served. A delightful evening is anticipated.

Faculty Service Expanded Through Increased Instruction

By Janet Hart

It would take a casual observer, indeed, not to notice the changes which have taken place in our college. Miss Margaret Addis, who was previously a proficient teacher in the Campus School, and Mr. Eugene Farace, who is well-known around STC in his function as geography professor, have accepted the positions as Dean of Women and Dean of Men. Also, the appointment of Mr. Robert Frost has made possible an expansion of the biology department. And Mr. Allen Foutty, an instructor of the physical sciences, has assumed the additional responsibility of being one of the two faculty advisors to our S.G.A.

Miss Addis, it would seem, is a very versatile individual. She comes originally from Mt. Vernon, New York, but has traveled extensively to such places as California, Europe, and Scandinavia. She received her B.A. from Smith College and her M.A. at Stanford. When her family moved to Salisbury to live on a chicken farm, Miss Addis, who had been teaching in California, returned to the East Coast and secured a position as fourth grade teacher in the Campus School where she taught for

Dance Theme to Be Pennsylvania Dutch

Breaking the ice for the first major social event of the year, the Sophomore-sponsored "Harvest Ball," complete with Queen and court, will be presented in the college gymnasium, Friday, October 10, from nine to twelve.

School-wide balloting has been conducted for the selection of two representatives from each class. The actual election of the Queen from this group of eight will take place in the main hall the day before the dance, Thursday, October 9. The Queen will be crowned at the dance.

Lloyd Cooper, in charge of decorations, is planning the dance with a Pennsylvania Dutch motif in mind—with hex signs which will, he avows, keep away the evil spirits that cause one to step on one's partner's toes.

Refreshments are to be handled by Joanne Snyder's committee, and it is reported that the increased dance funds will provide more and better snacks than have heretofore been customary.

The Lyn Engh Quintet will provide both fast and slow dance music in their usual inimitable style.

Mae Crandall, who is in charge of the dance, is expecting a big turnout, and since this is the first of the big four class-sponsored dances, The Holly Leaf echoes her hopes of its being a well-attended and successful dance.

Prominent Lecturer to Speak at Convocation

John Mason Brown, who has been dubbed the most popular figure of the entire lecture world, will speak here at 1:45 on October 7 at STC's second annual Fall Convocation.

JOHN MASON BROWN

cation on "The Educated Man in Today's World". Mr. Brown, author, lecturer, and critic, is currently Contributing Editor of the Saturday Evening Post and TV panelist on "The Last Word." Brooks Atkinson in the New York Times labels him as the man who comes closest to being America's Minister of Cultural Affairs. He is the author of seventeen books, covering topics from "Daniel Boone—The Opening of the Wilderness" to the "Modern Theatre in Revolt". As former Drama Critic for the "Saturday Review," the New York World Telegram and the Post, he has written innumerable reviews. Mr. Brown's interest in a free theatre springs from his interest in a free world.

Joanne Little and Dean Powell will play the piano accompaniment to Ringwald's "Pomp and Circumstance" in processional and again to "Gaudeamus Igitur" in recessional. The faculty will be in academic attire; the student body will be seated in classes. Jack Weise will deliver invocation. Dr. Wilbur Devilbiss will introduce and preside over assembly. The Social Committee will be host at the Coffee Hour in the Conference Room immediately following. Linda Magalis will pour.

Alumni Annual Homecoming will be Nov. 1st, 1958. Plan to meet many of your old friends over this weekend.

College to Close for MSTA Convention

Along with all other public colleges, secondary, and elementary schools in the state of Maryland, State Teachers College will be closed on Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17, for the MSTA Convention week-end.

President Devilbiss has announced that State Teachers College will close at noon Wednesday, October 15, in order to allow faculty members to attend a state college faculty dinner meeting scheduled at Towson State Teachers College on Wednesday night. The dining hall will close following lunch.

Residence halls will close officially at five o'clock on Wednesday and will reopen Sunday afternoon, October 19, at two o'clock. Sunday night supper will be served.

Classes will be resumed Monday morning, the twentieth, as regularly scheduled.

Re-Organized SGA Begins School Year

The college year has opened to see in operation the new type of SGA organization voted in by student body in the winter of 1958.

Heading the reorganized Student Government Association is the Executive Committee, consisting of president, Dick Morrison; vice-president, Helen Mae Ellis; secretary, (post vacant); treasurer, Tom Wimbrow; and advisors, Miss Addis and Mr. Fouty. The Executive Committee screens questions and decides the order of SGA business meetings.

This year the SGA consists of two elected representatives from each class in addition to the Executive Committee as contrasted to the past when all organizational and class presidents automatically became members. The new system permits more efficient execution of campus government affairs as the

Modern Dance Group Plan New Performance

Getting into the swing of things, the Modern Dance Group is undergoing preparation for their performance in the High School Senior's Day which is to be given in the latter part of October. Last year, this group performed a dramatic modern dance number of Gershwin's "Rhapsody In Blue". The group has not yet chosen a theme for their coming performance.

Seven modern dancers have returned to continue to work with this group. They are as follows: Pat Bailey, Janette Barclay, Joyce Bennett, Emily Burns, Julia Crawford, Helen Mae Ellis, Peg Flannery. And those that are new are as follows: Betsy Anderson, Juanita Barker, Peg Bell, Lou Campbell, Carolyn Coghill, Beppy Price, Sylvia Stant, and Mike Shortall.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

The fall sports program is being lined up; Sophanes Players is holding practice for "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial"; the Christian Association is planning the College devotions program with its member clubs and FTA is again at work to increase student interest in the teaching world. Within a few weeks, all of STC will be radiantly alive in organization activity. That is, if for some strange reason some 360 students are rejuvenated suddenly by some mysterious chemical such as a Salisbury concoction of Kickapoo Juice.

Oh, well, what's the use? It's too far to walk out to the soccer field. Why don't they have that play some other night? Vespers—isn't church enough? Esprit de corps—what's that?

Maybe it isn't anything. Maybe being interested, feeling like a part of STC and supporting its attempts at creating a sense of belonging isn't important. Maybe believing that we're Americans, that we live in the greatest country in the world and that we'll fight to death to keep her that way doesn't mean anything either. Maybe the almighty "I" is the only important thing. Maybe the only thing necessary to get that sheepskin and to be proud of it is to complete each assignment and attend the required number of lectures, and pass all the exams. And maybe the only thing necessary to keep freedom is to mind our own business and make as much money as we can.

It's a nice easy way out, anyway. But it looks as though if we're not proud of being from STC, it's nobody's fault but our own. If we're not proud of being Americans it's nobody's fault but our own. We can curse the faculty and the administration and the food and the regulations. Sure we can; that's our right, isn't it? But while we're doing this, let's don't forget that we belong to STC; let's not ever swamp her opportunities in muddy rage. And while we're cursing politicians and government price controls and weak executives, let's realize that just because a government isn't perfect doesn't mean that it couldn't be worse. If school spirit and love of country don't seem important, then it's time we looked inward and asked "Why?"

Cultural Program Schedule Lectures

Three lectures have been incorporated into the Culture Affairs Program for 1958-59 at the suggestion of the Student Government Association. The three lectures are designed, according to Dick Morrison, SGA President, to present the cultural contributions of each country represented to the world at large. The first lecture will be at 1:45 p.m. on Sept. 14 in the College Auditorium, when Mr. C. H. Lowe, attache to the Nationalist Chinese Embassy will present a program on the cultural contributions of China. A movie entitled "Miracle of China" will be shown. Mr. Lowe will be introduced by Dick Morrison.

Later programs will be heard on December 2 when a representative from the Spanish Embassy will speak and on April 14 when a representative from the Turkish Embassy will speak.

N.E.A. to Be Host on High School Senior Days

At the Student NEA meeting which was held on Wednesday, October 1, plans were made for High School Senior Days to be sponsored by NEA on October 22 and 23. Faculty advisor to NEA, Dr. Leilia Stevens has asked Dr. Alethea Whitney and Dr. Jessie Fleming to provide a modern dance number and music for the program. NEA members will serve as hosts and hostesses on those two days.

Two representatives to the MAFTA Leadership Conference at Western Maryland College on October 10 and 11, were chosen. Those elected are Doris Stonesifer and Charles Wilkerson. June Taylor will also attend as member at large of the State Executive Committee.

Jack Potter of the Senior Class was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of treasurer of Student NEA.

Sophanes Opens Season With "Caine Mutiny"

The Salisbury Teachers College "Sophanes Players" has chosen "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," a two-act drama, by Herman Wouk to be presented on Thursday, Oct. 30.

Mr. MacCurdy Burnet, faculty advisor for the Players will act as director of the coming production. Members of the Players and students interested in taking part in the production, met in the auditorium two evenings last week and read parts for Mr. Burnet, who was in the process of casting the principal characters.

According to the Sophanes Players' president, Lucy Holloway, who is undertaking the production chores of the presentation, there still are a number of jobs which could be filled by the student body interested in participating in the production. Jobs still vacant are stage members, publicity chairman, lighting technicians, and personnel to take care of the programs.

"The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial" has a cast of nineteen males. Casting is still in process. Anyone interested in joining the cast in minor parts is requested to contact Mr. Burnet or Miss Holloway. Regular rehearsals are held each evening, Monday through Thursday, from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

Well Received on Broadway

The Caine Mutiny, the Pulitzer Prize novel hailed by critics as "the best sea story" and "the best World War II novel" has been adapted by the author in a version which is superior to the novel "in the artfulness of its craftsmanship." — (N. Y. Times). It is "a shrewd and shattering condensation of the heart of the novel . . . (presenting) one of the most naked revelations of character to have stunned Broadway in years." (N. Y. Herald Tribune). "Enormously exciting. It is the modern stage at its best," said the World Telegram and Sun; "magnificent theatre," echoed the Mirror and Journal-American.

The play is the court martial proceedings against a young up-right lieutenant who relieved his captain of command in the midst of a harrowing typhoon on the grounds that the captain was psychopathic in the crisis, and directing the ship and its crew to destruction. The odds and naval tradition are against the lieutenant. But as the witnesses and experts, some serious, some unwittingly comic, cross the scene of the trial, the weakness of the character of the captain is slowly revealed in a devastating picture of disintegration. It bears repeating: this is "the modern stage at its best."

FACULTY HERE and THERE STUDENT

JANICE HUBBARD
 June Taylor visited Jamestown and Williamsburg, Va. on the weekend of Sept. 20.

Jo Patterson spent the weekend of September 22nd with Ann Korman of Greensboro.

Patricia Shortall of Eastern Shore came the bride of George Miller of Cambridge on September 22nd. Michael Shortall was maid of honor for her sister.

Carolyn Coghill spent the weekend of September 22nd with Ann Martin in Annapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd B. Bland of Earleville announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Thomas Bionde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bionde of Tyaskin. The wedding will take place on December 22.

Our Day

JACK WEISE

Well, the school bell has tolled for the fall session and STC's student teachers have dashed off to sixteen weeks of professional training. There are, among this army of future schoolma'ams and masters, a few whose teaching preparation is nearing its end: The Dorman, who is teaching at Junior Hi; Nelson Lynch and Gurlach at Campus Elementary. But, all in all, it looks like 23 January is the closing date for us.

Since we're relatively new in the profession we are sure that there will be the minute obstacles before us will be extricated. But in the meantime, Reida Butler lives constant fear that one of the eighth grade science pupils will bring her that snake that was away two weeks ago and is "in" on the driveway of the school. Doc Lawson and Bill Livingston were surprised to discover that they and Mr. Twilley comprised the entire faculty at a recent "pulso" soccer game. Our question—who was goalie? And Jim Blanderson is still trying to explain to his social study class that marsh-men are nomads in Iraq; are not residents of marshland. It seems that our quiet classmate Muir is having a hard time trying to get a word in edgewise. Could we suggest he use a real inimitable Dee Gardner has been reported to have prepared a reading program that would please Betts and Durrell for visiting delegation from Pittsburg, and then it's time for visitors who is it? Dick Murphy, a graduate of STC. You know, Dee, if first—well, anyway, try again. And since Gary White and Jack Weise have never ventured on saffari it's understandable that they are still trying to find a Rifle and Gun Club. Keep boys!

Alumni Annual Homecoming will be Nov. 1st, 1958. Plan to meet many of your old friends over this weekend.

The WAA election on September 22 filled two vacancies in the WAA Board. Joyce Bennett, a Junior who has been active in both varsity basketball and hockey, was elected to the office of Vice President. A Sophomore, Joanne Wainwright, was elected to fill the secretarial position.

Campaigning for Spirit

What better way to build school spirit and student squad? And what better way to develop the cheerleader's squad? And what better way to develop the cheerleader's definite role in stimulating both men and women's athletics than through the cooperation and earnest effort of an ardent and loyal mixed team? STC's campaign for increased spectator support is on.

The first cheerleading practice, held on October 1, brought out seven new potential cheerleaders, with a noticeable scarcity in the male percentage. The freshmen who appeared are Joyce Pool, Iris Kirby, Ann Jones, Billy Parks, Betty Martin, Judy Leonard and Julie Spedden. Geraldine Baker and Don Moore, largely credited for organization of the squad, are planning concrete improvements; more cheers will be learned and adeptness in gymnastic feats in cheering will be accomplished.

Cheerleaders have the opportunity to attend all STC games played here and away. Interested students are encouraged to come out for practice; our school spirit depends on us.

—Carole Kirkwood

Hockey Practice Sees 23 Eager Turnouts

Varsity hockey practice, which began on Monday, Sept. 22, saw a wide turnout of enthusiastic players from all classes—three seniors, four juniors, four sophomores, and twelve freshmen.

Women's sports coach, Dr. Alethea Whitney, was pleased to see the returning faces of Mary E. Doepp, Joyce Bennett, Rose Mae Lewis, Pat Lloyd, Carole Kirkwood, Mike Shortall, Barbara Street, Helen Mae Ellis, Dee Gardner, Beppy Price, and Emily Burns. New faces are seen in the persons of Kathryn Anderson, Gail Bradford, Elaine Rosemere, Ginger Stellges, Rebecca Abbot, Marilyn Guy, Evelyn Lofland, Ginger Matthews, and Pat Peters. One of the main headaches, the filling of the goalie vacancy, was soon taken care of by Betty Martin and Jerry Blazek.

Warm up drills and shaping up for the season filled up the first two practice sessions. By Wednesday, after most of the soreness was gone, the girls were ready for their first scrimmage. With the combined talents of last season's squad and this year's new turnouts, it looks as if there will be stiff competition for the first team.

The first game of the season will be at Notre Dame, October 25; the next will be at Villa Julie on October 29. These STC women are go-getters and hard workers, but student body support is necessary to keep up the spirit.

This year's increase in the athletic fee has made possible bus transportation to all games that will be played away. Cheerleaders will probably accompany the teams on trips.

Teams will be chosen later this week. It's not yet too late for anybody interested to come out for practice on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at 4:30.

Alumni Annual Homecoming will be Nov. 1st, 1958. Plan to meet many of your old friends over this weekend.

WAA Sports Managers Named

WAA President Carol Kirkwood has appointed managers for the women's varsity and intramural sports program for school year 1958-59. First consideration in selecting managers was given to women students who have been members of the Board in previous seasons. The newly-appointed managers plus the four officers of WAA will serve on the Board this year. Those appointed are as follows:

Board Vacancies Filled

The WAA election on September 22 filled two vacancies in the WAA Board. Joyce Bennett, a Junior who has been active in both varsity basketball and hockey, was elected to the office of Vice President. A Sophomore, Joanne Wainwright, was elected to fill the secretarial position.

Alumni Annual Homecoming will be Nov. 1st, 1958. Plan to meet many of your old friends over this weekend.

The BILL-BOARD

by BILL LIVINGSTON

Suddenly you're in college. No brass bands, no national ranked football teams, in fact, no football team whatsoever. In fact, you hear rumors that the sports calendar is low, and that few games are scheduled in any of the team sports in which the school participates.

It's a far cry from the dear old high school days when your very life depended on the winning of some sporting event. Naturally, one begins to wonder just what the situation pertaining to sports is here at STC.

The situation is a complicated one, and can only be viewed, with some degree, from the outside. When we come down to the facts of the case, we see that STC is inconveniently located. The costs for transportation run high. Few teams are willing to travel here, so the Gulls have to leave their nests and journey to distant lands for most of their encounters. It's difficult to arrange a schedule when most teams have annual rivals and are skeptical of playing a small unheard-of college which may ruin a good record.

This aforementioned statement happened a few years back when the soccer team gave the University of Maryland Varsity a pretty stiff run for their money. Now? Well, the boys have to face the Maryland freshmen. This maneuver coming to protect a larger school from being dumped by their little country cousins.

WAA Point System For Awards

It should be stressed to every woman student of STC that, just as every student is a member of S.G.A., so is every woman a member of the Women's Athletic Association. The WAA Board has devised a system whereby each student can gain points toward awards. Forms are provided for each girl to turn in each week a record of her accumulated points for that week. Following is a copy of the system for accumulating points.

Soccer Practice Sees 14 Returning Players

Whipping into condition for the rapidly approaching opener on October 9, the STC Gulls, sprinkled evenly with both new and familiar faces, have been holding nightly practice sessions. The fall season finds twenty-nine eager candidates for team positions.

Of these twenty-nine, fourteen are returning players of last year. They are as follows: Thomas Alderson, Wayne Brittingham, Paul Butler, Clifford Denny, Thomas Dorman, Thomas Lewis, Nelson Lynch, John Messick, Edward Mitchell, Charles Muir, John Potter, Murray Smith, Richard Stubbs, and Thomas Towers.

Slightly outnumbering this group are the new volunteers, consisting of fifteen members: James Balderson, Donald Barnes, John Barnes, Ormond Birmingham, Ronald Carstens, Elbert Detwiler, Morris Jones, Allen Muir, John Oakley, William Outten, Carroll Ruark, James Stubbs, Richard Walls, Jerry Wilson, and Nutter Wimbrow.

Coach Maggs expressed his confidence in the Gull's chances and added that there are many promising men out for practice this season.

Outstanding players last year, according to spectator opinion are as follows: Tom Alderson, Buddy Butler, Cliff Denny, Nelson Lynch, and Murray Smith.

The '58 Soccer Schedule is as follows:

Thursday, Oct. 9 — Frostburg — Away
 Friday, Oct. 24 — Gallaudet — Away
 Wednesday, Oct. 29 — Baltimore University — Home
 Saturday, Nov. 1 — Towson — Away
 Thursday, Nov. 6 — Maryland Junior Varsity — Away
 Tuesday, Nov. 11 — American University — Away

only other sport outlet around: intramurals. It has been proven in the past that the interest definitely increases when a well-organized intramural program is initiated. The intramural program of a small school of this size should be one of its strongest points. It takes the determination of the group who desire to play, plus hard work on the part of the various league organizers, but it can be done. Intramurals therefore fit into the old question asked by many: "Are the students here for athletics, or are athletics here for students?"

Until many changes occur, and the size of the enrollment increases, STC will definitely have to lean on intramurals for her sports interests. An intramural program, where everyone is allowed to play and where there is a chance for everyone to get plenty of action in the field of his interest. With a situation of this type, intramurals can become a strong force in sports at college. But it will need our help!

SGA Passes Judgment

they draw one up soon. The Philosophy Club presented a proposed budget which was approved subject to approval of their constitution. All budgets, it is stressed, awaits administration approval.

Phil Barker and Isabel Hart were chosen to serve along with Dick Morrison and Jerry Pine on the Snack Bar Committee. Then, the Cultural Affairs Committee, which consists of instructors and students, was given the following students: Bill Bailey, Kay McClanahan, Helen Mae Ellis, and Joanne Little.

The closing matter involved a method of honoring the late Miss Helen Jamart, and Bill Bailey was appointed to head a committee of his choosing to look into the matter.

All in all, it was a very productive meeting, and much was accomplished. All the classes were represented, everyone took part in the discussions, and each class had its fair say in where the money goes so that, although there were questions, each was resolved to the satisfaction of the majority.

members are directly elected by the student body or one of the four classes to represent them and their problems.

For the first time the SGA will appoint three members of the student body and one member of the Executive Committee to the Cultural Affairs Committee, the administrative committee responsible for the cultural program at this college.

The SGA investigates student complaints, supervises campus organizations, and organizes the stu-

Campus Leaders

To many of the freshmen, the campus leaders may be only vaguely familiar. For this reason the Holly Leaf would like to briefly introduce a few of the people who have been elected by the students to represent them.

The president of the Student Government Association is Dick Morrison, a family man, and a graduate of the Baltimore Polytechnical Institute. Prior to his enrollment in STC, Mr. Morrison served in the U.S. Air Force. Aside from the heavy responsibilities entailed in being president of the S.G.A., Mr. Morrison also operates his own Janitorial Service here, in Salisbury.

Jerry Pine, from Denton, Md., a second semester sophomore, is the chairman of the Social Committee. Mr. Pine came to our college last year. Previous to this he was in the Air Force and attended the University of Maryland for one year. Participating in all activities with equal conscientious and efficiency, he is also news editor of the Holly Leaf and a member of the Sophanes Players.

A senior, Jean Pusey, is president of the Women's Dormitory Association. A resident of Eden, Md., Miss Pusey has, during her four years here, been quietly reliable in many extra-curricular activities. She is at present a member of the Philosophy Club and assistant editor of the Holly Leaf.

The president of the Men's Dormitory Association is Albert Seymour. Since he came to STC in 1955, Mr. Seymour has been many times relied on due to his cooperative attitude. Although busy in such activities as being Parliamentarian of the S.G.A. and an active member of the Science Club, he still finds time to hold down a weekend job at the Colonial Store.

Alumni Annual Homecoming will be Nov. 1st, 1958. Plan to meet many of your old friends over this weekend.

dent activities budget. Due to an increase in the student activity fee, the SGA has more money to spend this year. This is divided among the various classes and organizations at STC and finances dances, Snack Bar shows, the student publications, magazines for the student lounges, and musical and dramatic productions.

Faculty Service

seven years. Characteristically, she speaks lightly of her musical talents even though she is an accomplished violinist and is presently "struggling", as she so inimitably phrased it, with the viola. It is understandable that Miss Addis finds her work at STC intriguing. She speaks of her work as Dean of Women, Social Director, and faculty advisor to the S.G.A. as "fascinating . . . (for there is) absolutely no routine." As for her policies, Miss Addis could only say that it would be presumptuous to propose a change in former procedures so soon and, besides, she's presently too busy "finding out what the job consists of."

Mr. Frost, a native of Pennsylvania, will do much to advance our biology department. Not only has his presence brought about a decrease in the size of classes, and, therefore, more efficient instruction, but will also make possible electives in this field. He attended college at Merryville and did his graduate work at Louisiana State University. Prior to coming to STC, Mr. Frost worked for the U. S. Patent Office in Washington, D. C. and for the DuPont Company in the chemical division of the same department. Although adept in this field, he found that the gratification which he experienced while teaching at LSU was lacking. Speaking, as he must, from first impressions, Mr. Frost says that he not only enjoys working with the other members of the faculty, but also finds association with student personalities a rewarding experience.

Since Mr. Farace has been the geography instructor at this college since 1955, he is well-known among the student body. When asked about his interest in geology, he answered in mock seriousness, "Well—I like rocks." This is made more than apparent by the large collection which he has strewn about his office. In his new capacity as Dean of Men, Mr. Farace stated that his policy throughout

Men's Dorm Association Approves Constitution

For the first time in the past few years, a new change has been introduced into the Men's Dormitory constitution. After studying the needs of the dorm and the students, the new constitution was drawn up by Albert Seymour, President of the dormitory and Mr. E. Farace, Dean of Men. During earlier meetings, the constitution was brought before the men for approval and passed with little opposition.

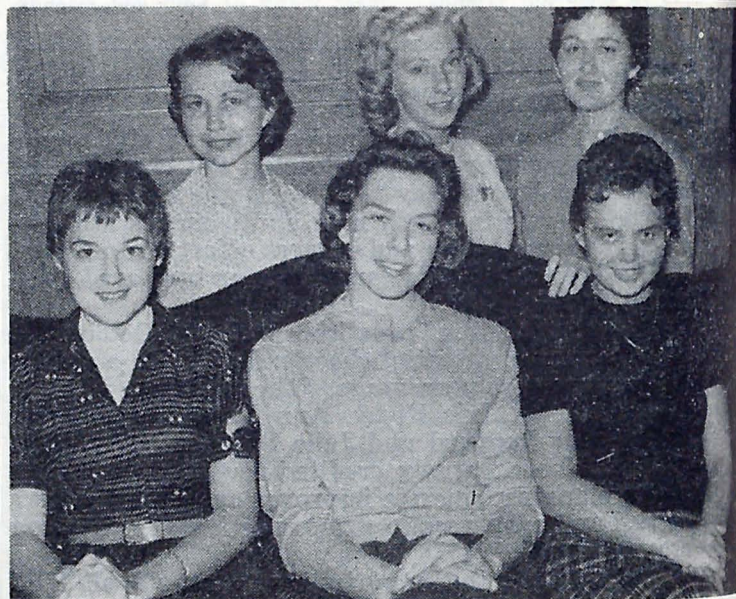

The revamped copy clarifies many issues that were formerly confusing to the men students, and establishes a uniform code of justice. Allowances have been made toward future growth and expansion of the Men's Dormitory Association.

One innovation that has been included and expanded upon is the system of a student tribunal. The tribunal meets whenever there has been an infraction of the rules and passes decisions allotted to them under the by-laws of the constitution.

As this issue goes to press, the revamped constitution is awaiting final approval by the S.G.A. executive committee and board, who must first pass it before it becomes official.

will be simply to "treat men like men."

Mr. Foutty, of the physical science department, came to STC last year. When asked by the President to be one of the faculty advisors to the S.G.A., he was pleased because during his own school days he was active in this type of organization and has a deep interest in it. In this function he will serve as a liaison between the students and the administration. Mr. Foutty says that the opportunity to fill this position is doubly attractive since, being a relatively recent arrival at this college, he will have a chance to get better acquainted and also to have the pleasure of working with the students.
