

After the erection of the frame, the Editor* was employed by the President and Directors to perform the workmanship of the covering, agreeably to a design furnished by them to him: this design of the cover being original, it is more surprising that it has not many faults, than that few, if any, can be found.

Especially as an accommodation to the frame created unavoidable difficulties. The Editor was permitted to make some additions, with the approbation of the Building Committee. He feels himself grateful for the assistance he has had; and in participating with those who preceded him, in the approbation of the work, by the Board and their Committee. At their suggestion, the under work of the side-covering is done in imitation of masonry, by sprinkling the work with stone dust on the painting while fresh. The finaling or sprinkling was performed with so much ease and cheapness, that it is hoped it will introduce a like mode of ornamenting and protecting the surface of wooden elevations of other descriptions, where protection and ornament are required.

Commodious wharfs, on each side of the river, have been made by the Company; not only to protect the foundations of the abutments and wings, but with a view to profit. They co-operate with the other improvements, to give a new and interesting front to our city.

It is a peculiar and interesting fact, that (except the valuable assistance rendered in its commencement by W. WESTON, who was then about returning to England) no scientific engineer has been employed in any part of this great undertaking. Neither the Board, or their Committee who have been constantly and actively engaged in all the stages of the work, profess a scientific knowledge of Hydraulic Architecture; though they have now gained much practical experience. Yet difficulties have been encountered and overcome, which would have called forth the talents and practical knowledge of the ablest engineer. The mechanics and workmen (T. PALMER and his assistants excepted) had, from the beginning of the undertaking, new and unknown branches of their business to learn. Even T. PALMER is self taught in the art of wooden-bridge building; though he has carried it to such high perfection. It is however believed that this bridge, in all its parts, both of masonry and wood work, will not suffer by a comparison with one so composed, in any part of the world. Its workmanship and materials will stand the test of the most rigid scrutiny. Both the plan and its execution reflect credit upon those concerned in the enterprise. So far as I have information, this is now the only covered wooden Bridge in any country, except, perhaps, one over the Limmat, built by the same Swiss carpenter who erected that of Schaffhausen, since destroyed. I have frequently seen and carefully inspected the draughts of this much celebrated Bridge, and I am confident that any intelligent and candid architect, on examining the principles of both, would give a decided preference to the Schuylkill Bridge. The design is more simple, its strength is greater, its parts are better combined and more assistant to each other, and there is no useless timber, or unnecessary complexity, in any part.

What I have just observed, as to those engaged in the direction or execution of the work of the Schuylkill Bridge, is not intended as adulatory, or disparaging to any persons. But I have an ardent hope that others, in similar undertakings, will be animated by their successful example, when labouring under the same, or greater disadvantages, arising from the want of experienced and scientific professors of architecture; although where these can be had, for great undertakings, they ought, undoubtedly, to be employed.

As a well-wisher to all public improvements, as a mechanic, and one employed to close this eminently useful erection, I think it my duty to mention, and feel a sensible satisfaction in adding to the foregoing account,

That I have experienced the important advantages of ready and beneficial advice, clear, prompt and explicit orders, and timely and ample supplies. Not a moment has been lost by delay and hesitation in directions, want of provisions, of materials, or deficiency in punctuality of payment. This has been constantly the case, through the whole progress of the business, as the workmen pressing me in its more difficult stages have testified. Though heavy expenditures have been inevitably required, the greatest attention to economy has been practised.

No interested or personal motives induce me to mention these circumstances. They are exemplary; and essential to ensure the completion of any extensive enterprise. To them, I am persuaded, is to be chiefly attributed the success of this arduous work. From inattention, or incapacity in these indispensable requisites, many public as well as private undertakings in all countries have failed: and communities, and the individuals employed in them, have been involved in disappointment and distress; if not in irretrievable ruin.

The Bridge has been six years in building, and cost about 275,000 dollars, including the cash moiety of the purchase of the site; for which 40,000 dollars were paid to the City Corporation, half in cash and half in bridge shares.

FARMERS BANK OF MARYLAND.

NOTICE OF FIFTH PAYMENT.

THE fifth instalment on the stock held in the Farmers Bank will become due on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of November next. For the information of stockholders the following clause of the act of incorporation is subjoined:

And be it enacted, That if any stockholder shall fail to pay his or her instalments, to the amount of ten dollars on each share, at the times and in the manner before specified, such stockholder shall forfeit, to the use of the company, all monies paid antecedently to such failure or default, but no forfeiture shall take place after ten dollars on each share shall have been paid; but, as it is requisite that means shall be taken to secure the regular payment of the subsequent instalments, therefore, if any stockholder shall fail to make regular payment of any instalment after ten dollars shall have been paid, such stockholder's money in bank shall remain free from interest, and not entitled to dividend until such instalment, or call, shall be made good, and the dividend thereafter to be paid to such stockholder, (as well upon the money by him regularly paid, as upon the money paid after default,) shall be calculated only from the time when said last instalment was made good.

The stockholders will therefore observe, that a failure in any one payment when it becomes due will be attended with a loss of interest on all former payments, although regularly made, and that interest on no part of such stock will recommence, but from the date of the completion of the last payment due.

By order of the Board,

Majority for M'Kean, 5,189

From this account it appears that Thomas M'Kean has 5,189—but it is said that in Buck's county, 399 were given for Samuel Snyder, which, if deducted from M'Kean's majority, which some persons suppose should be done, he will then only have 4,790.

William & Mary College Lottery.—We understand that at the district court at Williamsburg, the court decided that the drawing should be considered valid—that the managers should pay the prize of 10,000 dollars that was drawn to the owner of the last drawn ticket against it, and that the other 10,000 dollar prize should belong to the owner of the last drawn ticket; from this opinion an appeal was taken, and the cause will be argued on the 7th of next month before the court of appeals.

From London papers to the 9th Sept. 1805.

LONDON, September 8.
Letters from Lisbon state, that the French frigate Topaze, of 44 guns, (one of those which destroyed the Blanche,) has been captured by the Raisable, of 64 guns, capt. Rowley, and sent into Lisbon.

September 9.
Nine sail of the East-India fleet have arrived safe.
The remainder were parted with about a week since,
and are momentarily expected.
The Rochefort Squadron returned to that port the 1st September, after a short cruise.

The king has been pleased to appoint the duke of York to be colonel of the first regiment of foot guards, in the room of the duke of Gloucester, deceased.
The duke of Cambridge, (5th son of his majesty,) to be colonel of the Coldstream regiment of foot guards, in the room of the duke of York; and the duke of Kent, (4th son of his majesty,) to be field-marshal of the forces.

It is reported that the emperor of Germany, in case of war, now inevitable, will take the field in person—
He will be accompanied by his brothers the archduke
Charles and the archduke John. The celebrated general Mack will also have an important command.
Opposed to these, will be the French emperor in person, assisted by Bernadotte, Angereaux, Massena, &c.
but he will want a Moreau.

The visit of Buonaparte to the coast was for the purpose of sending off his troops towards Germany.
The language of Germany, though rather inconsistent with her conduct, is still excusable. She knows the potency of France; and though she finds war unavoidable, she is not willing to commence hostilities until she has a Russian army at her elbow.

It is somewhat remarkable, that the Paris papers, which a few days since chimed so musically on the prospects of peace, on the pacific disposition of the emperor of Germany, and the good understanding subsisting between the two nations, should all at once change their tone, and are now altogether warlike.
Nothing is now heard but the din of warlike preparation, and the studied exaggeration of all the accounts from Germany, as though there were a pretext wanting for some bold stroke which the emperor Napoleon contemplates striking.

Lord Nelson's new appointment is in some degree unlimited; he is to act on emergencies according to the best of his judgment. He proceeds first to Cadix, then to the Mediterranean, over which his command extends. In certain operations he is to have the selection and appointment of his favourite officers.

Several regiments are under orders for immediate embarkation; and vessels are taken up to transport them to their destination. Of them are the following, viz. King's dragoon guards; 4th dragoon guards; 5th, or Queen's own dragoons; 6th Buffs, King's dragoons; 7th, 10th, 13th, 21st light dragoons; a detachment of the royal waggon train; all the first battalions of the line, and a large park of artillery.
The cavalry will amount to 12,000 men.

SALEM, October 25.
THE British navy in commission, on the 1st September, was composed of 690 vessels—of which 119 are of the line, 19 frigates, 140 frigates, and 412 sloops.

BOSTON, October 26.
Captain Rogers, from Gibraltar, confirms the intelligence that the combined French and Spanish Squadrons were lying in Cadiz harbour; and that a British fleet of about 17 sail of the line, were before the port under the command of vice-admiral Colling-wood. Vice-admiral Calder is second in command.
[Both these officers are vice-admirals of the blue squadron; but Collingwood holds the highest rank.
He commanded the Barfleur of 98 guns, in lord Howe's action of the 1st June, 1794; and the Excellent of 74 guns, in the action fought by lord St.
Vincent on the 14th February, 1797.] Lord Nelson was hourly expected to take command of the blockade. The last accounts from London state, that on the 8th September he took leave of the admiralty, and was to carry with him the Victory of 100 guns, Ajax, 74, capt. Brown; Despatch, 74, capt. Durham; Agamemnon, 64, capt. Harvey; and the Euryalus, of 36 guns, capt. Blackwood.

A part of the United States Squadron, composed of four frigates, two schooners, and two bomb brigs, were expected to sail immediately for America.
Capt. Sinclair, from Gibraltar, informs, that two dispatch boats, belonging to the United States, had just arrived.

NEW-YORK, October 21.
Captain Anderson, of the Calliope, left Nantz the 16th September. He informs that the British frigate Dido had captured the French frigate Cybelle, after a desperate engagement of 4 hours; and that the new French frigate La Topaze, out of Nantz, had fallen in with the British frigate Nymph, and after a most severe engagement, in which the greatest part of the Nymph's crew were killed, she struck her colours, and immediately sunk. In the act of sinking, the boats from the Topaze saved the remnant of her crew.—
The above engagements were in the Channel.

NORFOLK, October 31.
Captain Cochran, arrived here last evening, in 58
days from Ayambo, (Spain) says that he spoke a British frigate, who informed him that the combined French and Spanish fleets were in Cadiz, blockaded by a British Squadron of 29 sail of the line—he also states, that the forts in Cadiz are garrisoned by French troops!

It is reported in this city, that the Spanish minister, the marquis d'Yrujo, having determined to leave the United States, has demanded his passports from our government. The report adds, that the president observed in reply, that we had no such etiquette in this country, and that it was in the power of a foreign minister to quit the United States when and how he pleased. A report so important in itself, since it may be regarded as an ominous sign of an approaching rupture between the two countries, we shall take the earliest opportunity to contradict or confirm.

POOR MARGUERITE.

BY MRS. ROBINSON.

SWIFT o'er the wide and dreary waste
A nut-brown maid was seen to haste;
Wide waving was her unbound hair,
And sun-scorch'd was her bosom bare!
For summer's noon had shed its beams,
As she lay wrapt in feverish dreams;
While on the wither'd hay-stack side,
By turns she slept, by turns she cried—
"Ah, where lies hid the balsam sweet,
"To heal the wounds of Marguerite?"

Dark was her large but sunken eye,
Which wildly gaz'd upon the sky;
And swiftly down her freckled face
The unfeeling dew began to pace;
For she was lorn, and many a day
Had all alone been doom'd to stay;
And many a night her bosom warm
Had throbb'd beneath the pelting storm;
And still she sigh'd, "The rain falls sweet—
"It bathes the wounds of Marguerite!"

Across the waste of printless snow,
All day the nut-brown maid would go;
And when the winter moon had shed
Its pale beams o'er the mountain's head,
She on a broomy pillow lay,
And watch'd the tardy glimpse of day;
While the cold breath of dawn light flew,
Across the fields of frozen dew;
And then she cried—"The air is sweet,
"It fans the breast of Marguerite!"

The weedy lane she lov'd to tread,
When stars their twinkling lustre shed;
While from the lone and silent cot,
The watchful cur assail'd her not;
Though at the beggar he would fly,
And fright the traveller passing by;
But she so kind and gentle seem'd,
Such softness in her dark eye beam'd,
That savage fierceness could not greet
With less than smiles, poor Marguerite!

And why did she, with sun-burnt breast,
So wander, and so scorn to rest?
Why did the nut-brown maiden go
O'er burning plains and wastes of snow?
What bade her feverish bosom sigh,
And dim her large and hazle eye;
And steal the hour of slumber sweet,
From the scorch'd brain of Marguerite!

Soon shalt thou know; for see how lorn
She climbs the steep or shaggy thorn!
Now on the jutting cliff she stands,
And clasps her cold but snow-white hands;
She sighs—"Farewell!" and bending slow,
Looks trembling on the main below,
And lift'ning ev'ry wave to hear,
Calls from the deep her Henry dear!
Then topples from the rock to meet,
The plighted love of Marguerite!

ANECDOTE.

A COUNTRY clergyman, a short time ago, was abruptly called upon by a rustic, who very earnestly intreated him to accompany him immediately to christen a few new-born children.—"A few," (replied the clergyman,) don't you know how many of them there are?"—"Not rightly," (said the fellow, scratching his head,) there were but three on 'em when I came out, but who knows how many there are by this time!"

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, November 14, 1805.

A CARD.

THE examination of the young ladies of Mrs. Keets's academy commences on Tuesday the 19th of November, to which their relations and friends are respectfully invited.

ATTENTION !!!

THE Members composing the Volunteer Company are requested to take notice, that there will be a meeting of said Company on SATURDAY, the 18th inst. at 3 o'clock, P. M. at the usual parade. It is hoped they will be punctual and general in their attendance, with arms and accoutrements in soldier-like order.

On the 5th of July last a most brilliant fete was given at St. Petersburg, Russia, by the merchants of that city, on the occasion of laying the foundation stone to the new exchange, for which the emperor the last year appropriated two millions of rubles. At this ceremony the emperor, empress, and dowager empress, and the whole imperial family and court attended, and honoured two hundred of the principal merchants with their presence, at one of the most magnificent entertainments which has ever been given in Russia. This feast was given in the hall of the present exchange, which was fitted up in a style of great elegance for the purpose; the flags of various nations were judiciously arranged, and formed an appropriate part of the decoration; those of the United States were observed to occupy the most conspicuous positions over the door by which the emperor and court entered, and immediately in front of his majesty the three ensigns of Russia, America and England, formed a festoon, the Russian ensign in the centre, American on its right and English on its left. His majesty was saluted on his entry into the hall by a band of martial music, and on being seated, a choir of one hundred performers executed, in a most impressive style, an ode which was composed for the occasion; on the health of the emperor being given, the music struck forth in all the grandeur suited to the occasion, and the enthusiasm, animated by the libation, was re-echoed from the artillery of the admiral, in glorious tribute to the most beloved of monarchs. The emperor was extremely free and affable, conversed with a number of merchants, and testified the highest gratification. After remaining at table an hour and a half, the imperial guests retired amidst the applause of their happy hosts, the discharge of cannon, and the acclamations of an innumerable palace, which rent the air with shouts of long live the beloved Monarch, long live their Majesties!

On the 12th of July the emperor returned the compliment, by inviting the whole of the mercantile body, and the principal foreign consuls, who were present at the preceding feast, to an entertainment at the Tauridan palace; where, as before, the whole imperial family were assembled, and dined together. After dinner their majesties retired to the hall of audience, where they received the compliments of several of the principal merchants who were presented by the minister of commerce on the occasion, and also of the respective consuls present. These, we believe, are the first instances of a monarch of Russia dining with a corporation of merchants. The present emperor, who is the idol of his subjects, animated by the most laudable views to their happiness, is ever active in the means of giving it effect.

The improvement of the empire in all its departments, and the commerce of Russia occupies his constant application, which has but too little occupied the attention of his predecessors, promises under his auspices to attain a rank with that of the first nations of the world.

The high consideration with which the commerce of America is regarded in Russia, is evinced by the attention in which their flags were placed at the feast at the exchange, and the distinguished attention which we find its consuls to have received at the St. Petersburg, and which was extended to in a most pointed manner on these public occasions are ample testimonies of the respect entertained the emperor for the United States.

[Poulson's A. D. Adv.]

Captain Beresford of the Cambrian, having given provision for all impressed seamen on board his ship to their friends, letters are now brought up by return of every boat which goes to that vessel for supplies. FOR THE MARYLAND GAZETTE.

IN all public deliberative assemblies, more especially in those which are elected by the great body of the people for the purpose of legislation, whose acts are to bind and pervade the whole community, the freedom of conduct, speech, and sentiment of the members, ought to be most sacredly guarded. An attempt to abridge or destroy this freedom by intimidation of any kind, or by any other means, is treason against the rights of the community. It seems a member of the general assembly has received a letter of this complexion, which has been read in the honourable house of delegates, therefore is a matter of public notice. If it should be considered in that body in this fight, an immediate inquiry, I think, ought undoubtedly to be made into the matter. It is a duty due to their constituents—The member himself is bound, as I think, to demand it. The citizens of Annapolis, with some of whom this offence is supposed to have originated, (I think I can answer for them,) will meet such an inquiry with readiness and pleasure. Whatever their sentiments of public affairs may be; whatever they may think of the conduct of their legislators; and however deeply they may be concerned in the event of their decisions, (though their ruin may be involved,) I can say, I can with proud confidence say, they will never act the part of ruffians or assassins.

A CITIZEN OF ANNAPOLIS.

From the Rights of Man.

MR. WILSON,

SIR,

At the request of general Eustace, I visited him some days previous to his death. During the course of conversation, he expressed his faith in the Christian religion, his hope in the Blessed Redeemer, and intimated his intention, if God should be pleased to spare him, of partaking of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. After sometime, taking me by the hand, he read to me, in a very solemn and affecting manner, a paper containing a declaration of his faith and hope. This paper he delivered to me, desiring me to retain it. It was afterwards shewn to a near relative of the general's, who hath since expressed a desire that it might be published in the Newburgh newspapers. With this desire I readily comply, and herewith send you a copy of it for publication, because I consider it as the general's dying testimony of the truth of the Christian religion, and an evidence that this religion only can comfort and support the soul, in the view of dissolution. I am, Sir, yours,

JAMES SCRIMGEOUR.

Copy of the paper read by gen. Eustace, a few days before his death, entitled,

A SOLDIER'S CREED.

I solemnly and devoutly declare to you, Sir, that I am a firm and unequivocal believer in the Blessed Redeemer of mankind.

My credence extends as far as a vigorous and enterprising genius can comprehend the Divine word; yet I look not forward from this limited distance with the slightest doubt or distrust: No, Sir, it is there, (pointing up towards Heaven) that FAITH becomes my patron and my guide, and it is from my present couch of suffering, but not of complaint, that I wait, almost impatiently, for the joyful summons of my God and Saviour.

There is one particular that the farmers fail in very much—that is in cutting their wheat before it is perfectly dry; which is almost the only reason of the smut troubling them. I commonly let my wheat stand longer than my neighbours, and never have been troubled with smut except when I bought my seed;

from which I have concluded that it was the time of harvesting that prevented smut from damaging flour. About thirty years since I bought a crop on the ground—it proved to be very smutty; nearly one eighth. I thought to try what would prevent its damaging the flour—accordingly I let it stand till it was quite dry, so that when cut in binding, the ground was checked under the sheaf. When I threshed it there was no smut to be seen. Ever since, by the same method, I have found the same good effect. Wheat that is harvested after this manner, will be as good for seed as if there had been no smut among it. Farmers are of opinion if their wheat shells in binding there is a great loss; but they are mistaken—there is greater loss in threshing wheat that is harvested before it is dry, than is wasted in harvesting when it is over dry, (so termed.) If there is any smut in wheat that sweats in the least degree in the mow, it will certainly infect the kernel and by that means smut is propagated.

Cutting wheat with a cradle is pernicious, for it collects a great quantity of green weeds, &c. which, before it is dry, is put into the mow or stack, and will certainly rot, and by that means, the smut, which is light, will be carried by the stream through the whole mow or stack—besides, the cradle cuts off that, which if left standing, would enrich the ground. [Aurora.]

STATE PRISONERS.

Some of the state prisoners in Kilmainham goal, wearied out with long confinement, and not possessing the means of supporting their families, have, we hear, volunteered to go to America, on the government paying their expenses, which, we are informed, has been acceded to, and they are to take their passage in the first vessel that sails for any of the ports of that country. This measure is considered as a pledge to a general goal delivery of all those persons confined on suspicion of state offences.—Lon. pap.

The new invented life boat, with which experiments have been making here for sometime past, is buoyed up by eight casks, four on each side, water tight, and independent of each other. When men are saved from a wreck and landed, the boat may return, and some tons of goods may be put in the casks, if the sea will admit of its being taken out of the wrecked vessels. In a storm the boat is dismantled and rowed by 14 men, who are all fastened to their seats. As the sea breaks into the boat it immediately runs out of her stern ports. It is impossible to sink her. She has 14 life lines, the end of which float with cork, by which men that are washed off the wreck may take hold, before they can be taken into the boat. She brings before the wind, or nearly so, upwards of 100 men at a time from the wreck—She is as manageable with sails as any boat of her size. The rudder is on a new principle: she has 14 grapples for a wreck, a room ten feet wide, water tight, with copper ventilators. The whole of her construction is entirely new.—ibid.

The fatal effects of the weavel in sea-bread have been severely felt by seamen employed on long voyages: rewards have been humanely offered by the legislature, for a cure or preventative, but hitherto without success. The following fact, discovered by accident, is strongly recommended to the attention of those who may be concerned.

A bag belonging to a powder mill fell into a cauldron of liquid nitre; it was immediately taken out, plunged into cold water, and hung up to dry: several days after this circumstance the bag was filled with sea biscuit, and sent on board a West-Indianman, where it was stowed away among the captain's stock. The vessel was nine months out of England before she proceeded on her passage home, when she got calmed, and remained so long in that situation, that her crew were forced to be put upon half allowance, more particularly so, as their bread was much destroyed by the weavels, and was hourly consuming. The captain at this time wishing to make use of the bag above-mentioned, which had not been opened since the ship left England, ordered it to be examined, when greatly to his surprise, the whole contents were found to be perfectly sound, without any appearance of having been injured by any: a circumstance solely to be attributed to the quality of the bag.

During the session of the supreme court in Orange county, Vermont, the following persons were found guilty of counterfeiting bank bills, and received sentence of punishment, viz. Samuel Sterling, for counterfeiting bills of the N. H. bank, to stand in the pillory one hour each day for three days successively, be whipped 39 stripes, and pay a fine of 400 dollars. John St. Clair, for the same offence, to stand in the pillory one hour for two days successively, receive 39 stripes and pay a fine of 20 dollars. Rufel Underwood, for counterfeiting bills of the Boston United States branch bank, to stand in the pillory for one hour for two days successively, receive 39 stripes, pay a fine of 100 dollars. John Giles, for passing counterfeit bills of Providence and Keene banks, to stand one hour in the pillory, to be whipped 39 stripes, and fined 20 dollars; which sentences have been executed.

There were indictments presented by the grand jury against seven others, for being concerned in counterfeiting business, and the state treasury has been benefited to the amount of 4400 dollars, by the forfeiture of bonds for the appearance of delinquents.

By the arrival of Captain Leach, in the ship "The Eagle," we have been favoured with the following intelligence.

BOSTON, November 1.
FROM CALCUTTA.

By the arrival of the ship Alexander Hamilton, captain Leach, in 123 days from Calcutta, we have been favoured with papers to June 20th, from which we extract the following particulars:

May 29. His majesty's ship Culloden, bearing the flag of his excellency rear admiral sir Edward Pellew, commander in chief of his majesty's squadron in the East-Indies, was at Madras, with the Lord Duncan, Cornwallis, Earl Howe, Concorde and brig Harriet.

Admiral Lincolns had resigned his command, and was about to return home.

The papers are totally barren of any intelligence relative to the military transactions of the English in the East-Indies.

November 2.
Accounts from Malaga, to the 14th Sept. state, that the Carthagen fleet, after proceeding as far as Gibraltar on their way to Cadiz, tacked and returned to port, where they remained. If this be correct, the combined fleet in Cadiz waters cannot exceed 36 sail of the line.

NEW-YORK, November 7.
The United States frigate John Adams, commodore Murray, on Tuesday last sailed from this port on a cruise.

The British frigate Cambrian, captain Beresford, having yesterday received some specie, which was sent down in the pilot-boat Ulysses, immediately sailed for Halifax, with a fine westerly breeze.

PHILADELPHIA, November 8.
The following instance of longevity is given in a late German Journal. There is now living near Po-lofk, on the frontiers of Livonia, a Russian who served under Gustavus Adolphus, king of Sweden.
He was present at the battle of Poltawa, in 1709, at which time he was 86 years of age. At the age of 95 he entered into the married state, and had children. The family of this patriarch consists of 186 individuals, who reside together in a village which comprehends ten houses. The eldest of his grand-children is 102; the age of the next is not less than a century. This old man still enjoys a perfect state of health, though now 180.

NEW-ORLEANS, September 28.
We learn from a respectable quarter, that immediately on receiving word of the seizure of the Kem-pers, by the Spaniards, gov. Williams wrote to gov.
Grand Pre, demanding them—and stating that if they were not delivered, he would be under the necessity of making the next demand at the point of the bayonet. Had gov. Claibourne treated a certain marquis in the like spirited manner, the eyes of our citizens would not have been so long offended, nor their feelings insulted, by the appearance in our streets, of armed men in the Spanish uniform.

RALEIGH, October 28.
The southern stage which arrived in this city on Saturday evening, brought colonel Benjamin Hawkins, agent of the United States for Indian affairs, Mr.
Barnard, deputy agent, and a deputation of chiefs from the Upper and Lower Creek nation, consisting of Alexander Cornells and Tuskenahaw from the upper towns; and William McIntosh (who is the speaker of the deputation) Tuskee nee hue Chanco, Enchau Tlucco and Che cophelco Emantau, from the lower towns, with their interpreter. They proceeded in the stage on Monday morning for Washington city. Their business with the president of the United States, we understand, is to treat for an extension of the boundary line of Georgia to the Ockmulgee river.
It will afford pleasure to a benevolent mind to know, that the efforts of colonel Hawkins to meli-orate the condition of the savage tribes, and bring them into something like a social state, have been attended with considerable success.—The Creeks have twelve looms employed, eight of them made by Indians and worked by Indian women, who also spin the cotton which they weave. The plough and the hoe are also in general use among them; and in acquiring and becoming attached to property, (for some of them, we are told possess several hundred head of cattle and many negro slaves) and acquainted with the comforts and advantages of agricultural improvements, they are losing, by degrees, that predilection for the hunting life which characterizes savage nations.
The agent has introduced among them weights and measures, and instructed many in the use of figures, so that they can weigh out their own articles for sale,
and calculate the amount of them with accuracy.
The advantages they discover to arise from these glimmerings of science, are gradually exciting a desire for an extension of knowledge, and will doubtless prepare the way for schools among them. Indeed, from the advances already made in the arts of civil life, there can be little doubt that a foundation is laid for an entire change in the disposition and habits of these tribes.

BALTIMORE, November 8.
Obediah Williams, alias W. Thompson, for some time confined in prison for various offences, and condemned to suffer death this day, was brought under the gallows before an immense concourse of people, who had assembled on the occasion. About 5 minutes before he was to be launched into eternity, an order arrived from the governor, commuting his punishment to 15 years hard labour on the roads.

PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL.
To all who love the prosperity of Zion, and are disposed to aid in propagating the Gospel among the Heathen.—

The subscriber, lately returning from a voyage to the East-Indies, touched in Europe, and was in London in August last, where he received from the Baptist Missionary Society in England for propagating the Gospel among the Heathen, one thousand guineas, to be sent in the spring, to the Missionaries in Bengal, for the purpose of printing the Sacred Scriptures in one of the languages of that country. There are seven languages that the Missionaries there aim to translate and publish the Scriptures in: They have made such progress in three of them, that it is expected the above sum will enable them to complete the work. This money is now in the hands of Robert Ralston, Esq. of Philadelphia, who will forward it in due time. Should any individual, society, or congregation of people in the United States of America, be disposed to contribute to this good work, Mr. Ralston will gladly receive whatever may be sent to him for that purpose, and add to it the above sum to be forwarded to the Missionaries at Serempore, near Calcutta.

Forty Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber, in Anne-Arundel county, two miles from the city of Annapolis, on Monday night the 14th instant, a yellow negro man named ELLAS, with short wool on his head, about five feet two or three inches high, not very stout made, twenty-five years of age, and pretty active; had on when he made his escape, an osha-big shirt, country cloth over coat and trousers, fulled and dyed a light purple colour, also hat and shoes; he took with him other cloaths, a black coat and yellow nankeen pantaloons, and one white shirt. Its supposed he has made for Baltimore, the city of Washington or eastern shore; in Baltimore-town he has several acquaintances, and no doubt will be harboured by them if he gets there. Whoever takes up and secures the said negro in any gaol, so that I get him again, shall be entitled to the above reward.

THE KISS.

BY S. T. COLERIDGE.

ONE kiss, dear maid! I said and sigh'd—
Your scorn the little boon denied.
Ah why refuse the blameless bliss?
Can danger lurk within a kiss?
Yon viewless Wand'rer of the vale,
The SPIRIT of the Western Gale,
At Morning's break, at Evening's close Inhales the sweetness of the Rose,
And hovers o'er th' uninjur'd bloom
Sighing back the soft perfume.
Vigour to the Zephyr's wing
Her nectar-breathing Kisses fling;
And he the glitter of the Dew
Scatters on the Rose's-hue.
Balful lo! she bends her head,
And darts a blush of deeper Red!
Too well those lovely lips disclose
The triumphs of the op'ning Rose:
O fair! O graceful! bid them prove
As passive to the breath of Love.
In tender accents, faint and low,
Well pleas'd I hear the whisper'd "No!"
The whisper'd "No"—how little meant!
Sweet Falsehood, that endears Consent!
For on those lovely lips the while Dawns the soft relenting smile,
And tempts with feign'd dissuasion coy
The gentle violence of Joy.

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

T H U R S D A Y, NOVEMBER 21, 1805.

Foreign Intelligence.

NEW-YORK, November 10.

The editors of the New-York Gazette received yesterday by the Pallas, a Halifax paper of the 26th ult. containing London news to the 22d of September, received by the Camilla, Taylor, of 20 guns, in 30 days from Portsmouth. She came out with dispatches for admiral Mitchell, and we understand, several ships of war failed immediately from Halifax for England.

HALIFAX, October 26.

YESTERDAY evening arrived his majesty's ship Mermaid, captain Holles, with two Spanish schooners prizes.

Two days ago the Mermaid spoke an American vessel from Bilbao for Marblehead, out 25 days, who informed that Spain had actually declared war against the American states, and that he was obliged to cut and run, to save his vessel.

Buonaparte evidently views those combinations against him with an anxious eye; his charge d'affaires at Ratibon, M. Bacher, has presented to the Diet a note, in which he endeavours to excite the jealousy of the German states; he alludes to recent acquisitions of territory made by the emperor on the right side of the Pave, that of Landau, and those in the Saubia, "which have materially altered the relative situation of the neighbouring states in the interior of Germany," to other aggressions, which still continue to be subjects of negotiation with the different princes, and to the partiality with which he has recognized the right of blockade, so monstrously arrogated by England. After declaring that the emperor (of France) has evacuated Switzerland, that he has not kept more troops in Italy, upon the Rhine, or in the interior of the empire, than were absolutely necessary; that he has employed "all the resources of his empire to construct fleets, to form his marine, and to improve his ports;" that he has an ardent desire to preserve the peace of the German empire; he observes, that should his efforts prove fruitless, Providence has bestowed on him sufficient strength "to contend against England with one hand, and with the other to defend the honour of his standards, and the rights of his allies."

The squadrons off Cadiz, under admirals Calder and Collingwood, are said to consist of twenty-eight ships of the line.

LONDON, September 14.

Jerome Buonaparte's Squadron has been augmented at Toulon, by a fourth frigate and three more brigs.

September 17.

Lord Nelson failed on the 15th inst. to join the fleet off Cadiz, which is to be augmented to 32 sail.

Calder is to return to England.

Three frigates and two sloops, intended for secret service, have been ordered off Lisbon, under captain Cobb.

A Copenhagen article of August 27, states, that the Russian fleet of 13 ships, including 4 of the line, were coming down the Baltic, supposed to be destined for the Mediterranean.

A letter from an officer belonging to admiral Russell's fleet, off the Texel, dated September 8, says,—

The transports began on Saturday to disembark their troops; they are now all on shore, and have marched into the interior for Nimeguen. Many of the transports have failed back for Amsterdam.

Admiral De Winter has struck his flag, and his ship's guns are unbenet; also the topmasts of admiral Kickert, there is little probability of their making any attempt to come out."

The amount of property brought home on account of the East-India company, in the fleet just arrived, £9,700,000; the private property, trade and ships, about £4,600,000, and the duty to government, £5,600,000.

September 19.

The Prince Adolphus packet, from New-York, is arrived at Falmouth, in 19 days from Halifax.

Part of the troops destined for foreign service are embarked at Dover, and another part at Portsmouth. There will also, we suppose, be an embarkation at Plymouth.

The Malta, which our readers will recollect was sent by the Monitor to have been so damaged, at the must be condemned, failed on Monday to admiral Collingwood off Cadiz. It is certain we understand, that rear-admiral Calder joined admiral Collingwood on the 25th ult.

Admiral Ranier struck his flag last week on board the Trident, and landed at Ramsgate, after eleven years absence, and immediately waited on lord Keith.

Among a variety of articles that he has brought home and landed here, are a beautiful striped leopard, about nine months old, a Persian cow, an Indian cow, a bull and cow of the Poligar breed, ten sheep of different breeds from Bengal and other parts of India, the Cape, &c.

Parliament, it is said, will meet for the dispatch of business on the 10th or 12th of November.

Buonaparte absolutely refuses to Bavaria, Wurtemberg, and Hesse Darmstadt, the permission to remain neutral. He insists that they shall be treated by France as enemies, if they refuse to join him. He has already put all their arms, artillery, ammunition and other stores for war under requisition.

Reports are still contradictory, respecting the destination of the armament now fitting out in the Downs. In fact, one of the objects in fitting out is, that its real destination being kept a secret the enemy may be more distracted in settling the distribution of his forces.

The expedition which failed lately from Cork, consisted of three ships of the line, besides frigates, 19 or 20 Indiamen, and several transports, amounting to 70 sail, having on board 7 or 8000 troops, under the command of general Baird, destined against the Cape of Good-Hope; and as soon as possession is obtained of that place, the expedition will proceed against the Isle of France.

September 22.

It is stated that Austria has published a declaration of the provocations which have again compelled her to appeal to arms.

Frankfort letters of the 11th state, that the emperor of Russia has agreed to the proposition of Austria, for opening a congress for a general peace.

Letters from Ratibon of the 1st inst. speak of an extensive confederation of electors and princes of Germany, to maintain a system of neutrality. The return of the messenger, who carried M. Bacher's note to Vienna, was anxiously looked for; as on his dispatches the question of war or peace was supposed to depend.

September 23.

Notwithstanding the ill success of his late interference, his Prussian majesty is said to have made a second effort to prevent hostilities. Duroc is supposed to have communicated some fresh propositions, for the purpose of having them transmitted to the emperor of Russia by the court of Berlin. Duroc remained in that capital on the 10th instant, waiting for new instructions. Some rumours attribute the unexpected appearance of this confidential agent in the Prussian Capital, to the protection which his majesty is said to have given to the elector of Hesse, who has ordered the formation of a camp of 15,000 men in his states.

September 24.

Strong expectations were entertained at Hanover, that a corps of Prussian troops would shortly occupy that electorate. It was nevertheless reported, that a considerable number of French troops were coming thither from Holland. Hanover was still to furnish 900 horses and 800,000 francs.

Private letters from Berlin state, "That M. Duroc proposed to the king of Prussia, to send auxiliary troops to the assistance of the French; and that the application was peremptorily refused, and his majesty has given orders for 70,000 of his troops to occupy Hanover, and that he is determined to remain neutral if possible, but if he should be pressed, or obliged to take a part in the war, he would join the allies against Buonaparte."

Intelligence of the commencement of hostilities in Italy may be daily expected. It was supposed that the Austrian army would cross the Adige shortly after the arrival of the archduke Charles to assume the command of it.

Duroc continued at Berlin so late as the 13th inst. This intelligence in a letter from a gentleman at Hamburg, to a respectable merchant in the city, in which he also states, "That he had just arrived from Berlin, after passing the electorate of Hanover, in which not a single French soldier was to be seen. He also asserts it, as a positive fact, that 10,000 Russians had landed at Stralsund."

We had yesterday an opportunity of seeing a letter from Amsterdam of the 18th instant, addressed to a most respectable house in the city. It states, that an express has just arrived from Paris, with several letters from the merchants there, which, as the writer expresses himself, "takes away the last hopes of peace." The continental war is considered inevitable, and under this apprehension, large purchases have been made in this country, of such articles of merchandise as were most likely to be affected by the event.

A letter from St. Mary's, Scilly, puts us in possession of the most recent accounts from our fleet before Brest. It is dated the 16th inst. and says:

"This afternoon put in here the cutter Elizabeth and Phillis, of Penzance, left the Channel fleet last night at nine o'clock, about eight leagues south of Ushant, then about seventeen sail of the line, five sail having been dispatched towards Ferroll. The French fleet were all snug in harbour, having made no further attempt to come out."

General Gardner has succeeded general Bowyer in the command of Nova-Scotia and New Brunswick.

A letter from Harlaem, of the 16th, says, that a new military conscription has been secretly ordered, and is executing in France, comprising all persons capable of bearing arms, between the ages of 17 and 25, and from which neither artists nor professors, or students of the sciences are exempt.

It is said that the French minister at Cassel, after some unsuccessful applications to the electoral court, for the dismissal of the British minister, Mr. Taylor, early in August, declared that, unless the wishes of Buonaparte, on this head, were immediately complied with, a French army would enter Hesse, and that marshal Bernadotte was already instructed on the subject. It is added, that the elector returned a temperate, yet decided answer, and sent off a courier to Berlin to communicate the threat. On the return of the messenger the French agent was informed, that the elector would not comply with the demand which had been made to him, and that should a French army enter his dominions, he would not be wanting in energy or preparation to meet it. Mr. Taylor, at the same time, received assurances of protection, and the most marked attention and civilities. We are further assured, that the king of Prussia, in the most unequivocal terms, expressed his disapprobation of the conduct of the French agent at Cassel, and declared himself bound in honour and by treaty to support Hesse in the event of her being attacked.

The Hamburg mails, due on the 15th and 18th instant, arrived on Sunday night. Much of the intelligence contained in the public journals has been anticipated, by the ample extracts from the Dutch papers of Wednesday last, which we exclusively gave yesterday. Our private advices are, however, extremely interesting.

The fact of the Russian troops having entered the Austrian territories is placed beyond all doubt. The corps which entered Galicia was commanded by general Kutuloff, and consisted of 80,000 men. Another army of 60,000 men was actually collected in the neighbourhood of Warsaw, we believe, under the veteran Mitchellson; and the head-quarters of the third army, which was to be commanded by the emperor in person, were established at Wilna, whither his Imperial majesty meant to proceed at the latter end of last month. In addition to these instances of extraordinary activity, there is reason to suppose, that Russia is determined to occupy Swedish Pomerania. Thirty thousand men were to embark at St. Petersburg and Revel on the three last days of August; and M. Alopeus, the Russian ambassador to the court of Stockholm, (brother to the ambassador at Berlin) has landed at Stralsund, accompanied by two Russian generals. As the Russian troops will be landed in the Swedish territories, under the terms, as it is said, of a treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, between the two courts, the provisions of which have probably been communicated to Prussia, any remonstrance or opposition on the part of the court of Berlin will require extreme delicacy or determination.

PORTSMOUTH, September 21.

Admiral Montague returned here to his command last night; and sir Isaac Coffin resumed the command of the ships in the harbour.

Sir John Duckworth, it is said, is appointed second in command of the Mediterranean fleet.

The African, Newfoundland and Portugal convoys remain at Spithead and St. Helen's. The Heron sloop of war, captain Edgecombe, has taken charge of the Newfoundland convoy, instead of the Camilla.

The Spanish corvette, which is arrived at the Motherbank, is called the Prince of Peace. She is a large ship, carries 22 guns, and has been very successful against our trade. She captured the Prince of Wales packet, since retaken by the Poulette. The 7000 pounds in specie, which she took out of the packet, is now on board of her, both are under quarantine.

Five waggons laden with specie arrived here this morning from London; several others have arrived in the course of the week. Four hundred thousand pounds in dollars, have been put on board the Thalia frigate, captain Walker, which is under orders to proceed with the money to Bengal on account of the East-India company. One hundred and ninety-seven thousand pounds, in dollars, for Malia, which were embarked on board the Melpomene frigate, have been removed to the Royal Sovereign of 100 guns, captain Conn. She will sail in a few days. And one hundred and fifty chests of dollars were shipped this morning on board the Defiance of 74 guns, captain Durham, which is ordered to join lord Nelson's fleet.

FALMOUTH, September 21.

The armed schooner Paramatta, arrived at Falmouth on Thursday last, with mail and dispatches, in ten days from Lisbon. By her we learn that admiral Calder had arrived off Cadiz on the 29th of August, where he remained blockading the combined French and Spanish squadrons in that port. We are assured that these squadrons are in the greatest distress for want of stores and provisions. Bread they have none, nor is there any to be procured at Cadiz, where the greatest scarcity prevails even among the inhabitants. The British fleet, in the mean-time, is strictly blockades the port, that no supplies can enter from the sea. Much jealousy and discontent consequently prevails between the French and Spanish officers; and this, perhaps, has given rise to the rumour which has reached us, said to be brought by the Paramatta, that the Spaniards had withdrawn from their alliance with France, and declared against her. Admiral Villeneuve has been recalled to Paris, to have his conduct on the 22d July, investigated by a court-martial. The Rochfort squadron, which lately took a cruise, with the probable intention of intercepting our homeward bound convoys, has returned disappointed to port.

Letters from Cadiz, of a still later date, confirm the above intelligence, and mention that grain has considerably advanced in price since the French arrived.

Letters from Madrid, of the 28th ult. prove the misery which the unfortunate Spaniards endure owing to their alliance with France. Payment in specie is stopped, and the merchants are unable to honour their bills when they become due. The paper termed Dinero, which has been always considered as cash, is now at three per cent. discount.

HANOVER, September 6.

Letters from Switzerland unanimously assert that Buonaparte is taking the most active measures, in that ill-fated country, to obtain such a preponderancy in their councils as leaves no reason to doubt of their soon petitioning to be ingrafted in the Corsican family, in the event of a rupture with Austria.

PARIS, September 10.

Jerome Buonaparte has returned to Genoa with his squadron. He has been at Algiers, and demanded the release of all the French and Italian prisoners. The Dey endeavoured to prevaricate, but the young commodore insisted on the surrender of the prisoners, or the termination of all negotiation in 24 hours; within which the Dey complied with his demands, and gave up 250 prisoners, which were conveyed in safety to Genoa.

American Intelligence.

MEADVILLE, October 30.

Storm on Lake Erie.

WE have been politely favoured with the following melancholy intelligence, by a gentleman residing at Erie.

ERIE, October 26, 1805.

There was the severest storm on Lake Erie last week that has been known since the settlement of this country.—It continued two days and two nights with extreme violence.—losses have been sustained by it to a large amount. The sloop Good Intent, of this port, with her cargo (consisting principally of dry goods and groceries) was totally lost, and the hands on board it is supposed have all perished, as none of them have since been heard of, and 4 bodies have been driven ashore. The schooner Wilkinson, of Detroit, and two other vessels were driven ashore: The loss which they have sustained is not yet known, it is believed, however, that the crews were saved. Six other vessels which were out, were saved by running down into Niagara river. Accounts from Buffalo and Fort Erie state that the water was raised there by the wind six or seven feet above the common level.

We have had no accounts from Lake Ontario, but it is highly probable that great damage has been done there also.

WASHINGTON, November 13.

The hon. ROBERT R. LIVINGSTON, late minister of the United States at the French court, arrived in Washington on Monday last, and has taken lodgings at the Indian King tavern.

We have just now been informed, that orders have been given by government for a detachment of marines to be in readiness to proceed to New-Orleans without delay. And that the New-Orleans station will be guarded by a number of gun boats.

The frigates lately arrived in Hampton Roads from the Mediterranean, will not, we hear, come to Washington as was expected—but are ordered to New-York.

BALTIMORE, November 15.

A gentleman lately from Vincennes, has politely favoured us with the following paragraph:—

A treaty has been lately made between the United States and the Delawares, Miamies, Piankshaws, Pattawatomies, Weaws, and Eel river Indians, by which they have ceded to the United States all the lands from the mouth of the Kentucky river, along the present boundary line fifty miles; from thence to the north-east corner of the Vincennes tract—supposed to contain upwards of four millions of acres.—The sum paid for this land does not amount to one cent per acre.

GENERAL EATON.

We have the pleasure to announce the arrival of this gentleman, he came passenger in the brig Franklin, from Gibraltar. General Eaton landed at Hampton yesterday, and proceeded this morning to Washington.

The brig Franklin touched at Madeira on her passage from Gibraltar. A British fleet of 160 sail, including 15 vessels of war, of which three were of the line, sailed from Madeira on the 14th of September to the southward.

The combined squadron in Cadiz is composed of 8 French ships of the line and 5 frigates, 17 Spanish ships of the line and 2 frigates, in all 35 sail of the line and 7 frigates. The British blockading force was 24 ships of the line, two of the ships being under at Tetuan or Gibraltar Bay. — Admiral Beller-ophon not arrived, but would probably arrive in three or four days, as we observe he went on board the Victory on the 16th of September, having with him four sail of the line. If the combined fleet did not sail out while only opposed by 24 sail of the line, it will not probably move after the arrival of Lord Nelson.

[Norfolk Ledger.]

The following is taken from the Enquirer of yesterday, which was handed to the editor of that paper
by general Eaton.

A new Dey was immediately elected, and not a few days before he sailed a French sloop of war of 22 guns was brought in there, and that a frigate was likewise captured and carried into Antigua.

November 18.

States frigate Constellation, captain Stewart, also the transport brig Franklin, captain Robinson, in 46 days from Gibraltar. In the latter came passenger captain Chamberlain, late of the ship Argus, of this port, vessel and cargo condemned at Gibraltar. The United States frigate John Adams, was to sail in three days for the United States. It was reported at Gibraltar, that the Rochfort squadron had been captured—a similar report has been received by the brig Juno, captain Edwards, from Heulba, in Spain, but we do not place any dependence in these reports, as it was stated in our London advices, that the Rochfort squadron had got back early in September.

Yesterday came up from the Congress frigate, in Hampton Roads, his excellency Sidi Solymen Melimeli, ambassador from the Bey of Tunis to the United States, attended by his two secretaries. They visited Fort Nelson on their way up, by which they were saluted upon landing. Afterwards they proceeded to town, and dined with a select party at Bain-bridge's hotel, accompanied also by captain Decatur and several of his officers.

In the evening, the mayor and several respectable gentlemen of the town, visited the ambassador, to whom they were presented by captain Decatur, and this morning, accompanied by his secretaries, he returned the visits of the mayor and some other gentlemen. We do not know when they leave town, but understand they only wait for a fair wind to proceed in the frigate to Washington. The novelty of their appearance, and their magnificent costume in the true Turkish style, attracted more attention than comported with good breeding, they did not however appear displeased, but seemed to attribute it to a right cause. The ambassador appears turned of 50 years of age, of a grave and dignified deportment.

[Norfolk Ledger.]

Captain Le Baron (now below from Malaga) informs the editors of this Gazette, that on the evening of the 23d of September, off Cadiz, he passed through an English fleet of thirty-two sail of the line and four frigates. [From this there is no doubt but lord Nelson had arrived, and joined admirals Colling-wood and Calder, on that station.]

POOR ISABELLA.

KEEN blows the wind—I am naked and weary;
O'er the wide world do I wander forlorn:
Pity me, strangers, my path is so dreary,
Full oft am I wounded by many a thorn.
The sky for my roof, and a stone for my pillow,
In the damp streets do I nightly remain;
Tost on the tempests of life's angry billow,
Poor Isabella, surely, has cause to complain.
No tongue speaks to her in the language of feeling,
No cheek wears the warm, sunny grace of a smile;
O'er her bosom the ice of despair is fast sealing,
Naught, naught can her soul's heavy anguish beguile.
Be hush'd for a moment, ye blasts of December,
And let the sad prayers of an outcast arise;
Let the rich and the happy my sorrows remember,
And banish the tear from my lustreless eyes.
Those eyes were once fam'd for their sparkling and beauty;
How oft have I heard they were bright as the sun;
But Isabella wander'd from honour and duty,
She listen'd, she trusted, and, oh! was undone.
Now, worn by disease, and the victim of sorrow,
I call upon death to alleviate my woe;
Unknowing what fate has reserv'd for the morrow,
Impatient I wait for the finishing blow.
Ye maidens, so rich, in the spring tide of beauty,
Oh! ye who are lovely, and virtuous as fair, Gaze, gaze on this cheek, when ye're wand'ring from duty,
This cheek so impress'd with the signet of care.
Nay, doubt not, it once was the throne of the graces,
It once blaz'd with colours as bright as your own;
But misery has left there her eloquent traces,
The tings of health and of virtue are flown.
Now slumb'ring on down, in the mansions of gladness,
Behold the gay vulture that ruin'd my bloom;
He sleeps while these senses are verging on madness;
But patience!—for God shall irradiate my gloom.
Ye rains that descend, and ye thunders that mutter,
Let fall your wild wrath on my shelterless head;
No sigh shall escape, no complaint will I utter,
The spirit of anger and murmur is dead.
This heart seems to warn me its journey is ended;
The cold gale of death o'er my pallid frame sweeps;
The pulse of life and of pain seem suspended;
Slow, slow through its channels the lagging blood creeps.
O, Father of Mercies, thy hand will receive me;
The glories of God on my soul shall arise;
And, perchance, even those who refus'd to relieve me,
May then drop a tear where poor Isabella lies.

H. H. HAYDEN,

Dentist to St. Mary's College, Baltimore,

WITH grateful sentiments acknowledges the liberal confidence and encouragement he has experienced from the citizens of Annapolis, and its vicinity, during his former visits, and respectfully informs them, and the honourable members of the legislation, that in all the cases that fall within the limits of his profession, no efforts shall be left unimproved to render universal satisfaction to merit an entire confidence, and to treat, with the utmost delicacy and tenderness, all operations on the teeth and gums.

As the time of his stay in Annapolis is unavoidably limited to four weeks, from those who wish his assistance, he solicits as seasonable application as possible, particularly where natural or artificial teeth are wanted, and also where it is necessary to place, in perfect order, irregular teeth. A line, or servant, directed to him at Mr. William Brewer's mill-barn, will be attended to.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, November 28, 1805.

NORFOLK, November 18.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

CAPTAIN SMITH, of the ship Eliza, in 38 days from Bourdeaux, has favoured us with a regular file of Paris papers to the 30th of September, and of Bourdeaux to the 5th of October.

War had not been declared, nor hostilities been commenced, unless the seizure of the territory of the elector of Bavaria by the Emperor of Austria, is to be regarded as such.

The French army had crossed the Rhine in three places, and is commanded by the emperor Buonaparte in person, who had arrived at Strasburg. The Austrian army had been prompt in entering Bavaria, and was animated by the presence of the emperor of Austria. The Russian army in two divisions were advancing through Galicia, and were expected to form a junction with the Austrian army in Germany sometime in October. The Austrian army in Italy is commanded by the archduke Charles, and that of the French by Massena.

Diplomatic relations do not appear to be entirely broken off between France and Austria, as by the latest accounts it will be seen that the French ambassador was still at Vienna, and we do not perceive, after a careful examination, that the Austrian minister had quitted Paris.

GEORGE-TOWN, November 21.

Arrived in the city of Washington on Sunday evening, general Jonathan Dayton, from a visit, as we understand, to the state of Ohio and the Indiana territory. And on the next morning arrived the honourable Aaron Burr, from an extensive tour through the western country and territories of the United States, in every part of which, as appears from their public prints, he was received with great respect, and treated with extraordinary attention.

Government, we learn, had countermanded the orders given for our frigates to sail, and ordered them for Washington. These orders have been again changed, and the frigates are ordered back, should they be on their way up.

On Monday arrived in this city, our gallant and distinguished countryman, general EATON, in good health. His achievements merit, and we entertain no doubt will receive, the respectful attentions of his fellow-citizens in every part of the union. The glorious and joyful events, in which he has so largely participated, entitle him to the gratitude of every man who feels an interest in the honour of his country, and who properly appreciates the liberation of three hundred captive citizens.

[Nat. Intelligencer.]

A Squadron of 160 British transports, conveyed by 15 men of war, was reported to have left Madeira about the 6th or 8th of October. They had taken an easterly course. Their destination completely unknown. Some supposed they were bound to the West-Indies, and others to the Cape of Good Hope.

PHILADELPHIA, November 15.

Our letters by the Hannah from New-Orleans, are to the 20th ult. They continue to state several occurrences which lead to a supposition, that a state of tranquillity cannot be long maintained. The marquis de Caffa Calvo had left New-Orleans for Nachitoches, which occasioned various conjectures. It was very confidently asserted, that a considerable body of cavalry had arrived on the western frontier, either with a view of crossing thence to the Floridas, or to remain there ready for any sudden emergency. The frigate Pomona had arrived at Pensacola, and landed 400 men. These circumstances, it is added, very naturally awaken in us, strong apprehensions of the continuance of peace.

Admiral Pocock's celebrated pickle for meat.

To 4 gallons of water add $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. brown sugar, 2 oz. salt petre, 6 lb. large or bay salt: boil all these together in an iron pot or kettle, and skim it repeatedly as long as any scum rises; then take off the pot and let it stand till the liquor is cold. The meat being placed in the vessel meant to hold it, pour the cold pickle on it till it is covered, and put something on to keep it in the pickle, and thus keep it for family use. When it is intended to keep it for a length of time, the pickle must be boiled once in 6 weeks or 2 months at farthest, adding during the boiling 2 oz. sugar, and half a pound of salt, scumming as before directed. By this management the pickle will keep good 12 months, and is always ready for a fresh supply of meat.

N. B. The foregoing method is equally excellent for bacon and beef.

Whereas it is declared by the constitution of Ma-

now called the Provincial Court, and that the same court be hereafter called and known by the name of the General Court, which court shall sit on the western and eastern shores, for transacting and determining the business of the respective shores, at such times and places as the future legislature of this state shall direct and appoint: And whereas it is also provided by the said form of government, that nothing therein which relates to the eastern shore particularly, shall at any time thereafter be altered, unless for the alteration and confirmation thereof at least two thirds of all the members of each branch of the general assembly shall concur: And whereas it appears by the votes and proceedings of the house of delegates of the state of Maryland, at the last session of the general assembly, held in the year eighteen hundred and four, that the act to provide for the trial of facts in the several counties of this state, and to alter, change and abolish, all such parts of the constitution and form of government as relate to the general court and court of appeals, passed only by a majority of two votes;
therefore resolved, That it is the opinion of this house, that the general court cannot be abolished, unless the bill for abolishing the same be assented to by two thirds at least of each branch of the general assembly, and therefore it is unnecessary for this house to act on the bill sent down from the honourable se-

SELECTED.

LINES,

Written to console a young lady who had an impediment in her speech.

WHEN fair Almeria's gentle voice
Divides the yielding air,
Fix'd on her lips, the quiv'ring sound,
Excess of bliss declare;

There lingering round their rosy gate,
They view their fragrant cell,
Unwilling yet to leave that mouth
Where all the graces dwell.

While some soft accents strike the ear
With sweet imperfect sound,
A thousand others die within,
In their own honey drown'd.

Yet, through this cloud, distinct and clear,
Strong sense directs its dart;
And, while it seems to shun the ear,
Strikes home upon the heart.

JACK'S CHOICE.

IN heat of youth poor Jack engaged a wife,
Whose tongue he thought might prove a scold for life;
Perplexed he still put off the evil day,
Grew sick at length and just expiring lay;
When to sad crisis, having put the matter,
To wed or die, Jack wisely chose the latter.

State of Maryland,

November 18, 1805.

Pursuant to a decree of the High Court of Chancery will be SOLD, at PUBLIC SALE, on Thursday the 26th of December next, if fair, if not, the first fair day thereafter, at Hunting-town, in Calvert county,

THE following lands, late the property of JOHN W. SIMMONS, of the county aforesaid, deceased; the lands on which the said John W. Simmons formerly lived, containing about one hundred acres, subject to the widow's thirds, lying within one mile of the court-house of said county; this property will be shewn to any person wishing to purchase, by Mr. Isaac Simmons, who resides thereon. Also a lot of about two acres of land, in Hunting-town, on which is a store house and counting-room, and a small dwelling-house, with two rooms, subject to the widow's thirds; this property, or as much thereof as will be sufficient to pay the debts of the said John W. Simmons, will be sold on the following terms: the purchaser to give bond, with good security, to pay the purchase money, with legal interest thereon, within fifteen months from the day of sale, to be ratified and approved by the chancellor, and a conveyance for the said property for all the estate, right, title, and interest, which was in the aforesaid John W. Land for Sale.

Conformably to an order issued from the honourable court of Calvert county, at September term last, the subscribers will offer, at PUBLIC AUCTION, on Tuesday the 4th day of February next, if fair, if not, the first fair day thereafter, at the late residence of NATHAN SMITH, deceased, at the hour of twelve o'clock,

A VALUABLE tract of land, containing four hundred and fourteen acres and fourteen perches; this truly fertile spot may justly be ranked as first rate land, the soil being extremely rich, capable of producing wheat, hemp, flax, clover, timothy, Indian corn, and fine tobacco; the greater part of this beautiful place lies extremely level, and we should do injustice to it, did we neglect to say that few places are equal and none can excel it; the improvements are convenient, and in tolerable repair; and as it is presumable those who are inclined to purchase will view the premises previous to the day of sale, it renders a full detail of the improvements unnecessary; this place lies within four miles of Nottingham, and about six from Pig Point, has a sufficiency of timber and wood to support it, a tolerable apple orchard, with other fruit trees. The terms of sale are, that bond, and approved security, will be required on the day of sale, payable in two equal payments, the first in twelve, and the second in eighteen months, with yearly interest on the purchase money unpaid; the sale to be subject to the ratification and confirmation of the court, and upon the whole purchase money, and interest, being paid, and not before, the purchaser or purchasers will receive an indisputable title to the premises so bargained and sold. Possession will be given on the day of sale. This land will be sold altogether, or in lots, as may appear most conducive to the interest of the representatives.

CHARLES WILLIAMSON,
RICHARD IRELAND, jun.

ORIGINAL BILL AND BILL OF REVIVOR.
Michael Kraner,

vs.
Anne Johnson, widow of Thomas Johnson, deceased, Rinaldo Johnson, Thomas Johnson, John Johnson, John Woodward, and Rachel his wife, Mary Jamieson, John Hopkins Fox, and Elizabeth his wife, and Anne Johnson, daughter of the said Thomas Johnson, deceased, and vs. Elizabeth Johnson, widow of Horatio Johnson, deceased, and Horatio, Edward, Rinaldo, Eiza, Marian, Sarah, Caroline, Charles, Arthur, Thomas and Evelina Johnson, infant children and co-heirs and heiresses of the said Horatio Johnson, deceased.

THE object of the bills is to obtain a decree for the redemption of a mortgage on a certain tract of land called "Angles Fortune," containing eighty acres, and situate in Baltimore county, which was mortgaged on May 4th, 1755, by Angle Ireallo, to Charles Carroll, Esq; of the city of Annapolis, and company, for the sum of £. 83 0 1 current money, payable May 27th, 1756, and also obtain an allowance in the adjustment of the mortgage debt of certain payments alleged to have been made by the complainants to the original mortgagees and their assigns, and likewise of the sum of £. 103 1 9 current money, alleged to be due to the complainant from Rinaldo Johnson, one of the defendants.

The relief is prayed on the ground that the mortgage has been regularly transferred to and vested in the defendants in the original bill, and Horatio Johnson, the father of the infant defendants in the bill of revivor, which Horatio and the said defendants in the original bill were the children and co-heirs and heiresses of Thomas Johnson, deceased; that this transfer was made by virtue and in performance of a contract made between the original mortgagees and the said Thomas Johnson in his lifetime; that the equity of redemption of the mortgaged premises was conveyed in the year 1787, to the complainant by Edward Ireallo, son and heir of Angle Ireallo the mortgagor; that various sums, to a considerable amount, by way of rent for the mortgaged premises, first to the original mortgagees, then to the said Thomas Johnson, deceased, as assignee of the mortgage, and after his death to the defendants, Anne, the widow, and Rinaldo, as his administrator and administratrix, and that the defendant Rinaldo being entitled to a part of the mortgage money, his debt to the complainant ought to be set off against that part, all these matters are fully stated in the original bill; as also that Thomas Johnson the father died in 1790, and that the defendant Rinaldo is his eldest son and heir at law.

The bill of revivor states, that after the filing of the original bill, Horatio, one of the defendants, died intestate, leaving a widow and children, who are the defendants in the bill of revivor. It appears that the defendant Rinaldo has put in his answer to the original bill, but that none of the other defendants to that bill have answered or appeared, although they have all been served with process of subpoena. It also appears that process of subpoena has been served on all the defendants in the bill of revivor, none of whom have appeared.

It is thereupon adjudged and ordered, that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted three weeks successively in the Maryland Gazette, before the 13th day of December next, give notice to the defendants of this application, and of the substance and object of the bill, that they may be warned to appear here in person, or by a solicitor, before the 13th day of April next, to shew cause, if any they have, wherefore a decree should not be passed as prayed.

True copy,
SAMUEL HARVEY HOWARD,
Reg. Cur. Can.
