THE CONFERENCE REPORT.

The Conference committee composed of seven members of the House and seven of the Senate, to whom was referred the tariff bill for adjustment, have happily cleared on all the points of difference between the Wilson bill and the Gorman-Bridgman bill and have so reported to their respective bodies.

The Maryland Representatives voted for the Wilson bill Senator Gorman took part in the manufacture of the Senate bill and stands as its champion. Whom will the state endorse? Whom will the various Congressional conventions endorse? Will the Third and Fourth Congressional districts which will respectively nominate Mr. Rusk and Mr. Rayner, endorse their course in congress, or the course of our "conservative" Senators? How could these conventions endorse the course of the senators and recommend these men for the lower house. How can they be silent? Mr. Rayner, for instance, who is sound on the silver question, and sound on the tariff question, would like to know whether his views coincide with those of his constituents, and may ask the convention to express its views. Whom will it endorse, its representatives or the state representative? What will the Ocean City convention do? Will it express the views of the voters of this congressional district, by declaring in favor of free coal, free iron ore and cheap sugar, and thereby lay the foundation for the election of the nominee, or will it smother all effort to raise the will of the people by passing resolutions that mean nothing? Let us have no glittering generalities. Let us be specific. If we want ourselves taxed to pay the sugar tariff another thirty million dollars bonus let the convention say so. If we want coal and iron free let us not be afraid to say so.

MR. ALLEN'S CULTURIST.

The July number of the Strawberry Culture, Mr. W. F. Allen Jr., publisher, has just been turned off the press. Mr. Allen's ambition has been to make his succeeding number better than his predecessor, and thus far he has certainly succeeded.

HER LOSS RING.

There is a loss of 10 years' standing who is mourning her wedding ring, and it is all due to a freeman's gentle way of misjudging her. The woman lived in Brooklyn, when her house caught fire one night, and she escaped with the youngest child, a sealink sock and silk dress. The child was killed, the sealink sock and silk dress were in the lower story of the house when the fire broke out, with its nurse, and when the woman was taken into a neighboring residence a tender-hearted freeman followed and broke the news gently to her that this boy had been burned and lost in the flames. The mother was crazed with grief. She wore a diamond pin at her throat, a wedding ring and diamond engagement ring on her left hand, and on her right another diamond. In the first wave of delirium she rushed into the street, tore off the pin at her throat, tore off all her rings and tossed them away. The child wasn't burned, but the young woman never found her rings, and now she wishes the freeman had waited till he knew what he was talking about.—New York Advertiser.

SEARCHLIGHT FOR CANALS.

A handy little portable plant is being used on vessels navigating the Chesapeake ship canal at night. The apparatus is generally a duplicate of that employed for lighting vessels through the Suez canal. It comprises a small engine and dynamo combined, a searchlight projector, a reflector, battery and a mast arm lamp and reflector. The projector barrel is 20 inches in diameter, soiled out of steel sheet, all the mountings being of gun metal finished bright. The mirror is 20 inches in diameter, 10 inch focus, with a bayonet socket attachment to the barrel, so as to facilitate removal for cleaning, etc. The electrical connections are carried inside the projector, and an instrument similar to a camera is provided at one side of the projector for viewing the scene through on ground glass.—Kansas City Times.

JUDGED BY APPEARANCES.

Switzer cheese is comparatively unknown in Ireland; hence the mistake of an Irish immigrant employed by a down town grocer. His first job was to go down to cellar to select 10 pounds of switzer cheese. He came running up the cellar and astonished his employer by saying the cheese was full of mice and moths, and he had seen the switzer stated was right, because he had seen the holes where they went in.—Philadelphia Call.

Palm's College gives a complete business education at the minimum of cost and time, and assists its graduates in securing positions. Handsome circulars can be had for the asking.

Nothing New.

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, had nothing strange in the number of diseases that Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood that the best way to treat them is through the blood, and it is far better to use only harmless vegetable compound than to dose to excess with quinine, calomel and other drugs. By treating the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla, scrofula, salt rheum and what are commonly called "humors," dyspepsia, catarrh, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption and other troubles that originate in impurities of blood of impeded circulation, can all be cured.

Subduing Wild Beasts.

The Special Danger of the Tamers of Lions and Tigers. Now and then, for no reason that any one can find, a lion or a tiger that has been tamed by a regular and well known tamer suddenly rebels. He will no longer balance on the big ball, no longer stand unflinchingly on the saw-bow, no longer ride the horse or jump the hurdles. He comes out instead with a plain, pointed, beaming "no" for the whole programme and proceeds to get square with the game by tearing the life out of some tamer or groom. Apparently his pride and hate and revenge are all stirred up together against all surrounding conditions, and the people to whom he has been most obedient are the very ones he now desires most to kill. When tamed men meet a violent death, it is often under one of these unprovoked and inexplicable outbreaks of madness.

Every true democrat and every sincere tariff reformer knows that this bill in its present form, and as it will be submitted to the conference, falls far short of the consummation for which we have labored, for which we have suffered defeat without discouragement, which in its anticipation, gave us a rallying cry in our day of triumph, and which in its promises of accomplishments so interwoven with Democratic pledges and Democratic success that our abandonment of the cause or the principles upon which it rests means party perjury and party dishonor.

On the subject of free raw material Mr. Cleveland says:

"If we will excite our wonder that Democrats are willing to depart from this the most democratic of all tariff principles, and that the inconsistent absurdity of such a proposed departure should be emphasized by the suggestion of the wool of the farmer to be put on the free list and the protection of tariff taxation be placed around the iron ore and coal of corporations and capitalists. How can we face the people after indulging in such outrageous discriminations and violations of principles?"

EASTERN SHORE DEAL.

Consolidation of Peninsula Transportation Lines Which Includes the B. & E. S. Railroad.

The Wilmington Evening Journal of Thursday says:

Henry P. Scott, of the banking firm of Elliott, Johnson & Company, of this city, has just consummated the biggest deal in transportation lines that has been made on this Peninsula since the Pennsylvania Railroad Company acquired control of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad.

The deal has been in contemplation for two or three years and has been in the hands of a number of brokers. Six weeks ago Mr. Scott took the matter in hand, and brought it to a successful issue this week, the first information regarding it being given to-day.

A new company will be formed which will take in these properties, probably with a capitalization of $1,000,000 common stock and $1,500,000 preferred and $1,250,000 first mortgage five per cent, forty-year gold bonds.

The property which will go into the company will comprise about ninety miles of railway, which have been laid with new steel rails within the last three years, valuable rolling stock, equipment, terminal properties, etc., some fifteen first-class boats, about half of which are as magnificent as any elsewhere, and a large number of other one hundred wharf properties including South street wharf, Baltimore.

Mr. Scott's firm will probably offer the bonds to its trade in near future. There will be a first mortgage on all these properties which will cost upwards of $3,000,000 to build. Since the interest on the bonds will amount to but about $60,000 per year and these companies under competition have been averaging a net total of about $200,000, these bonds will be exceedingly profitable.

The consolidation of the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake bay, whose traffic they practically control, could be best developed by a company with sufficient ability to furnish the best transportation facilities. He and the other men interested in the transaction are much pleased with the quickness displayed by Mr. Scott in closing a deal involving so many rival interests.

The Eastern Shore Steamboat Company was owned and controlled entirely by Wilmingtonians the leading men being members of the Harlan and Hollingsworth Company. J. Taylor Gause was president and Thomas E. Smith, Thomas Jackson and Captain Willard Thomas were directors. They are in accord with the new management and will retain part of their interest in it.

In addition to Mr. Searies, of Philadelphia, Enoch Pratt, a well-known Baltimore financier, is interested in the project, not to mention others whose support will insure it all proper financial assistance.

The projectors say that probably no section of the world is better adapted for trucking purposes than the lower part of this Peninsula and with able money assistance and modern transportation facilities, it should be one of the most thickly populated parts of the United States. It grows almost everything that is palatable, from soft-shell crabs to potatoes, and since its produce are almost entirely of the food kind, very little injury are felt from business depression. Its staples is perishable and must be shipped, consequently transportation earnings are practically sure. It is intended to associate with the new company proper immigration agencies. Anything that improves and develops a portion of this Peninsula will have a favorable effect on Delaware, even though present operations are not within the limits, and this movement is one of the most important for good that has yet been taken.

Many people make the mistake of not putting in seed enough. Don't sow less than a peck to the acre and don't make the other mistake of supposing that you will get a crop from a barren sand hill. It is a crop that pays for fertilizing. A light dressing of some kind of an ammoniated manure, fish, tankage, or other kind of soda salts would help.

Every one should scatter clover.

The Merchants Hotel.

Mr. T. A. Veasey, proprietor of the Merchants Hotel, is making some very important changes in the house. The bar has been torn away and the room made a comfortable and attractive sitting room. What was formerly used as a sitting room has been furnished with tables and chairs, and a handsome buffet in which is kept choice liquors and wines for the delectation of the guests. In the fall Mr. Veasey will start a first-class restaurant in the basement of the building where oysters and game will be served at all hours, and the house will be run on both the American and European plan. The Merchants was refurnished throughout last spring, and Mr. Veasey, who is a thorough-going hotel man, will make it one of the most popular hosteleries on the peninsula.

One of the handsomest of the old oak stanchions on the outside of St. Paul's church, in Chestertown, was struck by lightning during a recent storm, and is now a wreck. These trees are celebrated for their beauty.

A letter mailed at Rock Hill, Kent county, for Tolchester, seven miles distant, goes first to Chestertown, thence to Baltimore and finally to its destination.

Chestertown is ridding herself of worthless dogs.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for all the diseases for which it is intended and he knows it. It is for sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

HOW BLAINE SHAMMED HIS HAT.

An Episode of McKinley Tariff Legislation Retold.

We are being reminded in the tariff debate now and then, says the New York Evening Telegram, of the famous hat-removing incident in which the late Secretary Blaine participated.

Blaine was because he seemed to make no headway in this endeavor that he grew weary of a sudden one day and behaved very indecorously, as some of the members of the Senate committee on appropriations thought.

Blaine thought long and earnestly with the representatives of the wool-growing interest not to stand out in their demand for a duty on carpet wools.

"As sure as you do," said he, "when the reaction comes you will be made off close up the rear in the duty on merino wools, which alone you are interested in."

Failing to make any impression there, the resourceful Secretary of State had a resolution prepared by his department which will take in these properties, probably with a capitalization of $1,000,000 common stock and $1,500,000 preferred and $1,250,000 first mortgage five per cent, forty-year gold bonds.

Three young ladies of Cambridge intending to spend the day out fishing on Monday, prepared everything they thought necessary to enable them to enjoy the day. After reaching the fishing shore, much to their surprise, they had neither fishing line or bait.

Cotton Dress Goods

Never in the same time since the store started have we passed over so many suits for Summer wear—especially Cotton—as in the few weeks just passed.

Never before were varieties so great, styles so charming, qualities so perfect, prices so low.

It is the grand reach of our store organization that heaps such interesting lots on all the counters. No corner of any land is too far away—if the goods are what we want and the prices such as will tempt you.

A trading triumph like that of the 60c Swivel Silk Gingham at 37 1/2c would make us try hard enough for one season for almost any store in the land.

Maybe a dozen lots relatively as interesting are to-day in sight.

5c Lawns at 3 1/2c. 10c Oinghams at 5c. 12 1/2c Irish Lawns at 8c. 18c Creponettes at 10c. 20c Brandenburs at 12c. 37c Plain Organdies, 15c. 25c Fancy Ducks at 18c. 25c Fancy Madras at 18c. 30c Scotch Gingham at 20c. 45c Scotch Greps at 20c. 50c Silk Gingham at 25c. 50c Jap Crepes at 25c.

The largest and most important library in the Western Hemisphere is in Washington. Mr. Answorth R. Spofford is in charge of it. Book News for July tells something of it and much about him—and gives a plate-paper portrait of the man.

TOWHATAN'S TRILE

LAST REMNANT EXISTS IN THE PANMUNKY INDIANS OF VIRGINIA.

A Town of 800 Acres With 130 Inhabitants. Proud of Their Lineage, They Accept White Persons as Equals, but Will Have Nothing to Do With the Negroes.

How strange it seems that a remnant of the once powerful confederacy of Powhatan should actually exist at this day not so very far from Washington!

This last remnant of a nation which, at the time of the landing of Columbus, occupied all of the region heretofore, including a large part of Virginia and Maryland, consisted of about 100,000 Indians.

They call themselves the Panmunks and dwell at what is known as "Indiantown," which is situated on and around a small tract of a circularly shaped neck land extending into Pamunkey river and adjoining King William county, Va., on the southern shore of the Chesapeake Bay.

The entire nation had 2,000 warriors, and comprised about 8,000 Indians. Of this population 1,400 were of the Panmunky contingent.

Powhatan was a chief of remarkable valor and judgment. The confederacy organized under the direction of his savage genius was one of the most notable of the many unions of native American tribes in the early history of this country.

It was the policy of the confederacy to keep the many unions of native American tribes in the early history of this country.

THE WORK OF THE CONVENTION.

In another column will be found the proceedings of the Congressional Convention held at Ocean City last Thursday.

The nominees of that convention will command the party strength of the district.

Mr. Miles who is placed at the head of the ticket is a strong, aggressive campaigner, independent and self-reliant.

He conducts his campaigns after his own peculiar fashion; bringing into them untiring energy, and exceptional ability as a debater.

He is a man of strong convictions and follows their promptings.

In the short address which he made to the convention after his nomination he promised to define his position on the tariff question.

It is to be hoped that he will fulfill this promise for the platform upon which he is asked to stand has certainly not done so.

Mr. Henry is not so well known out of his county, but with us, as in his county, he is known as a safe, reliable young man.

The resolutions offered as a platform seem to have been a bundle of blunders from beginning to end.

The majority report which was adopted was very cautiously drawn with the evident purpose of meaning nothing.

Just what an equitable tariff schedule means is what the administration and the Senate is now differing about.

On the other hand the minority report was equally objectionable in some of its parts.

For instance no candidate wants to be placed on a platform requiring him to give unconditional support to any man. This would make a congressman a mere machine.

What seems to us the cause, if the convention desired to aid by a platform, in the election of a ticket, was to have adopted a resolution setting forth in the simplest form imaginable, that the convention endorsed the administration.

President Cleveland, and tariff reform as embodied in the Wilson bill, if this was the intention of the convention, if not, it should have endorsed the "Senate" or "monopolist's bill."

GRAVE OUTLOOK FOR ALL AGRICULTURISTS.

The agricultural situation has rapidly assumed a very grave aspect. With the approach of fall in the price of wheat since Friday last, together with the official price, it is a great wrong upon agriculture to force it to sell in the free trade markets of the earth, and then restrict, curtail and bulldoze it into buying the things which it is some where compelled to purchase in the United States, where the market is absolutely shut out.

Under commercial freedom the purchasing power of the farmer's yearly produce would be more at low price than it can now even at a high price in a restricted market.

Why should not the farmer let his senator know that the interests of agriculture demand tariff reform?

Incidentally we would observe that the Herald's correct statement of the condition of agriculture should not unreasonably distress the peninsula farmer, for the reason that the Eastern Shore is not a wheat exporting country, (the farm product which is most hurt by the protection policy) and as an article of home consumption it is worth as much as when it sold at $2 per bushel.

An intelligent diversity of crops with the main idea of producing everything required for home use, will keep the Maryland farmer in a more independent position than is enjoyed by his western brother.

THE EVIL OF SECRECY IN LEGISLATION.

Harpur's Weekly says of Mr. Cleveland's letter to Chairman Wilson: "President Cleveland's letter to Chairman Wilson, on the Ways and Means Committee, is a bold and truthful utterance and its publication is timely. It may be as Mr. Cleveland's enemies say, that it is unprecedented; but the situation is also unprecedented, and demands drastic remedies. Never before in the history of Congress have party principles been boldly violated by party leaders in behalf of their own private interests. It is true that Presidents have not heretofore addressed letters intended, as this President's was, to influence Congressional action; but the time had come when it was essential that the country, and especially the House, should know where the administration stood. It was of the utmost importance at the very moment when Mr. Wilson was endeavoring to force the tariff bill through the Senate, for the Senators had succeeded with the Senate were beginning to exert themselves on the conferees of the House.

The Democratic conferees on the tariff bill began their task in the wrong way. It was never intended that the bill should be introduced in the Senate, but the time had come when it was essential that the country, and especially the House, should know where the administration stood. It was of the utmost importance at the very moment when Mr. Wilson was endeavoring to force the tariff bill through the Senate, for the Senators had succeeded with the Senate were beginning to exert themselves on the conferees of the House.

"HARD TO MANAGE NEXT YEAR."

The Baltimore Herald says that Senator Gibson "has been using his patronage with a good deal of shrewdness." It is difficult to say whether this is a compliment or a rebuke, but it is certainly not a compliment to the Senate.

MARRIAGE UNDER DISGUISE.

When young New Englanders in the early days of the colony wished to enter the state of matrimony they did not find it any too easy work, writes Alice Morse Earle in a most valuable article on "Courtship and Marriage in Puritan Days" in the August Ladies Home Journal. In the first place no young man could "make a motion of marriage" to any young woman whose fair face, or deft fingers, or sweet disposition had attracted his fancy or his affections, without first obtaining the consent of the father, or if he was dead, of the grandfather. He was liable to arrest, fine or imprisonment if he spoke to her first and then "invigiled her affections."

Next Talbot county with 14 federal appointments, etc. In the one way in which the county can be kept in line for the Junior Senator.

Senator Caffery, at the confessional, revealed the secret history of the Gorman bill.

That schedule, he said, was not acceptable to me or the sugar growers and I want the country to know that it was dictated by the refining interests, in other words by the Sugar trust. He appealed to Senators Vest and Jones, who framed the sugar schedule and other amendments, to say whether or not what he had said was true, but these gentlemen maintained a dignified silence.

The public has now been made acquainted with the inside framing of the Gorman bill, and it is a story of infamy, of corruption, of contemptible dicker for the benefit of private interests, that should crimson with shame the cheek of every upright citizen.

A Little More Slumber.

Various remarks and the old Puritanic way of thinking and of life survive in our midst, and it is notable that the heroic method of dealing with children, and of trying to make their lives conform to the standard which in its day eliminated all but the soundest and strongest from any sort of life. This is as often as in other forms, in which the mother will have all her children out of bed at a given early hour, regardless of eyes still full of sleep, of limbs not yet quite over their weariness, of the faint answers and lingering eyelids which follow the mother's call, as she likes to have her family break fast together, or wants to make one piece of work of it, or has an idea that early rising is good for the health. Each of these reasons is a good reason. Certainly it is pleasant, conducive to good cheer, and it is a good thing to have all the household break fast at once, and quite as certainly it adds to the heaviness of the house work very materially if there are stragglers at the morning meal, and one breakfast has to be served after another, and it is a good thing to have the children break fast together, and it is a good thing to have the children break fast together, and it is a good thing to have the children break fast together.

Intelligent people, who realize the importance of the blood in keeping the body healthy, will do well to make a study of the facts that he has had the sleep he needs before he wakes him with an imperative summons. If he is not a stout and healthy child it is not certain that he has slept well, for both restlessness and indignation have a part to play in the night, if there is no other more patent trouble. And if he is an excitable child, precocious or studious then, the hours of sleep being the only ones in which the brain repairs its loss and hurt, it is a matter of vital moment that those hours should have their full number. An old physician, of long practice and great wisdom, used to say that a slight ailment often did good if obliged the patient to go to bed a few days, as he believed to be the rest of the bed for the whole body, which was often of essential benefit. And of quite as much benefit is the same rest—the abandon, the prostrate position, the lying and holding of every portion of the frame by the bed—to the growing form and tired muscles of the coming child, who with his natural impetus for day light and his new pleasures, is really unlikely to take any too much of it.

A horse kicked H. S. Shaffer, of the Freewater, near Middleburg, N. Y., on Monday last, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shaffer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for the cure of rheumatism. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

BURIED IN OUR GRAVE.

Two Young Lovers Die of the Same Disease the Same Day and Their Remains Placed in the Same Grave.

So great a number of people were before seated at a funeral at Pittville as congregated there last Friday when the remains of young Furman C. Richardson and his sweetheart were placed side-by-side in the same grave.

The young man, aged 22 years, was the eldest son of F. Sidney Richardson of Pittsburg dist., and sometimes ago he was attacked with typhoid fever. Although the same day Miss Alice Davis, daughter of Mr. Thomas J. Davis, and to whom young Richardson was engaged, was also attacked with the same dreaded disease.

Dr. Freney of Pittville was called to attend each sufferer, but both grew rapidly worse. Last Thursday morning young Richardson died while his physician stood beside him. Hastening to his other patient, whose home was four miles distant, the doctor arrived in time to see her die.

These coincidences caused considerable comment, and when the parents' determination to bury the lovers in the same grave became generally known, the people for miles about turned aside from their usual vocations and joined in the solemn procession.

Rev. A. Donovan of the Methodist Protestant Church preached the double funeral and the bodies of the deceased were put in a grave in the cemetery of the Red Men of Pittville. Young Richardson was a member of Minerva Tribe, I. O. R. M., and he was buried with the honors of the order.

Board of Trade in Session.

The Salisbury Board of Trade was in session last Wednesday evening to consider a proposition which comes from some Baltimore city business man.

The matter considered was of importance to the business interests of our community. A factory for the making of laborers overalls is contemplated. If the plan matures, a factory equipped with cutting and sewing machines, and employing a staff of 75 or 100 women and girls, will be located within the corporation limits of Salisbury. To make it mature the underlying motive of Wednesday night's gathering of the Board of Trade.

Until a factory for a factory site the Baltimore men come making no demand for the earth with taxes and insurance paid 99 years in advance, but modestly asking a suitable building, well located and cheap rent.

The Board of Trade Wednesday night decided that the request was a reasonable one, and a committee composed of Messrs. Randolph Humphreys, Wm. T. Johnson, Jesse D. Price, and Thos. Perry, was appointed to meet the gentlemen this (Saturday) morning when they arrive in our city.

There is a general sentiment among our citizens to meet all such enterprises half way, but there is no disposition here to encourage that class of enterprises which demands everything and has nothing to give in return.

A New Order of Women.

The movement that has resulted in instituting what may be called the Order of Women, embracing their social, political, legal, industrial, commercial, and educational rights, began in New York state about the middle of the present century. The first Women's Rights Convention, as it was named, was held at Seneca Falls, and the second convention at Rochester, in 1847—Amelia Bloomer, the inventor of the "Bloomer costume, now almost forgotten, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Frederick Douglass (the three are still alive) being among the prominent men in the movement on the subject has continued, and has awakened cordial response and hearty co-operation in many parts of the Old World. Prominent and most persistent in the number of its advocates were Susan B. Anthony, Lucy Stone, Antoinette L. Brown, Mary A. Livermore, and Julia Ward Howe. And those, with their associates, distinguished men as well as women, who have been the champions of this cause, have been the champions of the rights of women in all sorts of capacities, so that they seem to have entered into competition with men in every department of enterprise and industry. They have certainly made extraordinary advancement in the last twenty-five or thirty years, so that there may be reason for some men saying that they have come to the point where they are now, and that they are now the equals of men in every respect.

There may be ultra-conservative men who regard any change, indeed, the very idea of thinking people must regard it as an unmistakable sign of American progress. A direct result has been the employment of women in all sorts of capacities, so that they seem to have entered into competition with men in every department of enterprise and industry. They have certainly made extraordinary advancement in the last twenty-five or thirty years, so that there may be reason for some men saying that they have come to the point where they are now, and that they are now the equals of men in every respect.

The general occupation at present of women as wage earners throughout the republic has given them new lives, fresh aims, and, in a way, altered their destiny. Its consequences are most important and far-reaching, and its influence momentous on both sexes. How momentous it may ultimately prove cannot be determined until the present condition of things have continued longer, perhaps into the coming century. Every month the army of women workers increase and the field for their usefulness broadens. The industrial revolution extends faster and faster; and what its extent may be, fifty years hence, can no more be measured or foreseen than it could have been at its very inception. The twentieth century is "big with surprises of every kind." It is likely to surpass in this regard even the thirteenth century. —Harper's Bazar.

Death of a Colored Man.

Wesley Dennis, the well known colored hatter of Salisbury, died at his home last Sunday evening of Bright's disease. His remains were interred Tuesday morning.

Wesley had spent all his life among the lively men, and was at the time of his death with Messrs. White & Duffy. He had many friends among his white acquaintances, some of whom contributed money to defray the expenses of the burial. He was an enthusiastic supporter of the democratic party and aired his convictions with much self-assertion.

Yale College News.

It takes a bold man to tackle a college president in his own college town. Mr. Maxwell Evans is such a person, as is evidenced by his recent remarks in New Haven about the administration of President Timothy Dwight. Undoubtedly in his criticism of latter-day tendencies at Yale he expressed the sentiments of many Yale graduates, who have grumbled a little since about Yale's seeming disposition to form too close an alliance with mammon. Not all Yale's graduates are proud of the costly new buildings which have supplanted the old, nor do all of them feel it a gain that dormitories which sheltered students of exemplary indulgence have given place to finer ones, where only well-to-do young men can afford to live. Brick palaces don't make a university any more than stone walls make a prison. Nevertheless, to be well housed is commonly felt to be detrimental to a university's usefulness; and though there may be an important body of Yale men who share Mr. Evans' views, the majority are likely to believe in the capacity of the university to assimilate all the architectural luxury and pride that come that way. College men form strong attachments to their college as they know it, and are apt to react whenever the old that was familiar gives way to the new and strange. Harvard in the last decade has built even more extensively than Yale, but has been fortunate in having room enough to afford it sites in her new structures without tearing their old down. Nevertheless, President Eliot has not entirely escaped the same sort of criticism that is aimed at President Dwight, as being too much alive to the material prosperity of his university, and not sufficient enough for the perpetuation of his ideal. But these are largely sentimental matters, and are apt to weigh very light in the balance against the substantial evidence of what is known as "solid success." —Harper's Weekly.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-month-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weakly at four months and had all ways been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the child on my "Cure for Children's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and purry condition disappeared, and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this remedy. J. T. Darlow, M. D., Tamaros, Ill. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Politics and Prayer.

At a prayer-meeting held not far from Jacksonville, Ill., a republican brother prayed that God would cause the republican party would hang together, whereupon a democratic brother shouted, "Amen! Amen!" This led the republican brother to make the following amendment to his prayer: "Not O, Lord, in the sense our democratic brother means, but in the spirit of accord and concord." "Any word will do, Lord, any word will do!" interjected the democratic brother. The pastor immediately made a rule that hereafter politics should be kept out of the praying.
