

AIR FORCE MANUAL 25-1:

This is evidence of the pervasiveness of the acceptance of the management processes by all types of organizations including the military.

The manual describes the functions of management as follows:

- Set objectives
- Planning
- Organizing
- Coordinating
- Directing
- Controlling

These were based primarily on Fayol's administrative model.

The manual also identifies some processes which facilitate the execution of these functions, these are:

- Communication
- Human Relations
- Training and Development
