but clouds will move across the skies . . .

trees will rise from tiny seeds . . .

and so—all things of earth live this day . . .

this hour . . . intensely . . .

each growing to fulfill itself and when tomorrow comes . . .

it will have grown to that tomorrow.

a deep harmony prevails . . .

a harmony that cannot be

senior weekend was filled with activities for the graduating seniors and their dates. maplehurst country club was the scene of friday night's dance. saturday morning—early—practice on the quad was the order of the day, this broke up in favor of the picnic at new germany, followed later in the evening by a reception for president and mrs. guild.

to some students the 1971 nemacolin will be obsolete before it is published; to some it will be something to burn as an outrageous waste of money; but to others it will be a storehouse of friends and memories happily recalled. to these people i apologize most sincerely, because the 1971 nemacolin is neither what it was hoped to have been, nor what it should have been. unfortunately, dreams have a way of turning sour when people and circumstances place severe restrictions upon them.

to my staff members, my thanks—most especially chris marley, betty stanton and judy stehle. laren leonard's dream was to do the photography completely herself. it was a beautiful dream, but as with other dreams, it could not be completely fulfilled. for her partial dream i am grateful.

perhaps the person most responsible for the mere existence of the 1971 nemacolin is mr. coy harris. he made many a bad time become a bit easier; many a bad problem a bit more solvable. if i were to dedicate this book, i believe it would be to him.
